Weekend Rain Causes High Water In County

by Anne Chaney, Editor

High water throughout Floyd County Monday and Tuesday threatened to flood several homes and businesses, but the runoff from the Sunday deluge crested before significant damage resulted.

According to David Chaffins of the Department for Disaster and Emergency Services, 3.02 inches of rain fell at David, and 2.89 inches in the Garrett and Wayland area — most falling between 8 a.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday.

The National Guard was put on standby Monday to assist county and state workers to clear roads.

Chaffins said the heavy rain caused mud and rock slides throughout the county, and sent water into the basements of some homes.

On Toler Creek of Mud Creek, he said, a silt pond broke and came down in and around one residence Monday about 1 a.m. State Highway Department workers began clearing the debris early Monday.

In addition, said Chaffins, some homes in the Clark Addition in the David area had water up to 3 feet deep in the basement.

However, there was a bit of a bright spot, said the DES official.

"There were two other storms that missed us — one went southeast, and the other north. If we had gotten them, we would have had another inch of rain," he explained.

Chaffins said water levels in all creeks and branches should continue to drop. Middle Creek began falling Monday, as did Left Beaver and Right Beaver. In Martin, however, at the junction of the two Beaver creeks, water rose until mid-morning Tuesday.

"Three inches of rain is a lot of water for these streams," said Chaffins, "and almost all of that fell in a 24-hour period."

Chaffins said counties must record $50,000 or more in damages before a disaster can be declared under state law. County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said Tuesday that roads, bridges and drains in the county received about $30,000 in damage; no residential or business damage estimates were available as of presstime.

"We had at least 15 or 20 slips, located all over the county," said Stumbo. Among the worst were those at Arkansas Creek and Left Beaver. In addition, state highway workers spent most of Monday working to remove a large boulder near Wayland that crashed down onto Rt. 7, blocking the road much of the day.

"This is the first flood we've had since 1984," said Stumbo, noting that the county estimated damages at $1.5 million five years ago.

The county judge said he was not aware of any homes being severely flooded, although some had water in their basements. Stumbo spent Monday and Tuesday traveling the county, checking water levels and ascertaining damages.

"I think we had most all of the roads open Monday night," he said, adding that county crews began working about 6 a.m. Monday. He said he expects the majority of all bridges and pipes to be fixed by Friday.

All schools in Floyd County were closed Monday, while others were dismissed again Tuesday.

According to Superintendent Ronald Hager, Drift Elementary received four to five inches of water in the cafeteria. Cleanup work is in progress, but the facility will have to be approved for opening by health department inspectors.

At Martin, runoff from the hill behind the school sent water into the cafeteria, but Hager said the situation was not severe.

Garrett Elementary School was not affected by the water, although mud and high water immediately around the school kept students at home Tuesday.

Hager said Maytown Elementary School received ceiling damage from the heavy rains.

The Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre amphitheatre again flooded, as it did in February during heavy rains.

At Archer Park in Prestonsburg, high water flooded much of the recreation area and did significant damage to fences and signs, according to Ralph Little, park director.

"The damage is considerable," said See WEEKEND RAIN, Page 2

Alcoholic Beverages In P'burg: Some Favor Keeping Legal Sales

by Anne Chaney, Editor

"How many bootleggers are going to ask you for an ID?"

That's one question Prestonsburg Police Chief Dickie Campbell is asking regarding a move to ban the sale of alcoholic beverages in eight precincts that encompass the city.

Campbell, who opposes a move to vote the area dry, said "hard" crime — primarily murders and thefts — has recorded a significant drop since legal sales began several years ago; he also said he has not seen an increase in overall arrests.

"It's better wet," said Campbell. "It provides revenue and jobs — the bootleggers aren't going to give you that."

The police chief added that legal sales also allow regulation of hours of operation, who may sell alcoholic beverages, and to whom beverages can be sold.

"I just don't understand why someone would want to vote dry," he said, adding, "all you have to do is drive to the city limits, and you can get all you want."

Prestonsburg attorney Bill Gordon Francis, president of the Recreation, Tourism and Convention Commission, is also concerned about a possible "dry" victory and the impact on the local economy.

Speaking as an individual, Francis said recently that "people need to be informed of the economic impact and the aspect of taxes to the city. Whether we stay wet or vote dry, there will still be alcohol in Floyd County."

Francis pointed to legal sales throughout the remainder of the county, and said the city may become a "dry island."

Citing the local economy as his major concern, Francis said that the Holiday Inn is projected to generate approximately $70,000 in revenue for the city through fees and taxes. Approximately five other retail and entertainment businesses will also be affected.

"Any time you lessen tax revenues, you have to either raise taxes or reduce services — either way, it affects the residents," said Francis.

The attorney said revenue from the sale of alcoholic beverages is used for law enforcement. Currently, at least one police officer's salary, vehicle and related equipment are funded through revenue provided by legal sales.

Francis also noted that the city's tourism industry could be adversely affected by a "dry" vote. In 1984-85, he said, the county was ranked 35th in the state in terms of tourism dollars. However, in 1986-87, Floyd jumped to 28th.

"In June 1986," he pointed out, "wine and beer could be served in the county."

That year, he added, tourists spent $13 million in the county, and spent an even greater amount — $18.1 million — in 1987. Johnson County, which is dry, lost $2 million in tourism dollars during the same period.

P'burg Receives $2.3 Million Natural Gas Bill

The Prestonsburg Utilities Commission has received a natural gas bill for $2.3 million from Kentucky West Virginia Gas, the result of a lengthy court battle between KWVG and federal officials.

Mayor Ann Latta said members of the city council will discuss the bill — and continuing litigation surrounding the issue — at the Monday, March 13 council meeting.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the council room of the Municipal Building.

According to officials, KWVG requested a rate increase in 1978 under the Natural Gas Policy Act of 1978, the much-lauded deregulation bill. KWVG did not receive the increase, resulting in years of litigation.

Federal courts ruled in 1986 that KWVG's requested increase could be applied retroactively to 1978.

However, the Energy Regulatory Commission and KWVG have been in court since 1986 to determine how the increases would be collected.

Officials said KWVG was ordered to submit a plan for billing cities directly. KWVG is asking municipalities to pay the bills by May 1, or pay the amount over a seven-year period.

Prestonsburg officials said if the city is required to pay the $2.3 million bill, it could mean a surcharge of $30 per month for more than 80 months for every customer.

The issue remains in litigation, said officials.

Natural gas customers in Wheelwright, as well as those of Columbia Gas may also be affected.

The Orange Blossom Special?

The fact that nature reclaims what man leaves is evidenced in this scraggly tree growing between the tracks on an abandoned railway in Wayland. The tree obviously isn't an orange tree, but the scene still conjures memories of the old railway song, "Look a-yonder comin', comin' down the railroad track..." The derelict track once served the dozens of coal mines that bustled on Right Beaver Creek decades ago. Today there are no loaded coal cars to disturb nature's quiet reclamation.

Hydrocarbon Shutdown 'Temporary,' Officer Says

Kentucky Hydrocarbon plants in Langley and Dwale are operating on skeleton crews while their only customer slows down for maintenance, according to company president Gerald W. Dyson.

Workers at the two Floyd County locations have been laid off since last Thursday, but are expected to go back to work by March 20, Dyson said from his office in Pittsburgh, Penn., where the parent company, Equitable Resources, is located.

About 30 employees are out of work, without pay, as a result of the shutdown at the two plants. The supervisory staff is maintaining the operations until Ashland Oil Refineries in Catlettsburg completes its periodic equipment maintenance, termed a "turnaround" in the industry, according to Dyson.

Ashland, said Dyson, is the sole purchaser of Kentucky Hydrocarbon's natural gas liquids, which are extracted from processed gas at the local plants. Dyson said the decision to start operations back up will depend on when the refinery is ready to use the product again, "probably March 20."

At least one employee said some workers fear permanent job loss. The employee, who asked not to be identified, said automation of some functions could cost jobs at the plant, which is represented by Oil, Chemicals and Atomic Workers Industrial Union.

He also said that company officials have told employees that if the company is unsuccessful in getting a price increase from Ashland, the plants may be closed permanently. Some of the estimated 28 union members fear the negotiations with Ashland are "a ploy to scare the union," said the employee, who added that the company "is one of the best employers around with good benefits and top pay."

The Langley plant is 31 years old, and the Dwale plant is in its sixth year of operation, Dyson said.

State Lottery 'Satellite' Center Picks Up Downtown Location

A North Lake Drive building will serve as the location of the Kentucky Lottery satellite office for the southeastern region of the state.

The Kentucky Lottery Corp. board, meeting last week, designated four regional offices and three satellite offices — including Prestonsburg — for the gaming which may begin next month.

The local office will be at 7 North Lake Drive in a space formerly occupied by Mountain Press. The building is owned by Franklin D. Fitzpatrick.

Lottery officials originally said there would be seven regional offices, but apparently decided the population base was not great enough in Prestonsburg. Ashland and Bowling Green to justify a larger staff. The satellite offices, according to Rep. Greg Stumbo, will employ about five persons initially, while the regional offices will have a staff of 10-12 persons.

Stumbo said Lottery President Frank Keener told him the offices "will have no different roles." The goal will be the same, Stumbo said. "They will all still be service centers for the lottery."

Fitzpatrick said finishing touches on the office space should be made by the end of this week and that he expects lottery personnel to move in by the end of the month.

The Prestonsburg office will apparently be subordinate to the regional office in Lexington. Other regional offices will be in Covington, Louisville, and Henderson.

According to lottery officials, the local office will serve retailers who will sell the game's instant winner "scratch off" tickets as the lottery revs up. Other games will be available later.

Local persons who wish to apply to be retailers of lottery games have until Friday to get completed applications into the lottery office in Louisville. Applications are available at the sheriff's office.

Edythe Carter, State's First Female Mayor, Passes Away

Edythe Lake Wyrick Carter, the first female mayor in Kentucky, died Sunday, March 5, at Highlands Regional Medical Center following an extended illness.

Carter, 91, of Prestonsburg, was appointed mayor of Prestonsburg in 1937.

She was born Nov. 22, 1897 in Bluefield, W. Va., a daughter of James H. and Grace Rogers Wyrick. Her husband, A.C. Carter, preceded her in death Feb. 14, 1962. He was a former mayor of Prestonsburg.

Carter was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg, and was the first female mayor in Kentucky. In addition, she was a Kentucky Colonel, a member of the Order of the 35th Star of the State of West Virginia.

She is survived by two sons, Jack Carter and James Carter, both of Prestonsburg; four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, March 7, at 2 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg with the Rev. Dr. Quentin Scholtz and Dr. Harold Dorsey officiating. Burial followed in the Mayo Cemetery in Prestonsburg under the direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Serving as pallbearers were James Carter II, Michael Allen, Alan Carter Roberts, James Carter III, Dick Dickerson, Paul Nash, Bill Callihan, Robert Hughes, Fred James and David Hereford.

Weekend Rain

Little Tuesday afternoon. "We still can't get to it to find out for sure, but fences and signs are washed out, and there is a lot of debris."

Little said the parking area will be covered with mud when waters recede, and that a pump will have to be rented to clean the area.

"We'll also have to repair and replace fences," said Little. He said the cleanup costs will depend on the amount of work that can be done by city employees.

In some places at the park, water was 4 to 5 feet deep. Much of the damage, said the park director, was because the water "came so hard and fast; it was extremely swift."

Little said that the April 1986 flood waters were two feet higher at the park, but were not as destructive.

Cleaning debris will be another major undertaking, he added, noting that the area has not flooded for more than two years — leaving, in essence, two years' worth of litter washed out of branches and hollows into Middle Creek.

"We're able to see a little more each hour, and I don't like what I see," noted the director. "It will take us a month to clean it all up."

While the park's recreational season does not begin until May, allowing time for cleaning, some high school baseball games could have to be rescheduled, he said.

Board Cuts Personnel, Votes To Close 2 Schools

By Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

Floyd County School Board approved a set of recommendations Wednesday, March 1, that involve reduction of personnel and closing of two schools and could result in a savings of $900,000.

Superintendent Ron Hager presented the recommendations, saying "I see no alternative but to make these recommendations." Hager said the steps represent "a directive to me," referring to the State Department of Education's intervention in the local school system.

The directive calls for the elimination of three administrative staff positions, 10 classroom teachers, seven full-time maintenance workers, 21 custodial workers, an administrative clerical staff member, as well as several teacher aides, cooks, mechanics and bus drivers.

Salaries of system personnel account for 77 percent of the budget, which is an unacceptable level, according to the state.

A special meeting to discuss the personnel changes is set for March 14 at 6 p.m. at the Board of Education building.

This will also be the final year for classes at Drift and Spruce Pine elementary schools. The closing of the two schools, which together have fewer than 80 students, should save the system between $80,000 and $115,000, Hager said.

Although the school closings were included in the list of state recommendations, they were voted on separately before the list was presented. Board members Tommy Boyd and Ray "Shag" Campbell voted against the measure, with Boyd commenting on the effect of the closing on the children. "I can't see a little 6-year-old getting up at 4:30 in the morning and standing out for a bus," Boyd said.

Hager said that with the savings from the closings new bus routes might be added to accommodate students in the effected areas.

Before the state recommendations were introduced, CPA Stephen Allen presented the board with an independent audit report in which he projected a $137,000 deficit for the system at the close of the fiscal year. The figure is "close" to the state's estimated deficit for the system, according to Robert Gover, who represented State School Superintendent John Brock at the meeting.

Gover recommended that the board pass a resolution declaring that an emergency exists in reference to the projected budget deficit. He explained that the resolution "lets the state know that there may be a deficit" at the end of the year. The resolution passed.

In other business, the board voted to discontinue school-sponsored senior trips after this year. Hager cited the difficulty of getting liability insurance for such trips, adding that the district's insurance covers only athletic and academic travel.

Board chairman Dr. James Adams questioned the impact on the sophomore and junior students who started raising money for senior trips as freshmen. Hager replied that the money might go into scholarship funds.

Adams also asked if the matter had been discussed with the high school principals. "For the last 15 years," Hager answered, indicating that the issue has been under consideration for some time. Boyd and Campbell opposed the motion.

The board unanimously passed a motion to approve a partnership agreement between Prestonsburg Community College and Prestonsburg High School. Termed a "pilot project," the proposed program addresses the dropout problem, Hager said, adding that if the program is successful, it can be "replicated throughout the system."

Hager also asked for board permission to submit a grant proposal "to seek money for an alternative school" that would address the needs of dropouts, students "at risk", and those having difficulty in regular school programs. Hager said the proposal will have a day care component and provide for classes through 9:30 p.m. to accommodate a variety of students. He stressed that the program would not compete with the David School and that staff members have been working with Dan Greene, director of the private alternative school, on the proposal.

The board okayed the project.

The superintendent also recommended dropping the district's audit contract with the Linton Co. of Pikeville and contracting with the accounting firm of Allen, England and Hensley of Prestonsburg. He said the change would result in a savings of $201. The board supported the recommendation with Boyd and Campbell recording no votes.

The board was in agreement in replacing Mike Ousley as attorney for its dealings with the state. Approval was given for retaining Attorney John Prather Jr. of Somerset.

Hager drew board members' attention to the monthly attendance report for this year by stating that "another bad day of flu would put us below state guidelines." Hager added that the report to date for this year is behind last year's report.

All five high schools and one elementary school have average daily attendance records of below the 93.5 percent figure which contributed to state intervention in the system earlier this year, Hager said. Attendance averages of below 91 percent were recorded for Allen Central and Betsy Layne high schools, with the other three high schools falling below 93 percent. Melvin Elementary School reported 93.3 percent attendance.

The same concern was raised in the public input section of the meeting before the formal meeting began by Brent Allen, director of pupil personnel. "It would be embarrassing if the ADA is less after (state) intervention than before," Allen said.

Addressing Gover, Allen said that since the date of the intervention, "we have had not one person to come by our office to give guidance. When might they (state personnel) help us with this problem?"

Board member Dr. Mary Hall said she had asked Superintendent Brock what the state intends to do about the attendance report, "and he said he didn't know."

Board vice chairman James Duff asked Allen what he perceived the problem to be. "Teachers, principals and the directors of pupil personnel have done their jobs," Allen replied, explaining that charges are being brought against parents for not requiring their children to attend school. "The county attorney puts it on the docket, the sheriff serves the papers, but there has never been one fine or one day of incarceration in Floyd County for five years" (for parents).

Pointing out the system's double bind, Allen said that stricter attendance policies will probably result in higher dropout rates.

Patricia Barnett, teacher and Floyd County Education Association member, asked when the board's new policy manual becomes effective. Hager said that the manual has gone to the Kentucky School Boards Association. She recommended that FCEA representatives be allowed to review the finished version and have input. Board members agreed.

The board later voted to adopt the new policy manual, rescinding all old policies and endorsing the new policies the manual contains.

The board also approved a plan to provide a breakfast program throughout the district. Hager said the program would not require additional personnel and money.

A proposal to implement a summer lunch program at 12 school sites also passed. "We have some students who have their best meal of the day at the school," Hager said.

The board granted permission to Assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier to apply for grant money for an in-service, summer program that would extend their certification. The program, if funded, would allow teachers with certification for grades 7-12 to obtain credentials "down through grade five" to adapt to the middle school concept.

Board members cleared up a past oversight by agreeing to reduce the salaries of two former coaches who have been receiving coaching supplements. Hager did not indicate how long the former coaches had been receiving the extra pay, nor did he name them. He said they had "automatically" received the salaries because they had not been informed by a mandated specific date of the change in pay.

In another salary matter, the board voted to reduce the salary and responsibility of five vocational staff members by reducing the term of their contracts from 12 to 10 months. Campbell and Boyd opposed the move.

Nurse Jennifer Martin presented an American Heart Association program to be incorporated into elementary school health curricula, which board members approved. The program, which is free, includes kits with posters, games, tapes and other teaching aids.

In an apparent attempt to discourage another "sickout" as last fall when many teachers stayed home to protest salary levels, the board adopted new policies on sick leave. Henceforth, teachers who are absent when regular school is in session must present a valid excuse.

It was also decided that 14 schools will have to make up Oct. 13, the day of the alleged "sickout." Five county schools apparently were open all day, but failed to record attendance in the morning and afternoon. They include Allen Central and Betsy Layne high schools and Clark, Martin and Maytown elementaries.

