Attorneys Argue Bevins Sentence In Mass Slaying

Attorneys for mass slayer William "Okie" Bevins argued before the state Supreme Court last Thursday that he was not aware of the full implications when he pleaded guilty to the October, 1981 killing of five men at Allen.

The attorneys, who are employed by the state Public Defender's office, argued that Bevins' conviction and death sentence should be overturned. The Supreme Court hearing is perhaps the accused man's last chance to leave Death Row in Eddyville prison.

Bevins, who now is 75 years old, was charged with the killings after he walked into the Mountain Auto Parts store, outside New Allen, and without warning began firing. One of the five slain was Roger Click, husband of Katie Sue Click, with whom Bevins had been sexually involved for several years.

Bevins' trial was held in the Greenup Circuit Court after defense counsel Lester Burns had offered testimony that the defendant could not get a fair trial in this county. There the trial of the case came to a sudden end when Bevins pleaded guilty.

Garrett School Draws Support At Board Meet

No one denied there is an urgent need to replace Garrett's crowded, flood-ravaged school. But the loyalities of a highly partisan Board of Education were put to an impossible test Wednesday when a delegation from that section asked that the Garrett project be moved higher on the school district's official list of construction priorities.

The likelihood that around $9 million is likely to be appropriated by the legislature for Floyd school construction this year—enough to finance two or three building projects—has focused attention on the projects at the top of the state-approved construction schedule. Heading the list is a new middle school for the Prestonsburg area; second in line is a new grade school at Allen; third is a single new high school to replace those at Wheelwright and McDowell.

Construction of a grade school to replace those at Garrett and Wayland is currently ninth in line. But flood damage revealed in August forced the closing of some Garrett classrooms and, say Garrett parents, makes it imperative that their school project be moved high enough to benefit from this year's anticipated state funding.

"We are teaching class in the lunchroom. We have two classes being taught in the gym at the same time," said Garrett Principal Ralph O'Quinn in an emotional pitch to the board. "There is no more dire need in the county than there is in Garrett tonight."

Left Beaver representative Dr. Mary Hall drew applause for her recommendation that Garrett be moved to the top of the list; but that turned out to be conditional on the Wheelwright-McDowell project's not being bumped from its No. 3 spot. Dr. J.D. Adams made it clear he would not relinquish his project's No. 1 spot, which promises to fulfill a longtime pledge to his constituents to get students out of the basement at Prestonsburg Elementary School. Ray "Shag" Campbell was equally adamant that he would fight to keep the Allen school project in its No. 2 position.

In any event, said Campbell, the board

Murder Charge Cut to Assault, Hall Gets Term

An Arkansas man charged with murder in the July, 1984 stabbing of his niece's husband pleaded guilty in Floyd Circuit Court this week to a charge of second-degree assault and received a seven-year prison sentence.

Gary Hall, 30, stabbed Dennis Wayne Conn, 23, during a fight at Hall's home on July 18, 1984. Conn died at the University of Kentucky Medical Center over two months later, after being hospitalized earlier at Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin and Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

One reason the Commonwealth agreed to accept Hall's pleading to a lesser charge, said attorneys familiar with the case, was that a doubt exists about whether Conn died as a result of the stabbing. One medical report listed a painkilling drug, Talwin, as a factor in his death and the victim's family has filed a malpractice suit, naming a Pikeville physician and Pikeville Methodist Hospital as defendants, in connection with his death, the attorneys said.

While Circuit Judge Hollie Conley did not pass sentence in the case until Monday, Hall, who had been free on bond, turned himself in to the county jail to begin serving his sentence last Friday.

In another plea bargain this week, Woody Paul Shepherd, 19, of Martin, who was indicted on two counts of assault and one of wanton endangerment, pleaded guilty to a single assault count and received a one-year jail sentence.

This Town...That World

One thing Halley's Comet will do that should be helpful. It will get some of us looking upward, for a change.

HALLEY'S MODEL '86

Our They-Don't-Make-'Em-Like-They-Used-To department reminds us that this year's comet is a pale version of what we saw, back there 76 years ago. Then you saw it, complete with "tail," like a broom sweeping a part of the sky. Now—I'm told, I haven't gone to the trouble to look—you need a telescope to see it, and there's no tail visible.

But don't be discouraged. See it, by all means. Who knows?—Maybe 76 years from now you'll want to boast, too, about seeing it for the second time.

THE GREATEST BIRD

While others around the county tell me of the large number of redbirds seen around their homes I look and listen in vain. A profusion of sparrows, a flicker or so, a few purple finches, and an occasional chickadee comprise our flock. But not a cardinal, not even a blue jay, and that just about takes all the color out of the show.

One thing I miss, in particular, and that is the notes of the cardinal, full of the joy of living, whistling away in his best weather-defiant style on a snowy morning.

On at least two counts Kentucky stands in the forefront of all the states: it has in "My Old Kentucky Home" the greatest state song, and in the Kentucky Cardinal the grandest state bird of them all.

Floyd School System Ends Year In 'Black,' Acting Supt. Lauded

The Floyd school system finished the 1984-'85 year with somewhat more money than it started with; centralization has resulted in "greatly increased control" over once-troubled lunchroom funds; and school activities accounts, which have also attracted the attention of state investigators in the recent past, are in order in all but two instances, an auditor reported to members of the Board of Education last Wednesday.

One of the exceptions came to light last May when the auditor reported that collections amounting to $17,322 were never recorded in the ledger at Wheelwright High School. Former Principal Ervin B. Pack has been held responsible for most of the missing money. Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen said this week that an inquiry into the matter is still in the hands of the special investigations unit of the Kentucky state police.

The general fund finished the year with a surplus of $196,610, about $41,000 over last year's end-of-year balance, said Don Wallen, of Linton and Company, a Pikeville accounting firm. Wallen characterized the surplus as "a good accomplishment" and praised Ray Brackett, board treasurer and acting superintendent, for his diligence in investing school funds at favorable interest rates. Interest earned on certificates of deposit amounted to $79,000 in 1984-'85, he said.

A more secure bus garage and "a closer eye to transportation problems" resulted in a six percent decrease in pupil transportation costs, which accounted for $1.1 million of the school district's $17.8 million budget. Upkeep of the district's aging buildings is becoming an increasingly costly project, however, maintenance costs rising by four percent in 1984-'85 to $539,559. Instructional costs—at $9.5 million, the biggest single item in the budget—are up six percent and reflect a commitment of the board to boost teachers' salaries, Wallen said.

A May 1 report on an examination of Wheelwright High School records said that money collected by Coach Danny Johnson in the amount of $6540 was not recorded in the ledger. The money represented soft drink sales ($2892), softball league entry fees ($720), and basketball league entry fees and admission fees ($2928). The auditor held Johnson responsible for the apparent shortage of funds but the Board of Education later cleared the coach of any criminal wrongdoing in the matter.

The auditor reported bookkeeper Debbie Hall and former Principal Pack as responsible for an apparent shortage of $10,782 but the board later exonerated Mrs. Hall of any blame for the missing funds. Pack at first offered to make good the missing money but, when he was not rehired by the board for the current school year, reneged on his promise, said Acting Superintendent Brackett this week.

Collections for which teachers and students kept receipts but which were never recorded in the school ledger included: $5164 raised by the senior class, $1622 raised by the junior class, $510 in deposits on annuals, $12 in rent paid on books, $252 in athletic receipts, $207 in computer science fees, $301 in bookstore funds and $405 in journalism funds.

School funds amounting to $787 were used to pay for senior pictures in January but there is no record of money collected for the pictures ever being paid into the school activity account.

An estimated $1519 was collected in envelopes from students for school photos and was turned into the principal for mailing to the studio; the studio never received the package of envelopes, the auditor reported.

"A major portion of the records (at Wheelwright High) were stolen or destroyed," noted the auditor, who added, "More control should be maintained over these records."

The only other Floyd school to show an activity fund deficit was Allen Elementary, which ended $2464 in the red.

In other business, the Board of Education acceded to a request by Sheriff Henry Hale that his commission on the collection of school taxes be raised from 3.25 percent to 4 percent. The increase would yield an additional $3500 or $4000 for the sheriff, whose commissions last year amounted to about $28,000, Brackett explained. The sheriff noted that the shifting of responsibility for col-

Twin Bridges at Martin, Span At Midas Slated for '88 Work

Gov. Martha Layne Collins announced last Friday that the state has authorized funds for three bridge replacement projects in Floyd county.

The funding authorization will enable the Transportation Cabinet to begin design of the three projects, the governor said.

The projects involve the replacement of three bridges over Beaver Creek, one at the Right Fork of Beaver Creek on KY 550, located 0.5 mile south of KY 850 at Midas. The state has authorized $85,000 for design of this project, which is estimated to cost a total of $753,000.

The other two projects will replace bridges on KY 1428, the Martin-Allen road, one located .3 mile north of KY 122 at Martin, and another located .2 mile north of KY 122 at Martin. The state has authorized a total of $195,000 for design of these two projects. The project located 0.3 mile north of KY 122 is estimated to cost a total of $955,000, and the other is expected to cost a total of $903,000.

(The three projects are known locally as the Martin twin bridges and the Midas bridge.)

Funds from the federal Bridge Replacement Program are being used to finance the projects. Construction is scheduled for fiscal year 1988. The projects are part of the state's six-year construction plan for Floyd county.

Garrett Meet Gives Grigsby Backing for Return to Office

E.P. "Pete" Grigsby, Jr., received a strong vote of confidence from a group of Garrett residents Sunday, in his attempt to regain his former job as superintendent of Floyd county schools.

At a public meeting at the elementary school there, about half of the 38 people present voted to support Grigsby. When "no" votes were asked, no one responded and it was declared a unanimous vote in Grigsby's favor.

Meetings designed to acquaint members of the school's parents' committee with the wants of community members are held every month. This one served as a forum for the people to rally behind Grigsby, whom Garrett Principal Ralph O'Quinn called "our last salvation."

O'Quinn and the others were responding to Grigsby's assertion that, were he superintendent, he would move Garrett to the top of the list of county school projects to be funded by the approximately $9 million in state monies scheduled to be awarded here this year. At present, Garrett is ninth on the priorities list, while a new middle school at Prestonsburg is in first position, a new elementary school at Allen second and a new school to consolidate McDowell and Wheelwright High schools third. Only the top three projects are expected to be funded.

The Garrett residents were angered at the Jan. 8 board of education meeting, when acting Superintendent Ray Brackett refused to make a recommendation to the school board to move Garrett higher on the list. Brackett was quoted then as saying he felt such a move should be made by whomever is chosen as permanent superintendent, but that did not appease the people at Garrett, who felt they had been let down.

Grigsby, present at the Garrett meeting, said that, in moving Garrett up, he would bump the Prestonsburg middle school from the top three.

The former superintendent further said that his motivation in trying to regain his old job was to fight for more building funds and higher teachers' salaries here. He said he had a "groundswell of support" from people around the county.

Garrett's problems began in late August, when both of their main buildings developed major cracks and

Hamiltons File Federal Action

A case filed in federal court two years ago was dismissed without their knowledge or consent, the result of a conspiracy involving their lawyer, the defendants' lawyers, a well-known Teaberry coal-operator and his wife claim in another suit filed last week.

Sterling and Olga Hamilton allege in the suit filed Friday in U.S. District Court in Pikeville that their lawyer in the original suit, Cincinnati attorney Robert E. Owens, participated in a conspiracy with Floyd Master Commissioner Marshall Davidson, Prestonsburg attorney William G. Francis and Lexington attorney James Higgins, Jr., representing the Bank Josephine, and Francis' lawyer, Fred G. Francis, to deprive them of their rights under the law.

Council Talks Need To Annex New Area Here

In what was more of a chance to get settled into their new offices than to tackle issues, Prestonsburg's new mayor and city council met Monday in their first regularly scheduled meeting since being sworn in January 1.

Discussion, however, centered on issues which are sure to arise here in the future. Among them were an order for preliminary work to be done toward possible annexation of the area north of the city from the present city limits to the Auxier bridge; an upcoming meeting with Consolidated Communications regarding the TV cable franchise here, and a dispute between Curtis Hughes, president of the Eastern Kentucky Wildlife Federation, which oversees the animal shelter here, and members of the Dewey Dam Dog and Cat Protection Association, which questions operational procedures at the shelter.

The annexation of the area between here and the Auxier bridge was suggested by Mayor Ann Latta, who noted that such a move would be mutually beneficial to the city and residents of that section. She said utility rates would go down there, as would insurance with the added police and fire protection which would be provided.

By the same token, the city would benefit from the collection of city taxes there.

This becomes more attractive to Prestonsburg, as the city will be cut from $112,837 in federal revenue sharing monies in October. Taxes in the proposed annexation would help offset that loss.

But some new council members were unsure if the potential benefits would outweigh the costs. Councilwoman Margie Osborne in particular was concerned about the costs of such action.

City Administrator David Evans was directed to draft the proposal, which will be read at the next council meeting. If the proposal is passed by the council, it will be put on the November ballot for voters to decide.

Another sticky problem, how to deal with TV cable service here, may be heading for some sort of resolution soon.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Division of Water, hereby gives notice that the Francis Water Company exceeded the maximum contaminant level for coliform bacteria for the reporting period of August 1985.

The test results for coliform bacteria (normally found in the intestinal tract of humans and other warm-blooded animals) indicate that some contamination occurred. Coliform bacteria is not considered harmful, however, its presence is a reliable indicator that harmful bacteria may have been present in the water at that time.

The Francis Water Company was formally notified of this violation and the regulatory requirement to inform their consumers of this violation. As of December 16, 1985, the Division of Water has not received verification of the Public Notification. Therefore, the Division of Water is acting on behalf of the water supply in issuing this statement in accordance with the Kentucky Public and Semipublic Water Supplies Regulations (401 KAR 6:015)

Other violations accumulated since January 1985 are:

Pictured are PCC Donovan Scholar Ralph Wilhelm, of Prestonsburg, and his son-in-law, Lorenzo Hinchman, of Allen.

