

Fiscal Court Approves Measure To Reinstate Flood Insurance

By Tim Sizemore

Flood insurance coverage for the county stood at the top of the agenda at last Friday's Fiscal Court meeting, with court members passing an ordinance to help reinstate the coverage after its suspension on September 25.

County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo told the court members that it was imperative that the ordinance be passed because without the coverage no federal aid could be expected in the event of a flood. Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens, District Two, requested that the vote be delayed until the next scheduled meeting, because he said that he had not had sufficient time to read the 19-page document. Judge Stumbo countered that the passage of the ordinance could not be delayed and that while he was not in agreement with every item, it was the law. The ordinance was passed with three magistrates voting for and Owens dissenting.

The tax rate approved by court members on real property saw a 4% increase over last year, with the new rate being set at 17.7. The maximum rate allowable for Floyd county is 19.7. The new rate will provide extra funds for the health department, school board, library and conservation program.

The court also approved the renewal of a four-year contract for the Big Sandy Juvenile Detention Center. Surrounding counties will be required to pay $45 a day with Floyd county providing the location and utilities.

Besides hiring two new employees, George Ousley and Rodney Scott, as members of the county road crew in District Two, the court also appointed Homer Hall to fill a vacancy on the Beaver Elkhorn Water District Commission.

Two residents of the Wayland area attended the meeting to register complaints about a bridge and an over hanging rock cliff.

Chris Conley, of Shop Fork, said that a new bridge is needed in the hollow because the old one is dangerous. Magistrate Owens said that he has looked at the bridge and has concluded that supports beneath the bridge have been undermined by water. Judge Stumbo said that he, too, has looked at the bridge and something would be done to solve the problem. Another Shop Fork resident, Martha Collins, expressed concern about an overhanging rock cliff complaining that she had called Magistrate Owens in the spring but that nothing had been done. She also said that she had rented a jackhammer to remove the rock and had her 15-year-old son operate it. Mrs. Collins explained that she and her five children need the land for a trailer site since her house burned down. She wants to install the trailer but the rock cliff makes it difficult to get it into the hollow. Magistrate Owens says that he is willing to help and promised to put men on the job of removal. Owens said that the county's jackhammer has been in use in another district because of helping at funerals and that upon his return he will help.

Judge Stumbo said that after he received a call from Mrs. Collins, Saturday (See Story No. 1, Page 4)

Despite Heated Debate, House Approves Workers' Comp Plan

By B.A. Heinze

Despite heated debate, House Bill 1 known as the O'Daniel plan was adopted by the House of Representatives in Frankfort yesterday by a vote of 80 to 16. The Senate began deliberations on the plan yesterday (Tuesday) but is not expected to vote on the measure before Wednesday. No serious opposition to the plan is expected.

With four major plans put before the special legislative session called by Governor Martha Layne Collins to revamp workers' compensation, Greg Stumbo, Democratic majority leader of the House, offered an alternative proposal. Designed to lighten the assessment on small coal operators, it caught the interest late last week of legislators viewing other plans favored by lawmakers representing the coal region.

Stumbo's plan would have improved some of the black lung benefits of the O'Daniel Bill, sponsored by Sen. Ed O'Daniel, D-Springfield, which was approved, for the most part, intact. Other facets of Stumbo's plan would have separated the Special Fund debt of the coal interests from that of employers in other industries; raise their per ton tax rate to around 40 cents, and reduce insurance premium assessment of non-coal employers from the 23.3 percent of O'Daniel's bill to 15 percent.

Under this plan, future black lung claims could be raised to a maximum payment of $241 per week for 425 weeks, but it could have been possible for payments to be less, depending on the extent of disability. At present, most are paid lifetime benefits based on 100 percent of the average statewide wage. Smaller coal companies, many of whom have said that the higher assessment on insurance premiums in other proposals would put them out of business, would be helped by a plan to tax coal on a per-ton basis for the major part of funding, rather than through the increased insurance rate. This would have put the burden of funding on the larger coal companies, who, with greater holdings and automation, produce more tonnage with fewer workers.

House Democratic Whip Kenny Rapier, of Bardstow, said that Stumbo's plan "sounds so good it almost scares me."

The plan, however, was not expected to be accepted by the General Assembly, because, in part, it was offered after the lawmakers had heard and debated a plethora of other plans and amendments. House Speaker Pete Worthington, D-Ewing, said "It may be a better plan, but we've gone a long way in certifying the plans we've already got."

Stumbo says he will reintroduce his plan in the regular session held in January.

Tax Rate Adjusted by Board, Hirings, Transfers Listed

By B.A. Heinze

Approval of the Floyd County School District's general budget for 1987-88 was voted by board members meeting here, October 7. Supt. Ray Brackett noted an adjustment to the previously stated tax rate for real estate of 33.9 which has been corrected to 33.4. This also includes tangible personalty and public service companies. The general budget was unanimously approved as were other motions put before the board.

Most of the board's business consisted of hirings and transfers of personnel which was accomplished smoothly with no questions put to members from the floor.

Partial payment for architectural work on the Right and Left Beaver school projects was authorized as well as approval of submission of exact specifications for the Right Beaver Elementary school project. Termed a BG-2, it is one of several steps required for approval of construction.

In other action, the board approved the employ or transfer of the following certified personnel:

Ruth Patterson, emergency special ed teacher at Prestonsburg High School; Nadine Hicks, part-time kindergarten teacher at Clark Elementary; Gail Murrell, teacher at Maytown Elementary; Draxie Newsome, part-time kindergarten teacher at Drift Elementary; Debbie Dunn, and Bonnie Dyer, teachers at Prestonsburg Elementary; Lela Collins, teacher at Auxier Elementary; Joan Ramey, special ed teacher at Garrett, replacing Yvette Martin; June Stephens, part-time kindergarten teacher at Prestonsburg Elementary; Jerry Deskins transferred from Betsy Layne Elementary special ed to Prestonsburg High, replacing Allene Brown; Agnes Kidd, part-time kindergarten teacher at Prater School; Mildred Brooks, part-time replacement for Jerry Deskins; June Stephens, Headstart social worker.

Resignations accepted included that of Yvette Martin, Garrett special ed teacher, and these non-certified personnel: Eunice Music, Frieda Jarrell, Norcie Lee Jarrell, Brenda Camp, Thelma Frasure, Opal V. Jarvis.

Nancy Kidd, clerk at Betsy Layne High, was granted a leave-of-absence. (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

Shades of Alfred Hitchcock—Suicidal Birds Descend Here

By Tim Sizemore

Like the birds in Alfred Hitchcock's 1962 thriller, the winged fowl descended like a black cloud, Sunday before last, on the home of Tim and Lois Howard.

The sky was filled at dusk with chimney swifts, and residents of North Highland Avenue gathered to witness the peculiar sight. Suddenly, with no known provocation, the birds began to descend the chimney at the Howard home. On and on they came with thousands of churning wings stirring up the black soot.

More and more birds piled on each other as the chimney quickly filled. Luckily, the birds could not get into the house, but the frenzied flapping of their wings caused a fog of soot to penetrate the house, covering furniture, walls and carpet with a fine black powder.

Not knowing where to turn or what to do, the Howards summoned the Prestonsburg Police Department. Then, following a futile effort to force the birds out with smoke bombs, a call went out to the fire department for help in smoke removal.

Having failed in their attempts to extricate the chimney swifts, officers here put in a call to the Lexington Police Department, where it was suggested the use of ultra high frequency sound might solve the problem. Unfortunately, this is not standard equipment, nor is it readily available.

Nor did the problems end there. According to firefighter Kevin Hedrick, when he and others began removing the birds from the fireplace, it was found that only a small part of them could be reached. Upon climbing to the top of the chimney, they found it to be completely filled with the suicidal swifts.

Chimney sweep Bucky Martin, who was then called on to clear the blocked flue, said he had never heard of such an occurrence before.

In all, eight garbage bags full of birds were removed. Of these, three were sent for laboratory analysis.

Last week, Mr. and Mrs. Howard were trying to pick up the pieces with a cleaning crew called in to help with the soot removal.

Lois Howard reports that the chimney now has a cover to prevent another occurrence of bird mania. But she is still puzzled by the mystery and simply says, "Why me?"

Couple Jailed Here In Friday Break-In At Sam an' Tonio's

By Tim Sizemore

A burglary last Friday night at Sam an' Tonio's restaurant may prove the undoing of a Johnson county couple.

Rudolph Dodeer, 29, of Hager Hill, and his wife, Katherine, 23, were arrested late Friday night and held in the Floyd county jail after they attempted to burglarize Sam an' Tonios, located in the Plantation Motel.

At around 1 a.m. guests at the motel heard strange noises coming from the restaurant. The guests decided to investigate and looked through the window into the lounge where they spotted a man prowling around on his hands and knees.

After a few minutes the man emerged and attempted to leave the scene, but his car wouldn't start. In the meantime proprietor, Jack Absber, Jr., arrived and began questioning the suspect but Dodeer was evasive and uncooperative. The suspect then left the scene on foot, walking toward Johnson county. After he left, his wife, Katherine, was discovered and held for questioning. Absber called the sheriff's department and Deputy Sheriff Antony Castle arrived around 2 a.m. to investigate.

Johnson county Sheriff Gene Cyrus was asked to be on the lookout for Dodeer, who was apprehended near the airport and turned over to Deputy Castle on the Floyd-Johnson line.

Rudolph Dodeer has been charged with third degree burglary and possession of marijuana and Mrs. Dodeer with complicity to commit burglary. Both suspects were taken to jail with Dodeer's bond set at $12,000.

Ford, McConnell Now Promise Their Help on US 23 Project

By B.A. Heinze

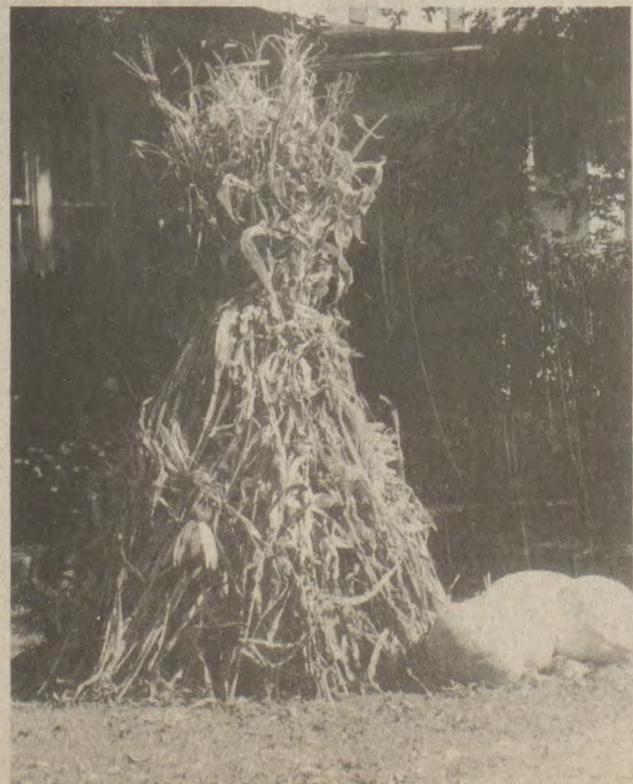

After apparently dragging their feet in pushing support for inclusion of funding for US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville in a bill considered by the Senate Appropriations Committee, September 24, Senators Wendell Ford, D, and Mitch McConnell, R, said last week that they would try to get the money restored to the Senate's version of a transportation spending bill passed earlier by the House.

Two and a half million for the highway link was included in a appropriations measure passed by the House in July, but the funding was dropped from the bill during a senate committee meeting in late September. The measure passed by the House asked $2.5 million from the federal government during the coming year with several installments to follow to fund replacing the narrow, winding route. Of the $75 million total cost of the project, the state has already set aside its share of one-third.

Known as the "missing link," the traffic-clogged artery of transportation is the only portion of US 23 from Ashland to Pikeville that is not four lanes or is not planned to be.

Funding could be restored when the measure is debated on the Senate floor, or it could also be restored when members of the House and Senate meet to write a compromise form of the bill.

Kentuckians Know AIDS Facts But Myths Still Persistent

Almost all Kentuckians know the facts about how AIDS can be transmitted but many still believe the myths as well, according to results of an on-going survey released recently by the Department for Health Services.

"What we've found is that Kentuckians are aware of the ways the AIDS virus can be transmitted—through sexual contact with an infected person, by sharing a needle with an infected person or by receiving a contaminated blood product," said Reginald Finger, M.D., communicable disease branch manager.

"Unfortunately, a large number of Kentuckians believe that it is or might be possible to get AIDS by drinking from the same glass as an infected person, working with an infected person, touching a doorknob or from a kiss on the cheek," he said. "A lot of people are yet to be educated about the disease."

The results are from an on-going Department for Health Services scientific telephone survey to assess Kentuckians' knowledge on certain health issues and to assess their health status.

Of 1,342 Kentuckians interviewed since January 1987, 97 percent know that Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome can be transmitted by sex; 95 percent are aware that it can be transmitted by contaminated needles; and 96 percent know that tainted blood products can transmit AIDS.

However, 52 percent of those surveyed either believe that AIDS can be transmitted by drinking from the same glass as an infected person or didn't know whether it could.

"We equate 'not knowing' with believing the myth because that implies that the person has not been properly educated about AIDS," said Finger.

Results of other questions about myths show that 35 percent either think that AIDS can be passed by kissing a person on the cheek or didn't know; 20 percent said that AIDS could be transmitted by doorknobs or that they didn't know if it could.

"Comparing results from the past three months of the survey with the first three months, we're seeing slightly fewer people who believe the myths about drinking glasses and kissing on the cheek," said Finger. "But we're still concerned about two areas that are not showing any improvement."

Those areas concern fears about infected people holding jobs that bring them into contact with the public and about infected children staying in school.

"It's interesting to note that 68 percent of the respondents said that a person cannot get AIDS by working with an infected person, but only 51 percent said that infected people should not be banned from working with the public," said Finger.

When asked "Do you believe a child who is infected with the AIDS virus should be kept out of school?" 21 percent answered yes, and 30 percent did not know.

"These responses tell us that we need to keep emphasizing that casual contact in the home, workplace and school does not spread the AIDS virus," said Finger. "The department's education efforts have always tried to dispel myths about AIDS and that won't change."

AIDS, which is always fatal, attacks the body's immune system, leaving victims vulnerable to many infections and diseases. The only known means of AIDS transmission are sexual contact, sharing contaminated injection needles, receiving tainted blood, mother-to-infant transmission and rare blood exposure in the health care workplace.

As of Oct. 14, 99 AIDS cases have been reported in Kentucky. Of those 64 have died. The Department for Health Services' toll-free AIDS information number is 1-800-654-AIDS.

State Teachers' Ed Among First Okayed

Kentucky is one of the first six states to have their processes for approving teacher education programs recognized under a new national system, Superintendent of Public Instruction Alice McDonald announced.

Recognition of Kentucky's program by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education means that quality can be maintained without duplication in the review process, said Akeel Zaheer, director of teacher education and certification for the Kentucky Department of Education.

"Both the department and the council have evaluated teacher education programs in Kentucky in the past," he said. "Under the new method, the council will recognize the evaluation performed by the Kentucky Department of Education."

"At the same time, the public has the assurance that the processes being used for program approval met national standards and that we are safeguarding the quality of education for those who will be teaching our children in future years."

Other states whose programs were approved are Arkansas, Indiana, Montana, North Dakota and Oklahoma. Applications from other states will be considered next spring, the council said.

More than one million Earths would be required to match the volume of the sun.

AEP KENTUCKY POWER

THE END OF A LANDMARK, the old German Bridge stands forlorn as a new structure rises to replace it after 60 years of use.

One Who Befriends Animals Now Needs Help of Friends

For years, Mrs. Lola Hamilton has befriended, fed, and cared for the kittens and cats others, not so caring, have left on her doorstep.

She hasn't always wanted another cat or kitten, but on the other hand, she has found it impossible to let them starve. These feline friends have eaten well and it's usually their choice. Some like canned food; some prefer dry. They're beloved pets.

And they've all gone to the vet. If they are sick, they see the doctor.

But now, Mrs. Hamilton needs some friends to help her. She can no longer care for her cats, because of failing health. The animal shelter can take a few, but due to limited space, it cannot accommodate so many.

She is faced with a hard choice, and the prospect of having her cats 'put to sleep' is doing nothing for her health or peace of mind.

If there are those who can and will give a good home (barn?) to a good cat, or would be good to a kitten, call Mrs. Hamilton at 874-2377.

Has Unusual Platform

If you were surprised by the margin Wallace Wilkinson won the May 26 Democratic primary for Governor, imagine the reaction of J.E. Combs after hearing the primary results of the race for Third District Railroad Commissioner.

Combs, 67, who with his wife, Loretta, operates a restaurant in Hazard, carried 38 of the 44 counties and received approximately 30,000 votes to win the Democratic nomination for Railroad Commissioner.

Combs believes the two things that won for him in the primary, hard work and his platform, will also win for him in November.

In spite of the size of the Third District, which borders Ohio and West Virginia in the north, Virginia in the east and Tennessee on the south, Combs hopes to visit all 44 counties in the Third District by election day, November 3. His platform is to abolish the office of Railroad Commissioner.

According to Combs, the office of Railroad Commissioner is outdated and although the office has no duties or powers, the salaries and expenses of the three-member Railroad Commission is approximately $100,000 per year.

This money, Combs says, could be better spent on our schools and roads.

Income Tax Schools Slated Over State

An income tax school for tax preparers has been set up at 13 locations across the state, according to Fred Benson, University of Kentucky Extension agricultural economist who is coordinating the schools. One of these will be at Paintsville, November 17-18.

Each school is two days long and focuses on topics related to preparing income taxes for both federal and state levels, Benson said.

"This year's schools are especially important because of the sweeping changes brought about by the new tax laws," Benson said.

In addition to a presentation concerning the 1986 Tax Reform Act, those attending will hear experts from University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet and the Internal Revenue Service talk about such issues as tax consequences on financially distressed businesses, how to report net operating losses, capital gains and losses and strategies to reduce tax burdens, Benson said.

Those who attend may receive audio tapes about tax issues for an additional $8 above their $75 registration fee, he said.

Other cities and dates where tax workshops will be held include: Highland Heights (Nov. 10-11), Owensboro (Nov. 10-11), Elizabethtown (Nov. 12-13), Somerset (Nov. 12-13), Paducah (Nov. 17-18), Ashland (Nov. 19-20), Hopkinsville (Nov. 19-20), Lexington (Nov. 23-24), Louisville (Dec. 1-2), Maysville (Dec. 1-2), Bowling Green (Dec. 3-4) and Lexington (Dec. 3-4).

Those who are interested in attending the workshops can receive more information, including registration materials from their county Extension office.

Registration for attending the workshops is required by November 1 and should be sent to Kentucky Income Tax Workshops, Department of Agricultural Economics, 705 Agricultural Sciences Building South, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky, 40546-0215.

Sills To Chair March Of Dimes 50th Anniversary

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation announced recently that Beverly Sills, general director of the New York City Opera, will serve as National Chairman for the foundation's 50th anniversary celebration in 1988.

As National Chairman of the 50th anniversary, Miss Sills will lead special fund-raising efforts during the anniversary year dedicated to the foundation's research initiatives. These efforts will include a series of distinctive fund-raisers in selected cities.

"I became involved with the March of Dimes in 1971 because I strongly believe in its mission to prevent birth defects," said Miss Sills, who is the mother of two children with birth defects.

"Throughout 1988," she added, "we can celebrate the births of babies who have been born healthy through the results of March of Dimes research, health services and educational programs. We also can mobilize our efforts to prevent birth defects and look forward to the wonderful day when all babies get a healthy start in life."

The March of Dimes, established in 1938 to combat polio, funded the development of the Salk and Sabin vaccines and spearheaded mass efforts in the 1950s to inoculate every American child. With the prevention of polio well underway, the March of Dimes expanded its concern for the health of America's children to help provide every baby with a healthier start in life.

