

Jury Bill Names Two Ex-Officials

Charge Against Father and Son Little Changed

Two former Floyd county officials were named in an indictment handed down this week by a Floyd Circuit Court grand jury. Accused of theft by deception are Thomas Lafferty, Sr., former deputy judge-executive, and his son, Thomas Lafferty, Jr. who served as county personnel officer and briefly as county court clerk.

The indictment charges that "separately or together in complicity" they obtained "property or services belonging to Floyd county by deception with intent to deprive Floyd county thereof." The felony charges, which carry a penalty of up to five years in prison, cover a period from July through December, 1982. They stem from a state police investigation of the 1982 administration of the late Judge-Executive Jerry Lafferty, Jr., which resulted in the indictment of 16 persons, including the Laffertys, last December.

Assistant Attorney General Barbara Whaley said Tuesday that the new indictments involve the same charges as those made against the Laffertys last year. The reason for issuing them anew has to do with the admissibility of certain evidence, the prosecutor said, but she declined to elaborate. As a result of the new indictments, she will move later to dismiss the original charges, she said.

Because father and son are named in the one indictment rather than in separate bills, they will be tried together, the prosecutor said. The questions of whether Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley will again disqualify himself and of whether the prosecution

Council Votes $2500 To Help Animal Shelter

Floyd county will soon have help in the never-ending battle against stray animals, thanks to donations authorized Monday night to the East Kentucky Wildlife Federation by Prestonsburg's City Council.

The council voted unanimously to invest $2,500 to aid the animal shelter after Mayor Harold Cooley gave an itemized account of what the shelter would need to put an animal control officer on the road. Cooley said Curtis Hughes, president of the Wildlife Federation and overseer of the shelter, had requested the one-time donation to purchase equipment, such as a tranquilizer rifle and darts, net pole, live animal trap (in which a pet can enter but not exit; "sort of like a big roach motel," said City Manager David Evans), and an euthanasia system for destroying unadoptable or gravely injured animals. Part of the money also went to purchasing a 1977 Bronco truck which the city will lease to the shelter for $1 per year.

School Board Hears Plan To Meet State Standards

In an effort to boost the academic standing of Floyd schools, the Board of Education last week approved an educational plan now mandated by state law in areas where a school district is held to be falling short of minimum state standards.

Under the law, a district which does not adhere to the timelines in its Master Educational Improvement Plan (MEIP) may be declared "academically deficient." Continued failure to comply could lead to a state takeover of the district and even to suspension of local school officials.

The Floyd MEIP, which was presented to the board Wednesday by Asst. Superintendent Ron Hager and which now awaits state approval, includes one plan for lifting classroom performance and another for improving the attendance and dropout rates.

An "academic performance plan" is designed to correct deficiencies uncovered last spring by mandatory testing, which showed Floyd third

Drunk Driving Clogs District Court Calendar

After a pre-election lull, Floyd District Court was back to heavy dockets this week, with drunk driving cases, as usual, making up the bulk of the court's work.

"I've never seen so many DUIs," District Judge Harold Stumbo remarked from the bench Friday. "If we've got that many on the roads, it's a wonder we're not all dead."

Over four days, 21 were convicted of drunk driving, including Michael Lee Crisp, 21, of Dwayne, for whom it was his second conviction this year. Crisp was sentenced to seven days in jail—he will serve his sentence one day at a time, over seven weekends—and ordered to pay $557.50 in fine, fees and court costs. He was convicted of DUI and reckless driving in April this year and has, in addition, five earlier moving traffic violations on his record.

Other drunk driving convictions this week included that of John D. Horne, 30 days, $207.50; James E. Fields, two days' public service, $157.50; Michael Adkins, $407.50; Douglas Hurt, $407.50; Jeffery Jervis, $407.50; Bobby R. District 1 Recount Scheduled At Request of Losing Candidate

One candidate has asked for a recount and another suggested that voters were improperly influenced in at least one Mud Creek precinct, but otherwise last week's election appears to have passed without the usual post-election recriminations.

A canvass of all voting machines in the first magisterial district has been set for 8:30 this (Wednesday) morning, at the request of Gorman Collins, Jr., Republican, who was defeated in the race for magistrate by incumbent Gerald DeRossett.

Former public defender Ned Pillersdorf, who mounted an unsuccessful challenge to District Judge Harold Stumbo, said he was at an unfair disadvantage in the Head of Mud precinct and cited the relatively high number of voters there who said they needed assistance at the polls.

According to records on file in the county court clerk's office, 20 Beaver residents signed affidavits saying they needed assistance. In all cases, the reason given was "do not (or did not) understand." In 12 cases, assistance was given by poll judge Ray Hamilton; in the other eight cases, by election sheriff Ralph Bryant. The reasons for voter assistance recognized by law are inability

Trials Postponed

Trial of Ballard, Jackie and Ricky Crum on theft charges, originally set for Tuesday this week, has been continued until next spring because the Commonwealth was not ready to present its case, said Special Judge Will T. Scott. Also, because state police detectives involved are tied up in federal court, trial of Kenneth Roberts and Naomi Green, originally scheduled to begin Monday in Pike Circuit Court, has also been postponed.

ty to read English, blindness, or other physical disability.

The joke around the district courtroom Wednesday was that, next time Tommy Engle hauled a drunk in for booking, the police officer would have to be addressed as "Your Honor." That is because Wheelwright policeman Thomas L. Engle, Jr. is now also the city's mayor-elect.

Engle was victor last Tuesday in a three-way race for mayor of the faction-tossed town, a race he finished with 113 votes, ahead of incumbent Mayor Elmer Ferguson, who had 59.

On Beaver Creek's other arm, absentee ballots narrowed the gap by which incumbent mayor Patricia Murphy, history teacher at Allen Central High School, held onto her post in the face of a challenge by Ralph Stephen Banks. Banks received six absentee votes, for a total of 74. Murphy, who received no absentee votes, had a machine total of 78.

In the Prestonsburg mayor's race, the mailbag widened the already convincing lead of Ann Lafta, who received 66 postal votes for a total of 870. Harry W. Short received 12 absentee votes for a total of 287.

Not only the mayor but half of the eight council members will be new when the Prestonsburg city council meets in January. Four newly-elected members—William Callihan, the top vote-getter; Harry Ray Porter; Prestonsburg Elementary School Principal Thomas "Rube" Tackett; and Margie N. Osborne—will join incumbents William O. Goebel III, Bobby Ranier, Gary D. Brown, and Frank A. Adams.

Among magistrate contests, Republican challenger Gorman Collins, Jr. won seven out of 16 first-district precincts in a close race with Gerald

NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED were Linda Caudill, of Prestonsburg, and Dennis Watson, of Pip-pa Passes, the drivers of the vehicles pictured here shortly after a Wednesday morning accident. The accident occurred on U.S. 23 near Prestonsburg High School, one of the city's most frequent crash scenes. Prestonsburg police officers investigated 18 accidents during the first week of this month—the same number of accidents usually reported in a whole month.

This Town...That World

I'm still on "fast" time. Lost the cap to the stem that sets the time on the old Ingersoll and am stuck. Still manage to be behind slow time, however, and that, I maintain, requires talent.

SUCH A QUIETNESS

"What," inquires a reader, "has become of the birds that you quite often wrote about, earlier in the year?"

I will not guarantee the accuracy of my reply, but this is how the situation stacks up, generally, around our place:

A few of the bird-residents of our vicinity have buzzed off for more salubrious climes, but most are still with us. Jays, cardinals, sparrows—most of the gang remain. But there is such a stillness all about, these days. Even the jays have little to squawk about.

The "melancholy days" have had their effect. Birds that sang and chattered only a few weeks ago now go about their affairs, mostly in silence. Only the crows, which really didn't belong because they're smart enough not to come down off the hillside and try to live with people, are in their usual form vocally.

One absence we have noted, and it is a loss which we will, somehow, be able to bear. The starlings are pestering somebody else, elsewhere.

GOTHIC, 1985

This man who had rashly agreed to accompany a group of youngsters on an overnight camping trip was by nightfall plain bushed and had decided he could very well do without all the horseplay and noise the gang was enjoying. It looked like a long night ahead.

So he conceived the bright idea of attempting to bed down his charges in the loneliest spot around, a long-deserted, ramshackle cabin deep in the woods, then to still, somehow, the earsplitting whoops and yells and to get the boys

New School Tax Vote Cancelled

The Floyd Board of Education will not, after all, seek a 28-cent tax rate this year, it was announced after the board met in executive session last Wednesday night. Instead, the rate will rise to 19 cents, the maximum increase that may be imposed without its being subject to a recall by voters.

The move followed a complaint by Everett Akers, of Martin, that the board's intention to seek the higher rate was not advertised within seven days, the time specified by law. Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett acknowledged the error. "We goofed," he said.

The mistake apparently stemmed from confusion as to when the board actually decided to adopt the higher rate—whether at its regular October 2 meeting or at a public hearing on the tax hike held October 23. In any event, Akers argued, the effect was to shorten by three weeks the time available to tax opponents, who are supposed to have 45 days in which to gather the signatures needed to put the tax to a vote.

Prior to Wednesday's closed session, Board Vice-Chairman James A. Duff had urged passage of the 28-cent rate, noting that the county will be required to adopt at least a 25-cent rate next year in order to qualify for some $9 million in additional state funds. The three-cent difference would add only $6 a year to the school tax on a house assessed at $20,000—"less than the cost of a carton of cigarettes or a case of Pepsi"—Duff argued. The Hueysville merchant also noted that the tax rate in this county is

Illegal Liquor Sale Alleged By Youth Accused in Robbery

Shortly after being released on $10,000 bond from the Floyd county detention center Monday, the juvenile suspect in last week's armed robbery of Cumberland Spirits liquor store swore out a warrant against Mrs. Patricia McClung, one of the store's owners, charging her with selling him alcoholic beverages.

Mrs. McClung, who maintained her innocence, remained free on her own recognizance. She admitted, however, the situation was beginning to wear on her nerves. Daughter Terri Branham, who was alone in the store at the time of robbery, put it more bluntly: "This is just turning into one long nightmare."

Mrs. Branham said the youth had attempted several weeks ago to purchase liquor at the store from her mother, telling Mrs. McClung that Mrs. Branham had sold it to him in the past. Mrs. McClung was said to have ejected him from the store after refusing to make the sale.

But Mrs. Branham said that prior to the robbery she had never seen the young man. "I'd never seen him before," she said. "He looks young enough where I know I would have carded him."

Cumberland Spirits has suffered several unexplained mishaps in recent weeks. Acts of vandalism include a broken store window, cut telephone wires and a cooler thermostat being turned down so low that a number of cases of beer inside burst.

Though the youth was said to have been quiet and well behaved while lodged in the detention center, a number of abusive, sometimes threatening telephone calls were reportedly received both there and at the liquor store during his incarceration.

The callers were said to have mentioned the suspect by name and made direct threats against Mrs. McClung and, to deputy jailers at the detention center, against District Judge Harold Stumbo. Stumbo is scheduled to hear the case December 17.

Though Mrs. McClung said the callers to the liquor store did not give their names, she said the calls appeared to have been made by two different males. Deputies at the detention center said callers there identified themselves as "Nelson" and "Rice," saying it was very important they be allowed to speak with the suspect. When told they couldn't, one of the callers reportedly told Deputy Jailer Delmer Meade they were going to "send somebody to meet Jesus," and "blow Judge Stumbo away."

The suspect told detention center personnel he had no idea who the callers were and continued to disavow any involvement in the robbery.

Detective Sgt. Mike Ormerod said another suspect was still being sought, though leads on the second robber—the one Mrs. Branham said wielded the gun—were slim.

Winter Bird Feeding: Do It With Suet

One of the best cold-weather bird foods is suet, and a winter suet feeder in your yard invites birds you might never play host to—if it were not for the suet.