During the 1985 fall semester, Prestonsburg Community College had three students enrolled in the Herman L. Donovan Senior Citizens Fellowship Program.

Ruth Anne Blevins and Margaret Wells enrolled in Prof. Walter Frasure's sociology class, and Ralph Wilhelm in Prof. Robert McAninch's Introduction to Philosophy class.

Mr. Wilhelm is a third generation PCC student; his daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren have all attended PCC. Born in 1902 in Lewisburg, Ohio, he has been a farmer, railroader, machinist and a baker. His travels have taken him from Ohio to California and Florida before retiring to Prestonsburg. He is a busy, active 83-year-old who feels that retirement is the perfect time to get on with his education and explore his interest in biblical analysis, psychic phenomena and religion.

The Donovan Fellowship, founded at U.K., provides that any person 65 or older may enroll for regular classes at U.K. or Prestonsburg Community College, tuition free. Courses may be taken for credit or audit. Entrance requirements are waived for auditors.

To "Walk With A Child" Is Kiwanis Promise

Men from more than 8,200 Kiwanis clubs are pledging their personal involvement and financial support to help disadvantaged children. October 1, Kiwanis International's Major Emphasis Program "Walk with a Child" will be implemented worldwide.

"Locally, our goal is 100 percent membership commitment for personal involvement and financial support of community programs to aid materially-underprivileged children," states Edford Clark, president of the Kiwanis Club of Martin. Underprivileged children are those with social, emotional, financial, intellectual, physical, and other needs that keep them from enjoying a 'normal' childhood and have been a concern of Kiwanis clubs throughout the world for many years."

According to Kiwanis International President Donald E. Williams, the service organization targets the efforts of its 315,000 members with major emphasis programs. Children have been of primary concern for the past several years. School-age drug abuse, alcohol abuse, learning disabilities, mental disorders, and physical handicaps have received concentrated attention from the membership in recent years.

"Last year our clubs spent $40.7 million on community service projects," says Mr. Williams, International President. "But more importantly, we invested more than 22 million volunteer hours of personal involvement helping to meet the needs of our respective communities. These are business and professional men working together, giving their time, sharing their capabilities, accomplishing things in their communities that otherwise would not have been attempted."

"Drug abuse, child abuse, the evolution of the 'latch-key' kid, broken homes—all these things that are coming against our children—are causing severe 'growing pains'. Responsible adults have to do something. Somebody has to take some stands."

'Komfy Kids' Held Safe

Tests conducted by the Kentucky Department for Health Services show that "Komfy Kid" dolls pose no health risk to children. The state results corroborate those of the federal Consumer Product Safety Commission, which has done extensive testing of the dolls.

"Our tests showed trace amounts of petroleum distillates, such as kerosene and mineral spirits," according to Dr. E.P. Conyers of the Radiation and Product Safety Division. "These minute amounts may produce an offensive odor, but they are not harmful to children."

TAX REFORM UPDATE
With President Reagan and the Congress struggling to keep tax reform alive, taxpayers have the increasingly difficult task of trying to make financial decisions without knowing what the rules are going to be.

- The latest plan is the tax bill recently passed by the House. Some of the main provisions of the bill include:
  - Changing individual tax rates from the current 14 rates running from 11% to 50% to four rates, 15%, 25%, 35%, and 38%.
  - Increasing the current personal exemption of $1,080 to $1,500 for itemizers and $2,000 for non-itemizers.
  - Retaining the current deductibility of state and local taxes.
  - Excluding 42% of capital gains and taxing the remaining portion at a top rate of 22%. Currently 60% of gains are excluded; top rate is 20%.
  - Decreasing corporate tax rates from the current 46% top rate to 36%.
  - Repealing the current investment tax credit and spreading depreciation deductions over a longer period, but indexing the depreciation system for inflation.
  - Repealing income averaging and the married couple, two-earner deduction.
  - Levying a 25% individual and corporate minimum tax.
- Most of the provisions would take effect January 1, 1986, except for the tax rate cuts which would be put off until July 1, 1986.
- The Senate is expected to make significant changes in the House bill to bring it more in line with Reagan's initial tax proposal. What the final bill will include—or whether there will actually be a tax overhaul bill in 1986—remains very unclear. We can only repeat what we've been saying all along: where major financial decisions are concerned, stay in touch with your tax advisor.

The Unthank Statement

Apparently trying to justify his recommendation of parole for a Floyd county man convicted of a federal violation in an alleged conspiracy against a rival coal company, U.S. District Judge Wix Unthank last week wound up pretty much in the fix of the fellow who scratched behind his ear and came up with a brainstorm.

He contrived to insult all Eastern Kentucky by saying, or implying, that this part of the state is so "different" from all other areas of the nation that the law enacted by the national Congress and signed by the President of every part of the country should not fully apply here.

This is not to argue whether Edgar Jones should, or should not, be paroled. Rather, it is our response to a statement that, we think, unjustly maligns an entire region and many thousands of good people.

The judge's statement defies rational analysis. How "different" is Eastern Kentucky? Is it so lawless that the law should not be enforced? Or does the statement mean that lawlessness is so generally accepted here that Eastern Kentuckians want and deserve no protection through the orderly processes of government?

Or does the jurist's statement imply that the convicted man was "conditioned" to crime by his environment? We do not know. But if this is involved, would he excuse a terrorist such as Col. Khadafy on the grounds that the terrorist's religion encourages him in his insane attacks on innocent people?

The statement leaves us as perplexed as vexed. We wish Judge Unthank, a jurist of good repute, hadn't made it. Whatever he meant by it, the sound of it is bad.

No Thanks, Judge Unthank

(An editorial in the Courier-Journal)

Eastern Kentucky frequently has been maligned, but seldom so severely as by U.S. District Judge Wix Unthank this week. When it comes to criminal behavior, he says, the region shouldn't be held to the same standards as the rest of the United States.

Judge Unthank did reject a motion to reduce three-year sentences for five men, including a wealthy coal operator, convicted under federal racketeering laws of involvement in the 1982 bombing of a coal auger and the burning of a tippie in Floyd county. But he added that he would recommend leniency to the parole board because there is "a difference between our area and other areas of the country."

No doubt there is. Violence centered around coal mining has plagued Eastern Kentucky for generations, just as wars of organized crime continue to plague some urban areas. But the notion of special leniency in places where the need for law enforcement is especially great turns logic on its head. Neither the sidewalks of New York nor the mountains of Kentucky can be helped by pronouncing them beyond the pale of civilization.

could not vote on changing the present order without a recommendation from the superintendent. And Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett said he was not about to make a decision that someone else might have to live with. "I accept that this is a decision for the chief executive officer, who must live with the problems that go with it," said Brackett. "But I may not be chief executive officer after February 5. If I knew I was going to be, I would make a recommendation."

Should the Floyd board seek an amendment to the construction list, the request would go to the State Department of Buildings and Grounds, which would conduct a local hearing on the proposal. The state-appointed hearing officer would then make a recommendation to the state Board of Education, which would make a decision on the proposed amendment. Brackett noted Wednesday that nothing would be lost by delaying the process until a permanent superintendent is named.

Brackett's stand drew a sharp rejoinder from Right Beaver representative James A. Duff, who urged him to make a recommendation that Garrett be elevated at least to the No. 3 position. "You are acting superintendent. You have a job to do. You have a duty to perform," Duff told Brackett.

That criticism was taken up by Garrett supporters who gathered at the back of the meeting room—the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria—after the board had withdrawn for a closed session elsewhere. Charging that Brackett was "not man enough to do the job," Garrett Principal O'Quinn asked former Superintendent E.P. Grigsby, Jr., who was among the group, whether he was "man enough to do it."

Grigsby assured the group that he was, noting that he had not flinched from "taking on the state" while he was superintendent. "They need it more than any community," Grigsby said to the applause of the Garrett contingent. "If I'm there next month I'll do the job." Suggestions were made that the group send delegates "to Frankfort" and to school board consultant Dr. Charles Faber, urging Grigsby's reappointment as superintendent here.

Grigsby confirmed later that, as superintendent, he would recommend that the priorities list be amended to place the Garrett project among the top three, even at the top of the list. To accommodate Garrett, he would displace the Prestonsburg middle school project to at least the No. 4 spot, Grigsby said. He would not displace the Allen or Wheelwright-McDowell projects, he said.

New York was firmly established as the commercial center of the U.S. by the mid-19th century.

lecting auto taxes to the county clerk both boosted tax revenue for the schools and deprived his office of a substantial source of income.

In response to criticism voiced at an earlier meeting regarding the cost of mobile classroom units at Garrett, Brackett read a letter from Bob Guthrie, of School House Planning Associates, the firm that negotiated the deal. Because of state regulations governing classroom units, it is unfair to compare their cost with that of mobile home units, Burgin said. Compared with the average cost of permanent grade school classrooms—currently around $55 per square foot—the Garrett classrooms cost $40.70 per square foot, he said.

Also in response to earlier criticism, Brackett said he is scheduled to meet on Feb. 4 with the mayor and city council of Martin to discuss the possibility of arranging off-campus parking for teachers at Martin grade school.

Hired were: Yvette Martin, special education teacher at Garrett Elementary; Oscar F. Bush, certified substitute teacher; Ricky Alan Hall, Tracee Lynn Buchanan, Kimberly Loyce Bentley, Charles V. ## Ten Years Ago

(January 14, 1976)

Two children perished in a mid-morning fire which destroyed their home on Sizemore mountain near Minnie, Monday, and two other children are patients at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital where they are listed in satisfactory condition. The Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission this week is asking bids for equipment to be used to upgrade the water treatment plant from 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 of water per day capacity. Figures obtained from the state Division of Reclamation's office here reveal that the total of new strip-mine permits issued during the past year amount to only half the number of 1974's permits. Currently on display at the Floyd County Library here are several watercolors by Miss Lynn Rogers, of Prestonsburg. Named to the Dean's List at Western Kentucky University, Bowling Green, for the fall semester are the following students from this county: Marvin Hood, of Wheelwright; Robert B. Herrick, Susan Jett Jagers, and Robert Lowe Tackett, all of Prestonsburg. Coach Johnny Ray Turner and his McDowell Daredevil girls' team have been voted the No. 1 team in the state for the third consecutive week. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Porter, of Prestonsburg, a son, John Christopher, Jan. 3 at Highlands Regional Medical Center; to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Feltham, of Van Lear, a daughter, Carrie Anne, Jan. 3 at HRMC. There died: Mrs. Cynthia Bentley, 70, of Langley, Thursday at Our Lady of the Way hospital. Martin: John Dillon, 76, last Friday at his home at Goble-Roberts Addition, Prestonsburg, victim of an apparent heart attack; Ark Castle, 76, of Pyramid, at 10:40 Friday night at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Twenty Years Ago

(January 13, 1966)

The war in Viet Nam came home to Floyd county this week as it was learned that Cpl. Arvel Dewitt Akers, Jr., 20, of the U.S. Marines, formerly of Grethel, was killed last Friday, and Staff Sgt. Burl Slone, 29, formerly of Blue River, was wounded, in action in that conflict. A "Draft Combs for Governor" movement was launched in Ashland recently. Two Floyd county sufferers from meningitis during the outbreak of the disease in Kentucky have recovered, it was said this week by the Floyd County Health Department. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Little, a daughter, Gina Carol, December 30 at the Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Hobert Burton, 71, of Auxier, Jan. 5 at Richmond, Virginia; Mart Wicker, 84, formerly of Amba, last Thursday at the Prestonsburg General hospital; Mrs. Ellen Sexton, 69, of Drift, January 8 at the McDowell Appalachian Regional hospital; Mrs. Eliza Bates, 81, January 9 at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

Thirty Years Ago

(January 12, 1956)

The suspected attempt to blast the First Assembly of God Church, West Prestonsburg, Sunday night was a clever hoax, Prestonsburg police declared today (Thursday). The Prestonsburg Board of Education at its Monday evening meeting issued a four-year contract to Chalmer H. Frazier as superintendent of city schools. 664,385 persons visited Dewey Lake, the area's biggest attraction, last year, establishing a new record for the impoundment, according to J. R. "Red" Weaver, reservoir manager. As a stopgap measure to meet this community's acute need for funds to continue care of polio patients, a check for $2,100.00 from March of Dimes headquarters in New York was received last Thursday by the Floyd County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Married: Miss Laura Hale, of Manton, and Sgt. Bill Kilburn, of Martin, during the Christmas holidays; Miss Bobby Jean Holbrook and Mr. Glen Gene Vanderpool, of Chelsea, Michigan, Saturday night at the home of the Rev. John P. Carr, of Martin. Born: to the Rev. and Mrs. Orville Pearson, a daughter, Margaret Gladys, Jan. 7 at the Prestonsburg General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snaveley, a son, Dec. 26 at a Petersburg, Va. hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. DeGarmo DeRossett, of Prestonsburg, a son, Gregory Ray, Tuesday. There died: Rev. Ed Howard, of Garrett, Wednesday at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin; Wayne Bradley, 51, last Wednesday at Clearwater, Fla.; Alex Wright, 51, of Hunter, Monday in a statefall in No. 22 mine of the Island Creek Coal Company at Holden, W. Va.; Frank Rister, 59, last Saturday at his home at Garrett; Thomas Anthony Jenkins, 40, formerly of Weeksbury, last Monday at Huntington, W. Va.; James Whitaker, 79, Monday at his home at Bonanza; Mrs. Aika Mellon Thompson, 52, January 5 at Miami, Fla.; Sol Patton, 94, of Hueysville, last Saturday at the home of a daughter; Philip Marion (Boy) Dingus, Sunday at his home at Hite; Mrs. Tenie Davis, 59, formerly of this county, Dec. 29 at her home at Louisa.

