"No more promises"; road projects to begin soon

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

Saying he's tired of state officials making promises that aren't kept, state Secretary of Transportation Milo Bryant made a number of significant promises he says he'll keep to the people of Floyd County, as he toured the roads of Left Beaver and Mud Creek Saturday, talking with local residents. Speaking at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn and at the John M. Stumbo Elementary School at Mud Creek, Bryant outlined future road construction projects for the county. Included in the plan is the completion of 13 miles of US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville, construction of a link between KY 80 at Garrett and KY 122 at McDowell, the resurfacing of sections of KY 122, and a $16 million project to add passing lanes and guardrails to 20 miles of KY 979 at Mud Creek.

Bryant spoke Saturday morning to a gathering of 75 local citizens and dignitaries in Prestonsburg, seeking support for his $700 million road bond bill, which has passed the state senate, and is under consideration by the General Assembly.

"We are very serious about the importance of this bond program," said Bryant. "If this bill (HB 929) doesn't pass, our road funding will have to come out of money allocated for other projects. That would mean that many road programs would have to be cut."

Bryant said that responsible legislators could not vote against the bill, citing the numerous emergency road situations existing around the state, including Floyd County.

These emergency road situations are apparently what prompted local leaders to request Bryant to conduct a road tour within the county, examining dangerous sections of secondary roads in the area.

"I enjoy these trips out of Frankfort, to see and meet people, and to get to know their problems," said Bryant.

"I've come to see first hand emergency road situations, particularly those which involve roads where school buses and coal trucks run, that are potentially dangerous."

In keeping with his decision to see problem sections of the county's road system, Bryant and a small entourage of state highway engineers and local politicians, including Sen. Benny Ray Bailey, Rep. Greg Stumbo, and Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, began the tour by driving up Left Beaver on KY 122.

A stop at the dilapidated, 63-year-old Hunter Bridge provided Bryant and other officials with a clearer pic-

Springlike skies

Spring seems to be upon us, with a mixture of sun, rain and gentle temperatures called for over the next few days.

Wednesday will be partly sunny and warm, with a high in the lower 60s. Wednesday night will cloud up, with lows near 40 and a 40 percent chance of showers.

Thursday looks to be continued damp but warm, with a 60 percent chance of showers and highs between 55 and 60. Well, at least it's good for the flowers.

Housekeeping...

When you open this week's edition of The Times to the inside sections, you might note that we've changed the sections from number designations to letters. Hence, this front section, formerly section one, is now Section A;

Sports is Section B, and Lifestyles, Section C. The reason for this slight change is twofold: first, it's a little more modern, and second, it makes it much easier for us to compile the Index at the bottom of this column. We've had a problem sometimes fitting in the name of a particular item and then following it with abbreviations for the section and page. Now we can simply write, for example, "Regional Roundup...A2." Hope you like what we consider an improvement.

Another rearrangement, of sorts, is that starting with this week, the Lifestyles section, including Docia Woods' Society Events, will appear only in the Wednesday edition of The Times. Academics will appear only in the Friday edition. This, we hope, will organize the total paper a little better. By separating the two sections, the paper can give each area the distinct emphasis it deserves instead of trying to combine both in one edition. When submitting your news items, think Wednesday Lifestyles, Friday Academics. (Of course, if you have an item that would normally appear in one or the other section and that has a time limit over which you have no control, we can be flexible.)

Sheriff reports

The Floyd County Sheriff's Department, directed by Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, had an active month in February, according to its just released monthly activity report.

The sheriff's office received 196 separate complaints during February. Personnel responded to 51 automobile accidents, and a total of 65 arrests were made, for a variety of crimes. Some 35 cases were also opened for investigation.

The department responded to 36 special activity details. Seven involved security details at basketball games. Others required department escorts for funerals.

Join the clean up

Every able body and mind is needed to get Floyd County cleaned up. Join a group of local citizens today (Wednesday) to outline a strategy to get a county-wide clean up started. The meeting is at noon at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Let's show Kentuckians that Floyd County is picking up!

Poverty in Floyd County:

Was '48 Hours' right?

by Frank Clark
Staff Writer

What does the face of poverty look like in Floyd County? Was CBS's negative representation of the county in last December's showing of "48 Hours" fair and accurate? What can be done to create positive change in the lives of Floyd Countians living below the poverty line?

These and other questions were considered Monday, when the Modern Social Problems class at Prestonsburg Community College, taught by Prof. Leo Weddle, presented an open panel discussion of local social workers and experts involved in fighting poverty and its related symptoms in the Big Sandy area.

"Poverty is something that many people aren't acquainted with," said Priscilla Duncan, a student panel participant and a woman who has experienced poverty first hand. "Poverty often means going to bed without food. It means not knowing if you're going to wake up in the morning and have the electricity cut off."

"For those living in poverty, the stress comes from the fact that they don't have the ability to make choices."
Mike Vance

Duncan, who married at a young age after dropping out of high school, spoke with the authority of one who has seen and lived with poverty on a daily basis.

"Young teenagers lock themselves into difficult situations by marrying early because they think it's romantic," she said. "Then they drop out of school, have children, and discover

Ex-conservation officer arraigned for killing deer

A Prestonsburg man and a former conservation officer with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife was arraigned last week in federal court, on charges stemming from the illegal killing of a deer on Dec. 3, 1988.

Jimmy E. Goble, 42, was charged in a criminal information (similar to an indictment) for unlawfully killing a deer in the Dewey Lake Wildlife Management area, in violation of federal regulations.

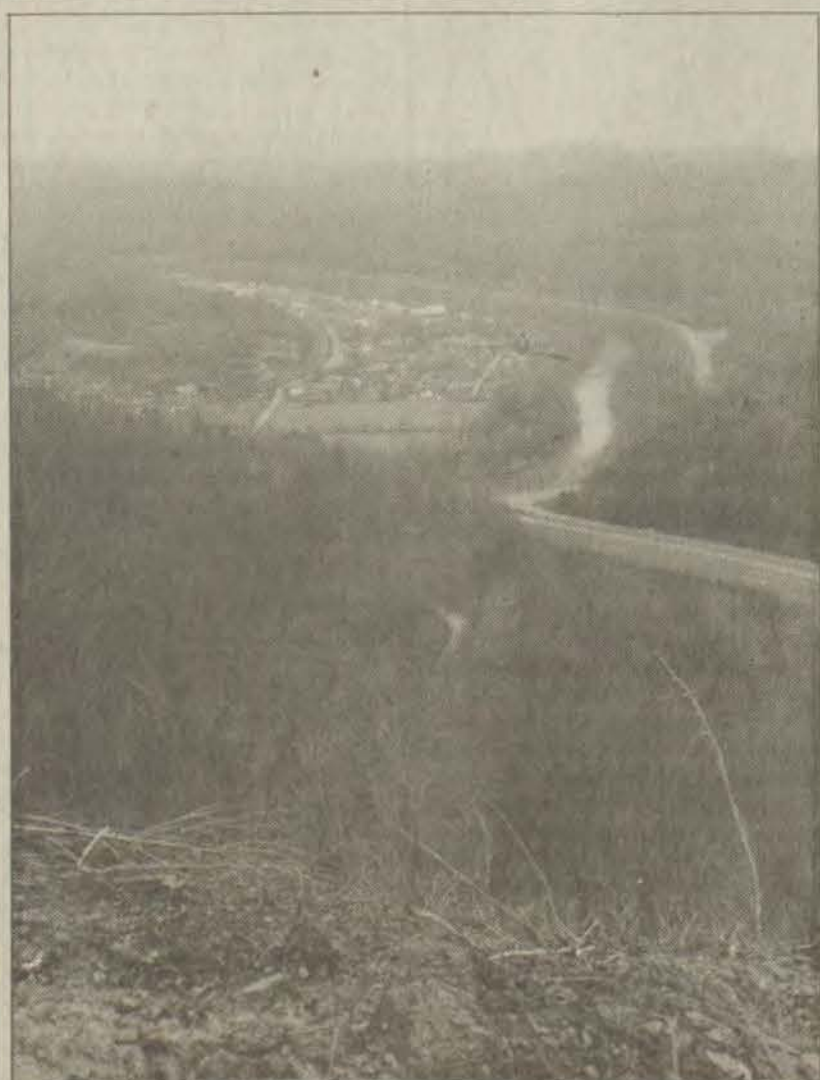

He pleaded not guilty during arraignment before a federal court in Pikeville last Thursday, and a trial was set for April 10.

Questions on Goble's conduct surfaced in February of 1989, when he was suspended from his job for 30 days over an alleged "internal matter". Col. Paul Oliver, chief of the Conservation Department's law enforcement division denied, at the time, that the suspension had anything to do with violating the law.

He did indicate at the time that a full investigation of the department's operations in Floyd and Johnson counties would be conducted, due to rumors of misconduct by department officials in the two counties.

If convicted of the misdemeanor, Goble could be sentenced to up to one year in prison and fined $100,000. The US Department of the Interior and the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife were involved in the investigation.

A bend in the river

The town of Auxier seems to nestle in the crooked arm of the Big Sandy's Levisa Fork, on a recent, rainy day in Floyd County. From this mountaintop lookout on the Jenny Wiley Trail, it's possible, on a clearer day, to see all the way to Paintsville.

New roads on the horizon

Addressing a gathering of over 200 Mud Creek residents Saturday, state Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant announced state plans for road construction and repair projects in Floyd County. Projects include major work on KY 979, KY 122, US 23, and construction of a connector road between Garrett and McDowell to begin in 1992.

Floyd drowning victim found Saturday near Portsmouth

Two months after his disappearance following a car accident at Harold, the body of James R. Keathley, 27, of Branham's Creek, was discovered 120 miles downriver, near Portsmouth, Ohio.

According to Deputy Betty Stamper of the Scioto County Sheriff's Department, a child playing along a bank of the Ohio River discovered the body about 2 p.m. Saturday, 15 miles downstream from Portsmouth.

The body was transported by a local rescue squad to the Hamilton County Morgue, where papers were discovered on the body, identifying him as Keathley. According to authorities, foul play was not suspected in the death, following an autopsy performed to confirm Keathley's identity and cause of death.

Keathley apparently fell into the river on Jan. 5, following a collision at the intersection of US 23 and KY 979 in Harold. Keathley was returning from work at the UniSign Co. of Prestonsburg sometime between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m., when he apparently cut in front of a tractor trailer and was hit by the truck.

Witnesses at the scene said that the driver of the vehicle involved in the accident exited the car and ran north on US 23, before crossing down to the riverbank next to the road. Footprints were later found, leading to the water's edge.

An intensive search was conducted over the next few weeks by the Floyd, Pike, Johnson, and Magoffin Rescue Squads, in an attempt to recover the body. The Kentucky Search Dog Association brought in two specially trained dogs to assist in the search, but no trace of Keathley was discovered. High water and cold weather conditions hindered search efforts.

Keathley's father, James M. Keathley, said he had continued the search, following the failure of initial at-

Allen gas station robbed

An Allen gas station was robbed last Thursday by a masked man who kept his hand in his pocket during the crime and forced the night clerk to lie on the floor before making his getaway with the contents of the cash register.

The robbery occurred at about 10:55 p.m. in the Allen Citgo gas station and store. A man entered the building and demanded that clerk Katherine McKinney put money from the cash register into a bank deposit bag he gave her.

The robber kept one hand in his pocket during the robbery and, after forcing McKinney to lie on the floor, fled the store on foot, according to Kentucky State Police reports.

Store personnel estimated that $461 was taken. The robber was described as a white male, six-foot tall and weighing about 150 pounds. He wore a black ski mask, camouflaged jacket and blue jeans. It could not be determined if the man carried a weapon.

The case is still under investigation by the KSP.

Masked man shoots guard

A Langley man was shot by a masked gunman Saturday night, while working as a security guard at Pace Coal Co. on Spewing Camp Branch in Floyd County.

According to reports from the Kentucky State Police, John Daniel Hall, 23, an employee of Collins Security, was investigating a noise he heard outside a guard house at about 8:25 p.m. Saturday. When he turned the corner of a building on the company site, he came upon a man wearing an orange ski mask, who opened fire on Hall with a small-caliber handgun, hitting the guard in the upper left leg.

Hall took cover, according to police reports, and returned fire. The suspect fled and has not been located.

Deputy Ricky Thornberry of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department said that reports of theft and attempted theft from local coal mining operations were common in the county, as thieves attempt to steal copper from the work sites. Thornberry noted that significant amounts of high-quality copper are located on the mining sites, providing a target for would-be thieves.

Phone service was disrupted throughout Spewing Camp Branch following the incident, due to a stray bullet which, it is believed, knocked out telephone cable.

Hall was transported to McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital following the shooting, where he was listed in good condition Monday.

AC upends Magoffin, 54-46

The Allen Central Rebels defeated the Magoffin County Hornets, 54-48, in 15th Regional action last night at the Johnson County gym. Cold free throw shooting by Magoffin County led to the powerhouse's downfall.

Senior Joey Conn scored 17 points in the win for the Rebels and point guard Kevin Spurlock tossed in 14 points.

The Rebels used a tight match zone defense to control the tempo of the game and kept the Hornets from getting into their running game. AC led at the half 28-20.

Allen Central started tiring in the third quarter, and the Hornets were able to get some run outs and get back into the game. Magoffin County caught the Rebels at the 4:06 mark of the third stanza and took the lead 32-30 on a basket by Scott Arnett.

Allen Central's defense tightened up in the fourth and held the Hornets, normally a high scoring team, to only 11 fourth quarter points. Allen Central advances on to the semifinals Monday night.

Donald Helton led Magoffin County in scoring with 16, and Jeff Castle added 13.

Extended coverage and photos will appear in Friday's issue of the Floyd County Times.

Price folks to vote wet/dry

After a petition was circulated to prevent Charles Hutchinson from opening a club with liquor and entertainment in the Price area, several residents vowed to get a wet/dry issue up for vote.

They accomplished their goal, and the election date is set for Saturday, April 28.

The petitioners gathered 150 signatures in favor of a vote on the issue in the Gearhart Precinct, #23. According to Floyd County Clerk Carla Robinson Bolton, only 37 signatures were needed. The precinct presently has 363 registered voters, and if the number of signatures on the petition is any indication, it will be a close vote.

If the Price area votes to go dry a Pizza place which sells beer will have to discontinue that practice and Hutchinson will not be allowed to open his club.

The polling place is the Left Beaver Rescue Squad from the hours of 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Paintsville man murdered

VAN LEAR—A Paintsville man was shot to death Thursday morning, following an argument in Van Lear.

Ronald D. Jones, 42, of Paintsville, was pronounced dead at the scene by Johnson County Coroner J.R. Frisby. Jones had allegedly been arguing with Joe Montgomery, 42, at Montgomery's Van Lear residence at about 12:30 a.m. Thursday. During the argument, Montgomery reportedly shot Jones in the right shoulder with a shotgun.

Montgomery was lodged in the Johnson County jail, on charges of murder. The case is still under investigation by Kentucky State Police.

Signs are good for mall in Pikeville

PIKEVILLE—Developers of a mall in Pikeville put up their share of funding for a five-lane bridge across the Big Sandy yesterday, according to Pikeville city officials. Barry E. Dotson and Associates placed $725,000 in a non-refundable escrow account in Pikeville which officials see as a strong sign that the city will get the financing for the project and have the mall built. The mall and bridge are slated to be completed in late 1991. The site covers 70 acres and is projected to employ some 900 people in about 90 stores, according to City Manager John Johnson. (The Appalachian News Express)

Cockfighting club featured on "48 Hours" raided

PIKE COUNTY—The cockfighting club reportedly featured on CBS's production of "48 Hours" last December was raided and closed down last Saturday. Although police had raided the Blackberry Gamecock Club in previous years, State Police Lt. Ed Shemelya said the club was not under investigation until the show aired. "They renewed our interest in it again by getting on national television and flaunting criminal activity," he said. About 100 people were attending the cockfight, the club's first of the year, at the time of the raid, reports said.

Charged with second-degree cruelty to animals were: Thomas E. Burnette, 43, George F. Wooten, 22; William Bishop, 40; Terry W. Hatfield, 24; Jessie Trent, 48; Harold G. Dotson, 47; Rocky B. Justice, 24; Willie R. Lester, 31; and Michael S. Williams, 37.

Curtis Hatfield, 49, was charged with second-degree cruelty to animals and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Johnny P. Hatfield, 32, was charged with complicity to commit cruelty to animals and third-degree unlawful transaction with a minor.

All were released on bond, said Pike County Jail officials.

Jackson man murders W.Va. resident in Vegas

JACKSON COUNTY—A Jackson County native, released from Moundsville Prison last December for good behavior, now stands charged with murdering and cutting off the hands of his victim. Timothy Redman, 24, is jailed in Las Vegas, Nev., without bond, charged with the murder of Max Biederman, 55, of Huntington, W.Va. Apparently Biederman had been asleep in his Winnebago at a truck stop in Vegas and the police believe that Redman dragged him out of the vehicle, shot him and then cut off his hands and battered his face to prevent identification of the body. He left the body behind the truck stop and took the van and $8 cash. (The Jackson Star News)

Commissioner guilty of Worker's Comp. fraud

PIKEVILLE—The Deputy Commissioner working in the Division of Coal Mine Worker's Compensation in Pikeville pleaded guilty to a two-count felony of fraud. Daryl E. Ratliff, 55, of Pikeville, apparently had filed false claims for coal mine worker's compensation benefits on behalf of non-existent individuals or individuals who had no entitlement to the benefits and received the money from those claims himself. He faces up to 10 years in jail and $500,000 in fines. As a part of the plea bargaining, Ratliff has, in part, agreed to make full restitution of the amount of the claims.

Bomb scare, small fire reported by Prestonsburg

A bomb threat was called into the Perkins Job Corp Center at 12:12 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 28, resulting in the apprehension of a male juvenile, according to Maj. Mike Wells of the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

Wells reports that the wording used by the caller gave a clue to the location of where the call was placed, and about 2-1/2 hours later the caller was apprehended.

"The fact that we have demonstrated that such pranksters will be arrested and we have the capability to determine their identity will hopefully deter such threats in the future," Wells noted.

On Tuesday, Feb. 27, Prestonsburg firefighters were also able to stem a blaze at Ed Walter's Body Shop. The fire is suspected of starting from a discarded cigarette in the exhaust duct on the paint booth. The fire smoldered until the fan was turned on and the vapors and paint dust ignited the area. Upon the arrival of the firefighters, the flames were extinguished quickly, Wells noted, with very little damage to the shop and only smoke damage to WPRT Radio Station on the upper floor.

Councilman is arrested

A Prestonsburg city councilman was arrested Thursday night on DUI and speeding charges.

William O. Goebel III, 31, of Prestonsburg was arrested by state police at 10:40 p.m. Thursday, while traveling north on US 23 near Prestonsburg. According to the arresting officer's citation, Goebel was weaving back and forth, while traveling at 72 mph in a 55 mph zone.

Goebel reportedly failed three field sobriety tests once stopped, and was taken to the Floyd County Courthouse for a breathalyzer test. His blood/alcohol content reading was measured at .18, according to the report. Readings greater than .10 are considered to be indicative of driving under the influence of alcohol.

The DUI arrest was Goebel's second. It is considered a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of up to $500, and not less than seven or more than 180 days in jail.

