The Dump That Ate Wayland

Work was slated to begin this summer on cleaning up abandoned slate dumps in and around the town of Wayland. But so far, nothing has been done. Federal money was allocated last winter for the million-dollar-plus project, and the Wayland site was given a top priority. According to Gary Francis, local official with the US Office of Surface Mining, this is at least the second time funds have been appropriated for the clean up; some Wayland residents contend the reclamation has been promised even more times. The waste build-up apparently occurred during the 1930s, '40s and '50s when Elkhorn Coal operated several underground mines in the area. In addition to health and other environmental hazards created by persistent fires, the bare slate hills continue to erode, washing debris and residue into area streams and clogging town drains. Francis said he is trying to identify the holdup of the project.

Teachers Take Officials To Task

by Anne Chaney,
Editor

Floyd County teachers are determined to be heard.

Unhappy with local management of the 9,000-student school system and with state intervention that began in January, more than a dozen teachers representing their colleagues traveled to Frankfort Tuesday to present their concerns to members of the state Board of Education.

Teachers addressed the state board's Administration Committee Tuesday morning, capturing the ear of state board chairman Henry Pogue, a committee member. Additionally, Roberta Luxmore, president of the Floyd County Education Association, and other FCEA representatives are expected to address the full board today.

The teachers presented a written statement to the committee Tuesday, outlining their frustrations with the local district's failure to communicate with employees and fulfill past commitments.

"During the last 11 years, we've been waiting for others to determine our future, and in the process, we've been trying to teach," teachers said. The educators noted that "battles rage around the classrooms, and it hurts what happens in the classrooms. We want supervisors and administrators who will help us."

Educators also expressed dissatisfaction with a comment by Deputy Superintendent of Instruction Dr. Betty Steffy, who said at an earlier state board meeting that the local district has made two years' progress in six months.

The Floyd educators told committee members that the statement, if true, was "a startling revelation" to them.

The representatives also complained about a lack of information concerning the state department's intervention in the local district and asked why officials failed to take action after the local board did not reduce the number of administrators in the district. Earlier, the local board had approved reductions in classroom teaching personnel, bus drivers, maintenance workers, janitorial staff and teacher aides.

The teachers said that in January, when the district was moved into Phase 3 under the academic bankruptcy law, they believed someone was willing to help them.

"We understand that the task undertaken is not easy, but we believe that you were willing to make tough decisions," educators said.

"Many of the points that the teachers bring up are just as frustrating to us. The political activity, the hesitation of the local board to move on recommendations and, to some degree, the non-cooperation with the local committee."

-- Gordon Nicholls

"From our viewpoint, conditions are no better in Floyd County, and in some ways they may be worse (since state intervention)," the statement read. Teachers alluded to the firing of Ed Patton, the district's transportation director, and to adoption of a local board policy prohibiting teacher strikes or sick-outs.

"We know that we're being told that if we want to keep our jobs, we'd better keep our mouths shut. Perhaps that is hard for some of you to understand, because most of you do not live with that kind of fear. You do not have to learn about where you'll be working the next year by consulting an article in the newspaper. How much dignity do you think any of those teachers felt? Your jobs do not depend on whom you choose to support in the next election. If this is happening with members of the state department in Floyd County, what will it be like when they leave?" the teachers asked.

Downtown Prestonsburg Under Water?

by Anne Chaney,
Editor

Soon, most all of downtown Prestonsburg will be under water. Figuratively, that is.

A proposal by the Federal Emergency Management Agency aims to raise the base flood elevation for the Levisa Fork in Prestonsburg approximately six feet at the upstream end of town and three feet at the lower end.

While the water won't necessarily rise higher in real life, on paper it will have the potential to do so.

For downtown Prestonsburg business owners and residents, the proposed change will mean an increase in flood insurance rates.

According to David Gardner of Big Sandy Area Development District, much of Prestonsburg will be similarly affected. An area stretching southeast from Prestonsburg Community College to Earl Street and south from Highland Avenue to near First Avenue may be changed from Zone B to Zone A, according to Gardner.

Zone B designation indicates moderate or minimal hazard of flooding, while Zone A encompasses an area with special flood hazard—an area that floods frequently.

"Right now," said Gardner, "most of downtown Prestonsburg is out of the 100-year flood plain, except an area immediately adjacent to the river."

Of primary importance to those within the area of the proposed change will be a resultant increase in insurance premiums.

According to Denzil Allen of Hatton-Allen Insurance Agency in Prestonsburg, if FEMA approves the change, local policyholders will see an increase when renewal time comes around. For example, he said, a homeowner with a $25,000 policy will see an increase from $108 to $183 annually. Hardest hit, perhaps, will be businesses, with premiums increasing more than 200 percent. Allen said a business owner with a $50,000 policy, in moving from Zone B to Zone A, would see a hike from $170 to $370 annually.

"This will be the major effect of the proposal," Allen said. "The major

Patton Keynotes July 13 Breakfast

Pike County Judge-Executive Paul E. Patton will keynote a Thursday morning breakfast, highlighting economic development possibilities in Eastern Kentucky.

According to a spokesperson in Patton's office, the Pike executive is expected to discuss how GEDs enhance the work force, ideas for economic development in the Big Sandy area, the importance of a regional perspective by Eastern Kentucky leadership, preparing a county's infrastructure for economic development, and the perception of labor in Eastern Kentucky.

The breakfast, sponsored by the Big Sandy Area Labor-Management Council, is part of an observation of Labor-Management Week in Floyd County.

Wednesday (today) at 4 p.m., the Kentucky Labor-Management Advisory Council will hold a public meeting at Jenny Wiley's May Lodge.

Tickets for the breakfast are $10, and will be available at the door.

Betsy Layne Man Moved To Action By Flag Decision

A Betsy Layne man, spurred by what he considers patriotic spirit, has become a political activist, somewhat to his own surprise.

"I've never done anything like this before," said Steve Roberts, 34, the leader of a petition drive in support of making damage to the United States flag a crime.

Roberts expects to collect more than 3,000 signatures on petitions he is circulating in Floyd and Pike counties. He plans to gather up the petitions this weekend and send them to US Senators Wendell Ford and Mitch McConnell and to 7th District Congressman Chris Perkins.

Roberts said that when he heard of the Supreme Court ruling that burning of the flag was protected by the First Amendment to the Constitution, he "just sat around complaining about it. Then my wife told me to either stop complaining or do something."

The state highway department employee said he then came up with the petition idea. Within a matter of days, he had copies of the petition in more than 30 businesses in the area, particularly convenience stores. He also contacted area radio stations to get their backing.

County Attorney To Local Vendors: X-Rated Material Not For Young Eyes

Floyd County Attorney David Allen Barber is warning all vendors of possible pornographic videos and magazines to get the materials out of sight of minors.

Barber said his office has recently received "numerous complaints from parents concerning pornographic videos and magazines which are displayed so that they can be seen by minors."

He declined to name specific stores, but he did say he was concerned about "some video stores in the Harold area and some convenience stores that sell videos and magazines."

The county attorney said he was giving the stores a "grace period, a chance to put them (the materials) up." He said his office will begin to issue warrants to store owners who do not comply in a couple of weeks.

The penalty for a first offense in cases involving allowing minors access to pornography, a misdemeanor, is a fine of up to $500 and/or up to a year in jail, he said. Subsequent offenses are Class D felonies and are punishable by one to five years in prison or, in some cases, a fine of up to $10,000.

Under state laws on pornographic materials, a minor is defined as anyone under 18 years of age, he said.

"We are asking that all businesses selling or renting pornographic material display that material in areas not accessible to minors, or to display it in such a manner so that the pornographic nature is not seen by minors," Barber said.

The county attorney said he has sent letters to all relevant businesses he has been able to identify to remind owners of the display issue.

Wayland Board Approves Campaign Sign Ordinance

The Wayland Town Board at last night's meeting enacted an ordinance designed to control the proliferation of election campaign materials within the city limits.

The new ordinance requires candidates who wish to post campaign literature in public areas to post a $100 bond to the city clerk or city police before displaying the material. After an election, candidates will have two weeks to take down all campaign materials and reclaim their bond money.

Candidates who do not remove campaign materials will forfeit the bond, according to the ordinance, and the money will be used to pay for having the materials removed.

Those caught posting campaign signs without permission will be fined a minimum of $100 for littering, the ordinance says. If a candidate's material is found posted without permission it will be taken down by town officials.

The regulations do not apply to campaign materials posted on private property "so long as they are applied in a way as to prevent them from coming off."

The ordinance also provides that candidates who win a primary election do not have to re-post a bond to allow their campaign materials to stay up through the following general election.

Police Chief Mack Stewart, who drafted the ordinance for the board, said the ordinance is part of an effort to keep the city clean. He said he has seen campaign posters that have been left on poles "for years at a time."

In other business, board members agreed to allow Danny Francis to serve as auxiliary policeman while Chief Stewart is on vacation. Francis will serve without pay.

In response to a citizen complaint about a build-up of bushes and debris at a culvert under KY 7, board members instructed town clerk Carol Stapleton to contact county, state and power company officials to get the culvert cleared out.

Stapleton reminded the board of a special meeting on Monday, July 17, at 7 p.m. at Town Hall to finalize the town budget for 1989-90.

Present at last night's meeting were board members Gene DeCoursey, serving as mayor pro temp, Gene Mullins and Tommy Robinson. Absent were Hobert Webb and Mayor Patricia Murphy.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the town board will be Tuesday, Aug. 1 at 7 p.m.

Same-Day Delivery Begins

Prestonsburg subscribers to the Floyd County Times may have noticed something a bit different of late — their newspapers are arriving on Wednesdays rather than Thursdays.

Known as "same day delivery," the newspapers are taken to the Prestonsburg Post Office during the wee hours of Wednesday morning, in time to be included on carriers' routes that day. In the coming month, the Times will expand its same-day delivery to cover all in-county subscribers.

"By early August, we hope that all Floyd Countians will receive their Times on Wednesday," said publisher Marty Backus Sr. "Providing the convenience of same-day delivery was one way we felt we could show our readers how much we appreciate them."

Prestonsburg residents were the first to receive same-day service because of the proximity of the city's larger post office to the Times offices, Backus said.

"In order to offer Wednesday delivery to other county residents, our in-county subscriptions must be taken to the Pikeville Post Office," the publisher explained. As a sectional center facility, the Pikeville Post Office handles larger volumes of second-class mail than other post offices in surrounding counties.

"Beginning with next week's issue, we hope to offer same-day delivery to all subscribers," Backus explained. "However, if the paper doesn't arrive on Wednesday, please bear with us — it may take some time to completely adjust our staff schedules to this new service."

Be Cool

After more-of-the-same hot and humid weather, a breathing spell is due. Today's forecast is for high temperatures around 90 with a 60 percent chance of thunderstorms and night lows near 70, according to the Jackson Weather Service. Ditto for Thursday, except for the showers.

But the extended forecast predicts a cool front will usher in the weekend, with highs in the lower 80s and nighttime lows in the 60s. It's not exactly sweater weather, but a welcome change.

