DAN GOBLE STANDS IN FRONT OF THE STRAND THEATRE which he managed until his retirement, recently. A successful businessman, he began a life of hard work as a shoe shine boy when he was six years old. Now, when he feels the need to be busy, he sometimes returns to his old trade, and as for retirement, he advises, "Study on it before you retire."

Two Plead Guilty Before Trial of 16 Gets Started

Teaberry Woman Loses Own Life After Saving Kin

A Teaberry woman lost her life Saturday night in the third drowning this year at Dewey Lake. Debra Lynn Hamilton, 24, wife of Billy Hamilton, was pro-nounced dead at the scene by Assistant Coroner Glen Frazier.

Frazier fixed the time of death at 7:45. when Mrs. Hamilton walked over a drop-off at Arrowhead Point. Just moments before, she had helped save her sister-in-law, also named Debra Hamilton, who had waded out over the same drop-off. Both were nonswimmers

After helping her sister-in-law back to a rock ledge, Mrs. Hamilton waded back into the water and stepped over the dropoff. Her sister-in-law tried to help her by tying towels together to pull her to safety, but was unsuccessful.

Of Floyd Cases Begins Tuesday A prosecutor told a Pike Circuit Court jury yesterday (Tuesday) that former Deputy Judge-Executive Thomas Lafferty, Sr. abused his public trust by spending county money on himself at a time when Floyd finances were rapidly deteriorating. In her opening statement, Assistant Attorney-General Barbara Whaley said the evidence would show that, over a five-month period in 1982, Lafferty used a county credit card 44 times to buy meals, almost all of them at the familyowned Plantation Motel, under the pretense that the expenditures were on county business. The allegedly improper spending came at a time when the county was slipping so fast toward insolvency that the state was later forced to take charge, the prosecutor noted.

"No officer is entitled to use county money for his own personal pleasure, said the prosecutor, adding, "Done on a large enough scale, it can destroy a county's finances.

Lafferty was the first of 13 defendants facing trial as the result of an 18-month state police investigation into county financial practices under the 1982 administration of his brother, the late Jerry Lafferty, Jr. The trials were transferred to Pike county in response to a prosecution argument that, since many of the defendants wielded political power here, they could not be tried fairly in this county. Pike Circuit Judge Will T. Scott was named to hear the case when Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley stepped down.

Two of the 16 indicted last December entered guilty pleas Monday, and prosecutors agreed to drop charges against a third. Alma Castle, of Hueysville, who was indicted with her son, Anthony, on a charge of criminal possession of a forged check, pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of criminal facilitation. Hugh Fugate, of Price, who was named on an indictment together with Left Beaver

Comp Care Board Quizzes Director

During a 41/2-hour meeting behind closed doors last week, David Bell, Jr., executive-director of the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, faced close questioning by members of the mental health agency's board of directors on evidence presented a week earlier by state investigators.

According to a board member who was there, Bell gave well-rehearsed answers to the questions raised in June by an investigator from the Human Resources Cabinet's inspector-general's office and by the director of the inspector-general's division of audits. Although board members were hardpressed to prove specific instances of wrongdoing on Bell's part, some found that his answers strained credulity, according to this witness, and, with another closed session scheduled for next Monday, the future of the agency director still appears uncertain.

Much of the board's attention has been focused on Bell's travel claims and salary advances. Many questions were raised by investigators about the use of MCCC credit cards by Chuck Hicks, the agency's personnel director and purchasing agent. And some questions touched the board itself, some of whom are receiving free dental insurance from the agency

Salary advances made to Bell in fiscal year 1984 totalled $28,800 and amounted to an interest-free loan, investigators found. In the same period, Bell claimed $28,886 for travel expenses, $21,600 of which was given in monthly advances.

A clearly skeptical auditor noted that the executive-director was reimbursed for 101,273 miles for fiscal 1984, an

Jones, Others Lose Appeals In U.S. Court

Sentences meted out last year to five Floyd men convicted in U.S. District Court of conspiring to put a non-union coal mine out of business near East McDowell two years earlier were upheld last Thursday by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Edgar Jones, an owner of the JRM Coal Co., Mose Meade, German Stumbo, Teddy Kinney and Ken Rolland were found guilty of charges stemming from a violent dispute between UMWA members and non-union employees of the Ray-Mac mine-in February, 1982.

In addition to conspiracy, Jones was convicted of aiding and abetting in the dynamiting of a Ray-Mac coal auger, Meade of helping to destroy the auger (See Story No. 8, Page 4)

Miss Floyd, New Miss Kentucky

Miss Floyd County, Laurie Janine Keller, was named Miss Kentucky 1985 Saturday night and will go on to represent the Commonwealth this fall in the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City,

It was the fourth attempt by the Johnson county native to capture the state title. She had competed last year as Miss East Kentucky, and in the past as Miss Ashland and Miss Cumberland Lake. Miss Keller was eligible to compete in the Miss Floyd County pageant because of the way the state contest system is structured. The Floyd county pageant, sponsored by the Prestonsburg for several eastern Kentucky counties, among them Johnson, and residents of those counties are eligible to compete for Miss Keller, 21-year-old singer, dancer and actress, was awarded a $3,500 scholarship, a $1,500 wardrobe from Snyder's department store in Louisville and the use of a car from Wade Swope Toyota of Louisville for one year. She plans to use the scholarship to further her studies in the performing arts at the University of Kentucky.

Minutes after Miss Kentucky 1984, Kelly Lin Brumagen, placed the crown on Miss Keller's head, the new titlist was interviewed on WLKY-TV, and on radio by Perkey. Later, she was honored at a Queen's Reception at Louisville's Brown Hotel and at a Mayor's Award Brunch Sunday morning at the Executive Inn.

According to Junior Woman's Club member, Sherry Goble, who was present at the state contest in Louisville, the new Miss Kentucky was the talent portion of the program, and "did great." Miss Keller performed the song "Don't Cry for Me, Argentina," from the musical "Evita!" while doing "ballet on point," according to master of ceremonies Wayne Perkey.

Board Meeting Tame As Surplus Reported

A special meeting of the Floyd Board of Education has been called for Monday, July 22, at 7 p.m., Board Chairman Dr. J.D. Adams announced yesterday (Tuesday).

Of the crowd which packed the Floyd Board of Education meeting room last Wednesday, anyone who thought the state Board of Education's dramatic warning of the previous week might be matched by an equally dramatic response would have been disappointed. No heads rolled. There was no anguished reappraisal, no bold initiative, no counterattack.

Instead, there was a satisfying end-ofyear surplus in the general fund, a succession of teachers and others lauding the superintendent and board for "a job well done," a proposal by a citizens' group for school-community partnership and, otherwise, business more or less as

The Floyd board has one more regularly scheduled meeting-on August 7-before an August 15 deadline set by the sate. By that date, school officials here must persuade the state poard that it should not consider removng them from office.

(Rumors that a majority on the Floyd board would seek to oust Superintendent E.P Grigsby, Jr. found no confirmation Wednesday, possibly because of the absence of board member Ray "Shag" Campbell, who was on vacation in Florida. A longtime Grigsby backer, Campbell would have to play a key role in any attempt to remove the superintendent. Perhaps in response to the rumors of such a move, several of those who addressed the board and superintendent at Wednesday's meeting urged them to "stay united.") (Typical was the comment of Minnie teacher Clara Johnson. "I believe the board should stay united with Mr. Grigsby. With the two working together, we can progress above and beyond what the state is demanding," she said, adding, "Already there has been great

(For his part, Grigsby later acknowledged but shrugged off suggestions that the board might seek his resignation. "You hear lots of things," he said. "I guess we'll just have to wait and see.")

One effect of the latest state warning was evident in a new caution among board members. In response to a recommendation by Grigsby that the board declare an emergency in order to bypass normal bidding requirements on materials needed to repair the schools over the summer, board chairman Dr.

Goble 'Retires' after 30 Years But Returns to His Old Trade

Living in a town the size of Prestonsburg, there are certain people you see so often they become almost like family. There is the feeling that if they are not where they should be something isn't right with the world.

One of these people is Dan Goble, who managed the Strand Theatre here for more than 30 years. He retired last

One of the first things you notice about Dan and wife Pauline is how proud they are of their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. They talk at length about the granddaughter who at six years is a sought-after model, and the football coach son, whose team has won the class AAAA state football championship two out of the last three years, the daughter who is about to finish her PhD., and all the others who mean so much to

Dan and Pauline reared six children during the years Dan managed the Strand, Pauline, whom Dan characterized as being "the key to all my success," worked there too, as did all of the children at one time or another.

Though Dan has had several jobs in his life, the one that everything seemed to revolve around was the Strand.

He started out when he was six years old as a shoe-shine boy. Back in those days he charged a nickel a shine. He continued in the trade until after he had married, and made more money at shining shoes than his father-in-law, a machinist in the mines. During World War II, the Gobles moved to Ypsilanti, Mich., where he took a job at the Willow Run bomber plant, working on B-24 bombers, and later worked at Hudson Motors as a rivet repairman on B-29 bombers. But the Gobles weren't happy in Michigan.

"I was working at the Hudson Motor company and everybody was getting laid off. I was the only one who wasn't getting laid off because I would always show up for work on time and be ready to do my job," he recalls. The only problem was that Dan was hoping he, too, would be laid off. "Can you imagine what it was like for a boy from a small town to be up in Michigan working in a factory? Everybody else was getting laid off and I was hoping I would, too, but they just kept moving me from job to job when they'd lay off the other men." Dan eventually quit working for Hudson and returned to Prestonsburg, but not before saving $1,000, quite a princely sum in 1944.

"I got off the train in Kentucky with the $1,000 pinned inside my coat, and went directly to Tom Moore's barber shop to shine shoes for 10 or 15 cents,' he said. And there were other jobs before, and during, the time he worked for the Strand. In 1944-'45, he managed a liquor store on the spot where the First Commonwealth Bank now stands. There were also stints at a mine on Caney, as a flagman for the state highway department, and later as a field supervisor at Jenny Wiley State Park and a security guard at Maloney's. It was the Strand, however, that he took as a career, and it is the Strand that he misses today.

He started working at the Strand in

Pack's Counsel Rescinds Offer To Pay $10,789

The deal is off, an angry attorney told members of the Floyd Board of Education last Wednesday in regard to an arrangement by which her client would have reimbursed monies missing from Wheelwright High School activities accounts

In a June 26 order, the board held that former principal Ervin Pack had "acted illegally and unethically" in failing to follow proper accounting procedures and instructed him to pay $10,782 which was unaccounted for at the close of the school year. The board also directed its attorney to turn the case over to the Commonwealth's attorney for further investigation.

