A Lot Of Questions

Allen PTO President Joe Hinchman and parent Brenda May address Allen Elementary School parents who gathered for a rally Thursday evening to discuss issues of school safety and the proposed new school building for Allen. Many parents present expressed anger towards the Floyd County School Board for the Sunday evening furnace explosion which damaged the school and injured Principal Daniel Branson.

Parents, Groups Oppose Parts Of School Proposal

by Anne Chaney,
Editor

More than 250 parents of Allen Elementary School students attended the Kentucky Department of Education's School Facility Construction Commission's public hearing Thursday night, but received little information.

Others attending urged that new Prestonsburg and McDowell elementary schools be built, rather than the current buildings renovated, as the state proposes. Several also objected to the state's listing of Auxier, Melvin, Prater and Osborne elementary schools as interim centers.

The Allen parents, angered at what they viewed as cuts to the proposed newschool for their area, were represented by Joe Hinchman. He presented a number of questions to the hearing officials, Jim Judge of the state Division of Buildings and Grounds, and Robert Jones, hearing officer.

"If the district in phase three (of state intervention)," he asked, "shouldn't the state be more involved in the building program?" He also questioned lengthy delays in the construction of the school, and why some rooms were eliminated from the building's construction plan.

He also asked when the Allen students would be back in school, and where they would attend, referring to the recent furnace explosion which has temporarily closed the school and hospitalized its principal, Daniel Branson.

Although hearing officers did not respond to Hinchman's questions, Superintendent Ronald Hager took a few minutes after the hearing to answer some of Hinchman's queries.

Hager said officials would not reopen the school until it had been declared safe, although he hopes classes could resume Wednesday.

He also explained that classrooms and physical education facilities "cut" from Allen Elementary School are being removed for fiscal purposes, but will be funded in the third phase of the School Facilities Construction's funding cycle, which is in January 1990, while the General Assembly is in session.

Allen Parents Seek Action

Fifty to 60 angry Allen Elementary School parents met Thursday night in the Prestonsburg High School parking lot for a short rally and planning session before attending a scheduled Kentucky Department of Education meeting hearing concerning the district's School Facilities Construction projects.

Speaking at the rally was Joe Hinchman, PTO president for Allen Elementary, and Brenda May, a parent active in PTO activities.

Hinchman stated that he would present to state hearing officials a set of 12 questions concerning plans for the building a new school in Allen. He noted that he did not know if the group would be recognized by the board and requested that everyone maintain calm during discussion. He also praised the large turnout of concerned parents.

However, the subject apparently on the minds of many present at the rally involved the recent furnace explosion in the school, which badly injured Principal Daniel Branson. Brenda May broached the subject by suggesting that parents keep their children out of the school until next Wednesday evening's county school board meeting, and requested a show of hands of those who would support such a move. A majority of those attending raised their hands and roared their approval of the proposal.

One woman in the crowd asked if school board members would be willing to send their own children to Allen after the explosion, and suggested that Allen schoolchildren be removed to another facility until the new school is built.

Said May after the short rally: "These parents are angry and scared to let their children go back to the school. There is a general feeling that something has to be done to keep the children safe."

A meeting of Allen Elementary School parents will be held Monday, Nov. 6, at the First Baptist Church in Allen to plan a strategy for addressing problems at the school, in preparation for next Wednesday's school board meeting.

Tuesday: The Election!

By Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

With hot elections shaping up in the Prestonsburg area, voters will go to the polls Tuesday to select the city's mayor and local council representatives, as will be done in the remainder of Floyd County.

The ballot includes a judicial race, four magisterial races, a city council race, two city commissioner races and two mayoral races.

Relying primarily on a heavy advertising campaign, mayoral challenger Paul Joseph, a Prestonsburg council member, hopes to unseat veteran mayor Ann Latta. Latta has relied, for the most part, on her record as mayor of the county's largest city.

Elsewhere, Larry Joe Mullins, Wheelwright mayor, is stepping down from that position, although he is campaigning for a seat on Wheelwright's city council. Running for the mayoral position there are Allen Taylor, Kenneth H. Johnson and Lowell D. Parker.

A separate campaign that has seen much verbal sideswiping by candidates will decide the Court of Appeals seat. The position was vacated by Dan Jack Combs in the 7th District. Vying for the office are Floyd Countians Janet L. Stumbo, who finished tops district-wide in May's primary, and Barkley Sturgill, who finished second. Sturgill, however, was the top vote-getter in Floyd County.

In the Prestonsburg City Council race, 12 candidates are seeking eight seats. Candidates are incumbents William R. Callihan, Danny H. Hamilton, William O. Goebel III, Charles Hale and Michael D. Vance; new — this year — to the arena are Harry Ray Porter, Gary D. Brown, Greg Clark, Doug Howes, Jack Absher Jr., Bill Ray Collins and Jerry Fannin. With two of the current council members not seeking reelection (Adrian Blackburn and Jim Yates) and another running for mayor (Paul Joseph) there will be at least three new faces on this coming year's city council.

Hearing What The Prestonsburg Mayoral Candidates Have To Say

By Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

As an organization, Rotarians take a neutral stand on political matters, but on Thursday, Nov. 2, Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta and mayoral candidate Paul Joseph were invited to the regular Rotary luncheon.

As Henry Mayo, program director, put it, "We need to take an interest in our local politics because it affects all of our lives. If you don't vote you don't have a right to complain."

Latta attended the luncheon, but Joseph — who had said earlier in the week he might not be able to attend — was allegedly under doctor's orders to stay in bed, and was later interviewed by phone (see related story).

Latta praised the Rotarians for being civic minded and for their community spirit. She said that listening to the candidates was a valuable tool in determining voting choices.

Latta, as Prestonsburg's first full-time mayor, said she is proud of her record, noting that when she took office the city was in the red. It now has a balanced budget, she added.

The need for a full-time mayor was great, she explained: "Times have changed, with all the paperwork and programs, a mayor needs to be involved with it as full-time job. We have had some great mayors in the past and I have built on what has been done before, instead of tearing it down and starting from scratch." She explained that the building affect must be shown for Prestonsburg to maintain the ranking of certified city, as it has for the past five years.

Latta added that it was a pessimistic view to think the downtown was dying. "I don't believe that, the downtown will be different — the shopping centers have changed things forever, but we need to remember that the shopping centers are in the city as well and they bring in a lot of revenue." The future of the downtown business area, she said, is in specialty shops, offices and restaurants.

"I think it's going to be fine. Of course we feel the loss of the Francis Store since we all grew up with them, but there are people already looking at that space," she continued. "There will probably be a lot more arts and crafts type stores for the tourism aspect, since we are promoting the downtown as a tourist site." She added that her office and the city council have been working very closely with the Main Street Program and the economic development officials to accumulate data on what is available downtown, and trying not to bring in competition for the existing shops, instead locating local services, rather than merchandise providers there.

A graduate of the University of Kentucky, Latta has 24 years of experience in city, state and federal government and journalism. She said that her background has helped her to build for the future "which is what the office of mayor is about."

She cited several statistics which have improved since she took office four years ago, such as: The citywide payroll is up 39 percent, unemployment rate was down from 15.5 percent in January of 1986 to 7.9 percent in August of this year; tourism is up 64 percent with $17.6 million spent last year by tourists and 100 new tourism jobs created.

Latta said that she spent much time and effort on tourism development and the city is seeing the creation of a new hotel and a convention center which will foster tourism even more.

She added that Prestonsburg, during her term, has seen the improvement of Archer Park, with a new walking bridge, senior citizens recreation area, tennis courts, ball fields, basketball court, picnic shelters and extensive repairs done on the swimming pool.

In working with the City Council, Latta said that she felt they have had a good relationship, "I never wanted any 'yes men' on the council and I certainly don't have any. We agree about half the time, but we disagree agreeably; we don't fight, and we get things accomplished."

What The Challenger Says

by Tess A. Whitmer
Staff Writer

In a phone interview Thursday, Paul Joseph, candidate for mayor of Prestonsburg, said that "being a full-time mayor, the work is never easy," but he listed the things he planned to do if elected. They include:

— Create an economic summit with area banks and get them to open on Saturdays.

— Innovate the way taxes on businesses and individuals are pursued.

— Improve supervision over work crews, "this is a day to day operation and you need to run the city as a business."

— Save money on scheduled maintenance of city equipment including sanitation and street maintenance — Improve utility service and quality of living in Prestonsburg.

— Seek grants for storm drains, "there are areas that need drains and sidewalks who already are paying for it, but don't have it."

— Work with the City Council, Joseph did not elaborate on how he planned to achieve these goals, but added, "More money and more man power is not the answer. We must have efficiency. Economic development is best promoted by actions and keeping the city clean and attractive."

He also stated that the Main Street Program needed a full-time manager to work with the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Kiwanis. "We need to have more money obtained through state and federal governments and the we need to work together."

When asked about his qualifications, Joseph stated that he went to Prestonsburg High School, took some business courses and was a manager of a "multi-million dollar business," P&B Ambulance Service. He also said that he was on the City Council for two terms and had "a lot of relatives," such as his brother Morgan Joseph, who is a Floyd County constable.

"I am a hometown boy, raised in Prestonsburg, and a business man. I have no axes to grind at the public's expense," Joseph concluded.

A Bit Nippy

The cooling trend that began earlier in the week will continue through the weekend. Friday will be partly sunny with highs only reaching the mid to upper-40s. Friday night will be clear and cold with a low in the upper 20s.

Saturday should be mostly sunny with highs in the mid-50s and nighttime lows in the upper 30s.

Sunday through Tuesday looks to remain relatively constant, with fair weather and highs in the mid-50s during the day, and nighttime lows in the lower 40s. There's a slight chance of rain on Monday. It's Autumn, folks!

Don't Forget

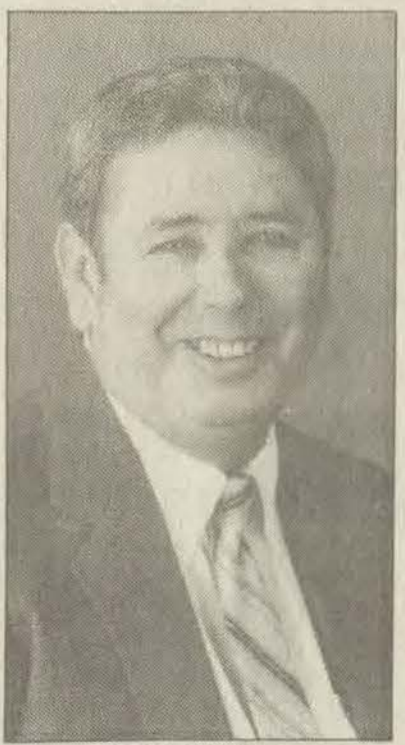

Today, Nov. 3, at 11 a.m., there will be a ground breaking for the future 500 seat Jenny Wiley Convention Center at Jenny Wiley Park. Attending the ceremony will be Parks Commissioner Rapier Smith, deputy commissioners Jim Goodman and Bob Bender, and other local dignitaries. The ground breaking is open to the public and a reception will follow at May Lodge. Come on out!

