Fast response boosts rescue

Three men injured in a helicopter crash Friday near the Lancer/Watergap Road are recovering this week at a Lexington hospital.

The helicopter, owned by Branham and Baker Coal, had reportedly taken off Friday at approximately 1:15 p.m. from a nearby site when the engine failed at 1,500 feet. Pilot John Thomas, 59, of Prestonsburg was reportedly attempting an emergency auto rotation, a technique used to slow the descent of a helicopter with no engine power, when the craft struck a group of trees at the edge of a field and tumbled to the ground.

"We were working in the field next to where the copter crashed," said Richard Blankenship, an employee at Mountain Pipeline. "We heard this strange noise and when we looked up and saw the helicopter we were sure that it was going to hit us. They were probably only 15 feet above us when they hit the trees. Me and Woody (Branham) grabbed a fire extinguisher and jumped in the creek so we could get over there and help them. Everybody else was saying 'Stay away, that thing is going to blow up', but if it would have been them in that helicopter they wouldn't have thought that way."

The efforts of the Mountain Pipeline employees were applauded by Onda Hunt of the Floyd County Rescue Squad.

"The men working at Mountain Pipeline made the difference. They got over there and used a fire extinguisher from a truck and cut one of the men out of a safety belt. They should be commended for their efforts," Hunt said.

Two passengers were in the helicopter at the time of the accident, David Cook, 32, of Carry, and Homer Hackworth, 35, of Prestonsburg.

Hackworth reportedly suffered severe injuries in the crash and was initially found to be strangling on a safety harness in the rear of the aircraft.

"When we got there he (Hackworth) was caught up in the safety belt," said Richard Blankenship. "It had him caught up around his neck and it looked like he was strangling. We had to use a pocket knife to cut him out of there. You could tell he was in severe pain."

All three occupants of the helicopter were initially transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center before being transferred to the UK Medical Center. Cook and Thomas are listed in stable condition at UK, while Hackworth is in fair condition in the hospital's intensive care unit.

State police said that the helicopter was a Hughes 369E, owned by Branham and Baker Coal of Prestonsburg.

A spokesperson for the Federal Aeronautics Association said Tuesday that no official determination has yet been reached as to the cause of the accident.

Members of the Floyd County Rescue Squad, the Floyd County Sheriff's department, P and B Ambulance Service, Respond Ambulance Service, the Prestonsburg Fire and Police Departments, Kentucky Disaster and Emergency Services, Federal Aeronautics Administration and Kentucky State Police responded to the incident.

Dr. Syed Badradduja

In Kuwait or Iraq :

Family free, but doctor still hostage

The wife and children of local physician Syed Badradduja (Bader) have been allowed to return to the United States, even though Doctor Bader is still being held in the Middle East.

The Badradduja family, while visiting friends, was trapped in Kuwait during the Iraqi invasion of the country. Before the invasion the family had been vacationing in their native country of India.

Doctor Bader's wife Meraj, son Mustafa, 13, and daughters Falaha, 11, and Shulma, 10, returned to America along with 160 others late Sunday night. The family is reportedly staying with relatives in New York before returning to Eastern Kentucky.

"I've talked to his wife," said a secretary at Doctor Bader's office in Prestonsburg. "They are all fine and will be back in a few days."

It is not known at this time where Doctor Bader is being held or what condition the physician is in.

Doctor Bader has worked at Highlands Regional Medical Center since 1975, and has served as chief of staff at the hospital in recent years. Doctor Bader is a naturalized American citizen.

For automobile owners :

Court ruling could cause insurance rates to soar

Auto insurance premiums will most likely be rising for Kentucky motorists after a Kentucky Supreme Court ruling said persons injured by uninsured motorists can collect from each individual policy the injured persons holds.

Before, persons injured by an uninsured motorist would receive the highest benefits allowed from one of their policies if they held more than one, according to Patrick Watts, legal counsel with the Kentucky Department of Insurance.

"If the insurance company sold more than one policy or if a motorist had insurance on more than one car, a person would receive the highest benefits from any one policy," Watts said. "That was called anti-stacking. But the court has ruled if someone is paying individual premiums for separate policies, they are entitled to collect benefits from each individual policy."

It is not known how much of a premium increase will be levied due to the recent court ruling but, if the increase is more than 25 percent, it will have to be approved through the state Department of Insurance.

Professional insurance agents, as well as state insurance officials, are still trying to determine how the ruling will affect customers and insurance companies. Some companies have indicated the ruling will force them to cease offering individual motorist coverage in the state, reducing competition and pushing premiums even higher, according to a news release from the Professional Insurance Agents of Kentucky.

"The Kentucky Supreme Court has ruled that you can collect for each vehicle you own. If you own three cars with $100,000 worth of uninsured and underinsured motorists coverage, you could collect $300,000 instead of the $100,000 anticipated by prior interpretation of the law," said Phillip Morgan, a partner in Morgan, Trevathan and Gunn Inc., of Benton and a member of the Kentucky Professional Insurance Agents Association. "Since premiums are now based on the $100,000 figure, the new interpretation will cause the premium to increase, possibly triple for the um/uim coverage."

"Our only hope for correcting the problem will come from the next General Assembly in 1992," Morgan

Plea-bargains, dismissals make short work of docket

Three criminal cases scheduled for trial this week have either been dismissed or settled through plea-bargains, according to the Floyd County Commonwealth Attorney's office.

Curtis Howell Jr., of Daniels Creek, was scheduled to stand trial on sodomy charges Tuesday, but the charge was dismissed after the primary witness in the case recanted her charges, assistant Commonwealth Attorney Jon Johnson said this week.

Howell was indicted by the Floyd County Grand Jury in November 1989, for allegedly sodomizing a juvenile girl. Charges were dismissed after a September 7 pre-trial meeting in judges chambers where the juvenile claimed the incident never occurred, Johnson said.

In another case slated for trial this week, second degree arson charges against Ethel Salisbury of Harold, were reduced to arson in the fourth degree, a class A misdemeanor. Salisbury received a probated six-month sentence and was placed on one-year's probation under a plea agreement last week, Johnson said. Salisbury was indicted in April on charges she set fire to a building she owned in order to collect the insurance money. She was scheduled to stand trial on the arson charge today, Wednesday.

Also this week, a charge of second degree assault against Greg Clifton was dismissed after the witness in the case voluntarily agreed to drop the charge, assistant Commonwealth Attorney Toyray Adams said. Clifton was indicted in February for allegedly striking Joey Bates with an automobile and causing him physical injury. Clifton was scheduled to stand trial Monday.

But remedies for Wayland woes are in process :

The home fires keep burning

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Wayland residents should be able to breathe a little easier now, literally, as work is almost complete to extinguish abandoned-mine fires which have been burning in downtown area for years.

The mine fires emit thick, foul-smelling smoke which has blanketed the little town and caused breathing problems for many of its residents. Although the work performed has offered relief, the project is far from over.

"We're just about done in the downtown area," said John Smiley, director of the state Department of Abandoned Lands. "We'll be moving soon to the 'big pile' on up in 28 hollow. There's no way we can ever put it completely out, we'll just have to seal off what we can't get out."

An estimated one million cubic yards of burning refuse will be removed from the old, burning coal mines in and around Wayland, according to Smiley. The department found the magnitude of the problem greater than originally estimated.

"We knew it was a real mess, but we were astounded at the degree of the problem," Smiley said.

Workers found the refuse pile at the end of Front Street had burned 20 feet deeper than Route 7, the roadway running through Wayland.

However, the old mine fires had not undermined the roadway, which would have caused serious problems, Smiley said. Core holes were drilled through part of the mountain in order to fill the cavity with rock and fire retardant foam to cut off ventilation to the fire. The rock and foam should effectively "smother" the fire, Smiley said.

About 150,000 cubic yards of burning debris has already been removed from the site at the end of Front Street.

Applying soil cover and vegetation is currently being done at the site and it "should turn green just time for the first snowfall," Smiley said.

Crews should be moving to Glo, a small community near Wayland, later this week to remove a small area of debris. The area, known as the slate dump, gives off a foul smelling sulfur smoke due to the burning of slate when the mine fires ignite.

Workers should have the pile cleared up before winter, Smiley said. The project was put on hold this summer because the department wanted to wait until students at Wayland Elementary returned to school. Officials were unaware the students would be attending class at the new Duff Elementary near Goose Creek.

"We're going to go ahead and get

'No shine' law leaves poachers in the dark

FRANKFORT — Many people enjoy shining a bright light into fields and woods at night to watch deer graze. Few realize they're breaking the law.

Kentucky's "no shine" law, which took effect in July, makes spotlighting illegal. Spotlighting means shining artificial light into the eyes of animals, temporarily blinding and disorienting them. The practice is commonly used by deer poachers to take animals at night. (The Sunday Independent - Ashland)

Marijuana supply falling, but price is way up

LOUISVILLE — The local supply of marijuana has decreased and prices have soared, narcotics officers say, and they say part of the reason is their increasing success in taking the illicit weed out of circulation. Fifteen years ago, high-grade marijuana cost as little as $35 or $40 an ounce, according to officers. Prices rose steadily until last year, when the increases became dramatic. Now the price of an ounce of quality pot is as high as $180 or $200 — up from $100 to $120 a year or two ago. (The Courier-Journal)

No more tuition students

PAINTSVILLE — Classrooms in the Paintsville Independent School District are bulging, and that means bad news for potential students who do not live in the city district. Paintsville Elementary Principal Paul Williams told city school board members Monday night that enrollment at the grade school is at 552 students, which he said is the largest enrollment in recent years. This year's kindergarten enrollment indicates that overcrowding problems experienced in the last few years will not get any better, he said. (The Paintsville Herald)

Humana switches to cloth diapers, no smoking

LOUISIA — Humana Hospital-Louisia, along with many other hospitals and businesses throughout the state and nation, is becoming a more environmentally sensitive and health-conscious organization. On August 1 Humana Hospital-Louisia made the switch. The switch from disposable diapers to cloth diapers. According to a news release issued by the hospital, "disposable diapers have become a symbol of the nation's garbage crisis. No other single consumer product, with the exception of newspapers and beverage and food containers, contributes so much to solid waste." On Tuesday, Sept. 4, the hospital began a transition to a non-smoking facility...hospital employees are no longer allowed to smoke within the hospital but are allowed to smoke outside the building on hospital grounds. The no-smoking policy will eventually extend to all hospital visitors. (The Big Sandy News)

Knott dropouts could lose licenses

LEXINGTON — While officials continue to debate its effectiveness, nearly 60 Kentucky school districts are expressing interest in a new state law allowing them to revoke the driver's licenses of teenagers who drop out of school. The new law allows a school district to take away a 16- or 17-year-old's license if he or she quits school, passes fewer than four classes, or has nine or more unexcused absences. that project out of the way," Smiley said. "We were worried about it because of school being in session and all the work that would be going on. But, now, with the school being closed, we can go ahead and get that done."

Drainage after heavy rains has caused problems at the site. Culverts have been installed under the roadway near Stampers Branch and another one will be added to help carry the heavy water flow out to Beaver Creek.

Congressman Chris Perkins has asked the Army Corps of Engineers to conduct a study of the area to see how water drainage can be improved, Smiley said.

"There's a limit to what we can do in order to improve the water situation," Smiley said. "We can't make the ditches big enough to carry that much water that runs out of Stampers Branch. But, we plan to install another culvert, so that might help some."

"We want to straighten up downtown as soon as possible and leave these people in peace as soon as we can before we start on the big project on up 28 Hollow," Smiley said.

The $3 million project was scheduled to take a year to complete but Smiley estimates it will take about 15 months for the problems to be corrected. The contract will clean up 52 acres of land in the Wayland area.

Insurance

said. According to state police statistics, about a fourth of Kentucky's drivers are underinsured or uninsured. Many carry only the very minimum of liability coverage. That could mean a considerable increase in payouts to people who have more than one vehicle, Morgan said.

The possibility to lump several policies together or to incorporate the coverage into a no-fault policy, is very unlikely, according to Watts.

"The law requires uninsured motorist coverage to be added onto an insurance policy unless it is rejected," Watts said. "I don't see any shift away from that."

The rate increase is expected to be announced in the coming months after insurance analysts determine how much of an increase is needed to offset the ruling, Watts said.

It's Turtle Trot Time!!

It's that time again! If you pass tiny creatures crawling on the highways these days, just be careful and don't hit them. They're on their way to the Turtle Trots at the Prestonsburg Municipal Parking Lot in Prestonsburg for the Jenny Wiley Festival. The Trots started in 1983 and have become one of the highlights of the Jenny Wiley Festival with entries growing every year. The turtle trot committee is still collecting entries from businesses. If no one has contacted you yet, you may call the school at 789-3661 or Kathy

Brown at 886-8885 to sign up. Individuals may sign up any time right up to the day of the big race. Be watching the paper for rules. Don't miss this big event. First prize is $150, second prize $75 and third prize is $50, plus a trophy for each place winner.

All proceeds go to Our Lady of the Mountains School with a donation to the Jenny Wiley Festival. Come and join in the fun and cheer these little critters on. This is the one day of the year that they are in their glory and very proud to be a terrapin.

10 honored for work with unemployed etc.

Outstanding volunteers, professionals and programs involved in employment and training in Hardin, Hopkins, Jefferson, Kenton, Perry, Pike, Scott and Trigg counties have been honored during the annual Kentucky Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) conference.

Distinguished performance awards from the state Department for Employment Services were presented Sept. 13, in Louisville to a Kentucky company, two individuals, a regional private industry council and six training programs.

Project Esteem, Pike County Board of Education received the outstanding program for serving those with multiple barriers to employment award for using the dropout prevention program to meet academic, economic, social and psychological needs of high school students. In three years, Project Esteem spread from the JTPA-model project to all nine high schools in the district.

"The fact that the recipients represent both rural and urban communities shows that JTPA has good, quality programs and professionals serving people from various backgrounds," said Allen. "It's because of these people that JTPA is successful in Kentucky."

Nominations for the awards were submitted by the state's private industry councils, local Department for Employment Services offices, the Department of Education and the Kentucky Job Training Coordinating Council.

Kentucky's award winners will be entered in JTPA competition sponsored by the National Alliance of Business.

Jesse Stuart book offer

The Jesse Stuart Foundation announces the republication of Jesse Stuart's great story, Split Cherry Tree. Split Cherry Tree includes an introduction by James M. Gifford, a study guide by Chuck D. Charles, and a detailed chronology of Stuart's life and works.

Any general reader would enjoy this book. It would also make an excellent addition to middle and high school classrooms. Its universal themes—rural hardships, father-son conflicts, a boy striving to gain an education, a teacher standing with courage and dignity against an angry parent—make this one of Stuart's most popular stories.

It may be purchased directly from: The Jesse Stuart Foundation, P.O. Box 391, Ashland, KY 41114, (606) 329-5232. Softback copies are only $3 and a discount schedule is available for multiple copy orders.

Total loss

The drive home from a day's work in Prestonsburg didn't turn out well for James Hamilton of Drift, after his car caught fire midway up the hill on Route 80 at Martin. Wheelwright Police Officer Danny Milligan spotted the smoking vehicle and put out the call for assistance. Milligan was en route to the county jail with two prisoners when he came upon the car. About five members of the Martin Volunteer Fire Department arrived on the scene but the car was already engulfed in flames. Hamilton was driving a 1982 Toyota Celica and is a pizza deliveryman for Hobart's Pizza in Prestonsburg. Floyd County Sheriff's Deputy Chuck Ousley assisted with traffic control. Daughter charged in assault on father

A 39 year-old West Prestonsburg woman has been charged with assault after an altercation Saturday night involving her 64 year-old father, said Kentucky State Police officials.

Stella Lantz was arrested Tuesday morning and charged with second degree assault after her father, Winford Howell of West Prestonsburg, was hospitalized at Highlands Regional Medical Center Monday, with multiple injuries including a fractured right knee cap, KSP officials said.

Lantz was arrested at her home at 10:55 a.m. and taken to the Floyd County Jail where she was placed under a $20,000 bond, jail officials said.

Apparently the two began quarreling at their home at 8 p.m. Saturday after Howell called Lantz "a bad name" said Floyd County Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Powers, who also investigated the incident.

The sheriff's department was asked to go to HRMC to talk to Howell after someone phoned the department. Powers did not know who made the request. Powers went to HRMC Monday to talk to Howell but he was in X-ray at the time. Howell's other daughter, Mattie Howell, was interviewed by Powers concerning the altercation.

Howell was allegedly struck by Lantz after he called her a name and Lantz "got him down," Powers said. Powers said he was called away on another complaint before he could interview Howell about the incident.

No complaint was filed against Lantz by the sheriff's department at the time because she could not be found for questioning and Howell was unable to be interviewed, Powers said. The investigation by the sheriff's department was to continue Tuesday but was scrubbed after state police officers conducted their own investigation and brought assault charges against Lantz.

Mattie Howell told officials she called an ambulance on Monday after she noticed her father's swollen left wrist and a limp in his right leg, Powers said.

"I asked her why she waited two days before she called the ambulance

Mattie Howell told officials she called an ambulance on Monday after she noticed her father's swollen left wrist and a limp in his right leg, Powers said.

"I asked her why she waited two days before she called the ambulance but she couldn't give me an answer," Powers said.

The incident is still under investigation by Trooper Thorpe.

Commodities distribution tommorrow

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program Inc., will begin distributing USDA Commodities on Thursday, Sept. 20 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. or until Commodities are gone. Distribution will continue on Friday, Sept. 21 during the same hours at the Community Action Office or until the supply is gone.

The distribution locations are the Senior Citizen's Center, Wheelwright; Mud Creek Clinic, Grethel; and the swimming pool building, Convention Center, in Allen Park.

Commodities to be issued are flour, honey and peanut butter.

Persons will be limited to picking up commodities for themselves and two other households. All persons picking up commodities for another household must have the following information before commodities will be released to them. There will be no exceptions: 1.) The Social Security card for the person the commodities are being picked up for. Also acceptable is a Medicare card or Driver's License; 2.) A signed dated note from the person giving permission for you to pick up their commodities. This not must also include the number in the household, total household income for the previous month and a complete address.

It would be helpful to bring a paper bag or other container to carry the commodities in.

USDA Commodities are distributed to all eligible recipients regardless of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap.

If you work after you retire...

From Jim Kelly
Social Security District Director
For the Big Sandy Area

If you are approaching retirement, you are probably looking forward to a well-earned reward after years of hard work. Yet, you enjoy working and do not want to stop entirely. You may ask, "If I take a part-time job or run a small business, can I still get Social Security retirement checks?"

The answer is yes. If you are under 65, you can earn up to $6,840 in 1990 and receive ALL benefits due. If you are 65 through 69, the annual exempt amount this year is $9,360. And if you are 70 or older, there is no limit on earnings. The exempt amounts will increase next year to keep pace with rising wage levels.

Even if you earn over these amounts, partial benefits may be payable. The basic rule is that for people under 65, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 earned over the exempt amount. The withholding is $1 of each $3 earned for people 65-69.

There is also a special rule that applies in only 1 year — usually the year you retire. You can get a full benefit for each month if earnings do not exceed one-twelfth of the annual limit (in 1990, $570 if you are under 65, and $780 if you are 65 through 69).

