Sex No Barrier To Prosecution As Topsy Driver

Women appear as likely as men to be arrested on drunk driving charges here, district court records suggest. Of seven cases disposed of in the last two weeks, four involved women.

Sentenced to seven days in jail and ordered to pay $557.50 in fine, fees and costs was Fonneta Faye Hall, 29, of Harold. It was her second drunk driving conviction.

Sgt. Sue Blackburn, of the Prestonsburg city police, stopped Mrs. Hall in Hardee's parking lot here in the early hours of October 6. The driver recorded a Breathalyzer reading of .17 percent, the officer said.

Diana Allen, 27, of East Point, was arrested by Prestonsburg patrolman Jeff Stumbo in the late evening of October 3 after she was allegedly driving erratically on South Lake Drive. She was given a probated 30-day sentence, had to perform two days' public service, and was ordered to pay $407.50 in fine and costs, upon her conviction on charges of drunk driving and driving without a license.

Convicted on a breath analysis reading of .20 percent was Sharon R. Spradlin, 29, of Prestonsburg, who also (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Old Inland Steel Office Levelled; Arson Suspected

A night blaze which destroyed the former Inland Steel Company office building at Wheelwright last Thursday was prevented from spreading to other structures by a dozen fire departments—some, from as far away as 30 miles—working with Wheelwright firefighters.

Only the crumbling walls of the three-story brick structure and a brick safe rising the full height of the building remained standing. The building was unoccupied.

Cause of the 9 p.m. blaze had not been determined, early Tuesday, but arson is suspected. Barry McKenzie, arson investigator for the Kentucky state police, declined comment until further findings are made.

One source said the fire apparently started in the third story, pointing out that the roof "exploded" before any fire had reached lower levels.

Some Wheelwright residents suspect that a "fire bug" is at work there. They point to the discovery of dynamite caps in the nearby clubhouse, which also is in disuse, and a recent blaze in the community building. This latter fire was restricted to one chair, however, and may have been set as a Halloween prank, it was said.

Answering the call for help as destruction of a major portion of the town was feared were these fire departments: Shelby Valley, Left Beaver, Mud Creek, Martin, Allen, Cow Creek, Prestonsburg, Wayland, Garrett, Maytown, Knott County and Southeast at Burton.

The ruined building was owned by Mrs. Dora Johnson. Originally a frame building, it was later brick-veneered. There was no estimate of the damage. Firefighters saved the adjoining public library and the nearby clubhouse, both without material damage.

Fire Protection District Approved on Third Attempt

After twice rejecting the proposal, Floyd fiscal court last week voted to establish a fire protection district at Garrett. At the same time, first reading was given to an ordinance which would set up a fire protection district at Maytown.

In the teeth of opposition from District 2 Magistrate Kenneth Roberts, the Garrett fire district proposal was stalled last December and again in March, Roberts saying then that he favored voluntary support for the fire department but no tax levy.

Roberts, who was defeated in the May primary, last week voted in support of the tax, which passed unanimously. Establishment of the fire protection district means that up to $1 may be levied on tax bills for every $1000 of assessed value.

Third District Magistrate Ed Caudill, in voting for the tax, noted that Garrett firefighters were one of a dozen crews fighting a blaze in Wheelwright the night before.

The court agreed in April to set up a fire protection district in Wayland, after volunteer firefighters there threatened to walk off the job unless they received public support. A fire district also exists at Betsy Layne. A proposal to begin one at Allen became entangled earlier this year in a boundary dispute with the neighboring Cow Creek fire department.

To pay for county government, Floyd citizens this year will be taxed on real property at a rate of 16.3 cents per $1000 assessed value and on autos at a rate of 19.7 cents. The taxes have a theoretical yield of $682,920 in revenue, about the same as last year's tax yield.

Instead of the usual three possible rates, Floyd county was quoted only one rate this year. State Local Finance Officer Robert L. Purdom said growth in the assessed value of existing property here was not sufficient to justify even the four percent increase in taxes permitted under House Bill 44.

A "small but crucial" piece of property on Mare Creek will be condemned to make way for a federal reclamation project. The property, which belongs to two Marion, Ohio brothers, Randall and Billy Layne, is needed to relocate a county road. The road currently runs atop a refuse pile, which is scheduled for reclamation next year, it was said.

A dozen residents of Mine Branch of Bull Creek demanded angrily of Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo when he was going to honor a May campaign promise to blacktop their road. Stumbo said he had promised only to blacktop the road sometime during his next four-year term. In the meantime, he has put 300 tons of gravel on the road, the road is in good shape and, in any case, it needs time to pack down before being blacktopped, he said.

To All Candidates

The Floyd County Times will not accept for next week's edition (Oct. 30) any political advertising which personally attacks any individual or reflects on the individual's character.

This policy has been adopted because the Oct. 30 issue will be the last before the primary election, and for that reason any person attacked by such advertising would not have the opportunity to reply to or refute any charges made.

Brothers Win Reduced Terms

Abbott Creek brothers facing burglary and arson counts in Floyd Circuit Court last week were convicted only of criminal trespass.

State Arson Investigator Barry McKenzie said Ancil Ray Miller, 22, and James Miller, 21, twice broke into a house on Abbott Creek and, on the second entry, set it on fire.

Richard Boone Campbell, 23, also of Abbott Creek, earlier confessed to his role in the break-ins and drew a one-year sentence for criminal trespass, with the sentence probated in return for his testimony against his confederates.

The fact that Campbell had been treated leniently by the court may have persuaded the jury to deal leniently with the Miller brothers, their attorney (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

LAST WEEK WAS National School Lunch Week and Jason Stephens observed it appropriately—by eating lunch with his first-grade classmates at Allen Elementary School. COUNTY WINS ADF GRANT

A $56,000 grant from the Area Development Fund, awarded to Floyd fiscal court at the meeting of Big Sandy ADD directors Monday, will be used to purchase a track endloader, Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said later.

Cable Co. "Ignores" City's Bid Decision

In the wake of last week's City Council vote to accept bids on the Prestonsburg television-cable franchise, City Manager David Evans made repeated but unsuccessful attempts to contact a representative of Consolidated Communications to learn their position on the new turn of events.

Evans said he tried to call Marty Crawford, the company's district supervisor in Pt. Pleasant, W. Va., at least four times Monday, and twice Tuesday morning, but his calls were not returned. "I think their response is to ignore us," said Evans.

Before the council voted to accept new bids, Consolidated Communications had told city officials they would offer an upgraded cable system, capable of providing a maximum of 30 channels.

Grade School Pupil Severely Hurt Here

A 12-year-old Prestonsburg Elementary School majorette suffered a possibly fractured pelvis after being trapped between the tires and bed of a flat-bed truck in last Thursday's football homecoming parade here.

Tamatha Kay Tackett, daughter of Ermon and Janet Tackett of East Point, was injured at about 4:30 p.m. as she and another girl attempted to jump onto a float as the parade was ending near the Lake Drive entrance of the grade school. While the other girl landed safely on the truck bed, Miss Tackett lost her balance and fell between the tires and body of the vehicle.

According to a witness, Brenda McKenzie, the accident was first noticed by Mrs. McKenzie's daughter, Angela, who then alerted her. Mrs. McKenzie ran to where the girl was trapped and saw that her head and chest were being bounded roughly against the tires. Mrs. McKenzie cushioned the child's body with her arm. Mrs. McKenzie said the truck continued moving for several yards before the driver realized anything was wrong.

SLOW TIME AHEAD

Unless Clifford Wright misinforms me, we return to "slow" time at midnight Saturday. That means, set your timepieces back an hour, thus making sure that you won't show up for Sunday School an hour early.

"HAY-R" TROUBLES

I've had troubles for years. The word itself creates its tensions. I pronounce it to rhyme with "pair," but some of these sweet, young things call it "hay-r," and I begin to get nervous.

The next, and most serious, trouble came when I lost it. And now come two trusted friends to compound my troubles. It happened like this:

The other Sunday morning, I walked into church at peace with the world, and had no more than got myself seated when Don Music extended a hand and greeted me: "Hi, curly." Then, when I had shaken off the effects of this salutation, Gene Ball, parked one row back, tapped me on the shoulder and in his patented stage whisper made a request. "Would you mind moving over a bit?" he asked. "That ceiling light is bouncing off the top of your head till I'm just about blinded."

Mind you, these two worthies belong, also, to the Society of the Great Unattached but I couldn't think of any rejoinder except a feeble "Look who's talkin'..."

Trick or Treat Hours are Set

Thursday, October 31 will be the night for trick or treating in the county at large as well as in the city of Prestonsburg. Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo set the hours for the county at 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Trick or treating in the city will run from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., said Mayor Harold Cooley. Only youngsters 12 and under are permitted to wear masks.

Food Service Director Says...

Most Nutritious Food On Lunchroom Tables

After the spate of negative publicity the schools' food service department received earlier this year, Sharon Newsome was not at all sure she wanted the job as director.

Now, two months into the new school year, the former home economics teacher appears comfortable in the role, takes obvious pride in the department, and last week—which happened to be National School Lunch Week—boasted that the most nutritious meals in the county are likely to be found in local school lunchrooms.

"We're required to serve a protein dish and two vegetables, or a vegetable and a fruit, a whole grain bread or the equivalent, and a serving of milk. Two or three times a week we try to offer a salad or coleslaw, and all this for 70 cents," she said. "Where can you find a meal like that at that price?"

What's more, the school menu reflects the fact that people are more conscious these days that some foods are more healthful than others, she said, although that sometimes means walking a fairly fine line between what the kids will eat and what is good for them. "We still offer fried chicken and French fries," old favorites, "but in general we bake a lot and fry less often," she said.

Vegetables like broccoli, brussels sprouts and asparagus are undoubtedly nutritious, she added, "but they won't do anyone any good if they're thrown in the garbage." On the other hand, children need not expect to see potato chips on their lunch trays, no matter how popular they are. "Nutritionally, they don't count," Mrs. Newsome explained.

This year's centralization of food purchasing has not been without its critics, the food service director acknowledged—some principals and lunchroom managers were reluctant to surrender the right to do their own purchasing and plan their own menus—but the centralized system is proving more economical, undercuts criticism that the quality of food is better at some schools than at others, and is gaining acceptance, she said.

Mrs. Newsome is not about to pass judgment on her predecessors, or on the validity of the criticism that descended on the lunch program last year when state Department of Education officials went over the system with a fine-tooth comb. "But I can tell you we're following regulations as closely as we can," she said. "For one thing, all our purchasing is done by bidding. I don't know if that was the case before or not."

In a few cases, cooks might need some help in preparing meals attractively, and it is help she is anxious to give, said Mrs. Newsome, who taught home economics at McDowell for 10 years before being tapped this year for the director's job. She acknowledged, too, occasional complaints that popular dishes run out before youngsters at the end of the line are served. "But it shouldn't happen often," she insisted, "and there is always a backup dish available."

A prejudice that needs to be overcome, said Mrs. Newsome, is that school lunchroom fare is by definition bland or unpalatable. "We need to get over the stigma that institutional food is yucky," she said. One reason is eminently practical—funding for the school nutrition program, which was first established by Congress in 1946, is determined by the number of children who actually participate in it.

But the main reason, Mrs. Newsome said, is that, if students feel negatively about the lunch program, "they may well miss out on what they need."

"For some, it's the only balanced meal they get each day," she said. And, in the 16 elementary schools that offer breakfast as well as lunch, breakfast at school may offer children from poorer families their only chance of getting breakfast at all.

"To promote better participation in the program, she is planning a contest—with ice cream to be distributed in the three schools with the highest average daily participation—Mrs. Newsome said.

In another move designed to boost participation in the lunch program, Floyd schools have adopted a standard even stricter than federal rules require—no pop or candy may be sold in county schools until lunch has been served—the food service director noted. And at least one school board member, Dr. Mary Hall, has indicated she would like to see food vending machines removed from the schools altogether.

For parents who would like first-hand knowledge of what their children are eating, Mrs. Newsome has a suggestion: "Visit your local school and join your child for lunch. You're welcome."

Court Denies Rum License After Complaints Voiced

The application of an East McDowell man for renewal of his entertainment license was turned down last Thursday after evidence was presented that the premises were disorderly.

Curtis Tackett, Sr. sought renewal of the license for his tavern on Frasure's Creek but, at a hearing on the application, neighbors and a deputy sheriff testified that rowdy, brawling patrons often created a nuisance there and that a live band had recently started up in an adjoining building.

Tackett said a lot of lies concerning his place were spread about by people who are opposed to the sale of alcohol in this county. Deputy Sheriff Harold Johnson said he had been called "on numerous occasions" to break up fights outside the bar and that he once had to clear the road outside after it was obstructed by patrons' cars.

He had had to arrest some patrons for public intoxication, including Tackett's son, Curtis Tackett, Jr., the deputy said.

Phillip Lucas, a neighbor, said he often observed drunken behavior and fighting outside the building and had sometimes seen beer being carried out to customers' cars on Sunday. A live band has recently been playing in a newly-constructed building next to the licensed premises, and cursing and gunfire issue from the premises late at night, he said. The younger Tackett was among those he had seen shooting into a creek behind the tavern, Lucas testified.

Lucas' wife testified that patrons sometimes step outside the premises to urinate. Tackett said he used a club to keep order and did not tolerate drunks on the premises. He conceded, however, that he had sometimes had to "clear out" drunks after he had left the bar in charge of his son.

Much of the reported fighting involved neighbors rather than his patrons and the live band cited in complaints was his son's band and it used the adjoining building for practice sessions, he said.

In turning down the license renewal application, Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo cited evidence of drunkenness on the premises and said the proprietor appeared unwilling to do what is necessary to see that the law is observed.

A Veteran Writes

The blind man drives his car, day or night. He has a Ky. driver's license. He draws Social Security benefits for the blind. He has five dependents; they draw Social Security benefits checks each month. The veteran earned a Purple Heart in service. He jogs five miles or more a day, any kind of weather. He is drawing Social Security benefits for the physically disabled.

I was born with a bad heart. Two attacks of rheumatic fever made my heart much worse. As the years went by the worse became the symptoms. By 1964 my heart was going in and out of rhythm, fluttering, skipping fast beats up to 175 beats or more a minute, then stopping, not quite beating but quivering like a bowl of Jello. I had the potential of blacking out at all times. In 1968 these attacks caused me to black out many times, and the potential of blacking out was with me at all times, even after my open heart surgery to implant an aortic pig valve. I have lost many jobs due to my heart condition and am not able to work.

I was disabled when Social Security denied me disability benefits and I still remain disabled.

What I would like to know is what system does Social Security use to make the decisions if we are disabled or not. Is it a quota system or discrimination—or what—when some draw the benefits and are not as disabled as others who are denied Social Security protection? In other words, what is disability to the Social Security Administration? What are the keys as the disabled are denied Social Security protection, yet benefits are paid to grandchildren who live with Gramps?

Stop the automatic denials syndrome! After all, who needs this help the most, and why the need of lawyers to prove what is already in our claim files with Social Security?

The Dropout

We are concerned with the "casualties" of the educational system, those that are not "succeeding" in their encounter with the higher educational system.

Our concern gives rise to questions: is it drugs? or economics? is it hereditary? is the future, as perceived by our youth, so horrible?

Lapses in communication between generations were noted by Greek philosophers over 2,000 years ago, "lost generation" of the 1920's and the silent generation of the 1950's. However, the current problem of alienation and disinterest in the United States is wider, deeper, and more diffuse than at anytime in our previous history. The dropout problem affects the rich and the poor, the urban and the rural, the intelligent and the slow learner. It appears that youngsters question the relevance of major societal values and institutions, finding themselves unable to learn from the various opportunities available to them. This rejection of many goals of our society, the unwillingness to model themselves on any stable adult leaders and the inability to acquire the necessary attitudes and skill for responsible adult behavior, make urgent the development of new and innovative approaches to bridge the generation gap.

If this is not done, there are serious dangers that large proportions of current and future generations will reach adulthood embittered towards the larger society, unequipped to take on parental, vocational and other citizen roles, and involved in some form of socially deviant behavior. It is critical for us to focus on and try to solve the root causes of the dropout.

Discontented youth are quicker than their elders to disown established patterns of behavior; they are quicker, because they are less rooted in the past. The youth of today reject not just our life styles, but us, us either as hypocrites or clods. They are sensitive to the seeming contradiction between what we preach and what we actually do, how we actually live. There is a rejection of our life patterns as being shallow, hypocritical and irrelevant to truly basic values.

Our generation and the one before ours that shaped our attitudes have been successfully preoccupied in producing wealth and in making staggering progress in the advancement of the physical sciences and mechanical arts. To the young we have become exhausted through our efforts to acquire these physical powers, or so programmed in pursuit of wealth and a secure freedom from poverty that we have lost sight of our objectives of our underlying values.

It is common to talk about a generation gap and a communication gap, the young understand us better than we understand them. They tune us in and understand our language but we do not necessarily understand the words they use or the patterns with which they use words, a style we reject as outrageous, rejecting their thoughts because they are not presented to us in our style.

Let us help the young in their searches for a better way to live in accord with our principles. Let us give them love and understanding, with a hope and a prayer, and a request directed at them as well as heaven. Let them do better than we have done in developing a life that adheres to basic spiritual values.

Business Assn. Hosts Workshop on Courtesy

A motivational sales workshop for employees of businesses here, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Business Association, Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, and East Kentucky Small Business Development Center's Pikeville branch, will be held Wednesday, October 30, at the public library. It will be free and open to the public, with the U.S. Small Business Administration picking up the tab.

Decision to hold the workshop was made at a meeting yesterday (Tuesday) of the Prestonsburg Business Association.

Acting as instructor will be Carolyn Crawford Price, general management consultant for Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center. She has been an analyst and consultant for business, industry and government for over 10 years, and serves as director of the Eastern Kentucky Small Business Development Center.

There will be two workshop sessions, one beginning at 9:30 a.m. and the other at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Price said the workshop would include role playing, lectures and a quiz. She said the role playing was generally pretty effective in helping people "see what they look like." Noting that one of the biggest problems employees have is in dealing effectively with customers, she said, "In Eastern Kentucky, you're a little less formal, but being polite and courteous is the same everywhere."

It was also decided at the meeting to begin the Christmas push the day after Thanksgiving, with member businesses remaining open till 8 p.m. nightly. Beginning November 1, downtown merchants will expand evening hours to 6 p.m.

Plans were also made to organize bands from county schools and church singing groups to kick off the holiday season in the municipal parking lot the Saturday following Thanksgiving; and a Halloween promotion complete with costumes for employees and store decorations was planned for Oct. 31.

speculated later; although the sentences meted out to the two men were "fair," he said.

The Millers were sentenced to a year in jail and fined $500 for each of two convictions of criminal trespass. Circuit Judge Hollie Conley reserved decision on whether the jail terms will be served concurrently or consecutively.

Prosecutors said that, on March 5 and again on March 8, 1983, the Millers and Campbell broke into an empty house belonging to building contractors Bob Meyer and Tony Bentley. A telephone was found to be missing after the first entry. On the second break-in, the three men apparently "had themselves a party," vandalizing the house and setting fire to it in three places, a police report said. Fourteen beer cans were recovered at the site, it said.

Contradicting testimony by Campbell, James Miller insisted he was not present when the house was entered and burned. Ancil Ray Miller did not take the witness stand.

At the request of defense attorney Ned Pillersdorf, Judge Conley issued a directed verdict of acquittal on the burglary charges, apparently because the Commonwealth had not shown that the accused had entered the house with the intent of burning it.

In finding the Millers guilty of trespass but not of arson, the jury may have been persuaded by a defense suggestion that the burning of the house was accidental.

As Mrs. McKenzie was helping the victim, her daughter ran to the Municipal building and found Fire Inspector Larry Adams, who, along with several other rescue workers, came to the scene and effected the rescue. Both Adams and Mrs. McKenzie said, though the girl was trapped only about 10 minutes, it seemed "like an eternity."

Miss Tackett was taken by ambulance to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where she was listed Monday as being in stable condition. HRMC spokesman Kurt Pickering declined to comment on the severity of injuries to the girl's pelvis, but said she had received numerous abrasions caused by friction from the truck's tires.

Detective Sgt. Mike Ormerod, of the city police department, said the truck was traveling very slowly when the accident occurred. "It was just barely going," he said. "Any faster than that and it would have just pulled her through."

Both Adams and Mrs. McKenzie praised Miss Tackett's courage through the ordeal. Said Mrs. McKenzie, "She talked to me the whole time and never cried. She was very courageous, a little Trojan through the whole thing."

The word hoosegow, meaning jail, appears to come from a Spanish word meaning court.

