State Vows $300,000 To Aid Floyd Senior Citizen Programs

Senior citizens programs in this county will receive a significant boost over the next two years in the form of $300,000 in state Department for Human Resources funding, it was learned this

Announcement of the funds came at Monday evening's meeting of the Big Sandy Area Development District although Harry J. Cowherd, M.D., state secretary for Human Resources related the good news, April 15, in a letter to Senator Benny Ray Bailey.

Cowherd said the additional appropriation is being made to assist in expanding the nutrition and supportive services and renovating the facilities for the senior citizens at Betsy Layne and Wayland.

One hundred thousand dollars has been earmarked for Betsy Layne and $50,000 for Wayland to be expended during each year of the next biennium.

"Since the need for congregate meal sites for senior citizens is fast outstripping the current resources in the area in terms of dollars, meals, and potential sites, it is expected that most of these funds will be included in the consolidated Program Administration Contract for Big Sandy Area Development District," Cowherd wrote

The new sites at Wayland and Betsy Layne will bring to five the number of senior citizen services centers in the county. Owners are located in Wheelwright, Martin and Prestonsburg.

The location of the Betsy Layne site was described by Cowherd as a "prime site" for a pilot intergenerational project involving adult day care and child care programs. According to this concept, the Betsy Layne site will serve as a model in which young children and older citizens will interact in a sort of "adopt a grandparent"-type project.

It was also announced at the ADD meet that plans are being made to initiate an Alzheimer's and related disorders respite care program which is designed to help family members of an Alzheimer's sufferer, for example, to be away from home with more convenience. According to the plan, patients would be transported to and from their homes to an adult day care center where they would be under professional staff

In other business, announcement was made that Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo has submitted the Wheelwright Renovation Project for consideration by the National Recognition Program for Urban Development Excellence. Judge Stumbo's application is among two submitted in the Big Sandy District, the other being the Pikeville cut-through project

It's what Ed Logsdon, assistant to the secretary of the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet called "refurbishing, restoration, resurfacing and rehabilitation" of the road surface, bridges, ditches and right-of-way for a distance of 11.38 miles. The work is being carried out by Mountain Enterprises, contractors, at a cost of $3.9 million and the projected completion date is November 15. Logsdon said the project was one of many which will be under way over the next few months in an effort to improve transportation in rural areas.

According to Sheriff's Deputy Anthony Castle, who is investigating the incident along with State Police Detective James Stephens, Hughes had been missing since the day before and was found by his father at 6:45 p.m. An ambulance transported Hughes to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin and he was later flown to Cabell-Huntington Hospital in West Virginia with a broken neck. On Monday he was in the intensive care unit

Fire Department Restructuring Talked At City Council Meet

By Monica J. Clark

In the wake of former Building Inspector Paul Chaffins' resignation after alleged improprieties, the Prestonsburg City Council Monday night acted to restructure the organization of the city's fire department.

Stumbo Is Charged In Drift Shooting

By Tim Sizemore

David Artrip, 20, of Langley was listed in satisfactory condition at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital this week following a shooting incident, early Tuesday morning at Drift.

Charged in the shooting is Jimmy Darryll Stumbo, 41, of Drift.

State Police said the incident apparently steemed from an argument which took place outside the home of Stumbo. Artrip was shot once in the chest with a handgun in the incident that occurred at about 12:10 a.m.

Stumbo was lodged in the Floyd county jail on a charge of first degree assault and the case is still under investigation by State Police Detective James Rederick and Trooper Greg Roberts.

Under the new policy, the department will be separated into two divisions, fire operations and code enforcement, with a fire major heading each section. Previously, Chaffins, as the only fire major, had supervised inspections but there was no operations division. The new policy provides for what Mayor Latta called a "clear-cut chain-of-command on who does fire fighting when the fire

Larry Adams has been promoted to fire major and will oversee building inspections and Paul Burke, also promoted to fire major, will head firefighting operations. The number of fire captains has been decreased from two to one. Mike Wells will assume that County Electrical Inspector Joe Kendrick has been appointed to carry out the city's electrical inspections.

Last week The Times reported that Chaffins had resigned on April 15 after the city began investigating the handling of building inspection monies. The mayor expressed at that time that collection methods needed improvement. Stricter measures requiring permit payments to be collected by clerks at the municipal building, rather than by inspectors, have been implemented since then, according to Latta.

In a related issue, the council also passed a resolution prohibiting salaried city employees from receiving a percentage of fees collected on the job. Mayor Latta said employees would now receive either a salary or a fee percentage but not both, as Chaffins did.

A state-funded fire training tower will be constructed at the Prestonsburg Jbb Corps Center if negotiations succeed. City officials are discussing an agreement with Job Corps to allow the city to lease property on which the tower would be built at the rate of $1 per year. In turn, Job Corp would incorporate a fire-fighting training school into their vocational curriculum.

Mayor Latta offered a reminder that the month of May has been designated 'Official Beautification and Clean-Up Month." As incentive for residents to clean-up their properties, the city will provide free trash pick-up during the en-

Also "Polio Plus Family Day" will take place Saturday, April 30 at Archer Park from 9:45 a.m. until 6 p.m. Proceeds from the event will help fight childhood diseases. In other action, the council: -Accepted a $22,000 bid submitted by Ousley Concrete Construction Inc. to repair the swimming pools at Archer

-Agreed to deposit state grant money for a new fire truck to allow interest to accumulate until the $88,000 truck is received. The $25,000 grant and accrued interest will be put towards the initial truck payment

Kimberly Receives Jail Term In Drug Trafficking Case

By Joe Porter

A Floyd county jury last week found Donald R. Kimberly guilty of trafficking in marijuana and sentenced him to two-and-half years in prison.

Kimberly, 35, of Langley, had been arrested July 4, 1987, following a drug bust at his trailer home by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department and state police. Along with almost two pounds of marijuana, police found thousands of dollars in cash, drug scales and paraphernalia, and five automatic weapons.

Prior to the trial on April 14, Kimberly's defense attorney, Stephen W Owens, of Pikeville, filed a motion for a change of venue, contending the defendant could not get a fair trial because of a Floyd County Times newspaper article about the drug bust and other publicity. In turn, Commonwealth Aftorney Jerry Patton, filed a response, and Owen's motion was ruled against.

Law Suit Alleges R.E.C.C. Resorted to Scare Tactics

By Joe Porter

Does a power company have the right to deny services to a person whose relative hasn't paid their bill? That issue may have to be decided in Floyd Circuit Court, since a law suit has been filed against the Big Sandy Electric Cooperative Corporation.

In a court affidavit, Ruby Reffett, of Pyramid, stated that she was denied electrical service March 30, 1988 because her ex-son-in-law, Olin Gene Amburgey, had an outstanding bill. When Mrs. Reffett called the Paintsville office her affidavit states, "I was told that if I was given service I could not allow my daughter Donna Amburgey to stay as an overnight guest in the home. She told me that Big Sandy R.E.C.C.'s attorney would have somebody watching me and if they discovered my daughter staying even one night in my home, the electrical service would be terminated and the matter would be turned over to a lawyer

Following this, Mrs. Reffett hired attorney John W. Mann to represent her. Mann sent a letter of complaint to the Public Service Commission, but on April 8, Mrs. Reffett was again denied service. On April 15 Mann filed the suit along with a Motion For Temporary Restraining Order to compel Big Sandy R.E.C.C. to hook up Reffett's service. On April 21 the service was connected.

The issue is over service to Mrs. Reffett's second home. The complaint stated that her account was paid, and that the power company's action was "an illegal attempt to collect for the account of another." It further states that, "the actions of the defendant, by and through its agent, were done willfully and knowingly, or with reckless disregard for the legality of its actions, entitling the plaintiff to punitive damages in excess of two thousand, five

Mann said that Big Sandy R.E.C.C. acted in a way that was meant to frighten Mrs. Reffett and it is standard practice for power companies to use this tactic, "but legally it won't fly." In a similar case, the Public Service Commission ordered Big Sandy R.E.C.C. to provide electric service to James Hazelett, of Prestonsburg, and ordered that it may not deny him service due to the delinquency of his son-in-law. That was decided April 18, 1988.

Albert A. Burchett, who represents Big Sandy RECC, said that there is a section of the law that allows a person to be denied service when a delinquent customer receives benefit of that service. "My client is a cooperative and Reffett is a part of the cooperative," Burchett said. "We hope to settle this dispute in a friendly way. I think we can work this out to Mrs. Reffett's satisfaction as well as to the cooperative's satisfaction.

Mann also said he believed a settlement could be reached, but only to the effect that Mrs. Reffett's losses are covered, including her legal bill.

By Monica J. Clark

"Last October she couldn't read a word, and when she came back from a trip not too long ago, she was able to read the sign I had made for her that said, 'Welcome Back', and it just thrilled me to death," said Beatrice Potter of the rewards of helping someone learn to read. Potter was one of the tutors, students and other volunteers honored last Wednesday at a luncheon given by the Floyd County Literacy Council at St. Martha's Catholic Church.

Attended by members of the Floyd County Literacy Council, County Judge Executive John M. Stumbo and Mayor Ann Latta, literacy, GED students and volunteers were recognized for their efforts and achievements on National Volunteer Day.

The literacy council sponsors a program for those who can't read and an adult basic education program as well. Almost 200 people have participated in one or both the programs since they were first offered two years ago.

Although statistics show that 50 percent of Floyd countians have high school degrees, Marcie Menster, county literacy coordinator, said the mountains of Kentucky were leading the nation in the number of adults receiving General Educational Development diplomas.

State Parks Budget To Help Jenny Wiley

The 1988-1990 Kentucky executive budget passed by the Kentucky General Assembly and approved by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson provides for a wide range of construction and renovation projects in the Kentucky State Parks.

Approximately $3.2 million of the capital construction budget was allocated for each of the next two fiscal years for major maintenance projects in state parks. This allocation will enable the Kentucky State Park System to maintain services at the current level and to initiate projects such as renovations, expansion of existing park facilities and road improvements and

Another large portion of the capital construction budget will go toward the construction of meeting rooms at Jenny Wiley, Pine Mountain and Rough River, and Greenbo State Resort Parks, and at Blue Licks State Park.

Existing meeting facilities at parks throughout the state have proven to be a boon to the economy of surrounding counties. Meeting rooms at state parks may be reserved for events such as conventions, business and civic club meetings, wedding receptions and family reunions.

Plans are underway and monies provided for what will be the 45th Kentucky state park near Yatesville. The Army Corps of Engineers has scheduled the impoundment of a lake at Yatesville in the spring of 1990. The project was authorized for flood control, water quality control, general recreation and fish and wildlife recreation.

The lake will be entirely in Lawrence county on Blaine Creek, a tributary of the Big Sandy River. The Kentucky Department of Parks and the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will cooperate on a project at Yatesville which includes roads, parking, utilities and a boat ramp at Barker's Run.

Other construction projects at Eastern Kentucky parks include work at Kingdom Come State Park and Natural Bridge State Resort Park.

Highlights of the Kingdom Come project are the construction of a combination crafts building and information center and a 9-hole miniature golf course. The expansion at Natural Bridge State Resort Park will feature dining in a solarium atmosphere. The new dining room addition will extend over the hillside and offer a view of the lake and surrounding forest area.

Turner To Teach EKG Basic Interpretation

Registered Nurse Billie Turner, of Garrett, will teach a two-day workshop for nurses titled "Basic EKG Interpretation" at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Monday, May 23, and Tuesday, May 24, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Participants must attend both sessions to earn 11 contact hours approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing.

Turner has 12 years of experience in various nursing fields, including cardiac care. She has taught several basic coronary care courses and is day shift nursing supervisor for Our Lady of the Way Hospital.

Turner's course will focus on basic arrhythmia interpretation and nursing interventions. Her format includes lecture, discussion and supervised practice sessions in interpreting EKG strips. Her sessions are designed to enable participants to explain the basic cardiac anatomy and physiology, recognize EKG wave patterns, acquire skills needed for EKG interpretation and discuss appropriate treatments.

Interested nurses should register by May 17 to avoid a late registration fee. For more information and pre-registration, call Naewana Nickles at 285-3909.

HELLO, SPRING

By Wilmay
My lawn is a sight to behold. The weeping cherry is like a pink cloud forty feet into your blue sky. April, 1987, provided snapshots of its blossoms competing with feathery snow. Another early bird is the pink saucer magnolia, whose companion nigra comes in soft purple, not a leaf on either till after frost changes their colorful frocks to brown.

The majestic magnolia grandifloraflower of my native state-steals the show in June; its cup-shaped buds and huge ivory blossoms are fragrant, blough less so than the magnolia fiscaticus. (Kindly spell that one, Madam Editor.) My mother had one, and a sister has a specimen of it, now, but it is not in any catalog we get. The lovely white star magnolias across the front of May Lodge in Jenny Wiley State Park often bloom simultaneously with snow-falls in January.

The double rose clusters of two Kwanzan cherries here take the prize now. This cherry is the favorite of favorites with thousands. Crabs come next. Cerise double Barbara was the fullest this year. perhaps because it was banked with fruit and vegetable peels all winter. My get, Van Esseltine crab, is always stunning, burgundy red buds, changing to pink blossoms that resemble snow balls, gradually fading to white. The weeper crab has single flowers, which never compare with doubles. Chief attraction of the radiant crab is its dark leaves. The flowering Bradford pear (no fruit) was in full bloom April 05, 1987, its clusters resembling snow-laden basketballs, so weighed down that limbs broke.

Next come the fascinating dogwoods. white, pink and red. There is a different red with a white star in its center, but we gave that one to a neighbor. The largest white dogwood tree on the yard obediently blossoms just as a pink wisteria vine smothering it displays its draping panicles. Nearby stands a sixty-Woot high tree (someone else must identify), with a resplendent white wisteria outlining its slender branches. A threein-one dogwood beside the driveway entrance, all pink, white, and red in one was due to have been a grafted kind, but the S.D. firm shipping It years ago may have run out of those, so this is tree, each separate, now ablaze just the same.

This collection includes several apple trees in spring regalia; one sugar maple wearing her orange gown; a sunburst locust whose chartreuse foliage captures the eye the moment Kentucky cardinals alight thereon, not to mention its striking contrast to a crimson maple close to same. The climax, though not a tree, is great masses of creeping phlox. This writer adores the most popular poem by Joyce Kilmer, renowned poet, journalist, and much decorated soldier from the Tennessee hills. Kilmer lost his life in WWI. That poem follows, its title being TREES.

I think I shall never see a poem as lovely as a tree,/ whose hungry mouth is prest against the Earth's sweet flowering breast./ A tree that looks at God all day and lifts her leafy arms to pray./ A tree that may in summer wear,/ A nest of robins in her hair,/ Upon whose bosom show has lain,/ Who intimately lives with rain,/ Poems are made by fools like me,/ But only God can make a tree. Alas, in a few days this free beauty will be gone, its magnificient colors from God, an artist whom no earthly one can duplicate in any form or fashion, for after all, only He can make a tree! May we all love, protect and replace them as time passes.

To Vote On Referendum

All Floyd County Beef Producers are urged to express their choice for or against a Beef Referendum in a special election scheduled for May 10, according to Gene Ball, Floyd County Extension Agent

Any Floyd countian, regardless of age, who owned at least one head of beef livestock between October 1, 1986 and March 31 this year is eligible to vote.

The election will be conducted in Extension Room 105, Floyd County Annex Building from 8 a.m.-4 p.m., May 10. Voters who find scheduling conflicts preventing their participation may contact the Extension Office by visit or phone 886-2668 and request an absentee ballot. Absentee ballots will be available until April 29 and must be returned to the County Extension Office in their resident county by May 3.

If the referendum, which has been authorized by the Beef Promotion and Research Act of 1985 passes, it authorizes a one dollar per head charge to be collected by stock sales establishments. Monies collected in this manner will be used to promote sales of beef products and to do research.

grams' tutors, says there are currently 42 students in the reading program who are taught on an individual basis, and over 80 students in the GED program.

Established nearly two years ago by a group of concerned citizens who first met in the Floyd County Library, the literacy council was created to discuss and implement ways to increase the county's reading population. An initial grant of $9,000 was donated by the Kentucky Literacy Commission formed in 1985 by Governor Martha Layne Collins and the Kentucky General Assembly.

"Volunteer time is the key to this," said Michael Vance, vice-chairperson of the literacy council, "because there's never going to be enough money to purchase the things we need."

Attorney Brent Irvin, also a member of the literacy council, stated that with more and more automation in the coal industry, the companies will only hire people who can be trained. "In the past they just wanted a strong back, but those days are gone," Irvin stated.

Also, because coal jobs are becoming more scarce, Irvin stressed that Eastern Kentuckians would have to look to other sources of employment, which would make education mandatory instead of optional.

"Unemployment and illiteracy go hand in hand," Marcie Menster commented, "and if Kentucky wants to progress, education must be a priority." --- 2 ---

Johnson Killed In Cycle Crash

By Janice Shepherd

A motorcycle crash, Saturday night near Burton on Left Beaver Creek, has claimed the life of 32-year-old Leroy Johnson, of Wheelwright.