Many birds love suet, and so it's a valuable addition to your bird feeding program. Suet is dense beef fat and it can provide birds with the extra energy they need to stay warm in winter.

From late fall through early spring I like to buy two or three pounds of suet at a time and freeze it in half-pound chunks. That way, my suet feeder never runs low. You can usually find suet at a supermarket or (if you want to be sure you're getting real beef suet) at a butcher shop.

Most suet feeders are wire mesh cages. The mesh needs to be just large enough for a bird's bill to reach through, but not so large that a crow or raccoon could make off with large pieces of suet.

A suet cage (bought or hand-made) should be constructed of plastic-coated wire rather than uncoated metal, even though it's highly unlikely that any part of a bird or other animal would freeze to the uncoated surface. The cage needs a back door for inserting the suet.

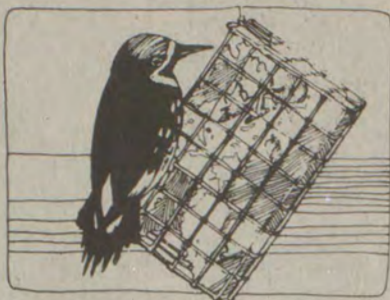

Hang your feeder from the trunk or branch of a tree. A suet cage 6 or 8 feet off the ground will regularly attract woodpeckers, titmice, chickadees, nuthatches, perhaps brown creepers, and other birds that find suet a good substitute for their natural high-energy foods (insect eggs, larvae, etc.). The good height will keep the feeder out of reach of dogs, foxes, skunks and other poor climbers, though it won't guarantee that a raccoon or an opossum won't raid the cage.

European starlings are suet-loving birds who are all too apt to take over your whole yard once they've lined up your suet feeder. If you live in starling country, there are two ways to starling-proof a suet cage, thereby discouraging an invasion:

(1) Suspend a baffle or dome over the feeder (a pie tin may do). Unlike nuthatches, chickadees and such, starlings are not very good at hanging vertically or upside-down to feed; they prefer to perch on the top.

(2) Buy or make a double-mesh cage. The wire mesh basket that holds suet fits inside a larger-mesh (1 to 1 1/2-inch) cage. The small birds can hop in and reach the inner basket but the larger birds (including starlings) cannot.

On the coldest of days your suet feeder may draw birds that rarely visit any kind of feeder. During such weather, we receive reports of red-shouldered hawks, pileated woodpeckers, American kestrels, Carolina wrens, juncos, thrashers, and yellow-rumped warblers visiting suet feeders.

So, don't let frigid weather get you down. Put out the suet and watch the ensuing spectacle of birds vigorously energizing themselves.

A Kentucky Thanksgiving

By JULIE SMITHER

Kentucky is beautiful, isn't it? Do you take the time to look at it, to really appreciate it—the sun setting over deep-green hills, deer bounding into the forest, creeks splashing and sparkling in the sunlight? Kentucky is very rich... maybe not in money, but in nature. Mountains, cloud-topped and forested, tower above us in eastern Kentucky, creeks meander through the rolling green pastures of the Bluegrass, thousands of ducks and geese darken the skies over the lakes and swamplands of western Kentucky. Because of these unique features, Kentucky has many more and different species of plants and animals than many other states.

However, what we see today is just a fraction of what Daniel Boone saw when he first arrived. Where are the prairies which covered much of western Kentucky, thousands of acres of grasses taller than man on horseback? Where are the herds of bison and elk which grazed those prairies? Where are the forests with trees so tall that walking beneath their towering branches was like being in a cathedral?

In just 200 years, man has forever changed Kentucky's land and waters. Only a few acres of the tall grass prairie have been preserved. Much of the Bluegrass has been turned into suburbs and city streets. Less than 600 acres is all that is left of the 23 million acres of virgin timber. Over half of the known wetlands have been drained. Many more thousands of acres have been lost to other activities.

Why is it significant that parts of our natural heritage have been lost? Though you may take it for granted, you have been fortunate to live your life in one of the most beautiful places on earth. Will your grandchildren have the same privilege?

Scattered across the state are remnants of Kentucky's original wilderness, unique areas containing what's left of our natural heritage. There are a few Kentuckians who recognize the importance of preserving these special places on their land. These landowners have registered these areas in the Kentucky Natural Areas Registry, a joint program created by The Nature Conservancy, a non-profit conservation group, and the Kentucky Nature Preserves Commission, a state agency. This non-binding, non-regulatory program awards plaques to landowners who have, through their willingness to protect a part of our common Kentucky heritage, earned the appreciation of all Kentucky citizens. Governor Martha Layne Collins expressed her appreciation to these landowners last Thursday at an awards luncheon held in the Governor's Mansion where owners of 18 registered areas were recognized.

So at this time of thanksgiving when our thoughts turn to our founders and our heritage, let's give thanks—thanks that we live in such a beautiful and rich state, and thanks to those landowners who are safeguarding the best that remains of our natural world.

Grady Stumbo To Speak At Hindman Rally, Friday

Dr. Grady Stumbo will speak Friday at a multi-county rally, sponsored by the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition. The rally, to show support for the proposed unmined minerals tax, will be held at Hindman, beginning at 7 p.m.

In addition to Stumbo, the agenda for the rally includes a number of citizen speakers such as KFTC chairperson Sidney Cornett, of Dwarf, Ky. Also, there will be recognition of counties participating in the rally and recognition of any legislators in attendance. Senator Benny Ray Bailey, Representative Greg Stumbo and Representative Jim Rose have all been invited from this county.

The KFTC has pushed a bill to tax unmined minerals in both of the past two General Assembly sessions. Both times the bill has enjoyed significant support in the legislature as well as with citizens, only to be killed in the committee.

At least one major U.S. corporation is said to be working on an automatic dictation machine that would accept voice dictation and return a typed manuscript.

Authors To Attend Annual Book Fair

Nearly 80 authors are expected to be on hand for the fourth annual Kentucky Book Fair, set for Saturday, November 23 at the state Department for Libraries and Archives, Frankfort.

The Fair will offer a selection of more than 100 fiction and non-fiction books certain to appeal to tastes ranging from Big Blue Basketball to America's involvement in the Vietnam War. Among this year's headliners are baseball's legend Mickey Mantle, author of "The Mick," and Willadeene, the older sister of Dolly Parton, who tells the story of her family in "The Shadow of a Song."

The Kentucky Book Fair Inc. is a non-profit organization which brings noted authors to the state as a fund-raising event for libraries. Each year, the Book Fair awards book grants to deserving libraries. Proceeds from the 1984 Book Fair will be used to award five $1,000 book grants.

The Fair is a joint effort of the non-profit Kentucky Book Fair Committee, the Frankfort State Journal and the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives.

Mrs. Hayes' Best-Selling Cookbook Earns Hometown Wide Recognition

With a population of less than 100, Hueysville is a small Floyd county village. You might call it a hamlet. Its obscurity is deepened by its location at the foot of a hill beneath the brow of which it is hidden from the view of those who drive the highway that skirts it.

Although it doesn't qualify for the "sleepy, little village" stereotype, the even tenor of its ways is seldom disturbed by news-making events. Generally speaking, this is a place that for many years was little known outside Floyd county.

Yet Hueysville, Ky. has become known to thousands of persons across America, in every state, and by a few in foreign countries. All because of one woman who lives there and because of the work she has done.

Irene Hayes, wife of Rondal Hayes, mother of four, grandmother of eight, for 20 years postmistress and for more years than that church worker and community leader, has published a cookbook. It is this cookbook, "What's Cooking in Kentucky," and now its sequel, "What's Cooking for the Holidays," that have made her hometown known to so many.

In 1965 the roof of the church that had served the community for more than half a century needed repair, and the church treasury lacked the money to undertake the costly venture. Thus was born the idea of publishing and selling cookbooks to defray the expense. Women of the church put hands and heads together, invited the region's finest cooks—one was the Governor's wife—to contribute their favorite recipes.

So it was that the first edition of "What's Cooking in Kentucky" was published. The press run for that edition was only 1500, and within a month all 1500 were sold. And the church had a new roof—and more: new pulpit furniture and a church bus were bought; the interior of the sanctuary was remodeled, and the outside had a new coat of paint.

"We didn't offer these cookbooks for sale because they were for the church and a good cause, but because we had put together a cookbook that was worth buying and using," Mrs. Hayes says.

Beginning with the 1967 edition, "What's Cooking in Kentucky" has been a big part of Irene Hayes' life. From a room in her home overlooking Hueysville she has devoted her time to every chore associated with publishing the book—writing, telephoning, contacting choice cooks, editing, proofreading, correcting and revising, planning the format, even helping on occasion with the pasteup of pages for the printer. In addition, she managed the marketing of the book, made personal appearances at various trade centers and on television shows featuring Kentucky cuisine. She was secretary, treasurer, mailing department—you name it.

Yet Mrs. Hayes insists that she did not always work alone. She cites the help afforded by her daughters, Carol, Sharon, Karen and Stachia.

If you get the idea that this grandmother is a workaholic, you may well be right. Besides handling more than 150,000 cookbooks from manuscript till the day the last was sold, she spent most of her daylight hours for a dozen years of that time as postmistress at Hueysville. And as church worker, confidant to many, visiting the sick, helping those with personal problems.

"What's Cooking in Kentucky" is all Kentucky—recipes that have that priceless "back home" flavor and spirit for Kentuckians, wherever they are, in Kentucky or far removed from their native heath. And strangers to Kentucky foods and viands find the book equally engrossing. One such was the late James Beard, renowned authority on the culinary arts, who listed "What's Cooking in Kentucky" in the bibliography of his Cook's Catalogue, published in 1975 by Harper & Row. Another was William Rice, former foods editor of the Washington Post, who listed the cookbook from Kentucky as one of the five which he recommended. Plus laudatory letters from cooks in every state, including Hawaii and Alaska.

And now is published "What's Cooking for the Holidays," which has the best from Kentucky and also the choicest recipes gathered from all parts of the United States. These are Thanksgiving and Christmas season recipes whose aroma, taste and color and indefinable spirit may find a place on an oilcloth-covered table as well as on one draped with damask.

Why continue to publish cookbooks? "It's certainly not because I am getting rich at it," Mrs. Hayes says. "As much work at almost any other undertaking would pay more. But I wasn't satisfied with that first edition of only 1500 copies. I was convinced that many more women needed help."

"One of the greatest rewards I have had from the Kentucky cookbook is the letters received from young brides and young mothers, telling me how much the cookbook has meant to them. I made the kind of cookbook I wish I had had when I began learning to cook... I don't profess to be a good cook, but I do claim to know good foods and good cooking."

She likes to recall those letters. "I write me, 'Dear Irene, as if they had known me for years, I treasure them. They thank me for putting together such wonderful recipes... tell me about their problems. They wish me happy holidays and God's blessings.'"

Mrs. Hayes sometimes admits she tries to do too much. "But," she points out, "if you can't see people's needs, there's something wrong with your eyes, and if you see their needs and do nothing about it, there's something wrong with you."

"What's Cooking in Kentucky" and, now, the new "What's Cooking for the Holidays" may be said to be by-products of that philosophy.

P&B Ambulance Plans Service at Whitesburg

The Cabinet for Human Resources has granted nonsubstantive review status to a proposal from a Prestonsburg ambulance service to establish a service in Whitesburg.

According to its proposal, P and B Ambulance Service of Prestonsburg would establish the service with a $44,000 capital expenditure. The ambulance service would be located in rented space in the Appalachian Regional Hospital, Whitesburg.

Nonsubstantive review status permits the applicant to waive formal review procedures normally required for a certificate of need. Such status can be granted in certain cases involving no substantial change in facilities, equipment or services.

Persons affected by the proposal may request a public hearing on the application. Requests must be submitted in writing before Nov. 23 to Jack S. Lesshaft, Executive Director, Division of State Health Planning, 275 E. Main St., Frankfort, Ky. 40621.