Miss Sills served for 15 years as the National Chairman of the Mother's March on Birth Defects, an annual door-to-door, neighbor-to-neighbor fund-raising and educational activity.

By leading fund-raising efforts and promoting educational programs, she has inspired Americans nationwide to volunteer and support efforts to prevent birth defects. During her operatic career, Miss Sills furthered the foundation's mission by giving private recitals to benefit the March of Dimes.

In 1980, Miss Sills was instrumental in conceiving and developing the March of Dimes National Communications Advisory Council, a voluntary group that brings together members of the medical community and the media to help further public understanding of issues in birthdefects prevention. Miss Sills currently is chairman of the council and participates in its symposia and editorial luncheons.

Miss Sills was awarded the Handel Medallion in 1973 by the City of New York and in 1980, President Jimmy Carter presented her with the Medal of Freedom. She also was the 1985 recipient of the Kennedy Center Honor for Contributions to the Performing Arts.

The March of Dimes partnership of volunteers and professional has pioneered programs that encompass diagnosis and treatment of babies before birth, genetic counseling, and early and regular prenatal care to help ensure healthy lives for millions of children.

Oil Company Workers To Share $2 Million

Nearly $2 million in back overtime pay will go to about 2,300 service station managers and assistant managers of three companies under a consent decree announced by Secretary of Labor William E. Brock.

The settlement, reached by the U.S. Department of Labor and the three companies, was entered in U.S. District Court in Topeka, Kan., and covers employees of 212 service stations in 25 states—Alabama, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Mississippi, North Dakota, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Vermont, West Virginia and Wyoming.

The companies are Highway Oil, Inc., and its affiliates, Hi-Lo Oil Co., Inc., and Workingman's Friend Oil, Inc., all headquartered in Topeka.

The settlement is based on a July 1986 ruling by Federal Judge Richard Rogers that the companies' method of compensating station managers and assistant managers was not a bona fide commission pay plan and that, therefore, the employees are entitled to overtime pay under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The act provides that covered employees must be paid time and one-half their regular rates for hours worked in excess of 40 per week. Judge Rogers upheld the Labor Department's contention contained in a civil suit filed with the court in November 1981.

Fred W. Alvarez, assistant secretary of labor for the Employment Standards Administration, explained the affected employees due back wages include service station managers and assistant managers employed during the period Feb. 14, 1981 through Nov. 30, 1986. Payments to these workers will be made during a two-year period.

Current and former service station managers and assistant managers employed by the companies during the specified period are urged to write, not call, the Wage and Hour Division, Employment Standards Administration, P.O. Box 13291, Kansas City, Mo. 64199, giving name, Social Security and telephone numbers, and current address. This information is needed to facilitate the payments.

Peabody Wins First In First Aid Contest

The Jewell Smokeless Coal Corp. A-Team, Vansant, Va., placed first in the 31st biennial National Mine Rescue Contest held in Louisville, and the Peabody Coal Co., Eastern Division Blue Team, Graham, Ky., won first place in the competition's First Aid Contest.

Sponsored by the U.S. Labor Department's Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) and the industry, the contest featured 95 of the top mine rescue teams in the United States. The event helps to ensure that mine rescue teams and first aid teams are well-trained for possible use in mine fires, explosions, floods or other major accidents.

The winning Jewell Smokeless team, composed of six members and two alternates, received a near-perfect score, based on its skill in safely and efficiently locating and rescuing "victims" of a simulated mine disaster under "hazardous" conditions, and on results of a written test on rescue procedures.

Other top finishers in the mine rescue competition were: (2nd) Blue Diamond Coal Co., Scotia, Cumberland, Ky.; (3rd) Peabody Coal Co., Eastern Division Gray Team, Graham, Ky.; (4th) Amax Coal Co., Wabash Mine Gray Team, Keensburg, Ill.; and (5th) Leeco, Inc. Leeco Team, London, Ky.

Following the winning Peabody Coal Co. team, the order of finish in the first aid contest was (2nd) Pyro Mining Co. "Pyro" Team, Sturgis, Ky.; (3rd) Peabody Coal Co., Camp Complex Team (B), Morganfield, Ky.; (4th) Utah Power and Light B Team, Huntington, Utah; and (5th) Peabody Coal Co., Robin Hood Team, Twilight, W. Va.

The total scores of teams in both the mine rescue contest and the first aid contest were added to provide a Combination Team Contest. Top company in this contest was Peabody Coal Co., Eastern Division Blue Team, Graham, Ky., followed by Peabody Coal Co., Camp Complex Team (B) and Peabody Coal Co., Eastern Division Gray Team, Graham, Ky.

The Amazon river has 1,100 tributary streams.

wage legislation, tip credit, the small claims court, liability insurance problems and hazardous waste legislation (OSHA). Other legislative proposals will be presented.

The meeting is free and open to all interested business owners. For more information contact Ruth Goebel, of the B.F. Casual Shop in Prestonsburg, district chairman of the Federation.

Each year the Kentucky Retail Federation conducts approximately 30 such meetings throughout the state in an effort to inform and coordinate legislative activity. The meetings provide an excellent opportunity for local business people to remain aware of legislation which can affect their business and learn how to take a more informed role in affecting public policy.

The Kentucky Retail Federation is the largest trade association representing retailing in Kentucky. The Louisville based, Kentucky Restaurant Association serves the needs of restaurant owners throughout the Commonwealth.

Bits and Pieces

TIME TO FALL BACK

It's that time again, according to our friend Clifford Wright, who has been trying to keep us straight on the time changes for some years now. Not always successfully, we might add. At any rate, Sunday, October 25, is the day to turn your clocks, watches, sundials, whatever timepiece you prefer, back one hour.

For those of us who never seem to get caught up in any way, this comes not a minute too soon.

OF SNAKES AND SUCH

Now they say the copperhead's legs were really—oh, dear, how can I put this—no better than Dick Burdette in the Lexington Herald, I'm sure. Anyway, they are, as he puts it, what distinguishes a boy snake from a girl snake.

No matter, I'm of the considered opinion that we may have an even bigger story, here, than before, because, apparently, this is the only boy snake ever killed in Floyd county since its founding in 1800, perhaps in all of Eastern Kentucky.

No reports of such have ever come our way before. The biologist I spoke with at U.K. didn't know about this boy-girl snake anatomy, and think of all those who have learned biological facts that never even wanted to know?

I still say it's news. Moreover, since this uncommonly common serpent was slain on a weekend, I sort of envision this date, October 3, (or the Saturday closest to it) becoming an annual rallying point for herpetologists—amateur and professional—snake lovers, snake haters, snake charmers, snake handlers, to gather here or elsewhere in Floyd county.

There would be a prize of say $5,000 for anyone finding another boy copperhead. In case of a tie, the money would be split. Of course, the hunter could be armed only with a tire iron and accompanied by a snake lover to insure a clean and humane kill. Crippled copperheads tend to become extremely nervous and aggressive, chasing folks up trees and across creeks; running the barn blacksnake out of the corn crib. Hit's a sight!

But think of the possibilities. Snake dances winding through the streets, along the highways and byways; legalized crap games where snake eyes win. This way may lie the path to fame, fortune, and big tourist bucks.

Where else could anyone find a Copperhead Festival? Or should it be something simple like Snake Days? Or maybe Big Sandy Serpent Search?

I see a committee in my future, maybe even a sanity hearing.

BACK AT THE RANCH

Among other things, I spent part of the weekend planting dozens and dozens of daffodil bulbs, all courtesy of Mrs. Wilma May. My flower borders should be gorgeous next spring. According to tradition, I must not thank her, but it was and is a lovely bounty to share.

BLACK MONDAY

The bear seems to have taken over on Wall Street, and it looks a lot like a grizzly.

Mathews To Address Academic Boosters

Parents, teachers, alumni and the public are urged to attend an organizational meeting of Boosters for Academics at Prestonsburg High School, Monday, October 26. The meeting will be held at Prestonsburg High School at 7 p.m.

Recognition of academics and academic achievement at Prestonsburg High School can benefit a wide range of students from potential dropouts to the academic team. The ways to honor and support students will be the topic of both the speaker and the discussion, Monday night.

Robert Mathews, president of Kentucky Power in Ashland, will speak to the Prestonsburg group on ways the Academic Booster Club of Paul Blazer High School in Ashland has been successful in promoting academics in its school. Mathews, a member of East Kentucky First, Inc., a regional council to promote education and economic development of our area, has volunteered to make these arrangements, because he feels strongly that organizational support for academics can make a significant difference in a high school academic program.

A discussion of the direction and future plans of a Prestonsburg High School Academic Boosters Club will be part of the Monday meeting. All interested parents, teachers and alumni are urged to attend.

By midnight, four out of five Americans are asleep.

Lutheran Pastor in Area

Brian K. Jones, pastor/developer for the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, has started survey work in Eastern Kentucky with the goal of establishing a Lutheran congregation in the area. Pastor Jones has served congregations for the last 17 years in the states of Indiana and Tennessee.

Although Lutherans are the oldest and largest Protestant denomination in the world, they have not been well represented in Eastern Kentucky. The earliest congregations in Kentucky were established along the Ohio River in the early 1800's. Initial surveying will begin in Floyd and Pike counties.

Pastor Jones and his wife, Emily, are living in the Wells Addition, 1 mile south of Harold. Their address is 140 Green Meadow Lane.

Anyone desiring information about the new mission may contact Pastor Jones at the above address or by calling 432-2186.

P'burg Among Cities Certified by C of C

Prestonsburg is one of those the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce named recently as 1987 Certified Cities. Forty-eight communities will be honored for their development efforts at the annual awards luncheon to be held November 12 at the Marriott Resort in Lexington.

Gold Award Winners, signifying five or more consecutive years of certification, are: Ashland, Bardstow, Bowling Green, Carrollton, Danville, Elizabethtown, Fulton, Greenville, Hazard, Maysville, Mt. Sterling, Murray, Richmond, Shelbyville, Somerset, and Winchester.

Communities earning Certified Cities Silver Awards, denoting at least three consecutive years of certification, are Prestonsburg, Calvert City, Central City, Corbin, Florence, Franklin, Georgetown, Harrodsburg, Hopkinsville, Lebanon, Lexington, London, Madisonville, Mayfield, Owensboro, Paducah, Pineville, Radcliff, and Versailles.

Those earning Certified Cities awards for the second year are Berea, Frankfort, Glasgow, Henderson, Middlesboro, and Paris.

First time award winners are Campbellsville, Covington, Crestview Hills, Cynthia, Hartford, Morehead, and Russellville.

A new category was also added to this year's list of winners. Honorable Mention will be given to the cities of Beaver Dam and Elkton.

"The Certified Cities program is built around an extensive questionnaire called 'Standards For Quality Growth,'" said Jim Wiseman, president of the Kentucky Chamber. "The questionnaire deals with six categories: economic development, community organizations, community planning, utilities, downtown revitalization, and community appearance. The community completes the questionnaire and then is visited by a volunteer team of economic development professionals who evaluate the questionnaire and community. They suggest ways to identify and eliminate obstacles to economic growth and how to capitalize on their assets. The communities which meet acceptable standards are then certified."

Governor Martha Layne Collins and Commerce Secretary Carroll Knicely will present the awards at the luncheon. Governor Collins has called the Certified Cities program, "The best mechanism for achieving local economic development." More than 900 people are expected to attend.

Reservations can be made through your local chamber of commerce or by calling Angie Bryant of the Kentucky Chamber at (502) 695-4700.

Kimble Is Part Of NATO Exercise

Army Sgt. 1st Class Paul G. Kimble has participated in the NATO-sponsored exercise, Return of Forces to Germany '87 (REFORGER).

The exercise was designed to evaluate plans and support agreements between NATO member nations, to exercise West Germany's ability to support deploying forces, and to test the ability of European-based units to quickly link reinforcing units with their pre-positioned equipment.

Kimble is the son of Richard P. Kimble, of Honaker.

He is a platoon sergeant with the 1st Cavalry Division at Fort Hood, Texas. The sergeant is a 1972 graduate of Betty Layne High School.

Letters to the Editor

Letters from readers do not necessarily reflect the view of the Floyd County Times. All such letters are subject to editing. Letters should not exceed 350 words in length and all must bear the signature and complete mailing address of the writer.

Not Unusual

That northern copperhead on the front page of the October 7 issue of the Floyd County Times was not unusual at all. It clearly shows that the hemipenes of this snake are partially sticking out. It is possible that these structures popped out when the snake was killed.

Male snakes (and lizards) have two hemipenes for internal fertilization. These are normally kept hidden in the tail. They are pushed outward by fluid pressure and are pulled inward by retractor muscles in the tail. I've included a photo of a timber rattlesnake with the hemipenes everted. You will notice that each hemipenis is forked; it appears that this snake has "4 legs."

Ps. Why go to Nashville or Lexington?? Next time come to Morehead State University ("The University of the Mountains") and "the experts on the plant and animal life of eastern Kentucky.")

Dubious Honor

I would like to share with you some findings by the June 1987 United States General Accounting Office report, Surface Mining—States Not Assessing and Collecting Monetary Penalties in which Kentucky has the dubious honor of leading all other states in its failure to assess and collect for mining violations. "Kentucky assessed about $81.7 million in penalties from fiscal years 1983 through 1986 and collected about 4.2 million, or 5%." "Kentucky does not always initiate prompt action and uses few of the collection techniques it has available." The report points out that Kentucky relies on voluntary payment of fines. "Indiana and Kentucky waives most penalties with assessed values of less than $1,100" and this practice is permitted under Federal Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 and also by the Office of Surface Mining and Reclamation and Enforcement. "Kentucky assessed penalties on less than one third of violations cited." "In addition to not assessing most discretionary penalties, Kentucky is also reducing or eliminating proposed penalties below the minimum $750 a day mandated by SMCRA for violations cited on Failure to Abate Cessation Orders." The report points out that negotiations are between the state and the person charged with the violation, are closed to the public, and are rarely documented. The negotiations result in a settlement agreement in which the permittee admits the violation occurred and that proposed penalty is fair and accurate and in turn is usually assessed a much smaller penalty and allowed additional time to correct the violation." "A state official said that the amount of the penalty negotiated is largely based upon how much the permittee is willing and able to pay."

Conclusion of the report "Kentucky is not complying with the SMCRA when it reduces penalties below the required $750 a day minimum. In addition, Kentucky's settlement agreement procedures raise serious concerns because, unlike other hearings or conferences involving the assessment of penalties, they are not open to the public and no record is made of the proceedings."

The men and women of the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition have known and been saying this all long. As for myself, it is just another clear example of how our government has gotten away from its responsibilities to the people and the urgent need for democratic reform in our state.

ANOTHER COLLISION ON NORTH LAKE DRIVE took place at 12:30 Saturday afternoon in front of Lloyd's Hardware, here. The cars involved were those of Frank Vaughn, shown at right of picture, and a white Chevrolet driven by Gladys Wallen, who was treated and released at Highlands Regional Medical Center. The investigating officer was Dickie Campbell, of the Prestonsburg Police Department.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Arthur Mosley would like to extend their appreciation to all those friends, neighbors, and loved ones who helped comfort them during their time of sorrow. Thanks to all who sent food and flowers, prayers or spoke comforting words. A special thanks to the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, doctors and nurses for their kindness, to the ministers, Bill Tackett, Buford Stone, Jimmy Hall, Buddy Jones, and Green Boyd for their kind and comforting words spoken, and to the Hall Funeral Home for their efficient and courteous services performed.

THE FAMILY 1t.

PATIENT AT HRMC

Mrs. Patricia Hewlett Salisbury has been a patient at the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Mrs. Salisbury is director of the First Commonwealth Branch Bank at Martin.

HERE FROM OHIO

Mrs. Peg Hewlett had as her houseguests last week, members of her family, Mr. and Mrs. John Fridley and baby, of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Fridley, of Gahanna, Ohio.

RETURN HOME

Curt and Hazel George have recently returned to their home in Pensacola Florida, following a vacation here. They have been here since April visiting family and friends.

A battle-scarred Rocky Mountain bighorn ram went on record as the largest ram ever found in the United States when he died last spring of a virus infection. According to National Wildlife magazine, he was known to many hunters and wildlife enthusiasts as "Old Scarface" because of a large wound on his nose and a missing right eye—the result of fierce battles with other rams.

School Meets, Literacy Lunch Well-Attended

By Tim Sizemore

Education in Floyd county received a boon last week with parents, teachers and students participating in meetings and a workshop to observe Literacy Awareness Week.

An open house was held Monday night in all Floyd county schools bringing parents and teachers together to discuss their children's progress. A total of 2,895 parents attended the open houses and educators are optimistic of an even greater turnout next year.

Supt. Ray Brackett said of the event, "it was positive, and I am highly pleased with the initial turnout." He also said that his goal will be to have even more success next year. Supt. Brackett added that he had put on media announcements and had contacted business leaders to have them encourage their employees to attend the open house.

Another boost to education came at a luncheon at the Holiday Inn, here. Educators and businessmen met to discuss ways to encourage adult literacy and to share ideas. The dinner, which was provided by the Rotary Club, was well-attended by area leaders. Mike Vance, who is co-chairman of the Floyd County Literacy Council, told the group that 54% of the county's adult population did not graduate from high school. Vance said that a higher literacy rate would help bring in industry to provide jobs in the area.

Louise Lewis, 65, of Maytown, and a recent recipient of an eighth grade diploma, says that she is proud to have the diploma and is going for her General Education Diploma. Age doesn't matter at all, she said, and hopes one day to be able to tutor others.

Greg Barnes, manager of Winn Dixie, told the group that his company encourages literacy by requiring an applicant for employment to have a high school diploma, a General Education Diploma or to be working toward a G.E.D.

Marcie Menster, coordinator of the Literacy Council said that the purpose of the luncheon was to heighten community awareness of local literacy activities and to increase community support, adding that Floyd county must have skilled employees to attract industry.

For people interested in obtaining a G.E.D., phone 886-READ or write, Floyd County Literacy Council, P.O. Box 1, David, Ky. 41616.

...about your Social Security

By JIM KELLY

Direct Deposit Offers Advantages

Residents of the Big Sandy area who get Social Security benefits can reap several advantages by taking part in the direct deposit program and have their checks deposited directly into an account in a financial institution, Jim Kelly, Social Security Director for the Big Sandy Area said recently.

Checks are sent directly to a checking or savings account in a bank, savings institution, credit union, or other financial institution rather than to the person's home.

Direct deposit advantages include: A person does not have to be home to get the check. The money is available right away.

There is no worry about the check being lost or stolen.

There is no need to stand in line to cash or deposit the check.

A checkbook provides a written record for keeping track of one's money.

To arrange for direct deposit, a person should complete direct deposit Form SF-1199. The form can be obtained at any financial institution. A person's Social Security check contains all the information needed to complete the form. A person should check to make sure how the institution will handle the account.

It is very important for people with direct deposit to continue notifying Social Security of any address change so they will receive any notices sent about their benefits.

More information about direct deposit can be obtained at the Big Sandy area Social Security office located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in your local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

KID LINES
especially for children and thier parents

Kosair Charities Named Official Charity of Special Rodeo

Visualize thirty excited young children being ushered into the ring at the North American Championship Rodeo as thousands of rodeo fans cheer them on. They're anxious to try their hands at Rodeo events designed just for them ... including bull riding, steer roping, barrel and flag racing.

Just being children taking part in a rodeo would make these kids special enough. But these playful, bashful, mischievous youngsters are extra special. All are handicapped. The event is a "Special Rodeo", slated to take place at the 14th Annual North American International Livestock Exposition on November 12. On that evening each child will be center stage in a world of excitement, cowboys and love.

Each year since 1973, the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center (KFEC) in Louisville has been host to the North American International Livestock Exposition (NAILE). It's the world's largest purebred livestock show, attracting over 14,500 head of the finest livestock on the globe to the KFEC for two weeks in November.

