

Couple's Attempt To Halt Company Blocked by Order

If this year's legislation limiting the scope of broadform deeds means a new deal for surface owners, Romey and Mary Rose Spears have yet to feel the effect of the change. They tried last week to block a mining company from crossing their Prater Creek property but were themselves blocked by order of Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

It was the second time Mr. and Mrs. Spears have been in court with the Triple Elkhorn Mining Company. In 1981, they sued the firm for $15,000 for allegedly damaging their Orchard Branch house by blasting four years earlier. The case was dismissed.

The landowners again clashed with the mining company earlier this month when Triple Elkhorn, hit with an order by stripmining inspectors to clean out a silt pond, tried to cross the Spears property to get to the pond but found their way obstructed by a vehicle parked across the roadway.

Triple Elkhorn officials said Spears asked for money to let them and their contractor, the Branham Mining Company, cross the property. The landowner claimed that some money was due in any case on account of the alleged 1977 blast damage, they said.

The mining company, citing broad rights under the 1903 lease by which Willie Johnson sold his mineral rights to the Northern Coal and Coke Co., said (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

STATE SCHOOLS SUPERINTENDENT Alice McDonald visited Martin and Allen grade schools, Tuesday, to assess flood damage and talk with Floyd teachers and schools officials. She also took a bit of time off to chat with a few of the children such as this youngster at the Martin school. Supt. McDonald praised Floyd schools personnel for the prompt and efficient manner with which cleanup and recovery efforts were effected and the speedy resumption of classwork.

Music Festival Set Here, Thursday Eve

The annual Floyd County Music Festival concert will be held tomorrow evening (Thursday) at 7 o'clock in the gymnasium, here. The 1984 Music Festival queen will also be selected that evening.

The festival was originally scheduled here, May 10, but flooding throughout the county forced rescheduling of the event.

Burglaries, Thefts Dominate True Bills

Burglaries and stolen property charges dominate the list of 39 indictments returned last Thursday by the Floyd Circuit Court grand jury.

Donald Adams and Jimmy Adams are accused of robbing Alan Case at gunpoint and of shooting Dwayne Chaffins in the course of the holdup. Gary D. Adams is charged with stealing an air wrench worth $700 from a shop owned by Clay Vaughn.

Indicted in the robbery of $2500 worth of merchandise from Tackett's Furniture Store in Allen are Terry Bartlett, Ballard Brown and Charles Brown. The same trio is charged with breaking into Jerry's Restaurant and stealing $4000 in cash, a safe, and a gun. The Browns are accused of having in their possession a safe containing $1300 stolen from Wendy's Restaurant; Charles Brown is said also to have had a battery charger stolen from Dennis Adams.

Bartlett, Charles Brown and Kenneth

Mullins are accused of breaking into Danny Akers' trailer and stealing household and other items valued at $1873. Bartlett, Robert L. McAlister, Bill Spencer and Ronnie Yates are charged with stealing $4500 worth of goods from Cassie Allen's place on one occasion and $1982 worth on another.

Richard B. Campbell, Ancil Ray Miller, and James C. Miller were indicted for allegedly breaking into an unoccupied home owned by Anthony Bentley and setting fire to it.

Also charged with burglary are Bobby Ray Collins and Roy Pack, Jr., said to have broken into the Martin grade school; and James Jacobs, who allegedly stole a television set from Larry Coburn's house.

Listed on counts of receiving stolen property were Ed Kuss, accused of having a microwave oven stolen from Mountain Mobile Homes in Paintsville, and DIVERS with the Prestonsburg Squad 6 Underwater Search and Recovery Team probed the murky waters of Beaver Creek at Allen last week in an effort to clear debris from the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District intake valve. The valve is usually raised by a chain for cleaning purposes, it was said, but divers were called in after the chain broke. Until the blockage could be cleared, 1600 Beaver-Elkhorn customers were without water.

Jury Selection In Murder Trial Begun Tuesday

Jury selection began yesterday (Tuesday) in the trial of Charles Martin, 40, of Estill, who is charged with murder in the shooting deaths last August of two brothers at Estill.

Walter S. Lazar, who was 37 at the time of his death, and Reginald G. Lazar, 34, died August 15, 1983 in a shootout at the older brother's home. The body of Walter Lazar, who was apparently shot seven times, was found in his kitchen; that of Reginald Lazar, shot once in the back, lay in the living room.

Martin, with a gunshot wound in his abdomen, reportedly drove from the scene to the McDowell Hospital in his truck. Investigators said they had been told trouble existed between Martin and one of the Lazar brothers for some time.

Martin was widowed December 31, 1982 when his wife, Linda Gay Moore Martin, 35, a Clark Elementary School teacher, died of a gunshot wound at her home in Knott county, near Wayland. Her death was ruled an accident.

Prosecutors will reportedly not press for the death penalty in the case, even though the fact that two died constitutes an aggravating circumstance. Martin is expected to claim that he shot at the Lazar brothers in self-defense.

Airport Phase 2 Work Is Funded

New Miss Floyd County

Miss Shelia Kaye Duff was crowned Miss Floyd County at the 18th annual pageant held April 28 at the Prestonsburg gymnasium.

Shelia is the 19-year-old daughter of Birchell and Patricia Duff, of Hueysville, and plans to attend the University of Kentucky this fall where she will be a junior, majoring in biology.

Miss Duff will travel to Louisville, July 14 to compete in the Miss Kentucky Pageant at Spalding College Auditorium.

With New Funds Early Contract On Paving Seen

Completion of the four-county Big Sandy Regional Airport may have drawn months nearer than expected last week with the appropriation by the U.S. Department of Transportation of $1,118,906 for its second construction phase.

Phase I, grade and drain work on the mountaintop site near the juncture of the Floyd-Johnson-Martin county boundary lines has been delayed by heavy rainfall but is now 50 percent complete.

When notified by Senators Huddleston and Ford of the Phase II appropriation, which had not been expected until later in the year, Allen (Bud) Perry, chairman of the regional airport board, said the funding will make it possible for the board to ask bids for an August contract letting.

Phase II will include paving of the 5000-foot runway, parallel and connecting taxiways, parking and navigational aids.

With a break in the weather, the airport should be substantially complete by the end of the year, Perry said. "Anyway, it's a sure thing for next year, and I'm being conservative," he said.

The grade and drain phase of construction, costing $1.1 million, is being done by E.T. Hughes Construction Co., Louisville. It also involves relocation of utilities, including a Columbia (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Verdict in Drug Case Gets Mixed Reaction

In the first cases to come to trial as a result of a state police "sting" operation conducted here in late 1982, two men were convicted last week by a Floyd Circuit Court jury on charges of dealing in illegal drugs.

Tom Music, 36, a former Prestonsburg used car dealer who now lives in Lexington, was found guilty of selling seven grams of cocaine to a state police undercover agent for $520 in December, 1982. He received only a $5000 fine.

Two days later, a panel composed of mainly the same jurors convicted Ishmael Glen Hamilton, 26, of Teaberry, of selling two tablets of a prescription painkiller and a small quantity of marijuana to the same police officer in September, 1982.

Hamilton, who was paid $60 for two Dilaudids and $50 for the marijuana he sold to State Det. LeRoy Buckner, last week received a $3000 fine and was sentenced to 18 months in prison. Identical charges against his wife Sharon were dismissed at the direction of Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley.

Of the 16 persons arrested here in December, 1982 as the result of a six-month undercover probe, Music was accused of making the largest drug sale. His was also the first case to go before a jury, although several defendants have earlier pleaded guilty to the charges against them.

While some observers were surprised by the relative leniency of the Music jury—he could have received 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine—his attorney called the sentence "fair" and said he thought jurors were "mightily upset" at the use police made of an informant in the case.

Ernest Dudleson, of the Kentucky State Police, was one of those who expressed disappointment with the Music jury verdict. "It was awfully low," he said.

Curt Gardner, of Tram, who led undercover agents to many of those they subsequently arrested, "targeted people" in order to "fulfill a quota" he had to meet as part of a deal he made with police, asserted defense attorney Gary Johnson.

After being arrested several times on drug charges, Gardner agreed to make (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

Feds To Keep Close Watch On How Relief Funds Spent

In submitting claims to federal agencies for flood relief funds, county officials should resist the temptation to squeeze in unauthorized work and should be careful to document every claim they make, the coordinator of the federal flood relief effort said here last week.

Referring cryptically to "a local of-icial who ate my lunch as far as housing is concerned" after the 1977 flood, Paul E. Hall, representing the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), warned officials from several counties at a meeting in the National Guard Armory Friday that auditors would be on the lookout for improper claims on federal funds.

While state and federal officials were busy taking relief applications from individual flood victims in the Martin grade school over the weekend, county and city officials took a brief course in the sometimes subtle logic governing federal aid for public relief operations.

While the feds will pay for removal of a landslide blocking a road, for example, they will not pay for remedial work to prevent further slippage. They will foot the bill for clearing a stream of silt left behind by the flood, but not for removing any silt washed down earlier. They will pay to have a flood victim's access bridge replaced, but county officials cannot do the work unless the bridge is officially included in the county roads system.

Flood damage done to a fire truck parked in the town firehouse is eligible for federal aid—but damage done to the truck in the course of flood relief work is not. Cities can be reimbursed for water used to clean up homes and streets but not for water lost through broken mains. A volunteer fire department could be paid for hosing mud off a street, but only if the mud was posing a traffic hazard to begin with.

Engineers for the state and from the U.S. Army began arriving in flood-stricken areas Saturday to inspect (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

The Campaign That Wasn't... Voting To End It Next Tuesday

If the election campaign which isn't in Floyd county this year is to create any excitement, which hasn't a seed to sprout from, something new will have to happen before next Tuesday—which, in case you haven't heard, is Primary Election Day.

If that paragraph sounds like a bit of mental sleep-walking, it's in tune with the political situation.

The Democratic party is predominant in this county, and the party hasn't anything of note to contribute. Incumbent Walter (Dee) Huddleston is opposed (according to the ballot) by Ex-Governor John Young Brown, but Brown withdrew from the race and both he and Huddleston have enjoined the Election Commission from counting any votes Brown may get.

For state representative from District 95 incumbent Gregory D. Stumbo is opposed by Gary E. Lilly, but that one is in the ho-hum department, too.

The Republican party has four candidates for U.S. senator—Tommy Klein, Mitch McConnell, Thurman Jerome Hamlin and C. Roger Harker—and neither of the four has caused anybody to lose any night sleep.

Party leaders are concerned, mainly, with the voters who will stay home. They remind the electorate that it is the duty of good citizens to exercise the freedom of the ballot.

And that statement won't start any arguments.

A NEARLY NON-STOP stream of trucks hauled flood debris into the county landfill at Garth last week, filling in a few days a section that would usually take a month to fill. The convoy included the 13-truck Floyd County Solid Waste fleet, four county trucks, three borrowed from the state Department of Transportation, and two on loan from the City of Prestonsburg, besides many private trucks.

Floyd County Solid Waste Director David Cooley said he is hoping for federal help to pay for the massive cleanup operation.

Five Stripmines Held Dangerous

Five abandoned stripmines in Floyd county are among 30 east Kentucky mine sites identified as dangerous last week by the U.S. Office of Surface Mining (OSM).

The rains which resulted in flooding here earlier this month have loosened earth, rubble and trees on the derelict mine slopes, increasing the danger of landslides. On the sites listed as emergencies Friday, the unstable slopes have already given way or else pose a threat to homes or roads.

Floyd sites identified by Jim Ellis, an official at OSM's Eastern Technical Center in Pittsburgh include two Prater Creek slides (one at the head of Rice Branch, the other at Maplewood Village), and three other slides identified only as the Allen-Banner, Turner, and Caleb Fork slides.

Ellis said most of the sites will take a week or two to reclaim and will each cost anywhere from $20,000 to $95,000. Money for the work will come from the abandoned mine land fund, which is supported by a tax paid by operators on each ton of coal.

Disaster Housing Urgently Needed

"Disaster victims made homeless by the recent storms and floods in southeast Kentucky are in urgent need of temporary housing," Michael Polny, director of the disaster housing program, said.

Any individual or firm with housing to rent should contact the Disaster Housing Office by calling the toll-free number: 1-800-422-1044.

"All types of housing are needed—apartments, houses, mobile homes and mobile home pads," Polny said.

The housing will be rented by the Federal Emergency Management Agency for use by the disaster victims. Housing is needed in all of the 14 counties declared disaster areas by President Reagan on May 15.

TV Cable Firm, Council To Meet

The vice-president of Cablentertainment, the firm which controls television cable service in Prestonsburg and surrounding area, will meet at 1 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) with members of the Prestonsburg City Council to discuss pending litigation between the cable system and the city. The Cablentertainment officer will be accompanied by an attorney.

Mayor Harold W. Cooley has called a special meeting of the Council at noon tomorrow (Thursday) when members may air views on the situation before meeting with the company's representatives.