Goebel is manager of the Kentucky Lottery's regional satellite office.

Road Projects

ture of the frustration felt by county residents threatened by potentially dangerous road conditions.

"This bridge is a disgrace," said Brenda Sammons of Hunter, as she and a quickly gathered crowd angrily described to Bryant the dangers faced by school children forced to cross the frequently flooded, crumbling bridge. Sammons accused Judge Stumbo of not working to have the county bridge repaired.

In an attempt to calm the small crowd, Bryant requested that people stop trying to place blame for the condition of the bridge, noting that $97,000 has been requested by Judge Stumbo to build a new bridge. He promised that construction would begin as soon as possible. As the officials departed, residents expressed satisfaction with the promise, though several were skeptical about how soon work on the bridge would get off the ground.

The tour continued to McDowell and then turned on to Bill Hall Branch, connecting with KY 979 in Mud Creek, before stopping to meet with more than 200 citizens gathered at the John M. Stumbo Elementary school.

"With the size of this turnout, there should be no trouble convincing Secretary Bryant of our road problem and the need to address it," said Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond, who first addressed the assembly.

Bryant laid out plans for the county road system, saying it was, "...time to stop making promises and time to start doing the things we can." Included in the list of promised projects were:

—KY 122 would be largely resurfaced, with one bad curve (High Curve) to be straightened, and ditching work to be performed. Bryant said that work would begin in April.

—Construction on the 13-mile stretch of US 23, between Prestonsburg and Paintsville, will begin this year. Four or five contracts for the project will be let to contractors in June, though some right-of-ways still require clearance for the project to begin.

—KY 680 (Bill Hall Branch) is scheduled to have resurfacing work performed, beginning this year.

—The McDowell-Garrett connector road has $16 million appropriated for the project, according to Bryant. The road will run from KY 80 to KY 122, and construction is set to begin in 1992.

Of special interest to those gathered at the Stumbo school Saturday was the proposal to improve the notoriously dangerous Mud Creek Road, KY 979. While Bryant noted that complete reconstruction of the 20-mile road was impractical, he did say that a project to construct passing lanes on the road, as well as provide guardrails and a complete resurfacing, was in the works.

Hammond said after the meeting that such a project would cost about $15 million, a figure far more acceptable than the $100 million cost to entirely rebuild the road.

"What we're looking to do is to place a passing lane roughly every five miles along the road," said Hammond. "We'll straighten out the worst sections, ditch it well, resurface it, and put in guardrails. Greg (Stumbo), John M. (Stumbo), and I will push for this, and we've got Secretary Bryant's commitment to do it."

News of the projects, particularly the work involving KY 979, was greeted warmly by those in attendance.

Said Bryant, at the close of the meeting, after being invited by Rep. Stumbo to return to Mud Creek for a community dinner in October, "What Greg means is, come back for a dinner if the road work gets done, and come back to get hung if it's not!"

'Before the snow flies'

State Transportation Secretary Milo Bryant, right with hand extended, assured Hunter residents Saturday that construction on a new Hunter bridge would begin this year. Angry Hunter residents talked to Bryant as he toured portions of Left Beaver and Mud Creek, examining sections of road which are considered to be in an "emergency" condition.

Stolen goods recovered

Goods stolen from Jerry Martin of Branham's Creek on Wednesday, Feb. 28, were recovered this week by members of the Floyd County Sheriff's Department.

Following a lead received by phone on the location of the stolen goods, Deputy Sheriffs L. Newsome and Danny Jarrell recovered two stolen guns and one diamond ring on Saturday, March 3, and Monday, March 5, respectively. The total value of the merchandise was estimated at $3500, according to Newsome.

The thief is still at large, but a warrant has been issued for his arrest, at which time the department intends to prosecute the thief to the fullest extent of the law, Newsome noted.

"Thanks to Sheriff Thompson allowing the deputies the freedom to follow up on leads, we were able to recover these items with minimal difficulty," Newsome said.

they can't find jobs, because they have no education."

"Basically, poverty is the lack of opportunity or choice," said Charles Hackworth, field service supervisor responsible for the county's food stamp program. "I've watched the problem in this area for 25 years. Thirty percent of the county's population is involved in some type of service program, and we currently have 5000 service records in our file. Clearly, there is a problem, though I think it's one that's improving."

Hackworth noted that the lack of jobs in the area is a key to the county's poverty problems.

"Without a doubt, the great majority of people dependent on the food stamp program would rather be out working," said Hackworth. "The jobs just aren't there."

The sociological and physical effects of poverty, according to panel members, is significant, reaching deeply into the lives of those without job opportunities, education, or even the means to maintain themselves and their family.

"This area of the country has one of the highest rates of teenage pregnancy in the country," said James Stewart, director of Big Sandy Health Care. "It also has one of the highest death rates for infants under the age of one year. A primary problem is that many people don't have access to health care, because they can't afford it. We try to meet the needs of those who have trouble getting care at our clinic, but the need is greater than we can ever meet."

Mental health problems among those facing poverty is also a serious problem, according to Mike Vance of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center.

"All people are under stress because they have to make different choices in their lives," said Vance. "But for those living in poverty, the stress comes from the fact that they don't have the ability to make choices."

"Poverty locks them in. What we're trying to do is break through to them and show that mental health services are available and that we can help," Vance said.

The stress of poverty is also considered a significant factor in instances of family violence, which can shred the fabric of families, regardless of economic status.

"We've found that 50 percent of all abusers (persons who beat their spouse or child) are unemployed," said Toni Styles, of the Big Sandy Spouse Abuse Center. "It appears that economic pressures, like unemployment, stimulates abuse. This tends to create a cycle of abuse, so that children who grow up in a violent family situation tend to do the same thing when they grow up."

"A real need exists in the area right now to provide counseling to abusive men, so we can try to break these cycles of violence that develop," Styles said.

While most panelists agreed on the many negative impacts of poverty in the county, there was significant disagreement about the validity of the CBS television program "48 Hours", which featured Floyd County as a part of an impoverished "forgotten America", depicting scenes of poverty, teenage marriage, spouse abuse, and cockfighting.

"When CBS came, they didn't seem interested in showing any positive aspects of the county," said Danny Greene, director of the David School. "They failed to show the hope in Wheelwright High School's wonderful programs, or in the work to improve literacy in the county. All they did was reinforce the old stereotypes of the region."

Kenneth Slone, a professor at PCC, agreed. "'48 Hours' kept the stereotypes of Eastern Kentucky burning," said Slone. "It didn't recognize the wonderful natural beauty of the area and the people. It's always been hard to recruit professors to come to PCC, but these continued stereotypes make it harder."

Others on the panel, however, thought that the TV program showed a portion of Floyd County that exists and needs to be recognized.

"CBS didn't lie, though they did edit the show so that the worst things came out," said Doris Osborne, a teacher at Wheelwright High School.

"There are two Kentuckys and there are two Floyd Counties. I can see it in our schools, by what facilities and supplies schools in different parts of the state have," Osborne said. "It should be that, no matter if a child is from Louisville or from Wheelwright, they should get the same treatment and have the same opportunities. And I know they don't."

"I feel that some people in this county have tried to sweep poverty under the table and are trying to ignore the problems," said Eula Hall of the Mud Creek Clinic. "People in Muddy Gut have been threatened and insulted because others are trying to hide Floyd County's poverty problem."

"I know that only a portion of the county was shown in the program, but I know of many places far worse than anything shown in Muddy Gut. It (poverty) is here and people have to realize it," Hall said.

Despite the magnitude of the poverty problem in Floyd County and the surrounding area and disagreement about the recent depiction of the county by CBS, it was clearly evident that hope and the possibility for positive change exists. Scott Perry, editor of the Paintsville Herald and director of Johnson County's Project 2000, seemed to sum up well the commitment of those present on the panel.

"When I moved down from Ashland to Paintsville when I was a kid," said Perry, "I thought my parents had brought me to hell. Now you couldn't blast me out of here."

A second panel discussion, continuing the focus on poverty in the Floyd County area, will be Friday at 12:40 p.m. in the Pike Building at PCC. Scheduled panelists include Chris Perkins, US Congressman, Seventh District; former Gov. Bert T. Combs, and State Rep. Greg Stumbo. The session is open to the public.

Focusing on poverty

ALCOHOL RELATED BIRTH DEFECTS

Every time a pregnant woman drinks, she risks damaging her unborn baby. When a pregnant woman drinks, the alcohol passes swiftly through the placenta to her unborn baby. It hits the baby harder than it would an adult because the baby's developing organs cannot break down the alcohol as fast as an adult's can. That means the baby can have more alcohol in its blood than the mother does — and can suffer lifelong damage before it is even born.

Each year 5000 American babies are born with Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS). This is a pattern of physical and mental birth defects that is the direct result of drinking by the mother during pregnancy. FAS does not have to happen to any baby. It is completely preventable.

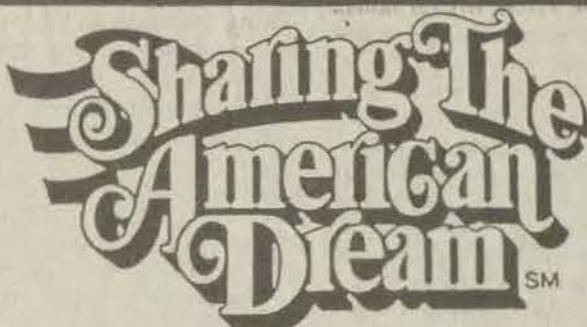

Babies with FAS:

- Are smaller than they should be when they are born. Most of them don't ever catch up to the size of other children.
- Have heads and brains that are too small, and have varying degrees of mental retardation. Many are jittery and poorly coordinated; they may have short attention spans and behavior problems too.
- May have defects of the heart and other body parts.
- Often have narrow eyes, a short nose, thin upper lip and underdeveloped jaws.

For every infant born with fetal alcohol syndrome, there are several more born with only some of the features of the syndrome. When only some of the characteristics are present, they are called "Alcohol-Related Birth Defects."

There is no "safe" level of alcohol consumption during pregnancy. The only way to keep from risking severe damage to your baby is not to drink throughout pregnancy and while nursing.

Editorial

Garbage, garbage everywhere. We're smothering in it. It blows along our roadsides, fills our sinkholes and demands that new landfills be built to hold it.

Every year, Americans throw away enough aluminum to rebuild the American Airlines air fleet 71 times. We Americans, who have five percent of the world's population, create over half of the world's garbage. What on earth are we going to do with it?

We're going to recycle it! We're going to take out of our garbage those things that can be reused and remade, things like aluminum, glass, paper, vegetable wastes and plastics. We're going to reduce our garbage by half, so that we won't have to replace those hundreds of landfills across the country that will be closing within the next 10 years.

Recycling has other benefits. If recycled paper were used instead of fresh newsprint in the production of one issue of the Sunday edition of the New York Times, 75,000 trees would be saved. Ninety percent of the newsprint used by The Floyd County Times has been recycled.

Each recycled aluminum can saves the equivalent of one cup of gasoline or enough energy to burn a 100-watt light bulb for 3.5 hours. Recycling also reduces litter.

Recycling is one answer to our garbage problems. Maybe we don't want to be bothered with recycling now, but it won't be long before we will want to. Many Kentucky industries have already realized that recycling will reduce the cost of their waste disposal. With waste disposal costs rising, recycling just makes "cents."

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet began an employee education program in 1988 to teach employees how and what to recycle. Each employee is instructed to separate white office paper at his or her desk, and large containers to receive office paper are placed at each copier. Receptacles have been placed outside the Department for Environmental Protection office to receive newspaper, glass aluminum and plastics that employees or the public bring from home. Projects such as these could easily be started in Floyd County.

On Jan. 16 Gov. Wallace Wilkinson signed an executive order that requires all state government workers to separate wastepaper at their desks. It requires aluminum and steel recycling for products used in the course of normal agency operations.

As a result of this order, all state office buildings will provide the public and employees with recycling opportunities for products including aluminum, glass, plastic and newspapers where local markets are available. All state parks will provide receptacles for recycling. All state maintenance facilities and garages will recycle batteries, used oil and scrap metal.

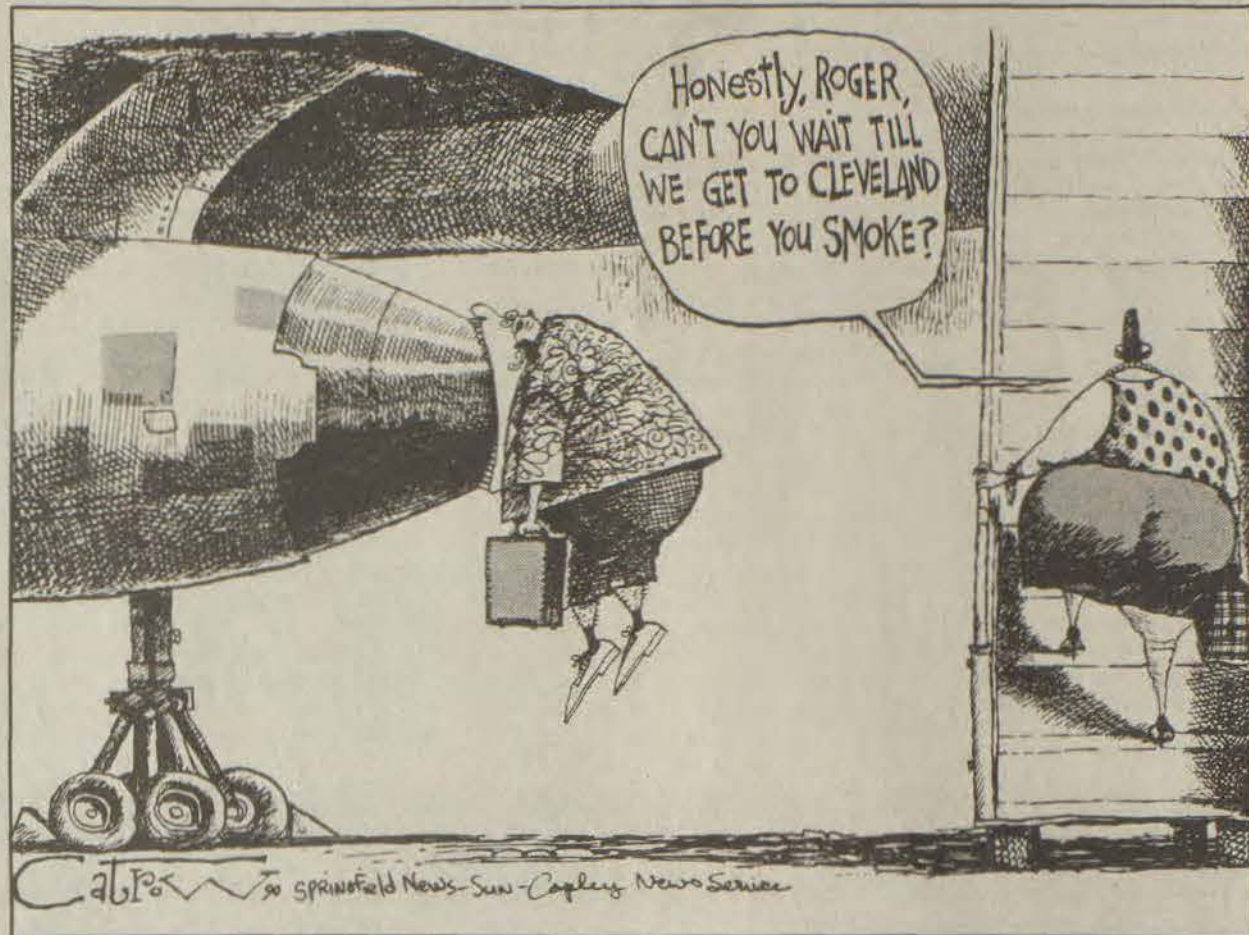

The Economic Development Cabinet apparently plans to seek out and develop markets for recyclable materials and work with the Department of Local Government to encourage recycling in business operations.

Recycling is happening in Kentucky—now. The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet has been designated the coordinator of these efforts and is directed to educate all state employees and the public as to the benefits of waste reduction.

Recycling probably won't make us rich, although it is a great way for kids to make a little extra money. But if we look into the future—our children's future—we will see that recycling pays off enormously. We will be leaving our children a land they can be proud of—not a giant garbage dump.

Let's find out what we can do to help control litter and garbage in our area. A suggestion: come to today's (Wednesday) meeting of the newly formed Litter Task Force at the May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, at noon.

Suggests new system

Dear Editor,

Regarding Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens' reply to Gorman Collins Jr. in the Friday, Feb. 9 issue of The Times, allow me to say this magistrate should be recalled immediately for insubordination to his employer, a taxpayer. For Mr. Owens' information, a taxpayer is kind of like a voter.

It is grossly ignorant for anybody to say, "We don't even make $25,000 a year and that's before 'Uncle Sam' takes his cut of over $5800," when there is even one person in the county who is unemployed.

Considering all the trouble with roads in Floyd County, it seems something must be done. The present system is not working. I can't even visit my mother's grave at the head of the Conley Fork of Spurlock because the only way up is on foot. I'm 68 with a bad heart and diabetes among other things. Certainly not able to walk five miles up and five miles back, even if somebody did invite me to stay for dinner.

It seems like this system gets worse with each election. Anything would be better than what we've got. So let's try to get a better system. Abolish all magistrate jobs and instead appoint one county property inspector, answerable to the judge. Also set down a list of work rules for this inspector, making it mandatory for this inspector to serve 24 hours in jail without pay each time this person is caught hanging out at the courthouse, doing nothing. Campaigning for reelection should be considered hanging out at the courthouse and doing nothing. Roads are, of course, county property.

Pleads case for new bridge

Dear Editor,

Enclosed is a copy of a letter that I wrote to Milo D. Bryant, Commissioner of Highways for the State of Kentucky.

It is the intent of this letter to inform you of the unsafe conditions of the bridge crossing Beaver Creek at Hunter, Ky. Upon my inspection of the bridge, I found it to be in a deplorable condition. We are now requiring the school children to walk across the bridge because of the danger of it collapsing with the added weight on the school bus.

The bridge was constructed in 1925 and has gone through many floods which have damaged it in many ways. Some of the support pillars have collapsed and others have the soil cut out underneath them by the water. We desperately need your help in getting this bridge replaced, making it safer for the students in that part of Floyd County to attend school.

Enclosed are pictures that I have taken of the bridge showing some of the unsafe conditions. Please give this matter your most serious and immediate consideration.

Sincerely,
—Earl D. Ousley

Worse than cockfighting?

Dear Editor,

So, Senator Bailey, you want to legalize cockfighting, that time honored tradition even Presidents Washington and Jefferson enjoyed, do you? A boy could do worse than to learn the lessons taught by raising and fighting chickens, you say? Undeniably, he could grow up to be a member of our legislature and waste his time and our money trying to pass laws like this one. Now that would be worse.

I must assume, since you and others do have the time to spend on a bill like this, that you have already successfully solved all our other problems. Education, unemployment, roads—you remember, what you were elected to do. If so, a great many voters, myself included, will be very happy and relieved to hear it.