One event that draws large crowds to the NAILE each year is the exciting North American Championship Rodeo. It's the finals event of the Great Lakes Circuit of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA). For three action-packed nights, top cowboys and cowgirls from nine states clash in rodeo sports combat for $30,000 in prize money.

The Special Rodeo for handicapped children will be staged on opening night of the Rodeo, November 12, this year. The Special Rodeo will feature handicapped children participating hand-in-hand with champion cowboys and cowgirls who ride the rodeo circuit. The kids will take home memories, the rodeo champions will show they care. Harold Workman, Executive Director of the NAILE explained, "These special kids are paired with cowboys and cowgirls for a series of modified rodeo events, including a goat relay; steer roping; riding a hand-rocked bull; a flag race on horseback and a barrel race on oversized stick horses. The entire event is narrated by the official rodeo announcer."

The Special Rodeo is a very popular event with PRCA champions. They volunteer their time and effort to share the sport of professional rodeo with handicapped children throughout the country. It's their way of giving something back to the communities where they compete.

Kosair Charities Teams Up
This year, Kosair Charities has been designated the official charity for the Special Rodeo. Kosair Charities and at least four other charitable organizations, Hospice, the Spina Bifida Association, Kentucky Commission for Handicapped Children and Family Place, will work together to sell tickets to this unique event.

Jack Proctor, Executive Director of Kosair Charities, commented, "The Special Rodeo is a tremendous new opportunity for people to show their support for the children who are helped through Kosair Charities. It's fun, too! One dollar from the sale of each ticket will be donated to Kosair Charities; and each participating organization will keep one dollar from each ticket they sell." Continuing, Proctor noted, "Everyone at Kosair Charities is excited to be part of something as heart-warming and as meaningful to handicapped children as the Special Rodeo. Anyone who has ever seen this event will agree it's really something special to these children."

Thirty children will participate in the Special Rodeo. They will be chosen from the four charitable organizations that, along with Kosair Charities, are involved in the Special Rodeo this year.

Tickets to the event are priced at $7, $6 and $5, and may be purchased at the Kosair Charities Centre office, 982 Eastern Parkway in Louisville, or by calling 637-7696. Tickets are good for the Special Rodeo, which begins at 7:00 p.m., Thursday, November 12, and for the regular Rodeo performance, which follows at 8:00 p.m.

At the beginning of the Special Rodeo, children will receive cowboy hats, bandannas, contestant numbers and lariat ropes. At the conclusion of the event, children will be recognized individually with their rodeo champion partners and exchange autographed pictures. Proctor summed it all up ... "When the event is over, each child will also receive a trophy, because in the Special Rodeo, everybody wins."

After seasonal adjustment, the civilian labor force declined by 440,000 in September to 119.9 million; this drop also was confined largely to teenagers. With this decline, the labor force participation rate fell to 65.4 percent, still high by historical standards. The labor force has grown by 1.6 million over the past year.

Here's What They're Saying About...

Pure Gold 1310

Rock and Roll Again!

"I love it!"
"(As a business associate of your manager,) I had to listen to how great this was going to be all summer long, and I was skeptical. Now that it's here, it sounds great!"
"My dial accidentally got turned all the way to the right one day, and it's going to stay there. I really like your station!"
"Who says an AM station can't sound great?"
"I just called to say it sounds great. What's more, my customers are asking me about something I never advertised anywhere else."
"It sounds even better now than it did when you first made the change. You've done something to make it sound better (technically) and added more songs, haven't you?" (Yes to both, by the way)
"I only have one complaint, I can't get any work done. Every time you play a song, it makes me remember something and I start daydreaming."
"I have a question. How can you sell gasoline for 29 cents a gallon?" (Answer: very carefully)

AAA Says Trick-Or-Treat Is Shared Responsibility

What do ghosts and trick-or-treaters have in common? If you are out driving on Halloween night, the answer is obvious. Both are often difficult to see until you have a frightening experience. Blue Grass AAA offers some common sense safety tips to help you and your children enjoy a safe and happy Hallowe'en night.

Missy Tharpe, Safety Supervisor, cautions that costumes should be light in color and fit correctly. "Use retroreflective tape to outline and decorate a costume for greater visibility," stated Tharpe.

"Flashlights and light sticks are a must if youngsters will be out at night," Tharpe continued. "They increase visibility to motorists as well as lighting a pathway."

Blue Grass AAA suggested that children be encouraged to use make-up rather than face masks. "If a mask cannot be avoided, enlarge the eye holes so that a child can see in all directions," stated Tharpe.

"Halloween can be fun for older siblings and parents as well," said Tharpe. "If you accompany smaller children on their planned trick-or-treat trip." One restriction that should be discussed before leaving home is to limit doorbell ringing only to those homes known by the family. Even in familiar neighborhoods, stop only at houses with well-lighted porches or doorways. "Children of all ages should be instructed not to enter any residence unless the accompanying adult approves," stressed Tharpe.

"Carrying two trick-or-treat bags in different colors is a clever ploy seen on 'The Cosby Show'," stated Tharpe, "and it works!" One colored bag can be for those treats from known families, and the other color can be for treats from unknown houses. "It goes without saying that all treats should be checked and sorted before eating," reminded Tharpe.

AAA offered several safe driving tips for motorists. Limit driving speed to 15 miles per hour in residential neighborhoods between the hours of 5 and 9 p.m. Watch for children darting out from between cars, and use extra caution when pulling in or out of driveways. Use headlights as soon as it's dusk. Come to a complete stop when making a right turn on red, after determining that there are no costumed creatures in the crosswalk who might be unaware of your presence. "Remember that a youngster's thoughts are on fun, not pedestrian safety," cautioned Tharpe.

"Movie Palaces" Toured On KET

The magic of movie-going during the golden age of Hollywood is relived when Gene Kelly hosts The Movie Palaces, a look at a glamorous era, Monday, October 26, at 9 p.m. on KET.

"The Movie Palaces" is a glittering tribute to a time when where you went to the movies was as important as the movie you went to see. For as little as 15 cents or a quarter, viewers saw a movie in a splendid setting where the atmosphere could be an underwater grotto or a Chinese emperor's throne room.

Between 1915 and 1945, more than 4,000 movie palaces were built across the country. They came to rival the movies themselves in size and imagination. Working Americans could abandon the cares of the day and be transported to another world.

Filed on location at some of the extraordinary theatres across the country, "The Movie Palaces" explores the diverse and priceless architecture of such greats as the Atlanta Fox, the Wiltern in Los Angeles, San Antonio's Majestic, Seattle's Fifth Avenue and, perhaps the most famous, Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

The film is enhanced further by photographs and vintage film clips of classic movies and newsreels of the era that illustrate the historical revolution and mass appeal of the movie palaces. For authenticity, picture palace organist Gaylord Carter performs a variety of movie accompaniments.

"The Movie Palaces" was produced by the Smithsonian Institution's Office of Telecommunications in cooperation with Vision Associates, Inc.

Foreign Language, Writing Classes Help Test Scores

Students who want to do better on college entrance exams should consider taking foreign language and journalism-style writing classes. That's the advice that can be drawn from two articles in the October issue of PTA Today, the National Parent-Teacher Association's magazine.

"Studies have shown that children who begin to master another language at an early age score higher on tests of verbal intelligence and mental flexibility," says Myriam Met, foreign language coordinator in Montgomery County (Maryland) Public Schools, writing in the PTA's magazine.

In another study, the College Board reported that students who had taken a foreign language for five years or more scored better on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) than those who had taken little or no foreign language, according to Met. Five years of foreign language study was also found to be more closely related to higher SAT scores than five years of any other academic subject.

Met has discovered that many of the foreign language programs that have appeared in recent years have been established in direct response to parents' requests. "These requests have been from parents who recognize the importance of foreign language study," she added.

In addition to studying a foreign language to help improve thinking skills, studies show that students who practice and learn journalism-style writing do better on college entrance exams.

Recent research conducted in cooperation with the American College Testing Program (ACT) indicates that journalistic reporting and writing techniques effectively develop language arts competency, says John Wheeler, an English and journalism teacher at Lyons Township High School, La Grange, Ill. His article in PTA Today points out that students who had participated in yearbook or newspaper production, for example, had higher ACT composite scores than comparable students who had no publication experience.

Wheeler suggests that developing effective communication skills, including writing techniques, should begin early in a child's education—long before the student enters high school. He states that students should become actively involved in thinking and writing, honing those skills just as athletes and artists do through demanding practices and performances.

Other topics covered in the October issue of PTA Today include helping children learn to spell, factors in deciding to retain or promote a student, math and your children, and helping children make the reading-writing connection.

Copies of the issue are available by sending a check or money order made payable to the National PTA, 700 N. Rush St., Chicago, Ill. 60611. The award-winning magazine is published seven times a year (October-May, December/January combined issues), and subscriptions are available.

Red, White, and Blue Day, 1987

WEE MISS PATRIOTIC was a real charmer as she waved to the crowd.

PRISONERS OF WAR and these missing in action were vividly brought to mind.

A match for Rin Tin Tin any day, this fellow rested for a moment from his work of pulling a wagon.

Drift Grade School students honored their school and their flag.

THEY DON'T MAKE 'EM LIKE THEY USED TO, and the antique cars were there to prove it.

VIETNAM VETERANS CHAPTER 204, march with pride in the Red, White, and Blue Day Parade.

MISS RED, WHITE AND BLUE, Nikki Weinstein, was accompanied by her niece, Megan Barber.

TWO HAROLD DAZZLETES added their talents to those on display.

THIS FLOAT DEPICTED THE LAND OF THE RISING SUN and reminded onlookers of the tragedy of Hiroshima.

HIGH-STEPPING MAJORETTES and a lively band from McDowell made the marching fun for all.

More Red, White, and Blue Scenes

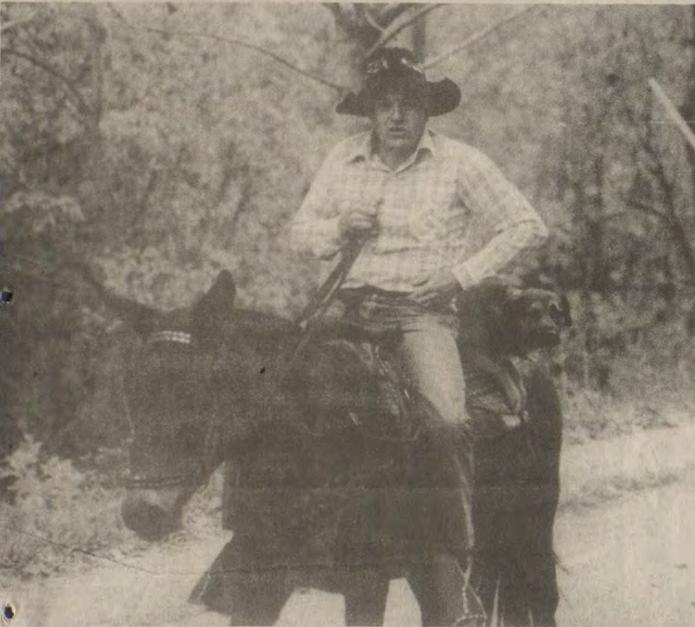

What would a parade be without pretty majorettes?

Junior Miss Red, White, and Blue, Kelly McKay, was a welcome and attractive addition to the parade.

This youngster got a close look at the working of a real army tank.

RAY BOLEN AND FRIENDS were among those who made this parade unique.

Rub-a-Dub-Dub, just one man in a tub, but he had fun.

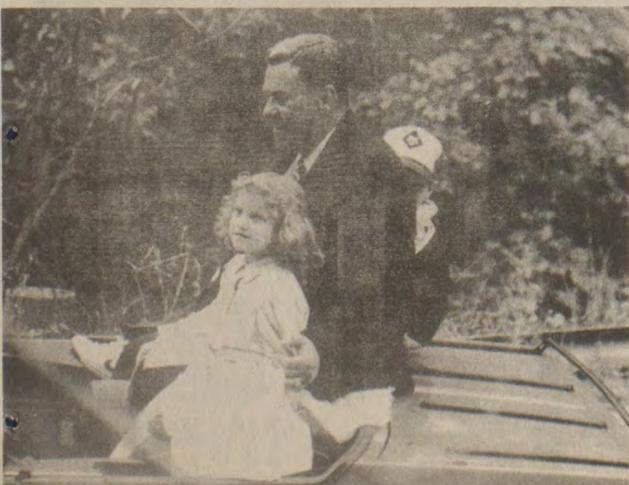

AND THEN THERE WAS SMOKEY THE BEAR to warn against forest fires.

Wallace Wilkinson seemed to be enjoying the ride with Mayor Raymond Griffith.

Jerry Patton was also among the public figures who joined the Red, White and Blue festivities.

DISTRICT JUDGE HAROLD STUMBO was in the best of company, his grandchildren.

One of the youngest majorettes was this winsome miss.

THE CAKE ON THIS FLOAT MARKS the 50th Anniversary of the Mayo State Vocational-Technical School.

Appetizers ... Low Fat and Interesting

From the American Institute for Cancer Research
Appetizers can play an important role in making a meal a success. By serving to stimulate the appetite, they help build a taste anticipation for the main course. They also can add a sense of completeness to a pleasant dining experience. But all of that means appetizers require careful planning in order to harmonize taste and appearances with the food to follow. And it should also mean that appetizers are looked at as an important, healthful part of your meal. Appetizers do not have to be complicated to prepare, and most certainly can be low fat and nutritious, as well as good tasting.

Raw or lightly steamed vegetables have become popular appetizer items for many people, especially when served with a tasty low fat dip, or marinated to add interesting taste dimensions. Although dips are often seen as high fat, high calorie foods, through the use of lowfat yogurt or cottage cheese it is possible to get just as interesting a taste with much less fat and calorie content.

SNOW PEAS AND BROCCOLI WITH GARLIC DIP

Although snow peas and broccoli make an interesting and different combination to go with this dip, it actually will work very well with virtually any raw vegetable. The garlic will lend a sweet, definitely garlicky flavor, but it is not hot and spicy.
3/4 cup plain lowfat yogurt
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tbsp. scallions, minced
2 small garlic cloves, minced
1 tbsp. Dijon mustard
1 1/2 tsp. lemon juice
1/8 tsp. pepper, preferably fresh ground

1/4 pound snow peas, trimmed
1 to 1 1/2 cups raw broccoli florets
Combine all ingredients except the vegetables in small bowl and mix well. Refrigerate at least 1 hour for the flavors to blend. Serve with snow peas and broccoli (or other raw vegetable of your choice).

Adjust the proportions of yogurt and mayonnaise to suit your taste. Fat and calorie content can be reduced even further if the amount of mayonnaise is decreased. As given, this recipe will yield about one cup of dip, with 3 grams of fat and about 81 calories.

MARINATED MUSHROOMS

Mushrooms, like most raw vegetables, are low in fat and calories. In this recipe they are marinated with vinegar, oil and seasonings to become tender, juicy and full of flavor. Although this recipe includes a significant amount of oil, most of it is used only in marinating and is not eaten.
2 cups fresh mushrooms, cleaned and left whole
1/2 cup red wine vinegar
1/4 cup olive oil

Participates In NATO Exercise

Army Pvt. 1st Class Phillip E. Collins has participated in the NATO-sponsored exercise, Return of Forces to Germany '87 (Reforger). The exercise was designed to evaluate plans and support agreements between NATO member nations, to exercise West Germany's ability to support deploying forces and to test the ability of European-based units to quickly link reinforcing units with their pre-positioned equipment.

1 tsp. tarragon
2 garlic cloves, minced
1/2 tsp. pepper
1/2 tsp. sugar
1 tbsp. lemon juice
Combine all ingredients except mushrooms in a large jar with a tight-fitting cover. Shake well. Add mushrooms and refrigerate overnight. Drain just before serving.

Tips To Prevent Rural Crime

By Attorney General David L. Armstrong

Rural crime in Kentucky has increased in the last five years. As rural crime increases, it becomes evident that something needs to be done to help eliminate this problem. As property owners there are preventive methods that can be taken to protect your property and yourself from this crime.
Always mark your farm equipment and tools with a permanent number. Post warning signs that your equipment is marked. When leaving machinery in the field, place it so it can be seen from your home and always take the key with you.

Livestock should be marked by ear tags, ear notch, tattooing or branding. Post warning signs that your livestock are marked. It is not advisable to house livestock on a farm which has no one living on it.

Keep your property well-lighted and all buildings and equipment locked when not in use. Use padlocks with hardened steel shackle, pin tumbler locking mechanism and both shackle legs which lock.

By following these tips, you can help prevent rural crime and together we can make your community and the Commonwealth a safer place to live. If you need more information about how to prevent crime in your community, contact the Office of the Attorney General, 909 Leewood Drive, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 or call (502) 564-2348.

Roadside Theatre To Perform Musical

Roadside Theater will perform its new dramatic musical, Leaving Egypt, at the Appalshop Theater in Whitesburg Saturday, October 24, at 8 p.m.

Set in 1969, Leaving Egypt, is the story of a grandfather who finds himself in conflict with the modern world, when he learns of a plan to evict him from his mountain homeplace. He then brings his only two surviving relatives, a granddaughter and a nephew, back to the mountain to help him save the family home.

The songs and script were written by long-time Roadside member Ron Short of Big Stone Gap. Short also performs in the play along with veteran storyteller and musician Tommy Bledsoe of Scott county, and newcomer Kim Neal Cole from Big Stone Gap.

Reservations for Leaving Egypt can be made by calling Jerri at the Appalshop at (606) 633-0108, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

It's true that termites do more than $750 million of damage each year in this country. But, according to International Wildlife magazine, their ecological good may outweigh the economic harm. Of the 2,000 species, only about 10 percent cause any economic damage at all. On the other hand, all of them benefit us because they recycle vast quantities of cellulose, making its atoms available to living plants!

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

OVER-THE-COUNTER CAUTION

Over-the-counter (OTC) drugs that are safe in the dosage recommended on the label may be extremely dangerous in large overdoses. For example, aspirin is seldom thought of as dangerous, although an overdose can result in the accidental poisoning of a child. In adults, excessive use of some pain-killing drugs may possibly cause severe kidney damage. When taken in excess, some drugs for relief of stomach upsets can cause an imbalance in the body's secretion of enzymes, perhaps resulting in serious digestive problems. A person should never use any over-the-counter drug on a regular, continued basis, or in large quantities, except on a physician's advice. Such overuse could mask a serious problem that requires professional medical treatment.

COOLEY APOTHECARY can provide you and your family with your total prescription needs as well as any over-the-counter remedies you require. Our entire staff keeps up to date on the latest developments in our industry. Complete patient profiles are maintained here at No. 2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. MasterCard and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-4.

HANDY HINT:

Read the label on OTC drugs for contraindications, circumstances under which the drug should not be used.

Three Floyd county bankers have been named to the Kentucky Bankers Association's Personal Economics Program (PEP.) They are; from left, above, Phillip D. Elliott, of the First Commonwealth Bank; Janie King, of The Bank Josephine, and Kevin Stumbo, of First Guaranty National Bank.

They will, as members of PEP, work with educators to encourage a better understanding of money and finance among the county's students. The program is a volunteer effort with each banker prepared to present with a slide format such subjects as Consumer Credit and Loans, Personal Money Management, Banking as a Business, Careers in Banking, Banks and Banking Services, Checking Account Management, and an Introduction to Economics and Banking.

The material is designed for junior and senior high school students, but is applicable to students from grade 7 to college and vocational education level.

Announcement of the appointments was made by S. F. (Butch) Bradley, group coordinator of the KBA Personal Economics Program.

Ky. Southern Baptists Celebrate 150 Years

Kentucky Baptists will converge on Louisville for the celebration of 150 years as a state convention. The Kentucky Baptist Convention meeting is scheduled November 10-11. Walnut Street Baptist Church will host the annual convention. More than 1000 Southern Baptist messengers from across the state are expected to attend.

