Speaking of and for Floyd County

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24, 1989

Ready for a change?

Well, okay, just for awhile. Under sunny skies, we should see temperatures in the mid-80s today, falling to the lower 60s tonight. Thursday's forecast from the US Weather Service in Jackson is for partly sunny skies and higher humidity; upper 80s. For the weekend, look for sun in between the afternoon thundershowers, with highs hovering between 80 and 90, with lows of 65-70.

Task Force To Meet

A task force on driving under the influence of alcohol will hold its final public hearing Friday, May 26, at Prestonsburg Community College at 1:30 p.m. in Pike Auditorium.

Pike District Judge Chuck Huffman is a member of the task force, and has attended prior public hearings in Owensboro, Paducah and Covington. The hearing is free of charge and open to the public.

The task force, formed by state Attorney General Fred Cowan, is seeking ways to improve Kentucky's system for dealing with drunk driving.

Stroke Claims Oakie Bevins, Death Row Inmate

Floyd Countian William "Oakie" Bevins, Kentucky's oldest death row inmate, died Friday in Paducah of an apparent stroke. Bevins, 77, was in prison for the murder of five men in 1981 at Allen.

The Printer man was in the news recently as the state Public Advocacy Department sought a rehearing to set aside the death sentence. The department cited Bevins' age and questioned the competence of his attorney at the time of the trial.

Bevins was convicted during a trial that was moved to Greenup Circuit Court of the murder of Roger Dale Click, Michael Halbert, Rufus Hamilton, Garvey Hamilton and Roger Hatfield at Mountain Truck Parts. The shootings apparently stemmed from Bevins' relationship with Click's wife.

Rescue Squad Roadblock Set

Proceeds will be used in the operating fund of the rescue squad and fire department.

Wheelwright Council To Meet

Wheelwright City Council will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at city hall. The meeting was previously scheduled for last week but was postponed.

Hammond Wins; Sheriff's Race Close

Jim Hammond Wins; Carries 33 Of 48 Precincts

Saying his is a "people's victory," former state senator Jim Hammond thanked supporters Tuesday night at a post-election party after winning the county attorney's race by more than 1,200 votes.

In what was regarded by many as one of the most vicious local races in the state, Hammond carried 33 of the county's 48 precincts.

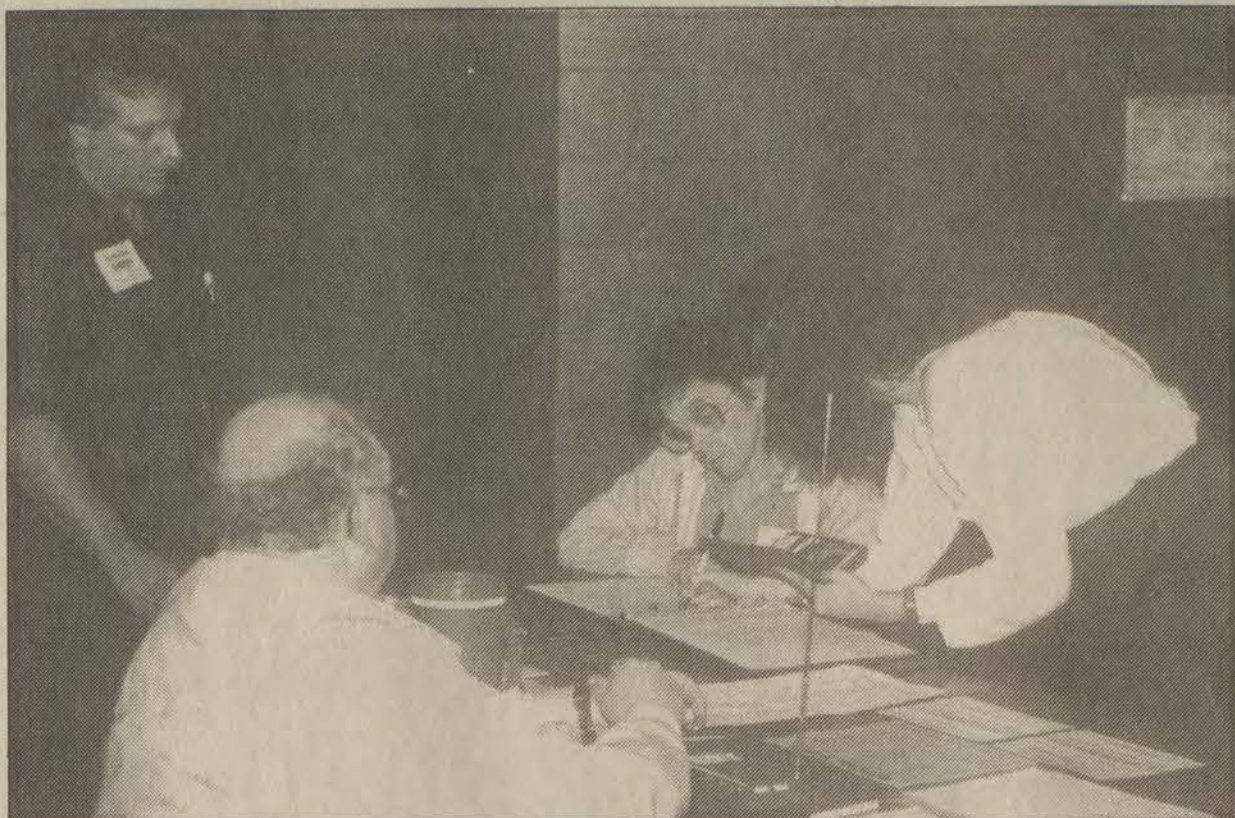

"It's sweet," he acknowledged, adding that he has "no regrets, no retreats."

His opponent, incumbent David Allen Barber, conceded the race shortly after 8:30 p.m.

"Obviously," said Barber, "I've made quite a few people mad by putting them in jail and doing my job."

"I probably had the best organization of people I've ever dealt with; I just couldn't out-promise him," Barber said.

Hammond had campaigned on a number of issues, predominantly dealing with drug abuse prevention and economic development.

Elizabeth Howard, Auxier, signs in at the seventh precinct to cast her vote in yesterday's primary election at the Auxier Grade School. Ron Masters, left, is the precinct judge, Lloyd Powers, sheriff, and Merion Masters, clerk. The seventh precinct reported a 51 percent turnout at 5:30 p.m.

Three-Way Lead A Close Call In Sheriff's Race

Floyd County apparently has a new sheriff, after absentee balloting decided a stiff two-way race between incumbent Henry C. Hale and challenger Paul Hunt Thompson.

Thompson recorded a 124-vote victory in the unofficial returns, garnering 5,983 votes to Hale's 5,859. A third candidate, John K. Blackburn, pulled in 5,439 ballots, followed by Bertee Hall, with 156.

Interestingly, Thompson and Blackburn carried 14 precincts each, while Hale carried 20. However, Thompson ran second in nearly every precinct he did not carry.

Thompson campaigned primarily on previous projects in which he participated, including housing and transportation. All three top vote-getters heavily touted drug abuse prevention in their platforms.

Less than 5 percentage points decided the race in Thompson's favor. Thompson collected 34.3 percent of the votes cast, while Hale followed with 33.6 percent. Blackburn received 31.1 percent of the 17,437 ballots cast.

Stumbo, Bolton Retain County Offices

Tuesday belonged to the incumbents in Floyd County's judge executive, county clerk, jailer and coroner races.

The clerk's race proved to be the tightest of the four, with incumbent Carla R. Bolton winning over challenger Roger Webb by around 1,000 votes. Webb's best showings appeared in pockets of districts 3 and 4, while Bolton carried most of the precincts in the other two districts.

Bolton admitted Tuesday evening that the results were closer than she originally expected. "Last week, I thought we'd win by 2-to-3,000 votes," she said.

The clerk said she began to get calls a few days ago which caused her to realize the contest would be closer. She did not elaborate on the nature of the calls. Bolton carried 30 of the 48 precincts, representing 54 percent of the votes cast in the race.

The incumbent clerk's campaign platform relied heavily on her record in office. In pre-election advertising, Bolton cited the duties of the clerk's office, and her experience as clerk for the past 5 1/2 years. Previously, she was a deputy clerk for 14 years under her uncle, "Ollie" Robinson.

COUNTY JUDGE-EXECUTIVE

Judge Executive John M. Stumbo handily won reelection. Stumbo chalked up almost three times the number of votes cast for his strongest opponent, Dickie Hall, and more than five times the number for challenger Glennis Ray Caudill. Stumbo was the biggest vote-getter of the three in every precinct.

Hall ran second with 3,288 votes, while Hall pulled in 1,931 ballots. Overall, Stumbo garnered 66 percent of the 14,922 votes cast. Hall earned 22 percent, and Caudill received 14 percent.

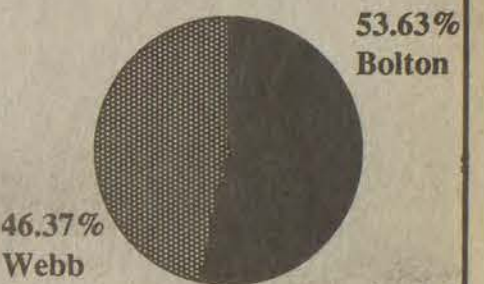

COUNTY JAILER

Lawrence Hale easily took enough votes to keep his office as jailer. His nearest challenger was Junior Joseph, who trailed by more than 2,000 votes. Ernest Burchett came in third, followed by Earl Patrick.

COUNTY CORONER

Coroner Roger G. Nelson was, by far, the most successful vote-getter in the county. He received more than 10,000 votes to easily defeat challenger Derwin Dale Merion.

County Clerk

Council OKs Record Budget

A record budget of more than $2 million was passed by a 4-2 vote by the Prestonsburg City Council at its regular Monday evening meeting.

The final figure of $2,129,674 for 1989-90 was okayed by William Callihan, Adrian Blackburn, William O. Goebel III and Danny Hamilton. Councilman Michael Vance voted "no" and Charles Hale abstained, saying he did not understand all parts of the budget. Absent from the meeting were Paul Joseph and Jim Yates.

The budget reflects $81,000 from the Municipal Road Aid Program, $80,000 from Local Government Economic Assistance Fund and $1,968,674 from local resources.

Specific appropriations, by departments, are:

- General government operations, $634,271
- Fire, $433,190 (reflects revenue from sale of fire truck)
- Police, $383,500
- Parks/recreation, $313,400
- Sanitation, $119,600
- Enterprises (parking lots), $55,163.

To derive the final budget figures, council members, Mayor Ann Latta and City Manager Fred James estimated revenues for the coming year and met with heads of city departments to assess needs.

Revenues, other than the $161,000 from state sources, are expected to come from property taxes, license and permit fees, charges for services and other sources.

Following the second reading of the budget proposal, Blackburn asked the city manager: "Can we meet all commitments in this new budget?"

"I think so," James replied. "Our budget in the last three years has increased by almost $400,000, not counting the restaurant tax, and we have managed to pay off a tremendous debt."

James said the city has made significant progress in paying off the debt accrued a few years ago when federal revenue sharing stopped. "Every bank note we have for every fire truck, every street sweeper, every garbage truck, is paid on the day it is due," he said, adding that at one time bill payments were as much as 120 days behind.

James indicated the city should take pride in being able to project such a large budget without the revenue sharing supplement.

Vance's no vote apparently stemmed from the fact that the budget did not specifically allocate money for the city's proposed youth center. "This is a serious problem that needs

All Magisterial Incumbents Retain Democratic Go-Ahead

Except for an almost photo finish in District Two, the incumbent magistrates easily won their Democratic nominations to the Floyd County fiscal court in Tuesday's primary election, but all will face opposition in November.

In one of the closest races, Jackie Edford Owens won over R.D. "Doc" Marshall by a small, unofficial margin, and will face James D. Fitzpatrick of Garrett in November. Fitzpatrick filed as an independent. Third and fourth place finishers in the eight-candidate race were James E. Slone and Kenneth Roberts.

In District Three, which fielded 18 candidates for magistrate, incumbent Betty J. Caudill outpolled her opponents by a handy margin. Stoney Newsome gained the second highest number of votes, followed by Grover Samons. Caudill will face republican Curtis Hall in November.

Voters in District One renominated Gerald DeRossett by a handsome majority. His closest contender was Thomas D. Lafferty, followed by Johnny Keith Endicott. Seven candidates vied for the post.

DeRossett outpolled his opponents in 11 of 16 precincts, and will run against a republican candidate, Gorman Collins Jr., in the fall.

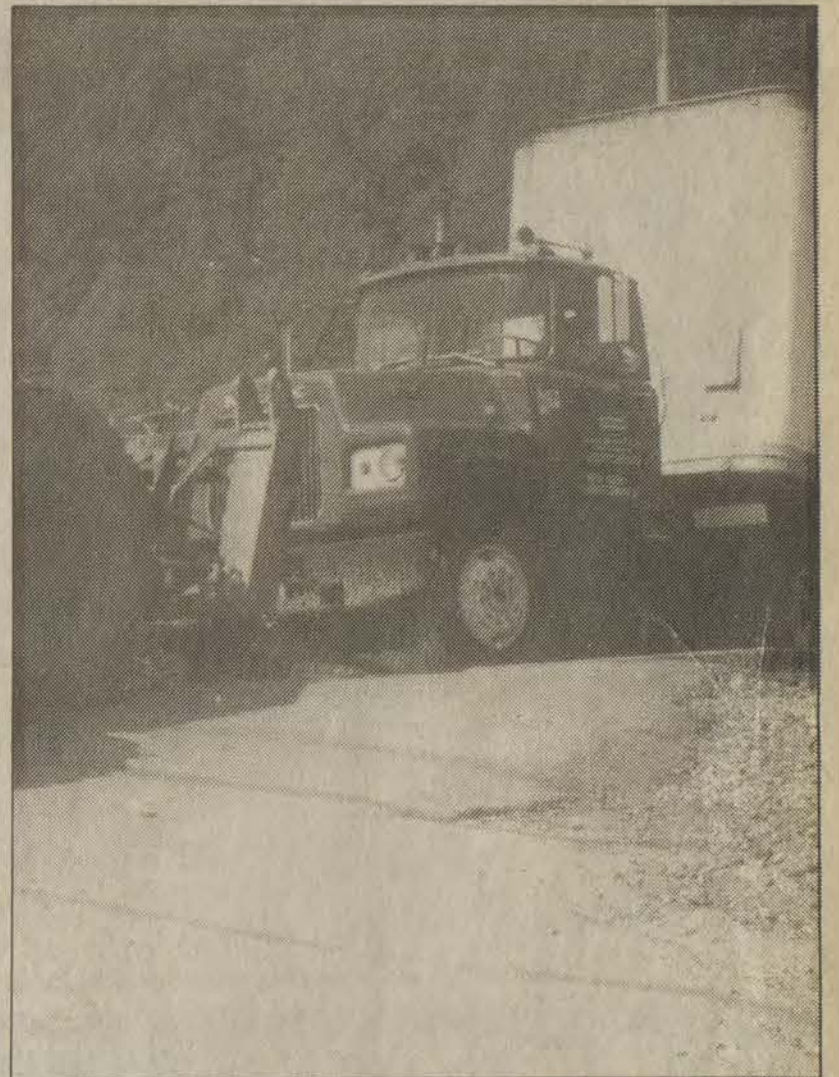

With only three other candidates for the District Four seat, Ernal Tackett received about twice as many votes as his nearest competitor, Herman Conn. Tackett was the top vote-getter in each precinct in the district, except for precinct 39. Tackett will face November opposition from republican Keith Williams.