This monthly rule allows you to start getting benefits right away in the year of retirement no matter how high your earnings are earlier in the year. If you are self-employed, your time and services devoted to the business are considered in addition to net income; you can get more information on this at the Social Security office.

To see how these two rules work, consider "Joe" who retired at 62 in 1989 and gets $450 a month from Social Security. He took a part-time job in January 1990 and will earn $9,000 in 1990. Under the basic annual rule, Joe will lose $1,080 or a little more than 2 months' benefits.

Now let's say Joe, instead, retires June 30, 1990, and earns $15,000 in the first 6 months. Then he works part time the last 6 months for $300 a month. Even though Joe's total 1990 earnings are $16,800, he can get a full benefit amount for each of the last 6 months under the monthly rule.

You should notify Social Security promptly any time you start or stop work or have a change in estimated earnings. In this way you can avoid a possible overpayment. It's best to estimate on the "high side" to be safe since your benefits for the year will be based on that estimate.

We will be pleased to answer questions you have about how earnings affect Social Security benefits.

For more information about Social Security, Supplemental Security Income, or Black Lung you can contact the Big Sandy Area Social Security office, located on US 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

One injured in Eastern Accident

A Maytown man was injured Monday night after the car he was driving collided with a tractor trailer near Allen Central High School at Eastern, according to Keith Hays with the Maytown Fire Department.

Billy Hensley of Maytown was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin after the accident occurred at approximately 10 p.m. The Ford Mustang Hensley was driving collided with the empty coal truck on its way to Hazard, Hays said. The driver of the truck was not injured.

"It looked a lot worse than it was," Hays said. "That car was totaled."

The fire department responded to the scene with eight members and rescue workers from the Garrett Fire Department also responded. Kentucky State Police and the Floyd County Sheriff's office investigated the accident.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Without admitting it by their words, education reformers are confessing by their deeds that the great school consolidation move that swept through our state in the 1960s and 1970s is a failure.

While bigger may always be better from the perspective of financing education, it appears to be an established fact that quality and quantity are opposites when measuring schools' abilities to teach.

Look at the rankings of state schools.

Smaller, independent systems consistently score better in testing of basic skills education.

But there are more reasons to favor a return to a smaller scale approach to education than scores on skills tests.

Parents tend to become more involved in the education of their children when they feel more comfortable with that involvement.

Smaller classes afford more time for individual instruction, allowing teachers to teach and students to learn.

The evils of politics and patronage are less a force when the school belongs to a community and the community controls the school.

And finally, there is something to be said for pride...pride that comes from a sense of belonging, that comes from accomplishment.

In the Education Reform Act of 1990, it is possible we are witnessing a return to grassroots education. Possible, we say, because we don't know for sure.

Under site-based management we are likely to see individual schools with more control over their destinies. Teachers, administrators and parents will play an active role in the management of their individual schools.

It's too early to say if that approach will work, but we know one thing for sure. It's got to be better than the assembly-line approach we're using now for educating our youths.

Only time will tell.

Economic development, an issue which becomes more necessary with each lump of coal that leaves our mountains, is a many-headed beast and one of near mythical proportions for Eastern Kentucky.

Our abilities to tame the beast have been few and far between.

First, we must recognize economic diversity for what it is...creation of new opportunities. It is important, too, to realize that our chances at providing new job opportunities are more likely to come from within than from without.

That means taking care of business, the business we already have.

Most new jobs are developed from the expansion of existing industries and we have several to count among our assets. Companies like R&S Body, May Metal, Worldwide Equipment and American Standard are major employers for Eastern Kentucky and it is vital that we see to their needs and help them grow.

There may be a Toyota or a General Motors plant out there somewhere in our future and we shouldn't stop trying to attract those jobs. But what we have already is just as important and it's just as important to let those companies know we want them to be happy.

The future begins at home.

Kentucky's congressional delegation in the U.S. House of Representatives has spent $695,000 in taxpayer revenues over the past 18 months to bring us about 7 million pieces of mail, vitally important news to remind us how good they are at doing what they do.

Two-thirds of a million bucks spent on franking privileges... "free" mail.

What a waste.

As a whole, Congress has spent something like $79 million over the same period to keep constituents "informed." Add the costs for printing these important mailings and you could probably double that figure.

And who picks up the tab?

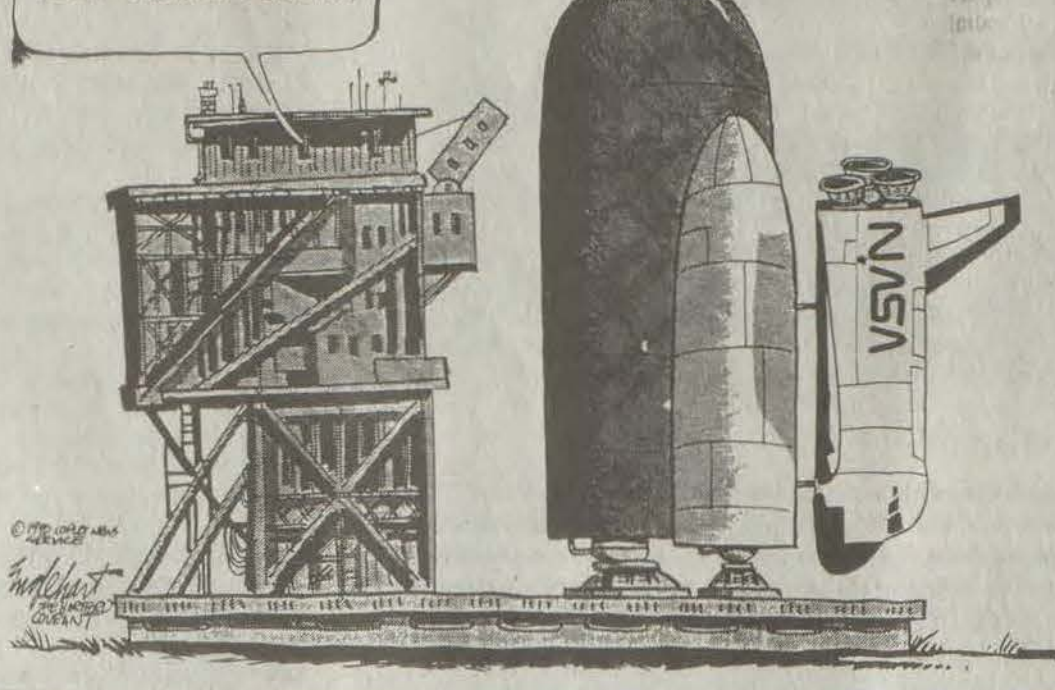

You do.

Maybe we ought to require franked mail to carry a warning, like those on cigarette packages...

"Warning: this piece of mail prepared at taxpayers' expense and mailed by a Congressman who doesn't give a damn if you want it or not."

No wonder a ten cent stamp costs a quarter.

FIVE...FOUR...THREE...

Soap Box

By Tess Whitmer

The weather is getting colder. That means the leaves will soon start blossoming into a beautiful array of colors. I've already begun to notice some bright yellows and reds down on the riverbank. Unfortunately the colors will only last a short while, and then the leaves fall and the barren trees will tell all.

All that trash that no one has been able to see for a few months will be in full view again. Remember Earth Day? Remember all the people who were so active in getting the county cleaned up? Spring is a good time for that, if you can battle the rain. In a way, it is a ritual preparing for summer. Spring cleaning, if you will.

In my opinion Fall is also a good season for reviving that Earth Day spirit.

Even after much skepticism, the Floyd County Litter Task Force is still going strong. Although membership dwindled somewhat during the summer months, members are confident that it will thrive again.

We are people who give up. The cause is not hopeless. Look around, progress has already been made. Some dumps that have been around for years were cleaned up this summer and seeded with grass. Areas that have never had a community group have developed them, such as Cracker Bottom, Abbott Creek, Mud Creek.

The town of Wayland did an outstanding job righting their neighborhood for their homecoming. Hopefully, now that the spirit is started, it will continue. As Jerry Fultz put it the other night at our meeting, you have to get the people to do it themselves, that way they will be less likely to tolerate misbehavior from others. If you clean it up, you certainly don't take kindly to others messing it again.

One person I am really proud of, and have come to respect a lot, is Floyd County's own Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo. This man has been at every meeting and contributed significantly. At the beginning of the summer he pledged to clean up the dumps no matter how long it took and he is keeping that promise.

When we first started our group, I believe he had his doubts. He said he had seen this sort of thing start and fail before. People lost interest, he said. But, he always encouraged us.

I realize he is a busy man and he doesn't have to come to these meetings. He could easily blow us off with some lame excuse, but he doesn't. He has even agreed to be co-chairperson of the group and to schedule the next meeting around an event we hope will attract a particular group of individuals who could do a lot for the cause.

John M. told us the other day that, because of our group, there has been a lot accomplished in the county. He encouraged us to keep up the work, even when it seems nothing is being done. His presence and positive attitude are real morale boosters for us all.

Others who we have been delighted to see at all our meetings include Floyd County's Ecology Officer Cleveland Tackett and Solid Waste representative David Cooley. If David isn't there Bob McAninch is. These men offer us expertise and sound advice. Sometimes we butt heads with them, but they always come back for more.

Cleveland has been diligent in citing dumpers and litterers. He told me of one case the other day, where he took it as a personal challenge to get this certain violator. He said he pledged to himself to sit up all night if that's what it took to catch the man. If he was the eyewitness that the judge needed, he knew there would be a conviction because he would be there to testify.

David informed us that, if there was an eyewitness willing to testify, Judge Harold Stumbo convicted him.

He said there hasn't been a case lost yet. It takes more than the gumption to report a violator, one must also have the courage to follow it through and appear as a witness.

I know it is frightening. I saw someone throw a fast food bag out their car window and a few feet later toss out a napkin. I was appalled. They did it right in front of me. I copied down the license plate and the time of event, with every intention of reporting them to the proper authorities.

After I thought on it for a while, I started to worry. I don't know these people, but working at the newspaper a lot of people know me. That makes me kind of vulnerable. So I backed off.

Since that time I realized it wouldn't have done any good since I couldn't identify the person who committed the crime. Harold says it's like a murder case, you have to be able to look at the person's face and say "that's him." He also added that he was a prosecuting attorney once and went through that fear of retaliation with every one of his witnesses. He said that people forgot he was there too. He had a home and family too. And, yet, he still went after the criminals to see justice done. After that, several of us pledged to report any violators we saw, and be there in court to see it through — no matter what the consequences.

I hope that others will join us, and not tolerate inconsiderate people tossing their garbage out onto our highways and trashing up our view. It is unsightly as well as unhealthy.

I thank everyone that has helped the Litter Task Force, and invite all those who wish to help to come to our next meeting, Monday, Oct. 15 at the May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. There is power in numbers, people, and this is something where one person can do an awful lot to help.

Strange Enough

Free steak for a half-baked fish

I think it's funny how things work out sometimes in the business of give and take.

Let's get started with the events of Saturday shall we?

Saturday morning I was at the pet shop with my fiancée looking for weird fish for my new aquarium when I walked past a group of small bowls containing betas.

These colorful little fish sparked my memory of my friend Dale asking me to buy a beta for his daughter, if I should run across any. So, I selected a pretty red one and the lady put the little guy in a plastic bag and gave him to me.

Nothing so unusual about that. We took the fish and proceeded to Johnson County where the fish would find a nice happy home. Once again, nothing unusual.

When we got to my friend's house, however, we discovered that he and his entire family had gone out on Paintsville Lake for a day of fun in the sun.

That's when the fun began. I realized that you can't keep a little fish in a plastic bag forever. I needed an aquarium and soon.

Not being the type to let a fish die an agonizing death, I drove to the lake in hopes of spotting the potential owners of this dying fish. No luck.

I did however find the car. I pondered the situation and thought, "Gee, I could put the fish in the car and let him die on Dale's time."

Alys, the aforementioned fiancée, who had had enough of this fish business, thought that was a good idea.

Although I was slightly worried about the traumatizing effects of Dale's kids finding a dead fish in the car, I decided to go for it. The fish was placed in a brown paper bag and left on the driver's side of the car. Hoping for an early return of the family, I left the life of the fish to fate.

We went on about our merry way and visited some friends, but I just couldn't get the thoughts of that poor fish out of my head. I went back to the parking lot at the lake that evening before heading home to see if the family had returned to save the fish.

No such luck. The little fellow was still alive and in the car, which had set in the sun all day. Oh well, at least I knew he was alive.

I went home and after watching a few movies I went to bed. Nightmarish dreams of small red fish flopping about violently filled my tortured mind. Was I a fish murderer? Would the fish police be knocking at my door soon?

Sunday, I tried to call and find out if the fish died but, I got no answer.

"That confirms it," I thought. "They found the fish in the car dead and had to go out and get another one in an attempt to quiet the tears of the young girls whose hearts had been broken when they found the corpse." Boy, did I feel bad.

Things worked out pretty good in the end however.

I called Dale's house Monday night and his wife told me that the fish had lived after all! The girls loved it, and the fish is reportedly in great shape.

To top off the story Dale came by the next day and invited Alys and myself to a steak dinner, complete with baked potatoes and cold beers.

Not bad, huh?

Letters

Dear Editor:

I just wanted to say that my husband and I really enjoyed the Saturday night session of the Jenny Wiley Folk Festival.

Friday night I "chickened out" when the storm was approaching. I went home real early, and I do have a valid reason for being so afraid of lightning since once it set my house on fire, then some years ago, some folks I knew took shelter under a large tree and when lightning struck the tree it killed one and flattened the other two on the ground. So I could go on and name others, but one can tell, I'm really frightened of lightning.

To get back to the program on Saturday night, I think all the performers did such a splendid job of putting on the show. One can't say enough nice things about the "Festival Band," they are tops. For years we have enjoyed them. I feel anyone who really enjoys the good traditional music and bluegrass music will also feel the same as we do.

A little "poetry" put simple:
"Come rain or shine, they are there on time,

the Festival Folks you see,
they sing out their hearts, here in these parts, they are singing for you and me."
Sincerely,
—Estia Mae Tackett

Dear Editor:

Like many people, I have read with interest regarding the teachers strike and their pay raise, which undoubtedly they deserve.

On Wednesday, Aug. 29, half a page was devoted to "We Want You to Know," which listed salaries. From what I have read, the teachers budget could be met by decreasing the Central Office's salaries by about 15-25 percent. Pray tell how Pete Grigsby and Russell Frazier warrant nearly $60,000 salaries? Ron Hager, being county superintendent, maybe. All that were listed, seem to me, to be grossly inflated in lieu of the job they do.

The principals salaries were not so out of line. I wonder how much salary the School Board members make? Everybody has to work for a living (or should), but do they have to live so high at other's expense?

Sincerely,
—Mrs. Lois Bond

WARS OF THE WORLD
by Reco Gates of Atlanta, Ga.
a student at the
Carl D. Perkins
Job Corp Center, Prestonsburg

There are many, many different types of wars. Between people in their homes to people in the streets, and most of all between nations and countries. All of these wars are scary, but important to those who are fighting.

People should be aware that things like these change not only their lives, but affect everyone in between. Man today doesn't realize how important people's lives are. The world has changed a great deal for man's sake and to man's advantage. They fight over the least of things, such as power, land, wars of the past, things to come, money, woman and many, many other things.

A war that has lasted for a long time, and is still going on today is the war between races, which is a damn shame, I think. No one can help what color they are. It wasn't something that they could have decided.

I don't think wars will ever end, because the ingredients of wars have been handed down throughout generations. A war has been a result of sorrow, pain, hurt and anger. Those are things that can be helped or replaced, but life can't.

Don't hate me because I'm black, love me because I am human, just like you.

SCHOOL BOARD MEMBER EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT #1

As candidate for school board member in district number 1 I am the lone opponent of the incumbent who is the board chairman and the power behind the present administration. I seek this office because the Floyd county school system has many problems, and my opponent is one of them. This truth was most recently demonstrated by the Floyd county teachers strike. Surely you know the factors that led to the teachers rightful resolve to stop work until some sanity and fairness was restored to the school system. My opponent has historically voted for and fought to maintain a system of political reward for the loyal known as the "central office". The salaries speak for themselves.

These salaries are in the upper 15% of salaries in the entire state of Kentucky. That means 85% of the Kentucky school systems fail to pay the "administrators" as much as we do. Most of the salaries exceed those of our most prominent public servants, including county judge executive, district judge, and commonwealth attorney. The superintendents salary even rivals that of a newly elected circuit judge.

On the other hand, under my opponents preferred budget, our teachers have consistently remained in the lower 15% of the entire state. In other words, under the present leadership the "administrators" are paid the highest and the teachers are paid the lowest. As for the children, spending per child for books, supplies, etc. have historically been at the bottom. Not surprisingly, the test scores of our children have remained at the bottom, below our neighbors of Knott, Martin, Magoffin, and Pike counties.

Apparently my opponent likes this arrangement, because when the teachers challenged it, he fought them. After all he is the chairman of the board of our school system, and its budget and present condition are his handi-work. He voted for it, spoke in favor of it, threatened to fire any who opposed it, and held out to the end of the second longest teachers strike in the history of the state to keep it. THIS STRIKE ONLY ENDED WHEN OTHER BOARD MEMBERS TOOK A STAND. Why would anyone fight so hard to protect such an unfair system? The simple answer is power and influence. Loyalty is bought and maintained monthly by the paychecks. Even if one must step down as county superintendent, you keep this salary the same, for his influence is still useful, and besides, "loose lips sink ships."

It is apparent that our children come last in this system and any benefit received by them is incidental to the disbursements of big salaries, jobs, and contracts to those loyal to my opponent. In fact, this system is so bad that it was one of only two in the entire state to be declared "academically bankrupt" and taken over by the state board of education. This not only happened during my opponents tenure as chairman of the board, but as a direct result of perverting our school system from one for education to exploitation, greed, favoritism, and abuse. The children have been lost in the shuffle for power and have suffered enough. Help me stop this abuse by your vote and support this November 6th.

MY PLEDGE TO YOU AND OUR CHILDREN

- 1—To spend every tax dollar for the best education possible of our children. Not for the reward of my friends.
- 2—To end the greed and self serving politics that have wasted our tax monies, and hindered our teachers, neglected the best interest of our children.
- 3—To expose and bring to light all the business of your school board, including salaries, hiring of personnel, and setting of policy, and the budget process.
- 4—To hold monthly meetings with you, in your community, in addition to the regular school board meeting. With this you will have the opportunity to comment, make suggestions, and ask any questions you desire so you can once again be a part of your school system.

The time has come to free our school system of any purpose other than education. With your help we can complete the opportunity that has been handed to us.

REMEMBER IN NOVEMBER!

Seemingly harmless over-the-counter drugs can be the objects of abuse

Americans spend more than $5 billion each year on 350,000 varieties of over-the-counter (OTC) products to self-medicate everything from headaches and backaches to insomnia and allergies.

And while the public generally regards them as harmless because they're readily available and relatively inexpensive, OTC drugs are frequently abused, according to Walt Holbrook, program manager, Our Lady of the Bellefonte Hospital CareUnit.