But Cassie J. Allen, who represents the former principal, accused the board of reneging on her client's "good will" offer of settlement, said she was "totally shocked to see the case tried in the newspaper," and added that her client now withdrew his settlement offer.

Calling the board-ordered audit of Wheelwright accounts "an estimate at best and a travesty at worst," Allen said school officials had made "incorrect and malicious" statements about her client. Pack owes the board no money and will be vindicated by a grand jury, the attorney said. Board attorney David Barber said he regretted Pack's decision to withdraw his offer, since it forces the board to file suit in circuit court to recover the money. The board order he read at the close of the board's June 26 meeting reflected the agreement of both parties and is a matter of public record, he said. Meanwhile, the case against Wheelwright coach Danny Johnson, which appeared to have been closed at the June 26 meeting, was reopened Wednesday, after auditors reported that between $240 and $300 in soft drink sales remains unaccounted for. Questions also remain about sums said to have been paid to referees and for players, reported Don Wallen, an accountant with Linton and Company, the Pikeville firm responsible for auditing Floyd school accounts.

After discussing it in executive session Wednesday, the board referred the case to its attorney, who was not at the meeting.

'When I first started working for the Strand, it was in kind of bad shape," Goble said. "People would come in and cut up the seats with knives." But Goble would have none of that. "People would come to the theatre on Saturday nights 'and bring whiskey in, hidden in their pants, and I'd have to throw them out. I've had people come up to me and tell me they didn't come to see the show, but just to watch me in action. I've had 45-and 50-year-old men come up to me and say that I threw them out when they acting up and deserved it.' The Strand was different in other ways back in the 1950's and '60's. According to the Gobles, a major attraction used to be live stage shows.

were young. I asked them if they were mad and they said, no, that they were

"Back before they made it into a twin cinema, the theatre seated 712 people. We used to have stage shows with people like Lester Flat and Earl Skruggs, Minnie Pearl, Fuzzy Q. Jones, Lash Larue, Hilo Brown, the Carter Sisters and the Ink Spots. Cousin Ezra and the Lonesome Pine Fiddlers played here for 30 straight weeks." The Strand even played host to circus acts and professional wrestling, back in those days.

Running the Strand became a family affair for the Gobles. Pauline worked there until she became ill several years ago and all six children worked there at one time or another. In fact, it was their two youngest daughters who came up with what has become one of the theatre's most popular soft drinks.

'They just decided to mix everything up together and they called it a graveyard," Goble recalls. "Now it's listed on the menu right up beside Pepsi and the others

One of the most popular movies ever to play the Strand was "Rock around the Clock." "It was on a double feature, and I figured everybody had come to see the other movie," said Pauline, "but they were there for 'Rock Around the Clock. People had to stand up, it was so crowded. They were dancing in the aisles. We ended up bringing that movie back about 30 times.'

Goble has seen the Strand go from charging 15 cents admission for children and 40 cents for adults to its present $1.50 and $3.50, from being a full-size theatre to its present state as a twin cinema. He has seen trends in movies come and go, but through it all he always enjoyed his work. Now that he has retired, he misses

But, at 65, he says it seems he'll have to be content working part time taking

"I've not been well since I was in an automobile accident two years ago," he explains. There were times when I felt so bad I couldn't really face the public.

So he decided last month to call it

"I've been off a month, but it seems like two or three," he said. "I'm not contented. I don't like to hunt or fish or swim, my hobby is work.

After he retired a few weeks ago, the Gobles went to North Carolina to visit one of their sons. "We stayed a week and I was almost ready to go back to work,' said Dan. "Mr. Absher said I could work part time taking tickets, and as sort of a hobby I go down to Gary Wright's barber shop in the mornings and shine shoes. The other day, John Allen and Jonas Miller came in and I shined their shoes. It was quite a coincidence, because I'd shined their shoes 55 years ago. We all laughed about it."

'If you want some advice from Dan Goble," he said, "study on it before you retire. Take about two weeks off and really make up your mind if you want

Success and Failure

The support that is evident in the General Assembly's special session for Governor Collins' education bill and the opposition which the governor's 5-cent gasoline tax met at the hands of the same legislators afford a splendid example of the power of public sentiment.

The education bill, with its $287 million-plus price tag, apparently has clear sailing, because the needs of, and for, education were emphasized in public meetings across the state. It is so favored, although many still doubt that money in such quantity is needed or will cure Kentucky's school ills.

Conversely, the gasoline tax legislation for the building and maintenance of roads got an emphatic thumbs down, largely because the administration failed to convince the people that the state really needs the money.

We were among those who favored the gasoline tax. The construction and upkeep of roads is a plain matter of dollars and cents, and we believed that the extra 5-cent tax on gasoline (said to average $50 a year to the individual motorist) was not exorbitant or oppressive-especially so, in view of the fact that it has not been so long ago when we were all paying Arabian oil interests a lot more to fuel our cars and trucks.

Besides, we entertained what some might term the fatuous hope that out of that extra tax money long-needed roads might be built in Floyd and other counties of neglected Eastern Kentucky.

By the time all receipts are in and all bills are paid, the balance sheet should show a surplus of $175,603 as of June 30-about $31,000 above last year's ending balance-treasurer Ray Brackett told the board. "We are still solvent but must diligently monitor staffing and all other expenditures," he said.

Annette Kidd, of the Drift PTO, urged the board to resist state pressure to close the smaller rural schools. The eight-room grade school at Drift has served the community for 55 years and what it lacks in amenities it makes up for in family spirit, she said. Board member Dr. Mary Hall said she would like to see the school stay open but wondered if enrollment would be large enough to justify it.

Citizens who had posed questions at earlier meetings of the board were told Wednesday that Martin grade school principal William Hughes "is working on" establishing a parent-teacher organization and finding alternative parking for faculty; that citizens could observe teachers at work as long as the observers are neither in groups nor disruptive; and that the county clerk would be approached to see if there is an alternative to using the schools as polling places.

Job Corps Here May Be Accredited

The Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center here, which has been a candidate for accreditation since 1983, has just received notice of recommendation for that coveted status.

The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Commission on Occupational Education Institutions, visited the Job Corps Center during May of this year, and, as a result, the team recommended that the Center be accredited for a three-year period.

The report of the team visit contained only three findings which the Center has since corrected. According to Kermit Berry, director of the facility, the Carl D. Perkins Center will be one of only four Job Corps Centers accredited by the Southern Association. The final decision for accreditation will be made this fall with the certificate presented to the Center's administration at the December meeting of the Association.

Investigator Mike Lawrence reported that Bell "has impeded the course of this investigation" by refusing to speak to him and has put off attempts by the director of the special investigations division to interview him.

Lack of close supervision by MCCC's board of directors and by the executivedirector have contributed to sloppy management and "easy circumvention" of internal accounting controls, Audit Director Roger L. Mulloy concluded in a June 18 report.

An agency policy requiring purchase orders for any purchases over $50 was routinely bypassed by dividing up a purchase of, say, $250 among five different receipts, purchasing officer Chuck Hicks is said to have acknowledged. But Hicks denied charges that he used the agency credit card for repairs and gasoline for his own truck or for the purchase of a high-performance cam shaft.

Investigators turned up a "totally unacceptable' scheme by which Hicks bought tires through the agency for individual staffers who then paid him by check or cash. Lack of documentation of the transactions between Hicks and other staff members opened the system to "all kinds of abuses," the special investigator said.

Because no inventory is kept of unused materials, the investigator said, it is 'virtually impossible" to account for materials reported to be missing. According to charges made anonymously, materials destined for use in the Layne House heating system, insulation intended for the Auxier greenhouse, and a color television at the agency's central office were diverted to personal use. The audit did not confirm these charges.

The leasing by MCCC of a building in Salyersville owned by board member Roland Conley creates at least the appearance of a conflict of interest, even though it is "apparently cost effective," the investigator said. The fact that 12 out of 26 board members get dental coverage at the agency's expense appears to contradict agency by-laws, he

The report by special investigator Lawrence notes that former staff members were unanimously "displeased about what they perceived to be unwarranted holdups" in the agency's grievance procedures. All those interiewed said that "paranoia was running wild," that those still employed fear for their jobs, and that services to clients were "suffering drastically," the investigator reported.

MCCC personnel policies are the subject of a distinct report, filed June 28 by Richard Heine, leader of a management review team. The three-member team found some MCCC board members to be committed and businesslike, said the agency offers a "particularly attractive" benefits package, and had praise for MCCC's employee evaluation form.

But determination of initial salary levels, written communication with dismissed employees, and communication between the agency's central and county offices are areas in need of improvement, the panel found.

The review team also recommended that dismissed employees be allowed to appeal directly to the board. In a 16-day period in May, seven MCCC workers were fired and two were laid off.

Among the specific discrepancies noted by the auditor in documents submitted by Executive-Director Bell for travel reimbursement:

-Seven meal receipts appear to have been altered. For example, on a November, 1983 Seelbach Hotel receipt, the sum of $8.14 was allegedly changed to $28.14; a March, 1984 Hilton receipt for $1.08 became $31.08; on a May, 1984 Sheraton receipt, $5.65 appears as $25.65.

-Lodging receipts were submitted from the Holiday Inn, Charleston, W Va., giving the check-in date as March 4, 1984, with check-out on March 5. The same month, Bell submitted a receipt from the Capitol Hilton, Washington, D.C., showing check-in on March 4 and check-out on March 6. -Bell claimed mileage for a round trip from Prestonsburg to Glasgow, Ky. on June 1, 1984. He had earlier been reimbursed for a trip to New Orleans from May 29 through June 2. Mileage claimed by the executive-director "consistently included numerous round trips each day from Prestonsburg rather than mileage reflective of a specific route driven, noted the auditor, who gave 21 examples of "highly suspect" trips over a fourmonth period, including journeys to Macon and Atlanta, Ga., to Merrillville, Ind., Litchfield, Conn., and three trips to Washington. "Mr. Bell customarily charges 50 vicinity miles on trips to Frankfort and Lexington. On his frequent trips to Washington, D.C., he charges 100 vicinity miles," the auditor

Van B. Patton, and Jake Mooreentered guilty pleas and appeared as witnesses for the Commonwealth. Booth and Patton each received 16-month terms as part of their plea bargains. Ten others were acquitted by the U.S. District Court jury in Pikeville, which heard the case over three months, beginning in February last year.