After a breakdown in talks with Cablentertainment, Inc., council members last week instructed City Attorney Larry Brown to file suit against the firm for breach of contract.

Among the bones of contention between city and the cable system company, according to council members, are Cablentertainment's slowness in paying licensing fees, a question as to whether the firm is paying the city the full three percent of gross revenues as stipulated in the franchise agreement, and the fact that the firm has refused to turn over its books for audit. In addition, council members say the firm has not responded to requests to improve its service and further raised HBO rates without the council's approval. It is also said that the firm's purchase in 1981 of the system from Midwest Corporation was without approval by the city.

The Quality of Mercy

When a Northern Kentucky group came to the Mud Creek section of the county recently, taking food and clothing for the relief of the flood-stricken, the visitors were warmly welcomed. Theirs was considered a genuine mission of mercy. This newspaper gave it what we considered merited coverage.

But now comes a clipping from The Cincinnati Enquirer of a news-story which purports to be the result of a reporter's interview with David Wells, chief of police of Taylor Mills, Ky., who apparently was the leader of the mission. And it leaves us nonplused, to put it mildly.

Consider these quotes from the Enquirer story:

"When we got down there, it was worse than we expected," Wells said in a telephone interview from the John M. Stumbo Elementary School in Mud Creek. "We saw 5-and-6-year-old kids who'd never owned a pair of shoes. Everywhere we looked, there were signs of kids suffering from malnutrition and anemia."

So runs the Enquirer story, the same, old stereotype that has disgusted, sometimes infuriated, readers for a hundred years. Did a man on whom the people of his town depend for law and order really make those statements?

He also said, according to The Enquirer, that he and others had earlier visited Mud Creek "after reading of the poverty of the town of 4000."

We spend no more time trying to locate that "town of 4000" than we do on the statement about children who never owned a pair of shoes.

In the name of mercy the Taylor Mills Police Department continued, in the same newspaper story, its appeal for donations of household goods and non-perishable foods for the shoeless children, the undernourished and the anemic of this mythical town of 4000.

"The quality of mercy is not strained," wrote the poet, but he was silent about the quality of some who dispense it.

damage to public roads and buildings and make recommendations for federal help.

In the meantime, individuals and families began lining up Friday at the FEMA office set up in the Martin grade school for help in replacing their homes, furniture and businesses. More than 1000 applications had been processed by Sunday afternoon, when the decision was made to open a second center in the conference room at the Allen park. The centers will be open as long as there are families to be served, officials said.

Assistance provided included temporary housing from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, emergency food or clothing from the Red Cross, Small Business Administration low-interest loans for repair or replacement of damaged property or small businesses and aid to farmers who suffered flood losses.

Social Security officials offered help in getting checks redirected to people who had to move because of the flood, and state unemployment workers were available to arrange supplementary aid to people who lost jobs on account of the flood.

"10 to 15 more buys" in order to "set people up" for police and have his own charges dropped, Johnson said. "This guy bought a license to continue dealing in drugs," the defense lawyer said.

Prosecutors defended the use of the informer, claiming that Gardner led police to persons known as habitual dealers. But Johnson said the December, 1982 arrests were the result of entrapment. Gardner was "leaning on people," and his victims were merely users, not dealers, he said. "The jury rightly found that Tom Music was not a pusher," he said.

On the other hand, Ishmael Hamilton, who was also Johnson's client, later "paid the price" for the jury's relative leniency with Music, said the attorney, who indicated he would appeal Hamilton's sentence on that account.

Seven of the 12 jurors who heard the Hamilton case were selected for the Music case were selected for the Hamilton trial, said Johnson, who petitioned the court unsuccessfully for a postponement of the second trial. Public reaction to the first sentence could have persuaded jurors to come down harder on Hamilton, the lawyer speculated.

Our Yesterdays

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(May 22, 1974)

A dynamiting incident early Sunday morning, the second in the Prestonsburg area this year, almost demolished a coal tippie at West Prestonsburg and as of Tuesday, state and federal investigators were "in the dark" as to the identity of the person or persons responsible. Work began Friday on the construction for the First Guaranty Bank of Martin of a half-million-dollar bank building at the junction of KY 80 and KY 122 (the Right and Left Beaver Creek highways) at the western limits of Martin. Eleven-year-old Anthony Howell was killed and a brother injured Sunday in the collapse of a log barn near their home on Mink Branch, near Craynor. The Prestonsburg Blackcats baseball team last week won their second straight district baseball championship under Coach Fred Setser and his assistant, Russell Shepherd. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Sword, of Ivel, a son, Tony Edward, May 11; to Mr. and Mrs. Milt Hunt, of Betsy Layne, a son, Bradford Chester, May 13. There died: James William Salisbury, 61, of Printer, veteran Floyd county educator, Monday at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington; A. Dewey Allen, 56, of South Shore, Ky., formerly of Floyd county, May 13; Charlotte Fisher Cole, 91, of Weeksbury, last Friday at McDowell; Mrs. Minnie England Whitaker, 70, Friday at her home at Ivyton; Mrs. Dora Bentley, 70, formerly of East McDowell, last Wednesday in Hilliard, O.; Bill Jarrell, 70, of Cow Creek, Saturday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Mrs. Lula Click, 85, of Langley, Thursday at the home of a daughter; Julius C. Hall, 59, of Weeksbury, Thursday at Lexington; Mrs. Gracie Slove Watkins Miller, 84, of David, Monday at Mountain Manor here.

Twenty Years Ago

Every opportunity will be given the 1964 crop of high school graduates to take advantage of the facilities of the Prestonsburg Community College when it opens in September, and so student applications will be taken beyond the previously announced deadline. Although the first and second floors of the new courthouse will be completed within the next 10 days, the structure may not be occupied by county offices before mid-summer, it was indicated this week. The chairmanship of the Republican in this county was won Saturday by J.L. (Jack) Hyden, of Prestonsburg. Congressman Carl D. Perkins won the Democratic nomination for the Seventh district Congressional post with the greatest ease Tuesday, and at the same time former Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, of Prestonsburg, was emerging a decisive winner in a six-candidate race for the Democratic nomination for Appellate Judge from the Seventh district. The Prestonsburg strawberry processing plant, which began operation here three years ago, had received 2,700 crates by Tuesday evening, it was said by plant owner Carl Abbott. 602 high school seniors received diplomas this week during graduation exercises at each of Floyd county's high schools. There died: Mrs. Cynthia M. Porter, 95, last Wednesday at her home on Third street here; John R. Jarvis, 76, of Endicot, dead on arrival at Prestonsburg General Hospital, Thursday; Charles F. Burnett, 77, of Wayland, Monday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Rev. Tona Hall, 63, Sunday at his home at Hippo; Mrs. Lora Wells, 56, of Auxier, Monday at a Lexington hospital; Harry Prater, 78, formerly of Floyd county, Friday at his home in Akron, Indiana; Harold D. Hall, 43, former resident of this county, May 21 at Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Mary Abbott, native of Floyd county, May 20 at an Ashland hospital.

Floyd county's Honor Roll in the courthouse yard here, bearing the names of more than 4,000 young men in the nation's armed forces, will be dedicated May 30. The Adjutant General's office has confirmed the death of Pfc. Douglas Vaughan, of Prestonsburg, in the sinking of a troop transport ship in the Mediterranean. S-Sgt. Jay Joyce, of Wayland, first listed as missing after the Flying Fortress on which he was radio operator had been shot down, is now known to be a German prisoner of war. There died: Mrs. Josie B. Harris, 63, Floyd teaching veteran, at the Prestonsburg General Hospital last Thursday; Mrs. Louise Greer Culbertson, 32, of Prestonsburg, this morning (Thursday) at a Paintsville Hospital; Mrs. Darcus Bingham, 78, today at her home near Cliff; Alfred Parsons, 38, Amba postmaster, Saturday at a Martin hospital.

Fifty Years Ago

Walter Johnson, 19, was fatally wounded by gunfire Saturday at Melvin. Earl Allen, 27, of Garrett, suffered a spinal fracture Monday in a slatefall inside a mine of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland. J. D. Harkins, Jr., of Prestonsburg, will, because of an outstanding scholastic record, be a member of the Court of Honor at next month's commencement at the University of Michigan. The J. W. Western Shays and Bud Hawkins will return to Prestonsburg next month. Three Floyd County Board of Education members and a number of county teachers joined in the demonstration at Frankfort Monday in support of the sales tax. Plot of Garrett High School's senior play dealing with the theft of proceeds derived from the presentation of a college play obviously appealed to somebody. The night after the play, "The College Hobo," was presented, the "gate" amounting to $55.75 was stolen from the school office. There died: G. C. Fitzpatrick, 49, Saturday, at Garrett; Mrs. W. E. Perry, 70, mother of Mrs. Valentine P. Hopkins, of Prestonsburg, May 14 at Danville.

Pictured above are 15 students from Clark Elementary School who are this year's recipients of the Presidential Physical Fitness Award given bi-annually in schools throughout the nation. In order to receive the award, students had to score 85 percent or better in all six categories of competition in their age division.

Despite a defense claim that "it may well be the death knell" if he is returned to prison, Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ruled this week that a former Drift man and Vietnam veteran convicted of robbing and shooting a gas station attendant here six years ago must serve his sentence.

Gary Lee Castle, 37, was convicted in 1978 of the armed holdup of Cletis Boyd at the TCT Truck Stop on Katy Friend the year before. He received concurrent sentences of 17 years for assault and 11 for robbery but an appeals court later ordered that he be retried on the assault charge.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen decided against trying Castle again for assault, since he was already facing a substantial pen term for the robbery conviction. But Castle, who had remained free pending his appeal, was never brought in to serve his time.

Instead, he moved with his wife and two sons, now teenagers, to Elliott county. There, according to testimonials presented in court several weeks ago, he has lived as "a good father and husband... a participant in many civic matters... and a Boy Scout leader."

Inquiries by an attorney for the Martin Coal Company, for which Castle worked as a safety inspector at the time of his arrest in 1977, prompted court officials to re-examine the case. The coal firm was reportedly interested in testing its legal obligation to continue making worker's compensation payments to Castle.

On March 19, after a warrant was issued for his arrest, Castle turned himself in and was lodged in the Floyd county jail, pending a hearing on his request that his sentence be vacated and the charges against him dismissed.

In papers filed in Floyd Circuit Court, Lester H. Burns, Jr., who is representing Castle, noted that, although the trial jury was apparently not persuaded by it, evidence was presented that the defendant was acting under the influence of a "mental disease or defect" when he robbed Boyd of $200 and shot him in the neck and chest on Jan. 14, 1977.

Subsequent evidence identifies Castle's psychiatric ailment as "severe post-traumatic stress disorder" resulting from combat duty in Vietnam prior to 1966, the defense attorney claimed, citing a deposition taken recently from Lexington psychiatrist Dr. Kim Larmore.

Burns submitted affidavits by the psychiatrist, various Elliott county political and civic leaders, and Castle's wife, Mary, in support of his contention that "with ongoing psychiatric treatment, defendant has been able to overcome this problem and, since January, 1978, he has been a law-abiding, productive and contributing member of society."

In moving to have his sentence vacated, Burns said Castle was poorly represented not only by his trial attorney, but also by his attorney on appeal. Moreover, his client was led to believe that his 11-year robbery sentence had been suspended, Burns said.

To impose sentence on Castle now would constitute "cruel and unusual punishment," the defense lawyer contended. "The shock and surprise of having to begin serving his sentence now after thinking the sentence was suspended for six years would be difficult for anyone," he said. "But to someone like Gary Castle, who suffers from post-traumatic stress syndrome as a Vietnam war veteran, it may well be the death knell."

In his deposition, Dr. Larmore noted that "a jail setting is likely to be the worst kind of stress this man can have" and said Castle "may have a 50-50 chance of being able to survive" incarceration.

Prestonsburg attorney Gary Johnson, who assisted Burns, argued further that Castle faced double jeopardy in being prosecuted for both robbery and assault. Johnson cited recent decisions in which the Kentucky Supreme Court ruled that such cases violate a Constitutional safeguard against multiple prosecution for the same act.

Commonwealth's Attorney Allen denied telling Castle that his 11-year sentence had been suspended and said if the defendant got that impression "he was mistaken." However, the prosecutor agreed with defense attorneys that Castle is now "a law-abiding and rehabilitated person."

But Judge Conley demurred. "The way I interpret the law, I cannot help him," he explained this week. "I'd be violating the law if I did."

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

A stray copy of The Times dated June 9, 1949 alerts me to a very important matter.

The chigger season is upon us. Flood at home, trouble in Central America, Lebanon, Iran, anywhere you look—and now this.

What follows is the warning given in this space 35 years ago, and unless chiggers have gone modern and changed their modus operandi it may still serve a useful purpose:

The daily press, a few days ago, devoted considerable space to a feature telling the world, all and sundry that this is the chigger season. Even as the baseball player digs in at the plate, and the farmer digs in corn, these seldom-seen, often-felt critters dig in.