School Board . . .

The Floyd County School Board will meet Wednesday (today) at 6 p.m. in the board room of the central office in Prestonsburg.

Although routine items comprise the entire agenda, the meeting — delayed one week — comes on the heels of the state Department of Education meeting being held this morning and this afternoon in Frankfort.

Some of items on the state board's agenda concern Floyd County schools.

Tonight's local meeting is open to the public.

Play Ball!

Well, actually, teams in Floyd County have already done so. However, seven teams continue in playoff competition this week and next.

In today's Times, we offer a special supplement highlighting all of the county's Little League teams. Team photos and rosters are included, providing a keepsake for parents and coaches alike.

Pound Pooch Performs Parts Professionally

By Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

If Ralf Friend had some savvy show biz advisers, they'd probably tell him to dump his manager. Granted, she has managed to get him fairly steady work in an area where meaty theatre roles are hard to come by. But the pay is the pits. Zip. Zero. Goose egg.

Ralf, whose latest role is as Horrid, the chattel of Sir Pellinore in the musical Camelot at Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre, knows he owes his life to his manager, Kathy Friend.

The shaggy actor was literally on death row when Friend rescued him. Ralf, as he was soon to be known, had been found and turned into the Huntington dog pound. Since he was an adult dog and considered unadoptable, pound officials did not even bother to vaccinate him or clean him up. As fate would have it, Friend had recently lost another canine companion. "A concerned friend went to the shelter, looked at about a hundred dogs and put my name on this one's cage." She rubs Ralf's face and his tail begins to wag.

"I went up there, opened his cage and he kissed my nose," Friend relates, adding that the kiss sealed the deal. "When we came home, he went right in and jumped on my bed."

That was in 1984, and Friend estimates that Ralf was two or three years old at the time. "All we know is that he was an adult dog," she says. His professional career began a couple of years later when he was "discovered" by former Prestonsburg dancer and teacher Dorothy Howard at a party. Howard saw that he was cast as a street urchin's dog in Mountain Christian Academy's production of A Christmas Carol, and Ralf apparently caught the theatre bug.

He subsequently was in the academy's production of Mid Summer Night's Dream and played one of his finest roles, that of a clown dog. In a Prestonsburg Community College summer camp show.

His reputation for reliability, politeness and professionalism preceded him when casting was done for the summer theatre production. "We sought him out," admits Jim Deaton, manager of Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. "We'd heard of his work and hired him on recommendations."

As promising as his acting career is, Ralf is not likely to give up his day job. He accompanies Friend throughout the region every day as she pursues her career as a safety training instructor for coal companies.

"At a lot of places we go regularly, the workers come out to the truck to get him. They save him pork chop bones," says Friend, adding that Ralf is "intelligent about machinery and cars."

At his home in East Point, Ralf is even more laid back, if that's possible, Friend says. He likes to relax by the pool, listen to the stereo or run in the hills with his beagle buddies from the neighborhood. If he doesn't quite fit in, he doesn't seem bothered.

"When they're chasing a rabbit or squirrel, the beagles go 'ah-oooh' and Ralf comes out with a 'yip, yip,'" his master confides, imitating the animals. Friend tries to be objective about Ralf, who is believed to be part Dandy Dimmont terrier. "He hasn't given a brilliant performance yet," she says somewhat reluctantly.

She admits that he "tinkled" on the stage during the show's opening performance. Even though his role has no lines, one night he couldn't resist letting go a bark, probably aimed at a squirrel on the hill.

She also divulges that he generally has to be dragged onto the stage each night on a leash, although once there he turns in his usual laid back performance.

While Ralf's work is strictly volunteer, Friend says she is sure that if he were paid, he would donate the money to the animal shelter. "We are interested in the theatre," she says, "and we also want to make a plug for humane societies and let people see what you can get there."

Ralf naturally wags his tail in agreement.

Dog's Best Friend

New WIC Guidelines Aid More Kentucky Recipients

More low-income Kentuckians are eligible for a maternal and child nutrition program, due to annual federal government revisions in poverty levels, according to the officials with the state Department for Health Services.

On Saturday, July 1, annual income limits for families applying for WIC, formally known as the special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children, increased between 3 and 4 percent. For example, the annual maximum income for a family of four increased from $21,553 to $22,385.

Those families with incomes near the current maximums may become eligible, according to Peggy Kidd, state WIC director.

Almost 82,000 Kentuckians now receive WIC benefits monthly, Kidd said, as compared to 74,000 recipients in June 1988.

WIC provides nutrition education and specific foods high in protein, iron and vitamins A and C to low-income pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to five years of age who have health problems that can be improved through better nutrition.

The goal of WIC, which is funded by the US Department of Agriculture, is to improve the health of children through proper nutrition, said

Kidd. For more information on WIC eligibility, contact the local Health Department.

Area Miners Join 3-Day 'Memorial'

Work at Wheelwright Mining at Price has been at a standstill this week as workers at the company's coal preparation facility observed the three-day "memorial period," called by United Mine Workers President Richard Trumka.

The union president reportedly called for the shutdown to allow for a "cooling off" of tensions created by the stalemate in contract negotiations between the union and Pittston Coal Group, headquartered in Virginia.

The contract problems have led to strikes at Pittston mines in Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

"We're not receiving any coal today," said Wheelwright Mining official Fred Salisbury on Tuesday. "But we expect to be back to work on Thursday."

Salisbury said the company employs about 20 UMW workers at its tipple. The company is one of the few coal companies in Floyd County with union representation.

Eddie Caudill, president of the Wheelwright UMW local and an employee of Wheelwright Mining, said he had no estimate of how many Floyd County miners are affected by the union's three-day layoff.

Referring to the union's problems with Pittston, Caudill said, "We hate to see what's going on now. The union contract is like any other contract, like a marriage. You take vows. Here, one (Pittston) decides 'I don't like this any more.'"

"That's not right in my book. If Pittston gets away with breaking the contract, others will follow," Caudill said.

CAP Closes Infant Care Center, Cites Lack Of Director As Cause

Christian Appalachian Project has closed Infant University in Martin, Floyd County's only day care center that accepted infants.

The move came after the resignation last week of center director Pat Gallagher, who led in the development of the center four years ago. Glen Taul, a spokesman for the agency at its Lancaster headquarters, said CAP was unable to find a credentialed director to replace Gallagher, and thus had to close the center last Friday.

"We decided it was best to close for the time being and go from there," said Taul. "We need to rethink the program and redirect."

The credentials Taul referred to involve state regulations that require a licensed day care center to be directed by a person who has gone through a professional Child Development Associate program — which Gallagher had — or who has a college degree in early childhood education or special education.

Robert Rennick, who oversees state licensing of day care facilities in 17 eastern counties from his office in Prestonsburg, confirmed that the educational credentials are required. He also expressed regret that Infant University has closed. "There is no other facility in the area that takes infants," he said.

Rennick said the closest center that cares for infants of working parents is in Pikeville, since two such facilities in Paintsville closed last year. The state official added that he is working with some centers that expect to expand their services to include infants by the fall.

A primary problem for regular day care centers, Rennick said, is meeting the stricter fire marshal requirements for serving infants. Infant University, located in a former church, met those requirements, he said.

Rennick said the requirements are more lenient for persons who want to open infant centers in their homes, and he is looking for interested persons in the county. Similar programs have succeeded in other counties, he said, but he has received "few inquiries from Floyd County."

Taul said Infant University was originally affiliated with Mountain Christian Academy, also a CAP sponsored facility, but had become a separate program four years ago. Gallagher has been its only director.

He said about 20 infants were enrolled at the center this summer. Most of the center's clients were children of working couples or of single parents who have to work.

"We're trying to work with parents to help relocate the kids to other programs," Taul said.

Attempts to reach Gallagher on Tuesday were unsuccessful.

Letters To The Editor

Dr. Chalothorn Receives Support

Dear Editor,
I was working at Highlands Regional Medical Center a few years ago, when Dr. Sutip introduced Dr. Chalothorn to me, immediately he became "Dr. Charlie." From that time until now, Dr. Charlie has always been a competent and professional OB-GYN. I worked with him for several years in labor, delivery and post-partum. I cannot think of one OB nurse that didn't like to deliver with Dr. Charlie. By that, I mean he was easy to work with, and in case of an emergency he was always calm and always knew what to do.

As for his C-section rate — sometimes Dr. Charlie would wait all day with a labor patient. I never saw him do a C-section without a medical problem with either fetus or mother. I just wish the people who are going "to monitor" Dr. Charlie would forget the percentages on paper and work with him. Could they stand the pressure of waiting, while dealing with the patients family (sometimes requesting C-sections), possible fetal distress or injury to the mother? And just how long do you wait? If you wait too long, and something happens to the baby or the mother, you get a lawsuit. And what is the first question the lawyer asks? "Why didn't you do a C-section sooner?"

It has become a no-win situation. I couldn't even begin to guess the number of babies Dr. Charlie has delivered, but I'm sure there are a large number of healthy babies thanks to him. Perhaps some of you reading this would not have had a healthy baby without him. Dr. Charlie needs your support now, he has become a part of our community and we cannot afford to lose him. Who's going to deliver our babies? As an OB nurse, it is becoming impossible to afford malpractice insurance. I guess without a doctor or a nurse, that just leaves the "monitoring people" and the lawyers.

Prayer Heals, Reports Reader

Dear Editor,
This is a testimony of my belief in God. It is a true story. I was suffering from mental depression so my doctor, Dr. Roger Jurich, had a psychiatrist see me. He sent me to Charter Ridge Hospital where I stayed 18 days. Another psychiatrist, Dr. Goldberg, sent me to a nursing home for an undetermined amount of years.

During this time my church was praying for me, and I was, too. God delivered me from that mental condition and I'm still taking care of myself.

I was suffering from Parkinson's Disease and had bad tremors. On Sept. 20, 1981 I was saved and baptized in the Freewill Baptist Church. My pastor, Brother Clifford Austin, the deacons and all the church members have prayed for me for several years. Monday morning, June 26, I awoke at 6 a.m. and about 10 a.m. I discovered I had no tremors and my Parkinson's disease was gone.

I've told everyone I've seen this week what God had done for me, and one friend said, "If your Parkinson's is gone, next week I'll bring my mother to your church." I am asking God to save these people and hoping that they will come to God and find the peace and contentment that I have found.

My friends all call me Mary, but Bertha Slone is my name. At prayer meeting Wednesday evening the sister asked everyone to come to the altar and pray to God to heal my heart — I have cardiac arrhythmia. I believe with all my heart and soul the God will heal my heart. I have no doubts.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

IT'S TIME TO START PROTECTING OUR FLAG, OUR CHILDREN AND OUR FUTURE

Kentuckians and other Americans have good reason to be outraged at Supreme Court decisions nullifying laws against the desecration of our flag and striking down part of our law against the reprehensible "dial-a-porn" industry.

I also am shocked and dismayed by these rulings. I feel that way for more reasons than I will be able to squeeze into one column, but I want to emphasize that these issues go beyond personal and emotional feelings to the heart of some of the most critical problems of our nation.

