Coolin' Down

A raincoat will probably come in handy for the next few days, with the Jackson Weather Service predicting 90 percent chance of showers for today and 70 percent chance on Saturday. Highs both days are expected to be a cooler 70-75 degrees, with nighttime lows of 60-65. Rain supposedly will end Saturday night.

The extended forecast shows mostly fair and mild weather for early next week, with daytime temperatures in the mid- to upper-70s on Sunday, rising to the low 80s by Tuesday. Look for nighttime lows in the mid-50s to low 60s.

Happy Birthday, US Constitution

Possibly the most rational, humane, justifiable document humankind has ever devised, the US Constitution will be 202 years old Sunday, and residents of Floyd County have been asked to join citizens across the country in observing 202 seconds of bell ringing at 4 p.m.

In Prestonsburg, the observance of "Bells Across America" will begin at 3:45 p.m. at the municipal parking lot, with performances by the First United Methodist Church's Handbell choir and Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir. Job Corps students will do the presentation of colors.

At 4, the carillon of First United Methodist will peal forth for the bell ringing.

DUSTIN HALEY

Merits Recognition

Prestonsburg High School senior Dustin Haley has been selected a National Merit Scholarship semifinalist. He is the only Floyd County student chosen to compete for 1990 Merit Scholarships.

The son of Wilma Haley of Mountain Parkway is a member of the National Honor Society, Beta Club, annual staff and academic team at PHS. He said he is interested in a pre-law major when he goes to college.

According to the NMS Corp., about half of one percent of each state's seniors becomes semifinalists. To qualify as finalists, the students must have outstanding academic records, perform well on the Scholastic Aptitude Test and complete an application with detailed information on scholastic and extracurricular accomplishments.

Lost In The '50s

Shine the saddle shoes and slick back the hair, 'cause there'll be dancing in the streets Saturday night at the "Back To The '50s" dance in downtown Prestonsburg. Sponsored by the Youth Center Teen Board, the free dance will feature a '50s dress contest.

Memories Are Made Of This

Tonight is Homecoming at Prestonsburg High School. One of the eight candidates for Homecoming Queen will have her dreams come true when the winner is announced during halftime of the evening game against arch rival Paintsville.

Board Expels Student For Hitting Teacher

by Anne Chaney, Editor

At the close of a lengthy public process hearing Wednesday night, the Floyd County School Board expelled a 15-year-old Betsy Layne High School student for the remainder of the year because he hit a teacher.

The hearing was open to the public at the request of the student, his parents and attorney.

A number of parents and students from the Betsy Layne area who are concerned about escalating discipline problems at violence at the school also attended the meeting.

Flanked by his parents and attorney Janice Porter, Joey Luster, a junior at BLHS, told the school board that he was only protecting himself when he hit teacher Georgia Lewis Blackburn on Aug. 30.

However, Blackburn denied that she struck the junior.

School principal Adrian Bentley Sr., who was not present when the altercation occurred, also testified.

Blackburn, who has taught seven years in Floyd County, read from a written statement during her testimony.

Luster "came in my room, behind the desk, and started pilfering through papers on the desk. I asked him to stop and move and take his seat."

Blackburn, who has Luster only in her room, said he answered for himself and another student during roll call, and "seemed to be trying to needle" her.

She added that he also said, "Bang, bang. Look out — she's got a gun."

After sending a note to the principal, Blackburn said, she continued with her room duties, but Luster kept disrupting the class.

Blackburn testified that Luster initially would not leave, but that later, she walked to the door and opened it, and he left.

"He tried to be argumentative and his tone was getting nasty. I turned to go back into the classroom and told him to go to the office. As I turned, Joey used profanity. After I went back to the classroom I went to my desk and wrote down the words and sent a second note to Mr. Bentley."

After home room ended, Blackburn said, she locked her classroom door and started to go to the office, but changed her mind because of the crowded hallways.

As she turned to go to her next class, Blackburn said, Luster "lurched out of the crowd and started mouthing more profanities at me. I raised my right hand in the air about the time he swung at me." Blackburn said she also tried to defend herself with her purse.

"He pounded me in the right side of the head at least two times with his fist. I fell to the floor with one leg under me, and I was unable to stand up."

After going to a doctor, said Blackburn, she filed a juvenile petition against Luster.

Blackburn has not returned to school since the incident.

Luster, however, testified that Blackburn struck him first, and that he hit her only in self-defense.

Admitting that he had answered roll for another student, the 15-year-old said he did "aggravate her and joke around with her once or twice."

He also testified that when he left the class, Blackburn cursed at him.

After taking the note to the office, he went back towards Blackburn's classroom to ask her why she had cursed at him, and met her in the hallway.

"She smacked me and used bad language. I pushed her against the locker and she swung her purse at me. I did hit her. She could have had anything in her purse." Luster testified that other students had reported seeing a gun and mace in the teacher's pocketbook.

Luster said he tried to push Blackburn away from him after she hit him.

Blackburn, in her testimony, denied hitting the student.

Kevin Hall, a junior at the school, testified that he was in the hallway when the incident took place.

"Joey went over and said something to her, and she started slapping him. Joey pushed her, and she started swinging that big pocketbook. Joey hit her," he said.

Hall also said he and other students at the school are scared of the teacher, and that several students have, in the past, asked to be transferred from her classes.

Corroborating Luster and Hall's testimony were two other students.

After a brief closed session, the school board voted unanimously to expel Luster.

After the decision, Luster's mother, Phoebe, said she planned to file assault charges against Blackburn and pursue the matter in court.

Feds To Spend $2.3 Million On Floyd Abandoned Mines

Ten projects, encompassing about 30 individual sites in Floyd County, are among 41 projects in Kentucky funded for reclamation under a grant of more than $12.2 million from the US Department of Interior, according to an announcement this week from Sen. Mitch McConnell's office.

The allocation comes from abandoned coal mine funds provided for by the Surface Mining and Control Act of 1977. "This money will play a big part in helping reclaim areas of our state ravaged by mining prior (to 1977)," McConnell said.

According to John Smiley of the state's Office of Surface Mining, the total amount of money to be spent on Floyd County projects is more than $2.3 million. The 10 local projects, money allocated and reclamation work to be done, said Smiley, are:

— Powers Highway on Sally Stephens Branch, close portals and eliminate 400 feet of highwall, $200,000;

— Mullins mine on Ky. 122, near Bypro, extinguish mine fires and close portals, $200,000;

— Manton, near Martin, excavate burning coal seam and reclaim nine acres of refuse, $200,000;

— Jockey Hollow, near Auxier, reclaim and stabilize landslide area, $25,000;

— Henry's Branch, near Martin, reclaim five landslides, $500,000;

— Halo, close portals, reclaim refuse area and remove abandoned structures, $40,000;

— Mare Creek, seal portals and remove refuse pile, $550,000;

— Floyd Portals (seven small sites throughout county), seal 43 portals, $100,000;

— Ford Street/Highland Avenue, Prestonsburg (three sites), eliminate highwalls, seal portals and control drainage, $150,000;

— Beaver (13 sites on Mud Creek), close portals, remove abandoned buildings and control landslides, $400,000.

McConnell said the allocated money "also helps illustrate the close attention that will be paid to Kentucky by the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement under Harry Snyder, a former Lexington resident."

Oooooo, Baby!

Local Coal Town Existed Before Mining

by Pam Shingler, Assistant Editor

Long before much of Eastern Kentucky was settled, the seeds of the community of Auxier were taking root.

In the mid-1700s, settlers from Virginia, particularly Tazewell County, made trips to the flat area across the river from present-day Auxier to hunt. Names such as Skaggs, Dameron, Greathouse, Castle, Harmon and others appear on records from the time as having made forays into the large, lush bottom, according to Robert Castle, an Auxier resident who has done extensive research on the community.

In fact, the hunters are believed to have built a hunting cabin at the confluence of Johns Creek and the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River.

In 1789, Tyce Harmon built a blockhouse, or small fort, in the bottom. Castle's research indicates that Harmon was an agent for John Preston and was trying to establish settlements to sell part of Preston's land grant. Harmon, who by most accounts was an unpleasant person, was most likely unscrupulous, as well, Castle says, since evidence indicates that some parcels he sold as Preston's grant actually were part of a Shepherd grant.

It was to Harmon's 20'x20' blockhouse that the legendary Jenny Wiley escaped in 1790.

Skirmishes among white settlers and Indian hunters in the area apparently caused the disbanding of the settlement later that year. But a couple of years later, after much of Central Kentucky had been settled, Samuel and Simon Auxier migrated to the bottom and built two blockhouses at the approximate site of Harmon's original structure.

Simon, apparently somewhat of a recluse, moved across the river and built a house on a knoll overlooking what is now known as Auxier bottom. Castle says the Auxiers got the land from John Preston. However, Preston's claim was later challenged by Israel Shepherd, and the Auxiers apparently had to pay twice for the land.

