MUD CREEK CLINIC'S EYE SCREENING TEAM (from left) Velva Newsome, Delmer Keathley, Jeanne Santoli, Mo Dana, and Carolyn Reynolds, stand outside the clinic before starting work in the morning. The team has been visiting homes in the Mud Creek area between the hours of 10:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. Those people found to have severe vision loss will be referred to local ophthalmologists for treatment.

Eye Research in Floyd County Expected To Have Nat'l Impact

By Joe Porter

An important medical study is being done this summer in Floyd County. Mud Creek Clinic in conjunction with the Johns Hopkins University Wilmer Eye Institute is sponsoring a screening for eye disease.

The study started June 1 and will be completed by the end of July. It was designed by Mo Dana, a third year medical student at Johns Hopkins University, who also holds a masters degree in Public Health. To date 670 homes have been visited in the Big Mud Creek and Little Mud Creek areas and 930 people, aged 40 and above, have been screened. The goal is to reach 1000 people.

Dana shares the investigator duties with Jeanne Santoli another Johns Hopkins medical student. Three Mud Creek Clinic volunteers are acting as liaison between the researchers and the residents. Each morning the team splits up into two groups and works through the day-going house to house-interviewing prospective patients and giving vision exams. If the person doesn't pass the vision test, a preliminary diagnosis is done, and an ocular history is taken. The person is then scheduled to see an ophthalmologists at Mud Creek Clinic on one of three Saturdays set aside: July 16, July 23, or July 30. There is no cost to amined by the ophthalmologists, but it's very important to the study that each patient keep his appointment.

"The goal is to conduct a study that we think will have broad implications in determining the prevalence and causes of substantial visual impairment in a rural Appalachian community," Dana said, "but the most important thing is to integrate the needs and interests of the people involved; the patients, the screening team, the clinic, and the ophthalmologists

The results, according to Dana, will be published and presented at public health and ophthalmological conferences throughout the country. "The diseases we've seen here are not different than those we've seen in other places, but we're seeing a higher prevalence of general diseases," Dana said. The four diseases that Dana's team is seeing are: cataract, glaucoma, diabetic retinopathy, and macular degeneration, which are the major causes of severe vision loss in American adults. The study is also assessing the role played by trauma in the causation of vision loss.

The research work has been rewarding for Dana personally. "I've been impressed by the people's kindness and hospitality," Dana said. "They ask us in before they know who we are. They photographs." Dana also sees an advantage in going door to door to screen people. "We see people in the most direct way, and therefore, the relati on is different. In their home they can be

The purpose of the study is also to raise the local consciousness about ocular diseases and the possibilities for their prevention and treatment in the future. Eula Hall, the founder of Mud Creek Clinic, is hoping that the study will lead to a better relationship between ophthalmologists and patients and the establishment of a regular weekly eye clinic to better serve the community's needs. "I hope it identifies the need for eye treatment in this area," she said. "You first have to identify the problem and then go after what's available to solve it." Hall also commends the research team for their contribution. "I'm really proud of them-Mo and Jeanne and the other volunteers. They've really done a fine

R.S. Kukreja, M.D., an ophthalmologist from Pikeville, examined patients at the first clinic July 16. "It was very useful," Kukreja said. "It saved me time because I didn't have to do the screening. I provided the final diagnosis after the preliminary one

Pillersdorf Appeals To U.S. 6th Circuit

Attorney Ned B. Pillersdorf has been tenacious in defense of his client Floyd County Magistrate Eddie Caudill. After a string of five rejected appeals, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 6th Circuit has agreed to hear oral arguments

Caudill, 63, has been free on bond while his case is on appeal, he was convicted of second degree criminal possession of a forged instrument on July, 1985 and sentenced to one year in the state penitentiary. The conviction stemmed from a state police investigation into county corruption that ended with the indictment of 16 Floyd countians. Most of those indictments were eventually dismissed.

"I'm heartened by their decision," Pillersdorf said. "The fact that the 6th. Circuit has agreed to hear the case should forestall the premature attempt to remove Ed from office while his federal appeal is still very much

It is the defense attorney's contention that Caudill's right to a fair trial was denied when a change of venue was granted and the trial was moved from Floyd to Pike County. In his brief to the U.S. Court of Appeals, it states, "The right granted by the Sixth Amendment to trial in the district wherein the crime charged is alleged to have occurred as provided by the Sixth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution should be applied to the states, and therefore, the change of venue granted the Commonwealth should have been denied

Pillersdorf will appear in court August 22 in Cincinnati; he will have 15 minutes to present his argument. Vickie Wise, with the state attorney general's office, will make the Commonwealth's case

Water Workers Set for Training

Floyd County Executive John M Stumbo announced Monday that employees of county water systems will take part in a training program in detecting leaks and line maintenance.

"Many of our water lines, especially on Mud Creek, are 15 years old or older, and the training will help us conserve water and run the pumping stations more efficiently," Stumbo said.

The Kentucky Energy Cabinet is granting $21,500 effective Oct. 1, 1988 through June 30, 1989 to the Kentucky Rural Water Association to provide ad ditional training to all rural water system companies in water system leak detection. It is not unusual for a water system, particularly a small rural system, to lose 30 to 40 percent, and in some cases as much as 50 percent, of water pumped to customers

The additional training in leak detection will help reduce both water losses and electricity costs. Pumping ac-

Floyd Co. Jury Rules Against Price Couple

By Tim Sizemore

After an hour of deliberation Monday, a Floyd County jury ruled in favor of a local bank, despite an elderly Price couple's claim that they did not co-sign a note for their son.

Whether they signed knowingly-or signed at all—was a question posed to the jury by Prestonsburg Attorney Ned Pillersdorf, who represented the defendants, James and Cora Elswick, in a dispute with the First Commonwealth

Former Eastern Ky. Resident Named Editor

Anne Chaney

Anne Chaney, a former resident of Pike County, assumed duties this week as editor of the Floyd County Times, She most recently served as editor of the Ashley News Observer in Crossett, Ark., and previously as composing room manager for the Appalachian News-Express in Pikeville

The case stemmed from a June 1984 loan made to Delmer Elswick, son of the defendants, in which he used as collateral two certificates of deposit belonging to his parents, the CDS were valued at $20,000.

Depositions by the elderly Price couple, unable to attend proceedings due to ill health, were read to the court. They claimed they had knowledge of co-signing the note. "If they did sign, they did not know what they were signing," claimed Pillersdorf, who attempted to prove the couple was incompetant at the time of the transaction.

Doug Turner, the Commonwealth Bank's loan officer, said that he had talked to the couple both before and after he sent the contract to their home in care of their son to be signed, and they had agreed to the terms of the agreement and fully understood its implications.

Attorney for the Plaintiff, Larry Brown, emphasized to the jury that at the time the agreement was signed, the defendants had been in charge of their financial obligations and it was not until the following year their daughter, Anna Belle Reed, was given the power of attorney

Sizemore Appointed To Big Sandy Health Board

At Monday night's monthly meeting of Big Sandy Health Care Incorporated Floyd County Times reporter Tim Sizemore was chosen to fill a vacancy on the Board of Directors by a unanimous vote. Big Sandy Health Care is a non-profit organization, which provides medical care for low-income or indigent people at Mud Creek and Salversville Health Sizemore said of his new responsibilities, "I will work with the other members of the board to see that impartial and courteous service is made available to all who are in need of medical treatment.

A. F. of M. Coming To Eastern Kentucky

By Joe Porter

The American Federation of Musicians, an international union for professional and performing musicians and vocalists, will make a charter presentation Sunday at 2:00 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn. This is the first time in almost 40 years the A.F. of M. has granted a new charter.

The charter will be named Local 822, according to Ed Kuss, a musician and organizer for the union. Kuss said the union will represent musicians and vocalists in 13 eastern Kentucky counties and provide professional security and benefits to area artists who in the past have had to travel hundreds of miles to join chapters in distant cities. Kuss said eastern Kentucky is rich with talented performers and should have its own chapter

All performers and interested people are welcome to attend the the event. Kuss said he expects local political leaders: Chris Perkins, Benny Ray Bailey, and Greg Stumbo, to be on

An Inspiration To Her Students

By Tim Sizemore

Christian, educator, artist and humanitarian are all words that could describe Frankie Sue Best, but if you talk to area residents, even these words fall short of the positive impact Best radiates to all who know her. For many area school children and grownups alike, the name Frankie Best conjures images of exciting art classes where students were allowed to express themselves, or the first time an adult recognized the spoken word. For 36 years, Best taught in Floyd County schools, and also served as principal at Ligon Elementary. Besides teaching at the elementary and secondary levels, Best also taught seven and a half years at Prestonsburg Community College, and still found time at night to teach adult education. Many of her former students keep in close contact with her, and she says her "school children mean the world to

Besides thinking on a local level, Best has become a citizen of the world, counting among her friends many nationalities and ethnic groups that include Bulgarians, Iranians and American Indians.

"My life has been enriched by the nationalities I know," Best says, and she feels that if we take time to know people they are, in many ways, like us. After her son Stephen's death in 1976, Best's time was spent as usual, helping others by tutoring church affairs and art work.

One of the most important things to happen in Best's life was meeting an Iranian student while tutoring at the college. Best says Masoud Meshcat came to her at a time they both needed help: He had no place to live, and she was suffering from a balance disorder.

"Masoud was God-sent," she said, adding "Nobody could take the place of my Stephen, but Masoud has become my second son.

Meshcat lived with Best for seven years, and she tutored him in English and grammer. He helped her with daily chores until his visa expired and he was forced to return to Iran. Best hopes that one day he and his family will be allowed to immigrate to this country

Best's first thought has been, "What can I do to help others?" She is a living example of Christ's words, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. "The Lord is always with me," she says, and proudly adds that she has

and they can resume their friendship. been a member of the Baptist church for 33 years. Recently, Best put her teaching to the work of God and for a week taught arts and crafts at Irene Cole's Vacation Bible School.

SURROUNDED BY HER ART WORK, Frankie Sue Best shows off the handiwork of her favorite pastime, which is one of many that fill her rich life.

Historical Society Granted Humanities Council Funds For Teacher Workshops

The Kentucky Historical Society has received a mini-grant from the Kentucky Humanities Council in support of a series of teacher workshops that will combine scholarly and "hands-on" approaches to Kentucky history topics. Scheduled to take place across the state between July and November, the three- to six-hour programs will explore the unsung heroes and heroines of Kentucky's past-pioneer families, Civil War soldiers, Appalachian farmers, and Victorian women. Participating teachers of all grade levels will hear talks by historians from universities across the commonwealth, view audio-visual programs, work with historical resources from museums and archives, and participate in handson activities led by artists and living history specialists.

· The series begins in Whitesburg on July 14 with "Mountain Farmers: Tradition and Change in Appalachian Agriculture," a day-long session cosponsored by Appalshop and the Eastern Kentucky Teachers' Network. Fall programs include "Families on the Frontier" in Frankfort on September 10; "Victorian Women" at Adsmore Museum in Princeton on October 8; "Civil War Soldiers" in Frankfort on October 22; and "Victorian Women" in Frankfort on November 12.

Amnesty Program Worries Kentucky Small Business

The recently-concluded session of the Kentucky General Assembly collected respectable grades from the state's small business community, but the state's largest small business organization warned that penalties from the approved Tax Amnesty Program (HB risk of considerable and devastating corporate and personal liability exists if outstanding state tax obligations are not detected prior to the end of the amnesty period. Accordingly, NFIB/Kentucky emphatically encourages all Kentucky small businesses to engage in a self-audit during the amnesty period.

On a more positive note, the comprehensive tort reform legislation package (HB 551) that was strongly supported by NFIB/Kentucky passed the House 98-0 and was approved 34-3 by the Senate.

The final reform package is a testimony to the value and importance of the State Ballot survery," Bowman said. "Legislators statewide saw that this issue was a top priority to small business owners and acted according-

Cocaine. The party's over.

It probably started with occasional use at parties, a line or two at concerts and other special events, perhaps a gram or so on weekends when some of your friends came over.

Now, you're using all the time. And like thousands of others. you're suspecting that cocaine isn't the safe, nonaddictive, recreational drug that everyone was saying it was a few years ago. You're right. One in ten people who snort cocaine become addicted within four years. And half of all cocaine smokers end up totally unable to regulate their use, often in a much shorter time.

