ARH To Mark 25 Years' Service

The administrator and staff of McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital invite all the friends and associates of the hospital to a reception in the front lobby in celebration of the 25th anniversary of Appalachian Regional Healthcare, Inc. on Thursday, Sept. 1, at 10 a.m.

The reception will kick off a month of celebration, ending with a grand finale picnic at the Minnie Park on Oct. 1.

ARH is a not-for-profit health care system celebrating 25 years of service to Appalachia. ARH has hospitals, primary care centers, and other related facilities and services in Hazard, Whitesburg, Harlan, Middlesboro, West Liberty, McDowell, and South Williamson in Kentucky; Beckly, Man, and Gratton in West Virginia.

The commercial risk insurance rating for the Left Beaver Fire District has been upgraded from a Class 9/9 to a Class 6/9, effective tomorrow, according to Chuck Hall, captain of the department.

The rating will result in lower homeowners' insurance costs for some residents of the area.

According to Hall, the department operates solely on contributions, and purchased a $63,000 truck in September 1987. All but $3,000 has been paid.

Unemployment Falls Slightly

Unemployment in Prestonsburg fell from 15.3 percent in May to 15.1 percent in June, according to Thomas Hereford III, field office manager for the Department of Employment Services in Prestonsburg.

In the county, unemployment fell from 14.9 to 14.2 percent for the same months, the latest period for which statistics were available.

Legals Include Delinquent Taxes, School Board Audit

In this week's Floyd County Times, readers will see an entire section composed of legal notices—ranging from public hearings to delinquent tax lists.

Among the legal notices this week are the annual Floyd County Board of Education Audit, the Floyd County Health Department statement of condition, the Prestonsburg delinquent tax list and the Floyd County delinquent tax list.

There are also three legal notices in Section Two providing an opportunity for some area residents to request a public hearing on proposed work by the state Highway Department. These notices allow residents to see where proposed work will take place, and ask that a public hearing be held if there are objections or comments about the projects. The work is planned on Martin-Allen City Road, bridge and approaches over Beaver Creek at Martin; Lackey-Eastern Road, bridge and approaches over the Right Fork of Beaver; and the Martin-Allen City Road, bridge and approaches over the Right Fork of Beaver Creek at Martin.

'Comment On Kentucky' Airs Live From Pikeville

New Election Laws Require Four To File For Precinct Officers' Jobs

Due to new election laws that became effective July 15, the County Board of Elections must have a signed statement by Sept. 15 from persons who will serve as election officers; the appointments will be for the November general elections and the May 1989 primary.

According to Curtis Hall, Republican commissioner with the county board, those who would like an opportunity to serve must fill out a form including party registration, county, precinct, name, address, signature, Social Security number and telephone number.

Hall said four names are needed for each of the 48 precincts; applicants are asked to consider serving a precinct other than their home precinct, and may indicate up to three other precinct preferences.

The four-name-per-precinct ruling is especially awkward for Floyd County Republicans, because the area primarily consists of Democratic voters, said Hall. Area Republicans are urged to consider serving as precinct officers.

For more information, contact Hall at the County Board of Elections, Republican Commissioner, P.O. Box 561, McDowell, Ky. 41647, or call him at 377-6132.

Floyd Road Work Is Planned By State

Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson has announced several road improvement projects for five miles of various roads in Floyd County.

The state will furnish the materials for the county to place bituminous surface on County Road 5392, Granny Fitz Branch; County Road 5415, Woodland Estate; resurface County Road 5387, Clark School Lane; patch County Road 5388, Steve Fitzpatrick Branch; County Road 5389, Church Road; County Road 5381, Arnett Branch; and County Road 5380, Adams Cemetery; County Road 5379, Chestnut Grove Church Road.

According to State Transportation Secretary and Commissioner of Highways Milo D. Bryant, the projects are estimated to cost $39,980 and are being financed with Rural Secondary funds. Bryant noted that the county will be responsible for all phases of the work.

Smith Family Continues To Seek Donations For 16-Month-Old Child With Heart Defects

Susanne Smith has not been feeling well lately, but her mother Janie appreciates all the kind words and help she has gotten from the community.

Susanne, the 16-month-old daughter of Ron and Janie Smith and granddaughter of Sid and Marcella Bailey, has multiple heart defects and is undergoing surgery next week at Kosair Children's Hospital in Louisville to correct a defect in a vessel that supplies blood from the heart to the rest of the body.

A fund for Susanne has been established at First Guaranty National Bank in Martin, and about $1,165 has been given, according to Vice President Wanda Hays. Donations have come from local churches, private companies, the bank, Allen Central High School students and others, Smith said.

Janie, who is director of the Floyd County Head Start program, said that during parent conferences Monday at John M. Stumbo Elementary, one parent gave her a prayer cloth for Susanne and told Janie that her church on Mud Creek was praying for Susanne. The Smiths' church, Highland Avenue Freewill Baptist, has been very good to them also, she said. Church members and others gave blood for Susanne's operation at the Red Cross in Pikeville; in Ron Smith's hometown of Portsmouth, Ohio, the Red Cross will be accepting donations for her today.

Anyone wanting to contribute to the fund can contact First Guaranty National Bank in Martin, or can give blood at the Red Cross in Pikeville.

Carroll Found Guilty In Death

By Tim Sizemore

A Floyd County jury has found a Martin man guilty of reckless homicide, for the November 10th 1987 slaying of his brother, and has recommended a one year sentence.

Walt Carroll Jr., 20, of Martin, was accused of slaying his brother Tony Carroll, 16, with a sawed off shotgun.

Carroll's defense attorney, Tom Kimble, contended death was accidental. Kimble told the jury there had been no argument between the brothers prior to the shooting, but they had been simply fooling around when the weapon discharged. "It was a macho thing between brothers," Kimble said. The attorney pointed out that immediately after the shooting, Walt Carroll had taken his brother in his arms and exclaimed "Oh my God, I've shot my brother! Please don't die," and had attempted to stem the flow of blood from the victim's chest.

P'Burg High Won't Be Built, Says State

By Tim Sizemore

Hopes for a new Prestonsburg High School may be wishful thinking, according to the state's facilities report issued this month.

The school, which was considered a top priority in the 1987 report, has not only taken a back seat in this year's report, but has been deleted altogether.

Floyd County School Superintendent Ronald Hager says in 1987, impartial hearing officers surveying the school systems' building needs concluded that it was a priority to replace the present Prestonsburg High School, which is 34 years old and in the flood plain, with a new facility.

Hager said that the state has reversed its earlier estimate of priorities, and an official in Frankfort has concluded that the school is not needed. Instead, remodeling at Betsy Layne Elementary and Allen Central have become top priorities.

"If they did it last year, why should they come back this year do it again and change it completely?" Hager asked, adding that if the state has its way, the new high school "will not be constructed in our lifetime."

"We want all our children in the best facilities, the quality of our schools reflects the quality of our community," Hager said, and went on to explain, "Whether it's Betsy Layne Elementary or Melvin Grade School, we want our children to attend modern facilities."

Hager said he would like to see Floyd County students attending facilities that will provide adequate room for special education, science labs, language labs and nice kindergarten facilities.

Hager is perplexed by the state's report, and objects to the state's new priorities. He hopes the state will reconsider the report and realize the chronic need for the new high school.

"We want our children to have an equal chance at quality education," Hager said, and added "just the same as if they lived in Fayette or any other county in the state."

Plants Confiscated

Green gold is what Deputies John K. Blackburn and George Hale are after. The two peace officers are shown at the scene of their most recent find of marijuana.

Floyd Deputies Confiscate Additional Marijuana Plants

By Tim Sizemore

Floyd Sheriff's Deputies have once again seized a cache of marijuana, with the latest find being at Johns Creek near the German Bridge.

Deputy George Hale said Friday the Sheriff's Office had received an anonymous tip that the illegal weed was being grown at an isolated spot on Johns Creek near an abandoned barn.

Acting on the information, Chief Deputy John K. Blackburn and Hale investigated and discovered 25 marijuana plants growing at the back of the barn, concealed by undergrowth. Hale said that the marijuana looked to be nearing harvest time and that in a few days more, the plants probably would have been harvested.

With the latest find, Hale reported that the Sheriff's Office has confiscated 2,500 plants since June. Hale related that many of the plants had been grown in small plots of between 10 and 20 plants, and had more than likely been for personal consumption.

The deputy reported that many of the confiscated plants taken thus far have been grown in flower pots and 5-gallon buckets. The plants have ranged in size from 3 to 16 feet.

He said that the drought has had a severe impact on the productivity of the crops, and many have been located near sources of water.

Blackburn says the Sheriff's Office plans to step up the search because it is harvest time, and some tree leaves have fallen early, making it easier to spot the bright green hemp plant.

Floyd County Health Dept. To Begin Charging For Services, Says Compton

According to Earl Compton, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, a fee will be charged for services rendered at the Health Department.

Compton said the action is due to a reduction in state funding. The Kentucky Department for Health Services asked the 1988 Legislature for a $1 million increase in funding to meet the annual increase in operating costs for local health departments across the state. The Legislators denied the request, and cut $4 million from the previous allocation, according to Compton.

Compton stated that the Legislature specified that $2,100,000 be allocated to Medicaid and $1,900,000 be allocated to projects outside the local health departments.

Compton added an agreement had been signed between the Kentucky Department for Medicaid Services and the Kentucky Department for Health Services that allows the Department for Health Services and local health departments to bill Medicaid for services rendered to eligible Medicaid patients.

He also said that due to these fund reductions, effective Sept. 1, the Floyd County Health Department will be charging fees for all services rendered. Compton went on to say that persons unable to pay would not be denied services.

PCC Donation

Burieta Gearhart, senior vice president at the Bank Josephine, is shown presenting to Dr. Henry A. Campbell Jr., president of Prestonsburg Community College, a donation to the college's building fund. The college has been approved for a $3.1 million science building by the Legislature, but $194,800 must be raised locally. This figure represents one-half of the debt service for the first year. Once the funds are obtained, the construction process will begin.

The Holiday Inn

Receives Superior Rating

Local Holiday Inn Earns Award

Holiday Inn, Inc., has awarded the Prestonsburg location a "Superior Hotel" rating.

The Memphis-based chain, which has over 1,600 properties, only awarded 85 superior awards for 1988.

Kenneth Hamlet, president of Holiday Inns, stated that "operationally, the hotel is in the upper 10 percent of the entire chain."

"It is an extremely difficult award to obtain," said Martha Taylor, general manager. "The property is judged not only on its appearance and staff efficiency, but also on feedback through Memphis from our guests."

The hotel is now competing for the "Torch Bearer's Award," Holiday Inns' highest honor, which is awarded to only 20 hotels in the entire world.

"We have great plans for the upcoming year," stated Taylor. "The hotel will take a stronger interest in our local community, as well as promoting tourism in the area."

Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre has attributed the efforts of the hotel for an additional 2,000 attendees to the summer plays this past season. The hotel has also dedicated its facilities and staff this past year to many hours of community service to the Kentucky Blood Donor program, Kentucky Diabetic Foundation, and Muscular Dystrophy Association.

"It is no doubt that this type of dedication of our employees and management has created the attitude necessary to pursue and achieve Holiday Inn's highest honors," said Taylor.

MCC's 'The Children's Center' Begins Unique Day Care Project

With the growing need for day care funding in this country, Floyd County and the region — starting today — may have a little less to worry about.

Mountain Comprehensive Care Center, with federal funding from the Department of Health and Human Services, is opening The Children's Center in the Lawson Building at Harold, according to Rita Conley, director of Children Services at MCCC.

"It is a unique project — the first for anyone in the state," Conley said.

The center is a state-licensed day care center that also provides therapy and education for young special needs children, she said. The center will teach children newborn to 6 years old and will serve the Floyd, Pike and Pikeville city school systems. "We are really unique in the sense that we are drawing a wide variety of children with a wide variety of needs — that hasn't been done anywhere in the region," Conley said.

The center will care for children of normal and above-average intelligence, children with speech problems, mental retardation, physical disabilities, learning disabilities and those in need of daily stimulation, she said. The center also handles crisis nursing and respite care.

"We take a really strong stand that we are absolutely child-centered and we have a nurturing, warm and developmental atmosphere (at the center)," Conley said.

The Harold location will serve as a model for centers MCCC is planning to open throughout the region, she said. Sites in Pikeville and Johnson County are now being discussed.

The Harold center's beginning enrollment is about 15 children, and they are hoping to build enrollment up to about 25, although the center is licensed for more, Conley said.

The center's teachers are trained in special education, developmental abilities and deaf education, she said.

"We have the highest-trained staff for any center in the region," she said.

"Floyd County deserves quality — it is not enough just to fund, we have to make sure it is right," Conley said.

For more information about The Children's Center, call Rita Conley at 886-8572.

Workshop For SB Candidates Set

The Kentucky School Boards Association will present nine workshops throughout the state for candidates running for the nearly 500 school board seats in Kentucky, including one workshop Sept. 28 in Prestonsburg.

The workshops are designed to help candidates acquire a basic knowledge and understanding about the responsibilities and legal requirements of the office, according to Ann Brandt of KSBA.

There are three seats up on school boards in each county district (except Jefferson) and two seats up in each independent district in the state.

The local workshop is scheduled from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 28, at the Prestonsburg H.S. Cafeteria, N. Lake Drive.

There is no advance registration necessary for the workshops and no registration fee. Any interested citizens are invited to attend the programs. For further information about school board candidate workshops, contact KSBA, 502-695-4630.

Accident Claims Life Of Birchell Smith, 22

Birchell Darrell Smith, 22, of Elmrock in Knott County, formerly of Floyd County, was electrocuted Monday, Aug. 29, on the Middlefork Road at Decoy.

Smith and his brother, William, were attempting to remove copper wiring attached to an electrical post. When he climbed to the top of the post, Smith came in contact with a power line carrying 7,620 volts of electricity, knocking him to the ground.

William Smith attempted to transport his brother to the nearest hospital, but ran over an embankment en route.

Knott County Coroner Jeff Blair said autopsy results indicated Smith died from electrocution, and not from injuries sustained in the accident.

The incident was investigated by Greg Mullins, Kentucky State Police officer with the Hazard post.

Smith, the son of Birchell and Glenna Sparkman Smith of Elmrock, was born Nov. 7, 1965 in Martin. He was a miner employed with Prater and Baldrige Coal Co. of Kite.

Other than his parents, he is survived by four brothers, Arvel Smith of Lotts Creek, Jessie Smith of Elmrock, William Smith of Hindman, and Matthew Smith of Elmrock; two sisters, Nancy Smith of Decoy and Glenna D. Smith of Elmrock.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, Sept. 1, at 1 p.m. at Elmrock Church with the Rev. Sterling Bolen, The Rev. Dwayne Terry, the Rev. Everett Ritchie and the Rev. Carlos Beverly officiating. Burial will follow in the Smith Family Cemetery at Elmrock under the direction of Knott Funeral Home.

Big Sandy Consumer's Guide To Long-Term Care Available

The Big Sandy Long Term Care Ombudsman Advisory Council has prepared a consumer's guide to long term care services available in this region, according to Taunya D. Shelton, ombudsman with the Big Sandy Area Development District.

The area includes Floyd, Pike, Magoffin, Martin and Johnson counties. The guide outlines the goal of long term care, types of long term care beds, the number of beds available in the region, who pays for long term care, and alternatives to nursing home care.

"Special emphasis is given to the rights of the resident of a long term care facility, steps in choosing a nursing home, and what to do to voice a concern or file a complaint," said Shelton.

Also included is a comprehensive directory of the nursing homes and long term care facilities in the five-county area. The directory gives names and telephone numbers of key personnel in the Big Sandy nursing homes, as well as persons in Guardianship, Legal Services, Social Services, Social Insurance, Social Security, and many more agencies that are involved in the long term care delivery system.

Included is also a directory for alternatives to long term care — when nursing home care is inappropriate or alternative care has been chosen.

Copies of the "Big Sandy Long Term Care Consumer's Guide" are available at the local Long Term Care Ombudsman's Office. Contact Shelton at the Big Sandy Area Development District, 886-2374.

Movin' Right Along

By Anne Chaney

Last week we discussed additions to our regular features in the Floyd County Times, based on requests from readers who responded to our coupon, "If I Could Change One Thing about the Floyd County Times, I'd Change..."

That was the easy part — asking folks to contribute to a ministerial column, recipe column and poetry page, as well as a genealogical column complete with old photos.

This week, the going gets substantially tougher — it's time to answer the requests for things we can't really do much about.

Several folks (even one entire office — believe it or not) asked us about the ink. As they wrote, "It rubs off on hands and everything else!"

This has been a perennial problem for newspapers, which are printed on an inexpensive paper generically termed "newsprint". Some folks just have a lot of imagination, don't they? Anyway, to keep our production costs (and the price of our product) low, we use a lesser quality paper than you would find, for instance, in a book or magazine. The paper is more absorbent — it soaks up ink and, in turn, the ink rubs off on readers' hands. Some of the larger metropolitan newspapers have changed ink types and upgraded their paper stock to eliminate the problem, with mixed success.

We wish we could "fix it" — but unfortunately, in this case, we can't.

Next on the agenda: We often receive letters to the editor, but can't run them for one of several reasons. The letters are good — and no, we don't decide to print some folks' letters and not others based on whether or not we agree.

Generally, the letters do not follow our editorial page policy, which is rather simple: Letters must be signed, and include the address and telephone number of the author for verification. Sometimes the letters aren't signed; if a telephone number is included, we call the person and ask them to stop by and sign it. If no phone number is included, we try to find the person in the phone book based on the return address.

This week, we had a letter from an F. Goble in Prestonsburg. There was no telephone number — and we called all the F. Gobles in the book to try to verify authorship. We didn't have any luck, and as a result, the letter won't appear this week.

Please remember, we welcome all letters, but we must be able to reach the author if the need arises. Sign the letter, date it, and include your name, address, and telephone number.

Some readers would like to change the editorial page. A sample comment: "I'd like to see some written debate on county issues, which might lead to needed change, changes, fresh ideas and less corruption. Perhaps some guest columns by intelligent, but not necessarily agreeing personalities."

Bravo! We do welcome guest columns, and we plan to "beef up" our editorial page in the near future. Keep your eyes open for improvements.

