Clean groundwater vs. higher disposal costs

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer
Part Two

How much are you willing to pay for garbage disposal in Floyd County? How important is clean groundwater to you? Are you willing to foot the costs of an ecological bill which may exist in 10 years if strict controls to keep the groundwater clean are not implemented?

These are three of the more important questions that Floyd Countians and all citizens of Kentucky must answer when deciding whether to support or oppose new solid waste regulations proposed by Gov. Wallace Wilkinson and the Division of Waste Management.

According to Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo and Prestonsburg Community College professor and local solid waste expert Bob McAninch, the new regulations could require an increase in monthly trash pickup rates from $8 to $20 for county residents. McAninch also expressed concern about the economic ability of the county to upgrade its landfill to meet the new regulations, or the need for such an upgrade.

"The groundwater under the site is purer now than when we began using the site," said McAninch.

The newly proposed emergency solid waste regulations are among the strictest in the country, according to Annette Hayden, spokesperson for the Division of Waste Management.

"These regulations were based on regulations enacted in other states,

Landfill specifications newly required by the state are extensive, according to the Division of Waste Management's recent report. An elaborate primary and secondary liner underneath the fill is required, as well as a specially constructed cap over the site, once the landfill is filled.

The secondary liner may be composed of naturally occurring rock layers or be constructed of one foot of compacted clay, a thick plastic material layer, a filter and drainage layer, and a system of collection pipes to funnel garbage-polluted rainwater to an appropriate area.

The primary liner is similar to the secondary layer, with the exception that the clay layer must be three feet thick. The estimated cost for placing these layers under a single acre of a landfill is between $128,000 and $224,000.

Once a landfill site is filled, a cap is then required over the fill, serving to deflect rainfall which could mix with the waste and form a pollutant called leachate, that can eventually enter the groundwater. The cap, which would include layers for gas venting, filtering and drainage pipes, 1-1/2 which have a similar geographic structure to Kentucky," said Hayden. "These include West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and New York. Our main emphasis with this is to protect the state's groundwater. We have a sensitive and unique geology in Kentucky, combined with a large annual rainfall. This creates a problem in solid waste management."

feet of compacted clay and three feet of soil, is estimated to cost between $64,000 to $116,000 per acre.

Total cost for creating a landfill under the new regulations is between $192,000 and $340,000 per acre. The state estimates that current costs to create a landfill run between $90,000 to $140,000 per acre. For Floyd County, which is currently operating on five acres of a 518-acre site, immediate compliance costs could run as high as $1.12 million

"There's no doubt these landfills will be expensive to build, but they'll provide the protection needed for groundwater," says Patty Wallace, a Lawrence County native who is currently chairperson of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, an ecologically based, citizen's organization based in Prestonsburg.

Enjoy the day

You'd better take the good weather while you can. It won't last long, according to the weather service in Jackson.

Wednesday will be nice, with mostly sunny skies and a high in the upper 50s. Wednesday night will become mostly cloudy, with a 40 percent chance of rain after midnight, and lows in the mid-40s.

Thursday, there is a 100 percent chance of rain and possible thunder showers. Highs will reach from 50 to 55.

Bailey proposes

legalized cockfighting

Legislative action in Frankfort last week brought some good news for chicken fighters in Kentucky, but potentially bad news for scrappy local fighting chickens. State Sen. Benny Ray Bailey introduced Senate Bill 283 Thursday, which would decriminalize cockfighting in the state.

The bill states in part, "Causing fowl to fight for pleasure or profit is not an offense under this section," opening the door to legalize the centuries-old sport. Monday Bailey said, "It grants to chickens the same rights we grant to human beings. It lets them box and wrestle and provides for a referee so it's a fair fight."

On Jan. 13 of this year, 23 state police officers raided a cockfighting establishment in Floyd County. Thirty-eight people from six states were arrested at the Doty Creek Sports Club, near Minnie, owned by Kelly and Ray Slone of McDowell.

All arrested were charged with second degree cruelty to animals or complicity to commit second degree cruelty to animals. These charges are considered Class A misdemeanors and can be penalized with up to one year in jail and $500 fines. SB 283 would eliminate these penalties and charges.

"There are presently six states in which chicken fighting is legal, including our neighboring state of Virginia," said Bailey. "There's nothing in this legislation that says anything about gambling, or about putting 40-foot long spurs on these chickens. All it does is decriminalize chicken fighting."

New Lottery game

"Tic, Tac, Cash," the Kentucky Lottery's newest instant game, goes on sale March 1 at retail outlets. In the $1 game, players can win up to $1000 by playing the lottery version of tic-tac-toe. First, they scratch off the entire play area. If they get three like amounts in a row, column or diagonal, they win the amount shown. Prizes are $1, $2, $4, $8, $20, $50 and $1000.

Overtime party planned at UMC

First United Methodist Church in Prestonsburg will host an "overtime party" Friday evening following the local basketball game. All high school students are invited to attend.

Meetings...

**Commissioners of the Beaver Elkhorn Water District will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight (Wednesday) at 6:30 p.m. at the water office in Wayland.

**The Festival of FACES committee will meet this afternoon at 5 p.m. in the conference room of the Floyd County Courthouse Annex.

Standing room only at Fiscal Court Meeting

by Tess A. Whitmer
Staff Writer

Despite a public survey and negative publicity campaign conducted recently by a local radio station, the Floyd County Fiscal Court went ahead with accepting of bids on hotly disputed four maintenance vehicles during its Feb. 16 meeting.

"I don't see anything wrong with the Magistrates being provided a vehicle to do their jobs," said County Attorney Jim Hammond. "It is not a rarity for a person working on the state road crews to have pickup trucks and blazers. You see them all over the place, so why shouldn't the county do the same?"

Hammond did recommend that the court be frugal in its purchase and get trucks with the bare necessities for performing the job.

Four dealers brought sealed bids: Johnson Motors, Music-Carter-Hughes, Deskins Motors and Ed Walters. The lowest bid for a four-wheel drive vehicle came from Johnson Motors, $14,304 for a 3/5 ton pickup, and $15,455 for a blazer. The court agreed to review the bids and accept the lowest and the best at the March meeting.

Also up for bid was the construction of a bridge on the left fork of Abbott. The lowest bid for the project came from Bush and Burchett at $55,000; the bid was certified by the State Transportation Department. That bid was accepted, coming in $4350 lower than the nearest competitor. The county's portion of the bill amounts to $11,000, with the state paying the other 80 percent.

Also in old business was the acceptance of a letter of intent, submitted by the County Attorney, to get the 911 Emergency Service underway. The letter outlined in detail and number of facets of the service application, but was not binding and was only to be used as the next step in beginning the process.

Magistrate of District Two, Jackie Edford Owens, objected to voting on the letter, stating he had only received it that morning and hadn't had time to review it. Owens proposed waiting for the March meeting before approving the letter. Owens also stated he was confused about the proposed service charge of 89 cents per month to each customer. Originally a 50 cent figure was discussed.

Hammond reminded the court that the price could be decided upon at a later date and should it be lower, customers could be reimbursed or credited to their account. "We need to proceed with this so the phone company can start the process," urged Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo. The motion was passed three to four in favor.

Also heard by the court was Denton Billiter and other officials from the Pikeville office of the Department of Transportation. The court gave Billiter the annual recommendations of state roads needing work in the county.

Road Priorities

- *KY 2030
- *KY 2029
- *KY 1427

State Route 2030 at Spurlock of Left Beaver, from its junction with KY 122 near Printer to the junction with KY 1426 west of Harold, a distance of 7.8 miles, topped the list in priorities.

The second recommendation was KY 2029, from the Knott County line to the junction with KY 7, a distance of 1.5 miles.

Third on its list, the court recommended KY 1427, from its junction with KY 114 near the Magoffin County line, via Bonanza, to the junction with KY 1428 near Prestonsburg, a distance of 9.63 miles.

Also, Owens asked that KY 850 at Hippo be ditched all the way to KY 550 at Right Beaver.

Also relating to roads, the County Road Aid Contract with the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet for 1990-91 was accepted. The money included on the contract, $658,539, is 80 percent, less three percent for emergencies, of Floyd County's share of the projected revenue that will be available for the next fiscal year.

The court also passed a resolution to declare an emergency at Store House Hollow on the Pike/Floyd Hollow. A drain pipe across the roadway must be replaced immediately, and the cost for the project is expected to run over $7500, the court learned. This resolution authorizes the Judge-Executive to find a contractor to do the work without letting bids and advertising.

In personnel matters, the court moved to reappoint the members of the Big Sandy Juvenile Detention Center board of directors: John M. Stumbo, chairperson; Delores F. Dingus, vice-chairperson; and Janet Tackett, secretary. The appointments are retroactive to May 30, 1987, for a six-year term to expire May 30, 1993.

Hired was Arnold Dean Daniels, to replace Richard Osborne who has not shown up for work on the county road crew since being hired on Jan. 2. Daniels' pay is $6 per hour.

County clerk Carla Bolton asked the court to consider a cost of living raise for her office employees. She noted the raise would be about 4.5 percent and would not cost the court anything since all funds would be raised within the clerk's office. Bolton also turned over a check for $31,000 in excess fees from 1989.

Citizens appearing before the court included the following:

Tom Nelson, who asked that the road he lives on be included in the county road system. Five other residents live on the street which measures between 1100-1500 feet.

Bobby Baldridge was concerned over a matter he brought to the court's attention back in December concerning his cemetery being blocked by the Collins' Cemetery at Lackey. Since David Barber was in office as county attorney then and agreed to look into the matter, the court turned to County Attorney Hammond for the update.

Hammond said this was the first time he'd heard of it, and apparently no records were transferred over on the matter. Hammond's first impres-

Hanging tough (and scared)

Life isn't easy when you're a small cat in a big tree. This little Hueysville kitten bit off a bit more than he could chew recently, as he pondered whether to continue the great ascent or slide to ignominious defeat. Choosing to be intelligent rather than heroic, he made a rapid descent, saving one of his nine lives for another day's play.

Federal ruling may solve Hueysville tipple trouble

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

A federal court ruling last week may prevent the future operation of a Hueysville coal tipple which plagued nearby residents with dust and noise for many years, and resulted in a 1988 court case brought against the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet by local citizens.

U.S. District Judge Thomas Flannery ruled last week on the earlier Kentucky federal court decision, which had determined that tipples operating before 1984 were exempt from a provision of the 1977 Surface Mine Act. That act limits mine operations within 300 feet of homes and public buildings.

Flannery disagreed with this finding and overturned the decision, saying that the law applied to some tipples operating since 1977. In Hueysville, some residents live within 170 feet of the tipple operation, which had allegedly restarted under new management in 1979.

"We probably are going to win our case, now, unless the state is willing to take on a federal judge's decision," said Ned Fillersdorf, the Prestonsburg attorney representing three Hueysville families involved in the suit.

According to case records, a coal tipple had operated on the land, currently owned by the C.C. Craft Estate and located in the center of the Hueysville community, on and off for many years. Coal dust, rising from the operation, had created a health hazard, as well as property damage, for nearby residents.

"The tipple was way too close to our home," said Talmadge Allen, a lifetime resident of Hueysville and a retired miner suffering from Black Lung. "The operation down there kept getting bigger and bigger, and the dust made my health condition worse and worse."

"You could hardly see to the railroad tracks, when they were working," said Mae Allen, Talmadge's wife. "I'd have to spray my outside walls to try and clean them, and the dust and dirt would just run off. It

Burned out

The fire that destroyed this 1985 Ford Ranger pickup truck, alongside KY 7 at Hueysville, was reported Saturday at 11:25 p.m. to the Garrett Volunteer Fire Department, according to firefighter Terry Triplett. Ten men responded to the blaze, yet a mystery as to ownership of the vehicle persists since there were no license plates and the person reporting the fire did not give a name. The Sheriff's Department was also called about the fire with a report that someone was in the truck, but no one was found, Triplett said.

Dusty road bad luck for KSP, ambulance

A call for help during a domestic dispute Monday evening left one Kentucky State Police cruiser turned on its side, a second cruiser stranded on a pile of coal, and an ambulance full of smoke, necessitating the response of the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

According to KSP Sgt. C.T. Henson, a call for help was received Monday night at a KSP hotline number in Frankfort from a woman in Meadows Branch in Floyd County. The woman requested assistance in a domestic dispute. A second, more frantic call from the same woman minutes later reported that a shooting had occurred.

A trooper responded to the call, but while traveling to the reported address in Meadows Branch, he apparently was blinded by dust in the road, struck several potholes and ran off the road, flipping the vehicle on its side.

A second trooper responded to the call for assistance from the first trooper but also lost visibility on the road and ran across a coal pile, becoming stranded.

When a Respond ambulance arrived on the scene, the driver apparently backed into a ditch, causing a backfire that filled the ambulance with smoke. Prestonsburg Fire Department responded, but there was no fire in the vehicle when they arrived, according to firefighter Mike Wells.

Reportedly, one person was arrested in the domestic dispute call and was lodged in the Floyd County Jail. No injuries were reported.

Said Sgt. Henson following the incident, "I've been doing paperwork all day on this one."

Regional Roundup

Pike man killed, 3 injured in one-car accident

SIDNEY—A Saturday night, single vehicle accident killed one man and sent three others to the hospital.
Stephen R. Adkins, 20, of South Williamson was pronounced dead at 9:58 p.m. at the South Williamson Appalachian Regional Hospital, according to Kentucky State Police reports.
Adkins was riding in a Ford Mustang driven by Johnny Walters, 37, of McVeigh, who was listed in critical condition following the accident. His wife, Donna Walters, 37, and daughter, Desha Walters, 18, were also in the vehicle and were both in stable condition at the hospital.
According to police reports, Johnny Walters was driving south on US119 at 8:10 p.m. when he lost control of the car, striking a utility pole and a house owned by Oscar Thacker.
None of the occupants were wearing a seat belt, and state police have not determined the cause of the accident.

PVA requested to pay back $3,333

BREATHITT COUNTY—Breathitt County property valuation administrator Barbara Maloney has been asked by the state to pay back more than $3,000 in county office funds, used to allegedly pay her son's tuition and a seven-year-old phone bill.
A report from State Auditor Bob Babbage recommended that the money be returned for the disallowed disbursements, which occurred between June 1988 and June 1989.
A state police special investigations unit is also looking into earlier complaints about Maloney, the results of which may be presented to the Breathitt County grand jury next month, according to Commonwealth's Attorney Thomas Miller. (The Jackson Times)

Pike local votes down contract/Union says yes

MCANDREWS—About 1,700 striking union miners voted Monday to accept a new contract with the Pittston Coal Group Inc. following nearly one year of strikes.
UMW Local 5737 in Pike County, however, voted 96-93 to reject the contract, because of a settlement agreement, not written into the contract, under which 13 Pittston employees would be suspended and possibly fired for picket-line misconduct during the strike. Three of the 13 are from Local 5737. (Louisville Courier/Journal)

Higher Cost

"It may require that four or five counties go in together to fund their own landfill," Wallace added. "Our organization hopes that communities can keep control of the fills. Unfortunately, it looks like the way it's going, private companies are going to be the ones best able to afford building and operating the fills."
If, as Bob McAninch believes, the compliance costs for the new solid waste regulations are beyond the means of Floyd County, the county might have to begin hauling its garbage to other counties in 1992, the date when the state will begin regulation enforcement.

"Hauling our trash to a faraway fill would devastate us," said Mike Meade, Prestonsburg's Superintendent of Public Works. "We don't have the equipment or trucks to haul long distances. Right now, we just have single axle trucks, which won't do long hauls. If the local landfill shuts down, we'd probably have to go in with other cities in the area to buy the trucks and equipment we'd need."

Meade noted that Prestonsburg had planned to purchase a new garbage truck this year, but was waiting until a decision on the regulations was made before making the purchase.

The state's Waste Management report noted that six landfills in the state were currently known to be contaminating groundwater. The report concluded that increased disposal costs created by the new regulations would provide an incentive for implementing universal garbage collection programs statewide and promote recycling at the local level.

A public hearing on the new regulations will be held in Frankfort on Thursday.

Bad water linked to landfill, Garth Hollow resident claims

New, stricter state landfill regulations might be good news for Preston Collins, 75, of Garth Hollow, who lives a mile below the Floyd County landfill.

Collins believes that rainwater runoff from the fill is spoiling his well water, which has tested positive for the presence of fecal coliform bacteria. Collins began testing his water in May of 1982, after becoming concerned by water runoff coming from the landfill. The source stream, he says, passes about 50 feet from his house.

"Before they started operating up there, I didn't think about the water," said Collins. "Once they started bringing the trash in, I got worried about our well. That's when I started testing."

In July of 1985, a water test by Environmental Monitoring Service discovered a quantity of fecal coliform, which is normally generated by human waste, in Collins' well water. Further tests by Turner Technology Inc., turned up more of the bacteria in the water. Collins wrote a letter to the state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, but says nothing was done to address the problem.

Since 1985, bacteria has turned up regularly in water tests, forcing Collins to stop drinking tap water in his house, which he now uses only for washing and cooking.

"There's just two other land owners in this hollow, so there's not a lot of people who know about the problem," said Collins. "This polluted water isn't just going to affect us, though, because it keeps going down to river."

Alcohol, drug abusers at high suicide risk

It is widely known that alcohol and drug abusers are at a greater risk of developing serious health problems, including seizures, liver disease and gastrointestinal disorders.

Research now indicates that alcohol and drug abusers are also more likely to attempt suicide than the general population. Alcohol and drug abusers are involved in more than half of the 30,000 suicides that annually occur in the United States.

Other research data include that: — More than 75 percent of the people who tried to kill themselves had been drinking or using drugs prior to the attempt.

— Alcohol and drug abuse are factors in a significant number of the 5000 teenage suicides occurring each year.

While emotional problems, increased withdrawal and drastic changes in personal habits are universal symptoms of a suicidal person, the following signs are especially important with alcohol and drug abusers:

- a.) Extremely heavy alcohol or drug use
  - b.) Prolonged binges
  - c.) The reckless combination of alcohol and drugs.

Rising high in the sky

The new Martin city building has quickly taken shape over the past few weeks. Martin Mayor Raymond Griffith noted that construction should be completed this spring, and the new structure will be occupied by the city as soon as possible. "You only have to look at the old building to see how badly we needed this new one," said Griffith.

Fiscal Court

sion was that this was a civil matter, but after a discussion with Judge Stumbo and Magistrate Owens, Hammond agreed to look into it.

Rex Gayheart presented a petition to get a fire district established in the area below Drift to the top of Meade Hill. His petition held 297 signatures, and the court instructed him to gather the exact boundary descriptions and advertise the intention. A hearing of the matter was put on the agenda for the March meeting.

Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson offered his thanks to the Fiscal Court for carrying his department financially until the audit from the former sheriff's tenure was complete. "The public should know that without the Fiscal Court, the sheriff's department couldn't have made it," Thompson stressed.

Election equipment operator Joe Bolton brought a sales representative to demonstrate and explain the benefits of an electronic voting machine. (See related story.) Bolton also mentioned the formation of a new group who are determined to find a solution to the county's litter problem. He extended an invitation to all members of the court to attend the group's March 7 meeting at the May Lodge at noon.

Edith Stumbo sent a petition to the court to accept a road located off the old Middle Creek Road up Stumbo Hollow, about 1500 feet, into the County Road System.

Magistrate Betty Caudill asked the judge's help in solving a problem on the Spewing Camp Road. Apparently the road is in bad repair because of heavy coal truck usage and the county cannot keep up with the amount of work this road requires.