Before the Civil War, the Auxiers had already begun to mine coal in small seams and sell it to riverboats. They also operated a sawmill, and records from the Civil War period indicate they had a trading post in what is now Auxier.

With coal activity already heavy in Lawrence and Johnson counties, geologist Harry LaViers began to explore for coal around Auxier in the late 1800s for Superior Coal Co., which later split into Northeast Coal and Southeast Coal. Better quality coal, however, was found on the Johns Creek side and the Auxier seams were bypassed for a time.

By 1903, Auxier had become a small community, Castle says. A depot, called Auxier Station, was built and the post office was moved from Johns Creek. The first Auxier postmaster, says Castle, was Joseph Wood. "The community had at least one store, a post office, depot and a mine," he says.

The present town location was owned by John W. Auxier, when he sold it in November of 1909 to Henry Litteral, apparently a speculator, since he sold it a month later to coal baron John C.C. Mayo. By early 1910, the site belonged to Northeast Coal Co., which was already operating mines across the river on Johns Creek. Castle says many of the houses now standing in the town were built by the company within two months of its ownership.

Castle says that from what he has gathered from older residents, "Auxier grew so fast, it was lawless. There was no order." Tales of rowdiness abound, he says.

Patrick May, who grew up along with Auxier, remembers the devastation of the 1917 flu epidemic. "Five women died in one night, all of them pregnant. My aunt was one," says May. "People just died like flies."

An attempt to organize the miners the following year met with defeat. May recalls that the miners went on strike for six months, during which time the fledgling United Mine Workers sent food up the river to the workers. "The union fed them and they raised gardens. Nobody starved," May says.

The union organizer at that time, a man called Col. Pasco, was severely beaten by what the miners referred to as "a company thug," Castle says, and the UMW effort ultimately failed.

With the 1920s, Auxier became a boom town. Castle, who is president of the Auxier Historical Society, estimates close to 3,000 people lived there. Coal was king and the company expanded, building a sophisticated tram system, the remnants of which are still visible in places.

Into the '20s and '30s, improvements were made in the lives of the miners and their families, Castle says. A company power plant, water plant, sewer system and street lights were installed. Street surfaces were improved with red dog paving. A high school was added to the existing grade school, and the company sponsored an amateur baseball league.

The miners union, after repeated tries, finally succeeded in organizing Auxier's workers in the late 1930s. The organization was not without problems. Castle reports that a man who was related to a mine superintendent tried to convince the miners not to affiliate with UMW, but to start their own union. "He got shot, wounded," says Castle. "I don't know if there was a relation."

Mine production went up in the early '40s because of World War II demands, but if anyone was banking on continued prosperity, he was wrong. Early in 1945, Northeast Coal Co. shut down its Auxier and Johns Creek operations. Superintendent Richard Thomas, who had come in with the company more than 30 years earlier, died while trying to close out the business.

The huge coal tippie burned in 1948, Castle says, and the adjoining power plant deteriorated as Kentucky Power Co. started to serve the residents. The company deeded its public lands to the town.

Auxier Festivities Slated

The Auxier Historical Society will sponsor the Sadie Hawkins Festival, Sept. 22-24, in an attempt to revive the annual community festivities once coordinated by Northeast Coal Co.

for its miners and their families.

Current and former residents of the one-time coal town, as well as other area residents, are invited to participate, according to society president Robert Castle.

The festival opens Friday at 5:30 p.m. with music, games and an arts and crafts display at the town park. On the entertainment schedule are the Music Family Revue and the Powers Family. A cake walk, dunking booth, bingo and other games are also on tap.

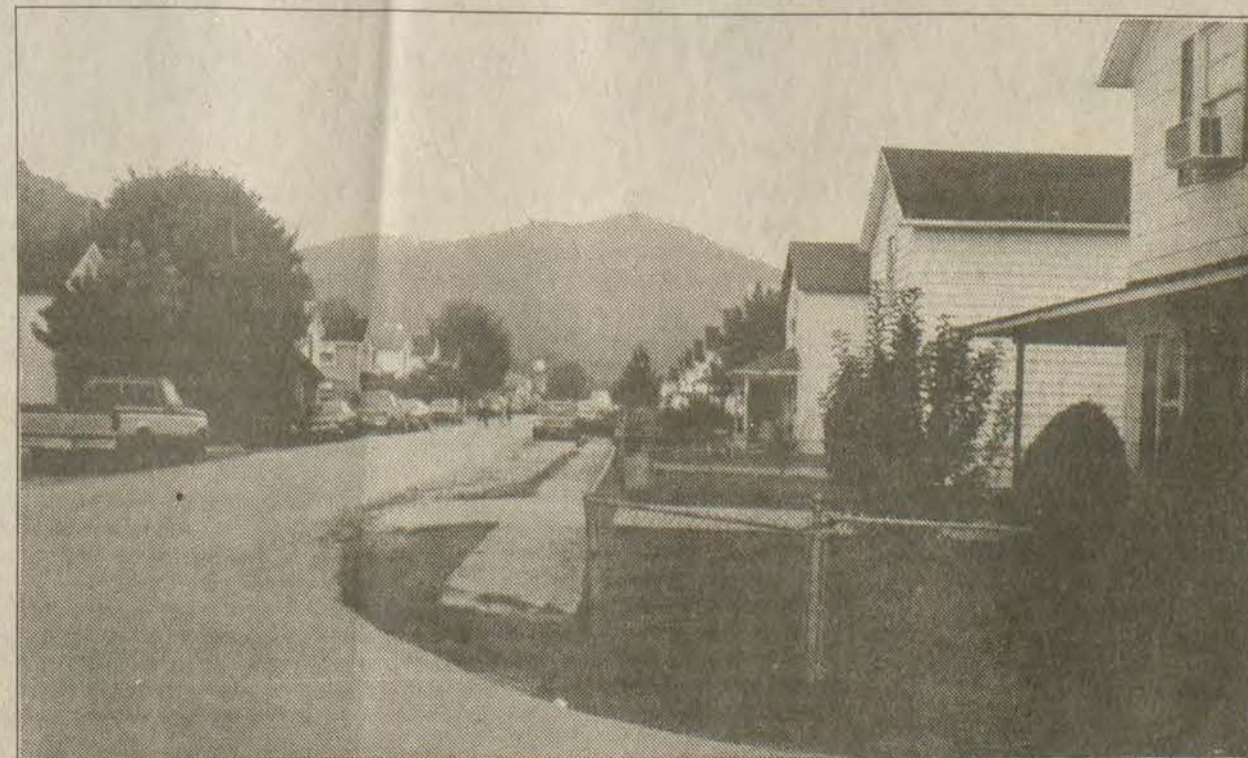

Saturday's slate includes a parade at 1 p.m. with Theodore Miller, last superintendent of Northeast's Auxier mines, as the grand marshal. Athletic events, including a horseshoe tournament, are planned throughout the day on Saturday, with trophies and money prizes being offered. A variety of musical entertainment is also scheduled.

Saturday evening features a dance for the youngsters in the elementary school gym and square dancing in the park.

The festival winds down Sunday with gospel singing all afternoon in the park.

A preliminary event, the Miss Auxier pageant, is set for tomorrow (Sept. 16) at 6 p.m. at the school gym.

For information on the festival, contact festival chairman Lee Collins at 886-1710 or 886-1999.

Evidence Against Floyd Pair Turned Back By Johnson Court

PAINTSVILLE—Evidence, including x-rated videotapes and sexual "paraphernalia," was returned to a Floyd County couple Tuesday by order of Johnson District Judge Daniel Sparks. The items were seized by Kentucky State Police last January by Kentucky State Police from an Oil Springs business reportedly operated by Melanie and William Klinglesmith of Prestonsburg. The judge ruled that the KSP officers did not specifically detail items to be seized prior to confiscation via a search warrant.

However, charges against the couple can still stand in relation to items police purchased at the location, before obtaining a search warrant. The two had been charged with possession of obscene matter and illegal possession of fireworks for sale. (The Paintsville Herald)

Festival Covers Letcher

WHITESBURG—The Mountain Heritage Festival this weekend appears to cover just about all of Letcher County with events set for Whitesburg, Jenkins, Fleming-Neon, Blackey, Ice, Mayking and other locales. Activities range from arts and crafts exhibits to a pig roast to sports meets, including a canoe race, and many more. (The Mountain Eagle)

Mayor Cited

FLEMING-NEON — A Kentucky State Police trooper last week cited Fleming-Neon mayor James Seals for cultivating marijuana. The trooper's ticket noted that one marijuana plant was growing in a five-gallon bucket apparently owned by Seals. Pre-trial is Sept. 26. (The Mountain Eagle)

Shooter Sentenced

PIKEVILLE — A Pike County Circuit Court jury found O.J. Collins of Myra guilty of second degree manslaughter and recommended a five-year sentence Monday afternoon. Collins was accused in the 1982 shooting death of Cleve Branham who was allegedly stealing a battery from Collins' car when he was shot. According to trial testimony, Branham and some companions planned to steal the battery and sell it for money to buy beer. (Appalachian News-Express)

Hardwood Honored

MOREHEAD — The Kentucky Hardwood Festival begins today in Morehead. Gov. Wallace Wilkinson is slated to be grand marshal of the parade, which starts at 11:30 Saturday. Music, dancing, hardwood related games and arts and crafts exhibits are on tap for the three-day festival. (The Morehead News)

This Isn't Ginseng

INEZ — A Martin County mother and son came upon a patch of marijuana said to be worth several thousand dollars while they were hunting for ginseng Tuesday. Hazel and Jason Penix took one of the plants to Sheriff Ray Fields' office, and the sheriff sent deputies to the site where several more plants were found. The plants were growing in Martin County's Middle Fork section.