The writer of this learned article might have told the world, too, that the mosquito fleet's also in and that this is the season when fleabites (not to be confused with phlebitis) is a common ailment, but he didn't. He stuck to his chiggers.

He went into details about the home life of the critters, what might be expected of them (as if we didn't know!) and what to do if we did expect them and they didn't disappoint us.

I had considered myself something of a chigger expert until I read this piece. I had become resigned and philosophical about the matter, and had accepted them as inevitable, along with death, taxes and the toe-itch. I knew that no laboratory had ever come up with a treatment for chiggers to beat salty grease. But one thing I didn't know. I was not aware of the fact, as recorded by this science article, that you are safe from chiggers if you'll keep traveling at a right fast clip while in their territory. Stand still a moment, he says, and, brother, you're fixed.

From all this I gather one great scientific truth: You can be so slow you can't catch the itch, but if you are you'll catch worse—the blamed chiggers!

Indiana Woman's Case Ends with Settlement

The First Commonwealth Bank here has agreed to settle with a former Floyd county resident who accused the bank of discriminating against her because she is a woman.

Mary A. Robbins, now living in Elkhart, Ind., claimed she was denied a job in the bank's computer department because of her sex. A man with less experience and fewer qualifications was hired in her place, she said.

The Prestonsburg bank denied wrongdoing but agreed to pay the woman $1200 in a deal approved by the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights. First Commonwealth will also be required over the next two years to give the commission a list of all employees, their race, sex and job category.

The parachute was designed in 1783 by Louis Lenormand, who designed it to save people who had to jump from burning buildings.

Praises Job Corps

The community has certainly been deluged with negative comments concerning the Job Corps management and students. I had not met any of the students before last week. However, I was presented the privilege of "sand-bagging" with Mr. Torrey, Mr. Chambers and Mr. Grant and about 40 of their students.

It's been a long while since I have seen people work as hard and be as cheerful as they were. Leadership is set "by example" and I certainly witnessed this example during the last week. Water problems hampered our medical services at the Mud Creek Clinic. I asked Mr. Chambers for help and a few minutes later Mr. Jim Recktenwald and several students were at the clinic giving their assistance.

I have never criticized the Job Corps, so my praise and thanks will be placed in the plus category. For those that did criticize—consider as much praise as condemnation, so that the staff and students can at least break even. They certainly deserve it and much more.

Two Diagnostic Centers To Serve Handicapped

QUESTION: What is the worst thing that can happen to a handicapped child?
ANSWER: Nothing—and in order that "something" is done to provide exceptional children in the Big Sandy area with the most appropriate testing and evaluation services, the Eastern Kentucky Educational Development Corporation (EKEDC) is developing an application for continuation funding of the two Big Sandy Diagnostic Service Centers.

According to Harry P. Brown, director of the 37-member educational consortium it is hoped that parents, educators and other interested individuals and agencies will respond to the needs of exceptional children in relation to the two diagnostic service centers.

"The centers are located in Prestonsburg and Paintsville, and serve the school districts of Pike, Floyd, Morgan, Magoffin, Johnson, Martin, Elliott and Lawrence Counties and Pikeville Independent and Paintsville Independent," Brown said, "and they are designed to provide the most appropriate educational services possible for all exceptional children, ages 5 to 17."

The centers are coordinated by EKEDC and operated by a supervisory board, with Herald Whitaker, superintendent of Magoffin county schools, as chairman of Center No. 1; and Eugene Binion, superintendent of Elliott county schools, as chairman of the second. Other center supervisory members are school superintendents James T. Dotson, Pike county; Dr. John Waddell, Pikeville Independent; Earl Reed, Morgan county; Pete Grigsby, Jr., Floyd county.

For Center 2 the supervisors are Willis H. Conley, Johnson county; Leon Burdett, Paintsville Independent; Robert Prichard, Lawrence county; Sheldon Hardin, Martin county.

Staff members are Jeffrey Newman Howe, Psychometrist, DSC No. 1; Mark Poston, Clinical Psychologist, DSC No. 2; and Cynthia Champer, EKEDC Coordinator.

To be eligible for the Dean's List, students must maintain a B-plus average for the semester.

"careers in the 80s"

Degrees in English Open Many Avenues

By Betty Tevis
UK Information Services

What can you do with an English degree? Almost anything. Increasingly, the professional schools — law, medicine, engineering — are demanding of their applicants the ability to think, to read and write well, to express ideas clearly, to organize information, to carry out research. These are the skills the English major develops in a college career.

Dr. Robert Hemenway, chairman of the University of Kentucky department of English, acknowledges that just now "the market for English teachers is depressed" but predicts an increased demand for these professionals in 1990-1995.

In the meantime, Hemenway says, "schools and colleges everywhere are demanding more training for all students in English composition. There's a growing emphasis upon writing across the curriculum.

"You don't learn to write," he says. "You write to learn."

Dr. Paul Eakin, chairman of the UK department of mathematical sciences, says that among mathematics students, command of the English language is an important predictor of success. "The ability to state a problem clearly — the skill of communication, if you will — is essential to all the mathematical sciences," Eakin says.

This communication skill the English major has will help him find a position on campus, one where the ability to communicate is valuable: academic adviser, editor of an in-house newsletter, financial aid counselor, writer of grants and contracts (in conjunction with faculty), information specialist with the university's public relations office, staff member of the school's office of publications, writer/producer for the radio-television division, writing coach for struggling students in business or engineering or the sciences.

Off-campus opportunities are even more abundant and diverse: business publishing, the media, sales, writing or editing free-lance or for a salary, and the broad fields of advertising and public relations.

To qualify on graduation for any such opportunity, the undergraduate English major must keep in mind that his is not a "directed" major, that he must keep his eyes open to possibilities, his mind alert to his own interests and his academic program planned to provide background for those possibilities. Course work in science may later land him a job as a technical writer; business courses may open the door to a staff job in industry; government and political science classes may steer him to government work.

In fact, a minor or a concentration of courses — rather than a random sample of them — strengthens one's hand for later employment. Among the possibilities are a clutch of classes in computer science, in foreign language, in journalism. Or even a double major, in English and in another discipline.

The English major, if alert and inventive, will start to acquire supplemental experience. Interested in a television career? Then visit local educational and professional television stations, inquire about working part time or as a volunteer in any aspect of the station's operations. Are you inclined toward business or, say, journalism? Then try to get summer employment with a bank, a department store or a newspaper. And ask questions about career possibilities and the right kind of academic preparation.

Volunteer work writing publicity releases for local clubs, fraternities, sports teams can lead later to paid work in public relations. If you are a volunteer in the campaign of a state senator, or a U. S. congressman, that effort may open doors to a job in Frankfort or Washington, after you've graduated.

As an English major, you read, comprehend, do research, write and learn well. Clearly, finding the career of your choice will require you to use all these skills.

Drift Men Draw Terms in Prison

Two Drift men pleaded guilty in Floyd Circuit Court Thursday to charges of possessing marijuana for the purpose of selling it.

Johnny Rand Dye, 21, faced in addition charges of receiving a microwave oven stolen from James Dempsey (Demp) Allen, of Martin; receiving jewelry stolen from Phyllis Mayo Hoppman; and stealing stereo equipment from Rhonda Wicker.

In a plea bargain, he received consecutive five-year prison terms for the marijuana and stolen oven charges, with one of the sentences probated. The remaining three charges were dismissed, subject to redocketing if Dye violates the conditions of his probation.

Merlin "Chubby" Martin, 21, received a three-year sentence and an additional five years' probation on the marijuana count.

Both drug charges stemmed from an August, 1982 raid by state police on Martin's Stumbo Hollow property. State Det. A.L. Weddington posed as a squirrel hunter to gain access to the field, in which 16 marijuana plants were found growing. Six pounds of the drug were discovered in a shed on the property.

A SPECIAL THANKS

To an elite group of individuals, I would like to say thank you to the members of the Middle Creek Volunteer Fire Department, the members of the Big Lick Pentecostal Church of God and the Fine neighbors of Middle Creek. On April 22, my father was stricken by a heart attack. Since this time, this group of people have pitched in and helped out wonderfully. They made sure my father had his medicine and took donations as well as doing other things to help us in our troubled time.

I would like to just say thank you for all your help and donations. Thank you very much,
JOHN PERRY

Disabled Miner Dies In McDowell Blaze

Preliminary findings made by Coroner Roger Nelson indicate that the death of 65-year-old Ray Frasure in the charred ruins of his travel trailer near McDowell early last Friday morning was the result of an accidental fire.

The fire was discovered at 1:10 a.m. Friday by a neighbor, Mark Henson, who called the Left Beaver Rescue Squad and Fire Department. They were unable to halt the flames before the trailer was reduced to rubble. Frasure, an ex-miner who walked with the aid of a walker, suffered fourth degree burns over his entire body.

The preliminary report said the blaze originated in front of an electric heater, near the victim's bed. It is believed the fire spread when a garment or paper near the heater was ignited.

State Medical Examiner David Wolf was called to the scene, but his laboratory findings are not expected earlier than two weeks, State Police Detective Keith Scott said. "There's no evidence at this point of foul play," Scott said.

Frasure lived alone in the trailer. He was a son of the late Oliver and Margaret Reynolds Frasure. Survivors include four sons, Ollie Frasure, Howard, O., Gernal, Paul and Harold Frasure, all of Columbus, O.; one sister, Mrs. Lizzie Hall, of McDowell; four brothers, Earl Frasure, Ashtabula, O., Ted, Wade and Moses Frasure, all of McDowell; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Sunday from the residence of Ted Frasure by the Revs. Red Alley and Jack Akers, and burial was in the family cemetery under direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Floyd Racers Score Victories

Floyd county auto racers found victory in Johnson, Letcher and Perry counties over the past weekend.

Friday night, at Paintsville's Highlands Raceway Park, Dennis Baliff, of Elkhorn City won the 5-lap dash for cash with Paul Harris, of Martin's Harris, Halbert Hayes No. 10 racing team second. In a two-car 10-lap heat race, Harris and Baliff went all out with Baliff leading until Harris pulled ahead in lap seven and held on to win. Harris and company went on to win the 20-lap feature.

Other victors in Friday night racing included Terry Hall, of McDowell driving his new, white No. 23 modified, and Larry Salisbury, also of the Left Beaver area, in "Zip Code 17" hobby stocker were both winners at Letcher county's Isom Speedway. Martin's J. & M. Trucking super modified No. 15, driven by 16-year-old Steve Francis, of Ashland lost an engine during competition but is expected to return this weekend.

At Hazard, Saturday night, Terry Hall won in the trophy dash although Harris wrecked in the heat and was unable to start the 50-lap feature which was won by Ashland's Jack Boggs in Chevy No. B-4.

Flood-Damaged Schools To Receive Special Aid

Special disaster assistance will be provided to Kentucky schools which were damaged during recent flooding in the state, according to state Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald. Word came last Thursday from U.S. Congressman Carl Perkins' office that the U.S. Department of Education (USDE) would make grants available to the affected schools under Public Law 81-815 of the disaster assistance program.

The preliminary report by the state Education Department shows Pike, Floyd and Knott counties with the greatest number of damaged schools.

McDonald said that three staff members from the state Education Department will be in the designated counties, along with three U.S. Department of Education officials and three federal engineers, to verify the extent of damage.

"We've been working to compile a preliminary report on the extent of damage done by the flooding and wind in those 14 counties which have already been declared eligible for federal disaster aid," McDonald said.

The USDE has asked the state department to identify the schools and school districts in the eligible counties, to provide a general assessment of the damage, and to determine if the schools have flood insurance, she said.

The federal office has said that 75 percent of the total estimated cost could be provided to the school districts within 60 days, with the remainder paid when repairs are complete.

McDonald plans to visit several of the affected districts next week.

Awarded Scholarship

Richie Schoolcraft, a graduating senior from Prestonsburg High School, has been awarded a United Methodist Scholarship at Lindsey Wilson College. The award was presented by the Rev. Ted Nicholas, pastor of Prestonsburg First United Methodist Church. The scholarship is for tuition and educational expenses at Lindsey Wilson College, Columbia, Kentucky.

Founded in 1903, Lindsey Wilson is a two-year college affiliated with the United Methodist Church.

BURTON AND BURTON — Richard Burton and his real-life daughter Kate will appear as a fictional father and daughter in the miniseries "Ellis Island." CBS is now producing the seven-hour drama based on the best-selling novel by Fred Mustard Stewart.

The program tells the story of an uneducated Italian gardener, a Russian Jew and two Irish sisters who meet on a ship en route to New York in 1907. Burton plays wealthy Phipps Ogden, whose daughter (Miss Burton) marries the ambitious Italian immigrant.

MORE COPS — Jeff McCracken and Robert Ginty star in "Honolulu Run," a two-hour film recently produced for ABC about a pair of Chicago policeman who leave Lake Michigan's icy shores for the balmy beaches of Hawaii, only to find all is not well in paradise.

Marta DuBois also stars as a troubled Hawaiian and Tracy Scoggins plays her best friend, a helicopter pilot who takes tourists island-hopping.