I noticed an article in The Lexington Herald-Leader that should teach our sons another lesson as well: That we care more about protecting our sports than about protecting our women and children. The House is trying to pass a bill which will reduce child support payments by divorced spouses and also make it more difficult, if not impossible, to collect. If worse comes to worse and both bills pass however, I suppose it won't necessarily be the end of the world. These unfortunates could then legally raise and fight chickens to make enough money to keep body and soul together. Because whatever you or anyone else may intend, this will always be a gambler's game.

It's been said that the true measure of a people is not how strong, wealthy and productive they are, but how they treat the weaker and less fortunate in their midst. Granted, the "sport" of cockfighting began in Asia, an appropriate pastime for people who crippled many of their women honoring another of their traditions—foot binding. I suppose I'm lucky, being female, that we didn't also acquire their method of dealing with unwanted girl babies. The ones not left to die of exposure on the mountains were sold to brothels. What was a little bloody animal mayhem to them?

The Romans, who adopted it next and passed it on to us along with their building styles, calendar and the very principle of democracy this country was founded on, liked many sports.

Their favorite, when not ruling the world, cheering on gladiators as they chopped, hacked and speared each other to a "noble" death. Crowd participation undoubtedly added to its appeal since they could also determine who lived and who died by a simple thumbs up or down signal. Christians and other undesirables, not deserving a noble death, were simply tossed to the lions. By majority vote, naturally.

Thank goodness, we Americans never practiced in anything so barbaric! Washington and Jefferson merely bought and sold human beings. No wanton slaughter of innocents in the name of sport fans for us. Not with work to be done and profit to be made. Much too expensive if they died.

Okay, so chickens are not human beings, they may not be good for anything else and yes, may even "enjoy" fighting. After all, they do it naturally and instinctively whether humans are involved or not, just as other wild animals do. Why not breed the most aggressive ones and have a little bet on which will win since they're going to fight anyway? My objections as an animal lover are obvious, my objections as a human being go even deeper.

When two animals fight they do so because nature has evolved no better way to insure the survival of the fittest. If only the strong live to breed, survival odds improve for the entire species. As harsh and cruel as nature can seem at times, at least it is cruelty with a purpose. Animals are simply obeying the laws of nature.

But, when we breed animals solely for gambling and senseless, brutal death, what laws are we obeying? We, who are supposedly superior to animals by virtue of our larger brains and knowledge of right and wrong, good and evil; and in the 20th century when foot binding, Christian tossing and slavery are thought of as barbaric customs of a distant past practiced before we became today's modern civilized people. Have we really learned so little?

I realize that as long as there are two roosters left on earth, they will fight. You can't blame animals for doing what comes naturally—they know no better. Sadly, it seems, neither do we.

You, and others like you, Senator, are meant to be our voice. To represent the opinions, concerns and interests of the majority of us so that it is indeed a governing of, by and for the people. I find it impossible to believe that a majority of us want to legalize a blood sport such as chicken fighting. Though, if even half to the stories I see printed about the bickering, back stabbing and jostling for power going on in the legislature are true I can understand why you might think so.

I love this place and these people, and I hate it when we are all held up to ridicule to the rest of the nation as the result of the actions of a few. Eastern Kentucky is trying very hard to be part of the Twentieth century. Don't drag us back into the Eighteenth.

Urges support of coal industry

Dear Editor,

The public's help is needed now! If we don't get the proper legislation passed, our Eastern Kentucky coal will not sell and our unemployment in this area will soar. The Coal Operators association has explained that since we have primarily low sulfur coal in this area, the acid rain problem is not caused by the burning of our coal. If we had a choice, we would prefer no legislation until further studies are done. However, we feel certain there will be some type of legislation passed.

We have chosen to support President Bush's bill (Bill #HR 3030) which will give utility companies a choice either to install scrubbers to use high sulfur coal (found in Western Kentucky and in the Western States) or to purchase low sulfur coal, which is available in our area. We definitely do not want a bill passed where utility companies are forced to install scrubbers at a large cost. They would then purchase the cheaper high sulfur coal and our Eastern Kentucky coal could not be sold. Just think of all our miners who would be out of work!

Don't wait! Please write your Congressman and Senators Mitch McConnell and Wendell Ford and ask them to support Bill #HR 3030. As always, we want to be courteous, but we don't want our legislators to realize that with the wrong legislation passed, our area would be economically devastated.

Please do your best to write now and ask all your employees, friends, relatives, etc. to do the same. You can make a difference.

ANOTHER Beach Buoy Reunion

House Week in Review

By Sen. Russell Bentley

With the 1990 session of the General Assembly entering the top of the stretch and the stopwatch ticking away, several pressing issues remain on our agenda.

Most of the legislative action last week was focused in committee meetings, as we continue to receive testimony on proposed laws.

The long-awaited, much-discussed Certificate of Need bill was approved by our State Government Committee, but not until several changes were made. The committee narrowly passed Senate Bill 68, which would streamline the approval process for health-care facilities seeking to offer new services in Kentucky.

Under the measure, which was expected to be voted on in the House late last week, hospitals and other facilities would be able to provide new services costing less than $1 million without state approval. Another provision would permit the Louisville-based Humana Corp. to build a multi-million dollar, high-tech care facility in Jefferson County. After approval by the House, the bill still has to go back to the Senate because of the changes we made.

The State Government Committee also adopted a resolution that calls for a study of sentencing alternatives in criminal cases. House Joint Resolution 123 would create a task force to study penalties imposed in criminal cases to determine if there is uniform sentencing across the state. The group would also examine sentencing alternatives now being used.

The Health and Welfare Committee approved an AIDS bill but not without first making some significant changes. House Bill 425 is designed to educate the public about the disease although some provisions regarding discrimination against AIDS victims were removed. The bill now goes to the full House for consideration.

Committee approval was given to a bill that calls for the state minimum hourly wage to match the federal standard. House Bill 687, approved by the Labor and Industry Committee, calls for the state minimum wage to rise to $3.80 per hour on July 15, and to $4.25 on July 15, 1991. The bill also includes a temporary "sub-minimum" training wage.

A bill to prevent corporations that farm from significantly increasing their acreage has cleared the Agriculture and Small Business Committee. House Bill 623 would prohibit corporations from increasing their acreage by more than 20 percent over a five-year period. Supporters of the measure believe it will help keep farm prices down, allowing small farms to remain in existence. Horse farms or land used for timber production would be exempted.

Our budget committee continued to hold hearings on Gov. Wallace Wilkinson's tax plan. Those opposed to removing the sales-tax exemption on advertising, including executives from newspapers, radio and television stations, told the Appropriations and Revenue Committee the tax would have negative economic impact for the Commonwealth.

At this point, it remains unclear whether Wilkinson's revenue measure or some alternative will be adopted. That decision becomes more important in light of the Education Reform Task Force's report, which was finalized last week and is being turned into draft legislation at press time. The panel has recommended new programs costing hundreds of millions of dollars.

In floor action, we approved legislation making marital rape a crime. The measure was amended to set a statutory limitation of one year to bring charges and to stipulate that a rape charge could not be used in child custody hearings; a rape conviction, however, could be used in custody cases. House Bill 38 now goes to the Senate for consideration.

Quick Recallers

The Wayland Elementary Academic Quick Recall team took first place honors in district competition recently. They defeated Clark in the opening round, Garrett in the second and Prestonsburg in the finals. Team members are Kevin Caudill, Bethany Slone, captain Patrick Collins, Dellea Meade, Ronnie Duff, Daniel Cordial and Nicole Clark.

No tags, no dogs . . . . .

Wayland dogs have until April 1 to get tagged. After that, the animal shelter may become their home.

Town board members Monday night voted to set the April deadline for dog owners to purchase $5 tags for their animals. Proof of rabies vaccination must be shown to receive a tag.

Board members authorized Police Chief Mack Stewart to issue warning citations to owners who do not keep their animals confined and who do not license them. If the warning is not heeded, Stewart may then take the dogs to the Floyd County Animal Shelter.

"We're not trying to stick them," says Jerry Fultz. "We just want them to take care of their dogs. Even after they get the tags, that doesn't give them the right to let the dogs run loose."

To make it easier for residents to purchase the dog tags, the board authorized Clerk Carol Stapleton to sell the tags on Saturday, March 17, from 9 a.m.-noon at the town hall. Tags will also be available during Stapleton's regular office hours on Wednesdays from 8-10 a.m. or from Chief Stewart.

The board members and citizens in attendance also heard a report from Archie Everage Jr. of TV Service Inc. in Hindman, the cable television provider for the Wayland-Estill area.

Everage told the board about new equipment and channels that will soon be part of the cable service. He also explained that increased costs from programmers are forcing the company to increase its rates to subscribers. "Rates are up all over the country," he said.

The cable representative said local customers could expect monthly rates of $16.50 by next year. He added that those rates are among the lowest in the area. "I can guarantee rates are not going to be any higher than they have to be," he said.

In response to questions from board members and other citizens, Everage said the company will consider having someone in Wayland on a regular basis to receive customer complaints and arranging for in-town payment of bills.

Mayor Hobert Webb questioned the company's recent rate increase without first presenting it to the town board. Everage replied that the move was an "oversight."

Clerk Stapleton reported that the town has a budget balance of more than $4800 and that the town's share of coal severance tax monies will amount to more than $8800.

Board members agreed to send certified letters to Wayland residents who owe delinquent taxes and to consider prosecuting those who do not pay.

In addition to Fultz and Webb, board members Gene Mullins and Tommy Robinson were in attendance at the meeting, the first since the date of regular meetings was changed from Tuesdays to the first Monday in each month. The next scheduled town board meeting is April 2 at 7 p.m.

Bill to assist hearing-impaired with phones

Kentucky Governor Wallace Wilkinson recently signed into law a bill that will require the state Public Service Commission to establish a dual party telephone relay service for hearing and speech impaired Kentuckians by Oct. 1, 1991.

investigation, hold public hearings and seek the advice of hearing- and speech-impaired persons and the organizations that serve them.

The law specifies that users of a DPRS will be charged no more than the rates charged for equivalent voice communication services provided without a dual party relay service.

On hand to witness the signing of House Bill 20 were Bill Rogers, executive director of the Kentucky Commission on the Deaf and Hearing Impaired, and Dick Castleman, the Kentucky state representative who sponsored the bill. Castleman is from Mayfield.

"This law marks a giant step forward for hearing- and speech-impaired Kentuckians," Rogers said. "They will soon enjoy the same complete access to our state's telephone system that voice users have traditionally had."

The governor signed the bill after it was unanimously passed by both houses of the Kentucky legislature. The bill, House Bill 20, was one of the first bills Wilkinson signed during the 1990 state legislative session.

A dual party relay service (DPRS) employs trained operators to serve as "communications links" between hearing- or speech-impaired callers using TDDs (telecommunications devices for the deaf) and hearing callers using regular voice telephone sets.

The new law instructs the Public Service Commission to determine the most economical and effective method of providing a DPRS. To do this, the Commission is to conduct an

To Set the Record Straight on the Hunter Bridge

On June 15, 1989, at the Capitol to the County's meeting, held in Hazard, Floyd County had an appointment with the Department of Transportation officials at 2:00 p.m. Any person wanting to speak was invited to be there at this time. Only Rebecca Garrett, Ellen Taylor, Nina Salisbury and Kim Osborne from Hunter along with County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo, Janet Tackett and Delores F. Dingus were there.

Acting Secretary Jerry Lentz, Chief Engineer Gilbert Newman, Commissioner Donnie Kell, Chief District Engineer Denton Billiter were the officials this group talked with.

I was asked if I could build this Hunter bridge. I answered, "YES!" They said they would furnish the materials. Mr. Billiter was instructed to have his Bridge Engineer Fred Goble to get with me and draw up plans along with an estimate and send them to Commissioner Donnie Kell, ASAP. I met with Mr. Goble on the Hunter bridge on June 17, 1989. The measurements were made and the utilities checked. Plans for the bridge construction were drawn and the cost was estimated at $97,200.00. This was forwarded to Donnie Kell on June 23, 1989. Copies of this letter and also the drawings are shown attached hereto. Mr. Lentz said, "If the plans are sent in, this bridge will be built before school opens in August 1989".

Last Friday, in a "Letter to the Editor", this meeting was badly mis-represented by people who were not present at the meeting in Hazard. This past Saturday, March 3, 1990, County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo, Secretary Milo D. Bryant, Representative Greg Stumbo, County Attorney Jimmy Hammond and Senator Benny Bailey, stopped on the Hunter Bridge on their way to a meeting on Mud Creek. Secretary Bryant promised this bridge will be built this year. I feel I have done everything within my power as County Judge Executive of Floyd County to get this Hunter Bridge built for all of the people who travel it every day. This is the truth—I was there!

A collection of official documents and a site plan. The documents include a letter from John M. Stumbo, County Judge/Executive, dated June 23, 1989, addressed to Mr. Donnie Kell, Commissioner of the Department of Rural and Municipal Aid. The letter discusses the construction of the Hunter Bridge and includes a cost estimate of $97,200.00. Below the letter is a site plan for the Hunter Bridge, showing the layout of the bridge, including concrete abutments, concrete beams, and concrete slabs. The plan also indicates the location of the bridge relative to the Hunter River and the surrounding area. The documents are signed by John M. Stumbo and include a date of June 23, 1989.

"Nellie"

Poem written by Lettie Kinzer

Our lives are now so empty, Since the day you left the fold,
 The days are long and endless, And the nights seem bitter cold.

We know that you're in Heaven, And God's watching o'er you there,
 We know you're safely with Him, In a land so sweet and fair.

Nellie, we all love you, And we miss your smiling face,
 You were the oldest one of twelve, No one can take your place.

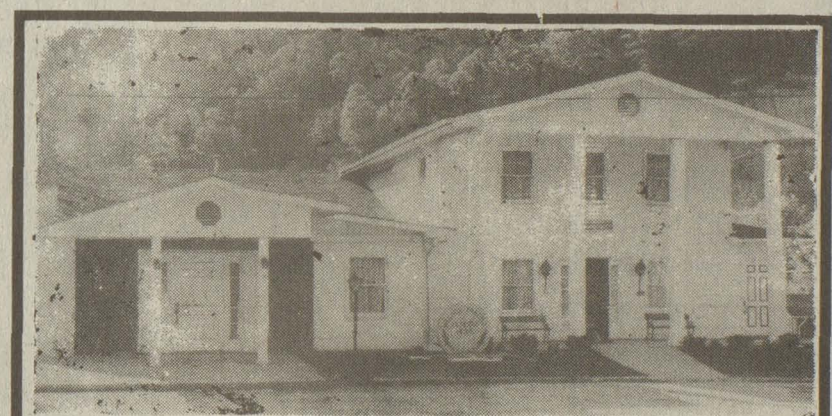

Our Father said, "Come with me, It is time now to retire,"
 He must have needed angels, To sing in Heaven's choir.

So wait for us, dear sister, Under Heaven's brightest dome,
 And someday we will join you, And we'll see the lights of Home.

Census Questionnaires arriving in March

An envelope will arrive this month containing an opportunity for recipients to determine governmental representation for the next decade and help create a picture of life in the United States.

It is the 1990 census questionnaire to be received by an estimated 106 million households.

Questionnaire delivery in rural areas will be made door-to-door by temporary employees of the US Census Bureau. Delivery began Monday, March 5, and will take about three weeks to complete. In rural areas, door-to-door delivery helps ensure that no one is missed and will allow census takers to update address lists and census maps. Initial address-listing in rural areas was conducted last summer.

The US Postal Service will deliver questionnaires in cities and areas with street names and house numbers. This will occur around March 23. Addresses and maps in urban areas were updated recently.

Census workers must rely on accurate maps and addresses to make follow-up visits to households that do not return a questionnaire by April 1, Census Day.

Reasons for such exacting measures are rooted in the country's form of democracy. Article 1, Section 2 of the US Constitution requires a census every 10 years as a way to divide seats in the House of Representatives fairly among the states based on population. Census numbers are also used to redraw state and local legislative districts.

In addition, the census provides a picture of the nation's social and economic standing. Census statistics will be used by federal and state government to determine how billions of dollars in public funds will be distributed to communities for education, health care, day care, transportation and other services.

If these civic-minded reasons are not compelling enough, citizens should know that participation in the census is required by federal law. This same law, however, strictly protects confidentiality. No other government agency, law enforcement or local authority can gain access to an individual's census responses under any circumstances.

And, prompt return of the completed questionnaire saves money. The Census Bureau has conservatively budgeted for a 70 percent mail response rate, but every one percent of households returning questionnaires above that rate will save taxpayers $10 million.

The saving would come from avoided wages and expenses for additional census workers needed to make follow-up visits. The mail response rate in 1980 was over 80 percent.

The US population is expected to reach 250 million in this census. The 1980 count was over 226 million. The first census was taken in 1790 making this a Bicentennial Census.

Recognizing the other half March is Women's History Month

In conjunction with national designation of March as Women's History Month, the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights has come up with several activities local groups can do to recognize the contributions of a long overlooked segment of society.

National theme for the month-long observance is "Courageous Voices Echoing in our Lives."

Suggested ideas from the commission include:

—Write a letter to the editor of the local newspaper to remind people about the month and explain why the month is needed.

—Work with the school system to encourage it to develop a program recognizing the many contributions of women.

—If there is a local human rights commission and/or women's group, encourage them to work on these projects as an alliance.

—Encourage libraries to set up displays of materials by and about women.

—Identify the experiences and contributions of women and make sure they are recorded for posterity. The Oral History Commission, 300 Tree Rd., Frankfort 40601, can help. The phone number is 502-564-7644.

As part of the observance, the Kentucky Historical Society has an exhibit at the Old Capitol in Frankfort, titled "Corsets, Croquet and Crusades: Kentucky Women's Lives, 1889-1914. The exhibit runs through April 2.

Groups who want assistance in securing a speaker or preparing a program may contact the Human Rights Commission and ask to speak to Lutitia Pappiller or Nancy Rankin, 1-800-292-5566.

Quilting contest set for State Fair

Better Homes and Gardens Books, in cooperation with the Kentucky State Fair, is sponsoring the second annual Better Homes and Gardens Books Blue Ribbon Quilt Awards.

Quilters in 21 states, including Kentucky, are eligible to enter quilts in the contest through their respective state fairs.

Quilters will compete for more than $5000 in prize money in two categories: Hand applique, original design or original adaptation of a traditional design, and Patchwork, original design or original adaptation of a traditional patchwork design.

In both categories, the quilt designs must be accomplished by an individual quiltmaker. Work can be pieced by hand or by machine, but applique and quilting must be done by hand. Finished work must be at least 42 inches square, and work must be completed in 1989-90.

One quilt in each category will be awarded a Better Homes and Gardens Books Blue Ribbon and a $100 cash prize at the Kentucky State Fair and at each of the other state fairs. Judging at the state level will be done by individual state fair judges.

Winning quilts from each state will compete for further recognition at company headquarters in Des Moines, Iowa. A grand prize winner in each category will be selected by book company editors to receive a $500 prize and an all-expenses-paid trip to the Houston Quilt Festival in November as the guest of Better Homes and Gardens Books.

For more information, contact the Kentucky State Fair, PO Box 37130, Louisville, KY 40233, or Don Gage, Better Homes and Gardens Blue Ribbon Quilt Awards, 17th at Locust, Des Moines, Iowa 50336.