How can you tell when you've stopped being a social user? Well, if you find it difficult to refuse cocaine when it's available, or you use it even in inappropriate circumstances, then you've already started down the road of addiction.

What happens next is you completely lose control of your use. When you have coke, you do it until either you or the drug is exhausted.

If you continue, you get so you don't care what happens, as long as you have cocaine. You steal, lie, cheat, deal and risk prison to get it. You'll likely put everything you once valued at risk. Your job, home, possessions, family, friends, and of course your health. Even if you're mentally stable, continued use will probably make you paranoid and may give you terrifyingly real hallucinations.

But most frightening of all, despite all this, you may still feel you're totally in control. Don't believe

TIDBITS by Janice Shepherd

The smattering of rainfall here has done little to relieve the hot temperatures weather-wise and human-wise. This week's column is devoted to the numerous side of life. Chuckle and the steam will evaporate.

The Rev. Clifford Austin, pastor of the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church, here, throws in a story every now and then during his sermon to see if his congregation is awake. The ripple that went through his audience one Sunday morning when he told the following tale proved that they heard him loud and clear.

SHOCKED SPEECHLESS

A Dr. Brown, of Rochester, Minnesota, was treating a patient with a minor ailment. Dr. Brown asked his patient what seemed to be his problem and the wife answered. Dr. Brown asked him his age, but the wife answered. Every question that Dr. Brown asked his patient, the wife answered. Exasperated, Dr. Brown asked the wife to kindly step outside. He then continued questioning the patient who through a speech impediment was unable to talk.

The doctor then asked the wife to return and aptly apologized to her saying "I'm very sorry, but I didn't realize that your husband could not talk." Unabashed the woman replied, "That's okay Doctor, neither did L."

NOT HENPECKED JUST OBEDIENT

Also from the Rev. Austin is the story of St. Peter's organization of Heaven. St. Peter asked all the men to form two lines. Henpecked husbands were to get in one line and those who were not henpecked in another. All the men went to the henpecked line but one brave soul. St. Peter congratulated him and asked why he was in that line. The man replied, "My wife told me to."

RINGING FAMILIARITY

And then there's the one about the bell ringer. It seems a church was in desperate need of a bell ringer. Applying for the job was a man without any arms. The preacher said "Sir, how can you ring our bell, You don't have any arms?" The man replied, "Just watch me!" He then lowered his head and stormed forward. The bell rang loud and clear as his head made contact. The pastor said "Son, as long as you can ring that bell, you've got the job."

All went well until someone left the belfry window open. The man ran forward, missed the bell and went flying out the window, splattering the sidewalk below. A crowd quickly gathered and someone asked, "Who was that man?" A voice from the crowd replied, "I don't know, but his face sure rings a bell.'

Seeks Information

I am searching for genealogical information and am writing in hopes that you or the readers of your newspaper can help. My family was in your area at one time, and maybe some descendants are still living there.

I am seeking information on the descendants of Holman Rice, a Revolutionary War soldier who died July 12, 1849, in Bath County, and his children, Marshall C. Rice, Jane (wife of John Stanfield), Amanda (wife of Charles Tacket), and Palina (wife of George Tacket).

I would also like to learn about Holman's brother William Rice who died probably in Carter County, and William's sons Archibald Rice (born in Virginia in 1795 and married Cinderella Rice the daughter of Ezekiel Rice in 1818) and Sherrod Rice (born in 1804 and married Margaret Morris).

Any information would be greatly

Park Tourism Up At Jenny Wiley

According to Jenny Wiley Resort Park Manager Leon Russel, there has been an upswing in tourism at the facility with boating and golf topping

Russel says that boating is up 15 percent, while golf has seen a rise of 10 percent. He says that overall attendance has been excellent, and that the lodge, pool and summer music theatre have done capacity business. The only effect the drought has had is a drop in picnicking, Russel said.

Statewide, the Kentucky Department of Travel Development's May 1988 travel barometer report shows that business activity within the state's tourism and travel industry is up for the ninth consecutive month.

The report indicates a growth of 2.7 percent for May. This increase, coupled with a 4.8 percent increase for the first quarter of 1988 and a 5 percent increase for April, represents a strong gain for tourism, according to Tourism Cabinet Secretary Mary Ray Oaken.

'We are very pleased to see the continuing growth in tourism and travel," Oaken said. "If this pattern of increase continues, it could translate into as many as one million new visitors for the state this year.'

Another sign of prosperity in tourism and travel is that the number of telephone and mail inquiries by people requesting Kentucky travel information has increased 33 percent so far this

The travel barometer is based on surveys of the four major sectors of tourism. Researchers look at the yearto-year changes in the number of people visiting attractions (such as museums and historical sites), rooms and cottages rented at state parks, rooms rented at hotels and motels, and sites rented at campgrounds.

Kentucky's hotels and motels experienced a 5.2 percent jump in the number of rooms rented this May as compared to May 1987, and lodging within the state park system increased 3.5 percent over that for May 1987. The number of visitors to Kentucky attractions was up 0.4 percent.

The 2.7 percent increase reported for the industry statewide has a sampling variability of only 0.3 percent. This means that chances are 95 in 100 that the actual value of the increase is between 2.4 percent and 3.0 percent.

In 1987 the tourism and travel industry contributed over $4 billion to Kentucky's economy, generated over $283 million in tax revenues, and employed more than 114,000 people.

Job Growth Brings May Jobless Rate Down To Six-Month Low

every category pushed Kentucky's May jobless rates down to the lowest level in six months

Unemployment in Kentucky dropped from a revised 8.6 percent in April to a preliminary 7.8 percent in May, the lowest rate since last November, when it was 7.7 percent, according to the Cabinet for Human Resources' monthly report on labor force trends.

Meanwhile, the national jobless rate increased from 5.3 percent in April to 5.4 percent in May. The last time Kentucky's rate declined while the national rate went up was between August and September 1986. The comparable state and national rates are not seasonally

The number of Kentuckians working in May was 1,581,700, according to a U.S. Department of Labor survey. This was 20,500 more than in April and 44,900 more than in May 1987, when the state unemployment rate was 8.6

The greatest increase was in agriculture, where 13,500 more jobs were recorded. Kentucky's chief labor market analyst, Ed Blackwell, said, "A big jump in farm employment is normal at this time of the year because of spring planting.

Manufacturing and trade each added 2,600 jobs, construction was up by 2,500 and services gained 1,200

With the latest increase in manufacturing, employment in this category is the highest it's been since October 1981," Blackwell said. "We are gradually regaining the positions we've lost since 1979, when manufacturing jobs in Kentucky were at the highest

He said most of the growth in the trade sector was in restaurants, groceries, hardware stores and department stores.

Construction growth was recorded in heating, plumbing and air conditioning; highways and bridges; and home building. "Some of this construction increase had a ripple effect, creating more business for hardware stores," Blackwell noted.

Most of the increase in services was in recreation and business services. "Education recorded 1,800 fewer jobs as hourly workers left the

The federal estimate of unemployed Kentuckians was 134,100 in May, down 12,400 from the April figure of 146,500 and 10,800 from the May 1987 report of 144,900. This includes new and reentrants to the labor force; people receiving unemployment insurance benefits: and laid-off workers who either were not covered by UI, did not work long enough to qualify or have exhausted their benefits but are continuing to look for work.

Kentucky's civilian labor force estimate for May was 1,715,800, up from 1,707,700 in April and 1,681,700 in May 1987. This includes people who have non-military jobs and unemployed Kentuckians who actively are seeking work. It does not include the unemployed who have not looked for a job in four weeks.

GED Class Offered to Service Vets

Franklin Howard is a remarkable man. Howard is a veteran and former businessman who lives in Martin. But what is remarkable about him is that at the age of 53 he has returned to school to get his high school diploma. Howard is one of six students in Marcie Menster's GED class for service veterans. Claude Ratliff, the Veterans Representative for the State Employment Service in Prestonsburg, organized the class when he discovered through researching his files that 27 percent of the veterans listed were not high school graduates. Yet most employers today are demanding a high school degree as a basic requirement.

veteran applicant to a job interview only to have the man or woman rejected because the person didn't have the educational credentials. "Then I have to tell them, 'you've been passed over,' or I have to tell them, 'I can't refer you to the job because the employer wants a high school graduate," Ratliff said. This is not a local but a national trend, where more education is being demanded." The veterans rep said there are a number of GED classes available, but most are comprised of young men and women who have recently dropped out of school; instead, he wanted to start a class for older veterans with similar interests and goals. "It's an identifiable group," Ratliff said. Howard dropped out of high school in 1954 to join the Air Force. "I've always had a dream of getting my diploma,' Howard said. He's been in the class since it started June 7 and plans to take his equivalency exam July 30 at Prestonsburg Community College. "I want to find a better job and learn and get that diploma I didn't get when I should have," said Bobby Horn, another student in Menster's class. Donnie Stransky worked 14 years in the mines before he was laid off; now he wants his high school degree in order to expand his opportunities and pave the way for either learning another trade or going on to college. He will also be taking the exam at the end of the month.

Menster, a 23 year old VISTA volunteer from Davenport, Iowa, also teaches GED classes at the David School, the Women's Spouse Abuse Center, and the First Presbyterian Church. Each student in her class works at his own pace, and how long it takes a student to learn the material. depends on how far he went in school and how hard he works. "The people who want it the fastest do tons of work," Menster said. "If a person dropped out in the sixth or eighth grade it may take them a year or two.'

Ratliff knows first hand that a high school education is a necessary foundation for better job opportunities; so he plans to keep offering the course, as he says, "for as long as the National Guard donates the space, and Marcie can donate her time.

Host Families Sought For Teen Age Students

Host families are being sought for high school students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Belgium, Austria, Switzerland, West Germany, Spain, France, Italy, Ecuador, Japan, and Australia for the school year 1988-1989 in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

The students, age 15 through 17, will arrive in the United States in August, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June 1989. The students, all fluent in English have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries, have spending money and medical insurance.

Host Families may deduct $50 per month for income tax purposes.

AISE is also interviewing American high school students age 15 through 17 who would like to spend a high school year or semester in Australia.

Families interested in either program should contact the State Coordinator named above or telephone toll free: 1-800-SIBLING.

LET IT RAIN: Sometimes called "air plants," Tillandsia plants absorb moisture and nourishment directly from rain and fog in the air through specialized scales on the surface of their leaves. Midway College Receives Grant

The Steele-Reese Foundation has awarded a $150,000 grant to Midway College, school officials announced Wednesday. The funds will be used to establish an endowed scholarship to enable young women from Floyd and adjacent counties to train in the Midway College nursing program, with the hope that they will return to eastern Kentucky to enter public health service.

Eula Hall, in recognition of her extraordinary achievements in improving the quality of life for thousands of eastern Kentuckians. Hall is a life-long advocate for improved health care for the residents of her native Floyd county. The grant will be paid in three installments of $50,000, with the first installment being paid on or before September 15, 1988 and annually thereafter. 'We are very pleased with this gift," said Judy Griffin, vice president for external affairs. "This is the first time the Steele-Reese Foundation has given a grant to Midway College. The grant will not only provide educational opportunities for many women, but in the long run it will result in improved health care for the residents of eastern Kentucky.

The Steele-Reese Foundation, a trust for charitable purposes, was created by Eleanor Steele Reese on August 10, 1955. The Foundation generally confines its grants to operating charities in southern Appalachia and in the Northwest. Midway College was founded in 1847 and is Kentucky's only college for women. Currently a two-year college, Midway is planning to offer four-year degrees in fall 1989.

Community College Enrollment Increases

Enrollment at Prestonsburg Community College is continuing its upward trend. During the 1988 Summer Session, 568 students registered for classes. This represents a 9% increase over the 1987 Summer Session enrollment of 523 students. The average enrollment for Summer Sessions from 1964 to 1986 was 102 students.

Due to constant growth in enrollment during the past few years, Dr. Henry A. Campbell, PCC President, anticipates a record enrollment for the coming Fall Semester. "With the expanded class offerings on campus plus additional classes at Inez, Belfry, and Pikeville, enrollment may reach 2300 students," stated Campbell. The College opened in the fall of 1964 with 324

College officials are encouraging students who plan to enroll this fall to complete and submit applications now. By submitting applications now, the registration process will be less time consuming for the student. Information concerning PCC may be obtained by calling 886-3863.