AND DETECTIVES — Lynda Carter and Loni Anderson will play a pair of San Francisco private detectives in "Partners in Crime," a new series to air this fall on NBC.

The actresses play two ex-wives of the same man, who willed his detective agency to them. Oscar-winner Eileen Heckart plays their mother-in-law, Jeanine, who runs a mystery book store and writes mystery stories on the side.

NORMAN LEAR PILOT — Beatrice Arthur and Charles Durning have been signed to star in a Norman Lear comedy pilot for NBC called "P.O.P." Miss Arthur plays a magazine publisher and Durning is her ex-husband, a lovable con-artist she finds hard to resist — even when he pops up for the first time 21 years after their divorce.

Beatrice Arthur

UNDERGROUND

Treat Williams plays a detective who goes underground to expose corruption in the police force and ends up running for his life in a film based on real events, "Prince of the City," airing in two parts, beginning TUESDAY, MAY 29 on ABC.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

FORMULAS GIVEN FOR COMBAT AGAINST SCALE

Formulas given by County Agent Fred Lawson to combat San Jose scale on fruit trees follow:

Standard lime-sulfur testing 32 degrees, 6 gals. Add water to make 50 gallons.

Lubricating oil emulsion (government formula) 1 1/2 gals. Add water to make 50 gals.

CONTACT INSECTICIDES

LIME SULFUR. The dormant strength lime sulfur is used as a contact spray for San Jose scale. Several years ago the lime sulfur solution often was prepared at home but the home-cooked wash now has been superseded generally by the commercial forms.

OIL EMULSION. Many commercial orchards have suffered in recent years from San Jose scale and growers have been eager to learn of spray materials which would have greater killing efficiency than the ordinary lime-sulfur solution.

Some have used for this purpose the oil preparations known as "miscible oils" successfully. Others have used effectively the lubricating oil emulsion known as government oil emulsion, which is on sale by dealers in most commercial apple growing districts in prepared form ready for dilution.

In orchards practically free from scale, and particularly for peach orchards, the standard liquid lime-sulfur is recommended.

Jack Sellards, tax commissioner of this county, is critically ill with pneumonia in King's Daughters' hospital, Ashland.

and Berryl Runyan. Interment was in the Coeburn cemetery.

TOO FAR SOUTH

On last Friday night, Henry Bolling, Prohibition Agent, made a raid on Paul Semit's place of business at Stone, and found thirty-six pints of Canadian liquor. He was brought to Pikeville and gave bond in the sum of $2,000.00 for his appearance at final hearing, which will be some time later.

Uhl Dover Williams, of Baltimore, Md., was married September 24, last, to Miss Elizabeth F. Willis, of that city. Mrs. Williams, who is quite prominent in Baltimore social circles, formerly resided in Washington, D. C., where she and Mr. Williams met two years ago.

He has been in Lexington where his little son, Leslie, aged five, is being treated at the Good Samaritan hospital for pneumonia. The little fellow is now on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Ora Rule Shannon, of Frankfort, Ky., arrived here Friday for a few days' visit with relatives and friends. She returned to Frankfort Tuesday.

burg, spent Thursday here visiting relatives and friends.

Darwin Stone, who is attending Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky., arrived here Sunday for a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stone.

Mrs. E. H. Conley and daughter, Mrs. C. W. Pugh, and sons Donald and Dan, motored to Ashland Saturday, where they attended the football game between Paintsville and Ashland High.—Paintsville Herald.

THE MERCHANTS' SIDE

This buying at home idea has two sides. Merchants who neglect to advertise, who fail to shout their wares, cannot complain when buyers, wanting something, order it from a catalog where they see it instead of tramping over the town to find out if so and so has it.

We know of business men in Paintsville and Johnson county who think it is a crime to send money from the town or county for merchandise or to patronize the products of out-of-town concerns, when local plants and merchants have similar things to sell. These same men, however, neglect to do what is first done by the mail order people, ADVERTISE.

The Paintsville Herald has talked the importance of keeping money at home for many years. Most merchants and business men have agreed with us. Some of them, when approached for advertising, grin about them. Others, keenly appreciating the advantages of keeping their name in print, give us advertisements, large or small, as the circumstances happen to be.

No cross word puzzler will have to perplex his brain to discover who is going to get most of the business of the people of Johnson county. Note the merchants in Paintsville who advertise, and you will see they are the ones who are most prosperous. You will find this condition in every town in Kentucky.—Paintsville Herald.

Blackcats Take Regional Crown

After Allen Central High School knocked off favorite and two-time defending champ Johnson Central last week in 15 Regional Baseball Tournament play, and Prestonsburg defeated Pikeville, the championship game became a purely Floyd county affair.

In Friday's decisive game, it appeared for a while that Allen Central's Rebels would carry through with their string of upset wins to capture the tourney crown, but a double by Prestonsburg's Todd Nairn in the seventh inning dashed the Rebels' hopes.

When Nairn came to the plate, the Blackcats had won a 3-0 lead to the Rebels. But his double with two men on gave his team a 5-3 lead which stood, giving the Blackcats their first 15th Regional baseball championship.

The Blackcats opened the first inning scoring a run when leadoff hitter Jody Hackworth touched base on a Rebel error. Catcher John Goble's single moved Hackworth to third and he moved on to score after first baseman Kelly Cecil's single.

The next score of the game came in the fourth inning which began with a single by Prestonsburg's Tony Whitaker. Another single moved Whitaker to third and he was able to score on a single by teammate Greg Shepherd. Allen Central mounted a scoring threat in the fifth after leading off the inning with a single, but when Allen Central's Dale Pack attempted to steal second with two out and a man on third, the Blackcats' outstanding catcher, John Goble, nailed Pack with a perfect throw to second.

Prestonsburg's third score of the game came in the sixth after Nairn hit an infield single and John Hale picked up a double, driving in the run. At this point, the Blackcats led, 3-0.

In the bottom of the sixth, Allen Central came back strong as Freddie Ridenor led off when Shepherd gave up his only walk of the game. When Tim Lawson walked to first after being hit by a pitch, Kelly Nichols followed with a single to load the bases. A single by Craig Hall score the Rebels' first run with a second collected on a Blackcat error. When Stumbo hit a double-play groundball to Cecil, it looked as if the inning was over, but the throw back to first was off and Allen Central picked up the tying run.

Prestonsburg then came back in the seventh when Goble picked up his third hit of the game and Ratliff walked to set the stage for Nairn.

The Blackcats' Shepherd picked up his fourth win against two losses as he gave up nine hits and struckout four. Stumbo, who pitched Allen Central's opening win in the tournament against Phelps dropped to 6-2 on the season. Stumbo struckout five and walked two.

Drift Player Among Georgetown Players Honored at Banquet

Georgetown College senior basketball forward Phil Pike was chosen by his teammates as the team's Most Valuable Player for 1984 at the annual awards luncheon held on campus May 3.

Pike, the son of Harold Pike, pastor of South Side Baptist Church in Covington, also won awards as the team's leading rebounder and free throw shooter. He averaged 16.5 points per game during a season of 17 wins and 11 losses for Georgetown.

Other award winners named at the luncheon included Jim Dale Turner, of Drift, pivotman, co-winner of the "most improved" award.

New State Record Largemouth Netted

Kentucky has a new state record largemouth bass—a 13-pound, 10-ounce lunker.

The fish was caught April 14 by Dale Wilson, London, from Woods Creek Lake, a 700-acre impoundment in Laurel county just north of London. Wilson was using 12-pound-test line on a baitcasting outfit and fishing with a Bumblebee spinner when the fish hit.

Wilson's fish surpassed the previous record by just two ounces. Delbert Grizzle, the previous record holder, caught his fish from Greenbo Lake in Greenup county in 1966.

Woods Creek Lake was formed by the construction of I-75 and the southbound lane of the interstate is actually the dam. This lake has been producing some lunker largemouth in recent years and it is also a good producer of rainbow trout, which are stocked annually by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Fortunately, Wilson followed the correct procedures for establishing his fish as a state record. Several records must be disqualified each year because the fish was filleted and eaten or turned over to a taxidermist for mounting before an accurate weight could be obtained or a positive identification made.

If you do catch a fish you think might be a record, keep the fish whole—don't dress it in any way and if you give the fish to a taxidermist, instruct him not to do anything to it until he has your ok.

Then get in touch with the fish and wildlife department for further instructions. It's very likely that the fish will have to be examined by a biologist before it can be considered for a record.

The other major requirement is that the fish be weighed on a scale certified legal for trade. Such scales can be found at grocery stores, meat markets or similar establishments and bear a certificate of inspection from the Kentucky Department of Agriculture. Get the signatures of three persons who witness the weighing and you're all set.

In many ways, your chance of getting on a world record list are better than making the state record roll, since state lists are kept only for the biggest fish of each species. World records are kept for different line classes, so a fish that won't qualify for a state record could still get you on a world record list if the line used to land the fish was the right size.

The official keeper of world record fresh-and salt-water is the International Game Fish Association, 3000 East Las Olas Boulevard, Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33316. A $15 membership will bring you an annually updated list of all world records.

In 1980, 3,543,000 babies were born in the United States.

Bible Class To Hold 23rd Annual Program

The 23rd annual Achievement Program of the Joy Bible Club of Eastern will be held Saturday, May 26, at 7 o'clock. The public is invited.

The theme of this year's program is, "Sing a New Song." The boys and girls taking part will be performing in various musical numbers, with Shawn Spence, Patty Baldrige and Larissa Hicks taking solo parts. Memorized passages of Scripture and such will be given, led by Timothy Stone. A quickie quiz will also be featured.

An important moment of the evening will be when the children present a gift of $315 to New Tribes missionaries, Mr. and Mrs. Brewer, of Brazil. This is the first year the pupils have exceeded their goal. The surplus will go to a second missionary to unknown tribal people.

Awards will be given at the achievement program, which will be held at the home of Miss Barbara Wynsma and Miss Lois Holmquist, across from Allen Central High at Eastern on old 80. Crafts made by children will be displayed.

MAY I RECOMMEND A BOOK FOR YOU TO READ?
 In this column we usually answer a question that represents a concern expressed to me. This time we would like to recommend an excellent book by Dr. Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON DEATH AND DYING.
 This book presents many of the questions which have been asked of Dr. Kubler-Ross by people who have heard her lectures, attended her seminars of workshops on caring for the dying. The answers found in this book relate mostly to adults. Death is still a subject all too often avoided in thought and discussion—not because we do not care, but because we feel so helpless and find too many unanswered questions about this final parting. This book can provide a thoughtful and constructive guide.
 We have a collection of books on the subject of death-and-dying which might be helpful to you, especially if you have a close friend or relative who has died or is close to death. Please consult us whenever we can serve you.

Dams, Floodwalls Credited With Saving $154 Million

The Army Corps of Engineers says its dams and local protection projects in the West Virginia-Eastern Kentucky-Virginia area prevented an estimated $154 million worth of additional damages during recent flooding.

The Dewey, Fishtrap and Paintsville dams in Kentucky and John W. Flannagan and North Fork of Pound dams in Virginia prevented crests along eastern Kentucky's Levisa Fork and Big Sandy River that would have produced the second highest flood of record in the basin and caused additional damages of $128 million, according to Major Carl Tweedt, acting Huntington district engineer.

Without those dams, according to Tweedt, the crests would have been higher by 12.4 feet at Pikeville, 6.3 feet at Prestonsburg, 7.0 feet at Paintsville and 11.7 feet at Louisa.

The R.D. Bailey Dam kept the Guyandotte River from producing the third worst flood of record at Logan, W. Va., where the water would have been 10 feet higher without the protection provided by the dam. R.D. Bailey Dam also is credited with reducing the crest at Man by 8.3 feet and at Branchland by 13.2 feet. These reduced flood heights caused a $27 million reduction in flood damages.

The Corps estimated that actual damages totalled $90 million in the Levisa Fork basin and $117 million along Tug Fork.

Lake levels rose dramatically as a result of excess storm runoff being stored behind the dams, Tweedt said.

The lakes rose above their normal summer levels by these amounts: R.D.

Under the proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage program, employers would be allowed to hire youth under age 22 at $2.50 per hour, or about 75 percent of the regular $3.35 per hour, without requiring employers to complete the paperwork that is required under other programs for youth, according to U.S. Department of Labor.

Bailey 77 feet, John W. Flannagan 26 feet, Fishtrap 42 feet and Dewey 25 feet.

Bailey Dam, for example, held back more than 25 billion gallons of water during the storms and runoff period. Releases are now being made to return the water levels to summer pool.

No two storms are identical, according to Tweedt, and flooding can never be completely avoided because of the "uncontrolled" runoff that occurs downstream of the dams.

There are no flood control dams on the Tug Fork which flows past Williamson, W.V. A low floodwall which provides limited protection for the city was overtopped.

