Site bid awarded after injunction lifted:

State attorney blasts board meeting action

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

An attorney with the state Department of Education has called actions taken in a special meeting December 28 of the Floyd County Board of Education questionable and "highly unusual," but he stopped short of labeling board action illegal.

The December 28 special meeting of the board was called to award a bid for site preparation at Middle Creek for a proposed new Prestonsburg High School, and it came just hours after Boyd County Circuit Judge Charles Sinnette cleared the way for board action on the bid.

Development of the controversial school site had been halted December 20 when Floyd District Judge Harold Stumbo issued an injunction, sought by board member-elect Eddie Billips and based on Billips' claims that questions concerning the site should be answered before any additional work was done.

The stop order was lifted last Friday by Judge Sinnette and, in a special meeting that evening, the board accepted on a 3-2 vote a site preparation bid of $1.3 million from C&W Equipment Company, of Manchester. The C&W bid was the only offer submitted for the site work and it apparently was opened, reviewed and negotiated prior to the board's 7 p.m. meeting December 28.

Kentucky Administrative Regulations adopted by the state Department of Education require bids for materials, supplies or contractual services to be sealed, opened and read at a legal public meeting of the board. The regulations also prohibit alteration of or negotiation on bids after they have been submitted.

Department of Education attorney Steve Yater also questioned Wednesday the board's action on December 28 of adopting minutes from the special meeting as soon as the meeting was concluded. Meeting minutes are usually adopted at the next meeting of the board.

"I have never heard of that being done," Yater said of the board's action adopting the special meeting minutes. "It is not consistent with the rules of parliamentary procedure. It is not the way, if I were counsel representing the board, that I would advise them to proceed," Yater added. "At face value, it raises a question in my mind if proper procedure was followed. It's not a good way to operate."

The school board's effort to push through the construction of the new high school also drew some criticism from Boyd Circuit Judge Charles Sinnette during a December 28 hearing on the Billips injunction.

Sinnette said Friday that he had serious questions about the deed being "fee simple" because coal rights were reserved by the property's former owner, David May.

"It would appear," Judge Sinnette said, "the grantor of this property will reap a windfall. It doesn't look right. The appraisal did not separate the mineral from the land and it didn't reserve any rights."

Martin doctor called up, hospital wants him back

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

A Martin doctor who is a lieutenant colonel in the Army Reserve has been called to active duty to participate in Operation Desert Shield.

Dr. Gangadhar L. Maddiwar, a surgeon at Our Lady of the Way Hospital at Martin, received his orders on December 12 to report for basic training on December 28. Dr. Maddiwar will leave for Saudi Arabia on January 13.

Dr. Maddiwar was assigned to the 302nd Field Hospital out of Huntington, West Virginia, but was involuntarily assigned to the 300th Field Hospital unit in Pennsylvania. A letter informing Dr. Maddiwar of his unit transfer was mailed to the Maddiwar family on November 19, but they did not receive it until recently, Mrs. Maddiwar said. In fact, Dr. Maddiwar was first notified by telephone.

Mrs. Maddiwar said someone with the Pennsylvania unit told Dr. Maddiwar if he did not report, he would be considered AWOL, but the Huntington unit told Dr. Maddiwar he was assigned to the medical unit there. Finally, the 302nd Field Hospital's

Magistrate ordered to jail after appeals are exhausted

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Former Floyd County Magistrate Edward Caudill turned himself over to jail officials Tuesday to begin serving a one year sentence for his 1985 conviction for possession of a forged instrument after the Kentucky Supreme Court denied his appeal.

The order, signed by special Judge Stephen N. Frazier, said Caudill was ordered to report to the jail on January 1 to begin serving his sentence.

Caudill was convicted of possession of a forged instrument July 25, 1985 by a Pike County jury. Caudill was indicted along with three other county officials and six county workers after a state police investigation.

Two theft by deception charges against Caudill were dropped after the jury failed to agree on the charges.

The forgery charge evolved from Caudill's endorsement of a $2,000 check written to Russell Hamilton, who operated the Hamilton Service Station. Caudill said then County Judge Executive Thomas Lafferty told him to endorse the check and he maintained the check was reimbursement for furnishings he bought for a trailer at the Minnie mini-park to be used by a county employed night

For needy PCC students:

Varias establish endowment

by Tim B. Preston
Staff Writer

Martin doctors Mahendra and Chandra Varia presented Prestonsburg Community College President Henry Campbell with a $10,000 check Saturday during a combination birthday party and check presentation.

The Varias, residents of the Martin area for over ten years, made a December announcement of a $100,000 donation for an endowment to aid needy students.

"I think PCC is pretty important," said Chandra Varia. "I was always taught that we need to spend our money where we make our livelihood. All of the kids said 'Why did you give away all of that money, you could have two Mercedes.' I just say what would I do with two Mercedes. When you have good fortune, you need to share. That is why we asked Satya (who celebrated his birthday with other area children during the presentation) to present the check to Dr. Campbell, so he would remember the importance of giving back to the community."

her husband's comments and said, "The coal mines are gone now and development is needed here and development usually comes with higher education. If you don't know how to read or write, how can you use a computer. There are very few high school dropouts who are millionaires."

Parting Shots: 1990 in review

Tense negotiations

The 10-day teachers' strike in Floyd County was one of the top stories of 1990. Teachers staged a walkout after the board of education refused a 20 percent pay hike and the teachers' request to have a voice in school budget decisions. Floyd County Education Association's executive committee negotiated with Superintendent Ron Hager throughout the strike. (photo by Susan Allen)

The history books will document 1990 as a landmark year in Kentucky, a year that saw educational reform in the state attract national attention and months of headlines. Around the globe, 1990 brought us the beginnings of the end to the communist bloc and, in the end, the beginning of a possible war in the Middle East.

In Floyd County, 1990 was just as historic and the events that formed the year were documented in the pages of The Floyd County Times. Here's a month-by-month review of 1990's top local stories:

January

Ten-year-old Douglas Hurt of Ivel was freed by the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad after being trapped in a hollow log for over two hours. Hurt was playing with a friend near a pile of old timber across from his home on U.S. 23. He be-husband attacked her.

The Floyd County Board of Education agreed to an out of court settlement in a federal lawsuit filed by former Wheelwright Principal Ervin Pack. The board agreed to pay Pack $25,000 plus a half a year's salary. Pack, in turn, agreed to drop the lawsuit which charged the board retaliated politically against him by not re-hiring him as principal. Pack also had to reimburse the Floyd County Circuit Court Clerk $8,901 for monies misappropriated while he was principal.

The F.B.I. announced an investigation into the Floyd County Property Valuation Administrator's office to determine if any bribery or extortion had been committed involving property settlements.

A cockfighting raid at the Doty Creek Sportsmen Club on Sizemore Mountain near McDowell resulted in the arrest of 38 persons charged with cruelty to animals. Kentucky State Police arrested 16 Floyd Countians in the raid and confiscated computer discs, ledgers, a large amount of cash, holding facility beginning March 1. Fiscal court members begin planning for a new facility.

Prestonsburg city officials asked the Floyd County Board of Education to reconsider its plan to locate a new Prestonsburg High School outside the city limits.

A fire destroyed Osborne Furniture in Wheelwright and 76 firefighters from 11 fire departments fought the blaze.

Stricter landfill regulations by Governor Wallace Wilkinson that require special plastic liners to be placed under all landfills could force the Floyd County Solid Waste Commission to close or pay $1.5 million to install the liners, Commissioner Bob McAnich reported.

Floyd County Education Association asked the state Department of Education to remove its supervisor, Bob Gover, from the school system. The group objected to a memo presented to the state that said "groups out of power were trying to subvert efforts of the board of education." Gover was placed in the system after came stuck after trying to slide through the log.

A new sheriff and county attorney were sworn in January 1. Paul Hunt Thompson began his duties as Floyd County Sheriff after defeating incumbent Henry Hale in the November 1989 election and Jim Hammond took over the office of county attorney after beating David Barber.

Severe cold weather in December 1989 caused the Mud Creek Water District customers to be without water for over two weeks. Area National Guardsmen set up a water station at the Mud Creek Fire Department and distributed water to customers for over a week.

Rescue workers searched the Big Sandy River throughout the month for the body of James M. Keathley, 27, of Branhams Creek after he was last seen running from the scene of a car accident at Harold. Keathley was spotted by witnesses near the river and officials presumed he had drowned. His body was found in March near Portsmouth, Ohio, 120 miles from where he entered the river.

A 15-year-old boy was taken hostage by would be robbers at the home of Irvin Shepherd at David. The boy, Shepherd's grandson, said the unidentified assailants held a pistol to his head and demanded money. He later broke free and said shots were fired as he fled the scene.

Betty Layne, 54, was found guilty of reckless homicide in the October 1988 shooting death of her husband, Nathaniel Buck Layne. A Floyd County jury recommended a one year jail sentence for Layne, who testified she shot her husband three times after a domestic dispute at their Goble Roberts Home. Layne claimed her drugs and weapons. Attorney General Fred Cowan issued an opinion in March that cockfighting was legal due to a law which exempted birds from the state's animal cruelty law. Those arrested who had not pleaded guilty and paid fines had charges dropped.

Martin Pharmacist Ronald Reid was arrested by federal DEA agents and charged with 76 counts of illegal distribution of controlled substances and one count of conspiracy to sell controlled substances.

Area independent truckers attempt to organize a union in an effort to combat the rising cost of diesel fuel and tires and to boost the low payment for hauling coal.

A flu epidemic closed Floyd County schools for over a week and area hospitals reported about 300 cases in the county.

A weekend riot at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center required the attention of 27 police officers in an attempt to gain control of 50-60 students who were fighting. Students interfered with police efforts to arrest several students involved in a fight at the center.

February

A railroad tunnel collapse closed Route 7 between Hueysville and Eastern to all traffic. Area businesses complained the road closing greatly interfered with normal business.

Charles Ray Johnson, 38, of Weeksbury was charged with shooting Kenneth B. Younce, 41, during a scuffle at B & R Arcade at Melvin.

The state Corrections Cabinet ordered the Floyd County Fiscal Court to reduce the county jail to a 96-hour it was declared academically bankrupt.

A murder indictment was returned against David Slone, 31, of Bevinville; Danny Meade and Ray Newman, no address given, in the 11-year-old murder of Walter G. Hall of Jacks Creek. Hall was shot in the yard of Hester Slone. New evidence collected after the body was exhumed by Coroner Roger Nelson led to the indictment.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction John Brock toured several new schools under construction in Floyd County.

March

Christopher Collins, 17, a junior at Allen Central High School was killed in an auto accident in Knott County near Rock Fork. Collins' car struck a guardrail before overturning down an embankment.

State Transportation Director Milo Bryant toured roads in Left Beaver and Mud Creek and announced the resurfacing of a section of KY 122 and the construction of passing lanes on KY 979 at Mud Creek. Bryant also promised Hunter residents a new bridge off KY 122 to Hunter would be constructed "before the first snow fell."