Food Prices Up in September

Food prices leaped by 0.3 percent in September, registering the largest increase of the year, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The increase ends a six-month period of stable or declining food costs.

At the same time, the overall Consumer Price Index rose by 0.2 percent in September, the same as in the preceding three months.

"The increase in grocery store prices was led primarily by meat items, which may be a great benefit for producers, especially cattle producers. They have been ravaged by low prices, falling demand and increased production costs," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

Meat prices have fallen throughout the year and are considerably below December 1984 levels. Poultry prices, especially, are expected to rise in reaction to increased consumer demand.

September marked the first time in 1985 that beef prices rose.

"Fruit and vegetable costs, led by higher lettuce prices, rose by 0.6 percent and played a key role in raising grocery costs," Boswell said. "Kentucky producers will not really benefit from this increase since our growing season is over."

September's sharp rise in grocery costs may be an indicator that food costs will rise gradually throughout the fall and erase some of the declines posted last spring.

—A district-wide policy on promoting and retaining students.
—Emphasis on language skills by teachers in all subjects.
—Affording teachers more actual instruction time or "time on task" in the classroom.
—Homework and in-class exercises to be related to specific instructional skills and to be checked if assigned.
—Training of supervisors to help teachers in areas where teachers say they need assistance.

A "program improvement plan" addresses Floyd's dropout and attendance rates. The plan is mandatory for districts with a dropout rate higher than 3.5 percent (Floyd's is 4.4) or an attendance average lower than 96 percent (Floyd's is 91.46). Among specific remedies prescribed are stricter enforcement of school attendance laws—for which the district judge, as well as the school system, is held responsible; more visits to homes of truants, and maintenance of three dropout prevention programs at target high schools.

The principal or secretary of each school is encouraged to call home each day a student is absent; rewards are suggested for perfect attendance; to spur attendance, parent-teacher organizations will be asked to have a drawing for a bicycle at the end of the school year.

Hager acknowledged that higher academic and attendance standards cannot simply be achieved on command. "You can't say that every eighth grader will read at least at sixth grade level or that, if a student does not reach the 50th NCE, he will not go on," he said. (The 50th NCE, or normal curve equivalency, represents the national average on standardized tests.) "What we can say is that our goals are set and we will make every effort to attain them."

settled down. That was why he wound up telling them a ghost story.

All was quiet, for a change, while he spoke in sepulchral tones of the family which had lived there, years ago, and of the tragedy that struck, one night of storm. The logs in the open fireplace burned low while he spoke, and the surroundings added the atmosphere that he desired for the tale. The wind did not roar outside, but the big pines sighed like soft waves breaking, and from the outside darkness came the plaintive tremolo of a screech owl, over and over again.

"See that path out there?" (They couldn't but knew it was there.) "Right down that road this horse came, and on its back was a rider, dressed all in white," he said. "The people who lived in this old house saw the horse and the rider coming but there wasn't a sound, not a hoofbeat, to be heard as the something in white rode up to the door of this very room and walked through it without opening it, and grabbed this child, and—"

He paused for effect and to see if his story was affecting its hearers. The only noise was an occasional pop from a burning log, that and the strange, mysterious creakings that are common to old houses. The wind suddenly gusts. There was a low whine; the house was filled with smoke from the chimney. Most of the candles were blown out.

"I've got 'em!" the man exulted to himself. And just then one of the boys yawned and mumbled, "Wish we had a TV so we could get something scary."

Kiwanis Hold Meetings

The Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club had as its guest speaker for the November 7th meeting, Danny Greene, director of the David School. He discussed the school's programs and showed a brief videotape from Kentucky Educational Television on the School.

The program at the November 14th meeting will be presented by Doreen Martin, of Drift. She will talk about Christmas activities, and how the Club can be involved in these. Both programs focus attention on the Kiwanis program theme for the year, "Walk with a Child."

On November 21st, the program will be given by Sam Blankenship of the First Commonwealth Bank, and on November 26th, the Thanksgiving program will feature Robin Childers, Campus Minister for the Southern Baptist Church in this area. Regular meetings are held Thursday nights at 6:15 at the cafeteria of Highlands Regional Medical Center. However, due to the Thanksgiving holiday, the last meeting this month will be held on Tuesday evening.

Tackett, $407.50; Clinis Hall, two days, $157.50; Jerry A. Hannah, Leander, $357.50; and Ricky Spradlin, $407.50.

Amended on the motion of the prosecutor were DUI charges against Thomas P. Clifton, Kenneth R. Napier, and Charles J. Shell. All three were convicted on charges of drinking on highway, Clifton paying $175.50, Napier and Shell $57.50. Dismissed were charges against Cisco Neeley and Steve Wright. Neeley, 31, of Hueysville, is serving time in the state penitentiary on a felony conviction. The charge against him was dropped "at the request of the prosecuting witness for lack of evidence," according to court records. The charge against Wright, 27, of Prestonsburg, was dismissed when sheriff's deputies Jim Conley and B. Layne, the prosecuting officers, failed to appear in court.

On Tuesday, a jury convicted Estill Jarvis, 31, of Prestonsburg, of assault on Chuck Akers, then a Prestonsburg Police Department auxiliary and now a fulltime member of the force. Jarvis was accused of knocking Akers to the floor in what was then the Piggly Wiggly store in Glynview Plaza on August 4. He was fined $500.

Bert W. Sammons, convicted in his absence of assault on Dovie Darnon, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and ordered to pay $116 in restitution, $57.50 in fine and costs.

An assault charge against Eric McNeese, of Prestonsburg, accused of beating Steve Price on March 9, was dismissed when the alleged victim arrived late for court. County Attorney David Barber acknowledged that his office had probably misinformed Price of the time he was to be in court.

Also sentenced as a result of convictions or guilty pleas this week were McKinley J. Mitchell, resisting arrest, 30 days' probation, $97.50; Robbie Woods, driving on suspended license, $47.50; Michael W. Collins, Melvin, theft, 30 days; probation, $107.50; Denny Hoover, possession of marijuana, $67.50; Frank Ed Stephens, shoplifting, public intoxication, 30 days' probation, $157.50; Morris Hall, hindering apprehension, $67.50; David G. DeRossett, who held onto his fiscal court seat by 163 votes. The final tally—including absentee votes, of which DeRossett received 71, Collins 48—was 1971 to 1808. Right Beaver Creek also produced a hard-fought contest between independent candidate Birchell Duff, who won four of the 10 second-district precincts but lost to Jackie Edford Owens, 994 to 1434.

Ronald Frasure, running for county clerk, won precincts on his native Middle Creek, on Cow Creek, at Allen, Bonanza, David, Buffalo and the head of Mud Creek, tied with his opponent in Melvin and lost by a single vote in Halbert precinct. He was unable to close the gap with incumbent Carla R. Boyd, however, who finished with 6221 votes to his 4276.

Ned Pillersdorf, who ran strongly against Harold Stumbo for district judge, winning 11 precincts and drawing close in three more, could not overcome the incumbent's commanding lead in the Wayland, Drift, McDowell, Melvin, Weeksbury and Head of Mud precincts. The final figures: Pillersdorf 2849, Stumbo 4082.

Most support for a switch to a commission form of county government came from the northern end of the county, the referendum winning in the Courthouse, Trimble, Richmond, Cliff, Porter, Auxier, Cow Creek, Mouth of Beaver, Allen-Dwale, David, and Buffalo precincts but losing overall by 2532 to 3438 votes.

among the lowest in the state.

The board's decision to seek no more than a four percent increase in school tax revenues means there is no longer any point in petitioning for a referendum on the tax.

Dr. Charles Faber, chairman of the administration and supervision department in the University of Kentucky's College of Education, was selected by the board to serve as a consultant in the search for a superintendent. No reasons were offered for the choice, no time frame was established for the search-and-screening process and it remained uncertain whether Floyd citizens would have any role to play in it.

Jean Rosenberg, convener of the Floyd County Education Forum, reminded the board that that organization asked two months ago for citizen inclusion in the process of selecting a new leader for Floyd schools. No board member commented on the request, however, and Brackett—who initially supported the idea of citizen participation—would not be drawn into a discussion of the issue later. "The board did not commit itself," he noted tersely.

Proposals submitted to the board by the Floyd County Education Association would present "no problem," Brackett told members of the teachers' organization, who were liberally sprinkled among the large audience at Wednesday's meeting in the Allen Central High School cafeteria.

According to the proposals, which Brackett called "important for the morale of our teaching family," school principals will be responsible for finding replacements for teachers who are off sick, teachers will get more timely notification of their accumulated sick days, the FCEA will have a voice in setting the school calendar, and the day set aside for the organization's annual meeting will be sacrosanct.

Moreover, regardless of whether they are counselors or librarians or drive a school bus, all teachers will be held equally responsible for extra tasks, like bus and playground duty, Brackett said in response to a FCEA request.

Three Floyd high schools—Prestonsburg, McDowell and Wheelwright—have teams participating in a newly-formed organization designed to give students opportunities for regional and statewide competition in academic skills, Brackett told the board. On his recommendation, the board voted to allow each school to claim up to $1100 in travel and coaches' expenses.

With state approval, bids will be sought for materials to be used in building a one-room addition at Prater Elementary School. The classroom is to be constructed by the school district's own maintenance crew, at an estimated cost of $10,000.

Daily deposits of lunchroom earnings, one of the standards stressed by state auditors earlier this year, may be relaxed in view of a recent federal directive, Brackett told the board. Under the more lenient guideline, schools located within five miles of a bank are urged to make daily deposits; the others need make deposits only twice a week, including one on Fridays.

Permission will be sought to dispose of the site of the Home Branch school, which was closed this year. The site of a former school at Bosco will also be reappraised with a view to selling it, the board decided.

Among citizen requests which the board took under advisement: Everett Akers again blasted the panel for its failure to order teachers' cars off the Martin school campus; Linda Jefferson petitioned for a sheltered walkway between the school and the lunchroom at Auxier Elementary; the Rev. Lorie Vanucci asked that grade school basketball teams play teams within their own area rather than in places far afield. Youngsters scheduled to play schools as distant as Inez, Paintsville and Warfield may not get to bed before 11 p.m., he noted.

In an apparently rehearsed demonstration, a dozen Garrett parents stood at a signal by Rodney Moore to await the board's response to Moore's request that it move construction of a new Garrett school up to at least third place on the official list of construction priorities. The group sat down when board member Duff promised to have his colleagues "seriously consider" the proposal "between now and January." Garrett is currently ninth on the list, which can be altered only with state Department of Education approval.

Following an executive session, two Betsy Layne grade school students were expelled on the recommendation of Principal Enoch Mitchell. One boy, 17, was accused of vandalism; another, 14, was accused of disobedience and using profane language.

Hired were: Jody Reynolds, teacher at Martin Elementary; Paul David Tackett, basketball coach at Stumbo Elementary; Verbal Meek, certified substitute teacher; Peggy Sue Martin, Martha A. Damon, Donald Ivan Lowe, Brenda K. Hamilton, Charlotte Ann Clevinger, Darlene Jones, Michael Gibson, Kathy Cornett, and Billy Ray Newsome, emergency substitute teachers.

Transfer Tammy Stanley from exceptional children aide to remediation assistant at Clark School; Darlene Miller, to replace Tammy Stanley as exceptional children aide at Clark; Nellie Hall, part-time cook at Prater School; Faye Fraley, Adriana Shepherd, Virgie Spriggs, Carry Hicks, and Karen Nelson, substitute cooks.

Ruth Ann Robinson, Tammy Scott, David Slone, and Jimmy Dean Hall, custodians; Janie Case Tackett, Eddie Kidd, Janie Tackett, Mickey Dingus, substitute custodians; Blanche Cox, Headstart teacher aide; Anna Hamilton, Headstart bus driver; and Nellie Music, remediation teacher aide.