Floyd Countians Seek Federal Flood Assistance

Sixty-seven people, including many Floyd Countians, have placed applications for flood damage assistance at the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) Disaster Application Center (DAC) in Allen Park's recreation center in Allen.

As of 3 p.m. Thursday, a total of 766 applications had been filed in the 10-county flood disaster area, according to Don Armstrong, FEMA representative at Prestonsburg's Disaster Field Office.

Armstrong noted that the number of applications were lowest at the Floyd County site, compared with 253 and 224 at the DAC's in Hyden and Robinson Creek in Pike County, due to the less extensive flood damage in this area.

Walter Wilson, a FEMA reservist called up to direct the Allen DAC, encouraged those with any flood damage to register for assistance. "If you've suffered flood losses, come to the center and get registered into the system. It's very likely that some people who deserve aid won't get it because they think they don't

Two Arrested On Marijuana Charges

A three-day investigation by the Prestonsburg Police Department ended in two arrests on the charges of possession of marijuana and trafficking in marijuana.

According to Captain Greg Hall, Robert A. Grigsby, 26, of McDowell, was charged with trafficking and possession of marijuana on Thursday, Nov. 2. On the same day, James C. Worley from Pine Knot was charged with trafficking. Both were in jail as of yesterday.

The investigation is continuing, and the police department hopes to see many more arrests for drug crimes in the future. One officer said, "It's ridiculous how easy it's getting to get drugs. We are in a position right now to do something about it."

"This is a very sensitive operation, but the department has done a great job so far. We were blessed today that we were able to make the arrests without much difficulty."

Due to the nature of the investigation, no other information was immediately available.

Woman Killed in Coal Truck Accident

LOVELY — A Pike County woman was killed Tuesday in Martin County when her car crossed the center line on Ky. 292 and crashed into a coal truck.

Thelma R. Smith, 48, of MacVeigh, was pronounced dead on the scene by Martin County Coroner Jay Hinkle. According to state police, Smith was traveling south approximately four miles east of Lovely, when she lost control and entered the westbound lane, striking a coal truck driven by Robert Newman Jr., 41, of Pilgrim. Pilgrim was not injured in the accident.

Police report that Smith was not wearing a seat belt.

Jailer Charged With Forgery

PIKE COUNTY — Pike County Chief Deputy Jailer Ireland Blankenship, 36, was charged by State Police investigators on Tuesday with forging an entry on the jail log.

Allegedly, Ireland made an entry which listed Christopher Jones, who was serving time for a misdemeanor charge, as released, when Jones had actually walked away from a work detail. Pike County Jailer Morris Stratton claims that Jones had simply made an error and was not guilty of any crime. Jones was released on a $5,000 bond. (Appalachian News-Express)

Body Exhumed For Autopsy

PIKEVILLE — The body of Robert Syck, owner of Pollack's Jewelers, who was shot in his home Oct. 1, is being exhumed for a second autopsy by State Police investigators. Apparently, a fourth bullet wound was discovered by funeral home personnel before burial, prompting the exhumation.

The case has not been officially listed as a murder, and is still under investigation. (Appalachian News-Express)

Halloween Holdup

PIKE COUNTY — A Halloween masked bandit robbed the Gas and Go in Regina at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday night, approaching the attendant on duty and demanding money. The white male was wearing coveralls and a child's mask, and left the scene with an unspecified amount of cash. No one was injured in the incident. State police are continuing the investigation.

Two Charged With Marijuana Distribution

MAGOFFIN COUNTY — Valerie Oney, 26, of Salyersville, and Jack B. Crace, 25, of Elsie were charged in Lexington Monday on charges of distributing marijuana. U.S. Marshals arrested the two on Sunday, for drug distribution activities which investigators say began in January in Bloomington near the Millard Hensley Elementary School. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Jenkins, Pharmacy Indicted

SALYERSVILLE — Garry Jenkins and Garry's Pharmacy, Inc., of Salyersville, were indicted on 90 counts of dispensing controlled substances without benefit of a lawful order from a practitioner.

Additional indictments were also returned on 19 counts relating to accountability shortages of over 200,000 dosage units of various controlled substances, and 86 counts of making false statements on Medicaid applications for benefits and payments for medical services.

The indictments were returned by a Lexington federal grand jury following a cooperative investigation by the Drug Enforcement Administration, Health and Human Services and the Kentucky Attorney General's Office, Medicaid Fraud Division.

Faulty Valve Blamed For Explosion

by Frank Clark, Staff Writer

A faulty valve controlling the gas flow and pilot light of the Allen Elementary School furnace have been blamed for the Sunday evening explosion which injured Principal Daniel Branson, and caused an estimated $30,000 in damage to the school, according to Janice Scott, director of risk management services for the Kentucky School Board Association.

Scott, whose organization provides insurance and risk management services to all state school districts, reported that a private insurance adjuster from Louisville conducted the inspection at the school. The inspector determined that the valve on the furnace became stuck during lighting, allowing gas to flow into the furnace chamber.

"We're assuming that Mr. Branson turned the valve as he was lighting the furnace," said Scott, "and the valve became stuck without his knowledge, releasing gas into the chamber of the furnace. When he attempted to light the pilot, the gas exploded."

Branson's condition has been upgraded from critical on Monday to fair as of Thursday, as he undergoes treatment in the burn unit at Cabell-Huntington Hospital in Huntington, W.V. He is expected to be in the hospital at least a month.

When questioned if a maintenance problem could have contributed to the explosion, Scott expressed doubt.

"No one could have known that this would happen. It was a freak accident. An inspector could have examined the furnace one day and the next day, the valve could have gotten stuck."

Frank Francis, director of school buildings and grounds for Floyd County, appeared to accept the report made by the adjuster.

"It's assumed that, because there was an explosion, a malfunction occurred. Evidently, that is what happened. With the explosion and the damage to the valve, its difficult to say."

When asked if poor maintenance played a part in the explosion, Francis stated that he had received no reports of trouble with the furnace prior to the explosion.

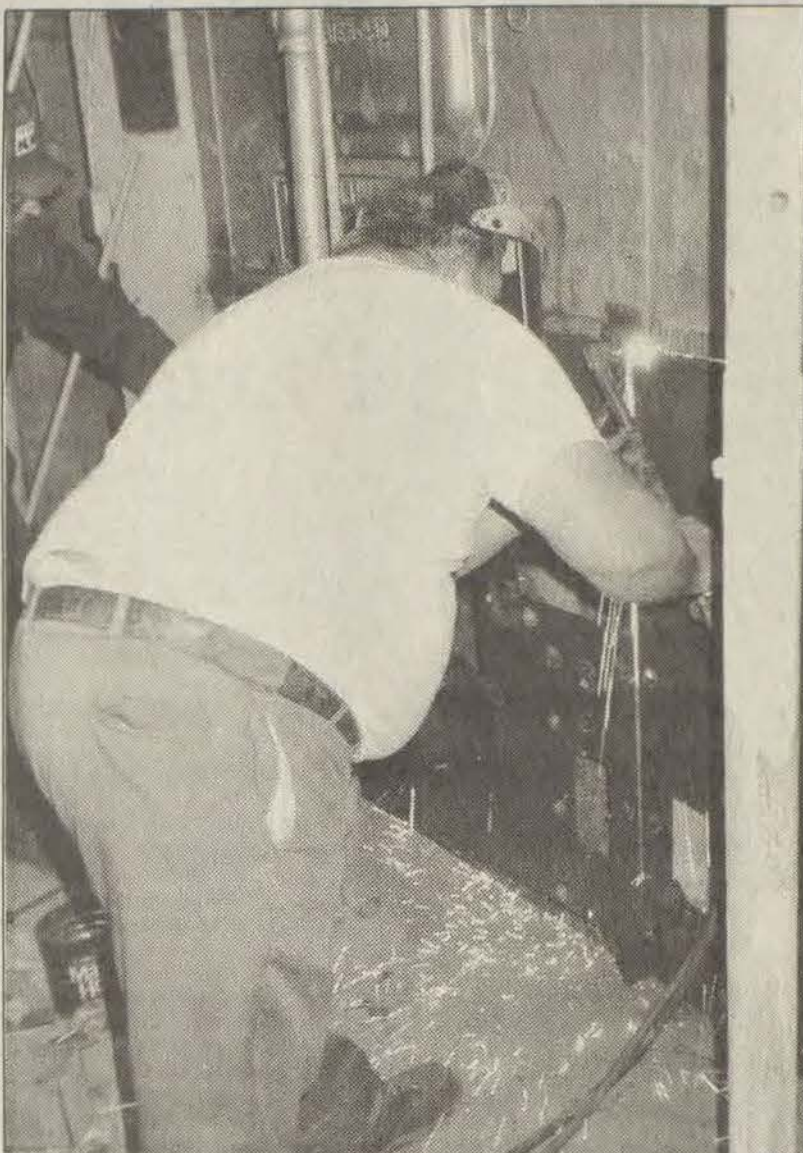

"Inspectors from the state checked the furnace in October, and the gas company checked the lines in August and found nothing wrong."

Employees from Columbus Heating and Venting Company of Columbus, Ohio, however, believe the furnace may not have been in good condition prior to the explosion.

"It was bad, that's all I can say," said Herschel Morrison, who was in charge of repairing the furnace and replacing destroyed parts. "The burners were in bad shape. We're going to put in some new pipes, new burners, and some panels. We should have the furnace and hearth finished up by Thursday or Friday."

Other repair work continues in the school, primarily patching broken plaster on ceilings and replacing a door that was blown out by the blast. Damages have been estimated at $30,000, according to Scott.

Ron Hager, school superintendent for Floyd County, expects Allen Elementary School to reopen Wednesday, Nov. 8, pending an inspection by the state fire marshal.

Getting It Done

An employee of the Columbus Heating and Venting Company of Ohio, works to replace damaged sections of the Allen Elementary School furnace, following Sunday evening's explosion which caused $30,000 in damages to the school and sent principal Daniel Branson to Cabell-Huntington Hospital. Following repairs and inspection, School Superintendent Ron Hager expects the school to reopen for classes on Wednesday, Nov. 8.

Four Collisions Reported

Four minor accidents in Prestonsburg this week were attributed to "not paying attention," brakes going out and slippery roads, according to police reports.

On Monday, Oct. 30, Kimberly Prince, 21, of Dvale was traveling north on US 23, as was Kozetta Wallen, 34, of Prestonsburg, when she cut into the path of Wallen. Prince stated that she was going to make a left turn and go back south, and did not see Wallen coming, as reported by Sgt. G. Clark.

Leisha R. Miller, 20, of Elkhorn said her brakes went out causing her vehicle to hit the rear of a vehicle owned by the Floyd County Fiscal Court. Edwin Eppenbaugh, 32, of Prestonsburg was driving said vehicle and was stopped in traffic when the accident occurred, according to investigating officer R. Frasure.