In the races for constable, Morgan Joseph appeared to be the winner in District One; Bob Hackworth, District Two; and Buddy Bryant, District Three. Paul Stilton gained the District Four democratic nomination, and will run against republican Astor Hall in November. None of the constable races was particularly close.

Memorial Day

Joe Rose of Prestonsburg mows the grass at Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel in preparation for Memorial Day weekend. Martha Justice, manager of the cemetery, said the staff has been working 10 to 12 hours a day "sweeping off head stones, driveways, and steps, sowing seed on new graves and just general clean up." Memorial Day will officially be observed on Monday, May 29, with government offices, banks and the public library closed. The Floyd County Times office will be open, and editorial and advertising deadlines will remain the same.

Stop The Train

Dwale residents were cut off from the rest of the county on Monday when this tractor-trailer, delivering coolant to Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, was lodged for 45 minutes on the railroad tracks crossing the only access road to the community. See related story on page 2.

Will Face November Run-off

Janet Stumbo, Barkley Sturgill Earn Top Votes In East Ky. Court Of Appeals Race

Tuesday's primary election did not end the political race for judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals for two Floyd County attorneys.

Janet Stumbo, who has a Van Lear address but lives in Floyd County line, and Barkley Sturgill of Prestonsburg are the apparent winners in the contest to decide the run-off candidates for appellate judge in November's general election. Both candidates have Prestonsburg law practices.

With a majority of precincts in the 20-county appellate district reporting early this morning, Stumbo was apparently the top vote-getter, with Sturgill running second.

Pike County attorney Richard Elswick earlier this year was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Dan Jack Combs on the Court of Appeals after Combs was elected to the state Supreme Court. Elswick apparently came in third in yesterday's primary, leaving his name off the November ballot. Sturgill was the clear winner in Floyd and Johnson counties, but Stumbo appeared to have won more votes in most of the other counties in the appellate district, which covers 20 counties in Eastern Kentucky.

Elswick won his home county by a wide margin, but placed third in most of the other counties.

Two other candidates, Max Picklesimer of Ashland and Sidney Douglass of Harlan, withdrew.

Sturgill is a former county attorney and has held several appointed government posts. Stumbo has not held elected public office.

to be dealt with," Vance said. "I request we consider designating about $40,000 for a capital outlay this year."

Council members expressed concern about spending money on a building the city does not own. (The center, inactive as yet, has use of a building at the corner of Central Avenue and Graham Street.) Latta pointed out that the youth center committee "has not spent all of last year's money."

The mayor also indicated that deed problems surrounding property of the Harkins Estate on Trimble Branch have been resolved and the site can be advertised for sale. The property was left to the city either to be used for youth activities and recreation or to be sold to benefit those activities.

James said Tuesday that the council, meeting in executive session during the regular meeting, authorized him to advertise the site, amounting to 30 acres or so, for sale after he certifies the zoning and marks boundaries.

During the summer months, the council will meet only once a month, making the next regular meeting June 26 at 7 p.m. at the municipal building.

(See separate stories in this issue on other actions taken by council at Monday's meeting.)

Stuck Truck Cuts Access To Dwale

A tractor-trailer truck, driven by Charles Thacker of Ashland Oil and carrying antifreeze for Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company, became lodged Monday on the Dwale railroad crossing when its landing gear could not clear the uprise.

Residents notified the railroad company to stop any rail traffic for 45 minutes while the tracks were blocked.

Employees of the gas company used an end loader to attempt to pull the truck across the tracks, but ended up having another truck dislodge it backwards. Workers had to unload the contents (55 gallon drums) into a pickup truck to complete the delivery.

While the the crossing was blocked, Dwale residents were unable to leave the community on their only access road. They have been attempting to get the county to provide them with another bridge to enter and exit the community for some time, according to Rita Davis, local store owner.

She said this is not the first time that trucks for companies in the area have had problems on the railroad tracks. She cited two examples from the past two years. An East Kentucky Pipe truck got lodged and dumped its load of pipes on the road, and another time a truck from Ashland Chemical Co. took the turn wrong and hit a telephone pole causing the wires to burn a hole in the top of the truck, she said.

Davis' store is on the corner of the crossing and she says she knows quite well the threat the limited access brings to the community. She added that the residents are concerned about the county's ability to provide them emergency services, such as evacuation notification and rescue personnel, should the community be threatened by a chemical disaster.

Floyd County Disaster/Emergency Services Coordinator David Chaffins, who was present at Monday's incident, said that should the truck have spilled the antifreeze there would have been an environmental hazard, since antifreeze is a poisonous substance and will burn. He also added that the gas company had the situation under control at that time.

Stumbo Honored For Support

Judge Executive John M. Stumbo was recently presented with a plaque reading, "In sincere appreciation for your continuing support," by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad. Representing the squad are Onda Hunt (left), captain, and Dwight Crider, secretary/treasurer.

Police, Fire Departments Report Week's Incidents

A two-vehicle accident at the intersection of US 23 and KY 114 last Wednesday evening resulted in a Prestonsburg teenager being taken to University of Kentucky Medical Center.

Christopher Ellis, 17, received head and neck injuries when the car he was riding in collided with another, according to Officer John P.

Hunt of the Prestonsburg police department.

Ellis was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and later to UK. He was released the next day, according to medical center staff.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Bernard Branham of Prestonsburg. Branham's northbound vehicle reportedly struck a car driven by Brenda Holman of Allen. Holman, according to the police report, was entering Prestonsburg Village from KY 114. Holman's son, Jonathan, 10, was a passenger in her car. Both cars were severely damaged, Hunt said.

An separate accident Monday involved a car driven by Randall Goble of West Van Lear who reportedly backed into a vehicle driven by Loraine Marshall of Prestonsburg. The incident took place at McDonald's parking lot.

Prestonsburg firefighters responded Monday night to a call from the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center. A small trash can fire had activated the sprinkler system, according to Chief Thomas Blackburn.

Students were evacuated to the center parking lot until smoke was cleared out of the building and the sprinklersystem was reset, Blackburn said. Authorities believe the fire was deliberately set.

Church Holding Memorial Service

Memorial services will be held on the John G. Reffett Cemetery on Pitts Fork Creek of Pyramid, Saturday, June 3 beginning at 10 a.m. under the sponsorship of the First United Methodist Church of Prestonsburg, Dr. Quentin Scholtz officiating.

In the event of rain, services will be rescheduled for June 10 at 10 a.m.

For additional information, contact Floyd and Nancy Davis at 886-6323, or the church at 886-8031.

City Council OKs Burn Law

Permission from the Prestonsburg fire department is now required before residents can burn trash and other refuse in the city, according to an ordinance passed by city council at its Monday meeting.

The motion to adopt the ordinance, which received its second reading, was made by William Callihan and seconded by Danny Hamilton.

The new law covers trash, vegetation, buildings, vacant property, scrap material and refuse. Persons wishing to burn materials must apply for a permit and have it approved by the fire chief.

According to the ordinance, the fire chief can deny a citizen's request to burn materials "if a dangerous situation exists." The fire chief can also assist in the burning or "totally administer the burn" with the fire department, the ordinance states.

The new provisions became effective with the ordinance's passage Monday.

Remember Vets On Memorial Day

by James P. Connors,
Commander, Big Sandy Chapter,
Disabled American Veterans,
Auxier

Two days of the year we honor America's veterans. Memorial Day is when we honor our dead; Veterans Day, we honor the living.

On this Memorial Day, we are a nation at peace. World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam — the guns have long grown silent. On this Memorial Day, we remember the past. We remember a time when our sons and daughters were fighting — and dying — to keep this land free.

Across the land, thousands of graves will be marked with a small, but proud, American flag. A reminder of the cost of peace — of freedom. These flags, snapping to attention in the wind, embody the spirit of our fallen comrades. Like soldiers in formation, the flags stand tall and proud. Caught forever on our flag's blazing field is the blood our soldiers, airmen, sailors and Marines have spilled for freedom. Honor. Courage. Freedom. These words are very strong, patriotic words that conjure up a huge American flag flying as a proud symbol of hope and peace around the world. And these are the words that describe the men and women who sacrificed their lives for this country. Their sense of honor, duty and commitment to America and all that it stands for is unquestionable. Their courage and spirit, unmatched.

Freedom, liberty, independence — these were never just empty phrases to our soldiers. These were an ideal to live for — and if necessary, to die for. Our flag has come to symbolize the one and a quarter million Americans who lost their lives in defense of that freedom. But more than a symbol of their sacrifices and their deaths, it stands for their fighting spirit, a spirit that has never been broken.

In 1814, the men manning Fort Mifflin, Baltimore, were hopelessly outgunned and outmanned by the British. Yet, against all odds, they withstood 25 hours of intensive bombardment by the British fleet. Francis Scott Key, an American patriot held by the British on a nearby ship, witnessed the battle through the night. It wasn't until the morning sun began to break through the mist that he knew they had survived the vicious attack. For there, caught in the gleam of dawn's first light — as if to mock the enemy — was the American flag, still flying high and proud over the fort.

Key was so inspired by that sight he wrote a poem in tribute to the brave men of Fort Mifflin. A poem in which he said "...and the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave..." These words are as true today as they were when he wrote them. Thousands of young men and women wear the uniform of our armed forces. They, too, are prepared to defend this country and all that it stands for with their very lives.

Our flag, no simple piece of cloth, is our dedication to ideals, our values for human life and our commitment to peace and freedom. Key said the flag reminded him that this is "the land of the free and the home of the brave." How many times have we heard these simple words? How many times have we joined our voice with other Americans to sing them? But have you really stopped and pondered their meaning? This is the land of the free, but a freedom that was purchased with the blood of brave Americans. We have earned the right to trumpet the "star spangled banner" across the world.

Our flag is the husbands, fathers, daughters and sons who were sacrificed so that our children could continue to live in the freest nation on earth, and because we did our job most Americans haven't had to learn this lesson firsthand. Therefore, it's important that we teach all Americans. Our young do not have to go to war to learn the importance of the American flag and how our flag embodies all that is good about this country. Let us teach them from our own experiences. Let us instill into them the same love and respect for the flag that we have. We must teach them about duty, honor and patriotism. We must teach them about the importance of the American spirit as it is embodied in our flag.

Do not let our comrades' sacrifices be for nothing. Help our young to understand that the flag is not just an interesting exhibition in a museum.

Help them to see that the power and the beauty extends beyond an abstract idea. With their death, those we honor on Memorial Day purchased freedom, not just for us and our children, but for our children's children. It's important that we mourn their deaths, but it's more important that we don't forget to honor their service and the lessons they taught us all.

The flag cannot cry out, not can it defend itself, not can the casualties of war cry out. Those whose spirit the flag embodies are mute. We who can speak out and defend our flag must. We who can speak out and praise our fallen comrades must. We who can teach the lesson of democracy must. Francis Scott Key understood this, to make his voice heard he wrote a poem. A poem about the American flag and how it equates to the American spirit. He wrote a poem that is heard around the world as America's national anthem. But it is also the world's cry for freedom fighters, democracy's defenders.

In Recent Years, Few Litter Citations Received By Court

Dear Editor,
Due to recent public comments on the courts not enforcing the criminal littering laws, I feel that it is necessary to state the facts.
Very few criminal littering citations or warrants have been in court during the past 12 years.
If, in the future, warrants or citations are issued for criminal littering, then this court will dispose of them in accord with the laws of the Commonwealth.
Thank you,
Harold Stumbo,

Hale Thanked For Assistance With B&G Ranch

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation and say "thank you" to Sheriff Henry Hale, Floyd County.
As executive director of the Kentucky Sheriffs' Boys and Girls Ranch and the Kentucky Sheriffs' Association for the past 11 years, I have seen many changes in the ranch and association. Over the years, I have been privileged to work with over 8,000 needy boys and girls who have attended the summer camp sessions in Gilbertsville. It would not have been possible without the dedicated efforts of Sheriff Henry Hale.

Much progress has been made in the county sheriff's offices; more community programs such as the DARE Program (Drug Abuse Resistance Education), the TRIAD Program (working with the elderly to prevent crimes against them) and Neighborhood Watch Programs; citizens involvement; better services and protection; more support of the Boys and Girls Ranch; and in general, a more professionalized department. Sheriffs and deputies are wanting, and seeking, more training, often at their own expense, to insure their constituents receive the maximum benefits from those elected to serve them. This is a commendable effort on their part and Sheriff Hale is no exception.

I am looking forward to the coming months — the opening of summer camp and being a participant in one of the finest organizations in Kentucky, the Kentucky Sheriffs' Association.
Sincerely,
Ray Stoess
Executive Director

Residents Thanks Clean-Up Workers

Dear Editor,
We would like to extend a heartfelt thanks to the Left Beaver citizens group that is organizing and putting into action the Left Beaver clean-up effort. What a beautiful sight to see our high ways cleared of litter.
The people involved in this effort are doing more than just talking about the litter — they are working to remove it. They deserve all the help they can get from business and individual donations of time, money and supplies.

Also, we need to help by watching for the people who are throwing out their lunch bags and pop cans and other trash. We can all take down license numbers and report them to the proper authorities. Let's make it unsafe for people to litter.

Again, a sincere "thank you" to the people of the Left Beaver citizens group.

Grover and Elfriede Samons
and family,
Minnie

Close Up Helps Students Understand Democratic Process

Dear Editor,
One of the best ways to help make this country a better place to live is to understand and participate in the democratic process. That is exactly what nearly 240 students and teachers representing 43 Tri-State area high schools recently did as they traveled to Washington, DC, to learn about our political system by taking part in the Close Up Foundation government studies program.

For a full week, each of the students had the opportunity to see and question members of Congress, government experts and other people in the nation's capital and to share their views with students from other areas of the country. Our goal was to show them that one person can make a difference; it was a lesson I believe they learned well. Now that they have returned to the Tri-State area they will be able to apply their learning on the local and state levels.

The week in Washington was made possible only through a cadre of community support. Their teachers, schools and parents deserve special recognition. So too do a number of community sponsors which helped provide fellowships for students of economic need. These sponsors include: the Bell Atlantic Charitable Foundation; Martha Holden Jennings Foundation; MAPCO Inc.; and RJR Nabisco, Inc.

Congratulations are in order for all who helped make the program a success.

Sincerely,
Paul Briggs
Community Coordinator

Vietnam Vets Can Still Apply For Bonus

Floyd County has an estimated 1,230 eligible veterans of an estimated 108,000 statewide who can still apply for their Vietnam veteran's bonus between now and Feb. 28, 1990, according to Jason M. LeMay, Division of Veteran Affairs.

Veterans may pick up application forms at their local county clerk's office, nearest National Guard Armory, local veteran organization or field office for the Cabinet of Human Resources.

The application has detailed instructions but major points to pay close attention to in filling out the application, according to LeMay, are:

—Entering the date in Section 1 in the order of year, month and day because the computer will only accept the date in this order.

—A copy of the applicant's Form

DD214 must be included when mailing the application. Veterans may get a copy of their DD214 by writing the Military Records Branch, Boone National Guard Center, Frankfort, KY 40601. Veterans need to include their date of birth, Social Security Number or Service Number, dates of entry and discharge from the service.

—The application must be signed by the person applying for the bonus.

—Applicants must have been a resident of Kentucky for at least six months prior to enlistment into the armed forces.

—Veterans must not have received a similar bonus from the state of Kentucky or any other state.

—Veterans may elect to deposit the bonus payment into the Veterans Program Trust Fund which was established by the Vietnam Veterans Bonus Act. The proceeds and interest from this will be used for veterans programs administered by the Department of Military Affairs. Examples of possible trust fund uses are scholarships for children of Vietnam veterans, Kentucky Veterans Nursing Home and Vietnam Memorial Maintenance Fund.

