

EQUIPMENT STOOD IDLE last week on the Pikeville site of a planned supermarket where toxic wastes have been discovered. Work on construction of a new Piggly Wiggly store on the Williamson road will be held up at least until environmental officials can determine the extent of contamination of the area by PCB, a chemical linked to liver cancer in test animals and various disorders in persons exposed to it for long periods.

The area apparently became polluted over a period of years when junked transformers, containing a lubricant rich in PCBs, were handled by a scrap metal yard which formerly occupied the site.

Pike Construction Site Holds Threat of PCB

The nationwide problem of what to do with industry's prolific and often toxic wastes has turned up close to home. And, while eastern Kentucky is no stranger to the threat posed by industry to the environment and to public health, the current threat appears to be the first of its kind in this area.

An official with the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet confirmed yesterday (Tuesday) that soil taken recently from a Pikeville construction site contains a chemical known to be toxic to fish and other wildlife and potentially hazardous to humans.

Jim Jarman, an investigator with the Cabinet's waste management division, said laboratory tests indicate that soil taken Nov. 20 from a site on KY 119 adjacent to the Piggly Wiggly Supermarket in the Town and Country shopping center contains a high concentration of polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB).

Synthetic compounds used in various industries, PCBs are very slow to break down in soils and streams. They have long been known to cause toxic effects in workers exposed to them over long periods and, in test animals, have been associated with reproductive problems and liver cancers.

While PCBs have turned up recently in the western Kentucky counties of Simpson, Hopkins and Grayson, Jerry Hurst, manager of field operations for the state Division of Water, said this week he had never heard before of a single incident of PCB contamination in eastern Kentucky.

The possibility of a hazard here came to light about six weeks ago when an environmentalist with the Pike County Health Department noticed preparations under way for construction on a former junkyard site where electrical transformers had once been dumped.

Gary Coleman, the department's environmental coordinator, said he and his colleagues had been alerted by publications of the National Environmental Health Association that the oil used as a lubricant in some electrical transformers is rich in PCBs. "We were a little suspicious, so we called Natural Resources," he said last week. "We don't know if there's any problem but, if there is, we didn't want it covered up."

It might literally have been covered up, had not Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. voluntarily halted construction at the site pending the completion of lab tests on the soil. The firm plans to build a new store there after rechanneling nearby Ferguson Creek and filling the site.

"We had no reason to suspect there might be a problem there," said company manager Jack Smith. "If there is, and it can be corrected, we will do whatever has to be done to correct it."

What that will take depends on how extensive the PCB contamination turns out to be, said investigator Jarman. The level of PCBs in the soil he sampled last month was a high 1000 parts per million, but further tests will need to be conducted to determine what area is involved, he said.

Before the laboratory results were released, Bob Prewitt, the waste management division's environmental project coordinator, said that, if the PCB concentration at the Pikeville site proved less than 50 parts per million, Piggly Wiggly's plan to fill the site with seven feet of compacted soil and top it with bitumen would provide adequate protection. If the concentration was higher, the contaminated soil would have to be removed, he said.

Adams Wins Split Vote for School

Where To Find Building Funds, Major Problem

Where to find the money even to begin such a program is a question still to be resolved—there were signs at last week's Board of Education meeting that another approach may soon be made to Floyd taxpayers—but state and local school officials appear agreed that, for about $26 million, the county's school students could be housed in decent buildings.

Finding the money, however, may prove less vexing a problem than where to spend it first—an issue that found Floyd board members sharply at odds Wednesday, not only with the state but with one another.

In the end, Board Chairman Dr. J.D. Adams mustered the votes to keep construction of a new middle school for Prestonsburg students at the top of the list of school building projects. The proposal carried on a 4-1 vote despite a contrary recommendation by Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr. and strong opposition by board member Ray "Shag" Campbell; it also runs counter to the recent recommendation of a state survey team.

Campbell held out for a 600-student elementary school at Allen as the district's top building priority, a proposal in line with the state plan. Grigsby's proposal put both the Allen school and a new McDowell high school ahead of the Prestonsburg middle school on the construction list.

But Adams, whose district includes the lower end of the county, said, "I've been here 14 years and I've never had a brick or a piece of mortar. I want my middle school."

Water District Plans Extension Into Two Areas

With seven projects recommended for help in extending Beaver-Elkhorn Water District services to rural areas, the district at this time is not financially able to make extensions to more than two, and that will be difficult, Monroe Vanderpool, Beaver-Elkhorn chairman, said last week.

In announcing the award of $58,433 from the Area Development Fund, Gov. Martha Layne Collins said the money was to go toward the purchase of materials for extension of water services to Salyers Branch, Stephens Branch, Caney Fork, Buck's Branch, Hollybush, Simpson Branch and Cold Water. All are sections where residents must depend upon private wells, coal banks and possibly contaminated surface sources for their water.

But at this time extension of lines will be made only into Salyers Branch and Stephens Branch. "It's hard for people to understand, but we just don't have the money to do all or any more of these jobs at this time," Vanderpool said.

And Salyers Branch and Stephens Branch will present their problems, he said. One of these is the cost of getting (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Retirement of Teachers Is Made More Attractive

Floyd teachers thinking of retiring this year got a little nudge last week from the Board of Education, which voted to pay them for 30 percent of any unused sick days if they choose to step down.

The bonus came as an amendment to a plan adopted by the board in September in an effort both to curb abuse of sick leave among teachers and to encourage early retirement.

While the bonus plan may cost the school district $10,000 this year, school officials believe it will save money in the long run by cutting down on the use of substitute teachers and by opening up jobs to teachers at the bottom end of the pay scale. Hiring substitute teachers to replace regular teachers off on sick leave cost the school district $100,000 last year.

The incentive scheme should boost the school district's teacher attendance rate, a factor considered by state officials in rating school systems, noted Assistant Supt. Ray Brackett, who devised the plan.

As originally adopted by the board in September, teachers retiring the first year they are eligible would be paid for 30 percent of their daily pay for any unused sick days. Those retiring the second year after becoming eligible would be compensated at a rate of 22.5 percent; in the third year, 15 percent; and in the fourth year or later, 7.5 percent.

In the amendment adopted Wednesday, all teachers with at least 30 years' service who choose to retire this year will be paid for their unused sick leave at a rate of 30 percent of their current salary.

In recompensing teachers for unused sick days, Floyd joins a growing number of school districts to have adopted the (See Story No. 5, Page 4) policy since a 1980 state law authorized the practice. Prior to adoption of the new policy, teachers could accumulate unused sick time indefinitely at the rate of 10 days a year but received no compensation on retirement for the days accrued.

The system meant that teachers with accumulated sick time were tempted to use it regardless of need, Brackett explained. Under the new system, the bonus for unused sick leave will be added to the teachers' final-year salary, and will permanently enhance their retirement benefits.

Hired by the board were:

Herma Shelton, kindergarten teacher at Prestonsburg Elementary; Tammy Francis, replacement teacher for Danette Fannin at Prestonsburg Elementary; Joan Hatfield, temporary replacement teacher for Edna Jane Spurlock at Prestonsburg Elementary; Sharon Diane Robinson, certified substitute teacher; Charles Patton, adult ed. supervisor; Charlotte Stumbo, adult ed. bookkeeper; Ramona Auxier, Wayne Combs, Willie Elliott, Maurie Reynolds, Lonnie Slone, and Neil Watson, adult ed. teachers; Tammy R. Jarrell, emergency substitute teacher; Pam Akers Hensley, Headstart social worker; Sharon Stegall, cook at McDowell; and Monroe Jarrell, regular bus driver at Prestonsburg, to replace Marty Spurlock.

Eastern Star Order Loses As Eastern Bar Winner

After first being turned down by the state whiskey and beer administrators, the state Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has agreed to issue a restaurant wine license and a retail beer license to owners of an establishment at Eastern which drew criticism recently from a women's organization here.

The bid by Tony Ray Crum and Ballard Crum, of Eastern, and Kenneth Roberts, of Garrett, to open the Eastern Star Lounge at the mouth of Goose Creek in October angered members of the Order of Eastern Star, who said they did not want their name linked with liquor sales.

On the basis of protests by that organization and its male counterpart, Zebulon Masonic Lodge, Distilled Spirits Administrator D.B. Grugin and Malt Beverage Administrator Martin J. Hogan subsequently turned down the wine and beer license applications.

The applicants appealed the decision to the full ABC board however, and, in a hearing on their appeal last Tuesday, the panel said the petitions submitted by the protesting groups contained no statutory ground on which the licenses could be denied.

Tony Crum, whose name appears on the applications, has no disqualifying convictions and is otherwise qualified to hold the licenses, and the premises in question are large enough to qualify for a restaurant license, the board found.

In an order signed Monday by Chairman Edward A. Farris, the board ordered that the disputed licenses be issued.

The applicants were represented by Prestonsburg attorney Phillip D. Damron. The protestors were not present at the hearing, nor were they represented by legal counsel.

Kentucky Publisher Interviewed On KET

Al Smith, publisher and editor of weekly newspapers for 25 years in Western Kentucky, is the guest of Bill Gorman on the next edition of "Bywords," airing Friday, December 28, at 7:00 p.m. on KET. Gorman, the mayor of Hazard, interviews the accomplished and much heralded newspaperman on the issues of his personal life.

Most viewers of KET recognize Smith as the host of "Comment On Kentucky," a weekly public-affairs series featuring journalists discussing news events of concern to Kentuckians.

Smith's career in journalism began as a 20-year-old copy boy for the Times-Picayune newspaper in New Orleans. Showing a penchant for news/journalism, Smith rapidly progressed through the ranks to become a state editor for Louisiana, as well as a police/courts beat reporter, finally returning to Kentucky to purchase interest in the weekly Russellville Kentucky News-Democrat. He has also served under two Kentucky governors in various appointments. In 1979, President Jimmy Carter appointed Smith to the directorship of the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

Mountain Laurel Is Hit in Hawaii

Lynn Weddington Tucker helped a young mother choose just the right Mountain Laurel dress for her little girl when she and Sarah Buchanan Cross were there for two weeks participating in the AmericaStyle promotion held at Liberty House, Honolulu, in September. The in-store event was part of the department store's celebration of Hawaii's 25th year of statehood. Other designers invited to the event were Bill Blass and Willi Smith.

Many quilts, bibs and baby clothes sewn for Mountain Laurel by Eastern Kentucky quilters and seamstresses were sold at the two-week event. According to Pauline Worsham, director of special events for Liberty House, "Mountain Laurel's part of the promotion was one of the more popular events due to the keen interest most native Hawaiians have in fine quilting. While most of our Hawaiian quilts are appliqued, the Mountain Laurel pieced quilts in particular are more in keeping with the old traditional quilts brought over by the early settlers of Hawaii—the missionary families from New England.

Another lure for shoppers was the promise of Kentucky food products, music and a quilt sweepstakes. To give their area that "down-home feeling," Mountain Laurel provided the store with tapes of traditional songs as sung by Jean Ritchie and Prestonsburg's own Gum Branch Heartbreakers. Nearly 1,000 Rebecca Ruth bourbon balls were eaten by enthusiastic Hawaiians and mainland tourists in the first three days.

To thank Mountain Laurel for their efforts, Liberty House buyers hosted a special luau just for them on the final night of their stay.

Theatre, Project 1000 Extended

The Jenny Wiley Theatre has announced the extension of PROJECT 1000. Originally scheduled to end November 30, it will continue until Tuesday, Dec. 18.

The goal of PROJECT 1000 is to solicit the support of 1000 new contributors at $25 each. The Project was started in response to the financial problems brought about by the large amount of rain last summer. A total of 17 performances were either cancelled or rain-threatened, causing the Theatre to lose more than $30,000.

PROJECT 1000 has 25 member teams in Floyd, Johnson, Pike, Martin, Magoffin, Lawrence, and Knott counties.

"PROJECT 1000 really has a lot of momentum," said Keith Stevens, managing director of the Jenny Wiley Theatre. "Many teams have already exceeded their goals. The Project is being extended to keep the momentum going and to make up for some time lost during the Thanksgiving holidays."

For further information about becoming a PROJECT 1000 contributor, call the Theatre at 886-9274.

DID YOU KNOW?

(Health tips by Naewana Nickles, RN)

The American Lung Association and Our Lady of the Way Hospital say, "Make sure your baby's first Christmas is a healthy one".

Smoking during pregnancy increases the likelihood of low birthweight babies, miscarriage, still birth and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS).

During pregnancy, carbon monoxide from cigarettes enters the pregnant smokers' blood and reduces the baby's oxygen intake. This happens due to the fact that hemoglobin, the oxygen carrying element in the blood, binds with carbon monoxide about 200 times faster than it does with oxygen. As a result, carbon monoxide will displace oxygen and saturate hemoglobin causing a marked reduction in the oxygen available to the body tissues. Nicotine also constricts the smoking mother's blood vessels limiting the oxygen and the amount of food nutrients that reaches the baby.

Fathers as well as mothers should note that parental smoking after a child is born may contribute to longterm difficulties. The offspring of smokers tend to be smaller and shorter and score lower on math and verbal tests than children of nonsmokers.

For free information on how to quit smoking and other health related information, contact your local American Lung Association or Our Lady of the Way Hospital at 285-5181.

company folded in December, 1979—Joe Stone, of Coal Run, operated Libby Iron and Metal Co. on the spot where Piggly Wiggly now plans to build its store. Before Stone took over, the scrap metal yard had been run by Frank A. Kotkin for 26 years, he said. Both men bought junked electrical transformers—most of them knocked out of commission by lightning—from Kentucky Power Company.

At their core, the bulky transformers contained a reservoir of colorless oil, "so clear," said Stone, "when you looked in the top you could see the bottom."

Most of the transformers Stone sold untouched to Baker Iron and Metal in Lexington: they were too hard to break open and Stone had no facilities for disposing of the oil. Only the smaller models—small enough they could be handled by two men using a light crane—were stripped down at the Pikeville site, their copper retrieved for salvage.

Oil routinely spilled from the transformers during handling, Stone said. The oil collected from transformers broken down on site was burned for warmth in the winter months, he said, and was otherwise saved for R.E. Greer—once his business partner and an airplane pilot—who used it to help settle the dust on the runway at the old Pikeville airport.

Greer died of cancer in 1982. He was 46. His father, E.W. Greer, who still operates Greer Iron and Metal Co. on Robinson Creek, said the tumor that claimed his son was first discovered in a kidney and later spread to his lungs. Stone insists the amount of oil spread on the airport runway was small—less than 200 gallons, he estimates, over the four or five years Greer collected it. The runway, which lies just north of the residential Pauley Addition, was blacktopped about seven years ago. The airport was closed in March last year.

Nor does the former scrap metal dealer—he is now an auto salesman—anticipate that contamination of the junkyard site will prove extensive. "One spot, perhaps 40 feet by 40, will be saturated," he predicted, "but it shouldn't go much farther than that." If further tests indicate that a large volume of soil must be excavated and removed from the Piggly Wiggly site, the problems of disposing of it will be just beginning, said Prewitt, of the waste management division. No hazardous waste landfill in the country is currently authorized by the Environmental Protection Agency to receive PCBs, the environmentalist said.

Whatever the quantity of oil that seeped over the years into the soil at Libby Iron and Metal, it had but a short journey to the stream skirting the junkyard perimeter—Ferguson Creek, a tributary of the Big Sandy River.

Bill H. Howard, Prestonsburg Utilities superintendent, said samples from this city's water supply are sent away twice a year for chemical analysis. No PCB contamination has been reported, he said. Jerry Hurst, of the state Division of Water, said his office had never had reason to test the water here for PCBs.

In recent years, the sale and use of PCBs have been strictly controlled by federal law. Leon Huffman, an administrative assistant with Kentucky Power, said that, as far as he knows, the oil in transformers used by the power company no longer contains the toxic chemicals.

The highly chlorinated organic compounds were once widely used in the manufacture of transformers and capacitors, however, and workers exposed to them over a long period sometimes complained of skin lesions, swelling of the hands and face, digestive disturbances, and impotence.

Although the extent of PCB distribution is unknown, health officials think a significant proportion of the population has been affected by contamination of the human food chain. Reports of elevated levels of PCBs in fish in the Great Lakes led to controls on commercial fishing there about 10 years ago.

But all that was unknown to Joe Stone as he warmed his hands over a pot of burning oil in his junkyard days and even thought of converting his home furnace to burn the clean-looking fluid. "Far be it from us to know there was anything dangerous about it," he said last week. "We're all getting wiser."

the pipe beneath new KY 80 in the vicinity of the mouth of Stephens Branch. Vanderpool said one firm had suggested a price of $36,000 for that work, but the water district is advertising the work in the hope of getting lower bids. Installation of lift pumps on both projects will be another expense, Vanderpool said.

The ADD funds were invested by the county in four-inch pipe. Although it later was said larger pipe is needed for Stephens Branch, the purchase of one size of pipe was made in order to take advantage of a price break.