Forty Years Ago

(January 10, 1946)

City, county and state authorities today (Thursday) were engaged in an investigation into the murders of two Prestonsburg policemen—Albert (Davey) Horn, 47, and Orbin Moore, 46—whose bodies were found this morning, in an automobile on Garfield avenue near the West Prestonsburg bridge. Representative Jerry Fonce Howell, of Gearheart, this county, won the Democratic floor leadership of the Kentucky House of Representatives Monday by a one-vote margin over John Young Brown, of Lexington. Floyd county had another huge clean-up job on its hands this week after hours-long rain in unseasonable spring-like weather had sent every stream in the county past flood stage. County Attorney W. W. Burchett announced this week that highway officials have indicated they will construct through the business section of Martin sidewalks, storm sewers, curbs and gutters. Married: Miss Lucille Roberts, of Martin, and Mr. Charles Kenneth Harrison, Dec. 15 at the Asbury Methodist Church; Miss Betty Jean Childers and Cpl. Orville Lawson, both of Garrett, Dec. 23; Miss Carlos Maureen Hale, of West Prestonsburg, and Mr. Arthur N. Haywood, of Wayland, Sunday December 30 at the home of the bride; Miss Nelma Martin, of Drift, and Mr. Willie F. Hall, of Martin, Dec. 22 in Lexington. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Caldwell, of Woods, a son, Bill Frank, December 13. There died: Vester Howell, 23, last Thursday at his home at Dony; Clyde F. Hall, 34, Sunday at his home at Honaker; Mrs. Thalia Rice, 88, of Banner, last Wednesday at the home of a daughter at Banner; A. J. Hicks, 70, Monday at his home at Hippo; Mrs. Sophia Kidd, 71, Wednesday at her home at Dana; Mrs. Frances Goble Jarrell, 80, last Thursday at the home of her son on Cow Creek.

Fifty Years Ago

(January 10, 1936)

Quarantine established in the Caleb Fork section of Weeksbury following the recent outbreak of spinal meningitis there was lifted Monday. Threat of litigation following the appointment by the new city council at its December 27 meeting of three new policemen for Prestonsburg was removed Monday evening when the council met and ironed out existing differences. On the first day of his service as chief of police of Wayland, Ben Whittaker's right leg was broken by a bullet said to have been fired early Tuesday night by an Estill man. Tuesday and Wednesday of next week Cleo, internationally known mentalist, will be seen at The Unique Theatre here in conjunction with John Bowles and Dixie Lee in "Red Heads On Parade" on the screen. Jim Clifton found what is believed to be the first snake of the year near the river here Wednesday when he chased a rabbit into a hole which turned out to be headquarters for a 5-foot, six-inch snake, which, Clifton said, was stiff as an icicle. There died: Mrs. Hetti Surgenor, 91, Tuesday at her home on Town Branch; Mrs. Joe Branham, 33, January 1 at her home on Turkey Creek; Mrs. Mary Adeline Layne Stratton, 71, at the home of a daughter at Betsy Layne.

Black Lung Group Meets

The Floyd County Chapter of the National Black Lung Association will meet at the Mud Creek Clinic, at Grethel, on Saturday, January 18, at 10 a.m. Problems with the black lung program will be discussed and a lobbying trip to Washington, D.C. will be planned.

Garth School Offers Mine Safety Class

A 48 and 24-hour mine safety class will be offered at the Garth Vocational School, beginning at 5 p.m., January 20. Instructor will be Mike Fitzpatrick.

While Hamilton was incarcerated in 1984 in the federal penitentiary at Ashland—he was serving a five-year sentence for dealing in stolen explosives—the alleged conspirators plotted to protect Davidson and William Francis from civil liability in the original suit by having the suit dismissed with prejudice, the current suit claims. An action dismissed with prejudice cannot later be reinstated.

The Hamiltons say they were not aware that their suit had been dismissed until they reviewed files in the U.S. District Court Clerk's office last October. The case was dismissed by U.S. District Judge G. Wix Unthank on July 26, 1984.

In the original suit, the Hamiltons note that the Bank Josephine was awarded a $608,783 judgment against them in Floyd Circuit Court on May 1, 1984, in settlement of which mining equipment and coal properties they owned on Mud Creek were put up for sale. When the sale was advertised by the master commissioner on June 20, however, it listed the judgment at $1,608,783, included properties that should not have been included, and exaggerated the sale price of the properties, with the intent of scaring off other bidders, the Hamiltons claim.

With other potential buyers out of the running, the Bank Josephine intended to purchase their properties at a bargain price, the Hamiltons claim. "Plaintiffs believe (the) Bank Josephine has falsely and maliciously placed this ad with false and misleading information to enhance its financial gain and profit at the expense of the plaintiffs," their suit alleges.

Affixed to the July 26, 1984 order dismissing the suit are the signatures of Judge Unthank and of attorneys Owens, William Francis, Higgins and Fred Francis. A space intended for Davidson's signature remains empty.

The Hamiltons claim that the alleged plot to throw out their suit constitutes legal malpractice, conspiracy to oppress, and obstruction of justice on the part of the attorneys involved and, on Davidson's part, misconduct in public office as well. They seek $10 million in damages from each defendant. The suit is filed in their own behalf, without benefit of attorney.

In a July, 1984 sale of the Hamilton properties, their debt to the Bank Josephine was listed at $610,000. Hershel Hamilton, a brother to Sterling, bid against the bank for the Hamiltons' home and store at Teaberry but the bank prevailed with a bid of $65,000. Little interest was shown in any of the other six tracts offered for sale, all of which reverted to the bank. Of various pieces of mining equipment offered for sale, some were purchased by coal operators, some reverted to the bank, and some were said to be no longer in existence.

(Suits filed in court give only the plaintiffs' version of the issues in dispute).

Shepherd was accused of shooting Randy Hamilton with a shotgun, striking Mickey Martin on the head with the gun, and firing into a vehicle occupied by Ricky Johnson and others on November 22, 1984. He pleaded guilty to assaulting Martin, and agreed to make restitution for Hamilton's medical expenses and for damage he did to a van owned by Frankie Martin. He agreed also to leave the state on his release from jail. In behalf of her client, attorney Janice Porter noted that he was "devoted" to his wife and small child and hoped to make a fresh start in Indiana.

William A. Burchett, 19, of West Prestonsburg, received 3½-year terms for passing a dud check and for stealing goods from the home of George Masone last July. His sentences are to run concurrently with each other and with one he is already serving. A sodomy charge was dismissed on condition he testify against his co-defendant in that case, Edward Collins.

Randy Neal Hamilton, 27, of McDowell, charged with second-degree forgery for allegedly signing a false name on jail records after he was arrested for drunk driving, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge and was given a probated 12-month sentence.

Assault charges against Kenny Johnson, of Weeksbury, and Vernon Slone and Dave Slone, of Bevinville, were dropped after Rodney Thornsberry, the prosecuting witness, indicated he did not want to go on with the case. Thornsberry alleged that Dave Slone held a gun on him at a Melvin gas station last July 4 while Johnson and Vernon Slone beat and stomped on him.

Sentence was passed last Friday on Randall Lewis, 31, of Stanville, who pleaded guilty recently to first-degree manslaughter in the shooting of his estranged wife, Veneda Boyd Lewis. Judge Conley indicated he had wrestled with his decision a long time before going along with the prosecutor's recommendation of a 15-year prison sentence. "The court has pondered about it and been eat up from piece to piece on it and wanting to know if I was going to go along with something like that," he noted in passing sentence on Lewis.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Silas "Scott" Shepherd would like to express their thanks to all who helped during the passing of our loved one. Thanks to all who sent food, flowers, prayers, and words of comfort during this time of sorrow. A special thanks to Our Lady of the Way Hospital, nurses and doctors, the men that prepared the grave, the ministers, Wm. J. Shepherd and L.P. Tussey, for their comforting words and the Hall Funeral Home for its kind and efficient service. THE SHEPHERD FAMILY

Bevins' attorney sought to avoid the death penalty for his client, arguing that Bevins was suffering from extreme emotional disturbance at the time of the crime. But the trial judge refused to agree.

Marie Allison, one of two attorneys assigned by the Public Defender to the Supreme Court hearing, contended that Bevins' plea of guilty was not "voluntarily and intelligently entered." She said Bevins had been upset by recent turns in his relationship with Mrs. Click and that he had not considered killing before he walked into the Allen store and came upon her husband.

"We are clearly not talking about a person who is rational and normal and stable," the defense attorney said. "He didn't premeditate this."

Attorneys representing the Attorney General countered, however, with the argument that everything Bevins did was rational criminal conduct.

In support of that contention they pointed out that after killing the five men he disposed of the murder weapon, a rifle, which has never been found. They also contended that Bevins obviously eliminated witnesses to his slaying of Click by shooting them, and that the crime was one that was planned.

Commonwealth's Attorney James R. Allen, who prosecuted Bevins at Greenup, was an interested listener to the arguments made at the Supreme Court hearing. "I might be prejudiced, but I don't think the Public Defender made a strong case at all for his client," he said in response to a question. "The attorney General's office made a strong case for the Commonwealth, and they were well-satisfied."

Mayor Latta, Evans and City Attorney Larry Brown met last week with officials of Consolidated Communications, at which time the cable company was told Brown would be reworking the franchise agreement.

According to Evans, cable officials were less than happy that the franchise, which gives them exclusive rights here through 1991, with an option to renew at that time for an additional 15 years, was to be tampered with. And they don't have to abide by city proposals, said Brown.

But Brown said the changes were mostly in making the agreement more clearly defined. "They read parts of its one way and we read it another," he said. "It's really vague in some areas. We just want to define it so we know where we all stand."

Consolidated Communications has asked the city for a rate increase of $2.54 per month on top of the 5% hike that went into effect in December. They say that the additional fees will go toward upgrading the system here, providing a better signal and offering a wider range of pay channels. If the rate increase is not granted, cable subscribers can look forward to no changes in the system.

"I did ask them if we didn't grant them a rate increase if they'd do anything to the system, and they said no," said the mayor.

Brown said that Consolidated Communications could raise their rates, regardless of what the council says, in December, as cable companies will be deregulated then. They have agreed, however, not to increase rates for another two years if this hike is approved.

But what the city would really like is to void the company's exclusive franchise without them pulling out of the city. "If they want a rate increase, we'd like a new, non-exclusive franchise," said Brown.

The animal shelter at West Prestonsburg has been the target of debate in recent weeks, with some citizens upset with its administration. The previous city council had voted to donate $2,500 in equipment to the shelter, on top of a $400 monthly supplement to the salary of a dog warden.

However, after questions were raised regarding conditions at the shelter, the old council decided to hold up on delivering some of the promised things, such as the monthly allowance.

It was announced that shelter head Curtis Hughes and members of the Dewey Dam Dog and Cat Protection Association, the group which has shown concern over shelter problems, would come before the council at its next meeting to present their cases.

In other action, it was voted to accept a donation from dentist Herbert Salisbury of logs almost 200 years old, which had been removed from the Old Salisbury house on Front street before the house burned last year. The logs are to be used to build a small cabin, possibly in the municipal parking lot, which could be used as a tourist information center.

Council voted to implement change in the chain of command for traffic safety officer William Callahan, also a new council member. Mayor Latta entertained a motion calling for Callahan's position to be placed under city administration rather than that of the police department.

It was also decided to hold a series of meetings in the various voting districts, for residents there to tell officials of sections of street that need repair.

ty College, has a class coming up which is designed to teach you—or even me—how to catch the elusive bass. Several low fellows have insisted that I enroll, one even offering to bear any expense involved. But I shall not return to college for this one, interesting as it should be.

The fact is, I doubt their choice of an experienced, successful fisherman to teach the class. They should have hired me—not to teach a bunch of duffers how, but to serve as an object lesson.

How would I go about teaching the course? Just take the boys out to the nearest stream or lake, take rod and reel in hand and say, "Now watch me closely, men. Whatever I do—on the cast, the retrieve, whatever—don't you do it. That's how to catch bass."

other structural problems—the result, it is thought, of the May, 1984 flood. One of the buildings was closed permanently, while the other was repaired, with additional classrooms constructed in the auditorium and temporary trailers placed outside, also to be used as classrooms. Rodney Moore, chairman of the parents' group, said the situation there was intolerable.

"We have to have a new school," he said. "We don't want to step on anybody's toes. We don't want any other projects to be taken out, but this is the only way we know to go about getting it."

The Garrett public meetings are held at the school, the last Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m.

KHC Now Available
By Toll-Free Number

As of January 8, Kentuckians interested in obtaining more information about Kentucky Housing Corporation's (KHC) Single-Family Program may call KHC toll-free at 800-633-8896.

"Since the announcement of the 1985
Series A Bond Issue, we have received at least 125 queries regarding this program," stated KHC executive director F. Lynn Luallen. "With the building and heavy buying season ahead of us, we thought a toll-free number would be an excellent way of answering questions about the latest bond issue."

In November, 1985, KHC sold a $100,000,000 bond issue that enables the Corporation to offer a 9 3/8% fixed-rate interest on 25-year mortgages. This is the lowest interest rate the Corporation has been able to offer since 1978. In December, 1985, the money was made available to 67 participating lending institutions located throughout the state.

To qualify for a KHC loan a family or individual may earn up to $25,000 in gross, annual income and may purchase a home costing no more than $46,000 ($52,000 in certain Eastern Kentucky counties). Unless living in federally designated targeted areas, applicants may not have owned a home in the past three years.