For more information about the bonus or the application call toll free 1-800-223-0713.

Police Investigate Bank Scam

Kentucky State Police is investigating a bank examiner scam operating in the Morehead area, according to KSP public affairs officer Ken Frost. The object of the scam, Frost said, is to trick people into withdrawing their own money from the bank and then turning it over to the so-called examiner. This is accomplished by notifying the intended victim by phone that the examiner is investigating an embezzlement at the victim's bank. The victim is asked to withdraw a certain amount from his account, being assured by the examiner that the bills are marked and that their money will be protected, Frost said. The "examiner" instructs the victim to take the money home and that an officer with the bank will come by and pick up the money, Frost said. In this way, the false bank official claims he can track down the individual involved in the embezzlement. Frost said a subject then contacts the victim at his residence, possibly while the victim is on the phone with the original caller, thereby distracting the victim by dividing his attention. The phony bank examiner then takes the money and thanks the victim for his assistance, indicating there may be a reward in store for him. The thief, said Frost, then leaves and is never seen again.

"This scam may be initiated by calling the victim up to three to six months prior to the actual taking of the money," the KSP officer said. "The 'bank officer' asks the intended victim to check his balance because the bank is having computer problems. This gives the perpetrator an idea of how much money the victim has in his account."

Landscaping

with Laurel Farms
PINCHING
The wet, cloudy weather we are having is resulting in taller and thinner plants. The technique of pinching plants is used to produce dense, stocky plants and more (but smaller) blossoms. When the growing tip of the stem is removed, the plant's energy is channeled into the side branches and buds, forcing them to grow. Annuals, perennials, houseplants and even shrubbery like azaleas and rhododendron may (and should) be pinched. With your thumbnail and finger, gently squeeze the stem just above a set of leaves until it breaks. Usually only the growing tip with one set of leaves is removed, but for tall, spindly plants up to a third of the height of the plant may be pinched.

Wayland Abuse Program Highlighted By KET Special

Thousands of children are trapped in abusive situations. Whether physical or mental, intentional or not, the pain these children suffer stays with them for years to come.

Recognizing the need to raise awareness of this issue, volunteers in Wayland designed an event to focus attention on child abuse. The public can watch highlights of their program on Child Abuse: Stop The Hurt, airing on KET at 10 p.m., Monday, May 29, as a KET Special Events Unit production.

The annual event is organized by Charles Slone, with assistance from the Kentucky Council on Child Abuse.

Working with Janie Hall, a council board member from Prestonsburg, Slone and others have developed a program which is recognized as a progressive approach to increasing awareness of the problem of child abuse with positive approaches to prevention and treatment. "Stop the Hurt Day" featured residents of the Floyd County community performing in the gymnasium of Wayland Grade School. Some of the talent featured in this half-hour broadcast includes the Country Pride Cloggers and Heidi Porter's Ballet Troupe.

Travis Fritsch, victim advocate with the Attorney General's Office in Frankfort, is featured as the keynote speaker for the day's activities. According to Fritsch, "The number of reported child abuse cases continues to increase each year. These children are in need of protection and their families need critical support services. The sooner these cases are reported, the faster services needed to help these families can begin.

"I am proud that in Kentucky, we have the basic agencies and school programs to address the problem of child abuse, although continued support for these efforts is needed," Fritsch said.

Vets Assistance Available In June

Betty Blair, a counselor for the Kentucky Division of Veterans Affairs, will be at the National Guard Armory from 10 a.m. till 3 p.m. on Wednesday, June 7.

Veterans and their families will be provided counseling and assistance filing claims for state and federal benefits, according to Larry Arnett, director of the Veterans Affairs Division.

This is a service provided by the State of Kentucky with no charge or fee of any kind, said Arnett.

County CAD Chapter May Form

An organizational meeting for a Floyd County chapter of Champions Against Drugs will be held Thursday, May 25, at 6:30 p.m. at Fitzpatrick First Baptist Church on Middle Creek.

The Floyd County Times

PROSPECTUS

Troopers Nab Bunnies... 'Quik'-ly

The Nestle Quik bunny was in Prestonsburg last week to give some of his stuffed likenesses to Kentucky State Police, represented by Trooper Dave Jackson. Nestle sales representative George Risk, right, recently arranged for the company to give 200 of the bunnies to the Prestonsburg Rotary Club. Represented by treasurer Sue Charles, Food Lyon manager, the club plans to distribute the stuffed animals to police and fire departments throughout the county. The departments can then use the bunnies when dealing with children in traumatic situations.

Abuse Center Gets Federal Support

Four food banks and 25 soup kitchens that provide meals to poor and homeless Kentuckians, including one in Floyd County, have begun receiving shipments of commodity foods for their indigent clients, according to Ricki Clark, representative of the Cabinet for Human Resources.

Under the federal Hunger Prevention Act, the US Department of Agriculture is allowed to purchase limited amounts of commodity food items, which states, in turn, provide to approved soup kitchens and food banks, Clark said.

A contract from now through September (the end of the federal fiscal year) has been signed with the Big Sandy Family Abuse Center in Prestonsburg and organizations in 15 other counties.

Department for Social Insurance commissioner Mike Robinson, whose agency operates the surplus commodity program in Kentucky, said that 45 truckloads of beans, dehydrated potatoes, orange juice, grapefruit juice, canned pork, canned sweet potatoes and pears are being delivered to agencies across the state.

"All 29 of the participating groups have met the federal requirements of being non-profit, open to the public, able to provide meals to relieve emergency situations and able to store the foods upon shipment," said Robinson.

Another USDA requirement is that the organization must provide services at no charge to homeless, indigent and transient people, said Clark.

Robinson said the new program providing these added commodities has no effect on the regular surplus commodity program handled by area development and community action agencies.

Shipments of these food items will continue through September, or until Kentucky's allocation of the commodities has been exhausted. Congress is considering possible extension of the program in the next budget, Clark said.

AIDS Symposium Held At Jenny Wiley

"There is one in a million chance for health care workers to contract the AIDS virus, because they are more educated and are taking the necessary precautions."

This was one of the few positive messages given to participants of the "AIDS: Focus on Prevention Symposium" by Michael Domin, symposium director. Nurses and other health care workers from Kentucky and West Virginia gathered at Jenny Wiley Lodge for the day-long presentation last week, according to Sister Joan Shalpin, spokeswoman for Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin.

Domin, a research scientist and program director for the Kimberly-Clark Professional Health Care Company of Roswell, Ga., stressed the need for educating the public about how AIDS is contracted. According to Domin, the high risk group for the next decade is youth. He estimated that by the year 2000, over 1 million 11- to 15-year-old in the US will have contracted AIDS due to IV drug use and sexual behavior, the leading causes of the transmission of the AIDS virus.

Another group targeted by Domin was children. He said over 1,800 children under the age of 4 years have AIDS today, while one out of every 61 babies in New York is born with the virus.

Domin stressed that another major challenge facing health care workers is the need for a national policy with uniform guidelines. Due to a lack of education and policy, there is much discrimination surrounding AIDS victims, with little or no protection by law, he added.

Domin said some physicians and health care workers are refusing to serve patients with AIDS, and some people who are at risk are afraid to be tested, afraid to know whether they have the virus because of discrimination.

As a measure of prevention of AIDS in the workplace, Domin instructed health care workers to use the following guidelines:

— Consider each patient as affected with the AIDS virus.

— Wear protective gear when coming in contact with blood/body fluids.

In his presentation through out the day, Domin emphasized that AIDS would be the health concern of the next century. He quoted several figures from national research which will affect the health care industry:

— 2 million people worldwide are carriers of the HIV (AIDS) virus.

— 1.8 million of these carriers don't know they have AIDS because of lack of symptoms.

— The number of AIDS cases doubles every nine months.

— It takes about 9 1/4 years for the AIDS virus to blossom.

The Symposium on AIDS was sponsored jointly by Our Lady of the Way Hospital of Martin and the Kimberly-Clark Corporation of Roswell, Ga.

Business Helps Reforestation

Carter Funeral Home of Prestonsburg will arrange, through its recent affiliation with the Lofty Oaks Association, for young trees to be planted on public lands in Kentucky.

A tree will be planted for each funeral service Carter performs, providing "a fitting, living memorial to honor the deceased," according to Bruce Hadlock, Lofty Oaks official. "This program is part of a large endeavor, in cooperation with the Old Kentucky Home Boy Scout Council," Hadlock said, "to both provide the youth of Kentucky with the skills of modern forestry, and also to restore the countryside with the eternal beauty of living trees."

After each service, close family members or friends are informed that the memorial tree has been arranged for by the funeral home, he said. Once the Boy Scouts have planted the tree, the designated relatives and friends will be sent an official certificate of the planting which they can frame and keep in the family's history forever, Hadlock added.

Bourbon Joins Counties In Adopting Ordinance

Officials for the Department for Environmental Protection recently announced that the Bourbon County Fiscal Court has adopted an ordinance to provide garbage collection services to all county residents.

This action, known as universal collection, is attributed to the county's progressive efforts to properly manage its solid waste stream.

Bourbon County joins nine other counties that have demonstrated leadership in solid waste management by providing universal collection services to all residents — Pike, Floyd, Bell, Meade, Knott, Ballard, Franklin, Marion and Menifee.

"This type of collection system will help eliminate open dumps, and will be less expensive for each individual since everyone will share the cost of collection and disposal," said commissioner Art Williams.

Other efforts initiated by the Bourbon County Fiscal Court include creation of a Solid Waste committee that will take action to clean up open dumps and initiate recycling programs, according to Annette Hayden, Division of Waste Management.

Also, an environmental education program is planned to begin in the fall semester in county and city school systems. These actions are part of the county's state-approved solid waste management plan, said Hayden.

The Solid Waste Committee will begin meeting soon to outline details of the new collection program.

In Memory of Lucinda Wilson

Almost a year has passed since you were called away. And oh I'll never forget what a sad, sad day. You were the highlight of my life and the sunshine of my day. You could turn my tears to laughter so I would smile a long time after. Even though you could not hear, I could tell you my troubles and my fears. You always seemed to understand and gave me a smile and a touch of your hand. I know that I'm grown with a family of my own. But without you by my side I feel very much alone. I wouldn't want you back as sick as you were. But if I could have you well, I would want you back for sure.

Rebels Lose to Paintsville In Tournament Finals, 14-3

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The 15th Regional Baseball Tournament ended at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Field in Pikeville with the Allen Central Rebels losing to the Paintsville Tigers, 14-3. Paintsville came into the championship game with the number 16 ranking in the state.

Tiger Walt Crace had a perfect game going into the bottom of the sixth inning until Chris Kidd singled, leading off the Rebels' sixth. The shutout was lost when Kidd and Terry Spurlock, who reached on an error, both scored on a base hit by Mickey Parsons. Crace had retired the first 15 batters he faced in the game.

Was Crace mindful of having a perfect game in the making?

"Yeah, I knew about it. They kept reminding me in the dugout," the righthander said. "The first hit was a close one, it was almost a foul ball."

In the seven innings he pitched, Crace scattered four hits for the Rebels, and struck out 11 Rebel batters, and issued no walks.

Kevin Webb was on the mound for the Rebels in the championship round of the tournament. Webb yielded five runs in the two innings he pitched. He was reached for six hits while striking out one. Parsons came on in relief in the third with no one out.

Paintsville paraded eight batters to the plate both in the third and sixth innings, scoring four and three runs respectively. With the Tigers leading 1-0 in the second inning, Randall Miller led off the second with a blast over the left center field fence. Greg Slone also had a three-run homer in the fifth inning. Miller had four RBI's in the game, and Slone picked up three.

Crace was outstanding on the mound for the Tigers. He seemed to have complete control of his pitches. "I tried not to think too much about it on the field," he said. "They got the base hit, that happens. It's part of the game."

"We've (all the other players) all played together since grade school and this is just a carry over from those days."

"When you have a seven or eight run lead it makes it easier to pitch," he stated.

The big righthander seemed not to have much trouble with a muddy mound caused by a rain before the game. "The mound was no problem," he said.

"Our whole team is playing good," he related. "The pitching is coming along now."

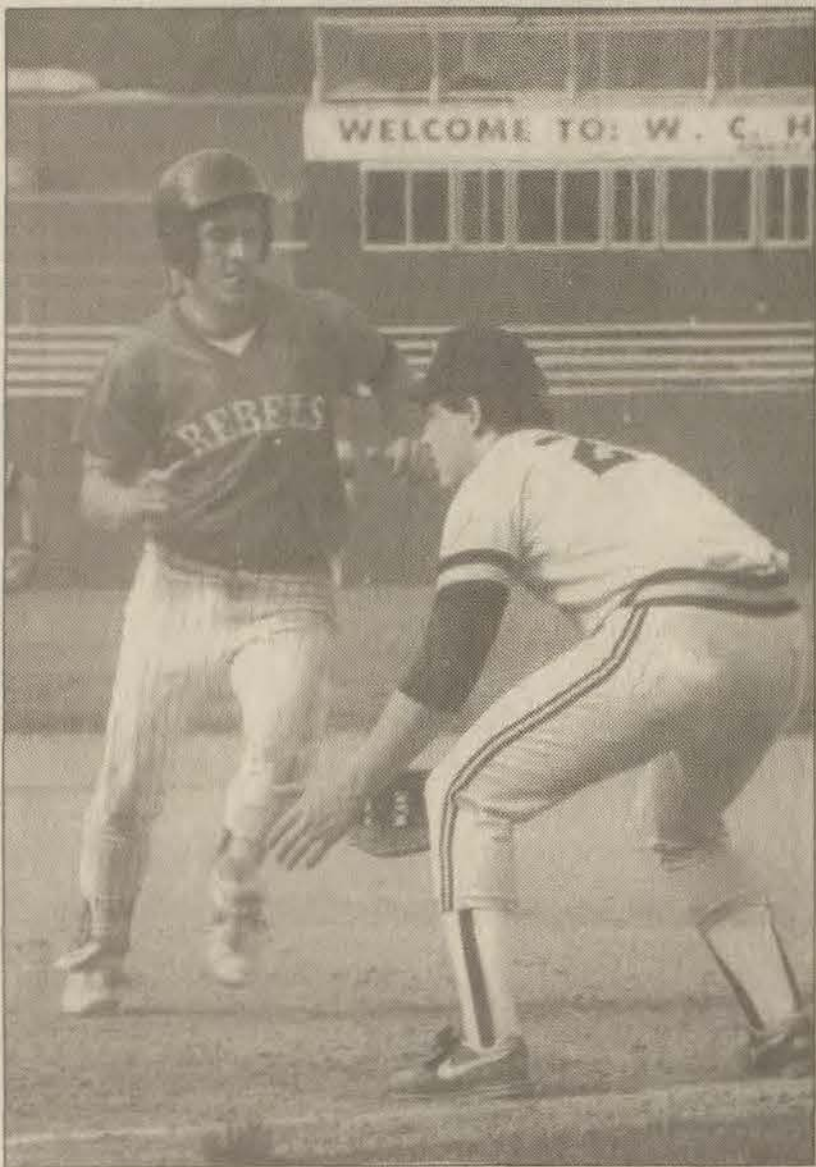

The Rebels scored a run in the bottom of the seventh after Kevin Webb, who was hit by a line drive earlier, singled and scored on a triple by Bret Meadows.

Paintsville advances to the Semi-State, also to be played at Pikeville Wednesday (tonight) and Thursday. Cumberland from the 13th, Knott County Central from the 14th, Paintsville from the 15th, and Rowan County from the 16th Regional will be in the Semi-State Tournament.