The denomination will elect state officers, hear reports from several committees and close the convention Wednesday evening at Commonwealth Convention Center with "Celebration 87" commemorating the Sesquicentennial Year of the State Convention. The theme for the 1987 Kentucky State Convention is "Enriched by heritage—Encouraged by hope."

The convention will climax Wednesday, November 11, at 6:30 p.m. with a Celebration '87 rally in the Commonwealth Convention Center.

The rally's historical emphasis includes "Epistles," a drama presenting the history of Kentucky Baptists from 1776 to 1987. Written by Ragan Courtney, professor at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, and John Styron, a student of Courtney's, the drama highlights events in Kentucky Baptist life through the medium of letters. The historical focus also includes recognition of past KBC presidents.

Dr. A.B. Colvin, current KBC president, will conclude the rally with a discussion of Kentucky Baptist contributions to the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

UK Awarded Grant For Newspaper Proj.

The University of Kentucky Libraries was recently awarded a $273,920 grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to fund the Kentucky Newspaper Project.

The project, which is part of the United States Newspaper Program, is responsible for locating, inventorying, cataloging and preserving U.S. newspapers held on a permanent basis in Kentucky.

The money will pay for microfilming and allow staff to continue bibliographic activities which first began with a grant in 1984.

"The main difference between the 1984 and 1987 grants is the microfilming aspect," says Jeanne Trimble, assistant project director.

"We already have most of the major daily newspapers," says Trimble. "We now want to reach the county newspapers before they deteriorate any further."

Judy Sackett, project director, says the equivalent of more than 700 years of newspapers exist in the state which still need to be preserved on microfilm.

The master negative and a service copy of the newspapers will be kept at UK, and microfilm will be available on interlibrary loan or for purchase by other institutions or individuals.

Kentucky is one of only 26 states and individual repositories involved in the United States Newspaper Program.

If hot fried chicken is not to be used immediately, cover with aluminum foil and punch holes in the foil; that will allow the steam to escape so the crust won't become soggy.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) A good look into the near future permeates this week. You will have it no other way, as you call and meet with others.

TAURUS (April 21-May 20) Take a firm step forward and do not look back during the week. This will only cause you to slow down.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Close ties act as the springboard to the weeks ahead. And if you're wise, you'll keep at least one secret to yourself now.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Heed the advice of someone who knows better. Be certain that all alliances are valid.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You now find that your private life is about to overtake your professional one. The choice is yours — but remember, time is passing.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) See to it that others understand, once and for all, just where you stand on home-related matters.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Calls and contacts can turn this into a spellbinding week. That is, if certain home-related conditions do not get in the way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Your financial affairs benefit to a great extent, once you decide to be the charming, outgoing and scintillating you at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Just as others are slowing down, you are ready to pioneer a new plan of action. Stay with it, too, for it has great potential.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) By the middle of the week, you will be ready to forge ahead in a way that is typical of you — forceful, determined and on target.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Set down the ground rules now, especially as far as friends and close associates are involved. Otherwise, they will demand your time and resources.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) This is an important week just ahead, and your level of confidence must remain high. New opportunities are there — just for the taking.

IN 1987, throughout the United States, over three hundred thousand people are expected to be saved from cancer. Progress in diagnosis and treatment has paid off. There can be hope when cancer strikes. But the picture could be even brighter. Our doctors now have the knowledge and tools to save even more people—if the disease is diagnosed and treated early. Your help is needed to get the life saving information to your family, friends and neighbors. Become a volunteer in the Floyd county unit of the American Cancer Society. Ky. Guitarist To Be Featured On KET

The lightning-fingered guitar skills and warm baritone voice of Russell Springs resident Steve Wariner combine with the harmonic sounds of Restless Heart for an evening of entertainment on Austin City Limits at 10:00/9:00 p.m. CT on Saturday, October 24 on KET.

Wariner started in music when he played bass in his father's country band. At 17, he went on the road to play bass and sing background vocals for Dottie West. He later accepted a similar position with Bob Luman, but his career took off when Chet Atkins produced Wariner's first RCA album.

Since then Wariner has produced several Top 10 singles. Some of these hits such as Some Fools Never Learn, You Can Dream of Me, and Life's Highway will be featured on the program.

Restless Heart has appeared with such notable performers as Eddie Rabbit, Alabama, Rita Coolidge, Marie Osmond, and Glen Campbell.

"Austin City Limits" is produced by Southwest Texas Public Broadcasting Council.

BOB VILA
HOME IMPROVEMENT EXPERT

Chances are, your old gas furnace is 55% to 70% efficient. But a flameless electric heat pump is 200% to 300% efficient.

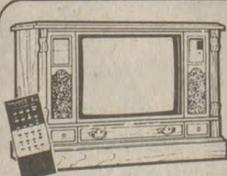

By adding a heat pump onto your old furnace, you create an energy-efficient team that can cut your total heating bill. And give you the bonus of central air conditioning in the summer as well.

ASK TONI

New 'Star Trek' series isn't just another rumor

By Toni Reinhold

Last spring I heard that "Star Trek" would be coming back as a new series, but I haven't heard anything since. Is this true? - M.S., Woodstock, N.Y.

Patrick Stewart

The new syndicated series "Star Trek: The Next Generation" premiered earlier this month with a two-hour episode called "Encounter at Farpoint." Don't expect to see a new Kirk or Spock, though - the show's characters are new, too. Patrick Stewart portrays Capt. Jean-Luc Picard, commander of the new Starship Enterprise, and Jonathan Frakes plays Cmdr. William Riker. Filming costs are topping $1 million per episode. Check local listings to see if it airs in your area.

Who sang the theme song from the movie "The Spy Who Loved Me"? - S.M. Henderson, Texas

Carly Simon sang "Nobody Does It Better," the theme for this 1977 James Bond thriller. It was written by Marvin Hamlisch, who also scored "The Way We Were" (1973) and "The Sting" (1973).

How old is Bette Davis? Has she retired? - J.F., Huntsville, Ala.

Davis, 79, is still going strong. She stars with Lillian Gish, Vincent Price and Ann Sothern in the new film "The Whales of August."

Where and when was Christopher Walken born? - M.P., Hibbing, Minn.

Walken, best known for his Oscar-winning performance in "The Deer Hunter" (1978), was born in New York City on March 31, 1943.

Who wrote the book on which the movie "Memories Never Die" was based? What was the book's original title? - J.L.S., Mount Joy, Pa.

This 1982 TV movie, which starred Lindsay Wagner, Gerald McRaney and Melissa Michaelson, was based on Zoe Sherbourne's novel "A Stranger in the House."

Where can we write to Robert Ulrich? I think his show is the best on TV. - H.L.H., Pleasant Hill, Ore.

Send mail to Ulrich, Avery Brooks and other "Spenser: For Hire" stars in care of Nightwatch Productions, Warner Brothers Television, 4000 Warner Blvd., Burbank, CA 91522.

(Send your letters to Ask Toni, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, N.Y. 10166. Due to the large volume of mail, personal replies cannot be given.)

Stories come first on ABC's 'Head of the Class'

By Wendy Wallace

Now in his second season playing Eric Mardian on ABC's "Head of the Class," Brian Robbins still admires the streetwise, rebellious character, who is too cool to associate with his genius classmates.

Brian Robbins

"As Eric goes, he's still a street kid who doesn't really fit into their niche," Robbins explains. "Although he has a rough and raw edge to him, it's great that he's smart. He can compete with his class and always come back with a witty response."

"During last season's episodes, Eric showed a lot of sensitivity and a creative side as a writer," he adds. "This season, we'll see a growth in him as a person and in his involvement with Mr. Moore (Howard Hesseman). To me, Eric is like a young Mr. Moore, and I'd be interested in developing their relationship."

"Head of the Class," which airs Wednesdays, has been compared to the ABC series "Welcome Back, Kotter," which aired from 1975 to 1979. But to Robbins, the class-

SOAP BEA

Holly discovered drama at the London Academy

By Marie Michaels

Lauren Holly, who joined "All My Children" in June to take over the role of Julie Chandler, is enjoying her first stint as a soap-opera actress. "I'm really happy with the way things have been going on the show," she says. "It's a great place to work."

Lauren Holly

A native of Geneva, in upstate New York, Holly assumed the role of Julie after going through the usual routine of auditions and screen tests. It is her first regular acting assignment. "I've always been the actor in the family," she laughs, "but I didn't become interested in the profession until I moved to London and began studying the flute at the London Academy of Music and Dramatic Arts. While studying at the Academy, I became involved with the drama department. When I returned to the States, I enrolled at Sarah Lawrence College to study English literature. But they have an amazing theater department, and after I did a couple of plays there I realized that acting was what I wanted to do."

Since then Holly has appeared in many commercials and guest-starred on "Spenser: For Hire." She also appeared in the feature films "Seven Minutes in Heaven" and "Band of the Hand."

Although their backgrounds are different - Julie is an adopted child and now a runaway - Holly says that she and Julie are alike in some ways. "We both think that families are important," she says. "We're both very involved with the men in our lives (for three years Holly has dated Danny Quinn, son of film actor Anthony Quinn). We both like to surround ourselves with security and love."

As played by Stephanie Winters, Julie was a wimp. So Holly has made some changes since she began portraying the character a year ago.

"I've given Julie more of an edge, and more of a temper," she says. "In the beginning she was too sweet, too naive. I think she's gotten a little smarter."

"I'm happy about the changes because I think they've made the character stronger, more of a real person," she adds. "Now that she's had a lot of crises, she's beginning to realize that the world isn't the rosy place she thought it could be. I think she's going to start growing up very fast."

Boosler is better off joking than singing

By Frank Lovece

In her two cable specials, Showtime's "Party of One" and Cinemax's "Cinemax Comedy Experiment: Comedy From Here," Brooklyn-born comic Elayne Boosler has always been good for a few chuckles. The grist of her material is the old-fashioned battle of the sexes; the twist is that she dresses it up in modern clothes.

Elayne Boosler

But in her latest special, Showtime's "Broadway Baby," Boosler also sings and dances, diluting her natural gifts until her material has all the bite of a Gumby. It airs Sunday, Oct. 25 and Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Boosler is at her best when she stays topical, jabbing funnily at dating in the '80s - though an '80s comic joking about AIDS is rather like a medieval jester making jokes about the plague. She is on shakier ground when she dives into stereotypical depictions of men and women - such as her "real men," who are interested in shopping and dieting. Boosler's success with topicality makes these clichés all the more unfunny.

The special opens with a self-aggrandizing autobiographical sketch, complete with baby pictures and snippets of Vegas marquees and Merv. This segues into a silly dream sequence and song-and-dance number that confirms the advice Boosler's old boyfriend, the late comic Andy Kaufman, supposedly gave her when she was an aspiring Broadway star: Stop singing, stop dancing, start joking. As Boosler demonstrates here, Bernadette Peters she's not.

All of this prefaces a filmed performance at New York's Ritz Theatre. Boosler is always craftsmanlike, competent, a polished professional. Yet she manages to numb even the live audience - who usually whoop it up for the cameras at this sort of event. The biggest cheers and applause come in response to her audience poll about Oliver North.

The show ends, inexplicably, on an anticlimactic note. After her prepared material ends, Boosler takes a couple of questions from the audience, answering in wisecracks. The last thing we hear as isn't a wind-up joke, or applause, but Boosler asking, "Any more questions?" To which one might reply, "Are you planning to do any more of these?"

October 18-24 Is Ky. Pharmacy Week

"Medicine: Before You Take It, Talk About It!" is the theme for Kentucky Pharmacy Week, October 18-24. Governor Martha Layne Collins cited the important role of pharmacy in the health care system of Kentucky and the need to utilize the pharmacist as a health information resource in proclaiming Kentucky Pharmacy Week.

More than 2,600 pharmacists provide professional services to residents of the Commonwealth. The pharmacist provides expert guidance to the public on the use of prescription and nonprescription medications.

Five questions are recommended to be asked to the pharmacist when a prescription is filled.

What is the name of the drug and what is it supposed to do?

How and when do I take it—and for how long?

What foods, drinks, other medicines, or activities should I avoid while taking this drug?

Are there any side effects and what do I do if they occur?

Is there any written information available about the drug?

Three things that patients should discuss with all health professionals are the names of all prescription and non-prescription medicines you are taking; the medicines to which you are allergic, if you are, or think you might be, pregnant.

These questions will promote the necessary dialogue between patients and health care practitioners that will ensure rational medication use. In addition, many pharmacists will be promoting special services during Pharmacy Week.

The Kentucky Pharmacists Association, with over 1800 members, is the professional society of practicing pharmacists in Kentucky.

Trouble Continues As Bobcats Fall To Strong Morgan County

The Betsy Layne team bus missed Morgan County's field, and were ready to roll into Morehead before being set straight.

They eventually found their way to the playing field, but left their offense in Rowan county and their defense on the bus.

The Morgan county Cougars, the surprise team in area high school football, scored a touchdown in the first quarter, added a field goal early in the second quarter, and burned Betsy Layne on a late first half touchdown pass.

The Cougars shutdown Betsy Layne's offense too, blowing out to a 17-point halftime lead, and holding on to record a 37-14 victory, Friday night.

"We just can't put things together," Vince Tucker, Bobcat head coach, said. "We've got the kids playing hard. It's not that. We had a lot of penalties that hurt us. We're just not playing smart football."

Morgan county had a net total of 148 yards, and with 57 seconds left, the Cougars hit on a 45-yard pass play for a touchdown, upping their lead to 17-0.

"They are a good ball club," Tucker said. "They executed better than we did tonight. They earned everything they got."

Betsy Layne, scoring at a minimum this season, missed two early scoring opportunities that made their difficult position even more difficult.

"That hurt us a lot," Tucker said, reflecting on the missed opportunities. "I felt that if we could have scored early then it would have put some life back in us. It's difficult when you can't get those early points. It's tough to try to come back from a big halftime deficit."

On the first possession of the game, Betsy Layne, following a Todd Sturgill 32-yard kickoff return, drove to the Cougar 28-yard line, but a quarterback sack on fourth down and nine denied the Bobcats any further penetration.

Morgan County scored their first touchdown in the first quarter on a 17-yard run by sophomore quarterback Jamie Easterling.

With 4:38 remaining in the opening period, the Cougars took over on the Betsy Layne 30 following a short Bobcat punt. Three running plays, and 73 seconds later, Easterling crossed the goal line.

On their next possession, Morgan county once again received good field position, taking over on the Bobcat 27-yard line. They moved the football inside Betsy Layne's 15, but were thrown back by two penalties.

On first and 10 from the 14, the Cougars were nailed with a flag that carried a holding call, and on the next play were tagged on an offensive pass interference call.

After officials sorted through the blizzard of yellow, Morgan county was back on their 39-yard line. The Cougars moved the ball back to the 26 from where Brian Goforth nailed a 43-yard field goal, putting Morgan county up, 10-0.

Then Betsy Layne had a total of 98 yards in the first half, 92 coming on that drive. The Bobcats finally found a way to score in the third quarter, but by then Morgan county had opened up a 24-0 lead.

RUN AND PASS: John Bush of Betsy Layne looks for a receiver on a two-point conversion attempt. Bush ran the football, caught a touchdown pass, returned a kickoff, and threw a successful conversion pass Friday night.

After scoring in the final minute of the first half, the Cougars opened the second half with a successful drive, marching 55 yards on five plays for a score.

Trailing by the huge score, the Bobcats' Lonnie Lewis denied Morgan county a shutout late in the third quarter.

With just under two minutes remaining in the third quarter, Morgan county ran a reverse from their own 17-yard line. The change of direction didn't affect Lewis. He corralled Mark Holbrook, the Cougar ball carrier, stripped the football away, and fell on it in the end zone.

When John Bush, on an option, threw to Todd Sturgill on the conversion, the Bobcats cut the Morgan county lead to 16 points.

Betsy Layne, after the Cougars responded with a touchdown on their next possession, managed another score when Todd Sturgill connected with John Bush on a 26-yard pass play with 5:05 left in the game.

Despite the touchdown, the Bobcat passing game suffered against an inspired Morgan county defense. Sturgill put the football in the air 26 times, but connected on only seven of those attempts for 104 yards.

The Cougars recorded three quarterback sacks, and rushed Sturgill on several other occasions.

"Our offensive line hurt us a lot tonight by not giving Todd time to throw the football," Tucker said. "They kind of stuffed the middle up on us, too."

The Cougars, with their explosive offense and stubborn defense, captured their third district win this season. Combine that with only one loss and Morgan county is in a solid position for a playoff position.

With only one district game remaining, Morgan county needs only a victory over Prestonsburg at home this Friday night and a Leslie county win over Whitesburg to be assured a post-season berth.

Both Whitesburg and Morgan county have one loss in district play.

Betsy Layne, a team expected to battle for one of those playoff spots, fell to 0-4 in the district and 1-5 overall. The Bobcats continue their search for another victory this week when they travel to M.C. Napier.

"It would be nice to get a win," Tucker admitted. "It's been a long time since our last one. Maybe we can get a win or two in these last two games and get something out of this."

The Sporting Times

"He really made his last year," the lady at the checkout counter said, pointing to a picture of Rex Chapman on the cover of a Kentucky basketball magazine. "If he doesn't let it go to his head, but I don't think he will," she continued, shaking her head. "He doesn't seem like that kind of boy."

Entering his second year of college, Rex Chapman has become more than just a basketball hero. He has created the latest frenzy in Kentucky, a new era of folk hero, and a totally different way of life in Wildcat basketball.

It all began in 1985 when, as a member of the Owensboro Apollo squad, Chapman earned fame and glory as a high school all-American, and Kentucky's Mr. Basketball.

Last season, his first at the University of Kentucky, Chapman averaged 16 points per game while displaying unbelievable physical basketball abilities.

Chapman earned such honors as Southeastern Conference Freshman of the Year, named to the national all-freshman team, and last summer was a member of the American Pan Am team.

In his first year, Chapman led Kentucky in scoring with his 16-point per game average, the first freshman in 28 years to be the 'Cats top point producer. Three times he scored 26 points, personal season high, for Kentucky, but more importantly for Wildcat fans, those performances came against Louisville, Tennessee, and Indiana, probably UK's biggest three rivals.

The six-foot-four guard also dazzled fans with his passing ability, 103 flashy assists, while averaging almost three rebounds per game.

As a senior, Chapman was one of the most highly regarded recruits ever from Kentucky, a state rich in highly regarded troops. Sports Illustrated, before he signed, said the Owensboro native was a 'must sign' for the Kentucky program.

They must have foreseen the fans—destined future of Rex Everett Chapman.

The prize guard chose Kentucky and since then the decision has brought together the best of both sides, each helping the other in achieving the gold at the end of the basketball rainbow.

Chapman proved to be an immediate impact player for the university, and the university provided the player with more attention than he could have received at his other choices, Louisville, Georgia Tech, North Carolina, and Western.

The marriage has certainly been a two-way sharing, each giving the most of themselves and both have benefited.

And what about the future? Playing for Kentucky means instant stardom in the state. Succeeding at Kentucky means basketball stardom in America.

But Chapman's story could be even more special than those golden tales from yesteryear.

When he came to UK, the school was expecting a down season. They had that, but with Chapman softening the blow, the Wildcats won 18 games, and fought their way back to the NCAA tournament.

His popularity is unreal for a person who just turned 20 years old. Basketball is his game, the main reason for the popularity, but Rex Chapman and his love affair with this state goes much farther than just basketball.

The media, which has that special ability to make heroes and sometimes destroy them, has taken a special liking to Chapman.

Chapman hasn't exactly shied away from the cameras and pens either.

His articulate manner and polite behavior has captured the idea of the all-American boy. His humble appearance is just an added extra on his behalf.

Kentucky fans apparently have something for that white guard who can play basketball. Maybe it's the rarity of the fact, or maybe it's just what the state wants.

Kyle Macey started the trend in the late 70s and left the crown to Jim Master. The later failed to fit the mold, and when Chapman came along, Wildcat fans devoured Chapman, his basketball skills, and childlike modesty.

