Board May Seek State Intervention

Two returning and one new board member will face the prospect of asking the state to take over Floyd County's school finances at the board's first meeting of the year.

The trio — incumbents Dr. Mary Hall and James Duff, and newcomer Tommy Boyd — will be sworn in as Floyd County Board of Education members Wednesday, Jan. 4, at the board's meeting at 7 p.m. in the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria.

With the district facing a possible deficit of $340,000, Superintendent Ronald Hager will ask the board to allow the state to assume control of the district's finances.

The state board will meet Jan. 10 and 11, and may address the takeover at that time.

In addition to routine items slated for the meeting, re-organization of the board will be discussed, as will the textbook adoption policy.

Melva Lawson, representative of the Little Mud Improvement Committee, will also address the board.

Boiling Advisory Not Lifted By State

The advisory to boil water has not been lifted, but the Wheelwright water situation "appears to be in pretty good shape," according to Audrey Yates of the Wheelwright Utilities Commission.

Yates said an independent laboratory has deemed the water safe for drinking, but the state must officially lift the boiling advisory.

The city's water crisis occurred in late November when its original source of water in an abandoned mine appeared to dry up, leaving residents without running water for more than a week. Pipe was laid to another mine source, after which the water base returned to the former source. Yates said the two mine water sources are being tapped alternately now.

"Over the holidays we were a little concerned because of excess usage, but there were no outages or shortages," Yates said.

In the last few days, Yates said she had expected large numbers of customers to request adjustments to their bills, "but it didn't happen," she said. "The only thing they ask is 'Can we drink the water?'"

Yates said the city still considers the present arrangement to be temporary while funds are sought to reach a long term solution to the water problem.

Post-Holiday Depression Preventable

The lights have been packed away. The tree has been picked up by the garbage collectors. The gifts are in use or have been returned. Christmas 1988 is history.

Now it's the new year, and the blues have set in.

This is the time of year when many Floyd Countians and persons throughout the country get a bad case of the blues.

"After the first of the year is a critical time," said Mike Vance, director of human resources development for Mountain Comprehensive Care. "We see depressed people get more depressed this time of year."

According to Vance, most people have many activities to keep them busy before the holidays. "But the holidays abruptly end and it's back to the routine," he said.

Add to the end of the holiday season the fact that January begins the deepest part of winter, and the depression can deepen. Bad road conditions, or just the thought of bad weather, hamper activities.

Sometimes having a less-than-perfect holiday can spur depression, said Vance. "Sometimes family situations get more volatile. There's an effort to have a good holiday, but sometimes it doesn't pan out to be what we wanted it to be," he said.

The Christmas gift bills that come in January can add to the sense of hopelessness, Vance said. "People who were depressed before might have thought spending could help, and then they have to face the bills, which can be more depressing."

What to do? The MCC counselor said the first step for people suffering post-holiday depression is to express their feelings to a close friend or family member, someone they can trust to listen.

"Next, examine your own feelings," Vance said. "Ask yourself 'Why?' Then try to decide what would make you feel better."

The new year can offer a chance "to rededicate your life to doing something different. Take a class, get a new hairdo, get involved in an organization."

Another good way to beat the doldrums is to make plans for the spring and summer, Vance said.

"The seed catalog people have the right idea. They send the catalogs out in January so you can start planning your garden." Planning for a summer vacation can also help shake winter depression.

It's also a good idea to get outside as much as possible, rather than letting the weather dictate behavior, Vance said.

If overspending is the problem, Vance suggests getting help with financial planning, either from a trusted friend or from a professional.

"The early part of the year is a good time to plan finances for the coming year," Vance said. "If you're overextended, contact your creditors and let them know you are working out payment plans."

"Basically, it's best to sit down and look at the pieces. The sooner you deal with the problem, the easier it will be to solve."

The worst thing people with post-holiday depression can do is withdraw, said Vance. "We all have a tendency to go into hibernation in the winter," he said. "Actually, it's seldom as bad outside as it looks from inside."

What can you do if you know someone who's going into depression?

"The best thing you can do is listen," said Vance. "Seek them out and try to bring the subject up. See if there's something they want to talk about. Don't be pushy or give a lot of advice."

"Just listen. In most cases, just giving them the opportunity to talk will be a lot of help. Show you care."

The worst thing someone can say to a depressive person is "Just pull yourself out of this," according to Vance. "Ninety-nine percent of the people in this situation just want someone to listen to them," he said.

Vance added that MCC offers counseling for persons with emotional, mental or financial problems with fees based on the individual's ability to pay.

Festival Naming Contest Continues

Floyd Countians have until Jan. 10 to submit a name for a county-wide festival that is being planned, and the winning entry may earn someone $100.

The contest to name the festival opened in late December, according to the group's board of directors.

Officials said the name should include some or all of the themes that will be a part of the event, including arts, education, season of the year (spring), emphasis on family (Mother's Day is May 14), and the culture of Eastern Kentucky.

Entries may be submitted to the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, 31 North Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653. In case of duplicate winning entries, the first received will be declared the prize winner.

The contest is open to anyone who wishes to participate.

The festival board will make the final decision, and reserves the right to extend the deadline.

Entries should include the proposed name, the participant's name, address and telephone number. Students are asked to include the name of the school they attend.

Floyd County has a "hidden homeless" problem in inadequate and overcrowded housing. Evidence on the plight of many poor residents was presented at a hearing before the Kentucky Advisory Council on the Homeless.

Mismanagement, lack of academic coordination and absence of planning were among the negatives that characterize the local school system, according to a curriculum audit of Floyd County Schools by a team appointed by the State Department of Education. The team, which visited all the schools and talked with teachers and administrators, also found that students had raised $1.7 million to augment district monies.

Mayor Ann Latta pronounced the city of Prestonsburg in good health financially in her annual report to the local City Council.

A two-vehicle accident on US 23 near Harold resulted in the deaths of a Grethel couple and injury to the couple's five children and the driver of the other vehicle, John Jarrell. Roy Adams, 43, and his wife Louverla, 38, died from the accident.

Floyd County educators attended school board meetings, met on individual campuses, held rallies and eventually staged a one-day sickout to protest pay and benefits.

Brides Need New Social Security Card

Brides who will be using their husband's name, should contact the Big Sandy Social Security office to arrange to have their name changed in Social Security records and to apply for a new Social Security card showing their new name, Jim Kelly, Social Security Director for the Big Sandy Area said recently.

There is no charge for this service, Kelly said. Although the name may be changed, the Social Security number will remain the same.

Applicants will need their marriage certificate and Social Security card or driver's license. Only original documents or copies certified by the issuing agency are acceptable. Uncertified photocopies are not acceptable, Kelly said. All documents will be promptly returned.

The process will take about two weeks after acceptable evidence has been submitted to get the new Social Security card. It will show the person's new name, but the original Social Security number.

More information about applying for a Social Security card can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

The telephone number is listed in the local telephone directory under U.S. Government.

Spears Remembered ...Much Like A Sister

Dear Editor,

Had it not been for my mother's tubal pregnancy when I was 18 months old, and the necessary abortion that resulted, I would have had a sister. But by the time I was 15 a very young lady came to our house at Cliff. Endearing by all in the family, she was as much like a sister as a blood-sister could be.

I am sure, in those days of a struggling depression, John Allen, a young attorney just out of law school, also came to know her. He was like another brother, and also lived with us in that beautiful habitat at Cliff.

Each summer or at school vacation time, when my brother and I were home, the smiling, happy face of Opal Spears was always present. We would joke with her, calling her by our pet name, "Opples Dopples." How wonderful she was, how gentle of mind, how exceedingly joyful at all times. Such a fine character she was, never complaining, and ever so thoughtful of others. I never knew of her delicious cooking to be considered a navet, but always something befitting royalty. She was never thought of as a person hired in the home—but ever a beautiful, precious sister, and surely one of the family.

Opal was with us several years. She got married and had children, and as with many of us, she likewise had some of the unexpected living difficulties. Whatever my sister, Opal, was confronted with, her character shown brightly, and she persevered, eventually transferring her culinary perfection to Berea College, where her valiant success at Boone Tavern was widely recognized throughout the Commonwealth and beyond. But thousands of travelers never knew whose patient hands were guiding those that served them. It was none other than Opal Spears.

Before she retired at Berea College, mother and I visited her and mother's sister, who worked at the Churchill Weavers. The never-complaining Christian spirit of Opal Spears always saw the light during the darkest dawn. As lean as times were—and always seemed to be that way—her frugality and determination was certain to assure the education of her children. Though not the offspring of my mother's womb, she is the spirit likeness of the sister I might have had.

Praises Coach

Dear Editor,

This year I have been very busy and unable to see very many grade school basketball games. In fact, I saw Martin play only two times. I knew they wouldn't have a very good team, as again they graduated several eighth graders last year.

I was surprised to find their record was 21-3. I was also surprised to hear the 21 represented victories.

Coach Hopkins has spent about 20 years coaching and winning grade school basketball games. Perhaps some alumni living in Georgia, New Mexico, Vermont or on the West Coast know of a high school needing a good coach and a winning basketball tradition. They can contact Coach Hopkins at Martin Grade School in Martin.

I just heard that last night, Martin Grade School won the county grade school championship. Final record, 22 wins, three losses.

Congratulations Martin and Coach Hopkins.

Sincerely,
Lorie Vannucci

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

TEN REASONS FOR VOTING IN THE NEXT ELECTION

This is the season to celebrate the accomplishments of the old year and look to the challenges of the future.

I have made some comments along those lines in recent weeks. Now I would like to go one step farther and focus on a particularly important challenge that has presented itself in news reports over the past few days.

Those reports reflect the fact that the percentage of voting-age Kentuckians turning out for presidential elections has slipped from almost 58 percent in 1960 to 48.2 percent in 1988. Kentucky ranked 35th among the states in this category, even though the national turnout fell to just 50.2 percent in this last election.

We will debate ideas for reversing this disturbing trend as we turn to campaign financing and related issues in the 101st Congress. But this is a challenge not just for the Congress, but for all of us. And in that spirit, I would like to offer these reasons why every Kentuckian and every American should make it a point to register and vote in future elections at every level of government:

—The right to vote is what separates America from totalitarian nations denying basic human rights to their citizens.

—Too many Americans have fought too many battles for our freedom and our voting rights for us to allow these rights to be weakened through disuse.

—Voting is the ultimate expression of our patriotism—and of our dedication to the great democratic principles of this nation.

—Without the precious political freedom arising from the ballot box, we could not have religious freedom or the economic opportunity to compete and excel regardless of our beginnings in life.

—Voting is a basic reflection of our commitment to our heritage, our communities, our schools and other institutions affecting our lives and those of our families.

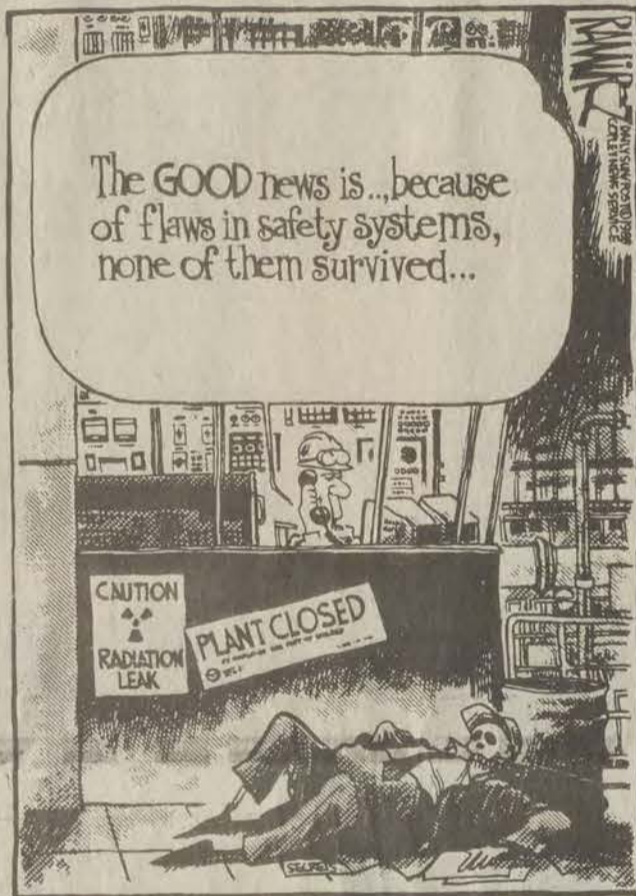

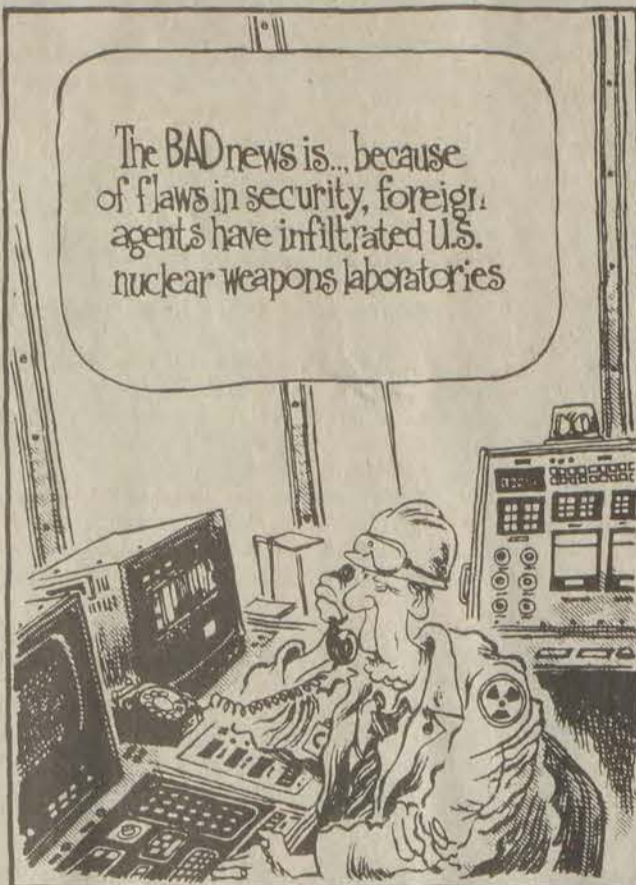

—We must become informed voters before we can ever hope to reverse an increasingly dangerous trend to massive fund-raising and spending for televised image-making and negative political campaigning.