Allen Central ends its season with a record of 11-12. Paintsville improves to 27-5.

Lees College Signs Rady Martin To Basketball Letter-Of-Intent

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Lees College head basketball coach Cluster Howard made the trip from Jackson to the campus of McDowell High School to sign one of the top players in the 58th District to a letter-of-intent to play basketball at Lees College next season.

Rady Martin makes the third McDowell player to sign letters to attend college next season. Earlier Henry Webb signed to play for Alice Lloyd and Dickie Joe Shannon signed with Berea (separately). The Daredevils have been rich with basketball talent these past two seasons, a tribute to the coaching staff at the high school.

"Rady is a versatile player," Coach Johnny Ray Turner said. "He shot over 50 percent from the three-point area. He played a strong inside game. He was a good rebounder. He was good to coach, very dependable and a hard worker."

"He will make a very positive contribution to Lees' program," the basketball mentor continued. "He plays good team defense. He can contribute in scoring either at small forward or off guard."

"He is a good student academically and has strong leadership ability."

"We saw Rady play in the Mountain Classic at Hindman and became very interested in him," Coach Howard stated. "He shoots well, especially from the three-point area. He could play small forward or off guard because of his shooting from the perimeter."

"McDowell had good balance as a team," the Lees College mentor said. "They played against some tough competition this past season and that helps to develop players."

Lees College, 20-7 last year, returns its top two scorers in Ken Lee from Montgomery County and Willie Combs. Lees is also a feeder school for major colleges and is member of the NJCAA.

"We sent 30 players to major colleges around the country," Coach Howard explained. "We've sent them to Murray State, East Texas State, Wright State, and Berea."

Martin averaged 18.4 points per game. He averaged pulling down six rebounds per game, and dishing out two assists. He shot 55 percent from the field and 78 percent from the free throw line. He hit 48 percent from three-point range. He scored 534 points for the past season.

Martin signed in front of his mother Debbie Martin, his grandfather Alvin Martin, Coach Turner, Principal Robert Hall, and Coach Howard.

"We're happy Rady's going to Lees," his mother said. "They have a great basketball program and they were interested in him as player. He will be playing close to home and it is a strong academic school. We're proud of him."

"I'm glad that he will be playing close to home," Martin's grandfather said. "That way we can go and watch him play. They'll have a good team."

Dickie Jo Shannon Signs To Play For Berea College

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Dickie Joe Shannon, who formed with Henry Webb what many in the 15th Regional believed to be the best guard duo in the region, signed a letter-of-intent with Berea College to play basketball at the KIAC school this fall.

Shannon average 21.0 points per game and shot 45 percent from the field. He was consistently among the state's leaders in free throw percentage, shooting 91 percent from the charity line. He averaged five rebounds a game and dished off three assists a game.

Shannon was always a three-point threat from the 19' 9" mark. He was instrumental in leading the McDowell Daredevils to the 58th District championship this past season. He was named to the All-District Tournament team as well as the All-Regional team. He made the WYMT-TV Mountain Classic All-Tournament team in leading McDowell against number one Clay County.

McDowell mentor Johnny Ray Turner speaks of Shannon as the floor leader. "Dickie Joe had leadership abilities. The other players look up to him," Turner stated. "They knew he was a good scorer, and they look to him to score. It seems when Dickie Joe got excited the whole team got excited."

Even though Turner only coached Shannon on the varsity for two years, the Berea signee made a big impression on his coach.

"Dickie Joe is an outstanding person. He is a hard worker on the basketball floor and off. He is an excellent student and we are sure going to miss him."

Berea is a member of the KIAC Conference and is a competitive school. It holds the distinction of being the number one school in academics, according to US News.

"That's one of the reasons I chose Berea," Shannon says. "Because of the reputation of the school academically as well as the tremendous basketball program they have. They won over 30 games last year."

"I'm looking forward to going to Berea," Shannon explained. "I'm looking forward to having fun and playing basketball for Coach (Rowland) Wierewilli. It's in a nice location, about 30 miles from Lexington. The dorms are 30 minutes from the campus. I'm excited about going."

Shannon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Shannon of Drift, are looking forward also to their son's days at Berea.

"We're pleased he is going to Berea College," said his father. "We went down for a visit and Coach Wierewilli is really a nice person. I look forward of going to watch their games."

"Wierewilli said they were interested in Dickie Joe because he could see the floor well and because of his outside scoring ability. He wants him to come to summer school this summer and work out with some of the other players."

Berea will be a senior-oriented team this coming season. They also have five other freshmen coming in for next season. Coach Wierewilli expects Shannon to contribute to the program at Berea.

"He has indicated that Dickie Joe may not see that much playing time as a freshmen, he will as a sophomore on up. He wants him to lose some weight and work out a lot," Mr. Shannon says.

Shannon makes the third Daredevil who has signed with colleges for next season.

"That makes you feel good to see players you have coached to have colleges want them for their program," Turner says. Henry Webb signed with Alice Lloyd and Rady Martin signed with Lees College.

Wallen Wins Region; Will Advance To State

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Brian Wallen, a sophomore at Allen Central, won the discus throw at the regional track and field meet last Saturday at Clay County.

Wallen had a throw of 135'2" in capturing first place in the event. His closest opponent had a throw of 130'0".

"Brian was disappointed in his throw," track and field coach Dewey Jamerson said. "It was a bad day to throw. Brian has a tendency to throw better on warm, dry days."

"Brian is throwing 18' farther this year than he did in his freshman year. He has been consistently throwing 130-135 feet," the Allen Central mentor stated.

Wallen will advance on to the State Track and Field Meet in Lexington this Saturday. According to his coach, Wallen has an excellent chance of winning.

"Brian has great shot at taking the state title in the Discus Throw," Jamerson said. "He has a tendency to tighten up. If he just stays calm he will do all right."

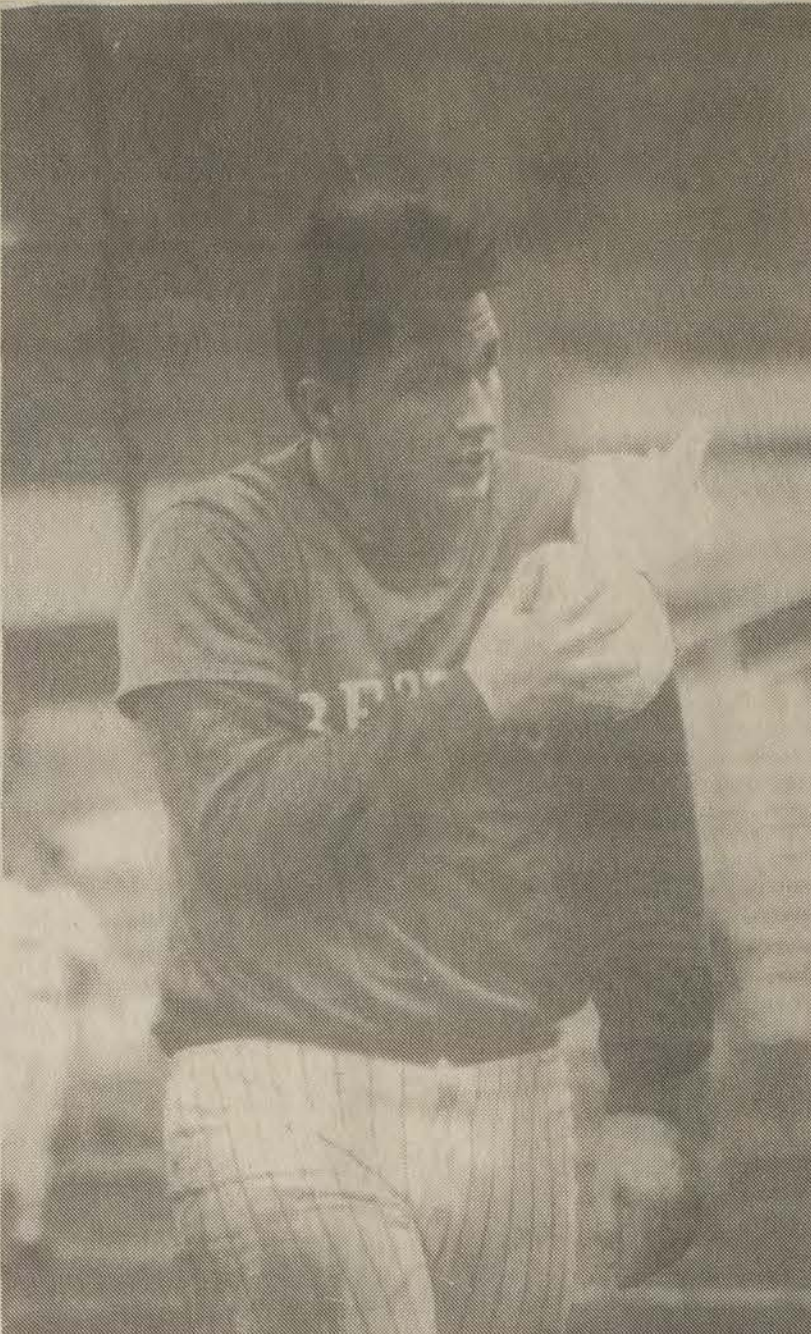

"According to the stats from other regional sites, Brian's throw is about fourth best. Anything can happen at a meet," he explained.

"We plan on going down on Friday and stay the night. He will be able to go out and practice about noon, to get used to the throwing ring and surroundings," Jamerson added.

Another Allen Central player placed in the Regional meet. Chris Yates placed fourth in the men's 400-meter dash.

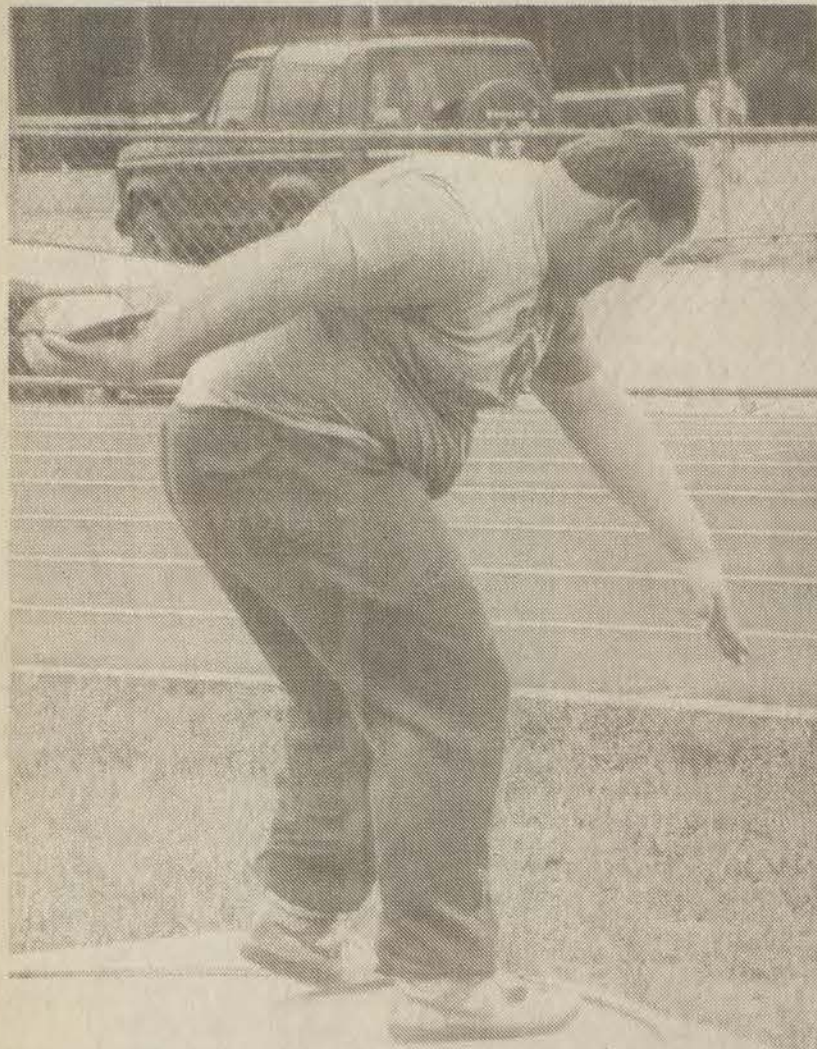

"We placed eighth in the meet out of 14 teams," Jamerson said. "That's good with just two participants."

The state track and field meet will be this Saturday at 3 p.m. at Lexington.

Perils of Pitching

Allen Central pitcher Kevin Webb walks off the field with ice pack on the arm that was struck by a line drive off the bat of a Paintsville player during the regional baseball tourney at Pikeville. Webb later returned to the Rebels line up.

Regional Champion

Brian Wallen recently won the regional discus throw at Clay County with a throw of 135'2". Wallen will advance to the state meet in Lexington this Saturday at 3 pm.

Castle Shines In ACHS Win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It was the "Pete Castle Show" in the 15th Regional Baseball Tournament as Allen Central went against the Cougars of Elkhorn City last week at Pikeville. The senior centerfielder had two hits, driving in six runs in a 16-2 rout of Elkhorn City.

Kevin Webb was on the mound for the Rebels as the righthander gave up only three first inning hits and pitched no hit, shutout baseball over the final five innings. Webb struck out nine batters in getting the win for Allen Central.

Castle came on in relief in the seventh and set the Cougars down in order, thanks to the strong arm of catcher Kevin Spurlock who gunned down four would-be base stealers.

The Rebels sent 10 batters to the plate in the first inning and pushed home six runs to stake Webb to a 6-0 advantage. Allen Central got five runs in the fifth and four in the seventh in winning the first round game.

Webb allowed the Cougars three hits and two runs in the first inning and was in charge the rest of the way.

Parsons and Spurlock got one-out hits in the Rebels' first. Webb was intentionally passed—he received three in the game—to load the bases.

Castle's fly ball to right brought in Parsons. Chris Kidd walked to load the bases again and Jamie Hall picked up an RBI when he drew a bases-loaded walk. John Martin's grounder was misplayed at third to allow two more runs to cross home plate, and Terry Spurlock lined a base hit to left to bring in Hall and Martin.

With two down in the Cougar first, Tony Adams singled and scored on a triple by Chris Rose. Rose scored on John Cantrell's base hit. That was all the Cougars could manage in the game.

The Rebels, leading 7-2, added five in the fifth to lead 12-2. Martin again reached on a third baseman's error. Terry Spurlock got a bunt single. With one out, Parsons singled to drive in Martin. Webb was again intentionally passed to load the bases.

Castle then unloaded them with a line drive to center. The ball got by the center fielder to clear the bases.

Castle had two more RBIs in the seventh on a bases-loaded single. Duff walked, and Randy Watkins ran for him. After Parsons' pop to short, Spurlock drew a base on balls and B.J. Aldrich ran for him. Webb received his fourth walk of the game, this one not intentional, and Stewart Hall came on to run for him.

Watkins scored on a wild pitch, and Aldrich and Hall scored on Castle's base hit. Weiss Owsley ran for Castle, and scored on an over-throw at first base on Hall.

Allen Central played errorless baseball until the bottom of the seventh when Castle was unable to handle a toss to first from Webb.

Webb picked up the win and Mike Mullins suffered the setback.

Thomas Jenkins was two-for-two including a double. Brandon Kinzer had two hits in three at bats for the Braves. Chris Cornett picked up two RBI's on a double. Cornett was the losing pitcher for the Braves and had seven strike outs.

Alice Lloyd, Wesleyan Looking At MHS Senior

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

"I just love the game" is the way senior Mike McQuate sums up his feelings for the baseball. His coach, Cassandra Keathley, says McQuate is "dedicated" to the game.