Hopkins Appreciates Votes Against Issue

I want to publicly express my sincere and deep appreciation to the four city councilmen who took a stand against "liquor-by-the-drink" in our city. These men refused to sell out our community and county and, in uncompromising integrity, voted against the ordinance allowing on-site consumption of alcohol.

These men refused to give in to the pressure and threats of a few and refused to ignore the people, the people they were elected to represent. They took a stand for what was right, not what some claimed to be profitable. In their stand, they placed people over dollars, and that kind of integrity needs to be applauded.

I also appreciate their stand against higher taxes for the people of Prestonsburg. In an "emergency" ordinance, passed due to the ordinance allowing liquor-by-the-drink, two police officers, a new cruiser, and the operation of that cruiser, were approved. This ordinance will cost the tax payer more than the $30,000 of promised income from the on-site consumption of alcohol, meaning either increased taxes or a cut back in other services in our city.

My thanks to Councilmen Hale, Vance, Joseph, and Yates for their stand.

Respectfully,
Steve Hopkins

The Kentucky State Association of Free Will Baptists firmly stands on the inerrancy of the word of God and that our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ was born into a world of sin, and himself knew no sin (II Corinthians 5:21).

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD
U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

UK SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY CENTER WILL HELP MOVE RESEARCH FROM LAB TO INDUSTRY

This nation is the best in the world at discovering new technologies, but we have fallen behind competing nations in translating our technological ideas into products that can bring new and better jobs to millions of struggling Kentuckians and other Americans.

The University of Kentucky under President David Roselle, following up the far-sighted efforts of former President Otis Singletary, has taken the lead in an effort to overcome this critical problem through a partnership of government, private industries, universities and other institutions.

I am extremely pleased that we have been able to win Senate passage of a $4.5 million appropriation for this work, which is to be carried out in a major science and technology program being developed at UK.

We hope that additional federal funding can be secured over the next three years for the UK project, aimed at helping to make Kentucky industries and other U.S. industries more competitive on world markets.

The funds will go for development of UK's Advanced Science and Technology Commercialization Center. The center, known as ASTeCC, will involve a major expansion of a building complex currently underway for UK's new Robotics and Manufacturing Systems Center.

ASTeCC will pull together a number of emerging UK programs aimed at training more scientists and engineers and quickly moving new technologies from the laboratory to practical applications in a wide range of U.S. industries.

UK is seeking a total of $18.5 million in federal support for ASTeCC, which is to be the umbrella organization for programs costing $79.3 million over the next five years. These include the Robotics Center, UK's new supercomputer facility and other developments in Lexington. Overall funding includes a recent state appropriation of $20 million for technological equipment, other state funds and contributions and contract revenues from Kentucky industries.

ASTeCC can be enormously useful to Kentucky industries while serving as a model for similar programs across the nation.

Under the ASTeCC program, teachers and researchers from many academic disciplines—science, engineering and commerce—will pool their knowledge to work with industries and train students to bring their talents to bear on technological problems. The program is designed to build upon UK's existing strength in such fields as robotics, materials science, artificial intelligence, biomedical engineering and pharmaceutical and computational sciences.

We were able to include initial funding of ASTeCC in the Senate version of the commerce appropriations bill, which now goes to a House-Senate conference committee. With the support of our entire Kentucky delegation, we have every hope of keeping this important project in our final bill.

McDowell ARH Personnel Changes

Phyllis Vanderpool, administrative assistant at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, will retire Sept. 2, according to Edward V. Collins, administrator.

Vanderpool will join her husband, Talmadge, in Brevard, N.C., where they plan to reside and enjoy their retirement.

Vanderpool has been employed at McDowell ARH since Nov. 11, 1957, and has worked primarily in the business office and admissions department for the past 31 years.

"She has contributed a great deal, and will be sorely missed by everyone at McDowell," said Collins. Violet Brown, admissions clerk, has been promoted to business office supervisor effective Aug. 22. She has worked at the hospital since 1976, primarily in admissions. She is a 1979 graduate of Mayo State Vocational School, and earned an associate degree from the University of Kentucky, Prestonsburg Community College, in May 1985. She has continued to pursue course work in accounting at Alice Lloyd College.

Over 50,000 Pancakes Served . . .

By L. J. Cooley
What in Prestonsburg is 65 years old, committed to community service and has served over 50,000 pancakes?
Answer: the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club.

In its 65th year, the Kiwanis Club is the oldest existing service organization in Prestonsburg, according to Kiwanis secretary Lenny Grant.

"Some have come and gone, but we're still here," Grant said.

Driven by the motto "We Build," Kiwanians traditionally work to help underprivileged children, and give money and time to the local Head Start program, the Area II Special Olympics and the Floyd County Little League program, Kiwanis president George Spiggle said.

On Saturday, Sept. 17, the Kiwanis will sponsor PCC Day, a day of events to raise money for Prestonsburg Community College's new science building, Spiggle said. Events will include a walkathon, radiothon and an auction.

People in Prestonsburg may also equate the Kiwanis Club with their annual pancake day. This year it will be Nov. 17, the only Saturday in November that the University of Kentucky has no football game, Spiggle said.

The syrup extravaganza will be at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria and the cost will be $3.

The club is always interested in recruiting new members, Spiggle said. Anyone interested in joining may contact any Kiwanis member. To participate in the PCC Day Walkathon, contact Dr. Blake Burchett, Dr. Henry Campbell or George Spiggle.

Malfunctioning Lights Cause Pair Of Accidents

Malfunctioning traffic controls and poor visibility during a rainstorm caused a two vehicle accident at the intersection of U.S. 23, according to Prestonsburg police.

Linda F. Johnson, 26, of Prestonsburg, crossed the northbound lane of U.S. 23 while traffic controls flashed red. Johnson, attempting to cross the southbound lanes, reportedly drove into the path of a vehicle driven by Melvin Fields, 67, of Jackson, Ohio. The Fields auto struck Johnson's vehicle on the passenger side.

Imogene Fields and Pauline Sperry, 65, of Hindman, were passengers in Field's vehicle. No injuries were received, and no citations were issued, said Chuck B. Akers, investigating officer.

In an unrelated matter, Officer Ricky Conn investigated an accident on the Super America parking lot in Prestonsburg.

Thomas E. Wilson, while attempting to park, struck a vehicle owned by Larry D. Tackett in the left rear. No citations were issued and no injuries were sustained.

Sgt. Sue Blackburn investigated a similar accident Thursday, Aug. 25, in the parking lot at Price's Supermarket in Prestonsburg.

According to Blackburn, Ruth Prater backed her vehicle into a vehicle owned by Louise Justice. No citations were issued and no one was injured.

Church Honors

Building Committee

Christ United Methodist Church members honored the building committee with a fellowship dinner on Sunday evening, Aug. 21.

The pastor, Kenneth R. Lemaster, presented an engraved plaque listing the following names of the building committee: Lucy Kinzer, chairperson; Greg Campbell, Brad Walls, Claude Allen, Donald Martin, Carl Martin and Forest Porter.

The first service was held in the new church on July 3.

During the 11-week training cycle, Potter was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill.

Mountain Comprehensive Care Holds Bonus Banquet For Staff

Mountain Comprehensive Care Center of Prestonsburg held its bonus awards staff dinner and party on Friday, Aug. 12, in the Pines Recreation Center at Jenny Wiley State Park.

The festivities began at 6 p.m. Steve Schenck, executive director, presented bonus checks to the staff who were present and acknowledged their hard work over the past year. The staff bonuses were available because the center finished the 87-88 fiscal year with surplus monies, and it was the decision of the management team of the center with Board approval, to reward staff with a bonus. Bonus checks were given to 147 employees.

Following the awards ceremony, there was a pot luck supper and later a dance. Nearly 300 staff and family members attended the supper and dance. Door prizes were awarded throughout the evening. A dance contest was held and the winners were Carter Conley and Debi Montgomery of Magoffin County. The runners-up were Jack Spears and Andrea Conley of Floyd County. These couples were awarded trophies and savings bonds. The grand prize of a $100 savings bond was won by John Cook.

MCCC is the regional community mental health center serving Pike, Floyd, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin counties. The center employs 170 full-time and part-time workers.

The staff of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center presented a recognition and appreciation award to Schenck. The award was a plaque that expressed appreciation for fiscal responsibility, leadership and success. It was that first time in several years that Mountain Comprehensive Care Center had ended the fiscal year "in the black" rather than showing a deficit.

Driving Law Changes, Will Facilitate Arrests

By Tim Sizemore

Floyd County drivers, beware! According to County Attorney David Barber and Floyd County Schools Transportation Director Ed Patton, it will no longer be necessary to identify the driver of a vehicle to prosecute someone who passes a school bus either loading or unloading children.

According to a law enacted by the 1988 General Assembly, the bus driver or school official will only have to get the license number, and charges can be brought against the owner of the car.

"I think it will be a great aid in helping identify who the actual perpetrator of the offense is," County Attorney Barber said. "In the past, we have had problems with people claiming they were not the ones driving, and we would have to dismiss the case." Barber says now, with the automobile owner being held responsible for the offense, it is likely that they will identify the person who was actually driving the vehicle.

Patton says the safety of children is a primary concern and the new, stricter law may make motorists more cautious when approaching a school bus.

One potential snag to the new law which Barber pointed out is that it assumes a person is guilty before they have a hearing. Barber said that although the law is needed, the judicial system presumes a person is innocent until proven guilty. He says he expects the law to be challenged in the future.

Television Stolen From Area Hotel

A $350 19-inch Magnavox color television was stolen from the Kentucky Motel on South Lake Drive in Prestonsburg, Monday, Aug. 22.

Ricky Conn, Prestonsburg police officer said the last occupant of the room failed to turn in the key. Sometime later, around 10 p.m., the television was removed from the room.

There is one suspect in the case, which is still under investigation, said Conn. No arrests have been made.

AUTUMN COLORS ARE UNFURLING

A trip down Paintsville Lake this weekend revealed that autumn is just around the corner. The colors were breathtaking, as red, yellow and orange leaves peeked at passersby from between green pine trees.

Paintsville Lake is refreshing, but already trash is floating in its green waters and its shoreline is littered with paper cups.

PEOPLE CHOW

Several have requested the recipe for Puppy Chow. No, it's not a new dog food for your puppy, nor is it dog food for your spouse; it's a great treat for parties or just to eat when the munchies grab your tummy.

The recipe was brought to Kentucky by a visitor from Indiana. It is popular with all who try it. The recipe follows.

1-6 oz. package semi-sweet chocolate chips

- 1/2 cup peanut butter
- 1 stick margarine
- 9 cups Rice Chex TM
- 4 cups powdered sugar

Mix chocolate chips, peanut butter and margarine with spoon. Melt in microwave oven for about two minutes-stopping at one minute and stirring. (Also may melt mixture in double boiler). Coat nine cups of RiceChex TM with the chocolate mixture.

Place 1 cup powdered sugar in large bag. Add half of the Chex mixture. Shake. Add 1 cup powdered sugar. Shake well. Pour into sealable bowl. Repeat for rest of mixture.

THE CAT'S MEOW

Sometimes a little humor helps. Patsy Sword, director of the cardio diagnostic department at Highlands Regional Medical Center, always has a cheerful smile and a ready story. The following story was told to the Times staff by Patsy.

A lawyer needed an efficient secretary to work in his office, so he put a sign in his window listing three qualifications: the secretary must be able to write computer programming, be a fast typist, and be bilingual.

A dog passing the window saw the sign and applied for the job. Surprised the lawyer asked the dog, "Can you write computer programs?" The dog proceeded to write the most beautiful computer program the lawyer had ever seen.

He told the dog, "I'm amazed, but can you type?" The dog sat down at the typewriter and typed 97 words per minute without any errors.

Astounded the lawyer said, "That's fantastic, but I need someone who's bilingual." The dog looked up at the lawyer and said, "Meow."

- The agenda includes:
- 15 minutes for public comment at the beginning of the meeting;

- tive salary index;
- Approving contracts for use of school facilities and field trips; and approving a contract with Mountain Comprehensive Care for pre-school services;
- Approval of the academic conference bylaws;
- Approval of the financial report of June 30;
- Amending a previous order to read, "Declare that an emergency exists and request a one-year approval for the use of emergency librarians as approved by DKE, Division of Certification";

Is it a pepper or a tomato? That is the question asked by Bess West of the Mountain Parkway, who recently harvested a strange crop of strange tomatoes from plants she purchased locally.

Older Worker, Local Business Get Awards

A Johnson County older worker who has made the most of new career opportunities is to be honored by the National Council on the Aging (NCOA) and the Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, Inc.

Recognition will also be given to a local employer who has made innovative use of NCOA's Senior Community Service Employment Program (SCSEP), which helps older persons find jobs, improve their incomes, and learn new skills.

The person chosen as the outstanding SCSEP worker is James E. Garnett. The employer to be honored is Prestonsburg Community College, Dr. Henry A. Campbell, president.

The honors are part of NCOA's celebration of the Twentieth Anniversary of SCSEP this year. In those two decades, NCOA has been working with the Federal government and community agencies to match older workers with jobs that help meet community needs. Workers are placed in positions subsidized through federal funds. Frequently, the subsidized employment leads to unsubsidized jobs.

The awards will be given at a ceremony to take place at Jenny Wiley State Park, May Lodge on Sept. 6, at 10:30 a.m.

NCOA is a private, nonprofit organization established in 1950. It serves as a national resource of information, training, technical assistance, advocacy and research on all aspects of aging. The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, Inc. has contracted with NCOA since 1968 to operate SCSEP in Floyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties.

The first patent issued in America—in 1641—went to Samuel Winslow of the Massachusetts Bay Colony "to furnish the country with salt."

'Junk' Is Highlighted On Sept. 13 Program

The junk business is regarded as "second class citizen work" by much of society, yet these businessmen and women deserve great respect, say the producers of a half-hour special on KET. Appalachian Junkumentary airs Tuesday, Sept. 13 at 8:30 p.m.

Last year this unique documentary was selected for screening at the 1987 International Public Television Screening Conference held in Granada, Spain. It was one of 15 American entries chosen to represent this year's most interesting and innovative public television shows. Other selections included episodes from Frontline and American Playhouse.

Appalachian Junkumentary filmmakers visited several junkyards throughout the Appalachian mountains to reveal the humor and quiet dignity of the families who run junkyards.

Says one junkyard owner, "In this business here you'll never make it to the White House, but it provides a good livin' for my family and I'd never have it any other way."

Jobs Available For Elderly

Open House Held

Henry Mayo, owner of Rebel Lanes, presents a balloon to Christie Ann Goble at the bowling alley's recent grand opening. A number of area adults, teenagers and children attended the Saturday ceremony.

Kentucky is looking for a few good men and women, but only if they have celebrated at least 55 birthdays.

The state Department for Social Services has received a grant of $1,271,670 from the U.S. Department of Labor to support the Kentucky Senior Community Service Employment Program. The grant will subsidize the hiring of up to 249 low-income Kentuckians age 55 and up who want to get back into the workplace.

"We're recruiting senior citizens who need a job and are willing to work their way up from entry level jobs which, in most cases, provide services back to other senior citizens," said Social Services Commissioner Larry Michalczyk.

The senior employment program administered by the department's Division of Aging Services covers the counties of 10 of Kentucky's area development districts (ADDs); locally, by Big Sandy Area Development District in Prestonsburg.

"The idea is to provide needed additional income to the clients, help them gain skills that will enable them to be promoted out of subsidized employment and give them a reason to get out of the house and socialize, rather than lock themselves away at home simply because of their age," said Michalczyk.

The state contracts with agencies in each ADD to recruit senior citizens from among their regular clients. Each agency works with employers such as schools, libraries, senior citizens centers, home care agencies and local health departments to locate potential employment for the older workers.

"Although the federal grant limits job placements to government or non-profit organizations, we do work closely with other senior employment programs such as those under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA)," Michalczyk said.

In turn, the state Department for Employment Services—Kentucky's JTPA agency and largest job placement operation—helps out by searching for senior employment opportunities in businesses using the state's job search services.

Peggy Wallace, acting Aging Services director, said that the Employment Services staff are on the lookout for openings that don't require pay to be subsidized by the government.

"However, in most cases, a major attraction to the employer is the chance to increase the workforce without also having to pick up the additional salary," Wallace said.

"One value of this program is in the clients who eventually move on into permanent, non-subsidized jobs," she said. "In fact, a number of those who have been employed under this program have remained with the same agency where they were originally placed, only after being promoted to a higher paying job."

Interested persons may contact the nearest office of the Department for Employment Services or the aging planner with the Area Development District for more information or determination of eligibility, or they may call the state Division for Aging Services in Frankfort at (502) 564-6930.

spent the night at Carroll's home, told the jury that prior to the shooting the Carroll brothers and their friends had been sitting around drinking beer and listening to music. Patrick said there had been no fighting or no indication of trouble between the two until the time of the shooting. The Sugar Loaf youth said Walt had planned to go with him to his home to babysit for his mother.

Walt Carroll told the jury he had gone into the room to get a shirt, and took down his gun to see if it had been tampered with. Carroll said the gun was empty and his brother Tony had been looking at it earlier in the morning. Carroll explained he had loaded the gun because he intended to take the weapon with him and do some target shooting on the hill behind Patrick's home at Sugar Loaf. The defendant said Tony Carroll had asked to look at the gun, but he had refused, telling him "You don't need to look at it," at which time the younger Carroll jerked the barrel and the firearm discharged.

Walt Carroll said he and his brother had gotten along well and that they liked to work together on motorcycles and go horseback riding.

Attorney Dan Rowland, representing the Commonwealth, cited a different set of circumstances leading to the slaying. Rowland said Walt Carroll had deliberately loaded the weapon after he had seen it had no shell in the chamber. Approaching the defendant, Rowland held the death instrument and explained it had no sights, and could not be used for target practice.

The prosecutor showed the defendant two shells recovered at the scene called "pumpkin balls" because of their solid lead shot, and said, in an emotional tone, "This gun is not for hunting, but has one purpose—murder." The defendant said he intended to use the gun for deer hunting and he was unfamiliar with the weapon because he had just traded a bridle for it a couple of days before.