ENDOMETRIOSIS: Normal Function, Abnormal Place

By LUELLA KLEIN, M.D., President The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Any woman of childbearing age can be affected by a troublesome condition called "endometriosis." No one really knows exactly what causes the disease, but we do know that if it is not diagnosed and treated, it can lead to severe pain and infertility. Luckily, most women with this condition can be treated effectively.

Endometriosis is when a normal body tissue functions in the wrong place. When a woman menstruates, the blood-rich lining of her uterus is shed along with menstrual blood. In endometriosis, one widely-accepted theory is that small amounts of the uterine lining and blood may back up into the fallopian tubes. The tissue then travels outside the tubes and becomes attached to places like the ovaries, the outside of the tubes, uterus, bowel, and other parts of the pelvis.

During a woman's menstrual cycle, the tissue outside the uterus responds to a woman's hormones the same way the uterine lining does by growing and becoming rich in blood. During the menstrual period, the tissue outside the uterus has no place to flow. The body responds to this abnormal condition by trying to reabsorb the blood. It becomes inflamed around the pieces of tissue, and then scars over.

This situation occurs every month with the outside tissue repeatedly swelling, bleeding, and scarring. Sometimes the scarred patches may break open during menstruation and spread new patches of endometriosis to other parts of the pelvic area. The scarring and inflammation caused by the disease can block tubes and ovaries and cause infertility.

Although any woman may be susceptible to the disease, there is now some evidence that the disease may run in families. Because pregnancy and birth control pills both alter the growth of the uterine lining, they may protect women against the disease.

There are certain signals you should look for. Increasing discomfort and cramps during your period, or a sharp pain deep in your pelvis during intercourse could be signs of endometriosis. If you notice discomfort in your lower urinary tract or lower bowel just before, during, and just following your period which then subsides between periods, or any of the other symptoms, let your doctor know.

One treatment for endometriosis is the use of hormones to slow the growth of the uterus lining and, therefore, the growth of the disease. If you are being treated with hormones, you will not be able to become pregnant during the treatment but may be able to after treatment is stopped.

Surgery also is used to treat endometriosis. The surgery may consist of just removing the patches of endometriosis to removing part or all of the reproductive organs. This would depend on the extent of the disease, the patient's desire to have more children, and her age.

If you are faced with surgery, you should discuss the options carefully with your gynecologist before you agree to any surgery.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. I will be 50 next month, and I know that cancer is more common in older people. Do you have any suggestions on tests that I should have or signs that I should be aware of?

A. You are right that many cancers occur more often in people 50 and older. It is this group that has the most to gain from learning about symptoms of the disease. A new publication from the National Cancer Institute, Cancer Facts for People Over 50, has several suggestions for you.

When health problems are detected early, they are more likely to be treated successfully. That's especially true with many types of cancer. Studies have shown that the earlier the disease is found and treated, the better a person's chances for a full recovery.

(You can help safeguard your health by learning the early warning signs of cancer and having regular checkups. Call 1-800-4-CANCER or write to CIS, McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone St., Lexington, Ky. 40536 for this new publication.)

View from the Other Side

The tables were turned recently for Deputy Jailer Don Hall, who found himself on the inside looking out... Hall was taking his turn in the mock jail set up by the Jaycees here in the municipal parking lot as part of a fundraising drive for the American Cancer Society. Prominent citizens were "arrested" and urged to raise bail money to support the cancer organization. The appeal netted pledges in excess of $20,000.

Plant Disease Problems Seen

Heavy rains which inundated the state will influence the plant disease situation now and for the 1984 growing season.

Extension plant pathologists in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture said that during the rain periods soils were saturated or temporarily flooded.

"The roots of plants that are not tolerant of low soil oxygen levels will not function normally in flooded soils," said Dr. William Nesmith. "This stress may weaken the plants so that they may become susceptible to diseases that might not normally be a problem."

In some cases, root rot diseases promoted by the wet soils will not cause visible damage to the plant until a dry period occurs in mid summer.

"We know from last year's experience that county Extension agents and growers will need to be more aggressive about promoting preventive disease control measures," said Nesmith.

The UK pathologists suggest looking for disease problems in the following groups:

—Tobacco—All types of diseases are expected to increase in the plant bed because many pathogens have been carried in due to rain splash and temporary flooding. Bacterial diseases such as angular leaf spot should increase rapidly due to extensive water soaking of leaf tissue. Blackleg should increase due to hail injury to plants and low oxygen levels at the root-stem area. Plant beds should be treated regularly with a protective fungicide program and either bluestone lime mixture or streptomycin used to reduce bacterial disease. Black shank potential has greatly increased due to low land flooding.

—Forages—Root rots, crown and stem rots and leaf spots should increase. Cattle and equipment should be restricted from valuable stands until the soil firms to reduce crown injury. When weather permits, early harvesting may be required in some stands where disease pressure is great. Damping-off of spring seeded clover and alfalfa should increase.

—Corn—Seedling bright diseases on corn are usually worse on poorly drained, cold, wet soils, however with all the rain recently, nearly every field qualifies as poorly drained. Check plant stands to determine if replanting is necessary.

—Tree Fruits—Apple scab infections can be expected to occur during extended periods of leaf wetness. Fruit growers can expect that fungicides applied before or between rains would have weathered faster than usual. At first opportunity, trees should be resprayed using one of the fungicides having "kick-back" activity, such as Benlate, Topsin-M, Bayleton, or Funginex (up to petal fall). The latter two will control cedar apple rust which is also active now. Add a rust fungicide such as zineb or mancozeb to Benlate or Topsin-M. Problems with apple collar rot and peach root rot caused by Phytophthora fungi may increase following this rainy period. Infections by Phytophthora and other water mold fungi increase during saturated soil episodes.

—Strawberries—Gray mold and leather rot caused by Botrytis and Phytophthora may be more severe on fruits, particularly if rainy weather persists until harvest. Red stele (Phytophthora) infections will occur on susceptible strawberries during wet periods. The effects of red stele disease will be noticed later.

—Vegetables—Where cabbage and tomatoes are already transplanted into the field, a variety of soilborne root and stem rot diseases might be expected to increase, particularly those caused by water mold fungi such as Pythium. Black rot of cabbage, already present in some fields, will be spread rapidly by splashing rain.

Under the proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage program employers are prohibited from reducing the wage rate below $3.35 for youth employed by the employer at anytime during the 90 day period prior to May 1 of each year, according to the U.S. Labor Department.

Representative Stumbo in 1982 calling for a solution to the overweight coal truck problem and for better roads.

Representative Stumbo speaking on the "Broad Form Deed" in 1984.

RE-ELECT
GREGORY D. STUMBO
STATE REPRESENTATIVE
95TH DISTRICT
MAY 29 PRIMARY

During the past 4 years, Gregory D. Stumbo has been a strong voice in Frankfort. He is a young, qualified leader who has taken an active role in the legislature and the people of the 95th District have seen major accomplishments.

Consider this:

★ In 1980, as a "freshman", he sponsored a Constitutional Amendment that extended the "Homestead Exemption" to disabled individuals, that was adopted by the people of Kentucky and now is law. He was called upon to help draft the State Surface Mining Law to comply with the Federal Mandate, the so-called "Primacy" Legislation. Kentucky has achieved this goal and now over 200 million dollars will be spent on Abandoned Mine Lands.

★ In 1982 he was selected to serve as Vice-Chairman of the Energy Committee. He supported the program that provided assistance to low income people with their heating bills. He has been a leader in the fight against rising utility costs and has sponsored legislation that would have required the Public Service Commission to be elected, rather than appointed by the Governor. (In states with elected commissions the rates are 20% lower.)

★ In 1984 he sponsored the "Broad Form Deed Bill" which was enacted and thus remedied a problem that has plagued his native Eastern Kentucky for over 100 years. He also, in 1984, saw his dream of solving the overweight coal truck situation become a reality with the passage of legislation that he had worked on since 1981. Representative Stumbo believed that coal truckers should be able to earn their living without being illegal. He also believed that the mountain people were entitled to decent roads, and his single handed dedication to this cause resulted in the program which will go into effect in July of this year and generate 7 to 10 million dollars for the coal haul roads.

★ Representative Stumbo also saw a need for an adequate primary road system in Floyd County so the coal producers could get their product to market. He, with the help of other Eastern Kentucky legislators, made their concerns known and as a result, the six-year road construction plan recently released includes these projects for Floyd County:

- 4 lane for U.S. 23 from Prestonsburg to Paintsville
- Garrett to McDowell spur
- Inez to Auxler Road

★ He's fought for the working people, and miners. The U.M.W.A. and AFL-CIO have endorsed him.

★ During the 1984 session he supported educational reforms and has always stood in strong support for teachers, active and retired. The K.E.A. has endorsed him.

★ He sponsored an amendment that would have given a bonus to Vietnam Veterans.

★ As Chairman for the Liaison Committee to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee on Natural Resources, he sponsored a line item amendment in the budget that gives $60,000.00 over the next 2 years to establish a clean-up program at Dewey Lake.

Over these past 4 years Greg Stumbo has been busy, but that's what he promised to do 4 years ago; to work hard for the people of Floyd County. He didn't make any wild promises because he believes we've heard enough of them. Instead he's been busy getting results.

Now Greg Stumbo is asking to be re-elected. On May 29, 1984 there will be an election and there is only one contested race on the ballot in Floyd County and that is for State Representative.

Over the past 4 years, Greg Stumbo has worked for you—
Take the time to vote on May 29th—It is important—

Let's Re-elect

Don't Make Pets of Wildlife

This is the time of year when a camper, hiker or fisherman is most likely to encounter young wild animals in the woods. The first impulse, in many instances, is a desire to "adopt" the baby skunk, raccoon, fawn or whatever.

But the best course of action, according to wildlife experts, is to leave baby animals, even those seemingly "orphaned," where they are.

Although this advice may at first glance seem hard hearted, it is actually kinder in the long run for both the animal and the humans involved.

In the first place, the baby animal may not be orphaned at all. A fawn, for example, that seems all alone in the big woods probably has an anxious mother waiting nearby, but she will not show herself while a human is in the vicinity.

The care and feeding of a young animal is demanding and complicated, and most of those taken from the wild will die unless they are given the expert care that only a knowledgeable person can provide.

And if the animal does survive past infancy, other problems arise. Unlike dogs or cats, which have been domesticated for centuries, wild animals seldom lose their "wild" nature. An adult deer, particularly a buck, can be extremely dangerous and a raccoon, even one raised in the house, starts thinking he can whip anybody in the family when he gets to weigh about 25 pounds—and he's right.

Wild animals raised in captivity can seldom be successfully returned to the wilds, presenting their owners with the problem of what to do with an unmanageable adult fox, raccoon, skunk or deer. Often the animal must be destroyed, since it is almost impossible to get zoos to accept wild pets.

Then there's the problem of disease. Wild animals can carry and transmit to man several diseases, the most serious of which is rabies. Often, an animal which allows itself to be captured is diseased. Any animal which does not show a normal fear of man or displays signs of distress should be left strictly alone.

Skunks are particularly dangerous, since they can carry the rabies virus for six to eight months before symptoms appear. Even a skunk bought from a pet store and certified disease-free could develop rabies months after it is purchased.

Skunks and foxes probably represent the most common reservoirs for rabies in the wilds, although virtually all mammals are capable of carrying this disease and transmitting it to man. The danger of rabies, by itself, is reason enough to leave wildlife in the woods.

Finally, there's the legal aspect. To keep wildlife as pets, a permit from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is required, and a permit will be granted only for those animals taken during the open season for that particular species.

Without a permit, the animal is subject to confiscation and the owner can be fined. A conservation officer, upon application for a permit, will check to see if the animal was obtained legally and if the facilities for keeping it are sanitary and of adequate size. The officer will also make periodic checks to make sure the animal is being well cared for.

So for both animals and people, the best course of action is to leave wildlife in the wilds. Although the impulse to adopt a wild creature can be great, it's better to enjoy birds and animals in their natural surroundings instead of subjecting both them and you to unnecessary hardships.

New Lab Equipment Cuts Time of Tests

New microprocessor controlled laboratory equipment at McDowell ARH is capable of producing an accurate, precise laboratory test results in less than one minute.

The new equipment is being installed at nine ARH owned or managed facilities at a cost in excess of $350,000.

In early April, the McDowell ARH lab installed the Nova 4 stat chemistry analyzer. This machine is designed to perform a variety of different laboratory tests.

According to Dr. C.V. Abraham, vice-president for Clinical Support Services at ARH, "the quality of the care we can give to our patients will definitely improve because of this new equipment. This unit will enable tests to be completed in much less time, thus providing more efficient results to physicians and their patients." As an additional advantage for ARH's patients, fees for the computerized lab work will remain the same.