MIKE McQUATE

McQuate, a senior at McDowell High School, has had a love for the game going back to his days in the Pee Wee leagues.

His "love" for the game and his "dedication" to the sport may just land him a scholarship at one of Kentucky's colleges. Currently Alice Lloyd and Kentucky Wesleyan colleges have shown great interest in the left hand hitter who played centerfield on the Daredevils baseball team.

"I want to go on to college," McQuate said. "I like to play baseball and hope I can use it to get a scholarship somewhere."

"I can still remember the days I played Carl Ray Tuttle in the Pee Wee league. Then my days of playing Little League baseball for Ed Moore," he said.

McQuate led the American Legion team in most of its offensive categories last season. He had a .527 on base percentage, batted .354, and hit six home runs.

His biggest moment was when he hit a home run against Betsy Layne in the District Tournament this year. His biggest offensive game was against Millard when he homered, tripled and doubled.

"Mike is so easy to coach,"

McDowell baseball mentor Keathley says. "He is so dedicated to the game. If I have a Saturday game, while everyone else is out running around, Mike's at home resting for the game."

"Mike is no reputation builder," she says. "He's a team player, and wants to do what is best for the team. You hardly ever saw him swing at a bad pitch. He is going to make some college a great player."

McQuate could have already been signed by a college if he had already taken his ACT test.

"I just didn't think about it," he says. "I'm scheduled to take it in June. I'll do all right."

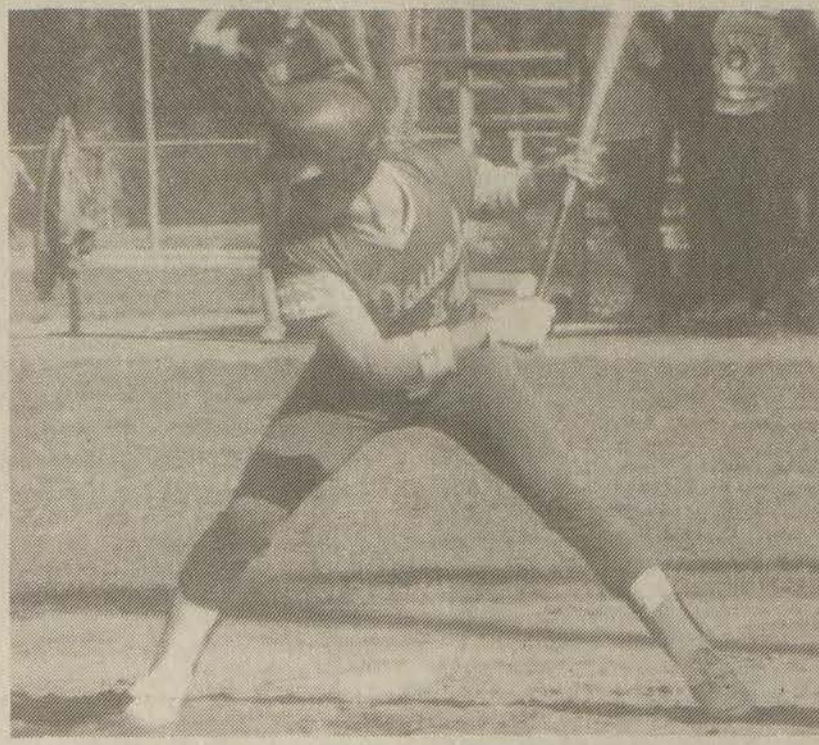

Did McQuate have any difficulty playing for a woman coach in baseball?

"I had no problem with it," the center fielder said. "She put more into it than any of the others before her. She helped us a lot. She was very dedicated to her responsibility."

Kentucky Wesleyan is waiting for McQuate's ACT scores. "Coach (John)

Ward (Wesleyan baseball coach) saw me play in the American Legion last year and I had a good game, and he talked to me about college."

In 16 games this season McQuate had a batting average of .528 with seven home runs and 17 stolen bases. He only struck out six times in 55 times at bat. McQuate played errorless baseball in the outfield.

Keepers!

by Chris Altman

A fellow called me last week and said, "Chris, I want to start bass fishing. Can you tell me what lures I should buy?"

I did my best to convince the gentleman that he could save himself a lot of frustration by cutting himself a cane pole, buying a bobber, a few hooks and some crickets, and spend his fishing time catching bluegill.

When that didn't work, I suggested bowling, horseshoes and bird watching. But, still the man persisted. "Okay, okay," I said, "if you're sure you want to do this, read next week's column."

So, in an effort to please at least one reader, here is my outline of the basic bassing tacklebox.

SOFT PLASTIC BAITS

These are the most productive baits in your tacklebox. Use them often, and you will catch bass.

*A selection of 6- to 9-inch plastic worms in the following colors: black, purple firetail, June bug, pumpkinseed, clear blue and clear red. My favorite worms are Mann's 9-inch Manipulator and the original 7-1/2-inch culprit.

*2/0 and 4/0 worm hooks, and 1/8, 3/16 and 1/4-oz. worm sinkers.

*An assortment of 3, 4 and 5-inch grubs in these colors: chartreuse, smoke with glitter, pumpkinseed and white. (Check out Culprit's new grub color called "Shad Flash." It looks just like a live shad when the sun reflects off it. PS—I named the color for Culprit!)

*A few Gitzit-type tube grubs in chartreuse and clear with glitter.

*For the grubs and Gitzits, you'll need a supply of 1/8 and 1/4-oz. jig-heads.

*A few do-nothing type worms like the Savage Worm or Mann's Limit finder in blues, purples and pumpkinseed. For this rig, you will need a supply of plastic beads, swivels, 1/2 to 3/4-oz. bullet sinkers. This is the easiest lure you can use to effectively fish deepwater structure. In fact, it is one of the easiest lures you can use to catch bass from any structure.

BLADE BAITS

Spinnerbaits are one of your best all-around lures, so you always need to carry a few with you, here's my minimum:

*One 1/8-oz. white single spin for clear water use.

*Several 3/8-oz. single spin baits (either Colorado or small willow leaf blades) in white, chartreuse and chartreuse/white.

*A few 5/8-oz. short-armed baits with a single Colorado blade for use when night fishing. (The best that I have found for this purpose include T's Stump Jumper, Zorro's Short-Armed Aggravator, and Strike King's drop bait.) Black or purple is all you need.

*A couple of white or chartreuse 3/8 or 1/2-oz. buzz baits, plus trailer hooks for them.

JIGS

*For casting use, pick 3/8-oz. baits in brown/orange (all around use), black/blue in clear water, and black/chartreuse in muddy water.

*For flipping and deep structure fishing, use 1/2-oz. jigs in brown/orange, black and black/red at night.

*A supply of #11 Uncle Josh Pork Frogs in black, brown, black/chartreuse and black/red.

TOPWATER PLUGS

*A Heddon Zara Spook in Chrome or Silver Glitter.

*A #450 AC Shiner in bone/orange for smallmouths

*A Rebel Pop-R in chrome/black. *Mann's 1-Minus or Baby 1-Minus in Blue Shad Chrome or Grey Ghost.

*Storm's Thunderstick in chrome and Prizm Flash blue/black/orange. *A black Jitterbug for use at night (tons of fun!).

CRANKBAITS

By far, crankbaits are the most difficult lures to purchase. Every crankbait manufactured is unique, and because they dive to a wide variety of depths (0 to 30 feet!), selecting a small assortment is tough. Without going into great detail, I thought I'd offer my favorites:

*Mann's 15+ in Alabama Shad, Crawfish and Fire Shad.

*Mann's 20+ in Alabama Shad, solid chartreuse, Fire Shad and Fire Red Fluorescent.

*Mann's Stretch 10+ in Tennessee Shad and solid Chartreuse.

*Model 7A bombers in Fire Tiger, Blaze Orange Tiger and Red Apple/Orange Belly

*Rebel's Deep Wee-R in one of the C-finish shad and fire tiger patterns. *Rapala Shad-Raps, both SR7 and SR9, in silver, crawdad and char-treuse. *Poe's 400 series in hot silver/black back.

*Bagely's Deep Killer B2 in shad pattern.

*A good selection of 1/2-oz. rattling lipless crankbaits like Rat-L-Traps, Storm's Texas Shad, Bomber's Ratl "RRR" A or Cordell's Rattlin' Spot. My top colors are chrome baits, especially chrome/blue back.

*Last but not least, a few Rebel

Wee-Crawfish in natural greens and browns. This is undoubtedly my most productive stream lure.

TO FILL THE REMAINING SLOTS....I'd get a few 1/2-oz. jigging spoons, either Mann-O-Lures or Hopkin's Spoons. Even if you don't know how to use them, you should carry at least one in every tacklebox. These things are great to retrieve objects dropped overboard. I've been able to snag three rod/reel outfits which were dropped out of my boat (one was in forty feet of water!)

 There you have it—a selection of bass lures which should meet most every need you will encounter. If you have any questions or comments, I'd like to hear them. Give me a call at 478-9666. If I'm gone fishing, write me at: 8 Hidden Valley, Pikeville, KY 41501.

Matt Williams, Adam Smith, and Randall Miller each drove in two runs, each in the contest for the Tigers.

Prestonsburg prevented a shut-out in the top of the seventh inning by scoring two runs on a single by Tim Watkins. Another run came home on a sacrifice fly by Thomas Nairn. Tucker Howard went all the way for the Tigers, who were ranked 16th in the state, in scattering four Blackcat hits. Howard struck out nine Prestonsburg batters while issuing four walks. Thomas Nairn suffered the loss for Prestonsburg.

Nairn went 3-1/3 innings in giving up nine runs on six hits. Nairn had one strike out. Tim Trusty came on in relief in the Tigers' fourth with one out.

Paintsville scored six runs in the second on five hits. Williams tripled in two runs and two runs crossed the Tigers' plate on a single by Miller.

In the Tigers' fourth, four runs came in, two on a bases loaded double by Smith. The Blackcats stranded 10 runners in the game. Prestonsburg found Howard to be in control as they could only manage four singles off the big righthander. Chris Collins had a lead off single in the first, and Watkins led off the second with a base hit. Both runners were left stranded. Todd Justice had a one out base hit in the Blackcat third.

The win allowed the Tigers to advance to the finals of the regional tournament.

Beginning the week of May 29, each school in the Floyd County system will plan its own breakfast and lunch menu through the end of the year, according to Michele Romans of the district's food service department.

More than 600 graduate and undergraduate degrees were conferred during Morehead State University's Spring Commencement ceremonies. Among those who completed degree requirements were, from left, Wilma Tate of West Liberty, Brenda Mullins of Hi Hat, and Wanda Porter of Olive Hill.

Several Floyd Countians Among PC's Largest Class

The largest class in over a decade graduated from Pikeville College during commencement exercises on Mother's Day, May 14, including several students from Floyd County.

"What better gift can you give your mothers than to see their son or daughter graduate from college?" Jonathan Hiers, the president of the Pikeville College Trustees, told the class. "For you mothers graduating today, what better gift could you give your children than to show them the importance of obtaining a college education?"

Pikeville college has a high proportion of "non-traditional" students, those older than 25, who have returned to school after working or raising families. More than half the graduates had been non-traditional students.

Among those graduating summa cum laude (with highest honors) were Katrina Hall Davis of Banner and Rodney W. Nelson of Auxier.

Among those graduating magna cum laude (with high honors) were Clare Raven Day of Prestonsburg and Tammy Lisa Noble of Minnie.

Other members of the Pikeville College graduating class from Floyd County were Lela R. Layne of Betsy Layne; Kimberly Breeding Lake of Dana; Jeri Robin Sword of Dwale; Bobby Coleman Maynard of Emma; Darrell E. Vocational Ed Bill Passes House, 402-3

Congressman Chris Perkins announced recently that the House has passed the reauthorization of the Carl D. Perkins Vocational Education Act by a vote of 402 to 3.

The bill strongly emphasizes federal funding to areas with the greatest educational and economic need.

"I am pleased that the Vocational Education Act passed with such overwhelming support from my colleagues. With the act's new formula for the distribution of federal money, rural areas like Eastern Kentucky will receive the funding for facilities and programs they need so badly."

The applied technology education act calls for a new formula in which 80 percent of federal funds will go to districts with the most economically and educationally disadvantaged students. The formula is heavily weighted and based on counting the eligible educationally and economically disadvantaged. At the same time, special population set-asides, which have diluted the program in the past, said Perkins, will be eliminated.

The reauthorization also includes an amendment introduced by Perkins granting an additional $100 million for improving facilities and acquiring equipment.

"Our students deserve to learn in an environment with adequate equipment and buildings. Now, many more will have that chance," the congressman said.

There are also provisions in the bill which encourage greater coordination between secondary school and two-year degree granting institutions, and more integration of programs in vocational education, adult education and other related fields.

"By bringing together business and education, we can continue to move forward in reaching the goal that my father believed in 25 years ago — young people learning a skill and joining a competitive workforce to carry our nation into the 21st Century," said Perkins.

The bill now awaits Senate and conference approval.

Slone Named USAA Winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced that John Paul Slone, a student at Allen Central High School, has been named a United States National Award Winner in Mathematics.

The award recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students, according to officials.

Slone was nominated for the national award by Joyce Watson, a math and German teacher at the school. He will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

He is the son of Larry Bentley and the grandson of Boone and Juanita Bentley of Wayland and Virginia and Walker Slone of Drift and Warsaw, Ind.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners on the recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and on the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Jones Places Second In State Competition

Michael Jones, a senior at Allen Central High School, recently placed second in the state historical pictorial map contest, high school division.

For the contest, "Discover Early America," Jones chose significant historical events, persons and places that helped shape the Colonial and founding periods of the country (1607 to 1803). Entries were judged first in the congressional district, and then at the state level, according to school officials.

Criteria used for judging included historical and geographical accuracy, historical importance and significance of the selections depicted, creativity and originality of the presentation, and technical presentation.

The contest was sponsored by the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution.

Jones will receive a certificate signed by US Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren Burger. Jones' work will be on display in the Allen Central library.

The map was done as a special project for two of his classes — world history, taught by Jody Blackburn, and special art, taught by Caralita O'Quinn. O'Quinn submitted the entry for judging.

Jones is the son of Hershall and Janieva Jones of Garrett.

Art Students Win In State Competition

The Kentucky Federation of Woman's Clubs recently held its annual state KFWC art show in Louisville, and two Allen Central High School students placed in their respective areas of competition.

Both had previously won first place at the regional level.

Kathlyne Keen, a senior, placed first in pastels. Placing second in watercolor was Michael Collins, also a senior. Both are enrolled in a special art class at ACHS taught by Caralita O'Quinn.

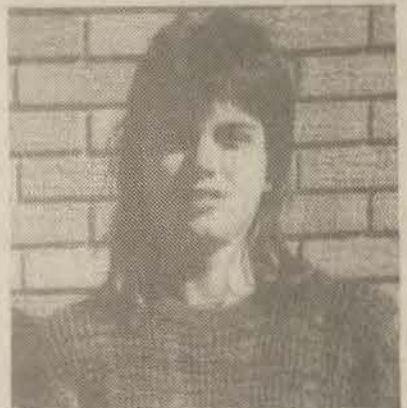

The Lackey-Garrett-Wayland

Woman's Club sponsored the two students and submitted their works for state competition. Both students will receive awards from the local club, as well as their state recognition.

Keen's drawing was entitled "The Dunking." It was a group portrait done as a study of perspective. Collins did a monochromatic watercolor called "Peaceful Stream." He is the son of Lewis and Emma Collins of Langley. Keen is the daughter of Ernest and Roxie Keen of Wayland.

