

20-Year-Term Reported Set For Honaker

A deal has reportedly been struck between the Commonwealth and the attorney representing a Tram man scheduled to be tried in Floyd Circuit Court today (Wednesday) on charges of murder and assault.

Defense attorney Ned Pillersdorf confirmed yesterday (Tuesday) that his client, Otto W. "Boots" Honaker, has agreed to plead guilty in the shooting death of Teresa Lynn Smith, his fiancée's sister, at his home last April 22. He is also expected to plead guilty of assault in the shooting of Eddie Prater, his fiancée's ex-husband, the previous November.

The Commonwealth is expected to recommend that Honaker be sentenced to 20 years on the murder charge and 10 years for the assault, with both sentences to run concurrently.

Police said the 19-year-old murder victim was shot three times in the lower back with a .357 magnum. She and Honaker had reportedly been arguing, the day of her death. The assault charge stemmed from Honaker's allegedly shooting Eddie Prater in the forearm in

$4000,000 Deficit Expected, Board Votes To Resign

Board members of the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center last week were made an offer they could hardly refuse: step down or face alone the prospect of bankruptcy.

Under threat of a projected $400,000 end-of-year deficit, the 15 directors who met with three officials of the state Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation Services agreed unanimously to let the state take over the running of the five-county mental health agency.

Of the three Floyd board members who voted to step aside, opinion was mixed as to the necessity of the state takeover but Delphia Hicks, of the Middle Creek road, said it could have been avoided. "I left (the meeting) feeling like we were railroaded," she said. "We had no other choice."

A member of the board for the past five years, Mrs. Hicks said the state action was precipitated by a letter written last month by Board Chairman Danny Caudill. In the letter Caudill reportedly asked Dennis Boyd, commissioner of the mental health-mental retardation services department, to advance funds to help the local agency over its immediate financial problems. "We were refused," Mrs. Hicks said. "Boyd told us there would be no more money going into the center unless they took over."

Mrs. Hicks, a second-grade teacher at Clark Elementary School, was considered sympathetic by MCC staff members and former staffers when they protested administrative decisions of then-Executive Director David E. Bell, Jr. last spring and she was one of Bell's most persistent critics prior to his resignation in August. Two state reports issued last summer—one focusing on management, the other on programs—were critical of Bell's leadership, pointed to a "significant decline" in the quality and scope of client services, told of low staff morale, and faulted the board of directors for not keeping a closer watch on the agency.

Mrs. Hicks concedes the board was slow to realize the agency was in difficulty but says state mental health officials are themselves partly responsible for that. "The state was aware there were problems with Bell months before anyone told us," she said. "That bothers me; I think we should have been told earlier."

Moreover, she said, the board had cooperated with state officials since Richard Stai, executive-director of Pathways, Inc. in Ashland, was named acting director of the Prestonsburg agency, board members had recently been praised by the same officials, and they had begun to get the agency's finances under control. "This could have been worked out. The local people should have been allowed to stay on," she said of the state officials' insistence that board members resign as a condition of state assistance.

Mrs. Hicks said her "greatest fear" is that programs and staff will be cut in an effort to stave off the threatened deficit. "I fear there will be retarded people with no sheltered workshop to go to and mentally ill people who won't be doctored," she said.

"You could make a case for both sides," said Marvin Music, Jr., another of those who agreed to give up control of the agency to the state. "You like to think you can handle the situation. It goes back to ego. But if you have to have egg on your face, it can be better in the long run."

Among the advantages state officials have in addressing MCC's financial problems, he said, are easier access to money and a less cumbersome decision-

Six Floyd Families In Suit Against Firms

Six Turkey Creek families filed suit in Floyd Circuit Court this week, citing two coal companies whose blasting activities have allegedly damaged their homes.

Charles Patton, Carl and Linda Brown, Phillip and Helen Hagans, Thelma Brown, Tommy and Wanda Brown, and Marvin and Zeta Martin claim that Coal Mac, Inc., a Pikeville firm, and Zion Mining Co., of Hindman, are responsible for blasting on a nearby mine over the past two years.

The explosions have caused cracks to appear in the walls, ceilings and joints of their homes and have caused the houses to settle, plaintiffs claim. Coal company officials named in the suit are Frank Justice, for Coal Mac, and Merrit Conley, of Zion Mining.

(Suits filed in court give only one version of the issues in dispute.)

Arguments Heard Here On Unmined Coal Tax

Despite repeated efforts at a meeting here Saturday with House Majority Floor Leader Greg Stumbo, supporters of a bill that would levy a tax on unmined coal failed to draw from the legislator a promise that he would support the bill.

Stumbo did pledge, however, that he would not arbitrarily use his influence on the House Rules Committee to kill the bill, a tactic used successfully when a similar bill was introduced in the 1982 state legislature.

The Prestonsburg legislator agreed with the bill's supporters that it could mean a substantial boost for local governments and school districts in eastern Kentucky but expressed doubts about its timing, claiming it could hurt the state's coal industry and cost coalfield jobs. "It doesn't make sense to take an industry in trouble and tax it," he said, adding, "If one person was going to lose a job on account of this tax, I don't think I could support it."

Proponents of the tax, who met with Stumbo in the Floyd county library under the auspices of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, rejected his argument, citing recently-published reports that the coal industry is robust and that high unemployment in the coalfields is the result not of a sagging industry but of increased automation in the mines.

"How can the industry be depressed when tonnage is going up?" asked Jerry Martin, of Grethel. "The people can't get depressed, just the coal companies."

"The coal industry is sick?" said Everett Akers, sounding a variant on the theme. "Us little poor punkin farmers are sick, too."

Tax supporters stressed that, in any event, the levy would hit large mineral owners, most of whom live out of Kentucky, and not coal operators who lease from the mineral owners the coal they mine. But Stumbo said many coal operators feel the cost of the tax would be passed on to them in the price they pay for their leases. Also, he doubted whether a law that exempted small mineral owners—like the bill introduced this week by Pike county Rep. Clayton Little—would be constitutional.

But it was the bill's backers who felt they had the Kentucky Constitution on their side, a number of them citing a recent Franklin Circuit Court decision that held unconstitutional the present law exempting unmined coal from property taxes. Moreover, the tax break given to coal-holding companies means coal counties rank low in funding for education and other services, they said.

"Under the law, the owner of the mineral under my farm could tell me to

Former Coach Wins Increment

A former coach of the girls' basketball team at Betsy Layne High School, who was at first rehired for the current school year and then summarily dropped, will be paid the $1200 increment the coaching job brings but will not be rehired as coach, according to a judgment handed down recently in Floyd Circuit Court.

A physical education teacher at the John M. Stumbo School at Grethel, Paul David Tackett was for four years coach at Betsy Layne, where he built an impressive winning record but found disfavor among a group of parents, who successfully pressed the Board of Education to replace him as coach. With the help of the Kentucky Education Association, Tackett sued to get the coaching job back.

Circuit Judge Hollie Conley agreed with school system officials, who argued that, because a coaching position does not fall under the rules of tenure that govern teaching and administrative positions, Tackett had no automatic claim on the job. But since he was not notified prior to May 15 that his pay might be cut, Tackett should be paid the increment he would have earned as coach, Conley ruled.

Tackett, who claimed he was fired for political reasons, called the ruling "small reward for a coach who wants to coach" and assailed Board of Education member Fred Newsome for his handling of the case.

This Town...That World

WHEN THE RIVER "FROZE OVER"

Any time one of these young whippersnappers dares mention the bitter cold he has endured recently, he gets his comeuppance from some graybeard who reminds him that he should have, by cracky, been around for the winter of 1917-18.

That, some of us know and others have heard, was the winter when every stream was frozen almost solid for weeks and people walked across the Ohio River. The scene along most streams—tobogganed youngsters skating (with and without skates), dashing downhill on snowsleds, staging snowball battles, the like—was unadulterated Grandma Moses stuff.

Incidentally, a relic of the days when nature supplied the only available refrigerant was found recently at Dwale. It was a set of ice tongs, made especially for the Home Ice & Water Company, Inc. They date back to the days when water was delivered to your door by the barrel, straight from the river, untreated, unfiltered, and those tongs were used when the ice man cometh. Grover Davis, I believe, owned and operated the business. Ice was delivered to homes, offices and a few businesses by hardy, industrious individuals. I recall that Sam Hale delivered ours.

This ice came from the river. Sawed out in blocks, it was stored in a nearby building and packed in sawdust to resist the melting summer heat. Those were the days before dietitians got into the act. If you had fresh pork or beef, you ate all you couldn't preserve by smoke or salt, and you didn't delay getting it on the table. Or you gave it away.

The wintry winds still blow and temperatures yet fall to zero or below, but the river no longer freezes to provide youngsters a time-honored winter sport or refrigeration for all. At least one knowledgeable source tells us the river water is so loaded, these days, with chemicals that it no longer freezes as in the old days.

Sounds like we moderns who deprecate the carelessness and ignorance of us who drank water from the river and dared the danger of disease are now drinking a watered-down sort of antifreeze, doesn't it?

It says here:

A mule makes no heading while he is kicking. Neither does a man.

Water Project Construction Near

Mayor Raymond Griffith, left, signed papers last Thursday authorizing issuance of bonds to finance replacement of the Martin water system. The final closing of the deal means that construction of the $1.4 million project is ready to proceed. Kinder Construction Co., of Morehead, which successfully bid for the contract to replace Martin's badly-corroded water lines, has 400 days to complete the work, which is expected to be finished by June, 1987.

The project represents an expansion for Prestonsburg City Utilities, which has undertaken to extend the city system's eight-inch line for three miles along Bull Creek and Bucks Branch in order to furnish water for Martin. Contract for the line extension and installation of a pump, master meter and pressure-reducing valve has been let to C V & C Construction Co., of Worthington, for $179,752.

The Martin project initially called for renovation of that city's water treatment plant but, when that proved too costly, city officials decided to purchase water from Prestonsburg. Contract for a new water storage tank was let to Cumberland Harvester, of Lexington. Architect for the project is the Frankfort firm of Haworth, Meyer and Bolen.

In the picture, besides Griffith, are engineer Richard Davis, Big Sandy ADD water specialist Holly Leach, and Martin city attorney David Barber.

Campbell Hails Budget Request For $2.9 Million PCC Building

Just as Prestonsburg has been enjoying a growth spurt recently, Prestonsburg Community College has received word that it has been included in Gov. Martha Layne Collins, proposed budget that gains a $2.9 million learning resource center.

Though the budget must be passed by the state legislature before it is official, Dr. Henry A. Campbell, Jr., college director, is confident the new building will become a reality, and says he is delighted at the prospect. Campbell said the building, basically a library, should be in use by the fall semester of 1987.

The building was officially announced last week as part of the governor's biennial budget proposal, though Campbell said he had suspected for some time that it would be approved. It had been placed in the 1984 budget, but Governor Collins killed it then with a line item veto.

If approved, the new building would bring to four the number of structures on the campus. When the college was designed in the mid-60's, it was with the intent of eventually having a 12-building complex, with a capacity for serving 3,000 students. Campbell says he feels all 12 will eventually be in place, maybe by as soon as the turn of the century.

He said the building rate at PCC will be based in large part on enrollment. With a record 1250 students currently enrolled, and 1400 expected in the fall, Campbell is hopeful that the rising enrollment and the construction schedule can keep pace with each other.

The next addition which Campbell hopes will gain acceptance is a three-story classroom building, which, he said, would have been even more welcome now than the learning resource center. But, at about twice the price, that project is on hold.

The learning resource center will occupy between 26 and 27 thousand square feet of space. It will be one-story and have shelving for about 50 thousand volumes. The present library has a 33,000 book capacity.

Also in the new building will be office space for several faculty members.

The college is scheduled to remove the temporary buildings at the rear of the Johnson building which already have been in place for several years longer than their 10-15 year projected life expectancy. The temporaries now provide office space for five faculty

Fireman Rescue Max, the Boxer

A dog may be man's best friend, but a dramatic rescue from the icy waters of Middle Creek Tuesday morning left little doubt that the old adage can ring just as true in reverse.

Max, Prestonsburg High School football coach Charles "Chuke" Williams' two-year-old boxer, apparently decided to test the thickness of the ice in a frozen pool along the creek and found to his dismay that the frozen crust wasn't up to supporting his 70-lb. weight. Luckily, Williams, who had walked down the hill from his home, heard the distressed cries and whimpering of the foundering animal.

As it turned out, a rescue attempt by Williams alone would have likely resulted in tragedy in the 4-5-ft. deep icy water, but three members of the Middle Creek Volunteer Fire Department, driving along KY 1428 happened to see the dog's plight and came to the rescue.

One of the men, Fire Chief Ed Stephens, said the firefighters, which also included Glenn Vaughn and Vaughn's son, Tim, rushed to the home of Derek Hicks, another volunteer with the fire department, and borrowed post-hole diggers with which they hoped to grab onto the dog and pull it from the frozen pool. An attempt to do so, however, further panicked the dog which slipped under the ice.