The coal company, she said, has been hauling red dog to the processing plant, but the only red dog that got on the access road was dumped after residents stopped one of the trucks and had it done. Stumbo and Caudill determined that the road was the coal company's responsibility, as well, and resolved to discuss the matter with the owners.

The next meeting of the court will be on Friday, March 16, at 10 a.m. in the courthouse annex.

Reality check for firefighters
Prestonsburg firefighters received live training last week on an abandoned house donated by the Highlands Regional Medical Center. Training included conducting search and rescue operations through smoke-filled rooms, extinguishing "live burns" and observing fire patterns in burning structures. The house was burned to the ground following five hours of intensive practice.

New health care available for county

Lake Cumberland Home Health Agency Inc. has announced the availability of a new health care service for the residents of Pike, Floyd, Martin and Morgan counties. The Home and Community-Based Services Waiver Project (commonly known as the Waiver Program) provides Medicaid coverage for a broad range of home services for elderly or disabled recipients as an alternative to institutionalization. Although some people need the full-time care provided by nursing homes, many people who prefer to remain in their own homes may do so with the support of family, friends and the Waiver Program to provide in-home services. Waiver services are designed to complement traditional home health services and are carried out under the orders of the patient's physician. Any Kentucky Medicaid recipient whose health status and care needs would otherwise require placement in a skilled nursing home or an intermediate care facility will qualify for the Waiver Program. The Waiver Program provides for homemaker services, such as meal preparation and cleaning, as well as personal care, including bathing, hair care, nail care and dressing for patients who are unable to manage these tasks. Additional services include respite care, which provides short term relief for the caregiver, minor home adaptations, such as the addition of rails around a tub or toilet to make it easier for the patient to remain at home, as well as assessment and case management, which includes identifying the patient's needs and monitoring the situation to make sure the needs are met.

Lake Cumberland Home Health Agency, a non-profit corporation with central offices in Somerset, has been a health care provider for more than 20 years. In addition to providing Waiver services for the four Eastern Kentucky counties, the agency also provides comprehensive services for 11 southcentral Kentucky counties. The Eastern Kentucky office for the agency is located in "C" Building of the Appalachian Regional Health Care Complex in South Williamson. Referrals to the Waiver Program may be made by family members, physicians, hospitals, home health agencies, or nursing home facilities. For further information concerning this new program, contact Pamela Davis, RN, patient care coordinator, at the Eastern Kentucky office or call 237-1124 or 1-800-753-6720.

was a terrible mess." The problem became so bad, that relocation of the Hueysville Post Office was considered, due to coal dirt and dust. A public hearing was held by county post office officials, said Allen, and local residents were able to convince them not to move, due to the large population served by the Hueysville office. The tipple hasn't operated in the past two years, said the Allens, providing much appreciated relief from dust and noise. While still pending in Franklin Circuit Court, a final, favorable decision in the case appears likely for the Allens and other Hueysville families. "When we first started, it seemed like no one wanted to fight this tipple, even though it was hurting the town," said Talmadge Allen. "I'm grateful some people decided to get involved."

According to state environmentalists, hundreds of other communities like Hueysville, negatively impacted by coal tipples, may be affected by the federal court decision. State officials and coal operator representatives have not yet responded to last week's ruling.

State realtors group says there's good sales news

Rick Baumgardner, president of the Kentucky Association of Realtors, announced that Kentucky took an enviable position among the 51 states in the total number of single-family existing homes sales in 1989. Figures just released for Kentucky by the National Association of Realtors report 74,200 units (including apartment condos and co-ops) sold last year. The state was ranked sixth in the nation in the percentage of change (increase) compared with the total number of existing single-family homes sold in 1988. Kentucky showed a strong housing market, ranking eighth in the United States in the percentage of change in the sales rate (an annualized, seasonably-adjusted rate based on the current market) for existing single-family homes from the fourth quarter of 1988 to the fourth quarter of 1989, up 12.8 percent. Using this same sales rate information, single family existing home sales in the state increased 7.6 percent from the third quarter of 1989 to the fourth quarter of 1989, ranking Kentucky 15th among the states. This compares with a national sales rate of 2.1 percent and a sales rate in the South of 2.8 percent for the same period. "Kentucky has one of the most desirable housing markets in the country in terms of home prices, said Baumgardner. In Lexington the median price of an existing single-family home during the fourth quarter of 1989 was $75,900 and in Louisville, $58,000. Compared with the United States median price of an existing single-family home of $92,800, and the median price in the South of $83,100 during the same period, Kentucky housing is a bargain." Figures supplied by the National Association of Realtors are based on sales data from a 20-25 percent sample supplied by local Boards of Realtors in Kentucky. Spokesman for the association and the real estate industry in Kentucky, Baumgardner stated, "Existing single-family home sales have increased, remained strong, and have surpassed other areas of the country during a time period which normally sees a downturn in the residential market."

Editorial

Most Eastern Kentuckians have a love-hate reaction when it comes to the coal industry. It's both a blessing and a curse. The region now has no alternative economically, and probably will not have for many, many decades to come. What little bit of economic stability the region has depends on the coal industry, and everyone knows we can't afford to bite the hand that feeds us—at least not too sharply.

The sight of lines of coal trucks in front of working tipplers and the heavy coal truck traffic on state and national roads in the area are heartening in some ways. We know that the vast coal shipments mean dollars for the drivers, the miners, the mine operators, the merchants and just about every other mountain endeavor. Possibly the worst sight we could see would be the absence of those monster haulers.

The problem arises when coal haulers blatantly ignore the laws regarding their transport and when law enforcement officers turn a blind eye to irregularities.

Very few motorists in this area have not felt some trepidation in driving behind a coal truck, tarp torn and loaded for bear. The truck lickety-split down the highway, spewing black nuggets in its wake. Woe be to the motorists whose windshields happen to get in the way. Generally, motorists have to decide whether to slow down to 30 mph behind a loaded truck on an incline or risk loss of limb or life in passing out of aggravation.

And on secondary roads where the likelihood of being caught is minimal, it is not unusual to see trucks without the mandatory tarp covers at all. (Residents along such roads never have to worry about buying coal if they have coal furnaces; they just pick up coal chunks that fall.)

Covered or not, it doesn't take a person with a college degree, or even an eighth grade education for that matter, to recognize that a goodly number of coal trucks are loaded beyond the legal limits. Sometimes, the observer has to wonder how the trucks can be as filled as they are.

The overloading, of course, has other ramifications. Building roads around and through mountains is an expensive proposition. Repairing existing roads eats up state money as fast as it is allocated. Season after season, Eastern Kentuckians watch roads being repaired. Being a sporting bunch, some folks even lay bets on how long it will be before the first crack or full blown pothole appears after the road crews attempt their repairs.

If, as some people insist, the overloaded trucks contribute to disrepair of roads, then why is the overloading tolerated? Where are the law enforcement officials with scales and tickets, and where are the judges to mete out punishment?

For motorists, other hazards present themselves. Who, for instance, has not experienced the pulse-quickening sensation of rounding a curve to confront a coal truck taking up its half of the road in the middle? Very few people are foolhardy to lay claim to their rightful half when facing a loaded coal truck. Most just ease to the side and hope there's enough of a shoulder to prevent their plummeting over an embankment.

Scariest still is the sight of an empty truck in one's rear view mirror. Seeking to make up precious time in picking up another load, some coal haulers pay no mind to speed limits and road conditions. Often, they end up frightening motorists into pulling over so the truck can pass or speeding to a point of unease.

This is not to say that all coal haulers are guilty of being road hogs and of violating load limit laws. Many are law-abiding, conscientious citizens, quietly doing their jobs. They are to be applauded.

In fact, it might be a good idea to jot down the coal company name or truck number of these conscientious drivers and write a letter to them or their companies, commending them for their exemplary actions. They deserve to know that some of us appreciate their ethical behavior.

On the other hand, perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea either, if citizens took down data on the rude violators, write to their bosses, and take the daring step of reporting them to the authorities, who apparently don't know unless we tell them.

The coal trucks are vital to our economy, but they also share in the responsibility of making this a safe place to live.

Cemetery is for Praters

Dear Editor,

In a recent obituary you wrote of a burial in the Frasure Cemetery on Prater Fork of Brush Creek.

This is in error, for this location is the Joe Prater Family Cemetery, dedicated and used for this purpose over one hundred years ago. As such, this location is of historical importance.

The use of this cemetery is free to the descendants of Joe Prater, and maintenance is and has been provided by these numerous descendants. Plots here are not for use or sale to the public.

Official advocates uniform school start

Dear Editor,

This letter is in response to the editorial which appeared in the Jan. 23, Danville Advocate-Messenger.

As Superintendent of Public Instruction, I am in support of a uniform starting date for schools in Kentucky because I believe it will benefit children educationally.

During the first semester of each school year, more than 24,000 students transfer from one district to another. Since current school starting dates vary by up to three weeks, some of these youngsters may miss three weeks of instruction, while others may be required to repeat three weeks of instruction. A uniform starting date would insure that nearly all students would have the same instructional schedule for at least the first semester of the school year. Classrooms that are not air conditioned are cooler in September and June than in August and are conducive to learning in a more comfortable environment. Local school districts would have added flexibility in scheduling professional development activities for their teachers. In addition, knowing that school starts on a certain date would enable families to plan accordingly.

Inclement weather has the greatest negative impact on upsetting school schedules; therefore, those five or six districts that average missing more than 15 days per year should be permitted to start one week earlier than other districts.

Whether the date selected is before or after Labor Day, I favor a uniform starting date. The possibility of extra tourism revenues would be a fringe benefit, but certainly not the primary or motivating factor.

Sincerely,
—John H. Brock
Superintendent of Public Instruction

Monorail idea a good one

Dear Editor,

With regard to your Jan. 10, 1990, 'Letters to the Editor,' I certainly don't blame 'Name Withheld Upon Request.' I wouldn't sign my name to such drivel either. I will, however, dwell on #4.

I know a lot of people who commute to distant counties to work, total driving time three hours or more. I also know of several people who commute to West Virginia and Virginia to work daily. If there was a monorail from Eastern Kentucky to Lexington, many would be able to live in Eastern Kentucky by preference and still have a good paying job. Not only that they could leave the driving to someone else. The narrow-minded years ago believed the train to be a fantasy.

I believe Japan has been using a monorail for years, successfully. Oregon also has a monorail in operation.

At least Rep. Greg Stumbo dares to have ideas which is more than I can say about Mr. Name Withheld Upon Request.

I appreciated Guest Editorial regarding Sen. Benny Bailey's speech to the Kentucky State Senate. A lovely tribute to our ancestors in Eastern Kentucky.

Seeks war comrades

Dear Editor,

We are trying to locate the men and women who served in the 8th Air Force at Warton, England, with us in World War II. Our Air Base at Warton was a huge Air Depot. We modified and/or repaired aircraft of all kinds, for the 8th Air force during the War. At one point in 1944, there were 10,000 Americans stationed at our base, which was listed as Base Air Depot #2.

The BAD 2 Association will hold a reunion, Oct. 25 to 27, in New Orleans, La., this year. Anyone who served in any capacity at BAD 2, Warton, England, during WWII is eligible for membership in the BAD 2 Association. Contact: Tom Miller, 5549 S. Afton Parkway, Baton Rouge, LA 70806.

For any help you can give us, we shall be very grateful.

'Righting a wrong'

Dear Editor,

In a recent Floyd County Times and in the Lexington Herald-Leader, there were articles on a tax break for federal retirees. These people (state officials) act like they, out of the goodness of their hearts, have come up with a good idea to help federal retirees, when the actual truth is they have no alternative but to give us a tax break unless they want to tax all Kentucky state retirees.

What they have been doing was wrong and by making it right, they want to give us a rebate of around 10 percent of what they collected from us wrongfully in the first place. If we owed the state of Kentucky back taxes, I'll bet they would go back seven years or more and charge us interest on all of it and demand it be paid in full yesterday. But the state of Kentucky isn't giving us anything. They are righting a wrong that should have not have happened in the first place.

House Week In Review

By Sen. Benny Roy Bailey

With the governor's State of the Commonwealth Address now behind us, our budget-review process geared up to speed, and major bills moving from committee to floor for passage, the 1990 legislative session entered both its second month and the real bone-and-marrow of its 60-day schedule last week.

In his State of the Commonwealth speech Thursday night, Gov. Wallace Wilkinson was far less conciliatory than many had hoped. Recent stresses in the legislative-executive relationship are still being felt, and it remains to be seen if a new spirit of cooperation can be forged between the two branches. Regardless, we intend to push ahead with our constitutional duties and obligations, ensuring that the '90 session realizes its full potential at this time of great crisis for Kentucky.

And our work is proceeding at an ever-accelerating pace. On the Senate floor, we passed a code of ethics for the executive branch of government, similar to guidelines already in place for the legislative and judicial branches.

Senate Bill 107 not only specifies prohibited activity, it establishes ethics education for office seekers. Recent scandals and reports of improprieties have eroded public confidence in government nationwide; by requiring high standards of integrity for members of the executive branch here in Kentucky, this measure should improve public confidence in both elected and appointed officials.

In committee action last week, rural residents concerned with adequate water supplies got a boost from the Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, which passed out a House-approved bill acknowledging that the state needs to invest in improved rural water delivery.

House Bill 87 adds local water association to the list of agencies who can borrow through the Kentucky Infrastructure Authority. This would encourage construction of needed water-supply lines in rural areas. As the bill's supporters pointed out, some rural Kentuckians must think twice before they turn on a tap—an unfair situation that imposes undue hardship on farm families statewide. This legislation would help rectify that inequity.

Meanwhile, the Senate Appropriations and Revenue Committee last week continued its exhaustive review of the state's proposed biennial budget, focusing on the legislative-branch budget as well as the Tourism and Justice Cabinet spending plans. This week, the A&R panel is reviewing the Judicial Branch budget as well as funding requests from the Economic Development Cabinet, the Finance and Administration Cabinet, and the proposed Workforce Development Cabinet.

Roads are always a major concern in Kentucky, and a bill with possible far-reaching impact on road planning in the state was filled in the Senate last week.

The bill would require the governor to submit a list of recommended highway projects for the upcoming biennium as part of his budget request. The Legislature would then have the power to approve, reject or—most significantly—amend the list.

The intent of the legislation is to assure that roads listed in the state's six-year road plan are actually built. This is in response to legislative dismay about the recent ineffectual nature of the six-year plan, which is drawn up by the state Transportation Cabinet every two years.

Report To Kentucky

By Sen. Wendell Ford

SENATE MOVES QUICKLY ON EDUCATION

I am pleased to report that the Senate has entered the 1990s with a renewed will to come to grips with the challenge of educating our children to compete in an increasingly competitive world.

Moving firmly in the first weeks of the new session, the Senate already has overwhelmingly approved two important education bills—the Educational Excellence Act and the National Literacy Act. I have every hope that we can keep this momentum going and get final congressional approval of these bipartisan measures in the very near future.

As the leader of the free world, we simply cannot afford to lag behind other nations in academic achievement, particularly in such basic areas as math and science. We cannot continue to accept a 25 percent high school dropout rate and growing levels of illiteracy—not when the educational requirements for almost any productive work are growing more stringent almost by the day.

Education and the war on drugs are two of our highest national priorities. Both are addressed in the Educational Excellence Act proposed by the President before being strengthened and approved by the Senate.

This bill breaks new ground by offering monetary rewards to merit schools showing substantial progress in raising student achievement levels, reducing dropout rates and creating safe and drug-free environments for students. It extends our School Dropout Demonstration Assistance Act. It authorizes additional funds for our Drug Free Schools and Communities Act, and it creates a National Scholars Program stressing math, science and engineering.

Other provisions include funding authorization for the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards, which will be involved in creating an advanced voluntary specialty accreditation system to encourage excellence in teaching. I believe that we acted wisely in amending this provision to ensure that it won't affect the licensing of private-school teachers or parents who teach their children at home.

The primary responsibility for good education must remain at the state and local levels. Yet our federal government still has a vital supporting role to play in our drive to meet the critical educational goals of this nation. We must make prompt and prudent investments in the future. I believe that the Senate is moving to do just that by pressing for enactment of the Educational Excellence Act and the National Literacy Act in this session of Congress.

Commissioner King speaks about Social Security

Sen. Daniel Moynihan's proposal to reduce Social Security tax and therefore reduce the amount of the reserves prompted a testimony by Social Security Commissioner Gwendolyn S. King before the Senate Committee on Finance regarding the need for preservation of a large Social Security Trust Fund reserves.

The following testimonial from King may help the reader to understand the issue, as well as reduce their fear and concern about the future, according to Jim Kelly of the local Social Security Administration office.

"Do we keep this program on the steady track toward long-term solvency and dependability, or do we put Social Security's taxpayers and beneficiaries through yet another round of major surgery to the system?" Commissioner King questioned members of the committee. "As the person mandated by the President and Congress to assure the health and well-being of Social Security, I believe such surgery would be both unnecessary and ill-advised."

"We each seek to uphold and strengthen a program that has faithfully served millions of Americans well for over five decades. The scheduled buildup of the trust fund reserves will ensure that Social Security can make good on its commitment to pay monthly benefits to future generations of retirees."

King attributed the current health of Social Security to the recommendations of the bipartisan National Commission on Social Security Reform that laid the foundation for the 1983 Social Security Amendments. Those amendments changed Social Security from a pay-as-you-go system to one that accumulated reserves to help pay future benefits. King noted that four members of the Senate Committee served on the National Commission.

King cautioned that to reverse course now and roll back the payroll tax, abandoning the trust fund buildup and the principles established by the 1983 bipartisan rescue agreement, could have the following consequences:

— Expose workers and retirees once again to the uncertainties and anxieties that prevailed less than a decade ago;

— Erase the strides made in restoring public confidence in Social Security;

— Repudiate the widely held principle that the Social Security program should be changed only to serve Social Security, not Federal budget objectives;

— Impose a heavier burden on future workers for supporting "baby boom" retirees; and — Signal to the American people that its leadership had lost hope of reducing operating budget deficits so that Trust Fund reserves could truly be saved.

Although King welcomed serious public debate about the future financing of Social Security, she warned that an unfortunate byproduct of the current discussions was the dissemination of misleading information about Social Security. She noted that many of the arguments currently being put forth were wrapped in half-truths, causing unnecessary and unjustified concern in the public mind.

"I am convinced that the way we pursue our discussions about Social Security financing and related issues is every bit as important as the issues themselves," Commissioner King said. "It would be regrettable if, in our efforts to promote responsible public debate about the policies that would be in the best interests of the American public, we permitted the debate to be framed in ways that unintentionally undermined confidence in the program."

In reinforcing the Administration position that cutbacks in the payroll tax would be unacceptable, Commissioner King noted, "Today Social Security is financially sound. Trust fund reserves will increase by about $68 billion this year and are projected to grow consistently over the next four decades. Those monies represent America's future financial security and will assure today's working men and women and their children that Social Security will work as well for them as it did for their parents and grandparents."

Congratulations

Salesman of the Year:

Billy Castle honored

On Saturday, January 20, a dinner was held at the China Pearl Restaurant for Billy Castle, honoring him as Salesman of the Year for Carter Hughes Toyota of Prestonsburg.

Family, friends and co-workers presented Castle with an achievement trophy to commemorate his excellence in salesmanship as evidenced by his past three years as being Salesman of the Year for his firm.