Pot-pourri

by Wilmay

It's great to see more of our finest young people coming home, hopefully to stay. Folks like Ron and Pat Chaffins, Ron Ball, and others of their caliber are more than welcome. Too often we lose them to other areas.

We are not alone in opposing teaching sex in lowest grades. Junior High is early enough. Youngsters today already carry a terrific load. But proponents insist, "You can have your child excused from the classes if you prefer." Yes, but they will see the texts, likely on the sly, hear the talk of kids in class, etcetera; moreover, why hope it will decrease teen pregnancies, since leading feminists who insisted years ago that including sex on secondary level public schools would do that, only to find that reliable surveys have proved the contrary, Kentucky included. That has happened, despite the threat of AIDS!

We differ with the President's handling of the S & L fiasco. Why should innocent people—many quite poor—be penalized for the crimes of a few of the affluent?

The unexpected victory in Nicaragua was a real plus for President Bush. One wonders how much it will cost Uncle Sam who pays more than other nations into the World Bank. One of the best things to be said about Havel of Czechoslovakia is that he is not seeking funds but investments in his country that really checked communism. Havel and Mandela appear to have in common something the world needs more of.

A number of individuals and even some public officials are pressing to have members of both houses of Congress serve under 12-year terms maximum. It is most unlikely to happen for wealth and power breed more of each. A Constitutional amendment would be necessary and take years to achieve. Woe unto us unless something is done to check lifetime tenure. Remember the Senator from the East who was past 80 and fourth in line for the presidency!

Democrats are suffering to regain the White House. Why not select better qualified men than some recent nominees, men like Nunn of Georgia, Cuomo of New York, who stole the 1989 Convention show.

It's sad that all the talk about the failure of modern education rarely even hints at the basic cause of the current deficiency. The chief reason is simple, our beloved great nation has wandered far from God as evidenced in widespread prevalence of abortion, pornography, immorality, homosexuality, spouse and child abuse, increasing crime of various kinds. Time may prove that the price we are paying now is small compared with that yet to come. Love of materialism and greed characterize this century as none past. Neglect of God's Word is costly. Man cannot serve God and Mammon. Thus saith the Lord.

Feted by communities

Rev. and Mrs. Cohen Campbell were honored for their many years of service to God and community at the annual community Thanksgiving services at Boldman Freewill Baptist Church last fall. A plaque honoring the Campbells was presented by Rev. Danny Frederick, pastor of Vogel Day Methodist Church, on behalf of eight participating churches. The Campbells, who reside at Stanville, took a disability retirement from full time ministry in September 1987. As missionaries for the Kentucky Baptist Convention, they had served at Calvary Baptist, Allen First Baptist and a host of other churches in the area since 1951.

Taxpayers Ask IRS Special Rules for Seniors

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. Is the standard deduction for seniors different than for others?

A. Yes. Taxpayers who are 65 years old or older or blind at the end of the tax year are entitled to a higher standard deduction than other taxpayers (provided they are not eligible to be claimed as another person's dependent). For example, a couple, both of whom are over age 65, filing a joint return, are entitled to a standard deduction of $6,400 for 1989. Taxpayers who are both 65 or older and blind may qualify for an even higher standard deduction. Standard deduction is discussed in free IRS Publication 501, Exemptions, Standard Deduction, and Filing Information. Call toll-free 1-800-424-3676 to order your copy.

Q. My neighbor told me that some seniors do not have to file tax returns. How can I tell if I need to file one? I am 70 years old and a widow.

A. Taxpayers who are 65 or over are generally allowed to have more income before they are required to file a return. For 1989, single taxpayers who are 65 or over can have gross income of up to $5,850 before they are required to file. Couples who are married filing jointly and both of whom are 65 or older can have gross income of $10,400. If you can be claimed as a dependent by another person, there are special rules that may apply to you. If you have a question about your situation, first read the instructions that are in the tax package mailed to you by IRS. If you still have questions, call IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-1040.

Q. Is there a special tax credit for seniors?

A. Yes; the "Credit for the Elderly or the Disabled." You may claim this credit if you are age 65 or older at the end of 1989; or if you retired on permanent and total disability by the end of 1989 and you had not reached the age when your employer's retirement program would have required you to retire, and you received taxable disability benefits in 1989. The credit is generally not available to you if your income is high enough to require you to report any part of your social security or equivalent railroad retirement benefits as taxable income. Use Schedule R (Form 1040) to claim this credit.

Q. Does IRS offer special assistance for seniors?

A. Yes. It's called Tax Counseling for the Elderly (TCE). It provides free tax help for people over 60, especially those who are disabled or have other special needs. Volunteers travel wherever there are older taxpayers who need tax help, whether they are homebound, in retirement homes, or at special TCE sites located in neighborhood centers, libraries, churches and other places in the community. For more information about TCE in your community, call the IRS taxpayer education coordinator at your local IRS office. Call 1-800-424-1040.

Cardiac Rehab open house hosts over 100 guests

In conjunction with American Heart Month, Highlands Regional Medical Center conducted an Open House Sunday, Feb. 18, of its newly remodeled and expanded Cardiac Rehabilitation Department.

Members of the staff of the Cardiac Rehab Department commended those past and present patients in attendance, numbering more than 100, for their dedication in successfully overcoming the stigma associated with heart disease.

Cardiac Rehab at Highlands consists of a 12-week individualized cardiac monitoring exercise program. The program optimizes and conditions patients both physically and psychologically for reestablishing an active lifestyle following a heart-related illness. Cardiac Rehab is available to heart patients on a physician referred basis.

Zina Goble, RN in the Cardiac Rehab Department, welcomed the patients, their families and friends stating, "I am proud of each and everyone of you. You have shown that you are receptive to change modifying your habits and maintaining a positive attitude. Instead of saying I am what I am, you all have decided to say, I am what I can be—and you have."

Van Lear resident and 1980 Cardiac Rehab patient, Sally Spears, praised the workers in the department for all their help and support. "You don't worry about your heart until it's too late," Spears said. "I'm just glad I found Highlands and Cardiac Rehab."

Dr. Rodney Handshoe, chief of Cardiology at Highlands, informed the group about the physical benefits that had been gained by patients enrolled in the Cardiac Rehab Program. He also acknowledged local members of Mended Hearts, a national support organization comprised of those who have faced heart attacks, angioplasty or by-pass surgery.

Musical entertainment was provided by former Cardiac Rehab patient, Freddie Goble and his family.

The program concluded with a tour of the newly expanded Cardiac Rehab Department.

For more information on the program, call 886-8511, ext. 549, or 1-800-533-HRMC.

Methodist Hospital expands neonatal nursery

After less than one year in operation, the Methodist Hospital of Kentucky has been approved to double the size of the Neonatal Special Care Nursery.

Hospital officials applied for a certificate of need to add four more neonatal nursery beds to the four beds the hospital already had in existence. The Kentucky Commission for Health Economics Control approved the request recently, and the hospital is now licensed to care for up to eight newborns in the special care nursery.

The neonatal nursery opened on March 1 of last year. The nursery was then licensed to have four beds, and neonatologist Dr. Ruth Ann Shepherd has operated the nursery at almost capacity for the first year.

The demand for the level two nursery beds in the Big Sandy Area has been significant in the past year and having Shepherd working at the hospital has allowed the hospital's staff to give the small patients the appropriate level of care, according to a hospital spokesperson.

The level two nursery was designed to serve Pike, Floyd, Martin, Magoffin and Johnson counties. The nursery has been fulfilling that obligation by accepting transfer patients from hospitals in the entire area.

A few months after the nursery was opened Shepherd and members of the hospital's staff began a Transport Team so that Shepherd is with an infant during the transport period. The Transport Team has made several trips to area hospitals to bring patients to the Methodist Hospital in Pikeville where the baby can receive special care.

Avoiding blood clots

by Robert Engelman
Scripps Howard News Service

Long rides in automobiles or airplanes can be hazardous to those at risk for blood clots, suggests Dr. Thomas Whitsett, professor of medicine at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center in Oklahoma City.

Sitting for long periods without changing position or contracting the muscles of the leg tends to slow down blood flow, Whitsett says. The veins that stagnate the most happen to be those that return blood to the heart.

Clots form and grow more easily when blood is not flowing. Clots can be broken up or removed, but they also can kill — by lodging in the brain or in the arteries leading to the heart. Those at risk of developing blood clots include people over 60, the overweight, and victims of past heart attacks, strokes and clots. Women who have recently given birth are also at risk, says Whitsett.

The best preventive against blood clots is to avoid long trips, or at least move the legs as often as possible while sitting.

"My advice is to stop the car every hour, get out and walk around or stretch for a few minutes," Whitsett said. Those on airplanes should periodically stroll down the aisle. If you can't get out of the seat, bend each foot up and down several times at the ankle.

Two symptoms of a developing blood clot are pain or swelling in the calf. If either follows a long trip, see a doctor immediately.

Veterans Questions & Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA Counselors. Full information is available at any VA Office.

Q.—What type of income should I report on my annual eligibility verification report to continue my VA pension benefits?

A.—Income from all sources must be reported. VA will determine what sources and amounts will be counted and the amount of income to be excluded.

Q.—Can I get a release of liability from the Department of Veterans Affairs if a non-veteran assumes my VA-guaranteed home loan?

A.—If the buyer meets with VA approval, you may be released from liability.

Q.—If I encounter legal difficulties while purchasing a home using my VA home loan benefit, will the Department of Veterans Affairs provide or pay for any legal assistance I may need?

A.—No. The Department of Veterans Affairs does not provide legal assistance or advice; nor can the Department pay for legal assistance a veteran obtains to deal with troubles encountered in the purchase or construction of a home.

Q.—Can a female veteran claim her husband as a dependent?

A.—Yes. When receiving compensation, pension or education benefits from the VA, a female veteran may claim her husband as a dependent.

Q.—I just got married. Does my husband automatically become the beneficiary of my VA insurance policy?

A.—No. You must notify VA that you wish to make a change and provide complete identification of the new beneficiary.

Telecommunications center

UL center to assist businesses

The University of Louisville, South Central Bell and the commonwealth of Kentucky are working together to bring state-of-the-art technology to the state's businesses.

The Telecommunications Research Center, an alliance of education, business and government, will create a focal point in Kentucky for assisting businesses with their telecommunications needs.

The center, located on U of L's Shelby Campus, also will help state and local economic development agencies recruit telecommunications-intensive businesses to Kentucky.

Kentucky Gov. Wallace Wilkinson, U of L President Donald Swain and South Central Bell Vice President Stan Dickson opened the center at a news conference Feb. 20.

The 16,900-square-foot facility is equipped to offer virtually any telecommunications network capability — plus a few not yet widely available, such as Integrated Services Digital Network (ISDN).

State-of-the-art equipment and systems provided by some of the leading high-technology companies also will be available on-site.

The research then can be presented to local businesses, which can apply the new technology to their needs.

For more information, call John Drees at (502) 588-6171.

SS toll free phone number not working, Perkins says

US Cong. Carl C. Perkins testified recently before the Committee on Ways and Means' Subcommittee on Social Security concerning the quality of the Social Security Administration's 800 number telephone service.

In his testimony, Perkins said he had received several reports from people in Kentucky's Seventh District who had encountered "rudeness and often ignorance" from the people answering the 800 numbers. In other cases, said Perkins, individuals could not reach the operators because the lines were constantly busy.

Since the Social Security Administration's implementation of a national 1-800 service to replace calls to local offices, there have been numerous complaints about SSA's telephone service, Perkins said. These complaints focus on high 800 number busy rates, on problems with the accuracy and completeness of information, and on difficulties caused by the elimination of telephone access to local offices.

"The 800 system makes no sense and is not working. I hope that we will be able to return to the previous system which worked reasonably well. People should be able to call their local Social Security office and get their questions answered," Perkins stressed.

Rates raised by Ky/W. Va. Gas Customer

Due to Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's rate increase, the Public Service Commission (PSC) has granted Equitable Gas an increase of about $144.40 annually for residential customers.

Equitable Gas has received an increase in wholesale costs from its supplier, KY/WVa., at a rate of $634,546. The rate hike went into effect on Feb. 26 when the order was entered to PSC, and is subject to refund at the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

NOTICE OF EXPLANATION

The city of Martin intends to undertake improvements and addition to its Wastewater Treatment System. These improvements are needed to comply with the Federal Clean Water Act, provide better service to its existing customers, and provide new service to an area of the City. A portion of the project is located in the 100 year flood plain. Those portions of the project within the 100 year flood plain cannot be undertaken in any other location. There is, therefore, no practicable alternative to the proposed project.

The proposed improvements and additions to the wastewater system conforms to all applicable State flood plain protection standards. The proposed action will not affect natural or beneficial flood plain values as it represents only a temporary action.

Failure to provide these improvements and additions would result in continued violation of the Clean Water Act. It is the city's judgment that the benefits of the project outweigh consideration of Executive Orders 11988 and 11990.

The other agencies involved in this project are the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Comments on the proposed project will be accepted until March 23, 1990. Please send your comments to the address below.

Hazel Bailey Is Fighting Cancer With A Tough, New Team On Her Side.

Last April, 73 year old Hazel Bailey, from Martin County Kentucky, began her fight with cancer. It was serious, involving her abdominal and pelvic regions, liver and an area near her heart. There was no time to lose.

Immediately following surgery in Lexington, Hazel was referred to Highlands for chemotherapy—specialized chemical treatments. Hazel was able to return home, visiting Highlands every four weeks for her "chemo".

Hazel found she now has a tough, new team on her side. The new Cancer Program at Highlands now offers expanded outpatient and chemotherapy services. A tough team with a caring touch.

Says Hazel, "they're good to me...every one of them, the nurses and everyone. When I go in there they all grab me and hug me and love me..."

Until there's a cure for cancer, we can only improve the ways we find it and treat it. And at Highlands, we keep getting better at getting you better, a whole lot closer to home.

Seminar for mine operators slated for tomorrow at park

A seminar presented by the Kentucky Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement on "Prevention Enforcement" is scheduled for tomorrow, March 8 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

The opening remarks will begin at 6:30 p.m. by William J. Grable, DSMRE Commissioner.

Other featured speakers, and the topic of discussion, include: Robert Salyers, director, DSMRE Division of Permits, Applicant Involvement in the Permitting Process; Lawrence E. Grash, DSMRE deputy commissioner, Ownership and Control Issues; Carl Campbell, director, DSMRE Division of Field Services, DSMRE Perspective: Current Enforcement Problems; James Bussel, regional administrator, London Office, and Rick Phipps, regional administrator, Prestonsburg Office, Preventive Enforcement Techniques Applied by DSMRE Inspection Personnel; Paul Rothman, branch manager, Mining Branch, DSMRE Division of Field Service, DSMRE Bond Release Procedures.

"This seminar is a means for the small mine operator to better understand the regulatory process and at the same time protect our environment in the day to day process of mining coal," Joseph G. Jacobs, chairman of the Small Coal Operators Advisory Council, noted.

"All area coal mining companies need to attend. The people who are trusted with the job of regulating coal mining activity and protecting the environment will be at this meeting to talk about every day problems the mine operator will face and how to deal with them.

"I cannot begin to stress the importance of the local involvement needed to insure the success of this type forum and the operators' future means to have input and a means to voice concerns he/she may have."

At the conclusion of the seminar, time will be allotted for one-on-one individual discussion with DSMRE officials.

Correction

In an article in last Friday's edition of the Floyd County Times, it was noted that Patrick Prater was arrested for breaking windows with a BB gun. That information is incorrect, according to Prestonsburg police.

Floyd History Book in the works for 1992

A book on the history of Floyd County, its families, communities, schools, churches and businesses is one way the county's Bicentennial Committee is preparing for Kentucky's 200th birthday in 1992.

The committee at its Monday meeting voted to undertake the project, with the help of Turner Publishing Co. in Paducah. The company has published similar histories for counties throughout the country, including a recent one for Floyd County, Texas, according to company representative David Turner.

Submissions will be solicited from communities throughout the county and from individual families, according to Carolyn Traum, who along with Phyllis Honshell and Sandra Robertson, will head the book project.

Turner also urged the committee to seek histories of churches, schools and businesses.

Samples of the company's previously published books were displayed for committee members. High quality paper and sewn binding in the books are designed to stand up to heavy research use, Turner said.

The book will be financed, in part, by the selling of pages to businesses and other organizations, the publisher said, adding that the book will sell for about $49.50 per copy.

Samples of books similar to the one being published on Floyd County will be available at the Prestonsburg Community College library and at the Bookworm book store, Traum said. The local committee is charged with developing plans in Floyd County as part of the state's bicentennial. For information on the committee, contact chairman James O. VanHoose at the Bank Josephine.

Smith scores 29 points

ALLEN CENTRAL REBELS ARE DISTRICT CHAMPS

"I will be disappointed if we do not win the district tournament." Those were the thoughts of Allen Central coach Johnny Martin just before play began in the 58th District tournament last week at Allen Central.

An estimated crowd of 4,700 people crowded into J.E. Campbell Arena to watch the Rebels and McDowell Daredevils square off in the championship game of the tournament. The Rebel coach was not disappointed as his squad won the coveted title over a good Daredevils team, 89-65, behind the 29-point performance of "flu stricken" Rick Smith.

"We just weren't allowed to get into our game. Not to take anything away from Allen Central; they did what they had to do to win."

Coach Johnny Ray Turner

Smith had been suffering from the flu before the tournament began which caused some concern to the Rebel coaching staff. However, the 6'5" center, through doctoring, was able to play.

"We had two doctors watching Rick through the tournament," Martin said. "They can be credited with our winning the tournament because they kept Rick able to play," said the Rebel mentor.

McDowell, coming off a big emotional win over the Prestonsburg Blackcats on Friday night, charged out of the gate like a team destined to win the 58th District Tournament.

Marc Hall: two from the base line. 2-0 McDowell. Stacy Hall: two free throws. 4-0 McDowell. Marc Hall: score on a break away. 6-0 McDowell.

What transpired after that was a 15-2 run by the Rebels, led by senior forward Joey Conn's eight points. Cotton Parsons hit a three-pointer in the run. Smith canned four. Smith was playing like someone who was begging for the basketball.

"Yeah, when I saw they could stop me, I wanted the basketball in my hands," the Rebel center said. Allen Central held a 15-10 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Smith says that his legs still felt a little weak during the game but that he was glad to have been able to play. Smith was also named as Player of the Year in Floyd County basketball.

Allen Central's defense caused the Daredevils several turnovers in the early going. The Rebs stopped McDowell's outstanding guard Stacy Hall from getting too involved in the Daredevil offense. Hall had been averaging close to 20 per game. He finished with seven.

"I think that Stacy Hall is the finest guard in the 15th Region," Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome said of the junior guard. "He can score, get assists, rebound and play defense."

A big boost for the Rebel offense came from guard Mike Hancock who hit four three-pointers in scoring 20 points for Allen Central. The Rebels had been looking for a fifth starter for most of the season until Martin settled on Hancock as his fifth starter.