Ex-conservation officer Jimmy E. Goble, 42, was arraigned in federal court in Pikeville for illegally killing a deer on December 3, 1988, during a permit hunt at Dewey Lake. He pleaded not guilty to the charges.

John Daniel Hall, 23, of Langley was shot in the upper left leg by a masked assailant while working as a

Noting he was "very concerned about the legality of the deed," Judge Sinnette said it would be up to the courts to decide if board members could be held individually liable for the project expenses if the deed was declared invalid.

Sinnette dissolved Billips' temporary injunction, however, when Billips declined to post a $1 million bond to continue the restraint.

Prestonsburg attorney Cliff Latta, representing Billips in the hearing, asked the court to prohibit the county board from awarding a site preparation contract during the board's special meeting on December 28, but Judge Sinnette put no restrictions on the board.

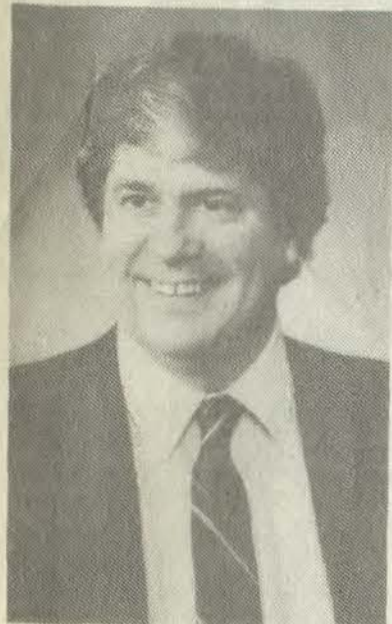

The site preparation contract was awarded on a 3-2 vote, with members James D. Adams, Mary Hall and James Duff approving the $1.3 million bid, and Tommy Boyd and Ray Campbell voting "no."

Superintendent Ronald Hager said at the Friday meeting that work on the school would continue on the recommendation of Mike Luscher, director of the division of Buildings and Grounds for the state Department of Education. Hager added that the site had been visited and approved by state Superintendent for Public Instruction John Brock.

Brock, contacted Friday in Florida at a residence owned by Sam Martin Jr., construction manager for the Prestonsburg High School project, said he was not familiar with the site, adding "I've only driven by it."

Brock, who lost most of his administrative powers on January 1 to newly appointed state Commissioner of Education Thomas Boynsen, said "I don't think it would be appropriate for me to enter the situation. But I'm sure if our legal department reviewed the deed, it's alright."

State supreme court upholds Harvey murder conviction

The Supreme Court of Kentucky has upheld the conviction of Floyd County resident Jimmy Harvey in the 1988 murder of Lisa Jarvis.

Harvey was sentenced to 20 years in prison after a jury found him guilty of wanton murder in the death of his former live-in girlfriend. Lawyers sought to appeal the case on grounds that the jury in the case was given improper instruction.

Court records and case testimony indicate that Lisa Jarvis died as the result of a single gun shot wound to the shoulder on June 5, 1988, following a series of violent episodes involving Jimmy Harvey.

A case worker from Big Sandy Family Abuse Center testified that she had been contacted by Jarvis, who told her that Harvey had "threatened to kill her, shoved her, slapped her, punched and kicked her, and had thrown knives at her. He had shot at her."

Harvey contends that the shooting was unintentional, claiming the gun accidentally misfired as he loaded it.

Investigators at the scene of the murder speculated that Jarvis may have planned to leave the area on the night she was murdered due to the discovery of a suitcase which had been packed with clothing for Jarvis and her child.

headquarters in Georgia told Dr. Maddiwar to report to the 300th Medical Corps unit to avoid serious complications, Mrs. Maddiwar said.

Dr. Maddiwar joined the reserves in 1987 because "he wanted to do something for this country," Mrs. Maddiwar explained. The Maddiwar's have resided in Floyd County for the past 14 years and Dr. Maddiwar has been in the U.S. for 26 years.

The doctor has devoted most of those years in service to the community. He is a founding member of the Big Sandy Hospice and the Regional Tumor Board. He has been the on-call surgeon for Our Lady of the Way Hospital for the past 13 years and also operates a private practice in Martin. Dr. Maddiwar has also donated his services to the Mud Creek Clinic, performing outpatient surgery on those patients who couldn't afford to pay a surgeon's fees.

"Dr. Maddiwar volunteered his services," said Eula Hall, Mud Creek Clinic founder and social director. "I don't know what we're going to do. It's really hurt us to lose the only surgeon we had."

At this time, the clinic has no prospects to take Dr. Maddiwar's place. "I don't know where we can find a surgeon who will donate his time," Hall said.

In an effort to return Dr. Maddiwar to this county where he is also needed, Our Lady of the Way hospital has started a letter writing campaign to legislators. Hospital administrators and staff are urging residents to write letters or call Congressmen, State Representatives, and Senators and urge that Dr. Maddiwar return home.

"Urgent action is required to ensure that Dr. Maddiwar is taken into consideration before he leaves for Saudi Arabia. He is a vital part of Our Lady of the Way's medical staff and the Floyd County medical community," said Robin Sandlin, director of public relations at the hospital.

Mrs. Maddiwar also encourages the letter writing campaign.

"There is no other surgeon at the Mud Creek Clinic, and the one surgeon at Our Lady of the Way Hospital will be on call 24 hours a day," Mrs. Maddiwar said, referring to Dr. Ruben Singayao, who will continue to perform surgical procedures at Our Lady of the Way.

Dr. Rao S. Bhatraju will temporarily replace Dr. Maddiwar at the Martin office, Seton Complex. He will see patients Tuesday and Thursday only, from 2 until 4 p.m. only. Appointments may be made through Rita Stone, Specialty Clinic at 285-5181, ext. 384.

Hospital staff, Mrs. Maddiwar and Eula Hall encourage all Floyd Countyans to write to the following officials:

Senator Wendell Ford, 173 A Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington, DC 20510-1701;

Senator Mitch McConnell, 120 Russell Senate Office Bldg., Washington, DC 20510-1701;

Senator Benny Ray Bailey, Box 102 A, Hindman, Ky. 41822;

Congressman Chris Perkins, Congress of the United States, House of Representatives, 1034 Longworth Bldg., Washington, DC 20515;

State Representative Greg Stumbo, Stumbo and Caudill Law Offices, P.O. Box 1004, Martin, Ky. 41649.

People also forget that there is pleasure in reading, in knowing another language. There are other things beside the economic development reasons."

The couple said Wednesday that they plan to make suggestions for the allocation of the endowment fund. "The other newspapers that have written about the donation said that it (the donation) was for the betterment of women. I do plan to suggest that women be given the preference in an equal situation, but that is not the main reason for the donation."

"We would like everyone to give back to the area," said Chandra Varia. "Maybe you are lucky right now and you should help those who are not so lucky."

Mahendra Varia added, "Now, we are starting to have plenty. So, we wanted to spread it around. Others should consider helping this area."

Letters

Editor:

Greetings from the Kentucky hills, where the trees are bare but the spirits are wrapped in glad tidings and pealing with joy. The holiday season is upon us with its own good news of the Christmas story and of new beginnings.

At The David School, we have much to celebrate and much to be thankful for. We have a wonderful, dedicated staff this year who fill the students with a sense of discovery and a respect for learning. We have an outstanding group of students who enliven and challenge us (and the waiting list continues to grow). And we have friends like you who continue to believe in our work and to support it.

Because of your faith and commitment, we also are closer to realizing our dream of a new facility for the school. We are determined that building will begin this spring and The David School will be in modern, safe and comfortable quarters by the time this holiday rolls around again. We are especially grateful to several Kentucky foundations which have come to share our vision and have contributed some $150,000 to our building fund. We are even more grateful for the contributions of those with less to give who, nevertheless, wish to join in the spirit of The David School.

On behalf of the entire family of The David School, we wish you the merriest Christmases and the happiest of New Years. Thank you for choosing to be a part of our family during this season and throughout the year.

I want to say thanks to our magistrate in District 3, Betty Caudill, for being so nice in helping those that needed help in the past year. She is the one we can call without getting a recording. We have something to cackle about. Keep up the good work.

(The following letter was sent to Senator Mitch McConnell's office in Washington, D.C. on December 28)

The U.S. Constitution clearly delegates to Congress the power to declare war on other nations. For this reason it is imperative that a special session of Congress be called to debate the question of whether to invade Iraqi-held Kuwait. President Bush obviously believes that he has the power to make war without the consent of Congress. In this he is mistaken. If Congress allows the President to act without exercising its power under the Constitution, it will be derelict in its duty to the American people.

It is time for Congress to reassert its authority and reclaim powers that were usurped by the imperial presidencies of Johnson, Nixon, and Reagan.

During its January special session, the General Assembly will be considering legislation that will dramatically increase our ability to get drunk drivers off Kentucky's highways. Last year drunk drivers killed 319 people, injured 5,800 more, and caused losses of millions of dollars in personal injuries and property damage in Kentucky.

The proposed legislation contains two basic components—"illegal per se" and "administrative per se." Illegal per se means that it is unlawful to operate a motor vehicle with blood alcohol content of .10 or above (no longer a presumption of being under the influence). Administrative per se is a license revocation procedure that parallels, but is independent of the outcome of criminal proceedings. Of course there will still be DUI criminal offenses heard in the district courts.

To date, 46 states have illegal per se and 29 have administrative per se. Those states indicate that the ability to revoke or suspend licenses swiftly prevents drunk drivers from being on the highways and is the most effective method available in reducing crashes and violations by alcohol offenders.

This legislation will work and it's time Kentucky moved forward to join her sister states to rid our highways of impaired drivers. We ask your readers to contact their legislators and voice their support for this legislation.

McConnell's Comments

By Sen. Mitch McConnell

It was not too long ago that our country woke up to the news that Iraqi tanks had rolled into Kuwait. That hostile invasion immediately put American lives and interests at risk.

Our response has been swift and professional. When the call of duty was sounded by the President, Kentucky's soldiers took to the field. Servicemen and women at Fort Campbell, Fort Knox and National Guard units throughout the state have packed their gear, bade farewell to their loved ones and embarked for the Middle East.

There is something each and every one of us can do to make their sacrifice a little easier: pick up a pen to write them a note and tell them they are not forgotten.

With the cooperation of Fort Campbell and Fort Knox, I have initiated Operation Kentucky Cares. Through the adoption of a unit from these installations, Kentuckians can bring our soldiers a little closer to home. I urge schools, church groups and civic organizations to partici-

Think for a moment how our servicemen and women will feel when they receive a letter or a card from someone they may not know thanking them for their service and wishing them well. I am confident that such mail will not only boost morale, but will show American solidarity during these difficult times.

Groups interested should contact Mr. Bill Harralson at Fort Campbell or Major Ron Mazzia at Fort Knox. They will assign a unit from their installations participating in Operation Desert Shield. Their addresses and phone numbers are:

Mr. Bill Harralson, Public Affairs Office, 101st Airborne Division and Fort Campbell, Fort Campbell, Ky. 42223. (502) 798-6027.