An additional $200 per month was awarded the shelter, to be used, said Hughes, for upkeep of the vehicle and other materials. Whatever is left over will be used together with an additional $200 monthly gift which council voted to award at its August 26 meeting, to help pay the salary of an animal control officer.

Hughes said that, though the officer would have countywide duties, Prestonsburg would receive top priority.

With an animal control officer on the road, the city will be able to enforce an existing statute requiring citizens to buy dog licenses, said Cooley. Such licenses may be purchased for $1.50 at the municipal building, with the city retaining all of the money.

Hughes told the council he hoped the new funds and equipment would help get area animal control on the right track. "In 1955 when the animal control laws were passed," he said, "everybody strapped on their guns and went out gunning for animals. That's what happened to animal control in eastern Kentucky—it just started out wrong."

In other action, the council continued its slow struggle to outfit the city with liability insurance by accepting a bid from the Volunteer Fireman's Insurance Service, Inc., of Edgewood, Ky. The policy, which carries a yearly premium of $1,449, will cover only the fire department, though Evans said the same company was preparing a bid for policies on the police and street departments, as well as the city itself.

Though there was some obvious dissatisfaction with the state of the city's insurance, notably from Fire Chief Tom Blackburn, Evans made assurances that Prestonsburg was steadily moving toward complete insurance coverage.

Mayor Cooley seemed to sum up the feelings of council members just before the measure was passed unanimously. "It's probably better to have some liability on some than no liability on none," he said.

will again seek a change of venue will have to be decided anew, she said.

Also named in true bills handed down Tuesday was Hayden Hall, of Raven, Knott county, accused of murder in the Sept. 23 shooting of Brenda Thornsby, on KY 80 near Maytown. The shooting, which Hall claimed was accidental, reportedly followed an argument between the two.

Eight named on worthless check charges included Earnest R. Carpenter, who is cited on 30 counts. Carpenter is accused of defrauding the Electroflux Company of some $9337 by paying the firm in dud checks between November last year and April this year.

Also cited for theft by deception are Richard Douglas, accused of paying the Conley Motel with worthless checks on four occasions in February and March; Jarrett Walker, accused of issuing dud checks for $3733 and $1744 to Brock McVey last May; Novell Ford, said to have issued a check for $3250 to Eastern Pools on June 17; Laura Lynn Greer, accused of cashing at First Commonwealth Bank an $8500 check drawn on the account of Lon Arnold Cooley after forging his name on it; Ronnie Lee Lawson and Lon R. Slone, accused of passing dud checks for $200 and $300, respectively, at the Dan Dee Market.

Bill Spencer faces two charges of burglary and one of assault after allegedly breaking into the Goble-Roberts apartments of Dolly Green and Payton Gamble on Sept. 6 and stealing money from them. He allegedly beat Mrs. Green, an elderly woman, about the head with his fists.

Tony Baril is cited by the grand jury for assault for allegedly hitting Tom Reynolds over the head with a beer bottle on October 8. Named on a burglary charge is Carlos Harris, accused of breaking into the Sugar Loaf office of Bush and Burchett on Feb. 15. Edward Collins is indicted for arson, the result of an October 26 fire at the county jail. Collins and William A. Burchett are also charged with sodomizing a 19-year-old fellow inmate at the jail on October 24 and 25.

Garrell Duane Compton, 32, of Harold, was indicted for allegedly molesting a five-year-old Prestonsburg girl in May and stealing a car on October 8. The charges were brought by family members and, according to Compton's attorney, Gary Johnson, reflect an ongoing domestic dispute.

Tribute to His Father

As I sat and watched the ball game in which Pete Rose tied and then broke Ty Cobb's hitting record I thought of how proud Pete Jr. must feel to have witnessed this bit of history in the making. I also thought of how he must feel to hear the thousands of fans cheer for his dad.

Then my thoughts turned to my dad. Although I may never hear thousands of people cheer for him and although I may never see his name in any record books, he has given me something that is far more important. I did not hear them, but when my dad got saved, many years ago, thousands of angels cheered; his name was written in the only lasting and important book, the Lamb's Book of Life.

Down through the years his life has been a steady influence on my own life. Although I may not tell him often enough, I love him and thank God that I have a dad that was willing to show me the right way to go and the right way to grow.

Electric Cooperatives Honor Carl D. Perkins

Former Kentucky Congressman Carl D. Perkins of Hindman, was honored last Thursday as the fourth recipient of the "Distinguished Rural Kentuckian" award presented by the Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives.

Perkins represented Kentucky's Seventh Congressional District from 1949 until his death in 1984. He was the dean of Kentucky's congressional delegation at the time he died.

Perkins' name was closely identified with a wide range of social welfare legislation that passed through the U.S. House of Representatives during the 1960s and 1970s. Many of the bills originated in the House Education and Labor Committee, which he chaired from 1967 until his death. Subjects ranged from vocational education to nutrition programs for children and the elderly, food stamps, black lung benefits, workers compensation and Social Security benefits.

Perkins was born in Knott County on October 15, 1912. He was elected to complete an unexpired term as Commonwealth's Attorney for the 31st Judicial District in 1939. He was elected to the Kentucky General Assembly in 1940 and as Knott County Attorney in 1941. He was re-elected to that office following World War II and later worked for the Kentucky Department of Highways in Frankfort.

Previous recipients of the "Distinguished Rural Kentuckian" award include the late author and poet Jesse Stuart, former U.S. Senator John Sherman Cooper and former state Commerce and Highway Commissioner Henry Ward.

The Kentucky Association of Electric Cooperatives is a voluntary association of 29 electric cooperatives serving more than one million consumer-owners in Kentucky.

OWENS THANKS VOTERS

JACKIE EDFORD OWENS wishes to thank all the voters of District 2 for coming out and voting on a cold, wet Tuesday and for electing me your next Magistrate of District 2 and for letting the big wheels and arm-twisters know that the people of District 2 and Floyd County are not going to stand for this type of politics anymore. By sticking together, WE CAN MAKE A CHANGE. This was proven by the way we beat the commissioner form of government. I THANK EVERYONE FOR VOTING AGAINST THE COMMISSIONERS. You helped yourself more than you helped anyone else.

I want to thank ALL MY WORKERS for coming out and sticking with me on such a bad Tuesday. I know it was freezing cold and wet, but you had enough faith in me to stay till the polls closed. I know we had to fight nearly all of the school board members, but this was no surprise. I anticipated having to fight the school board members. The thing I didn't anticipate was having to fight County Judge JOHN M. STUMBO on the grounds while he hauled around School Board Member Shag Campbell. John M., at the Democratic Rally and Dinner you told Chris Perkins and Greg Stumbo and all of us what a strong Democrat you are. DON'T WASTE YOUR TIME TELLING ME. What gives you the right to walk in to the polls at big Garrett and stroll around. You're not a registered voter up there.

I even had to fight the Democratic Chairman, Morris Isaac, on the grounds at Martin (John Possum). He chose to support and fight for the Independent Party instead of supporting the Democratic Party.

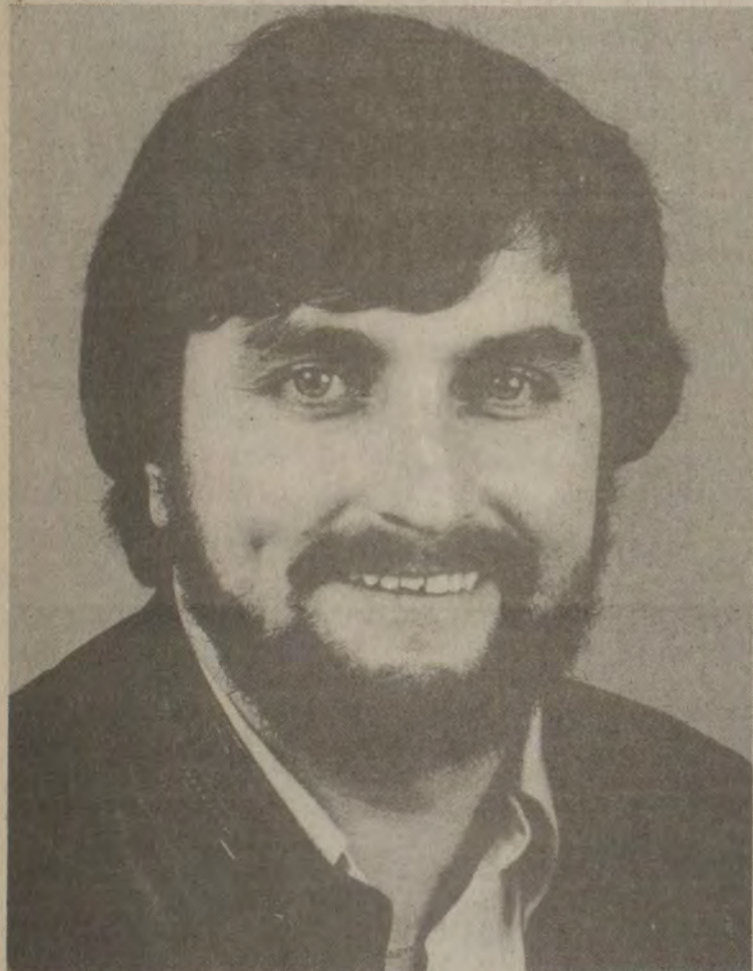

Well, I got a chance to meet most of our school board members on election day. Usually, they are back in the woodwork during these elections, but this time they were out on the grounds. As I made my rounds to make sure all the polls were still running, I ran into ex-superintendent Pete Grigsby, Jr., being driven by Rev. Lori Vannucci on four out of the ten grounds. After Rev. Vannucci saw how a couple of these grounds were run, it surprised me to see him on the others.

Back in May, I had to run against Bob Hackworth and Kenneth Roberts. They should have had their names on the ballot this fall because if they had fought as hard for themselves as they did for Duff—I MIGHT NOT HAVE WON IN MAY.

It was no surprise to see the principals from local grade schools and high schools to have to get out and fight me—THIS IS JUST POLITICS. This is the way things have been for the last 25 years, but IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE. We've made the first step. This General Election has produced a new County Attorney, two new Magistrates, and new Constables. Back in the MAY Primary we had a very hotly contested county judge's race, a close sheriff's race with three people running, a three-way run for County Attorney—not counting any of the Magistrates' races. I can see right now that the people of Floyd County are not going to SIT BACK AND TAKE WHAT IS BEING DISHED OUT. We're going to STAND UP and ASK FOR OUR SHARE. This is the first time that THE SYSTEM has been beaten in Floyd County in a long time.

I would like to see more people get involved in voting in elections and also taking bigger participation in our School Board races. LET'S TAKE THE POWER OUT OF POLITICS! Again, I THANK YOU ALL.

Take advantage of your garden's or your grocer's abundance of fresh cucumbers with this two-way recipe. Either way, cold cucumbers are a refreshing appetizer or side dish on a scorching summer day.

Drain cucumbers and toss with sauce.

Option:
 Cucumbers may be served with marinade only.

Teresa says she's real happy with her new style.

"Make it drastic. Nothing subtle."

Teresa is a student at Morehead majoring in clinical psychology. She's married and has two children. When she came to my shop she said, "I'm tired of this and want something new. Make it drastic. Nothing subtle."

Teresa's slender face was overpowered by all that hair. Her hair was dry from being overpermed and needed extra conditioning. We chose a short, smoother cut so her delicate features and gorgeous eyes wouldn't have to compete with such a volume of hair.

I layered the hair full on top for versatility. Then I showed Teresa how the carefree, casual daytime look can be dramatic, sophisticated or even wonderfully wild at night. She says she's really happy with her new style.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION—Do doctors always tell a patient if he or she has cancer? Should patients be told?

ANSWER—In the past, there was a strong tendency among doctors not to tell patients they had cancer. A patient would only receive general information about his or her illness and treatment.

