Exhibits Paintings Here

Local artist, Sandi Arnett Cooley, formerly of Prestonsburg, is currently exhibiting her paintings at the Floyd County Library through Dec. 15. The exhibit includes original watercolors of landscapes, still-lives, birds, flowers, and her most recent studies of weathered textures.

Sandi has studied art at Prestonsburg Community College under the direction of Tom Whitaker and at Pikeville College with well-known Kentucky artist, Doug Adams, of Morehead. She also has attended various classes and workshops with artists Russell May, William Zapone, and Zoltan Szabo.

Sandi is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnett, of Abbott Creek, and now resides in Pikeville with her husband, Caleb, and their four children.

State Board Makes Exceptions On Six Hour-Day Requirement

Students playing in selected statewide high school athletic events will be exempted from the requirement for a six-hour school day during 1984-85, the State Board of Education has ruled.

In approving the exemption at a meeting in Murray on Wednesday (Nov. 28), board members urged the Kentucky High School Athletic Association to try to reschedule those events this year if possible.

They said they were granting the exemption on a one-time-only basis and asked the KHSAA to schedule future statewide tournaments on non-school days.

Cancer Fund in State For 1984 at $1,490,307

The American Cancer Society's Kentucky Division announced last week that income of $1,490,307 has been raised during the 1984 fund-raising campaign. The money received amounts to 11.9% more than was contributed last year.

Leading all sources of income for the current year was the Society's residential campaign, which brought in $522,260. Special events contributed an additional $419,853.

State Crusade Bob Braun said the success of the 1984 campaign "demonstrates the tremendous trust of the public in support of the American Cancer Society and its cancer control activities."

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

Members of the Abbott Homemakers' Club met Nov. 13, at the church annex, with Mrs. Sharon Sparr, president, in charge. Mrs. Sparr and Mrs. Frances Pitts presented the lesson on "Inexpensive Gifts," with gifts made by various Homemakers on display. Mrs. Pitts announced that the trimming of the Christmas tree at May Lodge, for which Homemakers had made decorations, will take place Nov. 29-30. The group was asked to make ornaments for the Floyd County Library's Christmas tree. It was decided that members and their families would have their annual Christmas dinner at the church annex, Tuesday, Dec. 11, at 6 p.m. The hostesses, Mrs. Ethel Ratliff and Mrs. Grace Conley, served doughnuts and coffee to Mesdames Cynthia Frasure, Ruby Frasure, Sharon Sparr, Frances Pitts, Christine Ross, Eukie Merritt, and Melissa Justice. The next meeting will be at the same location, Jan. 8, and the lesson will be on "Twilling." All women of the community are invited to attend.

The state board will meet with the KHSAA Board of Control in January to discuss scheduling and other issues, including the length of athletic seasons, non-teaching coaches and eligibility for athletic competition. Tentative plans are for a dinner meeting on Jan. 2, before the state board's meeting on Jan. 3.

The board acted on a recommendation from Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald, who stressed that exemptions would be granted only for contestants and only for events where scheduling of facilities presented problems.

She cited as examples the Sweet Sixteen basketball tournaments and the state golf finals.

Under the ruling, the KHSAA is to certify the names of students who are to be exempted as contestants in each event.

A similar exemption was granted to Kentucky Special Olympics Inc. for athletic events for handicapped students, with only those students actually taking part in competition to be excused from the six-hour school day. Both groups will have to certify that the events could not be scheduled on non-school time.

Court Says County To Provide Shelter

Floyd fiscal court must operate an animal shelter or contract with someone else to operate it "within a reasonable time," Circuit Judge Hollie Conley ordered yesterday (Tuesday).

The order was agreed upon after a hearing Friday on a complaint filed by Auxier animal-lover Bonnie Faulkner.

County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said it has always been the county's position that it is required to maintain a shelter for stray animals and acknowledge that "people have been very tolerant in waiting until now" to file suit against the county.

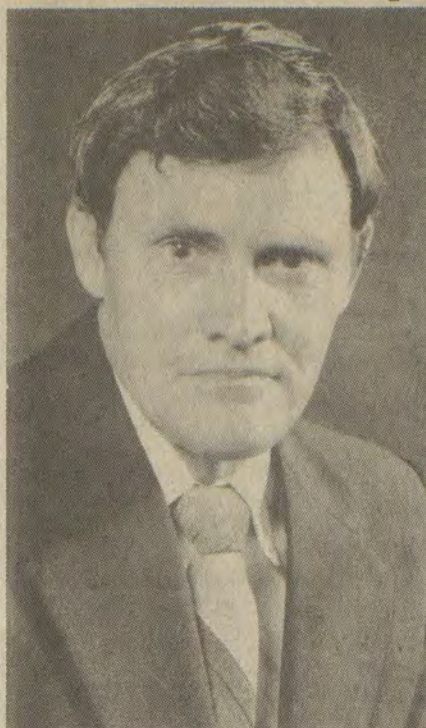

Ned Pillersdorf, Mrs. Faulkner's lawyer, said Tuesday's agreed order is the equivalent of the writ of mandamus his client sought. "We have a court order requiring the fiscal court to comply with the law," he said.

But Turner said there are limits to what the fiscal court could be forced to do—"I made it clear, if they tried to mandate standards, we would litigate," he said—and suggested that that may have persuaded the plaintiff "it would be better if we tried to work it out" amicably.

An animal shelter was built at the head of Sally Stephens Branch in West Prestonsburg in 1979 but was closed after 18 months for lack of funds. It reopened briefly in 1982.

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said this week that a group of citizens operating a wildlife refuge near Martin—the East Kentucky Wildlife Federation—has expressed an interest in operating a shelter. Stray dogs are a major menace to deer and other wildlife.

Estep, a Johnson county native has worked in new and used car sales for the past 24 years and has been used car manager at Music-Carter-Hughes for the past year.

Others in attendance were Dr. and Mrs. William J. Baird, Sr., and Atty. and Mrs. Charles Baird and children, Rebecca and David.

A Plea for Bear Hollow

The citizens of Bear Hollow wish to thank all the voters of Floyd county that voted on the Bear Hollow referendum, for or against. This is still supposed to be a free country where we vote the way we choose.

Now that the citizens have voted to retain Bear Hollow in Floyd county, we hope it was not a vote to keep school children in the mud.

The dirt road was built about 45 years ago and still lacks the first coat of gravel. It has been four years since the ditch lines have been cleaned, while the fiscal court continues to take other roads into the county road system and build, gravel and blacktop them.

We hope we are past the politician stage of years ago—or are we?

We hope the citizens of Floyd county will support us in getting something done, as they voted to keep Bear Hollow in Floyd county.

BILL ARMS
East Point, Ky.

Shop at Home!

This letter is not meant to step on any toes or point any fingers but is just a friendly reminder to us all that when we take our shopping (our money) out of our community, we, the community, have to pay a price.

Every day business people in our community are contacted by a representative of some worthy organization for a contribution to some worthy project they're working on. I have always found the business people of Floyd county to be most generous and I'm sure you have also. But, I wonder, have we been fair in return?

When we take our dollars to surrounding communities or Lexington and Huntington, they remain there to build up their communities and to help with their worthy projects. They don't send a penny back to Floyd county to help buy band equipment, cheerleading outfits or ball uniforms. Other communities couldn't care less if we have R.I.F. in our schools, Miss Floyd County Pageants, Jenny Wiley or Red, White and Blue Festivals, or if the needy children of Floyd county have a toy for Christmas or shoes for their feet.

When we spend our money out of our community, it's gone forever; when we spend it at home, it's here to be shared.

Candle of Preparation

I have just counted the number of shopping days left till Christmas. Would you believe—only 19 shopping days (where I work, we're never open on Sundays—that's God's day and a day for families.) How will I ever be ready? I've done next to no shopping and very little baking. Maybe this is when I'm supposed to say, "I wish they'd do away with Christmas" or "I'll sure be glad when Christmas is over."

Many years ago, someone picked—at random, I suppose—a day on the calendar to be called Christmas Day, that day being December 25. Maybe we could get Congress to change Christmas to the first Monday in June or July—at least this year give us a little more time to prepare. Or, better yet, maybe we could celebrate Christmas every day—365 days a year. Don't you think that would be about the best gift we could give Christ and ourselves. To live our lives in gratitude of that blessed event that took place, many years ago on whatever day of the week and in whatever month of the year.

Wish Christmas was over? Christmas will be over with the fulfillment of God's promise of the second coming of Christ. Will we be prepared?

An Insult to Eastern Ky

Keeping tolls on the Mountain Parkway, after the bonded debt covering construction has been paid, to cover maintenance costs makes about as much sense as placing tolls on New Circle Road or US 60 to cover the costs of their upkeep. Those who use the Mountain Parkway have "paid through the nose" long enough to travel to and from Lexington and other mid-Kentucky areas.

The senseless idea is an insult to the people of Eastern Kentucky who patronize Central Kentucky businesses and institutions. It is a disgrace the legislative committee originating the idea did not favor the four-laning of the road in its entirety and its inclusion in the Federal Highway System.

Shame on legislators so insensitive to the people of Eastern Kentucky and their needs!

Opposes Waste Disposal In Lawrence County

There is now an issue facing Kentuckians that can affect us in our pocket-books, in our environment, and in our health. That is whether we should allow Pyrochem, a Louisville-based firm, to locate a hazardous waste incinerator in Lawrence county, an eastern Kentucky county.

Pyrochem is a company whose president, James Neel, was instrumental in both siting Maxey Flats and running that radioactive dump a number of years, ultimately costing us, the taxpayers, over a million dollars a year to contain the mess he left there. Should we allow Neel a second chance at creating another taxpayers' nightmare? We say, No!

Should we allow a company to locate an incinerator anywhere in Kentucky, when the last incinerator their chief engineer and vice-president, Dave Gravely, designed for the University of Louisville failed to work? Should we allow Gravely the chance to experiment on our environment? We say, No!