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held Tuesday evening, May 15, at the I.O.O.F. building, with the noble grand, Miss Kelly Sue Moore, presiding. Those who are ill were noted, and cards to be mailed to them were signed. The noble grand said that the recent rummage sale was a success, and she thanked all the members who had helped during the sale, and those who had assisted with the clean-up afterwards. Miss Moore announced that the date for the visit of the Assembly president, Mrs. Gladys Black, of Pleasureville, Ky., had, due to the recent floodwaters, been postponed until June 19. She added that the date of the forthcoming initiation had been changed to June 5, beginning with a dinner at 6 p.m. Each member is asked to bring a dish of food. A memorial service for deceased members will be held during the meeting.

Members present were Kelly Sue Moore, Nancy Duff, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Theckley Short, Helen Ormerod, Virginia S. Goble, Hope Whitten, Opal Dingus, Violetta Wright, Sue Moore, Paulena Owens, and Florence Reynolds.

Emergency Food Stamps Approved for 10 Counties

The Cabinet for Human Resources last Wednesday received authorization for the emergency distribution of food stamps to eligible residents in 10 eastern Kentucky counties hard hit by the recent flooding. The request by Department for Social Insurance Commissioner Jack Waddell was approved by Secretary John Block of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Five counties—Floyd, Letcher, Breathitt, Perry and Whitley—were approved in their entirety while specific areas of five other counties are also covered in the Department of Agriculture emergency declaration. An emergency declaration for Clay, Leslie, Laurel and Magoffin counties was requested but was not approved. Federal officials determined eligible residents in those four counties could best be served through the regular food stamp program.

Specified geographical areas were approved for five counties, three in this area:

Knott county—the central portion of the county bounded on the north by new Highway 80, beginning at the Floyd county line to Vest road, northward to Vest; westward on Highway 1087 to Buckhorn Creek road, west on Buckhorn Creek road to the Breathitt county line.

Bounded on the south by Highway 899 at the Floyd county line to Highway 1393; north on Highway 1393 to Highway 160; south on Highway 160 to Highway 15; west on Highway 15 to the Perry county line.

Martin county—the eastern portion of the county, east of Highway 3, beginning at the Lawrence county line; south to Highway 40, excluding the city of Inez; east on Highway 40 to Highway 908; south on Highway 908 to the Martha County Coal Company road; east on the Martin County Coal Company road to Highway 1439; south on Highway 1439 to the Pike county line.

Pike county—the entire county with the exception of the city of Pikeville.

"Local staff members and volunteers will begin taking applications for emergency food stamps Friday, May 18 and will continue to process these applications through Thursday, May 24 at the Department for Social Insurance offices in each county covered by the declaration," Waddell said.

Federal Tax Relief Available To Many State Flood Victims

Immediate tax relief is available for many Eastern Kentucky taxpayers who suffered property losses as a result of the torrential rains and flooding on or about May 6 and 7, 1984, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

A special provision of the tax law permits taxpayers in areas designated eligible for federal disaster assistance to deduct their losses either on the current year's tax return, or to amend the previous year's return with the possibility of getting an immediate refund.

Fourteen counties in Kentucky have been declared a federal disaster area by the President. These counties are Whitley, Floyd, Knox, Laurel, Knott, Pike, Perry, Magoffin, Clay, Letcher, Bell, Leslie, Martin and Breathitt.

Property losses that occur as a result of flooding may be partially or fully deductible on your federal tax return. Losses to business property are generally deductible in full, while non-business losses are deductible to the extent they exceed $100 plus 10 percent of the adjusted gross income. Of course, any casualty loss must be reduced by the amount of insurance or other reimbursement received, before you make any claim on your tax return.

Disaster losses require documentation when claiming a deduction on your federal tax return. To establish the amount of loss, taxpayers should compile lists of those items damaged or destroyed, and determine their fair market value before and after the loss occurred. Photographs and the judgment of a competent appraiser can be helpful.

Special assistance sites to aid flood victims will be established by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). The exact location of the sites and the hours of operation will be announced by FEMA.

An IRS representative will be available at the assistance sites to answer tax questions related to the disaster. In the meantime, there are some free tax publications including Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disaster, Casualties, and Thefts," and Publication 584, "Disaster and Casualty Loss Workbook," which can be helpful to flood victims. These free publications and answers to tax questions concerning casualty losses may be obtained by calling IRS toll free at 1-800-424-1040. The IRS representatives at the assistance sites will also have copies of the free publications.

Summer Jobs Program For County Assured

Bill W. May, manpower director for the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, announces that CAP will be operating a summer jobs program in Floyd county.

The jobs program, funded by the Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program, is scheduled to begin June 25 and run for five weeks until July 27, and will pay $3.35 per hour for 35 hours a week. It will serve high school graduates, college students, vocational school students and high school dropouts who are planning to return to school in the fall.

To be eligible for the program, an applicant must be economically disadvantaged and be between the ages of 16 and 21. Documentation of proof of age, family size and family income will be required. All applicants must have a valid Social Security card. All male applicants over 18 years of age must provide proof of military registration.

To apply for the program, contact the local Community Action Program office or the Kentucky Dept. for Employment Services at North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Monday through Friday, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Deadline for filing an application is June 11.

Jenny Wiley Theatre Undamaged by Flood

The recent floods washed out the staff of the Jenny Wiley Theatre, but left the amphitheatre undamaged.

"There was water up to the sixth row in the seating area and the scene shop had three inches, but the theatre is in excellent condition," Keith Stevens, managing director, reported this week.

Stevens and theatre staff—Polly King, business manager, and Connie Parrish, box office manager—were stranded at May Lodge for four evenings, waiting for the waters to recede.

"We boated to the theatre every day, and kept working on getting this year's season brochures mailed out," Parrish said. "All of those brochures were mailed Monday and should arrive in the next week or so." In addition, the Box Office at the theatre is now open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

The 1984 summer season includes Fiddler on the Roof, Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, and a return production of 1983's smash hit Annie. The season opens June 23 and the box office staff is processing ticket orders daily.

"Last week's floods knocked out the phone service from time to time, but people can call for information at 886-9274. If you haven't received a brochure, give us a call," Parrish suggested.

CARD OF THANKS

The Tivis Parsons family would like to send our many thanks to everyone who was so kind to donate money to the family. Thanks to my sister for extending her home to us and thanks to my brother, Leonard, and his wife for their help in getting him back. Thanks to everyone who sent food and flowers and to the Hall Funeral Home for their kindness.

MRS. TIVIS PARSONS 1t.

Theatre Receives Grant Increase

The Jenny Wiley Theatre has received a $30,000 outdoor drama grant from the Kentucky Department of the Arts for the 1984 season.

In 1983, this grant was cut to $20,000. State Representative Greg Stumbo and State Senator Benny Ray Bailey, were credited with getting the $30,000 figure reinstated this year.

"We are quite pleased about the increase in the grant," said Keith Stevens, managing director. "Not only will the money help us continue to improve our service to the region, it will also mean more dollars pumped into the Eastern Kentucky economy."

The Jenny Wiley Theatre is preparing for the opening of its Twentieth Anniversary season, June 23. This year, the slate of plays include Fiddler On the Roof, Joseph And The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat, and the return of 1983's smash hit, Annie. Reservations for the season may now be made by calling the Jenny Wiley Theatre Box Office at 886-9274.

BITE GUARDS

Q. Is there any way to stop someone from grinding or clenching his/her teeth?

A. A removable appliance called a bite guard or bite shield can be made from clear plastic to fit over the upper or lower teeth, depending on the patient's particular requirements.

This device offers notable relief for a wide range of symptoms of TMJ (temperomandibular joint) syndrome—headaches, neck-aches, dizziness, eye pain, ear complaints, jaw clicking, cracking and locking, among others.

Most afflicted people wear a bite/guard at night. Others need it for daytime stress, and some require it 24 hours a day. The device should be checked and adjusted periodically for scratches and wear.

However, all the above are considered temporary procedures. The definite treatment now is an equilibration or reshaping the tops of the teeth for a better fit.

Soil Stewardship Week Set May 27-June 3

The Floyd County Soil Conservation District will join the nationwide celebration of Soil Stewardship Week, May 27 to June 3, according to Lloyd Wells, chairman. The theme of this year's celebration is "Conservation: A Common Commitment." The National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) has sponsored Soil Stewardship Week since 1955, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts.

The thirtieth annual reference booklet published by NACD cites the reluctance of the human race to fully accept its primary role as caretaker of God's earth. "We are prepared to eat the fruit but the task of dressing the garden is left to the few among us who sincerely care about the perpetuation of the forests, the preservation of the rivers that water the garden and the renewing of the topsoil from which the plants gather their nutrients."

Materials especially designed to promote the Soil Stewardship Week theme are distributed each year through local conservation districts to clergymen, lay leaders, churches, civic and educational organizations and to individuals participating in the observance.

Information and materials for the 1984 observance of Soil Stewardship Week are available in Floyd county from Jim Carter, Carter Funeral Home. Call 886-3128 for more information.

The Eastern Kentucky Homebuilders Association has announced its officers and directors for 1984. Stevens, secretary and Tony Bentley, vice-president, (not pictured): Arnold Wheeler, treasurer; Scott Craft, Larry Justice and Blake Robinson, directors and the 1984 state directors, James Carter, Rush Scott and Ron Lawson.

Memorial Day Service

The Vogel-Day United Methodist Church at Harold will hold a special memorial service Sunday, May 27, to honor deceased pastors, members and friends of the church which was founded as Austin's Chapel in 1898. The pastor, Monte Fugarte, and the congregation extends to all interested persons an invitation to attend.

Armstrong Says Parts of Budget Unconstitutional

Attorney General David L. Armstrong last week released an opinion holding that portions of the 1984 state budget are unconstitutional.

According to Armstrong, House Bill 474, called the Appropriations Act, which was passed by the 1984 Kentucky General Assembly, and Senate Bill 294, relating to the budget and also enacted in 1984, are unconstitutional under Section 51 of the Kentucky Constitution, which requires any law enacted by the General Assembly to relate to only one subject.

"In this case, the Appropriations Act is bound by the Constitution to deal with only budgetary matters," he said. "However, after a careful review, we feel that the 1984 budget bill reaches into areas beyond appropriations."

"There are some serious legal questions with the budget legislation," Armstrong said. "A budget bill is clearly a legislative act, but it is short-termed and subordinate to the statutes. A budget may not be used to create, establish or modify statutory law."

According to Armstrong, the General Assembly apparently did attempt to provide a mechanism for permitting the expansion of the Appropriations Act into other areas of legislation beyond the budget. "The Legislature passed SB 294 which was a statutory enactment permitting the General Assembly to provide for the suspension or modification of those statutes that relate to appropriation measures," he said.

An Open Letter To The People Of Prestonsburg And Floyd County

Dear Citizens:

As members of the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad, Inc., we feel compelled to respond to recent allegations presented by Prestonsburg Fire Chief, Thomas Blackburn, to officials of the Prestonsburg City Council at its meeting of May 14, 1984. Those charges apparently radiated from circumstances surrounding the serious flooding in our area during the week of May 7, 1984.

Our members and officers have researched the matters alleged and presented to the City Council, and conclude that they are without foundation, malicious, and damaging to the good name of our Squad.

Our Squad has served the public as a volunteer organization during many perilous times since our inception in 1958. These have included floods, fires, industrial and other accidents to name but a few. During the May 1984 Flood, our members worked unselfishly and diligently with the various groups who were concerned with providing assistance to flood victims. In fact, over 630 man hours were expended by our members from the early morning of Monday May 7 through midnight Tuesday May 8, receiving only satisfaction for having helped someone in need and little or no recognition.

We feel that if Prestonsburg needs another rescue squad, that is their own affair and we offer no objections, and we would expect to work co-operatively in such a case. However, we believe a public apology to our organization is in order from the responsible party or parties to mend any damage to our organization's reputation.

Please be assured that we will continue to respond to the people of Prestonsburg as always, and for as long as the public desires our services.

Respectfully,
Members and Officers
Floyd County Emergency
& Rescue Squad, Inc.

Verdict Awards Board $343,000

A Johnson county jury last week awarded the county board of education a total of $343,000 from a Paintsville construction company and its bonding company.

The verdict appeared to unravel, for the time being, a dispute over three construction projects at Johnson Central High School that has ensnared the school system in controversy for nearly three years.

The school board sued JDH Construction Co. of Paintsville and its bonding company, Integrity Insurance Co., in November 1981, alleging that JDH had failed to complete the $1.1 million construction project on time and had not paid its creditors.

JDH, owned by local contractor James Hughes, was low bidder in 1980 on a contract to build a coal conversion plant at the high school to replace an existing electrical heating system; a swimming pool and classroom building.

In a counterclaim suit against the school system, JDH contended it was fired without cause and asked for compensation for alleged damage to its reputation by the school board's actions.

Charges and countercharges followed. The state Department of Education intervened and recommended a report by an independent architect last November that wound up in still more controversy.