—If we are dissatisfied with much that is happening in our national life, we can change things only by helping to build responsive leadership at all levels of government.

—Inasmuch as we all have attitudes, insights and life experience, the issues are never too complicated. If the young or the poor or other groups fail to make themselves heard in elections, their problems become less likely to be addressed—and perceptions of the challenges facing our nation become distorted.

—When more than half of us grow too cynical to vote, we only make it certain that things will get worse.

—With absentee ballots and groups willing to provide information and transportation to potential voters, there are few valid excuses for not voting. It is one of the least difficult things we will ever be called upon to do—and certainly one of the most important.

"Old Christmas" To Be Observed At May Lodge, Sunday, Jan. 8

Traditional mountain singing, dancing and storytelling will highlight the celebration of "Old Christmas" Sunday at May Lodge Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

The event, set for 2-5 p.m., marks the Epiphany, or the last of the 12 days of Christmas. The local celebration is held annually on the Sunday nearest Jan. 6, the actual 12th day. Also featured will be a reading of a short story, "The Cattle Low at Midnight," written by the late Floyd County historian Henry P. Scalf.

The event, sponsored by the Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival, is free and open to the public.

According to festival director Kathy Lowe, observance of "Old Christmas" was common among early settlers in this region.

Census Bureau To Collect Employment Data Locally

The Census Bureau will collect data on employment and unemployment from area residents the week of Jan. 15-21, according to William F. Hill, director of the bureau's Charlotte regional office.

The local data will contribute to January's national labor force picture to be released Feb. 3 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The data for November 1988 showed a national civilian unemployment rate of 5.4 percent. This means that 6.6 million workers out of a labor force of 122.6 million did not have jobs.

Information supplied by individuals to the Census Bureau is kept confidential by law. Only statistical totals are published.

Ten Years Ago

(January 3, 1979)

Gov. Julian M. Carroll announced last Friday in a telephone conversation with State Representative James "Jitter" Allen that he had named a task force to investigate the condition of Prestonsburg High School and all other schools in Kentucky with regard to the problem of asbestos. Although Floyd County was not listed by the President as one of the disaster area counties following the recent flooding which hit a wide section of Kentucky, state and federal officials were here last week, seeking an appraisal of the damages suffered by county roads and bridges. The observance of "Old Christmas", which has become an annual event in the Prestonsburg area since its revival a number of years ago by folk music collector, Edith F. James, will be held Sunday at May Lodge in Jenny Wiley State Park. A move begun in November, 1967 by eight Prestonsburg churches to provide rent-subsidy housing in this vicinity was won last Friday when the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) approved a loan of $20,000 for the project. Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the grade school at Martin this morning (Thursday), a few hours before classes were scheduled to be resumed after the holiday vacation. The holidays, generally, were quiet in Floyd County, with relatively little in the way of lawbreaking or serious accidents. With the truck-mining industry at its lowest ebb since it boomed with wartime fuel demands, and many rail mine operations curtailed for lack of orders, the Kentucky State Employment Service office here is being swamped with applicants for jobs and overpayment compensation. Glen S. Anderson, office manager, said. The bootlegging situation in this county, admitted by citizens and officials alike to be bad, drew comment from two official sources this week, who called for stricter enforcement of the county's dry law. Seventeen coal companies in this county had this week not only the uncomfortable prospect of a slack run but also the disquieting word from the Department of Revenue, Frankfort, that their assessment for 1948 tax purposes had been increased to a figure barely shy of a million dollars. Last week, 31 years after his death, grateful Texans paid to William Leonilas Mayo, who founded one of the state's great educational institutions, honor in the county of his birth. He was born near Allen, Nov. 3, 1861, the son of William J. Mayo and Rhoda Martin Mayo. Born: to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Branham, Endicott, a daughter on Jan. 1; to Jailer and Mrs. Everett W. There died: Adis Pitts, 21, West Prestonsburg army veteran, at Manton; Mrs. Mary Francis Thompson, 73, at Prestonsburg General Hospital. She was the widow of Prof. W. R. Justice was arrested for driving under the influence of drugs, reckless driving and possession of marijuana, reported Conn. Passengers Garland D. Compton and Nicholas Coleman, both of Elkhorn City, were arrested on similar charges.

Blood Donorama Is Success

Last week's Blood Donorama, co-sponsored by the Prestonsburg Donor Center and Holiday Inn, was a "big success," resulting in 184 pints of blood for the center, according to Georgia Sanders of the center staff.

More than 200 persons attempted to donate blood during the drive which lasted from Dec. 26-30 at the motel. Even with the year-end success, Sanders said 1988 saw fewer donors than the previous year, and she encourages Floyd Countians to donate more blood during 1989.

Since January weather is unpredictable, Sanders said the center's mobile unit might not be able to go out into the county as often, but donors may give blood at the center in the municipal building.

Results of an autopsy and the continuing police investigation have not been made public.

Kestner's funeral was Dec. 24 at the Stone Coal Old Regular Baptist Church in Garrett, with burial in the United Mine Workers Cemetery at Eastern.

No Injuries Sustained In 2 Separate Accidents

No injuries were listed and no citations were issued.

In a separate accident on Sunday, Jan. 1, Reed Stamper, 36, of West Prestonsburg, hit a parked car belonging to Ray Campbell of Prestonsburg, reported Officer Roy Roberts of the Prestonsburg Police Department. The car was parked at Happy Mart in Prestonsburg.

Both vehicles sustained minor damages, said Roberts.

Assemblies Of God Announce Plans

The Assemblies of God have announced their plans for the 1990s, "The Decade Of Harvest".

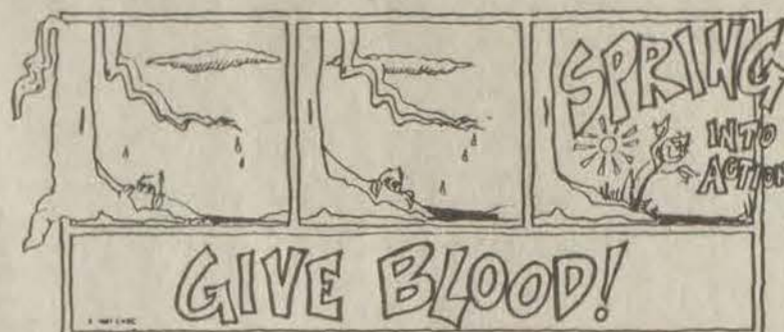

Their vision is to start 5,000 new churches in America, add 5 million members, ordain 20,000 ministers and sign up 1 million people who will pray for revival in America during the 1990s.

Currently, the Assemblies of God have 2.1 million members in America and between 18 to 20 million members abroad. The Assemblies of God have become the fastest growing churches in the world.

The congregations in Eastern Kentucky, known as the Big Sandy Section, recently added two churches with the establishment of churches at Belfry and Salyersville.

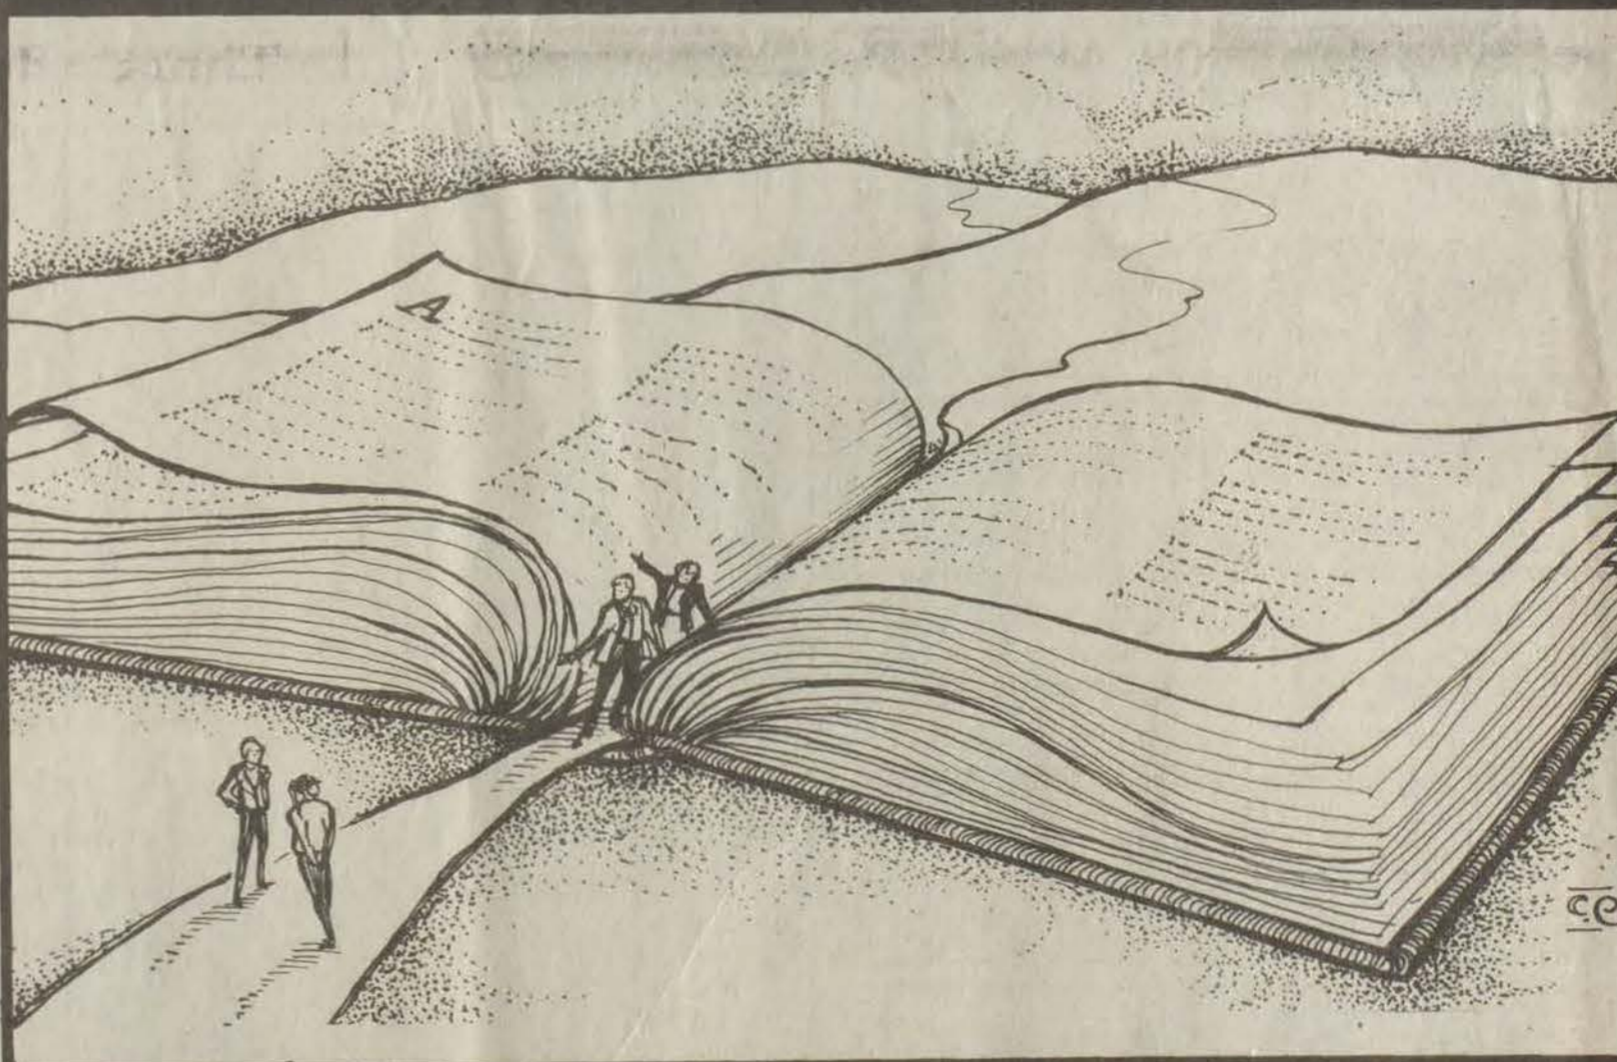

These new churches, along with established congregations at Pikeville, West Prestonsburg, Martin, Paintsville, Prestonsburg, Hager, Ashland, Raceland, and Grayson constitute the Big Sandy Section.