Open House Gives Glimpse Of Services

By Gwen Hall
Freelance Writer
The Mud Creek Health Clinic held an open house Wednesday from 5-7 p.m. to increase community awareness of the services offered, according to physician assistant Beth Schmidt.

Anemia screenings which normally cost $29 were given free to the children who attended.

"Nutritional counseling is one of our services," explained Schmidt. She said the anemia screenings which help evaluate iron in children's diets provided an opportunity to discuss diets and nutrition with parents.

Staff pediatrician and internist Dr. Tony Mounts discussed anemia test results with parents and their children. He and general practitioner Beth Layne are the clinic's two physicians.

Visitors were invited to tour the clinic facility which includes a pharmacy, medical laboratory, emergency room and offices for nutritional counseling and well baby care. Mountain Comprehensive Care rents two rooms and offers psychological and counseling services there daily.

The clinic's founder and social worker Eula Hall says not all the clinic's services are contained within its walls. She spends much time transporting people and representing clients. The clinic's former site now houses its food pantry, a clothing center and the Mud Creek Water District office.

Mud Creek Clinic is part of Big Sandy Health Care, which also operates Big Sandy Respiratory Care in the building next door to the clinic. The center sponsors the Better Breathing Program for people with lung disease and smoking cessation programs.

Tina Hall, LPN, says the Better Breathing Program and the American Cancer Society's FreshStart Program for smokers are given throughout the county. Senior citizen centers and other groups are encouraged to offer the programs at their sites.

Mud Creek Clinic is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on the first and third Wednesdays of each month from 6-9 p.m. Walk-ins are seen, but clinic staff prefer patients to make an appointment. For information, call 587-2200 or 886-1242.

Bryan Stewart proudly displays the Snoopy bandage he received at his anemia screening as he slides down the slide in the children's section of the Mud Creek Clinic waiting room.

Childers Reunion Planned Sept. 30

The descendants of Abraham and Elizabeth "Betty" Preston Childers will hold a family reunion Saturday, Sept. 30, at Jenny Wiley State Park, Shelter No. 3, near Prestonsburg.

Registration will begin at 10 a.m., followed by a dinner and program at 1 p.m. Bring covered dish. All tableware will be furnished. Those attending are asked to bring old photos or family information to share. For more information, call Daniel Childers, (606) 754-5050.

Prestonsburg High School Homecoming -- 1989

Clarification

In the Wednesday edition article on Prestonsburg High School homecoming queen candidates, the name of the father of Sabrina Hall Martin, Shalious (Shag) Hall of Auxier Road, was omitted from information received by The Times.

Winning Doors

The homerooms of Carolyn Stout, and Ruth Hale were judged as having the best decorated home room doors during the Prestonsburg High School's Touchdown Program's "Decorate A Door" contest this week. The contest was held in conjunction with the homecoming festivities. Prestonsburg will be host to the Paintsville Tigers in the homecoming game tonight (Friday). The winning homerooms will receive free admission to the football game. Second place went to the homeroom of Ron Hampton. Jack Crider's homeroom took third place while Aileen Brown and Sharon Sammons rooms tied for fourth place.

Back In Class Again

More than 60 retired teachers from six counties attended the fall workshop of the Kentucky Retired Teachers Association yesterday at May Lodge at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. The former teachers heard state KRTA officials talk about concerns of the group, including legislation, insurance, health care, membership and preretirement. The regional association had its regular meeting in the afternoon.

Church Affiliation Rises Dramatically Since '60's

by T. Mark Miller, FCC Sociologist

Last week, we talked about politics, religion and how long people have lived in this area. Our survey, as well as other studies, shows we can expect to see more and more individuals coming to Floyd County from other areas. This week, we will look at church attendance and membership.

In Night Comes to the Cumberland, Harry Caudill suggests that a large percentage of the population in Floyd County, the Big Sandy, and the Cumberland Plateau area have traditionally remained "unchurched." He reports that in the early 1960s, less than 15 percent of the mountain dwellers claimed any kind of church affiliation. However, Caudill went on to say that there has been modest success in church recruitment in the county seats and towns.

For Prestonsburg, our survey finds dramatic increases in church affiliation since the 1960s. In 1989, 48 percent of those surveyed claimed an affiliation with a church. We would expect to see slightly lower than that amount in the rural areas. But even so, church affiliation is three times what it was 30 years ago.

To get the total picture, we should also look at church attendance. When asked how often they attended church, 48 percent of the respondents said never, 30 percent said weekly, 14 percent said monthly, and 8 percent said at least once a year.

Even though Prestonsburg and Floyd County have made gains in church affiliation, attendance still lags behind the rate of the nation as a whole. A Gallop poll shows that 40 percent of all Americans attend church weekly; this compares to the 30 percent in the local survey. A positive note for local churches is that even though the county is below the national average for weekly attendance, the trend since the 1950s is toward attending more often. Nationwide, the trend since the '50s has been the opposite.

How can we account for an increase in church attendance and affiliation in our area? An obvious answer would be the conversion of local "unchurched" residents to organized religion. If we look at church affiliation for people who have lived here all of their lives, we see that 41 percent claim church affiliation — quite an increase from the 15 percent reported in 1962. But what about people who have moved into the area? How do they compare?

People not born here, but who have lived here more than 10 years, report a 58 percent church affiliation. Those living here less than 10 years report a 60 percent rate. Both of these numbers are well above the national average. This is also good news for local churches, because we expect to see an influx of more people from outside areas, and most of them tend to be strong churchgoers.

My own prediction would be that we will continue to see an increase in church affiliation and attendance in this area, and be slightly above the national average. This would be because the south and midwest as regions are heavier churchgoers than the rest of the country. After this area has caught up with other parts, we should see church attendance begin to follow national trends.

School Enrollment Down, Attendance Up, Board Told

Floyd County School Board members were told Wednesday night that a 268-student drop in enrollment may mean as much as $400,694 less in funds for the next school year.

Pete Grigsby Jr., administrative assistant to the superintendent, told the board that the district's enrollment at this time last year was 9,251, while this year it has dropped to 8,983. Grigsby also pointed out that while the district has cut its teaching staff by 10 positions, the lower enrollment means the district "is back where it started."

The district had reduced the number of teachers from 90.2 to 80.4 units, but because of lower enrollment, state formulas call for the district to have 10 less teachers yet again.

On a brighter note, reported Grigsby, the district's overall average daily attendance this year has been 96.4, several points above the state-mandated minimum. Insufficient attendance was one of three charges leveled against the Floyd system when the state assumed control of its operation earlier this year.

Grigsby said the district's goal this year is to increase elementary attendance by 1.5 percent, and to raise high school attendance as well.

Leading attendance rates in the district to date are Auxier Elementary, at 98.2 percent, and Harold Elementary, at 98.1 percent. All schools are above 93 percent attendance for the first month of the school year.

In a separate report, Director of Buildings and Grounds Frankie Francis updated board members on progress of four building projects in the county.

He reported that: — At Prestonsburg Middle School, masonry work will be complete in two weeks; electrical work is finished except for hanging fixtures. Plumbing, heating and air conditioning are all 85 percent complete. The finishing coat of paint is ready to be applied, and 95 percent of the labor on the metal building is finished.

— At Allen Elementary School, bonds need to be sold. District representatives were to meet Thursday with state officials in Frankfort. Site preparation for the school is finished.

— At Garrett-Wayland Elementary (Right Beaver) Elementary School, the footer has been started, although Francis noted the project "is too far behind" and has encountered too many delays. Getting a water supply has also been a problem, he said, because Beaver-Elkhorn does not want to furnish water. Francis Water Company is entitled to serve the school, but the board will have to pay to have water run to the site.

— At McDowell-Wheelwright Consolidated High School (Left Beaver), the site selection has been confirmed by state officials. Bids for excavation have been rejected by the state department.

In his report, school psychologist Larry Jervis told the board that students' recent CTBS-4 test scores are above projected figures, but remain below the national norms.

Jervis said students in three elementary schools — Allen, Garrett and Harold — scored above the national norm, while several others were just points shy of meeting the national figure. Harold students scored highest, followed by students at Garrett, Allen, McDowell, Prestonsburg, Betsy Layne, Clark, Osborne, Martin, Wayland, John M. Stumbo, Prater, Melvin, Auxier, Drift, Maytown and Spruce Pine.