The prosecuting attorney said the younger Carroll had cursed at the defendant, admonishing him not to point the weapon at him because it was loaded and cocked. State Detective James Redrick said there were signs the younger Carroll had attempted to protect himself. Redrick explained to the court that powder burns had been found on the victim's hands.

Another question plaguing the jury was the conflicting statement made by several juveniles at the scene. Sheriff's Deputy Antony Castle said that the story had first been that the gun had fallen off the gun rack and had accidentally discharged, but that later, under questioning, a juvenile girl admitted the story was false and that no one actually saw the shooting.

In closing statements, Kimble emphasized the pain the family had suffered as a result of the shooting. "No verdict you can give can bring Tony back...it was a terrible, tragic accident."

Kimble read the meaning of accident from a dictionary and told to the jury that what had happened had been such an occurrence. "You have a chance to do something great; you can begin to heal the hurt," Kimble told the jury. "You can decide that this boy is a killer — the worst human being that walks the earth — or you can do the right thing and find Walt Carroll guilty of an accident, not of a crime," Kimble said.

The prosecution took a harsher view of Carroll's acts on the day of the shooting. "This is a hard thing to do and I do not take pleasure in it," Rowland told the jury, adding, "If you excuse that type of behavior, is it all right for me to open up my brother's chest with a slug?" Rowland said that the defendant had shown wanton disregard for another human being.

His brother said, 'Don't point that thing, it's cocked and loaded', and he shoots him anyhow. To me, his conduct manifests a complete indifference to human life," Rowland said.

DR. AND MRS. JERRY DAVIS

Dr. Davis Leaves Alice Lloyd, Will Serve At Missouri School

Dr. Jerry Davis, who for the past several years has been president of Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, Mrs. Davis and their family, left recently for the School of the Ozarks, in Missouri, where he will serve as president.

The accompanying photograph was made during a dinner meeting of the Floyd County Chapter of the Alice Lloyd College Alumni Association, at

May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, this past spring.

Dr. Davis' successor at Alice Lloyd is Fred Mullinax, who formerly held an executive position there.

One of Dr. Davis' last requests before leaving for his new position was that students, alumni faculty, and all Alice Lloyd College friends give Mullinax the same loyal support they have given this school throughout these many years.

MARIAN MASTERS

Fall Hasn't Arrived Early, But Some Leaves Changing

If you drive down the road and notice that some of the trees along the way are changing into their Fall wardrobe, it is not because September crept up without you noticing it.

There are individual reasons that trees have started changing color in August, according to Chief Forester Steve Kull of the Kentucky Division of Forestry.

The trees along the side of the road are changing because of pesticide spraying, and some of the trees have been killed by old age or disease, Kull said.

Up in the hills it got so dry that the trees went dormant as they do in the fall, he said, but they are mainly the sweet gum trees, which change early.

Local Church Women Meet

Marian Masters, president of the local church women, was in charge of the meeting held Friday, Aug. 19, at the First Presbyterian Church, in Prestonsburg.

Masters gave the devotions, and prayer was led by Elma Jessen. Dorothy Osborne, secretary, gave her report and Dot Marshall, treasurer, gave the financial report.

It was decided that $25 would be donated to the A Alternative program.

A possible location for the Food Loaves and Fishes Food Pantry was discussed, and Eva Collins, chairman of this project, gave her report.

Masters suggested that each church in the food pantry area make a poster encouraging recipients to attend church services.

It was reported that Marian Masters, Eva Collins, Elma Jessen, and Dot Marshall attended a meeting here recently, with a representative from God's Food Pantry, of Lexington, to discuss cooperative buying for the food pantries and it was decided to continue this method of buying.

Elma Jessen, who said she would be attending college on a part-time basis this fall, announced that she would ask that another member represent her at the meetings.

Refreshments were served by the host church.

Those in attendance, and the churches they represented were: Marian Masters, Community United Methodist; Dorothy Osborne, Pleasant Home Baptist; Dot Marshall, Mabel Jean LeMaster, First United Methodist; Garnett Fairchild, First Christian; Eva Collins, and Lucy Regan, First Baptist (Irene Cole Memorial); Elma Jessen and Honey May, First Presbyterian (the host church), and a guest, Mrs. Maurice Masters, of the First Methodist Church, Mt. Dora, Florida.

Masters closed the meeting with prayer.

The next meeting will be at St. Martha Church, Friday, Oct. 17, at 10:30 a.m.

FEVER PITCH

One of the most prominent numbers in our lives is 98.6 degrees F. This is believed to be the normal body temperature of a person when taken by an oral thermometer. However, a person should not become alarmed if a reading is above or below that number. Because of individual differences, a person's normal range can extend from 96.5 degrees F. to 99 degrees F. There are also other considerations that can affect body temperature. For instance, such drugs as antibiotics and birth control pills can induce fever. Known as drug fever, this phenomenon usually occurs during the second week of taking the drug. Another consideration for women is their fertility cycle. Ovulation can raise body temperature by a degree. All such things should be considered when a temperature is taken.

Prescription and non-prescription medications to meet your health care needs await you at COOLEY APOTHECARY. Your medical requirements are our major concern. We do everything to meet the challenge of providing the finest products to keep you in the peak of health. Rep. Stumbo Discusses Ky. Education, Outlines Possible Legislative Solutions

By Rep. Gregory Stumbo
House Majority Floor Leader
Education has always maintained an important position on the priority list of what's vital to a successful American.

A May 31 court decision by a Franklin County Circuit Court Judge posed serious questions concerning Kentucky's education system and its funding mechanisms.

To understand the events leading to the court decision we must look at the development of the educational system in the state.

Early schools in Kentucky found little more support from the state than land provided for the school building. Funding for whatever educational programs that were available was left up to the local district. The first state property tax for education was enacted in 1848 establishing 2 cents per $100 worth of taxable property. During this period state government simply counted the number of school age children in a district and doled out the dollars per head. That allowed districts where many children went to private school or to no school at all to spend more money per student than those who were in the public school system.

The current funding method for education, which was set in place in 1954, after passage of a Constitutional amendment, bases state funding on the number of students in school.

The noticeable problem erupting from the funding system that had evolved through the years was that wealthy districts could contribute more to their school budgets than poor districts. In 1976 the General Assembly set up a "power-equalization fund" to aid poor districts. Through this fund, Kentucky adds money to a poor district so a penny of tax rate could bring in as much per pupil as a penny in Fayette County, where the value of taxable property per student is much greater. However, state revenue can only afford to match the first 10 to 11 cents of tax. Property taxes in some areas raised about 60 cents per $100 worth of property in 1986-87.

Another factor in the gradually emerging picture of modern education occurred when a 1965 state Court of Appeals ruling demanded that property be assessed at 100 percent of its fair market value. A special session of the General Assembly was immediately called to "roll back" local tax rates to make up for the higher assessments. Local rates dropped again in 1976, when the state budget claimed the first 30 cents of local property tax, leaving some school districts with no local revenue from property tax.

Legislators, then in 1985, passed a law requiring all school districts to levy taxes equal to at least 25 cents per $100 of assessed value.

In examining Kentucky's educational funding mechanism House Bill 44, passed in 1979, must also be considered. It further restricted property tax increases.

Then on May 31 of this year a court ruling rejected the Commonwealth's system of school finance striking it down as "unconstitutional and discriminating."

Many education reformists in the state suggest the repeal of revenue laws that I have discussed, as well as changing the state's method of dispensing school funds.

Most members of the General Assembly feel the court's decision leaves all Kentuckians in limbo as to precisely what is and is not constitutional. By simply ruling that Kentucky's system of financing public schools is unconstitutional, the court has failed to provide specifics. Therefore, we have no alternative but to proceed along the lines of what is implied in the court's decision with reference to House Bill 44 and the property tax roll back law of 1965. The clear implication in our minds is that the court has delivered both statutes unconstitutional, the consequences of which could be an unlimited rise in property taxation.

The fact that the subject of this suit is educational finance adds to our dilemma. On the other hand, none of us want to be painted with the taint of being anti-education.

The real issue before Kentuckians is how most effectively and beneficially to spend our tax money for the education of each and every child in Kentucky. Historically, Kentucky has elected to follow the route of local controls and local funding, for the most part, of our school districts. In the main, people in Kentucky have as great an emotional tie to their local school districts and their local schools as they do their county governments. It has long been recognized that Kentuckians' chief problem in dealing with educational improvement is attitudinal. Parents must perceive that it is to the benefit of their children to receive the very best education possible. Everyone must be convinced that an investment in education is to the ultimate well-being of all society, for indeed we all benefit in accordance and in a direct ratio with the excellence of our school system.

Responsible state officials cannot make snap decisions on educational problems affecting our youngsters. And, the lengthy studies that have been done on education are certainly not a waste of time and has in fact been a great source of enlightenment. As a result, the education special session of 1985 passed legislation with a knowledgeable background to back up their decision. To address this new development in education, the General Assembly members have asked the Interim Joint Committee Education to:

—Review the requirements and alternative structures which would be required to establish a unitary school system in Kentucky, should the court's decision prove to require this;

—Review all constitutional provisions and statutes as they relate to local school administration in Kentucky;

—Review jointly, with the interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue, the present system for financing education in Kentucky and all possible options for alternative methods. In addition, the committees should examine potential budgetary approaches for education funding.

In addition, the Interim Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue has been asked:

—To study the implications involved in the event the Court does hold that House Bill 44 and the property tax roll back law of 1965 are unconstitutional as declared in the court's conclusions of law.

The voiding of these statutes has the potential of adding a tremendous real estate tax burden on property owners throughout Kentucky.

—In conjunction with the Education Committee, to study the implications and alternative methods of financing public education in Kentucky to include fiscal implications of establishing a unitary school system for Kentucky. In addition, the committees should examine potential budgetary approaches for education funding.

Legislators on the education committee will take these issues to the people of Kentucky in around-the-state meetings.

The nearest meetings for Floyd Countians will be at the Magoffin County High School cafeteria on Thursday, Sept. 15, from 6 to 7:30 p.m., or at Knott County Central High School in Hindman on Friday, Sept. 16, from noon to 1:30 p.m.

State Unemployment Rises

The full impact of the summer of '88 — the continuing drought and the closing of schools for summer vacation — pushed the state's unemployment rate up in July, the first increase since February.

Kentucky's jobless rate rose from a revised 7.8 percent in June to July's preliminary 8.4 percent, but was below the 8.8 percent rate for July 1987, according to a labor force trends report from the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Nationally, unemployment stood at 5.5 percent in July, the same as in June. The comparable state and national rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Kentucky's chief labor market analyst, Ed Blackwell, said that most of the job fluctuations occurring from June to July were normal for this time of year.

"Education jobs were down by 10,400 from June," Blackwell said. "Some of Kentucky's school systems still had hourly employees, such as custodial and maintenance workers, on their payrolls during the first part of June, so they aren't counted as unemployed until July."

"Employment and unemployment figures are based on labor force activity for the week that includes the 12th of the month."

Service jobs declined by 2,300, mostly in education services. "This is another temporary loss which happens when schools aren't in session," he said.

"The aberration in Kentucky's job picture in July was in agriculture, where 5,000 fewer workers were recorded," he said. "Normally the number of farm workers would have increased, but the drought caused employment in this category to go down this summer."

Other losses in transportation, communications and utilities, coal mining, and federal jobs. Preliminary figures showed trade jobs were down by 200, but Blackwell said this category probably would show an increase when late reports are in from Kentucky's retailers.

Manufacturing jobs were unchanged between June and July, Blackwell said. "This reflected vacation shutdowns at several Kentucky plants, which happens every year. Because some workers were not on the payrolls long enough to qualify for paid vacations, they showed up as unemployed, even though it was just for one or two weeks."

Jobs with state and local governments increased by 2,500, which Blackwell attributed to the hiring of temporary workers for summer months. Construction employment in the state rose by 1,700 between June and July, mostly in home building and highway and bridge construction.

Another 1,300 jobs were recorded in the category that includes self-employed people, family members who work without pay in a family business and domestic workers. Finance, insurance and real estate added 200 jobs.

Kentuckians working in July numbered 1,576,200, according to a U.S. Department of Labor Survey. This was 8,800 fewer than in June, when the figure was 1,576,000, but 24,200 more than the July 1987 total of 1,543,000.

The federal estimate of unemployed Kentuckians (measured by that same survey) was 143,400 in July, 9,700 more than June's 133,700 but 5,100 fewer than the July 1987 figure of 148,500.

Kentucky's civilian labor force estimate for July was 1,710,600, up from 1,709,700 in June and 1,691,500 in July 1987. This includes people who have non-military jobs and unemployed Kentuckians who actively are seeking work. It does not include the unemployed who have not looked for a job in four weeks.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure employment trends rather than to actually count people working.

AFDC Adds Some Funding

Kentucky recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) are getting a boost in overcoming a barrier to the kinds of educational training they need to leave the welfare ranks.

Beginning this month, the state Department for Social Insurance is raising the monthly child care allowance for parents with two or more children and who are enrolled in literacy, GED, high school, vocational school or college.

At the same time, all 1,400 AFDC families participating in the program will receive a $20 monthly allowance to cover transportation expenses.

Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson said, "By providing for child care expenses, more parents receiving AFDC benefits are able to take advantage of these adult educational opportunities."

"Improving the education level of AFDC recipients enhances their ability to find a job and become self-supporting—in effect helping them to help themselves out of the public assistance system," he said.

"Child care is expensive and covering that cost is an important factor in a parent's decision to seek further schooling. The increased allowance and the transportation benefits will make it easier for our AFDC clients to make the choice that can get them going again in school."

The 1988 Kentucky General Assembly authorized nearly $3.7 million to be used during the next two years to more accurately address the child care and transportation expenses being faced by AFDC families.

"The monthly child care allowance for parents who have two or more children was increased from $218 to $313 for full-time attendance in high school, college or vocational education training, bringing it more in line with actual costs," said Robinson.

"Benefits to single-child families—$174 for the same situation—were already fairly close to the costs our clients incur when they seek child day care," the commissioner said.

In literacy or GED training, the amount a client receives varies according to the type of training and the number of hours spent in the classroom each week.

"The transportation allowance will help defray the costs of taking children from care centers," Robinson added.

Upstart Hornets No Match For Determined Betsy Layne Squad

Magoffin County is a mere babe in the unfriendly football woods. They struggle to simply survive while attempting to grind out some character for themselves in this, their first varsity season.

But Saturday evening, the Hornets started out with the appearance and success of a veteran team. They opened huge holes, they ran hard, and when fullback Garland Gladstone galloped 59 yards for a first quarter touchdown, Magoffin County actually held a lead.

For that one moment, their fans forgot all the trouble which had surrounded the young team. Nothing was mentioned about them being a first-year squad just feeling their way through an initial varsity season.

But the moment was fleeting, and as the game progressed the Hornets made all the mistakes expected of an inexperienced program. They fumbled. They threw interceptions, and they gave up big plays after big plays. Betsy Layne was quick to make them pay for the mistakes, and recorded a 20-6 victory over the Hornets in Salyersville Saturday.

"It feels good to get one this early in the season," Bobcat coach Vince Tucker said of his team's win, their first of the season.

"The kids decided they wanted to put it all together," Tucker added. "We had to make a few adjustments, but the kids just didn't want to let this one get away."

Betsy Layne, after losing their opener 31-0 to Fleming-Neon, scored on their first possession of the game, wiping out the Hornets' 6-0 lead and replacing it with a 2-point advantage of their own, thanks to a successful conversion pass from Craig Hunter to Dave Recznik.

The Bobcats, in the second half, enjoyed two long drives for touchdowns to preserve the victory and keep Magoffin County winless.

Magoffin County scored first, thanks to Gladstone's long run. After taking over on the 34, the Hornets moved the pigskin to the 41 on back-to-back runs from tailback Mike Ratliff.

On a third and three play, Magoffin County handed off to their senior fullback, and Gladstone broke free up the middle, and outraced the Betsy Layne defense to the end zone, crossing the goal line with 10:46 left.

"We ran from what we call an inside slot formation, and they were in a split defense, and we broke it up the middle," Spike Berkheimer, Magoffin County coach, explained. "The official made a good block on their safety and we were gone."

Betsy Layne bounced back, responding with a 63-yard, 13-play drive which ate up 6 minutes and 26 seconds of the clock before ending up in the end zone.

Helped along by two long runs of 13 and 10 yards by halfback Chris Kidd, the Bobcats worked their way to the Magoffin County 4. From there, Craig Hunter tossed a touchdown pass to Recznik. Hunter later connected with the big end for the 2-point conversion to give Betsy Layne an 8-6 lead.

Both teams had marched down field almost at will on their initial drives, setting the stage for a possible offensive showdown, but somewhere along the line the curtain fell and the offensive show was brought to a halt. There were no more long runs or timely passes. The best they could do was swap turnovers with Magoffin County holding the upper hand, but finding no scoring punch.

Betsy Layne fumbled three times, losing two, and threw two interceptions during the remainder of the first half. The Bobcats got one of the turnovers back when Ronald Conn intercepted a pass with 4:55 remaining in the first half.

Magoffin County, thanks to the turnovers, found itself in Bobcat territory most of the second quarter, but failed to find a way to score. The Hornets recovered the first Betsy Layne fumble on the Bobcat 45, and after a 15 yard run from Ratliff, they had a first and 10 from the 30.

Magoffin County, finding success on the ground, moved the football to the 8, but the drive stalled there, and they were forced to give up the football on downs.

They began another drive on the Betsy Layne 44, which ended with an interception. Scott Howard, with 3:10 left, picked off a Hunter pass, giving the Hornets good field position on the Bobcat 48, but that drive netted a minus 4 yards. Scott Conley had Magoffin County's other pickoff.

"I felt like after the middle of the first quarter we lost some of our intensity," Berkheimer said. "We picked it up a little in the second half, but from about the middle of the first quarter to the middle of the third quarter they out-hit us, and that was the difference in the game."

Betsy Layne did a lot of hitting in the second half, especially their backs hitting holes, and the Bobcats rode their running game on two scoring drives.

The Bobcats, led by Kidd and Chris Bias, rushed for 126 yards in the second half, and both of their touchdowns came via the run.

With 5:13 left in the third period Kidd, Betsy Layne's leading ground gainer with 101 yards, scored from four yards out as the Bobcats went up 14-6.