Fortunately, this trend has changed. In a 1977 study of doctors' beliefs and actions, ninety-eight percent of the doctors surveyed said that their approach is to tell the patient the diagnosis. One hundred percent felt that it was the patient's right to know his or her diagnosis.

Studies of cancer patients who have been told their diagnosis conclude that patients prefer to know the truth, even if they are terminally ill. Like all patients, cancer patients need to be fully informed about their illness in order to make other decisions about treatment, work and their families. Hiding the diagnosis denies them the right to make these major choices about their lives.

Keeping the diagnosis from the patient can be an emotional strain on the family and those taking care of the patient. Most patients somehow learn the truth and may feel angry, hurt or bitter about not being told. In some cases, the family has later felt that both they and the patient were deprived of a useful outlet for their feelings.

While there are rare cases when this is not true, most patients prefer the truth and accept it better than the family might expect. Also, by keeping the patient fully informed, family members and the health care team build a base of understanding and trust.

For more information on any cancer related subject call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER or write to the Cancer Information Service, McDowell Cancer Network, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The Cancer Information Service is a program of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Gets Hospital's First Scrubby Bear

From left, Christine Mitchell holds her son, Franklin, as he hugs the Scrubby Bear presented to him by Our Lady of the Way Hospital's Infection Control Coordinator, Judy Hamm, R.N. and volunteer director, Sister Ann Koebel.

Franklin Nathaniel Mitchell, of Teaberry, received Our Lady of the Way Hospital's first "Scrubby Bear," October 31.

Scrubby Bear is a warm, cuddly reminder of the contract Franklin and his family have signed with Our Lady of the Way Hospital. The contract commits them to regularly and properly wash Franklin's hands and remind the hospital staff attending him to do the same.

Franklin's Scrubby Bear was made and donated by the Floyd County Homemakers through the Good News Bear Den. The Homemakers have pledged 25 bears to be given to Our Lady of the Way's youngest patients. Larger, commercially-made bears are being purchased for older children through the donations of hospital employees, local businesses and community organizations.

Scrubby Bear is Our Lady of the Way's adaptation of an infection control program known nationally as the "T-Bear" campaign. Proper and regular handwashing is considered the No. 1 technique to prevent the spread of infection and disease both within the hospital and throughout the community.

The Scrubby Bear campaign officially began at Our Lady of the Way Hospital October 25. That day teddy bear cookies baked and decorated under the direction of Dietary Supervisor Ellen Hyden appeared on patient and employee lunch trays and were distributed in the lobby to hospital visitors.

Scrubby Bear was named by Naewana Nickles, Sandy Gunnell and Nannie Tackett. Mrs. Nickles was proclaimed the winner of the three-way tie over 39 other employee entries in the name-the-bear contest. She received a bear cake as her prize.

Community participation is still being sought to guarantee the program's success. Interested persons should contact Judy Hamm, RN at 285-5181.

Concerned About Animal Shelter

I am writing in regard to the Wildlife Federation's animal shelter.

When I first heard of the animal shelter I thought it was great. The man in charge, Curt Hughes, told me that the dogs and cats were never put to sleep (if they were adoptable). I figured they did put them to sleep, but I hoped they waited quite some time before doing so. The cats' enclosure wasn't the greatest, but they had't been open that long, and I thought they would probably improve it in time.

Well it has been quite some time and things have grown worse! The dogs have water bowls, some of them have food piled up on the floor, while others have none whatsoever. Putting the food directly on the floor of their run is a perfect way to spread disease. They have labeled some dogs "unadoptable"—for what reason I cannot tell you. The cats have only dry cat food which kittens can't survive on. They have all cats in one room with no partitions. Therefore, one mean or diseased cat could do quite a bit of damage to the rest of them.

Where is all the money the animal shelter was supposed to have received some months ago? It doesn't appear to have gone to upgrading the shelter. As far as I know, the animals haven't had any medical attention in quite a few weeks. They now say they have to keep the animals seven days before they put them to sleep. Who has been putting these animals to sleep and by what method?

We are quite concerned about the animal's welfare. If you feel the same way, fell free to call us at our home. Mr. and Mrs. Charles David Barber Prestonsburg, Phone 886-8903

The 'Gas' Question

What about the gas for the Wayland Fire Department? People, the election is over, and God knows all.

As I stated, I, Bill Meade, was not asked to pay for the gas the Wayland Fire Dept. needed. I work at J & J, and they asked me to charge the gas until they came back out of town. I did. When they came back they got more gas and I was told that Don Daniel told them to tell me to charge it to the Wheelwright Utilities. I tried to call Don Daniel, but he was on the street. The Wayland Fire Dept. went back to town and the Wheelwright fire chief, Oval Pack, came down and signed the ticket for Don Daniel. One commissioner cannot do anything by himself, even if asked.

To Honor Retired Teachers

Many of these teachers have given the best years of their lives in preparing children to become outstanding citizens of Floyd county. It has come time to pay tribute to all Floyd County Retired Teachers. November 13 has been declared National Retired Teachers' Day.

Plans are being completed to observe this special day. Every retired educator in Floyd county is invited to attend a special observance at May Lodge, Nov. 13, beginning at 10 a.m. A representative from the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association has been invited to present "The Challenge of Retirement". An entertaining guest speaker has accepted our invitation to attend this observance and reminisce with us of her experiences. A buffet lunch will be offered in the lodge's dining room at noon. A door prize will be presented to the lucky teacher attending the luncheon.

Now's the time for Floyd countians to recognize the importance of teachers in our present day educational system. You may add to their honor by giving a "pat on the back" or "a cheery hello" to the "next old ex untired teacher" you meet.

Let's Not Forget

I would like to thank the D.A.V., Chapter 18, Paul Connors, commander; Millard Hughes Jr., senior vice-commander; Mary Grace Johnson, Auxillary commander, and the whole Chapter 18 for the enlightening Gold Star Mothers dinner.

There were four Gold Star Mothers present to be honored for giving their sons for the freedoms and privileges we often take for granted. I would personally like to thank these Gold Star Mothers: Alka Holbrook, Eva Hyden, Dixie Campbell, Fannie Runnels, and any other person or family that has suffered for the freedoms we hold dear to our hearts. I realize age has made inroads to some of these precious fold, like Gold Star Mother Lula Wallen, now in an area nursing home.

Also present was a vanishing breed: two World I commanders, Arbin Sammons (88) and Arthur Pope (86). As Arthur Pope addressed those gathered, my conscience was bothered, for our peace society tends to forget the price tag this nation has paid. Nothing is free, and great things are costly.

Thank you, Gold Star Mothers, for giving your best. Thank you, D.A.V., for the love service you rendered. Thank you, any man or woman that has given life, limb or time to make this world a better place. Thank you, God, for the great United States of America.

WADE MARTIN HUGHES
Pastor, First Assembly of God,

Unanswered Questions

Recently, while negotiating passage along the obstacle course known as state route 2030 up Spurlock Creek of Left Beaver, my son asked me a question. He said, "Dad, where do all the holes in the road come from?" I could not guess—how do you explain to a child the politics of eastern Kentucky?

A few moments later, while bouncing along through the bumps, he asked, "Dad, where did all these bumps come from?" Now I had the answer. The bumps came from when the Dept. of Highways dug out the holes; they had to put the dirt somewhere.

Now I don't want to say that the road is difficult to drive on, but snakes have to be in four-wheel drive to get across themselves. This road is not really in the state of Kentucky, but rather the state of Disrepair. It just happens to be on Spurlock Creek of Floyd county.

Now I would like to ask two questions: Why isn't state route 2030 paved? When will state route 2030 be paved?

If you know, please let me know.

Waste Agency Comes Up Short, But McAninch Sounds No Alarm

This was to be the year when Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc.—the agency created when mandatory, countywide trash collection began here in 1981—was to pay its own way.

When a $100,000 payment to its bondholders fell due on November 1, however, the agency came up $25,000 short. The First Commonwealth Bank stepped in with a one-month note. And, at a special meeting last Friday, the Floyd fiscal court redeemed the note.

Along with the decision to help out came advice from the fiscal court that the solid waste agency should be doing more to identify persons who are not paying for the weekly pickup service. And incoming County Attorney David Barber was instructed to prosecute them.

Robert McAninch, chairman of the solid waste agency board, insists that the operation of the system gives no cause for alarm. Indeed, "we're getting stronger and stronger," he says of the agency that nearly died within a year of its birth.

Of the county's $25,000 contribution, Floyd County Solid Waste, Inc. will soon be able to repay $10,000, McAninch said. The remaining $15,000 will still be a relatively small contribution by the fiscal court, which kicked in $125,000 last year, and $157,500 the year before, to keep Solid Waste afloat.

McAninch said he anticipates no problem in meeting a scheduled $70,000 bond payment next May and hopes to "make it on our own next year."

One problem, the director acknowledges, is that of replacing the agency's aging fleet. Two of the 11 original compactor trucks have already been replaced but the others will need to be traded in faster than the agency can afford, he said. A possible solution, he said, would be to apply for a state Community Development Block Grant to cover the cost of new equipment.

Salary increases and the provision of medical benefits for the agency's 34 relatively low-paid workers is also a priority, McAninch said.

Steps are being taken to improve fee collections, he said, although—unlike other utilities, which set meters to record their sales—the solid waste agency is not always sure just who its customers are.

In an effort to identify them, drivers on the system's 55 routes have been keeping a tape-recorded log of their pickups and owners of properties where trash is being collected are gradually being traced through courthouse records, McAninch said. "What we're doing is mapping the county, but it's a slow process," he said.

"All authority belongs to the people." Thomas Jefferson

HOW DO I BREAK THE NEWS OF DEATH?

Most people hate to be the bearers of sad tidings—especially the tidings of death, actual or impending. But the "bad-news-bringer" can actually do great good by making sure that the receiver of the news will have the support he or she needs to bear and express the feeling of shock, loss, and sadness.

Even for persons who are not very emotionally expressive, it is important for them to feel that they are with people who will be supportive when they receive such news. Such support comes in the form of total listening and acceptance. This means appreciating the full human beauty of the bereaved person even as his face is contorted with distress and tears. It does not mean trying to "calm" or "reassure" him or otherwise turn off his expressions of feeling.

An attitude of attentive listening, physical touching or embrace are more important than your exact choice of words. Indeed, if you are in touch with your own feelings, you will find the right words. A simple "I'm sorry" backed by genuine feeling will be more supportive than lengthy praise of the deceased.

And remember—you can go on giving support well past the formal mourning period. That may be when you're needed the most.

City Merchants Try New Ideas As Longer Hours Show No Gain

Downtown merchants are searching for new ways to promote their businesses in the wake of the apparent failure of newly expanded business hours to attract more customers.

The business-people had decided several weeks ago to begin staying open an extra hour, till 6 p.m. However, those assembled at Tuesday's Business Association meeting said the extra time was spent idle, with few or no customers in their stores. Clyde Burchett, Court Street jewelry store proprietor, said he hadn't made a single sale during the later hours. He admitted he didn't always stay till 6 p.m., but argued the customers just weren't there. "About 20 minutes till 6 I looked up and down the street and there wasn't a soul, and I said 'let's go home,'" he said of a recent evening.

Burchett wasn't the only person to voice concerns about the program. William O. Goebel, of the Ben Franklin store, said he felt more needed to be done to get the customers downtown during the later hours. "Just having your doors unlocked and lights on isn't gonna do it," he said. "We have to pull together." Goebel suggested mounting an advertising campaign with the new Hazard television station, WYMT, with association president James O. Vanhoose agreeing to invite station representatives to the next meeting.

Another Goebel suggestion, that stores stay open even later, was met with resistance. "If we're doing this because of the shopping centers, let's stay open till 8," he said. A chorus of "no's" came from many of the others.

To bring in the yule-time with a bang, the association is planning a downtown parade, complete with marching bands, majorettes, choral groups and queens from county schools. Boy and Girl Scouts are slated to be on hand as well. Helping in organizing the event are the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club, the Kiwanians, the police and fire departments. The parade is set for Nov. 30 at 2 p.m.