When the ice began to crack under his own weight, Stephens and the elder Vaughn formed a "human chain" in order to reach the dog. Suddenly the ice gave way dumping the men in the frigid pool.

"Then I just grabbed the dog and got out with him," said Stephens who commented that by the time he got out of the water he was "just about as stiff as the dog."

The firemen and a thankful "Chuke" Williams then wrapped the shivering canine in blankets and rushed him to the office of Dr. Rudolph Ousley, veterinarian, where Max was administered a mild sedative.

The firemen, who had earlier responded to a chimney fire on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek, survived the incident in good shape, although Brown suffered minor frostbite to his fingers.

HOUSE MAJORITY Floor leader Greg Stumbo, left, traded barbs with Finance Hollow resident and former state legislator Everett Akers, right, at a meeting called here Saturday to elicit Stumbo's position on a bill that would levy a tax on unmined minerals. Despite heavy pressure from about 30 citizens at the meeting, which was organized by the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition, Stumbo remains uncommitted on the bill.

Lest We Forget!

I hope everyone has had the opportunity to read the articles in the Floyd County Times written by Wilmay. If not, you have missed a lot of good and sensible advice. Wilmay's article certainly stated the facts about the Soviet Union and I would like to give facts to prove her statements.

Let us recall September 1, 1983 when a Soviet jet fighter plane shot down a Korean airliner which they accused of straying into Soviet airspace. This was not a proven fact. All 269 men, women and children were killed. Several Americans were in that number. The Soviet government showed no remorse for this brutal and inhuman act but their reply was that the same would be done if it happened again.

We can label this only as criminal behavior. It might be well for those who are so critical of America to go live in the Soviet Union for a while. I think they would be happy and anxious to return to America (with all of her faults and failures) and go to work to raise their food and stop expecting the government to feed them.

There are many other brutal and certainly uncalled-for crimes. The horrible murder of Father Jerzy Popielsko by the Soviets was disgraceful. He was a pro-Solidarity Roman Catholic priest and sympathized with the oppressed people of Poland. They were striving for freedom from Soviet rule. Father Popielsko met with them and shared with them this feeling for freedom. Russia and Germany had for a long time made every effort to oppress the Polish people. Once Father Popielsko and a companion had attended a meeting and returning to Warsaw, they were kidnapped. His companion leaped from the car but Father Popielsko could not. He was beaten and strangled. He had suffered all this before and had been locked in isolation cells for days. The Soviets decided he should be done away with. His body was later found in a reservoir north of Warsaw. He had been so abused that the marks of torture were so shocking that his casket was closed for his funeral. Those fine, Polish people have not yet recovered from this brutal and inhuman act.

This is not all. On March 4, 1985 Major Arthur Nicholson was conducting a military surveillance near Potsdam. It was an agreed-upon thing. He and his helper were at work. A Soviet police shot him in the chest. His helper tried to administer first aid and the Soviets would not allow it. The major died in a few minutes.

No country has any right to enslave others. Take our "Littlest Defector to Freedom," the Soviet-born Walter Polovchak. He put it in these words: "I'll never set foot in the Soviet Union again. To all the brave people who came before me, I just want to say, 'Thank you! I am very, very glad to be free. There are too many people who take their freedom for granted. I do not and never will. God bless America. I can go to church, speak what I think, choose my sport. I can be my own self. In Russia I could not.'"

Just what does all the cruel and brutal acts of murder tell us? It tells us in plain language that these hijackers, these terrorists, these people who wish to enslave others have no respect for human life. This criminal behavior displays the same spirit that gave rise to the gas chambers of Hitler and the purges of Stalin. These recent terrorist actions, slaughtering of innocent people and children leads us to wonder just what these Marxist-Leninism types of government have brought about in our world. It is sad indeed that many of our political systems are founded upon ideologies. They deny the existence of God. They say there is no such thing as a human soul.

America has been a nation that cared. But I fear its tolerance and goodness to some peoples of the world will not break barriers. The only language some people understand is "Strength." Peace today can only be had through strength. There is a Communist threat nearing our own door in South America. This is why Star Wars should continue.

It would be well for all Americans to examine themselves and determine just what impact their individual characters have upon the government. The greater our freedom the greater the need for citizens to be a people of virtuous character. The words of a song states, "This Is My Father's World." Truly it is and Daniel Webster once wrote these words, "If we abide by the principles taught in the Bible, our country will go on prospering... But if we and our posterity neglect its instructions and authority, no man can tell how sudden a catastrophe may overwhelm us and bury our glory in profound obscurity."

Those brave men and women who founded America were being persecuted and they longed so much for freedom that they braved a broad, uncharted sea and came to this unknown land. They were inspired by faith and moral principles. We must not forget them. We Americans feel that denying the liberties that others so richly deserve and lack of respect for human life which has been so displayed recently show nothing more than criminal behavior. Astute observers have long said that America's greatness is the result not of its rich and natural resources but of the quality and character of its people.

There has been a price paid, a dear price, for all the freedoms we enjoy. There is not one freedom that we enjoy that was not bought with a price. It was purchased with the sweat, blood and tears of others. You and I are living upon the fruits, of the labors and sacrifices of millions of unnumbered dead.

God bless America! Guide and direct our leaders in right paths, help us all to never forget the price that has been paid.

The Problems With Schools

Solomon in all his wisdom would have thrown up his hands if he had been asked to deal with the problems of the Floyd county schools. The recent actions of the school board, coupled with the efforts of the former superintendent (E. P. Grigsby, Jr.) to build support for his reinstatement reek of the common political tactic called "divide and conquer." After nearly three years of being investigated, monitored, having their problems pointed out, and being required to correct those problems, one would think that the board would have learned something other than "politics as usual." One would think that the people would have learned some things, also. Maneuvering the people through their emotions on the subject of the dire need for facilities in order to pit Prestonsburg against the rest of the county and slide in the former superintendent as hero of the hour is the game plan. Why doesn't someone ask where Garrett school was on the priority list when the former superintendent took office?

The choice being offered the people is to "cut the baby in half," thus providing a short-term answer but no long-term solution because everyone loses except the political powers that be. Everyone is demanding something for himself but no one is willing to give up something for the good of the whole. Why can't Floyd countians quit fighting and look for an answer to all the facility needs? The ten priority items in the school building survey could probably all tie for first place and all areas of the county are affected. I believe in the people (not the politicians) of Floyd county and, if they make up their minds together to take care of the ten priority items, it will be done.

You don't get something for nothing, however; you must be willing to give something up. In this case it appears to me that "something" is money. Instead of letting the "leaders" of Floyd county "cut the baby in half," why not join together and demand that the school board develop a building plan for the near future and make an effort to pass a tax to finance the planned buildings only. Waiting for the money to become available is one reason Floyd county's school building needs are so great now. For every $100,000 in tax dollars raised by a local tax, approximately $900,000 to $1,000,000 in bonding ability is generated. A building fund tax can only be used for building. Besides the obvious benefits of new facilities, another long-term benefit would be fewer dollars spent on repairs and maintenance and, therefore, available for other needs. The lack of this type of planning is one reason the school board is constantly faced with emergency situations like the one at Garrett.

Don't allow the "leaders" of Floyd county to trick you into believing anyone is your "salvation." He isn't—you are!

Upset by Meeting

I was really hurt last week during the Dewey Dam Dog & Cat Society's meeting. I was invited to the meeting and was told that it would be a friendly gathering. I was led to believe that the Dog & Cat Society wanted to help improve the Animal Shelter.

I worked hard that day to get ready for the meeting. I had financial statements and a list of the shelter's needs.

When I got to the meeting I was approached by Ned Pillersdorf, the Dog & Cat society's president. He whispered to me, "are you ready to turn over the Animal Shelter to us?" I hate to see you get hurt, you can leave if you want to."

When the meeting began, Ned would ask me a question. Before I could give an complete answer I would get another question. Then three ladies in the group began to ask questions in the same manner.

I was so hurt and embarrassed I was ashamed to be a human being. It is hard for me to believe that people can be that selfish and cruel-hearted.

Then, finally, a fine lady who sits on the town council spoke up, and said, "How many of you people have been to the Animal Shelter?" About 8 out of 25 people raised their hands. She went on to say, "I have been there and I didn't find any bad condition, are we talking about the same shelter?"

Ned Pillersdorf has been to the shelter once in the year that I have been there. Now he seems to be an authority on animal control. Ned is not from this county so someone should tell him that we have a stray animal problem.

The Animal Shelter operates by Humane Society of U.S. guidelines. The shelter could not operate by guidelines set by the Dog & Cat Society.

I invite the people of Floyd county to visit the shelter. Judge for yourself its condition and its value. Join with the Wildlife Federation and let's keep the Animal Shelter open. We must not let a few narrow minded people speak for all of Floyd county.

Let's measure our success by the nature of the deeds that we do for humanity and all of God's living beings.

My personal goal is to live my life and to make something good happen because I did.

Please visit the Animal Shelter.

Urges Unmined Minerals Tax

On July 10, 1985, Franklin Circuit Court Judge William Graham concluded that the tax rate on unmined coal was so low (1/10 of 1 cent per $100 value) that it was improper to call it a "tax." The Kentucky Constitution requires all property to be assessed at its fair cash value. The judge stated, "the evidence in this case demonstrates that KRS 12.020(5) both was intended to, and has had the effect of, exempting unmined coal from property taxation and therefore violates Sections 3 and 174 of the Constitution." To give you an example of how low this tax rate is, only $2,600 was collected on $22 billion worth of coal property in Kentucky. Also part of this unjust tax law our legislature passed in 1978 was a prohibition on local governments from levying any local taxes on unmined coal, further evidence according to Judge Graham, the legislators had the intention of exempting unmined coal property from taxation.

There has been an effort by small property owners to introduce a fair tax bill. This bill would divide mineral owners into different categories to protect the private citizens from losing property due to an astronomical tax increase. This effort has been blocked by the coal companies in the legislature.

The coal companies can afford the unmined minerals tax with no trouble due to the fact since Reagan came in corporation taxes have been sliced in half. At present corporations average only 16% taxation on their earnings.

I do have to take my hat off to the ingenious propaganda campaign they have carried out. It really sounds convincing when they tell you they are against the fair tax bill because coal is a sick industry. They just tell us to look at all the unemployed miners we have, we just can't find any buyers for our coal. This is a convincing argument unless you happen to know a few facts.

According to figures from the Department of Mines and Minerals, production in 1980 was 150 million tons, in 1982 was 151 million tons, and in 1984 was 171 million tons. Figures are not in yet for 1985, but Floyd county alone has increased its production this year by 45% and yet has an unemployment rate of 26%.

How can this paradox be explained, record production versus record unemployment? This is what is becoming common across the U.S. With Reagan's plan of corporate tax credits, tax deferrals and similar actions, the coal companies were able to use more sophisticated machinery (and get tax breaks) and less people to mine coal.

What all this boils down to is that unless the unmined minerals tax bill passes, the companies will continue to rule our lives. The legislature has begun and Rep. Greg Stumbo is the House Majority Floor Leader. He is one person who can help pass this important legislation.

I urge you to write, call or meet with Mr. Stumbo and all the other Senators and Representatives. If we don't act now, it may be too late.

'Hears Footsteps'

Thank you for your articles on the school board and the Concerned Citizens of Garrett meetings. Both showed a pattern that some of us have suspected for some time now: Pete Grigsby's bid for the vacant superintendent seat, the very seat he vacated September 4, 1985.

I for one, would like to commend Acting Superintendent Ray Brackett on his forthright and honest decision to leave the recommendation regarding Garrett Elementary up to the Superintendent who will have to implement this action. Mr. Brackett has made his desire for the superintendent job well known and I believe he would make an honest decision on this matter should he be chosen as permanent superintendent.

The Garrett situation is only one of the unsolved problems left by former superintendent, Pete Grigsby. It is ironic that Mr. Grigsby states that he would be "man enough" to do the job since history has shown otherwise. I understand that up to six lawsuits are still pending against the Floyd County Board of Education filed during Pete Grigsby's administration; not to mention the due process hearings filed by Protection and Advocacy and interested parents against that same administration.

As I see it, whoever is chosen superintendent will have an insurmountable job to clean up the mess left by former superintendent Grigsby. I believe Mr. Brackett has made a good beginning. He has done the job with integrity and honesty and without blaming the former superintendent—which a lesser man might have done.

Now I am going to go out on a limb and make a prediction. I predict that Floyd county's next board meeting has been changed to McDowell, Pete Grigsby's stomping grounds, so that the board can say that because of the groundswell of support for Pete Grigsby at that meeting, they are going to rehire him.

I hear footsteps. Do you hear them? Whether or not, be at the board meeting February 5th to listen and to speak. The future of your children's education lies in the balance.

Mountain Inspiration

By GLENN MOLLETTE

"Once we get through the month of February we'll have it made," is what I remember my grandfather saying. He was referring to the snow and freezing temperatures.

It does seem once February is over that you can sigh a breath of relief. March always has its share of inclement weather but within the month begins spring and mentally it seems to give us a little lift. So as we begin February we are already eyeing the next month.