Minimal Tax On Coal Ruled Unconstitutional

Kentucky's minimal tax levy on unmined coal is unconstitutional-in fact, the rate applied to unmined mineral reserves is so low that it is improper to call it a "tax."

Those are the conclusions of Franklin Circuit Court Judge William Graham in a ruling handed down last Wednesday. The decision is a victory for Kentuckians from several coal counties who have fought for an equitable tax on unmined coal property and who initiated the case before the Frankfort judge.

At issue in the case, brought by members of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, is legislation passed by the General Assembly in 1978 lowering the property tax rate on unmined coal to one-tenth of one cent per $100 valuation—a rate so low that it accounts for only about $2,600 in tax revenue on $6 to $12 billion worth of property, statewide

"The evidence in this case demonstrates that KRS 132.020(5) both was intended to, and has had the effect of, exempting unmined coal from property taxation and therefore violates Sections 3 and 174 of the Constitution," Judge Graham wrote.

The General Assembly may not do indirectly, as it has attempted to do so in this case, what the Constitution prohibits it from doing directly, Judge Graham added. The Kentucky Constitution requires that all property be valued and taxed at its fair cash value, and that exemptions are allowed only through constitutional amendments and not through immediate impact on other tax matters now being considered by the special session of the General Assembly. Governor Collins had proposed to lower the business inventory tax to onetenth of one cent per $100 valuation. But now that the court has ruled such a low rate an indirect exemption and therefore unconstitutional, it is unlikely legislators will lower it to the proposed level.

Record Christian Music Album

Ron Chaffins and his wife, Pat, of Prestonsburg, have recently recorded an album of contemporary Christian music. The album, just released, is entitled "In His Love" and includes songs by Sandi Patti, David Meece, The Imperials, Andrus and Blackwood and Company, among others.

Mr. Chaffins was formerly employed as associate professor of Accounting and Economics at Prestonsburg Community College and his wife is currently employed at the college in the Nursing Department. Having sung together for more than 12 years, they became more involved in a ministry of contemporary Christian music during the past two years. Singing solos and duets with taped accompaniment music, they have recently conducted services of music at Community Methodist Church, Lancer Baptist Church, McDowell First Baptist Church, Benedict Baptist Church, Wheelwright First Baptist Church, Emma Methodist, Horn Chapel Methodist, Highland Avenue Freewill Baptist, Rock of Revelation Ministries, Boldman Freewill Baptist, Faith Baptist, as well as Fitzpatrick First Baptist Church, where both are active

They are regularly featured on "The Word of Truth" radio program conducted by the Rev. John H. Woods, pastor of Fitzpatrick First Baptist Church, on WPRT-AM. Monday, Wednesday and Fridays at 10:30 a.m.

The album, in cassette format, is on sale at most local Christian Bookstores as well as Herrin-Johnson Pharmacy, the Prestonsbug Sundry Store and Francis Department Store here.

Agriculture Continues Drop Among Kentucky Employers

Kentucky's rich agrarian history might lead many people to assume that agriculture is this state's chief employer. The fact is, agriculture barely makes it into Kentucky's top 10 employers as the state moves into the mid-1980s, according to Cabinet for Human Resources figures.

A recent review of employment trends in Kentucky since 1970 places trade as the No. 1 employer with 295,300 jobs as of May of this year, the latest month for which figures are available. And the trends of a changing employment base, which began two decades ago, are continuing.

Manufacturing overtook farming as the state's chief employer in the mid-1960s. By 1970 employment in trade (180,600 jobs) and service jobs (135,400) had pushed agriculture (82,800) to fourth place. Twelve years later, when trade (260,500) overtook manufacturing (244,800) as the sector in which more Kentuckians were employed, agriculture (68,200) had dropped to sixth

"When members of the baby-boom generation began entering the work force the demand for goods and services increased," said state labor market analyst Ed Blackwell. "This led to more Trade jobs have increased as the number of families with two wageearners has grown, he said. "Retail store hours have expanded into evenings and weekends to accomodate them. And the increase in family income that comes with the employment of both husband and wife increases the demand for many consumer goods and services.' This consumer demand has helped manufacturing rebound from the beating it took during the last recession, Blackwell said. In 1979 more Kentuckians were working in manufacturing than are working in trade now. "But manufacturing employment dropped in 1983 to its lowest level in more than a decade. Although we are seeing some growth in manufacturing now, the May employment level of 256,100 is 41,100 below the record employment set in this

Blackwell noted that service jobs have risen steadily, reaching 239,100 in May of this year. "The primary source of new employees in the service sector has been women who have been outside the labor force and are new entrants to the world of work," Blackwell said.

Education, which has been Kentucky's fourth largest employer since 1972, also lost some jobs during the recession early in the 1980s, but reported a record job level of 110,100 in May.

State and local government, which has ranked fifth since 1978 in employment in Kentucky, also lost jobs during the recession. Recent job growth pushed the number of jobs in this sector up to 78,100 in May, 7,500 below the record in 1979.

Transportation, communications and utilities jobs numbered 68,400 in May, moving this sector to sixth place this

Because of steady declines, agriculture dropped to seventh place this year and reported 63,400 jobs in May. This sector was followed by finance, insurance and real estate, with 57,500 jobs reported in May. Construction was next with 53,500 jobs, followed by federal government, with 40,800 jobs, and bituminous coal mining, with 39,700

Blackwell cited U.S. Department of Labor studies that claim people who have entered the labor force since the 1960s will be more likely to stay in until

He predicted continued foreign competition will adversely affect manufacturing industries but will lead to an increase in service jobs

An abandoned oil well, poorly plugged by private owners several years ago, has been located by the Army Corps of Engineers under a former roadbed at Paintsville Lake.

The well, beneath the now-closed Mine Fork road near its confluence with Little Paint Creek, is issuing about half a gallon of oil per day.

Auxier Wins Top Award In Category

The Auxier, Louisa Rotary, Webbville and Pleasant Hill-Rattle Snake Ridge Community Clubs won top honors at the 22nd Annual Awards Program sponsored by the Northeast Kentucky Rural Community Development Association.

The annual program was conducted in the auditorium of Ashland Community College, Saturday evening.

Auxier was cited for its activities in maintaining a local playground, holding 4th of July and Christmas community get-togethers, supporting the local elementary school cafeteria and working to stabilize utility rates.

Placing second to Auxier was Hitchins of Carter county and third place went to Blaine of Lawrence county.

Winner of the Service Organization category was the Louisa Rotary Club. Its community activities for this year included such activities as supplying glasses and winter coats for needy students, an honors program for outstanding graduating students, farmicity programs and distribution of over $4,000 to charitable activities.

Placing second and third in the Service category were the Kiwanis Club of Salyersville and the Martin County Fair Board.

Webbville, of Lawrence county, bested Norton Branch of Carter county for first place in the Rural Non-Farm category. The winning club has been working for community betterment since 1960. Their most laudable programs for the year were the renting of their community center for day care activities, community homecoming, and charitable activities for senior citizens and the needy.

The Rural Farm category was won by Pleasant Hill-Rattlesnake Ridge of Carter county with Red Bush of Johnson county placing second, and third place going to Load of Greenup county. Burgett of Magoffin county received a red ribbon.

Outstanding accomplishments of the Pleasant Hill-Rattlesnake Ridge Community Development Club included the completion of a seven-year endeavour to secure a water system, day camps for children, rerouting of 500 feet of gravel road, and a salute to senior citizens.

Ollie J. Arnett, of Magoffin county, presided at the event and expressed the membership's appreciation to the First Bank and Trust Company of Ashland, Kentucky Power Company, Big Sandy Rural Electric, and the Chamber of Commerce of Boyd and Greenup counties, for their interest and support.

County's Water Problems Drop

Across the state, water systems are generally trying harder to stick to antipollution regulations that prohibit bacteria and limit cloudiness, according to the state Division of Water. The number of persistent violators was nearly halved in the year ending March 30, state officials reported last week.

Among the state's 575 community water supplies, 66, or 11.5 percent, were classified as persistent violators—that is, as breaching anti-pollution regulations four or more times in a year—while 188 had no violations during the same period. Floyd county was represented in both categories.

While the Weeksbury system was the only water supply listed in this county as actually containing bacteria—one instance was reported—state officials said the system failed to submit required bacteria reports on six occasions. Among the other persistent violators in the county, the Martin system failed to submit bacteria reports on three occasions and turbidity reports on 12 occasions; Wheelwright missed one bacteria report and 12 turbidity reports; and the Alpike Mobile Home park failed to submit bacteria reports on 12 occasions.

On the positive side, the Prestonsburg, Beaver-Elkhorn and Mud Creek systems were all reported as finishing the year with no violations.

The report failed to make mention of the Sandy Valley Water System which serves parts of Floyd and Pike counties.

Anti-pollution standards are set by federal regulation. The state adopted the regulations and is responsible for enforcing them.

Five Injured Here In 3-Car Accident

Five persons injured Sunday in a three-vehicle accident here were treated and released at Highlands Regional Medical Center, according to hospital spokesman Kurt Pickering.

According to the Prestonsburg Police Department, the accident occurred at approximately 6:45 p.m., when a vehicle driven by 17 year-old Darren Flannery, of Bull Creek Road, drove through a red light at the intersection of South Lake Drive and Court Street. Police said Flannery's car struck a vehicle driven by Opal Dingus, 71, of Prestonsburg, knocking it into an auto driven by Tod Daniels, 19, of Prestonsburg.

All three drivers were taken by P & B Ambulance Service to the emergency room at HRMC, as were two passengers in the Flannery vehicle, Aaron Flannery and William Smith. All were said to have received minor injuries and, with the exception of Mrs. Dingus, who was kept for observation until Tuesday, were released Sunday.

Gray Family Reunion

The family of Josephine Gray and the late Bill Gray, Sr., met at her home in Prestonsbug, July 4. Those present included the families of her two sons Galloway Gray and Bill Gray, Jr., and the families of her deceased daughter, Emogene Gray Milligan.

Family members attending were Galloway Gray and wife, Faye, of Franklin, Ohio; Bill Gray, Jr., and wife, Magda, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; seven grandchildren, Brenda Milligan Tallent, of Miami, Florida; Kaye Milligan McGuire and husband, Frank, Jr., of Prestonsburg; Larry W. Milligan and wife, Leoma, of Mt. Sterling; Randy Gray and wife, Eleanor, of Naperville, Illinois; Billy Gray and wife, Judy, of Franklin, Ohio; Ann Gray and Dennis Gray, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; seven great-grandchildren; Sean and Adam McGuire, Prestonsburg; Jason and Larissa Milligan, Mt. Sterling; Christopher and Lisa Gray, Naperville, Illinois; Teresa Gray, Franklin, Ohio.