What I would like to know of the shrink is why I dream of disaster, frustration, defeat, the pleasant always turned into the unpleasant, and never once have dreamed of hooking the biggest bass ever hooked, of fighting it, and fighting some more, and then, right at the boat, losing it.

But, come to think of it, that wouldn't be a dream. It would be a nightmare.

FINALLY, HE SORTER DOUBTS

The Battle of the Sexes is waged on a dozen fronts, and one of the least-publicized arises from women's utter disenchantment with the forest trails and the land of sunlight and water when they conflict with the realities of home and housework and other more mundane matters.

One such conflict arose between this man and his wife when he abruptly notified her to have his clothes packed, that he would be departing on the morrow to do a bit of squirrel-hunting. He was reminded that there was work around the place to be done. He insisted it could wait.

"So you're going hunting, whether I want you to or not?"

"I am," the man assured her.

"Then I won't be here when you get back," he was told.

He went, and so did she. When he returned the house was clean but cold and dark. No wife.

She's been gone 30 years now, he recalled.

"You've never seen her since?"

"Nuther hide nor hair," the man drawled. "And, you know, I'm sorter beginnin' to wonder if that woman ever is goin' to come back."

Capt. Conley Receives Council's Commendation

Prestonsburg Police Captain Darrell J. Conley received a special commendation at Monday night's meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council for his successful handling of a recent delicate and potentially dangerous situation.

He was commended for his response to an incident which occurred the night of December 4 involving a juvenile who threatened to kill himself and other family members in a Prestonsburg home. Several officers answered the call and Capt. Conley was able to enter the house, persuade the youth to not carry through with his threats, and successfully disarm him.

The commendation, which included a plaque and certificate, was presented and read aloud by Councilman Robert Ranier.

There died: Walter Scott Harkins, III, 37, last surviving member of the widely-known Harkins law firm here, Sunday at Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Myrtle Weddington, 81, Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, 82, last Saturday at her home at Wheelwright; Susan Baldrige, 77, of Little Paint, Tuesday at the Prestonsburg General Hospital.

Forty Years Ago

(December 14, 1944)

The casualty reports within the week include two killed, two missing, and seven wounded. Killed in action were Pfc. Jimmie N. Hall, of Banner, November 24 in France, and Pfc. Kermit Click, of Martin, November 23 in Luxembourg. Missing are Pfc. Joe Meade, of Printer, and Robert E. Steele, of Boldman. The wounded: Pfc. Elba Case, of Honaker, November 27 in Germany; T-5 Joe B. Vance, of Martin, November 22 in Germany; Pvt. Curtis Jarvis, of Estill, November 27 in Germany; Pfc. Kellas T. Perry, of Garrett, November 27 in France; Pvt. Paul Stilton, of Ivel, November 15; Pfc. Homer Mullins, of Drift; Pfc. Billie M. Foster, of Drift, November 27 in France. Body of Charlie Slone, Blue River postmaster-merchant, was found Tuesday morning, near his home. He is believed to have frozen to death. Lark Huff, 16, succumbed last Thursday to wreck injuries suffered two days earlier on the Maytown hill. Miss Molly Slone was seriously hurt in the same wreck but is recovering. Mrs. Rosannah Skeans Harris, 85, widow of Civil War Veteran John W. Harris, burned to death last week in her home on Brandy Keg. Alex L. Davidson, of Prestonsburg, was elected Democratic county chairman Saturday. Mayor E. P. Arnold purchased the Auxier hotel property here Monday from B. F. and A. B. Combs for a reported $30,000. O. P. Powers will remain as manager of the hotel. The Baptist Church last week bought the Marrs property on First avenue. There died: Henderson Richardson, 70, former member of the Floyd County Board of Education, Sunday at his home on Middle Creek; Miss Gladys Hughes, 23, Monday at Garrett; John Blackburn, 30, Monday at Orkney; Frank Sherman, 70, Floyd native, Friday at Ashland; Mrs. Den D. Fairchild, 69, Monday at her home near Allen; Miss Mary Holt, 33, Saturday at Ligon.

Fifty Years Ago

(December 14, 1934)

Kermit Sexton, 21, who was shot through his arm at Garrett a few weeks ago, died Tuesday night of pneumonia at a Martin hospital. Traffic tie-ups and numerous wrecks, none of which have resulted in a fatality, have been produced by continuing snowfall and icy roads. Among those injured in wrecks are Mrs. Edgar R. May, of Langley, at Mr. Sterling, and Albert Marshall, near Allen. The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club last Friday elected C. D. Milby president to succeed S. L. Isbell for the coming year. William Dingus was elected vice-president, and Virgil Proctor, secretary. Efforts of the Woman's Club here to save the county's dogwoods from the sawmill has been lauded by Mrs. Frederick A. Wallis, of Paris, a leader in the move to save the state's natural scenery. There died: Mrs. Mary Allen Stumbo, 75, widow of W. M. (Bill Buck) Stumbo, a former Floyd sheriff, and mother of M. T. Stumbo, the county's present sheriff, Monday at Minnie; Jean Moore Evans, 11, of Martin, Friday at a Huntington hospital of a spinal injury suffered in a fall at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Evans.

It Takes Two to Make A Conservation

I strongly disagree with some remarks that Scott Webster made in an interview that was published in your paper last week. I also attended the Kentucky Youth Assembly. The highlight of my trip was when I got to meet Governor Martha Layne Collins. She was extremely courteous. She signed my bill book and shook my hand. I had a very nice conversation with her. Scott Webster claims that the Governor only said hello to him. But I wonder, what did he say? It takes two to make conservation, you know. Also Scott Webster said that the Governor didn't seem to know what was going on except that she had written a speech and was going to deliver it in front of a bunch of kids. I think he should have been honored, as everyone else was, that the Governor took time out of her busy schedule to speak before our delegation. The Governor's speech was excellent. It was very appropriate. I'm sure that it took a lot of preparation. One last point; the Governor's office was not pink. It was mauve, a very popular color for the offices of both men and women.

"Answer a cry for help—it's an invitation to life."

I can think of no greater joy than to know that each time I cry for help, God is there to pick me up and once again offer me an invitation to eternal life.

Fred Newsome sided with Adams, persuaded in part by his argument that the board had earlier committed itself to building a middle school next and last year bought a seven-acre tract at Lancer for that purpose. Dr. Mary Hall, who said two new high schools were needed in the Left Beaver section she represents, reluctantly agreed to build the middle school next.

Discussion of the district's building needs was prompted by a plan recently proposed by the buildings and grounds division of the state Department of Education. The plan called for construction of a new high school and four new elementary schools and substantial alterations at eight more grade schools.

A new elementary school at Allen should be top priority, said the state panel, followed by an eight-room addition at Clark Elementary, a 12-room addition at Betsy Layne Elementary, and a new high school to replace McDowell and Wheelwright high schools, located somewhere between the two.

The state plan abandoned the middle school concept, which state and Floyd officials had earlier agreed on. Floyd should stay with its traditional K-8 structure—elementary schools housing students in kindergarten and the first eight grades, high schools for students in grades nine through 12—the state plan said.

But the plan proposed by Supt. Grigsby and approved by the Floyd board Wednesday calls for a K-5-3-4 structure in the Prestonsburg area (the proposed middle school housing grades six, seven and eight), a K-6-6 plan in the Left Beaver section (with new high schools at McDowell and Wheelwright each to accommodate grades seven through 12), with the K-8-4 plan to be retained in the rest of the county.

As Adams and Campbell argued over whether the Prestonsburg or Allen school should be built first, Duff said both schools could be built in the next few years if Floyd voters would accept a property tax increase next May.

A hike of 15 cents per $100 of assessed valuation—an extra $45 on a home assessed at $30,000—would yield $600,000 or more in revenue, which could enable the county to borrow $6 million or more for construction, Duff estimated.

The building plan approved by the Floyd board—it must now be reconciled with the substantially different plan proposed by the state—lists the following projects in order of priority:

—A new middle school at Prestonsburg; elementary school at Allen; high school at McDowell; high school at Wheelwright; elementary school at Garrett.

—Renovate and add eight classrooms at Prater; add eight rooms at Betsy Layne Elementary; renovate and redesign Allen Central High; add six rooms at Betsy Layne High; renovate and add six rooms at Prestonsburg High.

—Build a new grade school at Martin; add a second floor at Harold; build a new central office facility; renovate Prestonsburg Elementary; renovate Clark.

—Renovate Wayland and Melvin grade schools, in each case adding a multi-purpose area to double as lunch room and physical education room; renovate Maytown school, with the addition of a p.e. facility; rebuild warehouse on site of old Allen Elementary School; renovate Osborne school and add p.e. facility; renovate Stumbo school with addition of p.e. facility and four classrooms.

Missing Child's Mother Praises Police Dept.

I believe that when people do things which are outstanding they should be commended for it.

In the past two weeks, I have had a missing child, and have spent many hours with our Prestonsburg City Police Department, including Chief Stan Fletcher, Detective Mike Omerod and Policeman Mike Meade, not to mention many others who have contacted me or whom I have contacted.

I have been quite impressed with their professionalism, their courtesy and kindness, their devotion to duty, and feel that they have gone far beyond the call of duty in trying to help me in my problem. Besides that, they have shown great concern and caring, and the response I have had has been instant, and every possible avenue has been thoroughly investigated, every possibility has been explored, and everything that could be done has been done.

There just are not adequate words to express my thanks for the treatment I have received from these people and I want the people of Prestonsburg to know that they have a group of young, dedicated people who are there to help, and do that in a very professional, concerned way, working night and day for our safety and benefit. They have been wonderful to me and I believe they all should be highly commended for their fine job in doing the work they do for us, and be recognized and awarded for the excellent service they perform. You don't really appreciate a policeman until you need one, and I have had the services of the whole force not only working on this case, but also caring enough, when I called in, to even ask if anything had happened since they had gone off duty. I will sleep much better from now on knowing these men are there, and so should you.

Also, just in passing, I resent taxes just like everyone else, but I have figured up that the services I have received these past two weeks have cost me 42 cents a day. Perhaps we should look into considering paying these men a little more, considering the fine job they are doing. That 42¢ includes all city services, such as fire, and other things the city is doing that we too often take things for granted. I, for one, will be looking at our police cars, and our fine young men in a different fashion than I have before. I would like to suggest that the rest of our citizens realize and appreciate what a great blessing we have in our police force, and how lucky we are to have them.

BETTY ARCHER DAVIS

Enough!

I read with great interest the editorial in last week's Times regarding the suggestion made by a legislative subcommittee that tolls continue to be collected on the Mountain Parkway to finance its maintenance after its bonded indebtedness is paid off.

I become enraged when I hear that legislators from other parts of the state again are about to pick on the good people of Floyd County and Eastern Kentucky.

Coal severance taxes collected from coal operations in Eastern Kentucky already provide the state one of its chief sources of revenue. Give our people a break. Is it too much to ask to allow our people the privilege of traveling the Mountain Parkway free of tolls once the bonded indebtedness is paid? Enough is enough!

The Matter of Glass Houses

In response to a letter in the Dec. 5, '84 edition of the Times I quote, "This letter is not meant to step on any toes or point any finger, but is just a reminder to us all that when we take our shopping (our money) out of our community, we, the community, have to pay a price."

I couldn't agree more, however, I will venture to say this lady, like all others in the past and now in the present, has been seen or can be seen in Huntington, Ashland, Lexington, Pikeville and etc. shopping. At any given time if one wants to take the time to stand on the street in any neighboring city, you will see someone from Paintsville and Prestonsburg shopping. If we live in a glass house, we should be careful about throwing rocks. If this lady has never shopped anywhere except Prestonsburg, she is a rare exception and should be commended.

JAMES WILLIAMS
Williamsport, Ky.

The Traffic Problem

Less than one year ago, I, along with several other concerned citizens, remarked that the traffic is a serious problem in downtown Prestonsburg. My attention was focused on a considerably different stretch of road than the city council acted on.

In this ever-growing community, it is apparent that every approach to Prestonsburg could be renovated, but I fail to understand why the city council chose the best approach first. Will it take another accident at the north end of town for someone to realize that maybe a mistake was made?

I realize that council members are doing what is best for the community, but maybe they should consider what might be best for the people.

Postmaster Receives Award

Soon after his return to this county from military service during World War II, Mont Gibson became postmaster at Dana, and for 42 years he has been on the job.

In recognition of his service Mr. Gibson was presented a Forty-Year Pin by the U.S. Postal Service. Harry Hall, MSC manager-postmaster at Ashland, presented the award Nov. 21. In his letter of commendation to the Dana postmaster Hall wrote: "I join with your co-workers throughout the 13 states of the Central Region in marking the completion of forty years of significant and commendable service."

What's Cooking for the Holidays

By ANN LATTA

Irene Hayes, of Hueysville, whose "What's Cooking in Kentucky" has been a mainstay of Floyd county kitchens for several years, has brought out a brand new cookbook just in time for Christmas gift-giving or entertaining.

Appropriately entitled "What's Cooking for the Holidays," it will be a pleasure to give or receive, from its bright red, hard plastic cover through its nearly 400 pages of recipes.

The new book is the result of 15 years of collecting recipes, Mrs. Hayes said, and while its theme is holiday entertaining, its use will certainly be year-round.

Old favorites will be found in the new book—like baked chicken and dressing—although Mrs. Hayes said she has tried not to duplicate any recipes from her previous editions of "What's Cooking in Kentucky." And new ones reflect a modern, as well as more cosmopolitan selection.

There are recipes for microwaving, like Peanut Butter Fudge, and international selections, from Japanese fruit pie to Swedish nuts, perhaps served with Mexican Coffee (microwave).

The greatest pleasure for cooks, however, will be the rich selection of holiday treats. If you're the type who likes to browse through cookbooks, this is the one you will pull out around Thanksgiving and thumb through till Christmas.

You will find a complete holiday dinner in here, and the choice may be hard to make. There are several recipes for turkey stuffing (like apple, corn bread or wild rice), different ways of preparing corn pudding or sweet potatoes, and a wide selection of pumpkin pies from apple butter to walnut crunch.

Recipes will suit both the novice cook and the old hand. For instance, if you've never cooked a turkey, you'll find the complete instructions here.

"What's Cooking for the Holidays" will also be a delight if you like to give food gifts at Christmas, with a treasury of items like small fruit cakes, candies, breads and jams.

One aspect of the new book that may bother old fans of Mrs. Hayes, particularly in this area, is that she has not put in the names of contributors to her book this time. Since many of her past recipes were collected from Eastern Kentucky cooks, part of the fun was trying out favorite dishes of old friends.

Mrs. Hayes said she omitted names in order to give the book a less regional flavor, and also to get more recipes in it. With nearly 900 recipes, perhaps the names won't be missed.

"What's Cooking for the Holidays" is available at several local businesses or can be ordered by sending a check or money order for $14.95 to the T.I. Hayes Publishing Company Inc., P.O. Box 98, Hueysville, Ky. 41640.)

CARD OF THANKS

We want to thank everyone who was so kind and considerate upon the passing of our loved one, Melvin McCown. We thank those who sent food and flowers, or spoke with kindness to us, and we especially thank the Riverview Nursing Home, the Regular Baptist Church members and ministers, and the R.S. Jones and Sons Funeral Home.

TO MEET DEC. 18

The Floyd County Soil Conservation District will meet Tuesday, Dec. 18, at 1 p.m. The meeting will be held in the district office at 105 Court Street. All interested persons are invited to attend.

To Wed December 21

Mr. and Mrs. Delano Ousley, of Printer, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lisa Lynn Ousley, to Jack Ousley, son of Mrs. Estill Ousley, of Manton, and the late Mr. Ousley.

The bride-to-be was graduated from Allen Central High School, attended Mayo State Vocational School and is presently employed by Burchett & Bottoms, P.S.C., of Prestonsburg.

The groom was graduated from Prestonsburg High School, attended Prestonsburg Community College and is presently employed at T.W.O.B. Coal Co.

The Salisbury Methodist Church will be the setting of the candlelight wedding, December 21, at 7 p.m. The custom of open church will be observed.

"The Star Spangled Banner," when first published, bore the title "The Defense of Fort McHenry."

(A consumer fraud alert in the public interest issued by the Jewelers Vigilance Committee, a non-profit industry supported association organized to promote ethical practices.)

Exaggerated discount claims are always suspect. Deep discounts, when frequently offered by a store, may not be discounts at all.

You should question the higher price which is often described as the "regular," "former," "compare at," or other comparative price.

Is that discounted price one at which the item actually sold? Or is it a fictitious price that is meant to mislead you into believing you are getting a bargain???

Here it is. The One Piece Furniture to Build a Room.

If your bedroom would hold only one piece of furniture — this could be it. For the majesty of the Chateau d'Orleans Armoire is truly impressive. Nearly 50" tall, over four feet wide, with three wide and two shelves of storage that seem impossible to fill.

There's even a cedar-lined sweater blanket drawer. All that storage, but your armoire only takes 49 inches of space.

And there's more. Like the floral carved raised door panels and curved bottom carefully finished by American Drew in choice of Vanilla Antique or Fruitwood.

Come and see the classic French Chateau d'Orleans Armoire — a beginning for a beautiful new room.