Also having to make up the day are nine schools which apparently did not start school, even though some were open. They are Wheelwright High School and Allen, Betsy Layne, Stumbo, Melvin, Prater, Spruce Pine, Wayland and Osborne elementary schools.

Veterans Assistance Available in Martin

Disabled American Veterans service officer Mitchell Shepherd will be in Martin on Friday to assist veterans or their dependents in obtaining benefits.

Shepherd will be at Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Vietnam veterans bonus forms will also be available at that time.

Shepherd said persons seeking assistance should bring their DD214 forms, as well as marriage licenses and birth records of underage children, where appropriate.

Sears Rolling Back Item Prices

Sears, Roebuck and Co. is rolling back prices on more than 50,000 items it was announced recently.

Mark Thornburg, manager of Sears catalog store in Prestonsburg, said lower prices have been established for all Sears catalogs and retail stores effective Wednesday, March 1.

"We are sending a 112-page price list to all of our catalog customers today," he said, "giving them the new prices on items in our 1989 annual Home, hardware, Auto and Leisure catalog and first issue of our Style catalog. All of our future catalogs will reflect the new policy as they are printed."

"If a customer orders from an existing catalog, they will receive the new everyday low price automatically," Thornburg said.

Letters To The Editor

Radio Remarks Inappropriate, Says Listener

Dear Editor,
For the second year, I believe Dale McKinney of WMDJ owes Wheelwright High School an apology.

During Thursday's game with the Lady Trojans playing the Lady Bobcats, one of our girls injured her hand. Mr. McKinney made the remark — on the air — "Well, she's not going to get the attention she expected, so I guess play will continue." Talitha Hutton does have an injured hand — the referee himself thought it might be broken. The remark was unnecessary, thoughtless and rude.

In the 1987-88 year, Mr. McKinney remarked, after seeing Steve Cole, one of our players, that "he looks like he should be in the field behind a plow instead of on the basketball court." This was not a remark that should have been made. We try very hard to teach our students respect and courtesy, as well as academic studies and sportsmanship. It would be most rewarding if men in a position such as Mr. McKinney's could have learned this.

There's an old, but good adage: "If you can't say something good, don't say it!"

Sincerely,
Doris Osborne

Parents Angered By Commentary On Local Station

Dear Editor,
We have someone who is making inefficient use of radio time. He is going out of his way to defame the character of our children. Before he makes his slanderous remarks, he should take a long look at himself, for we find him incapable of appreciating talent, true talent, which he has none.

We hope everyone will join us in tuning this repugnant man off, for he cannot report sports collectively even through direct observation. Let's stand behind all our young people and support them through their learning years. It's tough enough without being verbally abused on the radio.

So, with style, let us ignore; turn that dial, hear no more!

Visiting Fan Upset By P'burg High Lack Of Sportsmanship

Dear Editor,
With a love of basketball, I attended the Prestonsburg against Paintsville game on Tuesday, Feb. 21, and witnessed the worst display of sportsmanship I have ever seen.

The Prestonsburg fans threw toilet paper onto the floor and at the Paintsville players. They used terrible language and gestures.

Many small children and their families were there to perform and show their support. What they received in return was a disgrace to the fine tradition of Eastern Kentucky basketball!

If this tradition persists at Prestonsburg High School, then parents of small children should be warned ahead of time that these games are rated "R" so kids will not grow up believing this kind of conduct is the norm.

Sportsmanship should always prevail.

Sincerely,
J. Mullins,
Paintsville

(Robert May, Prestonsburg High School principal, said he attended the Paintsville-Prestonsburg game, and did not see toilet paper thrown, nor did he hear or see obscene language or gestures.)

Right or Wrong

By Marty Backus

For the second time in as many weeks, a coal truck has overturned at the US23 intersection in Prestonsburg. The latest occurred early Saturday morning when a truck reportedly lost its brakes, went out of control and struck three cars stopped at the traffic light.

This time, only minor injuries were reported. But how long is it going to be before the state defuses this potential keg of dynamite? Granted, a contract may be let this summer to fix up this intersection, but what until then?

Had this last mishap occurred on a weekday, there's no telling how many cars, OR SCHOOL BUSES, would have been stopped at this intersection. What then?

A pretty rough ad appeared in

The Floyd County Times last week. I took the ad from a gentleman who identified himself, but because of the language in the ad, I asked for more information about him.

Wouldn't you guess it: after the ad was printed, another man showed up saying he had the same name as the person who purchased the ad — and he wasn't real happy.

Luckily for me, a phone call to the man who actually placed the ad revealed that Floyd County has two men with the same, not-so-common name.

While on the subject of politics, it seems the election is still on the fairly quiet side. However, some stirring in the county attorney race has been noticed, and according to one or two who claim to know Floyd County politics, it's going to get better.

Still waiting for some action from some other candidates in the sheriff's race. But if you think about it, the election is still two and a half months away. There's plenty of time for good ole hard-hitting campaigning.

If you've noticed, The Floyd County Times' print is clearer and easier to read. This is all part of a recent purchase of Desktop Publishing computers for the editorial, advertising and composing departments. It's just part of today's computer technology and the FCT has just brought itself up to date.

Incidentally, we are proud to say that everything purchased by the newspaper for this rather expensive undertaking was purchased from folks right here in Floyd County.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510

FLOOD-RELIEF EFFORTS DESERVE PRAISE

State and federal officials still are working to assess all of the flood damage in Kentucky and make sure that help is made available to qualifying individuals, businesses and institutions across the state.

My office is continuing to monitor relief efforts in the wake of some of the worst flooding Kentucky has seen in recent years. I can assure you that the efforts made so far deserve only the highest praise, and I am confident that this fine work will continue until the job is done.

The good work started with Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson's timely move for a disaster declaration from the President, and it has continued with the very effective efforts of local and state Disaster and Emergency Services organizations.

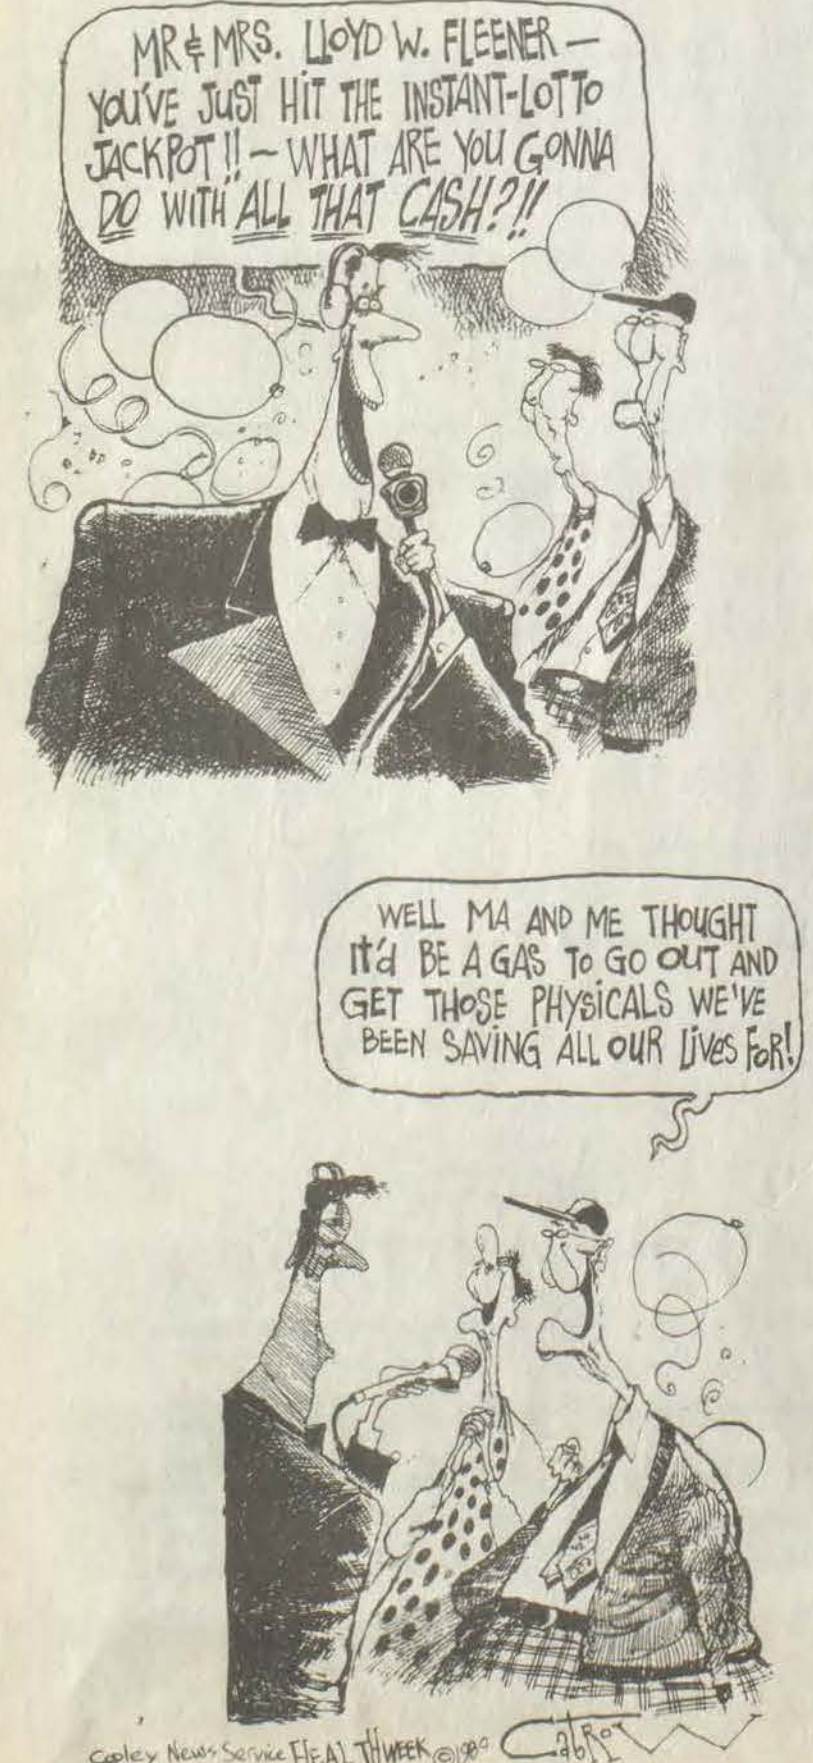

Praise is due not only to the leadership and staff of DES and the Kentucky National Guard but also to all of the National Guard members and others who have lent a hand in this difficult situation. City and county officials have responded extremely well, as have the Red Cross and other volunteer organizations.

If you believe that you were damaged by the flooding and related problems, be sure to report this information and make a disaster claim at one of the Disaster Application Centers now in operation.

Should it be impractical or impossible for you to reach a Disaster Application Center, you should use the toll-free "disaster hot line" that has been established for a 60-day period. The hot line number is 1-800-248-0068.

If you have suffered damages, you should take special care to document your recovery efforts and expenses. Photographs and receipts for expenses will be used to substantiate your claims to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Small Business Administration or other organizations.

If you are responsible for a government agency or non-profit organization that has sustained flood damage, you should be aware that documentation is just as important in these cases as in any others. If you cannot provide proof of your losses, you might find it very difficult or impossible to obtain assistance.

Problems For Wayland Board Aren't 'Major', But Bothersome

The Wayland town board at its Saturday meeting continued to discuss solutions to the gnawing problems of police vehicles, stray animals, drainage and clean up that have dogged the town for some time.

"Our problems are really not major, but they're such that we don't have the money to deal with them," Mayor Pat Murphy told the board at its regular monthly meeting. She added that "we are beginning to see some light."

In response to the need for a new police cruiser, Murphy reported that funds for the vehicle may be forthcoming through Big Sandy Area Development District. She said the town should know about funding within "eight to 10 weeks."

The board members, all of whom were present, voted to buy a replacement cage for the present cruiser. The cage, which separates the police officer from prisoners, was heavily damaged during a recent arrest. Police Chief Mack Stewart was instructed to get bids for a replacement.

The board also agreed to seek restitution for the damaged cage.

Continuing complaints about stray dogs in the town prompted a report from board member Gene Mullins, who said he had talked with an attorney about the town's responsibility in the matter. Mullins said he was advised that if a dog "doesn't have a tag with the owner's name and phone number, it's a stray." He added that the town "has the right to destroy the animal any way you see fit."

Board members agreed to invite an attorney to the next meeting to clarify the issue formally. They also discussed the possibility of giving dog owners the opportunity to register their animals during the regularly scheduled rabies clinic in June.

The problem of adequate water drainage in the town was also brought up again. Culverts filled with run-off from slate dumps in the upper end of town prevent rain water from draining properly. The backed up water then runs into streets and clogs septic systems, board members said.

"There's not a thing the city can do about the drainage," the mayor said. "We have dredged (the streams and culverts) before, but it was a burden on the budget and took all of our reserves to do it."

Murphy reported that she has had indications that federal money has been allocated to "clean out the hollow," but the board has received no official word. A clean up, board members agreed, would need to include getting rid of the slate dumps created years ago by mining in the area.

The board okayed reimbursing Police Chief Stewart for supplies he was required to purchase for his participation in state Department of Criminal Justice training. Stewart said the board can apply for reimbursement from the department for the expenditure of just over $63.

Board members also expressed concern over Kentucky Power Co.'s failure to clear away downed trees and debris cut for the company's right of way on the hill above Steele's Creek. Murphy said heavy rains could wash the logs into the creek, causing further drainage problems.

In a financial report to the board, clerk Carol Stapleton said that "city taxes have been coming in real well, but auto sticker fees are not." She asked board members to remind citizens that they have until April 15 to purchase the stickers without a penalty. City reserves amount to about $6,000, she said.

Questions were raised about the town's required annual audit. The clerk reported that an auditor with Allen, England and Hensley told her that an audit does not have to be completed for towns "with such a minute budget amount over $25,000." Murphy instructed Stapleton to request from the auditor a statement to that effect in writing.

The board also instructed the clerk to send a copy of the town ordinances on parking, loading and delivery to the new East Kentucky Medical Services clinic in town.

Murphy promised the board members to try to arrange a meeting between the board and representatives of Big Sandy ADD to discuss ways to fund needed projects.

The next meeting of the town board is April 1 at noon at the Town Hall.

Floyd Jury Finds State Senator Not Guilty

By Bryan Wilkins
East Kentucky Bureau

Prestonsburg, Ky.—State Senator Jim Hammond was found not guilty Wednesday on a charge of reckless homicide arising from a multi-vehicle accident that left one man dead last fall.

After two hours of deliberation the 12 Floyd Circuit Court jurors returned the unanimous not guilty verdict.

The charge against Hammond grew out of a wreck which occurred September 13, 1977 on Ky. 114 near Derosssett, 52.

He was fatally injured and court testimony showed that Hammond had just completed passing two cars including the Derosssett vehicle, when an oncoming truck owned by Power Line Construction Co., Campton, went out of control on the road shoulder, came across the road, hit the rear of Hammond's car and collided head-on with the Derosssett vehicle.

that the truck was already out of control after hitting a guardrail when it brushed the Hammond car and hit the Derosssett car.

The prosecution which was handled by Fayette Commonwealth Attorney Larry Roberts, based its case on the testimony of the driver of the first car Hammond passed. Roberts attempted to show that Hammond had enough time and space to pull in behind the Derosssett vehicle, rather than pass it.

Hammond testified Wednesday that he did not see the oncoming truck until he had completed passing the Derosssett car.

Hammond also testified Wednesday that as soon as he saw the truck, he saw lumber fly out of it, indicating that it had hit the guardrail.

Hutchinson testified Wednesday that paint samples he found on the guardrail came from the truck. The guardrail was 180 feet from the site of the collision, he said.

A crowd of Hammond supporters and family let a cheer when the verdict was read by Special Judge Montgomery Circuit Judge Caswell P. Lane.

In all, seven witnesses testified during the trial. A Kentucky State Police trooper testified Tuesday that an accident investigation indicated Hammond's passing did not precipitate the accident.

Derosssett was killed and his wife was seriously injured. Hammond's car plunged over a road embankment and the senator suffered minor injuries.

EKB Closes Portion Of Operation

Glass bottles are akin to dinosaurs at East Kentucky Beverage Company's Pikeville plant, which shut down its bottling operations Feb. 24.

The sharp decline in demand for soft drinks in glass bottles prompted the decision, according to John DuPuy III, company president.

About 32 jobs have been lost as a result of the elimination of the glass bottle operation, said DuPuy, who added that "every effort will be made to place all employees affected by this change into other industry jobs within the area."

DuPuy, who said his family has operated a bottling plant in Pikeville since 1931, said the company retains about 160 full-time employees.

In a separate announcement, four men, including a Harold resident, have been promoted in management at East Kentucky Beverage Company's three area distribution centers.

Herb Arquette of Harold is the new vice president for operations for the company's three locations in Pikeville, Paintsville and Hazard. He is former operations manager for the Pikeville division. He and his wife Patricia are the parents of one daughter and two sons.

Charles Boston Jr., former vice president and general manager of the Pikeville and Paintsville operations, has been promoted to senior vice president of the company's three centers. He and his wife Faye live in Paintsville with their two daughters.

Danny Feltner has taken over as vice president for marketing for the company. He has been marketing manager for the Pikeville and Paintsville operations since 1987. The parents of two children, he and his wife Jennifer Susan live in Hazard.

Promoted to vice president for sales for the company was Bonell Whitaker, a Hazard resident. With the company since 1958, he is former sales manager for the Hazard plant. He and his wife Irene have one daughter and a grandchild.

The company, with administrative offices in Lexington, distributes Pepsi-Cola, Seven-Up and Dr Pepper in 13 Eastern Kentucky counties.

Coal Counties Get Bulk In Severance Tax Plan

Lexington, Ky., Thursday Morning, February 12, 1976

Herald Frankfort Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Kentucky's coal-producing counties will receive the bulk of $106 million Gov. Julian M. Carroll will recommend in a biennial coal severance tax package, a Floyd County senator said yesterday.

Sen. Jim Hammond, D-Prestonsburg said while the plan has not been "finalized" and is "subject to adjustment" Carroll is committed to the basic parts of the far-reaching economic development package. Carroll is expected to announce the package early next week.

Hammond is one of several key officials and legislators from coal-producing counties who have been negotiating a severance tax revenue sharing formula with Carroll.