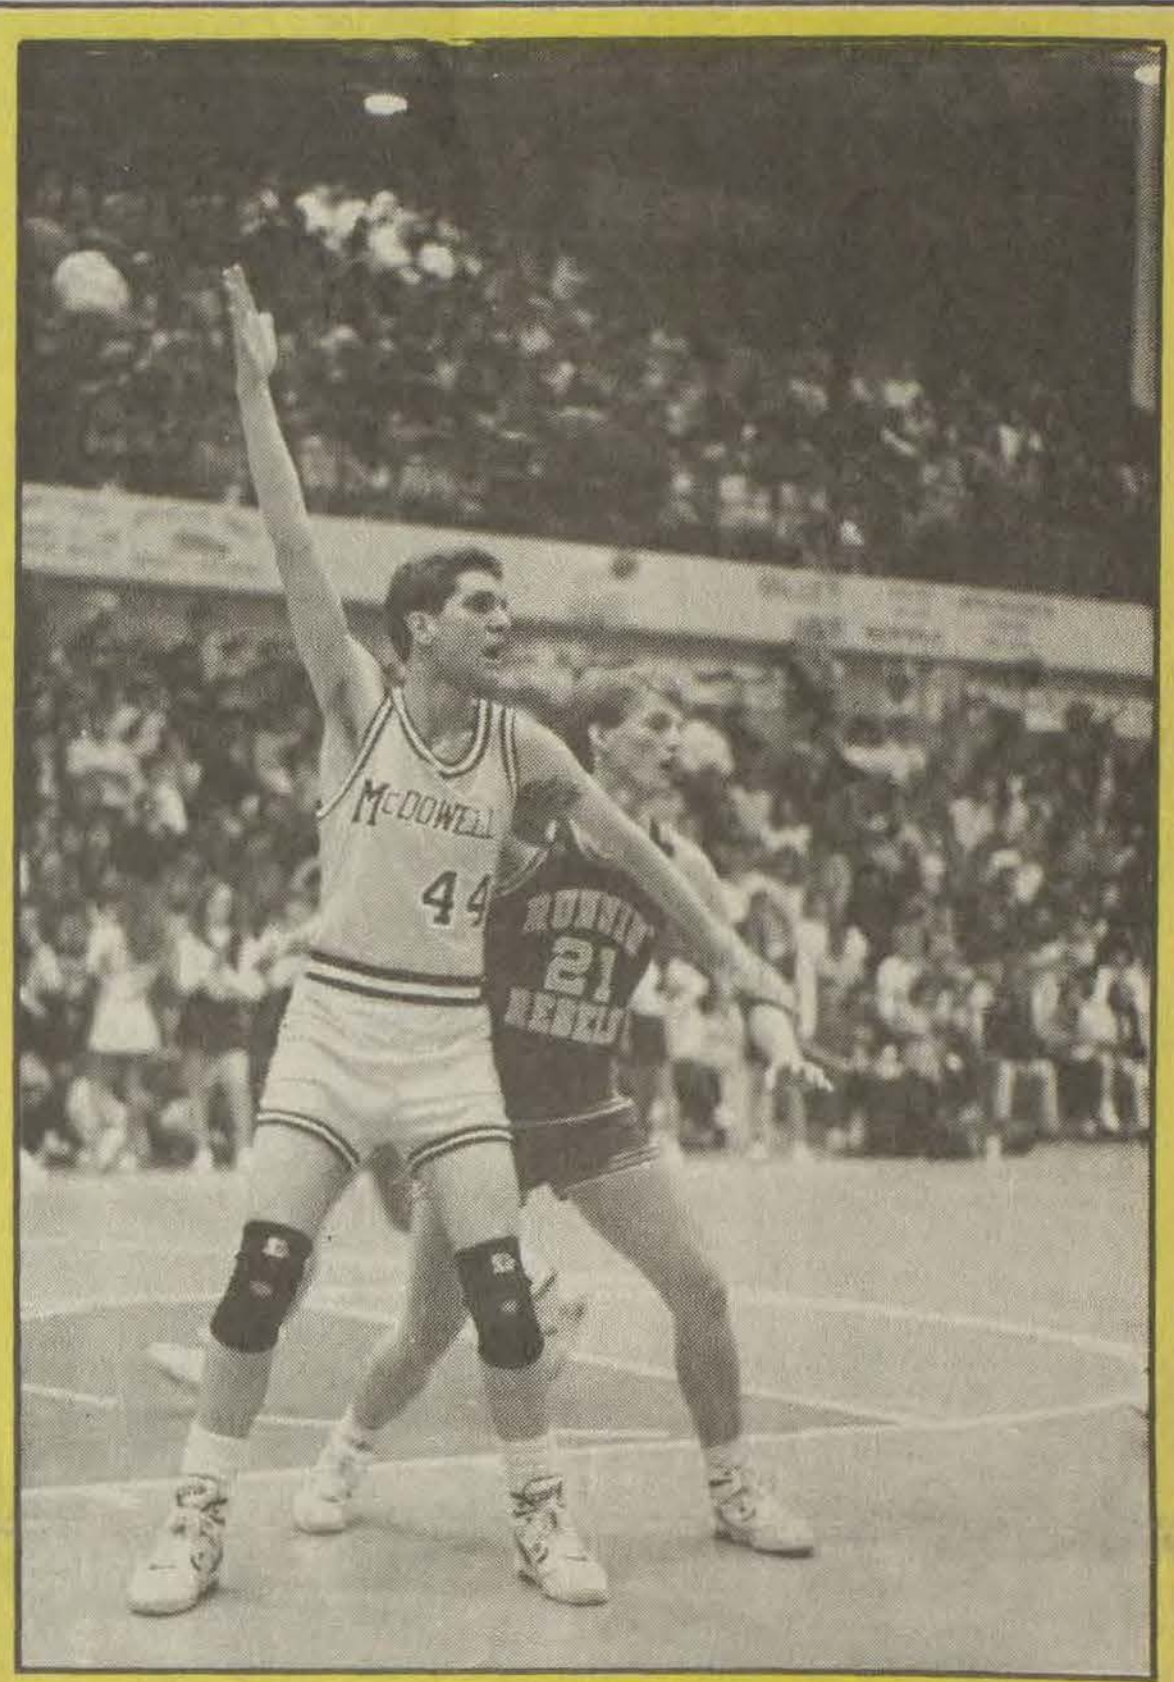

Allen Central, behind Smith in the second quarter, opened up a 13-point advantage, 34-21. Smith tossed in 10 points in the period. McDowell could only manage three field goals in the second, one being a three-pointer by Scott Shannon.

When AC extended its lead to 20, 47-27 with 5:49 to go in the stanza, McDowell began to make a run, as everyone expected and as the Daredevils have accomplished all year. Keith Shelton, who was held scoreless in the first half, finally was able to get into the flow of the game in the third quarter, hitting for nine points, one a three-pointer, as the Daredevils went on a 19-6 spurt to close to within nine points, 55-46, at the end of the third quarter. Mike Duddleson, just a freshman, hit two three-pointers in the run.

Allen Central held an eight-point lead, 62-54, with 5:17 to go in the game when the team went on a tear and outscored the Daredevils, 15-2. The Rebels canned 19 out of 20 free throws down the stretch, two coming on a technical foul on the Daredevils bench with 4:03 to go.

"That was the turning point in the game for us," McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner said. "We just weren't allowed to get into our game. Not to

LADY REBELS CAPTURE 58TH DISTRICT TITLE

It was Allen Central's night at J.E. Campbell Arena Saturday night as the Lady Rebels hooked up with the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats in the finals of the girl's 58th District tournament.

The two schools finished as co-winners of the Floyd County Basketball Conference with 6-2 records. The two teams had split their two previous meetings each winning at home.

The Allen Central Lady Rebs won the big one as they were spotted 18 points in the first quarter and rolled out to a 60-49 win over the Lady Cats.

"We played our hearts out," a jubilant Coach Bonita Compton stated. "It was a team effort all the way. We played good team ball."

Off guard Teresa Gibson lit up the scoreboard by hitting seven three-pointers, just three short of tying the record of Feds Creek's Claire Fuller. The junior guard seemed to be on target as she took the 'treys' with confidence.

Allen Central built an 18-0 lead by hitting nine of 10 shots taken in the first quarter. The miss was a lay up off a jump ball by Jo Ann Conn. The Lady Rebs then hit nine baskets in a row with Gibson scoring 10 points in the first quarter. Allen Central led at the end of the first period, 21-4.

"The first quarter is what won it for us," said the Lady Rebels mentor. "That made the comeback, and a good first quarter is what won it."

Allen Central used the same tactics used in defeating the Lady Cats earlier at Allen Central: Stopping Brenda Hamilton.

"We knew we had to stop Hamilton to win," says Compton. "We were able to contain her and we played good defense on the others."

Hamilton, voted Player of the Year, was held to only six points in the game, five coming in the third period. Compton assigned two freshmen to watch Hamilton, who is a very explosive player and a key to the Lady Cats offense. Jenny Wiley drew the assignment earlier and Jenny Yates picked up the duties later.

"We played our hearts out."

Coach Bonita Compton

The momentum switched in the second stanza as Betsy Layne mounted a comeback attempt behind the three-point shooting of Brianna Boyd, who is going to be a good one. Boyd had three three-pointers in the game for Betsy Layne.

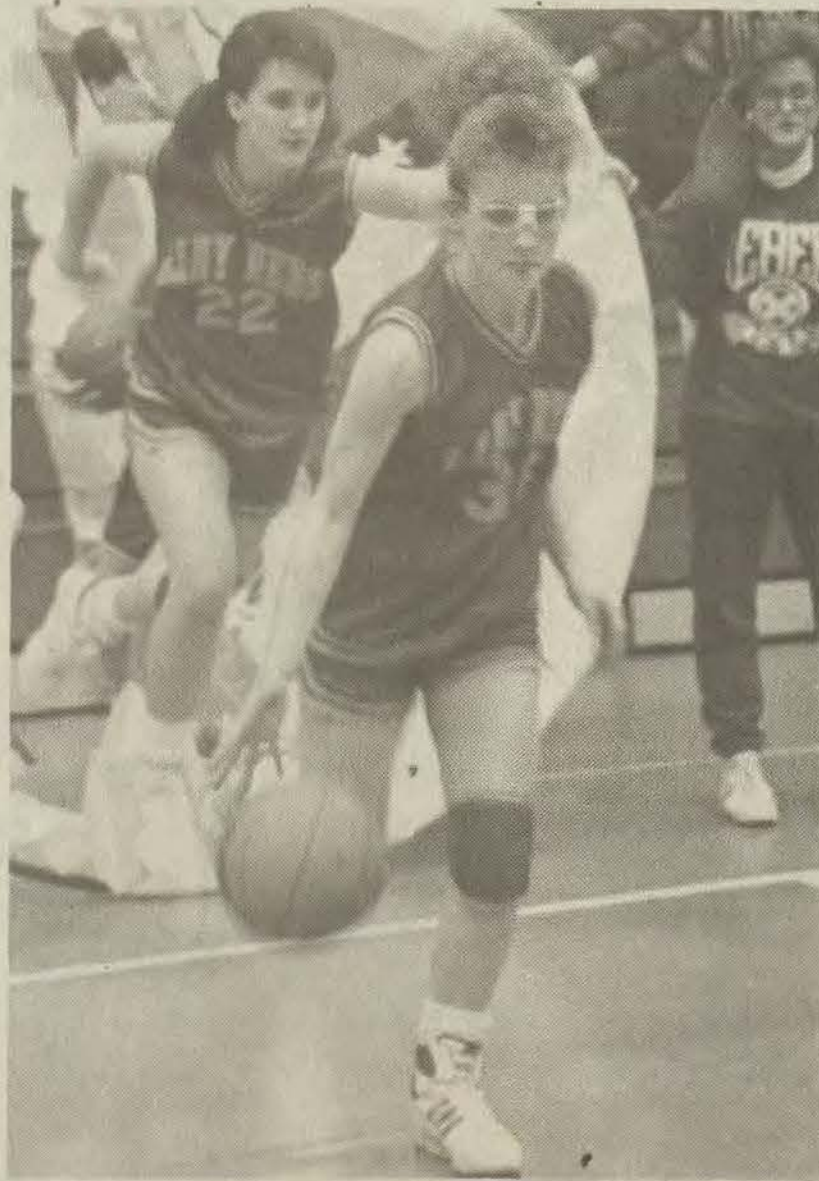

After a Melissa Bailey bucket, Boyd hit a 12-footer, and Bailey followed with a put back to make the score 23-10. Conn hit two free throws for Allen Central and Betsy Layne ran off six unanswered points to come to within 10, 25-15, as Allen Central seemed to come unglued.

Conn broke loose underneath the basket for a score and Gibson hit one of her 'treys' to push the lead back to 15. Boyd then hit two three-pointers in a row to make it 30-21 as Betsy Layne's press gave the Lady Rebs some problems. Allen Central went to the locker room with a 32-21 half-time lead.

"Boyd hit the three-pointers on us and we had to make a change defensively," said Compton. "Darnella (Bradley) was slow getting out to her because of her ankle."

Gibson hit another 'treys' at the start of the third period only to have the Lady Cats run off six unanswered

"Turner's Turnarounds" strike again!

What is a Turner Turnaround? It's a basketball team that doesn't know when to quit. It's a basketball team that doesn't know that when you get 19 points behind, you're supposed to give up. It is a basketball team that plays with a lot of heart.

McDowell (Turner's Turnarounds) displayed a lot of heart as the team handed 15th Regional favorite Pikeville a stunning 83-82 upset loss at Johnson Central Monday night in the second game of the tournament.

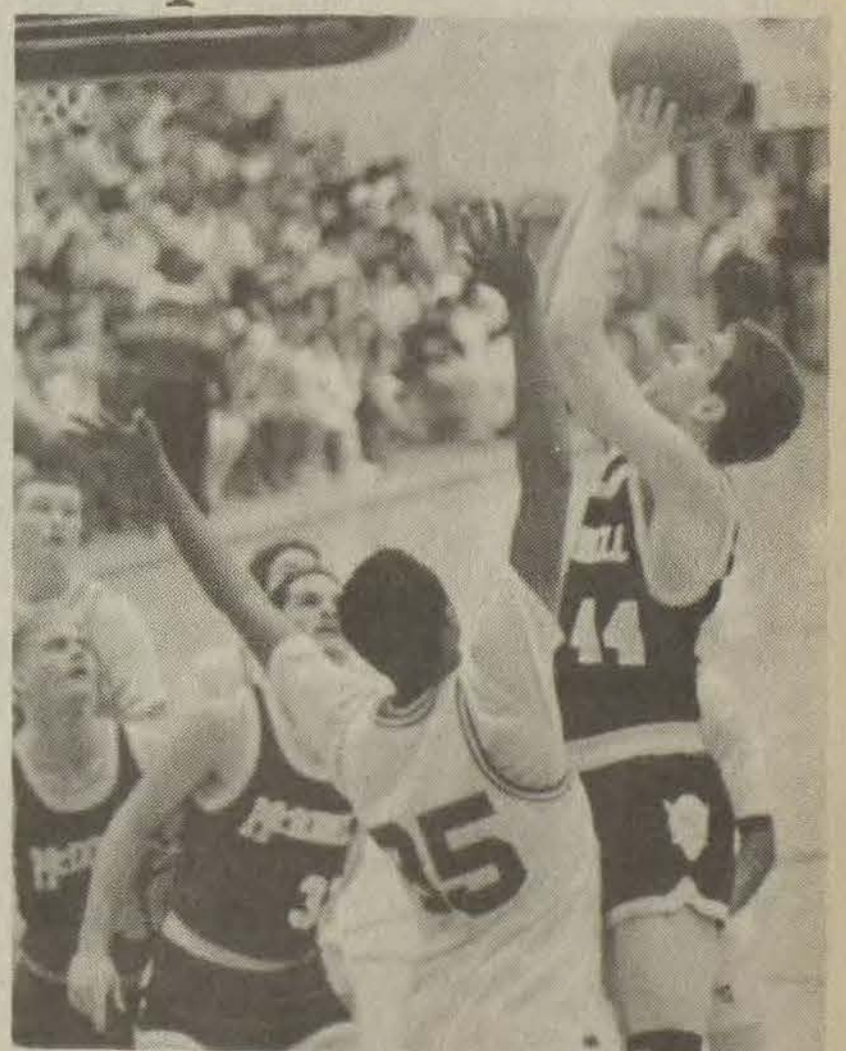

The Pikeville coaching staff were stunned (So were a lot of McDowell fans.) as they saw their team blow a 19-point lead and lose on a last second shot by Stacy Hall — thus ending their season and dreams of a state tournament trip.

Pikeville had its way in the first quarter, shooting 80 percent in building up a 29-10 first quarter advantage. The Panthers had a seven-point lead, 79-72, with only 48 seconds remaining in the game as they hit seven of eight free throws, five of six by Lee Jones.

Stacy Hall, who had 23 points in the game, hit a three-pointer with 39 seconds remaining to make it 79-75. McDowell went to a full court press. Then Hall knocked the ball loose where Barry Hall recovered it and hit another three-pointer to draw to within one point, 79-78, with 32 seconds to go.

Pikeville's Murry Garvin went to the free throw line for two shots after Keith Shelton (44) had a good game, scoring 25 points, against Pikeville Monday night. Shelton's output helped the Daredevils to advance to the semifinals of the 15th Regional tournament Monday night as they defeated the Panthers, 83-82.

Lose 19-point lead

Blackcats lose heartbreaker to McDowell in overtime, 87-86

What a night for high school basketball in Floyd County on Thursday night at J.E. Campbell Arena as perhaps the best high school basketball game of the tournament, from the fans' standpoint, was played between two excellent teams: Prestonsburg and McDowell.

The Daredevils came from a 19-point deficit early in the second period to defeat the Blackcats in overtime, 87-86, behind the 31-point output by Stacy Hall. It was an almost unbelievable comeback.

Prestonsburg looked like a team that came to play and was ready to get the chance to defend its 15th Regional title from last year. The game had shades of last season's two barnburners at the Prestonsburg Fieldhouse in district and regional tournaments finals.

McDowell won last year's district over a statebound Prestonsburg team. The Blackcats returned the favor by coming back from a 12-point half time disadvantage to win over McDowell and head on to Rupp Arena.

The Blackcats looked awesome in the first quarter and four minutes into the second stanza. Two unsung heroes led the Blackcats in their charge, Joe Burchett and Jeff Sloan.

Even though Burchett scored only eight points in the game, his timely shooting kept the Blackcats out in front. Sloan finished with 11 points and had a good showing in the out-

Prestonsburg took a quick 4-0 lead on a three-pointer by Ray Collins and a free throw by Chris Slone. Mike Duddleson hit a 'tre' to make it 4-3. Then a 13-4 run gave the Blackcats a 18-7 lead with 2:48 to go. After a McDowell time out, Slone hit another three-pointer and Burchett cashed in two charity tosses for a 22-9 lead. It was 24-13 at the first stop.

Doug Hopkins hit a three-pointer at the start of the second stanza to make it 24-16. Then the roof fell in for the Daredevils as the Blackcats went on a scoring spree, running off 11 straight points to claim an overwhelming 35-16 lead.

Sloan hit four straight free throws. John Clark hit a three-pointer and a charity toss, and Kevin Adams completed the run with a three-point play the hard way.