The verdict "really shocked us," said JDH attorney Steve Owens, of Paintsville, who said his client probably would appeal the decision.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

If you experience side effects from a prescribed medicine, it may not always be due to the active ingredient. Pharmaceutical manufacturers use coatings, binders, fillers, colorings and flavorings when making pills and liquids. The law does not require that these ingredients be listed on the package label. Even physicians may not be aware of these "extra" ingredients. According to a recent issue of the NEW ENGLAND JOURNAL OF MEDICINE, many of these substances can cause adverse reactions. If you suspect this as a problem with your medication, ask your doctor or pharmacist if an inactive ingredient could be responsible for your reaction. There may be a similar, equally effective medication with different inactive ingredients.

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your pharmacy. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat., 9-4.

Good News Report

By THOMAS W. PAUKEN
Director of ACTION

Actually, Elizabeth Terwilliger had not planned to become the nature lady of Marin County, California. Fact is, following her schooling in Hawaii and acquisition of an M.A. at Columbia University she had her mind fixed on hospital administration. Her father was an orthopedic surgeon, so was her brother; her interest in caring for the sick went with the family. But at nursing school, as Elizabeth Cooper, she met another doctor, Calvin Terwilliger, and became his wife, and, in due time, the mother of two children.

They lived by the water in Sausalito, California, and there wasn't a cleared place for the children to play, so their mother set to work to create a parkland for them. Growing up in Hawaii, she had not only loved the outdoors but also the wildlife inhabiting it, particularly the birds. And so it was that her childhood love of nature was rekindled through her desire to acquaint her children with it and, in teaching them, she decided to acquaint others as well.

That was more than 30 years ago, and since then she has become known far and wide as the nature lady of Marin, having guided three generations of children and adults on field and water trips, hiking, canoeing, bicycling, teaching a special awareness and appreciation of nature in all its many guises. Her fame has spread far beyond the San Francisco Bay area—her bird-in-the-hand teaching technique standardized globally. Early on, Elizabeth foresaw that an understanding of the environment required the involvement of all the individual senses and so she brings her collection of birds and animals to the classroom so that students can physically make contact with nature's creatures. In her desire to inform she conducts field trips and demonstrations for handicapped children and through her wonderful capacity to reach out she has given them the capability to understand the relationship between themselves and nature.

Six days a week for 30 years, Elizabeth Terwilliger has escorted thousands of children, teachers, parents and families, introducing them to a world which so many never see. And always she has done so as a volunteer. So inspirational has been her effort that in 1975 other volunteers, led by Mrs. Joan Beakins, established the Terwilliger Foundation. The purpose of the Foundation was to train volunteer naturalists in the Terwilliger methods of teaching nature. As a result, there are today more than 100 such lecturers, reaching an estimated 75,000 students a year.

As for Elizabeth, she is there, too, on film and in her books, viewed annually by about a million children. On May 7, she was greeted by President Reagan at the White House. One of 20 volunteers previously selected by a special presidential advisory council, she journeyed to Washington, D.C. to receive an award for outstanding national service from the President.

Elizabeth Terwilliger, she'll be 75 in September, and she can run up a hill faster than those who follow her, but whether running or walking she proudly bears the nickname of the Pied Piper of Marin County—a wonderful lady who has charmed and enriched the lives of all those who have journeyed with her.

The proposed Summer Youth Employment Opportunity Wage applies to youth under the age of 22, from May 1 to September 30, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

Foreigners Own Little Ky. Land

The amount of agricultural land in the U.S. owned by foreign interests rose slightly in 1983, but Kentucky remains very much in the hands of Kentuckians.

Figures released through the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, show 13.7 million acres of American farmland under foreign control, an increase of 200,000 acres from 1982.

States neighboring Kentucky have anywhere from half again to more than eight times as much of their farmland owned by foreign concerns than does Kentucky.

Tennessee leads the list with 356,850 agricultural acres owned by individuals or corporations from other nations. Kentucky has only 44,020 farm acres in foreign hands.

Illinois has 151,102 acres of foreign-owned farmland, followed by Virginia with 132,683.

Indiana is one of four of Kentucky's seven neighboring states with less than 100,000 acres of agricultural land controlled by foreign interests. Those states rank: Indiana, 96,876 acres; Missouri, 62,480 acres; West Virginia, 60,367 acres and Ohio 46,982 acres.

Canada and the United Kingdom own almost two-fifths of all foreign-owned farmland in the U.S. West Germany, Japan and the Netherlands Antilles are other major holders.

Russia owns only 835 acres in the entire U.S. Libya owns 302 acres and South Africa owns only 249 acres.

Help for Students

The Pikeville College Scholarship Committee has announced a Work-Residency program for the 1984-85 school year. Seventy students will have the opportunity to work off one-third the cost of residency ($700) through this program. Twelve current students and eight new students are eligible. The policy is in keeping with the institutional commitments to help students who need financial assistance to attend college.

For further information contact the director of Financial Aid at (606) 432-9322.

FIRST PUBLIC NOTICE
(EO 11988)

Notification is hereby given to the public of the intent of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to reimburse eligible local governments and State agencies for eligible costs incurred to repair all publicly-owned facilities damaged as a result of recent high winds, tornadoes and flooding. The areas affected are the counties of Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Knott, Knox, Laurel, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry, Pike and Whitley in the Commonwealth of Kentucky, which were declared a major disaster area by the President on May 15, 1984. This assistance is granted under the authority of Public Law 93-288 as amended, the Disaster Relief Act of 1974. This notice concerns those facilities which are within the base or one percent chance floodplain (also known as the 100-year floodplain), or critical actions within the 500-year floodplain. These facilities may have adverse effects upon the floodplain or may be vulnerable to damage by flooding if they are restored to pre-disaster condition.

These facilities include, but are not limited to the following:

1. Non-emergency debris clearance.
2. Non-emergency repair to protective flood control and protective coastal facilities, including dams, reservoirs and channels.
3. Damage to roads, including streets, culverts and bridges.
4. Damage to water control facilities, pipes and distribution systems.
5. Damage to public buildings and related equipment.
6. Damage to public utilities, including sewage treatment plants and sewers, and electrical power distribution systems.
7. Damage to private, non-profit facilities (hospitals, educational centers, emergency and custodial care services, etc.).

The President's Executive Order 11988 on Floodplain Management requires that all Federal actions in or affecting the base floodplain be reviewed for opportunities to relocate out of the floodplain or to minimize future damage from flooding. FEMA has determined that for certain types of facilities, there are normally no alternatives to restoration in the floodplain. These are facilities which meet all of the following criteria:

1. The FEMA estimated cost of repairs is less than 50% of the estimate replacement cost of the entire facility and is less than $100,000.
 2. The facility is not located in a floodway or coastal high hazard area.
 3. The facility has not sustained structural damage in a previous Presidential-declared flooding major disaster or emergency.
 4. The facility is not a critical one (i.e., hospital, generating plant, contains dangerous materials, or emergency operation center, etc.).
- FEMA intends to provide assistance for the restoration of the facilities described above to their pre-disaster condition except that certain measures to mitigate the effects of future flooding may be incorporated into the restoration work. For example, culverts and bridges with insufficient waterway openings may be subject to washing out due to the backed-up water. This back-up may also cause damage to other facilities in the area. One mitigation measure would be to increase the size of the waterway opening. Another might be to relocate building electric outlets or air conditioning units to higher elevation. This will be the only public notice concerning these facilities.

Other facilities which do not fall into one of the four criteria listed above, are required to undergo more detailed review, including study of alternative locations. The public is invited to participate in the process of identifying alternatives and analyzing their impacts. Details on how to obtain information on specific projects and on the submission of comments will be found at the end of this notice. Further explanation on the final determination on the restoration of these facilities will be given in subsequent notices.

Because of urgent need for some facilities of the type described in the previous paragraph, an applicant may have already started restoration of a facility when the Federal inspector visited the site. Some of these facilities would normally fall into the category requiring examination of alternative sites. These facilities will be restored in their original location based upon the following rationale. One of the following situations applies in each case:

1. The facility is functionally dependent on its floodplain location. Flood control facilities, bridges, and piers are examples.
2. The project facilitates an open space use. Facilities which are part of a park or other open space use are examples. This type of use represents sound floodplain management and therefore there is no need to change it.
3. The facilities, such as roads and utilities, are an integral part of a larger network which would be uneconomical to relocate.

Additionally, the possible effects of not restoring the facility were examined. In each case, there was an overriding public need for the facility which clearly outweighed the Order's requirements to avoid the floodplain and which made non-floodplain sites not practicable. FEMA also consulted with State and local officials and actions which will be carried out do not violate either State or local floodplain protection standards. The restoration of these facilities also will incorporate certain measures designed to mitigate the effects of future flooding. This will be the only notice to the public concerning these facilities.

Interested persons may obtain information about these actions and their locations at the Office of the Federal Coordinator at Federal Emergency Management Agency, P.O. Drawer 1686, Highway 23 (Old Star Music Land), Paintsville, Kentucky 41240 or by calling (606) 789-4344 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Comments about specific projects and the application of the Floodplain Management Executive Order to them should be submitted in writing to Mr. Paul E. Hall, Federal Coordinating Officer at the above address by May 31, 1984.

REPAIR OF PRIVATE BRIDGES, PROTECTIVE STRUCTURES AND PURCHASE OF MOBILE HOMES

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) gives notice to the public of its intent to determine whether the repair, replacement and provision of private bridges, protective structures, and purchase of mobile homes under the Individual and Family Grant Program (Section 408 of the Disaster Relief Act of 1974) complies with the President's Order on Flood Plain Management, Executive Order 13968. FEMA proposes to assist the Commonwealth of Kentucky to fund this repair, replacement, provision or purchase because of recent flooding in the following counties which are included in the President's Declaration of a Major Disaster for Kentucky (FEMA-705-DR-KY):

Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Knott, Knox, Perry, Magoffin, Martin, Pike, Laurel, Whitley.

Some of these facilities are within the 100 year floodplain and span of the floodway and may be structurally located, in part, within the floodway.

FEMA may require that the registration of those facilities incorporate certain measures designated to mitigate against effects of future flooding.

Although these projects are in the floodway, FEMA's participation is based on the following rationale:

1. The bridges are part of existing networks of roads that cannot be economically replaced.
 2. No known alternative sites are available.
 3. There are no other known practicable ways of crossing the floodway.
 4. No long-range adverse effects to the physical environment are known to exist.
 5. Failure to restore pre-existing routes could cause serious time delay for emergency and other vehicles.
 6. Repair, replacement or provision of protective structures will mitigate against future damages (by flooding or slides) to private individuals.
 7. Time is of the essence in providing suitable housing to particular applicants.
- The rationale for proposed participation in the restoration of bridges and protective structures and the purchase of mobile homes, provides the basis for consideration of funding.

Interested parties are requested to submit their views in writing to the Disaster Recovery Manager, Federal Emergency Management Agency, P.O. Drawer 1686, Paintsville, Ky. 41240. 11.

INITIAL PUBLIC NOTICE

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) in conjunction with the State of Kentucky gives public notice of its intent to determine whether the provision of temporary housing in existing resources and repair or restoration of private access bridges (under the Temporary Housing Program—Section 404 of the Disaster Relief Act of 1974) complies with the President's Order on Floodplain Management (Executive Order 11988). The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) proposes to provide individual disaster victims temporary housing assistance in those counties which are included in the President's declaration of a major disaster as a result of high winds, tornados, and flooding.

This notice concerns use of existing resources, and repair or restoration of private access bridges within the base or one-percent chance floodplain, also known as the 100-year floodplain. Prior to utilization of such measures, FEMA will require that vulnerability to damage by flooding, natural-values-related factors and impact on wetlands be determined.

Although these units or bridges may be located in the floodplain, the Federal Emergency Management Agency's utilization of these resources is based on the following rationale:

1. That time is of the essence in providing temporary housing to particular applicants. Suitable temporary housing resources within the floodplain may be the only available housing.
2. The proposed temporary housing site will not subject an occupant to unreasonable flood risk.
3. In order to maintain the integrity of existing communities, the occupants proximity to places of business, worship, educational facilities as well as social or ethnic considerations, such sites will be used.
4. The site will not encourage degradation of the floodplain or ruin its natural protective values.

The public is invited to participate in the process of identifying alternatives and analyzing their impact. Information may be obtained about these actions by contacting the Federal Coordinator—P.O. Box 1686, Paintsville, Ky. 41240.

Comments should be submitted in writing at the above address within ten days. 11.

Jenny Wiley Theatre
Accepting Ticket Orders

The Jenny Wiley Theatre has announced that reservations are now being accepted for its summer season.

"Based on the huge number of requests for information already received, we expect that tickets will sell very fast," said Keith Stevens, Managing Director. "With the fine community support of the past years and the terrific season we have scheduled, we feel that we will break last year's attendance records easily."

The season opens with the perennial favorite, "Fiddler on The Roof," Saturday, June 23. "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," based on the story of Joseph from the Book of Genesis, opens June 27. The smash hit from 1983, "Annie," rounds out the season on July 7. After all three shows open, they go into rotating repertory each Wednesday through Sunday until August 19.