Late in the fourth quarter Bias crossed the goal line from one yard out for Betsy Layne's final score. Bias, who ran for 54 yards in the second half, finished the game with 63 yards rushing on 13 carries.

"He played hard, and that's the kind of effort we need from people like him," Tucker said of Bias. "Like I say, though, everyone gave a real good effort today."

Magoffin County, which saw its defense on the field for most of the second half, managed to run only 12 plays in the last two quarters as the Bobcats controlled the football and the time of possession.

"They knew we were one player or two shy on our defensive line, particularly on our right side," Berkheimer said, mentioning Betsy Layne's offensive scheme of running up the middle and to the right side of the Magoffin County defense.

"They took advantage of it by running to our right, their left. That was a good coaching move on their part. They ran exclusively to their left in the second half. They beat us with their offensive line. That's about all you can say."

Magoffin County, 0-2, was led in rushing by Ratliff who had 91 yards on 13 carries, and Gladstone who rolled up 68 yards.

DEFENSIVE EFFORT: Prestonsburg's defense converges on a Lawrence County running back during Friday night's action. The Blackcats lost for the second time this year, falling 12-7.

Big Mistake Leads To Points As Prestonsburg Falls To LC

Billy Goldsmith says turnovers and big plays usually determine the outcome of football games, and after Friday night's contest, Bill Letton would agree.

Prestonsburg rode the success of a first quarter play to a lead through three periods, but a turnover in the final frame led to a Lawrence County touchdown, giving the Bulldogs their first lead of the game, and eventually presenting them with a 12-7 victory.

"Football is a game of turnovers and big plays," Goldsmith, Lawrence County's head coach, said. "Their big play in the first quarter nearly cost us, and that last turnover did cost them."

Prestonsburg, after stopping Lawrence County on a drive that had carried them to the Blackcat 14-yard line, scored on their first play from scrimmage when Tim Trusty hit Jamie Howell on a 52-yard touchdown pass, with 3:18 left in the first quarter.

Trusty, who connected on 10 of his 16 passes for 122 yards, floated a perfect spiral into the waiting hands of Howell, who never broke stride while catching the football, and cruised untouched to the end zone.

The Blackcats had made it look easy after Lawrence County had worked so hard for so long, but were turned away empty-handed.

The Bulldogs, now 2-0, took the opening kickoff from their own 31 to Prestonsburg's 14, grinding the yardage out with 10 tough running plays, but on first and 10 from the 14, the Blackcat defense toughened.

Lineman Tommy Thornberry snuck into the Bulldog backfield and nailed Tracy Bryant for a 2-yard loss, and after another running play gained only two yards, Lawrence County was flagged for an illegal block, putting the football on the 29.

The Bulldogs kept going back as defensive back Dennis Smith stopped David Runyon for a 6-yard loss, and Prestonsburg finally took control on the 48 when Lawrence County failed to execute a punt.

Prestonsburg took a 7-0 lead when Trusty and Howell hooked up, and Howell later added the extra point. Although the Bulldogs rolled up 162 offensive yards, the lead held up until the fourth quarter.

"We seemed to move the football good tonight. We're a power football team, and that's the way we had to win the game," Goldsmith said. "We kept coming at 'em and I think they kind a wore down a little."

Lawrence County scored its first touchdown in the second quarter when quarterback Brian Thompson threw 20 yards to Runyon for the score. The pass play, which came with one minute remaining in the half, capped an 80-yard, 13-play drive.

"The second half I think we dominated the game," Blackcat coach Bill Letton said. "They controlled the time of possession in the first half, but we re-grouped and came out and did exactly what we wanted to do."

"Things were going real well in the second half. I felt real confident with our situation until we had that turnover," Letton continued.

"We had two turnovers in the game, and both of them came at the worst possible times. I don't think you could have picked worse times for them to happen."

Twice, Prestonsburg drove the football inside the Bulldog 20 during second half marches, but both times the Blackcats came away scoreless — once because of a missed field goal, and a gain when they fumbled.

On their first offensive possession of the second half, the Blackcats, with some tough runs and timely passes, marched from their own 44 to the Lawrence County 12. But on a first and 10 from there, tailback Dennis Smith, netted a minus 2 yards on two carries, and Trusty threw an incomplete pass to stall the Blackcat drive. Howell came up short on the 33-yard field goal attempt.

On their next drive Prestonsburg took the football deep into Bulldog territory, but gave their possession away on a fumble. Kevin Dotson, on two consecutive runs, enjoyed gains of 11 and six yards, moving the Blackcats from the 23 to six, but on second down Trusty and Smith couldn't get together on an option play.

Trusty pitched out to Smith, but the football wound up on the turf with a Bulldog atop it, and once again Prestonsburg missed a scoring opportunity.

The Blackcats held Lawrence County to three downs and a punt, getting the football back on their own 43 with 10:47 left. But Prestonsburg failed to hold onto the pigskin, fumbling it away on the first play. "We just couldn't get the job done when we absolutely had to," Letton said.

Lawrence County recovered on the 41, and immediately took advantage of the mistake by throwing a 21-yard pass completion on their first play. From there, the Bulldogs reeled off runs of six, six, four, and three yards, moving the football to the one with 8:02 left. Jason Sexton, who led LC in rushing with 81 yards, plunged over for the score to give the Bulldogs a 12-7 lead.

NOT THIS TIME: Betsy Layne's Dave Recznik caught one touchdown pass, but has this one tipped away. The Bobcats won, though, defeating Magoffin County 20-6.

The Sporting Times

Soon, readers of The Floyd County Times will have the opportunity to showcase their football knowledge and also have the chance to earn a couple extra bucks in our prediction contests, which should begin within the next week or so.

Although great wealth and instant fame may not accompany our contest, those of you who spend the majority of the football season criticizing Jimmy the Greek and Pete what's-his-name can now prove to the world that you, in fact, are more knowledgeable than the professional prognosticators.

More information will be made available elsewhere, but in the meantime, I felt this to be the perfect opportunity to loosen up my prediction hands and take an early entrance into the popular world of prognostication.

No, I can't peck up a few kernels of corn and tell you who will win the Kentucky Derby next May. Nor can I scratch in the dirt and determine October's World Series champion.

This is a person who rarely predicts, correctly, when he might show up for work, or if he'll ever meet the next deadline. But he is a person not shy of public ridicule or even embarrassment. You see, during our upcoming football contest, you folks will only have your choices made public when you win. I'm thrown to the public wolves just about every week.

Just follow me to a football game some Friday night. "Oh yeah, who was that you said would win the AL East...Toronto?" People are sometimes cruel, and they do say things such as that to me. Right in front of everybody, too.

I'm ready to make amends, though. No more guessing and hoping for me. I've taken the scientific route this year, and after weeks of research I am more than ready to tackle professional football.

This newfound method is a sure thing. I visited several magazine racks in town, browsed through their football preview issues, and absorbed all their projections for this season.

The problem is, for example, that one magazine had Philadelphia winning the NFC East. Another had them finishing third behind the Giants and Redskins. What is a body to do? Even the experts can't agree. How do they expect me to make a final decision?

Probably the same way I always have...guess and hope. My father always said that guess work is as good as any when it hits, and the odds should be in my favor by now.

Let's start in the AFC, my favorite conference, and work our way from East to West. That's the American way, isn't it?

Some are saying that the coming of a new champion will highlight the 1988 season in the AFC East. It's true that Buffalo, with Jim Kelly and a powerful defense, is much improved. Indianapolis acquired Eric Dickerson from Los Angeles and he turned their franchise around. But Miami still has Dan Marino and the league's best wide receivers. They should be in the race, but the Jets and Patriots, through inside trouble, have virtually fallen apart.

The Colts will take this division, with Miami finishing second and the Bills a close third. New England has enough pride to hold off the Jets, but not by much.

The Central Division will be no contest. Cleveland has the most material on both sides of the football of any AFC team, and they proved it last season.

The Browns scored the most points, and gave up the fewest of anyone in the conference.

But here comes the surprise. Cincinnati, with its abundance of young defensive talent, will blow the experts' minds, finish second in the division, and earn a wildcard berth.

Boomer can throw the football. Tim McGee, Eddie Brown and Chris Collinsworth can catch the football, and now, with a healthy James Brooks and a rookie named Ickey Woods, the Bengals should be able to run the football with more effectiveness.

Houston showed promise last year, but two of their wins came during the strike. They will finish third, just in front of no-quarterback Pittsburgh.

Denver got Tony Dorssett, and he still has some open-field ability left. The Seahawks have two linebackers who hate each other, Fred Young and The Boz, but they are still awesome.

The Broncos have been to the Super Bowl two years in a row, but they may not make it back this year. Seattle is inconsistent, but here's saying that they will find enough good play to edge out Denver in the West.

Los Angeles had three first round draft choices, but they still don't have a quarterback. They are looking to make a deal with Washington for a passer, and if they do, it could just put them in the playoff picture. If not, they'll finish third.

San Diego lost Dan Fouts, and they'll fall to fifth behind Kansas City.

It's the year that the New York Giants return to power in the NFC East. After post-Super Bowl disappointment, the Giants will return to the East throne.

Washington has quarterback disagreements, but is still good enough to finish second, and earn a wildcard spot. The Eagles are at least a year away, and the Cowboys left their best in the past. Their lines are old and it will show. They will finish fourth, thanks to Hershel Walker, St. Louis, oops, Phoenix, is dead last.

Chicago lost Walter Payton to retirement, and an all-pro linebacker to the Redskins, but Minnesota only won seven regular season games in 1987, and they form the only competition in the Central.

Minnesota isn't as good as its playoff run indicated, but might challenge for a wildcard spot. Tampa Bay is the division's most improved team, but won't finish above .500. That, though, will be good enough for third, leaving Green Bay and Detroit to finish fourth and fifth.

Then there is San Francisco. Will anyone ever win a West title except the 49ers? No, at least not this year.

SF is multi-talented, and deep. Only team crash could prevent them from winning the West again. New Orleans is having trouble with its best runner, Reuben Mayes, and that is enough to keep them in second.

Los Angeles, 10 draft choices in the first six rounds, has begun its post-Dickerson rebuilding process, but it will take a couple more years to reap the benefits.

Atlanta isn't worth mentioning, but we will because it might be the only correct projection in the column. They'll bring up the rear, and may not qualify for that.

Think you can do better? You probably can, and everyone will have a chance soon to prove their prognostication worth. Just brush up on your football, from high school to the pros.

NFL News And Notes

In 1987, the Seattle Seahawks finished a win and a tie out of first place in the AFC West, ending the season second behind Denver. In 1988, the Seahawks picked by most to again finish one slot shy of first are out to change last year's final finish, and their opportunity comes early to go one-up on defending champion Denver.

Last year, though, Seattle had a similar opportunity, but blew it to the tune of a 40-17 defeat in the Mile High City.

When the NFL kicks off another season Sunday, the Seahawks again find themselves in Denver to do divisional battle with the Broncos, and answer questions about their run defense. Last year Seattle gave up 146.7 yards per game on the ground. That was better than only Kansas City in defending against run.

Denver, with the addition of Tony Dorsett, is expected to take advantage of that, although their biggest strength lies in quarterback John Elway and the Three Amigos. The Broncos averaged less than four yards per rush in 1987, but Seattle will also be without all-pro linebacker Fred Young, a holdout, which won't help the run defense.

Denver didn't exactly shut people down on the ground, either yielding a 4.4 yard per carry average a year ago. The Seahawks, fifth in rushing offense, can also run the football, especially with Kurt Warner and John L. Williams in the backfield.

Even with all this running, Seattle and Denver should put a few points on the scoreboard. In last season's two meetings, they averaged a combined 53 points per game with each team winning at home.

While the two powers of the AFC West knock heads in Denver, the same division in the NFC also features a matchup between its two top-rated teams, as San Francisco travels to New Orleans.

The Saints had their best record ever in 1987. They also made the playoffs for the first time ever, but even that all-time best wasn't good enough to deny the 49ers another division title. San Francisco scored the most points (459) in the NFC, and surrendered the fewest (253). If they did have a weakness it didn't show as they posted a 13-2 regular season record. Each team beat the other on the road by 2 points last season.

New Orleans finished second in the conference in rushing, averaging 146 yards per game to finish just behind the 49ers in that category. The Saints' ground game, which is the team's offensive strength, suffered severely when Rueben Mayes, their leading rusher, walked out of camp a couple weeks ago.

San Francisco rolled up an average of 399 yards per game, 250 through the air, while committing only 26 turnovers, fewest in the league. New Orleans, on the other line of scrimmage, led the league in take ways, forcing 40 turnovers. They intercepted 30 passes.

They have taken off the masks, and torn down the signs proclaiming the team as the "Ain'ts" Fans in New Orleans aren't ashamed of the Saints anymore, and Sunday they will have an opportunity to clear them on in their most important game to prove last year wasn't a mistake.

A couple other towns will have the same chance as Buffalo and Indianapolis set out to satisfy their believers and surprise their critics. After years of serving as cellar dwellers while Miami, New York and New England battled for supremacy in the AFC East, the Bills and Colts have finally established themselves as legitimate contenders in the once-tough East.

Sunday will present a challenge, as both teams take on contenders in their own rights, and playoff performers of a year ago.

Buffalo, 7-8 last season, lost two games during the strike and still stayed in the hunt for the East title until they were defeated in three of their last four games. The Bills are strong defensively, led by end Bruce Smith. Smith, an all-pro, recorded 12 sacks last year to help the Bills to a seventh place finish among AFC defenses in points allowed. However, they scored the fewest points of any team, even though Jim Kelly is regarded as a first-rate quarterback. Kelly completed 59 percent of his passes while throwing for 19 touchdowns, but the Bills can't run the football.

Minnesota was fifth best in the NFC against the run, which makes Buffalo's rushing prospects seem bleak. The Vikings, who made it all the way to the NFC championship game last year after a so-so 8-7 regular campaign, are vulnerable to the pass.

The Bills, are expected by several experts to challenge for an Eastern Division title this season, and the team they're expected to battle is Indianapolis.

The Colts, like the Bills, will be put to the test in week one when the Houston Oilers come to town. Indianapolis, with the stingiest defense in the AFC, won the East last season, helped along by the acquisition of Eric Dickerson.

After coming over from the Rams, Dickerson ran for over 1,000 yards and scored five touchdowns. The Colts were stingy against the pass, third best in the conference, and tied for the best turnover ratio with a plus-11.

Houston is regarded as one of the league's most physical teams. Pittsburgh head coach Chuck Noll even says they are dirty on defense, which could present a problem for Dickerson.

The Oilers made the playoffs last season, thanks to two strike wins, but even though they have a reputation as being tough, their defense gave up 349 points. They didn't help themselves in the draft, either, allowing Cleveland to choose in front of them, leaving Houston to settle on an offensive player (Michigan runner Lorenzo White).

This one has all the appearances of a brutal running battle with a whole lot of extra hitting thrown in.

Week one of the new season may have saved its best for last, because Monday night two old rivals of the AFC East hook up in a battle of the division's top dogs.

When Washington travels to New York to take on the Giants, several questions will be answered. Who is going to be the Redskins' quarterback? How good are they with the addition of all-pro linebacker Wilbur Marshall, signed during the off-season as a free agent? Can the Giants ever return to form that made them Super Bowl champion? Is Phil Simms a winner or a wimp?

Washington says Doug Williams will be their first-string passer. He replaced Jay Schroeder last year and took the Redskins to a title. But he could be soon replaced by Schroeder, especially if the team struggles early.

Both teams are big and strong. Their strength is their strength, and they pride themselves on stopping people. A defensive battle it should be, and a problem solver it could be. Many questions remain, but many will be answered after this week's numbers and results are added up.

New Limits On Bass, Crappie And Stripers

New limits on bass, crappie and striped bass at certain Kentucky lakes were approved by the Fish and Wildlife Commission at its quarterly meeting in Frankfort August 15.

At Lake Cumberland, the size limit for largemouth bass and smallmouth bass will be increased from 12 to 15 inches, and the creel limit for striped bass (rockfish) reduced from five fish per day to three.

The daily limit on crappie at Kentucky and Barkley lakes in Western Kentucky was reduced from 60 to 30 fish. And to keep regulations consistent, the crappie creel limit on Barren River Lake was raised from 25 to 30 to match that on Kentucky and Barkley.

These new regulations will be effective January 1, 1989.

The bass size limit change on Cumberland was designed to enhance fishing for these species, although fisheries biologists emphasized that bass populations at Cumberland are in good shape and described the move as a "fine tuning" of the bass fishery.

The decrease in creel limit on striped bass was in response to angler requests to preserve the trophy fishery for this species that has developed at Cumberland. Biologists recommended against a request for an increased size limit, since large stripers seldom survive being caught.

Reducing the crappie limit at Kentucky and Barkley lakes was in response to increasing, year-round pressure on these fish and was essentially a preventative measure to help assure that the excellent crappie fishing at these two lakes continues, according to Fisheries Director Pete Pfeiffer.

The commission also adopted regulations which would impose a 10-inch size limit and a two-per-day creel limit on brook trout. Anglers fishing in brook trout streams would also be limited to single-hook artificial lures. Commercial hoop nets with a bar mesh size of less than three inches will also be banned from the Ohio River upstream from McAlpine Dam beginning Jan. 1, 1989.

Attend NCA Camp

Paintsville Dumps Rebels With Offensive Explosion

Last year, teams took advantage of Paintsville, crushing the young Tigers when they were down. Even when they did manage a win, which wasn't often, it came as a struggle.

Allen Central, a program in its beginning stages, took them to the limits at home before losing a game they should have won.

But last year was a rebuilding one for the always-tough Tigers, and if their first two games are any indication, Paintsville did a whole lot of rebuilding — certainly more than their opponents had hoped for. They weren't hurt, either, by the transfer of tailback Greg Stone, who came over from nearby Johnson Central.

Paintsville, 2-0, opened their season last week with a win over Pineville, and Friday night they continued their winning ways by defeating Allen Central at Betsy Layne. The Tigers, led by Stone, scored on all five of their first half possessions enroute to a 48-0 victory over district foe Allen Central.

Paintsville rolled up a total of 324 total yards and held the Rebels to under 100 in recording the lopsided victory.