Make Vacation Problems Fewer

How many times have you seen car trouble spoil a vacation before it has had a chance to really get started? The Blue Grass Automobile Club (AAA) reports that careful planning can prevent car trouble and make your vacation as safe and enjoyable as possible.

According to Ned McAfee, manager of Emergency Road Service for the Blue Grass Club, the most common vacation spoilers are broken fan belts, flat tires, and leaking radiator hoses. "These are all problems that can be avoided by taking the time to get your car in the best possible shape before your trip," McAfee said.

McAfee advises vacationers to review their owners' and maintenance manuals and have their car tuned by a trusted mechanic before leaving. But, McAfee warns, don't be satisfied with that. "Before pulling out of your driveway give a final check to your belts, hoses, tire pressures—including the spare—and fluid levels, and keep checking them during the trip," he said. Also, before leaving, make sure the jack and lug wrench are in a serviceable condition.

Even with all your careful planning there is no assurance a breakdown won't occur, so be prepared. Include in your trunk some tools and either reflective triangles or flares. Also, make sure there is a flashlight with fresh batteries in the glove compartment.

If problems do develop, AAA offers some tips:

*If the temperature light comes on or steam is pouring from the engine, pull off the road and turn off the engine immediately. Open the hood, but do not remove the radiator cap for at least 30 minutes. If you add water to the radiator, it should be warm, never cold. Cold water could crack the engine block.

*Place a flare or other warning device just behind the car, and another at least 300 feet farther back. *Don't try to change a flat tire unless

*Avoid exiting or working on your car on the side that is exposed to traffic.

AAA also suggests that you not drive for more than four hours at a stretch and, as any other time you're on the road, wear your safety belt.

During fiscal 1984, the Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) oversaw coal miners' safety and health at 1,904 underground mines, 2,092 surface mines, and 985 other surface facilities under the agency's jurisdiction, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's annual report for fiscal 1984. The report added that coal mine employment and production both were on the increase during the fiscal year.

Named Bank Director

G. Stephen Pack, certified public accountant and partner in the local CPA firm of Abrams & Co., was recently appointed to the board of directors of the holding company of the Citizens Bank of Jackson, in Breathitt county.

Pack is a 1978 graduate of Morehead State University where he earned a bachelor's degree of business administration in accounting. He is currently serving on the Kentucky Society of CPA's public relations committee for the '85-'86 term and has been an adviser to the board of directors of the Archer Memorial Clinic here for the past six years. He is a member of the Kentucky Society of CPA's and the American Institute of CPA's.

Cain Pleads Guilty To Burglary Charge

Formal sentencing has been set for Friday for Byron Lee Cain, 19-year-old Williamsport student, who pleaded guilty last Monday to a charge of third-degree burglary.

Cain's plea came a day before he was scheduled to be tried in Circuit Court here on a charge that he broke into the Curtis Mathes Home Entertainment Store in Highland Plaza on May 26 last year and stole television sets and other merchandise valued at $5700.

Police said Cain gained entry to the store by forcing open an air vent on the roof.

The prosecutor has recommended that Cain be given probation for five years on condition that he return the stolen merchandise, make restitution of $440, and go back to school.

Bourbon County Top Producer of Tobacco

Preliminary figures show that Bourbon county outproduced all other Kentucky counties in 1984 with more than 14 million pounds of burley tobacco.

Barren county, which has been the Commonwealth's top producer since 1981, followed close behind with 13.9 million pounds.

"As expected, the Bluegrass area outproduced the other five regions in the state, accounting for 40.8 percent of the burley produced in 1984," said Agriculture Commissioner David E.

Shelby, Fayette and Woodford counties followed in that order behind Bourbon and Barren counties.

The Central region produced 25.5 percent of the burley in 1984, followed by the Eastern region with 12.4 percent, the Northern with 11.6 percent, the Mid-Western with 7.6 percent and the Purchase with 2.1 percent.

Gov. Collins Proclaims Firefighter Appreciation

Gov. Martha Layne Collins has proclaimed the period, July 22-28, Firefighter Appreciation Week.

Asking all Kentuckians to join her in paying tribute "to those dedicated members of the Fire Service who serve all of us in such an unselfish manner, the governor points out that for more than 30 years members of the Fire Service have supported the Muscular Dystrophy Association and are already making plans for the Kentucky Firefighters Crusade in support of the 1986 Jerry Lewis Labor Day telethon to raise funds to help those afflicted with one of the 40 neuromuscular diseases.

National POW/MIA Recognition Slated

By joint resolution, Congress designated July 19 as "National POW/MIA Recognition Day." The day will commemorate the sacrifice and suffering endured by many Americans held captive during all wars.

This year, the Veterans Administration joined with the Commonwealth to pay special tribute to Kentucky's former Prisoners of War (POW) and the families of those still Missing in Action (MIA). The ceremonies will be held in Frankfort, July 19, on the Capitol grounds at 11:15 a.m. E.L. Caudill, director of the VA Regional Office in Louisville, said that "the move to Frankfort is an attempt to consolidate many smaller tributes into one statewide recognition day in which all Kentuckians can participate."

The day's event will consist of a per-formance by the Fern Creek High School JROTC drill team, patriotic songs by the Department of Human Resources choir, and a speech by retired Col. Dewey L. Smith, a former POW, followed by a flyover by the Kentucky Air National Guard.'

More than 1,000 invitations have been sent to former POW's and families of MIA's. Any POW (or MIA family) who has not received an invitation is urged to call the VA Regional Office on one of

HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

The First United Methodist Women held their regular monthly meeting July 8 at 7 p.m. at the church. Mrs. Dorothy Wells, president, presided. Dr. Lowell Langefeld opened the meeting with a devotional, entitled, "The Changing Age in Which We Live." Mrs. Clara Bradbury introduced the guest-speaker, Mrs. Deona Patton, of the Highland Regional Medical Center. Mrs. Patton presented the interesting and informative program on "Enterostomal Therapy." The Crafts committee had a display of hand-made items that may be purchased during the Christmas bazaar

The hostesses, Mesdames Ann Alley and Dot Marshall, served refreshments to members, Gladys Blackburn, May K. Roberts, Mabel Jeanm LeMaster, Virginia Jeffries, Maureen Mayo, Bess West, Betty Langefeld, Margaret Alley, Goldia Music, Virginia Shivel, Anna May Mellon, Vera Ford, Orpha H. Meece, Elizabeth Ramey, Judy Kittle, Dorothy Stover, Kathryn Frazier, Dorothy Wells, Geneva Carter, Edna Carol Greenwade, Sally K. Goebel, Barbara Allen, Clara Bradbury and Dena Bartley, and the pastor, Dr. Lowell Langefeld.

TO HONOR FORMER PASTOR

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Harold W. Dorsey, of Lexington, will be held at the First United Methodist Church, Pikeville, Sunday, July 21, at 3 p.m. Dr. Dorsey, who retired this year, formerly served as minister here and at Pikeville. Those who may need to go to the reception by way of the church van should call Mrs. E.D. Roberts.

ATTEND LODGE MEET

On July 9 Mesdames Mabel Jean LeMaster, Sue Moore, Mary Zemo, Violetta Wright, and Clara Harris attended a meeting of Betsy Ross Rebekah Lodge No. 95 at Louisa, at which time Assembly President Nell Thompson was honored. Prior to the meeting, those in attendance enjoyed dinner, and at the close of the meeting, cake and punch were served. The decorated cake had been made by Mrs. Mary Zemo.

Veteran Says He's One of Forgotten

As I read the story, (The Forgotten U.S. Soldiers) June 19, 1985 issue of your paper, by Al Haas, Lexington Herald-Leader, I could not keep from noticing this was a one-sided story of the forgotten soldier. The men in his story were the lucky ones, they came home, able to work and provide for a family. There was nothing said about these men being one of the 103,248 that were wounded. I would like to say, Mr. Haas, let's look at the records of one of the 103,248 that was luckier than some but not as lucky as others.

After three years and four months as a patient in an Army hospital he was sent home, cutting a nine-year enlistment four years and two months. So he returns to Johnson County, which had been his home since birth and applied for his disability through the V.A. Veterans Administration. No problem, 20%. When he appealed they inform him that he must prove his disability. Fine and good, we have all your medical records and you do not see them. After Congress passed the Freedom of Information law in 1982 he received his medical records which were very shocking to him. He did not know that he had laid on the battlefield for two days and two nights, the temperature in the teens; he did not know that he had spent 23 hours and 28 minutes in surgery, the doctors trying just to save his life, not trying to save his legs so he could walk again, or his arms so he could feel hisself

After 30 years of appeals and hospitals and the doctors informing his wife that she must be a nurse to him 24 hours a day for the rest of his life, the V.A. says now we will give him 40% which pays $214 a month, no other income.

After going through and living in hell for 34 years, what kind of other thanks has this man received?

He has seen his state with law that in the name of the riches and wealth will allow corporations to force their way on his property and create a death trap for his neighbor's children, state agents saying you correct the problem, even though the low bid is $77,000,00.

He has seen the county where he lives pass county laws that give their appointed agents the right to search his property without a warrant or his permission.

He has seen the county adjoining his property pass laws that say, if he has a shack on his property beside the one that he lives in he must get permission from an agent of the county before it is rented, or pay a $500 fine each day someone lived in it.

He has seen an attorney general's report that said you have a boss in your

He remembers seeing another country that had a boss in their town that the citizens had to get permission from to plant their rice paddies.

Above all these thanks, he has had his voting rights taken away because he spoke out against this kind of system, without being charged with any crime.

As this letter is being written on the 209th birthday of America, I pray she will have 209 more, but if she has nothing to give, then she will have nothing to expect in return.

God bless America! For I am one of the 103,248, the truly forgotten U.S. soldiers.

Hails Miss Kentucky

Congratulations, Laurie Keller-Miss Floyd County, Miss Kentucky! Next stop, Atlantic City and the Miss America Pageant.

It's funny how things can change. Just a few months ago, before the Miss Floyd County Pageant, girls from other counties had a rough time entering this pageant. "It just shouldn't be allowed." Since Floyd county held the Johnson county franchise there was no way

The pageant spoke for itself. If you missed it, you missed a show of good talent, beauty, poise from all contestants. But for one girl, her talent was nothing short of professional and that performance left the audience spellbound. The beauty and poise displayed was incredible. The only problem—this contestant was from Johnson county. It was no surprise to the spectators that Laurie Keller became Miss Floyd County. The remarks I heard after the pageant were unbelievable and at the

"It's not fair that a Floyd countian didn't win." But the idea of the pageant is to find the girl that would best represent the county at the state pageant. Personally, I feel that no one could have done any better. Now Laurie Keller is Miss Kentucky and on her way to the Miss America Pageant.