In June 1989, Castle was among ten finalists in the Cincinnati region honored as Salesman of the Year by Toyota at a ceremony in Knoxville, Tennessee. He finished fifth in sales from this region.

This year, Castle has received and all-expense paid trip to the NFC-AFC Pro Bowl in Hawaii.

Those in attendance were Joanne Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hopson and J.R., Jeanne Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Trotsky, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Williamson, Kenny Boyd, Tina Meek, Charollette Dishion, Oakie Shepherd, Bobby Castle, Dennis Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Carter and Mr. and Mrs. James Allen of Prestonsburg.

Gas prices jump for local customers

Gas utility customers in Floyd County and surrounding area will once again face a substantial annual increase in the prices they are now paying on the gas bill.

Three local utility companies have been granted purchased gas adjustments by the Public Service Commission due to increases in wholesale costs from their supplier, Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company.

East Kentucky Utilities' increase will be an average of $59.14 annually per residential customer. This went into effect Feb. 1.

Going into effect the same date was an average annual increase of $64.04 per residential customers of Mountain Utilities in Johnson County.

The Commission also granted an average annual increase of $103.92 to customers of Mike Little Gas Company in Floyd County. This increase is retroactive to Feb. 2.

All these increases are subject to refund due to KY West's rates being subject to refund at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Park, near Corbin, is sponsoring Kentucky Hills Weekend, March 2-4. Billed as a tribute to Appalachian folklike, the weekend will feature music, crafts, clogging, interpretive hikes and demonstrations of mountain traditions. For information, call 1-800-325-0063.

Storytelling Weekend is planned for March 9-10 at Greenbo Lake State Resort Park near Greenup. Professional storytellers will tell stories, conduct workshops and critique storytelling skills. The number to call for information is 1-800-325-0083.

Carter Caves State Resort Park at Olive Hill will host Mountain Memories Weekend on March 9-10. Traditional music with evening concerts and daytime workshops and crafts demonstrations are on the agenda. Call 1-800-325-0059.

For railroad enthusiasts, Greenbo Lake has scheduled Railroad Weekend for March 17-18. Working model train displays, movies, videos, slides, railroad items for sale and a weekend train ride giveaway are slated.

A little bit farther, but nonetheless intriguing sounding, are Songwriters Workshop at Kenlake State Resort Park in Hardin, March 30-31, and Spring Fishing Unlimited at Lake Cumberland State Resort Park at Jamestown, March 30-April 1. For information, call Kenlake at 1-800-325-0143 or Lake Cumberland at 1-800-325-1709.

Forest fire season is here

Natural Resources Secretary Carl Bradley reminds Kentuckians that Kentucky Law designates March 1 through May 15 as "Forest Fire Hazard Season."

During the period, the law prohibits burning anything capable of spreading fire within 150 feet of the woods. The no-burning provisions are in force throughout the day except between the hours of 4:30 p.m. and midnight.

The cabinet's Division of Forestry advises that even after 4:30 p.m., no one should burn unless the wind is calm. It is also illegal to start a fire at any time on or near one's timberland without taking all reasonable precautions to prevent the fire from spreading. The law requires that all outdoor fires be attended until extinguished.

Forestry Director Donald Hamm explained that reasonable precautions include: The ground should be cleared around a fire, tools should be handy, the fire should be fed slowly, and it should be manned until it is completely out.

"Burning only in late evening and taking adequate precautions would rid Kentucky of one of the leading causes of forest fires," Hamm said, referring to the fires that accidentally spread when people burn trash and other unwanted material.

Hamm said that the division field personnel are now making final preparations for the spring fire season with the hiring, training and equipping of emergency fire fighting crews.

To report a forest fire residents, are encouraged to call the Division of Forestry in Prestonsburg at 886-8562 or 1-800-886-0048; in Pike County 1-800-886-0330.

Professional photographers from all over the United States travel to Pittsburgh, Pa., to attend Triangle Institute held in January each year. The Institute attracts up to 250 students — and offers at least 12 photographic courses ranging from advanced photography, computers in the studio, retouching and gift portraits of ladies for the man in their life.

The highlight of the week was a banquet sponsored by Eastman Kodak, where each student received credit towards his or her "Master of Photography" degree.

Prater promoted

SGT. LARRY PRATER

Justice Secretary and acting Kentucky State Police Commissioner W. Michael Troop has announced the promotion of Tpr. Larry Prater to sergeant.

A Floyd County native, Prater, 38, entered the KSP Academy on Aug. 17, 1972, and upon graduation was assigned to the Pikeville Post. In 1977, he was transferred to the narcotics section of the Special Investigations Branch. In 1980, he was assigned to the Ashland Post.

Prater has attended the FBI National Academy for additional training as well as the Southern Police Institute and the Northwestern University Traffic Institute.

The new sergeant is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and received a bachelor of science degree from Eastern Kentucky University.

His new assignment will be at the Pikeville Post.

KAPS was established more than 20 years ago to promote and maintain high standards of professional ethics and practice.

Cancer treatment is topic of OLWH nursing workshop

Our Lady of the Way Hospital, in conjunction with the Kentucky Cancer Program, will offer a workshop for nurses, titled "Cancer: Chemotherapy and Care," on Monday, March 19, at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

The presenter is Patricia Campbell, RN, an oncology nurse from Mt. Carmel, Ill. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m., and the program runs from 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

The workshop is for nurses who administer treatment or care for patients receiving chemotherapy. Current chemotherapy protocols and treatment modalities used for cancer and the role of the nurse during and after administration of drugs will be discussed.

The program is approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing for six contact hours.

For more information, contact Naewana Nickles at 285-5181, ext. 346.

House group oks fuel inspection bill

The House Agriculture and Small Business Committee gave its unanimous approval Wednesday, Feb. 14, to HB 132, to establish a fuel quality inspection program for the state of Kentucky.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Bud

Gregory, would provide for periodic random sampling and testing of fuel from retail outlets and schools around the state.

AAA spokesperson, Kathy Gross, said that on behalf of their 400,000 members in Kentucky, AAA supports the legislation and considers it a serious consumer issue affecting all motorists. A fuel quality inspection program would help ensure the public is buying a quality product, she added.

Kentucky is one of 11 states with no fuel quality inspection program.

The bill now goes to the Appropriations and Revenue Committee for consideration.

Dr. Hall attends UK conference

Dr. Mary Hall of McDowell attended a continuing medical education conference, "Twentieth Century Family Medicine Review," in November.

Sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Medicine, the conference in Lexington was attended by medical professionals from about 35 states.

The conference was accredited by the American Medical Association through the Accreditation Council on Continuing Medical Education and by the American Academy of Family Physicians. Participating physicians received the latest information on various areas of medicine to maintain their skills in the care of patients and improve their diagnostic and management knowledge.

Local ad agency earns awards

VantagePoint Advertising of Betsy Layne received three Addy awards last week at the Tri-State Regional Advertising Awards presentation, held at Ashland Oil headquarters in Ashland.

The reception and awards presentation were attended by advertising professionals and advertisers from Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia.

Rhonda Blackburn, owner of Vantage Point, said she was honored to receive the awards. "Our main goal, of course, is to do good work for our clients. This recognition is just icing on the cake," she said.

Two of the Addys were for commercials created for Mayo Drug Stores of Pike County. One was for a television commercial that was a takeoff on the "Mister Rogers" program and the other for the Christmas radio campaign.

Tom Cecil, owner of Mayo Drugs, said he was not surprised about the Addys. "We've known for two years now that Vantage Point has been creating outstanding commercials for us," Cecil said. "The best part is that there is a method to their madness. Some people think we spend a lot of money on advertising. We really don't spend any more than before. We just do it better."

Blackburn says she shares credit with Cecil. "Tom is great about giving us enough freedom to come up with unexpected ways to communicate with his customers. It takes a special person to approve things such as 'Here we're going to have Joe Friday open the door and greet a six-foot Easter bunny.'"

The other Addy was for a radio campaign created for Rax Restaurants. Terry Fitzer, president of Southeast Rax Development, said the most effective ad of the series was the "macho" spot.

"There was a period where we were losing our male customers," Fitzer said. "All the new creative materials available from Rax Corporate featured our salad bar. The sandwich line, the mainstay for our men, was being ignored. Almost immediately after the 'macho' spot started airing we were excited to see our male customers back in our restaurants."

"I'm happy to see Rhonda being recognized for such fine work. It doesn't surprise me at all considering her hard work and dedication."

Ashland Oil received the "Best of Show" award for the "Teachers Change Lives" campaign.

The purpose of Addy awards is to recognize and encourage creative excellence in advertising.

MSU presents nursing program

Diagnosing problems in toddlers and preschool-aged children is the subject of a workshop to be held in the Adron Doran University Center at Morehead State University on March 7-9.

The two-and-one-half day session is sponsored by MSU's continuing education program for nursing and allied health care professionals, state Cabinet for Human Resources and the Department for Health Services Maternal and Child Health Division.

Participants attending the program, titled "Pediatric Assessment I," will learn to perform a systematic physical nursing assessment of the heart and lungs and to differentiate between normal and abnormal findings as related to the respiratory and cardiovascular system. Applicants are asked to bring a stethoscope and small plastic ruler to the workshop.

Instructor for the program will be Nancy Frodge, nursing instructor at Maysville Area Vocational School. She is ANA certified in maternal-child health.

Nurses attending the session will receive contact hours as approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing. For information, call MSU's department of nursing and allied health sciences at 783-2632.

Leadership conference set for Hazard in April

The Third Annual East Kentucky Leadership Conference will be April 27 and 28, at Hazard Community College and the Hazard Holiday Inn.

Ten concurrent sessions will be held three times Saturday, encouraging participants to discuss a wide range of issues in Eastern Kentucky. Some of the topics include: improving Eastern Kentucky's image inside and outside the region, creating jobs, fair and uniform taxation, higher education's responsibility to the mountains, adult literacy, meeting health care needs, tapping resources outside the region, educational reform, environmental problems and the East Kentucky Job Creation Authority.

A Friday and Saturday night banquet will be held. Speakers have not been announced.

Organizations and groups are encouraged to hold their meetings, that may occur during April, on Saturday afternoon in conjunction with the conference.

For additional information, call Linda Gayheart at 436-3158 or Mike Mullins at 785-5024.

Consider water supply in finding home site

Homeowners who are considering building a home in the country need to think about the water supply. "So often people don't think about this," said Elwin Holmes, agricultural engineer with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "They come from the city; they pay their water bill at the end of the month and they think water is readily available anywhere." Holmes said a few people may have access to rural water districts. However, he said many districts are full and are not adding customers.

Poverty in Kentucky: More than just poor people

Poverty sometimes is the result of living in the wrong area.

Residents in Kentucky's 34 counties listed as being among the nation's persistently poor have a harder time finding jobs that pay well than their counterparts in more affluent counties, said Lorraine Garkovich, a sociologist who studies poverty. She is with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Those hard-pressed Kentucky counties form a "poverty corridor" that stretches from northeastern Kentucky through south central Kentucky. Given the employment opportunities in these counties, even when people invest in their education or work skills, they are not as likely to get the same returns as similar persons in other counties, she said. What characteristics do these counties in poverty share? None has a city of more than 25,000 and each is far away from an urban area where economic spillover might improve the local economy. The proportion of the labor force employed or seeking employment is lower than the state average, she said.

"In some high poverty Kentucky counties, the local economy depends almost exclusively on one industry, such as coal. The number of jobs rises and falls depending on booms and busts in the dominant industrial sector. Few alternatives exist when hard times come," she said.

The good times of the 1980s may be too slow to help out the many impoverished counties in Kentucky. In fact, she said, the economic flourishes of the decade put some counties farther behind other areas than they were at the beginning of the decade.

"Too many Kentuckians stand waiting in line for jobs that pay well and have good benefits, only to find that the line is long and their chances of finding gainful employment slim," Garkovich said.

"Development efforts that focus only on building new plants will fail unless the work force is skilled and trained for new jobs. Similarly, investments in education without parallel efforts to develop jobs will not succeed. In fact, they may tend to encourage the young and skilled to move to areas where better jobs are more plentiful," Garkovich said.

Alternative water supplies are wells, cisterns and ponds. Holmes said although wells may be the most logical source of water, underground water in Kentucky may not be adequate for several reasons. Holmes suggests that people who are looking into installing a well may want to talk to neighbors, well drillers and the Kentucky Geological Survey for advice about the water supply in the area.

If it is not feasible to install a well, Holmes recommends using a cistern instead of a pond or reservoir.

"Cisterns are easier to maintain than ponds," he said. "Ponds are susceptible to pesticide contamination and may be difficult to locate if the amount of acreage is small."

Holmes said although cisterns are safer than ponds because of a smaller chance of contamination, they aren't easy to maintain. Cisterns need to be kept clean of dead animals and the roof and guttering need to be maintained properly.

"If you install a cistern it needs to be done right," he said.

On the road again

Prestonsburg Fire Department's Engine 5 is back on the road again after a four month hiatus. The truck comes home with a face lift. Refurbished from the cab back and totally repainted, some of the new features of the truck include: two high-rise sides, more room for tools and equipment, a telescopic scene light, a more accessible pump, a totally revamped, color-coded pump panel, stainless steel wheel wells, a deck gun mount, new ladder and hose rack, and much more. The 500-gallon capable truck is now fully operational.

FLOYD CIRCUIT COURT 88-CI-677

First Commonwealth Bank of Prestonsburg, Kentucky.....Plaintiff VS: NOTICE OF SALE

George N. Hale, Barbara R. Hale, d/ b/a Yo's Carry-Out; Henry C. Hale and Winifred Hale.....Defendants

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the October 23 term, 1989, in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 9th day of March, 1990, at 10:30 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of three (3) months, the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of Middle Creek in Floyd County, Kentucky, being the same property conveyed George Hale from Henry C. Hale and Winifred O. Hale, his wife, by deed dated May 1984, which is duly recorded in Deed Book 286, page 54, in the Floyd County Clerk's Office, and being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake right-of-way adjacent to Highway 114 at a point marked by an iron stake; thence a straight line with the boundary line of Tommy Hale to a sycamore tree near the creek bank; thence a straight line to the center of the Right Fork of Middle Creek; thence with the meanders of the creek to a point immediately adjacent marked by an iron stake on the creek bank; thence a straight line to an iron stake on the State Highway 114 right-of-way; thence with the Highway right-of-way approximately 200 feet to the beginning.

There is excepted and not conveyed herewith a permanent easement for the benefit of the adjoining tract of land which was this day conveyed to Thomas M. Hale by the grantors herein for the purposes of installment and maintaining a water line right-of-way to the water well located on the subject tract herein.

It is further a condition of this deed that the adjacent tract conveyed to Thomas M. Hale, his heirs and assigns, shall have the right to use the water well located on subject tract herein.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $37,055.72 with interest thereon at 12% annually from the 22 day of June, 1988 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale. This property is sold, subject to taxes due Floyd County, Ky.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 19 day of February, 1990.

MARSHALL DAVIDSON, Master Commissioner 2-21-3TW.

State Government News Summary

Smile ... Nearly a quarter million Kentucky children are growing up with healthier teeth thanks to ongoing efforts by the state Department for Health Services. That's the number of children who directly benefited last year from the department's three main programs to prevent dental disease among the state's youth — school fluoridation, fluoride mouth rinses and fluoride supplements. Fluoride mouth rinses were provided to 214,000 children in 840 elementary schools once a week last year. Studies have shown that new cavities are reduced 25 to 35 percent among "mouth rinse" children. Any Kentucky school is eligible to participate in the mouth rinse program free of charge.

Wanted: more beds ... The Commission for Health Economics Control in Kentucky at today's meeting will review 12 certificate of need applications, representing about $2.3 million in capital expenditures. Among applications to be considered is one from Methodist Hospital in Pikeville, which is requesting permission to have four neonatal beds, at a cost of $50,574. Also under consideration is a request by HCP Respiratory Care Division, Louisville, to expand its mobile health services to long-term care facilities in Letcher and four other counties and a request by Morgan County Appalachian Regional Hospital in West Liberty to establish a mobile health service for the new Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex.

Working ... Kentucky's annual average unemployment rate for 1989 fell to its lowest point in a decade, while the annual average number of Kentuckians with jobs hit a record level. The state's annual jobless rate fell 1.7 percentage points, from 7.9 percent in 1988 to 6.2 percent in 1989, according to the end-of-year labor force trends reports issued by the Cabinet for Human Resources. The 1989 rate was the only average below 7.0 percent during the 1980s and the lowest figure recorded since 1979, when it was 5.6 percent.

Center to promote health professions

Increasing shortages for registered nurses and other specialists in Kentucky hospitals have prompted the Kentucky Hospital Association to establish a Center for Nursing and Health Careers.

"The Center will promote the excellent employment opportunities created by current shortages and recruit individuals into health career educational programs and practice in Kentucky," stated William S. Conn, KHA president.

"The registered nurse vacancy rate among KHA member hospitals has increased to 12 percent compared to 10 percent in 1987. In addition, surveys by the Kentucky Council on Higher Education show widespread vacancies for hospital therapists, technologists and other technical personnel," Conn reported. KHA represents 111 of 120 hospitals in Kentucky.

"We are concerned about the Commonwealth being able to meet future health personnel needs. In Jefferson County there are often severe shortages of critical care nurses for example, which causes Emergency Medical Services to utilize a 'diversion program' to locate staffed and available beds in route.

"Careful planning of health resources certainly must consider the availability of health care personnel. This is one of the major reasons that KHA Board of Trustees has opposed legislation that would repeal Certificate of Need for hospitals in Kentucky. The lifting of this public review process would result in a technology and service arms race causing unnecessary duplication," Conn stated.

A proposal (H.B. 107) introduced to the Kentucky General Assembly to establish a Kentucky Incentive Scholarship Fund is strongly supported by the KHA. The intent of the bill is to give scholarship preference to low income, unemployed or licensed practical nurse applicants to registered nurse education programs. Conn said the bill will complement the scholarship programs already offered by most KHA member hospitals.

Increased state funding of higher education can help alleviate health personnel shortages through expansion of nursing and allied health programs, according to Conn. He said the current state budget request which includes increased higher education funding is encouraging and appears reasonable in view of the other needs of the state.

"We're particularly interested in seeing additional state support to maintain the recent 50 percent increase in physical therapy program enrollments at UK and U of L. KHA previously contributed $70,000 to the two universities to initiate these program expansions," Conn stated.

The center will operate a health careers recruitment clearinghouse and toll-free hotline to distribute brochures and provide services to high schools, hospitals, and allied health organizations," Conn announced.

Mary Walker, RN, nurse advisor for the Center, stated that today's nurses are better educated, better paid and have more opportunities than ever before. She said the need for nurses is urgent and growing nationwide. Hospitals now employ record numbers of registered nurses.

The US Bureau of Health Professions projects a 39 percent increase in the need for registered nurses this decade. "The increasing need for nursing services as evidenced by the current hospital nurse vacancy rate of 12 percent will create excellent employment opportunities for nurses during the nineties," Walker stated.

Data from the Kentucky Board of Nursing show dramatic declines in the number of RN program graduates in Kentucky compared to 1985 graduates. During the past three years this decline has averaged 17 percent compared to the number of graduates in 1985.

Walker stated this decline was partly due to fewer young persons seeking admission to nursing programs. She added that recruitment will be targeted at both high school graduates and older nontraditional students.

High school graduates have misconceptions regarding nursing that affect their interest in pursuing this profession, according to Walker.