"What's Right with America" will be proclaimed in speech, music and pageant Saturday when the sixth annual Red, White and Blue Day will bring its thousands to Prestonsburg. A commitment by the state of $250,000 made last Friday apparently assures federal funding of Mountain Comprehensive Care for perhaps the next nine months, Richard Stai, executive director of the multi-county health agency, said here Tuesday. The family and friends of Mrs. Hattie Porter gathered in the lounge of Highlands Regional Medical Center, Saturday, Oct. 11, to help her celebrate her 92nd birthday. The Prestonsburg Blackcats went to Louisa last Friday night with a 4-3 record to play the Bulldogs, also 4-3. The Cats came back from the muddy Louisa field with a 5-3 record after beating the Bulldogs, 18-13. Sixty-five residents of the county have been notified to appear here for possible jury service at the circuit court term which will convene November 10. Born: To Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Dingus, of Martin, a son, Kris Douglas, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. There died: Ezekiel (Zeke) Prater, formerly of Salyers Branch near Hueysville, Thursday at his home in Wawaka, Indiana; Roy Lee Davidson, 61, of Leburn, Knott county, Oct. 10 at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Mrs. Kate Chaffins Craft, 76, of Garrett, Monday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; John Stidham Ison, 57, of Martin, Sunday after being stricken by an apparent heart attack during services at the Martin Methodist Church; Opal May Sparks Horn, 64, of Hi Hat, Friday, Oct. 10 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; John Milton Cyrus, formerly of Prestonsburg, Oct. 14 at his home in Orange Park, Fla.; Mrs. Virginia Mae (Velma) Camp, 43, of Pekin, Ill., formerly of Wheelwright, Tuesday, October 14, in Pekin Memorial hospital; Rebecca Hicks Shepherd, 64, was found dead in bed at her home at David early Sunday morning; Mrs. Emma J. Hall, 33, of Harold, last Wednesday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Curtis Hollins, 70, of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of this county, October 8 at his home; Charles E. Robinson, Jr., Oct. 9 in Dallas, Texas; Rev. Woodrow Branham, 59, Friday evening after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home on the Auxier road; W. C. Ratliff, former resident of Prestonsburg and David, early Tuesday morning in a Newport News, Va., hospital.

At least six Floyd countians have been bitten by poisonous snakes this year, a survey of Floyd hospital records showed this week. Robert Elkins, 20, formerly of Tram, who was found fatally hurt early Sunday in Clermont county, Ohio, near Batavia, is believed to have been a murder victim. Killed in separate auto crashes Saturday were Homer Lee Slone, 19, of Hueysville, in a wreck near Pontiac, Michigan, and Rube Arnett, 33, in a collision near Silver Lake, Indiana. Although time for outdoor outings and play is almost over for the year, work continues at the new city park here toward its completion and its outfitting for the 1966 season. There died: Mrs. Martha Hughes, 79, of Prestonsburg, Saturday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Maude Spurlock Langley, 63, formerly of Prestonsburg, Tuesday at Paoli, Indiana; Mrs. Maude Langley Spurlock, 86, last Thursday at Lucasville, Ohio; Mrs. Lula J. Hayes, 40, October 16 at Willard, Ohio; Mrs. Arizona Clifton, of Allen, October 14 at Huntington, West Virginia.

Thirty Years Ago

(October 20, 1955)

The third confirmed polio case from Floyd county during the summer-fall season was reported this week from St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington. The patient is eight-year-old Shelly Hood, daughter of Malakai Hood, of Wheelwright. Observing the 50th anniversary of its founding, Saturday, the Magoffin Baptist Institute at Mountain Valley, Breathitt county, had as an honored guest and featured speaker the man who was its first president, the Rev. A. C. Harlowe, of Prestonsburg. All employees of the county road system except one were ordered dismissed, effective Nov. 1 due to a reported lack of funds, the fiscal court announced. The Prestonsburg Blackcats won their third football game of the season last Friday night in downing the Louisa Bulldogs 24-6, as all-state quarterback, Lowell Hughes, behind some fine blocking by Buford Crager, Paul Hughes and Monty Rice, scored all four touchdowns. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Miller, a daughter, Linda Karen, October 10 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Winston Layne Burke, a son, William Layne, October 7 in Louisville; to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Frasure, of Maytown, a daughter Jenny Lynn, October 15 at the Beaver Valley Hospital. There died: Joseph Ousley, 71, last Sunday at his home at Risner; Lewis Webb, 91, of Dwale, last Sunday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; Mary Dodd Blanton, 50, Monday at the home of a sister at Drift.

John L. Lewis, UMWA chieftain, suddenly declared an end to the strike which had paralyzed coal production in Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania for the past two weeks. Auxier residents have been told that by April 1 the coal supply in the mines there owned by the Northeast Coal Company will have been exhausted and the operation shut down. John Hall, 36, Glo Miner, was found dead at the roadside near Lackey early Wednesday, believed to have been the victim of a hit-run driver. Mrs. Sallie Pearl Meade Tendzilgoskie, 36, of Ligon, was shot and killed Thursday afternoon at Ligon. The Virginia Francis Coal Company began operation this week at Martin under the ownership of Lawrence Keathley and W. S. Frazier, of Martin. The Silver Star and the Bronze Star have been posthumously awarded to Lt. Darwin Caudill, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Caudill, of Garrett. Married: Miss Geneva Coffey, of Toledo, Ohio, and Pvt. Jesse Branham, of Allen, September 22 at Emma; Miss Kathryn Hatcher Parker and Pvt. Isom Poe, both of Brainard, September 22 at the home of the bride's parents. Born: to S1-C and Mrs. Charles R. Neal, a son, Charles Edward, September 26 at Oxnard, California; to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Hubbard, of Lancer, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Craft, of Dwale, a son. There died: Mrs. Victoria Tackett, 63, at home at Ligon, Saturday morning; Mrs. Rebecca Moore, 76, of Salt Lick, Thursday at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin; Isaiah Combs, 10 months old, of Garrett, Friday at the Stumbo Memorial hospital.

Mel Petry was awarded the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 93rd legislative district in an opinion handed down Tuesday by Judge John W. Caudill, of the Floyd Circuit Court. Roy Stilton, 35, Betsy Layne miner, and Jimmy Patrick, 25, of Tram, were instantly killed shortly after midnight Saturday when struck by a train on the C. & O. tracks near the old St. Paul tippie below Betsy Layne. Veteran of the Confederacy, Preston Spencer, 89, of Drift, died October 9 at the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, of injuries sustained when struck by an auto the previous day on the highway at Drift. Bill Milburn, of Garrett, was fatally injured Friday afternoon at Garrett, and Bartee Estep, 29, also of Garrett, was seriously hurt when a truck toppled from the highway and over an embankment onto them. Miss Virginia Murrill, Prestonsburg high school librarian, announced this week that a gift of 63 books had been sent the school library by Burl Spurlock, of West Prestonsburg. There died: Kenton Vaughn, 28, of Bays Branch, October 4; Mrs. Jesse Ward, 79, of Glo, at the home of her daughter at Glo, Tuesday night.

Firemen were hampered, however, at one time when the electric power on the main line near the burning building was cut as a safety measure. Mayor Elmer Ferguson said he asked the power company to cut the power after he had been requested by fire chiefs and state police to do so. He added that after this was done it was found that 100,000-gallon water tank was "unexplainably empty."

Don Daniels, chairman of the Wheelwright Utilities Commission, said, however, that only one fire chief—the one acting for the area where the fire is—may legally make such a decision and that neither Wheelwright Fire Chief Oval Pack nor State Trooper Cross asked for such action.

In any case, with the power off, the pumps driving water to mains were stilled and firemen for a time were virtually immobilized. Daniels said there never was any lack of water, with an underground reservoir of millions of gallons available.

Only one person was injured. Policeman Tommy Taylor suffered a minor arm injury when hit by falling brick.

Evans said the proposal included various tiers of service, in various price ranges. The proposal was to be made November 1, when details of what channels were to be offered at what price were to be discussed. Evans said a cable company representative told him earlier that such upgrading would necessitate higher prices to customers.

Evans said a large part of the problem the city has experienced with the cable company stems from absentee ownership. "They really don't know the problems of the local people," he said, "and I doubt if there's been any major work done on this system in a long time." He said that in his six years as city manager the cable company "has yet to fill a promise on fixing up the system."

"This is just one system of the many they (Consolidated Communications) own, and we're out here in Eastern Kentucky," said Evans. "They felt they could desert us, which isn't true. We deserve the same service as Pt. Pleasant or Ripley. Cable isn't a luxury here; it's not like other places where you can just plug in and get reception."

The city has not yet advertised bid invitations and Evans said he had not been in communication with other cable companies since the council's vote. He said it might be two weeks before bids are asked, as the city needs to check with several firms familiar with the process of bidding for a television cable franchise. "We want to make sure we do it right," said Evans.

And he said the problem will be resolved, one way or another. "Either they'll put in the money and upgrade the system, or we'll find someone else who'll take over and give the people what they deserve," he said.

There's a lot about gasoline that you might not want to know, says National Wildlife magazine. Gasoline is composed of nearly 300 different chemicals, some of which can cause anemia, kidney disease or cancer, and it is quietly seeping into our drinking water supplies. The contaminating sources: thousands of leaking, underground gasoline storage tanks at gas stations, factories, schools, farms and private homes all across the country.

October 27 Marked As Good Bear Day

By SR. ANNE EDEN

What do Teddy Bear; Gov. Collins and Theodore Roosevelt all have in common? The date Oct. 27, 1985 which has now been officially proclaimed by Gov. Collins as Good Bear Day in Ky. In the proclamation, Gov. Collins requests that all citizens of Kentucky mark this occasion by sharing their love and caring spirit on this day.

October 27 also happened to be Theodore Roosevelt's birthday. One day T.R. was out hunting when a bear cub crawled out of the woods and he refused to shoot it. From that day on the cub became known as Teddy's bear, and soon afterwards the Steiff Toy Company manufactured the first teddy bear.

The Good Bear is a worldwide non-profit association believing in love and friendship with understanding. One of the primary goals of GBW is to provide teddy bears as comfort for children of all ages in hospitals, institutions, and generally everywhere!

The Floyd County Homemakers have for the past year been making, donating, and delivering bears to children in Our Lady of the Way Hospital. The advisor to the Homemakers, Frances Pitts, along with Alice Hayes, Marge Sammons, Helen Boyd, and Sharon Sparr have shown their care. Seven other dens located all over Kentucky deliver to the Medco Nursing Units.

As a way of appreciation for everyone's hard work, Chairbear Sr. Anne Eden will have a Teddy Bear picnic at her home, October 27. All Homemakers and members are invited to stop by from 2-5 p.m. Call Sr. Anne at 886-9624 if you plan to make "tracks" to her home or simply stop by for a brief "paws".

The picnic will be held rain or shine. Please be accompanied by a teddy bear if possible.

Blue Grass AAA Offers Halloween Safety Tips

The biggest threats to children trick-or-treating Halloween night aren't ghosts and goblins, but automobiles and contaminated candy.

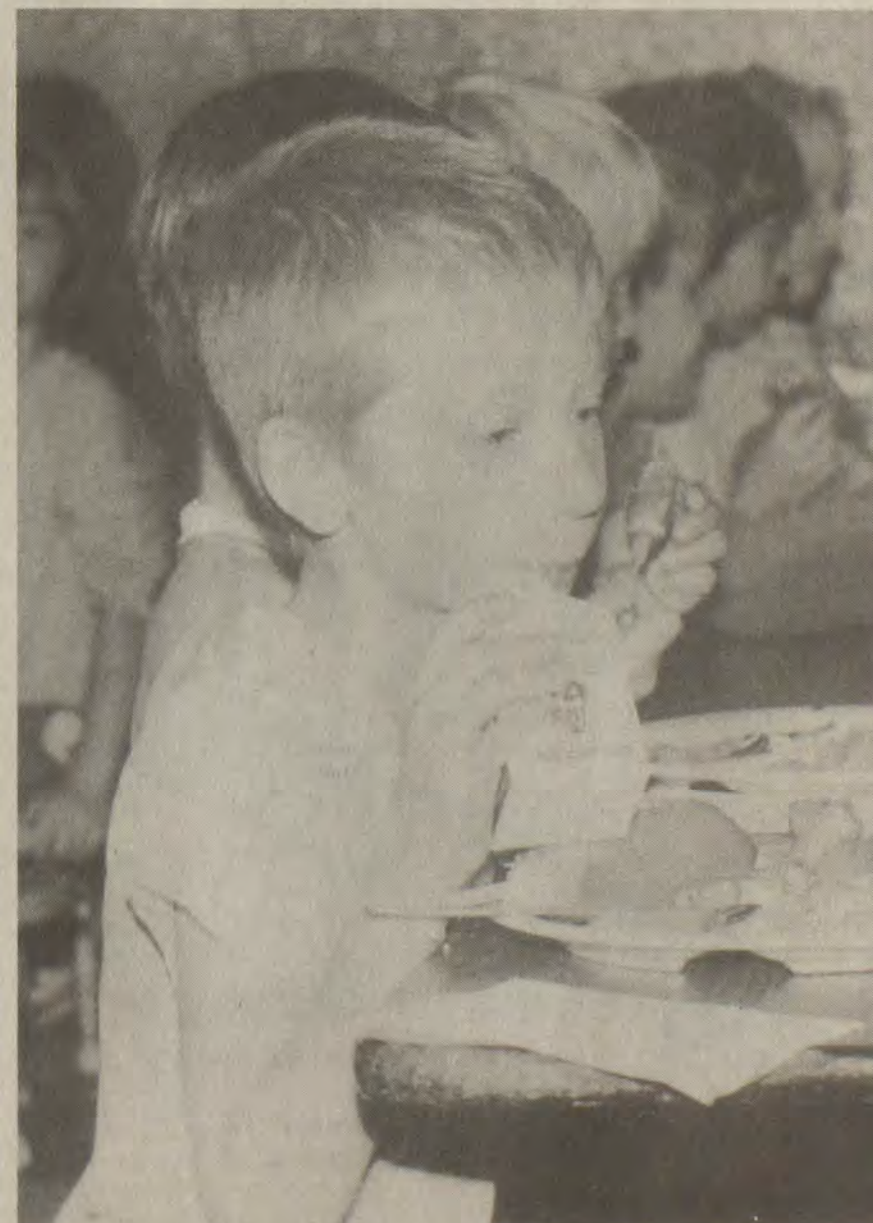

To combat the problem, the Blue Grass Auto Club is making available cards to local schools advising children how to have a fun and safe evening.

The card, titled "Tips for a Safe Halloween," offers suggestions that keep children aware of the dangers. Some of the tips include:

- Trick-or-treat when it is still light outside. If you must go out after dark, wear a costume that is light in color.
- Wear a costume that makes it easy to walk, see, and be seen.
- Use reflective tape on your costume so that cars can see you.
- Masks can impair vision, so take them off before crossing the street.
- Consider using makeup instead of a mask.
- Have a parent or older brother or sister go with you. If this isn't possible, go with a group of children.
- Trick or treat on well lighted streets only.
- Tell your family on which streets you'll be trick-or-treating.
- Wait until you get home to sort, check and eat your candy.
- "Tips for a Safe Halloween" is also available at the Blue Grass Auto Club office, located at 155 Walnut, Lexington.

South American Indians used to believe eclipses were caused by a supernatural jaguar eating the sun or moon.

HRMC Hosts Teachers of Four Counties

Administrative Assistant Susan Martin points out features of one of Highlands Regional Medical Center's operating rooms during a recent tour for area teachers. Public tours into OR's are very rare because of the time and manpower necessary to return a room to a sterile condition afterwards.

Highlands Regional Medical Center recently began what will be an on-going program when it hosted several teachers from Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, and Martin counties for dinner and a tour.

"Our marketing efforts will be concentrating on specific groups of people in coming months, and teachers are certainly one of these groups," said Administrative Assistant Susan Martin, who coordinated the project. "We want to make sure our area's teachers are aware of the Medical Center's resources and how we can serve as an information source, both for their edification and for classroom purposes."

Teachers attending the first such information session represented W.R. Castle, Oil Springs, Flat Gap and Porter elementary schools in Johnson county; Grassy, Pigeon Roost and Tomahawk elementary schools in Martin county; McDowell High and Auxier Elementary in Floyd county, and Magoffin County High School.

"The teacher program was a delightful surprise," one teacher said. "After a day of early and late bus duties and papers to be graded, I am glad I overcame my hesitation to attend. I will be using the services of HRMC to enrich my classroom."

HRMC will continue to invite groups of elementary and high school teachers on a regular basis. The next teacher information session is scheduled for November.

Honored For Cancer Work

Dr. William B. Cook and Rev. Timothy Jessen, of Prestonsburg, and Dr. Gan Maddiwar, Sr. Marie Gangwish and Sr. Margaret Jacobs, R.N., of Martin, attended the 10th anniversary celebration of the McDowell Cancer Network at the new Lucille Parker Markey Cancer Center in Lexington on October 4.

The occasion gave the McDowell Cancer Network an opportunity to honor these members of the Big Sandy District Cancer Council and other cancer councils in central and eastern Kentucky.

The health professionals and lay people who voluntarily serve on the Big Sandy District Cancer Council work in concert with the McDowell Regional Office in Hyden. They help to identify cancer related needs in their communities and promote public and professional cancer education and service programs for this area.

16th Red, White and Blue Day Scenes

THIS YEAR'S RED, WHITE AND BLUE DAY honored our veterans, and among the marchers was this group, most of whom wore their Army uniforms.

APPROPRIATELY ENOUGH, Mrs. Marcella Bailey, founder of Red, White, and Blue Day, enjoyed a chat with a towering Uncle Sam.

PICTURESQUE GARB of visiting Shriners added to the color and a little banjo pickin' was welcome, too.

LENDING A TOUCH OF FRONTIER DAYS to the parade, Angela Waddles and several others joined the parade on horseback.

THE PHELPS BAND from Pike county was but one which enlivened the day and set a marching pace for the parade.

THE OOM-PAH-PAH was supplied, in part, by these band members.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE GREG STUMBO was one of the dignitaries who spoke at Red, White, and Blue Day ceremonies, Saturday.

THIS YANKEE DOODLE DANDY didn't have a feather in his cap, but his pony sported a small flag. An even younger rider, at his right, had a choice vantage point from which to view the proceedings.

ONE OF SEVERAL COAL TRUCKS in the parade was that driven by Roger Kimber, of Martin.

Re-Elect BOBBY RANIER For CITY COUNCIL

NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

While Serving On Council Bobby Ranier Has:

1. As police commissioner, effected improvements in the police force through reorganization.
2. Worked for construction of new sidewalks, as well as better maintenance of existing ones.
3. Initiated out-of-town fire runs at subscription rates to homeowners and businesses, at no cost to city of Prestonsburg.
4. As Council advisor to City Park Board, park administration was returned to city, leading to better park management.
5. Helped acquire for Fire Department, a 10-story ladder truck for existing and new multiple-story buildings now under construction in city.

Hindman School Holds D.A.R. Day, October 16

Hindman Settlement School D.A.R. Day was held October 16 at the school. Mike Mullins, director of the school, conducted a campus tour for some of the members and guests, while others enjoyed the arts and crafts display.

Following lunch, which was served to more than 200 D.A.R. members, the director introduced Mrs. Tracy Neal, state regent of the Kentucky Society, D.A.R. Mrs. Neal recognized all NSDAR board members and many regents from various states and from Mexico.

A slide presentation of past and present activities was presented by Mr. Mullins. Superintendent of Knott County Schools R.B. Singleton gave a brief talk about the school and extended a welcome to the group.

Entertainment was furnished by the members of the elementary grades of the host school, with John Day and Lois Gehman, music teachers there, as directors.

The group was surprised and pleased when two of the former teachers of the Hindman Settlement School were recognized. Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James was the school's first fulltime music teacher, beginning her work there in 1917. She is a member of John Graham Chapter, D.A.R., here. James Still, the other former teacher receiving recognition, is a renowned writer of poetry and prose. Several of his books were on display during the meeting. Mr. Still lives on Dead Mare Branch, in Knott county.

Mrs. Cordell Martin, Kentucky D.A.R. school committee chairman, introduced Mrs. Richard P. Taylor, national chairman of the NSDAR school committee, who gave a report on D.A.R. schools.

Mrs. Tracy Neal introduced the NSDAR President General, Mrs. Walter Hughey King, who praised the school and its director for the many programs and activities being conducted for Kentucky Mountain children there.

Attending from John Graham Chapter here were Mesdames Ray Brackett, Olga Preston, J.G. Stepp, Edith F. James, Opal S. May, Margaret Spardlin, Margaret Collins, and Miss Maurine Mayo.

ATTEND REBEKAH ASSEMBLY

Members of Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 who attended the 97th annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Kentucky in Frankfort, October 13-16 were Mesdames Mary Zemo, Sue Moore, Otelia Smiley, Virginia S. Goble, Mabel Jean LeMaster, and Miss Kelly Sue Moore. Mrs. Zemo served as assistant conductor, and Mrs. Moore served on the courtesy committee during the session. Mrs. LeMaster was in charge of the Exchange of Jewels Ceremony at the close of the session on Wednesday.

Miriam Lodge received two awards at this time: First place on the scrapbook which was compiled by Mrs. Mary Zemo, and first place for the most members repeating the unwritten work.

Prestonsburg Odd Fellows attending the 150th annual session of the Grand Lodge, I.O.O.F. of Kentucky, at this same time were John N. Burchett, Bill H. Howard and James B. Goble.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

The First United Methodist Women held their regular monthly meeting Monday evening, Oct. 7. Mrs. Clara Bradbury conducted the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Dorothy Wells. A nominating committee was appointed to select officers for the new year.

Miss Elsie Stephens presented the program on "World Federation Day," with the focus on family life.

Mrs. Rose Glenn served refreshments to members, Virginia Jeffries, Maurine Mayo, Mabel Brown, Virginia Shivel, Mabel Jean LeMaster, Hope Whitten, Vera Ford, Edna Carol Greenwade, Anna May Mellon, Elizabeth Ramey, Geneva Carter, Margaret Alley, Jane Wallace, Ann Alley, Clara Bradbury, Gladys Blackburn, Elsie Stephens, and Dot Marshall.

It was voted to change the time of the meeting back to 7 p.m.