Harold students had an average score of 57.4 — 7.4 points above the national norm — while students at Spruce Pine, now closed, scored 21.1, nearly 30 points below the norm.

Two of the district's high scores scored above the national norm. Prestonsburg was 2.5 points above at 52.5, while Betsy Layne students scored 50.2. Other high school scores were McDowell, 48.7; Allen Central, 44.2; and Wheelwright, 41.3. The county-wide score was 48.1, compared to 52.8 for the state.

Clarification

Ricky V. Johnson of Wheelwright, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lberay Johnson, also of Wheelwright, is not the same Ricky Johnson who was listed among those receiving grand jury indictments in Wednesday's edition of The Times.

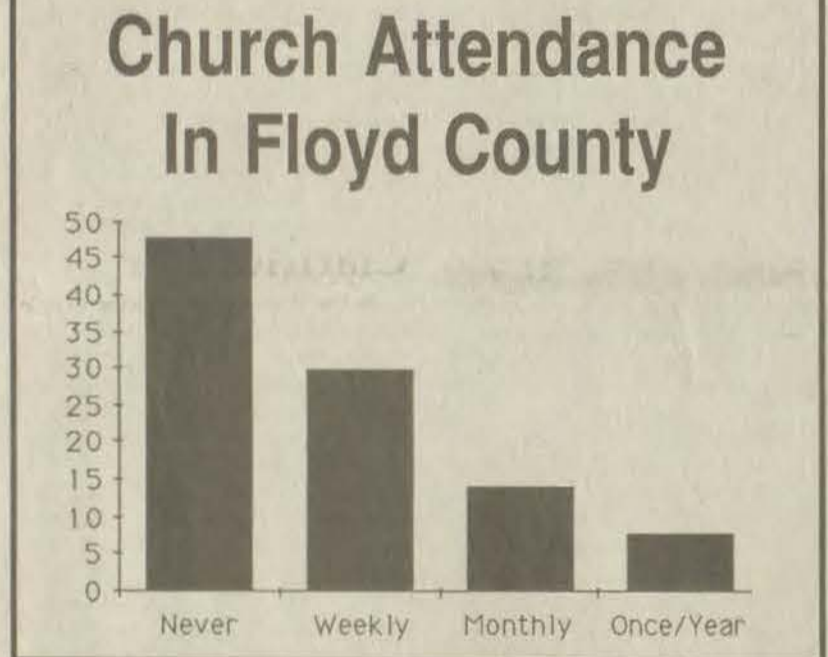

Also, in the grand jury indictments article, Sam Shepherd of West Prestonsburg was listed as having been charged with forgery. The actual indictment charges him with two counts of "criminal possession of a forged instrument: second degree when he possessed a forged check in the amount of $200 ($180) on the account of Lonnie Coots drawn on the First Commonwealth Bank."

The Times regrets the errors.

Coal Town

"Everything became independent, church, school, houses," the history buff says. "Most of the miners went to David or Van Lear to work."

The 1960s saw a decline in the town, as coal work also dried up in other areas of the county. Trying to make it on their own, residents in a community development association established a town park some years ago, and the Auxier Historical Society is trying to develop a community museum.

Already in the society's collection for the future museum are the tongue from the coal company's ice wagon and the "death bed" that was used in the company doctor's office. (The bed came by the chilling name, says Castle, because a miner who was laid on it had little hope of recovery.)

An anonymous donor also gave the society boxes of Northeast Coal Co. records, including official correspondence, accident reports, court suit proceedings and other items.

In mid-September, the society plans to sponsor a homecoming of present and former Auxier residents.

Next week: An Auxier legend, the grizzly death of young, pretty Lula Viers.

I also agree that we must begin targeting the casual drug user in order to attack the demand side as well as the supply side of this growing problem.

But no speech has ever won a war, and it now becomes necessary to evaluate the President's rhetoric in the light of harsh reality.

Even under President Bush's new plan, we would be doing little more than reallocating some of the drug-war funds already in the pipeline.

The word some, a most general word, has been known to cause a certain amount of anxiety when teamed with time.

Time is obviously quite important in our society. Think of all the songs written about it: If I Could Put Time In A Bottle, For The Good Times, Time Is On My Side, Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight, If You Got The Money Honey I Got The Time.

And then there are the cliches. Possibly more cliches abound about time than any other subject. Consider: Time flies. Time waits for no man.

Few of us can carry on a conversation on any topic without some reference to time. It must be difficult for a person new to our language to keep track of all the uses we assign to the word time.

I could go on and on, but I just don't have the time.

Floyd Rescue Squad Members Maintain, Create Own Equipment

by Tess Whitmer,
Staff Writer
(Third in a Series)

Members of the Floyd County Rescue Squad generally spend their time between calls repairing equipment, fixing up the station house or doing in-house training.

"We do a lot of the labor (on the equipment and station house) ourselves and that way we can save money," he explained. "We can put it together just as easily as we could pay someone else to do it," explains squad leader Onda Hunt.

"Putting it together," says Hunt, means making needed adjustments to vehicles and repairing the building in which the squad is housed. The squad's vehicles require an extensive amount of wiring to get them ready for painting, and some of the equipment, such as drags used to locate drowning victims, are made by members.

These drags are housed in a vehicle used specifically for drowning accidents. The truck is also equipped with life jackets, scuba gear, lights, generators and first aid equipment, and tows two new 16-foot "lake boats." The boats have been used once, and were purchased to replace earlier 1950 models. The older models are still in service, but are used only on river accidents, and are towed on trailers which are also homemade.

The squad also possesses an auto extrication truck, flat bed truck, personnel carrier, and a truck for miscellaneous uses. The first, termed "Crash Mobile" by the members, is where the "Jaws of Life" is stored. This piece, along with its generator and scissors attachment, weighs 85 pounds and is used to cut open a vehicle should someone be trapped inside.

Hunt explained that the Floyd County Rescue Squad had the first set of jaws east of Louisville. "We had one even before Lexington did," he noted. "Consequently, our services were needed for a far distance."

The "Crash Mobile" also is equipped with back boards and stretchers, fire extinguishers, a trauma kit, and other emergency equipment. The new truck is being designed so it can substitute for either of the other two trucks in case of emergency or equipment failure. The squad members use the flat bed truck for flood evacuation, to haul gravel or dirt and to transport commodities. "We hauled commodity cheese once to a drop off point and had mice chasing us for six miles," joked member Chuck Hughes.

Maintenance and upkeep of the vehicles and equipment falls on the shoulders of the individual members who "keep a close eye on how the things belonging to squad are used," Hunt said. Tools never leave the station and members must be at least 21 years old to drive the trucks.

"Money is tight, but we try our best to spend what we have wisely, and save where we can without cutting corners and doing a shoddy job," he noted. "All of our projects are long term, 20 years or more, so things have to last."

Family Life Center Will Serve Church, Community Needs

By Gwen Hall, Freelance Writer

Concrete block and brick are creating 14,666 square feet of space called the Family Life Center on a former Front Street parking lot in Prestonsburg.

"God conceived it, we believed it, and with God, we'll achieve it," says Dr. Quentin Scholtz, minister of the First United Methodist Church, about the project.

"God prompted it in a variety of ways," Dr. Scholtz explains. "God showed us the need through membership growth; God showed us our mission to the community; and God showed us our responsibility to those who seek to grow spiritually."

"I'm very thankful that God has given us the opportunity and the responsibility to do this. I'm equally thankful that this church has accepted it," continued Dr. Scholtz. "The neighbors have been very supportive and very tolerant of the mess. They've been very kind and gracious."

Plans call for the construction to be finished by mid-October. The bishop will attend the consecration scheduled for Sunday, October 15.

Rain, however, has slowed the construction process somewhat. Bud Glenn, the church's building committee chairperson, says he expects the building to be "totally" finished by Thanksgiving.

Glenn and others are quick to qualify "totally." The present project calls for the second floor to be left unfinished until needs and funds provide for its completion.

The new building adjoins the First United Methodist Church and the parsonage. Although it is a separate building, it will connect with the church. A ramp and an elevator will make all the facilities accessible to the handicapped.

The Family Life Center will have office space for the pastor, the church secretary and a potential director of the facility on its first floor.

The first floor also has a fellowship hall that can hold 100 people. Room dividers can convert the hall into three classrooms. A baptistry is hidden below the fellowship hall's soon-to-be tile floor.

Across from the fellowship hall is a parlor.

First floor restrooms include show-ers.

A kitchen is sandwiched between the fellowship room and the multi-purpose room so that meals and refreshments can be served in either or both.

The Family Life Center's multi-purpose room is three-fourths the size of a standard gymnasium and will have a special floor suited for playing basketball and volleyball. The multi-purpose room will also have a stage and is expected to seat more than 300 people.

All the rooms, except for the fellowship hall and multi-purpose room, will be carpeted. The building will have sprinkler and fire alarm systems.

A large, stained glass window of Jesus and the children is being designed and constructed by Huntington, W. Va., artist Dennis Shobe.