Loan applications will be taken during the next 18 months. During the first 60 days, commitments will only be made on loans to those persons earning 80% or less of the State Median Income. Using figures from the federal government, the median family income in Kentucky is $22,500. Eighty percent of median is $18,000.

"We don't want our constituents to feel limited to only asking about the Single-Family Program," said Luallen. "Staff is available to talk with them about any of our programs."

Honored On Birthday

FLOYD COUNTY HEALTH NEWS

There will be a pap clinic at the Floyd
County Health Department, Beaver
Clinic, Thursday, January 23, 10-2. This clinic is open to women of all ages, but those women age 45 and over are especially urged to take advantage of this free service since this is the high risk age for the disease.

The Family Planning Clinic at the Floyd County Health Department offers many choices of birth control. The program is staffed by doctors from the area who help individuals make decisions about which form of birth control is best for them.

Federal regulations require that family planning clinics charge a fee for services given in their clinic. These fees are based on the individual's ability to pay and are determined by a sliding fee scale which uses family income and size to find the amount to be paid by each individual.

The Family Planning Program is open to all persons regardless of sex, race, age, color or national origin. For more information concerning this program, please call 886-2788 and ask for

Will Meet In The Prestonsburg MUNICIPAL BUILDING
Wednesday, Jan. 22
8 p.m.

Those Interested In Improving Conditions At the East Ky. Wildlife Federation's Animal Shelter, Are Urged To Attend.

1-15-2t.

Dissension Hits Animal Shelter

Floyd county's animal shelter which, after a couple of false starts, finally got a lease on life a year ago, is now threatened by dissension among those with the heaviest stake in keeping it alive—the county's animal lovers—according to the man who has presided over the operation for the past 11 months.

Funded initially by an animal lover's bequest, operated briefly by the Floyd County Humane Society and then abandoned for want of public support, and finally goaded again into being by court order, the simple cinderblock building at the head of the Sally Stephens Branch on Middle Creek could easily close its doors once more unless a group that has recently criticized the operation rallies behind it, said Curtis Hughes, of the East Kentucky Wildlife Federation, which runs the shelter under contract to Floyd Fiscal Court.

Closing the animal shelter is the last thing they want, say critics of the facility, who found a forum last week at a meeting in Prestonsburg of the Dewey Dam Dog and Cat Protection Society, a group organized in 1982 by Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf to bring pressure on Floyd and Johnson counties to provide the shelters required by state law. Under order of Floyd Circuit Court and with funds provided by Floyd Fiscal Court and the city of Prestonsburg, the Floyd shelter reopened last February. Of the 35 persons who gathered at the Floyd County Library last Wednesday, however, many appeared unhappy at the way it is being run.

"No one here wants to see the shelter closed because we need it. But we want to see it improved—greatly," said one person at the meeting.

For some, the animals' living conditions are a major concern. They complained of unheated kennels, a lack of hot water for bathing the animals, and inadequate facilities for housing cats. Dogs have gone untreated for worms, kittens have been improperly fed, and medicines are almost non-existent, they said.

For others, including Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta, the question of financial accountability is uppermost. They spoke of inadequate recordkeeping and suggested appointment of an oversight committee to insure that shelter funds—$1100 contributed monthly by the fiscal court and $200 by the Prestonsburg city council—are properly accounted for.

Others feel that Hughes is too quick to put to sleep adoptable animals and some question his using a gas chamber for that purpose, insisting that euthanasia be performed by a veterinarian administering a lethal injection. While gassing is accepted by the Humane Society of the U.S., they say, it is not recommended in all instances.

Bonnie Faulkner, the Auxier woman who successfully sued the county to reopen the shelter, says that her differences with Hughes are basically philosophical. "At least a third of the space (at the shelter) is committed to wildlife," she said, adding, "That's a laudable cause but it's not what (Kentucky law) requires the fiscal court to fund. Improvements (at the shelter) have been solely on behalf of the wildlife."

Currently housed at the shelter—along with a variety of dogs and a couple of cats—are two deer, two raccoons and a fox, animals rescued by foresters after being orphaned or injured. For Faulkner, the space they occupy is space taken from cats and dogs, which are only too readily classified as "unadoptable" and consigned to the gas chamber. "The bottom line is that this is a shelter for domestic animals," Mrs. Faulkner argues.

For his part, Hughes defends the policy of housing wildlife at the facility, claiming it increases the flow of visitors and thereby promotes the adoption of domestic animals. "People from all around bring their kids to pet the deer," he said. "When the paper ran a picture of our two 'coons, adoptions (of domestic animals) went up."

Hughes insists that the shelter is clean—a fact even his critics don't deny—and that heat is available for the kennels. He concedes the heater is sparingly used and that the facility has no hot water system but says these do not represent real deprivations. He cites a recent report by the Kentucky Veterinary Medicine Association to the effect that outdoor animals should only be kept dry and sheltered from the wind and that bathing them exposes them to the risk of hypothermia by removing the coating of oil that builds up on their skin and insulates them from the cold.

Facilities for cats are inadequate, Hughes admits, although the problem is less urgent in winter months when the cat population is low. Better cat quarters will need to be provided by the spring, he said.

His books are open for public scrutiny and all income and expenditures have been recorded since the facility opened under his management, said Hughes, who concedes that expenses could be better itemized and that the records should reflect the number of animals passing through the facility. Beginning with the new year, recordkeeping at the shelter has been more detailed, he said.

On the question of euthanasia, Hughes granted that "nobody likes to do it" but said, it is the "kindest alternative" available for solving the problem of unwanted pets. Moreover, of the two methods most commonly used, lethal injection and asphyxiation by carbon monoxide, gassing is easily the fastest and least stressful method, Hughes claims.

In the face of repeated charges that he is too quick to euthanize adoptable animals in the interest of expediency, Hughes asserted that all animals are kept the minimum seven days specified by law and that "we never put an adoptable animal to sleep." The previous failures of the shelter stemmed in large part from the fact that there was no convenient way of controlling the animal population, said Hughes, who explained that the gas chamber installed last November enables him to weed out "sick, injured or vicious mongrels."

The shelter manager said his critics have not been able to find anything seriously amiss at the shelter—"They don't have anything but petty gripes"—and accused them of wanting to take over management of the operation. "Bonnie Faulkner wants to run the show," Hughes said in an interview Friday.

If members of the Dewey Dam Dog and cat Protection Society backed his efforts to establish an effective animal control program here, he would gladly turn over control of the shelter to them when his contract expires in June, he said. "I'll gladly get out; I want to see the program established, though," he said. "I wish they would help me instead of nitpicking, instead of trying to destroy the program before it is established."

That's fine with her, said Mrs. Faulkner, who answered "Heavens no!" when asked if she wanted to take over control of the shelter. "He shouldn't be so quick to be defensive; I'm not his enemy," said Faulkner, a researcher at the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center here. "We all have the same goal in mind."

The purpose of the committee that shelter critics want to see established, said Mrs. Faulkner, is only to provide an oversight for which no provision is made in Hughes' contract with the fiscal court. "The way it is now, he can operate it any way he wants to," Mrs. Faulkner said. "We do not feel the way he operates it is altogether humane, altogether ethical."

Pillersdorf said this week that, while his organization would probably be willing to assume control of the animal shelter if that became necessary, that is not the group's intention. "I don't care if the Republican Party runs it," said the Johns Creek animal lover, a registered Democrat, "as long as it is run competently and humanely."

"No bird soars too high if he soars with his own wings." William Blake

Lady Cats Win Four Straight

The Prestonsburg Lady Cats, who traveled to Paintsville Saturday and defeated the Comets, 40-36 beat McDowell and Millard earlier in the week to give the 'Cats their fourth consecutive victory.

The Lady Cats, who started the winning streak by beating Allen Central at home, have won their last three on the road.

In the McDowell game, the Lady Cats were paced by Shon Burchett, Joell Hall and Paula Harris who had 18, 17, and 16 points, respectively.

The 'Cats who started pulling away just before halftime extended their lead in the third quarter and coasted to a 64-43 victory. McDowell was led in scoring by Missy Hall with 19 followed by Gloria Mullins with 10.

In the game against Millard, the Cats got off to a slow start but rallied to take the lead at halftime, 25-21. They then took command in the third quarter, coasting to a 41-27 lead. The 'Cats who got good bench play continued to lead in the fourth and won the game, 62-44.

Prestonsburg was led in scoring by Paula Harris and Shon Burchett, who shared scoring honors with 20 points each, while Vicki Bates and Trish Patrick followed with 7 each. Joell Hall, who came off a tremendous shooting night in the McDowell game, finished with 5, while Michelle Clemmons and Karen Frazure added 2 and 1 points, respectively.

In the Paintsville contest, a low-scoring ballgame. Prestonsburg was once again paced by Burchett and Harris as they led the way with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The game, which was close throughout, found Prestonsburg leading at halftime, 19-18. Paintsville, a much bigger team, had good rebounding strength and tied the game at 26 all at the end of three.

Prestonsburg jumped out to a six-point lead in the fourth, behind key baskets by Joell Hall and Paula Harris, and got clutch free-throw shooting from Shon Burchett to ice the victory, a 40-36.

Joell Hall finished the game with seven points while Karen Frazure came off the bench to add five. Trish Patrick had three, while Vicki Bates chipped in two.

Paintsville was led in scoring by Glena Vanhose with 11, followed by Dee Dee Hall and Mary Butcher with nine and eight, respectively.

The 'Cats are now 5-3 on the season and travel to Pikeville tomorrow (Thursday) to take on the Lady Panthers.

Kentucky Afield... Late Season Hunting

By JOHN WILSON

Although most hunting seasons are still open, many sportsmen have left the field and are already beginning to think about spring fishing.

But there's a small, dedicated group of sportsmen who continue to hunt until the seasons close. They find the woods and fields less crowded and hunting conditions often better than earlier in the season.

Squirrel season closed Dec. 31, along with the deer archery season. But waterfowl and small game seasons are still open. Rabbit and quail seasons will close Feb. 16 and grouse season, Feb. 28. Furbearer hunting and trapping seasons will run through Jan. 31.

Other season closing dates are Jan. 13 for ducks and Jan. 20 for geese in the Eastern Waterfowl Zone. Goose hunters in the Ballard Quota Zone reached their quota, so the season there will close at the end of shooting hours Friday, Jan. 10. The goose season in the Henderson-Union Quota Zone is expected to stay open at least through Jan. 15. Goose hunters can call (502) 564-6185 to check on the goose harvest in this zone.

But before you grab your gun, whistle up old Spot and head out, better check your hunting license. 1985 licenses expired at midnight, Dec. 31, so you'll need a new license to hunt now. Remember that 1985 Kentucky State Waterfowl Stamps also expired at the end of the year, and you now need a 1986 version for hunting ducks and geese.

The best bet for the sportsman who both hunts and fishes is to buy a combination license, so you'll be able to hunt now and also be all set when the walleye, white bass or crappie start running in a couple of months.

A resident hunting or fishing license costs $7.50 each, while a combination license is $14. Youngsters under 16 years old may fish without a license, but they will need a junior hunting license $4 for residents;—non-resident youngsters must pay the full price.

An annual non-resident license costs $40, while a three-day non-resident small game permit is $14.50. Deer permits are $11.50 and turkey permits $6.50 for both residents and non-residents.

Non-resident fishing licenses are $5 for a three-day permit and $6.50 for a 15-day license. Trout stamps are $3.50 for both resident and non-resident trout fishermen.

Kentucky residents 65 years old or older do not need sport licenses, but they should obtain a free lifetime license from their county court clerk. Landowners and members of their immediate families do not need licenses to hunt or fish on their own property. Tenants and their family members also don't need licenses to hunt or fish on lands where they both reside and work. Non-resident landowners must have licenses.

Kentucky resident veterans who are permanently and totally disabled as the result of military-related injuries may hunt or fish without a license.

Martin Junior Pro League Standing

Standings in the Martin Junior Pro League at the end of play, Jan. 11, were as follows: J.V. Girls—Blue, 8-1; Orange, 6-3; Green, 3-6; Red, 1-8. J.V. Boys—Blue, 7-2; Gold, 7-2; Red, 7-2; Orange, 3-6; White, 3-6; Green, 0-9. Training League—Gold, 9-0; Blue, 8-1; Red, 6-3; Maroon, 5-4; Green, 4-5; Tan, 3-6; Purple, 1-8; Orange, 0-9.

Jan. 11 play: J.V. Girls—Orange (G. Crum) 46, over Green (D. Hamilton) 16; Blue (A. Horn) 36, over Red (B. Gearheart) 26. J.V. Boys—Blue (L. Robinson) 49, over Orange (F. Lafferty) 37; White (H. Case) 33, over Green (E. Duddleson) 27; Gold (J. Hopkins) 47, over Red (P. Scarberry) 42. Training League—Maroon (A. Conn) 47, over Tan (G. Isaac) 45; Red (T. Shepard) 30, over Purple (R. Damron) 5; Gold (S. Jenkins) 36, over Green (G. Floyd) 23; Blue (W. Case) 63, over Orange (K. Conley) 3.

Bass Fishing Classes

A course in fishing fundamentals, with a special emphasis on the science of bass fishing, will be offered by the Continuing Education Program at Prestonsburg Community College.

The instructor is Roger Watkins, an experienced tournament fisherman who has honed his skills in competition and absorbed the knowledge of many other experts. In an effort to continually expand his understanding of bass fishing, he has attended numerous fishing seminars. Mr. Watkins enjoys sharing his understanding and has information for the experienced fisherman or the father with a son or daughter who is just beginning the sport.

The classes will begin January 21, on Tuesdays, at 6:30 p.m. For more information about the course contact Juanita Ratliff at 886-3863, ext. 215.