A slippery road way was the alleged cause of an accident at 10:30 a.m. on Halloween. Teri Baldrige, 19, of Paintsville and Rosa Anna Lewis, 21, of Prestonsburg were both west bound on KY 3. Lewis was stopped at the railroad tracks when Baldrige, unable to stop, collided with her. The report was taken by Sgt. Jim Mullins.

At noon on this same day, Loretta Shelton, 18, of Auxier was stopped in traffic on US 23 when she was struck from behind by Rhonda Chaffin, 25, of Prestonsburg. According to Officer R. Frasure she also cited wet roads.

Name Misspelled

In a political advertisement run in the Friday, Oct. 27 paper by Greg Clark, the name McGaffee was inadvertently misspelled as McCaffee. The Times regrets this error and any inconvenience it may have caused.

Attend Your Place of Worship This Week!

To the: Voters of District Three

I suppose I need to apologize to my Republican opponent. I didn't realize that I was obligated to personally answer each ad he places in the Floyd County Times.

In any event, I'm sure even Mr. Hall is aware of the flood that recently hit Floyd County and the consequences of such a disaster.

Since the flood we have received numerous phone calls from early morning to late each night. Due to the damage, we have worked around the clock trying to clean out culverts, re-place culverts, re-build bridges and roads destroyed by the flash flood.

I hope everyone understands that because of the flood, plus the usual everyday road problems, I do not believe in nor do I have time to slugging or get into a verbal exchange with my Republican opponent.

I, do however, believe in being honest and at the same time being realistic. As Magistrate I only have one vote in the Fiscal Court. I do not have un-limited access to equipment, black top, gravel, lumber for bridges and other needed materials. But, I do have a crew of dedicated workers that have the initiative to start work early each morning and the knowledge to do the work needed with what materials are made available to us.

Believe me, when I say, that nothing in this world would please me more than to be able to build a new bridge at Hunter, to pave the state road at Spurlock and to make many other needed improvements. But when I do not control what bridges are built or what state roads are paved, then I can only offer my assistance by writing letters and trying to convince the appropriate officials of the crucial need for the above projects.

Before going to the polls on November 7th, ask yourself these important questions. Who can I count on when I need someone to help me with a possible problem at the Prestonsburg Courthouse? Who can you call when a relative dies on the weekend and you can't get anyone to dig the grave. Who has always and will continue to support our local Rescue Squads, our local Fire Departments, our churches, our park systems, and our schools?

I think the answer to the above questions is simple. A vote for Betty Caudill is a vote for an experienced and honest magistrate. A magistrate who will not promise you the moon just to satisfy you at the time, a magistrate who will listen to everyone's problems and try to realistically solve those problems.

On November 7th, I ask that all my friends, Democrats and Republicans, my relatives, my supporters, and every other eligible voter to please exercise your right to vote. Please do not take this election for granted. Like all elections anything can happen, so please vote for, Betty Caudill for Magistrate, District Three.

I would also like to ask all my prior opponents in the past May election to come out and support a fellow Democrat.

Dear Mr. Joesph:

Once again, your campaign ad in the Floyd County Times is not completely accurate. Your advertisement stating that Brown Foodservice, Inc. has "closed out" its business operations is completely false and borderline slanderous. Brown Foodservice, moved to Lawrence County, Kentucky in 1984 when they purchased a building located there more than ten times the size the facility in Prestonsburg. Brown Foodservice, Inc. has not "closed out" its operation, but remains an active, progressive and thriving foodservice company serving all of Central and Eastern Kentucky, as well as parts of West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Virginia and Tennessee.

Next time you would be well advised to completely check your facts before you climb onto your soap box. Mayor Latta has done an exceptional job attracting new business into the City of Prestonsburg and will continue moving the City forward for the next four years.

If you are so naive that you blame business closings on the Mayor or City Council (in which you are a present member), I wonder about your qualifications to seek the City's highest office.

Sincerely,

Geo. C. Brown

Disaster Conference

Members of the Army Corp of Engineers confer at the Disaster Field Office in Prestonsburg. As part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency's (FEMA) disaster efforts, these engineers comb the 10-county region of Eastern Kentucky which has been declared a disaster area, reporting on damages and planning for rebuilding efforts. There has been an estimated $11.3 million in damages reported from the Oct. 16-18 flooding caused by Hurricane Jerry. FEMA is authorized to operate in the region for 60 days, after the disaster declaration of Oct. 30.

qualify. I hope that doesn't happen in Floyd County."

Lynn Summer, a Red Cross worker who has been in the county several weeks and is currently operating out of the Allen DAC, noted that she had dealt with roughly 36 Floyd flood cases. Arleen Brown of Betsy Lane was one such victim. On the morning of Oct. 17, her family's trailer was hit by a mud slide.

"It really messed it up badly. You couldn't stay in it. The Red Cross helped us with a place to stay. Now I'm registering with the government to see if we can get some help getting our place back together," Brown said.

Various grants and loans will be available to persons whose damages qualify them for such assistance. Federal tax relief, designed to allow some flood damages to be written off on victim's taxes, will also be possible. Information on tax relief is available by calling for a free publication at 1-800-424-3676, or for further tax advice at 1-800-424-1040.

Disaster loan workshops will be held in Floyd County at the old Heck's building in Highland Plaza, 1719 University Ave. in Prestonsburg. The workshops, which will run from Nov. 6-10, will be presented by Norm Vinyard of the Federal Small Business Administration and will explain the process of applying for loans to individuals and businesses. Call 1-800-338-0140 for more information.

allocated $2.9 million in state monies. The project was bid, and the bid package for excavation accepted. The property and excavation cost left approximately $2 million for the building. The state provided an additional $145,800 to the district for the project.

"With the bids that we have, that is still insufficient funding for the project," said Hager. "We are bidding it for the third time, and the bids will be opened Nov. 14. To bring it into budget, we will delete at that time what is necessary. It will still be a functional school to house students. With phase three funding, anything left off can be added next year. If it goes as planned, it will not stop construction at all."

Hager said the Left Beaver, Prestonsburg Middle School and Garrett/Wayland Elementary School projects were handled by the district in much the same manner.

"It's at (the state's) recommendation that we do it this way," he noted. "It's what is being done in other school districts—Floyd County is not alone in this."

Hager, in his comments to the state officials, asked that Auxier, Melvin, Osborne and Prater elementaries be made permanent kindergarten through fifth grade (K-5) centers, rather than being designated a interim K-8 centers.

He proposed, as did the state, that the district's priorities for Capital Construction expenditures be:

— Complete new Prestonsburg Middle School by addition of six classrooms and industrial technology;

— Complete new Allen Elementary by adding eight classrooms and a physical education facility;

— Complete the new Garrett/Wayland Elementary by adding four classrooms and a physical education area; and

Last week Prentice Hall, the publisher, came out with its new Places Rated Almanac. This year the raters evaluated 333 cities across the country on the basis of such criteria, they say, as crime, transit, arts, recreation, climate and other factors that make for the "quality" life.

Folks in Lexington, we read, are a little miffed because their city ranked 66th and that upstart riverport Louisville was rated eighth.

I guess I'm too far removed from Lexington to be terribly upset, although I'm proud that a Kentucky city is in the top 10. My miff is because one of my favorite cities, Pine Bluff, Ark., was ranked 333rd — dead last.

Pine Bluff was my home for four of the best years of my life, and, Prentice Hall notwithstanding, it has to rank in my top 10 list. Sure, passions there sometimes run a little high and occasionally flare into a full-fledged brawl at a local pub. The local college is no threat to Harvard, though I suspect it's about average. Getting across town, I remember, could be a pain because of the number of railroad tracks crisscrossing the business section to the Cotton Belt rail yard. The downtown, as with most places, is about to roll over and play dead, the victim of flashy malls. Jobs there don't pay union scale, as a rule. The primary recreation is fishing in Lake Pine Bluff, a midtown pond created by backwater from the Arkansas River. And the climate is as hot and humid in the summer as you'll find anywhere.

None of this cuts the mustard, I suppose, with the uptown sophisticates who make a living by comparing cities of 40,000 with those of several million.

Yet, Pine Bluff has the best catfish restaurants in the country. I'd put money on that. Despite the lack of public transit, you can get across town in 10 minutes, barring train delays, and the streets are laid out by numbers and state names in a civilized, orderly fashion. If you crave an occasional taste of the big city, Pine Bluff is within easy driving distance of St. Louis, Memphis, Nashville, Dallas-Fort Worth, Houston and New Orleans. And if you can withstand the summer, you know that mild weather will last well into winter, you can sunbathe in early March, and only rarely do you have to contend with snow and ice.

What really makes Pine Bluff special, however, are the people. Some of the warmest, most genuine people I ever met I met there. Literally and figuratively, their doors are always open to friends and strangers. Plus, there's a laid back ambience that seems to say Welcome Home when you enter. The people offset any lack in other "quality of life" criteria because, for the most part, they're quality people.

To all sophisticates: I, too, enjoy concerts in the park, big shopping centers, art movies, theatre, rapid transit, intellectual lectures and pro basketball live. But, really, those extras have one-day-at-a-time appeals. Good friends and neighbors are long term. That's where I differ with the Prentice Hall people and that's why Pine Bluff is not dead last for me.

I suspect many other people feel the same about some of the places that ranked low on the scale or didn't even make the cut, for that matter.

Letters to the Editor

All-Terrain Vehicles Pose Noise Problem

Dear Editor,
I see I am not the only one who objects to the growing plague of unlicensed, unsupervised and thoroughly annoying scooters, mopeds, trail bikes and their ilk. I admit I may not be entirely sane on the subject, and if I rant and rave at least consider the circumstances before you vote to have me committed.

Ever been told by a doctor to take aspirins, drink fluids and get plenty of bed rest because flu had you felling as if the Spanish Inquisition had just flung you back in your cell after a long session on the rack? Try following that advice while several bikes, varying from a moderate putt-putt to an outright roar — accompanied at times by squeals, shouts and horn blowing — use the graveled road that runs past your bedroom window 25 feet away, then on up a hill, for a dirt track. Or suppose your job required 10, 12, 14 and more hour long days of physical work and few weekends off, as well as being on call for emergencies, as my husband's does. How soon would you get a bit cranky at the impossibility of getting much-needed sleep? Take my word for it, blood boils at a much lower point than water when exhaustion is mixed with frustration.

I wish the Mayor luck with the ones in town, but if the reactions and results are anything close to what we got when we complained, she'll not only be wasting her time, but also encountering downright hostility. We were roundly and soundly condemned as anti-kids, anti-fun and possibly even closet Nazis who would torture innocent children just for kicks. After all, we were told, it is a county road and they have their rights! Now I made excellent grades in civics, and was fairly certain I had the low-down on the Constitution and Bill of Rights, but hey! I've been wrong before. I thought those God-given, unalienable rights come to an abrupt halt at the point where they infringe on someone else's. Not according to these parents.