Major Ron Mazzia, Public Affairs Office, US Army Armor Center and Fort Knox, P.O. Box 995, Fort Knox, Ky. 40121. (502) 624-3051.

The Commonwealth's motto is "United We Stand, Divided We Fall." Let's stand together to show that Kentucky cares.

Judge rules for local board in Prichard case

PIKEVILLE — A summary judgment on behalf of the defendants was issued by Federal District Judge Joseph Hood last week in the civil rights suit brought by former Martin County School Superintendent Glen Prichard against members of the Martin County Board of Education. Prichard was fired from the school superintendent position after two new members were elected to the school board replacing members who were "for" Prichard, his suit alleges. Prichard may still appeal the decision. (The Mountain Citizen)

Sidney man claims Board member ineligible

SIDNEY — Michael Baisden, a brother-in-law of one of the candidates that Tommy Dean Runyon defeated for a seat on the Pike County Board of Education, has written the Kentucky Attorney General's office to ask for an investigation into Runyon's eligibility. ## Prestonsburg attorneys pledge hours of pro-bono legal service

David Yewell, of the Kentucky Bar Association, recently announced that 1,389 Kentucky lawyers have donated or pledged to donate 37,997 hours of their time to provide free, "pro-bono" (for the public good) legal services for persons of limited means during the present Kentucky Bar Association year, July 1, 1990 - June 30, 1991.

Approximately 11,257 of these hours were pledged by 249 of the lawyers who attended nine KBA District Bar meetings held in Owensboro, Ashland/Russell, Lexington, Covington, Paducah, Louisville, Prestonsburg, London and Bowling Green during the Fall of 1990.

Approximately 26,740 of these hours have been donated or pledged by 1,140 lawyers working through Kentucky Pro Bono Programs, including 125 lawyers volunteering a total of 2,500 hours for Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky, located in Prestonsburg. Among these were several Prestonsburg lawyers: David Barber, Jan Brown, Paul Burchett, John Callis, Gerald DeRossett, Bill Francis, Frank Haerberlin, William Kendrick, John Mann, Anna Melvin, Tom Moak, Marty Osborne, Jerry Patton, Julie Paxton, Ned Pillersdorf, Janice Porter, C.V. Reynolds, Benita Riley, Dan Rowland, Greg Stumbo and Phil Taylor.

Additionally, not included with the above figures, five large Louisville law firms, with a collective membership of about 400 attorneys, have committed 50 hours per attorney in 1990-91 for approximately an additional 20,000 hours.

New smoking policy at OLV

Our Lady of the Way Hospital changed its smoking policy on January 1. Visitor smoking is now allowed in the hospital's canteen and outside of the building only.

"As a healthcare facility that participates in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, it is essential that we follow the guidelines that are set by the federal government," a hospital spokesperson said. The hospital is following the suggestions of the U.S. Surgeon General who said that strict guidelines should be put into effect concerning visitor smoking.

"It is possible that we will be forced, at a later date, to make Our Lady of the Way completely smoke-free," the spokesperson said.

Since it has been proven that smokers, as well as passive smokers (nonsmokers that breathe the tobacco smoke of others), are at risk for chronic diseases, Our Lady of the Way administrators expressed concern about the health and well-being of the patient's visitors and employees. Currently, over 350,000 Americans die annually from the effects of smoking; between 500 and 5,000 die annually from lung cancer caused by passive smoking.

KHC Announces Program to Improve Rental Housing

Kentucky Housing Corporation (KHC) recently announced a new program, Project-Based Assistance, to encourage new housing production or upgrading of substandard rental housing stock. Its purpose is to make housing available to lower-income families at rents within the Section 8 Existing Housing Fair Market Rents. The program is being offered in 71 Kentucky counties, including Lawrence, Magoffin and Perry counties.

The Project-Based Assistance Program allows KHC to attach to structures up to 15 percent of all Section 8 assistance provided under the Section 8 Existing Certificate Program. Fifty units have been reserved for initial program implementation for proposals not exceeding 20 units to be subsidized.

"The fact the assistance stays with the structure and not the tenant will be especially attractive to the owners and managers," John G. Martinez, executive director of KHC said. "In the event the tenant moves, the assistance will remain in order to aid another qualified resident."

Through the program, the participating developer or sponsor will agree to construct or rehabilitate a structure using financing outside the United States Housing Act of 1937. The Housing Assistance Payments Contracts for a project-based structure may not have a term of less than two years and may not exceed 15 years. The owner must prepare a work write-up with plans and specifications. The initial contract rents must be approved by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and must meet the rent reasonableness test. This will insure the low-income person or family receives the lowest possible rent through KHC and HUD.

For more information about Project-Based Assistance, contact KHC at (502) 564-7630, (800) 633-8896 or (800) 247-2510 (Hearing Impaired).

Lotto*America To Start In Kentucky On Jan. 10

Lotto*America, a high-stakes game offered in several states, will start in Kentucky on Jan. 10 when the Commonwealth joins the Multi-State Lottery Association (MUSL) which sponsors the game.

"Kentucky will become the fifteenth member of MUSL," said Jim Hosker, president of the lottery, "and we hope the jackpot will be huge when we start sales on Jan. 10."

Lotto*America is a game similar to Lotto Kentucky and played through the same computer terminals. In the Lotto*America game, players fill out a play slip at one of the lottery's 1,500 on-line retailers by picking six numbers from one to 54. Cost is $1 for two plays. Drawings are held on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and are televised from Des Moines, Iowa at 10:59. Winning numbers will also be available on the lottery hotline and on retailer monitors along with Lotto Kentucky numbers. The Kentucky Lottery Hotline is 1-800-447-7700.

Lotto*America gives smaller states a way to pool monies to create a large jackpot prize, according to Hosker. The minimum jackpot for each drawing is $2 million, but "jackpots of $12 to 15 million are very common," he said. He added that the largest jackpot has been $39,860,000 which was won by a Rhode Island man on July 15, 1989.

"It is important to remember that, despite it being a multi-state game, the operating profits stay in Kentucky to pay the dividend to the state, commissions to our retailers and the administrative costs of the Kentucky Lottery," he said. "In fact, in the long run, all the money played in Kentucky will remain here, and, though we contribute to an out-of-state grand prize winner, all the participating states will contribute to us when we have a Kentucky grand prize winner."

Governor Wilkinson will officially start the game the morning of the 10th and buy the first Lotto*America ticket in Kentucky.

Breast Cancer — Early Detection Can Save Your Life

Preventive medicine

Members of the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens' Center had mammograms performed and received education on breast self-examination at Highland Regional Medical Center Breast Center.

Breast Cancer is the second leading cause of cancer deaths among women, lung cancer being the first. This year alone, 142,900 new cases of breast cancer will be reported, and approximately 43,000 women will die as a result of breast cancer.

Denice Queen, RN, Nurse Educator in the Breast Center at Highlands Regional Medical Center (HRMC), visits with community organizations to provide education on breast self-examination (BSE) and mammography, two procedures that help women detect breast cancer early. Recently, Ms. Queen visited the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens' Center and as a result, seven women chose to have mammograms performed at the Breast Center.

A mammogram is a low dose x-ray study of the breast. The American Cancer Society recommends a baseline mammogram between the ages of 35 and 40 which will be used as a permanent record to compare with future x-ray studies. A mammogram should be performed every one or two years for women 40-49 and women 50 and over should receive a mammogram every year. Cancer can be detected on a mammogram when it is very small; often one year before it is large enough to be felt as a lump.

BSE also plays a key role in early detection of breast cancer. Since most breast lumps are discovered by a woman herself, BSE should be performed on a regular basis. A woman should become familiar with the way her breasts look and feel. If a change in her breasts develops, she should see her family physician immediately. Women should have a yearly breast exam performed by their physician.

Previously, women age 50 and over were at a greater risk, but now more women in their 40's are being affected. Education and regular mammograms are a must for early detection, and early detection can save a life.

Anyone wishing additional information on mammography, breast self-exams or any other breast cancer information can call the HRMC Breast Center toll free at 1-800-533-HRMC or locally at 886-8511, ext. 160.

Make exercise a part of weight loss resolution

Plan to succeed with your New Year's resolution to lose weight by adding regular exercise to your weight-reduction plan. "The goal of a diet is to lose body fat and keep it off," said Darlene Forester, a food and nutrition specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "Dieting without exercise rarely results in long-term weight loss." People tend to regain weight if they diet without exercising, according to Forester. "When you restrict calorie intake severely, the body's metabolism slows down to conserve energy and continues to be slow after you return to normal eating habits," she explained. "So it's easy to regain weight lost from dieting alone." "You also tend to lose muscle tissue along with the fat when you diet without exercising. The loss of lean body tissue can be detrimental to your health."

hour, they would expend 95 to 120 calories." Just as it is best to increase your activity level gradually, it is best to take off weight gradually, Forester said. She recommended a goal of one-half to one pound per week until the desired body weight is reached. "Remember, one pound of fat is equal to 3,500 calories," she said. "So to lose one pound a week, you need to take in 3,500 fewer calories or use up 3,500 calories more through physical activities. Over a week's time, you would need to cut 500 calories a day through a combination of diet and exercise." Forester gave the following information on about how many minutes it would take a healthy 175-pound man or a 140-pound woman involved in light to very strenuous activities to expend 100 calories. Light activity (cleaning house, office work, playing golf)—man, 20 minutes; woman, 25 minutes; Moderate activity (walking briskly, gardening, cycling, dancing)—man, 13 minutes; woman, 16 minutes. Strenuous activity (jogging, playing football, swimming)—man, 8 minutes; woman, eight minutes. Very strenuous activity (running, racquetball, skiing)—man, six minutes; woman, eight minutes. "Exercise is also the best way to help children lose weight," she added. "Low-calorie diets are not recommended for children because they need calories to grow and develop normally." "Children tend to sit a lot in school or a home in front of the television. Encourage your child to become more active, perhaps involving the whole family in fast walking, bicycling or group games such as basketball or volleyball. Other children's activities, such as jumping rope and hopscotch, also burn up a lot of calories." Heredity, environment, age, and beginning weight all influence how long it takes to lose weight, according to Forester. "Make regular exercise, along with changing eating habits, a part of your family's lifestyle," she said. "This behavior should last a lifetime."

Another reason to exercise is that it's simply more healthy, Forester said. "Lack of physical activity is one of the leading causes of health problems nationwide, especially in Kentucky," she said. "In a 1988 survey, two thirds of the Kentuckians interviewed said they exercise less than 20 minutes three times a week. This is the minimum amount of physical activity necessary for good health." "Exercise helps decrease the risk of coronary and arterial diseases, hypertension, diabetes, osteoporosis and some types of cancer." Every little bit of exercise helps, according to Forester. "Studies indicate that even small amounts of physical activity are helpful," she said. "It is best to gradually increase your activity level. Start out by increasing physical activity in your daily routine. Walk or ride a bicycle instead of driving; take the stairs instead of the elevator; stand rather than sit. "Many people don't realize that everything they do increases their calorie expenditures. Even 'couch potatoes' expend calories. Just sitting quietly for an hour, you expend 80 to 100 calories. But if those couch potatoes got up and stood for that

Endicott officer is commended

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Thomas R. Nunnery, son of Ray Nunnery of Endicott, was recently commended while serving at the Naval Reserve Center, Parkersburg, W.Va. Nunnery was recognized for his outstanding performance of duty, professionalism and overall dedication to the service. Nunnery is a graduate of Concord College, Athens, W.Va., with a Bachelor of Science degree in Education and a graduate of West Virginia College of Graduate Studies, Institute, W.Va., with a Master of Arts degree. He joined the Navy Reserves in November 1985.