Mrs. Ella Lee Bradley announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Susan Kathleen, to Mr. Joseph McKinley Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen, of Garrett. Miss Bradley is the daughter of the late Rudolph Bradley. The wedding will be solemnized at the Garrett Methodist Church at 2 p.m. Saturday, December 29. The gracious custom of open church will be observed, and a reception will follow at the church reception hall.

MAYTOWN NEWS

The Maytown First Baptist Church announces its Christmas play will be held Sunday, Dec. 23, at 6 p.m. Mrs. Jim Wallen and Mrs. Jackie Halbert are the directors.

Mr. and Mrs. Asie Hayden, of Thealka, were the weekend guests of their daughter, Mrs. Tommy E. Webb, and Mr. Webb, last weekend.

A group from the Maytown United Methodist Church attended "Klear Day" at The Centenary United Methodist Church in Lexington last week. Those attending were Bertha Ratliff, Myrtle Ratliff, Lula Bradley, Mosaleete Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Martin, Larry Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Allen, Joy Wells and Denise Queen.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Coburn have returned to their home in Dallas, Texas after spending two weeks here visiting Mr. and Mrs. James E. Allen and other relatives and friends in this area.

Everyone is invited to attend a Candlelight Communion Service at the Maytown United Methodist Church on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Bill Day has been confined to her home with a severe case of flu.

Mrs. Earl E. Webb, Mrs. Steve Webb, Mrs. Lula Webb and Mrs. Thurmal Click were shopping in Corbin, last Tuesday. Clem Martin has been a patient at Our Lady of the Way Hospital for observation.

Mrs. Tommy E. Webb was shopping in Huntington, Saturday. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Asie Hayden, of Thealka.

Miss Elizabeth Ann Halbert, student at the University of Louisville, spent the weekend at home. She was accompanied by Miss Shelly Thomas, also a student at U. of L.

Kathryn and Bobby Reffitt, young children of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Reffitt, were recent patients at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Halbert entertained in honor of their son, Stephen's 20th birthday, Sunday at their home. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Patton, Tim and Nikki and Jerry Patton of Prestonsburg, Elizabeth Ann Halbert and Shelly Thomas of Louisville, Pam Ison, Martin, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Patton, Wesley Halbert, Stuart Halbert and Miss Bridgett Bentley.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Bailey visited his aunt, Mrs. Mae Ball, who is a patient at a Salyersville Rest Home.

Retired Kentuckians May Find Employment In Training Program

A training project is available statewide for retired Kentuckians who have communication skills plus knowledge of and interest in improving the lives of older persons, according to the University of Kentucky Council on Aging.

Following a refresher course, retired educators will conduct workshops for agency personnel who provide care for older people.

A $100,000 federal grant will be used to fund the project. Participants must agree to receive 26 hours of training in one of five subjects and then conduct up to two workshops a month for six months. Honorarium for this will be $500 plus expenses.

The subject areas are home health care/nursing, consumer economics, drugs and medication practices, coping skills and adaptation, and nutrition and food preparation.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Phyllis S. Hanna, University of Kentucky Council on Aging, telephone (606) 257-8138.

Recovery Room and Out-Patient Services Supervisor Nancy Hall, RN, and Surgical Aide Leatha Osborne unpack and store supplies in Highlands Regional Medical Center's new out-patient surgery area. OPS moved into the new area the weekend of Nov. 30, and is one of several departments that have moved into new quarters as part of the $10 million renovation of the Medical Center.

Highlands Regional Medical Center's $10 million expansion is nearing completion, and several departments have moved into their new facilities since their highly-publicized move of the Emergency Department on Oct. 1.

Surgery, including the operating room, out-patient surgery and recovery room, moved into new areas, the weekend of Nov. 30.

"The new areas are much bigger as well as more strategically located," said Lois Burchett, R.N., director of Surgical and Ambulatory Care at Highlands Regional. "The moves went very smoothly. In fact, we had an emergency C-section come up while the moves were in progress, and the operation was done without a hitch in the new operating room."

The Respiratory Therapy Department has also moved into new quarters on the second floor, above the main lobby. While this is not actually part of the expansion, it is part of the renovation project as a whole.

"Our new facilities are much more spacious than the old," said RT Technical Director Alex Killion. "We now have much more room in which to work, plus the capability of housing new equipment. It all means we can do an even better job of helping patients with breathing difficulties cope with them and live their lives to the fullest."

Radiology, or x-ray, is moving into new quarters on the first floor of the addition. "We're spreading the total move out over a matter of weeks," said Ken Addington, technical director of radiology. "This is helping us do it smoothly, with no interruption in patient services at all. Our new area gives us both more space and a better layout. Each individual job should now take less time, saving time for patients as well as for us."

HRMC Construction Engineer James Y. "Sonny" Goble says the renovation is more than 95 percent complete. "We should be completely finished with construction by Jan. 15, and that's more than a month earlier than the contract calls for," Goble said.

HRMC is currently planning an open house to give the public a chance to see how the renovation will improve health care in the Big Sandy. The open house is tentatively scheduled for late January.

GIMME! GIMME!

By WILMAY

As the Yuletide season approaches what will it mean? Though the celebration is of pagan origin, it has too much blessed significance, too many beautiful aspects to think of its abandonment, but doesn't its image become more tarnished yearly because of the way it's exploited commercially and socially sometimes? Once its facets were confined to a reasonable period of time. There was more emphasis on the moral and spiritual aspects in many homes and churches than exists today.

As millions pray for revival across the U.S. we should think about plans to celebrate the birth of the Savior. Will it be a self-centered thing? What will Santa bring me? Will I get what I want or need? Who will give me what? Will we be ready, relaxed, or too exhausted to worship its central figure, or will we elevate Jesus on this holy day, since he was the greatest of all gifts?

Will children be helped to remember the less fortunate? How many will learn it's more blessed to give than to receive, that—in the words of an unknown poet—"Happiness is like rare perfume inside you on a shelf, when you rub some on the other fellow, you spill a lot on yourself." How many in church, civic, and other philanthropic festivities in lieu of exchanging gifts will send something to veterans, prisoners, orphanages, or hospitals? How many will fill boxes marked "His" or "Hers" with gifts to nursing home occupants rather than draw names for each other? Instead of elaborate repasts for such occasions how often do we send the sums saved to a needy family who lack employment, survive on food stamps, and wonder if they can make it all winter?

Failure to do such may sometimes be attributed to the love of luxuries and the crass materialism that characterize this century, whose theme song, some think, is, "Keep up with the Joneses; outshine or outdress others, look out for Number One," etc. Often individuals, families, and nations succumb to love of the dollar and power, forgetting the hall marks that made this land the greatest in the shortest time of any country in history, its moral and spiritual values of by-gone days, being slowly revived today. Then little sins lead to big ones, many ignoring the Savior whose birthday we should commemorate in Christlike manner.

Children become so enamored with the gifts, glitter, tinsel, and lights of galas that some hear nothing about the true light! Some have no idea that millions of youngsters are starving abroad, that famine might occur here one day. God forbid! What a golden opportunity Ethiopia—via news media—provides today to teach little and young folks to care and share. That's what God did when he sent his Son to earth on the lengthiest journey, to make the longest visit (33 years) ever made in the world, to offer salvation to all mankind, including the worst reprobate, inebriate or terrorist. God cared and shared. Do we? How much? There is a spiritual awakening over America because morality here appears to have reached its lowest ebb. Still, every electronics evangelist of note—even Dr. Billy Graham, the giant of giants—reports fewer contributions. Perhaps hard times and the uncertainty of the international economic picture are responsible, at least in part. The question is not what or how much we present to family and friends, but how much we give the Babe in the manger, in our donations and of self. Why give him the leftovers in time and contributions to his magnificent causes when he gave himself, voluntarily, gladly? Why?

This does not imply less to loved ones but more to others. After all, Christmas is a time of joy, and that small word means J for Jesus first, O for Others next, and Y for you (and me, or self) last.

God bless!

The English of the 15th to 17th centuries believed that the color red was helpful to the sick. Patients were dressed in red nightgowns and surrounded with red objects.

Miss Akers, Mr. Davis Exchange Vows

The open church wedding of Miss Gwen Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Akers, of Dana, Ky., to Mr. Craig Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Davis, of Banner, Ky., was solemnized at 4 p.m., Saturday, July 21, at the Boldman Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. Arnold B. Johnson officiated at the double-ring ceremony, and the vows were exchanged before the altar with a background of arched candelabra decorated with greenery of sprengeri, ivy, and fern accented with baby's breath.

Mr. Steven Rice, pianist, played selections of wedding music and sang "Truly," "We've Only Just Begun," and other songs. Debbie Bradley, organist, played the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a taffeta gown styled with a high neckline, sheer yoke, and camelot sleeves. The bodice was accented with re-embroidered lace and seed pearls, and the full skirt and cathedral train featured Austrian gathers with lace detail. Her hat, with turned up brim and satin band, was covered in imported alencon lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids surrounded by pink miniature roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Diana Sue Hall, of Grethel, Ky., was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Chris West, of Blaine, Ky., Miss Michelle Davis, of Stambaugh, Ky., and Miss Jennifer Flint, of Offutt, Ky. They wore identical ankle-length dresses of dusty rose taffeta with matching halo-shaped headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of an orchid surrounded by pink miniature roses draped with ivy.

Miss Michelle Carpenter and Miss Myra Akers, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore dresses similar to those of the bridesmaids and each carried a basket of white and pink rose petals.

Mr. Bennie Michael Lafferty, of Allen, Ky., served as best man, and Mr. Brett Davis and Mr. Barry Davis, brothers of the groom, both of Banner, and Mr. Brian Akers, of Grethel, Ky., were ushers. Shane Carpenter and Jason Akers, nephews of the bride, were ringbearers.

Mrs. Akers attended her daughter's wedding in a dusty rose street-length dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. Mrs. Davis mother of the groom, wore a mauve street-length dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Myrtle Akers, paternal grandmother of the bride, was unable to attend the wedding, but received a corsage of white miniature roses. Mrs. Bertha Williams, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a rose street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white miniature roses. Mrs. Mildred Davis, paternal grandmother of the groom, wore a lavender street-length suit with matching accessories, and Mrs. Sylvia Hall, maternal grandmother of the groom, wore a burgundy and white street-length dress with matching accessories. Their corsages were of white miniature roses. Mrs. Davis was accompanied by her husband, Mr. E.P. Davis.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. The bride's table was centered with two four-tiered wedding cakes connected by an archway beneath which a fountain bubbled with rose-colored water. Mrs. Denise Isaac presided at the register. The newlyweds are residing at Dana, Ky.

1st Presbyterian Church Sets Annual Yule Program

The annual Christmas program of the First Presbyterian Church will be held on Sunday, December 16, at 7:30 p.m. Involving the Children's Choir and the Presbyterian Kids, the program is a Christmas musical drama for young voices, entitled "Hark the Herald Angel." The play gives us an imaginative view of the excited preparations in heaven for the announcement of Jesus' birth. Tod Custer is production director, with Judy Diabo assisting. Directing the choirs is Elma Jessen, with Ella Faye Music, Tim Jessen, and Caroline Owens as accompanists.

Preceding the program, the Christmas dinner will be held at 6 o'clock, under the direction of the board of deacons.

The public is invited to share in these special Christmas events.

PLAN CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The Chancel Choir of the Community United Methodist Church, under the direction of Paul Smith, will present a Christmas cantata, next Sunday, at 11 a.m., entitled "A Reason to Rejoice." The pianist will be Mrs. Linda Smith, and the organist will be Mrs. Clara Baldrige. A welcome is extended to the public to attend.

To Wed Christmas Day

Mr. and Mrs. James Houston, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Trina, to Mr. John Dotson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Lee Dotson, of Prestonsburg.

The bride is a senior at Prestonsburg High School, and the groom, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School is in the United States Navy, stationed at Great Lakes, Illinois.

The wedding will take place at 6 p.m., Tuesday, December 25, at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, with the Rev. Steve Hopkins officiating. A reception will follow immediately after the ceremony. The custom of open church wedding will be observed, and all friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Social Events

DOCIA B. WOODS, SOCIETY EDITOR

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 was held the evening of Dec. 4, with the noble grand, Miss Kelly Sue Moore, presiding. Cards were sent to members who were ill. A report on the recent district meeting was given by Mrs. Mary Zemo. The final nomination and election of officers was held, as follows: Mrs. Nancy Duff, noble grand; Mrs. Sue Moore, vice noble grand; Mrs. Mabel Jean LeMaster, secretary; Mrs. Doris Miller, treasurer. Installation of the new officers will be held January 15, at 7 p.m.

The annual Christmas party will be during the next regular meeting time, which will be Tuesday evening, Dec. 18. A potluck dinner will be held at 6 o'clock prior to the meeting. Each member is asked to bring food of her choice.

Present for the last meeting were Kelly Sue Moore, Nancy Duff, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Violetta Wright, Paulena Owens, Sue Moore, Maman Leslie, Hope Whitten, Virginia Goble, Dorris Miller, Norma Stepp, Mary Zemo, Loretta Akers, and Wanda Justice.

TELLS WORK SCHEDULE

Mrs. Eva Collins, president of the Local Churchwomen has announced that the women of the First Baptist Church here are scheduled to work in the Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry at Archer Park, during the month of December, and asks that those interested in working for one or more days during this month to call her at 886-2126.

HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

Women of the First United Methodist Church held their annual Christmas party, Dec. 3 in the church parlor. This was a festive occasion, with a table decorated in keeping with the holiday season and holding an array of appetizers and desserts brought by members. Money for the Methodist Children's Home was placed in a gift box. The president, Mrs. Rose Glenn, expressed her appreciation to the group for their help during her time as president, and gave a special pin award to her vice president, Mrs. Hope Whitten, for her outstanding service and help.

Mrs. Glenn presented the pastor, the Rev. Lowell Langefeld, as speaker for the evening. Rev. Langefeld spoke on "The Gifts of Christmas."

Officers for the year 1985 were installed by Mrs. Glenn and Rev. Langefeld as follows: Mrs. Dorothy Wells, president; Mrs. Dot Marshall, secretary, and Mrs. Geneva Carter, treasurer.

Those attending were Clara Bradbury, Virginia Shivel, Elsie Stephens, Orpha Meece, Judy Kittle, Betty Langefeld, Fannie Rannels, Mabel Jean LeMaster, May Kay Roberts, Kathy Harris, Dorothy Harris, Virginia Jeffries, Maurine Mayo, Elizabeth Ramey, Margaret Alley, Roberta Davidson, Geneva Carter, Ellen Messer, Dot Marshall, Victoria Spradlin, Josephine Fields, Jane Wallace, Anna May Mellon, Ann Alley, Willia Mae Branham, Hope Whitten, Carlos Haywood, Mary Jane Brown, Stella Spurlock, Douglas Perry, Sally Goebel, Gladys Blackburn, Dorothy Stover, Nancy Webb, Rose Glenn, Edna Carol Greenwade, Vera Ford, Dorothy Wells, and the Rev. Lowell Langefeld. Despite the inclement weather, and after most other activities had been cancelled, members of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club held their annual Christmas party, at the home of their president, Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, on May's Branch Road, last Thursday evening, December 6, with Mrs. Ramey and other members of the club's executive board, Miss Betty Rowland, and Mesdames Arnita Snavelly, Barbara Dawson, Sharon Sparr, Dorothy Harris, Carolyn Traum, Joyce Allen, and Docia Woods as hostesses. The house was decorated in keeping with the Christmas season.

The speaker, Charles Neeley, youth director at the First United Methodist Church used as his topic, "Something about Mary."

From a table covered with a white imported linen cloth the hostesses were assisted by Miss Kathy Harris and Mrs. Margaret Harris in serving to Mesdames Dorothy Stover, Mabel Brown, Judy Kittle, Dorothy Burke, Nancy Martin, Boots Adams, Eileen Burchett, and Sandy Burchett.

The January meeting will feature a "white elephant" sale, with Leonard Grant as the auctioneer. Mrs. Garnett Fairchild will be the program leader.

ATTEND ANNUAL MEET

Among those from Prestonsburg who attended the World-wide Equipment annual meeting at the Marriott Hotel, in Lexington recently were Judy and Ron Hooker, Judy and Terry Dotson, Joan and Larry Whitt, Carolyn and Randy Polk, Sue and Wendell Wells, and Chuck and Glenda Hughes.