There surely ought to be some good that can come out of being cooped up in the house.

Try these suggestions: Spend some time with the family. A game of monopoly or checkers will pass the time and give some attention to the family. Another idea is an indoor hobby, such as sewing or working a puzzle. You might try cleaning out that closet that is in dire need of some semblance of order. How about writing an old friend a letter? And of course with April 15 drawing closer you can always do something else, like gathering figures for your taxes.

While the weather does not lend itself to outside activity you might try catching up on your Bible reading. Whether morning or evening, you'll find that God's word is always timely, no matter what the season. The Psalmist wrote, "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path." When life may seem to be in the doldrums or somewhat empty; try the book that can pick you up and make your day a little brighter.

Needed Legislation

The practise had become so suspect that many, if not most, elected officials in the state had already pledged that they would not stage fund-raising drives during their terms of office to pay off the debts they had incurred during their election campaigns. Yet we are glad to note that State Senator Benny Ray Bailey has introduced a bill which, if enacted, would make illegal this business of officeholders "inviting" citizens to help them with campaign debts or deficits.

Elected officials go into office indebted to too many individuals or private interests already. Hitherto, the law has said nothing about their incurring new obligations from those who "accept" an invitation to a $100-per-plate dinner, for example, and thus help the official (who could help them) by raising money to pay off the debt left after the election. Perhaps all these officials would nobly eschew such contributions made under one guise or another, but the law should be there, plain to see and easy to read.

While Senator Bailey is about it, he could render a monumental service if, by some magic, he could come up with legislation to lower the ceiling on campaign expenditures in general. Election expenses, notably those in statewide races, have become ridiculously high. Things have reached the pass at which ability, character, all the qualities voters once believed were the marks of a deserving candidate now appear to have been forgotten. If the candidate for governor, for example, can't raise a "war chest" of at least a million dollars, he or she is given no serious consideration for the office.

The price tag shouldn't be so high. Even if a Jefferson or Lincoln waited in the wings to be called by his party to service, he would be too poor to do what now has become a rich man's job.

November, 1984. Prater was at that time estranged from his wife, Brenda Prater, who later became Honaker's fiancée.

At the time of Honaker's arrest, Brenda Prater was charged with complicity in the murder of her sister. The charge was later dropped.

In other plea bargains this week, Elbert Boyd, 53, of Dana, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of growing marijuana. He was sentenced to 10 days in jail and ordered to pay a $500 fine. Boyd was originally arrested on a felony charge of growing marijuana for the purpose of selling it, after police allegedly found 31 marijuana plants in his tomato garden at the head of Justice Branch of Prater Creek on August 7, 1984.

Rocky Lee Bishop, 22, of Freeburn, indicted for theft of tools from Gold Stone's garage in Prestonsburg last June 11, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor and received a one-year sentence, with probation to be considered after 60 days.

move my home, and yet he doesn't pay a dime in taxes," said Bill Arms, of East Point. "If we're going to upgrade the schools and roads, someone is going to have to pay for it."

Saying he did "not buy the argument that coal doesn't pay its way," Stumbo noted in reply to a question that private homeowners in many Kentucky communities are reluctant to pay property taxes for education. "Less than five percent of what it takes to run the schools in this county is raised in local taxes. Ninety-five percent comes from Frankfort or Washington," said the legislator, who added, "I doubt there is one person in this room whose property is taxed at what it's worth."

Stumbo said that the difficulty in coming to a decision on the unmined minerals tax proposal, which has failed in the last two legislative sessions, is that "you get such conflicting reports" on the likely effects of the tax. "I have a responsibility to listen to both sides. It is complicated," he said.

Dorothy Osborne, a gray-haired woman who conceded it was the first meeting she had attended on the subject, said she felt persuaded the tax was fair and gently chided the majority leader on his indecisiveness. "After four years, I'd think you would have more understanding," she said.

John Burgess, of Prestonsburg, was more direct. "Is it yes or no," he asked, in a repeated attempt to win Stumbo's support for the bill. "That's a tough question," the legislator replied.

(Items taken from The Floyd County Times, 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago.)

Ten Years Ago

(January 28, 1976)

Months of preparation and planning by a group of Prestonsburg-Floyd County Area Chamber of Commerce representatives were rewarded Friday when Prestonsburg was among 16 communities statewide receiving the "All Kentucky City" designation. A fire Monday morning at Maytown elementary school forced evacuation of the school and postponement of the day's classes, although actual damage to the facility was light. The Prestonsburg high school Blackcats made Friday night's 1976 Basketball Homecoming a happy one by easily defeating Morgan county, 79-62. Rev. John Cahill, Drift native, has been appointed campus minister at Thomas More College. Streaking apparently never caught on in Floyd county according to statistics released this week by Sheriff Joe Wheeler Lewis for the year 1974. In the aforementioned category, only one arrest is recorded. Five persons were arrested over the past week in Floyd county in connection with three separate burglary incidents. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shearer, of Prestonsburg, a daughter, Tonya Renee, January 15 at Highlands Regional Medical Center. There died: Mrs. Mary Beverly Vance, 82, Thursday at the home of her daughter at Martin; Ezra Shepherd, 68, Sunday at his home at Garrett; Rush Smallwood, 72, of Melvin, last Tuesday at the UK Medical Center, Lexington; George Hurstle Wilson, 53, of Auxier, last Monday.

Twenty Years Ago

(January 27, 1966)

Reconstruction of U.S. 23 from Prestonsburg to Pikeville was omitted from lists of routes of those approved by the Appalachian Redevelopment Commission. Snow which fell last week-end was the first to result in an accumulation this winter, but it fell to a depth of six to eight inches, closing all schools and slowing most activities to a walk. The Betsy Layne Manufacturing Co., which founded the first small factory in the county, now has 40 employees and could use more. Bee Hayes, manager of the plant, said. A part of next Thursday, when the teachers of Kentucky stage a walkout from their classrooms for a day to emphasize their demand for higher salaries, will probably be spent by most Floyd county teachers in a meeting. Married: Miss Rachel Murray, of Unaka, N.C., and Mr. Bill David Minix, of Prestonsburg, January 1 at the Unaka Baptist Church; Miss Carolyn Sue Ramey, formerly of Lackey, and Mr. Clarence D. Turner, of Wayland, January 1 in Mansfield, Ohio. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Prater, of West Prestonsburg, a daughter, Tina, January 6 at the Paintsville General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. David Richard Leslie, of Prestonsburg, a son, Gerald John, at the Prestonsburg General hospital. There died: Roger D. DeRossett, 17, of Wayland, January 18 at U.K. Medical Center, Lexington; Cledith Ray Barnett, 19-year-old Martin serviceman, in a two-car collision at Hedley, Texas; George Everett Campbell, 60, Xenia, O., formerly of Weeksbury, Tuesday in Xenia.

Thirty Years Ago

(January 26, 1956)

Of 48 indictments filed by the grand jury, 45 were for possession of alcoholic beverages, and in all these except three the defendants were accused of having the liquor for the purpose of sale. There was no official indication this week of the Floyd County Board of Education's reaction to the proposal made last week by the Prestonsburg Board of Education to merge the independent school district here with the county system. Lowell Hughes, star quarterback of the Prestonsburg high school team and for the last two years a member of the all-Kentucky eleven, this week was named to the 1955 all-America high school football squad by the scholastic magazines of the country. Joe Weddington, Prestonsburg insurance man, signed this week his fifth annual contract with the Cleveland Baseball Company as Kentucky scout for the Indians. A list of new employees of the State Highway Department in this county reveals 42 men have been hired by the present administration to replace as many employees under the preceding state administration. Married: Miss Priscilla Layne, of Pikeville, and Mr. Artie Sammons, of Prestonsburg, at the Freewill Baptist Church in Prestonsburg, December 25; Miss Beverly Jean Taylor, of Lincoln Park, Mich., and Mr. Jes Mayabb, December 7 in Jeffersonville, Ind. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Joe S. Hall, of Prestonsburg, a son, Joey Robert. There died: Estill Hughes, 44, of Louisa, in a statefall Tuesday in a mine at Weeksbury; James H. Blackburn, 72, of Endicott, Monday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Martin; Owen Lykins, 51, native of Cliff, in Oklahoma, January 23; Joe Stephens, 46, on May's Branch, last Wednesday night; Levi Johnson, 51, of Bevinville, last Sunday; Oscar C. Hamilton, 41, formerly of Banner, at Veterans Hospital in Huntington, W. Va.

Forty Years Ago

(January 24, 1946)

A gun battle near Garrett early Saturday night resulted in the death of Arnold Howard, 20, of the Jones Fork of Triplett Branch in Knott county, and the wounding of Deputy Sheriff Oak Mullins, of Wayland. Organizational meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was held last Thursday evening at the Valley Inn here and established a Prestonsburg and Floyd county VFW post. Kelse Moore, 37 years old of Wayland, was fatally injured in a statefall Tuesday inside the mine of the Elk Horn Coal Corporation at Wayland. Glenn E. Gibson, 16, of Mousie, died at the Stumbo Memorial Hospital, Lackey, Tuesday afternoon after having been struck by a car on the highway between Garrett and Lackey. County Judge Alex D. Davidson and Sheriff Troy B. Sturgill reported Monday they toured both Right and Left Beaver Creeks Saturday night and that they found every roadhouse closed and dark, apparently conforming with the 8 p.m. countywide closing order. Real estate transactions in Prestonsburg this week: Purchased by former Circuit Judge Henry Stephens, Jr., from Mrs. Valentine Hopkins and John C. Hopkins, Jr., their Court Street lot for a reported $20,000; the "Baptist corner," former site of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church purchased by former County Clerk A. B. Meade and ex-Judge Stephens for a reported $17,500; J.C. Spurlin, selling the former Turner property on First Avenue to J.W. Howard, Mr. Howard, in turn, selling to Val Strahan residential property on First Avenue, near the Valley Inn; Purchase by William Young of the John Layne property at the corner of Friend Street and Highland. Married: Miss Thelma Louise Hubbard and Mr. Omery Layne, both of Wheelwright, January 19 at the home here of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.V. Bunting; Miss Anita Jean Osborne, of Prestonsburg, and Mr. Lonnie McSurley, of Emma, January 21. There died: Clint Powell, 68, at his home at Bonanza, Tuesday; Alex Combs, Jr., 24, of Wayland, at the Paintsville General hospital, Sunday; Mrs. Izola Hall, 16, of Hippo, Saturday at the Stumbo Memorial hospital, Lackey; Mrs. Mary Thompson, 96, at home at Wayland, Wednesday; Mrs. Julia Ann Jarrell Burchett, 83, at home at Banner, Thursday.

Fifty Years Ago

(January 24, 1936)

Fire in the second story of the courthouse here Wednesday caused damage estimated at $10,000. Mitchell Woods, 26, and Willie Pack, 33, both of Paintsville were struck and killed by a car Thursday night, near Cannel Coal Gap between Paintsville and Prestonsburg. Harve Childers, former Pikeville policeman and deputy sheriff, has been appointed chief of police at Weeksbury to fill the vacancy caused by the slaying at the Weeksbury jail of Chief of Police S.J. Murphy, January 11. F.P. Howard last week purchased A.R. Donnelly's stock of hardware in the Nunnery building on Court street and announced plans for removal of the store to his own property on Third Street. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harmon, of West Prestonsburg, a daughter, December 27. There died: Sol Tackett, 73, former McDowell police judge, January 11 at the home of his son, Jerry Tackett at McDowell; Mrs. Robert Teague, 84, of Martin, Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A.P. Parker; Dr. Frank Ramey, 70, at his home at East Point, Tuesday; Mrs. Mary Emma Auxier, of Prestonsburg, 76, at the Auxier Hotel here, Monday; Gloria Colleen Turner, 10 years old, of Lackey, at the Paintsville General hospital, January 16; Ephraim Salyers, 65, at his home at Garrett, Monday morning; the 11-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bailey, of Garrett, Wednesday.

Interest in Supt. Choice Apparently High in County

A group whose request to have citizens included in the selection of a schools superintendent was turned down by the Floyd Board of Education last month hopes it has yet found a way to involve the public in the selection process.

making structure. "They don't have to go through 25 persons," he said, referring to the MCC board, which was made up of five members from each of the counties it serves. "We drug our heels a little, I think, because we'd have 25 different opinions."

In fact, the state takeover makes staff cuts less rather than more likely, Music argued. "We would eventually have broken even, but it might have taken us so long we might have had to lay some people off. Going with the state was the only way to keep jobs and save the quality of the services," he said.

By the time disgruntled staff members and a vocal citizens' group brought MCC's problems to the board's attention, the situation was too far advanced to be easily remedied, Music said. "Sometimes you only hear of it when it's starting to come apart," he said. "Even though you do the best you can, it can be too late to save it."

A Prestonsburg bank director and dealer in real estate, Music said the MCC board could have used more professional help in meeting its oversight responsibilities. "People want to help but they're not equipped with the tools they need," he said. "Maybe we were too proud to ask, but I think we should have had more orientation."