If you're concerned about the air we breathe, the water we drink and the land we live on join us in saying no to Pyrochem. Write Governor Collins and Secretary of Natural Resources, Charlotte Baldwin in Frankfort, and voice your opinion. Remember, we're all paying for Maxey Flats—do you want to take that same risk for Neel's newest experiment in Lawrence county? Let your opinion count. Write Frankfort!

Forgy Praises Reed—An 'Honest, Caring Man'

Mr. B.F. Reed, of Drift, Kentucky, was recently mentioned prominently in the Kentucky Registry of Election Finance's decision regarding the financing of Dr. Grady Stumbo's 1983 gubernatorial campaign. While I know little about the Stumbo case, I feel that the public should know that no more honest, caring man lives in Kentucky than B.F. Reed. I have known him for many years, and he is one of the most admirable men I know. His integrity, generosity and devotion to Kentucky, particularly eastern Kentucky, are beyond compare.

Mr. Reed supported Dr. Stumbo's campaign because he had known him since boyhood despite the fact that many of Dr. Stumbo's positions were contrary to Mr. Reed's business interests and personal political philosophy. This is typical.

A reputation is a durable thing: hard to build but also hard to destroy. Those of us who know Mr. Reed best know he always acts with the best of intentions and he remains, at age 84, high in our regard.

If You Can Read This...

Floyd county has 3,568 adults over the age of 25 years that have no more than a fifth grade education (1980 Census data). The majority of these individuals are more than likely functionally illiterate: reading below the fifth grade level.

Functionally illiterate adults are unable to earn a decent wage, protect themselves from bodily harm, take an active part in our community or help their children to learn!

Most often non-reading adults are intelligent but do not read because they did not have the chance or the proper method to learn.

Concerned citizens in Floyd county, after a brief training session, can work, one-on-one, in homes, libraries, schools and churches to teach functionally illiterate persons to read and to acquire and practice basic math skills.

The cost of one volunteer set of tutor/student materials is about $50, but the gift of reading for one adult cannot be measured.

Can you help someone to read by:

1. Giving our name, address and phone number to someone who would like to tutor;
2. Giving our name, address and phone number to someone who would like to learn to read; or
3. Sending us a contribution.

After the cost of all basic materials is covered, we are considering setting up a library with high interest, low reading level materials.

To mail your contribution, or to inquire about our program, contact: Martin Christian Appalachian Literacy Project, Attn: Sister Mary Gervase, P.O. Box 337, Martin, Ky. 41649.

Not Too Late

It is not too late for us! I was born and reared in Pike county. Lots of changes in the past 50 years, and heavy work to come.

If we will read our Bible, and comply with its requirements, we are guaranteed survival. That means each individual must understand and do something within himself to deal with race prejudice, culture, tradition, hate, love, togetherness.

Please understand, hate of another separates an individual from God. God bless you!

Surety Firm Claims $12,000 in Suit Here

A Cincinnati surety firm says Prestonsburg realtor Joe Weddington and his wife are liable for $12,000 the firm had to pay the state when a Lawrence county mining company forfeited its reclamation bond.

In a suit filed last week in Floyd Circuit Court, attorneys for the Hamilton Mutual Insurance Company say the firm executed a bond in 1977 and delivered it to the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNREP) on the basis of the Weddingtons' written promise that they would indemnify the surety firm for any loss.

The bond was required by DNREP before it would issue a permit to Carson Associates, Inc. for a 24-acre stripmine near Martin.

Surface mining officials later issued a notice of non-compliance because of the operator's failure to reclaim the mine site and ordered the bond forfeited.

The bond agreement with Hamilton Mutual was signed by Clifford Bevins, president of the Biltmore Coal Co., and his wife Linda, and by Joe Weddington, vice-president of the coal firm, and his wife Joyce.

In another suit filed here last week, Mary Syck lodged a complaint on behalf of her 15-year-old daughter, Angela Dawn Syck, against Burley Kidd.

Mrs. Kidd said her daughter was operating a lawnmower in Kidd's yard on June 26 when she ran into a ditch and suffered severe injuries to her left hand, including the loss of part of a finger. Kidd was negligent in failing to warn the girl of the ditch, she said.

Plaintiff seeks $11,000 for medical expenses, $75,000 for lost earning power and $25,000 for pain and suffering. (Suits filed in court give only one side of the issues in dispute.)

Senior Citizens' Picnic

Winners of the costume contest at the Senior Citizens' picnic: Louise Hall, Pikeville, and Estill King, Wheelwright.

"...and a good time was had by all," so goes the old saying, and it was certainly true for a group of senior citizens recently.

Senior citizens from a five-county area, including Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties, gathered at Jenny Wiley State Park for a Fall picnic, sponsored by Sandy Valley senior citizens and Big Sandy ADD. Almost 300 people were present for a day of games, prizes, food, music and companionship.

Music was provided by a Floyd county band, the Boys from Middle Creek, led by Gheard Martin.

Volunteers from all area senior citizens' centers were recognized for their contributions, and many other prizes were awarded.

Two area county judges, Magoffin county judge Paul Salyer and Pike county judge Paul Patton, addressed the group and had lunch with the crowd.

A picnic lunch was served.

Christmas Plans Set At Drift Presbyterian

Special programs and activities highlighting the Advent and Christmas season have been planned at the Drift Presbyterian Church.

Advent focuses on preparation for the birth of Christ. Sunday, Dec. 9, a presentation will be made by Arnold Turner, Jr., on Alternatives, a new problem pregnancy counseling service soon to be in operation in Floyd county. Mr. Turner, will also share his personal testimony of faith as part of the regular 9:30 worship service.

The annual Christmas fellowship dinner will be held Wednesday, Dec. 12, at 6:30 p.m. Members and friends are asked to bring dishes to share potluck style, and to share in special Christmas music and programs.

A candlelight service will be held at 6 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 23, with special singing of carols and reading of the Christmas story.

Christmas Communion service will be held Sunday, Dec. 30, at 9:30 a.m. The public is invited to share in all of these special services.

Open: Mon.-Fri. 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

Here it is. The One Piece Furniture to Build a Room.

If your bedroom would hold only one piece of furniture — this could be it. For the majesty of the Chateau d'Orleans Armoire is truly impressive. Nearly seven feet tall, over four feet wide, with three wide drawers and two shelves of storage that seem impossible to fill.

There's even a cedar-lined sweater-blanket drawer. All that storage, but yet the armoire only takes 49 inches of space.

And there's more. Like the floral carved raised door panels and curved bonnet top, carefully finished by American Drew in a choice of Vanilla Antique or Fruitwood.

Come and see the classic French Chateau d'Orleans Armoire — a beginning for a beautiful new room.

DISTRICT REBEKAHS MEET

The District 4 meeting of Rebekahs was held in Prestonsburg, Saturday evening, with Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 as hostess. Prior to the meeting, those present enjoyed dinner. The lodge hall and dining room were decorated in the Christmas motif, with a decorated tree as one of the main attractions. At the close of the meeting, door prizes were awarded, and gifts were exchanged among the members.

Mrs. Marge Thacker, of Queen Esther Lodge No. 53, Pikeville, district president, presided. The address of welcome was given by Miss Kelly Sue Moore, noble grand of Miriam Lodge, with the response given by Mrs. Frances Fraley, of Allison Rebekah Lodge, of Inez.

Those receiving special recognition were officers of the Rebekah Assembly of Kentucky: Mrs. Nell Thompson, president, of Louisa; Mrs. Frances Fraley, warden, of Inez; Mrs. Mary Zemo, assistant conductor and Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, past president, both of Prestonsburg, and Miss Wilma Castle, district deputy president, Paintsville.

The commission of the district deputy president, Wilma Castle, was read, and two officers not installed in September were presented and installed as follows: Mrs. Venelia Rinehart, musician, and Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, treasurer.

Approximately 80 members and guests attended. The next quarterly meeting will be held in March at the R.E.C.C. Building in Paintsville, with Freedom Rebekah Lodge No. 200 as the host lodge.

ATTEND LEXINGTON MEET

Lowell Langefeld, Chalmer and Kathryn Frazier, Nancy Webb, Dorothy Harris, Dorothy Wells, Rose and Ed Glenn, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Price, of the First United Methodist and Mrs. Willia Mae Branham, of Horn's Chapel Methodist.

PRESENT QUILT

Several women of the First Methodist Church went to Inez last week and presented a quilt that had been made by the Sewing Circle of this church to Jo Boomsma, who is dedicating her services to displaced persons, abused families, and others in need of help there. Making this trip were Mesdames Mary K. Roberts, Clara Bradbury, Gladys Blackburn, Fannie Runnels, Mary Sue Moore, Virginia Jeffries, Victoria Spradlin, and Josephine Fields.

IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mills were in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., during Thanksgiving, when they visited their daughter, Mrs. Jane Hendee, and family. While there they spent some time with their first great-grandson, Robert Allen, who is three months old. They attended the Broadway show, "Zorba", starring Anthony Quinn, and on Nov. 25, attended the wedding of their granddaughter, Miss Tina Marie Hendee, to Thomas Loas. Accompanying them was her mother, Mrs. Cora May, of Highland Terrace. This was a family gathering of five generations.

HONORED BY FLOWERS

Flowers on the altar of the First United Methodist Church last Sunday morning were for Mrs. Shirley Callihan, on her birthday, from members of her family.

A Lifesaving Gallon

Mark Mills recently reached a milestone when he donated blood for the eighth time at Central Kentucky Blood Center's Prestonsburg Donor Center. Each donation is one pint; and this donation marked a gallon. Shown with Georgia Sanders, registered nurse with the Center, Mark is with the Job Corps where he is studying carpentry. Mark has reached this milestone by donating every two months at the Center during the last year and a half. Volunteer blood donors like Mark help provide blood to 45 Kentucky hospitals and clinics.

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

By JANE BOND
Health Educator

Venereal disease has been called the No. 1 communicable disease in the United States. Not so very long ago no one talked about these diseases, but this attitude is changing as more people become aware of the drastic effects of gonorrhea, syphilis and other sexually transmitted diseases.

The Floyd County Health Department has a V.D. Control Program and anyone who thinks he or she may have been exposed to a sexually transmitted disease (STD) may come to the health department to be checked. Kentucky law permits the treatment of minors for V.D. without parents' permission.