Some Kentuckians May Ease Their Water Problems with Food Stamps

Water shortages due to the drought are forcing Kentuckians to be creative in their use of limited liquid resources. But at least 172,000 Kentucky families with equally limited incomes have an option they may not be aware ofbottled water purchased with food

The Kentucky Department for Social Insurance recently confirmed through federal officials that bottled or distilled water is an authorized food stamp item, said Commissioner Mike Robinson.

"An inquiry to our office prompted verification of the eligibility for food stamp use through the U.S. Food and Nutrition Service (FNS)," said Robinson, whose department administers the federal food stamp program in Kentucky.

'We weren't certain of the status of bottled and distilled water, quite simply, because the question had never been raised before.

The FNS ruling is that bottled water is a consumable beverage, in the same category with milk, juices or soft

"With water controls becoming tighter and tighter, more people are turning to bottled water for drinking and cooking," the commissioner

"It's important that our clients, whose incomes are already stretched to the limit, as well as the groceries and other businesses that accept food stamps be aware that the coupons may be used for this purpose.

Robinson said that all local Social Insurance offices have been advised that bottled or distilled water may be purchased with food stamp coupons

Home Improvements Can Pay Off

In normally quiet suburbs, the sound of buzz saws and hammers mingles with that of lawn mowers. This clamor is the telltale sign of homeowners who realize the value of home improvements. Add a porch, install a fireplace, or landscape your property and you may end up with a more valuable home, as well as a reduced tax bill and decreased tax liability when you sell

According to the Kentucky Society of CPAs, you should carefully review your payment options before you hammer a single nail or interview a single contractor. If you need to borrow in order to pay for your home improvements, your best choice is probably a home equity loan, a second mortgage, or refinancing. Depending on various factors, you may be able to deduct the interest on loans secured by your first or second home. On the other hand, if you pay for home improvements with your credit card or a personal loan, you can deduct only 40 percent of interest paid in 1988, 20 percent in 1989, 10 percent in 1990, and none thereafter.

On a more positive note, any capital improvement you make-regardless of the method of payment-increases the cost basis of your residence and decreases your taxable profit when you sell your home. Note that capital improvements are not the same as repair or maintenance activities, such as painting walls or fixing a broken window pane. To qualify as a capital improvement, a project must add to the property's value, prolong its life, or adapt it to a new use. Repairs just maintain the home in acceptable

To substantiate your homeimprovement expenses, keep a file of canceled checks, credit card bills, contractor invoices, receipts for materials, before and after photographs, and loan agreements. Don't forget to document the small, do-it-yourself projects, such as installing a new mailbox, paving your driveway, or hooking up an automatic garage-door opener.

Once you decide on a source of funding, and the amount of money you can afford to spend, focus on the various remodeling projects under consideration. Which home improvements would yield the greatest return on your investment? What projects can you manage on your own and which require a contractor?

When it comes to remodeling, individuality has its drawbacks. To one homeowner, a hot tub built into the back porch may be the height of luxury, while to another such a set-up may seem outlandish. If your only concern is creating a home in which you can happily live the rest of your life, by all means, improve your home in whatever way you choose. But if you are concerned about resale value, remember that conformity can pay off when it comes time to sell.

Projects that elevate your property value well out of the neighborhood's norm, for example, are not likely to recover modeling costs. A six-bedroom house in a community of starter homes is simply out of place-and usually hard to sell. On the other hand, you would do well to bring your house up to par by adding on a second garage in an area dominated by two-garage homes. As a general rule, don't expect to sell your house for more than 20 percent above the average in your area. So if you buy a $90,000 home in a $100,000 neighborhood, CPAs advise you to spend no more than $30,000 in home improvement costs.

Over the years, certain improvements have consistently provided the best recovery of cost. Update your kitchen by adding more cabinets or more counter space, and you will often recover the amount spent on the renovation. Other enhancements that generally return 50 to 100 percent of their cost include a second bathroom, skylights, and expanded closet space. If you don't already have one, a fireplace, particularly a new energyefficient model, may be one of the best investments you can make. And don't forget that other emergency-conservation measures, such as installing storm windows or insulating your attic, can lower your fuel costs and deliver a return on your investments even if you don't sell.

Now you are ready to decide on who should do the job. Obviously, a lot will depend on your own skills, financial priorities, the nature of the improvement, and the amount of time you have available for the project. If you choose the "do-it-yourself" approach, the savings can be considerable. But if you cringe at the thought of plunging a wall, hire a contractor. Always obtain written estimates from several contractors. Choose two or three, then check with their past customers and with the Better Business Bureau. You may even contact the banks with whom the contractors do business.

Review a sample contract and note what a contractor does and does not agree to do. Who is responsible for cleanup after the work is completed? Is there an additional charge for this service? The contract should also spell out who pays for materials and other related costs. For example, while it to obtain building permits for the project, the homeowner usually pays the fees. In any case, make sure that the permit is obtained-otherwise, you can be liable for the penalty. Since any construction job can run into cost overruns, make sure the contract specifies that any sizeable increase in expenses must first receive your approval.

Before signing the contract, ask the construction company to obtain a certificate of insurance that names you as coinsured for damage or injury. Also, check that the contractors are covered by workmen's compensation.

Once you are satisfied with the contract, set up a payment schedule with the contractor. Early payments should allow a company enough money to buy materials and pay workers and subcontractors-but withhold the balance of the fee to use as leverage against completion of the job. Since full payment to the contractor does not prevent suppliers or subcontractors from filing liens against your property, never release the final payment until you have proof that the coordinator has paid all parties involved in the project.

Finally, CPAs advise you to carefully weigh all the financial consequences of remodeling before entering into an agreement with a contractor.

Present West Side Story

Summer Stock Players

Glad Hands and Sturgeon has a dual role as Doc.

By Joe Porter By reprising big popular Broadway hits like West Side Story and Hello. Dolly! with quality professional productions, Jenny Wiley Musical Theatre has made itself into the biggest summer cultural attraction in Eastern

West Side Story opened June 23rd after only nine days of rehearsals, but that's summer stock; no sooner is one show up and going than rehearsalsmornings and afternoons-start for the

"It's one after another-it's boom, boom, boom," said Homer Tracy, the director/choreographer of West Side Story. "There's not much time to ponder or ask yourself, how did I get Tracy, who also directed The Jenny Wiley Story, talked about what it takes to put on two musicals back to back. "It takes a continuous thinking person," he said, "It's extremely stressful. You've got to be organized. You've got to come in prepared. It's not an ideal situation, but I can do it if I stay on top of it. The time element is essential.

Once West Side Story opened, Tracy's contract was up, and he returned to his home in Richmond. From then on, it has been up to Brad Waters, production stage manager, and stage manager, Cheryl Sabik, to keep production values in place and the musical running smoothly.

While Sabik works backstage making actors calls and directing scene changes, Waters is up in the booth behind the audience, calling light cues.

After seeing the show, Joe Conger, the director for THE 1940's RADIO HOUR, said, "It's remarkable what Homer did in nine days. I would like to have six weeks to do it in. It's one of the most demanding productions a summer stock company can do. It's a gigantic piece.'

'Homer was familiar with the people so it went quicker, but his style of directing per se didn't change, "says Sabik. Jim Barbour, who plays Diesel. also commented about working with Tracy. "A good director like Homer is someone who gives you a foundation and lets you mold your character within his parameters. You have this wide spectrum, and he'll help you pick and choose. But if you do too much, he'll bring you back."

Finding character is also something Kristen Plumley, as Maria, strives for. Plumley, 23, comes from South Windsor, Connecticut. During the school year she is a graduate student at the Hartt School of Music in Hartford. Maria is not a new role for Plumley; she played it five years ago, and coming back to the role, she has looked for ways to improve her performance.

"I wanted to show more growth in her character," Plumley said. "The story takes place in just two days, but in that time, Maria changes a lot. In the beginning she's fresh and inexperienced, but by the end, she's wiser; she's grown up. I wanted to show that development." Concerned before the opening because of the short rehearsal period, Plumley has seen the musical come together, and now speaks confidently about it. "The more we do it, the tighter it'll become," she said. Michael McCormack, portraying Tony, plays opposite Plumley. "I've always wanted to do this role; it's a dream role," he said, "and I've had fun doing it; it's the reason I came here." McCormack, who comes from Los Gatos, California and graduated this year from the University of Southern California, knows that the show's success depends on the chemistry created between Tony and Maria. "I was worried about that before I got here and met Kristen," McCormack said, "but we've really had a nice rapport right from the start. I really respect Kristen's talents. She has a beautiful

Mike Owens is Riff, the leader of the Jets. The 20-year-old Louisville native uses the scenic design-the brick facades, the clotheslines and ash cans, the graffiti-to help him create his character. In particular, it is the fence image that he internalizes and plays off

"It works for me," Owens said. "While I'm on stage I use the fences as much as possible. Street gangs are like caged animals. You stick one group of people in with another, and they can't break away from this life. Riff in his mind will always be young. He's so young he thinks he can do anything.'

Opposite Riff is the fuse-lit Bernardo, leader of the Sharks, played by Phil Ragozzino, who grew up in a tough New Jersey neighborhood and went on to graduate from Maharishi International University. "I understand him, who he is, what he does," Ragozzino said of his character. "I pick up on the anger, the shell, the attitude. I can spark him from the inside, then express him on the stage. What I have to do with Bernardo is keep him in my soul and heart at all times because I do so many things on stage-dance, sing, fight; but I have to sing the way he

Melissa Roach, a junior high school teacher from Logan County, West Virginia, started working in summer stock when she was 17. Now 23, Roach plays Anita, Maria's friend, Having been a voice major at Marshall University in Huntington has helped her portray the experienced Puerto Rican girl with a convincing accent.

Mindy Paige Davis supports in the role of Consuela. The part allowed Davis a chance to see the story from a different viewpoint, after having played Anita in a production at the Youth Performing Arts School in Louisville. "As Consuela, I play her as dittzy and goofy and naive," Davis said. "She's sort of a dumb sweet girl." The young actress is a dance major at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

For the first time this year Jenny Wiley Theatre is presenting its shows to the deaf. Pat Walker, an actress in her own right and a teacher with the Floyd school system's Hearing Impaired Program, will be signing 14 performances. Four of them will be of West Side Story.

'The purpose of interpreting is to give the clearest message possible," Walker said. "In theatre interpreting you have to be correct, but you have to be entertaining as well, because the people come to be entertained."

Citizens National Bank of Paintsville and WYMT TV 57 are sponsoring the musical. The book was written by Arthur Laurents, and the lyrics by Stephen Sandheim; the music was composed by Leonard Berstein. It next plays Friday night July 22 at 8:30 p.m.

Fish...A Food For Long Life

From the American Institute for Cancer Research

Recently, the Japanese took the world lead for longevity, passing the Swedes who held that position for many years. Life expectancy for men and women in Japan is now 75 years and 81 years respectively, compared to 70 years and 77 years for American men and women.

Why are the Japanese-and the Swedes-outliving us? One important factor may be the amount of fish they eat. Per capita consumption of fish in both countries is among the highest in the world.

The American Institute for Cancer Research recommends fish as part of a balanced diet. Low in fat and calories, fish provides high quality protein and many essential vitamins and minerals. And recent studies into the beneficial effects of certain fish oils have made, having fish as a regular part of your diet a smart suggestion.

When purchasing fresh fish, look for flesh that is firm and elastic, not separating from the bones. The skin should be shiny and bright in color, with scales firmly attached. Make sure the gills are bright red in color, with scales firmly attached. Make sure the gills are bright red in color and the eyes are bright, clean and transparent. The odor should be fresh and mild, not Experiment in your fish recipes with herbs such as dill, thyme, marjoram, paprika, rosemary and tarragon. Try low-fat preparation methods using fish or chicken broth for moistness.

The following dish is easy to prepare, with a mild sauce that allows one to savor the flavors of special vegetables.