Stone, a 5'7" 145 pound tailback, had over 200 total yards, scored two touchdowns, and led Paintsville in rushing. He scored a touchdown in the second quarter on a 22-yard run, and later broke loose on a 59-yard punt return for touchdown.

The Tigers scored twice in the first quarter, once on a four-yard Tucker Howard run, and another when quarterback Jeremy Holbrook scored from five yards out.

Allen Central, trailing 21-0, threatened on its first possession of the second quarter when Remus Addington returned a kickoff from the Rebel 15 to the Paintsville 33, but failed to get any closer, and gave the football back to Paintsville when a fourth and 12 pass fell incomplete.

The Rebels, 0-2 after being shut out twice, mounted another offensive threat late in the contest, moving from their 37 to the Paintsville 12, but the Tigers picked off a B.J. Aldrich pass on the last play of the game to deny Allen Central any points.

Aldrich had completed two passes during the drive, and fullback Bear Halbert added two good runs, but the Rebels came away empty handed.

In between Rebel threats, Paintsville had continued its offensive explosion,

Breaks Come As Trojans Defeat Fairview Friday

Roger Johnson and the Wheelwright Trojans have certainly experienced their share of bad breaks, and they have lost more games that they should have won than they care to count.

But Friday night when they defeated Fairview at home, Johnson and his Trojans may have gotten back some of those breaks which had been going against them.

That, in fact, was one of the things Johnson, Wheelwright's head coach, said before the season began — that if Wheelwright could get back the breaks they missed last year, 1988 could be successful.

Friday, Fairview enjoyed plenty of offensive success, moving inside the Wheelwright 20 several times, and they held the Trojans to only eight points. But still, Wheelwright found winning possible, and despite not playing a great game themselves, managed to salvage a victory, defeating the Eagles 8-6 at Brackett Field.

"They played like we did last year," Johnson said. "They fumbled inside the five three times and we got it. Our defense seemed to rise to the occasion when we need it."

"Fairview did pretty much what they wanted to do. They just sort of broke their own backs. If they had a good field goal kicker they could've kicked probably five field goals, but I'm glad they didn't," added Johnson.

Fairview, which controlled the time of possession, scored first on a two-yard run, but the two-point conversion failed, and although it was a little-known mystery at the time, but that eventually meant the difference in the final outcome.

Wheelwright, winners of their first district game since 1986, scored with under one minute left in the first half when quarterback Bobby Hood connected with Todd Jackson on a 8-yard touchdown pass. Hood, who completed six of his 12 passing attempts for 64 yards and one touchdown, again hooked up with Jackson for the two-point conversion which eventually brought the win.

The Eagles, 0-2 on the season, never found the end zone again, partly because of an opportunistic Wheelwright defense, and mostly because Fairview couldn't hold onto the football. They had one last opportunity to win the game, but on a third and two deep in Trojan territory, a fumble brought their chances to a halt.

Wheelwright didn't do any better on its attempts to find paydirt. Actually, the Trojans compiled only 159 yards of total offense. The rushing game, expected to be the team's strength, gained less than 100 yards.

"We're not rushing the football like we should be," Johnson acknowledged, then offered his own solution. "I know what it is. It's this new offense we've put in."

The Wheelwright coaching staff inserted the wishbone into the Trojan offensive scheme of things earlier in the summer, and even then, Johnson said it would take time before his players grasped the new concept.

Two games into the season, he hasn't changed his way of thinking. "It's just going to take time and practice. We've got two phases of it down, but there's a third phase and when we get it down we'll be able to run it pretty well."

Johnson said his offense wasn't getting the football to its running backs enough, but Friday the backs and the whole offense didn't have much of an opportunity to show itself.

"We didn't get that many plays off," Johnson said. "They kept the football most of the night. They kept us in the hole all night long. We just had what you could call two good drives."

Fairview enjoyed an opening drive of the game that absorbed eight minutes of the first quarter, and opened the third period with a nine-minute offensive march. Those were two examples of their domination of possession time.

Wheelwright, which had only 31 offensive plays, ran the football 19 times. They were led on the ground by junior fullback Chad Hall, who had 52 yards on five carries. One of his runs went for 45 yards.

Bobby Hood ran eight times for 18 yards, while Vic Cotton had 14 yards on four carries. Handy Jackson carried twice for 11 yards.

Hood, who has thrown touchdowns in each of Wheelwright's first two games, completed six passes to four different receivers.

Senior wide out Shawn McKenzie hauled down two for 17 yards, and Handy Jackson caught two for nine yards. Chris Thornberry totaled 30 yards on one reception, and Todd Jackson caught the eight-yard touchdown pass.

The Trojans, this week, play host to Paintsville, also a district foe. The Tigers, after suffering through a rebuilding season last year, have won their first two games.

Paintsville defeated Pineville in their season opener, then blasted Allen Central 48-0 Friday night at Betsy Layne.

"They're a solid ball club," Johnson said of the Tigers. "I knew when I saw them at Johnson Central earlier that they were back."

Game time is set for 8 p.m. at Brackett Field.

SHORT SPORTS

Marshall University. The Thundering Herd defeated MSU 29-0 last year, and return 37 lettermen from a squad that finished the year at 10-5.

Marshall scored 33 points per game last season, and returns it top two receivers and its leading rusher, Ron Darby, who ran for 1,506 yards.

The University of Louisville, which hasn't enjoyed more wins than losses since 1979, opens on the road against the always tough Maryland Terps. Kickoff for that one is at 7 p.m.

Murray State, in a rebuilding year after losing 15 starters, plays at home against UT-Martin at 7 p.m. The Blue Racers thumped UT-Martin 34-6 in their season opener last year.

The Pikeville Panthers ran for more yardage than Henry Clay had combined as the Panthers continued their domination of high school football, defeating Henry Clay, 21-6, Friday night.

Led by their incredible tailback tandem Greg Hackney and Bobby Deramus, Pikeville rolled up 286 yards in rushing while rolling over Henry Clay. The Blue Devils gained only 72 yards against a stingy Pikeville defense, and had just over 130 yards passing.

Hackney scored a touchdown on a 69-yard run in the first quarter, and Deramus and Jon Blackburn had scoring runs of 22 and 1 yard in the third quarter as Pikeville built a 21-0 lead. Henry Clay did not score until the fourth quarter.

The Panthers, going for their second consecutive IA state title, has won the first two games by a combined score of 58-6 — and they have come against some of Kentucky's tougher teams. Henry Clay is a 4A school.

The Cincinnati Bengals equaled their season high in wins last year by defeating the New England Patriots, 27-21, in a pre-season game Friday night.

The Bengals, 4-11 last year, won for the fourth time in the pre-season, and finished with a 4-1 record. Quarterback Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes, and James Brooks and Stanford Jennings ran for the other scores to lead Cincinnati.

The Bengals ran for 239 yards, 178 of them in the second half, and cornerback Eric Thomas picked off a pass to end a New England scoring opportunity.

Cincinnati opens the regular season Sunday afternoon against the Phoenix Cardinals. The Cardinals, when in St. Louis, barely missed a playoff appearance last season, but are being picked by most to finish in the cellar of the NFC East.

Cedric Jenkins, a former backup forward/center for the University of Kentucky Wildcats, was drafted into the CBA Thursday in its annual draft.

Jenkins, chosen by Wichita Falls in the second round, was regarded as a good defensive player while at UK, but his inability to handle the basketball and a reluctance to shoot greatly hampered his offensive production.

But the 6'9" Jenkins earned a Masters' degree from the school, and it is doubted that he will give much time toward a basketball career in the CBA.

SLAP TO THE HEAD: A Magoffin County defender gets a hand on his helmet, but it wasn't enough to slow Chris Bias. Bias proved to be one of Betsy Layne's top offensive threats in the second half.

The number of hours the average American works each week has risen from 40.6 hours in 1973 to a current 48.8 hours.

Moonlight Race Held Saturday

The 10th Annual Maggie Valley Moonlight Five Mile Run drew over 2,000 entrants to the Smoky Mountain town. Top runners from the United States and foreign countries have been appearing in the small town of less than 2,000 population to run in the cool mountain air and to rub elbows with elite runners. In the one mile run which went downhill for one half mile then back uphill, Tyrone Davis took the lead at the half way point to win in 4:51, while Rick Roberts was second in 5:00. Mary Roberts finished in 9:02. There were over 200 entrants in the race.

In the women's race Margaret Groos, headed for Seoul, Korea, after winning the women's marathon trials, defeated Teresa Ornduff of Abingdon, Va. Ornduff who won last year was over 30 seconds behind Groos winning time of 26:24. Groos, from Nashville, Tennessee, was married to Vaughn Thomas of Grayson, a former world class distance runner.

In the men's division, Rajas Arraya of Ethiopia upset top seeded Americans, Keith Brantly and John Tuttle. Arraya won in 23:10. Brantly is the alternate in the men's 10,000 for America this year. Tuttle represented America in the 1984 Olympics in the marathon. Locally, Rick Roberts made the top 200 finishers.

Magic Number Counting Down As Cincinnati Nears Elimination

The old cliché is often used, and worn thin from frequent exposure. Cincinnati Reds fans have heard it far too many times: those infamous words, "wait until next year."

After three years of finishing second, who could blame them? But following their recent efforts at home, all Reds fans have hope for the future, because this season holds very little now.

Cincinnati was holding on by a mere thread anyway, and when St. Louis and Pittsburgh sliced the twine the Reds fell way down, close to mathematical elimination.

The Reds lost twice to St. Louis, and fell 8-1 to Pittsburgh Monday night, slipping to only two games above the .500 mark, and 10 games off the divisional pace being set by Los Angeles.

Rookie Keith Brown, who had dazzled hitters with his off-speed stuff in his first Major League start, failed to record very many outs Monday as the Pirates presented him with a quick reason to take an early exit.

The Pirates, now six and one half games behind New York in the NL East, knocked Brown out of the game in the first after he had recorded only one out.

Pittsburgh, 71-60, scored four times in the first, twice in the second, and added solo runs in the eighth and ninth innings to record the victory. They banged out a total of 12 hits off four Cincinnati pitchers.

Brown, 1-1, suffered the loss. Rob Dibble gave up two runs, and Rob Murphy, who pitched the final two frames, surrendered two as well.

Cincinnati scored its only run in the second inning, and it just happened to be the first earned run Dave LaPoint had given up in his last 16 and one third innings. But the Reds needed some help to do it.

Dave Collins lifted a fly ball to right that was lost in the lights, and went for a triple. He scored as the next hitter, Bo Diaz, grounded out. LaPoint, a left-hander acquired by the Pirates from Chicago of the American League, is 6-0 in the month of August, and 3-0 for Pittsburgh. He pitched seven innings, giving up nine hits, to gain the win. LaPoint has given the Reds only one run in 14 and two-thirds innings of work this season.

Cincinnati was coming off a split of its four-game series with St. Louis. The Cardinals beat the Reds 5-3 Sunday to earn the split.

Tom Browning, losing his first game since July 16, gave up homers to former Red Tom Lawless and catcher Tony Pena, allowing the Cardinals to come back from a 3-1 deficit.

Kal Daniels hit his 13th homerun of the season, a two-run shot in the first, to put the Reds on top early, and Jeff Reed singled in a run in the third, giving Cincinnati a 3-1 cushion, but the solo shot by Lawless (his first of the season) and Pena's three-run homer brought St. Louis back.

The Cardinals, closing in on fourth-placed Chicago in the East, defeated the Reds and Danny Jackson Friday night as Vince Coleman drove in three runs. Coleman doubled in two runs in the fifth, and picked up another RBI in the seventh as St. Louis stopped the Reds 4-2. The Cardinal victory also ended a personal winning streak for Cincinnati left-hander Danny Jackson.

Jackson, the Reds' most consistent starter this season, lost for the first time since July 14. He had won his last eight decisions, including four consecutive complete game victories where Jackson, 18-6, had surrendered only two runs.

Scott Terry, another former Red, earned the victory. He has beaten Cincinnati twice this season. In his last start against his former teammates, Terry went six and two-thirds innings.

Cincinnati, losers of three of their last five heading into last night's game, did manage to salvage a pair of victories in the series, dumping the Cards in 14 innings Saturday.

Brown pitched them to a win in the series opener, giving up only four hits in seven innings as the Reds recorded a 4-1 victory.

Brown struck out three and walked two in his Major League debut. John Franco worked the final two innings to record his 27th save. The win, the Reds' eighth in their last 12 tries, moved Cincinnati to four games above .500, but they lost three of their next four.

While the Reds were splitting their series with St. Louis, Los Angeles was busy sweeping a three-game series against Philadelphia to widen the Western Division gap.

Cincinnati, heading into last night's contest with Pittsburgh, trailed by 10 games with only 32 remaining in the season. They also have Houston and San Francisco between them and first place.

The Reds, after finishing up with the Pirates tonight, travel to Chicago Thursday to open a four-game series there. It will be their last games against Eastern Division competition.

Cincinnati remains on the road Monday, finding themselves in Houston for night games Monday and Tuesday.

Notes: Righthanded pitcher Jose Rijo, due to a sore elbow, was placed on the 21-day disabled list this past week. Rijo, already missing three turns in the rotation, will not return until the middle of September. Second baseman Jeff Treadway was also placed on the disabled list. He is expected to return the same time as Rijo.

Injuries Plague Workouts At ECU

As coach Roy Kidd's Eastern Kentucky University football Colonels close within two weeks of the season opener Sept. 10 at Hanger Field against Delaware State, Kidd and his staff are hoping to get several of their starters back to the practice field to continue tuning up for that rugged opener.

"It's very obvious that we're awfully young. We've had a lot of minor injuries that have kept several people off the practice field. Yesterday we had 17 guys that had some sort of injury and today I see 22 names on the injury list," said Kidd, who is beginning his 25th season as head coach of the Colonels.

To this point Kidd has had no problems with the Colonels' desire.

"Our guys have given great efforts, even in that terrible heat last week. At this point, we're just young and inexperienced at a whole lot of positions," Kidd said.

ECU has concluded two-a-day workouts and will hold their first public scrimmage Saturday morning at 10:30 at Hanger Field.

Kidd said that tailbacks William Dishman and Markus Thomas, tight end Oscar Angulo, quarterback Lorenzo Fields, receivers Randy Bohler and Mike Cadore, strong safety Myron Guyton and free safety Kelly Cutright were praised for their efforts in recent practice sessions.

"Angulo is looking good at tight end, especially blocking. Lorenzo is throwing the ball very well and Cutright, Guyton and Thomas are all doing a good job," said Kidd.

"But the one that has really surprised me is William Dishman. He has come back with a great attitude and is giving us a real effort. He's working very hard and is the most pleasant surprise of the fall," Kidd added.

Eastern has several injuries along the offensive line, where the injured include tackle Carl Satterly (knee), tackle Brooks Dalrymple (shoulder), guard Mark Mitchell (bruised back and neck) and tackle Al Jacevicus (bruised thigh).

"These guys are beatup right now but they definitely need the work. We're hoping to get them back soon," Kidd said.

Also making excellent progress is late freshman signee Vincent Ware of Hialeah High School in Miami, Fl., who has already moved up to second team wide receiver.

"We definitely need the next two weeks to prepare for the opener. But our guys have a great attitude and are working hard, so we're optimistic we'll be ready Sept. 10," Kidd said.

Finish First

The Mud Creek B-Team Cubs of the H.A.P. Little League recently finished first in the league and tournament. They were treated to a Cincinnati Reds weekend by their parents, and finished the season with a team picnic. All players were presented a jacket, cap and trophies. Team members are front row, Craig Hamilton, Lance Jones, Shannon Blanton, Rocky Newsome and Mark L. Tackett; second row, Ricky D. Hamilton, Marcus Hamilton, Glenn Spradlin, Joe Bryant and Christopher Newsome. Team coach was Ed Newsome.

Near Miss

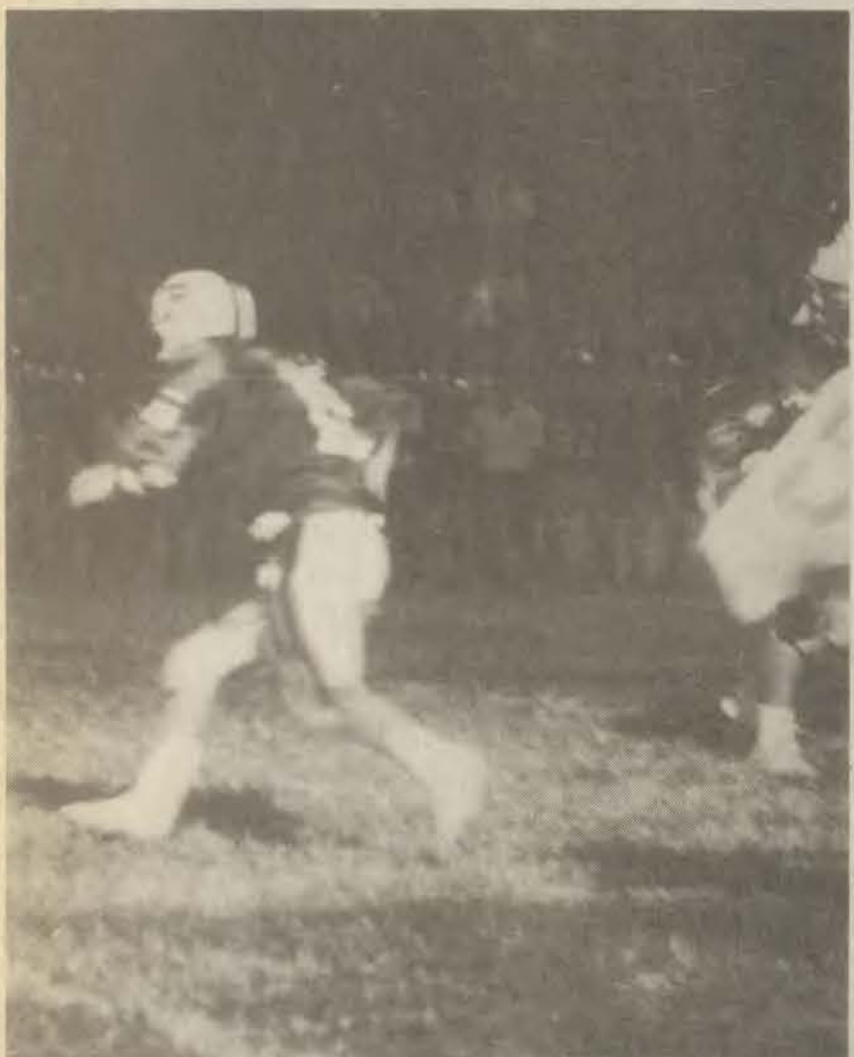

It was a near miss in more ways than one — Melissa Bowlds, first baseman for Branham and Baker Coal Co.'s women's softball team, narrowly missed this tag. The squad fell to Sparks Construction, 1-0, in recent state tournament action. Had the team won the game, it could have advanced to the national tournament in Louisville. Branham and Baker ended the competition fifth of 38 teams. (Photo by Bridgette Clay.)