The building was designed by Prestonsburg architect Randy Burchett and is being constructed by J & R Construction.

"The family life center means the culmination of a dream for the church," says Glenn. "This is one of the greatest undertakings I've been privileged to lead. Three years ago I was asked to chair the feasibility study. Now we're doing it. Hopefully, instead of seeing kids out on street corners and bumpers, we'll see them inside playing ball."

"We're known for having 'overtime parties' after home basketball games," says Rose Langefeld, an active church member. "The Family Life Center will give us more space. There's a stage too... maybe we'll even have some drama. I just hope that the community realizes that the Family Life Center is not just for the church family but that the building will enable us to add things for the city, children and adults."

"We love downtown Prestonsburg," says Dr. Scholtz, "and our ministry is, in part, to downtown Prestonsburg."

But the Family Life Center will bring immediate benefits to church members too.

Langefeld is anticipating a comfortable, safe place for her son, John Francis, to go for recreation and the church's education programs.

"I tell you, we've outgrown our church," says 86-year-old Helen Gable. "We need more room. We have lots of young families, which is wonderful. But we need space for activities and programs. The Family Life Center will help us in that way."

Glenn agrees. He says church and Sunday school attendance have doubled since he moved here 11 years ago.

The new building will enable the church to expand its music ministry area and to move its preschool classes out of the church basement where they are located near the boiler room.

"The Family Life Center has caused us to look at our ministry in a broader scope," says Floyd Davis, chairperson of pastor/parish relations. "It's the first time in a long time there has been space for expansion (of ministry and programs). We're going to a building where more can be done."

"It's exciting time," continues Davis, "seeing something that was an idea coming from a committee rise in steel, brick and mortar. It's forced me to make a commitment. Just seeing all those zeros in the figures makes you a more thoughtful Christian. The building is expensive and has to be paid for. If it's going to be valid and useful, we have to increase the giving of our time and resources to bring it into existence and make it work."

Glenn terms the extra effort a "willful and glorious sacrifice" on the part of the church members who still have to contend with the usual, ongoing efforts of the church, including mission work elsewhere.

Dr. Scholtz feels the project has heightened the church's sense of unity by giving members a common vision and an increased sense of responsibility and commitment.

Scholtz says fund-raising projects like a pancake breakfast and bowl-athon don't raise a lot of funds, but they create a fellowship to which people respond generously.

"It's interesting," comments Dr. Scholtz, "that people who have less give more and people who have more give less. Most of the financing is coming from grass-roots donations. We had to borrow some money. But there is no one large contributor."

"One lady sold her last piece of property which would have been her security if she ever had to go into a nursing home. There are fixed-income couples giving over and above their tithes. But I'm not surprised," says Dr. Scholtz with a smile. "This church was founded on a donated potato patch."

Davis sees the present church as a gift from the past.

"I'm a newcomer," he says. "I wasn't born into this church. I became a member in 1986. I'm enjoying the contributions of people that went before me. The Family Life Center is a chance for me and the people of our church not just to contribute to our own welfare, but to the people who are coming after us — people who are looking for a religious experience like Methodism."

Glady's Blackburn concurs. "To us, at our age — I'll be 78; my husband's 86 — it's not so much what the Family Life Center will be for us; it's what it will be for the young people of our community."

"It'll be a place where we can bring our friends from other churches," says Gable.

"We want to glorify God," says Dr. Scholtz, "and at the same time serve him by serving the community."

"I believe this ministry would have gone on with or without us. God could have used any number of churches, but he gave us the choice for this ministry and we accepted it."

Blood Bank Earns Accreditation Renewal

Highlands Regional Medical Center's Blood Bank was recently reaccredited by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB), according to Dr. John Boswell, medical director of HRMC's laboratory.

Representatives of the association visited the hospital, inspecting the blood bank's medical, technical and administrative performance, which must meet AABB standards.

This is the 15th consecutive year Highlands' Blood Bank has met the requirements.

The accreditation is not required by law, but is voluntarily sought by a blood bank or transfusion service, Boswell said.

"Highlands sought accreditation because it represents a level of professional and medical expertise that meets and exceeds government regulations. The primary goal of the program is to assist facilities like ours to achieve excellence, and thus provide higher quality blood, blood components and other services to patients," Boswell said.

The AABB is the only national organization in the US devoted exclusively to blood banking and blood transfusion services. I

Parent-Child Art Offered At PCC

"Together Art," a one-of-a-kind workshop for 2- to 5-year-olds and their parents, still has openings for participants, according to Martha Risner, instructor for the Prestonsburg Community College class.

The community education class is scheduled for Mondays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in room 151 of the Johnson building on campus.

Risner describes the class as a "learning experience for pre-school children, as well as an opportunity for parents to learn how their children learn." Activities include learning to mix and apply color with tempera paint, creating paper shapes with fingers and scissors, and working with clay.

"Experiences in these media will help develop manual skills and self concept, as well as reinforce preschoolers' concepts of shapes, size, color and order," Risner said. "Parents will discover art concepts through explorations of their own while learning methods of praise that encourage the child's efforts to explore."

Betsy Layne JV Defeats ACHS

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne junior varsity football team scored three touchdowns, highlighted by a 93-yard romp by Doug Hammond, to defeat the Allen Central Rebel JV 19-0 at Allen Central.

Defensive highlighted the first quarter, as Betsy Layne had the football on the Rebels 1-yard line on a first down situation. Keith Mulkey, playing his last game before moving to Ohio, carried the ball on three downs and was stopped at the line of scrimmage each time. Bobcat quarterback Adam Gearheart, on fourth down, was thrown for a 1-yard loss and the Rebels held on the goal line stand.

Allen Central took the football on downs, and after Derrick Owsley ran for 9 yards, Rebel quarterback Jamie Slone fumbled the ball on second and one, with the Bobcats recovering.

Betsy Layne fumbled the ball in the backfield for a loss of 8 yards on their next possession, bringing up second and long. Gearheart, on second down, hit Brian Tackett with a 22-yard pass for a TD, and after the extra point the Bobcats led 7-0. The Bobcats held the 7-0 lead through the first half.

Betsy Layne put six more points on the scoreboard early in the third period. On a fourth and two play, Mike Cecil carried the ball 48 yards for a touchdown to give the Bobcats a 13-0 lead.

After Allen Central was caught in a fourth and long yardage play, Slone's pass was intercepted by Hammond on the Bobcat 7 yard line, and he took the ball the length of the field for the final touchdown to give the Bobcats a 19-0 win over Allen Central.

Look Ma, One Hand!

Betsy Layne quarterback, Adam Gearheart (5) carries the football and looks for some running room against the Allen Central Rebels in a JV game this week. The Bobcats prevailed over the Rebels, 19-0.

Injury-Prone Trojans Look For First Win At Johns Creek

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

After the first three games of the 1989 football season, the Trojans are up by three. Unfortunately, the three signifies injuries to key players.

Coach Roger Johnson's squad (0-4) saw a player injured in each of its first three games, beginning with Shane McCoy, who went down in game one. Defensive ace James Branham busted his knee in game two, and defensive standout Adam Hall tore his knee in game three to add to the Trojan's woes. Friday night against Hazard, the Trojans escaped without an injury.

"We have to reshuffle our defensive line," says Johnson. "The loss of Branham and Hall is a big loss to our defense. It creates holes we have to fill with inexperienced players."

Johnson's Trojans will be going against the Johns Creek Bearcats (2-1), with the latter playing under new head coach Jim Lamb. Lamb, who had been an assistant coach for the past four years at Johns Creek, has a program that he can now call his own. The Bearcats are coming off a 22-20 stunning loss at Knott Central.

The Bearcats' offensive plan thus far this season has been a mixture of air and ground game. The Bearcats are not afraid to put the ball in the air, shouldn't be, with Chris Gannon or Mark Smith at quarterback and the Bearcats' "big play man," Philip Birchfield, at the end position. Gannon possesses a strong throwing arm and has good football sense.

The Trojans will need to shore up their defensive line to stop the air and ground attack by the Bearcats. Senior Chad Hall (270 yards rushing against Hazard) and senior Bobby Hood (180 yards rushing) must have repeat games to provide the offense Wheelwright needs to win.

Johns Creek will host the Trojans at 8 p.m. tonight.

Fleming-Neon Swamps Wheelwright's JV, 50-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Fleming-Neon's junior varsity football team ran past the Wheelwright Trojans 50-0 in a lopsided game Tuesday evening at Bracket Field.

Anthony Collier led Fleming-Neon to victory by rushing for 106 yards on nine carries. Collier also scored two of his team's touchdowns.

Neon scored first in the first stanza on a 23-yard run by Kevin Fleming to put his squad up 6-0 early in the game. With 3:40 to go in the first period, Wheelwright fumbled the football on a bad snap and Neon recovered on the Trojan 32 yard line.