According to a Kentucky State Police spokesperson, Johnson was travelling west on KY 306 when his motorcycle left the highway and crashed into a house. The mishap occurred at about 9:58 p.m.

Johnson was taken to the McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital and later transferred to Cabell-Huntington Hospital in Huntington, W. Va., where he died at about 6:15, Sunday morning.

A repairman for the Buchanan Coal Company, he was a son of Eli Hall, of Dry Creek and Merlin Johnson, of Wheelwright. He was born December 18, 1955 at Halo and was a member of the U.M.W.A. No. 5899 at Wheelwright.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Kathy Johnson; his maternal grandmother, Delphia Johnson, of Wheelwright; a son, Jason Lee Johnson; a daughter, Erica Brook Johnson; two brothers, Allen Ray and Michael Johnson, and a sister, Kathy Lynn Johnson, all of Wheelwright. He is also survived by his aunt, Betty Jane Isaac, of Wheelwright, who reared him.

Funeral services will be conducted today (Wednesday) at 11 a.m., at the Wheelwright Free Will Baptist Church with the Rev. Louis Ferrari officiating. Burial will be made in the Will Hall cemetery at Bevinsville under direction of the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

KFTC Gears Up for Campaign In Support of New Amendment

By Joe Porter

Gearing up its campaign to pass the Broad Form Deed Constitutional Amendment, to be on the ballot Nov. 8, Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, a statewide citizens organization, held a fund-raiser, Saturday, at the Floyd County Library here.

The event kicked off the KFTC's educational campaign in Floyd county to inform people of the abuses of the broad form deed and the importance of their vote to restrict it. The constitutional amendment would restore the provisions of the 1984 Broad Form Deed Law that the Kentucky Supreme Court struck down as unconstitutional last year. If passed, the amendment would allow landowners, whose minerals have been severed through a broad form mineral deed, to stop their land from being strip-mined without their permission and compensation for damages.

Kentuckians For The Commonwealth was started in 1982 in Martin county by Gladis Maynard, and, until this year, was called the Kentucky Fair Tax Coalition. It's a statewide organization that addresses many issues besides land ownership and mineral use: inequitable taxation, water quality, toxic wastes, education, and the lack of community services. It currently has 1,800 members, 99 of whom live in Floyd county.

According to John Burgess, Floyd county's KFTC chairman, the organization has set a goal of raising $167,000 statewide to pay for advertising to inform the public about the amendment's importance. Burgess said the goal in Floyd is $10,000.

While both houses in the General Assembly unanamiously passed the legislation to put the amendment on the ballot, and there is a base of support for it in eastern Kentucky, the organization's secretary-treasurer, Denise Giardina, said its passage by the electorate can not be taken for granted. To start with, Giardina said, many people don't know what a broad form deed is.

This deed was first used around the turn of the century to separate ownership of surface land from the minerals underneath. But disputes between landowners and mineral holders didn't arise until after strip-mining started in the 1950s. The mining companies claim their deeds give them the right to extract the coal or other minerals any way they want to, without legal obligation to compensate the owners for damages done to timber, crops, or water supplies.

In 1983, the KFTC began helping citizens in eastern Kentucky organize to restrict the abuse of the broad form deed. This effort resulted in the 1984 Broad Form Deed Law that returned control of the surface to the land owner. Yet then, it was overturned.

If the amendment is approved by the voters in November, the surface-land owners would once again be protected; it would also ensure that their rights would never again be taken away by the state's courts.

Other successes in the General Assembly this past session included Senate Bill 169, which requires local government approval for the construction of a hazardous waste incinerator; House Bill 722 establishes a Center for Hazardous Waste Reduction; and House Bill 547, which renews and extends the state "superfund" tax on hazardous waste generators and transporters.

On April 15 the Citizens group filed a suit to place a tax on unmined coal reserves, which would force state and local officials to assess property owned by coal companies at fair market value. To do otherwise denies equal protection under the Kentucky and U.S. Constitution, the KFTC contends.

KFTC will be holding events throughout the spring and summer to inform voters about the amendment, raise funds, and enlist new members. Voter registration booths will be set up Saturday, May 14 in Martin and Prestonsburg. On May 21 they will sponsor a picnic at Jenny Wiley State Park, which will be free and open to the public.

Those attending Saturday's event were shown the movie, "Matewan," and a video film made by Appalshop about the legal battles over and the abuses of the broad form deed. Thomas Martin, who owns a small farm on Turkey Creek, spoke about the disastrous effects of the broad form deed on his land. And Giardina sold and autographed copies of her novel, STORMING HEAVEN, the proceeds going into the KFTC fund.

CENTRAL KENTUCKY BLOOD CENTER

Outstanding EKU Alumnus

Floyd county native, F. Douglas Scutchfield, director of the Graduate School of Public Health at San Diego State University, has been named Eastern Kentucky University's "Outstanding Alumnus" for 1988.

Scutchfield, son of Dr. Beecher L. Scutchfield, of Martin, will be honored Saturday during annual Alumni Day activities at EKU, when the university will also honor 12 other outstanding alumni with induction into the Hall of Distinguished Alumni EKU has honored excelling graduates with "Outstanding Alumni" awards since 1956.

"Dr. Scutchfield has achieved a remarkable record of service to the community, the academic world, and the medical profession," said Dr. Hanly Funderburk, EKU president.

"He has received numerous honors and awards during his distinguished career," Funderburk said, "and we are proud this year to add to those honors by naming him our Outstanding Alumnus for 1988."

Scutchfield graduated from Eastern magna cum laude with a bachelor's degree in chemistry in 1963. The Wheelwright native went on to earn his medical degree at the University of Kentucky.

Over the years he has done additional graduate work in such fields as business administration, economics, epidemiology, health services administration, and biostatistics at Morehead State University, the University of Minnesota, and the University of Michigan.

Since leaving Eastern, Scutchfield has held a variety of academic, editorial, and administrative positions.

He has served as acting director of the Family Planning Program at Emory University in Atlanta, director of continuing professional education at St. Clare Medical Center, Morehead, Ky., chairman of the Department of Family and Community Medicine and later the associate dean for academic affairs at the University of Alabama's College of Community Health Services.

Among other editorial positions he has served as editor-in-chief of Appalachia Medicine, and presently serves on the board of editors on San Diego Physicians. He has many professional and scholarly publications to his credit.

EKU's Alumni Day will feature a former alumni presidents' breakfast, campus tours, reunion class luncheons, the annual alumni reception and banquet, and many other activities.

Luncheon and banquet reservations may be made by calling the EKU Division of Alumni Affairs at (606) 622-1260.

Sparks Seriously Injured In Plunge To Dewey Lakeshore

A 35-year-old Prestonsburg man remains in serious condition at the University of Kentucky Medical Center this week as a result of injuries suffered when the truck he was driving plunged over a steep hillside and came to rest partially in the waters of Dewey Lake.

The mishap occurred sometime Thursday night although the victim, Willis Sparks, of Cliffside, was not discovered until the following morning when some fishermen happened upon the wreck.

Capt. Rodney Holbrook, park ranger, said Willis claimed that he was forced off the road (between Arrowhead Point and the park riding stables) by another vehicle travelling at a high rate of speed. Holbrook said a tree prevented the truck, which is owned by Tommy Collins, of Prestonsburg, from rolling into the relatively deep water in the vicinity and spun the vehicle around so that the cab came to rest pointing uphill and clear of the water. "Otherwise, he would probably have drowned." Holbrook commented.

The ranger also emphasized that Willis may likely have died at the scene had it not been for the two fishermen who discovered him. Holbrook did not have their names.

Willis' right arm was pinned beneath part of the truck's cab and rescue workers from the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad found it necessary to cut the top away from the cab to remove the victim.

Willis was removed from the scene by boat since the steep slope precluded transporting him on foot. He was treated at Highlands Regional Medical Center and transferred to the UK Medical Center where he is being treated for a severely crushed right arm as well as various internal injuries.

"A man ought warily to begin changes which once begun will continue." Francis Bacon --- 4 ---

The drug raid was carried out based on information supplied by Doug Combs, who had offered to act as an informant in exchange for len-ency in a DUI and possession of marijuana case. During the trial, Owens attacked the testimony of Deputy Anthony Castle, who said he witnessed a drug transaction between Combs and Kimberly outside Kimberly's trailer at 5 p.m., several hours before the raid. With information from Combs, and from what Castle saw, the sheriff obtained a search warrant.

The defense took the position that the drug buy never took place at 5 p.m. as Combs and Castle alleged because Kimberly was on his way to Hazard at that time. This testimony was corroborated by members of Kimberly's family.

Aggressive pursuit of drug dealers will pay off for the Sheriff's Department in more than one way. State Trooper Stacy Trees testified that she took part in the raid and counted $6,507 in small bills, and "a lot of coins." Patton said this money falls under the Kentucky Forfeiture Statute that allows the Sheriff's Department to retain it. Also confiscated at the time was a Chevrolet automobile and five automatic weapons. Patton said, Kimberly, now a convicted felon, can not legally own those weapons, and they will be put up for public sale along with the automobile. Kimberly's attorney had, before the trial, made a motion to request the state to return the personal property (money and car) seized at the residence of the defendant, stating: "which do not belong to the defendant, and which can have no bearing or relevance on the Commonwealth's case against the defendant."

"I thought he should have gotten more time," said Sheriff Henry Hale after the trial. "The case was well-presented and there was no argument about his guilt. I don't think we'll stop this thing if we don't stick it to them."

The Sheriff said the $6,507 will be used for drug education for youth and also operating expenses to conduct undercover buys. "In the past that money has come out of my own pocket," Hale said.

Owens said he will appeal the verdict to the Kentucky Court of Appeals and seek an Appeal Bond to have his client freed.

Being a foster parent is just about the closest thing there is to being a professional parent, and professionals, especially those caring for abused and neglected children, need to keep abreast of successful methods of dealing with the unique problems and opportunities that can occur in foster care," he said.

FUN WITH NAMES

COPYRIGHT 1988 KVMA

Kentucky Veterinary Medical Association Old MacDonald and his farm have been a source of amusement for children for years, while serving the dual purpose of teaching the proper names for

But what if Old MacDonald had a zoo and you and the children were watching the animals and needed the proper names for the males and females? Would you know?

For example, that male cow in Mac-Donald's lot is a bull and his mate simply a cow. But what if MacDonald is raising elephants? Or giraffes? Or has a whale in his pond? Or seals? Or walrus? What if MacDonald is raising bison? What do you call the mommas and poppas then?

Why simply bulls, if they're male, or cows, if they're female!

Why simply bulls, if they're male, or cows, if they're female!

Not so with antelope, however, or deer. Or rabbits. Or rats. Or kangaroo. Here the males are bucks, the females does.

Most anyone would know that the male hog is a boar and the female a sow. But did you know the same nomenclature is correct if you're talking about bears or beavers? And while the male horse is a stallion and his female a mare, and the same is true for ponies and zebras, the male donkey is a jackass and his mate a jennetass.

A male chicken is a cock and the female a hen. The same is true for an ostrich but not for a turkey or an owl. A male turkey is a tom and the female a hen, but the male owl is simply an owl and his mate a jenny or howlet.

Almost everybody knows the male cat is a tom and his mate a queen, but did you know the same names apply to bobcats as well as lions?

The names are fun to play with—but there's a serious point as well.

And the serious point is that there isn't a single animal in the above list that can't be treated by a Kentucky veterinarian. Veterinary training today is so complete and extensive that any veterinarian licensed in Kentucky has been trained to treat any of the above named animals and some that aren't named as well.

Most veterinarians limit their practice to domestic animals, but there are a sufficient number of zoo veterinarians or veterinarians with experience with exotic animals that you could get the wild animals treated within Kentucky quite competently.

The Kentucky Veterinary Medical Assocation is one of the most active veterinary organizations in the nation, and includes within its membership a high percentage of experts in specializated fields

They'd really like to know you and they're easy to meet—just stop by and introduce yourself.

Mining Awareness Week Scheduled April 24-30

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has announced that Kentucky would join several other states in observing "Mining Awareness Week," scheduled for April 24-30. This event is co-sponsored by the American Mining Congress and the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals. Kentucky's observance will correspond to the national observance, also sponsored by the American Mining Congress.

In his proclamation, Gov. Wilkinson noted the contribution that mining makes to Kentucky's economy. "Coal mining employs some 92,000 to 100,000

Corps Campground To Open April 29

Public campgrounds in West Virginia, Kentucky, and Ohio managed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Huntington District will be opening April 29, with the exceptions of Burnsville Lake and Sutton Lake, which will open April 22 to accommodate spring turkey hunters.

The fees at the campgrounds are the same as last year with the exception of Batterun Campground at Summersville Lake, which has been raised, and German Campground at Dewey Lake, which has been decreased. Waterfront sites with the electricity at Sutton Lake, Burnsville Lake and East Lynn Lake will cost extra per night.

A number of electrical hookups have been added to both campgrounds at Sutton Lake. Over the next several years the Corps hopes to add electricity to all class A campsites.

Again this season, reservations can be made for group camping. The group must occupy a minimum of six sites, and will be charged additionally per site to cover administration costs. More information is available at the lake offices.

Group picnic shelters are normally available on a "first-to-arrive" basis at no charge. However, shelters may be reserved any time between 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. for a fee paid in advance.

Special events involving large numbers of people, such as arts and crafts shows and boat regattas, require a special permit and a fee. Kentuckians, both directly and indirectly, and has total annual revenues from coal sales estimated at $570 million. Coal plays an important role in our economy and we must give it the recognition and support it needs to realize its potential for the Commonwealth," said Wilkinson.

Gov. Wilkinson also went on to make mention of the great heritage that can be found in the mining communities, and that this heritage is based upon the traditions of the mining industry.

Willard Stanley, commissioner of the Department of Mines and Minerals, said that observance of the proclamation would result in two (2) projects. First, he is helping to organize a mine safety seminar, which will be sponsored by the Big Sandy Mining Institute. The seminar, scheduled for April 21-22 in Prestonsburg, will be lead into the actual observance.

Commissioner Stanley also hopes to use the week to focus on mine safety in the state's mines. "What better observances for this industry, than to use this event to have miners all across the state dedicate themselves once more to the safety principles that will keep our mines safe and fatality free. This would be a big economic boost to the coal economy, while, at the same time, protecting Kentucky's most valued resource...its people," said Stanley.

Miller At West Point

Cadet Clifford Miller, a 1987 graduate of Prestonsburg High School, took part in the annual Plebe-Parent Weekend at the U.S. Military Academy, March 9-13.

Charles and Drema Miller, of Prestonsburg, visited their son for the event. Relatives and friends of plebes (freshmen) are invited to West Point for Plebe-Parent Weekend to tour the grounds, meet with staff and faculty members and learn first-hand about the regimen followed by the academy's newest cadets.

Miller, one of 1,100 plebes at West Point, made the Dean's List for the first semester and served on the regimental staff during the Plebe-Parent Week-end. He plans to graduate in 1991 and be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army.

Small Coal Operators Set Nat'l Meet in Lexington

Awareness Week will continue as Lexington hosts the 29th Annual Meeting of the National Independent Coal Operator's Association, April 28-30. This organization, which is headquartered in Richlands Va., represents approximately 500 small coal operators nationwide.

Louis Hunter, executive vice president, said that he sees the association as a working partner with the small operator and the annual meeting is the culmination of that working relationship. "We use this meeting as a means of keeping in touch with our membership and as giving them an opportunity to see what we have done throughout the past year," said Hunter.

Program events for the meeting are varied, focusing on everything from a report on recent governmental policy changes to estate planning. "The entire program is aimed at helping the small operator meet the challenge of surviving in today's market," said Hunter. "Our economy depends on a strong coal industry, and the small operator is the backbone of that industry.

Speakers for Friday and Saturday's sessions include John Baugues, president NICOA, Knoxville, Tn.; Marshall Miller, president, Geological Consulting Services, Bluefield, Va.; David C. O'Neal, Acting Deputy Assistant Secretary of Labor for the Mine Safety and Health Administration, Arlington, Va.; D. C. Frye, senior account executive, Independence Securities, Inc., Greensboro, N.C.; John Kilcullen, general counsel, NICOA, Washington, D.C.; Joseph W. R. Lawson, II, chairman of the board, SESCO Management Consultants, Bristol, Tn.; Sandy Dysart, executive director, Surface Mining and Reclamation Association, Big Stone Gap, Va.; John G. Kovac, U.S. Bureau of Mines, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Richard Lawson, president, National Coal Association, Washington, D.C.

Also scheduled as part of the program, Horace "Bones" McKinney, television commentator and humorist from Hickory, N.C., will entertain at a banquet slated for Saturday evening.

For more information on the program, contact Louis Hunter, National Independent Coal Operator's Assocation, Richlands, Va., (703) 963-9011.

Prestonsburg High School's Quick Recall Team competed in the Fifth Annual Invitational Academic Tournament at Hart County High School during two days of academic competition, April 14-15.

Fifteen schools from throughout the state were invited to compete in Kentucky's longest running academic tourney. Among the tournament field were strong teams from Grayson, Bell, Lincoln, Jefferson, and Campbell counties. However, Prestonsburg responded to the challenge by winning the prestigious event.