Student Studies Mud Creek Clinic

(Editor's Note: Willie Elliott's junior English Class at McDowell High School received a $250 SCAT grant this year to do a photo essay of landmarks in the community. Students took photos and wrote articles. Following is an article spotlighting the Mud Creek Clinic and its founder, Eula Hall.)

by Jackie Tackett

The Mud Creek Clinic has been a part of the Mud Creek Community for 16 years. In the short time I've lived at Mud Creek, I have seen how important the clinic is to Mud Creek. The clinic and its staff deserve recognition for the job done for the community.

To find out more about how the clinic works, I had a talk with Eula Hall, the founder.

In February 1973, the doors to the first Mud Creek Clinic opened at Tinker Fork. Due to the large number of people who needed health care, the clinic had to move to a larger site.

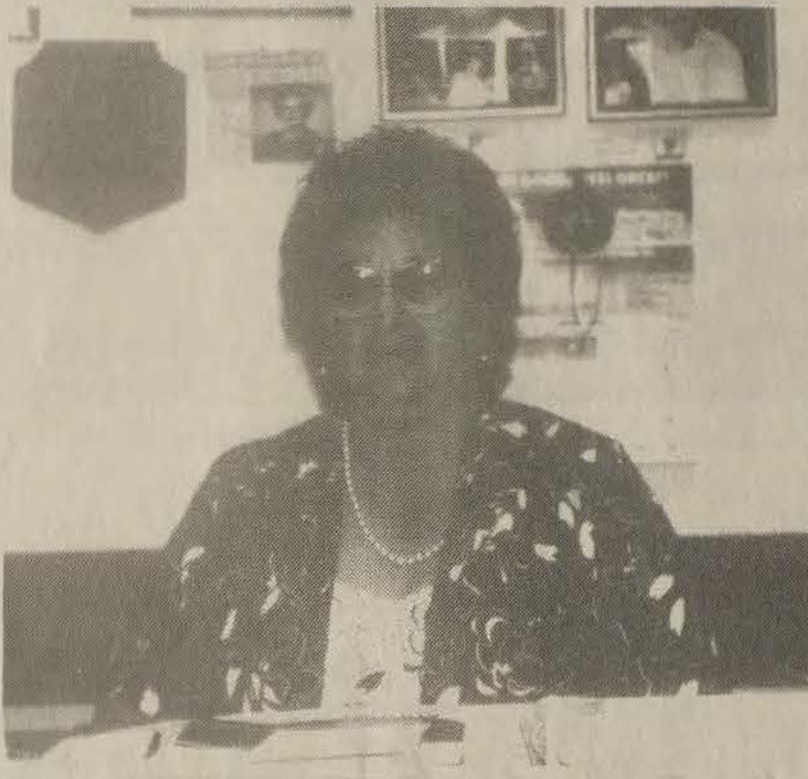

In July 1974, the clinic moved to Eula Hall's home at Grethel. The clinic would have to move again, this time due to fire, and for about two months, the clinic was located at John M. Stumbo Elementary School. The clinic then moved to a trailer and two mobile homes on the site where the current building is in Grethel.

Hall said the clinic was begun because so many people in the Mud Creek community needed health care. She said the clinic receives some help from the government, as well as different people Hall has met over the years. One of the most famous is Edward M. Kennedy.

The clinic dispenses food and clothing to low income families. Hall said she saw a good future for the clinic because of the large number of people the clinic has to help. She added that the clinic staff hopes to expand because of the patient load. The clinic also offers a program for anyone who wants to get his or her GED.

A little poster in Hall's office gives an indication of how she gets things done: "Footprints in the Sands of Time are not made sitting down."

McDowell Class Experiments With Various 'Musical Notes'

McDowell High School teacher Willie Elliott has been participating in a cultural exchange recently. He hasn't gone to Europe or some other foreign locale, nor has he received visitors from such places. He's had the exchange with his ninth and 11th grade students at the school. "Music is one subject that occupies much of a teenager's time," says Elliott. "Whatever style it may be, it is a constant with almost every teen. This is where the cultural exchange began."

As part of a journal writing activity, Elliott told the students they could either write about different types of music, or listen to different types of music while writing about other topics. Elliott adds that he actually got the idea of using music during journal writing from Patricia Watson, an English teacher at Allen Central High School. "Since I was the biggest and the boss, I was allowed to go first," relates Elliott. "I mixed the music up a little so as not to completely turn the students against the idea." The first selection he played was "Hooked on Classics," which has a smattering of "Flight of the Bumble Bee," "Rhapsody in Blue," "William Tell Overture," "1812 Overture," and others. "Almost every student wanted to dislike the music," relates Elliott, "but I could tell they found it enjoyable. I know they found it interesting enough to talk about, because as each class arrived, the students would comment on something students from earlier classes had said about the music."

The students wrote intently, taking their music seriously and defending it with great determination, says Elliott. Following are some of the students' comments on the experiment — and the music. "If I had a choice of listening to the classical music Mr. Elliott played or watching Jim and Tammy Bakker ask for money, I'd rather watch Jim and Tammy Bakker," wrote Billy Johnson. Another student was somewhat kinder with his remark: "I'll give the classical music a three."

Derrick Akers commented on "Forever Young" by Rod Stewart by saying, "That was the best song that you played. This song makes me sit down and think about life." Stefanie Henson wrote, "The first day you played the music from Vietnam, I wrote in my journal, 'It is old music. Something Mom and Dad would listen to.' On the second day, the music was more update and more enjoyable."

Now, it was the students' turn to present the music that makes them tick. In the junior class, Jamie Martin played "Blues Man" and "Social Call" by Hank Williams Jr. and, in sharp contrast, Daniel Combs, a freshman, chose "Patience" by Guns and Roses, and "Who Made Who" by AC/DC. Elliott says he listened to both artists with an open mind — after all, he says, that's what he had asked of the students when he presented his selections. As he listened to Williams sing "Blues Man," Elliott says he wondered what in the music appealed to teenagers. He asked Jamie Martin, who had chosen to play the song. "I guess it is his rebellious nature that gets our attention," said Martin. "He doesn't care what people think about him."

As Elliott listened to "Social Call," he says he realized he had no idea what the point of the song was, or even if it had a point. Martin told him the point was a tribute to his girlfriend. The class listened to some other types of music and, for the most part, enjoyed the experience.

Elliott says he feels that having done the experiment, he understands his students better. "I can see now why they do some of the things they do. I suppose we teachers should look back and remember what it was to be a teenager," says Elliott. "I certainly wouldn't want to take their music away from them. It is too important for that. I suppose all that I can really say I got from this activity was a little better understanding of my students, but to me, that is a valuable lesson that I can use."

Parents' Rights

by Joyce Everly
Boone's Law of Parent Involvement: "In any given public school, genuine involvement is inversely proportional to the number of bake sales, candy sales and yard sales sponsored by parent groups."

In the next "Parents' Rights," I'll talk about how the school system's chain of command works, and how to go through it when you need answers.

I found out about the "Family Education Rights and Privacy Act" when a West Virginia parent told me of her experience while she was looking through her child's school records.

If you have any questions concerning the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act, contact your school principal, school board office (886-2354), or me (886-8243).

"I could not believe that my son's record stated 'mother is a trouble maker,'" said the education activist. That mom knew that those comments had no place in her child's records.

To file a complaint or to seek further information about the act, write Family Education Rights and Privacy Act Office, Hubert Humphrey Building, Room 586F, Washington, DC 20201.

Under the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, a parent of children under 18 years of age has the right to:

- Inspect and review the education records kept by the school system on their children;
- Challenge the accuracy, appropriateness or misleading nature of the information placed in their child's school file, and to have such information corrected or deleted;
- Limit the number and type of individuals who will be able to see their child's education records (no one should be looking at the records unless you've given written permission);
- Receive a list of individuals who have been permitted to see the child's records;
- Be notified every time their child's education records are turned over to a court by judicial order of subpoena;
- Be notified by school authorities about the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act provisions.

I wonder how many parents know about this law when their child begins kindergarten?

I, for one, did not know about this "right" until my oldest child was a junior in high school.

Through the years, I have spoken to hundreds of parents who were not aware of this right to review school records.

When deciding to go to a school and check the student's record, there are a few helpful things one can do: call and let the school know you will be coming. That way, you won't be disrupting class time, and records should be available to you when you arrive. Also, don't let the principal put you off — you have a right to see the records at your convenience.

After you have reviewed the records, be sure you talk to your child's teacher or the principal if you have questions.

My experience has always been positive when I have asked to look at school records, and yours should be,

PCC Fraternity Initiates Members

On May 8, the Alpha Nu Zeta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa at Prestonsburg Community College held its second initiation ceremony to induct new members into the fraternity.

Phi Theta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity for two-year colleges. Members must have a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 to be eligible for membership.

The PCC chapter was begun in early 1987 by the late Dr. Bill Graves and Hassan Saffari, co-advisors. The current advisors are Saffari and Mazola Salmons.

The initiation ceremony was held in the Pike Building auditorium on PCC's campus. New members from Floyd County are:

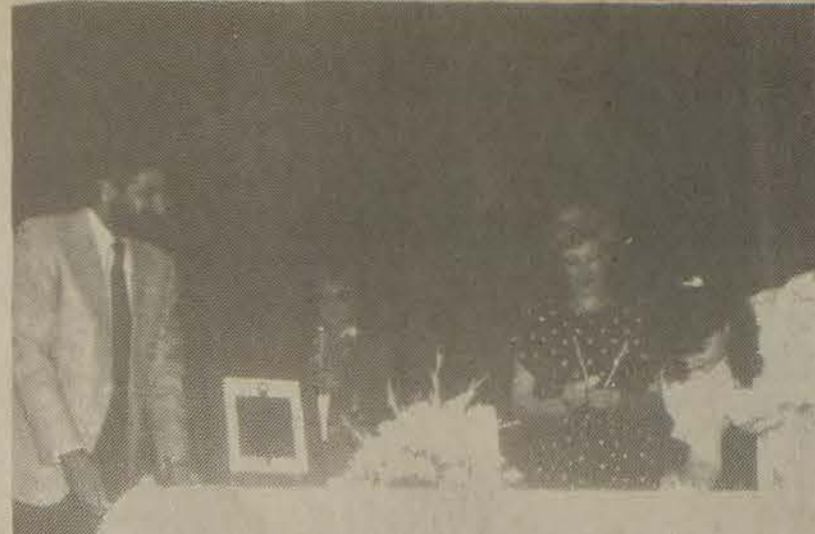

Mary Lou Bailey, Belinda Gail Baker, Brenda Bolen, Laura Jeanne Childers, Bonnie S. Coleman, Sandra S. Collins, John T. Combs, Janet Lea Conley, Kathleen J. Craft, Aaron W.

Crum, Kelly J. Daniels, Kristina G. Herrin, Linda Hicks, John T. Hill II, Bernadine D. Isaac, Penny R. Marcum, Tracy L. Mullins, Don A. Patton, Linda M. Smith, Vicky L. Stumbo, Gary Wells and Theresa Tague Young.

President Edith E. Roe presided at the ceremony. Linda Love, vice president, gave a history of Phi Theta Kappa. PCC President Dr. Henry A. Campbell Jr. introduced the night's guest speaker, Dr. Raymond Betts, director of the honors program for the University of Kentucky.

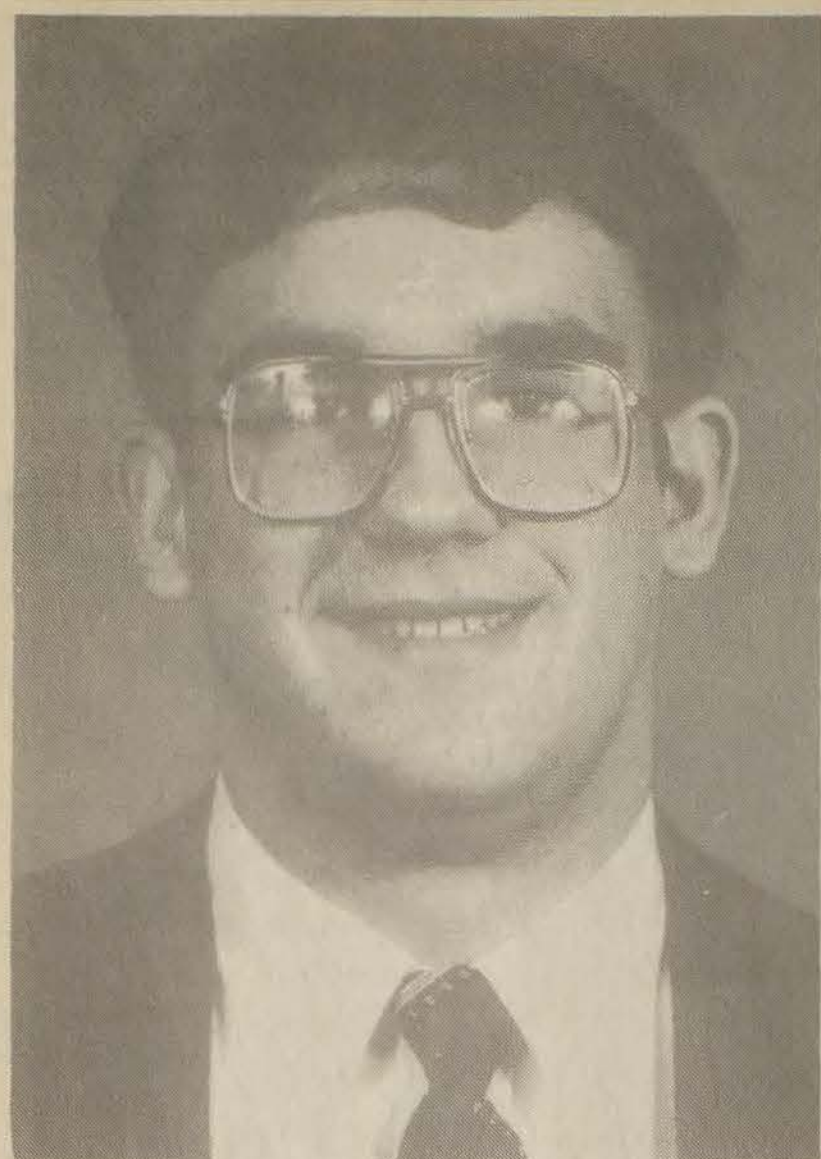

After initiating new members, Saffari congratulated them, and Salmons presented a certificate of appreciation to Betts.

A special presentation ended the ceremony when Roe and Love presented plaques to Alpha Nu Zeta advisor Saffari and Salmons, co-advisor, in appreciation of their support and leadership during the past year.

Daniels Initiated

Kelly Daniels of Floyd County was among several students at Prestonsburg Community College recently inducted into the Alpha Nu Zeta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa. Phi Theta Kappa is a national honorary fraternity for two-year colleges.

Wohlford Receives Scholarship

Dr. Charles Shearer, president of Transylvania University, announced that John Wohlford of Martin is a recipient of the John R. Bryden Appalachian Scholarship. The fund was established by TU in 1984 and is directed toward promising students from the Appalachian region and is sponsored by a charitable foundation, according to university officials. Shearer noted that the scholarship program was established in the hope that recipients will return to Appalachia at the completion of their studies and contribute to the future of the region. The scholarship is named for John R. Bryden, a graduate of TU who served as the institution's academic dean from 1964 to 1976 and is a member of the Board of Curators.

Girl Scout Troop 556 Tours Historical District

Girl Scout Troop 556, which meets locally in St. James Church, recently visited the Frankfort Historic District.