Now, I'm sure that minds have changed and those people with the rude remarks are proud of Laurie: Yes, what's unfair is that those who didn't want her as our representative in Louisville are basking in the glory. It's a shame that Laurie had to hear such remarks in the first place. Down the road, Laurie will never forget how she was treated here. (That is, how she was treated at first but when she showed them what she was made of it's all chummy). Laurie, in the months a head of you put aside those nasty remarks. Smile and remember you have true friends in Floyd county who love you and are behind you (as we have been for years) 100%.

Laurie Keller, Miss Kentucky, your true friends from Floyd county are with you in Atlantic City. Good luck! Kentucky's dream is becoming America's

'Rendezvous With Disaster'

'We fear for our children." This compelling language opens the recent report submitted to Governor Collins by the Protective Services Advisory Committee, which I chair. This committee was appointed by the governor in November, 1984, to take an in-depth look at the services provided by the state to children committed to its care.

We found Kentucky on a course which is leading us to an inevitable rendezvous with disaster. Years of neglected and misplaced priorities have left us with a system of protective services dangerously inadequate, and the consequences of our inaction are being painfully felt by thousands of children throughout Kentucky.

An historical perspective is helpful in understanding the magnitude of this problem. Since 1980, children's needs have increased dramatically, while during the same period massive funding reductions were made, causing children to become one of Kentucky's most neglected assets. Between 1980 and 1984, Kentucy's Department for Social Services lost in excess of $18 million in both federal and state funding. In addition, 141 social worker positions and 152 paraprofessional positions were abolished during this time.

At the same time that funds and personnel were decreasing, the number of child abuse and neglect reports more than doubled, rising from 15,668 to 32,713. The number of reported cases of sexual abuse increased from 671 to 2,126, and the number of children in state custody in foster care increased from 2,595 to 2,825.

What does all this mean? It means that many of Kentucky's children-our children-are suffering emotional and physical trauma, sometimes too great to imagine. Such pain cannot adequately be described through statistics and budget figures. But one thing is certain—something must be done about this problem-now!

The Protective Services Advisory Committee, in recognition of the critical needs and problems facing our youth, compiled and submitted to the Governor a series of recommendations geared towards a sweeping and fundamental reform of the system-reforms that include reducing social worker caseloads, providing adequate training and liability insurance for foster parents and the development of "review units" to assure that children are being provided adequate protection and services. In addition and perhaps most importantly, all of the recommendations flow from a basic and important change in philosophy-from a reactive system to one that stresses prevention.

In response to our report, Governor Martha Layne Collins has included this issue in her call for a special session of the General Assembly. I encourage all Kentuckians who are interested and committed to quality care for our youth to contact their legislators and urge support for the protective services legislative package.

What takes place during this special session may well affect the health and well-being of many of our children. Please do not let this important opportunity slip by. Innocent children should not have to pay for our neglect. STEVEN L. BESHEAR, Lt. Gov.

Fourth Conviction For Drunk Driving

A 24-year-old Lackey man has been convicted of drunk driving for the fourth time in a little over a year, the third time in as many months.

Terry Lee Sturgill was arrested at Lackey by Constable Bob Hackworth last Saturday and booked on charges of DUI, driving without a license, and letting his registration run out. He pleaded guilty to the charges in Floyd District Court Monday, received a 30-day jail sentence, and was ordered to pay $707.50 in fine and court costs.

Sturgill was convicted only last month of drunk driving, driving on a suspended license, and failing to carry insurance, charges brought by Prestonsburg police officer Jeff Stumbo. In May, he was sentenced to 30 days and fined $407.50 on identical charges, following his arrest on North Lake Drive by Prestonsburg Police Sgt. Gerald Clarke.

Sturgill was first convicted of DUI in June last year, following his arrest at Garrett by State Trooper W. Scott.

Also convicted of drunk driving this week was James Arthur Tackett, of Drift, who was fined $400 in his absence Tuesday. Charges of drunk driving and driving on a suspended license brought against Gary N. Blackburn were amended Monday to charges of public intoxication and driving without a license. He was given 20 days' probation and ordered to pay $67.50 in fine and costs.

Tons of hazardous pesticides, paints, cleaners and solvents stored in basements and garages may be the country's biggest hidden pollution problem, says International Wildlife magazine. A regional government agency in Seattle estimates there are more than 100,000 pounds of the banned pesticide DDT stored in the Seattle suburbs alone. Some 25 states are setting up toxic waste collection points to help combat this problem.

John C. Hall Founder Hall Funeral Home

IS IT GOOD FOR A CHILD TO SEE

Since a funeral service helps to meet the psychological needs of adults, it can also help a child work through his own griefs. The funeral will help the child learn to accept the fact that a death has occurred.

One should not tell other adults, "Don't cry." These tears are the safety valves of your emotional being and you need this outlet, within good reason, of course. This suggestion applies equally well to the children. They, too, should show their emotion, rather than stifling it.

Being around other people, especially adults, will let the child know that others feel the loss of their loved one and are expressing their sorrow in a manner acceptable to society. A child can labor under the misguided and self-developed fantasy that he or she was responsible for the death of the loved one...because of something said or done which now would loom large. The love expressed and the comfort extended by others will help the child to see their actions in a proper light. The decision to exclude children from funerals may be interpreted by them as punishment and become the basis for more fantasies. Call us about this.

Morehead State Names Long-Range Plan Committee

Members of Morehead State University's Mission and Long-Range Plan Committee have been selected, MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard announc-

The 11-member committee includes the following University Board of Regents appointees: Harry LaViers, of Irvine, who will serve as chairman; Dr. Forest Skaggs, of Lynch, and Mrs. Patricia Burchett, of Paintsville. Elected by the Faculty Senate were

Dr. Richard Hunt, associate professor of chemistry, and Dr. Frederick Mueller, professor of music. Richard Baxter, executive assistant to the president, and Dr. Gary Grace, vicepresident for student development, were appointed by Dr. Reinhard. MSU Student Association President Ben Iden named Mike Fox, of Olive Hill, past SA president, and himself as student representatives. Serving on the committee by virtue of their office are David Bolt, of Morehead, MSU Alumni Association president, and

Dan Lacy, of Ashland, MSU Foundation

The committee is charged with drafting a contemporary mission and a fiveto seven-year plan to chart direction for the University. The committee's recommendations will be submitted in November to Dr. Reinhard, who will forward them to the various campus constituent groups for review and recommendations. The draft plan is expected to be submitted to the regents in February for their consideration and

MSU Plant Director

Joe Planck, Morehead State University's acting director of physical plant since last August, Monday was named to the post on a permanent basis.

The new director is a member of the Association of Physical Plant Administrators for Universities and Colleges and the American Water Works Association. A Mason, he also has been active in Little League and Scouting. MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard said of the appointment: Planck will be responsible for more than 150 staff members who maintain the campus facilities, operate its heating and water plants, provide custodial services and support functions. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Planck, of Rt. 6, Morehead, he is married to the former Jane Reed, of Floyd county, and is the father of four children.

Maytown Homecoming Countdown Under Way

Countdown for the big Homecoming, July 26-28 is under way—committees at work, Lorena Chaffins, school principal, doing everything possible to assist the board of directors composed of Violet Allen, Ruth Sloan, Rose Bowling, Minnie Conley, Dorothy Osborne and Alma Lowe. Due to ill health, Alice Hayes and Wilma May resigned, months ago. All food concessions go to the Parent-Teacher Organization.

Maytownites who received no invitation are urged to come as though they had. The file of the Association contains more than 1100 names and addresses, but many who move forget to notify MHA. More than a hundred invitations were returned this year, due to incorrect addresses. But the welcome mat is out for any and all with roots here, for their ancestors, descendants, and in-laws, of

A brief outline for the program Saturday evening will be in The Times next week. Programs will be available at the registration booth in the cafeteria, both days. The news letter will be on sale there, with a few remaining copies, or of Homecoming booklets for previous years also on hand.

Every person attending is urged to be sure to fill in the form and leave it with the committee for future reference. All three local churches welcome Homecomers on Sunday

From time to time we hear people comment that something adds real spice to their lives. To most of us, spices are bits of leaves or seeds in small tins or bottles we find shelved near the flour and sugar section of a grocery store. Spices are often defined as the useful part of an herb (a plant with culinary, fragrant, dye or medicinal uses).

The grocery store needn't be our only source for spices. Many spices and/or herbs can be easily propagated and grown in both indoor and outdoor home gardens.

Home-grown herbs and spices are special because the desired root, bark, leaf, flower, fruit or seed can be harvested fresh for a stronger aroma or flavor, or dried for future use. Foods can be given better or more interesting tastes when herbs and spices are added and stale air can be transformed when an herbal scent wafts through it.

In general, herbs are easy to grow, often thriving in poor, dry soil, and have few cultural requirements or pests. Many spread very readily, and if there is one disadvantage in growing them it may be their overly zealous growth rate. Many people have had one small mint plant consume a large garden area in only a few years.

While herbs we specifically add to our gardens are regarded as domesticated, Kentucky's fields and woods yield wild herbs such as goldenrod and sassafras. Herbs that we add to our outdoor gardens will be either annual or perennial plants, the difference important to note when herb gardens are being designed.

Annual herbs such as dill and the many basils must be planted each year, although many will reseed themselves. Perennial herbs such as chives and mints return each year without replanting. Herbs can be used in free-flowing kitchen gardens, or at the other extreme, may be used in rigidly designed and very traditional, geometric beds.

Herbs integrate nicely into not only the home vegetable garden, but also the flower garden and landscape. Chives annually produce clumps of pink, lavender or blue flowers. Chamomile has small white and yellow daisy-type flowers while calendulas bear large yellow and orange flowers whose petals are often added to salads.

Several low, spreading herbs make good ground cover substitutes. Instead of English ivy or vinca (periwinkle), use woolly thyme, prostrate rosemary, lamb's ear or sweet woodruff.

Striking colors can be added by using purple basil or bronze fennel, or a cool, serene garden all of gray can be developed using sage, lavender, santolia, lamb's ears and wormwood.

Many herbs containerize well, either as outdoor pot plants and hanging baskets, or as indoor windowsill plants. Some herbs, such as mints, are actually planted outdoors in the ground in containers to keep them from overspreading an area.