We already have seen our economic strength eroded by huge federal budget deficits, which arise from the borrow-and-spend policies of the 1980s and rob us of funds for education, law enforcement and other critical programs. Now, we see our moral foundations coming under one attack after another, with the recent Supreme Court decisions representing two of the latest and most glaring examples.

I believe that these attacks threaten to weaken the moral fiber that holds our nation together. I am convinced that this moral fiber — this common sense of decency and respect for a symbol of all that is good about our nation — is essential to democracy, law and order and the system of justice that makes our freedom possible.

It is a sad day for our veterans and for all Americans when the flag can be burned with impunity. Surely our founding fathers would be appalled to find that, two centuries after the adoption of the Constitution, our highest court has found that this deplorable act must be protected as free speech.

We must ask ourselves how this court — a court that was supposed to have been made more conservative by former President Reagan — could have reached such a conclusion about our flag. And we must ask ourselves how it could be necessary, in the name of free speech, to allow shameless "dial-a-porn" operators to prey on children already besieged by those who would offer them dangerous drugs.

Our answer must be that these decisions, however well intentioned they might have been, ultimately could help to destroy the way of life that they presumably were designed to protect. I believe that we should do everything possible under the provisions of our Constitution to overcome these unfortunate rulings.

I strongly support a bipartisan effort to amend the constitution to protect our flag. As a former governor, I also recognize the possibility of legislative action not only by Congress but also by the states, which may regulate demonstrations and restrict speech posing a clear and present danger of violence.

Let me assure you that I also will be among those pressing to change our Child Protection and Obscenity Enforcement Act, which I cosponsored in the last Congress, to overcome Supreme Court objections relating to our much-needed provisions against "dial-a-porn" operators.

I urge all Kentuckians to give serious thought to these extremely important issues and to support our efforts to safeguard the values — and the future — of our nation.

Movin' Right Along

by Anne Chaney

Spring cleaning has faded into summer, and understandably so. With the 90-plus days we've had recently, it's been too hot to do much.

However, lest the mood completely escape us, there are still plenty of areas in Floyd County in dire need of a good litter-cleaning campaign.

In late April, the transportation department kicked off its anti-litter drive, "Don't Trash Our Bluegrass."

For those in Floyd County who are interested, the program offers the following:

— The "Adopt A Highway" segment of the program allows contractors, civic and social groups to select a section of a road or highway and, working with the Transportation Cabinet, keep it litter-free.

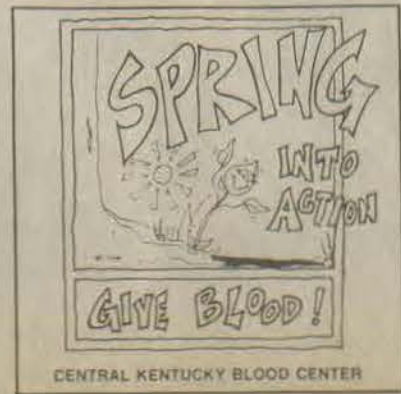

— The cabinet will provide trash bags, safety vests and bumper stickers to groups.

— Highway personnel will place signs on the roadway showing the name of the group responsible for keeping the section clean.

For more information, contact Marjorie Klee, anti-litter campaign coordinator, (502) 564-4890.

Big or small, biodegradable or not,

The earth rotates on its axis faster in September than in March.

solid waste out of place is still litter. The life expectancy of some litter means that what you throw away today, your grandchildren can pick up decades from now.

For instance, a banana peel takes a week to six months to decompose. A wax paper cup, however, takes up to five years.

Styrofoam cups have a life expectancy of 10 to 20 years, much less than their plastic counterparts, which can hang around in ditches for 50 to 70

Other life expectancies:
A cigarette filter, 15 years; aluminum cans, 100 to 500 years; cotton rags, two to four weeks; paper, two to four weeks; painted wood stakes, one to four years; unpainted wood stakes, one to four years; tin or steel cans, 100 years.

And then there are some things that never go away: Glass containers and rubber tires will be with us forever.

Science Building A Financial Reality, Thanks To Doctors

Prestonsburg Community College has reached its mandatory pledged goal of $194,800 for the new science building, according to John A. Herald, dean of student affairs.

"It reached its goal through the generous donation of Dr. Chandra Varia and Dr. Mahendra Varia," Herald said. "Their contribution of $20,000 to the science building fund has made the science building a reality."

Both of these individuals have devoted 10 years of their life to serving Eastern Kentucky. Dr. C. Varia is a gynecologist who works in several of the mountain counties of Eastern Kentucky. Her husband, Dr. M. Varia, is a veterinarian. Each of them have their office in Martin.

"We are honored that their commitment to education has resulted in the donation that will enable us to reach our goal and provide a new science building and a better opportunity for the people of our area to reach the professional level that will enable our area to grow both in opportunities and in service," said Dr. Henry Campbell, PCC president.

"Dr. Chandra not only believes in education, but she believes that all of us can, by donating to educational efforts, improve our entire area. She hopes that the people who will benefit from this new building and from the education at PCC will in return give to the area after they achieve their goals. She has given to many causes in Kentucky and she would encourage other professional people to give to educational institutions. Every gift by any person will make it easier for the next group of young people to fulfill their own professional aspirations."

According to Herald, although the college has achieved its pledge goal, it still needs to raise an additional $25-30,000 in order to have the total in cash. He said donations of all sizes, particularly from alumni will be gratefully received. The ground breaking for the new building should be sometime this fall, Herald added.

Any donations can be sent to Prestonsburg Community College,

New Science Building Fund, One Bert T. Combs Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

Bentley Pleads Guilty To LSD Felony Charge

Randy Bentley, 22, of Mud Creek, charged with trafficking in LSD, a class C felony, last week changed his plea of not guilty to guilty of a reduced offense-criminal attempt to traffic LSD, a class D felony.

Bentley was arrested in 1985 when he sold 10 small purple tablets, suspected to be "hits" of LSD, to K.D. Felice, Kentucky State Police detective. Laboratory results at the Kentucky State Police crime laboratory identified the drug as lysergic acid diethylamide, more commonly known as LSD.

Bentley, who was 18 at the time of his arrest, reportedly sold the narcotic substance at $4 per tablet.

Bentley will be formally sentenced July 21 by Circuit Court Judge Hollie Conley.

Trailer Burns, Arson Suspected

A trailer owned by Velma Banks of Stamper's Branch was destroyed in a fire on July 4, according to Mack Stewart, Wayland police chief and volunteer firefighter.

Stewart said he received the call from dispatch at 9:45 a.m., and by 11:30 a.m. he and 10 other firefighters had the fire out. No one was at home during the time and no other property was damaged.

State Arson Investigator Barry McKenzie said that, due to the low burning and nature of the fire, he suspects Banks to be the victim of arson. The case remains under investigation.

Contest Winner Doesn't Collect

There was no winner for this week's "Shopper's Dream" contest, according to Brenda Crouch, advertising manager for the Floyd County Times.

The winner was Effie Hall of Dry Creek, whose name was drawn at Martin Save-A-Lot.

"Mrs. Hall apparently did not see her name, which was posted at all participating businesses," said Crouch. "Therefore, she didn't come to the Times office to get her letter of authorization, which she needed to receive the prizes."

A consolation prize of $25 will be sent to Hall from the Floyd County Times for being selected.

Danny Keathley Trust Fund Set Up

A trust fund for Danny Keathley, who was paralyzed in a mining accident, has been set up at the First National Bank of Pikeville.

All contributions can be mailed to First National Bank Of Pikeville, Pikeville, KY 41501. Checks should be made out to Danny Keathley Trust Fund.

Rescue Squad Gets New Truck

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo presents members of the Floyd County Rescue Squad a $20,000 Big Sandy Area Development Grant for the purchase of a new truck. Receiving the check are, from left, Mike Terry, assistant secretary-treasurer, Onda Hunt, captain, and Dwight Crider, secretary-treasurer.

Aid Caravan To Stop In P'burg

Three trucks carrying supplies to a private fishing cooperative in Nicaragua are expected to stop in Prestonsburg next Wednesday, according to a spokesperson for the Kentucky Central America Information Network.

The Rev. Norman Bent, pastor of a Moravian church in Nicaragua and a member of the caravan, will speak at a brown-bag lunch at noon on July 19 in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church on Arnold Avenue.

The lunch is free and open to the public, said Sr. Mary Ellen Koenn of Drift, one of the event's organizers. She said a collection will be taken to support the project.

One of the trucks stopping here will collect construction and fishing supplies locally to be taken to Bluefields, Nicaragua, which was hard hit by Hurricane Joan last year, Koenn said. The truck, a rebuilt 18-foot Mercedes Benz, and its contents are a gift from the people of Kentucky, she added. The other two trucks, she said, are sponsored by groups in Ohio. They are to be joined by 36 other trucks as they drive through the country. For information on the project, call Koenn at 587-2200 or Kristin Layng Szakos at 874-9584.

Extended Care For Infants Assured By State Medicaid

Three area hospitals are among 26 in the state that will be affected by the lifting of a state restriction on the length of time babies from indigent families can be hospitalized and still be covered by Medicaid.

The local facilities are Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg, Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin and Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center in Paintsville.

Previously, hospital stays for all Medicaid patients were limited to 14 consecutive days for an illness. Effective July 1, Kentucky's Department for Medicaid Services has removed that limitation for children under one year of age who are treated in any of the 26 hospitals statewide, according to a spokesperson for the Cabinet for Human Resources.

"By increasing our reimbursement for services to infants, the state will relieve — to some extent — the large uncompensated care load these hospitals have," said Medicaid Services Commissioner Roy Butler.

To take advantage of the extended reimbursement, the local hospitals had to meet state criteria which includes having low income and Medicaid patients comprise 20 percent or more of their annual total occupancy, and having at least 25 percent of their nursery care reimbursed by Medicaid.

State officials said that because most infants who have lengthy hospital stays required intensive and specialized care, extending the Medicaid reimbursement period will cost the state about $7.5 million a year.

Medicaid is a health insurance program for people with low incomes that is funded by a combination of federal and state monies.

Police Report Local Accidents, Tickets Given For No Insurance

Three persons were cited for not having insurance during traffic accidents investigated by Prestonsburg police over the past week.

A Sunday accident at Prestonsburg Village parking lot led to a citation for Debra Rose of Harold for no insurance and no registration receipt. The car she was driving struck one driven by Rodney Nelson of Auxier.

Tim M. Hastings of Prestonsburg was cited Saturday for having an expired registration and no insurance after a car he was driving struck a car driven by Anita Chaffin of Paintsville on KY 1428.

Also cited for having no insurance was Kimberly Kestner of Thealka, who was involved in an accident Thursday when the car she was driving struck a vehicle driven by James R. Allen of Prestonsburg.

One accident was reported July 5. A car driven by Sharon Branham of Prestonsburg struck one driven by Christa Cooley of Prestonsburg at the Bank Josephine branch.

Richmond parking lot was the scene of a dent-maker Thursday involving cars operated by Madge Doran of Prestonsburg and Mark Hunt of Honaker.