Members of the championship squad from PHS are David Spiggle, Captain, Byron Crider, Stacy Webb, Ernest Croot, David Thompson, and Dustin Haley. All are sophomores with the exception of David Spiggle, a senior. Nell Lawson is the team's coach.

Congratulations are accorded these students who have put in hundreds of hours practicing and studying for academic competition.

Honored In MADD Essay Competition

MCA senior Donna Sue Smith has good advice for high school seniors: don't drink and drive.

By Joe Porter

With prom and graduation time nearing high school seniors will have plenty of opportunity to party. Some will drink and drive, but there's one high school senior in Floyd county who has a different message.

Donna Sue Smith, a senior at Mountain Christian Academy, was selected a finalist in a national essay contest sponsored by MADD, Mothers Against Drunk Driving and National Car Rental. While she didn't win, she received a ribbon for her essay describing the effects of drunk driving and the need for young drivers to play it smart.

Smith is 18 and the daughter of Jimmie and Toni Smith, of Martin. An honor student, Smith is president of the senior class and Students Against Driving Drunk, as well as a member of the "Just Say No" Club. She plans to attend Alice Lloyd College and major in journalism.

The purpose of poster/essay contest was "to enhance awareness among students—current and future drivers of America—of the dangers of drinking and driving." The judging took place in Texas on March 14-15, and first place winners participated in an awards ceremony April 13 in Washington, D.C., where they were presented with checks for $1,000.

In her essay, Smith wrote, "Since graduation, with all its parties, is fast approaching, and so many lives are taken at this time every year, it's very important to not drink and drive. If you are drinking and must go somewhere let someone else drive. Because remember the life you save could be your own."

UK Nursing Classes Offered Through MSU The University of Kentucky College of

The University of Kentucky College of Nursing in cooperation with Morehead State University is offering a master's degree program in nursing in the Ashland-Morehead area beginning Fall 1988. This program, equivalent to the program at the UK campus, will enable nurses in Eastern Kentucky to take a major portion of their course work at the Morehead State University campus.

"The purpose of the program is to prepare nurses for advanced practice within a nursing specialty, contribute to the advancement of nursing practice and assist nurses in attaining their educational and career goals," says Dr. Carolyn Williams, dean, UK College of Nursing.

Students can select one of four areas for specialization and can prepare for roles as nurse clinical specialists, managers, teachers, or practitioners. The four areas of specialization include: Adult Nursing (critical care, adult, and gerontological nursing); Community Health Nursing (primary, family and geriatric nurse practitioner or community health administration); Parent-Child Nursing (parent-child, neonatal and perinatal nursing and nursemidwifery) and Psychiatric/Mental Health Nursing (adult and geropsychiatric/mental health nursing, and substance abuse)

"The advantage of the program is that students will be able to schedule their classes for one day, either Monday or Tuesday," says Dr. Margaret Grier, associate dean for graduate studies and research, UK College of Nursing.

Elective courses related to the selected area of study can also be taken at Morehead University. Students will be assigned to agencies in the outreach area for clinical courses.

The minimum requirements for the master's degree in nursing are 34 semester credit hours of course work; a comprehensive examination on nursing theory, research and practice; and a research project. The requirements for admission are a 2.5 grade-point average on a 4.0 scale and a combined score of 800 on the verbal and quantitative portions of the Graduate Record Examination (GRE).

The GRE will be administered June 4, at Morehead State University and Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia. Applications for the June 4 administration of the GRE must be postmarked by May 2.

All application materials for the program must be received by the College of Nursing and Graduate School, University of Kentucky, 315A Nursing Health Science Learning Center, Lexington, Ky. 40536-02322 by July 1, 1988.

For more information, contact the Office of Student Services, UK College of Nursing, at (606) 233-5108.

Do We Really Mean What We Sing?

The singing of a hymn should be a great experience for Christians. A hymn can be a prayer, a testimony, praise, or an invitation. Do we always take seriously the words we sing, for instance:

We sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer" and pray only a few minutes each day. We sing "Onward Christian Soldiers" and wait to be drafted.

We sing "Oh, for a Thousand Tongues to Sing" and don't use the ones we have to speak for Christ. We sing "Blest Be the Tie" and let the slightest offense sever it. We sing "I Love to Tell the Story" and

We sing "I Love to Tell the Story" and seldom mention Jesus to anybody. We sing "Serve the Lord with Gladness" and gripe about all we have to do. We sing "Cast Thy Burden on the Lord" and then worry ourselves into a nervous breakdown.

We sing "The Whole Wide World for Jesus" and never invite our next-door neighbor to church.

MAGNET STOPS PARALYSIS BEFORE IT CAN HAPPEN

A sleeping patient can't cry out that he or she has lost feeling during spinal or abdominal surgery.

Now a doughnut-shaped magnet used by University of Louisville doctors can detect nerve damage or pressure that could lead to paralysis.

Anesthesiologist Harvey Edmonds and surgeons Christopher Shields and John Johnson rely on a monitor that fires a charge over the part of the brain responsible for leg movement. Quick detection allows the team to adjust surgery and avoid paralysis.

Make Breast Center Donation

Denice Queen, RN, nurse educator of Breast Center, accepting check from Sarah Chaffin, treasurer and Lora Wells, trustee of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary (post 5839).

The Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center recently received a $500 donation from the ladies Auxiliary of VFW (Post 5839) in Prestonsburg. A brass tile will be placed on the Breast Center wall as permanent recognition of this generous contribution.

Seventy-three ladies belong to the VFW post 5839 auxiliary and these members raised the funds by sponsoring a dance on March 12, and a chicken-and-dumpling dinner six days later. Sarah Chaffin, treasurer of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary attributes part of the group's decision for contributing to the HRMC Breast Center to personal situations of some members. She said, "Some of our members have cancer and this has made many of us more aware of the need and importance of a local breast center. We know our contribution will assist the center; our only regret is that we can't do more for such a worthy cause."

The wall tile program began July 1986 and over 340 tiles have been awarded to contributors who made donations for various reasons, including the memory of a loved one, birthday gifts and Mother's Day presents. Anything may be printed on the tile: a name, corporate logo, drawing or personal message. The level of contribution can range from $25 to $500 and above.

Denice Queen, RN, nurse educator for the Breast Center, said, "We are so grateful for all the support the community has shown our breast center. It is the support like this that enables us to offer an ever expanding program of breast care to area women."

Anyone interested in contributing to the Breast Center tile program or desiring further information, please contact Susan V. Martin or Denice Queen at

PPD Offers Womens' Firearms Course

By Joe Porter

Are you a woman? Do you own a handgun, but don't know how to load, shoot, or clean it? Would you like to learn in order to protect yourself? Well, the Prestonsburg Police Department is sponsoring a "ladies firearm school" May 14.

Interested women should meet in the municipal building at 10 a.m. There they will review rules and regulations and receive instruction. Following that, they will move to the firing range on Stratton's Branch or the new city garage to practice fire.

Police Chief William R. Campbell said the day-long school was needed because, while some women own guns, "a lot of them don't know how to even put a shell in one," Campbell said. The Chief of Police said they are not encouraging the use of handguns by women, only that—for safety's sake—they know how to handroness."

The instructional class will be just for the use and operation of handguns, no rifles or shotguns. If a woman doesn't own a handgun, but is interested, the police department will provide one for the student to learn and shoot with. Captain Darrell Conley, a qualified range instructor, will head the class and be assisted by Mike Ormerod.

Police will also answer any questions in regard to keeping and transporting a handgun—how and where. "Women will call and ask if they can carry a gun in a glove compartment. Some think it's considered a concealed deadly weapon, but it isn't. The law reads, 'one move to get it.' If it's in the glove compartment it would take two movements to get it," Campbell said.

The class is free. Any woman under 18 must be accompanied by a parent or have a signed release. After practicing on paper silhouettes, the students will shoot for qualification, with certificates awarded for scores of 70 percent or better.

Jack and Nora Absher, owners of Sam an Tonio's restaurant, Prestonsburg, are donating $1 for every Mexican meal sold through June 4 to benefit Pediatric Services at the University of Kentucky Hospital. The donation will be made June 5 during the Children's Miracle Network Telethon broadcast on WLEX,

The Abshers are contributing to the hospital in memory of their infant son, Michael James Absher, who died December 17. Three hours after his birth, Michael was diagnosed as having a heart defect and was transferred to the neo-natal unit at the University of Kentucky Hospital, Lexington, where he was kept until his condition stabilized.

While awaiting heart surgery. Michael became ill with a viral infection, RSV, and was admitted to Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago, Illinois. He was flown back to the University of Kentucky, Friday, November 27, where it was determined that an operation could not be Having exhausted every medical procedure and with death impending, Jack and Nora Absher discontinued all treatment except for the respirator. For the first time in three weeks they were able to hold their infant son. The Absher's held their son for nine hours, talking, singing, laughing and crying. He died in their arms December 17 at 4:42 a.m.

Jack and Nora Absher and their surviving sons, John George, J.T., and Robert, urge all parents, grandparents and others to donate to this worthy cause. Donations may be left at Sam an' Tonio's to be contributed to the Children's Miracle Network Telethon.

Large Print Books Are Boon To Many

Look into a large print book and discover a whole new world of reading pleasure. From the outside, these books are identical to all other books. But inside, readers find easier-to-read type that's twice the size of ordinary print! Type size is measured in points with

72 points to an inch. The type you are reading now is 18-point type, the same type found in large print books. The print usually read in newspapers and books ranges in size from 8 to 12 points.

For thousands of people, reading small print can be difficult and uncomfortable, and often takes the pleasure out of reading. Large print books make reading a more comfortable and enjoyable experience.

Over 5,000 titles have been published in large print, making more books accessible to the reading public. People with vision problems or who suffer from eyestrain, as well as reluctant readers and people learning english as a second language enjoy the benefits of large print books. Many older people who have given up reading often return to it upon discovering large print.

Many libraries have extensive collections of large print books and are happy to introduce patrons to them. Your local library may even provide delivery of large print books to nursing homes, senior centers, and homebound patrons. With a wide variety of large print books to select from, people can easily find their favorite authors and titles in both paperback and cloth editions. Many bestsellers appear in large print six to twelve months after they've been published in regular print. Books by Agatha Christie, Danielle Steele, Louis L'Amour, Robert Parker, Janet Daily, Erma Bombeck, and Tom Clancy have all been published in large print. And large print is the perfect medium for cookbooks, with instructions and quantities available at a glance. The New York Times Cookbook, The Frugal Gourmet, The Fanny Farmer Cookbook, and James Beard's Theory and Practice of Good Cooking are now available in large print.

The first large print books were published during the mid 1960s by a British publisher, when England's Ministry of Health saw a need for large print among the elderly. In 1971, G. K. Hall became the first United States publisher to provide large print books for general reading. Through improved technology, G. K. Hall set the standards in the U.S. for clear, crisp, easy-to-read type by retypesetting original editions in sixteen to eighteen type. Previously, large print books had been simple photoenlarged editions with uncomfortable bulk and blurred text. Today, G. K. Hall is the foremost publisher of large print books in the U.S. and publishes and distributes over 200 titles in large print

Contact your local library to learn more about large print books. A free catalog of G. K. Hall's large print books may be obtained by calling 1-800-343-2806 or writing G. K. Hall, 70 Lincoln Street, Boston, MA 02111.

Ever Wish You Had A Doctor Who Specialized In You?

Meet The Family Practice Specialist. Family Practice is the specialty of overall health care for the whole person. Family Physicians specialize in the basic medical needs of each family member -- from newborn to grandparent. And that includes

How Can This Be Done? Family Physicians can provide complete care for each individual of either sex - at any age, because they take three years of specialty training after earning their medical degrees. Beyond that, Board Certification in Family Practice involves much more than passing an initial examination. It is an ongoing education process requiring recertification every six years. This keeps Board Certified Family Physicians up to date in medical care for adults and children of all ages; special women's health care, including pregnancy and childbirth; mental health and other major medical areas.

That's why today's Family Practice specialist can take care of 85% or more of all the medical needs you or your family are likely to have. And like the family doctor of old, this physician knows each of you as an individual, understanding the facts of your family life that have a bearing on health care.

What Could Be Better? Staying healthy is even better than the best medical treatment. So your Family Physician works with you when you're well to help you stay that way.

If you do become ill, treatment costs are carefully considered. For example, while Family Physicians maintain an active hospital practice, they actually have a lower rate of hospital admissions than other specialists. You are hospitalized only when it is essential to proper management of your care. Your Family Doctor's prudent use of health care services can mean impor-

Druthers Opens In New Location

Druther's Restaurants, one of the area's leading fast service family restaurant chains, opened in its new location on North Lake Drive (U.S. Highway 23), here, Monday, April 18.

The Prestonsburg Druther's is owned jointly by Druther's International, Inc., headquartered in Louisville, and John Carey, of Paintsville, who will operate the restaurant. Carey also operates Druther's restaurants in Paintsville and South Williamson. Approximately 50-60 people will be employed by Druther's to serve its customers, here.

Druther's is not new to Prestonsburg. The original Druther's was in operation for 13 years. However, due to the lack of drive-thru and insufficient parking, the decision was made to build in a new location that would allow the restaurant to achieve its potential. The new site is between Price's Supermarket and the Phillip's 66, just a few blocks north of the

A special grand opening celebration is planned for Saturday, to begin at 2 p.m. at the restaurant. Included in the activities will be the official ribbon cutting ceremony, a charity donation and live entertainment. Additionally, a drawing will be held to determine the winner of the grand opening prize—a gas-powered customized Druther's mini-Indy car on display at the restaurant.

Everyone is invited to come out and be a part of the celebration.

Floyd High Schools Are Out For Blood

Betsy Layne, Allen Central, Wheelwright, McDowell, and Prestonsburg high schools are involved in another fierce competition. In fact, they are out for blood. These Floyd county high schools are competing against each other for the highest percentage of donors at their annual Beta Club Challenge Blood Drive. They are asking Floyd countians to show their support for their favorite high school by giving a pint of life.

The third annual blood drive competition between the Floyd county high schools is called the Beta Club Challenge, since the Beta Clubs at each school are the blood drive sponsors.

Betsy Layne High School will hold its blood drive, May 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Prestonsburg High School will hold its drive on the same day from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday, May 4, Allen Central will try to prove they are tougher during their drive which is in the gym lobby from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. May 11, Wheelwright High School will fight for a victory during their blood drive which is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., and McDowell High School finishes up the competition, Thursday, May 12, in the McDowell High School auditorium from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Donors who cannot attend the high schools blood drive are urged to donate for their favorite high school at the Prestonsburg Donor Center which is located in the Municipal Building on North Lake Drive. The hours at the Donor Center are Tuesdays, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Thursdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

151 To Attend School for Arts

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has announced the names of Kentucky students selected to attend the 1988 session of the Governor's School for the Arts. Among these are Floyd county students. Beth Hall and Slade Stumbo.

From more than 1,000 students who initially applied for the program, 151 students from all geographic areas of Kentucky have been selected to participate in the second annual Governor's School, which will be held at the Kentucky Center for the Arts and at Bellarmine College in Louisville from July

"This is a fine program," said Gov. Wilkinson. "It brings together talented young people from all parts of the state for an intensive, high quality art experience. These students have a potential for becoming productive creative artists." Added the governor, "This program can show by example the way to better arts education for all Kentucky children.

The Governor's School for the Arts, an intensive, three-week summer program for artistically talented sophomores and juniors in high school is a joint program of the Kentucky Center for the Arts and the Kentucky Department of the Arts.

The school's director, David Thurmond, said, "Our goal is to improve the artistic skills and creativity of talented young Kentuckians by providing them with advanced instruction from talented artist-teachers in the areas of dance, vocal music, instrumental music, drama, creative writing and visual art.'

During the three-week session the students will receive group and individual instruction, participate in field trips to major cultural institutions, attend master classes, performances and lectures, and have the opportunity to perform at the Kentucky Center for the Students were selected for the program through a series of regional auditions and portfolio/manuscript reviews held at seven regional sites throughout Kentucky during January and February. The 151 students who were selected for the Governor's school were among approximately 400 finalists who participated in final tryouts at the Kentucky Center for the Arts on March 19.

Other students selected from surrounding counties include the following: Johnson, Melanie Park, and Pike, JoAnna Brock and Amy Compton.

Over 65 percent of the world's population goes through the day without coming in contact with a newspaper, radio, television or telephone.

Garrett Is $100 Winner In Restaurant Game

By Monica J. Clark

The $100 check Glenda Garrett received from Druther's Restaurant Thursday made her Floyd county's largest winner in the restaurant's Peel-A-Deal game.

"I've never won anything." Garrett said smiling, "and I couldn't believe it!" Garrett peeled away the sticker on a beverage cup to find one of the 175 possible $100 instant winner labels on March 18. Her chances of winning were one in 12,971, according to Druther's first manager, Barbara Prater, "She's the largest winner we've had," Prater said. "We've mostly given away free food and drinks, buy one get one free coupons and three or four $1 prizes.

The Peel-A-Deal game, which officially got underway on Feb. 22, offered Druther's patrons the chance to win cash or food prizes on medium and large French fry boxes and soft drink cups. Garrett said she did not know how she would use the money

Mining Institute Holds Annual Meet

By Monica J. Clark

The Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Mining Institute conducted its annual seminar at Jenny Wiley State Park's May Lodge last Thursday and Friday.