Turner Says Obvious Attempt Made To Hamper Rail Commission

The Kentucky Railroad Commission will attempt to resume its regular hearing docket in December, despite the continued attempt by the office of governor and the office of attorney general to restrain the performance of duties of this commission, its chairman, Jimmy P. Turner, of Drift, announced last week.

"Even though I have not received payment for reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses since July of this year, due to the refusal of Secretary of Finance Gordon Duke to honor the pay voucher submitted, I will continue to perform my duties as chairman of this Commission," Turner said. Three separate lawsuits are pending in the Franklin Circuit Court and the attorney general has been named in one of those actions. "The limited resources of this office have been consumed in a fight for its right to exist," Turner said. "We have been denied the right to have legal counsel of our choice while the office of Governor who has blocked this attempt through the Secretary of Finance has granted personal service contracts to special interest individuals, including one contract for issued in Japan, in the amount of $270,000."

Turner said the primary concern of the commission is safety of the citizens of the state. "The railways and grade crossings in this state are in a disastrous condition," he said. "This commission wants to address this problem as we are charged by law with safety maintenance. In a time when hazardous waste materials of all varieties and types are being transported by rail through Kentucky the safety duties of this commission become more serious than ever before. This commission has not been given funds to perform these duties and obligations and the public has a right to know the truth. There is an obvious attempt in Frankfort to block this commission's efforts to perform these duties and to compel the railroads to adequately maintain safety standards, especially grade crossings and notification of shipments of hazardous waste."

Currently, he added, the railroads operating in Kentucky regulate themselves, conduct their own investigations of accidents, "and pay a pittance in taxes to this state."

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hansford, Somerset, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Bandy, to Mr. Roger A. Conley, of Paintsville. Mr. Conley is the son of Mrs. Virginia Conley, also of Paintsville.

The wedding will take place October 26 at 6 p.m. at the Mayo United Methodist Church, Paintsville. A reception will follow immediately at the Carriage House.

"Our heat pump is cleaner and better than a wood, oil or gas furnace."

First of all, the fuel burned by a furnace is expensive, and getting more expensive every year. But the heat pump doesn't burn anything. Rather than generating heat, it pumps the heat that's already in the air. That's why a heat pump saves so much money.

Second, a heat pump is cleaner than a conventional furnace. Because it doesn't burn anything, there's no dirt or soot.

Finally, unlike a furnace, a heat pump becomes an air conditioner in the summer. By reversing itself, a heat pump takes the heat out of the house and keeps the cool air circulating.

Winter and summer, an electric heat pump is a complete comfort system. That's why so many smart homeowners have made the switch from a wood, or oil or gas furnace to an electric heat pump.

YOUR COUNTY CLERK holds one of the most important offices in the county. Your County Clerk is responsible for recording and keeping all these records and must also be accountable for the hundreds of thousands of dollars which come thru the clerk's office. It is no SIMPLE JOB... but CARLA "ROBINSON" BOYD has the working knowledge and 10 years working experience as deputy clerk and 2 years working experience as "YOUR" County Clerk, to get the job done and provide prompt, courteous and honest effective service.

DURING the past 2 years which "CARLA" has been "YOUR" Clerk, she has turned over in excess of $88,000.00 (for a period of 2 months work in 1983 and for the working year of 1984) to the county in excess fees. It is anticipated for the working year of 1985 approximately $75,000.00 will again be turned over to the county which is due by March 15, 1986.

NOT INCLUDED in the monies above, there were many improvements made in "YOUR" Clerk's office. The office was cleaned, painted and carpeted. New equipment was purchased. Your deeds, mortgages, wills, maps and plats and old survey records were microfilmed. Many old deed books were restored.

THERE are many more improvements that need to be made to make the office more efficient. WITH "YOUR SUPPORT and YOUR VOTE"...TOGETHER WE CAN MAKE THIS ACCOMPLISHMENT and MUCH, MUCH MORE.

I STRONGLY URGE "YOU" THAT ON TUESDAY, NOV. 5TH GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE

This is your privilege and right

VOTE FOR and SUPPORT "YOUR" COUNTY CLERK

The BACKYARD NATURALIST
By Craig Tufts

Who's Back Among Your Backyard Birds

"Are the blue jays that are in the yard this winter the same blue jays that brought their young to our feeders last summer?"

"Is the junco at the feeder the same one that came last year? It has the same odd, white feathers on one wing!"

Hardly a month goes by without a letter asking me: How can you tell if this year's birds are the same old friends from other seasons or years? It's not easy. Few birds have identifying differences in plumage. Behavior, however, might give you a clue; a catbird I heard about showed up every spring at the same window for a ration of raisins. That one is apt to be the same bird, back at a familiar feeding station.

Banding birds is the only sure way I know to tell one individual from another. That doesn't mean that just anybody can rush out and capture a bird to put a band on its leg. Bird-banders have to be well trained and must be licensed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. I underwent a fairly rigorous apprenticeship myself, with an expert bander. It's a delicate business to catch a bird, without harming it or badly frightening it, and to slip a small, uniquely-numbered aluminum band on its leg.

Often birds are trapped in a special "mist net"—again, only with the permission of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Such nets are stretched along travel routes in birds' special habitats. Nets differ in size (usually 6 to 8 feet high and 40 feet wide) and color, depending on the type of habitat and the topography of the banding site.

Banding has answered for me the question about returnees: Yes, some birds do come back—for 2, 3, 4, even 10 years. Our own resident cardinals, titmice, chickadees, some jays and bluebirds, are apparently going to be in our area throughout their lives. One cardinal we banded in 1975 was caught again six years later—20 feet from where it was first caught. It's often helpful in identifying individuals in a family or flock to equip the birds with special color bands in addition to their metal identification band.

Birdbanding is more than a hobby, of course. It's a scientific endeavor that serves a vital purpose: learning how birds age, where they go, and what their social structure is. Tracking and counting birds has helped pinpoint two major problems of our diminishing bird population: (1) the rapid destruction of the rain forests of Central and South America (wintering habitats of many song birds); and (2) problems—perhaps caused by acid rain—on the northern breeding grounds of many of the same migrating birds.

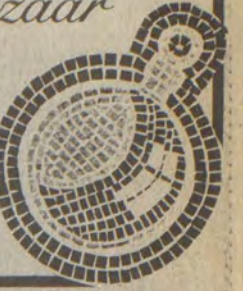

My own local birdbanding has indicated the great need to maintain scrub habitats in our suburbs. They provide winter cover and food for birds like juncos and white-throated sparrows and summer cover, fruit and insects for breeding birds such as prairie warblers, catbirds and indigo buntings.

My next personal banding experiment: to see if the summer goldfinches and song sparrows are the same ones that visit my feeders in winter. I'll let you know how it turns out.

Contrary to popular folk wisdom, lightning does strike the same place twice. According to National Wildlife magazine, scientists believe that some areas have topography and wind-flow patterns that make them especially prone to lightning. In Florida, for instance, lightning repeatedly strikes bulges in the coastline, such as Cape Canaveral, where sea breezes converge.

Any truth to the proverb, "Going to rain if the horse rolls over?" You bet there is, says National Wildlife magazine. Animals often get edgy long before a storm hits because they're able to hear the low frequency sound waves given off by approaching storms.

'Miss June' Honored at Reception

From left, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, founder and director of the Jenny Wiley Festival, Dr. June Buchanan, of Alice Lloyd College, who served as grand marshal of the Festival parade, and Arthur W. Haywood, president of the Floyd County Alumni Association of A.L.C., as they attended a reception in "Miss June's" honor at the First United Methodist Church, Oct. 12.

One of the highlights of the Jenny Wiley Festival held here recently was the reception honoring Dr. June Buchanan, of Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, who served as grand parade marshal for this event.

The reception was held at the First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12, from 12 o'clock noon to 2 p.m. "Miss June," as she is widely known, greeted approximately 90 Alice Lloyd College alumni, other educators and friends of the college.

Arthur W. Haywood, president and other members of the Floyd County A.L.C. Alumni Association hosted the reception. Mr. Haywood greeted the guests, and presented his daughter, Miss Rebecca Haywood, of Falmouth, who sang "Climb Every Mountain," accompanied at the piano by David Banner Leslie.

Mr. Haywood then presented "Miss June," who talked to the group about the philosophy of Alice Lloyd College and its parallel to Robert Browning's poem, "Pippa Passes."

Mrs. Maxine Bierman, founder and director of the Jenny Wiley Festival, gave to the honored guest a painting by local Kentucky Heritage artist, Russell May. Mrs. Bierman introduced two members of the Millersburg Military Institute who were here as part of the Honor Guard for the parade, one of whom was her great-niece.

Representatives of Alice Lloyd College attending the reception were Mrs. Sally S. Brashear, director of Alumni Affairs, Adrian Hall, associate director of Admissions, and Townsel Marshall, as chairman of the board of trustees.

Representing the Big Sandy Retired

Teachers' Association were Mrs. Lenora Gullett, president; Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, president-elect; H.C. Hutton, first vice-president, and Russell Boyd, a member of the executive board. The Floyd County Retired Teachers Association had for their representatives, Mrs. Danese Ambergue, president; Miss Ruby Akers, first vice-president; Mrs. Carlos Haywood, second vice-president; Mrs. Sarah Laven, secretary, and Mrs. Alice O. Martin, a member. Mrs. Docia B. Woods, as publicity chairman, represented both these groups.

Tobacco Habit Leads To Man's Capture Here

A shoplifting arrest here yesterday (Tuesday) turned up an Orlando, Florida, grand theft warrant on a Salyersville man.

Delbert Coldaron, 20, was detained by employees at the Sundry Store after he allegedly shoplifted two cartons of cigarettes. City police officers were called to the scene, but Coldaron fled when the officers arrived. A chase ensued, with officers Chuck Akers and Mike Meade apprehending the suspect near the First Commonwealth Bank building, under construction on Arnold Avenue.

Coldaron was lodged in the Floyd County Jail on the shoplifting warrant, and on the Florida charges. The Florida warrant was issued August 12, and bond had been posted there at $10,000.

FALL FOLIAGE SEASON SAID PAST PEAK

The fall-foliage viewing season is drawing to a close, as recent heavy rains knocked off the leaves of many trees. Observers in all four regions of the state report past-peak conditions, with only isolated spots of good coloration.

While the foliage season is ending, Kentucky offers a variety of things to see and do throughout the year. For general travel information, call toll-free 1-800-225-8747.

School Plans Festival

The Harold Elementary P.T.A. is sponsoring its fall festival, Friday Oct. 25. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy the fun.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Charlie Newman wishes to gratefully acknowledge the thoughtfulness and kindness of friends, relatives and neighbors in the loss of our loved one. We are especially thankful to Dr. Mary Hall for her concern and care for the many years, the Clear Creek United Baptist Church, members and ministers, and Hall Funeral Home for its courteous and efficient service.

Saving a Bundle

Have you ever stopped to think you are getting the old money dagger stuck in your back? Just think: a few years ago a magistrate's pay was around $1000 per year and now it is $22,104 per year plus a fat $300 per month expense account, making the total run $25,704. This is outrageous for no more than they do for their district and to think there's four of them thus bringing the total pay out to $102,816 for the taxpayers to bear. It's just too much to pay for the bit of service we get.

Johnson county is getting along wonderfully well with three commissioners that are serving for $12,040 a year each and the county government is functioning real well for the outlay of $36,120. Who voted in the fat cat pay for so little done for the county? Let's vote in three commissioners for the county and save a bundle in money that the taxpayers don't have to pay out and get nothing for it.

The commissioners are elected by the entire county vote, therefore they will serve the county at large far more efficiently than the broken up magistrate system, just serving one little district each and the service they do is always in a squabble or fight and you can't get efficiency from squabbles and fights.

Why are our magistrates paid so much higher than other counties that have them? Martin county only pays them $361.72 every two weeks or $723.44 per month. Good ole Floyd county taxpayers shovel out $1842 per month plus a gravy train of $300 expense account. Looks like us Floyd county suckers are paying out three times more, and I am sure our magistrates are no smarter than Martin or any other counties' magistrates.

Let's vote in the commissioners—a much better man for the county with far more prestige and ability to get things done for the county at far less money.

I am for saving Floyd county money, making less taxes for the over loaded taxpayer, and in the meantime getting far better service for the county. I say let's dispose of the magistrate system and use the commissioner system.

W.T. FOLEY,
Prestonsburg

Firemen Commended

The Mayor and City Commissioners, City of Wheelwright, wish to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt thanks in appreciation of the prompt response to our call for assistance by the following fire departments on the night of Oct. 17: Shelby Valley, Left Beaver, Big Mud, Martin, Allen, Cow Creek, Prestonsburg, Wayland, Maytown, Garrett, Knott Co., Southeast.

The old office building, located in the congested business section of town, was aflame and burning almost out of control when our calls for assistance went out. Within minutes, the neighboring fire departments began arriving with trucks and tankers full of water. They and our own fire department were able to contain and extinguish the fire, limiting the loss of property to that one building.

This was accomplished in spite of great adversities. After using the water each brought in their trucks, it was discovered that the fire hydrants closest to the fire site were inoperable and a hydrant further up Main Street had to be used.

The main power line for the city was in close proximity to the burning building, and for safety reasons the fire chiefs and state police requested the mayor have Ky. Power cut the power on that line. This should have presented no problems with the water supply, for just four to three years ago the city had a 100,000-gallon-capacity water tank erected at a cost of approximately $300,000. For such emergencies. Unfortunately, the water tank was, unexplainably, empty.

And so, after 25 minutes, the power was restored and the fire departments, at great personal risk, fought and subdued the fire.

Mere words cannot express how very proud the communities represented by the aforementioned fire departments, must be. We commend each of the firefighters and their departments. Well done!

ELMER FERGUSON, Mayor
City of Wheelwright

A Plea For Letters

My name is Ricky Allen and I'm an inmate of Ky. State Prison. A fellow inmate (Anita Taylor), whose hometown is Prestonsburg has led me to believe that you might be willing to help me.

Sir, I would like to advertise for someone to correspond with. I'm alone and a very lonely person. I have no family or friends and I receive no mail.

I'm serving 12 years for robbery and escape and I have 14 months remaining till I make parole. I'm 29 years old. I'm studying law.

I'm very lonely and in need of any penpal that wishes to write. And I promise to answer every letter that I receive, and thanks to each kind soul that responds to my plea.

Says Privacy Invaded

Dear Editor,
As citizens of the United States we are entitled to our right of privacy as well as the paper has freedom of press. But when the Freedom of Press invades the private lives of others without their consent it is unAmerican. We feel that when someone other than the parties mentioned in the social column puts a piece of social news in the paper they should have the consent of parties involved. We have had a family member hurt very deeply over just such an incident. The piece written made her look as if she has done only one good thing in her life, but people who know her knows the many things she has done could fill the Floyd Co. Times over again. We hope that the social column will be more careful about the things written in by others in the future.

Grant Uses Listed

A recent $32,000 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission will go toward improving transportation, steering seniors toward higher education, career guidance and general operating costs, said David School Director Danny Greene.

Being the only private school in the state to receive such an award was quite an honor, said Greene. Schools in 13 states received the ARC grants from a pool of $1,500,000. The David School grant was announced last week by Governor Martha Layne Collins.

50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Reffett were guests recently at a dinner hosted by their children at Paintsville's Carriage House in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. Attending were five generations of the Reffett family.

Mr. and Mrs. Reffett are parents of two sons, three grandchildren and two great-granddaughters.

They were married August 17, 1935 at Hippo, Ky. by Rev. Andy Moore. Mr. Reffett is the son of Wm. Reffett, of Hueysville, and the late Minerva Skeans Reffett. Mrs. Reffett is the daughter of the late Alka and Arrena Hicks Davis.

Attending were Wm. and Mildred Reffett, Frank and Sue Reffett, all of Hueysville; Ermil and Colleen Reffett, of Beckley, W. Va.; Mike and Susan Reffett and Melissa Shay, of Pikeville; David and Bonnie Reffett, of Hueysville; Deborah Lynne and Scott Bosworth and Raven Linay, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Dave Conley, of Garrett.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF PRESTONSBURG

Those of you who do not know me, I am the husband of Mary Belle Layne Short, she being the only child of Mary Lou Layne and the late Frank Hopkins Layne. She is a cousin of Alice Grey Burke Buchanan; Sarah Cross and Betty Archer Davis. I think she also claims kin to a number of people in the area but I wouldn't even begin to guess. Now down to the business at hand. I am a candidate for Mayor of Prestonsburg and am running against a very fine person, Mrs. Ann Latta.

My desire is for the upgrading of Prestonsburg and to see it moving forward again. The things that I have noticed that need work on are a better control of traffic; overhead crosswalks for school youngsters of the high school as well as citizens living in the Northwest sector cut off by a very busy highway. I would like to have what is called a pedestrian walk light control at the corner of Lake Drive and Court Street. There is a great need for public restrooms in the downtown area for shoppers and visitors. We still need more parking facilities and at this time a three-tier municipal parking tower would be helpful. There is a need for better protection, for good police officers, and fire fighters, in job security and in their retirement. I would like very much to see more for the youth of Prestonsburg in supervised activities and more accessible places for activities. There are many things that need to be improved and with your help they can be started.

My one big request is that each of the voters in Prestonsburg and Floyd County ask for guidance from your higher power in Heaven, and not from a green back dollar bill. Then whatever the outcome, no one can complain.

Miss Slone, Mr. Click To Wed at Martin, Sat.

Mr. and Mrs. John Odum, of Garden City, Michigan, announce the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Connie Slone, to Steven Duane Click, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Click, of Manton, Kentucky.

The marriage will take place Saturday, October 26, at the Martin Church of Christ where the gracious custom of open church will be observed. A reception will immediately follow the ceremony.

Miss Slone is the daughter of the late Ishmel Slone, granddaughter of Daffie and Lily Slone, of Topmost, Ky., and Enon and Zola Cook, of Creston, Ohio. Mr. Click is the grandson of Mrs. Narcie Click, of Manton, and Mrs. Maggie Taylor of Printer.

Signs On Poles Said Power Workers' Bane

Utility poles have long been a popular place to tack signs of various types. Some of the more popular signs include political posters as well as notices of yard or rummage sales.

While the signs might be of interest to some people, they also present a hazard to the people who must climb poles in order to maintain service, according to W.W. Zoellers, Pikeville Division manager of Kentucky Power Company. Zoellers said nails or tacks, used to attach such signs, are generally left behind long after the sign has disappeared.

"Those nails can cause grave problems for power company employees. The people who must climb those poles to perform various tasks wear special climbers called gaffs, sharp points of metal which attach to a climber's boots, must make very good contact with the wood in order for the workers to remain safely on the pole. If the gaffs come into contact with a tack, nail or screw or some other foreign object, there is a strong possibility the climber might slip and fall," Zoellers explained.

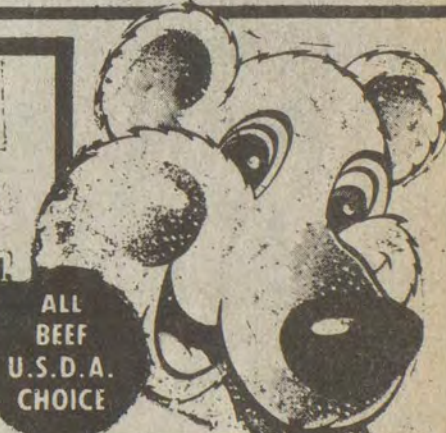

In addition, Zoellers said nails or tacks also raise the possibilities of a climber's clothes or protective clothing or skin being torn. "Our people sometimes wear special equipment to perform work on a pole and if it is damaged in some way it could cause some very severe injuries or death," he said.

"We would like to remind everyone of the danger left behind although the situation probably was an innocent circumstance of placing a sign on a utility pole. People can be a great help to us by not placing signs of any kind on a pole. In fact, the safety of many of our employees depend at least in part on the cooperation of other people," Zoellers said.

Also the placement of signs on utility poles along highway rights-of-way is against the law.

Walk a mile in my shoes and then criticize me. I have tried to do the things you ask for and other things, too, but when (in my opinion) any department withholds services, such as in West Prestonsburg, in order for their choice of people to be elected, then you should realize that I am a part of a legislative body of 8—not a "Genie" that can grant wishes.

OWENS FOR MAGISTRATE

This is to JAMES JACK CONLEY who said he was a TURNED OFF DEMOCRAT in last week's paper.

He said his reason No. 1 was that I talked about the other 14 opponents in the primary. THE FACT IS, there has never been 14 candidates for magistrate in Dist. 2 in both the May primary and the November election counting Democrats, Republicans, and Independents. I am sure that if you check back in your old papers, you will find where I only mentioned four candidates names in all my May campaign. I QUOTED ONLY THE FACTS—I DIDN'T MUDSLING ONE TIME.

To answer your question of me being a dozer operator and possibly taking somebody's job on the work crew—THIS IS A WILD ACCUSATION. We need the same number of men we have got now and then some. I can run a dozer, loader, backhoe, grader, truck, and anything else nearly on tracks or wheels. I think it's good that a magistrate has got the ability to operate this equipment. If you think it's going to snow or come downpours from 8 to 5—five days a week—YOU ARE WRONG. THERE WILL BE EMERGENCIES ARISING ALL THE TIME.

I'm well aware of the duties of a magistrate but I think IT'S ABOUT TIME WE DID something about the roads besides DRIVING AROUND and LOOKING AT THEM.

You also said "a magistrate must do the job without malice, greed, or hatred and treat all the people the same." I think that I CAN DO JUST THAT. If I'm elected your magistrate on Nov. 5 and if you have a problem in your area, MR. CONLEY, please feel free to contact me. I will do what is in my power to help better your community.