A pap clinic will be held at the health department Wednesday, Dec. 12, from 8:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. This clinic is a free service of the Health Department and is open to women of all ages. Women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this service, since this is the high risk age for the disease.

A nurse from the Health Department will be in Wayland at the Methodist Church next Monday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. to offer T.B. skin tests, urinalyses, anemia screening, blood pressures and immunizations.

Announcing PAUL HUNT THOMPSON Democratic Candidate For FLOYD COUNTY SHERIFF

1. A program to give deputies formal training in arrest, search and seizure, and filling out accident reports.
2. Create a detective position for investigating breaking and entering as well as drug investigations.
3. 24-Hour dispatching in the Sheriff's Department. (So the Department can respond to calls.)
4. Work with Civic Organizations on the drug problem as well as working with the teachers on a program for alcohol and drug abuse in the school system.
5. Apply the money received from serving papers to update the department with better equipment.
6. Turn the Sheriff's percentage of the tax money over to fiscal court so a realistic budget can be worked out.
7. Develop a program to receive federal and state grants.

In the months ahead I hope to discuss these and other issues with all the people of Floyd County.

Paul Hunt Thompson

Reveals Terror Network in U.S.

The 1981 Brink's robbery in Nyack, N.Y., was one of a series of "urban guerilla warfare" attacks by elements of a terrorist network still active in the United States. This network comprises black, white and Puerto Rican radicals, Reader's Digest reports in its December issue.

Prior to the failed robbery, which claimed the lives of three people and resulted in the capture of key underground members, law enforcement officials had virtually no knowledge of the existence of this terrorist network, Digest Senior Editor Eugene H. Methvin, writes in an exclusive account. Methvin adds that the terrorists grew in strength and number during a period that the U.S. had "virtually disbanded its domestic-intelligence network."

Since the robbery, police and the FBI have uncovered evidence revealing an "operational alliance" among various terrorist groups, including:

- The Weather Underground, a group of white radicals formed in the late 1960s;
 - The Black Liberation Army (BLA), an offshoot of the Black Panther Party;
 - The Republic of New Afrika (RNA), a BLA support group launched in Detroit in 1968 that claims the right to create an independent government in five southern states for the "black nation in America."
 - The Puerto Rican terrorist group, Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN);
 - The May 19 Communist Organization, a group of white radicals that supports the black revolutionary struggle.
- The FBI is searching for many of these individuals, including five involved in the Brink's hold-up either as direct participants or accessories. The pictures of Susan Lisa Rosenberg, Mutulu Shakur, Cheri Laverne Dalton, Alan Berkman and Marilyn Jean Buck appear in The Digest's December issue, with an appeal for help in locating these fugitives. Also pictured is Joanne Deborah Chesimard, a convicted murderer, on the loose since she broke out of prison in 1979. Chesimard is believed tied in with the terrorist network.

Methvin writes that in the five years before the Nyack attack, elements of this terrorist army had "pulled off at least 18 'armed expropriations,' with more than a million dollars in loot and had freed notorious terrorists from prison."

Although police have successfully rounded up more than 40 men and women since the Brink's robbery, and "delivered telling wounds to the terrorist network," radicals still remain active, he adds.

Last November, for example, the U.S. Capitol was bombed for a second time. Bombings at more than a dozen other places including the National War College and Navy Yard in Washington, D.C. have since been claimed by groups operating under such names as Armed Resistance Unit, Revolutionary Fighting Group and United Freedom Front.

Intelligence amassed by police and FBI suggest that these groups are capable of additional bloody acts, ranging from ambush murders of law enforcement officials to attacks against individual U.S. attorneys or grand jurors.

Cable Music Channel Discontinues Operations

Turner Broadcasting System, Inc. has announced that its Cable Music Channel ceased operations at 11:59 p.m. (ET), November 30. TBS also announced that Cable Music Channel, will sell for $1 million certain of its assets to MTV Networks, Inc. pursuant to an agreement reached Nov. 28. MTV Networks also has agreed to make a payment of $500,000 for future advertising availabilities on SuperStation WTBS, Cable News Network and CNN Headline News.

In making the announcement, TBS Board Chairman and President R.E. "Ted" Turner said, "We continue to believe that Cable Music Channel is a top quality music video service, but we simply have not had enough support from the cable industry for it to become a viable part of our business. We are very disappointed, but feel that the discontinuance of the service now and the sales arrangement with MTV Networks, Inc. are in the best interest of the company."

Expenses associated with the discontinuance of Cable Music Channel have not yet been determined.

Salad and Sandwich Sprouts From Leftover Seeds

Because Kentucky is located too far north to permit year-round outdoor vegetable gardening (except with my pet—the cold frame), we're often frustrated when we want something fresh, green and different for winter salads or sandwiches. I've told you in the past how to store leftover seeds in the refrigerator in a closed jar with fresh powdered milk, but perhaps this year you'd like to germinate some of those extra seeds to eat as sprouts.

Sprouting seeds is easy and can be done with ordinary kitchen equipment or sprout kits available at garden centers, department stores and from mail order companies. Sprouting is even a good idea for camping or backpacking trips to quickly and easily provide fresh greens.

All you need for a sprouting chamber is a wide mouth jar (most people use a quart size jar), a couple of layers of cheesecloth, old pantyhose or some metal screen and a canning jar ring or rubber band. Put a half-inch layer of seed (be sure the seed has not been chemically treated) in the bottom of the jar and cover it with several inches of warm water. Secure the cheesecloth, pantyhose or screen over the mouth of the jar.

Put the jar in a warm location (65 to 85 degrees F.). Total darkness is not required by most seeds. Allow the seeds to initially soak for six to eight hours or overnight, then pour off the soaking water (just tip the jar and pour through the mouth covering—the soaking water can be saved for cooking—it's full of nutrients). Now rinse the seeds two or three times and pour off extra water. This routine should be followed two or three times per day, for the two to six days it takes most seeds to sprout. Keep the jar on its side to give good air circulation of a thin layer of developing sprouts.

Sprouts are ready when the roots, and for some seeds, an inch or so of stem, have grown. Sprouts put in sunlight for three to four hours will "green up" due to the production of the pigment chlorophyll. Sprouts should be final rinsed, drained and refrigerated in a tightly sealed plastic bag to slow down further germination. Sprouts will keep refrigerated for about one week before beginning to lose their nutrient value.

What types of seeds produce good sprouts? Sample some of the following and select for yourself: adzuki bean, alfalfa, barley, black-eyed pea, buckwheat (hulled), Chinese cabbage, corn, fennel, flax, garbanzo bean, lentil, lima bean, millet, mung bean, mustard, oat, pea, peanut, pinto bean, pop corn, pumpkin, radish, red clover, rye, sesame, soy bean, squash, sunflower (hulled), watercress and wheat. Forget tomato or potato seeds—they make a terrible tasting sprout that can make you sick.

Sprouts aren't just for "health food nuts." The nutritional value of sprouts should be used by all. When seeds begin to germinate and form sprouts its like Clark Kent turning into Superman. Food stored by the seed as fats and starches undergoes conversion to quick-energy simple sugars, plus easy to digest protein. Not to mention minerals, vitamins (especially C), little sodium but lots of natural fiber, all for very few calories.

For the best results use fresh seed (packed for 1984 is still fine). Germinate small batches at a time, rinsing often to wash away by-product chemicals produced by germination, and replenishing oxygen. Sprouts from old seeds, large starchy seeds like lima beans, and unrinsed seeds can begin to ferment quickly—they will smell foul, taste sour and should be thrown away.

If you get interested in sprouting and want more information you may want to subscribe to the bi-monthly newsletter called The Sproutletter available from editor Jeff Breakey, P.O. Box 62, Ashland, OR 97520. A yearly subscription is $10.

Timely Tip: With Christmas tree growers in many parts of Kentucky (Bowling Green, Frankfort, Dry Ridge, Beattyville), you may want to get your tree "choose and cut" this year to assure maximum freshness and to get "just the right tree." Contact your county agriculture Extension agent for the grower nearest you.

PLAN BAZAAR

The Local Churchwomen, who, in cooperation with the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association, sponsors the Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry at Archer Park, will hold a Christmas bazaar, today (Wednesday) and tomorrow at the new flea market in the old Dollar Store location on Court Street to raise money to help support the pantry through the holidays. Outstanding features of this bazaar will be cornshuck and grapevine Christmas wreaths. The public is invited.

Counseling Service Sets Training Session

The program called Alternatives, Inc., organized to provide alternatives to abortion for women facing problem pregnancies in the Big Sandy Valley, will be one step nearer operation following a training seminar scheduled for this weekend. The initial response and interest went far beyond expectations, and interested volunteers from area churches have been meeting to make plans and gain the necessary training to answer calls to Alternatives' "hot-line."

This weekend, December 7-9, a trained consultant will be in Floyd county to provide the necessary training to get the counseling program going locally. Mrs. Mary Ortwein, of Frankfort, will provide the training in sessions held at the First Baptist Church of Allen. Mrs. Ortwein has helped set up pregnancy centers in other localities, and is active in the Kentucky Right to Life Association as well as with the Pearson Foundation.

The Pearson Foundation's stated purpose is to "stop abortions by helping women continue their pregnancies in a normal, healthy manner through counseling that is persuasive, honest, firm, but sensitive to the emotional needs of the mother." It is a nationwide organization that has been operating similar centers for 15 years around the United States.

Alternatives is not affiliated at present with any outside group or organization, but welcomes the ideas and insights of all those who share common aims and desires. If interested in getting involved in the program, either as a volunteer counselor or with other assistance, you may call 886-8189 during business hours or 886-1688 evenings. The pregnancy hot-line telephone number, which hopefully will be operational by December 10, is 800-633-9155.

The D. W. Howard Fieldhouse, Betsy Layne, will be the site of this year's Floyd County Pre-Season Tournament which begins tonight at 7 p.m.

The relative strengths and weaknesses of the county's five high school teams, both girls and boys, will be tested with Prestonsburg facing McDowell Wednesday night, and Betsy Layne against Allen Central's Rebels, Thursday night.