Rowe completes basic training

PV2 Richie C. Rowe, son of Billy and Sheila Rowe of Allen, graduated Dec. 6 from Basic and AIT at Ft. Sill, Okla. where he received training in Field Artillery as a 13 Bravo Cannon crew member. After his 3-week leave, he departed from Lexington airport on Dec. 27 to fulfill his four year enlistment at Schofield Barracks in Honolulu, Hawaii, where he will be stationed with the 25th Infantry Division. His wife, Joanna, will be joining him in approximately four weeks.

Nursing Home Proposals Seeking 4,845 Beds Set for March Action by Panel

The Commission for Health Economics Control in Kentucky has received 100 completed application for 4,845 new and converted nursing home beds for an expansion of long-term care services authorized by the 1990 General Assembly. Among these applications was one from the Riverview Manor Nursing Home of Prestonsburg.

Beginning Jan. 14, the three member panel will conduct public hearings on the projects, as requested, at the commissioner's Frankfort office. The commission's actions regarding the applications will be announced March 20.

Under provisions of the 1990-93 Kentucky State Health Plan, the commission will consider the following priorities, in descending rank, in its review of the applications: to delicense beds in a county with more beds than needed under the plan and to add the same or fewer beds to a county with fewer beds than the plan indicates are needed; in a county with no long-term beds of the level sought; in a county and an Area Development District with fewer beds than the plan shows are needed, or in which both the proposed county site and every adjacent Kentucky county are under the maximum bed level in the plan; for beds shown as needed in both the county in question and statewide as a whole.

The 1990 General Assembly authorized additional funding for expansion of Medicaid-eligible long-term care in Kentucky equal to the annual cost of Medicaid reimbursement for an additional 675 beds. For Medicaid purposes, a new designation — nursing facility beds — takes the place of the former intermediate care, nursing home and skilled nursing levels of care.

Because approximately 71 percent of all new long-term care beds are certified for Medicaid, it is estimated that as many as 949 beds (not including personal care beds) may be approved during the next two years. Riverview Manor Nursing Home asked for 60 additional beds to be added to their existing nursing facilities.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

THOMPSON SAGA CONTINUES WITH VISIT TO MOREHEAD STATE
Jody Thompson, former Feds Creek star and former University of Kentucky recruit, had plans to visit Morehead State University yesterday (Wednesday) with the possibility of enrolling in the school to continue his basketball career.

Thompson left the Wildcat basketball program because he was unhappy with the atmosphere at the Lexington school. According to reports, Thompson had no friends at the school and that led to his homesickness.

UK coach Rick Pitino agrees "that a lower level of competition would be best suited for Thompson." Thompson is also being courted by Eastern Kentucky and Pikeville College.

Pikeville would be ideal for Thompson with it being close to home. With Thompson at Pikeville to go with a good recruit in Barry Hopkins from Millard, the twosome could very well be on a NAIA championship team before graduating.

Morehead and Eastern are still away from home. Eastern is just down the road from Lexington. Morehead is a terrible drive. I would like to see the 6' 5" Thompson keep his talent right here at home and play for the Bears. It would be nice to see a championship come to the Pikeville school.

I appreciate the comments by Coach Pitino that with the defection of Thompson, UK would not quit recruiting the hills of Eastern Kentucky. "We love the players from Eastern Kentucky," he commented. With other players from the area going and then leaving, one would think the UK brass would be fed up with the talent that won't stay. Not so says Pitino. There may be another John Pelphey on the horizon. Who knows?

HOLIDAYS ARE HISTORY. IT IS BASKETBALL TIME ONCE AGAIN

Well, we hope that everyone had a nice Christmas and New Year. That you got everything you wanted for Christmas. But now it is time to get back to the basketball court.

Tournament action will highlight the basketball schedule for the boys' teams in the county this weekend. Allen Central, McDowell, Betsy Layne, Wheelwright and Prestonsburg will all be playing in tournaments. The girls will return to action tonight (Thursday) with Wheelwright, Prestonsburg and McDowell seeing action.

Allen Central will be the lone Floyd County team in the Paintsville Invitational while Betsy Layne, McDowell and Prestonsburg play at Pikeville. Wheelwright will travel up state to play Greenup County in their invitational.

WILDCATS WILL TEST SEC WATERS

Now that the warm up games are over with, many of the college basketball conferences will get underway this weekend. The same holds true for Coach Rick Pitino's Kentucky Wildcats. The Cats will put their paws in the Southeastern Conference waters with a game against the Georgia Bulldogs (played yesterday) and then host the dangerous Bayou Bengals from Louisiana State this coming Saturday.

Just how good are the Cats? These first two games will tell. However, Kentucky has faced some opponents as tough or tougher than either Georgia or LSU. North Carolina and Indiana were no slouch teams. Kansas is a very competitive opponent. Louisville at home, can be as tough as anyone in the SEC. Should be an interesting race.

Surprise of the SEC! Mississippi State. Played Ohio State tough in the Palm Beach Classic. Cats will go 13-5 in conference; maybe 12-6. Kentucky will be upset by a lower division team because they don't perform too well unless the opponents are rated higher than the Wildcats. Look for Vanderbilt to surprise them as well as Mississippi on the road.

KEATHLEY BACK AT MARTIN

Good to see my long time friend Tony Keathley over the weekend at Martin. Tony and I grew up together and played a lot of basketball. We were talking about the old days when we used to shovel snow away to play a game of basketball. A lost desire today. Tony is a diehard Kentucky Wildcat and Cincinnati Reds fan. He is currently teaching at Martin. Good to see Tony back from Texas.

Until next Wednesday and Friday, good sports. Be good sports!

16 Junior High Basketball Teams To Field Tournament At Pikeville

Sixteen junior high basketball teams from Pike, Floyd and Johnson counties will meet in the Pikeville College gymnasium January 9-12 for the Second Annual Rax Restaurant/Pikeville College Junior High Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Seven teams from Floyd County will be involved in the tournament that will be concluded with the Pikeville Bears taking on the Eagles of Alice Lloyd.

Not just trophies will be at stake in this one. Two computers will also be awarded to two schools showing the best sportsmanship and team spirit throughout the tournament. The deciding factor in what schools receive the computers: each team will be judged on the behavior of the school, their cheerleaders and their fans. Rax Restaurants and Eastern Telephone Company of Pikeville have donated the computers.

Proceeds from the tournament will be donated to the Pikeville College Scholarship fund and to each of the participating schools.

The top four finishing teams and the top four cheerleading squads in the tournament will be given trophies during the Bears' game, at halftime, and all players, cheerleaders, sponsors and coaches at the awards ceremony will receive Rax Restaurant/Pikeville College tournament T-shirts.

Virgie and Meade Memorial will open the tournament on Wednesday, January 9, in a 4 p.m. game. Brushy Creek and Betsy Layne will follow at 5:15. Dorton will take on Martin, runners-up in the Floyd County Grade School tournament at 6:30 p.m. Millard and Osborne will close out the play for the evening with a 7:45 game.

On Thursday, Johns Creek will face a tough John M. Stumbo team at 4 p.m. followed by Mullins and Prater Creek at 5:15 p.m. Floyd County champion, Adams Middle School, will square off against a good Pikeville team at 6:30 p.m. while Kimper and Allen will finish the day at 7:45 p.m.

Each winner of the Wednesday and Thursday games will meet on Friday. The semifinals are scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. with the two winners returning for a 3:30 p.m. game.

The Pikeville College Bears will play the Alice Lloyd College Eagles at 7:30 Saturday evening, following the 5:15 p.m. Lady Bears game against Alice Lloyd.

Advance tickets for all Rax Restaurant/Pikeville College Junior High Invitational Tournament games are available for $2 from Rax Restaurant in Pikeville and Paintsville and from the coaches of all the participating schools.

Jones Scores 29 Points As Pikeville Dismantles Trojans 100-66

Turnovers ruled. Passes weren't sharp. Defense was lacking. That is the way the Wheelwright Trojans appeared against Pikeville Friday night at the T.W. Oliver Fieldhouse where the Pikeville Panthers rolled to a 100-66 victory over the visiting Trojans.

Lee Jones tossed in 29 points to lead the Panthers in scoring. Murray Garvin added 16 and both Todd Smith and Chris Smith scored 13.

Harold Johnson scored 22 points for Wheelwright to lead them in the scoring department. Paul Hall finished with 16 as the only two double figure scorers for the Trojans.

A 16-2 burst by Pikeville midway into the first quarter opened up a 24-6 lead for the host team and they never looked back. Wheelwright had trouble handling the basketball as they turned the ball over nine times in the frame. Wheelwright seemed to be telegraphing their passes as the Panthers picked off several. The Trojans seemed sluggish in the opening quarter that set the tempo of the game.

Pikeville scored first on a basket by Garvin. The Trojans tied the game when Shane McCoy hit underneath. Pikeville missed on their next possession and Wheelwright turned the ball over on their next three possessions. A basket by Jones put the Panthers on top 4-2 and Jones scored again off a turnover by Wheelwright to make it 6-2.

Jimmy Helton connected on a juniper from eight feet to cut the lead to two, 6-4. Chris Smith scored his first two points that gave Pikeville a 8-4 lead. McCoy took a pass underneath for a basket to make it a 8-6 game. From that point Pikeville went on their 16-2 run and led at the end of the first quarter 24-10.

of our offense in the first half," said Trojan coach Monroe Jones. "Their quickness really bothered us and we just weren't ready for it."

"We got to play the whole game with a big lead and that made it comfortable for us," Howard Wallen, the Panther's head coach, said. "We weren't out there to run the score up on Wheelwright. Our team philosophy is to be a pressing team. We try to start early and get out fast to establish a lead."

The Panthers established the early lead according to their game plan, holding a 20 point advantage at the half, 44-24.

Wheelwright did cut the lead back to 10 points in the second quarter, 32-22, but Pikeville outscored Wheelwright 12-2 in the final minutes of the half.

Wheelwright could get no closer than 13 points, 55-42, with 2:09 to go in the third period. Harold Johnson hit a three-pointer and Michael Newsome canned a basket underneath. Johnson hit his second trey and Newsome scored again underneath to cut the lead to 55-42. Pikeville then went on a 9-0 run to go out to a 64-42 third quarter lead.