At the recent sectional council held at Martin Assembly of God, Lorie Vannucci, pastor at Martin, was re-elected as presbyter; Charles Shields, pastor at Paintsville, was re-elected as assistant presbyter; and Martin Hughes, pastor at West Prestonsburg, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

McDowell ARH Auxiliary Members Hold Holiday Party

Members of the McDowell ARH Auxiliary look forward to the annual Christmas party, and this year was no exception.

The party was held at the home of Violet Hall, president of the organization, on Dec. 15. At the beginning of the evening, all members joined hands as the hostess gave thanks for the many blessings received throughout the year. A meal was then enjoyed by the group. Kathryn Youmans was in charge of the Christmas games. Later, everyone joined in singing carols, and exchanging gifts. Christine Stewart won the door prize.

Toward the end of the evening, the nominating committee announced the names of the officers for the coming year: Helen Stumbo, president; Christine Stewart, vice-president; Celia Little, recording secretary; and Violet Hall, treasurer.

Attending the party were Helen Stumbo, Inzie Moore, Violet Hall, Celia Little, Christine Stewart, Ruby Akers, Edith Hopkins, Anna Sue Stumbo, Kathryn Youmans and Nannie Hall. Mary Ellen Maggard was an invited guest.

Home Heating Assistance Available

Floyd Countians who are unable to buy heating fuel or pay heating bills can get help from Big Sandy Area Community Action Program, beginning Monday.

Representatives of the crisis component of the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program will be at the swimming pool building at Allen to give out vouchers to those in need of assistance with heating bills.

The assistance comes through a grant of $531,029 to the five-county agency from the Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources. Floyd County's share of the grant is $142,264. according to Big Sandy CAP executive director Bill May.

To qualify for the assistance, residents heating with electric or gas must present a disconnect notice with their last monthly utility bill. May said.

Those heating with kerosene, fuel oil, propane, coal or wood must present a statement from someone other than a family member certifying that they are without fuel or will be within five days, May said.

The vouchers are to be given directly to the utility companies or vendors of heating fuel. Assistance is limited to the minimum amount needed to get the resident through the crisis, May said.

The grant to the Big Sandy area is among the largest in the state and is based on the region's percentage of low-income population.

Other counties sharing in the Big Sandy Area CAP grant are Johnson, $72,329; Magoffin, $61,825; Martin, $49,157; and Pike, $205,454.

May said that this year's grant is a "little more" than last year's. However, he said the agency spent more than $700,000 on emergency heating assistance in 1988, after drawing on contingency funds.

Hall Honored

Lovel Hall, center, property valuation administrator of Floyd County, attended the 1988 Conference on Assessment Administration recently in Owensboro. At the conference, he was awarded the professional designation, CKA-Certified Kentucky Assessor. Awarding of the designation is based upon the successful completion of a standard educational course curriculum and the attainment of specified experience in Kentucky property tax administration. Hall has been PVA of Floyd County since 1973. He lives at Martin with his wife, Cendia and stepdaughter, Rhonda. Presenting the CKA designation to Hall is C. Emmett Calvert, Secretary of the Revenue Cabinet, and Arnold J. Lee, property valuation administrator from Cumberland County and chairman of the PVA professional designation committee.

Johnson Receives Lifetime Membership In Local VFW

When Willie Johnson's daughter in Ohio read in the Floyd County Times a few weeks ago about the local Veterans of Foreign Wars giving lifetime memberships to World War I veterans, she got on the phone to Eddie Akers right away.

She wanted to make sure that Akers, VFW district commander, knew about her father, Johnson, 94, of Weeksbury served in France during the European conflict that became World War I and his eight children have heard his stories all their lives.

Johnson, who was drafted in June 1918, talks as clearly of those days as if they were yesterday rather than 70 years ago.

Johnson, alert and clear-voiced, remembers a week's delay from European duty when a recruit at Ft. Benjamin Harris came down with measles. The whole camp was quarantined, he said, after they had just completed gas mask training.

When the quarantine was lifted, they shipped out to Canada where more than 700 "doughboys" boarded a British freighter en route to the war.

"We had been out only a few days when we got word that there was an armistice, so we went back," Johnson said.

While waiting for orders, a German spy was discovered on board the ship. Government agents boarded the freighter, Johnson said.

"They called for the cook, took him by the arm and led him off. We never saw him again."

There was no truce, so the troop ship began its transatlantic trip again. From Liverpool, England, the soldiers crossed the English Channel to Cherbourg, France, where they rode in boxcars to the Argonne Forest. There Johnson worked as a clerk and volunteered to haul rations to the allies at the front lines.

After peace was declared, Johnson's company was sent to southern France, and from there back home in July 1919. Johnson can still clearly recall dates and, often, times of each event.

The Weeksbury native, one of 13 children, was both a coal miner and a scholar before the war. When he finished the eighth grade in 1914, he went to work for Elkhorn-Piney Coal Co. for 15 cents an hour, he recalled.

Claiming he was "just used to going to school," in January of 1915, Johnson travelled to Paintsville to enroll in Sandy Valley Seminary. At the end of the term in May, he went back to mining at home until the seminary began again the following January.

At the end of the second term, he earned his teaching certificate and taught school for $50 a month from July through December, the regular school year at that time. School no longer in session, he returned to the coal company, this time as a shipping clerk until he was drafted.

Johnson worked again for the coal company after the war as a tipple boss and weigher until the company shut down its Weeksbury operation in 1921. He then went to work for the B&O railroad and when it was bought out by C&O he continued with that company until his retirement in 1960.

Meantime, he married, built the house in 1922 that he still lives in, and raised a family.

Although he had a rash of health problems in the early 1980s that led to heart, stomach and bowel operations, he now appears healthy. He wears glasses only to read, occasionally puts in a hearing aid, tends a garden each summer, and looks after several stands of bees.

Except for a relative spending the nights with him, he cares for himself. Clear blue eyes, smooth skin and an alert mind make him appear at least 30 years younger than he is.

Johnson's younger brother, Albert, 93, who lives just down the road, is also a World War I veteran, but as a drill sergeant he spent the war stateside, training recruits.

The local VFW post continues to search for WWI veterans who served overseas. Akers, who lives at Mud Creek, urges anyone who knows of other such veterans to contact him as Willie Johnson's daughter did.

VFW Honoree

World War I veteran Willie Johnson, center, recently received a lifetime membership in the local post of Veterans of Foreign Wars. VFW officials Walter Frasure, left, and Eddie Akers made the presentation to the 94-year-old Weeksbury man who wore his original 1918 Army cap for the occasion.

New Tax Assessment System

The administration of Kentucky's tangible personal property tax is prepared for the 21st century with the inception of a statewide computer system for the assessment of tangible personal property.

House Bill 720, enacted by the 1988 session of the General Assembly, required the Revenue Cabinet to develop and administer a centralized ad valorem assessment system for all tangible personal property. In addition, House Bill 720 mandated several other changes relating to the administration of the tangible property tax.

Beginning in 1989, taxpayers will have until April 15, formerly March 1, to file the Tangible Personal Property Tax Return, Revenue Form 62A500, with either the property valuation administrator (PVA) in the county of taxable situs or the Department of Property Taxation in Frankfort. Appeals of personal property assessments will be administered in Frankfort by the Revenue Cabinet. The authority for assessing omitted tangible property will be transferred from the county PVAs to the Department of Property Taxation's Division of State Valuation. These provisions are designed to improve compliance in the tangible property area and allow PVAs more time to concentrate on real property assessments.

The enactment of House Bill 720 established a mandate for the Department of Property Taxation to completely overhaul its traditional approach to administering the tangible property tax program. Perhaps the major change in the program is the new method for valuing depreciable assets, especially tangible property used in business and manufacturing machinery.

Beginning in 1989, the cabinet is instituting a valuation procedure based upon depreciation rates established for assets with various economic lives. All depreciable assets will be classified in one of six economic life ranges. In each economic life class, conversion factors have been developed that convert original cost to taxable value. These conversion factors were developed by the Department of Property Taxation.

The factors consider the appreciation, or replacement cost, of property and the related depreciation as well as sales of comparable property. In classical appraisal, this method is known as replacement cost less accrued depreciation. This method will provide the basis for achieving the constitutional mandate of assessing tangible property at its fair cash value, as well as providing assessments that are systematic, uniform and equitable.

Tangible property tax returns and instructions will be mailed to all businesses Jan. 2, 1989.

Inez Newspapers Sold To Pikeville Publisher

Martin County's two weekly newspapers, The Mercury and The Martin Countian, have been sold to LaJeune Waggoner, publisher of the Appalachian News-Express of Pikeville.

Waggoner and his associates will now publish a single newspaper for Martin County, thus ending the long-time news rivalry between the two local papers.

Neither Homer Marcum nor John Kirk, former publishers of The Martin Countian and The Mercury, will be involved in the new company.

Waggoner, 57, is a 30-year newspaper veteran, including stints as advertising manager, general manager, and publisher at several newspapers throughout the south.

Terry Spears, 26, of Pikeville, has been named publisher-editor of the new newspaper. Spears is a 1980 graduate of Virgie High School. He graduated magna cum laude from Pikeville College in 1984 with a bachelor's degree. He has some graduate work through Morehead State University's Masters of Business Administration program.

Since graduation from college, Spears has worked for the News-Express for six months as a sports correspondent and for the past four years as sports editor. In his four years as sports editor, the sports department has won nearly 20 awards in Kentucky Press Association and Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association competitions.

Cardinals Put End To PHS Perfect Record

After going undefeated for five games, the Prestonsburg Blackcats saw their unblemished winning streak snapped during the holidays, falling to Sheldon Clark in the Sheldon Clark Invitational Tournament, 76-58.

The Cardinals wasted no time in setting the pace of the game, sending 20 points through the net and holding PHS to 12 in the first period. Although Prestonsburg fared somewhat better in the second stanza, the Cardinals continued to outscore the Blackcats, and had built up a 43-30 lead at intermission. "We didn't really play our game," said Coach Gordon Parido. "Scott Hall was out with an injury, and that really hurt our inside game." Sheldon Clark's Keith Hale, who scored 19 points in the game, earned the majority of them in the first half.

Prestonsburg clipped three points from the deficit in the third period, but continued to trail, and was outscored again in the fourth to take a 76-58 loss.

Leading the Blackcats in scoring were Todd Justice and Chris Slone with 10 points each, followed by Kevin Adams with nine.

For Sheldon Clark, Hale led with 19 points, followed by Phillip Harris with 16.

As the holiday break wound down, the Blackcats traveled to Montgomery County for their invitational tournament, facing Bourbon County in the first game.

Although the two teams played evenly in the first half, Bourbon County blew it open in the third and eventually handed the Blackcats an 81-72 loss.

Up by six at the end of the first eight minutes, Bourbon County and PHS traded baskets in the second, scoring 16 points each. Prestonsburg went to the locker rooms trailing by six.

Bourbon County came back with a vengeance in the third period, outscoring PHS 25-15.

"They really burned it up," said Parido. "They played real well, and we were just kind of sitting back watching."

Although Prestonsburg rallied in the fourth, and scored seven more points than Bourbon County, the effort fell short, and the Blackcats dropped their second contest of the season, 81-72.

Leading the PHS attack, although he played only half the game, was Scott Hall, who scored 25 points. Justice added 15, and Nairn nine.

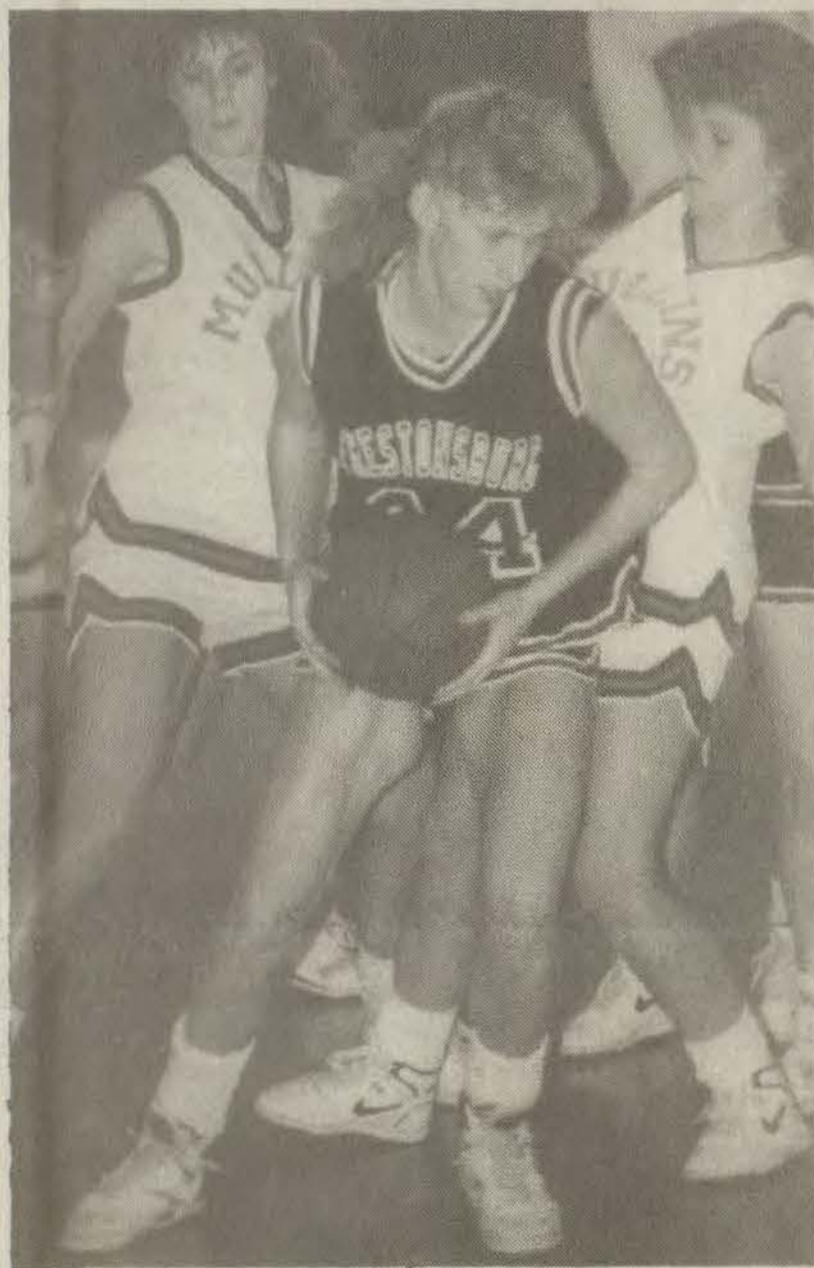

Prestonsburg returned to action Tuesday night; scores were unavailable as of presstime. They will play again Friday, Jan. 6, traveling to Pulaski County, and will return home Saturday night to host the Mullins Tigers. Tuesday, Jan. 10, PHS will host Phelps.