Martin attorney Danny Caudill, the board's chairman for the past two months, had praise for the panel, noting that it is "a strictly voluntary board of citizens" serving without remuneration. State criticism that the board was too uninvolved in the operation of the agency was "probably fair at the time," Caudill conceded. "But since then we've approached the problems and tried to rectify them," he said. Caudill characterized the board, whose Floyd members also included McDowell pediatrician Dr. Phillip Fairchild and Elbert Gibson, a retired miner from Weeksbury, as "a real good mix" of citizens, who served only because of their interest in promoting mental health services here.

In agreeing to let the state assume control, the MCC board stressed that it wanted to see services continued and staff retained, Caudill said. "We were assured by the state they'd make every effort to meet these two goals," he added.

"In the long run we'd have been in good shape," said the board chairman, who described the current financial crisis as "a short-term emergency." "We were at a point where program revenues were not covering program expenses," he said.

Asked about the causes of the short-fall, Caudill pointed to "skyrocketing costs in the health care field in general" and cuts in the reimbursement MCC receives under state and federal Medicaid programs in particular. But a spokeswoman for the state Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation Services said the reason was a "dramatic decline" in the number of clients being served by the agency.

Because the center operates on a fee-for-service basis, "when they're not getting enough clients, they're not getting enough revenue," said Janet Hoover, of the department's office of communications. The drop in patient load was attributable to the "turmoil" the agency experienced last year, she said. While the board budgeted for $50,000 a month in Medicaid reimbursements, it was said to be earning only $26,000 a month on average because of the low volume of clients.

While all the state's mental health agencies have had to deal with rising costs and funding cuts, Mountain Comprehensive Care is "the only one in this kind of trouble," Hoover said. "At this point we don't anticipate cutting staff but we are not totally ruling it out," she said. Commissioner Boyd was earlier reported as saying that layoffs of some of the center's 100-plus employees could become necessary if the new state overseers failed in their efforts to boost revenues by drumming up more interest in center programs.

In response to the charge that the state's response had been unduly heavyhanded, Hoover noted that the state takeover was temporary. "The center has had problems for quite some time. We're looking at different alternatives once it's back on its feet," including possible merger of MCC with another agency in order to trim administrative costs, she said. The Pathways center at Ashland and a center at Hazard have been mentioned as possible partners in a merger with the Prestonsburg-based agency.

Told of continuing suggestions that last year's state probe might have been politically motivated, Hoover said, "That's the first time I've heard that. Anyone who reads the (state) report (on Bell's administration) can see there were definite problems of management there."

Bell, a 13-year veteran of Mountain Comprehensive Care, resigned October 28. He subsequently took a counseling job with a Lake Cumberland mental health agency. Stai, a former MCC executive director who returned to head the agency on a part-time basis, will stay on as acting director under the state's oversight, it was said.

Radio advertisements purchased by the Floyd County Education Forum for airing this week urge citizens to contact their local board member and "voice their opinion about this major school decision." The radio spots stress that the superintendent should be non-political.

Members of the FCEF board feel that the superintendent should be "a professional, non-political decision-maker, honest, a leader, and willing to promote competency, excellence and community involvement in the school system," said Jean Rosenberg, president of the organization. The advertising campaign was designed to "get people to think about the kind of superintendent they want" but not to back or oppose any particular candidate, she said.

University of Kentucky education specialist Dr. Charles Faber is scheduled to present to the Board of Education at its February 5 meeting the names of five candidates he considers best suited for the post. Faber acknowledged recently that some 500 persons have responded to his request for community input on the choice of superintendent.

In another move approved this week by the FCEF board, the group will petition the Floyd Fiscal Court to set aside for county schools a portion of the $1 million windfall gas tax revenues the county recently received. Under the FCEF plan, the group would consult with the schools superintendent in selecting a project to benefit from the windfall.

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said this week he intends to invest the money. In view of the county's needs, the fiscal court could not afford to share the money with the school system, he said.

To Give Commodities At Three Locations

Only Upper Arena Seats Available For Sweet 16

Only upper arena seats are available for the 1986 Sweet Sixteen, scheduled March 19-22 at Rupp Arena.

Tickets for lower arena seats sold out by mail order before they could be put on over the counter sale, according to Tom Mills, Kentucky High School Athletic Association commissioner.

A few seats were available for over the counter sale when a news release concerning availability was mailed in November, Mills said, however by the time the news release was published a sufficient number of mail orders had been received to completely exhaust the supply.

"We've been publishing ordering information in the program for the past three years," Mills said, "and apparently more people noticed it this time." Seats in the lower arena have been sold out before Christmas for the past three years, Mills said, and usually there are some available for over the counter sale. "This year it took us by surprise, they just sold out on mail orders only—and almost before basketball season opened."

Good upper-arena mid-court seats are selling steadily, he said.

The KHSAA office is offering single seats in the upper arena as well as season sets. Previously single session seats had not been put on public sale until March 1. However, due to increased demand they are now on sale at $4.50 each. A book of tickets for all eight sessions is available for $36. Location of the seats is determined on a first-come, first-served basis.

Tickets may be purchased from the Kentucky High School Athletic Association office, 560 East Cooper Drive, or by mail from the KHSAA, P.O. Box 22280, Lexington, Ky., 40522.

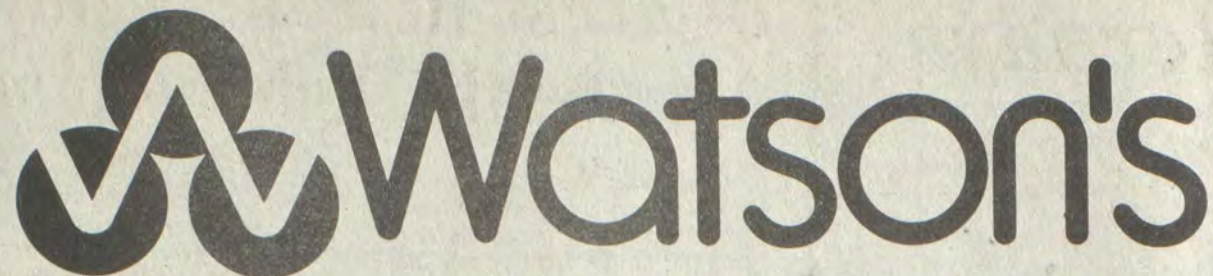

VISA and MasterCard are accepted.

Continue To Ask Shelter Improvement

The animal shelter at West Prestonsburg, under attack for several months by citizens concerned with its operation, was put under public scrutiny at two separate city hall meetings within the past week.

Monday night's city council meeting came on the heels of last Wednesday's gathering of the Dewey Dam Dog and Cat Protection Society, a group that has offered to take over operation of the shelter should the current overseer, Curtis Hughes, step down.

Present at both meetings were the principal combatants, attorney Ned Pillersdorf, president of the DDD&CPS, and Curtis Hughes, head of the East Ky. Wildlife Federation.

In both meetings, Pillersdorf, while expressing friendship for Hughes, took him to task regarding several areas in which he feels the shelter to be deficient. Among the perceived problems are Hughes' methods of record-keeping, which Pillersdorf claims to be inadequate at best, his use of county and city funds to pay himself $1,966.41 over a seven-month period for upkeep of his personal vehicle, his poor relationship with the press, outstanding debts and derogatory statements directed toward veterinarian Dr. Rudolph Ousley and, perhaps most significantly, an estimate by Hughes that he only adopts out approximately 2 percent of all animals brought to the shelter, while euthanizing 98 percent.

Pillersdorf said that the 98 percent euthanasia rate was "unacceptable," citing statements from the Pike county animal shelter indicating an adoption rate of 30 percent.

Hughes countered the charge, saying it couldn't be helped that the vast majority of animals left at the shelter were sick, injured or otherwise unadoptable. He noted that the animal shelter was not typically a depository for animals that would be wanted as pets.

He further said that his record-keeping, though perhaps incomplete in the past, would be more detailed in the future. Hughes stressed, however, that the money he received from the county was in the form of a donation, and that County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo had told him he did not need to itemize his expenditures.

For Pillersdorf's other charges, Hughes responded that he did not have bad relations with the press, but rather with an employee of this newspaper, whom he claims he didn't believe to be antagonistic in her role as a representative of the Times, but rather as a citizen. He said his response to her—threatening charges of trespass for going to the shelter, or libel for publishing pictures taken of wet dogs—were simply defending the shelter from her personal attacks.

Hughes admits to owing Dr. Ousley over $700 in unpaid bills, but claims the shelter simply doesn't have the funds available to pay the fees. He was shown on a local television newscast claiming he no longer enlists Ousley's aid because the veterinarian's fees were too high.

For his part, Ousley says his rates, from $1-$4 for euthanasia, depending on the size of the animal, and $6 for vaccination, physical and worming, are reasonable. Ousley's claims were backed up by Estill veterinarian Carol Johnson, who termed Ousley's rates "very reasonable." Ousley said he charged Hughes only for supplies, not his time.

With Ousley out of the picture, Hughes says he is inoculating the animals himself, with the exception of rabies vaccinations, which by law must be administered by a veterinarian.

Ousley said he didn't mind not receiving payment for his services at the shelter, but resented criticism by Hughes.

"I just wish he'd watch what he says," said Ousley. "All I want to do is just help out." Dr. Ousley said that many of the animals he had euthanized at the shelter when he was making regular visits were unadoptable for various reasons, but added that many of them had problems which could have been corrected with proper care, and some were healthy animals which Hughes said had simply been at the shelter too long.

Another area of contention for some shelter critics is Hughes' apparent con-traditions regarding animals' length of stay there. He was said to have told many people that he would never put an adoptable animal to sleep, and some people say he told them he never put any animals to sleep. However, according to Ousley, the veterinarian had to re-do a bill twice before Hughes would accept it, as it was itemized to show a number of euthanizations which Hughes allegedly did not want known to the fiscal court. The euthanizations, according to Ousley, were changed on the bill to "treatment."

The struggle between the shelter and some of its critics began in mid-November, when Hughes requested the city council to supply him with a number of items for animal control, a dart tranquilizer gun, net pole, animal trap and gas chamber, while not requesting funds for a hot water heater, something the shelter has still not acquired.

At that time a number of citizens, including Pillersdorf, found it unacceptable that the shelter would request supplies for controlling wild or stray animals, while not attempting to provide, as they saw it, a needed source of hot water for bathing animals already there. Hughes was quoted in a recent Times article as saying he would be willing to step down from his role as shelter head if Judge Stumbo asked him to at the end of his contract. Pillersdorf and his group interpreted that to mean Hughes would not protest a move by them to take over. However, Hughes says he meant he would step down only if asked by the judge.

Hughes told city council members his group had received an outpouring of support in the three days prior to Monday's meeting, producing a list of 44 signatures of people he claims had come there during that time "because they heard it was a good shelter."

He said the DDD&CPS was not representative of the county as a whole; that his group, in fact, was more in touch with the typical Eastern Kentuckian, whom he described as "more of an outdoorsman."

A DDD&CPS spokesman emphasized that the society was interested only in making sure the shelter was run correctly and humanely, and by no means wanted to see it closed.

Textbooks To Be Free
If HB 125 Is Passed

Parents supply their children with many necessities, but if House Bill 125 is passed by the 1986 General Assembly, textbooks will be free to public high school students. The bill has already sailed through the House Education Committee.

State Rep. Caroline White, D-Barbourville, said the bill requires House members to appropriate over $16 million in fiscal year 1986-87 and over $17 million in 1987-88 for the project. White said that as a result of her bill, all public school students in grades kindergarten through 12 will receive textbooks without cost. The Kentucky Department of Education would purchase and distribute the books, she added. Because it has a fiscal impact on the state budget, House Bill 125 now seeks the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee's blessing.

Infant Development Examined In "NOVA"

The emotional development of the human infant is a miraculous series of events which unfold daily. Immediately following birth, parents become concerned with the proper nurturing necessary for healthy emotional development of their children.

In "Life's First Feelings," the NOVA episode set to air Sunday, February 16, at 8:00 p.m. on KET, the many facets of babies' emotions will be explored. The recent findings point to surprising emotional capabilities in newborns and very young children.

"Life's First Feelings" will raise some critical questions such as whether or not infants are born with programmed facial expressions? How much emotional development for an infant depends upon family, environment, and culture?

NOVA also interviews Dr. Stanley Greenspan of the National Institute of Mental Health in Bethesda, Maryland. Greenspan utilizes basic lab experience and clinical experience to say that healthy infant emotional development is a series of milestones, each of which a child must master before moving on to the next stage.

NOVA "Life's First Feelings" is produced by WGBH/Boston.

USAA Winner

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Tammy Lynn Newman has been named a United States National Award winner in foreign language.

Miss Newman, who attends McDowell High School, was nominated for this National Award by Shirlene Hamilton, French teacher at the school. Miss Newman's name will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Miss Newman is the daughter of Orby and Minnie Newman. Her grandparents are the late Sill and Betty Newman, of Hi Hat, and Henry and Julie Mae Lawson, of Hi Hat.