BAPTISTS IN MEETING HERE

Baptist pastors and Sunday school workers from throughout this area held their monthly executive board meeting and dinner at the Annex building of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church, Monday evening, Dec. 3. Prior to the meeting, women of the Annie Allen Circle, W.M.U., Mesdames Eva Collins, Ruby Garrett, Docia Woods, Ora Bussey, Patti Minns, Dolly Petrey, Lucy Regan and Sarah Laven served dinner. The Rev. Jack Palmer, director of Missions, from the Baptist Sunday School Department, Middletown, Ky., spoke on "Being Involved in the Sunday School Growth Campaign." Signing the guest register were these ministers and Sunday school workers: Jack Palmer, Middletown; Don McGuire, director of Missions for this area; Earl Waugh, of Allen; Tommy Thomas, and Bill Ditty, Auxier; Jennings West, Lancer; Bonnie Tackett, Lowmansville; Iris Blair, Lodine Sturgill, Irene Spradlin, William Spradlin, Bonnie Adams, and Paul Picklesimer, all of West Van Lear; Shumay Martin and Ron Kinzel, McDowell; Charles Milam, Paintsville; Brenda Akers, George Akers and Grey Sammons, Warfield; Carl Baldrige, West Liberty; Steve Hopkins, Robert Goodwin, Robin Childers, Tarey Conn, Hal Midkiff, and Lucy Regan, of the host church, and John Woods, of Fitzpatrick Baptist Church.

CALLED FROM LEXINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Evans, Jr., of Lexington, were here during the weekend, enroute to Lackey, where they were called due to the death of Mrs. Evans' mother, Mrs. Mary Collins.

COMMUNION SCHEDULED

Christmas Eve communion will be held at the First United Methodist Church, from 5 to 7 p.m.

OCUPIES PULPIT HERE

The Rev. and Mrs. W.D. Jagers, of Cynthiana, spent the week-end here as the Rev. Jagers preached from his old pulpit at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church. He served as supply pastor in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Steve Hopkins, who was leading a revival in Ohio.

To Wed December 29

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Goble, of Prestonsburg, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Lana Goble, to Mr. Joseph L. Slaughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Slaughter, of Crestwood, Kentucky. Miss Goble and Mr. Slaughter are both students at University of Louisville.

The marriage will be solemnized at 4:30 p.m., Saturday, December 29, at the Crestwood Baptist Church, and immediately following the ceremony, a reception will be held at The Murphy House in Louisville.

The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

TO PRESENT ANNUAL PROGRAM

The Prestonsburg Honor Choir, with Mrs. Elizabeth Frazier as director, will present their annual Christmas program, next Monday, at 7 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church. Performing with the Honor Choir will be the Boys' Chorus of the Prestonsburg Elementary School. The public is invited.

ENTERTAIN CHOIR MEMBERS

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith entertained the Chancel Choir of the Community United Methodist Church and their guests with a candlelight dinner in Fellowship Hall of the church, Saturday evening. Approximately 35 persons enjoyed their hospitality.

TO PRESENT CANTATA

The Christmas cantata, "O, Magnify the Lord," will be presented at the Irene Cole Memorial (First) Baptist Church by choirs of the church next Sunday at 5:30 p.m., with Gus Kalos, as the director. The Lord's Supper will be observed during the cantata after which a reception for the pastor, the Rev. Steve Hopkins and family celebrating their first anniversary with the church, will be held.

ANNOUNCES DINNER

Mrs. Jane Bond, president of the Prestonsburg Kiwanians, reminds members there will be a Christmas luncheon and program at May Lodge, Thursday, Dec. 20, at noon. Miss Elizabeth Frazier and pupils from the Prestonsburg Elementary School will render a program of Christmas carols. Instead of bringing gifts for exchange, members are asked to make donations for the Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry here.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Q. My sister and I just found out that our mother has cancer of the uterus. Is uterine cancer one of the cancers that runs in families? What are the risk factors for cancer of the uterus?

A. Although no direct cause has yet been identified, a family history of cancer of the uterus is not believed to increase a woman's risk for this disease. A number of other factors appear to be more important.

Cancer of the uterus is the third most common cancer of women in the United States. During the 1970s, the incidence of this cancer increased. Now, both the incidence of and the death rate are dropping off. The average woman's risk of developing uterine cancer over her lifetime is 2.4 percent. It is most often diagnosed in women between 60 and 70 years of age.

Some of the important risk factors for uterine cancer include obesity, giving birth to few or no children, early start to menstruation, late age at menopause and high socio-economic status. Most of these risk factors are linked to hormone imbalances, especially excess estrogen being produced. Specifically:

—Obese women are twice as likely to develop cancer of the uterus as women of normal weight. This risk increases with more weight.

—Women who have never had children are at a high risk, particularly those who have a history of infertility. Women who have four or more children are one-third as likely to develop uterine cancer as these women.

—Post-menopausal women who use estrogen replacement therapy to control symptoms of menopause may be at increased risk. The risk increases with length of use and dosage. A recent decrease in the use of replacement estrogens is linked with the decrease seen in uterine cancer cases.

For more information on cancer of the uterus call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER, and ask for What You Need to Know About Cancer of the Uterus. Or write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 915 South Limestone Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The call, the information and all materials are free of charge.

Democratic Candidate For

FLOYD COUNTY SHERIFF

1. A program to give deputies formal training in arrest, search and seizure, and filling out accident reports.
2. Create a detective position for investigating breaking and entering as well as drug investigations.
3. 24-Hour dispatching in the Sheriff's Department. (So the Department can respond to calls.)
4. Work with Civic Organizations on the drug problem as well as working with the teachers on a program for alcohol and drug abuse in the school system.
5. Apply the money received from serving papers to update the department with better equipment.
6. Turn the Sheriff's percentage of the tax money over to fiscal court so a realistic budget can be worked out.
7. Develop a program to receive federal and state grants.

In the months ahead I hope to discuss these and other issues with all the people of Floyd County.

Bassin' Buddies Hold Year's Last Tournament

The Bassin' Buddies bass club finished the season Saturday, November 17 at Dewey Lake with a make-up tournament.

With the temperature around 30 degrees, the ride to the first fishing hole as the tourney began at 9 a.m. was quite an experience. Things improved during the day, however, as the thermometer slowly rose to about 50.

The fish were holding pretty tight to cover because of a front that had just passed through and although several small fish were taken on crankbaits, the larger bass seemed to want a spinnerbait or jig 'n pig fished real S-L-O-W.

All in all things went relatively smoothly as no one froze to death and several fish were weighed in.

Final results were: Tee Watkins and J. R. Frisby, first place with 2 lbs. 9 ozs.; second place, Greg Stumbo and Tom Martin with 1 lb. 5 ozs.; and third to Delbert Ison and James Stout with 1 lb. 4 ozs.

The tournament was sponsored by Mike's 66 of Prestonsburg, Gauze Bros. Trucking Co. of Lovely, and Royal Crown Cola of Paintsville.

Every year about this time, Marlow's Country Palace throws the biggest Christmas party around for needy kids. This year he is getting a hand from Claude Maynard and the employees of Pike/Floyd Motors. This truck is really a toy collecting truck on the display floor of Pike/Floyd Motors. Anyone who can contribute is asked to bring a toy to be given away at the annual Christmas party. But you need to do it as quickly as possible; the party is December 23, Sunday, at 1 p.m. Marlow says with the numbers of kids and families who will need help for a merry Christmas, he and Santa are taking in canned goods as well for food baskets. Drop your donations off at the showroom or at Marlow's. For more information call Marlow at 432-4181.

A.W. Cox Stores In Three States To Close, Dec. 24

When the A.W. Cox Department Store closed its doors here Nov. 12, the suspicion rose that the business was a victim of the downtown business syndrome. But not so.

Last week the 75-year-old mercantile chain announced that all its stores in Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio would be closed by Christmas Eve—all the victims of slumping sales and increased competition. The closing of the store here was merely the forerunner of what was to happen elsewhere.

W.E. Cox, II, president of the chain, said A.W. Cox stores had been losing in sales volume since 1976 and that since 1981 the loss was heavier. "With the additional amount of retail competition, we felt we had to do what was best for the individual stockholders," he said. He said he did not know how many employees would be affected by the decision.

Kentucky stores, in addition to the store here, were in Paintsville, Louisa and Ashland. In West Virginia the company had stores in the Kanawha Mall at Charleston, Teays Valley, Madison, Williamson, Nitro, St. Albans, Ravenswood, Parkersburg, Princeton and White Sulphur Springs. The only Ohio store was at Gallipolis.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. 12-5-2t.

Heart Attack Fells Johnson

Gary Johnson, 34, well-known defense attorney here, was reported in critical condition in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, where he was rushed by ambulance Tuesday following a serious heart attack at his Mud Creek home the night before.

Colleagues said Johnson complained of arm and chest pains while at work Monday. He was reportedly stricken around 10 p.m. that evening and was taken by his brother, James Rodney Johnson, to the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital.

Teachers To Be Polled On Career-Ladder Views

Guiding principles proposed for a career-ladder system for Kentucky schools are being sent to all Kentucky schoolteachers, administrators and education groups for their review and recommendations.

The 14-point statement was adopted by the Career Ladder Development Committee, an advisory group named by Gov. Martha Layne Collins, at a meeting in Louisville on Nov. 29 and 30. Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald said teachers would be asked to say whether they agree or disagree with the principles proposed for the development of the career ladder and to suggest alternatives and modifications.

"A properly designed career-ladder plan can play an important role in improving the quality of classroom instruction," she said. "We want to make sure

Launch Wood Heat Safety Campaign

A major ongoing program to enhance the safety of wood heating devices is being conducted by the safety department of Kentucky Farm Bureau and KFB Mutual Insurance Company.

The program has been activated, according to Morris Johnson, executive vice president of Farm Bureau Insurance, in response to mounting evidence that unsafe installation, maintenance and operation of wood stoves, fireplaces, and fireplace inserts pose a major safety and fire risk in Kentucky.

The Farm Bureau program is focusing on efforts to educate homeowners about the importance of proper installation of stoves and inserts, safe clearances from combustible materials and regular cleaning of chimneys to avoid fires.

Johnson said the safety campaign entails preparation of special media materials for Kentucky newspapers and broadcast outlets, training of Farm Bureau insurance personnel to spot unsafe wood heat units.

A booklet covering many aspects of wood heating safety is being made available to Farm Bureau members on request. An order form for the booklet is to be included in homeowner insurance billings this fall. The same brochure will soon be available in county Farm Bureau offices across the state.

Farm Bureau has enlisted the support of the Tennessee Valley Authority in its efforts to reduce wood heat risks. TVA is considered a pacesetter in the field, and is providing printed materials and conducting staff training meetings around the state.

Farm Bureau Insurance is devoting special attention to the wood heat problem because it poses "a substantially greater risk to life and property than many other traditional fire risk factors," according to Clete Thompson, vice president of underwriting for KFB Mutual.

"A warm wood fire can be quite friendly and comforting on a winter day," Thompson said, "but it can turn quickly into a raging killer if precautions aren't taken. We want to make sure that any savings on a homeowner's heat bill doesn't turn into a tragic loss because of carelessness."

AT CAMP PENDLETON

that all teachers are given the opportunity to have their views heard as the plan is being developed."

There was overwhelming support among committee members for a key principle that gives the purpose of the plan as "improving the quality of classroom instruction, increasing the attractiveness of teaching and encouraging the recognition and retention of high-quality teachers."

Committee members were in strong agreement that the career-ladder plan should not be an alternative to an adequate base salary for all teachers.

They also agreed to be guided by the statutory provision that "any currently employed teachers may apply for admission to the professional ladder program at any time in the future or choose to remain on the current ranking system."

Several of the principles adopted by the committee define the specific requirements of a career-ladder plan. Among them is one saying that the career ladder should contain salary levels that differentiate enough to make attaining the various levels financially attractive to teachers.

The committee also said the plan should be based on continuous, comprehensive evaluation of teacher performance, both in the classroom and on other indicators associated with effective classroom practices.

It stressed that the career-ladder plan should provide appropriate training of those who evaluate teachers and that the ladder should be open for teachers to progress without arbitrary caps or quotas.

The career ladder, as envisioned by the committee, should contain an appeal process providing for prompt and impartial review, and the plan should specify a process for administration, periodic review and evaluation of the career-ladder system.

In addition, the plan should provide "transferability" of career status among Kentucky districts and enable a teacher to move to a lower level either by choice or on the basis of an unacceptable performance review, the committee said.

The committee was named as a result of legislation approved by the 1984 General Assembly and is headed by Wade Mountz, a Louisville hospital administrator. Its plan for a career ladder is to be submitted to Collins and the Interim Joint Committee on Education by July 1.

Dr. Donald Hunter, the committee's staff director, said the committee hoped to review reactions to the principles from educators in February and would then begin drafting its plan.

To Present Nutcracker Ballet

Mahoney England

The Nutcracker, one of the best-loved of all ballets, will be presented at the Prestonsburg Grade School, Saturday, Dec. 15 at 2 p.m. by Prestonsburg Community College, Department of Community Services. Featured dancers include Mahoney England, of the college, as the Sugar Plum Fairy, dancing the pas de deux with Mike Lyons, of Prestonsburg; Dawn Maynard, of Pikeville, as the Sugar Plum Doll; Sabrina West, of "Annie" fame, as the Mouse Doll; Leslie Porter, of Betsy Layne, as the Soldier Doll. Audrey Hudson, of the Dorothy Howard Dance Studio, Salyersville, will dance the Arabian. The story will be narrated by Snookie Meade, the person most responsible for bringing dance to Eastern Kentucky.

Allen Central Schedules Homecoming Activities

Allen Central High School will hold a homecoming for members of the '73-'74, '74-'75 Rebel teams as well as cheerleaders during those seasons, Friday, Dec. 14, with a reception in the cafeteria from 6-7 p.m. Homecoming festivities will be held prior to the B-team boys' game.

2-Acre Permits Set for Study

The state's Natural Resources Cabinet will begin immediately to step up enforcement actions to curb abuse of two-acre mining permits and exploration notices, according to Cabinet Secretary Charlotte Baldwin.

The Department for Surface Mining also announced that some applications for two-acre permits will be reviewed in the central offices in Frankfort instead of in the seven regional offices where technical reviews have been taking place.

"This will enable our field office staffs to spend more time on enforcement activities," Baldwin said. "Moving the two-acre review out of the field offices will not cause unmanageable delays in the permitting process now that the transition permit backlog is far behind us." The Cabinet completed (Sept. 15) the review of all permits awaiting final decisions for the primary program.

The two-acre mining permit does not require as strict a standard as a permit for a mine disturbing more than two acres. In recent months the number of two-acre permits has dramatically increased as have the instances of abuse leading to serious environmental damage. Additionally, the sale of coal from exploration sites is not allowed by law, and damage has resulted from illegal practices at these sites as well.

Pursuant to Application
Number 836-5057

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Mitch Coal Company, Inc., Minnie, Kentucky, has filed an application for a permit for an underground mining operation. The proposed operation will affect a surface disturbance of 4.75 acres and will underlie an additional 261.0 acres located 1.5 miles west of Frasure Branch in Floyd County.

The proposed operation is approximately 1.5 miles west from State Route 979's junction with Frasure Branch and located west of Mud Creek. The latitude is 37° 28' 48". The longitude is 82° 38' 56".

The proposed operation is located on the McDowell U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by: Bruce Hamilton, Grethel, Kentucky and Raymond Parsons, Grethel, Kentucky. The operation will underlie land owned by: Estill Moore, Grethel, Kentucky, Bruce Hamilton, Grethel, Kentucky, Willie Leedy, Grethel, Kentucky, Tony Tackett, Grethel, Kentucky, Raymond Parson, Grethel, Kentucky, Robert and Mannie Newsome, Grethel, Kentucky, and Curt and Marie Tackett, Grethel, Kentucky.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. Written comments, objections or request for a permit conference must be filed with the Director, Division of Permits, Sixth Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 12-12-31.

Nearly three-fifths of all children under age 18 had mothers in the labor force in March 1984; 48 percent of all children under age 6 had working mothers, according to "20 Facts on Women Workers," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

If Stumbo Wins...

Parkway Tolls Stand To Cost Jones His Job

State Rep. Gregory Stumbo, who has challenged Rep. Jim Lemaster, of Paris, Ky., for the post of House majority leader in the next General Assembly session, said last week, "The race is getting tight, and I have strong hope of winning."

And if he wins, he said, "Bob Jones will be looking for another job."

Rep. Bob Jones is chairman of the House subcommittee that recently urged the Kentucky Turnpike Authority to continue to collect tolls on the Mountain Parkway after the bonded indebtedness against the Parkway is paid off next year.

Stumbo admitted he was outraged by the proposal and the part that Jones, a Crestwood, Ky. resident whose district has no toll roads, played in suggesting that residents of Eastern Kentucky should continue to pay Mountain Parkway tolls to carry on its maintenance.

Rep. Stumbo said he was grateful for the support Eastern Kentucky House members have assured him in his race for majority leader. He termed that support "almost unanimous."

One source said the support of only Rep. Herbie Deskins, of Pikeville, is doubtful. That doubt may rise, it was said, from the fact that Deskins and Rose, the present majority leader, are roommates while attending legislative sessions.

Wildlife Group Vows To Re-Open Animal Shelter

If it is economically feasible, his group intends to re-open the abandoned animal shelter on Middle Creek, Curtis Hughes, president of the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, told members of the Prestonsburg city council Monday.

City Manager David Evans said he would try to have the 99-year lease now held by the Floyd County Humane Society transferred to the conservation group, which already manages a wildlife refuge near Martin, and members of the council pledged their support for the shelter project.