Then McDowell went to work. Stacy Hall hit a basket and two free throws to make it 35-20. After Sloan completed a three-point play, Marc Hall hit from 10 feet; Stacy Hall connected on two free throws; Marc Hall scored again from 10 feet. A bucket and charity toss by Stacy Hall added to a 13-3 run by the Daredevils. Worthie McGuire hit a jumper and McDowell scored the last five points of the half cutting the lead to seven, 41-34, at the half.

"We thought if we could get the lead down to 10 by half time we would be in good shape," said McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner.

Marc Hall hit a three-pointer, and Keith Shelton scored on a turnaround to make the score 43-42 in the third period. On a great second effort, Chris Slone nailed one from outside to make it 45-42. The Prestonsburg bench was whistled for a technical and Shelton hit one of the two shots.

Marc Hall put the Daredevils ahead for the first time with 1:58 remaining in the third period when he intercepted a Prestonsburg pass for a lay up and gave the Daredevils a 57-56 lead. Hall was fouled on the play and converted the free throw, making it 58-56. Burchett's jumper tied the score at 58-58 at the end of the third period.

With 5:54 to go in the fourth quarter, Prestonsburg took a four-point lead, 66-62, on two free throws by Clark. Clark later kept the five-point lead for the Blackcats at 71-66 on a three-pointer, following a McDowell turnover.

McDowell scored the next five points to tie the game at 71-71. Two free throws by Slone and Jeff Sloan made it 75-71. Adams then sank two charity tosses for a 77-71 Prestonsburg lead with 38 seconds to go in the game.

Stacy Hall hit a three-pointer at the :29 mark: 77-74, Prestonsburg. A tie up under the Prestonsburg basket: possession arrow, McDowell. Stacy Hall converts three throws, game tied at 77-77. With eight seconds to go in the contest, Stacy Hall fouls out when he fouls Kevin Adams. Adams gets the one and a bonus. Adams misses the chance to win the game for Prestonsburg, by missing the charity tosses and sends the game into overtime.

"I told our players that I got them back into the game now they were to win it," said Stacy Hall upon fouling out.

In overtime, Marc Hall slipped through the Blackcats' defense for a basket, and after a Prestonsburg turnover, Hall scored again on the same play to give McDowell an 81-77 lead. McGuire missed the front end of a bonus situation.

McDowell on its next possession was called for charging, and Chris Slone came down to hit a bucket, making the score 81-79. Hall again got inside the defense of Prestonsburg where he scored and was fouled. Hall converted the free throw, and it was 84-79.

With 54 seconds to go in overtime, Hall fouls out. Chris Slone hits two free throws for a 84-81 score. McDowell misses two front ends of one and ones. Barry Hall then converts a free throw to give McDowell a 85-81 lead. Burchett, with 15 seconds remaining, hits a big bucket for Prestonsburg and it's 85-83. McDowell on the in bounds play turns the ball over. Slone's three-point attempt is short and out of bounds, giving the ball to Prestonsburg. Clark then is ousted as he fouls Barry Hall with 10 seconds showing. Hall hits both shots for a 87-83 lead. Slone hits a three-pointer just before the horn as the Daredevils make a great comeback to win over a good Prestonsburg team, 87-86.

Marc Hall had 22 points for McDowell and Shelton added 12. Duddleson finished with 11.

Prestonsburg placed six players in double figures, led by Slone's 17 points. Adams tossed in 15 and a trio had 11 points each: Collins, Clark and Sloan. McGuire had 10 and Burchette finished with eight.

Hamilton's 25 points drive down WHS

The Betsy Layne Bobcats said "no way" to the Wheelwright Trojans in this year's first round of the 58th District tournament at Allen Central on Thursday night.

The past two seasons the Lady Trojans have come into the first round games having to play the number one seed. This year was no different. The opponent for their first game was no different. However, the outcome this time around was different as the Lady Bobcats rode the 25-point performance of Brenda Hamilton to a 64-56 win over the Wheelwright team.

But the win did not come easily for the Lady Cats as Wheelwright kept pace with them throughout.

"We rebounded really well tonight against Wheelwright," Betsy Layne coach Gary Hopkins said. "I do want to say one thing, Wheelwright has a great basketball team."

"We got the second and third shots against them because we worked well on the boards offensively."

The Lady Trojans had several opportunities to take the score over the Lady Bobcats but were unable to connect from the field. The defense of Hamilton was frustrating to Wheelwright. Hamilton had several steals in the game as Wheelwright did not take care of the basketball. Betsy Layne led at the end of the first quarter, 10-8.

Jedon Hood hit a basket opening the second quarter, but the Lady Cats went on a 6-0 run to go ahead, 16-10. In that spurt, Hamilton stole the ball twice for two easy baskets. Jamie Smith, who had 11 points in the game and played well on the boards, also had a bucket in the spurt.

Betsy Layne had a 30-22 lead with 1:40 remaining in the half when Lady Trojan point guard Becky Allen hit two "treys" to cut the lead to two, 30-28, by half time.

Wheelwright was guilty of some erratic passing in the third period and allowed Betsy Layne to go on a 9-2 run for a 39-30 lead. Two free throws by Allen and her third three-pointer cut the lead back to four, 39-35. Nancy Shepherd, who had been quiet all night, hit a basket and a three-pointer for a 44-35 lead for Betsy Layne.

Wheelwright could only come to within seven the rest of the game, losing to Betsy Layne, 64-56.

"Even though we had some defensive mental breakdown, the three-pointers Shepherd hit helped keep us ahead. Of course, they hit some three-pointers also," said Hopkins. "I thought our defense tired them down in the fourth quarter."

For Betsy Layne, Hamilton, Sheila Hall and Shepherd each had nine rebounds. Hamilton had four assists and Hall dished off three. Betsy Layne turned the ball over nine times and hit 10 of 22 free throw attempts.

Wheelwright (56) April Bradford, 10; Becky Allen, 15; Jedon Hood, 21; Carrie Smith, 11; Collins, 2.

Betsy Layne (64) Brenda Hamilton, 25; Nancy Shepherd, 11; Brianna Boyd, 7; Jamie Smith, 11; Sheila Hall, 2; Melissa Bailey, 4; Nikki Webb, 4.

Kentucky Afield

By Carolyn Lynn

Kentucky will kick off National Fishing Week by offering free fishing days June 2-3.

From this year forward, Kentucky's annual free fishing days will be observed the first weekend in June.

Just what does "free fishing mean?"

No matter what your age or where you live, anyone may fish Kentucky waters the first weekend in June without a sport fishing license. However, anglers must observe current size and creel limits and all other regulations that govern fishing in Kentucky. And if your trek to the water requires entering private land, be sure to ask permission first.

Free fishing days are designed to promote recreational angling by introducing persons of all ages to this healthy, wholesome and relaxing outdoor sport. Additionally, the special free fishing weekend provides an excellent avenue to showcase Kentucky's many fishing opportunities as well as boost tourism.

Kentucky's statewide free fishing days were established in 1988 by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

"HIP" GIVES WILDLIFE A PLACE TO LIVE

When landowners join with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and get HIP for wildlife, both wildlife, landowners and sportsmen benefit.

HIP is an acronym for the department's Habitat Improvement Program. HIP has an attractive incentive for participants — cost sharing.

The program allows the department to share costs with landowners who want to create or improve wildlife food and cover areas on their property. Working with the landowner, the district wildlife biologist recommends specific management practices tailored to the land and the owner's interest.

The welfare of Kentucky's wildlife relies greatly on the number of landowners who provide appropriate habitat on their property. Why? Because almost 95 percent of Kentucky's land areas are privately owned. And virtually every change made to land has an impact on wildlife — either positive or negative.

Participation in HIP helps landowners make land use changes they want which are good for wildlife, not bad. And HIP's cost sharing benefits "ain't bad either."

Call your district wildlife biologist, and get HIP on wildlife.

If you want to know who your district wildlife biologist is, or want more information on the Habitat Improvement Program, contact the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, Division of Public Relations, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

GRASS CARP MUNCH POND VEGETATION

Grass carp can rid your farm pond of unwanted vegetation in a relatively short time. These fish eat spiny-leaf naiad, musk grass, curly pondweed, duckweed, hydrilla, as well as other aquatic plants. Grass carp also eat some species of algae.

Grass carp may be purchased directly from any supplier certified by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' fisheries division to deliver only triploid grass carp to Kentucky waters. (Triploid grass carp cannot successfully reproduce.)

A list of certified suppliers is available from any fisheries district biologist or the Division of Fisheries, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Rebels hold off stubborn Trojans, 45-31

Coach Monroe Jones' Wheelwright Trojans just would not say "give" to the Allen Central Rebels of coach Johnny Martin in the 58th District tournament at Allen Central's J.E. Campbell Arena Thursday night.

The Trojans were not taken lightly by the Rebels, who knew that Wheelwright is one of the most explosive clubs in the county.

Allen Central used a patient offense to offset the up tempo type of game that the Trojans wanted to play. The game was filled with a lot of turnovers that came from mental mistakes.

The first quarter became a three-point shooting contest as both teams hit two 'treys' each. Brad Compton's basket put the Trojans on top 2-0 and Joey Conn hit from the corner to tie it at 2-2. Steven Johnson's bucket made it 4-2 and Kevin Spurlock's three-pointer put the Rebels on top, 5-4. Johnson had two three-pointers and Mike Hancock hit one for Allen Central as the first period ended deadlocked at 10-10.

It looked as if the Rebels were going to have things their way with the patient offense, opening the second stanza with six unanswered points. Hancock hit his second three-pointer. Rick Smith, who was playing with strep throat, hit a short base line jumper sandwiching a Conn free throw to propel the Rebels out in front 16-10.

Jones called time for his Trojans with 4:26 to go in the second period. The Trojans had Harold Johnson to move more to the middle of the Rebels defense after the time out, and the sophomore hit two buckets and senior Bobby Hood had a bucket and a three-pointer that led a Trojan charge of 9-0 to claim a 19-16 lead.

"We started running Johnson (Harold) up the block, the high post, and he got some good moves inside and we took the lead," Wheelwright coach Monroe Jones said of his team's comeback.

Conn snapped the Rebel drought with a basket, and after Wheelwright was whistled for a turnover for walking, Smith hit underneath to end the half and send the Rebels to the locker room with a scant one-point lead, 20-19.

Both teams returned to the floor tight, and both had problems in handling the basketball. Johnson put the Trojans on top, 21-20, with a quick score. Smith hit for AC and Cotton Parsons followed with jumper for a 24-21 Allen Central lead. Hood hit his second 'trey' to tie the game at 26-26, and Spurlock scored just before the quarter ended to send AC into the lead at 28-26.

Allen Central opened the fourth with a 6-0 run and a 34-26 lead. The Trojans really struggled in the final period, managing five points in the stanza. Conn intercepted a pass and drove the length of the court for a bucket to put the sealer on the game. Conn also hit five of seven free throw attempts in the final 1:30. Hancock topped off the scoring with an open lay up.

Conn led the Rebels in scoring with 12 points. Smith and Hancock each tallied 11 points. Spurlock tossed in nine.

Hood was the only double figure scorer for the Trojans with 10 points. Harold Johnson scored nine and Steve Johnson had eight.

"You bet I'm happy," Rebel mentor Johnny Martin stated about his team's win. "When you're younger and get beat, you just say we'll get them next year. When you get older you're happy with any win. I feel fantastic.

"People don't realize what goes into a game like this," he remarked. "The kids did it. They played good defense and hit the boards well especially in the fourth quarter. We didn't shoot the ball well at all, but a lot of people don't realize what good players Wheelwright has. Bobby Hood, Brad Compton, Steven Johnson — he can shoot with anybody in the conference on three-pointers — and Harold Johnson."

"Allen Central was just too big for us," said Jones of his team's loss. "When you have the wide players, it makes a difference. It makes it hard to get around them and they kept moving everybody out to where we could not penetrate."

Allen Central shot just 32 percent in the first half. Martin lauded Rick Smith for his courage to play the game.

"Rick is really sick," Martin explained. "I told him I was going to give him the game ball. Really the slow-paced game was helpful for Rick. We just couldn't go with him too long."

Smith had to be taken out periodically for rest. Two doctors were around the bench to keep check on him.

"My legs were a little wobbly during the time I was in there," says Smith. "I'll just go home now and stay in until Saturday night so I can be ready to play then."

Allen Central (45) Joey Conn, 12; Kevin Spurlock, 9; Rick Smith, 11; Cotton Parsons, 2; Mike Hancock, 11.

being fouled on a field goal attempt. Carvin, who had 10 points in the contest, missed both charity tosses. McDowell rebounded the ball and missed a layup at the other end. The pursuit resulted in a jump ball situation with the possession arrow favoring McDowell.

On a broken play, Stacy Hall found Britt Stumbo open under the basket for a reverse lay up to give McDowell its first lead in the game at 80-79 with 14 seconds to go.

Johnny Hale took the ball to the basket hard for two points, and he was fouled by Keith Shelton, to give back the lead to Pikeville at 81-80. Hale missed the three-point conversion and McDowell rebounded the basketball and missed a easy lay up at the other end.

Pikeville regained possession of the ball, and Steve Bailey was fouled. Bailey hit the first of the two shots to give Pikeville a slim 82-80 lead. Bailey missed the second attempt, and Hall rebounded the missed shot, heading up court when he was fouled. Hall stepped to the line with a chance to tie the game with :02 to go.

Hall's first shot hit nothing but the net. The second was off to the right of the basket where McDowell center Keith Shelton attempted to tip the ball back in. The attempt missed and Hall grabbed the ball and in one motion put the ball in the basket as the horn sounded, giving the Daredevils a stunning upset of the highly regarded Panther team.

"I was going to the goal for the score on the tip in," said Shelton of his shot. "Stacy was there to put it back."

"I thought it was all over for us," remarked Marc Hall after fouling out of the game with 2:26 to go. "The players on the bench told me that this is not your last game. This is the greatest team I've played on."

"This is a team that believes in themselves," he continued, "and I just could not believe we won it."

The large McDowell crowd was jubilant and stayed around the gym celebrating the victory.

"This is a team that did not quit," said former Daredevil Glenn Turner. "I believe the big lead early in the first quarter took the Pikeville fans out of the game and they could not get back into it."

"I'm in shock," McDowell cheerleader Kim Reynolds explained. "I knew the basket Stacy shot would be good."

"I thought of all the hard work these two boys have put into the game of basketball," says Lanny Hall, father of Stacy and Marc Hall, of his thoughts when he saw the ball go in. "I also thought the referees would not call it good."

The same thoughts went through the mind of McDowell forward Scott Shannon. "I was afraid they would not count the basket."

"We have beaten most of the teams that beat us earlier in the season," said the game's hero, Stacy Hall. "Pikeville beat us bad in the Pikeville Invitational and now we have beaten them."

"We had a team meeting today (Monday) before the pep rally and decided we needed to play team ball and help out on defense."

Hall said that playing against good teams motivates him to give his best. "I get pumped up when we play good teams and when I go up against a good player."

Hall says that he knows when his foul shots are going to miss and he knew the second one was off.

"Just shades of Prestonsburg," said assistant coach Jimmy Hopkins, referring to the Daredevils' comeback against Prestonsburg in district play where they were also 19 points down.

"McDowell is a young team and wasn't attacking Pikeville's defense in the first quarter. Coach Turner told the kids at half time 'You can't lay back' — not to let down and give up the intensity," Hopkins said. McDowell cut the Panthers' 19 point lead to six just before half time.

Coach Turner's thoughts when the ball went through the hoop: "Count it," he said. "We were sitting back and tight in the first quarter and the players were nervous."

McDowell manager Mike Miller says that he "felt great" and it took a team effort to win.

McDowell advances to play Feds Creek on Monday night at 6:30 p.m. McDowell improves to 13-16 overall and Pikeville finishes its season at 25-5.

AC handles MHS in semifinals, 56-41

The thing the Allen Central Lady Rebels wanted to avoid coming into this basketball game was a repeat of last year when they were one of the favored teams to win the 58th District tournament but lost in the first round to McDowell.

That did not happen this time around as the Lady Rebels defeated the Lady Daredevils, 56-41, last week to advance to the tournament finals. Point guard Stacy Moore tossed in 14 points, teammate Jo Ann Conn added 12 and Teresa Gibson scored 11, to lead the Lady Rebs to victory.

McDowell seemed to own the offensive and defensive boards in the early going with Allen Central getting only one shot at the basket and the Lady Daredevils two and three.

However, McDowell could not hit from the field.

Jo Ann Conn scored the first five points in the game for a 5-0 Allen Central lead. Priscilla Crawford came back with two field goals to make it 5-4. Gibson hit a three-pointer and a two-pointer after a Lori Bryant score, to put Allen Central up 10-6. Bryant hit again and Gibson's free throw gave AC a 11-8 first quarter lead.

Allen Central doubled the score on the Left Beaver school in the early goings of the second stanza. Jenny Yates got two baskets, one on an eight-footer and the other off a break, and Conn tossed a free throw for a 16-8 lead.

With 5:17 to go, Conn picked up her third personal foul and was relegated to the bench. Then Stacy Moore went to work, scoring eight points to give Allen Central a 26-14 half-time lead.

McDowell wasn't through yet. The Lady Devils scored nine unanswered points to pull within Allen Central, 28-23, and then to within three, 28-25, on a bucket by Bryant.

Allen Central then outscored the Lady Daredevils, 10-4, to lead at the third stop, 40-31, with Moore getting six points in the run. McDowell lost Lori Bryant by the foul route with 5:49 to go in the fourth quarter. A 10-2 run by Allen Central put the game out of reach for McDowell, ending the Daredevils' season.

The Lady Daredevils had been on five-game winning streak and were hoping for another trip to the 15th Regional tournament.

Lori Bryant took game scoring honors with 25 points. Crawford and Jenny Stone each had six points.

Marc Hall Day In Floyd County

Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo signed a proclamation proclaiming March 1 as Marc Hall Day in Floyd County. Hall was honored for scoring 1,000 points while playing basketball at McDowell.

Courtside Comments

By Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

MARCH HALL DAY

On Saturday, Feb. 24, Marc Hall of McDowell scored the 1000th point in his career as a high school basketball player, against Johns Creek—a milestone in the senior forward's career. The game was stopped and Coach Johnny Ray Turner presented Hall with the game ball.

Hall began his basketball playing days at Lexington Beaumont Junior High School. For the 1987-88 school year, the Hall family moved to Floyd County where Hall with his younger brother, Stacy, enrolled at McDowell.

Hall has a massed 1,033 points total. In his sophomore year Hall scored 233 points. As a junior he tossed a total of 295. So far as a senior he has totaled 483 points for an average of 19.1 points per game.

Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo declared March 1 "Marc Hall Day" in Floyd County. Hall was presented a proclamation in Stumbo's office in front of his high school coach, Johnny Turner.

Hall credits his younger brother Stacy as being instrumental in helping him become the basketball player that he is.

"We used to play a lot of one-on-one against each other," Hall stated. "He is the toughest I have gone up against." Stacy is a junior at the McDowell school and is the team's leading scorer.

Hall is considering Brigham

Young University or Eastern Kentucky University. He plans to major in physical education.

TOURNAMENT TIDBITS

Todd Duff, assistant coach-turned P.A. man, did an excellent job on the P.A. system during the 58th District tournament. You can tell Duff is an umpire in baseball when he always says, "play ball."