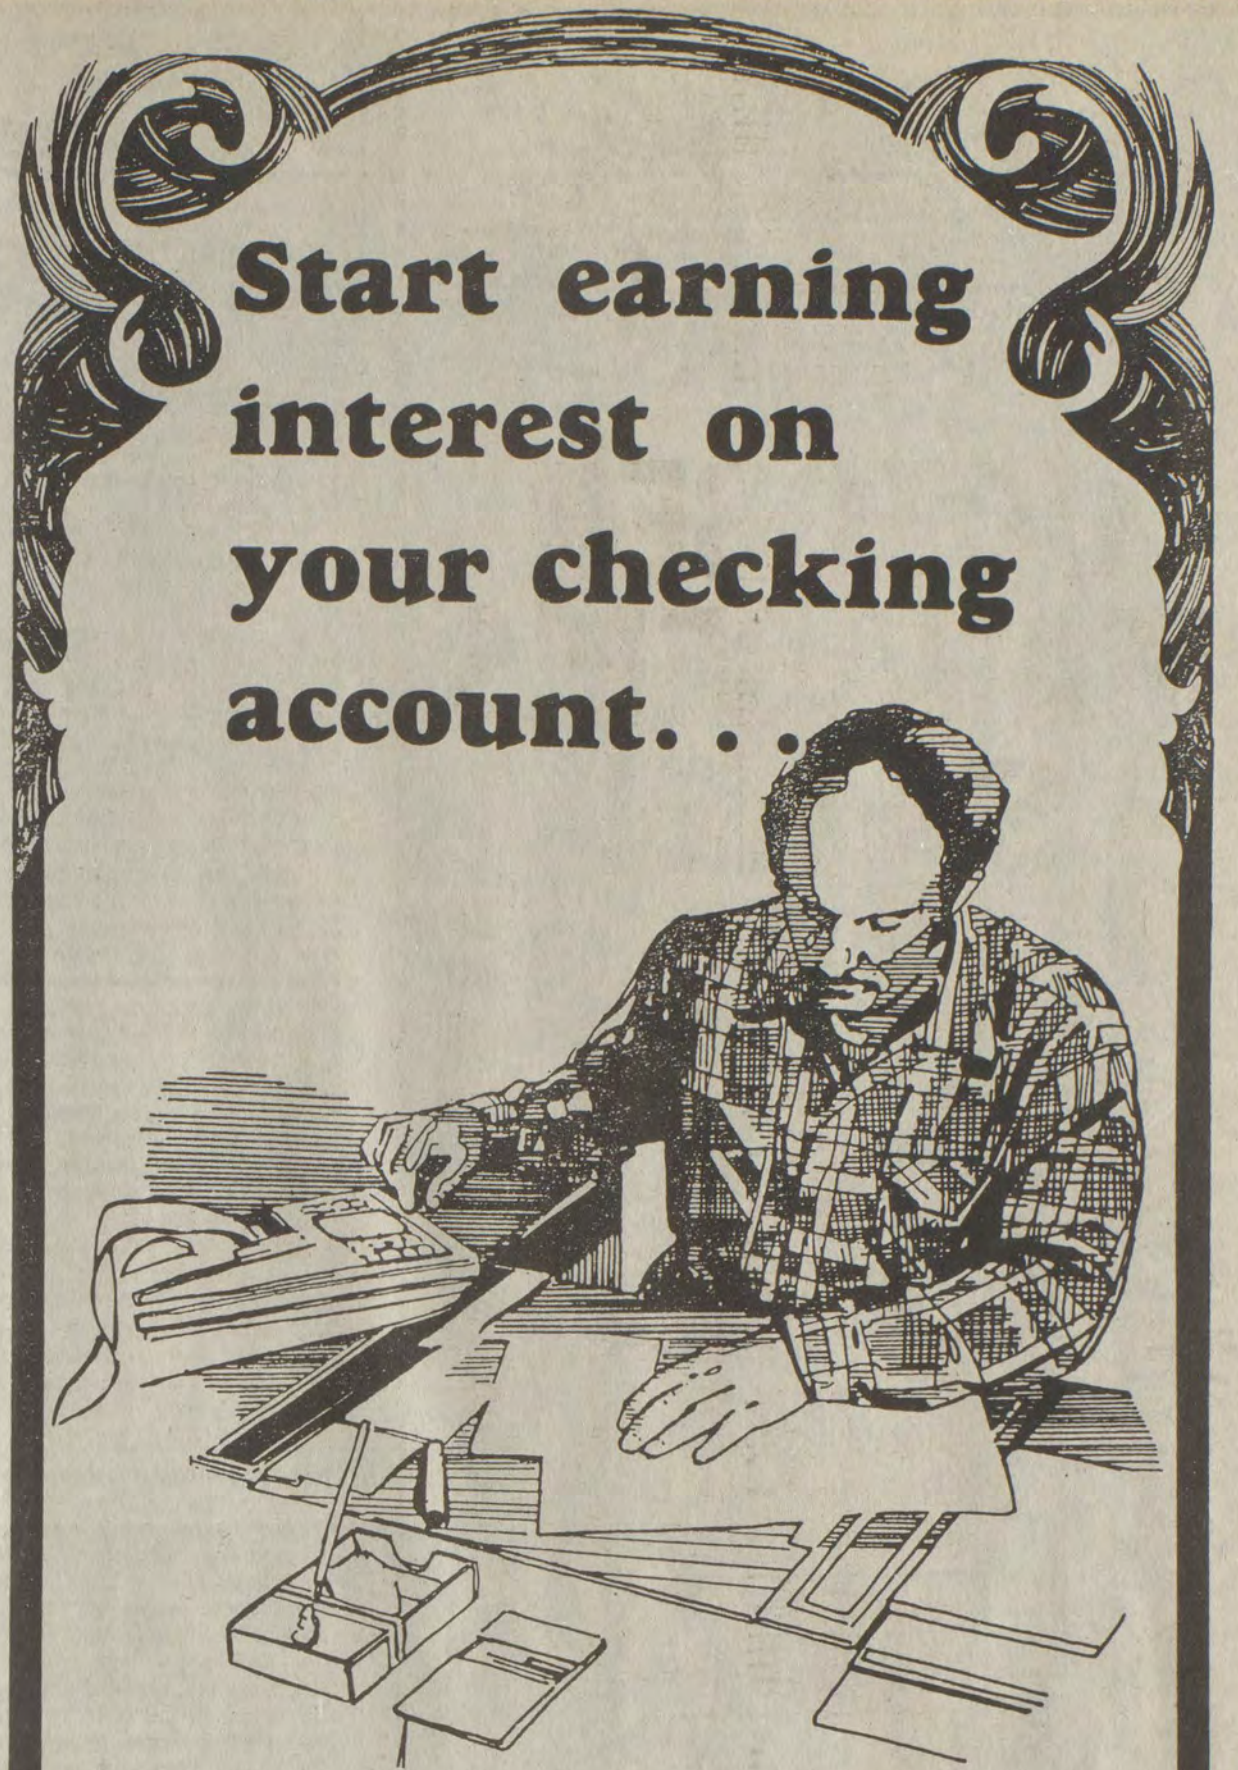

You also stated that you "were going to vote Republican—AT LEAST you are going to STICK WITH ONE OF THE 2 MAJOR PARTIES. That's better than voting Independent.

VETERINARY TRAINING

"You've come a long way baby!" is a slogan that perhaps could not be restricted to the lady in the cigarette ads.

It applies just as accurately to the highly trained veterinarian of today.

Some people still living can remember the days when the practice of medicine for animals was largely learned by experience and was not licensed to assure any degree of competency.

Today's veterinary training begins with at least three years of college pre-veterinary studies similar to the pre-med requirements for medical doctors. Most students, however, complete four years of college and some receive master's degrees or doctorates before applying to a veterinary school.

Even then, many of them are not accepted because of a shortage of teaching capacity. Only one in seven applicants are accepted to veterinary schools, compared to one in three for medical schools. The veterinary school course takes four years to complete, and many go on to further training.

A majority of graduates go into private practice, general practitioners who treat a dog, a cow or a cat with equal ease. Others specialize, either concentrating on one animal—horses, cattle, small animals—or specific areas—cardiologists, ophthalmologists, nutritionists, toxicologists and such.

Still others go into research in a variety of interests ranging from increasing the food supply to space medicine. A brand new area of research is marine life and aquaculture, with a view toward using the oceans to provide food for an ever-increasing population.

Some doctors hold both an M.D. and a D.M.D. degree, and it is not unusual for experts in certain veterinary specialties to be consulted by medical doctors. Animal research has provided a background for a considerable part of the body of knowledge of human medicine.

Still others become teachers, often combining research and teaching. A majority of established veterinary offices act as part-time teachers, taking veterinary students as interns during the summer months to give them actual experience in diagnosis and treatment.

Many states require updating of knowledge in one form or another, such as attending seminars.

Some of the state veterinary associations sponsor annual conventions at which seminars discussing new research data, new methods of treatment and newly available medicines.

The Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association sponsors such an annual convention, called the Mid-America Veterinary Conference. Held this year Oct. 5 through Oct. 8 at the Hurstborne Lane Ramada Convention Center in Louisville, the event attracts out-of-state veterinarians in addition to a large number of Kentucky veterinarians.

This year's session features seminars in three areas: Small Animal Treatment and Surgery, Food Animal Treatment and Surgery and Horse. Dr. Kenneth Braun, of the University of Florida, and Dr. Steve Henry, a practitioner from Abilene, Kansas, will conduct the Food Animal seminars on a variety of topics ranging from integrated health care for dairy herds to veterinary technicians.

Dr. Ray Dillon, Auburn University, and Dr. Richard Ford, North Carolina State University, will lead the Small Animal sessions. Topics range from feline leukemia to heartworm diagnosis and treatment.

Several speakers are scheduled for the equine seminar, including Dr. Paul Thorpe, Dr. Norman Rantannen, Dr. Doug Byers, Dr. Rick Redden, Dr. David Fishback, Dr. Kirk Shiner, Dr. Jim Smith, all of Lexington, Dr. Michael McDonald, Kentucky State Veterinarian, and Dr. David Powell and Dr. Ed Churchill. Topics there range from pre-purchase examinations to international movement of horses.

Speaker for the banquet is nationally-known author, poet and radio speaker Dr. Baxter Black. He is a highly competent veterinarian who writes the syndicated column "On The Edge of Common Sense," who produces the syndicated radio program "Cowboys and Sourdough" and has published four volumes of cowboy poetry.

OWENS FOR MAGISTRATE

TO ANSWER JOHNSON COUNTY CIRCUIT JUDGE JAMES A. KNIGHT—who thinks the commission form of government is a good form of government—WHO IS IT GOOD FOR? I think that the commission form of government would be good for the BIG WHEELS to control county government. WHAT ABOUT US LITTLE PEOPLE? I would like to know how a commissioner who runs countywide would know where Mud Lick is, or Steele's Creek, Cracker Bottom, Oklahoma, Bucks Branch, Stephens Branch, Salyers Branch, Coolwater, Sage Allen Branch, West Garrett, Baptist Bottom, Stonecoal, Garrett Hill, Glo, Punkin Center, Estill, Lackey, Dwale, Mills Creek, Prater Fork, Eastern, Maytown, Hippo, Henry's Branch, Johns Branch, Turkey Creek, Shop Fork, Goose Creek—just to name a few. You can't tell me that a commissioner—running countywide—would know these people and their needs better than a magistrate would running district wide.

To answer ALLEN "BUD" PERRY—another Johnson Countian trying to tell Floyd County people what to do—he's the editor of the Paintsville Herald.

He and Judge Knight came into the Floyd County paper and told us how good the commission form of government is, yet there are only 19 counties out of 120 counties in the state of Kentucky with this commission form of government. I feel that these poor people in these 19 counties are not getting their FAIR SHARE or a SAY-SO.

I checked into some counties that have got the commission form of government and the reply I got from the people was that they were poorly represented with problems ranging from commissioners not wanting to attend any of the meetings to being out voted on anything they wanted. That's because you have only got 3 votes instead of 4. With the commission form of government—the judge has got a say-so and 3 commissioners. One judge and one commissioner can tie up the vote on anything. With a magistrate form of government—you have got 5 say-sos. The judge and one magistrate can't tie anything. That's why it's so important that we KEEP ALL THE VOTES WE CAN. Let's not cut from 4 votes to 3 votes.

Editor Perry also stated that "a district can put in a really sorry candidate." I, JACKIE EDFORD OWENS, think that some newspapers can have some really sorry editors in my book. I would like to see Johnson County politicians and editors help the people out in Johnson County and leave the Floyd County government to Floyd County people. WHO ASKED JOHNSON COUNTY?

Blackcats Lose Heartbreaker Before Homecoming Fans

"We didn't have great team unity tonight and we just weren't hungry enough," commented Prestonsburg Blackcat football coach, Chuke Williams, after his team suffered a heartbreaking loss to the Harrison County Thoroughbreds on Friday night.

It was the final home game of the season for the undefeated 'Cats, who went into the contest sporting an impressive 8-0 season record. The team was also ranked second in the weekly UPI coaches' poll for the week prior to Friday's game.

The capacity crowd was treated to vintage Blackcat football as senior quarterback, John Goble led the 'Cats in sustained drives throughout the contest. The first two series for the home squad consumed over eight of the first twelve minutes of the first quarter.

The game began with the 'Cats electing to receive the opening kick-off. Wendell Burke took the Harrison County kick-off on his own five yard line and returned it to his own twenty-seven.

Goble, with Burke and senior tailback B.D. Nunnery behind him, began an offensive drive that would last for 13 plays. On the first play from scrimmage, Nunnery ran through a large hole on the left side for a gain of eight yards. Burke immediately followed on the next play with a five yard run up the middle of the Thoroughbred defensive line, resulting in a first down.

For the next eight plays, Burke and Nunnery ran at will through the opposition's defensive line which was much too small to handle the bigger and more powerful Prestonsburg front line.

With 8:32 showing on the clock, the 'Cats found themselves on the Harrison County 36 yard line, faced with a second down and fifteen-yard-to-go, situation.

Running out of the "I" formation, Goble gave the ball to his tailback, Nunnery, who appeared to be stopped at the line of scrimmage, but eluded his would-be tacklers, cut to the right, and raced into the end zone, leaving his defenders in a cloud of dust.

the 'Cats a 7-0 lead with 7:50 left in the first quarter.

Harrison County's following offensive series was uneventful. The Thoroughbreds tried to run sweeps on their first two tries to the right side of the unrelenting Blackcat defensive line, but to no avail. On the next play, 'Cats linebacker Keith Slone caught the Thoroughbred halfback in his own backfield for a four yard loss.

The visitors were forced to punt from their own six yard line. The 'Cats took over on their own 46 yard line. The second offensive series was much like the first, as the 'Cats, ground game was at its top form.

DRIVING HARD, is Prestonsburg Blackcat running back, B.D. Nunnery, No. 23, in Friday night's gridiron action. Nunnery scored two touchdowns in a losing effort as the Blackcats were defeated for the first time this season losing to Harrison County, 17-14.

With 5:40 left in the first quarter, Prestonsburg began another relentless march toward the Thoroughbred end-zone. A weakness in the defense had emerged as the 'Cats backfield ran the ball up the middle the majority of the drive. The 'Cats gained 43 yards in nine plays for an impressive 4.7 yards-per-carry average.

The longest gain of the drive came on a third down conversion attempt, when Wendell Burke scampered over left tackle for an 11 yard pick up.

The drive was finally stalled on the Harrison County 10 yard line when Goble tried to pick up four yards on a third down play. Goble, on a keeper, tried the right side but in doing so was hit in the backfield, and struggled to get back to the original line of scrimmage.

At the 2:08 mark, Coach Williams and staff decided to attempt a fieldgoal. Kicker Brent Hackworth's try was wide to the left of the uprights, leaving the 'Cats empty-handed at the end of this well executed offensive series.

The Thoroughbreds took over on their own 20 yard line, but were unable, again, to mount any type of offensive threat, having to punt the ball away as the quarter ended.

The second quarter saw both defensive squads really bear down.

Prestonsburg began the second stanza having to punt the ball away for the first time in the contest, after failing to convert a third down situation.

The Thoroughbreds first series started deep in their own territory. But their hopes of mounting an offensive charge were halted when senior cornerback, Shag Campbell, sacked the Harrison County quarterback, John Hampton, on a third down pass play. The Thoroughbreds had to punt the ball away with 5:30 remaining in the half.

Pete Greene fielded the ball on his own 41 yard line and returned it to the Thoroughbreds' 47 yard line.

After being stopped for no gain on the first play from scrimmage, Nunnery gave the home crowd a spectacular run which went all the way to the Harrison County 26 yard line.

The next play saw fullback Ronnie Slone stopped after a one yard gain. Goble then attempted a 12 yard pass that fell beyond the outstretched fingertips of Shag Campbell. On third down Goble again dropped to pass, but upon finding all of his receivers covered, he tucked the ball in and ran for a 14 yard gain, turning a broken play into a Prestonsburg firstdown, on the visitor's six yard line with 1:45 remaining before intermission.

On the next play from scrimmage, Nunnery ran to the four yard line, and it appeared that the 'Cats were again going to score.

On the next two plays the 'Cat's hopes for a touchdown were eliminated as Nunnery was halted on a run for no gain, and Goble was sacked as he dropped back to pass at the nine yard line.

A second field goal was attempted and missed, ending another outstanding offensive series, without a point.

The Thoroughbreds took possession on their own 20 yard line with only 43 seconds remaining. The next two plays netted 19 yards, but the two downs that followed yielded no forward progress at all. It was with ten seconds on the clock that Thoroughbred quarterback, Hampton, dropped back for a final pass as the half was ending. Seeing his tailback, Greg Burden open, Hampton lobbed a pass out into the left flat, which the extremely elusive Burden caught. He then meandered his way 61 yards for a touchdown as the half was coming to an end. John Harrington followed the score with the extra point try, leaving the teams deadlocked 7 to 7, as they headed for the lockerrooms.

After taking the second half kick off, the Thoroughbreds sustained a five play drive, punting the ball away to the 'Cats after failing to convert a third down pass play.

Prestonsburg's first plays of the second half were reminiscent of their style of play in the first half, with Burke, Nunnery and Goble, running the ball through different holes in the Thoroughbred defense. A six play drive was terminated because of a Blackcat fumble, at the 6:38 mark of the third quarter.

This fumble was costly as the 'Cats were at the Harrison County 38 yard line and moving forward.

Hoping to capitalize on the turnover, the Thoroughbreds attempted a pass on the first play but it was incomplete. After trying to advance the ball on the ground and another incomplete pass the Thoroughbreds again were forced to punt, this time from their 18 yard line.

Nunnery received the punt this time, but handed off to Greene on a reverse. Greene after picking up some key blocks returned the punt to the Harrison County two yard line.

With the momentum behind them the 'Cats were not to be denied on this drive, as Nunnery scored his second touchdown of the game on a second down play from the one yard line. Hackworth followed with his second extra point of the evening.

The Prestonsburg lead was a short lived one, as on the ensuing kick off, Burden, of Harrison County, picked up his second touchdown of the game, as he returned the Blackcat kick off 99 yards, leaving the home team and crowd speechless. Herrington added the extra point to even the score at the end of the third quarter.

After taking the next kick off, the determination that has marked this year's Blackcat squad could be seen on the faces of the offensive unit as they took the field.

Starting from their own 34 yard line, mixing running plays with timely passing plays, the 'Cats mounted an 11 play drive, which took them all the way to the Thoroughbred 27 yard line.

Unable to advance any further, the 'Cat's coaching staff elected to try another field goal, on fourth down. Greg Shepherd's 34 yard attempt was very wide of the mark, as the 'Cats were stymied again.

The teams traded punts on the next two series, as neither could advance because of the excellent defensive stands exhibited by both teams.

With 1:48 left in the game, Harrison County had mounted a drive that had stalled on the 'Cats 27 yard line, when the quarterback, Hampton, was thrown for a 4 yard loss.

Faced with a fourth down and eleven, Harrison County decided to attempt their first field goal of the game.

A hush fell over the crowd as Herrington's kick split the uprights, giving the Thoroughbreds the winning margin of victory.

The 'Cats fought back in the remaining seconds of contest. Fighting the clock, Goble connected on two passes to Nunnery and two to Campbell, moving his team from their own 30 yard line to the visitor's 38 yard line.

The only hope was to attempt another field goal. This time it would really put pressure on the 'Cat's kicker, as it would be a 43 yard attempt, longer than any of the three previous attempts.

Nevertheless, with two seconds remaining, Shepherd, who had missed, two previous attempts, gave it a valiant effort. His kick fell just inches short of the goal as the horn was sounding.

It can be said that Prestonsburg played a very good game. The 'Cats gained 228 yards rushing compared to Harrison County's 75. John Goble completed 7 of 12 passes for 81 yards, while the Blackcat defense held the Thoroughbreds to only five pass completions. The 'Cats also accumulated 17 first down to their opposition's seven.

Commenting on Harrison County's victory, Blackcat quarterback John Goble, felt that they (Harrison County) played a very good game. "We just had the big-head, and this contributed to our loss," said the senior play-caller.

Prestonsburg will be on the road this Friday as they travel to Pikeville, to take on the highly rated Panthers.