"Informational sources about nursing must be expanded to facilitate recruitment into this rewarding profession. The services of the Center will include a strong emphasis on opportunities and realities of professional nursing today," Walker stated.

Dr. Joseph Hamburg, former University of Kentucky dean of allied health, recently conducted allied health personnel surveys in Kentucky that document widespread vacancies for therapists, technologists, and various technicians. Data from the Kentucky Council on Higher Education show recent declines in the number of graduates of allied health professions programs.

"Job opportunities for many of the allied health profession equal those for nursing. Our focus on personnel shortages and increasing employment opportunities is much broader than nursing. Occupational therapy, radiologic technology, laboratory and respiratory therapy are examples of allied health professions that offer exceptional employment opportunities," Conn added.

Leigh Ann Akin was recently employed by the Center to promote the health careers educational and employment opportunities available in Kentucky. A KHA task force on nursing and health careers advises the Center on an interim basis and an advisory council will be established in the near future.

Certified to teach

Kentucky State Police Tpr. Ghomer Prater, center, of the Pikeville Post recently received his certificate, enabling him to teach AAA's Driver Improvement class. Presenting the certificate were W. Michael Troop, left, acting commissioner of KSP, and James E. Bassett III, chairman of AAA's Safety Foundation. Prater is one of eight KSP officers who completed the 40-hour training class at Eastern Kentucky University. The officers can now teach the eight-hour class free to the public. The AAA program, used by military and civilian organizations nationally, has proven effective in reducing traffic fatalities and collisions. Classes will be offered this spring by Prater. For information, contact him at 437-7311 or call the AAA Safety Foundation, 1-800-432-0996.

Help offered for tree loss

The US Department of Agriculture has announced a Tree Assistance Program to assist commercial tree growers suffering losses due to extreme weather conditions.

The TAP is open to small and medium scale commercial trees producers who own not more than 500 acres of trees planted for commercial production. Payment is limited to 65 percent of the cost of re-establishing the seedlings.

The TAP is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

ASCS also offers cost-sharing on the planting of trees or improvement of a stand of trees through the Forestry Incentives Program and the Agricultural Conservation Program.

FIP is limited to applications for 10 or more acres. Both offer cost-sharing on necessary materials and services up to 75 percent of the actual cost.

For more information, contact the ASCS Office at 886-8738 (Prestonsburg) or 785-5402 (Hindman).

Spring tree season just around corner

Spring tree planting season will soon be here, and the Kentucky Division of Forestry has many different tree species available for all planting purposes.

Tree seedlings are sold in quantities of 100, 500 or 1000. Cost is dependent upon the species, but most bundles of 100 are $15 to $20; bundles of 500 are $25 to $35; bundles of 1000 are $40, $60 and $125.

For specific species, prices and planting recommendations contact the Kentucky Division of Forestry in Prestonsburg at 886-8562 or 1-800-886-0048; in Pike County, 1-800-886-0330.

There are limited quantities, so orders are taken on a first-come-first-serve basis.

Selective Service issues warnings

Young men who will turn 26 in 1990 will be reaching an important milestone, according to the Selective Service System.

Beginning on Jan. 1, 1990, men who were required to register with Selective Service in 1982 will be turning 26 and will no longer be eligible for induction should a draft be reinstated. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept late registration after a man reaches his 26 birthday.

Selective Service State Director Taylor L. Davidson warned that with a few exceptions, a man who fails to register before turning 26 will permanently forfeit his eligibility for certain benefits, such as federal student aid, job training and most federal employment in addition to facing possible prosecution as a felon.

Some states also require registration for state student aid, entrance to state-supported colleges and universities, state employment and permission to practice law.

Davidson points out that men age 18 through 25 who have not yet registered can avoid the risk of prosecution and loss of benefits by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to five years in prison or both.

Over 14 million men, age 18 through 25, are currently registered with Selective Service. Of those, 239,413 are from Kentucky.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Jay Shelton wishes to thank all those friends, neighbors, and family who helped them in any way upon the passing of their loved one. Thanks to those who sent food, flowers, prayers and words of comfort expressed. A special thanks to the Regular Baptist ministers for their comforting words and to the Hall Funeral Home for their kind and efficient services.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Seymore Samons wishes to thank all of those who were so kind and considerate during our time of grief. We want to thank those who sent flowers and gifts of love. We especially want to thank Rev. Bennie Blankenship and the Hall Funeral Home for being so kind. All your kindnesses were greatly appreciated.

Unity Prayer Service

The Ministerial Association will present a Unity Prayer Service Sunday, March 4, at 6 p.m. at the First Baptist Church of Prestonsburg, in preparation for the Easter holy week. Light refreshments will be served and the public is invited to attend.

In old Scotland it was believed if February 12-14th were stormy, there would be good weather the rest of the year.

IN MEMORIAM OF ROBERT HUNTER

God decided He was lonely on January the twenty-eighth. He wanted someone beside Him, a "keeper of the Faith".

There was one man that He wanted to sit at His right hand; a man who served His Lord in life and deserved the Promised Land.

That man was Robert Hunter, a man pure, good & kind.

But there was one small problem, there was a family he'd leave behind. God pondered upon this problem, but His need for him was great.

He wanted Robert up in His arms and through the Heavenly Gate.

He took His "keeper of the Faith" very early on that Sunday morn.

He gave His greatest and last reward, Robert Hunter is now REBORN.

His family will always miss him, he was that kind of man.

Some day they all will join him, it is in God's final plan.

So, to the family of Robert Hunter, through your sorrow and your pain, the man you loved is in Heaven; be like him, you will see him again.

Be wary of car options

When it comes to purchasing a new car, some people get overwhelmed when deciding on the car's options.

Aggressive salesmen can complicate the problem. This is especially true with dealers' lots bulging and salesmen pushing high-margin options.

Remember, buyers don't have to pay for an unwanted option in order to get the vehicle they want. Massachusetts, in fact, passed a law making it illegal for a dealer to force the buyer to take an option.

"It's important to consider which options you want when you're away from the showroom," said Chuck Kuebler, president of the United States Auto Club, Moting Division Inc. "Get in your present car and consider where you want improvements, and make a list in order of priority. Take that list back to the showroom and let it guide your decision."

One of the most frequently recommended options is rust-proofing, which runs about $200. It's also one of the most controversial. Kuebler noted that while rust-proofing can add years to the life of a good used car, shoppers should beware that many of today's new cars don't need the extra treatment.

Another option is paint protection. It claims to protect the car from scrapes. Here again, Kuebler said, this option has almost become standard on many makes of automobiles. What's more, unlike rust-proofing, the buyer can apply a paint sealant easily and at very little cost.

The United States Auto Club, Moting Division Inc. is a nationwide auto club servicing more than a million members. For more information call 1-800-348-5058.

Allen Central gets number one seed

Coaches, principals, board members look at ways to curb crowd behavior

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

With the 58th District tournament set for Feb. 28 at Allen Central High School gym, hosted by Wheelwright, coaches, principals and local board of education members met Monday to discuss ways to cut down on rowdy crowd behavior at this year's district tournament.

Averting the mistakes of last season's tournament was one of the items on the agenda, as well as who would receive the number one seed. Allen Central, drawing first, was seeded number one in the upcoming tournament.

Floyd County Athletic Director Frankie Francis chaired the meeting and noted that the officials for the tournament would be 15th Region referees. Hershel Conn, long-time clockkeeper at Betsy Layne was chosen as the timer in this year's district.

Bill Bartrum was selected as the scorer, and Todd Duff was chosen by Wheelwright principal Lonnie Slone as the public address announcer. Dale Hamilton was named as alternate scorer and Ron Hampton as the alternate timer.

The coaches and board members decided no passes would be issued this year and all teachers will be admitted free.

Filming of the tournament is permissible for cable television, but the games cannot be shown on television until after the tournament.

The number of players eligible per team was raised from 12 to 15. The board set an admission fee of $4 for adults and $3 for students.

Francis brought up the matter of last year's display of unsportsmanlike conduct by fans at the district and regional tournaments at Prestonsburg last season. While noting that the coaches cannot police the stands, each coach was encouraged to talk to their principals to try to solve this problem.

"We have not had bad behavior in the past," Francis said, "and we need to control it and not let it get out of hand."

Francis said he would like to see this year's 58th District Tournament as a model in behavior for the rest of the state.

Allen Central principal Don Daniels stated that there is always a problem with posters fans bring into the gym.

"It means a clean up job. The posters are placed on the walls and when they are pulled down it ruins the paint on the walls," he stated. "I don't mind having posters that are not attached to walls."

Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome said there was a problem with confetti at last season's tournament.

"Sportsmanship in Floyd County will be on trial in the 58th District Tournament next week," school administrator E.P. Grigsby Jr. told the county coaches. "I personally would like to see it curbed a great deal. We have the problem of animosity being created between schools and we need to put forth some effort to curb the animosity."

Grigsby also pointed out that it is not the players who are the culprits but rather the fans and some of them are not in school.

"Each coach should talk with their respective principals and try and work something out. We had problems with obscene gestures and foul language and we need to be just as concerned about these things as we are about who wins the tournament."

Grigsby also presented an idea of bringing back the "sportsmanship" award, that he and Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats coach Gary Hopkins agreed in years past was a joke.

"Good sportsmanship should be awarded," Grigsby went on to say, "and the award should be based on

Cold third quarter costly in Betsy Layne loss, 60-48

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It was Varsity Court Night at Pikeville as the Pikeville Panthers entertained Junior Newsome and the Betsy Layne Bobcats Friday in an inter-county match up. The Bobcats, looking to tune up before the start of next week's district tournament, looked good in the first half of play, but experienced some coldness in the third period, falling to regional power Pikeville, 60-48.

A trio of Panther players led the host team in scoring. Johnny Hale and Steve Bailey each had 13 points for the Panthers. Steve Wilson added 12.

For Betsy Layne, Sam Stewart tossed in 17 points to lead the Bobcats. Adam Gearheart added 11.

After Pikeville took a 6-2 early first quarter lead, Betsy Layne outscored the Pikeville team, 10-3, to take a 12-9 lead. Stewart scored six points in the spurt. Pikeville's defense was tight on the Bobcats, forcing Betsy Layne to take some hurried shots.

Early in the first quarter, at one point Betsy Layne turned the ball over on four straight possessions. Murray Garvin's layup at the buzzer gave Pikeville a 15-14 first stop lead.

Earl Justice opened the second stanza with a three-pointer to put the Panthers up, 18-14. Pikeville went to build a 28-21 advantage with 1:12 remaining in the half. Gearheart, Chad Mitchell and Keith Hall scored baskets to cut the lead to one, 28-27. After another Garvin basket, Gearheart hit two free throws with five seconds to go in the half as the Bobcats trailed at the half, 30-29.

Then came the horrendous third period. The two teams exchanged early baskets in the third, and then Pikeville ran off 10 straight unanswered points for a 43-31 lead. Phillip King hit one bucket and Gearheart had two for the only points for the Bobcats in the third period.

Betsy Layne did put on a scoring drive in the fourth quarter, cutting Pikeville's lead to seven, 51-44, on a 9-4 run. The drive was too little, too late as the Bobcats fell, 60-48.

The loss sends the Bobcats to 12-10 overall as they lost their second straight game.

Hard luck continues to plague Trojans as they lose close one

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Monroe Jones' Wheelwright Trojans continue to fall on hard luck, dropping yet another close one that got away, 81-76, to the McDowell Daredevils. The Trojans defeated the Daredevils earlier at McDowell in winning their only conference game of the season.

"Somebody is going to pay in the tournament," says senior Bobby Hood. "We are going to defeat someone in the tournament."

The Trojans lost a close one to Prestonsburg, 95-92, Tuesday night on a foul in the last four seconds of the game. Senior center Keith Shelton led the Daredevils in scoring with 26 points. Marc Hall added 20 for McDowell. Stacy Hall, who was slow getting started, tossed in 11.

Bobby Hood, who continues his good play since returning from an ankle injury, led the Trojans with 21 points. Hood hit four three-pointers in the contest. Wheelwright as a team connected on eight 'treys' in the game: two by Steven Johnson who finished with eight points and two by Randy Boyd who scored 12 points.

Shelton scored seven points in the first period to keep the Daredevils close to the charging Trojans who led at the first stop, 16-15.

The Trojans took a six-point lead, 57-51, late in the third period on a three-pointer by Steven Johnson with 1:01 to go and led by five, 60-55, going into the final stanza.

Dale Hinkle hit quickly for the Daredevils underneath, and Stacy Hall hit a short jumper to close to within one of the Trojans, 60-59. After Hood hit one of two free throws, McDowell took the lead at 63-61 on a basket by Shelton.

Hood missed two free throws and, on the ensuing play, Shelton was fouled where he connected on two tosses for a 65-61 lead.

McDowell went up 70-64 with 2:32 to go in the game when Harold Johnson and Chad Hall hit two free throws each to make it 70-68. Doug Hopkins' free throw gave McDowell a 73-69 lead. Scott Shannon then picked up his fifth foul.

Randy Boyd hit his two charity tosses and, after Duddleson missed for McDowell, Hood tied the game with two free throws, 73-73 with 44 seconds showing on the clock. Stacy Hall and Shelton each hit two free throws for a 77-73 Daredevil lead.

Hood hit his fourth 'trey' of the game to cut it to one, 77-76. Stacy and Marc Hall hit two free throws each for the final margin of 81-76.

The win enabled the Daredevils to claim a part of the conference championship by way of a three-way tie with Betsy Layne and Allen Central, marking the third straight year that McDowell has either won the conference outright or tied for the title.

"Wheelwright is as good of a shooting team as we have played," McDowell coach Johnny Ray said of the Trojans. "They hit the three-pointers on us and stayed in the game."

McDowell had to abandon its zone defense for a man-to-man in order to stop Hood in the second half, according to the Daredevil mentor.

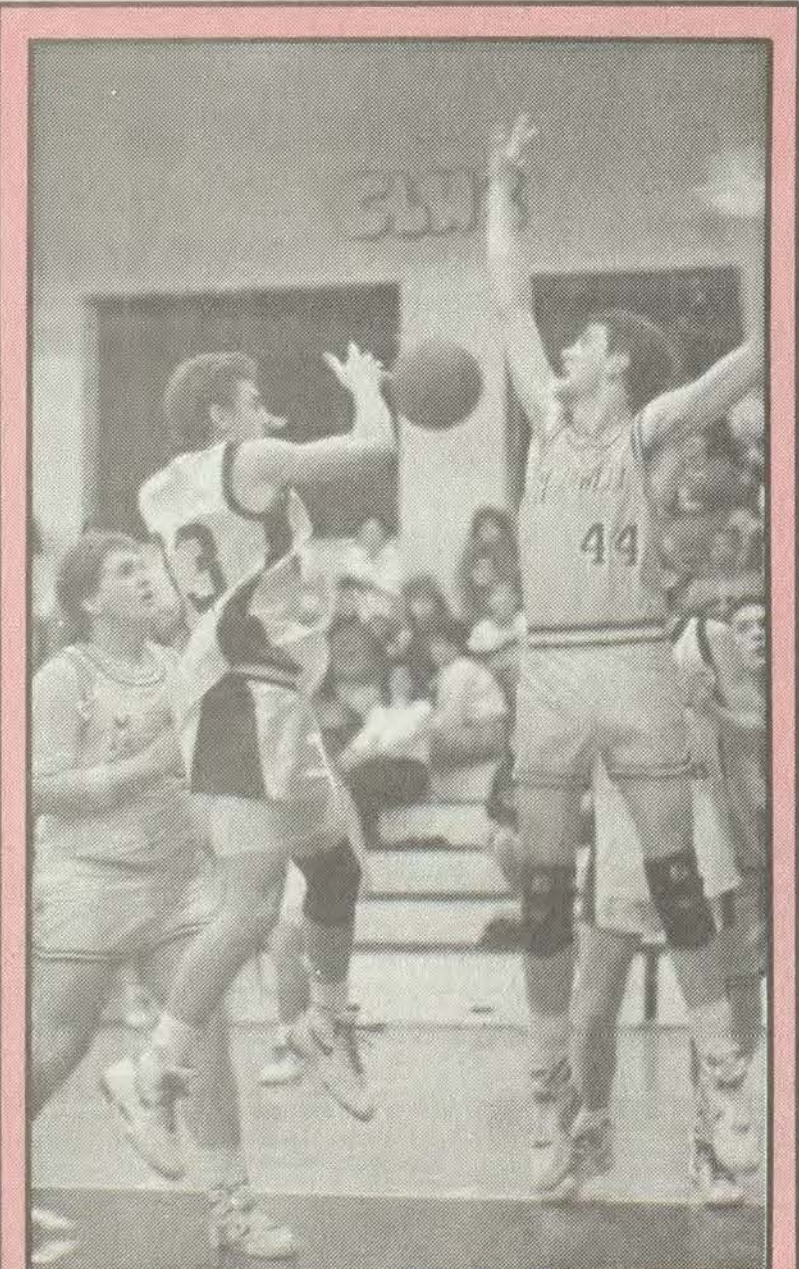

"Defensively we were flat-footed in the first half," Turner explained. "We started going to Keith (Shelton) in the middle in the second half and that opened up the outside for us."

Asked which he preferred in the tournament, Turner said, "It doesn't matter who you play in this county, they are all tough games."

"Scott (Shannon) gave us an excellent outing tonight," Turner stated. "He couldn't have done any more for us than he did tonight."

"We played well enough to win tonight," Wheelwright coach Monroe Jones said.

Jones says that he believes that

Lady Daredevils even record in win over Lady Trojans, 47-41

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The McDowell Lady Daredevils, playing their last conference game of the basketball season, overcame some first quarter sluggishness to defeat a game Wheelwright Lady Trojans squad, 47-41.

"The first half everybody was in slow motion. Nobody was moving."
—Coach Cassandra Keathley

The win evens the Lady Daredevils' conference record to 4-4; 9-13 overall. Wheelwright falls to 1-7 in conference play and 5-13 overall.

Lori Bryant led the Lady Daredevils in scoring with 17 points. Priscilla Crawford added 11 points in the win. April Bradford, who along with Jedon Hood, made a return to the Wheelwright line up after sitting out a one-game suspension for fighting in the Feds Creek game, led the Lady Trojans with 16 points. Hood tossed in 11 and Carrie Smith added 10.

Both teams struggled in the first quarter, unable to find the basket. "The first half everybody was in slow motion. Nobody was moving," McDowell coach Cassandra Keathley stated. "We were trying to press and we worked on it yesterday (Wednesday) in practice and everybody knew where they were supposed to be but they wasn't doing it."

