A Judicious Warning

Wet snow and slick roads faced motorists Wednesday night, when skies dumped a layer of sleet and snow on our area. Forecasters look for clear weather Friday, followed by the possibility of rain over the weekend.

Emergency Food Funding Received For Floyd County

Floyd County has been awarded more than $36,000 to provide for emergency food and shelter needs in the county over the next year.

The award has been granted through the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program (EFSN), which was created by the U.S. Congressional McKinney Homeless Assistance Act of 1988. The EFSN is charged with the responsibility of supplementing and extending ongoing efforts to provide shelter, food, and support services for the homeless throughout the U.S.

Floyd County and the surrounding region was chosen to benefit from the program on the basis of four criteria, says Greg Hamlin, home care coordinator for the Big Sandy Area Development District. The decision was made by examining unemployment rates, the total number of unemployed, the total number of individuals below poverty level, and the total population as a whole within the Big Sandy region.

The selection of regions to receive funds nationally was made by a national board composed of representatives of national volunteer organizations and chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

A local board, made up of Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo and representatives from various voluntary organizations such as the United Way, the Ministerial Association, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and others, will determine distribution of funds in Floyd County.

According to Hamlin, the Ministerial Association has been responsible in the past for receiving the funds and supervising food distributions. Hamlin noted, however, that any qualified organizations are encouraged to apply for funds.

Local governmental and private voluntary organizations are eligible to apply for the funds. An organization must have an accounting system, conduct an annual audit, practice non-discrimination, and, in the case of private organizations, have a voluntary board.

This program has been operating in the area for the past three years, says Hamlin. Nationally, $124.9 million was allocated for the program, but Floyd County has seen a slight decrease in funding since last year.

Hamlin noted that past funds have been well utilized in past years within the county.

Resourcefulness Premeates Resource Center Program

by Gwen Hall,
Freelance Writer

Parental resourcefulness permeated most of the presentations given during the Parent Resource Center's 3 1/2 hour Awareness Program held Monday at Prestonsburg Community College.

About 50 persons — parents, professionals, presenters and a few children — attended.

Kathy Hanon, a teacher at The David School and a Floyd County Parent Resource Center board member, moderated the program. Ten individuals addressed the group.

Harmon Leedy, coordinator of the Parent Resource Center, welcomed attendees and shared a bit of Resource Center history. Space donated by Mountain Comprehensive Care Center and monies raised by the senior class of The David School enabled the center's humble start. Leedy stated that more than 2000 special needs persons live in Floyd County and 836 of them are enrolled in Floyd County Schools.

Leesa Powers and Jennifer Walters spoke about their experiences as parents of handicapped children and what the resource center means to them and other parents.

Powers' 12-year-old daughter, Melissa, has had 15 surgeries. Walters spoke about the difficulty of getting psychiatric hospitalization for her daughter. She also said she hopes to start a group in January for parents of emotionally disturbed children.

Rita Conley of MCCC spoke about her agency's regional efforts at early intervention. An integrated preschool at Harold and a respite center at Paintsville provide services to special needs children before they are old enough to enter the regular school system. Conley insisted, however, that these and other currently offered programs, are "not enough."

Conley introduced Chris Brown, AISMR Director for MCCC, who talked about the agency's transitional programs for young adults with special needs. Brown discussed MCCC programs that encourage independent living by employment of, and recreation for, mentally handicapped and developmentally disabled adults. He also said Senate Bill 384, a Medicaid bill, would pay for expanded services to mentally retarded and developmentally disabled persons if passed.

Ogie Slone, director of Exceptional Child Education for Floyd County Schools, gave a lengthy presentation which she said she's given previously to the Floyd County Board of Education.

Slone spoke of the difficulty of hiring providers for services needed by special needs children. For example, last year there were three speech and language service providers; this year there is only one service provider available three days per week. Four of Floyd County's 21 schools receive no services.

Floyd County schools have two units for communication disorders, but one teacher is a part-time itinerant teacher who visits hearing-impaired children three times per week.

There are no units for visually impaired children, although nine visually impaired students use visual tech machines and/or large print texts to learn in regular classrooms.

Professional physical therapy services are available only twice each month. Classroom aides and parents administer daily therapy.

Floyd County physical education teachers have been inserviced to offer adaptive PE classes to special needs students. Slone said transportation services are most expensive. Although there are 30 students in wheelchairs, there is only one bus with a lift.

Slone also said the school system has but one nurse for 8500 children in 21 schools.

Slone said parents who think their child is not receiving an appropriate education should first go to the principal. If there are still unresolved problems, she said to call for an administrative review and to call her, Ogie Slone.

"If you're still not satisfied, go to whom ever you please," Slone said. "Get a lawyer or go to P&A (Protection and Advocacy of the Attorney General's Office)."

"But remember the rates attorneys charge," she said. "One due process hearing can go as high as $4000 and if you win, the school system has to pay those costs."

A member of the audience responded that such proceedings can be avoided. See RESOURCE CENTER, Page 8

Attendance Policy: What Does It Mean?

by Frank Clark,
Staff Writer

What will the Floyd County School Board's new attendance policy mean for county high school students and parents?

It will mean a fairer and more equitable system of dealing with students, says Pete Grigsby, executive assistant to school superintendent Ron Hager.

Grigsby has been a member of a committee working since August to bring greater coherence and fairness to existing attendance regulations. The committee included school board members, local directors of pupil personnel (DPP), high school principals, guidance counselors and state representatives.

At the Nov. 8 school board meeting, these changes were announced and over the past two weeks, Grigsby has been giving the information to parents and students throughout the county. Confusion arising among parents from the changes has prompted the board to more fully explain the important revisions in the former policy.

"One of the biggest problems the state focused on in Floyd County was in our attendance records at the high schools," said Grigsby. "Last year, our average daily attendance (ADA) rate was between 88 and 89 percent. The state minimum ADA is 93.5 percent. The state mandated that we develop a policy to address the problem."

The opening statement of the revised policy says: "There is a direct relationship between attendance and achievement; a day of school missed can never be entirely made up." Pursuant to this belief, the attendance committee made several important changes in existing policy.

First, it was decided that tardiness by students to individual classes would be considered an internal disciplinary problem, as described in the county Student Handbook. In past policy, lateness to any class would be recorded, and if it occurred nine times in one semester, the student could be removed from the class to a study hall for the rest of the semester. If the student was absent from all classes nine times, he or she could be removed from all of them. This policy, said Grigsby, didn't best serve the interests of the school or student.

"Our old policy didn't work well. Too many children had to be dealt with and were losing class time. The new policy will keep students in the classrooms."

Students will be checked for attendance in their homerooms in the morning and afternoon. From this, absences of half or full days will be determined. It will be these records, and not absences from individual classes, which will be used to determine if a student has been absent for nine days and is subject to removal from classes. Reports of tardiness or absence from classes will be dealt with separately and internally by principals and guidance counselors.

A second important change involves the time schedule for removing students from a class once nine days of absence have been recorded. In the past, said Grigsby, students were immediately removed from class and placed in a study hall. Now, following the policy change, a student won't be removed until "all due process appeals and procedures" have been completed. Students and parents have the opportunity to explain the absences to a committee, which allows the students to remain in class until a decision is made to confirm or deny the legitimacy of the appeal.

"This is a big improvement, because it allows the child to stay in class during the appeals process," said Grigsby. "If someone has six excused absences and three unexcused ones, it's not right that the child loses class time while an appeal goes on that will

New Group Forms To Help Retired Vets

By Tess A. Whitmer,
Staff Writer

A new organization is in the process of forming to assist retired veterans in finding employment in Eastern Kentucky.

This group is the first of its kind and is a self help group consisting of retired veterans and a few resource people, called the East Kentucky Veterans Job Connection.

One of those resource persons is Claude Ratliff, veteran representative at the Department of Employment Services. Ratliff established the need for the group through his job at the DES office, "there are over 200,000 civilian veterans in the Pike, Johnson, Floyd and Martin County area, and with the DES only receiving 20 to 30 percent of the job openings there is a hidden job market out there," Ratliff explained.

"With the help of all the veterans working together some of those jobs can be uncovered and filled with able and qualified veterans. It's like having numerous forward observers for the job market," he noted.

The idea came to Ratliff when a retired veteran named Frank Wiszniewski from Paintsville gave him information which led to 18 veterans being hired last year. "I thought that this could be a very viable source of information to help out all the veterans in the area, and that there should be some way to recognize the efforts of people such as Frank," Ratliff said.

He explained that the organization would be two-fold: First, getting retired veterans involved throughout the area and receiving information, which Ratliff will consolidate to disseminate to those vets looking for employment. And second, establishing a form of recognition for those members who give information leading to the hiring of a number of vets.

Vacant Houses Burn

The Allen and the Auxier Fire Departments both responded to two separate vacant house fires.

Craig Harmon of the Allen department reported that a house owned by Buddy Hatcher was "totally involved when the department got there" on Tuesday afternoon at about 2:30. The cause of the fire is undetermined and nine firefighters responded to the call.

Monday, Nov. 13, a house in Patton Hollow of Auxier suffered damages to its basement, according to Howard Ferguson, firefighter. The home was owned by Alfred Wilson and was also unoccupied. Eleven firefighters fought the blaze which allegedly was caused by an oil lamp, Ferguson reported, and they managed to contain the fire to the basement. The blaze caused little damage.

Incinerator Plans Dropped In Wolfe County

CAMPTON — Wolfe County Fiscal Court unanimously authorized the termination of the county's contract for a medical-waste incinerator on Tuesday.

Judge-Executive Danny Brewer and County Attorney Gary Rose were empowered to negotiate a termination of the contract with Waste Energy Inc. of North Carolina, which had hoped to burn 100 tons of out-of-state medical waste a day in the proposed facility. The company has threatened to charge the county over $100,000 to be released from the agreement. (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Drug/Murder Trial Gets Underway

WOLFE COUNTY — The trial of two Magoffin men, charged with the 1987 murder of a Winchester man over a drug deal, began Tuesday, as examination of preliminary evidence began in Wolfe circuit court.

James M. Arnett, 28, and Minnie C. Johnson, 24, both of Sawyersville, are accused of shooting Kent Leroy three times during a drug transaction involving 15 pounds of marijuana. Arnett and Johnson were apparently going to take the pot back to Magoffin County and decided not to pay for the transaction, according to Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Mike McGrath.

An eye witness, Brian Patrick, 24, of Ohio, is testifying for the prosecution. He has also been accused of possessing more than five pounds of marijuana. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Development Director Named For KRADD

BUCKHORN — The Kentucky River Area Development District's board of directors appointed Linda Gayheart on Tuesday, as Executive Director of the development district, succeeding current director Percy Elkins.

Gayheart, the present deputy assistant director, has been with the development district for the last 18 years.

Calls by local leaders for opening the selection process for the position up to competition were ignored by the board of directors. (Louisville Courier-Journal)

Johnson Woman Sentenced For Stolen Checks

PIKEVILLE — Karen Tipton, 34, of Hager Hill, was sentenced to 16 months in prison Monday, in federal district court, for unlawfully possessing six stolen checks belonging to a Paintsville physician.

Tipton was found guilty in September of the crime. She has also been ordered to make restitution for the checks and will be supervised for two years following her release from prison. Federal District Judge Karl Forester presided over the sentencing.

Bald Eagle Shooting Under Investigation

ASHLAND — U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service agents are investigating the shooting of a bald eagle in a strip mine, near Cannonsburg in Boyd County.

The six month female bald eagle had a wing span of seven feet, and is one of only 50,000 such birds in the entire U.S. The eagle is both the national bird and an endangered species. Extensive investigations normally follow such shootings.

A $1,000 reward has been posted for information leading to a conviction of whoever shot the bird. Penalties for the crime include a fine of $1,000 and more than a year in prison. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Local Champions Take Action

A group of champions met Tuesday in Prestonsburg.

Champions Against Drugs held a Teen Leadership Action Day on Tuesday at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg, drawing in student representatives from all high schools in the surrounding five counties.

The purpose of the action day, according to Russell Hall, co-chair of Champions in Floyd County, was to provide a one-day workshop to student leaders in the area, focusing on vital topics concerning today's youth. Presentation topics included Date Rape, Children of Alcoholics, Teen Pregnancy, and Taking Adolescents Lightly. Local professionals ran the workshops.

"We want children here to take the information presented and pass it on to other kids at their schools around the area," said Hall. "We want to inform young people about these issues which they have to deal with in today's world."

Champions Against Drugs was started in Kentucky under the Collins administration, and originally focused on involving athletes in promoting substance abuse awareness. The program expanded its focus and reach, moving into communities around Kentucky, through Comprehensive Care Centers. In Floyd County, the program is operated out of Mountain Comprehensive Care offices in Prestonsburg, under the direction of Chairman Mike Vance. Vance provided the keynote address at Tuesday's conference.

"The purpose of our program is to make needed changes in young peoples' perception of drugs and alcohol," said Lola Brashear, supervisor of the substance abuse prevention unit at Mountain Comprehensive Care. "We hope to involve the community increasingly in our efforts and welcome everyone to attend our monthly meetings."

Approximately 70 students were involved in Tuesday's program. Workshop directors included Eilene Recktenwald, Karen Petrey, Mary Petty, and Scott Walker.

Champions Against Drugs meets on the third Monday of each month. The next meeting will be held Dec. 18 at the May Lodge in Jenny Wiley State Park. All are welcomed to attend.

Signing For Change

Karen Petry, left, prevention consultant for Mountain Comprehensive Care, uses sign language to sing a song for area high school students participating in the Champions Against Drugs Teen Leadership Action Day in Prestonsburg Tuesday. Students from five counties participated in workshops and discussions, designed to promote issue awareness among young people.

Here, Tess Whitmer, staff writer at the Times, shows the students how the computer system plays a major part in the composing of the newspaper.

World AIDS Day To Be Observed December 1

World AIDS Day is observed in 166 countries including the United States each year on Dec. 1.

As part of the continuing effort to meet the challenge of the world wide epidemic of AIDS, World AIDS Day provides a forum for increased discussion, education and awareness, according to Jane Bond, health educator for the Floyd County Health Center.

The American Association for World Health, in cooperation with the World Health Organization, Pan American Health Organization and US Department of Health and Human Services, is coordinating United States activities for World AIDS Day, Bond explained.

The 1989 theme 'Our Lives, Our World: Let's Take Care of Each Other' and the continuing theme 'Join the Worldwide Effort' reflect the importance of individual involvement at all levels in addressing the global challenge of AIDS," Bond noted.

"This year, World AIDS Day activities will focus on youth. While young people may be more likely to engage in risk behavior, they may be less likely to be aware of the risks of HIV infection," she stressed. "Also, young people can be instrumental in organizing dynamic, imaginative and effective AIDS prevention activities.

"The ultimate goal is to have as many people possible in the US and around the world communicating about AIDS in order to heighten awareness of AIDS as a global problem and to create the solidarity essential to the worldwide effort against AIDS," she noted.

Staff from the Floyd County Health Department are available for presentations to church, civic and school groups on AIDS information, call the Health Department at 886-2788 for more information concerning AIDS education.

Retired Vets —

"This is an unique way of making the world small — a networking connection," he added. "I hope to see a lot of the veterans remaining part of the solution, and not part of the problem."