State Capitol Celebration Slated on 75th Birthday

The 75th Birthday Celebration of the new State Capitol Building in Frankfort will begin with a pistol shot. That sound will launch the 5-kilometer run, the first of dozens of activities scheduled for the event next Saturday (October 26).

The race will start at the steps of the Capitol and wind through the residential neighborhood of South Frankfort before ending back at the Capitol. All participants who finish the race will receive a T-shirt, a birthday pin, and a certificate signed by Governor Martha Layne Collins. The men and women who place first, second and third will receive special awards.

A variety of activities has been scheduled throughout the day to appeal to visitors of all ages. A rail splitting exhibition will take place at 11 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. Horse-drawn carriage rides will be available from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Crafts booths will be set up, and games popular in 1910, the year the Capitol was dedicated—horse shoes, croquet, tug of war, and tennis—will be enjoyed in the Capitol lawn.

Entertainment will go on all day and will feature singers, instrumental groups, cloggers, clowns and high school bands from all over Kentucky. Greg Austin in Concert will begin at 4:30 p.m., followed by the Stephen Foster Singers and the Louisville Youth Performing Orchestra.

Closing ceremonies at 6:30 p.m. on the red, white and blue decorated grounds will include the Lighting of the Cake and the singing of Happy Birthday and My Old Kentucky Home.

Workshops for Nurses

Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin, will offer a two-hour workshop for nurses in two separate sessions today (Wednesday).

The course is titled "Understanding Breath Sounds" and will be offered from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and again from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Seton Complex building in Martin. The class is approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing for two contact hours.

Lucinda Kidd, RN, CNA, BS will teach the course. Mrs. Kidd will instruct participants in describing the location of findings on chest using lines of reference; differentiating between bronchial, bronchovesicular and vesicular breath sounds; and contrasting adventitious breath sounds and normal breath sounds.

Tapes of the breath sounds used in class will be available to participants.

For more information, contact: Naewana Nickles, Education Department, Our Lady of the Way Hospital, P.O. Box 910, Martin, Ky. 41649, 285-5181.

Kiwanis Club News

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis club held their annual installation banquet at May Lodge, October 3. The Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir, under direction of Elizabeth Frazier, provided special music for the event. The new president is the Rev. Tim Jessen. Outgoing president Tim Hites was assisted in the installation by W. Lynn Nickell, of West Liberty. Mr. Nickell is Lieutenant Governor of the 16th division of the Kentucky-Tennessee district.

Also installed were Rob Herrick, president designate; George Spiggle, vice-president; Leonard Grant, secretary-treasurer; and Clyde George, Ted Hall, Ron Johnson, John Leake, Robert Schissler, Carmel Spears, and Garry Vickers, directors.

The Kiwanis sponsored the 4th annual 10K run and two-mile Fun Run as part of the Jenny Wiley Festival, October 12 at the Jenny Wiley State Park. More than 500 participants entered the races.

On Thursday, October 17, Tim Jessen, Carmel Spears, Mr. and Mrs. Huck Francis, and Mr. and Mrs. Garry Vickers welcomed the Governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee District, Gene Resler, of Mayfield, Kentucky, to this area, at a banquet held at Natural Bridge State Park. Mr. Francis is past governor of the district.

The annual Pancake Day, will be held Saturday, October 26, at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria. Pancakes are served from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. and all proceeds go to the Club's service projects. This year's major emphasis program is Walk With a Child and projects will be selected to highlight this theme.

Kiwanis meets every Thursday at 6:15 p.m. at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Billie Marie Gayheart would like to express our deep appreciation and thanks to all our friends and neighbors who sent flowers, brought food, and shared comforting words with us during the loss of our loved one.

A special thanks to the Floyd Funeral Home, the doctors and nurses at Highlands Regional Medical Center, Dr. Adams, Harold Cooley, Rev. Bill Campbell, Rev. Jack DeRossett, Rev. Paul Joseph, Rev. CITIZENS OF WHEELWRIGHT TOGETHER-TOGETHER

Mayor Ferguson and the following Commissioners: Bill Meade, Dennis Holbrook and Joe Stewart are trying to work together and will continue to work for our town with your help.

When you call the mayor or when you talk with one of the commissioners about a problem or some concern, we try. Sometimes we do and sometimes we don't; money is the answer and working together will always help.

I think you must agree: our Policemen Tommy Engle and Jim Perry work together and are doing a fine job. Our Volunteer Fire Dept. does a good job but again they must work together.

Let's change our word now from together to support. Let's get behind and support our businesses. The sale down the road may cost you much more when you add in the cost of the gas plus the wear and tear on your car.

Our own State Motto is the best example to use: UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL. I may not be a writer of state motto but to me it would be fine if we work together or we fall apart.

We make this appeal to all when you vote: Let us help you help our town by working together.

Oh, and to the kids on the street who want to talk about Bill Meade's driveway: Please I have my rights and I have a little piece of paper called a deed.

Remember, right is right and wrong is wrong. We don't need to get on the soap box and put anyone down.

I will talk to anyone about our town and give you nothing but the truth.

We need your help, the citizens of Wheelwright, and I know the truth will stand.

May God Bless All,
Billy T. Meade

CARD OF THANKS
 The family of Albert (Rabbit) Burchett wishes to acknowledge the thoughtfulness and kindness of relatives, neighbors, and friends in the loss of our beloved husband, brother, and uncle. Thanks to those who sent flowers and showed they cared in so many other ways. Thanks to Dr. Jurich, Dr. Handshoe, Dr. Sundaram, the nurses and staff of Highlands Regional Medical Center, Rev. Clifford Austin, Rev. Roy Tinchler, the singers, the D.A.V. and the Floyd Funeral Home.

Some of the officers and committee chairmen who have been chosen to serve in the Local Churchwomen's organization for the ensuing year are shown above. They are, from right, Mrs. Eileen Burchett, president; Mrs. Eva Collins, first vice-president; Mrs. Elma Jessen, second vice-president; Mrs. Zella Archer, secretary; Mrs. Docia B. Woods, publicity chairman. Absent when the picture was made were Mrs. Jane Wallace, third vice-president, and Mrs. Dot Marshall, treasurer.

The Local Church Women held their regular meeting at St. Martha's Catholic Church last Friday, October 18. Mrs. Eva Collins, president, presented Mrs. Mary Lou Layne, who installed the officers for the year 1985-86. Mrs. Eileen Burchett, president; Mrs. Eva Collins, first vice-president; Mrs. Elma Jessen, second vice-president and Mrs. Zella Archer, secretary. Mrs. Docia Woods was asked by Mrs. Burchett to continue as publicity chairman. Installed in absentia were Mrs. Jane Wallace, third vice-president, and Mrs. Dot Marshall, treasurer.

Mrs. Eileen Burchett presided at the business meeting. It was announced that the First Presbyterian and the Community United Methodist Churches here had decided to make quarterly contributions to the Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry, and that women of the First Baptist Church would be in charge of the food pantry during the coming month. It was decided that a bake sale for the benefit of the Local Churchwomen group would be held Friday, Nov. 22 (possibly at the First Commonwealth Bank here). Members are asked to include a recipe for each food item donated for this cause.

Mrs. Eileen Burchett and Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, of the host church, served refreshments to Mesdames Mary Lou Layne, Eva Collins, Lucy Regan, Zella Archer, Louise West, Elma Jessen and son Chris, Sandy Burchett and son Mark, and Father Ralph Beiting.

The next meeting will be at the First United Methodist Church, December 13

ABBOTT HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Abbott Homemakers held their monthly meeting Tuesday evening, Oct. 8. The devotionals were given by Mrs. Frances Pitts, who used as her topic, "Lonely People." Due to the absence of the president, Mrs. Sharon Sparr, and the vice-president, Mrs. Mary Lynn Crisp, the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Christine Ross, presided.

Mrs. Frances Pitts presented the lesson on "Clothing Accessories and the Finishing Touches," and also gave a "quiz" on the topic, "Are you overdressed?" Mrs. Pitts announced the organization of a Quilting Guild. She asked that each member bring a gift-wrapped package to the November meeting.

Mrs. Christine Ross, hostess, served refreshments to Mesdames Cynthia Frasure, Ethel Ratliff, Mary Creed and daughter Denise, Grace Conley, Eukie Merritt, Ruby Frasure, and a new member, Mrs. Barbara Dunn and her daughter Allison.

The next meeting will be Nov. 12, with Mrs. Eukie Merritt as hostess.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Dr. and Mrs. Kent Gibson, Liberty, Ky., announce the birth on Oct. 14, of their third child, a daughter, Meghan Elizabeth. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Miles Gibson, Jr., of Langley, Janice and Donald R. Pelphrey, of Prestonsburg.

Observe 92nd Birthday

Veterans Administration... Questions, Answers

Q--Are children of deceased veterans eligible for GI home loans from the VA?

A--Children of deceased veterans are not eligible for a GI home loan.

Q--When I recently applied for a VA guaranteed home loan I was advised it could not be processed until I repaid an outstanding debt for VA educational assistance. Is this correct?

A--Yes. It is the VA policy to reconcile all outstanding debts to the U.S. Government prior to approving a home loan application.

Q--I have been participating in the work-study program but circumstances have forced me to withdraw from school. How can I satisfy my obligation on the remaining hours of the work-study contract?

A--You can work the remaining hours for which you received advance payment.

Q--I receive an annual clothing allowance from the VA. Has it increased?

A--As of December 1, 1984, the annual special clothing allowance for veterans with a service connected disability requiring use of prosthetic or orthopedic appliances was $349.

Q--If I purchase a home using my GI guaranteed loan benefit am I obligated to live in the home?

A--Yes. An eligible veteran must certify that he or she intends to occupy the home as his or her principal residence.

Q--Are dividends from insurance policies counted as income when qualifying for the Veterans Administration pension program?

A--Yes. Dividends from commercial life insurance policies must be reported as income under the VA's non-service-connected disability pension program.

...About Your Social Security

By JIM KELLY

District Social Security Director
All applicants for Social Security disability benefits or for Supplemental Security Income payments based on disability are considered for services offered by their State vocational rehabilitation agency.

These services may include counseling, medical care, physical therapy, and job training and placement.

The services may be offered to any applicant, whether or not his or her Social Security claim is approved. Acceptance of the rehabilitation services will not affect your Social Security or Supplemental Security Income claim. However, refusal of rehabilitation service may cause your Social Security or Supplemental Security Income check to stop. Disability beneficiaries should follow the rehabilitation plan set out by their rehabilitation counselor.

Anyone who has ever applied for disability benefits but has not been contacted by the State agency and who is interested in seeing what might be available can get the address and phone number from the Social Security office. The agency is also listed under the State heading in the local telephone directory.

The Big Sandy Area Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

To Sponsor Open House

The Academic Boosters Club of Wheelwright High School will sponsor open house at the school Monday, Oct. 28, from 6 to 8:30 p.m.

"This would be an excellent time for the community to see the improvements that have been made at the school. Each parent is invited to come and talk with the teachers' club leader said.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

- (1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

WHICH OF THE ABOVE DO YOU WANT TO SERVE AS YOUR NEXT MAGISTRATE IN DIST. 3?

Since I did not hear the evidence presented, I am in no position to question the integrity of the accused (our present magistrate), the jurors who convicted him, or the judge who sentenced him. The law, however, is plainly written; Kentucky Election Laws—Consitution section 150 states in part:

"IT SHALL BE THE DUTY OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO PROVIDE FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE PROVISIONS OF THIS SECTION. ALL PERSONS SHALL BE EXCLUDED FROM OFFICE WHO HAVE BEEN, OR SHALL HEREAFTER BE, CONVICTED OF A FELONY, OR OF SUCH HIGH MISDEMEANOR AS MAY BE PRESCRIBED BY LAW, BUT SUCH DISABILITY MAY BE REMOVED BY PARDON OF THE GOVERNOR."

Without executive pardon by the governor or by winning appeal, it is only a matter of time until this office will be vacant. Then, who will it be? Don't wait for your next magistrate to be appointed. Come out and elect your own on November 5th!

Vows Said July 6

Mr. Duane Hamilton and Miss Donna Sue Hamilton were united in marriage July 6 at the Old Samaria Regular Baptist Church at Teaberry.

The groom is the son of Lonzo and Billie Joyce Hamilton, of Taylor, Mich., formerly of Teaberry, and the bride is the daughter of Luther and Sally Hamilton, of Teaberry.

The ceremony was performed at 2 p.m. by the Rev. Jimmy Hall. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the luncheonroom of the church.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Verl Hamilton, and Kenny Brown, cousin of the groom, served as best man.

Groomsmen were David Brown, cousin of the groom, and Ledis Hamilton, brother of the bride. Brett Hamilton, cousin of the groom, was the ringbearer.

The maid of honor was Delores Hamilton, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Jeanette Hamilton and Bertha Hamilton, sister-in-law of the bride. The flowergirl was Karie Renee Hamilton, niece of the bride.

After a wedding trip to Ohio and Michigan, they are now residing in Milford, Kansas where Duane is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas with the U.S. Army.

The word "salary" derives from the Latin salarium, originally "money given to Roman soldiers to buy salt."

Not a Humdrum Experience

Teresa Hernandez, the new assistant professor of biology at Prestonsburg Community College, is a teacher with varied experiences to share with her students. She came to this country with her Cuban family as a six-year-old, settling and growing up in North Carolina, and her pursuit of learning has been marked by adventure.

She earned her B.S. degree in biology from the University of North Carolina and her master's from Texas Women's University. She has been a fellow at Temple University and a language student at the University of Dijon, in France. Fluent in both French and Spanish, she taught English for a year in Algeria, using French as the primary language. She is currently teaching a French continuing education class in her spare time for area people who are planning to visit France.

Miss Hernandez' zest for adventure has taken her from teaching positions in North Carolina to Algeria to New York and Massachusetts before joining the PCC faculty. She is interested in research and has had several papers published. Her first love, however, is teaching, and her warmth and friendliness make her office here a mecca for students.

Andrea Doria Story, High-Sea Adventure

"Andrea Doria: The Final Chapter" captures the excitement of the high-sea salvage mission to rescue a sunken treasure when it airs on KET, Wednesday, November 6, at 9:00 p.m.

On July 26, 1956, the Andrea Doria, Italy's most luxurious ocean liner, sank after colliding with the Swedish passenger ship, the Stockholm. It was the most spectacular sea disaster since the sinking of the Titanic. "Andrea Doria: The Final Chapter" is the story of the ambitious effort to recover the fortune in cash and precious stones rumored to be aboard ship, and what was actually found.

The Andrea Doria symbolized the rebirth of the Italian merchant marine, which had been almost entirely destroyed during World War II. When the Andrea Doria sank, it was rumored that a fortune in cash and precious stones was locked away in her two safes. It was not until the 1970s that the necessary deep-sea diving technology—saturation diving—existed for investigation.

Peter Gimbel, deep-sea diver and underwater cameraman, and his wife Elga Andersen, along with a crew of 30 men, launched the Doria Project.

OWENS FOR MAGISTRATE

Jackie Edford Owens, Democrat for Magistrate, Dist. 2 is glad to announce that I have been able to get most of the candidates that ran against me in the May primary to support me in November. Although Kenneth Roberts has chosen to support Birchell Duff, the Independent candidate. I know this is so because when I came up behind Kenneth Roberts truck the other day I couldn't see anything but Birchell Duff's stickers all over his truck. I also saw Kenneth Roberts trying to direct his crew to put down some blacktop in Garrett, but they were having a time because Birchell Duff was right under their feet. I also saw that they took the scraps they had left and tried to patch the old Salt Lick road.

Brewery is Defendant

The Stroh Brewing Company has a suit on its hands as a result of the six-pack of Old Milwaukee Light that Robert P. Kestner, of Prestonsburg, purchased last November.

As he drank from one of the bottles, he noticed a rubber object in the bottle, claims Kestner, who seeks unspecified damages in a suit filed last week in Floyd Circuit Court. His discovery caused him to throw up, he said. (Suits filed in court outline only one side of the issue in dispute).

FOR RESPONSIBILITY AND LEADERSHIP VOTE FOR AND ELECT ASHLAND JOSEPH

DO YOU WANT TO KEEP PRESTONSBURG ON THE ROAD TO PROGRESS?

1. Why single out the construction of a new bridge for the citizens at Cliff and leave the citizens of Goble-Roberts Addition in need? Would it not make more sense to construct a new two-lane bridge for the citizens of Goble-Roberts Addition NOW and let the citizens of Cliff get the benefit of new U.S. 23 and the Commonwealth of Kentucky pay for a NEW BRIDGE at the Cliff area?
2. The Federal government has managed to shift the majority of the GRANT PROGRAMS to the States. You need a council and a Mayor along with a City Manager who will work to obtain those grants for the benefit of our citizens in Prestonsburg.
3. ASHLAND JOSEPH PROPOSES: working together in harmony as public officials should do for the betterment of its taxpayers. HOLDING down the costs for ESSENTIAL SERVICES by improving work schedules and hiring competent hardworking personnel are all in ASHLAND JOSEPH'S plans for a revitalized Prestonsburg.
4. PRESTONSBURG must be brought to the front once again with LEADERSHIP, and the ABILITY to get the job done that needs to be done for its citizens.
5. ASHLAND JOSEPH cares because he was born and raised in Prestonsburg and his family lives here, too. A proven businessman, Ashland will make you a HARD-WORKING CITY COUNCILMAN, looking out for you, the taxpayer. After all isn't that what representing the people of Prestonsburg is all about?

HONESTY, INTEGRITY, AND CAPABILITY—A MAN FOR PRESTONSBURG

(Pol. adv. paid for by candidate, 11-pd.)

IN REPLY TO LARRY D. ROBINSON

This article is in reference to Larry D. Robinson's article in last week's Floyd County Times.

Mr. Robinson, we all have our own definition of mud-slinging. Why? Because when you're an opponent it's your duty to inform the voters what the other candidate has done to them and how you plan to change things.

This is what Ron Frasure has done in his political ads. He has professionally informed us what your cousin has done since she has been County Court Clerk.

He did not attack her personally as you did him, Mr. Robinson, and I am sure he could have. How you came to determine his ad as mud-slinging is beyond me. You and your cousin both admitted to her signing ONLY FIVE fake receipts. Don't you think ONE would have been enough?

You also wrote a statement from Boyd's attorney saying that ANYBODY could have done it. I feel if Boyd has had the years of experience in our clerk's office and knowledge of how it's run, she should have known better, don't you?

Give us a break, Mr. Robinson. How in the world did you come to compare a county-wide vote to a Republican Committee meeting choosing a candidate to oppose your cousin? We admit to being hillbillies, but don't think we're stupid enough not to know better than your cousin receiving 8,609 votes to Ron Frasure's 19. They have not yet been to the polls.

And, how did you expect to see Ron's name on the Ballot in the Primary when he had no opposition in the Primary. There were no Republicans on the Ballot. This, Mr. Robinson, is how Ron fits in this November. And, if I may so graciously quote you, by all means, "Power to the People."

Don't stand for another four years of what you have now.

FAILURE OF PEACE EFFORTS DISCUSSED IN "WAR" SERIES

Why nations fight and how efforts to achieve lasting peace have failed will be examined when "War: A Commentary By Gwynne Dyer" airs Tuesday, November 12, at 9:00 p.m., on KET.

For centuries military force has been the means by which questions of power, territory, national pride, and sovereignty have been answered. At any given time, at least 20 different wars are being waged throughout the world. The people involved in these wars all have a particular goal they want to achieve. They believe this goal outweighs the cost of war.

In "Goodbye War," Dyer examines a number of recent wars, including the British-Argentinian conflict over the Falkland Islands. Dyer contends the history of warfare is a series of "just causes," but the reality of war has very little to do with justice. Dyer profiles one of the most ambitious efforts to save succeeding nations "from the scourge of war," the United Nations. The U.N. was founded with the idea of "collective security" — if one member was attacked, the others would come to its defense. This idea was doomed to failure because the world's five major powers reserved the right to veto.

Also failing to establish world peace have been the valiant efforts of citizens' peace movements. Such groups in the United States, Europe, and the Soviet Union are examined by Dyer.

"War: A Commentary by Gwynne Dyer" is a presentation of the National Film Board of Canada and KTCS/Seattle.

to the voters in District 2:
At this time we would like to talk to you about the upcoming election on November 5.

In this election we will be choosing a person that will be serving the people for the next four years. That should be a person that is non-partisan and will hold no malice toward anyone.

We think that person is William E. Flannery.

He is a hard-working, honest man whose integrity no one can question. He is well-known for his ability for getting a job done and to him that means getting it done right.

He is a graduate of Martin High School, Mayo State Vocational School, and he is an Army Veteran. He has been employed by the Chessie System for 15 years.

William is married to Trill Cook Flannery of Melvin and is the father of four daughters.

Thanking you in advance for your vote and support for our son and brother.

Remember on November 5 to vote William E. Flannery.

Vernon & Doris Flannery John Flannery
Paul Flannery Robert Flannery
Ramona Bentley Iris Flannery
Donald Flannery David Flannery

Thanks From Alumni

Thanks to the Jenny Wiley Florists for the corsages and boutonnieres, and to the Allen Florists for the hostess ribbons; to the Women of the First United Methodist Church for preparing the refreshments; to those who helped in serving this food—(Ruby Akers, Virginia S. Goble, Sarah Laven, Opal S. May, and Mabel Allen); to Russell May for the parking lot signs; the volunteer A.L.C. Alumni committee, who (in the words of that school), "went the second mile," in planning for and hosting the reception; Carlos Haywood, Clara Johnson, Docia Woods, Ruth Hall, Eva and Harmison Hale, Sarah Laven, Woodrow Allen, Sally Brashear, and Adrian Hall, and all the others who helped in any way. And a special thanks to Harmison Hale, Delmas Saunders and Woodrow Allen for guiding the traffic on the church parking lot, and arranging the cars for the parade.