One neighbor flatly said his kids were going to ride where and when they wanted to whether we liked it or not, and if they couldn't he would. If we didn't like that, he went on, he would get an old car, cut off the muffler and ride until daylight. When we tried to explain about jobs and sleep he suggested we "tie a $#@%* rag to the bush in your yard when you need to sleep and they won't ride by, and besides, nobody needs to work so $#@%* much." He even said if we called the police "you'll find out what trouble really is."

I did warn you I'd probably sound demented, but add to what I've said the fact that we have no remedy for the problem, and you may understand why it's difficult to remain cool, calm and collected. The police mentioned restraining orders, peace bonds and other nonsense. As the younger generation says — get real!
Those things are a lot like locks, which mainly tell honest people that you don't want them in because they certainly don't keep criminals out. A sensible, law abiding person doesn't need a writ of any kind to keep him from harming others and if they're not sensible and law abiding a piece of paper is plainly not going to stop them.

We're miles from the nearest police protection and could be dead 10 times over before they could ever reach us. If our house burned down throwing the culprit in jail give us back what even money can't replace?

Short of razor-topped fences, attack dogs and bodyguards, everyone's security depends on the good will of the people around them, unless, of course, they live next to a police station.

The annoyance and personal issues aside, I have always been bewildered by otherwise clear-thinking parents who would never dream of allowing their children to play with loaded guns, yet find it perfectly acceptable for them to literally "play in traffic." I try not to think about the ones who roar by without helmets and wearing only tee shirts and shorts.

I'm relieved to make it home in one piece when I drive, and I have the relative protection of a seat belt and an enclosed car. These machines are not toys, or at least not my definition of the word, and yet they are being ridden by younger and younger kids every day, on the open road and without safety gear in many cases. What can their parents be thinking of to allow it?

Well, at least I've got this out of my system for the moment — until the next varoom, varoom, varoom, anyway. Thanks for being my shoulder to cry on.

Mrs. Larry D. Blackburn

Confused And Concerned

Dear Editor,
I am really confused about who you see about getting any road work done.

Is it our magistrate or is it John M. Stumbo? Seems like whenever we ask our magistrate about blacktopping our road or fixing a bridge that is very hazardous to our school kids, or trying to get our families city water, we are always told "I can't do anything about it," you have to ask Stumbo. What is this!

How come our magistrate, or if it be the case, John M. Stumbo, can blacktop a hollow and private drive-ways that the school bus does not even travel on? Is this favoritism or what? When the families on the main road have to cross this bridge that is bad, the school bus has to run on this graveled road. This really confused me. I'd like to know how these people get anything done, and everybody else gets nothing!

Well, we're watching the finals of the 1989 election head into the home stretch, with Tuesday being the finish line. Most of the races around here are already a foregone conclusion. However, we have some that are going to be real nail-biters.

The one which appears to be up for grabs is the mayor's office in Prestonsburg. The incumbent, Ann Latta, is getting a more than just a mild challenge from Paul Joseph. It's an all-out, no-holds-barred and sometimes downright nasty campaign that Joseph is aiming against Latta.

From some observers, it appears the city councilman's tactics might just be working. The mayor's faithful say she needs her supporters to get out and vote Tuesday if they want to keep her in office.

Joseph has a big family, and a lot of them are working hard to get him, and other Joseph family members, elected this Tuesday.

The other fun race to watch is Gorman Collins Jr., a Republican (yes, there are some of those in Floyd County) trying again to wrestle the district one magistrate seat from Democrat Gerald DeRossett.

These two men faced each other four years ago in the same race, and DeRossett won by a few hundred votes. Considering Collins was running on the Republican ticket, that's an impressive showing. Some say Collins, this time, is going for broke, an all or nothing type effort which began on the public airways immediately after the primary election.

Who's going to win? If anybody's guess right now, but one thing's for sure — both candidates will know they've been in a fight.

And finally, the other race which is getting a lot of press coverage is, Stumbo against Sturgill, for Judge of the Court of Appeals. I think the best thing I can say about this race is both are from Floyd County.

A final note concerning Tuesday's general election. VOTE!

When The Cat's Away . . .

The secretaries of Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo decided to have a little fun while the judge was away Tuesday. In the spirit of Halloween, they dressed in costumes to "fit their secret ambitions," (left to right) Mollie Chaffins went as an Indian, Delores Dingus as a convict, Maggie Robinson posed as a genie, and Janet Tackett dressed as an old peasant woman.

Emergency Heat On Hold

by Frank Clark, Staff Writer

For 819 families in Floyd County, the question of how to heat their homes in the coming winter months remains up in the air.

U.S. congressional negotiations have continued to tie up spending for federal programs in the new fiscal year, locking funds for the Kentucky Home Energy Assistance Program (HEAP) in "congressional limbo," according to state Social Insurance Commissioner Mike Robinson. This combined federal/state assistance program, designed to help lower income families with elderly or disabled members heat their homes, registered 819 Floyd County families at the Prestonsburg Armory between Oct. 16-25.

The $5.2 million fund pool for the state ran out on Oct. 25, and fund distribution remains uncertain until Congress approves the federal program funding and President George Bush signs the bill into law.

Ronald Wright, field service supervisor for the county's HEAP program, noted that the county's registration process for heating assistance held at the Prestonsburg Armory went very smoothly.

"Everything went well with registration this year. To be eligible for the program, it was necessary for a household to have a member over the age of 60 or who is considered to be 100 percent disabled. We then examined the family's income and determined if they qualified for heating assistance. If they did, then they could receive monetary assistance to meet heating costs."

According to Ricki Clark, of the Kentucky Cabinet for the Commonwealth, the delay in federal approval for the program is not unusual.

"We usually expect the funding to be approved between November and January," said Clark. "If the request for $5.2 million is increased by Congress, the extra funding will probably go into funding for the second phase of the program."

This second phase, designed for low income families in heating crises situations, is scheduled to begin Jan. 8 and run through April 27. Earmarked for the program statewide is $10.2 million. The program is tailored to meet the needs of families who are facing heat loss within five days because of unpaid bills, or who require emergency repairs to their heating systems, including wood and coal burning units.

In Floyd County, applications for assistance can be placed at the Big Sandy Community Action Center in Allen.

Robinson assured applicants that, while it is unclear when funding for the program will be approved, in all likelihood funds should eventually be available to meet the needs of area residents.

"Last year the state received the funding in mid-November," said Robinson. "Once funding is approved and the President signs the bill, it should only be a matter of a few weeks before assistance checks begin to arrive."

For information on emergency heating assistance, call the Big Sandy Emergency Action Center in Allen at 874-2965 or the Christian Appalachian Project in Martin at 285-5111.

City Assumes RW&B Day Debts

Martin City Council agreed Wednesday evening to assume the approximately $900 in outstanding debts currently owed by the Martin Red, White and Blue Day Committee.

After an initial request by committee members for a temporary loan to meet outstanding debts, Councilman Denzil Halbert proposed that the city pay the entire debt, which was supported by the full council. Halbert also received a plaque from the committee in recognition for his work and support for the yearly event, which, despite poor weather this year, was considered a success.

The Red, White and Blue Day Committee gave notice that the committee had completed its contract with the city and that it was officially dissolved. Council agreed to examine proposals for continuing the yearly celebration with greater city involvement in sponsorship and planning.

In other action, council passed a resolution to place a red light in downtown Martin to cut down on speeding problems. The resolution requested the light be placed at the intersection of Bridge St. and Rt. 1428, and will be given to State Rep. Greg Stumbo for consideration.

Police Chief Herschel Lester reported that vandalism had been stopped at the Pageant Hills housing project, following increased police patrols. Mayor Raymond Griffith also expressed concern over the use of city police vehicles, requesting that they be used strictly for city business.

In final action, Halbert requested that the council be provided with more information about city activities.

"We are one of the most uninformed councils in Kentucky," said Halbert. He requested that the police and fire departments, city clerk, and water department provide verbal reports at each council meeting.

Council then entered into executive session with city attorney Dan Caudill to discuss litigation cases which involve the city.

Present at Wednesday's meeting were Mayor Griffith, and council members Halbert, E.P. Grigsby, Earrit Hayes, and Joe Simpson. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Dec. 6.

Wheelwright will win a seat, as there are only four places and nine people running, to include: Danny Bates, Jerry Keith Tackett, Larry J. Mullins, Vince Bates, Dennis Holbrook, David M. Sammons, Jerry Tackett, Donald Johnson and Dennis Harris.

The other city commissioner race is in Allen, where five candidates compete for four seats: Edward J. Holman, Billy R. Rowe, Elmer Parsons, Anna Lee Bentley and Gary L. Elliott.

The final contested race is for magistrate, in all four districts. In District One, Republican candidate Gorman Collins Jr. runs against incumbent Gerald DeRossett. James D. Fitzpatrick runs on the Independent ticket against Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens in District Two.

Incumbent Betty Caudill is competing against Curtis Hall, who is a Republican, for magistrate in District Three. And, in District Four, Republican Keith Moore seeks to unseat Democrat Erma Tackett from his position on Fiscal Court.

According to Wilma Haley of the Floyd County election board, anyone who has moved from the place where they were registered since the close of the books on Oct. 10 may still vote, this one time, at their previous precinct. She reminds voters that they must cast their ballots at the place where they live.

She said that anyone with questions can call the County Board of Elections at 886-3816, 886-3817 or 886-3820.

Times Advertising Staff Changes

BRENDA CROUCH

Floyd County Times Publisher Marty Backus this week announced the appointment of Valerie Hall as interim advertising manager, following the resignation of Brenda Crouch, who is leaving the newspaper to pursue a career in art and graphic design.

Crouch, who has been with the Times six years, served the last year as advertising manager. She holds a bachelor's degree in commercial arts and plans to advance her art career, and perhaps open her own studio. Serving as interim ad manager will be Valerie Hall. Hall joined the Times staff this past summer and, said Backus, "has made great strides since then." She came to the paper from the Williamson Dailey News, Pikeville office, where she was also in sales. Hall has one young son and is a Johnson County native. Her husband still lives in Pikeville, but they are hoping he will be transferred soon.

Also joining the sales staff is Kimberly L. Frasure, an advertising representative. Frasure is a 1978 graduate of Wheelwright High School and attended Prestonsburg Community College. She is the daughter of Alvin Little of Price and Patricia VanHoose of Paintsville.

She formerly worked as feature writer and promotion director for the now-defunct Prestonsburg Post News Magazine. Frasure has two daughters, Ashleigh and Tiffany, who attend Prestonsburg Elementary.

Blackcats To Go Against Morgan Pirates In Tonight's District Championship Game

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

This is the haunting season. If there is one game that haunts the Prestonsburg Blackcats, it is their loss to Leslie County three weeks ago. The 'Cats had a comfortable 21-6 lead at halftime, only to lose 28-21.

However, everything up to this point doesn't matter for the Prestonsburg Blackcat football team. Past games are not of much importance. What does matter and what is important is the task that lies ahead of Coach Bill Letton's squad as it prepares to meet the Morgan County Pirates in tonight's match up at Morgan County. The winner will win outright the District 2 crown and advance into the playoffs.

Both teams enter tonight's contest with identical records: they are 4-6 overall, and 3-1 in District 2 play.