The youthful Floyd County legislator said it will be based on a fixed percentage of the severance tax — probably 25 per cent of the levy's total revenues.

Except for the $16 million for the electric bill sales tax removal proposal, and $12 million for economic development plan for all 120 counties, Hammond explained, the remaining $78 million will go to the coal counties or coal related programs.

Under a 1974 law the coal producing counties enacted only as a result of a House rebellion against former Gov. Wendell H. Ford, coal counties got half of the severance tax revenue above budget estimates in 1973-74 and 1974-75. This amounted to $33.5 million, some of which is still being allocated.

Hammond said the $78 million in Carroll's package going for coal programs or to the coal counties includes $14 million in the biennium to help finance the occupational disease fund. This is designed to reduce the workers' compensation burden for coal and other Kentucky industries.

Much of the occupational disease fund goes to pay for black lung claims. Both the coal and other industries have been concerned about the increasing burden such claims have placed on them.

Other Programs

Hammond said there are two other program expenditures in the package.

• $30 million in the biennium will go to coal counties under the rural secondary roads and county road aid programs. This money will be in addition to what the counties get currently under the program. Additional money will be distributed at the same percentage used to figure severance tax shares.

• $10 million in the biennium will go for specified economic development purposes and will be allocated by county committees or councils in each coal county.

Hammond said Carroll will ask an outright prohibition against county franchise taxes on coal. Several counties have enacted such taxes and a test case of a 10 cents per ton tax is currently pending before the Kentucky Supreme Court.

But coal county officials and legislators generally think such taxes only feasible if coal operators were given a credit on severance taxes to offset the cost of the local tax.

Sweeteners

While the $24 million for what Carroll calls "reconstruction of Ky. 80" stands out as a major program for Eastern Kentucky, informed sources indicated there will be "sweeteners" for Western Kentucky in Carroll's economic package as well.

Part of that is expected to come from the $12 million for economic development by all 120 counties.

Expected to be closely tied to this is the $12 million in the biennium Carroll previously said will go in the form of categorical grants to all counties for such items as convention centers, airports, riverports, industrial development and health. These grants would be matched by local governments on a formula which Carroll hasn't revealed yet.

The categorical grant program's main difference with the $12 million program in the package is that grants are one-time expenditures to be appropriated from the actual and anticipated surplus

Most Severance Money To Coal Counties

ities will get from the severance tax package to be spent on coal haul roads, rural roads leading to the major city or cities in rural and/or mountainous counties.

The $10 million economic development plan for the coal counties Hammond said, will be administered a county council or committee in each of the approximately 45 coal-producing counties.

The councils will be composed of the county judge, the mayor of largest city in the county, two local citizens Carroll would appoint and one representative elected by all school boards in the county.

Hammond said the money could be spent only for educational needs, solid waste disposal, sewerage districts, water districts, and "capital improvements." The ADDE would help local governments develop programs and obtain federal matching funds.

Hammond said the program was worked out in meetings Carroll had with legislators and officials from coal counties. Representatives from the coal industry from the non-coal-producing counties on other aspects of his economic development package.

Some key legislators who participated in the negotiations beside Hammond include Sens. Kelsey Friend, D-Pikeville; Bert Ed Pollitte, D-Hartsville; Kenneth Gibson, D-Madisonville; Woodrow Stamper, D-West Liberty; William L. Sullivan, D-Henderson; and Lowell Hughes, D-Ashland and Page Siskey

While the coal industry, for example, could not be expected normally to look favorably on a severance tax increase, it is interested in getting relief on its occupational disease burden. Some segments of the industry have already voiced opposition to a severance tax hike. But it is not known if this was before Carroll committed himself to the far-reaching package for the coal regions.

One source listed Carroll's economic development plans will include a major "sweetener" project for Jefferson County.

Working Within System Paid Off

By RAY COHN
Herald Frankfort Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A 31-year-old freshman Floyd County senator has discovered working within the system pays off.

Sen. James Hammond, D-Prestonsburg, came to Frankfort determined to get an economic development plan for his poverty stricken district.

Hammond ran on a platform which pledged to work for continued coal severance tax money rebates to the coal-producing counties.

When the 1976 General Assembly convened many legislators were nervous about prospects for continued revenue sharing from the severance tax on coal.

Cooled Colleagues

But Hammond retained his faith in Carroll's commitment to the coal counties. Mindful of his freshman status, he cooled some of his more militant coal region legislators.

Even more important, he got together with veteran legislators who were genuinely interested in working with the governor on a severance tax program for their regions.

Key figures in this group included Sens. Kelsey Friend, D-Pikeville; Bert Ed Pollitte, D-Hartsville; Kenneth O. Gibson, D-Madisonville; Woodrow Stamper, D-West Liberty; William L. Sullivan, D-Henderson, and Lowell Hughes, D-Ashland.

House members like Rep. Sidney Adams, D-Litcarr, and James "Jitter" Allen, D-Martin, later joined many of these sessions.

While the mood of Dawshere, Freeman and some of the other hard-liners grew more militant, Hammond and the veteran legislators grew closer to agreement with Carroll.

End Result

The $106 million severance tax package which will give the bulk of the money to coal-producing counties is the end result Hammond said yesterday while it hasn't been "finalized" Carroll is committed to its basic parts.

Coal Judges Want Added Tax Hike

By RAY COHN
Herald Frankfort Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A delegation of coal county judges met with Gov. Julian M. Carroll yesterday and pushed for one-half per cent severance tax increase beyond any tax the governor is contemplating.

Hammond was quoted as saying the plan was "not finalized" and was subject to adjustment.

Carroll told the group promoting the reconstruction of Ky. 80 the same day Hammond's report appeared the plan "does not represent a plan I am proposing."

Many of the judges seen in yesterday's delegation were active in the coal coalition. Among them were Breathitt County Judge Nim Henson, Bell County Judge Willie Hendrickson, and Perry County Judge Babe C. Noplis.

Senate Passes Ky. 80 Finance Bill

By RAY COHN
Herald Frankfort Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky. — An administration coal severance tax package bill to finance "resource recovery roads," such as Ky. 80, passed the Senate unanimously yesterday.

There was no debate on the measure and no amendments to deal with the objections Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, raised when the House considered it last week and in interviews with the Herald.

The bill passed 35 to 0.

Clarke, the chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee contends the bill, along with a companion measure raising the severance tax, would allow an unlimited amount of the tax's money to be pledged for construction of "resource recovery roads."

10 Per Cent Limit

Clark tried unsuccessfully to limit the amount of severance tax money that could be pledged for "resource recovery roads" to 10 per cent of the tax. No such effort was made in the Senate.

McClure has said the 10 per cent limit would not be enough to pay for Ky. 80, but Clark said later he was more interested in having a fixed ceiling than necessarily fixing it at 10 per cent.

Sen. Jim Hammond, D-Prestonsburg, the floor manager of the bill, went out of the way to attempt to show the definition of "resource recovery roads" would require that they be coal haul roads.

Hammond later said he did this to show the "legislature's intent" was that to be financed under this act a road must carry "significant" coal haul truck traffic.

Press Club Votes Hammond Outstanding Freshman Senator

Floyd County not only was a big winner at the late General Assembly session in the application of a portion of coal severance tax to construction of a new KY 80—it also produced two of the top figures in the Senate and a Housemember who worked closely with the governor on the severance legislation.

Senator Jim Hammond, Prestonsburg Democrat, who was one of the authors of the coal severance tax package, was named the outstanding freshman senator by Capitol Press Club. Hammond was Senate floor manager for the bill, and was named outstanding Democrat by the state Democratic Executive Committee. The 31-year-old senator is an attorney here and formerly was a teacher.

Senate Votes Tax On N-Wastes Taken To Maxey Flats

The Courier-Journal Bureau

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Senate yesterday passed a bill to levy a 10 cent-a-pound tax on radioactive wastes delivered to the Maxey Flats disposal site in Fleming County.

The site is operated by Nuclear Engineering Co. of Louisville on land leased from the state. A company official told the Senate Rules Committee Wednesday that such a tax would "put us out of business" at Maxey Flats.

"I don't think that's true," Sen. Jim Hammond, D-Prestonsburg, told the Senate yesterday when asked about the official's statement.

Hammond said House Bill 838 is backed by Gov. Julian Carroll's administration.

The passage vote was 28 to 1. Earlier, however, the bill barely got out of the Rules Committee, gaining only the minimum six votes necessary to reach the Senate floor.

The tax would be paid by the processor of the waste but would be collected by the disposal-site operator, Nuclear Engineering.

In Memory of

Billie Collins

Who passed away March 5, 1988

Sister, you are in heaven, this I surely know. Why, God has even told me so.

I look toward heaven and there you are, you are the brightest morning star. On your headstone there is a white dove, it is a symbol of peace and love. We miss you so much words cannot say, but we will meet again in heaven someday.

I will look for an angel, white robe and a crown, even a halo might be found. God has taken you home to rest, as we both know, He only takes the best.

YOUR SISTER, BRENDA SLONE

Four Of Post's New Troopers Are Assigned To Floyd County

The 66th Kentucky State Police Cadet Class graduated recently, introducing 50 new troopers to the field — 14 of whom have joined the Pikeville Post, including four who are assigned to Floyd County.

Troopers completing the 21-week class bring the total number of sworn personnel in the state to 891.

Assigned to Floyd County are James D. Justice, 27, of Belcher; Markael O. Padgett, 28, of Morehead; Stephen D. Auvenshine, 27, of Lexington; and Edward R. Crum, 23, of Elkhorn City.

Justice, who most recently served in the Air Force at Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., has also been employed by the Pike County Board of Education, United Parcel Service and Elkhorn Stone Co. He has attended the University of South Carolina, the Community College of the Air Force and the University of Virginia-Clinch Valley College.

He is married to the former LaGeni C. Swiney. They have three children: Selina, 6; Jordan, 2; and Jacob, five months old.

He is the son of David G. Justice of Frankfort and Linda L. Justice of Belcher.

Markael Ollie Padgett, a native of Boyd County, most recently served in the US Army at Fort Campbell. He previously was employed with Morehead-Rowan County Ambulance Service, and attended Morehead State University.

He is married to the former Teresa White, and the couple has one son, Jeremy Adam.

He is the son of Elic H. Adkins and Leona J. Padgett, both of Sandy Hook. Stephen D. Auvenshine, a native of Columbia, Mo., is formerly of Lexington.

He was most recently employed by J.C. Penney Co. and Turfland Mall, both in Lexington. He attended the University of Kentucky, studying political science.

He is married to the former Sarah Lee Heaton, and is the son of Dwight and Alice Auvenshine of Lexington.

Mud Slide Blocks Buck's Branch

A mud slide caused by heavy rains Sunday blocked through traffic on Rt. 122 by Buck's Branch and Spurlock residents. The slide, which began Sunday evening, was still blocking the road as of presstime. Similar mud and rock slides were reported in several other areas of the county.

Auxier, Other Utility Actions Approved; One Hearing Slated

The Kentucky Public Service Commission recently granted five rate adjustments to three utility companies serving Floyd County consumers.

The PSC granted Auxier Road Gas rates to produce increased revenues of $18,950 annually; the average monthly bill will rise from $52.50 to $56.27. The action took effect Friday, Feb. 24.

Auxier Road Gas Co. also received a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $295 decrease in wholesale costs from its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky. The average annual decrease per residential customer is 70 cents, effective March 1.

In a separate matter affecting Auxier residents, The PSC held a hearing Tuesday, March 7, concerning a proposed rate increase by Auxier Water Co. The company is seeking to increase its annual revenues by $122,729. If approved, average monthly bills will rise from $22.10 to $36.03, based on 4,000 gallons used per month.

PSC officials said that on Feb. 24, Auxier Water Co. was authorized to place the rates into effect, subject to a refund. The staff had recommended an increase of $80,767, increasing the average bill to $29.15.

Due to a rehearing of a Sept. 16, 1988 order, the PSC has reduced the revenue requirements of Martin Gas by $2,951. However, due to changes in the gas supply mix at current supplier rates, the average yearly residential bill will increase by $3.60. The action was effective Friday, Feb. 24.

Martin Gas also received a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $2,219 increase in wholesale costs from its supplier, Columbia Gas of Kentucky. The average residential increase annually is $6.12. The order was effective March 1.

The PSC granted East Kentucky Utilities a purchased gas adjustment to reflect a $5,775 increase in wholesale costs from its supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas. The average annual increase per residential customer is $5.45, effective March 2.

according to state Department of Tourism statistics.

"A combination of facts, including the choice to purchase alcohol, work to improve tourism and convention business... and also contribute to the success of the Jenny Wiley Theatre," said Francis.

The April 22 referendum would open up the question of legal liquor sales in the city and surrounding areas — a question that was raised county-wide in 1982 when voters approved the sale of alcoholic beverages. The present campaign seeks separate elections for eight precincts in the area of the city.

In the 1982 county-wide referendum to legalize alcohol sales, the "wets" carried the county, but lost in four of Prestonsburg's six precincts. Seven years ago, those opposed to the legal sale of alcoholic beverages outvoted those in favor by a margin of 111 votes.

Cancer Hopeline

Question: My wife has cancer of the uterus and is going to the hospital for a radiation implant. Can you tell me why this is done, how it is done, and if we have to worry about her being radioactive while she is there or after she comes home?

Answer: A radiation implant is a form of internal radiation treatment. This form of treatment permits a high dose of radiation to a small confined area by placing the cancer-killing rays as close to the tumor as possible while sparing the normal tissue around it. Substances that may be used in implants are cobalt, cesium, iridium and others.

The implant may be referred to as intracavity therapy when it is used to treat cancers of the cervix, vagina or uterus. These organs form a natural cavity into which radiation devices can be placed.

In most cases, the implant process for cancer of the uterus involves going to the operating room, where the patient will go to sleep under anesthesia. A small hollow metal device will be inserted into the uterus through the vagina and packing will be added to hold it in place. The patient will return to a private room where the radioactive substance will be placed into the device. This implant will remain undisturbed for 48 to 72 hours. During this time, the patient must remain in bed and stay fairly still to keep the device in place. She is not likely to feel ill or have severe pain, but she may have discomfort caused by the device and packing which can be eased by medication.

While the implant is in place, it can transmit x-rays into the area around her body. For this reason, there are some rules about visitors to avoid unnecessary risk. Visitors are restricted to persons over 18 who are not pregnant and are not likely to be pregnant. Those allowed to visit are asked to keep a distance from the patient and stay for a limited time.

The implant is removed in the patients room about 30 minutes after pain medication has been given for comfort. The patient is then allowed to get up with help and leave her room as soon as she feels strong enough. Once the implant is out, she is no longer radioactive and poses absolutely no danger to anyone.

For more information about internal radiation treatments, call the Cancer Information Service at 1-800-4-CANCER.

Accident Reported At New US 23 Light

Less than two hours after the new signal light on US 23 at the West Prestonsburg entrance began operating, Prestonsburg Police Officer Roy Roberts was dispatched to an accident there.

According to Roberts, a vehicle driven by Herman R. Wallen, 18, of Dana, was traveling south on US 23 when William W. Moore, 24, of West Prestonsburg, pulled out of the entrance and onto the four-lane. Wallen apparently did not see the light in time to stop and, on wet roads, slid into Moore's vehicle.

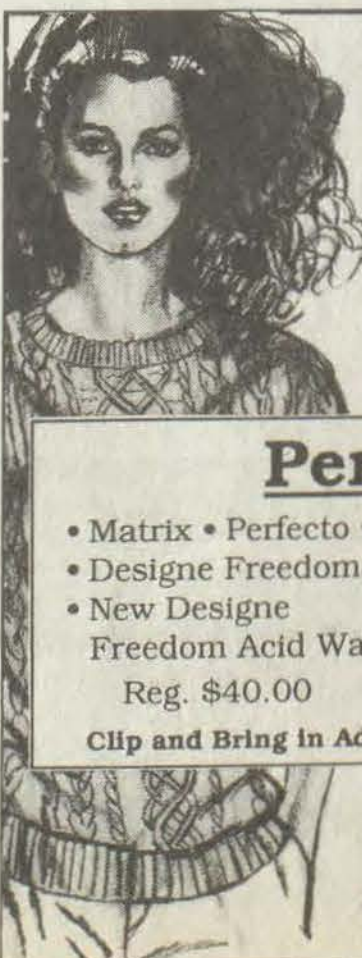

In a separate accident the morning of March 3, a vehicle driven by O.C. Howell of Allen was struck in the rear by a car driven by Larry Marshall of Cincinnati, Ohio. The accident took place on North Lake Drive. No injuries were sustained, nor citations written.

In a separate accident, Riffe Lewis of Falls Mills, Va., was traveling north on US 23 and struck a pothole in the road near Bank Josephine. His car jumped the curb, and a wheel was torn off. No other information was available.

On March 1, officials said a minor accident took place on KY 1428 shortly after 1 p.m. A car driven by Pauletta Burke of Prestonsburg struck another driven by Stephen Shelton, also of Prestonsburg, in the rear. No injuries were reported.

Earlier, Beverly Langdon of Paintsville backed her car into a vehicle driven by Geneva Cox of Auxier. No injuries were sustained, and no citations were issued.

In a separate accident, Riffe Lewis of Falls Mills, Va., was traveling north on US 23 and struck a pothole in the road near Bank Josephine. His car jumped the curb, and a wheel was torn off. No other information was available.

Allen Hires Marshal

Allen City Council voted at its Monday night meeting to hire Arthur J. Shepherd, 24, as town marshal.

Shepherd, from David, began a 30-day probationary period Tuesday. One of six applicants for the job, Shepherd said he has training as an emergency medical technician and in radio communications and police work.

He is to replace Virgil Conn, who is resigning from the post at the end of Shepherd's employment probation, according to City Clerk Bill Parsons. Present at the meeting were councilmen Larry Castle, Elmer Parsons and Vern Porter. The next regular meeting of the council is set for Monday, April 3 at 7 p.m. at the Water Commission office in Allen.

Health Tests Available In Wayland on Friday

The Floyd County Health Department will have a nurse in Wayland Friday to offer TB skin tests, urinalyses, blood pressure checks, anemia screening and immunizations.

The clinic will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Wayland.

The department also offers family planning clinics at its Prestonsburg office at 21 Front St. Clinics are scheduled this month on March 13 and 20 at noon. For an appointment, call 886-2788.

