Floyd Students' Test Scores Up, But Still Below Nat'l Norm

by Anne Chaney, Editor

Floyd County school officials, teachers and parents received a pleasant surprise this week — students' basic skills test scores are up since last year, and are also above what projections had indicated they would be.

Floyd County scored 47.2 district-wide, 2.8 points below the national norm. However, the score placed the district as 154th out of the state's 177 school systems.

Neighboring Paintsville City Schools, however, scored well above the national norm, and outshone most other Eastern Kentucky systems with a score of 60.7.

"It was a pretty substantial improvement in our test scores," said the district's assistant superintendent for instruction, Gary Frazier. He noted that last year the district scored among the lowest in the state—in the 170s—but added that a different test was used.

This year, Kentucky students in the third, fifth, seventh and 10th grades took the Comprehensive Tests of Basic Skills-4 (CTBS-4). Last year students took the Kentucky Essential Skills Test, which many educators charged was outdated.

"I had every expectation that we would score much lower with the CTBS-4 than with KEST," he noted.

Instead, the local district showed the improvement, said Frazier, "without the full implementation of the things we're planning to do to improve test scores."

Some programs, such as computerized curriculum mapping programs, are either in place or are being instituted.

"In the next couple of years, I expect even more gains," said the assistant superintendent. "You have to give credit to the teachers. They're the ones who did the work and were determined to raise the test scores."

However, Frazier said he is not satisfied with the students' scores yet, adding that he believes the district can do better.

He tempered his remarks by noting that the CTBS-4 is meant to be used as an educational tool, and not as a ranking of the quality of schools in the state.

"The test is designed to show teachers the areas of weakness their students may have," he explained. "You use these results to improve those areas."

"However, you have to consider it from a public relations point of view, since the public looks at it as a ranking."

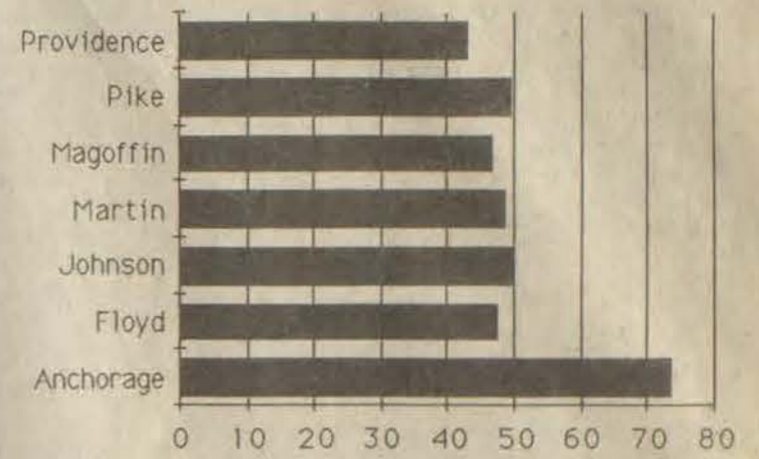

Frazier added that a portion of the test measures students' aptitude, and projects what they will score on the overall test.

Floyd students finished above their projected results.

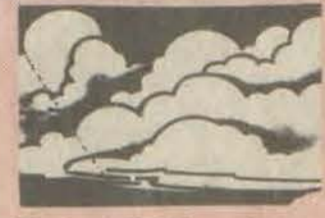

"Our goal is to get to at least the national average—I'd love to do that next year, but it's hard to predict."

"We're making a concerted effort to improve our test scores, and it's beginning to pay off. But we've only just started. Give us a couple of years, and we should see even larger improvements."

'Same Old ...'

Hazy, hot and humid are the bywords for the next three days' weather, according to the Weather Service at Jackson, Or. as the forecaster said, "It's same old, same old." Today holds a 30 percent chance of thunderstorms, with a high temperature of around 90 and a nighttime, foggy low of about 70.

Thursday's temperature highs and lows are about the same, but without the rain. Friday brings more of the three "h's", but adds a 30 to 50 percent chance of thunderstorms.

Issue Is Water

A public meeting on water service in the southern part of the county has been scheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Weeksbury Community Center, according to Buck Rogers, operator of the Weeksbury Water Co.

"People want us to extend service through Weeksbury and Melvin," said Rogers, whose company serves 30 to 40 customers from a deep well system, built several decades ago by a coal company. Rogers said he expects several area government leaders to be at the meeting to discuss ways of expanding water service.

Reveling Laborers In For Park Treat

Holiday revelers can look forward to music and dance at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park over Labor Day weekend.

The Kentuckiana Cloggers, an aptly named group from Kentucky and Indiana, will present four public performances. They'll show off their particular brand of clog dancing on Saturday at 4:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. at May Lodge and at 7 p.m. both evenings at the park campground, according to park recreation director Johnny Martin.

Both Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the campground, the park will sponsor square dancing for the public. Professional callers will lead the hoedown.

A concert by an Ashland gospel trio, the East Land Boys, is set for 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the campground. Ice cream making, movies and other social activities are also on tap, Martin said. For information, call the park at 886-2711.

Advisory Group To Meet Locally

The Institute for Aging, an advisory group for the state Cabinet for Human Resources, will meet Tuesday, Sept. 5, at 2 p.m. at Jenny Wiley State Park near Prestonsburg.

Sorry, Ms. Poppins, A Spoonful Of Sugar Won't Make This Medicine Go Down

by Pam Shingler, Assistant Editor

A chorus of "I don't know" forms the standard refrain when the issue of what to do about soaring medical insurance costs is raised. Insurance agents, hospital administrators, social service workers, employers and their oft-worried employees — all voice exasperation over what is becoming a major concern nationwide.

The cost of medical insurance has been rising by 15 to 30 percent a year for the last several years. Monday night, the Prestonsburg City Council once again debated its options on providing full coverage for city employees in the face of an increase of more than 20 percent in premium costs.

Businesses across the country, from the coal industry to service agencies, are searching for ways to renegotiate employee benefits packages. Uninsured workers are gambling that they don't get sick or injured.

The statistics are staggering: —The nation's annual health care bill escalated from $248 billion in 1980 to $540 billion in 1987, making the United States' health care system the most expensive in the world.

—Americans spend an average of $2,000 a year per person on health care, more than the citizens of any other country.

—More than 175 million workers in the US have some type of medical insurance, either employer-provided or paid for on their own.

—About 32 million Americans are covered by Medicare, and 23 million by Medicaid.

—About 35 million Americans are uninsured, about two-thirds of them in the workforce.

—The federal government's total budget in 1965, the year Medicare began, was less than what it spends today on health care programs.

—Close to seven million retired persons and their dependents continue to receive medical insurance coverage from their former employers, and since Americans are living longer, this number will only grow.

Auxier VFD Gets Radios, P'burg To Notify Members

Beginning this week, members of the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department won't have to call each other when local residents report a blaze.

The department recently received 12 beepers and two two-way hand-held radios, and assistance from the City of Prestonsburg, as well.

According to Mayor Ann Latta, Prestonsburg's dispatchers will now broadcast a code to all Auxier firefighters, notifying them of fires within their service district. Previously, Auxier residents called Prestonsburg, and dispatchers telephoned members of the Auxier department. The Auxier volunteers called others in their department.

The Auxier volunteers' response time will be faster now, says Harlie Sturgill, secretary and treasurer, and Charles Music, a member. The two made the request to Prestonsburg on behalf of department chief Howard Ferguson earlier this week.

"There's also more of a guarantee that we all get called," noted Music. "Twelve people are getting the calls at the same time."

The Auxier department received assistance in getting the radio system from Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo and the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Four Clubs Merge To Hold Blood Drive

In a first-ever cooperative effort, four Floyd County civic organizations are coming together to sponsor a blood drive Sept. 5-8.

The Martin Kiwanis Club and Prestonsburg Kiwanis, Rotary and Jaycees clubs are shooting for a total donation of 100 pints of blood from area residents, in what is termed the "Battle for Blood."

The donor center on the second floor of Prestonsburg's Municipal Building will be open from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. on the four days of the drive.

T-shirts and other gifts will be awarded to all donors. For information, check with a member of one of the clubs or call the Central Kentucky Blood Center at 886-1557.

To Pay Or Not To Pay Volunteers?

Paid staff and volunteers in tow, Prestonsburg Police Chief Tom Blackburn Monday night made a plea to the City Council to increase pay for volunteer firefighters. Blackburn said neighboring cities of Paintsville and Pikeville reward their volunteers better than Prestonsburg.

Is It A Fairy Ring?

Paris Music looks over this baffling circle of black which appeared over night on his front lawn. He couldn't figure out how the black, sooty substance developed.

Rare Ring Riddles Resident

by Tess A. Whitmer Staff Writer

When Paris B. Music came into the Times office Tuesday morning, Aug. 22, he tried to describe an unusual ring which cropped up over night on the front lawn of his home on Auxier Road.

The ring, about 15 feet in diameter, consisted of a black, sooty substance resembling small fish eggs, and was on top of the grass.

Music was puzzled, since this same substance appeared on his lawn last year but in a different section and was in no distinct shape. "I had about a dozen different people looking at it last year and no one knew what it was," Anderson said.

Speculation about what caused the ring ranged from "eggs laid by a large herd of fast moving snails" and "exhaust fumes from a flying saucer" to "some sort of cult graffiti."

The cause, however, was not nearly so exotic. Jean Ball, Floyd County agricultural agent, explained that the ring "is just a fungus or mold which comes up in hot, moist weather. It is sometimes called a 'fairy ring' and could be any one of about 50 different types of diseases."

A fairy ring is a term describing various Basidiomycete fungi, but it is often used in reference to any circular pattern in the grass. According to Ball, Anderson's lawn is sporting a type of slime mold that will disappear as soon as it becomes dry.

Slime molds are dusty, bluish-gray, black or yellow, and cover grass, turning it an unsightly color. No damage is actually done to the grass and the mold can be broken up by sweeping it with a broom or by spraying it with a strong stream of water.

Ball said that he doesn't recommend people applying any sort of chemical to the affected area since these can be dangerous to children or pets who may get into the newly treated grass.

"The use of fungicides to control diseases in home lawns is generally not recommended due to potential environmental hazards, misapplication by inexperienced homeowners, cost, the need for repeated applications of protectant fungicides to maintain control and the critical need for exact timing of application," Ball added.

UK Board Approves Bond Sale

The University of Kentucky Board of Trustees recently approved a $24.5 million bond sale, and $3.1 million of that will be set aside to help fund the construction of a new science building at Prestonsburg Community College.

According to Dr. Henry Campbell, PCC president, the bond sale was authorized by the General Assembly last year. As part of the legislation, local campuses were required to raise at least half of the first year's bond debt service.

For Prestonsburg Community

College and its service area, that meant $194,800 had to be raised locally.

Donations have been made by individuals, financial institutions and other businesses, as well as civic clubs.

"We are very close" to the necessary pledge amount, said Campbell. "When the pledges come in for this year, we'll have almost exactly $194,800. We'll be within $1,000."

Campbell said architectural firm hired by the college, Arismuth, Judd and Rapp of Louisville, is in the final stages of design for the new science building. He said he expects bids to be let within the next two months.

"We hope to move into it in January 1991," added Campbell.

The building will house all science courses and the nursing program. It will include approximately six labs and four or five classrooms, and 25 faculty offices.

He said the local college has had a record increase in enrollment this year, saying he hopes PCC will be able to look at more additional facilities.

"We need to expand our student center," he explained.

P'burg Council Considers More Pay For Volunteers

Citing the need to build a volunteer force, Prestonsburg Fire Chief Thomas Blackburn Monday night urged city council members to adopt a pay scale for volunteer firefighters.

Blackburn, accompanied by the council meeting by an entourage of paid and volunteer firefighters, said that both Paintsville and Pikeville pay their volunteers. "We were averaging 11 or 12 volunteers per fire, now we get around four or five, if we're lucky. That's a big drop for us," said the fire chief, adding that he would like to see 40 people in a volunteer force.

Part of the problem, Blackburn said, is that "we've trained the firemen so well they become wanted (by other departments)." He said the city currently pays $6 for a training session and $6 for work on a fire or other emergency.

Mayor Ann Latta pointed out that the city paid more than $3,700 to volunteers in 1988. City administrator Fred James expressed concerns about workman's compensation, withholding taxes and other issues relating to paid employment. Council members agreed to look into the situation and to consider recommendations.

The council also decided to reverse its previous authorization to contract for sidewalk and blacktopping improvements through state contract prices and to let bids for labor costs on the projects. James cited concern over the ability of Mountain Enterprises, the state contractor, to start and complete the projects before winter because of the company's other

Stolen Detectors Detected

PIKEVILLE — Careful detection by Pikeville City Police led to the recovery last week of nine radar detectors and a cache of other stolen auto equipment. Following a rash of thefts, police early Thursday set up surveillance at the Landmark Motel where some of the thefts had occurred.

Caught in the act of breaking into a vehicle was a juvenile, whose accomplice, Danny Adkins, 19, was arrested later at Ford's Branch. In addition to the radar detectors, police recovered six sets of car stereo speakers, a stereo tape deck, 270 cassette tapes and several stolen weapons.

A series of thefts had taken place in July and August at Myers Towers, Ridgecliff Apartments, Pikeville Motel and the Landmark, according to Pikeville Det. R.E. Fish. The thieves used crowbars to enter the cars, causing severe damage to 19 cars, Fish said. Police expect to recover more stolen items and to have more arrests in the case, Fish said. The items recovered Thursday are worth about $4,000, he said.

Post Office Explosion Reported

PILGRIM — The post office in the tiny Martin County community of Pilgrim was destroyed last week by an explosion of unknown source, according to Kentucky State Police. No one was injured in the early morning explosion which is being investigated by a state arson inspector. Damage was estimated at $80,000. (Martin Countian and Mercury)

BLACKKEY — Dr. Artie Ann Bates of Blackey (Letcher County) is the subject of an article, titled "Coal Miner's Doctor," in the September issue of McCall's magazine. Dr. Bates returned last year to practice medicine in the mountain community she left some 16 years ago. (Mountain Eagle)

Child Sex Abuse Conviction

SALYERSVILLE — Brack Nickells, the first to be tried of 18 members of a Magoffin County family who were indicted in 1986 on sex crime charges, was found guilty last Wednesday of raping and sodomizing three of his grandchildren.

The family members are accused of sexually abusing 23 children in the family, ranging in age from one to 11. The jury heard testimony from two of Nickells' grandchildren, an 8-year-old girl and her 7-year-old brother. The children told of being sexually abused by their grandfather and of watching him have sex with their 3-year-old brother. The Magoffin Circuit Court jury recommended a 20-year sentence for the 64-year-old man, who is already serving time on an incest charge. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Sex Charges Levied In Pike

PIKEVILLE — Sexual molestation of a teenage relative is the charge listed in a Pike County grand jury indictment against Oberron Collins, 37, of Knott County, according to Kentucky State Police. The felony charges included sodomy and unlawful

Part of contraband recovered in Pikeville transaction with a minor. Collins apparently turned himself in after discussing the incident, which reportedly took place at the Daniel Boone Motel on Aug. 12, with his minister. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Swordplay Apparently Dulled

PAINTSVILLE — Excalibur Manufacturing, Johnson County's effort at industrial development cooperation, is back on track after a state snafu. The plant, which produces brass fittings for the local American Standard plant, was nearly shut down in July by state officials who threatened to withdraw funding because of questions over management of the facility. Misunderstandings were apparently cleared up recently after local officials met with Frankfort purse controllers. The plant employs 18 people and is designed to train dislocated workers until full capacity of 125 employees is reached. Excalibur is a joint effort of the Paintsville-Johnson County Industrial Authority, Prestonsburg Community College, Kentucky Cabinet for Human Resources and American Standard. (Paintsville Herald)

Accused Killer Gets Trial Date

INEZ — Martin Circuit Judge James A. Knight set a trial date of Oct. 19 for Curtis Stepp Jr., 23, accused in the beating death in July of 79-year-old Jacob Winfield Cline of the community of Blacklog. Stepp, who is charged with murder and being a persistent felony offender, pleaded not guilty during the arraignment. (Lexington Herald-Leader) road commitments.

In other business, on a motion from Paul Joseph, seconded by William O. Goebel, the council accepted a $58,750 bid from Worldwide American Eagle for refurbishing of a city fire truck. Fire Chief Blackburn compared the rebuilding to "replacing a $140,000 truck." When completed, the truck should last another 20 years, he said.

Council members also declared parts of the truck that are not reusable as surplus property to be sold.

The continuing problem of health insurance for city employees was raised. A proposal from Pan American Life was submitted, but no representative from the company was present to interpret several complex components of the plan. Goebel moved to table the decision until the next meeting when more information can be available.

Attorney Jim Hammond appeared before council to clarify what he said was a misunderstanding as to who made a request for rezoning of the property on which his office is located. Hammond said he filed the request before the city zoning commission on behalf of Dublin Corp., which owns the land on North Arnold Avenue.

Hammond said the apparent confusion on the part of the commission arose from his "wearing two or three hats — as lessee of the property, holder of an option on it and representative of the corporation." On a motion by Mike Vance, council remanded the issue back to the zoning commission for a recommendation.

In other business, council members adopted the new personnel policy for city employees, following the second reading of an ordinance on the matter; heard the first reading of an ordinance that continues the property tax rate at 25 cents per $100, and approved the city's joining the Kentucky Industrial Development Council.

Council authorized James and Police Chief Dickie Campbell to request assistance from the Floyd County School Board to alleviate some of the traffic congestion around Prestonsburg Elementary School when school begins and ends.

With the city's liability insurance up for renewal in November, William Callihan moved that the city advertise for quotations, and council concurred.

Vance also introduced a resolution of city support of the "expedient planning, development and construction" of the proposed road connecting KY 122 on Left Beaver with KY 80 at Eastern. "The road opens the county up, and anything that opens the county up brings traffic to Prestonsburg," Vance said after the reading. Council members passed the resolution.

Responding to citizen requests, the council agreed to donate a trophy for the local band competition, sponsored by the Prestonsburg High School Band Boosters on Sept. 23, and approved a request from the Rescue Squad to hold a fundraising road block Sunday.

All council members were present for the meeting. In September, the council will return to its regular twice-monthly meeting schedule, with the next meeting set for Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building.

Bottom of the Barrel Bunch

The Kentucky Highlands Folk Festival will begin Thursday, Sept. 7, in the amphitheater at Jenny Wiley State Park with a program by local performers. Festival planners say the program gives area residents an opportunity to hear more of the music of their friends and relatives, and provides a welcome to tourists attending the entire festival. The groups are considered to be among the finest musicians appearing at the festival, and the festival committee is proud to have the opportunity to showcase them. Scheduled to appear are the Elkhorn Grass Band from Elkhorn City, The Mule Band from Pikeville, The Bottom of the Barrel Bunch from Salyersville, and the Gumbanch Heartbreakers from Floyd County. The program begins at 7 p.m., and senior citizens will be admitted for $1.

Inattentive Drivers, Runaway Wheel Cause Accidents In P'burg

Seven auto accidents left no persons injured and only two cars taken to a service garage in Prestonsburg this past week, according to reports from the City Police.