Head Injury Support Group In Lexington

Mr. Bill Kephart, President and Chairman of the Kentucky Head Injury Foundation a charter of the National Head Injury Foundation has announced that a state office has been opened in Lexington at 2220 Zandale Center, Suite 26, Lexington, Kentucky 40503. The phone number is: (606) 278-5922. Trauma is the leading cause of death in the United States for persons under the age of 34, according to the Surgeon General's report, Health United States, 1980. The number of deaths each year, resulting from trauma of the head is estimated at over 140,000. The estimated prevalence of head injuries injuries are the 'silent epidemic' of this decade. Each year more people are permanently disabled as a result of traumatic brain injury than from primary brain tumors, cerebral palsy, spinal cord injuries, multiple sclerosis and muscular dystrophy combined. 50,000-70,000 people a year are permanently disabled. Most people who sustain head injuries are under the age of 30, and most are injured as a result of tragic motor vehicle or sports accidents. Accidents that physically disable and intellectually impair for a lifetime. Even more staggering is the fact that 50,000-70,000 people a year are left with intellectual impairment of not have symptoms. such a degree as to preclude their return to a normal life. These figures registration and reporting of head injured people throughout Kentucky by doctors. Upon the request of the AMA that bill was dropped and a voluntary registration program was suggested, such a program has not yet been instituted therefore, are being formed.

A 'support group' is exactly what its' name implies a 'support system'. Closed Head Injury, Tracheotomy, Brain Stem Damage, Contra-Coup Injury, Coma and Semi-Comatose is not usually in a persons' vocabulary until a head injury happens. Families have tough battles with their loved ones as well as a 24 hour job required for care of the head injured person. The road from shock to reality is short. Friends and other family members do not know what to do or how to react in this unusual situation, thus frustration sets in for all persons involved.

NO LATE PAYMENT PENALTY FOR CUSTOMERS OF HAROLD'S TELEPHONE COMPANY

The Public Service Commission denied Harold Telephone Company's request to establish a late payment charge. The Commission finds that Harold can absorb the cost associated with the proposed charge since its current earnings exceed the return authorized in its last general rate case and the additional revenues from this charge would allow the company to further exceed the authorized return.

* Cancer Hopeline

QUESTION: 1 am 42 years old and my doctor just called and said that my recent mammogram showed a cluster of calcifications. He said that this finding was "suspicious" and that he was going to refer me to a surgeon for a biopsy. I have no lump or any other symptoms. What do these calcifications mean? How can a doctor do a biopsy when there is no lump? Is a biopsy really necessary?

ANSWER: Calcifications are small calcium deposits in the breast that are found only by mammography (breast x-ray). Most calcifications are coarse and are called macrocalcifications. These are common and are often related to degenerative changes, such as old injuries, inflammations, or the aging of the breast arteries. These deposits are associated with benign conditions and do not require a biopsy (removal of tissue for examination under a microscope).

Microcalcifications-tiny specks of calcium in the breast-can be associated with breast cancer. These tiny calcifications may be found in an area of dividing cells. As cells are dying off in such an area, they leave behind cellular debris which can appear on a mammogram as microcalcifications. When five or more of these are seen in one area, they are referred to as a cluster. These may indicate a small cancer and do require a biopsy. Yet, finding a cluster doesn't always mean that a cancer is present. Only one out of four to five biopsies will reveal a cancer.

When a mammogram detects an abnormal area which is too small to be felt, a procedure called a "localization" is needed to help the surgeon locate the suspicious area before the biopsy. Using x-rays for guidance, a needle or fine wire is inserted into the area of microcalcification. After the needle or wire is in place, the biopsy is done, often under local anesthesia.

QUESTION: I heard that there is a blood test called a CEA tumor marker . that can tell whether you have cancer or not. If this is so, why is my doctor still doing a rectal exam, mamin the U.S. is 1,000,000-1,800,000. Head mogram, and all those other tests for different kinds of cancer? Wouldn't it be a lot easier to have one simple blood

ANSWER: The CEA or carcinoembryonic antigen test measures blood levels of a protein produced by certain cancer cells. CEA may also be present in many diseases and conditions other than cancer. For example, cirrhosis of the liver, ulcerative colitis, and chronic cigarette smoking can cause an elevated CEA level, and it can sometimes be elevated for no evident reason. On the other hand, not all patients with cancer will have an elevated CEA. Therefore, this test is not recomwho survive with a serious head injury, mended for screening patients who do

The CEA test can be useful for monitoring nationts who already have clearly reflect a problem of epidemic a diagnosed cancer. It may be used to monitor a patient's response to treat-A bill was to be presented in March ment or to detect a recurrence or a before the Kentucky Legislature for the spread (metastasis) in treated patients. Recent use of the CEA test in the follow-up of patients with colorectal cancer shows how this works, Blood tests were taken regularly after surgical removal of a bowel tumor. If the CEA level did not return to normal within one to two months after surgery, this indicated the need for additional tests or for considering a "secondlook" operation to remove remaining cancer cells. The CEA test would thus continue to be a part of a total followup for those patients at risk for a recurrence or spread of their cancer.

Not all cancers can be tracked in this way. In addition to colorectal cancer, CEA tests are being used in the followup of breast, ovarian, and small cell lung cancer.

For now then, there is no reliable screening blood test available that indicates the presence of cancer somewhere in the body. At present, it is useful to search for certain cancers which are relatively common and treatable. We encourage you to continue having the screening tests that your doctor recommends since this is the best way to detect early cancer. For more information on mammography, call the Cancer Information Service (CIS) at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. The CIS is a service of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

A new program which recognizes the the team teaching awards, according viding Kentucky's youth with a quality education was announced recently by Ashland Oil, Inc.

'We are establishing the Ashland Oil Teacher Achievement Awards program, beginning with the 1988-89 school year," said Robert T. McCowan. Ashland's vice chairman of the board. "We will fund up to $50,000 as awards to individual and teams of teachers as a part of this program.

'Ashland will involve the public, a teacher organization, and state government as participants in this new program to recognize the special role of teachers," McCowan said.

Kentuckians will be asked to nominate a teacher who has made a difference in his or her life or in that of a child. Nominated teachers will be asked to complete a detailed application form which then will be evaluated by a select panel of judges made up of other teachers and educators. Five individual teachers will be selected.

Individual teachers selected will be awarded a $2,000 grant and up to $3,000 to continue their education. "We not only want to recognize Kentucky's best teachers with the cash award, but also to make our best even better. The funding will make it possible for our teachers to pursue continued studies," McCowan said.

In the team category, groups of teachers will be asked to propose inventive, reproducible team teaching projects. They will be required to obtain approval from their principal or superintendent for the teaching project, which will be undertaken in the following school year. Five teams of teachers will be selected by a panel of

Two Floyd County Youths Receive Medical Training

Lees College is currently hosting a six-week Medical and Allied Health Sciences Summer Program (MAHS). Students from the Floyd county area participating in the program include: Tonya Burke, of Bevinsville and Vera Alice Brown, of Teaberry. All of the students selected to participate in the MAHS program were chosen according to their interest in the health care field, their high school grade point average, and motivation and recommendation by a high school official.

The summer enrichment program began June 19 and will be in session through July 29. This is the 14th consecutive year this program has been provided by the Lees College Health and Sciences Department. The program has been developed for recent Kentucky high school graduates with an interest in the field of health care.

Lees College, in association with the federally funded Health Career Opportunity Program, is sponsoring this endeavor on a cost-free basis to all chosen participants in an effort to assist Eastern Kentucky students in becoming more competitive, as well as having the opportunity to be admitted to and succeed in specialized schools of Medicine, Denistry, Veterinary, Pharmacy, or Allied Health.

'These students are receiving firsthand experiences that will enable them to make a rational decision about their future early in their college tenure." explains Dr. Buford Howard, Director of MAHS and Professor of Health Sciences at Lees. "Our hope is that when the program is completed, these students will be better able to cope with college level instruction in all courses, particularly in the sciences. Based on . the experience of former participants, these students should have a high level of success.

The program's participants are being exposed to a variety of health care experiences through the academic components of the off-campus field trips to health care facilities.

Dr. Howard is providing the participants with an introduction to chemistry of the health sciences. Lees will provide tuition-free credit in Chemistry 101 to those students who successfully complete the program.

Activities to enhance both oral and written communicative skills are being provided by Kay Miller, Associate Professor of English. Tutoring and counselling services are also available.

Weekly field trips have been coordinated by Betsy Sewell, Experiential Education Coordinator for MAHS. The field trips expose the students to the medical field in a manner similar to onthe-job training.

Area field trips will include touring the Breathitt County Clinic, along with the area's new hospital; the Kentucky River Medical Center and the offices of Dr. John Jones, optometrist, Dr. Carla Rodriguez and Dr. Gene Bays, dentists. One field trip will be taken to the Hazard Kentucky Regional Hospital also.

Lexington field trips are scheduled to include the University of Kentucky Colleges of Medicine and Dentistry, the Sports Medicine Center, International Clinical Laboratories, Central Kentucky Blood Center and Charter Ridge

The final field trip of the program will be made to observe surgery. During this experience the students don masks and gowns to enter the operating room for close-up observa-

The variety of field trips provides exposure to various health professions. It is the aim of the Lees MAHS Summer Program to encourage Kentucky students to consider a health career and to also encourage these students to return to their home areas to work after completing their professional certifications.

Many Americans Unaware They Are Eligible for Social Security Benefits

There is more to Social Security than benefits for persons over 62 years-of-age. Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group has been researching the Social Security system and the benefits it provides since 1972. One finding is that, of the 50 million persons now collecting benefits, more than 15 million are under 62 and, surprisingly, the average age is only about 30.

Robert L. Berko, consumer writer and executive director of the Center, says the organization has been publishing and updating a complete list of available benefits (and how to qualify for them) for the past 16 years. The 11th update (a complete revision) is now available.

The Guide offers consumers of all ages an awareness of the benefits they are entitled to under the latest laws. All benefits, requirements and figures have been brought up to date.

The book show how (and provides forms) to get a copy of your Social Security account showing all credits and an estimate of the amount you will get upon retirement. It is important to check your account frequently since the SSA will not alter records more than three years old. In many cases, the study found, workers have had too much deducted from their wages and were due a refund. In other cases, employers had not sent the correct amount to be credited to accounts. If you have records of the amount deducted, you will be credited with that money and the employer's share whether or not he ever sent the money to the government.

"Billions of dollars go unclaimed," says Mr. Berko, "because many workers do not realize they are eligible for benefits." Among the findings of the study group and included in the Guide are:

*In some cases parents of a deceased worker are eligible for benefits even if they never paid into the system.

*Many children are eligible for benefits even though their parents never paid into the system.

EF Foundation Seeking Homes For Students

Educational Foundation for Foreign Study, a non-profit high school exchange organization, is looking for homes for over 3,700 students from 21 different countries.

Pam Gilkerson, the local EF Foundation area representative, has just received a wide variety of applications from students hoping to live in Eastern Kentucky

Although the students don't arrive until mid-August, Gilkerson is seeking homes for the students as soon as possible. Early matching of families and students allows them to establish a friendship, before they even meet, by writing to each other about their homes, interests and communities.

If you would like to find out more about hosting one of the EF Foundation students coming to your area this year, please call Gilkerson at 606-789-7183, or call EF Foundation, toll free, at 1-800-44-SHARE.

EF Foundation students come from 13 countries, 3 South American countries, Mexico, Indonesia, Japan and the Philippines. Students stay with a family for 10 months while they attend the local public high school. They are fully insured and have their own spending money. Host families provide students with room, board and a loving environment, treating the student as they would their own son or daughter.

*Minor children and surviving spouse of a person who has worked under the SS system for as little as one day in each of six annual quarters can collect benefits.

*Income from investments, interest, annuities, rentals and royalties are not considered in determining eligibility—nor is income from a business in which the person was owner or partner if payments are made as a retirement benefits, purchase of equity or any of the above. Only income listed as payment for actual work will affect retirement benefits. And after age 70, even that restriction is lifted.

*The Supplementary Security Income (SSI) program provides benefits to aged, blind, and disabled persons even if these recipients own cars, homes or other assets. No lien is taken against these assets and a person cannot be disqualified because relatives are financially able to support the recipient.

*A divorce (either sex) is eligible for benefits when the ex-spouse starts collecting retirement or disability payments if she is 62 or older and was married to the covered worker at least 10 years. If the divorcee was later married and that marriage ended in death or divorce, this will not affect eligibility.

Mr. Berko tells us that, "Even if you are eligible, you will not receive checks unless you apply." For that reason Consumers Guide to Social Security Benefits tells you how to apply and what to say.

The study and the book were done, the consumer leader says, because so many people contacted his organization for information they could not easily get from the Social Security Administration. People complained of not being able to contact the Social Security office because the phone lines were constantly busy.