Whether you're an herbal novice, or an experienced herb grower looking for something new for your garden, plan to visit the herb garden at the State Fair in Louisville this summer. Designed and supervised by Jefferson County Home Horticulture Extension Agent Donna Michael, the garden, started last year to replace the fruit and vegetable garden on the east side of the rose garden, will eventually have 52 varieties of herbs including several different mints. During the Fair this year demonstrations of both culinary and ornamental uses of herbs will be held in the herb garden.

(A colorful new reference on herbs is Ortho Book's The World of Herbs and Spices.)

Timely Tip: Another group of plants to view at the State Fair this year are past and present All American Award winning flowers and vegetables, planted in a border along the east side rose

The Regional Medical Center at McDowell has announced the addition of Dr. Akram M. Hassanyeh, M.D., to its medical staff on July 1.

Dr. Hassanyeh comes to McDowell from the Texas Heart Institute in Houston, where he just completed a oneyear fellowship in cardiovascular surgery. Prior to that, he was at the Hospital of St. Raphael in New Haven, Connecticut. He is certified by the American Board of Surgery and performs both cardiovascular and general

Dr. Hassanyeh and his wife, Rola, have two children, a son, Fuad, 5, and a daughter, Ruby, 3. They will live in the McDowell area

Cesarean Support Group Slates Meeting Here

 Due to the rising incidence of cesarean sections nationwide, the Big Sandy Family and Childbirth Education Association has begun a Cesarean Birth Support Group. A meeting will be held July 17, at 6:30 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, next to Jerry's Restaurant, in Prestonsburg to allow the cesarean family to share their thoughts and feelings about their birth experience, and to assist those with questions. Husbands and children are welcome.

The Association has begun a new format for childbirth classes. It has added a prenatal information class to the regular series, making the new series last for seven weeks. This prenatal information class is to be taken earlier than other parts of the childbirth class series, so its is important to register early for the Prepared Childbirth classes. For more information or to register for classes, call Vikki McGuire at 886-3863. The next class is scheduled to begin on August 8.

Avian Virus Traced To Kentucky Bird

Officials of the U.S. Department of Agriculture have confirmed the presence of an avian virus which can cause death rates of 50 to 95 percent in infected chicken flocks. The disease was found in a pet bird dealer's facility and, so far, exposed birds from the business have been traced to 11 states, including

About 900 birds from the facility, located in Cape Girardeau, Mo., and two exposed birds in North Carolina were destroyed to prevent the virus, Exotic Newcastle disease, from spreading.

Dr. Presley Winner, assistant area veterinarian for the USDA in Frankfort, said the Kentucky bird was in the Louisville area, and when found, had not exhibited any signs of Exotic Newcastle. The USDA purchased the bird so the extremely contagious disease would not spread, should it show up, he said.

Of the other 10 states where birds were sold, about half were neighbors of Kentucky. Winner said this should not be a problem though because the USDA follows the same routine as with the Kentucky bird.

'The birds are traced and bought or quarantined until there is no chance the disease will break," he said. "At the present time I anticipate no trouble to Kentucky poultry farmers.

While the outlook holds no cause for alarm, Winner warns poultry farmers to be aware of the disease

'We're in no immediate danger, but we must keep watch," he said. "There is such a large number of pet birds coming into the country; they travel so rapidly we must watch for the break of Birds coming into the country must go through import centers where they are observed for about 30 days before moving on, he said. The only problem is that the birds are so expensive they are often smuggled in.

"These birds sell for as much as $1,000 each," said Tom Johnson, research poultry production specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, "They are smuggled in much the same way people smuggle in drugs. These birds forego import centers and may be carriers of the John Tuttle, Extension poultry specialist at UK, described the symptoms of Exotic Newcastle that farmers should look for.

The chickens are very nervous," he said. "They gasp, cough, chirp and throw their heads back. If they hear a loud noise they will roll onto their backs or put their heads between their legs."

If your pet bird or poultry show signs of Exotic Newcastle disease, isolate the birds and have them tested. Individuals who handle infected birds also can contract the virus, which in humans causes a temporary eye inflammation and flulike symptoms. Humans can spread the disease to birds.

Bert Hawkins, administrator of the USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, said USDA pays owners whose birds are destroyed to prevent spread of the disease, unless the birds are smuggled into the country or are found to be infected while still in port-of-entry quarantine.

IVEL NEWS

Those who recently were hospitalized or visited doctors are: Phyllis Hurd, Margie DeRossett and Rebecca Morris, all of whom are improving nicely.

The Hurd reunion was held July 6 on the lawn of Shular and Phyllis Hurd. Relatives from Indiana, Ohio, and Michigan attended. A watermelon feast with gospel singing concluded the evening.

Miss Kimberlie Ozmun, of Catlettsburg, is spending part of her summer vacation with her grandparents, Curt and Hazel George

Miss Mahala Prater entertained friends with a slumber party recently. (Slumber parents call it "frolic all night" party-then slumber next day.)

It's a tie between Guy Burchett and Curt George for having the bestgroomed garden, almost weed-free. Red Collins may come in for second place. Shirley Caldwell and C.B. Hall report a successful fishing trip in Tennessee.

The descendants of Jake and Nannie Damron held a reunion at Jenny Wiley State Park, July 6. Ralph and Carl Damron, of Galion, Ohio, organized the event. The oldest member present was Dockie Bolin, of Lebanon, Ohio. She is the sole survivor of the 11 children. Those deceased are Will, Ben, Bob, Jim, Nick, Jack, John, Laura, Kate, and Alec Goldia L. Hall and Ernestine DeBoard visited Riverview Nursing Home recently. They make frequent visits. All of us should do likewise.

Ronnie and Sharon Goble, who are building a new home are presently living in their trailer on Old U.S. 23 at Ivel. Friends of Mid Derossett are glad to know of his improvement at Riverview Manor Nursing Home. Isom Hurd and Curt George visited him recently.

Sheriff's Department In Marijuana Arrests

More marijuana arrests were reported this week by the Sheriff's

According to deputies, a total of 87 marijuana plants with a combined street value of $863,400 were confiscated in four separate arrests of Floyd county resi-

Arrested were Ronnie Neeley, of Salt Lick, Tuesday on charges of producing 12 plants; Elsa Hall, of Minnie, Wednesday on charges of producing 19 plants; and Connie Dmitruk, of Corn Fork, Monday, charged with producing 21 plants. Each was released on $2,000 cash Katherine Lewis, of Stratton Branch, was arrested Tuesday on charges of producing 35 plants. She was released on $5,000 cash bond.

Deputies said the arrests were based upon tips received by the Sheriff's department and encouraged anyone with information on narcotics trafficking to contact the department.

DENTAL TIPS

Dr. H.G. Salisbury

RICHMOND PLAZA,

PRESTONSBURG

PHONE 886-2676

It's never too soon to begin a program of regular dental care. In the past, many parents paid little or no attention to so-called "baby teeth"-figuring that these were expendable and nature would take care of producing a healthy set of adult teeth. But, consider this example: When a baby or toddler goes to sleep with a bottle of milk or sugar-containing fruit juices, already-erupted teeth are bathed in a sugar-acid solution. Since saliva's mouth-cleaning action slows down while a child sleeps, this "pacifier" bottle creates an ideal climate for decay bacteria. And because the enamel of baby teeth is thinner than that of permanent teeth, and the bacteria growth rate increases enormously, this combination can cause widespread decay in all teeth.

If a baby absolutely insists on going to sleep with a bottle, be sure it's removed once the child settles down.

Mrs. Agnes Bauers and Miss Anna Mae Harris, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Louis Bauers and children, Jodi Ann, B.J. and Heidi, of Peoria, Ill., called on Misses Billie and Stella Bowling at their home Sunday

IN MEMORIAM

July 9th of each year has become a permanent day of remembrance for me.

On July 9, 1955 my precious dad, Frank P. Hall, Weeksbury, Ky., passed through the door leading to eternity. He gave ups his mortal body to live forever within the spiritual one. No todays; no tomorrow; no time piece-just a perpetual forever. I remember dad today as clearly as recall 30 years ago. I remember his honesty, his compassion, his sense of brotherhood, his service to his church, his love for God, family and home. I respected him; I honored him and I loved him so much! My memories of his beliefs and his teaching of character have influenced my life. July 9, 1984, 30 years to the very day of dad's passing, my beloved sister, Ola

Mae Hall Damron, joined dad, mom, her husband, her brother and her twin sister and, oh, so many family loved ones, together with the countless multitudes of the children of God who wait beyond the wall for the great reunion. 'For now we see through a glass darkly; but then face to face; now I know in part; but then shall I know even as also I am known." (Cor. 1. 13:12) Daughter and sister,

KAY P. HALL MCELROY Clarksville, Indiana

Michael Gene Reynolds

Michael Gene Reynolds, 8, of McDowell, son of Ted and Carol Sue Hall Reynolds, of McDowell, died last Wednesday, July 3, at the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, following an illness. He was born April 7, 1977 in Huntington, Indiana.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Keith and Dewayne Reynolds, both of McDowell; his maternal grandparents, Logan and Evelyn Hall, of Melvin; his paternal grandfather, Raymond Reynolds, and paternal step-grandmother, Shelby Reynolds, both of McDowell, and his paternal grandmother, Janet Deal, of West Haven, Connecticut.

Funeral services were conducted last Saturday, at 11 a.m. at the home of Logan Hall at Melvin, with Regular Baptist miniters officiating. Burial was made in the Buckingham cemetery at Bevinsville under the direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

In 1840 there were 2,818 miles of railroad track in the U.S. Today there are over 200,000 miles of track!

IN MEMORY

of Flossie Slone Who passed away July 14, 1984. Sadly missed by children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

PATSY MARCUM TORRECH

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our dear son, Jimmy Penix, who passed away July 19, 1984. He was our life, our strength and guide, Through all his sickness we were by his To visit him would make him smile.

He was as humble as a little child, We miss him so, our hearts are sore. As time goes by we miss him more. His loving ways, his kind face-Nothing on earth can fill his place. Some day we'll meet him in heaven, I don't know just when, to love and be together, never to part again. No one knows but Jesus how we miss you and the pain we have suffered since we lost you. Life will never be the same. In our hearts your memory lingers, sweetly, tender, fond and true. There is not a day, dear Jimmy, that we do not think of you. To some he may be forgotten, to others part of the past, but to us who loved and lost you, your memory will always last.

So if you have someone really special cherish them in a loving way, for you'll never know real heartache until God calls them away.