Looking Inside

A Prestonsburg Lady Blackcat looks inside for the play in Monday night basketball action. PHS broke a string of losses with a 54-39 win over the Lady Tigers.

New Start For Lady Blackcats?

by Ed Taylor
Correspondent

Many people look to the New Year for a new start, and things are no different for Coach Bridget Clay and her Lady Blackcats of Prestonsburg High School.

Beginning the season with wins in their first three games against Lawrence County, Millard and McDowell, the Lady Blackcats seemed to have hit a streak of bad luck, losing their last five games before the Christmas break.

"We couldn't stay out of foul trouble," Clay said. "We're really not that deep coming off the bench. Instead of sliding with their men on defense, we are reaching and holding them." Clay is quick to add that the team worked on that aspect of its game during the holidays.

The Lady Blackcats got off to a "new start" with a convincing 54-39 victory over the Lady Tigers at Mullins High School Monday night.

"We have Amy Hicks back with us from last year, and she is going to be a big help to us," the Prestonsburg mentor said. "She is a strong rebounder and has a quick outlet release on the fast break."

Prestonsburg opened the game by scoring first on a drive by Michelle Clemons to take a quick 2-0 lead. Mullins came down court quickly to tie the score at 2-2.

After both teams missed easy shots and turned the ball over, Kathy Sloan broke for a layup and was fouled on the play, converting to put the Lady Blackcats out in front to stay, 5-2.

Karen Frasure hit a 15-footer to make it 7-2, and Prestonsburg's pressure defense caused the Lady Tigers to make numerous turnovers. At the end of the first stanza, Prestonsburg led, 9-3.

The second quarter was all Prestonsburg as the squad began to dominate the boards, and built a sizeable lead over the Mullins Lady Tigers. At the 6:13 mark, Frasure scored on a three-point play to extend the PHS lead to 14-3.

With good board work and solid defense, the Lady Blackcats built their lead to 14, and led at the half, 22-8.

Prestonsburg hit first in the second half on a layup by Clemons, and it seemed that a rout was in the making, as Prestonsburg's defense continued to cause the Lady Tigers trouble. The Lady Blackcats never let up, and at the 4:06 mark had extended their lead by 20 points, 32-12.

The Lady Tigers began to apply full court pressure themselves, which was no surprise to the Lady Blackcat mentor. "We knew they had to get back in the game some way," said Clay. Prestonsburg was guilty of turning the ball over too many times, and Mullins also began to get second and third shots at the basket. Mullins cut what had been a 20-point lead to only 10, 34-24, at the end of the third period.

Mullins controlled the basketball at the beginning of the fourth. After three attempts at the basket they scored, cutting the lead to eight, 34-26.

The Lady Blackcats abandoned their full court defense. "We were getting tired," Clay said, "and we wanted to see if they could score from the outside."

After what seemed like a breakdown in rebounding, the Lady Tigers, after second and third attempts, scored again and cut the lead to seven, 35-28, prompting Clay to call for time.

Prestonsburg returned to court to turn up the defensive pressure, and at the 5:46 mark, Frasure took a pass from Clemons, scoring a short jumper and getting fouled. She completed the three-point play and the lead was back to 10, 38-28.

Prestonsburg built its lead and extended it back out to 17 points, 47-30, on a three-pointer by Flo Jervis, who was starting her first game. The squad went on to clip the Tigers, 54-39. Frasure, last year's "Player of the Year," led the Lady Blackcats in scoring with 21 points. Sloan added 10.

Mullins was led by Susan Kelly with 14, while teammate P. Wright tossed in 13 points.

The Lady Blackcats, dropping a contest to Pikeville just before the holidays, improved to the 4-5 mark with the Mullins win. They will take on Coach Judy Eversole's Lady Trojans from Wheelwright at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse on Thursday.

Short Jumper

Prestonsburg's Lady Blackcats utilized the inside of the lane, taking advantage of opportunities for short jump shots. PHS defeated Mullins, 54-39.

McDowell Daredevils Win One, Lose Two During Recent Holiday Break

McDowell's Daredevils won one and dropped two during the holiday break, sending the squad's record to 4-5 on the year.

In conference play, Coach Johnny Ray Turner's team is 1-2.

McDowell bested Dorton just before Christmas, 97-63, with Rady Martin and Dickie Joe Shannon leading the team with 25 and 20 points respectively.

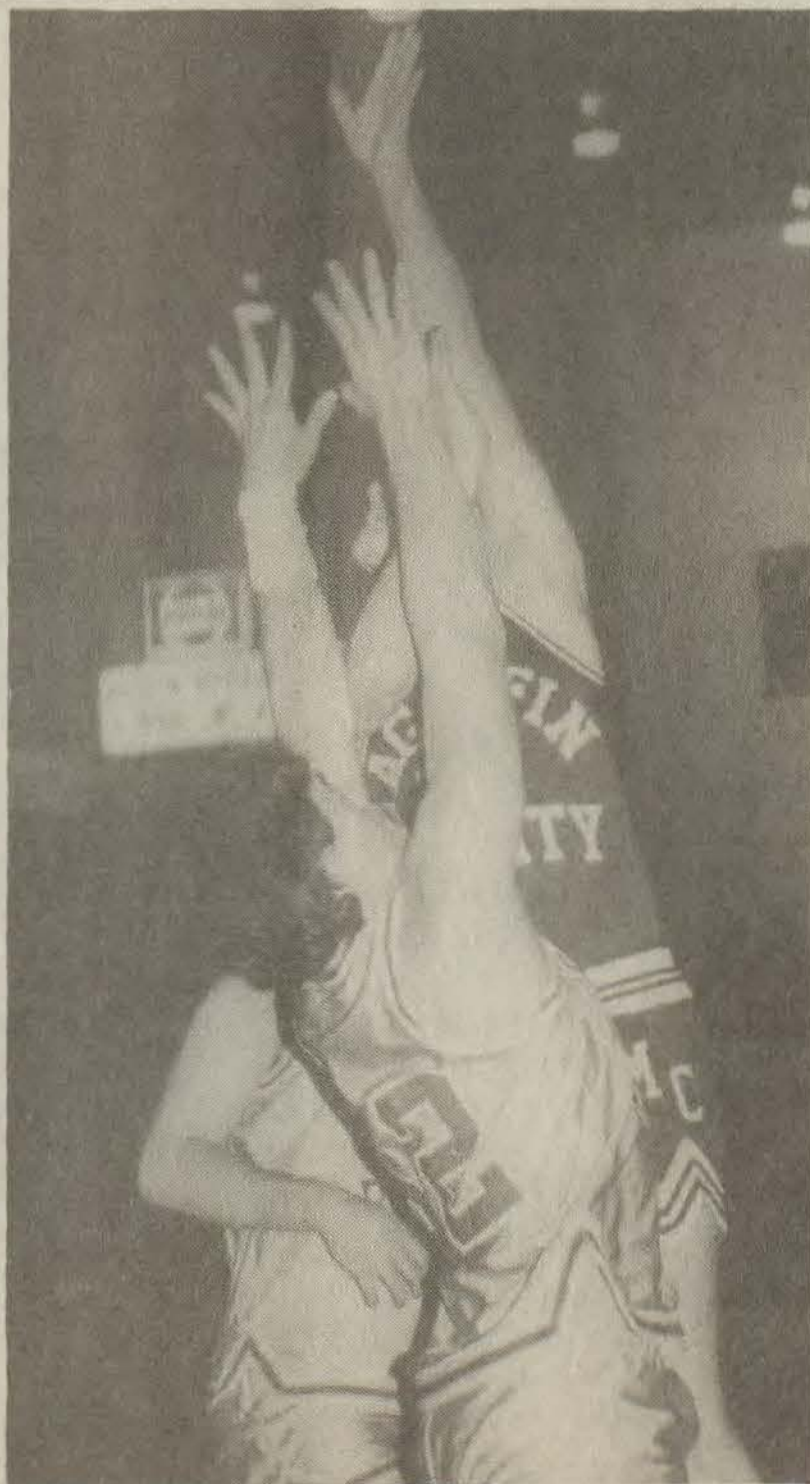

Playing Pulaski County, the Daredevils were unable to keep things going, falling 77-66.

"Pulaski County shot about 65 percent from the field, and they were eight of 12 from three-point range," said Turner. In addition, Pulaski's 6'8" center rejected six Daredevil attempts to score.

Pulaski County opened the first period with a slight edge over the visiting Floyd County team, and led by six as the teams entered the second period.

Too Little, Too Late

Allen Central defenders arrived too late to prevent this attempt by a Magoffin County player. The Hornets bested the local squad in overtime, 60-59.

ACHS Runnin' Rebs Lose, 60-59, In Overtime

The Allen Central High School Runnin' Rebels fell to Magoffin County quite unexpectedly Friday night, in an overtime contest that saw the Hornets take a 60-59 win.

The win was only the second of the season for Coach Danny Adams' Hornets.

The two teams fought hard throughout the game, which was marked by quite a bit of physical contact between players.

At the close of the first period, Allen Central led the Hornets, 10-8, but Magoffin had taken the lead at the half, 25-22. Heading into the third, Magoffin widened the gap, leaving the Runnin' Rebs trailing by nine, 42-33. The ACHS squad continued to fight hard, and began a rally that saw them come back with just one second on the clock and the game tied. A missed Rebel free throw kicked the game into overtime, and the Rebs eventually lost by one slim point, 60-59.

"I thought our kids felt that they had something to prove," said the Magoffin coach. "We might not be the best basketball club in the world, but I don't think we're the worst one, either."

Leading the Hornets in the scoring column was forward Donald Helton, with 17, followed by center Scott Arnett, with 12. Arnett committed four fouls in the game.

"We feel good coming up here at Allen Central, because John Martin does a good job with his team," said Adams in praising the Rebels' mentor. "They play especially well here on their home floor."

For Allen Central, forward Joey Conn and guard Todd Duff led the way with 14 points each. Rick Smith, center, and forward Kevin Webb, added nine-point efforts.

"I feel real good for our kids, that they had the enthusiasm and the mental and physical capacity to come up here and pull this one out," Adams said.

Martin's Rebels will next see action in the Paintsville Invitational Tournament which begins today (Wednesday, Jan. 4) and concludes Jan. 7. On Jan. 10, the squad will host Jenkins.

Damron Leads Team To Win

Virgie High School's Autumn Damron, playing her first game since an ankle injury nearly a year and a half ago, returned to the hardwood roaring against McDowell Monday night.

Damron, a 5'10" point guard, "played like a pro," said McDowell, Lady Daredevil Coach Cassandra Keathley. Damron hit six attempts from regulation, three from three-point range, and swished a perfect eight of eight at the line to lead all scorers with 29 points.

Handing the Lady Daredevils a loss Monday, 65-42, Virgie put a twin hurt on the team in the form of Damron and teammate Jody Baker, who was also in double figures with 19 points. Baker hit seven from the floor and five from the line.

The Lady Daredevils stayed with Virgie throughout the first period, and trailed by three, 14-11, at the buzzer. In the second and third quarters, however, Virgie hit the boards and the basket, and toughened its defense. The Lady Eagles scored 17 in the second, holding McDowell to eight, and outscored the Lady Daredevils again, 14-7, in the third period. Heading into the fourth with a comfortable 45-26 lead, the Lady Eagles played steadily and won the contest, 65-42.