Two accidents were reported on Friday. At Jackson and Music streets, cars driven by Donald E. Blair of Lick Fork, East Point, and Glen E. Childers of Prestonsburg collided. The Blair vehicle had to be towed. At the US 23/Archer Park intersection, an accident involved cars driven by Jennifer Webb of Banner and Ronnie W. King of Pikeville.

Paulina Joseph of Prestonsburg reported Saturday that her car had been hit in the parking lot at Wedington Apartments by an unknown driver. Also on Saturday, an unidentified driver struck cars owned by Leroy Gibson of Prestonsburg and by Marvin Sturgill, also of Prestonsburg, between Friend and Dingus streets.

A three-vehicle accident Saturday at the intersection of US 23 and KY 1428 involved cars driven by Virginia K. Skeens of West Prestonsburg, Waltraud Elliott of Banner and Lisa Burchett of Prestonsburg.

Circuit Clerk Association Officers Elected

The Kentucky Circuit Court Clerk Association recently elected officers at its 1989 summer conference. Homeowners Warned Of Shady Contractors

Kentucky Attorney General Fred Cowan is urging local persons whose homes and businesses were damaged in last month's flooding to be cautious when contracting for repair work.

"Because of emotional stress and the need for immediate repair work, flood victims may be particularly vulnerable to 'fly-by-night' contractors who often move into disaster areas and take advantage of the crisis," Cowan warned.

This type of contractor often charges inflated prices for substandard work and leaves the area quickly, offering no legal recourse for dissatisfied customers, the attorney general said.

Basic precautions advised by Cowan include: getting written estimates from at least three reputable contractors, asking for and checking on references, reading all contracts thoroughly, and paying only after work is satisfactorily completed. Complaints about contracted work can be made by calling the state Consumer Protection Hotline at 1-800-372-9257.

Health Department Recognition Week Declared July 23-29 By Gov. Wilkinson

July 23-29 has been proclaimed Local Health Department Recognition Week by Governor Wallace Wilkinson, to recognize public health departments in each of the state's counties.

"Their environmental services ensure the safety of our food, our drinking water, consumer products and many other things taken for granted," said the governor. "Their personal health services constitute a vital health care resource available to thousands of patients, particularly those with low incomes."

According to State Health Commissioner Carlos Hernandez, in a typical day the health department does such things as inspect 27 restaurants, 15 grocery stores, 14 milk producers and 121 new sewer systems. They order 529 pounds of food destroyed, declare 2,740 gallons of milk unsuitable of Grade A use, provide 1400 immunizations, provide 263 prenatal visits for expectant mothers, 2,700 family planning visits, and many other things.

During that same day they will spend $178,000 and add about 1,200 new patients, "making Kentucky's investment in this statewide network of facilities, programs and trained personnel produced, disproportionately beneficial in the form of quality health care for Kentucky citizens of all ages," Wilkinson said.

Hernandez added, "Much of what we do is invisible. We all assume that public water is safe to drink, that restaurant food is safely edible, that a glass of milk won't cause listeriosis. If the local health department shut down, Kentucky citizens would feel it pretty quickly — although they might not know what had happened."

Veterans Questions & Answers

Question: I was exposed to radiation during the nuclear tests in Nevada during the 1950s. I have been diagnosed as having multiple myeloma. Can I get disability compensation from the VA for this condition?

Answer: Yes. A recently-passed law provides a presumption of service connection for certain diseases that show up within 40 years after the veteran last participated in an atmospheric nuclear test. Multiple myeloma is included. Contact the nearest VA Regional Office for assistance in filing a claim.

Question: My mother receives widow's benefits from VA. She recently entered a nursing home. Is she entitled to an increase in her death pension award?

Answer: She may be. Aid and attendance benefits may be granted if your mother is placed in a nursing home for medical reasons. If aid and attendance benefits are granted, a certain amount of the nursing home expenses may be deducted for pension purposes.

Alzheimer's Support Group Available

Increasing public awareness of Alzheimer's Disease and its effects is causing many older adults and their family members to fear that forgotten names or misplaced keys may be early signs of Alzheimer's, according to Glenda Hughes, regional coordinator.

For more information on the symptoms of Alzheimer's and the necessary diagnostic test, contact Hughes at 886-1330.

Another place to turn for assistance is the local Alzheimer's Support Group, Hughes said. The Big Sandy Alzheimer's Support Group will meet Thursday, July 20 at 7 p.m. in the Martin Room at Highlands Regional Medical Center. The group meets the third Thursday of every month.

Flood

thrust is that it will bring most Zone B policies into Zone A."

Public institutions will also feel the financial pinch. The Martin Student Center on the Prestonsburg Community College campus, currently out of the 100-year flood plain, will be rezoned. The flood plain will move an additional foot onto the property — interestingly, the exact height of water that seeped into the building during the 1977 flooding.

The $2 million building contains the grill, bookstore, locker rooms, work and game rooms.

According to Dr. Henry Campbell, PCC president, no other buildings on the campus will be affected by the proposed change.

Campbell and Gardner agree that there may be little area residents can do to prevent rezoning of the 100-year flood plain.

"This new study is only appealable based on scientific or technical data," notes Gardner. "The methods and data used by the Corps of Engineers to determine the revised flood elevations would have to be proven invalid for the city to have a successful appeal."

Campbell said the college is contacting the University of Kentucky and several Soil Conservation Departments, searching for studies similar to that done by the Corps.

He said the college would appeal only if it could find data that would support a challenge.

"That's hard to do when we've already had a foot of water in once," he added.

In addition to insurance adjustments, the proposed revision may also affect future building projects in the area.

Gardner says that future construction will have to be built to higher elevations and that other construction may be prohibited.

Prestonsburg's Flood Damage Prevention Ordinance prohibits construction in a flood way that results in any increase in flood levels. Floodways, he said, are defined as the river channel and adjacent land used to discharge flood waters.

Gardner also said that in the event of a flood, if an insured building receives more than 50 percent damage, the owner will have to elevate the building to the proposed specifications for insurance coverage to continue.

Teachers

Gordon Nichols, spokesman for state Superintendent of Instruction John Brock, said Tuesday state officials share similar frustrations to those voiced by the Floyd County educators.

"When the state moved the district into Phase 3, Dr. Brock said he felt it was going to be a long-term situation. I don't know how Dr. Steffy gauges the two years statement, but I do think that there probably has been some valuable work done in strategic planning and training with principals, and getting Floyd County some additional monies and teaching slots, like the special education teachers. Those would not have been a viable had it not been for Phase 3," Nicholls said.

"Many of the points that the teachers bring up are just as frustrating to us," Nicholls continued. "The political activity, the hesitation of the local board to move on recommendations and, to some degree, the non-cooperation with the local committee. I think we had a lot of great expectations from the Blue Ribbon Committee. We had a lot of expectations that if the local board didn't cooperate with us fully, they'd cooperate with some local people trying to help with the schools. All of those things have been very frustrating to us and continue to be."

While the local teachers did not mention Phase 4 of the academic bankruptcy law, at least one other Floyd County did.

In a letter to Brock, Ned Pillersdorf, Patton's attorney, asked that the district be moved into Phase 4 and that the transportation director be reinstated. Phase 4 would allow state officials to remove local board members and the superintendent from office.

It is not clear, however, whether the state board will address Patton's firing.

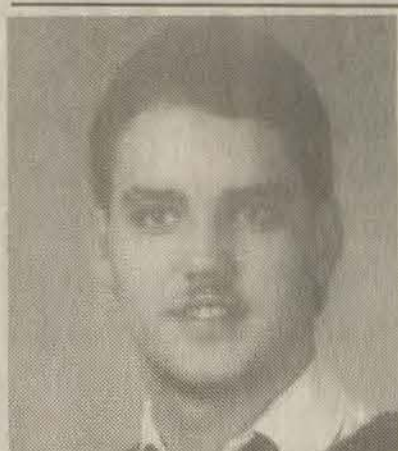

Patton was in Frankfort Tuesday, meeting privately with Brock.

The state board's Wednesday agenda continues its discussion of alleged politicking in the district by E.P. "Pete" Grigsby, administrative assistant to the superintendent.

uncles in World War I and II," Roberts said. "I saw the hurt in their eyes, and I wanted to do something."

"The flag stands for freedom and that's what they were fighting for. I just wanted to speak up. I want to say that we don't like it (the court ruling) because the flag is more than a symbol," said Roberts, whose efforts garnered him a spot on WYMT-TV's evening news on July 4.

Most of Roberts' evenings and weekends since around June 26 have been taken up with the circulation of the petition.

The document reads: "We the undersigned are in support of a Constitutional Amendment giving Congress and states the right to make flag desecration illegal. We further believe that the Supreme Court's decision to allow such an act is a slap in the face of every true American."

Roberts said that persons wishing a copy of the petition may call him at 478-2712.

Local Photographer's Work Finishes Second In International Photogenic Competition

Paula Goble-Fulks of Paula's Studio Prestonsburg was named 2nd place winner for the state of Kentucky in the 1989 Ms. P.P. of A. Photogenic Competition sponsored by Professional Photographers of America, Inc. Her model for the portrait was Connie Coleman of Prestonsburg.

A panel of jurors reviewed nearly 400 entries and chose finalists from each state. From these finalists, contestants were chosen to compete for the title of Ms. P.P. of A. Photogenic 1989 at the associations international convention to be held in July in New Orleans, Louisiana.

The contest challenges the photographer's creative talents in photographing a model in several sittings. The photographs were judged on the contestants appearance, expression and poise as well as print quality and lighting.

P.P. of A., founded in 1880, is the world's oldest and largest association for professional photographers. The organization provides educational services and establishes standards of professional performance for it's more than 16,000 members and 250 international affiliates.

Unemployment Rates Remain Same In Floyd; Lower In State

Warm spring weather coupled with continued economic growth led to lower jobless rates in 86 Kentucky counties between April and May.

level of 11.4 percent, which translates to 6,555 out of 57,657 people in the labor force unemployed.

State Property Tax Decreases Slightly

The 1989 state real property tax rate has been set at 20.3 cents per $100 of assessed valuation, according to Kentucky Revenue Secretary C. Emmett Calvert.

The rate is down from last year by four-hundredths of a cent.

The slight decrease is compensated by the creation of new property and increases in property values, Calvert said.

The revised rate reflects growth in the state and will not result in a lowering of the amount of tax money the state takes in, explained Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo.

Property owners in the county will not see how the decrease affects them until later in the year, Stumbo said, since county tax rates will not be set until October.

The state rate is revised each year, Secretary Calvert said, because of the impact of House Bill 44, which limits the increase in revenue over the previous year to 4 percent.

Hairworks Plus Opens In P'burg

The Hairworks of Allen, owned by Phyllis Wilks, has moved to Prestonsburg and is now called the Hairworks Plus.

Wilks, who was at the Allen location for seven years, said she moved to 404 South Lake Drive (next to East KY Auto Parts) for better working conditions and convenience to her customers.

She said most of her clientele either work or live in Prestonsburg, so she wished to make it easier on them.