After Fleming-Neon was called for a personal foul and assessed a 10-yard penalty, quarterback Johnny Hall handed off to Fleming for a completion to Randy Phipps on 26-yard pass play and a touchdown. Fleming-Neon led 12-0.

In the second quarter, Fleming-Neon scored again when Fleming took the ball on a 16-yard run into the end zone. The visitors made it 28-0 after Wheelwright fumbled the ball on its own 48. Hall hit Phipps with a 26-yard pass to give Fleming-Neon a first down. On second and one, Collier went in from 3 yards out to score.

Fleming-Neon scored two TDs in the third period and one in the fourth stanza to win the game 50-0.

Where To Go?

Steven Jackson (24) looks for somewhere to go against the Fleming-Neon defense in a junior varsity game Tuesday afternoon at Bracket Field. The Trojans fell to the Pirates, 50-0.

Newsome's Bobcats To Face SC Cardinals In Home Game Tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Gerald Newsome's Betsy Layne Bobcats (0-3) will be coming off an idle week of play tonight as they take on the Cardinals of Sheldon Clark (2-1) and Coach Jim Matney.

The Cardinals defeated Berea 34-8 last Friday evening, and are coming off a somewhat disappointing 2-9 season from last year. Sheldon Clark's offensive line will be one of the team's weakness this season. However, inexperience is a problem for a lot of squads this season.

Defensively, the Cards will sport a strong line with their leading tackler, Steve Hinkle, returning, as do four other starters from last year's squad. Joining the Cardinals coaching staff this year is ex-Prestonsburg Blackcat defensive coach Tony Burchett. Burchett has assumed the position of defensive coordinator. Senior quarterback Chris Goss will lead the Cardinal offense. Goss will be joined in the backfield by Hinkle, who doubles as a fullback. Mike Cooper should be at the tailback spot.

Betsy Layne will be looking to improve its 0-3 record this season. The Bobcats played the Johnson Central Golden Eagles tough two weeks ago and, according to Newsome, his squad "should have won the game."

Senior Craig Hunter will be at the signal calling position tonight for the Bobcats. Running back Larry Hall will join him in the backfield for Betsy Layne. If the Bobcats can get their offense in tune with a good defensive effort, this could be an exciting game to watch.

Game time is 8 p.m. at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex.

'Slone-Tucker Show' Comes To Prestonsburg High Tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats will be tested tonight as they host Coach Walter Brugh's Paintsville Tigers in a 8 p.m. homecoming game.

The dynamic duo of fleet-footed Greg Slone, 5'7", 166 pounds, and power back Tucker Howard, 6', 215, will bring their show to the Prestonsburg stadium. Add quarterback Jeremy Holbrook and the Tigers have a potentially explosive backfield.

Tonight's game will match the Tigers' running game against the Blackcat defense. The Tigers have displayed some offensive prowess since their opening game loss to the Virgie Eagles. Paintsville handled the Allen Central Rebels, 49-14, and rolled past the Wheelwright Trojans, 48-16, and last Friday night the Tigers blitzed Fairview 34-0.

This could be a different game altogether for Coach Brugh's Tigers, as they will face a tougher defense than they have in the last three games. Coach Bill Letton's Blackcats have held their opponents to only one touchdown in the last two games. The Prestonsburg defense held the defending Region 4, Division 2 champion Whitesburg to one first quarter

TD and blanked the Yellowjackets the rest of the way on their home field. Last Friday evening at Johnson Central, the Blackcats shutout the Golden Eagles 7-0.

Even though the defense is sound for the Blackcats, may have problems hitting high gear. The potential is there. Ryan Porter, Bill Tom Compton and Aaron Flannery, along with freshman quarterback Aaron Tucker, form a potentially potent offense. However, the Cats haven't been able to mount any kind of scoring offense since their 34-27 loss to Tates Creek.

This should be a "dream game" as the Tigers and Blackcats claw at each other in tonight's top billing.

Rams To Visit Rebels

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Bill Tom Ross' Raceland Rams will be hosted by the Allen Central Rebels this Saturday afternoon in a 4:30 p.m. encounter at the Don Daniels Athletic Complex.

The Rebels will be without running back Mickey Parsons, who has been suspended, and the success of the Rebel backfield will weigh heavily on the shoulders of junior Tommy Gibson, 6', 195 pounds, and senior John Slone, 6'1", 212 pounds.

The Rams will display Division I college prospect Del Hammond, a 6', 255-pound guard. Toss in 6'6", 255-pound center Brian McCloud and the Rams have two bonafide college prospects.

Raceland lost eight of its 11 offensive starters last year, seven of whom started on defense, causing some concern for Ross and his coaching staff.

"We have some very, very young guys," Ross said in an earlier interview. "Some of the guys that graduated last year had started for two years."

The Rebels are not without size of their own. Brian Meadows, 6'7", 305 pounds, along with 302-pound, 6'3" Brian Wallen, will anchor the offensive and defensive lines for Allen Central.

Eagles Run Past Betsy Layne, 48-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach David Mosley's Allen Eagles football team just keeps on running, and the running keeps resulting in wins for the local elementary team.

The Eagles ran past the Betsy Layne Bobcats' elementary team Tuesday evening at Betsy Layne, 48-0. Allen won its previous game over Allen Central grade team, 52-0.

Running back Matt Porter leads a strong cast for the Eagles, scoring two of the squad's seven touchdowns.

On the second play of the game, Porter took the football 43 yards to paydirt to give the Eagles an early 6-0 lead. With 5:07 remaining in the first period, Allen moved the ball from its own 45 to the Betsy Layne one. A power move by Porter resulted in another Eagle TD and a 12-0 lead.

The younger Bobcats put together a good drive of their own by moving the ball from their own 38 to the Eagle 35, only to have the drive stalled by the Eagle defense.

With 1:51 remaining in the second stanza, Scottie Williams took a pass and rambled 40 yards for a Eagle TD. The Eagles led 18-0. They made it 26-0 on an interception and conversion early in the third period.

With 6:32 to go in the third, the Eagles picked off another Betsy Layne pass and ran it back for yet another TD. Porter ran the extra points for a 34-0 Eagle lead.

Betsy Layne had the football on its own 29 in a fourth and one situation, when the Bobcats fumbled the football and Allen recovered on the Bobcat 33 yard line. The Eagles ran the ball 32 yards for the TD.

Joe Howell added the final score in the fourth period on a 40-yard jaunt into the end zone to give the Eagles a 48-0 win. Allen is 2-0 on the season and will play the Allen Central Grade team Monday afternoon.

Hang in There

An Allen Eagle runner is tackled by a Betsy Layne tackler in a elementary game played Tuesday evening at Betsy Layne. The Eagles won their second game of the season with a 48-0 victory over the Bobcats.

AC Grade Falls To Osborne, 20-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Meredith Slone made his seasonal debut as football coach at Osborne Elementary a successful one with a 20-0 victory over the Allen Central Grade team at Bracket Field in Wheelwright.

Slone, who coached girls softball at McDowell last season, will also handle the basketball coaching duties at Osborne.

"We worked real hard for the win," says Slone. "We are looking for many more wins to follow."

In the first quarter for Osborne, Arnold Adams carried the football 32 yards for the touchdown. Quarterback Charles Johnson added the two point conversion to give Osborne a 8-0 lead.

Osborne fullback Cruise Caudill hit paydirt in the second period with a 19-yard stint to put the host school on top, 14-0.

Late in the second stanza, Osborne added another six pointer to make it 20-0. Neither team scored in the remainder of the game.

Osborne is 1-0 on the season, and Allen Central Grade drops to 0-2. Osborne plays at Betsy Layne on Monday and Allen Central Grade hosts Allen at Allen Central, also on Monday.

Prestonsburg Downs Johns Creek JV, 26-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Prestonsburg JV Coach John "Wimpy" Clark's junior Blackcats picked up their second victory of the season with a win over the Johns Creek junior Bearcats, 26-0.

The Prestonsburg JV's record stands at 2-2.

Freshman John Goble (5'9", 154) ran the ball 40 yards for a Blackcat touchdown in the first quarter. Robbie Watson got the two point conversion to put the 'Cats up 8-0. Later in the quarter, Johns Creek was caught in its end zone for a safety and Prestonsburg led 10-0.

In the second period, Sam Goodman, a 6'1", 156-pound junior, carried the football 25 yards for a touchdown. Watson again added the two point conversion to put the Blackcats up 18-0.

Goodman carried the ball again in the third quarter on a 15-yard run and Goble took the ball in the end zone for the two extra points for Prestonsburg, giving the host team a 26-0 victory.

"Our offensive line did a great job again," Coach Clark stated. "Our players have been coming off the ball and getting after people."

The Blackcat defensive line has only allowed 32 points in the four games it have played.