Pikeville Wins State Tourney

The Pikeville post of the Kentucky State Police, last month, captured their state tournament by beating the Madisonville post 16-8 in an amateur softball game.

The state police hold their statewide tournament each year, and this time around Post 9 won five games the final day of play to earn the title. A total of 16 state police posts were represented.

The championship was Pikeville's third of the 1980's. They also captured first place in '82 and '83. Post 9 finished runner-up in '86 and '87, and ended the tourney third in 1984.

LOOSE FOR THE MOMENT: Quarterback Tim Trusty breaks away for this run in the first half. Trusty also connected on 10 of his 16 passing attempts for 122 yards.

SHOULD MARY HALL RESIGN AS SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER? YES!

The following are nine good reasons...

1. She didn't bother to attend last Thursday's State Accreditation Meeting!
2. Once more the bids were $200,000.00 over on the Hi Hat school site!
3. There is coal on the Hi Hat site, that the Board seems to know nothing of!
4. Members of Mary Hall's family are bidding on the Hi Hat site, who, by the way, are coal operators!
5. An Assistant Superintendent took school funds to pay for construction of a new office for himself at McDowell!!
6. School funds were used for a party at the Holiday Inn!!
7. There have been complaints of voter harassment by patients at McDowell Hospital!!
8. Kleindean Stumbo resigned his position at the school board and I understand he is to be rehired after the election!!
9. The only news we ever get from the school board is about money and buildings, never anything about education!!

A Mother is the Best Man for the job!!!

Waterfowl Seasons Set

The dates for the upcoming 1988-89 waterfowl hunting season were set at the August 15 meeting of the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission.

The first segment of the split duck season will be November 24-27, with the second be from December 10 through January 4. Hunters will have a 30-day season, including the Thanksgiving and Christmas holiday periods.

A conventional bag limit for ducks will be in effect this season, instead of the point system used in previous years. The daily bag limit of three ducks may include no more than two mallards (only one of which may be a hen), one black duck, two wood ducks and one redhead. One pintail of either sex may be taken only during the first four-days of the season. Hunters may not take pintails during the December 10-January 4 segment. Canvasbacks may not be taken at any time during the duck season.

The daily bag limit on coots is 15, (in addition to the duck bag limit) and on mergansers five, with only one hooded merganser.

Goose season in the Eastern Waterfowl Zone will run from Nov. 24 through Jan. 31. The season in the Western Zone will also open November 24, but hunters may not take Canada geese until December 10. The Western Zone season for all geese species will remain open either until January 28 or until a quota of 22,500 Canada geese is reached.

The bag limit in both zones if five geese, with only two Canada geese or two white-fronted geese allowed in the daily bag. The boundary between the eastern and western zones run from Fulton to Henderson, following I-24, US 641, US 60 and US 41.

There have also been changes in shooting hours for waterfowl hunting. Shooting hours for ducks, geese and coots are from sunrise to sunset, except in the Ballard Reporting Area where hunting will be permitted from sunrise to 3 p.m.

★ Cancer Hopeline

Question: My friend has cancer of the esophagus. I am aware that this cancer can be difficult to cure. Aren't there any early warning signs? Can you tell me the causes? Are there treatments that can help?

Answer: Cancer of the esophagus is a treatable disease which may be cured in a small number of cases. While the cure rate is low, a person diagnosed at an early stage has a better chance of cure.

The esophagus is the foodpipe—the organ which carries all food and liquid from the mouth to the stomach. The main symptom of esophageal cancer is difficulty in swallowing. It may feel as if food, especially meat and bread, is sticking behind the breastbone. Other symptoms can include pressure and burning or pain in the upper or middle part of the chest and weight loss. Unfortunately, by the time symptoms appear, cancer of the esophagus often is advanced and may have already spread to other areas of the body.

Although the exact cause of esophageal cancer is unknown, the leading risk factors are tobacco and alcohol use, especially when used together.

Options for treatment will depend on the size of the tumor, where the tumor is located in the esophagus, (upper, middle, lower) the stage (extent of spread) of the cancer, the age and general health of the patient, and whether the intent of treatment is to cure or to relieve symptoms. The standard treatments are surgery and/or radiation treatment. When the tumor is small and localized, the tumor and a section of the esophagus is removed in an attempt to provide a cure. Even when a cure is not possible, treatment with surgery and/or radiation will often relieve symptoms and restore the ability to swallow. Chemotherapy, while investigational, has caused regression in this disease and relieved symptoms. It may be used with surgery and radiation to improve overall results.

New developments in radiation equipment and drugs that make tumors more sensitive to radiation are being studied for their effectiveness. Patients who are newly diagnosed may benefit from a referral to a clinical trial using these or other new techniques. It is hoped that these studies will improve the cure rate for this cancer.

For more information on "What You Need to Know About Cancer of the Esophagus", call the Cancer Information Service (CIS) at 1-800-4-CANCER. Or write to the CIS at the Markey Cancer Center, 800 Rose Street, Lexington, Ky. The CIS is a service of the Kentucky Community Cancer Program.

Raising Blue Ribbon Hogs Discussed On KET Program

The question of who can raise the best hogs and lambs for market will be settled when KET airs Sale Of Champions on Thursday, Sept. 1 at 7:30 p.m. Kentucky's first lady Martha Wilkinson is expected to participate in awards ceremonies for this annual farm animal contest between the Future Farmers of America (FFA) and the 4-H Club. This is the ninth year of the annual judging of livestock management by youth from ages 9 to 19.

The demands of raising a "Supreme Blue Ribbon" champion will be the focus of interviews with participating youngsters. Short interviews also will be conducted with visiting legislators from Frankfort and other noted guests.

Prior to the auction, market stock is judged within the FFA and 4-H Club. Then six market champions are selected for a competition between the two organizations. The supreme champions in each category are auctioned with partial proceeds going to the owner. Last year the Supreme Market Lamb was sold at auction for $6,700 and the Supreme Market Hog was auctioned at $3,450. Past buyers include Bob Evans Farms and Farm Credit Banks of Louisville. About 750 people are expected to crowd New Market Hall during the Kentucky State Fair at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center to participate in the auction.

The first airplane purchased by the U.S. government was called the Miss Columbia and bought from the Wright brothers in 1909.

General Fund Receipts Up 1 Percent

State Finance Cabinet officials announced recently that General Fund receipts for July amounted to $194.9 million, an increase of 1 percent more than July of last year.

According to Dr. James R. Ramsey, director of the Office for Investment and Debt Management, strong growth in sales and use tax collections was offset by declines in collection of major business taxes. "Growth of about 8.5 percent of the sales and use receipts continue to reflect strength in the state economy. However, a shorter collection period for July 1988 affected the total collection of state revenue," he said. The last processing day this year was July 29, as compared to July 31 in 1987.

Corporate income receipts were down 21.4 percent and corporate license receipts declined 20.9 percent as compared to July 1987. Coal severance receipts were 16.8 percent lower.

Road Fund collections for July totaled $47.5 million which is nine percent less than July 1987. The decline was widespread with most road fund revenue sources negative for the monthly comparisons.

Ramsey said the relatively large decline in coal severance receipts is probably the result of the use of stockpiles and is not indicative of the stability that currently exists in the coal market. The road funds also appear to have been adversely affected by the shorter processing time.

Pageant Titles

Sheena Elise Boyd participated in the Miss U.S.A. Dream Fantasy Pageant Aug. 28. She won trophies and crowns for Beauty winner, Miss Dream Model and High Point Champion. She also won trophies for sports-wear winner, photogenic first runner up, prettiest smile, prettiest eyes, and prettiest hair. She is the 3-year-old daughter of Victor and Clevetta Boyd of Prestonsburg, her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James (Red) Adkins of Prestonsburg and Mrs. Charles Boyd of Langley.

Vinnie Ream Hoxie was the first woman to sculpt a statue for the Capitol building in Washington. Paid $10,000 after Lincoln's assassination, she said the only complaint she ever got was that Lincoln looked better in her statue than in real life.

Highlands Features Area Bands

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, Sept. 8-11 at Jenny Wiley State Park, will feature fine musicians from across the state, but the festival board is particularly proud to present local musicians.

Performing on Friday and Saturday night will be a group of musicians known as the Festival Band. These musicians have been a mainstay of the festival for many years.

"We are proud to have such fine musicians from our own community," stated Kathy Lowe, festival director, "and we appreciate the time and hard work they have put into our festival."

Most of the band's members have been with the festival for many years. Some, such as Dave Sizemore, performed for founder Edith James at the very first festival.

In addition to playing bass fiddle, Eugene Blackburn along with his wife and son, has been active behind the scenes. Gene Paul Branham plays the fine string banjo. Clifford Branham plays bass. Bill Jack Branham is the lead singer for the group and also plays guitar. Ollie Wallen also plays guitar.

Also performing on Friday are Tommy Webb and South Creek, a group of five all-around musicians from Floyd County known for their harmonizing and versatility on instruments.

Tommy Webb of Langley, has been singing and playing for about four years. He is the lead singer and plays guitar. Freddie Carter from McDowell plays dobro and can switch off on mandolin and banjo. He is the group's tenor. Zyndall Adams adds more harmony and plays banjo. He can switch off to fiddle and guitar. David Bowling of Auxier plays doghouse bass, and has played with Larry Sparks. The fifth member of the group is Gherd Martin on fiddle, a musician who has been playing for thirty years. Gherd also plays guitar, mandolin and old time claw hammer banjo. He has performed at the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival for 20 of the past 22 years.

An added feature this year is the evening program on Thursday Sept. 8. This program gives local and area musicians an opportunity to be featured in an extra performance.

Scheduled groups include the Bottom of the Barrel Bunch, Elkhorn Grass and Dave Sizemore, Gherd Martin and Denver Mullins.

Hillbilly Square Dancers

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival will feature dance groups on Saturday, Sept. 10, at 4 p.m. in the amphitheatre. Participants will include the International Folklanders of Ashland, who will perform a European costumed ethnic dance. The dance served as the forerunner of mountain play party games and square dances. The Hillbilly Square Dancers of Elkhorn City will also perform, as will Charlie's Coal Country Cloggers.

Writers' Workshop Is Included

The second annual Appalachian Writers Workshop sponsored by Appalfoiks of America Association will be held Sept. 9-11 at Jenny Wiley State Park near Prestonsburg, as part of the 23rd annual Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival.

M. Ray Allen, founder and president of Appalfoiks of America Assoc., and the members of the Appalfoiks Advisory Board will conduct sessions on screenplay, poetry, novel, short story, nonfiction and practical writing. All of the instructors are professional writers, teachers or Appalachian scholars.

"Members of this year's staff have published more than two dozen books," Allen said, "and their works have appeared in literary magazines from coast to coast."

"All of our staff members are from southern Appalachia, and all have a genuine concern for the land and its people as evidenced by their works," he added.

"We have organized a session for senior citizens and have planned some sessions designed to benefit teachers on the junior and senior high school levels," Allen concluded.

Considered by many critics as one of the nation's leading poets, Albert F. Stewart, the author of The Untoward Hill and founding editor of Appalachian Heritage, has conducted 14 writers workshops at Morehead State University, Alice Lloyd College and the Hindman Settlement School. His poetry has appeared in publications throughout America, and The Untoward Hills is considered to be a classic work on Appalachia.

Stewart, a native of Hindman who retired from teaching creative writing in college after more than 20 years, resides in the split-log homeplace his grandfather build during the spring of "The Surrender" (the Civil War).

Alice J. Kinder, author of seven books concerning life in the hills of Eastern Kentucky, has had over 200 stories, articles and poems published in religious, educational and agricultural periodicals. William C. Hambley: The Mayor Who Moved a Mountain and Willie-Boy are being published this year.

Kinder, a native of Pike County, is a columnist with the Appalachian News-Express in Pikeville, and her weekly column, "Mountain Roots" has been running for over 11 years.

A native of the hill country of North Carolina, Jim Wayne Miller is a nationally prominent poet and essayist who has published eight volumes of critically-acclaimed poetry, including Dialogue with a Dead Man, Copperhead Cane, The Mountains Have Come Closer, Vein of Words and Brier, His Book.

Miller holds Ph.D.s in both German and American literature from Vanderbilt, and he is a professor at Western Kentucky University. His work has been published nationwide.

The author of Storming Heaven, Denise Giardina is a native of Bluefield, W. Va., and her first novel, Good King Harry earned her critical acclaim. Storming Heaven, her second novel concerning the conflict between the coal companies and the miners in Kentucky and West Virginia during the early part of this century, is in its third printing after being selected as alternate for Book-of-the-Month Club, and being optioned by Columbia Pictures.

Giardina is at work on her third novel, the saga of growing up in a coal camp during the 1960's.

The author of Appalachian Georgics and several other books of poems, Parks Lanier, Jr. is a descendant of Sidney Lanier. He is a professor of English at Radford University where he teaches in the Appalachian Studies Program, and he is a former president of the Appalachian Writers Association.

A native of Teays Valley, W. Va., and a graduate of Marshall University, Judy Light Ayyildiz is a poet and creative writing teacher who has published three books of poetry: Smuggled Seeds, First Recital and Mud River. She is also the winner of the Gusto Press "Poet" Discovery Award.

Ayyildiz earned M.A. degrees from Hollins College in both English and creative writing, and she has taught at Roanoke College and Hollins College and is an editor of Artemis, a literary magazine.

A native of Maytown, and a graduate of the University of Kentucky where he earned his M.A. in English literature, S.T. Allen has written short stories that have been published in several literary magazines, including Kentucky Writing and Stylus. Additionally, Allen has written numerous technical manuals.

Currently, he is working on Good Jobs for Hard Times, a non-fiction book, he plans to market through Allen Career Network, a corporation he founded. Allen has completed a young adult novel, and he resides in Danville, where he serves as branch manager for the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation.

A native of Harlan County, George Ella Lyon is a novelist, poet and scriptwriter. Her novel, Borrowed Children, was published in the spring, and her play, Braids, has been presented several times and will be broadcast on WEKU-FM this year.

Lyon holds a Ph.D. in creative writing from Indiana University and has taught creative writing at the college level. She has published a poetry chapbook entitled Mountain and two children's books: Father Time and the Day Boxes and A Regular Rolling Noah.

A poet, journalist, playwright and educator, M. Ray Allen gave his first public poetry reading in 1968 at the opening of the Douglass House Center (a branch of the Watts Writers Workshop) in Long Beach, Calif. Westwind, Appalachian Heritage, The Azorean Express, Appalachian Voices, The Jackson River Mad-Tom and Breadbasket With the Blues.

Additionally, he has written two original screenplays, Bloody Harlan and Call of the Dragon, and he has taught creative writing, journalism, and English for more than 20 years in public schools in Kentucky, Michigan, California and Virginia.

Allen, an award winning poet who has travelled around the world and in 45 states, is a native of McDowell. He holds an M.A. in secondary education from Morehead State University and an M.F.A. in theater arts from UCLA with a concentration in writing for TV and motion pictures. A resident of Alleghany County, Va., he has taught creative writing sessions at the Augusta Correctional Center in Craigsville, Va., at AWA conferences at Virginia Tech and Berea College, and at numerous writers workshops.

Carol Stumbo, an advisory board member and writer who attended Breadloaf this summer, will display Mantrip, a literary magazine published by her cultural journalism class at Wheelwright High School.

George Brosi, an Appalachian scholar and owner of Mountain Books in Berea, will display Appalachian books and conduct a session entitled Appalachian Literature for Junior High. Brosi has conducted sessions on Appalachian literature throughout the region.

This year's writers workshop will feature a Poets Roundtable Contest which any poet may enter. Attending the writers workshop is not required in order to enter, and all poets who enter will be provided with auditory and visual stimuli that serve as the basis of the poems they must write within the time framework of the contest, usually one hour following the stimuli.

For this contest a $50 prize for the best poem will be presented along with certificates of merit for second and third places at an awards ceremony at Jenny Wiley's May Lodge on Sept. 10 at 7:00 p.m.

Three writing contests sponsored by "Appalfoiks", an organization that promotes drug-free creativity in the literary and performing arts, are being held as part of this year's writers workshop, and any writer can enter the contests within the limits of the guidelines.

Albert F. Stewart High School Poetry Award: any form or subject up to 60 lines with an entry fee of $2 per poem up to five.

Jim Wayne Miller Poetry Award: blank verse, free verse and rhyming are the categories, and entries should be limited to one in each category.

The Milford Hall Sr. Christian Songwriting Award: original typewritten lyrics set to music plus a non-returnable cassette tape of the song that is 2½-3½ minutes long are the guidelines. Limit to five at $5 each.

October Festivals' Planning Continues

By L.J. Cooley

Whether it be patriotic or heritage celebrations, October in Floyd County will be the time to enjoy them.

This year the Jenny Wiley Festival will be held Oct. 3-8 in Prestonsburg, and Red, White and Blue Day will be Oct. 17 in Martin.

This year's theme for the Jenny Wiley Festival is "The Year of the Youth," and the parade on Saturday will feature many youth groups and will be led by a young grand marshal from the community, according to festival founder Maxine Bierman.

The week of activities include the Terrapin Trot, Indian costume contest, pageants for all age groups, food and craft booths throughout downtown Prestonsburg, and the parade to top off the end of the week, Bierman said.

The festival is based on the life of Jennie Wiley, told through the book White Squaw, by Arville Wheeler, and festival officials have commissioned a revised paperback of the book especially for the local festival, she said.