The group attended a Girl Scout Friendship Day in Frankfort, organized by Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council.

Troop 556 cadets are students in grades seven through nine; members participating in the tour included Sarah Summers, Lamiki Derossett, Katrina Thomas, Shirley Wise, Allison Dunn, Emily Damron and Jennifer Young.

"Since the troop formed in September 1988, it has taken part in a 'Double Dare' contest, been hiking, learned some outdoor cooking, and worked on several badges, ranging from pets to computers," said troop spokeswoman Barbara Dunn. "They have helped serve dinner at Thanksgiving and Christmas at Highland Terrace, and they helped the Prestonsburg team at the Special Olympics. Of course, they also sold Girl Scout Cookies."

Dunn says the troop members plan to hold their first camping trip in June. Next year, she says, most of the girls will go on a council-sponsored trip to New York.

To join the troop, or for more information, contact Dunn, 886-3427, or a troop member.

OLM Students Present Play On 'Tooth Trouble'

"Trouble in Toothopolis," a play from the Crest School Program for third graders, was presented by third and fourth grade students at Our Lady of the Mountains School recently in Paintsville.

In evening news format, featuring Marty Hall of David as "Walter Klondike" and Katie Mueller of Tomahawk as "Barbara Salters," the students dramatized the effects of "cavity creeps" like caramels, gum balls and munchies on teeth. They also presented the counter-effects of brushing, flossing and fluoride.

The students performed the 11-page script from memory, according to Benedictine Sister Rachel Neveu, the third and fourth grade teacher who began practicing the play with students two months in advance.

Programs performed by students are incorporated into the school's parent-teacher organization meetings on a regular basis. An art exhibit displaying at least two works of each student coincided with the most recent meeting.

Kindergarten Students Visit Fire Department

The kindergarten students of Our Lady of the Mountains School learned they have some growing to do before the jackets and hats used by members of the Paintsville Fire Department fit properly. But the students' lesson about the work of firefighters involved much more in their recent visit to the station. "We were shown the new fire truck and the jaws of life," explained teacher Wanda Barrows. "We saw the 100-foot ladder and a video tape. Bill and Kyle, the firefighters, gave each of us a silver fireman's badge."

Lab Commemorates McCrosky

The Our Lady of the Mountains School recently dedicated its computer lab in memory of Anita McCrosky, a parent volunteer who was killed in an auto accident last fall. McCrosky regularly supervised the school's computer lab on a volunteer basis. At the time of her death, the family requested that donations be made to the school in lieu of flowers, and $2,460 was received. Above, Doug Brown of Prestonsburg is shown working in the newly-dedicated computer lab.

Pharmacy Footnotes

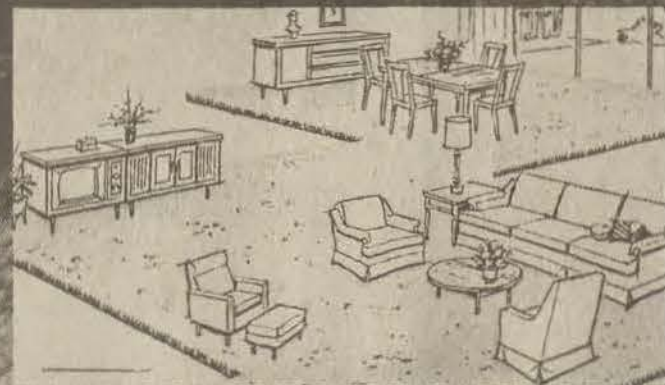

By HAROLD COOLEY

IN THE NAME OF JUPITER

Nearly everyone associates the letters Rx with medicine, specifically with a prescription. Did you know that the special symbol at the beginning of the prescription (the "RX" sign) is actually the remnant of a prayer? In ancient Roman times, no physician would have been so arrogant as to attempt to heal the sick without calling upon the gods for assistance. As there were few effective medicines at the time, assistance was needed. The R stands for "Recipe" (take thou) and the wiggly cross part represents a snake—the sign of Jupiter. Thus, the Rx sign really stands for "Take thou in the name of Jupiter." There were many longer and more ornate invocations to various gods. This one, the shortest, still can be found at the head of every written prescription.

At COOLEY APOTHECARY, we consider each of our customers important to us. You will see this reflected in many different ways. First, we offer you fast, efficient service in meeting all your pharmaceutical needs. Secondly, our staff is here to answer any questions you have concerning any product that we have available. Our registered pharmacist is always on hand to be of assistance when it is required. Complete patient profiles are maintained here at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. Master Charge and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3. Enjoy your long holiday weekend, and please drive carefully!

HINT: "Dx" is often used as a sort of medical shorthand for diagnosis, and "Hx" stands for history.

TV Q&A

'Donna Reed Show' family has undergone many changes

By Polly Vonetes

Q: My family and I are faithful watchers of Nick at Night. They have wonderful family shows, but our favorite is The Donna Reed Show. What can you tell us about the cast, where are they now, what are they doing, if married, etc.? —Lisa Moore, Valley Head, Ala.

A: The adventures of the Stone family on The Donna Reed Show entertained American families from Sept. '58 'til Sept. '66. As with all families, through the years there are changes. Donna Reed, who starred as Donna Stone, portrayed Miss Ellie on Dallas for one year before succumbing to complications of pancreatic cancer in January, 1986. She was 64. Carl Betz, well-known as the husband/father Dr. Stone, died at age 57 of lung cancer in January, 1978. Shelley Fabares, daughter Mary, had a short but successful recording career after the series ended. In 1971 her acting career was rekindled and she has been appearing regularly in TV movies and episodic series. She can currently be seen in the ABC series Coach. Paul Petersen, son Jeff, also had a short recording career during the '60s. He is currently devoting his time to his new career as a writer. He has written a series of James Bond-type books and scripts. Patty Petersen, who portrayed daughter Trisha, has quietly retired.

Q: Approximately four years ago Richard Chamberlain starred in a made-for-TV historical drama about the explorer, John Fremont. Will it be shown again? —Donna Robinson, West Salem, Ore.

A: You are asking about the CBS seven-hour miniseries Dream West. As I remember, the ratings were not that high to warrant another seven-hour commitment by CBS. However, write to: CBS Audience Services, 51 W. 52nd St., New York, N.Y. They may be able to tell you if it has been sold into syndication.

Q: I was wondering what happened to Peggy Ann Garner. She was in the movie Junior Miss in 1945. Has she been in any other movies? Is she still living? —Elaine Reiner, Livingston, Mont.

A: Peggy Ann Garner died of cancer in 1984 at the age of 52. She made her film debut in 1938 in Little Miss Thoroughbred. Throughout the '40s she appeared in such films as In Name Only, Abe Lincoln in Illinois, The Pied Piper, Jane Eyre and A Tree Grows in Brooklyn. In the next two decades she made Nob Hill, Sign of the Ram, The Jungle Boy, The Black Forest and The Cat. After a hiatus of 12 years, she returned to the screen in 1978 in The Wedding.

Sponsors Honored

The ACHS junior class recently recognized Lisa Hambly, Mack Martin and Marsella Bradley with plaques of appreciation for their work helping plan, raise funds and decorate for the Allen Central High School prom. Also receiving thanks were other junior sponsors, including Mrs. King Fultz, Vinetta Bolen and Paul Francis. The prom theme, "Hold on to the Night," was displayed on the campus fence, and the gym was decorated with white palm trees against a moonlit backdrop of pane windows. Fuschia and magenta blue were used with balloons decorating the prom area. Pictured above, back row from left, are Francis, Bradley and Martin; front row, from left, are Fultz, Bolen and Hambly.

Floyd County Roots

(Editor's note: With interest growing in genealogical research, The Times will run, from time to time, the results of individual research efforts. This week Bill Meade of Lexington, formerly of Banner, provides historical information on his family, traced through his maternal great-grandparents.)

Martha Williams (1853-1893), married Robert Hall (1848-1930) on Aug. 11, 1870. He was the son of Elijah Hall and Margaret Clark Hall, whose marriage bond was signed by Squire Hall and Samuel Clark on July 15, 1829. Margaret was the daughter of Daniel Clark.

Martha Williams Hall was the daughter of Isaac Williams and Mary Polly Meade, who was the daughter of Moses Meade and Mary Polly Hackworth Meade. Martha died in 1893 after the birth of her son Josh Hall. Robert then married Louisa Cecil (1853-1918).

The known children of Martha and Robert Hall were:

—Kenis Hall, born May 1871; married Maggie Webb.

—Mary Hall, born 1873; married Ben Webb, then a Dr. Zuber of Arkansas.

—Thursy Hall, born 1875; married Joseph Click.

—Emit "J. Lee" Hall (twin), born 1878; married Linnie Walsh, Sue Preston, Ida Gunnel.

—Isaac N. Hall (twin), born 1878; married Rebecca "Becky" Clark.

—Laura Hall, born 1881, died young.

—Melvin Hall, born 1884; married Rosa Wood.

—Burley Hall, born 1890; married Bertha Akers.

—Josh Hall, born 1893; died on train enroute to a doctor in 1913, of lung intection.

Josephine Hall Akers, daughter of I.N. Hall, has sent me four checks written by Robert Hall and dated 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899. They were for payment of goods he had purchased from various dealers...for the Hall Store he operated about one mile up Prater Creek. He also sold stamps and took letters to Dwale to be picked up by the postal carrier.

I also have two two-cent stamps, dated Sept. 21, 1898 and Sept. 18, 1899, one with his initials, RH, and the other signed R. Hall. I can only assume that this was the way stamps were canceled at that time. The stamps are in mint condition.

Josephine Hall Akers lives in the old I.N. Hall residence at Banner, built in 1923.

About 1924 or '25, my father, A.B. "Banner" Meade, and his two brothers, Jim and Edgar Meade, along with my maternal great uncle, I.N. Hall, built the new Hall Store at the confluence of Prater Creek and the Big Sandy River. It was built of sandstone blocks they made themselves and was located next to the railroad tracks that were built through that area around 1908 or 1909. It was nearer to the homes of the Hall families.

My greatgrandfather, Robert Hall, operated the post office from his home, located near the railroad tracks and the river bank, now known as Banner.

This writer has tried for several years to date the naming of the little settlement of Banner and why it was named Banner. When I received the checks from the Bank Josephine, I found the answer when it was named. My reasoning came from the address of the store and the wording on the checks.

The checks had printed in a small enclosure on the left side: "Dealer in General Merchandise Shipping point, Mo. Prater, KY." The mailing address of the store on the checks was shown as Dwale.

By the fact that they had to go over to Dwale to receive any letters or other mail told me that when my grandmother, Linnie Walsh Hall, was made postmaster at Banner on May 15, 1902, was the time the little settlement was named.

I have the original certificate she was issued, signed by Henry G. Payne, Postmaster General, Washington, DC, dated May 15, 1902. She died from a fall at the old store in late 1902, while pregnant with their third child.

Catherine Stratton, daughter of Isaac Stratton, well known minister and Good Samaritan, has told me the name came from Banner Leslie, reported to be the first school teacher in that area. He was a brother to Anna Leslie Hall, wife of Malon Hall, Robert Hall's brother.

David Banner Leslie is shown in the 1900 Floyd census, living in the Dwale precinct, enumeration district 100, which included Banner.

Puzzling Alzheimer's Disease Affects Patients, Families

by Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

With her 14-year-old son nearly grown, Martha McKenzie of Drift has the responsibility for another baby, or so it often seems. But this baby was not planned for or expected, and McKenzie knows this baby will not grow up. This one will only regress, becoming more infantile.

McKenzie's "baby" is her mother, one of an estimated 300 victims of Alzheimer's Disease in Floyd County.

During the day, while McKenzie works and while her husband sleeps from his nighttime job, a neighbor woman comes by to "babysit" for the elderly woman who "forgets" to eat, often doesn't recognize her family, and seldom talks.

Similar to an infant, McKenzie's mother needs almost constant watching.

"She hasn't wandered off yet," said the daughter, referring to an apparently common activity of Alzheimer's patients. "But you can't get her to talk — she's just stopped talking. All she does is sit and fool with strings of beads."

McKenzie has been keeping her mother for a year, a time during which the younger woman's time has become restricted and outside activity, other than her necessary job, has been essentially eliminated.

From all evidence, the situation will only get worse. The older woman's brain will progressively be taken over by the disease and eventually her body will deteriorate, as well.

Relatives of Alzheimer's patients also often have to live with a fear for themselves. McKenzie, for example, says her mother's elder siblings also have the disease and are in nursing homes.

"It's not so bad for me," says McKenzie, still a young, attractive woman, "but my brothers and sisters are older, in their 50s, and they're afraid they will get the disease also. I keep hoping there will be a cure by the time I might get it."

While the cause of the disease is not known, researchers suspect there is a genetic factor. Other possible causes are a virus or environmental toxins, according to the Alzheimer's Association.

Nancy Mace, coauthor of "The 36-Hour Day," a book on the disease, said at a recent support group session at Highlands Regional Medical Center that Alzheimer's symptoms show up most often in persons in their 80s.

"The reason we're seeing so many cases now is that this is the fastest growing age group in the population," Mace said. "In every country where people are living to be very old, you find it."

An estimated 1,000 persons in the Big Sandy area have the disease.

Most victims are over 65, according to the association, but the disease can strike when the victim is in his or her 40s or 50s. It affects men and women almost equally.

Apparently the earliest and most common symptom of Alzheimer's is memory loss, but Mace cautioned audience members not to overreact themselves. "We often hear people say 'I must be getting Alzheimer's' when they forget something," she said and then pointed to the running shoes she wore because she forgot to bring dress shoes when she came from Lexington to Prestonsburg.

"This is normal forgetfulness," she said, indicating the shoes. "Most of us remember what we forgot. With Alzheimer's you don't remember what you forgot."

Other symptoms of the disease include a decline in ability to perform routine tasks, impairment of judgment, disorientation, personality change, difficulty in learning and loss of language skills. As the disease progresses, victims become totally incapable of caring for themselves.

The rate and extent of deterioration vary, Mace said. "The disease affects different parts of the thinking functions in different ways. Patients lose different areas of intellectual functions at different rates," she said.

She added that emotions are more easily remembered than facts — for normally healthy persons as well as Alzheimer's patients. For this reason, she said, disease victims can often remember that a family member is important to them and yet appear not to recognize the family member or be able to call his name.

Stress can result in more rapid regression in the Alzheimer's patient, Mace said. "Little things, such as trying to remember how to tie shoe laces or which fork to use, can trigger a decline in mental ability," she said.

McKenzie confirmed the observation that stress affects the disease. She said her mother began to decline after her father died. Another audience member said his wife's condition was more pronounced after she fell in the bathtub.

Stress can also bring on what might be described as a temper tantrum in an Alzheimer's patient, Mace said. "But an overreaction to minor stressors is not a temper tantrum," she said, "because we can control our tempers. For the patient, the overreaction is beyond their control."

"Arguing and explaining will only make the situation worse," Mace said. "The important thing is to calm the patient."

Physical problems, such as the flu or an infection, can also result in the patient's decline.

When Alzheimer's is suspected, the most important step to take is to get a good diagnosis, Mace said. She referred to the Alzheimer's Disease Research Center at the University of Kentucky, one of 12 such centers in the country. The center operates an outreach clinic in Prestonsburg.

The diagnosis is important, she said, because the actual cause of the symptoms might be something other than Alzheimer's. Severe depression, for instance, can often cause memory loss, she said, and it, like some other physiological problems, is treatable and reversible.