"I pride myself in maintaining a strict time schedule," Wilks said. "I never over schedule so I won't ever be more than a couple of minutes off on my appointments."

Wilks plans to expand her business by adding one more hair stylist and offering "facials and manicures for the average person."

Holiday Inn Of Prestonsburg Earns Company's Superior Rating

For the third consecutive year, Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg has been given a superior rating by Holiday Inns Inc., according to general manager Lou McCray.

The Memphis-based chain of more than 1,600 facilities worldwide has awarded only 245 superior ratings, McCray said, adding that only 42 of those have retained the rating for three years in a row.

McCray said criteria for the rating include the lack of guest complaints, two evaluations by Holiday Inn Quality Assurance inspectors and other factors.

With the designation, the local hotel automatically is in competition for the chain's top award, the Torch Bearer Top Twenty Award, the manager said.

Corporate headquarters will present the local inn with a custom-designed, etched crystal trophy and each employee will receive a special recognition pin.

"The Superior Hotel Awards Program has been developed specifically to recognize the Holiday Inn employees whose dedication to achieving an outstanding level of customer service has produced a superior level of guest satisfaction," McCray said. "Our staff has worked very hard to achieve this honor."

OF DEBBIE LYNN AND HILLARD HAMILTON

*If tomorrow
You didn't exist
Would you be mourned
Would you be missed
When the moments
Of your being
Are noted and read
Were more people touched
By your life
Or your death
After the reading
Of the final amen
Come to an end
Or is it the beginning
Of things should have been
Will the last thoughts
Of ones time you did share
Be that death wasn't right
Or that life wasn't fair.*

Shaky Second Inning Trips Up HAP All-Stars

Climbing The Fence

Coaches Wilburn Sammons and Mike Potter of the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League All-Stars look as if they are ready to climb a fence, with good reason — their squad made several errors in the second inning, allowing Paintsville to score five times and win the game, 7-2.

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Amid the excitement of big time baseball, the Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) All Stars did battle with the Paintsville All Stars at the Paul B. Hall Field in Paintsville Monday evening.

A large crowd gathered to watch the two teams from Floyd and Johnson counties square off. The final score was not indicative of the closeness of the game. Second inning "jitters" and shaky defense were the HAP All-Stars' dilemma.

After the second, the Floyd County team played Paintsville tough. But Don Montgomery fired a two hitter and struck out 11 batters in leading the Paintsville All Stars to a 7-2 victory over the HAP All Stars. Centerfielder Todd Ward led the "hit parade" with a three for three night.

HAP scored a single run in the first inning without the benefit of a base hit. After Mike Roberts grounded to first, Ryan Ortega walked and stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. Derrick Newsome walked, and, on a steal attempt, Ortega scored on a throw to second.

The first two batters for Paintsville, Mike Jarrell and Ward, singled to center. Ward's hit was misplayed by Roberts in centerfield, and Jarrell scored to tie the game 1-1. Ward came across the plate on a walk to Byron Dixon and a passed ball. Paintsville led 2-1 after the first inning.

Paintsville pushed across five runs in the second inning to lead 7-1. After Craig Ratliff struck out, Beecher Butcher and John Farris hit back to back doubles. Jarrell, in a bunt attempt, was thrown out catcher to first. Ward singled to drive in a run. Dixon walked, and Jeremy Melvin lifted a fly ball to center that was dropped to score Ward and Dixon. Melvin came home on a single by Montgomery.

HAP mounted a threat in the third after Roberts bounced back to the pitcher, Ortega walked and stole second (his second stolen base) and Newsome walked. Ortega was caught stealing third, and Toby Newsome struck out to end the threat.

HAP scored a single run in the top of the fifth inning on a base on balls to Rocky Newsome and Ryan Ortega (his third walk) and a RBI single by Newsome.

The HAP All Stars went out in order in the sixth.

Derrick Newsome, who pitched a strong game, was the losing pitcher for HAP. Greg Akers' second inning double and Newsome's single in the fifth were the only two hits for the All Stars. Newsome had six strike outs and fanned the side in the fifth.

Paintsville managed nine hits in the contest and will advance this Friday at 5 p.m. to play the winner of the Prestonsburg and Morgan County game.

HAP will take on Magoffin County, a 15-2 loser to Martin County, in a 7 p.m. game Wednesday (tonight).

Beaver North All Stars Expect To Go The Distance

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Jad Deaton of the Beaver Creek North All Stars is counting on a balanced team to go a long way in this week's All Star tournament going on at Paintsville's Paul B. Hall Field. Deaton's squad will play Martin County Wednesday (tonight) in a 5 p.m. game.

Deaton's summary of the players follows:

Jeremy Hall: "Jeremy is a consistent hitter with power. He possesses a strong arm with above average control. He has good speed and is an excellent base runner. He has an above average fielding ability."

Brad Allen: "Brad will play the outfield and pitch for us. He is a good line drive hitter and has a strong arm. Brad has average speed with good base running knowledge."

Aaron Jackson: "Aaron is a good contact hitter. He can make contact with the ball. Aaron, as a catcher, has excellent control of the pitchers. He has a strong arm and average speed on the bases."

Roy John Martin: "Roy John is a very consistent hitter (and) has been all year. He has excellent bat control for a left handed hitter. He is an excellent fielder and possesses an average arm with average control."

Donovan Hall: "Donovan is a power hitter. He has good hitting abilities and is a good defensive player. He runs the bases well."

Jason Moore: "Jason plays the outfield as well as pitches for us. He has good control and has a good sense of fly ball judgment."

Toby Robinson: "Toby is a very consistent hitter with power. He is adept at any defensive position. A good clutch hitter with men on base. He has a strong arm with above average strike zone control."

Kevin Allen: "Kevin is a good 'hit it where they ain't' hitter. He hits for the percentage and has above average defensive abilities."

Morgan Stone: "Probably one of the strongest arms in the league, but needs control discipline. He is a good 'singles' hitter. Runs the bases well."

Chad Lyons: "A versatile player. Infield, pitcher or catcher, Chad can do it. He has a strong arm and is a very consistent hitter. He hits with power and has good base running sense."

Brad Lyons: "Brad possesses good bat control. He is an above average fielder with a strong arm and runs the bases very well."

Michael Baldridge: "Mike is a very good contact hitter. He can hit the long ball and is a good defensive player. He runs the bases real good."

Neil Hicks: "Neil is a good singles hitter. He will hit for the average. Good base runner and an above average fielder."

Deaton feels he has a strong team because of the desire of the kids to learn the game.

"These players are very coachable and extremely receptive to learning the game of baseball," Deaton says. "They have all worked hard in a very short time to become complete team players. Due to their desire, intensity and eagerness to learn and master new and different basic baseball concepts, I have no doubt they will represent their league, team, parents, communities and themselves with pride and dignity."

"They have proven to me and the other coaches that they are all winners and this experience will stay with them for the rest of their lives and remain as a very positive endeavor."

Beaver Creek North All-Stars

Coach Jad Deaton will take his North All-Stars to Paintsville for a game against the winner of the Magoffin County-Martin County game. The North team is one of five Floyd County teams in the playoffs.

Power Hitters Dominate Wheelwright All-Star Squad

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

A shortage of power hitters will not be a problem for the Wheelwright Little League All-Stars as they prepare to play in the All-Star tournament at Paintsville.

With the selection of 14 players to represent their league in the event, the coaches picked players with more than 50 home runs among them.

A player-by-player summary follows:

Clyde Johnson of the league-leading Braves has a 6-0 record as a pitcher. Johnson is batting .300 with five home runs and 27 runs batted in. He also plays third base for the Braves.

Another Brave is Randy Adams, a second baseman. Adams has knocked in 24 runs with five round trippers, and he is batting .295. He has six triples and eight doubles on the year.

Center fielder Timmy Johnson has some impressive credentials with four home runs, five triples and seven doubles. Johnson has driven in 24 runs and is batting .280.

Braves catcher Jason Johnson has homered five times this season and has a .295 batting average. He has six triples, eight doubles and has brought home 22 runs.

Shawn Miller, first baseman, leads the team in batting with a .305 average. Miller has hit four home runs, seven doubles, four triples and he has 24 RBIs.

The Wheelwright Clippers placed four players on the all-star team. Michael Tackett is completing his fourth year in Little League competition. As a pitcher, Tackett is 6-1 and also plays shortstop. Tackett has been rated by his coach as "an aggressive player who just won't quit."

Also completing his fourth year in the league is Justin Ray, who will make his second appearance in the all-star affair. Ray has the distinction of having struck out 12 batters in four innings—the minimum batters in four. Ray also plays first base and center field.

Brandon Holbrook will also be making his second appearance in the all-star festivities. According to coach Ricky Ray, "Holbrook has quick reflexes and is ready to play hard in the all-star games." He plays the outfield and second base for the Clippers.

Jarrod Compton, making his first appearance at the all-star game, is the catcher for the Clippers. "Jarrod is a player any coach would be proud to have on his team," Ray says.

Two players will represent the Wheelwright A's on the all-star squad. Kevin Johnson, pitcher and shortstop, has a .285 batting average. Johnson has a pitching record of 9-3. He has hit nine home runs, six doubles, eight triples and has driven in 28 runs.

Shortstop Jason Rogers hit 10 home runs for the A's and batted in 23 runs. Rogers has a batting average of .290.

Willard Johnson of the Wheelwright Miners hits over .400, according to coach Mike Goins. "Willard is a consistent hitter and fielder," Goins says. "He is just an all-around player."

Chad Miller, who plays shortstop for the Miners, is batting over .500 and is the team's power hitter. "Chad hit a home run as far as I have seen anyone hit at Wheelwright," Goins stated. "He is a consistent hitter for us."

The most improved player, according to Goins, is John Caudill. "John is an excellent catcher," he says, "probably tops in our league." Caudill is batting over .300.

Wheelwright All-Stars

Fourteen players make up the All-Star team that will represent the Wheelwright Little League in the All-Star tournament at Paintsville this week. Wheelwright played Beaver Creek North Tuesday night in the tournament.

Tigers 10-2 In Pee Wee Play

The Martin Tigers of the Martin Pee Wee league assured themselves of second place in the league with a 9-7 victory over the Martin Royals.

The Tigers held a 6-2 lead going into the bottom of the third inning when the Royals tied the score with four runs in their half of the inning. The Tigers picked up two more in the fourth and a single run in the fifth to win the contest 9-7.

Brandon Sizemore and George Hall had doubles for the Tigers. Both players have the distinction of having had a double in every game this year. They have become known to their teammates as "the power hitters."

Brian Osborne and Barbie Mullins had Royal doubles. Todd Sammons had a triple for the Royals.

The Tigers collected 21 hits in the game. The Royals managed 17 hits. The Tigers are now 10-2 on the season with one make-up game to play before the tournament this Saturday.

Wheelwright Babe Ruth Closes Regular Season With Wins In Triplicate

Coach Homer Johnson's Wheelwright Babe Ruth team closed out a very successful season with three victories last week in the Floyd County Babe Ruth league play.