Friday, the winner of Wednesday night's games will play the Wheelwright girls' and boys' squads. Girls' play will begin each night at 7 p.m. with the boys' game getting under way at about 8:30.

The championship games for both boys and girls will be played Saturday night, again at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Floyd Students Attend Youth Assembly

Floyd students waiting their turn for registration.

With several hundred Kentucky youths in attendance at the mock General Assembly held in Lexington-Frankfort, Nov. 1-3, Floyd students, chaperoned by teachers William "Bud" Reynolds and Sharon Martin, and parent, Kathy Conn, had to wait their turn for registration at the Continental Inn, Lexington location for much of the YMCA-sponsored event.

It was here that the three-day venture into "politics" began, with assignment of either senatorial or representative positions to each of the participants. Legislative proposals evolving from the groups included the organization and legalization of a state lottery, a lowered driving age from 16 to 14, discounts for the elderly, and a restoration of the 70 m.p.h. speed limit on four-lane highways.

Further "political action" ensued the following day when the lively "legislators" were bused from Lexington to Frankfort. Here they assembled in the state Capitol building where they were addressed by Governor Martha Layne Collins, after which they convened for legislative sessions in the real House and Senate chambers.

Closing of the mock General Assembly took place in Lexington Saturday morning with remaining action, veto overrides, resolutions, awards, election results, and swearing in of new officers.

The Junior Kentucky Youth Assembly is a yearly YMCA-sponsored event and is open to all Kentucky students in grades 6 through 9. Among participating Floyd county students this year were several members of the Talented and Gifted classes from Martin, McDowell, and Osborne and four freshmen from Prestonsburg High School. Listed in alphabetical order they included Brian Addis, Chris Bates, Brian Boyd, Katonia Brank, Chris Caldwell, Melissa Comstock, Doris Conn, Emily DeRossett, Laura Gibb, Hope Gray, Melissa Hall, Gina Johnson, Trina Johnson, Chris Kidd, Martie Lafferty, Valerie Mosley, Tyra Newman, Chris Rollins, Michael Rosenberg, Tish Slone, Angie Stumbo, and Frank Stumbo.

Serving as governor for this year's session of the Junior Kentucky Youth Assembly was Scott Webster, of Pike county. The 14-year-old son of Larry and Sheryl Webster had some interesting observations to make (see related story) in a recent interview following his brief tenure of office at the state event.

E.K.W.F. Features Weekly Shooting Range

A shooting range for rifle, handgun and archery enthusiasts has been established by the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation and offers first rate facilities for both practice and competition events.

Located on the Lafferty Memorial Wildlife Refuge, one mile east of Martin on KY 80, handgun and skeet competition is held each Saturday at 12 noon with .22 rimfire and archery competition each Sunday at 1 p.m. An archery class is held each Sunday at 11 a.m. and junior members, ages 12-16, learn NRA safety regulations on Sundays while competing on the .22 rimfire range. Practice shooting is held each afternoon, Monday through Friday.

Safety rules are strictly observed at the range with a range officer present to oversee firing range activities.

In addition to the shooting range, school and youth organizations are welcome to use the refuge for hiking and science studies. Non-members may purchase a range pass for $3.00 to make use of the facilities.

The Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation was established in 1979 with the purpose of wildlife conservation through habitat management. With the help of property owners sympathetic to the organization's goals, the Federation refuge now includes nearly 2,000 acres posted.

Anyone interested in joining E.K.W.F. may do so by writing the Federation at P.O. Box 547, Martin, Ky. 41649.

No Stand-By Hunting For Deer at Dewey Lake

Deer hunters who do not have advance reservations to hunt on the Dewey Lake Wildlife Management Area should not show up on the mornings of the Dec. 8-9 hunts hoping to get in on a stand-by basis.

Stand-by hunting will not be permitted, according to Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' deer hunting regulations. Those who were successful in the drawing to determine hunters for this area may substitute hunters for the names on their application, but no hunters will be admitted to compensate for "no shows."

State regulations make no provision for stand-by hunting on Dewey Lake or any other fish and wildlife management area, officials say.

Pulaski Winner In JW Tourney

Despite the loss of key players from last year's successful net squad, Coach Jack Stanford's Prestonsburg Blackcats proved they will be no pushovers on the hardwood as they lost in the championship game of the past week's Jenny Wiley Invitational Tournament to powerful Pulaski County.

Tournament action got under way last Wednesday night at the gymnasium here as Prestonsburg defeated Cordia, 93 to 50, and the McDowell Daredevils fell to Johnson Central, 79-43.

Thursday night's play featured two hard-fought games as Paintsville defeated Mullins, 64-63, and Pulaski County, rated sixth in the state, beat 16th-rated Breathitt County, 57-55.

High point of the tournament for the Blackcats came Friday night as Prestonsburg won over the highly-touted Johnson Central Eagles, 64-60. Regarded by many as "the team to beat" in the region, Coach Stanford credited the 'Cats' man-to-man play as crucial in the win and said he believed "we gave them defense they might not have expected."

High scorer for Prestonsburg in the win was sophomore substitute guard Bryan Wallace who connected for 18 points. Jody Hackworth scored 15, Marty Minix 13, Greg Shepherd and Gordy Ratliff each hit for 6, and Doug Green, John Hill and John Goble all contributed two points each.

In Friday night's second contest, Pulaski ran over Paintsville, 75-46.

Saturday night's consolation game provided some thrills for Johnson county net fans as rivals Paintsville and Johnson Central clashed, with Central's Eagles coming out on top 58-56. But it was the championship game with overwhelming favorite Pulaski County that gave Prestonsburg fans cause for encouragement despite a final score of Pulaski 59, P-burg 50.

"The game was by no means a runaway," stressed Coach Stanford who pointed out that his team led in the contest by four points at the end of the first quarter. "We were down by only three at the end of the half, down by three at the end of the third quarter, and down by three with a minute to go in the game." He said his players' last-ditch effort in the final minute of the game resulted in fouls which upped the score for the Pulaski countians.

Coach Stanford is pleased, however. "I'm tickled with the effort our boys gave. I'm pleased with execution on offense."

Prestonsburg's Bryan Wallace was winner of the tournament free-throw trophy and the Blackcat cheerleaders won the second place trophy following Saturday night's game.

(The Floyd County Pre-Season Tournament begins tonight at the D. W. Howard Fieldhouse, Betsy Layne.)

country music singer in the world!"

A 6-year-old Miami girl is the recipient of a new kidney, thanks in part to the generosity of Tammy Wynette and her husband, George Richey. Last spring, the couple caught a Miami TV station's report on Kristen Quinn's battle with kidney disease and decided to help. Not only did the Richeys make a donation to her medical fund, but Tammy promised the use of a private jet to take the child anywhere in the country when a kidney match became available. A donor organ was found Oct. 20 and Kristen was flown to Pittsburgh Children's Hospital where the successful transplant took place.

Soap Beat

Old soaper changes from NBC to CBS

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Susan Seaforth Hayes, four-time Emmy nominee for her work as Julie Williams on the NBC soap "Days of Our Lives," is back in the soap business after a year's absence. Miss Seaforth Hayes has joined CBS's "The Young and the Restless" in the role of Joanna Manning.

"I had some wonderful experiences on 'Days,'" says Miss Seaforth Hayes. "But when the producers of the show told me that Bill (husband Bill Hayes) and I would never have a story line together again, that we'd be invisible, we decided we would rather be working hard under even more stressful circumstances." She met Hayes while both were appearing on the show, and they were subsequently married.

Now on to Miss Seaforth Hayes' part on "Y & R." She began her new role as Joanna just last week.

"I've never minded the rigors of working on a soap," she says. She has used her time between soaps to travel to Africa and England, perform in a production of "Oliver" (with her husband) and continue her college education with classes in Anthropology and Art History.

"Gee, I've never minded working. I've always been kind of in favor of it," she jokes. "I'm only elated, delighted and full of anti-pation about my new role on 'Y & R,'" she says, seriously. "I'm sure the part is going to be something totally different and wonderful."

Commenting on the writing of "Y & R," Miss Seaforth Hayes, who didn't have to audition for the role that was created for her, says, "The happiest years I ever had on 'Days' were when Bill Bell was the head writer. For the creation of a character, Bill is unsurpassed. So doing Joanna (who was created by Bell, now head writer for 'Y & R') will be like going back to the golden days. Joanna won't be a one-dimensional character."

Says Bell, "I'm very excited to be working with Susan again. We worked together for 10 years on 'Days' and I found her to be a superb actress. On 'Y & R' we plan to test and challenge her talents in every way in her new role."

ANSWERS

Early Cabins Sturdier Than New Ones

Several Kentuckians hoping to recapture some of the romance associated with log cabins have instead inherited the hassles associated with pests and molds.

"Grandma and grandpa don't have the Old House Borer to annoy them," said Dr. Chris Christensen, Extension entomologist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The Old House Borer is an imported pest. It came from Europe where it is a pest in old buildings. In the United States, however, it seems to prefer new construction.

Christensen said he has received several calls from log home owners complaining of sounds coming from inside their log walls.

The larvae of the Old House Borer make audible noises as they chew their way through the sapwood of a log. The life cycle of the Old House Borer is anywhere from four to 17 years, so log homes may be silent for several years before the walls literally come to life.

"Log cabins used to be built out of oak, a long-lasting wood. Now they're using pine because it's cheaper and quicker growing and it's softer, easier to work," Christensen said.

Surface treatment of timber will not cure the Old House Borer problem, the insects are inside the wood, and nothing short of tenting the log home and fumigating will destroy the pests. And even then there is no guarantee they won't return, Christensen said.

"The insects are infesting the wood when it is being processed from raw logs into log home kits," Christensen said. By the time a surface treatment is applied, the insects are securely inside the logs.

The good news is that the damage done by the noisy larvae is usually not so severe that wood has to be replaced. The larvae mature and turn into harmless beetles before structural damage is done to the home, Christensen said.