On Monday, Aug. 21 Howard Gosa, 43, of West Memphis, Ariz., was driving a Coastal Unilube truck when he hit Johnny Howard, 38, of Prestonsburg. Gosa made a left hand turn from E. Patton Street onto Route 23. As he started to change into the right lane he struck Howard, who had just completed a right hand turn from W. Patton Street. Apparently, Gosa did not know he hit him, because he traveled three blocks before Howard was able to stop him, according to a report by Sgt. Sue Blackburn.

On Tuesday, Aug. 22, Henry Johnson Jr., 54, of West Prestonsburg, had his vehicle stopped in the traffic lane portion of the Wal-Mart parking lot when a juvenile struck his car from the rear. According to a report by Sgt. Mike Ormerod, the juvenile said he had looked down to adjust the radio and did not see the other vehicle stop.

Also on Tuesday, Phyllis Tackett, 46, of Melvin, was backing her car out of the Social Services parking lot when she struck the car owned by Caran Stallard of Prestonsburg in the rear. Gerald Clark was the reporting officer.

According to Officer Roy Roberts, on Wednesday, Aug. 23, Dempsey Chaffins, 54, of Garrett, was turning off of Friend Street onto Rt. 1428 when he hit a vehicle driven by Leroy Ball, 42, of Phelps, which was traveling south on 1428.

On Thursday, Aug. 24, Melisa Halbert, 18, of Porter, pulled out of Floppy Mart and ran into the right side of a vehicle driven by Billie Hunter, 36, of Honaker. The vehicle was taken to Music, Carter, Hughes. Halbert stated she hadn't seen the other car and was cited by Sgt. Gerald Clark for no proof of insurance.

Also on Thursday, a Prestonsburg juvenile was driving a car owned by Eddie Webb of Prestonsburg down a small hill on Route 23 when the left front tire and rim came off. The wheel traveled across the southbound lane and the hill. As it started to roll back it struck Gladys Conn's car on the under side. Officer R.J. Conn cited the juvenile for no insurance and the car he was driving was towed by Adams Wrecker Service.

A "fender bender" was what resulted on Saturday, Aug. 26, when Inge Bentley, 43, of Garrett, backed into another vehicle at Shell Mart Station. She hit 19-year-old Garrett resident Timothy Blackburn's vehicle in the rear, said Officer Dan Conley.

Sen. McConnell To Visit HRMC

Senator Mitch McConnell will visit Highlands Regional Medical Center on Wednesday, Aug. 30, following a breakfast sponsored by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce.

"His visit to Eastern Kentucky is, in part, a result of his support of legislation to help preserve the status of Highlands as one of Kentucky's federally designated Rural Referral Centers," said Kathy Rubado, public relations coordinator for HRMC.

"Rural Referral Centers in Kentucky bridge the gap between smaller rural hospitals spread throughout the state and major centers in urban areas by allowing severely ill patients to be treated closer to home," Rubado noted.

Two Bits Too Much To Swallow

Little boys are not meant to be piggy banks, as Robert Robinson, 8-year-old son of Carroll and Reanota Robinson of Goble-Roberts, discovered Tuesday.

At the close of school he, for some unknown reason, tried to swallow a quarter when it became lodged in his throat, according to Michael Moore of the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

"The boy was lucky the coin lodged the way it did and didn't block the air way," Moore added. He and Kenny Crisp, another firefighter, responded to the call from Prestonsburg Elementary School.

"The ambulance was restricted in response due to heavy traffic around the municipal building caused by parents picking up their children," Moore said. "This is a continuing problem in the mornings as well, when people drop off their kids."

Major Mike Wells added that they have brought this to the attention of the City Council and they hope to have something done about it soon. "We thought something like this would happen sooner or later. That's why we try to discourage people from utilizing this parking area as a loading and unloading zone for the school," he said.

Robinson was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center where he was x-rayed and released. According to the boy's mother, he is in satisfactory condition.

"The coin is still lodged in the tube that goes to his stomach and we have to take him back to the hospital tomorrow morning to get x-rayed again to see if it has moved," she explained. "It could be a serious problem if it does not dislodge itself."

Where Have All The Real Heroes Gone?

To borrow from a song popular back in the 1950s, "Where Have All The Flowers Gone?", we can rephrase that to "Where Have All The Heroes Gone?"

What ever happened to the real sports heroes? You know — those who cared and were concerned about the type of image they projected to their fans — especially the younger ones! Whatever happened to them?

The ones that would rather visit the local hospital's children's ward instead of the local bookies. Whatever happened to them?

The ones that didn't mind signing autographs for youngsters for nothing, instead of massing thousands of dollars to autograph a baseball card or baseballs of innocent kids that idolized them. Whatever happened to them?

The ones that lived and played by the rules because they didn't think that they were bigger than the rules, or that the rules weren't for them. Where have they all gone?

The ones that didn't mind doing benefit shows to raise money for much-needed causes — without charge. Where are they?

The integrity of sports is as important today as it has always been. It was unusual to pick up the paper and read about a sports hero caught selling drugs or having to go to a rehabilitation center to receive help because he was addicted to drugs.

Today, it is all smoothed over and soon forgotten, and we excuse them because they are "heroes" and that's all right for them. Sports celebrities are closely watched by their fans.

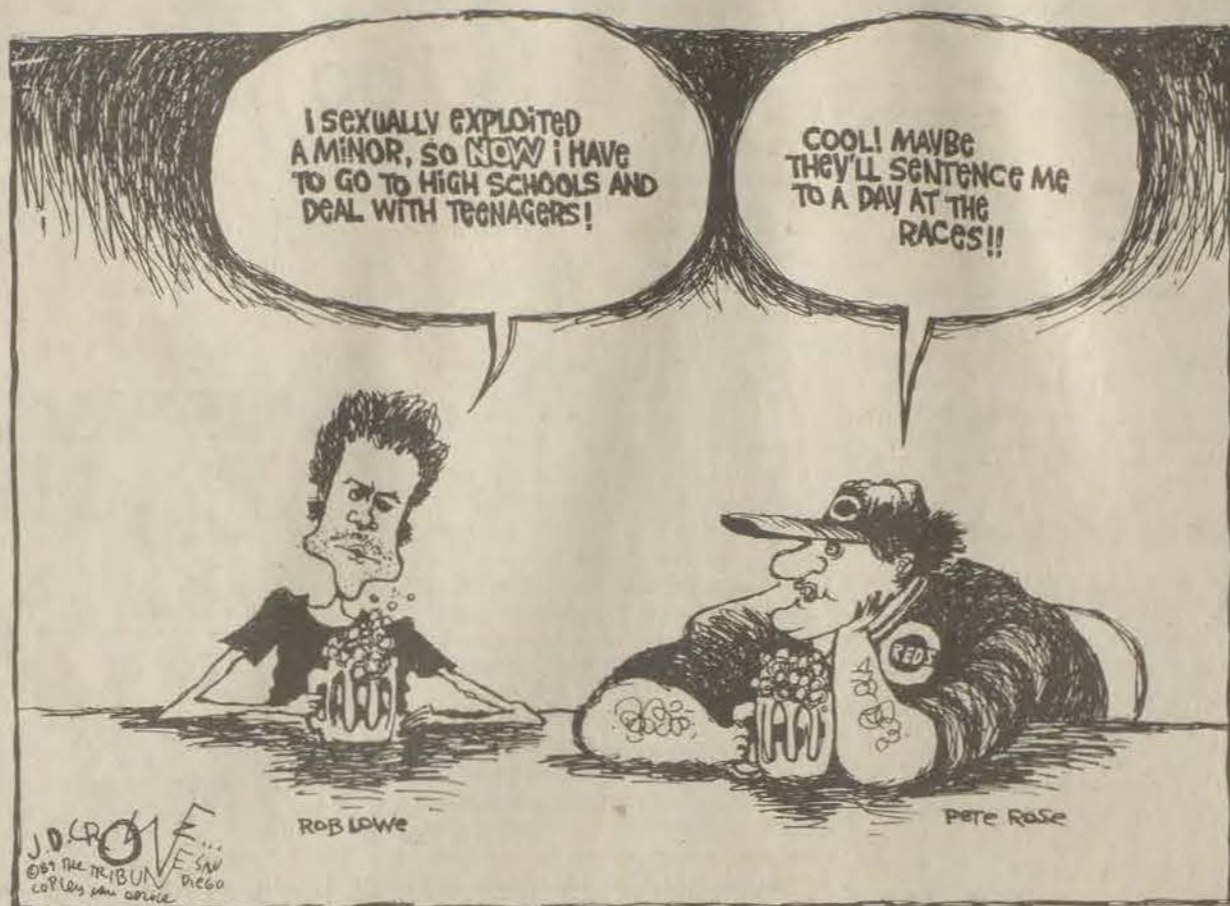

Projecting a negative image can do great harm, whereas a positive image can be beneficial, especially to a younger generation.

Today's sports personalities are more concerned about how much money they can make. The love for the game is secondary, if that. It used to be that baseball players received raises because they had a good previous year. Today, they want their raises now, with no guarantee that they will live up to expectations. No one is more to blame than baseball owners for the skyrocketing salaries. What baseball owner who is thinking straight would ever think about signing a young college prospect for such a ridiculous salary just because "he was outstanding in college" and then yield to his childish demands?

Where are all the old sports heroes? Where have they all gone? Will they ever return?

Letters To The Editor

Enjoys Newspaper

Dear Editor,
Enclosed is my check to renew my subscription to the Floyd County Times. I do so enjoy reading the paper from front to back. Also, since I do have a son whose headquarters are in Guam (USA) Army Reserves, I send him articles I cut from your paper. Of course, he enjoys that also.

Again, thanks for such an enjoyable paper.
Sincerely,
Dorothy Cunningham,
Margate, Fla.

Irvine Eversole, F.A. Hopkins, George Hagans, G. Bennett Adams, Charles Cornett and Ballard Baker, just to name a few. Of course, I would welcome information on any other early or prominent ministers.

What I want at this time are biographical sketches with particular emphasis on their work in the church. I might be able to use photographs later, if things work out as I hope they will. You might state in your correspondence if a picture would be available.

I can be contacted at P.O. Box 507, Hazard, KY 41701, telephone 436-6847.

Wesley Yonts,
Hazard

I agree with your assessment that in Floyd County, it is the little things (little to the world, but big to us) that are important. Last year the Times printed several articles that McDowell High School students wrote as journalism assignments. This gave the students a big boost to see their material in print. I would like to thank you and the paper for providing this service. I just hope this year's students have the opportunity to have some of their articles printed.

Another thing I would like to see more of in the paper is teachers' writings. These writings would not be a self-serving type of thing, but good, solid writing about teaching, language, community involvement, or entertaining articles about our people. This would serve two purposes: many interesting items would be presented to the public and our students would see that writing does not have to exist in a vacuum. It would be nice to see more positive things about our teachers.

Thanks again for your support of student writings and good luck in your new publishing endeavor.

Yours,
Willie Elliott

Suggestions, Compliments Given To Paper

Dear Editor,
I saw the announcement concerning the twice-weekly publication of the Floyd County Times. I think this will be a tremendous improvement, and I can understand your enthusiasm for the undertaking. The news will be more timely, and it will provide an avenue for writing by the lay people in the community.

Movin' Right Along

by Anne Chaney

The world of weekly journalism is a strange and wonderful place.

Strange, because of the often surprising things we find ourselves called upon to look into, and wonderful because it is always challenging and never, ever boring.

So it didn't surprise me last week when the editorial staff got into a somewhat detailed, but arguably legitimate conversation about pound cakes.

The question came up when the sports editor, Ed Taylor, asked why one uses a hyphen when describing a "3-pound" tomato — and why one doesn't use a hyphen when writing about a crate of tomatoes that weighs 30 pounds. One pound is a single thing, as in a 3-pound tomato, explained Pam Shingler, our assistant editor.

So Ed promptly asked, "Would you say a 1-pound cake?"

Pam said no, a pound cake was a type of cake, and not a reference to its actual weight.

At this point, the conversation — which had previously just buzzed around my head — finally caught my attention.

Tess Whitmer was laughing and shaking her head, watching Ed and Pam try to sort out this grammatical wandering.

Then she ventured to ask how much a pound cake really weighed. She noted that there's a pound each of several ingredients, and carried things a step further by asking why pound cakes aren't called 3-pound cakes.

Which, of course, led to the obvious: How much does the average pound cake really weigh?

The finer points of grammar were put aside, and I suggested that one of them call a local grocery store deli to find out, once and for all, the mysteries of pound cakes.

They said research fell into an editor's domain.

So, trying not to sound like a teenager at a slumber party ("Do you have Prince Albert in a can?"), I called a grocery, got the deli, and asked how much a pound cake weighs.

There was this moment of silence. It got longer. Then longer. Realizing how silly I must have sounded, I explained who I was and why I called.

So, folks, now you know one of the free world's most vital secrets: An average pound cake weighs 2 pounds.

Report to Kentucky

SENATOR WENDELL FORD

WHY PUT FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS AHEAD OF RURAL KENTUCKIANS?

I recently had the pleasure of meeting in Lexington with managers of rural electric cooperatives from more than 40 states, and I was impressed once again with the vital role these grassroots organizations continue to play in our economic development.

I was pleased to talk with these rural leaders about efforts being made in this Congress to address challenges now facing their co-ops, which have brought electricity and other forms of progress to so much of our nation.

One severe challenge involves senseless restrictions on rural electric co-ops seeking to prepay or refinance long-term federal loans obtained at the high interest rates of past years. Current law calls for the prepayment of at least $2.5 billion worth of such loans, but the administration insists on treating this floor as though it were a ceiling on the prepayment of co-op loans.

As a result, rural electric co-ops are forced to carry more than $5 billion worth of loans at interest rates of 10 to 15 percent. This results in enormous and totally unjustified costs to rural Americans who own and are served by these vitally needed co-ops.

Half a million Kentuckians are served by 26 distribution and two generation and transmission co-ops. Some 314,000 Kentuckians receive power generated by one of the two larger co-ops, East Kentucky Power in Winchester, which has $325 million in federal loans outstanding at interest rates of more than 10 percent. Sensible prepayment and refinancing could save these Kentuckians more than $60 million over the life of these loans.

Such measures would mean an immediate influx of much-needed dollars to the government.

'Dozing On The Job'

County road crews had little time to doze off last week while they worked hard trying to bulldoze water-damaged roads into shape, particularly in the Conley Fork section of Spurlock Creek. Road crew member Don Johnson was among those who helped rebuild several small bridges in the area.

Did The Great Pumpkin Come To Floyd County — In August?

Jim Anderson of Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek has been growing giant pumpkins for four years, now but he never had to face the problem of a flooded field in August.

Returning after an out-of-town trip recently, he discovered the damage high water had done to his crop. The mud-coated garden which was hit the hardest was covered with dying vines and giant, yellow pumpkins. Some of the 150-pound plus fruits were actually picked up by the water — or at least rolled — and deposited downstream.

Anderson isn't worried about how he's going to retrieve these wandering carotene sources; he just walks down the field and kicks in the sides and the cattle will do the rest. "Cattle love pumpkins," Anderson said. "I fed them pumpkins all the way until December last year."

Anderson grows seven different types of pumpkins ranging from "fitting in the palm of your hand" to "no man in Floyd County could lift on his own." The biggest one in his yard, Anderson estimates, is around 200 pounds and stands about three feet high. "These are Atlantic Giants and they can possibly grow to 600 pounds — that's the record," he said.

"Last year I sold a 200-pound one and the guy who bought it carved it out, and his son could get down in it."

Anderson and his wife harvest the large vegetables by themselves with the aid of a lawn tractor and a wagon. He begins to sell his harvest around the first of October at his home on Spurlock. He recommends that anyone interested in undertaking the challenge of carving one of these large ones into a "Jack-O-Latern" for Halloween "better bring a truck 'cause they won't fit in a trunk of a car, and start (carving) early 'cause it sure isn't a quick job."

Saved By The Great Pumpkin

Although about half of Jim Anderson's pumpkin patch was ruined by the rampaging water that accompanied recent storms, some of the orange, luscious pie makers were spared. By the Great Pumpkin, perhaps? The small decorative pie variety and the giant "who knows what for" pumpkins can both be found at Anderson's "pumpkin farm" on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek.

Truck Catches Fire, Threatens Building

The Prestonsburg City Fire Department attended to a fire in a refrigeration truck just outside of the city limits in Auxier Monday, Aug. 28.

According to Major Mike Wells, the truck, owned by Elmus Shepherd, had its generator unit plugged into a building, causing the structure to also be in danger of catching fire.

Officer Mike Mays and volunteers Mike and Tim Blackburn, Billie Chaffins, Allen Lafferty, Chuck Bishop, Steve Frasure, Terry Music

and James Hager, managed to save the building from any damage, but the truck was a total loss, according to Wells.

"Shepherd said that he had had trouble with vandalism done to the truck before and we suspect it might be arson," Wells explained. "(Prestonsburg arson investigator) Larry Adams is investigating the cause."

Police Officer Ricky Conn assisted the fire department, Wells added.

If you start with a penny and double your money every day for a month, you'll end up with more than five million dollars.

Unemployment Drops To Lowest Rate Of '80s

Kentucky's unemployment rate plummeted 1.2 percent between June and July to match the lowest level recorded in the 1980s.

The state's preliminary July jobless rate was 6.1 percent, the same figure recorded last October and the lowest percentage posted since December 1979, when the rate was 5.7 percent. The July report was down from a revised 7.3 percent in June and 2.0 percentage points below the July 1988 rate of 8.1 percent, according to the Cabinet for Human Resources monthly labor trends report.

Nationally, unemployment decreased from 5.5 percent in June to 5.3 percent in July. The comparable state and national rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Meanwhile, the US Department of Labor estimate of job holders in Kentucky reached a record high for the third month in a row. The number of Kentuckians employed jumped to 1.665 million, an increase of 31,600 over the June report.

The July Department for Employment Services' report, which also incorporates data from the US Department of Agriculture, showed farm employment jumped by 5,400, the biggest increase recorded in any category.

Ed Blackwell, the department's chief labor analyst, said, "Major activities were in tobacco and corn cultivation, hay harvesting and general farm work, but tomato and vegetable pickers were also in demand."

Construction companies added 1,900 workers, mostly in special trades, general building and heavy construction.

State and local government jobs increased by 600 with the addition of summer workers, especially in recreation jobs. Trade employment was up by 500 in the wholesale division.

Increases were also recorded in transportation, communications and utilities (up 300) and finance, insurance and real estate (up 100).

In education, 14,300 workers were dropped from the payrolls during the summer break. "Although many schools closed in May, some jobs in elementary, secondary and higher education extended into June," Blackwell said. "These are hourly positions which are normally filled again in September and October."

Service jobs declined by 2,400, mostly in education, engineering and personal services. "We expect many of the losses, especially in education services, to be temporary," Blackwell said.

Other losses were recorded in coal mining, down 300; federal government, down 200; and the category that includes self-employed persons, domestic workers and family members working without pay in a family business, down 100.