HOMEMAKERS MEET

The North Prestonsburg Homemakers met Oct. 15 at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, with Mrs. Mary K. Music, president, in charge. The devotionals, entitled "A Style Show," were given by Mrs. Mabel Allen.

Mrs. Frances Pitts discussed the annual Homemakers' luncheon meeting, and the area meeting, stating that both of these were successful. It was reported that a Quilting Guild had been organized, and would hold regular meetings at the Arts and Crafts Building, at Archer Park. Mrs. Pitts said that pecans, to be sold for the benefit of the Ovarian Cancer Fund, had been ordered.

Mrs. Mabel Allen gave the lesson on "Clothing Accessories."

A dessert course was served by the hostess to Mabel Allen, Garnett Fairchild, Christine Spradlin, Betty Ward, Mary K. Music, Frances Pitts, and June Adams.

The next meeting will be on Nov. 19.

Health Dept. Closed

The Health Department will close at noon on Monday, October 28, and will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday, October 29 and 30. There will be no services at the Health Department branch office at Beaver on Monday 28 or Wednesday 29. These closings are due to the staff being in Lexington for the regional conference.

Regular services will resume at the Prestonsburg office on Thursday, October 31. Services will be offered at the Beaver office on Friday, November 1.

ANCIENT BRIDES

In ancient Greece, brides carried olive branches as modern brides carry orange blossoms.

WHY doesn't your current magistrate support community development clubs and the volunteer fire departments? He's had 4 years to do so. I will set times and meetings each month to hear from each community, and let voters discuss with me their problems.

WHY doesn't your current magistrate return your phone calls or ask your help?

WHY have I gotten more done for District No. 1 in 6 months, than your current magistrate in 4 years? Such as the Clark School bridge, the Goble-Roberts access bridge, and more roads graded, graveled, and paved than ever before. Just wait till I'm elected!

WHY does the current magistrate ask you to vote for him because of his party? A candidate should stand on his reputation. I ask you to vote for me because of what I've done, what I can do, and I'm not ashamed to talk about.

WHY should some people get county services on private property, and others don't get county services except during election years? I will work to do everything in my power to give each taxpayer his or her fair share of county taxes...

LET'S PUT THE PEOPLE BACK IN COUNTY GOVERNMENT!

Is Your Water Safe To Drink?

(Very Possibly Not!)

The Federal Government recently reported these shocking facts: 63% of all rural wells and 20% of all city water systems are contaminated and possibly unsafe. Recent front page articles in the newspapers suggest that we fall in that shocking percentage.

Contaminated water generally refers to the coliform bacteria count. But what about other contaminants such as the toxic metals (mercury, arsenic, lead, etc.) and the organic carcinogens (pesticides, herbicides, etc.).

For your health and peace of mind, we suggest you have clean drinking water available at home and office.

Some apples are really lemons.

When it comes to something as important as your health care coverage, you should compare apples to apples. But take a close look at some of the insurance plans compared to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, and you'll find some real lemons. With several of these plans you give up your freedom to choose your own doctor or hospital. Others don't offer the same amount of coverage for your dollars. None of them negotiate with doctors and hospitals on your behalf the way we do.

So go ahead and compare. You'll discover what 1.4 million Kentuckians already know.

When it comes to quality health care benefits at affordable prices, the others just don't compare to Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky.

HAROLD NEWS

OBSERVES 74TH BIRTHDAY

Cecil B. Clark, of Harold, celebrated his 74th birthday Friday, Oct. 11, at his home. He enjoyed all visitors for the occasion.

Those who came and wished him a happy birthday were Dr. and Mrs. Orville M. Clark, II, Dr. Orville M. Clark, III, of Pikeville; Dr. and Mrs. Edford L. Clark, of Prestonsburg; Dr. and Mrs. Brent G. Clark and Brent Austin, of Harold; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Clark and Ray Dean, of Paintsville; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clark, Lynn Justice, Jason, Joshua, Tresha Frasure and Wesley, all of Betsy Layne; Mathew Hays, of Stanville; Mr. and Mrs. R.B. Clark, Jr., of Harold; Jennifer Ann Clark, of Betsy Layne; Vernon Clark, of Harold; Mr. and Mrs. Butch Taylor and Brittany, of Prestonsburg; Randall Gene Woods, of Harold; Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowling, Sherry and Brian Mark, of Ivel; Mrs. Roma Low McClannan, of Pikeville; Mr. and Mrs. L.E. Walters, of Betsy Layne; Mrs. Oma Reynolds, of Prestonsburg; Miss Sandra McClannan, of Harold; Mr. and Mrs. John G. Clark, of Eastern; Miss Lisa Hall, of Ivel; Mr. Clark's wife, Greta Glo, and daughter, Vaness Dawn.

He received many gifts and cards including a nice card from his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Stratton, who were vacationing in Florida.

Pioneer Club Formed

The Wayland United Methodist Church announces the beginning of a Pioneer Club which will be open to all girls and boys, grades 1-12. Each young person will develop skills that will enrich his or her daily living. Their skills will be developed through Bible exploration, where club members learn to study and apply scripture to their lives.

The guides will use a variety of learning activities from skits, stories, discussions, games, outings, crafts, singing, and other activities. Badges for completed projects will be awarded at special recognition programs. Individual clubs are divided among age and grade levels. There will be four clubs with 10 trained adult guides, meeting each Sunday evening at 6 to 7:30 p.m. Every child in the community is welcome to come and join in the fun and learning experiences.

For more information, call 358-9793 or 358-4419. There will be an open house, October 27 at 4 p.m., at the church. Parents are invited to register their children at this time.

VETERANS' REP HERE

Mr. Jack D. Clark, field veterans benefit counselor of the Kentucky Center for Veterans Affairs will be in Prestonsburg, on November 6, 1985. The office will be located in the National Guard Armory. Office hours will be from 10:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

A MESSAGE TO FLOYD COUNTY VOTERS

My campaign ads are in no way intended to be mud-slinging. All I have done was to reprint news stories that were news before I became a candidate. Carla accuses me of printing half-truths. Folks, I don't believe there is a half-truth. She herself never refuted the Lexington Herald Leader or the Floyd County Times for what they printed. Why?

Carla, through her attorney, admitted falsifying five (5) documents—but signed a statement for the Kentucky State Police admitting changing 174 tax bills due Frankfort (money that you, the taxpayer, paid out of your pocket) Carla would have you believe that I am not qualified. True, I don't have her kind of experience for 12 years. Is this the kind of experience you want for your clerk?

Should anyone accused of wrong-doing be allowed to just sign a statement admitting their guilt and that be all there is to it?

BELOW IS A NEWS STORY THAT APPEARED IN THE JUNE 19, 1985 ISSUE OF THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES. IT IS REPRINTED HERE IN ITS ENTIRETY.

Forgery Allegations Against Clerk Told

County Attorney Says Armstrong Statement Due

An explanation is due from Attorney General David Armstrong, Floyd County Attorney Arnold Turner, Jr. said yesterday (Tuesday), as to why allegations of forgery against County Clerk Carla Boyd were never presented to the grand jury that indicted 16 people, including five county officials, last December.

The fact that the 18-month state police investigation that led to the indictments also resulted in 174 allegations of forgery against Mrs. Boyd was revealed Tuesday in a news story by Lexington Herald-Leader reporter Lee Mueller.

According to the story, case records indicate that between 1980 and 1982, when Boyd was deputy clerk under her uncle, the late C. Ollie Robinson, she allegedly conspired with him to defraud the state and county of funds by typing fictitious receipts for truck registration payments. The state Transportation Cabinet last month asserted a $319,000 claim against Robinson's estate for registration fees it never received from the Floyd clerk's office.

Investigators said Boyd admitted typing the false receipts, sometimes at a rate of seven or eight a day, explaining that "it was her duty to do as she was instructed." The clerk's office was closed here Tuesday—"due to a death in an employee's family," according to a sign on the door.

County Attorney Turner, whose request in March, 1983 led to the state police probe of Floyd county finances, said he was "surprised, number one, that there is some substance, possibly, to the rumors (of wrongdoing on Boyd's part) and, number two, that it wasn't presented to the grand jury."

"If they have any evidence that would have been sufficient in their judgment to win a verdict of guilt, it ought to have been presented," said Turner, who added that he intended to find out why it was not presented and whether a grand jury might yet get to review the evidence. "It seems peculiar if they have a signed admission but did not introduce it," the county attorney said.

"The bottom line is, only one man can explain it—Armstrong—and he needs to do it," Turner said. Armstrong failed to return a reporter's call Tuesday.

Phillip Damron, attorney for some of those indicted in December, told Mueller he was not surprised that the material was not submitted to the grand jury. Damron charged that the "special prosecutors had targeted specific individuals for prosecution while willfully omitting others" and that "the primary purpose of the original indictments was to influence the May elections."

"All I can say is that my request (for an investigation) was not politically motivated—it was made two years before the primary—but, as to how it was handled by the state police, the attorney-general or the commonwealth's attorney, I can't answer for them," Turner said in reply to Damron's charge.

But sources close to the state police investigation let him know, when the indictments were handed down in December, that they were "not totally happy" with the way prosecutors had presented evidence to the grand jury, Turner said.

"This was one of the hardest investigations they ever worked in eastern Kentucky. They felt they had hundreds of counts, involving many other individuals (than those actually indicted), that could have resulted in indictments," said Turner, who added that he did not know if Boyd was one of those to whom the investigators were referring. "They felt they had a lot of information that didn't go anywhere."

In typical cases cited by investigators, an individual or firm registering a truck in the clerk's office might have paid a $200 fee and, months later, Boyd would type and sign a phony license receipt indicating they had paid only $50. The case against her was listed as closed on March 18, however, "due to a lack of prosecution."

In a development that he said was unrelated to the report of allegations against Boyd, Floyd Republican Chairman Ronald Frasure announced Tuesday that Ray Dempsey, Republican candidate for clerk in November's general election, had withdrawn on account of failing health and that the Republican executive committee will meet shortly to name another candidate.

Dempsey, a retired miner and preacher, lives at Weeksbury. He tendered his resignation a week ago, Frasure said. Asked whether he thought this week's revelations concerning Boyd enhanced the Republican candidate's chances in November, Frasure said, "We think our overall chances are good regardless—but it certainly won't hurt."

Turner and Jessen In College Program

County Attorney Arnold Turner, was the featured guest speaker for the recent Spiritual Emphasis Week at Lees College, Jackson, Kentucky.

Turner, a native of McDowell, Kentucky graduated from McDowell High School and the University of Kentucky Law School. Returning to Eastern Kentucky to practice law, he was elected Floyd County Attorney in 1977 and at the time was one of the youngest attorneys in the state to hold that office.

In his address to the Lees students, Turner spoke of his newfound Christian faith and experience. He stated that after graduating from law school his sole objective in life was to make money, which he did primarily through handling "black lung" cases. Turner explained that, even though he had succeeded in buying all of the trappings associated with success—home, car, swimming pool, extensive travel, etc.—there was still an acute sense of emptiness within his life.

In keeping with the theme for Spiritual Emphasis Week (The Search of God) Turner told the students that inner fulfillment for him came only after he found a relationship with God.

In addition to the testimony given by Arnold Turner, Lees students also heard from the Rev. Tim Jessen, pastor of First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg who sang a contemporary gospel song by Andre' Crouch, entitled, "My Tribute: To God Be The Glory."

"The Music Man" Encores On KET

"The Music Man," one of Hollywood's most popular and exuberant musicals, encores on Monday, November 11, 8:00 p.m. on KET.

The setting is River City, Iowa, in 1912. A fast-talking con man arrives and sets out to sell the town on the idea of organizing a boys' band. Ultimately, he charms his way into the heart of the local librarian and the lives of the townspeople.

In the title role of Professor Harold Hill, Robert Preston brilliantly recreates the classic portrayal that won his unanimous acclaim and a Tony Award in the prize-winning Broadway stage production. Shirley Jones stars as the prim librarian, with a cast including Hermione Gingold as the mayor's indomitable wife, and Buddy Hackett as the music man's confidante.

"The Music Man" features some of Broadway's most popular and enduring songs, including "Ya Got Trouble," "Marian the Librarian," "Gary, Indiana," "Till There Was You," and the rousing finale, "Seventy-Six Trombones."

"The Music Man" is a Warner Brothers production.

EVA

COPYRIGHT 1985 KVMA

Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association
A year ago EVA—Equine Viral Arteritis—was diagnosed at a Central Kentucky breeding farm and rapidly became a source of concern for horse farmers throughout the state.

This year, no clinical cases of EVA were reported.

A vaccination program developed and administered by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture seems responsible for the rapid control of what could have been a financially distressing epidemic.

EVA is an acutely contagious viral disease which causes swelling of the legs, fever, skin rash and nasal discharge and which may cause pregnant mares to abort between the 159th and 225th day of pregnancy. Some statistics indicate that as many as 80 percent of infected mares will abort their offspring. Severity of the sickness varies from individual to individual, however EVA is capable of causing death. In any event, it is an important threat to the horse industry in this state.

Apparently it is spread by contact with body secretions from animals which "shed" the disease.

When EVA was diagnosed at one farm in May, 1984, the Department of Agriculture and concerned veterinarians responded quickly and found the virus present on 42 other farms. Lab tests indicated that nine stallions were shedding the virus.

An experimental vaccine was quickly developed and tested. Some 2,300 horses were ultimately vaccinated and the vaccine became commercially available in February of this year under a conditional license from the Food and Drug Administration.

In December of 1984, blood samples were collected from 668 thoroughbred stallions in Kentucky and these revealed five more stallions shedding the virus, for a total of 14. Fifty-two other stallions showed positive blood tests but were not shedding the virus.

Once the vaccine was commercially available, it was recommended that all stallions not showing EVA in their blood tests be vaccinated. Most were, more than 500 receiving the vaccine before the breeding season.

Mares bred to stallions which had positive blood tests but were not known to be shedding the disease were tested for EVA at regular intervals after breeding.

Shedding stallions were isolated from other stallions and mares bred to them were vaccinated 21 days prior to breeding. All breeding by shedders was under direct supervision of Department of Agriculture personnel.

These mares were then quarantined after breeding and the vans in which they were transported sanitized after each use.

The control measures may seem drastic, but what was at stake was the breeding industry in Kentucky through the rapid spread of a highly contagious virus. While mortality is generally low in mature horses, the loss of a substantial number of foals through abortion could have dealt a staggering blow to the horse farmer.

Instead, the outbreak was promptly brought under control with a minimal loss.

The moral to the story is simple.

Kentucky's veterinarians are well qualified to deal with diseases not commonly diagnosed and Kentucky's research facilities equipped to move quickly into emergency situations. Cooperative efforts between the horse farmers themselves and the Department of Agriculture furnished the logistics by which the disease could be identified, isolated and promptly controlled.

While the Department of Agriculture indicates that vaccination of stallions might again be necessary in 1986, its personnel feel that the control efforts have been highly successful and that the economic impact of what an uncontrolled epidemic of EVA might have done has been contained.

That's another aspect of what your veterinarian is trained to consider.

In College Post

Pikeville College President William Owens announced last week that Steve Priode, of Harold, has been named to the position of admissions counselor at the college. Priode will assume his duties immediately.

Formerly of Paintsville, Priode, is a 1985 graduate of Pikeville College where he majored in Physical Education. He will be responsible for the recruitment of students in the southeastern Kentucky area as well as parts of Tennessee and Virginia.

Gov. Collins Orders Housing Trust Fund

Governor Martha Layne Collins has directed Kentucky Housing Corporation (KHC) executive director F. Lynn Luallen to form a Housing Trust Fund that would finance housing for lower and moderate income Kentuckians after federal mortgage revenue bonds are phased out in 1987. Governor Collins made the announcement at the second annual Governor's Housing Conference in Louisville.

"Unless we act now, these programs simply will not be around, but the need among thousands of Kentucky's citizens will still be here," stated Governor Collins.

The fund would be created from the corporation's surplus fund which now contains around $8 million. The surplus builds from investment earnings and monies remaining after debt service on bonds and corporate expenses are paid.

"With the elimination of tax-exempt housing bonds, the Kentucky Housing Corporation could find it hard to adhere to its mandate of providing housing for lower and moderate income Kentuckians," stated Luallen.

The fund would receive all future surplus monies and would be restricted to construction and permanent financing of single-family, and multi-family housing. Over the next 20 years the fund could generate more than $750,000,000 and help as many as 20,000 Kentuckians find safe, decent and sanitary housing.

Forests Mean Millions For Most Of Kentucky

LEXINGTON—Forests provide more than 20,000 jobs in Kentucky and bring an estimated $500 million into the state each year. Perhaps even better news is the fact that there's plenty of room for expansion in the industry.

"There is the potential for dramatic increase in the forest products industry in Kentucky. Recent technological developments have made the commercial use of Kentucky's hardwoods more economically attractive to the furniture and homebuilding industries," said John R. Shelly, Extension forester in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

October 20-26 is National Forest Products Week, and Shelly said Kentuckians should take a moment to investigate the opportunities that exist and are developing for forest owners.

"Kentucky has nearly 500,000 individual forest owners, and the forests they own cover almost half the state, that's much too large a resource, affecting too many people to allow it to lie dormant or unmanaged," Shelly said.

Recent improvements in technology have added value to much of Kentucky's forests by enabling manufacturers to use small and irregularly shaped trees, and the housing industry in Kentucky is re-discovering the Yellow poplars that were so popular among the state's original settlers.

"In the past, small or irregularly shaped trees were of little commercial value. But recent improvements in saw mill machinery have made the use of such trees by the furniture industry possible, and there is strong potential for their value to increase as a result."

"In addition, builders are returning to Yellow poplar, a tree that thrives in Kentucky, for framing lumber. Its local availability avoids the cost of transportation involved in the traditional use of Southern pine which is grown in the Gulf states," Shelly said.

At present builders continue to use Southern pine, even in Kentucky, because the industry is oriented toward the harvesting, milling and marketing of it. But softwoods, Southern pine and Douglas fir primarily, are being harvested at a faster rate than they are growing, despite diligent reforestation practices by most timber companies.

"The market for Kentucky timber could increase dramatically in the not too distant future. The opportunity to be part of it is here now," Shelly said.

"IT'S EASIER TO SELL A HOME WHEN IT HAS MORE FEATURES PEOPLE LIKE... LIKE GAS HEAT AND APPLIANCES."

"It's as true today as it's always been. Families prefer natural gas in their homes. Gas heat gives the warmth that makes the whole house comfortable, no matter how cold it gets outside. It's reliable, too. A gas furnace hardly ever needs service, which means real cost savings compared to other systems. And if the home has other gas appliances—like water heater and range—so much the better. So when I'm asked about the features of a home, I'm always glad when I can say it has gas heat and appliances. The people almost always are, too."

Natural gas can add comfort, convenience and value to your home. Just ask Holly Perry, and the families in the gas-equipped homes she has sold.

Reducing Winter Injury to Landscape and Plants
 Kentucky landscapes have suffered severely due to weather extremes during the past few winters and summers. It's one thing if only one small shrub or a clump of perennials falls victim, but quite another story when major trees or mature size foundation shrubs die, leaving large holes in our landscapes. If only someone would invent an antifreeze we could feed our plants to make them less susceptible to winter extremes. Since no magic elixir has hit the market yet, can anything be done? Yes and no; it depends on the extremes (too cold or too warm, too windy, too dry or 'oo wet) our plants are subjected to. We can't make our plants fully winter safe, but we can prevent or reduce some of the damage.

Considerable damage results from improper cultural procedures or improper timing of practices. Plants need to slow their growth rate down in fall; therefore, nothing should be done to overstimulate them. Wait to fertilize trees and shrubs until after plants go dormant (use leaf drop on deciduous plants as an approximate indication of dormancy) or until after the first killing frost. Wait to put on winter mulches that are important for water conservation and to moderate the soil temperature around shallow-rooted plants (like azaleas) until freezing weather has started. The mulching practice applies not only to landscape and fruit trees and shrubs, but also to tender perennial flowers and strawberries. This is especially important for plants in containers or raised beds.

Recent observations indicate that supplemental watering in late summer and early fall contributes more to winter survival than late fall watering. As long as three to four inches of rain is received per month in late fall, no additional watering that could stimulate bud break or increase soil temperatures should be done.

Avoid pruning until late fall, at which time broken, damaged or diseased branches should be removed. Remove growth that could be broken or pulled off by ice or snow loads so that unnecessary wounding won't occur. Wait until late winter to do growth-directing pruning on fruit trees.

Take great care not to injure the trunks of trees with mowing or weed trimming tools. Basal wounds made by equipment, and also by rodents, can serve as starting points for frost cracks that can open large wounds in trunks. Additional trunk wounds can occur from sun scald on thin barked landscape and fruit trees. Trunk painting and wrapping can reduce the problem.

With woody and perennial plants growing in containers and raised beds, more damage can occur because plant roots, which are less hardy than stems, are more exposed. Pay special attention to these areas. If plants seem to be repeatedly damaged, consider moving them (with the exception of evergreens) to more protected locations in late fall or early winter. If temperatures or moisture levels don't seem to be the problems in certain areas, the damaging factor may be strong winds.