"Jennie Wiley is the only heroine of that period of our history I know of," Bierman said. "Since we have Jenny Wiley State Park, Indian trails and the happy hunting ground through this area, there could be nothing nicer."

"We are really trying to feature the youth this year, and we really encourage bands and groups to enter," she said.

This year the Red, White and Blue Day festival is featuring a salute to World War I veterans, according to parade chairman Eugene Hutchinson. "We are hoping to have a good turnout of militia," Hutchinson said.

The festival will feature pageants for all ages, a 5 kilometer race, food and craft booths, the official flag raising (complete with a 21-gun salute), the parade and a fireworks display that evening, he said.

The town of Martin also gets decked out in red, white and blue with a window display contest, Hutchinson said.

"But we don't want to tell everything going on right now, so that people will be surprised," he said.

"The day is patriotic and in honor of all veterans," he said. "We want to show appreciation for what they did."

Veterans Administration Questions And Answers

Question: Do the eligibility assessment procedures for Veterans Administration medical care apply to veterans age 65 and older?

Answer: VA's eligibility assessment procedures apply to all nonservice-connected veterans regardless of age. Public Law 99-272 repealed a provision in The Veterans Omnibus Health Care Act of 1970 that allowed veterans 65 years of age or older to receive care in VA facilities regardless of income.

Question: I have questions about my recent Agent Orange examination. Whom should I talk to about my concerns?

Answer: If you have any questions about your Agent Orange examination, contact the environmental physician at the VA medical center where you had the examination.

Question: Can a veteran get a VA-guaranteed loan to purchase a condominium unit?

Answer: Yes, provided the unit is located in a condominium complex approved by the Veterans Administration.

Question: My husband is buried in a VA National Cemetery. Am I entitled to burial in the same cemetery?

Answer: Yes. Burial in a National Cemetery is available to a veteran's widow, minor children, unmarried children under the age of 23 attending school and under certain conditions, to unmarried adult children.

Question: I am a 100 percent service-connected disabled veteran. My wife and I are getting a divorce. Will she be entitled to a portion of my compensation after the divorce becomes final?

Answer: No. Her entitlement to all benefits ceases when the divorce is final.

Need Family

Willie and Leon, above, are both enrolled in a pre-school program — and they also need a family to adopt them. For more information, call 886-8192.

Youngsters Seek Family

"Personality Plus" best describes these two little boys. Willie, 4, and Leon, 3, are both healthy, active, affectionate and bright — and both need an adoptive family.

According to local officials, Willie — a bit timid — amuses himself with big wheels, cars, trucks and stuffed animals, but prefers playing with other children and adults. He is speaking in sentences and is capable of making his wants and needs understood.

Leon likes to wrestle with his foster father, go for rides and play "chase" games. He jabbars a lot, and likes to repeat new words. Leon understands what is said to him and, of course at his age, his favorite word is "no".

According to their foster mother, both boys have "never met a food they didn't like." Both are in a pre-school program, and are eager to learn. They enjoy demonstrating their knowledge, reciting their ABCs and counting.

The youngsters need an adoptive family; those interested may call the local Department for Social Services, 886-8192, or call the Special Needs Adoption Program, toll-free, 1-800-432-9346.

Her veil was a pearl wreath with a silk spray of flowers and a scattering of pearls at the side, attached to a pouf of silk illusion veil adorned with rhinestones.

She carried a crescent-shaped bouquet with English ivy draping the sides of a nosegay, composed of lavender open LaVanda roses, white mini carnations and peach gypsophylla. It was accented with iridescent ribbon loops and streamers cascading from the silk bouquet. Scattered pearls and baby's breath were the finishing touches for her flowers.

Music: One Of The South's Best Resources

By Trisha Morris, PCC Librarian
 Music has long been one of the great natural resources of the South. For as long as the radio has piped it into homes across the nation, the sounds of country, folk, gospel and bluegrass have raised ordinary singers into overnight stars. The following books from the PCC library chronicle the commercialism of this valuable Southern export.

Southern Music, American Music, by Bill Malone. The music of the South is an outgrowth of the regional experience. Because this experience has been exceptionally dramatic, poignant and colorful, Southern music is likewise so, and has an elemental, almost irresistible national appeal. Malone covers the entire Southern music gamut, from hoe-down fiddlers, Cajun accordionists, gospel singers, blues guitarists and honky-tonk balladeers to hillbilly string bands and jazz combos.

As the North grew more industrialized in the 19th Century, both the music of the South and the images of a pastoral Southern life began to appeal to those who missed the old rural ways, and songwriters and performers drew freely on southern themes. Hillbilly tunes, long ignored except in rural areas, eventually evolved into today's country music and made Nashville one of the major recording centers of the nation.

This book explores the varieties of Southern music; it offers an interesting analysis of the influence of radio and the recording industry, and it gives short biographies of individual songwriters and performers.

Bluegrass Breakdown, by Robert Cantwell. Bluegrass was born one night in 1946 when radio's Grand Ole Opry introduced the nation to Bill Monroe and his Blue Grass Boys. In the 40-plus years since that night, bluegrass has spread all across the United States and has been eagerly embraced in countries as diverse as Canada, England, France, Germany, Sweden and Japan. According to the author, "bluegrass has become the one form of country music which appeals to all groups and classes." At any given bluegrass festival, there is likely to be a farmer's pickup side by side with a limousine, a station wagon and a jalopy with college stickers.

Cantwell chronicles bluegrass popularity, but he also explores its historical background, commercial origins and internal workings, as well as its cultural and social significance. With impressive research and dazzling writing style, he illuminates the bluegrass tradition and shows how its roots in Appalachia have been transformed by contact with Afro-American folk tradition and such varied influences as black minstrelsy, jazz, ragtime, blues, country music and the growth of radio and recording technology. Bluegrass Breakdown takes its reader to the heart of this uniquely American music form.

Old as the Hills, by Steven Price. In this book, devoted to the history of bluegrass music, Steve Price writes in a style as lively as the music itself. A direct descendant of the bagpipe and fiddle tunes brought by British colonists, and of the ballads passed on through the oral tradition, bluegrass achieved its distinctive sound with the inclusion of the banjo. The author tells us that the genre is, "nearly 400 years old and developed as a result of political, economic, and social events."

But we all know that whenever a banjo meets a guitar, a mandolin, a fiddle and a bass — on a back porch, at a music festival, on radio or television — Bluegrass is being played and feet are stomping.

Here, the folk heroes of this unique music — Bill Monroe, Earl Scruggs and many, many more — talk about themselves and their music. The book is complete with many photos that will bring up nostalgic memories, complemented by a very readable text.

Take Me Home, by Steve Price. This book traces the story of country and western music from its beginnings in Anglo-Irish ballads to the current "Nashville sound," using the lyrics of the songs as guideposts to important developments. Many songs of love, death and adventure (from Scottish border ballads to Kris Kristofferson's "Help Me Make It Through the Night") are discussed. The author follows the evolution of this music through America's musical history; the encounter of white rural music with black music, the emergence of cowboy songs in the West, the formation of string bands in the South, the rise of professional country musicians, and the emergence of the music known as bluegrass.

The most unique contribution of this book is the author's definition of country music — lyrics are basic, even corny; images are visceral, melodies tend to be simple and straightforward, performances are relaxed, and there's a certain nasal quality to the singer's voice. Country music? You know it when you hear it.

Stars of Country Music. Music is notes on paper without a performer to give it life. Published in 1975 to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Grand Ole Opry, this book is a lively collection of original essays on many of country music's most important performers. From the early greats such as Jimmie Rodgers and the Carter Family to the popular stars of the 1970s, including Johnny Cash, Loretta Lynn, Merle Haggard and Charley Pride, leading authorities offer colorful portraits of the personal lives and careers of 19 artists.

The essays emphasize their style, repertoire and significance to the history of their music. Introducing the cavalcade of singers and musicians is a chapter on early pioneers like Fiddlin' John Carson and Carl T. Sprague. The concluding chapter looks at popular entertainers of the last 30 years.

D. K. Wilgus, in the introduction, sums up the theme of the text by saying the book is "about people who took a grass-roots, homespun . . . music and made it into a commercially-acceptable popular art."

Fireside Book of Folk Songs, by Margaret Boni. Gathered together in this book are the songs that have held first place in the hearts of many people for many years. Here are the melodies of farmers and spinners, fishermen and cowboys, soldiers and sailors . . . the hymns, carols, spirituals . . . the work songs, marching songs, play songs, dance songs, festival songs, drinking songs . . . songs from the towns of England, the moors of Scotland, and the fields of Ireland, the plains of the American West, the hills of Kentucky . . . songs familiar everywhere and some that are known only to a few.

If it was sung by folk anywhere, it is here, complete with music arranged for the piano.

Healthy Dessert Recipes

Desserts often present a problem for health-conscious cooks who don't want to wipe out the benefits of a nutritious meal with high-fat, empty-calorie finale. The American Institute for Cancer Research has long recommended dessert ideas such as fresh fruits and lowfat fruit-based desserts, but for a real change of pace, don't overlook those scrumptious, high-fiber, vitamin-rich vegetables!

Yes, vegetable desserts. When you think about it, you probably already have a few in your culinary repertoire: pumpkin pie, carrot cake, zucchini bread. But there's no need to stop there. Be creative and widen your horizons, but just make sure the recipe doesn't contain too much added fat in shortening or toppings.

Specialty cookbooks available from your bookstore or library provide lots of good ideas for using vegetables for dessert. A zucchini cookbook can give you the recipes for such treats as chocolate zucchini cake, cinnamon zucchini brownies or meringue zucchini tarts. With pumpkin season fast approaching, you can enjoy the benefits of a pumpkin's high beta-carotene content (an important nutrient for reducing cancer risk) in pumpkin yogurt custard, pumpkin oatmeal cookies or even pumpkin ice milk. Just pay attention to recipe contents and avoid those too high in calories or with a great deal of added fat.

Almost any vegetable can be the basis of delicious, homemade desserts.

Here's a vitamin-rich recipe to get you started:

CARROT-APPLESAUCE CAKE
 2 cups whole wheat flour
 1 tsp. baking soda
 2 tsp. cinnamon
 1 tsp. ground cloves
 1 tsp. ground nutmeg
 1/2 cup bran
 4 eggs
 1/3 cup oil
 2/3 cup sugar
 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla
 1 15-ounce jar unsweetened applesauce (about 1 2/3 cups)
 3 cups carrots, coarsely shredded (about 1 pound)

Sift the flour, baking soda and dry spices into a large bowl. Stir in the 1/2 cup of bran, as well as any bran left in the sifter.

Beat the eggs lightly in a medium bowl. Add all the remaining ingredients to the eggs and stir. Pour all this into the flour mixture and stir just to moisten thoroughly.

Pour the batter into a lightly oiled 9-inch tube pan and bake at 350 degrees until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean, about 60-65 minutes. Cool the cake in the pan for about 10-15 minutes, then turn it onto a rack to cool completely. Dust with powdered sugar if desired and wrap tightly to store.

This recipe yields 16 servings, each with 180 calories and 6 grams of fat. For more information about storing, handling and preparing fresh

YOUR HOUSE OF WORSHIP'S VALUE DOES NOT DEPEND ON ITS SIZE

We tend to visualize a church, synagogue, etc. as a huge edifice on the order of a cathedral, but this is a far cry from many a house of worship. Particularly in a small town, it can be any sort of a structure. However, it must depend heavily on the handful of worshippers who comprise the congregation; for it is they who help it grow and prosper by their own support and by bringing in others to join them. One such church recently moved from the town hall into a very impressive arrangement of mobile homes. The congregation consists of perhaps forty people, whose generosity nonetheless managed to provide a piano and an organ. When dedicated people are determined to accomplish a goal, nothing is impossible. Attend YOUR House of Worship regularly and help it any way you can. Remember that no matter how small it is, God's love is always there to guide you.

Academics Off To Strong Start At Betsy Layne High School

After the second week of school at Betsy Layne High School, the dust has begun to settle a bit from the beginning of the year schedule changes.

"The freshmen have all found their classes, and it is beginning to be business as usual, but a little busier and a little better," says Adrian Bentley, principal.

Academics is getting off on a strong start this year. BLHS has again joined the Kentucky Academics Association. The '88-89 Academics team is being formed, and will be coached and sponsored by Brenda Porter. A booster's club is also in the works to support academics on the high school level, adds Bentley. In an effort to upgrade the college-bound program, Chemistry II has been reinstated to the science program. The course had been originally dropped because of a lack of interested students. However, several science-oriented students picked up the class to keep it on the schedule.

Again this year, writing is being stressed as an essential educational tool at BLHS, explains Bentley. More teachers are being asked and are taking part in the "Writing Across the Curriculum" program that was initiated in Floyd County last year. The teachers working in this program this year are Brenda Porter, Jackie Dillion, Shirley Harmon and Thelma Spears.

Spears' project for last year's "Writing Across the Curriculum" program was a magazine written and designed by one of her senior classes.

The publication is a written and pictorial history called Along the Big Sandy. Anyone interested in purchasing a copy should contact Thelma Spears at Betsy Layne High School. The price is $4 per copy.

Spears will again be BLHS's writing sponsor for the county-wide student magazine, Mountain Magic. Art sponsors for the magazine are Lizzie Hamilton and Jeff Stratton. The student art committee who will serve on Mountain Magic are Patrick Hall, Jackie Roberts, Steven Parsons and Bret Skeens.

As a closing note, the Betsy Layne Beta Club would like to thank Morris Hylton Jr. for his $100 donation to the Kosair Burn Center in Louisville.

Elliott Attends Foxfire Class

Willie Elliott, a teacher at McDowell High School, attended the Foxfire classes this summer at Berea College.

Foxfire is part of the Mellon Seminars given each summer at Berea.

The class was taught by Elliott Wiggington, known for the Foxfire publication that he and his students produce about Rabun County, Ga. Wiggington tries to encourage other teachers to use this type of program to help students learn about their community and their heritage.

The Foxfire Foundation will give grants up to $1,000 to those teachers and students who submit a program for this type of writing. One of the basic tenets of the program is that the program or project should be something that the students have chosen.

Later this fall, according to MHS principal Bobby Hall, Elliott plans to work with his students on a project and apply for the Foxfire grant. Elliott's participation in this program is a spin-off from the Writing Across the Curriculum program, which is experiencing a great deal of success in Floyd County.

Elliott said that he was excited about the possibilities of this program, and looks forward to working with his students on a project that will be academically sound and worthwhile to the school and community.

Allen Students Join Activities

Students from Allen Elementary School recently participated in the St. Jude Math-a-thon, coordinated by Phyllis Craft.

The students collected $460 from sponsors who pledged various amounts for each math problem solved by the student. Many youngsters collected over $25 each, and received shirts as a reward.

The Allen Junior Beta Club is promoting academic excellence and good citizenship. To be accepted in the group, students must have a minimum grade point average of 3.0 (B) based on a 4.0 scale. The average membership is 35. Students regularly sell pencils, paper and other items to raise money to buy classroom necessities. At the end of the last school year, members held a pizza party at the Allen Pool. Club sponsors are Phyllis Craft and Glenda Blackburn.

The Allen Elementary School cheerleaders won a first place trophy at the Mountain Christian Academy Invitational Tournament for the 1987-88 school year. The squad also won the second place trophy in the Floyd County sectionals in Prestonsburg. Members are Amy Lester, Caroline Hicks, Chesa Conn, Mashawna Aiken (captain), Crystal Hall, Kari May, Rachel Childers, Robin Burchett, Carrie Walla Wallen and Ashley Allen. Their sponsor is Phyllis Craft.

Students Are Off To 'Write' Start

Betsy Layne Elementary students are off to the "write" start again this year, according to Enoch Mitchell, principal.

Nearly all of the children participated in the 1987-88 Young Authors Program, with many informative books being published. Of 37 school winners, eleven students were county winners, with each receiving a $50 saving bond.

"We are extremely proud of our young authors and are eager to see more children writing this year," said Mitchell.

The school winners last year were: First grade: Jay Arnett, Bridget Blevins, Heather McCoy, Mara McKinney and Faith Wise.

Second grade: Candice Blackburn, Aaron Williams, Lisa Shell, Jared Hall and Jeremy Adkins.

Third grade: Brad Kimbler, Hollie Williams, Hollie Prater and Andrea Westfall.

Accelerated Math Track

Algebra 1 Course For 8th Graders Available At ACHS

In striving to meet the challenge of students' individual needs, Allen Central has initiated an Algebra I course for eighth grade students from the local elementary schools, according to Don Daniels, principal.

"The purpose of the program is to get students into the accelerated math track so they can be more ready for the high school math program. A primary advantage of participating in this math program is that a student would have only one math requirement during a school year. For example, at ACHS, a freshman student could enter taking algebra II; as a sophomore, geometry; as a junior, advanced math; as a senior, calculus; and a computer math is available as an option," explains Daniels.

To be a participant of this Algebra I course, students had to meet the following criteria: score at the 75th percentile or above on national test levels; have grades of either A or B; have the recommendation of elementary teacher; and a recommendation of high school teacher.

A total of 26 students are currently participating. Included are ten students from Garrett — Anna Addington, Regina Cragger, Tonya Handshoe, Becky Isaac, Myra Patton, Sherri Patton, Regina Scott, Rodney Slone, Amy Patton and Heather Watson. From Martin, there are eight students — Angelie Bailey, Chris Hunter, Chris Lafferty, Marty McKinney, Kenny Scarberry, Jessica Wade, Jenny Yates and Teresa Yates. From Maytown, there are seven students: Chris Anderson, Patty Baldrige, Mary Gayheart, Traci Hicks, Evelyn Howard, Ronica Reid, and Claude Webb. From Wayland, Tara Branham is participating.

The reaction from the teacher, Pam Frasure, has been a positive one. "It's great!" she said enthusiastically.

SADD Activities Noted At Wheelwright

By Beth Tackett and Missy Thornsbury
In June, members of SADD (Students Against Drunk Driving) at Wheelwright High School painted and posted a billboard urging students not to drink and drive, and placed it at Drift.

The group has organized other activities such as bake sales and posted smaller signs around the community. SADD has been at WHS for a year now, and many students have become involved.