O regal bearing, beauty unsurpassed
Smile for everyone, queenly to the last
White hot passion, rurning wild
My one, my only, woman-child
Upon your finger I'll place no ring
And of our children, we'll never sing
Still a maiden, not yet my wife
You left behind this mortal strife
All earthly sorrow, unjust agony
They touch you not, in eternity
Now I stand so alone; heartbroken
Please, another chance; words unspoken
You gave me love, it was returned
Separated now, but I have learned
Of this heavenly place, where you've gone
Not to worry, my love, I won't be long...

Blackcats Play Tough In 34-27 Loss

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Bill Letton's Prestonsburg Blackcats put a scare into Tates Creek Friday night, although the Blackcats fell 34-27 to the Lexington school.

Freshman quarterback Aaron Tucker continues to shine at the signal calling position, as he connected with Mike Crace for two touchdowns and ran for another PHS touchdown himself.

Prestonsburg led at the end of the first period, 10-7. Tates Creek moved the ball to the Prestonsburg 1 yard line and took it into the end zone for a TD. The point after was good to give the host team a 7-0 lead.

Prestonsburg came back to tie the game on a 1-yard run by Tucker. Jason "Golden Toe" Storey kicked the extra point from 31 yards out to tie the game at 7-7. Storey's field goal from the Tates Creek 28 gave the Blackcats a 10-7 first period lead.

In the second quarter, Tates Creek had the ball on the Prestonsburg 3 when fullback Brian Hicks took the ball across for the score. After the extra point, Tates Creek led 14-10. The Lexington team made it 21-10 on a 24-yard pass with about 7:15 remaining.

A 31-yard field goal by Storey made it 21-13 at halftime.

Tates Creek scored again on a 65-yard romp by Hicks to give Tates Creek a 28-13 lead.

A 7-yard toss from Tucker to Crace and the point after by Storey made the score 28-20, bringing Prestonsburg to within threatening distance. Tates Creek tacked on two more TDs to go up 34-20 in the fourth period.

Tucker found Crace again with a 25-yard pass to make the final score 34-27.

"We played well enough to win," Blackcat Coach Bill Letton explained. "We stopped ourselves offensively more than Tates Creek did. Defensively, we had some major break-downs up the middle."

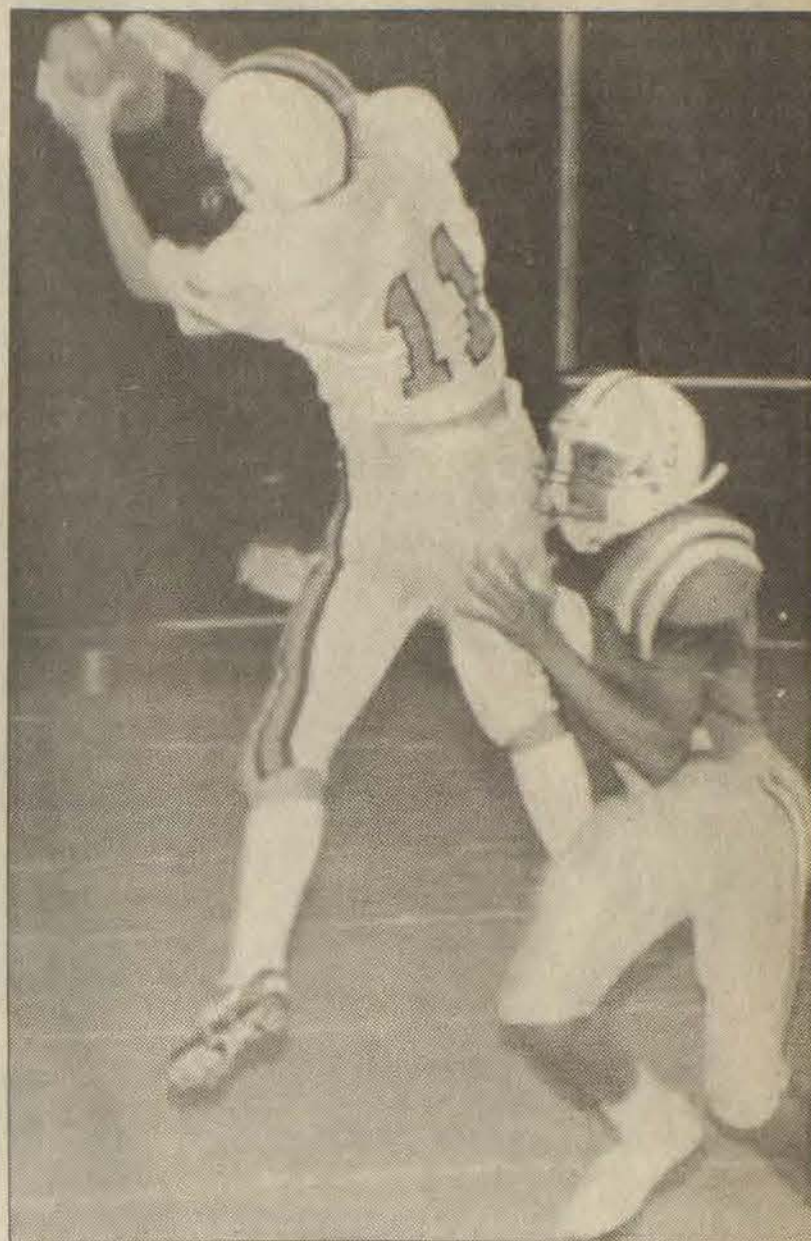

Tates Creek, a bigger and stronger team that "his team handled well," according to Letton, did not rattle the Blackcats freshman quarterback.

"Tucker had a great game. He never felt any pressure. Offensively we did well. Jeff (Sloan) and Mike (Crace) made some good catches," he continued. "Our running game suffered a lot." Prestonsburg rushed for only 40 yards against Tates Creek. Tucker passed for 276 yards as the rookie QB found his receivers for 35- to 40-yard passes.

Prestonsburg's record evens at 1-1 and the Blackcats will face last year's district champion, Whitesburg, this Friday night.

"We don't know anything about Whitesburg," Letton said. "They have yet to play this year and we don't know how they did in their scrimmages." Whitesburg's game with Elkhorn City Friday night was canceled because of the shortage of Elkhorn City players caused by burns some suffered at Wheelwright two weeks ago.

"It's tough to plan on any strategy when you don't know anything about a team," Letton says. "They did lose their tailback, Junior Matthews, from last year. They will throw the ball more this year and also feature the fullback more. They are the defending district champions from last year."

Completion

Senior Mike Crace (11) is on the receiving end of this pass from quarterback Aaron Tucker in Friday's game against Tates Creek. The Blackcats dropped a close one to the Creekers, 34-27.

WHS Field Now Safe, Say Officials

Coach Roger Johnson says that the Wheelwright High School football field had been cleared and approved for further play by the health department.

In a letter to the Wheelwright officials from David Chaffin, hazardous material chairman of the Floyd County D.E.S., dated August 24, Chaffin said the improper lime used to mark fields has dissipated.

Fire departments washed down the field, and recent rains helped get rid of the lime, which had caused burns to several local and Pike County football players.

Chaffin said in his letter he feels the field is safe to play on.

Draw Play

Allen Central quarterback B.J. Aldrich uses an option play to gain yardage against the Paintsville Tigers at Paintsville Friday night. Aldrich broke his nose in the 49-14 loss to the Tigers.

Paintsville Beats ACHS Rebs, 49-14

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Donnie Daniels of the Allen Central Rebels still remains positive in thinking that his squad has the talent to compete with other football schools, despite his team's dropping the first two games in the season.

The Rebels traveled to highly touted Paintsville to take on the Tigers, led by the fleet-footed Greg Slone and quarterback Jeremy Holbrook. The Tigers proved to much for the young Rebels in winning, 49-14.

After exchanging fumbles early in the first quarter, Allen Central drove the football down to mid-field. On fourth and short yardage, the Rebels went for it, only to be stopped with 3:00 to go in the first period.

Paintsville took over on downs and, with 1:01 to go in the first, the Tigers reached pay dirt. The extra point was good and Paintsville went on top, 7-0.

The Rebels had the ball on their own 40 yard line and drove the ball to the Tigers' 23 when time ran out in the first period. When Paintsville was called for a face masking the penalty, the ball was moved to the Tiger 15. From the Tiger 6 yard line, Paintsville staged a goal line stand against the Rebels.

"Paintsville did a great job on us at the goal line," Coach Daniels said.

With 7:29 remaining in the second stanza, Paintsville broke off of a quarter option play for long run for a touchdown to make it 13-0.

The Tigers added eight more in the second. With 4:51 remaining in the half, they took the ball across from the 6 yard line to make it 21-0.

On the kick off to Allen Central, the Rebels fumbled the ball and Paintsville recovered on the Rebs' 26 yard line. Paintsville took the ball across and the extra point was good for a 28-0 lead.

On the Rebels' next possession, Allen Central was forced to punt but got the ball back on a holding penalty

Wheelwright Falls To Fairview, 20-8

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Wheelwright Trojans took on district foe Fairview in a road contest Friday night. While the Trojan offense made it's best showing of the young season, hurt players continued to plague the team as it fell to Fairview, 20-8.

"Chad Hall and James Branham both were out and that really hurt us," Wheelwright mentor Roger Johnson explained. "If they both had been able to play, we would have won the game."

The Trojans were on the scoreboard first as Wheelwright moved the football to the Fairview 8 yard line. Senior halfback Bobby Hood, 5' 9", 150 pounds, carried the ball into the end zone for the TD. Hood also carried for the two point conversion to give Wheelwright an 8-0 lead.

Jason Miller, a 5'11", 195-pound senior halfback, took over for Fairview. Miller scored for his squad in the second quarter on a 12-yard run. Fairview then converted the two point conversion to tie the game at 8-8.

The senior halfback hit pay dirt again in the third quarter for Fairview with a carry from the Trojan's 4 yard line. Fairview was unable to convert the extra points, but led 14-8.

"Miller is a tough player," Coach Johnson said. "He's a big boy and knows how to run."

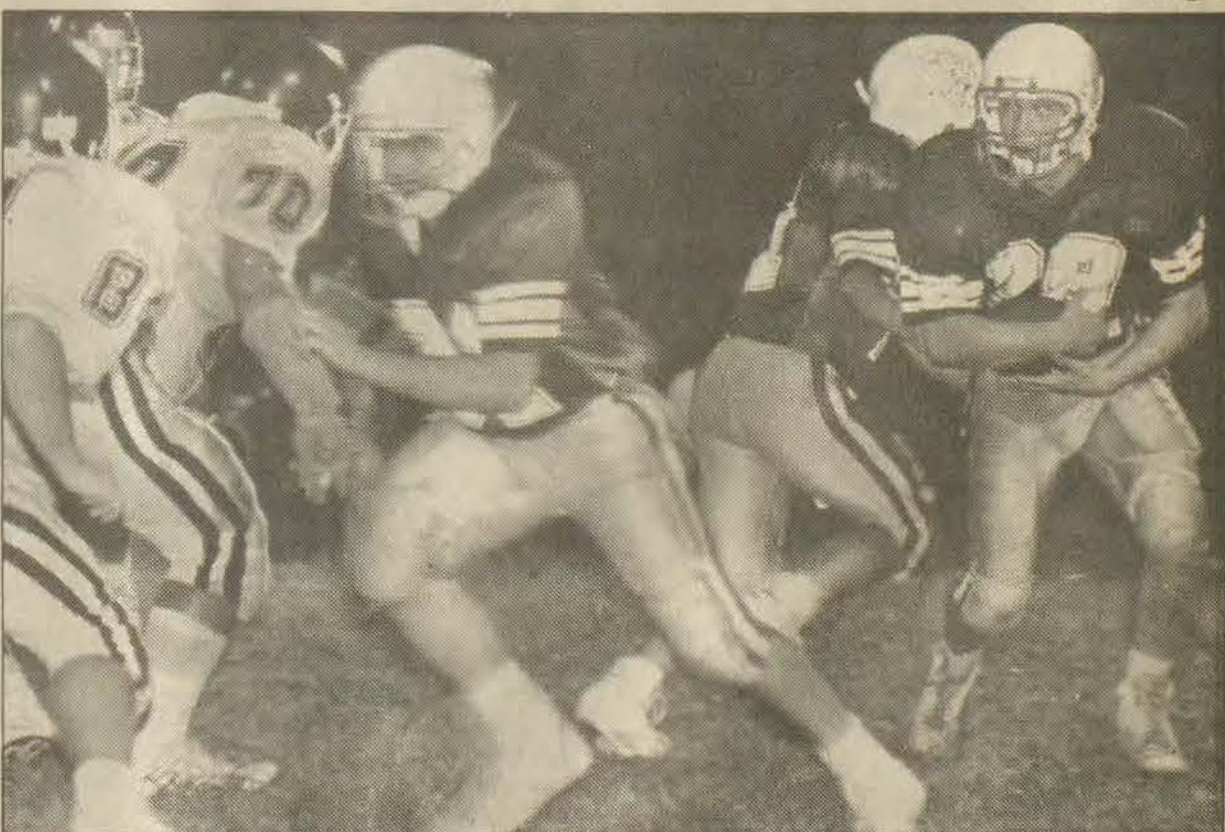

Miller scored his third TD of the game on a 25 yard breakaway late in the third period. The conversion attempt failed as Fairview won it's first game of the season after being crushed by Magoffin County, 46-7.

"Our players didn't quit," Johnson says. "Their attitude is still up. We'll have Chad (Hall) back for our game against Paintsville this Friday night. Branham will be out about another two weeks."

Hood carried the ball 11 times for 52 yards. Sophomore Steven Jackson carried six times for 59 yards and Mike Justice carried the football five times for a total of 24 yards.

Quarterback Steven Johnson carried twice for eight yards. Johnson had a good passing game, totaling 76 yards on four of six attempts. Bryan Rhea caught two Johnson passes for 37 yards, while Hood was on the receiving end for 17 yards and junior Robbie Wright was hit with a pass for 22 yards.

Un'BIAS'ed

Betsy Layne halfback Chris Bias carries the football for a Bobcat first down on this play against the Hornets of Magoffin County. The Bobcats fell to the Hornets, 34-0. The Hornets took their season record to 2-0.

League and Tourney Champs

The Martin Liquors Softball team won the Minnie Softball League tournament this past weekend over Thompson's Supermarket, 16-11. The Martin team hit 11 home runs in the tourney. Team members, not necessarily in order, are Rick Caudill, Thomas Meade, Brian Turner, Steve Ward, Greg Ison, Craig Tackett, Julian Tackett, Charlie Collins, Doug Derossset, Terry Boyd, Darren Conn, Lee Smith, John Hall, Robbie Fraley, manager Walk L. Boyd Homers To Lead Martin Liquors

Terry Boyd went four-for-four, hit two home runs and had two doubles in leading Coach Walk Tackett's Martin Liquors softball team to a 16-11 victory over Thompson Supermarket in the championship game of the Minnie Softball tournament at the Minnie Park.

Martin Liquors, coming up out of the losers bracket, captured the title with wins over Weeksbury, Tri-County T.V., the Falcons, the Duke Boys and Thompson's Supermarket.

Martin scored seven first inning runs to go on top 7-0. Thompson's came back with two in the bottom of the inning. After Martin pushed across five second inning runs, Thompson's countered with six in their half to make the score 12-8.

Martin scored three in the third and a single run in the seventh, while Coach Jimmy Jones' team tallied only three in the bottom of the fourth. Jones' team had handed Martin an initial loss in the first round. The two teams met in the semifinal round with Martin Liquors winning over Thompson's, 9-7. The loss was

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Chuke Williams of the Magoffin County Hornets, a school beginning only its second football season, didn't really expect his team to be 2-0 this time of the year, especially with one win coming on the road.

"This is really something I never expected," the Hornets mentor said, "to win on the road."

But it was all the "Scotty Conley Show" at the Betsy Layne field Friday night as Conley tossed three touchdown passes to tight end Bryan Bassam to lead the Magoffin County squad to a 34-0 win over the Bobcats.

The victory makes Magoffin County 2-0, and the Bobcats fall to 0-2.

Before a full minute had been played in the first quarter, both teams had fumbled the football on their first series of downs. Betsy Layne fumbled on its first possession and Magoffin took over on its own 43 yard line. On third down the Hornets fumbled away the ball.

Magoffin County scored first in the opening period at the 5:59 mark on a punt return by tailback Bryan Osborne, who romped 62 yards for the points. Fullback Ryan Mills went for the two point conversion and was stopped, but a flag was thrown on the play against the Bobcats. On the second attempt, Mills carried the ball into the end zone to give Magoffin County an 8-0 lead.

After Magoffin County kicked off to Betsy Layne, quarterback Craig Hunter had his first pass from the Bobcat 20 yard line intercepted by the Hornets on Betsy Layne's 23. Osborne carried the ball to the Bobcat 3 yard line on two carries. Mills took the ball across for the touchdown, Osborne ran for the two point conversion and the Hornets were up, 16-0.

Betsy Layne's offense was unable to move the ball with any consistency, but its defense played tough in the second and third quarters.

"Our defensive line was better than last week against Prestonsburg," Bobcat defensive coordinator Dewey Jamerson stated. "There are still some negatives there, but we'll work on that."

Magoffin County made it 22-0 with 1:23 left in the first stanza, when Conley hit tight end Bryan Bassam with a 23-yard toss. The Hornets failed on the two point conversion.

Conley and Bassam teamed together to score the final two touchdowns in the fourth quarter, as Conley found the tight end open in the end zone for a 34-0 victory.

"We were late in leaving to come to Betsy Layne," Coach Williams said.

"We had a bus delay and I thought that would hurt us and take the edge off. But we bounced back and got the lead."

The Hornet coach had praise for his quarterback in directing the game.

"Scott called a good game," the Hornets coach said. "Osborne had a good game rushing and Mills really helped us."

"Our boys didn't quit," said Betsy Layne's Jamerson. "That is a bright spot for us — they didn't quit. When they got down 22-0, they kept their heads up."

Magoffin County was penalized 80 yards while the Bobcats were penalized 35 yards.

The Hornet tailback, Osborne, rushed unofficially for 131 yards on 13 carries. Conley went to the air for a gain of 90 yards against the Bobcats.

Betsy Layne will play at Johnson Central Friday night in an 8 p.m. game. Magoffin County plays at M. C. Napier on Friday night.

on the Tigers. Allen Central took the ball to Paintsville's 25 when the half ended.

With 10:05 remaining in the third, Paintsville, deep in their own territory, made a long run for a touch down.

Allen Central got on the scoreboard when all-district running back candidate Mickey Parsons broke tackle and scampered 52 yards for a TD. Halfback Tommy Gibson ran for the two point conversion to make the score 41-8.

After Paintsville made it 49-8 in the fourth, Rebel halfback John Slone scored from 8 yards out to make it 49-14. Bret Meadows try for the two point conversion failed.

"We played good football," Rebel mentor Daniels said. "After we had a lot of people hurt, we had to put some young players in and they made some mental mistakes. They have to learn also."

One of the injuries was a broken nose suffered by quarterback B.J. Aldrich.

"Our defense was as good as possible. We caused Paintsville to fumble the ball on their first series of plays. We accomplished some things positive in this game that we didn't do in the Jenkins game. However, we didn't do some of the good things here that we did against Jenkins. It's a case of just getting together for us to be a good team."