Don't neglect winterizing the lawn. Late fall and early winter fertilization is important to promote good root growth, but at the same time leaf growth should be restricted by keeping the lawn mowed until top growth stops. Don't let the lawn go into the winter too long, or under a layer of leaves.

No matter how careful you are about winterizing your lawn, garden and landscape, there is no substitute for selecting

SAFETY TIPS FOR HALLOWEEN
OCTOBER 31
 6:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

- Halloween is a time for Trick or Treating and it is a time to be safe. When it comes to safety, here are the basic rules:
1. Make sure all costumes are flame-resistant and that they do not dangle or trail behind the child.
 2. Use only flashlights in out-door Jack o'Lanterns.
 3. Make sure that young children are adequately supervised by an adult.
 4. Go only to houses or apartments of people you know.
 5. Make your child understand that he is to eat no treats until you have gone over the loot together. (A box of raisins or a bag of candy provided by you for the journey will make the child feel less tempted.)
 6. Discard any unwrapped candy, or any goodies in torn packaging.

REMEMBER—TRICK OR TREAT NIGHT IN THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG IS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31 FROM 6:00 P.M. TO 8:30 P.M. ONLY CHILDREN 12 AND UNDER CAN WEAR MASKS.

Harry Caudill To Address Big Sandy Historians

Harry M. Caudill, well-known Appalachian author and former history professor at the University of Kentucky, will be the principal speaker at the regular fall meeting of the Big Sandy Valley Historical Society, Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Highland House, Paintsville. Caudill's address, entitled, "The In-Migration that Settled Eastern Kentucky," will deal with the pioneer settlers of the region, nationalities of the settlers, and migration routes.

The program will begin with a noon luncheon, which will be followed at 1 p.m. by Caudill's address. A display of historical and genealogical publications for sale will be available.

Society members and guests may make reservations for the program and luncheon by Oct. 29 by writing Edward R. Hazelett, 1215 Stafford Avenue, Paintsville, or by calling (606) 789-3416 after 5 p.m.

Sex Bias Series To Begin

Prestonsburg Community College will present at 3 p.m. tomorrow (Thursday) in Pike Auditorium the first panel in a series on Sex Bias in Career Choice. The panel is open to the public.

Panel moderator is Dr. William Floyd, chairman of the Home Economics Department at Western Kentucky University. He is particularly interested in seeing that students, male and female, are aware of the many job opportunities in the allied health field, from dietetics to nursing to medicine. Other area panelists are Dr. Demetra Francis, dentist; Dr. Diane Schafer, orthopedic surgeon, and Bryan VanHoose, nurse.

RE-ELECT HAROLD STUMBO DISTRICT JUDGE

To vote for me, pull the Non-Partisan lever on the extreme right side of the voting machine.
I hope I have the qualifications, as attested to by the following letter, to serve you as your District Judge:

CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION AND LABOR
2181 RAYBURN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20515

26 June 1980

Mr. Paul A. Willis
Executive Secretary
Judicial Retirement and Removal Commission
Frankfort, Kentucky 40601

Dear Mr. Willis:

I have learned recently that the Commission has authorized a preliminary investigation into the conduct of District Judge Harold Stumbo of the 31st Judicial District, Prestonsburg. If I am correctly advised, the matter under study is the Judge's record of dismissals and reduction of citations in his court.

At the outset, let me acknowledge that this is not a matter in which a Member of Congress has any official standing. But as a citizen of Eastern Kentucky who has long been familiar with Floyd County and its people, I would like to submit this letter for the record and for the consideration of the Commission in this matter.

I have known Harold Stumbo all of his life. I knew his father; I knew his grandfather; and I know his son who presently serves in the General Assembly of Kentucky. My close acquaintance with this family is of more than fifty years duration. During all of that time, I have never known of any action or suspicion of action that would compromise the integrity that is their heritage and their pride. And I am confident that a fair and thorough investigation will prove any suggestion of misconduct on the part of Judge Stumbo to be without foundation.

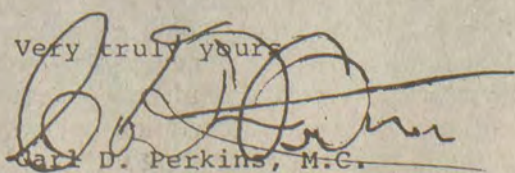

While I have not been a judge, I have been a County attorney and a Commonwealth's attorney, and I know well the strong passions and emotions that are aroused in the administration of justice. I doubt any plaintiff is ever really satisfied when a defendant is released by a judge, and the fact that the Commonwealth itself is a plaintiff does not alter that basic human reaction.

More than forty years ago I was severely criticized by the local press of that very area because, as Commonwealth's attorney, I successfully moved the then-circuit court for dismissal of dozens of felony cases, many of which had been on the docket for more than a decade. I took that step because it was my judgment after investigation that those cases could not be successfully prosecuted -- for want of witnesses, for want of provable facts, for want of substance, and for any of a dozen other legitimate reasons.

That action of mine back in the late 1930s subsequently was viewed by the community as a proper one. It was my belief then, and I cling to it now, that if a prosecutor has a weak or questionable case, he can better spend his time and the Commonwealth's money in concentrating on the strong cases.

I believe Judge Stumbo to be an upright and honorable man, a belief backed up by his 18-year record of public service among his people. He is a decent man and a compassionate one. And if he is accused of dispensing justice tempered with mercy, he is following the precepts of a higher authority than those frequently cited in the judicial process.

If there is any further information I can add about the high character of the Judge and his forebears in Eastern Kentucky, I will certainly be pleased to supply it. I know that a fair investigation of this matter will result in his vindication.

Very truly yours,

Carl D. Perkins, M.C.

Your Vote Will Be Appreciated.

(Eleventh in a Series)

IX. BEHAVIOR CONSEQUENCE CHARTS FOR VIOLATIONS OF THE CODE

Pupils at different ages and grade levels are expected to assume varying degrees of responsibility for their actions. Therefore, different disciplinary measures have been developed to reflect different levels of maturity and self-discipline. Each of the three charts on the following pages (elementary, middle, and high school) indicates specific consequences for each specific offense, and the consequences that will occur if there are repeated violations.

The following consequence chart is a recommendation indicating specific consequences for each specific offense. However, the chart is not intended to be a logical sequential order of consequences. The school administrator may decide in a proper manner, which is not arbitrary or capricious, as to the consequence for offenses.

Behavior violations are listed vertically. Disciplinary actions are listed horizontally. Disciplinary measures increase in severity from left to right on each chart.

DISCIPLINARY PROBLEMS REFERRED TO THE SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR ARE USUALLY HANDLED BY IN-SCHOOL MEASURES SHORT OF SUSPENSION AND/OR RECOMMENDATION FOR EXPULSION.

IN A VERY EXTREME CASE, WHERE OTHER FORMAL METHODS OF DISCIPLINE HAVE PROVEN INEFFECTIVE OR INAPPROPRIATE, EXPULSION MAY BE NECESSARY.

DISCIPLINE PROBLEMS REFERRED TO THE SCHOOL ADMINISTRATOR ARE USUALLY HANDLED BY IN-SCHOOL MEASURES SHORT OF SUSPENSION AND/OR RECOMMENDATION FOR EXPULSION.

RECOMMENDED ACTIONS

BEHAVIOR VIOLATIONS

BEHAVIOR VIOLATIONS	IN-SCHOOL DISCIPLINE MEASURES	PARENT CONFERENCE	SHORT-TERM SUSPENSION (1-5 DAYS)	LONG-TERM SUSPENSION (6-20 DAYS)	EXPULSION PROCEDURES INITIATED
Bomb threat/false fire alarm					*
Vandalism					*
Possession of drugs, alcohol, weapons, or fireworks for use or sale					*
Arson					*
Improprity in grooming - Poor hygiene	*	*	*	*
Misrepresentation of truth	*	*
Violation/repetition of short-term suspension			*	*
Violation/repetition of long term suspension				*	*

If corporal punishment is used, it should never be the first line of correction.

School personnel may initiate an alternative disciplinary action in a particular case with written justification, subject to the regular appeal process, as outlined in the code.

In a very extreme case, where other formal methods of discipline have proven ineffective or inappropriate, expulsion may be necessary. (To be continued)

Tire Pressure Lower In Colder Weather

Tire pressure should be checked when the weather turns cooler in the fall and winter, the Blue Grass Automobile Club (AAA) reported today.

A car's tire pressure decreases as the temperature drops, about one pound per square inch for each 10 degree Fahrenheit drop in temperature. A tire correctly inflated at 70 degrees could be as much as five pounds under-inflated at 20 degrees, AAA said.

Tires should be checked often and only when they are "cold," preferably before the car is driven in the morning or driven less than one mile. Tires expand once they heat up, making the air pressure reading inaccurate.

A common misconception is that lower tire pressure improves traction in the snow. Under-inflated tires cause more tread than necessary to come in contact with the road, affecting vehicle control and creating excessive drag which wastes gasoline and wears out the tires.

Mud and snow tires, marked "M/S" on the tire sidewalls, require four more pounds of pressure than regular tires. Extra tire pressure increases snow tire treadlife and improves vehicle handling on paved roads. Extra pressure added to snow tires must not exceed the tire's maximum rated pressure as noted on the tire's sidewall and listed in the owner's manual.

Motorists should take the following measures to prepare their tires for colder weather driving:

—Avoid mixing radial and non-radial tires.

—Snow tires can be used on all four wheels of rear-wheel drive cars to maintain a front-rear traction balance.

—Snow tires should be mounted on front wheels of front-wheel drive cars.

—Check tire pressure of spare tire regularly.

—Buy and use a good quality tire pressure gauge.

—Never inflate a tire beyond the stated maximum load level molded on the tire sidewall.

—Tires should be rotated according to the pattern and frequency outlined in the owner's manual.

—Extended highway driving wears out snow tires quickly. Remove them when winter is over.

Floyd Students At EKU Now Student Teaching

Three Floyd county residents, all students at Eastern Kentucky University, are currently student teaching at various elementary, middle and high schools in central and southeastern Kentucky.

Nearly 100 EKU students are gaining practical classroom teaching experience during the 1985 fall semester, University officials said.

To become student teachers, students must be seniors with overall grade point averages of 2.5 (based on a 4.0 scale). They are placed in public schools to teach for one semester with the guidance of a public school teacher and a supervisor, said Dr. David Rush, who directs EKU's student teaching services.

EKU student-teachers from Floyd county, their subjects and assigned schools are:

Laura Hamilton, science (biology), Madison Central High School; Tamera Dotson, elementary education, Kit Carson Elementary; Yvette Martin, special education, Kingston Elementary.

COLD WAR

Facial tissues that kill virus particles are coming on the market. If you have a cold, you can sneeze and blow your nose into a specially treated tissue. It will prevent airborne viruses from infecting those around you. Used tissues can be disposed of without contamination danger. The infectious organisms in the tissues will have been killed. The tissues are treated with citric acid and malic acid. Both are found in apples, oranges and other fruits. They are also found with sodium lauryl sulfate, an ingredient of many shampoos and dentifrices. The substances are nontoxic to humans. When used to impregnate tissues, however, they kill virtually all rhino-viruses in less than five seconds. In addition, the tissue has proven lethal within a minute to 80 percent of other known cold viruses such as influenza.

There is still no magical cure for the common cold, but there are many different medications on the market that can help relieve the symptoms. Ask us here at COOLEY APOTHECARY to suggest something for you, and chances are you'll feel better. We never play doctor, but we do render assistance and offer alternatives. Concise records are kept about your prescriptions, including vital information on any allergies or drug interactions. A registered pharmacist is always on duty to be of service. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HANDY HINT:

The tissues discussed above will not cure an existing cold.

Three Years Old

Michael Brent Newsome, son of Mike and Brenda Newsome, of Teaberry, celebrated his third birthday, September 6, at his home. He is the grandson of Buster and Mildred Osborne, of Beaver, and Allard and Nellie Newsome, of Shelbiana.

Guests attending were Lisa Osborne, Leslie Newsome, Rebecca Osborne, Tiffany Osborne, Candice Tackett, and Patrick Tackett.

A Masters of the Universe cake was served and gifts were presented to him.

Perry Woman First To Receive Grant

An eastern Kentucky woman has been named the first recipient of the Kentucky Research and Education Institute for Women's annual scholarship award.

The recipient, Verdina Lee Mullins, 23, of Dwarf, Perry county, is a student at Hazard Community College. She plans to use the $750 award to help realize her personal and professional goal of becoming a registered nurse.

Mullins has a special interest in elderly nursing home patients, is a CPR instructor, a member of the American Heart Association, and plans to open her own business after completing her necessary training to help the people in her community.

The Research and Education Institute for Women is the tax-exempt arm of the Kentucky Commission on Women. The scholarship is awarded to an individual who has a demonstrated interest in furthering the economic, social and political equality of men and women in Kentucky.

IS DEATH EDUCATION COMING TO THE FOREFRONT?

For decades, there has existed a taboo against the teaching and even the discussion of death in schools, especially against bringing up the subject among children, from teens on down.

During the last ten years

Small Watercraft Mean Big Business in Kentucky

Recreational watercraft—bass boats, ski boats, sail boats, and occasionally-occupied houseboats—bring in millions for Kentucky marinas and their surrounding communities.

"Kentucky has an estimated 16,000 boat slots at marinas across the state. Based on spending figures compiled in a survey by the University of Maryland, those slots represent potential sales of $69 million a year," said Glenn Kregag, Extension recreation specialist in the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, headquartered at the UK Research and Education Center at Princeton, Ky.

"Add to that the estimated yearly spending by Kentucky's 100,000 or so trailered boat owners and the figure tops $150 million," Kregag said.

The study, done with 1983 figures, showed that owners of in-the-water boats spent an average $4,318 a year for maintenance, mooring costs, and operation expenses. Trailered boat owners spent an average $1,791 a year.

"These numbers do not include charter boats, boat sales, taxes, or increased property values as a result of marina construction. These figures are dollars spent on fuel and food.

Out-of-state boaters spent more, on average, than did in-state boaters. Kregag said boating costs have not risen significantly since 1983, but that the economy has improved to some extent so there is every reason to believe that the 1983 figures are an under estimation, if anything, of the economic impact of boating on Kentucky.

"The implications of this are obvious. For the 15 to 20 counties in Kentucky that have significant boating facilities, boating means $8 million to $10 million a year in revenue. And that revenue is spread around among the restaurants, gas stations, motels, and sporting goods stores as well as the marinas. It is in the interest of the entire community to be certain that their waterways are attractive and accessible to boaters," Kregag said.

Pioneer Club Planned

The Wayland United Methodist Church is organizing a Pioneer Club for children from first grade through twelfth.

The club, which organizer Beverly Corbett says is similar to Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts with a Christian theme, is designed to build character in the children, while teaching them useful skills and engaging in fun activities.

Mrs. Corbett said the children would be divided into four age groups, with two adult leaders for each group. An open house will be held this Sunday at 4 p.m. for parents to learn about the program and register the children. For more information, contact Mrs. Corbett at 358-9797, or Weyman McGuire, pastor of the Wayland United Methodist Church.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR PLANNED
 A Christmas Bazaar will be held at the United Methodist Church at Robinson, Ky., November 1 and 2, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Items sold will be handmade quilts, crafts, and apple pies. A ham and bean dinner will be offered.

URGES VOTERS TO SUPPORT DEROSSETT FOR MAGISTRATE

Rev. Jack DeRossett asks his friends to support and help re-elect Magistrate Gerald DeRossett, his nephew.

We would like to take this moment to again ask all our friends and kin to please vote for my nephew.

Gerald is a fine man. I have been around Gerald all his life.

I have known beyond a shadow of a doubt that Gerald is honest and capable of doing whatever may be his task. He has stood the test and kept the faith under difficult circumstances. With Gerald's experience our roads, churches, old people and schools will continue to be better for us here in District 1.

Let's keep this county moving with a fine honest man for four more years.

Mrs. Dorothy W. Bush

Mrs. Dorothy W. Bush, 69, of Sarasota, Florida, formerly of Floyd county, died Sunday at the Sarasota Memorial Hospital.

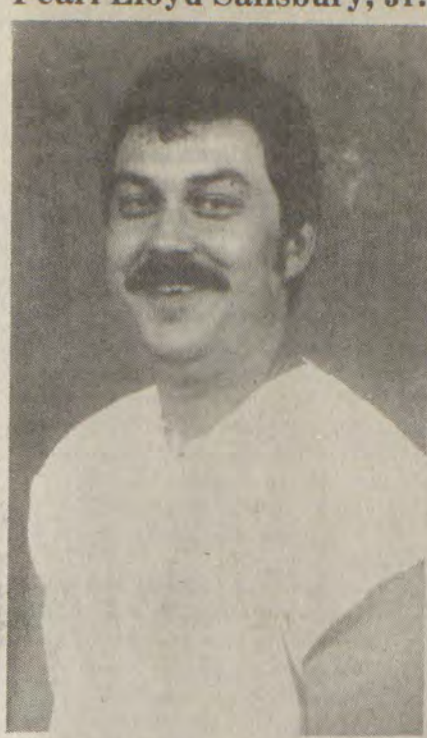

She was the daughter of the late Lonnie and Mollie Coleman Wakeland, and was born at Pikeville. Mrs. Bush, a member of the Grace Baptist in Sarasota, moved there from Floyd county in 1957.

She is survived by her husband, Cecil J. Bush; a son, Ted Bush, of Summerville, S.C.; a daughter, Mrs. Glenda Powell, of Sarasota, Fla., and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p.m. today (Wednesday) at the Toale Brothers Colonial chapel in Sarasota with the Rev. Berkley Helms officiating. Burial will be made in Palms Memorial Park there.

In parts of Indonesia people used to avoid making loud noises in the rice fields lest it frighten the rice plants.

Pearl Lloyd Salisbury, Jr.

Pearl Lloyd Salisbury, Jr., who was known by both his friends and family as "Scrapper," was born at Hunter, Kentucky, December 17, 1960. He left this world October 4, 1985. Scrapper was a member of the First Baptist Church, Martin, Kentucky. He is survived by his mother Ethel Friend Salisbury, his two sisters, Judy Hamilton, Hi Hat, Kentucky, Mildred Moore, Drift, Kentucky, and his brother Robert Salisbury, Hunter, Kentucky. His father, Pearl Salisbury, preceded him in death February 22, 1969. He also considered his aunt, Ann Friend, as a second mother. There are three nieces and two nephews in his immediate family. He was formerly married to Traci Tackett of Betsy Layne.

The future looks empty and gloomy, desolate and sad to those he leaves behind. Their world has been deprived of his laughter, his joyous presence and his love. It leaves a place in each heart that can never be filled. Such an emptiness can only influence each of those who loved him to be grateful for what is left to them. They have memories of happy days and shared joys. They can recall lovely memories of his fun-loving and sunny disposition, of his caring for other people, for his tendency to like and appreciate all the people with whom he came in contact, his ability to spread his warmth and his comfort to family and friends when anyone was troubled.

We who knew him well will miss the sunshine of his smile, his giving of himself, his sense of fun as expressed by his pleasant laughter, all lovely attributes of a sensitive and loving youth.

Our deepest prayers go with this bereaved family but especially to the mother who has strived so hard to rear her family and then must face the loss of her youngest—this son.

Mary, the Mother of Christ, experienced this same loss. May Ethel receive some comfort in knowing that she is not alone in her grief. May she find the strength to continue on her way with her remaining children and grandchildren in such a way as to both guide them and to lighten the burden of loneliness in their hearts and in hers.

Active pallbearers Randy Vitaoe, Teddy, Tommy, Billy, Alan and John Lawson, Willard Conn, Jeff Hayes, Mickey Martin, Jeff Howell, David Hurst, and Danny Spurlock.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Pearl Lloyd Salisbury, Jr., "Scrap," wishes to thank all their friends, relatives, and neighbors for the kindness shown them on the loss of their loved one. Thanks to those who sent flowers, food, money, and who showed they cared in so many other ways. A special thanks to Lorie Vannucci for God's word, Teddy Shannon for his prayers, the singers for their beautiful songs, and Hall Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service.

ETHEL SALISBURY AND FAMILY

Melvin Ousley

Melvin Ousley, 56, of 24 Mile Road, Mich., died Oct. 12 at Oaklawn Hospital, Marshall Mich., after a three-year illness of cancer.

A native of Floyd county, he was a son of the late Joe and Molly Ousley. He moved in 1947 to the Albion area and was employed there by Lonegan Mfg. Co. and Hayes Albion Corp., and prior to that served two years in the U.S. Army. He was a member of the Rice Creek Community Church.

Surviving are his wife, Annabel; sons, David Larry, of Albion, and Timothy, at home; five daughters, Kay Eichler, Bonfield, Ill., Lorrine and Thelma Ousley, both at home, Alice Simmons, Springport, Mich. and Katy Smith, Oscoda, Mich.; three sisters, Sula Clifton, Springport, Mich., Amanda Woods and Julia Kilgore, both of Albion; four brothers, Alonzo Ousley, of Lancer, Zeb Ousley, of Martin, Richard Ousley, of Blue River, and Raymond Ousley, of Albion. He also is survived by six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Oct. 15 from the chapel of the Craig K. Kempf Funeral Home in Marshall, Michigan.

Projects Will Link Schools, Community

There is nothing new about the idea that the community should be involved in the schools: PTOs and PTAs have long provided opportunities for parents to work alongside teachers. But others besides parents have a part to play in education and their role includes much more than fundraising.