Low cost pap tests also are administered by the department. Health educator Jane Bond reminds that cervical cancer, which kills about 11,000 women in the US each year, is one of the most curable of cancers if detected early through pap tests.

Bond added that no one is denied services at the health department because of inability to pay.

Prestonsburg City Council Will Meet Monday, March 13

The Prestonsburg City Council will meet Monday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in the council room at the Municipal Building on Lake Drive in Prestonsburg, according to Mayor Ann Latta.

Agenda items include a report from the occupational tax committee, a proclamation concerning law day, a report regarding the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's bill to the Prestonsburg Utility Commission, and discussion of the downtown revitalization project on First Street.

Clarification

Francis Charles Hamilton of Auxier is not the same Charles Hamilton who was listed in last week's edition of The Floyd County Times as having been charged with the alleged burglary of Hale's Hardware in Harold.

Also, the Bill A. Hackworth who purchased an ad last week concerning county attorney candidate Jim Hammond is not the same person as Bill J. Hackworth who is employed by Martin Water Works. Bill J. Hackworth is not the brother of Bob Hackworth, a candidate for constable.

Prestonsburg Firefighters Make More Than 30 Runs

Prestonsburg firefighters and emergency medical services personnel made more than 30 runs during February, according to Thomas Blackburn, fire chief.

Personnel responded to nine calls which were alarms only, and made 10 emergency medical services runs.

In other categories, personnel responded to one kitchen alarm, one home fire, one wiring alarm, two auto assistance calls, three business calls, one power line call, and one grass fire.

They also assisted one other department during the month.

Surgery with the light touch.

There was a time when surgery was, to say the least, discomforting. To say the most, traumatic.

Central Baptist Hospital just helped change that. Now, many gynecological, thoracic, vascular, urological, neurological, plastic and other surgical procedures can be performed with the use of a safe, precision surgical laser. Its use means less pain and blood loss. And, in many cases, outpatient surgery. In most, a quicker recovery and a more comfortable one.

If you or a member of your family should need surgery, ask your doctor about laser surgery at Central Baptist Hospital.

Once you see the light, you will never feel the same about surgery again. Call Central Baptist Hospital at 275-6665 for more information.

McDowell Downs P'burg To Win District Tournament

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Fieldhouse was packed as district basketball fans came to witness the finals of men's tournament action, as the Blackcats of Prestonsburg battled the McDowell Daredevils.

Both are excellent teams, and will be admirable representatives of the 58th district in the regional this week. Senior Henry Webb scored 30 points to lead the Daredevils to a 88-87, one-point victory over the Blackcats.

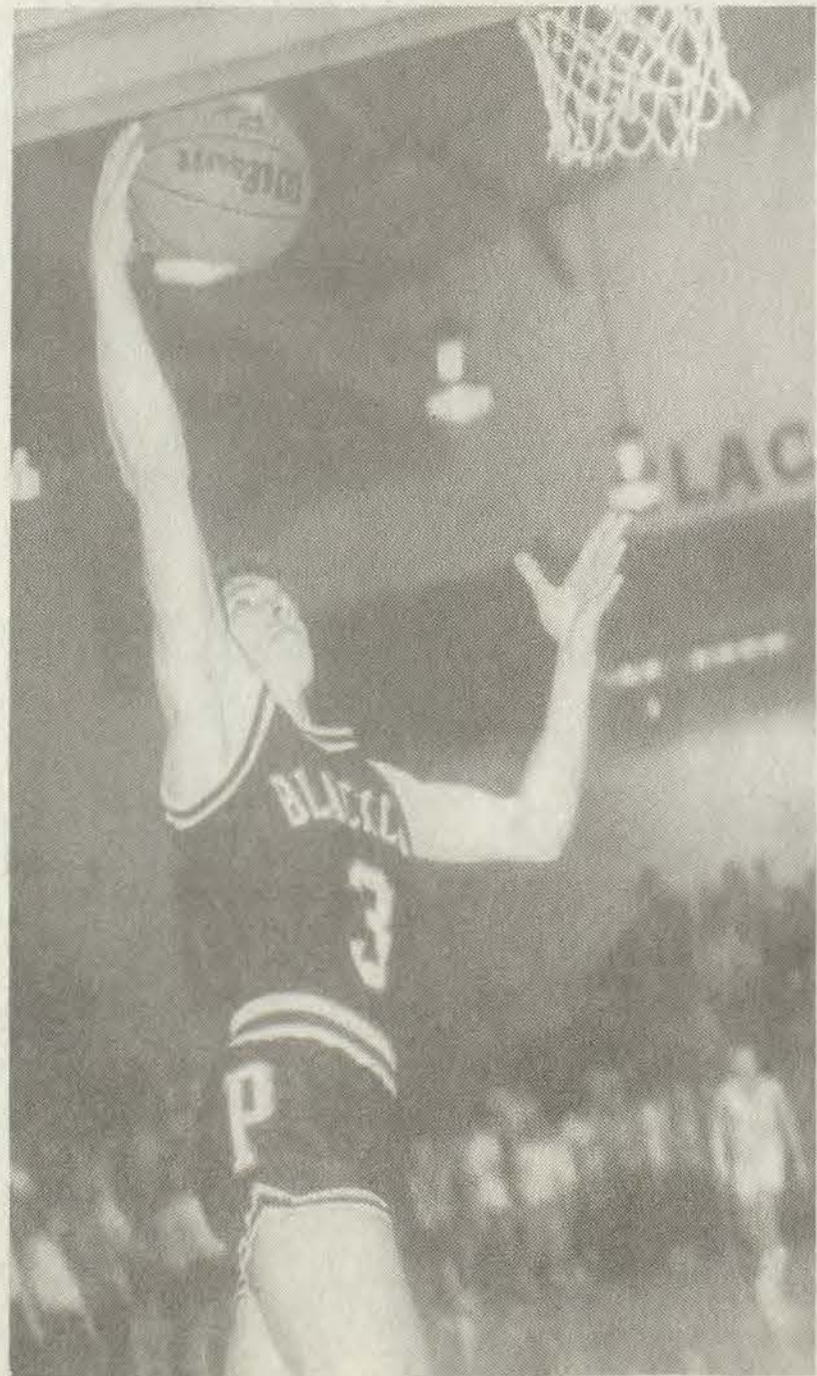

Chris Slone hit the first basket for the Blackcats, and Keith Shelton scored underneath and was fouled. He converted the free throw to give the Daredevils the early 4-3 lead. Scott Hall hit three buckets and Todd Justice had a basket. Coupled with Danny Hamilton's three-point play, the points resulted in a 13-2 run for Prestonsburg and the Blackcats held the lead, 13-6.

Two three-pointers by Rady Martin and Dickie Joe Shannon for McDowell cut it to 13-11, and Johnny Wright's bucket made it 15-11 with 2:30 to go in the first period. Webb's two baskets tied the game at 15-15 with 55 seconds left on the clock. Three points from Hamilton, and two free throws by Webb and a field goal by Justice put the Blackcats up, 20-17, at the end of the first quarter.

Webb scored two field goals at the beginning of the second quarter to give McDowell a 21-20 lead. The lead changed hands several times in the second stanza until Prestonsburg scored eight straight points to take a

She's been labeled a "tournament coach," and the label was fitting for Coach Judy Eversole of the Wheelwright Lady Trojans, as Eversole's squad pulled its second upset of the tournament with a 47-41 victory over the McDowell Lady Daredevils.

For both teams, who finished fourth and fifth in the conference standings, the "second season" was a second chance for some measure of success. McDowell finished fourth in the standings with a 2-5 record, and won tournament games over a talented Allen Central team and defeated the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats, with "Player of the Year" Karen Frasure. Eversole's Lady Trojans, the fifth-place team, was matched against the number one seed, Betsy Layne Lady Cats, and upset coach Karen Henry's team. It marked the third straight year WHS defeated the top team.

Eversole is a veteran to winning tournament games, having taken her Allen Central teams to regional and state competition.

Keathley, in her first year of coaching after playing at Betsy Layne and Alice Lloyd college, has turned the McDowell girl's program around with a winning season.

McDowell was hot in the first period of play by leading the Lady Trojans by eight at the end of the first quarter, 14-6. Gloria Mullins scored eight first stanza points, on two three-pointers and two other baskets. Priscilla Crawford scored four points in the first quarter. Jedon Hood scored all six points for Wheelwright in the first stanza.

Three points by Hood and a basket by Becky Allen cut it to 14-11. Jenny Slone's basket put McDowell up by five, 16-11. Hood's basket cut it to 18-13 until Lori Bryant's lay in made it 18-13. April Bradford hit two buckets and Mullins' eight-footer gave McDowell the half time lead of 20-17.

Wheelwright took the lead at the 4:57 mark of the third period, 27-25, behind the scoring of Hood. At the end of the third quarter Wheelwright was leading the Lady Daredevils, 33-30.

Hood's bucket gave the Lady Trojans a 35-30 lead at the start of the fourth period. With 3:56 remaining in the game and ahead by two, 38-36, Wheelwright ran off seven straight points and built an 45-36 advantage. Mullins, who has led the Lady Daredevils in scoring, tried to bring her team back by scoring the next five points, to close the gap to 45-41.

Eversole's team hung on to capture the 58th District tournament, 47-41, to win the "second season."

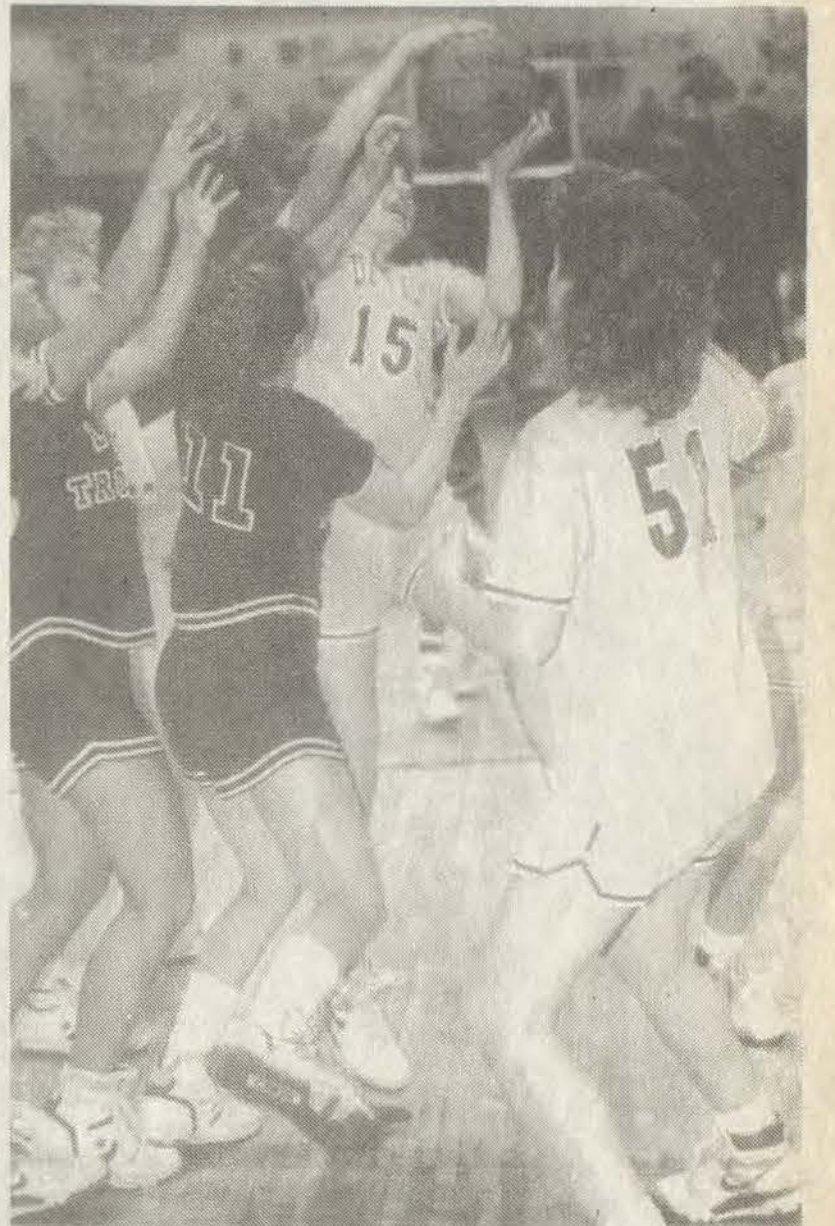

Hood scored 24 points to lead the Lady Trojans. April Bradford tossed in 14 points.

Mullins was tops for the Lady Daredevils with 21 points.

Both teams advance to the regional this week.

Eversole's Lady Trojans Fall At Regional Tourney

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Judy Eversole and the Wheelwright Lady Trojans, coming off winning the 58th District tournament traveled to Paintsville Monday night for first round action in the 15th Regional Tournament against the Johnson Central Lady Golden Eagles, who were the runners-up in the 57th District tournament.

Melissa Butcher scored 16 points to lead the Lady Golden Eagles to a 81-49 victory over the Lady Trojans, who placed four players in double figures.

Wheelwright played Johnson

Central closely in the first period. The Lady Golden Eagles scored the first four points and Jedon Hood hit a base line jumper to make it 4-2. Two Lady Eagles free throws and a basket by Butcher gave Johnson Central an 8-2 lead. Talitha Hutton's basket and two free throws by April Bradford closed the lead to two, 8-6. Wheelwright trailed by four at the end of the first period, 14-10.

Bradford open the second stanza with a basket to make it 14-12. With 2:04 remaining, JCHS went ahead by 15 points, 33-18, and led at halftime by 21 points, 44-23. Wheelwright

What is more, catch-and-release taxidermy is convenient. No longer do you have to freeze and transport a dead fish. Simply measure the bass, release it, give the measurements to your taxidermist, and you will re-

The foundation of a fiberglass fish mount is the mold, a casting made from an actual fish. Taxidermy supply houses provide fiberglass castings of these molds, which taxidermists then trim, detail, and paint for the customer.

"One of the biggest fears of that I've noticed in customers considering a fiberglass mount," says Herbert, "is that the replica will not look like their original catch. But my clients are always happy with the resulting work. One fellow recently told me

McDowell Defeats Runnin' Rebs, 48-32

With both teams on the floor, the majorettes doing their routine, the Allen Central Lady Rebels circling the floor and the bands playing, fans could tell it was tournament time, as the Lady Rebels and the Lady Daredevils of McDowell were about to square off in the first game of the 58th District competition.

Senior Gloria Mullins scored 21 points, 10 coming on free throws, to lead Coach Cassandra Keathley's Lady Daredevils to a 48-32 victory over the Lady Rebs.

McDowell scored first on two free throws by Lori Bryant, and Darnella Bradley tied it on a basket underneath. A three-pointer and a lay in by Mullins put McDowell on top by five points, 7-2. Teresa Gibson's basket made it 7-4. Baskets by Tish Slone, Priscilla Crawford and Mullins' two free throws gave the Lady Daredevils a nine-point first quarter lead, 13-4.

Bryant scored two points in the opening seconds of the second stanza on a lay up, but baskets by Stacy Moore and Gibson made it 15-8, McDowell. With 1:09 remaining in the second period, McDowell opened up a 10 point lead, 20-10, on free throws by Bryant, Mullins and two points by Mullins on a short jumper. Crawford scored on a three point play and McDowell led, 23-10, at the half.

Gibson scored for the Lady Rebels at the outset of the third quarter to make it 23-12, and Donna Robinson's two pointer made it 23-14 at the 6:27 mark, but baskets by Crawford, Mullins, and three Bryant free throws put the Lady Daredevils out in front by 17, 31-14, with 4:02 left in the third period. McDowell led by 15 points at the third stop.

Allen Central allowed the Lady Daredevils second and third shots at the basket, and fell behind by 18 points, 41-23, with 4:35 to go in the final stanza. McDowell began to turn the ball over and forced shots, but the Lady Rebs were unable to take advantage of McDowell's mistakes and the Lady Daredevils went on to post a 48-32 first round victory over Allen Central.

Mullins led McDowell with 21 points, Bryant netted 13 points, as the Lady Daredevils go 13-12 overall. Stacy Moore scored 9 points to lead the Lady Rebels, and Teresa Gibson tossed in 8 points.

35-30 lead with 1:41 remaining. Shannon's three-pointer, Martin's two free throws, and Jesse Osborne's basket gave McDowell a half time lead of 37-35.

McDowell outscored the Blackcats 6-2 to claim a 43-37 lead with 6:32 to go in the third period. At the 3:23 mark McDowell was up by 10, 57-47. Webb closed out the third quarter by scoring six points to give McDowell a lead of 62-56 at the third stop.

The fourth period got under way with the Blackcats scoring the first eight points to claim a 64-62 lead. A basket by Hamilton, four free throws by Justice and two by Thomas Nairn accounted for the run. The Daredevils tied the score at the 4:09 mark on baskets by Martin and Shannon, 69-69. A three-pointer by Shannon, a basket and two free throws by Webb put the Daredevils up by four, 73-69.

Prestonsburg trailed 82-75 with 1:34 to go in the championship game. Three points by Nairn and a basket by Slone made it 82-80. Keith Shelton's two free throws put the Daredevils up on top by four 84-80. Johnny Wright's basket made it 84-82 with twenty one seconds to go. Webb's two free throws and McDowell went up by four again 86-82. Prestonsburg wouldn't quit, and Nairn's free throws brought them back to two 86-84. McDowell's Webb missed the front end of a one and one and Prestonsburg rebounded the ball but was called for a walking violation. Again Prestonsburg had to put McDowell on the foul line this time it was Shannon, and he also missed the front end of a one and one, and again Prestonsburg rebounded the ball, and again the Blackcats turned the ball over. Martin was fouled with three seconds to go in the game and connected on both free throws, for a 88-84 Daredevil lead. Ray Collins three-pointer at the buzzer was not enough as the Daredevils held on to take the covenant title from Prestonsburg.

It was a physical game, as both teams played hard all the way through the contest. David Layne suffered a cut to the jaw, and Hamilton hurt his hand. This is typical of 58th District basketball as it has been all season. The best basketball was here in this district and the fans that missed any of the Floyd County basketball season missed some exciting basketball.

Webb led the Daredevils in scoring with 30 points. Shannon tossed in 22 points, and Martin netted 16 points.