In addition to the proposed television ad campaign, the merchants discussed including their new store hours—with emphasis on all downtown businesses having the longer hours—in radio commercials. Vanhoose suggested printing buttons, with pro-downtown business slogans emblazoned on them for employees to wear.

Honaker Resident Accuses Operator

A coal operator trespassed on his land while he was in the hospital, a Honaker resident claimed in a suit filed this week in Floyd Circuit Court. Moreover, the mine opened by the operator on an adjoining property is a nuisance, the landowner claims.

Henry Harvey alleges in the suit that, on June 1 last year, Caner Hunter, operator of the C. and H. Coal Company, brought trucks and other vehicles onto this Little Mud property in his absence, damaging the property in the amount of $50,000. A mine opened up the following month has subjected him ever since to a barrage of dust, coal dust, soot and debris, and trucks serving the mine ply up and down the highway from early morning until late at night, the homeowner alleges in his suit, which was filed on his behalf by Prestonsburg attorney Marshall Davidson.

Plaintiff seeks $150,000 in damages and an injunction to halt the alleged nuisance.

(Suits filed in court give only one side of the issues in dispute).

"Evil deeds do not prosper; the slow man catches up with the swift." Homer

Abraham Lincoln and Paul Revere were distantly related.

I want to extend my thanks to all of you for your overwhelming support in my race for Mayor. I am deeply touched by this evidence of your belief in the programs and goals I outlined for our city. I pledge to do my very best to see that these are carried out and that Prestonsburg will really move forward during the next 4 years. It was a pleasure to be a participant in what the news media referred to as "the friendliest campaign in the mountains" and I thank Harry Short and his family for helping to make it so. Coal Co. Sponsors Bass Tourney

Martin Co. Coal Corp. sponsored a bass tournament for employees, Nov. 2 at Cave Run Lake. The field consisted of 27 boats and 53 fishermen. With temperatures in the 60's and rain all day, the fishing was very slow. However, some of the boats brought in fish.

Barry Bowling, of Eastern, teamed with Gordon Goble, of Inez, took 1st place trophies and money. Dean Salyer, of Johnson Co., came in second. Trophy for largest bass also went to Barry Bowling, with a catch of a 17" largemouth. Pictured are Bowling and Goble receiving their trophies from Jess Perry.

Plants—Lethal Weapons

By JEANNETTE M. GAYHEART
Did you know that you may have a potentially lethal weapon in your home or backyard?

Plants, with their lustrous leaves, pastel colors, and bright colored berries, have become Kentucky's third leading cause of accidental poisonings. Is it any wonder tiny mouths are tempted to taste this beautiful product of nature? The Kentucky Regional Poison Control Center of Kosair-Children's Hospital states that there were 1,959 cases related to plants reported to their center for the 1984 annual year.

The Poison Control Center has placed plants into two different categories—non-toxic and toxic, some of which may possess irritant qualities; however, any plant has a potential choking hazard. Lists may be obtained from the Kentucky Regional Poison Control Center.

Our adult world is so accustomed to the plant kingdom that some do not recognize the potential danger for a child under five years. Because of their tiny body size, children can become ill after ingesting only slight amounts of a plant which might not affect an adult. Also, these little people do not have a highly developed sense of taste, so they are not able to recognize a bad tasting plant and spit it out.

A child is at risk during every season of the year, with outdoor plants in the spring, mushrooms (or toadstools) in the summer, berries and flower bulbs in the fall, and indoor plants in the winter.

If you are a parent, grandparent, aunt, uncle, neighbor, close friend, or baby-sitter cardinal rules to follow are:

(1) Keep all plants out of reach of children. Hanging pots are popular. Be careful of low overhang.

(2) Store all flower bulbs or unplanted seeds away from children. If storing bulbs in a refrigerator, leave packaging labels on the bulbs to prevent confusion with onions.

(3) Teach children to ask an adult before putting anything into their mouths.

(4) Have some knowledgeable person identify the plant and then label it. (Pop-sicle sticks or wax pencils are tools to mark plants). Common names are often inaccurate because some plants have several common names.

Should an accidental ingestion occur: Remain calm; for a swallowed poison (if conscious, alert, and able to swallow) give water only; do not induce vomiting unless directed to do so by your physician or Poison Control Center; have Syrup of Ipecac (which induces vomiting) on hand; telephone your physician or Kentucky Poison Control Center.

Have the following information ready! Your name and telephone number, age of victim, and amount, name of product involved, time poisoning occurred.

Further instructions may be given by your physician or Poison Control Center.

Keep your physician's number within easy access. The toll free number for the Kentucky Regional Poison Control Center is 1-800-722-5725.

*Remember children act fast and so do poisons.

It is said to be lucky to imbed a coin or other object in the cornerstone of a new house. The tradition stems from the days when it was believed that the god of the earth had to be compensated for the use of his land.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Under the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (Public Law 88-578), citizens are afforded the opportunity to express their views concerning the recreational needs of their community. The specific purpose of this meeting is to discuss Grant-Mini Park.

Floyd County Public Schools UNIFORM CODE OF STUDENT CONDUCT

(Fourteenth in a Series)

X. ABSENCES AND WITHDRAWAL

The Floyd County Public Schools expects all students in grades K-12 to be in attendance regularly. Students who are absent from school are required to submit to the principal a written excuse upon their return to school. Legitimate excuses for absences from school or class for which assignments are permitted to be made up are as follows:

1. Personal illness verified by a written statement by parents or doctor.
2. Death or severe illness in the immediate family verified by a written statement by parents. Immediate family shall mean: mother, father, brother, sister, grandparents, aunts, uncles, nieces, nephews, first cousins, or anyone living under the same household roof with the student.
3. Order of the courts. This applies to summons and subpoenas.
4. School activities or circumstances with prior approval by the principal.
5. Religious holidays with prior approval by the principal.
6. Medical or dental appointments with written verification by doctor.

WRITTEN EXCUSES

All students are required to bring written and dated excuses for their absences or otherwise satisfy the principal as to the validity of the excuse.

UNEXCUSED ABSENCES

All other absences and/or tardies from school or class are unexcused and the class assignments can not be made up except under special circumstances. In such cases the principal must give permission before assignments can be made up.

A pupil will not be permitted to remain enrolled in school and/or class after twenty (20) unexcused absences from school. Withdrawal action from school or class will begin only after the school has taken documented steps to remedy the problem. If a student is to be considered for withdrawal from school and/or class, the following steps shall be taken:

1. After a total of ten (10) days of unexcused absences, or ten (10) unexcused absences from a class, a parent/student conference shall be held. The purpose of the conference will be to identify, if possible, the causes for the student's repeated absences from school and to consider remedies.
2. After a total of fifteen (15) days of unexcused absences from school, or fifteen (15) unexcused absences from a class, a formal in-school hearing will be held.
 - a. The hearing will include the student, the District Director of Pupil Personnel, parent/guardian, counselor and school principal, as well as any other person requested by them.
 - b. The purpose of the hearing will be to review the steps which have been taken to remedy the problems and to serve notice that withdrawal from school or class may be taken after five (5) more days of unexcused absences.
3. After a total of twenty (20) days of unexcused absences in one year, a student may be withdrawn from school.
4. After a total of twenty (20) unexcused absences from a class, a student may be withdrawn from that class and enrolled in a supervised study hall.

SIDE EFFECT ALERT

Side effects very often are confused with symptoms of another illness. One just cannot imagine those symptoms bearing any relationship to the medicine being taken. A drug to treat nausea, for instance, would seem unlikely to be responsible for back pain. It may well be, however. The same holds true for other discomforts such as eye or mouth pains. Such pains frequently send people to dentists and ophthalmologists for new medications when the problems are, in reality, the side effects of their present prescriptions. A doctor should always be consulted if any condition is bothersome or causes consternation. Better still, ask the doctor or pharmacist if any side effects can be expected before taking a medication.

If you are not yet familiar with COOLEY APOTHECARY please accept today's column as your personal invitation to come in and to get acquainted. We offer our customers complete patient profiles so we can check for side effects, drug interactions and for possible allergic reactions. These records will also be of great help to you for insurance purposes and at income tax time. We are located at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

Ninth Smokeout Set...

Smokers Encouraged To Quit Nicotine Habit For 24 Hours

The 1985 Great American Smokeout will be held Thursday, November 21. It will be the ninth straight year that the American Cancer Society has sponsored the Smokeout—a day when the nation's 54 million smokers are encouraged to kick the habit for 24 hours, just to prove to themselves that quitting completely is possible.

A special program, "Adopt-A-Smoker" has become a popular feature of the Smokeout. "Nonsmokers can be a part of the Smokeout by 'adopting' smokers they'd like to have quit for the day," Floyd County Unit President Robert Herrick, DMD, said. "Adopters can offer 'survival kits,' snacks, and encouragement throughout the day. The support really helps. Another thing that can be done—by adopters or others, such as employers—is hide ash trays for the day. Anything that reminds smokers of cigarettes should be taboo on this day."

Although the Great American Smokeout may seem like something done in fun, it has a very serious purpose. More than 340,000 Americans die each year of diseases linked to smoking. That translates into one of every seven deaths in this country.

Cigarette smoking is responsible for 83 percent of all lung cancer deaths in the nation, and, in 1985, lung cancer is expected to surpass breast cancer as the leading cancer killer of women. This statistic is attributed directly to the large increase in smoking among women since World War II. Cigarette smoking is a significant factor in other cancers as well; cancer of the mouth, esophagus, larynx, pharynx, bladder and pancreas. It has also been linked to some cases of cervical cancer.

Last year, a record number of smokers—a Gallup survey estimates 20.4 million—participated in the Smokeout. Of the participants, the same survey indicates 5.4 million smokers—one of 10 American smokers—succeeded in quitting for the day. About 3.1 million of these were still not smoking five days later.

"These are impressive statistics," said Smokeout Chairman Larry Hagman, star of the television series "Dallas." "They represent a glowing number of Americans who have a strong desire to stop smoking."

IN MEMORIAM

Ethel Mae Jarrell Collins

Born Sept. 19, 1915
Died Nov. 9, 1984

We didn't have much, in days of old, Not much to keep us from the cold. An abundance of food was never there, But, what little we had, we were taught to share. No fancy clothes or shoes we had, Mommy kept us together, in those times so bad. We always wanted a little more Mom gave us her love, we weren't so poor. Yes, we saw it rough from time to time, The good old days are left behind. We never knew how rich we were Til mother left us here on earth. Our mother died a year ago, And now she walks the streets of gold. I hope one day, we can all unite, And be with mom in Heaven's light. We love you mommy, YOUR FAMILY 11.

In Memory

of Jack Nelson on his 65 birthday Nov. 11 1985.

He has left us now but he still lives on In the glorious light of another dawn.

Beyond earth's storms and mists and rain, Beyond all sorrow, fear or pain,

Safely at home Beyond life's quest, Living and moving among the blest.

Be comforted, then, with this though each day He is not dead, He is just away.

Missed by your daughter, CAROLE NELSON COLLINS 11.

Former Floyd Man, Lexington Realtor Succumbs Nov. 6th

Charles Moore, whose business career began with a small store on Left Beaver Creek and ranged through some 40 years as one of the leading real estate developers in the Bluegrass section of the state, died last Wednesday at Central Baptist Hospital, Lexington, of a heart attack. He was 80 years old.

A resident of Nicholasville at the time of his passing, Moore moved from this county to Lexington in the 1940s and built homes, apartment complexes and business structures in many of Lexington's subdivisions, was involved in developing several shopping centers there and also was instrumental in the building of homes in Nicholasville.

He was a partner in Moore & Moore Realty in Lexington from about 1952 to 1975, operating the business with his brother, the late Joseph Moore.

But Charles Moore's friends knew him as a person who was interested in more than just buying and selling land and building. Moore helped many people in Central and Eastern Kentucky, they said.