Marsha Brown, basketball whiz from Maytown Elementary, says that she is waiting until next year to play ball for the Lady Rebels at Allen Central. Brown says that she plans to attend three basketball camps this summer.

How about that overhead score board at Allen Central. It has been down for two years and now the night before the tournament it is working fine. Glad someone got it fixed.

FLASH! Scoreboard update. The overhead scoreboard quit working Friday. Had to go back to the old scoreboard on the side wall. How about that overhead score board!

"This one's for you, Judy" shirt worn by Kathy Isaac got a lot of attention at the tournament. The Judy is Judy Eversole former coach at Allen Central.

Can-Cam Video was on hand to video tape all the boys games in the tournament at Allen Central. The tapes are for sale.

No signs were allowed in the gym at Allen Central at Friday and Saturday night games. A letter was sent to each school informing them that the signs had to stay out. However, the artificial noise makers got in.

The fans enjoyed the bands before, after and at half time of the basketball games. But they did not enjoy them when they played while the game was going on. Some bands tried to compete against each other during play.

OTHER SPORTS

The Prestonsburg seven-, eight- and nine-year junior basketball players will travel to Scott County to take part in the double elimination tournament there. The team will face Betsy Layne on Friday night and the tournament will conclude on Sunday afternoon.

There will be a Baseball Card Show at Lloyd's Hardware in Prestonsburg this Sunday from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Ten dealers will be set up and there will be door prizes given away. So come on out to the card show and enjoy yourself.

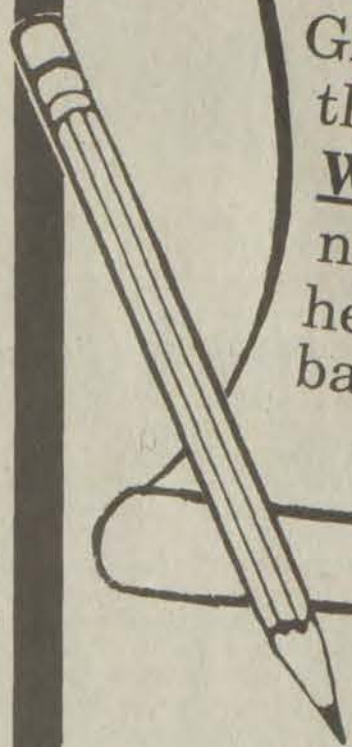

Janice and Norris Salisbury, formerly of Martin, and now living in Warsaw, Ind., secured tickets from Notre Dame for the Kentucky game Monday night. The brave couple wore their UK sweatshirts for the Fighting Irish crowd to know whom they came to support. Both are avid Kentucky fans.

Allen Central coach Johnny Martin savors the moments after his Rebel team captured the 58th District tournament last week over McDowell.

points for a 35-27 score. Allen Central kept the lead pretty much at 11 points as the third period ended at 50-38. The closest the Lady Cats could come to Allen Central in the final period was 10 points as the Lady Rebels went to a stall with 1:26 to go. Conn was removed from the game with 1:06 to go to a standing ovation from the Allen Central fans. Conn was playing in her final game at the Allen Central gym. "We were playing this game for my grandmother, who passed away, for Judy Eversole (former coach) who is in the hospital in Nashville and for Chris Collins (ACHS student) who was killed in an auto accident this week," said Compton of her team's victory. "This is the happiest I have ever been."

A telephone call to the Nashville hospital afforded Eversole, former Lady Rebel and Lady Trojan coach, the opportunity to listen to the last five minutes of the game. Kathy "Catbird" Isaac, long time friend of Eversole's, wore a shirt with "This one is for you, Judy" on the back.

Besides Gibson's 27 points, Conn finished with 17. Boyd led the Lady Cats with 17 points and Bailey added 10.

Former Eversole players

Together at the district tournament were three former Allen Central players who played for coach Judy Eversole at AC: Christie Frye, Kim Shepherd and Trena Hensley. This week's edition of Floyd County Times sports is dedicated to Coach Eversole who is in the hospital in Nashville.

Martin Junior Pros win G'town tournament

The Martin Junior Pro junior varsity All-Star team, coached by Barry Hopkins and Steve Jenkins, traveled to Georgetown to take part in the Junior Pro Invitational basketball tournament last weekend.

Martin won the tournament by defeating a good Madison County team, 55-45.

Jason Blevins led the Martin team in scoring with 14 points while Rocky Newsome and Thomas Jenkins added 10 points each. The Martin team had to win five games to take the championship.

Martin trailed by six points at the half, 24-18, after leading at the end of the first quarter, 11-10. Madison County outscored the Martin team 14-7 in the second period as Kenan McWhorter and Chad Eades combined for 12 of the 14 points.

The Martin junior pros took charge in the third period by outscoring

Madison County, 15-7, in the stanza. Newsome had six points in the period and Bevins scored four as Martin took a 33-31 lead into the final period.

However, it was the free throw shooting of Jenkins in the final quarter that helped Martin win. Jenkins hit six of seven free throws in the quarter. Jenkins also had two field goals as he scored 10 points.

McWhorter was the leading scorer for Madison County with 18 points. Jerod Rigney added eight.

In Martin's first game of the tournament, the local team won over Southeast Gold, 51-41, behind Bevins' 15 points. Southeast was held scoreless in the second period as Martin raced to a 28-7 half-time lead. Bevins and Terrance Mullins had six points each in the first period. Rocky Newsome picked up the scoring in the second with five points.

Kevin Robinson added 11 points for Martin as did Newsome. Mullins finished with six. Justin Hopkins and Robbie Merion tossed in two each.

In the second contest of the tournament, Martin faced a tough Scott County team. However, Bevins and Newsome combined for 44 points to lead Martin to a 68-64 overtime win over Scott County. Bevins tossed in 28 points, and Newsome scored 16.

The score was tied, 54-54, at the end of regulation play. In the overtime for Martin, Bevins scored 10 of Martin's 14 points for the victory. The score was tied at half time 33-33 after Martin held a first quarter lead of 17-13.

Michael Stephens had nine points for Martin and C.K. Dingsu tossed in four. Thomas Jenkins added five points. A trio of players scored two points each: Beau Tackett, Robbie Merion and Kevin Robinson.

Things didn't get any easier for the local team as the locals took on Madison County for the first time. Bevins went to war in the fourth quarter scoring 12 of his game high 19 points to lead the Martin team to a 53-48 win over Madison County in the semifinal round. The score was tied at 16-16 at the half and Madison County held a one-point advantage, 30-29, going into the final quarter.

Beau Tackett had six points in the final period for Martin. Tackett finished with seven points and teammate Rocky Newsome tallied eight. Thomas Jenkins scored six and Robbie Merion had four. Three points were scored by Michael Stephens while Terrance Mullins, Kevin Robinson, and C.K. Dingsu tallied two each. Martin then defeated Scott County, 79-74, for the second time in the tournament, thus eliminating them in the double elimination playoff.

Rocky Newsome had a field day against the Scott County team as he scorched the nets for 42 points. Newsome did not score in the first quarter as the Martin team trailed 14-11 at the first stop. It was 35-26 at the half in favor of Scott County. Then Newsome took charge, scoring 17 points in the final quarter to help the Martin team to victory. Newsome shot 15 free throws in the game and connected on 14. He had 14 field goals in the game. Jason Bevins had 15 points in the game. Kevin Robinson tossed in nine points and Beau Tackett added eight. Robbie Merion added three while Michael Stephens and Justin Hopkins were scoring one point.

58th District Overview

The 1990 58th District Tournament is history. What a great tournament it was. We saw some very good basketball games. I believe the McDowell/Prestonsburg game was the best high school basketball game I have seen. Both teams gave it all they had.

Congratulations to the Allen Central Rebels and Lady Rebels upon winning their respective divisions of the tournament. Also good luck to the Lady Rebels and Lady Bobcats of Betsy Layne in the 15th Regional tournament at Elkhorn City, beginning tonight (Wednesday).

Coach Donnie Daniels did an excellent job as tournament manager. The tournament went really well and the crowds were good. Our thanks to Coach Daniels. I know there had to be some problems that we don't even know about and probably will not hear about.

To Wheelwright High School principal Lonnie Slone and his fine staff of workers, you did a solid job in hosting the tournament. On behalf of the media, we offer our thanks to Brenda Taylor and Betty Mullins for the fine job they did in the hospitality room.

The largest crowd showed up on Saturday night for the finals of the tournament. An estimated crowd of 4,700 was on hand for the final rounds. Each school's band did an outstanding job in supporting their schools. The majorettes entertained the crowds between games and at half times.

Floyd County School Board Member, Dr. Mary Hall, presented the trophies and awards to the girls' team winners. School Superintendent Ronald Hager was on hand to pass out the awards to the boys. Dale McKinney of WMDJ and in cooperation with Ken's Sports Shop presented the Players of the Year awards. Brenda Hamilton of Betsy Layne was named the girls Player of the Year and Allen Central's Rick Smith, boys Player of the Year. Each of the other four nominees also received plaques. The voting was done by the county coaches.

The cheerleaders were also rewarded for their hard work during the tournament. The McDowell boys varsity cheerleaders took first place in the tournament. Betsy Layne's varsity cheerleaders placed second. For the girls, Prestonsburg was first and Betsy Layne finished second.

Junior Newsome, Johnny Ray Turner and Johnny Martin were named.

Co-Coaches of the Year in the conference. Each school, Betsy Layne, McDowell and Allen Central received a trophy for tying for first place in the conference race.

An All-Conference and All-District team were announced for both boys and girls during the ceremonies. (See related story) Each player on the winning and runner-up teams received individual trophies.

An award that needs to be added to the list of trophies is the Sportsmanship award. However, the Wheelwright High School, was recognized as having the best sportsmanship in the tournament.

Wheelwright Lady Trojans won the team free throw trophy for hitting 20 of 27 attempts for 74 percent. Jo Ann Conn of Allen Central took the individual free throw award. Conn made nine of 12 attempts for 75 percent.

In the boys division, McDowell hit 85 percent of free throws for first place, and the individual trophy went to Kevin Spurlock of Allen Central who hit 15 of 16 attempts for 96 percent.

What can you say about the Floyd County Sheriff's department that had eight deputies at each session. They did a great job also. To the Maytown Volunteer Fire Department who handled all the parking at the tournament each night, thanks!

Next year's tournament will return to Allen Central with the Rebels as host school.

Post anesthesia nurses are recognized at Highlands

Of primary importance for hospital surgery patients is the care they receive as they recuperate from surgery in the post anesthesia care unit.

In February, Highlands Regional Medical Center recognized the nurses who provide special care and attention for patients emerging from surgery. The recognition included a reception for these staff members, in conjunction with Post Anesthesia Nurse Awareness Week.

Teresa Collins, RN, BSN, supervisor for the post anesthesia care unit at Highlands, presented a brief history of this type of unit. She explained that the need for post anesthesia nursing was first realized as early as 1751 at an infirmary in New Castle, England, where plans for two-bed recovery units (one for the patient, one for the nurse) were developed.

From the introduction and use of ether in 1868, physicians and hospitals proclaimed their need for specialized nurses to care for post-surgery patients. Also, Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, documented and published papers providing that critically ill or surgical patients benefited physically and psychologically when placed in a specialty care area.

The 1980s saw post anesthesia nurses rightfully receiving their proper place in the medical profession through the emergence of the American Society of Post Anesthesia Nurses, according to Collins. This national organization recognized these nurses as unique individuals who through their education and technical experience "watch over" patients, she said.

William Cook, MD, Board Certified Surgeon at HRMC, voiced his appreciation of the group by saying that as a surgeon he understood the importance of the contributions made by post anesthesia nurses and added that his wife, Jan, was once one.

"Post anesthesia nurses don't always receive the recognition they deserve because sleeping patients don't know how much is being done for them," Cook said.

"These nurses have earned the respect of physicians because of the high quality care they deliver," said Lois Burchett, RN, BS, director of surgery/ambulatory care at the hospital.

Nancy Hall, RN, BS, assistant director of surgery/ambulatory care, told the group she was proud of each of them and appreciated all the efforts they made to see that every patient in the unit received the highest quality care available.

Hall also stated that the nurses have extensive work experience in oncology, dialysis, critical care, obstetrics, emergency, surgery, medical surgical, home health and cardiac catheterization.

"Care is the heart and core of the nursing profession," Hall said. "High-technology should be — and at Highlands is — high touch."

Those honored were Nancy Allison, RN, BSN, Chieita Lykins, RN, Leatha Osborne, RN, Rebecca Osborne, RN, Teresa Scott, RN, and Norcie Jervis, RN, CNOR.

Advocate available at ADD for long term patients, families

Problem solving takes more than the "luck of the Irish." Anyone who has ever tried to resolve a dispute knows it takes hard work, patience and all the Juck St. Patrick has to offer.

The long-term care ombudsman is a person to whom residents of nursing homes, personal care homes and family care homes and their families may turn to voice complaints regarding services or to resolve a problem between them and a long-term care facility.

The long-term care ombudsman is a certified person authorized to in-

County Kettle

County Kettle

Is a feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653

Do you feel like your days are spent playing "beat the clock?" Then you're probably in need of some time-saving tips that will help you win the game, particularly in the afterwork hours.

Quick and easy, convenient, under 20 minutes recipes are important to today's cook. Luckily, technology and cooking techniques using microwave oven can make mealtime less hectic for active families.

One quick-cooking microwave technique for meat is to cook thin strips rather than cubes and prepare them in recipes such as Tangy Microwave Beef Barbecue. This entree can be prepared and cooked in about half an hour.

If you have a little extra time you may wish to partially freeze a top round steak so it's easier to slice it into thin, 1/8 inch strips. These steak strips could be cut in advance and stored in a covered bowl in the refrigerator.

To cook steak strips in the microwave oven, spread them in a single layer in a covered microwave-safe baking dish to simulate the conventional braising cooking method.

TANGY BEEF BARBECUE

Preparation time: 15 minutes

Cooking time: 15 minutes

1 lb. beef top round steak, cut 3/4 inch thick

1 medium onion, thinly sliced & separated into rings

1/3 cup catsup

2 Tbsps brown sugar

1 Tbsp cider vinegar

1 tsp each cornstarch, dry mustard and hot pepper sauce

1/2 tsp salt

4 corn muffins, quartered

Cut beef top round steak into 1/8 inch thick strips; reserve. Place onions in single layer over bottom of 11-3/4 by 7-1/2 inch microwave-safe baking dish. Cover with waxed paper and microwave at high 2 minutes.

Arrange reserved beef strips over onions. Microwave covered at medium or 50 percent power (300 to 325 watts) 5 minutes. Pour off drippings. Meanwhile combine catsup, brown sugar, vinegar, cornstarch, dry mustard, hot pepper sauce and salt, mixing thoroughly. Stir into beef mixture and continue cooking covered, at medium 8 minutes*, stirring after 4 minutes. Arrange muffins on individual plates. Stir beef mixture and spoon an equal portion over each muffin. 4 servings. 406 calories per serving.

* Full-sized ovens, microwave at Medium 6 to 7 minutes; stirring after 3-1/2 minutes.

Note: 3/4 cup original flavor barbecue sauce, 2 tps chili powder and 1/2 tsp dried oregano leaves may be substituted for catsup, brown sugar, cider vinegar, cornstarch, dry mustard, hot pepper sauce and salt.

Ground beef is the perfect choice for time-saving summer meals. It's easy to prepare, versatile, economical and almost everyone likes it. Any ground beef, lean-to-fat ration from 70 to 90 percent, may be used in this recipe.

WARM MEATBALL AND LETTUCE SALAD

Preparation time: 10 minutes

Cooking time: 5 to 10 minutes

1 lb ground beef (80 percent lean)

1/2 tsp salt

1/2 cup prepared red wine vinegar dressing

4 cups torn green or red leaf lettuce

1 medium zucchini, thinly sliced

1 medium tomato, cut into eighths

1/2 medium red onion, cut lengthwise and sliced into thin wedges

1/2 cup croutons

Pinch off 1-inch pieces of ground beef to make about 32 free form meatballs; cook in a heavy non-stick frying pan over medium-high heat, shaking pan occasionally to brown about 4 to 5 minutes.

Pour off drippings. Remove meatballs with slotted spoon; season with salt. Add dressing to frying pan; heat until hot.

Meanwhile combine lettuce, zucchini, tomato and red onion in large bowl. Add meatballs and heated dressing; toss lightly to coat evenly. Spoon salad onto large serving platter; sprinkle with croutons. 4 servings, 499 calories per serving.

Working moms will love this hearty one-dish dinner. The recipe calls for convenient, nutritious Wisepride sharp cheddar cold pack cheese spread and a few staples. Add a green salad to round out a wholesome meal.

QUICK BEEF AND PASTA BAKE

Preparation time: 20 minutes

Cooking time: 40 minutes

1 lb lean ground beef

1/2 cup chopped onion

2 cups tomato juice

1 1/2 cups (4 oz.) uncooked rotini

1/2 tsp each basil, garlic powder, oregano and salt

1/4 tsp pepper

1 cup (8 oz.) Wisepride sharp cheddar cold pack cheese spread

Saute beef and onion until meat is browned and onion is tender. Discard any fat. Stir in tomato juice and bring to a boil. Stir in remaining ingredients except cheese. Turn into a 1-1/2 quart baking dish. Cover and bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes, until pasta is tender. Dot evenly with cheese and bake 10 minutes longer, or until cheese is melted. Garnish with fresh basil or oregano, if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Newest among the culinary new is the timesaving "old" way being used to cook today's lean and tender beef roasts. Poaching, a classic cooking method for poultry and fish, can reduce the cooking time of a beef roast by at least one-third.

Beef eye round, rib eye and tenderloin roasts all may be poached with equally good results. No special equipment is needed. A roast weighing two pounds fits comfortably in a Dutch oven.

An initial browning gives the roast the same attractive color achieved by the more time consuming roasting. The poaching liquid is added, and the roast gently simmers until it reaches 130 degrees. An instant-read thermometer simplifies checking for doneness.

POACHED BEEF EYE ROUND ROAST

Preparation time: 10 minutes

Cooking time: 20 to 30 minutes

2 lb beef eye round roast

2 Tbsps oil

3-1/2 cups water

1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed beef broth

1 cup Burgundy wine

2 cloves garlic, minced

1 tsp dried marjoram leaves

4 black peppercorns

3 whole cloves

Mushroom Sauce* if desired

Tie beef eye round roast with heavy string at 2 inch intervals. In Dutch oven brown roast in oil over medium-high heat until all sides are browned. Pour off drippings. Add water, beef broth, wine, garlic, marjoram, peppercorns and cloves. Bring to a boil; reduce heat to medium-low, cover and simmer 15 minutes per pound. Temperature will register 130 degrees on meat thermometer. Do not overcook. Remove roast to serving platter. Cover tightly with plastic wrap or aluminum foil and allow to "stand" 10 minutes before carving. During standing time, roast will rise about 10 degrees in temperature to 140 degrees for rare. Remove string. Carve roast into thin slices and serve with Mushroom Sauce, if desired. 168 calories per 3-ounce, cooked, trimmed serving.