Senior Todd Justice lead the Blackcats with 23 points as Prestonsburg placed five players in double figures. Hamilton added 16 points, and Slone had 13 while Nairn and Hall scored 11 and 10 respectively.

A 13-0 run by the Lady Eagles put the game away early in the fourth quarter, as the Lady Trojans could not mount any kind of offense, and lost the contest to Johnson Central, 81-49.

Daredevils Blitz WHS Trojans, 91-62

It was a battle of bands across from one another, as banners were hung throughout the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse — "Devils gotta chill," "MHS is 1st rate," "#13 man from three point land."

Fans knew it was tournament time in Floyd County. Beth Hall did an excellent rendition of the National Anthem as the Wheelwright Trojans and the McDowell Daredevils squared off in 58th District Tournament play.

The real battle was on the floor, as senior Henry Webb led his Daredevil team to a 92-61 blitz of the Trojans of Wheelwright, in scoring 21 points.

Wheelwright scored first on a lay in by senior Craig Martin, who was fouled on the play but missed the free throw. Dickie Joe Shannon's jumper and two Rady Martin free throws gave the Daredevils a short-lived 4-2 lead, as Todd Jackson hit for two to tie the score 4-4. Martin again broke free underneath for two and again was fouled on the play, this time converting the free throw to give Wheelwright a 7-4 lead. Free throws by Compton and Jackson put the Trojans up 11-4 with 1:03 to go in the first period. McDowell came back on baskets by Jesse Osborne, who scored 11 points off the bench and two baskets by Webb, one at the buzzer, to lead at the end of the first stanza, 13-11.

Martin's three-pointer and Hall's basket in the opening of the second period put McDowell on top by seven 18-11. After a Compton basket, McDowell scored six unassisted points to build an 11 point lead, 24-13 with 5:39 to go. Baskets by Vic Cotton and Chad Hall and a Martin free throw made it 24-18. Osborne and Hall's baskets put the Daredevils up by 10, 28-18. Craig Martin made it 28-20 on a outside jumper.

McDowell scored the next 11 points, and a Compton basket made it 39-22 at the half.

With 4:48 remaining in the game, McDowell went up by 26 points, 52-26. Martin's offense was all the Trojans could find in the third period, as the senior forward scored 11 points in the third stanza, but with 2:07 remaining in the period McDowell went up by 30 points, 64-34. Wheelwright cut it to 21, as Martin scored five quick points and Compton's basket made it 66-45 at the end of the third quarter.

McDowell opened the fourth quarter with a fury of points, outscoring the Trojans 11-2 to lead again by 30, 77-47, and Wheelwright was never able to close the gap, as the Daredevils defeated the Trojans, 91-62 to advance to the semi-final round of the district tournament.

McDowell placed five players in double figures, led by Webb's 22 points. Rady Martin added 18, and Shannon tossed in 14 points while Osborne, off the bench, netted 11 points followed by Marc Hall with 10 points.

Senior Craig Martin led the Trojans with 31 points, and Todd Jackson added 10 for Wheelwright.

that his trophy was a true work of art with heirloom potential."

Herbert continues, "Taxidermists have access to thousands of molds from various species, and hundreds of sizes for each. For example, one catalog lists more than 50 molds for largemouths between 19 and 28 inches, with an abundant selection of girths for each length. Molds of bass in the 7-to 11-pound range, the size most anglers want to have mounted, are easy to obtain." Herbert notes that molds of bass from Florida and California—bass with a distinctive body shape—are also widely available.

Because taxidermists are true artists, their work varies widely. "The same is true with fiberglass mounts," says Scott Herbert, who has been mounting fish for nearly 25 years. "Two taxidermists ordering the same mold from the same company would receive an identical casting. Therefore, the difference in the two mounts depends solely on the skill of the taxidermist. Although fiberglass casts show more detail than a skin mount, the thick resin used in the casting process cannot always capture the minute details and undercuts present on a live fish. A good taxidermist, however, can fix that.

"The beauty of a good mount comes from the painting. A good taxidermist can work from a photo of your fish to produce a fiberglass mount which is identical to the bass you released."

All taxidermy work is expensive, but fiberglass mounts are generally a bit more costly than skin mounts. Herbert charges $6.50 an inch but says that the average fiberglass reproduction runs about $8 an inch. "If the truth be told, a skin mount costs a taxidermist about $3 in materials," Herbert reports. "The mold alone for a fiberglass mount costs at least 20 times that much, and there is much more work involved in creating a good fiberglass reproduction than there is in a skin mount. A fiberglass mount truly is a better value because it will last virtually forever."

To obtain a fiberglass mount identical to a released fish, Herbert recommends measuring the bass' length and the girth, and taking a few side-view color photographs before releasing it.

Fiberglass taxidermy is simply amazing. Anglers can now enjoy the thrill of releasing a truly huge fish and still obtain a trophy which is a mirror image of that released fish. Not only is the fiberglass mount a better trophy, but this relatively new taxidermy technique will help to preserve our populations of big fish. Next time you catch a fish worthy of hanging on the wall, I strongly urge you to measure it, release it, and then obtain a fiberglass mount. Personally, I will never again keep another big fish.

McDowell Escapes Betsy Layne Behind Webb's 22-Point Contest

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats, playing without suspended coach Junior Newsome, took on the McDowell Daredevils in semi-final action of the 58th District Tournament Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse.

Henry Webb's 22 points led the Daredevils to a close 74-70 victory over the Bobcats, who advanced to the finals of the tournament.

With Tim Rice and Keith Henry guiding the Bobcats, Betsy Layne led at the end of the first period, 16-12. Keith Hall hit a three-pointer to start the scoring, and Dickie Joe Shannon and Marc Hall hit a basket each to make it 4-3. Senior Earl Lawson scored eight first quarter points to help the Bobcats to lead at the first stop.

Lawson opened the second period with a basket underneath to give Betsy Layne a 18-12 lead. After a Shannon basket, Lawson and Hall scored to put the Bobcats up by eight, 22-14. Three-pointers by Webb and Rady Martin and baskets by Shannon and Webb completed a 10-0 run by McDowell and they led by two, 26-24. With the score tied 28-28, the Daredevils scored six unanswered points and held a 34-28 at the half.

Sam Stewart's basket at the start of the third quarter made it 34-30, but the Daredevils, on a basket by Martin, and two by Marc Hall, took their biggest lead, 40-30.

McDowell held a 45-34 lead with 4:00 on the clock, when Betsy Layne scored 13 unanswered points to take a two-point, 47-45 lead. Webb's basket and two Martin free throws made it 49-47 at the end of the third period.

With 4:32 remaining in the game, Betsy Layne held a two point advantage; two baskets by Hall and Webb's two free throws put the Daredevils back up by four, 61-57. With 41 seconds to go in the final stanza, McDowell led by six, 71-65. Larry Hall's goal and Keith Hall's three-pointer brought the Bobcats to within one, 71-70. Shannon's three-point play made the final score, 74-70.

Webb scored 22 points to top the Daredevils. Martin tossed in 17 points and Hall and Shannon scored 14 and 13 respectively.

Hall and Newsome each scored 16 points to lead the Bobcats. Lawson added 12 points, all in the first half, and Stewart netted 10.

New Dance Step

Barry Hamilton (10) of Betsy Layne seems to be showing Henry Webb (12) and Jesse Osborne (20) of McDowell a new dance step, but the action was 58th District basketball at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse, as McDowell defeated the Bobcats 74-70.

MAGISTRATE Dist. 2

No. 2 on Ballot

Last week, "Doc" Marshall put an ad in the Floyd County Times that was misleading to a lot of people and was actually an out and out false statement. This is what he said and THEN I'LL TELL YOU HOW IT REALLY IS.

Marshall said.

(1) "As I have traveled through Magisterial Dist. 2, I have found that many of you worry about how each candidate, if successful, will treat you and your home community once elected."

Owens Replies

I'd say Mr. Marshall that if you have traveled up Right Beaver you have heard the same thing that I have heard. The people from Martin to Wayland are afraid that if a Dentist from Allen gets to be Magistrate that they might forget where these hollows are and that they might not get the service that they have gotten over the past 3 years.

Marshall Said

(2) "It is sad that for so long our elected magistrates have showed favoritism to selected roads, communities, and areas. They have taken care of their own family, friends, and supporters, and often denied fair treatment to the rest."

Owens replies

Mr. Marshall, you must have been in your dentist office for the past 3 years. I have worked ALL 10 OF MY PRECINCTS with FAIRNESS and doing the best I can with what I've had to work with. My crew and I have worked hard for the past 3 years. You also said that the magistrates in the past showed favoritism to their friends, supporters, and families, Yeah, I sure do try to help out all my friends and supporters anyway I can. I have even helped out a whole lot of my enemies too. But you're dead wrong about me helping out my family. I told my family when I first got elected 3 years ago that I wouldn't be able to help them out unless they lived on a county road. -THEY UNDERSTAND THIS. After the county had hauled nearly $200,000 worth of gravel to be distributed among the 4 districts trying to get our roads in shape for January and February, I never put one gravel on my family's driveways. Below on the left is a picture of my sister's driveway-Lema & Bob Bradley of Wilson Creek and on the right is a picture of my baby sister's driveway - Ina & Tim Robinson of Doc Allen Branch at Maytown.

As you can see there is nothing but MUD and WATER on their driveways, because they have to hire it done, My own mother had to buy her own gravel and hire Randy Martin to haul them and spread them for her at her beauty shop because they know I CAN'T help my family out like you said elected magistrates have done for so long.

MARSHALL SAID

(3) "Even worse, they seek to divide up, pitting one community against another, somehow implying honest and fair treatment TO ALL cannot be done."

OWENS REPLIES

I think I HAVE PROVEN that I HAVE BEEN FAIR to ALL 10 precincts in DIST. 2

MARSHALL SAID

(4) "As a candidate for magistrate, I seek the vote of EVERY CITIZEN of DIST.#2, regardless of where you live. The right to fair and effective treatment by your magistrate is one each of you should have. I promise to respect that truth, and render to every community their fair share of the services and resources that an honest magistrate can deliver."

OWENS REPLIES

We have come a long way in the last 3 years, but we have got a long way to go. We've got to fight for city water, more blacktopped roads, and our fair share. I have fought hard to keep garbage from other states and other counties out of Floyd County. I think I HAVE PROVEN that I will STAND UP and FIGHT for Dist. 2 and Floyd County and get what I can get and put it where it's needed the worst. IT ALL TAKES TIME AND EVERYBODY CAN'T BE FIRST. IF IT'S RIGHT- I'LL STAND UP AND FIGHT FOR THE PEOPLE.

VOTE FOR AND RE-ELECT Owens for Magistrate No. 2 on Ballot

P.S Being a diesel mechanic and heavy equipment operator-I believe I'M THE BEST QUALIFIED MAN FOR THE JOB. I would appreciate your vote in May.

Betsy Layne JV Has Winning Season

The Betsy Layne Bobcat junior varsity just completed a successful year, closing its basketball schedule with a 11-1 record. Their only defeat was a double overtime loss to Ashland by three points.

Tim Rice, the Bobcat JV coach, credits hard work and discipline as keys to his team's success.

"We would play against the varsity in our practices. We stress defense very much," Rice states. "I tell my players when they get into a varsity game to play, make the best of it. Strive and root for it."

The Bobcat JV is made up of sophomores and freshmen. What contributions will the junior varsity make to next year's varsity squad?

Larry Hall, Steven Parsons, Sam Stewart and Doug Willett will be back next year, and no doubt will be four of the starters, Rice explains. "Someone will have to step up and take their places and come off the bench and contribute next year."

Sophomore Philip King and Adam Gearheart will be two vying for the other starting position.

"King is 6'1". He is a strong rebounder, but needs experience. Gearheart, at 5'11", is an excellent shooter from the three-point range. He also needs more experience. Little' Keith Hall is a pure point guard, a smart ball handler, at 5'6". Berne Eplin at 6' is a very physical player and a hard worker. Chris Newsome is a scorer and can also play point guard and handle the ball, at 5'10", Rice said in his assessment of his top five sophomores.

"A big key in the success of our whole program is when we start, whether it's in grade school at the sixth grade level, freshmen, junior varsity, we run the same set of plays that the varsity runs. That way when the players get to the varsity level, they know the patterns that Coach (Junior) Newsome runs," Rice explains. "I'm very appreciative of Coach Newsome showing me his system. It's a pleasure to be his assistant."

Allen Central Falls In Double Overtime

The noise level was deafening in the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse Thursday night as tournament action was at its best.

Human tunnels were formed for both teams by fans, students and cheerleaders, for their teams to pass through as they came to the playing floor. The two mascots, "Mr. Blackcat," and "Mr. Rebel," had a three-point shooting contest. Confetti and tissue paper seemed to find their way from the stands to the playing floor, as the expectations of a tremendous game heated up. The six "Rebel Rousers" were there dressed in bermudas and dark glasses, as they followed the Rebels around the floor to stir up the fans.

The game lived up to its billing, as the Prestonsburg Blackcats rode the 29 point performance of senior Todd Justice to an exciting 81-77 double overtime victory to advance to the finals of the 58th District Tournament before a large crowd at the fieldhouse.

The game was close from the onset, as Kevin Webb hit the first basket for Allen Central, and Justice scored three on a three-point play. Two other free throws by Justice gave the Blackcats the lead at 5-2. Danny Hamilton hit a short baseline jumper to make it 7-4 following a Rick Smith basket for the Rebels. Smith hit a turn around jumper to cut the lead to one, 7-6, and Scott Hall's turnaround made it 9-6. Kevin Spurlock, who scored 34 points, hit a three-pointer to tie the game 9-9 with 3:30 on the clock. Hall and Chris Slone's baskets moved the Blackcats out by four, 13-9. Justice's basket followed a Spurlock goal for a 15-11 lead. With 1:38 to go in the first period, Smith picked up his third personal foul. Slone's free throw gave the Blackcats a first stanza lead of 16-11.

It was the "Bear" Halbert show in the second stanza, as he hit for three quick baskets underneath while filling in for the foul-plagued Smith, to giving the Rebels the lead at 17-16. Johnny Wright canned two baskets to bring Prestonsburg back, 20-17. Baskets by Halbert, Webb and a three-pointer by Spurlock put the Rebels back on top by four, 24-20.

With 1:23 left on the clock in the second quarter and Allen Central leading by six, a basket by David Layne, two free throws by Hall, and Layne's three-pointer at the buzzer gave the Blackcats the lead at half time, 31-30.

At the 5:46 mark and the score tied at 34-all, Prestonsburg out scored Allen Central 10-4 to claim a 44-39 lead. Prestonsburg led by three, 48-45 at the end of the third quarter.

In the opening minute of the fourth period, Smith picked up his fourth personal foul. Spurlock, who played an outstanding game, scored 10 fourth period points to give the Rebels a 58-53 lead with 3:35 to go.

After two charity tosses by Joey Conn, Allen Central led by seven points, 65-58, with 1:56 remaining. Prestonsburg was forced to foul the Rebels in the closing minutes. Allen Central made five different trips to the charity stripe, with a chance to ice the game, but missed all five attempts of the front end of the one and ones. While the Rebels were missing from the free throw line, Prestonsburg managed to pull to within one, 65-64, with 54 seconds remaining. Conn's free throw made it 66-64 with 38 seconds to go, and Layne hit a eight footer to tie the game at 66-66 with 12 seconds remaining. Allen Central was called for a walking violation with 7 seconds to go. Prestonsburg missed two scoring opportunities, one underneath, as time ran out in regulation play.

Justice and Layne opened the first overtime with baskets to move Prestonsburg out in front by four, 70-66. Spurlock's basket made it 70-68, and after Prestonsburg was whistled for a traveling violation, Spurlock tied the game with a jumper with 1:30 to go in overtime. Justice put the Blackcats up 72-70, to have Webb hit a base line shot to tie the game and send it into the second overtime.

Wright and Justice opened the second overtime with baskets followed by a Conn basket to lead by two, 76-74. Wright hit a free throw with 51 seconds remaining, and Justice broke free for a "stuff" to make it 80-74. Halbert then hit a three-pointer for the Rebels, but they fell short and the Blackcats held on to escape the Rebels, 81-77.

Justice led the Blackcats with 29 points, Hall and Layne each scored 17 and 11 respectively. Justice was given the assignment of guarding Allen Central's leading scorer, Todd Duff, and held him to two points.

The Rebels were led by Spurlock's 34-point performance in a losing cause. Spurlock fouled out in the second overtime. Halbert, coming off the bench, tossed in 17 points and Webb added 10.

In OT, Lady Trojans Upset BLHS Bobcats

For the third straight year, Judy Eversole's Wheelwright Lady Trojans have come into the tournament having to play the top seeded team, and once again the Lady Trojans pulled an upset behind the 24-point performance of Wheelwright's star center, Jedon Hood, as the Lady Trojans knocked off the conference champions, the Betsy Layne Lady Cats.

Wheelwright scored first on a basket by Talitha Hutton, Betsy Layne scored the next eight points, six by Nancy Shepherd, and a basket by Jamie Smith, gave Betsy Layne a quick 8-2 lead, with 5:13 to go in the first period. Debbie Allen's goal and a free throw by Gina Johnson made it 8-5 with 2:47 on the clock. Shepherd made it 10-5 with a lay up off a steal, then the Lady Trojans scored six straight points to take a 11-10 lead at the close of the first stanza.

Smith's field goal beginning the second period put Betsy Layne back out in front 12-11, and Wheelwright then scored another six unanswered points to lead by five, 17-12. Danita Johnson's three-pointer and free throw made it 17-16 at the 3:41 mark of the second quarter. Hood's basket and Allen's free throws made it 21-16, the Lady Bobcats scored six points to tie the score at 21-21. Hood's three-point play and a basket by Shena Collins and a Hutton free throw put the Lady Trojans out in front, 27-23, at the half.

Wheelwright led at the end of the third stanza on three baskets by Hood, and a basket by April Bradford, 35-29. Smith, Hall, and Hamilton scored baskets for Betsy Layne in the third.