The damage being done to many modern log homes comes from molds and fungi. The oak early settlers used to build their homes was resistant to many wood-rotting organisms. The pine many producers of modern log home kits use is not as resistant.

Dr. Mike Levi, a professor of forest resources at North Carolina State University, said the shortcomings of pine versus oak can be controlled in most cases and prevented in many.

"Regular building practices will prevent many of the problems," he said. Log homes should be built away from the soil and should include adequate overhangs from the roof to prevent excessive rain against the walls of the home. Good caulking to keep moisture out of the home is another preventive step.

Levi said the type of wood used, even the type of pine, can make a difference in the amount of maintenance a log home will require.

Rains Dampen Small Game Opening

Miserable weather during the first two days of Kentucky's small game hunting season apparently caused many outdoorsmen to stay indoors by the fire. A check with regional fish and wildlife law enforcement supervisors across the state showed the number of hunters, and the amount of game taken, down from last year.

The commonwealth's conservation officers checked 2,503 hunters during the first four days of the season, which opened Nov. 15. During the same period last year, 3,376 hunters were checked.

The officers counted 1,636 rabbits and 589 quail. Twelve quail hunters had reached their daily limit of eight birds, while 46 rabbit hunters had bagged limits of four cottontail.

This amounts to .65 rabbits per hunter, as compared to .80 rabbits per hunter last season. The ratio among quail hunters was .24 quail per hunter, down from .35 last year.

While most of the supervisors felt that the weather was the big factor, surveys conducted during the summer by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources indicated that both quail and rabbit numbers were down—about 10 percent for rabbits and approximately two percent for quail.

But there still should be enough game to go around. By the end of the season,

Kentucky's approximately 140,000 rabbit hunters will have made a combined total of 985,000 hunting trips and brought home over 1.1 million rabbits. The state's 67,000 quail hunters will make almost 430,000 trips and bag over 822,000 quail, according to a post-season survey conducted last year.

A person not familiar with wildlife management or wildlife population dynamics might view these figures with alarm and wonder how long it will be before rabbits and quail are added to the endangered species list. But regulated sport hunting does not decrease wildlife populations.

Small game animals such as quail and rabbits have remarkably high reproductive capacities—so high that each year they produce many more offspring than can possibly survive the winter. It has been estimated that only 20 percent of the quail born each spring survive to the next breeding season, whether or not they are hunted.

What hunting does is remove a part of these excess animals, what wildlife biologists call the "harvestable surplus." Season lengths and bag limits are designed so that the essential breeding stock is not harvested, so there are enough of the species around next spring to restore the population.

Former Floyd Man Victim of Gunshots; Nephew Is Wounded

A former Floyd county man was shot and killed Saturday by his nephew near McArthur, O., the culmination of longtime ill-feeling between the two families. According to reports received here, Clinton Gearheart, 54, formerly of Hueysville, was shot three times with deer slugs on his farm at Allensville, near McArthur, and his alleged slayer, Ted Crisp, was also wounded. The shooting followed the return of at least some of those involved from a deer-hunt. Gearheart, a son of the late Bee Gearheart, died at the scene. His nephew was hospitalized but is expected to recover. The report said that a 12-year-old son of the slain man claimed he shot Crisp after his father had been shot. The alleged slayer was a son of Mrs. Penny Gearheart Crisp, a sister of Clinton Gearheart. The victim was a retired farmer and factory employee. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Amanda Ratliff Gearheart, three children and several brothers and sisters. Burial was made Tuesday in the Elk cemetery at McArthur, where graveside rites were held.

Nothing Says "Love" Like The Glow Of Gold

Except Diamonds

Would you pay twice as much for the diamond on the far right?

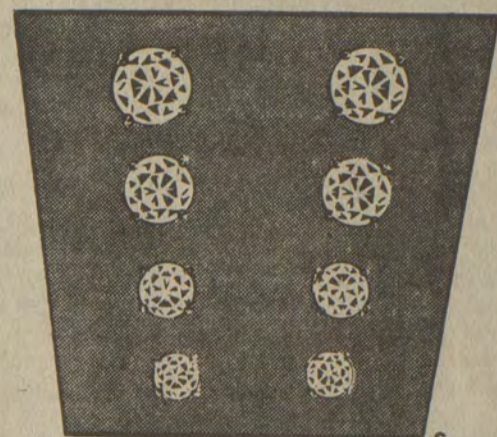

4C Four characteristics that determine the quality of a diamond. Consult me.

5Castles If you don't know jewelry you should know your jeweler.

Size. It's the most obvious factor in determining the value of a diamond. But it's not the only one. Carat-weight is just one of the 4C's. The others are Cut, Color and Clarity. And to understand these much more subtle facets is to understand quality. A cut above. Most diamonds are cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to the other. But a good cut by a master cutter, is recognized by its light-handling qualities. Maximum scintillation, more sparkle. And that's a great reflection on you. Your true colors. Color, the third of the 4 C's has various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish. Totally colorless diamonds are the rarest. And to give a woman a diamond of exceptionally good color is to show your knowledge of quality, to show your true colors. Clarity of thought. A diamond that is virtually free of interior or exterior inclusions is of the highest quality, for nothing interferes with the passage of light through the diamond. Diamonds termed Flawless, the highest clarity grade, will dazzle you. And the clearer the diamonds, the clearer your choice.

Which ever you choose Castle's will be there to size and take care of it after the sale!

Highlands Folk Festival State's Oldest of Its Type

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival has the distinction of being the oldest continuous festival of its type in the state.

It originated 18 years ago when Mrs. Edith James was invited by the founder of the National Folk Festival, Mrs. Gertrude Knott, to organize and present a regional festival which would become a recognized segment of the National Folk Festival. The organization plans of NFF were never realized, but the festival was held at Archer Park here and was very successful. The following year, the Festival moved to Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheater where it has grown and flourished for 18 consecutive years.

KHFF has introduced many performers who have since become highly popular successes in the music world. Featured in earlier festivals were the McClain Family Band, now a well-known international folk group; Ricky Skaggs, bright new star of the country music field; the Buddy Ratcliff Family Band, (with Angie Ratcliff, champion old-time fiddler); and John Skaggs, well-known Ashland baritone, as well as Ronnie Wells of the New Christy Minstrels and Anne and Dick Albin, familiar entertainers on the Kentucky State Park circuit.

Whether amateur or professional, the festival continues to attract the highest quality performers and craftsmen to participate in a weekend which represents the best of our cultural heritage.

Campaign Balance At Perkins' Death Goes to Endowment

Congressman Carl Chris Perkins, administrator of the estate of his late father, Carl D. Perkins, has announced a gift of $7,428.42 to the Carl D. and Verma Perkins Endowment Fund of Hindman Settlement School. The gift represents the balance in the funds of the Carl Perkins Campaign Committee, the political group representing the late congressman at his death last August 3.

Under regulations of the Federal Election Commission, the assets of the campaign committee became a part of the estate. The committee closed the account on Nov. 21, and the check for the full amount was presented to the school for its endowment fund.

"I believe my father would have wanted these funds to benefit the future generations of Eastern Kentucky," Perkins said. "This endowment fund represents the only time to my knowledge that he allowed his name to be used in such an effort. My father dedicated his life to the improvement of educational opportunities for the children of Eastern Kentucky and this fund represents a living memorial to him."

Goins Opens Weekly Jamboree-Flea Market

Over-Limit Class Size To Cost School Systems

The State Board of Education has reaffirmed its support of legislation establishing maximum class sizes in Kentucky schools and will begin levying penalties for non-compliance in the second half of this school year.

"This was a major concern of the state legislature, and we need to follow the extent of the law as much as possible," Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald told board members at a meeting in Murray on Wednesday (Nov. 28).

Violations could mean a loss of state funds for classes that exceed the limits and for which the state board has not approved exemptions.

Board members approved a report from McDonald recommending a penalty of one full minimum foundation unit—the amount of state money provided for one classroom—for each class determined to be in violation. Units lost in this way would also be deducted from totals used in calculating the amount of money districts would receive for supervisory costs.

The board also instructed McDonald to notify the 180 local school districts that few exemptions from the size requirements would be granted in the 1985-'86 school year. Exceptions would be cases involving a large influx of new students or the loss of school facilities through some disaster.

The 1984 General Assembly approved a bill limiting class sizes to 29 in kindergarten through the third grade and to 31 in grades four through six. The legislation, Senate Bill 26, provided that no more than 20 percent of the classes in any school could exceed the limits and that exemptions would have to be obtained for those classes.

Districts seeking exemptions are also required to submit a plan to the state Department of Education for reducing class sizes before the next school year.

Exemptions were requested by 95 districts for the fall term, and a report from the department showed that 22 other districts had classes in excess of the maximum sizes but failed to seek exemptions. The department granted exemptions for 464 classes.

An additional 46 classes were not approved for exemptions, and the sizes of 22 of those classes have since been adjusted to meet the requirements, the department said.

The report approved by the state board requires local districts to verify at the start of the second semester next month that the approved listing of exempted classes is correct and that no other classes exceed the size limits.

AAA To Host Annual No-Proof Mix-Off

Blue Grass Automobile Club-AAA will host its third annual No-Proof Mix-Off, Friday, this week, at 10 a.m. at the Marriott Resort, Lexington. The Mix-Off affords Lexington bartenders an opportunity to compete by mixing non-alcoholic drinks which can be served during the holiday season.

"The contest is a fun event with a serious message for party hosts and motorists," said Barbara Richie of AAA. "Many motorists will drink this holiday season and then attempt to drive. AAA hopes to reduce holiday traffic accidents and resulting deaths by encouraging hosts to provide non-alcoholic drinks as an alternative."

The winning bartender will receive a $50 gift certificate for dinner at Leva's Restaurant and a complimentary horse-drawn carriage ride. In addition, the winning recipe and up to 10 runners-up will be distributed free to the public at AAA's office in Lexington.

October Work Picture Fades

Following a two-month decline, Kentucky's unemployment rate rose from a revised rate of 8.5 percent in September to a preliminary rate of 8.9 percent in October, according to figures released last week by the Cabinet for Human Resources. Nationally, the rate decreased from 7.1 percent in September to 7.0 percent in October.