"Our defense seems to come with the big game when we need it," says Clark. "Donnie Spears, Bobby Laferty, Allen Derosssett, Dickie Johnson and Kevin Porter has done a great job." Clark had praise for the play of his linebackers, Todd Clark and David Thacker. The defensive safety unit of Glenn May, Ronnie Goodman, Robbie Watson and John Sparks have been solid in that position, said Clark.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

(Part Three)

Robert and Hanna Rhodes Mead's son Rhodes (3-#7) was born Feb. 28, 1780, probably in Bedford County, Va., and died Sept. 15, 1843, in Washington County, Ind. He married Priscilla Newlon (Dec. 4, 1781-Oct. 23, 1865) on Nov. 17, 1800. She was the daughter of John Newton Newlon Sr. (1759-1833) of Bedford County, Va., who was a private in Capt. Van Anderson's Company, Chester County Militia, 1780.

All the Mead family in Washington County, Ind., are descended from Rhodes Mead. He emigrated from Pike County, Ky., about 1830 to Indiana because of his opposition to slavery. However, in the 1820 Floyd census, by Norva and Norma Dixon, Rhodes is shown as owning two slaves. The accuracy of this has not been proven to this writer. Rhodes was a Baptist minister.

Rhodes and Priscilla are thought to have had 16 children, two of them dying in infancy. Several of them went to Indiana with their parents. Rhodes left a will in Washington County, dated June 21, 1843, but it does not name his children specifically, but does name his heirs. The will is recorded in Probate Book D, page 349, dated Sept. 21, 1843.

Part of this information was extracted from the magazine "The East Kentuckian" (referred to hereafter as TEK) by Henry Scalf. Other information pertaining to this family has been received by this writer from several sources throughout the entire country, including historical societies and direct descendants. Letters are in my possession.

Known children of Rhodes and Priscilla Mead were: (#40) Mary "Polly" Mead, born Aug. 27, 1809, married Judge Wm. Weddington in Pike County on Jan. 27, 1828; (#41) Benjamin Mead, born Jan. 1, 1813, married Sarah Wilson; (#42) Deborra Mead, born Dec. 11, 1802, first married John Owens on Dec. 27, 1821, and second marriage to Thomas Ratliff; (#43) Robert A. Mead, born Jan. 8, 1820, married Nancy Ann Toler (1823-1850); (#44) Hannah Mead, born Sept. 20, 1801, married first Rev. John Keach on July 1, 1818, married second Seth Howell on Jan. 23, 1834, in Indiana; (#45) Nancy Mead, born Oct. 25, 1804, married John Wilson; (#46) Catherine Mead, born Dec. 26, 1807, married Enoch Ferrel on July 29, 1825; (#47) John N. Mead, born May 10, 1811, married Lucinda Moore; (#47-A) Rhodes J. Mead, born Dec. 16, 1817, married Elizabeth C. Cadwell on Oct. 10, 1866; (#48) Moses Jefferson Mead, born Jan. 14, 1822, died 1897, married Elizabeth M. Rucker; (#48-A) Lucinda Mead, born June 1, 1814, married

Amos Lessley; (#49) Belinda Mead, born Jan. 14, 1816, married Moses R. Walker; (#50) Betsy Matilda Mead, born April 9, 1824, married Robert Green Jr.; (#50-A) David Trimble Mead, born July 19, 1826, died 1870, married Mary Jane Wallace.

Rhodes functioned as the leader and founder of the Hebron Baptist Church and gave the land for its structure on part of his homestead land. His last will and testament follows:

In vacation as aforesaid on the 21st day of September AD 1843, Robert A. Mead filed in the clerk's office of said court the following will. It being duly proved by the oaths of William Newlon and Alexander Wats to be the last will and testament of Rhodes Mead late of said county, deceased and the said will is in the words and figures following, to wit:

"In the name of God amen. I, Rhodes Mead-E of the county of Washington, state of Indiana, being weak in body but through the mercy of God sound in mind considering the certainty of death and the uncertainty of the time thereof and being desirous to settle my worldly affairs and thereby to be the better prepared to leave this world when it shall please God to call me hence do therefore make and publish this my last will and testament in manner and form following that is to say.

First, and principally, I commit my soul into the hands of almighty God, and my body to the earth to be decently interred at the discretion of my executor hereinafter named and after my debts and funeral expenses are paid I devise and bequeath as follows, 1st, I give and bequeath to my well beloved wife Priscilla Mead-e a certain tract or parcel of land situate, lying and being the county of Washington, state of Indiana. It being the south half of the northeast quarter of section 36, township two north, of the base line in range four east of the meridian together with the southeast quarter of section 16, number 36, township two north range four east of the lands directed to be sold at Jeffersonville to have and to hold the said tract or parcel of land during her natural life together with the profits thereof to be disposed of that is the profits thereof for the maintenance of my said wife, at her decease the said tract of parcel of land, I do will and bequeath to my son David Mead-e to have and to hold the said tract or parcel of land to him, so bequeath himself and his heirs forever.

2nd, I give and bequeath to my son Moses I Mead-e a certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of Washington and state of Indiana. It being the north half of the northeast quarter of section 31 in township two, range five east, together with the appurtenances thereof to him and his bodily heirs forever.

3rd, I will and positively order that all the balance of my real estate to be left in the hands of my executor and executrix to be sold by them at a time previous to the decease of my wife Priscilla Mead-e. Should they consider it would be for advantage of the heirs generally who are to have equal portions of the moneys arising from the sale of said real estate—all my heirs except my son David Mead-e and my daughter Hannah Howell.

I will that all my personal property shall be disposed of in the following order, my wife is to have the choice of two houses together with a sufficiency of other property as much as she may think proper to select for the maintenance of herself and my son David Mead-e and to support the farm.

I will that my son David Mead-e have the two year old filly together with as much household and other property as nay of the rest of the heirs have had when he becomes of age. I will that all the rest of my household and kitchen furniture be and remain in the hands of and peaceable possession of my wife Priscilla Mead-e until her decease, then to be sold and the

HOROSCOPE

September 17 through September 23

By C.C. Clark
VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
 The next few months are going to be some of the best times of your life. Whatever you do, don't let other people tell you what is best for you.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
 Once you have gotten rid of unnecessary distractions, life runs more smoothly. Now is the time to clear up miscommunications with loved ones.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
 Ending a long-term relationship or re-establishing new rules for the relationship may be in order. Be wary of participating in sports this week.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
 It will be hard, but you must keep that secret a friend has entrusted you with. You will experience good fortune this week.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
 You need friends around you for support. Spirits will be low because of financial difficulties, but there is a light at the end of the tunnel.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
 You will need to take health matters quite seriously this week. Try a romantic rendezvous to rekindle fires with a loved one.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
 A social event that promises to be boring is saved by some industrious, fun-loving friends. Be cautious in new relationships.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
 Aries will experience some trying times on the homefront. Just remember that a relationship based on mutual trust can weather almost any storm.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
 This is the perfect time to make major changes in your life. Personal and career choices will abound. A new relationship is inevitable.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
 You must pay close attention to your financial situation this week. Domestic affairs need your immediate and undivided attention as well.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
 If you were thinking about taking some sort of risk, it might just work in your favor. Family members of yours will probably pay a visit.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
 Problems in your work environment will give you many sleepless nights. Take charge of your life and failing health and pull it all together.

Country's Conway Twitty just observed 56th birthday

By Polly Vonetes

Q: Could you tell me how to become a Conway Twitty fan and when is his birthday? I think your column is great. Lately you have been topping Dear Abby! —S&E, Dallas, Texas

A: Well, thank you for the compliment, but I would never attempt to answer the questions Abby does. Conway Twitty was born on Sept. 1, 1933, in Friarspoint, Miss. You can find out about his fan clubs by writing: I Music Village Blvd., Hendersonville, Tenn. 37075.

Conway Twitty

Q: On a recent talk show Maureen McGovern was a featured guest. The interviewer mentioned McGovern's name as Glenda Schwartz. I would like to know if this is true and what she's been doing lately. —Mark Revere, Hopewell Junction, N.Y.

A: Maureen McGovern, during a period in her life when her career, marriage and finances were at an all time low, worked as an office temp using the name Glenda Schwartz. This period in her life occurred after she had won an Oscar for the song "The Morning After" from the 1972 film The Poseidon Adventure. Recently she has been singing in fashionable clubs and pubs in the Manhattan area.

Q: I have often wondered how to get into acting, movies and such. I am 28, have a good personality and enjoy acting, even though I have had no formal training. Where do I start and who would I contact? —D.B., Boise, Idaho

A: Oh, that it were that easy. We would all be driving around in stretch limousines followed by adoring fans. Very, very few stars have been discovered without previous training. Many joined drama or theater groups while still in high school, they followed this up with drama courses in college. Most of your favorite actors hold a degree from college. If you were to head to Hollywood or New York, your first step would be to find an agent who would have faith in your talent. He would be the one who would try to place you in a production.

To All Who Have Written for Addresses: Please remember to write the networks of your favorite stars or shows when you want to contact them personally. Space does not permit me to print these addresses every week. ABC: 2040 Avenue of the Stars, Los Angeles, Calif. 90067-4785. CBS: Television City, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036. NBC: 3000 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, Calif. 91523.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest will be answered. Personal replies cannot be granted.