That is the message being promoted here by a group known as the Floyd County School-Community Partnership Committee, which opened an office last week in the Floyd Board of Education's central administrative building. The office will function as a clearinghouse, said its director, Ruth Ann Akers, providing a link between classroom teachers and community resources on which they can draw for expertise.

One of the first things the group did, after receiving the blessing of the board in July, was to poll the school district's 483 teachers on the kind of help they could use. They then got in touch with a variety of businesses, professionals, civic groups and individuals, with skills or experience that could fill out or illustrate a science or home economics or history lesson.

The result is a "resource center," staffed by volunteers, who will try to match community resource with classroom need. "It's meant to be a service to teachers," said Mrs. Akers, who presented Supt. Ray Brackett with a "resource guide," listing the various groups and individuals who have said they would be willing to help. "If teachers tell us what they're looking for, we'll do the leg work for them; we'll fix the date and time."

Even the idea of tapping community expertise for help in the classroom is not new, noted McDowell Principal Gary Frazier. "A lot of schools have been doing this for years, but this makes it so much easier," he said. "In the past, a principal has had to go out and hustle on his own."

Frazier is overseeing yet another project of the School-Community Partnership Committee, the production of a high school literary magazine with the assistance of Morehead State University. A graduate of MSU, Frazier said that Dr. Marc Glasser, faculty sponsor for the MSU student magazine Inscape, had offered to assist in the production of a magazine as a vehicle for student writers.

"I don't know of anything better for young writers than the opportunity to see their work in print," said Frazier, who cited the project as "a good example of what school-community partnership is about."

"Morehead provides time and expertise at no cost to us," he explained, "and they get freshman with far better writing skills."

Across Kentucky, school-community partnerships are established in 34 school districts, said Linda Griffith, who is coordinating partnership initiatives for the state Department of Education. An Appalachian Regional Commission grant will be a distributed in the form of 16 "minigrants" to foster school-community partnerships in eastern Kentucky this year, she said.

"Sometimes we've given the impression that the schools are off on one side, doing their own thing, shrouded in mystery," Frazier said. "We want to open them up to the community."

Pike Couple Sentenced For Mailing Obscene Pics

U.S. Attorney Louis DeFalaise announced last week that a Pike county couple has been sentenced in U.S. District Court, Lexington, for mailing obscene materials.

According to Thomas L. Self, assistant U.S. attorney in charge of the case, John Brent Elswick, 40, and his wife, Loreta Sue, 40, of the Mullins Addition, Pikeville, were sentenced Oct. 19 to three months in jail and placed on probation for an additional 30 months, based on their pleas of guilty to mailing obscene photographs from Kentucky to Ohio.

The Elswicks pleaded guilty on June 20 to a single charge of violating Section 1461 of Title 18 of the U.S. Code. On July 23, District Judge Scott Reed sentenced each of them to the maximum possible punishment of five years in prison but ordered that a psychiatric and psychological study be completed and that they then be returned to court for a review of the sentence. Judge Reed reduced their sentence to three years' imprisonment but ordered that this sentence be suspended and they were to serve three months in jail and be on probation for an additional thirty months.

Right Now, People You Know Are Poisoning Themselves.

Worst Of All, They Don't Know How To Stop.
The drugs and alcohol consumed by substance abusers poison both their minds and their bodies. Over time, the disease of addiction creates illness. And sometimes death.

Why then, is it so hard for that person to seek out help?

A symptom of the disease is denial.

Most substance abusers won't admit to themselves, let alone someone else, that a problem even exists. That's why helping them seek treatment can be slow and painful.

The Center for Chemical Independence. A program that works.

Our program helps chemically dependent adults find the road to recovery by helping them break with addiction and become self-reliant. Our program educates patients about the nature and effects of their disease while improving their physical condition. Patients learn about the recovery process through individual, group and family therapy. This helps to equip them with the resources necessary to live happy, healthy and chemically independent lives.

We'd like to help.

Please feel free to call us for information or advice. We're here 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Simply call the Center for Chemical Independence at (606) 278-3436 (or toll free at 1-800-432-4755). We'll help you any way we can to help the people who need helping.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Water, hereby gives notice that the Wheelwright Utilities Commission exceeded the maximum contaminant level for coliform bacteria for the reporting period of June 1985.

The test results for coliform bacteria (normally found in the intestinal tract of humans and other warm-blooded animals) indicate that some contamination occurred. Coliform bacteria is not considered harmful, however, its presence is a reliable indicator that harmful bacteria may have been present in the water at that time.

The Wheelwright Utilities Commission was formally notified of this violation and the regulatory requirement to inform their consumers of this violation. As of October 14, 1985, the Division of Water has not received verification of the Public Notification. Therefore, the Division of Water is acting on behalf of the water supply in issuing this statement in accordance with the Kentucky Public and Semipublic Water Supplies Regulations (401 KAR 6:015.)

Other violations accumulated since January 1985 are:

January 1985-Failed to submit and adequate number of daily turbidity readings. February 1985-Failed to submit an adequate number of daily turbidity readings. March 1985-Failed to submit and adequate number of daily turbidity readings. April 1985-Failed to submit and adequate number of daily turbidity readings. May 1985-Failed to submit and adequate number of turbidity readings. June 1985-Failed to submit an adequate number of daily turbidity readings. Failed to submit and adequate number of check water samples for bacteriological analysis.

ORDINANCE NO. 10-85

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG REGULATING THE SPEED OF EMERGENCY VEHICLES IN THE CITY LIMITS OF PRESTONSBURG.

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Prestonsburg is desirous of providing for the safety of the citizens; and, WHEREAS: The City has become alarmed at the excessive speed of emergency vehicles traveling through the City limits; and

WHEREAS: The City Council wishes to establish safe speed limits for emergency vehicles; NOW,

THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PRESTONSBURG AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1: The City does hereby establish a maximum speed limit of forty (40) M.P.H. from the traffic signal at U.S. 23 and 460 to Earl Street, and a maximum speed of fifteen (15) M.P.H. above the posted speed in all other areas for all emergency vehicles on emergency runs in the City of Prestonsburg. This includes ambulance, fire, police, rescue or any other emergency vehicle.

SECTION 2: All emergency vehicle operators will be notified of this ordinance and told that the first infraction of the ordinance will result in a warning. Each succeeding violation will result in a ticket being issued.

SECTION 3: All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herein are hereby expressly repealed to the extent of such conflict.

SECTION 4: This ordinance shall be in full force and effect upon adoption and publication.

ORDAINED THIS THE 14TH DAY OF OCTOBER, 1985.

NOTICE OF BOND RELEASE

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350, notice is hereby given that Wheelwright Mining Inc., Price, Ky., intends to apply for a bond release on permit No. 836-0079 which was last issued on August 30, 1984. The application covers an area of approximately 28.82 acres located 1/2 mile west of Price, in Floyd County.

The permit area is approximately 1.5 miles north of the junction of Highway 979 with Highway 122, and is located 1/4 mile west of Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37° 27' 04" and the longitude is 82° 44' 51".

The total bond now in effect for this permit is $44,100 dollars, for which $26,460 dollars is to be included in this application for release.

Reclamation work performed to date includes:

Removal of steel rails, ties, and junk left by a previous deep mine. 6.06 acres of the mine bench has been covered with soil, and the highwall has been eliminated to the extent possible with the amount of overburden available. Drainage has been established to minimize erosion, and all re-disturbed areas have been seeded with grasses and legumes. Deep mine openings have been closed, and no material has been placed beyond the original bench. Approximately 22.76 acres of this permit were not redisturbed.

Written comments, objections, or requests for a conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Field Services, 12th Floor, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 within 30 days of the date of the final advertisement, or within 30 days of the receipt of this notice. 10-23-3t.

Lucas, Roberts Race Winners

Phillip Lucas turned in a time of 32:47 in winning the 10-kilometer run, and Rick Roberts finished ahead of the pack at 10:04 in the two-mile race at the Jenny Wiley 10k Run and Fun Run, Oct. 12 at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Organized by the Kiwanis Club of Prestonsburg, the event attracted a number of competitors who had run in last year's race, though many new runners were on hand as well.

In the 10k run, Lucas took top honors, while second place went to Jimmy Castle, with a time of 36:27; third went to Roy Herald, at 39:08. Elesha Richardson won the women's division at 45:32, with Sheila Tjostolvson capturing second place.

Larry Dalton, of Thelma, won the wheelchair division at 41:18.

Winners of the various age divisions were: 14 and under, Kevin Martin, at 40:38; 15-18, Ray Harvey, 39:11; 19-24, Terry Conley, 40:45; 25-29, Dave Withers, 41:30; 30-34, Mark Richardson, 41:41; 35-39, Clinton Justice, 42:40; 40-44, Kennis DeBoard, 42:30; 50-59, Mark McFaddin, at 39:38.

In the two-mile run, Roberts was the victor, while Kenny Cox took second place at 11:07. Third went to Sri Sundaram, 11:23. In the women's division, Rhonda Lutes was the winner, with a time of 15:20. Carol Coleman finished second at 16:43 and Windy Ward took third, clocking in at 16:56.

Taking first place in the 14 and under division was Todd Justice, at 12:34; 15-18, Johnny Ray Harris, at 12:04; 25-29, Joe Dan Vanhooose, at 11:45; 30-34, Bev Schissler, at 22:43; 40-44, Wanda DeBoard, at 18:01; and Ben Tackett, at 11:47.

If you've planted a chestnut seedling in the past 10 years, or ever want to, you probably have 85-year-old James Comp or Ward Taylor, 77, to thank, says National Wildlife magazine. For the past decade, they and their army of senior citizens, Boys Scouts, conservationists, and prison laborers have salvaged a quarter of a million chestnuts from one of America's last stand of chestnut trees along Michigan's eastern shore. From the early 1900s to the 1950s a lethal fungus imported from Japan nearly wiped out this American tradition.

A TIME TO LIVE

Liza Minnelli makes her television acting debut as a mother coping with the wrenching pain of watching her son (Corey Haim) struggle with muscular dystrophy, in
"A Time to Live." It airs MON-DAY, OCTOBER 28 on NBC.

er, husband to Nicole Warren, who is played by Miss Steenburgen. Nicole has recovered from a madness that was sparked by an in-cestuous relationship with her father (Ed Asner), and Dick devotes himself to keeping her well. The relationship is brimming with passion and romance, but it's ultimately destructive for both of them.

The six-hour story follows their relationship from its inception at the clinic where they meet, to its last days. This drama will keep you riveted to your seat.

A different kind of drama is being enacted on HBO with "The Park Is Mine," airing Oct. 29.
Tommy Lee Jones stars as a Vietnam veteran who decides he's not going to take it anymore and sets up a mini-fortress in Central Park, complete with hand grenades, land mines and barbed wire.

Just what Mitch Harris
more is never satisfactorily explained. We know he can't hold a job and is unhappy over his divorce, but there are plenty of other people with these kinds of problems, and they don't set fire to Central Park.

The movie would have been more convincing if it had delved into Harris' character a bit more, but it does make a suspenseful, exciting drama. Helen Shaver and Yaphet Kotto
co-star.

A masterful and riveting 'Tender Is the Night'

By Amanda Bruce

"Tender Is the Night," Showtime's six-hour adaptation of F. Scott Fitzgerald's novel about romance and insanity, is so masterfully woven, beautifully filmed and poignantly acted that everyone can find something to like in it.
It premieres with a two-hour episode on Oct. 27 and 29. The remaining four one-hour episodes will air on Tuesdays beginning
Nov. 5.

Peter Strauss

Peter Strauss, Mary
Steenburgen, John Heard and Sean Young are the principal characters in the story, which has been filmed entirely on location in Europe. From the French Riviera to the
pans the most beautiful scenery and provides a convincing background for every shot. The story begins in 1917 and ends in 1929, and keen attention has obviously been paid to the costuming and the look of the characters.

Strauss plays Dick Div-

VIDEO SCENE

It's time for Morris Day to start branching out

By Barton Weiss

Morris Day (Prince's rival in the movie "Purple Rain") is trying to start a new dance craze called the Oak Tree. Unfortunately, "Oak Tree," the song, is a bit too close to "The Bird," and the dance (which isn't a step, but an outstretched hand gesture) isn't particularly engaging.

Morris Day

Beyond that, Day goes through the usual clip conventions: He picks up girls, he gets busted and starts the police dancing, and he goes to a wedding and walks away with a different girl.

Day has already demonstrated that he has talent. Now it's time from him to show us that he can do more than one thing.

Love those haircuts! "Be Near Me," ABC's first video with its new smaller lineup, shows that the group is still one of Britain's best haircut bands. This clip is full of fashion and has some of the best hairdos this side of A Flock of Seagulls.

Lead singer Martin Frey and company pop in out of a white seamless background that brings out the colors in the foreground, and the band plays a stylized instrument that looks something like an oversized microphone with a large cord.

Different look

If the newest Talking Heads clip "Stay Up Late" looks a bit different than the band's other clips, it's because David Byrne didn't direct. This one was put together by Ted Bafaloukos, and like the song it's based on, it is lighter and has a greater sense of fun than most Talking Heads clips.

The band is suspended on wires, and they stay suspended throughout the entire clip. The clip has a womb-like quality, which supports the baby theme of the song, and the Heads appear in white against a curved white background.

Sensuous

Bryan Ferry has been a master at creating sensuous moods in all of his videos. He does that and more in "Don't Stop the Dance."

Filmed images of dancers, are deliciously sandwiched between neon signs from dance clubs, close-ups of Ferry, and shots of his two beautiful backup singers.

STARVIEW

On 'Misfits,' Kevin Peter Hall doesn't even stand out

By Peter Meade

Kevin Peter Hall may stand out in a crowd — after all, he's 7 feet 4 inches tall — but he's just another regular on the new NBC series "Misfits of Science."

Kevin Peter Hall

Hall plays Dr. Elvin "EI" Lincoln, a scientist who created a shrinking serum because he was uncomfortable with his height. On most series, a guy with a shrinking concoction would stand out, but not on "Misfits," which also features characters who are capable of turning into ice or moving an object simply by thinking about it. Hall seems quite comfortable with his ample stature. He even says that his height has helped him win a few movie roles. He quickly admits, however, that no dedicated actor wants to make a career of playing deformed bears (as he did in "The Prophecy") and title roles in movies like "Monster in the Closet."

"I want to get across the idea that big isn't bad," Hall says. "I'm a nice guy, and I'm happy to be playing a nice guy." That his character is nice was about all Hall knew when he joined the Friday night series. He was so enthusiastic about the role it didn't matter that he'd seen no scripts and that three of the original cast members — Eric Christmas, Jennifer Holmes and Mickey Jones — were being replaced. The producers of the series were equally happy to have found Hall. They were about to rewrite the role because most of the 7-foot-plus 275-pounders in the Hollywood area were already employed — by the Lakers, Clippers, Raiders or Rams. Hall had already gone the athletic route. He attended George Washington University on an athletic scholarship and played professional basketball in Colombia and Venezuela. But playing with the Lakers or Raiders must have seemed like a day at Malibu Beach when Hall got a look at the competition "Misfits" faces on Friday nights: CBS's "Dallas" — TV's top-rated series — and ABC's long-running sitcoms "Diff'rent Strokes" and "Benson." "It's possibly the toughest spot on the schedule," Hall says. "But this show is different, and I hope viewers are willing to take a chance."

MANAGEMENT TRAINEE PROGRAM—MAJOR APPLIANCE CORPORATION EXPANDING IN PAINTSVILLE

We need 3 career-minded individuals for our management trainee program. Duties include hiring and training of office personnel, inventory and stock control, accounts receivable, advertising and marketing of new test products and developing of new sales strategies. Retail experience helpful but not necessary.

WE ARE WILLING TO TRAIN IF YOU IMPRESS US.

If you qualify you will receive $1500 per month while in training, at a salary of $24,000 per year upon graduation. Personal interviews will be held Thursday, Oct. 24 at the Carriage House between hours of 1-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. Ask at front desk for Mr. Ingram.

Astrological Forecast..

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 2)—Quite a week you've got coming up, your mood will change from religious to self-centered to materialistic and, you're not going to be any saint while you're religious. If you want to grow, overcome your babified ways. You will be dreaming of the good-life—don't try to act it out.

TAURUS (Apr. 22-May 22)—Take your ideas to the boss, you will receive a sympathetic hearing. Public recognition is probable and it will be unique and strong. This can be a very sexy weekend if you're interested—aren't you always? Be sure and save a little time to do your good deed for the week.

GEMINI (May 23-Jun. 21)—Sudden publicity can be expected this week, but it may not be the kind you want. Romance is still prominent and it will be glamorous, fulfilling, and weird! You are still trying to change your job situation and this is a positive time. An Aries friend can help you.

CANCER (Jun. 22-Jul. 20)—A spiritual reawakening is trying to take place now—don't fight it. You will learn that money has nothing to do with security. A romance could turn into a marriage in the twinkling of an eye. Make sure there is compatibility before you set-up-house.

LEO (Jul. 21-Aug. 20)—You won't be happy this week unless you have lots of people around you. Stay away from the law, there will be no forgiving and forgetting, only paying and repenting. Your ruler, the Sun, has moved into Scorpio, and you'll have to guard against upsets at home. This will be hard as you are rather indecisive.

VIRGO (Aug. 21-Sep. 22)—You will be brilliant for a week or so, try to solve your problems, not other peoples! The career plans you've been working on will put you in the limelight. Quite a weekend, your romantic plans will fall flat on their face, but you'll have fun; and then, Cupid will jump up out of nowhere.

LIBRA (Sep. 23-Oct. 25)—You are in a period of many romances, and some of them will be pretty "flakey". If you made plans to take your vacation now, you won't regret it. You are concerned with personal aspirations which are rather unusual. And, for a change, you are ready to get down to serious business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 26-Nov. 23)—Continue your education to deepen your knowledge. The change you have been undergoing for a year or two will be finished soon. Your ruler, Mars, is moving from Virgo into Libra, and charm and diplomacy will be your companions. Get off to a good start by devoting some time to helping others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 24-Dec. 21)—When a problem arises, decide on a course of action and stick to it. You will attain public relation dreams through persistence. Stop for fun-and-games after work today, it will have extended benefits. An Aries friend is very interested in a romance now—are you?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 17)—Get out in public as much as possible, you will make good contacts. Private aspirations will become more and more important as you mature. Entertain business acquaintances this weekend, you will pick up some good tips. Be charming and you can stir up a little romance at home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 18-Feb. 16)—You are scheming to get a top job, and eventually you'll succeed. You're a Good-Time Charlie and much money will go toward the "cause". The Sun has moved into Scorpio, and things will go much better career-wise. Not only are career matters positive but home dreams can also be realized.

PISCES (Feb. 17-Mar. 20)—Unconscious talents are awakening now—don't fight it! Being accommodating at work won't take the place of leadership. Hope you don't have to work this weekend because you and the boss will be in a clashing period. Do something to improve your finances, it's a good time, but time may be short.

Does your dog hate baths? Rub baking soda into his coat thoroughly, then brush off. It deodorizes as well as cleans.

DUFF FOR MAGISTRATE DISTRICT NO. 2

I am the son of the Late Rev. James Duff and Ted Lawson Duff. I am married to Patricia Truman Duff and we have three children, Sandy, Shelia and Todd. Sandy and Shelia both graduated from Allen Central High School and Todd is now a freshman at Allen Central. I have always been an avid fan and supporter of Allen Central and we, as a boosters club, are in the process of getting construction underway for the baseball and football field for the young athletes of District 2

As far as construction work is concerned, I worked for ten years on road construction and, on the business end, I was in business for twenty years and I know how to deal with the public, so I am well qualified to do the job at the fiscal court meetings and out in the field with the road crew.

I hope the people of District Two will take a good look at the candidates that are running for magistrate and vote for the best man that will work for ALL the people of Dist. 2.

The people of District Two can contact me anytime, day or night. My phone is listed—358-4564.

Bentley-Jacobs To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Sammy G. Bentley, of Wayland, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Sarita Lynn Bentley to Steven Jacobs. The wedding will be solemnized October 26, at 2:30 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Bentley is a graduate of Allen Central High School and Mayo State Vocational School. She is currently employed by Dr. Andy Elliot D.M.D. at Martin.

Mr. Jacobs is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Jacobs, of Martin. He is a graduate of Allen Central High School and is currently employed by Halbert Brothers.

The gracious custom of open invitation will be observed and a reception will follow.

MARTIN NEWS

Mary Daniels, of Trenton, Mich.; Jim and Judy Aiken and daughters, Jennifer and Jamie, of Woodhaven, Mich., spent the past weekend with Mary Daniel's sister, Vernie Messinger, at Pageant Hills, and visited with the rest of their family, Ted and Ethel Collins, of Minnie, Tilden Collins, of Drift, Noah and Carl David Collins and their families on Calf Creek. They enjoyed supper Friday with Preston Collins and his wife at Printer, and also attended the Sorghum Festival on Cow Creek for the Cow Creek Freewill Baptist Church.

Tilden Collins, Paul Collins and family, of Drift, visited Vernie Messinger, Saturday.

DISTRICT JUDGE

Dear Friends:

Over the past months, Janet and I have traveled the roads of Floyd County and listened to many of our fellow citizens.

You have told us, what Floyd County needs, is a District Judge who will treat all the people fairly, and that there should be no such thing as a "Double Standard" in deciding cases.

You have also made it clear, that the citizens of Floyd County want all the laws enforced, including the DUI laws.

As your District Judge, there will be no double standard; and all the laws, including the DUI laws, will be enforced.

Thank you for your support.