Strangely, the agency does not publish a comprehensive book for consumers that would inform them of all benefits due under Social Security and who is eligible. In past years there were many pamphlets available which described various phases of the program but under austerity budget, many of these have been discontinued and plans for new booklets scrapped. To make things worse, no office has a complete set of the few that are supposed to be available.

"The fact that these pamphlets are no longer available and there are less employees answering inquiries makes it vital that everyone have a book which reveals all well-known and littleknown benefits," says Mr. Berko.

Consumers Guide to Social Security Benefits Including Medicare is available for $7 (plus $2 P & H) from CERC, P.O. Box 336, South Orange, N.J. 07079 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121 (with credit card).

"There is no risk in ordering this book," says Mr. Berko. "The risk lies in not having the guide and losing an untold amount in benefits for which you may be entitled.

Water Conservation In Homes Is New Consideration This Year

full open.

Water conservation in the home may not be a big issue most of the time, but this year's drought could make this summer the exception to the rule.

Water costs less than telephone service, rarely is shut off completely and disappears without a trace, so many people have never felt a need to conserve it, said Bill Murphy, agricultural engineer with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

'This year, however, weather conditions are clearly out of the ordinary and appear to be so for the rest of the summer," Murphy said. "We may be forced to take water conservation measures that are out of the ordinary Water consumption could increase dramatically as the hot, dry summer continues while most municipal water districts are already pushed to the limit on their pumping capacity.

'What happens if a motor goes out or a line breaks?" Murphy asked. "Even routine maintenance cannot be performed if equipment has to run continuously.

Home residents should know how to conserve water in case such an emergency should occur. To conserve water, they should know where it is used mostly and where it normally is

The largest user in the house is usually the toilet where five to seven gallons of water are used with each flush. It can be adjusted to use less or a brick can be placed in tank to displace water.

'You do need to be careful to make sure the toilet still produces an acceptable water flow to flush the bowl properly," Murphy said. "Or a second flush might be required. More water is used for two poor flushes than for one

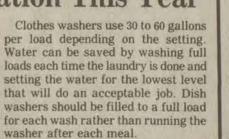

A shower rather than a tub bath is another way to save water, he said. Showers use much less water than tub baths. Even more water can be saved by turning the water off while lathering with soap and then quickly rinsing with water, Murphy said. A quick shower could use less than five gallons

"A lot of water is used in houses that just goes down the sink without ever doing anything," Murphy said. "It should be no great inconvenience to turn water off while brushing your teeth or shaving. A faucet can run five to ten gallons of water per minute when

IRS Continues Expansion Of Electronic Filing

The Internal Revenue Service has announced a further expansion of electronic filing of individual income tax returns for 1989. Next year the program will be extended to 36 states compared to 16 this year. Kentucky taxpayers again will be able to file their tax returns electronically in 1989.

During the tax filing season just ended a total of 583,000 electronic tax returns were filed nationwide. This figure was five times the number of returns filed electronically in the two previous years. Kentuckians filed 31,000 of these electronic tax returns.

Electronic filing of tax returns allows taxpayers to get their refunds in up to three weeks sooner than with paper filing, and offers direct deposit of refunds to the taxpayers checking or savings account. The program has proven to be very attractive to both taxpayers and to tax preparers, and we expect a continued increase in the number of returns filed electronically.

Kentucky tax preparers and service bureaus who are interested in electronic filing may write to the Internal Revenue Service, P.O. Box 1216, Louisville, Kentucky 40201, Attention: Electronic Filing Coordinator. One may also call 582-5421 in Louisville, or outside Louisville toll free 1-800-424-1040, and ask for Louisville extension 5421.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Altman, of Harold, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Lisa Michelle to David (Bub) Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Smith, of Langley

Miss Altman is a graduate of Pikeville High School. She attended P.C.C. for two years and plans to attend the University of Kentucky this fall.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of Allen Central High School and is attending the University of Kentucky where he is majoring in electrical engineering.

The wedding will be solemnized August 6 at the St. Francis Catholic Church in Pikeville.

Miss Altman, Mr. Smith Alaskan North Slope Oil:

Every Drop Bound for the USA

Vice President, Industry Affairs American Petroleum Institute

Like that unshakeable belief that giant alligators roam the sewers beneath the streets of New York, some Americans cling to the notion that Alaskan North Slope crude oil is being shipped to Japan and other Pacific rim nations. It's a hard notion to dispose of, but let's have a go at it once again.

Not a single drop of the more than six billion barrels of oil that have been produced at Prudhoe Bay and the adjoining North Slope oil fields during the past two decades has been sold anywhere but in America.

Congress has twiced voted, one in 1973 and again in 1983, to prohibit the export of North Slope oil unless both Congress and the President approve such action-something that has never

With U.S. dependence on foreign oil now at 40 percent, there is a ready market in this country for domestic production. The only Alaskan oil leaving the country is very small quantities from beneath state waters in the Cook Inlet in the southern part of the state, which is not covered by the export ban. So how come oilmen are still being asked: "Why are we sending all that North Slope oil to Japan?"

The fact is that public misconceptions about oil exports existed long before the first barrel of North Slope crude flowed south through the trans-Alaska pipeline system (TAPS) in 1977. And even though the ban on exports of North Slope crude oil provides a definitive answer to the question, these miconceptions still persist.

A little history can provide some perspective. Oil was first discovered on the North Slope at Prudhoe Bay in 1968 and the following year plans were formulated to build an 800-mile oil pipeline from the North Slope to the southern Alaska ice-free port of Valdez.

Certain groups filed suit to block construction, citing among other reasons that all the oil would go to Japan. The delays that followed exacerbated the effects of the Arab oil embargo of 1973. In response to that oil shock, Congress finally passed legislation authorizing construction of TAPS with a provision banning the export of any oil carried by the pipeline. Built privately, at a cost of $10 billion, the pipeline became operational in June 1977.

Since that time, more than six billion barrels of oil have flowed from the wells on the North Slope through TAPS to refineries in the lower 48 states-oil that would otherwise have had to be imported at a cost of an additional $145

North Slope oil today accounts for almost one out of every four barrels being produced in the United States. Alaska is now neck and neck with Texas as America's largest oil producing state and Prudhoe Bay has become the nation's largest oil field. Between 1980 and 1986 alone, oil companies spent more than $10.5 billion in support of North Slope development, creating some 70,000 jobs, with every state in the union supplying goods and services.

Now the same old tired argument that North Slope oil will go to Japan is being resurrected once again by some opponents of much needed exploration and development in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) coastal plain, a few miles to the east of Prudhoe Bay. Oil from the coastal plain could replace production from Prudhoe Bay, which is expected to peak and then decline in the next few years.

According to the U.S. Department of the Interior's comprehensive report submitted to Congress in April 1987, the coastal plain is "the nation's best single opportunity to increase significantly domestic oil production... (and) ...is rated by geologists as the most outstanding exploration target in the onshore United States.'

Development of this domestic resource could be a big step toward reducing America's overdependence on foreign oil. It's folly not to do so because of public misconceptions.

Not one drop of North Slope oil has been sold outside of the United States. And, under current law, not one drop of oil from the ANWR coastal plain would be sold to Japan or any other foreign nation without the approval of both Congress and the President. That's not just an opinion. It's the law!

ATHLETES' DISPLAY OF HEART

In an effort to attain greater strength and muscle bulk, some athletes turn to the illegal use of anabolic steroids. These testoterone derivatives build large bodies, but at what expense? A study by a dietician at the University of North Carolina says that steroid users leave themselves open to an increased risk for heart disease. The study was of 35 male bodybuilders, half of who were steroid users. When they gave up the drug for six months, their HDL levels were approximately equal to those of non-users. (HDL is the "good" cholesterol that helps lower overall blood cholesterol levels). However, when they began using steroids again, users' HDL levels dropped below the point which put them at major risk for coronary heart disease. This single study adds to the growing evidence that steroid use among athletes is a dangerous game.

Homeless In Kentucky To Get Help from E.S.G.P.

Funds will soon be available to assist counseling, supervision, training and the homeless in three Kentucky communities as the result of grants announced recently by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson.

Grants totalling $85,000 from the Emergency Shelter Grants Program have been awarded to Jackson County and the cities of Ashland and Louisville. The program is designed to fund local projects which provide shelter, meals, medical care, transportation and other necessary services to homeless families and individuals.

A $50,000 grant from the Emergency Shelter Grants Program has been awarded to the city of Louisville to renovate a vacant school building located at 3146 W. Broadway for use as a housing facility for homeless families. The project, named Home Base, will provide 12 three-bedroom units. The grant will also enable the city to provide a wider and more comprehensive range of services than has been possible in the past. According to local officials, services will include

BOOKS AND THINGS By: TRISHA MORRIS, Librarian Prestonsburg Community College

In 1966 Eliot Wigginton joined Rabun Gap Nacoochee High School in North Georgia as an English teacher. In a desperate move to interest his 146 students in something, he sent them to their parents, their grandparents, friends and community to learn their stories and tell them. It worked and the Foxfire experiment was born. They recorded the oral histories into book form and, with a lot more trouble then one paragraph can expound, the first Foxfire book went to press in 1972. There are now nine in the Foxfire series-Wigginton's students are eager learners and he has become a guru to teachers in Appalachia if not everywhere. The complete Foxfire series can be found at the P.C.C. library.

This is the book that started it alland as Wigginton says in the introduction, "every piece of it was put together and handled and squeezed and shaped and touched by students." Eliot Wigginton inspired his students and they produced. The book is full of the ways things were when life was simple and folks had to make do. There are directions for building a log cabin without ordering it pre-cut and for catching a rabbit without a shopping cart. We meet Aut Arie, who later is the subject of an entire book, Bill Lamb, who can make boards out of a log, Algie Norton who has pieced quilts all her life and more-many many more. A book from which the young can learn, the old can reminisce and we can all benefit.

More of the same and how wonderful it is. The book abounds with ghost stories, old time burials, midwives and granny women, sheep raising and cloth weaving. There's Sam who can make a wheel from a block of wood, Ral Henslee who can guide you to food growing wild and Maude Shope who lives the old way-rides a mule, chops wood, slops hogs and gets along right well-thank you. A book that tells it better than a historical accounting.

Following the format of the series, 'Foxfire 3" deals with more affairs of plain living. One of the most memorable characters is Simmie Free, a retired moonshiner, who keeps Eliot's kids enthralled with his stories of coon hunting. The chapter on animal care points out the interdependence of farm families and their animals. Animals were raised for food, clothing and their ability to work. Most of the book is devoted to the making of banjos and dulcimers and there is the ever present interviews with plain people on plain subjects of every day living.

Fiddle making, springhouses, horse trading, sassafras tea, berry buckets, gardening-it's all here in painstaking detail along with knife making, bird traps and logging.

Hunting was a necessary part of life for pioneer farmers-it put meat on the table. Necessary to hunting was guns and dogs. In this book we make the gun, train the dogs, kill the game, prepare it, cook it and tell tall tales about hunting it. Just a sample of what is in this book-all of it outstanding.

In the technique that has made the Foxfire series endearing-Wigginton's North Georgia students interviewing people on a variety of subjectslogging, coon hunting, shoemaking, saw-milling, home place, gourdbanjos, song-bows, wooden door locks, wooden toys, and children games. An invaluable source of country know-how and whittling finesse.

Without inflicting any of their own or theologians theories on that sometimes sticky subject of religion, the students of Rabun High have simply asked people to tell them, in their own words, about their beliefs. From Baptists, Episcopalians, Jehovah Witnesses, Pentecostals, Presbyterians, to snake handlers-it is all here-what they believe-what they do-and why. An exciting book about Appalachian religion told with sincerity and passion by the marvelous people who were good enough to share it with us.

This book covers three themes; blacks in Appalachia, southern folk pottery and cockfighting. Interviewing five black mountain families their histories devulge how they came to the mountains, why they stayed and their lives today. The southern folk potters maintaining a nineteenth-century approach provide a window to the past. Contrasting mundane information about breeding gamecocks to hair raising tales of the fighting of such animals

this issue of Foxfire is hot to the last

This issue completes the Foxfire set. Eliot Wigginton and his students have abandoned the series in favor of single topic books-such as "Aunt Arie," "Toys and Games" and "Regional Cooking" which are already in print. Beginning with "Foxfire-what is it" which, at last, explains the name of the series and continuing with the unexhaustable home remedies, quilting patterns, directions for building a wagon, firing ceremics and whittling a broadax handle and the always popular ghost stories the issue has something for everyone. Eliot Wigginton and his kids have done us all a great servicesome day again we may need this knowledge and he has preserved it. The books should never go out of print.