"We basically played the way we have been practicing," said Jones. "I hope the kids will see they need to practice harder and play harder than they did tonight. We were sluggish coming onto the floor. We are going

Prestonsburg JVs Slip Past Belfry In Overtime, 57-54

Cory Reitz hit a three-point basket and tossed in a free throw in the overtime period to lead the Prestonsburg junior varsity team to a thrilling 57-54 win over the Belfry Pirates' JV squad. Reitz scored 21 points in the game as the lefthander tossed in four three-point baskets.

With 4:13 to go in regulation play, the Blackcats held a slim 44-42 lead. Ralph West then connected on a jumper to tie the game at 44-44. Prestonsburg's Sean Damron, off a "Carolina" play, hit a three-point jumper to give Prestonsburg a 47-44 lead.

Jay Hyden scored underneath for the Pirates and was fouled on the play to make it 47-46. Hyden, with a chance to tie the score, missed the free throw. Mike Caldwell gave Prestonsburg a three point lead with a bucket at the 3:22 mark. Steve Staton hit two charity tosses to keep the Pirates close at 49-48.

After an exchange of turnovers, Caldwell fouled Denier Lraven who tied the game at 49-49 by hitting one of two free throws. The Blackcats turned the ball over on their next two possessions, the latter coming with 1:59 showing. Belfry, however, could not capitalize on the Blackcats' mistakes as Ralph West went to the charity stripe where he failed to connect on a two shot opportunity.

Reitz then hit a three-pointer off the right side to put the Blackcats up 52-49. Staton's basket made it 52-51 with 1:19 to go in regulation play.

Belfry picked off a Prestonsburg pass and missed on a wide open shot with Prestonsburg grabbing the rebound and calling time out with 47 seconds remaining. When played resumed, Reitz threw an errant pass that sailed out of bounds, turning the ball over to Belfry.

After the Pirates lost the ball out of bounds, the ball came into Reitz and he was called for traveling giving the ball back to Belfry with 25 seconds to go and the ball underneath the Pirates' basket. On the inbounds pass, Reitz intercepted and pushed the ball up the floor to Sean Damron who was open for the layup but was fouled on the attempt. Damron connected on one of the two shots to give Prestonsburg a 53-51 lead with just 12 seconds to go. Belfry turned the ball over with nine seconds showing. On the inbounds play, Reitz could find nowhere to pass the ball and called time out. When the teams returned to the court, Kevin Conley took the ball out of bounds and heaved a long pass down court to a breaking Reitz. The ball went out of bounds and to the Pirates with eight seconds to go.

"Total team effort...." Newsome :

Betsy Layne Defeats Matewan, Walton; Wins Mountain Schoolboy Classic

The weather outside the Belfry gym was anything but favorable, but inside the Betsy Layne Bobcats were set to meet once beaten Walton-Verona in the finals of the Pizza Hut Mountain Schoolboy Classic. The rain was a steady downpour with the temperatures beginning to drop. But all the attention on this night was inside the gymnasium where the two finalists hooked up in a close one. Close until the fourth quarter.

Betsy Layne outscored their opponents 24-9 in the fourth period to pull off a stunning 79-66 win over Walton-Verona to capture the tournament crown.

"We just wore them down in the fourth quarter," said Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome, "and we played a good defensive game all the way. They started tiring in the fourth quarter and missed some shots they were making earlier."

Phillip King led the Betsy Layne team in scoring with 26 points and teammate Adam Gearheart hit for 19 points in the victory.

"It was a total team effort on the part of this team," the Bobcat mentor continued to say. "We played a tight man-to-man defense with pressure. Our whole team is playing better."

Foul trouble caught up with the Bobcats as three starters had to be relegated to the bench. However, it was the play of the bench that rose to the occasion for Betsy Layne. Jody Coleman came in and tossed in nine points. Berne Eplin, returning from an injury that had him sidelined for two weeks, added four points but played a big game on the boards.

"Our bench did a great job for us," said Newsome. "Shawn Wallen had a good defensive game. Coleman did a great job. Like I said, it was a total team effort."

After leading by four at the end of the first quarter, 20-16, the Bobcats trailed at the half 41-39. It was 57-55 entering the fourth quarter when the Bobcats caught fire and forgot about the weather outside.

"Walton-Verona is a good ball club," explained Newsome. "The only game they lost before tonight was to Fort Thomas Highland. They were in the quarter-finals of the Class A State Tournament last year and had all their players back. They were a quick team with good balance. And they could hit the three-pointers."

Keith Hall added 11 points for Betsy Layne and drew the praises of his coach. "Keith is a good role player," stated Newsome. "He takes care of the basketball and if we can get nine to 10 points a game out of him it will be a bonus to this club."

"Winning a tournament of this magnitude has to be a confidence booster for us," explained the Betsy Layne head coach. "The players are starting to believe in themselves. They are starting to realize they can be a good basketball team. Winning a game such as this is a credit to our team. It was a challenge to us. Our whole team is just playing better basketball."

The win ran the Bobcats record to 7-4 on the year. The loss was the second for Walton-Verona and they

Rebels Shake Holiday Layoff; Defeat Magoffin County, 50-38

It wasn't a very pretty game. Both team were sluggish from start to finish. However, the Allen Central Rebels shook off the holiday doldrums to go on and defeat the Magoffin County Hornets for the second time this season, 50-38. The Rebels won over the Hornets at Magoffin County in both teams' season openers.

Magoffin County had shown remarkable improvement since the first game of the season and gave the Rebels a difficult time through most of the game. In fact, the first quarter was all Hornets as they held a 14-9 first quarter lead. The Hornets built the lead by controlling the boards and taking care of the basketball.

But, like most young teams, the Hornets could not stand prosperity and the Rebels took charge. A 11-0 run close to the end of the third period helped the Rebels to break a 25-25 tie and race out to a 36-25 third quarter lead. The lead came behind the hot shooting of Chuck Laferty. The big junior scored nine of the 11 points in the run including a three-pointer that seemed to stifle the Hornets' sting. Laferty finished the game with 16 points to lead the Rebels. But Laferty did more than score. He was a force on the boards for the Rebels and keyed several fast breaks with steals. Magoffin closed to within eight points, 38-30, early in the fourth period on a free throw, a basket by Jason Hanson and a bucket by Jesse Russell. Ronnie Sammons, on a nice assist by Laferty, scored on a break to make it 40-30. Carl Watkins hit two baskets to give Allen Central a 44-30 lead. Russell hit two baskets — the last being a trey — to pull back to within nine points, 44-35. Darrell Russell's three-pointer made it 45-38 with 1:29 to go in the game. From that point on the Rebels were consistently marching to the free throw line as the Hornets were unable to score in the final two minutes of the game.

Brian Hall led the Rebel comeback in the second quarter with two quick baskets to bring his team back to a three point deficit, 16-13. After David Gibson missed two free throws, Mike Allen, who is improving with every game, hit two baseline jumpers to give the Rebels a 17-16 lead. Laferty stole the ball and went the length of the floor for a basket and Allen hit again for a 21-16 Rebel lead. Chester Humphrey took an offensive rebound for a put back to make it 21-18. Sammons scored on a jumper just before the half ended to give the Rebels a 23-18 halftime lead.

Magoffin opened hot in the third quarter, outscoring the Rebels 7-2 to tie the game at 25-all with 4:24 to go. It was the fifth tie of the game. Humphrey hit a free throw and Russell canned two baskets following a basket by Sammons for Allen Central. Holiday capped off the run with two free throws.

Allen Central really struggled through the first quarter with Magoffin County getting second and third shots at the basket. The Hornets controlled the boards because of the lack of blocking out by the Rebels. Allen Central turned the ball over five times in the first quarter — crediting the Hornets' defense. The Rebels had a total of 11 turnovers for the game as they were able to take better care of the ball in the second half. Magoffin County had 18 miscues.

Besides Laferty's 16 points, Ronnie Sammons tossed in 12 points and Brian Hall finished with eight. Both Allen and Watkins added six points.

Russell led the Hornets in scoring with 17 points. Hanson tossed in seven and Humphrey netted five points.

Allen Central goes to 6-4 on the season while the Hornets drop their eighth game to go with two victories.

Allen Central will be back on the floor Friday night in the Paintsville Invitational.

have to practice harder and improve, we need to."

Jones said that at halftime they talked of using the second half to get back into the game. "We just haven't looked good all year," he said. "Maybe the kids will realize how important it is to play hard. When you face a team like Pikeville, you have to be ready to play."

Pikeville opened the lead up to 34 points, 76-42, when Coach Wallen went to the bench with the Pikeville fans wanting the Panthers to hit the century mark. With 19 seconds to go, junior John Kelly canned two charity tosses to put the 100 points on the scoreboard.

The up tempo Pikeville team played to the liking of Coach Wallen. "This is my favorite kind of team," he said. "I like the up tempo style of play. All of my teams have played this way."

Wallen confessed that when he was coaching at Allen Central that he pushed his players too much and too early. "I was young and enthusiastic and every year I was going to win the state tournament. I pushed the players and when it came tournament time they were worn out."

Wallen says that is the way it used to be and that with age he has changed his philosophy and doesn't push his players as much.

"Now, I let them learn as the season goes on. By tournament time they will be or should be ready."

Wallen said that his team is right on schedule as far as his expectations. "Were are where we should be this time of year," he said.

Jones said that he allowed his team to play the way they did just to show them that they can't win games that way. "I don't think that Pikeville is a 40 point better team than us," he explained. "But the players have to learn they can't play the way they want to and win. I just hope they have learned from this game."

Wheelwright had 21 turnovers in the contest compared to six for Pikeville. Wheelwright falls to 3-5 on the season while Pikeville improves to 6-fell to 10-2.

Both teams advanced to the finals of the tournament with first round victories over two good ball clubs. Walton-Verona defeated Belfry, 79-70 in their first game and Betsy Layne eliminated Matewan, W. Va., 57-49 in a low scoring affair.

Adam Gearheart led the Betsy Layne team with 23 points with King tossing in 10 points in an off night. The Bobcats held a 16 point lead over Matewan, only to let them back in the game in the final period. The Bobcats withstood the charge and won 57-49. "Matewan is going to be a good ball club," said Newsome. "This was only their third game of the season because they start later than we do. They played Belfry tough in the consolation game for three quarters." Belfry defeated Matewan 100-71 in the game for third place.

Newsome said that his ball club was flat and played flat against Matewan, accounting for the low score. "We were coming off an big emotional game with University Heights (the Bobcats lost 49-48 to the Class A state champions on a last second shot). We had a letdown from that. We missed some early shots also."

Keith Hali added nine points in the win over Matewan.

Betsy Layne will be in action tonight against Johns Creek with a 7 p.m. tip off time in the second round of the Pikeville Invitational. Prestonsburg faces Shelby Valley in game two tonight.

McDowell Junior Pro Underway; Thanks Supporters For Help

The 1990-91 McDowell Junior Pro Basketball League is well underway with the league playing their games on Saturdays at the McDowell gym. The league is comprised of two divisions - training league and junior varsity league — with hopes of beginning a varsity league by the first of the year.