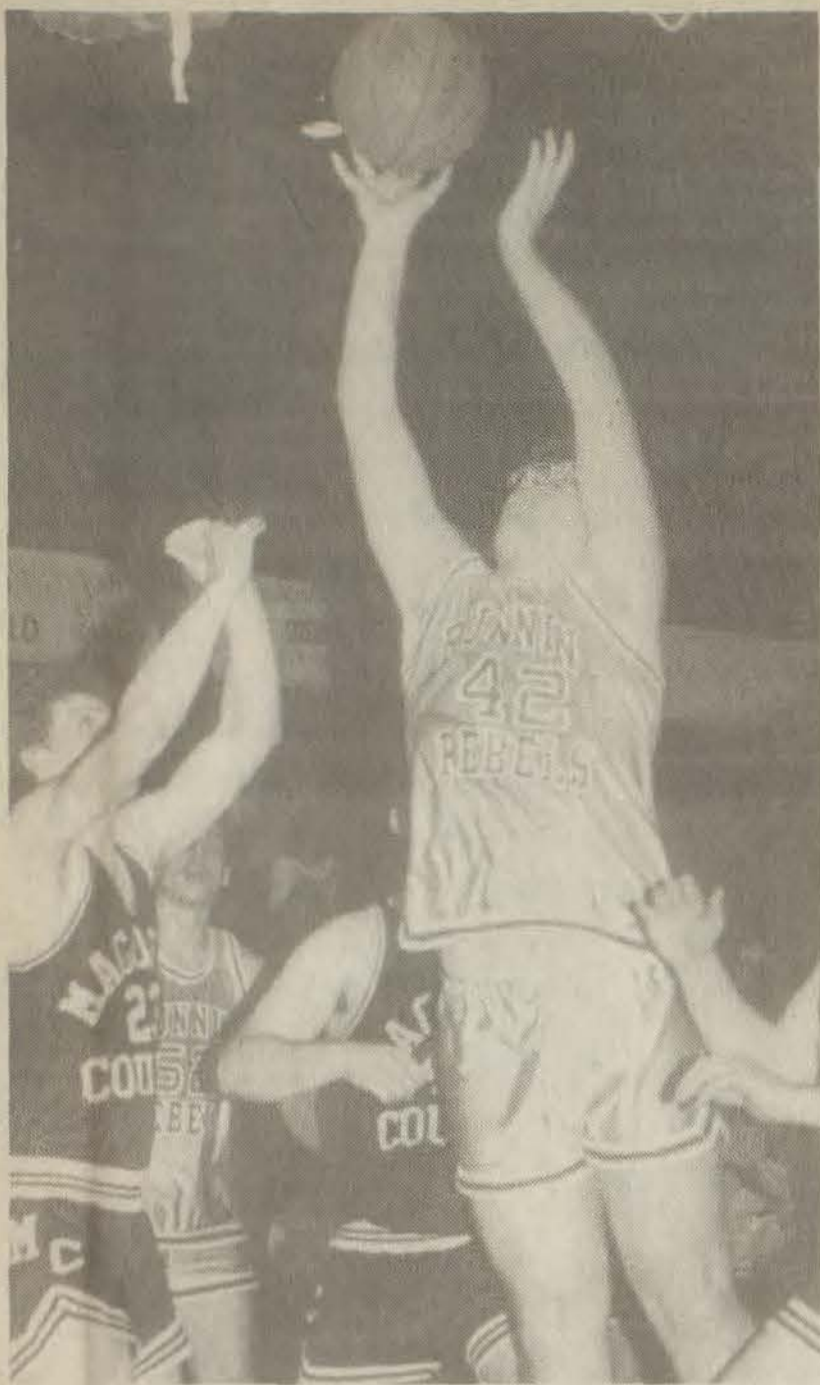

while Mullins made good on five from the floor and six from the line.

McDowell went to 5-6 on the season with the loss, and stands at 0-3 in conference play. The latter statistic is made more painful because the Lady Daredevils have lost all three conference games by six points or less.

Keathley's squad played Prestonsburg Tuesday night; scores were unavailable as of presstime. The Lady Daredevils will continue their season Friday night, playing Hazard at 6 p.m. at the Virgie Invitational Tournament. McDowell will play again Saturday night in the four-team tourney.

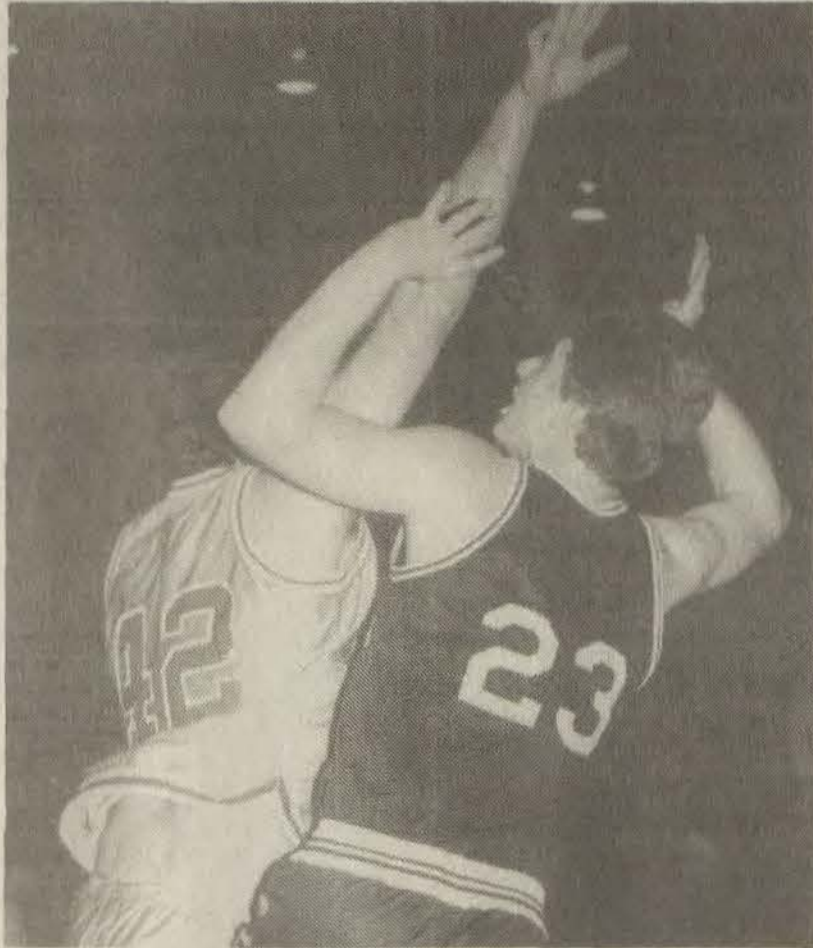

McDOWELL 11 8 7 16 (42): Gloria Mullins, 5-0 6 16; Christy Pack, 0-0 2 2; Priscilla Crawford, 1-0 0 2; Lori Bryant, 5-0 7 17; Jenny Stone, 1-0 2 4; Michelle Floyd, 0-0 1 1.

Uncontested

Kevin Webb (42) goes up for two uncontested points against Magoffin County defenders. Allen Central unexpectedly lost the Friday night game, 60-59.

Inside Move

Allen Central's Kevin Webb (42) goes inside for two of his nine points against Magoffin County Friday night.

McDowell

McDowell ran into trouble, and quickly found themselves on the short end of 13-8 scoring during the period. At the half, Pulaski led the Daredevils, 32-21. Turner's squad pulled together in the third, and managed to chip four points from the deficit before the buzzer sounded. Pulaski, however, came back in the fourth to return the favor, outscoring McDowell and taking the game by a 77-66 margin.

For McDowell, Martin and Shannon again were the top scorers, with 25 and 23 points respectively.

The Floyd team took part in the Northern Kentucky Class A Classic as 1988 edged into 1989, losing to Central City, 74-55.

"We missed a lot of easy shots, and we had at least 12 turnovers in the first half," said Turner. He added that the team missed shots from the 3- to 5-foot range — "they just wouldn't stay in."

Central City led McDowell by only four points in the first period, but got serious in the second, outscoring the Daredevils 22-8. With a halftime lead of 34-16, Central City did not appear to be in a mood to let up. The team scored 22 points in the third period, holding McDowell to 12, before beginning to substitute somewhat in the fourth quarter.

Turner, who kept his first string in until about three minutes remained in the contest, saw McDowell make a run at Central City, and outscore them 27-18 in the final period, but the effort fell short, and McDowell lost, 74-55.

McDowell will travel to Lexington Lafayette Friday night, and return home to host Virgie Tuesday, Jan. 10.

Lady Rebs Earn Two Wins

Coach Bonita Compton's Allen Central Lady Rebels picked up a pair of wins recently, both coming by wide margins at the expense of two out-of-county teams.

Just prior to the holiday break, Jo Ann Conn led the Lady Rebs to a 48-26 defeat of Lawrence County.

Conn hit six from the floor and six from the line for 18 points. Stephanie Wallen scored eight.

The ACHS women came out gunning in the first round, establishing a 17-4 lead by the end of the first period. In the second stanza, they ran into trouble, and it showed as Lawrence County outscored the Floyd squad 8-6. Despite the second stanza stumble, Compton's team retained a 23-12 lead at the half.

In the third, the Lady Rebs got back on track, easily outdistancing the Lawrence County women, 15-8, and repeated the performance in the final frame to take the 48-26 win.

Against Pike County's Millard Mustangs on Monday night, the Lady Rebs were victorious, 77-42.

In much the same manner as earlier contests, ACHS set the pace in the first, doubling Millard's scoring, 24-12. Again, they ran into trouble in the second, and saw the Lady Mustangs take advantage of it to outscore them 14-11. The Lady Rebs' first-period advantage carried them through, however, and they continued to lead, 35-26, at intermission.

In the fourth period, Allen Central heavily outscored Millard, 25-6, and did so again in the fourth, 17-10, to take the 77-42 win.

Conn led her team in scoring with 25 points, earned on eight from the floor and nine of 12 at the line. Also scoring in double digits were Teresa Gibson, with 19, Stacy Moore, with 14, and Darnella Bradley, with 10.

"We played good defense in the second half," said Compton, who complimented Gibson for her 19-point performance. Previously, Gibson had averaged 10 points per outing.

The Lady Rebs went 5-1 on the season (they stand at 2-0 in conference play) with the win, and faced Wheelwright Tuesday night. Scores were unavailable as of presstime.

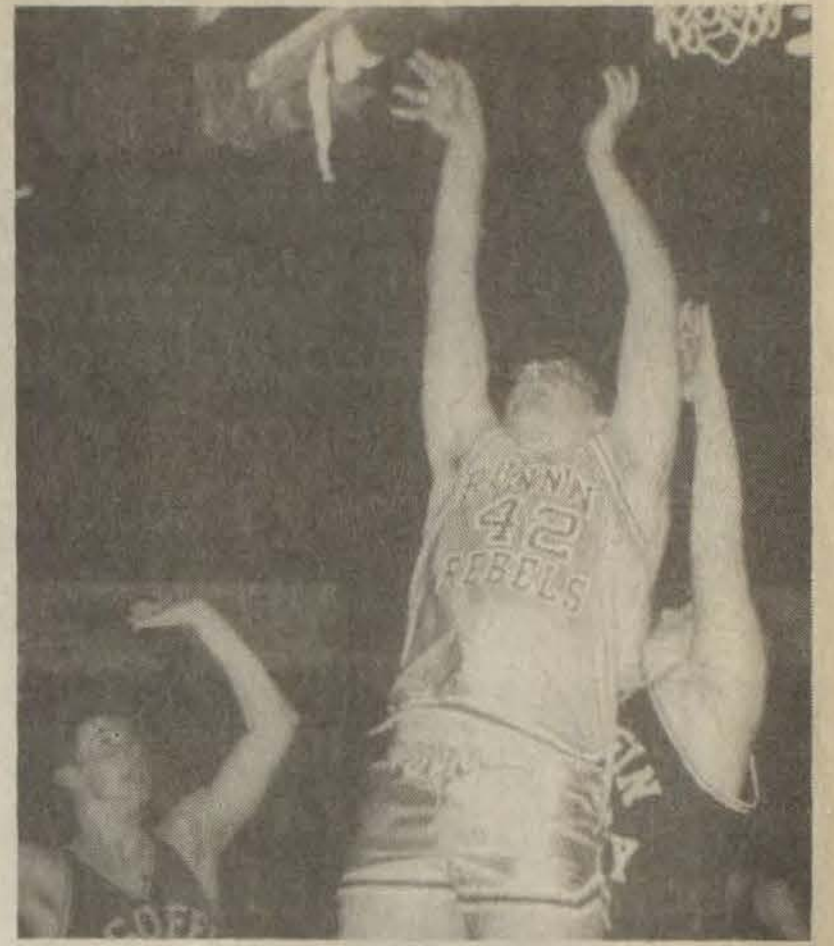

The ACHS women will play again Jan. 9, traveling to Sheldon Clark to take on the Lady Cardinals. On Jan. 13, they will host Betsy Layne.

Rally To Be Held Jan. 4

A rally of Kentucky parents of handicapped children will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 4, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Capitol Rotunda in Frankfort. The Rally is sponsored by the Kentucky Coalition for People with Handicaps. Speakers will include parents and professionals concerned about the critical shortage of special education units (classroom teachers) in Kentucky.

Only 250 additional special education units have been approved by the Kentucky General Assembly in the past 10 years, despite an increase of 12,027 additional students served. Requests for 217 new special education units by local school districts for the 1988-89 school year were denied by the Department of Education due to the shortage of units. Many of Kentucky's special education classrooms currently exceed maximum class size and Kentucky schools are rapidly losing many qualified special education teachers due to the overcrowding of the classrooms.

The purpose of the "Parent's Rally and Press Conference" is to ask Governor Wilkinson to include the funding of additional special education units as a priority issue on the agenda of the anticipated special session on education of the General Assembly. Petitions circulated statewide by parents will be presented to the Governor at this time. Everyone interested in this issue is urged to attend the rally. For more information, please call 606/784-7580 or 502/554-5006.