Parsons rushed for 105 yards, but had to sit out the second and third periods of the game. Junior Tommy Gibson totaled 107 yards on the ground for the Rebels.

"Tommy really took over for us after Parsons had to leave the game," Daniels recalls. "He did a super job for us."

Paintsville evens its early season record to 1-1 after a disappointing loss to Virgie. Allen Central falls to 0-2. Paintsville will entertain Wheelwright Friday night, and the Rebels go against Phelps in a home opener to be played at the Betsy Layne field at 8 p.m.

Woods, Beverly Retain Titles In Huffman Tennis Tournament

The 1989 Kenneth Huffman Memorial Scholarship Tennis Tournament at Pikeville College brought out about 100 entrants competing for championships in seven divisions.

The annual affair, which was founded in 1974, was held Aug. 15-20 with matches played at the college tennis courts, as well as courts at Bob Amos Park and those near the city swimming pool.

While there were many new faces in this year's event, two players successfully defended their 1988 championships. In the men's "A" singles, defending champion Danny Woods of Wise, Va., defeated Russell Music Jr. of Prestonsburg. Wood, a former college player who is a tennis instructor and sporting goods store owner, did not lose a single set in the tournament as he cruised to another championship.

In women's singles, Sharon Beverly of Wise also repeated her last year's performance by defeating Christy Bartley of Pikeville in the championship match. Beverly survived a scare in the quarterfinals when she came back from a set down to defeat B.J. Adams of Ashland. Bartley reached the finals by upsetting the tournament's number one seed, Dawn Maynard, in the semifinals.

In men's "B" singles, Jerry Cantrell of Mouthcard turned back a determined David Dotson to take the championship. Dotson, also of Wise, had several tough matches on the road to the finals, but Cantrell won the final match in straight sets.

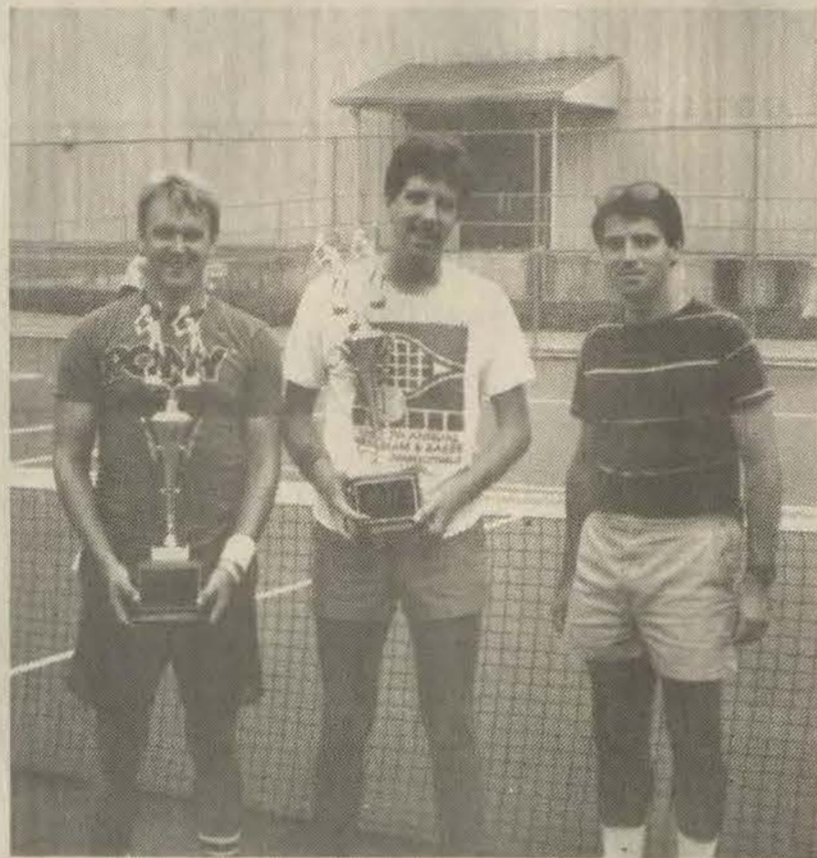

In mixed doubles, Wood and Phyllis Wood, teamed up to defeat Bobby Hamilton of Prestonsburg and Phyllis Huffman of Dorton. In the men's "A" doubles finals, Wood once again took home a winner's trophy, as he and Eddie Hunter of Middleboro defeated the Prestonsburg duo of Russell Music Jr. and Bobby Hamilton.

In the men's "B" doubles, Chris Waugh and Greg Ratliff of Prestonsburg defeated the father-son team of Jim and Aaron Crum in a close three-set match.

Places Second In Tourney

Russell Music Jr. and Bobby Hamilton of Prestonsburg finished second in the Kenneth Huffman Memorial Tennis Tournament at Pikeville College. Music and Hamilton lost to Danny Woods and Eddie Hunter in the finals. Shown, from left, are Eddie Hunter, Danny Woods, Lee Smith (tournament director), Russell Music Jr. and Bobby Hamilton.

Thompson's first in the tourney and a second game had to be played to decide the championship.

Ricky Caudill got the win for Martin in the championship game. Delmar Hall took the loss.

Thomas Meade had three doubles for the winners. John Hall homered and tripled, Julian Slone had a three bagger and Craig Tackett doubled in the winning effort.

For Thompson's Supermarket, Lenny Hall, Les Stapleton and Scott Shannon each had doubles.

Martin Liquors hit 11 home runs in the tourney. Brian Turner and John Hall had three each in the playoffs.

Change In Hunting Hours For September Wood Ducks Announced

Shooting hours for the September 6-10 wood duck season begin one half hour before sunrise, rather than sunrise, according to Lauren Schaaf, director of the Wildlife Division with the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

A last-minute change in the federal guidelines necessitated the shift in Kentucky's shooting hours for the five day early duck season.

The first fraternity house was occupied in 1839 by the Williams Chapter of the Kappa Alpha Society at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass.

Sportsman's Calendar Is Popular Item

The other day an outdoor writer friend called to say his 1989-90 Sportsman's Calendar had disappeared from the office mailbox. The calendar is a popular item, but taking another's copy is going a bit too far, especially since it's easily obtained by legitimate means.

It's little wonder the sportsman's calendar is so popular — it's chock full of all kinds of fish and wildlife related information, from deer season and fishing facts to the time wildflowers bloom and bear cubs are born.

If you didn't subscribe to Happy Hunting Ground magazine in time to receive the July-August issue you can still get a calendar. (Happy Hunting Ground magazine is the official publication of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.)

Single copies of the calendar sell for $5; or, subscribe to Happy Hunting Ground for one year (six issues) at the same cost ($5) and request the 1989-90 calendar. The sportsman's calendar will be forwarded immediately, and your subscription will begin with the next issue of the magazine (which insures you will receive the 1990-91 calendar).

To subscribe, send the correct amount in check or money order along with complete mailing information to Happy Hunting Ground, Division of Public Relations, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Deer Hunting Deadline Extended To September 15

The deadline for applying to hunt deer on some wildlife management areas has been extended from August 31 to September 15, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources announced today.

The extension is to compensate for the late arrival of this year's application forms from the printer. The standardized application form is needed to apply for deer gun hunts on the Beaver Creek, Clay, Dewey Lake, Grayson Lake, Higginson-Henry, Kleber, Paintsville Lake, West Kentucky, Yellowbank, Mill Creek and White City wildlife areas and on Peabody Coal Company lands in Hopkins, Muhlenberg and Ohio counties.

Bow hunters wishing to hunt deer on Peabody lands or on the White City Wildlife Management area in Hopkins County must also apply in advance on the standardized form, according to Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' regulations.

Archers may apply until December 1 for the October 1 through December 31 archery season. All applicants will be issued a permit. The application form contains a liability release form which hunters must sign, and the purpose of the application is to make sure that hunters on the area have signed the release.

Bow hunters who have applied for quota gun hunts on Peabody lands or on any other wildlife area may also apply for bow hunting on Peabody. Hunters should not, however, apply for gun hunting and Peabody bow hunting on the same form.

Bow hunters should also disregard the instructions on the form to make first and second choices of hunting areas.

There will not be a muzzle-loading firearms season on Peabody or White City this year.

There will be no substitution for imaginary deer hunts under no circumstances.

Application forms are available from county court clerks, conservation officers or by writing the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Parker Wins BASS Masters Classic

By Chris Altman

In a startling come-from-behind finish, Hank Parker edged out two-day leader Jim Bitter recently to win the 1989 BASS Master's Classic, held on the James River in Richmond, Va.

Parker, a popular 36-year-old professional angler and television fishing show host from Denver, N.C., landed 14 fish in the three day tournament, for a total catch weight of 31 pounds, 6 ounces.

Bitter, a Fruitland Park, Fla. native and 1989 BASS Megabucks champion, garnered the second place spot with a catch just two ounces shy of Parker's.

The final weigh-in of the world's greatest bass tournament was held in the Richmond Coliseum before a standing-room-only crowd of over 11,000 spectators. It was, without question, the most exciting finish in recent Classics.

Jim Bitter, who led the field by nearly 5 pounds going into the tournament's final day, spent the majority of his time working a grape Culpit worm around blow-downs extending from the shoreline into a creek channel. After losing a 7-pound fish early in the final morning, and then dropping a 1.25-pound bass back into the river after measuring it, caught just 6.5 pounds of fish the last day to finish in second place.

Rob Kilby, a Royal, Ark. native, concentrated on three patterns to collect his 30-pound, 10-ounce, three day limit which netted him a third place spot. Kilby discovered a channel ledge in a feeder creek, then worked it with a 7A Bomber crankbait in a fire tiger pattern to catch about half of his fish. A Texas rigged 4-inch grub flipped to the base of cypress trees was a consistent high-tide pattern. Kilby spent the remainder of his time working a worm around structures in creek mouths.

Guido Hibdon, the Gravois Mills, Mo., native who captured the Classic crown last year in Richmond, utilized the same pattern which won the tournament for him last year. With the skill and methodical precision of a surgeon, Hibdon pitched a jig/Guido Bug (a plastic crawfish of Hibdon's design) combination to shoreline and submerged cover for a three-day catch weighing 27 pounds, 13 ounces. A 6-pound bucketmouth, the largest of the contest, anchored Hibdon's final day limit and placed him fourth in the tournament.

Woo Daves, the Chester, Va., native who finished the 1988 Classic just 3 ounces shy of Guido Hibdon, once again found himself trailing that same angler. Daves was flipping and pitching plastic worms, spinnerbaits and crankbaits to structures on the first breakline off of the shore.

Unfortunately, a mechanical breakdown left Daves stranded for four hours on the tournament's final day and almost certainly kept him from finishing a few places higher. "This is the first time in five years that I've had mechanical trouble during a tournament," said Daves, a kind and quiet gentleman. "I'm thankful for that, so I'm not going to complain." Daves' three day catch of 26 pounds, 10 ounces garnered him a fifth place spot in the 1989 Classic.

Hank Parker, the 36-year-old host of "Hank Parker's Outdoor Magazine" television show, was working his favorite bait, a homemade spinnerbait, around visible shoreline cover. After two days of competition, Parker was in eighth place with a catch of 16 pounds, 14 ounces, nearly 8 pounds behind leader Jim Bitter.

Parker caught the largest five-fish limit of the tournament (14 1/2 pounds) on the final day to better Jim

Bitter by just 3 ounces. Parker's remarkable catch created an exciting, almost agonizing, weigh-in show, and not only netted him a check for $50,000 but proclaimed him the finest tournament bass angler in the world for 1989.

Around The State ... On The Collegiate Level

By Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

"Tis the season" football buffs have waited for — college football! It all begins on Sept. 9 for many state schools. A lot of preseason optimism fills the college campuses this time of the year as players, coaches and fans look for their favorite team to be big winners.

When talking of Kentucky colleges' football program, no one has had the success that Coach Roy Kidd has had in the past at Eastern Kentucky University.

When Kidd, who was an All-American quarterback in 1953, came to EKV in 1963, he had set a goal of 200 wins for the Richmond-based school. Kidd's 25-year record stands 199 wins and 74 losses and eight ties. The veteran coach should reach that milestone in his already lustrous career this season.

"I have no plans to retire," Kidd said in an interview for the EKV media guide. "I haven't given retirement any thought."

This year, Coach Kidd returns 32 lettermen for the 1989 season, including 11 starters, as the Eastern Colonels try to defend their Ohio Valley Conference title.

Two first-team All-OVC players and one honorable mention All-OVC choice will lead Eastern into the '89 season. Sophomore Tim Lester (5-10,190) at fullback, who rushed for 1,239 yards and seven TD's last season, and junior Chris Coffey (5-10,226) at linebacker, who led the OVC in tackles and assists, are EKV's returning All-Conference players.

Junior quarterback Lorenzo Fields (5-8,196) was an honorable mention All-OVC pick last season while setting an EKV single season record for highest pass completion percentage (101-161, .627). He completed an outstanding 1988 season by throwing for 1,463 yards and 10 touchdowns and running for an additional 418 yards and four TD's.

Eastern closed the 1988 season with an 11-3 overall record, champions of the OVC, ranked seventh in the final NCAA Division I-AA poll, and national semifinalist in the 1-AA playoffs, losing to Georgia Southern, 21-17.

The Western Kentucky Hilltoppers, 9-4, finished the 1988 season ranked 12th in the NCAA Poll and finished 13th in the Sports Network Poll. The Hilltoppers lost to the EKV Colonels 41-24 in the NCAA 1-AA playoffs last season.

Hilltoppers coach Jack Harbaugh returns 12 offensive lettermen and 18 defensive lettermen. Most noticeable among the returning offensive lettermen is Robert Coates (6-2,235, Sr.), a tight end from Birmingham, Ala. Coates is one of the few three-letter winners for the Hilltoppers. He was hampered by injuries early last season but came on to start the last nine games and still lead the team in receptions with 24. Coates caught five passes for 80 yards against UT-Chattanooga last year. He averaged 12.8 yards per catch also last year.

Seniors Gerald Mark (6-1,240) and Troy Dowdy (5-10,180) will return in the backfield for Coach Harbaugh's Hilltoppers. Mark is a prime candidate to top the depth chart at fullback and replace the graduated Pedro Bacon. Mark had 15 carries last fall for 33 yards, with a long run of eight yards and one touchdown.

Dowdy, from Paducah, was a defensive back last year and saw action in every Hilltopper game last season, but will see things from a different perspective this year, carrying the ball and blocking at fullback.

Senior Mark Marsh (6-3,190) has the inside track on leading the Hilltoppers at the quarterback position this fall. Marsh is considered to be an excellent option quarterback although he hasn't seen a lot of action at the helm of the Toppers.

Leading the returning defensive lettermen is senior Xavier Jordan (6-2,240) of Atlanta, Ga. Jordan has been nicknamed the "X-Man" for his ability to erase quarterbacks. He recorded 50 tackles and four quarterback sacks last season, and he will lead the returnees of the WKU defensive squad.

With all the hype about the University of Kentucky Wildcats football team being made in the press, the big question is can the Cats live up to all the preseason expectations. Many believe that Coach Jerry Claiborne's Cats can finish in the first division of the tough Southeastern Conference. The Wildcats finished last in the conference in total offense last season. What's to say they will not repeat that record again this time around.

Who will run the team from the quarterback position is still undecided. Fred Maggard may have the upper hand simply because he has the ability to run with the ball, something that prospects Chuck Broughton, Brad Smith and Ryan Hockman lack in ability.

Seniors Andy Murray (6-1,246), Mike Knox (5-11,216) and Darren Bilberry (6-2,205) will in the backfield for the Cats in '89. All three have been blessed with good speed and can catch the ball.

Look for a good year from tailbacks Al Baker and Alfred Rawls in the upcoming season. Both are very quick and will be difficult to defend against, one on one.

UK will showcase the largest offensive line in the SEC this season, averaging over 290 pounds, and will have more depth than any UK team has had in years.

If Kentucky is to have a winning season and bowl bid in 1989, it is going to have to move the football. It will need a consistent performance from one or more of its quarterbacks.

The Union College Bulldogs, 6-4 last year, will field a young, but experienced squad with the return of sixteen starters, eight on defense and eight on offense. Second year head coach Matt Ballard looks with optimism to improve on last year's surprising 6-4 record. If the Bulldogs are to continue their pace of building a strong tradition, three big losses to graduation must be filled.

The Dogs will feel the loss of their all-time leading passer, rusher and kicker. The biggest question mark is who will step in for Greg Duncum, who amassed over 5,000 yards passing and holds every Union passing record but one. The position is up for grabs.

Leading the offense for the Bulldogs will be NAIA Honorable Mention tight end Pete Greene (47-729, 5 TD's) and All-MSFC T.C. McClish (175-869 yds., 6-td's). The offense line is led by senior OT Jimmy Means (6-4, 255). A revitalized and strong defense is led by "Butch" Burden, defensive back, and linebacker Rob Gabriel with 98 and 69 tackles, respectively.

Senior Running Back Mickey Parsons (5'10", 180 pounds) of the Allen Central Rebels carried the ball 22 times and ran for 96 yards in a 34-6 loss to Jenkins. Parsons scored his team's lone touchdown.

Allen Central junior halfback Tommy Gibson (6'0", 195 pounds) totaled 70 yards rushing against Jenkins in his team's opening game. Gibson carried the ball only eight times in gaining his yardage.

Prestonsburg Blackcats freshman quarterback Aaron Tucker (6'1", 152 pounds), in making his first varsity start, tossed two touchdown passes: one to receiver Jeff Slone for 70 yards, another to Mike Crace, and scored a TD himself on a quarterback sneak, in his team's victory over the Betsy Layne Bobcats, 31-6.

Betsy Layne senior halfback, Larry Hall (6'1", 180 pounds), broke a tackle and ran 76 yards for a touchdown in the closing minute of his team's 31-6 loss to Prestonsburg.

Steven Jackson, sophomore halfback of the Wheelwright Trojans, rushed for 72 yards for the Trojans against the Elkhorn City Cougars in a 16-0 loss. Teammate Chad Hall totaled 58 yards on the ground for Wheelwright.

Thompson's Beats Martin Liquors In Early Round, 5-4

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

They were crowned the league champions with an outstanding 16-2 league record, and 22-3 overall. They were referred to as "the strongest team to play in the Minnie softball league." Some said they were almost unbeatable.

But Saturday afternoon, all those adjectives were dispelled as Jimmy Jones' Thompson Supermarket team defeated Martin Liquors, 5-4, in the first round of the double elimination tournament played at the Minnie field.

"It is the worst we have ever hit all year," said Martin coach Walk Tackett. "We have been off for three weeks and the fact that we were missing two of our regular players didn't help things."

Thompson's took a 5-0 lead on the Martin team going into the bottom of the sixth inning with Delmar Hall having things his way. Good defense and balls being hit right at fielders helped keep runners off the base paths. But in the bottom of the sixth an error, a walk and a base hit set the stage for Brian Turner's grand slam home run to make the score 5-4, and put a scare into the Thompson's team. Hall settled down and did not allow another run in the seventh inning. The Martin team let a scoring opportunity escape them in the fifth inning with runners on second and third with one out, when they were unable to score.