Junior Brenda Hamilton, the Lady Cats' leading scorer, tried to take the game on her own shoulders in the fourth quarter, as she hit for two quick baskets in the period. Wheelwright led by two, 35-33. After a Bradford basket and two free throws, Hamilton scored again to make it 39-35. With 1:44 remaining, Wheelwright led by two, 46-44. Bradford hit two free throws to make it 48-44. Johnson's three-pointer cut it to one, 48-47. Hood hit one of two free throws to give the Lady Trojans a two point advantage, 49-47. With 33 seconds remaining, Betsy Layne turned the ball over. Wheelwright missed its attempt at the basket and, with six seconds to go, Sheila Hall got loose under the basket for two points to tie the game at 49-49, and send the game into overtime.

Hall scored again in the three minute overtime to give the Lady Cats a 51-49 lead. Foul shots by Bradford and Hood gave Wheelwright the lead at 53-51. Hamilton fouled out with 2:20 to go in overtime, following Johnson to the bench. Allen's free throws made it 55-51. At 1:51, Shepherd fouled out for the Lady Cats. Bradford hit two charity shots to give the Lady Trojans a six point lead, 57-51. Hall's field goal made it 57-53, and with 27 seconds showing on the clock, Hall fouled out, making all five Lady Cats starters leaving via the foul route. Boyd's free throw and two charity tosses by Bradford gave the final score of 59-54, as Wheelwright pulled off a big upset.

Wheelwright advanced to the finals with their victory, assuring them of a trip to the regional.

Hood led Wheelwright with 24 points, and April Bradford added 15. Talitha Hutton tossed in 9 points.

Hamilton scored 17 to lead Betsy Layne. Shepherd and Hall each had 10 points.

PHS, BLHS Cheerleaders: Keeping The Spirit Alive

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

As our basketball season comes to a close, we reflect on memories of past games, and remember the exciting games we have experienced. All the contributions the coaches and players have made is not forgotten.

A group that is often overlooked during the course of a season is the cheerleaders, who play a big part in all of our sport activities.

Many of us think that all that's involved in cheerleading is showing up for the game and getting the crowd excited. We don't stop to consider the time and effort that these girls and sponsors put into cheerleading.

Jayne Pitts, who is the sponsor of the Prestonsburg girls varsity cheerleaders, explains their schedule as they prepare for an upcoming season.

"Before tryouts, the girls practice three times a week for two weeks. After tryouts they practice two nights a week until school goes out," Pitts explains.

The girls are off in July, except for gymnastics once a week. In August they practice everyday until school starts for two to three hours a day. After school begins, it's three times a week.

"We take our cheerleaders to summer camp every year, usually at Eastern University," Pitts says. "They will have a schedule from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. It will cost each girl around $120 to go."

There are also expenses for the girls, as uniforms are expensive. The cost of a uniform per girl will run between $70 and $90 dollars per year. The money is usually raised through car washes, bake sales and candy sales.

During the football season, cheerleaders will perform one game per week, and two to three games per week during the basketball season.

"Before the regional competition, we practice every day; when there is no school we practice two times a day, two to three hours a day," Pitts said. "We practice in the high school gym or sometimes we use the Slim Way facilities."

The many hours and hard work is not without reward. The Prestonsburg girls varsity cheerleaders have won the "spirit stick," given for their enthusiasm. They have won four superior ribbons, three excellent ribbons and best pom routine.

In the YMCA camp, Prestonsburg placed first on the regional level and placed fifth in the state. They were also KAPOS district winners.

Pitts has been a cheerleader sponsor for four years — two at Clark and two at the Prestonsburg High School. The girls varsity cheerleaders won second place in last week's district tournament.

Some routines are harder to learn than others, and take more work. Beth Hall, a cheerleader for the Prestonsburg boys varsity, explains the difference in routines.

"How long it takes us to learn a new routine depends on the difficulty of it," she explained. "The pom routine takes a long time to get down."

"It took us a month to learn that routine," says Krystal Chaffins, also a member of the boys varsity cheerleaders.

Like the girls varsity cheerleaders, a lot of time is spent in practice. Dwana Warrix, a senior, explains their schedule.

"We'll practice four hours every day. Even if it snows, we practice," she explained.

The boys varsity cheerleaders get about two weeks off in the summer, when ball players have all summer off. To these cheerleaders, even though school is out for the summer, their practicing goes on.

"In the summer we practice three times a week," Chrystal Lawson says. "We get about two weeks off and we have to raise money through car washes, selling sun tan lotion, candy and cakes."

Kristy Nunnery tells of the local awards they have won: "We got first place in the WYMT-TV Mountain Classic. We were judged by KAPOS judges under game situations. We placed second in the Sheldon Clark Invitational tournament, first in the open district and first in camp at Eastern University," she said.

Just how strict are the judges in judging situations, routines, etc.?

"They are very critical," explains Missy Wilson. "They check all routines and gymnastics."

April Davis, who has been cheering since grade school tells of the expense of buying uniforms.

"My parents have spent at least $1,000 on uniforms since I have been cheerleading," she says.

Parents, like basketball players' parents, must see that each cheerleader gets to practice. Amy Osborne talks of her parents' support.

"My parents are very supportive of me as a cheerleader," she says. "They take me to practices and to games. They really help me a lot."

Some of the girls have been involved in cheerleading since early in grade school. Belinda Collins, a sophomore at Prestonsburg, has been a cheerleader since the fourth grade.

"I've been cheerleading seven years now. I went to grade school at Clark school and started there," she says.

Just as basketball players and coaches have goals for the season, so do cheerleaders.

"Our goal is to place first in the district and regional this year," Sally Wonn says. The Prestonsburg boys varsity cheerleaders accomplished one of the goals by placing first in the 58th District Tournament last week.

There are also the perils of cheerleading, such as the stacks, and basket tosses pose a threat to those who have to mount the top. Some even tell of being dropped and of suffering sprained ankles.

The Betsy Layne girls varsity cheerleaders have not had the opportunity to capture any tournament awards, as the girls varsity basketball team has not participated in any tournaments.

"We did place first in district competition," freshman Delanie Boyd says. "We were judged on our appearance and floor cheers and our pep. KAPOS did the judging."

Cheerleaders are elected every year, and after they have been cheerleaders for three years, they are automatically on the squad their senior year.

Those who are on the girls varsity cheerleading squad are also allowed to tryout for the boys varsity squad.

"It's up to us," freshman Tina Hall said. "We can try out for the boys varsity if we want to."

"We finished second at Pikeville in our district," Elaine Hunter said.

Freshman Tracy Kidd explains their practice schedule. "We practice every day that there's not a game," she says. "Our practices run around two hours a day. In the summer we practice two to three times a week."

Michelle Depoy relates about the camps the Betsy Layne girls varsity cheerleaders attend during the summer.

"We usually go to U.K. for camp. We've also been to Pikeville for camp where we won the 'cheerleader trophy,' trophy for the 'best cheer,' and spirit stick for our pep," she relates.

Like the Prestonsburg cheerleaders, Betsy Layne has the expense of uniforms and must raise the money to purchase them.

Sophomore Angie Hall explains. "Our uniforms cost us around $125 each, and we raise the money like all other cheerleaders, car washes, dances, and selling candy and perfume."

Junior Lesley Porter tells of a routine that was difficult for them to pick up.

"The 'press up' took us about a month to learn," she says.

Sharon Barker is the Betsy Layne girls varsity cheerleader sponsor.

Lady Daredevils Slip Past Prestonsburg Women, 54-52

Junior Lori Bryant scored 21 points to lead the McDowell Lady Daredevils to a 54-52 upset victory over the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats in the semi-finals of the 58th District Tournament Friday night at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse. McDowell finished fourth in the conference standings with a 2-5 record, while Prestonsburg was second with a 6-2 record.

All-state candidate Karen Frasure score the first basket to give Prestonsburg the lead, then Gloria Mullins tied the score with a 10-footer. McDowell went on top by four points with 3:01 to go in the first stanza, 10-6, a three-point play by Frasure made it 10-9 before Mullins' lay up to give the Lady Daredevils at 12-9 advantage. Kathy Slone's basket and a three-pointer by Michelle Clemmons gave Prestonsburg a 14-12 first period lead.

With 3:52 remaining in the second quarter and Prestonsburg ahead by two, 22-20, two baskets by Bryant and a basket by Mullins put McDowell ahead by four, 26-22. Another three-point play by Frasure cut it to one, 26-25, with 1:06 on the clock. Bryant's two free throws made it 28-25 McDowell, and a basket by Slone made it 28-27 at the half.

At the 5:50 mark of the third period, Prestonsburg was on top by four, 34-30 on a three-pointer by Frasure and two other baskets by Frasure. Prestonsburg built its biggest lead 40-32 with 3:29 remaining. An 8-4 run by McDowell cut it to 44-40 at the end of the third stanza.

In the opening two minutes of the final stanza, McDowell went cold from the field and the Lady Blackcats were unable to take advantage, missing seven free throws. Frasure's two free throws and a basket by Frasure led the Blackcats back out to a 49-43 lead with 3:14 to go in the fourth quarter. Tish Slone's two free throws and two by Bryant brought McDowell to within two points, 49-47 at the 1:58 mark. A seven to three run by McDowell gave the Lady Daredevils a 54-52 win over Prestonsburg.

Bryant led the Lady Daredevils with 21 points. Tish Slone added 12 points and Mullins scored in 11 points.

Frasure scored 36 points for Prestonsburg.

'Mr. Purple Flash': A Legend In Floyd County Basketball

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

He's a legend in high school basketball. He still has a keen sense of humor and an uncanny ability to remember dates from years gone by. He has touched the lives of many students, and others in Floyd County.

Denzil "Hoss" Halbert is "Mr. Purple Flash" and always will be in the hearts of former Martin Purple Flash students.

When walking into his den, which he converted from the back of his garage, one can't help but notice items that instantly bring back memories of the old Martin High School days. Yearbooks from 1940-1988 are easily seen. Pictures circle his desk as memories of precious years. He still has score books — basketball and baseball — of every game he coached from 1947 until 1972, when Martin High School was closed.

Pictures of Vince Coleman, Curt Flood and Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals contain personal messages to Kentucky's biggest Card fan.

In one corner of his den is the Coke machine which was so identifiable with his sports shop for many years in Martin, where you could go in and buy a Coke for a nickel, and sit down and talk basketball or baseball with a man that was very knowledgeable of each.

"This Coke machine went through two floods," Halbert explained. "It still works good," he added, reaching me a drink to sip as we talked.

Halbert began his basketball career at Martin Grade School under the coaching of Galen Lewis in 1937-39. Chalmer Frazier came to Martin to coach basketball in 1940.

"He is the one who got me a basketball scholarship at Kentucky Wesleyan," Halbert states. "If it hadn't been for him, I would never have gotten one." Halbert played both basketball and baseball at Wesleyan.

Sherrill Frazier was Martin's basketball coach in 1946. In 1947, Halbert became the coach at his alma mater, Martin.

"I graduated from college on August 5, 1947, and began coaching at Martin on August 12, 1947," Halbert recalls.

This was the beginning of 25 years of successful coaching at the only school he ever coached for. From 1947 until the closing of the school, he was all Purple Flash.

Halbert established a record of 528 wins to 331 losses. He was the only 15th regional coach to coach an all-star team.

Ask him which of his teams was his favorite, and he will point to an 8x10 picture over his desk of the 1948-49 district championship team.

"The 1948-49 team was the first Martin team to win a district tournament," Halbert explains.

"Our tallest player was Bob Taylor, and he was only 6'1". We were 30-7 that year," Halbert said. What made the '48-'49 team so much better than previous teams?

"They were great athletes," Halbert explained. "We had the three Lafferty boys playing that year and they were good athletes 'street wise,'" he said laughingly.

While the '48-'49 team may be his favorite, the team he remembers the most was his 1965 team that made Martin's first and only trip to the Sweet Sixteen in Louisville.

"I suppose you remember the most the team that brought you the most success. The '65 team was a great team. We were 36-3 that year, and we lost to McDowell twice and we beat them twice," says Halbert.

"We were successful against 'Hoss' and Martin because we picked his man-to-man defense apart. Later he went to a zone defense and went to the state with it," Floyd County Assistant Superintendent Pete Grigsby Jr., who coach at McDowell, said recently.

Martin played Breckinridge County in its first game of the Sweet Sixteen that year, and lost by 18 points, 72-54.

"We were sixth in the state and they were ranked fourth. They just beat us to death," Halbert recalls. "Butch Beard, who made All-American and went on to star for the Louisville Cardinals and later play pro ball, was unstoppable," Halbert said.

Halbert had some great basketball players that played for him, but are two that really stand out. "Larry Hall of the '65 team was the best player I ever coached," Halbert relates. "He made all-state that year, and went on to play at UK. Pete Grigsby Jr. was another one of my players that made all-state and went on to play at U.K."

How did Martin come up with the name, Purple Flash?

"Haskell Vincent, Martin's first coach, coached at Caneyville High School and they were known as the Purple Flashes. He like the name and brought it with him when he came to Martin," Hoss explained.

While Martin had some great players, they also had some great players to play against.

"The greatest player to ever play against us was Grady Wallace from Betsy Layne. Paul Phillip Hughes from Prestonsburg was another great one, and who can forget the great "King" Kelly Coleman of Wayland," Halbert said.

There are also memories of great coaches that opposed "Hoss" on the courts, but were very close to him off the court. Two particular coaches were John "Dog" Campbell at Garrett, and Tommy Boyd, Floyd County school board member, who then coached at Wayland.

"John and I were fraternity brothers. You think Dean Smith invented the stall game, or Eddie Sutton plays a slow game — "Dog" would have his players bounce the ball until they wore the brand name off" Halbert said. "Tommy and I were and still are very close." "I used to go to Hoss' house and eat fish and talk basketball until early in the morning," Boyd said. "I can tell you the best player he had playing for him — Sid Meade (a referee at that time)." Jack Frost Wells at Auxier, Adrian Hall at Wheelwright, Bill Goble of Prestonsburg and Don Wallen of Wheelwright were other coaches that coached against Halbert and also were good friends of his.

On September 7, 1968, the Martin gym, which held so many memories for so many ball players and non-players, burned to the ground.

"I was staying at Gordon Red Moore's cabin when Stevie (Halbert's son) came and told me the gym had burned down. I lost 20 years of pictures and other things in that fire," Halbert recalls.

"The hardest thing I have had to do was to tell my dad that the gym burned down. He wanted to know if we were able to save anything, and then he began to console me," the younger Halbert remembers.

Seasons from 1968 to 1972, the last four years Halbert coached, were not good ones.

"We had no gym to practice in, except at Lackey, and we had to play our home games at Maytown or Prestonsburg, so most of our home games were on the road," he said. All schools have rivalries with other schools, and Martin was no exception.

"The biggest rivalry we had was Maytown," Halbert says. "Their boys dated our girls, and our boys dated their girls, there was just this competition against each other. The worst we ever beat a team was Maytown in the 1953 district tournament. We beat them 33 points. Ray Heinsch was the coach then."

What are some of the biggest changes he has seen in basketball since he began coaching?

"The elimination of the center jump. Tha, and the alternate possession rule. The only reason they eliminated the jump ball is because the referees couldn't throw the ball up straight," jokes Halbert.

Halbert also sees the shot clock coming into high school basketball. "It's going to come to that. The colleges have it, and what the colleges do, high schools usually follow suit," he said.

Mr. Purple Flash

Denzil "Hoss" Halbert, who coached 25 years at Martin, is seen here in his office in the midst of memories from the past in pictures, old year books score books and the old coke machine that cost a nickel which set in his old sports shop in Martin.

File Address Change To Keep SS Benefits

Social Security beneficiaries risk having their benefits suspended when they forget to inform the Social Security Administration (SSA) of a change of address, Jim Kelly, Social Security Director for the Big Sandy area, said recently.

The people who are most likely to forget to let SSA know about a new address are those whose benefits are going to a bank or other financial institution in direct deposit, Kelly said. Even though these benefits are deposited directly to an account, SSA needs current addresses for all beneficiaries in order to send out notices and to fulfill its obligation to verify continuing eligibility.

The best way to avoid this inconvenience is to remember to tell officials when planning to move, Kelly said. The Big Sandy Area Social Security office can help out.

More information about Social Security, Supplemental Security Income and Black Lung can be obtained at the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is listed in the telephone directory under US Government.

Maintain Fishing Tackle, Eliminate Common Problems

Have you ever lost a bass because your line broke, the hook was too dull to penetrate properly, or your reel wouldn't engage properly?

Problems like this happen, but they can easily be prevented, notes Fredda Lee, a professional tournament angler and member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff.

"Fishing tackle is almost maintenance-free," explains the former fashion model-turned-angler, "but there are some basic things every angler can do to insure that tackle continues to perform properly on trip after trip.

"Whenever a problem does occur, you know it's going to happen at the worst possible time, such as when you hook the biggest bass of your life."

The first thing Lee suggests is to make certain lures are dry when they are put into storage. This is especially important if an entire tackle box should get wet during a rainstorm, because the added moisture may cause the hooks to rust.

"A single wet lure dropped into a box after use won't cause many problems," says the Johnson pro, "but a tightly closed box holding several dozen wet lures is inviting trouble."

Wet reels can also cause problems. Lee suggests putting a few drops of oil on them after each fishing trip. That way, the oil has a chance to do its work while the reel isn't being used.

The worst time to oil a reel is in the middle of a trip when the fish are biting.

"Quite possibly the most neglected aspect of tackle maintenance is sharpening hooks," Lee continues. "I sharpen the hooks on each lure when I first take it out of its package. Manufacturers can make excellent lures, but most of the hooks used are only moderately sharp. If a hook slides across your fingernail without biting in, it's too dull for fishing."

OLWH March Health Tip: Medicare Protecting Elderly

By Sister Mary Fanning
Chief Executive Officer
Our Lady of the Way Hospital
Congressional response to proposed budget cuts may reduce the federal deficit. But it can also determine whether health insurance for the elderly — Medicare — survives beyond this century.

Budget decisions will also affect the ability of hospitals to provide quality healthcare to elderly and other patients.
Only 20 percent of the entire fiscal year 1989 federal budget ($1,142.4 billion) is targeted for cuts to reduce the federal deficit. The Medicare program comprises more than a third of the budget targeted for cuts, even though it accounts for only 7.4 percent of the total budget.

From 1982 through 1989, hospital costs — for salaries, equipment, supplies and expenses — have increased by a total of 28.3 percent. The Medicare reimbursement to hospitals over this same time period has increased by only 12.2 percent. Over the past eight years, hospitals have had an increasingly difficult time in meeting basic expenses.