His organization's biggest problem is "stray dogs and wild dogs," said Curtis. "And wild dogs begin, as you know, with stray dogs."

Wild dogs are a major cause of injury to deer and feral cats are a threat to smaller animals such as rabbits, squirrels and groundhogs, conservationists report.

Curtis said the Floyd fiscal court has agreed to contract with the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation to run the animal shelter, which the county is required by law to provide.

In response to a lawsuit filed by an Auxier woman, Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley recently ordered the county to have the shelter operating again within a reasonable time.

Curtis said his organization expects to receive financial support from county and city governments and from the public. Members' fees and revenue from advertising in the group's publication will also go toward the shelter's operating costs, he said.

The Chesapeake Bay produces 33 percent of the U.S. oyster catch and 50 percent of the nation's tasty blue crabs, says the National Wildlife Federation. Unfortunately, the bay's recent oyster catches of about one million pounds are only a third of the averages of 30 years ago.

WHAT IS VALET PARKING?
A SHORT EXPLANATION OF VALET PARKING:

Bring your car to the west end of Court Street, just across the street from the Francis Stores, to the Prestonsburg Fire Department parking booth. They will take your car to a nearby parking lot and when you're ready to get your car—go back to the booth and ask for it. They will bring your car back to you. The parking is free; however, a nice tip is recommended to support the Fire Department. The drivers are all trained, qualified drivers. Open from 11 a.m. till 4 p.m., this type of parking has never been offered in a town like Prestonsburg anywhere in the United States...it's unique...so why not give it a try this year? You'll be glad you did and it is convenient. All other downtown parking is free, courtesy the Downtown Merchants.

About Those Delinquent Tax Notices...
Tax Bills are mailed from Sheriff's office.

One year later, if the tax bill has not been paid, the tax bills are turned over to the County Clerk.

The County Clerk can then accept payment for the delinquent bills.

It is then the County Attorney's job to see that these taxes are collected.

The County Attorney and Floyd County Fiscal Court voted at the February 17, 1984 meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court to sign a contract with Eastern Ky. Credit Exchange to collect the 1979 thru 1982 delinquent tangible tax bills.

Eastern Ky. Credit Exchange is now trying to collect 1979-1982 delinquent tangible tax bills.

Contact the Eastern Ky. Credit Exchange if you have a question. That is what the county went into contract with them for.

County Clerk

Writer Opposes State-Run Lottery

The people of Kentucky will soon be asked to supply more money for the improvement of education, and with this in prospect the suggestion of a state lottery is heard more often. The following, written by Dale S. Ditto, a Stanford, Ky. attorney, and published first in The Lexington Herald-Leader, presents a calm, effective argument against legalized gambling as a means of financing the education of youth.—Editor.

In recent months, widespread support has been voiced for state lotteries as a means of financing educational improvement. The need for improving the quality of education throughout the state is unquestioned. But does the end justify the means? Lotteries pose some serious ethical, economic and sociological problems that must be recognized.

Should government be in the business of exploiting its citizens by promoting the purchase of an item where few have a chance of winning, and most customers must lose?

Men have been prosecuted for schemes like this. The government has passed numerous statutes, such as the mail-fraud statute, to protect its citizens from fraudulent promotions where the odds are heavily stacked against winning.

Clearly a lottery being run by the private sector would be declared fraudulent criminal activity if run the way most states run them. A person has much better odds of winning in any casino or race track than in a state lottery.

Proponents of a state lottery simply view it as a revenue-raising measure. But it is an exceptionally regressive means. Our tax system is designed to raise revenue for our government with those able to pay more allocated a greater tax burden.

A lottery taxes those who can least afford it—those ignorant or gullible enough to buy a ticket. The rich are among the least likely to pay their share in the lottery for if they have the compulsion to gamble they will go to Atlantic City or Las Vegas where the odds are better.

The lottery is also a very inefficient means of raising revenue. For every dollar collected from its citizens, the government only keeps 10 cents to 30 cents. Out of the lottery revenue collected from the people, a large share must go for expenses of selling and promoting the tickets, new games and gimmicks.

The economic costs of lotteries are tremendous and have not been taken into account by many proponents. Resources of government would be diverted to managing the lottery, when they should be focused on meeting the needs of its citizens. Lotteries would have a dampening effect on all merchants since money normally spent on cars, clothes, food and furniture and appliances would now be spent on lottery tickets. The money taken from business by the lottery would have a ripple effect through our entire economy since each dollar normally spent in the economy is respent several times.

The drain on the economy would be significantly greater than the actual dollar amount spent on lottery tickets. In addition to this, the government would lose tax revenue, including income and sales taxes, from all of the money spent on lottery tickets instead of consumer goods.

If the state creates a lottery, part of society's manpower and resources would be allocated to a totally unproductive industry. Gambling creates no new wealth for society. Why not hire those persons to work in our schools rather than run lotteries?

The social costs of lotteries are staggering. While it would take extensive study by social scientists to determine the full adverse effects of gambling, one does not need to be a social scientist to know that harm is caused when poor parents spend money on lottery tickets rather than food for their children. During the large Ohio lottery a few months ago, stories circulated of people mortgaging their house and laborers spending their entire paychecks purchasing lottery tickets. Such shameful human tragedy should not be perpetrated by a government upon its people.

Society needs to examine what lotteries do to people. Lotteries create false hopes. People look to them as a solution to financial problems rather than hard work and good financial management. Thousands lose for every one who wins. Those who lose money they can ill afford may be driven to gamble more or to steal to make up losses. And those who win big often have their lives disrupted and do not feel a need to work any longer.

The moral problems of lotteries have not even been touched on. They can be most completely analyzed by ministers and theologians. But our Judeo-Christian heritage has consistently condemned gambling. And buying a lottery ticket is a gamble, a poor one at that.

Lotteries are the worst form of wealth redistribution. The state is promoting a scheme by which money is taken from thousands of people to make a few people wealthy. People place in lotteries the false hope of getting rich quick with no work. A strong and prosperous society cannot be created by exploiting this weakness in people.

Lotteries are a state invention. Abolishing them would not be like Prohibition because people are not yet as addicted to them as to alcohol. Kentucky should not adopt a lottery, and Kentuckians should boycott the lotteries in other states to encourage their abolishment.

We want our children to have the best education possible. But no amount of education can substitute for instilling the values of fairness, compassion, hard work and high moral standards. A lottery undermines these values. It is not the ticket for responsible leadership. Let's find a better way to finance the education of our children.

Lotteries are not the solution to Kentucky's financial problems. A state cannot gamble itself rich.

Has Second Birthday

David Brent Symon, son of David and Wanda Symon, of Martin, celebrated his second birthday at their home, Nov. 10.

The theme of the party was Sesame Street. A Bert and Ernie cake and an Oscar the Grouch cake were baked by his aunt, Brenda Ousley, and his mother. He received clothes, toys, and money from family and friends.

We're helping a lot of kids have a better Christmas.

This year 25 needy children from the Pikeville area will enjoy a $25 Christmas shopping spree at the expense of K mart. Children will be selected by the Chamber of Commerce and then on Saturday, December 22nd before the store opening, these 25 children will be escorted by 25 K mart employees on a shopping spree. K mart will not only be happy to pay the expense of this shopping spree for these small children, but the K mart employees are looking forward to their morning with the children. If you know of a needy child in the area, please fill out the entry blank below and drop it off at K mart by December 19th.

Entry blanks should list the child's name, address and telephone number and a short paragraph about the child. K mart will then turn the entry blanks over to the Chamber of Commerce for the selection of the 25 children.

The Kentucky Garden Journal

By Bonnie Lee Appleton
State Urban Garden & Home Horticulture Specialist
COOPERATIVE EXTENSION PROGRAM
KENTUCKY STATE UNIVERSITY

Lots of pretty things arrive in the mail at this time of year—Christmas cards and packages, new calendars, and beautifully colored 1985 seed catalogs that excite the gardener's heart, warm the gardener's blood, and thaw the gardener's frozen toes. Whether we order from catalogs or purchase at local garden centers, where do these seeds come from?

The American seed industry today is very complex and competitive. The first commercial seedsman went into business 200 years ago, in Philadelphia. Prior to that time all garden seed was imported from Europe, and was sold by general merchants, itinerant peddlers going door to door and horticulturally-oriented people. And prior to that people saved seed from their own plants, trading with friends and relatives to increase their variety. This practice began to decrease as commercially produced seed became more available and inexpensive.

Many importers found European seed inferior in quality and poorly acclimated; therefore domestic seed production began to organize. Almost all seed was grown in the eastern United States in such areas as the lower Connecticut River Valley. Shaker communities in eastern New York and western Massachusetts became well known for their high quality seed and their invention of the individual seed packet. But problems with humidity-related diseases led to a shift in seed production after 1875 to more western regions where drier climates were more conducive to disease-free seed production.

Mail order catalogs were introduced in the late 1920s. Initially, they were plain in design, lacking illustrations or color. After 1870 cover designs were added, and engravings were cut to illustrate special cultivars—many of these engravings are now being reproduced in special editions of current catalogs. Color was added to catalog covers in the late 1870s, with the late 1800s and early 1900s known as the golden age of seed catalog art.

Unfortunately, as catalog illustration and color improved, so too did the imagination of catalog artists and writers. Exaggerated pictures and descriptions became common—imagine harvesting onions the size of bowling balls! Today's catalogs may still contain hard-to-believe claims, but the photos commonly used today help one to imagine what one's own garden might produce.

Today's seed catalogs can be a veritable encyclopedia of information. In addition to planting instructions, pest resistances and harvesting times, there are often cooking suggestions, landscaping plans and a variety of garden supplies and equipment.

Many of today's seed companies are very familiar to any gardener—Burpee, Park, Northrup-King, Stokes, Ball, Gurney's, Henry Field, Hastings and more. These major companies offer wide seed and product lines, backed by plant breeders, trial gardens and frequent All American Selections awards for new and improved flowers and vegetables.

But there are many specialty seed companies catering to the ever more sophisticated home gardener. Take the Urban Farmer, Inc. of Beachwood, Ohio. Their seed is almost exclusively imported—France, Germany, Japan, England and Holland dominate their offerings. Or the Vermont Bean Seed Company, with over 140 varieties of beans, peas and corn to choose from. Our gardens can now be as diverse and exciting as the number of catalogs we can obtain.

Timely Tip: Need an inexpensive base in which to stick flowers for an arrangement or greens for a wreath. Try a white potato—it'll even provide moisture and sugars.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Josephine Martin, wife of the late Melvin (Nick) Martin, of Estill, Kentucky, announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Myra Lynn Martin, to Mr. Rondell Darrell Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rondell Lawson, of Garrett, Kentucky. Miss Martin is a 1983 graduate of Prestonsburg Community College and is enrolled in Mayo State Vocational School L.P.N. program. Mr. Lawson is a 1981 graduate of J.H. Allen Central High School and is employed by Sharpe Engineering, of Pikeville, Kentucky. The wedding will be solemnized December 22, at 4 p.m. at the Martin Branch Free Will Baptist Church, of Estill, Kentucky. The gracious custom of open church will be observed.

Drunk and Drugged Driver Crackdown Set This Week

—“D” day on Deathways will be the focal point of this year’s Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week, December 9-15.

December 14 has been designated “D” day, when police agencies from various states, including Kentucky, will make a concentrated effort to get drunk or drugged drivers off the road. This effort will include sobriety checkpoints, joint roadblocks manned by officers from neighboring states and joint enforcement efforts by state and local police on high density traffic and high accident rate roadways.

Public perception of the danger involved in drunk driving is increasing. The Third Annual Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week highlights activities not only of police agencies but also of various organizations and individuals who participate.

Kentucky Police urge all citizens to abstain from drinking and driving at all times and to be particularly aware of the dangerous combination during Awareness Week and the holiday seasons. According to a publication by the U.S.

Department of Transportation and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, a projected 1,500,000 Americans will be killed in alcohol-related crashes by the year 2000 if drunk driving fatalities aren’t reduced. This number exceeds the 1,200,000 killed in all the wars the U.S. has been involved in since 1776.

Fire Dept. Schedules Third Santa Claus Run

The Southeast Floyd County Volunteer Fire Department will stage its annual Santa Claus run on Sunday, December 16. The schedule follows:

Weeksbury Turnaround, 1 p.m.; Weeksbury Office Bldg., 1:15 p.m.; Melvin Grade School, 1:30 p.m.; Wheelwright High School, 1:45 p.m.; Wheelwright Dollar General parking lot, 2 p.m.; Branham Store, Wheelwright, 2:15 p.m.; Osborne Grade School, 2:30 p.m.; Halo Post Office, 2:45 p.m.; Buckingham Bridge, 3 p.m.

A pap clinic will be held at the Health Department today, Wednesday, December 12, from 8:30-11:30, and 1-2. This clinic is a free service of the Health Department, and is open to women of all ages. Women 45, and over are especially urged to take advantage of this service, since this is the high risk age for cervical cancer.

There will be a glaucoma screening clinic at the Health Department, Friday, December 14. This clinic is a free service of the health department and is open to persons of all ages, but those persons 40 and over are especially urged to be screened for glaucoma, since this is the high risk age for the disease.

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET
 The Abbott Homemakers held this monthly meeting Nov. 13 at 7 p.m. in the church annex building. Sharon Sparr, president, presided, and Ruby Frasure gave the devotional. The lesson on inexpensive gift-giving was presented by Sharon Sparr. Many items handmade by homemakers and Mrs. Pitts were displayed on a large table. The next lesson on twilling will be Jan. 8, 1985 at the same place and time.
 Dec. 11 at 6 p.m., the homemakers and their families will hold their annual Christmas dinner. Everyone is asked to bring a covered dish.
 Hostesses for the evening were Ettie Ratliff and Grace Conley who served homemade doughnuts and coffee to Ruby Frasure, Sharon Sparr, Francis Pitts, Christine Ross, Eukie Merritt, Cynthia Frasure, Melissa Justice. We invite others to join our club.

Celebrate 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Troy McKenzie, of Auxier, were honored on their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 7, by their children. The celebration was held at the Archer Senior Citizen Center and approximately 150 attended. The McKenzies have three children, W.D. McKenzie, Little Roch, Ark., Judith McKenzie Porter, Chillicothe, Ohio, and Martha McKenzie Justice, Pikeville; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