Julian Stone and Dickie Joe Shannon had doubles for the winners. Thomas Meade had a triple in the losing effort for the Martin team.

Delmar Hall was the winning pitcher while Ricky Hall took the loss. Martin drops into the loser's bracket and Thompson's advances in the winners.

In an earlier afternoon game, Thompson's defeated Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home, 10-4.

Martin Liquors advanced to the tourney finals, defeating Thompson's Supermarket twice to earn the championship title (see story, page 1).

Local Runner Has Bizarre Weekend At Maggie Valley Run

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Local runner and former Boston Marathon participant Rick Roberts has had some strange weekends, but nothing like what he experienced this past weekend at Maggie Valley, N.C.

Roberts was in Maggie Valley to take part in the Maggie Valley 12th Annual Five Mile Run.

Roberts' bizarre weekend began on his trip to Maggie Valley, when he encountered construction work two miles from the event. Time was against him. What did Roberts do? He parked his car and ran the two miles.

"I had to get there at a certain time in order to get my number," the running enthusiast said. "The only way was to run the two miles."

The Maggie Valley event was an international run with 2,500 runners entered, including some former Olympic runners such as Bill Rogers and Frank Shorter.

Roberts finished with a time of 28:30, which would have been good for 148th place. Would have been.

Roberts was disqualified for finishing in the wrong chute.

"My goal was to finish in the top 150. At the three mile mark I was in 163rd position. I passed several runners and moved up to the 149th spot, and with about a half a mile to go I dropped back to 155th. I started to sprint and moved to 148th about 50 yards from the finish line. Then a runner next to me elbowed me and knocked me into the master's chute (lanes for 40-55 age groups to finish in). I thought I was going to finish 148th so I just went ahead through the left lanes. About that time a judge grabbed me and disqualified me."

Roberts pleaded his case, but to no avail. "It was the best I have ever finished in this run," he said. "Last year I finished 204th."

Roberts plans to enter the 16th Charleston Distance Run this weekend at Charleston, W.Va.

"This will be a 15 mile run. Part of it will be flat and some of it will be up a mountain comparable to Abbott Mountain," says Roberts. "My goal is to make the top 100 out of 2,000 runners. Last year I finished 180th."

The run will be carried live on television by WCHS, Channel 8, at 8 a.m., according to Roberts. The Red, White & Blue 5k run is on Roberts' schedule, as well as the Honey Festival run in Jackson on September 1-4.

MDM Defeats Vance Furniture

by Ed Taylor

Michael D. Mining scored six times in the third inning to overcome a 9-5 deficit and never looked back in defeating Vance Furniture, 18-10, in the Minnie Softball League double elimination tournament played Saturday at the Minnie field.

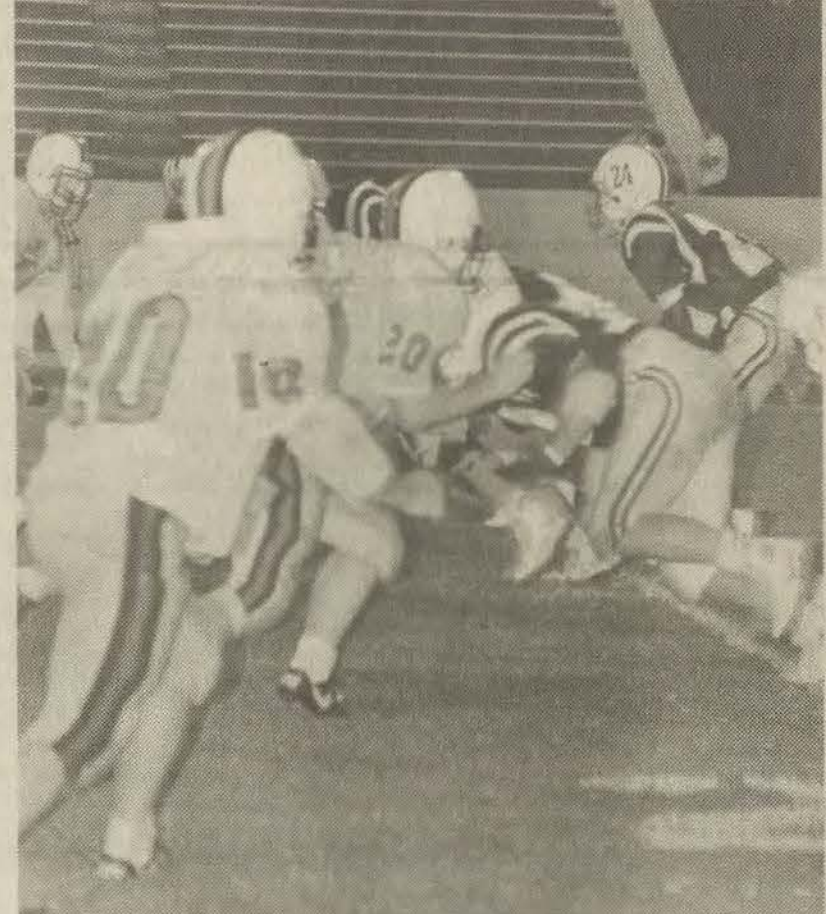

Terry Hall led the MDM hit parade with four hits, and he totaled five RBIs in the game. Steve Helton, Burnett Little, Jimmy Helton and Mark Helton each had three hits a piece for the winners. Billy Hamilton had two hits in the game for MDM.

D.C. Clark, with three hits in the game and three RBIs, had two doubles. Mark Helton also doubled in the winning cause. Willie "Bear" Johnson had a big triple with the bases loaded to pick up three RBIs.

Jeff Vance, Brad Hall and Brian Vance each doubled for Vance's Furniture. Levi Hamilton Jr. picked up four RBIs for the losing team. Brian Vance drove in two.

New Fishing Regulations Take Effect Jan. 1

No more than three brown trout at least 15 inches long may be taken daily from the tailwaters of Herrington Lake, under special regulations adopted by the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission at its August meeting.

The Division of Fisheries plans to stock rainbow trout in Herrington's tailwaters next spring. There will be no size limit on rainbow trout, and the creel limit will be eight trout, no more than three of which may be browns.

Only artificial lures and flies may be used to fish for either of these trout species in Herrington's tailwater area, a two mile portion below Dix Dam as designated by signs.

In other commission action, owners must permanently attach their name and address to sport trotlines, jug fishing devices, limb lines and bank poles.

All fish must be removed daily, and all gear taken from the water when fishing has ended.

Chris Altman: Angler, Writer & Outdoorsman

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Many people have asked, "Who is Chris Altman?"

Fishermen read his column weekly in the Floyd County Times. They have read his articles in popular outdoor magazines and other periodicals.

They have commented on his expertise, on his knowledge of bass fishing. Yet, local fishermen don't really know Chris Altman.

Altman is a free lance writer for outdoor magazines and newspapers whose columns deal primarily with bass fishing. He is a regular writer for

BASS Magazine.

Altman has been writing professionally for a couple of years and recalls how he used to write for the two Pikeville papers three years ago. He has received an award from the Kentucky Press Association for his newspaper columns. He recently was awarded a plaque from the governor of Tennessee for his coverage of fishing in that state. Altman has also been recognized for his photography abilities by the Southern Eastern Outdoor Press Association.

He has written for such well-known outdoors magazines as Field and Stream, Sports Afield, Southern Outdoors, BASS Masters and BASS Times.

"Most of my writing is for BASS Masters magazine and Southern Outdoors," Altman related. "I also write articles for about five newspapers which takes a lot of my time."

Altman lives in Pikeville with his wife Susie, who has her own dental practice, and his 2-year-old son, Ryan. Altman started college at Transylvania in Lexington and soon transferred to Eastern Kentucky University, where he graduated.

"Just before I completed college I sat down and wrote a story, just out of the blue. I wanted to write an article. I sent the article to Sports Afield and they bought it. I then began to think about writing as a career," the outdoorsman said. Altman received $500 for his first story from Sports Afield.

"I then moved to Knoxville, for two reasons. One because the fishing was good there and two, because I wanted to go to their graduate program — which I never did."

Why does he continue to write for newspapers? "I guess I remember where I got my start."

Altman had set a goal for himself as he entered his new field of outdoors writing and photography. "I wanted to do at least 30 magazine articles," said the writer who loves bass fishing. "That didn't take long to realize."

Altman has written more than 300 newspaper articles and 100 magazine stories, well surpassing his original goals.

What goals has this young writer set for himself in the future?

"One of my short-term goals is to become a senior writer for BASS Masters Magazine," says Altman. "If I reach that status they would hand me assignments. Also, there's some prestige in it. It means that I would be one of the best — to have your title in the mast head."

"I also want to quit doing so much work for so many different markets. I started small, and I just want to write for larger magazines, a select few."

"Someday I would like to write a book," he adds. "Not about the outdoors — those kind of books don't sell. I'd like to write some fiction some day."

Altman, who as a high school student took pictures for newspapers in Pikeville, really enjoys his work, although it is time consuming.

"I will begin writing when I get up early in the morning and will usually be writing when my wife gets home. Even after everyone's gone to bed, I will write some more. This is an every day thing, and it gets old after a while."

After an extensive period of writing, Altman usually takes a break, going out on the road for a week.

"I will meet some of the top fishermen in the country, and we have a good time," Altman explains.

Altman covers all the fishing tournaments in the country and it has allowed him to rub shoulders with some of the elite personalities in the fishing world — and elsewhere.

"My job has allowed me to meet people like President Bush, Lee Greenwood and Merle Haggard and others," the fishing enthusiast-turned-writer said. "I wouldn't trade my free lance position for any desk job. I enjoy being able to work how and when I want to. It's much better."

Altman says that he has had offers of editor's jobs with different magazines.

"Outdoor journalism is very competitive," he says. "There are a lot of writers out there and better markets. I've sold very few to Field and Stream. Most magazines have staff writers and use very few free lance articles."

Altman submits story ideas to magazines and they, in turn, tell him what stories they are interested in and he writes those stories. In August, Altman wrote 10 magazine articles and five newspaper columns. He says that he scheduled six magazine stories in September and 11 in October.

"I just completed a story for BASS Master's that is due Sept. 1, but will not be printed until January. I have some stories that will not be used until December next year."

Altman says that he doesn't have time to fish as much as he used to. His favorite fish is the smallmouth bass, "although I fish for crappie and catfish also."

Although Eastern Kentucky is his home, Altman confesses he doesn't know much about the local lakes because he doesn't fish them often.

"I fished Fishtrap once this year and I believe I've been on Dewey one time," says Altman. "I feel that in my line of work that my time is best spent fishing in Tennessee and Georgia where larger fish can be caught."

"I have received a lot of help from the pro anglers around the country. I work with them all the time. I used to watch their television shows and now I get to work with them."

What advice would Altman give someone who wants to become an outdoors author?

"You have to know your subject very well. It is hard to write about something you can't understand," he said.

"If there were some college students or high school students that wanted to get into writing, there's a lot I could tell them."

Altman refuses to use his articles to endorse a company's products. "That would be unethical," he said. "I choose to remain impartial to bait companies. I never would accept advertisements."

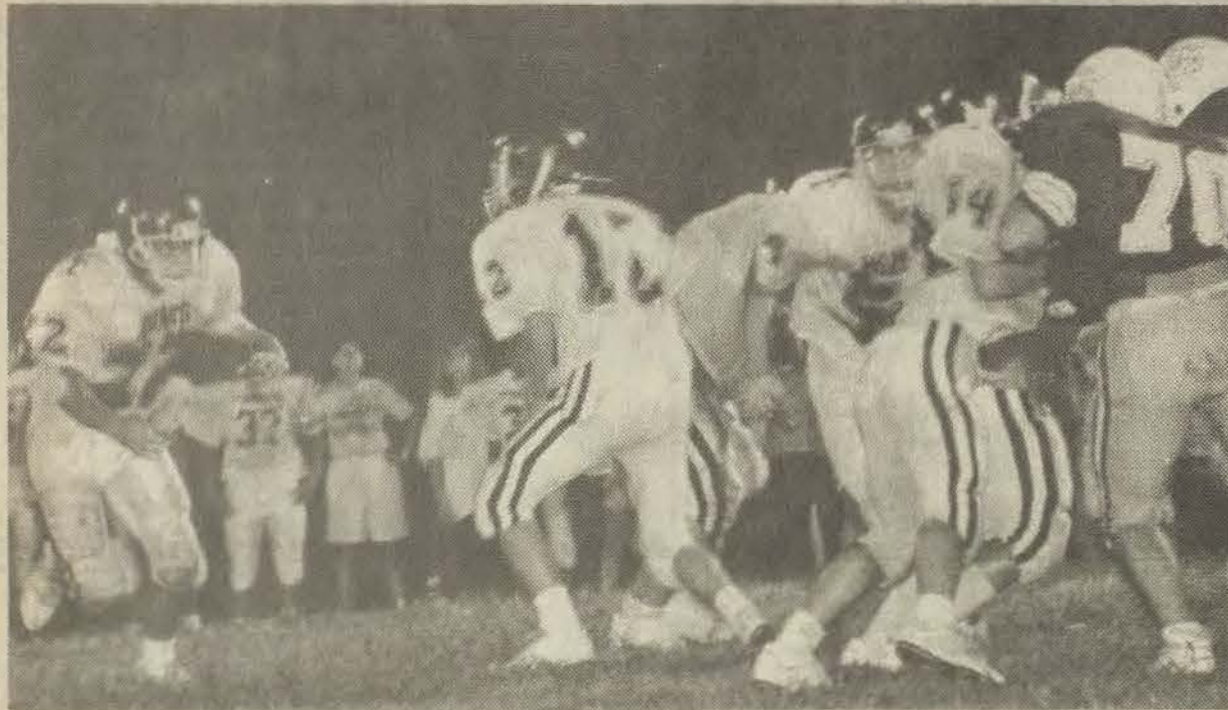

Altman himself has won five club tournaments in the Knoxville area. He was named "Angler of the Year" one year.

Who is Chris Altman? A fellow who loves to fish and write about fishing in the great outdoors.

Long Throw

This is the time of year for plenty of softball tournaments, and action was heavy at Minnie Park as Martin Liquors and Thompson's Supermarket battled it out for the tournament championship Sunday afternoon. Martin won the title with a 16-11 victory over Thompson's.

Level Swing

Darren Conn of the Martin Liquors softball team shows a level cut hitting this ball for a long drive to right that was caught just short of the fence. Conn's team lost in the opening round of tournament play at Minnie Park Saturday to Thompson's Supermarket, 5-4.

Title For Senior Citizens Center Turned Over To County

by Tess A. Whitmer
Staff Writer

The title for the Betsy Layne Senior Citizen's Center was turned over to the Floyd County Fiscal Court by the Big Sandy ADD on Friday, as planned throughout the development of the center by the two local agencies.

Six months old, the center is a gathering place for over 160 seniors from the Betsy Layne area.

Upon receiving the title Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo noted, "Now we can help, and make improvements on the outside of the building; the inside obviously doesn't need any."

In July 1988, the Area Agency on Aging received contract state and federal funds from the Cabinet for Human Resources to develop programs throughout the area. State funds were earmarked to establish new programs in the Betsy Layne and Wayland area, according to Bob Meyer, programs director for Big Sandy ADD.

The funds purchased the building and provided money for remodeling and extensive renovation, Meyer explained. Now, the fiscal court will be responsible for maintenance costs and will own the facility. The operating costs will still come from a special fund subsidized by the county at a rate of $4,000 per year per center, according to Stumbo.

"Three or four years ago, when we started all this, the money was very slim. Now it's here and we're restarting to see the results," he noted.

Meyer noted that Betsy Layne seniors began the program by requesting the center and involving state Sen. Benny Ray Bailey. "Senator Bailey was the primary person to secure state funds from the Cabinet of Human Resources," he added.

"These seniors are a very proactive group — they've done a lot with very little funds," Meyer explained. "The building is here because they have worked darn hard to make it happen."

Ted Stumbo, vice president of the center, explained that the group began with about three or four dozen seniors raising funds and providing labor on to improve the building to create their own center, located beside the old Betsy Layne High School and was formerly an Future Farmers of America shop.

"We cleaned out the old center, painted, put carpet down, plumbed it, made doors and operated there for about a year before getting this new center," he said. "As long as we keep together and all have the same goals we can keep improving and growing."

Other seniors are excited. "I knew we'd have more room, but I never expected this much more," said Virginia DeBord. "I went to the Martin Center for seven or eight years until we came here."

"There is no comparison (to the old center)," agreed Jessie Tomlinson. "I never thought we could have anything like this."

Ted Stumbo added that the next project the members would like to tackle is developing a senior citizens housing project. They have already put in a request for the money to purchase the land next door to the center, which is located in the Floyd-Pike Hollow down from the fire station.

"With all your support and hard work, which you're obviously not afraid of, we may see the realization of such a project," Meyer explained to the group. "Federal funding is not a simple project, but if we keep working at it we may see it happen. I'm very optimistic about it, but there are no guarantees," he noted.

According to Darlene Walker, director of the center, about 20 seniors visit on a daily basis and another 25 receive meals in their homes. Their daily activities include health education, lectures, music, arts and crafts and a GED program (starting this week). They work closely with the Mud Creek Clinic, Christian Appalachian Program and the David School, but their main concentration lies in the outreach program, helping others in the area who need their support, Walker said.

Order, Please

Members of the Prestonsburg Senior Citizen's Center dressed up in garb from the 1950s and sold refreshments at 1950s prices to visitors of the Carter-Hughes Toyota dealership on US 23. This was a fund raising event for the center with Carter-Hughes donating all supplies and food. "We have fundraisers once a month," said Patsy Evans, director for the center. "This is our first time at this location, but judging by the line, we hope to be back."

It's All Yours

County Kettle

County Kettle

Is a feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653

The past few weeks County Kettle has featured healthy foods and quick and easy recipes — time for a change. This week's recipes are for the chocolate lovers. Remember, "Chocolate is not a sin!"

Fall means baking — for bake sales, football tailgate parties and after-school treats. But fall also means going back to school, car pools and hectic schedules. New "high-tech" recipes can come to the rescue with delicious homemade chocolate treats that are "baked" in the microwave. When a fall occasion calls for a special dessert, try the fudgy, rich chocolate sensation of a "Chocolate-Orange Pudding Cake" or "Fudgy Microwave Brownies."

CHOCOLATE-ORANGE PUDDING CAKE

1 cup all-purpose flour
3/4 cup granulated sugar
3 Tbsps. plus 1/4 cup Hershey's Unsweetened Cocoa, divided
2 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup milk
2 Tbsps. vegetable oil
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1/2 cup chopped nuts, divided
3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
1 1/4 cups boiling water
1/4 to 1/2 tsp grated orange peel
Vanilla ice cream

In large bowl, stir together flour, sugar, 3 Tbsps. cocoa, baking powder and salt. Stir in milk, oil, vanilla and 1/4 cup nuts. Spread batter in 2 to 2 1/2 quart microwave-safe casserole.

In a small bowl, combine brown sugar, 1/4 cup cocoa, remaining 1/4 cup nuts, water and orange peel. Pour liquid mixture over batter in casserole; do not mix.