While Willard Stanley, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals and executive secretary of the institute reported that attendance for the conference was down somewhat from last year, the event still drew 75 coal industry representatives, state and federal officials and others interested in

Specialists addressed topics at the conference ranging from small mine problems and safety to long wall technology, the future of the coal industry and the coal industry's relationship with the media.

Stanley said the use of long wall technology yielded 177 million tons of coal with 1500 less people and 204 less mines than the year before. He predicted that those kinds of statistics would continue to be the norm as technology plays an ever greater role in

The future of the industry was reported as bright by specialists at the conference, which included both government and corporate officials. "In the early '90's, the coal industry should be in a better financial situation," Stanley

Also discussed was the poor relationship between coal companies and the

"A lot of coal companies do an excellent job with their properties," Stanley said," but they're leery of news people. Coal company representatives at the conference were encouraged to be more open with the media. "In my experience, when you're up front with news people about what happened and how it happened, there's no problem; they just tell it like it is," Stanley commented.

QUARTERLY MEET HELD

The W.M.U. associational quarterly dinner-meeting was held at the First Baptist Church at Allen, Tuesday evening, April 19, with the director, June Rice, of Paintsville, in charge. The program was centered around the W.M.U. Century Celebration, focusing on events of its history, with some of the women in attendance modeling old-time fashions and displaying dolls dressed in 1920's and 1940's styles.

The nominating committee presented a list of officers and directors for the fortheoming year, as follows: director, June Rice; assistant director, Neva McCarty; secretary-treasurer, Virginia Blair; Baptist young women, Gail King; Baptist women, Bonnie Tackett; Girls in Action, Pat Hennon; Mission Friends, Mindy Evans, and Acteens, Judy Blevins. Two new officers were addedenlistment director (Outreach) with Marjorie Whitaker, director, and personnel witness, with Connie Kinzer,

A casserole dinner was served by the kitchen committee of the W.M.U. of the host church to 94 guests from other Baptist churches

Mrs. Dorothy Stover, who is in charge of the annual spring rummage sale for the K.F.W.C./G.F.W.C. Prestonsburg Woman's Club, announces that this sale will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, May 2, 3, and 4, from 10 a.m.-2 p.m., at the former location of the Allen Florist Shop (on Arnold Avenue) (about one-half block north of Wright's Barber Shop). Clothing and household items will be available, and the public is cordially invited to come and browse.

GOSPEL REPERTORY TO APPEAR The Covenant Players, an international repertory theatre, utilizes a unique kind of drama to present the message of the gospel. One of their 115 touring units will be performing on Sunday, May 1, at 7 p.m., at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial), here. The Rev. Steve Hopkins, the church's pastor, cordially invites everyone to attend. A love offering will be taken.

REVIVAL SET

Revival services will be held at the First Baptist Church, (Irene Cole Memorial), May 15 through May 19, beginning each night, at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Robert C. Jones, director of Missions for the Kentucky Baptist Convention, will be bringing the messages. Steve Sansom, minister of music and youth, at the First Baptist Church, Paintsville, will lead the music. The Rev. Steve Hopkins, pastor of the host church, extends a cordial invitation to attend these services.

Teachers Plan Fall Conference

The Eastern Ky. Council of Teachers of English chose the theme "Blueprint for Literacy '88" for its fall conference during their meeting Saturday at Prestonsburg Community College. Plans were made to secure a speaker for the convention, scheduled October 1 at the

"I feel that Prestonsburg Community College is a tremendous resource for Floyd County Schools," said Carol Stumo, of Wheelwright High School, "and it is not being used enough." She suggested that the EKCTE contact the superintendents of area schools to plan teacher in-service training sessions.

Local school superintendents will be asked to grant in-service credit for teachers who attend the EKCTE's fall convention which will be held on a Saturday. Speakers from various state schools, colleges, and universities will be invited and topics will cover a range of subjects related to literacy: reading, writing, speaking, and library work.

The group, headed by Monnette Sturgill, president, appointed a board of directors to draw up by-laws and in-vestigate an affiliation with the National Council of Teachers of English.

Board members include: Sturgill, Dr. Alice Adams, Dr. Dorothy Carlson, Dr. Theresa Milon, Trisha Morris, and Gay Herrin, all of PCC; and Carol Stumbo, Wheelwright; Patricia Watson, Allen Central; and Delores Reichenbach, Martin/Maytown Elementary Schools.

Those present also set up new committees to handle future projects: Conference Committee, Alice Adams, chair; Data File Committee, Delores Reichenback, chair; and a Contest Committee is still forming.

Plans were made to secure prizes of books, posters, and stickers as giveaways to those who attend the conrence, as well as refreshments and a tour of the new library building at PCC, which should open at the end of summer.

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1988 (FLSA), as amended, protects young workers from employment that might interfere with their educational opporfunities or be detrimental to their health or well-being. The Act is enforced by the Wage and Hour Division of the U.S. Labor Department.

Sturgill Is Named To Pike College Board

William B. Sturgill, prominent Lexington businessman, has accepted an appointment to the Board of Trustees of Pikeville College

Sturgill is president of East Kentucky Investment Company, president and chairman of the Board of The Golden Oak Mining Company, chairman of the Board of Central Rock Mineral Company and a member of the Board of Directors of the CSX Corporation. He served as secretary of energy for the Commonwealth of Kentucky from 1979

A Floyd County native, Sturgill has for many years been one of the state's strongest proponents of high quality education. He is a member of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education and a former chairman of the Board of Trustees of the University of Kentucky. He serves on the prestigious Pritchard Committee for Academic Excellence.

In 1986, forty years after he received the Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Kentucky, he was the recipient of an honorary doctoral degree from the University in recognition of his service to higher education in the Sturgill and his wife, Eloise, reside in Lexington. They have one daughter, Mary Hartley, two sons, Paul and Richard, and seven grandchildren.

"We are fortunate to have an individual of Bill Sturgill's stature on our Board," Pikeville College President William H. Owens said.

"He adds further strength to an arready outstanding group or committed trustees.

Pikeville College, a four-year liberal arts college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (USA), will celebrate its centennial year in 1989.

Floyd Food Stamp Program Recognized

The Floyd County Department for Social Insurance has received an award from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service for outstanding achievement in the administration of the food stamp program.

Floyd county was one of only two counties in the eight southeastern states recognized for making no errors in food stamp eligibility determinations during 1987. The award was presented to Paul D. Campbell, Department for Social Insurance field service administrator, at a southeast regional food stamp conference held in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

In 1987, staff of the Floyd County Department for Social Insurance issued more than $6 million in food stamps and served an average of 3,291 food stamp households each month. Floyd county was one of the first seven counties in the nation to establish a food stamp program and has been operating the program continuously since 1961.

CAUSES OF ASTHMA

QUESTION: Can you settle an argument for us. I say that asthma is an allergy, my roommate says that it's psychosomatic. Who's right?

ANSWER: You're both right—to a certain extent. Most cases of asthma do seem to be triggered by allergens. In fact, it is the single largest cause of hospitalization among the allergic diseases. There is also evidence that emotions may play a dramatic role in bringing on the wheezing and shortness of breath which are the principal symptoms of asthma.

There are, however, a number of other contributory and/or causal agents. Infection, for example, is a major cause of asthmatic attacks, particularly in children. Physical exertion and certain noxious chemicals can also bring on attacks.

Public campgrounds, including the German camping area at Dewey Lake, managed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Huntington District will open April 29, the Corps announced this week. Fees at the campgrounds are the same as last year for most Corps facilities in Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia and Ohio although the campground fee at German has been decreased to $5.00.

Again this season, reservations can be made for group camping. The group must occupy a minimum of six sites, and will be charged an additional one dollar per site to cover administration costs. More information is available at the lake offices.

Group picnic shelters are normally available on a "first-to-arrive" basis at no charge. However, shelters may be reserved any time between 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. for a $35 fee paid in advance.

Special events involving large numbers of people, such as arts and crafts shows and boat regattas, require a special permit and a $25 fee.

a special permit and a $25 fee.

The campground fee entitles two adults with children under the age of 18 to one campsite per night. Additional adults must pay $1 per night. Visitors to fee campgrounds must be visiting a specific camper. Those age 12 and older are charged $1. Visitors in a vehicle carrying two or more persons age 12 and older must pay a fee of $2 per vehicle.

There is no charge for persons who are just launching their boats when the fee campground has the only available launch ramp.

L'ville Hospital Gets Federal Endorsement

'Jewish Hospital has been designated as a federally approved Center for Medicare Heart Transplantation by the Health Care Finance Administration (HCFA)," Dr. Gerald D. Temes, Chairman of the Jewish Hospital Heart & Lung Institute, announced recently, Jewish Hospital is only the 18th facility in the United States and the first in Kentucky to receive this designation.

"Jewish Hospital has established itself as a leader in transplantation over a quarter of a century." noted Douglas E. Shaw, chief operating officer. "By combining the institutional and professional resources of Jewish Hospital and the University of Louisville School of Medicine, Western Kentucky's first kidney transplant was performed at Jewish Hospital in 1964. Our relationship was reaffirmed in June 1984, when we announced the creation of a heart transplant program as another cooperative effort. The state's first heart transplant was subsequently performed August 24, 1984.

Since then, 47 heart transplants have been performed at Jewish Hospital on patients from five states-Kentucky, Indiana, Tennessee, Ohio and Illinoiswith an 80% one-year survival rate. Building on the success of the renal and cardiac transplant programs, Jewish Hospital and University of Louisville physicians also pioneered pancreatic transplantation in Kentucky in March

Jenny Wiley Theatre Said One of a Kind

Jenny Wiley Theatre, located in Jenny Wiley State Resort Park near Prestonsburg, Kentucky, is a non-profit organization that has provided family entertainment under the stars for 23 seasons.

Each summer Jenny Wiley Theatre presents four musicals outdoors in full rotating repertory, which is to say, you can visit the theatre on a typical week (Tue. through Sun.) and see four different shows in four nights. This, according to Mark Summer, president of I.O.D., the Institute of Outdoor Drama, makes Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre the only outdoor threatre in the nation you see four different shows in four nights.

Jim Deaton, general manager of the Jenny Wiley Theatre said, "The summer music theatre is already one of the region's more popular tourist attractions. Being one of a kind will let our marketing almost immediately develop the tourism industry and it's benefits even further.

Most people are familiar with vitamin A. It's the "growth" vitamin, vital for eyesight and the maintenance and repair of tissue throughout the human body. Less widely known is the term beta-carotene, but this form of vitamin A is believed to be a key contributor to the health benefits associated with the Beta-carotene is found in plant food sources. It's plentiful in yellow vegetables and fruits, including sweet potatoes, carrots, squash, cantaloupes and apricots, as well as in deep green, leafy vegetables such as spinach, kale, broccoli and mustard greens. Another common form of vitamin A, retinol, is found only in animal food sources such as beef liver and dairy products.

Vitamin A has been studied extensively in regard to its relationship as a potential protector against cancer. Research evidence has indicated that the consumption of foods rich in beta-carotene may help to signficantly reduce cancer risk. Other studies have shown that vitamin A deficiences appear to increase susceptibility to cancer.

However, since vitamin A can be toxic if consumed in large amounts, nutrition experts recommend that the best way to obtain adequate amounts of the vitamin is to consume beta-carotenerich foods rather than vitamin supplements. Here's one excellent way to follow that recommendation

Cholesterol and Your Health -Know Your Numbers

A routine visit to a physician by a healthy American adult might include having a blood sample drawn and analyzed. Usually the lab work is completed, the results are reported to the physician, and the numbers are

The American Heart Association suggests that patients ask their physicians to discuss these results when they are available and understand what the tests are for and what the numbers mean.

One report the physician generally requests is cholesterol level. Cholesterol is a fat-like substance carried in the blood which comes from two sources. "Blood cholesterol" is produced primarily by the liver, while "dietary cholesterol" is found in foods from animals. These foods include egg yolks, meat, fish, poultry and whole milk dairy products such as ice cream and cheese. A certain amount of cholesterol is needed to generate hormones and cells.

However, when the blood cholesterol climbs above the desirable level. cholesterol can build up over a period of time with some other substances on the inner lining of blood vessels like rust in water pipes. During that time, the buildup can narrow those vessels, keeping sufficient oxygencarrying blood from getting to the heart or brain. It is easy for a clot to form that will clog the vessels, cutting off the flow of blood. The result can be a heart attack or stroke.

To understand what the numbers resulting from a blood cholesterol test mean, first know that cholesterol is measured in milligrams per deciliter of blood, expressed as "mg/dl." Also be aware that the level varies depending on age, sex, and the presence of certain disease. If other risk factors are present - smoking, high blood pressure, diabetes, glucose imbalances, excess weight or a history of heart disease in the patient's family, the probability of having a heart attack increases regardless of the cholesterol

The American Heart Association considers a healthy American adult, 20 years or older, at "low risk" for cardiovascular disease when cholesterol measures 200 mg/dl or lower, if no other phase of cardiovascular disease or any other cardiovascular risk factors are present. The same adult is at "moderate risk" if cholesterol level is between 200 and 239 mg/dl, and at "high risk" with a reading of 240 mg/dl or higher.

If it is determined that a patient has a high cholesterol level, the AHA recommends that the physician determine the appropriate treatment. This will usually include a low-fat, lowcholesterol diet. The physician should also address other major risk factors. including smoking and high blood pressure.

More than 50 percent of middleaged Americans have cholesterol levels 200 mg/dl and above. It is prudent for all adults to follow a hearthealthy, low-fat, low-cholesterol diet as a preventive measure. Have your cholesterol checked regularly by a physician and know your numbers.

A Legislative Perspective By Rep. Greg Stumbo

With the conclusion of the 1988 General Assembly, Kentuckians should carefully consider the legislation that was enacted by lawmakers.

An issue much written and talked about by media representatives throughout the state is election reform. Nationally, Kentucky has been one of many states suffering from a reputation somewhat less than complimentary concerning its election process.

But thanks to a growing concern from the people of the Commonwealth, in addition to the public prod of the media, legislators arose to meet the urgent need for election reform.

After a great deal of negotiations, a respectable foundation on which to build honest elections was born. The final version of election reform that was signed by the Governor included several major provisions.

Any precinct election officer who violates election laws, including failure to enforce the prohibition against electioneering within 50 feet of the polling place, is subject to a one-to-three year prison term as are clerks or members of county boards of elections.

Vote-buying and vote-selling become felonies punishable by one to five years in prison and up to a $10,000 fine.

Payments to people for hauling voters to the polls must not be "more than the reasonable value thereof" and all payments must be made by check.

People convicted of election law violations can't serve on county boards of election.

Absentee ballots will not be mailed unless the person is disabled, has a medical emergency, is jailed or works outside the county during all hours when the clerk's office is open. Permanently disabled voters can become certified as

After each election, the county clerk must give the local grand jury all voterassistance forms and all applications for special ballots.

The state Board of Elections must train local officials, some state police offficers and all election officers on elec-

To cover costs mandated by the legislation, the state will reimburse county court clerks up to fifty cents per registered voter and counties $255 per precinct for election costs.

Cocaine. The party's over.

It probably started with occasional use at parties, a line or two at concerts and other special events, perhaps a gram or so on weekends when some of your friends came over.

Now, you're using all the time.

And like thousands of others, you're suspecting that cocaine isn't the safe, nonaddictive, recreational drug that everyone was saying it was a few years ago.

You're right. One in ten people who snort cocaine become addicted within four years. And half of all cocaine smokers end up totally unable to regulate their use, often in a much shorter time.

How can you tell when you've stopped being a social user? Well, if you find it difficult to refuse cocaine when it's available, or you use it even in inappropriate circumstances, then you've already started down the road of addiction.

What happens next is you completely lose control of your use. When you have coke, you do it until either you or the drug is exhausted.

If you continue, you get so you don't care what happens, as long as you have cocaine. You steal, lie, cheat, deal and risk prison to get it.

You'll likely put everything you once valued at risk. Your job, home, possessions, family, friends, and of course your health.

use will probably make you paranoid and may give you terrifyingly real hallucinations.

But most frightening of all, despite all this, you may still feel you're totally in control.

> Don't believe that feeling. It's the drug talking. And cocaine lies.

At CareUnit, we help more people overcome their problems with drugs and alcohol than any other private treatment program. Over 55,000 came to us last year alone.

Our program includes careful medical supervision, education, group sessions and free lifetime aftercare.

And because cocaine addiction is a special problem, CareUnit doctors and therapists are experts in this field.

CareUnit's initial consultation is completely confidential, it costs nothing, and our treatment is covered by most insurance plans.

Call for yourself, or for someone you care about, but call.

Because when the party's over, you can be sure the nightmare is only just beginning.

CLYDE B. BURCHETT COURT ST.-PRESTONSBURG, KY.

BOOKS AND TH

By: TRISHA MORRIS, Librarian, Prestonsburg Community College

Sickness, death and danger were constant companions to the first settlers of Kentucky. The Church offered security, peace and fellowship. The following books form the P.C.C. library chronical some of the religious happenings in the developing state.