LEAN ON ME

The walking stick was once considered a fashion accessory for the gentleman walker who did not need to walk. Today, it is a necessity for those who need the support and security that a cane can bring. However, many people are risking disastrous falls by using the wrong size stick. In a study done recently at St. James University Hospital in England, 75 percent of those studied had canes that were either too long or too short. The proper length for a cane should equal the distance from the crease of the wrist to the floor, with the arms hanging slightly flexed at the sides. Experts say that adjustable aluminum canes are best, but many people favor the appearance of a wooded cane.

COOLEY APOTHECARY invites you to come in and to get acquainted with us even before you need our services. Mammography Can Save Lives

by Rex Music, OLWH Radiology Supervisor, and Gwen Hall

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women.

Its cause is not known, so prevention isn't really possible at the present time.

But breast cancer is treatable. That's why early detection is so important.

Physical exams have helped many women find tumors in their breasts. Mammography, however, enables tumors to be found two to three years earlier than a physical exam could detect them.

For more information, contact Rex Music, ARRT or Tammy Maggard, ARRT at 285-5181, extension 354, or write Radiology Department, Our Lady of the Way Hospital, Box 910, Martin, KY 41649.

CITIZENS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

It is an upmost necessity that we put security and safety back into our Floyd County Jail System. We need to have cleanliness and provide descent meals for the inmates.

We can change this current administration and more. We need a stronger security system to provide safety for all inmates.

We need to abolish inmates hurting one another or themselves. We also need to provide proper medical attention to our inmates when in need of medical attention.

Citizens, we all know these are problems that we have in our Floyd County Jail System today. We need to and must abolish any acts of carelessness and violence.

Maybe no one is perfect—we all know that, but as long as inmates are serving time to pay their debts to society they need protection, safety and good hot meals to eat.

Citizens, let's change to a new administration and build a solid foundation—progress for all or else, one day, the state government will change it their own way with a tax increase. We don't need another tax increase in Floyd County when this office can be fulfilled and maintained locally without any tax increase due to this position of office by state government.

Elect Me,

JR. JOSEPH

Huffing And Puffing: Getting Fit In 1989

By Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

It's the time of the year to make resolutions. If living healthier is on anyone's list, the Prestonsburg Community College library has a few good books which can help them reach that goal.

Chinese Wand Exercise, by Bruce Johnson. Designed thousands of years before Christ to slow down the aging process of Chinese royalty, this "perfect exercise program" has been handed down from ruler to ruler. Like many things oriental, these exercises are not concerned with the outside appearance of the body, but with its inner well-being. Chinese Wand (CW) is a cardiovascular, cardiorespiratory form of exercise circulating the blood volume more efficiently throughout the entire body. This safe way to exercise puts the body into action without all the normal huffing and puffing associated with the dreaded "E" word.

With nothing but a 48 to 50 inch bamboo (or anything comparable) stick, comfortable clothing, a sustainable determination, and this book, readers can be on their way to a new, vitalized body and invigorating lifestyle. Practicing CW will help ward off physical afflictions, ailments, aches and general depression. That sounds like a great way to start off the new year.

Health and Fitness For the Over-Forties, by Bill Watson. This book is about fitness—not the super-fitness of athletes and superstars—but the everyday and essential fitness that each individual needs to ensure well-being. More than ever before, there is continuous emphasis on the importance of keeping fit and the dangers, medically, of not being so.

With simple but well-thought-out exercises ranging from remedies for backache to forms of exercise intended to combat tension and stress, this book is directed at all people who recognize the relationship between fitness and good health.

Well-illustrated with chapters on good eating and sound sleeping, this is a complete program for living healthily.

The Fitness Book, by Bud Getchell. Written by the executive director of "The National Institute for Fitness and Sports," this book could qualify as an encyclopedia for any question about fitness. The first three chapters examine physical fitness and how the body responds to exercise. They emphasize and support the importance of knowing how fit one is before beginning an exercise program. Chapter 4 outlines the basic guidelines for planning individual exercise programs, and Chapter 5 recommends a series of stretching and conditioning exercises to incorporate into an overall workout.

The rest of the book thoroughly covers everything from walking to swimming and bicycling to weight training.

With a willingness to read and follow instructions and a commitment of time and effort, a regular exercise program can mean the robust health to fully appreciate the joys of living. The book can be the first step to an investment in life.

The Complete Handbook of Health Tips, by Emil Neuman. A treasury of health information, the material in this book has been compiled from medical and nutritional literature as well as time-proven remedies. A sample of what this book has to offer: a simple 20-second exercise to flatten the stomach, one doctor's method to prevent grey hair, how to stop hiccups, three tips to prevent gum disease, how to alleviate fatigue, five tips for getting a good night's sleep, how to care for nails, tips for relieving sinus congestion, and so on.

In addition to its hundreds of health tips, this book includes toll-free help telephone numbers, a list of side effects which can be expected from commonly prescribed drugs, a calorie and fat guide common fast foods, and a helpful deciphering of what the initials after a health specialist's name mean.

The Physiology of Fitness, by Brian Sharkey. An up-to-date guide to the prescription of exercise for fitness, weight control and health, The Physiology of Fitness was written for the individual who wants to understand fitness, the fitness enthusiast who wants to know how the body works, and the skeptic who wants proof that it does work.

Written by the director of "The Nordic Sportsmedicine Council for the U.S. Ski Team," this book is an encyclopedia of information. The text is divided into five parts: aerobic fitness, muscular fitness, fitness and weight control, fitness and health, and fitness and lifestyle. It contains new information on muscle fiber types, isokinetic training, exercise, diet, stress management and training for athletic competition.

A book that will help readers huff and puff their way to good health, it is also one that can be dipped into for interesting tidbits of information—my favorites are: calorie is burned for every two minutes of sleep, two calories for every eight minutes spent driving a car, and one calorie for every three minutes spent sitting and reading.

The Relaxed Body Book. How to relax—I thought this was one thing I really knew how to do—until I read this book. Pinpointing every part of the body, it gives instruction for relaxing the feet, stomach, neck, face and all the rest of the body—part by part. With practical suggestions for getting out of bed when your back hurts, picking up your baby, talking on the telephone without getting a kink in your neck and giving a Swedish massage, this book will add enjoyment to the chore of getting healthy.

With many fascinating chapters (headache healers, facesavers, tension at the dinner table, and pain in the office), this book has information that will help cultivate the lifesaving graces of slowing down, relaxing, and laughing problems and aches away.

Magazines
For up-to-the-minute news concerning health and nutrition, the library subscribes to; American Health, Current Health, Health, Nutrition Today, and Prevention. Community users as well as students are welcomed and encouraged to use our facilities.

Happy New Bridge Year!
Pikeville's Lost In The Shuffle Bridge Club took Tuesday night off to go shopping in downtown Prestonsburg.
The College Square Bridge Club held a game at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Grudin Monday night. In their cozy surroundings a predominant feeling of good will was shared by all who nibbled on the saccharinity of roasted and ground cacao seed candies which Mrs. Grudin had made. All players were presented with a generous portion of the chocolate-nut and peanut butter fudge to take home and enjoy during the holidays! The evening's bridge winners were John Rupley, first; Betty Grudin, second and Mrs. Cappy Brown, third! Congratulations!

Those who have learned to play bridge this past year have experienced first-hand the commitment to bridge excellence that makes bridge a world-wide leader in game fun. Pikeville's bridge clubs deserve the best news media coverage that can be had... they get this coverage in the Floyd County Times and Appalachian News-Express. Their publishing of all articles submitted helped extend the boundaries of bridge in this area and for this the clubs are grateful, and thank the publishers of both newspapers very much.
The Lost In The Shuffle Bridge Club

also thanks the management at Meyers Towers, The Pinson Hotel Coffee Shop and the YMCA for their generosity. The Senior Citizens' willingness to share the Community Room with the club shows that people are unselfish the entire year, not just when they are reminded by the commercialism of the Christmas season.

HOROSCOPE

January 8 through January 14

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

Keep an open mind; look for excitement and new adventures. The security of a routine is not important now. Finances are on shaky ground.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

Frugality is necessary to handle unanticipated financial changes. Don't be bashful in changing an established practice. Use resources wisely.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

Practice what you preach since others look to you as a role model. Be open to new ideas, constructive criticism and possible changes.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

This is now the long-run, and past patience will begin to pay off. Take the risk to speak your mind. Forego on luxuries to focus on needs.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Your dependence on others increases, making you feel uncomfortable. Careful thought could help you prevent an embarrassing situation.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Enthusiasm about a new undertaking is well warranted. A different approach to romance opens new doors. Hard labor proves beneficial.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

An act of kindness is a simple way to show appreciation to those around you. Avoid meddling with accepted policies. Be wary of strangers.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

Dropping your guard puts others at ease and helps them more fully understand you. Be thorough in checking out potential opportunities.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

Physical fitness becomes increasingly important. A new interest in the family tree begins to sprout. A special event draws nearer.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

A potentially volatile situation is touched off; speak your mind honestly so that you have input in the outcome. Career change is possible.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Look for a happy outcome to a stressful situation. Preserve standards that previously have been in force. A major goal is attained.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

Center attentions on home and family. A gathering of friends or family provides much needed support. Don't spread yourself too thin.

John Glover becoming more than a 'face'

By Steven Alan McGaw

One phenomenon of American film and television is the personality actor, those performers who do not become or internalize a character so much as "put it on," as one would don a scarf or a sport coat.

Attractive, likeable, intriguing, these actors are usually cast in roles or vehicles that do not allow for detailed exploration of their characters. Instead, the work relies on the performer's personal appeal to generate audience interest.

And, since these people usually assume the lead roles in a given work, it is the supporting players who must flesh out the drama, delivering more structured, intricate performances to lend texture and gravity to the piece. These supporting artists are nearly always the most interesting people to watch in TV or films. Such an actor is John Glover, starring in the two-part NBC drama, Twist of Fate, Sunday and Monday, Jan. 8 and 9.

Glover plays Max, a former concentration camp prisoner who, with his fiancée (Veronica Hamel), unwittingly helps a Nazi SS officer (Ben Cross) who has tried to avoid prosecution as a war criminal by undergoing plastic surgery.

At this point in his career, Glover is a "face," one of those actors you recognize instantly, yet you don't know the name. Among his gallery of deftly etched characters are the defiant, humorous man dying of AIDS in An Early Frost, the spineless Richard Behrens in Nutcracker, and the "West Coast slimeball" trying to usurp Bill Murray's job in Scrooged.

The actor's most recent, and chilling, TV performance was that of the incomprehensibly brutal father in ABC's David, the true tale of a man who tried to burn his own son to death in a motel room. Now do you know who Glover is?

"One of the reasons—not the only one—that I took the part (in Twist of Fate) ... is because the guy is such a mensch," Glover told me recently. (Mensch means, loosely, a gentleman.) "I have a capacity for playing villains. Max ... is basically a saint ... and interesting at the same time. He had a lot of levels."

What's next for Glover? Several projects are on the horizon, but the next Glover work for public consumption is the long-awaited (at least by me) film version of Robert Cromier's The Chocolate War. The favorite book of many an adolescent boy, the story tells of rebellion vs. conformity at a strict Catholic boys' school. The film was produced, written and directed by actor Keith Gordon on a tiny budget.

"It was a labor of love," says Glover. The film premiered at the Chicago Film Festival in October and should begin to surface around the country this month.

Clearly, each project, in every medium is a labor of love for an artist like John Glover, an actor of enormous versatility and rare insight.

TV VISIONS

Week of January 8 through January 14

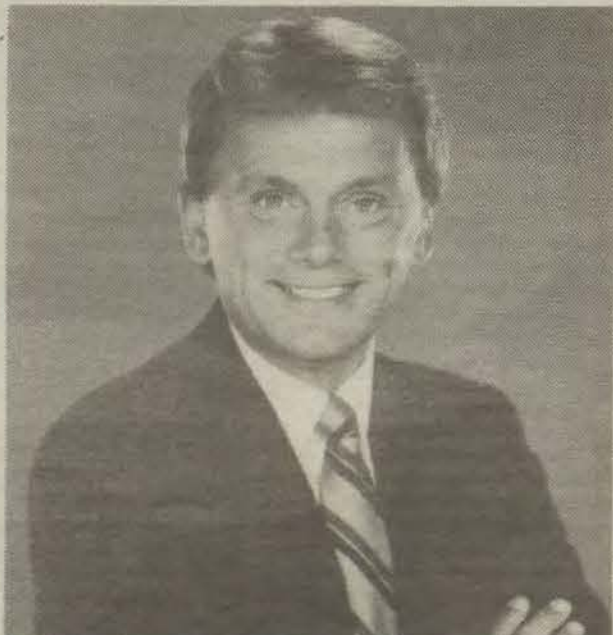

Pat Sajak's new show premieres on Monday

Host to continue nighttime 'Wheel'

By Mary Ann Townsend
Wheel Watchers, take heart. You're not losing a familiar host, you're gaining a new latenight talk show. It's true, beginning Monday, Jan. 9, Pat Sajak will no longer host the daytime version of Wheel of Fortune so that he can pursue his own CBS latenight talk show, named aptly The Pat Sajak Show. But he will still share that now-famous brother/sister chemistry with Vanna White as host of the nighttime version of the number 1-rated game show. He's hoping for chemistry of another kind on The Pat Sajak Show. On his new show, Sajak will reunite with one-time co-worker Dan Miller, who was an anchorman at WSMV-TV in Nashville when Sajak was the station's weatherman from 1972 to 1977. Sajak enjoyed their on-screen banter and the two have remained close friends ever since. "I work best when I have someone to bounce things off," says Sajak. "And you can't force that kind of chemistry. It has to be there, and with Dan at my side, it will be." Before working with Miller at WSMV, Sajak's broadcasting career had gotten off to an unusual start when he was drafted into the U.S. Army as a disc jockey for Armed Forces Vietnam in Saigon. He made his feature film debut years later as a maniacal newscaster in Airplane II—The Sequel.