Among the things he did was to help a number of promising Eastern Kentucky youths through college and contribute to many charitable causes.

"He wasn't one that would brag about what he had done. He did it out of the goodness of his heart and not to make any brags about it," said Dr. R.M. Sirkle, Lexington physician, whose friendship with Moore began while both were living in this county.

A native of Robinson Creek, Pike county, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Moore. He began his career in the grocery and general merchandise business in this county. He owned the Central Wholesale Grocery here at one time and at one time owned the old Beaver Valley Hospital at Martin.

Moore built many houses in Garden-side, Gainesway, Holiday Hills, Garden Springs, Westmoreland and Brookhaven subdivisions in Lexington, and was co-developer of the Zandale subdivision. He also helped develop part of Southland Shopping Center in Lexington and still owned property there at the time of his death. He bought and sold a number of Fayette county farms and had owned several apartment buildings in Lexington.

Moore at one time was chairman of the Democratic party in Jessamine county. He was a member of First United Methodist Church in Lexington, Robert M. Sirkle Lodge No. 954 F. & A.M. in Lexington and Wheelwright Lodge No. 889 F. & A.M. He also was a member of Lexington Consistory and El Hasa Shrine in Ashland.

Surviving are his wife, Anna Frasure Moore; a son, Charles H. Moore, of Lexington; a sister, Mrs. Spicy Newsum, of Gallipolis, O., and two grandchildren.

Services were at 1:30 p.m. Friday at W.R. Milward Mortuary—Southland in Lexington.

IN MEMORY OF PAUL DAVID CONN

Who Passed Away November 4, 1984

A million times we've needed you, a million times we've cried. If love alone could have saved you you never would have died.

If all the world was ours to give we would give it, yes and more To see you coming up the driveway and walking through the door.

To hear your voice, to see your smile,

To sit and talk with you a while, To be with you the same old way would be our fondest day.

A heart of gold stopped beating, two smiling eyes closed to rest; God broke our hearts to prove to us He only takes the best.

TWICE IN A LIFETIME (R-Yorkin Co.) Starring Gene Hackman, Ellen Burstyn, Ann-Margret ★ ★ ★ 1/2 ★

By J.T. YURKO

Collin Welland's last screenplay was for the Academy Award-winning "Chariots of Fire." Now, with producer/director Bud Yorkin, Welland takes an insightful look at a marriage gone stale and a family in turmoil.

"Twice in a Lifetime" is not nearly as spectacular as "Chariots of Fire" in visual scope, but it is equally keen in observing people at pivotal points in their lives. And its subject is something with which almost every adult can identify. Few of us will ever get to the Olympics, but according to the latest statistics half of our marriages will end in divorce.

Gene Hackman's marriage is headed in that direction, but even he doesn't realize it until his 50th birthday party, when he leaves his wife (Ellen Burstyn) at home after the family celebration (as has apparently become his custom) and heads for the local bar, where a party is being thrown by friends and co-workers. There he meets a widowed barmaid (Ann-Margret). His affair with her marks the end of his marriage, but it isn't really the cause of the mar-riage's failure. His 30-year relationship with his wife has dwindled down to little more than friendly pats on the shoulder and kisses on the forehead.

Hackman must now deal with the effects of his actions on his life and on his family. The extremes of responses are taken by his children. The son almost applauds the father's actions and declares that the marriage was dead years ago, while the eldest daughter (Amy Madigan) rages at the father's rejection of her mother and acts as her unspeaking mother's voice of anger and frustration. The youngest daughter (Ally Sheedy) is the synthesis of the two. The impact of what has happened forces her to take a closer look at her own upcoming marriage.

Bud Yorkin is perhaps best known for his work with Norman Lear on television shows like "All in the Family" and "The Jeffersons." This film, however, is unquestionably his finest big-screen moment. He is smart enough to let the actors run with a winning script.

Cats Down Hazard in Playoffs; To Meet Corbin Friday Evening

STEPP'IN HIGH, on his way to a 22 yard pick-up, is senior fullback Ronnie Slone, No. 27. Slone and his other backfield cohorts ran for 212 yards against Hazard on Friday night.

"I felt like we disappointed our fans last year when we didn't come away with a victory over Hazard. It was my fault for not getting the kids ready last year, but tonight we came prepared," commented Prestonsburg Blackcat Coach "Chuke" Williams after his red-hot 'Cats avenged last season's loss to the Hazard Bulldogs on Friday night in the Class AA, District 2 championship game at Hazard.

To say the 'Cats were merely prepared for the game was an understatement, as they unleashed an offense that racked up 413 yards on their way to the 47-8 victory.

Defensively the 'Cats were equally as sharp, holding the opposition to only 51 yards on the ground, and 79 yards passing, while grabbing four interceptions.

It was a very cold and wet evening and the field was very sloppy due to the recent rain, causing most of the Blackcat coaches to be concerned about their running game. But their concerns were all for naught as the Cats' runners picked their way through the Bulldog defense with ease.

The 'Cats took the first half kick-off, at their own 35-yard line, hoping to reestablish their string of first-possession touchdowns, which they had maintained for nine consecutive games before being halted in last week's game against the Morgan County Cougars.

After two running plays that accumulated only 3 yards, senior play-caller John Goble found his tight-end, Stacy Marshall, 42 yards downfield placing the Blackcats deep in Hazard territory.

Prestonsburg put their first points on the scoreboard with 9:26 left to play in the first quarter as B.D. Nunnery took a pitch from Goble at the nine yard line, sprinted around left end, found some blockers and dived into the end-zone. Brent Hackworth's extra-point kick was short, leaving the 'Cats with a 6-0 advantage.

The 'Cats scored their second touchdown early in the second quarter when Goble, on a quarterback sneak from the one yard line, capped a 30-yard, four-play drive. Ronnie Slone failed to convert the conversion attempt as he tried the right side.

Slone was able to redeem himself, however, during the Cats' next offensive series, as his 22-yard run up the middle of the Bulldog defense highlighted an 80-yard, six-play scoring drive. Slone ended this offensive series with a two-yard run off-right tackle into the Bulldog end zone, carrying two Hazard defenders with him. The two-point conversion try failed and the Cats went into the intermission with an 18-0 lead.

A key defensive play came with four seconds remaining in the first half as the Bulldogs were making one last attempt to put some points on the scoreboard. Bulldog quarterback Wallace heaved a 47-yard pass into the endzone which was momentarily caught by his receiver. But B.D. Nunnery stripped the ball out of the hands of the Bulldog receiver as the buzzer sounded, ending the half.

In the second half the Blackcats shifted their offense into high gear, scoring three more touchdowns to cap well-executed offensive plays.

At the 9:51 mark of the third quarter, John Goble scored his second touchdown of the evening, concluding a 27-yard, two-play drive with an 18-yard run. Hackworth followed with a successful two-point conversion run.

Goble called his own number again when he dived in from two yards out with 5:07 remaining in the third quarter to put the finishing touches on a 29-yard, three-play series, giving the 'Cats a 33-0 lead after a Hackworth's extra point kick.

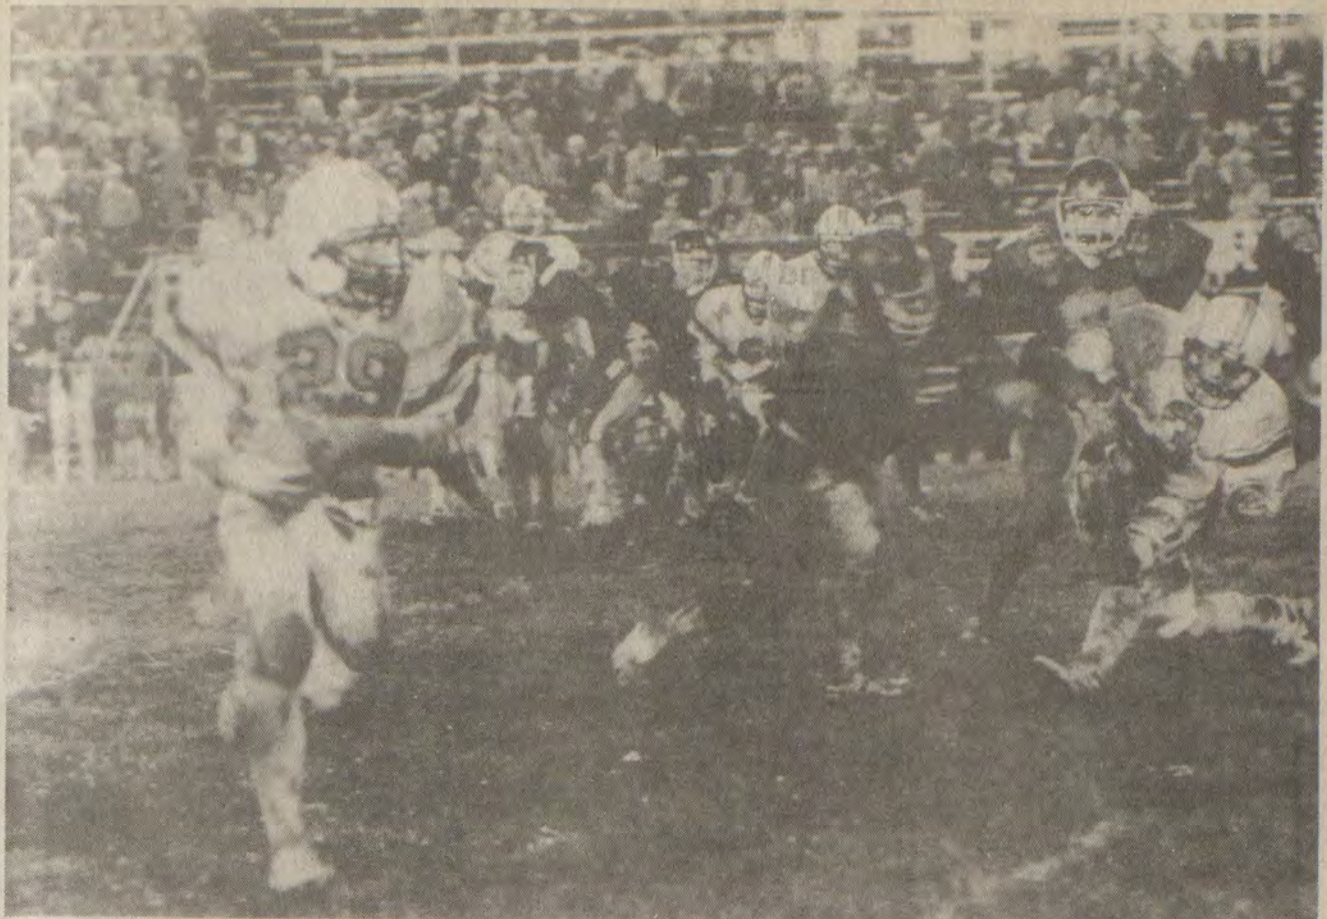

Pete Greene was on the receiving end of a Goble touchdown pass with 9:26 left to play in the game, pulling down a nine-yard pass streaking across the heart of the Bulldog secondary.

Hazard's only touchdown came against the Blackcats' second string defensive unit. With 4:46 left in the game, Bulldog tailback Greg Turner dashed into the end zone. A successful two-point conversion followed, leaving the score 40-8.

As at the end of the first half, an outstanding defensive play stalled a Bulldog scoring drive. With only 2:23 remaining, and the Bulldogs on the Blackcat 35-yard line, senior linebacker Keith Slone, picked-off a Bulldog pass and returned it 65 yards for the Blackcats' final touchdown. Brent Hackworth's extra point kick was successful, making the final score 47-8.

The next foot standing in the way of the Blackcats as they pursue the state Class AA title will be the undefeated Corbin Redhounds, who have been ranked No. 1 in Class AA polls throughout the season.