The job before the Blackcats will be to stop the passing game of the Pirates. Experience at the quarterback spot will be a big plus for the Pirates in Jamie Easterling (5'10", 150). With Easterling calling the signals, the Pirates will pass the ball more than they run it.

Betsy Layne coach Gerald Newsome, whose Bobcats lost at Morgan County earlier, sees the Blackcats winning "if they can stop the Pirate's passing game." Newsome doesn't believe that the Pirates will be able to contain Prestonsburg's running game.

Blackcat defensive coordinator Bill Hopman echoes the same sentiment. "I don't think they will be able to stop our running game," he said.

Magoffin County head coach Chuke Williams says that Morgan County is a hard place to win. His Hornets lost to Morgan County, 9-8, in the mud and rain on a 44-yard field goal. But he sees Prestonsburg a touchdown favorite in the title game.

Regardless of the outcome of the Morgan County-Prestonsburg contest, coach Tom Searcy's Yellowjackets of Whitesburg will be the number two team that comes out of District 2 competition and will play a tough Corbin team in the first round of the playoffs. Searcy's Yellowjackets also know what it is to have to play at Morgan County.

"We lost to them 9-6," the Yellowjackets mentor stated. "It is a tough place to play. I have to favor Morgan County in this one. Prestonsburg, I feel, came out of the gate at the start of the season like gangbusters. Then they lost by some big margins that hurt them. I do, however, feel if Prestonsburg can overcome those large losses at Danville and Pikeville they have a shot at it." Prestonsburg also defeated the Yellowjackets, 7-6, earlier in the year.

Prestonsburg will be ready for this one, just as they were for M.C. Napier. Forget what happened yesterday; tonight is what matters. The 'Cats have met the challenge before, and they can do it again.

Betsy Layne Visits Pikeville Tonight To Close Out Season

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

The season began in the midst of speculation whether there would be a football team at Betsy Layne High School. After Gerald Newsome was named coach, practice began.

The Bobcats had a winning streak of three games in succession. Their 3-7 win-loss record may not be that impressive, but for a team put together quickly, the Bobcats have shown a lot of spirit — thanks in part to the excellent coaching staff at Betsy Layne.

Tonight that same team will close out its season with the Pikeville Panthers, who are a good bet to repeat as state champions for the third year in a row. The game will be played at Pikeville with an 8 p.m. starting time.

"We shouldn't be playing Pikeville," Coach Newsome stated. "We're not in their league. This is the first of a three year contract with them. I would prefer to play more county schools. We may be there in three years."

The Bobcats come into tonight's game with a four game losing streak, most recently a 19-6 loss to Lawrence County. Pikeville, on the other hand, is riding a five game winning streak.

The Bobcats will have to find a way to stop Division I college prospect James Bailey. Panther quarterback Jason Howard has favorite receiver Johnny Hale to look for in the passing game.

The Bobcats will have to dig into the trenches against the Panthers' powerful running game.

What better to close a season than to have a shot — no matter how long it may be — at the defending state champions?

Osborne Lady Eagles Drop Two; Win One

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

It was a busy time for the Lady Eagles of Osborne last week in grade school basketball.

The Lady Eagles dropped two games while winning one.

Osborne defeated the Harold Lady Red Devils 35-23 behind the 12-point performance of Candace Holbrook. Osborne lead at the first stop, 10-8, and pulled out to an eight-point advantage at half time, 17-9.

Besides Holbrook's 12 points, Chrystal Martin added 11 in the win. Chrystal Isaac tossed five points.

Jessica Hamilton was top scorer for the Lady Red Devils with 13 points. Melinda Gearheart and Della Flannery added four each.

In the second game for the Lady Eagles, who played McDowell, Stacy Shepherd scored 15 points to lead the Lady Daredevils to a 35-24 victory over Osborne. Susan Stevens netted 11 points for McDowell in the win.

Candace Holbrook and Chrystal Isaac shared scoring honors for the Lady Eagles with eight points apiece.

Against Beckham County, the Lady Eagles had a hard time in the first half in finding the basket as they trailed at the half, 17-6. A 12-5 run in the third quarter pushed the Combs team out by 18 points, 29-11. The loss caused the Lady Eagles to fall to 1-3 on the season.

J. Caudill led the Combs team from Knott County, with nine points. K. Smith added eight.

Chrystal Martin was tops for the Lady Eagles with seven points. Chrystal Hall netted six.

Auxier "Miss Hornet" Court

Stephanie Johnson was crowned as the 1989 Miss Hornet at the homecoming events Wednesday night at Auxier Elementary School. Johnson is the daughter of Larry and Debbie Johnson of Auxier and was escorted by Chip Burchett of Auxier.

Auxier "Little Miss" Court

Homecoming events were held at the Auxier Elementary School gym Wednesday night as Deanna Wells was crowned "Little Miss Hornet" between the girl's and boy's basketball games. Wells is the daughter of Donald and Dreama Wells of Auxier and was escorted by Toney Honeycutt.

Sports Laughs

Two basketball coaches from separate schools were discussing some of their players in the coach's office.

The visiting coach says, "I have the dumbest player on my team that anybody else could ever have."

The other coach says, "Not so! I have the dumbest player that anybody could ever have."

"Let me show you how dumb my player really is," the host coach said. So he calls in his player and says, "Here's a quarter, go down town and buy me a Cadillac." The player says, "Sure thing, coach."

"That's nothing," says the visiting coach, "watch this," as he calls in his player. "Go down to my office and see if I'm there," the visiting coach states. "You bet, coach," his bright player states.

The two players meet in the hallway.

"Boy, I have the dumbest coach in the world. He gave me a quarter to go down town to buy a Cadillac."

"No, I have the dumbest coach in the world," the other player politely replied. "He sent me down to his office to see if he was there. All he had to do was pick up the phone and call."

Mike Burke's reign at the top was shortlived as Editor Anne Chaney made a comeback with just three misses last week. Publisher Marty Backus is wondering where he went wrong in his picks as he remains tied for third place with Sports Editor Ed Taylor. Bookkeeper Kim Little is on a roll, getting 9 of 11 correct. The forecasters see the Wildcats clawing the Bearcats this time around. Prestonsburg is the choice in the high school showdown with Morgan County. Look for Cleveland to win as well as Cincinnati. Eastern Kentucky may hold the top spot in the rankings with a win over Middle Tennessee.

Osborne Wins Two, Beats Harold, McDowell

by Ed Taylor,
 Sports Editor

Coach Meredith Slone's Osborne Eagles won two basketball games last week with victories over the Harold Red Devils and the McDowell Daredevils.

In the first game of the season for the Eagles, John Hall tossed in 20 points to lead Osborne to a 51-43 victory over the Red Devils.

Osborne found the range early in the game, moving out to an 18-8 first quarter lead over Harold. The Red Devils caught fire in the second quarter and cut the Eagles' 10 point lead down to three, 25-22, by the half.

Osborne extended its lead to 11 points by outscoring the Red Devils, 15-7, in the third quarter. McDowell's rally in the fourth period was not enough as the Eagles defeated Harold, 51-43.

Besides Hall's 20 points, Osborne placed two other players in double figures. Charles Johnson added 15 points and Chad Slone tossed in 10. Barry Clark led the Red Devils with 15 points. Brian Hunter had 14 points and Greg Hunter netted eight.

In the second game against McDowell, Chad Johnson scored 18 points to help the Eagles win over a good McDowell squad, 42-35.

Osborne took a first quarter lead of 10-7, but trailed at the half 20-17. The Eagle defense went to work in the third period and held the Daredevils to two third quarter points while outscoring them 18-2.

John Hall had eight points for the victorious Eagles. Shannon Newsome had a good game for the Daredevils with 20 points. Allen Moore added seven.

...Independence...Cooperation...Experience...

The four council members listed below are all seeking re-election and would like to state the following:

INDEPENDENCE—Each of us remains independent and non-aligned. Our voting records will show many issues upon which we have agreed and many issues upon which we have disagreed. We work for you and vote for you—not for any special interest.

COOPERATION—At the same time our disagreeing has often led to a cooperative compromise which then serves the interests of the city-at-large. During our service we have always come back together and enacted resolutions and ordinances which serve the best interests of our community.

EXPERIENCE—Among us we have twelve years of service on the Prestonsburg City Council and many years of community service in our jobs or other functions. We have regularly attended council meetings, committee meetings, community functions, and traveled wherever called, to represent the interests of Prestonsburg.

We feel that these qualities do make for a strong council.

ANN LATTA ANSWERS

Dear Voters of Prestonsburg:

The main issues of this campaign have been distorted by all sorts of half-truths, half-baked accusations and harassment. My opponent and his family are spending thousands of dollars on advertising aimed at misleading you—the voter.

My record as your mayor is open for all to see—city improvements, a balanced budget, and achievements that have drawn state-wide recognition.

I am proud of my record. And, I am proud of the City of Prestonsburg. I believe in building for the future—not in tearing down for a political campaign.

There are too many wild accusations being made to try to answer them all, but you can judge the truth by these examples:

Conflict of Interest? Larry Brown was hired as City Attorney by the previous administration—2 years before I took office. He and Cliff do not have a partnership—they share law offices. However, to be sure I was in the right, I asked the Attorney for the Kentucky League of Cities in January 1986 whether there would be any conflict of interest if Larry continued as City Attorney. He informed me there was not. Larry Brown is very qualified, capable and honest and has served the city well.

No Invitation? Paul Joseph was present at the Council meeting on October 10, 1988, when I asked all of the Council members to be part of a delegation to go see Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant about problems the city had with traffic on U.S. 23 and other state-maintained highways in the city. How could he have not known?

Political Activity. No city employee has ever been ordered by me to support any political candidate or to campaign for one, including myself. No employee has ever been hired, fired or forced to resign for political reasons.

I have also been accused of being a dreamer, and maybe I am. Our Senior Citizen Recreation Area at Archer Park started as a dream. The Youth Center Program started as a dream. This whole country started as a dream, but it takes "doers" to make the dreams come true. I have many more dreams for the future of Prestonsburg, and with your help and support I will be working full-time as your Mayor for the next four years to make these dreams come true.

Spotted Bass Are Different Breed Of Cat, Says Pro

Are some bass harder to catch than others? Definitely, says Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff member Tom Mann Jr., particularly if that bass is a spotted bass rather than a largemouth. "You have to change your way of thinking about fishing when you go after 'spots,'" he says, "because they're a different breed of cat. They may live together in the same lakes and you can catch them with largemouths, but overall, spotted bass act differently and are more difficult to hook consistently." Mann should know. He lives near Lake Lanier in Georgia, an impoundment generally regarded as one of the best spotted bass lakes in America. For years, Mann supported his family as a spotted bass guide there. "Spotted bass are a different subspecies," explains the popular Evinrude pro, "and their distribution is generally confined to the South and Midwest, although California now has a good spotted bass fishery, and in fact, holds the world record." "The interesting aspect of the California fishery, however, is that it was started years ago from spotted bass caught in Alabama and transported out there."