Religion in Antebellum Kentucky By: John B. Bole

The pioneers of Kentucky found the new, mountainous land a lonely place. They had left relatives, neighbors and familiar places in the seaboard states and with the population so scattered, loneliness became a major problem. A church provided a feeling of community and brotherhood in their lives. Service was as much a social activity as a sacred duty. It bound the people together into close knit families and as such performed a much needed service for the frontier population.

In this edition of the Bicentennial Bookshelf, Mr. Boles tells the story of Kentucky's first public service of worship held in a meadow by Spring Link creek, in what was later to be called Boonesborough; the immigration of Virginia Baptists to Kentucky to unity their feuding divisions; the Methodist minister who got lost in the woods and the first preachers who could ride, shoot, chew and fight with the best of their parishioners and who would apply a muscular Christianity to any rowdies who dared to disrupt a service.

Along side the stories of the Baptists, Methodists and Presbyterians is the story of the early Catholic missionaries to the frontier, the development of a distinctive black Christianity in Kentucky and the theory of how Kentucky nurtured a heritage of Christian antislavery sentiment which distinguished it from the states of the Deep South.

They Should Take Up Serpents

By: Weston La Barre One of the most controversial religious practices in twentieth-century America is the handling of snakes during religious services. The practice was introduced to Kentucky by George Hensley in 1934 when he became pastor of the East Pineville Church of God at Pine Mountain near Harlan. The founder of this fundamental religion was a native of Grasshopper Valley, Tennessee when, in 1909, he fastened upon the test from the bible, Mark XVI, verses 17 & 18-"...they shall take up serpents... and felt bound to obey the command After surviving the handling of a rattlesnake, Hensley began his evangelical work. His converts soon numbered as many as several score. They met in members homes, carried their bibles and their snakes to meeting, chanted, spoke in tongue, prayed and suffered ecstatic seizures. Spreading all over the south, the cult has survived fines, jail sentences, and numerous deaths from snake bites, including that of the founder who was bitten in 1955. This documentary places the rural, southern snake handling cult in its New Testament context and in relation to the folklore of similar practices in Africa, Mexico and the ancient world. The author emphasizes the prevalent repressiveness of the cultists' lives, which find outlet in the handling of the "age old symbol of sin and eternal life."

Bible in Pocket, Gun in Hand By: Ross Phares

The people of the frontier were jealous of their new won freedom, they resented any attempt of city ways to control them. They were determined to keep religion not only free but simple, and a close personal relationship between a person and his Lord.

The typical frontier preacher had been called to the ministry from among the folk he served. His congregation did not demand that he lead them to knowledge and worldly position but rather to the treasures of the eternal world to

Here are chapters on the frontier styles of preaching and praying, the phenomena of revivalism, the church as a disciplinary force, the fiercely jocular competition among the various sects, and the hard lot of circuit ministers. It is an unique book, admirably researched but packed with entertaining anecdotes based on obscure pastoral autobiographies, diaries of early missionaries, minutes of church trails and other curious source material. You'll enjoy this light hearted treatment of a serious subject.

Scholastic All-American

The National Secondary Education Council announced recently that Mary Beth Dudleson has been named a Scholastic All-American.

The NSEC has established the Scholastic All-American Scholar Award Program in order to offer deserved recognition to superior students who excel in the Academic disciplines. The Scholastic All-American Scholars must earn a 3.3 or better grade point average.

Miss Dudleson, who attends McDowell High School was nominated for this award by Joan Caldwell, Biology teacher. She will appear in the Scholastic All-American Scholar Directory

Mary Beth is the daughter of Ernie and Kathy Dudleson. Her grandparents are George and Flora Conn, of Hunter, and Fannie Dudleson, of Martin.

Groundwater Flow Course Set At UK

The University of Kentucky Institute for Mining and Minerals Research (IMMR) is sponsoring a two day short course entitled, Modeling Groundwater Flow In An Aquifer, to be held May

The objective of this course is to provide the skills and materials required to model an aquifer on a microcomputer. Specifically, a widely used program will be employed to calculate groundwater flow and head distribution in both confined and unconfined aquifers and under either steady-rate or transient conditions. Maps of the resulting head distributions will be produced. Although the focus is on flow modeling, the use of the resulting information in initial predictions of contaminant transport will be discussed.

Dr. John Thrailkill, instructor for the course, is a Professor in the Department of Gelogical Sciences at the University of Kentucky. He holds an AB and MS degree in geology from the University of Colorado and a Ph.D. in geology from Princeton University. Dr. Thrailkill's principal research interests have been in the geochemistry, hydrology, and environmental geology of carbonate aguifers and karst terranes

Registration is scheduled for Wednesday, May 25, at 8:30 a.m. in the Mining and Mineral Resources Building Seminar Room 102 on the University of Kentucky Campus in Lexington. Interested persons should contact IMMR's Office at 201 Porter Building, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Kentucky 40506-0205 or (606) 257-2841, Connie S. Willingham, Coordinator.

ANSWER: The effect of chemotherapy on fertility is not always possible to predict. Chemotherapy destroys fast growing cells. This includes cancer cells but may also include normal cells such as hair follicle cells, the cells that line the stomach and food tract, blood cells, and the cells of the sex organs that develop into eggs (female) or sperm

While some men are able to father children after chemotherapy treatment for Hodgkin's disease, many patients experience either sterility or decreased fertility. For some men this may mean that the number of sperm may be too low to impregnate a woman. Sometimes after treatment the sperm are not healthy and are not able to penetrate the Men getting treatment who wish to father children may have the option of donating sperm to a sperm bank. This can sometimes be done before treatment begins. The sperm are frozen and stored for use at a later time, when it is artifically inseminated into the woman. If treatment must be started very soon after the diagnosis, sperm can sometimes still be stored while on treatment or after treatment stops. Even in a patient with low sperm counts, the sperm may be accumulated until an adequate amount is present for insemination.

It is important that you and your husband talk to his doctor about your concerns. His doctor would know best whether sterility or decreased fertility is an expected side effect from his

For more information about chemotherapy and the availability of sperm banks, contact the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. The CIS is a service of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

'Murder on the Rio San Juan," a Frontline with Judy Woodruff, airs Friday, April 22 at 8:00 p.m. This investigative documentary looks into the mystery that shrouds the murders. Exclusive pictures from Pastora's home video library, including footage of the suspected bomber mingling with reporters before the attack, and dramatic video of th explosion itself are among the documentary's highlights.

Producer Charles Stuart follows the story deep into a tangle of Central American governments, guerilla forces, intelligence operatives, and U.S. foreign policy. Most disturbing is the pattern of behavior by the U.S. government follow-

ECT RUSSELL BENTLEY STATE REPRESENTATIVE 92ND DISTRICT

The past legislative session demonstrated the need, more than ever, to elect a state representative dedicated to be a hard-working legislator representing all the people in the 92nd district, and not just a few, including one interest group.

We cannot afford to take another step backward and allow someone to inherit the position. Our next state representative should be elected because he wants to serve the people and not just because he wants a job. Russell Bentley is asking for your vote to serve you-not himself.

The state representative for the 92nd district should not continue to represent just one interest group. The coal industry is vital to Eastern Kentucky and the state; however, a state representative should not just have the ear of that industry. But look at the votes cast by the past two state representatives from this district. Coal interests have had a state representative, but not the people or the coal miners.

Russell Bentley will be a friend to the coal industry and fight for the protection of the industry, but he will represent everyone in his district. The recent state legislative action to increase Worker's Compensation rates drove more of our small coal operators out of business. Russell Bentley asks, why must we drive the small people out of business, whether it is farming, industrial jobs or coal? Russell Bentley opposes additional taxes that fall upon the coal operator. Russell Bentley believes one way jobs can be created is to provide tax credits to coal operators. Employers should be encouraged to hire local people, and thus, financial incentive by the state would help.

Russell Bentley believes there are really two coal industries that operate in Eastern Kentucky. Russell is very supportive of the coal industry based in Eastern Kentucky—the coal operator and, especially, the coal miner. Russell has serious reservations about the community-minded nature and the commitment of the other coal industry—that one based out of state.

For that reason Russell Bentley believes that unmined coal should be taxed like other property. If a property owner intends to mine their coal, they should pay tax on the value of that coal just like you and I who pay taxes on our homes, garden spots and vehicles. It is not for a large coal-holding company to pay less taxes on millions of dollars worth of coal than you pay on your vehicle. It's not right. Russell Bentley does not think it is right.

Russell Bentley favors legislation that would protect you, the small landowner with coal reserves, while making the large, out-of-state based corporations pay their fair share. Russell Bentley believes that if these large corporations have to pay taxes on that unmined coal they will want it mined. They will be forced to lease it out to both small and large coal operators in Eastern Kentucky that will put our people to work.

All the other important needs in our communities such as better education, improved roads, law enforcement, fire departments and more government services cannot be achieved without additional revenue. The revenue is available with an unmined minerals tax. We will need strong, vocal leadership to insure this revenue is kept in Eastern Kentucky and not returned to Frankfort.

Hopefully, you, the voter, will realize there is only one candidate who has the interest and independence to represent your needs. There is only one candidate who is willing to stand up for you.

Show tunes for Goulet; Splitsville for Swan, Reed

By Marie Michaels

Nicolette Goulet

Goulet, who once performed in Las Vegas as a backup singer for her father, Robert Goulet, admitted that she was both excited and nervous about singing again. She need not have worried, though - the act was a hit.

 Michael Swan (Duncan McKechnie on "As the World Turns") and his former co-star Margaret Reed (she played Shannon O'Hara), have split after two years of on- and off-screen togetherness, Both actors had been married and divorced twice before they teamed up.

 Alan Dysert, who has returned to the role of Sean Cudahy on "All My Children," has been living in Nashville, Tenn., since he first left the soap six years ago. Dysert has been writing pop and country-western music, and has formed his own music publishing company. He and his wife, Liz, have a 23-month-old son, Cody Dylan Dysert.

• Veteran soap actress Rosemary Prinz, who joined "Ryan's Hope" as Sister Mary Joel a month ago, recently appeared simultaneously on "RH" and "As the World Turns." She returned to "ATWT" as Penny Hughes, a character she created in 1956 (she left the soap in 1968, then returned briefly in 1985). It was just a coincidence that "ATWT" decided to bring Penny back for a few episodes right after Prinz started in "RH."

Prinz is also appearing in "Steel Magnolias," a hit off-Broadway play about six women who sit around talking in a beauty parlor. Because Prinz has her hair coifed every night on stage, she never has to have anything done to it before taping "RH" – especially since, as Sister Mary Joel, her hair is always covered.

* Casting notes: Daytime newcomer Peter Barton is playing intern Scott Granger on "The Young and the Restless," and Rosemary Murphy is now playing Loretta Fowler on "Another World." Longtime soap fans will remember Murphy for her portrayal of Nola Hollister on "Secret Storm" in 1969 and 1970. 7:30 S 3 Hollywood Squares

18 AGAIN (PG - New World) Starring Charlie Schlatter

Old joke: An elderly man says to his buddy, "I have the body of an 18-year-old." "Well, you better give it back," the buddy responds, "you're getting it all wrinkled." Such is the

and George Burns. **

Such is the premise of "18 Again," wherein 81year-old corporate dyna-mo Jack Watson (George Burns) switches bodies with his 18-year-old grandson, David Watson (Charlie Schlatter)

About the only reason one might want to see yet another role-reversal film (after "Like Father, Like Son" and "Vice Versa") is George Burns. You needn't be 92 to want to be young again. And when, Burns tries, it might just be worth watching.

Watching.
Unfortunately, it's not.
For all of Burns' charm and Schlatter's youthful enthusiasm, being 18
never seemed so dull.
Writers Josh Goldstein
and Jonathan Price work with material done far better in other role-reversal films. And Burns actually appears only at the beginning and the end, delivering the rest of his one-liners via overs. Thus the film is only half as interesting as it could be, as the grand-son never actively inhabits his grandfather's body. And it seems cal-lous of Grandpa Watson to abandon his grandson's spirit (trapped on a hospital bed) because he's having too much fun That fun involves up-staging David's college teachers (he knew Tru-man personally, so he gives them little-known information), turning the tables on his fraternity brothers and capturing the heart of the campus queen, Robin (Jennifer Runyon, looking like an 18-year-old Farrah Fawcett). This piays like "Revenge of the Nerds" - but even that film had more laughs. This is strictly a PG farce, the kind of movie Disney used to make. Burns is as endearing as ever, but his perfor-mance is remarkably onedimensional And Schlat-ter essentially does a Burns impersonation. He should get an award for looking as though he ac-tually enjoys smoking those cigars.

Sexually speaking, Ruth remains unchanged

By Denise Gorga

In 1981, Dr. Ruth Westheimer had New Yorkers transfixed in their bedrooms and cars, tuned into radio station WYNY's "Sexually Speaking." Office philosophers pondered the armpit as an erogenous zone. Couples gathered around their stereos, listening to the show's 60 minutes of sexual advice as intently as their parents had fol-lowed "The Green Hornet" and "The Shadow.

Ruth Westheimer

Now, four years after she launched her first cable TV show, Lifetime's "Good Sex with Dr. Ruth," the media-made sex counselor is back on the network. "The All-New Dr. Ruth Show" segues into its second week on Friday, May 6, and Saturday, May 7

"I want to be the female combination of Donahue and Ted Koppel, Westheimer proclaims. And if daunting subject matter makes a good talkshow host, then she rates. The new show's 5/1/88 first three programs deal with fantasies, fathers over 50 and what Westheimer calls the "elusive" part of the female anatomy

But unlike her previous shows, "Good Sex" and the syndicated "Ask Dr. Ruth," the new show will invite celebrity guests and take calls from viewers only if they pertain to the topic being discussed.

"I'm certainly not new, but other things on the show are," the 59-yearold doctor of education says. "It's the first time I have a live audience. can actually touch people although it's not going to be a program." touching

Westheimer's personality - sexually explicit language delivered in an accent that reflects German, Israeli, Swiss and French influences - has made her a celebrity

'I'm short, I'm bubbly I have an accent," she says. "When somebody looks at me they wouldn't think I walk around talking about organs.

On her previous shows, Westheimer had trouble even getting upright. Seems that she is so short (4 feet 11 inches) that when she was seated, her feet didn't reach the floor. The problem was solved with a carpet-covered step placed below her chair.

And according to pro-ducer John Lollins, "The All-New Dr. Ruth Show" has a leg up on its prede-cessors. "We were able to find a chair that was low enough for her," he says. It was a necessity."

of their care The state Department for Medicaid Services has announced the change affecting the families of recipients who have already at least 30 days of care under the state's home- and communitybased services program or through a licensed hospice agency 'Previously, the Medicaid Department considered all income in a household-that of clients, spouses and/or parents-in determining how much the family itself would have to pay toward the nursing care of a client in a home or community program," said Roy Butler, the department's commissioner. "However, only the client's income is considered for the individual's share of the cost of care in settings such as hospitals or nursing homes.

"We're eliminating the different income standard for approximately 1,800 clients receiving this type of care whose monthly income is $1,062 or less." (Socalled "medically needy" Medicaid recipients whose incomes are higher than the $1,062 monthly level are not affected by the policy change.)

Participants in this income group may retain $354 a month for necessary living expenses but are required to spend the remainder on medical care before Medicaid pays for any services.

Butler said eliminating the requirement that the family pay a portion of a patient's medical expenses will cost the Medicaid program an estimated $250,000 a year. "We hope this will enable us to serve some people through home and community programs whom we haven't been able to reach earlier," he said.

Some 1,700 Kentuckians in 107 counties are served by home health agencies under contracts with the department's home- and community-based services program. These are patients who are eligible for nursing home care but manage to stay at home with the help of family, friends and local home health professionals.

Hospice agencies in Ashland, Elizabethtown, Frankfort, Harlan, Lexington, Louisville, Paducah, Prestonsburg, Richmond and Winchester offer care for about 100 terminally ill Medicaid patients in 24 counties. Ser-

Outstanding Booster

David Baker, Stanville, has recently attained national recognition for his support of vocational education in region 11 and has received the outstanding advisory committee member award and a nomination for the individual merit

Baker, branch manager of Brandeis Equipment at Stanville, his wife, the former Belinda Maggard, and his two daughters, Joy, 17 and Erin, 10, reside at Stanville

Baker's first contact with vocational education began when after graduating from high school he enrolled in the heavy equipment diesel mechanics program at the Hazard State Vocational-Technical School. After completing this program. David obtained employment with Brandeis and has been with this organization for about 19 years. When considering a committee to nominate for this worthwhile recognition event, the Diesel Mechanics Craft Committee exceeded all the rest due mainly to Baker's dedication to Vocational Education. Baker has not only been active in the diesel mechanics program, but has also served on other committees and functions directly related to vocational education. Mr. Baker is an active member of the vocational education region eleven advisory committee, a member of the advanced technology center committee, and a member of the Phelps AVEC steering committee. In addition to his committee work, Baker has also donated and loaned equipment to the schools. He has been very receptive to the Co-op program and has helped train students at the Brandeis Shop at Stanville. Several graduating students have become full time employees at Brandeis. Mr. Baker has also been very instrumental in developing vocational organizations and has served as a judge for VICA.