Among the most common OTC drug abusers are the elderly who are the main consumers of such preparations, Holbrook pointed out.

According to Geriatrics magazine, approximately 40 percent of people over 60 use an OTC preparation every day.

The most common methods of OTC drug abuse involves the user taking higher quantities than recommended, the report continued.

"Some people assume that if two sleeping pills every eight hours help them sleep better, than four pills every four hours will help them sleep even more soundly," Holbrook said.

OTC drugs are also commonly misused when taken in combination with alcohol or prescription medications.

"While abuse of OTC medications isn't as dangerous as misuse of other substances," Holbrook said, "it can entail troublesome side effects ranging from headaches and insomnia to seizures and hypertension."

The most commonly abused OTC drugs include:

— Cold and allergy remedies. Many of these preparations contain anywhere from 3 to 25 percent alcohol and often are abused by those attempting to conceal a drinking problem. Such preparations, even in small quantities, also can cause relapse among recovering alcoholics.

— Mouthwash and gargles. Since they often contain as much as 25 percent alcohol, they sometimes are abused by alcoholics trying to appear abstinent. As with cold and allergy preparations, they also can trigger a relapse among recovering alcoholics.

— Appetite suppressants. While the abuse of prescription diet pills has been widely reported, OTC weight reduction preparations can also be the object of abuse since many contain phenylpropanolamine hydrochloride (PPA), an ingredient which resembles amphetamines. Some PPA users have reportedly developed a tolerance to the drug and continue using it even if they're not trying to lose weight. Government research has linked PPA, which also is used as a nasal decongestant, with a wide range of side effects, including strokes, seizures, hypertension, insomnia, headaches, nausea and ringing in the ears.

— Diuretics and laxatives. These products often are misused as a means of rapid weight loss among women suffering from eating disorders such as bulimia.

The elderly also commonly overuse laxatives. Geriatrics magazine reports that of the 30 percent of people over 60 who are regular laxative users, 3 percent seriously overuse them.

Abuse of diuretics and laxatives can lead to dehydration, diarrhea, vomiting and damage to the colon.

— Sleeping pills. Despite the fact people don't require as much sleep as they get older, many senior citizens use sleeping pills to help them log the eight hours they still think they need each night.

However, over time, one may develop a tolerance for such drugs until a higher and higher dose is needed to achieve the desired effects. The same holds true for those who misuse sleeping pills as daytime sedatives.

Over time, physical and psychological dependence on OTC sleeping pills can occur.

For more information regarding substance abuse call the CareUnit at Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital 836-3148.

Strike Force cracking down on marijuana growers

The members of the Governor's Marijuana Strike Force are still on the job, harvesting Kentucky's illegal cash crop. As the days of summer dwindle down, the number of plants brought in keeps going up.

As of today, 421,389 plants have been destroyed in Kentucky since Jan. 2, 1990. One-hundred forty seven people have been arrested. Within the Big Sandy Area Development District there have 1398 plants destroyed and 12 arrests including 1263 plants and five people in Floyd County. The other counties in the district ranked as follows: Johnson, 104 and one; Lawrence, 26 and one; Magoffin, zero and none; Martin, zero and none; and Pike County 31 and six.

"Even the marijuana growers must be getting the message," said Strike Force Director Gary Faulkner. "Cooperation means bigger harvests. Our team approach is paying off."

Faulkner also cited the increased number of arrests.

"Our Strike Force is doing more than just cutting down marijuana plants. It's also putting growers out of business and behind bars.

Governor Wallace Wilkinson created the Strike Force earlier this year. Members include the Kentucky Attorney General's Office; US Attorney, Eastern and Western Districts; Civil Air Patrol; US Drug Enforcement Administration; Federal Bureau of Investigation; US Forest Service; Kentucky Fish and Wildlife; Kentucky State Police; Kentucky National Guard; Kentucky Water Patrol; Kentucky Sheriff's Association; and the Governor's Office for a Drug-Free Kentucky.

Nearly 67 million Americans have one or more forms of heart or blood vessel disease according to American Heart Association statistics.

Water from home

U. S. troops deployed to Saudi Arabia after Iraq's invasion of Kuwait will receive a welcomed care package from home consisting of water, Gatorade, magazines and salt products thanks to students at Bevins Elementary in Pike County. Robin Case and Sheila Varney dropped off the goods at WQHY radio station in Prestonsburg on Monday. Students collected 190 gallons of water, three Bibles, 31 quarts of Gatorade, and 25 grocery bags of salt products. (photo by Susan Allen)

Kentucky takes action on landfill violations

The Kentucky Division of Waste Management has sent to the Cooksey Brothers Landfill in Boyd County a notice of intent to revoke its solid waste disposal permit. The notice is the beginning of an administrative process that could result in the revocation of the company's operating permit.

The notice, delivered recently, identifies three reasons for the action: the acceptance of solid waste from sources not permitted, namely Philadelphia, Pa., Scioto County, Ohio, and Kanawka County, W. Va.; the misrepresentation of information on reports the landfill operators are required to prepare; and, finally, the refusal to disclose information upon request about an apparent change in ownership or management of the landfill.

All are violations of Kentucky waste management regulations.

The notice opens a 30-day period during which any parties interested in an adjudicatory hearing to contest this action may make such a request. It is expected that such a hearing will be requested. It would be conducted by an independent contract hearing officer who would issue findings in the form of a report and recommended order. Should a hearing not be requested, revocation will follow.

The hearing officer's report and recommended order would be delivered to Carl H. Bradley, secretary of the Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet, who can approve or reject the hearing officer's order.

The Cooksey landfill has operated since the mid-1970s and is currently authorized to accept solid waste from Boyd, Greenup, Lawrence, Carter and Elliott counties in Kentucky, Lawrence County, Ohio, Cabell and Wayne counties in West Virginia, and Allegheny County, Pennsylvania (Pittsburgh and vicinity).

Today's action does not trigger an automatic halt of waste disposal at the Cooksey operation. It is anticipated that a hearing would take several weeks.

In the meantime, the Kentucky Division of Waste Management is working with those counties in Kentucky now legally served by the landfill to identify adequate alternative disposal facilities for their solid wastes in the event of the revocation of the Cooksey permit.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Earl Yates would like to express our thanks to all the friends, neighbors and loved ones, who sent flowers, brought food or said a kind word during our loss.

A special thanks to Dr. David Sloan (UK Medical Center) for his caring attention, the ministers (Bobby Baldrige and Belmonte Johnson) and Hall Funeral Home for their efficient service.

The Family

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Bert Hoover would like to thank the Stone Coal Regular Baptist Church and the Regular Baptist ministers and all those family and neighbors who called on us during our recent loss of our loved one. We would especially like to thank the Garrett DAV Chapter #128 and the Hall Funeral Home of Martin and John Hall and John Hall Jr. for all their acts of kindness.

The Family

CARD OF THANKS

The family of "Hal" Rice would like to take this opportunity to express our heartfelt gratitude to all those friends, family members, neighbors and caring people who joined us in bidding our beloved Hal goodbye. Those persons who stopped at the funeral home and brought food and kind words were greatly appreciated. We'd like to extend a special thank you to: Magistrate Gerald DeRossett for preparing the road to the cemetery; the Rev. Richard Crisp for his kind and thoughtful words; vocalists Mary Wright and Dave Campbell for their lovely songs; the class of '68; Branham and Baker Coal Company; Big Sandy ADD; "Raiders" trucker friends and racing buddies; and the staff of the Hall Funeral Home of Martin, including Johnny Hall, John Hall Jr. and Joe Back, for their personal attention. Although we feel a great loss with the passing of Hal, it is good to know that we have friends who care.

The Family

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Abram "Duke" Lafferty would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help during our time of grief: those who sent food and flowers, ones who spoke comforting words and prayers. We deeply appreciated your concern and love that was shown.

We want to especially thank Ruth Karen Marcum and Marina Hale for their beautiful singing.

A special thanks for preachers Greg Nichols, Gordon Fitch and Earnest Sword. A special thanks goes to Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home for being so kind and considerate. The DAV was also greatly appreciated.

All your kindnesses, concern and prayers were greatly appreciated by the family in their time of grief.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Mae S. Ousley wish to extend their appreciation to all those friends and loved ones who helped comfort them during their time of sorrow.

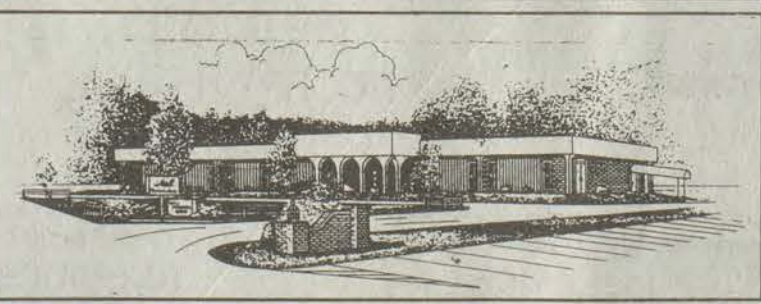

Thanks to all who sent flowers, food, prayers or spoke comforting words.

A very special thanks to our cherished friends and neighbors, Palmer & Dot Marshall, Bess West, Sam Henry, Gene & Meg Kendrick.

Thanks to the Highland Ave. Freewill Baptist Church choir and singers. The Rev. Clifford Austin and his wife Janet, Dr. J.D. Adams and staff, two very special people, Nancy Slone and Katy Derossett.

Thank you Geneva & Tammy for your professional care everyday and for being such good friends and to Floyd Funeral Home for their kind and professional care.

Shirley, Arlene, James & Charles

Special Thanks

We, Bertha Frazier's Family, use this means and opportunity to thank each and all for your kindness, love and support during the initial period of mourning the loss of our Precious Mother. Thank you... You who gave of yourselves and your time, you who shared and cared and lent a shoulder for each mourning child, you who walked and talked with us until we had gone the last step with her, you who could not be with us but kept us in your thoughts and prayers, and you who even now call and come to share our many memories. By nature, we are all subject to human error. Please accept this as a special note of thanks and appreciation if you were not thanked personally by some family member or did not receive a card of gratitude.

We send a special note of thanks to:

- The Left Beaver Rescue Squad
- The Staff of The McDowell Hospital
- Nelson Frazier Funeral Home Staff
- Members of the Little Nancy Church
- The Hi Hat Community Club
- The Old Regular Baptist Ministers
- Aunt Rhoda Compton's Family

Elderly services seminar scheduled for October

It is a common problem shared by family members, nursing home staff, doctors and other caregivers; disruptive and occasionally unmanageable behavior of an elderly relative or patient.

To address this troubling situation, a day-long seminar or managing difficult behavior will be conducted on Oct. 29 in Louisville for professionals who work with elder Kentuckians in hospitals, adult day care and senior citizens centers, nursing homes and private residences.

The workshop is one of 38 sponsored by the National Council on Aging's Institutes of Senior Centers and Adult Day Care. The session at Louisville's Holiday Inn, Downtown, is co-sponsored by the Kentucky Department for Social Services Division of Aging Services and the KIPDA Area Development District. "Behavior problems historically have been associated with juveniles, but today we know that physical, mental, social and medical causes that are part of the aging process can result in very troublesome behavior by older people, too," said Sue Tuttle, director of the Division of Aging Services.

"The more serious problem, however, is that, without proper training, most family members and caregivers aren't able to recognize warning signs or to be prepared to cope with such situations patiently and effectively.

"The sessions of this seminar will range from verbal and physical intervention skills to assessing behavior changes in patients or family members to developing agency policies regarding safe handling of disruptive behavior incidents," she said.

"We hope to have a board range of participants, including staff from Kentucky senior citizens and adult day care centers, nursing homes, congregate living facilities, respite care programs and home care personnel," said Tuttle.

The principal trainer for the seminar will be Agnes A. Natale, RN, MSN, assistant professor in the College of Nursing at the University of Nebraska Medical Center. Natale is a psychiatric nurse who serves as a national workshop leader on combative behaviors and ways to effectively manage them.

Registration information may be obtained by contacting local coordinator Elizabeth Rulander at the KIPDA Area Development District in Louisville at (502) 589-4406, or Melissa Lawrence at the state Division of Aging Services in Frankfort at (502) 564-7372.

Everyone brought a covered dish and beverages were provided by Virginia Tackett. Anyone who knows this family and would like to join in next year's reunion is welcome. Information and direction can be obtained by calling Dollie Butler at 789-5450 or Virginia Tackett at 789-8933.

MEADE MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL

All students of Meade Memorial High School (1933-1968) should take note that there has been a change in location of the class reunion.

Permission could not be granted to use the school facility, therefore, it will be held at the Paintsville Community Center on Saturday, Oct. 6 at 5 p.m. All class members should help spread the word.

For more information, contact Boone Blevins at 297-3204, Margaret Preston at 789-5614 or Ernestine Spears at 789-4681.

CLARK REUNION

Relatives of the late Robert Clark met in Central Park, Ashland, on Sept. 2 for their annual family reunion. Over 80 relatives attended.

A picnic dinner of chicken and dumplings, green beans, corn on the cob and more was enjoyed.

Children of Robert Clark were represented by his daughter, Louella Jane Burchette of Ironton, Ohio. His deceased sons, Grady Clark, Sterling Clark and Gooden Clark, were represented by their children and grandchildren.

A granddaughter of Robert Clark has done some research into the Clark Family, who's ancestors came from Ireland. Great-great-grandfather, James O'Clark, came to America from Ireland on a cattle boat in the 1800s. The "O" in the Clark name was dropped several years later.

Over 300 pictures of relatives and memorabilia were displayed in a family album at the reunion. Each family members had a story about the past, some about hardships endured, about relatives sticking together when things were tough and some humorous tales.

Daddy, even tho its only been 3 months since you were taken away; To me it's still like yesterday. We just don't count our blessings while we can; But you were taken before I could understand. I'm happy you aren't in anymore pain; But it's so hard to live without you and stay sane. We love you Daddy, with all our hearts but now there's empty spots in our family's parts.

Time to store that summer clothing

Although unseasonably warm temperatures indicate we're still in the heat of summer, September is the month many people begin the task of putting summer clothing away for another year.

The best place to start is with the storage containers and spaces, according to Linda Heaton, Extension clothing specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. If these areas are occupied with fall and winter clothing, it is a good idea to take an inventory and divide clothing into three groups—give away, keep, and repair or recycle.

While the storage area and containers are empty, inspect them for signs of unwanted pests and dust or soil. Pests are attracted to dark places. Soil or dust particles often serve as sources of food. Vacuum closet floors and dust shelves and storage containers thoroughly, paying particular attention to corners and crevices. Wash walls and shelves with water and a household cleaner at least once a year.

"Make sure your summer clothing is ready for out-of-season storage before packing it away," Heaton said. "Check clothing for necessary repairs, such as torn seams, pulled out linings, loose buttons or hems, and small tears, and mend them before laundering or taking clothing to the drycleaners. Also look for stains or soiled spots which might not be visible from a casual appraisal."

Because summer clothing will be stored for some time, some normal laundering procedures should be avoided, Heaton said.

"Avoid using fabric softeners, starch, fabric sizing and bleach," she said. "Some fabric finishes tend to retain bleach, causing fabric to yellow and weaken. Fabric softeners, if not completely removed during laundering, can attract insects. Starch and fabric sizing are an excellent food source for insects."

"If chlorine bleach is necessary for soil or stain removal, it's a good idea to rinse clothing a second time to neutralize any remaining bleach."

Point out any stains or excess soiling to the drycleaner and make sure these problem areas have been removed before the clothing is stored.

Summer accessories also need some preparation before storage, according to Heaton.

"Check shoes, handbags, belts and other accessories for stains or scuff marks and clean them," she said. "Clean out handbags and stuff with white tissue paper or old clothing to keep the shape and prevent them from getting crushed in storage. Use shoe shapers in shoes for the same reasons."

Out-of-season clothing and accessories can be stored in closets, drawers, cabinets, cardboard boxes and suitcases.

"Use a clean sheet, pillow case or white tissue paper to line the storage containers to protect stored clothing," Heaton said. "Do not use plastic, as it can hold moisture that promotes mildew growth. Be sure laundered and drycleaned clothes are completely dry before storing them."

Do not store clothes too tightly. Sweaters and other knit clothing that could be damaged by hanging should be stored flat in storage containers. Protect clothing hung in the closet with a cloth bag or discarded, clean bed sheet.

"Moth balls are not necessary," she said, "because summer clothes are made from materials and fibers that do not attract moths."

Out-of-season clothing and accessories should be stored in a cool, dry place, according to Heaton. Avoid storing them in a garage, attic or closed area that might receive gas fumes from an automobile or home heating system.

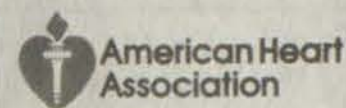

"Taking a little extra time this fall to store summer clothing and accessories properly will save you time and money next spring," Heaton said.

Go against the grain. Cut down on salt.

Adding salt to your food could subtract years from your life. Because in some people salt contributes to high blood pressure, a condition that increases your risk of heart disease.

During the Prestonsburg Jaycees' First Quarter Award Banquet held Sept. 14 in Betsy Layne, Kentucky State Jaycee President Jane Pruitt of Horse Cave spoke on the meaning of Jaycees. Pruitt emphasized that the meaning was different for every member and meant many things. The Jaycees are a group of people, age 21-39, who work towards bettering the community and themselves. They meet the second and fourth Thursday of every month at 7 p.m. in the Floyd County Library. New members are always welcome and no invitation is needed.

Quilts featured at Appalshop

Appalshop will again celebrate their Mountain Heritage with an exhibit of regionally crafted quilts. The quilts will be displayed from Sept. 17 through Nov. 9. There will be a reception to open the exhibit on Thursday, Sept. 20 from 5:30-7:30 p.m. in the Appalshop Gallery, and all quilt makers and quilt lovers are invited to attend. The reception and exhibit are open to the public free of charge. The gallery is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Following the reception, there will be a special Mountain Heritage edition of the Bluegrass Express Live at 7:30 p.m. in the Appalshop Theater, featuring the Lee Sexton Band, Bill Singleton and the Cumberland Mountain Boys, and storyteller Orville Hicks. This monthly showcase of the best in regional bluegrass music will also be broadcast live over Appalshop's radio station, WMMT—88.7 F.M. Tickets for the show are $3 for adults, $2 for students and senior citizens.

The quilt opening reception and Bluegrass Express Live are the third and five consecutive Thursdays of programs at Appalshop during Letcher County's Mountain Heritage Festival.

We've increased the advantages of the most recognized health care card in Kentucky.

To you, the Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky card may look the same as before. And in some ways, you're right. It's still the one health care card recognized by any doctor, any hospital, anywhere you go. It continues to provide peace of mind for over 900,000 Kentuckians. But your Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky card is changing. There are new ideas behind it. And a new spirit. We're streamlining our organization in a concentrated effort to cut our administrative costs. Our people are working harder and smarter; thinking of fresh, new ways to make your health insurance even better. Our card's biggest change, however, is not so much something you can see, but something you can feel. Our company is returning to a value system that cares for the customer, that believes the customer is important. We have not reached all our goals. But we're moving forward. Choose us again or for the first time. And choose Kentucky's most valuable health care card...that's on its way to becoming even more valuable.

Reservists have right to return to their old jobs

Military reservists called to active duty have the right to return to their old jobs if they meet certain requirements, a U.S. Labor Department official said.

There are four requirements, contained in the Veterans' Reemployment Rights (VRR) law, according to Thomas E. Collins III, assistant secretary of labor for veterans' employment and training. Returning reservists must:

- have held an "other than temporary" civilian job (but not necessarily a "permanent" job)
- leave the civilian job to go on active duty,
- receive a certificate evidencing satisfactory service, and
- apply for reemployment with the pre-service employer within 31 days.

"A person meeting these requirements is entitled to their pre-service position or an equivalent job," Collins said.

"The returning service man or woman does not get back onto the seniority ladder where he or she left it, but at the point that would have been reached without the interruption for military service."

The VRR law, in effect since 1940, applies to those who leave their jobs for voluntary or involuntary military service, in war and peace, Collins explained.

The Veterans' Employment and Training Service (VETS) in the Labor Department assists reservists and National Guard members, as well as others who leave military service, in enforcing their reemployment rights.

"I am confident," Collins said, "that the vast majority of employers will recognize the urgency of the present situation and will be supportive of their employees who return to military duty whether voluntarily or involuntarily."

"An employer or employee having questions about the VRR law should look for the local VETS representative under 'Labor Department' in the government pages of the telephone directory or call the VETS National Office, (202) 523-8611."

Those who leave civilian jobs for active duty are not required to request a leave of absence or even to notify employers that military service is the reason for leaving, although Collins encouraged anyone called to active duty to give his or her employer as much information as possible.

Different rules apply to reservists and National Guard members called to duty for training. They must request a leave of absence. However, this is really just a notice, not a request, because the employer cannot deny it.

In addition to the VRR law (Title 38, U.S.C., Chapter 43), Collins said federal employers and employees should be aware of military leave provisions of Chapter 353 of the Federal Personnel Manual (FPM). He said Constance Berry Newman, director of the Office of Personnel Management, recently issued a directive balancing needs of military services with those of other government agencies.

Collins, a retired Air Force fighter pilot who spent seven years as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, commended the nation's reservists and National Guard members for their "tremendous efforts to date in the current Middle East situation" and wished them all "God speed and a safe return home."

1990 World Chicken Festival in London

The 1990 World Chicken Festival opens on Thursday, Sept. 27 at 5 p.m. The festival is highlighted with popular midway rides from Nolan Amusements. Formed in early 1990's, Nolan Amusements is a family owned and operated company. Clean fun and family entertainment is the name of the game then and it continues to be their philosophy as the Nolan family operates three units today supplying rides and concessions from various county fairs and festivals throughout the region.

There will be a combination of "Thrill" and traditional rides at the 1990 World Chicken Festival. Included will be four of their most popular rides, the Swiss Toboggan, a 55 foot high thrill ride; Gravitron, it's like being on a real space ship; Side-winder, like riding a bullet, a guaranteed thrill; and their newest addition, the Dragon Wagon, a magical dragon roller coaster ride.

Bargain days, ride all the rides you want for $5, are on Thursday, Sept. 27, 6-10 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 30, 1-5 p.m. In addition, the rides will be open from 9 a.m. to midnight on both Friday, Sept. 28 and Saturday, Sept. 29.

The Humane Society of Laurel County announces its sponsorship of the 1990 World Chicken Festival first annual Pet Parade, which will be held on Saturday, Sept. 29 at 10 a.m. in downtown London.

All area pet owners are invited and encouraged to enter their favorite pets and support the Humane Society and World Chicken Festival. Prizes will be awarded in the following categories: Best Dressed Chicken, Most Unusual Pet, male, Most Unusual Pet, girl, Best Dressed Dog, Best Dressed Cat, Typical Boy and His Pet, Typical Girl and Her Pet, Largest Dog, Largest Cat, Greatest Number of Pets Shown by One Person and Best Costume Character.

In addition to first place prizes, ribbons will be awarded to all participants. Costumed characters are also invited. Entrants are asked to assemble in the Federal Courthouse parking lot at Third and Main Streets at 9 a.m. Saturday. Anyone can preregister by obtaining a Pet Parade registration form at most Laurel County vets or the Wilderness Road Information Center at 140 W. Daniel Boone Parkway, London 40741.

Entrants will choose the category in which they wish to compete. Judging will take place immediately following the parade. All animals must be on a leash, in a cage or confined in some fashion. They may be walked, carried, or pulled such as in a small wagon, etc.

Entry fee is $5 (optional donation to Humane Society of Laurel County) and all participants will receive on free carnival ride.

Other festival activities include live entertainment, parades, contest, travel displays, arts and crafts, a flea market, lots of eats and much more. For additional information contact the London-Laurel County Tourist Commission at the above address or phone 878-6900.

TO BROADCAST OR NOT...

At the recently held Board of Education meeting it was presented to the board to pass a resolution to take bids from radio stations in the area to give exclusive broadcast rights to one station. (See separate story in sports section). The reason being that revenue was needed to fund some high school sporting events in the county. It was even suggested that prices of admission be raised.

Board member Orville Duff, and whoever else voted against it, should receive a pat on the back for his stand against such a suggestion. How can one radio station cover all the sporting events in Floyd County. Especially during the basketball season. Besides that, the fans should have a choice of who they want to listen to. I think all of our stations do a great job in describing the play-by-play. However, a fan may have a favorite announcer he or she enjoys listening to.

As for the ticket prices, Duff says that the price should be cut not raised. His reasoning being that a lot of people don't work and can't afford an increase in prices. Keep it the way it is!

SIGHT AND SOUNDS OF RIVERFRONT

Last Thursday evening my son Greg and I went to Riverfront Stadium to watch the Reds and Houston Astros play. The Reds were having a hard time and we figure we would go and get them started on a winning streak. Now, a baseball game is fun to watch and you see and hear so many things in person that you just don't see on television.

For instance, after eating some Nacho's and cheese (which were hot) I went back to the concession stand for a good old cold Pepsi. Upon entering the seating area the crowd stood up and cheered. Were they that glad to see me back from the concession stand? I was touched. However, a let down came when I realized they were cheering because Art Howe, Astro manager had just been given the old "heave ho" by the home plate umpire. That was a sight you would have missed on TV.

Another sight was the usher (an elderly man) who wipes the seats, whether they need them or not, and you are supposed to tip him. I kept noticing him as he would go out of his way to get to the fans before they are seated. He would wipe the seat and help them to get seated and then wait for the tip. One particular person did not respond to the waiting hand and the usher was mad and threw the man's ticket stub to the floor.

Sounds. The cries of the vendors as they peddle their wares. Hot dogs, peanuts, popcorn, ice cream, pennants, scorecards, programs and of course beer. "Hottttt Dogs" cried one vendor in a very loud voice that was coarse enough that he needed not to yell. Another, holding two beer bottles in his hands, with the voice of Andre the Giant, bellowed out his product. I liked the one that was sort of humble that went around saying "get moody with Hudy" a reference to Hudepohl beer. "There's one left, if you don't drink it I will," cried another one.

Reds outfielder Eric Davis, who was playing left field, where we were sitting down the third base line, was the victim of the "boo birds" because he grounded weakly to third with the bases loaded when the Reds needed some runs. Old number 44 found the crew in left field not too appreciative of his contributions. Trailing 5-2 in the sixth inning and two runners on base, a Reds batter sent the ball over the centerfield fence that tied the score to the "CHEERS" of the fans, especially those in left field. The batter?—that's right Eric Davis. When he trotted to his position in left field, the fans loved him. I thought how hypocritical can you get. Until Friday good sports and remember be good sports.

"Better than Morgan Co."

Blackcats stun Paintsville 28-21

Prestonsburg Blackcats head football coach Bill Letton said that his team's 28-21 victory over Paintsville Friday night was a bigger win than his team's victory over Morgan County for the district title last year.

"It was most gratifying to beat Paintsville," said the Blackcat mentor.

The Blackcats got a complete team effort as several players shined in this big emotional victory for the Blackcats. Worthie McGuire, 6-3, 150 senior end, caught two Aaron Tucker passes for TDs and running back John Goble, 5-9, 155 junior, rushed for 109-yards, unofficially, on 15 carries and scored two touchdowns for Prestonsburg.

But on the defensive side, it was "The Todd Goodman Show" as the 5-9, 165 senior defensive end made the night miserable for Tiger quarterback Billy Phelps. Goodman personally sacked Phelps twice for losses of 12 and 10-yards. The senior defensive end blocked a punt that set up the Blackcats' second touchdown of the game. He later, off of a tackle, recovered a Tiger fumble that led to Prestonsburg's last TD. Defensively for the Blackcats, Allen James stripped the ball away from Matt Williams on a somewhat confused play. John Clark had a big interception for the Blackcats also.

The first half of the game was played in the rain, shades of last year at Prestonsburg, although not as bad. Prestonsburg threatened to score on first possession when on third down, Tucker hit McGuire with a 65-yard pass to the Tigers 28-yard line. A flag against the Tigers on a clipping call placed the ball on the Paintsville 13. However the drive stalled on the Paintsville 8-yard line where the Tigers took over on downs.

The Tigers looked good out of the starting gate as they seemed to move the ball at will on the ground against the Blackcat defense, moving the ball to their own 48-yard line. After an offside call against Prestonsburg and on a first and five, Ray Collins fumbled the football and the Blackcats recovered and took over on the Paintsville 41. Prestonsburg was unable to move the ball as the rains began to come down and McGuire, who had a great night punting, booted the ball to the Paintsville 30 where Matt Williams moved back up to the 35.

Paintsville, again put together a good series of downs moving the ball to the Prestonsburg 21. On a first and 10, Phelps hit Brad Tiller with a pass that Allen James just seemed to take away from Tiller and the ball went over to Prestonsburg as the Blackcats continued to make good breaks for themselves in stopping the drive.

With 3:57 remaining in the second quarter, the Tigers in control of the football, Goodman sacked Phelps for a loss of 12-yards bringing up a fourth and 20 situation. The Tiger punt was a bad one as the ball landed on the Tigers' own 37-yard line, giving the Blackcats good field position. On the first play from scrimmage, Tucker hit McGuire in the end zone for a touchdown for a 6-0 Prestonsburg lead. Ronnie Goodman attempted the conversion which failed.

On Paintsville's next possession, third quarter, the Tigers were in a fourth and three situation, electing to punt the ball. Goodman blocked the punt and the Blackcats again found themselves in good field position on the Tiger 25. On the first down play, John Goble scampered 25-yards for the TD. Tucker ran the conversion and the Blackcats were on top, 14-0.

Paintsville came back quickly in the third on a 49-yard run by Matt Kazee to the Prestonsburg 29-yard line. Phelps picked up 13-yards on a carry, resting the football on the Blackcats 16. Two penalties against Prestonsburg, a personal foul and an offside call, placed the ball on the 2-yard line where Collins carried for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was blocked by the Blackcat defense.

Prestonsburg was forced to give up the football on their next possession. Paintsville, on their own 18, got good yardage out of Phelps on a 12-yard run. Phelps then hit Williams for a 52-yard pass, placing the ball on the Blackcat 18. Phelps then connected with Williams again for a touchdown and a score of 14-14.

Another good punt!

A Little Shoving

It was a rough game for the Wheelwright Trojans Friday night against the Johns Creek Bearcats. Steven Johnson (12) Trojan quarterback is hit by a Bearcat defender. The Bearcats came from behind to defeat Wheelwright 8-6.

"Raceland Football School"

Rebels Find Raceland Tough On The Road In 65-8 Rout

"Raceland is a football school," is what Dewey Jamerson, football coach at Allen Central High School, said after his team dropped a 65-8 loss to the Rams of Raceland Friday night at Raceland. "We are trying to be a football school, but it is going to take us awhile to do it."

Raceland "raced" through the Rebels defense enroute to the lopsided score. However, Jamerson still saw some positive notes to the game. "I felt we played harder in this game with Raceland than we have since the Jenkins (first game of the year, a 20-14 Rebel win) game," the Rebel mentor stated. "It was our best game because the kids did not give up. Even though they were behind they did not quit."

Allen Central scored its only touchdown on a 60-yard drive that ended when sophomore Jason Clark carried the ball over for a TD. The score was Clark's first touchdown.

"Jason made some good runs for us in the drive," Jamerson remarked. "He was doing so well in picking up 10 and 15-yards I said let him carry it all the way and he did."

"It was like a bunch of pack mules trying to catch thoroughbreds out there," said the coach laughingly. "Raceland has a good ball club and four of their touchdowns came on drives, the rest on long plays."

"We're still in the learning stages here," Jamerson continued to explain. "We're going to be a good team, we just need to regroup and go on with the rest of the schedule."

Jamerson sees the second half of the season as more in line with the Rebels' play.

"I said at the start of the season the first half of our schedule will be important to us. We will have KSD, Fairview, MMI, Wheelwright and Betsy Layne the second half. We could pick up some wins there and have a decent season."

Trojans Lead For Three Quarters, Fall 8-6 To Johns Creek In 4th

For the Wheelwright Trojans, Friday night was a battle in two ways. Battling the storms and the Bearcats on the gridiron. The game was held up for over an hour because of a storm in the area. However, the Trojans found the storm wasn't the only problem in their 8-6 loss to Johns Creek. Two missed tackles at the line of scrimmage allowed freshman Hamilton Harris to gallop 34-yards for a touchdown and Chris Gannon added the two-point conversion late in the fourth period to give the Bearcats their second consecutive victory of the season. Last week Johns Creek won its first game with a 28-0 victory over Betsy Layne.

For Wheelwright it was a hard loss to take after leading 6-0 for most of the game. What made things worse, the Trojans had a touchdown called back because of a holding penalty. The Trojans were then penalized for an offside call, bringing up a first and 25 situation. Trojan quarterback Steven Johnson hit Bryan Rhea for 27-yards and a Wheelwright first down. The Trojans had the ball on the Johns Creek 1-yard line but the Bearcats held the Trojans.

The Trojans scored their touchdown in the first quarter with 3:47 to go when Mike Justice carried the ball to paydirt for a 6-0 lead. The two-point conversion failed for the Trojans.

The lead held up as the Trojan defense, led by Robbie Wright and Bryan Rhea, held the Bearcats at bay. Wright had a sack in the second quarter for Wheelwright, putting the Bearcats in serious trouble deep in their own territory. Johns Creek managed to move the ball to the 4-yard line but the Trojan defense held.

Johns Creek scored in the fourth quarter when Harris broke tackle and raced 34-yards for the score. The play came on a fourth and four situation when the Trojans missed two tackles on the line of scrimmage.

To see how things were going for the Trojans in the game, they had the ball inside the Johns Creek 10-yard line three times and managed to score only once. One time Wheelwright

Betsy Layne Returns To Play Friday At Leslie Co

The Betsy Layne Bobcats had the weekend off in high school football and will be returning to play this Friday night against district foe, Leslie County. The Bobcats will still be looking for that initial win as they take their 0-4 record on the road.

The Bobcats will play their next three games away from the friendly confines of Betsy Layne as they will be at Elkhorn City and Whitesburg before returning to play at home against Morgan County.

The Bobcats have rescheduled their homecoming game to October 19 against M.C. Napier.

Goble put the Blackcats in good field position with a 47-yard run as the end of the third quarter drew near. Before the quarter ended Clark, in for Tucker at quarterback, hit McGuire for a 19-yard pick up and a 4-yard run by Goble moved the ball to the Paintsville two when the period ended. On the first play of the fourth period, Goble ran the ball into the endzone to give Prestonsburg a 20-14 lead.

The lead lasted about as long as it took Matt Williams to take the Blackcat kick off and return it 85-yards for a touchdown, as the speedster ran by and through the Blackcat defenders. Brian Benson kicked the extra point and the Tigers led for the first time 21-20.

With 7:51 remaining in the game, the Tigers had control of the football and were forced to punt on a fourth and 13 situation. The snap from center was fumbled by Paintsville and Todd Goodman recovered the fumble on the Paintsville 14. On a third and 10 play, Tucker hit McGuire in the endzone and Allen James ran the conversion to reclaim a 28-21 lead for Letton's Blackcats.

Paintsville had two more chances to tie or win the game when, with 4:19 remaining, Phelps again was sacked by Goodman on a fourth and six play. Prestonsburg took over the ball with 2:30 showing on the clock and moved the ball down to the Paintsville 2-yard line where the Tigers dug in and held. With 1:10 to go Phelps hit Williams with a 19-yard pass to put the ball on the Prestonsburg 48 as the Tigers raced against the clock. Phelps' next three passes were incomplete as he threw to the sidelines and the officials stopped the clock, bringing protests from the Blackcat fans who turned out in large numbers. On a fourth and 10 with :07 remaining Phelps hit Williams again for a pick up of 22-yards. Phelps tried desperately to find Williams on his next two tosses but both passes were incomplete as time ran out and the Blackcats celebrated.

The Blackcats did their damage by going to the air against the Tigers, which did not surprise Coach Letton. "I felt we could throw the football against them," he remarked. "It seems there is just a chemistry between Tucker and McGuire. It was a typical Prestonsburg - Paintsville game. We did what we came to do. Anything else, we would not have been satisfied."

The Blackcat coach also had praise for his defense. "We made the big defensive play when we needed to," he said. "We just need to keep doing what we have to do."

"We never got down," he explained of his team's play after falling behind 21-20. "We matured a lot in this game." Coach Letton did state, however, that there is still room for improvement on defense for his team. "We're improving."

The Blackcats had a total of 291 offensive yards with 156-yards coming on the ground. Tucker had four completions, all to McGuire, for a total of 135-yards passing. The sophomore quarterback tossed for two TDs. The air game was the difference between the two teams as Phelps managed only 60-yards on five completions. The ground game for the Tigers was one yard short of the Blackcats at 155-yards on 29 carries for a total of 215 offensively.

Goble led the ground game for Prestonsburg with 109-yards on 15 carries; Matt Kazec led the Tigers in rushing with 63-yards on five carries. Phelps managed 46 on 14 carries. Phelps threw 17 times with five completions. Williams had all five receptions for a total of 60-yards.

Prestonsburg had no turnovers and Paintsville turned the ball over four times — three times on fumbles and one interception. The Blackcats were penalized four times for 26-yards and Paintsville received three penalties for 25-yards.

Pikeville College Bears Season Tickets Going Fast

Season tickets for reserved seating at Pikeville College Bears and Lady Bears games are going fast, according to Bears Coach Marc Comstock. The tickets, which entitle holders to the seat backed chairs in the reserved section, will be sold out before the season opens in November, Comstock said.

"We want to make sure that people aren't waiting to buy reserved seating season tickets, because they may not be available much longer," Comstock said. There are 332 seats in the reserved section.

Season tickets cost $25 each, and will admit the holder to all home games of both the Bears and Lady Bears. With each purchase of a reserved season ticket, the holder will receive an additional free general admission season ticket to share with family or friends, as well as season schedule cards and a preseason newsletter.

Non-reserved seating season tickets are also available for $15 each, Comstock said.

For more information, or to request a ticket purchase form, contact Comstock at 606-432-9231 or 432-1284.

moved to the Bearcats 3-yard line and fumbled the ball away.

Toward the end of the game the Trojans had a drive going until a Johnson pass was intercepted, ending any comeback hopes the Trojans might have entertained. Going back to the end of the first half, Wheelwright missed a field goal attempt that would have made the score 10-0.

The lack of the breaks cost Trojans in this one. However, the defense of Wheelwright once again looked good.

"Our whole defense played a good game," related Daniels. "The breaks just didn't go our way. We should have won easily."

Wheelwright, 1-4, will stay on the road and head to Martin County for a battle with the Sheldon Clark Cardinals Friday night.

TO THE VOTERS OF EDUCATIONAL DISTRICT #1

You should be aware that eight million dollars has been made available for construction or improvements of school facilities in our district. This has come about through the efforts of state and local officials and from your tax dollars. My opponent and I are totally opposed to one another as to how this money should be spent. James D. Adams desires to use what would represent almost the entire amount on one project. A new high school, outside of Prestonsburg several miles. He desires to spend nearly 500,000 just for the site alone. The development cost and the cost for the water and sewage facilities would most likely run this total site development to nearly $2,000,000. NEARLY ONE FOURTH THE TOTAL MONEY ALLOTTED! Past experience has shown that much more money will be spent for additional contracts and unforeseen costs before the project begins or before the first block has been laid. This would then mean that the total allotted money would be spent on one project.

This money, if spent this way, would preclude any significant opportunity to improve the remaining schools in our district for many years.

THERE IS A BETTER WAY!

- I propose that this money be spent in the following manner.
- 1—To renovate and expand the existing high school so that our children have one on par with any school in this area. Build additional classrooms and renovate what is now the biggest gymnasium in this region. This would provide the classroom facilities so needed to offer a curriculum second to none!
 - 2—To renovate and expand the facilities of the sixty-three year old building at Auxier. This structure seems to have been forgotten by the board! Before this even begins, the children of this community would be provided transportation and allowed to attend the new middle school.
 - 3—While the Clark school is the newest of the three grade schools, it is by no means without needs. Update and improve facilities to prepare these students for their future.
 - 4—We will be able to renovate the Prestonsburg facility and finally close the "dungeon" in the basement that fills with water when it rains.

I am proposing that we meet as a community with the teachers, parents and citizens, and students to study what the needs are for these schools. Hear the input from each of these groups and once again make these schools your schools. Through this type of action we can once again achieve pride in our schools. We can become a part of the education process of our children along with their teachers.

However, none of this can happen without your help on November 6th. It's YOUR TAX MONEY, it's YOUR CHILDREN, it's YOUR RIGHT TO BE INVOLVED in what is happening in YOUR SCHOOL. Let's restore sound wisdom to the use of our tax money while having better schools for all our children.

REMEMBER IN NOVEMBER!

Presenting The Regency Series
A Great New Concept

THE DARTMOUTH - 2,214 Sq. Ft. Including Garage

Our designers have developed a concept we truly believe you will want to see. We call it the Regency Series, an obviously different and beautiful line of homes both inside and out.

At present, there are six models. Most feature three bedrooms but some have two bedrooms plus a den. All have two baths. One features a two-car garage and another has a special loft on the second level.

Sweeping cathedral ceilings in some models create wide-open spaciousness. In most, overhead shelves are provided for your plants and collectibles.

No Down Payment,
10% A.P.R. Fixed Rate, Instant Home Financing,

3 Bedrooms - 2 Baths

BUILT ON YOUR PROPERTY Thanks to our unique "option" program, we can build right on your property for far less than you'd expect to pay. We'll build to any of three levels of completion: 90% complete; the shell with inside materials furnished for you or your sub-contractor to install; or the shell (unfurnished inside with finished exterior). Our workmen can install heating and air conditioning, plumbing, electrical wiring, trim, wallboard. Even a range, dishwasher and garbage disposer can be included in your purchase price. Or you can "do-it-yourself" and pocket big savings.

As the nation's largest on-your-lot home builder, we offer qualified property owners instant, fixed-rate mortgage financing.

Our sales representatives will help you figure just how little a brand new Regency Series Home will cost. And, tell you exactly what your monthly payment will be.

Pitino: "KY 'In' with some of the top recruits"

In the last of our three-part series on Kentucky Coach Rick Pitino's recent visit, the UK head coach talks about some of the nation's top recruits (no names mentioned); Carlos Toomer; the difference in pro players and college players; Dale Brown; and his contract with UK.

Recruiting is very important for any college basketball program and each college coach is out to recruit who he feels will be the biggest asset to his program. For University of Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino that means spending several days at a time on the road visiting potential student/athletes.

"I will prepare on Monday for a recruiting trip. I will then on Tuesday afternoon go to the Brooklyn Bronx - in Westchester County — to speak to three players," explains the UK mentor. "The next morning I will fly to California where we will speak to what I think is the best high school player in the land — if not in the top three. Then on to Seattle to see a 6-10 player and then back to Chicago, Detroit and then back to New York. Then in the next 27 days we're on the road to speak to two to three people a day in 25 of those 27 days."

Coach Pitino says that all over the country he and his staff are after the best players in America.

"We had the best, rating wise, three top point guards across America that had Kentucky rated one or two. We gave up on them to take Travis Ford. That tells you what we think of Travis Ford."

"So our schedule, we want to bring it to the people. There is this one young man, I won't say his name, it's irrelevant, but he is a great player and his first name is an Indian tribe. A phenomenal basketball player and he

Tommy Gibson, running back, and Robert Jervis were both injured in the game and had to set out.

"We didn't play Brian Wallen much in the game either," said Jamerson. "He has had the flu and being behind 43-0 at the half, I just told him to take a hot shower and get his street clothes on."

Jamerson said they tried to make the game as enjoyable as they could by having fun on the sidelines. "We began making up plays because the ones we were using was not working," he explained. "We had fun on the sidelines. It was just a game. I know that coaches take games like this serious, but it was just a game. We wanted to win. I wanted to win but we ended it making it as enjoyable as we could. However, it is still a loss."

The Rebels, 1-4, will return to action when they travel to Hazard to face the Bulldogs in a district game this Friday night.

wasn't in there at all. We saw him play at a Nike basketball camp and he reminded me of a quicker version Larry Bird. That should tell you what type of player he is. I was amazed at his talent at 6-11."

"We have been trying to get in with this young man for so long. Arizona, Arizona State, UCLA and Duke, who was the leader from day one, have all recruited him. Now I would say we're 1A, not 1, but 1A with Duke leading. However, we have made up some ground in our recruitment of him."

Pitino reflected up on his recruiting of Carlos Toomer, who some say is not the type of player that can play at UK.

"Carlos Toomer is the strongest, fastest person we have on the team," said Pitino. "He can lift the most weights and is the fastest by far. He is a great athlete and that's what we expected of him. He now has to learn the game of basketball. He knows it. He's very bright. He is the son of a military man who moved to Lexington. Toomer is a disciplined young man and a B+ student. He is thinking about engineering in school."

Pitino explained how that all the incoming freshmen are all outstanding students.

"Many ask me the difference between college guys and pro guys," the UK coach stated. "Very little. The average salary in the NBA today, the average, is $900,000. The minimum is $150,000. People look at me and say how do you coach these guys they're millionaires? How do you do it? I motivate them the same way I motivate college guys. I get Feldhaus, Pelphrey and Farmer together and say we're going to do this and this today and say let's go and they try to run through a wall."

"I used to get the New York Knicks together, Patrick Ewing, Kenny Walker and Bob Johnson and give them my speech, motivate them the same way. Look them in the eye, and I looked Patrick Ewing in the eye and I say to the team when I get ready to tell them what to do and what not to do and say Patrick what do you feel like doing today?"

For a man that is a motivator, what is it that motivates him? "Basketball. The love for the game of basketball," he said.

Coach Pitino said that he doesn't like to set goals for wins and losses in a year and that they don't count anyway. "You only set that when it means something," he explained. "Right now wins and losses have no meaning to us. Improvement is important. We just want to improve. So when the following year comes around, when it counts, that is what we are striving for — improvement."

"Wins and losses, sometimes you're concentrating on winning every game and not getting your freshmen any playing time. So you stifle your improvement when winning counts."

Pitino sees Alabama and Mississippi State as the two teams to beat for the SEC championship. "Alabama is the most talented team in the conference," he said. "Mississippi State and LSU follow. After that it is a toss up, but certainly Alabama and Mississippi State have the most talent in the junior and senior class and that's how you evaluate talent."

Coach Pitino took time to discuss Dale Brown, head basketball coach at LSU, who Pitino had a run in with last season. With the loss of Chris Jackson to the pros and Kelly Robinson, an academic casualty, will Coach Brown have to show his ability to coach this year?

"Well we know that's not true," Pitino said laughing. "No, I was only kidding. Dale Brown's an outstanding coach and motivator. And Dale is the best, many feel, when he has the

Three starters return

U of L Cardinals To Be Viewed On 5 Network Telecast In '90-'91

Five network television appearances, nine teams that competed in post season tournament action last season and 17 home games in Freedom Hall highlight the 1990-91 University of Louisville men's basketball schedule as released by U of L Director of Athletics Bill Olsen.

Nine opponents on the Cardinals schedule participated in post season tournament play last season, including seven in the NCAA Tournament. U of L's opponents posted a collective 346-271 record last season (.561 winning percentage). The list includes 10 teams that won at least 18 games and only five teams with losing records a year ago. National champion Nevada-Las Vegas and final four participant Georgia Tech are among the list of foes.

"Once again, I'm very pleased with the blend of quality regional and national opponents we have maintained on our schedule," said Olsen. "We have been fortunate to continue to attract considerable national television exposure and the home portion of our schedule is attractive."

With three starters returning from last year's 27-8 unit that claimed U of L's 10th Metro Conference championship, the Cardinals will open the 1990-91 slate with an exhibition game against the Czechoslovakia National Team on November 17, the first of 17 home games in Freedom Hall.

Other network telecasts include December 29, Kentucky in Freedom Hall (CBS); Nevada - Las Vegas in Freedom Hall (CBS); February 24 at Georgia Tech (CBS); and March 2, Notre Dame in Freedom Hall (CBS).

ESPN also has at least three U of L basketball telecasts: January 5 at UCLA; January 10 against Memphis State in Freedom Hall; and January 24 against Southern Mississippi in Freedom Hall. The Cardinals are also featured in additional national and regional exposures through the Metro Conference television package with Raycom and other outlets.

WDRB-TV (Channel 41), a FOX-affiliate in Louisville, will televise over 20 U of L games through local origination and network participation. All U of L games will be broadcast on 50,000 watt clear channel WHAS Radio (840 AM) in Louisville and other affiliates throughout the region.

U of L opens the Metro Conference portion of its schedule January 3 at Cincinnati, the start of a stretch of six games in 12 days. The post season Metro Conference Tournament will be staged at Roanoke, Va. on March 7-9.

Sports Profile

Broadcasting rights anger radio personnel

It was presented to the Floyd County Board of Education at their recent meeting that area radio stations be asked to submit bids for exclusive rights to cover high school sports in Floyd County. The resolution was turned down for a lack of a second on the motion to act according to the recommendation. The idea behind such a proposal was to be able to raise revenue to help fund some sporting events in the county that do not pay their own way. According to county Athletic Director, Frankie Francis, the only sport that pays its way is basketball, while other sporting events such as baseball and football do not gather in enough revenue.

The proposal, opposed by some board members, did not get the needed approval. However, that such a thing would even have been considered by the board, has upset some of the local radio personalities in the county.

"Personally, I don't like it," said Jim Allen of radio station WQHY, whose station carries around 26 basketball games a year plus the Prestonsburg Blackcat football games. "I think we have a right to broadcast the games. If they did that it would take away revenue from the stations that give coverage to local sports."

Allen contends that the fans have the right to listen to what station they choose and such action by the school board would rob them of that choice.

Jeff Meek, manager of WXXZ, wonders what the school board thinks the stations could pay for such exclusive rights.

"Covering sports in Floyd County is a break-even proposition," he said. "We do not make a great deal of money on sports. Every road game we cover costs us at least $250 for a phone hook up. We have to pay if we use the line or not. If there are home games you can make a little more."

"I know with the three stations

we have in the county that sometimes we bump heads being at the same game, but I would say that 75 percent of the time we cover different contests in basketball. We, along with WQHY cover the Prestonsburg football games at the same time, that's because that's where the advertisers put their money. I don't like it like that."

The recent proposal, though it failed, has Dale McKinney championing at the microphone. "They tried this last year," he said. "To understand how I feel we have to go back to the snow days of last winter. We would get hundreds of calls every day if there was any school or not. Now, it got so bad that we had to put one person on the line to take the calls. It was time consuming for us. By right, if we wanted to, we could charge the school board for every announcement we make concerning school. But we don't because we want to get along with everybody."

"I think the reason the attendance is down at ball games is that we don't have the quality teams we used to have. The quality of sports is down in the county and has been down for a long time."

"When we were kids the only place we had to go to was a ball game," he continued. "Now, kids have more options today. They've got television, VCRs, movies, Marlowe's and Center Stage. Quality of competition is down in our schools and the attendance is down. Instead of raising prices of tickets they should be lowering them."

"The principals in our schools are looking to blame the radio stations for the drop in attendance," McKinney said. "They want to use us as an excuse for the poor showing."

"If the stations if Floyd County quit covering the local sports the parents would get awful angry," said the owner of WMDJ radio. "They shouldn't worry about athletics paying for itself, they should be giving some of the $50,000 salaries they draw back. I'm sick and tired of the principals blaming other people for the schools' problems."

"You go around to the schools and cover sports and you are lucky to get a table to use," McKinney explained. "Only one school in Floyd County has a table ready for us and provides what we need and that's McDowell. The rest you have to hunt for a table when you get there."

"We covered a game in Lexington one time and they had a table and chair set up for us, brought us soft drinks and assigned a student to our table if we needed anything."

McKinney says that it costs his station around $500-$600 dollars a month in phone bills to carry basketball on his station.

"We don't make any money on sports," he said. "It's really like a public service for the fans. It's a PR tool."

"To take bids for rights to do the games is not practical," McKinney, whose station does around 20 games a season plus the tournaments, said.

Joe Back, part time announcer for WPRT-Cable Radio, says that he is disappointed that the board would consider a move such as this.

"The last two months I have supported the board of education a great deal under the stress they were going through. I have supported them certainly as friends. But an issue like this came before the board with no one from the radio field there to represent the stations and having the chance to be notified and be present to explain the broadcasters side."

"I believe that Floyd County athletics are separate from UK sports," Back continued to explain. "People today seem to have the wrong conception of the cost to cover a game. The cost includes the announcers, equipment and phone lines needed. Sports is not the bread and butter of a radio station, but it is just a service to the community."

Straight Pay For Rookies

One of the ideas you often hear being kicked around in football circles is "straight" pay for National Football League rookies. Many people see straight pay — a basic salary for players entering the league — as a way to bring the deals rookies are striking under control.

There is no question that the pay structure in the NFL is getting out of hand. Look at Jeff George who recently signed a $15 million deal with the Indianapolis Colts — $15 million for a player who had yet to take a snap in the NFL. He wasn't even what I'd call a great quarterback at the University of Illinois.

So who is to blame for the wild salaries? I think you start by blaming the owners, because they're the ones who give these outlandish contracts. The players and their agents are trying to strike the best deal possible. They are responding to market demands. I don't think there is any way Jeff George is worth $15 million. But he was able to swing the deal, so somebody must think he's worth that much.

Almost everyone agrees, though, that something has to be done to control the salaries. The major issue is whether or not to put a ceiling on rookie salaries. As much as I'd like to see the craziness brought under control, I can't see how it could be done. Where would you begin? If you started today, you would have to develop a system that brought into account the average salary for rookies in the last draft. Separate salary averages would have to be established at every position, because no matter what anyone who supports straight rookie pay says, quarterbacks will end up getting more than running backs, running backs more than receivers and on down the line.

Could there be one salary that every rookie makes? Again, first-round draft picks would have to be given more than second-rounders, second-rounders more than thirdrounders and so on. What would be the pay difference among the players and their agents?

One of the sad results of the million-dollar deals struck is seeing these untested rookies making so much more than experienced veterans. A prime example is Brian Bosworth. "The Boz" rode into the league on a wave of hype and took the Seattle Seahawk's for millions. It turned out to be all hype — he hardly played in his three years there and retired this year. That really hurts a guy like Chicago Bear All-Pro Mike Singletary, who has proven himself year in and year out and never had an outrageous contract.

Even with a complicated sliding scale to calculate pay, I don't think it could be made to work. It may not seem fair, but it seems nothing can be done about it.

Hackworth, Prater, Watkins Place In Squirrel Hunt

The Middlecreek Sportsman Club squirrel hunt was very successful over the past weekend as three local residents came away with the trophies.

Mike Hackworth of Middlecreek took first place in the hunt. Eugene Prater, also of Middlecreek placed second while Lonnie Watkins of State Road Fork took third place. Each finisher was awarded a trophy for their hunt.

The Middlecreek Sportsman Club meets the first Sunday of each month and new members are welcome to take part. The meetings are held at the Middlecreek Fire Department. The club is very active in sporting events in the area.

WKU men's basketball schedule set for '90-'91

The 1990-91 Western Kentucky University men's basketball schedule has been announced and new head coach Ralph Willard (former UK assistant) and his first Hilltopper squad will take on a challenging slate built around strong regional match up's as well as the always tough Sun Belt Conference battles.

The '90-91 Topper schedule features traditional meetings with Louisville (home, December 17), Murray State (away, Dec. 1) and Eastern Kentucky (home, Jan 30). In addition, the Hilltoppers square off against the University of Kentucky (at Louisville, Dec. 21) in the first ever regular season meeting between the two schools.

A total of 21 different teams are on that schedule, which will see the Toppers play 13 home games, plus two exhibition contests. Western fans get their first look at Willard's Hilltoppers in exhibition play with the Fort Hood Tankers at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, November 14. Then the following week, Tuesday, November 20, WKU faces a touring team from "down under," the Adelaide 36'ers from Australia, in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

The '90-91 campaign officially gets underway Saturday, November 24 when the Hilltoppers begin a season opening three game road trip at Southern Illinois. Then, it's on to Georgia, Wednesday, November 28 and Murray State before the Toppers open the home portion of their schedule hosting Mid-American Conference strong boy Bowling Green State, Wednesday, December 5, at 8 p.m.

Western will also take part in the Acme Boot Showdown in Clarksville, Tennessee, early in the season, December 7-8. The Hilltoppers open that tournament against Army while host Austin Peay takes on Indiana State in the other first round draft.

Once again, a number of Topper games will be telecast live in parts of the Southeast and Atlantic Coast regions by Creative Sports Marketing. In addition, most of the WKU home schedule will be televised on a delayed basis by WKYU-TV in Bowling Green as well as various cable outlets around Kentucky and Tennessee. As usual, the entire Western slate will be broadcast live on the Hilltopper Radio Network and its affiliated stations.

The 1990-91 schedule features seven teams that saw post-season action last spring — five that went to the NCAA tournament and two that earned berths in the NIT.

Six schools on the schedule won 20 or more games last winter — Louisville, Southern Illinois, UAB, Murray State, Georgia and South Florida. In addition, Tennessee Tech and Bowling Green State narrowly missed that 20-win plateau. All in all, 10 or the 21 teams on the Topper schedule posted winning records last year.

Twelve of those teams faced the Hilltoppers in the '89-90 campaign. Western won nine games against that competition while coming out on the short end 12 times. And, 20 of those teams have challenged Western teams previously on the hardwood. WKU holds an advantage in 14 of those series. Overall, Topper cage teams have posted a 446-232 record in action with that 21-team list, an impressive 65.8 percent success ratio!

The 1990-91 season will be the 72nd in the history of basketball at Western Kentucky. Through the years, WKU has consistently ranked as one of the most successful schools in the nation's college basketball circles, winning 1,227 games while losing just 576 for an impressive 68.1 percent.

Pikeville Rolls to 3rd Straight Victory; defeats SV 27-12

The Pikeville Panthers rolled to their third consecutive victory, after an opening night loss to Beechwood, by getting past a good Shelby Valley team 27-12 Friday night at Pikeville.

Before the game eight inductees into the Pikeville Hall of Fame were introduced to the standing room only crowd of 4,000. Those inducted were: Bob Shurtliff, Ralph Gilliam, Jimmy Newsome, Dr. D.K. Mulliken, H.L. Justice, Everett Justice and Teresa Ray.

The Shelby Valley Wildcats, who will be a Class 2A school next season, went out in front early over Pikeville with a 6-0 lead as David Osborne ran 76-yards for a touchdown with 8:47 to go in the first quarter.

However, the Panthers didn't take long to erase the deficit when the Wildcats fumbled and Shannon Cochran picked up the loose ball and rambled 24-yards for a touchdown. Jason Howell added the extra point to give Pikeville a 7-6 lead.

The Panthers scored again off their defense when Kevin Lockhart blocked a Shelby Valley punt and fell on the loose ball in the end zone for a 13-6

Pikeville lead they never relinquished. Howell's extra point made it 14-6.

In the third period with Christian Caudill at the quarterback position, the Panthers took over on their own 32-yard line. Darrell Ratliff picked up 3-yards on a carry. Caudill's pass to Cochran moved the ball to the Shelby Valley 40. Caudill hit Murray Garvin with a pass to the Wildcats' 34. Two plays later, Caudill hit Cochran with another pass down to the Wildcats' 1-yard line. J.J. Bailey plunged over to score with 59 seconds left in the third quarter for a 20-6 Pikeville lead.

It was 26-6 late in the final quarter, when two unsportsmanlike conduct penalties moved the football down to the Shelby Valley 20-yard line. Madison Helvey rushed to the 12 and Chris Woods run put the ball on the 9-yard line where Shane Al-lara bullied his way for a touchdown with 6:34 remaining.

Shelby Valley added their final score on a 5-yard run by Joe Hughes.

FISHIN' TIPS FROM THE TRACKER PROS

When bass are prowling shallow water, they often encounter a common nemesis, the water snake. Lure manufacturers have found that life-like replicas of water snakes have become popular baits for a hungry largemouth.

Here's a rigging tip: Install a 2/0 trailer hook, similar to one used on a spinner bait, behind a 3/0 Twister "Keeper Hook". Be sure and place a small piece of surgical tubing over the barb of the front hook to keep it on. Now, rig an 8-inch plastic snake with the dual-hook set-up. Keeping both points buried in the body of the snake for a weedless effect.

If a small amount of weight is needed, pinch a split shot sinker onto the shaft of the front hook. The "trailer hook" will catch many shallow bass, otherwise missed because of short strikes. Fishin' Tips are presented by America's #1 Fishing Boat.

We do Saturdays For You!

If you're like most people, there just doesn't seem like there are enough days in the week to get things done.

There's church on Sunday, school on Monday, those dirty clothes need washing on Tuesday, the PTA meeting is Wednesday, the boss is coming to dinner on Thursday, and Friday is for grocery shopping.

All that after your nine to five work schedule.

One of these days, you need to get your banking needs done. There's that new house you've had your eye on, or that new car. Maybe you want to open a checking or savings account.

Where do you find the time?
FAMILY FEDERAL SAVINGS BANK, THAT'S WHERE!

You don't have to wait until Monday to buy a house or take care of your other banking needs.

FAMILY FEDERAL IS OPEN SATURDAY with full service banking. If you can't find the time for banking because your bank is closed on Saturday, come join the family...

NATIONAL HUNTING AND FISHING DAY

Saturday, September 22, is National Hunting and Fishing Day. It's a day set aside to recognize the more than 60 million American sportsmen who support preserving and protecting our natural resources.

"National Hunting and Fishing Day provides an opportunity to focus on the many success stories of hunting and fishing in Kentucky," says Don McCormick, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "It's a way of saying thank you for footing the bill to the sportsmen of the Commonwealth."

It is by design, not accident that Kentucky enjoys an abundance of game and fish. Without care from wildlife agencies, sportsmen and conservation organizations, many kinds of wildlife would be in trouble.

A quick look around will tell you that the places wildlife need to survive are rapidly vanishing. More and more habitat disappears each day from commercial and industrial expansion. It is largely sportsmen who help protect what's left — for all to enjoy. And, it's the dollars they spend on licenses and sporting equipment, not state tax money, that makes wildlife conservation possible.

The white-tailed deer is probably the best example of a wildlife success story. At the turn of the century there were less than 500,000 whitetails remaining in the United States, a relative "handful" in Kentucky. Today, thanks to sound management programs and the revenues generated by sportsmen, the Commonwealth is home to well over 300,000 white-tailed deer — while more than 12 million roam America's forests and fields.

In addition to their direct support of conservation programs, hunters and anglers bolster the overall economy through the money they spend in pursuit of their favorite outdoor activities.

Safety Council offers tips on night-time driving

With the summer winding down and the days growing shorter, motorists will soon find themselves traveling to and from work in fading daylight or darkness. The National Safety Council offers these safety tips to help motorists adapt to night-time driving.

Car owners should keep their headlights and windshields clean inside and out.

Allow time for your eyes to adjust after leaving a brightly lighted building.

Be sure to turn your headlights on as soon as daylight begins to fade.

Adjust your rearview mirror to reduce the glare from vehicle lights behind you.

"In Kentucky, hunting and fishing related expenditures contribute over $1.5 billion annually to the state's economy," according to Commissioner McCormick. Deer hunters alone account for $35 million a year.

The Sport Fish Restoration Act and the supplemental "Wallop-Breaux" excise tax (included in the price of fishing equipment, trolling motors, fish finders, motorboat fuels, etc.) have produced nearly $500 million which is divided among qualifying states. The money is used for projects such as lake reclamation and acquisition, and boat landing and pier construction. These monies also fund countless research and inventory projects necessary to improve fishing.

This year, Kentucky will receive more than $2 million in Wallop-

Breaux federal funds. Over half that amount will be spent to upgrade department owned fish hatcheries, expanding the capabilities of those facilities to produce black bass, walleye and catfish for release. These monies are also used to fund the management of state lakes and to provide landowner assistance for privately owned waters. More than a quarter of a million dollars will be spent on scientific research.

Wallop-Breaux funds are also responsible for numerous public boat ramps and launching sites built and maintained by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

It's these dollars that hunters and anglers spend by choice — which are at work today insuring that all types of wildlife related recreation will remain an integral part of the Kentucky way of life.

The Stretch Run

The weeks between Labor Day and the end of the season are a critical time for all baseball teams still in the running for a pennant. It's no accident that baseball writers borrowed a term from horse racing, calling this part of the season "the stretch run." The finish line is in sight and that is when the real thoroughbreds charge to the front.

The strong clubs start to surface in the thick of the pennant race. Weaknesses that weren't apparent on some other teams earlier in the season begin to show themselves in the September sunlight.

Often you see the veteran clubs begin to make a move. They've been there before, and the players know what they have to do to make up lost ground. On the other hand, younger clubs sometimes begin to fizzle out — teams that may have looked unbeatable in June and had the sports-writers talking of a new dynasty. The young clubs sometimes start anticipating the World Series long before they've earned the right. Those dreams can give way to reality when the pennant races get hot.

There is no single factor that makes a team a winner in September. As with anytime, it is a combination of pitching, hitting and defense. The really good ball clubs, always, do the little things. They always move the base runner from second base to third, where he's in position to score on a sacrifice fly. On defense, they almost never make an error in the ninth inning. A real champion baseball team must be balanced. They may be better in one aspect of the game, but they are not bad in any one area. For example, a team may be considered a good hitting club. But to be a champion, their pitching has to be strong enough to hold onto the lead in the late innings.

The Dodgers were known as a pitching team when they had Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale. But when you look back at their championship teams, remember that in addition to the superb pitching, they had Tommy Davis and Maury Wills swinging good bats.

The Yankees were the same way when they were winning all those championships back in the '50s and '60s. Besides Mickey Mantle and the other great hitters, they had Cleve Boyer, one of the best fielding third basemen in history, and Tony Kubek, who never made mistakes. Elston Howard and Yogi Berra were solid hitters as well as good catchers, and Roger Maris was one of the most underrated players in the league. In other words, they had balance, and that made them hard to beat.

I always remember what the old Yankee manager Casey Stengel used to say about winning. He said the key was in beating the bad teams. Back then the teams played each other 22 times. Stengel said a winner just had to beat the bad clubs 16 or 17 out of those 22 games and then hold their own with the contenders. That still sounds like a good plan for a pennant in October.

Mother Nature's elements are something that every angler must contend with. And while we have no control over the conditions or how and when they occur, modern technology has provided products to help determine their direct effect on us. Sun, wind, rain and cold are just a few of the elements every angler will encounter.

Every tackle box should contain sun screen and lip balm to protect those tender areas from over exposure. Sunglasses are a must. Polaroids will certainly cut the glare from the surface and allow visual penetration into the water.

Some of today's rain gear is very lightweight and compact. Keep a set handy. A rain suit can also act as a good wind breaker should a sudden change in temperature catch you off guard. Fishin' Tips are presented by America's #1 Fishing Boat.

Unusual Touchdown!

Worthie McGuire (8) pulls down this unusual touchdown against Paintsville Friday night in his team's 28-21 win over the Tigers. The defender knocked the ball loose with both players going to the ground on their knees. The ball hit the defender's head and McGuire grabbed it for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Gear Up for Hunting Trips

Though seemingly worlds apart, your weekend deer hunt and a cross continent wilderness elk hunt have one thing in common — important gear left behind will be sorely missed.

The first and most obvious step toward avoiding the "Oh God, I left it at home" syndrome is good planning. Take a good look at where you are going, when you are going there and what you will be hunting, and then carefully consider what gear you might need. Next (and especially if you will be traveling by air), be ruthless in paring down your gear list to what you really will need.

For faraway adventuring, start early and get maps, general information and specific data on weather and terrain conditions in the area where you plan to hunt. If you have booked the hunt with a qualified outfitter, he will suggest appropriate personal gear. If you are going on your own, do meticulous research. It's a good idea to prepare for slightly worse than "normal" weather and conditions.

Good, sturdy luggage is of paramount importance. The best equipment in the world that doesn't get there isn't very useful. Airline travel not only severely limits the amount of stuff you can take, it is also a stern test of luggage quality. I use genuine G.I. surplus luggage for clothing. It's tough, compact and lightweight, saving precious ounces for useful gear.

For scoped firearms, binoculars and other fragile equipment, I use heavy duty, solid aluminum cases with strong latches, padlocks and "pop open" protection. The various plastic gun cases do meet airline requirements for a "hard" case, but they are not as sturdy nor secure as an all metal case.

Making out a gear list is a great idea, but doing two is much better.

The initial list is made out as you plan, the other list is done as you pack each bag. Carry this "bill of lading" with you. It will not only help you locate your gear quickly and efficiently once you get to camp, it also will serve as a checklist as you pack to return home.

Besides your major gear such as guns, ammo, etc., there is a host of easily overlooked "minor" items that aren't so minor out in the bush. Good planning on the front end will help you remember these small but important items.

Extra batteries for flashlights and cameras are highly recommended, particularly in cold climates. Plastic garbage bags (with twist ties), self sealing food bags, twine, nylon rope and a roll of duct tape are all incredibly useful on hunting trips.

A simple first aid kit containing aspirin/ibuprofen, antacid and mild antihistamines, antiseptic ointment, gauze, Band-Aids and moleskin for blisters is basic. For extended trips, ask your doctor for prescription drugs based on your personal health history. If you use eyeglasses, carry an extra pair.

On a close-to-home hunt, poor preparation and forgotten gear may be no more than an inconvenience or a minor hassle, but on an expensive major adventure back in the boon-docks, it can be a real hardship. However, in either case, lack of proper preparation will diminish the quality of your hunting trips.

Bassin' with the pros

GOOD PHYSICAL CONDITION IMPORTANT TO TOURNAMENT PROS

If you think bass fishing is a quiet, contemplative, and relaxing way to spend a Saturday afternoon, you probably haven't fished any professional tournaments lately.

"Professional tournament bass fishing today is physically and mentally demanding as anything I've done," says former world champion Charlie Reed, who with his wife Voljai travels as much as 45,000 miles annually to fishing tournaments.

"The sport has grown to the point now the competition is so keen you have to stay sharp or you'll get left far behind," continues the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member. "There are a number of anglers who are actually fulltime bass tournament pros, and the skills they've developed are remarkable."

"Tournament fishing has little resemblance to pleasure fishing today, even though that's how it started."

Reed, now in his early 50's, is one of the older pros who competes regularly, and to do so he follows a strict sleep and exercise schedule that helps both mentally and physically.

"I think proper rest is crucial," explains the Johnson pro. "If you don't get enough sleep, you can't fish efficiently, nor can you make clear decisions. You can go without food for a long time, but you can't go without sleep, regardless of what type of business you're in."

"I try to get at least eight hours of rest each night. That means sacrificing social time with other anglers in the evenings, but I just can't fish if I don't get enough sleep."

"When we fish a national tournament, we have three full practice days, followed by three full competition days. You can live on adrenalin and excitement for one or two or those days, but then you have to get some rest. I see a lot of inexperienced tournament anglers begin to lose concentration after a couple of days, simply because they're losing too much sleep."

Reed also exercises regularly, generally performing stretching exercises each morning and walking whenever possible. Occasionally he exercises with light weights, but he does not do long distance jogging.

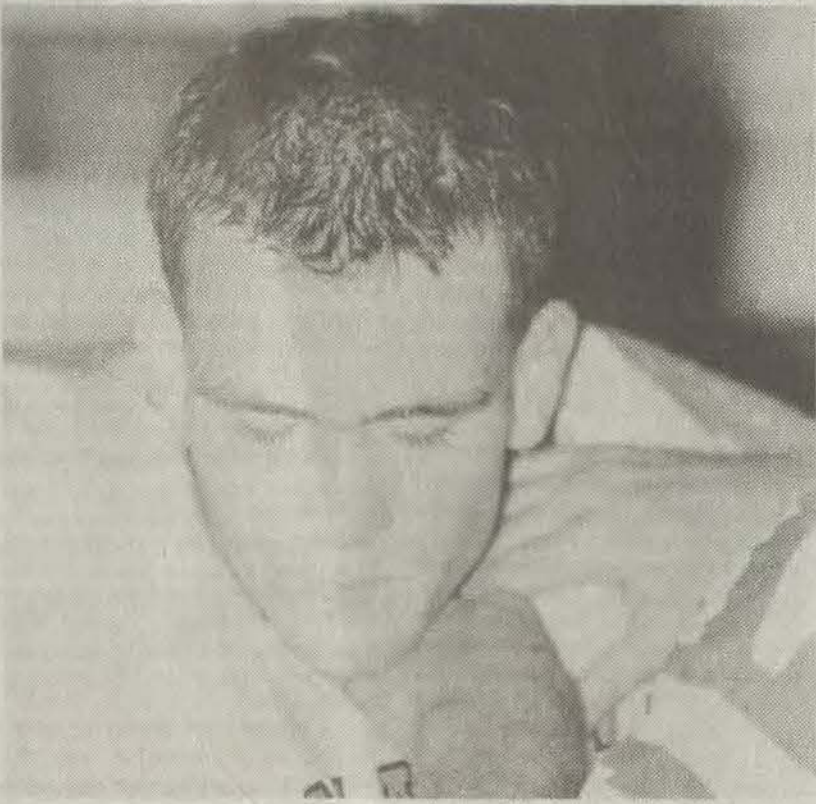

"Fishing the way we do provides quite a bit of exercise," explains Reed, "especially since we stand all day. I believe the best preparation for that type of activity is a regular schedule of calisthenics."

Reed also pays careful attention to his diet, and suggests others wanting to fish the long professional tournaments do the same.

"I enjoy a good breakfast," says Reed, "but I don't eat anything while I'm actually fishing. I drink a lot of water to keep from becoming dehydrated, and I eat a lot of salads at night, rather than a heavy meal."

"The hardest things, physically, about a tournament are the long hours out in the weather. You lose sleep, and then you stay out in the hot sun, the rain or the cold for eight or 10 hours, and you do this day after day."

"It takes a toll on you and you have to prepare yourself if you plan to keep doing it."

"Ouch, coach"

Kim's Korner

By Kim Frasure

Well it's nice to know you're not alone in this world. But, on the other hand it's sad to have heard from so many of you over last week's column. Boy, I knew at least two of us here, were experiencing the "First-time Buyer's Blues," but from the calls and comments that I've received, there is an abundance of people out there going through this agony.

Sure makes being an adult and out from under mom and dad's roof a whole heck of a lot harder than I ever dreamed.

At any rate, I do thank you for your calls and comments, I just wish there were less of us in the same boat floating in what seems to be a sinking ship.

A few months back, I wrote about what I thought was going to be the meeting of a long lost relative. My readers may remember that "relative" turned out to be a plump, white friendly pig. Remember Marvin?

It seems as though our dear friend Marvin, after being chased by Sally the Sow on an extremely hot August day, either passed away from heat exhaustion, heart failure or the ol' gal literally scared the poor thing to death.

Anyway, Marvin will truly be missed. After all, he was one of my favorite "relatives."

To continue this saga of "life on the funny farm," let me fill you in on a little school assignment my youngest daughter was given last week.

Her teacher, Mrs. Duncan, told the class they were to bring in a feather on the next day of school. After running the evening taxi from majorette lessons to Mamaw's house, Tiffany informs me we have to go to Uncle Bill's to get a chicken feather.

Oh really.

This child is actually expecting me to drive to Wilson Creek at 7 o'clock at night to get a feather. I think not.

My oldest daughter gets into the conversation by adding, "There's no need Tiff, just pluck one of Pete's feathers."

"NO WAY!" I screamed. "Leave the bird alone." I do believe living with this family is punishment enough, Pete shouldn't have to be subjected to de-feathering by a seven-year-old.