If Congress chooses to use Medicare cuts to reduce the federal deficit, the quality of healthcare services to our elderly will certainly decline. Inadequate reimbursements will force hospitals to reduce staff and delay or cancel replacement of outdated equipment. Such changes will negatively affect the healthcare offered to all patients, regardless of their ages or insurance providers.

The United States is one of the wealthiest countries in the world. Surely those debating budget/deficit cuts need to examine carefully how their decisions will affect those who created the wealth.

Medicare was enacted in 1965 to protect the elderly from catastrophic health expenses which could destroy their financial security. In 1989, that promise of high quality healthcare to the elderly is being compromised.

You can protect Medicare, the elderly and your hospital's ability to render high-quality healthcare by asking Sen. Wendell Ford, Sen. Mitch McConnell and Rep. Chris Perkins to vote against further cuts in the Medicare program.

If you would like more information about the effects of Medicare cuts on hospitals or the addresses of our Congressmen, please contact Sister Mary Fanning, Our Lady of the Way Hospital, P.O. Box 910, KY Martin 41649 or call 285-5181, extension 333.

The Corns Decision:

State Has Three Ways To Comply With Order

by Tom Parrish
(Sixth in a Series)

James Melton, retired deputy superintendent of public instruction for the state Department of Education, provided the following explanation of the state's power equalization program.

Melton has also compiled estimates of various methods of achieving equity for the public schools if the Supreme Court upholds the historic school-finance decision by Judge Ray Corns of Franklin Circuit Court.

Judge Corns ruled in October that the state allows vast funding disparity among school districts and denies students in the poor districts the opportunity for an adequate education.

The current power equalization formula identifies the county school district with the highest per pupil property assessment and provides state funds to equalize the tax effort of each school district to the tax rate identified by the legislative appropriation.

The legislative appropriation for power equalization for the school year 1987-88 was $96,278,000 and was calculated to equalize a tax rate of 10.97 cents. Fayette County was the wealthiest county school district with a per pupil property assessment of $279,390. McCreary County had the lowest per pupil property assessment of $36,191.

Note: For 1987-88 all school districts were required to levy a minimum equivalent tax rate of 25 cents and 10.97 cents of that rate was equalized to 10.97 cents of the Fayette County rate. Fayette County had a tax rate of 66 cents.

Achieving Equity

Method I of the following calculation represents a method to achieve financial equity as required in the October ruling by the Franklin Circuit Court. Method II represents a method of achieving financial equity with the high five percent of county school districts. Method III would achieve equity with Fayette County at the state average equivalent rate of 50 cents.

METHOD I

This calculation would achieve complete fiscal equalization by equalizing the per pupil yield of a 66 cent tax rate in Fayette County to each school district. The total cost to the state would be $579,215,853. The state appropriation for the power equalization program for 1989-90 is $111,278,300; therefore, the additional cost would be $477,937,553.

METHOD II

(This is presented as one possible alternative, however, it does not achieve complete equity.)

This calculation would equalize to the average per pupil assessment for equalization of the highest five percent of county school districts and would use the average of their tax rates. For 1987-88 the target per pupil assessment for equalization would have been $211,878. The approximate average tax rate would have been 50 cents. The total cost to the state would have been $250,675,266. The additional cost would have been $139,397,066.

METHOD III

This calculation would achieve equalization with Fayette County at the state average equivalent tax rate of 50 cents. The total cost to the state would be $438,788,889. The additional cost would be $327,521,589.

Other Equity Considerations

Textbooks: The state provides free elementary textbooks to all children. State law requires local school districts to provide free secondary textbooks to pupils who are classified as economically deprived. One of our wealthier districts has only three percent of children in this category, whereas one of our poorest districts has 82 percent of pupils classified as economically deprived. In short, districts that are least able are required to pay. The cost of providing secondary textbooks to all children is about $6 million per year.

Exceptional Children: There is a great inequity in the allotment of units for exceptional children. For example, Jefferson County has a ratio of 33 percent exceptional children units to basic program units, where Pike County has a ratio of only seven percent exceptional children units to basic program units.

This comparison is made not to be critical of Jefferson County, rather it is intended to point out that some rural counties have had a very difficult time of attracting teachers for exceptional children when state units were available.

This program exists for the following reasons: (1) inability to identify students because of lack of testing expertise, (2) poor salaries, and (3) lack of available housing and social activities for prospective teachers. Correcting this problem will require about 1,000 new units at a cost to the state of about $30 million. In addition, about 500 units that have been allocated on the basis of marginal need should be reallocated to districts having greater needs.

Student Needs: Local boards of education are required to provide student fees for pupils classified as economically deprived. The same equity exists with student fees as with textbooks. The estimated cost to provide state funds for student fees is $20 million per year.

Parent Volunteer Corps Helps Floyd School System

by Malissa Hall

"We want to help Floyd County be the best school system in the state of Kentucky," said Marlene Hall, the Parent Volunteer Corp director, who is a resident of Wheelwright.

Many parents in Eastern Kentucky who are unemployed or have free time want to participate in any way they can in moving the educational system along, said Hall — and now they can, through the Parent Volunteer Corp.

MARLENE HALL

"The Parent Volunteer Corp was started to offer parents a chance to become involved in their children's education and the workings of a school system," said Hall. "PVC gives parents the opportunity to voice how they feel about their children's education, and have input into it."

The most recent project of the PVC involves volunteers who work on a daily basis to increase attendance in Floyd County schools. Volunteers make phone calls to parents of students to let them know that their child was absent from school, and to try to find out why the student was absent. The county loses $10 per student per day for each absence — money, said Hall, that could be used to improve the quality of instruction for all students.

The PVC also allows parents to become involved directly with the students in the Floyd County school system through resource volunteering. A resource volunteer, said Hall, is anyone who has knowledge of some type of arts and crafts, music, careers, vocational education, or other areas they would like to share with students. Volunteers visit schools and make presentations. Bankers, doctors, lawyers, coal miners, persons who have traveled, those who are familiar with a foreign culture, who are retired or who have free time can participate, said Hall.

Another goal is to hold recognition and award ceremonies for teachers, principals and volunteers. In addition to honoring those in the field of education, the group plans to recognize a volunteer of the month by publication in the Floyd County Times.

Hall was introduced to this project at a parent workshop conducted by Regina Stout, the director of the Parent Volunteer Corp in Greenup County. Stout spoke about her organization at a Kentucky Appalachian Foundation conference. Hall then brought PVC to the attention of Floyd County Assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier and Dolores Smith of the School-Community Partnership Committee.

The first meeting of the PVC was held at the school district's central office in Prestonsburg in late September with Frazier, Smith, Hall and Dani Smith, coordinator of the STAY Drop-out Prevention Program, attending.

"Principals and teachers alike are enthusiastic about the PVC and what it can achieve for students," said Hall. In the past several months, PVC has succeeded in sending a letter of inquiry to the parents of students in 10 of the Floyd County schools, asking parents to volunteer.

"This program has given me a lot of information and insight about what my child has been offered in the school system," said Hall. "This also shows me what I, as a parent, can offer."

Many of the 320 of the volunteers are working in grade schools, while a few also assist at the high schools.

To volunteer, or for more information, contact Dani Smith at the Floyd County Board of Education, 886-2354.

Informative Puppet Show

Martin Elementary School students in grades kindergarten through four recently viewed a puppet show presented by Pat Tyson, regional coordinator for the McDowell Cancer Network in Hyden. She explained the respiratory system, air pollution, smoking and how to make health choices using two puppets — Dr. John and Bill. Children received no-smoking coloring books, brochures and badges depicting the harmful effects of tobacco use.

A 'Fondness' For Spelling

In the recent Martin Elementary School spelling bee, fifth grade student Daniel Wallen proved to have a "fondness" for the skill as he defeated 11 other students in grades four through eight to become the school champion.

When the match narrowed to the two finalists, eighth-grader Jessica Wade tripped on the word "occupied." Wallen was proclaimed the winner when he correctly spelled both "occupied" and "fondness," the next word on the list.

The runner-up is the daughter of Paul and Cathy Wade of Martin, and is a member of the school's academic team. Wallen lives with his mother, Dorothy Wallen of Martin, and is the son of Earl Wallen of Knott County.

Other participants and the order of elimination were Heather Barnette, seventh; Cathy Twiss, seventh; Jonathan Scarberry, fifth; Becky Hayes, sixth; Kelli Thompson, fifth; Jenni Yates, eighth; Amanda Conn, fourth; Allison Hall, sixth; Tiffany Francis, sixth; and Beau Tackett, fourth.

Each contestant received a cash award. The winner was also presented a trophy by school principal William R. Hughes.

Virginia Martin, Chapter I reading teacher, pronounced the spelling words and judges were parent-volunteer Tina Collins and reading teacher Pam Wohlford.

Betsy Layne Elementary 4-H Clubs Discuss Careers

by Candice Blackburn, Club Reporter

The Betsy Layne third, fourth and fifth grade 4-H Clubs met Thursday, Feb. 16 at 1:30 p.m. at the Betsy Layne Elementary School.

The meeting was called to order by Kim Newsome, president, who led club members in pledges of allegiance to the American flag and to the 4-H Club.

After roll call, Sherry Morris' fourth grade class presented a program entitled "Careers: Looking to the Future." The program consisted of class members singing songs and reciting poems, all pertaining to job descriptions.

Jack Friar announced that club projects are due in April, and that the next program will be in relation to the projects.

In attendance were third grade classes taught by Patricia Adkins, Deborah Bradley and Sheila Burton; fourth grade classes taught by Marilyn Barnes and Morris; and fifth grade classes taught by Emma Barker, Glenda Spurlock and Lois Tackett.

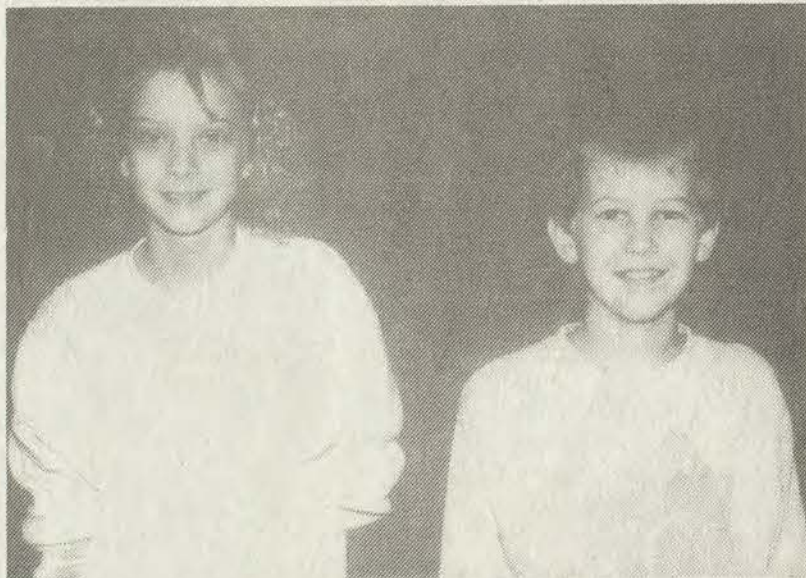

Participate In POPS

Martin Elementary School students and staff are participating in the Kentucky POPS program sponsored by Ashland Oil Co. and former Kentucky governor John Y. Brown and family. POPS is a multimedia program for students to enhance their self esteem. Above, Vicki Pack, Alicia Hughes, Marcella M. Damron and Donna Gray discuss ways to use the program in the classroom.

Chapter I Program

Reading teacher Virginia Martin and her first grade reading students at Martin Elementary School are pictured above. Martin Elementary is one school in the county teaching first graders in their Chapter I reading program. Participants are chosen by teachers to attempt to identify students who may need additional reading instruction. The first grade program is different from other class programs, as it is supplemental instead of remedial, according to William R. Hughes, principal.

Conservation Poster Winners

Jada Webb, left, and Jonathan Scarberry, right, two students from Susan Compton's fifth grade class at Martin Elementary School, recently placed first and second in the overall conservation poster contest in Floyd County, sponsored by the Courier Journal in cooperation with the Kentucky Association of Conservation Districts. Webb is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Webb. She placed first and received a certificate and a $50 US Savings Bond. Scarberry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Scarberry. He received second place and received a certificate.

Martin Dental Health

Jennifer C. Martin, Floyd County school nurse, along with Kentucky Mountain Dentists have visited all the third grade classes in the Floyd County School System to discuss proper dental care. The Crest Association provided a kit containing a toothbrush and toothpaste for each third grade child. Films were shown to aid in the presentation. Pictured is the Martin Elementary third grade class, Andy Elliott, DMD, and Jennifer C. Martin, Floyd County school nurse.

ACT Pizza Party

Seventh grade students in Floyd County recently participated in the Talent Identification Program (TIP) sponsored by Duke University in Durham, N.C. To take the test, seventh graders must have already scored at or above the 97th percentile on other nationally-normed tests. Once qualified, students took the ACT test with high school juniors and seniors. Twelve students took the test in December, and 29 others in February — nine from Harold Elementary, seven from Stumbo, and six from Prestonsburg. Other elementary schools having students finish the test were Allen, Betsy Layne, Clark, Garrett, Maytown, McDowell, Martin, Osborne and Wayland. After the students finished the 3.5 hour test, they were treated to a pizza lunch donated by Prestonsburg Pizza Hut.

Collins Is National Winner In Soundtracks Talent Search.

Lisa Collins, a 17-year-old McDowell High School senior, has been chosen as the national winner in the Soundtracks Talent Search 1988-89.

She was one of many contestants who sent soundtracks for the monthly competition. Her entries were sent through the Lexington and Gatlinburg, Tenn., offices. Her five entries were "My Way," "I Wanna Dance with Somebody," "Stand By Me," "Little Rock," and "Could've Been." Collins does not currently know which of the five selections won.

For being a national winner, she will receive an expense-paid trip for two to California, a personal home recording system from Panasonic, a sing-a-long machine, and an audition with MCA Music Corp. While she is in California, she will be driven to and from the studios in a limousine, and at some point will have a television appearance.

In addition to her singing talents, Collins is also a good student, according to school officials. She plans to attend medical school, but emphasizes that she will not neglect her singing talents. She jokingly said she would sing through her major operations.

Collins said she was excited about winning the contest, relating that she went home and went out to celebrate with her parents, David and Anna Collins, whom she gives a great deal of credit for the support they have given her.

"I knew music was for me when I was 9 years old," said Collins. "I was at the Squirrel Festival and everyone seemed to enjoy my singing. I loved the attention, and I still do."

Robert C. Boyd Scholarship Available To State Students

The Kentucky Department of Education has announced that it is administering the third year of the $139,000 Robert C. Byrd Honors Scholarship program.

Disbursed geographically, this program offers 82 non-renewable scholarships of $1,500 to graduates of Kentucky public or private schools and graduates who have earned a GED this academic year, according to program officials.

The non-renewable scholarship uses the following applicant selection criteria: past academic/vocational achievements; promise of continued education; and verification of enrollment at an accredited post secondary institution during the 1989-90 school year.

More information is available through the offices of secondary and vocational administrators, Adult Basic Education and higher education institutions, academic commissions and task forces, and minority student commissions and councils.

Completed applications must be verified by school officials and mailed to Kentucky Department of Education, Mary Ann Copas, Division of Support Services, 1721 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, KY 40601.

An independent scholarship selection committee, appointed by the superintendent of public instruction, will review applications and identify scholarship recipients.

Recipients will be notified beginning March 28. Scholarships will be officially presented April 14 in Frankfort.

Clark PTA Cooks Up Meal To Raise Funds

The Clark Elementary School PTA has planned a dinner for Saturday, March 11 to raise money toward the purchase of new computer equipment for the school.

Chicken and dumplings and ham are the main courses for the event, which runs from noon until 5 p.m. at the school. Also on the menu are homemade hot rolls and desserts.

Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2 for children, and may be purchased in advance or at the door. Meals may be eaten in or carried out, according to Faye Prater of the PTA.

For information, call the school at 886-2487 or Prater at 886-8852.

provide elementary students throughout the state with projects designed to provoke thought about and compassion for their peers who are disabled, according to William R. Hughes, Martin principal.

First graders were assigned the topic, "The Wonderful World Where Everyone is Different," a theme designed to help them understand their classmates who have handicaps, and to promote a greater awareness of the potential of children who are developmentally disabled.

The fifth grade topic was "All Kids Want to be Part of the Action." The contest provided a real opportunity to dispel misconceptions about children with handicaps and to gain an understanding of some of the hazards they might encounter, Hughes explained.

The school's poster winner in the first grade was Eric Yates, whose teacher is Marcella Damron. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Wallen of Martin. Shelley Ward, fifth grade winner, is the daughter of Jimmy and Veronica Ward, also of Martin. Her teacher is Ruby Mayo. Both contestants were presented with awards by Hughes.

The winning posters were submitted to the Kentucky Developmental Disabilities Planning Council. The state winners from each grade division will receive a $100 check awarded during an expense-paid trip to Frankfort. The trip will include a parent and the child's teacher.

Lodging, meals and a guided tour of the capitol will also be provided.

"Color Me Beautiful"

COLD COMFORT?
You wouldn't pour your child a glass of wine or a cocktail to help relieve the symptoms of a head cold. However, many of the over-the-counter cough and cold remedies that you may choose to give him contain as much alcohol as a bar-strength drink. Most of the so-called night time cold formula products are a generous 50 proof. Elixir of terpin hydrate, a commonly used cough preparation, can be more than 80 proof. That is equivalent to a shot of straight gin, vodka or whiskey. Even a small amount of alcohol can affect the child's nervous system, causing behavioral changes, decreased reaction time, slurred speech, and lack of muscular coordination. Your best protection is to read labels carefully, and ask your pharmacist for non-alcoholic products for your children.
At COOLEY APOTHECARY we're here to answer your questions where your medications or over the counter remedies are concerned. Our patient profile system allows us to check for drug interactions and allergic reactions. You'll find us located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 and open Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3. # 'Idea Tree' Branching Method Helps Reinforce Writing Skills

Students in Ruby Mayo's fifth grade class at Martin Elementary School are writing reports — and enjoying it.

Using a technique called the "idea tree," students utilized information to write and report, and were surprised at how much easier it made the assignment, said Mayo.

The technique is described in the Silver Burdett and Ginn English Series.