The checkout lady was right. Chapman doesn't appear to be the type to allow fame to affect his performance. How could it?

In the same magazine, Chapman says his three wishes in life are, to be healthy, to be loved, and to be rich.

An All-American boy dreaming the All-American dream.

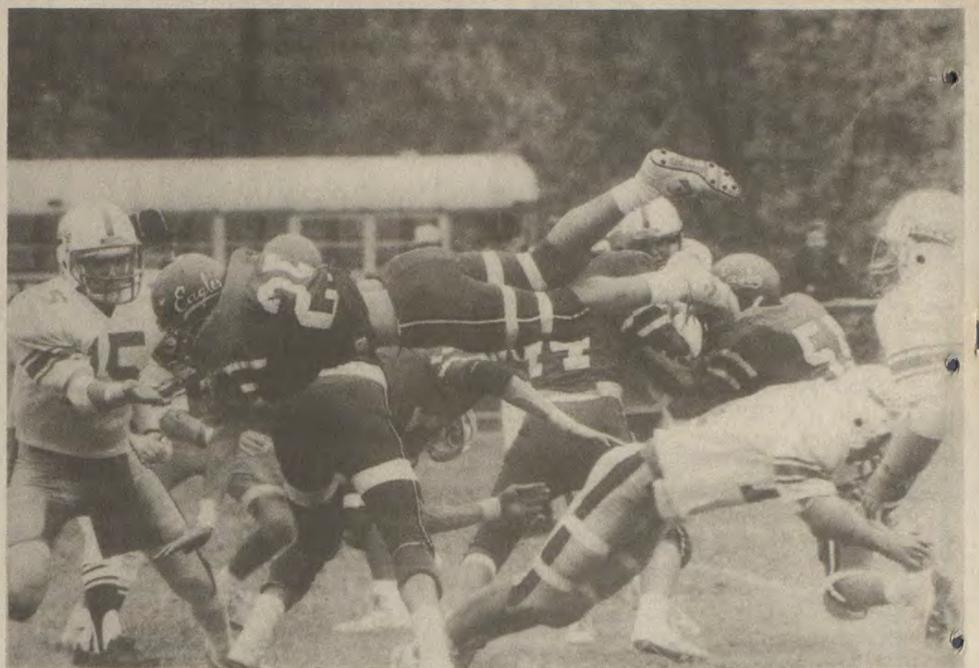

His career at the University, if injuries do not muddy the picture, will eventually become one of the greatest ever. In the future, Rex Chapman will be mentioned in the same sentences as are Dan Issel, Cliff Hagen, and Kyle Macey.

My goodness, he even supports mandatory drug testing in college. Clean cut? One might think so.

On the court, Chapman can thrill 23,000 with his slam dunking ability, or a teammate with is passing ability. Off the court, he is even more popular.

After all, who could hate a person who enjoys watching David Letterman and LET ME DOWN EASY: Darren Conn (15) tries to deny Fairview the touchdown on this play. The Eagles scored here, and several other times in their win over Allen Central Saturday.

Early Turnovers and Penalties Are Too Much For Youthful Allen Central

Allen Central lost possession of their first drive on an interception, and after that things really took a turn for the worse.

Following two pass plays that fell harmlessly to the ground, Darren Conn, Allen Central quarterback, went searching for Nathan Shelton but instead found Fairview defensive back Scott McIntyre, who picked the pass off on the Rebel 40-yard line.

The next four Allen Central possessions also ended shorter than expected as the Rebels committed five turnovers in the first half.

Four of those five miscues were turned into points, allowing the Fairview Eagles to bolt out to a 28-0 lead before the Rebels could run even 10 offensive plays.

McIntyre's interception, with 11:34 left in the opening quarter, set up the Eagles first score, sending them on their way to a 42-22 homecoming victory, Saturday.

Aided by three Allen Central offside penalties, took Fairview only five plays and two minutes and 39 seconds to score. With just over three minutes of the game gone by, the Eagles crossed the goal line first when tailback Jack Waugh found paydirt from six yards out. With the two-point conversion, Fairview took an 8-0 lead.

On the ensuing kickoff, Fairview claimed possession when the low kick bounced off an Allen Central player becoming a live football that the Eagles pounced on in Rebel territory.

The Rebels held that time, but after getting the football back, fumbled on their fourth play from scrimmage.

Again Fairview turned the mistake into points, jumping out to a 15-point lead when Jason Miller scored on a one-yard plunge with 2:39 remaining in the opening quarter.

If history has a way of repeating itself, it did Saturday afternoon. On the kickoff, Fairview again got the football back via the exact same play that occurred on their second kickoff of the game.

From the Rebels 46-yard line, the spot of Fairview's recovery, the Eagles marched relentlessly to the end zone. Slowed only by a clipping call, Fairview covered the distance in nine plays, capped off by McIntyre, who also serves as quarterback, to Mike James nine-yard touchdown pass.

The Eagles later recovered an Allen Central fumble, moved 24 yards for the score, and took a commanding 28-0 lead.

Before the Rebels could mount a scoring offensive in the final minutes of the second quarter, they had run only eight plays, three of which were turnovers, and gained a total of eight yards.

But Fairview had a field day. In the first 15 minutes of the game, the Eagles enjoyed scoring drives of 24, 46,

Bassin' Club's Final Tournament

The Bassin' Buddies held their final regular tournament October 10, Cumberland Lake.

The weather was great and the pressure was on. Everyone tried to gain enough points to make the top 10, which would allow them to travel to Lake Gunterville, Alabama, to fish the Club's classic October 24 and 25.

The first place team was Doug Young and Larry Hackworth. Second place went to Greg Bryant and Tim Miller and Gary O'Bryan took third place and also had the largest fish of the day, a smallmouth weighing 4 pounds and 1 ounce. The club released all of the fish.

23, and 39 yards. All four scores came following turnovers.

"We're growing," Allen Central coach Donnie Daniels said. "We're just in our third year, and second of varsity. We're still young, and we're still going to make those kinds of mistakes."

"I'm not down on my kids," Daniels continued. "Heck, we've won two football games this year. Last year we didn't win a one."

Allen Central, before the first half ended, found a way to control the football, or maybe a way to recover their own fumbles.

The Rebels, after Fairview's fourth touchdown, took the kickoff on their own 33, fumbled on the first play, recovered it, and worked their way 67 yards for a touchdown.

On the strength of two young running backs, freshman Remius Addington and sophomore Kevin Hall, the Rebels ran the football 13 times and got help from a pass interference call to score their first touchdown.

Addington and Hall ran 11 of those, but when Allen Central got close, Daniels went to his senior. From the 10-yard line Robbie Click moved the football to the one-yard line, then crossed the goal line on the next play with 12 seconds left in the first half.

Anthony Redrick ran the two-point conversion in.

The Rebels added two scores in the second half, but the 20-point Fairview halftime lead proved too much for Allen Central to overcome.

With 11:24 remaining in the game, Mickey Parsons crossed the goal line on a two-yard run, topping off a 96-yard Rebel drive.

Parsons, during the drive, ran five times for 35 yards, but the biggest yardage gainer came on a 50-yard Robbie Click catch and run from Darren Conn.

Kevin Hall accounted for the Rebels final score on a three-yard touchdown run. With 6:34 left Allen Central started on their final offensive drive of the game, again recording a long-distance march.

The drive covered 81 yards, and cut the final deficit to 20 points.

"They are a good ball club," Daniels said of Fairview. "They are about the best team we've played this year. They and Raceland are the cream of the crop in this district."

With the loss, Allen Central drops to 2-7 while Raceland, playing without explosive running back Glenn Reliford, kept their district record perfect.

The Eagles will face Raceland next Friday to determine which team represents the district as champion and which will go to the playoffs as a runner-up. Both teams are undefeated in district play.

Although the Rebels suffered a 20-point defeat, Donnie Daniels was pleased with his younger player's performances.

"We're getting to play some good freshmen and sophomores," Daniels said, pointing toward that as a key to the future.

If Saturday was any indication, Allen Central should have a strong backfield next season, and certainly two years from now.

A pair of sophomore backs, Mickey Parsons and Kevin Hall, combined for 119 yards and two touchdowns. Hall ran for 70 yards, plus a two-point conversion and a touchdown.

Addington, a freshman runner, rambled for 50 yards on 10 carries, adding to the impressive young performance from Allen Central.

"I'm not down on these kids. "We're still learning, and I think the Sheldon Clark game will be a good one for us to build on," Daniels said, looking forward to Friday night.

Allen Central will travel to Inez this Friday to take on the Sheldon Clark Cardinals, a 3A team that has won only one game this season.

THROUGH THE HANDS: Nathan Shelton was forced into a defensive role Saturday, and barely missed this interception in second quarter action.

NFL News And Notes

The regular players, who had been walking picket lines the past three weeks, reported for work Thursday afternoon, but NFL owners sent them away, electing to play week six of the schedule with replacement players.

The three-week players' strike was apparently over Thursday, but the owners had previously set Wednesday at 1 p.m. as the deadline to report. All players came in the following day, but weren't allowed to participate this week.

Some veteran players had preceded their teammates, crossing the picket lines early, and were eligible to play.

And play they did. Many regular quarterbacks, both starting and backup signal callers, decided to collect paychecks for week six, and most earned a bonus.

Footballers were flying all over the NFL as replacement teams benefitted from added throwers and catchers, and clouded the skies with a storm of aerial quality.

High numbers were posted, and records were challenged, but for some it meant a re-newed chance at faded dreams gone by.

Gary Danielson, a former starting quarterback for the Detroit Lions, has wasted away the past three seasons on the Cleveland Browns bench.

He hadn't thrown a regular season pass during that time, but Sunday in Cincinnati Danielson aired it out one more time.

The veteran signal caller threw for four touchdowns, and regular receiver Brian Brennan caught 10 passes as the Browns thumped Cincinnati, 34-0.

Double Danielson's efforts with those of Doug Flutie, and all of a sudden the Browns are tied for first in the AFC Central.

Flutie, a recent addition to the New England Patriots, threw for 199 yards and one score while rushing for 41 yards as the Patriots defeated Central division front runner Houston, 21-7, dropping the Oilers into a first place tie, and allowing New England to keep pace in the East.

The Pats are now deadlocked with New York for that top spot.

The Jets, on the strength of quarterback Pat Ryan who crossed the picket lines last week, outscored Miami, 37-31, in overtime.

Ryan, the Jets regular backup, connected on 30 of 49 passing attempts for 301 yards and four touchdowns to pull off New York's first replacement win, despite a strong showing from Dolphin quarterback Kyle Mackey.

Mackey threw for three touchdowns and ran for two more, but Ryan hit Eddie Hunter with a touchdown pass late in the overtime period to deny Miami a comeback victory.

The Dolphins, who drop one game behind New York and New England, had trailed, 31-17, in the fourth quarter.

Other quarterbacks throughout the NFL enjoyed success, and some receivers accordingly posted impressive personal numbers.

Jeff Kemp, former San Francisco backup, found regular receiver Steve Largent often enough to down Detroit, 37-14. Largent caught 15 passes for 261 yards and three touchdowns in the game. Kemp threw for four.

Joe Montana, the man Kemp spelled last season, also enjoyed a successful Sunday. Montana completed 31 of 39 passing attempts and four touchdowns as San Francisco defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 34-28.

Dwight Clark, one of Montana's favorite regular receivers, caught two of those touchdown passes.

In Atlanta, rookie replacement quarterback Eric Kramer threw for well over 300 yards and three touchdown passes to lead the Falcons past the Los Angeles Rams, 24-20. With the win Atlanta stayed close to NFC West leader San Francisco.

Offense stole the show Sunday, but defense wasn't the opening act for offensive top billing everywhere.

Tampa Bay forced six Minnesota turnovers in defeating the Vikings, 20-10, and moving into second place in the Central Division.

The Buccaneers moved to within one game of the top spot because New Orleans dumped previously unbeaten Chicago, 19-17.

Elvis Patterson, former starter for the New York Giants, intercepted a Vince Evans pass with 18 seconds remaining in the game, returned it for 75 yards and a touchdown to give the San Diego Chargers a 23-17 victory over the Los Angeles Raiders.

San Diego, 4-1, is alone atop the AFC West.

Speaking of defense, how about those Redskins? Washington, seven-point underdogs, did not have a regular player on the field, but beat Dallas 13-7.

The Cowboys, led by Danny White and Tony Dorsett, failed to find offensive success against a young defense, and fell off the set by the Redskins.

Lionel Vital, a replacement running back, ran for over 120 yards against the likes of Ed Jones, Randy White, and Don Smerek. Vital now leads the NFL in rushing.

The NFL's regular players are supposed to return this week and provide the performances for fans come Sunday afternoon.

With 10 games remaining in the season, the regular players should have time to correct or destroy what the replacements created. Except, of course, the Giants and Rams.

But don't blame it all on the replacements.

Both teams were 0-2 before the strike began, and only the Rams could salvage a victory with the team's replacements.

The Giants, 0-5 and the only winless team in the NFL, have their best chance of changing that this week when they take on St. Louis at home.

Los Angeles, on the other hand, won't have an easy return. The regulars will be making their debut on Monday Night Football against the Cleveland Browns.

The AFC Western Division is where the spotlight will be this Sunday. Two divisional matchups could bring a change to the leadership picture.

San Diego, division leader, will be playing at home against Kansas City. The Chiefs are in last place, 1-4, but KC regulars were rated as one of the top teams in the West.

Another pre-season favorite, Los Angeles, was hurt by the strike, losing two games with replacement players, and now have to come back against Seattle.

The Sea Hawks were picked by many to win the AFC West. They were 2-1 during the strike.

The other team in the division, Denver, will put their 3-1-1 record on the line when they travel to Minnesota.

One of the biggest rivalries this Sunday will be seen in Pittsburgh where the Bengals and Steelers are scheduled to hook up. Cincinnati was expected to challenge Cleveland in the Central Division, but their replacement players went 1-2.

The biggest inter-divisional contest of the weekend will take place Sunday in Washington as the Redskins welcome in the New York Jets. Both teams are currently in the middle of a playoff race.

The strike may have created problems for certain teams hoping to make the playoffs, and helped those who wasn't expecting a post season appearance.

It could be said that the season took a sudden and unexpected twist.

One thing the strike did create was much conversation, criticism, and controversy. The pain of it may scar professional football forever.

But for now, it's over.

Wins Golf Tournament

Philip Dale Greene, shown right above, of Emma, and Tommy Brittain, of Myrtle Beach, S.C., were winners of the eighth annual Running Dunes Club Derby Golf Tournament held before a large gallery at The Dunes Golf and Beach Club, Myrtle Beach, S.C.

The tournament is open to Dunes Club members and non-resident houseguests of members. Twenty players comprising ten teams having low net for eighteen holes qualify for the nine hole Dunes Derby which is held the same day and partners are paired by a blind draw. Scotch foursome rules are applied with partners hitting alternating shots. High team is eliminated on each hole.

Philip Dale Greene, an employee of Hughes Associates, here, along with his wife Lynetti and daughter, Ashleigh Dehnea, were houseguests of his mother and stepfather, Lois and Phil Jenkins, who are members of The Dunes Golf and Beach Club.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Beecher Woods, of Emma.

Honored At UK

Erica Turner, a freshman majoring in elementary education, was selected as the 1987 University of Kentucky Homecoming Princess from Prestonsburg Community College. Turner, along with her escort, Jimmy Stumbo, took part in half-time activities during the UK-Ohio University football game October 3. Miss Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Turner, of Prestonsburg, was recently selected as Miss Jenny Wiley. She is also a member of the Community Chorus.

First Woman To Earn Master Angler Award

By NORM MINCH
Ky. Dept. of Fish and Wildlife Resources
Geneva Melvin, 53, of Canmer, has become the first woman to be honored as a Kentucky Master Angler by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

In order to earn a Master Angler Award one must catch three different species of trophy-sized fish. Mrs. Melvin's catches included a 46-inch flathead catfish weighing over 40 pounds, a 29-inch channel catfish weighing nine pounds and a 46-inch shortnose gar weighing almost 11 pounds.

Each of Mrs. Melvin's fish exceeded the minimum length needed to qualify as a trophy fish. The minimums for these species are flathead catfish, 35 inches; channel catfish, 28 inches, and gar, 40 inches.

All three fish were taken by sport-fishing methods at Nolin Lake. It took Mrs. Melvin only five months from the date of catching her first trophy fish to earn the Master Angler Award. Since the program's beginning last January 1, only two other anglers have been designated Kentucky Master Anglers. Wayne Frye, of Nancy, Kentucky, and Daniel Nugent, of Harrisburg, Illinois, have earned the award, which includes three trophy fish certificates and decals, one Master Angler certificate and decal and a Master Angler plaque.

Geneva Melvin has been fishing at Nolin for about six years, spending more than half the year on a houseboat on the lake. She primarily fishes for catfish and crappie now, but at one time was active in bass tournaments where she "won a few here and there."

Mrs. Melvin said the 40-pound flathead catfish that earned her first Trophy Fish Award came from the Rock Creek area. She was using nightcrawlers and shad minnows when the big fish struck.

"It took me about 45 minutes to land that fish, and I was very excited to see a catfish like that one," she said. Her other two catches, a gar and channel catfish, came from Dog Creek and Barton's Run, respectively. Both were also taken on live shad.

Mrs. Melvin has her sights set on her second Master Angler Award already. "I may not get another one, but I'll at least try," she said.

Mrs. Melvin learned about the Trophy Fish/Master Angler Program from an article appearing in Happy Hunting Ground Magazine, a bi-monthly publication produced by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

Approximately 80 trophy fish applications have been submitted to the program since its inception in January 1987. During the first quarter of 1988, annual awards will be given by the department recognizing the largest trophy fish taken in each species category during 1987. Winners will receive a plaque for their achievements.

Applications for the program are available through the state conservation officer stationed in each county, or by contacting the department offices in either Frankfort or Louisville. There is no limit on the number of trophy fish awards per angler or per species. However, three different species of trophy size must be caught to qualify as a Master Angler.

gram, write Norm Minch, Trophy Fish Program, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or call (502) 564-4336.

listening to Stevie Wonder records? And then there are those inconsiderate NFL announcers who made their true colors known during the recent strike.

None of those were any worse than Joe Namath.

Hollywood Joe was one of the greatest quarterbacks of all time, but he, as a football color man, smells of barnyard material.

Namath felt the need to criticize replacement players rather than comment on what was taking place on the field. Great deduction Joe, the replacement players made some mistakes. They weren't as good as the regular players. Your intelligence amazed a nation.

Al Michaels, known as the business's best, turned the first replacement Monday Night Football game into a joke of his own performance. Michaels lowered his professional standards to take potshots at the players, and attempt to be humorous.

Nobody laughed, Al. The second week brought about a different style in Michaels. Maybe even the networks realized the fans were enjoying replacement football and were completely content in keeping it this season. Some announcers laughed. Some criticized certain areas of the games, and others made sad excuses for professionals.

Ahmad Rashad said in week two that there had been a lot of dropped passes. This has to be one of the best lines in broadcasting history, especially from a man who keeps his job because NBC finds a need to copy CBS.

During the strike replacement players showed tremendous enthusiasm, much more than fans are accustomed to seeing. Certainly the play wasn't up to normal standards, but neither was the pay scale.

Bob Trumpy, NBC analyst and WLW regular, said during his radio talk show that he couldn't criticize other announcers, but stated that replacement players were doing what every other person in their position would have done.

Players did not do much to help their case, the regular players that is. Some started trouble with teammates who crossed picket lines. Others started trouble with fans. In Cincinnati, players were reportedly defacing automobiles belonging to other players.

The replacements were called scabs by some broadcasters. Some people even laughed at their abilities, but one fact remains, for three weeks they were professional football players.

One reason why the media was so harsh was their knowledge that the regulars would some day return. With this in mind, writers and broadcasters made sure that they did not raise any ill feelings among striking players.