Dear Rite Aid/Begley Customer:

This is to inform you that beginning August 1, 1988, Rite Aid/Begley will no longer honor the Humana Prescription Drug Card in payment for prescriptions previously covered under Maxicare.

We regret having to make this policy change. Humana, recent acquirer of Maxicare, has informed us that Rite Aid/former Begley stores have been excluded from this plan.

In addition, we have learned that Humana's reimbursement level is significantly below the cost of doing business. In fact, the Humana price is below the reimbursement established for the poor and indigent programs in the state of Kentucky.

Rite Aid pharmacists will continue to fill your prescriptions under the Humana/ Maxicare plan in the 39 former Begley pharmacies through July 31. Rite Aid currently operates 74 locations throughout the state of Kentucky.

We are sorry for any inconvenience this change in policy may cause you and encourage you to discuss other prescription plan options with your employee benefits administrator.

If you have any further questions about this policy change, please contact your Rite Aid/Begley pharmacist. To change your prescription drug program, please call your employer (benefits department) or, at Humana, John Morse, vice president of development, Humana, Inc., P.O. Box 1438, Louisville, KY 40201, or call (502) 580-1820.

When insects start nibbling on one tree, it gives off a scent that may be picked up by other trees nearby. The scent tells the other trees to produce insect repellant chemicals quickly in their leaves.

Castille Named Outstanding Disabled Vet of the Year

Philadelphia District Attorney Ronald D. Castille has been selected as 1988's Outstanding Disabled Veteran of the Year by the million-member Disabled American Veterans (DAV).

Castille carries the same zeal and competence into his job as was ingrained in him as a young Marine Corps of-fice in Vietnam. "Then, I had to discipline Marines," says the DAV life member. "Now, I have to discipline

Castille oversees a staff of 240 attorneys who prosecute about 50,000 criminal cases each year. With his 1985 election to a four-year term, he became the first Republican elected city-wide in 16 years. It was a major upset in Philadelphia politics, and just one of a series of uphill battles for Castille since losing his right leg to a 50-caliber Viet Cong machine gun slug in 1967.

As a Marine Corps platoon commander, Castille was leading a team assigned to remove casualties of another platoon that was pinned down by a Viet Cong battalion in a rice paddy near Duc Pho in Quang Ngai Province. A machine gun slug struck his upper right thigh, knocking him down. Patting a fistful of soft gray mud into his wound to slow the bleeding, he continued to direct the recovery operation.

"Corporal Angel Mendez saw me and began coming toward me," Castille recalled. "He said, 'Hold on, lieutenant. I'm coming.' I yelled, 'Stay there. Stay there .' He came over and pulled me back. As he pulled me up an embankment, he caught a round in his chest...Angel disobeyed orders."

Castille's eyes got watery as he continued, "Angel was an orphan from New York City. There is no one to mourn Angel Mendez...but me."

It was March 16, 1967, Castille's 23rd birthday. Helicopters came for the wounded. He was the last man loaded on the last chopper to leave. A machine gun slug ripped through the floor, shattered, and struck his already wounded leg and lower body. The shock of the second blast stopped his kidneys. He almost bled to death before reaching Clark Air Base Hospital in the Philippines two days later.

Castille lay in a body cast for a week, not realizing how greviously he was injured. Bacteria from the mud in his wound had infected his leg, causing gangrene to set in. The doctors had to remove the leg, despite his protests.

Despite the loss, self pity isn't in Castille's vocabulary. "One of the reasons I never felt sorry for myself was that I volunteered for combat," he says. "I was lucky. I came back, A lot of my friends didn't. An awful lot joined the district attorney's staff, and spent 11 years as a trial lawyer, two years as chief of the Career Criminal Unit, and nearly two years as deputy district attorney before seeking the top post in 1985. He began his four-year term as Philadelphia district attorney in January 1986.

Castille spent 18 months at the Philadelphia Navy Base Hospital before joining friends at the University of Virginia Law School. Receiving a law degree in 1971, he returned to Philadelphia because he "fell in love with the city.

In 1984, he and three other Vietnam vets began the Philadelphia Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund. Approximately $750,000 in private donations were raised to erect a monument at Penns Landing to honor 630 Philadelphians who died in Vietnam. Completed last year and dedicated on Oct. 26, the monument covers nearly a square block. The 630 names are etched on a long curved wall.

Tobacco Cooperatives Sell More Than Half of Stocks

By H. Carlisle Besuden III Dir. News and Information

The drought of 1988 has already had a dramatic effect-both good and bad—on the burley tobacco crop.

Although the extended dry period has dealt a devastating blow to the crop planted this year, it has given a tremendous boost to sales of the 1985, 1986 and 1987 crops stored in cooperatives under the price support protection program. The two cooperatives in Kentucky and Tennessee have sold more than half of the three year's total inventory

Five burley tobacco manufacturing companies and dealers have purchased 56.5 million pounds, or 54.5 percent of the processed leaf stored from the '85, '86 and '87 crops from the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association within the past week

The much smaller Burley Stablization Corporation in Knoxville, Tenn., also has sold about the same percentage of its stocks. It is the first substancial sale handled by the cooperatives this year, officials said.

"We have been carrying about 104 million pounds of leaf received under the price support program from the '85, '86 and '87 crops since about mid-January without much more than a nibble in sales," said A. R. Beckley, executive secretary-treasurer of the cooperative. "Then, all of a sudden last week, the telephone just wouldn't quit ringing.

It was so hectic for a couple of days, that one buyer would call in an order for leaf sight unseen, while another potential buyer was looking at the same grade, Beckley said. He attributed the abrupt increase in sales to the recent reports on the drought and a possible shortage of the 1988 crop.

Most of the buyers are probably buying a percentage of the leaf that they think they will need next year as "insurance protection," Beckley said.

The cooperative has sold practically all of the 1985 and 1986 crop inventories. Only about 135,000 pounds of the '85 crop and 175,000 pounds of the '86 crop-all grade B5D-are left in inventory. A total of 30.5 million pounds was originally in the 1985 inventory, and 7.3 million pounds of leaf were in the 1986

Approximately 19 million pounds of burley, or 29.3 percent of receipts, have been sold out of the 1987 inventory that totaled 65.8 million pounds. The 1.6 million pounds of scrap included in the 1987 inventory has been put out for bid and is expected to be opened this week.

Remaining stocks in the cooperative include about 21 million pounds of the 1982 crop, and 44.6 million pounds of the 1984 crop, which already have been contracted to be sold under the 1986 Tobacco Reform Act.

Cooperative officials said they expect to sell still more burley during the next few weeks

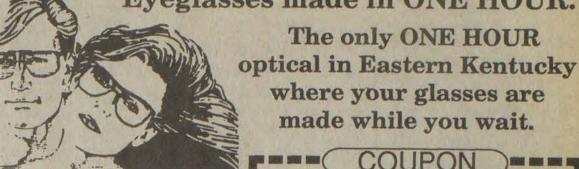

PCC Will Offer African History

For the first time in its history, Prestonsburg Community College will offer a credit course in the History of Sub-Saharan Africa. The course will be taught by Dr. Thomas Matijasic during the Fall semester on a trial basis.

Dr. Matijasic hopes to destroy the myth that Africa was a "Dark Continent" suffering from social stagnation prior to its discovery by Europeans. Rather the course will demonstrate that Africa was the home of many ancient civilizations which went through the same historical developments as European civilizations. The class will also explore the impact of the Atlantic slave trade, European colonization, and the unique evolution of racial conflict in South Africa.

The course is designed to help University of Kentucky transfer students to fulfill their new multicultural requirement, but the class will be open to all interested parties.

NOTICE TO THE CUSTOMERS OF THE WHEELWRIGHT UTILITY COMMISSION

In July 1987, federal regulations were adopted that require monitoring for eight volatile synthetic organic chemicals and 51 unregulated contaminants in public water systems. The first year of this monitoring is being conducted by the Kentucky Division of Water with the assistance of the Division of Environmental Services.

The volatile synthetic organic chemicals have maximum contaminant levels, or standards over which action will be taken to protect your health. Currently, no maximum contaminant levels have been established for the unregulated contaminants because sufficient information is not yet available. Please be assured, however, that you will be notified if contamination is detected and determined to be a potential health threat. This monitoring will aid in setting standards by indicating how widespread these contaminants may be in public water systems and at what levels of concentration they may be occurring.

The Wheelwright Utility Commission now has available for public review the analytical results for the monitoring periods of September through December 1987 and January through March 1988. These results may be reviewed at our office at Main Street during regular business hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., Monday through

Additional monitoring has been conducted during April through June 1988, and will be conducted July through September 1988. Results of this monitoring are expected to be available for public review in August and November, respectively.

For more information, please contact the Wheelwright Utility Commission at 452-4273, or the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or at (502) 564-3410. Ext. 546.

PUBLIC NOTIFICATION NOTICE TO THE CUSTOMERS OF BEAVER ELKHORN

In July 1987, federal regulations were adopted that require monitoring for eight volatile synthetic organic chemicals and 51 unregulated contaminants in public water systems. The first year of this monitoring is being conducted by the Kentucky Division of Water with the assistance of the Division of Environmental Services.

The volatile synthetic organic chemicals have maximum contaminant levels, or standards over which action will be taken to protect your health. Currently, no maximum contaminant levels have been established for the unregulated contaminants because sufficient information is not yet available. Please be assured, however, that you will be notified if contaminants are detected and determined to be a potential health threat. This monitoring will aid in setting standards by indicating how widespread these contaminants may be in public water systems and at what levels of concentration they may be occurring.

The Beaver Elkhorn Water District now has available for public review the analytical results for the monitoring periods of September through December 1987 and January through March 1988. These results may be reviewed at our office at Wayland, Kentucky during regular business hours of 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Additional monitoring has been conducted during April through June 1988, and will be conducted July through September 1988. Results of this monitoring are expected to be available for public review in August and November, respectively.

For more information, please contact Beaver Elkhorn Water Dist. at 358-3491, or the Drinking Water Branch of the Kentucky Division of Water at 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, or at (502) 564-3410, Ext. 546. It.

SOAP BEAT

This week, at long last, Patch and Kayla will wed

By Marie Michaels

"Days of Our Lives" fans should be thrilled this Monday, July 25, when the soap gives them the chance to witness at long last the nuptials of Steve "Patch" Johnson (played by Stephen Nichols) and Kayla Deveraux (played by Mary Beth Ev ans). In true soap-opera fashion, this couple has been to hell and back during their tormented romance. At last they'll find the happiness fans believe they deserve - at least for a few weeks!

Mary Beth Evans

'Another World" has written out the characters of Cheryl McKinnon (played by Kristen Ma-rie) and Scott LaSalle Hank (played Cheyne). Both chose not to stay with the soap, which seems fine in the long run, because Cheryl hasn't been given much to do since last summer, and Hank has been in limbo since May, when "AW" 's AIDS story line ended with the ry line Scott death of Scott Dawn Scott's girl(played by Barbara Bush).

Noelle Beck, who plays Trisha Sowolsky on "Loving," recently re-turned from Louisiana, where she was filming upcoming Chevy se film "Fletch Chase film "Fletch Saved." The "Fletch" sequel casts Beck as Betty Dillworth, a society col umnist whom Fletch (played by Chase) has a "Gone with the Wind"- type fantasy about.

• While Lane Davies, who plays Mason Capwell on "Santa Barbara," has been at the Atlanta Shakespeare Festival di-recting a Shakespeare play, he has taken time out to lay down tracks for a record. Davies says the two songs he recorded fall into the soft-rock category. One is called "Civilized at Last."

 The singing duo of Ni-colette Goulet (who plays Meredith Reade on "Guiding Light") and Perry Stephens (who plays Jack Forbes on "Loving") were so popular when they performed at New York City's Whaler Bar earlier this year that the club invited them to close out its series of soap performers at the end of June.

· Kim Zimmer, plays Reva Shayne on "Guiding Light," recently performed on stage with her husband, "Another World" director A.C. Weary. The two appeared in a production of Ten-nessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" in Green-

How is Drew Barrymore related to John Barrymore? What was the relationship between Lionel, John and Ethel Barrymore? And is it true that John's daughter committed suicide? S.C.W., Cumberland, Md.