Taxpayer Could Get Break on Older Car

Vehicle owners could experience a tune-up in tax breaks this session of the Kentucky General Assembly. The House Transportation Committee approved House Bill 36 which calls for figuring the taxes on vehicles more than 10 years old at a lower rate.

State Rep. L.E. Cline, D-Olive Hill, said the Revenue Cabinet has overvalued older vehicles by $2.6 million a year. Cline said that was not the intent of legislation creating the Automated Vehicle Identification System whose purpose was to ensure payment of property taxes on all vehicles. The bill now awaits a vote from members of the House of Representatives.

SCRUBBY BEARS, the newest infection control program at Our Lady of the Way Hospital is largely funded by donations. Here, Martin Kiwanis Club President Edford Clark, Jr., and his father, Edford, Sr., who is secretary-treasurer of the club, present Judy Hamm, infection control coordinator at the hospital, and Sister Ann Koebel, volunteer director of the program, with a check that will buy Scrubby Bears for 40 hospitalized children.

Sisters Ann Koebel and Anne Eden were mistaken for Santa Claus recently as they made rounds at Our Lady of the Way Hospital with a large bag of bears. The pair were visiting hospitalized children to tell them about handwashing and Scrubby Bear. Parents and children alike were delighted to learn that all they had to do to receive a Scrubby Bear was wash their hands and remind hospital staff to do likewise.

Scrubby Bears are finding their way into the clean hands of Our Lady of the Way's young patients because of the donations of community people. To date, bears have been donated by the Floyd County Homemakers, the Martin Kiwanis Club, the First Guaranty Bank, Jan's Florist, McClure Vending and 16 employees of Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Thirty bears have been distributed since October 27. For more information about the Scrubby Bear infection control program or to make a donation, contact Judy Hamm at 285-5181.

Railroad Commission Orders Reinstatement of Some Rail Workers

The Kentucky Railroad Commission has ordered the C. & O. Railroad to reinstate all employees working in safety-related areas who were terminated from employment at Shelbyana, Pike county in December, 1985. The order was issued January 17, directing C. & O. to reinstate the employees in order that the public safety will be protected.

"At the present time there is no state-funded safety inspection program and the work of the federal inspectors are limited. The railroads regulate and inspect themselves and now they are taking measures to reduce their efficiency in that area," Jimmy "Gabe" Turner, commission chairman, said.

The Kentucky Railroad Commission had requested on two previous occasions that C. & O. reinstate the safety employees until a final determination could be made by the Commission but both requests were refused.

The order issued by the Railroad Commission directs the office of the Attorney General to take whatever actions are necessary to implement and enforce the order of the commission.

A final determination is expected within the next 90 days.

In a separate action the Commission directed C. & O. to install traffic safety lights with automatic bars at Tram. The order gave the railway 30 days in which to complete the work.

BRIEF TOPICS

The governor of the state of Para has ordered a ship to hunt for Paul Redfern, the American aviator, who disappeared when flying alone from Brunswick, Ga., to Brazil. At the request of the American consul the steamer Our Lady of Mercy will search virtually the whole northern coast for trace of the missing flier.

The veil of secrecy imposed by Benito Mussolini over intimacies of his home life to keep them safe from the prying eyes of the public is being drawn with more than usual care with the approach of the date when an addition to his family is expected.

A new problem in the already troubled United States-Mexican diplomatic relations was taken to the state department.

While officials were struggling with Mexican issues arising from the disputed oil land laws and Mexican bandit attacks on Americans, they were confronted with a dispute over fisheries.

A little nest egg of Chauncey M. Depew's is an illustration of what thrift will do. He recently dropped into a bank in Peekskill, N. Y., to inquire about the first hundred he had saved. He deposited it sixty-six years ago. Now it amounts to $1,100.

The London, Ontario, to London, England, plane, Sir John Carling, hopped off at 9:49 a. m. eastern standard time Monday from a field in Washburn, six miles from Caribou, Me., for Harbor Grace, N. F.

Captain Terry Tully and Lieutenant James Medcalf made a perfect hop from the hayfield where the plane was forced down by rain and fog last Tuesday night. They had a good night's sleep and a hearty breakfast.

By beating a guard with a lead pipe and tossing him from a tower to the street 35 feet below, two long-term convicts escaped from the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia shortly before midnight Sunday night.

Repeated questioning of Harry Hill, 21-year-old Streator, (Ill.) youth charged with killing his mother, Monday had failed to shake his assertion that he knew nothing of the crime and had fled from Streator only because he might be implicated.

He asserted that he had intended to go back to Streator with the intention of facing the charges but had stayed away from home to hide and "wait for things to cool off a little."

A movement has been started to erect a monument to Jesse James, famous Missouri bandit, in Mount Olive cemetery at Kearney, Mo., it was announced by John H. Newman, a lawyer and life-long friend to Jesse James, Jr. The younger James formerly was a lawyer in Kansas City, and now is in Los Angeles.

Friends of the James family, it is expected, will finance the proposed monument.

William Jennings Bryan, Jr., son of the famous orator, has confirmed reports he had filed suit in Los Angeles for divorce from Mrs. Helen Virginia Bryan, on charges of desertion. Bryan said his wife is visiting her father near Fredericksburg, Va.

A flying machine with wings shaped like a bird's, constructed of material which at long range resembles feathers and which runs without an engine has been created in Cocoa, Fla., by George R. White of Stony Brook, Long Island. This information comes from local residents who claim to have seen the peculiar contraption through a window of the hanger at Cocoa Beach.

White refuses to disclose how the small craft operates. "Simply an application of motive power," he replies to queries.

Five lives were lost when the Sunshine Special, crack train of the Missouri Pacific railroad, crashed into a small sedan at a grade crossing at Summit, Mo., Sunday.

The dead: John Burlbaw, 27 years old, miner, his wife, two children, and Burlbaw's mother, Mrs. Ellen Burlbaw.

Charles J. Glidden, 70 years old, telephone and aeronautical pioneer, died at his home in Boston Sunday after an illness of more than a month.

Colonel Glidden's death was caused by a growth on one of his lungs, from which he suffered for more than a year.

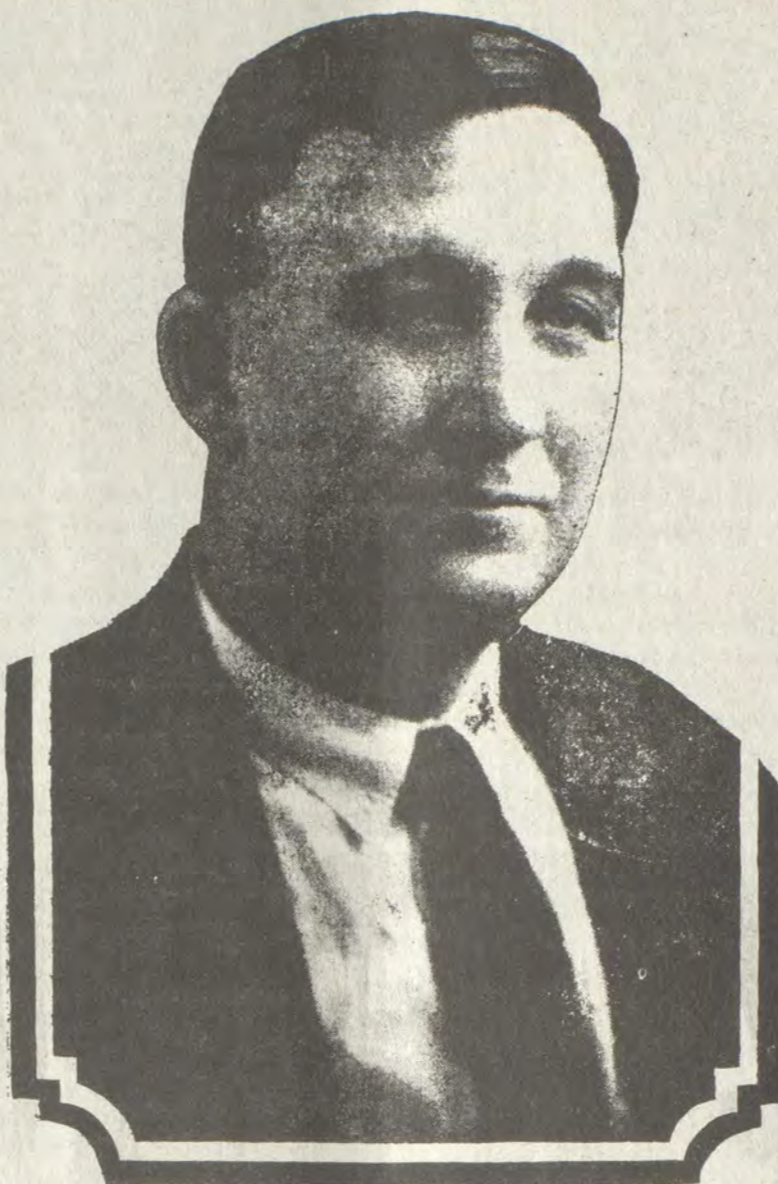

The wreck of the monoplane "Old Glory" was found late Monday afternoon in the North Atlantic.

The following radio message was received in New York from the S. S. Kyle, Canadian Government steamer, which was chartered to search for the missing plane:

"Located wreck of 'Old Glory', latitude 51:17, north; longitude 39:23 west, at 4:20 p. m., but no sign of crew. Particulars follow. (Signed) Muir."

Rushed from the Pacific Coast where he was arrested in connection with the death of his mother and questioned in the dim-lit cellar at the edge of the shallow grave where her body was found, and then locked up in the county jail, Harry Hill steadfastly protested his innocence Monday.

Hill did not kill his mother, the divorced wife of a wealthy Streator, Ill., physician, he said, and could prove it when the time came.

Chestnut Blight Threatens State

Jackson, Ky.—Clarence Hill Burrage, forester at the Robinson experiment substation at Quicksand, has found the chestnut blight in Breathitt and Knott counties, and thinks the disease is probably present in all Eastern Kentucky counties. This is said to be the first official report of the appearance of chestnut blight in Kentucky.

Since there are no known control measures, Mr. Burrage thinks farmers should begin to consider markets for their chestnut timber. While he expects it to be at least ten years before the blight destroys all chestnut trees, he suggests the owners of these trees begin marketing timber as opportunities present themselves.

Those suitable for telephone poles will probably bring the best returns, according to Mr. Burrage. Tannin extract is made from chestnut wood, and tree owners within reach of tannin plants can dispose of their timber in the form of extract wood. Chestnut fence rails are still in demand in some sections and chestnut poles have many uses on farms.

FORM ELECTION BOARD

Eli Stumbo, Democrat, of McDowell, and A. B. Osborn, Republican, of Garth, have been named to the Floyd county election board by the state board of election commissioners. Sheriff T. Y. Martin is the third member of the board by virtue of his office.

MISS MAYO HOSTESS TO DELIGHTFUL BRIDGE

Miss Maurine Mayo delightfully entertained the younger social set at her home on Second avenue on Friday evening, September 9, with six tables of bridge, at the conclusion of which dainty refreshments were served.

High scores were won by Miss Sue Harris and Mr. Adrian Collins, consolation prizes going to Miss Mary Nunery and Mr. Leroy Combs. Miss Lydia Francis, of Jenkins, Ky., was awarded guest prize.

Those enjoying this affair were: Misses Elizabeth Gardner, of Salyersville, Ky., Lydia Francis, of Jenkins, Ky., Kitty and Judith Salisbury, Margaret Rose, Mary and Edna Nunery, Florence Stephens, Sue Farris, Jo Ann Allen, Helen Ferguson, Susan Allen, Angeline Layne, Messrs. Jack Howard, Bob May, Leroy Combs, Julian Harlowe, Adrian Collins, Paul Duffendach, Taggett Allen, Billy Rose, and Eddie Hill.

HURT WHEN AUTO WRECKS

Ed Moore, son of Kendall Moore, of Langley was slightly injured Saturday night when his automobile skidded on slippery roads and dropped over a 15-foot bank between Garrett and Lackey. Mr. Moore was bruised about the body, but is recovering after receiving treatment at the Beaver Valley hospital at Martin.

NEAL TREASURE STORY GOES FAR

Man in Canal Zone Would Communicate With Searchers

The story of Jack Neal's buried treasure, which was published a short time ago in The Floyd County Times, found its way to far-away Panama where it, evidently, received an interested reading.

As a result, the county clerk here received this week a letter written by Lieut. George Williams, who claims to be the discoverer of a great treasure hoard in Old Panama last year, of which stories appeared in the daily press throughout the country, and who seeks communication with searchers for Jack Neal's gold in this county.

Lieutenant Williams' letter is published below for what it is worth:

Box 327 Ancon, Canal Zone, Panama, Sept. 2, 1927

Dear Sir: I have just been informed of the treasure hunt that is under way in your county and wish to be put in touch with one of them that are searching for the treasure.