The replacement players handled themselves like the professionals that they were. Its unfortunate that regular players and the media didn't.

SHORT SPORTS

College football across Kentucky, particularly in its major schools, suffered one of its worst weeks of the season, and not just by losing, but by being dominated.

Only Western could manage a win among the state's bigger schools, and their victory wasn't exactly impressive.

The Hilltoppers held Livingston College scoreless through three quarters, limited them to 53 yards rushing, and recorded a 21-14 victory.

Western, 4-2, will put their number 14 ranking in Division I-AA on the line this Saturday when they travel to Austin Peay.

Other Kentucky schools didn't share the same success. Western enjoyed this past weekend. The Eastern Kentucky Colonels were handed their first conference loss and second overall when Middle Tennessee dumped the Colonels, 17-16, Saturday.

Eastern, favored to win the OVC, is now one full game behind Middle in the conference race, and will try and keep pace with the Blue Racers this weekend when they take on Youngstown State this Saturday at 4:30 in Ohio.

The University of Kentucky, Morehead State, and Louisville were all big losers, last Saturday.

UK, entertaining thoughts of challenging for an SEC title, rolled into Baton Rouge with high hopes, but those hopes were rapidly dashed as LSU thumped the Wildcats, 34-9.

Morehead, lost 52-14, to Tennessee Tech despite school passing records from freshman quarterback Chris Swarts. The Bath county native threw 35 completions on 66 attempts, both new records.

Louisville also received a strong passing performance, but also lost, falling 32-9 to national power Florida State. In the loss, Cardinal quarterback Jay Gruder threw for 339 yards.

In Kentucky small college action, Georgetown improved to 5-1 on the season with a 38-27 win over Franklin College.

Cumberland College also upped their lead to 5-1 when they thumped Tennessee Wesleyan, 45-21, Saturday. Union College defeated Kentucky Wesleyan, 34-13, and Centre dumped Oberlin College, 23-10.

Larry Holmes is apparently next on Mike Tyson's list.

According to reports, Holmes, a former champion, will come out of retirement to fight Tyson in January.

Tyson, the undisputed heavyweight champion, retained his title Friday night by knocking out Tyrell Biggs in the seventh round.

Holmes, 38 on November 3, won the World Boxing Council title in 1978, and was later crowned the IBF champion until Michael Spinks took that title from him.

Many boxing experts say if Holmes was 10 years younger it might be an interesting matchup, but Tyson, undefeated as a pro, is expected to hold off this challenge.

The fight has been scheduled for January 23 at an undetermined site. Holmes will get a reported $3.1 million for the fight.

Michael Spinks, another former champion, is expected to get the next shot at the young champion. That is if Tyson holds off Holmes' challenge.

The Twin Towers still stand united in Houston. Ralph Sampson, this past week, signed a deal that assured it.

Sampson, a seven foot-four forward, signed a six year-contract, Thursday afternoon, for a reported 12 million dollars. He will now be a Rocket for several years to come.

Sampson, teaming with Akeem Olajawon, led Houston to the NBA finals two years ago. The Rockets forward Rodney McCray, an important part of that successful 1985-86 team, remains unsigned.

The Wheelwright Trojans lost their eighth game of the season, Friday night, being shutout by powerful Raceland, 32-0, at home.

The loss, Wheelwright's worst of the season, dropped the Trojans' overall record to 1-8, and 0-5 in district play.

Before Friday's game, Wheelwright had lost six games by a total of 31 points, but Raceland, undefeated in district play, proved too powerful for the injury-plagued Trojans.

Wheelwright, trying to break an eight-game losing streak, will play Johnson Central at home this Friday night.

Sam Bowie, former University of Kentucky basketball player, suffered a fractured leg in warmups Saturday night prior to Portland's first exhibition game.

Bowie, battling a career filled with leg problems, may need surgery, and could never play basketball again.

The seven-foot-one forward suffered a fractured leg at UK, missing two full seasons. Bowie has experienced physical problems his entire career and has failed to live up to the billing that had him as one of the top professional prospects of this decade.

Lindsey Wilson College Slates 1967 Reunion

Those who attended Lindsey Wilson College in 1967 will be holding a reunion during the college's Homecoming November 14. The reunion will be part of a day-long celebration. The 84-year-old liberal arts college is located in Adair county.

Those who attended Lindsey Wilson in 1967 should contact Mrs. Jackie Turner, 5204 Firwood Lane, Louisville, Kentucky 40291, (502) 239-3653, or call the college's Development Office at (502) 384-2126, extension 2046.

UP AND COMING: Sophomore running back Kevin Hall picks up yardage late in Saturday's game. Hall led the Rebels in rushing yardage.

Good's Colonels All Business Team Opens '87-'88 Practice

While some other universities tipped off the first official day of basketball practice with gala midnight celebrations and hoopla, it was all business for the Eastern Kentucky University Colonels as they got started with an early morning workout in the solitude of Alumni Coliseum.

With seven seniors and 12 lettermen, including four starters, returning for the 1987-88 campaign, Coach Max Good's veteran squad, which finished 19-11 a year ago and placed second in the hotly contested Ohio Valley Conference Race, returned to the hardwood at 6 a.m. Thursday ready and eager to work.

Senior Bobby Collins, a 6-1 guard from Southern Pines, N.C., perhaps put it best when asked about the team's attitude as practice gets underway. "We are playing with a real purpose this year. Our goal is to win the OVC and go to the NCAA tournament. Everyone has dedicated themselves to that goal and I believe we can do it," he said.

Collins and the other 11 returnees almost had a trip to the tournament in their grasp last year only to see the hope slip away on a desperation Austin Peay shot at the buzzer in the finals of the OVC championship tournament.

Good, who was chosen the OVC's Coach of the Year in 1987, is not one to put lofty expectations on his squad, but he does feel this team has the talent and experience to be a major factor in the league race.

"The OVC is the strongest this year than ever before in the history of the league," he says. "It's tough from top to bottom. Middle Tennessee returns some very talented people, and Austin Peay is loaded with the addition of several transfers who become eligible this year. Murray State and Tennessee Tech will be strong and I understand that Tennessee State will be tough in its first year in the conference." While EKU's coach does not like to talk about predictions, especially for his own team, he is well aware of the pre-season prognostications by national publications that has his team picked to be in the thick of the OVC race behind the play of senior point guard and All-American candidate Jeff McGill, who averaged 15.7 points as a junior and led the conference in the three-point shooting percentage (.506).

Good says the early practice sessions will be geared at improving defensive and rebounding skills, two areas that will be severely tested by an ominous December schedule that includes defending national champion Indiana, Louisville, and appearances in the Marshall Memorial Tournament and the Cowboy Shootout in Wyoming.

Bassin' With the Pros...

The Schoolin' Experience

One of the heart-stopping experiences I've had on a lake is running into a school of bass for the first time. Needless to say, my adrenalin got the better part of me and I came away with only one fish. But that experience was a great teacher and I vowed to be ready for any future confrontation where I was seriously outnumbered by "them."

My first stop was the bookshelf where I pulled Roland Martin's 101 Bass-Catching Secrets (Winchester Press) and opened to his brief but brilliantly written section on schooling bass. According to Martin (who recently placed #38 in the Aug. 13-15 BassMaster Classic), the first thing an angler wants to do is rig three poles: the first with an injured minnow type of surface plug, the second with a medium deep lure like a Countdown Rapala, and the third with a deep jiggling lure for depths of 25 feet.

Martin also suggests "sneaking up" on the school without creating any wake in the direction of the school. You then proceed to fish from the surface, through the intermediate level, then to the deep level until you produce a strike. Schooling bass often hold in deeper water and come up to feed on baitfish.

Another key factor in successfully fishing a school of bass to match your lure selection with the baitfish they're feeding on. Also, move your lure in the same direction as the baitfish; to run it in the opposite direction would turn off the bass to your lure.

Some anglers use buoys to mark off stationary schools of fish. And their use is very critical if you want success.

"I don't immediately like to put a buoy on the top of where the bass are because it can get in your way," instructs Ken Cook, Evinrude Pro Staff member. "You can get tangled on your buoy. So I put it some distance away—30, 40 or 50 feet.

"If you're outside a shoreline, it's a good idea to put down two buoys," stresses Cook. "You can lineup a buoy on some object on the shoreline and keep in contact with what direction the bass are from the buoy.

"In winning a tournament over in Chattanooga, Tenn., I had some bass out in the middle of a big creek and it was about a half-mile to shore. But I only put down one buoy because I was on a weed-line. I used the weedline to relate to with my depthfinder, and the buoy was about 50 feet up the grass line from where the bass were. So, I could relate to the bass. I could sit at the buoy and throw to the fish. I could also go around the fish, 100 feet away from the buoy, and throw 50 feet back toward the school.

"What's important," Cook relates, "is that I had an orientation point. That's real important because that bunch of bass was in a closely packed school and was on a small 10 to 15-foot spot.

Of course, buoys are only used when the bass are schooled and holding in a specific area. Buoys are not used with moving schools, which usually follow river channels or other structure in their pursuit of baitfish.

Gasoline can go stale if not stored correctly, according to service technicians at Outboard Marine Corporation. If you plan to put your boat away for an extended period of time (more than a few weeks) they suggest treating your gasoline supply with a fuel stabilizer, such as OMC's 2+4 Fuel Conditioner®. Adding a stabilizer helps prevent the formation of gum and varnish deposits in outboard and stern drive fuel systems, and also absorbs moisture in the fuel system, created by condensation during storage. Add the recommended amount of fuel stabilizer to the remaining fuel supply and run the motor long enough to get treated fuel into the fuel system and carburetor. One ounce of OMC's 2+4 Fuel Conditioner treats a gallon of gas for 12 months, and is available from most Johnson® and Evinrude® outboard dealers.

Blackcats KO Punchless Phelps Hornets Friday

First string fullback Jimmy Joe Crace was hurt on the game's opening kickoff, and starting offensive lineman Tommy Thornsberry wasn't available at all, but the Prestonsburg Blackcats took care of business anyway.

Running back Kevin Dotson rambled for two touchdowns, and wide receiver Derrick Johnson hauled in two Tim Trusty touchdown passes as the Blackcats defeated the Phelps Hornets 50-22, Friday night.

"They weren't really that strong, but we played pretty well," Prestonsburg coach Chuke Williams said, "considering that Jimmy Joe was hurt on the first kickoff, and Johnny Ray didn't play much, and Tommy Thornsberry didn't even dress."

Crace, Prestonsburg's second leading rusher on the season, suffered bruised ribs early in the game, but should be back in action this week.

Harris, the Blackcats leading rusher, scored Prestonsburg's first touchdown of the game, a six yard run in the first quarter.

Derrick Johnson, Prestonsburg's leading receiver, and one of the top receivers in the district, caught a 17 yard touchdown pass from Trusty later in the period. Brent Hackworth tacked on the extra point following both scores, giving the Blackcats a 14-0 lead after one quarter.

Prestonsburg got two more touchdowns, and jumped out to a 29-0 lead before the Hornets found their way onto the score board.

"They had a couple good backs, but we contained them pretty well," Williams said. "We had some fun, and got to play a lot of people."

Kevin Dotson, enjoying one of his best games of the season, scored the Blackcats third touchdown of the game, crossing the goal line on an eight yard run. Dotson later added a one yard run for another score.

Derrick Johnson later caught a nine yard touchdown pass, and then was on the receiving end of another Tim Trusty pass to add the two point conversion.

Trailing 29-0, Phelps found their way to end zone just before halftime, but the Blackcats responded with 13 unanswered points in the second half to put the game completely out of Phelps' reach.

Dennis Smith returned an interception 83 yards for a score, and Steve Hyden dashed three yards for another touchdown in the third quarter.

Dotson, in the fourth quarter, scored on a one yard plunge, and Chuck Rowe ran for the two point conversion, rounding out Prestonsburg's scoring.

With the win Prestonsburg improved to 5-3 on the season while Phelps dipped to 2-5.

"I really never look at a season in terms of wins or losses, but to be honest with you I had expected us to win eight or nine games this season," Williams, who has brought his team back from a 1-9 record last season, said.

With the 28 point win over the Hornets, Prestonsburg broke a two game losing streak. The Blackcats had been outscored by 43 points in their past two games.

But Williams says his Blackcats did not play badly against a strong Leslie County squad that handed Prestonsburg a 36-26 loss last week.

"I thought we did a good job against them, about as good as we could have done. They were a good ball club, probably the best team we've played this year," Williams said.

Prestonsburg, 5-3 overall, and 1-2 in the district, will return to district play this week, traveling to Morgan County this Friday night for an 8:00 contest with the Cougars.

Morgan County is 3-1 in the district, and in a second place (tie with Whitesburg) one game behind leader Leslie County.

"They're a real good club," Williams said of the Cougars. "They're not big, but they're quick. They may be quicker than we are."

"They're not a team that will run over you, but they are scrappy," the Blackcat coach continued.

The Blackcats, with a win Friday night and a victory over M.C. Napier next week, could move into a tie with the Cougars.

Whitesburg, one of the two favorites to capture a playoff position, has lost one game in district play, dropping a one point contest to Morgan County.

The Yellow Jackets, though, have Leslie County remaining on their schedule.

NOTE: In last week's article on the Prestonsburg-Leslie County game we incorrectly said the Blackcats were out of the playoff picture. They are not. Although their picture is not bright, if the Blackcats could beat Morgan County, and M.C. Napier, and Whitesburg loses to Leslie County, then Prestonsburg would finish in a three way tie for second place. A tie breaker will be brought in, considering a team's total wins and their opponent's wins, to determine the second playoff position. But, if Prestonsburg loses either of their last two games, or if Whitesburg defeats Leslie County, the Blackcats will stay at home during the playoffs. We apologize for the false information.

Kentucky Fishing Report

Frankfort, Ky., October 5—Fishing activity over the October 10-11 weekend was moderate statewide. Overcast conditions provided some good fishing during the weekend, but rainfall hampered anglers in some areas. Largemouth bass and crappie were being caught with the most consistency. The lake-by-lake rundown, as reported by conservation officers or creel clerks at each lake:

KENTUCKY: Creel Clerk Buddy Boyd reports that black bass were hitting buzzbaits over shallow sand bars 5-7 feet deep; catfish were hitting chicken livers and minnows almost anywhere in the lake 8-12 feet deep; clear, stable at four feet below summer pool and 64 degrees.

BARKLEY: Creel Clerk Norman Brantley reports that black bass were hitting crankbaits off gravel points and along stump rows 2-6 feet deep; white bass were hitting slab spoons and artificial lures along sand bars 2-6 feet deep; murky, stable at four feet below summer pool and 64 degrees.

BARREN RIVER: Creel Clerk Ralph Shipley reports that black bass were hitting crankbaits along stump rows on creek and river channels 3-12 feet deep; crappie were hitting minnows over brushpiles 10-20 feet deep; clear, falling, two feet below summer pool and 66 degrees.

NOLIN: Conservation Officer James Shipp reports that crappie were hitting minnows over submerged cover about 6-8 feet deep; black bass were hitting crankbaits off shallow points in 6-12 feet of water; clear, stable at two feet below summer pool and 67 degrees.

ROUGH RIVER: Conservation Officer Harold Belt reports that crappie were hitting minnows over brush and cover 6-12 feet deep; black bass were hitting crankbaits off rocky points and along stump rows 6-12 feet deep; clear, stable two feet below summer pool and 71 degrees.

TAYLORSVILLE: Creel Clerk Bruce Raine reports that black bass were taking plastic worms, crankbaits and jigs along secondary tree lines and over fish attractors 15-20 feet deep; bluegill were hitting worms and crickets over stick ups 4-6 feet deep; murky, stable at four feet below summer pool and 62 degrees.

HERRINGTON: Chimney Rock Marina Owner Don Strong reports that black bass were hitting topwaters in the jumps and plastic worms and crankbaits at night along rip-rapped banks 5-10 feet deep; bluegill were active on worms and crickets off steep banks 12-15 feet deep; hybrid rockfish were hitting spinners in the jumps; low water level is preventing launching at some ramps; clear, falling, 29 feet below summer pool and 67 degrees.

GREEN RIVER: Creel Clerk John Williams reports that crappie were taking minnows around stick ups in 4-8 feet of water; black bass were hitting spinnerbaits and crankbaits along stump rows 1-6 feet deep; some muskie were hitting crankbaits trolled over old river channels 14-20 feet deep; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 64 degrees.

CUMBERLAND: Conservation Officer Mike Bowman reports that rockfish were hitting crankbaits and jigs along river channels 25-35 feet deep; black bass were hitting plastic worms off rocky points 15-20 feet deep; in the tailwaters, trout were hitting cheese, corn and salmon eggs; clear, falling, 28 feet below summer pool and 73 degrees.

DALE HOLLOW: Conservation Officer Marvin Edwards reports that black bass were hitting crankbaits and plastic worms off steep banks in 10-15 feet of water; bluegill were hitting worms and crickets off sloping banks 6-10 feet deep; clear, falling, one foot below summer pool and 71 degrees.

LAUREL: Conservation Officer Kenneth Mobley reports that trout were hitting worms, cheese and corn at night over main lake drop offs about 20 feet deep; bluegill were hitting crickets over submerged cover 8-15 feet deep; clear, stable, 14 feet below summer pool and 68 degrees.

CAVE RUN: Creel Clerk Sonny Kearns reports that muskie were hitting crankbaits and buzzbaits in the backs of coves 1-15 feet deep; black bass were hitting crankbaits and plastic worms over standing timber 1-15 feet deep; clear, falling, three feet below summer pool and 62 degrees.

PAINTSVILLE: Conservation Officer Jeff Preston reports that black bass were hitting plastic worms and buzzbaits off rocky points 1-10 feet deep; trout were hitting red worms and wax worms over main river channel about 15 feet deep; bluegill were hitting red worms and wax worms off steep banks about three feet deep; clear, falling, three feet below summer pool and 66 degrees.

State Fair Winners

For the fourth consecutive year the Betsy Layne High School majorettes brought home first place honors from the Kentucky State Fair twirling competition.

Union Players Earn Honors

The Union College football team, although only 1-5 on the season after a pre-season ranking of 19th, still has a few things to shout about. Matt Quick, senior Bulldog punter from Fort Myers, Florida, has been consistently ranked in the top 10 punters in the nation in NIAA Division II football. October 13, when the NIAA released its stats for the week, Quick achieved one of the goals he had been working for so long. With six games under his belt this season, and an Honorable Mention All American from last season, Quick became the best punter in the land at Division II level. His average per punt for the six games is 43.13 yards after 32 punts and 1380 total yards.

Quick began the season in the #3 slot with an average of 41.50 yards and he has been gaining ground each game since. "It is not so much his distance that will attract the pro scouts," said John Ross, Union Head Coach, "but his hang time. He really has a legitimate shot at the NFL and that is what he has been working for his entire college career. Matt is having a good year so far and he had a great season last year. I think that will attract the attention of the pro scouts in the coming weeks as his senior year comes down to the wire."

On the other side of the line, the Union footballers are also cheering for wide receiver Mike Jones, of Irvine, who clinched the top punt returner's slot in Division II. Jones, affectionately known as "Rabbit," in his junior year at Union is also tied with Union tight end Pete Greene, of Prestonsburg, for the No. 1 slot in District 32 pass receiving. Both "Rabbit" and Greene figure prominently into the Bulldog offense. "In all probability," said Ross, "Mike, at this point, is quickly moving himself into a position to win national honors this year."

The first all-professional US baseball team, the Cincinnati Red Stockings, was found in 1869.

Japan's Mt. Fuji—Sacred or Defiled Monument?

If there is a universal symbol of Japan, it must be Mt. Fuji. Considered by many people to be the nation's most serene and sacred natural monument, it has stood, in one form or another, for half a million years. But, according to an article in International Wildlife magazine, Fuji's serenity has been disrupted by commercial development, filth and litter problems, and thousands of sightseers.