Child actress Drew Barrymore("E.T.,""Firestarter") is the grand-daughter of legendary actor John Barrymore and the daughter of his son, John Barrymore Jr. Ethel, John Sr. and Lionel, all actors, were brothers and sister Contrary to common opinion, they did not start the long line of actors in their family: Their mother Georgiana Drew and their grandmother Louisa Lane were actresses and their uncles John and Sidney Drew were actors. John Barrymore Sr.'s daughter Diana - also an actress - was born in 1921 and committed suicide in 1960.

I've heard that Bruce Lee didn't always use that name. Is this true? If so, what was his real name? - J.S., Chicago, III.

Karate king Bruce Lee was originally named Li Jun Fan. His first stage name was Li Siu Loong

Where do I know Robert Pine from? I'm sure I've seen him in something other than "The Bold and the Beautiful." - M.C., Reno, Nev.

'Vietnam War Story' is a study of devastation

By Denise Gorga

Whatever the reason, TV viewers are seeing a lot of Vietnam these days. CBS's "Tour of Duty" is network TV's at-"Tour of tempt to simulate the horrors of the war. "China Beach," from ABC, has chosen a seamier angle: a surgical-mask-to-sex portrayal of Vietnam nurses that has many female veterans seeing red.

Cable's entry in the Vietnam ratings battle is HBO's "Vietnam War Stowhich began its sec ond season earlier this month. Unlike the net-work shows, "Vietnam War Story" is not a serial. The half-hour seg ments are self-contained. and vary widely in subject matter and mood

Bain and Donovan

"R&R," which premieres Wednesday, July is set in Hawaii, where a newlywed couple, Didi (Cynthia Bain) and Russell (Tate Donovan), have reunited during the latter's weeklong furlough. A study in the psychological devasta-tion of war and the awkward emotional silences that hang between two people whose worlds have grown apart, the script abounds with metaphors. At the beginning of the vignette, Russell's dog tags distract him as the couple try to make love. Later on, an enraged Russell describes their intended use: to be wedged between dead soldiers' teeth as identification markers.

But, like all the "Viet-nam War Story" plot lines, "R&R" has a bittersweet ending Russell cuts his R&R short and returns to the lines, afraid that the time with his wife will make him 'soft," and thus less likely to return home alive. Poor, dazed Didi, who envisioned the week as a kind of second honey-moon at a Hawaiian-style Poconos retreat, mournful but understanding.

"R&R" leaves you with lot of hope: Didi will forever wait for Russell, and he will return home without dog tags prying his jaws apart. But, given what Russell has and done, what is there to look forward to?

And that, finally, is why "Vietnam War Story" is successful as a se-ries of one-shot vignettes instead of an ongoing serial. If you had to follow a character like Russell around week after week, you'd probably get thoroughly depressed. But if you're able to vary the misery, then it's bearable sort of like Vietnam

TV THIS WEEK

On 'ALF,' Elson picks up the alien's bad habits

By Wendy Wallace

How would you react if you learned that in your next TV role, your co-star was from another planet?

"I was thrilled when I got it, but I had no idea what to expect," says Andrea Elson, who plays teenager Lynn Tanner on the Monday-night NBC se-ries "ALF." "So I asked "What is an ALF?" And when the producers told me he was an Alien Life Form, my first reaction was to think how short he was and what a big, booming voice he had coming from this mouth.

get used to him," she adds. He's so outspoken and blunt. It's horrible - I've picked up a lot of his bad habits. I'm so outspoken now, and people have said, 'You're spending too much time with him.' He's grown on me.

ALF, now a permanent resident in the Tanner home, has a tendency to constantly disrupt the family's otherwise peacelives. But although ALF is hard to live with the Tanners have devel"He's great and I love him," she says. "It's re-markable how the writers have sustained the level of humor by having ALF himself bring it to life in his own way. I think it adds a nice dimension.

"The show itself has attracted such a wide vari-ety of people," she adds. The kids like it for looking at ALF, and the adults like it for the humor. And you can't take that away from them. I don't think that you can have the show without the incredible writing or ALF. So it's a real strong combination.

Born in New York City in 1969, Elson was raised in Chicago from the age of 4. She knew at a young age that she wanted to become an actress, and appeared in her first commercial when she was 11. In 1983, when she was 14, she was cast in "Whiz Kids," a CBS series about kids who solved crimes with computers. After guest ap-pearances on "Simon & Simon" and "Silver Spoons," Elson was signed appear on "ALF" 1986

"It's a real tough transition to grow up in this business," she says. "And I've grown up a lot since we've started the show.

'And I've been told in the new season, Lynn is going to grow up a lot," she adds, "I'd like her to mature. And I'd like to be able to stand on my own as a young woman who is moving into another age. So the writers are going to let her catch up instead of being so sweet all the time She's going to have a little sass to her.

Winning Streak Reaches Four Before Floyd County Falls 4-3

Floyd County's American Legion Mark Tipton struck out, Nathan baseball team continued it's winning streak early Wednesday, but ended it later the same evening.

Floyd County, getting another strong outing from righthander Mark Tipton, defeated Ceredo-Kenova 10-4 in the first game of a double header there, but Nathan Shelton failed to get any offensive support in the second game as FC

Jeff Lovely and Tim Trusty led an eight-hit attack that powered Tipton to his fourth win of the season. Lovely and Trusty had three hits and both scored three times in the six-run victory.

Tipton, 4-3, went the distance for Floyd County, giving up six hits while walking six and striking out three. All four of the runs were earned.

Floyd County, leading 3-2, going into the fourth, sent 10 men to the plate in the top of the inning, scoring five times to break the game open.

Lovely led the inning off with a single, followed by Trusty's single. After Tony Kidd walked to load the bases, Thomas Hall picked up an RBI the easy way, working C-K pitcher Ron Eastes for a walk to force a run in.

Trusty, when catcher Shane McComas tried to pick Hall off first, scored as the throw skipped into right field. After Brad Hall flew out and

He faced only two over the minimum during the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth innings, while setting C-K down in order twice.

Floyd County scored three runs in the second inning when Lovely led off with a ground rule double to left center. and Trusty followed with a single.

With runners on second and third, Tony Kidd drilled a line drive that bounced over the left centerfield fence, scoring Lovely. Trusty scored on a balk, and Kidd later crossed the plate on a wild pitch.

Floyd County, 13-15 following the first win, added two runs in the seventh when Lovely and Trusty again had back-to-back hits. Lovely scored as Thomas Hall coaxed another bases loaded walk, and Brad Hall grounded out to second to bring Trusty home.

Ron Eastes took the loss for Ceredo-Kenova. The slender righthander gave up seven runs on six hits in only three innings of work

C-K scored a lone run in the second, and three in the fourth, and held off a late Floyd County charge to avoid the double header sweep.

FC scored one in the second on a Brad Hall RBI single, and added another in the third when Ray Collins singled and scored, taking a 2-1 lead Ceredo-Kenova rallied for three in the fourth to take a two-run advantage.

Jeff Lovely collected his fourth hit of the day, a one-out triple in the fifth, and scored on a passed ball. When Trusty struck out the baseball got through, and Lovely crossed the plate when catcher Chuck Mannon threw on to first to complete the strike out.

Floyd County had a golden opportunity to tie the game in the seventh, but couldn't get Mike McQuate in from third. McQuate led the seventh off with a triple, but was left there as the next three outs were infield grounders.

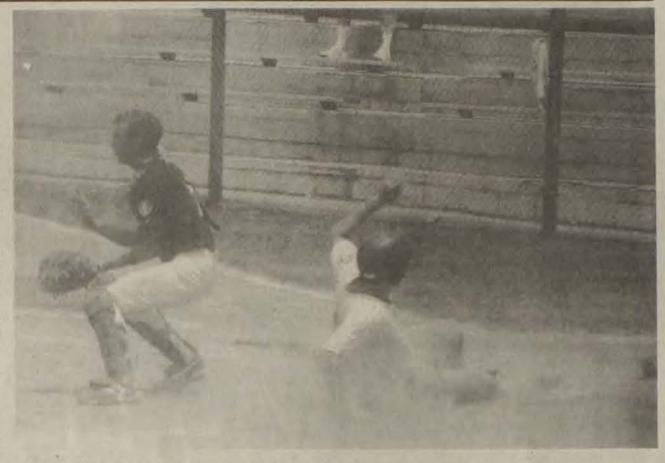

Lovely bounced hard back to the mound, Trusty grounded hard to third, and after Tony Kidd was hit by a pitch, Thomas Hall grounded out to short, ending the game.

Floyd County also missed opportunities to tie the game in the sixth, and missed a scoring chance in the fourth.

Brad Hall, with one out, was tagged out at the plate when he tried to score from third on a wild pitch. Nathan Shelton followed with a single to right. Floyd County

Floyd County's 14-year-old Babe Ruth all-star team needed only two wins over Hazard to earn a trip to the state tournament. That seemed simple enough,-and proved to be the casebut the team suffered some terrible times before disposing of its opponent Monday evening

With Carr Creek and Johnson County, the other members of the district, electing to combine their 14-and 15-year-old players to form one team, Floyd County and Hazard completed the tournament field.

But the two teams produced enough fireworks to make for an interesting two-game tournament, possibly too much for Floyd County and certainly more than Hazard wanted.

Floyd County, needing one win to wrap up the district title, banged out nine hits Monday, taking advantage of 10 bases on balls and three hit batsmen in coming from behind to defeat Hazard 19-18 in a game that took almost three hours to play

'We started out donating them seven runs in the first on only one hit," Charles Laferty, manager of the team, said after the game. "If we hadn't had our big bats going today, we wouldn've been in trouble.

Hazard, trying to stay alive after losing a one-run affair to Floyd County Saturday, scored seven times in the top of the first, helped along by five Floyd County errors

Floyd County, in the words of Laferty, got its big bats going in the bottom of the inning, scored five runs, and managed to bring back most of the momentum that had escaped in the top half of the initial inning Hazard starting pitcher Sam Mullins couldn't find the strike zone and, despite working with a seven run lead, he walked the first three Floyd County hitters. And cleanup hitter Keith Hall didn't waste any time in spoiling the pitching change when Hazard replaced Mullins with Steve Dixon. Hall, a left handed hitter, drove Dixon's first pitch to the fence in right center, scoring Steve Robinson, Stewart Hall, and Chuck Laferty with the triple. Hall, three for five with four RBIs and four runs scored, later came in to score on a passed ball, and John Martin walked and scored as Jimmy Helton banged a two-out single, helping Floyd County move to within two runs of Hazard.

"We came right back and scored five runs," Laferty said, mentioning the importance of the big first inning after Hazard had opened the game with seven runs. "They never quit. My big hitters, Keith Hall, Chuck Laferty, just to name a few, had big games for us."

After Hazard added a run in the second to go up 8-5, Floyd County continued its road back, scoring one in the bottom of the second when Steve Robinson, who scored four times, walked and rode home on a Chuck Laferty Floyd County came all the way back, and even further by scoring eight runs in the fourth on four hits and two walks. Jimmy Helton had a two-run single to highlight the successful inning. Laferty and Hall also had RBI singles in the inning as Floyd County rallied to take a 14-8 lead They held the six-run advantage until the fifth when Hazard scored once, but Floyd County responded with a pair in the home half of the inning, stretching its lead to 16-9.

Saturday afternoon, Floyd County, in ty mentioned, poiting out his team gave classic comeback fashion, defeated up only one run through the middle Hazard 11-10 to set up Monday's clinching state tournament appearance.

With two out and one on Floyd County trailed by two runs, but Laferty drew a walk, putting the winning run on base.

Keith Hall promptly brought that winning run home by banging out a game ending triple as Jimmy Helton, reached on a fielder's choice, and Laferty scored to give Floyd County a win in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Hall, who had six hits in the two games, was three for five in Saturday's contest with three RBIs and two runs scored.

Charles Laferty, John Martin, and Todd Akers had two hits each to help in the victory. Floyd County had 10 hits in the game.

The team, with the two wins over Hazard, advanced to the state tournament which will begin July 29 in Louis-

P'burg Reaches Finals By Beating Morgan Co.

The Prestonsburg Senior League All-Stars remained undefeated Thursday night by reaching the district finals with a 4-1 victory over Morgan County.

Center fielder Tim Lester banged out three hits and Brian Burke pitched a complete game as Prestonsburg won its third game of the tournament. With the win, the squad advanced to the finals of the double elimination tournament undefeated.