Microwave on high seven to nine minutes, rotating 1/4 turn halfway through cooking time, or until cake rises to surface and sauce forms on the bottom. Let stand 10 minutes.

Spoon into dessert dishes, spooning sauce from the bottom of casserole over each serving.

Top with a scoop of ice cream. Makes six to nine servings.

FUDGY MICROWAVE BROWNIES

1/2 cup vegetable oil
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 tps. vanilla extract
2 eggs
2 Tbsps. light corn syrup
1 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 cup Hershey's Unsweetened Cocoa
1/4 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
Confectioners' sugar (optional)

Grease 8-inch square microwave-safe baking pan. In large bowl, stir together oil, sugar, vanilla, eggs and corn syrup. Combine flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; add to egg mixture. Pour batter into prepared pan.

Microwave at medium-high (70%) for three minutes. Rotate 1/2 turn; microwave additional three minutes.

Check for doneness. Brownie will start to pull away from sides of pan and surface will have no wet spots. If brownie is not done, rotate 1/4 turn; continue to microwave, checking every 30 seconds for doneness. (total cook time should not exceed nine minutes.) Place on heat-proof surface; allow to stand 20 minutes.

Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over top, if desired. Cut into squares. Makes 16 brownies.

For those who can indulge in a rich chocolate dessert, try the delicious "Cocoa Cheesecake." If a lighter dessert is desired, try the "Reduced Calorie Cocoa Cheesecake." Both desserts are wonderful, but the first is rich and the second is light — with almost half the calories, and it scores low in fat and cholesterol.

COCOA CHEESECAKE

Graham Cracker Crust (recipe follows)
2 packages (8 ozs. each) cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup plus 2 Tbsps. sugar, divided
1/2 cup Hershey's Unsweetened Cocoa

This banana cream pie is a step above average. The chocolate feature adds a twist and makes it much more attractive to the chocolate lover — bananas and chocolate are a wonderful combination.

BLACK-BOTTOM BANANA CREAM PIE

Bottom Filling
12 91 oz.) squares unsweetened chocolate
6 Tbsps. milk
1 egg yolk
2 Tbsps. sugar
1 1/2 tps. cornstarch
1/8 tsp. salt
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Banana Filling
1 cup sugar
6 Tbsps. flour
1/4 tsp. salt
2 1/2 cups milk
1 egg plus 1 egg yolk
1 Tbsp. butter
1/2 tsp. vanilla
3 ripe bananas
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Prepare the bottom filling. Melt the chocolate in a small saucepan; set aside.

Scald the milk in a saucepan. In a mixing bowl, beat together the egg yolk, sugar, cornstarch and salt.

Gradually beat in the scalded milk. Pour the mixture into the sauce pan in which the milk was scalded and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until the custard is smooth and thick — don't boil it.

Stir in the melted chocolate and spread over the baked pie shell.

Prepare the banana filling. Combine the sugar, flour and salt in the top of a double-boiler over boiling water.

Gradually stir in the milk and cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture is thickened. Cover and cook 10 minutes more, stirring occasionally.

Beat the egg and egg yolk and beat in a small amount of the hot milk mixture. Lower the heat under the double boiler so that the water stops boiling.

Pour the diluted egg into the hot milk mixture, stirring it in rapidly. Allow the mixture to cook over the hot water for two minutes, stirring constantly.

Remove the mixture from the heat and stir in the butter and vanilla. Cool.

Slice one banana and arrange on the chocolate layer.

Immediately slice a second banana into the warm custard mixture and pour into the shell. (If you wait a long time before you cover them, the first banana slices will darken.) Chill.

Just before serving, whip the cream and pipe or spoon it over the top of the pie.

Slice the last banana and arrange the slices around the edge of the pie, inserting them into the whipped cream at a slight angle. Serve immediately. Serves six to eight.

The Beauty Of Spurlock Creek

It's hard to believe that somewhere so beautiful sits just a half a mile off the highway, but that's one of the wondrous things about Eastern Kentucky — the views are there for the looking if one only takes the time. This panoramic scene was taken on Spurlock Fork of Middle Creek.

Women's Health Is Concern of OLTW

by Pam Shingler, Assistant Editor

Mountain women have historically had an unenviable role when it comes to health.

Most every family has stories of ancestors who died giving birth or shortly after because no doctor or hospital was near. The incidence of cervical cancer for Eastern Kentucky women is higher than in most of the rest of the country. Pregnancy among young teens appears to be on the upswing, and whenever it occurs, both baby and mother are at high risk for health problems.

Those are among reasons Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin has targeted the area's female population for special attention and outreach health programs. For starters, the hospital has begun childbirth classes and is planning a Woman Care and Children's Fun Fair for late September and a childbirth preparation series for teen mothers-to-be in October.

The new emphasis on women's health is the responsibility of Joan Shalpin, who recently joined the hospital staff in the newly created position of community health education coordinator, and Naewana Nickles, OLTW's patient educator and development director.

Funding of the programs is coming primarily from grants from such organizations as the March of Dimes, Catholic Diocese of Lexington, Sisters of Charity and Sisters of Mercy.

Shalpin said she has spent many hours "on the road," traveling throughout Floyd County and to Knott, Pike, Johnson and other surrounding counties served by the hospital. The purpose of her travels is "to find out what resources are out there, what programs are in place and what the needs are."

She said she has talked with physicians, health department staff, personnel in clinics and to women patients in medical offices. Her findings led to the development of the health fair for women, set for Sept. 30.

The fair, which will take place at the hospital, Seton Complex and local physician office buildings, will focus on three areas: women specific topics, children/parents and general health.

Under the category of "Woman," short presentations are planned on childbirth preparation, prenatal care, breast cancer and mammography, menopause, cervical cancer, teen pregnancy, sexual abuse, physical abuse, osteoporosis, and emotional well being.

Topics relating to children include child development, postnatal care, nutrition, childhood diseases and immunizations, parenting, talking to kids about alcohol, and alcohol and the family. In the general health category are presentations on weight management, drugs, smoking, diabetes, dental care, respiratory care, skin cancer, and first aid.

The health fair will also feature several types of screenings, including cholesterol, blood pressure, pap smears, blood sugar, vision, hearing and respiratory. Health organizations, ranging from the American Heart Association to Alcoholics Anonymous, will have displays at the fair.

The Drift Pentecostal Singers will perform, and activities for children will be available. Shalpin is soliciting prizes from area merchants, so that "every expectant woman and every child will receive a gift."

The special program for pregnant teens is set to begin in late October. According to Shalpin, the program will include regular childbirth preparation classes, but will also involve other instruction relative to teenagers. Slated are sessions on nutrition of mother and unborn baby, parenting and child development, coping skills, smoking cessation and how to stay in school. Two local physicians have agreed to help, so that the teens can see a doctor when they come for classes.

The hospital also plans to begin support groups for the teen mothers, perhaps with a cooperative for babysitting.

In the works are other ways of assisting women, Shalpin said. The OLTW education building, a former dwelling just across the street from the hospital, will house a library of audio-visual materials on women's health concerns. Area women may come in to view or listen to the materials, she said. Also on the planning sheet are exercise classes for pregnant women and for those who have recently given birth.

Shalpin expects that many of the programs for women will have what she terms "a healing aspect." That is, they will address some of the emotional needs of women who have been sexually or physically abused, who have had abortions or whose babies have died of Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SID).

"We are trying to take the reality of the area and just do what we can," said Shalpin, alluding to the health needs of women in the area. "We hope that what they get out of the programs is more than just materials."

More attention to their health, help with parenting skills and improved self-esteem are among the "extras" Shalpin hopes that women who participate in the programs will gain.

SCREENING THE SUNSCREEN

If the medicine cabinet is filled with bottles and tubes of last year's sunscreens, there is reason to doubt their effectiveness. The Food and Drug Administration does not require expiration dates on products that it expects to remain stable for three years. Without any dating information, this means that the only indicator of a sunscreen's age may be the purchaser's memory. While most sunscreen formulations do retain their stated strength, others can have their Sun Protection Factor (SPF) downgraded by age. The oil may separate from the solids in some formulations, and heat accelerates the deterioration process. Because most sunscreens bake on beach sand or in the glove compartment of the family car, it might make good sense to start a vacation fresh with new sunscreen.

At COOLEY APOTHECARY, you are not just another number...we have built our reputation and our pharmacy on serving the individual needs of our customers. Everyone of you is important to us, so it is our sincere desire to serve your needs with the utmost professionalism and understanding. Learn first hand about our reliable service and hometown friendliness. Complete patient profiles are maintained so we can further safeguard your health. HINT: Because lips contain no protective pigmentation, they are highly susceptible to sun damage without sunscreen.

RETIRED TEACHERS MEET RECENTLY

Members of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association met June 8 at 10 a.m. at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, with Ruby Akers, president, presiding.

The devotions were given by the Rev. Wayne Burch, pastor of the Little Paint First Church of God. The Rev. Burch presented the singers from the church who, accompanied by L. B. Fairchild and his band, rendered several musical selections.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag was led by Opal S. May.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Imogene Caldwell, and approved, as was the treasurer's report, read by Nadine Hicks.

Reports were given by committee chairpersons. Elmer Martin discussed insurance; Virginia S. Danese Amburgey, due to the absence of Delphia Hicks, talked with the group about sending flowers for deceased members.

The president asked the group to join her in silent prayer for the late Grace Conley, a charter member, and Mike Little, husband of the late Billie Little, who had passed away since the last meeting.

Programs, to be sent to members Beatrice Collins, Anne Tackett, Lexie Allen, May K. Roberts, Frankie Best and Carlos Haywood, who were unable to attend the meeting, were signed by those in attendance.

Virginia Goble discussed the possibility of publishing a booklet of brief stories of happenings in rural schools, as experienced by members of FCRT. She added that these stories should be submitted by the next meeting, which will be Tuesday, Sept. 5.

Virginia Goble introduced Dr. Mary Fox, from the Pike County Health Department, who spoke on "Stress — An Ever-Growing Problem."

Dr. Fox donated a picture for the door prize, awarded during the luncheon, which followed at the lodge.

NEWSLETTER DEDICATED TO ALC'S BUCHANAN

This summer's Newsletter, published by Alice Lloyd College at Pippa Passes, is dedicated to June Buchanan, who in 1919 first came to the institution and later joined Alice Lloyd in her dedicated efforts to found Caney Creek Community Center and Caney Junior College. The latter has since been renamed Alice Lloyd College.

The Newsletter, published on the anniversary of "Miss" June's death May 31, 1988 (a few weeks prior to her 101st birthday), has in its centerfold a letter written by her, "to be read to the people of Eastern Kentucky" following her death. The letter was read during funeral services for her in Cushion Hall at "Caney," after which she was laid to rest next to Alice Lloyd on the knoll in back of "Hunger Din."

The Newsletter's tribute ends with these words:

"Flowers now bedeck the head table at which June presided at Hunger Din. Her wicker bottomed chair rests empty behind the tables. A glance at this simple memorial gives us pause to recollect our own experiences with June, and to share with her 'The Song of Pippa':"

*The year's at the spring,
The spring's at the morn,
Morning's at seven,
The hillside's dew is pearled,
The lark's on the wing,
The snail's on the thorn,
God's in His Heaven,

The tribute was written by James Bergman, vice president for student life at Alice Lloyd College.

Debussy, "Cannon in D" by J. Pachelbel and "Sanctus" by C. Gounod. Vocalist Elma Jessen of Prestonsburg, presented the selections "Household of Faith," "Cherish The Treasure" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her mother and father, wore a white satin sheath style gown. The gown was trimmed in re-embroidered Alencon lace and accented with a sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves. The beautifully fitted bodice was covered with matching Alencon lace that was ornamented with beads to parallel the medallions found on the sleeves, skirt and train. The back of the dress was an original key-hole design, which was accented with beaded Alencon lace and satin covered buttons. The floor length skirt was coupled with a heavily beaded medallion at the front and a butterfly peplum at the back. The skirt was edged with a three inch Alencon lace border. The dress was finished by a chapel length, detachable train.

The train was edged in Alencon lace and adorned in matching medallions. She wore a headpiece of lace and peals attached to a double tier of veiling. The elbow length veil was delicately embroidered with flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, gardenias and pearls.

The mother of the bride wore a peach silk and lace tea length dress with matching shoes. The mother of the groom wore and ecru two piece lace tea length dress with matching shoes.

The matron-of-honor was Jennifer Garner, a friend of the bride from Madison, Ind. The maid-of-honor was Deborah Ranier of Prestonsburg. Bridesmaids were Karen Phillips of Allen, Pamela Ison of Lexington, Melissa Carter of Prestonsburg. They wore ballerina length gowns of apricot satin and carried cascading bouquets of peach roses, blue miniature carnations and yellow baby's breath, accented with yellow streamers. Combs with peach, blue and yellow baby's breath adorned their hair.

The flower girl was Brittany Tai Stone, cousin of the bride of Allen. She wore a peach ballerina length dress with a white organza overlay and a sash of apricot satin.

The best man was Roberta Anderson of Prestonsburg, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were John DeRossett, Randall Hager, Clyde Johnson, Brent Music, Todd Nairn and B.J. Sturgill, all of Prestonsburg. The ring bearer was Brandt Brooks of Betsy Layne, cousin of the bride.

The four-tiered cake was decorated with peach roses and pearl hearts. The bride and groom on the cake were used on the wedding cake of the bride's parents. The tables were covered with white linens and peach streamers and baskets of peach gerbera daisies. Piano music was provided by David Banner Leslie.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at Jenny Wiley Lodge.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and is employed by the Fayette County Board of Education. Soothing The Savage Beast; Music Classes For All At PCC

Persons interested in music have a variety of options for instruction this fall through Prestonsburg Community College's non-credit, community service classes.

Stringed instruments will be the focus of Saturday classes, beginning Sept. 9. Professor Leo Blair of Morehead State University's music faculty instructs the individual lessons in violin, viola, cello or string bass.

Instruction will be for beginners or advanced performers. A string ensemble has been developed for more advanced students and will eventually form the foundation of an orchestra for the Big Sandy area, according to Carolyn Formsma of the college's continuing education staff.

Music Fundamentals for the Amateur Musician is the title of a class, set to begin Monday, Sept. 11 at 6 p.m., for school and church choir members and those who would like to be in a choir. Instruction will center on musical notation, emphasizing pitches and rhythms. The class may be arranged for individual church or school choirs, according to instructor James Ratcliff, PCC coordinator of continuing education and community services and choir director at First Presbyterian Church. The class will meet in room 155 of the Johnson building on campus.

Rehearsals for Community Chorus, directed by music instructor Mike Conley, also begin Sept. 11 at 7 p.m. in room 155 of the Johnson building. Music will include the choruses from Handel's "Messiah" and Robert Shaw's "The Many Moods of Christmas." Weekly rehearsals will culminate in a public concert in December.

The class is free to the public.

Openings are also available for individual classes in beginning and experienced piano and in voice. Lessons run for half an hour one day a week.

For more information on the music programs, call PCC's Office of Continuing Education and Community Services, 886-3863, ext. 278.

National Register of Historic Places:

Harkins Building Stands For Beauty, History

(Second In A Series)
 What is probably Prestonsburg's most distinguished, classic-looking structure, the Harkins Law Office building, is among local sites recently added to the National Register of Historic Places.

Often mistaken for a turn-of-the-century bank or stately library, the Harkins building was constructed in 1914 by Walter S. Harkins, an attorney, banker and coal baron. It is located at 1 South Arnold Ave., at the corner of West Court Street.

The report of the National Register describes the building as "a primary landmark of Prestonsburg... a marked contrast to the downtown buildings that surround it, most of which are functional in design, employ less expensive materials and date from the 1920s or 1930s." The building was made of locally quarried yellow sandstone in what is termed Neo Classical style of architecture. Two pairs of tapered Ionic columns add to the imposing nature of the building.

According to the report, Harkins, the builder, was one of the wealthiest men in the city when the building was constructed. With most of his money coming from buying mineral rights for coal mining, he founded the Bank Josephine, which is named for his wife Josephine Davidson.

"The elder Harkins was an associate of John C.C. Mayo of Paintsville... founder of a coal empire in the late 19th century, and the two men were among the first to recognize the value of the area's coal resources," the reportsays. "It was Harkins' practice to purchase mineral rights from property owners for $100 and then exploit the deposits himself.

"For this he was criticized by some of his contemporaries, but he defended the practice by saying the sum seemed like a great deal of money to the people from whom he bought the rights."

The report further states that the structure has been thought to be the design of Edwin Stamler, a well-known architect who made a name for himself in central Kentucky with his Colonial Revival architectural work in the early part of the century.

The researchers who examined the site, however, believe the building was actually designed by S.F. Desjardins of Cincinnati, Stamler's teacher.

Originally next door to the building was the Harkins family mansion, said to be one of the city's grandest residences. The house was demolished in the 1960s by the Harkins heirs and the lot subdivided. The office building was also sold out of the family at that time and now houses professional offices.

MSU Adds Methodist Hospital To Radiologic Technology Program

Morehead State University has received approval to add Pikeville Methodist Hospital to the clinical education sites for its Radiologic Technology Program, bringing the total number of clinical centers to 11.

Recognition of the Methodist Hospital as a teaching affiliate will enable the university to accept 16 additional students into the program.

"Until now, we were limited to 96 students, equally divided between the first and second year classes," explained Rae P. Smith, program coordinator.

"With a shortage of qualified radiologic technologists not only in our region but nationwide as well, approval of a new clinical center and resulting enrollment increase is very welcome news," Smith added.

Students in the 24-month program spend half their time in the classroom and the remainder gaining "hands on" experience at three different hospital affiliates.

Other clinical education centers affiliated with MSU's associate degree program include: Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital; Pattie A. Clay Hospital, Richmond; Ephraim McDowell Medical Center, Danville; Highlands Regional Medical Center, Prestonsburg; Humana Hospital, Lake Cumberland, Somerset; Mary Chiles Hospital, Mt. Sterling; Humana Hospital, Louisa; Meadowview Regional Hospital, Maysville; Morgan County Appalachian Regional Hospital, West Liberty and St. Claire Medical Center, Morehead.

According to Smith, 38.5 percent of all practicing radiologic technologists in Eastern Kentucky are graduates of MSU's program, which began in 1973.

Floyd Craftspersons Urged To Become Registered By State

Floyd County craftspeople not already registered in the Kentucky Department of the Arts Resource Directory are encouraged to enroll now in order to apply for various 1989-90 crafts activities.

This includes eligibility for business development and loan program and other segments of the state's plan to strengthen and expand the crafts industry, according to Susan Zimmerman, spokeswoman for the state Department of the Arts.

Applicants may submit slides or samples to the jury, and both traditional and contemporary craftspeople are urged to apply. Deadlines for submission are Oct. 2-6 for slides, and Oct. 10-11 for samples. Applicants will be required to submit quality slides and samples of their work, Zimmerman noted. Another jurying session will be held in May 1990.

Craftspeople must have work juried and accepted for the Craft Marketing Program of the Department of the Arts, in order to participate in the Business Development and Loan Program. In addition, she said, events such as the department's annual wholesale market, department-coordinated booths at national gift shows, the Derby Breakfast craft fair, and displays in the state park system and at state welcome centers are open to them.