The most poisonous animal alive, according to some scientists, is the arrow-poison frog, says National Wildlife Federation's Ranger Rick magazine. These insect-eating frogs live in the rain forests of Central and South America. And, as its name suggests, the frogs' poison is carefully spread by hunting Indians on their arrow tips.

Before you file your income tax return, tame your taxes by opening or adding to a First Commonwealth Bank Tax-Tamer IRA.

An Individual Retirement Account is a good idea for anyone who wants to reduce their taxes and save for the future. Any working person is eligible to open an IRA, even if you already have a pension or retirement plan set up for you where you work.

If you haven't yet filed your taxes this year, you can save on your taxes by opening a Tax-Tamer IRA at First Commonwealth Bank. You can open your account for as little as $25 and make contributions anytime throughout the year in weekly, monthly or quarterly installments. You can even arrange to have funds transferred into your IRA from your First Commonwealth Bank checking account.

Every dollar you invest in your IRA, up to $2,000 per worker is tax-deductible and the interest is tax-deferred.

To open your First Commonwealth Bank Tax-Tamer IRA, simply fill out the form below and either mail or bring with your deposit to any First Commonwealth Bank office.

Drama Association, Floyd High School Receive Arts Grants

Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced that Floyd county has received arts grant funding totaling $15,140 through the Arts Council in the Kentucky Department of the Arts. The Jenny Wiley Drama Association received a "challenge" grant of $14,140. This is money that is matched locally and is for general operational support of the organization. Wheelwright High School received a $1,000 Artist in Education grant that will help put professional artist Jeff Hawkins in residence at the school to teach theatre arts. A total of $1,331,935 in state and federal funds is being disbursed to arts agencies in communities throughout the state in this most recent round of grants. Funds are distributed twice each year, in July and in December, with a total of over $1.8 million going to agencies and artists during July 1985-June 1986. This money includes Kentucky's share from the National Endowment for the Arts as well as funds allotted by the Kentucky Legislature.

What Is Families Anonymous?

When a young person is in trouble with the authorities, or with himself, his family is "in trouble" too. They need and deserve help.

The primary purpose of Families Anonymous is to assist the concerned family: experience has shown that help for the family means important indirect help for the troubled individual.

FA is a 12-step, self-help program of concerned relatives and friends who have faced up to the reality of their situation and have decided to do something constructive about it. The organization was formed primarily for persons concerned about the use or abuse of drugs, including alcohol, on the part of a loved one. Over the years, it has expanded to include concern about related behavioral problems, such as hostility, truancy, running away, delinquency, incorrigibility, etc.

FA involves weekly meetings of relatives and friends of the troubled individual. FA pamphlets and open discussion, following a 12 Step Program, offer guidelines for concerned people. Telephone numbers to call during periods of stress provide a basis for forming new friendships with people who "know" what another may be experiencing, because they've been there themselves.

There is a Families Anonymous group in Prestonsburg. The group meets on Friday evenings at 8:00 p.m., weekly, at the First Presbyterian Church on U.S. 23 North, beside Jerry's Restaurant.

No dues or fees are required, and first names only are used at meetings. Advance notice is not necessary to attend Families Anonymous meetings. All visitors are welcome.

Additional information may be obtained by phoning 886-9295, 886-3689, or by contacting Families Anonymous, Inc., P.O. Box 528, Van Nuys, California 91408.

COMPLETES ARMY COURSE

Pvt. James Merryman, son of Laura D. Howell and stepson of Davie G. Howell, of Rural Route 1, Prestonsburg, has completed an Army scoop loader and forklift operator course at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. He is a 1985 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Floyd County Education Forum To Meet, Jan. 20

The Floyd County Education Forum (FCEF) will hold its Board of Directors meeting on January 20 at 7 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg. The agenda will include a discussion of the community concerns about schools generated at the FCEF annual meeting at Allen Central in November. All Floyd County Education Forum meetings are open to the community.

What Teachers Want

The Kentucky Education Association on Jan. 4 adopted a comprehensive legislative action plan that seeks:

*Full funding for the $306 million in educational improvements enacted in July at the Special Session of the General Assembly.

*Improved retirement benefits for active and retired teachers.

*A bold new approach that would give teachers control over their profession through the creation of a 15-member Commission on Teaching Standards and Practices.

*Support for an amendment to the Kentucky Constitution that would require an appointed State Superintendent of Public Instruction chosen by 7 elected and 6 appointed members of the State Board of Education.

*A variety of other steps that would make the teaching profession more attractive for current and future teachers.

"There will be tremendous pressure for state funds from other worthy groups, but we must remind legislators that public education is first in line," said Larry Diebold, KEA executive director.

"Teachers of this Commonwealth agree with what the Governor said in her opening remarks to the General Assembly Tuesday (Jan. 7)—full funding for education improvements must be the state's number one priority," Diebold said.

The 29,000-member teacher organization chooses delegates that democratically vote on issues to be included in its official legislative program.

On Jan. 4 the KEA Board of Directors adapted the program that had been adopted Dec. 1, 1984, in light of the reforms made in the Special Session.

The plan to give teachers more autonomy over their profession—similar to licensing boards for the medical profession—is a new KEA position.

"The public holds teachers responsible for policing our ranks when in reality we have no current authority to say who can teach or what kind of preparation should be required," KEA President Jon Henrikson noted.

Under the KEA proposal 9 of the 15 members of the teaching commission would be classroom teachers.

This commission would have the power to issue teaching certificates, approve teacher education standards and programs, regulate the beginning teacher intern program and state-required teacher evaluation programs, and establish criteria for the teacher salary ranking system.

On retirement issues, KEA is supporting:

*Retirement after 27 years without penalty.

*Minimum pension, cost-of-living increases, and state-paid medical insurance for retired teachers.

*Allowance for retired teachers to resume teaching to alleviate a teacher shortage without affecting retirement annuities.

Jewish Hospital Opens Plastic Surgery Center

Henry C. Wagner, president of Jewish Hospital, has announced the creation of The Plastic and Aesthetic Surgery Center which will be the first of its kind in the United States and will utilize concepts in patient care not yet in practice.

"There is a unique unmet need in Louisville and the region for highly developed medical care in the field of aesthetic and reconstructive surgery. Jewish Hospital's 80-year tradition of excellence will provide comfort and safety to men and women seeking these services. This is an appropriate expansion for us because it requires both high technology and highly personalized patient care. Our staff has consistently proven their excellence in these areas," said Mr. Wagner.

The hospital has provided services in the field of plastic and reconstructive surgery for many years. Thus, creation of the Center underscores Jewish Hospital's longstanding commitment in offering specialized care.

Jewish Hospital will dedicate all the resources to ensure that The Center enjoys the same level of preeminence demonstrated by The Louisville Institute for Heart and Lung Disease and The Louisville Institute for Hand and Microsurgery previously established at Jewish Hospital.

The Plastic and Aesthetic Surgery Center will be housed on the sixth floor. Construction plans include deluxe patient room accommodations, treatment and examination rooms. Renovation is under way with completion set in late spring.

Patients seeking more information on The Plastic and Aesthetic Surgery Center, individual procedures and plastic surgeons on the Medical Staff at Jewish Hospital can call 502-587-4799. Media representatives wanting more information should call the Community Relations Department at 502-587-4230.

Douglas Scott Keathley celebrated his seventh birthday, January 7, at his home where he enjoyed a birthday cake and was presented gifts.

A first grade student at Harold Grade School, he is the son of Tommy and Cathy Allen Keathley, of Harold. His grandparents are Myra Thomas and Ted and Myrtle Keathley, all of Harold, and Robert Thomas, of Columbus, Ohio.

Floyd Student Among Scholarship Winners

The Desiree L. Franklin Scholarship was established at the Hazard State Vocational-Technical School in 1975 in honor of Desiree L. Franklin, a New York native who wanted to help the students of the Hazard State Vocational-Technical School. Mrs. Franklin attributed her husband's wealth to the hard work of vocationally trained individuals who had worked for him.

Because of Mrs. Franklin's interest in education, each year 10 students are the recipients of a $100 scholarship. The scholarship recognizes student potential, expectation for success, attitude, ability, job performance, as well as family size and economic need.

The following students are the 1985 recipients of the scholarship: James Madden, coal mine equipment operator, Hazard; Stanley Cochran, electricity, Hazard; Esther Doris Stacy, business and office, Buckhorn; Charles Jackson, carpentry, Garrett; Jackie Conley, carpentry, Garrett; Johnny Ellis, auto mechanics, Hazard; Charlene Whitaker, auto body repair, Amburgey; Teresa Stamper, cosmetology, Whitesburg; Barbara Watts, business and office, Hazard; Earl D. Hurt, drafting, Bonnyman.

Community Chorus To Meet

The Prestonsburg Community Chorus will meet Monday, Jan. 20, at Prestonsburg Community College, Room J155, at 7 p.m., when the chorus will begin work on The Faure Requiem. The chorus, which has been in existence 21 years, is composed of lay musicians. Persons interested in singing good choral literature are eligible and are invited to join the group. According to Gus M. Kalos, director of the group, the chorus will need to add many new voices this semester. Anyone interested in joining the group should attend the first meeting Monday evening. The chorus may be taken for college credit.

Collins Extends Freeze On New Health Facilities

Gov. Martha Layne Collins has ordered a continued freeze on approval of new applications for long-term health care facilities. "My administration and the General Assembly are considering numerous changes in health care," Collins said. "Until our revisions are completed, there is no effective standard against which to gauge the need for further expansions. I'm ordering this freeze to make sure any future expansions are consistent with the health care needs of our people and use every public dollar spent on health care to the greatest advantage." Collins also returned the proposed state health plan to the Statewide Health Coordinating Council with a request that a moratorium on additional nursing home beds and new home health services through 1986 be included in the plan. Collins said her moratorium, established by executive order and effective immediately through April 15, 1986, is more flexible than earlier moratoriums. It will allow expansions in these cases: (1) Facilities which fail to meet life safety codes may be replaced; (2) Existing beds may be converted to lower levels of care (i.e., skilled nursing to intermediate, etc.); (3) Existing but unneeded or under used acute care (hospital) beds may be reclassified to meet clearly identified regional needs for additional long-term care beds. "With the moratorium, my administration and the General Assembly will have the necessary time to devise a health care system to try to meet the present and future needs of our citizens," said Collins.

VISITORS FROM TENNESSEE

Mr. and Mrs. George McClellan, and son and daughter, Jay and Susan Elizabeth, of Bristol, Tenn., were here during the holidays for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, and other relatives. While here they spent some time with Mrs. Ola Ramey and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hazelett and son Eddie, all of Paintsville.

CHURCH CIRCLE MEETS

Members of the Annie Allen Circle, Baptist Women, held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Dolly Pettrey and Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick, Monday evening, Jan. 6, with the president, Mrs. Patty Minns, in charge. Mrs. Minns reported that Christmas gifts furnished by members were delivered to the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, and told of the appreciation of the recipients. The financial report was given by Mrs. Rebecca Rasnick.

Mrs. Dolly Pettrey reported that cards had been sent to shut-ins of the church. The Annie Armstrong and Lotie Moon offerings were discussed. It was decided that Mesdames Rebecca Rasnick, Dolly Pettrey, Patty Minns, Patsy Evans, Docia Woods, Myrtle Allen, and Lucy Regan would furnish food for the B.S.U. members at the Prestonsburg Community College during the month of January.

The program, "First Aid for Hurting Families," was given by Mesdames Eva Collins, Lucy Regan, Vivian Fraley, Patty Minns, Ruby Garrett, Zella Archer.

Mrs. Vivian Fraley presented the prayer list for Baptist missionaries who are observing birthdays this month, and Mrs. Patsy Evans led in prayer for them. The next meeting, which will be on Monday, Feb. 3, at 7 p.m., will be at the home of the former president, Mrs. Ruby Garrett.

The hostesses, Mesdames Rasnick and Pettrey, served refreshments to Mesdames Patty Minns, Ruby Garrett, Zella Archer, Eva Collins, Docia Woods, Ora Bussey, Lucy Regan, Vivian Fraley, Myrtle Allen, and Patsy Evans, members, and to Bill Pettrey.

Miss Blackburn, Mr. Patton Wed

The Pikeville Free Will Baptist Church was the setting for the double-ring ceremony uniting Jonda Lou Blackburn and James Allen Patton in marriage. The minister officiating at the candlelight ceremony was Lawrence Baldrige, of Pippa Passes, Kentucky.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Blackburn, of Pikeville, Kentucky, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Patton, of Prestonsburg.

The church altar was adorned with candelabra and greenery. Satin ribbons in a background of greenery marked the family pews.

Wedding music for the ceremony was provided by Deana Gibson on the piano and Rita Fields playing the bells and the clarinet. Larry Blackburn, cousin of the bride, sang several of the bride's favorite songs including: "The Rose", "How Great Thou Art", and "The Wedding Song." Marsha Lowe read scripture from I Corinthians, Chapter 10, and Ambre Thacker recited the poem, "How Will I Know You?"

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She was dressed in a floor-length gown featuring beaded renaissance lace. The gown was highlighted by a bateau neckline, and basque waist, and also featured a circular skirt with a chapel length train. She wore a matching brimmed hat with English beaded net and full veil. Her bouquet was of white roses, orchids, and baby's breath.

Deedra Brown, of Paintsville, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tonya Blackburn, sister of the bride, of Pikeville, Leigh Ann Patton, Melanie Phillips, of Trenton, Michigan, both cousins of the bride; Patsy Stanley, of Sidney, Acina Ramey, of Elkhorn City, Vicki Crisp, of Prestonsburg, Rhonda Hopson, of Jackson, Kimberly Taylor, of Meta, and Susan Dunn, of Salyersville.