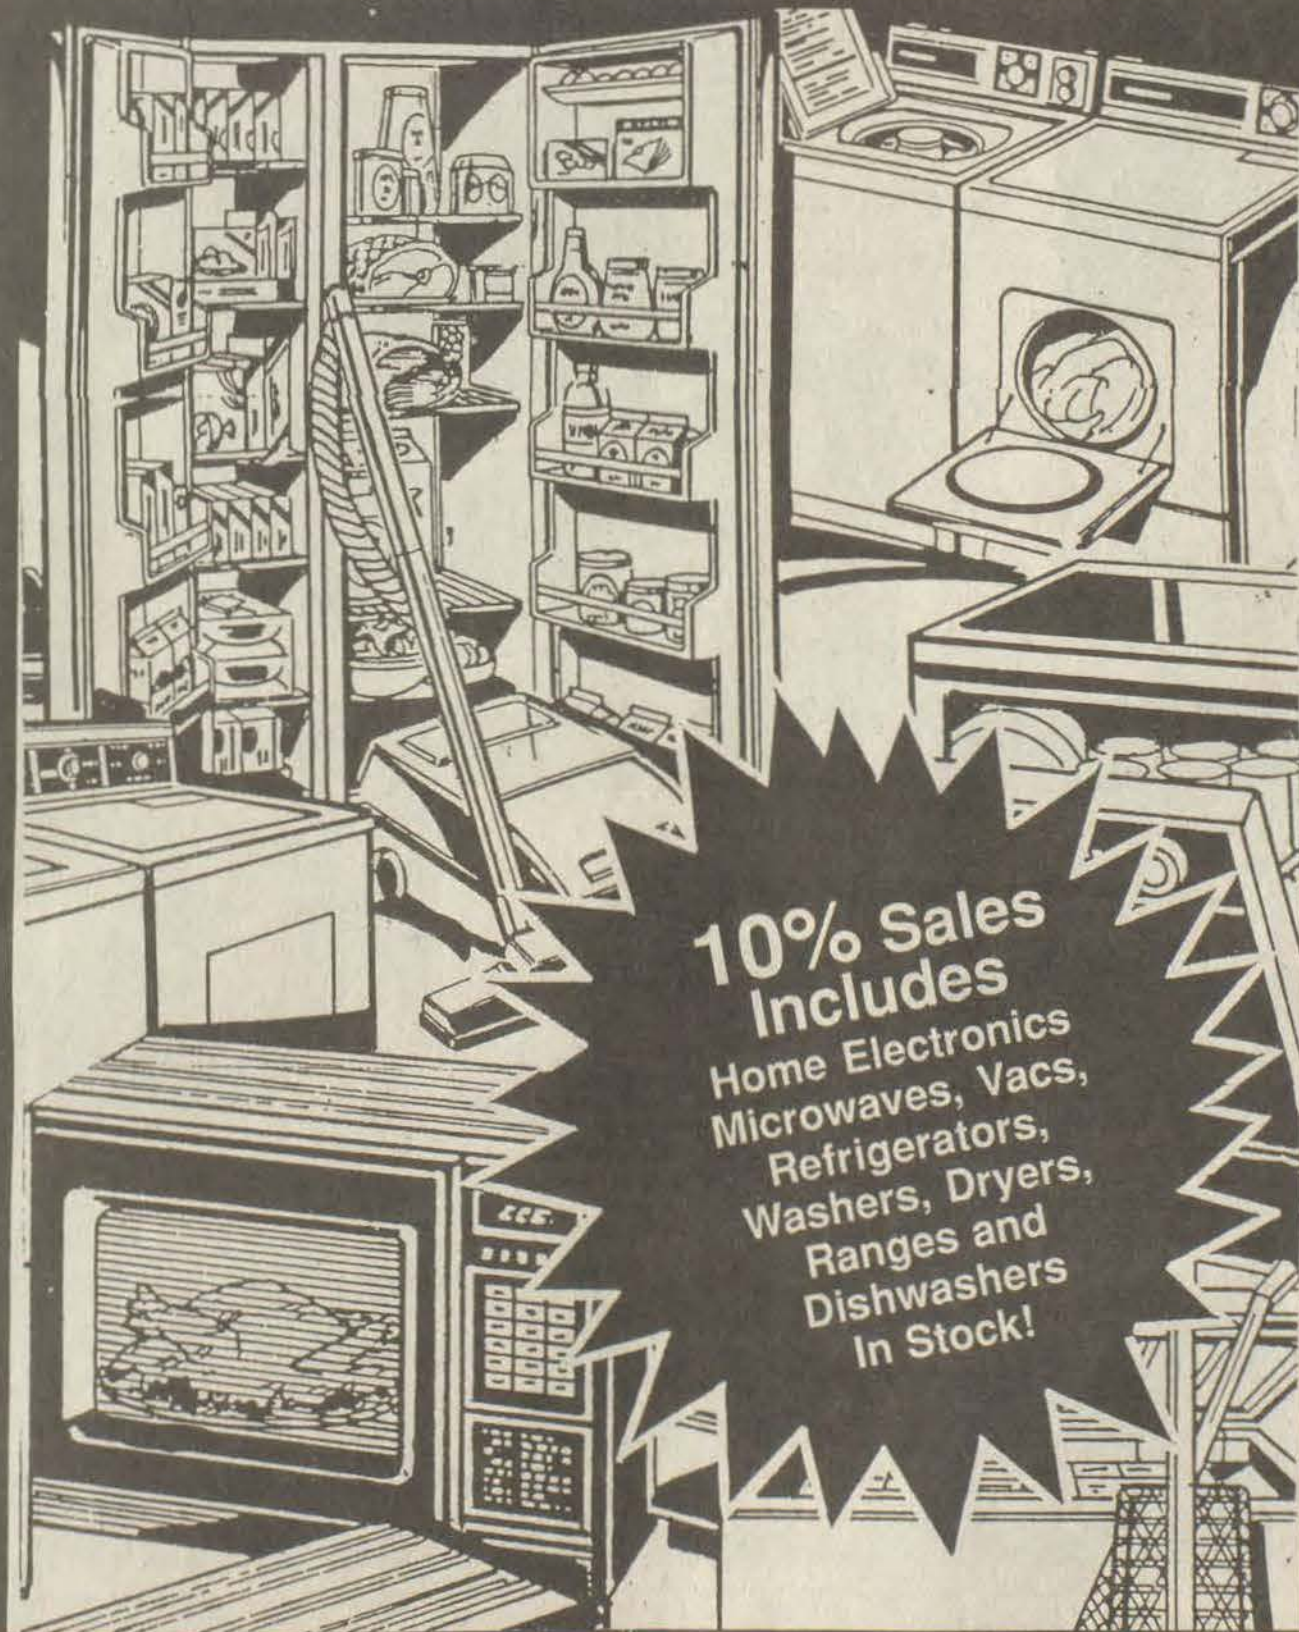

Other members of the group, and the branch of the service from which they are retired, are: Chet Compton, Army; Richard Hites, Air Force; Donahue Halbert, Air Force; John Hall, Air Force; Terry Shelton, Navy; Troy Grim, Navy; Neil Eskildson, Army; Johnnie Allen, Army; and Tommy Scott, Air Force. Another of the groups resource personnel is John Cook at the Veteran's Referral Center in Paintsville. Both Cook and Ratliff are also veterans.

Any other retired veteran interested in participating in this program can contact any of the above mentioned members or Ratliff at the DES office.

By Pam Shingler

A day late and probably more than a dollar short, I offer a partial list of the things I have to be thankful for this Thanksgiving season.

- for bright blue skies, my favorite kind.
- for being lucky enough to be born to a mother who read to me and taught, by example, about independence, equality, tolerance, sharing and love.
- for a family who sees both the adult and the kid in me.
- for being born in the USA, its faults notwithstanding.
- for being allowed to criticize those faults.
- for my health, despite the abuse

I give my body.

- for having good teeth and hair.
- for friends who haven't given up on me, some for a couple of decades now.
- for CBS-TV's Monday night line up and the times I get to watch.
- for being able to pay the bills.
- for people who treat me as if I'm special. (Everyone should have people who think they're special.)
- for living in a house that's warm.
- for having options.
- for not losing hope.
- for the slickness of reclaimed hills.
- for the majesty of virgin hills.
- for smooth patches on highways.

- for Mrs. Gunning, both Mrs. Rices, Miss Stafford, Mrs. Trimble, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Montgomery, Miss McClafferty, Mr. Thobaben, Dr. O'Brien and the other good ones whose names I can't remember right now.
- for wild daisies and blooming thistles.
- for the sounds of George Strait, Gary Morris, Bruce Springsteen, Carly Simon, U-2, Etta James and Ella Fitzgerald.
- for the "touch my soul" talents of John Irving, John Fowles, Ann Tyler, Robert Frost, Tennessee Williams, Shakespeare and Solomon.

- for home-canned green beans and pickled corn in the dead of winter.
- for soup beans, onions, hot kraut, cornbread and two percent milk any time.
- for Jimmy Carter, Mother Theresa, Lech Walesa and all people who, maybe on a less grand scale, try to do good.
- for mamaw-made quilts.
- for good water.
- for green plants that grow even in winter.
- for people whose doors are open to the world.

And thank you.

Ten Years Ago

(December 5, 1979)

A dedication ceremony for the section of new KY 80 from Martin to Water Gap will be held Friday. Governor Julian Carroll and Transportation Secretary Calvin Grayson will join local officials for the dedication of the first of the resource recovery road projects. Local residents are still expressing concerns over the danger of flooding in the Left Beaver communities caused by the road construction although highway engineers insist their fears are groundless. . . . Burl Wells Spurlock, chairperson of the Highlands Regional Medical Center's board of trustees, has announced the appointment of Clarence C. Traum as administrator of the facility. . . . Jo Ann, 6-year-old daughter of Silas and Polly Slone of the Stonecoal section of Garrett, died Sunday night at Our Lady of the Way Hospital of injuries suffered earlier that evening when she was struck by a car at Garrett. . . . Robert Bowen, of Huntington, W.Va., became another victim of a rock fall off the cliffs on US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. He was uninjured. . . . Two Floyd Countians are being considered for key state government posts by Governor-elect John Y. Brown; William B. Sturgill, formerly of Prestonsburg, for Secretary of Energy, and Grady Stumbo, McDowell native, for Secretary of the Department of Human Resources. . . . In what he described as an example of the tight-fisted policy that will be his when he becomes governor, Brown last week announced plans to abolish the governor's regional office here and others located in Louisville, London, Covington and Madisonville. . . . There died: Erma Younce, 54, of Melvin, last Wednesday at Pikeville Methodist Hospital; Arthur Boyd Sr., 76, of Manton, Sunday at McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital; Sie Hamilton, 80, of Teaberry, Monday at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Lou Hall Osborne, 78, of Ivel, Thursday at Riverview Manor Nursing Home; Shelly Terry, 71, of Langley, Thursday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Nellie Marie Page, 52, of Dwale, last Thursday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Clyde Warren Blackburn, 59, formerly of Betsy Layne, Tuesday, Nov. 27 at his home in Jacksonville, Fla.; Florence Galendo, 87, of Hollywood, Calif., formerly of this county, Wednesday at her home.

The salary schedule approved by the Floyd County Board of Education for teaching personnel during the current school year ranges from a low of $2,035 to high of $7,810. . . . Men born Sept. 14 were sent to the top of the list of the draft-eligible by the lottery held in Washington. The draw of birth dates provided a list which applies to every man who is at least 19 but not yet 26 years of age as of Dec. 31 this year. The induction call from this county for December demanded only seven from both boards. . . . Tuesday, traditional day for elections, will end next week one of the most vitriolic campaigns in years. The principals in the election, which will determine the leadership of the United Mine Workers of America are W.A. (Tony) Boyle, incumbent president of the UMW, and the challenger Joseph (Jock) Yablonski. . . . Carl R. Horn, representative of Agriculture, Food and Nutrition Service, said this week that USDA food programs help approximately 189,000 needy persons in Kentucky each week. Floyd County's bonus coupons per month total about $40,000. . . . Juvenile crime is one of the area's biggest problems says the report drafted for the Kentucky Crime Commissioner by James R. Allen, Prestonsburg attorney-executive director of the Regional Crime Council serving Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Martin counties. . . . There died: David Akers, 84, native of Prater Creek, at Nova, Ohio; Dolly Mosely, 82, of Minnie at McDowell hospital; Arlie Hall, 57, of Bypro, enroute to McDowell hospital; W.R. (Bill) Ford, 85, at his home at Auxier; Rodney R. Griffith, formerly of this section, at his home in Ypsilanti, Mich.; Arthur McDowell, 72, of Wayland, at McDowell hospital; Wayne D. Stumbo, 61, of Minnie, at St. Mary's hospital, Huntington, W.Va.

A giant-size coal operation involving two Floyd County men has been opened on Sassafas and Yellow Creeks, Knott County, to supply TVA six million tons of coal within the next 10 years. The H.B. Ranier construction company of Prestonsburg, will, during that period gross $18,900,000, or 90 percent of the $21,000,000 contact price of the coal delivered to a TVA plant. . . . A heavy cloying snow wrought havoc last week-end with power and communications lines in Floyd and surrounding counties. All areas in this county served by REA suffered from power failure which in spots lasted as long as 30 hours. . . . The water crept up, and there was nothing to stop it, although Prestonsburg's floodwall installations are complete and in working order. That was the situation last weekend after steady rains had brought a river crest of 30 feet at Pikeville. . . . An infectious hepatitis outbreak, with 14 cases reported to the Floyd County Health Department as positively diagnosed, has hit in three areas of the county. . . . The Floyd County Board of Education at its Tuesday meeting filed a $150,000 against the W.C. Snider Construction Company for damages to the Prestonsburg High School building incurred in the summer during construction of the Auxier-Prestonsburg Highway. . . . There died: Ethel Prater Adams, 43, a former resident of the Middle Creek section of this county, at her home in Portsmouth, Ohio; Mannie Collins King, 86, Bevinville, at the home of a daughter; Annie Mullins, 42, of Haverhill, Ohio, at her home. She was a native of Bevinville; Gomer Moore, 60, of Hunter, at his home.

Floyd County's small mines will not sign with the United Mine Workers of America in order to work five days a week and make a "quick dollar," regardless of what those of other counties of the section do, officials of the Floyd County Truck Mine Association said here last weekend. . . . Wednesday's deadline for the filing of election contest suits passed without much action, but prior to that one candidate alleged that Floyd teachers bribed voters at the November election. . . . Exactly three months after Prestonsburg's garage workers went on strike in an effort to unionize the shops, pickets were withdrawn Monday and the men were advised by leaders of the United Construction Workers to return to their places of employment and report for work. . . . The Cury Department Store opened Tuesday in its enlarged Court Street quarters, with the room formerly occupied by the Gillespie Furniture Company added to the store as an exclusive woman's department. . . . There died: Dr. Arthur E. Quinlan, 33, Wayland dentist, last Thursday at home; Carl Morgan, 22, formerly of Glo, Monday at New York; Everett Auxier, 54, Floyd County native, Thursday at Dayton, Ohio; William Riley Harris, 81, Floyd County native, Friday at Hamden, Ohio.

Fifty Years Ago

(November 30, 1939)

The new $40,000 high school building at Martin will be ready for occupancy next Monday, County Superintendent Town Hall said this week. . . . Jim Wallen, 25, of West Prestonsburg was killed and three other persons injured, in an auto accident near the mouth of Wilson Creek at Maytown. . . . With Layne and Hunter each carrying the ball for two touchdowns the Prestonsburg Blackcats drubbed the Van Lear Bank Mules, 26-0, Friday afternoon on the local field. . . . Coal production, boosted in opening weeks of the European war to near-peak tonnage, is leveling off. . . . There died: Claude Turner, 28, of Garrett, Sunday at his home of tuberculosis.

Breast Cancer Support Group Formed In Eastern Kentucky

Getting Started

Fifteen people met at Highlands Regional Medical Center Saturday, Nov. 11 to form a Breast Cancer Support Group for Floyd and the surrounding counties.

On Saturday, Nov. 11, 15 people met at Highlands Regional Medical Center to organize a breast cancer support group.