Probably you have read of me in the papers, for it was I who recovered the treasure in Old Panama and elsewhere by the means of an instrument. I have also the concession over the whole of the Republic of Panama to search for buried treasure which was given me on the working of my machine before all officials of the Government. I have invented a new machine to detect gold and silver, and have made several recent discoveries. I have this machine for sale during the wet season while I am unable to explore myself, but as soon as the dry weather sets in I shall be too busy exploring to build these machines for any one else, therefore I have them for sale only during the next two months. I wish to get in touch with one of the treasure hunters looking for Jack Neal's treasure, so that I can sell one of these machines, for I am sure that it could be found with it. The price is 250 dollars, which is a little over the cost of making, plus one-sixteenth of all found for the first six months. After that time the machine belongs to the buyer and all found with it.

Please put me in touch with one of the hunters of this treasure.

I await to hear from you. Yours faithfully, LIEUT. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

LAWRENCE WOMAN SEES FIRST TRAIN

On Monday evening Mrs. W. T. Riggsby and daughter of Union Camps, this county, had an unusual experience when they visited Louisa. Mrs. Riggsby is a niece of Mr. J. T. Pack, the genial manager of the A. and P. store here. According to Mr. Pack, Mrs. Riggsby, who is 60 years of age, and her daughter, who is 31, never before beheld the sight of a train or rode in an automobile.

Mrs. Riggsby left here for Ashland to spend a few days. From there they will go to Portsmouth, Ohio.—Lawrence County Recorder.

BELIEVE IN ADVERTISING

(Mt. Sterling Gazette) There was a man who said he did not believe in advertising. He is a married man. When he was young and gay he had a sweetheart. She became his wife. He is happy now. But why and how did he get her? Not in magazines or by joining a "lonesome club." But he advertised just the same. He "showed off" at picnics; did stunts of physical skill where she could see.

His trousers were always pressed when he went a-courting. His tie was the latest hue and pattern. He talked of big, brave things in her presence.

He told her of the little home they would acquire and how it could be done on his salary. By the time she answered "yes" she knew who he was, where he was and what he was worth financially and morally.

By his "advertising" her attention was directed to him, she knew all about him, and she was convinced of his value. She simply "answered his ad."

Both are happy now and both have profited by the transaction. Advertising is simply letting the world know what YOU have to offer.

Newspaper advertising is the best way to do that.

Mr. and Mrs. "Dad" Laferty and children, of Chinnville, are visiting children, of Raceland, are visiting relatives here.

HO, HUN!

A kiss, according to a learned college professor, is "the anatomical juxtaposition of two orbicularis oris muscles in a state of contraction." It sounds like the description of a kiss he's given his mother-in-law. Any kiss worthwhile is simply "bliss" and needs no scientific explanation.

Mrs. Grace Conley was honored on her 90th birthday, January 23, by members of her family both at her home on Highland Avenue, here, and at Jerry's Restaurant. She was born January 23, 1896 in Knott county.

Mrs. Conley attributes her longevity to good Christian living and a daily awareness and devotion to God.

Her children presented her with a new color television, and she received many telephone calls for a happy birthday from those near and from afar.

Business School Announces Grant

Billie Joyce Coggins, of Betsy Layne, director of the Pikeville campus of Kentucky College of Business, announced recently a college economic grant for qualified residents of Pike, Floyd, Letcher and Knott counties. The grant would allow persons presently unemployed or in a low income job the opportunity to be trained in selected career skills without the burden of having to re-pay educational loans.

Coggins said the economic grant was approved for the Pikeville campus only. Said Coggins, "The people and various agencies of these counties have supported the College during the past 10 years and now it is the College's turn to offer help during the current down-turn of economic conditions in eastern Kentucky."

The admissions department is presently attempting to contact people who previously were interested in training, but were unable to attend due to their financial situation. Others interested may call KCB at 432-5477 or visit the campus at 640 South Mayo Trail in Pikeville for information.

Health Problems End 28 Years With Bus Transport for Allens

After 28 years operating the Greyhound bus depot and Triangle Restaurant at Allen, Georgia and Jack Allen have called it quits.

Failing health forced Mr. Allen into a hospital for an extended stay recently and his wife has decided she can no longer run the business and leave him alone at home.

"The doctors said he needed someone with him all the time for three or four weeks," she said, "and I couldn't see hiring a nurse to stay."

Allen's health problems have included a series of heart attacks. He says doctors had to resuscitate him 22 times during his hospital stay.

The transition from the bus station to home life has been frustrating for both Mr. and Mrs. Allen, as most of their lives have been spent in the transportation business. Before Mrs. Allen took over the bus station in 1957, her husband and his brother, Bill, operated the Allen Brothers Bus Co., which ran between Prestonsburg and the Beaver Creeks. Before that, the brothers ran a taxi service.

"That was in the days when most people didn't have cars," he said, adding that if things were the same in those days as they are now, he wouldn't have been doing much driving, either. "I was only 13 or 14 years old," he said. "If I'd had to have a driver's license I couldn't have got it. I was too young."

The brothers had two cabs—"Studebaker touring cars. They were open, just like a convertible. You'd be surprised how many people we could get in 'em,"

JACK AND GEORGIA ALLEN, for almost three decades operators of the Greyhound bus depot in Allen, were forced by ill-health to give up the business, recently. Said Mrs. Allen of the 26 years spent running the depot, "It was wonderful."

he said.

But driving wasn't always a picnic for Allen. He recalled the times during World War II when he would have to haul draftees from various places in the county to Allen. It was so rough, he said, "sometimes I'd come home with both eyes blacked."

Such rowdy passengers may have helped prepare Allen for another group he later chauffeured. Allen said he drove the first school bus ever in Floyd county, back in 1936. "I drove it here from the factory," he said, "and continued driving it until 1941."

It was, however, the Greyhound depot that the Allens were most known for. Back in the old days, they said, they were constantly busy with arriving and departing passengers, diners at the restaurant and others who killed time there. And it wasn't just time that was in danger of death. According to Mrs. Allen, once a teenage girl was brought in by a man who left her almost dead in a booth there, victim of a drug overdose. Another time, a county official allegedly fired several pistol shots from a pistol inside the bus station, prompting investigation by the FBI.

Over the years, she says, she has accumulated a varied assortment of paraphernalia at the bus station. "I was cleaning out a file cabinet a while back and found a switchblade I took away from a serviceman back during Vietnam, and I found a little .22 automatic that I took from another serviceman. I thought it was real, but we later found out it just shot blanks," she said.

It wasn't, however, all problems and confrontations with passengers for the couple. In fact, they would go out of their way to help people in need.

"I've had mothers tell me they know if their children could make it to the bus station they'd be well taken care of," said Mrs. Allen. That care, she said,

NEW INTEREST RULES

New legislation, recently signed by President Reagan eases the 1984 Tax Reform Act imputed interest rules for seller-financed sales of property.

Prior to imputed interest legislation, selling property on contract enabled buyer and seller to adjust the selling price and the interest rates charged in the contract to give what the IRS saw as unfair tax benefits to both parties. By increasing the selling price of the property beyond its actual fair market value, the buyer was able to treat more of the selling price as favorable capital gains. As a trade-off, the seller lowered the contract's interest rate below market levels so the buyer paid less in interest and had a higher basis in the property. Such deals in commercial real estate gave the buyer larger depreciation deductions.

The new law requires that in property sales where the seller carries the financing on amounts of 2.8 million dollars or less, an interest rate of the lesser of 9% or 100% of the "Applicable Federal Rate" (the rate which the federal government pays on money it borrows) must be charged. Where a lower rate is charged in the contract, the IRS will impute the interest rate at the higher level and treat the transaction accordingly for tax purposes. Transactions exceeding $2.8 million have a test rate of 100% of the federal rate. The $2.8 million figure will be indexed for inflation after 1989.

The new law is retroactive to June 30th, 1985. To compensate for the fact that some federal tax revenue will be lost because of the new rules, the law includes a provision that extends the depreciation period for 18 year real property to 19 years.

The law specifically excludes from its below-market loan rules those loans of $90,000 or less made by taxpayers age 65 or more to "continuing care facilities" (retirement homes).

PLAN YOUR OWN FUNERAL—SO YOUR NEXT-OF-KIN NEEDN'T

Under common law, your body belongs to your next-of-kin, even if you leave a will. Your will, although an expression of your wishes, pertains primarily to property and other effects of your estate. It is a necessary instrument, to be sure, but your next-of-kin are free to determine how your remains are treated.

Your expression of your wishes on the matter carry great weight. They most certainly will be carried out to the letter if you have made arrangements in advance and stated your requests in black and white. The more people who know of your wishes—and that you have taken care of them yourself—the more assurance you have that your final wishes will be respected. This is especially true when you have prepaid for funeral service.

By pre-planning your own funeral service, you spare the bereaved the anguish and emotional strain of doing so under stressful conditions. And, most likely, you'll save money when it's needed most.

For more information on pre-planning funerals, stop by or call for experienced counseling and information.

Do-It-Yourself Test Screens Eye Problems

Are you seeing as well as you should? Some eye problems develop so gradually that people are not aware their vision is affected.

The National Society to Prevent Blindness (NSPB) estimates that more than 11 million Americans have lost some vision. Many others, with conditions such as glaucoma, may not know they are at risk. To help people check their vision, NSPB has just released a revised edition of its Home Eye Test for Adults (HETA).

The do-it-yourself test provides four individual tests that point to signs of macular degeneration, glaucoma, or the more common near-or far-sighted refractive errors one encounters with age.

According to the society, the majority of those who fail any part of the test may only require eyeglasses or a change of their current prescription, if they already wear glasses. However, the test can warn of more serious eye problems that require prompt medical attention.

The HETA, developed with the advice of some of the nation's leading ophthalmologists, is not diagnostic. NSPB recommends a periodic professional eye exam even for those who have passed the test. Copies are available for $1 to cover postage and handling costs through: NSPB-Kentucky, 727 Starks Building, Louisville, KY 40202.

Farm foreclosure and bankruptcy figures show that, across Kentucky, farmers are doing better than their counterparts nationwide.

"Naturally, I am not happy with any farm foreclosures or bankruptcies, but I am pleased that Kentucky farmers are doing as well as they are," said Agriculture Commissioner David E. Boswell.

As an example of the farmers' position, Boswell pointed to figures from the Farmers Home Administration, a federal agency which is considered the lender of last resort to farmers.

FmHA bankruptcies since 1982 have averaged approximately 100 per year. In 1985, there were 141 bankruptcies.

"But pure numbers don't mean much," said state FmHA director Kendall Seaton. "They need to be compared to the total number of 10,000 farmers holding loans totaling $762 million.

"That means that just slightly more than 1 percent of Kentucky's farmers went bankrupt during 1985," Seaton said.

Seaton also pointed out that Kentucky farmers have the lowest loan delinquency rate in the nation at 11 percent.

"We're very pleased with these numbers, and we want to keep them as low as possible. We are not in the business of foreclosing on farmers," Seaton said.

FmHA foreclosure figures are not available because there has been a moratorium against FmHA foreclosure since the latter part of 1983. That moratorium was lifted Jan. 15, 1986.

With the lifting of the moratorium, FmHA is preparing to notify some 80,000 farmers across the country that they must make their payments current or face possible foreclosure. These notices are going to all farmers who are at least $100 behind in payments.

At the same time, however, FmHA is encouraging borrowers to meet with the agency to determine ways to repay the debt and avoid foreclosure.

"Figures from other members of the farm credit system also show that Kentucky farmers are in relatively stable financial situations," Commissioner Boswell said.

"Both the Federal Land Bank and the Production Credit Association show that Kentucky farmers are generally meeting their loan obligations," Boswell added.

TWICE GIVEN

"TWICE GIVEN" is the dramatic, true story of Tom and Pam Williams and their death struggle with bacterial meningitis. Tom loved Pam with a love which few have ever known, and God had chosen to glorify Himself through their suffering. This is their story. It is one of sacrificial love that endures heartache, pain and the severest of trials with the assurance that God is in control of every detail of His children's lives.

Tom Williams stood steadfastly beside his wife as she lay near death's door and then during her months in a coma. When her body was distorted and wasted, he paid a tremendous price to care for her through long years of healing and restoration. But in the midst of grief and despair, God gave him strength and hope as he relied on resources far beyond man's power to help.

This is a powerful motion picture that vividly portrays and exemplifies Christ's love alive in a man of "tough faith"—faith strong enough to endure what most would call impossible and devastating circumstances. Through the power and reality of the living Christ, Tom has given himself to his wife as Christ gave Himself for the Church.

Ask Toni

Conrad has been around

By Toni Reinhold
On what shows has Robert Conrad appeared in addition to "Black Sheep Squadron"? — S.M., Daytona Beach, Fla.

Robert Conrad

Conrad has quite a list of TV credits. He appeared in "Hawaiian Eye" (1959-63), "The Wild, Wild West" (1965-70), "The D.A." (1971-72), "Operation Vienna" (1972-73), "Centennial" (1978-79), a short-lived 1979 detective drama called "The Duke" and "A Man Called Sloane" (1979-80). "Black Sheep Squadron," originally called "Baa Baa Black Sheep," aired from 1976 to 1978.

Where can I write to MCA Records? Do they accept and listen to cassette tapes? — C.W., Flint, Michigan.