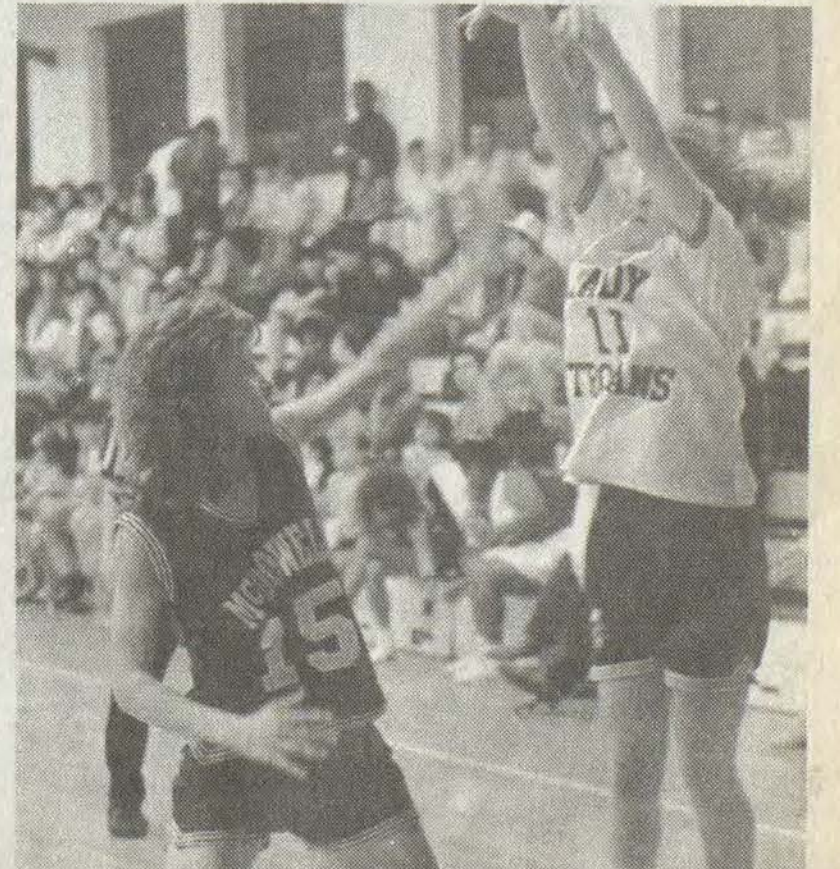

The score was tied at 6-6 and Wheelwright held a 17-15 lead going to the locker room behind the scoring of Bradford who hit for six points just before the half time.

Bryant and Priscilla Crawford hit opening third period buckets to give McDowell a 19-17 lead. The Lady Trojans went back on top 24-21 on Hood's turn around. The lead exchanged hands four times in the final minute of the third quarter with McDowell holding a 32-31 lead on Kristi Pack's two free throws.

Pitino Coach Of The Year?

Lexington—Rick Pitino has done a tremendous job in his first year as head coach of the basketball Wildcats. There have been a lot of "ayes" for the first year coach for "coach of the year" honors. Here's a program that wasn't supposed to win more than five to six ball games all year. Now they are challenging for the Southeastern Conference title. They may not win the conference top spot, but they have showed what a coach can do with a group of "role" players who became stars. Pitino deserves recognition for his accomplishments, but do you think the outside world (that's outside of Kentucky) will even consider this honor? Thumbs up for Pitino for Coach of the Year.

Football Wildcats set spring practice

Lexington—March 19 has been set for the opening of spring practice for the Kentucky Wildcats football team. The Blue-White game will be played on April 21 at Commonwealth Stadium at 6:30 p.m. The UK players are busy working out in the weight rooms, and each morning at 6:30 a.m. they are out running.

Wildcats are for real

Lexington—The Kentucky Wildcats are for real! After the Cats handled the LSU Tigers to the tune of 100-95, the Rick Pitino "three-pointers" are making believers out of everyone. There hasn't been so much excitement over a Kentucky team like this one in several years. Would you believe that 24,302 fans, the largest to ever see a Kentucky game, showed to watch a team on probation play basketball? The cry before the start of the 1989-90 season was that the fans would stay away and tickets would be plentiful. How wrong they have been.

Seniors honored at ALC

Pippa Passes—Tuesday, Feb. 20 has been designated senior night at the Grady Nutt Athletic Center on the campus of the Alice Lloyd College. All seniors who have played for the Eagles the past four years will be honored on this night. Campbellsville will provide the opposition for the Eagles in the regular season finale. Alice Lloyd lost to Campbellsville earlier last week, 105-99. Eagle coach Jim Stepp has done a tremendous job with this year's Eagles squad. Stepp has been around the county looking at some of our local high school players.

"We've been looking at the Stewart boy (Sam) at Betsy Layne. Chris Slone at Prestonsburg. We want to take another look at him. Also Keith Shelton at McDowell as well as Rick Smith at Allen Central," the Eagles mentor stated. "We want to keep the program moving in the right direction."

Reds sign Quinones

Cincinnati—The Cincinnati Reds signed utility infielder Luis Quinones to a one-year contract last week. Quinones hit 14 home runs for the Reds in a little used role. He certainly deserves a chance at the regular second baseman's spot.

Special price for fishing outing

Jamestown—Spring Fishing Unlimited, Lake Cumberland State

Resort Park in Jamestown, is offering a special package price at this fisherman's paradise and popular tournament, March 30-April 1. It includes two night's lodging and six meals for only $80 per person. Programs by fishing tackle shops, displays and trophies in five categories. For more information, call 1-800-325-1709.

Eastern signs 15 players for 1990 football

Richmond—Eastern Kentucky University head football coach Roy Kidd and his staff signed 15 recruits, 12 of those out of the high school ranks, to play for the 1990 Colonels.

The list includes six players from Florida, four from Kentucky, two from Ohio and one player each from the states of Tennessee, Georgia and Missouri. EKV finished the 1989 season with a 9-3 overall record and participated in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

The Eastern Kentucky University men's tennis team takes a two-week break from competition after competing last weekend in the unscored Greg Adams Invitational on the Eastern campus.

Sophomore Derek Schaefer of Saline, MI, turned in another good performance, as did the number one doubles team of Schaefer and junior Duane Lundy, according to EKV men's tennis coach Tom Higgins.

KY vs Notre Dame added to delayed TV schedule

Lexington—Sports Communications announces three additions to its season University of Kentucky sports programming. The Kentucky/Notre Dames game of March 5 has been arranged to be telecast on a delayed basis on the UK Sports Television. Times may vary so fans are asked to consult their local affiliate.

SportsComm will also produce a one-hour special on coach Rick Pitino, tentatively titled "A Day With Rick Pitino". This show will air at various times during the first week of March.

The final addition is a season-capping edition of Coach Pitino's regularly weekly program, The Rick Pitino Show. The March 4 show was at first scheduled as his last network show, but viewer demand and the availability of video footage from the Notre Dame game made the extra show possible.

KET to air Sweet

16 drawings live Feb. 23
Lexington—March Madness soon will be upon Kentuckians and KET heightens the excitement Friday, Feb. 23, with a live broadcast of the 1990 KHSAA Boys and Girls State Tournament Drawings at 2 p.m. Earl Cox, publisher of The Cat's Pause and former Courier-Journal sportswriter, will host the drawings at the KET Network Center in Lexington. He'll be assisted by the coaches of last year's winning basketball teams, Dale Mabrey of Louisville's Pleasure Ridge Park High School Boys team and Donnie Gray, who led the women of Clay County High School to victory.

Trojans

Hood sometimes is a little unselfish in passing up some good shots he had.

"Bobby can really do his thing," Jones stated. "We will play exactly as we have been lately for the tournament. We need to eliminate some mistakes and keep everybody playing hard."

Marc Hall had seven rebounds for the Daredevils and Hood, Harold Johnson and Compton each had four for Wheelwright. Shelton had four block shots in the game and Stacy Hall had eight assists.

Wheelwright will close out the regular season against Dorton Friday night.

Bobcats lose 3rd straight, downed by Belfry, 76-43

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Belfry Pirates are emerging as a bona fide regional contender for the 15th Region title. That was evident Saturday night when the Betsy Layne Bobcats traveled to the Pike County school for a big regional match up.

Betsy Layne, not playing the kind of basketball the team is capable of playing, lost its third straight game, in losing to the Pirates, 76-43.

The Bobcats could only score four points in the second period as they trailed by 14 at the half, 34-20. Betsy Layne experienced a drought in the fourth quarter, also managing only nine points while the Pirates scored 31.

Betsy Layne, which has been a defensive-minded ball club, has suffered some on defense lately. The Bobcats haven't been able to take care of the basketball as they can.

The loss brought the Bobcats' record to 12-11 on the season. They will close out their regular season at Vir-gie Friday night.

Phillip King led the Bobcats in scoring with 15 points. Sam Stewart tossed in 14.

J.J. Hylton led the Pirates in scoring with 21 points. Paul Stafford added 17 points and Shawn Hager tossed in 10. Belfry improves to 17-7 on the year.

Betsy Layne has been playing without starting guard Chris Newsome, who is out with an ankle injury. Newsome also missed the Pikeville game and is expected to be back in action this weekend.

The Bobcats need to get well before next week's district tournament play.

Sports Profile: Part One The coaches' wives

Sherry Jones, wife of Monroe Jones, Wheelwright

The old saying "behind every successful man stands a woman" holds true in the case of Sherry Jones, wife of Wheelwright coach Monroe Jones. While this saying may not hold true in the case of wins and losses, it does in the success of a man who is trying to teach kids the game of basketball and the values of life.

Coaches' wives have to listen to the replay of a game whether he wins or loses. Not so with Coach Jones, says his wife Sherry.

"Monroe leaves the game at the gym," she says. "He doesn't bring it home with him. He never says much about it. If he loses he never tries to take it out on any of us at home. I guess I am the one who's always ready to replay the game. Monroe never gets mad at home."

Does basketball season affect things around the home for the Jones family, such as eating habits, etc.?

"Monroe eats when he has time," Mrs. Jones says with a smile. "No, he's not a big eater, so the games do not affect his eating habits."

The Wheelwright coach's wife says that she attends all the games at home. "I missed two games this year and that was because of snow."

She seems to take a lot of pride in her husband, insisting he never changes.

"Monroe has a lot of respect for kids. He loves working with kids," she says proudly.

"Around our house during basketball season everything is hectic. Seems we are always on the go."

Mrs. Jones is a teacher at Osborne Elementary where she has been teaching for the past six years. The only time the two get any time off is when they take off for their summer vacations, which is not always possible because of summer school for both husband and wife.

"I am through with summer school," Mrs. Jones says. "We always tried to help one another while both of us were in summer school. But now I am through and he still has to attend."

SHERRY JONES

The Joneses have a five-year-old boy, Jeremy, and are expecting their second child in April.

Mrs. Jones says that she helps with the cleaning of the basketball uniforms. "I wash them three times a week," she said, "and try to help get things ready just before the season starts."

Sherry Jones, showing that it is always good to have a shoulder available, if needed, and an encouragement to her husband — the coach.

team, school and fan behavior with the news media doing the picking on who gets the award."

Another concern considered was the use of air horns by fans and the suggestion was not to allow the air horns in the gym. Principals or tournament managers are to screen all posters that are brought in.

Coach Gordon Parido brought the time wasted by allowing the media to present awards during the tournament. The board voted not to allow this to happen again.

LUCK OF THE DRAW

The drawing was the next item on the agenda. In Floyd County the teams are seeded; however, when there is a tie in the conference standings, the tying teams then must draw for the number one seed. Drawing took place in alphabetical order with Allen Central, who is tied with Betsy Layne and McDowell, drawing first.

The Rebels coach, Johnny Martin, picked out the number one seed on the first draw and will be matched up against Monroe Jones' Wheelwright Trojans. McDowell received the number two seed (a first round bye) and Betsy Layne was number three, going against Prestonsburg in the first round.

Allen Central or Wheelwright needs to win only one game to advance to the regional tournament later in the month as is the case with McDowell.

Coach Johnny Martin of Allen Central says that he likes the position his team is in, but he was quick to add that any of the five teams in the tournament can win it all.

"Sure I like the number one spot," he said, "and there will be a day's rest for the number one spot winner. But they are all going to be difficult games."

Martin likes the idea of playing at home, but doesn't see it as an advantage to his team.

"Everyone wants to play at home," he said, "however I wouldn't mind playing at Prestonsburg. One thing about playing at home, you don't have to travel so much."

"The home court is not so much as an advantage in a tournament as in a regular season game," the Rebel mentor stated. "The crowd support is not like a normal home game."

In the girls bracket, Betsy Layne, who led the conference all season until the last two games, got the number one seed and will face Donnie Daniels' Lady Trojans of Wheelwright. Allen Central, tied with Betsy Layne for first place, got the number two seed and will face the winner of the McDowell and Prestonsburg game.

Wheelwright coach Monroe Jones wanted to change the site of the tournament to either Prestonsburg or

"Sure I like the number one spot ... But they are all going to be difficult games."

—ACHS Coach Johnny Martin

Betsy Layne because of his team having to play Allen Central.

"Where we hold the tournament will depend on whether we have to play Allen Central in the first game," Jones explained in an earlier interview before the seeding of teams. However, because of a signed agreement by Wheelwright principal Lonnie Slone, the tournament site could not be changed.

McDowell coach Cassandra Keathley presented to the board the problem of fans being on the floor during the presentation of trophies to the winners and runners-up in the girls bracket.

Time for the first game will be 6:30 p.m., except for the Saturday night championship game which will begin at 6 p.m., and the boys game will follow 25 minutes after the completion of the first game.

The Floyd County Coaches Board, along with Francis, is determined to make this the finest 58th District Tournament and for it to be a model to the rest of the region and state.

In the fourth stanza, McDowell broke a 40-40 tie on Bryant's 10-footer at the 2:59 mark and went on to defeat the Lady Trojans for the second time this season, 47-41.

Becky Allen had one three-pointer in the game and Lori Bryant connected on two.

Coach Keathley believes her team suffered an emotional letdown from the Betsy Layne win on Tuesday night.

"The Betsy Layne game was a real emotional game for our players, especially our lone senior (Priscilla Crawford). She says this is the first time she has been on a team that has beaten Betsy Layne."

Keathley says that she believes that her team thought all they had to do was show up for the Wheelwright game.

"I don't know where Lori and Priscilla were tonight," she stated.

Keathley says that she plans to use the remaining regional games to get her team ready for the district tournament that starts next Wednesday night.

"We will use those games to make some corrections in our game and get ready for the tournament," she says.

Keathley says that she was also pleased with the way her freshmen played against Wheelwright.

SHUTTERBUG CONTEST ON

The 1990 Happy Hunting Ground Magazine Photo Contest, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, is underway.

The contest gives amateur photographers not only a chance to show off their picture-taking abilities, but win some prize money besides. Cash awards for winning photos printed in Happy Hunting Ground magazine range from $50 for honorable mention to a grand prize of $150.

Although the photo contest allows a broad scope of photographic opportunities, all entries are limited to a fish and wildlife theme. And all photos entered in the contest must be taken in Kentucky.

The deadline for entering the photo contest is Oct. 1.

Complete contest rules and entry forms are available by writing: Photo Contest, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, #1 Game Farm Rd., Frankfort, KY 40601, or call the Division of Public Relations, 502-564-4336.

WILDLIFE HABITAT: FROM BACKYARD TO FARMLAND

You control the future of Kentucky wildlife.

Strong statement? Maybe, but it's true. Over 95 percent of the land area of Kentucky is in private ownership, so the actions of landowners hold the key to wildlife survival.

Like many Kentuckians, perhaps you want to do all you can to help wildlife, but you're not sure what to do or where to start. And certainly, cost can be a factor. However, I have some good news.

Anyone interested in helping Kentucky's wildlife can get valuable tips on improving places wildlife live from a handy resource — the January-February 1990 issue of Happy Hunting Ground magazine, published by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

This particular issue is devoted entirely to wildlife habitat needs. Articles, numerous color photos and drawings show how to create or improve places for wildlife to live. And the best part is, some very simple practices correctly implemented, such as building and erecting nest boxes, won't cost much.

Designed for easy reference, the January-February 1990 issue of Happy Hunting Ground magazine covers wildlife habitat needs from urban backyards and farm woodlots to wetlands and endangered species.

If you would like to receive a free copy of the January-February 1990 issue, or want to subscribe to Happy Hunting Ground magazine, contact the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, #1 Game Farm Rd., Frankfort, KY 40601.

TREE SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE

The Kentucky Division of Forestry has various species of tree seedlings for sale through March. Seedlings are available at cost on a first-come, first-served basis.

The forestry division offers technical assistance on where and how to plant the seedlings. Many of the trees offered for sale provide food and cover for wildlife.

Contact the Division of Forestry, 627 Comanche Trail, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Martin to host tournament

The Martin Girls Junior Pro basketball league will sponsor an Independent men's basketball tournament at the Martin gym this Saturday and Sunday. Entry fee for the tournament will be $30 per team. Games will start on Saturday at 3:30 p.m. and continue on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The tournament will be an eight-team double elimination tournament format. The proceeds from the tournament will go to help the Martin Girls Junior Pro All-Star team to go to the state tournament.

According to tournament officials, all teams interested in participating in the tourney must signify such by Friday evening by calling 358-3447 or 874-8133.

Lady Bobcats drop 71-54 game to Phelps

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats lost their fourth game in a row by dropping a 71-54 game to the Lady Hornets of Phelps. The Lady Bobcats at one time were playing among the best basketball of girls' teams in the 15th Region.

The loss drops the Lady Cats to 14-9 on the season. Coach Gary Hopkins' team finished in a tie for first play in the conference with Allen Central at 5-3, marking the third straight year that the Lady Bobcats have finished first in the conference race. Allyson Preece tossed in 21 points for the Lady Hornets in winning over Betsy Layne. Nykole Wolford added 18 points in the win and teammate Krystal Dotson tossed in 14. Brenda Hamilton, one of the top players in the 15th Region and perhaps the fastest, had 24 points to lead the Lady Cats in scoring. Hamilton seems to be able to create scoring opportunities for herself by using her quickness to intercept passes or make steals.

Lady Hornets were able to get second and third shots at the basket. Besides Hamilton's 24, Shelia Hall and Brianna Boyd tossed in seven points each. Nancy Shepherd and Susan Conn totaled six apiece. Betsy Layne will be at Sheldon Clark tomorrow night (Thursday) for a regional match up. ****

Thompson scores 32 in 84-74 win over PHS

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats dropped their second game in a row, falling to the Feds Creek Vikings, 84-74 at Feds Creek Saturday night. Jody Thompson, Division I prospect, tossed in 32 points to overcome a slow start in helping the Vikings to their 13th win of the season.

Prestonsburg, which fell to Pikeville on Friday night, is now 9-13 on the season. The Blackcats were led in scoring by senior center Kevin Adams with 30 points. Adams was able to get loose underneath for some easy baskets. Adams is one of the region's best in moving without the ball to get open.

Chris Slone had 13 points as the only other Blackcat in double figures. Jeff Burchett added seven points in the loss.

Prestonsburg stayed close to the Vikings in the first quarter as the defense was able to stop Thompson early in the game. Prestonsburg, behind at the end of the first period 17-14, went to the dressing room trailing 38-33.

Feds Creek could not mount any kind of a lead. Prestonsburg played close to Feds Creek but could not overcome the host team.

Sheldon Clark will come to the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse for the final regular season game on Friday night. The Blackcats will try to hone their shooting eyes as they prepare for the upcoming tournament. ****

Blackcats suffer 84-72 setback from Pikeville

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Despite placing three players in double figures, the Prestonsburg Blackcats dropped a 84-72 victory to the visiting Pikeville Panthers last week in high school basketball. The loss was the Blackcats' 12th of the year against nine victories.

Chris Slone tossed in 24 points to take game scoring honors. Kevin Adams added 14 points and Jeff Sloan tossed in 12 points.

The trio of scoring was not enough to offset the balanced attack of the Panthers, led by Brian Wilson's 23 points. Steve Bailey added 12 and Jones 14. Johnny Hale tallied 17 in the win.

Prestonsburg trailed by 10 at the half, 38-28, after trailing by only one at the end of the first quarter. Pikeville held a 19-point advantage entering the final quarter. A late run by the Blackcats cut the lead down to 10, but the Prestonsburg chargers could not get any closer as Pikeville won by 12 points, 84-72.