This initial meeting was planned by Denise Queen, RN, nurse educator for HRMC's Breast Center. The support group is for the benefit of women who have to deal with breast cancer, various treatments, physical and psychological recovery, and resulting lifestyle changes, according to Queen.

Five members of Lexington's "Thursday Group," Rosemary Graves, Jean Grierson, Virginia Magee, Susan Reinhardt and Doris Rosenbaum were there to assist in the establishment of a local organization. Lunch was provided by Highlands' Food Service department.

"A support group is an informal collection of people who have been through a particular experience. They meet on a regular basis to discuss problems and solutions," explained Queen. "Such a group can provide a friendly face and someone to listen who understands and will share information on available options and services."

The Lexington women reported on the positive aspects of their Central Kentucky support group. Since the organization's establishment 15 years ago, not one meeting has been canceled for any reason, which indicates the importance of such a group, they noted. "The fact that eight women from Eastern Kentucky were present at the meeting indicates the need for a similar support group in Eastern Kentucky as well," Queen stressed.

Those present discussed the structure of support group, family support vs. group support, prosthesis availability and fitting, reconstructive surgery pros and cons, and legislation currently before the General Assembly that can improve the availability and insurance coverage of screening mammograms. Several women from Eastern Kentucky also had the opportunity to share their experiences with the group.

The Breast Center at Highlands was the second such facility in Kentucky to be accredited by the American College of Radiology, and the first Kentucky in-house organization of its kind to receive such recognition. "The Breast Cancer Support Group being established in Eastern Kentucky is just one more of the ways through which Highlands seeks to improve health care and provide support for residents of the service area," Queen said.

For more information, call the Breast Center at 886-8511, ext. 160.

Attendance Policy

probably return the child to class. This is probably the fairest change we made in the regulations."

A final significant change made in attendance policy relates to the number of classes a student may be removed from following nine absences. Past policy set no limit, and students could be taken out of all classes, spending as much as six periods in a study hall. Under the new regulations, a student can be taken out of a maximum of two classes. Which classes to remove the student from will be determined by a committee consisting of the principal, guidance counselor, and the home-room teacher.

"Removing a student from two classes is an adequate punishment for repeated absences. This way, the student can still make up the classes later. It'd be almost impossible to make up five or six classes, which is what we were seeing before," Grigsby said.

Reaction to the new attendance policy among area principals responsible for encouraging better attendance appears to be mixed.

"I believe there's a lot of principals that aren't too revved up about this policy," said Robert Hall, principal of McDowell High School. "A student may be removed from two classes but still have missed a lot of time in several other classes. Our faculty has decided that absences will be reflected in grading policy."

Lonnie Stone, principal at Wheelwright High School, believes the new policy will actually reduce attendance at his school.

"This policy is too lenient, too watered down," said Stone. "I'm already seeing higher absentee rates because students think that nothing can be done to them once they are removed from two classes."

Stone noted that the policy was not necessarily implemented at the behest of the school board.

"We had a policy before that was stricter but the state required that it be changed. The only big advantage to the new policy is that it makes the paperwork more manageable for the principals. It was very difficult to keep record of absences before. This policy relieves a big burden from us."

Robert May, principal at Prestonsburg High School, was unable to comment on the impact of the new policy, feeling that it was too early to judge the changes.

Despite the mixed reviews from principals, Pete Grigsby believes that an improvement in attendance policy has been and will continue to be made by the school board.

"Our real purpose is to keep kids in school and give them an education," said Grigsby. "We're going to continue to work on and fine tune this policy and I expect that by the beginning of the next school year, we'll have one of the best policies in the state of Kentucky."

Family Dollar To Open Store In Martin Thursday, Nov. 30

The 77th Family Dollar Store in Kentucky and the 1,607th in the North Carolina based discount store chain will open in Martin on Thursday, Nov. 30.

The new store, located at the junction of Route 80 and Route 122, next to First Guaranty Bank, will open at 10 a.m.

Local officials and Family Dollar executives will take part in a brief ribbon-cutting ceremony at the main entrance to the store immediately before the opening. The company expects a large crowd to attend the ribbon-cutting and take advantage of special Grand Opening sale prices afterward.

Rick Griner, senior vice president of store operations, said, "Family Dollar looks forward to locating in Martin and being part of a fine community." Cheryl Gray, the firm's district manager for the area said, "As many local people as possible will be employed at the new store. Family Dollar is a rapidly expanding company and offers excellent employment opportunities in this area and throughout the 27 states in which our stores are located."

Family Dollar carries a complete line of merchandise for the family and home, including clothing and shoes, health and beauty aids, housewares, school supplies, candy, toys, paint and auto supplies. Much of the merchandise is manufactured within the states and cities where the company has stores.

Beginning with one store in Charlotte, N.C., in 1959, the company presently operates in a 27 state area ranging from as far North as Wisconsin, East to New York, South to Florida, and West to Texas. The General Offices and Distribution Center are located in Matthews, N.C., just outside of Charlotte.

Family Dollar Stores, Inc., is a publicly held company with common stock traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol "FDO."

'New Kind Of Store' Results From Relocation

A "new kind of store" is taking shape thanks to its relocation, said Maggie Wright, manager of Cato, a Prestonsburg's women's clothing store.

Cato Fashions-Plus replaces the Cato store formerly on Court Street. The new site is at the Glyn-View Plaza. "We saw the move as an opportunity," said Wright. Claiming the new store is "two stores in one," Wright pointed out that it will have two partitioned shopping areas, each with its own entrance and fitting room.

Cato Fashions will offer the same items as before, while Cato Plus will carry large and half size fashions. "We want our larger size customers to have the same selection and ease of shopping as Cato Fashions customers," Wright said.

Both areas will share a common check out desk and accessories racks. The Cato Corporation's chain of about 500 stores sells sportswear, dresses, suits, coats and accessories fashions from Florida to Minnesota. Wright is the former Maggie Cornett of Prestonsburg, she and her husband, the Rev. Henry S. Wright, reside on Spradlin Branch.

Vets Questions & Answers

Question: How long does a power of attorney designating a service organization to represent me in VA claims matters last?

Answer: A power of attorney does not expire. It must be revoked or canceled. The Department of Veterans Affairs treats designation of a new power of attorney as an automatic cancellation of an earlier one. You may cancel a power of attorney at any time by notifying VA.

Question: I just got married. Does my wife automatically become the beneficiary of my VA insurance policy?

Answer: No. You must notify the VA that you wish to make a change and provide complete identification of the new beneficiary.

Question: The prevailing interest rate at the time the loan is made, established by the government and set forth in the mortgage note, is a fixed non-adjustable rate mortgage which remains the same for the life of the loan. However, to take advantage of a lower interest rate, refinancing of an existing loan could be an option.

Question: My first husband died of service-connected causes and I received VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC) until I remarried. My second husband recently died. Can I regain my eligibility for DIC payments?

Answer: Yes. DIC benefits may be restored if the subsequent marriage ends through death, divorce or annulment.

Question: My National Service Life

Insurance (NSLI) policy is an ordinary life policy. When will this policy be paid up?

Answer: An ordinary life NSLI policy requires that a fixed premium be paid until the insured reaches age 96. At that time, the policy is converted to an endowment and the full face value is paid to the insured.

Question: Is it necessary for me to inform the Department of Veterans Affairs of my new address if my monthly benefit check is handled by "direct deposit"?

Answer: Yes. Failure to keep VA notified of your current address could result in your missing important correspondence sent to your address of record.

At 41, Larry Baker Points To ECU For Career As Middle School Teacher

Last spring Larry Baker entered Eastern Kentucky University and moved into a freshman men's dorm — Keene Hall.

Like most new students, Baker had to make adjustments to school and to life in the high-rise dorm: new study habits, social habits, and homesickness.

"That's tough, especially if you're 40 years old at the time," Baker says. But living in the dorm was something he'd asked to do.

"Living at least one semester in the dorm is part of college life," Baker says. "They (the students) accepted me real well."

And Baker accepted them. He says he enjoys working with young people—enough so that he's studying for a career as a middle school teacher.

Baker, who made his living underground in the coal business, suffered a severe back injury five years ago.

"I couldn't work in the mines any more, and I wasn't the kind to just sit around and do nothing," he says.

Despite on-going medical treatment and considerable discomfort, he began taking college classes at Prestonsburg Community College, 60 miles from his home in Dorton, 25 miles south of Pikeville in Pike County.

He had to drive back and forth to class.

After doing two years of work there, in January he enrolled at ECU—and moved into Keene Hall.

"It was a little awkward at first," he says of the environment where shaving-cream fights are considered high entertainment. "But once they got to know me, things weren't too bad."

The students found out about his injured back and helped him carry luggage and bags. "Because of my health, I'm not able to do any kind of lifting at all," he says. "They were understanding about it."

In some senses the younger students had much in common with Baker: New residents in an academic community, originally from a rural area, far from home and in need of someone to talk to.

"A lot of the guys just wanted to come by and visit," Baker says.

Instead of conflict, Baker says just the opposite became a problem.

"I had to find a polite way to tell them to leave my room so I could study."

Not all of dorm-time is spent in study, however.

"One time at about 2 a.m. there were about 12 to 15 guys sitting around my room talking, telling stories. And the RA (resident assistant) walked in," Baker says.

"I know he expected to find beer, but we weren't doing that stuff. We were just talking. I think we had chocolate milk and cookies and maybe some chips—it was a late-night talk session."

As the group was being quiet, the RA joined them briefly and then left them alone.

Baker says the hardest part of dorm life was handling invitations from fellow students to go downtown for late-night parties.

"They wanted me to come with them to First Street, but I don't do that," he says.

This summer, he and his wife, Peggy, moved their two children to Richmond and took an apartment. One semester of dorm life was enough, Baker says.

Currently, he is continuing his studies toward a teaching certificate for middle school grades—with concentrations in history and social studies.

"I'm a history buff, and I enjoy working with that age of kids."

He says the college-level work has been important in his life. "It's helped me adjust to the changes in my life caused by my health."

He is productive and able to influence young people in healthy ways.

Yet there are rough spots in any change of home. Baker says some of the residents back in Dorton criticized him for returning to school.

"They said, 'Hey, you're on full disability and won't have to work again for the rest of your life—why leave home, why go back to school?'"

But Baker says he needed to be doing something useful, and his family has adapted well to the change.

Baker's daughter, Rebel, is enrolled as a freshman at ECU, and his son, Freddy, is a student at Model Laboratory School.

"I couldn't have done it without my family's support. I guess you always hear that, but it's true. They've really held together. And it's made a big difference to me."

Safe At Home

EKU Student Larry Baker—after spending a semester in an ECU freshman men's dorm—stands in front of his Richmond apartment with daughter Rebel, who is also an ECU student. Baker is from Dorton in Pike County, and is a former student at Prestonsburg Community College.

Terrorists' Attacks, Power Outages Delay WHS Project

by Brad Compton
WHS Journalism Class Reporter

During the past two weeks, the Wheelwright High School journalism class has participated in an environmental conference with people from other cities, states, and countries.

"How?", you ask.

We started out with each student or group of students taking a chosen topic and writing about it. We created bibliographies, took notes and finally wrote an essay. The writing process usually takes about a week because of the research that must be done on each of these topics. The topics included such things as air pollution, destruction of the ozone layer and other environmental issues.

After the articles were written and proofread, they were sent by computer to a main computer in Cincinnati. The information was then relayed to the desired address—anywhere around the world.

During the conference we experienced some difficulty getting through to the computer in Cincinnati because so many people were using it. The biggest problem, however, was getting all of our information ready to send.

We communicated with many different kinds of people, including a teacher at the American School in Lima, Peru. We received a communication from him which said;

"Power failures, due to terrorists' attacks, have prevented me from sending this on Tuesday. Because of the upcoming municipal elections on Nov. 12, these 'apagones' (attacks) are due to occur quite frequently. I hope Sederio Luminoso's (Shining Path terrorists) increased activity, to cause chaos during the election process, will not severely limit our participation in World Class (the conference). By the way, the terrorists are one group that's certainly not concerned about the environment."

Using the computer we can communicate with people as close as Martin and as far away as Peru. Our freshman English students are exchanging thoughts about school with students from Martin. We also talked with people from Vietnam who participated, and how it has changed their lives. As we communicate with these people from other areas of the world, we learn a great deal about different cultures and customs.

Three McDowell Lady Daredevils were named to the All-Tournament team in the Millard Invitational basketball tournament last week at Millard. Named to the team were Jenny Slone, Lori Bryant and Priscilla Crawford.

Slone was instrumental in the Lady Devils' opening game win scoring 16 points and with her post play, making some nice moves to pick up key baskets for the Lady Daredevils. Slone scored 16 points against Mullins on Thursday night and tossed nine in the championship game on Saturday night against Feds Creek.

Bryant's hustle and quickness helped her to pick up some needed offense in game one of the tourney. Bryant shared scoring honors with Slone in game one with 16 points. Bryant pulled down 15 rebounds in the first game. Bryant netted 20 points in the championship game against the Lady Vikings of Feds Creek. In that game she collected 17 rebounds, giving her a total of 32 for the tournament.

Crawford scored 12 points in each of the two games she played in for a total of 24 points. Crawford fouled out in the first game, but was a key to the defensive effort of the Lady Daredevils.

Rebel Panorama Features Four Top Eastern Ky. Teams

The Allen Central Rebels will host their first panorama tomorrow night at the J.H. Allen Fieldhouse with teams from Prestonsburg, M.C. Napier and Belfry participating, as well as the host school.

In the opening game, Prestonsburg will take on M.C. Napier at 6:30 p.m. The defending 15th Region champions will be showcased against a good Napier team.

In the second contest, the host school, Allen Central, will match up with a tough Belfry squad. The Rebels have aspirations to make it to the "Sweet Sixteen" in Freedom Hall this season.

Some good basketball is on tap tomorrow night. If the turkey has you stuffed, go on out to the Allen Central campus for some good high school basketball.

College Outlook

The old college season is winding down for 1989. Except for those who have a bowl bid to look forward to, the remainder of teams will pack away the pads until another time. Here is a look at some of the upcoming games this week.

In The Mid West:

Arkansas at Texas A & M

The season-long chase for the championship of the Southwest Conference could come to an end Friday when the Razorbacks visit the Aggies' home grounds.

Both teams are 5-1 in conference play. Arkansas lost to Texas and the Aggies were upended by Texas Tech. Arkansas will come into tomorrow's game as the defending Southwest Conference champion. The Razorbacks edged the Aggies 25-20 last year and Arkansas went on to represent the conference against UCLA in the Cotton Bowl. Should the Aggies defeat the Razorbacks, they will still have a final home game left against a tough Texas team on Dec. 2.

cats, but for Johnny Majors and his Volunteers of Tennessee. The Vols want to go to the Cotton Bowl. Major's chargers are not about to let a Kentucky team stand in their "cotton picking way."

Kentucky deserves a bowl bid; the only problem that the 'Cats have is that those bowl committees that were giving them a look have filled their needs already. Tennessee also has final game with Vanderbilt. However, a victory over Jerry Claiborne's boys will assure the Vols a bowl bid.

In The Deep South:

Notre Dame at Miami, Fla.

No one has to remind the Miami Hurricanes of their only loss that cost them the national championship last season. The game in question was a 31-30 setback at South Bend last season. Even though the Hurricanes were beaten by Florida State a month ago, this game will make the entire season for the Hurricanes. Miami needs to remain calm and not get carried away in this one.

Wiley Family Reunion Held Saturday, September 2

BUD AND CARRIE WILEY

What started out to be a gloomy Saturday, Sept. 2, turned out to be a beautiful sunny day for the setting of the seventh annual "Bud" and Carrie Wiley Reunion. The reunion took place at the spillway in the Jenny Wiley State Park.

From north, east, south and west they came; about 40 descendants in all. Everyone enjoyed an abundance of food and fellowship.