We love and miss you so much. Dad, Mom, Mandy, Lonnie, Priscilla. All your aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, and cousins.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Ellis Little wants to thank everyone who helped us in any way upon his recent death. We want to especially thank the ministers, those who sent flowers, food, spoke a kind word, or who expressed their sympathy in anyway.

Godley, Creme cross over the other way

By Barton Weiss

Cross over

Lots of recording stars have directed their own videos, but video directors Godley and Creme are the first to cross over the other way and record their own song — "Cry."

The "Cry" video consists of a long series of blackand-white closeups of faces lip-synching the song. But even as the faces change, the eyes stay in the exact same spot. After five faces, it becomes eerie.

The real genius in the clip, however, is the way each face melts into the next, changing feature by feature. In fact, some of the in-between faces are far better than the real ones.

Royal outing

Prince had wanted his "Raspberry Beret" video to be all animation, but the final result includes some performance footage. The animation looks like a cross between the films "Magical Mystery Tour" and "Yellow Submarine" but it's not nearly as compelling as the performance footage of the royal one himself.

Opportunity knocks

Aspiring video artists, take note:

By J.T. YURKO Tracks "St. Elmo's Fire" is the name of a bar in the chic Georgetown section of Washington, D.C., that is frequented by seven recent college gradu-

Emilio Estevez, Ally Sheedy. *

"St. Elmo's Fire" is also the for the atmospheric that are occasionally seen during electrical storms. But both the film and the natural phenomenon to which it refers are dazzling visual displays that signify very little

"St. Elmo's Fire" follows the stories of this post-collegiate magnificent seven who find life a little different on the outside. But the substance is that of a soap-opera episode gone big-screen. It's a far cry from Mike Nichols' eloquent summation of what it was like to be the graduate in the '60s.

This film might even be called "The Making of the Yuppies." Judd Nelson, a Democrat in college, suddenly finds it's far more profitable to be a Republican. Ally Sheedy plays his girlfriend, who isn't ready for marriage and utters such depth-defying comments

"I can't picture my whole life with him, but I can't picture myself without him."

ST. ELMO'S FIRE (R-Columbia) Starring Andrew McCarthy,

Demi Moore is a young businesswoman who keep her nose far away from the grindstone and steadfastly onto the next line of cocaine. Mare Winningham fares only slightly better as a social worker trying to forsake her "Sister Sarah" image but not her ideals. And Emilio Estevez's story should have been left on the cutting-

Together, the tales intermin-gle with romance, careers, and uncertain futures. Director Joel Schumacher and the fine cast of Hollywood's hot kids keep the film moving along, and beneath the soap bubbles, there's a lot of truth.

But one still wonders what would happen if someone walked up to any of these kids and said, "Plastics."
"St. Elmo's Fire" ends up with none of the emotional depth of "The Big Chill" or even "Diner," a similar but far superior film of a group of kids with the "real world" blues.

Kanaly is eager to begin his eighth 'Dallas' season

By Peter Meade

LONESOME COWBOY - It's hard to believe, but only one actor is currently playing a cowboy on a prime-time TV series — Steve Kanaly of "Dallas.

Since Patrick Duffy checked out of the CBS series at the end of last season, Kanaly stands to inherit a larger piece of the action, so he's especially eager to return for his eighth season on the CBS nighttime soap.

Ideas for the new season's story lines gush from Kanaly, a Burbank, Calif., native, like oil from one of the Ewings' many wells. But if he knows anything about what the new season will bring, he's keeping it under his 10-gal-Ion hat

"It's directed at women my age," says Miss Jones, 51. "It shows how to take care of your body, mind, face — total health." She adds that her approach is "nothing radical," but it makes the most of what you have.

The singer-actress, whose last series was "Shirley" during the 1979-80 season, says she would love to return to the weekly series grind.

"My five years on 'The Partridge Family' were the happiest of my life," she " 'Shirley' had a says. wonderful two-hour pilot, but after that I just didn't have enough creative control."

In the meantime, Miss Jones is still busy on the concert trail, and she and her husband of eight years, comedian-turned-agent Marty Ingels, are finishing their dual autobiography, which is due out by the end of the year

Casting took place during a set of five auditions, in locations ranging from Florida to New York. Out of hundreds of performers, four children from Eastern Kentucky were cast. These talented youngsters spend many hours a week as part of the Von Trapp family, learning lines, dances and songs.

Kelly Lee Bates, an eight-year-old third-grader at Osborne Elementary School at Blevinsville, is playing Gretl, the youngest Von Trapp child. She was the 1983 Tiny Miss Floyd County, 1984 Little Miss Jenny Wiley, and is currently Miss Shriner (1985).

Amy Grigsby is returning for her second year as Louisa. A 10-year-old in the sixth grade at Hindman Elementary School, she has performed as Kate in Jenny Wiley Theatre's 1984 production

Malisha Annette Ratliff is playing Marta. A student of tap, ballet, jazz, piano, and gymnastics, she attends Pikeville Elementary School and will be a fifth grader. She is a Girl Scout and a cheerleader. This is her third season with the theatre.

Playing the part of Kurt, is David Tolliver, a 10-year-old fifth grader at Hindman Elementary School. David is a charter member of Children of the American Revolution. He has performed at the Hazard Air Show and Miss Knott County High School Pageant. This fall David will be performing in the Miss Black and Gold and the Little Miss Gingerbread Pageants.

Also cast from these auditions were Rose Price, of Prestonsburg, and Kim Cole, of Paintsville.

And other area residents have helped in other ways. Members of the Job Corps have assisted in the building of the stage floor and the preparation of the theatre house. "I found the Job Corps members that helped us to be hard workers," said general manager Steve Cornwell Their contribution to the theatre has been invaluable," he said.

But more help is needed. Jenny Wiley Theatre is looking for volunteers to help in many different areas of its operations, particularly during performances. 'This is a great way to show your support and committment to Eastern Kentucky's professional theatre," says business manager Ken Rhudy. All who are interested in working at the theatre are encouraged to call Rhudy at 886-3691.

ATTEND PAGEANT

Nine members of the Prestonsburg Junior Women's Club attended the Miss Kentucky Scholarship Pageant in Louisville on July 13. Those in attendance were Sharon Burchett, Sherry Goebel, Leigh Ann Stanley, Sharon May, Judi Calhoun, Debbie Thomas, Betty Ann Calhoun, Lori Lemaster and Jennifer Hager.

Bradley Family Reunion

A reunion of the Joe and Peralie Bradley family, relatives, and friends will be held Saturday afternoon, July 27, at Jenny Wiley State Park picnic shelter No. 1, below the spillway. Bring a picnic lunch. Even if you don't have time to eat, come by and visit for awhile.

VISIT IN TENNESSEE

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stallard and Tracey visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wicker and family recently at Pigeon Forge, Tennessee.

Debbie Branham, the singing half of the husband-wife team which comprises the Tulsa-based Branham Ministries, Inc., will appear in concert at First (Irene Cole Memorial) Baptist Church here Thursday, July 25, it is announced.

Mrs. Branham, who resided with her parents, Hershel and Alice Waugh, at David in her girlhood, is the wife of Paul Branham, a CPA who is head of the team operations. Although her role as wife and mother is described as "her primary ministry," she has for seven years now taken the gospel message to thousands through her signing at churches across the country.

The church invites the public to hear Mrs. Branham at 7 p.m., July 25.

The Word 8 Song

Blaine and Christine Bowman are a couple who share God's Word through the ministry of music and anointed preaching. Since first forming a prayer group in his high school and preaching since he was seventeen, Blaine has ministered exclusively singing and preaching the Gospel. Christine, prior to meeting and marrying Blaine, sang and played piano in three gospel singing groups.

Together, Blaine and Christine now share a ministry that travels nationwide, whereever God sends them. Their desire is to reach the lost for Christ and to edify and build up the church wherever they go. Their music ministry is geared to God's people in praise.

They have ministered to few in small country churches, and to thousands at Kenneth Hagin's Camp Meeting. Wherever they are, the love for Jesus and God's people are always present in their ministry. They want the world to know that serving Jesus is something to celebrate.

MEDICAL ALERT BRACELETS

One never knows when an accident may happen. You may end up in an emergency room, unconscious and unable to give vital information to the people waiting to treat you. People suffering from a chronic disease such as diabetes must be treated differently than other people. People who are taking certain prescription drugs may have a fatal reaction if given other drugs. If you are allergic to certain drugs, such as penicillin, the medical team treating you needs to know that fact. A medical alert bracelet can give doctors vital information about your medical background. It will help them determine the fastest and safest treatment for your situation.

You have a family doctor in whom you place your confidence..why not a family pharmacist to serve your health needs. At COOLEY APOTHECARY your complete pharmaceutical needs will always receive our personalized and professional attention. Senior citizens are particularly special to us. We take the extra care to be sure they understand the directions and use of prescriptions and are aware of side effects to watch for. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HANDY HINT:

Medical alert bracelets carry the medical alert signal recognized around the world.

Bill Must Be Itemized

Many people in the Big Sandy area wait longer than necessary to receive payment from their Medicare medical insurance because they failed to submit itemized bills with their request for payment form, Jim Kelly, Social Security District Director of the Big Sandy Area, said recently.

Medical insurance is the part of Medicare that helps pay for doctor bills, outpatient hospital bills, and other items and services not covered by hospital nsurance.

To receive payment under medical insurance, a person generally submits a request for payment form along with itemized bills for services received.

The trouble, Kelly said, is that often the bill does not provide a detailed description of the services provided and, therefore, a decision cannot be made as to whether they are covered. As a result, the patient must be contacted for more information and payment is delayed.

To prevent this delay, the person should be sure that each bill shows: · A description of each service

- provided:
- · The date the service was provided; • The place the service was provided;
- The charge for each service
- The doctor or supplier who provided each service; and

Traveling With Pets COPYRIGHT 1985 KVMA

School's out by now and for many families this means vacation time. For some this means extended trips to faraway places, for others brief weekend excursions to places of relaxation not so distant.

For many it will mean a decision on what to do with the family pet.

There are really only two alternatives-taking him or leaving him. Simply leaving the animal to fend for himself will not do, accidents can happen. Leaving him means boarding in a kennel or having someone come in to feed and check.

Believe it or not, most dogs and cats are, or can become, good travellers, especially if they have been trained to that since they were young.

If you have an animal which gets chronically carsick or nervous and simply doesn't travel well, or if the trip is not practical for the pet-a business trip or honeymoon, for example-a kennel may be the best solution.