The victories came over McDowell, Garrett and Harold.

In a slugfest, Wheelwright bested McDowell 26-24. McDowell collected 20 base hits while Wheelwright managed 15. Kevin Johnson was the winning pitcher with six strikeouts. J. Johnson took the loss for McDowell.

In the second contest, Wheelwright tallied six first-inning runs enroute to a 16-3 victory over the Harold Rattlesnakes.

Ricky Bryant went three for three for Wheelwright and picked up five RBIs. Charles Johnson had a triple for the winners.

Barry Clark suffered the loss despite striking out 13 batters. Chris Potter, Bradley Gearheart and Timothy Kidd had doubles for the Rattlesnakes.

Harold collected six hits and gave up 12 walks. Wheelwright managed to get seven hits and yielded five bases on balls.

Jimmy Helton went three for four and drove in five runs to lead the Wheelwright team to a 13-9 win over Garrett. Helton was the winning pitcher with five strikeouts.

Kevin Johnson had two doubles for the winning Wheelwright squad and had three RBIs. Helton also had a double in the game.

Garrett held a 6-3 lead over Wheelwright until the top of the fourth when Wheelwright plated three runs to tie the score at 6-6. Garrett got a single run in the bottom of the fifth to retake a 7-6 lead but Wheelwright came back with four in the top of the fifth to go on and win the game 13-9.

John Martin was the losing pitcher for Garrett. F. Martin had two doubles in the game for Garrett.

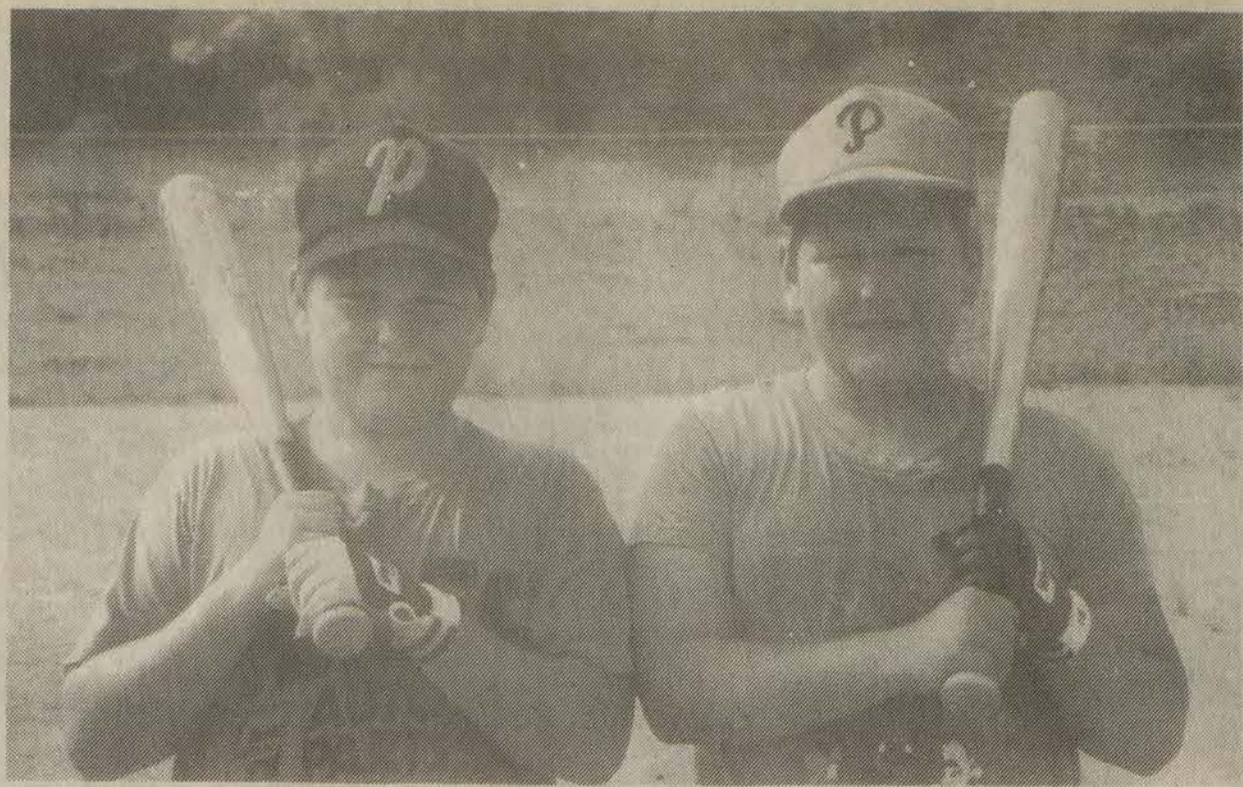

According to Wheelwright Coach Johnson, his squad had an exceptional year in Babe Ruth this season. Wheelwright finished with an 8-2 record. They were runners-up in the Paintsville Invitational tournament and as a team batted .329 for the year.

"We had seven players with over .300 batting averages this season," the Wheelwright mentor said. "Mickey Johnson batted .420, Jimmy Helton .531 and Scotty Hall had a .643 batting average."

"Helton was 4-0 in league competition and 5-1 overall," he says.

Local 15-Year-Olds Will Be Competitive

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ellis Spurlock, coach of the Floyd County 15-year-old All Stars, believes this to be the best All Star team Floyd County has fielded in recent years. Pitching, hitting and defense are strong areas for the local All Star team. "We should be competitive this year," Spurlock says. "We have some real good players and we are strong in about all positions."

The Floyd County team will play this Friday night at Hazard against Carr Fork in a 6 p.m. game. Johnson County and Hazard also have teams in the All Star tournament.

Spurlock took time to rate some of the players who will make up the team this season.

Keith Hall, playing for the Betsy

Layne A's, was undefeated as pitcher during the regular season. "He's a southpaw with a live fastball and a very good curve," Spurlock stated. "Keith knows how to handle the bat also." Hall had a no-hitter earlier in the season.

Brett Meadows, catcher for the All Star squad, is a big strong kid who his coach rates as the strongest in the league. "Brett is a very good catcher, although he plays some first base for us also. He has a very strong arm and can throw the ball the hardest of any catcher I've seen," Spurlock says. "He is also a great hitter."

Chuck Lafferty plays third for the All Star team and pitches. Lafferty also has had a no-hitter this season. "Chuck is a very good hitter," his coach says. "He has a sharp eye at the plate and is a standout on defense."

Stewart Hall has a high on-base percentage, according to Spurlock. "Stewart is very selective at the plate. He plays shortstop for us and is an excellent glove," the All Star mentor explained.

Todd Akers, considered to be a power hitter, plays first base for Spurlock. "Todd hits for power, mostly to the alleys."

Second baseman Steve Robinson is "a consistent hitter who can hit the ball to all fields," according to his coach. "Steve is a solid defensive second baseman."

When talking about speed on the FC All Stars team, the conversation has to include Craig Case. "Craig runs as good as anyone in the league," Spurlock says. "He is very good defensive outfielder."

John Martin "is a very solid all-around player," according to Spurlock. "An excellent outfielder defensively," Spurlock says.

Jamie Martin is a coach's delight. "Jamie listens very good and is a very coachable player." Martin plays the infield and has a good arm.

Philip Ritchie is a solid outfielder and "hits fairly well," but makes up for his lack of hitting in his hustle.

Barry Hall, probably the toughest to strike out, plays in the infield and outfield and "does an excellent job at either," says Spurlock. Hall carries "a big stick" at the plate.

Shawn Newsome is a "solid defensive player" according to his coach. "Shawn listens to every word you say to him. He is a tremendous hitter."

Bud Kidd is an all-around player, Spurlock says. "He can play anywhere you put him and does a great job for us." Kidd is a solid hitter.

Charles Ratliff: "Charles could be a very good player if he puts his head to it," Spurlock says. "Sometimes he plays with brilliance and sometimes you don't even know he's there."

Blaine Depoy plays the outfield for the Floyd County team. "Blaine is a very good hitter. He catches the ball very well."

Brian White has a lot of desire, according to his mentor. "Brian listens well and you never get any complaints from him."

This team could go a long way if they can put it all together on a consistent basis. They have speed, pitching and hitting, and, with some real desire and determination, they could bring home a championship team.

Floyd County 15-Year-Old All-Stars

The Floyd County 15-year-old All-Stars will take on Carr Fork this Friday afternoon at Hazard in a 5 p.m. game. Coach Ellis Spurlock thinks this is the strongest 15-year-old All-Star team in recent years.

Roberts Places First In Run At Lost Creek

Local runner Rick Roberts of Emma took first place in the Ninth Salute The Flag 5K Run held at the Riverside Christian Academy located in Lost Creek.

Roberts, a repeat Lost Creek runner who has never won the title, upset defending champion Vance Revenaugh in this year's race. Roberts bettered his opponent with a time of 16:38 to Revenaugh's 16:46.

"It was a duel the last mile," Roberts said. "He pulled up off my shoulder and then took a lead of about 10 feet. I kicked with about half a mile to go and took the lead. I gambled because I didn't know if he had any kick left in him. He didn't, and I won. "I think the speed workouts I have had help in winning the 5K run," he said. "I had been running speed workouts of quarter of a mile everyday," he explained.

John David Ratliff of Auxier placed third in his age group of 15-19 years old with a time of 20:02. Local runner John McDaniel, also of Auxier, placed 15th overall and fourth in his age group of 15-19 with a time of 20:55.

Roberts' next race will be in the Midnight Five Mile at Kingsport, Tenn.

Bowlathon Benefits Muscular Dystrophy

The National Management Association Chapter at Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company will be sponsoring its second annual "Strike Force" Bowlathon at Rebel Lanes in Prestonsburg on Thursday, July 20. The event is to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

According to Diane Scalf of Kentucky-West Virginia Gas, "the recent breakthroughs that the Muscular Dystrophy Association has made in isolating defective genes and missing proteins gives hope to everyone that treatments and cures are just around the corner. We hope that the people of Eastern Kentucky will help us surpass last year's total and bring about an end to these devastating diseases."

For additional information contact Diane Scalf at (606) 432-5313 or the MDA office at (606) 278-2599.

Goins Has High Hopes For Prep All-Star Squad

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Jimmy Goins thinks his 13-year-old Prep All-Star team has an excellent chance to win the district crown in the All-Star Tournament at Paintsville this week.

Goins' squad will play at Paintsville this Friday at 7 p.m. against Carr Fork.

According to Goins, even though the team lacks power hitters, it is very consistent in the field and at the plate.

"All of these boys are good hitters," the Prep team coach said. "We are a good defensive team and our attitude is very positive."

Glenn Floyd leads the team in batting with a .688 average. Floyd played for the Martin Expos prep team. He had an on-base average of .859.

Chad Frasure is the team's power hitter and second in average. Frasure had four home runs this year for the McDowell Crazy A's. He is batting at a .667 clip.

Matt Rose, rated by Goins as an all-around player, is batting .438 with four doubles. He has an on-base average of .679.

Chris Hamilton hit .500 this year. He has an on-base average of .773. Hamilton drew 12 walks this past season.