Ray Collins, whom Prestonsburg looks to for the three-pointer, only had one in the game, as did Chris Slone. Collins, who has had games of brilliance, just needs to have a good outing to regain his confidence before the district tournament. Collins finished the game with nine points.

Prestonsburg will host Sheldon Clark Friday night in the regular season finale. ****

Slone scores 24 points in Lady Blackcats' 52-44 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats coach Bridgett Clay says that her team is starting to play like it did back in January. If that is true the Lady Blackcats could have a lot to say about how the 58th District Tournament comes out.

"We looked really good against Johns Creek," said Clay of her team's 52-44 victory over the Pike County school.

Junior sensation Kathy Slone tossed in 24 points to lead the Lady Blackcats to victory. Raquel Cain, who had been struggling the last two games, chipped in with 10 points in a good outing.

Jeanne Ratliff led the Lady Bearcats with 11 points.

The win allowed the Prestonsburg team to even its record at 9-9. One of the goals of the Lady Blackcats at the start of the season was to have a winning season.

Prestonsburg, looking sharp on defense in the first quarter moved out in front 16-9 in the first period. The tough defense continued in the second half for Prestonsburg as the Lady Blackcats held the Lady Bearcats to five second stanza points and led at the half, 30-14.

The Lady Blackcats suffered some coldness of their own in the third period as they seemed to have trouble finding the basket. Johns Creek outscored the Lady Cats 30-22 in the second half.

Prestonsburg has been a team that has had some good moments and then hidden away somewhere. It is a very talented team to be so young.

The defense of the Lady Blackcats held the visitors at bay in posting the 52-44 win.

"Offensively we looked good," said Clay. "We really haven't been shooting the ball that well of late."

Prestonsburg shot 50 percent of the first half against Johns Creek. Amy Reed and Raquel (Cain) played a good game. Carolyn Reffett always plays a consistent hard-nosed game. She always comes up with the big rebounds or makes the key steals, Clay says.

"In the third quarter we got in too big of a hurry on offense," stated the Prestonsburg coach. "Seems the girls were pressing themselves to get the job done. Johns Creek came back to within seven of us in the final quarter but we held on for the win."

Clay said that her squad went to a zone in the second period and the Lady Bearcats were unable to solve it.

Prestonsburg will play at Mullins tomorrow night (Thursday) for the final game of the regular season.

Rebels fall in overtime to Leslie Co.

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The "hot" Allen Central Rebels traveled to Leslie County for a rematch of an earlier meeting of the 14th and 15th Regional teams. The Rebels, winners of four straight games, fell to Leslie County, 75-73, in overtime.

The Rebels had defeated the 14th Regional team earlier in the year at Allen Central. This time around four Rebel starters fouled out of the game, and the Rebels were forced to play an inexperienced bench the last part of the game.

"We had some big early leads," Rebel coach Johnny Martin said. "We let the leads get away from us and got into some foul trouble. I think we played really well against Leslie County. No one came away with their heads down. What we are trying to do right now is keep the spirits up and keep everything positive."

Leslie County hit nine of 10 free throws in overtime to send the Rebels to their 12th defeat of the season. Joey Caldwell, who hit three of four in overtime, led Leslie County in scoring with 27 points.

Allen Central held a three-point lead at 64-61 when Terrill Wilson hit a three-pointer just before the horn to tie the game at 64-64.

In the overtime, the Leslie County players were limited to only one field goal, but the Rebels kept them at the line where they could not miss in hitting the nine out of 10 charity tosses.

Rick Smith's 18 points topped the Rebels in scoring. Joey Conn tossed in 13 points. Kevin Spurlock and Mike Hancock added 11 apiece. Cotton Parsons netted nine points.

Allen Central falls to 10-12 and Leslie County improves to 19-5. Allen Central entertains Hazard in its season finale on Friday night.

Prestonsburg Intramural League

Blue vs Black (5th Grade)

The Black team of coach Desta Price won over Leslie Fannin's Blue team, 31-24, behind the 19-point performance of Shelly Price. Desiree Fannin added 12 points in the win.

Virginia Fannin led the Blue team in scoring with 16 points, and teammate Ginger Hall tossed in eight points.

White vs Red (5th Grade)

Barbara Hatfield's White team won over the Red team of Bennett Leslie, 29-13, in intramural league action Monday night at the Prestonsburg Elementary school.

Chrystal Layne tossed in 14 points for the White team. Jill Reynolds added six points and Tracy Nunnery scored four points. Susan Gearheart netted two points as did Andy Ratliff. Amanda Ratliff scored one point.

Amber Leslie led the Red team in scoring with five points. Glenda Collins had four points and Leslie Stout added three. Heather Collins chipped in with one point.

White vs Red (6th, 7th, 8th Grade)

Rebecca Leslie hit for 12 points as the White team won over the Red team, 25-19, in Wednesday night's play. A trio of players added two points each: Tonia Hale, Katrina Thomas and Amber Leslie.

For the Red team of James Allen, Jenny Morrison led in scoring with eight points. Nanna Allen tossed in six and Allison Allen added five. Four points were scored by Crystal Layne and Carrie Francis tossed in two points.

At half time, the crowd was entertained by the boys cheerleaders.

Former art teacher enjoys gym workout

FRANKIE BEST

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Frankie Sue Best, 73, of Stephens Branch Road at Cliff enjoys the three days a week she spends in the "Top Dog Gym", a new business adventure of Kenny Meade of Inez, formerly of Prestonsburg.

"I come to build up my body strength," says Best, a retired teacher of 36 years, "and it helps me by lifting weights and other things."
"We want to accommodate all handicapped people in our area," says Meade a veteran of eight years in body building and working in physical training. "We just want to give the opportunity to all who want to build their body up."

Meade has been a competitive body builder for the last five years. Best taught the last 20 years of her career at Prestonsburg Elementary school where she taught art. Best says that she also taught art for seven years at Prestonsburg Community College and was a principal at Ligon for two years.

How did a retired school teacher ever get involved in physical fitness?

"I was at Cardinal Hill in Lexington after having to have my leg amputated. There I could exercise and build up my upper body strength and my arm strength. When I came back here I was talking to my neighbor, Connie Young, about how I wished I could get back to Cardinal Hill to work out. She told me 'you don't have to go back to Cardinal Hill. You can work out here.'"

"I was bringing my son here and I am an overweight housewife, so I started working out three times a week," Young stated. "I started bringing Frankie with us."

Best says she has a loss of balance because of hearing and when she is able to get out of her wheelchair, she must hold on to something to get around. The former teacher says that her handicap doesn't stop her, though. She still cleans her house and fixes her own meals.

"That's why I have to keep my arms built up," she says, "in order to do my house work. It doesn't stop me. I still cook big meals and entertain in my home."

Best, a member of the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church in Prestonsburg for the last 33 years, says that her leg was amputated because the doctors told her it was a matter of losing her leg or her life.

"I had osteomyelitis of the bone in my foot," she explained. "The doctors said they could take off part of the foot and I would probably have to have it done again in six months or they could take it off just below the knee and be done with it. So they took it off at the knee."

Best adds that she has also been a diabetic for several years and has been able to control it by just taking a pill and "watching what I eat."

The retired teacher whose husband died in 1966 says she has had faith in God and realizes that the Lord has a plan for her and she has placed everything into His hands.

"As long as I am alive I will have my school kids," she says. "I get calls from all over the United States from past students. I received one from Texas yesterday (Tuesday). I'm never alone. I have put my life in the Lord's hand and nothing bad can happen to you if you love the Lord."

Best says that she has had to have six other major surgeries.

Quite an accomplishment for a 73-year-old amputee: working out in a gym three times a week and enjoying it!

Here & There In Sports

By Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

by Ed Taylor

Coach Roger Johnson reports that he has 27 football players out for workouts in the weight rooms. "We're letting them do some running on their own," the Trojan mentor said. "We are very optimistic about this coming season."

Johnson reports that there is a good attitude and desire in the camp and a lot of hard work ahead.

Missing from the Betsy Layne basketball games has been one-time P.A. man Gerald Newsome. Asked where Newsome was and was told that he also was working with his football players in the weight rooms. Good to see our coaches getting down to the nitty gritty of things. Look for a good football season this year.

All high school baseball coaches, if you have your upcoming season's schedule made out, would you please mail us one to the Floyd County Times. We are looking forward to the baseball season with great anticipation. Mail to the Floyd County Times, Sports Department, Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

Rhonda Leedy is still on crutches after having reconstructed knee surgery.

Rhonda tells us that she can't wait until the season next year. We have a tournament to get out of the way before next season, Rhonda. Also still on crutches at the Betsy Layne games is Larry Hall, who also suffered knee surgery. Hated to see Larry have to miss his senior year of playing basketball.

It is worth the price of admission to a Wheelwright Trojan game just to hear the Trojan band play. They do an excellent job.

Fans, if you haven't been following high school basketball in Floyd County, you have been missing something special. The season started out mediocre and now we have some teams that have come a long way. Don't miss the upcoming district tournament. It is wide open and anyone can win it. Scheduled to start Feb. 28.

Big match up in the 59th District. Virgie versus Pikeville. Even though Phelps will be the host school, the tournament will be played at Virgie. The Eagles defeated the Panthers 72-70 earlier in the year at Virgie. Never mind that, the thing in this one is that one of these two regional powers will not be going to the regional tournament.

Kentucky Humanities Council seeking board nominations

Kentuckians are invited to submit names to be considered for election to the board of directors of the Kentucky Humanities Council. The 23-member board is composed equally of academic members and members from the public at large.

The council will have openings for both academic and public members, for a four-year term beginning in January, 1991.

Board members attend three meetings a year, evaluate proposals, participate in obtaining and allocating funds, and work on board committees to help determine statewide policy and programs.

Members should be interested in the humanities, dedicated to public service, and committed to increasing cultural enrichment opportunities for Kentucky.

Nominations for the academic openings are sought from every Kentucky institution of higher education except Ashland Community College, Berea College, Henderson Community College, Kentucky State University, Morehead State University, Spalding University, the University of Kentucky and Western Kentucky University, which have faculty members continuing on the board.

Letters of nomination should give the name, address and qualifications of the nominee, including experience and interest in public humanities programs. Interested persons are free to nominate themselves and should not be shy about their qualifications.

Completed letters of nominations are due in the KHC office by June 13, 1990. Successful candidates will be notified by the end of August.

The Kentucky Humanities Council was established in 1972 as the state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities. It promotes public understanding of the humanities through grants, resource services and collaborative efforts with other educational and cultural agencies.

Send letters of nomination to Kentucky Humanities Council, 417 Clifton Ave., University of Kentucky, Lexington, KY 40506-0414, (606) 257-5932.

Chaffins' music now on tape

Ron and Pat Chaffins of Pippa Passes have recently recorded a new cassette tape of contemporary Christian music, titled "Love Will Be Our Home."

The couple has provided programs of music for many churches and civic groups in Floyd, Pike, Johnson, Magoffin and Knott counties.

They have spent the past three years in South Georgia where he was minister of music at Southside Baptist Church in Hazlehurst while completing a Master of Religious Education degree at Luther Rice Seminary in Jacksonville, Fla.

While in Georgia, the couple had many opportunities to serve in the area of Christian music.

They returned to Eastern Kentucky last June. Chaffins is on the staff of Alice Lloyd College and Minister of Music at First Baptist Church of Hindman.

The new tape cassettes are available at Prestonsburg Sundry Store, Judy's in Highland Plaza and the Lighthouse Christian Bookstore.

Coming up to help out

N.C. Holland, foreground, of Savannah, Ga., and Harold Brown of Statesboro, Ga., roadtripped to Floyd County this month, bringing donations of clothing to the Christian Appalachian Project's warehouse in West Prestonsburg. Brown and Holland, both retired, saw the CBS "48 Hours" program in December, which featured Floyd County. "We don't want to be a burden to anyone, but we were really touched by the situation," Holland said. The clothing will be used for emergency clothing needs in the county. The Georgians said they headed north without any prior contact with anyone in the county. They checked first with a local bank for information on where to take the donation and then with the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce before being directed to the CAP facility. ## Mended Hearts hears Patton Big Sandy Chapter 220 of Mended Hearts Inc. held its monthly meeting Feb. 13 at Highlands Regional Medical Center, with 23 members and four guests hearing a presentation on preparing a will by Commonwealth's Attorney Jerry Patton.

Special projects chairpersons Sharon Handshoe reported on the "Smoke Free" program instituted at Porter Elementary School. Ways to get this heart-health program into other schools were discussed, along with ways for raising funds to support this and other programs and services provided by Mended Hearts.

President Maxine Bierman invites other community members to become involved with the organization where all projects are aimed at improving heart health. All services are focused on providing information and support to those faced with or recovering from cardiac disease or surgery.

"Our motto says it all: It's great to be alive — and to help others," said program chairman Freddie Goble. For information on the organization, call 886-6101, 349-3571 or 789-6214.

One year old

Keisha Leanne Akers, daughter of Billy and Lois Vance Akers of Beaver, celebrated her first birthday on Friday, Feb. 9, with a birthday party at her home. She is the granddaughter of Judy Vance and the late Hayes "Cola" Vance of Beaver, Verline Collins of McDowell and George Akers of Price.

Christ UMW meets

The Christ United Methodist Women met at the church at Allen on Tuesday, Feb. 13, for their regular monthly meeting. Vice president Kiki Bentley presided.

Kay Lemaster opened with prayer, and the treasurer's report was given by Debbie Adkins. The minutes were read by secretary Linda Rice.

A date for the Spaghetti Dinner was set for Friday, March 23, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tickets will be available soon for sale.

The final selections for the Christmas Bazaar Committee were made. Those on the committee are Rice, Lemaster, Bentley, Karen Marcum, Jeri Mullins and Lisa Bertrand.

Mullins had the program and the group played the Wheel of Fortune.

The hostesses, Mullins and Rice, served refreshments to members Adkins, Delores Bradley, Cathy Campbell, Tammy Derossett, Cheryl Hughes, Lemaster, Patty May, Marcum, Lois Marshall, Bentley and Bertrand.

Campbell will give the program in March. The hostesses will be Campbell and Adkins.

County Kettle

Dear Betty Crocker

County Kettle

Is a feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653

Betty Crocker has been busily sending tips to the County Kettle and the stack is getting quite large. After sorting through the items, County Kettle has chosen a few that should be beneficial to our readers.

Q. How do lentils compare to navy beans in terms of food value?

A. Lentils, navy beans and most other legumes (except peanuts and soybeans) have about the same number of calories (between 210 and 224). They are low in fat and high in carbohydrates and fiber. One cup of cooked lentils has 212 calories, 15.6 grams protein, a trace of fat and 4/2 milligrams of iron. One cup cooked navy beans has 224 calories, 14.85 grams protein, 1.2 grams of fat and 5.1 milligrams iron.

Q. Why can't you stuff a turkey the day before roasting it?

A. Moist stuffing ingredients and the moist interior of turkey creates an ideal environment for growth of bacteria that can cause food poisoning.

Immediately before roasting turkey, combine stuffing ingredients and fill the turkey lightly, leaving room for the ingredients to expand. Roast as directed.

Q. I recently prepared a cake mix adding eggs, oil and an undrained can of mandarin oranges. It appeared to be done, but fell to half its volume when cooled and had a heavy texture. What do you recommend?

A. Extra ingredients can alter a cake mix formula. For best results, use recipes specially tested for cake mixes.

Q. What causes brownie to rise in the middle, leaving the corners flat and overbaked?

A. Either using too small of a pan for the amount of batter or too hot of an oven. At higher oven temperatures, the crust sets too fast. Batter expands and is forced up and out, resulting in a peak or crack. Reduce oven temperatures 25 degrees if using a glass baking dish.

Q. How long will flour and pasta keep?

A. Flour, stored in a tightly closed container, will keep for one year. Pasta, stored in a cool, dry place will keep for one year.

Q. My banana bread loaf doesn't bake completely on top, what causes this?

A. The pan may be too large. Place bread pan centered on middle position rack in oven to allow even heat distribution.

Q. When frozen zucchini is thawed to use for a recipe, should liquid be drained or used? When I drained the liquid, my zucchini bars were very dry.

A. The liquid should be drained. To avoid dryness, measure flour carefully and do not overbake.

Q. How long can freshly caught fish be refrigerated before they have to be filleted and cooked?

A. Fillet and cook the fish within two hours for optimum flavor. Otherwise, fillet and cook fish within 24 hours or freeze them. Fish can be frozen to eight months.

Q. How can I prevent lettuce from becoming rubbery after a few days' storage?

A. Drain lettuce thoroughly after washing and store in crisper. Moisture softens lettuce.

Q. Why does my angel food cake mix have a circle of cake that rises and separates from the main part of the cake during baking?

A. This is referred to as crowning and some crowning is normal. Too much crowning is caused from a high oven temperature. Check oven temperature using a small thermometer. Place cake on lowest oven rack position to promote proper heat circulation.

Q. What would prevent my cheesecake from cracking after it has cooled for one hour?

A. A high oven temperature, as well as overbaking, can cause cheesecake to crack. Check to be sure your oven temperature is accurate by using a small oven thermometer. Place cheesecake on middle position rack in oven to allow even heat distribution.

Q. What causes a rubbery layer on the bottom of a chocolate chiffon cake?

A. This happens because egg yolk has settled to the bottom of the cake. To prevent this, beat egg whites until stiff and shiny, but not dry. Gently fold egg yolk batter into egg whites just enough to completely blend. Be sure to use vegetable oil rather than melted shortening, butter or margarine.

Q. How long does half-and-half keep after the expiration date on the carton?

A. Expiration codes vary among companies, but generally, half-and-half will keep about five days unopened after expiration date and one or two days opened. Discard half-and-half that has curdled and contains small particles.

Now, how about a recipe for a delicious Chocolate Surprise Cake, complete with frosting. Rich, lush and sumptuous, this is the ultimate dessert to top off an ideal evening.

Perhaps you've invited friends over following a movie. Maybe you prefer a casual evening of games. Or perhaps you're celebrating a family birthday.

Whatever the occasion, this irresistible cake can satisfy everyone's love of chocolate. Flavor two layers with cocoa and vanilla, the third with almond, spread each with chocolate-cream cheese filling and top with milk chocolate frosting.

CHOCOLATE SURPRISE CAKE
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
2 eggs
2-1/4 cups cake flour
1-1/4 tsps baking soda
1/2 tsp baking powder
1/2 tsp salt
1 1/3 cups water
1/3 cup cocoa
1 tsp vanilla
1/4 cup ground almonds, toasted
1/2 tsp almond extract
Chocolate-Cream Cheese Filling (below)
Chocolate Frosting (below)
1/4 cup ground almonds, toasted.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease and flour 3 round pans, 8 x 1-1/2 inches. Beat sugar, shortening and margarine until fluffy; beat in eggs, one at a time. Mix flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt. Mix in alternately with water, beating after each addition just until blended, beginning and ending with flour mixture; reserve 1-2/3 cups batter. Stir cocoa and vanilla into remaining batter until well blended; pour into 2 pans. Fold 1/4 cup almonds and the almond extract into reserved batter until blended; pour into remaining pan.

Bake 15 to 20 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean; cool 10 minutes. Remove from pans; cool layers completely.

Spread 1-1/3 cups chocolate-cream cheese filling between each layer. Frost sides and top with chocolate frosting. Sprinkle top with 1/4 cup almonds; press gently. Refrigerate before serving; immediately refrigerate any remaining cake.