Alzheimer's is difficult to diagnose. Doctors can assume the disease is present after a battery of tests is complete, but an actual confirmation is possible only after the patient's death when an autopsy can allow for an actual test of brain tissue.

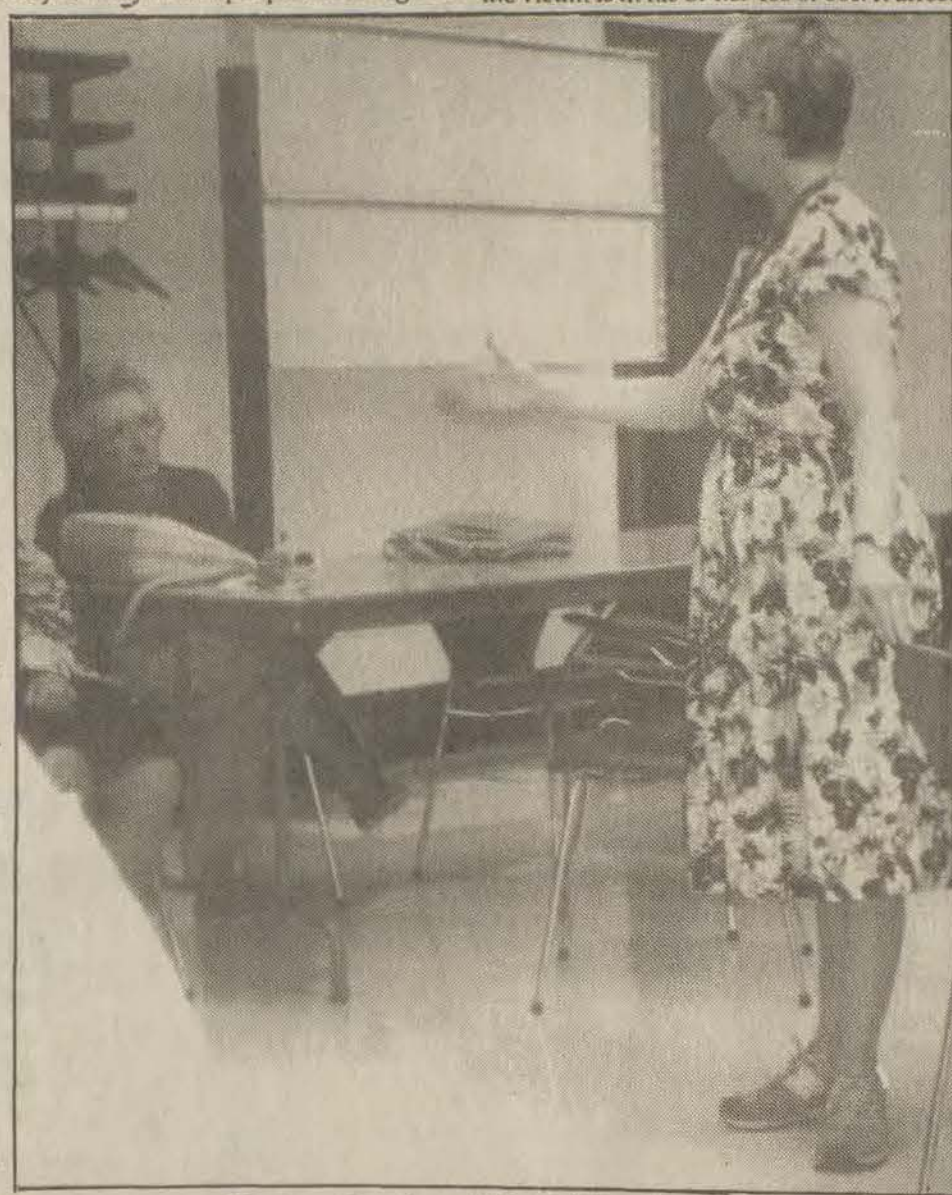

According to the Alzheimer's Association, the disease can last for many, many years before the patient's body finally succumbs. In its later stages, the patient's every need, from eating to toileting, must be taken care of for him. The association estimates that more than $40 billion is spent annually for caring for Alzheimer's victims both in nursing homes and at home.

Mace was careful to season her talk with positive comments for the audience of caregivers and relatives of victims. "Patients can still enjoy music until very late in the illness," she said. "Their attempts to cover up the symptoms are a virtue, a strength. It can drive you up the wall, but we should be thankful when they have enough brain capacity to try to cover up."

We should celebrate the fact that there are some things they retain," she said.

Support groups are important to families with Alzheimer's patients, she said. "In communicating with others, we can get ideas. For instance, when mother hasn't had a bath in two weeks, you might find others who've dealt with the same problem and can offer advice."

A support group in the Big Sandy area meets the third Thursday of each month at HRMC. Contact persons are Glenda Hughes, regional coordinator of the Alzheimer's Association, 886-1330, and Billie Goble of HRMC, 886-8511.

Remembering What You Forget...

Speaking to families of Alzheimer's disease victims and caregivers, author Nancy Mace, shod in running shoes, said forgetfulness is normal when the person remembers that he forgot. Mace said she remembered after she got to Prestonsburg that she left her dress shoes in Lexington. With Alzheimer's, the patient doesn't realize memory loss is taking place.

Incredible edible eggs and the microwave oven are a great team. They're a user-friendly combination for folks of all kinds, including breakfast skippers, working mothers, house husbands and latch-key kids.

You can scramble your morning eggs right in the serving dish almost as quickly as you can make the toast to go along. For a delicious dinner entree to serve minutes after you get home from a busy day at work, scramble chopped sauteed veggies with your eggs. Or, roll a tender microwave omelet around leftovers for a lazy weekend brunch. One dish after another, eggs and the microwave add up to quick and easy meals with a minimum of clean up!

Despite all its attributes, though, the microwave oven doesn't do justice to airy souffles or puffy omelets—they need the dry heat of conventional oven to puff beautifully.

For successful eggs ala microwave, keep these few points in mind:

—Egg yolk, because it contains fat, tends to cook more quickly than egg white. When you're microcooking unbeaten eggs, use 50% or 30% power.

—Omelets, scrambled eggs and poached eggs microcook well on full power.

—Even out of the shell, eggs may explode in the microwave because rapid heating causes a buildup of steam. Always use a wooden pick or tip of a knife to break the yolk membrane of an unbeaten egg before microcooking to allow the steam to escape.

—Covering eggs with a lid, plastic wrap or waxed paper while they microcook encourages more even cooking and - if you forget to prick the yolks - helps to confine the explosion!

—Eggs microcooked in their shells will explode.

However, if you need chopped hard cooked eggs for salads, sandwich fillings, casseroles or garnishes, the microwave is a great time-saver. Simply separate yolks and whites in to two lightly greased liquid measures or small bowls. Stir the yolks with a fork. Cover each container with plastic wrap. Cool separately on 50% or 30% power, stirring once or twice, allowing about 20 to 30 seconds per yolk and about 30 seconds to 1 minute per white. Remove them when they're slightly underdone and let them stand, covered, 2 minutes. Cool long enough to handle comfortably, then chop, or chill until ready to chop.

For a quick and easy dinner, try this strata which requires only about 7 minutes "micro" time and very little pre-oven time.

RAPID-FIRESTRATA ITALIANO

1 Tbsp butter
1/4 cup minced green onions with tops
2 cloves garlic, minced
1/4 tsp Italian seasoning, crushed
1/4 tsp salt
1/2 cup milk
4 eggs
1 1/2 cups unseasoned stuffing cubes

1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded mozzarella cheese

Celery leaves, optional
In 1 1/2-quart baking dish, stir together butter, onions, garlic and seasonings. Cook on High until butter is melted, about 1 minute. Add milk and eggs. Stir until thoroughly blended. Stir in stuffing cubes and cheese. Cook on High 3 minutes. Stir. Continue cooking on High just until set, about 1 minute. Let stand 2 to 3 minutes to complete cooking. Garnish with celery leaves, if desired.

Now, you need an easy, yet fancy, bread recipe to go with your "micro" creation. This recipe for Cheese Brunch Buns, with a cheese and dill filling, will complement your dish perfectly. It is especially simple to prepare with a KitchenAid mixer, as the dough hook completely kneads the dough thus eliminating any hand kneading. However, should you not have one, adjust this recipe according to hand processing.

CHEESE BRUNCH BUNS

2 cups milk
1/3 cup shortening
5-3/4 to 6-1/4 cups all-purpose flour
1/3 cup sugar
2 tsps salt
2 packages active dry yeast
2 eggs
1/2 cup butter or margarine
Combine milk and shortening in a saucepan. Heat over medium heat until very warm (120° F to 130° F). Place 4 cups flour, sugar, salt and yeast in bowl. Attach bowl and dough hook. Turn to Speed 2 and mix 30 seconds. Gradually add warm liquid to bowl, about 2 minutes. Add eggs and mix 2 minutes more.

Continuing on Speed 2 and add remaining flour, 1/2 cup at a time, until dough clings to hook and cleans sides of bowl. Knead on Speed 2 for 5 to 7 minutes longer, or until dough is smooth and elastic.

Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch dough down and divide in half. Roll to a 16x8x1/4-inch rectangle. Spread half of Cheese Filling over dough. Roll dough tightly from longest side, pinching seam together to seal. Cut into sixteen 1-inch slices. Repeat with remaining ingredients.

Melt butter and generously grease bottom of two 9x13x2-inch pans. Place buns cut side down in buttered pans. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Bake at 375° F for about 20 to 25 minutes. Invert pans on wire racks. Serve warm. Yields 32 buns.

CHEESE FILLING

3 jars (5 oz. each) sharp process cheese spread
3/4 cup butter or margarine
3/4 tsp Tabasco sauce
3/4 tsp onion powder
3/4 tsp Beau Monde seasoning
1 tsp dill weed
1 tsp Worcestershire sauce
Dash Cayenne pepper

Place all ingredients in bowl. Attach bowl and flat beater. Turn to speed 4 and beat until thoroughly combined, about 2 minutes.

REBEKAHS MEET

The regular semi-monthly meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31 was held Tuesday, May 16, with Lorena Wallen, noble grand, in charge.

Pikeville's Lost in the Shuffle Bridge Club met at Meyers Towers last week, and Robert Pinson captured first place. Second place went to Mrs. Jerry Barnard, and Evelyn Waggoner ranked third.

The recent pot luck and bridge dinner honoring Betty Grudin was a success. Pinson barbecued chicken to perfection, while Grif Griffith made a broccoli salad that proved bachelors can sometimes cook! A white cake with blue and white frosting was captioned, "We'll Miss You, Betty!"

The Senior Citizens' Pinochle Club has grown. Those present this week were Belle Bolden, Louise Hall, Estelle Hawpe, Rebecca Layne, Nola Ratliff, Myrtle Robinson and Roberta Sandefur.

A bridge rule: When the auction has been passed three times, it cannot be reopened. Also, an insufficient bid must be made sufficient.

Attentive consideration: "Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out; so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceaseth." (Proverbs 26:20.)

Quilt Research, Care Workshops Slated By State Historical Society

In conjunction with the temporary exhibit, "Quilts From Appalachia," the Kentucky Historical Society will sponsor two workshops for quilt enthusiasts and collectors on Saturday, June 10, at the Old Capitol in Frankfort, according to Betty Fugate, Kentucky Historical Society.

From 9 a.m. until noon, South Carolina folklorist Laurel Horton will conduct a program on "Quilt Research," and a session on "Quilt Care" will be led by Lexington quilt specialist Helen Thompson and Kentucky History Museum staff from 1 to 4 p.m.

Intended to introduce quilt research resources and techniques, the morning program will include a presentation of the history of quilt research, identification of archival and folklife sources available to the quilt historian, and a how-to oral history session. A native of Louisville, Laurel Horton lectures and presents workshops that explore the influences of geography, history, and culture on quilt making traditions. Formerly the director of the South Carolina Quilt Project, she has authored numerous publications, organized museum exhibits, and judged quilt shows all over the South, according to Fugate. The workshop fee is $5.

Fugate said the afternoon session will focus on the proper care of quilts, beginning with a presentation by Kentucky History Museum Curator Cathy Zwyer. After Zwyer's discussion of museum standards for cleaning, storage facilities, and environmental conditions, quilt specialist Helen Thompson will demonstrate step-by-step procedures for caring for quilts at home. Workshop participants will learn to line a drawer, fold and roll quilts for storage and to set on backings and sleeves for display.

A founder and board member of the Kentucky Heritage Quilt Society, Thompson has taught quilt making classes and judged quilt competitions in Kentucky and nationwide. The fee for the afternoon workshop, which will include a sample kit for each participant, is $10.

According to Fugate, both workshops complement the traveling exhibit, "Quilts from Appalachia," showing in the Old Capitol from June 9 through July 28. Organized by Pennsylvania State University's Palmer Museum of Art, the exhibit features 20 contemporary traditional quilts made by professional quilt artists from 13 states in the Appalachian mountain region.

A limit of 50 participants has been set for each workshop, and the pre-registration by June 1 is required. For further information and registration forms, contact Betty Fugate, Kentucky Historical Society, P.O. Box H, Frankfort, KY 40602-2108; (502) 564-2662.

The following funds are used by the City of Martin:

Governmental Fund Types: General Fund - The general operating fund of the City is used to account for all financial resources except those required to be accounted for in another fund.

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF UNCOMPENSATED (CHARITY) CARE

Highlands Regional Medical Center is required by law to give a reasonable amount of its services without (or at a reduced) charge to eligible persons who cannot afford to pay for care. Eligibility is based on poverty level income as established by the Federal Community Services Administration. This care will be provided for all MEDICALLY JUSTIFIED SERVICES except OUTPATIENT PHARMACY.

Highlands Regional Medical Center of Prestonsburg, Kentucky will make available from July 1, 1989 to June 30, 1990 $286,004.00 of Hill-Burton Charity Care. Charity care will be available on the first request basis to eligible persons needing care who are unable to pay for hospital services until the facility's annual compliance level is met. Eligibility for charity care will be limited to persons whose family income is no more than the current poverty income guidelines established by Community Services Administration (see guidelines below). This notice is published in accordance with 42 C.F.R. 124.504, notice of availability of uncompensated services.

To be eligible to receive charity care, your annual family income must be at or below the following levels: (D.S.A. guidelines, published February 20, 1988).

SIZE OF FAMILY	NO CHARGE	REDUCED CHARGE
1	$5,980.00	$11,960.00
2	8,020.00	16,040.00
3	10,060.00	20,120.00
4	12,100.00	24,200.00
5	14,140.00	28,280.00
6	16,180.00	32,360.00
7	18,220.00	36,440.00
8	20,260.00	40,520.00

For family units with more than 8 members, add $250.00 for each additional member. This scale is in effect until further notice.

As a condition for providing charity care, this facility requires that applicants make a reasonable effort to obtain assistance for payment of their hospital bill from the various government programs that provide such assistance (e.g. MEDICARE, MEDICAID DISABILITY, PUBLIC ASSISTANCE SPEND-DOWN OR REHABILITATION). And, the charity applicant is required to furnish written documentation to this facility, indicating that application of the appropriate agency was made and, that the application is (1) pending (2) approved or (3) denied.

If you think you may be eligible for uncompensated (charity) services, you may request an application from the Financial Counselor, located in the Credit & Collections Department of the Medical Center, or, after 4:30 p.m. and on weekends and holidays, applications can be obtained at the emergency room admissions area. This facility will make a written determination of whether you will receive uncompensated services within two (2) working days of the receipt of your request. If you have any questions concerning your eligibility, you may call (806) 886-8511 and ask for the Financial Counselor at Extension 511, or you may inquire at the Credit & Collections Department, Extension 513.