Pat Sajak brings his own unique style to late night television with the premiere of his own talk show The Pat Sajak Show, Monday, Jan. 9, on CBS.

Floyd County Teachers Receive Mini-Grants

Twenty teachers from the Floyd County school system are recipients of teacher incentive grants from SACT.

SACT is a teacher mini grant program sponsored by the Floyd County Education Forum's School-Community Partnership Committee and the Floyd County Board of Education. The projects funded ranged from hands-on geometry to a mock trial. Thirty-seven teachers applied for these grants: Allen Central High School, six; Betsy Layne Elementary, 13; Betsy Layne High School, two; Garrett Elementary, one; McDowell Elementary, one; McDowell High School, four; W.D. Osborne Elementary, five; Prestonsburg Elementary, one; and Wheelwright High School, four.

The grants were awarded to: Patricia Adkins, Betsy Layne Elementary; Marilyn Barnes, Betsy Layne Elementary; Carolyn Bellamy, Garrett Elementary; Lindsay Blackburn, McDowell High School; Paula Collins, Prestonsburg Elementary; Billie Damron, Wheelwright High School; Willie Elliott, McDowell High School; King Fultz, Allen Central High School; Ernest Johnson, Wheelwright High School; Carlotta Jones, W.D. Osborne Elementary; Mack Martin, Allen Central High School;

Sherry Morris, Betsy Layne Elementary; Harold Newman, Wheelwright High School; Caralita O'Quinn, Allen Central High School; Shelia Ortega, Betsy Layne Elementary; Doris Osborne, Wheelwright High School; Mary Stumbo, Betsy Layne Elementary; Toni Sword, Betsy Layne Elementary; Joyce Watson, Allen Central High School; Patricia Watson, Allen Central High School.

These mini-grants are open to all Floyd County classroom teachers. The maximum amount of these grants is $250 and funds can be used in any manner that relates directly to the instruction of students and the activity that the teacher has in mind.

The mini-grant give the classroom teachers an opportunity to meet some of the needs of their students or try an activity that they have always wanted to do, but were unable to do so because of the lack of funds.

"I feel it one of the better partnerships we have established", said Gary Frazier, assistant superintendent of instruction, "because we are asking teachers to tell us what they want to do in their classrooms that they ordinarily would not be able to do."

Frazier says he is pleased with the number of applicants and would like to see more next year.

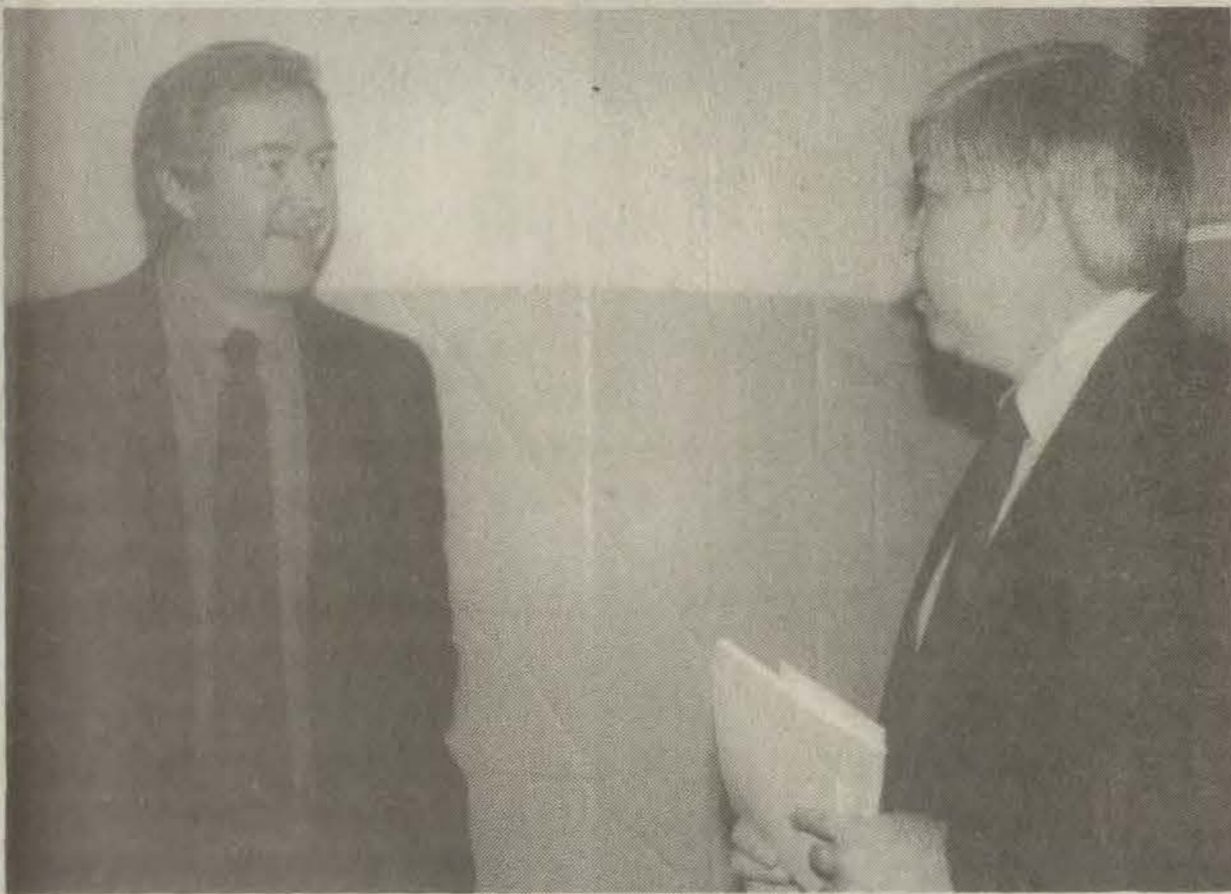

"I'm thrilled to have won," stated Joyce Watson, teacher at Allen Central High School. Watson plans on using the money to hold a math challenge competition.

Freddie Goble, co-chair of the School-Community Partnership, believes this to be an innovative program. Goble stated that in 1987, they had 11 applications, and this year they had 37.

"We are looking forward to future applications," stated Goble, "because they have such innovative, fun ideas. This is how we break the barriers down between the school and community by helping the teachers and students acquire the extra materials to make learning enjoyable."

Funding for these grants was provided by Elliott Contracting, Prestonsburg Area Rotary Club, Greg Stumbo, John David Caudill, Benny Ray Bailey, First Guaranty Bank, William G. Francis, Janet Stumbo, Ned Pillersdorf, Edward C. Music, David White, Music Carter Hughes, Barkley Sturgill, First Commonwealth Bank, R/S Truck Body Co., The Bank Josephine, Dr. James D. Adams, Thomas M. Smith, and the Floyd County Board of Education.

WHS Teacher Named To Task Force

by Malissa Hall

Ernie Johnson, a history teacher at Wheelwright High School, has been named to a state task force called the Voter Education Advisory Task Force.

The task force has been created to make Kentucky students more aware of voting procedures and the way state government operates. In a time when fewer and fewer Americans are taking advantages of the right to vote, some people believe that education of the young about these issues are especially important.

"Students should be taught how to operate a voting machine and how to vote by ballot," Johnson said. "They should also learn about what goes on in state government if we want them to take an active role in government once they leave school."

Johnson became involved in the task force after Nijel Clayton, a social studies consultant with the Kentucky Department of Education, visited Floyd County last year. Clayton was a member of the accreditation team that came to Wheelwright in 1988. After the program was organized, Clayton contacted Johnson and asked him to serve on the state task force.

The task force was created by the legislature and is made up of teachers, State Department of Education representatives, and governmental officials. About 15 to 20 people from various parts of the state serve on the task force.

The last meeting of the Voter Education Advisory Task Force was held in October in Frankfort. In this meeting, the members discussed two bills that have been drawn up by the legislature. One of the bills dealt with voter education and the mechanics of voting. The other bill was concerned with the issue of teaching a unit on state government in schools.

Garth Mine Maintenance

Paul Newsome and Billy Reynolds work on an electrical board in the mine maintenance workshop at Garth.

Garth: Mine Maintenance

Not only does Mike Fitzpatrick teach his students the skills involved in mine maintenance, he also teaches them about the essential skills to succeed in the real world.

The students in the Mine Maintenance class at Garth Vocational School learn about mine safety, equipment maintenance and other areas of mining technology, Fitzpatrick said.

But he also introduces the student to interpersonal communication and how to fill out applications and write resumes, he said.

"Students are not given the opportunity to get up and talk," Fitzpatrick said. "In my program, it's required." One way he does this is by giving oral examinations.

"It's helping a lot of the kids out," he said of his "real world" teaching.

The mine maintenance students do hands on work at their workshop at Garth and also at the simulated mine at Betsy Layne High School. All the students seem to like doing work at the mine.

"I like working in the mines," Michael Crum said. "My favorite thing to do is drive the scoop."

Students go to the mine once a month to do repair work of about every type.

Students do everything from working on electrical panels, to welding, to hydraulics, Fitzpatrick said. When he graduates from the program, "the student is ready for industry."

And the statistics seem to prove that the students are ready. The mine maintenance program has an 89 percent job placement rate, he said.

Most students said that they are looking for a job in the field when they graduate, and they like learning about the mines now at Garth.

"I like to be able to do something besides algebra or something like that," said Allen Central student Billy Reynolds.

Additional information and specific times for each workshop is available from MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at (606) 783-2632.

Simulated Mine Class Has Openings

The simulated mine program, located beside Betsy Layne High School, Betsy Layne, currently has several openings in a new class which will begin January 16, 1989.

This program is approved for all available student financial aid and also JTPA funding.

The past placement rate of this three-and-a-half month program has been excellent, according to program officials.

Contest Winner

Fifth grade students at Flemingsburg Elementary School recently competed to design a logo representing the basic character of their school.

A total of 92 entries were submitted, and the fourth and fifth grade students selected by secret ballot the winning logo. The entry of Michelle Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle C. Hicks of Taylor Mill Road, was judged to be the winner. It depicted cartoon characters in a kitchen underneath of which was stated "Flemingsburg Elementary School: Hard Work, Cooperation, and Progress Are Our Ingredients."

Hicks is a serious student who says she "usually" makes the honor roll. Her hobbies are swimming and gymnastics. When asked what she thought about school, her reply was, "School is an important part of my life because I want to learn to do everything well enough to go to college and get ready for my career. I want to be a nurse."

She is the granddaughter of Thelma Osborne of Hunter, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hicks of Langley. She is a former Floyd Countian.

Smith Wins Essay Contest

The Floyd County Community/Partnership Committee recently sponsored the Mountain Magic essay contest for Floyd County high schools.

Each high school conducted its own "in-school" competition and sent the top five selections to receive final judgment by some members of the English faculty at Prestonsburg Community College.

Leigh Ann Smith, a junior at Betsy Layne High School won first place for her essay "The Greatest Frontier."

She is the daughter of Russell and Sue Smith of Banner, and a student of English teacher Carmel Newman.

Flag of Progress

Brent Allen, director of pupil personnel for Floyd County schools, is shown giving Lonnie Stone, principal of Wheelwright High School, the Flag of Progress Award. The state Department of Education awarded Wheelwright High for its improved attendance during the 87-88 school year.

Harold Elem. Receives Award

Harold Elementary School recently received an award and was inducted into the "First Year-$1,000 Club" for the school's efforts in Jump Rope for Heart, sponsored by the American Heart Association and the Kentucky Association for Health, Physical Education Recreation, and Dance (KAHPERD).

The award was presented at KAHPERD's convention in Louisville. Dewey R. Jamerson, physical education teacher at Harold, coordinated the school's event and received the award.

According to Jamerson, "the award is given to all schools who raised over $1,000 in Jump Rope for Heart the first year the school participates in the event." Harold raised $2,033 in its first year, the most any school raised in the area in 1988. Other Floyd County Schools participating were Wayland Elementary and Martin Elementary.

Jump Rope for Heart is one of the biggest events sponsored by the American Heart Association.

"Not only are we raising money to support the work of the Heart Association, but Jump Rope for Heart promotes cardiovascular health in our children. In addition to jumping rope on the day of the event, the school receives 12 jump ropes when they register and have the opportunity to earn up to 5 percent of their total earnings in physical education equipment. This equipment can be used all year long. We feel this is important because when school budgets are cut often physical education is one of the first that gets cut," says Leslie Bryant, Northeast Division Director for the American Heart Association, Kentucky Affiliate.

Harold Elementary will not participate in Jump Rope for Heart this year.

Maude Sloan: An 88-Year-Old Whirlwind

by Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

She's driven a coal truck and a taxi. She's won a talent contest on a ship. She's talked with a US President and raised eight children, none of them her own.

To her friends at the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center, 88-year-old Maude Sloan shows no sign of slowing down.

Sloan was born Jan. 6, 1900, and has kept up with the activity of the century she ushered in.

"When they made Maudie, they made a hickory nut the squirrels shouldn't chew," says one of her friends at the senior center where she was feted with Maude Sloan Day last summer.

"She's 88, going on 15," said center director Patsy Evans, who relies on Sloan to keep the activity level high at daily gatherings.