The class drew a tree trunk on the chalkboard, then wrote an idea on the trunk (e.g., hats). Additional details about the subject were placed on the branches (kinds of hats). Limbs were added to branches to expand details, and kept branching until the class ran out of ideas.

"The idea tree can be very useful in writing a report," notes Mayo. "It not only encourages creativity, but also teaches students to organize ideas before writing. These organized ideas become good paragraphs with topic sentences and supporting details — the result is a well-written report."

Following is a report, "Fascinating Hats," written by Nick Stone.

"Most hats have ordinary parts, the main parts are lining, brim, crown and band. An adjustment strap is a must on a construction or miner's hat.

"When buying a hat, knowing the correct size is important. You need the correct head size when choosing a hat. Some hats come in head sizes determined by the measurement of a head. Others simply come in small, medium and large.

"Hats can be bought in several colors, designs or materials. The colors to choose from are endless. The designs of hats could be striped, plaid or checkered. Hats can be made of different fabrics, plastic, straw or even leather.

"Furthermore, hats are used for many reasons. Hats can be used for a disguise, for shelter, or for protection. A magician may use a hat for tricks.

"Numerous decorations can be attached to hats. You can put your name, pins or buttons on them. A cowboy hat may have a feather in it. Bandannas, beads, flowers or even fruit can be added to a hat.

"I have noticed hats of all kinds everywhere. There are hard hats, straw hats, ladies' hats and top hats. There is a Mexican hat called a sombrero."

New Idea In Writing

Ruby Mayo's fifth grade class at Martin Elementary School is writing reports using the "idea tree," a technique described in the new Silver Burdett and Ginn English Series. The "idea tree" encourages creativity and teaches students to organize ideas before writing, according to Mayo.

Books And Things:

Interesting Mix Of Titles Available From PCC Library

by Trisha Morris
PCC Librarian

The following books from the Prestonsburg Community College Library represent the variety of titles that have been added recently to the collection.

Kentucky Derby, by Joe Hirsch. The Kentucky Derby has been described as the greatest two minutes in sports. This oversized book captures the sport from the first wobbly steps of a potential racehorse to the hard work of its training; the life of a jockey from muddy workouts to race timesilks; it includes the magic time of the race itself. Here is the dramatic story of the Derby told in 343 color photographs and a well-written text. Filled with excitement, unpredictability and humor, it penetrates the mystique of a century-old American tradition — not only at the track, but in rarely-viewed action behind the scenes.

A Short History of African Art, by Werner Gillon. This book is one of the first major attempts to reconstruct a comprehensive history of the visual arts of Africa. It includes not only sculpture, painting and architecture, but also textiles, pottery, jewelry, religious dress and body art.

Illustrated with over 250 superb photographs, 14 detailed maps and providing an extensive bibliography and index, this book makes an invaluable contribution to the study and enjoyment of 30,000 years of African art.

Off Beat Careers, by Al Sacharov. If your automatic response is boring, boring, boring every time you mentally run down the commonly-accepted ways to earn a living, this book could be your salvation. It describes possible jobs that will challenge your creativity, offer serenity or fulfill your wildest fantasies. From smoke jumper to shepherd, from symphony conductor to circus clown, Off Beat Careers offers full job descriptions and real addresses to start you on your way to finding your special niche in life.

Revolution at the Table, by Harvey Levenstein. In the 19th Century, large women were described as voluptuous and large men as stout. Famed heartthrob Lillian Russell weighed almost 200 pounds. Today, large people are called fat and urged to change their eating habits and start an exercise routine. What happened? Historian Levenstein serves up fascinating insights into the social, economic and political forces that spurred the American eating revolution — urbanization, immigration, technological and agricultural advances, and the changing role of women in society. He examines prohibition, the working wife and the giant food corporations in his hunt for what transformed the American diet.

Storm in the Mountains, by James Moffett. Censorship happens in many ways — by worthy manuscripts being daily rejected by publishers in their quest for a sure seller, by libraries who can only purchase what their budgets dictate, and by school boards who choose textbooks that reflect the values they want children to learn. In 1974, the most important and tumultuous textbook conflict in the history of the US occurred in Kanawha County, W.Va. This book is a case study of that dispute and its consequences. Written by the developer of the highly-innovative program the textbooks encompassed, and related in some of the actual words of the book banners themselves, this book brings the drama to life as it actually happened. It is the story of the ultimate censorship — not from a government suppressing ideas, but from a corporate industry making money.

What's a Coal Miner To Do?, by Keith Dix. From Shoemaking to shipbuilding or coal mining, the nature of work has changed with the rise of technology. This particular book examines underground bituminous coal mining and the technological changes that transformed that industry in the 1920s and 1930s. For over 100 years, the production of coal depended on a man and an empty coal car.

In the late 1920s, Joseph Jay invented the mobile loading machine, and coal mining has never been the same. This is the story of the rise of technology in the coal industry, the plight of the individual coal miner, and the rise of the United Mine Workers under the leadership of John L. Lewis.

In the Combat Zone, by Kathryn Marshall. This oral history of American women in Vietnam tells of women who went because they "wanted to do something to help"; women who "went on a dare," and women (mostly Army nurses) who were ordered there. Most of them functioned as caretakers and helpmates to the combat soldier — they were nurses, decoders, secretaries, cartographers, clerks and entertainers. But they saw the same war that the men saw.

This is the story of 20 women who went to Vietnam for different reasons, but found themselves bound by that experience. Now, interviewed by the author, they speak of the uncomfortable alienation of a neglected minority from an unwanted war.

The Older Americans Cookbook, by Marilyn McFarlane. The nation as a whole is getting older. This book was written to fill the need of people who want to maintain a quality life in later years, and who must adjust their cooking habits to a smaller household. Many older people lose interest in food because of physical problems, or the simple boredom of cooking only for themselves.

This book is packed with recipes, menu ideas and helpful tips. In an easy to read, easy to use format, it provides six weeks' worth of flavorful meals.

With appendixes on low salt and low cholesterol diets, helpful suggestions on shopping, meal preparation and nutrition, and menus of meals for different appetites, it is a cookbook that will tastefully meet the nutritional needs of the older American.

Lafferty, Webb Say Vows

Marsha Ann Lafferty and Gregory Webb were united in marriage on Dec. 31, 1988, at Christ United Methodist Church in Allen, with the Rev. Kenneth Lemaster performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Larry and Marcy Lafferty of Emma; the groom is the son of Charlie and Wanda Webb of Paintsville.

Musical selections were performed by Lori Smith of Frankfort and Wendy Webb of Paintsville. They were accompanied by Kelly Webb and Jimmy Davis on the piano.

Lisa Allen, cousin of the bride, presided at the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Woodrow Lafferty. Her gown was white lace over bridal satin, with tiny pearls and sequins covering the bodice. The over-the-forehead veil was also adorned with pearls and sequins, and her bouquet included red rosebuds, baby's breath and greenery with a streamer of tiny pearls.

Serving as matron of honor was Lori Smith; bridesmaids were Sheri Lynn Lafferty and Debbi Sue Lafferty, sisters of the bride, and Wendy Webb, sister of the groom. The attendants wore tea-length gowns of black velvet and red satin, and carried bouquets of red rose buds.

Serving as flower girl was Kara Conley, niece of the groom. She carried a basket of red rose petals. The ring bearer was Eric Daniels, nephew of the groom.

Serving as best man was John Frisby of Springfield, Ohio. Ushers were Davis Frisby, Jimmy Davis and Bert Thomas.

Marcy Lafferty, mother of the bride, wore a tan silk street-length dress with matching accessories, and Wanda Webb, mother of the groom, wore a pink and black silk dress with rhinestone and onyx accessories. Both wore white corsages.

The wedding was directed by Jackie Dobson.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall following the ceremony.

After a brief honeymoon in the Great Smokey Mountains, the couple returned to Richmond, where the bride will complete her studies this semester at Eastern Kentucky University. Afterwards, she will join Webb, who will be entering the Air Force March 26. He is currently employed with Rand McNally Corp. in Richmond.

CITIZENS:

It is critical that we have a new administration to care for our Floyd County Jail. My plans as jailer will be to revive our jail, so we may have a better Floyd County Jailing System.

- 1) BRUTALITY-The Floyd County Jail can do without this & will if I am elected.
- 2) MAKE JAIL HUMANE-By holding staff as well as residents legally responsible for their actions.
- 3) MAKE THE JAIL SAFE-By cracking down on interpersonal violence such as inmates hurting one another or themselves.
- 4) MAKE JAIL SENTENCE TOUGH YET FAIR-BY SEGREGATING ALL VIOLENT AND DANGEROUS inmates from non-violent inmates while providing all inmates the opportunity to earn "GOOD TIME" and work their way into less restrictive environments.
- 5) TREAT INMATES AS INDIVIDUALS WITH INDIVIDUAL PROBLEMS-By offering therapeutic programs & choice of religious confrontation.
- 6) PROVIDE ALL MEDICAL ATTENTION NEEDED-We must consider inmates as human individuals as we are by giving any & all medical attention that is needed among them.
- 7) PROVIDE TROUBLED INMATES WITH PROFESSIONAL & CONFIDENTIAL COUNSELING-By counselors employed by agencies outside the jailing administration.
- 8) ENCOURAGE FAMILIES TO STAY TOGETHER-By facilitating private inmates and personal contact visits.
- 9) STOP USING THE JAIL AS A DUMPING GROUNDS FOR VICTIMLESS CRIMES- Such as gambling or probable drug use by inmates that may be brought to them by relatives or neighboring friends.
- 10) PLACE A RENEWED EMPHASIS ON REFORMING THE FLOYD COUNTY JAIL- By providing the resources necessary to have a truly effective rehabilitative institution for inmates to pay their debts to society.

If elected by the citizens support, I will apply, through the state government as well as the Floyd County Fiscal Court, to establish a security camera system throughout the jail and jailhouse surroundings, to help prevent any further jail escapes and to monitor any & all crimes that may be committed.

Chapman-Crane To Exhibit Work

Jeff Chapman-Crane began painting as a full-time professional in 1974. In 1982, he moved to Fleming Neon. According to the artist, this move "represented more than just a geographical relocation; it changed the entire course of my work. Until then, I had painted mostly landscapes; since moving to Neon, I have concentrated almost exclusively on portraits, especially people living in difficult circumstances." His work will be on exhibit throughout March at the Prestonsburg Community College Art Gallery, and a reception with the artist will be held Saturday, March 18, from noon until 3 p.m.

Chapman-Crane Exhibit, Reception Scheduled At PCC

Prestonsburg Community College will sponsor a reception for the public to meet Jeff Chapman-Crane and to view his work on exhibit at the PCC Art Gallery Saturday, March 18, from noon until 3 p.m.

Chapman-Crane's work will be on display throughout March.

Three of Chapman-Crane's works were included in the University of Kentucky "Images from the Mountains" traveling exhibit of Kentucky artists.

Chapman-Crane began painting as a full-time professional in 1974. In 1982, he moved to Fleming Neon. According to the artist, this move "represented more than just a geographical relocation; it changed the entire course of my work. Until then, I had painted mostly landscapes; since moving to Neon, I have concentrated almost exclusively on portraits, especially people living in difficult circumstances."

Coming from Orebank, near Kingsport, Tenn., and settling in Eastern Kentucky, Chapman-Crane says the realization that "the people of Appalachia and the land they inhabit have, for a long time, been misrepresented by the popular media and, consequently, misunderstood by the rest of the country."

He adds, "My art addresses itself to this problem. By focusing on Appalachia and its people, I seek to tell the truth, or at least what part of it

I can, about this land which is home to me."

Chapman-Crane has participated in various exhibits from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Anaheim, Calif., and has received many awards for his works.

In 1986, his works were featured in the October issue of "American Artist Magazine" and last year he received merit awards for his works in the "Images from the Mountains" exhibit. In a nationwide Arts for the Parks competition sponsored by the National Park Service in 1988, one of his paintings was accepted in the top 100 of 2,650 entries at Jackson Hole, Wyo.

For more information about the exhibit, contact Etta Cantrell at PCC, 886-3863, extension 296.

Several community and church service organizations participated in the annual Day of Prayer for Christian Unity by presenting displays at St. Martha's Catholic Church on Sunday, Feb. 26.

The event was sponsored by the Floyd County Ministerial Association.

The displays illustrated the wide variety of enterprises that are carried on in the county in service to others. Some are run by volunteers, others have employed staff, but all are directed at serving various kinds of human needs.

The main speaker was Faye Ruffing, coordinator of Cooperative Christian Ministries of Floyd County, an organization designed to coordinate emergency assistance from the churches and area food pantries.

HRMC Honors Seniors, Makes Donation To Center

Highlands Regional Medical Center sponsored a birthday party in celebration of nearly 500 years recently at the Floyd County Senior Citizens Center, honoring six center members.

Approximately 65 persons were present for the pot-luck dinner and socializing. Representing Highlands were Kathy Rubado, public relations coordinator, and Judy Williams Daniel, public relations staff assistant. HRMC provided the birthday cake, punch and ice cream. In addition, each of the six honorees was presented with gift from the hospital. The hospital also donated a service, the Guardian Angel Program, a simple device that provides protection and security to elderly, disabled and "shut-ins".

Robert Ford, Highlands director of safety and security, introduced the system and demonstrated its use. A small transmitter is kept at hand by the disabled person, and should trouble arise, one's telephone picks up the emergency signal and automatically calls the Guardian Angel Operator at Highlands — on duty around the clock. Through the simple telephone attachment, disabled persons can notify whomever they choose — a relative, neighbor or family physician — with the touch of a button.

"The Guardian Angel system provides independence and peace of mind. If one should become disabled and cannot reach a phone, this system will contact the Guardian Angel operator, who will follow up with an appropriate response to the emergency at hand," said Ford. "The disabled can be more independent, more on their own — without being alone."

A Guardian Angel system is currently operation at the Senior Citizen's Center. For more information, contact HRMC, 886-8511.

Seniors Honored

Army Offers New Enlistment Option

A new enlistment option is being offered by the United States Army.

The new option is offered with the Army's two-year enlistment, which includes the Army College Fund and/or the Montgomery G.I. Bill, plus a guaranteed first assignment to Europe.

"The two-year enlistment is already a great option and this makes it that much better," said Lt. Col. Gary Pasierb, commander of the Army Battalion in Beckley, W. Va.

Prospective recruits must be high school graduates or seniors who are both mentally and physically qualified, and willing to accept a specific job that is currently available with the offer, said Pasierb. Such jobs include specialties in the medical, veterinary, food inspection, air defense, mechanic, infantry and armory fields.

tribute to the founder of the club. Members voted to increase the player dues for those who wish to participate in the awards.

John Rupley placed a crown on Robert Pinson, making a speech and presenting him with a long-stem red carnation.

TV Q&A

Shadoe began career as 11-year-old deejay

By Polly Vonetes

Q: My daughter thinks Shadoe Stevens is really "cool", but doesn't know anything about him. Could you tell her his age, marriage etc.? Where could she get a poster of him? —M. Matheson, Moose Jaw, Sask. Can.

A: Born in Jamestown, North Dakota, as Terry Ingstad, in 1941, 11-year-old Stevens became the youngest disc jockey in the world. Following his early success, Stevens continued to hone his broadcasting skills throughout his college days as program director for both the U. of North Dakota and U. of Arizona. In 1969 he decided to change his name to Shadoe, with an e—a name he laughingly explains came to him "in a blaze of glory sent by the Lord". His name became a role model for at least nine other USA disc jockeys. He and his wife, Beverly, make their home in Los Angeles with their 3-year-old daughter, Amber. Shadoe also has a 20-year-old son from a previous marriage. Write to The Lipin Group, 8124 W. 3rd St., Los Angeles, Calif., to inquire about a poster.

Q: I recently watched the movie Birch Interval, in which Rip Torn was cast as Eddie Albert's son. This movie was made in 1977. How old were these two actors at that time? —Glenda Lee, Fort Worth, Texas.

A: The film Birch Interval was released in 1976. Rip Torn was born on Feb. 6, 1931, making him 45 years old. Eddie Albert was born April 22, 1908, making him 76 years old.

Q: Did Martin Short play Mr. Goodbody on Captain Kangaroo? Who played the son on the TV series Starman? Was Timothy Hutton ever a character on the show? —Kristie Maze, Anchorage, Alaska.

A: Slim Goodbody, the popular singing superhero of good health, was played by John Burstein. C.B. Barnes starred as Scott Hayden, son of Starman. Timothy Hutton's credits do not list Starman.

Q: I'm a Jennifer Grey fan. I'd like some information about her and an address, please. I read your column all the time. —J.L. Turner, Montrose, Colo.

A: Jennifer was born in 1960, in New York City, to actor Joel Grey and his wife, Jo. After her debut in the film Reckless, she played larger parts in The Cotton Club, Red Dawn, Ferris Bueller's Day Off and American Flyers. Her first starring role was in Dirty Dancing, followed by Bloodhounds of Broadway and Children of a Lesser God. Rumor has it that there will be wedding in March for her and Johnny Depp of 21 Jump Street. Write to her c/o ICM, 40 W. 57th St., New York, NY 10019.

First-Time Buyer Affordability Better, But Still Room To Improve

First-time home buyers gained a slight amount of purchasing power during the fourth quarter of 1988, but their buying capability remained well below that of the typical purchasers, according to a measurement of housing affordability by the National Association of Realtors.

The NAR's First-Time Home Buyer Affordability Index measured 78.9 during the final three months of last year, meaning that the typical first-time buyer had 78.9 percent of the income needed to qualify to buy the typical starter home.

The index shows the ability of renters who are prime potential first-time buyers to qualify for a mortgage on a starter home. The prime first-time median income used in the index calculation represents the typical income of a renter family with wage earners aged between 25 and 44. For the fourth quarter, the median income was $21,898—$5,843 below the amount needed to qualify to buy a home priced at $74,743, the starter home price for the quarter.

At 100.0, the index means that buyers have exactly enough income to qualify for a conventional home loan by making a 10 percent down payment.

At 78.9, the fourth quarter index rose from 77.4 percent in the third quarter. However, it continues to show that first-time buyers fall far short of having enough income to buy, said NAR President Ira Gribin. "Any improvement in housing affordability for first-time buyers is encouraging, but the situation is still very difficult," he said.

"We are concerned that people trying to enter the market continue to be priced out," he said. "First-time home buyer affordability ranks among the most pressing policy issues now facing the housing sector."