The bride's attendants were dressed in rose colored tea-length gowns with a bateau neckline and short sleeves. The gowns featured scalloped-edge lace over gleaming satin and highlighted with satin cummerbunds and soft back bows. The attendants each carried a white long-stemmed rose. The maid of honor carried two long-stemmed white roses.

The flower girls were Maeha Spears, cousin of the bride, and Kimi Nunery, cousin of the groom. Catrina Morley, cousin of the bride, carried two red long-stemmed roses to give to the bride to present to her mother and to her mother-in-law.

Randy Gearhart, of Allen, served as best man, and groomsmen were Billy Stiltner, cousin of the bride, of Phyllis, Lacy Goodman and Rusty Justice, both of Pikeville, Stewart Wright, Jack Goodman, Marty Osborne, Jim DeRossett, Don Pack, Mike Click, all of Prestonsburg, and Glen Hall, of Lexington, Kentucky. Matthew McCoy, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The wedding was directed by Jackie Collins, Mike Thompson, and Rita Allen, aunt of the groom. Wanda Varney presided at the bride's book and Lisa Blackburn, cousin of the bride, presented reception scrolls to the wedding guests. Flowers for the wedding were by Pikeville Floral. Wedding photography was by Nelson's Studio.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the church. The wedding cake was created by Diana Meade. Linda Collins directed the reception and was assisted by Lisa Williamson, Joey Belcher, Teresa Justice, Kim Thompson, and Ambre Thacker.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple is now residing at 1052 River-view Lane, Prestonsburg.

Celebrates First Birthday

James Michael Warrix, son of James and Debbie Warrix, of West Prestonsburg Road, celebrated his first birthday, Dec. 1, with a party at home, including a Big Bird birthday cake and ice cream. Those attending were his sister, aunts, uncles, cousins. James Michael is the grandson of Curtis and Minnie Warrix, Water Gap, and Charles and Bea Conn, of Ivel.

Dec. Farm Prices Up

Farmers received a small Christmas present last month when prices for farm products increased slightly over November prices.

"Unfortunately, at the same time, prices were generally lower than last year during this time," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

Corn was up slightly in mid-December to $2.49 from November's $2.42. This is below the December 1984 price of $2.80.

Soybeans continued an upward trend in December, going from $5.11 in November to $5.29 in December. However, this is also lower than the December 1984 price of $6.16.

Wheat followed the same trend, rising from $3.14 in November to $3.42 in December, but remaining lower than the December 1984 price of $3.44.

Prices in the pre-holiday burley sales averaged $160.16 per hundredweight. The belt-wide average was $159.64 per hundredweight.

Livestock prices in Kentucky varied, as cattle prices were generally lower at mid-December, while hog prices showed a slight increase.

The mid-December beef cattle price of $44 was down from the mid-November average of $45.10, but was higher than the December 1984 average of $43.80.

Hog prices averaged $44.20 in November, increasing by $2.60 per hundredweight to $46.80 by mid-December. This is below the December 1984 price of $49.30.

"If your gas or oil bills are high, add on a heat pump."

You can cut your heating bills by adding a heat pump to the gas or oil furnace you already have.

An add-on heat pump saves you money because it shares the job of heating your home. You just add it on to your existing furnace. It goes on only when electricity is the most efficient, economical source of heat.

And all summer long, you get the comfort of air conditioning. Because in the summer, the heat pump reverses itself and pumps the heat out of your house while keeping the cool air circulating.

Because an add-on heat pump uses your existing furnace, most installations don't involve any changes to your ductwork.

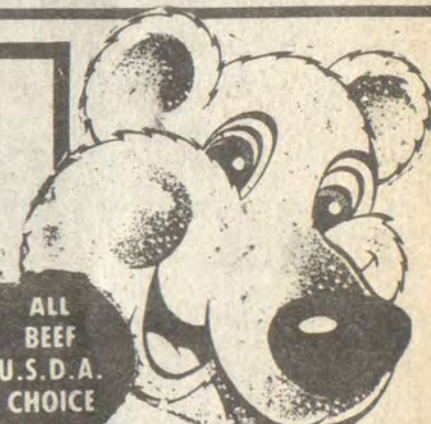

If you think about the savings, the air conditioning, and the low cost of installation, adding on a heat pump is a pretty smart move. Call us and find out more.

Auxier Youth Charged With Criminal Assault

Prestonsburg police have charged a 17-year-old Auxier juvenile with first degree criminal assault and a 22-year-old Goble-Roberts woman, Lola Fields Johnson, with neglect in the alleged beating of Mrs. Johnson's two-year-old child at the apartment of the child's babysitter at Cliffside early Sunday morning.

According to Detective Sgt. Mike Ormerod of the Prestonsburg city police, officers were called into the case after the juvenile, reportedly Mrs. Johnson's boyfriend, was said to have taken the child into the bathroom of the Cliffside apartment where, it is alleged, he struck the baby repeatedly.

"The babysitter was afraid to let him (the juvenile) in initially," said Ormerod, "because she could see he had been drinking. When he came in the child was crying, and he asked the babysitter what was wrong. She told him it wasn't unusual for children at that age to cry. He then took the child into the bathroom and closed the door. The babysitter said she heard what sounded like someone being slapped six times, and then a thud, like the baby had fallen into the bathtub." Ormerod said the babysitter, Sherry Moore, told police the baby continued to cry while in the bathroom.

Ormerod said when the youth brought the child out, Miss Moore asked him what had happened in the bathroom. The youth reportedly replied, "It's not child abuse."

The baby was said to be bleeding slightly from the mouth at that time. Ormerod said that when he checked the scene later there was a sizable amount of blood in the bathroom.

After the juvenile took the children (Mrs. Johnson's other son, a four-year-old, was being watched by Miss Moore also) to the car where the mother was waiting with his aunt, Mrs. Johnson saw the child had been injured and went inside to ask Miss Moore what had happened. Ormerod said Miss Moore became angry and flustered, shut the door in her face and told her never to come back. Miss Moore then called the police.

Ormerod said Miss Moore alleged the beating took place at about 2 a.m. Officers Gerald Clark, Greg Hall and Chuck Akers went to the mother's Highland Heights apartment at about 3 a.m., accompanied by social worker Marty Hicks, while Ormerod went to Miss Moore's home.

Officer Clark accompanied Hicks, the child and the mother to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where the child was examined. In addition to fresh bruises on the child's body, Ormerod said there was evidence of old bruises, as well as toothprints on his lower abdomen.

No serious injuries were reported, and the child and his brother were to be remanded to the custody of their grandmother.

If convicted, the juvenile faces a maximum sentence of six months at the detention center.

Ormerod said the suspects maintain their innocence.

Crime Victims Board Gets Federal Grant

Governor Martha Layne Collins has announced that the Kentucky Crime Victims Compensation Board has been awarded its initial federal grant totaling $213,000 to help innocent victims of crime.

The grant, from the U.S. Department of Justice, will be in effect for a two-year period. The intent of the federal legislation is to allow state victim compensation boards to broaden benefits to victims. As a result, Kentucky's Crime Victims Board is proposing several amendments to the 1986 General Assembly which will enhance the present program, including an increase in the maximum which can be paid to a victim.

"The enactment of the federal legislation to aid crime victims came about as a result of many years of cooperative effort by both victim assistance and victim compensation groups" said Governor Collins, "and reflects the continuing commitment of the federal government to improve the treatment of crime victims."

For more information on the federal grant awarded to the Kentucky Crime Victims Compensation Board, contact Ilse Dickerson in Frankfort at (502) 564-2290.

ASCS Now Accepting Burley Quota Bids

The Floyd County ASCS office is now accepting applications for new burley tobacco quotas. To be eligible, an applicant must have experience in two of the last five years in tobacco production; have available necessary equipment and suitable land for the production of tobacco; must expect to make 50 percent or more of his income in the current year from farming and must not have an ownership interest on any farm where a current year quota of any kind of tobacco is established.

Applications must be received in the county ASCS office by February 15. For further information, contact the Floyd County ASCS Office, 105 Court St., or by calling 886-2802.

Jurist Quoted As Saying Area 'Is Different'

Prestonsburg coal operator Edgar Jones and four Floyd miners who were convicted in 1984 of plotting and using violence to shut down a rival coal operation at East McDowell should be given a break by their parole boards because eastern Kentucky is more tolerant of violence than are other sections of the country, U.S. District Judge G. Wix Unthank reportedly implied last Tuesday in a hearing in Pikeville.

Jones, 68, German Stumbo, 42, Teddy Kinney, 51, and Kenneth Rowland, 47, all of McDowell, and Mose Meade, 28, of Wayland, entered federal prisons last July to begin serving three-year sentences for their part in the blasting of a coal auger and the burning of a tipple owned by Ray Mac Coal Company in 1982, shortly after the firm opened a non-union mine on Bill Hall Branch. Jones, who owned a union mine nearby, was accused of encouraging the violence.

At a hearing in the federal court on motions to reduce their sentences, attorneys for the convicted men argued that violence has long been accepted in the east Kentucky coalfields and that the men did not willfully violate federal racketeering laws.

Although Unthank declined to reduce the sentences, he said he would recommend leniency to the men's parole boards. "I want to make known to them the feeling of this court that this is not an ordinary case" of racketeering, the Louisville Courier Journal reported the judge as saying.

Federal parole guidelines "do not take into consideration regional or environmental differences. I think they should. There is a difference between our area and other areas of the country," the judge is reported to have said.

Conservation District Seeks National Teacher of The Year

Nominations are being accepted for the national Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year awards program. Lloyd Wells is chairman of the Floyd County Conservation District. The competition is open to all full time teachers working at the kindergarten through high school level who have developed an outstanding program of conservation education.

The National Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year will receive $1,000 in cash and an expense paid trip to Reno, Nevada, for the 1987 annual convention of the National Association of Conservation Districts. The national second place winner will receive a $500 cash award and the first place regional winner will receive $200.

Co-sponsored by NACD and the Deutz-Allis Corporation, the purpose of the awards program is to encourage the development of creative learning experiences in conservation for young people. "Any teacher in a public or private school in our conservation district who puts emphasis on conservation as a regular part of the instructional program is eligible for nomination," said Mr. Wells.

Interested teachers can obtain additional information and nomination forms from the Floyd County Conservation District, 886-3128. The awards program also honors the conservation districts judged to have provided the most effective stimulus and help for conservation education programs within the district.

State Charges Two Officers

One of two men hired last week as county detective in a controversial vote of Floyd Fiscal Court was arrested Saturday on a tax evasion charge and booked at the county jail.

Joey Boling, 37, of Wayland, was picked up Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Anthony Castle on a warrant issued on January 6 by Franklin Circuit Judge William Graham. The warrant said he is required to appear in Franklin Circuit Court on February 10 to show why he should not be held in contempt for failing to appear at an October 7 hearing there. Boling was released after putting up a $500 cash bond.

The new county detective, who is listed as the proprietor of Manns Grocery, at Wayland, is named as defendant in a suit filed in 1984 by Gary W. Gillis, state Revenue Cabinet secretary. The suit alleges that Boling owes $4134 in sales tax for the period running from May, 1983 through June, 1984.

In 1984, the Revenue Cabinet secured a court order restraining Boling from operating his grocery without a sales tax license, said Arnold C. Jones, an attorney in the Cabinet's division of collections. At the October 7 hearing, Boling was to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failing to heed the order, the attorney said.

Another law officer was booked at the county jail last week, when State Det. Ernie Dudleson arrested Raleigh Barnett, 49, of Martin, on a warrant issued on January 30 last year by Floyd Circuit Judge Hollie Conley. Barnett, a sheriff's deputy, is charged with trafficking in marijuana, trafficking in Schedule IV drugs, having prescription drugs in an improper container and trafficking in a simulated controlled substance.

The charges date to 1983; Barnett was said to have fled to Florida shortly after his indictment on the charges and to have returned here recently. He was booked on January 7 and released after posting a $5000 property bond. Trial on the charges is scheduled for December 5.

January Is Tourism Awareness Month

Governor Martha Layne Collins has proclaimed January as Tourism Awareness Month in Kentucky. The designation was made to promote public awareness of tourism's economic importance to Kentucky and to mark the start of the 1986 tourism season.

"Our tourism promotional efforts get under way in January with a full travel show schedule in our major market areas followed by a television and radio campaign that commences in late February," explained Tourism Secretary Wendell Combs. "It is not widely recognized that these efforts translate into important economic pay off. We can directly trace a $9 return to an investment of $1. But the real benefit of tourism is measured in terms of jobs and tax revenues."

Department of Travel Development research shows that tourism is the state's second largest employer, providing jobs for more than 110,000 Kentuckians. Tourism is the state's third largest industry, contributing $3.1 billion to the Kentucky economy and generating $228 million in state and local tax revenues.

According to Combs, "It is predicted that 11 percent of all new jobs in Kentucky this fiscal year will be tourism related."

Kentuckians can now participate in the protection and preservation of our rich natural heritage. On Line 21a, you can designate all or a portion of your Kentucky tax refund to help wildlife.

Your tax deductible contribution will support non-game species protection programs by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and the purchase and maintenance of natural areas by the Kentucky Nature Preserves Commission. These programs have no other sources of funding.

Dr. Campbell with recent David School graduates, from left, Anna Greene, Jennifer Moody, Thomas Tilley.

Mid-year graduation exercises were held recently at the David School. The graduates are Anna Greene, Jennifer Moody, and Thomas Tilley. The ceremony was held in the school gym with family members, teachers and fellow-students in attendance.

Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., director of Prestonsburg Community College, addressed the graduates and their families. He spoke of the unique and much-needed contribution that the David School makes to the education of Floyd county youth. The program at David emphasizes the upbuilding of self-confidence and basic skills instruction.

Miss Greene and Miss Moody have applied to college, and Tilley is preparing for further vocational training.