Spotted bass generally require smaller lures and lighter lines, says Mann, because the fish like clear water. They're frequently deeper than largemouths, and they often suspend rather than hold tight to structure or cover. Because the fish suspend a lot in the fall and early winter months, Mann suggests looking first for baitfish, which will also be suspended.

To do this he zig-zags across creek and river channels studying his depthfinder. His depth range is usually between 10 and 25 feet. "One I find the baitfish," he explains, "I look next for structure at that same depth. Flooded timber, rocks, even the ends of long points that correspond to the same depth of the baitfish, are all good places to look for spotted bass."

Small four-inch plastic worms are among the best lures for spotted bass, according to Mann. Plastic grubs also catch a lot of fish, as do jugging spoons. Mann likes to drift his plastic lures through the suspended bass, but when he's using spoons he fishes vertically. "Occasionally spotted bass hide underneath schools of baitfish," he notes. "If you can drop your spoon through the bait and jig it so the lure resembles an injured minnow, you have a good chance of catching a fish."

P'Burg Goes To 6-0 With Win Over Wasps

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

Once Ashland Gearheart's Prestonsburg Elementary Blackcats solved the Jason Martin problem, his Blackcats went on to defeat the Wayland Wasps, 69-41, in basketball action Wednesday night. Dammon Stepp scored 21 points in the win. Stepp, who had his problems finding the basket earlier in the season, has been on a hot streak of late, getting 15 against Martin Monday night and leading the Blackcats over Wayland with 21 points. Jason Martin, Wayland's stand-out, netted 15 points in the first quarter as the Blackcats had problems in containing the high scorer. "He really hurt us in the first period," Blackcat mentor Gearheart stated. "He is a tremendous player." The Blackcats finally went to a box and one with the chaser on Martin in the second and third quarters, holding Martin scoreless. "We had Thomas Ratliff and Greg Jones chasing him the second and third quarters," Gearheart said. "He did get 13 points in the fourth period, but we sort of slacked off then with the game in control." Wayland led at the first stop, 15-14. Gearheart's Blackcats lead at the half by four, 31-27.

A 18-7 blitz in the third period enabled Prestonsburg to pull away to a 15 point advantage, 49-34 as the Blackcats went on to record their sixth win of the season against no defeats. Prestonsburg placed four players in double figures. Besides Stepp's 21 points, Chad Caldwell tossed in 14 points. David Gearheart netted 13 and Charles Shell added 10 points. Martin was the game's top scorer with 28 points for Wayland. Todd Hansford added 11 for the Wasps.

Maytown Rolls Past Prater

The Maytown Wildcats, having one of their better seasons for a few years, defeated the Prater Cougars 51-34 for their ninth win of the season against a single defeat.

Maytown opened the game hot as they moved out to a 31-14 half time lead as Clark seemed unstoppable. Both teams played evenly in the second half as a 15-6 run by the Cougars brought Prater back to within six at the end of the third period. Maytown outscored the host school 14-5 to win easily over the Cougars.

Besides Clark's 29 points, Chris Halbert had six points. The win improved the Wildcats' record to 9-1 on the year. The loss was Prater's sixth.

Clark Slips By Auxier

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Dale Hamilton's Clark Indians spoiled the homecoming festivities for the Auxier Hornets as they won their first game of the season with a 39-35 come-from-behind victory.

Auxier had beaten the Indians in an earlier encounter at the Clark gym. The Indians exchanged the favor with a victory in the Auxier gym Wednesday night. It was also homecoming for the Auxier school as they crowned a new homecoming "Miss Hornet" and "Little Miss Hornet."

The Indians were led in scoring by Jeff Johnson with 11 points. The Hornets led at the end of the first quarter, 8-4, as both teams opened cold. Clark trailed by one, 17-16, at the half.

Free throw shooting hurt the Hornets, usually good free throw shooting team, as they missed 10 charity tosses in the game. Clark canned 15 free tosses, including eight by Jeremy Osborne.

T-Tom Slone had eight points in the game for Clark, as did Osborne. The Hornets were led by Jason Slone with 18 points. Steve Adkins and Jason Burke each added eight points. Auxier falls to 4-5 and Clark improves to 1-8.

Clark 4 12 10 13 (39): T-Tom Slone, 4 0-0 8; Jeremy Osborne, 0 8-12 8; Jeff Johnson, 4 3-5 11; Mike Arnett, 0 1-2 1; Jason Osborne, 1 3-5 5; Carlos Cooley, 3 0-3 6.

at Auxier 8 9 10 8 (35): Jason Slone, 9 0-1 18; Merlin Osborne, 0 1-4 1; Steve Adkins, 3 2-5 8; Jason Burke, 4 0-0 8; Ervin Osborne, 0 0-1 0.

In the girl's game, the Clark Lady Indians defeated Auxier 32-3 to give them a win-loss record of 9-1. The lone defeat came at the hands of the Dorton Elementary girls basketball team, rated as one of the best in the region.

Cristy Little, Andrea Shepherd and Kathy Webb each scored six points for the Lady Indians. Geri Charles scored all three points for the Lady Hornets.

Clark 12 6 4 10 (32): Cristy Little, 6; Andrea Shepherd, 6; Rebecca Webb, 2; Maria Hicks, 4; Jamie Clay, 4; Kathy Webb, 6; Aleshia Compton, Nanna Allen, 2.

at Auxier 0 0 2 1 (3): Geri Charles 3.

My Secret Place

I had a secret place I called my own,
It was half way up the hill, behind my home.
When everything went wrong and I was feeling low
To my secret place I'd always go.
It was so quiet and peaceful there in the woods,
I would lose my worries there, I always could.
My secret place was a moss covered rock
Surrounded by many beautiful tall trees,
The tops so high, almost touched the sky
As they swayed back and forth,
Moved by the soft gentle breeze.
Here in my secret place, I could put
All my troubles away,
At least for a little while.
I could put away my troubles, and
Feel free, even force myself to smile.
Here in my secret place, I could remind Myself of all the good things I had
And there surrounded by the trees
Nothing in my life seemed so bad,
I think everyone should have a
Secret place, away from their home
When they could slip away,
For a short time, and be alone.
Though many years has passed,
I think of my secret place,
And still feel that it is mine
When I remember the peace I Found there.
I wish I could return there,
For a short time.
I still remember the peaceful moments
I spent there all alone.
When I put all my troubles away
From me
I would climb down from my secret place.
And with head held high,
A smile on my face,
I would return to my children
And my home.

Your Love Lingers On And On

I've read the story of love
I've talked to the man above
Wrote a hundred goodbye songs
Still your love lingers on and on.

All your pictures I've hidden away
All our old records I don't play
Burn the pillows we slept on
Still your love lingers on and on.

Darkness said that I could cry
Shadows told me don't you lie
This heart knows the true song
Still your love lingers on and on.

One thousand tears I must fight
Outside there's a new morning dawn
And still your love lingers on and on.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

Matilda Meade (3-13), born 1791, in Virginia, married February 27, 1812 in Floyd County, Solomon Akers Jr., born ca. 1790 in Virginia. Robert Meade signed the marriage bond.

NOTE: The information listed below was extracted from "The East Kentuckian," published by Henry Scaif, Vol. XII March, 1977, and was written by Rudolph Stepp.

In 1838, Solomon Jr. and "Mattie", sold several tracts of land on Mud Creek, (see Deed Book D Page 313, Floyd Co.). We learn from Ms. Sheila Allen, 2406 Kansas Ave., Santa Monica, Calif. 90404, that Solomon and Matilda moved to Jackson County, Missouri, by 1840. We learn further from Ms. Allen, that Solomon Jr. remarried in 1857 to Susan McCraw. As to the issue of Solomon Jr. and Matilda, it can be deduced from the record that at least one son remained in Floyd Co. Ky. (END OF QUOTE)

We find in Deed Book "K"—Page 122—Cass County, Missouri, that Solomon and Matilda sold to Hiram Owens, (a son-in-law) on "the 7th day of November, 1844, 168 acres of land in the county of Van Buren, and state of Missouri, for $200." ETC.

Next we find on the same page, a correction to that same deed made on 20th day of May A.D., 1858. It seems that when Solomon and Matilda made the original deed that there was a slight mistake in one of the boundaries. However, this deed is signed by Solomon and Susan McCraw Acres, and it states that "Matilda the former wife of Solomon" were the original signers.

NOTE: Solomon Acres married Susan McCraw in Jackson County, State of Missouri, May 12th A.D. 1847. (P-151- BK 1-2-3 Jackson County, Missouri)

In the corrected deed referred to above, it states that Hiram Owens-deceased. It also is transferring title to Reuben Meade, as administrator of Hiram Owens Estate on May 20, 1858.

The following will, dated Sept. 29, 1842, is found in Will Book B- Page 131-in Cass County, Missouri. (Formerly Van Buren Co.)

I, Solomon Acres, of the state of Missouri in the county of Van Buren do make this my last will: First I give and devise unto Matilda Acres, my beloved wife of the county of Van Buren and state aforesaid during her natural life all and every my messuag. Lands, tenements and hereditaments with the appurtenances, where I am seized in fee simple, situate lying and being in the state of Missouri in the county of Van Buren, that I myself now live on the waters of the Middle Fork of Grand River, to wit: The West half of the North East and the East half of the North West of Section No. 9 in Township No. 43 and Range 32 containing 160 acres more or less, to have and to hold all and every the said messuages the said Matilda Acres and at her death I want the land equally divided between my four youngest children, to wit: Huldah Acres, Henry Acres, Larking Acres, Silvester Acres and all the balance of my property—except one dollar each of the rest of my children shall be entitled to the sum of one dollar each.

Solomon X (His Mark) Acres Signed and published and delivered by the said Solomon Acres as and for his last will and testament in the presence of us who at his request have signed as witnesses to the same in his presence and in the presence of each other this the 26th day of September 1842.

NOTE: The foregoing instrument of writing was delivered to me for record on the 27th day of September

A.D. 1842 and by me duly recorded, this 29th September 1842.

James C. Jackson Recr.

There is no correction to this will, even after Solomon's marriage to Susan McCraw, that has been found to this writer's knowledge.

Children: (1820 Floyd Cen.) 4 males under 10 years.
1 male 26 and under 45 (Solomon);
1 female 16 to 26 yrs. (Matilda).

It is known that Solomon Akers was qualified as one of the sureties for the estate of Robert Meade (#3), his father-in-law, in 1825.

He is listed in the 1830 Floyd Census as having the following people at his household: 1 male under 5 yrs.; 1 male 5 yrs. under 10 yrs.; 3 males 10 but under 15 yrs.; 1 male 15 yrs. but under 20 yrs.; 1 male 20 yrs. but under 30 yrs. (Johnathon W. Akers??); 1 male 40 but under 50 yrs. of age. (Solomon. B-1790 in 1830 would be 40 yrs. old); also 1 female under 5 yrs. of age; 1 female 5 but under 10 yrs.; 1 female thirty but under 40 yrs. (Matilda Mead, born 1791= 39 yrs.)