Consistency at the pitcher's position is a strong point for the Prep All-Stars. Toby Vance has an unblemished 6-0 record. He also has a batting average of .529. Vance had two doubles and drew 13 walks. Shannon

D. Newsome knows what it is to throw a no-hitter during the regular season, as he fired a no-hit, no-run game against Maytown. Newsome is batting .615 and had two doubles during the season. Barry Collins and Barry Clark will help make a strong pitching staff. Collins batted .222 and Clark hit .286 during the past campaign.

Shannon K. Newsome showed some consistency for the McDowell team batting an even .500 on the season.

Ryan Brown was a .410 hitter and collected three doubles, one triple and one home run during the season.

Byron Gearheart went nine for 18 and batted an even .500 including two doubles. Gearheart had an on-base percentage of .591.

Jason Newsome was .429 hitter. He had two triples, two doubles and a home run the past season.

Sonny Johnson hit at a .222 clip. Ronnie Howard batted .289 and Greg Nelson, .275. Austin Shepherd and Mark Reed, both .500 hitters, round out the 17 man squad.

Floyd County 13-Year-Old All-Stars

Jimmy Goins will take 17 players to Paintsville this week to play in the 13-year-old All-Star tournament this Thursday. Goins is optimistic about his squad's chances in tourney play. "I believe we can win it all," he says.

Johnson Looks Optimistically To Tourney For 14-Year-Olds

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Floyd County Babe Ruth All Star coach Homer Johnson looks toward the upcoming tournament for 14-year-old players with optimism. His squad will play against Johnson County All Stars Thursday at Hazard in a 5 p.m. game.

Johnson's team consists of 17 players made up from the eight regular season teams in the Floyd County Babe Ruth League. Johnson guided his own Wheelwright team to an impressive 8-2 record.

Player summaries:
Chad Allen is batting .333. He plays first base and pitches. As a pitcher he was 3-0 on the year. "Chad is a good ball player," Johnson says.

Outfielder Ricky Little has a batting average of .261. "Ricky is a good outfielder. He also plays in the infield when we need him."

Charles Johnson, another "good player and outfielder", according to Johnson, is batting .378. Johnson plays mostly in center field.

Nathan Berger a second baseman has a "good eye for the ball," Johnson says. He is batting .318.

Kevin Johnson is 3-1 in pitching this season. He also plays shortstop for the Floyd County All-Stars.

and is consistent," Johnson remarked.

Brad Scott, who was 3-3 on the year in pitching, is batting .470 on the year. Scott plays second base when not pitching.

Chris Murrell, a catcher, has a .333 batting percentage. He has a strong arm and plays a good defensive game.

and outfield.

Robbie Sexton was 4-2 on the season in pitching. He batted .354 over the just completed season. Sexton plays short and third when not pitching.

Nathan Moore, 1-1 as a pitcher, has a batting average of .271. Moore is also a third baseman.

Frank Martin Jr., plays first base and outfield and is batting .364. "Frank is a good player and dependable," Johnson stated.

Earl Cook Jr. plays third and catches for Coach Johnson's squad. Curt Hall Jr. is a first baseman and second baseman for the FC team.

"We have a good team," Johnson says. "All we need is for the team to put forth a little effort and to get the players to play together."

Coaches helping with the Floyd County All Stars are Chuck Allen, Dave Conley and Paul Brown.

Floyd County 14-Year-Old All-Stars

The Floyd County 14-year-old All-Stars will be in action at Hazard, Thursday at 5 p.m. against Johnson County. Coach Homer Johnson thinks his team will be all right "if they play together as a team."

Egging It On: Local Firm Grows Through Years

By Pam Shingler
Assistant Editor

Appearing almost as fragile as the eggs they built into one of the largest locally owned businesses in the Big Sandy Valley, George and Mary Jane Brown are, nevertheless, as hardy and fresh as the product they hawked in Floyd County for more than four decades.

From a "peddler's route" on the Beaver Creeks, the Browns developed Brown's Food Service in Prestonsburg in the early 1940s. The original business had two employees besides the couple, operated with one truck and sold primarily chickens and eggs, bought from local farmers and marketed to families in the mining camps that flourished in the area.

Today, the business, relocated to Louisa in 1984, employs more than 100 persons and sells all kinds of food and related products. Customers served by the company, with 20 trucks today, have expanded from Floyd County miners to commercial food operations throughout Eastern Kentucky and southern Ohio.

Brown, who turned 90 on July 5, and his wife gave management of the company to their three sons when the business moved to Lawrence County, but the two still serve as consultants. For a couple of years after the move, the Browns drove to Louisa about three days a week to oversee the transition, Mrs. Brown says.

"One thing gave us a distinct advantage," Brown says in discussing the company's beginnings. "It was war time and nearly everything was rationed but chickens and eggs, and that's what we sold. Chicken took the place of other meats for most people."

"We've had people tell us that our business built up faster than any business in Floyd County," Mrs. Brown says proudly.

Most of the eggs being sold when the Browns came on the scene were "cold storage eggs." By selling eggs and chickens gathered fresh on local farms, the couple quickly snared the market.

"The big coal company stores all switched to Brown's chicken and eggs," says Brown, a slightly built, sharp-witted man. "We sold a powerful lot of eggs. Word soon gets around."

In addition to initiative, innovation was a key word in the Browns' business vocabulary. The business had the first automatic chicken plucker in the area. With what looked like a big rubber finger, the machine could remove feathers from three chickens in a minute.

"You should see the number of people who used to come in just to see it," says Mrs. Brown, with a warm, infectious laugh that punctuates much of her conversation.

After about three years in business, the Browns began handling canned goods and frozen foods. They invested in the largest freezer in the area and took advantage of a new trend. "Frozen foods were just beginning to come in," Brown says, "and we soon had the largest stock of frozen foods in the area."

Though already in his 40s when he came to Prestonsburg to go into the food business, Brown had garnered a wealth of management and sales experience as a younger man. He began his professional career as a teacher in a one-room school, after receiving his first class teaching certificate from the old Kentucky Normal College in Louisa.

"On the first day, there were over 100 students at the schoolhouse waiting for me to come and open up," he laughs. After two years, Brown says he quit teaching "because it didn't pay enough." His salary, he remembers, was $63 a month, less $15 for room and board.

As a traveling salesman for Huntington (W.Va.) Hardware, Brown sold the first aluminum dinner buckets in the Big Sandy coal region. "One store bought 400 of them," says Brown of the product which became popular because it was light weight and wouldn't rust. "I sold thousands of them up and down the river."

Later Brown moved to Drift where he ran the commissary for Long Branch Coal Co. Making almost twice what he made teaching, he also handled the company payroll and issued scrip.

Van Lear in Johnson County was booming as a coal town and it was closer to his home in Lawrence County, so Brown went to work for Consolidated Coal as a tippie foreman.

It was during his 15-year tenure at Van Lear that what he considers the "most important thing in my life" happened: "I married her," he says, nodding to his wife of almost 56 years. "I had to pretend to steal her," he smiles. "They (her family) didn't want to give her up. But she was of age and there was nothing they could do about it."

Still, the Browns waited a week before informing her family of the union. "After a week, I came to get her, and she brought her things out to the car. I was afraid to go in," he says.

"All her family cried."

After a few years of company town life, the lure of farming drew the couple, both born on farms, back to their roots in Lawrence County. On their farm there, they grew the crops and animals that Brown began to peddle to Floyd County miners.

"She's as much responsible for the success of the business as I am," says Brown of his wife who served as company bookkeeper for many years. Despite business demands, the Browns, never far from the soil, raised a vegetable garden in the yard of their Central Avenue home every year until just recently. Even though slowed somewhat by age, the couple still maintains one of the city's showcase yards, with flowers blooming from spring to fall.

The couple has also been involved in community activities over the years in their adopted town. He taught Sunday School at First United Methodist Church for many years. She has achieved quite a reputation for her cooking, especially the baked goods that are still popular at church dinners and charity bake sales.

In younger days, they also attracted a following as entertainers, he playing a five-string banjo and both singing bluegrass and folk tunes.

"One thing I never fooled with, though, is politics," Brown smiles mischievously and adds, "Everybody in Floyd County is a Democrat, and we're Republicans."

'Eggs'traordinary Couple

George and Mary Jane Brown display the product—eggs—that helped them build one of the region's largest businesses. Moving to Prestonsburg in the 1940s, they began Brown's Food Service by selling eggs and chickens.

Poet's Corner

The Changed World

The world has changed so much;
That's plain to see.
Families fallen apart;
People aren't as friendly as they use to be.

Education has taken a terrible fall;
And morals are a dying trait.
It makes you wonder every day;
What will be America's fate?

They fight about praying in school;
They say it is wrong.
But like I always believed;
There's no place that God don't belong.

Whatever happened to the nation;
That believed once in giving.
It's a sad, sad world when;
People believe God is dead and Elvis is living.

So as the days carry on;
We all learn to just cope.
As long as the sun rises each day;
All you can say is, "There's hope."

Untitled

Some cruel turn of fate
has torn me from my dream.
Something stole it from my palm and held it high above my head.

This wicked thing pierces my heart at night with needles of hate.
It taunts me with my memories and fills my dreams with him.

It has made me my own prisoner, held in a cage with bars of my own making.
It has hung me before a window,
and left me to watch the free beasts play.

I have been plagued with an incurable illness,
Diseased with a love I can not share.

It has murdered me with my own heart,
drowned me with my tears,
And buried me within my own mind.

Hanging Out Clothes

The morning dew is on the ground,
The sounds of nature all around.
As I hang wet clothes on the line,
Hoping they'll be dry by suppertime.

I'm careful where each foot I place,
Because the cat follows my pace.
I reflect on the future and the past,
While making all the clothespins last.

I have a dryer to make life an ease,
But towels smell sweeter dried by a breeze.
And sheets feel better when dried outside,
I pause to enjoy, as in bed I slide.

Besides all that what I like most,
While listening to tiny creatures boast,
Is to slow down life while I'm still here,
And enjoy this feeling of when God comes near.

Those who think barbecued ribs are illegal when dieting should think again. Following is a low-calorie, low-cholesterol, low-fat version, and it is absolutely delicious.

BARBECUED RIBS

2 lbs. lean beef ribs
1/4 cup peach preserves
1/2 cup water
juice of 1 lemon
1 1/2 Tbsp. brown sugar
1 Tbsp. vinegar
1/2 tsp. paprika
freshly ground black pepper
2 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce

Place the ribs on a rack in a shallow baking pan and roast in a 450 degrees Fahrenheit oven for 30 minutes.

In a small saucepan, combine all other ingredients and cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Set sauce aside.

Remove the ribs and rack from pan and pour off the fat. Reduce over heat to 350 degrees. Return ribs to the pan and pour the sauce over them. Bake uncovered, basting occasionally, until ribs are tender, about 1 hour.

Yield: 4 servings

Meat Tip: The leaner the meat, the higher the protein content. Choose lean cuts of meat, trim all the fat possible, and throw away the fat that cooks out of the meat.