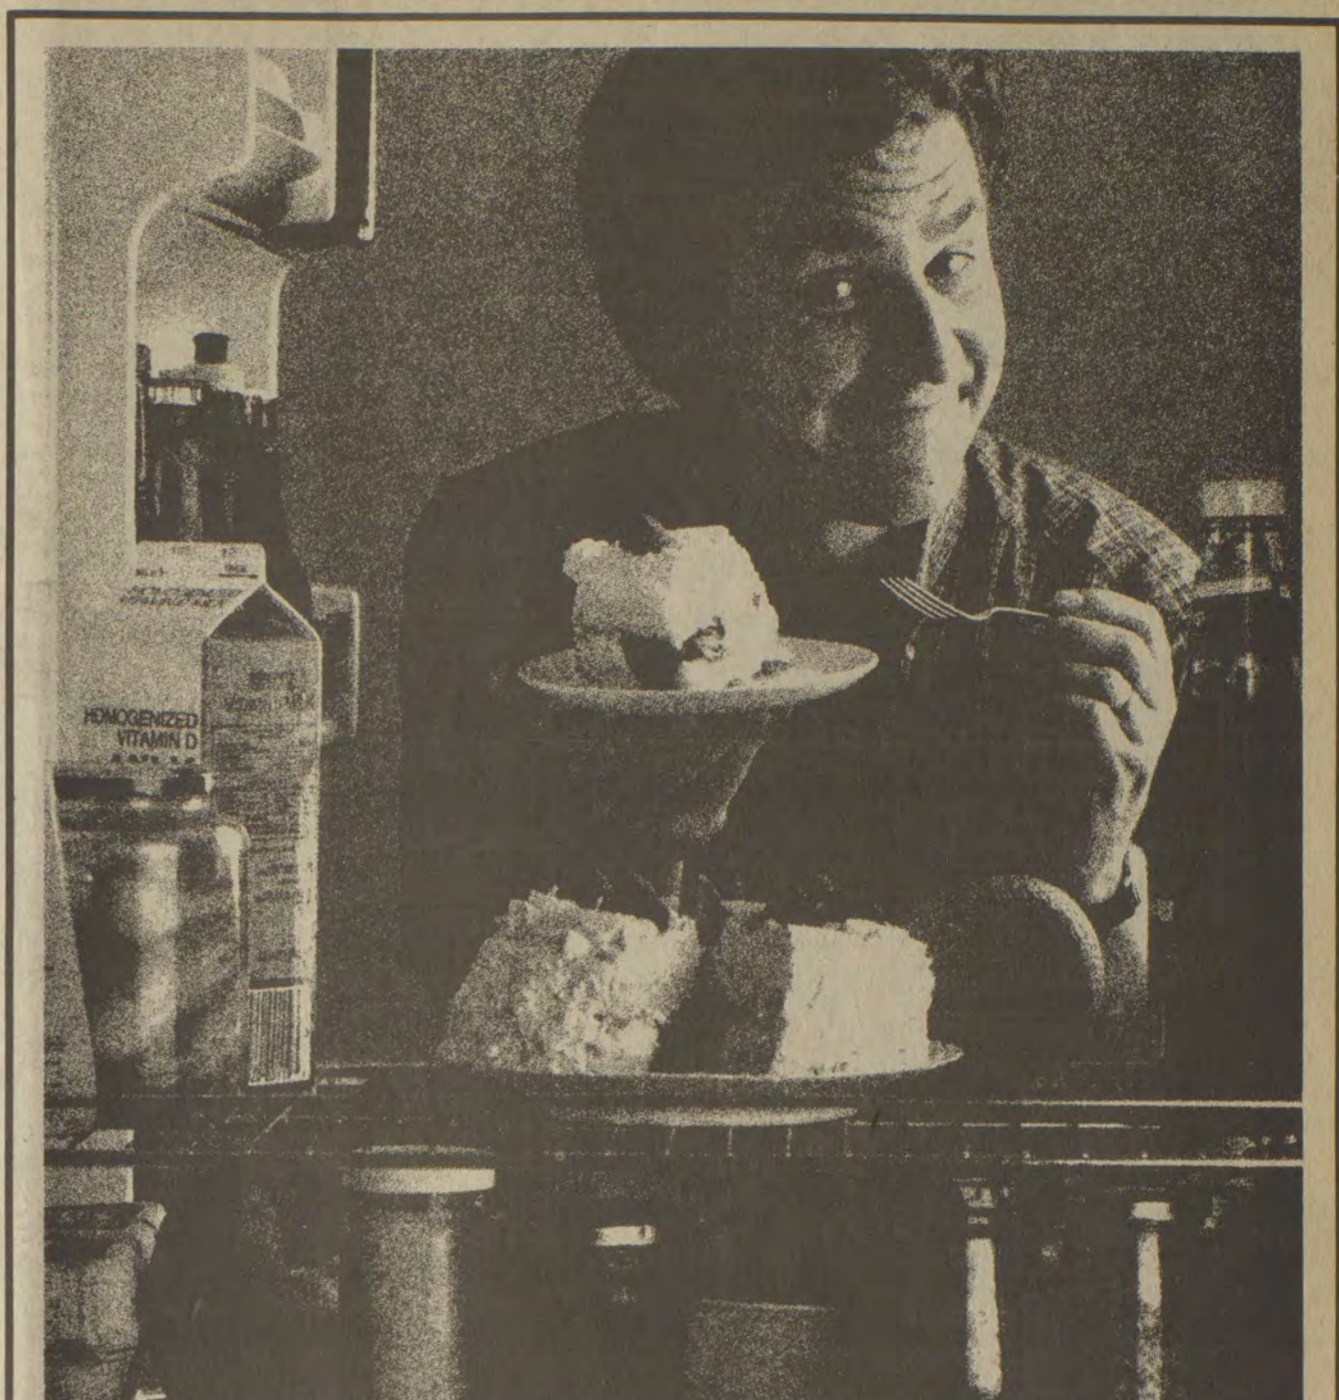

The McKenzies left, following the celebration, for a 50th anniversary honeymoon trip to Hawaii for two weeks. While there they renewed their wedding vows in Hawaiian wedding style.

People who save energy deserve a reward.

Take a bite out of your monthly electric bill by following a few energy-saving hints. You can save money by wrapping your electric water heater with an insulated jacket. Save even more by setting your water temperature at 140°F—if you don't have a dishwasher, you can set the thermostat at 120°F.

Whenever possible, use a toaster, toaster-oven or electric frypan instead of your large oven or range. Place pans on the surface of your electric range before you turn on the heat. And use lids on your pots and pans instead of leaving them uncovered. Place the items you use the most in the front of your refrigerator so you can get to them quickly without wasting too much cold air.

By using these simple tips and good common sense, you can really slim down your electric bill. Reward yourself for the money you saved, but be careful of the calories!

College Honors Veteran Teacher of 34 Years

Pikeville College has given Prof. Alma Culton special recognition for more than 34 years of continuous service. According to a citation read by Dr. Jackson O. Hall and presented by Student Government Vice-President Tracie Estep during a November 27 convocation, "...As advisor and friend, as valued colleague, and as active participant in the spiritual life of Pikeville College, Prof. Culton has served nearly nine generations of Pikeville College students."

In addition to presentation of the citation, the college-community forum included testimonials of her friends and former students.

The tribute to the veteran faculty member is all the more significant because it takes place during Pikeville College's Homecoming 1984 celebration and because Prof. Culton is teaching her final semester at the college. She plans to retire from teaching this month.

Miss Betty Rowland spent Thanksgiving with her mother, Mrs. Hattie Rowland, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rowland, in Ashland.

Clerk Insists Bill Collector Not Her Doing

If you got a letter this week saying you're behind on your local taxes, you shouldn't blame her, County Clerk Carla Boyd wants people to understand.

If fact, some county officials seemed so intent on putting distance between themselves and Mike Skaggs, the representative here for Eastern Kentucky Credit Exchange, Inc., it seemed unlikely the agent would find a desk in the courthouse to set down his ledgers.

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo insisted Skaggs will be working out of the county clerk's office, but staffers in the clerk's office were equally insistent he would have his desk in the judge's office.

There was agreement at any rate on the bill collector's telephone number—886-3820—and that's the number people should call if they have questions or gripes about their delinquent tax notices, Mrs. Boyd said.

The dunning letters mailed out last week stem from a plan approved by the Floyd fiscal court in February, by which Eastern Kentucky Credit Exchange, of Paintsville, would try to collect unpaid taxes on personal property—autos, trucks, trailers, motorcycles, boats and the like—which have traditionally been the hardest for the sheriff to collect.

State law allows private collection agencies to keep one-third of any back taxes they collect, and the Paintsville firm has contracted with the state Revenue Cabinet and various local governments to collect taxes which the sheriff has written off.

But County Clerk Boyd says the arrangement has resulted in "9000 angry citizens" in this county, many of whom have called her office, anxious about their credit rating and incensed that they were turned over to a debt collector without warning.

As the clerk explained the procedure, tax bills which are not paid when the sheriff turns over the original notice are then turned over to her. People who owe taxes may pay her, but she does not send out any additional notices. Collecting delinquent taxes, she said, is the county attorney's job.

The clerk has no quarrel with the county's decision to turn the task over to a private agency, a method she acknowledges "has proven effective in other counties." But she wants people to understand, nevertheless, that "in no way did the county clerk have anything to do with this action."

Meanwhile, Stumbo was making no apologies for the decision. "People received a tax bill; the delinquent bills were later published in the newspaper; I don't see how they can say they got no notice," he said.

What's more, the judge noted, the money involved makes the effort to collect back taxes well worthwhile: tangible taxes unpaid from 1979 through 1982 amount to $722,163. With late charges and interest added, the bill comes to $1,070,366.

Senate Panel Endorses Ford Budget Plan

U.S. Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., said he is pleased that a special U.S. Senate committee recently adopted his proposal for a two-year federal budget cycle.

The plan was included in a list of recommendations the committee announced November 28 in its effort to streamline the Senate's operation and procedures.

The special panel, the Temporary Select Committee To Study the Committee System, was co-chaired by Ford. Most of the proposals made by the committee involve Senate improvements, such as limiting the number of committees and subcommittees on which a senator may serve.

The Ford-backed plan adopted by the panel recommends that the entire budget process be studied, with emphasis on identifying legislation needed to begin a two-year budget cycle. The study, to be done by a temporary Senate committee would be presented within six months to the full Senate for possible legislative action. The committee will be temporary and will rely on existing Senate staff.

Defendant's Flight Cancels Trial Here

The jury had not been selected for the trial of Albert O. "Buddy" Gibson in Floyd Circuit Court last Wednesday when court officials learned that the defendant had fled the courtroom.

A bench warrant was issued for his arrest, meaning that Gibson, 49, could now face a contempt of court charge as well as the two assault charges and one count of wanton endangerment on which he was already due to stand trial.

Gibson's mother, Virgie Collins, of Prestonsburg, who posted a $10,000 bond guaranteeing his appearance in court, said that, while attorneys were discussing preliminary motions in the judge's chambers, Gibson formed the impression that he had already been convicted and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Gibson's attorney, Public Defender Ned Pillersdorf, said his client had no reason for such a fear. "We were ready for trial. His case was winnable. I wish he'd come back," the lawyer said.

Gibson is charged with shooting his daughter, Chandra G. Nelson, 27, in the arm with a .32 caliber revolver in an early morning incident last Jan. 13 in an Indian Hills apartment. He also faces a wanton endangerment charge for allegedly pointing a loaded, cocked gun at his mother-in-law, Dorothy Sue Branham, and an assault charge for allegedly striking Prestonsburg police officer Larry Woods with his fists.

He was a retired manager of the I. Richmond Company store here, where he had resided the last 40 years, was a Navy veteran of World War I, a member of James W. Alley Masonic Lodge at Wayland and was a 32nd degree Mason. Born Nov. 15, 1891, he was a son of Adam Peter Webb and Elizabeth May Webb and was a native of the Garrett section of this county.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Margaret Richmond Webb, of Prestonsburg; two sons, James Oliver Webb, Jr., of Prestonsburg, and William D. Webb, of Greenfield, Ind.; one brother, Henry Londa Webb, of Louisa, and one sister, Mrs. Charles Allen, of Lexington. He is also survived by three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral rites were conducted at 1 p.m. Saturday from the chapel of the Carter Funeral Home, Dr. Lowell Langefeld, pastor of the First United Methodist Church, officiating. Masonic services were conducted Thursday evening at the funeral home. Burial was in Richmond Memorial cemetery here.

Active pallbearers were David Hereford, David Hereford, II, Thomas Hereford, III, Thomas Hereford, IV, and William James May.

Russell "Shine" Hall

Russell "Shine" Hall, 78, of Prestonsburg, died Tuesday, November 27, at the Paul B. Hall Medical Center in Paintsville following a long illness.

Born March 25, 1906 in Knott county, he was a son of the late Mandeville and Clarcy Conley Hall. He was a retired miner and state worker and was a member of the Water Gap Free Will Baptist Church.

He is survived by his wife, Lora Waddles Hall, and one brother, Alex Hall, of Town Branch, Prestonsburg.

Funeral services were conducted Friday, November 30, in the chapel of the Floyd Funeral Home with Rev. Bill Campbell and Rev. Dan Heintzelman officiating. Burial was made in the Richmond Memorial cemetery, here.

Death at 93 Ends Woman's Dream Of Reopening Business of 74 Years

When Mary Patrick Collins' store at Lackey was wiped out by floodwaters from nearby Right Beaver Creek last May, she didn't quit—she simply didn't go back in business.

But two weeks ago, when Gorman Collins, Sr., of Prestonsburg, visited his 93-year-old mother, she told him and other members of the family, "I miss my store. Have a notion to put it back."

He told her they would do whatever she desired, and planned another discussion of restoring the business for last Sunday.

But the meeting was never held. Mrs. Collins died last Thursday.

Death followed a long illness, but it was an illness that never quenched her desire to be working. She began working in the Lackey store when she married its owner, the late Jonas Collins, at the age of 19. While he was engaged in other enterprises she "tended the store," and for years it was a "general store," handling almost everything, from groceries to hardware to furniture. Her husband died in 1947, but she

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear husband, dad and granddad, Virgil Smith, who passed away Dec. 11, 1983:

One year has passed since you went away. Oh, how we miss you more everyday! We miss your sweet smile and your laughter we loved to hear.

But God called you to Heaven and we couldn't keep you here. We will always remember all that loved you so much and sent beautiful flowers and cards to cheer us in our sorrow.

May God bless each and everyone to have a wonderful Christmas and New Year.

Sadly missed by wife, children and grandchildren.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Bonnie Branham.

Christmas is a special time, a time that's set apart For thinking of those who have A special place within the heart. We miss you, Mom.

Obituary Of

Hazel Newsome Hunter

By request of the family I will write the obituary of a precious Mother and Companion, Hazel Newsome Hunter, a sister in the Lord by her testimony that she told me and Brother Freddy Kidd.

Sister Hazel was born May 28th, 1926, at McDowell, Ky. She was the daughter of the late Henry Newsome and Virgie Tackett Newsome Moore. She was married to Chester Hunter, Jr. on June 1, 1942, and to this union was born seven children who they loved very much. Two daughters, Linda Carol McCarty, of Melvin, Ky., and Debra Lynn Damron, of Pikeville, Ky. Five sons, Larry Dean Hunter, Terry Ray Hunter, Freddie Harold Hunter, Roger Dale Hunter, and Chester Hunter, Jr., all of Prestonsburg, Ky. She also leaves two adopted sons, Freddie Hunter, Jr. and Charlie Miller, of Prestonsburg, Ky. She leaves 15 grandchildren, one sister, Roxie Moore, of McDowell, and two brothers, Ray Moore and Edward (Josh) Newsome, both of McDowell, who she loved dearly.

I want to say to this family that Mom's suffering is over now and we feel that her soul is resting in the Paradise of Heaven. Mom has left you the greatest gift that was ever given to Man or Woman and that is she took Jesus down to the River with her. To the Children, Love one another and stay by your Father. He needs you more now that he ever did.

May God Bless you all and meet Mother in Heaven on that special day when beauty shall spring forth from the prison of clay.

Written by a Brother in the Lord, Jimmy Hall

Council Casts Wary Eye Upon New Cable Co.

If any member of the Prestonsburg City Council had hoped for signs of better things to come from the new cable television system operating here, their hopes may have been dashed during Monday night's city council meeting.

Two officials of Consolidated Cable Group (CCG, for the sake of convenience) appeared before the council and, among the first words heard by council members were, "rate increase."

A series of well-publicized conflicts between the council and CCG's predecessor, Cablentertainment, Inc., over the past several years centered around such things as poor service, poor reception and, most disturbing to the council, the seeming inability of the city to exert any real controls over the activities of the cable system here, which was instituted in the form of an exclusive franchise.

Now that a "new" company has moved in (although with many of the same officials as Cablentertainment) council members once again find themselves apparently helpless in the face of a new rate increase.

Hugh Buckner, vice-president of operations for CCG, cited a new federal ruling which allows cable systems to increase rates by five percent and he said a rate increase request will be made to become effective December 31. Prestonsburg subscribers would pay $45 more per month plus a $2.00 charge for a second household television set.

Buckner, who said "the economics of this system are very poor," said the rate increase would allow CCG to upgrade the system, a feat, he stressed, that "will not be accomplished overnight."

Councilmen Bill R. Collins and Paul Hunt Thompson expressed dismay that the cable company hadn't begun any improvement efforts or attempted any "show of good faith" before hitting Prestonsburg subscribers with a rate increase. "One of the problems with the cable system here has always been the bad attitude and lack of public relations," Thompson commented. "Now, you all seem to be continuing the same sort of thing."

City Manager David Evans said his interpretation of the federal law which allows such increases would preclude the raising of rates by a new cable company for a minimum of two years. In addition, the council approved a motion to go on record as opposing any rate increase at the present time and Evans thinks this could block CCG's request even if they are in line legally with the federal ruling.

"The franchise agreement stipulates that the cable system will not increase rates without the notification and approval of the city council," he said. "They don't have our approval and I think they would be guilty of breaking the franchise agreement if they act without our agreement."

Evans asked Marty Crawford, a CCG official who is familiar to council members through his long affiliation with Cablentertainment, why Blue Sky Motel had not been refunded money which was overcharged them by mistake and which they had agreed to pay back. Crawford replied simply that it was Cablentertainment's problem and not a concern of the new system owner here.

At the conclusion of the meeting with the cable officials, Councilman Collins said in summation: "I think this outfit is the biggest bunch of crooks this side of the state penitentiary."

The largest group of citizens at Monday's meeting attended in hopes of hearing a ruling that might resolve a long dispute in West Prestonsburg in which residents of a narrow street there claim that an annex to the Free Will Baptist Church there was built on city right-of-way and has severely restricted traffic flow. Although the city has been requested to force the church to move the structure, it was revealed at Monday's meeting that construction of the building was completed before the annexation of that area into the Prestonsburg city limits, therefore, casting doubt on the city's jurisdiction in the dilemma. City Attorney Larry Brown was given the okay by council on his suggestion that a suit for a declaratory judgment be made with the circuit court in order to determine if the matter is, legally, out of the city's hands.

In executive session, the council upgraded the ranks of three members of the police department including Patrolman Mike Ormerod to Detective Sgt., and Gerald Clark and Greg Hall from patrolmen to sergeants. Two fire department members, Mike Wells and Bob Carpenter, Jr., were promoted from firemen to sergeants.

The next meeting of the city council is scheduled for the second Monday in January.