New season of 'NFL Live' features offbeat outlook

By Jeff Thompson

Mike Leonard, who has been traveling the country in search of unusual stories for NBC News' Today show since 1980, uses his unique perspective to wrap up each week's edition of NFL Live, Sundays on NBC.

Leonard, whose reports have included a historical perspective on Spam and its resurgence in popularity; a look at what it's like to go through life with red hair; and an investigative report on the disappearance of socks in the laundry, will be bringing his offbeat perception of pro football to the pre-game show.

"People say I have a different way of looking at things," Leonard said. "I don't think so. I just look deeper into everyday things. What may seem mundane takes on more meaning the deeper I look into it. Most people's extension cord goes from the TV to the wall. Mine goes from the TV, around the couch, over the cat, under the table, behind the radiator and then to the wall."

His closing segments are sure to send the viewer off to the day's game wearing a smile.

"It will be fun to take something so rigid and so bound by rules and regulations as pro football and give it a different twist or spin. What I try to do is capture the feelings, humanity, emotions and humor in everyday life, and, in this case, the NFL."

Godfrey Earns Fellowship Award

William M. Godfrey, a mechanical engineering graduate student at the University of Kentucky (UK), is the recipient of the 1989 Howard K. Bell Graduate Fellowship Award.

This is the fifth year Howard K. Bell, Consulting Engineers, Inc. (HKB) has awarded the $2,500 fellowship, which was established so HKB could contribute to the UK graduate engineering program in honor of previous officers of the firm, such as the founder Mr. Howard K. Bell.

"We are pleased to be able to assist in education of Kentucky's finest young engineers," said HKB President J. David Whitehouse. "Several of the engineers in our firm are graduates of UK and this fellowship is a way we can share some of our successes with the UK graduate engineering program."

In Floyd County, HKB is involved in providing design assistance for HVAC, plumbing, electrical and site development for a new dormitory at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center in Prestonsburg.

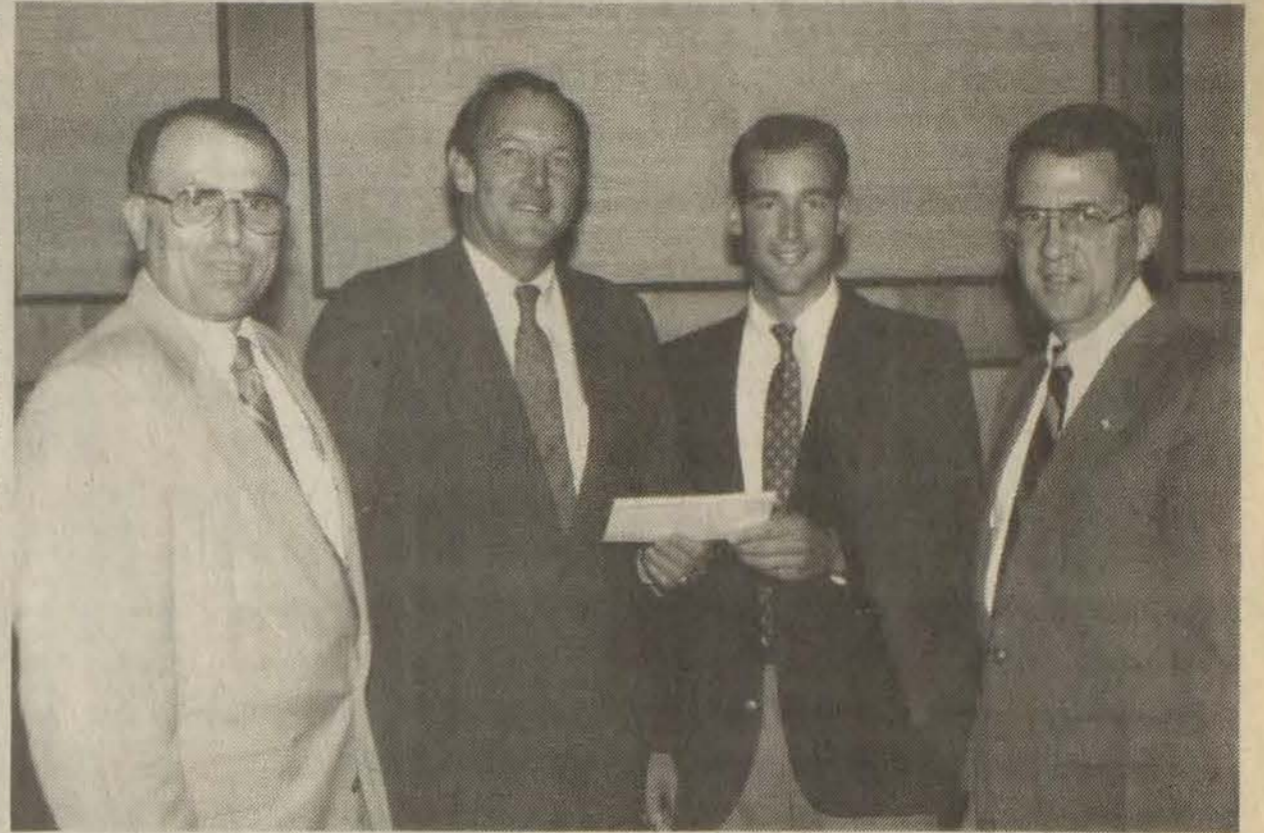

"The university is fortunate to have alumni who believe strongly enough in the educational process and the UK student body to offer their financial support," said UK President David Roselle. "The engineers at Howard K. Bell engineers set excellent examples for all UK alumni."

Godfrey received his bachelor's degree from UK and plans to complete his master's degree in August.

Godfrey's professional interests include mechanical engineering in relation to computer design and business management. Currently, he is a student representative for IBM on the UK campus.

His goal is to move into a business management position that requires a technical background.

Kelly: U.S. Government Checks Must Be Cashed Within One Year

The Department of the Treasury, in carrying out a new federal law, will require all government checks to be cashed within 12 months of the time they are issued or they will be canceled, according to Jim Kelly, Social Security district director for the Big Sandy area.

"Presently, there is no time limit for cashing a U.S. Government check. Government checks issued on or after Oct. 1, 1989, will contain a notation, 'Void After One Year.' Checks issued prior to Oct. 1, 1989, will be good until Sept. 30, 1990.

A Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI) check which is not cashed after one year will be canceled, Kelly adds. The recipient will be required to go to the Social Security office which authorized the original payment to request a second check, causing a delay in receiving payment. However, those who have their checks deposited directly into a financial institution will not be affected by the new law.

"There are also time limits for claims on government checks issued after the effective date of the new law. Any claim on a Social Security or SSI check must be presented to a Social Security office within one year from the date of issuance. If there has been a claim of forgery or unauthorized endorsement, the Department of Treasury will have 18 months from the date a check is paid by Treasury to begin funds recovery action," Kelly explained.

By reducing the time period for cashing checks, initiating claims against a check, and replacing government checks, the government can better manage its resources, he said.

"We encourage everyone to have their checks sent to their bank for direct deposit. This will eliminate all check problems and is much safer," Kelly said.

The Big Sandy Area Social Security office is located on U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. The telephone number is 886-8525.

Improvements At McDowell ARH

Sharon Little, a registered nurse at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital, sits in a La-Z-Boy recliner that is one of several purchased recently by the hospital and its auxiliary. The recliners provide more comfort for families of patients, and complement renovations done by the hospital in converting four four-bed wings into eight semi-private rooms.

RE: APPLICATION FOR PHASE II BOND RELEASE

Blackhawk Mining Company
Permit No. 436-5051 (Cline Branch No. 4)
Issued July 19, 1988

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350, this letter serves to notify you that Blackhawk Mining Company is applying for a Phase II Bond Release on the above referenced permit. The current bond amount, issued in the form of Letter of Credit No. 634, is $11,400.00. Reclamation work was performed and seeding of disturbed areas. In 1989 and coincident with our application for a Phase II Bond Release, one non-permanent impoundment will be removed and the disturbed areas graded and seeded. We believe that this reclamation work satisfies all requirements for a Phase II Bond Release. The permit and bond release application covers an area of approximately 8.87 acres located approximately 2 miles southeast of Ky. Rt. 3 and Rt. 1428 at Lancer. The latitude is 37° 39' 32" and the longitude is 82° 42' 50".

As part of the bond release procedure, you and/or your representative have the right to:

(1) Submit to the Cabinet written comments and objections, request a public hearing and participate in the inspection. Comments and requests should be sent to the following before October 25, 1989: Commonwealth of Kentucky, Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, Department of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, 502 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653.

(2) Participate in a hearing, which has been scheduled for 1:00 p.m. on October 25, 1989 at the Cabinet's offices located at 502 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky. This scheduled public hearing shall be cancelled if the cabinet does not receive a request for the public hearing by the closing date for requests for a hearing.

If we can be of assistance in answering any questions you may have, please contact us at 606-223-7959. 9-1-4tF.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE
