'Job action' threatened as teachers continue demands

by Pam Shingler
Editor

Support from the Kentucky Education Association and United Mine Workers was offered to Floyd County teachers at Friday night's rally at Prestonsburg Community College.

Although only about a third of the almost 500 teachers showed up, those who did attend revealed no shortage of enthusiasm. Applause and standing ovations greeted the roster of speakers who attempted to buoy the Floyd County Education Association's resolve to continue to fight for a 20 percent salary increase in the school system's 1990-91 budget.

Slightly veiled references to a possible strike punctuated the speeches. The decision on a "job action" hinges on the response the teachers get tonight from the Floyd County Board of Education at its regular August meeting. The board has already proposed a 15 percent pay hike, 10 percent from state funds and five from local.

"...in public service, not public servitude."

In the face of a strike threat, Superintendent Ron Hager has said that teachers' strikes are illegal in Kentucky. But Prestonsburg Attorney Ned Pillesdorf told the assembled teachers Friday night that state law gives them the right to strike "if peaceable." However, the attorney added that the Court of Appeals has "made several opinions that you can get fired."

"We will continue to fight in this county until teachers are treated with the respect that they deserve," said Bud Reynolds, president of the FCEA.

In his rousing opening remarks, Reynolds urged teachers not to be afraid or intimidated. He alluded to rumors of "mass firings" if teachers do strike.

"If that happens, we want the rest of the state to recognize it for what it is — the attempt on the part of a few people to hold onto the power that has kept this part of Kentucky behind," he said. (The text of Reynolds' speech appears as a guest editorial on A4 of this paper.)

Love this weather

You couldn't ask for more perfect weather, not too hot, not too cool, no rain and nice sleeping temperatures. Ah! Get out and enjoy it while it lasts; if we're lucky that will be until November.

Wednesday is forecast as sunny and mild with the high near 80. Wednesday night, clear and cool, low in mid-50s. Thursday, mostly sunny, high in lower 80s. Thursday night, clear, lows in lower 60s.

Friday and Saturday mostly fair, highs 80-85, lows in mid 60s, chance of thunderstorms about Sunday.

Rally to meeting

Floyd County teachers have scheduled a second rally to generate support for their salary proposal and increased participation in school decision making — today at 4 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College.

Following at 6 p.m. at Prestonsburg High School will be the regular August meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education. What will the teachers do? What will be the board's response? They're talking about your tax money, your kids, the future of Floyd County. It's a public meeting; see for yourself.

Caption correction

Cindia Williams, who was injured in an auto accident featured in Friday's edition of The Floyd County Times, received serious injuries in the accident and underwent surgery at King's Daughters Hospital in Ashland, according to her family. The Times had received misinformation as to her condition and regrets making the accident appear less serious than it was.

Sign 'em up

Registration for the school year will be Monday, Aug. 13 and Tuesday, Aug. 12 from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. Parents or guardians must register their child in person. No phone calls.

Oops

Due to a reporting error, the word "ton" was mistakenly substituted for "pound" in a story on the weight limit being enforced for the Bert Combs Bridge in Friday's paper. The Times apologizes for this error and to Officer Ricky Conn for misquoting him — he did say pound; the reporter wrote it down wrong.

Creative arts day

All mentally and physically challenged adults are invited to Eastern Kentucky's first ever Creative Arts Day for the differently-abled on Monday, Aug. 13 at Prestonsburg Community College. Activities will be painting, square dancing, singing songs, theatrics and more. The festivities start at 1 p.m. and end at 9:30 p.m. A dinner and dance are included. Contact the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center for a registration form, 886-8572.

FCIA sets bake sale

Floyd Countians In Action, a non profit group seeking stronger waste incinerator regulations, will have a bake sale Saturday, Aug. 11, at 10 a.m. at the Prestonsburg Wal-Mart. The group will also be selling T-shirts.

Coal haulers say rates need to be increased

An estimated crowd of 300 independent truck operators met Sunday afternoon at Archer Park to discuss forming a union-like organization in an attempt to increase the per ton haul rate paid by coal companies.

"We want to run legal," said Thurman West, owner of eight coal trucks. "We don't want to be overweight anymore, but to do that we have to have an increase in the haul rate."

West explained that he would be able to haul only a 60-ton load if the haul rate were increased by $1 per ton. "One dollar more on the ton would work for me — I don't know about other drivers — but that would allow me to get back to where we were when the trucks were hauling illegal loads."

"People think that we make a lot of money," said one trucker who asked not to be identified. "They read that we make $400 a day and so on, but they don't know that it takes about $700 a day just to keep the truck on the road."

"Five years ago I made good money with my truck, now I am lucky to break even. Last year alone I went over $66,000 in the hole, truckers just don't stand a chance as it is," he said.

Most truckers say that they would prefer to run legal weight loads, but are forced to haul heavier loads because of the low haul rate. "When you run heavy all the time," said the unidentified trucker, "you go through more tires, more fuel and higher repair costs. Most all of us who are out there hauling every day would rather haul a legal load, and the ones who think they are making more by running heavy are only fooling themselves into thinking they're making more money. In the long run it will cost them more."

The independent truckers did form an organization at Sunday's rally, and have had office space and telephone service donated for their cause.

The group is still without an official name or elected officials. However, they have made an appointment to speak with Kentucky Secretary of Transportation Milo Bryant today at 2:30 p.m. in Frankfort.

Another independent truckers rally is planned for the near future, however no final plans are available at this time.

Contemplating a strike

Floyd County teachers turned out Friday night to hear a variety of speakers pledge support for the Floyd County Education Association's proposed 20 percent pay hike. Representatives of the local organization, as well as the Kentucky Education Association, United Mine Workers and Pike and Boyd county teacher organizations, spoke to the receptive audience about a possible "job action" — or strike. P'burg to get senior day care

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

With new Title III monies coming in, the home care programs for the elderly in the Big Sandy area have doubled. What that means for those in the area is that more home care aides and four additional case managers will be added, home delivered meals will be provided in areas not previously covered and two new Adult Day Care Centers will be opened.

A total of $630,000 is to be spent on the home care program, said Bonnie Hale, aging planner for the Big Sandy Area Development District. She emphasized that the McDowell, Wayland and Mud Creek areas will see an increase in services for the elderly.

Home care aides are those people who enter people's homes and provide personal care and help with household chores to elderly people to stay in their homes longer and out of nursing homes. The case managers are the people who do the assessments to determine what type of care is needed.

Hale said that national studies have shown that people prefer to stay at home as long as possible, therefore the program has been geared to reflect that attitude.

The additional monies, according to Hale, will also enable the program to do so some contracting with local providers, for example for home repairs such as hand rails, air conditioning or fans to aid in the comfort and care of bedridden people.

Hale announced that $117,000 has been allotted for an Adult Day Care program. This program will enable care takers to get some respite by bringing their person to the Adult Day Care Center.

The new center will be located in a doublewide trailer behind the

Floyd, Pike papers get new publishers

New publishers have been named this week for both The Floyd County Times and Pike County's Appalachian News Express.

Floyd County Times publisher Marty Backus will assume duties at the Pikeville paper this week, replacing Lejeune Waggoner, who is joining an Albermarle, N.C., newspaper.

Scott Perry, publisher of the Paintsville Herald, has been named publisher of The Times and will be moving to the larger paper full time. In the meantime, he will oversee both Floyd County and Paintsville operations until his successor is officially named later this week.

Backus and his wife, Judy, formerly lived in Pikeville. He left four years ago to publish a newspaper in Madison, W.Va., and then moved to Floyd County two years ago.

"Judy and I have made a lot of friends in Prestonsburg in the past two years," Backus said. "But Pikeville is home to us and we are looking forward to a homecoming."

Backus has been involved with several community service organizations in Floyd County, including serving as co-chairman of the Floyd County Litter Task Force, as a director and past vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, president-elect of the Prestonsburg Rotary Club, and the board of directors of East Kentucky United Way. He is also treasurer for the Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association.

Perry says he is looking forward to the challenges and opportunities with the move to Floyd County and intends to continue the "tradition of quality at both The Floyd County Times and The Paintsville Herald."

Perry began his career in the newspaper business at the age of 11 with his parents, Bud and Peggy Perry, former owners of the Paintsville paper. He is a principal in the publication of the Big Sandy News in Louisa.

Perry was one of the founders and served on the first board of Johnson County's Project 2000. He is a past member of the Kentucky Press Association board of directors and a University of Kentucky alumnus. He is a member of the Johnson County Chamber of Commerce, Johnson County Industrial Authority and the joint Paintsville/Prestonsburg Industrial Development.

He and his wife, Celeste, have two children, Megan, 10, and Allan S. Perry IV, 3.

Indictments for brine dumping returned

LEXINGTON — Louis G. DeFalaise, US Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky, announced that indictments were returned against two corporations and a limited partnership on Aug. 1. The indictments charge that Samuel Alcus of New Orleans, La., Carson Hay of Ashland, AEI-KAARS Production Company, AEI-KAARS Drilling Ventures and Carson Associates Inc. aided and abetted each other in discharging brine into branches of the Licking River from oil and gas drilling operations. If convicted, the defendants each face a maximum penalty of three years in jail and a $250,000 fine on each count of the six-count indictment.

Former Magoffin officials seek school board posts

SALYERSVILLE — Former Magoffin County Judge-Executive Paul Salyer and former Salyersville Mayor Tim Bostic have filed as candidates in two Magoffin County school board races. Salyer is seeking the seat in District 4 currently held by Clyde Howard Jr., and Bostic seeks the District 1 seat held by Bobby Joe Johnson. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Riverfront study team coming to Ashland

ASHLAND — The city of Ashland won out over three other Kentucky cities by securing a September visit of a team of architects and engineers who will advise city leaders on riverfront development, downtown revitalization and Central Park. The engineers and architects from the University of Kentucky will meet with community groups and individuals and go door to door to talk with residents about the plan before filing the final report. Gas line rupture causes evacuations in Pike

RANSOM — An explosion Friday night rocked the Blackberry Creek community when a gas line ruptured and caught fire. A witness said a fireball rose 150 feet in the air when the line exploded at about 11:30 a.m. The homes of 10 families were evacuated, but no injuries were reported. The fire had been doused by 3 p.m. that afternoon. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Urban government plan advances in Boyd

ASHLAND — A citizen's petition filed yesterday will at last allow work to begin on a proposal for an urban county government in Boyd County. The plan would get rid of duplicated administrative jobs — merging the Boyd County Judge-Executive and the mayors of Cattleburg and Ashland into a single post. In addition, the plan would also combine fire and police services and provide water and sewer services to rural sections of the county. A similar proposal was defeated in 1975 by a 5 to 1 margin. (Lexington Herald-Leader)

Police officer turns down settlement

STANTON — Former Stanton police officer James Noe refused to accept a $75,000 settlement to a lawsuit he filed against the city last December. Noe claims that he was fired because of his political choice and calls the $75,000 offer of judgment "peanuts". Noe is suing for $4.5 million. (The Clay City Times)

New taxes for schools aired at public meet

WEST LIBERTY — A public meeting was held in Morgan County to explain Kentucky's new school reform law, how it will affect Morgan County schools and the local tax increase that will be necessary to fund it. It was announced that the local school property tax could be raised from 35.8 to 39.3 cents per $100 of property value and vehicle taxes from 45.1 to 46.8 cents. An alternative to property taxes exists in a 3 percent gross receipts tax on utilities. The measures would each generate about $250,000 per year for the school system. (The Licking Valley Courier)

Patrol looks for missing plane in Leslie

LONDON — The Kentucky Civil Air Patrol spent Monday afternoon searching the hills around Hyden in Leslie County for a single engine plane reported missing Sunday night. Boyd, Floyd County Clerk. In district one, the candidates are James D. "Doc" Adams of Prestonsburg and Eddie Billips of Abbott Creek. Adams, a physician and businessman, is the incumbent candidate and long-time board chairman. Businessman Billips has two children in the Floyd County School System.

District two candidates are incumbent Ray "Shag" Campbell of Banner and Franklin Delano May of Allen. Campbell has been a school board member for about 17 years and is a retired merchant. May is co-owner of May Metal Products.

Candidates for any board of education in the state of Kentucky are required to be at least 24 years of age, a citizen of Kentucky for at least three years prior to the election and a voter of the district for which he is elected. They must also have a high school diploma or equivalency.

Any potential board member would be disqualified if he has any connection with any agency interested in selling any form of school supplies to the board of education, or if he holds a state office, is a deputy, or holds any political office, according to state regulations.

As mandated by the Education Reform Act of 1990, except in limited circumstances, a candidate is ineligible for election if he has a relative employed by the school district.

The election for members of the Floyd County Board of Education will be Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Allen Council accepts budget, resignation

The city of Allen will be in need of a new police officer since James Stephens served the Allen City Council with two weeks' notice of his resignation.

Council members met Monday, with the approval of a proposed budget for the city and the acceptance of Stephens' resignation the only items on the agenda.

The budget, which council members have been trying to pass since their June meeting, totaled $22,075. The city expects to bring in revenues of $24,837.28.

The largest expenses faced by the city are the salary of $8,040 for the city police officer, $4,500 for liability insurance and $3,600 for police expenses.

Before adjourning, Officer James Stephens gave the council his two-week notice of resignation. Council members voted to accept the resignation and made a motion to advertise for a new city police officer in The Floyd County Times.

All council members and Mayor Vern "Buster" Porter were present at the meeting.

Teachers

Betty Rowland, coordinator of the local office of Kentucky Education Association, explained how the local system can afford the teachers' proposed 20 percent increase. One way, she said, is by doing away with a proposed contingency fund for the school system, which she said will sit in the bank "drawing interest without doing any good to teachers and students."

She also said the board of education, under the new Education Reform Law, has the opportunity to increase taxes "without any fear of recall or referendum."

Teachers stood to show their approval when Rowland said that teachers are "in public service, not public servitude."

KEA director David Allen pledged the support of the statewide teachers organization. "The Commonwealth is watching places like Floyd County where school employees feel increasingly frustrated... where the board denies a crisis," Allen said.

He told teachers that whatever they do "is going to take courage," that they need community support and solidarity.

Representatives of teachers organizations in Boyd and Pike counties also drew enthusiastic applause.

"If you think you deserve more money and are willing to fight for it, we're willing to support you," said Vivian Birchfield, president of the Pike County Education Association.

Barbara Morroe, leader of Boyd County teachers, related stories of threatening phone calls and letters she and other activist teachers in Boyd have received. "We do not have to rollover and play dead," Morroe said. "We are the backbone of this system, not the administrators."

"If you believe in something, you have to stand up. What happens in Floyd County or Boyd County will have an impact on the rest of the state. . . Eventually, right is going to win out," Morroe said, adding that Boyd teachers are prepared for a strike later this month with community support.

Floyd County teacher Patricia Murphy updated the crowd on FCEA leadership's attempts to meet with individual board members. She said that board member Tommy Boyd agreed to make the motion in tonight's meeting for a 20 percent pay raise for teachers.

Boyd confirmed in a telephone daughters of coal miners, responded warmly to Leonard Fleming, Eastern Kentucky administrator for the United Mine Workers. "We've got to get you more pay and better standards," said Fleming. "Who's going to benefit from it? Our kids."

"There's a movement in this country. People are going to pull together."
Leonard Fleming, UMWA

interview yesterday that he plans to introduce the motion. A former teacher himself, Boyd said, "A lot of people have the wrong impression. They think teachers teach six-and-a-half hours and go home. That's not true. They may put in nine to 10 to 12 hours a day. I know what they do."

Board member Arville Duff, according to Murphy, did not want to make such a motion, but told the teachers he could support an 18 percent increase for teachers and 10 percent for administrators.

Board member Ray "Shag" Campbell also would not make a motion for the 20 percent increase, but does support keeping administrative increments to 10 percent, Murphy reported.

Murphy added that board member Dr. Mary Hall questioned public support of teachers' demands.

At Friday's rally, the teachers had not been able to arrange a meeting with board chairman Dr. James Adams. However, the executive committee of FCEA was supposed to meet with Adams yesterday afternoon. No report of that meeting was available at presstime.

The teachers, many the sons and Fleming advised the teachers that they have to do more than "buck the system." They have to "manipulate" it, he said.

"You've got to lean on each other, get public support and keep it. . . There's a movement on in this country. People are going to pull together," the UMWA leader said. "Remember the person on your left, on your right, in front and behind and protect them."

Attorney Pillersdorf, who is representing several former school system employees in suits against the school board, advised that the teachers will need the support of 90 percent of their coworkers if they do strike.

"If you don't back your leaders, you're leaving them open for retaliation," Pillersdorf said. "There is a history of retaliation in this county and they're not shy about doing it."

Wheelwright High School teacher Doris Osborne told the group, "I have three grandsons. I want them to have the best we can give them. I'm going to fight so they can have it."

Another rally is scheduled for this afternoon at 4 at the college. The board of education meeting is set for 6 p.m. at Prestonsburg High School.

LB precinct retains legal alcohol sales

More than 300 people turned out Saturday in the Clear Creek precinct to vote on the issue of legal sale of alcoholic beverages in the area.

The "wet" forces won the election by a narrow margin of 22 votes. Records show that 178 votes were cast to continue legal sale of alcohol, while only 146 people voted in opposition.

"I was very disappointed by the turnout for the dry vote," said Sheri Isaac of Hi Hat. "We expected more because there are nine churches in the precinct. If they would have turned out, I'm sure it would have gone the other way."

Isaac, who was one of the strongest supporters of the "dry" issue, said she has heard that other bars had been proposed for the area. "I just hate to see other people go through what we went through, with a bar next door and a church across the street."

The Clear Creek precinct has only one alcoholic beverage outlet at this time, a small carry out store located in Ligon. "Dry" forces had originally focused on alleged misconduct and other problems associated with the Hi Hat Entertainment Center, otherwise known as The Watering Hole.

Arlene Hall, who could not be reached for comment after Saturday's election, was the proprietor of The Hi Hat Entertainment Center which closed June 30. Hall stated before the election that there were some of the usual problems associated with the operation of any bar, but denied that the bar had been a source of trouble.

Hall also pointed out that the bar was always closed whenever the Little Nancy Baptist Church, located across from the bar, was open for services or funerals.

Before the election, Hall stated that the Hi Hat Entertainment Center, or The Watering Hole, would be reopened if the precinct voted to remain "wet".

In addition, there will be a dunking booth Friday and Saturday featuring such local celebrities as Magistrate Gerald DeRossett, Court Clerk Carla Boyd and Prestonsburg High Football Coach Bill Letton.

The Vietnam Veterans of America Chapter 204 from Paintsville will be displaying an armored personnel carrier, as well as other military paraphernalia. Concessions will be sold and tours of Auxier will be given.

"The celebration is to let people in the community get out and see things they ordinarily wouldn't, instead of being at home on the weekend," said Linda Jefferson, one of the two festival coordinators. Anyone wishing to participate in the parade should call Jefferson at 886-9815.

The other festival organizer, Bob Castle, said that the celebration is in the tradition of the annual festivals held each year by Northeast Coal Company which built the town.

The celebration this year honors Lula Viers, a woman who lived in Auxier in the early part of the century. She left Auxier on Dec. 10, 1916, to get married and never returned, Castle said. Her body, with a 30-pound steel weight tied around her waist, was found in the river at Hanging Rock, Ohio. Her murderer was never found.

In previous years, the festival has taken place in September, but has been moved to August this year, so that the opening of school would not interfere with the celebration, Castle said. From now on, the celebration will be held annually on the second weekend in August.

Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center will provide up to 10 persons a day with care. Hale noted that this meant that an average of 25 people will be served on a part-time basis. Pikeville will also get a similar center.

If a person is not able to come to the Adult Day Care Center, some home visits will also be provided on occasion. The Day Care Center will be staffed by one full-time and one part-time person at all times.

Much of the equipment has already been donated for the program and the ADD hopes to bid on the old auxiliary classrooms at the Prestonsburg Elementary School soon.

A slight fee will be charged for the day care service, but it will be on a sliding fee scale according to income, Hale said. Also, some transportation will be provided if needed.

"We know there are more people who need help than we can possibly handle, but not everyone will need service five days a week, and most will come in on a part time basis," Halesaid. "Also, most of these people will be transported in by their families, so the transportation will be limited."

On Aug. 23, there will a meeting in Salyersville of all the day care providers within the Big Sandy area to determine priorities for service and scheduling.

"I know what this means to us, because I went through it for about two years when I desperately needed some help, but day after day I was on my own," said Mae Irick of the Belfry area senior citizens. "I had to care for my partner who was a baby mentally and I couldn't leave him and I needed something like this just for some rest. So I realize the value of it. Even one day in two weeks would mean so much."

"The area development centers are really excited about getting this off the ground. We anticipate that the Pikeville Center will be ready to open around the first of September and in Prestonsburg it will probably be mid to late September," Hale said.

Another portion of the program will be a long term care administration project. This project will provide case management for every individual who is physically impaired, including those in nursing homes and home care service receivers and any other person who needs it. Only three ADDS in the state received this project which will last for two years and is still in the planning stages, Hale said.

Anytime there is an amendment to a state project such as this, a public hearing is required by law. The hearing was held at the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center on Tuesday. A copy of the amendment is available at the Big Sandy ADD office and anyone with questions or persons who would like to apply for the various programs can contact Hale there.

State hearings on incinerators set for Aug. 30

The Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet will conduct a public hearing on Aug. 30 to receive comments on proposed incinerator regulations and proposed revisions to other Division of Air Quality regulations.

The hearing is set for 10 a.m. in the auditorium of the Capital Plaza Tower in Frankfort.

The regulations are to be submitted to the US Environmental Protection Agency as revisions to the State Implementation Plan (SIP), the cabinet's plan for achieving and maintaining the National Ambient Air Quality Standards.

Four of the regulations are proposed in response to the governor's moratorium on permitting of incinerators and his directive to implement adequate standards for incinerators. They propose emission and operational standards for new and existing solid waste, medical and hazardous waste incinerators.

Another proposed regulation amends the definition of volatile organic compounds, and the sixth deals with an amendment for Jefferson County.

Full texts of the regulations, their impact analyses and methods of adoptions are filed for public inspection at several locations around the state.

In this area, they are available at Air Quality Regional Offices in Hazard and Ashland. The Hazard office is at 233 Birch St., and in Ashland at 3700 13th St.

Interested persons will have the opportunity to present oral and written testimony on the regulations. Written statements will be considered as part of the hearing record if received by the close of business on Aug. 30 at the Division's Frankfort office, sent to the attention of Hisham M. Saaid, acting director, Division of Air Quality.

'No pass, no drive'

AG clarifies state law

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

The "no pass, no drive" law (House Bill 43) aimed at withholding driver's licenses from minors not enrolled in school was passed by the 1990 Kentucky General Assembly. But, according to the Attorney General Fred Cowan, only one portion of the three-part law should take effect immediately. The other two segments cannot be implemented until Jan. 31, 1991.

If an applicant for a driver's permit or license is under age 18, the new law requires him or her to be enrolled in school and to pass the majority of his or her classes. This also applies to those students who already have their operator's license.

Since the Circuit Court Clerk is responsible for collecting proof of applicants' enrollment and academic standing from schools, Jefferson County Circuit Court Clerk Tony Miller wrote to Cowan to ensure that the court would begin enforcing the provisions of the law at the proper times.

House Bill 43 did not expressly provide that the provisions should be applied retroactively to students. This fact is the determining factor in the Attorney General's analysis of the "no pass, no drive" law, which went into effect July 13.

The conditions of the law may only go into effect when enforcing them will not impose new obligations or "disabilities" on past actions of students. In other words, students should not be punished for past actions if they are not able to rectify them.

The Attorney General's Opinion addresses three main points within the law:

* The law states the students who have withdrawn from school are ineligible to receive permits or licenses. Since anyone under the age of 21 who has withdrawn from school may re-enroll at any time, the Attorney General asserts, a young person's choice not to be enrolled constitutes a "present choice."

Therefore, the "disability" of being ineligible for a permit or license placed on students who have withdrawn from school is not dependent on the past actions of withdrawal, but on their current decisions not to re-enroll. This section of the law is not retroactive, and therefore may be implemented immediately.

* The law requires that applicants who are "dropped out" of school be ineligible for permits and licenses. "To drop out," however, is not legally the same as "to withdraw," according to this law, "dropping out" specifically consists of having "nine or more unexcused absences in the preceding semester." If this segment of the law were enforced immediately, the "preceding semester" would be the one which ended in May 1990.

To apply this section of the law today to the applicant's actions during the 1990 spring semester, which obviously pre-dated July 13, would be to apply the law to acts concluded in the past, or retroactively.

Therefore, this part of the law should not be enforced until Jan. 31, 1991, when the "preceding semester" will have elapsed while the law was in effect.

* The law requires students to have passed the majority of their classes "in the preceding semester." Since judging the current applicant on the basis of his or her academic standing during the May 1990 semester would be retroactive, this portion of the law may not be enforced until Jan. 31, 1991.

Pete Grigsby Jr., coordinator of the Floyd County Dropout Prevention Program, sees this program as a good one, but only as part of a larger system.

"I don't see it as a major factor to get students to stay in school," Grigsby said. "It's going to take a larger community involvement and a program to focus in on potential dropouts. It is not a major focus but certainly a tool to use."

Grigsby did say there would be problems with the defining of dropout since, with the new attendance policy adopted last year, that term refers to students who have left the school system (and did not enter another). He also said that students who miss three days of school are considered truants by the policy and some things may have to be reworded.

"The 'withdrawn' portion is good because students will now think twice before dropping out and its a good incentive to re-enter," he said. "There should be a penalty for dropping out before the legal age and this shows that the state is calling attention to the importance of a public school education."

Grigsby said that the new law and its consequences would be published in the student handbooks and all principals, teachers and faculty will be informed of the attendance policies. The regulations will also be run in the newspapers and on the radio.

He added that with the new policy the dropout rate fell from 4.22 percent in 1988-89 to 2.79 in 1989-90 which is just below average on the state level.

He also emphasized the need for getting dropout prevention programs, such as the TOUCHDOWN program at Prestonsburg High School, started in all schools throughout the county. "This dropout prevention program is very effective and if we can get this program in more schools I believe people will see a definite benefit from it," he said.

By Marty Backus

Swan song

Well, this looks like my final column for The Floyd County Times. If you are one of those who read the front page before jumping to the editorial page to read my column, then you already know a change has taken place in the publisher's office.

As of right now, Scott Perry is the publisher here, while I'm heading upstream to your neighbor in Pike County, where I'll take over the reins of the Appalachian News Express.

The move is something I have always wanted but felt my chances were zero, since it's another company. However, right out of the blue, I got a call and wham-o, I'm in Pikeville. This is where my family is, this is where I have attended church, and this is where I started my newspaper career 10 years ago.

But Judy and I will not be leaving Prestonsburg without regret. Just four years ago, we pulled up stakes in Pikeville to travel into West Virginia to publish a paper there. It's where I came from, so I was looking forward to returning to mother West Virginia. The community we moved into (which will remain nameless) was one of the most inhospitable places I have ever been. Judy and I spent 22 long, lousy months there before we got the chance to come back to Eastern Kentucky, Prestonsburg.

The Floyd County Times was going through change in ownership, employees were apprehensive about their new boss, and their boss was apprehensive about him, too.

Despite the shock of change, the folks of Floyd County went out of their way to welcome us to their community. We were included, we were accepted and, most of all, we were happy.

I was content in this county. This was going to be my home for life, or at least as long as I was able to do a good job at the paper. However, who could forecast an offer to a bigger paper and one where the family was?

The move, as I said, is just up the river, and the Backuses will still be living in Prestonsburg until we can sell our house. So it's not like we're leaving the area, just up the road a bit.

Thanks, Floyd County, and thanks to the great crew here at the paper.

Every one of you has made this a home for us during the last two years. We've enjoyed it, and we're going to miss you.

Just a final note or two. Monday morning, I called our editor, Pam Shingler, in to tell her I was leaving. In return, Pam tells me she is leaving, too!

It seems she has accepted a new post in Frankfort with the Kentucky Press Association. We wish her well.

This is something I've wanted to report for about a year now, and since I'm leaving I can spill the beans.

You know Jimmy Goble, or the one called Global Goble. Well, Jimmy has been with the paper since Fort Sumter was bombed by the south and is well known around here. But there's something about him you probably don't know. He carries a bumper sticker on his car with the logo of the University of Louisville, which reads, "This car stops for all animals except Wildcats."

No Bridge Over These Troubled Waters

Enough is enough. I can't believe all the whining I'm hearing about the Bert Combs Bridge. For years people have been saying that bridge is unsafe. Anyone who is stopped on it with a line of trucks knows this. When your car bobs up and down as traffic drives by in the other lane, that should tell you something. I don't believe that is supposed to happen.

So it took the Secretary of the Department of Transportation to come down and officially declare it unsafe before anything was done. Now truckers are protesting it out of one side of their mouths and agreeing that it is unsafe out of the other. They say their taxes built that bridge. Everyone else pays taxes too, so didn't we have something to do with it as well? Shouldn't safety be first?

One trucker actually suggested that the bridge should be closed to all traffic if it was going to be closed to trucks. Yes, that would give it time to be fixed, but in the meantime what happens to the economy? How do they think businesses on either side of the bridge will suffer when people don't want to take the time to drive all the way around. I already hear people complain that it is impossible to make the drive across the bridge and back during their lunch hour, especially if they work on the north side of town and have to make that left turn coming off the bridge. Maybe closing one lane on each side may be a solution, but if trucks still continued to come across then the bottlenecking would be incredible—similar to that faced in Paintsville every day, I imagine.

Another solution provided by a trucker was to put up signs saying trucks had to remain a certain distance apart in that area. There have been signs for weight limits up for years and those have never been obeyed so what makes them think other signs would. Truckers are now crying prejudice, saying they are always getting a hard time from the general public. Well, I for one will give anyone a hard time who cuts me off, disobeys traffic regulations and generally makes it difficult to share the road. Most of the time I'm glad no one is within ear shot when I'm in the car giving another driver a "hard time."

The bridge is only one small portion of the roadway that is damaged by these 150,000+ pound vehicles. Everyone knows the constant repair that is done on North Lake Drive due to this damage. It's too bad that the truckers can't consider this as a service to their community by avoiding these trouble spots and making driving a more pleasurable experience for everyone.

It amazes me the comment another trucker made that now they can only make $400 a day if they work 16 to 18 hours a day. First off, what's so disgraceful in $400 a day. That's more than many people make in two weeks. Secondly, the fact that someone is driving such a large vehicle after being on the road for 16 hours frightens me.

With a tired, or caffeinated-up operator, that truck is now a lethal weapon.

There was also an ad run in the paper Friday announcing a boycott of Prestonsburg. Saying "since trucks are not good enough to travel through Prestonsburg, then we have decided our money is not good enough to be spent in the Prestonsburg area." My bet is most of their money never was spent here. The last sentence "without coal, where would we all be?" raises another question. This coal is not going to last forever, and if people don't start realizing this and making this community a more attractive place to live and for small industry to locate in, where will we be?

I find the whole controversy somewhat interesting and even comical in spots. But the safety of motorists across the Bert Combs Bridge is not a laughing matter. Just think what kind of carnage the collapse of that bridge would create. Remember, school buses travel it every day as well. Anybody who does not think this is a serious situation should take a look at how many times the bridge surface has been patched. Just the added weight of the asphalt alone is probably a problem.

After writing a column such as this I must reiterate that this is my opinion and not that of the paper, just in case some may want to boycott the paper for allowing me my freedom of speech. I figure if people can buy ads and write letters to the editor stating their opinions, then I can voice mine, too.

Making a difference

by Bud Reynolds, President Floyd County Education Association

(These remarks were presented to participants in a rally last week by Floyd County teachers.)

In March of 1990, Rep. Greg Stumbo stood in front of the Kentucky House and with tears in his eyes spoke about the promise of House Bill 940. He talked about how he hoped the legislation would change the lives of the young people in Eastern Kentucky and how he hoped that one day another young person would stand where he stood. House Bill 940 is now a reality. When Judge Ray Corns ruled that Kentucky's educational system was unconstitutional because it denied the children of Kentucky an equal education, he based his decision on what was happening to the children of Eastern Kentucky.

As teachers, we have known for a long time that what was happening to our children was not fair. We know the buildings that some of our children go to school in are not the kind of place than anyone can learn in. We know that there have never been enough teaching materials—not enough duplicating paper or chalk or money to go on field trips and that makes a difference in what children can learn and do.

We have an opportunity to correct a great wrong in the state of Kentucky and we cannot fail. House Bill 940 contains one message that we have to understand if we are to succeed. For the first time in the history of the state, the Kentucky legislature has said to teachers, "We think you have the answers to some of the educational problems in this country and we are going to trust you. We are going to put some of the educational decisions, not in the hands of principals or administrators, but in the hands of teachers and citizens of this state because we think that you can make it work." Can we do that?

I think the answer to that question will be found here. The place that needs to be watched as House Bill 940 is implemented is not Fayette or Jefferson counties. The real test of the new law will not occur there. It will happen in Eastern Kentucky. Ironically, this is the place where it is most important but where it will also face its strongest test.

In 1968, when Robert Kennedy visited the mountains of Eastern Kentucky and saw firsthand some of the problems that confronted the region, he was angered. "Riches still flow from these hills but they do not benefit the vast majority of those who live here and I think that situation is intolerable," Kennedy said as he talked about the money from coal and how it flowed out of this region.

What will happen to the new money that will come into Floyd County as a result of House Bill 940? Will it be used to pay outrageous fees to architects and contractors? Will it be used to pad payrolls so that people who want power over others can keep that power?

There is a hard answer to that question. If it is stopped from happening, teachers will have to do it. For most of the summer, the executive committee (of FCEA) has worked very hard to get a raise for the teachers of Floyd County. One politician has told us that our actions to improve salaries of teachers is "self-serving." He meant that as a hard criticism.

We agree with him. It's about time that teachers in Floyd County become self-serving. We believe that teachers in this county deserve to be paid well. We have fought hard for this because we know that there is nothing else about this system that places any value on what you do. You have worked often without adequate materials. Many of you over the years have bought your own because you cared about your students. You have wanted them to learn. You have learned to work without encouragement or supervision. You aren't praised for the work that you do.

And people in this system have told us that we should be willing to continue to do that. They have told us that for so long, that we have begun to accept it—that our role is to continue to sacrifice and sacrifice. When you pay people well, they begin to think that what they do is important. They begin to hold their heads up and take pride in what they do. When teachers stop feeling fear, they also become a different kind of teacher. They can teach students how to be independent and fight back. That is the challenge before us in Floyd County. We have to start saying "No." "No, you are not paying us well enough. No, it is not right to spend the money in this county on excessive construction costs or administrators who don't help us do our jobs better."

On that same trip that Kennedy made to Kentucky, he reminded the students at Alice Lloyd College, "With your training comes responsibility to help others. You can make a difference. One person fighting for his people, his community, his state, his cause, can make a difference."

Teachers in this county can make a difference, but we have to start fighting back and the place to begin is with ourselves. Many of us have been away to school and have come back here to teach and we have learned to say, "I won't do any good. You can't fight the system."

We have to stop doing that. If we can learn to fight, we can teach the students in our classrooms more than just math and science. One West Virginia miner talked about the hard life that he had and how he was able to endure it. He found his strength in his children. "I need some hope, and they have it, in their young age and the future they have." We need to be teaching those children not how to accept or learn to endure, but to fight for that future. Parents trust us with that "hope" and we need to think that what we do is important. We should not accept any less. It is one thing to talk about "hope" on the floor of the Capitol building in Frankfort. It is another thing to make it work where power has always been in the hands of a few.

What we will be asking of you in the next couple of weeks is not going to be easy. We cannot tell you that if we have to take a job action that there is nothing to fear. You know this system. You know that there are things that can be done to teachers. We saw an example of that in October of 1988, when administrators from the central office were sent throughout this district to collect "sick cards" and have teachers read a statement from the central office. You watched as a policy meant to silence and frighten you was adopted while the state Department of Education was present in this county. You watched as teachers were dismissed or transferred.

Now there are rumors being circulated throughout this county that mass firings will take place if teachers decide to take a job action. If that happens, we want the rest of the state to recognize it for what it is—the attempt on the part of a few people to hold onto the power that has kept this part of Kentucky behind. We want the rest of the state to know what will prevent House Bill 940 from succeeding in Floyd County or other Eastern Kentucky counties. We have spent most of this summer asking for the right to sit down with our administrators and talk about the future of our school system. We have not been allowed to do that. We have been told what will happen in our district.

We are not asking you not to be afraid. We can't promise you safety and we can't lie to you. We are asking you to recognize the fact that much of what we don't like about this system has been built on that fear. We are asking you to not give into that fear. It has been used to control us too long. No one should be able to question the fact that the teachers here tonight care about the children in our classrooms. We have worked too hard this summer. We are risking too much.

But the officers and the executive committee of this association want you to know that whether we win or lose this battle, we are not going away. We will continue to fight in this county until teachers are treated with the respect that they deserve. We think we can win. We need your help in order to do that. Already this summer, we have done things that we would not have thought possible a year ago. Teachers have gone out into the community. They have found support. We have asked businesses to make a decision about where they stand. We have found power that we didn't know we had and we can continue that with your help.

Trucker responds

Dear Editor,
The city of Prestonsburg has worked diligently to develop a tourism industry. At the same time they have managed to alienate the Eastern Kentucky Coal Trucking industry.

Many truckers are hopping mad about the recent closure of Route 23 to heavy trucks.

I wonder if the tourist dollar coming in will offset the trucking dollar going out.

I believe the city has shot itself in the foot.

Mayor addresses bridge problem

Dear Editor,
Some of the coal truck operators who are calling for a boycott of Prestonsburg due to the closing of the Bert Combs Bridge to extended weight vehicles have unfortunately misunderstood the city's position.

The hardest part about the closing, for everyone connected with it, was the knowledge of the hardship it would work on the coal truck operators.

The first job I ever had was doing public relations for a trucking company that operated across the eastern half of the United States. I learned then that trucks are the backbone of this country's trade and commerce. I have the greatest respect for the men and women who haul goods—it's a hard job and without them the cost of everything we eat, drink, drive, wear, sit on and heat with would be far greater.

Unfortunately for all of us, the bridge that was built across the Big Sandy River here 26 years ago has a maximum weight capacity of 54 tons. Extended weight coal haul trucks can run up to 60 tons or more. When the light backs up traffic across the bridge, which it does for most of the day, there can be several extended weight trucks sitting on the bridge at one time.

Our concern was for the people who are on the bridge. That concern had to outweigh any other factors involved.

I want to thank all of those who have recognized our worries about the bridge and accepted the decision to reroute extended weight trucks in order to provide greater safety to everyone. The bridge, of course, is still open to vehicles under 80,000 pounds, which includes empties making their return runs.

More than money at issue

Dear Editor,

Anyone present at the July meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education could easily understand why the teachers are dissatisfied. During the public comment period at the beginning of the meeting, FCEA President Bud Reynolds, FCEA Executive Committee member Patricia Murphy and educator Phyllis Honshell presented eloquent statements in support of teacher demands. The demands are basic and, yes, they include a pay raise. Perhaps more importantly, they seek fair treatment, input into decision making, better communication and respect for teachers as professionals.

The Superintendent and Board did not acknowledge the presentation of the teachers and, without comment, moved into the meeting's regular agenda. For those present, such a nonresponse, under the circumstances, simply confirmed the concerns of the teachers.

The issue is not simply one of money, but whether this Board and Superintendent will recognize teachers for the professionals that they are—the backbone of the school system and the people to whom the education of our children is entrusted.

This Board and its superintendents have not hesitated to see that administrative salaries moved to the top third of the state while teacher's salaries languished. A current 20 percent raise in teacher salaries would hardly make up for past inequities, but it is a step in the right direction. Equally important, if not more so, the Board should respond to the other demands of the teachers and make them true partners in our educational process. The children of Floyd County deserve no less.

Advise not to be intimidated

Dear Editor,
Please allow me to use your forum for one more letter.
If I were to title this letter, I guess I would call it "The Trials and Tribulations of a Floyd County Teacher." Please allow me to explain. My name is Ernie Johnson. For four years I taught social studies classes at Wheelwright High School. For three of those years, I acted in the interests of my students by going to class, teaching, attending activities, helping with the prom, raising funds for senior trips, trying to get students to stay in school, providing students with the necessary means to succeed and trying to convince them that since they were from Wheelwright, Floyd County and Kentucky, that they could make it in the real world. This is what teachers do, isn't it?

Well, during my fourth year of teaching, I did the aforementioned activities, but I added one more. I asked the Floyd County Board of Education for a little respect, appreciation and additional pay for what I was doing. Did I get the respect that I asked for? Not from the board. But I feel I earned the respect of my students. You see, day after day, I taught my students that they had the RIGHT to say what they pleased as long as they were responsible in what they were saying and they said the truth. I said a lot of truths during that fourth year of teaching.

I spoke publicly at rallies for teachers. I wrote letters to editors of newspapers. I even stood up at board meetings and asked for respect and additional pay for teachers. How did the board respond? In April of 1989, I got a letter from Chairman (James) Adams stating that the Floyd County Board of Education was overstaffed, thus I would not be reemployed for the coming year. I was non-tenured. They did state that I would "be given first consideration for any job which you are qualified for." I was a teacher with four years experience, qualified in social studies 7-12 AND all areas grades 1-8! Does anyone know a teacher in Floyd County with less than four years experience teaching 1-8? If you answered yes, and there are some, then that should have been my job.

But it wasn't. So, on my behalf the Kentucky Education Association filed a lawsuit against the board. At this point, we are awaiting a court date. It will go to court! They will have to answer the question "Why was Ernie Johnson not hired?" So, did Ernie Johnson roll over and die? NO WAY!

For the past year I have held three part-time jobs, working for the Floyd County Education Forum, doing independent contract work for the Kentucky Department of Education, National Geographic Society, Kentucky Geographic Alliance and Kentucky Education Foundation. The way I have come to look at it is this, I wasn't good enough to teach in Floyd County, a system under Phase III of the Academic Bankruptcy Law, yet I was good enough to work for National Geographic and the Department of Education.

Yes, at times it has been hard. Financially, it was difficult in the beginning. But in the long run, I have been much better off. I earned more money this year than I would have if I were teaching in Floyd County. I have been appreciated for the work that I have done. I even have the necessary equipment to do my job efficiently. So why would I want to leave such an atmosphere?

I miss the daily contact with students. I entered the teaching profession because I liked the students. Yes, I want to go back to the classroom, but with respect and the materials and supplies needed to do the job properly.

Teachers, please don't let what happened to me intimidate you. I am better because of what THEY (the board) did. I have self respect! I feel I have the respect of parents in my area and the respect of my students. If you want respect, stand up for what is right and what you believe in. Then, no matter what else might happen, you will be happy.

—Ernie Johnson

Writer is 'outraged'

Dear Editor,
I AM OUTRAGED! Teachers enough is enough. In reference to the letter Mrs. Luxmore wrote on 8-1-90 and in reference to the teachers salary that was posted in the Floyd County Times on 6-22-90 . . . your GREED DISGUSTS ME!

I have tried to listen and read your complaints with an open mind; however, your continuing persistence for disruption and plea for more and more . . . and still yet more . . . money has left me OUTRAGED!

If I may compare your working regime to the working regime of the typical student's parent, I have found the following: Teachers benefit every weekend off, every major holiday off, compensated clammy days plus a minimum of a 3-month summer vacation. You teach an approximate amount of 165 days per year and excluding their lunch period and planning period — YOU teach only 6 hours of the day. This is a total of 990 working hours (or to give you the benefit of a doubt) 1000 working hours per year. The lowest salary posted was $15,060 and the highest salary posted was $32,760. This comes to an approximate amount of $15 to $32 per hour for a teaching position.

The occupation of the typical student's parent demands the work and dedication all year long and with a variety of working hours. These are the parent's that pump your gas at service stations, wait on you in restaurants, check you out at the grocery store, take care of you when you are in the hospital, haul Eastern Kentucky coal, babysit your children while you work, and staff many of your public service offices in Floyd County. These people seldom know pleasures of holidays at home. These parents work a variety of hours at far less than $15 to $32 per hour.

My point is this: Teachers you chose your profession, you knew what your job description would consist of, you knew what pay scale you would be looking at and if you did not, then you were ill prepared for your field or your future! In other words: You have made your bed, so now lie in it.

If it is money you are after, then go back to school and seek whatever profession it takes to meet your salary needs and demands. You may even get a summer job.

Why are you using our children for your personal financial gain and inadequacies? Will striking help educate our children? Will more money make you teach our children more? If so, then what dollar amount of education has our children been receiving?

TEACHERS . . . the student is your product NOT your ticket for personal gain for dollars!

P.S. Please excuse any grammatical errors; I am a product of the Floyd County teaching system when the pay was less than what you are receiving now.

—Lois McHugh

(Editor's note: A letter almost identical to this one was brought to The Times office on Tuesday morning; however, the signature was for a Mrs. Bill Long of Prestonsburg. A person purporting to be the writer came in a few hours later and said she had decided not to run the letter and took it back. About an hour later, a man came in with the above letter, signed by Lois McHugh. A call to the number provided resulted in the respondent saying she was McHugh, that she was formerly of Prestonsburg and that she was the author of the letter. Yet another letter critical of teachers was received in the mail, purportedly from a retired teacher residing in Wayland. No telephone number accompanied the letter, and the telephone book has no listing for a person of that name; several persons who live in Wayland were not familiar with the name. The Times will gladly run the letter if the correct name of the author can be validated.)

Vet projects underway

Dear editor and friends of Eastern Kentucky,

Thank you for your recent contribution and encouragement in our Veteran to Russia project.

Our Eastern Kentucky Veteran, John Cook, will be on his way to the Soviet Union within a few days, thanks to you.

Your generosity has made it possible for us to send one of our own to visit and live with the Russian Afghanistan veterans in their homes and bring messages of goodwill, hope, and peace as well as medical supplies. We will also give them mementos from our country such as American, Kentucky and county flags.

By your contribution you have already sent a message, because the Russian Veterans know our representative is being sent by contributions from the common folks, people who care about people, and not by a government.

Our Veteran to Veteran project is a historic event and is just one of several initiatives by the combined Veterans groups at the Veteran Referral Center in Paintsville. Other important projects include a Veterans Clinic and Treatment Center in the Big Sandy Area, as well as an Agent Orange Out-Reach Program that will be operational in about a month. Veterans from all Big Sandy counties have worked diligently together to make these accomplishments possible.

These efforts illustrate that when Eastern Kentuckians pull together we can be a formidable force in improving our beloved mountain area.

There are some people who wonder why we would try these projects or if they will be successful.

We respond to that with a quote that an old Marine Sergeant kept pinned to his bunker wall in Vietnam. It is called "The Man In The Arena":

"It is not the critic who counts;

Not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled; or where doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena. Whose face is marred by the dust and sweat and blood; Who strives valiantly; Who errs and comes short again and again; Who knows the great enthusiasms; The great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; Who at the best, knows in the end, the triumph of high achievement and who at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

You can take a great deal of pride in knowing that you choose to join the man in the arena.

We thank you and we know the Soviet Veterans thank you.

John will give us a report on his mission when he returns.

—Jim Kelly, Chairman
Vet to Russia Project

Teachers 'deserve much more'

Dear Editor,
I am a student at Wheelwright High School. I would like to voice my opinion about the teacher pay raise. The teachers in Floyd County deserve much more than they receive. They are the ones who help the students every day, not the administrators. If there were no teachers, what would the world be like?

Sometimes we need to sit down and think about what the teachers mean to us. Without them, we could very well be on the street or dead!

The teachers I know don't quit at 3:30 p.m. or in June. I've talked to one many times this summer, usually needing advice or something.

We, as Floyd Countians, need to stand up every now and then and support each other! If everyone keeps thinking, "Well, God bless! I hope they get their pay raise so they will shut up and get in a classroom where they belong so I can get these brats out of my hair for a while," the teachers will never get anywhere!

Why don't we pay them for babysitting instead of teaching? Maybe then they will get what they deserve!

'Your child's hope'

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all my teachers at Osborne Elementary and Wheelwright High School. I am now living in Northern Kentucky and I know all about how we from Eastern Kentucky are stereotyped. The children of Eastern Kentucky are your future and it is of vital importance that we educate them properly. The only way we can prove we are not "dumb hillbillies" is through education, and without quality teachers the battle is lost before we even start. We know we're not dumb hillbillies, so let's show the rest of the world.

Support your teachers. They are your child's hope for the future.

Hang in there, teachers. You deserve more than 20 percent. Not only do you have support in Floyd County, but most of the state of Kentucky is behind you.

—Sherry Huff Mardis

Students support teachers

Dear Teachers,

We would like to inform you that, as students, we are just as disgusted as some of you are with the Board of Education's unjust treatment. We fully support you in your efforts to better Floyd County schools and would like to offer our services to help in any way we can. We can be reached through Mrs. Doris Osborne.

MEET THE MEN DEDICATED TO YOUR SERVICE SATISFACTION!

ON THE LEFT WE HAVE...

Dudley Nichols, our Service Manager, resides at Varney in Pike County. His wife of six years is Penny, and they have one daughter, Jessica, who is four years old.

Dudley graduated from Johns Creek High School and attended Eastern Kentucky University. His hobbies include hunting and fishing.

Dudley has been employed in the automobile industry for five years as service writer, warranty clerk, and now service manager. His experience in warranty claims helps us get you all the factory coverage that you are entitled to.

IN THE MIDDLE WE HAVE...

Taylor Caldwell, our Body Shop Foreman, who has over 28 years' experience in automobile dealerships.

Taylor and his wife Pauline live in Campton, and his hobbies are hunting, fishing, boating, and farming. He is a member of the Hazel Green Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite Council, Oleika Shrine, Elks Club, Wolf County Volunteer Fire Department, Wolf County Rescue Squad, and is a board member of the Middle Kentucky River Area Development Council. Taylor is also a member of the Campton Church of God.

Taylor graduated from both Wolf County High School and Morehead State University. His automotive experience, as well as 4 1/2 years as an independent insurance claims adjuster, assures you of getting quick and adequate claims service from your insurance company.

We have a full line body shop, including the area's first frame rack, and offer 24-hours wrecker service with Eastern Kentucky's most experience and capable wrecker operator, Bobby Hackworth.

ON THE RIGHT WE HAVE...

Mike Short, the newest member of our team, our Parts Manager, who is a native of Johnson County. He graduated from Johns Creek High School and attended the University of Kentucky.

Mike has 14 years' experience in General Motors parts, and was last employed as parts manager for S & R Chevrolet in Leesburg, Virginia, before returning back to Kentucky last year.

Mike is married to the former Verronda Castle of Meally, and has one son, Wesley. His hobbies include golfing and fishing, and for the next few months a complete renovation of our parts department.

We have over $500,000.00 in parts inventory, but if by chance we do not have your part in stock we can generally get it by the next day.

WE'RE GROWING WITH PRIDE AND TOTALLY DEDICATED TO GIVING YOU THE BEST SERVICE AVAILABLE ANYWHERE.

Rural housing amendment gets nod from House

An amendment proposed by Congressman Chris Perkins that would give residents of rural areas greater access to federal loans by revamping the Farmers Home Administration's method of appraising rural property passed overwhelmingly last week in the House of Representatives, Perkins' office announced.

Perkins, arguing on the House floor in support of the amendment, said that FmHA's current practice discriminates against rural residents by requiring that loans be based on market demand when, in fact, there is little public interest for property in rural areas.

"This amendment will permit remote, rural areas to fully benefit from the rural housing program by prohibiting the Farmers Home Administration from turning down loan applications for housing located in areas that may be considered to be too rural," Perkins said.

The Congressman's amendment, part of the Omnibus Housing Authorization bill (HR 1180), stipulates that the sole requirements for a loan be the cost of the land and the structure. Previous FmHA policy had based its loan qualifications for rural residents on two requirements: 1) cost of the land and the structure, and 2) market demand.

The net effect of the amendment, according to Perkins, would give people in rural areas an equal chance in securing FmHA-administered loans as those residing in more urban areas.

"FmHA had an unintended bias against rural property owners by basing its loan guarantee on market demand in areas where there is seldom interest to buy land," Perkins said. "All I wanted to do with this amendment is assure that rural landowners have the same fighting chance as others in securing loans."

Dinner launches concert campaign

KATHERINE CLEMENS

The Eastern Kentucky Community Concert Association opened its annual membership campaign Monday with a dinner for the workers at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg.

Inn manager Lou McCray was chairman for the dinner and James Ratcliff, president of the association, served as master of ceremonies.

This dinner began the annual membership drive, which in past seasons has presented such musical attractions as Jazz Dance Theatre South, Yarbrough and Cowan and the Chestnut Brass Company. This year's campaign will run until Aug. 18 and is being managed by Dee Dee Calliss, who discussed plans and instructed the workers at the meeting.

Katherine Clemens, field representative for Community Concerts, addressed the workers. She gave them background on the artists for the 1990-91 season, and made suggestions as to how they should contact prospective new members for the association.

Announced as attractions in the coming season are Robin and Linda Williams, who sing country-folk music with personal warmth and humor. The Linden Woodwind Quintet is scheduled to perform a range of music from Bach to current popular songs. The Sounds of New Orleans, featuring Rene Netto "The Saxman," will perform the full range of great New Orleans jazz standards, Dixieland, ragtime and rhythm and blues.

The Show Choir and Madrigals from Eastern Kentucky University will perform in a special concert, and there will be a bonus concert to be announced later. The annual concerts of the Prestonsburg Community College Community Chorus will round out the season.

A new way to lose — or win

The Kentucky Lottery announced last week that a new, all cash, computer game called Keno will make its debut Sept. 7.

The game features prizes from $1 to $250,000 with drawings held every 15 minutes. There are 17 different ways to win playing Keno which can be played 75 times a day at the lottery's 1500 on-line retail outlets throughout the state.

The game features a field of 80 numbers from which players can choose one, two, three, four, five or 10 numbers. The computer will randomly draw 20 numbers for each drawing. If the player has chosen 10 numbers and they are among the 20 winning numbers drawn, the player wins the top cash prize of $250,000.

Players can also win if a portion of their numbers are played. A 10-number play will pay off if nine, eight, seven, six or five of the 10 numbers are drawn.

In Keno, the player can pick his or her numbers or allow the computer to pick them. Players can wager $1, $2, $5, $10, $20 or $100 and can play the same numbers for up to 20 consecutive draws on one ticket.

State prosecutors meet for 1990 conference

Environmental crime and marital rape will be two of many pressing and controversial issues addressed at the 1990 Kentucky Prosecutors Conference, sponsored by Attorney General Fred Cowan and the Prosecutors Advisory Council.

About 400 prosecutors from across the state will gather at the Hyatt Regency in Lexington on Aug. 15-18 to confer on current issues in criminal law and prosecution.

Herb Johnson, senior environmental counsel to the National Association of Attorneys General, and Paul Richwalsky Jr., director of the Special Prosecutions Division of the Kentucky Attorney General office, will discuss the increasingly important issue of environmental protection.

Johnson will focus on methods to control out-of-state waste, a timely topic in the Commonwealth, and Richwalsky will target the effective prosecution of environmental crime.

The conference will also address the topic of marital rape prosecutions in response to actions taken by the 1990 General Assembly to amend Kentucky's laws to remove marriage as a defense when a sexual offense is committed.

Several new events will be presented at the conference this year, including a mock paternity trial. Dr. G. Lynn Ryals Jr., PhD, of Genetic Design Inc. will outline advances in the field of genetic testing. Several Kentucky prosecutors will then dramatize how these scientific advances can be used in the courtroom to resolve paternity disputes. Paternity determination is one of the key factors in many child support cases.

Prosecutors will also have the opportunity to participate in a seminar focusing on effective management skills. This new event will feature William Oncken Jr., author of "Managing Management Time."

Judge Charles Moylan Jr. of Maryland will update prosecutors on 1990 United States Supreme Court decisions that may affect how Kentucky prosecutors fulfill their duties. In addition, other expert speakers from across the state and the nation will address issues such as child support legislation, DUI breathalyzer testing, and the handling of crimes involving a juvenile defendant.

Safely Home

I am home in Heaven, dear ones; Oh, so happy and so bright! There is perfect joy and beauty in this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over, Every restless tossing passed; I am now at peace forever, Safely home in Heaven at last.

Did you wonder I so calmly Trod the valley of the shade? Oh! but Jesus' love illumined Every dark and fearful glade.

And He came Himself to meet me In that way so hard to tread; And with Jesus' arm to lean on, Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so sorely, For I love you dearly still: Try to look beyond earth's shadows, Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you, So you must not idly stand; Do it now, while life remaineth— You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed, He will gently call you Home; Oh, the rapture of that meeting, Oh, the joy to see you come!

Lovingly missed by All her children

IN MEMORY OF ARNOLD HUNTER
 Sept. 29, 1922-Aug. 10, 1986

As I wander through this garden which once was filled with bloom, my heart doeth fill with sadness and solitude and gloom. I see not all the flowers that grew here yesterday. I find instead their pastel blooms withering with decay. What happened to the roses red that grew down by the gate? What brought about their sudden doom and what was their dire fate? The answer lies in the gardener, who toiled 'neath the blazing sun, till God in mercy called him, "Your eternity has begun. Your harvest is great, your toiling o'er, your prize you'll now receive. With life's setting sun, labor no more. Earth's garden you now must leave. Your life has been spent sowing good-from spring to early fall, So enter ye in, through Zion's gates, the greatest flower garden of all." Now I am left to wander through this garden, bleak and bare, No beauty, peace, or happiness-for the gardener isn't there.

A proud tradition

Our funeral home has been responding to the needs of the community for many years. To continue this proud tradition of helping families in their time of need, we now offer the Sunset SecuritySM Plan.

Sunset SecuritySM offered by us as a member of the Kentucky Funeral Directors Burial Association, is a plan that lets you reduce the stress your loved ones will experience at the time of a funeral.

Through Sunset SecuritySM, you can pre-arrange a funeral now. The plan offers an inflation-proof feature that lets you save money by freezing the cost of a funeral at today's prices. And it provides special tax-saving advantages. We'd like to give you a "Personal Record Guide" and tell you about the Sunset SecuritySM Plan. Just complete the coupon below and send it to us.

The Jewel Keeper

Our loved ones are our precious jewels. They are so precious to us. But like everything upon this earth, they must also go back to dust.

Some call him the undertaker. He's on call twenty-four hours a day. His job will never be finished as long as man passes away.

They make a lot of jokes. Yes, I'd say he's heard them all. When death suddenly strikes their home he's the first one they call.

You may wake him from his sleep when he's had a trying day. With a tender caring voice you will always hear him say.

"Just leave it all to me. I'll take care of everything." He may drive quite a few miles to bring our precious jewels home again.

He can't heal a broken heart, only lend a helping hand. When there are no answers he tries to help you understand.

So show him a little kindness. He has feelings too. Invite him home for dinner and let him eat with you.

Death never stops. Like a ring that has no end your undertaker is always there. With him you have a friend.
 — Beulah Jones Patrick

(Dedicated to my long time friend Johnny Hall and his funeral directors who stood by my family during all our times of sorrow)

Gospel concert slated Aug. 18

A Gospel Concert is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 18, at 7 p.m. at the Upper Room IPCC Church at 416 Main St. in Paintsville.

The concert will feature Betty Jean Robinson, Mountain Harmony and the Castles.

Robinson, a well-known Gospel singer, has her own television program, "Upon Melody Mountain," aired weekly on TBN Christian Network. She ministers in churches and auditoriums across the country.

Mountain Harmony consists of Billy Adams and his family. He is a radio personality in Ashland, hosting the "Highway 1040 Gospel Show" on WOKT-AM. The family has traveled nationally.

The Castles are the brother and sister team of Robin and Jerry Castle of Paintsville. They have sung in concerts, revivals and Gospel sings in several states. They will perform several new songs written by Jerry.

For more information, call 789-5917 or 789-5598.

ORB association to meet at Mayking

The 45th annual session of the Thornton Union Association of Old Regular Baptists will convene with the Thornton Church at Mayking, on Aug. 17-19.

Invited to join in the session are members of sister associations, the Union, New Salem, Indian Bottom, Sardis, Mountain, Mount Zion and Mountain Liberty, as well as other interested persons.

Lunch will be served all three days, according to Wesley Yonts of Hazard.

The session will be preceded by one week of nightly worship services, beginning Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Thornton Church. Services are scheduled for 6 p.m., with different preachers each night.

"If you enjoy Old Time Religion, this is the place to be," said Yonts.

Card of Thanks

The family of Newl Glenn Hunter would like to take this opportunity to thank all those friends and neighbors who called on us during our time of sorrow. We would especially like to thank the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, its speakers, Pete Grigsby, Jr. and William Hughes, the men who prepared the grave, and Johnny Hall for his fine manners in handling the funeral services. It is at times like this that we truly need our friends.

Gas prices protested

Congressman Chris Perkins announced Tuesday that he sent a telegram to President George Bush asking him to invoke his emergency powers to curb "price gouging" at the pump.

Perkins said that he petitioned Bush to invoke his executive powers because oil companies charging inflated gas prices are having a negative impact on his constituents.

Perkins also mentioned in his letter to Bush that related industries in Eastern Kentucky such as coal truckers and farmers transporting their crops from harvest would be negatively affected by the surge in gas prices. The presidential authority to which the Congressman is referring falls under the Emergency Petroleum Allocation Act, 15 USC Section 751, and related statutes.

"I want the President to invoke this power because, to date, we haven't seen any shortage in oil imports, yet oil companies are jacking up gasoline prices at runaway levels," Perkins said. "This kind of speculation at this point is not warranted and will only be appropriate if events [in the Middle East] lead to a real cut in oil imports and supply."

Recycling project looks for support

Southern Appalachian Recycling invites the public to come to its second community meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 9 at the Whitesburg Middle School gymnasium.

At this meeting, discussion will include upcoming needs of SAR and their progress to this point, as well as discussion of the Mountain Heritage Festival involvement, exploring fund raising possibilities, and recyclables collection plans for this fall.

Southern Appalachian Recycling Inc. has a long range goal of creating a regional recycling center for the Kentucky River, Big Sandy and Cumberland Valley area development districts. SAR is structuring itself as a non-profit, community-based organization that will provide jobs for local residents and will greatly reduce the amount of garbage dumped in local landfills.

Currently, SAR is completing grant proposals to support the capital costs of establishing a regional recycling center. These grant possibilities require "in-kind" donations to demonstrate community support of the organization and its goals.

At this time, SAR is setting up its office in Letcher County and has the following equipment needs: computer (IBM AT or Macintosh compatible), computer printer, adding machine, copier, answering machine, touch-tone phone, Dictaphone, typewriter, slide projector/screen/slide carousel, calculator, one-ton truck, half-ton truck.

Also needed are other office supplies, such as filing cabinet, paper, envelopes, 8x10 mailer, whiteout/pens/tape, stapler/staples, stamps, hanging file folders (letter size), receipt books and mailing labels.

Anyone whose business or organization would be interested in donating any of the above materials, call Dan Danford, Chris Sisson or Mike Grover at 633-4450. All in-kind donations to SAR are tax-deductible within IRS guidelines.

Tax laws subject of workshop

The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet, will sponsor a one-day seminar on "What You Must Know About the New Kentucky Tax Laws" Aug. 14 in Ashland.

Set for 9 a.m.-3:30 p.m., the seminar will take place at the Ashland Plaza Hotel. Cost for chamber members is $99 per person and for non-members, $139. Lunch and handout materials are included.

Recent changes to the state's tax laws that will be covered include corporate income, individual income, property, sales and use, inheritance and estate, motor fuels, coal severance, insurance and racing taxes. Also covered will be the The Kentucky Taxpayers Bill of Rights.

Around 50 separate bills relating to taxes were enacted by the 1990 General Assembly. The workshop, according to a chamber announcement, will provide a "straightforward, non-technical analysis of the new tax laws from professionals in the legal and accounting fields."

Revenue Cabinet officials will also be on hand to discuss how the new laws will be implemented and to answer questions.

The program is also being presented in Paducah, Bowling Green, Owensboro, Louisville, Ft. Mitchell, Lexington and Corbin.

For information, call Mark McCord or Bob Elliston at the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, 502/695-4700.

Self defense for women

Beginning on Sunday, Aug. 12 at 6 p.m. a six-week self-defense course will be conducted by the Kentucky State Police and sponsored by the Rape Victim Services Program of Mountain Comprehensive Care Center.

The course is free of charge and will be offered at the MCCC in Martin (across from Our Lady of the Way Hospital).

Anyone interested should call Eileen Recktenwald at 886-8572, ext 58 to register, or for more information.

Young at heart

Invitation to Wheelwright Seniors

"Join the Wheelwright Senior Citizens" is the message being broadcast on Left Beaver. Every senior citizen is invited to enjoy the fellowship and participate in various programs available in the Wheelwright Senior Citizens Program.

Anyone who has questions concerning the center can phone, or visit, the center director Lois Curry. The center is located on Main Street in Wheelwright and the phone number is 452-2179.

The following is the lunch menu for this coming week:

Wednesday, Aug. 8: Braised beef with minute rice, squash, roll, banana and milk.

Thursday, Aug. 9: Oven fried pork chop, mashed potatoes, peas and carrots, wheat bread, milk, ice cream and pudding.

Friday, Aug. 10: Baked chicken, macaroni and tomatoes, roll, coconut cream pie and milk.

Monday, Aug. 13: Spaghetti with meat sauce, tossed salad, Italian bread, carrot cake, milk and orange juice.

Tuesday, Aug. 14: Ham and pinto beans, cole slaw, corn brad, ice cream or pudding and milk.

Wednesday, Aug. 15: Salisbury steak, baked potatoes, zucchini and tomatoes, cookies and milk.

VHS alums to meet

The Virgie High School Alumni Association will hold an organizational meeting at the Virgie Middle School on Friday, Aug. 17 at 7 p.m. All former students of the Pike County school are invited to attend.

Layne House holds first reunion

The first ever Layne House reunion was held July 13 in the Hobbs building in Prestonsburg.

RICHEY, THOMPSON

The program opened with Mike Vance giving the invocation. Greg Ratliff, Layne House supervisor, thanked everyone, especially current Layne House clients, for helping. He then introduced Dan Gore, director of substance abuse of Mountain Comprehensive Care, who spoke about the Layne House Treatment Center. After this, Shirley Thompson, reunion coordinator, introduced special guest Paul Richey from Nashville, Tenn., who presented his story in song.

For the past few years, Richey has been a writer/publisher in Nashville. Major artists such as George Jones, Tammy Wynette, Loretta Lynn and Johnny Cash can witness to Richey's ability as a writer. One of his songs, "The Baron," recorded by Johnny Cash, was a CBS motion picture starring Cash. His companies have published such hits as "Lucille" by Kenny Rogers, "Two Story House" by George Jones and Tammy Wynette, "Another Chance" by Tammy Wynette, "Blanket on the Ground" by Billie Jo Spears, "Come With Me" by Waylon Jennings, "While the Feeling's Good" by Kenny Rogers and "Would You Lay with Me in a Field of Stone" by Tanya Tucker.

Richey and the Promised Land Band now travel to all parts of the country, carrying the message of recovery in music and song. Paul says, "I think I've found that stage I need to be on — the one where I can truly relate to the audience and they with me."

More than 100 former clients and guests attended the festivities. In Thompson's closing remarks she presented Richey with a plaque showing their appreciation.

She also thanked everyone who helped make the first reunion a huge success including State Wide Press, Food City, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Lee's Famous Recipe, Father Joseph Muench and Rev. Tim Jensen.

Thompson also thanked the staff of the Layne House, Rose Adkins, Faye Simpson, Rita Hughes, Tammy Antle, Charles Isbell, Sue Yates, Everette Patton, Pat Pitts, Helen Jarrell, Don Howard, Kenny Bentley and Greg Ratliff for their continued support. Plans are already being made for next year's reunion.

Local resident on 'Fun and Games'

A local man will be featured on the Kentucky Lottery's game show "Fun & Games".

Price Summa of Royalton will be featured this Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. on WKYT-TV. Summa's name was the second of five names drawn from a pool of 25 on last week's program.

Summa won his way onto the program by way of a lottery ticket he bought at Owens Grocery in Royalton. Summa says he's "glad I got this far" and "hopes I have good luck so I can win a fortune. I've been lucky so far."

Summa can win up to $100,000 on the program.

Reunions

Kimbler family

The Kimbler family reunion will be on Sunday, Sept. 2 at Shelter #5 across from the old engine at Chief Logan State Park, Rt. 10, north of Logan, W.Va.

Family members and friends are asked to bring a covered dish. A special drawing is planned for the children.

For information, contact Cleo Kimbler Blevins, Box 36, Peach Creek, W.Va. 25639; telephone 304/752-3363.

Howard family

The James and John Howard family from the head of Licking River will hold their 28th reunion in the hometown of Lewis and Emma Hale Howard at Hueysville on Sunday, Sept. 2.

Participants will gather at the rear of the Church of Christ at 12:30 p.m. and are to bring a covered dish.

All who are in any way connected to the Howards of Eastern Kentucky are invited to attend.

CCC reunion

Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC), 1933-42, will hold a Grand Reunion at Pigeon Forge, Tenn., on Sept. 27-29.

For information, contact the National Association of CCC Alumni, Jefferson Barracks, PO Box 16429, St. Louis, Mo., 63125, or call 314/487-8666.

Often called Roosevelt's Tree Army, the CCC was comprised of more than three million persons who built more than 800 state parks, beautified all national parks, restored nearly 4000 historical structures, planted billions of trees, built National Wildlife Refuges and did countless other public projects.

Mayo family

The reunion of the descendants of Seymour and Anne Mayo was held in Burgin on July 20-22. Rooms were reserved at the Best Western Motel on Danville Road, Harrodsburg. Arrangements were made by Nancy Lee Waggener of Burgin.

A meal was served by Gilford and Nancy Waggener and family at the motel on Friday evening. Breakfast was at the Brass Carriage Restaurant near the motel.

On Saturday the families drove to the Waggener's home where the evening meal was spread. Pictures of the families were on display all over the house and the children played games on the lawn.

Three members of Seymour Mayo's family are still living. John Add Mayo, the eldest son, passed away in 1968. Elizabeth "Bess" Mayo, his widow, lives in Ohio and was present at the reunion. The other living members are: Virginia Mayo Francis of Lexington, Elizabeth Mayo Bailey of Allen and Holmes Mayo of Wise, Va. The children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of John and Bess Mayo made up a large percentage of the group present.

Game-winning touchdown!

Eddie Shelton (10) crosses the goal line as he scores the only touchdown of the game in the Wheelwright Trojans 6-0 win over Allen Central in the Trojan Grid-O-Rama Saturday night. Shelton later suffered a shoulder separation and will be lost to the Trojans for six weeks. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Trojans hand ACHS 6-0 loss in Grid-O-Rama

Shelton injured

Coach Roger Johnson's Wheelwright Trojans never won a football game in 1989. His Trojans finished last season with a disappointing 0-10 record, prompting the seventh year coach to state that he and the team have forgotten about last year and are solely concentrating their efforts on the 1990 season.

The Trojans, although it was just a scrimmage game and a game that most coaches classify as non-essential, slipped past a good Allen Central football team, 6-0, in the second game of the Trojans' second annual "grid-o-rama."

"The game in itself means nothing," Coach Johnson said earlier. But you would have never known that by the way the two teams went after each other.

Eddie Shelton, 5-6, 145, carried the ball six times for the Trojans in rushing for 49 yards and scoring the lone touchdown in the game. Shelton had one run of 32 yards.

"We have a lot of work to do," said Allen Central first-year coach Dewey Jamerson. "We had some bright spots, but we have work to do."

Johnson cited the youth who make up his backfield and lauded them for doing what they had to do.

"We have a very young backfield," he said, "and they did just what they had to do to win tonight. Eddie played a real good game as did Steve (Shelton). I felt that our linemen came off the ball real well and we had good downfield blocking. Mike Justice and Bryan Rhea led our offensive line. I just wish I could have played everyone." Wheelwright scored at the close of the first quarter when Shelton carried the ball into the end zone for a TD with a run of six yards. The Trojans were able to move the ball into scoring position with the help of some penalties on the Rebels.

The Trojans were faced with a second and 14 situation when Allen Central was whistled for a clipping call, giving the Trojans a first down. From the Allen Central 35-yard line on first down, the Rebels again were penalized 15 yards moving the ball to the Rebels 20.

Wheelwright moved the ball up to the 14-yard line of Allen Central. After Shane McCoy dropped a Steven Johnson pass with :09 showing on the clock, the Rebels received yet another penalty. On questioning the call, linebacker Brett Meadows was penalized again and ejected from the game by referee Dale Conn. The series of penalties moved the ball to the one foot line.

The Trojans lined up wrong on coming to the line and were penalized five yards. It was then that Shelton got the call out of the backfield for a touchdown. The extra point was not good.

Early in the second quarter, the Rebels put together a good drive that ended on the Trojans 18-yard line. On first down, Todd Lucas, who Coach Jamerson says will be a surprise this year, carried for nine yards.

Fullback Tommy Gibson moved the ball on the next three carries for 9, 4 and 2 yards. Wheelwright was called for a face masking, and the Rebels picked up another first down.

A holding penalty against Allen Central moved the ball back to the Trojan 24. On a keeper, quarterback B.J. Aldrich carried back to the Trojan 18. A pass attempt was incomplete as the Rebels turned the ball over to the Trojans.

The Rebels had the ball in the opening minutes of the second quarter and moved the ball to the 49 when, on a snap from center, Aldrich fumbled the ball and Wheelwright recovered.

Allen Central took the ball over on its own eight-yard line, as the Rebel defense held the Trojan drive. Aldrich on a keep was caught behind the line of scrimmage and thrown for a three-yard loss. After an uncompleted pass, Aldrich found himself in trouble as he had to throw from the end zone on a third and long situation.

On third down, from the end zone, Aldrich found Lucas for a 43-yard pass completion and a first down. On Allen Central's second series of downs, Shane McCoy picked off an Aldrich pass to halt the drive.

Collins, Enterprise share title

When the rains would not let the real winner of the Men's Class C Regional softball tournament be determined, tournament officials declared Collins Carpet and Enterprise Coal as co-champions.

Apply now for hunt

Applications to hunt deer at Fort Knox with shotguns, muzzleloaders or bows and arrow will be accepted Aug. 18-31.

Both military and non-military hunters are required to submit a standard deer hunt application (ATZK-PA Form 3605). Applications are available at the Hunt Control, 9333 French Range, Fort Knox 40121-5000. A stamped self-addressed envelope must be enclosed.

The dates for the 1990 gun deer hunt are Nov. 24-25, Dec. 1-2 and Dec. 8-9. The dates for the bow hunt are Oct. 6 through Nov. 18.

The fee for either gun or bow hunting is $22. One deer may be taken with a bow and one with a gun. All hunters age 17 and under are required to have a Hunter Education Card.

For more information, call (502) 624-7311 or 624-2712.

The tournament took place over the past weekend at Archer Park where 39 games were played. The double elimination tournament had Collins and Enterprise in the championship round, as Enterprise was still undefeated in tournament play. Collins, coming out of the loser's bracket, had to defeat Enterprise twice to capture the crown.

In the first game, Collins scored 12 runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to erase a 6-0 Enterprise lead and went on to hand Enterprise its first defeat at 13-9. However, since a second game needed to be played, the rains came and washed out the championship game.

According to tournament director Kenny Conley, the two teams could not get together for the championship game on Monday so each team was named co-champion permitting each to go on to state play in Owensboro Aug. 17-19.

Enterprise had scored four times in the first inning for a 4-0 lead. The team scored on a two base hit with two runners on base. Van then unloaded a home run to score two more runs.

Enterprise added two more in the top of the third on three hits for a 6-0 advantage.

The bottom fell out for Enterprise in the bottom of the fifth inning when Collins sent 16 batters to the plate and scored 12 runs to go on top, 12-6. Enterprise committed three errors in the inning to open the doors for Collins.

The first two runners reached on errors at third and first and Mike Conn promptly scored both with a double. Larry Mullins followed with a solid single, bringing in Conn. Doug Hall's booming double plated yet another run, and after Bobby Risner grounded first to pitcher, Scott Stephens singled home Hall.

Stephens scored on an error at first off the bat of Barry Risner. Randy Griffith and Robbie Shepherd completed the scoring with RBI singles.

Collins also scored a single run in the bottom of the sixth for a 13-6 lead. Enterprise made a mild comeback with three in the top of the seventh, but the rally fell short in the 13-9 loss.

Enterprise had handed Collins its first loss of the tournament earlier, so this game had sort of a revenge flavor to it.

Cumberland slips past Bobcats in WHS Grid-O-Rama, 14-6

The Wheelwright Trojans held their second annual "Trojan Grid-O-Rama" Saturday evening at Bracket Field with four teams taking part. Just like last year's grid-o-rama, the rains came but not in "monsoon" style like last year.

A good crowd turned out to help the four teams get the football season underway as the Cumberland Redskins, one of the top programs in Class A division in the state, battled promising Betsy Layne in the opening game.

The Bobcats' defense was tough against the highly regarded Redskins as both teams battled to a 0-0 first quarter score.

"Our defensive line was strong against Cumberland tonight," said the Bobcats' second-year head coach Gerald Newsome. "However, we did have some weak points and that came from the ones who weren't able to go to football camp last week. We have some work to do, but we looked good on defense."

"One of the bright spots in the game for us was at the quarterback play," Newsome said. "(Brian) Combs took some shots in there that he shouldn't have had to take. Our ends looked good on several receptions."

The Bobcats, trailing 14-0 with less than a minute remaining in the game, found pay dirt as Combs found wide receiver Blaine Depoy for a 70-yard touchdown toss. The extra point conversion failed as time ran out.

Cumberland had taken an 8-0 lead early in the second quarter. (Each game was of just two 12-minute quarters.) Ronald Washington carried the ball into the end zone from eight yards out to send the Redskins up 6-0. A two conversion run by Jason Adams made it 8-0.

Betsy Layne had the Redskins in trouble as Cumberland had received a five-yard penalty for a lining up violation, giving them a first and 13 situation. Charles Tinsley carried for five yards and Washington then took the ball across for the TD.

The score caused a disturbance from the Betsy Layne bench, who claimed a clipping violation occurred against the Redskins, therefore annulling the TD. Because of the strong protest, Betsy Layne received a 10-yard penalty and got the ball on the 20-yard line instead of the 30.

Cumberland's Tinsley intercepted a Combs pass to receiver Brian Tackett, with 2:15 remaining in the game. Tinsley took the ball all the way for a touchdown, and the extra point attempt was no good as Cumberland held a 14-0 lead. The interception was the second of the game for Tinsley who picked off a Combs pass in the first quarter on the first series of downs for the Bobcats.

"One thing we will need to do is find a back up quarterback for Brian," explained Newsome. "There were a few others who did not get to play in the game and we need to work them in our other scrimmages."

Newsome said the addition of Chad Mitchell to the Bobcat offense will help the squad. With the good turnout for the squad this year, Newsome is able to have his specialty teams and not have so many players going both ways. "That will help our team a lot this season," he explained.

The Redskins were penalized 55 yards and Cumberland fumbled the football three times, with the Bobcats recovering two of the fumbles. The Redskins picked up five first downs, three on third and long yardage. They were intercepted twice.

The Bobcats received 35 yards in penalties and fumbled the football only once, recovering their own fumble. They were intercepted twice in the contest and picked up five first downs.

Bobcat back Blaine Depoy carried the ball six times for 22 yards, and Bobby Wise rushed for 34 yards on six carries. Combs passed for a total of 87 yards, hitting Tackett for 12 and 5 yards. Combs then hit Depoy for the 70-yard touchdown.

For Cumberland, Washington scampered for 75 yards on six carries, one was a romp for 27 yards and another for 18. Charles Tinsley carried nine times for 67 yards. Redskins quarterback Jason Adams threw the ball three times for no yardage. Adams was sacked three times for a loss of yardage of 8, 3 and 6.

Keying on Tinsley day night. The Redskins won over the Bobcats, 14-6, in a hard fought gridiron game. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Trojans, Rebels at EKMC Panorama

The annual EKMC Football Conference will hold its Panorama Saturday night at Jenkins with Allen Central and Wheelwright taking part in the program.

In a 7 p.m. game the Trojans will be matched against host school Jenkins. Allen Central will face Fleming-Neon in an 8 p.m. start.

In the third game of the evening, Jenkins will send its team back on the field against Elkhorn City for a 9 p.m. match up. Each game will be for two 12-minute quarters.

All times are approximate.

Men's Class C Softball results

The following are results of games played in the Men's Class C softball tournament at Archer Park during the past week. The games are not necessarily in order.

REBELS VS AA&W

AA&W scored twice in the first, second and fourth innings enroute to an 8-1 win over the Rebels. The Rebels scored their lone run in the fifth inning as they had problems generating any offense. D. Taylor had two hits in the game for AA&W as did C. Bentley and D. Adkins.

HORNETS VS CENTRAL

A five-run first was all Central needed in handing the Hornets a 6-1 loss in tournament action at Archer Park. The first six batters for Central reached base in the first and all six scored. The Hornets plated a run in the third to avoid a shutout.

JOJOS VS FANNNS WELDING

A big six-run second propelled Jojo's past Fannns Welding 10-5 in Class C play. G. Kirk had a two-run triple in the second inning for Jojo's. J. Quillen accounted for two runs in the first for the winners with a home run. Bentley homered in the fourth for Fannns Welding, leading off the frame.

AAW VS CENTRAL

AAW handed Central its second loss in the Class C tournament with a 7-2 setback. A three-run first gave the AAW team a 3-0 lead, and two in the third ran the score to 5-0. Central scored its first run in the third inning with the help of an error. Their second run was a result of a home run in the seventh inning.

PCC VS REGINA

In a close one, PCC won out over Regina by scoring two runs in the third inning and a single fifth inning score to hand Regina a 3-1 loss. Regina had a bases-loaded situation in the second inning but failed to push a run across. Regina finally got on the scoreboard with a run in the fifth frame.

WSF VS BOC

WSF came away a 5-0 winner over BOC in softball play at Archer Park.

WSF scored two runs in the first, fifth and a single run in the sixth enroute to victory. BOC never really threatened in the game.

JOJO'S VS GUNNERS

A seven-run sixth brought the Gunners from a 3-2 deficit to help them record a 9-3 victory over Jojo's. The Gunners had taken a 2-0 early lead with two in the firstinning. Jojo's scored one in the third on a triple by Mattette and pushed across two in the fourth for a 3-2 lead. The Gunners collected nine hits in the sixth in scoring their seven runs.

PCC VS AAW

PCC defeated AAW 9-2 in the Class C tournament. Three runs in the first and fourth innings helped PPC to build a 6-2 lead. Four straight hits by PCC in the first scored the first three runs. Three AAW errors opened the gate for the three unearned runs for PPC in the fourth. AAW scored single runs in the third and fourth innings.

WSF VS GUNNERS

Wilson-Stanley-Fouts left the tying run on second base in the seventh inning as WSF fell to the Gunners 3-2 at Archer Park. Daniels had a home run for the Gunners in the third inning to give the Gunners a 2-0 lead. WSF scored a single run in the fourth to make it 2-1. Colvin's base hit drove in Runyon, who had reached on an error at shortstop, for a 3-1 Gunners lead.

GUNNERS VS AMES

Ames defeated the Gunners 6-3 in the Class C men's tournament at Archer Park. Ames scored four times in the fifth inning to come from a 3-2 deficit and win the game. Pack had a triple for the winners, and Daniels was three-for-three for the losers.

PCC VS AMES

PCC scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to defeat Ames in a comeback effort. PCC trailed 6-5 going into the bottom of the inning. With two out, a base hit by Dale and an error at second put two runners on base. Andrew singled to drive in Dale with the tying run, and James scored on base hit to win the game.

PCC VS COLLINS

PCC scored five times in the first inning, but it was not enough as Collins scored three runs in each of the second, third and fifth innings and a single run in the fourth to take a 7-6 lead over PCC. Collins then scored four times in the sixth to put the game away. Robbie Shepherd had a third inning home run for Collins.

JOJO'S VS FANNIN'S

Fannin's scored five runs in the fifth inning in dealing Jojo's a 7-5 defeat in softball play at Archer Park Saturday. Jojo's led 3-2 going into the inning. Five straight hits for Fannin's pushed across the runs.

WSF VS AAW

Wilson-Stanley-Fouts scored a run in the top of the seventh inning and made it hold up in a 10-9 win over AAW in softball play. WSF scored six times in the fourth inning, thanks to some shaky defense by AAW.

HORNETS VS ENTERPRISE

Enterprise scored a seventhinning run on a sacrifice fly and went on to defeat the Hornets 5-4 in a hard fought game in the Men's Class C softball tournament at Archer Park. The Hornets had tied the score 4-4 with a run in the bottom of the sixth.

GOBLE SIGNS VS LOWES

In a mercy game, Goble Signs registered a 12-0 win over Lowes in an abbreviated game. Goble Signs scored eight times in the first inning and four in the second to take the four-inning game.

REBELS VS COLLINS

The Rebels fell 10-0 to Collins at Archer Park Saturday afternoon and advanced to the winners bracket. A four-run fourth was all that Collins needed in a win over the Rebels. Collins also scored twice in the fourth and fifth innings.

FANN'S WELDING VS AMES

Ames pushed across two runs in the bottom of the seventhinning enroute to a 7-6 win over Fann's Welding. Fann's trailed 6-5 going into the final frame and scored the two runs with two out. Both Crace and Blair had back to back strikeouts (not in slow pitch), however, four hits and a walk scored the two runs for Fann's Welding.

EC A'S VS CENTRAL FINANCE

Elkhorn City won over Central Finance 6-2 to move on in the Men's Class C Regional softball tournament at Archer Park. The A's had two runs in both the first and fifth innings. Central scored two with single runs in the fifth and sixth frames.

WMDJ VS REGINA

Dale McKinney hit a home run in the fourth inning and the team from WMDJ scored nine times in the seventhinning in defeating Regina Mines 18-9. Castle had a triple for WMDJ in the sixthinning. Regina came back with four runs in the bottom of the seventh in a comeback bid but fell short in the loss.

PCC VS FANNIN'S

What seems to be a trend in the Men's Class C Regional softball tournament at Archer Park is the come-from-behind games that were played, showing the talent these teams had in the tourney. Fannin's scored a run in the bottom of the seventhinning to knock off PCC 10-9 in the tournament. The score was tied at 9-9 going into the bottom of the seventhinning. PCC had taken a 7-4 lead with a five-run fourth.

WSF VS BARKERS

Barkers was a 11-5 winner over Wilson-Stanley-Fouts in the softball tournament held at Archer Park. A four-run first and three in the fifth sent the Barker's team to a victory. Barkers scored two runs in the third and single runs in each of the second and fourthinnings. WSF plated two runs in the second and sixth and a single one in the fourth.

ENTERPRISE VS BOC

A three-run home run by Van in the fifthinning sent Enterprise past BOC 10-8 in softball play. Enterprise scored three times in the third, fifth and sixthinning. BOC scored a run in the top of the seventh but fell short in the defeat.

GOBLE SIGNS VS GUNNERS

Jerry Marcum hit a firstinning two-run homer as Goble Signs defeated the Gunners 10-6. Goble Signs scored three more in the third to take a 6-1 lead. Runyon homered for the Gunners team.

COLLINS VS E C A'S

Collins Carpet held off the on charging Elkhorn City A's in softball action at Archer Park Saturday afternoon in a 6-5 win. The tying run was cut down at the plate for the final out. Collins scored four firstinning runs to take a 4-1 lead. Elkhorn came back with a single secondinning run to make 4-2. However, Collins added a run in the second and third for a 6-2 lead. Elkhorn plated a run in the sixth for a 6-3 game. Elkhorn then scored twice in the seventh to come within 6-5 when the runner was thrown out at the plate.

WMDJ VS FANNIN'S

In the longest game of the tournament, WMDJ defeated Fannin's 10-9 in 10innings. WMDJ pushed across three runs in the top of the 10thinning to capture the game. WMDJ was trailing 7-4 going into the top of the seventhinning when the team scored three times to tie the game and send it into extrainnings. Tucker got the 10thunderway with a lead off single. Dixon followed with a singleand Dale McKinney doubled to score Tucker. Dixon tagged up and scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Castle. After Justice flied to short field, Spurlock doubled, scoring McKinney for a 10-7 lead. Fannin's came back to 10-9 with two runs in the bottom of the 10th.

Throws to second!

Softball action was heavy at Archer Park over the past weekend as 39 games were played to crown the champion of the men's Class C regional tournament. Collins Carpet and Empire Coal were declared co-champions in the finals of the tournament due to a rain out. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

"Our defense really showed up tonight," Johnson said. "We are learning a new defense from last year. We are going to stay with it this year and it will take time for them to learn, but we will stay with this one. Last year we changed all the time."

Johnson says that he believes his Trojans can compete if he can keep everyone healthy and all the players working hard.

"We have a winning feeling right now," he said, "and that is something we never had last year. Our kids have had a taste of victory and we just hope that it will carry over into the regular season."

Gibson rushed for 48 yards on nine carries for the Rebels. Aldrich was accurate on three passes for a total 70 yards passing.

Unofficially the Trojans were penalized for 30 yards and Allen Central 45. The Rebels fumbled the football twice and recovered once. The Trojans coughed up the ball also two times and lost the ball both times. The Rebel defense caught Johnson behind the line of scrimmage for a sack on two occasions, and Aldrich was hauled down by the Trojan defense once.

Both teams will be playing in the EKMC Grid-O-Rama at Jenkins Saturday, Aug. 11.

Pigskin Report

A new high school, college and professional football season is about to get underway for the 1990 season. It is a time for all teams to be optimistic about the upcoming season. Often that optimism turns to despair about midway of the year. We wish all the local teams the best for the upcoming season. May all of them have a winning year.

professional, left this summer as the Cincinnati Reds head into the final 56 games of the regular season clinging to a 4-1/2 game lead over the San Francisco Giants. The series this weekend will be a storyteller for the Reds and their chances of staying in the race. Lou Piniella insists that they are going to get better, and disabled pitcher Danny Jackson vows the Reds will win it. What would we expect them to say. Once an 11-game lead is now down to the current 4-1/2. What was termed as just "mop up mission" for the Reds in their West Coast trip turned into a nightmare for the Big Red Machine.

The sad part of it all is there doesn't seem to be any indication of the Reds righting themselves and staying in the race. Eric Davis, Paul O'Neil, Mariano Duncan, Todd Benzinger, Joe Oliver and Glenn Braggs have left their hits at home or on the bus. Chris Sabo has shown some resurrection with his bat as he banged out four home runs in as many games. Newcomer Hal Morris has shown a lot of consistency since being inserted into the starting lineup. The Morris move is perhaps the best move that Piniella has made all season.

I know that the Reds fans won't like to read this, but the Giants have to be favored to repeat as Western Division champions. Simply because they know how to win and know what it takes to win. A stronger pitching staff and more timely hitters has to make the Giants a favorite.

What about the most highly paid salaries in the sports world for 1990. Mike Tyson, number one with an already accumulated earnings of $28 million. Even as a dethroned champion, you can't lose.

Why does a Major League baseball player want to take a kid's money just to autograph an item? Ball players in this modern age are very greedy. They are out for whatever they can get out of kids who save their money just to purchase an autograph of a famous player, and it is the same kids who buy the tickets that pay their salaries.

Someone like Jose Canseco. Canseco gathers in around $6 million a year; however, he goes to a card show and charges a kid $22 for his autograph. Pretty low, isn't it? I know the old argument. If the card dealers are making money, the players should too. Don't go to the card shows. Autograph them at the ball parks for free. Recent stats released by Knight Ridder News Service reveals that Canseco received $25,000 just for showing up at a card show and staying for two hours. Of course, the autograph sessions at card shows got Pete Rose in trouble. Better report in, Jose. There are no real heroes in baseball anymore.

Remember Rick Leach? He is the one who hit two home runs against the Reds in San Francisco last week in the Giants four game sweep. They were his only two home runs of the season. Well, it seems that he will have to wait until two months before he can hit another one. He has been suspended for drug possession. Is drug possession worse than gambling?

Sean Sutton says that he is going to give college basketball another try. He will be heading to Oklahoma State to rejoin his father, Eddie Sutton. Sutton says that he wants to rejoin his father to help him get back on top in the coaching ranks. Sutton was rumored to have wanted to return to Kentucky and play once again for the Wildcats, but the idea was vetoed by Rick Pitino. Sutton deserves another chance to play college basketball. However, he may not be the major college material that he thinks he is. We wish Sean well in his comeback attempt.

"Little Joe", Joe Morgan that is, was recently inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame. I remember the Big Red Machine of the '70s when Morgan was a torrent hitter. Morgan seemed to have been born to play baseball for the Reds. His best years were spent with the Reds organization. His best year was in 1975 when he batted .327 with 26 home runs.

Morgan is now suing a policeman and his office for the way he was treated at an airport in Los Angeles. Seems that Joe was taken for a drug pusher and was spread-eagled, handcuffed and led out by police officers with their hand over his mouth. Morgan is suing because they took him for a drug pusher because of the "way he was dressed."

Bend that back!

Mike Justice, Wheelwright Trojans, has an injured knee, but that doesn't stop the Trojan from helping out in practices. The Trojans had 26 players come out for the football team this year and Trojan coach Roger Johnson is very optimistic in what could be the last season for Trojan football. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

It's stretch time!

Committee tags fish

Jim Sparks, center, is assisted by Kentucky Fish and Wildlife personnel as he tags one of the 150 largemouth bass that was released into the streams and lake recently. There were 150 smallmouth bass released also. The fish release is part of the ongoing effort of the Tourism Committee to attract fisherman and others to the area. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

In keeping with their plans to promote tourism in Floyd County, the Tourism Committee recently released 150 smallmouth and largemouth bass in the river and lake.

What is so unusual about this release is that each fish was tagged and is worth cash and prizes if caught by some lucky fisherman. However, don't make the mistake some have in the past. You must purchase a $5 Fishathon tag to be eligible for the cash and prizes.

One fish, valued at $1000, had to be released back into the waters earlier in the spring because the angler who caught it forgot to buy a Fishathon tag.

A boat is on the list of prizes as well as televisions, radios, cash prizes of $1000, $500, $100 and $50.

The program is designed to help tourism in the area by attracting anglers from all over to come in and fish the Floyd County shores and try to catch some big fish as well as win some big bucks. The program was to run through October of this year.

So, a fresh stock of bass is in the waters, tagged and just waiting to grab hold of some fisherman's line to make him or her a winner. Be sure to get your Fishathon tag. You can't be a winner without one!

That time of year again

With summer fading into fall, it is time to put away the cleats, gloves and bats and to turn the attention of the sports world to the game of football. Here two Allen Central Rebels work out in preparation for the school's season opener on Aug. 17 against Jenkins. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

Corporate sponsors keep auto racing on track

from Phillip Morris USA
Professional auto racing is an expensive proposition. The money involved in getting a car and driver onto the track is far beyond the means of most individuals. That is why corporate sponsorship has come to play such an important role in Indy Car racing.

Without corporate sponsorship, there would be fewer events and fewer cars on the field. The sport would become less competitive and far less exciting.

Phillip Morris USA has played a larger role than most in helping to make Indy Car racing the thrilling and highly competitive sport it is today. Phillip Morris sponsors three CART Indy Car events — The Marlboro Grand Prix, the Marlboro 500 and the Marlboro Challenge, an annual "all-star" special event race that has produced some of the finest racing in Indy Car history.

Phillip Morris also sponsors some of Indy's finest drivers, including Danny Sullivan and 1989 Indy winner Emerson Fittipaldi.

Unfortunately, there are proposals being debated in Washington right now that would put an end to all of that. For example, if US Rep. Thomas Luken (D-Ohio) has his way, tobacco company sponsorship of races, teams and drivers would become illegal.

Rep Luken, who has stated for the record that his ultimate goal is to see cigarettes illegal, has proposed a bill that would eliminate tobacco brand sponsorship of sporting events, as well as tobacco advertising at these events.

Why would Congress consider putting an end to the tobacco industry's positive role in sports activities? A concern expressed by some legislators is that tobacco sponsorships influence people to begin smoking.

The fact is, there is no evidence to suggest that people take up smoking because they see cigarette brand logos on the sides of racing cars, or indeed, as the result of any tobacco industry advertising or event sponsorships. Even former Surgeon General Koop admitted as much in his last report on smoking and health when he stated, "There is no scientifically rigorous study available to the public that provides a definitive answer to the basic question of whether advertising and promotion increased the level of tobacco consumption."

One has only to think about it for a moment to see how absurd the whole idea is. Who believes for a moment that a non-smoker will suddenly develop a desire to smoke simply because he sees a Marlboro logo on a race car? That's like suggesting that a person who does not own a car will suddenly develop a burning desire to buy Bosch spark plugs, simply because they attend the Bosch Spark Plug Grand Prix. The whole thing would be funny, if it were not such a serious threat, both to professional racing and to other sports and cultural events that have come to depend on corporate sponsorship to survive.

Once legislators put themselves in the business of deciding which companies can engage in promotional activities, the question necessarily becomes, "Where will it stop?" Will beer be next? Other alcoholic beverages? What about snack foods? There is virtually no limit to the number of products that some groups find objectionable.

In the end, of course, it is the fans who will suffer the most. Fan dedication and excitement is the heart and soul of Indy Car racing. Banning or restricting corporate sponsorship will drive tickets prices far out of the reach of many fans.

As long as tobacco companies manufacture a legal product that millions of American adults choose to purchase and enjoy, they should have every right to promote their products — right alongside Bosch spark plugs and Pennzoil — by sponsoring Indy race cars and drivers.

Bluegrass State Games hand out 2,892 medals

More than 15,500 Kentuckians participated in the sixth annual Bluegrass State Games the weekend of July 27-29.

A total of 2,892 medals were presented to athletes from around the state. Fayette Countians won the most medals, 502, and Jefferson County came in second with 392. Last year 2,815 medals were awarded.

The leading medal winner was Fred Tuttle of Scott County with 11. James D. Hill of Estill County and Amy Tuttle of Scott County tied for second with nine each. Bradley Mayo of Floyd placed 22 on the list of winners with six medals. Fayette won the most Gold with 192, Silver with 169 and Bronze with 141.

Here in Floyd County athletes took home five gold medals, three silver medals and 15 bronze medals.

Local winners of the Gold Medals were Kenneth "Buzz" Allen and Phillip A. Horn in archery. Brian Hay won a Gold in gymnastics in vault for 9-11-year-olds. Bradley Mayo won Gold Medals in vault, 7-8-year-olds, and also in rings for 7-8-year-olds.

Allen also brought home a silver in archery. The Martin basketball team placed second in the three-on-three basketball. Sarah Dixon won a silver in gymnastics.

Hay was a bronze winner in pommel horse, Rings, all around and high bars. Other Bronze winners were Aaron Craham in Floor for 9-11 year olds as well as Parallel Bars. Mayo won Bronze Medals in All Around, Floor, Parallel Bars and Pommel Horse in gymnastics for 7-8 year olds.

Ken's Sports Shop won a Bronze in men's softball and Tim Slone brought home a Bronze Medal in track and field. All total Floyd County won 23 medals at the Bluegrass State Games.

Although the Bluegrass State

Games are open to all ages, the majority of this year's individual participants were from ages six to 12.

Track and field was the most popular individual competition with more than 600 participants, followed by tennis which attracted about 450 athletes.

Softball was the favored team event, drawing over 4,000 individuals. Soccer was second with around 3,000 participants.

Mayor Scotty Baesler and the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government have organized and hosted the Games for three years. They are sponsored by the state of Kentucky.

Corporate sponsors of the Games are Coca-Cola and Valvoline Oil Company.

Procedures for deer hunt announced

The Lexington-Blue Grass Army Depot is accepting applications through the month of August for the annual deer hunt to be held this fall at the Blue Grass facility in Richmond.

Applications should be submitted on post cards to Commander, Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot, ATTN: Land Manager, SDSLB-ASF, Lexington 40511-5010.

The application should include the individual's name, social security number, home address to include city, state and zip code; home phone; business phone; and business address.

Hunters should indicate whether they desire to hunt with bow or gun. Only one application per person will be accepted. Gun hunts are with shotgun only with slug type ammunition.

Deer hunt parties of up to four will be accepted. If hunters wish to hunt together, they must submit their applications stapled together.

The number of types of hunts to be held will not be determined until late August, after deer density counts are conducted.

Applicants must understand that the number of hunt sports at the depot is limited due to the small herd size and the large number of applications received. The lottery process will be used to select successful applicants. Hunters selected will be notified in October.

Upon notification of selection, hunters will be required to pay a $15 fee to hunt.

Hunts will be held on Saturdays for one-half day only. All hunts will end promptly at noon.

St. Catharine's to beef up collegiate athletic program

St. Catharine's College is looking for a few good men and women to expand its sports program, according to former Kentucky Governor and now President of St. Catharine's College Martha Layne Collins.

"We need women basketball and softball players as well as men to play baseball this academic year," said Collins, who took office as the two-year college's eighth president on July 1.

"St. Catharine's has always enjoyed a topnotch reputation for academics and we have a good men's basketball team. But this year, we want to broaden our athletic offerings," she said, adding that there is still time for interested athletes to make arrangements to enroll this fall by calling the registrar at 606-336-9303, ext. 232.

The former governor and her staff are creating new ways for students to better enjoy their time at the college through such means as a broader variety of sports, she said.

"We have a lot to offer here at St. Catharine's and we are confident enough student athletes will take advantage of the opportunity. And we hope to announce even more athletic offerings as the school year unfolds," said Collins, adding that ways to offer SCC's facilities to sports enthusiasts in area communities are under consideration.

Melissa "Missy" Hutchins, former Washington County High School basketball star, will coach the women's basketball team this fall and women's softball team next spring if enough women athletes can be recruited.

Hutchins, who was named Academic All-American and Honorable Mention All-American as a basketball player for Union College, now plays softball for a Class A sanctioned league in Danville.

Jack Pack, who will return as SCC's men's basketball coach this fall, will coach the men's baseball team next spring. He lettered in basketball and baseball at Wayland High School near Prestonsburg and went on to play basketball for the Austin Peay State University Governors in the early 1970s. His team won the OVC championship Pack's senior year. He has 16 years of winning coaching experience.

"We are fortunate to have coaches of the caliber of Jack Pack and Missy Hutchins to lead our student athletes and broaden our athletic scope," Collins said.

"We can't all score baskets or home runs, but student athletes make campus life better for all students by serving as models of physical fitness and even more importantly representing the college for everyone."

Largest dam in the world is the Fort Peck Dam. It stretches almost four miles across the Missouri River in northeastern Montana.

Wilderness Road Bike Trek slated

Kentucky's most beautiful bicycle tour, the Wilderness Road Bike Trek, has been scheduled for Sept. 22-24. The annual bike ride to historic Shaker town is a benefit for the American Lung Association of Kentucky.

This year's tour will originate in Harrodsburg and include such famous Kentucky landmarks as Fort Harrod, Perryville Battlefield and Constitution Square in Danville. The three-day ride, covering about 100 miles, will feature the spectacular beauty of central Kentucky backroads in the early autumn.

An overnight stay at Shaker town, always a high point of the event, includes a riverboat cruise, fabulous food, evening entertainment and a tour of the restored 19th century Shaker dwellings.

According to trek director Carolyn Embry, a unique feature of the bike trek is the extensive level of on-the-road support, which includes a gear truck, experienced tour leaders, mechanic service, rest stops and roving hospitality vans. "The Lung Association goes the extra mile to insure that this ride is a truly special event for our participants," she said.

To participate in the bike trek, each cyclist will pay a $35 registration fee and raise pledges to combat lung disease. Participants can qualify for a host of exciting prizes as they reach designated pledge levels. The Grand Prize, a cruise for two in the Bahamas on Carnival Cruise Lines, will go to the top fund raiser.

Again this year, coworkers have the opportunity to ride as a team representing their company. Teams consisting of four or more members can compete for the Corporate Team Cup, awarded to the team that raises the most pledges.

Cosponsors of the bike trek are 84 WHAS and Bicycle Sport Inc.

To receive more information about the Wilderness Road Bike Trek and pre-trek information programs, contact the American Lung Association of Kentucky at 502-363-2652, or toll free at 1 800 366-LUNG.

Unusual Features Often Attract Bass

When Linda England and Fredda Lee look for bass, they often begin by looking not for the fish themselves but rather, for something different or unusual in the water.

"No one knows why bass are attracted to something different," explains England, a multiple winner of women's professional fishing tournaments and a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, "but they are."

"I always look for a different type of tree, a change in vegetation, or a variation in a shoreline. If there are a hundred pine trees and one oak tree standing in the water, the bass will probably find that oak."

Lee, a former fashion model and movie actress who left the glamour to fish professional tournaments and, like England, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff, readily concurs.

"At times, you may not even realize how a particular piece of structure is different when you catch bass, but if you study it carefully, you'll nearly always find something that distinguishes it from its surroundings."

Both Lee and England begin their search for something different by studying topographic maps of the lake they plan to fish. This is usually a time-consuming event, because such a map may show hundreds of places bass might be.

"When you're studying a map," notes England, "some of the things to concentrate on include drop-offs, depth changes, channel bends or points."

"Keep in mind the basic requirements bass have, such as cover and a close proximity to shallow water and you'll usually find something a little different the fish might be attracted to."

"Some differences may not become apparent until you're actually out on the water," adds Lee. "Studying the shoreline can often tell you a lot about what's under the water and may be a clue to finding something different."

One example, says the Johnson Pro, is an underwater roadbed. Flooded roads often attract bass, but certain roads seem to be more attractive than others, particularly those with ditches or drop-offs along each side.

"By studying what's left of the road on the shore, you can tell what type of road it is," says Lee, "and if it is likely to have bass on it. Then, using your depth finder, you should be able to follow the road. You don't even have to start fishing it until you find a distinct depth change or a bend in that road, something different bass would use."

When England and Lee are fishing vegetation, they look for an area that has a mixture of several different types. When they're fishing reeds, they fish the standing vegetation, rather than reeds that have been broken and are bent. When they're fishing milfoil, they look for places where logs or trees are mixed with it.

"One of the most unusual features we've found that seems to produce fish consistently occurs in standing timber," explains England. "We look for a formation of trees in a circle, almost like a corral."

"For some reason, bass relate to formations like this, almost like cattle or horses."

Bass Club's open tourney to be Aug. 25

The Louisa Bass Club will be conducting an "Open Bass Fishing Tournament" at the Paintsville Lake on Saturday, Aug. 25 from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m. Sunday morning.

The event is open to the entire public. The tournament will be a buddy type tournament with an entry fee of $50 per boat. There will also be an optional $5 per fisherman side pot for the largest bass of the tournament.

Seventy-five percent of the tournament entry fees will be paid out to the top five teams. Drawings for prizes also will take place after the weigh-in at 7 a.m. Sunday.

For more information, contact Mike Sullivan at 638-4555. Entry forms can also be picked up at the Paintsville Lake Marina, Wayne's Tackle Box in Paintsville and Jim's Gun and Tackle Shop in Lowmansville.

Paintsville Lake notes

by David Jackson
Park Ranger

As you travel to or from Paintsville Lake on any summer morning or afternoon, you may notice as you pass the dam, many enthusiastic park visitors walking throughout the area. You may also see someone whom you know from your neighborhood in the crowd.

If you have never visited the Paintsville Dam Area, about this time you will probably ask yourself, "What are all these people, ranging from small children to senior citizens doing?" You may even wonder what it is that attracts these people to visit the dam day after day.

To answer that question, you must first look beyond the lake itself to see its total beauty and attributes.

Paintsville Lake, a US Army Corps of Engineers multi-purpose flood control recreation project was completed in 1984. Since then, the corps has strived to provide the surrounding communities with the highest possible level of flood control protection. The corps also has and continues to provide the visiting public with a high degree of varied recreational opportunities.

Each year, Paintsville Lake, through its crystal clear waters and rugged rock cliffs, attracts thousands of visitors from all parts of the country for the enjoyment of boating, water skiing, fishing and swimming. To many members of the visiting public, water sports are what they think of when thinking of Paintsville Lake.

Paintsville Lake, however, to many members of the surrounding communities, takes on a whole different identity as they stroll across the dam for their daily walk.

As these visitors proceed across the dam and up the hill to the visitor center, they will be met along the way by several different types of songbirds and a variety of small game wildlife. One might see a ground hog standing on his hind legs and peering up from the side of the dam or a mother quail and chicks out for their evening stroll. If you are lucky, you may get a quick glimpse of a white tail deer escaping into the forest undercover.

As you reach the visitor center, you will find a breathtaking view of the Paintsville Lake Marina Area that boasts of the lake's beauty. A family of gray squirrels will then probably catch your attention as they scamper to and fro around their dinner table made of an old tree stump and enjoying their evening meal of shelled corn. You will also find different types of flowers, planted by corps volunteers, growing throughout and adding to the beauty of this area.

Visiting the visitor center, you will find an assortment of brochures concerning different lakes, parks, forests and general park do's and don'ts.

You will also be greeted by helpful corps employees who will gladly answer questions you may have about Paintsville Lake.

For the more energetic person, the Paintsville Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the corps, is currently constructing a 1.25 mile walking trail at the dam. The trail which is already in use begins at the dam and winds its way through the forested area surrounding the lake and ends at the lake's emergency spillway. Visitors walking this trail will see a variety of native plant, insect and animal life.

They will also be privileged to see the beauty of the evening's sun shining against the lake's sparkling surface.

These daily visitors, unlike many, are privileged to enjoy all of these simple but valuable attributes that, together with the lake, make Paintsville Lake the beautiful park that it is. The US Army Corps of Engineers takes pride in providing the visiting public with such a park. Paintsville Lake, your lake, is very fragile and the corps asks that you help them take care of it by observing all the rules and regulations when you come to visit.

Stations list football broadcasts

The WQHY-95 sports crew will be busy this fall covering not only Prestonsburg football but also six Pikeville Panthers games. In all, the local station will cover 12 games.

One of the top games of the schedule will be the Belfry at Pikeville game, Sept. 21, in which the Panthers will be looking to get revenge for the only loss inflicted on them in three years. The Pirates defeated Pikeville last season for their only loss, and of course Pikeville went on to win an unprecedented third straight state championship. WQHY plans to carry all of the playoff games also.

Scheduled games:

Aug. 24	Prestonsburg at Betsy Layne
Aug. 25	Beechwood at Pikeville
Aug. 31	Whitesburg at Prestonsburg
Sept. 7	Johns Creek at Prestonsburg
Sept. 14	Shelby Valley at Pikeville
Sept. 21	Belfry at Pikeville
Sept. 28	Phelps at Pikeville
Oct. 5	Prestonsburg at Leslie Co.
Oct. 12	Sheldon Clark at Prestonsburg
Oct. 19	Pikeville at Prestonsburg
Oct. 26	Johns Creek at Pikeville
Nov. 2	Morgan County at Prestonsburg

WKKZ-FM will carry all of the Prestonsburg Blackcat games. No decision has been made as of yet on the Allen Central Rebels football games on WKKZ. According to Jeff Meeks, station manager, the games could be carried on a delay basis.

WMDJ-FM will not carry any high school football because of the broadcast of the Cincinnati Reds games that runs through the first of October, according to owner Dale McKinney.

When Woodspoint Geriatric Care Center needed a new health insurance company, they came back to a familiar name.

In 1987, Woodspoint Geriatric Care Center in Florence, Kentucky, left Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky for another health insurance company. They said our rates were too high.

In 1989, Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky welcomed a new client — Woodspoint Geriatric Care Center. Now, why would a company who left us want to come back?

Woodspoint learned the hard way that some health insurers lure new business with low rates the first year — often to follow up with steep rate hikes in succeeding years.

So Woodspoint signed up with us again. For a fair price. For value. For service. For the most recognized health care card in Kentucky. And Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky has taken steps to insure that Woodspoint — as well as companies across the Commonwealth — joins the growing number of businesses that stay with us year after year.

We're concerned about rising health care costs. So we're working with our customers to control claims, cut administrative costs and keep our company on sound financial ground. We want to deliver the best value in health insurance possible — a value that will build strong, long-term relationships with every customer we have.

We have not reached all our goals. Not yet. But we're on our way. Choose us again, or for the first time. And choose the health plan companies all over Kentucky are coming back to.

Good isn't good enough anymore.

Bradley inducted into Hall of Fame

Inducted into Hall Of Fame

Hiram Bradley, Mousie, will be inducted in the World Trapshooting Hall of Fame on Aug. 14 in Dayton, Ohio. Bradley holds several titles and has won different awards since he started trapshooting in 1963. He has captured 16 state titles. (Photo courtesy of Trapshooting Hall of Fame)

Hiram Bradley of Mousie has had some great days, particularly in the sport of trapshooting. On Aug. 14 at the World Trapshooting Tournament in Dayton, Ohio, Bradley will be inducted into the World Trapshooting Hall of Fame.

Bradley, a Kentuckian by birth, was a high school English teacher in Greenville, Ohio, when he began registered trapshooting in 1963.

When he retired from the sport 17 seasons later, he had collected 21 Grand American trophies, won 16 State championships, captured four zone titles, been named to 13 All-American teams, set a 16-yard long record, shot on a 500x500 squad, earned two Trap and Field magazine All-Around Awards and led men's or industry yearly average standings on five occasions.

Bradley registered 400 singles and 400 handicap targets in 1963, and from late March 1964 to the Grand American of that year, he went from 20 to 26 yards, ending his first full season with a .9817 singles average on 4,150 targets, .9272 on 2,500 handicap and .9133 on 900 doubles. He was just 700 targets into the 1965 target year before reaching the maximum 27-yard line.

In 1966 Bradley won the first shoot-off held under lights at the Grand American. In a 19-way tie of 100s for top honors during Saturday's preliminary singles, he prevailed with 150-23. This same year his .9638 All-Around average set a Trap and Field average award record.

During the 1967 Grand, he ended a record singles run of 1,469, eclipsing by 35 the eight-year-old mark held by Arnold Riegger (1975 Hall of Fame inductee). This record held until 1975.

Also being inducted, posthumously, is A.A. (Al) Riehl, formerly of Bridgeport, Conn., and for 30 years shooting promotion manager of Remington Arms Company.

It's two in 10 for Roberts

Saturday, Aug. 4 was a busy day for Paintsville's Rick Roberts as the racing enthusiast captured the 5th Annual Martin County Fair 5K Run at Inez.

Ten hours later Roberts won the Family Festival 5K Run at Jackson.

In the Martin County Fair 5K, Roberts pulled away from Lawrence County's Mike Jude to post a 17:47 time, good for first place. Jude finished with a time of 20:22.

At Jackson, Roberts ran the Family Festival 5K in 17:18 to bring home his second trophy of the day. He has totaled eight wins this racing season, and the Jackson 5K was his 391st race in the 12 years that he has been running. He has run in 18 races this season and is looking to run in his 400th yet this year.

"I have finished in either the top five or top 10 in every race except two, one being the Goodwill Games in Seattle," he related.

Roberts will become the color commentator for radio station WQHY-Fm 95 this coming football season. Although he never played football, the fleet-footed runner says that he stays glued to ESPN and watches all the football he can.

Roberts says that he is undecided about his next race. He says that he is either going to run in the Parkersburg, W.Va., Men's National Half Marathon on Aug. 18 or the Elvis Presley International in Memphis, Tenn., on the same day.

Patton wins share of medals

LATER OPENING FOR WOOD DUCK SEASON
Kentucky's early duck hunters will go afield about a week later than usual this year. Wood duck season is Sept. 12-16.

In the past, September duck hunting was scheduled to coincide with the peak of teal migration; however, since teal numbers have declined, this species can no longer be taken during the early season. The later opening of the wood duck season should help protect blue-winged teals from accidental harvest.

The date change also gives young ducks more time to move away from nesting areas and allows late nesting hens to complete wing molt.

Shooting hours, bag and possession limits are the same as last year. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset. Hunters may harvest two woodies per day, and the possession limit is four.

SENIOR CITIZEN DEFINITION CAUSES CONFUSION AMONG SPORTSMEN

Even though the term "senior citizen" now means a person 60 years or age or older, Kentucky resident sportsmen must purchase hunting and fishing licenses until age 65.

The sport license requirement is not affected by the new senior citizen definition. KRS 150 specifically states that residents over age 65 may hunt or fish without a license.

Lowering the senior citizen age from 65 to 60 simply allows younger seniors to qualify for discounts offered by retailers in a voluntary program set up by the legislature.

FISH AND WILDLIFE COMMISSION CHANGES MEETING FORMAT

Beginning this month, it will take two days to complete quarterly meetings of the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission.

In the past, commission business was completed in a single day. The format change should allow more time for discussion before voting takes place.

The first day will be devoted to divisional reports from biologists and other fish and wildlife department personnel. The second day will involve public comments and decision making (voting).

The nine-member board will meet Aug. 20-21 in Frankfort to set hunting dates for the upcoming waterfowl season and the 1991 turkey hunting season. Commission meetings are open to the public.

IF...

From an anonymous thinker comes this pearl of wisdom... "if the beasts and birds abound no more and fish grow scarce on every shore, what chance have you and I, my friend, to meet a different, gladder end?"

Tip the Scales In Your Favor

Life isn't easy. Neither is business. 8 out of 10 businesses fail within their 1st year. That's not surprising considering the competition in the marketplace.

To be successful you've got to write and design an attractive ad; show off your strong points. Tell potential customers the unique features that make your company better than the rest.

The Floyd County Times can tip the scales in your favor. Our advertising staff will design effective ads that bring results. Contact the Advertising Department at 886-8506. We'll help you start beating the competition.

Pharmacy Footnotes

By HAROLD COOLEY
GETTING AN ACCURATE READING

When the onset of fever makes it necessary to take one's temperature, cooler heads are required to read the results. While normal body temperature is said to be 98.6 degrees F., doctors seldom worry as long as oral readings reside in the 97.6 to 99.6 degrees F. range. Body temperatures tend to register about a degree warmer when taken rectally, and a degree cooler when taken under the armpit. The time of day also extends into the picture when taking body temperature. Morning temperatures tend to be a degree or two cooler than those taken in the evening. It is wise, therefore, to take all these factors into account when figuring a temperature and assessing the need to call a doctor.

COOLEY APOTHECARY meets the highest level of professionalism in our business and would be honored to become your family pharmacy. Our records are fully maintained for all drug warnings, drug interactions and personal drug allergies here at #2 Town Center Bldg., 886-8106. MasterCard and Visa honored plus we welcome all third party payments. Open: Mon. - Fri. 9-5:30, Sat. 9-3.

HINT: Body temperature usually falls between late night and early morning.

Pony Equitation Championships featured at Kentucky Horse Park

August in Kentucky signals the gathering of more than 400 of the country's top pony riders, as they meet to compete for honors in one of the most prestigious annual pony competitions, the American Horse Show Association, Miller's Pony Hunter and Pony Medal Championships, Aug. 10-12 at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington.

Sponsored by Miller's Harness Company, East Rutherford, N.J., the championships have proven to be a vital stepping stone in the development of today's young show riders.

Graduates include the 1988 Seoul Olympic Silver medalist Greg Best, who competed on Snowgoose to win the Large Pony Hunter Championship, while Laura Chapot, 1989 AHSA Junior Horseperson of the Year, won Pony Hunter Championships four times over during her junior riding days.

In addition, the pony Medal Championships has been a telling indicator of up and coming talent: Ray Texel, winner in 1989 of both the AHSA Equitation Medal Finals at Harrisburg, Pa., and the ASPCA Maclay Equitation Finals held at the National Horse Show, was winner of the Equitation Championships in 1987.

The championships, conducted under the auspices of the AHSA, are open to ponies that have won a championship in a pony hunter division at an AHSA "A" rated competition (the highest level of competition, the 2222-AHSA/Miller's Pony Hunter and Pony Medal Championships, Aug. 10-12) and, for the medal championships, riders who have won a blue ribbon in medal qualifying classes.

For more information concerning qualifying, contact the awards department at 212-972-2372, ext. 75.

The American Horse Shows Association is the national equestrian federation of the United States and a Group A member of the United States Olympic Committee. The AHSA represents US equestrian interests to the international equestrian body, the Federation Equestre Internationale equestrian body, the Federation Equestre Internationale (FEI), as well as recognizes domestically 23 different breeds and disciplines of show horses, sanctions 2,500 equestrian competitions a year, and licenses all judges, stewards and technical delegates who officiate at these events.

Bobcats attend Don Lane's Basketball Camp at Transy

The Betsy Layne Bobcats freshman basketball team was part of over 1800 campers, representing 26 states, at Don Lane's basketball camp at Transylvania University, July 9-13. The Bobcats spent a week on the campus in Lexington, where they received individual instruction in all phases of basketball under the guidance of high school and college coaches. Numerous former campers have received All-State honors and college scholarships. Seven state championship teams have attended the camp. Phillips, Flaker sign letters with Western Ky University Chris Phillips and Aaron Flaker, two of the top college baseball prospects in Kentucky, have signed to play at Western Kentucky University.

Both are products of Louisville area high schools. Phillips is a shortstop from Pleasure Ridge High and Flaker is an outfielder out of Male High.

"We are certainly pleased that Chris and Aaron have decided to continue their education and play here at Western," said veteran Hilltopper Head Coach Joel Murrie. "They are both outstanding prospects who should adapt to the college game quickly and prove to be real assets to our program. We look forward to having them with us this fall."

Phillips, a 6-1, 170-pounder who bats and throws from the right side, hit .520 with 14 home runs and 60 runs batted in last spring. He also accounted for 54 runs and had nine doubles. And, he was 11 of 11 in the stolen base category.

He led Coach Bill Miller's team to a 34-7 record and a berth in the final four of the state championship tournament. For his efforts, he was named first-team All-State, as well as All-Region and All-District. He was Kentucky High School Baseball Coaches Association All-Star both his junior and senior years.

Flaker, a 5-7, 140-pound southpaw, hit .400 and had a .549 on-base average for Coach Bill Watts' Male Bulldogs. He scored 20 runs and knocked in 20 more while also making good on 25 or 28 steal attempts.

The valedictorian of his high school class who is interested in computer science, Flaker led his team to a 29-5 mark and was an All-Region and All-District selection. He also earned a berth on the East-West All-Star roster.

Deer me!

Bambi would be safe on this Floyd County farm

by Tess A. Whitmer
Assistant Editor

(Editor's Note: On request of the owners of the deer and to conceal the location of the Floyd County farm so that no harm comes to the animals, the names in this story have been changed.)

Most would think that a hunter and an animal protector have contradictory goals. But one man in Floyd County has combined the two roles. Bill White and his wife Julie have taken their love of animals to an extent beyond most—they have started a deer ranch in order to repopulate their area with the gentle creatures.

"I just think they are really special animals," Bill said, "and I want to see these hills alive with them again...I like having them because I like to watch them and see what they do."

About five years ago, the Whites decided that they wanted to raise deer. After getting a license to do so, they headed to Western Kentucky and bought a full-grown buck and doe. After drugging the animals, they loaded them in the back of their pickup truck and began the long trek home.

"It was the stormiest night I'd seen in a long time," Julie said. "We were so afraid that those deer would wake up before we got home and start kicking or something." As it turned out, the deer slept until the next day, and woke up perfectly healthy to the beginning of the long term deer ranch project.

Every year the couple adds two more baby deer to the herd, not counting what is produced by the deer they already have. The Whites always buy their deer from a licensed seller in Pulaski County where they can pick up a fawn for about $150.

"All these deer I got in here are really just pet deer, I can handle most of them—I can, but they won't come down if somebody strange is around," Bill said. "I can reach in and touch them and pet them."

Julie admitted that Bill knows each of their 19 deer by sight, although she can only identify a few. "He spends a lot of his time with those deer," she said. Bill said he usually on the hill, where he has three lots fenced off, from 7 in the evening until dark and most of the weekend.

He is now working on a fourth lot closer to the house where he has been growing alfalfa which the deer love, Bill said. He also feeds them chopped horse and mule feed and soybeans and apples. He said he spends about $30 a week feeding the deer.

Bill's hobby hasn't come cheap. He and his wife estimate they've spent around $5000 on fencing, feeding and other fixtures for the project.

Bill has even built a sizable pond down the hollow a bit so when he lets the deer loose they have some place to go for water. That project cost him around $1800.

Although it does take up a lot of his time and money, Bill's love for the animal makes it worthwhile. His eight-year-old daughter has been around deer for so long now, she doesn't even see it as unusual to have wild creatures penned up on the hill. Julie even has a picture of her daughter when she was about two years old sleeping in the back seat of their car right next to a baby deer they had bought.

One problem the family has had, though, is dogs. Bill said that two or three dogs can run a deer to death. In two years time he has lost seven deer to dogs which will get in the pens and run the deer into the fence and break their neck.

"There would be plenty of deer here if it weren't for people and dogs.

Dogs are the number one problem," Bill said. "It's not hunting dogs that do it. It's house dogs that people don't keep up and just let run loose."

"When deer get scared, they don't worry about what's in front of them. They worry about what's behind them and whatever's in front of them they run over it. Fish and Wildlife lost four deer this spring on account of dogs—two little house dogs."

Bill has six dogs of his own, but he keeps them penned up on the opposite hill near his home, away from the deer.

He also works closely with Fish and Wildlife personnel. This spring See DEER, C 5

Oh, deer...

Spanky (right) looks up at his feeder with those big brown eyes and you can't help but fall in love with the adorable little creature. Unlike many other animals, deer stay "cute" even after they are grown as Charlie (below) proves. Both Spanky and Charlie love to be fed a piece of apple or be given a pat on their head. But, unlike the elder of the breed, the young fawn will take affection from anyone willing to give it. (Photo by Tess Whitmer)

Kim's Korner

By Kim Frasure

This past Saturday night some friends, my daughters and I went to my alma mater to watch the season's opener of football, better known as a Grit-arama at the Snake Pit. Four schools participated and three of those from Floyd County.

Not knowing any of the players of the first game, I found myself dreaming of 1977-78. I don't know, it might be me, but it seems that during nine out of 10 football games at ol' WHS it rains. This night though there was just a sprinkle or two. As I watched the cheerleaders warm up before the game, I couldn't help but feel out of place, old, and that I didn't know every person in the stands. You know, like in the old days.

Well, finally it was time to watch our friend Eddie play ball. My youngest daughter, who thinks the sun rises and sets in this young man, realized that he was number 10 and her eyes followed him with every play.

The Wheelwright Trojans vs. the Allen Central Rebels—by the way, the Rebels were being coached by Dewey Ray Jamerson, not only another of Wheelwright's graduates but one of Wheelwright's star football players. This was going to be a good game.

As the game began the adrenalin began to flow. The excitement of Maroon and White, the cheerleaders cheering "Go Big Maroon" and then it hit—this game is rough, I mean really rough. My youngest daughter noticed #10 was down, and although she said 10 big guys were all over him, there were really only four. Even though, I still felt my heart fall to my feet. The Rebel players are up and so is #10. Pshew, glad that one is over. As the plays went on and #10 got his touchdown for the WHS Trojans we were all smiles and thrilled to no end.

The game continued, and yes, before the night was over #10 did get hurt. Along with his girlfriend Charlotte, my girls and I sat watching the coaches giving him their undivided attention. We sat looking at each other. Do we go down to check on him? Will he be furious with us if we do? This is the reason he won't allow his mother to come watch him play, for fear if he does get hurt, she'll beat the coach to the field and embarrass him to death.

Well, I'm sorry, after he made it to the sidelines and Chip (one of the coaches) was working on his shoulder, I went down the bleachers to make sure he was OK. Trying to be nonchalant, I stood to the side, and yelled "Chip, is he gonna' be OK."

"Yeah, he'll be fine," he said.

So back I went to convince Charlotte of that fact.

After the game we all ended up at Charlotte's pigging out and aggravating Eddie with the same question over and over, "You sure you're okay?". The pain he was in was all over his face. After a while he finally agreed to go to the hospital and off we went. His mom, Donna, telling him all the way "If you're hurt bad, no more football."

As we sat and waited for Eddie to be X-rayed, I was figuring he'd thrown his shoulder out of place and would return to football as soon as he was well and able. The X-ray was taken and Eddie, Charlotte, Donna and I sat patiently awaiting the doctor's prognosis.

But when it came, it was awful. "Your collar bone is broken," he said. Eddie's face melted. I felt so sad for him. This is a young man who loves football and has just been told his football days are over for awhile.

As I said before, I'd figured his shoulder was out of place, but not broken. Imagining the pain he was in, not only from the broken bone but from not being able to play football, was crushing my heart.

He continued as he had throughout the entire night to be a real trooper though. And my guess is he'll continue to do so for these next six weeks while going through the healing process. Another guess is he'll be right back on the field and going strong and we'll be on the sidelines, or in the stands cheering #10 and the rest of the Wheelwright Trojans on. Hope the pain eases soon, Eddie. Till next week, see ya'.

Ah, we have a new person submitting to this column—my boss. Though she admits that her time for cooking is limited these days. The fact that she doesn't have an oven at her residence adds to these non-cooking days. But, when she did cook on a regular basis, she admits to having some favorite recipes that she titles Reasonable Recipes ala Shingler, Pam Shingler that is.

The first that appears in this column is a crab meat casserole that she says is delicious. It was given to her by a friend years ago, and she has adapted it to suit her taste along the way.

CRAB MEAT CASSEROLE

1 can crab meat
1 can shrimp
1 10-oz. can cream of shrimp soup
2/3 cup milk
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 cup fine noodles, uncooked
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese

Drain crab; break into small pieces. Blend soup, milk and mayonnaise. Stir in noodles, shrimp and crab meat. Top with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour.

MACARONI CHILI

2 lbs ground round
2 Tbsps olive or salad oil
1 can (1 lb/2 oz) tomatoes
1 qt. tomato juice
2 cups cooked onions
3 cloves garlic, minced salt
3 qts boiling water
2 Tbsps chili powder
1/2 tsp each; cumin, oregano, pepper
1 bay leaf
1 can (15 oz.) red kidney beans, drained
1 cup sweet mixed pickles, chopped
2 cups elbow macaroni

Brown beef in oil. Add tomatoes, juice, onions, garlic, 4 tps salt and remaining seasonings. Simmer covered one hour; stir in kidney beans and pickles. Cook 30 minutes longer. Remove bay leaf. Add 1 tsp salt to boiling water, add macaroni and cook until tender, drain. Add to chili.

MONKEY BREAD

5 cups flour*
1 Tbsp sugar
1 tsp salt
2 pkg yeast
1 cup butter
1 cup pet milk
1/4 cup water
3 eggs (room temp.)

Mix 1-1/2 cup flour, sugar, salt and undissolved yeast. Set aside. In saucepan mix one stick butter, milk and water. Place over low heat till liquid is warm (butter doesn't have to melt). Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed, scraping bowl often. Add eggs and 1 cup flour or enough to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scrape bowl often. Stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough; cover, let rise in warm place.

Divide dough into halves and roll each portion to 1/3 inch thick, cut dough into 3 inch diamond shape strips (use sharp knife). Melt 1 stick butter and dip each strip in butter and place in tube pan or 10-inch ring mold, fill 3/4 full.

Cover and let rise; make sure it doesn't rise above top of pan. Bake at 400 degrees for about 35 minutes or until lightly browned. Let cool about 5 minutes in pan, then turn out on rack to cool completely or turn out on plate and serve warm.

*If liquid requires more flour, use it.

Do not try to crowd all the bread into one pan.

BROWN SUGAR PIE

2 unbaked (8-inch) pie shells
1 lb. brown sugar
4 eggs
1/3 cup milk
2 Tbsps butter, melted
1 tsp vanilla

Beat eggs and sugar together, add milk, vanilla and butter. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in a 350 degree oven, 45 minute. Makes two pies.

FRESH APPLE CAKE

3 cups plain flour
3 cups diced apples
2 cups white sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
4 eggs
1-1/4 cups oil
1/2 tsp salt
1 tsp soda
1 tsp cinnamon
2 tsps vanilla

Sift 1-1/2 cup flour, sugar, salt and soda together, stir in cinnamon. Mix apples and nuts with 1-1/2 cups flour. Mix oil, vanilla and eggs together and add dry ingredients, then add nuts and apples mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 15 minutes. Cool in pan.

POUND CAKE

2 sticks pure butter
1 cup Crisco
3 cups sugar
8 eggs (1 at a time)
3-1/2 cups cake flour sifted

1/2 cup milk
flavoring—lemon, rum, brandy or vanilla

Cream butter and Crisco with sugar. Add eggs one at a time. Add flour alternating with milk. Add flavoring. Bake at 325 degrees for 1-1/2 hours. (Editor's note: This was the recipe of my late mother-in-law, Marveene Shingler, an incredible cook and a wonderful person. This pound cake is even more delicious if frozen for a couple of months, thawed, sliced and toasted with butter.)

CORNCASSEROLE

2 cans creamed corn
4 eggs
2 Tbsps sugar
1 Tbsp flour
1 cup evaporated milk
1/2 stick butter

Beat eggs, melt butter, mix with other ingredients. Pour into casserole, bake for 50 minutes at 350 degrees or until inserted fork comes out clean. Hint—grease casserole with butter and add pepper to mixture.

Why I've been married for 24 years

by Judith Clabes

Scripps Howard News Service

Twenty-four years seems like a long time, and when it comes to marriage it seems at once to be all your life or only yesterday.

This, of course, depends on the state of your mind at any given time. And that can depend on something as ordinary as whether he squeezed the toothpaste tube in the middle this morning.

This is how it is on the way to a marriage that lasts. Happily-ever-after doesn't happen all at once. It happens in the accumulative, through a series of alterations of states of mind, until — voila! — there you are at the end of the road with the same person you started down the aisle with.

Having quietly celebrated two dozen years of marriage in this traditional wedding season in which so many young couples are beginning their lives together, I still wonder what it is that makes one marriage last while another doesn't.

Here, I think, are some common ingredients of the successful ones:

1. Commitment.

Read this, at times, as sheer determination or stubbornness. It's the quality that keeps you together when you fall out of love until you fall back in again. We're all human. These things happen, even with the best of us in the best of times.

2. Good humor.

There is no better medicine for the disposition generally, and no better way to diffuse a tense situation, particularly if it's directed at yourself. It is never a good idea to take yourself too seriously, at others' expense.

3. Being selfish one at a time.

It is not possible to have a successful relationship between two selfish people. It is possible — and quite necessary — to have a successful relationship between two people who are willing to take turns. Everyone's entitled to a little selfishness on occasion.

4. Shared experiences.

There is nothing like a history to secure a future, especially if we've learned from it. We're well ahead if we remember the good parts more than the not-so-good.

5. Friendship.

The best marriages are those between best friends.

6. Comfortable silence.

A really good relationship is one that doesn't squirm when silence descends.

7. Real talk.

If silence is golden, real talk is silver. Opening up in genuine communication over things big and small keeps a relationship meaningful.

8. Intimacy.

Sex is not the same as intimacy, but it is a big part of it. Sharing in every way is intimacy, and sharing physically is the ultimate intimacy.

9. Caring.

Liking is as important as loving.

10. Love.

Who can easily explain this most complex of human feelings? Perhaps its undefinability makes it what it is, the most wonderful thing of all. A wise person gave this advice about marriage: Don't do it if you can possibly help it. That's the start of love. The rest of it is a journey to the very end.

OWENS FETED ON 75TH BIRTHDAY

"Sakes Alive! she's Seventy-Five!!" proclaimed the banner greeting Elizabeth Lambert Owens at the birthday celebration honoring the former Floyd Countian who traveled all the way from Massachusetts for the special event.

Held in Lexington at the Holiday Inn North on June 16, the affair was hosted by Reginald Owens, Glenda Owens Waggoner and her husband Bill, all of Sandy Hook; Miles Owens and his wife Janice of Dayton, Ohio; and Bobbie Owens Starnes and Thomas Joseph Owens of Cambridge, Mass.; all children or in-laws of the late Miles M. Owens and the honoree. Standing in for a deceased daughter, Eleanor Owens Starline, was her daughter Sharon of Dayton.

Among the 125 guests assembled were friends and relatives from New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, Georgia and Kentucky.

Mrs. Owens received many gifts and birthday congratulations. Among them were letters, autographed pictures and/or special greetings from President and Mrs. George Bush, Rep. Chris Perkins, Sen. Wendell Ford, Gov. and Mrs. Wallace Wilkinson; also entertainment celebrities Randy Travis, Andy Griffith, Johnny Carson and Roy Acuff. At this time, she was also commissioned a Kentucky Colonel by Gov. Wilkinson.

It was noted that the honoree's birthday actually fell on June 9, but Mrs. Owens chose the later date so she could attend the graduation from Harvard University of her daughter, Bobbie Owens Starnes, who received a doctorate in education.

Attending the birthday celebration from Floyd County were Leona Foutes, Pollyanna Wiley and her daughter Ann, all of Prestonsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Owens Sr. of Bevinsville; Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Owens Jr. and their son Walter of East Point; and Alice O. Martin of Langley.

TRAVEL TO EUROPE

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., recently traveled along the Autobahn by deluxe motor coach, to a number of European countries including France, West Germany, Italy, Austria, Switzerland and Liechtenstein.

The tour was highlighted by the famous Passion Play in Oberammergau, Germany. The Johnsons extended their tour by flying to Israel in the Mid-East visiting the Holy Land, including Tel Aviv, Galilee, Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Dead Sea, Caesarea, Nazareth, Cana, Haifa, Capernaum and Jericho.

Mr. Johnson grew up on Jacks Creek.

MCCRAYS HAVE WEEKEND GUESTS

Couple united in Inez

MR. & MRS. BRENT (NORMA SUE KIRK) MCCORMICK

On Sunday, June 30, Norma Sue Kirk of Inez, daughter of Clementine Kirk and the late Floyd Kirk, was joined in marriage to Brent McCormick of Prestonsburg and Lexington, son of William "Jack" McCormick of Mt. Sterling and Mrs. Fred James of Prestonsburg.

The wedding took place at the Golden Memorial Chapel of the Methodist Church in Inez with the Rev. Fred Wiles officiating.

The bride wore a Mora Lee white satin dress. The bodice was covered in hand beaded alencon lace with a beaded neckline which dropped in back to a large satin bow. The shepherd sleeves were also covered in hand beaded lace, and the skirt fell to full length with ruffles caught with hand beaded lace and attached to a train. The veil was fingertip, made of lilies and pearls with a falling cascade.

The bride was escorted down the aisle and given in marriage by Dr. John C. Adler of Inez.

Clementine Kirk, mother of the bride, was attired in an ivory satin and lace dress. Serving as matron of honor was Claudia Moran, with Mildred Fields, Lisa K. Maynard of Inez and Betty Haussain of Cincinnati, Ohio, serving as bridesmaids. All wore tea-length gowns of peach organdy.

The best man was the groom's brother-in-law, David Turner of Drift. Acting as ushers were Robert Stevens, Butch Carr and Gene Holland. Stevens and Carr work with the construction company which has been organized by the groom in Lexington. Holland is a real estate developer.

Two-year-old Jessica Cassidy was the flower girl. Nephews Matthew Kirk and Jamie Cassidy acted as candlelighters and acolytes. The ring bearer was six-year-old Joshua Cassidy. Solos from Handel's wedding music was performed by Kathy Fields. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall with an eight-tier peach and white wedding cake adorned with roses.

The bride is a 1984 graduate of Morehead State University and is employed at Paintsville as a social worker in the adoption services for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The groom is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School and attended Lexington Community College. He is self-employed in the building and construction industry in Lexington. The couple will reside in Fayette County following a honeymoon in Florida.

Frazier speaks to P'burg Jaycees

The Prestonsburg Jaycees held their regular meeting on Thursday, July 26 at the Floyd County Library at 7 p.m. Cathy Prater, president, conducted the business meeting. A new member, Patricia Williams, was recognized.

The members discussed several planned and proposed projects, including: Casino Night in September, proceeds to go to MDA; the third Battle for Blood against the Rotary on Aug. 27-31; the Lipsync contest and Teen Night at Center Stage recently completed; the bowl-a-thon for St. Jude's Hospital on Sept. 8; the telephone communication seminar on Sept. 13; the haunted house/haunted hayride project for October; and the possibility of hosting a Santa Land for underprivileged children at Christmas time.

There was also some discussion of the upcoming Regional and State Conferences and that T-shirts bearing the region's theme "The Right Stuff" are on sale for $8 and are to be worn by all members attending All-State.

Prater then introduced the special guest, Chalmer Frazier, who was a Jaycee member when the club first started years ago. He noted the many changes, including the admittance of females, and the similarities, still a community-oriented group that has fun.

According to Frazier, in Prestonsburg the Junior Chamber of Commerce (Jaycees) were in place long before the Chamber of Commerce. He noted that many of the older members of the Chamber now were Jaycees in the old days. In fact, one member Dr. George Archer was selected Man of the Year in Kentucky and came in third in the nation.

Frazier spent the rest of the evening talking about ways to improve the county and how the Jaycees could help be a driving force. He said, "In 20 years from now, if we don't get some industry in here, Floyd County and all of Eastern Kentucky will be in trouble because the coal is going to run out and we must substitute small industry and tourism."

He spoke of the things planned by the new Industrial Development

Commission on the local and regional level. "The government is willing to help if you try to help yourself — this giveaway thing is about over. That's all we are asking for — is help to help ourselves," Frazier emphasized.

He went on to describe the things that are getting done and the things that still need to be done to improve the community, and he asked the Jaycees to work with the other organizations to accomplish these goals.

Attending were Cathy Prater, Lisa Meade, Anita Hale, Tommie Sue Branham, Tess Whitmer, Donna Roope, Linda Lenox and Patricia Williams.

Four generations

Deer

he was brought a very young male deer to care for. Apparently the fawn's mother had been killed and the person who brought it to Bill asked him to care for it. Bill said he had to check with the Fish and Wildlife first, since he isn't permitted to take deer out of the wild. He was able to care for the little creature if he let another deer loose in the fall.

He and his wife bottle feed the fawn with a milk substitute called "Calf-maker." The young deer, named Spanky, will drink four bottles in one feeding. Spanky also loves chewing gum and apples as well as tobacco. When Bill enters the pen Spanky gets excited, jumps around and is just as friendly as a dog wanting to be petted and shown affection.

"If you let one nurse it's mommy then it won't never be a pet," Bill said. "It will come down and eat what you feed it but it won't ever be a pet if its mommy takes care of it. If you take it off its mommy and bottle feed it, it makes a pretty good pet."

Although Bill is well acquainted with the deer, he said they are unpredictable and sometimes dangerous if you're not careful.

"You can't really tell what a deer's going to do from one minute to the next," he said. "That buck up there will come and get tobacco or chewing gum right of my hand, but if you get inside that lock there he wants to fight you. He doesn't really want to fight you, he wants to play, but his playing is rougher than you can take."

"See, he's been raised from a little baby by people and he was never taught to be afraid of people, but he was never taught not to be afraid of a dog."

Presently, the Whites have three bucks, eight does and eight fawns. Bill said he is very careful to separate the deer during rutting season so as to avoid in-breeding. He noted that in the wild that is not a problem since the female/mother deer will run off her offspring when breeding season begins.

His main objective is to repopulate the area around his home. When-

Men aren't lazy -- they're just dirt blind

by Mark Patinkin
Providence Journal

Usually it is my job to clean up after dinner. The other night, having come home an hour late — make that two — I tried to do it especially well to earn back points.

After I was done, my wife made a statement I did not understand.

"What about the table?" she said. "What about it?" I asked, defensively.

"Don't you think you should clean it?"

I looked close. It seemed fine to me.

"Clean it of what?"

"You're kidding," she said.

"Aren't you?"

I told her I wasn't. It looked perfect.

At that point, she pointed out a smear of ketchup, a trail of bread crumbs, a drop of milk, some grains of rice and assorted grease spots. She also pointed out that the majority of these were not around our 2-year-old's place, but my own.

I gave her my honest reaction.

"Sorry," I said. "I didn't see them."

She did not believe me.

Which brings up an important truth about males that all women who live with them should know.

Women think men are by nature slob, that we actually enjoy living with grime and disarray. Or worse — that we're too lazy to clean anything up. That's not accurate. What's accurate is this:

It's not that we like disarray; it's that we don't see it.

Just as some people are born unable to discern certain colors, males are born unable to discern a mess.

We are dirt blind.

I finished sponging the table and walked into the kitchen. My wife looked at me.

"What is wrong with the kitchen?" she asked.

This happens to most women who try living with men. Through no fault of their own, they eventually start addressing us in the same tone preschool teachers use to address toddlers.

I nervously looked around the room.

"Looks fine to me," I said.

"You can't be serious," she said.

"Almost every cupboard is wide open."

"Sorry," I said. "I didn't see."

Again, she didn't buy it. She was convinced I didn't want to bother closing them; that I expected the job of straightening out to be all on her.

I wish women would realize that's not how we think. It's that men were born without that part of the brain that allows normal human beings — which is to say women — to see disarray.

When we finish shaving, for example, or brushing our teeth, 90 percent of all men leave pools of water around the sink. After a shower, a full 99 percent of us will leave a wet bath towel on the floor. Upon entering a house after work, 100 percent of us will drop keys, wallets and papers on whatever surface is within reach.

"Why do you keep doing that?" women will ask.

"Do what?" we will say. Which only annoys them more. But the truth is, we don't see it. Just as we don't see spots on ties we put on in the morning, dog prints on couches, magazines on the bedroom floor or four days' worth of mail on the front hall table.

I'm not sure where we got this trait. I tend to think it was handed down genetically from our fathers. Fortunately, we are not quite as bad as they were.

Most '90s males, for example, don't leave a trail of laundry along the upstairs hallway, or cigar butts all over the house. As another columnist observed, that kind of behavior was made illegal by the Feminist Act of 1968 — along with calling from work to ask such questions as, "What's for dinner tonight?"

Most of us also grow beyond such behavior as leaving used coffee mugs on windowsills and empty ice cream bowls on the arms of TV chairs.

Still, we do have the physical handicap of being dirt blind. We simply don't register such sights as skewed blinds, overflowing kitchen trash cans, holes in socks and toys on the living room floor.

I ask only that women believe this. It's not that we're lazy. Honest. It's that we don't see it.

M+K The Methodist Hospital of Kentucky Inc.

Shere -
Hi! I'm so excited about my new job at The Methodist Hospital that I couldn't wait to tell you! Life is great here - Pikeville is a great town and this hospital is terrific! The hospital is offering a $2,000 sign on bonus for full-time Registered Nurses and of course, there are benefits galore! We get shift differential pay and a big weekend differential. I love my new job! I hope you will check into a R.N. position here - you know there are openings in the psychiatric unit as well as other units.

You can check into a position here by calling The Methodist Hospital personnel department at (606) 437-3504.

Hope to see you soon!

Judith
P.S. I'm saving my bonus so we can do some major shopping when you get here!

KENTUCKY'S WAITING CHILD

Eight year old Terry and ten year old Thomas are "true" boys. They love climbing trees, hunting for arrowheads, and fishing. Having their own dog is important to both boys.

Kentucky has over 275 children waiting for an adoptive family. Like Scott, these children wait in foster homes, if they are lucky. Kentucky has a shortage of foster and adoptive homes for older children.

The Department for Social Services is looking for people who can make a commitment to children. You can be single, an apartment dweller, or have a moderate income. There is no fee charged for services.

If you want to make a difference in the life of a child, consider fostering or adoption. For information call:

INVITATION FOR BID

The Martin County Board of Education will receive sealed bids for the new Inez Middle School, Inez, Kentucky. Bids will be received at Martin Engineering and Construction Inc., Rt. 122, P.O. Box 823, Martin, Ky. 41649 (606) 285-9232 until August 16, 1990, by 5:00 p.m. EST. Bids must be received on or before 10:00 a.m. EST, August 17, 1990, at the Martin County Board of Education office. The bids will be publicly opened and read aloud August 17, 1990, at 10:30 a.m. EST. at the Martin County Board of Education Office.

Copies of Plans and specifications can be obtained upon the deposit of a $300.00 check made payable to James A. Ellis & Associates, and forwarded to the Office of the Architect. The Architect upon receipt of the plan deposit fee shall authorize the publication of a complete set of plans for the requesting party. Plans and project manual(s) are to be printed by Lynn Blue Print Co., Inc., 328 E. Vine St., Lexington, Ky. 40507. The requesting party shall indicate their preference whether they are going to pick up the Plans at Lynn Blue Print or if they are to be shipped to the requesting party. The amount of $150.00 of the plan deposit will be returned to all bidders who submit a bonafide bid and return to the Architect the plans (postage prepaid) in good condition postmarked within 20 calendar days after the bids are opened. Otherwise no refund will be due.

The Form of Proposal and Proposal Envelopes shall be requested from the Construction Manager, Martin Engineering and Construction Inc., Rt. 122, P.O. Box 823, Martin, Ky. 41649, (606) 285-9232. Any bidder requesting a Proposal Form and Proposal Envelope, who has not previously obtained a copy of the Project Manual from the Architect will be required to purchase the Project Manual from the Architect for the amount of $52.50. All bids shall be submitted only on the Form and in the Envelope prepared by the Construction Manager. Submit the Form of Proposal in Duplicate on the forms supplied. Do not use the forms in the project manual. The Proposal Envelope will have the Project and respective Bid Division number affixed.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of James A. Ellis, Architect, P.O. Drawer 1289, 159 1/2 College St., Pikeville, Ky.; Buell-Fryer & Assoc., Inc., Structural Engineers, 3319 Tates Creek Pike, Lexington, Ky.; Kaiser-Taubee Associates, Inc., Mechanical & Electrical Engineers, 190 Jefferson Street, P.O. Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check, cash or bidders bond, executed by the Bidder and Surety Company, in the sum of not less than five percent (5%) of the amount of the base proposal. The bid security is required as a guarantee that if the Proposal is accepted a Contract will be immediately entered into and the performance of it properly secured.

Proposal Forms must be properly filled out and submitted in Duplicate Form. No omissions, modifications or qualifying statements or conditions will be permitted in the Form of Proposal. The presence of any of these conditions will be grounds for rejection of the Proposal. Any alteration or erasures must be initialed by the signer of the bid. No bidder may withdraw a bid submitted for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening of Bids.

In the event the Bidder to whom the Contract is awarded fails to execute a satisfactory Contract and Performance Bond, he shall be eliminated and shall forfeit his certified check, cash or his Bid Bond and shall be liable for the loss occasioned by the Owner by such failure.

Any Bid which is not received on a timely basis or in the proper form shall be returned unopened.

The Owner reserves the right to accept any or reject any and all Bids and to waive any informalities therein.

The milk should be packaged to accommodate a commercial milk dispenser. The contract will begin October 1, 1990 and will end September 30, 1991. Sealed bids will be accepted until September 7, 1990 at 4:00 p.m. Bids will be opened September 10, 1990 at 10:00 a.m. To obtain a bid packet, or for more information, please contact Teresa Carroll at (606) 886-0077 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. 8-3-1tFW.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, Mr. Dana K. Moore, Rt. 122, Box 12, Printer, Kentucky 41655, has filed an application with the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet to construct across or along a stream.

The proposed construction will consist of a residential dwelling with fill to partially eliminate the lower level block material and will also involve a small fill at the junction of the property access road and state route 122. The small fill at said junction will improve safety considerations regarding highway access. The property is located in Floyd County, approximately 3.31 miles south of Martin, Kentucky immediately off State Route 122 near the mouth of Akers Branch and is further located at stream mile marker 3.96 of the Left Fork of Beaver Creek. Finally the property is located on the Martin U.S.G.S. 7.5 minute quadrangle map at latitude 37-31' 28" and longitude 82-05' 03".

Any comments or objection concerning this application shall be directed to: Floodplain Management Section, Division of Water, 18 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601, Telephone: (502) 564-3410. 8-8-WFWpd.

HONEST, MORE FOLKS FEEL THAT NEWSPAPER IS THE MOST BELIEVABLE MEDIUM

We can't lie. A recent study showed that more people feel newspaper is the most believable medium.* Not television. Not radio. Not magazines. But why? It's probably because we know that a newspaper lays it all out in black and white. Right in front of you. The places, the people, and the prices. The offers, the promises and the claims. It's all there to read, think about, and keep. And that goes for advertisements, too. When people turn to their paper, they turn there with interest. Which means that's where your advertising message needs to be. With all the choices available, it's difficult deciding how best to advertise your business. But everything becomes a little simpler when you remember one rule.

H&R Block Offers Income Tax Course In Prestonsburg

Thousands of people learn how to prepare income tax returns from H&R Block and then earn money as income tax preparers. H&R Block, the world's largest income tax preparation service, offers its Income Tax Course starting Sept. 10th. Morning, afternoon, evening, and weekend classes are available. Experienced instructors teach tax law, theory, and application. classroom discussion and practice problems provide students with a thorough understanding of each tax topic included in the course. Students learn how to handle increasingly complex income tax situations as the course progresses.

Ideal for people who want to increase their tax knowledge course teaches students how to save money on their taxes and also prepares them for a rewarding career. The affordable fee includes textbooks and supplies. Graduates receive certificates of Achievement and continuing education units (CEU's). Qualified graduates of the course may be offered job interviews with H&R Block but are under no obligation to accept employment. Those interested in more information about the H&R Block Income Tax Course may contact the H&R Block office at 886-3685 in Prestonsburg.

Prevent electrocutions at home

A Kentucky man was electrocuted when he accidentally drilled into the wiring of his home while remodeling it.

A Kentucky teenager stepped out of the shower and turned on the TV while still wet. Electrocution resulted.

A Kentucky infant died when a turned-off radio fell into her bath water.

These deaths were among the 12 electrocutions that occurred in or around Kentucky homes last year, according to Department of Health Services safety experts. During the May observance of National Electrical Safety Month, officials warn that basic precautions could prevent most electrocutions.

"We tend to take electricity for granted because we use it daily and the majority of us never have any problems with it," said Terry M. Wescott, product safety branch manager with the Department for Health Services.

"But electricity can be extremely dangerous if we don't have the proper respect for it," he said.

Bathrooms and kitchens have considerable potential for electrocutions, he said, because of the mix of water and electrical appliances.

"A device called 'ground fault circuit interrupter' (GFCI) can prevent electrocutions involving water and electricity," Wescott said.

GFCIs are installed in electrical outlets and sense when an electrical appliance comes into contact with water, and it cuts off the electrical current to the appliance before injury occurs.

New homes are required to have GFCIs in kitchen, bathroom and exterior outlets. Wescott recommends installing GFCIs, which can be purchased in hardware or home improvement stores, on outlets within three feet of sinks and on all bathroom and outside outlets.

"Many people are under the assumption that appliances aren't dangerous if they're turned off," he said.

"This is definitely untrue. If an appliance is plugged in and comes into contact with water, an electrocution can result."

Wescott says that if you drop a plugged-in appliance into water, the best course of action is to cut off the electricity at the fuse or breaker box and then remove the item from the water.

"Under no circumstance should you attempt to remove the item or touch a person in the water before the electrical circuit has been disrupted," he said.

Repairing electrical products or wiring should be left to experts because of possible electrocution dangers, he said.

"Many people believe that they can safely work on an appliance's wiring if they unplug the appliance first," Wescott said. "The danger comes when they plug it in—if there's a short in the item, the person can be electrocuted."

Wescott said another electrocution danger around the house is coming into contact with a high-voltage power line. Make sure when working on a house's exterior that ladders, antennas and other items do not come into contact with power lines, he said.

To check your home for electrical safety, Wescott recommends the following:

— Electrical cords should be replaced if they are frayed or worn. Cords should not be nailed or stapled to the wall or to other objects.

— Outlets and switches should be cool to the touch. Unused outlets should have safety covers to protect children.

— Counter-top appliances should be placed so that their cords are away from hot surfaces that could burn through them. Appliances should not be near sinks.

— Make sure fuses are the correct sizes. Once a year, "exercise" circuit breakers by flipping each breaker off and on three times. Turn off the freezer, refrigerator and air conditioner first.