Among those attending were: The oldest living child, Effie Copley and her husband Delbert; the youngest of the children, Madge Jennings; two other daughters, Bess Adkins and her son Fred Harr, and Dorothy Mullins with her son and daughter-in-law, Jim and Penny Mullins, and her daughter Carolyn Davidson.

The only surviving Wiley son, Clarence Wiley, and his wife Oma attended with their son and daughter-in-law Rick and Becky Wiley and their daughter Emily.

Other grandchildren and great-grandchildren which attended included: Fran Jarrell, Don and Gesila Jarrell with children LaShonda, Andrea, Ryan and Chelsea; Carrie Cinnamon and children Cara and Cade; Judy and Marty Backus with their son and daughter-in-law Marty and Vicki with sons Ryan and Adam; and Mike Wiley.

Also in attendance were: Betty Blevins, Doug Willett and Carrie Cinnamon's foreign exchange student from Mexico, Monica.

After the meal, a "make, bake or take" auction was held to raise money for next year's reunion. There was the annual horseshoe contest and many door prizes were given away to include a framed Russell May "Jenny Wiley Story," print, won by Dorothy Mullins.

Family members who could not attend this year's reunion were invited to be at next year's to be held at Carroll and Carrie Cinnamon's home. The date and time are undetermined.

Floyd County Families: Our Heritage

All of Robert's and Susan's children were born in the Mud Creek area of Floyd County, and #28 Samuel Meade, seems to be the only one to have married in Floyd County.

Samuel Clark, father of Susan Clark, brought his family from Scott County, Virginia, to Floyd County Kentucky, in the year of 1820, although Samuel, himself, had been there previously. He had acquired land in the Mud Creek area. The acreage is not known at this time, however, this is without risk to assume, as he sold land in that area prior to moving his family there. The following excerpts from C.C. Wells, book, confirms this reasoning, as well as the fact he is not listed in the 1810 Floyd Census.

Proof of this statement is listed in C.C. Wells' book "Annals of Floyd County Kentucky"—1800-1826" on Page 190 referring to the fiscal court November term: Monday the 20th of November, 1820:

It states, "Samuel Clark is exonerated from the payment of the county levy for 1819 as he was not in this county in time".

On Page 233 of Wells' book, is the following reference to Samuel Clark.

March 30, 1819: Indenture from William Newlan of Floyd Co. Ky. to Samuel Clark of Scott County, Va. in the amount of $400 for a 72 acre tract on Mud Creek.

September 5, 1820: Indenture from Jabob Slusher to Samuel Clark in the amount of $100 for 274 acre tract on Little Mud Creek. End of Samuel Clark History, in this file.

There are some deeds recorded in the Floyd County Clerks Office dated January 26th, 1844. That makes reference to the heirs of Samuel Clark.

They are recorded in Deed Book E-Pages, 191, 192, 194, 196 and 198.

Children of Samuel Clark, as referred to in the deeds are: Lorenzo Clark, Alexander Clark, Susannah Clark Mead, Morgan Clark, John Clark, and Polly Clark. (Childs Widow???)

Robert "Big Bob", bought 40 acres of land located on Mud Creek, from the estate of his father, Samuel Mead, in 1829, it is recorded in Deed Book C-Page 144 of the Floyd County Clerks Office.

In Deed Book C-Page 202, it shows he acquired 40 acres from Rhodes Mead-e, December 3, 1829, for the sum of $100.00. It is described as follows:

Beginning at the East side of the said creek at Pointers, corner to John Prestons survey N.1 on said creek; thence S.60E. 92 poles to two black oaks and a white oak on steep point S.30W. 402 poles crossing a branch to two beeches N.77W. 103 poles tp. a stake on the line of John Prestons survey N.1 on said creek; thence down the same with the old line N.26 E.97 poles to the beginning, all wood ways, water and water courses, houses, fences, orchards and all other emoluments appertaining or in any way belonging thereunto.

To have and to hold to him the said Robert Mead his heirs but do warrant and defend the said land, against me my heirs, against John Preston and his heirs and all other persons claiming against us or either of us.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the year above written, and in XVV of by the Commonweath.

Acknowledged in the presence of us.

Rhodes Mead (Seal)
Saml. Clark, John Clark.
Floyd County Court Clerks Office,
July 30th, 1830.

I Jacob Mayo, Clerk of the Court for the county aforesaid, do hereby certify that the within deed was this day produced to me in my office and proven by the oaths of Samuel Clark and John Clark subscribing witnesses thereto, to be the hand and seal act and deed of the within named Rhodes Mead and that the same is duly recorded in my office according to law.

Att. Jacob Mayo, C.F.C.C.

In Deed Book C-Page 206, is a deed showing the acquisition of an additional 50 acres from Rhodes Mead, for $1,800.00 in Mud Creek. With boundaries of Christopher Toler.

Robert and Susan acquired many acres of land in Mud Creek area.

About the year 1832, he and Susan began disposing of their holdings in Floyd County. They moved to Johnson County and began acquiring real estate there.

Playing Together Again

The Martin Express, consisting of (from left) J.D. Martin, Odell Martin, Donald Martin and Harold Martin, performed for a crowd of about 5,000 people at the Feast of Tabernacle Family Day in Biloxi, Miss., recently. The members are the sons of the late John and Lillie Hall Martin of Halo and used to play together locally in the 1970s and were featured on Channel 57's Saturday Night Jamboree. The group specializes in square dance and bluegrass music and also dabbles in old time music and country rock, their singer is Wilma McSwain, of Michigan (also pictured).

Home Prices Span $48,700 To $275,000 In Third Quarter

Regional home price differences grew wider in the third quarter of 1989, according to the National Association of Realtors. As a result, buyers faced very different affordability conditions across the country.

The association's third-quarter survey of median home prices showed a range of $48,700 to $275,000. The report, which covered median prices for single-family detached and attached existing homes in 83 metropolitan statistical areas, ranked Honolulu, at $275,000, as the most expensive market. The San Francisco Bay Area, with a price of $269,400, ranked second, followed by Orange County, Calif., at $249,100. Los Angeles, with a median price of $224,600, ranked fourth, and Boston, at $183,300, placed fifth.

"The price of housing definitely contributes more to an area's cost of living than other factors," said NAR President Ira Gribin. "There is a big difference between paying a few dollars more for groceries or clothes, and paying $100,000 more for a home. Sticker shock really hits when the house hunt begins."

As in previous surveys, the third-quarter reports showed concentrations of high-cost areas on the West Coast and in the Northeast, and markets of moderately priced homes clustered in the Midwest and South.

The lowest median price, $48,700, was recorded for Peoria, Ill. Next lowest was Spokane, Wash., with a median price of $52,700. The third lowest median price on the list, $55,500, was posted for Oklahoma City.

HOROSCOPE

November 26 through December 2

By C.C. Clark

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
A man will help you discover the necessary information to complete an important task. A very complex problem will become clear to you this week.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
Negotiations seem to stall a bit, but they will actually move along smoothly. You can wait for final perfection of job success. Let your intuition help with routines.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
You aspire to achieve a goal and will succeed. What seems to be an unsolvable problem should be well thought out. Someone strong supports your original plans.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
A man with power in your business or job likes you, but seems contrary. If at all possible it would be a good idea to get away for a few days to regroup.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Good fortune is assured through persistent business endeavors. You will rise toward prosperous circles through work. Keep to your plan and things will go smoothly.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
You will share some very special moments with a mate, or possibly a close friend this week. A crisis at work sends your brain into action. Listen to your instincts.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Be careful in making serious decisions this week. Choose your path carefully, otherwise you will be sorely disappointed. A young person will be a great comfort to you.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
This is a week for sharing some fun with family members. A young person may confuse you, but don't get upset, just listen and it will all make sense.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
You will feel popular, and at times like you can do no wrong. A conversation with a stranger sends you on a path of discovery. Think before you leap into something new.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
A crazy friend has a surprise up her sleeve for you this week. Don't fret over something you recently lost, it would be better for you to go on and do something fun.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
There could be a turning point in your career. Be careful in your home situation; parents may encourage, yet warn against certain actions you are about to take.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
You will consider a rash money transaction, but you will regret it if you proceed. It will be difficult, but extremely necessary to be loyal to a friend in need.

PGA players take to the green for Skins Game competition

By Jeff Thompson
Defending champion Raymond Floyd will join Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Curtis Strange to play for $450,000 in the seventh annual Skins Game, to conclude Sunday, Nov. 26, on NBC.

For the fourth consecutive year the two-day, 18-hole contest, which began Saturday, will be played at PGA West in LaQuinta, Calif.

The same four players constituted last year's Skins contingent, with Floyd emerging as the champion and winner of $290,000, Nicklaus finished with $125,000 and Trevino with $35,000. Strange was shut out in his first Skins Game.

The format of the Skins Game is based on a style of non-tournament golf competion. Participants play for units, "skins," which are awarded for winning individual holes. Prize money is awarded when a player wins a hole outright; otherwise, the money is carried over to the next hole, increasing the value of the subsequent skin.

Unlike Strange, Floyd made the most of his first appearance in Skins competition last year. On the first day he won six skins totalling $90,000. On day two he hit the jackpot with a nine-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole, winning a five-skin carryover worth $165,000.

Floyd, Strange, Trevino and Nicklaus have collectively won seven Masters titles, nine U.S. Opens, five British Opens and nine PGA Championships. © TV Living Inc.

Sports Editor Says Thanks To Floyd Coaches, Players

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

With a lot of time and hard work, we have finally put out our 1989-90 58th District basketball tab. I have thought about this endeavor since the time I was told we would be printing it in November. I wanted to make it a special tab and have some special ideas to go with it. However, sometimes you have problems in fitting in all the ideas in a limited amount of space.

A project such as this requires a lot of help from different people. It would have been an impossibility without the cooperation of the many coaches and players in Floyd County. I want to take this space to thank all the high school coaches, of both boys and girls teams, and all the players for the help and cooperation they extended to me in putting together this basketball tab. Again, without it, it would have been impossible to do.

I personally feel we have the best quality coaches in our school system. — coaches that know the game and most of all have the best interest of their players at heart. Basketball is a fun sport and great entertainment. Our coaches in Floyd County try hard to put together the best team for their fans they possibly can. I hope that every basketball fan will turn out and support our high school teams — especially the girls basketball teams. I have seen some exciting girls games since I have been covering sports for the Floyd County Times. I often think (when I am at a girls game and the crowds are not those you see at a boys game) if more people were to come out and watch the young ladies play, it might be an incentive and an inspiration for them to perform better.

To all the players who are pictured in this tab, we here at the sports department of the Times wishes you a most successful year. You are quality young men and women and you can make your parents, fans and school officials extra proud of you by giving of your best. Remember, someone has to lose; how you accept defeat is of great importance. Your scoring 30 points in a game will eventually be forgotten, but the attitude with how you played the game, win or lose, will always be remembered.

Fans, let's show how much we appreciate high school basketball and our players practicing every day so they can display their talents and entertain us. How can you show your appreciation? Be there!

Martin Likes Squad's Role As Favorite

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

"Freedom Hall or Bust" is the slogan for the Allen Central Rebels this basketball season — one spelled out across their practice jerseys. The Rebels are favored to win the 58th District in 1989-90.

A lot of coaches like to play the favorites role — whether it be in basketball, baseball or football, there seems to be an humbling factor when a team is considered a favorite to win a district or conference crown.

"I used to be that way," Allen Central coach Johnny Martin said, as he prepares his team for the upcoming basketball season. "But now I like it. I like being the favorite this year. It makes your players play harder — makes them want to live up to the expectations."

When you look at all of it on paper, you have to give edge for the district championship crown Rebels, and perhaps a regional crown as well — at least, that seems to be the consensus among area coaches.

Gone from last year's Rebel squad are Todd Duff, Kevin Webb and Bear Halbert. Duff, last year's three point shooter and a student at Prestonsburg Community College, will be helping Coach Martin with this season's edition of Rebel Basketball.

The Rebels' ability to play together will their strongest point, according to Martin.

"We will be a good defensive team," he explained. "This will be the best rebounding team that I have had at Allen Central. The kids play good together and that's a big plus."

Martin says that his team needs to improve its ball handling and learn how to take care of the basketball.

Another big plus for the Rebels this year will be the team's quickness and speed.

"We will have the best speed that we've had in seven years," says Martin. "We also can shoot the ball well and we will be strong inside."

Martin figures the Rebels will live up to their nickname, the Runnin' Rebels, as they will race up and down court this year.

Depth may be a problem for the highly regarded Rebels this year. "We'll be able to go about eight deep," explained Martin, "and after that we really drop off a lot." The two players Coach Martin will be look the most to coming off the pine will be 5'8" Brian Hall and 5'9" Ronnie Sammons.

"I have always been a coach who plays the fives best players," the Rebel mentor explained. "I would always let the starters play as long as they can. I wish I had the personnel to play more people, but if they are not there, you can't. Prestonsburg was blessed last year with a good bench. Coach Parido played a lot of people and it was successful for him — he went to the state tournament.

"Before practice started this year all the coaches had a golf outing and Junior Newsome and I were talking and he told me I need to play more people," Martin said. "Sometimes my dad would tell me to play more people."

The 1989-90 edition of Rebel basketball will be a senior-oriented team.

"This is the most seniors that I have had on a team in 12 years as a head coach," stated Martin. Team leadership will have to come from the seniors this time around.

When you talk about the players who will make up the Rebels basketball squad this season, Martin's eyes lights up while speaking of Kevin Spurlock as a team leader.

"Kevin takes care of the basketball. He had 34 points in the district tournament last year and really came along toward the end of the season," recalled Martin. "He is a smart player and a team leader. He can penetrate and drive to the basket — that is what he does best. He also can hit the three point shot for us. Kevin is the type of player that makes other players better."

Spurlock will handle the point guard position this year for Martin's team. He averaged close to 16 points per game for the Rebels last season.

"Kevin doesn't have to score for us to be a good basketball team," Martin stated. "He needs to be in condition this year because he is our leader."

The other guard position will be filled by newcomer Ronnie Collins, 6'0", who has sat out the last two years of varsity basketball.

"Ronnie has never played varsity basketball before," Coach Martin explained. "He's had some junior varsity experience and games that he has played in around the gyms, but no varsity experience."

How can a player who has never played varsity basketball come back after two seasons and then start for the Rebels?

"He has natural ability," Martin went on to explain. "He is a good athlete and that is a big asset for him. He is an excellent rebounder at six-feet. He can really jump. He is our quickest player and knows how to play defense."

Perhaps Collins' the biggest asset is his ability to hit the three point shot.

"We had Todd (Duff) and Roger (Horne) here that could hit the three point shot, but Collins can rank right in there also," notes the coach.

Martin says that Collins needs to improve his ball handling skills and adjusting to where to be on the court. Because of his lack of experience at varsity level, he isn't used to being in certain offenses, something he needs to learn.

Filling the center position for Martin's squad this year will be 6'5" Rick Smith. "If he ever gets his game together, he could dominate the 58th District this year," Martin says.

"There's no question. If Rick can put it all together there will be no one in the 58th District who can touch him," Martin says. "But he plays in spurts. He never realizes how good a player he is. Rick is a puzzler. Sometimes in practices he gets caught in what's going on around him and forgets what he is supposed to do."

Smith is strong and has the ability to get off the floor and, for a big man, he is very quick. But last season, he was plagued by fouls and earned a lot of time sitting on the bench.

"Rick needs to learn to pace himself," Martin says. "He needs to quit reaching on defense and committing those silly fouls."

Three-year veteran Joey Conn, 6'2", will be playing one corner at forward for the Rebels. This will be Conn's fourth year; he has been a steady performer for the Rebels over the past three.