After stating my will, I headed for the laundry room to drop a load of towels into the wash, and when I came back out I saw Tiff standing in front of Pete's cage with the door up and her hand inside, preparing to pluck.

"Don't you dare," I warned in my most intimidating voice possible. She jumped back and began to cry, sobbing that it was gonna be my fault when she failed the assignment because she had no feather to bring to class.

I tried to sooth her by assuring her we could find one the next day, and I finally got the girls settled down.

It was after 9 p.m. when I managed to get the girls in bed. The spouse was working late, so I made myself a napping area on the living room floor. My back ached so bad that I couldn't fall asleep. When I had finally drifted off, and had been in that blissful state for about five minutes, I was awakened by my eldest daughter's "rat thing" crawling over my feet.

Talk about your heebie jeebies. I had a case of them.

I bolted for the couch and shrieked, forgetting all about my back hurting. Of course, I woke the girls. I'm sure my daughter Ashleigh thought it was hysterical to see her 30-something mother standing in the middle of the couch, screaming "GET THE RAT THING!!!"

As she calmly stooped to scoop up the hideous creature, she said "Mom it's just my hamster, get a grip."

Where did these kids come from, and who's are they anyway? I get no respect.

Oh well, that's life on the funny farm, at least it is fun anyway. 'Till next week...

Touch is important to baby's security

by Barbara H. Morris Public Relations
Alliant Health Services

After a baby is born, it must depend in its parents to make life comfortable and interesting. Touching is very important for a baby. A new baby is very sensitive to touch.

Many babies like to fall asleep being cuddled or rocked. Many fussy babies will become quiet if they are held.

Newborn babies like very secure, snuggled-up feelings. This is the reason you see babies wrapped so snugly in their blankets in the nursery. Wrapping a baby firmly and gently in a blanket is called swaddling. A very young baby, under three months, may calm down if you swaddle it when it is upset and fussy.

As babies grow and get older, they don't seem to like swaddling as much. Stroking your baby's back or body gently and firmly while talking softly helps to keep the baby calm and contented. Even older babies need this kind of touching.

What about crying? Crying is a way the baby can get what it wants.

When a baby cries it is sometimes hard to figure out why. Hunger is the most common cause for crying.

Other reasons are because the baby is uncomfortable—it may be too warm or too cold, wet, or dressed too tightly. Or it may just be having gas pains. Try burping, or holding the baby against your body and stroking the back of the baby. Walking as you hold and pat the baby may help.

Sometimes your baby may cry because he or she needs rest or sleep.

A tired baby may fuss and cry just from exhaustion, keeping itself awake with the crying. In that case, helping the baby to sleep by talking, stroking, patting or rocking is the answer.

Babies like bright colors, patterns, different shapes, faces and things that move. Many people put rattles or stuffed animals in the baby's crib. Hanging objects like mobiles are fun for the baby because they move. Some parents tape postcard pictures up around the crib, or paste pictures from magazines onto cardboard.

Only use these before the baby is four months old because after that the baby will be grabbing things and putting them in its mouth.

One of the best things for the baby to see is people. You can put the baby, even when a few days old, on a blanket on the floor or in an infant seat. Carrying the baby or using a sling or baby carrier made for the baby will let the child be with people and see what is going on.

Babies have several periods of time each day when they are quiet and looking. This is a good time to show things to your baby. Look into the baby's eyes and talk. Do funny things like making a big smile, opening and closing your mouth. Blink your eyes and wiggle your nose and stick out your tongue. Watch your baby try to imitate your faces as it gets older.

Another game you can play is looking in a mirror. Have the baby close to the mirror. Help the baby look in the mirror. Point to the baby in the mirror. Say things like "where's the baby?" and "there she is!" You can put a mirror up over the place where you change the baby or give it a bath, too. This game is good as the baby gets to be a month or two old.

KOSAIR CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Kosair Children's Hospital is a 235-bed pediatric tertiary care, teaching hospital affiliated with the University of Louisville School of Medicine and part of the Alliant Health System. The region's only level I trauma center especially for children, Kosair Children's is also the home of the Kentucky Regional Poison Center and has the area's only pediatric burn unit. The 67-bed neonatal nursery, special ECMO (Extracorporeal membrane Oxygenation) team, cardiovascular surgery (including infant heart transplants), kidney transplants program, and intensive care unit dramatically set apart Kentucky's only full-service pediatric hospital. The hospital's leukemia cure rate is unsurpassed in America.

Apple Baby Contest 1990

The Apple Baby Contest of the Kentucky Apple Festival will be held Friday, Oct. 5. Any girl or boy between the ages of one year and 23 months and a resident of Kentucky is eligible. You may enter your child in the contest by registering at Wells Insurance Agency on Main Street in Paintsville for the girls and H.B. Rice Insurance Agency on Main Street in Paintsville for boys.

Copies of the rules may also be obtained from the Bridal Boutique on US 23 at the Starfire Motel Complex. The last day of entry for the contest is Friday, Sept. 28. There will be no babies accepted after this date. For more information on the contest, contact Sherri Coleman at 789-3282 or Debbie Craft at 789-6527.

County Kettle

County Kettle

Is a feature offered by the Floyd County Times. Send all recipes, kitchen tips and suggestions to "County Kettle," The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

The fall apple harvest is underway, bringing us the bounty of orchards in virtually every state. With the Apple Festival coming up, County Kettle is featuring apple recipes for a second week in a row.

Apples are:

High in Fiber

An average-sized apple has as much fiber as a bowl of most popular cereals. Pectin fiber in an apple absorbs more water and stays in your stomach longer than bran fiber, so apples make you feel full longer.

Cholesterol-Free

Apples have no cholesterol, and in fact, seem to fight cholesterol because the pectin in apples traps bile, a digestive chemical that aids in digestion of fats.

Low in Sodium

If you're on a low-sodium diet, it's hard to find a snack lower in salt. An apple has less sodium than a stalk of celery or a carrot, less than glass of tap water.

Low in Calories

The average-sized apple has only about 80 calories—the perfect snack food.

Rich in Vitamins and Minerals

Apples contain a bevy of vitamins and minerals like iron, niacin, calcium, potassium, phosphorus, and boron, which is gaining recognition as factor in the prevention of osteoporosis.

And apples are nature's toothbrush. "We find after eating an apple our teeth feel much cleaner," says Margaret Pheasant. So eat an apple everyday and say "cheers" to your good health.

APPLE TIPS

— Add cut up apples to oatmeal for a fruity breakfast.

— Add raisins to apple crisp for variation.

— Use 2 to 3 medium-sized apples to make about 1 pound.

— Dip sliced apples in peanut butter for your children's snack.

— Use home-made applesauce for pancake topping.

— To keep their flesh snowy white slice apples under water with a squeeze of lemon juice.

— Dip apples into warm melted caramel for an extra special treat.

FRESH APPLE NUT CAKE

2 eggs
1 3/4 cups sugar
1 cup vegetable oil
2 1/2 cups sifted self-rising flour
1 cup chopped walnuts
3 cups chopped peeled apples
1 tsp cinnamon
1 tsp vanilla

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Grease 13x9x2 inch baking pan; set aside. Combine eggs, sugar and oil in bowl; blend well. Gradually add flour, blend well. Stir in walnuts, apples, cinnamon and vanilla; blend well. Pour into prepared pan. Bake one hour and 10 minutes or until tooth-pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan. Frost with Cream Cheese Icing. Makes 12 to 15 servings.

CREAM CHEESE ICING

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, at room temperature.

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened

4 1/2 cups (16 ounces) confectioners' sugar, sifted

2 tps vanilla

Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl. Beat with electric mixer until smooth and creamy.

POMMES DE NUT

1 stick unsalted butter
6 fine sweet cooking apples peeled, cored and quartered
A generous 3 fluid ounces dark rum
3 Tbsps sugar
1 cup heavy cream, cold, unsweetened and whipped

Melt the butter in a large heavy skillet, preferably cast iron, over medium-low heat. Gently lay in the apples, cut sides down. Cover and cook the apples, turning them as necessary with a wooden spatula or spoon, until they are very tender and richly browned all over, 30-40 minutes. When they test nearly tender with a fine skewer, carefully warm the rum in a small pot over low heat (or in the microwave).

When the apples are tender, sprinkle them with sugar, shaking the skillet gently to distribute the sugar and being careful not to break up the quarters. Turn off the heat, pour over the rum and set it aflame—watch out for what's overhead! Serve at once (in glass bowls, if you have them) passing the whipped cream on the side. Serve with delicate crisp cookies.

APPLE BUTTER POUND CAKE

1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1/2 cup (1 stick) margarine, softened
1 package (8 ozs.) cream cheese, softened
2 eggs
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 cup enriched corn meal
2 tps baking powder
1 tsp cinnamon
1/4 tsp salt (optional)
1 cup spiced apple butter
1 Tbsp bourbon whiskey (Optional)
1 tsp vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans

1 cup powdered sugar
4-5 tps milk
1 1/2 tps corn syrup
1/4 tsp vanilla or bourbon whiskey

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 10-inch tube pan or 12-cup Bundt pan. In large mixer bowl, beat granulated sugar, margarine and cream cheese until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add combined flour, corn meal, baking powder, cinnamon and salt alternately with combined apple butter, whiskey and vanilla, mixing at low speed of electric mixer until well blended. Stir in pecans. Spoon batter into prepared pans; spread evenly to edges. Bake 60-70 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes in pan; remove to wire rack. Cool completely.

Combine powdered sugar, milk, corn syrup and vanilla; drizzle over cooled cake. Store tightly covered. Yields 16 servings.

FRESH APPLE CAKE

1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 carton (8 oz.) lowfat plain yogurt
1 egg
2 tps vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
2 tps baking soda
1 tsp ground cinnamon
1/2 tsp salt
1/4 ground nutmeg
3 cups (about 1 lb.) cored and chopped Golden Delicious apples
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream butter; gradually add sugar. Add yogurt and egg; beat until fluffy. combine flour, baking soda, spices and salt; mix well. Stir dry ingredients into creamed mixture. Add apples and nuts mix until blended. Pour into greased and floured 13x9x2 inch cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes until wooden pick inserted near center comes out clean. Makes 24 servings.

SQUASH AND APPLE PUREE
3 lbs. winter squash (such as acorn, butternut or Hubbard)
3 large baking apples (Rome Beauty, York Imperial or Granny Smith)
1 tsp dried parsley
1/4 tsp pepper
1/2 cup toasted wheat germ

Cut the squash in half and scoop out the seed and stringy portions. Place the squash, cut sides down, on a baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees until soft (about 45-60 minutes).

About 30 minutes before the squash is to be done, poke a few holes in the apples (to let steam escape) and add them to the baking pans in the oven. When the squash is tender, but not mushy, remove from the oven and let them cool.

When cool, scoop out the squash (or remove the peel). Remove the peels, seeds and cores of the apples. Place the squash and apples in a blender or food processor. Add the parsley and pepper and puree until smooth.

Spread the puree in a lightly oiled baking dish. Sprinkle the wheat germ evenly over the top. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes or until bubbling gently.

This will produce 6 servings of 1 cup each, with each containing 133 calories and only 1 gram of fat.

MENDED HEARTS

The monthly meeting of the Big Sandy Area Chapter #220 of Mended Hearts, Inc., was held on Tuesday, Sept. 11 in the cafeteria at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Guest speaker was Taunya Shelton-Skeens, native Floyd Countian who is employed by Highlands Regional Medical Center to provide support for Eastern Kentuckians and their families when they need health care at the University of Kentucky and other Lexington facilities. This service is aptly named "The Care Connection" and Shelton-Skeens office is located in the right place, assists the family in finding meals, transportation and lodging, helps make arrangements when they go home, and notifies the family doctor so that follow-up care can be continued.

One of her special skills is her interpersonal communication with the patient she visits during the hospital stay. She shared some of her experiences with the group and gave invaluable hints on the "do's and don'ts" the accredited Mended Hearts visitors should observe when making a hospital visit. The visitor should observe the patient's emotions and body language, i.e., denial, anger, bargaining, despair or acceptance. She stressed that the visitor's understanding of these factors greatly affect whether or not the visitor will be welcomed by the patient.

President, Maxine Bierman, announced that Mended Hearts will sponsor a booth at Apple Day and Jenny Wiley Festival. Baked goods and volunteer workers are needed. Ken and Teresa Boyd are coordinating these projects. Anyone able to help are asked to contact them at 886-8622 or 789-8625.

Sharon Handshoe was presented with a gift of appreciation by Bierman, who cited Sharon's unflagging energy and encouragement from getting the chapter organized to her present status of hardworking member and loyal supporter.

Anyone interested in joining Mended Hearts Inc., can attend the meetings on the second Tuesday of every month or contact members listed below:

Larry and Charlotte Adams, Joe and Dean Adams, Ressie Allen, Garnett Arnett, Maxine Bierman, Lucille Blanton, Joe and Carla Bolton, Teresa Boyd, Ray Brackett, Fleda Bunch, Shirley Callihan, William and Ruth Conley, Colleen Crothers, William Crothers, Cecil and Kathryn Dyer, Hiram Ely, Doug Fitzpatrick, Chalmer and Kathryn Frazier, Freddie and Beverly Goble, Zina Goble, Rodney and Sharon Handshoe, Sammie and Arkansas Handshoe, Calvin and Phyllis Herrick, Ronald and Judy Hooker, Calla and Sandra Howard, Robert and Debra Isaac, Keith and Judy Kittle, Tom and Doris McCormick, Frank and Sharon Mims, Margaret O'Quinn, Drema Osborne, George and Mosaleete Patton, Vincent and Mary Shepherd, Doris Robinson, Walter and Armita Snavely, Russell Spurlock, Kenneth and Mollie Tate and Jerry Ward.

Couple Wed in New Jersey

Martha Evelyn Dyba and Neil Warren Grant were married Sept. 7 at Ondine's Closter, N.J., where reception followed.

The bride is the daughter of Raymond V. and Irene Dyba of Pennington, N.J. The bridegroom is the son of Elaine Groner of North Miami Beach, Fla., and Leonard Grant of Prestonsburg.

Barbara Lapham, friend of the bride, was the maid of honor. Alan Grant, brother of the bridegroom was best man. David Cohen, friend of the groom, was an usher.

The bride is a graduate of Hopewell Valley Central High School, Pennington, N.J., Allegheny College, Meadville, Penn., and Rutgers University School of Law, Camden, N.J. She is employed by the Bergen County Prosecutor's Office in Hackensack, N.J., and Bergen Community College, Paramus, N.J. He is employed by the Fort Lee Municipal Court, Fort Lee, N.J. The couple traveled to Bermuda and lives in Fort Lee, N.J.

Medical meeting in Louisville

"A New Decade, Pride in Medicine," is the scientific theme of the 140th Annual Meeting of the Kentucky Medical Association, scheduled for Sept. 24-27 in Louisville at the Commonwealth Convention Center/Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Tuesday morning's scientific session will include a presentation by Thomas E. Elkins, MD, Ann Arbor, Mich., entitled "Medical Ethics for a New Age in the 1990s." Afternoon sessions will be held by eight specialty groups. Wednesday morning's session will highlight a presentation featuring Robert H. Alford, MD, Nashville, Tenn., entitled "AIDS in the Primary Care Setting," Melvin Spira, MD, of Houston, Texas, will speak on "Advances in Plastic Surgery," and will appear at the meeting of the Kentucky Society for Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. Six specialty groups will conduct meetings on Wednesday afternoon. The final session on Thursday will feature Leo M. Cooney, MD, of New Haven, Conn., who will give a presentation on "Caring for an Aging Population." Sessions will be conducted by seven specialty groups on Thursday afternoon.

The Wednesday Luncheon will feature the installation of the 1990-91 KMA President, Preston P. Nunnelley, MC, Lexington, and presentation of the KMA Distinguished Service Award.

Other highlights include two meetings of the KMA House of Delegates on Sept. 24 and 26, 22 specialty group meetings and the Fall Board Meeting of the KMA Auxiliary.

Accepted to RETS

Patsy Ann Lewis of Banner was recently accepted to begin training at RETS Electronic Institute in Louisville. A 1990 graduate of Betsy Layne High School, she is the daughter of James D. and Kathleen Lewis of Betsy Layne. She will begin training on Oct. 10. RETS is a two year electronic training institute leading to a degree in electronic engineering technology.

A military family, starting with grandpa

Robert and Bonnie Stewart of Wayland have been given a reason to be proud recently. Their 27-year-old grandson, Shannon Ramey, has been awarded one of the Navy's highest awards.

Ramey, who lives in Painesville, Ohio, was recently the recipient of the Navy Achievement Medal. Only 3 percent of the Navy's servicemen earn this award.

Ramey was nominated for the award after starting his superior officers by turning a once-failing recruiting office into a shining success story. In just eight short months, he successfully recruited about 35 people in the Navy. That meant he was fulfilling better than 100 percent of his quota. Before he took over the recruiting office at Findlay, Ohio, the office was only meeting 30 percent of its quota.

Military service is not new to Ramey's family however, his grandfather Robert started the tradition, serving in the Navy during World War II, fighting the Japanese in the Pacific. His father, Hobert, served in the Army. An older brother, Rick, served in the Navy, another brother, Ken, is currently serving in the Navy stationed in New Jersey, and a younger brother, Robert, signed up for the Navy, too, but had to drop out because of a knee injury.

Shannon, a petty-officer first-class, who first took the oath nine years ago after graduating from Riverside High School in 1981, took his oath to defend the country for another six years, during an awards ceremony on Aug. 24.

He and his wife, Tina, and their three children, will be moving to Virginia in January when he is re-assigned to serve on the US Wue City, a state-of-the-art computerized cruiser that was named after a Vietnam battle. He also served on the USS Robert E. Perry as an operations specialist.

Craft program

Kentucky craftspeople are invited to apply for participation in the Kentucky Craft Marketing Program at a bi-annual jurying session to be conducted on Thursday, Oct. 4. Applicants may submit slides, Sept. 24-28, or samples, Oct. 2-3, for jury consideration.

The Kentucky Craft Marketing Program creates opportunities for Kentucky craftspeople to sell their work on a regional, national and international level. Created in 1981, the program currently has 300 juried participants eligible for marketing activities including an annual wholesale craft market, representation at national gift shows, technical assistance and other specialized services. Juried participants are also entitled to use the "Kentucky Crafted" logo to identify their work. The program continues to work cooperatively with Kentucky State Park gift shops.

Those who have not received a jury application booklet may register with the program to receive information by contacting the Craft Marketing Program, Berry Hill Mansion, Louisville Road, Frankfort, KY 40601, or call (502) 564-8076.

The breezes still stir the trees, making sun dappled patterns on the ground.
The roses spread their heady perfume, yet no peace here have I found.

The grasses are alive with butterflies,
a blackbird sails in the breeze.
The damp smell of new turned earth,
I stare, but I do not see.

A summer rains gentle patter, leaving diamonds on the trees.
A laugh, a sigh, a baby's cry,
I stare, but I do not see.

For one of the greatest beauties on earth.
One only God could send,
today I saw dishonesty in the disguise of a friend.