State labor market analyst Ed Blackwell attributed the increase in the state rate to seasonal factors. "Our figures show there were 6,600 more people employed, mostly in trade and education jobs," he said. "Anytime there are new job openings, we have more people entering or reentering the labor force to apply for those jobs. The labor supply simply exceeds the demand for workers."

The state's total employment was estimated to be 1,590,000 in October, compared to 1,583,400 in September and 1,545,000 in October 1983.

Blackwell said more trade jobs reflect increased activity in tobacco trade, and in wholesale and retail trade as the Christmas shopping season approaches. Trade employment expanded in apparel and accessory stores, department stores and dealerships selling new and used automobiles. The increase in education jobs reflects part-time employment of students at colleges and universities within the state, he added.

Manufacturing employment remained at the same level as in September, which signifies economic stability, Blackwell said. "However, we have 38,700 fewer manufacturing jobs than we did in October, 1979, just before the last recession began. This is one reason Kentucky's economy is not improving as rapidly as the nation's overall economy," he said.

Meanwhile, service jobs continued to increase. "We have 24,700 more people employed in services than we did in 1979," Blackwell said. "However, many of these people are earning minimum wages. Some people once employed in manufacturing jobs at higher wages have entered the services sector simply in order to have a job," he said.

Employment in the bituminous coal mining industry was down. "Utilities that use coal had stockpiled it through September in anticipation of a possible strike by the United Mine Workers," Blackwell said. "When union members ratified a new contract without a strike, we expected layoffs in the coal fields. The coal industry probably will show decreased employment for several months while these coal supplies decrease." He noted that coal employment was 12,200 below the October 1979 level.

While the number of Kentuckians working rose by 6,600, the number of unemployed rose by 8,600, from 147,600 in September to 156,200 in October. However, that's 7,200 below the October 1983 estimate of 163,400.

The civilian labor force estimate for October was 1,746,200, compared to 1,731,000 in September and 1,708,400 in October 1983. This figure includes non-military persons who are working and unemployed people who actively are seeking jobs.

Unexpired Term Officially Filled

Secretary of State Drexel Davis has certified the election of Carl C. "Chris" Perkins to fill the unexpired term in the U.S. House of Representatives for the 7th district of Kentucky. The vacancy was caused by the death of Congressman Carl D. Perkins on August 3.

"I am deeply honored to receive the privilege of representing the people of Eastern Kentucky in the U.S. House of Representatives," Chris Perkins said. "I shall do my best to hit the ground running and to work day and night to assist the people of Eastern Kentucky."

The new congressman's offices will be located in 1004 Longworth House Office Building, and two district offices, one in the Federal Building in Pikeville, and the second on the second floor of the main Post Office in Ashland.

"I hope anyone who believes that I can be of assistance to them will not hesitate to contact me either through my Washington office or the district offices," Perkins said. "During the next two months it will be necessary for me to go back and forth from Kentucky to Washington in order to prepare for the upcoming session of Congress which begins January 3, 1985," Perkins said. "Although the House of Representatives is not in session there are many behind the scenes activities which have already started."

Congressman Perkins' office addresses and telephone numbers are:

Nutcracker Ballet Suite Showing Here Dec. 15

Prestonsburg Community College will present excerpts from the Nutcracker Ballet Suite on Saturday, Dec. 15 at 2:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Grade School auditorium. This famous Christmas ballet is based on a short story by Hoffman, written in 1860. The music, composed by Tchaikovsky, combined dance and story into a children's Christmas classic that has been performed all over the world for almost 100 years.

Children from the entire Big Sandy Valley will be performing, since the ballet, sponsored by PCC, is a joint effort by the PCC Community Services Program, the Meade Dance Studio at Paintsville, Dorothy Howard's Dance Studio at Salyersville, and Robin Carlson, dance and gymnastics instructor for Pikeville College and Prestonsburg Community College. The lead role of the Sugar Plum Fairy will be danced by Mahoney England.

Call PCC (886-3863) for tickets.

KET To Encore Three Popular Documentaries

Imagine a museum where the guide says, "We want you to touch everything; play; experiment; explore. You can't break anything; nothing will hurt you—and basically there are no rules."

That museum is San Francisco's Exploratorium. In "Palace of Delights," airing Tuesday, December 25 at 8:00 p.m. (ET), on KET, NOVA goes behind the scenes for a spontaneous, insightful, sometimes hilarious look at this unique museum's inner workings. NOVA is produced by WGBH/Boston.

Dora Mosely is waiting to die. She needs heart surgery, but she has no money and no medical insurance. She's one of 25 million Americans at the mercy of public hospitals which have traditionally opened their doors to anyone who needed treatment. Now, those hospitals are fighting for their own lives, against competition from new, luxurious for-profit hospital chains. "Frontline: Crisis at General Hospital" looks at how this battle has affected Tampa General at 9:00 p.m. (ET), on Tuesday, December 25.

In his documentary, "The Store," to be aired on Wednesday, December 26, at 8:00 p.m. (ET), filmmaker Frederick Wiseman focuses his cameras on the management, the merchandise, the customers and the clerks of the famed Dallas emporium, Neiman-Marcus. "The Store" was produced, directed and edited by Frederick Wiseman.

HRMC Blood Drive Set December 13

Sometimes good intentions are not enough. Give blood! Central Kentucky Blood Center and the Highlands Regional Medical Center have scheduled the last blood drive of 1984 in Prestonsburg for Thursday, December 13, at the hospital from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. At least 80 donors are needed at this drive to maintain a safe and adequate blood supply for patients in area hospitals.

It seems that we often take some very important things for granted—our family, our home, and our good health. Along the same lines, we may assume that when someone we care about needs blood, it will be available for transfusion. This is only possible if enough volunteer donors have recently given with Central Kentucky Blood Center. By acting on their good intentions, these people have done their part to provide blood to patients in Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Do your part; bring a friend and donate blood on Thursday, December 13. Call Billie Goble at 886-8511 for more information or to make an appointment.

Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced an expanded role for her administration in the prevention of drug and alcohol abuse through the creation of the Governor's Task Force on Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

The 35-member task force will include representatives of various state agencies, professional consultants and private citizens and will expand on the activities and responsibilities of the Kentucky War on Drugs, Inc.

In assuming all state government activities formerly delegated to the War on Drugs, the new task force has been directed by Governor Collins to develop legislation and administrative actions for recommendation to the 1986 General Assembly.

The task force will be attached to the Cabinet for Human Resources and staffed by personnel of the Division of Substance Abuse within the Department for Mental Health and Mental Retardation Services. Division director Michael E. Townsend will direct the staff and serve as Vice-Chairman of the task force. Former Governor Julian M. Carroll has been appointed task force chairman, similar to his former service with the War on Drugs.

The task force includes professional and citizen members as well as state officials.

The task force will be funded through the budgets of the Governor's Office and the cabinets for Human Resources, Justice, Commerce, Corrections, Public Protection and Regulation and the Department of Education.

Members of the task force include the following state officials: Executive Cabinet Secretary Larry Hayes, Human Resources Secretary Al Austin, Justice Secretary Norma Miller, Commerce Secretary Carroll Nicely, Public Protection and Regulation Secretary Melvin Wilson, Corrections Secretary George Wilson, Attorney General David Armstrong and Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald.

Professional and citizen appointees to the task force include: Ray Daugherty, Lexington; Ted Strader, Louisville; Audrey Tayse-Sears, Somerset; Robert Straus, Lexington; Gordon Hyde, M.D., Lexington; Paul Davis, Frankfort; Dwight L. Blackburn, M.D., Berea; Merita Thompson, Ph.D., Richmond; Ed Jones, Ph.D., Paducah; William Nally, Frankfort; Rosemary Fisher, Ft. VA Announces 1985-'86 Scholarship Program For Nursing Students

The Veterans Administration has announced details of its Health Professional Scholarship Program for the 1985-'86 school year. The program provides support to baccalaureate and master's degree nursing students on a "pay-back-in-service" basis.

The VA scholarships provide tuition, educational expenses and a monthly stipend for participants who agree to serve a minimum of two years as a full-time registered nurse in one of VA's 172 medical facilities.

Approximately $3.7 million dollars is available for scholarships for the 1985-'86 school year. Awards are made to third- and fourth-year baccalaureate nursing students and to master's degree candidates in specialties needed by the VA. These specialties are gerontology, medical-surgical, adult psychiatric-mental health, rehabilitation and nursing service administration.

Information about the program is available from the VA Health Professional Scholarship Program, Office of Academic Affairs, DM&S (14N), 810 Vermont Ave. NW, Washington, DC 20420. Requests for an application package may be made to the Scholarship Program Office between Jan. 7 and May 10. Completed applications must be received by the Scholarship Program Office no later than June 3.

Purchase Portable Crime Lab

Prestonsburg City Detective Mike Ormerod inspects the new portable crime lab purchased recently by the Prestonsburg Police Department as an aid to crime detection and analysis. The fully-equipped lab unit will allow members of the squad specially trained in its use to conduct a wide variety of procedures, from fingerprinting to forensic investigation.

Fire Departments Receive Grants

By STEPHEN R. BRACKETT, District Forester

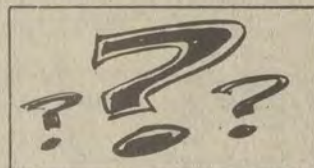

Four Floyd county fire departments were recently presented grants in the amount of $285 each by Division of Forestry personnel, Steve Brackett, Joe Ferguson, Willard Hamilton and John Griffith.

Checks were presented to the Auxier,

Allen, Middle Creek and Garrett departments in payment of matching fund grants which will be used to purchase firefighting equipment. These grants are made available by the U.S. Forest Service to the Division of Forestry, which, in turn, distributes them to local fire departments.

The program hopes to identify needs and solutions to problems found by rural communities in conducting a fire protection program. The program is limited to rural communities of 10,000 population or less. Funds are distributed on the basis of need. Special consideration was given to present protection levels, ability of the community to help itself, values protected, and past fire protection.