Martin Magistrates Repeal Pay Cuts by Predecessors

(In The Lexington Herald-Leader)

INEZ—There were signs of public approval last spring when Martin County's magistrates, in a fit of self-examination, decided they were receiving too much money for a part-time job.

State officials have decried conditions in many Eastern Kentucky counties where magistrates pay themselves up to $24,000 a year for meeting once a month, but Martin county's lawmakers bucked the tide—voting themselves 55 percent pay cuts, from $10,872 annually to $4,908, effective Jan. 1, 1986.

This week, however, the tide bucked back. Five new magistrates took office in Inez, and one of the first things they did was, in effect, to give themselves $500 monthly raises.

The pay boost even included a $100-a-month "cost-of-living" increase, raising the county lawmakers' annual incomes to $12,108, including expenses.

"Nobody asked why," Deputy Judge-Executive Mike Cassidy said yesterday. "They just passed it unanimously."

Magistrate Robert "Cat" Fletcher of Wolf Creek, who initiated the pay raises, said yesterday that fiscal court members thought they deserved the higher pay.

"We felt if a man did his job, he wasn't getting overpaid," Fletcher said. "If I wasn't going to be worth it, I wouldn't even ask for it."

Former Magistrate John Boone Stepp, who proposed the pay cut while still a fiscal court member in May, was not surprised by the developments. The new magistrates not only increased their own salaries but they also eliminated approved 30 percent pay cuts for County Attorney Drewie Muncy and the Martin County coronor's office.

"I kind of looked for it," Stepp said, "but I felt it was a part-time job, and it always will be a part-time job."

"You can call yourself a full-time magistrate, but there's no such thing. The only time a magistrate has any authority is during a meeting."

That's easy for Stepp to say, said Fletcher, who pointed out that although the former magistrate did not seek reelection, his pay was not affected. "He (Stepp) drew his $909 a month right up till he went out of office," Fletcher said.

Fletcher said the magistrates talked to Muncy, the county attorney, concerning the pay raises about a week ago.

"He (Muncy) said it was legally right," Fletcher said.

Wal-Mart Announces Scholarship of $1000

The Wal-Mart Store in Prestonsburg has announced that a $1,000 scholarship soon will be awarded to a high school senior. Speaking on behalf of the store, Carl Sparks, manager, said, "One scholarship will be presented to a student who plans to attend a college or university after graduation from high school."

The scholarship will be based on the student's scholastic and academic achievements, extra curricular and work activities, and financial need. A team of judges composed of community leaders will evaluate the applications and make their final determination during an interview with the student.

"Students interested in applying for the scholarship should check with their high school counselor for applications and more information," Sparks said, applications must be received by the school counselor before February 8.

The scholarship given by the Prestonsburg Wal-Mart Store is only one of over 860 other scholarships being given by the company.

TAKING PILLS FOR ACNE

Two antibiotics that are commonly prescribed for acne are tetracycline and minocycline. Their effectiveness, however, is often significantly reduced unless they are taken with water on an empty stomach. In studies with 16 healthy volunteers, doctors found that when minocycline was taken with food, absorption decreased by 13 percent. Under the same conditions, absorption of tetracycline decreased by 46 percent. When minocycline was taken with milk, absorption was down by 27 percent. When taken with milk, absorption of tetracycline was down by 65 percent. Neither drug should be taken along with vitamin and mineral supplements containing iron. Iron also greatly decreases absorption, by 77 percent for minocycline and 81 percent for tetracycline.

REVOLUTION (PG-Warner Bros.) Starring Al Pacino, Donald Sutherland, Nastassja Kinski. ★

By J.T. YURKO

The concept is a great one — an unglamorized picture of the American revolution. No statuesque portraits of Washington crossing the Delaware, no philosophical treatises on freedom and independence. Instead, the filmmakers get down into the trenches and show us what a war was like in 1776. No doubt they are hoping that the viewers will go on to question what made this revolution different from others — even those going on today.

Unfortunately, the execution leaves everything to be desired. The story is threadbare, the characters are one-dimensional, and the script is downright laughable.

Someone should buy director Hugh Hudson (whose last film was the Oscar-winning "Chariots of Fire") a tripod. In his effort to give the film an authentic look, he has shot nearly the entire film in "cinema verite" with a hand-held camera. After 30 minutes, it's annoying. At the end of two hours, the jumpy camera will almost make viewers seasick. Of course, the camera movement wouldn't be nearly so annoying if the story and characters had anything to offer. Al Pacino plays a fur trapper virtually conscripted into the American Revolution. At first he states, "It's not my fight," but when his son signs up for the few shillings they offer, Pacino is brought into the battle.

Along the path to glory, he meets Nastassja Kinski, a young revolutionary who somehow falls in love with him. But their romance is so devoid of motivation that it becomes ludicrous. Miss Kinski has the misfortune to speak some of the funniest lines ever uttered in a not-intentionally funny movie, while Pacino has his face frozen into one single expression throughout the entire film.

The sets and costumes are tops, and the crowd and battle scenes are superbly staged. But the most remarkable thing about this movie is that the filmmakers have taken so rich and powerful a slice of American history and culled such nonsense from it.

Plan Pilot Projects for Medically Indigent in 4 Counties of State

The Department for Health Services has announced the implementation of pilot projects that will provide medical services to some of Kentucky's medically indigent.

"This is a modest first step in meeting the health care needs of the medically indigent in Kentucky," said Health Commissioner Carlos Hernandez. "Between 300,000 and 400,000 Kentuckians make too much money to qualify for Medicaid and too little to afford health care or medical insurance. We will try to reach this group."

Acute ambulatory care services in health departments will be an alternative for those people who become ill but who are unable to afford medical treatment, Hernandez said.

The four demonstrations, funded for a 12-month period, are set to begin in February in Hopkins county in the East Pennyrile District Health Department, in Bell and Clay counties in the Cumberland Valley District Health Department, in Boyd county in the FIVCO District Health Department and in the Magoffin county Health Department. Patients will be treated by local physicians who have contracted with the departments.

"We will give the health departments broad parameters within which they may work, but the daily operation of each project is up to the individual department," said Hernandez.

"The demonstration projects will mark the first time that Kentuckians in these communities can go to a health department for problems such as earaches, stomach problems, sore throats, headaches—problems that would normally prompt a person to seek medical attention," said Dr. Hernandez.

An important aspect of the health department's ambulatory services is the integration of ambulatory care with existing health promotion efforts, Hernandez said.

For example, if a diabetic who had not been to a doctor in two years comes in to the health department complaining of a sore throat, the patient would be treated for the sore throat and informed of the department's diabetes control program. The program, designed to promote better self care and prevent diabetes complications, is one of many health promotion efforts by local health departments.

"Kentucky's health departments have a strong health promotion emphasis because we know that preventing disease costs less than treating a medical problem once it has occurred," he said. "If we want to affect health care costs, we must emphasize keeping people healthy."

Each project is to receive approximately $150,000 from the department. Local resources will also be committed to the projects, and patients will be charged for services on a sliding ability-to-pay scale from as low as $1. However, those unable to pay will not be denied services.

The Department for Health Services asked several health departments from medically underserved areas of Kentucky to apply for the grants. Other considerations in requesting proposals were the degree of local poverty, the willingness of participation by the health department and board of health, and support from the local medical community.

A request for $1 million in each year of the next biennium to continue and expand the project has been submitted as part of the department's budget request, Hernandez said.

Exchange Vows

Miss Carolyn Jean Mills became the bride of Mr. Darryl Clay Ward December 21 in a double-ring ceremony solemnized under an archway arrayed with Christmas poinsettias and holly. The bride and groom lit a unity candle to symbolize their commitment to each other and to represent their union in marriage with Christ.

Miss Polly Ward was maid of honor, and Mr. Jack Ward was best man.

The impressive ceremony was solemnized at the Inez First Baptist Church by the Rev. Hobert Reynolds.

The newlywed couple expressed their appreciation to all those who shared the occasion with them.

Board Named To Shape Academic Honors Plan

The "Governor's Cup Competition" for academic honors moved a step closer to reality last week as Governor Martha Layne Collins created a board of directors of the Kentucky Academic Association.

The governor asked the board to design and establish a statewide system of academic competition to benefit all Kentucky students.

"We have placed a lot of emphasis on excellence in education these past two years and this competition will recognize those students who achieve in academics," said Governor Collins. "We want our children to know we value education in this state."

The 17 members named will serve until June 30 when a permanent board of directors will be chosen.

The action was taken on the recommendation of the Task Force on Academic Competition. Appointed to the temporary board of directors of the Kentucky Academic Association were: Dr. Ken Scott, Frankfort; Dr. Tom Maddox, Jr., Owensboro; Betty Stermon, Fancy Farm; Mary Wathen, Lexington; Garnet Williamson, Frankfort; Zella Wallace Wells, Paintsville; Ruth Ann Futrell, Murray; Danny Spillman, Bowling Green; Dr. Robert Smotherman, Bardstown; Anne Crockett, Louisville; Ron McCormick, Alexandria; Marlene Helm, Lexington; Joy Rice, Harlan; Brenda Burton, Morehead; Marilyn Hohmann, Fairdale; V. Wayne Young, Frankfort; and Mildred Robinson, Ashland.

QUILT DRAWING HELD AT MOUNTAIN MANOR

December 23 the drawing for the quilt donated by Mary Stambaugh, of East Point, and handmade by Mrs. James Cornett, of Prestonsburg, was held. Winner of the quilt was Marvin Blair, resident of West Virginia, who purchased the winning ticket during the Apple Day celebration at Paintsville.

Asks Permission To Move Gravesite

Edward M. Tackett, of Weeksbury, Ky., came before the Floyd County Fiscal Court, January 6, 1986, asking for permission to move an abandoned gravesite located on his property on Rt. No. 466 in Weeksbury, Kentucky. The remains are that of a stillborn child born to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hamilton, both now deceased. The child died sometime between 1930 and 1935, and the grave is in great disrepair. According to K.R.S. 381.755, the grave can be moved after advertising three (3) times, and if there are no objections at the February, 1986 court meeting, Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home of Martin, Kentucky, will move the grave to the Weeksbury Community Cemetery.

SCHOOL PROPERTY SALE The Floyd County Board of Education will receive sealed bids until 7 o'clock, Feb. 5, 1986 for the following property: Subject property consists of approximately three-fourths acre located along Highway 194 and the right fork of Home Branch. The lot is level to rolling and five to ten feet below the grade of Highway 194. There is no zoning for subject property, but it has been used for an elementary school for the Floyd County School System. Subject property is improved by two frame buildings and a metal trailer. Building number one contains approximately 876 square feet, has wood siding exterior and an asphalt shingle roof. The interior is one large room with two small baths, although there are no fixtures in the building. Interior walls are drywall with a hardwood floor. Other improvements include blackboard and some shelving. Condition of this building is considered to be poor as the roof has leaked, windows are broken, floors are buckled, and the building has been vandalized. Building number two contains approximately 786 square feet, has wood siding and a tin roof. Interior walls are paneled and the floors are hardwood. This building also is in poor condition as vandals have broken windows and torn up the interior in general. Building number three is a metal trailer containing approximately 248 square feet. The roof is asphalt rolled and the interior is vinyl floor and paneled walls. The minimum acceptable bid is $14,800 (fourteen thousand eight hundred dollars). The Floyd County Board of Education reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids. RAY BRACKETT Acting Superintendent Floyd County Schools 1-15-3t.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my dear son Rondall Lawson who departed this life in January 1985, on a Sunday night 8:30 p.m. from that dreadful disease, cancer. Son, you are gone but in our hearts you will always live. Your many friends miss you so much. You were always so generous and unselfish. It's hard for me to face life without you, tho I know you are better off. You told us the many good things the Lord had done for you. You wanted to get able to come home and be baptized into the Regular Baptist Church. Son, I have no worries as to where you went. You told me and two of your sisters you were praying to die but that the Lord was waiting for you. I'm thankful to God he led me up to stay with you. God only knows how many tears I've shed in the past year. Seems like I can still hear you telling me I had to be strong. I have tried but it's so hard. You were so helpful and good to me. A son was never loved any more than you were.

Good bye for a little while son. Sadly missed by mother, sisters and children.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Minnie Stumbo. Grandmother never was a trendsetter or a jetsetter. She never was high society. She had no interest in fashion or style. (Don't get me wrong, she liked a nice dress.) But when she walked and talked among society, she did so with the dignity and pride of a queen. From her time and place of upbringing, she came forth with a good education. Mommy mixed freely with the lowly and the uppy. And she had close, dear friends from all walks of life. She never met a stranger.

IN MEMORIAM

Bill Daniels, 83, of Garrett, died last Wednesday, at the Highlands Regional Medical Center following a long illness. He was born August 15, 1902 at Tomahawk, a son of the late John and Mahale Brown Daniels. He was a retired miner and a member of the United Mine Workers of America and was a member of the Little Union United Baptist Church for 30 years.

He is survived by his wife, Anna Hicks Daniels; two sons, Franklin B. Daniels, of Norwood, Ohio, and John C. Daniels, of Nashville, Tennessee; five daughters, Bonnie Jacobs, of Stanville, Maureen Hollinsworth, of Gulfport, Mississippi, Janavene Burchwell, of Garrett, Pat Griffith, of Morrow, Ohio, Beatrice Horton, of Rochester, Ohio; 16 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 10 a.m. at the Little Union United Baptist Church at Garrett, with United Baptist ministers officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery at Garrett under the direction of the Hall Funeral Home.

Death of Howell Marks First Traffic Fatality of 1986

Floyd county logged its first traffic fatality of the new year Monday, as Barry Howell, 31, of Spradlin Branch, near here, was killed after losing control of his car on an icy Mountain Parkway, crossing into the lane of oncoming traffic about seven-and-one-half miles west of Prestonsburg.