The following child is the only known to have remained in Floyd County, Ky.: #75 Jonathan Wesley Akers, born 1814; married Sarah Howell, born 1817.

This will injects another question about the affairs of Solomon: 1—Did Solomon later correct this will to include Susan, his present wife, 2—was the estate divided as prescribed by Solomon after the death of Matilda.

Due to the discovery of the last will and testament of Solomon Akers, we learn the names of the four youngest children of his marriage to Matilda Mead Akers.

Children named in his will: (Order of birth, unknown): #100 Abigail Akers, married Hiram Owens, April 18, 1838 in Floyd Co., Ky.; #101 Huldah Akers, #102 Henry Akers, #103 Larking (Larkin) Akers; #104 Silvester (Sylvester) Akers.

NOTE: The above mentioned Sylvester Akers, (#104) and Larkin (#103) is reported to have ridden with Quantrell and his infamous outlaw raiders during the Civil War. It is also written that Sylvester died in the same barnyard in Spencer County, Kentucky, where Quantrell received his fatal wound that caused his death 5 days later in Louisville, where he was taken by the union soldiers that surrounded and captured him. (The above was extracted from a story in the East Kentuckian, by Henry Scaif.

Breast Cancer Support Group To Meet

For the first time in Eastern Kentucky, a support group for women who have been treated for breast cancer, or who are facing treatment, is meeting to form a permanent organization, according to Kathy Rubado of Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Sponsored by the Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center, the luncheon meeting will take place at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 11, in the cafeteria at the hospital in Prestonsburg. Admission is free.

The meeting will feature guest speaker Rosemary Graves of the Thursday Group, a breast cancer support organization which has successfully helped women in the Lexington area for several years.

The emerging support group will help women, through the sharing of experiences, better cope with the physical, psychological and relational difficulties of breast cancer and its various types of therapies or treatment, Rubado said.

These may include radical surgery, chemotherapy and radio-therapy treatments which may be disfiguring and painful, Rubado explained.

Future presentations will include such topics as reconstructive plastic surgery options and other positive recovery programs, as well as community breast cancer awareness.

For more information, call Denise Queen, RN, Breast Center educator, at 1-800-533-HRMC.

For The Record

Hello,

I'm Lightning Joseph, past City Street Superintendent.

I would like to ask the voters of Prestonsburg to go out Nov. 7, and cast a vote for, Paul Joseph, for Mayor of Prestonsburg.

For the record, I would like to let the citizens of Prestonsburg know why I was forced to resign my duty as City Street Superintendent Feb. 22, 1988. I suffered shame and lost my home and had to leave the state to find employment.

- (1.) For doing the work for the people of our town and all the time I was doing the work, it was for you too, Mayor.
- (2.) For loaning the ton dump truck to the local business. (Which is not in the city). This was ordered by Freddy James, City Manager.
- (3.) For loaning cutting torches to a local garage for exchange of labor on some of our city street vehicles. This was okayed by City Manager, Freddy James.
- (4.) Was it right when you personally ordered me and several city employees to go and meet the Governor of your choice, which was not (Grady Stumbo) or our present Governor (Wallace Wilkinson)? While doing this it was out of city limits and at our city taxpayers' time.
- (5.) For taking the city truck out of town, Mayor, you know I lived at the top of Abbott Mountain. I left my residence due to marital problems and stayed a few nights at a local motel at my expense until I could work out my problems.
- (6.) Voters of Prestonsburg, I worked hard for our city—cleaning our streets, removing snow off the side street at Lancer, Goble Roberts, Cliffside and at all the stop signs in Prestonsburg.
- (7.) Mayor, you shamed me when you forced me to resign. You know I had no choice, because I know you had the power. I was replaced by your relative (Mike Meade), who resigned as a city police officer in 1987.

Voters, Go Out and Vote For

PAUL JOSEPH for MAYOR

On Nov. 7, 1989

Thank You,
Lightning Joseph

This Gravel was Paid for by ME!!

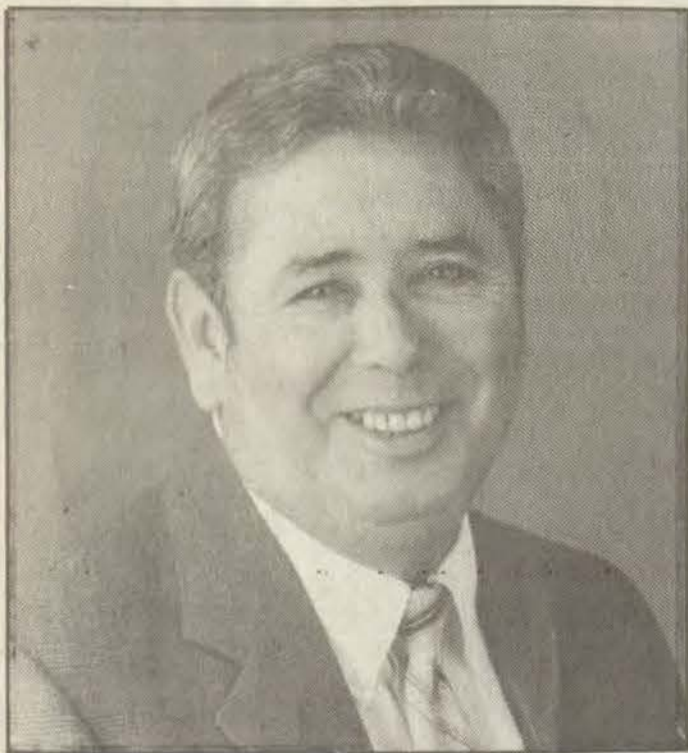

The gravel that was put on Campbell Branch Road last week was not paid for by anybody's tax dollars - EXCEPT -- mine! This bill from Mt. Enterprises #123323 was paid by my check #837, drawn on United Federal Savings for $154.53. The garbage truck turns around in my driveway and District #1 Magistrate, Gerald DeRossett, told me he would haul the gravel IF I would buy it. I did and he did. He has never lied to me. Thank you Gerald, my family and I appreciate your willingness to help us people in the head of hollers. I am asking all my friends to vote & support, Gerald DeRossett.

LET THE RECORD BE CLEARED

Mayor

First of all, let the record be stated clearly about how many meetings I have missed. One meeting that I had missed was because I was out speaking with our citizens about liquor by the drink, that you, Mayor Latta, broke a 4 to 4 tie vote to legalize booze by the drink.

Well Mayor, about other meetings that I have missed is because my mother, the late Geneva Joseph, was dying of cancer in a Louisville Hospital and I wanted to be with her what little time she had left to live. It was excused by you then and Mayor, you seemed to act concerned and assured me that it was alright to be with my now, deceased mother. I feel that it is only natural to be with our families at times of emergency crisis.

Mayor, you are right that I did not go to Frankfort with you and your guests. For one thing, I did not know about your plans on going and furthermore, I do not recall being asked or invited to go with you.

Mayor, you stated you went back in October of 1988 concerning the red lights being put in for the safety of our children. Mayor, don't be ridiculous. Why are you just now receiving a response? Was it because you did not go at all or just did not follow up on this plan concerning safety; or maybe it was because you were at the Planning Candidates Meeting of Floyd for Governor.

LET THE REAL FACTS BE KNOWN.

P.S. Mayor, it really saddens me that you would hold missing a couple of meetings to be with my dying mother, Geneva Joseph, against Me.

Thank you
Carl Joseph

HOROSCOPE

November 5 through November 11

By C.C. Clark

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)

Try to avoid hurting people and focus on the good in your life. A short trip needs to be planned to the last detail. Leave nothing to chance this week.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)

You can compromise with one who seems unthoughtful and arrogant. You will have a tendency to be quite lazy this week. Don't give in to temptation.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)

Things will seem to get off track this week at work. Just bide your time and plod along; it will all be better soon. Check into preventive health measures.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)

You gain a certain appreciation for an authority figure. A job crisis requires you to look to others for help. Someone arrogant is secretly attracted to you.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)

You could get lost on a false trail. You feel a great sense of loyalty and admiration for a loved one. You may be quite lucky where your career is concerned.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

You find tremendous strength when faced with a crisis. A decision is made at the end of this week about which direction your career should take.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

You meet someone who shares many of your interests. Don't let others get you down. Their attitude changes when they see what a great job you have done.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

You have been unfair in dealing with a friend or loved one about money. They did not understand your intentions. The situation must be cleared up immediately.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

You will be surprised by a sudden sexual attraction to someone you have been working closely with. A wish will be granted. You will feel less inhibited than usual.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)

An understanding of family members' feelings will be necessary this week. Your home situation needs to be improved, or there could be dire results.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)

You reach perfection in communication with co-workers and friends. Your social life will be quite full this week. Delays in your work may bring on some good news.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)

This would be a good week for you to rest and reflect. Friends and family will feel a little neglected. Show them you care with a small token of appreciation.

TV PIPELINE

Fred Astaire lent his voice to annual Christmastime show

By Polly Vonetes

Q: A number of years ago there was an animated Christmas cartoon released called, Santa Claus Is Coming to Town. It had the voice of Fred Astaire. My children and I loved this cartoon in the '50s and I've not been able to find it in any TV listing for many years. Any information you can give me will be greatly appreciated.—Sharon VanLieu, Sedona, Ariz.

A: Originally broadcast in December of 1970 on ABC-TV, Santa Claus Is Coming to Town had been repeated on the network annually at Christmastime. Write to: Audience Relations, ABC-TV, 1926 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10023 to inquire about the program and if it is in syndication or on video.

Q: I remember Catherine Bacon from Midland Park High School in New Jersey. In the late '60s she went to New York and appeared on Love of Life, but did she do anything after that? Years later Kevin Bacon appeared on the scene. Is he any relation to her?—Maureen Gley, Cape Coral, Fla.

A: Catherine Bacon appeared on Love of Life from 1969-1973. There is no listing for her after that time. Kevin Bacon is the youngest of six children in an upper-middle-class Philadelphia family. His father was a renowned city planner. In 1976, at the age of 18, he moved to New York to become an actor. I find nothing in their bios showing a relationship.

Q: I am a recent fan of Fay Wray, who appeared in the original King Kong movie. Can you give me some information about her career? Did she wear a blonde wig in King Kong? How may I write to her to show my appreciation for her work?—Timothy Auten, Concord, N.C.

A: Fay Wray was born on Sept. 15, 1907, in Alberta,

Fred Astaire

Canada. She first burst into stardom in The Wedding March, an incredibly long black and white, 1928 silent film. Considered one of the top leading ladies of the thirties, she starred in more than 90 films before "retiring" in 1942. During the '50s she played character roles in another 11. These films include: Small Town Girl, Queen Bee, Crime of Passion, Tammy and the Bachelor and a TV series, Pride of the Family. She has been married three times and is the mother of three; two daughters and a son. Since her marriage to Dr. Sanford Rothenberg in 1971, she has been living in a spacious Brentwood home in Los Angeles. Her naturally brown hair was capped by a blonde wig for the filming of King Kong. Write her c/o Screen Actors Guild, 7065 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

CABLE OVERVIEW

Robert Klein takes the stage at Montreal Comedy Festival

By Shelia Odak

On Wednesday, Nov. 8, HBO will present a unique comedy happening. The Montreal International Comedy Festival 1989 features comedians from all over the world performing their own special brands of humor. Spotlights are performers from such diverse locales as Spain and South Africa, and many comedians well-known to the American audience, such as Rich Hall, Jerry Seinfeld, Julie Brown and the inimitable Robert Klein.