When she's not quilting at the center, the spry octogenarian picks up pool games with her male counterparts. She has even beaten a man who won two state pool tournaments.

Her human friends look forward to her arrival at the center, and so does Toby, the German shepherd who lives at the park. The dog waits each day for the van that brings Sloan to the center and he comes to life as she gets out, Evans said.

Toby knows that his weekday mistress will take him for a walk around the park and will always have a treat. "I save half of my dinner for him," Sloan said with a giggle. At home she has two cats that "follow me everywhere," and she once had a pony she taught to bring his food pan to her.

Dancing has always been one of Sloan's passions, she requires no coaxing to get on the floor, only the echo of a dance tune.

She recounts the many times she and her husband, the late Bill Sloan, pumped a railroad hand car from their home on Caney Creek to Elkhorn City to go dancing. "When my husband and I danced, everyone else quit, because we were such good dancers," she adds.

The two practiced their eye-catching steps at home to tunes from a Victrola. "We liked fast music, but we also did the waltz," she said, suddenly breaking into a verse of "Moonlight Bay."

It was during their days on Caney Creek, when her husband ran a coal mine, that Sloan drove a coal truck.

Later, when they moved to Prestonsburg, they operated a taxi service. "They called my husband Taxi Bill," she smiled, "and me Airplane Maude because I drove so fast."

She continued to drive a car until last year when "the car broke down and I just left it."

Though they had none of their own, the Sloans raised several other people's children. Three were her brother-in-law's, one was her sister's and four were her brother's. "We kept them fed good and gave them an education," Sloan said.

In the 1930s when Gettysburg National Battlefield was dedicated, Sloan and her husband took his grandfather, T.J. Sizemore, to the Pennsylvania ceremony. Of course, the blue-eyed charmer took advantage of the opportunity to talk to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was there for the dedication.

Sloan credits her healthy longevity to keeping busy. "Working has kept me active," said the vibrant senior who worked as a nurse for 20 years for Drs. Ed and Walke Stumbo, and worked another 20 years for the Floyd County Board of Education.

Raised at Buckeye on Middle Creek, the daughter of Allen and Annie Sloan remembers that as a very young child she dug coal out of a coal bank to help the family with its winter fuel supply.

The lifelong gardener worked the fields when she was so little the only job she could do was thin new corn stalks. As soon as she was big enough, she had to hoe, and later she plowed the fields herself with a team of mules.

She still grows a garden in the yard

Is a new feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

As the holidays come to a close, the thought of cooking may come as an unpleasant one.

This week's column offers simple and hearty one-dish recipes to help ease the burden.

For those of you who enjoy cooking before, during and after the holidays, there are also recipes that require a little more time and work, but the results will be well worthwhile.

CABBAGE ROLLS

1/2 pound sweet Italian sausage, casing removed
1/2 pound ground turkey
1 medium onion, chopped
1 can (11 ounces) Campbell's Condensed Zesty Tomato Soup/Sauce
1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and drained
1 cup cooked brown rice
1 head cabbage
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar

In 10-inch skillet over medium heat, cook sausage and turkey with onion until meat is no longer pink, stirring to separate meat. Spoon off fat. Stir in 1/4 cup of the soup, spinach and rice; set aside.

In 4-quart saucepan in 6 cups boiling water, add whole head of cabbage. Cover; simmer 2 minutes or until leaves are softened. Carefully remove 8 outer leaves. Save remaining cabbage for another use.

Spoon 1/2 cup of the meat mixture into center of each cabbage leaf. Fold in sides, roll up from stem end to form a bundle. Place cabbage rolls seam-side down in same skillet.

In small bowl, combine remaining soup, water and vinegar. Pour over cabbage rolls. Cover; simmer 45 minutes or until cabbage is tender. Spoon sauce over rolls. Makes four servings.

ONE POT TUNA MACARONI

3 1/2 cups water
1 tsp. chicken-flavor instant bouillon
1 tsp. basil leaves
1/8 tsp. pepper
2 cups (about 8 ounces) uncooked elbow macaroni
1 (9-ounce) package frozen cut green beans
2 cups milk
1 (4-ounce) jar diced pimiento, drained

1 cup diced processed American cheese
1 (7-ounce) can tuna, drained and flaked
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley

In Dutch oven, bring water, bouillon, basil and pepper to boil. Gradually add uncooked macaroni so that water continues to boil.

Cover and simmer for 7 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Add beans, milk and pimiento to macaroni mixture; mix well.

Cover. Simmer 6 to 8 minutes, or until macaroni and beans are tender.

Add cheese, tuna and parsley; stir until cheese is melted.

Serve immediately.

Makes four servings.

FILET OF FISH CASSEROLE

2-3 cups slightly undercooked brown rice
1 pound flounder fillets (or other thin white fillets)

2 tsp. dry white wine or chicken low-sodium bouillon
2 medium tomatoes, cored and thinly sliced (or 1 1/2 cups canned whole tomatoes, drained and chopped)

Pepper to taste
1/3 cup onion, minced
2 tsp. garlic, minced (or 1/4 tsp. garlic powder)

1/2 tsp. thyme
3/4 cup wheat germ

Spread the rice into a lightly oiled 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle the fish with pepper to taste, and fold the fillets in half lengthwise, arranging them in a single layer over the rice. Sprinkle the fish with wine or bouillon, tomatoes, onion, garlic and thyme, sprinkling the wheat germ on top.

Bake covered, at 350 degrees for about 25 minutes. Broil 6-8 inches from the heat for about 3 minutes, until the topping is golden and the fish is opaque in the center.

This recipe yields four servings, with a fat content of 4 grams and approximately 275-320 calories per serving.

CREAMED SPINACH

2 10-ounce packages frozen leaf or chopped spinach or 2 1/2 pounds fresh, washed and stems removed
1/2 tsp. salt

2 tsp. unsalted butter
1 large onion, peeled and finely chopped

2 tsp. unsalted butter
2 tsp. unbleached all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
1/2 tsp. paprika
1/8 tsp. ground red pepper

Generous pinch of freshly ground nutmeg

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste

In a medium-size saucepan, cook the spinach according to package directions, drain well, and set it aside.

Or shake most of the water from the fresh spinach, place it and the salt in a large, deep saucepan, cover, and cook it until tender, about 5 to 7 minutes. Drain well in a strainer.

Melt 2 tsp. of butter in the saucepan over medium-high heat. When it has foamed, add the onion and saute it for 6 to 8 minutes, or until lightly colored. Combine the spinach with the onion.

Melt the remaining 2 tsp. of butter in a small saucepan over medium-low heat. When it has foamed, add the flour and beat it with a wire whisk over medium-high heat for a few minutes to cook but not brown the flour.

Pour the milk in all at once, and beat until the mixture is smooth and thick.

Add the paprika, red pepper, nutmeg, salt, and pepper; scrape this white sauce (bechamel) into the spinach-onion mixture; and stir to blend.

CREAM OF BROCCOLI SOUP

1 pound broccoli, fresh or frozen
1/4 cup onion, chopped
1/4 tsp. white pepper
1 tsp. flour
1 tsp. basil (optional)
1 1/3 cups water
1 cube or 1 tsp. low-sodium chicken bouillon
1 13-ounce can evaporated skim milk

The broccoli should be washed, trimmed, broken into small pieces and placed in a medium saucepan. Add the remaining ingredients, except the milk, to the broccoli. Cover; bring to a boil, then reduce heat and simmer the ingredients until tender, about 10 to 15 minutes.

Remove some florets, and set aside for garnish. Place the rest of the saucepan contents in a blender and puree until smooth. Return the mixture to the saucepan, stir in the evaporated milk and heat to serving temperature (do not boil). Garnish the servings with the set aside broccoli florets.

For variety, asparagus, mushrooms or zucchini can be substituted for the broccoli.

This recipe yields 4 one-cup servings, with a fat content of 1 gram and 126 calories per serving.

ROAST GARLIC

(Reproduced from Feast of Sunlight)

12 to 16 heads fresh garlic
Good quality olive oil to cover
2 to 3 tsp. fresh thyme and rosemary

1 bay leaf
12 black peppercorns

Preheat oven to 300 degrees.

Cut off the tips of the garlic heads and peel off the papery outer skin.

Arrange the heads, root side down in a pan just large enough to hold them, fitting them snugly side by side.

Pour the oil over the garlic and scatter the herbs into the oil.

Add bay leaf and peppercorns. Cover the pan with aluminum foil and bake 30 minutes.

Take the foil off, baste the heads and replace the foil.

Lower the temperature to 275 degrees and bake 30 minutes more.

Remove the pan from the oven and take off the foil.

With a pair of tongs, take the heads out of the oil and put in a bowl or pan to cool.

Strain off the olive oil and reserve for other uses.

Gently squeeze out the cloves of garlic and reserve for intended use. They can be refrigerated for up to a week.

Note: The cooking time can vary so check on the garlic from time to time as it cooks. The consistency should be such that each clove is easily pierced with a thin knife and not falling apart or soft. But if any overcook and get mushy, you can use them for other things, like a roasted garlic butter.

BEEF STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

6 tsp. all-purpose flour

2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
3 pounds stewing beef, trimmed and cut into 1-inch pieces

3 tsp. butter
2 tsp. vegetable oil
2 medium-size onions, coarsely chopped

7 cups beef broth
2 bay leaves

Dumplings

3 1/2 cups fresh bread crumbs
2 tsp. water
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
1 tsp. finely chopped parsley
1 medium-size onion, finely chopped

1/2 tsp. mace
1/2 pound mushrooms

Heat oven to 325 degrees.

Combine the flour, salt and pepper in a medium-sized bowl. Toss the beef pieces in the flour mixture, a few at a time, until they are well coated.

Heat 1 tsp. of butter with 1 tsp. of oil in a large heavy skillet over moderate heat. Add the onions and cook, stirring occasionally, until they are softened and translucent. Remove the onions from the pan with a slotted spoon and put them in a large, ovenproof casserole.

Add remaining butter and oil to the skillet and increase the heat to high. Cook the beef in the hot butter and oil, a few pieces at a time, until well browned on all sides. Once the pieces are browned, remove them from the skillet and add to the onions in the casserole.

Pour the beef broth into the skillet and stir over moderate heat, scraping the bottom and sides of the pan to loosen any browned particles.

Add the broth to the casserole along with the bay leaves. Cover and cook for 2 hours.

While the casserole is cooking, make the dumplings.

Put the bread crumbs in a medium-sized bowl and add just enough water to moisten them.

Add the beaten eggs along with the remaining ingredients and mix well.

Check the seasoning and add more salt and pepper if desired.

Roll the mixture between the palms of your hands into balls about 2 inches in diameter.

Remove the casserole from the oven and stir in the mushrooms.

Scatter the dumplings evenly over the surface of the stew so that they are partially submerged.

Return the stew to the oven and cook, covered, for an additional 30 minutes.

Remove the bay leaves before serving.

Makes 6 servings.

CHOCOLATE SILK PIE

1/4 cup light cream
6 ounces bittersweet chocolate, roughly chopped

12 tsp. (1/4 pound plus 4 tsp. or 1 1/2 sticks) unsalted butter, at room temperature

4 extra-large eggs, at room temperature, separated
2 tsp. pure vanilla extract
Pinch of salt

2 tsp. granulated sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream, very cold
One fully baked 9-inch pie shell

Put the cream, chocolate, and butter in a heavy 1-quart saucepan, set over low heat, and cook slowly until the ingredients have melted. Stir occasionally.

Once melted, remove from heat and pour into a large mixing bowl. Beat in the egg yolks, one at a time, then blend in the vanilla and salt.

Let the mixture cool to room temperature, about 30 minutes.

Beat egg whites in a deep medium-size mixing bowl until soft peaks are formed, sprinkle with sugar, and continue beating until firm but moist peaks are formed.

Stir a large spoonful of the egg whites into the cooled chocolate mixture, until the whites disappear into the chocolate. Fold through the remaining whites.

Beat the heavy cream in a small mixing bowl until firm peaks are formed, then fold into the chocolate mixture.

Pour the filling into the baked pie shell, and smooth the top lightly with a rubber spatula. Refrigerate the pie for six hours, or until the filling is firm.

TRIVIA OF THE WEEK

To win a bet for $40, Thomas Garson of Chicago ate 22 hamburgers and two quarts of ice cream in 25 minutes back in 1938.

Sloan

of her home on Town Branch and cans much of the food she eats.

Sloan remembers when the streets of Prestonsburg were "nothing but mud." In fact, she once drove a car through town, got stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out.

She also remembers when steamboats going up the river stopped at Prestonsburg. "Seems like everybody around here would come out to meet the boat," she said.

With other seniors, Sloan has taken trips to Hawaii, Mexico, Florida, New Orleans and Canada. Her counterparts frequently tease Sloan about her experiences. Evans recounts the talent show in which Sloan won a bottle of champagne during a boat trip to Nova Scotia, as well as Sloan's crowd-pleasing impromptu song and dance performance on a Boston street.

With her almost all the time is Sloan's French harp, which she readily whips from her purse when someone says "Come on, Maudie." A folksy dance tune, a swinging bluegrass melody or an original blues wail, all are subject to come out of the harmonica, accompanied by a tapping foot.

She learned to play the banjo from her mother and picked up the piano and harmonica on her own, even though she doesn't read music.

Sloan's only physical malady is an arthritic knee for which she has her own treatment. "I walk every day," she said. "The more I go the better it is."

With her sense of adventure, her goodwill and her activity, Maude Sloan is apt to walk—or dance—into the 21st century.