Six teams make up the training league while there are four junior varsity teams. Don Shannon, president of the league, says that the league could not be a reality without the devoted coaches in the league. "The coaches come down here and devote their time, efforts and energy to teaching these kids how to play the game of basketball," he stated.

Training league coaches include: Doug Tackett, White Wildcats; Arthur Fannin, Green Hornets; Clinis Hall, Yellowjackets; Ralph Slone, Lakers; James Hall, Cougars; Kathy Layne, Blue Wildcats.

Coaches for the Junior Varsity league are: Ernie Moore, Celtics; Donnie Shannon, Lakers; Ralph Slone, Blue Devils; Clinis Hall, Yellowjackets.

The league has bought uniforms for all the teams in the league from donations and raising money on their own.

"We would like to thank principal Bob Hall of McDowell and the McDowell coaching staff for their help and support that they have given the league this year," said Shannon. "We would like to also thank all the parents and fans who support the league and help with the concession stand and raising of money."

Newsome's Bobcats Face
Johns Creek Tonight In PIT

The Betsy Layne Bobcats, coming off a big emotional tournament championship last week at Belfry, will get right back into tournament play tonight as they face a good Johns Creek Bearcat team in the Pikeville Invitational.

Betsy Layne, with a record of 7-4, and winner of the Pizza Hut Mountain Schoolboy Classic, is perhaps playing the best basketball of the season. The Bobcats are getting some production out of a bench that had been silent until now.

Jody Coleman, Shawn Wallen, Berne Eplin have each made contributions in the Bobcats' last four games. The Bobcats are led in scoring by Phillip King and Adam Gearheart. King is carrying a 21.0 points per game average and Gearheart is close behind with a 19.0 per game average. King also leads the team in rebounds with 11 per contest.

Point guard play by Keith Hall has been a big plus for Coach Junior Newsome's team. The senior guard has cut down on the turnovers and seems to be taking care of the ball better lately.

If there is one thing needed for the Bobcats, it is for Chris Newsome to find his scoring eye again. The senior two-guard has been in a mild slump of late but still plays the hard-nosed defense that his team needs.

Confidence goes along way with a high school basketball team and the Bobcats have confidence. They have played with some of the best of them before and after the holidays. Betsy Layne took state champion University Heights to the last second before falling 49-48. Wins over Matewan and Walton-Verona went a long way in boosting that confidence.

The Bearcats are a young team, but with experience. "They are a big team," said Newsome. "Of course everyone we play is bigger than us and that's the reason we have to play so hard."

The Bearcats will be led by their big center, Bill West at 6' 5". West is tough down low. The Bearcats center also likes the short, eight foot jumper.

At 6' 4", Simon Ratliff will provide some inside work for the Bearcats also. The big scorer for Johns Creek will be Paxton Weddington who plays guard. Weddington is carrying a 19 points per game average and has the three-point range down pat. Johns Creek will be looking for some point production from Doug Blackburn (10 ppg).

Johns Creek defeated Wheelwright back on December 15 at Wheelwright with Weddington firing in 21 points. Blackburn had 12 points and West 13 against the Trojans.

One thing the Bearcats will lack is quickness. They don't seem to be a team blessed with a lot of speed, which could be a problem if Betsy Layne decides to apply full court pressure. Lack of depth is another area of concern for the Bearcats coaching staff, especially if foul trouble occurs.

Game time is 7 p.m. at the Pikeville gym.

Pikeville Invitational Tournament
January 2-5, 1991

Blackcats Will Tangle With Guard Oriented Shelby Valley In Invitational

Tonight in the second game of the Pikeville Invitational basketball tournament, Coach Gordon Parido's Prestonsburg Blackcats will face the consolidation of the Dorton Wildcats and Virgie Eagles — known better as the Shelby Valley Wildcats.

Shelby Valley (7-1), coached by veteran coach Bobby Osborne, will bring a guard oriented team into the Pikeville gym in tonight's second game.

The Wildcats will be an up tempo team that likes to run the court and are not a bit bashful about shooting the three-pointer. Lack of height for the Wildcats is made up in determination. Bobby Keys, a 6' 5" transfer student from Mullins High School, holds down the center spot for Coach Osborne's ball club. After Keys, the Wildcats drop in size to 6' 2" Mitch Harris who plays point guard for Shelby Valley. Harris does not look to do much scoring but that doesn't mean he can't. Harris has speed, quickness and a good sense for the basketball court.

Chad Bowling, 6' 0" will play at the shooting guard position. Bowling is a scoring threat no matter where he is on the court. A real good shooter from 20 feet out, Bowling can bring a team back in a hurry. He drives the lane real well and is overlooked for his assists.

The other guard starting for the Wildcats will be last year's freshman sensation from Dorton, Jeremy Johnson. Johnson can fill the basket from the outside, particularly the corners. While slow afoot, Johnson is dangerous with the basketball in his hands.

The Wildcats have lost only once this season and that was in the Hazard Invitational. However, Shelby Valley defeated Harrison County in the Ashland Invitational, 82-74, with Bowling getting 22 points and hitting four of four from three-point land. Johnson scored 19 in the game.

Prestonsburg (1-5) has shown some vast improvement since the start of the season. Worthie McGuire and John Clark lead a very young Blackcat squad against the Wildcats tonight. The one thing that has been a problem area for the Blackcats — turnovers — still looms as a problem. Coach Parido hopes to see his team handle the ball better as they face Shelby Valley.

Jason Crisp, the off guard, has shown signs of coming around in the scoring department for Prestonsburg. Crisp had a good game against Betsy Layne and Pikeville before getting into foul trouble against Feds Creek.

The biggest improvement for the Blackcats has been the play of Chris Burke (6' 5"). Burke has been steadily improving with each game and, if the process continues, he could be the one that helps turn the Blackcats season around. Burke seems to be moving better without the ball and finding himself open underneath.

Game time for this one is 8:30 p.m. at the Pikeville gym.

Lady Trojans Face Johnson
Central As Season Resumes

Tonight the Wheelwright Lady Trojans will return to the basketball court after the holiday layoffs. The ironic thing about the Lady Trojans schedule thus far is that they have not played very many games compared to other teams. Wheelwright brings their their 2-0 record to Johnson Central tonight in quest of their third consecutive win.

Coach Donnie Daniels will have to contain the likes of Susan Roberts underneath the basket for the Lady Eagles. Roberts likes the base line and will burn you on the inside also.

The point guard position for the Lady Golden Eagles will be held down by Janet Blair. Blair is quick and likes the eight to 10 foot jumpers. She has good speed on defense and can hit the three-pointer.

Amy Williams plays the strong inside center post. Williams is slow, but once inside can do some damage. Amy Castle is a good role player and a good defensive player even though she does not look to score much.

Johnson Central has fallen to two county teams — McDowell and Prestonsburg — already this season. The Lady Golden Eagles lost to Prestonsburg in the finals of the Lady Cat Invitational and fell at McDowell just before the Christmas break. The loss to McDowell helped snap a four game losing streak for the Lady Devils.

Wheelwright will look to team leader Becky Allen, who tossed in 21 points against Mullins in her team's last game. Allen, along with Vicki Johnson and Stephanie Little, will have to be the force on this year's Lady Trojan team.

Lack of size for Wheelwright could pose a problem for the smaller Lady Trojans. Wheelwright will have to battle the likes of Williams and Roberts, who are both good rebounders, for dominance of the boards.

It will be a big road test for Daniel's team. Game time is 7:30 with the JV game scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

Belfry's Quickness Too Much For Blackcats in 91-53 Loss

What is wrong with the Belfry Pirates? That is the question being asked around the 15th Region this year. The Pirates, defending 15th Region champions, have been "sputtering" of late and have basketball fans wondering.

The Pirates showed Saturday night that the Belfry Pirates are well and rolling along as they handed the Prestonsburg Blackcats a 91-53 whipping at Prestonsburg to even their season record at 6-6. Prestonsburg fell to 1-6 on the year.

Four players hit double figures for the Pirates, led by J. J. Hylton's 22 points. Shawn Hager added 16 points and Jim Dotson tossed in 12. Timmy Kiser finished with 10 points.

Offensively, the Blackcats struggled, being led by Aaron Tucker's 11 points off the bench. James Derossett added 10 points. Freshman Cory Reitz, also off the pines, tossed in seven points.

"Cory played a good game for us," said Blackcat coach Gordon Parido. "He isn't very big and is not a strong player. He, physically, is not ready to be starting yet. I thought that Phillip Patton (another freshman) played well tonight."

Belfry scored 13 straight points midway through the first quarter to break open a close 8-6 game. Hylton led the charge with five points. The spurt put the Pirates on top 21-6 before Reitz hit a jumper to break the scoring drought for Prestonsburg.

Turnovers hurt the Blackcats as Belfry built a 50-22 halftime advantage. Prestonsburg turned the ball over six times in the first quarter and seven times in the second. The Blackcats mishandled the basketball 19 times.

Coach Parido contributes the inconsistency of this year's Blackcat team to not being able to play as yet with his top seven players.

"That's right. We have yet to have our top seven players available for a game this season," he explained. Missing for the Belfry game was Richard Smith, who had been showing signs of good improvement. Also missing was leading scorer John Thomas Clark who was suspended for missing practice.

"Where Richard is is anyone's guess," said Parido. "He was supposed to have been back for practice on Tuesday."

At one point in the second quarter the Blackcats turned the ball over on seven consecutive possessions.

One of the problem areas for the Blackcats was the lack of offense. Prestonsburg had a hard time trying to generate some offense against the Pirates, who really weren't pressuring the ball that much.

"We have been averaging about 23.5 turnovers a game," explained Parido, "compared to our opponents' 13. That is 10 more possessions for the team we play against. That, plus the fact that we are shooting only 39 percent for the game."

The failure of Worthie McGuire to get involved in the offense for Prestonsburg has caused some concern for the Prestonsburg coaching staff. McGuire finished with just six points. McGuire seemed not to play with the confidence he has shown before.

"Worthie, I am worried about him," said Parido. "I don't know what is wrong. I do know that we need him in the offense more."

Belfry blew out to a 75-37 third quarter lead. The game was not without its bright spots for the Blackcats. The play of Aaron Tucker, who also has spent some time on the suspension list, was on the positive side. Tucker seemed to take command after entering the game.

"Tucker did a great job for us," the Blackcat coach stated. "He did some good things in the game."

Tucker made some good drives to the basket for some scores. He also had a three-pointer in the contest.

"We did some things well in the game," Parido continued to explain. "We got beat by a real good team but I don't think they are 40 points better than we are."

"At one point in the game I looked out on the floor and saw that I had two freshmen, two sophomores and junior out there. We are a young team," said Parido. "Seems that there is a new situation every time at practice. It is tough to see what direction we are going. We need to find the problems early and correct them."

Parido said this is the first time he has had to take games away from players as a form of correction. That's something he does not enjoy doing. "It seems that we have a lot of immature kids who can't live by the strict rules. They figure that the rules don't apply to them," the coach said.

Another bright spot for the Blackcats was the aggressive play of Chris Burke. On several occasions, Burke took the ball to the basket with authority. Burke had six points in the game, pulled down four rebounds and had two blocked shots. McGuire and Tucker also had four boards.