"A new feature of our service to the public will be the season subscription," Stevens added. "When a person purchases a season subscription, he or she tells us which nights they wish to attend when they order the tickets. When the theatre receives the order, we will send the actual tickets to the customer instead of 'season ticket cards.'" Stevens continued.

In addition to saving up to 40% off single ticket prices, people who purchase subscriptions will receive other advantages. Subscribers will avoid waiting in long lines at the Box Office since they will already have their tickets. Seating is assured on sold-out nights. If for any reason a subscriber cannot attend on his or her chosen night, a liberal ticket exchange policy will be utilized. In addition, subscribers will have the first opportunity to order tickets for the 1985 season.

"People should watch for our season brochures, which have more information about purchasing subscriptions," Stevens said. The Box Office is now open to take reservations for any performance and to process subscription orders. Box Office hours at the Theatre are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The phone number for reservations and further information is 886-9274.

Red Cross Expects To Spend $3 Million for Flood Relief

More than 2,500 families who suffered losses in the May floods and tornadoes have received assistance at Red Cross disaster service centers located throughout the affected area, according to Harry Noftsker, director, Red Cross disaster relief operation.

At the peak of the operation, Red Cross shelters housed 3,947 persons. Mobile feeding has been provided in the affected counties by 32 Red Cross vans. By the end of the second week, more than 200,000 meals have been served, and 206 Red Cross staff workers have been assisted by almost 1,000 local volunteers in the operation.

"The Red Cross anticipates that expenditures will reach in the neighborhood of $3 million for the relief effort," said Noftsker. Red Cross disaster is an outright gift made possible through contributions from the American people.

Families who suffered losses are encouraged to register at the Red Cross disaster service center located near their home for assistance with food, clothing, shelter, disaster-related medical needs, some household furnishings, minor building repair, personal occupational supplies and other items.

The Red Cross disaster service center for Floyd, Johnson and Magoffin counties is located in the Allen Central High School gymnasium at Eastern.

The process by which the Red Cross provides assistance is through the use of "disbursing orders" made out to the merchant of the victim's choice. It gives the family the authorization to purchase specific items for up to a specified amount of money.

"The merchant then receives payment for the merchandise from the Red Cross," Noftsker explained.

Red Cross is working in cooperation with government and other public and private agencies to assure that more extensive disaster-related needs will be met.

(Persons or firms wishing to aid the flood and tornado victims may make a financial contribution to the American Red Cross disaster relief fund.)

Reporting Earnings

People getting Social Security benefits who work are required to estimate their projected earnings as accurately as possible and to report the amount to the Social Security Administration, Jim Kelly, Social Security district director, for the Big Sandy area, said recently.

Furthermore, people should revise these estimates, as necessary, during the course of the year.

"Excess earnings under the annual retirement test are the primary cause of overpayments," Kelly said. "More than one million people were overpaid in 1983 because of underestimation or failure to report their earnings, and total overpayments, as a result, amounted to more than $1 billion. The overpayment usually causes the person a hardship because the overpayment must be recovered by withholding the person's monthly check unless it is paid back within 30 days.

"People must file an annual report of earnings at the end of the taxable year. At that time the amount of benefits due for the year is figured; if all the payments that were due had not been made, the person is paid the appropriate amount.

More information about how work affects Social Security benefits can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security Office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Wrecked Auto Kills Youth While Fishing

A Garrett youth died Tuesday as the result of a car wreck while he was fishing.

Eighteen-year-old Ricky Thornsberry was fishing from the bank on Jones Fork, a short distance out of Lackey, when an auto reportedly driven by Drucilla Egbert, 32, of Mousie, went out of control, plunged over an embankment and struck him. He was pinned beneath the car and was dead on arrival at the nearby Potter Clinic.

Archie Sturgill, 32, of Mousie, who, officers of the Hazard State Police Post said, was a passenger in the car, suffered hand and back injuries. He was taken to the McDowell Regional Hospital, and is expected to recover.

The victim was the son of Charles and Marietta Griffith Thornsberry, of Garrett. Besides his parents, he is survived by his widow, Janie Short Thornsberry, and two sisters, Carletta and Wanetta Thornsberry, all of Garrett.

Funeral rites will be conducted at 10 a.m. tomorrow (Thursday) from the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist Church by the Revs. Clinton Jones and Green Boyd, and burial in the Perkins cemetery at Leburn will be directed by the Hall Funeral Home.

BRUISES

Highlands Regional Medical Center and Our Lady of the Way Hospital have physicians on duty twenty-four-hours a day to treat emergency injuries and illnesses. However, these physicians realize that some injuries, while requiring attention, are not so severe so as to require a visit to the emergency room. A bruise is the most common injury of this type. It occurs when a blow or fall to the body causes small blood vessels to break beneath the skin and cause discoloration and swelling.

There will be pain and slight reddening of the skin in an area which has been bruised. Later, the bruise turns blue or green in color and occasionally a lump forms at the site. Before the bruise fades, it may become brown and yellow.

When an area has been bruised apply cold compresses or an ice bag to the affected area to decrease local bleeding and swelling. If possible, elevate the limb above the level of the heart. Heat should be applied only after 24 hours. If a bruise is very painful or swelling develops seek medical attention as there is a possibility of a broken bone or other injury.

The Highlands Regional Medical Center emergency department can be reached at 886-8511 or Our Lady of the Way Hospital emergency department can be reached at 285-5181.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our father, Joseph Willard Stegall, who died April 19, 1984.

Your gentle face and patient smile With sadness we recall. You had a kindly word for each And died beloved by all.

The voice is mute and stilled the heart That loved us well and true. Oh, bitter was the trial to part From one as good as you.

You are not forgotten, loved one, Nor will you ever be. As long as life and memory last We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore, As time goes by, we miss you more. Your loving smile, your gentle face No one can fill your vacant place.

Your loving children,
BILLIE JO, KAY, GAIL,
DEBBIE, STAN AND GWEN

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our former principal, James W. Salisbury, who passed away May, 1974, and our former classmates, Cledith Ray Barnett, who passed away January, 1966, Jimmy Wayne Martin, who passed away September, 1963, and Hershel Ray Hale, who passed away March, 1982.

DEATH IS ONLY A PART OF LIFE

We enter this world from "The Great Unknown" And God gives each Spirit a form of its own And endows this form with a heart and a soul To spur man on to his ultimate goal...

For all men are born to Return as they Came And man is but born to die and arise For beyond this world in beauty there lies

The purpose of death which is but to gain Life Everlasting in God's Great Domain... And no one need make this journey alone For God has promised to take care of His own.

★ CANCER HOPELINE ★

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society to help save your life from cancer.

QUESTION: Is breast pain a symptom of breast cancer?

ANSWERline: Cancerous lumps in the breast are usually not painful. Breast pain in many women is often associated with normal hormonal changes that occur about a week before the menstrual period. Breasts may also feel swollen or lumpy. All of these symptoms usually disappear after the menstrual period.

Pain also could be a symptom of a condition known as fibrocystic breast disease, in which benign lumps or cysts develop in the breast. These fluid-filled sacs often enlarge and become painful just before the menstrual period. Some women with a fibrocystic condition experience pain at other times in their menstrual cycle as well. Unexplained or persistent pain should be brought to a doctor's attention.

QUESTION: What is the likelihood that a patient with cancer of the larynx was a smoker?

ANSWERline: Most patients with cancer of the larynx, or voice box, were smokers. Cigarette smoking is the major cause of laryngeal cancer in the U.S. It is estimated that 10 out of 11 laryngeal cancer patients had a history of smoking.

Case histories also show that the vast majority of men who develop the disease (Larynx cancer strikes men five times more often than women) have a history of heavy smoking and drinking. The use of alcohol in combination with cigarette smoking appears to act synergistically to greatly increase the risk for this cancer.

QUESTION: Is there any way to detect prostate cancer in its earliest stages?

ANSWERline: Cancer of the prostate, a male gland situated below the bladder, has the third highest incidence of cancer in men, after skin and lung cancer. One of the most proven detection methods is the digital rectal examination. Almost all prostate cancer can be felt during this procedure. Since the risk of prostate cancer increases with age, and most prostate cancer occurs in men 55 and over, a digital rectal examination should be part of a regular annual health checkup for these men. This examination is also used to detect rectal cancer.

Other various tests can detect prostate cancer. One involves examining the blood for the presence of prostatic acid phosphatase, a group of enzymes commonly found in the secretion of the prostate. Elevated enzyme levels in the blood may indicate cancer. Other tests examine the urine for tumor cells and other indicators of cancer.

QUESTION: Who is at risk for developing colorectal cancer?

ANSWERline: About the same number of men as women develop the disease and the likelihood increases with age, especially after age 50. Anyone with a personal or family history of colorectal cancer or of polyps in the colon or rectum should be examined carefully. Two other diseases of the digestive tract, chronic ulcerative colitis and polyposis, are also linked to colorectal cancer?

ANSWERline: The Pap test, a highly accurate detection method for cancer of the cervix, is only 50 percent effective in detecting cancer of the endometrium or body of the uterus. Therefore, women 50 to 64, the age group in which this cancer most commonly appears, are advised to have the Pap test and a yearly pelvic exam as part of a cancer-related checkup. Women at high risk for endometrial cancer should check with their physician about the need for an endometrial tissue sample at menopause. High risk candidates include women with a history of obesity, and those who are having or have had long-term estrogen therapy for menopausal symptoms.

QUESTION: What is passive smoking?

ANSWERline: Passive smoking is the inhaling of smoke by people who don't smoke. Cigarette smoke creates concentrated air pollution in enclosed areas. In such an atmosphere, nonsmokers involuntarily inhale sidestream or secondhand smoke—smoke not drawn through the cigarette and therefore not filtered by the smoker's lungs. As a result, sidestream smoke contains much higher percentages of tar, nicotine, and noxious gases than exhaled smoke. Even when room ventilation is adequate, carbon monoxide levels given off by cigarette smoke can exceed allowable safety limits.

QUESTION: Is passive smoking hazardous?

ANSWERline: Tobacco smoke is dangerous to people with heart and chronic lung conditions, causing breathing difficulties and other symptoms. Strong allergic reactions also can occur among passive smokers. Children of parents who smoke are more likely to have bronchitis and pneumonia during their first year. Evidence is also beginning to accumulate which suggests that passive smoking may be a cause of lung cancer. The evidence, while still not conclusive, is sufficient for concern.

QUESTION: What is secondary cancer?

ANSWERline: A secondary cancer is one that originated elsewhere but has metastasized or spread to another part of the body. The cellular makeup of the secondary growth will usually resemble the first, allowing physicians to identify the origin of the growth (e.g., a liver tumor that began in the ovaries), and to select an appropriate course of treatment. Secondary cancers may also exhibit characteristics of the organ or gland that hosts the primary tumor. A secondary bone cancer which originated in the thyroid gland, for instance, may produce thyroid hormone in its new site.

QUESTION: "What does 'risk' mean in relation to getting cancer?"

ANSWERline: It is the relative possibility that cancer may develop. When scientific studies show that a particular group of people have an above average rate of cancer, persons in that group are said to have an increased risk of the disease. The Society believes that more frequent examinations may be needed for persons considered to be at higher risk. High risk groups for breast cancer generally include women with personal and family histories of breast cancer. High risk indicators for cervical cancer include first intercourse at an early age and multiple sexual partners. High risk for endometrial cancer includes obesity, a history of infertility, failure of ovulation, and prolonged estrogen therapy. People in any of these categories should consult their physicians for guidance.

QUESTION: "Are there different types of skin cancer?"

ANSWERline: There are three main types of skin cancer, classified according to the cell involved. They are basal cell, squamous, and melanoma. More than 90 percent of the all skin cancer falls into the first two classifications. Basal cell cancer occurs more frequently, but grows more slowly. It rarely spreads, but if left untreated can affect underlying bone. Squamous cell cancer occurs less often, but can spread rapidly. Malignant melanoma, while relatively uncommon, is a virulent cancer which spreads very quickly.

The Maytown & Wayland United Methodist Churches
present the film seminar
"THE FAMILY: God's Pattern for Living"
a six-part 16mm film seminar with John MacArthur, Jr.

Produced by the Moody Institute of Science, a ministry of Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, these films present the Biblical mandate for the Christian family. Dr. John MacArthur, Jr., well-known pastor, author, radio and conference speaker, offers Biblical solutions to the issues that are breaking today's homes apart. Each 50-minute film is introduced by Assistant Chief of Police of Los Angeles, Robert L. Vernon, who prepares the audience for Dr. MacArthur's message. Each film addresses a different topic. "God's Pattern For Relationships" presents an overview of the specific roles of individual family members, and the necessity for submission to God's authority. "God's Pattern For Wives," and "God's Pattern For Husbands," focus on the Biblical roles of the man and woman in the marriage relationship. "God's Pattern For Children," and "God's Pattern For Parents," examines the inter-relationships between children and parents in the Christian home. The final title, "God's Pattern Broken—Divorce and Remarriage," faces a difficult subject with sensitivity and Biblical perspective.

Encourage your friends to come with you to see each film.