*MUSHROOM SAUCE

Preparation time: 5 minutes

Cooking time: 7 minutes

1 cup beef poaching liquid, strained

1 cup sliced mushrooms

1 Tbsp margarine

1-1/2 tsp cornstarch

1/4 tsp salt

2 dashes pepper

1 Tbsp thinly sliced green onion tops

Cook and stir mushrooms in margarine in medium sauce pan 5 minutes; remove and reserve. Add poaching liquid, cornstarch, salt and pepper to pan. Bring to a boil. Cook and stir until thickened, 1 to 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in reserved mushrooms and green onion. Yield: About 1-1/2 cups. 20 calories per 3 Tbsp serving.

KIMBERLY D. HORNE

DAR CHOOSES GOOD CITIZEN NOMINEE
John Graham Chapter NSDAR met Tuesday, Feb. 13 at 3:30 p.m. at the Emma Wells May Cultural Center, with regent Mrs. Carl R. Horn, presiding.

The DAR rituals were led by the chaplain, Mrs. J.C. Stepp; the Pledge of Allegiance by Opal S. May; the American Creed by the regent; and the national defense message "Is Moscow cutting its defense?" by Dorothy Osborne.

DAR Good Citizen Chairperson Virginia S. Goble introduced Kimberly D. Horne, a Prestonsburg High School senior, who spoke on "Our American Heritage and My Responsibility to Preserve It." During her speech, Horne emphasized "I am proud to be an American, for at least, I am free. I live in the greatest country in the world. My forefathers have made this a land of freedom and the brave men who fought to preserve my freedom will never be forgotten."

Horne, the daughter of Seldon and Ramona Horne of Prestonsburg and a member of the First Baptist Church of Prestonsburg and the youth council there, is a member of the National Honor Society, National Beta Club. She is a Congressional Scholar nominee and was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students. She was voted "most likely to succeed" and Outstanding Senior at PHS.

She received the National History and Government Award, United States National Mathematics Award, was listed on the Honor Roll for four years and has perfect attendance for four years of high school. She serves on the Yearbook staff and as statistician for the football team, and is a member of the Pep Club and Tennis Team. She plans to attend Georgetown College.

Goble presented Horne with the DAR Good Citizen Medal, certificate, and DAR identification card, and thanked Norma Neeley, PHS English instructor, for serving as the school chairperson.

During the business session, conducted by Eleanor Horn, Frances Brackett reported on the Floyd County Bicentennial Committee work, done by committee members: Kathryn Frazier, Mr. and Mrs. Russell May, Bob Castle, Dave Stephens and herself. Virginia Goble, reported on the Floyd County Retired Teacher's project on rural, one-room schools, and Pauline Burchette on the writing of "The Early History of Prestonsburg."

Goble gave a report on the recently chartered Lewis and Benge DAR Chapter, at Manchester, which has 46 new members. She reported the application of Elizabeth Campbell Brackett, joining the chapter under Revolutionary soldier John Napier.

Brackett read a message from Anna Harmon Stumbo, charter member of Prestonsburg, and a note from Mrs. Jacob Henson, Sixth District press chairperson of Olive Hill. She also read an invitation from the Transylvania Chapter, Lexington, to attend memorial services for the past KSDAR recording secretary, Mrs. William Klaren, to be held Tuesday, March 13 at 3:30 p.m. at the Lexington Cemetery.

The regent announced that the 94th State Conference of KSDAR will be March 13, 14 and 15 at the Marriott Resort in Lexington, and asked that reservations for luncheons and banquets there be made with Virginia S. Goble, chairperson. She also announced that Mrs. Ray Brackett, state registrar, and Mrs. Charles F. Gibson, state chaplain, will conduct a memorial service for 150 deceased DAR Kentucky members. Those from John Graham included in this memorial service are the late Tress May Francis and Edith Fitzpatrick James.

Get-well cards were signed and sent to Margaret Spradlin, Olga A. Preston, Mae Kendrick, Alice Harris and Maurine Mayo.

The hostesses, Paulene Burchett, Frances Brackett and Eleanor Horn, served refreshments to Seldon and Ramona Horne, Kimberly Horne and Beverly Osborne, guests, and members, Opal S. May, Dorothy Osborne, Fannie Runnels, Norma S. Stepp and Virginia S. Goble.

Before his retirement, Vickers served as director of public transportation with the Kentucky Department of Education and as assistant to Dr. Robert R. Martin, president of Eastern Kentucky University. He discussed the importance of increasing membership, the possibility of state taxation of teacher retirement, the necessity of getting particular bills passed during this legislative session, what to expect from health insurance policies, and the possibility of cost-of-living increases in teachers' retirement, for the next two years.

He added that no long-term insurance had, as yet, received an endorsement from the KRTA office.

On behalf of the group, the FCRT president presented Vickers with a certificate of appreciation.

A silent prayer was offered for Vickers' wife Lois and for Lola Ousley and Jarvis Allen, all retired teachers who have passed away since the last meeting.

AFTER THE FALL

When a young child gets a cut or scrape, cleaning the wound and applying antiseptic can cause more commotion than the accident. This is because the two most effective antiseptic agents, alcohol and iodine, cause a burning sensation. To be effective, isopropyl (rubbing) alcohol must be rubbed onto the skin for two minutes. Once it evaporates, its effectiveness is lost. As for iodine tincture (a solution of iodine in alcohol), it is a highly effective antiseptic product, but it takes a brave child to endure its burning effect. A milder but less effective alternative is iodine solution. It contains no alcohol, and does not sting as much. Another good product is a cleanser that contains the antiseptic chlorhexidine. It cleans the wound, and its residue kills bacteria until it wears away.

COOLEY APOTHECARY invites you to come in and to get acquainted with us, even before you need our services. As the "Drug Store with a Difference", we offer our customers a full line of first aid items. In addition, we maintain complete patient profiles so we can check for side effects, drug interactions and for possible allergic reactions. We are located at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. MasterCard and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon. - Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

Hint: Topical antibiotics seldom reach far down into a wound to kill bacteria

WAYLAND SENIORS

Mildred Halbert, center director

Multicolored balloons lined the rails at the entrance to the Wayland Area Senior Citizens Center at Wayland on Wednesday, Feb. 28, as members arrived for their quarterly birthday celebration honoring those seniors who had birthdays in the past quarter.

Forty-seven voices blended as "Happy Birthday" was sung for the 26 birthday honorees. Before a chicken, soup, bean, and cornbread dinner was served, Florence Morrison asked the blessing. Ice Cream and cake were furnished by the Prestonsburg Rotary Club, and the presentation was made by Joe Bolton, a member of that organization. At the close of the meal, a special song was sung by Malcolm Dearing of Wayland.

The Wayland center has become a lively place since its organization only a few months ago, with games on Mondays and Wednesday throughout the day, interspersed with crafts and much jolly conversation.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays members are picked up by van and taken to area locations for shopping and/or doctor appointments. Dinners are served Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Trips are also on scheduled in the near future to Breaks of the Mountains Natural Bridge State Park and an overnight stay at Buckhorn Lake. Longer trips may become a reality by groups joining seniors from other area centers and making arrangements with a public transportation carrier.

Two area centers, Martin and Prestonsburg, have been honored with covered dish dinners by the Wayland group, and Betsy Layne is the next to be so honored on March 9. Mildred Halbert, director of the Wayland Center, advised that each of the 14 area centers will be honored in like manner before the local group starts visiting the other area seniors.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Wayland center on Feb. 26, Hobert Webb's resignation as president was accepted and Elmer Morrison was moved into that position, with Jerry Fults becoming vice president, Bert Hergion remaining as treasurer, Velma Bentley, secretary, and Hobert Bates, Phyllis Fraley, Otis Perry and Lula Ratliff remaining on the board. Libby Martin was elected to fill the vacancy and will serve as chairperson of publicity. The next meeting of the board will be Monday, March 12, at 6 p.m.

CORRECTION

In Friday's Golden Ages column Randolph Crisp was mistakenly identified as the center director for the Wayland Area Senior Citizens. Mildred Halbert is the center director for Wayland and Crisp is the center director of Martin Area Senior Citizens.

By Trisha Morris, PCC Librarian

Education has come to Appalachia in many different forms. The following books from the Prestonsburg Community College Library chronicle Eliot Wigginton's Foxfire experiment, Cora Stewart's Moonlight Schools and the familiar one-room schoolhouse.

Foxfire Reconsidered by John Puckett. In 1966 Eliot Wigginton joined Rabun Gap Nacoochee High School in North Georgia as an English teacher. In a desperate move to interest his 146 students in something, he sent them to their parents, their grandparents, their friends and their community to discover their heritage and report on it. It worked, and the Foxfire experiment was born.

The students recorded the oral histories into book form and, with a lot more trouble than one paragraph can expound, the first Foxfire book went to press in 1972. There are now nine in the Foxfire series. Wigginton's students are eager learners and he has become a guru to teachers in Appalachia, if not the nation.

Two decades after the Foxfire project began, John Puckett takes a hard look at its effects on the students, school and community and offers a definition of Foxfire's place in American education. He provides a detailed portrait of Eliot Wigginton, Foxfire's leader, and documents his "pedagogical style," his relationship with students and his survival strategies as a progressive teacher in a conservative rural community.

The author's access to the personnel, alumni and papers of Foxfire makes this a valuable companion to Wigginton's personal rendition of his experiment in teaching, Sometimes a Shining Moment.

Sometimes a Shining Moment by Eliot Wigginton. Wigginton, a teacher with 20 years tenure in the schools of Rabun County, Ga., is one of the precious resources of the Appalachian region. He and his students first gained wide attention in 1972 with the publication of The Foxfire Book. For the past 14 years, the makers of "Foxfire" have been lights glowing in the night, reporting to us about the history, beauty and richness of Appalachia. Now, with the publication of the long awaited Sometimes a Shining Moment, Wigginton shares his remarkable story and his educational theory and practice with the entire country.

Reviewed This Week:
Foxfire Reconsidered
Sometimes a Shining Moment
Moonlight Schools
The Little White Schoolhouse
Mountain Path

Winner of the Kappa Delta Pi Education Honor Society Book-of-the-Year Award, this is the deeply moving story of one teacher's personal odyssey in Appalachia's public school system.

Moonlight Schools by Cora Stewart. Stewart as superintendent of the Rowan County schools in the early 1900s was often asked to read letters for adults. She soon realized that they needed to read those letters themselves, and they needed to be able to write letters in return. Thus was born the Moonlight Schools of Kentucky—evening schools to be offered when the night was bright, "to emancipate from illiteracy all those enslaved in its bondage."

On Sept. 5, 1911, 150 schoolhouses in Rowan County were opened, teachers who had volunteered their time were waiting—and the people came. "They came singing or hurrying in groups, they came walking miles...with babies in arms...bent with age and leaning on canes, they came 1200 strong."

A success story began that was to lead to Governor McCreary forming the Kentucky Illiteracy Commission in 1911 and Moonlight Schools in other counties of Kentucky, in other states, taken to the illiterate boys drafted to fight in WWI, taken into the prisons, where incarcerated illiterates spent their time learning to read and write, and taken into the homes of those who could not come to the schools.

This book will touch your heart for the dedication of so very few for so very, very many. It is filled with pictures of proud students, examples of letters written in their own hand and statistics taken from census records and superintendents' files. One example reports, "number taught to read and write during a period of four years to 1920...Magoffin Co., 1,400, Floyd Co., 1,600."

The Little White Schoolhouse by Ellis R. Hartford. Mr. Hartford gives a vivid picture of Kentucky's first schoolhouses. Typically painted white, they were ill-equipped, usually dirty, run down, poorly heated and ventilated, where four-year-old and 20-year-old sat in the same school room and were instructed by a teacher ill-prepared for the task.

As the dedication indicates, "To all Kentuckians who lived and learned and loafed and loved in the little white schoolhouse," the author, himself a product of this old-time common school, romantically vests the scene with long walks to school being full of fun and excitement and the small school yard affording space for hundreds of rousing games not needing store bought equipment, while still truthfully presenting the death of such a stark situation.

Hartford's argument is that the Kentucky "little white schoolhouses" added strength and value to the community to which they belonged. Nearly everyone had some connection with such a school. "They built it or maintained it, they elected neighbors as trustees and they felt free to use it for meetings or other interests of their community." The people truly felt that this was their school. He suggests that we might, "strive to obtain schools that fit and belong to their respective communities as did the little white schoolhouse."

Mountain Path, by Harriette Arn-

now. A true story wrapped in a fictitious narrative about a young girl from Lexington who, because of family misfortune, is forced to leave her university classroom and take a teaching position in a small town in Eastern Kentucky.

Besides being a good story depicting an isolated mountain community in the 20s with feuds, stills, church meetings, and impossible love, it is also a typical tale of what life was like for the teacher of the one-room schoolhouse. Paid $56 a month for a seven-month term; given a zinc pail, a dipper, three erasers, a box of chalk and a broom for supplies; sent to a name on the map with the hope that someone would be there; forced to board with a community family, the teachers of the common schools were sent out into the hills of Eastern Kentucky with instructions to do the best that they could.

This first story of the trilogy that ends with the author's most famous book, The Dollmaker, will arouse emotion and add to an understanding of a way of life that is missing from the readings of history books.

REPORT TO THE PEOPLE ON WATER QUALITY AT GARTH HOLLOW

Due to environmental concerns we submit the following report:

In early April, 1981 Solid Waste Director David Cooley and myself stood observing the water flowing downstream in Garth Hollow. The water smelled rancid and was contaminated with minerals from old mining operations. An environmental monitoring lab service was employed to test for minerals. The report showed all the expected minerals that comes from old mining operations (large amounts of iron, manganese, nitrate, etc.). We also desired to know the biological content of the water so we employed the services of Professor Brenda Castle, Chairman of the Department of Biological Sciences at Prestonsburg Community College. We asked her to test the water for all microbiological content. On April 6, 1981 she filed a report with us stating, "These results indicate a confirmed test for the presence of coliforms in all three water samples." We had her take her report to a notary and it was notarized on April 24, 1981. The first bag of garbage was not buried at Garth Hollow until late May, 1981. We determined the source of coliforms to be small game hunters, fox hunters, and dirt bikers who frequently cross the unused sections of the property. To our knowledge there has never been a period of time since 1981 that there has not been coliforms in the water running in Garth Hollow.

Tree pruning demos planned

Two Fruit Tree Pruning Demonstrations have been scheduled for Thursday and Friday, March 15 and 16, according to Gene Ball, Floyd County Extension agent.

The public is invited to attend one of such training meetings scheduled for Thursday, March 15 at the Dana Post Office at 1 p.m. and Friday, March 16 at the Mountain Comprehensive Care Greenhouse Complex at Auxier starting at 10:30 a.m.

Although late winter and early spring is recommended as the best time for pruning fruit trees, it may not be the best time for pruning lawn and landscape shrubs and trees. Ball said trees such as fir, maple, birch, spruce, pine and elm should not be pruned in the spring, mainly because of excessive "bleeding."

Pruning of flowering trees and shrubs as a rule of thumb should be pruned according to their blooming date. Shrubs and trees blooming before June 1 are pruned after blooming. If they bloom after June 1, you can spring prune before the flowers buds are possible, Ball noted.

Couple to wed

Everything you need to close down a crackhouse.

You aren't helpless when crime invades your neighborhood. You're fully capable of helping police and they're ready to show you how.

The case of The Stanton Park Stand-off.

When crack moved into a row house on a quiet block of Stanton Park, folks decided to serve an eviction notice.

They met with police to find out what they could do to keep drugs out of their neighborhood.

The cops told them to keep an eye out—to let police know whenever something suspicious happened. They began to notice faces. They wrote down license numbers of strange cars. They noted the times of odd behavior. They worked with each other. They worked with the police. Armed with field glasses, note pads and telephones, folks kept track of the neighborhood. Within one month, enough evidence had been gathered. Police moved in. Crack moved out. Citizen participation beat crime in D.C. It can do the same for you. ## Stable Mortgage Rates Boost Home Resales in November

Continued declines in mortgage interest rates boosted sales of previously-owned homes in November to the highest level of the year, according to the National Association of Realtors.

The association recorded a seasonally adjusted annual sales rate of 3.59 million existing single-family homes last month, which rose 3.2 percent from October's rate of 3.48 million units. The resale pace was the highest since December 1988, when NAR recorded a rate of 3.92 million units.

However, resales overall were slower than that of one year earlier. The national resale rate was 3.2 percent below that of November 1988, and year-to-year declines were posted for the Northeast and West.

Sharp differences between sales activity in high-cost areas and more moderately-priced markets likely will continue next year, said NAR President Norman D. Flynn. But, the combination of interest rate stability and level home prices likely will keep home sales strong overall, he noted.

He discounted recent reports of a pending national housing recession, noting that such predictions are based primarily on a slowdown in expensive markets, particularly in the Northeast, where prices reached an unsustainable level.

In addition, Flynn pointed out that an examination of the performance of home prices over the past several years shows that housing has been a positive investment for the typical American family. "People who are predicting hard times for housing are not considering how much prices rose in high-cost areas over the past few years," Flynn said.

For instance, in the Northeast, the median existing-home price for November was $145,800, which was 3.6 percent higher than that for November 1988. However, over the past five years the Northeast median price has surged more than 85.0 percent.

In November, the resale pace in the Northeast was 590,000 units, 1.7 percent above the October pace, but 13.2 percent below the pace of a year ago.

"Some large, high-cost markets have experienced some softening this year," said NAR Chief Economist John A. Tuccillo. "However, many smaller, secondary cities are quite strong. When combined, this may average out as an overall slowdown in sales and prices at the national level. But, it doesn't mean the sky is falling."

On a national basis, falling mortgage rates likely will keep home sales steady, as home buyers continue to take advantage of favorable financing, Tuccillo said.

According to the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., the national average commitment rate for 30-year, conventional, fixed-rate mortgages declined from 9.82 percent to 9.74 percent during November.

The national median price for existing single-family homes in November was $93,000, up 5.1 percent from November 1988. Half the homes sold for more than the median, half for less. So far this year, the national median home price has remained in the low- to mid-$90,000 range.

The South recorded a resale pace of 1.42 million units, rising 9.2 percent from October, and 0.7 percent from one year earlier. There, the median existing-home price was $82,400, rising 2.5 percent from November 1988.

In the Midwest, the resale pace was 950,000 units, 4.0 percent below that for October, but 1.1 percent above the November 1988 rate. The median price in the Midwest, $70,900, was 5.2 percent higher than the price one year ago.

"Lower mortgage rates and affordable home prices are bringing moderate-income buyers into markets in the South and Midwest," Tuccillo said. "The median prices for those regions reflect the large volume of sales of lower-priced housing."

In contrast, the West, with concentrations of high-cost housing, posted a November median existing-home price exceeding that for the Northeast. There, the median price was $150,200, jumping 14.7 percent from November 1988. The resale pace in the West, 640,000 units, rose 3.2 percent from October, but fell 5.9 percent from one year ago.

In November, there were 2.42 million existing single-family homes available for sale, representing an 8.1-month supply at the November resale rate. In October, an inventory of 2.17 million units was recorded, which was a 7.5-month supply at the October resale rate.

"The annual rate for a particular month represents what the total number of actual sales for a year would be if the relative resale pace for that month were maintained for 12 consecutive months.

Seasonally adjusted annual rates are used in reporting monthly data to factor out seasonal variations in resale activity. For example, home sales volume normally is higher in the summer and relatively light in the winter months, primarily because of differences in the weather.