It sounds as if you are interested in embarking on the rocky road to a music career. Good luck! Write to MCA at 445 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022 and ask for their guidelines for submitting tapes. Each label has different requirements.

During World War II, an excellent movie was made called "Wing and a Prayer," starring Don Ameche. I saw it on TV a long time ago, but have never seen it since. Whatever happened to that film? — D.A., Auburn, Mass.

This action-packed tale of heroism aboard an aircraft carrier was released in 1944 and also featured Dana Andrews, Charles Bickford and Cedric Hardwicke. Write to the local television stations in your area and ask them to include it in their schedules.

Whatever happened to the TV show "Lottery"? — K.P., Stuarts Draft, Va.

This dramatic anthology aired on ABC from September 1983 to July the following year and starred Ben Murphy and Marshall Colt. The show, alas, was a victim in the ratings war.

(Send your letters to Ask Toni, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 01066.)

Omar Sharif is no longer fed up with acting

By Lynn Hoogenboom

"All my teachers wanted me to be a mathematician," says Omar Sharif. "They were in despair when I said I wanted to be an actor. They said, 'What a waste.' They all thought I would become a great, great mathematician."

Omar Sharif

His decision to forsake mathematics and go into acting led to international stardom in the '60s when he appeared in such smash hits as "Lawrence of Arabia" (1962), "Doctor Zhivago" (1965) and "Funny Girl" (1968). But during the '70s, although he continued to work regularly, he often seemed more interested in bridge or racehorses.

"About four years ago, I was really fed up with my work, with the films I was making, with all my ambitions," Sharif says today. "I didn't care anymore. I thought, either I've got to quit or I have to make myself interested again like when I was young. I decided the only way to do that, since I wasn't being offered interesting things in cinema, was to go into theater. And it's done me fantastic good. Now I'm happy. Perfectly happy. I don't need to play bridge. I don't need to gamble. I don't need anything. I'm happy in my life."

Most of his theater work has been in London so far, but he would be delighted to work on Broadway if he finds the right vehicle. "I'm trying to work in the theater mainly and now and then do television or a movie to make some money so I can afford to go spend a year in the theater."

One of those television projects was "Peter the Great," which will be airing Feb. 2-5. Sharif plays Prince Romodanovsky, Peter's mentor and closest adviser during his long reign, on the NBC miniseries.

"Peter the Great" was filmed entirely in Russia, an area of the world about which Sharif now has strong feelings. "It was the first time I had been to Russia," he says. "One of the reasons I took it on was that I wanted to see Russia. I'd never go again, I tell you. I suffered more than I ever suffered in my life. It was one of the coldest winters in history. The food was lousy. The wine was undrinkable, and it was just boring. You were restricted in the hotel, which was dull and dreary. And you couldn't have anyone in your room or go to anyone's room. And after five months, it's a bit much."

EKU Schedules Med Workshops

Three medical workshops will be held at Eastern Kentucky University to help nurses and medical technicians update their knowledge in current practice.

The workshops—on incontinence, laboratory values, and hypertension—will all be held at EKV's Carl D. Perkins Building and will offer continuing education units (CEU's).

The first workshop, "Incontinence: A Beatable Stigma" will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 29.

This workshop, which carries 0.6 CEU's, is designed for registered nurses (RN's) and licensed practical nurses (LPN's) who work in home and residential settings, but may be helpful to nursing practice in many settings.

The workshop will address methods of nursing intervention with bowel and urinary incontinence.

The second workshop, "Don't Be Broken Hearted Over Laboratory Values," will be held on Friday, Feb. 14. It offers 0.6 CEU's, or six contact hours.

This workshop will use an interdisciplinary approach to update knowledge of common laboratory studies and implications for safe patient care.

Participants will be given an opportunity to observe or practice the collection and interpretation of selected laboratory tests.

The final workshop, "Accepting the Challenge: Hypertension in the 1980s, Nursing's Role" is set for Thursday, Feb. 27.

The workshop will offer 0.6 CEU's, or six contact hours.

Some 37 million adults in the United States suffer high blood pressure. Although much of the treatment of hypertension has been by physicians, nurses can take a direct role in assisting the patients they care for to set a normotensive role for themselves and develop a plan to reach this goal.

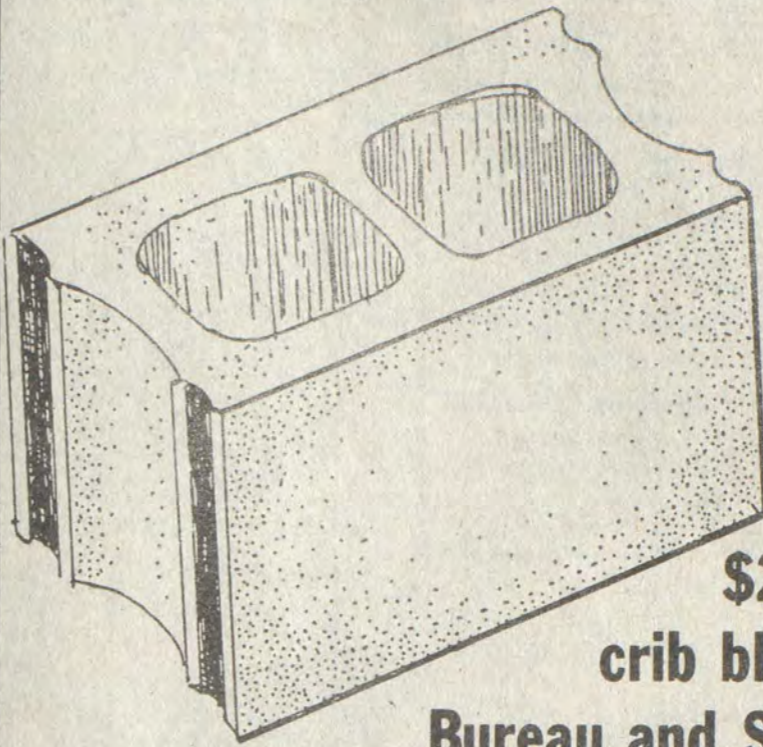

The workshop will discuss recent techniques in this battle.

For more information, contact Janet Collins, 202 Perkins Building, EKV, Richmond, Ky. 40475-0951, (606) 622-2143, or call the EKV Division of Special Programs at (606) 622-1444.

SPECIAL THANKS

The family of Angie Adams would like to use this means to express their sincere heartfelt thanks to the Elders of the United Baptist Church and all the family and friends who sent flowers and food, especially to Ann Ford and Rose Collins for opening up their homes to the out-of-town families. Thanks to the Carter Funeral Home for their kind and courteous services and to all those who paid their respects during our time of bereavement.

Attending were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rice, and Katherine Allen; their grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Kinzer, Miss Janet Rice, Mrs. Karen Little; two of their great-grandchildren, Hobert, Jr., and Leigh Ann Little.

Floyd Bowlers Place In State Tournament

The Pioneer Truck Parts bowling team of Prestonsburg didn't fare so well in the 1985 Kentucky State Bowling Association tourney, as they finished far out of the money, but bowlers, Tilden Ellis and Oscar "O" Rice, finished in 31st place in doubles out of 422 pairs from across the state. The Big "O" finished a respectable 18th out of 755 entrants in the all-events competition which consisted of nine games in 21 doubles, 10 in Owensboro. Dale Compton, of Weeksbury and Greg Clevinger, of Elkhorn City, finished 51st, in doubles. Other team members of the Pioneer Truck Parts team are Willie and Worth McGuire and Jimmy Connors.

FROM RX TO OTC

As a result of an agreement between pharmaceutical firms, consumer groups and the Food and Drug Administration, we can expect to see more prescription drugs switched to over-the-counter versions. Even some antibiotics and mild diuretics will be candidates for OTC status. Consumers will begin to enjoy a wider selection and lower prices. OTC drug labels will have to include directions for use, warnings and recommended dosages. A study by an OTC drug industry trade group, however, indicates that consumers already are cautious in their use of non-prescription drugs. They are more likely to use home remedies or not to treat everyday health problems at all than to use OTC medications.

For a complete selection of over-the-counter and prescription medications head for COOLEY APOTHECARY. In addition to our everyday low prices we offer complete patient profiles and plenty of parking. Make the drug store with a difference your drug store. You'll find us here at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HECKS' SINCERE REGRETS

Due to the world wide coffee shortage, the Maxwell House coffee pictured in our February 2nd circular is not available. This problem was unforeseeable at the time our circular was printed. As evidence to the crisis, the following excerpt appeared in the January 23, 1986 edition of the "Wall Street Journal" newspaper:

"Drought in Brazil boosts coffee prices, and consumers are rushing to stock up before increases filter down to grocery shelves. In Woodbridge, N.J., one man tried to order $6,000 worth of Maxwell House coffee at $2.29 a pound from a Pathmark supermarket before the 138-store chain slapped a three-container limit on all customers. In Miami, the limit is one item per customer at Publix Super Markets. Other dealers come in trying to buy it off the shelf because it's cheaper than the new wholesale price..."
(Reprinted from the Wall Street Journal.)

Bike-A-Thon Leaders

The Central Regional Office of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital has announced that the following individuals in Floyd county have agreed to chair the 1986 Bike-A-Thon in their communities.

Doris Lawson, of Ligon, Culla Newman, of Grethel, June Mae Hamilton, of Beaver, Revia Smith and Ellis Spurlock, of Allen, will each chair Bike-A-Thons this spring.

The Bike-a-Thon program is dedicated to "Jaime". Jaime is from Ohio and was diagnosed with leukemia in May of 1983, and began treatment at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Today, her cancer is in remission and she is doing quite well. Jaime is a living example of the progress and success of the research, patient care, and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital.

Funds raised in the events this spring will help assure the continuation of the work at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

"If your gas or oil bills are high, add on a heat pump."

You can cut your heating bills by adding a heat pump to the gas or oil furnace you already have.

An add-on heat pump saves you money because it shares the job of heating your home. You just add it on to your existing furnace. It goes on only when electricity is the most efficient, economical source of heat.

And all summer long, you get the comfort of air conditioning. Because in the summer, the heat pump reverses itself and pumps the heat out of your house while keeping the cool air circulating.

Because an add-on heat pump uses your existing furnace, most installations don't involve any changes to your ductwork.

If you think about the savings, the air conditioning, and the low cost of installation, adding on a heat pump is a pretty smart move. Call us and find out more.

Others attending were their son and daughter-in-law, Butch and Carole Bentley, Angela Bentley, Charla Hall, and Mae Cox. Their grandson, Randy Bentley, was unable to attend.

Floyd Student Among 1500 Students at Berea In Short Term Course

A full-time student taking only one course may be a rare commodity on most college and university campuses. But not at Berea College where students enroll in only one course during the January short term.

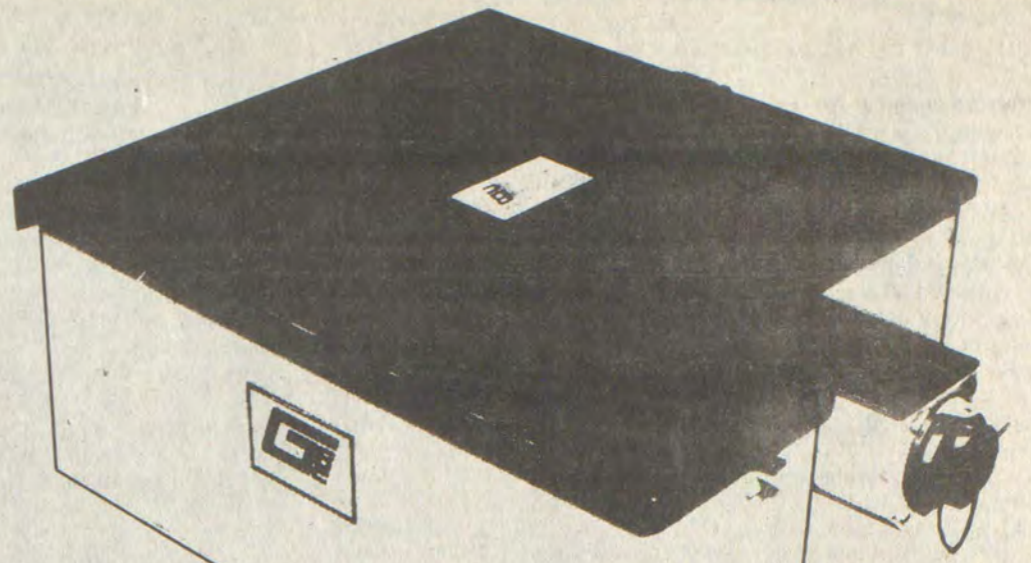

William Stanley, of David, is among the 1,500 Berea students who concentrate on one specialized class during the four-week term. Stanley is enrolled in "Dynamics of Children's Play." A freshman history major, he is the son of James and Easter Stanley, of David.

Stanley and his classmates are studying the role of play in the social and physical development of children.

Short term classes meet at least two hours a day, and each class, together with research and other assignments, may be as demanding as regular semester class loads.