Fuji—all 12,388 feet of it—is considered by most experts to be a dormant, not an extinct, volcano. Although there have been no eruptions since 1707, steam vents can still be found in its crater.

Nearly a thousand years ago, a Shinto Sengen shrine was dedicated at the summit by a priest, and since then Fuji has been considered a sacred mountain. Today, Shinto priests make the trek up the mountain to scatter water, rice wine and salt into its crater as a purification ritual and to offer prayers that the volcano will not erupt again.

Despite Fuji's spiritual past, most Japanese today do not climb the mountain as a Shinto rite. Instead, they travel in large, happy, sake-drinking groups of fellow employees, perhaps carrying loud cassette players.

Souvenirs are plentiful, with shops selling everything from 3-D postcards of the mountain to cans of "Fresh Fuji Air". An especially popular purchase is a kongoze or a walking stick. For a price, as a climber makes his way up the mountain, brands can be burned into the handle of the kongoze, symbolizing as well as certifying his ascent.

Aside from a spiritual experience or an athletic achievement, Mt. Fuji is most often climbed in order to view the famed Goraiko—the coming of the light—at dawn. To some, there is no greater pleasure than to stand on the highest point of land in the land of the Rising Sun and watch the sun rise.

Unfortunately, thousands of climbers never make it to the top to see this lovely sight. Many fall asleep in foul-smelling huts along the way and fail to wake up in time. Others get caught in the pre-dawn traffic jams that clog the trails leading to the summit.

For other climbers, their goal is to see for themselves what has inspired countless paintings and poems by such artists as Basho, the great master of haiku, and Katsushika Hokusai, perhaps the greatest painter to devote his life to the mountain.

Today, Fuji is no longer a subject for such artists. Climbers who speak poetic or painterly inspiration find themselves overwhelmed by enormous crowds. On a summer weekend, there may be 50,000 people on the trails. This mob is made up of people from all walks of life, including teenagers on motor scooters, girls in high heels, circus performers on stilts, people in wheelchairs, and nudists. Fuji has also been the site for publicity stunts in which cars and grand pianos have been carried up the summit piece by piece and reassembled at the top. A bulldozer makes a clanking, snorting ascent most days, carrying supplies for tourist stops along the way.

To accommodate so many people there are sleeping huts and food stalls along the trail which gross hundreds of millions of dollars each summer. They are at the root of a colossal trash problem that has earned Fuji the nickname of "The Great Garbage Can in the Sky." In 1979, volunteers collected 1.7 million aluminum cans and 197 tons of garbage from Fuji's trails. Despite such efforts, Fuji remains a monument to untidy laissez-faire capitalism.

Attempts to prevent Mt. Fuji's further defilement have been few and far between. Japan's government Environment Agency has expressed concern that the millions of people traveling up Mt. Fuji's slopes each year may be causing irreparable damage. But beyond authorizing a helicopter airlift of improved sanitary facilities to mountain huts, the agency has little real power to control public use of the mountain.

Some Japanese conservationists have suggested that all roads be closed and public facilities dismantled to protect Fuji from future damage. But, according to an official of Japan's mountaineering association, the government "seems reluctant to restrict anyone's access to the mountain because it is sacred."

Meanwhile, irreverent Japanese snicker over reports like the one from a respected volcanologist, who has stated that Fuji is potentially as much of a powder keg as Mount St. Helens—and that when the next eruption comes, the top half of the celebrated cone will vaporize, taking today's tiny problems with it.

Farmers More Cautious In Wake Of Hard Times

Fewer Kentucky farmers plan to buy land in the next few years than did in the heyday of the 1970s and those who say they will buy more land intend to borrow less to make the purchase, according to responses of some 1,500 farmers surveyed by a team of agricultural economists at University of Kentucky.

"Basically, we found Kentucky farmers more cautious than they had been, but still somewhat optimistic that the worst farm crisis since the 1930s eventually will yield better times," said Mike Reed, one of the economists who surveyed the farmers.

Some 14 percent of all farmers said they planned to quit farming by 1990, with most of those planning to quit in the mid-size farm range, he said.

Those who indicated they planned to leave farming were more likely to have missed a debt payment than those who did not plan to quit. And, Reed said, they were more likely to have sold land in the past to meet their debts and indicated they had cut living expenses in an attempt to shore up their finances.

"This finding is consistent with what has been widely suspected that the farm crisis is hitting hardest the mid-size farmers. It may be that in a few years we will have a farm population made up of small part-time farmers and very large full-time with few in the mid-size range," Reed said.

The survey, conducted in 1986, found that farmers with high farm sales were more likely to anticipate expanding their operations throughout borrowing than those in the mid-range, he said.

In addition, Reed said, those who planned to buy land were more likely to be in the 25-44 age group and had borrowed before but were not overextended at the time of the survey.

"Those with off-farm income were more likely to anticipate land purchases than those whose income came solely from farming," Reed said.

The farmers surveyed also said they were more cautious in buying new farm machinery than in the past, with an increasing number opting to make do with what they have or buy used machinery, Reed said.

"Overall, the survey suggests that Kentucky agriculture is still adjusting to the farm crisis and the shake out is far from over," Reed said.

Older and Wiser at 60, He Worked Hard for GED

One of David Hengstebeck's duties at the Prestonsburg Job Corps Center is to take corpsmen where they need to be. Above, he gets ready to take Cedrick Cheeks and Sammy Bizzell to an off-center job.

By Kurt Pickering

He's been a truck driver, a taxi driver, a roofer's helper, a painter, a dispatcher. He's worked in shipping and receiving, warehouses and the Michigan National Guard. He is "60 years young," and he speaks not as if he has put in more than 40 years of work but as if his productive years are just beginning.

That's because, at age 60, David Hengstebeck, of McDowell, has earned his General Equivalency Diploma. Out of work for two years now, he says, "My barrier was not having a GED or a high school diploma. In my personal opinion, when you walk in the door, a high school diploma or equivalency certificate is as important as a Social Security card or a birth certificate." Beyond that, Hengstebeck believes a GED will do more than just help him get a job. "Within my limits, it will help me with everyday work."

The Senior Citizens Program of the Joint Training Partnership Act (JTPA) placed Hengstebeck in a part-time position with the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center this summer. He promptly asked for and received permission to enroll in GED classes offered by the Corps to its members. He began taking classes June 20, tested September 14, and this month received word that he had passed.

Center Director Rod Chambers said of the decision to put Hengstebeck into the classes, "This was an opportunity to test our GED program on a mature adult who would be in the classroom with 16- to 21-year-olds. Would he be able to rise above the awkwardness of the age difference? Not only was the answer yes, I believe the young people were inspired to work harder themselves as they watched a 60-year-old strive so hard for his GED."

How valuable were the classes, and how much of the test material had he picked up in 40 years on the job(s)? Don't kid yourself; Hengstebeck says the classes were invaluable. "A good bit over half, was what I studied here."

Job Corps statistics indicate the local center is extremely successful in helping GED candidates. Although the Prestonsburg Job Corps is the smallest of the nation's 106 centers, it currently ranks third nationally in the percentage of students who obtain a GED after being tested.

Hengstebeck, who grew up in Michigan, dropped out of school in 1942. He had finished the eighth grade but left Jefferson Intermediate School in his freshman year. Why? "Part-time work wasn't enough, so I quit school like a dummy," Hengstebeck says. "Like a teenager, I wasn't thinking of the future."

In a society that moved more and more over the years toward requiring a high school diploma for just about every job under the sun, David's resume is actually rather impressive. Until the last couple of years, he has been able to overcome the no-diploma stigma and find a job. Then again, he was not able to build any kind of career; the jobs were many and varied. His longest stay with any one employer was 3½ years. The work he took was often seasonal, and many times he did not wait long enough for a call-back after a lay-off, finding himself already in another job when the call-back came. It was a living; it was not a career.

This rawboned, articulate Michigander is in Kentucky because he and his wife of 22 years have settled near her roots. Nannie B. Hengstebeck grew up in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky. He says she encouraged him to go for his GED, not in any showy way but through quiet support. "Remember that song 'Little Things Mean a Lot'...that's where she's at."

Hengstebeck goes out of his way to thank the Job Corps for helping him get his GED. He is also full of praise for the JTPA Senior Citizens Program. And he said, "Mrs. Glenda Hall, of the state employment office, bent over, around, and backward to help me." Finally, he singled out Randall and Sandy Burchett, saying, "That family went out of its way to help me."

Thanks in part to Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center, in part to JTPA, and in large part to his own initiative, David Hengstebeck is now at a crossroads. As he puts it, "I can help myself now. I'm not too proud to accept help when I need it, but I'd rather be able to help myself. "I'm grateful for the chance that I have been offered, whatever the outcome, to open some doors for me and to make a better life for my wife and myself."

Boswell Urges Congress To Repeal Potash Tariffs

Concerned that recently increased import duties on Canadian-produced potash will have a devastating impact on Kentucky farm production costs next year, Kentucky Agriculture Commissioner David Boswell has urged members of Congress to act to repeal those new tariffs.

In a letter last week to the Kentucky Congressional delegation and the chairs of the U.S. House and Senate committees on agriculture and commerce, Commissioner Boswell said, "The case really cries out for relief from these inflated costs which our nation's sorely-strapped farmers can ill afford."

The reason for Boswell's concern—also mirrored last week in a sternly worded resolution mailed to Congress and to the Reagan Administration by the Joint Interim Committee on Agriculture and Natural Resources of the Kentucky General Assembly—is the U.S. Commerce Department's reaction to complaints by domestic potash producers in New Mexico that their counterparts in Canada were "dumping" potash on the American market at prices lower than the costs of production. The Federal Commerce agency slapped the Canadian producers with added tariffs ranging from 12 percent to 86 percent.

The new duties thus raise the price of potash to American farmers by $30 to $50 per ton. Kentucky farmers annually require 200,000 tons of potash, which is a staple in the production of burley, alfalfa, grains, fruits and vegetables.

Thus, this trade development, which is already beginning to reflect the higher prices at farm supply outlets, could result in $10 million in added production costs for Kentucky farmers alone.

"As you probably know, potash is an extremely vital soil additive, without which production agriculture would slowly grind to a halt," Boswell wrote the members of Congress. "And, as you may know, Canadian supplies make up about 85 percent of the current source of this necessary nutrient, while domestic suppliers in New Mexico produce the rest."

"A brief look at the case shows that if all the potash produced on the North American continent is in demand; then the New Mexican supplies are not threatened by lower Canadian prices. And there's certainly little justification for the Federal Government to jump in and punish the Canadians at the American farmer's expense."

Department of Agriculture information shows that a production level of five tons of alfalfa hay in Kentucky requires the application of potash at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre. Meantime, quality burley production depends on about 500 pounds of potash to the acre.

Commissioner Boswell asked the Congressmen to adopt these concerns as their own and "to turn this unfortunate circumstance around."

PEOPLE GET A LOT MORE OUT OF THE PAPER THAN JUST NEWS.

They get advertising information. Information they seek out, to help them with their purchase decisions. In fact, 90 percent of Kentucky's newspaper readers said they look at advertising in Kentucky newspapers. Fifty-six percent said they used newspaper coupons. Which just goes to show that news isn't the only thing people look for in the paper.

Newspaper. It delivers.

★ Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: My father was recently diagnosed with a form of leukemia called "CML". This was first discovered in a routine blood test. The doctor said he had probably had it for a few years. I don't understand. My father never had any symptoms, and he feels fine now. Can you tell me anything about this type of leukemia?

ANSWER: CML begins in the bone marrow where blood cells are made. Specialized white blood cells called granulocytes become abnormal and cannot function properly. Over a long period of time, these abnormal cells crowd out the normal white blood cells in the bone marrow. Because this process usually takes several years, this is considered a slowly progressing cancer.

CML is difficult to diagnose early, because people don't often have any symptoms which would cause them to look or feel sick. It is not uncommon for the disease to be accidentally discovered by a routine blood test. The course of CML is divided into three phases. Each phase has different characteristics in terms of its treatment and its effect on the patient's quality of life.

*Chronic or Initial Phase
The patient is usually free of symptoms and feels quite well. The patient can engage in work and social activities. Treatment may be delayed in patients with no symptoms. Once symptoms start, the patient may be treated with mild anti-cancer drugs which produce very few side effects. The prescribed treatment typically consists of oral, outpatient medications. This phase usually lasts three to five years, but may be longer in some patients.

*Accelerated Phase
After a period of time, CML begins to accelerate and becomes resistant to the anti-cancer drugs. Despite increases in the dose of medications used, the disease continues to progress and the patient soon has symptoms on a regular basis. At this time, experimental treatments are often tried in order to reverse the progress of this disease. If CML continues to progress, however, the patient's state of health worsens and clinic and lab visits become more frequent.

*Blast Crisis
In this phase, CML becomes almost completely resistant to treatment with anti-cancer drugs. The cancer cells multiply very quickly and crown out the normal cells in both the bone marrow and the spleen, which then becomes large. Treatment consists of powerful anti-cancer drugs, which usually only work for a short period of time. Most patients need closer medical supervision. Some require blood transfusions and treatment to help fight infections that the patient's body cannot combat by itself.

Although CML is not usually cured, many patients can live a long time with their illness. In addition, experimental treatments such as bone marrow transplantation are being studied in an effort to improve survival in CML patients.

Even when the disease becomes more advanced, much can be done to support the CML patient. For more information on CML, contact the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER or write McDowell Cancer Network, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. 40536. The Cancer Information Service is a program of the Kentucky Cancer Information Service.

CCC Vets Reunion Slated Oct. 22-25

The annual National Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) Veterans Reunion will be held at the Qualla Civic Center, Cherokee, Thursday through Sunday, October 22 through 25.

The CCC was established by legislation in 1933 and died out in 1942 when there was no longer a need for this Reforestation and Relief Act.

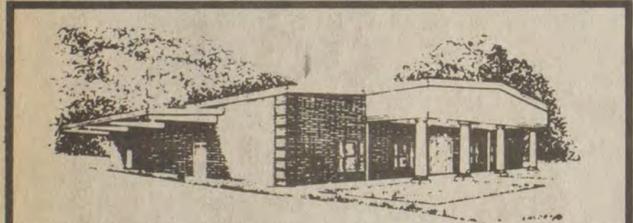

The much smaller Job Corps is now serving these needs. On Thursday and Friday, the CCC Vets plan to visit two Job Corps camps—one in Cherokee and one in Franklin, N.C., where the Job Corps is using the old CCC Camp which was made of stone.

The old CCC "boys" will attend the World Clog Dance Championships® and the Miss Country America Pageant on Saturday, October 24, at the Civic Center.

Further information may be received by calling Dennis Abe at the Ocona Valley Motel—(704) 497-4618.

More Foster Parents Are Sought in County

Floyd county's four current foster parents and the local need for additional foster homes are being highlighted during the October observance of Foster Parent Month in Kentucky.

Gov. Martha Layne Collins proclaimed October as Foster Parent Month recently in ceremonies in Frankfort. The governor cited the unselfish devotion of the state's 1,600 foster families in acknowledging the importance of foster parents to the Commonwealth and to its children.

Pat Collins, Recruitment and Certification worker in the local office of the Kentucky Department for Social Services, said the month long recognition for the four foster families in Floyd county is noteworthy due to their efforts on behalf of children who can not remain in their own homes.

"Our foster parents are asked to give a lot—opening their homes to different children on a temporary basis, demonstrating the kind of strong family relationship vital in any home, and all the time preparing those children for their eventual return to their natural home," said Collins.

"Foster parenting is a commitment for far more than a single day or a month, but it's nice that the state, and I hope our own community, can take time to think about what these people give, and say 'Thanks,'" she said.

Collins and other Social Services foster care recruitment staff across Kentucky are currently involved in a year-long campaign to increase the number of foster homes to care for the state's growing number of children in need of a temporary home away from home. Floyd countians interested in more information about becoming foster parents may contact Collins at 886-8192 or call toll-free anytime at 1-800-232-5437.

Hindman School Wins Governor's Art Award

Gov. Martha Layne Collins and the Kentucky Department of the Arts this week announced winners of 1987 Governor's Awards in the Arts.

Hindman Settlement School and its director Mike Mullins received the Arts Education Award for their contribution to the arts in Knott County and in eastern Kentucky. Mullins grew up in the mountains and has devoted his life to making things better for the upcoming generation of mountain people through the Hindman Settlement School, a center that provides many services to people of Knott County. Mullins has felt from the outset that arts are as important to the health and welfare of a small rural community as they are to larger, metropolitan areas.

The awards are to be presented by Gov. Collins at ceremonies in the Governor's Mansion in mid-November.

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Creating a Smoke-Free Generation

The high school graduating class of 2000 is the target of a national campaign to end smoking among young Americans. In an effort to accomplish this goal, three national non-profit health organizations, the American Heart Association, American Cancer Society and American Lung Association have formed a coalition to achieve a "Tobacco-Free Young America."

The initial phase of the project is "Smoke-Free 2000," a program geared toward graduates of the year 2000. Currently pre-schoolers, these children will enter the first grade in the fall of 1988. Local tri-agency coalitions throughout the country will begin programs designed for this group of children. For the next 12 years, these children will symbolize the "first tobacco-free class." The children will be informed about the social stigmas and health risks associated with smoking and given encouragement not to start smoking.

"Smoke-Free 2000" focuses on children young enough to be influenced positively by the effort. More than half of high school seniors who currently smoke started smoking during ninth grade or earlier. About 75 percent of adult smokers get hooked during adolescence.

The tobacco industry targets advertising at young Americans, presenting smoking as a desirable and socially appealing activity. The tri-agency project emphasizes the elimination of these messages through bans or restrictions on tobacco advertising and promotion, including the distribution of free tobacco samples.

Another goal of the "Tobacco-Free Young America Project" is to affect legislation to regulate limitations on smoking in public places. Restriction of smoking in schools is a priority. Speaking in support of a "Tobacco-Free Young America," Surgeon General C. Everett Koop commented, "We want to help young America become 'tobacco free' by the year 2000. And what's the significance of that goal? If we achieve it, that means... we will have rescued the young people of America from the preventable burden of smoking-related illness and death."

The goal of "Smoke-Free 2000," to prepare young people to make the correct decision regarding smoking, will require much hard work by educators and volunteers. The American Heart Association believes this goal can be achieved.

Color FALL Kentucky Report

DATA FROM 40 REPORTING STATIONS

The time has arrived for fall leaf watchers to get out and enjoy the vivid forest colors. Many observers expect peak foliage conditions between October 17 and October 23, as a wide area of the state already is displaying more than 50 percent fall coloration. The following is a regional summary of current leaf conditions based on reports from 40 observers:

EASTERN KENTUCKY—A wide area of the region has about 60 percent fall leaf coloration. Around Breaks Interstate Park, golden hickories and lemon-colored birches are brightening the hillsides. The southeastern portion of the region from Hazard to Pine Mountain has about 30 percent coloration.

NORTH CENTRAL KENTUCKY—Most of the region has about 30 percent coloration. However, more widespread color can be seen at the Buckley Wildlife Sanctuary in Woodford County, Natural Bridge State Resort Park in Powell County, and around Elizabethtown.

SOUTH CENTRAL KENTUCKY—Fall coloration ranges from about 20 percent to nearly 80 percent in the region, with near peak conditions seen around Munfordsville. The Glasgow observer reports that about 60 percent of hardwood trees have taken on their autumn hues from trees such as sugar maples, which turn vivid yellow, red or orange.

WESTERN KENTUCKY—Autumn leaf color ranges from 30 to 60 percent, with the most color seen around the Lakes Region. At Kenlake State Resort Park, leaf color is reported to be very good this year, from species such as the crimson dogwoods, scarlet sweetgums and yellow catalpas.

Transylvania Plans New Faculty Program

Officials at Transylvania University recently revealed plans for a $5 million faculty program.

Founded in 1780, Transylvania was the first college west of the Alleghenies and is Kentucky's oldest. Enrollment is approximately 1000 students.