Real Estate Roundtable

By JOHN C. WOLFF, JR., Ed.D. Executive Director Kentucky Real Estate Center

What about Title Insurance?

Q. I have heard a lot about title insurance being very important. I have also heard that there are a couple of different types of title insurance.

Can you tell me about title insurance and what kind I should have to protect me from problems? And what about the attorney who did the title search? Isn't this as good as title insurance?

A. First of all, there are two types of title insurance. The first kind protects a lender from problems which might arise with the title. The second type protects you. the owner, from the same kind of problems.

We will describe the title insurance plans after we look at the attorney's liability. In general, the attorney is responsible for any mistake he or she makes in searching the public records for the title. Title insurance takes care of those problems which cannot be found by searching the public records.

For example; if a required seller's signature on a deed were not there and the attorney missed the omission, then the attorney would be liable. If the signature is there and it is later proven to be a forgery, the insurance policy would come into play

Now back to the main topic of title insurance.

Today, you usually have to buy the kind of ritle insurance which protects the lender when you get a new mortgage loan. You buy this policy at closing, and it protects the lender up to the amount of the mortgage.

If there are title problems which the policy covers, the lender will be paid up to the amount you borrowed. This does not mean, however, that your mortgage is paid. The title company will probably take over your obligation to the mortgage company, and you will continue paying as you had been before

The problems start when the amount needed to cure the title problem is more than is covered by the policy. At this point, the real burden now falls on the owner.

The solution to the problem is the owner's title policy. The owner's policy will cover the liability the owner might have above and beyond the insurance for which he or she has paid to protect the

With legal exposure increasing on almost a daily basis, it is really worth considering having an owner's title insurance policy. You can get an owner's title insurance policy any time you have your title updated.

Title updates are required, for example, for second mortgages and frequently required for home equity loans. These would be good times to consider getting an owner's title insurance policy. The policies are written by the attorneys who search or update the title.

Hamilton's Blast Gives P'burg Comeback Win In Final At Bat

It's the stuff dreams are made of But it can also spoil some. A homerun brings instant pleasure to one side, and sudden heartbreak to the other

Just imagine. It's the bottom of the seventh, two out, and the bases loaded. You walk plateward, hitless on the day, and to add insult to injury, the other team has brought their ace in What do you do? Well, if you're Danny Hamilton you simply take a slow curve over the right field fence and win the game for Prestonsburg. The Blackcats trailed by three runs heading into the bottom of the seventh, but they rallied to defeat Allen Central 9-7, Friday at Allen Park.

Prestonsburg had gotten just two earned runs and seven hits off Mickey Parsons through six innings, but the sophomore righthander suffered from arm trouble, and when Johnny Ray Harris led the seventh off with a single, Donnie Daniels replaced Parsons on the Todd Duff replaced Parsons on the mound, and promptly coaxed Tim Trusty to fift a flyball to center field. The ball was dropped though, and Allen Central's nightmare continued to unfold.

Trusty was later forced at second on a ground ball by Joey Griffith, but Todd Justice followed with an RBI single, cutting the deficit to two runs. Duff then struck out Thomas Nairn. But then came some wheeling and dealing, some decisions and a dramatic end to a nipand-tuck contest

Daniels brought in his ace, Nathan Shelton, to face Ray Collins with runners on the second and third. Collins was intentionally walked, representing the potential winning run, but he was followed by lefthand hitting Danny Hamilton. Daniels had the matchup he wanted, lefthander against lefthander, his ace against Prestonsburg's number eight

It was all perfect for Allen Central. But Hamilton failed to cooperate. He took a meager swipe at a big curve ball and looked at a fast ball in the dirt, Hamilton, though, was ready for the next pitch and he jerked a slow curve just over the fence in right, and it just stayed fair.

We walked Collins because he's a contact hitter," Daniels said, explaining the late inning move. "He'd been on base twice and Hamilton hadn't been on at all and Hackworth (following Hamilton in the order) had been on once. We thought Nathan could handle that kind of hitter.

Shelton didn't though, and as a result was tagged with his first loss of the season. His record dipped to 2-1.

"We played our percentages. That's baseball. You try to set up your percentages but sometimes it doesn't work out,' the coach said. "It was a tough game to loose. It's my fault. When you make those types of decisions you have to suffer the consequences." And the end result this time didn't rest very well with Daniels. "I told my kids that they had done all I asked them to do. I don't blame them. This one was my fault."

But Prestonsburg wasn't thinking of the negative. Russell Shepherd, who in his many years at Prestonsburg, has had games go in the same fashion as this one came, was pleased that his pitcher had finally gotten some support.

"It's about time," Shepherd said about Todd Justice getting the big hit to enable him to gain the victory. Justice, who gave up only two hits, was about to go down to another defeat until Hamilton pulled him from the loser's fire.

The Blackcat junior left hander went the distance, and although Allen Central managed seven runs off him, he surrendered only two hits and one earned run. Justice, though, didn't help himself by walking seven. Prestonsburg committed six errors in back of the hard throwing lefty.

Both of Allen Central's hits came off the bat of Mickey Parsons, who, in his sophomore season, has developed into one of the district's most potent hitters. He didn't exactly hurt the Rebels in his six plus innings of mound duty. Parsons, a righthander, gave up five runs on eight hits. Two of the runs were earned. He struck out two and did not walk a batter. Johnny Ray Harris led Prestonsburg's offensive attack by banging out three singles. The speedy outfielder also scored two runs.

Chris Slone, who made definite strides toward taking over the starting second base position, collected two hits. Tim Trusty got a single and Joey Griffith blasted a solo homerun in the fourth to round out Prestonsburg's offensive

PRESTONSBURG 26; WHEEL-WRIGHT 6.

Russell Shepherd, sitting in the third base dugout filling out his lineup, said he wanted to give his younger players a chance to play. Little did he know that he was sending out a hit squad to pull off a baseball murder.

Prestonsburg's "younger" players collected for 16 hits and 26 runs in only four innings to blast Wheelwright 26-6, Friday night.

The Blackcats got hits from every player except one they sent to the plate. and every hitter they sent to the plate also scored as Prestonsburg won their second game of the day.

Joey Griffith, the Blackcats' starting pitcher, led the way offensively with three hits, including two singles and a double. Griffith, who struck out the first six hitters he faced, had a no-hitter going into the final inning but lost it when Kevin Isaac reached the left hander for Wheelwright went on to score four times in the fifth with the big hit being a Brad Compton opposite field double to right that drove in two runs.

But Prestonsburg had already built a lead they weren't going to give up. They scored four runs in the first two innings then exploded for nine in the third to blow the game wide open.

Brad Compton, who pitched the first one and two-thirds innings and the final two-thirds of the fourth, was tagged with the loss. Jimmy Helton, who relieved Compton in the second, performed Wheelwright's mound services in between Compton's divided stint.

Rob Litteral, Stu Robinson, Eric Blackburn, and Chip May collected two hits each to add to the Blackcat hit

RED HOT HITTER: Shortstop Mickey Parsons belted two homeruns Wednesday, and collected both of Allen Central's hits Friday.

Giant Offensive Attack Gives ACHS Easy Win Over McDowell

Shortstop Mickey Parsons led the second inning off with a solo homerun. Two innings later Kevin Webb repeated the longball feat by blasting a leadoff homerun in the fourth inning. Parsons, not to be outdone, cranked another homerun, this one being a two-run shot in the final frame.

The sudden burst of homerun power was just a part of a 12-hit attack that Allen Central used Wednesday night to defeat McDowell, 15-5, in five innings at

"We hit the ball the best that we've hit it all year," Rebel coach Donnie Daniels said. "I have no complaints about the way we hit the ball. We started hitting the ball hard yesterday against a good pitcher," Daniels continued, mentioning his team's 3-2 win over Duran Newsome and Betsy Layne, Tuesday, "and it just carried over to today.

Allen Central, expected to excell at the plate this season, scored at least two runs in each of the five innings, and forced the 10-run mercy rule when they plated five runs in the top of the fifth

The Rebels scored two times in the first, and after McDowell tied the score in the bottom half of the opening frame, Allen Central hit for a three spot in the second, and never trailed from that point on.

"I'm pleased with our performance. They did what I asked them to do. They went out and put them away early. We never trailed in the game," Daniels said.

Thanks to a strong offensive showing from centerfielder Darren Conn, the Rebels did get off to a rapid start. Conn, a lefthanded hitting senior, enjoyed a four for four performance at the plate and collected three RBIs in the first three innings.

Conn, one of the region's top allaround players, singled in the first inning, and after Todd Duff, who had walked, scored on a Kevin Webb grounder, Conn rode home on a deep fly ball to center, Rady Martin collected that run

In the bottom half of the inning, Henry Webb reached on an error, went to second on a wild throw, reached third on a wild pitch, and stole home.

That was the second time we've had home stolen on us this year and I can't believe it," Daniels said in a bit of disgust. "That's just a mental mistake." Webb, with a two-two count on Dickie Joe Shannon, took off for home. Luckily the pitch was high and Shannon elected not to swing, avoiding what could have turned into a tragic injury. But Webb was called safe at the plate, and on the next pitch plateward, Shannon took a Jamie May fast ball over the left field fence to tie the score.

Then, though, Parsons hit the first of his two homeruns to lead off the second. After the next two hitters were retired, Nathan Shelton smacked an opposite field double to left. Todd Duff walked for the second time, and Conn lifted a fly ball to left. A playable fly it was, but it fell untouched, and went for a double that scored both Shelton and Duff.

The runs put Allen Central up 5-2. They added three in the third, two in the fourth, and five more in the fifth to enforce the 10-run mercy rule.

In the meantime Jamie May, Allen Central's starting pitcher, made the most of his strong offensive support.

The junior lefthander held McDowell to only three hits in the route going performance. He struck out 11 and walked three. Only one of the five runs scored off May was earned.

The earned run came in the third when Henry Webb, McDowell's starting and losing pitcher, opened the inning with a single, went to second on a wild pitch, and stole third. He eventually crossed the plate when Mike McQuate lifted a fly ball to deep right field.

Webb had two of the three Daredevil hits. The other came on Dickie Joe Shannon's homerun to left.

McDowell, trailing 15-3 in the bottom of the fifth, plated two runs as Webb and Brent Rose scored, but they made both their first and third outs at third base, and as a result failed to avoid the mer-

Webb, a junior righthander, went the distance for McDowell. He gave up all 12 hits and 15 runs, 14 of which were earned. Webb walked eight and struck

Rady Martin and Mickey Parsons scored three runs each for the Rebels. Parsons, a sophomore, enjoyed a perfect performance at the plate, going three for three with a single to go along with his two homeruns. He also drove in four Conn, Webb, Duff, and May each crossed the plate twice in lending sup-port to Allen Central's strong run production.

Daniels, who saw his team struggle while four seniors were relaxing in Florida, sent much of the credit the way of his senior class, pointing out the leadership they give to Allen Central's group of underclassmen.

Base Running Mistakes, Big McDowell Bats, Beat Rebels

In the fourth inning, with two on and only one out, Mickey Parsons was thrown out trying to steal third. Jamie Hall, in the sixth inning, was tagged out when he tried to score after Kevin Webb struck out with the bases loaded, and one out. In the bottom of the seventh and Allen Central trailing by two runs, Jamie May was called out when he apparently missed home plate

Base running mistakes such as these, and a potent McDowell offensive attack eventually spelled doom for the Rebels as McDowell earned an 8-6 win Monday evening at Allen Park

Mike McQuate, McDowell's heavyhitting center fielder, went two for four with a homerun and two runs scored to lead the Daredevils' six-hit attack. John Stumbo also scored twice and collected an RBI to help in the win. The victory was McDowell's second against county competition. They had earlier defeated Betsy Layne with the seniors gone.

When we get some pitching, and Keith did a good job we're alright," McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner said "They're just good athletes. Sometimes they're on and sometimes

McDowell has been inconsistent thus far in the 1988 season, prompting Turner to mention the on-again-off-again style of play the Daredevils have produced

Turner was impressed, though, with the performance of his starting pitcher, Keith Shelton. The sophomore righthander went the distance to pick up the win. He gave up six runs, three earned, on eight hits. Shelton walked seven and struck out five. Rady Martin suffered the loss for Allen Central, losers five games in a row Martin, a junior right hander, pitched seven innings, giving up eight runs on six hits. He walked seven and struck out eight. Five of the eight runs were earned. The defeat was the Rebels' fifth consecutive setback since they downed McDowell Wednesday evening. But less than a week later the Daredevils scored three runs in an inning twice to reverse the outcome

McDowell, after plating one run in the first, erupted for three runs in the second and came back with three more in the fourth to win their second game of the season. The Daredevils took an early lead in the opening inning when Mike McQuate banged a one out single and later came around to score when Dickie Joe Shannon collected one of his two singles. Shannon's hit came after McQuate had picked up a stolen base. The lead, though, didn't last long. In the bottom of the initial frame Kevin Webb launched a towering fly ball over the right field fence, scoring Darren Conn, who had singled, in front of him and giving Allen Central a 2-1 lead.

But back came McDowell. All season long Johnny Ray Turner has been saying that his team is capable of hitting the baseball, and with a little control problems from Rady Martin, they proved their coach correct

Martin walked four batters in the second inning, and Henry Webb eased a soft line drive over second that went for a single and scored two runs. All total, McDowell tallied three runs in the second to take a 4-2 lead

Although Allen Central threatened in every inning except the third, the Rebels failed to get the big hit, and could never catch McDowell. Robbie Click singled and scored for the Rebels in the bottom of the second, cutting the lead to one, but McDowell rallied for three more in the fourth. After Brent Rose flied out, John Stumbo walked, James Lawson reached on a fielders choice. Stumbo eventually scored on a wild pitch, as did Lawson. McQuate, with two out, shot a line drive over the right center field fence and McDowell found themselves up 7-3.

They added an insurance run in the fifth as Shelton scored Shannon with a single, and it looked as if McDowell would need that run, and maybe even

Allen Central hit for a two-spot in the fourth, but had the bases loaded in both the fifth and sixth innings only to come away scoreless. The Rebels went into the bottom of the seventh trailing by three runs. That lead, though, was disappearing rapidly until back-to-back strikeouts and a missed apparent scoring opportunity bailed

McDowell out of any further damage. Rady Martin, who had two hits for Allen Central, led the inning off with single. Jamie May reached on an error when Nathan Shelton, running for Martin, was caught off second on a grounder to third base. Shannon threw back to second baseman Darrell Goble but the throw wound up in right field and Shelton came on around to score. Mickey Parsons followed with a double and the Rebels had the tying run on second, May at third, with

But Shelton found the strength in his fastball to record back to back strikeouts of Robbie Click and Randy Hansford. A wild pitch later Allen Central had apparently pulled one run closer when Jamie May crossed the plate. But May was ruled out because he missed the

District Draw Held Sunday

Either Prestonsburg or Allen Central won't be in the 15th region's baseball tournament. But one of the two will, and it all comes down to one game in the district tournament.

The draw, which was held Sunday, brought about that situation when Prestonsburg and Allen Central drew each other. They will play Tuesday May 10, and the winner earns the right to play in Thursday's championship game. The winner of Tuesday's game will also earn a place in the regional tournament.

"I can't complain," Daniels said, although Prestonsburg is one of the region's top teams. "All I need is one game and I'm in the regional. That's what I said last year, but as long as I get that draw, just one game then on to the regional, I'll be happy

This year the Bobcats, last year's district champion, will open the tournament against McDowell Monday. The Daredevils, with Betsy Layne's seniors gone, defeated the Bobcats earlier in the season

The winner of the Betsy Layne-McDowell contest will play Wheelwright Wednesday for the right to meet the Prestonsburg-Allen Central winner for the district championship.

Roberts Run In Big Sur Race

Rick Roberts, a long distance runner from Emma, recently took his talents a long distance to run in the recent Big Sur Marathon held April 17 in California.

Roberts, winner of several local races, finished the 26.2 mile race in just over three hours and 22 minutes. His time was 47 minutes behind winner Mike Lunblad of Olympic Valley, California. But Roberts' time was good enough for 171st place out of over 1600 starters.

He finished 37th in his age group of Schroeder is from Radeliffe.

Cincinnati, one of the NFL's top rated offensive teams, was near the bottom of the league in pass and scoring defense. Dixon is expected to start immediately. The Bengals, in the second round, drafted a running back. Cincinnati suffered this past year because James Brooks, their top runner, got hurt and they had no replacement.

Help may have also arrived in the form of Stanley Wilson, Wilson, a talented back, was given his eligibility back this past week by the NFL. He had been suspended for the second time due to cocaine use. A complete comeback by Wilson could solidify Cincinnati's backfield.

It has been a record setting start to the 1988 major league baseball season, but fans in Atlanta and Baltimore had rather forget their team's unbelievable beginnings.

The Braves, before winning their first game at Los Angeles, tied the National League mark for most consecutive losses to start a season, and this past week Baltimore established a new major league record for that unenviable

Atlanta Is Beginning And End Of Cincinnati Stretch In East

The Cincinnati Reds wrapped up a three-game series that turned out to be only a two-gamer, Sunday afternoon, in Atlanta. Monday, May 16, the Reds and Braves hook up again, but from now until then Cincinnati will play 19 consecutive games outside their own Vestern Division.