"Joey has all kinds of experience," Martin says. "He has picked up some weight over the summer and weighs in at around 210 pounds. Joey is an outstanding rebounder and, while he is not a fancy ball handler, he is a good one. He can bring the ball up the floor for you."

Conn has the uncanny ability to get the shot off and to draw fouls, as evidenced by the number of times he stands at the charity stripe.

"He concentrates on drawing the foul and sometimes it hurts his offensive play," said Martin. "I would like to see Joey improve his field goal shooting up to 55 percent. He is capable of doing that. He has been working hard on it."

Conn averaged 14 points per game last season for Allen Central and expects to bring his past experience to the surface in leading the Rebels this season.

Cotton Parsons, a transfer student from Betsy Layne, will anchor the other forward spot for Martin's team this season. Parsons was a part time starter for Junior Newsome's Bobcats last year and was used liberally in coming off the bench when needed.

"Cotton is our best outside shooter," said Coach Martin. "He has a smooth jump shot. Cotton is an all around player. He can shoot, handle the ball well and is a great defensive player."

After the starting five players the Rebels drop off drastically on the bench.

"We will have to try and stay out of foul trouble because of our bench," the Rebel mentor says.

The Rebels are expected to use mainly a man to man defense, employing a half court trap. Martin says his Rebels will also press a lot.

Martin sees the 58th District as weaker than last year, but more balanced this year. When told the consensus was that Allen Central had the edge on the remainder of the district because he could field the best five players, he said, "that's probably true."

"A lot will depend on how healthy our players stay and the play of Collins," Martin stated.

"We will play a tough schedule this year. But there is not a team on our schedule that I don't think we can beat. We can beat them all, and there is not a team on our schedule that can't beat us."

According to Martin, there will be no weak teams in the district this year.

"Prestonsburg will surprise a lot of people," Martin says. "They have Chris Slone back along with Kevin Adams and Ray Collins.

Stuart Robinson will be back for them and saw a lot of playing time last year.

"McDowell lost a lot from last year," he continued. "The key to McDowell this year will be Keith Shelton's play. Of course, Marc Hall will be returning also.

"I believe this will be the best team that Monroe (Jones) has had at Wheelwright. He has three starters back from last season in Brad

Healthy Conn Imperative To Lady Rebs' Success

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Allen Central Lady Rebels coach Bonita Compton makes no secret of it: if her Lady Rebels are to win a conference race in 1989, it is going to take a healthy Jo Ann Conn.

Conn, who had to miss the latter part of the 1988-89 season because of reconstructive knee surgery, is returning for her senior year, and hopefully a fruitful year in leading the Lady Rebels. As the club's leading scorer, she averaged over 20 points per game and pulled down an average of nine rebounds per contest.

Just how successful this year's club will be will depend on how well and how long the knee will hold under actual game conditions.

"Jo Ann should know when she's tired and come out," said her coach. "She is not able to do any wind sprints. However, her knee is about 40 percent back."

"The knee doesn't bother me any," Conn stated. "I have to wear a brace and I haven't had it very long."

When and if Conn is able to play the way she is capable of, she could dominate the 58th District. Conn has good basketball sense on court, a trait much like having another coach on the floor. She's a workhorse on the floor and on the boards, and can hit from 12-foot range.

Compton's Lady Rebels will employ the man to man defense most of the time.

The Lady Rebel coach believes her squad can beat anyone in the 58th District and 15th Region.

"We won't beat everyone — but we are capable of doing it," Compton remarked. "In order to do that, Stacy Moore and Teresa Gibson are going to have to settle down."

Compton says the two seniors must take a leadership role. Tiffany Click, a good outside shooter, elected not to play basketball this season, leaving the Lady Rebels without a bona fide outside shooter.

"Moore is stronger than last season," says Compton. "She needs improvement on defense, but she is coming around. Her offense is good and she is beginning to look for the opening man."

When you begin to talk about pure shooters, Compton says she has that in Teresa Gibson.

"Teresa is a smart player," the Lady Rebel coach said. "She can shoot the ball real good."

Much of the rebounding will have to fall to Darnela Bradley at the center position. She and Conn have the potential to control the boards in any game.

"Darnela is good offensive player. She is rough on defense, but goes to the board well," says Compton.

The coach sees the Lady Rebels going mostly to a three guard offense this year, due in large part to Betsy Layne transfer Rhonda Leedy, who showed a lot of promise at Betsy Layne last season.

"Leedy will fill in at the guard and forward positions," Compton said. "She is an excellent player. She can drive to the basket or pull up and hit the jumper — just an excellent shooter."

Sonia Allen is a strong rebounder who hits the boards well.

1989-90 Allen Central Lady Rebels

"Sonia is our inspirational leader," Compton says. "She can rebound real well and works real hard on the floor."

The Lady Rebels will have some newcomers this season who show a lot of promise for the future.

Jenny Yates, a freshman, will see a lot of playing time for the Lady Rebs. "Jenny needs to play more under control. She needs to settle down more. She is a good offense player and knows how to pass the ball."

Another Stacie Moore, nicknamed "Miniature Moore" because of her size, may be small but packs a lot of talent as a freshman. "Stacie just needs to learn to be more into the offensive and defensive end of things," says Compton.

Other young players Compton expects to help are Jenny Wiley, Jessica Wade and Pam Webb.

"Jenny is a good defensive player and very strong on defense, as is Wade. Pam needs to get stronger even though she will be my seventh man. She is a good shooter."

Compton sees Gibson, Moore and Conn as scoring machines. If that is so, there may be more than just a 58th District crown awaiting this year's Lady Rebel team. Much will depend on the play and agility of Conn.

"We will bring Conn on slowly," Compton stated. "By the first of the February she should be back at full strength."

Compton doesn't see any one team dominating the district this year.

Wheelwright's April Bradford and Jedon Hood of Wheelwright will have to be stopped, she says, while Betsy Layne has Brenda Compton, Chad Hall and Bobby Hood.

"Junior (Newsome) has a good team every year at Betsy Layne," said Martin. "They will be strong with Sam Stewart and Larry Hall back."

Martin sees Feds Creek as the regional favorite this season with 6'5" Jody Thompson returning.

"They will probably be the strongest district this year also," he stated.

Maybe Coach Martin has changed. Perhaps, unlike other coaches, he relishes the role of favorite. And when you look at the talent his Rebels possess he has reason to remain optimistic about one thing — a trip to Freedom Hall in March or bust.

Edgel "Bide" Click will be assisting Coach Compton again this year. Click brings a lot of experience to the Lady Rebel coaching staff. Honorary coach for the Lady Rebel will be Judy Eversole, who had to resign her coaching position at Wheelwright because of health reasons.

Betsy Layne Bobcats To Count On Younger Players

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Coach Junior Newsome's Betsy Layne Bobcats, coming off a 20-10 season, will be counting some young players to help make the '89-'90 season a success.

"Basically we will be a young ball club," the veteran coach said. "We lost four starters from last year's team and the only positions we will have experience at will be at center and at the guard spots. That's a pretty good place to have experience at."

Newsome says this year's edition of Bobcat basketball will be a good shooting team.

"Our concern is going to be knowing when to shoot and when not to shoot," the Bobcat mentor said. "Our younger players will have to learn this. I look for improvement in our shot selection. We need to learn to take care of the basketball, too."

Coach Newsome says the Bobcats will mix up defenses a lot this year, running some man to man and zone.

"This year's team will be quicker than last year's," he said. Who will be on the floor will depend on game situations and who the Bobcats are playing against.

Gone from last year's team is Keith Hall, who was deadly from three point range. Playmaker Barry Hall and steady performer Duran Newsome have also left via the graduation route.

Betsy Layne will have perhaps the best big man in the 58th this year and one of the top centers in the region in 6' 5" Sam Stewart, everyone's choice for all-everything honors. Stewart was a steady performer for the Bobcats the last three seasons and seems to take a beating underneath the boards.

"We will look to Sam to show some leadership this season, this being his third season in the ranks. He is a hard worker and a pleasure to coach. He is probably the easiest player I've had to coach," says Newsome. "He has an excellent attitude. Sam will play in practice just like he does in a game. He is much improved in putting the ball on the floor and taking it to the basket. He is just a good inside player."

"They will double and triple team in practice. I tell him that is a compliment to him. In order to stop him they have to, and that is tribute to the type of player he is," Newsome explained.

Betsy Layne will keep intact its three point shooting to bring the defense out and open up the middle.

Larry Hall will be counted on in full time service for the Bobcats. Hall saw a lot of playing time for the Bobcats last season in coming off the bench and as a part time starter.

"Larry can shoot over the smaller guards. He will be at our number guard position and will play forward on defense. He post up well. He is behind in conditioning because of football, but he will be at full strength by the opening game with Feds Creek," says the coach, adding that Hall will have to show some leadership ability for the younger Bobcats.

Role models for this year's team will have to be Craig Hunter and Jackie Jarrell. Both are seniors and also football players.

Underclassmen that must contribute for Newsome's team are Phillip King and Chris Newsome, along with Adam Gearheart.

"King was an excellent junior varsity player last year," says Newsome. "He is much improved this year. He is a good leaper and is strong on the inside. Newsome is also much improved. He's an excellent three point shooter and has a lot of offense punch. Gearheart, another excellent shooter, will see time at the guard spot."

Juniors Keith Hall and Bernie Eplin will see a lot of action for the Bobcats this season, according to Newsome. Newsome singled out Chuck Lafferty as promising sophomore for the Betsy Layne team.

"Chad Mitchell will see a lot of playing time at guard for us also," says Newsome.

Chemistry, says the coach, will be the key to the Bobcats' 1989-90 performance.

"We must have good chemistry and learn to play together and play good defense," he explains.

Newsome stresses to his returning players that they will be competing for playing time. "They have got to prove themselves in practice and that is good — because it carries over into the game."

"My philosophy is if you don't play hard, you don't play," says Newsome.

Newsome spoke of the importance of having a good feeder system to a high school program.

"A good feeder school is the mainstay of a high school program," he said. "You have to take care of your feeder schools and make sure they get the practice time they need."

If he were an opposing coach looking at this year's Bobcat team,

1989-90 Betsy Layne Bobcats

how would Newsome describe his squad?

"I'd say they were a young team with good potential. They play hard and play together. They were a team that was having fun."

Because of the returning players' experience at Allen Central, the Rebels get Newsome's nod as the team to beat for the conference title.

"Prestonsburg has an excellent team with experience back, but I believe the district is wide open this year," he adds.

Newsome's top five 15th Region teams are Feds Creek, Pikeville, Allen Central, Johnson Central and Elkhorn City. Newsome notes that Johnson Central's size could go a long way toward a state berth.

Betsy Layne may be a young team, but one thing they have going for them is experience at the important position — and that's found in head coach Junior

Newsome, who has the ability to take a bunch of kids and make

Hopkins Returns To Coaching Ranks; Lady Bobcats Look For Third Crown

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Something old and something new.

That is the way the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats are described this basketball season. The something old? A third straight conference championship. The something new? Gary Hopkins, head coach at the Betsy Layne school.

The Lady Bobcats, who have captured the Floyd County Basketball Conference the last two seasons, will vie for the crown again and perhaps with more of a challenge from the other district schools this time around. Leading the 1989-90 Lady Bobcat team will be new head coach (although he is not new to the coaching ranks) Gary Hopkins, who will fill in for last year's coach, Karen Henry, who took a leave of absence from coaching this season. The last team Hopkins coached was the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats in 1985-86.

"It's been four years ago," the new mentor stated. "This is going to be a good team."

Hopkins has had his share of stars in the basketball ranks with such players as Gina McKenzie, Glenda Shepherd, Glenda Deerfield, Cindy Wells and Jayne Pitts. This year will be no different. Hopkins returns one of the 58th District's best, Brenda Hamilton, a 5' 6" senior. Gone from last season's team is Danita Johnson, whose shoes must be filled by one of the younger players.

"We return four of our starters from last year's team," Hopkins said. "We will have good overall speed. This year's team has excellent quickness and excellent height and our big girls move well for their size."

Melissa Bailey, 6'1" sophomore, returns, and Jamie Smith, a 5' 9" junior, will be at the post position. Also returning is 5' 11" junior, Nikki Webb.

"Overall defensively, we will be very good. The team is more advanced than what I expected they would be at this time of the year," the coach predicts.

Hopkins cites rebounding as a team weakness. "We're not where I want us to be right now. Offensively we are an average team. We're not at the high level I expect of a team. I want to get the Lady Bobcats up to the level of a Sheldon Clark or some of the other regional teams. We will have decent inside and outside game," Hopkins observed.

Although Hopkins didn't get to see many games last season, he looks at Allen Central and Wheelwright as the conference contenders this year, and Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg and McDowell as close seconds. Elkhorn City tops his 15th Region picks with Phelps and Sheldon Clark close behind.

One of the strong points of this year's Betsy Layne team will be the quickness with which the squad is blessed. When you talk about speed Brenda Hamilton is the first to come to mind.

"Brenda has excellent quickness," the Betsy Layne mentor said. "She possesses explosive quickness. Along with that quickness she has good court sense. Brenda's always around the ball. She's a good shooter from outside and the free throw line. She has been working on her range and is a very strong rebounder."

Hamilton, says Hopkins, will have to show team leadership this year. "It's a role she has accepted. It's a role the team has accepted also. The girls on this team need to realize they are going have to help this year rather than rely on Brenda as the team."

Hopkins says that he has been preaching team ball to the Lady Bobcats. Hitting the open person and having five players working together is important. "We do not need a 30 points per game player. Continuity on defense is of the utmost importance. Learning to set picks for the off guard and small forward," Hopkins explains.

At point guard for the Lady Bobcats will be steady performer Nancy Shepherd, a 5' 7" junior who displays excellent outside shooting.

"Nancy has good quickness and has exceptionally long arms which help her to be an excellent defensive player. She is good free throw shooter and possesses good speed. Nancy needs to improve her ability to shoot off the dribble and her ball handling habits," says the coach.

Back from knee surgery last year will be Briana Boyd, a 5' 5" junior who played sparingly last season.

"Briana is an excellent ball handler and can hit from the three-point area. She's a step slow — of course, that's because of her surgery from last year. She compensates for that with her knowledge," Hopkins said. "In time she will come along with her speed. She still has the brace as a crutch. Once the brace is removed she will regain that speed. Briana is a good free throw shooter."

Betsy Layne will be strong in the middle, with Jamie Smith coming back. Smith is a strong post player and rebounds well, according to Hopkins.

"Jamie has some exceptional moves with her back to the basket. She can hit the shot from 12 feet out and in. Jamie is a good free throw shooter and plays excellent defense."

A cog in the Bobcat defense will be 5' 8" junior Shelia Hall. "Shelia is always around the basket and is a cog in our defense," says Hopkins. "She will play a key position for us. She's nothing flashy, but she gets the job done."

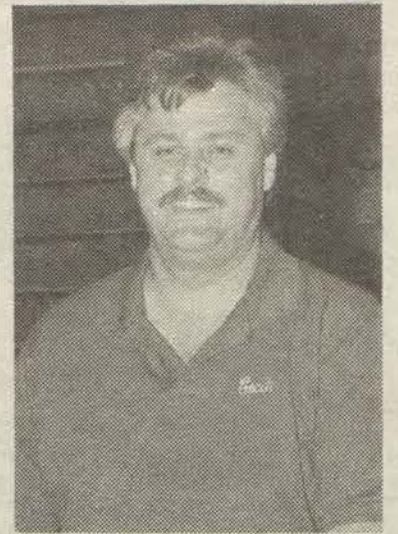

Every team has to have players that know their roles on the team. The Lady Bobcats have some excellent role models. Missy Bailey, according to Hopkins, has really improved. "She is more aggressive than last year and will fill in at the center spot," he adds.

Another role model who will be counted on to contribute this year is Nikki Webb, who moves well with and without the ball. "She is going to be a big plus for us," says Hopkins.