SADD has elected officers who take great pride in what they do. They organize meetings and all the activities the group becomes involved in. The officers are Janice Wright, president; Missy Thornsbury, vice-president; Amy Payne, secretary; Missie Hall, reporter; Becky Kohler, treasurer; and Rita Lackey, historian.

SADD's main objective is to prevent students from drinking and driving. SADD presents the student with a "Contract of Life," an agreement between the member and his parents saying that if he gets into trouble, he can call his parents and they will come and get him.

The organization was started in 1981 by a high school coach from Massachusetts, Robert Anastis, when one of the hockey players from his team was killed while drinking and driving. He felt something should be done so he started SADD in his high school and community. From there it spread to county, state, and is now nation-wide.

SADD was brought to WHS by Lola Brasher, an employee at Mountain Comprehensive Care Unit at Prestonsburg. She was invited by Norma Kaye Fairchild, WHS's home economics teacher and SADD sponsor, to come and talk to the students. SADD has now expanded to Melvin and Osborne's seventh and eighth graders, who have also selected officers.

The SADD member's future plans include fund raisers, membership drives, fun get-togethers, and trying to get more people involved.

SADD has now expanded to Melvin and Osborne's seventh and eighth graders, who have also selected officers.

Leading The Pledge

School is off to a good start at Clark Elementary, according to Irene Goble, principal. Students in grades five through eight have volunteered to lead the school in saying the Pledge of Allegiance each morning. Weather permitting, all grades will assemble outside for the raising of the flag and the pledge. During inclement weather, the office intercom system is used. Pictured above is Chris Bailey, an eighth grade student, leading the pledge for the student body.

New Teachers At Clark

Clark Elementary welcomes two new teachers to its staff, John Ray Martin and Tomil Ratcliff Smith. Martin, left, who resides at Garrett, is not new to the profession. Smith, right, who will be teaching fifth grade, is a recent graduate of Morehead State University, earning a bachelor's degree in elementary education. She lives in Salyersville.

IN THIS WEEK

'Sleeper' period films are best bets this week

By Paul Elie

Movies dominate this week's prime-time schedule, as the networks fill the time between the past season and the upcoming one with made-for-TV dramas and theatrical releases. CBS, which ordered nearly twice as many new TV movies as NBC and ABC, airs four of them this week.

Rosanna Arquette

Best are two sleeper films with period settings. The 1983 drama Baby, It's You (NBC, Monday, Sept. 5), set in '60s suburbia, stars Rosanna Arquette as a Jersey girl who falls in love with a sharp-dressed young thug (played by Vincent Spano). John Sayles ("Matewan") directed, and this ranks with his best work - and Arquette's, too. Racing with the Moon (ABC, Thursday, Sept. 8), directed by Richard Benjamin, evokes the time just before World War II, and - more successfully - the beauty of a Northern California coast town. Elizabeth McGovern, Sean Penn and Nicolas Cage star, with Penn faltering in the sensitive-guy role.

On Sunday, Sept. 4, ABC airs Poltergeist, which was a giant summer hit six years ago. Once, a film like this would have been the highlight of a TV week; now, virtually everyone has already seen it at the ten-plex or on VHS. Airing on the night before Labor Day, it's likely to get low ratings, as will The Man Who Wasn't There (Sunday, NBC), an inane 3-D movie from 1983.

CBS's made-fors feature the usual blend of simulated foreign settings and anxious moralizing. Higher Ground (Sunday) stars John Denver as an FBI agent turned Alaskan bush pilot; in Open Admissions (Thursday), Jane Alexander plays a speech teacher who is discouraged by the challenges of an inner-city college. On Friday, Sept. 9, the network airs two new TV movies back to back: Secret Witness, about a murder on a tropical island, stars Paul LeMat and David Rasche; Run Till You Fall, a comedy about a private eye and his disabled son, was directed by Mike Farrell, and stars his "M*A*S*H" colleague Jamie Farr and "Wonder Years" star Fred Savage.

One new program worth watching is the second-season premiere of 48 Hours (Thursday, CBS), which deals with the new laws and changing attitudes about smoking. As a rule, this news series is as compelling as its weekly topic; it hits the mark with this one, and is likely to leave you feeling disgusted with both the anti-smoking crusaders and the smoking habit itself.

WINDSTARCH

By Evan Levine

The great mysteries of "Gilligan's Island," which aired from 1964 to 1967 on CBS, have already been pondered. Why did they all pack so many clothes for a three-hour cruise? Who would the professor have dated if he had to choose between Mary Ann and Ginger? Since there were more men than women, who would have been left over if they paired off? And why did Mary Ann wear those ponytails?

Audiences loved the series in spite of, or maybe because of, its inconsistencies. Perhaps "Gilligan's Island" was actually a sophisticated psychological profile, with the castaways representing various factions of society: the naive country girl (Dawn Wells), the rich sophisticates (Jim Backus and Natalie Shafter), the father figure (Alan Hale Jr.), the glamour girl (Tina Louise), the intellectual (Russell Johnson) and the curious eager-beaver (Bob Denver). Or perhaps they represented various parts of Gilligan's psyche!

Or perhaps they were just part of a ludicrous conceit whose combination of farce, slapstick, childish innocence and the ability to make audiences feel superior (why don't they just build a new boat?) made it enormously popular.

It was so popular, in fact, that it prompted three different reunion movies. In "Rescue from Gilligan's Island" (1978), the gang was finally rescued, but they made the mistake of going on a reunion cruise and were shipwrecked again! "Castaways on Gilligan's Island" (1979) found the group turning the island into a resort. "The Harlem Globetrotters on Gilligan's Island" (1981) lost all semblance of sense, as the castaways were visited by the basketball team, a mad scientist and some ball-playing robots.

By this time, however, audiences weren't so receptive, and plans for further sequels and a revival of the series were dropped. But someday, when you least expect it, you may hear again the strains of someone singing, "Oh, sit right back and you'll hear the tale, the tale of a fateful ship..."

Question: Who played Ginger in the reunion movies?

Answer: Judith Baldwin (Louise wanted too much money).

YOUNG GUNS (R - 20th Century-Fox) Starring Emilio Estevez, Kiefer Sutherland, Charlie Sheen and Lou Diamond Phillips. ★½

By J.T. YURKO

Hollywood was born and weaned on the Western, but it wasn't until the 1950s, when television tried to do the same, that the Hollywood Western grew up. Soon the old-fashioned good guy in a white hat was seen mainly on the tube, while the studios presented the adult Western—a big picture with complex themes, sophisticated psychology and characters with more than two dimensions. Gregory Peck became hounded by every kid with a gun in "The Gunfighter" (1950), while Jimmy Stewart and Anthony Mann made a series of adult Westerns, including "Thunder Bay" (1953) and "The Man from Laramie" (1955).
 As a result, perhaps, in recent years the Western has disappeared from both the large and the small screens. But the makers of "Young Guns," a new Western directed by Christopher Cain ("The Principal"), ventured that teenagers still might find a "teen" Western worth their six bucks on a Saturday night.
 What comprises a "teen" Western? Exactly what you'd expect. A script as shallow as a gunslinger's grave. Dozens of dramatic, violent deaths. Lots of adolescent sex appeal from the stars—six young Hollywood heartthrobs: Emilio Estevez, Kiefer Sutherland, Lou Diamond Phillips, Charlie Sheen, Dermot Mulroney and Casey Siemaszko.

 And what should these gun-totin' teens do? The same things teens today do—get high on the local intoxicant (in this case, peyote), form a gang and generally act immature.
 The plot is story of The Regulators, a group of "young guns" hired to defend an English merchant, Tunstall (Terence Stamp). When Tunstall is killed by a corrupt businessman (Jack Palance), they seek revenge as deputies. When that fails, they set about shooting anything that moves.
 Nothing here makes any sense, other than as an excuse to present young actors in a violent Western setting. Cross the street in order to avoid this one.

(h) "Water Supplies," as the term is used in this ordinance, shall mean water available to the City of Prestonsburg for treatment by virtue of its water rights or withdrawal permit or any treated water introduced by the City into its water distribution system, including water offered for sale.

Section 3. Declaration of Rationing. Whenever the City Council finds a need to provide for the equitable distribution of critically limited water supplies, in order to balance demand and limited available supplies, and to assure that sufficient water is available to preserve health and safety, it shall be empowered to declare by resolution the adoption of mandatory rationing.

Section 4. Objectives of Rationing (a) It is imperative that water customers achieve an immediate further reduction in water use in order to extend existing water supplies and, at the same time, assure that sufficient water is available to preserve the public health and sanitation and to provide life protection service.

(b) Should shortages continue, further reductions in usage may be required. The additional usage reduction in the rationed area must be a valid and attainable goal reflective of the conditions which currently exist.

(c) The plan provides for equitable reductions in water usage and for equal sacrifice on the part of each water customer. The success of this ordinance depends on the cooperation of all water customers in the emergency area.

Section 5. Water Use Rationing for Residential Customers

(a) Metered Residential Water Customers and Allotments:

(1) The number of permanent residents in each dwelling unit (household) will determine the amount of water that each household will be allowed.

(2) Each dwelling unit (household) shall be allotted 40 gallons per day for each resident of the household. Households with only one permanent resident will have a daily allotment of 55 gallons.

(3) Residential water customers are required to provide city and utility personnel with reasonable access to read meters as necessary to this rationing declaration. Where access is not readily available, all reasonable efforts to contact customers in order to arrange for access to read meters shall be made. In the event a water customer does not allow entry to read the meter after reasonable efforts to arrange for such access, the dwelling unit (household) allotment will be reduced to 55 gallons per day; 40 gallons for households with only one permanent resident.

(4) (i) Where the residential water allotment provided under this section would create an extraordinary hardship, as in the case of special health-related requirements, the water customer may apply to the city for an exemption or variance from these requirements. If it is found that the allotment provided in this section would impose an extraordinary hardship, a revised allotment for the particular customer may be established.

(ii) Any person aggrieved by a decision relating to such an exemption or variance rendered by a public utility or municipal corporation rendering water service beyond its corporate limits, may file a complaint with the City Council in accordance with the City's normal administrative procedures.

Section 6. Water Use Rationing for Non-Residential Water Customers

(a) Non-residential water customers shall further reduce their water usage to 50 percent of use levels during the previous year's average.

(b) It is the primary responsibility of each non-residential water customer to meet its mandated water use reduction goal in whatever manner possible.

(c) The City will establish a water allotment for each non-residential water customer, based upon a required further reduction of water usage from the rate of water used by the customer in effect on the previous month, or the last recorded use level if no meter readings record the rate of the customer's use for the previous month.

(d) Each non-residential water customer shall provide access to City personnel for purposes of meter reading and monitoring of compliance with this ordinance. All reasonable efforts will be made to contact customers to arrange for access.

(e) If the mandated further reduction in water usage cannot be obtained without imposing an extraordinary hardship which threatens health and safety, the non-residential customer may apply to the city for a variance. For these purposes "extraordinary hardship" means a permanent damage to property or economic loss which is substantially more severe than the sacrifices borne by other water users subject to this water rationing ordinance. If the further reduction would cause an extraordinary hardship or threaten health or safety, a variance may be granted and a revised water use reduction requirement for the particular customer may be established.

(2) Any person aggrieved by a decision relating to such a variance rendered by a public utility or municipal corporation rendering water service beyond its corporate limits may file a complaint with the state's Public Service Commission in accordance with established procedures.

(f) The City will provide each non-residential customer with suggested means to reduce usage levels.

Section 7. Water Use Rationing for Hospitals and Health Care Facilities

(a) Hospitals and health care facilities shall comply with all restrictions imposed on residential and non-residential water customers as may be applicable to each individual institution, to the extent compliance will not endanger the health of the patients or residents of the institution.

(b) Each hospital or health care facility shall survey its water usage patterns and requirements and implement such additional conservation measures as may be possible without endangering the health of its patients or residents to achieve a further reduction in the institution's water usage.

(c) The City will provide each hospital and health care facility with suggested means to reduce usage levels.

Section 8. Enforcement of Water Rationing

(a) The City, or its water utility, will have primary responsibility for monitoring of compliance with the water rationing ordinance.

(b) The following provisions shall govern the implementation of service interruptions:

(1) In order to effectuate compliance with this ordinance the City is hereby authorized and required to plan and implement service interruptions to all or part of its water supply system, as may be deemed appropriate, when any and/or all of the following conditions are determined to exist:

(i) The mandated reduction in system-wide usage has not been achieved, and/or

(ii) The mandated reduction in system-wide water usage has been achieved, but has failed to have a significant impact in extending limited water supplies, and/or.

(iii) Service interruptions are necessary in order to further extend limited and/or dwindling water supplies.

(2) In the event it is determined that service interruptions are necessary, the City shall notify its customers that a planned service interruption is to be imposed. This shall be done through the public media (newspapers, radio, and television) and at least 24 hours prior to the service interruptions.

Such notice shall:

(i) State the day or days when the planned service interruptions will occur;

(ii) State the time(s) when such planned service interruptions will commence, and the time(s) such interruptions will cease;

(iii) State whether the planned service interruptions are to be imposed on the entire system, or part thereof, and, if only part(s) of the system will experience planned service interruptions, identify geographic boundaries within which such interruptions will occur; and

(iv) Advise all customers within the areas affected by planned service interruptions how to treat any water received from the system, for human consumption, during the period(s) of such interruptions and for such additional time as may be necessary until full pressure is restored to the system.

(3) If a planned service interruption is imposed as authorized and required by this ordinance, it must provide for the continued delivery of water to health care facilities within the area(s) affected by such interruptions, by means of any adequate, alternative delivery measures that may be necessary.

(4) If a planned service interruption is implemented, it must make provision, by any means possible, for the continued delivery of such water as may be necessary for the proper operation of sewage collection, treatment, and disposal systems and facilities.

(c) Any residential or non-residential water customer who exceeds the allotments established pursuant to this water rationing will be subject to the following excess-use charges.

(1) "Excess-use-charges" will be collected based on the amount by which a customer's use exceeds the water allotments established pursuant to the local water rationing declaration, computed in accordance with the following schedule:

Excess Usage Per Month
First 2,000 gallons or portion thereof
Charge for Excess

per 1,000 gallons or portion thereof
Each 1,000 gallons, or portion thereof, thereafter

(2) Any monies collected through excess-use charges shall not be accounted for as income, but shall be placed in a reserve account that is dedicated to addressing water shortage problems and water conservation initiatives.

(d) In addition to the excess-use charge, non-compliance with the water rationing provisions of this ordinance will result in the following:

(1) For the first excess use, a warning of possible discontinuation shall be issued to the customer.

(2) For the second or subsequent excess use, service to the customer may be interrupted or shut off for a period not to exceed 48 hours, or, if the customer provides access, a flow restrictor may be installed in the customer's service line for the duration of the emergency. The cost incurred to interrupt or shut off and reinstate service, or to install and remove a flow restrictor, shall be assessed to the water customer.

(e) Meter reading schedules are authorized to be altered to assure adequate monitoring of compliance with this ordinance.

(f) Any customer or other person aggrieved by a decision or action imposing an excess-use charge or other remedy for non-compliance with the requirements of this ordinance may proceed in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The City shall adopt procedures which provide an opportunity for the customer or aggrieved party to rebut the finding of a violation, or provide evidence of circumstances beyond the customer's control which resulted in the violation. A record of evidence regarding disputed violations shall be kept, and a written notice of the City's final decision and action in such cases shall be provided to the customer or aggrieved party.

(2) Any person aggrieved by the final decision or action of a public utility or municipal corporation may file a complaint with the Public Service Commission in accordance with established procedures.

Section 9. Shortage Water Rates. Upon the declaration of water rationing as provided in Section 3, the City Council shall have the power to adopt shortage water rates, by ordinance, designed to conserve water supplies. Such rates may provide for, but not be limited to: (a) higher charges per unit for increasing usage (increasing block rates); (b) uniform charges for water usage per unit of use (uniform unit rate); (c) extra charges for use in excess of a specified level (excess demand surcharge); or (d) discounts for conserving water beyond specified levels.

Section 10. Regulations. During the effective period of water rationing as provided for in Section 3, the mayor is empowered to promulgate such regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this ordinance, any water supply shortage resolution, or water shortage rate ordinance. Such regulations shall be subject to the approval of the City Council at its next regular or emergency meeting.

Section 11. Penalties. Any person who violates the provisions of this ordinance, who fails to carry out the duties and responsibilities imposed by this ordinance, or who impedes or interferes with any action undertaken or ordered pursuant to this ordinance shall be subject to the following penalties.

(a) If the mayor, city manager, water superintendent, or other city official or officials charged with implementation and enforcement of this ordinance or a water supply shortage resolution learns of any violation of any water use restriction imposed pursuant to this ordinance, a written notice of the violation shall be affixed to the property where the violation occurred and mailed to the customer of record and to any other person known to the City who is responsible for the violation or its correction. Said notice shall describe the violation and order that it be corrected, cured, or abated immediately or within such specified time as the City determines is reasonable under the circumstances. If the order is not complied with, the City may terminate water service to the customer subject to the following procedures.

(1) The City shall give the customer notice by mail that, due to the violation, water services will be discontinued within a specified time and that the customer will have the opportunity to appeal the termination by requesting a hearing scheduled before the City Council or a City official designated as a hearing officer by the governing body;

(2) If such a hearing is requested by the customer charged with the violation, he or she shall be given a full opportunity to be heard before termination is ordered; and

(3) The Council or hearing officer shall make findings of fact and order whether service should continue or be terminated.

(b) A fee of $50 shall be paid for the reconnection of any water service terminated pursuant to subsection (a). In the event of subsequent violations, the reconnection fee shall be $200 for the second violation and $300 for each additional violation.

(c) Any customer may also be charged with violation of this ordinance and prosecuted in District Court. Any person so charged and found guilty in District Court of violating the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a Class B misdemeanor. Each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense. The penalty for an initial violation shall be a fine of not less than $100.

Section 12. Severability. If any provision of this ordinance is declared unconstitutional, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the constitutionality of the remainder of the ordinance and its applicability to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 13. Effective Date. This ordinance shall take effect immediately upon adoption or passage by the City Council.

Section 14. Effective Period. This ordinance will remain in effect until terminated by action of the City Council.

Adopted this 22nd day of August, 1988.