The Reds, 10-8 heading into the stretch against the East, will wrap up a twogame series tonight at Montreal before returning home on Friday to open a three-game set against the New York

Tonight's game, which pits Mario Soto against Pasquel Perez, brings to an end a brief four-game road trip. But before taking to the road, Cincinnati handed San Francisco a loss last Thursday

The Reds, even with the Giants in their season series, took a one-game advantage in the two teams' personal batele, handing San Francisco an extra inning 7-6 loss. Even though Cincinnati got homeruns from Barry Larkin, Chris-Sabo, and Nick Esasky, and even though they jumped out to an early 6-2 lead, it took 12 innings to dispose of the Giants.

Barry Larkin drilled a three-run homerun in the third inning, and Sabo and Esasky added longballs as Cincinnati built a four-run lead. They held that advantage until the sixth when San Francisco scored four times to tie the game at 6-6. But in the bottom of the 12th Esasky led off with a single, his third hit of the day, and Jeff Treadway tripled him home with the winning run, improving Cincinnati's season series record to 4-3 against the Giants

Pat Perry, who worked three scoreless innings, picked up the win. Perry, 2-2, pitched the 10th, 11th, and 12th without giving up a run. Former Red Joe Price suffered the loss as Cincinnati made it's sixth extra inning game a win-

The Reds left Riverfront Stadium that night and headed on to Atlanta to open a three-game series there against the Braves, a team struggling just to score a run. Winning is something they have given up on.

season for the most consecutive losses to start a season, and after picking up their first win in Los Angeles almost two weeks ago, things continued on the down note for the Braves.

In their series at Houston, the Braves were shut out Wednesday and Thursday. They hadn't scored in their last 19 innings, and time to heal offensively wasn't to be when Danny Jackson took the mound Friday. Jackson, a left hander that Cincinnati obtained from Kansas City during the off season, threw the third consecutive shutout the Atlanta had seen, going the distance as Cincinnati won 4-0. Jackson, 3-1, struck out a season high nine batters and gave up six hits while earning his second complete game of the season.

Chris Sabo, filling in for the injured Buddy Bell, slammed a three-run homerun, his fourth in five games, in the third inning, and Bo Diaz picked up an RBI in the fourth as Cincinnati improved to Jackson's complete game shutout ran Atlanta's scoreless inning streak to 28, and the Braves hadn't even gotten a runner to third base in the past 21 innings.

Had it not been for a rainout Saturday, at least three more innings would have been added to that scoreless streak, but the rains came, forcing a halt after three to a scoreless game. It will be made up as a part of a double header later in the year when Cincinnati makes a return trip to Atlanta

As bad as the situation was, though, the Braves did manage to squeeze out a win Sunday afternoon as they took advantage of solid pitching from Pete Smith and Bruce Sutter to down the Reds. 4-1

Although Cincinnati had several chances to score, and made their last out with the tying run at the plate, Braves pitching did the job when it had to.

Three times the Reds got their leadoff hitter to second base with no outs, but failed to score all three times. In the opening inning Barry Larkin opened the game with a double to left but was left there when Chris Sabo popped up, Eric

Atlanta tied a record earlier in the Davis flied out, and Kal Daniels did the

Again in the sixth inning the leadoff hitter reached second with no outs as Sabo walked and stole second, but again Eric Davis and Kal Daniels failed to produce and the runner was stranded, this time at third because Sabo stole that base as well, giving him seven on the

In the seventh Paul O'Neill opened the inning with a double, his second hit of the day, but he too failed to cross the plate.

After O'Neill's double, Bruce Sutter was called from the bullpen to replace starter Pete Smith. Sutter held Cincinnati scoreless through the seventh and eighth before giving way to Paul Assenmacher in the ninth.

Assenmacher, who had picked up Atlanta's only save of the season, recorded the first two outs with ease, but Tracy Jones banged out a single and Dave Concepcion walked. Pete Rose sent Lloyd McClendon to the plate to pinch hit, but he looked at a called third strike and the comeback hopes of the Reds were spoiled.

Smith, 1-1, picked up the win while Dennis Rasmussen, who started and worked four and one-third innings, suffered the Cincinnati loss. He is now 1-2.

The Reds, 10-8 heading into last night's contest in Montreal, come back home for an off day Thursday before playing the New York Mets Friday night, Saturday night, and Sunday afternoon.

The Expos then come into Riverfront Monday night for a brief two game stop with 7:35 games both Monday and Tuesday nights.

SOLID PERFORMANCE: Prestonsburg's Todd Justice limited Allen Central to two hits and Kelly Stouffer, the first round draft choice a year ago of the St. Louis Cardinals, signed Friday night to play football with the Seattle Seahawks.

Stouffer, a quarterback from Colorado State, sat out last year due to a contract squabble with the Cardinals. He was obtained last week from the Cardinals, who is now located in Phoenix, and signed a four-year pact worth over three million dollars.

Seattle reportedly gave up a 1989 first round pick to obtain the rights to Stouffer. The Seahawks had first decided to send all-pro defensive back Kenny Easley to Phoneix, but Easley failed a team physical that prevented that deal.

Seattle experienced trouble at the quarterback position last year due to the inconsistent performance from David Kreig. Stouffer, though, is slated as a backup now but the Seahawks are grooming him as their passer of the

Boating: A Sport of Great Variety

If you're one of the 68 million Americans who went boating this year the chances are you've discovered there are many ways you and your family can enjoy the sport. You can enjoy nature, fish, sail, explore, camp-out, ski, travel, have an outdoor barbecue, soak up the sun or simply enjoy the sunset while at

It's estimated that 13 percent of all American households own a boat, reports the National Marine Manufacturers Association. One of the reasons is that boats have become surprisingly affordable, many retaining 75 percent of their value through the first several years of use. Boating experts say that one of the best ways to shop for a boat, whether you're a first-time boat buyer or trading up to a bigger model, is to visit a boat show. Most of these shows occur during the winter, giving lovers of the sport a chance to see what will be new the next summer.

It's very possible that the popularity of boating may be because it has become one of the best bargains in family recreation, many agree.

IN WITH A STEAL: Henry Webb goes in head first to third base against Allen Central Wednesday. Webb also stole home in the contest.

Shelton Out-Duels Newsome As Allen Central Wins, 3-2

It could have been expected, and probably was. Anytime Nathan Shelton and Duran Newsome take the hill to oppose each other, a pitcher's duel is bound to be the result.

All Donnie Daniels and Junior Newsome had to do last Tuesday was announce their starting pitchers, and the classic battle was under way.

The two, a couple of the 15th region's top hurlers, locked up at Allen Park to produce possibly the best pitcher's confrontation of the season

Shelton, though, benefitted from a big Allen Central sixth inning and chalked up his second win of the season, 3-2, over Betsy Layne

The Rebel lefthander scattered six hits in his seven innings of work, limiting Betsy Layne to only one earned run. Shelton, 2-0, struck out six and walked three in the route going performance. Duran Newsome, a junior right-hander, surrendered eight hits in six innings. He struck out six and walked only one. All three runs he gave up came in the sixth inning

Trailing 2-0, Allen Central got five of their eight hits in the sixth while coming from behind to beat Betsy Layne for the first time in three tries this season.

The Bobcats scored one run in the first when Dwight Jarrell led the game off by walking and eventually coming around to score. They again struck for a run in the sixth as Brad Hall singled and pinch runner Larry Hall, running for Brad Hall, scored to put Betsy Layne up 2-0. But Allen Central, with only three hits through five innings, finally found their offensive stroke and banged out a total of five hits in the inning to score three Darren Conn kicked the late rally off by opening the sixth with a single. Kevin Webb, who struggled early in the season but has apparently found his hitting groove, tripled to right to score Conn. Webb came on around to score, and the game was tied.

Newsome toughened on the mound to retire the next two Rebel hitters, but left fielder Robbie Click kept Allen Central alive with a single. He stole second and scored when Randy Handsford smacked a double.

Nathan Shelton followed with a single to put runners on first and third, but Newsome avoided any further scoring by recording a strike out

The damage had already been done,

Spring Is Here!!! Paintsville Lake Cleanup Scheduled

Groups, clubs, and organizations are being sought to participate in Paintsville Lake's second annual cleanup exercise on Saturday, April 23, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Those who collect the most garbage will receive one day's free rental of a houseboat from the Paintsville Marina.

Those participating will be judged by a panel of three judges on the following criteria: number of garbage bags, amount of other trash, such as old tires and abandoned appliances, difficulty of cleaning, such as on steep terrain or distance from the road, and thoroughness of cleaning. The cleanup must take place on public federally-owned land,

Only groups, clubs, and organizations can enter, with one person designated as coordinator. Registration will be conducted until the day of the cleanup, but Paintsville officials encourage early

Garbage bags, gloves, and maps will be provided by the Corps of Engineers. Winners also will have their group name and the amount of garbage collected engraved on a plaque that is displayed in the Paintsville Resource Manager's Office. Winners have to provide their own gas for the houseboat, which they must use during the month

Last year's winner was McDonald's of Paintsville, which collected over 9,000 pounds in garbage. Other participants included the Paintsville Kiwanis Club, be Paintsville Lions Club, and the Flat G. J Volunteer Fire Department. Six tons of garbage was collected in all. An awards ceremony is scheduled for May for the participants in the contest.

though. Click's run proved to be the game winner as Shelton survived the final frame. But it didn't come without a Bobcat threat

Kevin Spurlock coaxed a walk to lead off the inning, but Glen Hammond flied out to center. After Adam Gearheart kept Betsy Layne alive with a single, Matt Conn bounced a grounder to third.

Allen Central recorded the force out of Gearheart at second, but the throw to first was too late to double up Conn.

Spurlock, though, was cut down while trying to score on the play as first baseman Randy Handsford threw to catcher Kevin Webb to record the game's

Shelton, pitching in only his second game of the year, retired Betsy Layne in order in all except the first, sixth, and seventh innings. The senior southpaw faced only four batters over the 21-hitter

Newsome, until the sixth inning, threw possibly the best five innings of his high school career. The hard throwing righthander limited Allen Central to only three hits and walked one during that

He threw 60 pitches in the first five innings and allowed just one runner, Jamie May in the second, to get as far as third base

But the Rebels put together their strong sixth inning of hitting to spoil Newsome's and Betsy Layne's bid for a district win

Webb led Allen Central's offensive attack, collecting a single and a triple in two official trips to the plate. The Rebel catcher walked in the third. Randy Handsford also enjoyed a two-hit performance, coming up with a pair of doubles. He also drove in the winning run in the sixth.

The only Betsy Layne hitter to record more than one hit was Gearheart. Serving as the starting shortstop in place of Newsome, Gearheart collected two singles. All the Bobcats' hits were of the one base variety.

Duran Newsome, Brad Hall, Kevin Spurlock, and Glen Hammond all had singles for Betsy Layne, But Shelton, other than the two runs they scored, allowed only two Bobcat runners to each third base.

1989 TROUT STAMP WINNER ANNOUNCED

Mark Susinno, Olney, Maryland, was recently chosen the winner of the 1989 Kentucky Trout Stamp Competition sponsored by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

Susinno's artwork, which placed first in a field of 54 entries, depicts an angler holding a rainbow trout in the water and removing the hook from the caught fish. The Maryland artist finished second in the 1988 Kentucky trout stamp competition and has also won the competition for the 1986 trout stamp in Maryland and the 1988 and 1989 competitions in Indiana.

The 1989 entries were judged by five Kentuckians with experience in either fish anatomy, art, art production or trout fishing. Entries were received from 25 states from Florida to Washington, including 13 from

Second place was awarded to Ray Young of Abbeville, Louisiana and third place to Sanders Elliott of South Bend,

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Indiana. Those who received horiorable mention were Eugene Budroot, Minnetouka, MN, John Conner, Grandville, MI, John Dearman, Cleveland, TX, Milton Franson, Liverpool, NY, Wiley Miller, Waterford, WI, D. Ed Philpot, Oakdale, MN and Larry Seiler, Rice

> Previous winners of the Kentucky Trout Stamp Competition are as follows: Charles Freeman, Amesbury, MA for 1988, Victor Erickson, Beaver, OR for 1987, Rick Hill, Finchville, KY for 1986, Heiner Hertling, West Bloomfield, MI for 1985 and F. P. "Tony" Bennett, Harlingen, TX for 1984.

> Prior to 1984, Kentucky trout stamps featured a line drawing design of a jumping rainbow trout. Trout anglers are required to purchase a trout stamp for $3.50. Trout stamps are available from any county court clerk office.

If you're not in the swing of things, that first tennis game of the season may bring on some aching muscles. One way to ease those well deserved aches is to reward yourself with a long hot bath. It can do wonders for those tired limbs and muscles. An additional reward for the inner you would be to settle down afterwards with a refreshing glass of iced tea. It's not only low in calories, it's something deliciously soothing to recover with after a hard day's play.

WHEELWRIGHT CLASS OF '53 REUNION

The Sporting Times

Oh Michael, dunk it again. Take it to the baseline, fake 'em up on one side then float on to the other. Sky from the free throw line and slam it home. Or just put on a few dipsy doo' moves and shoot your jumper over three defenders.

Score 50 or more and send the fans into basketball ecstasy land. Show off that awesome athletic ability, take would be defenders to offensive school, and show us one more time why you are the world's greatest scoring machine.

Your world is filled with headlines of Larry Bird and Magic Johnson. It is dominated by Los Angeles and Boston, but you, Michael Jordan, are in a land, and air of your own.

The National Basketball Association has long belonged to classic championship series between the Lakers and Celtics. The league loves to give it's most coveted award to Bird and Magic But no longer are those two items a climactic certainty.

High flying aerial attacks live within Michael Jordan, the league's top dunking artist. Scoring is what he does best, but it just so happens that scoring is what Jordan's Chicago Bulls need the most. And when the two come together it just so happens that magic is made somewhere rather than LA.

Before Jordan came to the Bulls they were just another cellar dweller, a team trying to find it's place, a place somewhere rather than last.

While at North Carolina, Jordan was busy leading the Tar Heels to national prominence, not that they hadn't enjoyed it before, but with Jordan they reached a higher plateau. He, along with Sam Perkins and James Worthy, won a National Championship, something North Carolina hasn't done since the Jordan, Worthy, Perkins era. After leaving college, Jordan, along with additional youth Brad Sellars and Charles Oakley, lifted Chicago to a level higher in both talent and success

Now that rookies such as Scotty Pippen and Horace Grant are adding to the attack, Chicago is no longer a door mat. Nobody looks past them because the Bulls are now one of the teams that have to be recognized as contenders.'

And right smack in the middle of it all is Jordan, flying high with a thrilling dunk of pulling up for a smooth jumpshot. Oh sure, Oakley rebounds and plays the enforcer on the inside, and Chicago gets fine complementary help from others, but without Jordan they would be just another struggling Chicago basketball team

He does more for the Bulls than just about any other player does for any other team. In this category, he might even edge out Bird and Magic. Looking for a Most Valuable Player in the NBA? Look no further than Chicago, and take a glance up at what Michael Jordan is

With the playoffs set to begin Thursday, Jordan has Bulls among the best in the Eastern Conference. Chicago has proven they can play with the Bostons, the Los Angeles, and the Detroits of the basketball world. And with Air Jordan leading the way.

Forget, just for a moment, that Jordan leads the league in scoring. Forget, for a moment, that he leads all NBA guards in field goal percentage. Don't even think about his blocked shots or steals, just think about what Michael Jordan means to the Chicago Bulls.

Often times this is overlooked in deciding an MVP. But sometimes an incredible individual season goes overlooked just because a player having a good year is on a team that isn't.

Jordan has both going in his favor. For proof just remember that he leads the NBA scoring, hits over 53 percent of his shots, and usually causes five or six turnovers per game.

Jordan scores 34.7 points per game. That's almost four more an outing than Domingue Wilkins, next on the NBA's scoring list. His assists aren't what many would call eye popping, but who does he have to pass the basketball to? He blocks shots, and creates steals with frequency, but if he wasn't so important to the Bulls offensive attack, if foul trouble for him did not mean immediate devastation for Chicago, Jordan would be a much tougher defender

He does it all, especially score. He also fills the stands with fans just dreaming of a dunk, or now that it's possible, a Chicago win. Who is responsible? Jordan is.

But still it seems as if he doesn't get the attention deserved. The headlines continue to fly East and West of Chicago. But in the Windy City Jordan is creating quite a stir. His incredible physical talents have Bulls' fans hopeful of a big finish.

It may not happen this year. Maybe not even next year, but Chicago is only a center away from an NBA title. But in the meantime Jordan is the center of attention, and with the playoffs on hand nobody is willing to forget his 60-plus point performance against Boston when the final curtain called. The show, at least individually, belongs to Michael Jordan. They call him Air around the league, but Mr. Most Valuable Player could be his name soon.

There isn't much more to be said because Jordan has already told it all. But he has brought to basketball what Elvis did to music, a new twist to old excitement. Some might not love him, but they have to admire his performance

Toxic Trash

Once in a great while, spurred by comments from family members, the urge to clean up the garage overcomes me. There are dangers out there. My eleven year old son recently tried to pry his bicycle out of the garage but instead unleashed a cascade of tomato cages from which he could not escape due to entanglement in drip irrigation tubing.