CHOCOLATE-CREAM CHEESE FILLING

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
1-1/4 cup milk
1 package (3-1/2 ounces) instant chocolate pudding
Beat cream cheese and milk until smooth. Beat in instant pudding (dry) until blended; chill 10 minutes.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1 package (6 ounces) milk chocolate chips (1 cup)
3 Tbsps margarine or butter
2-1/4 cups powdered sugar
1/4 cup whipping cream
1 Tbsp coffee liqueur
Heat chocolate in 1-quart saucepan over low heat just until melted. Remove from heat; cool. Beat chocolate and remaining ingredients in large bowl until smooth and desired consistency.

LOCAL FAMILY ATTENDS POTENTATE BALL

The Oleika annual Potentate's Ball was held at the Lexington Hilton Inn, Saturday, Feb. 17, at 6 p.m., honoring the illustrious Sir William Kelly Moore, Potentate, and his Lady, Sue, of Prestonsburg.

Among the many in attendance were eight potentates from eight temples; three from Kentucky and five from Tennessee and Ohio.

Four hundred and two persons were in attendance at this event, and many of these nobles, ladies and guests were from the Floyd County area. These include Potentate Moore's two brothers, Robert Moore and his wife Ann, and their two daughters, Veronica and Tonya Moore, of Prestonsburg, and Tommy Moore and his wife Syble, of Atlanta, Ga., and their daughter Ruth Molloy and her husband Joe of Des Moines, Iowa; Moore's mother, Ella Belle Moore, and their daughter, Kelly Sue Moore with her son Seth, of Prestonsburg.

Oleika Temple is the largest temple in Kentucky, with 5247 members.

Illustrious Sir Kelly Moore is the first Shriner from the area to become Potentate of Oleika Temple in Lexington.

The Moores received many thoughtful gifts as mementos of this occasion.

P'BURG WOMAN'S CLUB REMINDER

Phyllis Herrick, president of the GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club, announces that the club's next regular meeting will be Thursday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. at the Floyd County Library. The theme of the meeting will be "Home Life." The devotional will be presented by Kathryn Poe; the program leader will be Lois George, and the title of the program will be "Financial Planning," with Phillip Elliott of the First Commonwealth Bank, Prestonsburg, as speaker.

The hostesses for this event will be Ditty Tackett, chairperson, and Eve May, Linda Howell, Pauline Sparks, Sue Martin and Roberta Davidson.

The president asks that members of the club's executive board meet at 7 p.m. at this location on that same date.

HEREFORDS IN TOWN TO VISIT FAMILY

Dr. and Mrs. John Hereford and their son, John Robert, were here recently from Kingsport, Tenn., visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hereford and other relatives and attending funeral services for Mrs. J.O. Webb Sr. at the Carter Funeral Home.

P'BURG DAY HOMEMAKERS LEARN OF CONSUMER HEALTH QUACKERY

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers held their first meeting of the club year Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 1 p.m. Dorothy Stover, president, was in charge of the meeting. Fannie Runnels presented the devotionals, including a reading entitled "Let's Talk About Our Hearts," recited (from memory) a poem by John Greenleaf Whittier, and led the group in prayer. The minutes were read by Shirley Callihan, who also gave the financial report.

Members listed as sick were Mary Jane Brown, Maman Leslie and Clara Cass (Lucy Regan's sister).

It was announced that club member Judy Kittle has a new grandson.

"Happy birthday" was sung for Dorothy Osborne, Rose Glenn and Docia Woods.

Dorothy Stover gave the lesson on "Consumer Health Quackery" and conducted a "Health Quack Quiz." Frances Pitts distributed literature entitled "The Voice of the Quack."

The hostesses, Hope Whitten and Myrtle Allen, were assisted by Jane Wallace in serving cake and other refreshments, with coffee and soft drinks to Pitts, Stover, Runnels, Callihan, Osborne, Glenn, Woods, Beverly Hackworth, Ruby Lamping, Peg Hewlett, Mable Donahoe, Ann Alley, Eleanor Horn, Mary Sue Moore, Mildred Branham and Barbara Dawson.

The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, March 13, at 1 p.m. at this same location, with Mildred Branham, Mary Sue Moore and Dorothy Osborne as hostesses. The Homemakers' thought for the month of March will be "A smile is a light in the window of the face, which shows the heart is at home."

CLARIFICATION

A portion of an item about the dedication of the Family Center at the First United Methodist Church in last week's paper should have read:

Speaking briefly were the Rev. Harold Hunter, superintendent of the Ashland Methodist District, the Rev. Quentin Scholtz, pastor of the host church, and E.E. "Bud" Glenn, a member of this church.

Gary Brown, another member there, sang a solo he had written for this special occasion.

MEECE BAPTIZED AT SUNDAY SERVICES

During services at the First United Methodist Church this past Sunday, Carrie Meece, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Meece II, was baptized by the pastor, the Rev. Quentin Scholtz.

The younger Meece is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meece Sr. of Prestonsburg.

ORMEROD RECOVERING AFTER SURGERY

C.V. Ormerod is recuperating nicely at his home after undergoing surgery at the Humana Hospital in Louisville. Mrs. Ormerod and their son and daughter-in-law, Mike and Della Ormerod, were with him during his hospitalization.

ILL AND SHUT-IN LISTED

Among the sick and shut-ins of Prestonsburg and vicinity are Mary Jane Brown, George Brown, Maman Leslie, Clara Cass, Richard "Dick" Spurlock, Stanley Combs, "Baby Annie" Stumbo, Anna Laura May, Anna May Mellon, Ollie Wells, Sally Goble, Nell Howard, Ethel Akers, Lucy Ransdell, Thomas Hereford, Emily Salyers, Eula Branham, Dorothy Sturgill, Cynthia Frasure, Beatrice Collins, Margaret Spradlin, Eunice Lafferty and C.V. Ormerod.

Among those Floyd Countians who presently reside elsewhere and are ill or shut-in are Keenie Hill, Mary Auxier Ford, Goldia Wicker, Lena Porter, Sue Herrin, Bernice Porter, Cora Smith and Irene Dorsey.

The very best is wished for all of them.

ADAH CHAPTER MEETS

Adah Chapter #24, Order of the Eastern Star, met Monday, Feb. 12, at 7 p.m. The business session was conducted by Mollie Hyden, worthy matron.

Following the meeting, refreshments of cake, punch and nuts were served from a table decorated in the Valentine motif.

Hyden announced that an initiation will be held Saturday, Feb. 24, at 7 p.m. with refreshments to be served at 6 p.m. She asks that members bring either salads, desserts or sandwiches for this event.

Present for this meeting were Hyden, Paulena Owens, Meg Gray, Manis Gray, Shelby Willis, Donald Willis, Lorena Wallen, Lillia Mae Price, Belle Conn, Ronald Hebner, Nell Hebner, Eunice Lafferty, Patsy Evans, Polly Sparks, Mary Fay Hunt, Janie Hicks, Onda Shea Hunt, Burieta Gearhart and Lois May.

The next regular meeting will be held Monday, Feb. 26, at 7 p.m. at the Lodge Hall.

SHOWER FOR VICTIMS OF FIRE A SUCCESS

Virginia S. Goble, Sallie Mae Goble and Mary Zemo were hostesses for a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, Feb. 16, at the Cow Creek church Annex for Bennett and Debbie Leslie, who recently lost their home and other belongings to fire.

The room was decorated in a Valentine motif. From a table covered with a white linen cloth and centered by a bouquet of red and white flowers intertwined with greenery, the hostess served refreshments of cake, mints, nuts, punch and coffee to the large crowd of relatives and friends who called throughout the evening, bringing many useful and attractive items and monetary gifts. Several others, who could not attend, sent gifts.

The couple would like to offer their sincere thanks to all who so willingly helped them in their time of need, and to The Floyd County Times for announcing this event at no charge.

LAMPLIGHTERS CLUB PREPARES FOR CONCERT

Members of the Lamplighters Club of the First Baptist Church of Prestonsburg held their weekly meeting Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 3:45 at the church.

Patsy Evans conducted the meeting. Tom Foy, director of music, discussed with the group the preparation of robes to be used in the Easter Cantata, to be presented at the church on Palm Sunday, April 8, during morning services, and practiced with them songs for this event.

Evans asked that members of this group observing birthdays this month, submit their names to her during the next meeting, which was scheduled for Monday, Feb. 19. She served Valentine candy to those in attendance.

Present were The Rev. Steve Hopkins, Foy, Evans, John Evans, Dolly Pettrey, Bill Pettrey, Myrtle Allen, Ruby Lamping, Ada Meade, Rhoda Tussey, Harmon Tussey, Rebecca Rasnick and Docia Woods.

These meetings are held each Tuesday at 3:45 p.m. at this church and an invitation is extended to the public to attend.

PUBLIC NOTIFICATION FOR INFORMING THE PUBLIC OF POSSIBLE IMPACT TO AN IMPORTANT LAND RESOURCE

City of Martin

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) is considering a preapplication for financial assistance sponsored by the City of Martin, SAI# KY890424-0429. The specific elements of this proposed action are the construction of a new 120,000 gpd wastewater treatment plant, rehabilitation of the existing sewer system, and the extension of sewer lines to serve the Old Post Office Road and River Bottom areas of Martin.

If implemented, the proposed action would impact the floodplain of Beaver Creek. The purpose of this notice is to inform the public of this possible result and to request comments concerning (1) the impacts of the proposed location on the floodplain, (2) alternative sites or actions that would avoid these impacts, and (3) methods that could be used to reduce these impacts.

The proposed action is available for review at the FmHA District Office, Omar Catron Building, Main & Washington Street, Campton, Kentucky 41301.

Any person interested in commenting on the proposed action may do so by sending such comments within thirty (30) days following the date of this publication to Ms. Mary Ann Baron, State Director, Farmers Home Administration, 333 Waller Avenue, Lexington, Kentucky 40504.

Hazel Bailey Is Fighting Cancer With A Tough, New Team On Her Side.

Last April, 73 year old Hazel Bailey, from Martin County Kentucky, began her fight with cancer. It was serious, involving her abdominal and pelvic regions, liver and an area near her heart. There was no time to lose.

Immediately following surgery in Lexington, Hazel was referred to Highlands for chemotherapy—specialized chemical treatments. Hazel was able to return home, visiting Highlands every four weeks for her "chemo".

Hazel found she now has a tough, new team on her side. The new Cancer Program at Highlands now offers expanded outpatient and chemotherapy services. A tough team with a caring touch.

Says Hazel, "they're good to me... every one of them, the nurses and everyone. When I go in there they all grab me and hug me and love me..."

Until there's a cure for cancer, we can only improve the ways we find it and treat it. And at Highlands, we keep getting better at getting you better, a whole lot closer to home.

A Sobering Thought

SOME FACTS ABOUT MARIJUANA

Question: What is marijuana?

Answer: Marijuana (grass, pot, weed) is the common name for a drug made from the leaves and flowering tops of the Indian Hemp plant (Cannabis Sativa). The main mind-altering ingredient in marijuana is THC, but more than 400 other chemicals also are in the plant. The amount of THC in the marijuana determines how strong its effects will be.

Question: What are some effects of smoking marijuana?

Answer: Studies on marijuana's mental effects show that the drug can impair or reduce short-term memory, alter sense of time, and reduce ability to do things which require concentration, swift reactions and coordination, such as driving a car or operating machinery. Smoking marijuana also causes lung damage, affects sex hormone levels and puts strain on the heart by increasing the heart rate as much as 50 percent.

Question: What are the dangers for young people?

Answer: Research shows that the earlier people start using drugs, the more likely they are to go on to experiment with other drugs. In addition, the effects of marijuana can interfere with learning by impairing thinking, reading comprehension and verbal and mathematical skills. Research shows that students do not remember what they have learned when they are "high."

In a recent paper, we listed Trudy Little as "Trudy Hicks" in error. We apologize for this error and any inconvenience it may have caused. We wish the Littles much happiness with their new baby boy, Carl Everett.

Leonard Ferguson was home from Michigan to attend the funeral of Georgia Keene. Ferguson is formerly from Martin. Our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Keene.

Congratulations to Bat and Flo Bartrum of Martin on the birth of their son, Bryan Emory, born on Feb.

To wed Saturday

Larry and Gwen Stratton of Ivel and Carlos and Anna Sue Akers of Harold announce the marriage of their children, Vanessa Stratton and Devon Akers. The wedding will be Saturday, Feb. 24, at 2 p.m. in the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church. The gracious custom of open wedding will be observed, and a reception will immediately follow the ceremony in the basement of the church.

American DreamBaby

Brittany Nicole Rose, three-year-old daughter of Charley and Orlee Rose of Harold, was crowned American Dream Baby and received a five-foot trophy at the Appalachian Beauty pageant at the Holiday Inn, Prestonsburg, Sunday, Feb. 4. She also received trophies for most photogenic, prettiest dress and beauty runnerup, and a plaque for second runnerup in sportswear. She is the granddaughter of the late Luther Hall and Allene Hall of Harold and Jimmy Rose and Elizabeth Rose, both of Betsy Layne.

5. Bryan weighed 8 pounds, 6 ounces at birth. The Bartrums have three other children: Jessica, Casey and Brett.

Myrtle Hunter has been down with the flu. She and husband Woodrow enjoyed having their children over for a visit recently.

Polly Justice had as a guest in her home last Sunday her cousin Hazel whom she hadn't seen for quite a while. The two enjoyed visiting with one another, talking and catching up on all the news.

Warm temperatures may nip plants in their buds

UK College of Agriculture News
Warm temperatures throughout January and continuing into mid-February may have tempted some fruit crops into breaking dormancy earlier than usual. As a result, a sudden cold snap could damage flower buds.

"Unusually warm weather has resulted in fruit trees dehardening prematurely. If the weather turns cold really fast, the buds could be destroyed," said Jerry Brown, University of Kentucky Extension horticulturist.

Brown explained that it's not only how low the temperatures dip, but also how fast they drop that causes the problem for plants.

"It's like falling from a tall building. The fall doesn't hurt you but the sudden stop does," Brown said.

Plants harden and deharden as a means of adjusting to temperature changes. If the temperature drops too much, however, the plants may not have time to adjust and that's when buds get nipped.

Already, this year's harvest of peaches has been damaged by an Arctic cold blast in December that sent temperatures plummeting into the negative teens, Brown explained.

Completes training

Private Willis B. Bentley Jr., has completed basic training at the US Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga. His instruction included weapons qualification, tactics, patrolling, land mine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Pvt. Bentley received an expert qualification on the M60 machine gun, 9 mm pistol, M203 grenade launcher and hand grenades. He is the son of Willis and Joann Bentley of Buckingham, W. Va., formerly of Langley, and the husband of the former Michele Stephens. Recently back from Panama, he is stationed at Fort Ord, Cal., with the 21st Infantry Division.

An additional blow to what remains of the peach crop could come if the weather turns cold quickly.

The state's apple crop fared better through the December onslaught, but could get damaged still.

The probability that cold weather will return is good, but whether temperatures will drop so fast and low that the plants get zapped is problematic, said Tom Priddy, UK Extension meteorologist.

"It is almost certain that we will have below freezing temperatures yet this winter," he said. "However, fruit plants can tolerate below freezing temperatures if they have time to adjust."

Study shows plus of seat belt use

Children involved in automobile accidents who wear seat belts or ride in safety seats are likely to be hospitalized for shorter periods of time and have lower hospital bills. This is the latest information from a one-year seat-belt study done by Kosair Children's Hospital trauma personnel.

The study, which monitored patients from August 1988 to August 1989, showed that the average hospital stay for children in safety restraints was 3.5 days, at an average cost of $4,149 per patient. Unrestrained occupants stayed an average of 4.2 days with an average cost of $5,158—a 24 percent increase.

GOING FOR THE BURN

Heartburn is characterized by the burning chest pain that can mimic the pain of heart disease. Usually a result of overeating, heartburn occurs when the ring-shaped muscle (esophageal sphincter) at the entrance to the stomach relaxes inappropriately or is simply weak. As a result, stomach acid backs up into the esophagus (food tube) and causes the burning sensation. These attacks may be prevented by cutting back on the sunsumption of fat, coffee, chocolate, alcohol, and cigarettes, all of which relax the esophageal sphincter. When heartburn does strike, over-the-counter antacids will help by neutralizing stomach acid. A chronic condition may require prescription medications which suppress acid secretion.

Your pharmacist, like your physician, is well-versed on the various antacids available on the market today. It is our goal to service the needs of this community with quality products and personal attention. It is also our responsibility to see that all medications are accurately filled and used for their intended purposes. COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your pharmacy. Please feel free to turn to us for advice or information. Here at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106 we also offer honor MasterCard and Visa plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon.-Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: The U.S.F.D.A. recently approved the prescription drug omeprazole for severe acid-related disorders, which shuts down stomach-acid production

Books & Things

By Trisha Morris, PCC Librarian

Our society is plagued with problems. Students do reports on them, newspapers write about them, and television brings them into our living rooms.

The following books from the Prestonsburg Community College Library are about a few of our social problems: divorces, homelessness, the ecology, capital punishment and domestic violence.

Disappearing Rainforest by Robert Prosser. Most readers have heard about the worldwide plight of rainforests. Here Prosser gives a concise, clear account of this growing global problem. He shocks us with the statistic that 40 hectares (99 acres) of tropical rainforests are being destroyed each minute and he predicts that, unless something is done, in as little as 50 years there will be no rainforest left anywhere in the world.

The author clearly describes the structure of rainforests and points out that possibly half of all plant and animal species in the world live in these regions.

Prosser tells the interesting story of the Nuaulu people of Indonesia who live in the forest and the touching tale of the endangered mountain gorillas who need the luxuriant vegetation that the rainforests provide to survive.

This little book, with its clearly labeled pictures, diagrams and narration, is an excellent introduction to

Reviewed This Week:
Disappearing Rainforests
Rachel and Her Children
Second Chances
Death Penalty for Juveniles
Violent Men, Violent Couples

what rainforests are and why they are important to this world's survival.

Rachel and Her Children by Jonathan Kozol. Homelessness in the United States is at epidemic proportions—current estimates are three to four million. These numbers include more than half a million children living in shelters, welfare hotels or on the streets. Kozol tells us that, since the beginning of the '80s, homelessness has radically changed its character. "What was once a theater of the grotesque has grown into the common misery of millions."

Kozol spent months among the homeless. Their depressing stories, interwoven with his commentaries, tell of infant deaths, malnutrition, hunger, loss of dignity and desperation. He spotlights the bureaucratic mechanisms that separate families, the indifference of many communities and he emphasizes the urgent need for low-cost housing.

Rachel and Her Children reveals what it means to be homeless and attempts to tell why so many people reach this desperate state.

Second Chances by Judith Wallerstein. This landmark sociological work is a picture of divorce unlike any seen in print before. Based on 15 years of following 60 middle-class families through and after the shattering impact of divorce, it provides a comprehensive account of the long-term emotional, economic and psychological effects of divorce on adults and their children.

Through the actual experiences of these very different families, Dr. Wallerstein explores at first hand the complexities, tragedies, and opportunities inherent in dissolving the legal family bonds. She has watched adults as they reorganize their lives and she has seen their children come of age and form relationships of their own. These life stories bring home, more powerfully than any statistics, how divorce is reshaping the American family and how the fact that one in every two marriages ends in divorce affects our entire society.

Eloquent and deeply moving, Second Chances questions the new values of our society—personal success and self-fulfillment—and suggests that, maybe, an intact family is worth personal sacrifices.