GINGER ALE SHERBET

1/2 cup water
1 1/2 cups sugar
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup orange juice
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup pineapple juice
3 cups ginger ale

In a saucepan, heat the water and 1 cup of the sugar to the boiling point and cook until the syrup reaches the soft-ball stage — 234 to 238 degrees.

Beat the egg whites until stiff. Continue beating while gradually adding 1/2 cup of the sugar. Slowly pour the hot syrup into the egg whites, beating constantly until mixture has cooled. Then gradually beat in the ginger ale and fruit juices.

Place in the freezer until partially frozen, then remove and whip quickly. Pour into freezing trays, cover and return to the freezer. The texture should resemble that of an Italian ice.

Yield: 8 servings
Cooking tip: Raw eggs separate more easily when they are cold, but to get maximum volume from egg whites, beat them when they are at room temperature.

Tip of the Week: To make clear ice tea, place tea and cold water in a glass container; cover and refrigerate for 24 hours. Or, use boiling water and don't steep longer than 3 to 5 minutes. Cool to room temperature and pour over ice cubes. If tea does become cloudy, pour a little boiling water into it to clear.

Corporate Influence On America Chronicled

by Trisha Morris,
PCC Librarian

As a nation, and as individuals, we are affected by the corporations which manufacture our products and provide our services. The following books from the Prestonsburg Community Library chronicle their growth, their decline, their influence, their origins and their power.

Buying Into America, by Martin Tolchin. For much of our history, Americans have circled the globe investing in overseas ventures, exporting their culture and intervening in foreign governments. Suddenly, everything has changed. During the past decade, that trend has steadily reversed. Foreign investors now own 16 percent of the total US bank assets; foreign governments and companies have bought banks, investment houses, land, skyscrapers, supermarket chains and publishing houses. Four of America's top 10 chemical companies are foreign-owned; the Japanese have bought 30 manufacturing plants in Tennessee alone.

This surge of foreign investment has been a shot in the arm for the American economy — but it is not a totally free lunch. Buying into America is the cogent full-scale report and analysis of this phenomenon, and its effect on all our lives.

The Fall of The Bell System, by Peter Temin. The long-standing accommodation between the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the United States government began to break down in the 1960s. This arrangement, under which the Bell System furnished low-cost, high-quality universal telephone service to the public in return for a near-monopoly on most telecommunications services, became even more tenuous in the 1970s, then collapsed in the early years of the Reagan administration. This book traces and analyzes the events that resulted in the breakup of AT&T, the largest corporate reorganization in history. AT&T's divestiture affected everyone in America. Among the many affected, it is only poetic and natural that Temin concludes that "on balance, business customers have gained... Residential customers have suffered."

This study reveals how private and public interests combine to shape corporate and public policy in 20th Century America.

The Decline of American Steel, by Paul Tiffany. Once the great symbol of American industrial strength, the steel industry by 1960 had begun its decline from world dominance, while its leading off-shore competitors — primarily Germany and Japan — were surging into the world market. In the Decline of American Steel, Paul Tiffany attempts to explain what happened.

Focusing on the crucial interval from 1945 to 1960, Tiffany explains that "A combination of public policy failure, excessive labor demands and management conservatism accounted for the industry's subsequent problems."

Neither steel managers, nor union leaders, nor several administrations escape blame in this study.

The Rise and Fall of the Great Powers, by Paul Kennedy. Throughout history, some nations gain power while others lose it. Yale historian Paul Kennedy goes back five centuries to offer his analysis of global politics.

Beginning his story around the year 1500, Kennedy focuses on the critical relationship of economic to military power. "Nations project their military power according to their economic resources in defense of their economic interests," according to Kennedy. "But not even the largest economy can afford this indefinitely — hence the rise and fall of nations."

In what will probably be the most widely discussed part of this book, Professor Kennedy devotes his closing chapters to an analysis of great power politics since 1940 through the year 2000.

The Global Market Place, by Milton Moskowitz. The author, a veteran corporate watcher, scrutinizes 102 companies under the microscope.

He penetrates the mystique of the multinational corporation and sorts through all the hype surrounding mergers, acquisitions, nationalizations and privatizations to create a clear and concise guide to who owns what and who really runs the show, what they make and how much of it, where they sell it and for how much, and where they are likely to move next.

This book answers some very interesting questions: Why do the Japanese own the largest banks in the world? How did Nestle overcome a decade-long boycott to emerge as the world's largest food industry? Who are the no-frills real estate magnates taking over North America? And, who makes the most and best musical instruments in the world?

If you're an information junkie who wants to know what makes our world tick, you'll love this book.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY

GENERIC VARIATIONS

Contrary to popular belief, generic drugs are not exact copies of brand name drugs. They may be exactly alike in terms of the active ingredient that is common to both, but the inert ingredients may differ. Inert ingredients bind, color, and fill the tablet. Like the secondary ingredients in recipes, the secondary inert ingredients can have a subtle impact on the overall character of a medication. Depending upon how they are put together, inert ingredients can affect the dissolution rate of the drug in the stomach. This, in turn, has an effect on how the drug is absorbed into the bloodstream. In many cases, the slight variation in the formulation of a generic will make little difference. However, those patients with epilepsy, asthma, diabetes, thyroid problems, heart ailments, and mental disorders may want to carefully monitor any switch to generics.

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your pharmacy. Please feel free to turn to us for advice or information. Our records are fully computerized for all drug warnings, drug interactions and personal drug allergies. Here at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 MasterCard and Visa are honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: The FDA approves drugs as "bioequivalent" if they are absorbed into the bloodstream at a rate that is within 20 percent of the brand name drug.

'Reading Rainbow' offers summer fun ideas

LeVar Burton hosts PBS series

By Anne Wheeler

The highly acclaimed public television show Reading Rainbow and the Library of Congress share more than the goal of encouraging young people to read—they also share LeVar Burton as host/spokesperson.

This year marks the seventh year for Burton to host Reading Rainbow, and is the first year for him to be a spokesperson for The Year of the Young Reader.

In July, Reading Rainbow offers five new programs to keep children interested in reading throughout the summer. Some of the stories presented in the PBS series include: a humpback whale who takes a wrong turn and winds up 64 miles up the Sacramento River; a young girl who learns about judging people when she wanders into a junkyard; a boy who helps his father have fun by making pizza together; a grump who never laughs or smiles until he has a dream that the whole world is laughing at him; and a dinosaur who has many hidden talents.

"Releasing new programs during the summer allows Reading Rainbow to capture the attention of children while they're on vacation. This is the time when it is easy for children's reading skills to slide," said Twila Liggett, the series' project director and executive producer.

Burton, also known as Lt. Geordi La Forge on the TV series Star Trek: The Next Generation, returns as host for the new episodes. As spokesperson for The Year of the Young Reader, he has been appearing in public service announcements released earlier this year.

His own love of books stems from childhood. He confessed that when he was growing up in Sacramento, he was "pretty much a bookworm" who would sit in his bedroom, book in hand, and listen to baseball games on the radio.

Burton was educated in Roman Catholic schools and originally intended to pursue a life of a cleric. After several years of seminary training, however, he decided to study drama and enrolled at the University of Southern California. Two years later, he went on his first audition and landed the part of Kunta Kinte in the television epic Roots. He turned in a stunning performance that earned him an Emmy nomination.

As host of Reading Rainbow, he seldom has to do any acting, however. He gets to be himself while showing children the fun and adventures they can have through reading.

"One of the great things about Reading Rainbow, Burton said, "is that it encourages kids to read for the right reasons—not because they should, but because it's fun. Pick up a book and you can travel anywhere in the universe. You'll never have a problem entertaining yourself, and you'll never have to be lonely."

Robert Conrad heads up family of entertainers

By Polly Vonetes
TO ALL CONRAD FANS: Many questions have come in regarding the CBS series Jesse Hawkes. Viewers want to know more about the Conrad family, in particular Christian and Shane. I'll tell you what I can.

Robert Conrad

Robert Conrad is married and is the father of eight children, (although his sons say "nine") most of whom are involved in his A. Shane Co. Daughter Joan, his eldest daughter, is executive producer, and his second oldest daughter, Nancy, is the set designer. Christian, who stars as Matt, is 24 years old, single and a student at Pepperdine University in Malibu, where he is majoring in television production. A born athlete, he is involved in football, soccer, lacrosse and water sports. Shane, 17, is also single and stars as Cody. As a student at Montclair High School in Los Angeles, he is outstanding at most athletics. Both boys starred with their father in High Mountain Rangers and the made-for-television films Charley Hannah and Hard Knox. If dad has his way, this is just the beginning of the Conrad dynasty in Hollywood. Write to them c/o Jesse Hawkes, A. Shane Co., 21355 Pacific Coast Highway, Malibu, Calif. 90265.

Q: Actor Guy Williams died recently and yet very little has been written about him. Can you tell me his real age (the paper said 65), and what has he been doing all those years after Zorro? —Beverly Kostas, Manteca, Calif.

A: Guy Williams (Armando Catalano) was born Jan. 14, 1924, in New York City. He died in his apartment, apparently from a heart attack, on May 7, '89. He was 65 years old. After playing the role of Don Diego de la Vega (Zorro) from 1957-59, he reappeared as professor John Robinson in the series Lost in Space. He remained in that role from 1965-68. At the time of his death he was living in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Q: I was wondering if you could tell me if one of my favorite shows has been canceled or not. It's Beauty and the Beast. —Kim Sexton, Strasburg, Va.

A: Have no fear, Kim, your favorite show will return to the CBS schedule as a mid-season replacement (probably a lot sooner than they are planning to return it). The word is "they" want to be sure in which direction the series will proceed.

Q: Could you tell me if there is a film encyclopedia book I could order that lists films by looking under the actor's names? —Mary Ellen Watson, Kirksville, Mo.

A: Yes, there is a book that lists the actors, a bio and their film credits. It is The Film Encyclopedia by Ephraim Katz.

'Destination Appraisal' Helps Relocating Owners To Protect Their Investment

A "destination" or "pre-purchase" appraisal can alert relocating homeowners to potential problems with their future home investment. Relocate with a Destination Appraisal, a new brochure from the Society of Real Estate Appraisers, explains the appraisal process, how it works and how it can eliminate some of the unanticipated difficulties — and potential financial hazards — of relocating. The destination appraisal helps to assure the new home's investment value; a qualified appraiser will examine factors that can affect a property's value and provide the new owner with the knowledge as to whether the money spent is well invested. Knowing the importance of timeliness in such appraisals, the appraiser should be able to provide a market value option or range of value within 48 to 72 hours. Providing a how-to guide on arranging a destination appraisal, the brochure also points out circumstances that might necessitate a destination appraisal — such as in new construction, when an appraiser can give a value range for the subdivision and forecast its growth potential, or when the home being purchased is in a changing market where conditions may affect both current and future values of the property. A free copy of this brochure may be attained by sending a business-sized self-addressed stamped envelope to: Destination Appraisal; Society of Real Estate Appraisers; 224 North Michigan Avenue, Suite 724; Chicago, Ill 60601-7601.