Clean up progressed well until I encountered four bottles of insecticides which I no longer use. My substitutes for these commonly used chemicals don't eliminate every last pest, but we've learned to accept a few blemishes and our yard is full of

What kept me from completing my task was serious concern about following insecticide label directions for disposal of these now unwanted substances. No matter how toxic the chemical was, with warnings such as "never spray near open water" or "toxic to fish and wildlife". I was directed to simply, "Wrap and place in trash collection.

Trash collection in our county proceeds as follows: your trash is placed on the curb in the morning and by the end of the day, it's gone. It never really disappears however. By the time it is buried at the landfill, the pesticide container has probably broken.

When a landfill leaks, and some do, or when such chemicals are disposed of in an improper manner, leakage into the environment occurs, polluting both ground and surface water. And one way or another, we get our throwaways back ... toxics in our drinking water ... fish with contaminant levels making them unfit for consumption ... or perhaps the elimination of all life from a local pond or

I live in an area that does not provide me with a disposal alternative. Some counties and even a progressive state or two give their citizens the opportunity to dispose of these chemical leftovers in a responsible manner. Annually, Fairfax County, Virginia sponsors two household toxics round-ups. Home owners bring their chemicals to specified locations and can feel confident that proper disposal will occur.

Maine, a state that has taken the bull by the horns, has established a statewide container return program for agricultural users of pesticides. It also has conducted a limited number of household toxics pickups for concerned home owners.

On the scale of total pesticide use for the U.S., the amount the home owner uses may be miniscule. Remember however that with some readily available insecticides, simply flushing a half quart down a storm sewer could be a death sentence for hundreds of species of tiny aquatic animals in a small pond hundreds of yards away from your home.

The resiliency of wildlife species that survive in our neighborhoods is incredible. We need to remain vigilant however about the quality of the environment we live in, and that concern can begin on your street. If you think safer pesticide disposal methods are needed in your community, make a few phone calls and find out what you can do to change the existing system. For the sake of my kids and the wildlife around me, I know

EKU Names Larry Inman Women's Basketball Coach

Eastern Kentucky University has announced that Larry Inman, a successful former head coach of the Middle Tennessee State University women's basketball team, has been selected the head coach of the EKU Lady Colonels' basketball program.

Inman, who coached the MTSU Lady Blue Raiders from 1978-86 and compiled a 161-73 record in those eight seasons, has spent the past two years in private business in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

"We're pleased coach Inman is joining our ranks here at Eastern," said Dr. Martha Mullins, assistant athletic director at Eastern and chairman of the search committee.

In his eight years as head coach at Middle Tennessee, Inman directed his teams to five Ohio Valley Conference regular season titles, two second place finishes and one third place conference season. His MTSU teams also won four OVC tourney titles (1983-86) and advanced to the NCAA regional tournament each of those years where the Lady Blue Raiders were 2-4 in post-season play.

Larry Joe Inman has known success at Middle Tennessee, and we think he can come in here and help our program," said EKU Director of Athletics Donald Combs who was also a member of the selection committee. "He has proven himself on the Division I level by winning five of eight OVC championships during his tenure there.'

Inman, 40, has never had a losing season at any level of coaching. He recorded a 14-13 mark in 1978-79, his first year at the Lady Blue Raider helm, and followed that with records of 23-10, 16-13, 20-5, 26-5, 19-10, 23-7 and 20-10. MTSU won the OVC title in 1982-83 with a perfect 10-0 mark, the first unblemished season performance since the league set up the double round-robin format of scheduling. He has been voted OVC Coach of the Year four times.

Inman was also named Nashville Interscholastic League Coach of the Year four times in five years while at Mt. Juliet High School His teams there won five district crowns, four regional championships, three NIL titles and captured the 1977 Class AAA state championship.

A 1970 graduate of Austin Peay State University, he received his master's degree from Tennessee State Universi-

For Circuit Court Of Floyd County

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR ME FOR CLERK OF THE FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT: | When the tocsin of war was sounded, and Kentucky and Floyd county boys were called, I was one of them. I went, ready and willing to go across at the tap of the drum and the sound of martial music. Your boys went along—some never came back—some tattered and torn and maimed for life. | Before I went, I had a good position and was getting a nice start in life. This was wiped out. I have never fully recovered from the financial loss. | I feel that there is a bond of sympathy between your boys and myself, and the mothers and sisters of the boys that went through those trying days of the war and anxiety. They needed us then-I need you now-"Lest we forget." What little money I have earned, has been earned through honest methods and industry, and I have always tried to see the other fellow's side and help those who needed help. When elected to this office, I will never turn from those who need help or those who have helped me. Live and Let Live shall always be my motto. I have accumulated no money more than a living. If my past life has been such as to have gained friends, rest assured that when elected to this office, it will be conducted in a business way accompanied by friendship and courtesy, and not for the sake of the emoluments of the office, but to lighten your burdens where I can do so. I I will appreciate your support.

Very respectfully.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET

The Big Sandy Retired Teachers Association held their regular luncheon meeting Wednesday, April 20, beginning at 10 a.m., at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Mrs. Norma S. Stepp, president, presided, and welcomed the overflow crowd in attendance. H.C. Dutton, president-elect, gave the invocation. The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by Mrs. Imogene Salyer, secretarytreasurer, who also read the minutes of the December meeting, and gave the financial report.

The president gave the roll-call by counties

Mrs. Edith Roberts, president of the Pike County Retired Teachers, and Mrs. Georgie Muncy, a member there, entertained the group with various folk

H.C. Dutton, insurance chairman for B.S.R.T., discussed the possibilities of long-term insurance purchasing and advised the members to "check carefully" before making decisions concerning this

Mrs. Eva Allen Hale reported that 14 volunteers participated in the recent tax aid program at the Floyd County Library, Mrs. Hale also talked of the "55 Alive" drivers' training course, which she and her husband, Harmison Hale, had just finished teaching, and of the possibility of another course being offered, if interest becomes sufficient.

Mrs. Dixie Webb, chairman of visitation and the sending of cards, said that Mrs. May K. Roberts, former president of the Floyd County Retired Teachers, and presently a member of the state non membership committee, is showing improvements, from a recent illness. It was decided that a card would be sent to Mrs. Roberts and also to Mrs. Billie Jean Osborne and Luther Wright, following the passing of their mothers.

Mrs. Stepp appointed the following nominating committee (selecting one from each of six counties) to select officers for the ensuing year: Mrs. Danese Amburgey, Floyd; Luther Wright, Johnson; Georgia Muncy, Pike; Mrs. Hugh Kingsmore, Lawrence; Anna Ruth Arnett, Magoffin, and Opal Preece,

The president called on Miss Ruby Akers and Luther Wright, who serve on the executive council of the state legislative committee, who discussed the legislative portion of the recent Kentucky Retired Teachers' Associational Convention, as it pertains to members of the K.R.T.A. It was added that the pre-retirementmeeting held at the Prestonsburg Community College, recently, had been a highly successful

Mr. Russell Boyd discussed the importance of membership in all organizations of retired teachers and stressed that in order for the retired teachers to be as effective as they should be, 100% membership is necessary. Those who are not members of their local, state, and national retired teachers' organizations, should make an effort to become members at their earliest possible convenience.

The president and others expressed appreciation for all lobbyists who worked on behalf of retired teachers during the past General Assembly.

Mrs. Frankie Sue Best presented her pastel drawing of a lighthouse, with music provided by a recording by two of her former students, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Delano Gray, of Allen, and ending with excerpts from a book entitled, A Smile and A Tear," by Kahlil Gibran.

Enjoying the meeting and the luncheon were the following members and guests from these counties: Lenore Gullett, Russell Boyd, H.C. Dutton, V.P. Horne, Luther Wright, and Edna Blevins Johnson; Edith Roberts, Georgie Muncy, Quentin Howard, June Elswick, and Glen McDowell, Pike; Imogene Salyer, Ethel Fetterly, Anna Ruth Arnett, Peggy Arnett and Maxine Arnettt, Magoffin; Opal Preece and Icle N. Cornette, Martin; Pansy Walker, Louvenia Walker, William Cheek, Nancy B. Cheek, Christine Hayes, Lois Bays, and Edith Flannery, Lawrence, and from Floyd county were: Norma S. Stepp, Danese Amburgey, Ruby Akers, Minnie Grace Sutherland, Docia B. Woods, Opal S. May, Alice Harris, Dixie Webb, Arthur Haywood, Frankie Best, Lois Ball, Delphia Hicks, Mildred Salisbury, Elizabeth Bailey, Anna Sue Stumbo, Bessie R. Conley, Alma Lowe, Arnold Lowe, Eva Hale, Harmison Hale, and Imogene Caldwell.

The next meeting of the B.S.R.T. will be at this same location, Wednesday, June 22, at 10 a.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Prestonsburg is establishing a new rate for its fire subscription service for residential customers, effective May 1, 1988.

Your rate will be in accordance to your property tax bill and be calculated at $1.00 per $1,000 value assessment. There will be a $50.00 minimum fee and a requirement that if the Fire Department responds to a fire then, your insurance company shall pay the appropriate service fee to the City.

You will be required to present a copy of your property tax bill at the City Clerk's Office for this year's renewal. We calculate that most customers will be paying less for this service, and we anticipate more participation. Please feel free to call City Hall for any further information or if you have a question

Craftsmen, Buyers At Derby Breakfast

The Governor's Kentucky Derby breakfast has always been a place to see and be seen. But in recent years, it has also become a place to admire and buy outstanding Kentucky crafts. This year will be no exception.

From Louisville to Goshen, and from Lexington to Catlettsburg, 50 crafts businesses will set up shop on the Capitol grounds May 7 to show off their wares. Gaily decorated booths will attract visitors to browse for pottery, quilts, baskets, even furniture. According to Mrs. Wallace Wilkinson, crafts have become an important part of the celebration.

'The Derby breakfast has become an event that highlights the best of Kentucky," Mrs. Wilkinson said. "The crafts displays add to the festive atmosphere of this uniquely Kentucky happening."

The 50 businesses were selected at random from a list of 65 juried crafts businesses in the state who expressed interest in participating in the breakfast. In all, 230 businesses take part in the state Department of the Arts crafts marketing program.

The items to be offered for sale will be as varied as the locations of the businesses. There will be Derby related items, such as soft-sculpture, fabric horses and stained-glass works that feature horse designs. Also offered for sale will be contemporary crafts, such as pottery, clothing and jewelry, as well as traditional handiwork, such as toys, cornshuck flowers and baskets.

As enjoyable as the crafts displays are for guests of the Derby breakfast, the same is true of the participating artisans "They really have fun," said Fran

Redmon, coordinator of the crafts marketing program. "They feel that they're part of something really big."

The crafts booths will operate for the duration of the breakfast, from 7:30 a.m. until about 12:30 p.m.

Senate Adopts McConnell Amendment on Repayment

amendment proposed by Kentucky Senator Mitch McConnell that will prohibit candidates seeking federal office from using contributions after an election to repay personal campaign loans or expenditures. This measure was attached to the Integrity in Post Employment Act of 1987, commonly known as the "lobbying act," which sailed through the Senate recently by voice vote.

"It is a serious problem in our election system that we allow candidates to put a lot of their own money into their campaigns, essentially buying the election, and then they shake down every special interest and wealthy individual in town to pay themselves back," McConnell said. "Under this new law, if you are going to try to use your personal wealth to buy an election, you are going to have to eat the whole thing," he stated.

The Post Employment Act of 1987 is designed to prevent members of Congress or Executive Branch officials

Appalshop To Show Arnow Film Here

Filmmaker Herb E. Smith will show his new movie, Harriette Simpson Arnow, at 7 p.m., Friday, April 29, at the Prestonsburg Community College audi-

The 36-minute color film is an intimate portrait of the Kentucky-born author of the Dollmaker and seven other works.

Arnow draws a clear picture of her life in the film. She was born in Wayne county (Kentucky) and grew up in Burnside in Pulaski county. After spending some time in Ohio, Arnow married and settled with her husband on a farm in Pulaski county.

"Arnow's stories and the stories of many of her characters deal with the issues that people in Floyd county and other eastern Kentucky counties have dealt with for years," Smith said. Smith works with Appalshop, a communitybased center for people in the Appalachian region to express themselves through the media.

After the film showing, there will be a reception, and Smith will be available for a discussion.

Admission is free; donations to Appalshop will be accepted.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY FOR ALL WATER SYSTEMS PERTAINING TO LEAD IN DRINKING WATER

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information, EPA is likely to lower this standard significantly.

"Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standard.

"EPA and others are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system, and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women. "Lead levels in your drinking water are likely to be highest:

-if your home or water system has lead pipes, or -if your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and

-if the home is less than five years old, or

-if you have soft or acidic water, or -if water sits in the pipes for several hours."

The David Water District does not have lead service lines or other lead-containing materials in our distribution system. The water in David Water District water supply is not in violation of the current standards. The water in your own house piping may be. It is the responsibility of the customer to pay for testing for lead in their own house piping.

You can reduce the possibility of consuming water with high lead concentrations by the following:

1. Flush cold water pipes before drinking-10-30 seconds. 2. Use only water from cold water pipes for drinking, cooking or preparing baby formula. 3. Lead pipes and service connections can be replaced.

4. Insist that only lead free materials be used in repairs or new plumbing. The only way to be sure of the amount of lead in your water is to have the water tested by a state certified testing laboratory. For additional information contact the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at (502) 564-3410 or David Water District at (606) 886-8508. Lead content in Beaver Elkhorn Water, which supplies the

Don't let the Kubota T1400H Lawn Tractor's sleek good looks fool you into thinking it cannot perform beautifully, too.

Kubota's first lawn tractor is built for operator comfort and convenience. It's exceptionally quiet. Rider visibility is excellent. And an air-cooled 13.5 HP Kubota gasoline engine delivers plenty of power to groom even one and two-acre

A hydrostatic transmission makes clutching or shifting unnecessary. The mid-mount mower allows a smooth, professional result even on uneven terrain. Built-in safety features prevent accidental starts. An optional grass bagger collects clippings as you mow. Enjoy the Kubota T1400H

Lawn Tractor. Dependable and safe, it's truly the look of mowers.

Nothing like it on earth.

JOHN GRAHAM CHAPT., DAR, MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of John Graham Chapter NSDAR was held Tuesday, April 12, at 3:30 p.m. at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, Prestonsburg, with the regent, Mrs. Carl R. Horn, presiding.

The DAR rituals were led by the chaplain pro-tem, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble; the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag by Mrs. Olga A. Preston; the American's Creed by Mrs. Opal S. May, the Lord's Prayer by Mrs. Goble; the national defense message was given by Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, and the president general's message was read by Mrs. Ray Brackett.

Members present for roll call were: Mrs. Eleanor Horn, Mrs. Virginia S. Goble, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, Mrs. Opal S. May, Mrs. Olga A. Preston, Mrs. Mae Kendrick, and Mrs. Ray Brackett.

Kentucky State DAR Organizing Secretary Mrs. Virginia Goble, reported on the formation and installation of the Lewis and Benge DAR Chapter in Manchester, Ky. which she, is organizing secretary, helped to organize, with the formal ceremony taking place Saturday, April 3, at Manchester. She also reported on her duties at the 1988 KSDAR State Conference, held at the Marriott Resort, Lexington.

Kentucky Regents' Club President Mrs. Frances Brackett summarized the 91st annual state conference and read letters of appreciation from conference regents, Mrs. Jerry Strayer, California, Mrs. James Golden, Colorado, Mrs. Ronald Mordhorst, Illinois, and Mrs. John F. Weaver, Mich., and she expressed appreciation to District Forester Stephen R. Brackett, Kentucky Division of Forestry, Prestonsburg, for the help in coordinating activities for DAR School Day for approximately 300 members and guests. Mrs. Brackett also served on the conference program committee, served as an election officer for the endorsement of Mrs. Martin F. Thompson, state regent, being endorsed for vice-president general, National Society, and Mrs. Thomas A. Weldon, KSDAR state librarian, Mrs. Carl R. Horn, delegate, served at the Kentucky Regents' Club luncheon as chaplain pro-

In other business, Mrs. Brackett discussed further plans for the reception to be held in late September, to honor KSDAR State Organizing Secretary, Mrs. Goble, and other distinguished Kentucky officers.

At the end of the business session, Mrs. Preston introduced the guest speaker, William Callihan, Area 9 coordinator, Kentucky Division of Disaster and Emergency Service, Department of Military Affairs, who spoke to the group on the Floyd County Emergency Plan. At the conclusion of his talk, the audience asked a number of questions.

Mrs. Mae Kendrick, Mrs. Virginia Goble, and Mrs. Eleanor Horn served as hostesses at the conclusion of the program with the group singing "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Goble; also, to Miss Maurine Mayo and Mrs. Margaret Collins, in absentia.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, May 10, at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, with Mrs. Olga A. Preston, Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, and Mrs. Ray Brackett as hostesses. Mrs. Virginia Goble, guest speaker, will report on the 97th Continental Congress, held April 17-April 22, held in Washington, D.C.