Today I truly began to grow.
To leave behind what I had been,
today I saw you do something wrong,
and tried to understand,
because you were my friend.

Choices

I am now at that age that I'm supposed to be
When all my choices are not clear to me.

My mind is all cluttered; it's easy to forget.
Some of my decisions, I'll probably forget!

Everyone's telling me what I should do,
But I've always been told, "Do what's best for you!"

What's my career?
What's my future hold?
I am more afraid than I am bold.

So many choices, and I have to choose one.
It's time to be serious, not so much fun!

When you're a senior, it's a difficult year
With so many choices that are unclear.

Riddle

(Author wishes for readers to identify his topic)

Oh! Mystery of the evening
Such beauty on display
Unknown are your secrets
So proudly ending day

Upon you rests an endless path
Lest light should find you out
Your travelers hid within you Surroundings hazed without

Twist and turn, if you will
Oh mist before early sun
Break not the bows of darkness
Of the moment you begun

Spare not obstructions as you go
Nor halt at their stand
Oh vapor of a lenient night
A mystery you are to man

The time has come, your heart is known
As break of day is near Goodbye goodbye oh silent friend
The ravage of day is here
— "Bard" C. Layne

Bird and bee

Would you be my friend?
Said the bird to the bee.
If you'll share your honey,
I'll share my tree.
We could help each other,
You and me,
If you'll be my friend,
Said the bird to the bee.

What! Said the bee to the bird.
I don't believe what I heard.
I don't think this can be.
When you can't find worms
You might eat me.

Angel Eyes Turned Cold

You once said you loved me,
You acted as if you cared.
I believed you and found suddenly
That my heart was bared.

But that was all a lie,
Just to wrap me around your finger,
After you left, I wanted to die,
And asked myself, how long will these feelings linger?

It's been a while now,
I wonder if you've ever changed.
But even if you did somehow,
I'd never forget the pain.

I remember all those nights,
Crying myself to sleep.
It seemed I could do nothing right,
Back when my love for you was so deep.

You said I wasn't good enough,
I tried to make up for what I lacked.
But it was in vain, for you were so rough,
And when you spoke, I just stepped back.

Now I've found another place to stay,
A new flame now burns.
For this time I gave my heart away,
I got one in return.

If I ever see you again,
My heart will still be sold.
Too bad we can't still be friends,
Because my "Angel Eyes" have turned cold.

Just for today

Just for today, dear Lord
Please help me not to be Grouchy and grumpy
If things don't go my way

Just for today
Let me keep my temper
Under control
No matter what happens

Just for today
I want to put aside
Any worries
I can't do anything about

Just for today
Let my heart be extra loving
And kind toward everybody
If I can accomplish these goals
Today will be wonderful for me
And I'm certain
Tomorrow will be even better!
Amen

To My Love...

Roses are Red, Violets are blue.
The words I want to say are I love you.
People may say our love wasn't meant to be.
But I say let's take a chance and see.

If we believe and listen to our heart.
Our love will be strong and never fall apart.
The feeling I have for you, I've had so long.
The way I feel, our love could never go wrong.

I've tried so long, just to have you to hold.
You're worth more to me than silver or gold.
You may not love me, not yet anyway.
My feelings for you grow stronger day-by-day.

One day you'll love me, the way I do you.
Because I'm never going to give up until you do.
Time will change, we'll go our separate way.
My love won't change, you're in my heart to stay.

Secret Stranger in Need

A little friendly room,
Fresh with a green money tree,
Then and now I face sadness with blue tears,
And I say your guess is as good as red wine to me.

Who picked you up and gave you hope when you were on the tight purple background,
It was me.

Can't you see,
God said you can hope,
And I guess sometimes you can see,
Who is a friend in need.
That is me.
Can't you see,
From dear old little me.

My Miranda

It was such a beautiful night
And the moon was shining with a silvery light.

My baby was kicking and stirring about
That I knew it wouldn't be long before it came out.

My nine months of pregnancy would soon be over
Then I would have it to love all over.

The pain was unbearable but I knew
That I would soon have something so sweet and new.

She was born with a heavenly hue
Only for her lips to turn blue.

Her eyes were such a lifeless blue
It didn't take long before I knew.

I thought the hardest thing was to give birth
But now I know it was when I put her under the earth.
(I wrote this for my dead baby Miranda)

Mom

I am writing this poem especially for you, mother,
If I didn't have you, I wouldn't want another.
You are the best, and the greatest to me,
Mom, I'm sorry for all the pain and misery.

We've had our problems, and our bad times,
I tried to blame you, but the fault was mine.
I gave you years of heartache and pain,
Causing your teardrops to fall like rain.

If I had it to do over, and could dry up those tears,
You can bet I would make up for those miserable years.
You are not only my mother, you are also my friend,
The love I feel for you will never end.

You are the best, all year through,
I am lucky to have a mother like you.
When I had problems, you lent me a hand,
You are the only one who can really understand.

As the years go by, we all grow old,
Not looking at the past, but at what the future may hold.
As I said before, you are my friend,
Now it is time for the tears to end.

Nothing I can do, can prove how much you're worth,
Mom, to me you are the dearest one on earth.
The bad things will change, wait and see,
Because, Mom, you are so special to me.

To end this poem, only four words will do,
Those four words are, "Mom, I love you."

Couple united in holy matrimony

Bonnie Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mullins of Stanville, and Don Russell Butcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnis Butcher of Milford, Mich., were united in marriage at 6 p.m. at the Immanuel Baptist Church in Pikeville. The Rev. Larry Keene performed the ceremony.

The music was provided by Deane Gibson and Matt Stutler. Selections included "Wind Beneath My Wings," "Fathers Eyes," "Here and Now" and the "Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents. Her gown was a white satin and lace, floor-length, form fitting dress with a chapel-length train. The dress was designed and decorated by the bride with seed pearls, sequins and bugle beads. Aggie Fink was the seamstress.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet made of white silk roses with pearls and lace. Also in the bouquet were two lace "hankies" belonging to her great-grandmother, Syble Carver of Charleston, W. Va., and her late grandmother, Elizabeth

Bever and Barbara Mullins, sisters of the brides, served as the maids of honor; the bridesmaids were Glenda Kne, Lou Ann Taylor, Debbie Pilkington and Brandon Pilkington. They wore pink satin tea-length dresses and carried a long stem pink rose wilace.

The groom wore a white full dress tail tuxedo. The best men were Denny Butcher and Eddie Bonks. The groomsmen were Joe Scane, Les Scane, Matthew Kinon and John Pilkington.

Angie Dalport daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dalporta of Fayetteville, W. Va., was the flower girl. She wore a white tulle gown and train similar to that of the bride. The bride and Aggie Fink designed the dress. She carried a basket filled with pink carnation petals.

Adam Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Mullins of Wyne, W. Va.,

served as the ring bearer. He wore a white tuxedo and carried a white satin pillow that was in the shape of a heart.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Mullins wore a lace and silk, mint green, tea-length dress made by Fink. The mother of the groom wore an emerald green, tea-length dress.

The wedding director was Debbie Mullins and she was assisted by Fink. Penny Thompson, daughter of Bill Thompson, of East Bank, W. Va., presided over the guest register.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony under the direction of Jewel Mayo of Holden, W. Va., who also catered the food. Helpers were Lisa Elkins, Marianne Thompson, Marcia Thompson and Kitty Mullins. The cake was made by Judy Coleman and served by Tina Dalporta.

Following a wedding trip to Nashville, Tenn., the couple resides in Williamsburg, where the groom is the assistant head men's basketball coach and the bride is a leisure/recreation therapist at Cumberland River Comprehensive Care Center.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Boomer, W. Va., and the late Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mullins of Holden, W. Va.

The groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Elam of Paintsville and Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Butcher of Paintsville.

The out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Chip Mullins of Kennesaw, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Mullins of Akron, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Boomer, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson of Charleston, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson of East Bank, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dalporta of Fayetteville, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. Mason Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Jewel, Steve Mayo and Mr. and Mrs. David Mayo, all of Holden, W. Va., Kathy Parrott and Mr. and Mrs. Denny Hanish, all of Lexington, Marvin Bailey of Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Vernon of Williamsburg, Jim Reid of Georgetown, Donnie Pilkington of Homer Wells Needed An Accident Like A Hole In The Head.

"The doctors, the nurses...the rescue squad...all of them... we do appreciate them!"

He Got Both.

ONE ALMOST KILLED HIM, THE OTHER SAVED HIS LIFE.

The blizzard struck early on December 15. High winds, drifting snow. Cablevision manager Homer Wells had the day off, but came in to help his repair crews. On remote Sugar Loaf mountain it happened.

While cutting away a downed cable, the heavy trunk suddenly broke loose. Its full force slammed the side of Homer's head and bludgeoned him to the ground.

Co-worker, Nathan Frisby, radioed for help. Ambulance team Sam Stephens and Johnny Spencer, struggled over slick roads, then on foot, up Sugar Loaf. They delivered Homer unconscious to the Emergency Room, the ER, at Highlands.

ER physicians didn't like what they saw. A severely fractured skull and worse, a subdural hematoma — a huge blood blister swelling against Homer's brain — a killer without immediate neurosurgery. The closest neurosurgeon was at Cabell Huntington Hospital. Roads were impassable. Helicopters grounded. Time running out.

Holes had to be drilled in Homer's skull to relieve the pressure. Risky, but no choice. On the phone with UK Medical Center, ER physicians opened two holes successfully. But special follow-up care was urgently needed, so a treacherous trip began. Accompanied by a Highlands physician, Homer was moved by ambulance to Huntington. There, neurosurgeons credited Highlands' quick and bold response with saving Homer's life.

The injury has left Homer temporarily impaired with a condition that can be treated with physical therapy. Meanwhile, his wife, Christine, speaks for him: "He's doing great. The doctors at Highlands did save his life. You couldn't ask to be treated any better."

Big emergencies. Little emergencies. They're all important to us because they're important to you.

Poison Oak . . .

THE GREAT CHAIN OF BEING

By Clyde Pack

Just when I think I've got life all figured out, somebody reports that Elvis has been seen in Saudi Arabia or the state of Florida has sold a bunch of lottery tickets to Manuel Noriega. It just seems that the older I get, the less my pea-sized brain is able to absorb. I suppose there are just no simple answers.

However, in our study of English literature, we read about those who lived in the Elizabethan Period (around the year 1500) who believed in something called "The Great Chain of Being."

What they did in their attempt to understand the universe and its inhabitants, was to simply arrange things — or rank them — in a kind of order, sort of like on a scale of one to 10, except in reverse.

They had many categories and within each of them everything was ranked from the highest, like all spirit and no matter, to the lowest — all matter, no spirit.

For example, in the animal kingdom the mighty lion was ranked the highest with the lowly oyster ranked last. The metals ran from gold to lead, and the flower kingdom was headed by the rose, Poison ivy, or some other perfectly disgusting weed, was probably near the bottom of that particular chain.

Anyway, I thought it might help if we took some of the things with which we surround ourselves in our modern world, play like we're Elizabethans instead of Eastern Kentuckians, and come up with a "great chain" of our own.

First though, we've got to realize that their world consisted solely of natural components. Naturally, we'll have many more things to consider, simply because, nearly 500 years later, we've got lots more things to categorize.

Take, for example, synthetics: plastic and stuff. On the top we'd naturally have to place those special life-saving devices, like the Jarvic heart. But what about the bottom? Personally, I'd want to award this honor to the disposable diaper. I hate disposable diapers because they really aren't. Oh, you can place them strategically on parking lots of your favorite variety stores so unsuspecting victims can step on them when they get out of their cars, or you can hang them in the trees along side the highways, but you simply can't kill, or otherwise dispose of them.

Of course, our chain of human love and compassion would likely have someone like Mother Teresa at the top and Saddam Hussein — or whoever our current enemy happens to be on any given week — at the bottom.

Stuff like that would be pretty much cut and dried, I suppose, but while those Elizabethans seemed to agree pretty much on most of the things they ranked, I'm afraid we hillbillies are too stubborn and set in our ways to go along with other folks' thinking — even if they're our own kind.

Take music. Who goes at the top? Hank Jr., or Bon Jovi? How about coal trucks? Should they be placed at the top or the bottom of the chain? I guess it'd depend on whether or not they were parked or moving along U.S. 23.

Politicians would have to be ranked from good to bad, with the good ones being those who've just been elected and the bad ones those who've been in office long enough to have made every voter who voted for them wish they hadn't.

Oh well, one thing it all proves, I guess is that even as far back as Shakespeare, folks were curious about the human animal. I'm afraid, though, that if they had to figure us out now, they'd be just as confused as I am, and would end up with one big headache.

Which reminds me. Which should go at the top? Bufferin, or aspirin. Or, Advil maybe?

Quotes and Quibbles

THE GRANDE DAME OF MURDER

by Sandra D. Robertson
Director of Library Services

Are you looking for something good to read this weekend? All over the world, the answer to finding an enjoyable book to read is to pick up an Agatha Christie. The Holy Bible has sold more copies than any other book, but the author who has sold the next most books is Agatha Christie. There are even more of her books sold than Shakespeare's.

Christie has written 78 mystery novels, 19 plays (the most famous of which is The Mousetrap), six romances which were written under the pen name Mary Westmacott, and four nonfiction works. These books have sold more than a billion copies in England and another billion in 44 languages around the world. Total royalty earnings are estimated to be around fifteen million dollars a year.

These figures underscore the tremendous popularity which Christie enjoys a century after her birth. She was born on Sept. 13, 1890, in Devon, England and died on Jan. 12, 1976. She began writing for her personal enjoyment and decided, with encouragement from friends, to make an attempt to sell one of her writings to a publisher. She succeeded with The Mysterious Affair at Styles published in 1920. This book also introduces her famous Belgian detective, Hercule Poirot.

Her grandson Matthew Prichard said of her, "She had a gift and she used it, but she also was a professional, feeling an obligation to her publishers, booksellers and readers. When I think of her, I'm not sure that I hear her talking — instead, I hear her listening, since she was the best listener I've ever met, and always said a lot less than other people. She took a huge interest in what everybody else did."

Attracting an initial reading audience and keeping it for seventy years, is an amazing feat. Several milestones in Christie's career kept her fans loyal and attracted new ones. In 1926, the publication of The Murder of Roger Ackroyd created a sensation because of the identity of the killer. This book marks the first time in detective fiction that this particular type of plot was used. The book created much controversy with some critics hailing it as a breakthrough in plotting and others crying foul.

Another popular detective, Miss Jane Marple, was introduced in 1930 in Murder at the Vicarage. The Mousetrap, a play which opened in London in 1952, became the longest running London drama ever. In 1973 The Murder on the Orient Express (original book title: Murder on the Calais Coach) was made into a movie and gained new popularity for its author. Finally, Joan Hickson and David Suchet's television portrayals of Miss Marple and Poirot have created another surge of interest. Their portrayals are shown as part of PBS's Mystery series which shows at 9 p.m. on Saturdays.

So, if you need a good book to read on a foggy Fall evening, do what millions of readers all over the world do — curl up with a Christie.

PUBLIC NOTICE

K&R Market doing business at HC 77, Rt. #3379, Grethel, Ky. by Kathy Collins, P.O. Box 310, Betsy Layne, Ky. 41605, hereby declares her intention to apply for a license as a retail beer dealer under the state law. 9-19-1tW.

NOTICE OF SALE

To raise the sum of $30,027.41 principal, plus an interest credit subsidy granted in the amount of $15,627.00 plus interest in the amount of $6,476.61 as of July 9, 1990, and interest thereafter on the principal at $9.4507 per day from July 9, 1990 until the date of judgment, plus interest on the judgment amount (principal plus interest to the date of judgment) at the rate of 7.88%, computed daily and compounded annually, until paid in full and for the costs of this action, pursuant to judgment and Order of Sale, being Civil Action No. 90-82 on the Pikeville Docket of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky entered on August 15, 1990 in the case of United States of America vs. Budalene Boggs Hughes and Roger L. Hughes, I, or one of my Deputies will sell the following described property at public auction to the highest and best bidder at the front door of the Floyd County Courthouse, Prestonsburg, Kentucky on the nineteenth day of October 1990 (October 19, 1990) at the hour of 11:00 a.m., local time, on terms of ten percent (10%) of the bid price on the day of sale with good and sufficient bond for the balance, bearing interest at the rate of 7.88% per annum until paid, due and payable in thirty (30) days and said bond having the effect of a judgment or the purchaser may pay cash at time of sale. Upon a default by the purchaser, the deposit shall be forfeited and retained by the Marshal as a part of the proceeds of the sale and the property shall again be offered for sale subject to confirmation by the Court.

Being Lot No. 16 of the David Community Development Corporation and more particularly described on Plat No. 1-1-102, records of the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office, to first party by David Properties Inc. by deeds dated 9-14-75 and 5-14-75 and of record in the Floyd County Court Clerk's Office in Deed Book 218, Page 244 and Deed Book 221, Page 311.

Such sale shall be in bar and foreclosure of all right, title, interest, estate claim, demand or equity of redemption of the defendants and of all persons claiming by, through, under or against them. Should the purchase price be less than two-thirds of the appraised value, the deed shall contain a lien in favor of the defendant reflecting defendant's right to redeem during the period provided by law (KRS 426.530). Sherman Hansford, United States Marshal, Eastern District of Kentucky. 9-12-4tW.

NOTICE

Dear Parents: The Floyd County Schools will be increasing school services to four year old preschool children during this school year. The Kentucky State Department of Education will be funding a new program for four year old at-risk children who meet the federal free lunch guidelines in our schools. There are approximately 129 children in Floyd County who will meet this guideline that are not currently being served by our Head Start program, whose income guidelines are lower than the "free lunch" guidelines. We will have centers at Betsy Layne, Clark, Garrett, Osborne, Prestonsburg, and J.M. Stumbo. Your cooperation would be greatly appreciated in assisting us in identifying, recruiting, and enrolling low income four year old children in our expanded services. If you have a child or you know of children that would qualify for this program, please contact me, Roberta Davidson, contact person for this program (886-2354) or the center that your child will be attending. 9-19-3tW.

Q. I have seen numerous ads for condominiums and co-operatives. Can you please tell me the difference between the two?

A. The difference between the condominium (condo) and the co-operative (co-op) is the form of ownership.

With the condo, you own a specific apartment unit and a partial interest in the common areas such as the parking lot, courtyard, pool, playground, etc. Each unit is sold separate and apart from all others and the individual is responsible for his/her own mortgage, taxes, etc.

In the co-op, you own shares in the corporation or association that owns the building. Your shares entitle you to lease a specific unit in the building. Your interest in the co-op is treated as personal property, rather than real property as in the condo project mentioned above. If one owner defaults, the other tenants may be required to pay off the debt or risk possible foreclosure on the entire project.

Both types of developments generally have a governing body which enacts regulations and guidelines that must be followed by the residents. Due are usually charged to each resident to operate and maintain the common areas.

It is suggested that anyone interested in these types of projects should contact their CPA or tax attorney to determine which will best fit their specific situation.

If you have other real estate questions, please contact the Kentucky Real Estate Commission, 10200 Linn Station Road, Suite 201, Louisville, Kentucky 40223; (502) 425-4273.