Betsy Layne will be an up-tempo team. Hopkins says he wants the team to run, and to utilize a pressure defense. "Pressure defense makes your offense look good. We've got girls this year that can pressure and run the ball," he notes. He adds that Hamilton's speed makes all the other girls look slow. Betsy Layne will employ the full court pressure and play some one-three-one zone.

How would Hopkins describe this year's Betsy Layne team as an opposing coach?

"They would have an explosive offense. They are an aggressive team and a strong rebounding team. Betsy Layne will be a hard team to match up with because they would have so many weapons to supply. They will have excellent perimeter shooters," he says.

Hamilton, meanwhile, has set some goals for her senior year. "I just want to work hard this season," she said, "and hopefully I can get a scholarship, perhaps at Morehead or Alice Lloyd. I have already heard from some schools.

"I want to contribute this year — be a leader and encourage other players. I tell the younger players and others that ask me, 'hey, you can do it if you try.' The other players believe in me and look to me for help," the All-District performer said.

"I've learned a lot under Karen (Henry). Mr. Hopkins is different. I like him and believe he will help us. We will have to make the adjustment and adopt to his coaching philosophy. He is a big encouragement to me and I have learned a lot of different things," explained Hamilton.

"I've enjoyed playing with Jamie (Smith). Briana is going to help us this year. She is a good shooter. Nancy (Shepherd) is a quick player and Shelia (Hall) has really improved," Hamilton adds.

She believes that for the Lady Bobcats to win a third conference title, they will have to beat Allen Central.

Daredevils To Be More Balanced In '89-90

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

What do you do for an encore after a successful season as last year's McDowell Daredevil's had?

Gone from last year's squad are Dickie Joe Shannon and Henry Webb, who formed one of the most potent guard duos in the 58th District. Rady Martin was as steady a performer as any coach would want. Dependable Jesse Osborne, who was the defensive specialist for the Daredevils last season, is also gone. What do you do? What goals do you set?

"Our goals haven't changed from last year," McDowell mentor Johnny Ray Turner said. "We've won the district the last two years and that is our goal this season.

"We have a very young team with seven sophomores and two freshmen on it," he stated, "but I expect them to improve every week. We are very optimistic about the upcoming year. We will be more balanced as a team because of the young players we will have. Our young players will see a lot of action this year."

One of the greatest areas needing improvement is the turnover department, says Turner, followed closely by defense. "In the past, defensively, we always mix it up but we will probably play more man to man this year," says the coach.

A bright spot is rebounding, where the team is expected to be strong.

"We would like to work toward the Class A tournament that comes up in January," he went on to explain. "We realize we will lose some games this year, but we will be working hard."

McDowell will return two starters from last year's district championship team — Marc Hall (6' 2") and Keith Shelton (6' 5").

Turner says he look to Hall and for the leadership this young team is going to need.

"Marc is a hard worker. He has set some big goals for himself," the coach explained. "Marc will play some guard for us this year. He is an aggressive player both on offense and defense, and he can hit from 15 feet in."

Hall had some big games for the Daredevils last year. His 30 point performance against a good Virgie team was indicative of his offensive prowess. He is an excellent rebound and jumper.

Shelton will hold down the center position for the Daredevils this year, as he did last season. Shelton has picked up 10-15 pounds this year and appears to be much stronger.

"Keith is more interested in scoring this time around compared to last year," his coach explained. "He has always been a good shooter and able to score from the inside. With the team we had last year, he didn't have to score. But this year he will have to do it and he knows that."

Running the point guard position this year will be 5' 10" Stacy Hall, a sophomore who saw considerable playing time last year.

"Stacy is a very poised junior," the McDowell mentor says. "He is a strong player and can post up well. I believe Stacy can take up the slack at point guard left by Henry (Webb)."

Transfer student sophomore Barry Hall, from Betsy Layne, will add to the Daredevils' plans for 1989-90. Although just a sophomore, he possesses the ability of a good athlete.

"Barry is a good ball handler," stated Turner. "His quickness is his biggest asset. He can hit from the outside real well."

Every team has to have good role models to have a successful season. Turner feels he has that in David Bentley, a 6' 3" senior. Bentley did not play ball last season but has had junior varsity experience as a sophomore.

"David is a strong player," Turner said. "He is a good rebounder and plays good defense."

Returning this year will be junior Britt Stumbo, a 6' forward last year who may see some playing time at the guard spot. Turner says Stumbo is a very strong rebounder and is effective on the inside and from 10-15 feet from the basket.

A newcomer to this year's team will be freshman Mike Duddleson, labeled by his coach as a hard worker.

"Mike's a good shooter and ball handler," he said. "There's not a better freshman in the county than Mike."

The Daredevils will not be without their Shannon this year, but it will be in senior Scott Shannon, brother of Dickie Joe Shannon, who has taken his basketball talents to Berea this season. Shannon will also be a role model for Turner's team.

"Scott has had a lot of practice experience. He is strong on the inside," explained Turner.

The McDowell coach sees Derrick Akers as his zone buster with his ability to hit from the outside. Sophomore Dale Hinkle has a good touch around the basket, and his coach rates him as a strong player who can help this year's team. Sophomore Matt Johnson has come a long way.

Turner sees Allen Central as the team to beat this year because of the personnel they have and their strength on the inside.

"Betsy Layne will be strong this year also, with Sam Stewart in the middle for them. Prestonsburg plays a lot of players and they will have some experienced players coming back for them. The quickness of Wheelwright is going to make them tough to handle," predicts Turner.

The McDowell mentor sees the 15th Region as being very strong this year with Jody Thompson and Feds Creek team being the pre-season choice.

"Size will be a weakness for Feds Creek," Turner says. "They will be a quick team with Thompson in there."

Turner also sees the Johnson Central Golden Eagles as a bona fide threat for the regional crown, due to the squad's size. Also expected to be strong are Elkhorn City and Pikeville.

For McDowell, the Shannons, Webbs and Martins are gone, but there is a new look this year. Winning a third straight district title is the goal of this year's McDowell team. To their coach, they are the district champions until someone steps in and beats them in the tournament this year. The Daredevils have one thing going for them in 1989-90—determination.

The schedule for the Daredevils will not be an easy one. They play two Lexington teams in Henry Clay and Lafayette. Greenup County plays a home and away series with the Daredevils this year.

McDowell To Field Young Team; Optimism High

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

McDowell High School women's basketball coach Cassandra Keathley won the heart of the fans and school officials at McDowell last year in her first year of coaching at the Left Beaver school.

Keathley took the Lady Daredevils to the finals of the district tournament, something McDowell hasn't done since the Geri Grigsby days. With that accomplishment, Keathley earned the admiration of the McDowell faithful.

Gone from last year's district tournament team is All-District Gloria Mullins, who averaged 18 points per game for the Lady Daredevils. Gone with her is the three point threat from the outside — which the Lady Daredevils will miss this time around.

Keathley is quick to point out the youth of this year's team.

"We are going to be an inexperienced team with several freshmen on the squad," she said. "I feel like we will be strong on the boards and we will be able to score inside."

Keathley believes her team needs to improve its outside shooting and particularly free throw shooting.

"Our free throw shooting last year killed us," the Lady Daredevil mentor said. "We need to be able to hit our free throws. Last year we were not so consistent there, either."

Even though Keathley sees some room for improvement, she remains optimistic about the upcoming season.

"We will play a tough schedule. However, I believe this year's team will come around a lot quicker than what last year's team did," she said. "Last season we didn't start playing until toward the end of the year. This year's team will be around quicker."

Keathley says that McDowell will mix it up on defense this year. "We'll run three or four different trap zones," she said. "We will be a quicker team."

Returning for the Lady Daredevils will be their second leading scorer of a year ago, Lori Bryant. Bryant, a junior who averaged 14 points a game and eight rebounds as a sophomore, already has the college coaches taking a look at her this season.

Bryant is a heady player who never seems to play out of control. She possesses a good knowledge of the game and has good basketball sense. She is a big threat when she gets within 10 feet of the basket.

"Lori can do it all," says Keathley. "She can score with consistency from 10-12 feet from the basket. She is a tremendous rebounder as well as a passer. Lori needs to work on her defense some — she gets her eye on the ball and forgets things."

There will be a lot of pressure on Bryant this season, according to her coach. Bryant, although just a junior, will be looked to for the leadership this young team needs.

At the point guard for Keathley's Lady Daredevils will be Priscilla Crawford, the team's only senior, who has good range from 15 to 18 feet out.

"Priscilla is perhaps our best defensive player," states Keathley. "She's also our best consistent outside shooter."

Crawford will be called upon to show some leadership as well, having been a veteran of the basketball wars.

In the middle for McDowell will be Jenny Slone, a junior, who will be counted on to sweep the boards for the McDowell squad.

"Jenny is a good inside player. She can score inside and does a good job rebounding. She needs to work on moving without the ball," states Keathley.

At another guard spot for Keathley's Lady Daredevils will be Debbie Fannin, a 5' 4" sophomore, who will play the off guard position because of her ability to shoot the basketball.

"Debbie is a good shooter. She is a product of the Junior Pro league," commented her coach. "She needs to work on her ball handling skills, something that they don't seem to teach in the junior pros. She seems to panic or freeze up under pressure."

Rounding the starting five for the Lady Devils will be junior forward Michelle Cook, 5'9". Cook is a work horse on the boards and will be expected to pull down the rebounds on the offensive and defensive ends of the gym.

"She is an excellent rebounder," Keathley says. "She passes well and should help us under the basket."

The Lady Daredevils will have six talented freshmen on this year's squad and much will be expected of them early on.

A player Keathley says has to contribute this year is Kristi Mullins, a 5'6" freshman who will be playing guard.

"She will be playing at the point guard some this year. She played that position in grade school. He has to contribute early for us," said the coach.

Nicky Mullins, a 6-foot freshman, will be seeing a lot of playing time. A good rebounder, Mullins is expected to help underneath the basket.

Freshman guard Michelle Hall, 5' 10", whom Keathley rates as an outstanding shooter who needs to get stronger, will be called upon to use her ability in helping the young Lady Devils this season.

Another good rebounder for the Lady Devils is freshman Shelby Howell, 5'9".

"Shelby does an excellent job on the boards for us," Keathley said. "She will also be a big plus for us this year."

Keathley says that Allen Central, with All-Conference player Jo Ann Conn, should be the team to beat in the 58th District.

"Allen Central has the talent to win it all this year," Keathley says. "Much will depend on how much Conn can come back from knee surgery. Betsy Layne will be tough this year. They have Brenda Hamilton back, along with Nikki Webb, and they will be in there also."

"Wheelwright will have three starters back from last year. Hood and Bradford are two outstanding players. Prestonsburg will have Kathy Slone back and they will have a lot to say about who wins it."

In the 15th Region, Keathley sees Phelps as the team to watch for in the regional.

"Elkhorn City will have an excellent team. Sheldon Clark is always tough and Dorton could be the dark horse this year," she predicts.

With one senior, four juniors, one sophomore and six talented freshmen on this year's team, the future of Lady Devil basketball looks bright. Keathley came last year and turned the McDowell women's program around, and the parents and fans will be the first to tell you so. She won their hearts; now she wants to win a district title for them. Keathley and the Lady Devils are optimistic.

What Do You Do For An Encore? 'Win It Again,' Says Coach Parido

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Last year your team was crowned 15th Region champions. You had a nucleus that was balanced and played good defense. What do you do for an encore?

"You win it again," Prestonsburg head basketball coach Gordon Parido says. "At least that is what you aim for at the start of a new season. It is best to start a new season with not too many goals," he stated. "If you do, you start thinking they are unachievable."

Parido's Blackcats will start the 1989-90 high school basketball season as the champs of the 15th Region, and they will be the reigning champions unless someone beats them in March.

Gone from last year's squad are seven seniors. Of those seven, lost are players such as Todd Justice, who seemed to thrive on pressure. His play in the second half of last year's regional championship game against McDowell brought the Blackcats back from a 12 point half time deficit and to eventual crown. Gone is Thomas Nairn, the point guard who ran the ball club on the floor. Nairn ranked in the top five in free throw shooting in Kentucky. How about losing a Scott Hall, a player with a smooth touch around the basket and the top percentage shooter in the state last season? Also gone is Danny Hamilton, who was as steady a performer as a coach would want and could sweep the glass at either end. Following them was super sub John Wright, who came in to make the big defensive plays, and who was considered by the coaching staff as the Blackcats' best defensive player.

Asked to describe this year's team, looking at them as an opposing coach, Parido pointed first to the group as a quality defensive team. "It will be better than last year's squad," he said. "Offensively, they are nowhere near where last year's team was. Last year's group was a good group."

The Blackcats will be stronger and, Parido hopes, more consistent this time around.

"This group wants to play hard," the Blackcat mentor stated. "We've lost some edge from last year and we will be retuning our second leading scorer from last year (Chris Slone, 14 ppg)."

Slone will be a three year starter for the Blackcats as he comes back for his senior year. Much will be expected of the veteran of the hardwoods.

"We will be looking to Chris for leadership this year," Parido explained. "We will have to have a lot of scoring out of him this year. There will be a lot of pressure on Chris to lead the team. The coaching staff and team will be expecting a lot — he will have to help the team to stick together."

Parido notes that Slone is quick, shoots the ball well from 20 feet in, and plays solid defense. However, he adds, Slone needs to improve his ball handling and free throws.

Slone will play the two man guard position.

Slone's running mate will be Ray Collins, who will play the point guard spot. Collins will be responsible for directing the team on the floor, handling the ball and running the offense.

"Ray has been a surprise," the Blackcat coach said. "He has assumed the leadership role and we expect good things from Ray this year and I'm glad that he wants to be a leader."

Parido says that Collins shoots the ball well and can also hit the free throws. Collins will be used strictly at the point guard spot.

Hall's position under the basket will be inherited by Kevin Adams, a 6' 5", 215 pound senior. Adams saw limited playing time for the Blackcats last year and, in the semifinal game against Pikeville, came in the game in the fourth period and scored 10 points to help the Blackcats reach the championship game.

"Kevin plays well. Although he saw limited playing time last year this year will be different," Parido said. "He is a hard worker. Offensively he has a decent touch but needs to improve from the free throw line. It is valuable that he be able to hit the free throws."

Adams had a tremendous summer at the Cumberland College Big Man Camp, where he won the one-on-one competition.

The small forward position will be filled by 6' 4" Joe Burchett, who Parido says will be expected to score and get some rebounds.

"Joe has been shooting real well. His problem is his strength," the Prestonsburg coach said. "He has been working on it and picked up about 10 to 15 pounds."

Another six-footer, Jeff Slone, 6' 3", will play the power forward spot. Slone will be looked to get the garbage rebounds.

"He can shoot well from 12-15 feet. Jeff is an excellent rebounder and is ready to take over the leadership role. He will be playing the work horse position and is expected to get the garbage rebounds. He is always giving you 100 percent," said the PHS coach.

Parido is looking to senior Stuart Robinson to be a team leader this year. "Stuart has trouble shooting the ball, but he is a good defensive player and he is a strong kid who can post up good. We will definitely be looking to Stuart for some leadership this season."

Tim Martin will see a lot of playing time this year for Parido's team. "Tim is close to being our best defensive player," said Parido. "He is of the John Wright mold. Tim is a good rebounder."