These fire departments have been very helpful to the Division of Forestry, using their new equipment to extinguish numerous small field and forest fires that might have spread and developed into major blazes.

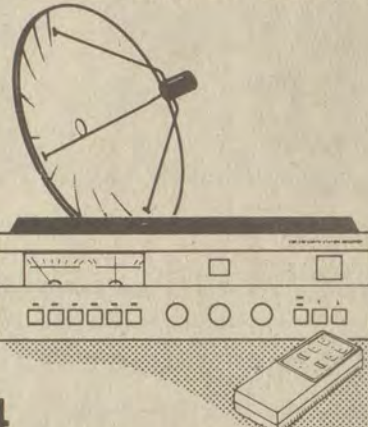

The question mark ("??") comes from the first and last letters of the Latin word for question: quaestio.

State Board Acts To Remove Doubt of Tests' Credibility

The State Board of Education has adopted lists of essential skills to be taught in Kentucky schools in the areas of writing, spelling and library use.

The lists approved by the board at its meeting at Murray High School Nov. 28 complete the identification of essential skills ordered by the 1984 General Assembly in Senate Bill 169. The board previously adopted essential skills lists in reading and mathematics.

The board also adopted a code of ethics in testing to ensure the integrity of student achievement tests to be given at all levels from kindergarten through the 12th grade beginning next spring.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said the code was designed to provide consistent guidelines for the administration and safeguarding of the tests and to allay doubts about the credibility of the state-wide testing program.

In addition to specifying the procedures to be followed, the code calls for certification from each school and each local school district that the tests have been kept secure and administered in accordance with the guidelines.

Tests based on the Kentucky essential skills lists in reading and math will be given next spring. The tests to be given in the spring of 1986 will include all five skill areas.

As with the reading and math lists, the initial lists in the three remaining areas were drawn up by staff members from the Department of Education's Office of Research and Planning in cooperation with the Office of Instruction, McDonald said.

Skills in those areas—writing, spelling and library use, which includes research and reference skills—were based on minimum skills lists approved by the state board in 1983, skills lists used by other states, current research, and recommendations from consultants on subject matter.

Concepts covered in the Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills, which has been administered annually to students in the third, fifth, seventh and 10th grades, were also taken into consideration. Drafts of the lists were reviewed by representatives of local school districts at a meeting in Frankfort on Sept. 26.

Recommendations from that meeting and from drafts circulated in local districts were considered in a final review by experts in the three subject areas from local school districts. Representatives from 31 districts reviewed and revised the lists in a two-day workshop, McDonald said.

She said the skills selected for each level represented those considered essential for mastery of the subject and for success at the next grade level. The skills lists are not intended to be a complete curriculum but rather "a basis and a foundation upon which to build a comprehensive curriculum," she said.

In other actions the state board approved guidelines for the development of codes of student conduct by local school districts and adopted guidelines for the evaluation of teachers and administrators.

The discipline guidelines are to be distributed to local districts by Jan. 1, under legislation approved by the 1984 General Assembly. The guidelines outline procedures and minimum content for codes to be developed by local districts by June 1 and submitted to the state board for review and approval.

The evaluation system is required under Senate Bill 364, the Effective Instructional Leadership Act, approved by the 1984 General Assembly. Local districts are to use the guidelines approved by the board to develop and submit plans by June 1, 1985, for evaluating all teachers and all administrators, including the superintendent, beginning next fall.

The original proposal called for evaluation of administrators every year and of teachers every two years. However, board members decided to let local boards decide whether to evaluate administrators every year or every two years after the initial evaluations, which are to begin by Oct. 1, 1985.

Board members also favored having tenured teachers evaluated every three years rather than every two years and said they would consider making that change after a public hearing on the regulation to be scheduled sometime in January. The first evaluations of teachers are to begin by Nov. 1, 1985.

The board also approved a list of providers for the 42 hours of in-service instruction that school administrators are required to receive every two years under the same legislation. The providers include local school districts, state universities, private educational groups and business concerns.

The Kentucky School Boards Association was approved as the provider for in-service training required for members of local school boards under another bill approved by the 1984 General Assembly, House Bill 153.

To provide the 15 hours of training each board member is required to complete annually, the KSBA will offer 10 regional workshops in addition to special statewide workshops and clinic sessions planned in conjunction with state conventions.

In another action, the state board approved procedures for gathering information on missing schoolchildren. Under House Bill 486 approved by the 1984 General Assembly, the Department of Education is responsible for developing and administering a program to identify and locate missing schoolchildren.

Under the plan approved by the board, local school districts and private schools will be given forms to be filled out on missing children. Information on missing children will be compiled by the department's Division of Student Services, which is to send annual lists and monthly updates to all schools in the state.

Completes Training At Fort Jackson, S.C.

Army Pvt. James W. Jarvis, son of Robin Olin, of Betsy Layne, has completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Jarvis is a 1984 graduate of Betsy Layne High School.

Owensboro Physician Interviewed on KET

The director of marketing and promotion for Owensboro on the Air, Inc., Kirk Kirkpatrick, Jr., will interview Dr. Cliff Robertson, noted osteopathic physician and author, on the next edition of "Bywords," airing Friday, December 14, at 7 p.m. (ET) on KET.

Dr. Robertson, author of "The Health Explosion," has practiced medicine for many years, and was becoming quite dismayed with dramatically increased health care costs. His own body was racked with physical disorders which included major sinus and colon problems. At that pivotal health point, Dr. Robertson discovered Dr. Andrew Taylor Still, the founder of osteopathy, which emphasizes natural healing and health. Still's philosophy had a profound impact on Dr. Robertson, who has devoted a half-century of medical practice to furthering the concepts of understanding one's own body, and using natural elements in lieu of drugs and high-priced physicians to heal common maladies.

Dr. Robertson discusses with Kirkpatrick several criticisms he has received regarding his unorthodox medical methods. But the doctor perseveres with his abilities developed under "God's grace and guidance," which he feels enabled him to write "The Health Explosion," so future generations can learn and further osteopathy.

FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOL SYSTEM AND GOVERNOR CARROLL ATTACK ALCOHOL AND DRUG ABUSE IN FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOLS

Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., introducing Mr. Gary Frazier, principal of McDowell High School and chairman of the Floyd County Alcohol and Drug Awareness organization; Billy Arms, vice-chairman; Phillip Glass, entertainer; Doris Stumbo, recording secretary and Ray Brackett, assistant superintendent of finance.

Governor Julian Carroll addressing more than 4,000 students assembled at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium. Students in grades 7 through 12 came here from schools over the county.

4,000 Hear Gov. Carroll On Drug Abuse

We were very proud and elated to have former Governor Julian Carroll to address our Junior High and Senior High School students in the Prestonsburg Field House on November 16, 1984. Over 4,000 people were there to hear his message and words of wisdom on how to prevent alcohol and drug abuse in schools. We certainly appreciate Governor Carroll taking the time to come into our school system and help us with this problem. Governor Carroll complimented the leadership of our school system by stating that Floyd County was always alert to its problems and got out in front of them and tried to solve them before many other school districts had even identified their problems.

Besides addressing over 4,000 students, he made appearances on WPRT Radio and spoke at a luncheon banquet at May Lodge to civic and local leaders of Floyd County. He was very excited about the support in Floyd County for the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program, from both the schools and the community.

Further, I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped make this historic event possible. Namely, the City Council and Mayor of Prestonsburg, the Police and Fire Department of Prestonsburg, the Principals and teachers of our various schools and especially those of Prestonsburg High School, who hosted the event, the civic and local organizations of Floyd County, the Floyd County Educational Task Force, the Floyd County Alcohol and Drug Awareness Organization, the media, (Radio Station WPRT and Floyd County Times), the Floyd County Transportation Department and its bus drivers, and the Public Relations Office. Thanks to all of you for your cooperation and effort from me and the Floyd County Board of Education.

Pete Grigsby, Jr.
 Superintendent
 Floyd County Schools

More than 4,000 Floyd county students from grades 7 through 12, listened intently as Governor Julian Carroll spoke to them here on the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse.

Joining in the effort against alcohol and drug abuse are, from left, above, Governor Julian Carroll, chairman of the Governor's Task Force on Drugs and Alcohol; Pete Grigsby, Jr., superintendent; Ray Brackett, assistant superintendent of finance; Ray "Shag" Campbell, board member, district 2, and John M. Stumbo, county judge-executive and former chairman of the school board.

At luncheon held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, from left, County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, Rob Schissler, Governor Julian Carroll, Superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., and Ray "Shag" Campbell, board member, district 2.

Join in the fight against drug and alcohol abuse!

'The Skin Of Our Teeth' Set To Encore on KET

According to playwright Thornton Wilder, when times are especially bad, the American people have the ability and courage to survive "by the skin of their teeth." His Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth," is his salute to humanity's triumph over chaos. The play will encore on the "American Playhouse" series Thursday, December 12, at 8:00 p.m. (ET), on KET.

The play is a comedy about the Antrobus family and their general utility maid, Sabina (Blair Brown) George Antrobus (Harold Gould) is John Doe, an average American whose destiny is sometimes sweet, sometimes sour. Sada Thompson stars as Mrs. Antrobus.

The Antrobuses have survived fire, flood, pestilence, the seven-year locusts, the ice age, the black pox and the double feature, a dozen wars and as many depressions. Alternately bewitched, befuddled and becalmed, they are the stuff of which heroes, and buffoons, are made.

The comedy was the first live telecast of a stage play in public television history when it was originally broadcast from San Diego's Old Globe Theatre in 1983.

"Slumber Party" Aspect of Politics Not For Mock Governor Webster

By SHARON AND ALICE MARTIN (Based on an interview with Scott Webster)

The pink decor in the outer offices of Governor Martha Layne Collins will definitely have to go if 14-year-old Scott Webster ever really reaches this top-level position in the state. The Pike county youth, son of Larry and Sheryl Webster, served as governor at the Kentucky Youth Assembly held recently in Lexington and Frankfort and had some frank observations to make following his Capitol visit to see the real Governor of the Commonwealth.