CAN FUNERAL DECISIONS BE MADE WISELY UNDER STRESS

Not always—which is why we recommend planning your own funeral. Caught up in grief and stress, some people may be emotionally unable to cope with making funeral arrangements effectively. They may be tempted to proceed with more costly arrangements than they should. It should be noted that the psychological value of the funeral has no relationship to its costs.

Planning such arrangements may eliminate the possibility of such over-spending. Planning can be accomplished in advance of need, in an atmosphere uncharged with the emotionally distressing circumstances of bereavement. For details of planning funerals, call us—or stop by for literature.

Your questions and comments on this and other subjects are welcome—in private or publicly through this column.

Explore America's Wild Places, Creatures In Land Of Wildlife

Imagine a single country where one could find samplings of some of the world's most spectacular wildlife habitats. Rocky mountain ledges as rugged as some in the Himalayas; wind-swept grasslands as open and treeless as Argentina's pampas; scorching deserts as dry as the Sahara; and junglelike swamps as steamy as the Amazon's.

The country is America, and its natural diversity is the subject of America: Land of Wildlife, published exclusively by the National Wildlife Federation. With 160 spectacular pages, 170 color photographs, and a fascinating text, Land of Wildlife is as entertaining as it is educational.

The book explores the nation's wildlife habitats in five chapters that take an extraordinary look at the day-to-day doings in the wild.

In "Land Among the Clouds: The Mountains," the terrain varies from the alpine tundra to dry scrubland, providing habitat to endangered grizzly bears, tenacious mountain goats, stalking cougars, and lively black-capped chickadees.

The "Land of Endless Grass: The Prairies" are no longer the amazing panorama of 10 million years ago, when huge mammals roamed for miles. The grasslands are much smaller now, but they are still crucial habitat to the fleet-footed pronghorn, the burrowing badger, the shaggy bison, and the countless waterfowl that breed in the prairie potholes of the northern Midwest.

America's "Land of Little Rain: The Deserts" include places such as Desolation Canyon, Dead Horse Point, and Starvation Creek. And though seemingly harsh and inhospitable to man, the American deserts are homes to an unexpectedly rich variety of animal life. In the Great Basin Desert, for example, quick-witted coyotes find plenty to eat, as do mule deer and other grazers who descend to the basins in winter to feed on sagebrush, while raptors such as the golden eagle and the endangered peregrine falcon find food and shelter in the desert's craggy rocks.

"Land of Compromise: The Wetlands" are America's most productive habitat. Rich in food, water, and voluptuous plant growth, they are home to a teeming diversity of wild creatures including the endangered sandhill crane, the Florida panther, and herds of migrating waterfowl.

"At the Edge of the Land: The Coasts" are wildlife worlds where not water, not land, but motion is the predominant characteristic. Some creatures here, such as seals, are of both the sea and the land. And birds, such as puffins and guillemots, find the nooks of the sea's rocky shores fitting places to nest. Small tide pools provide homes for even more species such as anemones, starfish and crabs.

America: Land of Wildlife is available from the National Wildlife Federation, America: Land of Wildlife, 1412 16th St., NW, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Wells Is Named To 1985 Who's Who Listing

Jack Wells, a senior at Centre College, has been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities And Colleges for 1985.

Wells joins an elite group of students selected from more than 1,500 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Selections for Who's Who are based on a student's academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Wells is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Wells, of Prestonsburg.

Outstanding students have been honored in Who's Who since 1934.

Sub-Service Exploration Work Began At Dewey Dam

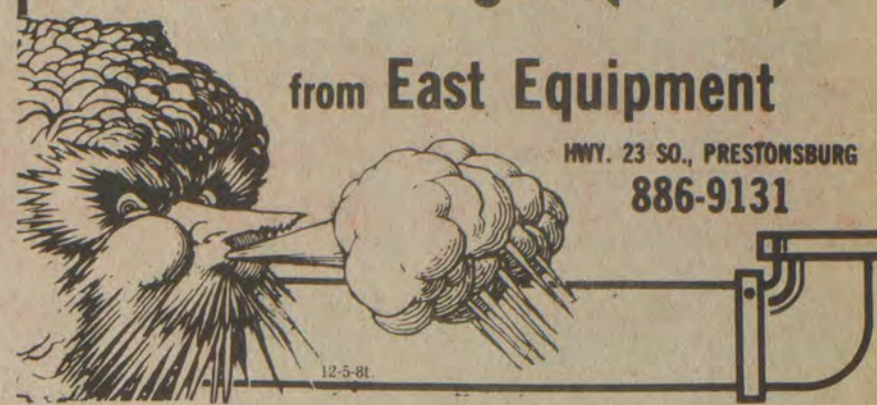

The Huntington District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announced last week that sub-surface exploration and instrumentation work at Dewey Dam is now under way.

The work supplements regular visual inspections of the project as part of the Corps' routine Dam Safety Program.

Additional work being performed at this time consists of a downstream sand filter blanket and drainage control features. This work will provide satisfactory performance of the dam at higher than normal pool levels.

The sand filter blanket construction is scheduled for completion this month. All other work is expected to be completed by the end of January.

Good News Report

By THOMAS W. PAUKEN
Director of ACTION
Much has been said about television's ability to glamorize drugs. But now, thanks to Seth Pinsker and to N. Lee Lacy Productions, the true dangers of drugs will be pointed out by some of the biggest names in Hollywood. It just proves, once again, that stars can shine on both sides of the camera.

Seth is the producer-director of a new series of public service announcements (PSAs) aimed at preventing drug use among youth.

Celebrities like Brooke Shields, David Hasselhoff, Adrienne Barbeau, Mr. T. and a bunch of "gremlins" have joined First Lady Nancy Reagan to star in the PSAs. Premiered by Mrs. Reagan at a luncheon during the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth's recent national conference, the PSAs focus on the health risks caused by several illegal drugs, especially marijuana and cocaine.

In one spot, actor Keye Luke, recreating his role as the original owner of "Gizmo" in the movie "Gremlins," gives a short lesson in the proper care and feeding of American teenagers, including never letting them use illegal drugs.

Other PSAs include Brooke Shields at a health spa, Adrienne Barbeau, star of recent horror films and the television series "Maude," in a fright over the damage drugs do to young people, and "Knight Rider," David Hasselhoff, discussing the risks of illegal drugs with his car, "Kit."

And then there's Mr. T. He's mad. Really mad. He has heard about "little kids doing drugs" and it turns his stomach."

How do high quality, big name public service announcements, confronting illegal drugs head-on, get produced in the first place?

Combine the contributions made by Warner Brothers, Universal Studios, N. Lee Lacy Productions, The White House, ACTION (the national volunteer agency), the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the Drug Enforcement Administration and the celebrities themselves. Put them under the talented direction of Seth Pinsker and you begin to get the picture.

The contributions of so many organizations and individuals represented an estimated one million dollars worth of donated talent and production services. Producer/director Seth Pinsker devoted 18 hours a day, over a period of several weeks, to ensure the success of the PSAs, and all at no cost. Why? Because he believes it's important for young people to grow up without ever using drugs, and because he knows that education combined with positive role models would get the message across to young people that drugs are bad news.

A troop of stars led by Seth Pinsker are lighting the way toward a drug-free generation. Hooray for Hollywood!

Observes 80th Birthday

In March 1984, about 61 percent of all mothers with children under 18 years of age (19.5 million mothers) were in the labor force; 52 percent of mothers with preschool children (18 million mothers) were labor force participants, according to "20 Facts on Women Workers," published by the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Department of Labor.

About 48.5 million women 16 years of age and over were working or looking for work in 1983. Ten years earlier (1973), about 34.8 million women were in the civilian labor force. Women accounted for more than three-fifths of the increase in the civilian labor force in the past decade—about 13.7 million women compared with 8.4 million men.

Drinking and driving is a definite no-no, and now a new Swedish study indicates that driving with a hangover isn't such a good idea, either. According to the September Reader's Digest, participants scored an average of 20 percent lower in driving tests when they were hung over, even though alcohol levels in their blood had dropped back to zero.

She received many gifts from her family and friends, and also cards and phone calls from those unable to attend.

State Board Defers Action on Small Buses

The State Board of Education has deferred action on a proposed regulation establishing requirements for pupil-transportation vehicles designed for fewer than 10 passengers.

These vehicles, which include vans and panel trucks, are not classified as buses and are not covered by state regulations governing the inspection and maintenance of school buses.

Under the regulation being considered by the board, all vehicles used to transport pupils would have to be approved by the Division of Pupil Transportation in the state Department of Education. After vehicles were approved, they would have to be entered on the local district's school bus inventory.

The regulation would also establish safety and insurance requirements for the smaller vehicles. Aside from the transportation of handicapped pupils or the emergency transportation of pupils, their use would be limited to transporting pupils to and from areas not accessible by regular school buses.

You'll get free Gift Certificates to give to anyone you like—when you buy anything you like between now and Christmas!

What a beautiful way to do your Christmas shopping. You get exactly what you want for your home, and solve a lot of gift problems at the same time. Buy anything for your home between now and December 24, and we'll give you an additional 25% in Gift Certificates (in any denominations) to give to the preferred people on your gift list, to use any way they like—no strings attached.

Your Mom and Dad get a Gift Certificate for $625, simply because you bought a $2500 dining room group for your home. You get the beautiful new group, and your folks get $625 to buy a new sofa.

Uncle Chester gets a Gift Certificate for $75, simply because you bought a $300 recliner for your home. You get the recliner, and Uncle Chester gets $75 to spend on an ottoman.

Your newly-married daughter Chris gets a Gift Certificate for $275, simply because you bought a new sectional group for $1100. You get the new group, and Chris gets $275 to spend on her new home.

Your Grandmother gets a Gift Certificate for $225, simply because you bought a $900 wall unit. Your den gets the well-organized system, and Grandma gets $225 to buy a nice new lounge chair.

Aunt Philomena gets a Gift Certificate for $62.50, simply because you bought a lovely desk for your home that costs $250. You get the desk, and Aunt Phil gets $62.50 to buy a nice lamp.

Or if you prefer, you can divide your purchase into Gift Certificates of smaller denominations, to give to a variety of people. For example, if you buy $1500 sofa between now and Christmas, you could divide the 25% bonus (which amounts to $375.00) in the following way:

- Three $25 Gift Certificates for your nephews.
- A $200 Gift Certificate for your teenage son.
- Two $35 Gift Certificates for your two best friends.
- A $30 Gift Certificate for your boss and his wife.

Governor Addresses Lexington Conference By Telephone Hookup

While recuperating from abdominal surgery in London, England, Gov. Martha Layne Collins used a telephone hookup last Tuesday to address nearly 700 Kentucky school, business and community leaders attending the Governor's Conference on School-Community Partnerships in Lexington.

Her remarks opened the two-day conference where representatives of 117 Kentucky school districts learned how to form partnerships aimed at improving schools in their local communities.

"I'm excited about what this conference can achieve for Kentucky's young people and for the rest of us as well," Governor Collins told conference delegations. "As governor, I have made clear my commitment to better schools, but at a certain point, what actually occurs in the classroom is up to you, a community's residents. That's why local involvement is an important key to building the kind of educator program Kentucky must have if our state is to move forward confidently into the future."

Sponsored by the Appalachian Regional Commission and coordinated with the assistance of the Education and Humanities Cabinet and the Jefferson County Public Education Foundation, the conference provided teams from each school district with the information and training necessary to formulate their own partnership proposals.

Auditor Says Travel By Air Too Costly

State employees' use of aircraft rather than automobiles for local travel cost Kentucky taxpayers $87,000 during fiscal years 1983 and 1984.

That information is contained in a report released Monday by Mary Ann Tobin, state auditor of public accounts, on the use of state-owned and chartered aircraft.

This review is the first in a series to be conducted by the Division of Audits for Economy and Efficiency which the state auditor recently added to her office.

"The public demands better accountability for its tax dollars," Miss Tobin said. "Our objective is to point out more efficient management practices which will result in more efficient use of these tax dollars. I have made several recommendations in the report to strengthen this operation."

"The misuse of state funds reported here ($157,000) will almost operate the entire Economy and Efficiency Audit Division of my office for a full year," she said.

Miss Tobin said the report reveals that control measures currently in use do not adequately ensure (1) that both state-owned and chartered aircraft are used for travel by state employees only in performance of official duties or (2) that the most economical method of transportation is used by them. Both these requirements are included in state regulations for employees' official travel.

The study deals with proper authorization for air travel as well as the most economical use of transportation facilities. The present administration has shown marked improvement in reducing the amount of air travel between Frankfort and Louisville and Frankfort and Lexington as well as chartered flights for out-of-state travel. Miss Tobin said authorization for air travel by the proper agency official remains a problem. Better controls are needed in both areas, she said.

The cost of using aircraft by Kentucky government officials was almost $835,000 for fiscal years 1983 and 1984. However, costs billed for using state-owned aircraft do not sufficiently cover the operating cost, so the state's cost for this type travel is actually much greater than indicated.

The use of aircraft by the governor and lieutenant governor was not included in this study. The cost of this service is included in the cost of operating the Department of Military Affairs and other state agencies.

The Department of Military Affairs operates two state-owned helicopters for use by employees of state agencies traveling in an official capacity and charters privately owned aircraft as needed. Except for the offices of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, the agency using the aircraft is billed for the service.

Additionally, the state owns five single-engine fixed-wing aircraft. One is assigned to the Department of Fish and Wildlife and four are assigned to State Police.

For the period November, 1982 through June 30, 1983, only 26 percent of flights by government employees using chartered flights were properly authorized while only 20 percent of flights in state-owned aircraft received proper authorization. In fiscal year 1984, only 15 percent of chartered flights and 20 percent of flights on state-owned aircraft had the correct authorization.

Miss Tobin said in many instances state agencies did not select the most economical mode of travel. The overriding factor in choosing the method of transportation appears to have been convenience for the employees, she said.

As an example, state employees used both state-owned and chartered aircraft for travel within the local area such as travel between Frankfort and Lexington and Frankfort and Louisville when state-owned automobiles could have been used at much less cost. The state maintains motor pools with approximately 1,500 vehicles for use by all state agencies. Many of the employees using aircraft had a state automobile assigned to them for the exclusive use of their office at the time of the air travel.

According to the State Auditor's report, the use of regularly scheduled commercial flights for out-of-state travel could have resulted in savings of almost $70,000 to the state. The primary reason for choosing chartered aircraft rather than more economical commercial air travel again appears to be convenience to the employee. Some flights were chartered at a cost ranging from four to fourteen times greater than the cost of a commercial flight. In all instances, there were from four to eighteen commercial flights scheduled on the same day to the same destination as those chartered.

In numerous instances, state employees used chartered aircraft for travel from the Frankfort-Lexington area to such places as Knoxville, Nashville, Chicago, New York, Washington, D.C., and other places regularly serviced on a daily basis by commercial airlines.

One instance involved a flight chartered from Lexington to Baltimore at a cost of $3,245—14 times the $233 cost of an airline ticket. On the day of the travel, four different commercial flights were available.

As another example, two employees chartered an aircraft for a trip to St. Louis at a cost of $1,527, about seven times the $220 cost of commercial airfare. The trip could have been made on one of eight scheduled flights that day.

The convenience and status associated with having a state-owned or chartered aircraft at one's disposal is clearly recognized.

The report noted that in some instances, such as surveys of mining activities, land reclamation, and some law enforcement activities, the use of state-owned or chartered aircraft is the only practical means of getting the job done and cost is not a major factor.

Many flights were made to Covington to the Greater Cincinnati Airport to meet connecting flights. The average cost for the Covington trips using state-owned and chartered aircraft was $356 and $690, respectively. The cost for a round trip to Covington in a state-owned automobile is less than $50.

During the two-year period studied, 44 such flights were made at a cost of $19,330. The same trips using a state-owned automobile would have cost the state less than $2,200.

Miss Tobin made several recommendations which she said will help ensure the proper use of state-owned and chartered aircraft, as well as ensuring that travel by state employees is by the most economical means. She recommended that heads of agencies establish written procedures that will:

1. Set forth criteria and circumstances under which the use of aircraft will be approved. In addition to considering the nature of the travel, such criteria should include a requirement for comparing the cost of this type travel with the cost of alternative modes.

2. Fix responsibility within the using agency by designating the official authorized to approve aircraft use and to assure accountability for such decisions.

3. Require written approval of aircraft use in advance of the travel. In the event of an emergency requirement, the designated approving official could certify as to the emergency nature of the travel but would still be accountable for the approval decision.

Is Scholarship Recipient

Michael Keith Horn, Prestonsburg Community College freshman, is pictured being congratulated by Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of Prestonsburg Community College, on being named the recipient of the J. Woodford Howard and Florence Stephens Howard Memorial Scholarship. This scholarship was established by J. Woodford Howard, Jr. of Baltimore, Maryland, in memory of his parents.

Keith, the son of Harrison and Linda Horn, of Auxier, graduated fourth in his class from Prestonsburg High School, and while in high school received numerous awards and honors. Keith, who is a pre-law major, scored in the upper five percent on the American College Test.