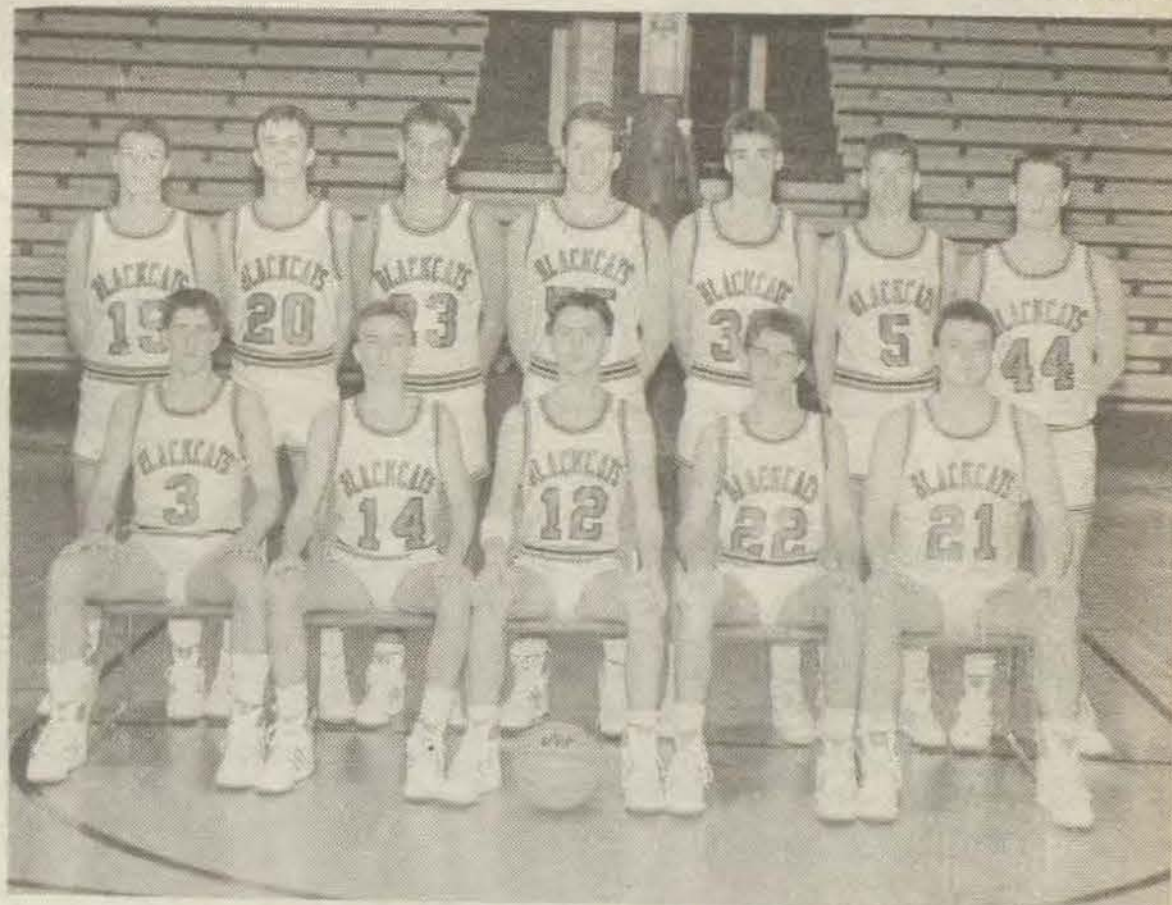

"Perhaps our best outside shooter is John Clark," the Blackcat coach remarked. "He handles the ball well. John needs to get stronger and mature into the game."

Parido does not try and mold a player to a position; his philosophy is to make a position for the player that is capable of handling the spot.

"In our system we assign them numbers from 1-5. That is a numerical system for different positions on the court such as point guard, off guard, small forward or strong forward. As freshmen we assign them a number we feel they can play."

Parido says the Blackcats will be an up tempo team again this year. Fans can expect the same running game they saw last season.

"We look to do a lot of full court pressure," he said. "We'll go to a 3-2 zone and some 1-3-1 zone. Most of our games though we'll start man-to-man."

The Blackcat coach expects the district to be strong again, but not as strong as last season. Allen Central gets the nod from Parido as the team to beat for the district crown.

"Allen Central is going to be a strong team," he said. "Our team is going to be an experienced team and Betsy Layne will have Sam Stewart back, so they will be tough, even though they will be inexperienced at the guard spots."

enced at the guard spots."

Parido sees his team as being able to go eight to nine deep on the bench this year. He says that he likes to build confidence in his players. The Blackcat mentor cites the support of the Prestonsburg fans as something that went along way toward the success the 'Cats enjoyed last year, and hopes they will be supportive this time also.

"The fans are still excited from last year," Parido stated, "and that's good because that has a lot to do with winning. It encourages the kids when the fans come out and support them. People will be watching us the first few games. There will be a lot of pressure on the kids to do well. There will be a lot expected out of us."

The Blackcats are the regional champions until someone beats them. What to do for an encore? Parido says one thing — win it again.

Winning Season Goal Of Clay's Lady Blackcats

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Is a winning season possible? After losing over 70 percent of your offense in All-District, All-Regional standout Karen Frasure (20 ppg, 9 rebounds) who has departed to play basketball at Union College?

That, followed by the loss of your ball handler and point guard in Michelle Clemmons and always dependable subs Flo Jervis and Amy Hicks, who choose not to play basketball this year, one has to wonder if a winning season is possible.

But talk to Lady Blackcat head basketball coach Bridgett Clay, and she will tell you right out that a winning season is not only the team's goal but an expected goal.

"A winning season is what all of us want this time around," she said recently in an interview. "These kids have showed me more in seven days of practice than I expected. They have worked very hard."

Clay says that the key factor to this year's senior-less team will be inexperience.

"How well we improve during the season will determined how competitive we will be," said Clay. "I don't want our players to have the wrong attitude."

"We have a talented group of freshmen coming in that will get a lot of playing time," Clay remarked. "Some may even get to start."

The Lady Blackcats will not post a set starting five, says Clay. Instead, game situations will dictate the opening lineup.

"Some games you will need a bigger, stronger lineup, others you may need a quicker one," she says.

In the last four years there have been three different district champions, an omen that tells Clay this year there will be a different winner again.

"I don't see any dominant team in the district this year," she stated. "Wheelwright last year proved you can have a slow start and keep progressing and win a tournament. Judy Eversole did a great job of coaching last year at Wheelwright. At tournament time, she had them ready."

While Clay would not allow herself to be put on a spot in predicting the outcome of this year's race, she did see Allen Central as a top contender.

"You hear a lot about Allen Central and the talent they have back this year," she said. "McDowell is going through a learning process just like us. Wheelwright will have Hood (Jedon) and Bradford (April) back this year from a district championship team. Betsy Layne will have a new coach."

In the region, Clay sees Phelps as the team to beat, followed by Elkhorn City and Sheldon Clark. Asked to pick a dark horse in the 15th region, she gave Dorton the nod.

"We are behind the rest in the region," says Clay, "but we will be in there scrapping."

The Lady Blackcats return last year's second leading scorer in junior Kathy Slone, 5'7", to lead the Prestonsburg team this year.

"Kathy's looking better already," Clay says. "She is very quick and we will need some leadership out of her even though she is just a junior."

Slone is capable of using her quickness for some easy baskets underneath. She also can pop the 10-footers from the corners. Her biggest strengths will her rebounding and defensive play.

The tallest player on the squad is Stephanie Allen, at 5'10", who Coach Clay says is definitely a key player.

"Stephanie will have to step in and get us a lot of rebounds," she says. "We're really not that big anywhere else."

A newcomer to this year's Lady Blackcat squad is Gwenna Hale, a junior. Clay will look to her for leadership on the floor at point guard.

"Gwenna is a true point guard," the Prestonsburg mentor said, "and she has good quickness and has the ability to take over a game. She can hit the open player and plays good defense."

Angela Senters, a 5'7" junior, missed 12 games last season because of a fractured finger. This season, she is starting to develop into a dependable player, says Clay.

"Angela is an intelligent basketball player," Clay said. "She works awfully hard in practice."

Besides the veteran players returning, Clay is elated over the crop of freshmen players coming in this season.

Carolyn Reffitt, rated by Clay as the best all around, displays a good outside jumper to score from short range. Reffitt has good ball handling ability as dribbler, can drive and pass the ball.

"Carolyn has good basketball sense," said Clay, "and she gives a 110 percent effort every time out."

Another outside scoring threat is freshman Amy Reed, who "has an excellent ability to come off the ball and she can drive to the basketball as well as hit from the outside."

Racquel Cain, 5'6", possess the ability to score from the outside also.

"Racquel is an excellent outside scorer, but she needs some work on defense," explained Clay.

When you talk about a player who knows how to get things done, you think of freshman Kerry Marion.

"Even though Kerry's outside shooting is lacking, she still can help control the team. She know what needs to be done and knows how to get it done," says the PHS women's coach.

Clay says that much will be expected from sophomore Stephanie Music this time around.

"Stephanie is a good post player. She has some good moves to the basket and if you leave her open she can hit the 12 footer on you."

Others Clay will be looking to this season are Jania Chapman, who went to Inez Grade School last year, and Missy Sanders.

"Jania will help us this year. She went to Inez in the grade system. Missy will be playing forward and some at the center position for us. She rebounds well and is tough under the basket," says the coach.

With the young talent this year's Lady Blackcats team possesses this could be the a winning season for them. It just may not be just a winning season, but a championship season as well — 58th District style.

Optimism High As Trojans Enter New Season

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

This is the time of year when every basketball team (and especially each coach) approaches the new season with a lot of optimism for the games that face them.

For coach Monroe Jones and his Wheelwright Trojans, the feeling is no different. Jones sees his team as young, but with three returning starters he is very optimistic of his squad's chances during the upcoming season.

"One of our strengths will be the returning three seniors that we have from last year's team," Jones stated. "We are going to be a young team. We lost Craig Martin and that's 26 points a game. Someone has to step in and take up the slack."

Martin was the top scorer for the Trojans last year, but this year's squad promises to be more balanced and a team effort is expected from the entire membership.

The team's things to do list, says Jones, includes working on the inside game and rebounding.

"We also need to work on our ball handling," Jones stated. "We have three seniors returning and we will be looking to our three seniors for the leadership we need."

Last season Wheelwright lacked depth on the bench, but Jones doesn't see that as a problem for this year's edition of Trojan basketball.

"Last year we could go about seven deep; this year we will be able to play 10 good players. We will mix up our defense some this season, but we will play mostly a man to man defense and press a lot. That is why we will utilize our bench," explains Jones.

The inside game of for Trojans should be one of the strongest in the 58th District this year with the return of Brad Compton, a 6'4" center, who averaged 13 points per game and eight rebounds.

"Brad is a good inside man," remarked Jones, "and he needs to get more physical inside. Brad will be able to hold his own in the district this year. He has all kinds of ability."

Making the transition from the football scene will be Chad Hall, a 6' forward who averaged eight point and six rebounds a game. Jones says that he will look to Hall to show some leadership on this year's Trojan team.

"Chad is a hustler. He is a hard worker and is very physical under the basket," said the Trojan mentor. "He needs to control the ball more and pick up on his scoring and rebounding."

Returning for the Trojans will be "Mr. Versatile" — 5'10" Bobby Hood. Hood averaged 16 points per game for Wheelwright last year. Hood can hit the three pointer, is consistent from the outside and, with his quickness, can penetrate to the basket.

"Bobby is like Brad, he does a lot of things right and has a lot of ability," Jones related. "He just makes a lot of things happen." Hood also is making the transition from the gridiron to the hardwood. Hood has missed the last two district tournaments for the Wheelwright team.

Sophomore Harold Johnson, at 6'1", who Jones labels a good shooter, will also get the chance to display his shooting ability for the Trojans.

Junior Brian Rhea also at 6'1" is a good defensive player according to his coach. "Brian will help us on defense and in rebounding and what points we get out of him will be a bonus for us," Jones stated.

Jones will also be looking to Steven Johnson and Layne Bailey to help out at the guard positions.

In the district race this year, Jones sees the top slot going to the Rebels of Allen Central.

"Allen Central will have an edge because of the starting five they can put on the floor. Allen Central will lack depth, though. Prestonsburg will have experience back and that will help them. Betsy Layne always has a good program. McDowell will have three good starters returning," says the coach.

In the region, Jones believes after Feds Creek, led by Jody Thompson, that Elkhorn City will be the team to contend with.

"Who knows who is going to win a tournament?" Jones stated. "Who picked Prestonsburg to win last year? Who picked Phelps the year before? Who knows who is going to win?"

The three returning seniors for the Trojans have personal goals they have set for the year.

"I would like to win the district this year," Compton stated. "It has been a while since Wheelwright has won a district title and I have made that my main goal this season."

"I want to be more aggressive and stronger inside," the center continued. "I see Allen Central as the team to beat this year."

"I just want to give all that I can to make us a winner," Hall remarked. "I want to improve my ball handling ability." Hall also sees the Rebels as the team to beat for the district title.

"I just want to be able to play in a district tournament," said Hood, who has missed the last two. "I want to contribute to a winning season for our school." Hood had to miss several games at the end of last season, including the tournament. He also sees some areas of improvement in his personal play.

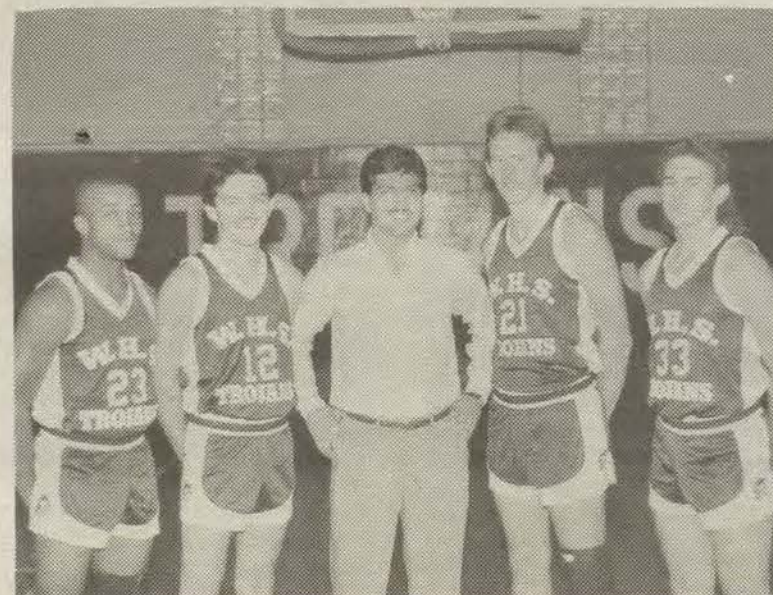

"I need to penetrate more. I want to get in shape for the season and give 110 percent. I'm pretty banged up from football," he added. Hood makes it unanimous among the Wheelwright seniors by giving the nod to Allen Central as the team to beat.

"Coaches have to take into consideration the football players that come into practice," Jones stated. "At first we just work on fundamentals. The football players are used to tackling a player. We don't want that to happen in basketball."

New Coach Daniels Inherits District Champions

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

Something new happened at the Wheelwright High School last year. The Lady Trojans came from nowhere and captured the 58th District Tournament crown after finishing dead last in the conference standings.

It was a typical coaching job by Judy Eversole, who always seems to have her teams ready come tourney time.

This year there's another new look — a new kid on the block. Coach Donnie Daniels, who coached the Allen Central Rebels football team, has inherited last year's championship team and has some outstanding players returning.

Daniels was named the Lady Trojans coach rather late and had not had but one week of practice as of this interview. Daniels, unlike his predecessor, brings no basketball coaching experience with him, but on the flip side, he is a former Trojan player.

Daniels says that the Lady Trojans will be small in numbers (no depth) but will play hard.

"We will be able to go eight deep, I believe," Daniels explained. "We just need to get in shape after getting a late start in practice. Also, the players have to make the transition from Mrs. Eversole to me as to my teaching and method of doing things. I can say the program certainly was left in good shape.

"I'm trying to teach them the basics again and one or two offensive and defensive plays. Coach Eversole's philosophy and my philosophy are about the same. We play some zone and try and match up on defense."