In addition to classes, each student also participates in Berea's labor program. Students do not pay tuition at Berea; instead, work a minimum of 10 hours a week in a college department.

Other Floyd county students enrolled at Berea are: Barbara Collins, daughter of Burton and Mary Collins, of Minnie; Dorothy Johnson, daughter of Harve and Shelia Johnson, of Hi Hat; Regina Messer, daughter of Billy and Betty Messer, of Bypro; Don Parker, Jr., son of Donald and Sue Parker, of McDowell; Glen and Willis Slone, sons of Billy and Ada Slone, of David; Barbara Williams, granddaughter of Dewey and Lillian Conley, of Prestonsburg.

81st Birthday

Maudie Hamilton Flack, of Betsy Layne, celebrated her 81st birthday Saturday, January 11, with a birthday cake baked by Mary Zemo, dinner hosted by her husband, Harold B. Flack, her children, Junior and Lorene Hamilton, Bernice and Arnold Prater, and Verbal and Estill Meek, and a telephone call from her son and his wife, Bud and Ada Hamilton, of Daytona Beach, Florida.
 She enjoyed a birthday bouquet of flowers delivered by Billie Jean Osborne and the company of her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and sister, Renie Tackett, of McDowell, and her family.

In Appreciation

Our family has known the dearest joy over the past 31 years in having among us our loved one, Barry K. Howell.
 On January 13, we began to experience the deepest sorrow when he was taken from us as the result of an auto accident.
 The pain we felt was made easier to bear because of hundreds of people who shared our sorrow.
 Our family would like to thank each of you who brought food, sent flowers, contributed to his church in his memory, spoke words of comfort or sat with us.
 We also thank those of Zebulon Lodge No. 273, F&AM, for their service and the special singers and choir of Community Methodist Church and their ministers. We appreciate the loving service given by the Carter Funeral Home and extend to all these people our love and heartfelt thanks.

All's Quiet—Too Quiet In Magoffin Court

By LEE MUELLER
 (In The Lexington Herald-Leader)
 Magoffin Fiscal Court has already met twice this year, but thus far its actions can be summarized in one word: Nothing.
 An apparent political gridlock between Paul Salyer, a second-term judge-executive, and three new magistrates has largely paralyzed county government here at a time when state officials are urging cooperative action.
 The State Department of Local Government, for example, says Magoffin County Clerk H.B. Arnett gave his deputies pay raises totaling "thousands and thousands of dollars" during the last four years without the required approval of fiscal court.
 It ordinarily would be fiscal court's job, said Local Finance Supervisor Al Howell, to see that the money is paid back to the county.
 "These are not, however, ordinary times in Magoffin County." "Their fiscal court won't take any action on anything," Howell said.
 In Salyersville, political observers say Salyer's predicament is similar to that of a school superintendent who has lost the support of his second board members.
 They say the judge-executive's troubles actually began in last year's county elections when Salyer won, but so did three magistrates he did not support.
 Salyer, a Royalton coal operator, minimizes the political nature of the dispute, but acknowledged that "the political thing is, we've got 21 employees and they want to hire 15 of them."
 State law, however, says that only the judge-executive can recommend employees, he said. "So we'll see how it comes out, I guess."
 One of the new magistrates, Joey Issac, of Salyersville, said the differences between the judge-executive and other fiscal court members were more basic than just who hires whom.
 "Mostly it's just that the judge wants to run the whole show," Issac said. "The last four years, he had magistrates that agreed with him on everything," he said.
 "This time, he doesn't."

Martin Luther King Essay Contest

This "Your Dream For America" writing competition was sponsored by Mrs. Monette Sturgill's English IV Advanced Placement class at Prestonsburg High School, in observance of Martin Luther King Day. The students divided into committees, devised the rules, and judged the entries according to the criteria that they set forth. Mr. Robert May, principal, provided prize money of $25 each for best essay and best poem. In addition to the top two essays printed here, Kathy Craft, sophomore, placed third. The poetry competition was won by senior David Edwards. Ashland Joseph, sophomore, took second place and Beth Hall, freshman, third.

The large cities of our country, this spirit of brotherhood has almost entirely disappeared. A few years ago in the city of New York, a woman was stabbed to death while her neighbors watched, doing nothing to help! If the pioneers of our country had acted in that manner, the United States might still consist of thirteen colonies.

The second part of my dream for America is renewed patriotism. The patriotism of our forefathers created the United States and helped it evolve into the world power it is today. But that patriotism has seemed to dissipate. During the American Revolution, Americans were willing to fight for what they believed in, even when they were poorly clothed in the harsh winters and nearly starved to death. In the Middle East, there are people making a mockery of everything those men in colonial times fought for. Those patriots were frightened, but they fought for their freedom. The prospect of a war is a very serious and terrifying matter, but it is time for America to fight against those cowardly terroristic attacks in the Middle East.

The third part of my dream for America, an end to racial discrimination, has not yet been achieved. To treat others unjustly because their skin is a different color is ridiculous. Would a person discriminate against another because the color of their eyes was different? No, that is not likely. Discrimination is deeply rooted, stemming mainly from slavery which was once a very big part of American life. Generation after generation of children have been taught to discriminate, and they don't even know why. Isn't it time to end this senseless practice that causes so much pain?

Each person has his or her own dream, his or her own set of goals that he thinks should be achieved. My dream for America isn't the same as everyone else's, and I am glad. If everyone's dream for America is different, and each person strives to make his or her dream a reality, our country would become much stronger and thrive on the spirit, creativity, and determination of its citizens.

MY DREAM FOR AMERICA
By Martie Lafferty, Sophomore
Martin Luther King, Jr., had a dream. He dreamed of equal rights for all people. Most people have dreams for their country. This is only natural since our country was and is a dream.

Our country was the dream of our forefathers, and it is the dream of many people in other countries. I, too, have dreams for my country. I dream of a country in which people, whether poor or rich, black, white, or purple, can work together to make that country strong.

I dream for more help for, in Edward Kennedy, Jr.'s, words, "physically challenged" people, help such as putting braille in elevators. We need to realize that "physically challenged" people can accomplish anything that they desire to accomplish.

I dream of better schools. The children of our country are this country's future. We need to pay our teachers the money they deserve. We need to realize that they are some of our most important citizens. Without teachers we could have no doctors, lawyers, or astronauts. Teachers have a tremendous effect on all of our lives.

The most important dream that I have for our country is that our leaders will always strive for peace.

Without actions my dreams are worthless. I hope that I, along with others, can make my dreams a reality.

When it comes to cake baking, shiny metal pans are best, because they reflect heat away from the cake and produce a light brown, tender crust.

MY DREAM FOR AMERICA
By David Spiggle, Sophomore
Many people think of a future goal when they hear the word "dream," but parts of my dream for America have already been achieved in the past—but lost. My dream for America consists of brotherhood, renewed patriotism, and a long overdue end to racial discrimination.

The first part of my dream, brotherhood, was achieved in the early days of the American West. In those pioneer days, neighbors were friendly and were of help to each other in times of need. In

NUMB ARMS, LEGS Warning Signals

There may be misalignment of vertebrae in the spine causing pressure on nerves, yet the patient experiences no pain in the back. Instead, a variety of sensations may be felt in other parts of the body. These include tingling, tightness, hot spots, cold spots, crawling sensations, electric shock sensations, stinging, burning, and others.

The following nine symptoms involving back pain or strange sensations are often the forerunners of more serious conditions. Any one of these may spell back trouble

- (1) Paresthesias (see above)
- (2) Headaches
- (3) Painful joints
- (4) Numbness in the arms or hands
- (5) Loss of sleep
- (6) Stiffness in the neck
- (7) Pain between the shoulders
- (8) Stiffness or pain in lower back
- (9) Numbness or pain in the legs.

These signals may indicate your body is being robbed of normal nerve function. Until this function is restored, you will, in some degree, be incapacitated. The longer you wait to seek help, the worse the condition will likely become. Don't wait! Should you experience any of these warning signals...call for in depth consultation in Layman's terms.

We can't give you one good reason to shop your new Prestonsburg Winn-Dixie.

We can give you seven!

1. Unbeatable Weekly Specials

There's no competition when it comes to Winn-Dixie's unbeatable weekly specials!

That's because our three specials each week are guaranteed to meet or beat any other store's price. Check our weekly ads to see what we have on special. If you can find any of these three items on special for a lower price at another store, just bring in the newspaper ad or circular advertising the other store's price and Winn-Dixie will meet or beat it...no questions asked! Our three unbeatable specials really are unbeatable. Come in and see!

2. Wise Buys

Wise up to another way to save at Winn-Dixie. When one of Winn-Dixie's merchandisers gets a special deal from a manufacturer, Winn-Dixie passes the savings on to you! We call these bargains Wise Buys, and they're just one more reason smart shoppers shop Winn-Dixie.

3. W-D Brand Guaranteed U.S. Choice Grain Fed Beef

The Beef People have come to Prestonsburg! Winn-Dixie is famous for offering only U.S.

Choice quality government inspected grain fed beef. Our W-D Brand label guarantees it! One taste and you'll never again buy your beef from anyone but the experts at Winn-Dixie.

4. Harvest Fresh Produce

Winn-Dixie is also famous for its produce! We make sure you'll find only the finest fruits and vegetables picked at the peak of the season and rushed to you...Harvest Fresh and ready to enjoy. It's sold loose too, so you pay only for what you need! Visit Winn-Dixie's Produce Patch for the best produce in Prestonsburg!

5. Tremendous Selection

Larger than any other supermarket in town, you can count on Winn-Dixie to have what you're looking for. Our shelves are always fully stocked with your favorite national brands and our well-known quality store brands. We've got what you need at Winn-Dixie!

6. Deli and Bakery

Winn-Dixie's Deli is full of delicious ready-to-go foods like real hickory-smoked barbecued chickens and ribs and crispy Southern fried chicken, plus an incredible assortment of side dishes and desserts to make any meal special. We're on a roll in our bakery, too, with fresh rolls, breads, pastries, pies and cakes coming out of the oven all day long. So relax...and leave the cooking and baking to us in Winn-Dixie's Deli and Bakery.

7. Carry-out Service & Easy in and out

You'll carry on about our carry-out service! Extra friendly employees are always happy to lend a hand to help make grocery shopping easier for you. You'll also find your new Winn-Dixie easy to get in to and get out of when your shopping is done.

So listen to reason! Don't miss the grand opening of Prestonsburg's new Winn-Dixie, starting January 30! You'll see for yourself why millions of Americans wouldn't think of shopping anywhere else but Winn-Dixie.

Urge College Students To Apply Now For Aid

The month of January is a critical time for students to start applying for summer and fall financial aid, according to the director of the largest private scholarship search firm in the country. Numerous private grants and scholarships, sponsored by corporations, trade and civic groups and private foundations are available this year, according to the director. It has been estimated that one-fourth of all financial aid comes from the private sector and in a number of cases is not based on parents' financial data as much as student activities and interests. A major qualification is a student's selected major with a number of new scholarships available in computer programming, business, law, health and communications. The Scholarship Bank provides each student with 65 sources of directly relevant financial aid from a data base of over 25,000 scholarships. The search includes not only major, but geographic desires, age, religion, type of aid sought (internships, grants, scholarships), and parent's employer, union or military background.

Student applicants can receive free a publication on "How to Play Grantsmanship" without obligation. Interested students should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Scholarship Bank, 4626 N. Grand, Covina, CA. 91724.

Approve H.B. 23

The Kentucky House of Representatives Education Committee has approved House Bill 23, which grants county school employees the option of buying additional months into the county retirement system. State Rep. Freed Curd, D-Murray, said employees can buy a full year's retirement coverage even though they only work nine-and-one-quarter months. School employees normally don't work during the summer.

Super Sleuth Holmes On "Mystery!"

Sherlock Holmes, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's fictional super sleuth, returns to "Mystery!" in the person of Jeremy Brett in a new series of six adventures debuting Saturday, February 8, on KET. Each program will be aired at 9 p.m.

The second Sherlock Holmes series opens with "The Greek Interpreter," in which Holmes solves the bizarre mystery of why an interpreter (played by Charles Gray) is abducted to a strange house and forced to interpret for a Greek man swathed in bandages, who's also obviously a captive.

In "The Resident Patient" on February 15, Holmes is called in to investigate when a strange benefactor offers to set up a young doctor with a good practice in return for rooms in the doctor's flat and a share of the profits. Next up on February 22 is "The Norwood Builder," in which Holmes saves a young solicitor accused of murdering a retired builder who named the solicitor in his will—by proving no murder was committed.

In "The Copper Beeches," on March 1, the detective penetrates the mystery of why a young governess is offered triple her salary if she'll trim her long chestnut hair and wear a certain blue dress. In "The Red-Headed League" on March 8, a down-at-the-heels pawnbroker with bright red hair consults Holmes to learn why a charitable foundation offers him a large salary merely to copy the Encyclopedia Britannica four hours each day. The series concludes with "The Final Problem" on March 15.

"Mystery!" is produced by WGBH/Boston.