"Well, I went to her office and everything was decorated in pink, like a girl's bedroom, and reminded me of a slumber party... There were all these girls (aides) who looked like her, minus 20 years, and they were sitting around drinking tea in tall, thin glasses. Her personal aide told me she'd go get Martha Layne Collins. She went in her office (inner office) and came out about 15 minutes later with the governor. The governor shook my hand and then her personal aide just shoved her on. I got the impression she (the governor) didn't know what was going on except that she had written a speech and she knew she had to go give this speech in front of some kids.

"Her personal aide told her which elevator to get on and go upstairs. Her personal aide told her when to go into the House of Representatives, when to go up to the podium, and when to go back to her office. I didn't really talk to her. She just said, 'Hello,' and that was it."

The necessity for such automation in the governor's activities was likely better understood by Scott after he had undergone three days of gruelling work at the YMCA-sponsored event. While making no secret of the fact that he had sought the governor's position because it represented power, the mock official found little or no time for sleep as he discharged the duties of his office.

"You gotta fight for everything when you're in politics," he lamented. "You try to impress everybody and satisfy everyone... If you veto somebody's bill, you have to convince them that they shouldn't have written it like that."

Making a speech before the mock General Assembly seems to have been the hardest task for the young political aspirant.

"I worked on that speech a whole day," he recounted. "I went over it and over it. I knew I had to talk to 800 people and try not to make anybody mad..."

There were compensations for such punishment, he allowed.

"The part I really liked best was being an officer—just sitting up there at the front table where always before I sat in the crowd. And the office offered more freedom... You could go about anywhere."

Scott was also favorably impressed by the attorney general with whom he had lunch one day. Scott recalls his confession of a restless night due to problems of a case he had been working on. The attorney general discussed the case with Scott, relating the details before the story hit the press that afternoon.

Scott's brief tenure was not without its moment of embarrassment.

"You know when you're an officer you're used to clapping for every little thing. If somebody in the audience claps for something you always clap with them or they'll think you don't like it, so I got used to clapping.

"I got so used to clapping that once I even clapped for myself."

Judging from Scott's record, there is reason enough for self-congratulations. He won the outstanding speaker award at the mock State Legislature in 1983, a fact he attributes modestly to a short speech rather than a long, boring one. His score in music was so high when he tried out for the Junior High All-County Concert Band that he was put in first chair baritone in the Senior High All-County Concert Band.

Music, Scott affirms, is his first love, outranking his interest in politics. However, he does have some definite ideas to offer Governor Martha Layne Collins in her drive for improvement in Kentucky schools.

"I'd have all extra-curricular activities stricken from the school hours. There's just too much doing in schools with sports and other activities. I'd have them after school or on weekends.

"Also, I'd like to see all teachers watched to be sure they're able to teach. Some know it, but can't teach it. Some teachers could pass the competency test. That is not a guarantee they could do the job."

Taking careful note of Scott's comments and suggestions during this interview was a younger brother, Mickey Todd. Mickey is on the Executive Council at the mock United Nations Assembly this year. Scott's recountal of his experiences as governor of the mock General Assembly for Kentucky youth this year will doubtless serve him well.

WAYLAND

Speaker Lauds Theatre

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland Woman's Club met Nov. 19 at the home of Mrs. Louise West, of Garrett. The program on "Public Affairs" was given by the club's Public Affairs Department chairman, Mrs. LaFaye Hughes, who spoke on the Jenny Wiley Theatre.

Mrs. Hughes pointed out that while the purpose of the theatre primarily is to provide cultural enrichment and family entertainment through the production of live musicals, there are other important features that may be overlooked. One, she reported, is that the Theatre sponsors programming for children throughout the year. In March of 1984 the Jenny Wiley Theatre provided a play for children, PROFESSOR FILARSKY'S MIRACULOUS INVENTION, which was shown free to more than 2,500 school age children in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Pike, and Lawrence counties. She also advised that during the summer season a two-week creative dramatics workshop was offered which allowed students interested in drama to participate beyond what is taught in local schools. The speaker also called attention to the fact that the Jenny Wiley Theatre has a tremendous economic impact on Floyd county through the money spent locally each year in the amount of several hundred thousand dollars, plus drawing thousands of tourists to our area, all of which makes for good public relations for Eastern Kentucky.

Finally the speaker pointed out that while the Theatre had its most successful season in many ways, it still needs to raise $60,000 in new and continuing support during 1984-85 in order to fulfill its commitment of providing high quality family theatre at an affordable ticket price. For this reason the Board and Administration of the Jenny Wiley Theatre has launched Project 1000.

Following the speaker's presentation, the club voted unanimously to become a contributor to this Project 1000 to raise needed funds for the Jenny Wiley Theatre.

Also during the business session it was reported that $87.90 had been raised for the Arthritis Fund. The club president, Mrs. Marie Mullins, advised that a woman from the Highlands Regional Hospital will speak at the January club meeting at the home of Mrs. Don Hughes. Mrs. Libby Martin, immediate past president, asked that club members bring any paperback westerns or mysteries with them to the December meeting to be mailed to the Veterans' Hospital.

Those present were: Mrs. Joyce Stevens, Mrs. Marie Mullins, Mrs. Marsella Bradley, Mrs. Launice Dunfee, Mrs. Felix Coburn, Mrs. Blanche Bamer, Mrs. Elizabeth Duff, Mrs. LaFaye Hughes, Mrs. Louise West, and Mrs. Libby Martin.

The December Christmas party will be held December 3, at 6:30 p.m., with dinner at the home of Mrs. Felix Coburn, Garrett, at which time small gifts will be exchanged.

Tax Prep Class Set for January

The Internal Revenue Service will conduct a free tax preparation class at the Floyd County Library from January 21 through January 25 in conjunction with the American Association of Retired Persons. It is hoped that a large number of older taxpayers will take advantage of this class so that they may help others prepare their tax returns.

Last year, six people successfully completed the tax course and helped 262 elderly persons prepare their state and federal tax returns. They spent an average of four hours each week helping others and all six agreed it was a rewarding experience.

The course is open to everyone and those attending are not required either to be a member of the AARP or to work as a tax counselor.

For additional information, write to Aaron Akers, HC 74, Box 230, Banner, Ky. 41603, or call 874-9921.

Mt. Christian Academy Approved As Member

The Mountain Christian Academy has been notified by the Independent School Accrediting Association of the Central States (ISACS) that the Association board at its November 9 meeting approved the Academy as a new school member.

Schools which have not been in existence for five years may be accepted for new school services by a two-thirds vote of the board of directors. At the end of a school's third year as a new member it may apply for provisional membership.

The vote of acceptance for the Martin school followed an official visit to the Academy by ISACS President Tom Read and his recommendation to the board.

Sayre School and the Lexington School are among the eight Kentucky independent schools that are members of ISACS.

Sperger Exhibition at PCC

The Prestonsburg Community College Library and Art Department will sponsor an art exhibition and reception for Hugo Sperger. The exhibition will open with a reception December 6, from 6-8 p.m. The exhibit may be seen at regular library hours through December 12.

Sperger, who is of German descent, reflects many art styles through his work, ranging from folk paintings to the impressionistic and surrealistic, even oriental, some religious, others realistic. "To define would be to destroy, and we certainly cannot define or label the art work of Hugo Sperger," said a college spokesman.

Sperger moved to Elk Creek in Magoffin county more than 40 years ago. An army veteran, he took up painting as a means of expressing himself. He is a self-taught painter and sculptor.

Rax Joins Heart Ass'n In Heart-Healthy Meals

Rax Restaurants, Inc. is adding another "first" to its list of successes. J. Pat Ross, Rax' chairman, has joined representatives from the American Heart Association to announce that Rax is the first national fast food chain to list selected menu items which follow the food guidelines of the American Heart Association.

As a part of Rax' participation with the American Heart Association, a new menu has been printed which clearly shows the items which meet American Heart Association guidelines regarding fat, cholesterol and calories. These include the Rax roast beef sandwich, the Big Rax, the plain potato, and selected salad bar items with a choice of dressings.

The new menu also contains a consumer guide to the fat, protein, carbohydrates, vitamins, and overall calories of their complete menu offering. Also on the menu are three special meals put together by Rax with total calorie counts well below similar fast food meals. One such meal offers a bowl of vegetable soup, an endless salad platter with reduced-calorie dressing, and a medium diet drink, all for under 215 calories.

The American Heart Association's national center, based in Dallas, Texas, has a comprehensive program that helps national food service companies develop and market heart-healthy menus. The Heart Association's objective is to help people change their eating habits by working with restaurants to provide menus with reduced calories, low fat, low cholesterol, and moderate sodium.

Hospice Offers Volunteer Training

Are you looking for a way to put charity into action? To help out your neighbors? To give a little of yourself to benefit your community?

Hospice of Big Sandy is sponsoring a volunteer training session to give the basic ideas and skills necessary for a volunteer community member to work with Hospice.

"All of us have lost a member of our family or one of our neighbors from a lingering illness," says Beverly Green, executive director of Hospice, "and we know what it is like—the worry of the bills, the laundry that doesn't get done any more, the problems that occur in the middle of the night when the doctor's gone home.

"A volunteer from the community can mean much at this time. Someone coming by to visit, or to do small kindnesses and chores reminds the terminally-ill person, and the family, that life does go on and that people do care."

The first session of the training, "The Hospice concept and the interdisciplinary team," is part of a six-week program that will be offered in occasional weekly sessions between now and April. It will be held Tuesday, December 11, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 155 at Prestonsburg Community College. It is free. Call Beverly Green, 886-2721, for more information.

The original St. Nicholas was a 4th century Turkish bishop. According to legend, he dropped a bag of gold coins down a chimney into a stocking a poor girl had hung up by the fireplace to dry.

PLAN CHRISTMAS DINNER

INTRODUCING

The Landing

In the early 1900's, the riverboat would steam into town. At the sound of the whistle and the calliope, all Prestonsburg would gather at the Upper Landing to see what news, goods, or travelers had come up the Big Sandy.

At this same location, the carefree charm of a bygone era is recalled today at "The Landing," the new name for Prestonsburg's foremost address...at an affordable price.