Jarvi Discusses Craft On KET Special Program

Unto Jarvi, from Auburn, Kentucky, is the subject of "For You, My Sons," airing Friday, January 21, at 7:00 p.m. on KET. Impressive works are featured with the master woodcarver, who practices his exacting craft on camera while commenting on his life prior to, and after, immigrating with his family from Finland to America in 1919.

As a boy of ten, Jarvi remembers going door-to-door with his sister asking for bread due to the hard times created by the war in Europe. His family immigrated to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, to rejoin their father already located in this country. Years later Jarvi left home traveling the countryside "on-the-rails" as a hobo. Eventually he became a lumberjack, and also learned the trade of building houses. While in California, he married a Kentuckian and relocated to Western Kentucky.

A Bowling Green businessman observed Jarvi at work on his hobby, woodcarving, at a church sponsored arts fair. With his works on prominent display, Jarvi was noticed by Western Kentucky University which sponsored the first folk artist exhibit in its prestigious art gallery.

"For You, My Sons" was produced by Western Kentucky University.

MSU Coach Says Team Is Improving

Losing four of your first five games won't bring many smiles, but coach Wayne Martin and his staff saw a big improvement in MSU's play despite losing 75-60 to the Missouri Tigers.

MSU started the season with losses to Oklahoma, Tennessee St. and Iowa before returning home for a 72-60 win over Milligan College.

"The fifth game for us was encouraging from the standpoint of a measurable increase in our players awareness of just what's going on," said coach Martin. "Offensively we executed with poise and discipline and we had tremendous aggressiveness on the board."

39 Years Later, Floyd P.O.W. Awarded Medal Posthumously

Veterans' Day, 1984, seemed noticeably more solemn this year as the American public paused to honor its veterans and war dead. Finally, even, the young vets of the Vietnam tragedy were given their due as the nation seemed to say, in apology, "Though the war may have been a mistake, you, too were heroes nonetheless."

For a group of Kentucky National Guardsmen, who found themselves abruptly thrown into the some of the most horrific fighting of World War II, the combat in the Philippines which immediately followed the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, the awarding of Bronze Stars after all these years, was particularly satisfying.

A ceremony, Nov. 11, at the Harrodsburg National Guard Armory recognized the 37 survivors of Company D, 192nd Light Tank Battalion, as well as the 29 members who have died. Floyd countyman, Corporal John Bud Reynolds, was one honored posthumously, his medal being sent to his brother, W. J. Reynolds, Jr., of Allen.

According to a relative, Cpl. Reynolds and a fellow medic, who were "regular" army, were assigned to the National Guard unit because of their medical training and sent to Louisiana where they expected to be involved in training exercises. Instead, the unit, mostly comprised of Mercer countyans, was called to active duty and sent to the Philippines in 1941, just 18 days before the attack on Pearl Harbor. Ill-prepared and poorly equipped for combat, they became among the first ground troops to engage the enemy.

As part of the Philippine Defense Force, they fought against an overwhelming Japanese army which finally overran American troops in 1942, but the defenders are credited with holding off the Imperial Japanese forces long enough to give their country a chance to get back on its feet and upset the enemy's timetable for taking over the Pacific. Kentucky Adjutant Gen. Billy Wellman, who addressed the veterans at the ceremony, said, "The Philippines defenders experienced what has gone down in history as one of the worst defeats in United States history, but in this defeat these soldiers bought the time it took to begin building the Army and defenses that it would ultimately take to bring victory over Japan."

After six months of intense fighting, in which a number of members of the 192nd were killed, they surrendered and were forced to endure the infamous Bataan Death March. Although 10,000 allied troops, 2,000 of them Americans, died on the march, Reynolds survived, only to be loaded like all the other survivors and taken to Japanese prison camps.

Packed below decks in sweltering, overcrowded prisoner transport ships, many more died on the voyage to Japan. Cpl. Reynolds, however, survived not only the almost intolerable conditions aboard ship, he lived

Says Help Needed To Help Others
I would like to salute Marlow Tackett for his efforts in helping the less fortunate children of Pike and Floyd counties at Christmas time. Marlow is Pike county's own Santa Claus and those who give are his helpers.

Marlow needs our help. I overheard him say that donations are down this year. He needs toys, both new and used; also fruit, candy or money—anything you can give to make the children's Christmas a little better.

I know the churches are helping people but they can't reach everyone that needs help.

Marlow needs our help to help others.

On the Board Race

In response to an article in the Floyd County Times dated November 21, 1984, I would like everyone to know Senator Bailey nor James Allen had anything to do with my running for school board. I simply was dissatisfied with our school board.

I am sure Mr. Allen has made his own decision about his future in politics. Evidently, someone had to tell John M. Stumbo what office to run for or something like this would never have entered his mind.

Perhaps people will remember that while John M. Stumbo was chairman of the Floyd County Board of Education they operated in the red for approximately six years, being about $669,000 in debt when the State Attorney General forced them, through the actions of P.B.S., to correct the situation.

Wonder how a school district can be in the red one year and pay off a debt of approximately $339,000 in the next year without additional revenue?

Childbirth Educator Recognized by ICEA

The International Childbirth Education Association (ICEA) announces the recognition of Theresa Ann Tackett as an ICEA-certified childbirth educator. ICEA unites people who support family-centered maternity care and believe in freedom of choice based on the knowledge of childbirth alternatives.

Miss Tackett has successfully completed the Teacher Certification Program sponsored by ICEA. Candidates complete a rigorous study curriculum, attend continuing education workshops which support the ICEA philosophy, observe labor and births and are evaluated on their teaching skills before they sit for the certification examination. The program verifies that the childbirth educator has the necessary education and counseling skills to enable her to prepare expectant parents mentally and physically for a participating and individually satisfying pregnancy, labor and birth and introduction.

Miss Tackett offers childbirth preparation classes in the Harold-Betsy Layne area on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m. and may be reached for further information at 478-5071.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Elbert Keens would like to extend our greatest appreciation and sincere thanks to the Hall Funeral Home, our neighbors, friends, and family for the food, flowers, money and the kind words of sympathy during our time of grief. We would also like to thank all the Old Regular Baptist ministers for their services.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mary Hayes wishes to thank all of those who were so kind and considerate during our time of grief. We want to thank those who sent flowers and gifts of love. We especially want to thank the Bethel Regular Baptist Church, members and ministers, for their kind services, and to the Hall Funeral Home for kind and efficient service.

Ben Franklin Store Donates Cabbage Patch Kid to HRMC

The Ben Franklin-Goebel's Family Store of Prestonsburg has donated a Cabbage Patch Kid doll to Highlands Regional Medical Center, to be given to a child who must spend Christmas in the hospital. Store Manager William O. Goebel III (left) is shown presenting the doll to HRMC Public Information Officer Kurt Pickering in the downtown store.

Christmas is no time to be in the hospital, especially for a youngster. But sometimes it's unavoidable.

This year, though, the Ben Franklin-Goebel's Family Store in downtown Prestonsburg will help brighten the Christmas stay of some pediatric patient at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Store Manager William O. Goebel III has arranged to donate a Cabbage Patch Kid doll to a pediatric patient on the day before Christmas.

"The Cabbage Patch Kids are just as popular this year as last, and just as hard to get," said Goebel. "I thought it would be a nice thing to do for some child who had to be in the hospital at Christmastime."

HRMC Public Information Officer Kurt Pickering said the mechanics of selecting the winner haven't been decided yet. "We try to send all the children home that we can during the holidays," Pickering said. "There probably won't be more than six to 10 children in pediatrics. We're making other arrangements to be sure all the children get a gift, but the donation of the Cabbage Patch Kid will certainly give the ones who are here something specific to look forward to."

"This is just the kind of cooperative spirit we enjoy with the community," Pickering said. "We're proud and very thankful that William O. and the store thought of our young patients during this Christmas season."

EASTERN NEWS

The Joy Bible Clubs of Eastern will be presenting their Christmas program, Tuesday, December 18, at 6:30 p.m. The program is entitled "Portraits of Christmas," and will include an Angel Tree decorated with portraits of the children, Christmas music, puppet plays, special missionary mailbag, and treats.

The public is invited to this program.

Wins Achievement Medal

First Lt. Gary D. Dotson, son of Mitchell and Elise H. Dotson, of the Middle Creek Road, Prestonsburg, has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Knox.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for accomplishments, meritorious service or acts of courage.

Dotson is an executive officer with the 13th Battalion, 4th Training Brigade.

What you should know about... jewelry "discounts"

40% "OFF" ... 60% "OFF" ... "OFF" OF WHAT?

The public is being bombarded by various outlets — even famous department stores — with ads and promotions claiming so-called "discounts" which are so exaggerated that you should question them.

Are they really true discounts? Was the merchandise ever really sold at the high "regular" or "former" or "reference" price quoted?

Or, was the merchandise fictitiously priced to lure you into thinking you're getting a bargain?

There's nothing wrong with legitimate discounts...we are against deceptive pricing. You owe it to yourself to shop around and compare quality and service as well as price.

Would you pay twice as much for the diamond on the far right?

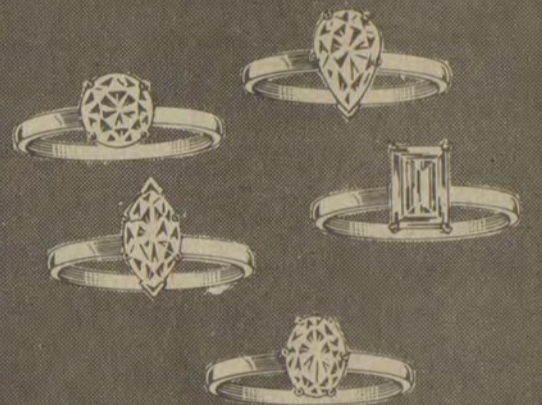

4C Four characteristics that determine the quality of a diamond. Consult me.

The 5th Castles If you don't know jewelry you should know your jeweler.

Size. It's the most obvious factor in determining the value of a diamond. But it's not the only one. Carat-weight is just one of the 4C's. The others are Cut, Color and Clarity. And to understand these much more subtle facets is to understand quality. A cut above. Most diamonds are cut with 58 facets, each placed at a precise angle to the other. But a good cut, by a master cutter, is recognized by its light-handling qualities. Maximum scintillation, more sparkle. And that's a great reflection on you. Your true colors. Color, the third of the 4 C's has various gradations, from exceptional white to yellowish. Totally colorless diamonds are the rarest. And to give a woman a diamond of exceptionally good color is to show your knowledge of quality, to show your true colors. Clarity of thought. A diamond that is virtually free of interior or exterior inclusions is of the highest quality, for nothing interferes with the passage of light through the diamond. Diamonds termed Flawless, the highest clarity grade, will dazzle you. And the clearer the diamonds, the clearer your choice.

Which ever you choose Castle's will be there to size and take care of it after the sale !

FLOYD COUNTY GOVERNMENT... POLITICS AS USUAL

My name is Hamlet Lovely. I was born and reared on Right Beaver Creek here in Floyd County. My family and I have been lifelong residents of Floyd County and have tried to make a contribution to our county.

Like most of you, I attended and graduated from the Floyd County School System. I studied civics and government and thought that I understood how the American Democratic system worked. In our Nation, according to the civics books, all people were allowed to participate in government and no one was ever rewarded or punished because of their political beliefs. During the last few weeks, I have learned how our elected officials interpret Democracy.

On November 8, 1984, I was called from the Floyd County Judge/Executive's office and asked to attend the Fiscal Court meeting on Friday, November 9, for the purpose of being appointed to the Beaver Elkhorn Water Commission. I attended the meeting, was appointed and given the oath of office by the Floyd County Judge/Executive. I have known the Judge/Executive for some time, he has visited my home, I have visited his home. I have lived in my present home for the past 25 years.

On December 5, 1984, at a special called meeting of the Fiscal Court, I was removed from the Water Commission. I don't know why I was qualified on November 9 and wasn't qualified on December 5. I attended one meeting of the Water Commission. I don't believe I did anything wrong or that my actions were upsetting to anyone, however, they must have been. The Judge/Executive signed an order appointing me stating I was "duly qualified" to serve. Some have said that I am not qualified because I "don't live in the District." I live at the same place now as I did when I was appointed. The Judge knew this when he signed the order saying I was "duly qualified."

Why then would the Judge and his political friends decide that I shouldn't serve? Is there something he doesn't want the people to know about how Floyd County's business is conducted? Members of the Beaver Elkhorn Water Commission are honorable people. Like you and I, they only want to serve the people of Floyd County and make our county a better place to live and raise our families. I was honored to have been chosen to serve on the Water Commission. Certainly, I'm personally disappointed that I was removed before I had the opportunity to serve. More than the personal disappointment I feel, however, is my disappointment in elected leaders that continue to put petty political considerations ahead of the interest of the people.

FAME

ROCK IN RIO — Did you think that the days of the big, star-studded rock concerts were over? Think again. Fourteen of the world's foremost internationally acclaimed music groups will be strumming in the new year at the music festival "Rock in Rio." The 10-day, 90-hour extravaganza in Rio de Janeiro beginning Jan. 11 will feature such rock greats as AC-DC, B52s, Def Leppard, George Benson, The Go Go's, Nina Hagen, Iron Maiden, Al Jarreau, Men At Work, Queen, Ozzy Osborne, Scorpions, James Taylor and Yes.

Tickets will be $5 per day or $40 for the entire 10-day event.

Lee Grant

'MUSSOLINI' CAST GROWS — Lee Grant, Raul Julia and Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio have joined George C. Scott for the cast of "Mussolini," an NBC miniseries now filming in Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

The seven-hour, three-part production is a personal portrait of Italian leader Benito Mussolini from his rise to power within the Fascist movement to the dark days of late World War II.

Miss Grant, who won an Oscar as Best Supporting Actress in "Shampoo," will play Mussolini's faithful wife, Rachele. Julia, who will portray the Italian leader's son-in-law, has won four Tony award nominations and appeared in the film "The Eyes of Laura Mars." Miss Mastrantonio, best known for her portrayal of Gina Montana, the sister of the Al Pacino character in the film "Scarface," will play Mussolini's daughter, Edda.

Orson Welles

WHODUNIT? — Audiences can really become involved in "Scene of the Crime," a new NBC one-hour drama series hosted by Orson Welles, now in production.

Each episode contains a suspense story with a twist ending and a whodunit murder mystery presenting a crime, a handful of suspects and flashbacks revealing each suspect's motive. Welles' narrative provides information about the suspects before the flashbacks, and he reviews the evidence for the audience before the final murder scene is presented.

DYNASTY

Dex (Michael Nader, l.) and Alexis (Joan Collins) lovingly eye each other after exchanging wedding vows, on "Dynasty," to air WEDNESDAY, DEC. 19 on ABC.

Food Sciences: The Key To A Successful Future

The University of Kentucky's food science program may be just the ticket for a student who is looking for a well-paying and challenging career.

There are two areas of emphasis in the UK program: scientific and consumer-oriented. The College of Agriculture stresses the scientific aspect, while the College of Home Economics offers the consumer version.

Dr. James Kemp, coordinator of the food sciences program for the College of Agriculture, said although the two-year-old program is the newest in the college, the job possibilities for graduates are plentiful.

"The job possibilities are excellent," he said. "We had more demand (for graduates) than students." Last year eight graduated from Kemp's program, but he said they could have placed 12 to 15 students "without pushing."

Dr. Linda Chen, home economics chairwoman, said her program has only five students in it, but she wishes she had more.

"I'd like to have more," she said, "because the program is a very good opportunity."

Kemp said some of his former students landed jobs with Kroger's, Kahn's meats and Pillsbury. None have graduated from Chen's portion of the program yet.

The two colleges offer different curricula, though they do occasionally intersect. Chen said that makes the program even more valuable because a student has access to faculty from two colleges.

Departmental requirements for the College of Agriculture department of animal science's program include taking courses such as "food chemistry," "food microbiology," and "animal nutrition."

The College of Home Economics department of nutrition and food sciences emphasizes the courses "food and the consumer," "food preservation," and "seminar in nutrition."

"The career opportunities are attractive in this program," Kemp said. "In the food industry there are a lot of jobs."

UK is the only school in Kentucky that offers this program, which is accredited by the Institute of Food Technologists.

FLAMMABLE COSMETICS

Women should exercise some care when applying cosmetics. This includes reading the labels on cosmetics. Products containing hydrocarbons (the propellant in aerosols), high levels of alcohol (in some hair mousses and hairsprays, for example), and/or solvents (in nail polish and removers) are flammable. It is very unwise to smoke or light a match around these products or to expose them to an open flame. Once applied to hair or nails, the hydrocarbons, alcohol and solvents evaporate as does the fire hazard. Until then, treat such cosmetics with extreme care, even if polishing nails seems like a leisure-time activity.

Many families in this area have already discovered that by relying on COOLEY APOTHECARY for their prescription needs they will not only receive quality service but can take advantage of our everyday low prices. We are always more than willing to answer your questions related to the medication..when to take it or with what to take it. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri., 9-5:30, Sat., 9-4.

HANDY HINT:

People with high blood pressure should read the labels on antacid remedies before use.