Craftspeople whose products do not pass jury review may continue to be part of the department's Resource Directory, attend workshops and receive other technical assistance from the department.

To register with the department and receive a jury application, contact Craft Marketing Program, Kentucky Department of the Arts, Berry Hill Mansion, Frankfort, KY 40601, or call (502) 564-8076.

Learning CPR

More than 40 staff aides in the Floyd County School System learned cardiopulmonary resuscitation recently as part of the district's in-service program, according to Jennifer Martin, school nurse. The second day of the in-service session, 48 coaches, health and physical education teachers and others also became certified. Highlands Regional Medical Center assisted the district with the certifications. Above, Sharon Sammons, left, watches as a participant demonstrates CPR on a dummy; two other staff also look on.

Magic Gloves

At the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens' monthly birthday party, Peggy Howell and Randy Trimble, of The Hair Loft, and Alke Burchette, a senior at the center, demonstrated the new Theracure System. The system uses paraffin wax laced with Vitamin E to lock in moisture and soften the skin. This process is used for medical and beauty purposes and is used by physical therapists to relieve the pain of arthritis and stiff, sore joints. A free trial of one hand is offered at The Hair Loft or Hair Loft II in Prestonsburg.

Community Classes Scheduled At PCC

Areas of interest include business and industry, self-improvement and enrichment, arts and leisure, health, dance, gymnastics and children's programs. HRMC Cuts Costs On Medical Waste Disposal

When new Environmental Protection Agency guidelines for medical waste disposal loomed early this year, Highlands, like other healthcare facilities, faced gigantic cost increases.

According to Kathy Rubado, hospital representative, the average cost of disposal threatened to jump to nearly $2 a pound and, with an average of 3 pounds per patient per day, total waste costs would go up tens of thousands of dollars.

"Highlands' old incinerator, like that of other hospitals, would no longer fit legal requirements and would have to be replaced at considerable expense, nearly $100,000," Rubado said. "Landfill dumping had never been a good option for Highlands, but new regulations would make it illegal altogether. And, no independent disposal service existed in Eastern Kentucky to help solve the medical waste disposal problem."

Consolidated Health Systems and Hospital Administration wrestled with the issue and, after careful study, spotted an opportunity to pull Highlands out of a bind while providing a much-needed service to other Big Sandy healthcare operations facing the same problem, according to Rubado.

"Consolidated established Medisin, Inc. as a management collection disposal service, and it fit the bill perfectly," she explained. "Medisin could establish its primary incinerator site adjacent to Highlands to eliminate transportation charges to Highlands — charges of up to 60 cents per pound."

Further, Highlands could be given a favorable contract rate based on its volume, and Medisin would be free to sell its services to other customers. "The result is that Highlands is now keeping its cost for biomedical disposal to less than 50 cents a pound while being in complete conformity with strict new regulations," Rubado reported. "The savings are helping keep healthcare costs down and enable the hospital to go ahead with important future plans for expanded healthcare services such as the new Acuson computed sonography (ultrasound) system and development of a new cancer treatment program."

Medisin, meanwhile, is a budding enterprise which promises to bring new jobs into the community. According to reports, its new, state-of-the-art incinerator conforms to the strictest federal EPA standards for emissions and ash, burning at temperatures over 2100 degrees. "The best news for the environment is that Medisin's new programs are aimed at discouraging illegal dumping of medical wastes to help us keep Eastern Kentucky clean," Rubado added.

Elected President

Officials of Kentucky Bank Marketing Association announce that S.F. (Butch) Bradley, marketing director at First Commonwealth Bank, has been elected as president of the organization. Bradley has served as a director, newsletter editor and first vice president of the organization in the past. The Kentucky Bank Marketing Association is a professional organization that provides education and fellowship to marketers in the financial services industry.

Name Change Reflects Expanded Bank Mission

A Sign Of The Times

United Federal Savings Bank is the new name of the former United Federal Savings and Loan Association in Prestonsburg. The financial institution was recently granted a charter as a federal savings bank, a change reflected in its new signs.

United Federal Savings and Loan Association has been granted a charter as a federal savings bank, leading to its name change to United Federal Savings Bank.

"Our name change represents the continuing evolution of our institution," said Robert R. Brown, executive vice president. "The new name reflects changes taking place across the country in the financial industry."

Brown cited growth and diversification in checking services, consumer lending and high speed computer processing as reasons for the status and name change.

"We have been working hard to become a financial hybrid," the administrator said. "We feel we have been structuring an organization that has some of the complexities of a commercial bank, a savings bank and a home mortgage loan operation, as well."

Brown said United Federal has posted a deposit growth of $2 million annually over the past three years, with assets of more than $42 million as of the end of June. He added that the name change will not involve a change in management but "merely redefine our function as a financial institution."

He said the bank will continue its home mortgage and savings services while expanding other traditional banking services, such as interest bearing checking accounts and personal loan options.

Big Sandy Dredging Completed

Annual dredging of the lower portion of the Big Sandy River was completed early last week, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Huntington District.

The month-long operation, which yielded more than 145,000 cubic yards of material, was undertaken by the Madison Coal and Supply Company of Charleston, W. Va., at a cost of more than $466,000.

The Big Sandy basin contains a large portion of one of the most extensive bituminous, low sulphur coal fields in the nation. In addition, a major oil refinery and petrochemical complex are located three miles above its mouth. Total tonnage shipped on the Big Sandy River during 1988 was estimated at 13.7 million, an increase of nearly 500 percent since 1977.

Channel maintenance dredging of the lower Big Sandy, which has been required by federal law since 1971, is necessary to restore the minimum nine-foot project depth of the river for commercial navigation following seasonal high water, said Corps officials.

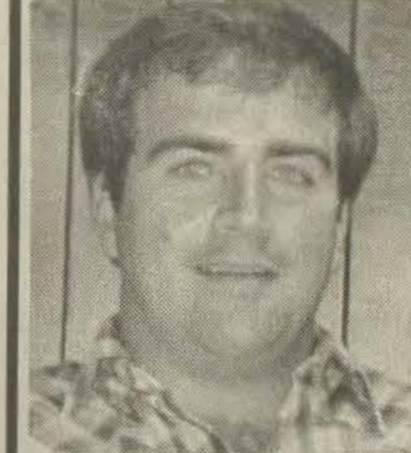

The first federal navigation project on the Big Sandy River was constructed from 1897-1910, and authorized a minimum project channel depth of only six feet. After the Ohio River slackwater navigation project upgraded that river to a nine-foot minimum depth in 1929, the Big Sandy's six-foot depth became inadequate for most towing equipment used on the Ohio, and barge traffic declined.

Creation of the Greenup Dam in 1962, however, caused the slackwater pool of the Big Sandy to be raised three feet, providing the river with the standard nine-foot depth for navigation. By 1965, sediment flowing down the river had built up to the extent that the lower portion required annual maintenance dredging to restore the nine-foot navigation depth.

The dredged material was formerly deposited along the shoreline. Currently, the dredged material is transported by barge to the Ohio River for disposal in deep water outside the limits of the navigable channel.

Cablevision Gives Money To Council

For its efforts in communicating the benefits of cable service to the public, Prestonsburg Cablevision was recently selected the top cable system by its parent company, Rifkin and Associates of Denver, Colo. And general manager Homer Wells wasted little time in giving the money away.

Monday, general manager Homer Wells presented the local company's prize money of $750 to the Floyd County Literacy Council. Nearly all of Wells' promotional thrust in the national campaign during National Cable Month in April was in the area of education, especially literacy and GED instruction.

Among activities Cablevision was involved in locally were sponsoring essay and poster contests among grade schoolers, providing a Ben Franklin imitator for the Reading Is Fundamental program, giving materials to a local school, donating money to the annual county Literacy Luncheon and promoting televised GED programs.

Wells also worked with city officials and educators in focusing public attention on Kentucky first lady Martha Wilkinson's "GED Army."

"I am very familiar with the fine work performed by the Literacy Council," Wells said. "Literacy is a fundamental need if individuals are to prosper in life, and for that reason we are delighted to help with local efforts."

Sounds Of The Future

Rather than being souped up, this 1989 Mustang is sounded up — to the tune of $40,000. One of four demonstration models touring the country, the car is decked out by Pioneer Electronics with 10 power speakers, according to Mike Williams of Mike's B&W Television and Appliance Store, where the car was on display last Friday. The prototype sports state-of-the-art sound equipment, with maximum music power of 2560 watts per channel. Williams said about 200 people stopped by to see the automobile during its local stop.

Receiving And Giving

Prestonsburg Cablevision manager Homer Wells recently presented a check for $750 to Floyd County Literacy Council coordinator Ann Greene. The check represents the local company's winnings from its parent company for having the top promotional campaign nationwide during National Cable Month last spring.

First Group Of Lottery On-Line Retailers Includes Nine Floyd Firms

Nine Floyd County businesses are among more than 560 across the state who have agreed to sell tickets when the Kentucky Lottery Corporation's on-line games begin in mid-October.

"We plan to have 1,000 retailers as the initial members of the on-line network," said Bill Hardy, senior vice president of sales for the lottery. "We have sent the invitation letter to the first group of retailers and included a letter of agreement which they must return with their check for $250 covering telephone hook-up, bonding and the first year's license. To date, 563 retailers have responded."

Floyd County stores expected to participate are Big Y Carry Out and Groceries at Grethel; P&B Liquor at Harold; Stone's Market at Bevinville; The Market Place and Floppy Mart in Prestonsburg; McDowell Stop & Shop

in McDowell; Dan-Dee Supermarket in Stanville; Martin Liquor Sales, Inc., in Martin; and Estill Stop & Shop in Estill.

Hardy said that the current list includes only a portion of the chain stores, but all have been notified which of their outlets have met the criteria to have the on-line terminals. "It is important to note that we will continue to add retailers on a daily basis after the start-up," he added. Hardy said that, in the months to come, the lottery will also add additional terminals as sales warrant.

Criteria for retailer selection included sales volume of instant tickets, cooperation with the lottery in displaying point-of-sale materials in the stores, the type of store and location.

Jerry Lewis gives his all in annual MDA telethon

Performers shine at Labor Day show

By Mary Ann Townsend

Like he has for the past 23 years, Jerry Lewis will help raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to air from 9 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 3, to 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 4, on a "Love Network" of more than 200 stations coast to coast.

The show will originate from the Jerry Lewis Theatre Cashman Field Center in Las Vegas, and will feature a variety of entertainers who not only perform, but also help Lewis by hosting the event.

With help from Ed McMahon, Sammy Davis Jr., Casey Kasem, Tony Orlando and Julius LaRose as well as dozens of other show business favorites, Lewis will attempt to top last year's pledges.

The telethon was inaugurated in 1966 when it was broadcast by only one station in New York City. That initial show was the first televised fund-raising event of its kind to raise more than $1 million in pledges.

In the 17 years in which the A.C. Nielsen Company has been measuring the viewership of the Jerry Lewis MDA Labor Day Telethon, the viewing levels for the show have grown by more than 50 percent. According to the Niensens, the 1988 telethon was viewed by more than 90 million people.

Money raised during the show helps the association carry on its fight against 40 neuromuscular diseases by supporting basic and applied research, a comprehensive program of medical services for patients and their families, and far-reaching professional and public education.

One of the most recent major discoveries about the disease happened late in 1987, when a research team identified the crucial protein—dystrophin—that is missing in boys with the fatal Duchenne muscular dystrophy. The discovery has helped scientists understand the cause of the once-mysterious disease.

In addition to serving as the telethon's host, Jerry Lewis is MDA's No. 1 volunteer.

His commitment to the cause remains firm. "Each man must choose the cause closest to his heart, and I've chosen mine," the performer said.

What keeps him fighting for a cure for MD is seeing the disease's affects, especially on children, who have affectionately become known as Jerry's Kids.

Each year, the association selects a child afflicted with a neuromuscular disease to represent the organization's efforts on promotional posters. This year's Poster Child is 6-year-old Ashley Nichole Antolak. Ashley has intermediate spinal muscular atrophy, a condition diagnosed when she was 3 years old. Ashley, her parents, Robert and Donna, and her 9-year-old brother, Anthony live in Athens, Tenn.

TV Q&A

Julia Duffy started out in realm of daytime drama

By Polly Vonetes

Q: For some time I have been trying to remember the name of the TV series that Kim Bassinger played in. It seems like she and a guy were private detectives and I believe she drove a Volkswagen. Also the girl who plays Stephanie on the Newhart show. I can't place her, but I have seen her play in something else. Can you give me information on her previous roles? You have no idea how these questions have been bugging me. —Thanks. Julie Breaux, Watson, La.

A: Kim Bassinger and Lou Antonio starred in the 1977 ABC series Dog and Cat. Antonio played Det. Sgt. Jack Ramsey and Bassinger played rookie Officer J.Z. Kane. The series ran for two months. Julia Duffy's first role on television was as Jerry on Love of Life for six months. She was then cast as Penny on The Doctors, a role she performed for four years. Her first series role on primetime television was in Wizards and Warriors as Princess Ariel. She also starred as Mary Hale in the miniseries The Blue and the Gray.

Q: I recently watched a rerun of The Planet of the Apes. It appears that one of the professors was actor Victor Newman of The Young and the Restless, can this be so? —T. Johnson, Billings, Mt.

A: Eric Braeden, who stars as Victor Newman on The Young and the Restless, lists Escape from the Planet of the Apes in his credits. There is no mention of The Planet of the Apes. Are you sure of the movie?

Q: Was Spider-Man ever a series starring Nicholas Hammond or were they just several movies? If so how many? And also has there ever been a movie or series entitled Lockjaw starring any member of the Carridine clan? —Darren Wolbers, Monmouth, Ill.

A: Spider-Man, starring Nicholas Hammond, was a 90-minute pilot film for the series The Amazing Spider-Man. The series aired a total of 12 60-minute episodes on CBS from April '78 to July '79. The Carridine clan has starred in everything from Boxcar Bertha to Massacre at Central High, but I see nothing titled Lockjaw in their credits.

Q: I am not getting the early show of Wheel of Fortune and am wondering if Rolf is still host? Rolf took Pat Sajak's place. —Blandena Reeves, Anchorage, Alaska

A: Bob Goen replaced Rolf Benirschke as host of Wheel of Fortune on July 17, 1989, when it premiered on the CBS daytime schedule.

Food City Buys White Stores

Jack C. Smith, chief executive officer of Kentucky-Virginia-Tennessee Food Stores, Inc., recently announced the acquisition of White Stores.

City. According to a spokesperson for the grocery chain, the acquisition will make Food City the largest independent retail grocery operation in the Tri-State area, combining White Stores' 43 locations with Food City's 33 stores. The 76 outlets will be operating from a northernmost location in Williamson south to Athens, Tenn.

USDA Announces Disaster Assistance

The United States Department of Agriculture has announced the Disaster Assistance Act of 1989 — legislation providing for payments to any farm producer who suffered a significant crop loss due to damaging weather conditions.

According to USDA officials, the loss must be more than 40 percent of estimated normal production for the crop for farms participating in the 1989 ARP, or 50 percent for non-participants.

Applications should be filed by Saturday, Sept. 30. Production loss must be determined by either measurement of actual production, sales slips for the product or appraisal.

For more information, contact the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, 886-8738.

Smith, who said he is proud that Food City stores are locally owned, added, "We realize that competition in the food industry is increasing, particularly in light of current heavy foreign investments. We think that it is essential to maintain our locally-owned American identity, especially now that we have added White Stores to the Food City family."

Claude P. Varney, Food City president and chief executive officer, said, "Both Food City and White Stores have taken pride in retaining a local flavor. To maintain the old-fashioned friendliness and integrity so widely acknowledged throughout the industry just seems right and natural."

Danny Helton, vice president of operations for Food City, and past president of the Tennessee Grocers Association, has already moved his family to Knoxville, as has Tom Hembree, district manager of Food City, and current director of the Tennessee Grocers Association. Both expressed excitement over "the opportunity for exceptional growth in the Knoxville and Tri-State area with 76 locations."

Two Floyd Bankers Among School Grads

Two Floyd County bankers were among 79 students recently graduating from the Kentucky Schools of Banking General Banking School.

Graduating were Linda E. Lenox of the Bank Josephine, Prestonsburg, and Brian K. Ousley of the First Commonwealth Bank, Prestonsburg.

The school is a two-year accredited intermediate banking school administered by the Kentucky Bankers Association. The school is organized into two one-week sessions with students attending classes for one week for two consecutive years at the University of Louisville.

Students are also required to participate in an intersession exercise between the first and second year sessions of the school. The purpose of the intersession exercise is to help students understand how the concepts and principles introduced earlier apply to managing a bank. According to Frances Aicklen, director of public relations for the Kentucky Bankers Association, the exercise is a prerequisite for readmission to the second year class.

Graduates of the Kentucky Schools of Banking General Banking School are now eligible for graduate level banking schools.

Award-Winning Pool

A pool built for Terry and Peggy Marshall of Salyersville was one of 172 pools to win awards in this year's International Pool Design Awards Competition, sponsored by the National Spa and Pool Institute. The pool, built by Patco, Inc., of Paintsville, Pikeville and Inez was selected for a bronze medal award from 13 entries in its category. More than 650 entries were reviewed by a panel of nine judges consisting of NSPI builder members and experts in construction, landscaping and architecture fields. Judging was based on design excellence and esthetics, and winners were chosen in 38 categories. The awards were presented during NSPI's International Pool and Spa Expo held in Houston. "We are very pleased that his pool was selected for an award from a field that represents the best pools built by the industry this year," said Bob Patrick, owner of Patco, Inc. "But much of the credit naturally goes to the Marshall family. Their cooperation enabled us to design and build an award-winning pool to meet their requirements for a family recreation center."

During the Middle Ages, the year began at various dates in different times and places. In England it was not until 1751 that January was restored to its place as first month, as it had been during the Roman era.

From Andes To Appalachians, Furry Creature Is Posh Pastime

by Pam Shingler,
Assistant Editor

Somewhere in a posh office or classy restaurant this winter, some affluent ladies (and perhaps some men) will possibly be wearing a piece of a Floyd County man's handiwork.

Bennie Rose of Katy Friend Branch in Prestonsburg raises chinchillas, the small, rabbit-like creatures whose soft pelt is treasured by lovers of exquisite furs.

Numbering between 80 and 90, Rose's chinchilla "herd" is lined up in cages in the retired mechanic's former pump house. "When we got city water, I transformed the building," says Rose. For the animals' comfort, the building has a window, air conditioning and heat.

The animal, considered a rodent, is native to the Andes Mountains in South America, but is raised professionally by many North Americans. Rose says he knows a grower in Ohio who has more than 900 female chinchillas. "It takes a lot of years to build up a herd," he explains. "If a person was young and got into the business, he could make some money."

Rose, 65, says a high quality pelt can bring as much as $100. "There's no certain price. The cash value differs depending on the quality of the fur," he says. "If you're going into business, you need to get quality stock to begin with."

After retiring from his job with the Floyd County Board of Education, Rose started on his herd as a hobby — "something to keep me busy." He bought a male and six females (five of which he still has) from an acquaintance. The average litter is two babies, he says, with females bearing young between one and three times a year.