The "Bingham Awards for Teaching Excellence" are funded by a $3 million gift from the Mary and Barry Bingham Fund issued through the Louisville Community Foundation and $2 million from other sources.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Bingham, Sr., and their family are former owners of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times.

"Our gift will help create a unique program for faculty enhancement and development at Transylvania University that may be emulated by colleges and universities across the state and the nation," Mr. Bingham said.

Bingham Awards will take the form of supplements of up to 50 percent over a Transylvania salary. The initial grant will be for three years and may be renewed for three year intervals. The awards are available for college professors from across the nation as well as for current Transylvania faculty members.

"The Bingham program will enable Transylvania to add to its fine faculty other outstanding professors and reward those top professors presently on the faculty," according to William T. Young, chairman of Transylvania's Board of Curators.

The Thomas Jefferson Scholars Program annually awards 25 complete scholarships to talented high school seniors on the basis of merit.

WKU Conference Scheduled To 'Bridge The Gender Gap'

In hopes of laying a foundation for a women's studies program, a Western Kentucky University committee will host the first Women's Studies Conference on campus this month.

"Bridging the Gender Gap" will be a three-day program Wednesday, Oct. 28, through Friday, Oct. 30, and organizers have planned a full schedule of programs from paper presentations to panels, film showings and noted speakers.

Expert scholars and community leaders will address gender issues which concern "all segments of society, from students, faculty and staff, to persons in business and the community-at-large," says Doreen Geddes, conference publicity chair.

Topics will also cover gender issues in education, in contemporary family and social relationships, expressions of gender in history, literature and art, and concerns in health and psychology.

"Instead of simply representing one particular discipline, we are offering subjects that hopefully will bring us a broader base of support," says Dr. Carol Crowe-Carraco, professor of history at WKU, and a conference organizer.

Featured speakers will include Bernice Resnick Sandler, director of the Project on the Status and Education of Women of the Association of American Colleges, Jo-Ann Huff Albers, head of WKU's journalism department, and Necia Desiree Harkless, a member of the Prichard Committee for Academic Excellence.

Western Board of Regents members Patsy Judd, of Burkesville, and Hughlyne Wilson, of Louisville, and Bowling Green City Commissioner Patsy Sloan will participate in the program, also.

Papers were submitted from all across the country for presentation at the conference, according to Dr. Crowe-

Carraco, chair of the Women's Studies Committee which secured funds for the conference from the Kentucky Foundation for Women Inc. and the Office of the Dean of the Potter College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences.

Anyone interested in attending the conference is invited to register upon arrival at the Downing University Center Information desk.

Further information about the conference or individual sessions may be obtained from any of the following Women's Studies Conference committee members: Lou-Ann Crouther, 502-745-5713, Carol Crowe-Carraco, 502-745-5728, Doreen S. Geddes, 502-745-5291, Catherine Coogan Ward, 502-745-5767, Michael Ann Williams, 502-745-5898.

Ginseng Digger Wins Prize

Frank Hamilton, (shown on left above), of Teaberry, was one of several herb diggers who won prizes at the first annual ginseng conference and open house held September 18 at the Wilcox Drug Company warehouse in Pikeville. Hamilton received a $130 check from manager Clarence G. Hayes, on right. Next to Pike, Floyd county is the second largest plant producer in the state.

Everybody's Science...

Letting Produce "Breathe" to Stay Fresh

By MARCIA WOOD
Fruits and vegetables can stay fresh two or to three times longer if they're wrapped immediately after harvest in plastic films that let them "breathe." "Sometimes produce is wrapped in the back room of the supermarket to make it more attractive or easier to handle. But that's not what we're talking about," says agricultural marketing specialist Roger E. Rij of USDA's Agricultural Research Service in Fresno, Calif. "We mean shrink-wrapping fresh fruits and vegetables in the packing shed before they're shipped."

Rij has tested a variety of wraps on a wide number of commodities, building on the successes of ARS and Israeli researchers, who in the 1970's used plastic film to preserve freshness and storage life of newly harvested citrus.

Commercial films have been around for a while, but they haven't been commonly used on freshly harvested U.S. produce except some citrus and thin-skinned, hothouse-grown cucumbers.

The films look much like the clear plastic used in some stores and homes to wrap produce, but that's where the similarity ends. The commercial films that Rij tested are more permeable, allowing the wrapped produce to "inhale" needed oxygen and "exhale" excess carbon dioxide or ethylene.

"Produce must have a certain amount of oxygen or it will decompose faster than normal," says Rij. "It has to get rid of excess carbon dioxide. And the ethylene that certain fresh fruits and vegetables give off is a natural component that would otherwise cause overripening."

According to Rij, the bottom line is that produce wrapped immediately after harvest should stay fresh longer and taste better. For growers, development of new, faster equipment for automatic wrapping could mean new markets for perishable foods.

Rij has tested several fruits and vegetables and found that shrink wrapping at harvest can prolong the life of broccoli, cantaloupes, tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers and eggplant. (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture).

Chairman and Commissioners
Wheelwright Utility Commission
Wheelwright, KY 41669

We have examined the balance sheet of the Wheelwright Utility Commission as of June 30, 1986, and the related statements of revenues, expenses, and changes in retained earnings, and changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and, accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

There is a material inaccuracy within the financial statements due to questionable costs and related party transactions. These transactions are described further in the Schedule of Questionable Costs and Findings. There is no budget for the utility commission. A governmental agency is required to prepare and adhere to a budget.

In our opinion except for the effects of questioned costs and related party transactions on the financial statement, and except for the omission of a budget, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the Wheelwright Utility Commission as of June 30, 1986, and the results of its operations and the changes in its financial position for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles.

NOTE A - SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Wheelwright Utility Commission operates a municipal gas, water, and sewage system serving approximately 280 natural gas customers and 300 water and sewage customers. The utility purchases gas from Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company to supplement the city-owned gas wells.

The accounting policies of the Wheelwright Utility Commission conform to generally accepted accounting principles except for not including a budget. Financial statements are prepared on the accrual method.

Fixed Assets

Fixed assets are recorded at cost or estimated cost. Depreciation is based on a straight line method over the estimated useful lives of the individual assets.

Restricted Assets

This cash account consists of an escrow account which represents 5% of gas receipts deposited on a monthly basis and is maintained for the purpose of providing cash for emergency repairs and replacement of equipment. The gas system must petition for and gain written approval from the Gas System Restoration Project Review Board to use any of these funds.

NOTE B - FIXED ASSETS

A summary of changes in the fixed assets of the Wheelwright Utility Commission consists of the following:

On March 7, 1986, they were in arrears in the amount of $33,852. On June 30, 1986, the Wheelwright Utility Commission owed the Kentucky - West Virginia Gas Company $28,305, plus interest of $5,478. The aforementioned indebtedness is for past due gas purchases as far back as March, 1984.

NOTE D - NOTES PAYABLE

The Wheelwright Utility Commission received a $276,034 long-term loan from the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Department of Community and Regional Development, to rebuild the gas system.

The loan is repayable over a thirty (30) year period which began December 1, 1981, and bears interest at the rate of five and one-eighth (5.125) percent. The loan is secured by a mortgage on the gas system and is to be repaid by the revenues of the gas system. Monthly payment are made based on the cash flow of the gas system, but the total payment must equal $18,213 annually. The total balance owed at June 30, 1986 is $254,540.

A prior period adjustment was made to adjust the principal balance of the note on the gas system to bring it into agreement with the state government due to an error in the revision of the original note in 1981. At the time the note was revised, too much principal was credited to the Utility Commission's account.

Beginning balance per June 30, 1985, audited financial statements	$258,851
Principal reduction	(4,915)
Prior period adjustment	604
Balance Per Department of Local Government	$254,540

The Wheelwright Utility Commission purchased a copier during 1985 by entering into an installment purchase agreement with Minnesco Division/3M. The agreement requires quarterly payments of $381.19 or $1,524.76 annually for a period of three (3) years. The balance owed at June 30, 1986 is reflected in the financial statements as notes payable of $2,697.13.

In January, 1984, the Wheelwright Utility Commission agreed to pay the city of Wheelwright for half of the renovations to the Wheelwright City Hall as the utility commission was sharing space in the City Hall at that time. The original, non-interest bearing loan was $3,431. $1,000 was paid in 1984. The prior utility commission did not acknowledge the indebtedness, and it was not recorded on the prior years' books. Therefore, an adjustment was made to retained earnings to reinstate the loan. The balance on this loan as of June 30, 1986 is $2,431.

Wheelwright Utility Commission
Wheelwright, KY 41669

We have examined the financial statements of the Wheelwright Utility Commission, for the year ended June 30, 1986, and have issued our report thereon dated August 14, 1987. As part of our examination, we made a study and evaluation of the system of internal accounting control of The Wheelwright Utility Commission, to the extent we considered necessary to evaluate the system as required by generally accepted auditing standards and the standards for financial and compliance audits contained in the U.S. General Accounting Office Standards for Audit of Governmental Organizations, Programs, Activities, and Functions. For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal accounting controls in the following categories:

- Revenue/receipts
- Purchases/disbursements
- Receivables
- Inventory
- Property and equipment
- Payables and accrued liabilities
- Debt
- Fund balance
- Billings

Our study included all of the control categories listed above. The purpose of our study and evaluation was to determine the nature, timing, and extent of the auditing procedures necessary for expressing an opinion on the entity's financial statements. Our study and evaluation was more limited than would be necessary to express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control taken as a whole or on any of the categories of controls identified above.

The management of the Wheelwright Utility Commission is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of control procedures. The objectives of a system are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of inherent limitations in any system of internal accounting control, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the system to future periods is subject to risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

Our study and evaluation made for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph would not necessarily disclose all material weaknesses in the system. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control of The Wheelwright Utility Commission, taken as a whole, or on any of the categories of controls identified in the first paragraph. However, our study and evaluation disclosed the following conditions that we believe result in more than a relatively low risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements of the Wheelwright Utility Commission may occur and not be detected within a timely period.

These conditions included the following:

1. No financial management manual existed.
2. Only one authorized signature was required on the escrow account.
3. Blank checks were signed in advance.
4. Petty cash was not properly accounted for.
5. Controls over related party transactions were weak.
6. No reconciliation of accounts receivable was kept.
7. No inventory costs of parts and supplies existed.
8. Assets were not marked or tagged to identify them as property of the Wheelwright Utility Commission and, during part of the audit period, were not properly safeguarded.
9. No general ledger was kept.
10. No budget was prepared or followed.

These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing, and extent of the audit tests to be applied in our examination of the 1985-86 financial statements dated August 14, 1987.

This report is intended solely for the use of management and should not be used for any other purpose. This restriction is not intended to limit the distribution of this report which, upon acceptance by the Wheelwright Utility Commission, is a matter of public record.

INDEPENDENT CONTRACTOR

On January 30, 1984, the Wheelwright Utility Commission met with City Commissioners. Don Daniels stated in the minutes that "the $19/hr. that Jackie Bartley (James E. Bartley) gets paid, includes everything he uses on the system, the backhoe work, work in the mines, etc."

On May 15, 1984, per the Wheelwright Utility Commission minutes, "It was moved and seconded that Jackie Bartley be paid for May 7, 1984. The day of the flood." Mr. Bartley charged the commission $30 per hour rather than the above stated $19 per hour. On March 3, 1986, the Wheelwright Utility Commission again approved invoices for flood work for Jack E. Bartley at $30 per hour. Due to the already cited evidence of payment for flood work and the length of time which had expired, we feel the following costs should be questioned costs.

FINDINGS

UNEMPLOYMENT REPORT FOR LIBRARIAN

The unemployment reports were amended to pick up Anne T. Hunt, the librarian, in the third and fourth quarters of 1985. Because Ms. Hunt was not an utility employee, these reports should not have been amended. The additional costs were taken as a credit in a later unemployment report so they are not questioned costs.

MISSING RECORDS

All gas meter books prior to November 1985 are missing. Cash receipt books from July 11, 1985 through September 3, 1985, and from February 3, 1986, through March 4, 1986, are missing. All cash receipts books prior to June 7, 1985, are missing. Cash receipts and disbursement journals prior to July 1, 1985, are not in the possession of the Wheelwright Utility Commission. Cancelled checks prior to June, 1985, are also missing. Because of the absence of the above mentioned records, the business manager was unable to determine the total amount of missing supplies and equipment and total cash receipts from the receipt books. In order to obtain the amount of operating revenue for financial statement purposes, alternative means were used, which included company meter books, customer billing cards, bank deposits, and existing receipt books.

CITY OF WHEELWRIGHT COMMISSION

Although our audit is for the fiscal year 1985/1986, and because we found questionable costs and related party transactions, we feel it is important to recognize that as early as November, 1984, the commissioners of the City of Wheelwright were questioning the cost and related party transactions of the Wheelwright Utility Commission.

On November 11, 1984, the city of Wheelwright voted to write the chairman a letter informing then chairman Don Daniels that he had been relieved of his position and duties as chairman of the Wheelwright Utility Commission. The reasons given in the Wheelwright City Commission minutes are:

- (1) The uncooperative attitude of the Wheelwright Utility Commission.
- (2) Their (Wheelwright Utility Commission) refusal to pay their debt to the city.
- (3) Continuing to conduct business illegally. (Commissioners serving illegally).
- (4) Refusal to furnish City Commissioners with break-downs of their financial statements.
- (5) Wheelwright Utility Commission spent $60,000 on contract labor, and $58,000 in professional fees during the past fiscal year, and that the city had no way of knowing to whom this money went, nor for what services, since the overall figures were all they were able to obtain.
- (6) Don Daniels did not reply to letters from the city attorney or Mayor Ferguson.

As per the Wheelwright City Commission minutes dated February 12, 1985, the City of Wheelwright also tried to dismiss Alfred Rhea as Wheelwright Utility Commissioner. In discussing the dismissal of Don Daniels and Alfred Rhea, "Mayor Ferguson pointed out that neither of these persons had been off the City Comm. (commission) and therefore have been ineligible from the outset." Mayor Ferguson was referring to City Ordinance 1979-001. Mr. Dan Caudill, attorney, stated the City Commissioners needed an ordinance or Kentucky statute as a basis for these dismissals.

On March 7, 1986, Don Daniels and the entire Wheelwright Utility Commission resigned. Joyce Johnson was laid off subject to recall by the new commission. Mrs. Johnson was recalled by the new commission, but she refused to accept the recall.

RELATED LAWSUIT

Danny Caudill was the Wheelwright Utility Commission's attorney for the majority of the 1985-1986 audit year. During 1985-1986, Mr. Caudill represented the Wheelwright Utility Commission against the City of Wheelwright. According to the then city attorney, Ronnie Slone, Mr. Caudill appeared at all motions and depositions to prevent the city from removing Don Daniels and Alfred Rhea from the Wheelwright Utility Commission.

Mr. Caudill also represented James E. Bartley in a lawsuit filed in 1984 against the City of Wheelwright. Mr. Bartley wanted the city to pay him for damages to his backhoe during the 1984 flood. Per the Wheelwright Utility Commission's minutes, it was moved and seconded on May 15, 1984; and, again on March 3, 1986, that Mr. Bartley be paid for said damage. On June 2, 1987, Judge Hollie Conley dismissed Bartley's suit for "failure to prosecute".

Schedule of Questionable Costs and Findings

A letter was sent by the Wheelwright Utility Commission to Danny Caudill on July 28, 1987, concerning litigation, claims, and assessments having to do with the Wheelwright Utility Commission. Mr. Caudill did not respond to the letter of July 28, 1987.

VIOLATIONS OF LAW

Violation of sewage and water law

The Wheelwright Utility Commission was under administrative order dated February 17, 1984, relating to violation of sewage and water. This order was superseded by another administrative order dated October 29, 1984. The Wheelwright Utility Commission was given three months to submit a definitive plan to bring the facility into compliance by July 1, 1988, and to comply with effluent limitations and monitoring schedule. The required Municipal Compliance Plan was not submitted until April 2, 1985.

An evaluation, August 30, 1985, found the commission in violation of the administrative order and the commission was given 15 days to correct the violation. A public notice was required to be printed, but was not. The reason given was that the Field Superintendent, James E. Bartley, an independent contractor, did not believe there was a violation.

The report stated that the Wheelwright Utility Commission underwent a performance audit inspection in October, 1985. The monitoring program was deficient in all primary areas resulting in questionable reliability of data; there was no flow monitoring system; samplings were deficient; and records and reports were inadequate.

The commission received a notice on April 1, 1986, of a violation related to public drinking water supply systems. The Wheelwright Utility Commission was inspected in July, 1986, and the conditions were the same as the October, 1985, inspection. In addition, previous records were missing, records for the water and wastewater department were misplaced, and equipment had been sabotaged and destroyed. All evaluated areas were unsatisfactory except the permit and the lab. As of June 30, 1986, and as of August 14, 1987, the date of the conclusion of the audit of the financial statements for the year June 30, 1986, the Wheelwright Utility Commission was still under administrative order as far as sewage was concerned, although many improvements had been made to the system.

Violation of budget law

There was no budget prepared for the year and adhered to as required by Kentucky Statute KRS 91A.030. The budget should be periodically compared with actual revenues and expenditures.

Violation of law on energy assistance checks

Some customers received energy assistance checks from the Cabinet for Human Resources, Department for Social Insurance to be applied to gas bills only. The checks were applied to water and sewage bills also. Because of missing cash receipt books, the total amount of the misapplication of the above mentioned monies cannot be determined.

RELATED PARTIES

Joyce Johnson, a utility commission employee, worked for the Wheelwright Utility Commission at the same time her husband, Delmas Johnson, was a city commissioner. This is in violation of city ordinance 1979-001.

Information has been given by Audrey Yates, the current business manager, that various checks have been issued to the following which apparently are related parties.

- (1) Bartley's Used Auto
- (2) Bartley's Coal
- (3) Breeding Trucking
- (4) James R. Bartley
- (5) Keith Bartley

MISSING UTILITY PROPERTY

As per the minutes of the Wheelwright Utility Commission meeting dated June 2, 1986, "Commissioner Parker voiced the opinion that the city should be taking some sort of legal action to recover the utility property that is presently in the possession of James E. Bartley and asked Donald Johnson, utility employee, about his conversation with Mrs. Bartley. Don replied that she had informed him the storage fee being charged by James E. Bartley was at least $3.00 per item, per day. This would amount to over $3000 to date." (June 2, 1986)

RECEIVING OF RECEIPTS WITHOUT AUTHORIZATION

As per the minutes of the Wheelwright Utility Commission dated April 2, 1984, Judy Hutton was hired to work only when Joyce Johnson was on sick leave or vacation. She was the designated person to take cash receipts in Mrs. Johnson's absence. However, Jackie Bartley signed 107 receipts for customers in the month of January. On February 3 he signed 13 receipts (only records of February), and on March 4, 5, and 6, he signed 32 receipts. It does not appear Mr. Bartley had authority to collect receipts from customers.

...Public Notice...

The Floyd County School District, Department of Special Education, has recently prepared an application for the use of federal funds for the education of handicapped children in the Floyd County School District. This application specifies that a free and appropriate public education will be provided to all handicapped children ages three through five who are residents of the Floyd County School District. P.L. 99-457 provides priorities for the expenditure of funds. First priority is given to those children who are not being given any educational services. P.L. 99-457 also requires that the school district plan for the implementation of identification, location, evaluation and appropriate educational placement of all pre-school handicapped children. Guaranteed procedural safeguards for handicapped children and their parents in decisions regarding educational programs and confidentiality of files of those children identified as being handicapped will continue to be instituted. This application will be on file in the Office of the Superintendent of Floyd County Schools for a period of two (2) weeks beginning October 23, 1987 and ending November 6, 1987. Any interested persons may review copies of the application and make comments concerning the application to Ogie M. Slone of the Floyd County School District. Consideration will be given to all comments prior to the submission of the final copy of the application to the Department of Education.