Robert Klein

Working on this special gave Klein an opportunity to be more visible to a public he has been a little isolated from recently. "The thing that was nice was, I've tended the last few years to hibernate too much. I just got through a divorce. I was spending most of my time getting divorced, being a professional affidavit writer," he said.

Klein, who has always relied on thoughtful humor to get a laugh, used this opportunity to sound off on a variety of issues. The search for good material is not always easy, but Klein finds that he relies on the methods he used starting out in the business. "I develop it (material) in the method I learned at Second City. That is that a lot of the stuff that I've written was originally improvised—like a jazz musician—almost apart from my conscious self. That night in Montreal I think there was some stuff I had never said before, and there I was on a national television show."

But, he explained, the process doesn't end with thinking up the material. "And what happens is you have to take that and refine it and try it again. Turn it inside out and see how it works best. That's the more laborious process. Of course, improvisation is the most fun, but to have to take rough improvisation and refine it and tune it is not as much fun because you have to try and remember what you said, so it can't be as spontaneous as you like."

Klein, who has spent many years in the business as both a comedian and an actor, was delighted with the opportunity to work with some of today's brightest comic stars and also by the reception he received from them. The art of getting a laugh has experienced a boom in recent years, and stand-up performers are hotter and more numerous than ever. But, what does he think of the new breed of comics?

"There are really some very good people like Stephen Wright and Jerry Seinfeld. I must say that Sam Kinison makes me laugh, but I do have a Sam Kinison limit."

He does not, however, favor the vulgar and sometimes racist brand of humor utilized by performers such as Andrew Dice Clay. "I'm sorry that a kind of mediocre vulgarity and gratuitous cruelty has become almost a mean in many instances. I don't like unnecessary cruelty."

Ozark mountain folk and outsiders who want their land provides a keen insight to human emotions. John Wayne, Betty Field. 1941.

Books And Things

Reading Stuart Enjoyable, And Also Educational

by Trisha Morris,
PCC Librarian

The main reason for reading one of Jesse Stuart's books is, of course, the pleasure that it brings. Stuart has proven himself a masterful story teller, creator of character and laureate of the land.

But in addition, anyone wanting to understand Appalachia and its people must eventually read Stuart, for there are few writers who have so thoroughly absorbed their milieu and have so faithfully articulated it in literature.

Stuart's works display a panorama of Appalachian life—its tragedy and melodrama, its comedy and farce. Like Faulkner's "postage stamp" of earth, Stuart's literary domain is a cultural hinterland with characters rooted deeply into its soil and history.

The following books are only a sample of the titles by Jesse Stuart at the Prestonsburg Community College Library.

Daughter of the Legend: This is a fictitious, romanticized story set at the turn of the century about the people called Melungeons who lived in the hills of Tennessee. It is a story about love, prejudice and death.

The story begins when Dave Stoneking, a Virginia lumberjack who comes to cut lumber in the Tennessee hills. He falls in love with Deutsia Huntoon and then discovers the town prejudice when they refuse to allow him a license to marry a Melungeon. Full of local color and folklore, the story is a well-crafted romance that, although written with great license for melodrama, still serves as a peek into the times.

Cradle of the Copperheads: Jesse Stuart's copperheads do not slither on the ground—they sit in political office.

Stuart's autobiographical novel vividly recalls the year he spent as school-district superintendent in his native Greenup County. It is the story of a college-educated young upstart battling small-town political corruption, rural prejudice and ignorance. Stuart poured into Cradle of the Copperheads all the anger, frustration and bitterness he felt that crucial year.

Clearing in the Sky: Here are 21 tales from Kentucky's favorite story teller. Full of high, rambunctious humor these stories are Jesse Stuart at his best. Read here about the man who coveted a steam shovel and stole it piece by piece, or about the celebrated eating contest between Sam Whiteapple and the game rooster, or about the hill farmer who wanted to clear and farm one last spot of new ground before he died.

Superb tales of mountain folk by a superb craftsman of his art.

If I Were Seventeen Again: In this collection of autobiographical essays

Jesse Stuart expresses his feelings about his own education, the values of rural life, and the opportunities available in America for the student with a desire to learn.

A lover of nature and a conservationist, Stuart emphasizes the importance of learning from nature as well as from books. Sharing his teaching and administrative experiences in schools, Stuart tells of his desire to have education system progress not only in facilities and equipment but more importantly in meeting the needs of the individual student.

Kentucky is my Land: Kentucky's most prolific writer was also the state's poet laureate from 1954 until his death in 1984. This was his fourth collection of poems.

They were written during and immediately after WWII. In them, Stuart speaks as a patriotic American and as a Kentuckian convinced that his native state is the heart of the nation. He celebrates Kentucky's landscape and changing seasons, her traditions of horse racing, and the state's tradition of fighting in defense of the nation. Stuart writes also of the Kentuckians traditional devotion to family, home, freedom and productive work. He writes with caring concern about the land and its resources, and links the ownership of land to the preservation of freedom.

Very much a book of its time when first published in 1952, it is still a moving sentiment for anyone who cares about the land and future generations. And it is good Jesse Stuart reading.

Correction

In the anniversary announcement for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilcox Sr., (Wednesday, Nov. 1) their son Randy Wilcox was listed twice and their son Todd Wilcox not at all.

In the caption under the picture of the Crisp family (Wednesday, Nov. 1) the name of Joel Crisp was accidentally omitted.

He is the fourth man from the right, making the last two, William Riley Crisp and John Lowery Crisp.

The Times regrets the errors and any inconvenience they may have caused.

The only American author to win the Pulitzer Prize four times was poet Robert Frost.

Consumers Pleased With Real Estate Agents, According To NAR Survey

More than eight in 10 consumers were satisfied with the real estate agent they last used, and buyers and sellers believe their agents came very close to meeting their standards for the "ideal" agent, according to a survey by the National Association of Realtors.

In a telephone survey of more than 1,000 consumers who bought or sold homes between October 1987 and January 1989, respondents confirmed previous research that buyers and sellers want personalized service from agents.

"While overall buyer and seller satisfaction with agents is high, consumers have very high expectations for real estate agents," said Janet Scavo, 1989 chairman of NAR's Communications Committee, which commissioned the survey.

"Improvements need to be focused on keeping the best interests of buyers and sellers in mind; keeping consumers up to date; enhancing knowledge of mortgage financing, the housing market and the neighborhood and emphasizing professionalism," Scavo, a realtor from Denver, Colo., said.

She explained that the survey results showed while real estate agents believed consumers wanted agents who were involved in the community, educated, experienced and ethical, consumers said they also wanted agents who provided personalized service, information and time.

"The findings indicate that we, as agents, are doing a good job and that we should be proud of our profession," Scavo said.

"Even more encouraging is the fact that those interviewed were recent buyers and sellers, our customers. They gave us an above average rating on overall agent satisfaction—90 percent would use a real estate agent again in a future transaction, and more than 75 percent felt that their money was well spent on the agent's commission," she said.

Fred Prassas, 1989 vice chairman of the Communications Committee, said information from the survey can help NAR members in their day-to-day business. For example, he said the survey results may help agents in winning listings from potential and unsuccessful FSBO (for sale by owner) sellers.

The NAR survey reported that 16 percent of the sellers had tried to sell their homes themselves before turning to a real estate agent. "They paid a price," Prassas, a LaCrosse, Wisc., realtor said. "Their homes were on the market at least 50 percent longer than the homes of sellers who contacted a real estate broker at the outset," he said.

On average, it took repeat buyers 4.8 months to sell their homes. But, in cases where sellers first tried to sell their homes without professional help, the average was 7.4 months, according to the survey.

"Putting a home sale together is a lot more complicated than most people think," George W. Smith, a realtor from Columbus, Ohio, who serves on the Communications Committee, said in a recent interview with Realtor News, NAR's bi-weekly newspaper.

Full-Time Mayor

Day

1. I feel the day to day operation of the city can be improved by scheduling manpower more efficiently, and the city equipment should have better supervision of the work crews, and of scheduling the use of our city equipment.

Regular scheduled maintenance of the city equipment, proper service of our vehicles, so that they can respond to an emergency is a must and have our Police, Fire, Sanitation, and Street Maintenance vehicles checked and serviced on a regular basis.

Citizens, we pay a mechanic $15,000 per year to do the work on these vehicles, but you see the equipment at our local garage.

More money and more men are not the answer, only efficient administration of the employees and services to the citizens.

2. Economic development is best promoted by our actions here and by having our city clean and attractive. A mayor, working with the city council with no divisions pulling in opposite directions but seeking to build and improve on our utility services and improving our quality of living in Prestonsburg. Storm drainage systems should be funded and implimented immediately, not at ELECTION TIME. There are some areas in the city that do not have this needed and deserved service. Why not? The citizens are paying taxes for sidewalks and storm drainage systems that they should have had prior to the election. MY OPPONENT has had the time to do the Storm drainage systems and put sidewalks into the city for the last 3 1/2 years of her term, but she would rather have the citizens believe that the city was doing these things, when in fact PRESTONSBURG CITY UTILITIES COMMISSION has been doing the necessary repairs to the gas lines in the downtown area and are ONLY REPAIRING THE SIDEWALKS THAT they have to replace. Yet my OPPONENT still tells the citizens that she will replace the other sides of the street and you will have a nice NEW SIDEWALK after the election. The truth of the matter is this will not be done with PRESTONSBURG CITY UTILITIES COMMISSION FUNDS. And if you are one of the people who have been promised a new sidewalk after the election, BEWARE!

3. There has been no such appropriations for funding to the downtown area. We need a FULL-TIME person to work FULL-TIME for the Main Street programs, working hand-in-hand with the Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce and members of the Chamber, to up-grade our downtown area with any monies that could be obtained through State or Federal agencies. In conjunction with the Big Sandy ADD Board.

4. DREAMS COME EASY, WORK IS NEVER EASY. That is why I would take the necessary steps to call a ECONOMIC SUMMIT, with the area BANKERS of Prestonsburg and surrounding towns to propose BANKING ON SATURDAYS. This should help to spark a sluggish city economy. New innovative ways should be pursued not just by taxing the area businesses and the individual taxpayers out of PRESTONSBURG.

5. The citizens of Prestonsburg have a choice and the issues are clear and they should not be taken in by promises that won't be kept. Vote and Elect a proven businessman, a local homegrown businessman, born and raised in Prestonsburg, a man who pays taxes just like you and has no axes to grind at the public's expense. Vote for leadership, Vote for a Mayor that you can be proud of.

VOTE PAUL JOSEPH

A Full Time Mayor of Prestonsburg