Tucker had four assists along with Robert Hammond's three.

Prestonsburg will return to the hardwood tonight against Shelby Valley in the Pikeville Invitational at 8:30 p.m.

came into Staton, who took the ball the length of the court to hit a 10 foot jumper at the buzzer to tie the game at 53-53 and bringing up an overtime.

Reitz hit a three-pointer at the start of the overtime as Prestonsburg controlled the tip off. The trey was all the Blackcats needed as Belfry could only score a free throw in the overtime period and that came with five seconds remaining in overtime.

Anthony Howell had seven points for Prestonsburg in the game. Darnon finished with five and Jamie Derossett added four. Eric Fitzner scored three while Caldwell and Mark Bentley tallied two each.

4 players hit double figures
Allen Central Has Easy Time With Leslie Co. In 73-63 Victory

The surprising Allen Central Rebels keep surprising basketball fans with their good play this year. Saturday night at Leslie County the Rebels defeated the host school 73-63 in what Rebel Coach Johnny Martin termed "their best game of the season."

"This had to be our best game we have played this year," said the Rebel mentor. "I mean from start to finish. We played real well and played as well as this team is capable of playing."

Ronnie Sammons has been making his return to the basketball court known by the way he has played in the last two games. Sammons tossed in 17 points to lead the Rebels, who had four players to hit in double figures. Chuck Laferty, who continues to play consistent basketball, added 16 points. The Hall boys (no relation) were other double figure scorers for Allen Central. Stewart Hall, getting a starting assignment, netted 14 points in a good outing and Brian Hall tallied 13.

The Rebels rolled out to an early 10 point lead and extended that to 15 points in the second quarter. Leslie County scored seven quick points before the half, cutting the Rebel lead to eight at the half 37-29.

"We shot real well in the first half," said Martin, and we shot well for the whole game. Our bench came in and did a great job for us."

Martin started three guards in the game and was well pleased with the rebounding effort he got from the trio.

"Our guards did a great job on the boards for us," he said. "They had 24 rebounds in the game and that was real good."

Stewart Hall, in a starting role, pulled down 10 rebounds, Sammons hauled in nine and Brian Hall had five. "We held them (Leslie County) to three offensive rebounds in the game. So I was real pleased with that," said Martin.

Martin said that one of the big differences in the game was that his ball club ran the fast break so well. The Rebels shot 49 percent for the game hitting two three-pointers — by Laferty and Stewart Hall.

Leslie County made a mild comeback in the third quarter, cutting the Rebel lead to four points. But a spurt by Allen Central took the lead back out to 12 points which they held at the end of the third period. After that the final margin was the closest Leslie County could get to Allen Central.

Sammons, who had to sit out several games, got to see some action at the Sheldon Clark invitational, and played in the win over Magoffin County, drew the praise of his coach.

"Ronnie has really helped us since coming back," explained Martin. "He had a good outing against Magoffin County and had 17 points for us tonight."

The Rebels improve to 7-4 on the season, and that has surprised a lot of people, including the Rebel coach. Leslie falls to 4-6.

"Yes, I am surprised we have played as well as we have," the Rebel mentor explained, "especially in the last three games. We are playing so much better and what has been surprising is our defense. I did not expect it to come around this early. We are playing good defense and that helps a lot."

Martin confesses that the upcoming schedule will dictate just how good this Rebel team really is.

"We have some tough games coming up," he said, "and looking down the schedule you see teams like Napier, Betsy Layne, Shelby Valley coming up and it is going to be tough."

Carl Watkins continues to give Coach Martin some quality playing time off the bench. Watkins had six points in the win over Leslie County. Mike Allen added four points and Todd Lucas scored three.

Allen Central will host the Navaho's of M. C. Napier Tuesday night at Allen Central.

by Aileen Hall

Any time I send my husband grocery shopping, it's a good indication that we're having some sort of crisis. Either I am disabled in some way or the sky is falling on my head.

Ever since he compared two tubes of toothpaste and learned he could get twice as much for a few cents more, he has been lugging home large economy-sized packages.

There was a time when you could choose products in small, medium and large sizes, but now they have added giant, huge and humongous. We live in a two-story, eight-room house but there still isn't room to store all those Goodyear Blimp-sized packages.

A few weeks ago we bought a large box of corn flakes. I didn't want to leave them on the breakfast bar so I turned the box on its side to get it in the cabinet.

In due time we used them up; so when Walter said he was going to the store again, I said, "You might want to get some more corn flakes."

He didn't get the large size this time. He got the box in the blimp-sized range. We didn't have a cabinet with enough space for it, even turned on its side, so it wound up on top of the refrigerator.

Something went wrong with the ice-maker after that and I had to call the repairman. When he came, I headed him toward the kitchen. "It's that two-door appliance," I told him, "that sits beneath the box of corn flakes."

A couple of months ago, our daughter's family came from Florida for a visit. I was about halfway through deep-frying a platter of fish when I thought to ask my husband, "Would you mind going to the store for a bottle of catsup?" That was a mistake. He came back with a container resembling a gallon milk jug.

"The only way that will fit in the refrigerator," I told him, "will be if we discard the buttermilk and the jar of dill pickles."

He defended his purchase saying, "You know how those boys like catsup."

"They're only here for three days," I said, "but if you'll buy a styrofoam cooler and pack it in ice, they can take it home with them."

After dinner, Nancy was helping me clean up the kitchen. She was putting something on a shelf when she exclaimed, "Mother! Why do you have margarine and Cool Whip in a cabinet?"

"I don't. Both containers are filled with Quaker oats. Your father bought such a large package I had to divide it up to get it in the cabinet."

"Do you think that's very smart?" she asked.

"If I'd been thinking smart," I answered, "I never would have sent him to the store."

When I have a long grocery list I prefer going to the supermarket alone. But the "great provider" offered to go with me recently and we wound up shopping together.

I laid my list in the grocery cart where we could both see it, then stopped off in the greeting card section. I browsed longer than I meant to while he roamed up and down the aisles. When I found him again, he had a dozen eggs, a package of cake mix and a box of detergent that almost needed a cart of its own. "Whatever will you do with a box that big?" I demanded.

"Come look," he said. "This nine-pound box is $9.95 and 25 pounds is $19.95. There is four dollars off and a five dollar mail-in rebate. For the same price you get over twice as much. I would be foolish not to take it."

"There's not room in our house for a box that big," I told him. "If you take it home, you'll have to stand and hold it."

"Oh, surely there's room," he countered. "We'll set it on the floor by the washer."

"To do that," I said, "we'd have to take out the dryer or the ironing board and I really need them both. If we set it on the back steps, it will likely get rained on, and the refrigerator already has the corn flakes."

As we worked our way around the other grocery carts, I heard him muttering, "I can't believe you couldn't find a place."

"Well, yes," I agreed, "there is one place. We could put it on the dining room table, but you know we do have company for dinner now and then."

"But if you wish," I added, "we could borrow all our neighbors' Cool Whip cartons and divide it up. I could put a couple under the sink, two more on the grocery shelf and stack the rest in a closet corner."

He put the giant-sized container back on its shelf and chose another—one we could use up in less than a year.

Starting off, I think I'll take the opportunity to vent some frustration. I recently had the experience that all dating singles dread the most. I got stood up.

Everything was set up, we agreed on a place and time to meet, what we were going to do (I was going to cook dinner for her and take her to a movie, in case you're interested), and she just didn't show. I talked to her later and she gave me some excuse about the rain.

Why would someone back out of a date, especially a date with a journalistic type like myself, for no apparent reason? Anybody got an answer? Now that I've gotten that off my chest...

* "Over 80,000 lbs." dept.

I realize that the coal trucks must now be routed through Salyersville because of the unsafe bridge leading into Prestonsburg, but there have been consequences. Directly across from Wal-Mart, there's a huge pothole.

I was following this Yugo Turbo GT towards Middle Creek and home when I saw the poor little car drop out of sight. The last thing I saw was the sheer terror on the driver's face. Shaken, I drove on, wishing someone could do a little road work. Then I thought, "What the hey, it's only a Yugo..."

* Miscellaneous dept.

It's almost time for me to go back down Rt. 460 to school. I've only got about a week to squeeze in all the relaxation that I can before the grind starts. I know, I don't have room to complain since I'm not paying bills yet, but hey, I'm just a stressed-out college student. What can I do?

I hope all of you had an eventful (but safe) New Year's. May the new year be good to you and may your resolutions last at least through the end of February.

And finally, a personal note to Ron Frasure Jr.: The deal's off. I lost my pocket knife and the leashes broke.

Later days.

Reminiscences of my cousin, Henry Hale

by James Darwin Stephens Lit USA - Ret.

We were little boys then, when mother took Edgar and me almost every summer to visit grandfather and grandmother, Alexander and Delilah Hale Stephens, on Middle Creek.

Grandfather would bring his mule-drawn wagon to town and pick us up. Then he drove the team across the old bridge opposite the Bank Josephine, down the cinder road by the railway track toward West Prestonsburg. We passed the farrier shop and another rickety bridge, turned the bend at Spurlock fork, and finally arrived at the big two-story house.

Great-grandfather, Samuel Hale, was usually sitting at the edge of the porch, legs crossed, gently scratching the skin cancer on the right side of his nose; perhaps, pondering the time when his life would ebb to death. I loved this octogenarian gentleman, sparse of hair but covered by a broad-brimmed hat, the lower part of his face with a well-trimmed grayish-white goatee.

He was a very quiet man and never complained of the illness that was to take his life a few years later. Castor oil, as the doctors had prescribed, did nothing for his malady except to relieve the itching. When he went at about age 88, he, like several other Hales, was put to rest on the hillside cemetery above the roadway.

Those visits were enjoyed simply in those days. I looked forward to be with Sam Henry and Thomas, and sometimes Ellis Hale, another cousin. We could go see my grandfather Alex at his sawmill, a few yards from the big house near the road. In the shavings and sawdust, he usually had a bit of ardent spirits hidden beneath the lathe bench, especially from grandmother who simply despised the stuff, and who would scold him severely should he find his smidgen cache.

But grandfather Alex never tried to bootleg the prime "white lightning" moonshine, that excellent potion he manufactured out of his still up the draw beyond the sawmill. He made it for himself and several friends around Blue River, including James "Bluehead" Hale and Dayrus Montgomery. Occasionally, he trotted off to town with a few Mason jars of the good-tastin' stuff, to share with friends and politicians at the courthouse. They seemed to enjoy his homemade concoction with equal fervor. But in my lifetime, I never saw grandfather drunk or staggering; however, he always had a glow and was ever ready to tell an amusing tale.

Grandmother, like the Hales I knew, never saw a stranger. Whenever anyone passed by on the dusty road (very muddy in winter and after a rain), she hailed them, pleading that they drop in for a chat or for something to eat. On her coal and wood burning stove, something was always cooking for anyone's greedy palate. In the oven was cornbread or a fresh homemade loaf of white bread. When we sat down at the table (a setting for not less than 10), grandmother insisted on standing aside while we ate, swishing the flies away with her hand-cut leafy switch.