Daniels says he prefers a man to man defense, but that a lack of depth on the Lady Trojans team presents a problem and a zone looks best for them. He also said they would mix the defense up.

"I plan on playing as many players as I can at the start of the season," the Lady Trojan coach said. "Then we will see how things go from there."

"The attitude on this team is great. They know they are behind the rest of the schools in practicing. They work hard. I don't hear any back talk. They are really trying and I can't fault that. I want to teach them and not have to yell at them. I told them that this is new for me also."

Returning for the Lady Trojans will be perhaps the premier center in the county this year in Jedon Hood. Hood was instrumental in leading the Lady Trojans to a district crown last year.

"Jedon is a very hard worker," Daniels stated. "She takes a lot of beatings under the basket. Hood is one of the top two players in the county. She rebounds real well and is a good scorer. She needs to work on her free throw shooting more. She has good moves under the basket and posts up good."

Team leadership will have to come from senior April Bradford, who averaged around 15 points per game last season. Bradford is a deadly shooter from 15 feet in. She is the type of player that coaches can't afford to let get set and shoot.

"April needs to learn shoot off the run," her coach stated, "instead of having to come set. If she gets set — you better watch out. She is a good defensive player and rebounds well. April doesn't make many mistakes, she's a team leader."

cially from the three point range, is sophomore Becky Allen.

"Becky will be both point guard and will play some off guard. We won't have what you may call a true point guard. I wish we did," says Daniels. "Becky will have to run the team on the floor. She has the freedom to shoot the ball and she can shoot it. She handles the ball well, but needs to take her time on the floor."

A player who saw a lot of action last year as a freshman is Carrie Smith.

"Carrie will help us on defense this year because she is a good defensive player. She goes to the boards hard and rebounds well. She needs to work on her shooting and doesn't handle the ball the best. Carrie will be at the forward position for us."

Another sophomore that Daniels expects to contribute this year is Stephanie Little.

"Stephanie's biggest strength is her aggressiveness. Sometimes she is over aggressive. She moves good on the post and plays good defense," explains Daniels.

Coming off the bench for the Lady Trojans will be Vicky Johnson, another sophomore, who will fill in for Allen at the point guard position. She has good ball handling abilities according to her coach.

A senior who is returning to the basketball wars after sitting out her sophomore and junior years is Diana Burke. Daniels expects Burke to help out underneath the basket.

Daniels views his team as the team that is still district champions. He says that the Lady Trojans will be competitive in this year's conference race. Allen Central tops his list as the team to watch. He also doesn't see any team dominating the district this year.

"I have adjustments to make also," says Daniels. "We work on stuff until I adjust to it. I hope we can have a good year, a banner year for the seniors on this team. There is a lot of pride in the community because it is a small school there is more togetherness."

The Lady Trojans will field a team of two seniors and five sophomores. "I had one girl who came out for the team and I told her she had to cut her finger nails off and she said 'I quit'," said Daniels.

According to Bradford, she feels the Lady Trojans will be just as strong as they finished last year. "We have Jedon back and she is shooting the ball better. She work on her shot over the summer," she said.

Bradford looks to McDowell as the team to beat because of their quickness and speed. "McDowell is a very strong team."

"Betsy Layne is a young team with Brenda Hamilton back. Allen Central will have Jo Ann (Conn) back. I hope she can play this year it being her senior year. I hope she does good," Bradford explained.

She believes the Lady Trojans will be strong at the guard position with Allen back. "Carrie (Smith) will help us under the boards and she has been practicing hard on her shot. We just need to be relaxed and play our game this year."

Hood, Bradford and Allen. Add some promising sophomores and, just maybe the Lady Trojans will returning to the regional tournament come March.

Across The Region . . . In Men's Action

The 58th District's dominance of the 15th Region will be challenged this year by a trio of teams. However, that does not mean the 58th will be without challenges.

In men's action, everyone's choice for the regional crown goes to the Feds Creek Vikings (24-6 in 1988-89) in the preseason favorite polls and rightly so, as the Vikings will return 6'5" Jody Thompson, a good candidate for the "Mr. Basketball" title in Kentucky this year. Thompson averaged 30 points per game as a junior last year. Add Max Good, 5' 10", at guard, 12.5

points a game, and you have speed, size and shooting to bring a championship team to Feds Creek. Also returning will be junior Rodney Fuller, 5' 10", who averaged 12.3 points per game, along with freshman sensation Shannon Keene, 5' 10", 12.8 points per game. In the pivot for the Vikings will be 6' 2" senior Bryant Justice. Justice averaged 8.1 points per game for Feds Creek.

"We will be returning an experienced ball club," Viking coach Ralph Good said. "We will be quick with the ability to shoot the ball well. Our defense will be decent. I just told the kids this year we were going to have fun.

"Physical strength and size are probably our two greatest weaknesses," the Viking mentor stated. "If our team continues to mature and improve during the season, we could be the team to beat in the 15th Region."

Bench depth could be a problem for the Vikings even though 11 players return from last year's team. The Vikings will have some untested and inexperienced players.

Pikeville coach Ken Trivette's Panthers will have a lot to say about the upcoming season. Returning for the Panthers will be All-Region performer Johnny Hale. Hale averaged 16 points per game for Pikeville while playing in the shadow of Chris Slater, who graduated last year.

"We have the ability to be a regional contender if we develop the strong team concept and character necessary to win championships," Coach Trivette said.

Transfer Steve Bailey, who averaged 12 points per game, will help add to the Panther nucleus.

"We may not be good early," said Trivette, "but we could become a good team by January. I am extremely pleased with where we are now. We used to be homecoming opponents for every team around. Howard Wallen came here and change that. He gets credit for what's been achieved here."

Johnson Central will be a contender for the regional crown. Size will not be a problem for the Golden Eagles, but guard play might be. Johnson Central will average around 6'6" under the bucket this year.

Elkhorn City is very optimistic this season, according to Cougar coach Randy McCoy.

"We could have an awful good year," Coach McCoy related. "The Class A State Tournament is something good to talk to kids about and we have set our goal of going to the tournament."

Returning for the Cougars will be Kermit Belcher, a 6' 4" senior who averaged 16 points per game and six rebounds.

"Kermit is a strong player. He is consistent on offense and has an excellent knowledge of the game. He has improved his passing game also."

Tyler Bailiff, a 6' 4" junior, had a good sophomore year last season, averaging over 10 points per game. According to Coach McCoy, Bailiff has improved his shooting range and ball handling skills.

Floyd County's own Allen Central will be a very competitive team in the 15th Region. Johnny Martin's Rebels will be led by an array of talented ball players. Kevin Spurlock, a 5' 10" senior, will be the floor leader for the veteran team this season. Spurlock scored 34 points for the Rebels in the semifinals of the district tournament last year. He possesses the ability to hit the three-pointer and he can penetrate to the basket. Rick Smith will post up under the basket for the Rebels as he returns for his senior year.

"We will be a good defensive team," Martin stated. "We play well together. We shoot the ball well and have a good inside game."

Martin says that this year's Rebel team will be the quickest he has coached in the past seven years. After the Rebels starting five, the Rebels drop off in size.

"We can come in with a 5' 10" or 5' 9" player off the bench," said the Rebel mentor.

It is going to be a big year in the 15th Region this basketball season. Memories of last season regional tournament still linger in the minds of basketball fans in the 15th and many are asking, "Can last season be topped this year?" That is a hard question to answer right now, but all indications are that it will be better. Enjoy the season.

'King' Kelly Coleman Still A Household Name In FC

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

He was king of the mountains in the mid-1950s. He has scored more points than any other player who played basketball in Floyd County. He was appropriately named "King" Kelly by one-time sports writer Gordon Moore when he said that "coal was no longer king in the mountains," but Kelly was.

He broke all offensive records in the state of Kentucky. He holds the state tournament scoring record with 68 points in the consolation game of the state tournament against Bell County. He had 27 field goals and made 14 out of 18 free throws. He led the nation in scoring his senior year with 1,734 points, an average of 46.9 points per game.

His name: Kelly Coleman. Only 6' 3" (big for a player in the '50s). His team: the Wayland Wasps. His coach: Copper John.

Coleman, in a game against the Elkhorn City Cougars, totaled 75 points. He had an uncanny knack for knowing where the ball would come off the goal when he missed a shot (which wasn't too often).

Where is such a star player now? He is working for the Detroit News in Detroit, Mich., as a circulation manager for one of the paper's zones.

"After I got out of school at Wayland I attended Kentucky Wesleyan on a scholarship," says Coleman in an interview we had with him. "I played basketball for Wesleyan for three years."

Coleman was in the top five in scoring for small colleges during his tenure at the Kentucky school. Upon leaving Wesleyan, Coleman was drafted by the New York Knicks and was heralded by all time great George Mikan as "one of the purest shooters in the game of basketball that I have ever seen."

"I didn't stay around with the Knicks very long," Coleman said. "My attitude wasn't what it should have been."

Coleman went to the Baltimore Bullets (now the Washington Bullets) for a short stay.

Upon the beginning of the old American Basketball League, Coleman signed on with the Chicago Majors where he was an instant star, leading the club in scoring.

"The old American Basketball League last about a year and half and then folded," the scoring leader reminisced. "Upon the folding of the league I went to work in a steel mill and then returned back to Kentucky Wesleyan where I got my teaching degree."

Coleman says that he doesn't follow basketball anymore—even on television. "Mainly for what it did to me," he said. "I try and go down to the state tournament every year, but that is the extent of it."

What was the best memory Coleman has about his playing days at Wayland?

"It was in a regional tournament game against Pikeville in the finals, played at Pikeville. That was in 1956. I fouled out in the third quarter when we were leading by 20 points. They caught up with us in the fourth quarter and our team pulled it out, winning by six points. That was an exciting moment for me to be on the bench and see our team pull the game out," he says.

Coleman had 44 points before fouling out in the third period.

Coleman has some fond memories of the coaches he played for or against. "Tommy Boyd was a good coach on fundamentals, but he sure was wild on the bench. Hoss Halbert at Martin was a good coach and always had a good team," Kelly remembers.

The "King's" name is still heard often when you talk about basketball in the mountains of Kentucky. Many people ask, "What ever happen to Kelly Coleman?" as they remember the boy from the small school in Wayland that thrilled the hearts of thousands.

"We were playing Martin one night," Coleman recalled, "and I shot from almost out of bounds and landed in Hoss' lap. He told me to set somewhere else."

Coleman said after his stint in the pros he "just didn't try anymore" because he was mad at everyone.

"I was always overweight," he recalled. "I had a reputation and everything they said about was true. I have regrets."

If he had it all to do over, would he do things different?

"Yes, I would," he said. "If I had it all to do over I would do things different. I would play pro basketball more than I did. I would become a nice guy and stay in shape."

What advice would Coleman give to aspiring youngsters today who have a dream of playing professional basketball?

"Learn all you can about the game. Practice. Learn to be a complete player. Many come to play but don't learn how to play."

Coleman said a proper attitude is imperative to playing the game.

Coleman is 51 now and married with four children. His parents still reside in Wayland where Coleman comes to visit about twice a year.

"I'll stop on my way to Florida," the "King" said. "I don't get back very much."

Coleman was the subject of a Sports Illustrated article in a March issue in 1988.

"They did a story on me and the opportunities I had to make it big, calling me the best basketball player in history," he said.

Across The Region ... In Women's Action

by Ed Taylor,
Sports Editor

It should be a wide open 15th Region this year!

Should it? The consensus among 15th regional coaches is that Phelps will again be the team to beat.

The Lady Hornets were the 15th Regions champions last year, and return everyone but Becky Mullins, who graduated. Phelps will return an experienced team led by 6' 1" Beth Allen, a senior, and sparkplug Krystal Dotson at 5' 5".

Challenging the Lady Hornets will be an array of talented 15th region teams. A very talented Elkhorn City Lady Cougar team (which did not have a senior last year) will be a quick team that knows how to play defense. Coach B. J. Eiswick will have his squad running and gunning as he prefers the up tempo style game.

Back for the Lady Cougars will be 5' 10" senior Kari Butcher. Returning at the guard spot will be Julie Belcher. Belcher may only be 5' 4", but packs a lot of scoring in her ability to run and hit the outside shot.

Perhaps the best girls player returning in the 15th this year is Ida Bowen, a 6' 0" junior from Sheldon Clark who made a lot of people take notice last season. She will be in the wings challenging the Lady Hornets as well. However, Bowen is not the only returning player for the Lady Cardinals that made an impact on the basketball scene. Bridgett Harmon will also be back at the second guard spot for the Lady Cardinals. Throw in another Harmon, Terri, and you have a trio of players that could lead the Lady Cardinals to a regional crown.

The dark horse in the girls 15th regional could be the Dorton Lady Wildcats. Dorton was winner of the 59th District last year and was eliminated in the first round of the tournament by Phelps. Depth may be the weakness of this year's Dorton team even with five returning seniors.

In the 58th there is a trio of teams that could make the move to the "Sweet Sixteen" this year.

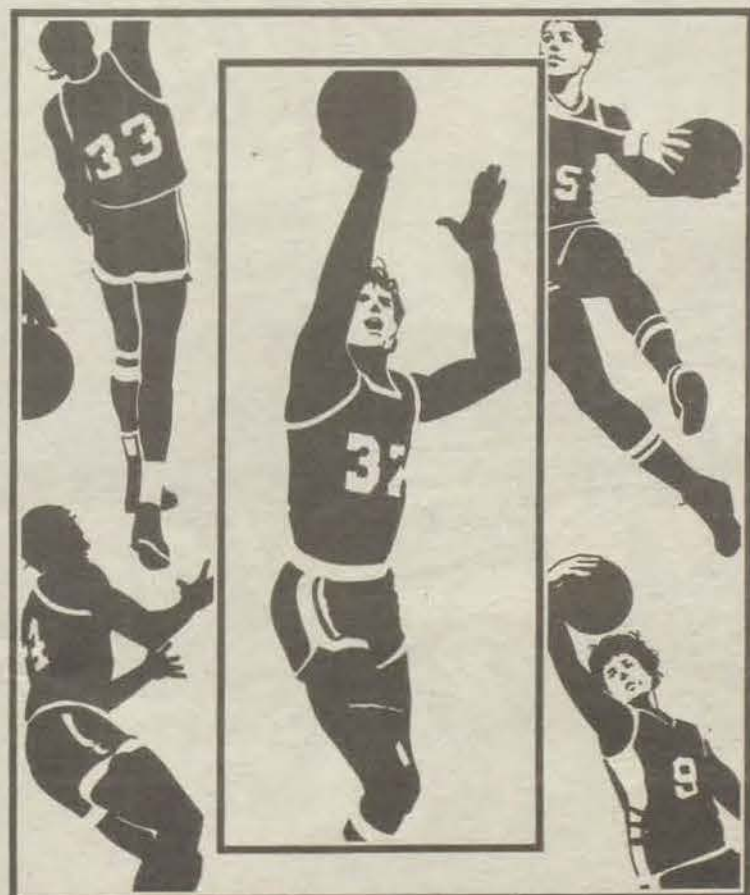

The Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats are a talented team. With one of the premier players in the region, Brenda Hamilton, the Lady Bobcats have to be seriously considered a regional contender. Speed and quickness will be a big plus for them.

Also waiting on the side lines for a trip to Richmond will be Bonita Compton's Allen Central Lady Rebels. Multi-talented Jo Ann Conn, if healthy, will make the Lady Rebs a bona fide contender.

Don't write the Lady Trojans of Wheelwright off, either. A talented Jedon Hood and April Bradford are back for their senior year and would like nothing more than to close out their high school days with a trip to Richmond.

It's going to be a great season in girls basketball, especially in the 15th region. Stay tuned and see how it comes out in March.