The Corbin squad is felt by many to be possibly the best football team in the state this year. "They look like a small college team," said Coach Williams after viewing the Redhounds on a film Monday, "but with the way our kids have been playing, they can beat Corbin. We will have to play our best game, but we can do it," commented the optimistic coach.

A BLACKCAT ON THE LOOSE, is Wendell Burke, No. 29, seen here in Friday night's playoff action against the Hazard Bulldogs. Throwing a key block for his teammate is Shag Branham, No. 3. The 'Cats will try to keep their playoff drive alive against the Corbin Redhounds on Friday.

The Cats will meet Corbin there Friday night.

Most sports fans know the length of a football field (120 yards including end zones) but few know its width...which is 53 and one third yards.

The Marching Blackcats wish the best of luck to

CITIZENS OF WHEELWRIGHT

I went around and talked with many of our good people. I wish to say thanks to those who know what and who Bill Meade is. I fought a clean fight and put no one down. I only ask one favor: please don't apologize to me—I have nothing to hide. I hope you will pray for the ones elected and try to work with them. As your neighbor, please let me get over the trash, lies, eggs and the mud.

Remember Bill Meade by this statement: It may not be the trash that is inside the bag but it may be the person carrying the bag.

*For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world and lose his soul?

May God Help Us
BILLY MEADE

Veterans Questions And Answers

Q—I requested and received a refund of the contributions I made to the education program while I was in the service. Now that I am out of the service I have changed my mind and want to go to college. Can I pay back the money I withdrew?

A—No. Once your contributions are withdrawn after your release from the service, you cannot reestablish your eligibility.

Q—I am a member of the selected reserve with eligibility for VA education benefits under the new Chapter 106 for reservists and the noncontributory GI Bill. Can I receive benefits under both laws while pursuing a bachelor's degree?

A—No. A reservist may not receive benefits concurrently under Chapter 106 and other VA education programs for the pursuit of the same program of education.

Q—I contributed to the Veterans Education Assistance Program (VEAP) under Chapter 32 but eventually suspended my contributions. This program was suspended for new enrollments on July 1, 1985. I am still on active duty, can I resume my contributions?

A—Yes. Those who have received refunds of prior Chapter 32 contributions or who have suspended their contributions may reopen their accounts or resume contributions, while on active duty.

Q—I was injured during World War II, but I never applied for any VA benefits. Is it too late to apply now?

A—No. There is no time limit for filing a claim for VA compensation. If entitlement is established, you would be paid from the first day of the month following the date we received your application. In order to establish entitlement we will need proof that the disability was in fact incurred in or aggravated by your military service.

Q—Why are "pints" charged on VA loans?

A—Generally lenders require discount points (a percentage of the loan) when they consider the maximum VA interest rate to be too low to produce the yield or income that other investments would provide. The amount of discount to be paid is a matter of negotiation between the seller and the lender. The VA has no direct control over the charging of points.

Q—My husband died from a service-connected disability and I have not remarried. Is it possible for me to obtain a VA guaranty on a home loan?

A—You would qualify for a Certificate of Eligibility to obtain a VA guaranty on a home loan. Eligibility for the actual loan would be determined by the lender.

AL-ANON IS IT FOR YOU?

Millions of people are affected by the excessive drinking of someone close. The following twenty questions are designed to help you decide whether or not you need Al-Anon:

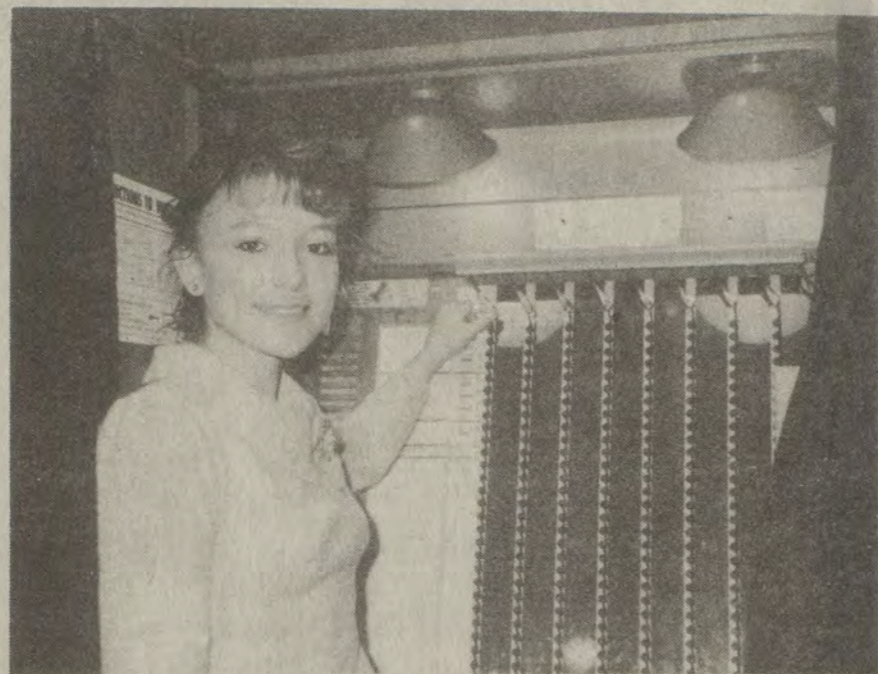

1. Do you worry about how much someone else drinks?
2. Do you have money problems because of someone else's drinking?
3. Do you tell lies to cover up for someone else's drinking?
4. Do you feel that if the drinker loved you, he or she would stop drinking to please you?
5. Do you think that the drinker's behavior is caused by his or her companions?
6. Are routines frequently upset or meals delayed because of the drinker?
7. Do you make threats, such as, "If you don't stop drinking, I'll leave you"?
8. When you kiss the drinker hello, do you secretly try to smell his or her breath?
9. Are you afraid to upset someone for fear it will set off a drinking bout?
10. Have you been hurt or embarrassed by a drinker's behavior?
11. Does it seem as if every holiday is spoiled because of drinking?
12. Have you considered calling the police for help in fear of abuse?
13. Do you find yourself searching for hidden liquor?
14. Do you often ride in a car with a driver who has been drinking?
15. Have you refused social invitations out of fear or anxiety?
16. Do you sometimes feel like a failure when you think of the lengths you have gone to control the drinker?
17. Do you think that if the drinker stopped drinking, your other problems would be solved?
18. Do you ever threaten to hurt yourself to scare the drinker?
19. Do you feel angry, confused and depressed most of the time?
20. Do you feel there is no one who understands your problems?

If you have answered yes to three or more of these questions, Al-Anon or Alateen may help. You can contact Al-Anon or Alateen by calling 886-2893.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS
 Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

- (1) Paresthesias (see above) (2) Headaches (3) Painful joints (4) Numbness in the arms or hands (5) Loss of sleep (6) Stiffness in the neck (7) Pain between the shoulders (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

State Road Needs

By GREGORY D. STUMBO
House of Majority Floor Leader

As I predicted earlier in the year, the issue of state highway repair has not gone away. And it most definitely will be looked at during the upcoming session of the Legislature in January.

If you recall, during the July special session of the General Assembly I supported an increase of the already existing state gasoline tax. Going into this session, however, I believe state officials must look at a variety of options to fund for road repair.

Everyone seems to agree that Kentucky needs more money for the 25,000 miles of road system. Now through 1990 the Transportation Cabinet says the state needs to spend $165 million a year more than it is currently spending just to keep up with needed repairs.

Looking at the 5-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax increase, Legislative Research Commission staff says it could bring in an additional $100 million per year. After the original $47 million earmarked for the road fund is returned not much additional revenue is left for the state and local government to share.

However, the road fund would generously benefit if the coal severance revenue is returned to the Road Fund. Currently coal severance tax is collected into the General Fund. I have been informed that at the close of this biennium, the total amount of coal severance tax withheld by this administration and the previous administration will exceed $225 million. If these facts are accurate then nearly one-third of the Road Fund's minimal requirements could be met by returning the severance tax revenue to the Road Fund.

During the upcoming legislative session I will once again voice my concern for Kentucky's highways. We cannot allow the outstanding network of highways across the state fall into an irreparable condition. It will cause every motorist driving the highways to suffer economic loss through damage and maintenance costs to their automobiles.

Kentuckians need to consider our options and I must make a decision on how to vote in the 1986 session of the General Assembly. And every voter must decide and contact their state senator and representatives.

The longest road in the Western Hemisphere is the Pan-American Highway.

Dickens' "Bleak House" Begins Dec. 1, on KET

Diana Rigg portrays Lady Dedlock and Denholm Elliott costars as John Jarndyce in Charles Dickens' "Bleak House," the writer's slashing attack on decay and corruption in 19th century England's society and legal system. The eight-part BBC-Arts & Entertainment co-production, called an "incontestable masterpiece" with a "superb" cast by British critics, will be aired on "Masterpiece Theatre" on KET, beginning Sunday, December 1, at 10:00 p.m.

Dickens' story focuses on the case of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, in which scores of lawyers have spent generations contesting a will. The case has depleted the assets of many families and devastated innocent people on its tortuous way through the tangle of British law in the Court of Chancery, England's second highest court.

Besides depicting the insensitivity and greed of lawyers, Dickens also attacks the fashionable society of England's ruling classes. In essence, he accuses such people, who achieved power and prominence through inherited wealth, of looking down on the poor and working classes.

As Lady Dedlock, Diana Rigg is only marginally involved in the Jarndyce case. But she carries a tragic secret behind her cold, haughty demeanor. The "Bleak House" cast also includes Robin Bailey as Sir Leicester Dedlock; Peter Vaughn, T.P. McKenna, Sylvia Cole-ridge, and Charlie Drake. Suzanne Burden portrays Esther Summerson, governess in the Jarndyce home, and Philip Franks and Lucy Hornak play John Jarndyce's wards.

"Masterpiece Theatre" is presented by WGBH/Boston.

Corporate Farms Suffering, Too...

The Bad News Hit Everybody

By PHILLIP R. BREEZE (Kentucky Extension Service) If misery loves company, the best financial news many farmers may get for a while is that corporations involved in agriculture are suffering right along with the family farmer.

of farms in the U.S. owned by corporations increased from 2 percent of all farms to 2.7 percent of all farms. Of that increase only 1/10th of 1 percent was due to non-family corporations buying farms.

The returns are generally too low, averaging about 2 percent per year. Moore said the economic situation of the late 70s, in which inflation rates were higher than interest rates, may have induced some corporations to invest in farmland...

Governor Honors Doctors For Free Medical Care

Gov. Martha Layne Collins honored 20 Kentucky physicians Oct. 29, for their contributions of free medical care to eligible low-income individuals under the year-old Kentucky Physicians Care Program.

"Because of you, hundreds of our fellow Kentuckians are in better health today than they might otherwise have been," Collins said. "I have no doubt that there are some who might be alive except for your selfless efforts."

The physicians, along with representatives of the Kentucky Medical Association and the Kentucky Health Care Access Foundation, were recognized during a luncheon at the governor's mansion.

Those honored at the ceremonies were selected because they had provided treatment to the most patients under the KPC program. Collectively, the 20 doctors gave free medical care to more than 1,000 indigent patients.

The following physicians were recognized: Phil Aaron, Columbia; Bonafacio Aranas, Warfield; Bashir Ameji, Paintsville; John Asriel, Glasgow; Bernard J. Baute, Lebanon; Ray A. Cave, Leitchfield; Robert D. Eastridge, Lebanon; Salem M. George, Lebanon; Larry I. Hall, Mayfield; William W. Hall, Owensboro; Jerry W. Martin, Bowling Green; Ernest Musgrave, Paintsville; Glen R. Noss, Paducah; John Patton, Whitley City; Fred C. Rainey, Elizabethtown; Price Sewell, Jackson; Bruce Smith, Clinton; Robert R. Starr, Glasgow; Gregory D. Wells, Inez; and Raymond D. Wells, Inez.