Death Penalty for Juveniles by Victor Streib. The author's riveting study lays bare the complex legal environment which has allowed the execution of juveniles to continue throughout American history, and it identifies a current trend among legislatures and political leaders to abolish it.

Streib has divided this study of capital punishment for juveniles into four distinct parts: Part I provides a detailed explanation of the legal issues involved; Part II presents an overview of known juvenile executions, along with case histories of the crimes; Part III describes American juvenile death sentencing practices in the '80s and examines the cases of juveniles now on death row, and the summary offers his prognosis and suggestions for change.

Victor Streib, professor of law at Cleveland-Marshall University and frequent defense attorney for juvenile offenders, has written a book that opens the door to a world few people know. His wealth of information and insightful analysis presents a complete picture of an explosive problem that plagues American society.

Violent Men, Violent Couples by Anson Shupe. Until now, studies about family violence have dealt primarily with its victims—usually women. This book studies the perpetrators—usually men. The author presents an overview of family violence and the misdirected ideologies, vested interests and conflicts found in the programs that have arisen to combat it.

In these pages Shupe, Doctor of Sociology at Indiana University, examines the obvious reasons for male violence—stress, previous training, and traumatic childhood experience—and goes on to spotlight the culture of male violence. He explores violence in active military families. In conclusion, he sets forth his idea for using religion to find an answer to the problem of domestic violence.

Since the problem is not always men abusing women, Shupe devotes a section to the subject of women's violence toward men. He addresses women using violence in self defense, as a complement to their males' abusive action, or against nonviolent men.

The book was written to serve as a reference to counselors and policy makers, but its insightful and clearly written style makes it easy to reference by anyone interested in this subject.

Training completed

Pvt. Bryon K. Sturgill had completed training at the US Army Infantry School in Fort Benning, Ga. During the course, students received training which qualified them as light weapons infantrymen and as indirect-fire crewmen in a rifle or mortar squad. Instruction included weapons qualifications, tactics, patrolling, land mine warfare, field communications and combat operations. He is the son of Leonard and Ethel Sturgill of Betsy Layne and a 1982 graduate of Betsy Layne High School.

First birthday

Timothy Malcolm Prater, son of Tim and Joyce Prater of Hueysville, celebrated his first birthday on Tuesday, Feb. 6. He is the grandson of Lewis and Oga Combs of Hueysville and the late Malcolm and Stella Conley Prater.

Film wins national award

A documentary film on Kentuckians for the Commonwealth's campaign against the broad-form deed has merited a national award for its producer, Appalshop Films Inc. of Whitesburg.

The film, "On Our Own Land," received an Alfred I. duPont-Columbia University award for best independent television production. The 30-minute documentary was originally aired in 1988 on Kentucky Educational Television, as part of KET's Headwaters series.

The production follows the citizens action group as they work to change the law permitting strip mining on private land without the owner's consent. Shot primarily in Perry County, it includes confrontation with coal company officials and lobbying the General Assembly. A constitutional amendment repealing the law was approved by voters in the 1988 general election.

The duPont awards, given by Columbia University for excellence in broadcast journalism, were announced at a Jan. 25 ceremony at the New York university. The awards program, with highlights from the Appalshop film, will air on KET Feb. 18 at 10 p.m.

Elliott group looks for historical data

A group in Elliott County (Sandy Hook) is looking for historical information on persons who settled and lived in the county for a history of the county to be published next year.

Among the projects of the historical committee is to compile a list of marriages that took place in Elliott County between 1869 and 1934. The marriage books for those years were destroyed in a courthouse fire.

Specifically, the group wants persons who know of marriages during those years to list the name of the bride and groom, date of the marriage and any other information, such as who performed the marriage, where the marriage took place and names of witnesses.

The information should be sent to Flora I. Whitley, HC 77, Box 340, Stephens, KY 41177; telephone 738-5292 after 5 p.m.

Foundation offers free trees to members

Ten free white flowering dogwood trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during February 1990.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

"The white flowering dogwoods will add year-round beauty to your home and neighborhood," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "Dogwoods have showy spring flowers, scarlet autumn foliage and red berries which attract songbirds all winter."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting between March 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12 inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to TEN DOGWOODS, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410, by Wednesday, Feb. 28.

Area history class planned for PCC

The developmental and social history of the Big Sandy area will be the topic of a three-week series of classes offered at Prestonsburg Community College, beginning March 1.

Bob Castle, president of the Floyd County Genealogical Association, will conduct the classes which he describes as dealing with the "rise and fall of practically everybody!"

The course will trace the economic development of the coal industry and its impact on the culture of the Appalachian farmer. A brief historical account of the settlements of this area will be presented. Both primary and published source materials will be used.

Classes will meet from 7-9 p.m. in room 109 of the Magoffin building at PCC.

For more information on this and other non-credit classes, call PCC's office of continuing education and community services, 886-3863, ext. 278.

James Still honored at MSU

Appalachian author James Still, left, was guest of honor at a reception recently hosted by Morehead State University's Camden-Carroll Library to commemorate the 50th anniversary of his first novel, "River of Earth." During the event, held in the library's James Still Room, the poet and novelist talked with students, faculty members and townspeople and autographed copies of his work. Among those stopping by to visit with Still were Dr. Rose Orlich, right, MSU professor of English, and Dr. Charles J. Pelfrey of Olive Hill, professor emeritus of English and former department chair. Still was an associate professor of English at MSU from 1962 to 1970.

Thornsbury is Homecoming Queen

Wheelwright High School held its annual homecoming festivities Friday, Feb. 9. Crowned queen was Melissa Thornsbury, 17-year-old daughter of Clark and Sylvia Thornsbury of Wheelwright.

She was escorted by her boyfriend, Randy Boyd, who is also a 17-year-old senior at WHS. He is the son of Randy and Phyllis Boyd of Wheelwright.

The Trojans took on the Tigers of Mullins High School directly after homecoming.

The queen's court consisted of four young ladies representing the junior and senior classes at Wheelwright High School.

Shelia Branham, a 17-year-old senior and the daughter of Reba Branham, was escorted by Chad Hall. He is a 17-year-old senior and the son of Terry Hall and Mitzi Crisp.

Haley Caudill is the 18-year-old daughter of Cruse and Shirley Caudill. She is a senior and was escorted by Harold Johnson, 16-year-old son of Katie and Harold Johnson.

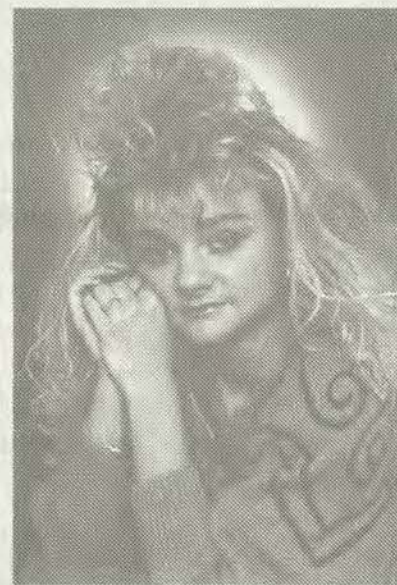

Janice Wright, 17-year-old daughter of Sherry Wright and Earl Wright, is a senior this year. She was escorted by Shane McCoy, 16-year-old son of Gary and Tonda McCoy.

Stacy Yonts is a junior and the 17-year-old daughter of Tommy and Yvonne Yonts. She was escorted by Steven Johnson, 17-year-old son of Arnold Ray and Joan Johnson.

The crown bearer for the homecoming court was Samantha Osborne. She is a sophomore and the 15-year-old daughter of Jerry Little.

This year there were two flower girls, both sophomores: Kelly McKay, 15-year-old daughter of Charles and Wilma McKay, and Faye Owens, 15-year-old daughter of Dewey and

Free GED tests with vouchers

Paul E. Patton, director of the GED Foundation, and the GED Foundation Board of Trustees announce the expansion of the test's free vouchers program.

Last year Columbia Gas sponsored these vouchers in the 33 counties served by the company. The GED Foundation is expanding this program to the entire 120 counties in Kentucky. The vouchers are made possible by donations from businesses, industries and individuals.

The vouchers are to be used to provide individuals, who are prepared to take the GED test and have a financial need, with a $10 test free voucher. Vouchers are requested by the instructor at the local adult education center after the individual has been pre-tested. The vouchers are then mailed directly to the individual.

The GED Foundation has made available 1000 of these vouchers. The foundation, in conjunction with the Kentucky Department of Education, KET and Martha's GED Army, is dedicated to raising the educational level of the state's adult population. The test free voucher program is one of many programs designed by the GED Foundation to assist individuals in obtaining their GED.

4-H News

On Saturday, Feb. 3, the Floyd County 4-H Teen Council met at the Prestonsburg Pizza Hut. Willard Knipp, 4-H County Extension Agent, headed the program.

Some of the things that were discussed were ideas about 4-H Summer Camp, State 4-H activities and upcoming area events. The meeting concluded with a discussion on how to involve more people in the program.

Those in attendance were Chantel Reed, Kelly Hairston and Ronnie Leedy from Allen Central High School; Becky Stephens and Nora Stephens from McDowell High School; Brian Boyd from Betsy Layne High School and Greta Heintzelman and Jennifer Reed from Garrett Elementary. Robbie Mayton from Stanville was present as an observer.

Marcelli Trimble and Brett Huff from Johnson County represented the Area Teen Council and led discussion on several topics.

The next meeting will be on Monday, March 19.

'Ooh' and 'Ah'

Osborne Elementary students of Sherry Jones and Sandy Daniels visited Wheelwright High School's Biology II class recently and were awed by the birds, hamsters, fish, guinea pigs and other small animals that make up the class's menagerie. WHS biology teacher Doris Osborne and her students welcomed the visitors and introduced them to the furry and feathered creatures. Cries of "I want to hold it next!" contrasted with adamant squeals of "No!" when the children were given the opportunity to hold the tiny animals. Other visitors are invited to see the biology class's collection, according to the WHS class members. To reserve a date, call Doris Osborne at 452-2110. In the top photos, Davina Reed and Wendell Tackett demonstrate their courage in holding the animals. Learning about another critter, bottom, are Brandi Damron, Randall Mathews, Josh Newman, Jeffery King and Chassidy Tackett.

Get The Most From Parent-Teacher Conferences

When parents and teachers work together, they make an unbeatable team. And parent conferences can help build the teamwork that helps kids learn better.

Some planning by parents can help make conferences a success:

1. Think about what you want to learn in the conference. Prepare some questions.
  - *How is my child doing in class?
  - *Does my child use time well?
  - *Does he/she have good work habits?
  - *Does my child usually turn in homework?
  - *Does he/she have missed assignments?
  - *Does my child have friends? How well does he/she get along with others?
  - *What can I do at home to support what you are doing?
2. Talk with your child. Ask what he/she thinks the teacher will say. Ask if he/she has any concerns. And talk about likes, dislikes, problems, and successes.

Local students featured at MSU

The art works of three Floyd County students at Morehead State University are being featured in exhibits this month.

Cynthia C. Osborne of Hi Hat is among 16 MSU undergraduates whose work is on display, Feb. 19-March 16, in the art gallery at Indiana University Southeast in New Albany, Ind. MSU and the University of Southern Indiana in Evansville were the only two schools invited to participate in the Intra-Valley Invitational Exhibit '90.

Osborne, whose work in oil is on display, is the daughter of Jesse Osborne of Hi Hat.

The works of June Hamilton of Grethel and David J. Wallen of Prestonsburg are on display in the gallery of Claypool-Young Art Building at MSU through March 9. They are among 21 MSU students to have works included in the exhibit.

Hamilton's work includes "The Law According to Moses" and "Series" 1 to 3, in egg tempera; "Intimate Moment," photo, and "Untitled," mixed media collage. A junior majoring in art and secondary education, she is the daughter of the late Vadia Savage and Robert K. Savage of Denver, Col.

Works by Wallen include "Misty Morning" and "Country Spice", watercolors, and "The Bear," oil painting. A junior art major, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sammy K. Wallen of Prestonsburg.

Also included in the campus student exhibit is work by David Castle, son of Clyde and Opal Castle of Paintsville.

BLHS nursery program holds reception

Proud of education

The teen parents participating in the nursery program at Betsy Layne High School recently held an open-house to show off the new nursery. Showing off their classroom are (from left) babies Courtney Hall, Marcus and Michael Tackett, Michael Anthony Rose and Chad Conn Jr.; adults, nursery supervisor Vonda Hamilton, Jennifer Akers, nursery volunteer Tracy Kidd, Donna Rose and Denise Conn.

The Betsy Layne High School teen parents entertained recently with an Open House to allow interested business and community leaders to observe the nursery facility at BLHS.

Marsha Robertson of the Office of Equal Vocational Programs, Kentucky Department of Education, who oversees the Single parent Homemakers Programs across the state, was present for the reception.

The purpose of Robertson's visit was to observe the progress of the program in preparation for funding decisions for the 1991 year. The Betsy Layne program has since been notified that funding is renewed for the coming year.

Special guests attending were Rose Price of the Christian Appalachian Project of Martin and Doug Hicks of Kentucky Power Company. Price presented the nursery with a gift of six crib mobiles. Hicks, chairperson of the home economics advisory council for BLHS, offers advice on matters relating to the curriculum and daily operation of the home economics department.

Others attending were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mulkey, Denise Conn and her son Chad Jr., Donna Rose and her son Michael Anthony, Jennifer Akers and her twin sons Michael and Marcus Tackett, Rhoda Mae Hall and her daughter Courtney and nursery workers Vonda Hamilton, Patty Tackett, Vickie Watkins, Crystal Bryant, Lola Kidd, Michelle Blackburn, Tracy Kidd and Patty Williams.

School staff members who attended were Reba Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stewart, Jeffrey Sam-mons, Robert Kiser, Anne Welch, Sherry Pennington and Vickie Ratliff.

Future Homemakers of America members who assisted in the preparation of a dessert buffet were Hershell Conley, Andrea Clark, Delana Boyd, Vickie Watkins, Crystal Bryant, Tanis Kidd, Melissa Adkins, Patty Tackett and Sygonda Boyd.

Lady Liberty is KET subject

The Statue of Liberty, after nearly a century of raising her torch to freedom, is tired and worn. Her internal framework has fallen victim to age and the elements and she has been in danger of collapse.

The artistry and craftsmanship necessary to save such national treasures are the focus of "The Future of the Past," airing on KET at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Feb. 28.

Nature brings wind and rain, and society contributes air pollution and acid rain. The program segments feature scientists looking for ways to undo nature's normal processes of decay and destruction. For these scientists, the laboratory may be a museum, cathedral, monument or architectural masterpiece.

"The Future of the Past" examines the process of restoration and preservation of the fabled Parthenon in Athens, Greece, the Statue of Liberty, and majestic stained glass windows in West Germany's Cologne Cathedral. Viewers will travel from Florence, Italy, where restoration of irreplaceable artworks was triggered by the devastating flood of 1966, to California, where engineers work to develop imaginative ways to protect fragile statues in the J. Paul Getty Museum from the inevitable earthquakes.

The City of Martin is considering improvements and additions to its Wastewater Treatment System as a Small Cities CDBG Project. A portion of the project is located in the 100 year flood plain. To rehabilitate the existing system and to extend sewer lines into unserved areas of the City, it is necessary to carry out this project in the flood plain. The city is interested in discussing alternatives to the project and securing public perceptions of possible adverse impacts that could result from the project and possible minimization measures. ## Betsy Layne Academic Team goes to Region

On Saturday, Feb. 10 the Betsy Layne High School Academic Team competed in the Governor's Cup District tournament at McDowell High School.

In written assessment, the winners were: in science, Donnie Akers, second place and Dwayne Stevens, third place; English Composition, Joella Jones, second place, and Leigh Smith, fourth place; mathematics, Hiro Yazawa, first place; social studies, Keith Tabor, fourth place; and language arts, Leigh Ann Smith, second place.

These students will compete in their respective categories during the regional competition. In quick recall, BLHS defeated McDowell by eight points in the first game, but was defeated by Prestonsburg in the second. This earned BLHS second place in quick recall, which qualifies the team to compete in one regional competition on Saturday, Feb. 24, at Prestonsburg.

MSU grant to assist area teachers

Morehead State University has received a grant to continue the development and establishment of alliances with Eastern Kentucky science and math teachers.

MSU serves as the administrative agent for District 6 which includes 25 counties. The alliance, funded for the third year by a $10,000 grant from the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, is composed of teachers who have formed communication networks to help each other in identifying and accessing resources.

Dr. John C. Philley, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and district coordinator for the project, said he is pleased with the progress made during the last year. "We have been successful in reinforcing groups in Boyd, Perry and Floyd counties," he said. "We would like to see every county in the district served by the alliance group."

The primary goal is to provide a mechanism by which teachers can effectively communicate with one another to enrich their instruction and enhance student learning in the science and math fields, Philley noted. "That communication should begin with the elementary level and continue through higher education, joining common interests and disciplines," he said.

Philley sees the next year of the alliance to be a continuation of reinforcement and reestablishment with the added goals of a periodic communication and an annual conference. The grant period runs through September.

Exchange program seeks participants

Host families for foreign exchange students, as well as American high school students interested in studying abroad, are being sought for the 1990-91 academic year by the American Intercultural Student Exchange.

Host families are needed for students aged 15-17 from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, Portugal, France, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, Thailand and Yugoslavia. All of the students are fluent in English and have been screened by school representatives in their home countries and have spending money and insurance, according to an exchange spokesperson.

American high school students, 15-17 years old, are also being sought to spend a high school year in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain, New Zealand or Australia. A five-week summer host family stay throughout Western Europe for American teens is also available.

BLHS speech class vies in KHSSL

Members of Mrs. Hall's speech and drama class traveled to Knott County Central High School, Monday, Feb. 5, to participate in the Kentucky High School Speech League regional competition.

The competition was divided into 10 categories: extemporaneous speaking, duo acting, dramatic interpretation, poetry interpretation, humorous interpretation, radio broadcasting, solo acting, prose interpretation, story telling and oratory. The students were judged on their use of manuscript, voice projection and diction, their selection and introduction.

Participants from Betsy Layne were Andrea Newsome and Patty Mead, radio broadcasting; Teresa Spears, oratory; and Leigh Ann Smith, poetry interpretation.

Newsome and Smith each received a superior rating in their respective categories. On Friday, March 16, they will travel to Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green, where they will compete on the state level.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application
Number 836-5138, Revision

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Coal Mac, Inc., P.O. Box 3428, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501 has filed an application for a major revision to an existing underground coal mining and reclamation operation. This major revision proposes to add an additional 0.44 acre of surface disturbance for a total proposed permit acreage of 879.28 acres located 1.6 miles west of Teaberry in Floyd County, Kentucky.

The proposed major revision area is approximately 0.95 mile southwest from Dry Branch Road's junction with Kentucky Route 979 and located 0.1 mile west of Dry Branch. The latitude is 37-25' 24". The longitude is 82-39' 41".

The proposed major revision is located on the McDowell U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be affected by this major revision is owned by Carmel and Marie Clark.

This major revision proposes to enlarge coal stockpile area for mine no. 3 and haul road F between Mines No. 2 and No. 3 and to reclassify the stream relocations as diversion ditches. The application also includes a proposed land use change from the forestland premining land use to a wildlife habitat with permanent roads post mining land use.

This major revision application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 503 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. 2-14-4tW.