Be sure and plan far enough in advance to assure that your pet has all his booster vaccinations. Even if you have a kennel which does not require vaccinations (many do, check ahead) your pet will still be exposed to other animals he is not usually around and may be exposed to disease in your absence.

An alternative is to find someone to look in on your animal while you are gone, feeding and checking on its

In either event, be sure and write down special feeding instructions if there are any, as well as special medications. Call attention to special precautions to be taken around your home, such as doors to keep locked and the like. Also remember to leave the name and phone number of the veterinarian who treats the animal, in case of emergency.

To have an animal which can travel with you (they can often amuse the children) you should start when the animal is young, taking it along for brief trips until it learns that automobiles can be fun. Many learn to like the excitement of traveling anyway.

If you have a non-traveller and you simply must take him, oral tranquilizers and motion sickness remedies are available. Remember to use them an hour or so before leaving.

Apart from that, common sense and foresight solve most problems. Be sure the animal is controlled while the auto is in motion, since the driver is responsible for the safety of all concerned.

Heroism Medal Awarded To Pikeville Boy Scout

Scout Jason Falls, of Troop 1010, Pikeville, of the Lonesome Pine district, was awarded the Medal of Heroism for Meritious Action, April 13, by order of the National Court of Honor, Boy Scouts of America. Ceremonies and celebrations were held at the recent campfire at the District Camporee at Paintsville

Young Falls was decorated for his outstanding effort as a Tenderfoot Scout while delivering papers on the morning of Sept. 12, 1984. Falls noticed smoke pouring out of an apartment building and coming directly from the room of Lloyd Justice, 63. He raced to the origin of the fire, entered the burning apartment, revived Mr. Justice, and alerted neighbors to contact the Pikeville Volunteer Fire Department. His action saved the man's life, prevented the apartment building from devastation, and possibly save the lives of several Falls, the son of Gary and Sara Falls-George, of Pikeville, is a sixth-grade student at Pikeville Elementary and participates in the Gifted Student program there. He is a member of the United Methodist Church of Pikeville and still earns money on the newspaper delivery route. He has recently been promoted to Second Class Scout.

The two points in the 50 American states which are farthest apart are Log Point, Elliot Key, Florida and Kure Island, Hawaii. There's 5,852 miles between them.

Allowing the pet to look out the window often amuses the animal and also helps control motion sickness. Do not, however, allow the animal to stick his head out the window, because flying debris and insects can cause permanent

If your auto is not air conditioned, opening a window a crack assures adequate ventilation and cooling so long as the car is in motion. This is not adequate ventilation when the car is parked. The interior of an auto can reach temperatures of 140° within ten or fifteen minutes when it is only 85-90° outside if the sun is shining and there is no ventilation. Also, avoid opening the rear window of station wagons and trucks since exhaust fumes can be drawn into the auto and kill all inside

Be sure and check ahead to be sure that all places you intend to stay have accommodations for pets. Most do, and many allow pets in the rooms if super-

Be sure your animal has identification on its collar clearly identifying you and your address, as well as a rabies tag, and be sure the collar is secure. Carry a few snapshots of the pet as well, in case it becomes lost.

Withhold water and food for a little while before leaving. This will insure fewer pit stops along the road. Also, be sure to take the animal's food and water dishes, a couple of its toys, fresh water and food for use on the road.

Be sure and never allow your dog outside your hotel room or car without you, and be sure its on a leash at all times when it is outside. A lost dog in a strange community is a difficult situation to

Cats travel best in a cat-carrier, and one constructed entirely of mesh or wire gives adequate ventilation.

Check with your veterinarian before you leave to see if there is information you should carry with you such as allergies to medicines or chronic conditions which might flare up.

It's always good to be prepared.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble.

(1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals . . . call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

Crop Conditions Remain Good Across Kentucky

Scattered summer thundershowers and high soil moisture have kept many farmers across the Commonwealth from outdoor work during the past several weeks.

Only 3.8 days out of the first six in July were suitable for fieldwork, according to reporters for the Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. During those few workdays, farmers were busy harvesting wheat and hay, planting soybeans and sorghum, and controlling

"The showers which ushered in July were so variable," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell, "that soil moisture ranged from short to surplus within some counties.'

Statewide, soil moisture was reported 11 percent short, 64 percent adequate and 25 percent surplus. Shortages are mostly in the southern counties of Central Kentucky Surpluses are reported scattered from Western to Eastern

'The next four to eight weeks is a very critical growing period for tobacco, corn, soybeans and sorghum," Commissioner Boswell said. "Since overall crop conditions are mostly good now, we're looking for good things from this year's

The 1985 tobacco crop is rated 12 percent excellent, 74 percent good, 13 percent fair and 1 percent poor. Some early fields will soon bloom.

Approximately 15 percent of the crop has reached a height of three feet or more. Another 45 percent of the crop is two to three feet tall.

Right now, blue mold is not a major problem with tobacco, Boswell noted. However, some West Central and Central Kentucky fields have been troubled by black shank and angular leaf spot. Manganese toxicity has bothered crops in the Purchase, Northern and Bluegrass counties.

The state's corn crop is rated 65 percent good, 27 percent excellent, 7 percent fair and 1 percent poor. About 30 percent of the corn is silking, compared with only 8 percent a year ago and 18 percent for the five-year average.

Double-crop soybeans are being planted as weather permits. About 91 percent of the crop is planted, compared to 93 percent at this time last year and 88 percent for average.

About 7 percent of the soybean acreage is blooming. This compares with 2 percent at this time last year and 5 percent for the five-year average.

Producers are experiencing only the usual insect, disease and weed problems with soybeans, so the crop is rated in mostly good condition.

Pastures are in mostly good condition.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Osborne Elementary School hereby gives notice that the maximum contaminant level for coliform bacteria was exceeded during its recent reporting period of May, 1985 to the state's Division of Water. The test results for coliform bacteria (normally found in the intestinal tract of man or other warms blooded animals) indicate that som contamination had occurred. Coliform bacteria is not considered harmful, but its presence is a reliable indicator that harmful bacteria may have been present. If the presence of coliform bacteria would continue to occur, a boil water notice would be issued. Frequent testing is done to assure the quality of your drinking water.

Pikeville Girl Wins First Perkins Grant

Miss Tammy May, an incoming freshman from Pikeville, has been selected as the first annual recipient of the Carl D. Perkins Scholarship at Georgetown College, it was announced last week by Dr. W. Morgan Patterson, president of the college.

The scholarship was established to honor the memory of the late congressman from Kentucky's Seventh district. He held the office 36 years, during which time he was a major figure in sponsoring enabling legislation for higher education.

Miss May, this year's recipient, served as Pikeville High School's yearbook editor and was chosen one of the school's top ten seniors. She is the daughter of Roger May, of Pikeville.

The scholarship of up to $1,000, depending on financial need, will be awarded to an incoming student each year. The scholarship can be renewed for up to three additional years as long as the student maintains a 3.0 (B) grade point average.

Only students who are Kentucky residents will be considered with preference given to students from Eastern Kentucky.

All incoming students who apply for financial aid will automatically be considered for the scholarship. Preference will be given to students who plan to become elementary or secondary teachers.

The scholarship should be matched at least equally from funds available through the Title IV financial aid programs, it was said.

Ky. Housing Offers Mobile Home Loans

The Kentucky Housing Corporation (KHC) has announced a $1,000,000 statewide mobile home demonstration project which will offer 734% fixed rate interest on a 25-year loan for new, singlewide units which have been permanently affixed to a foundation.

'We feel there is a definite need throughout the state for alternatives in providing safe, decent, sanitary and affordable housing to lower and moderate income Kentuckians," said KKC executive director F. Lynn Luailen. "Through this new program, Kentuckians who could not afford a home through conventional means will now have the opportunity to attain homeownership.

The mobile home first mortgage loans will be insured under the FHA 203 (b) program. Units must have the FHA seal and be on the Kentucky fire marshal's approval list. No more than five units will be funded in any one county with a maximum of two units per subdivision. Maximum lot size cannot exceed one resolutions at its annual convention, calling on its 5.6 million members to take action on such topics as corporal punishment, advertising and labeling of tobacco products, and seat belts on school buses.

Citing that "the first object of the PTA is to promote the welfare of children and youth," the National PTA adopted a statement opposing corporal punishment and urging local and state PTAs to work with school districts to "develop disciplinary procedures which will result in positive behavior of students and to utilize techniques which are not based on physical abuse."

Convention delegates voted to adopt two resolutions related to tobacco products: one urging support for amending the Federal Cigarette Labeling and Advertising Act to prohibit the advertising of all tobacco products via electronic media, and another calling on the parent-teacher association to seek legislation requiring warning lables on all smokeless tobacco products reading, "Use of this product may cause oral cancer and other mouth disorders, and is addictive." The latter resolution also calls for stricter enforcement of current laws forbidding the sale of smokeless tobacco to minors.

A heated debate over the pros and cons of seat belts on school buses resulted in passage of a resolution in which the National PTA says it will request that federal installation standards be developed for seatbelts on large, Type I school buses. The association will also work through its local units to encourage school boards to equip all new buses with seatbelts, in accordance with these federally developed standards.

Among the other resolutions passed by the National PTA delegates were:

-The encouragement of programs in which parents pledge that they will not allow parties in their homes when they are not there, that they will not serve or allow alcohol use by those under the legal drinking age in their homes, and that they will not allow the use of illegal drugs on their property;

-A resolution calling on PTAs to urge school districts to implement Parent Notification Programs where parents are notified if their child does not arrive

-A positive calling for PTAs to inform members of their communities about nuclear age education and to ad-

The National PTA adopted 18 new dress children's fears about perceived nuclear dangers; and

-A resolution encouraging PTAs and PTSAs (Parent-Teacher-Student Associations) to support legislation which would allow videotaped sessions with professionals to be accepted as valid testimony in child abuse cases in lieu of the child's personal appearance in court.

Additional resolutions addressed the topics of drinking by minors, migrant children's education, ingredient labeling, organ donation and transplantation, the sale of martial arts weapons, herbicides and pesticides, missing children, retirement of pre-1977 school buses, the American Academy of Pediatrics Policy statement on Children, Adolescents and Television, and block parent programs.

Two To Head CF Drives

Grover Samons will be chairperson at Minnie, and Mrs. Eva Collins will serve in the same capacity in Prestonsburg for the annual Fall "I Did It For CF" fundraising campaign benefiting the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

The announcement was made by Robert Montague, President of the Kentucky/West Virginia Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, who noted that funds raised from these events will support research and treatment programs of the CF Foundation.