The long-whiskered animals reach maturity between 12 and 14 months, he says. The fur is at its prime only at certain times, so Rose has had to teach himself, through reading professional materials, how to judge when the pelt will bring its highest price.

Chinchillas have to be handled gingerly, he says, or else the fur will be damaged. "If you grab one by the fur, it can release the fur. That's their defense in the wild, kind of like a porcupine releases its quills." To pick up one of the animals, Rose catches it by the ear or the tail to protect the fur.

Rose claims the animals are easy to handle. "They're very tame." He demonstrates by holding a tiny chinchilla in his hand and stroking its back. "Very few will bite."

Caring for chinchillas is relatively simple, according to Rose. He feeds them rabbit pellets and hay, gives them water through adapted baby bottles and keeps the cages clean. (He uses The Floyd County Times as cage underliner.)

"But it's a seven day a week job," he admits. "If I take vacation, I have to get someone to feed and water them until I get back."

Rose says he isn't aware of anyone else in the area raising the valuable, exotic animals. The business is more common in Indiana and Ohio, he says. "A lot of people there raise them."

Rose grew up raising farm animals — hogs, cattle, chickens and horses — on the same plot of ground. "I always loved to raise animals," he says. "And chinchillas are just like any other farm animal."

He admits, however, that pound for pound there's a difference in value.

A chinchilla coat, which may require dozens of top quality pelts, sells for many thousands of dollars.

Fine, Furred Friend

Bennie Rose holds a member of his herd of chinchilla. The rabbitlike animals originated in the Andes Mountains and are valued for their fine fur.

The Wonders Of Life

Life is filled with many wonders of beauty and sorrow. But as the days go by we wonder what will be tomorrow. Will it be some thing new today or something totally new but just as God gave us life He gives us the wonders of life too.

My Mom

When I compare my mom to other moms I see, I am one of the luckiest kids that you have seen...

She listens to me and praises me even when I'm bad. She talks to me instead of getting mad...

She listens to me, and hears what I have to say, And that's why I'm sending this special 'Mother's Day Card' to the one that cares for me everyday...

Old Before My Time

I grew up in Appalachia Thoughts of leaving filled my mind Determined not to be like Mama Who was old before her time

I grew into a fair young maiden Cheeks like strawberries on the vine Thinking youth would last forever Happiness I'd always find

But then I met a handsome fellow Whose kisses were like cherry wine I thought I'd died and gone to heaven When he touched his lips to mine

Suddenly the hills looked different Married life seemed so divine First a wife and then a mother Leaving girlhood days behind

Thoughts of leaving Appalachia Late at night still came to mind But scrubbing dishes, floors and babies Seemed to occupy my time

Now I am a broken lady Old before my time Where is all the happiness I searched so hard to find

Symbol of my heritage Burdens on my mind Appalachian woman Old before my time

I thought I could be different Eternal youth I'd find By keeping myself busy I'd not be old before my time

Mountain life is a struggle Never earned an easy dime Teaching school and raisin' children Made me old before my time

Too much worry, too little money Now all I want is peace of mind My youth is gone, my love betrayed me I grew old before my time

Product of a mountain culture With a melancholy mind Appalachian Woman Old before my time...

—Mary Jo Lykins
Salyersville

(Mrs. Lykins read this poem at the groundbreaking ceremony for The David School in May.)

A Look At Life From Both Sides

Always first I would check both the oil and the gas, Then start up the mower and go cut the grass.

Grandma and Ben form their back porch swing would watch me, As I raced in the sun and slowed down under the trees.

I never thought those days would ever end, When in partnership, the mower and I were friends.

But though the work was hot, independence I sought, And was I ever proud of each purchase I bought...

With dollar bills that were folded with care, Which I checked constantly to make sure they were there.

The money left me faster than the time it took, To cut the grass down from the yard's crannies and nooks.

Of Grandma and Ben, I never gave them a thought, Except of their age, the curse which time had brought—

Them down on their knees, never to mow yards again, So wasn't it fortunate they had me back then?

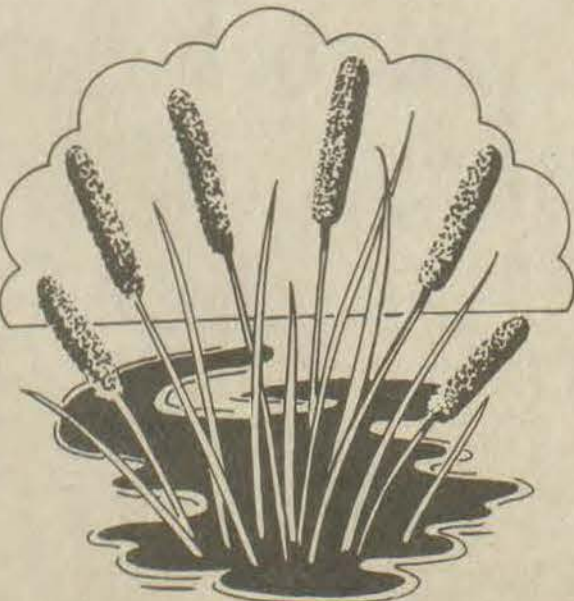

I never saw myself on the porch in the shade, But out in the yard enjoying my youth that God gave.

Yet, here I am watching my son mow 'cross our yard, I'm here to watch him, to protect, yes, to guard.

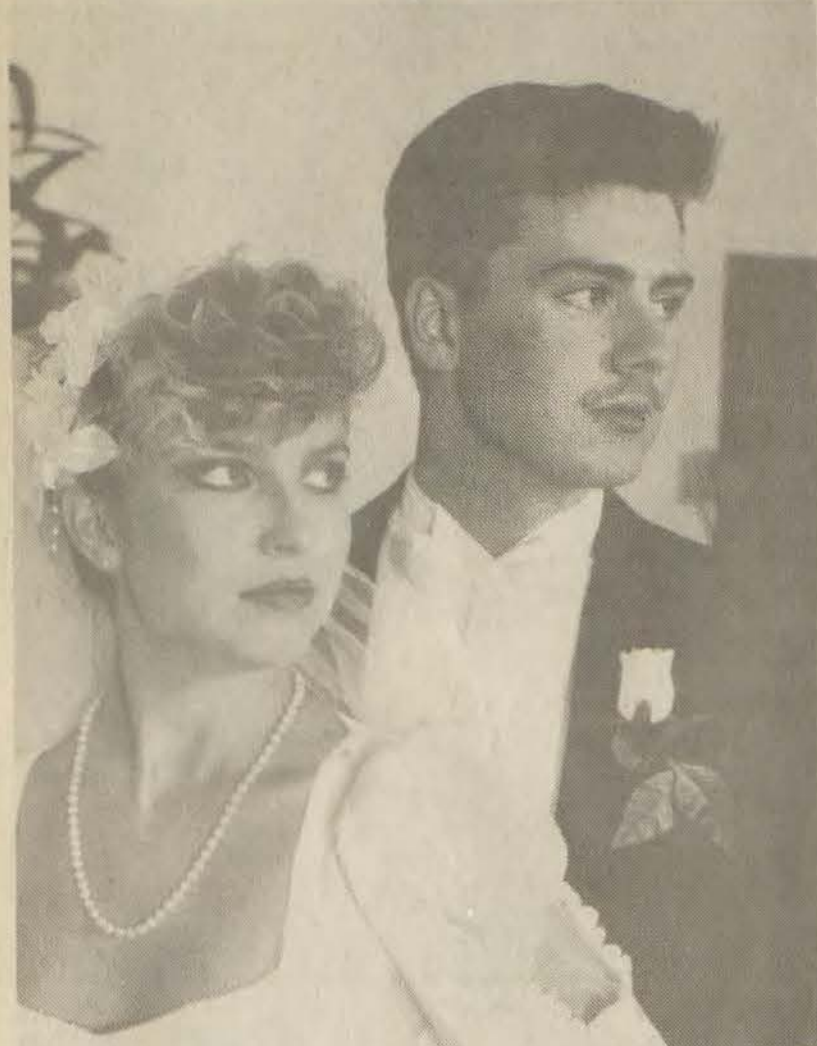

And I understand now what Grandma didn't say. Her mind wasn't so much on me, though her eyes didn't stray.

And like her, my mind is now on dreams yet unfulfilled, And like I was, my son's thought are on a five dollar bill.

The gown, veil, crown and flowers were all made by Pam Mays of West Liberty, a friend of the bride.

Shepherd, McKee United In Marriage

Peggy Sue Shepherd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shepherd of Martin, and Jeffrey Allen McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKee of Paris, were married Saturday, July 1, at the Trinity Baptist Church.

The Rev. Jack Morris officiated. Music was provided by Susie Davis, pianist and friend of the bride. She played songs including "Tonight I Celebrate My Love," and "You Are So Beautiful." The soloist was Carol Hall, sister of the bride, who sang "We've Only Just Begun," "The Wedding Song (There is Love)" and "Lost in Your Eyes."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The lighted candles led the way to the traditional lighting of the "Unity Candle," first lit by Betty McKee, mother of the groom, and then by Clotie Shepherd, mother of the bride.

The bride wore a traditional floor length gown of white satin with a cathedral length train. Seed pearls and sequins accented the gown. The back was V-shaped and featured four strings of pearls and a satin bow affixed on the skirt of the dress. The veil was attached to a flower headpiece adorned with cascading seed pearls and sequined flowers. She carried a bouquet of white and peach miniature Sonia roses, white carnations, white irises and miniature white lilies.

The matron of honor was Susan Combs. The maid of honor was Amy Mayo and the bridesmaids were Rhonda Sargent and Melissa Coleman, all friends of the bride. They wore tea length dresses of aqua taffeta featuring off-the-shoulder sleeves and a side bow. Each carried an arm lay of peach Sonia roses and baby's breath.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with tails and a white cummerbund and bow tie. His best man was Marty Vanzant. Groomsmen were Harry McKee, Don McCoy and Jim Combs. They wore traditional black tuxedos with peach cummerbunds and bow ties.

The ring bearers were Matthew Compton and Jonathon Hall, who both wore tuxedo ensembles matching those worn by the groomsmen.

The junior bridesmaid was Amanda Clay and the flower girls were Beth Hall and Ashley Sargent. All wore floor-length white gowns of lace with aqua satin bows.

A reception followed the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple is residing in Lexington.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Michael Woo, Clissandra Ratliff

Clissandra Lynne Ratliff, daughter of Oscar and Sue Ratliff of Betsy Layne, and Dr. Michael Hoi Sing Woo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sum S. Woo of Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, were united in marriage at the Summerall Chapel in Charleston, N.C., on Saturday, July 8, at 3 p.m.

The Rev. Scott McBroom officiated the double-ring ceremony.

Bell Turner, soprano, sang "The Bridal Prayer," "Be Thou With Me," "Alleluia" and "The Lord's Prayer." The organist was Mark Bebensee, and trumpeter was Bonnie Bloom from the Charleston Symphony Orchestra.

The bride wore a gown of Italian lace and white silk satin. Full puffed sleeves were beaded with tiny pearls and small ribbon bows. A scalloped neckline was followed by a long fitted bodice with lace applique and pearls. Her Juliet cap was heavily beaded and the cathedral veil was edged with translucent sequins that flowed over three large bows on the chapel length train. The skirt was trimmed with Italian applique and pearls at the hemline. She wore wrist length organza ruffled gloves.

Angela Thea Layne of Lexington, formerly of Pikeville, was maid of honor. Jennie Schepker was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Cynthia Hollen Stein and Stacy Nicole Ratliff, niece of the bride. They wore pink moire off-shoulder tea length dresses with matching accessories. Each carried a bouquet of freshly cut flowers.

Monicka Gaj was flower girl and Kristien Gaj was her escort. Jay Tyler Ratliff, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. Richard Woo, brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsmen were Stephen Gaj, Calvin Chan and Jerry Vann Ratliff, uncle of the bride. All wore traditional gray tuxedo attire.

The groom was dressed in a gray cut-away jacket with dress tails, striped trousers and white pleated shirt by Pierre Cardin.

Sue Ratliff, mother of the bride, wore an ivory lace tea length dress with a fitted torso and hemline of chiffon ruffles. Pale pink porcelain rosebuds accented the jewel neckline and deep rose shoes.

Ruth Ratliff, grandmother of the bride, wore a mauve chemise dress with lace trim and bone accessories. Flowers were petal pink and ivory tiny rosebuds.

Sandy Ratliff, aunt of the bride, greeted and registered the guests. Erin Grazak of Charleston was director.

Willard Ratliff, grandfather of the bride, was honorary escort. The bride's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ratliff of Lexington, and her paternal grandparents are Hattie Y. Ratliff of Pikeville and the late H.B. Ratliff.

A reception was held at the Canterbury Woods Clubhouse. Floral designer Miriam Smalls decorated the mantel and table centerpieces as an English flower garden. Deep blue delphinium, fuschia lilies, and Queen Anne's lace was used. Magnolia leaves, baby's breath, netrosettes and Victorian lace covered window cornices and the entrance hall.

The bridal cake was made by French chef Jim, from the Upper Crust at The Omni. Fresh cut flowers adorned layers of white, almond-amaretto, fresh carrot and chocolate almond mousse cake.

The buffet was filled with fresh seafood, marinated shrimp, crabmeat, a round of roast beef, smoked turkey, sweet and sour chicken, egg rolls and trays of cheese, dips, relish, and salsa. A vegetable and fruit bar had fresh Carolina peaches, frozen chocolate bananas, strawberries and kiwi with a brass fondue warmer ready for dipping fruits in sauce.

Out-of-town guests were Dr. and Mrs. George Buckley of Atlanta (former pathologist at Pikeville Methodist Hospital), Angel Thea Layne of Lexington, Jonah and Virginia King of Richmond, Jay Tyler and Stacey Nicole Ratliff of Lexington, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Schepker of Largo, Fla., Cynthia Hollen Stein, of Isle of Palms, S.C., Jack Ward of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., Richard Woo of Vancouver, British Columbia, Calvin Chan of Winston-Salem, N.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gaj, Monicka and Kristien all of Baltimore, Md.

The bride is a graduate of Betsy Layne High School, Medical University of South Carolina and The Citadel. She is a member of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and is administrator of South Carolina Protection and Advocacy for Handicapped Systems, Inc., of Charleston, S.C.

Dr. Woo is a graduate of St. Johns Academy, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, the University of Dundee, Dundee, Scotland, and Clemson University, Clemson, S.C. He is professor of civil engineering at The Citadel.

Following a wedding trip to Hawaii, the couple resides in Charleston.

Parents Of Handicapped To Meet Aug. 31

The regular meeting of parents of handicapped children is set for Thursday, Aug. 31, at 11 a.m. at the Parent Resource Center on the third floor of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center on Front Street in Prestonsburg.

According to coordinator Harmon Leedy, an attorney is expected to be present to answer parents' questions.

Corrections

Due to incorrect information from the Kentucky Heritage Council, the story in last week's Times on the Fitzpatrick-Harmon House listed a former owner as David O. Harmon.

According to Kathryn Frazier, Harmon's granddaughter, his name was Daniel. The Times regrets the error.

Names Omitted

Three members of the 1947 graduating class were unable to attend the reunion and be photographed with the group due to illness, and their names were not listed in the news release. They are Opal Branham, Mildred George Branham and Doris Hall Miller.

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Coal-Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501, has filed an amendment to an existing surface and auger coal mining and reclamation operation. The amendment proposes to disturb an additional 24.52 acres of surface disturbance and will underlie an additional 10.70 acres for a total proposed permit acreage of 506.57 acres. The operation is located 1/4 mile southwest of Eastern in Floyd County.

The proposed amendment area is approximately 1/4 mile southeast from KY State Route 550's junction with KY State Route 80 and located 1/4 mile south of Right Fork of Beaver Creek. The latitude is 37° 30' 13". The longitude is 82° 47' 36".

The proposed operation is located on the Martin and Wayland U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed by this amendment is owned by Gosling Branch Coal Company, Frank Justice et al., Charlie Martin et al., and Allen Heirs. The proposed amendment will underlie land owned by Gosling Branch Coal Company and Allen Heirs. The operation will use the contour, auger, and mountain top removal method of mining. The application also includes a proposed land use change from the undeveloped forest land pre-mining land use to a wildlife habitat post-mining land use. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of a public road (Gosling Branch Road). The operation will involve mining thru the public road, but access will remain at all times and the road will be relocated at or near the original location. This amendment proposes to add 24.52 acres of surface mining and 10.7 acres of augering on the Elkhorn No. 1, 2, & 3 coal seam. Americans Are Falling Victim To Affordability Gap

Can you afford the house your parents live in? If not, you may be a victim of the so-called affordability gap — the crevasse that has kept millions of young Americans from home ownership.

Housing affordability is one of eight issues examined in the August issue of Real Estate Today, the official publication of the National Association of Realtors. In the article, "Shrinking Prosperity Makes Home Ownership a Stretch," the housing affordability problem, current state of affairs and steps to a solution are addressed.

Affordability for first-time homebuyers is a high priority for the national association. To assess Americans' ability to pay for housing, the association uses the Affordability Index, which measures the median income in relation to the median income of first-time buyers and the cost of purchasing a home.

This shrinking prosperity can be traced back to the high inflation of the late 1970s and early 1980s, when income wasn't keeping up with inflation. The article reports that between 1968 and 1987 the median home price rose 326 percent, but the median income rose a mere 269 percent. The problem is most severe on the East and West coasts and in major cities, where skyrocketing land costs and heavy impact fees drive up housing costs.

Another factor affecting the affordability gap is skyrocketing rentals. "Since 1981, rents have increased 16 percent faster than prices in general, making it difficult to impossible for young people to save for a down payment," states the article.

Also greatly affected by the affordability gap have been low-income individuals and families. Two factors contributing to this problem, according to John Tuccillo, the association's chief economist, are the upsurge of one-parent families and the relative unavailability of low-cost rental accommodations.

In support of this, The State of the Nation's Housing Report showed that young single-parent families in the low-income category spent 58.4 percent of their income on housing in 1987, up from 34.9 percent in 1974. The ballooning budget deficit has caused interest rates to remain high and kept housing expensive.

"The goal of home ownership for all citizens, regardless of income, was a top priority for the federal government for more than 30 years, beginning in 1949 with the passage of the first national housing policy. In the 1980s, however, other priorities have put housing on the back burner," reports the article.

"A commitment to finding national solutions appears to be forthcoming from Capitol Hill," continues the article. "More than 50 pieces of legislation related to housing have been introduced in Congress during this year alone."

In the meantime, state and local governments, as well as individuals, have begun to pick up the slack. Initiatives such as the Columbus, Ohio, Neighborhood Partnership, an organization that renovates homes and sells them on a lease-option basis to low-income families and individuals, are making a big impact within their communities.

Ultimately, the burden must fall on the federal government. "The real estate industry contributes 20 percent to our gross national product," noted Ira Gribin, president of the National Association of Realtors. "If the government would stop looking at housing as a social responsibility and start looking at it as part of the economic fiber of the country, we'd have some solutions."

Other industry-related issues addressed in the August publication were agency disclosure, environmental hazards, professional image, alternative brokerage, commission structure, women in management and preservation of the Multiple Listing Service.