His compact Chevrolet Citation was struck on the driver's side by a Ford Thunderbird driven by Paul Thomas, of Winchester. Howell, who had become 31 that day, was said to have been wearing a safety belt.

Howell was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Roger Nelson, who said neither of the cars appeared to have been travelling above the speed limit. The accident occurred at 7:03 a.m.

Thomas received a slight facial cut but was not treated.

Howell, an employee of Brown's Produce of Louisa, was formerly employed by Francis Denimland here. He was on the administrative board of the Community United Methodist Church, a member of Masonic Lodge No. 273, F&AM, and a well-known referee of elementary school basketball games around Floyd county.

Frank Francis, head of athletics for the county school system, called Howell's death "a tremendous loss. He was a fine young man and a superb official. He was a super guy."

In addition to his parents, Estill and Anna Jean Bingham Howell, of Spradlin Branch, Howell is survived by his wife, Sandy Crisp Howell; two daughters, Misti and Angela Howell, also of Spradlin Branch; two sisters, Carole Pruitt, Lexington, and Judy Endicott, Prestonsburg; one brother, Larry Howell, Lexington; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Dania Bingham, Prestonsburg.

Funeral services will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m. at the Community Methodist Church, the Revs. James Doughton and Taylor Biggs officiating. Burial will be made in the Bingham family cemetery, Auxier. Masonic services were conducted at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

In lieu of flowers, contributions are suggested to the Community United Methodist Church.

Pallbearers will be Kenneth Crisp, Gary Crisp, Buford Crager, Bobbie Crager, Ken Pruitt, Bob Pruitt, John (Lenny) Harris, Heath Endicott and Martin Endicott.

HOW SHOULD I CHOOSE AN EXECUTOR?

The choice of an executor is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. Consider some of the duties of an executor. Among other things he must:

1. Locate your will.
2. Carry out the funeral arrangements, if no pre-arrangement has been made.
3. Probate the will and be appointed executor.
4. Keep accurate records of all estate transactions.
5. Open the safe deposit box, if any.
6. Assume control over all personal property.
7. Do whatever is necessary to liquidate or to carry on the business.
8. Determine the debts due the estate and see that they are paid.
9. Arrange for the collection of all insurance payable to the estate.
10. Pay all taxes and other expenses of the estate.
11. Have all property, real and personal, appraised for tax purposes.
12. Defend the estate against any suits.
13. Submit a final accounting to the court.

Obviously, this is a substantial job requiring skill, patience, experience, judgment and intelligence. Making a will, getting your affairs in order, and pre-planning the funeral will make your executor's job easier.

You should consult your attorney before making a final decision on whom to choose as your executor.

New "Frontline" Season To Begin January 23

For 444 days, all of America wondered what was happening behind the walls of the American embassy in Iran. Now, five years later, "Frontline" with Judy Woodruff will air "Hostage in Iran," the story of those 444 days told by the hostages who lived them. "Hostage in Iran" will be aired on KET Thursday, January 23, at 8:30 p.m. (ET). "I remember hearing the click of the bolts on their rifles," says one former hostage. "I was just waiting for a loud crash and everything would fade out and that would be the end of my life." The "Frontline" report contains the most extensive TV interviews ever given by many key participants in the hostage crisis, some of whom have never spoken about their ordeal before. "Frontline" also will present film footage taken from inside the American embassy compound, some of it filmed by the Iranian students themselves. In the hostages' own words, "Frontline" tells the inside story of the long siege in Iran. The documentary reveals the full extent of the terror to which the Americans were subjected by their militant Islamic captors. Beatings, mock executions, and solitary confinement were routine.

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

WILDLIFE FEDERATION ANIMAL SHELTER

Shelter Policy:

- Visitors are welcome.
- All adoptable pets are kept until homes are found.
- Badly diseased, crippled, and vicious mongrels are put to sleep by gas—a euthanasia process approved by the United States Humane Society.
- We pick up animals that are confined ($2.50 fee). We do not have proper equipment to capture stray or roaming animals.

The animal shelter is sponsored by the East Kentucky Wildlife Federation—funded by membership dues, donations from the City of Prestonsburg, Floyd County Fiscal Court and private.

Please visit the shelter; we cannot operate without your support and understanding.

Western U. Reopens Classes This Week

Western Kentucky University students returned to campus as residence halls reopened this weekend and day classes began yesterday, (Tuesday).

Regular day classes began at 8 a.m. Tuesday, and evening classes on Monday, Jan. 13.

In addition to on-campus classes, Western offers extended campus and evening classes in several locations throughout the state.

Schedules for these classes are available in the Office of Public Service and Continuing Education, Van Meter Hall, Room 116.

Fee payment begins Jan. 27 in Garrett Conference Center, and students will follow an alphabetical schedule through Jan. 31.

In 1600 Will Kempe, a famous clown, danced the 100 miles from London to Norwich. It took nine days.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Effective February 1, 1986, each dog in the City limits of Prestonsburg must have a numbered dog tag. These tags are $1.50 each and can be purchased in the Municipal Building. In accordance with City Ordinance 840.2 it is the responsibility of the owner or keeper of each dog to obtain this license. The complete dog license ordinance is printed below.

840.2 DOG LICENSE

SECTION ONE: It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation or company to own or keep a dog or dogs over the age of six (6) months in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, without first obtaining a license for each dog.

SECTION TWO: The required license shall be good for one year upon purchase from the Prestonsburg City Clerk. The license will be required within two (2) weeks from the date that said ordinance is published in the local newspaper of the largest circulation in Floyd County.

SECTION THREE: Each dog over the age of six (6) months owned or kept by any person, firm, company or corporation in the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky, shall be examined and inoculated by a duly licensed veterinarian and a statement or certificate from said veterinarian showing such dog has been immunized against rabies shall be presented to the Floyd County Dog Warden. A license tag will then be issued by the Floyd County Dog Warden upon the payment of a fee of One Dollar and Fifty Cents ($1.50) for each dog which has been inoculated. The procedure provided for herein in accordance with this ordinance.

SECTION FOUR: The license tag so delivered to the owner or keeper of a dog shall be fastened to the collar of the dog and shall be worn continuously. The failure to have such a tag so attached to each dog shall subject the owner or keeper thereof to the penalties provided for herein.

SECTION FIVE: It shall be unlawful for the owner or keeper of any dog, either licensed or unlicensed, to allow such dog to remain at large and unattended; or to allow the dog attended or unattended to damage public or private property.

SECTION SIX: Any person being the owner or keeper of a dog who fails to license such dog as required by this ordinance, or who permits such dog to remain at large, shall, upon conviction be fined not less than Ten Dollars ($10.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00).

SECTION SEVEN: All license fees and fines shall be paid into the treasury of the City of Prestonsburg to become a part of its general fund for public purposes.

SECTION EIGHT: It shall be the duty of every police officer of the City of Prestonsburg, Kentucky and every dog warden of Floyd County to obtain the name of the owner or keeper of any dog seen unattended or who damages property, public or private, and to obtain a summons for the owner's appearance in Floyd County District Court.

In Who's Who

Sue Bennett College student Jeana Michelle McKenzie will be included in the 1986 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges. McKenzie, a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, is a member of the Sue Bennett basketball team, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Young Adults for Christ, and the Pap Club. She is majoring in Elementary Education, and plans to transfer to Eastern Kentucky University. She is the daughter of Willard and Brenda McKenzie, of Auxier.

Nat'l Math Award Winner

Rodney Alan Stevens, a senior at J.H. Allen Central High School, son of Jack and Joyce Stevens, of Hueysville, has been honored nationally by being nominated as a United States National Mathematics Award Winner by his instructor, Mrs. Joyce Watson. Less than 10% of mathematics students achieve this position of honor. His biography will appear in the 1986 United States Achievement Academy National Awards Yearbook. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pack and Mrs. Martha Stevens, all of Hueysville.

Justice Aker Resigns

In a joint press conference held in Frankfort on January 9, J. Calvin Aker, Justice of the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, announced that he would be resigning from the Supreme Court to re-enter private law practice with A. Douglas Reece and John M. Lang. Chief Justice Robert Stephens, who joined in the press conference, expressed his regret at the loss of a Justice of Mr. Aker's degree of competence and expertise.

The firm will be known as Reece, Lang & Aker, with offices in London and Manchester. In addition to the partners, the firm consists of five associates, three paralegals and John F. Lang, New York, New York, of counsel.

TV Cable Repairs

CCG Cable TV, Prestonsburg's local cable operator, has announced that Prestonsburg residents may experience brief cable outages for several days beginning this Thursday. The company will be installing five miles of new main cable, and during the installation some service interruptions will occur. The work should be completed within several days. CCG thanks area subscribers for their patience and cooperation during this period. CCG customers who are unsure whether any service problems are construction related may call the local office at 886-2291.

In 1908, there were about 8,000 movie houses called nickelodeons throughout the U.S. They showed continuous movies with piano accompaniment and cost five cents.

HYPOTHERMIA

Kentucky seems to be in a weather cycle in which brief spells of extremely cold weather and wind chill are becoming more commonplace.

This may or may not cause problems for animals kept out of doors, depending on simple precautions that may be taken. Most are simple, if they are remembered.

Two major things to keep in mind are water and wind. Most animals kept out of doors can easily survive any Kentucky winter weather if they don't get drenched, have a windbreak and enough water to drink.

Winter coats on animals which live outdoors year-round naturally grow long enough to protect the animal, and the natural oil in the coat allows the hairs to stick together and form an effective barrier against wind and cold.

If the animal is caught in a drenching rain and is already wet when temperatures begin to tumble, or if he falls into a pond or a creek and gets soaked, that protective barrier is broken.

Hypothermia—a dramatic lowering of body temperature—can result.

First aid is simple—dry the animal and then gradually raise the body temperature by covering with blankets, thus utilizing the animal's own heat, or whatever means may be available. Then call your veterinarian. Animals with severe hypothermia have recovered with prompt and proper treatment.

Preventive measures are what they might seem to be, a shelter from wind and rain. They need not be heated, and are adequate for healthy animals.

Don't forget drinking water, which is absolutely essential for animals as well as humans.

In freezing weather, water supplies for outdoor animals can be a problem. But without water, dehydration results, and the body cannot utilize feed properly, nor metabolize nutrients. In some animals, colic and constipation may result. Cattle need more water than utilized to convert roughage into body heat.

Preventive measures vary, according to availability. Heated water troughs are best, or automatic watering devices which heat the water. Water heaters which are submerged in water can be dangerous, be sure you have the right type and that it is properly grounded. Don't use commercial anti-freeze in any quantity in drinking water, it is a poison.

For pets, simply thaw and refill the water dish more frequently.

Your veterinarian can help, and can often advise you of things to steer clear of as well. It won't take him long to tell you how much water is needed and give you some ideas of how to supply it.

COLD WEATHER... THE BIGGEST REASON YOUR NATURAL GAS BILL IS HIGHER.

At times this winter, arctic blasts have plunged temperatures to bitterly cold levels — bitter even by our usual cold winter standards. And as the temperatures went down, the amount of energy needed to keep your home warm went up. Those low temperatures of a few weeks ago are the main reason the gas bills you're receiving now are higher than normal.

Columbia has done everything possible to control the cost of natural gas service to your home — but the weather is a factor that's out of our hands.

If you're having trouble paying seasonally high bills, we urge you to contact your Columbia Gas office. If your gas bill is too high to pay all at once, we could help by arranging to even out monthly payments through an extended payment plan. We can also provide information on assistance programs.

And, if there are other ways we can help make this tough heating season easier for you, we'll find them.

Druther's Announces Card Contest Winners

Druther's Restaurant in Prestonsburg sponsored a Christmas card contest with students at four Floyd county elementary schools submitting original Christmas cards which were displayed at the restaurant and judged by the principals of each school.

The following children were awarded first place ribbons and $50 savings bond by Druther's operator, Bonnie Prater.

First grade, Katrena Moore; second grade, Robin Sexton, and third grade, Barry Combs, all of Garrett Elementary School; fourth grade, Jerry Wicker; fifth grade, Casey A. Joseph and sixth grade, Brandon McDonald, all of Prestonsburg Elementary.

Honorable mention ribbon winners were Paul Jessen, Crystal Brown, Sarah Burgess, Jesse Burke, Nathan Hoskins, Michael Sexton, Bryan Manns, Pam Goble, Dwayne Goble, Richard Jervis, James E. Prater, Rena K. Hughes, Delia Conley, Darrin Spencer, Mandy Mullins, Marsha Lea Allen, Jessica Caudill, Jennifer Blackburn, Andrea Martin, Roy John Martin, Jeremiah Swiges, Jackie R. Akers, Steven Turner, Brook Allen, Darron Shepherd, Rhianan Burke, Jodi Allen, April Reed, Chris Murriell, Joey Brown, Jessica Wright, Juda Combs, Frank Martin, Danetta Martin, Mike Gayheart, Gina McCoy, Donnette Slone.

Druther's also held a drawing Saturday, December 21, for a 4-foot stuffed Santa Claus. The winner selected from entries collected at the restaurant was Betty Montgomery, of Ivel.

Host Families Sought For Foreign Students

Host families are being sought for 25 high school students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany, France, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador and Australia for the school year 1986-'87, in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

The students, age 15 through 17, will arrive in the United States next August, attend a local high school, and return to their home country in June, 1987. The students, all fluent in English, have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries and have spending money and medical insurance.

Host families may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes.

AISE is also seeking American high school students, age 15 through 17, who would like to spend a high school year in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain or Australia or participate in a five-week host family stay in Western Europe. Families interested in this program should contact Carol Reisinger, 13706 Mockingbird Dr., Prospect, Ky., telephone, toll free, 1-800-SIBLING.