'If we can go into the region. undefeated, it would be to our benefit," Huffman said, mentioning the team's next step beyond the district.

'We would be in a much better position than a team that comes in with a loss. When you have to play like there's no tomorrow, it puts a lot of pressure on the kids," he added.

The winner of the district tournament will advance to the regional tourney, a district loss is carried on to the regional event. For a team that remains undefeated in the district, it will be an actual double elimination regional tournament Prestonsburg kept itself in an undefeated position Thursday, thanks to strong pitching, solid defense, and timely hitting.

'Pitching has brought us this far," Huffman said, commenting on the 14-15-year-old staff that has given up only 11 hits in 27 innings of baseball. Burke, a lefthander that won Prestonsburg's first game against Fleming-Neon, allowed only three hits against Morgan County to rack up another mound victory. The 15-year-old pitcher struck out eight and walked three. The one run was unearned Morgan County also had a tough left hander, but failed to give him support. offensively or defensively. Kevin Smith, a stocky southpaw, struck out 11 Prestonsburg batters, and did not give up an earned run. Even so, he still suffered the loss.

Morgan County committed four errors which led to all four Prestonsburg runs, and it didn't take long for the mistakes to take their toll.

MC second baseman Dwayne Lykins misplayed a John Clark ground ball to open the bottom of the first, allowing Clark to reach base. Jason Story followed with a single and Prestons burg was in offensive business.

The next hitter, second baseman Brian Carter, lined hard to third base, but when Shawn McKenzie tried to double off Clark at second, the throw went into right field, allowing both Clark and Story to move up a base.

Lester, who had three singles in the game, followed with a single that scored Clark, and when the ball got through Greg Whitt in right Story crossed the plate, giving Prestonsburg a quick 2-0 advantage.

'We got to him early and it kind of stunned him," Huffman said of reaching Smith in the first. "We knew what we were faced with. We saw him the other day. We knew what we had to do and we worked on it.

'We had someone, a lefthander, come down and throw yesterday and it helped," he continued. "Some of the kids were ready for him.

Not all of Huffman's preparations paid off. "When we saw him pitch, he seemed to have trouble throwing to lefthanders," Huffman mentioned, "so we stacked our lineup with lefthanded hitters, but he kind of blew 'em away a few times.

Smith, a hard thrower, blew several Prestonsburg hitters away, but the local all-stars managed to get eight hits off the talented lefty. With two out in the fourth, Lester singled and stole second. He scored as Dwayne Lykins allowed a Tommy Poe ground ball to get by him.

Prestonsburg, leading 3-1, scored its final run in the fifth when John Clark reached on an error and scored when Brian Carter singled.

'We knew that we had to get to him early," Huffman said of Smith. "We wanted to score early before he got in his groove, and I believe he hit it about the fourth inning. The key was that we scored our runs early

Morgan County had a runner to get as far as third base only twice, and only three got as far as second base against Burke. The Prestonsburg southpaw three times set Morgan County down in order, and after the first inning he faced only four batters over the limit.

Tim Lester led Prestonsburg offensively, checking in with a three-hit performance, and Jason Story had two. Brian Carter, Kevin Hall, and Worthy McGuire also hit safely in the winning After the game Huffman was quick to mention his coaches and the players' parents. "I want to commend my coaches, Steve Stephens and Kenny Stewart, and the parents," Huffman mentioned. "The parents have been great They've turned us loose with their kids and let us do what we wanted to with them. If we scheduled a practice for four in the morning they would have them there. They've been great.'

Franco And Cincinnati Successful But Dodgers Keep Winning In West

John Franco, in a post-game radio interview Monday night, handed out compliments that would outnumber his saves, but as positive as he was toward his teammates, Franco's biggest compliment went to the Los Angeles

Franco, a left-handed reliever for Cincinnati, promised Danny Jackson, Jose Rijo and a few others dinners of their choice at the conclusion of the season for their support in his league leading 17 saves.

Franco said they were the reason he had become the top gun where saving baseball games is concerned, a Franco save means another Cincinnati win.

"We've been playing good baseball lately," Franco said. "It's a shame that LA keeps winning so we can't gain any ground.

That's the compliment. Los Angeles has not lost a game since the All-Star

Tennessee, winning for the fourth time in five all-star games between the two states, scored four touchdowns on the ground, and held Kentucky scoreless until the fourth quarter.

With 5:15 remaining in the game tailback Tony Brown crossed the goal line on a two yard run, giving Kentucky their first and only score of the night.

Four different players scored for Tennessee on runs of one, 16, nine, and three yard touchdown runs to help blow out the Bluegrass state's team.

Monday, Franco pitched one and a third innings of hitless baseball to increase his league-leading save total to 17, as the Reds won 2-1 over New York.

Franco entered the game in the eighth, and with a runner on first got Howard Johnson to pop up, snuffing out a mild threat and ending the inning.

He held the Mets scoreless in the ninth, despite a Barry Larkin throwing error, to preserve the win for Danny Jackson, Jackson, 11-5, threw seven innings of three hit, one run baseball to get the victory. Jackson gave way to Rob Murphy in the eighth, who surrendered his duties to Rob Dibble, who gave way to Franco.

Cincinnati, trailing 1-0 going into the sixth, scored twice in the inning for their only runs of the game. With Kal Daniels on third and Eric Davis at second, Nick Esasky lifted a deep fly ball to center field, scoring Daniels.

On the play Davis came on in to score when second baseman Tim Tuefel committed a throwing error.

Sid Fernandez, who had a no-hitter through five innings, gave up only a single to Daniels in his six innings of work, but was still tagged with the loss, his seventh of the season.

The Reds, who lost their first six games of the season against New York, have now won three out of the last four contests between the two teams. Monday night's win in Riverfront Stadium was the first time the Mets had ever faced Jackson.

Jackson's effectiveness failed to help Cincinnati gain any ground because the blazing Dodgers downed St. Louis for their sixth consecutive win, and their eighth in the last 10 games.

To Split Home Double Header

Somewhere between the defensive letdowns and a weak offensive effort. Floyd County found a few breaks, and when Thomas Hall worked a bases loaded walk they managed to walk away with a double header split Friday at home against Chapmanville.

After missing a scoring opportunity in the seventh, Floyd County was forced to rally from a two-run deficit in the bottom of the eighth to pull out the firstgame victory

Chapmanville scored two times in the top of the eighth off FC starter Mason Slone, but the guy who provided the punch for those two eventually proved to be Chapmanville's downfall.

Steve Pritchard, who drove a 3-0 pitch to the fence in right center to score both runs, opened the scoring gates for Floyd County in the bottom of the inning, allowing three runs to roll

Pritchard, playing shortstop, committed a throwing error that allowed leadoff hitter Tim Trusty to reach. Later in the inning, he was called in to pitch and was tagged with the loss when Hall drew the walk that forced Tony Kidd in with the winning run as

Pritchard, a former all-state performer at Chapmanville High School in West Virginia, had earlier thrown three innings of shutout baseball before leaving the mound in the fourth inning. His second stint didn't prove as successful as the initial one. The big right hander entered the game with two runners on, no outs, and his team up by two, but control (Pritchard walked two) and defense (a big error helped in the FC effort) made a loser of the talented

With the bases loaded Steve Miller slapped a grounder to short that allowed Trusty to score, and Nathan Shelton hit another in about the same place and produced the same result as Jeff Lovely, who had been hit with a pitch, crossed the plate.

With the bases still loaded Thomas Hall, after fouling off two two-strike pitches, drew the walk and the game winning RBI as Floyd County handed Mason Slone another mound victory.

Slone, who threw all eight innings gave up four runs, three earned, on four hits while improving his record to 5-2. He struck out four and walked

Slone, a righthander from Knott Central, had a no-hitter going through three and two-thirds innings but that was soon broken up in the fourth as Larry Belcher blasted a two-out

After Floyd County scored twice in the fifth, Chapmanville tied the score with an unearned run in the sixth, and scored two in the eighth, but for one of the few times this summer, Floyd County managed to rally after being

That factor, coupled with their impressive play at Ceredo-Kenova two days earlier had created the idea that Floyd County was ready to fulfill their expectations. But what followed may have been their ugliest display of baseball this season.

The team committed four errors. managed only two hits, and lost the second game of the double header 11-12 in five innings.

Chapmanville, which touched up FC starter Tim Trusty for two runs in onethird of an inning, scored five times in the first three unearned on its way to an easy win. The lone bright spot for Floyd County may have been the effort of Tony Kidd. In only his second mound performance of the summer, he shut Chapmanville out for three and onethird innings before wilting in the fifth. Kidd, who had played the first game in right, and moved behind the plate for the second contest, gave up two hits and struck out three during that stretch, but the fifth didn't prove too positive for the righthander.

Trailing 5-2, Floyd County committed two errors early in the inning which allowed Chapmanville to score six runs. All of those runs were unearned.

In the game Chapmanville scored only two runs of the earned variety, but after their first inning outburst, they would never let Floyd County back in

Floyd County scored in the second when Jeff Lovely led off with a single and later scored on a Tony Kidd fly out. They crept another run closer in the third when Tim Trusty doubled home Mason Slone, but they could get no into right field. Carter made the put out when the runner came off the base.

Floyd County, normally a strong hitting team, managed only seven hits in the two games. Mason Slone had three of those, and Jeff Lovely had two.

Tim Trusty and Thomas Hall were the only other Floyd County players to hit safely in the double header.

They will try to cure some of those

The big question concerning Rose, who has finished second in his three previous seasons in Cincy, is whether it is really his fault or, better yet, would a change make that much difference? Sometimes just a shake-up can bring about a turn-a-round. All the time, it's the manager's position that absorbs the Some say that if it had been anyone

But Rose himself says those in charge would be stupid to fire him simply because of who he is. After all, Pete says, "the stadium is on Pete Rose Way, and nobody cares more about the Reds than I do.'

Right on, Pete. But sometimes even caring doesn't mean much, especially when you are not winning. Cincinnati hasn't displayed the type of effort needed to become a contender. Then there are some of the deals they've made lately! Buddy Bell was given away to division foe Houston, and Tracy Jones was traded to Montreal, giving him an opportunity to come back and cause trouble

Dennis Rasmussen beat Cincinnati after they traded him to San Diego, also in the Western Division. Take a look at these moves and say that Cook has the right to fire Rose. It's true that Pete has made numerous moves which didn't work out, and he embarrassed himself by getting his lineups confused, but is it fair for him to shoulder the burden

These are great talents that Cincinnati shipped out, and they received but one player, Herm Whittingham, who could possibly help them the remainder of the season.

Rose may have had some input on the deals, but you can bet your bottom dollar that Cook had the final say.

Who is to blame because Cincinnati can't hit the baseball, or play defense? Maybe the ones who shipped off Dave Parker and Kurt Stillwell. Sure, they got Danny Jackson and Jose Rije, but they could have gotten them for less.

Parker was their leading run producer last season, and Stillwell, just 22, is an all-star shortstop. Barry Larkin is a heavy hitter, but he has forgotten how to play defense

When it is all said and done, Cook will stay and Rose will go. His popularity with the public is sinking low, and fan pressure may ultimately be his

Rose, though, is the sole symbol that best represents Reds' baseball. His playing style made him a local hero. but his lack of a managerial title is building up to a goat's end.

Marge Shott, Cincinnati's much criticized owner, has said that if her Reds do not make a successful run, she expects Rose to take himself out of the picture at year's end. But everyone and his daughter knows how much of a quitter Pete Rose is, and about whether he is likely to remove himself from a position with the Reds. Yep, Pete will have to be fired, and that is the sad bottom line. The real bottom line, though, is how many people sit in the stands when Cincinnati plays baseball games.

Fans are more likely to come to the park in support of a Rose-managed Reds team than, say a Tommy Helms or Billy Martin team. They are a hometown oriented group, and to replace Rose with an outsider would be much worse than trading a native Cincinnatian such as that Jack Armstrong can't get an out. Pete can't be blamed for Cincinnati being second in the National League in errors. But he will be, and because of it, the Queen City's favorite son may become just another citizen, another face in the crowd rooting the Big Red Machine on.

Local Teams Lose Tuesday

The biggest question concerning the Paintsville 14-15-year-old Senior League all-star team should be; whey did they lose to Morgan County?

Paintsville, defending state champions, lost the first game of the district tournament at Paintsville, 14-7 to Morgan County, but roared back to claim the title of the double elimination