Not yet 10 years old, my main enjoyment was going to the barn and barnyard with my cousins to see the mules, cows, pigs, and chickens. There's nothing more tasty than a barnyard chicken. And grandmother had plenty of them. Henry, who seemed to be more active than his brothers, Sam and Thomas, would lead this troop of youngsters up to the Hale Cemetery on the precipitous slope beyond grandmother's store. We read the grave inscriptions, then spent time looking for flint rocks and arrowheads. Granddad had already said there were Civil War bullets to be found on the opposite hill "where the Yankees and Rebels had fought." Somehow, we never took the time or opportunity to expand our search.

When we finished our hillside venture, we descended and entered grandmother's general store. It was something to behold, for she sold just about everything from homemade lye soap, barrel sugar and soup crackers, bib overalls that hung from the ceiling and that delicious coffee in the Arbuckle paper package—a brand that passed with the times and now is no longer heard of.

Her kindness was extremely appealing, though she stood staunch and stern-like behind the counter, usually chewing a wad of home-grown twist, and at the same time eying us in a bold, assertive manner. We like her even more when she handed us a stick of peppermint, a square of licorice, or a plaited piece of horehound candy.

Sam was the senior of our little group, while Henry was the most frisky and outgoing. The term "hyperactive" wasn't heard of in those days. Thomas was a quiet-natured young boy, who, unfortunately, did not live to see his 20th birthday. Edgar Hale, last of the Hale brothers, wasn't born at this time. Henry, the playful one, splashed in the creek near Great-Uncle George's house. We had frolicsome days, though simple they were, wading in the creek while trying to trap the minnows. Bare feet slipped over the smooth gravels as we tried to catch the "wiggly little devils."

As Henry grew up, his personality never changed. Whenever I saw him, he was the same young boy cousin I knew so well in earlier years. Quite dapper and a sport about town (whenever he came to town), and before World War II, he could be seen occasionally careening on the streets of Prestonsburg in his brand spankin' new and shiny Hudson convertible. I thought twice and was rather cautious whenever he invited me for a ride in his fancy car.

My cousin, Henry C(lay) Hale, maintained that young, boyish attitude I had always known. He has a particular effervescence not recognized in many of his age and time. And his passing creates a burden of sorrow in me. Henry, likewise, had his share of sorrow, when he lost a child and other members in the Hale family. He persevered through past agonies, never forgetting his long heritage, and eventually became a servant of the public, doing for the public good.

So shall we, who loved him well, persevere, never forgetting his deeds and the accomplishments he achieved for Floyd County.

It will soon be time to start thinking of seed sowing in flats, coffee cans, cottage cheese cartons and any other empty containers around the place. Me—I am already thinking and planning.

You can start sowing seeds now. After sowing the seed, wrap the containers in aluminum foil and place in the deep freezer. If your freezer is like mine, there should be no problem finding space.

When it is time to sow your seed, take the trays and the containers out and set in a warm place, with foil still around them. Check in two days for sprouts. If there aren't any, re-cover and check them each day. When the sprout start showing up, unwrap the foil and set the tray in a sunny window.

Some seeds are slower to germinate than others. Some are so slow we have a tendency to give up on them. Parsley is the slowest one I have ever run across. If you use the above freezer method, you will be surprised to see their sprouts within one week. According to the old legend, parsley seed must go to the devil and back seven times before seedlings can emerge above the ground. Where this legend started or why isn't all that clear to me, but you can outwit both the parsley and the devil by using the freezer method.

Some seeds must be soaked overnight for them to germinate. I myself have trouble trying to sow wet seed evenly. They have always ended coming up in bunches. I finally found a way to prevent this. Find a container you can make one hole in the bottom and plug the hole with a cork. An old dishpan is ideal for this.

Fill the containers with potting soil two inches from the top. Fill the container with water to within one inch from the top. Sow your seeds evenly on top of the water. Set the container aside and let it stand for the Well, Santa has come and gone and I must admit I'm somewhat glad the chaos is over.

How Scrooge of me, you say. I'm sorry to sound so bah humbug, but the feeling is one of relief that the season is over—and that's the truth (to quote Edith Ann).

Some hideous virus erupted at our house Christmas Eve. It spread through three of us, lasting through Christmas Day and on into the night. It doesn't make a very Merry Christmas when you're hugging the porcelain bowl.

But, honestly, Ol' Santa was extremely kind to the Frasure household. And so were all our relatives. Maybe next year we can all enjoy the holiday without a virus creeping around.

***New Year's Resolutions***

By the time you're reading this column, you'll have either broken your New Year's resolution, or you're struggling to keep it. This column is actually being written on December 27, so with this in mind, I'm anticipating that my resolution will have absolutely driven me nuts by the time this print hits the streets.

Sure it's the same one I've made and broken the last nine years. If I remember correctly, I think I kept my resolution—NO MORE SMOKING—through one entire day.

I like to consider myself as a person who can do whatever she sets her mind to do, but this habit has really beat me for the last 10 years. And now, the cost of these little suckers is about to break me.

So, one more New Year's resolution is to be made. Let's go for it Kim; let's try it one more time for the New Year 1991.

"I, Kim Frasure, do hope to never pick up another Virginia Slim ultra-light menthol again."

What do you think? Have I made it? Keep your fingers crossed.

Till next week, send discs, Richard.

I ENVY CHARLES KURALT

Ever since the first time I saw "On the Road with Charles Kuralt" on TV, I've thought that Kuralt probably had the best job in the world. I mean, can you believe that a man could get paid for riding around the country talking to interesting people?

Anyway, I'm afraid I turned green with envy again the other day when I started thumbing through his latest book, "A Life on the Road." Ironically, it was only minutes before I picked up his book that I had been attempting to correct a set of sophomore themes. As I began to flip the pages, I found it amusing when I realized that as I was correcting the faulty sentence structure so typical of tenth-grade writing, Kuralt was recording it for posterity. What had caught my attention was his writing of the Pennsylvania Dutch farm wife who told her husband, "Throw the mule over the fence some hay."

This little item came from my favorite chapter in the book, entitled "What They Say." This particular section consists of a series of notes devoted to things he'd heard along the sideroads of his travels.

It's pretty obvious in a couple of places, though, that he flat drove right through Eastern Kentucky. For example, one entry noted that "a burlap sack in Illinois is a tow sack in North Carolina is a grass sack in Arkansas is a croaker sack in Georgia."

I'll have to admit to just a twinge of disappointment when he failed to mention that it's also called a coffee sack in Kentucky—at least in these parts.

Kuralt also mentioned that "a paper bag in Virginia is a paper sack in Vermont." He didn't tell his readers that it's a paper poke here.

Now, don't misunderstand. I'm not being critical of Kuralt for not including some of our colloquialisms. After all, it's a big country out there, and he can't be everywhere. Besides, he may have indeed included us under the section, "Heard in the hills." For instance, there is a familiar twang to,

"He's too blind to see through a barbed-wire fence." and "She was born tired and raised lazy." Yet, instead of saying, "She's as ugly as homemade soap," we say, "She's as ugly as homemade sin." I really don't know what the difference would be, except maybe sin might be a tad uglier than soap.

I like Kuralt's, "He's such a liar he has to get somebody else to call his hogs." I also like ours: "He's so windy he could blow up an onion sack." I also enjoyed the North Carolina farmer's comment when he was discussing his 40-year marriage: "Kissing don't last, but good cooking does."

Of course, Kuralt's book is much more than a collection of old country sayings. He also tells, as only he can, of his insatiable lust to wander and of his many encounters with hundreds of folks from all over the country.

It's enough to make me want to get in the car and drive from state to state and see it all for myself. But then again, if I did that, who'd grade these sophomore themes? It's a cinch that Charles Kuralt wouldn't. After all, he's got the best job in the world already.

required soaking time. Unplug the hole and let all the water drain out through the bottom. Sprinkle a very light layer of dry potting soil over the seed, and cover. When the seeds start to sprout, move them onto a sunny window sill.

Parsley like all herbs are hard to start from seed, but with a little extra time, trouble and care, you can do it. Parsley, fresh from your own garden, is much tastier than the old, wilted stuff you buy from the markets. All excess can be dried by hanging it up in a shady, well ventilated area.

My peach trees make an ideal herb drying place. After the herbs are well dried, the leaves can be left whole or rubbed in the palm of your hand for powder. Store all dried herbs in a clean, sterilized, glass jar with a tight fitting lid. They will keep for several years, if not used up or replaced with fresh ones each year.

A few plants of any herb is all you will need. I have a habit of thinking I must sow all the seeds in each packet. Then I find I can not in any way use them all. It is a habit I have not been able to break, yet.

We are what we eat

By Barbara H. Morris
Alliant Health System

You are what you eat, some people say. How your child grows into adulthood depends very much on what he or she eats when very young.

Many of us have a hard time all our adult lives with overweight problems, too much cholesterol, wrong foods, overeating and irregular mealtimes. However, there are some ways to help your child get off to a better start. We would like to suggest six of them:

Recognize that the amount a child should eat depends on his or her appetite, size, and whether or not he or she tends to put on weight. Although you should choose what your child eats, let him or her decide on how much. Frequently, preschoolers will only prefer one fairly good-sized meal a day. At the other meals they may be very "picky" eaters.

Understand that each child has food likes and dislikes just as we do. Why not try to appeal to his or her tastes? The supermarket and grocery store shelves provide a lot of variety these days, although it's of course necessary to think about the prices and the ingredients.

When you provide between-meal-snacks, don't use candy, sweet cookies, potato chips and soft drinks. A regular snack time based on milk, fruit juice, raw vegetables, and dry or fresh fruit is healthful - and besides, most children like them.

Encourage your youngster to eat what is good. Give small servings and use mild seasonings. Since most youngsters don't like casseroles, why not serve separate foods in divided plates? They also like colorful foods like gelatins and pieces of parsley. Be sure and serve them foods of various textures; for example, foods that are chewy, crisp or soft rather than all the same texture at one meal.

Provide food that is easy for little fingers and hands to hold. Serve his or her soup in a cup. Give him or her small bite-size pieces, and food that can be picked up. This will help cut down on mealtime nagging, yelling and jangled nerves. Some other things that may help are plastic dishes, washable floor coverings and chairs to match children's sizes.

Try to have mealtimes that don't last too long. They should be served at times when youngsters are rested.

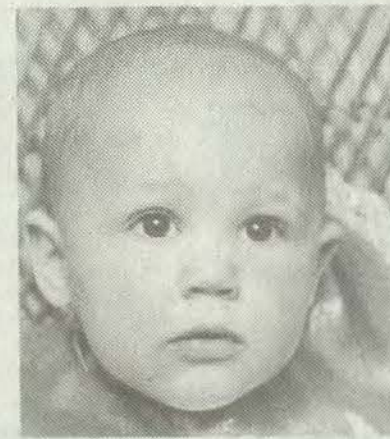

That may help reduce the tension many of us face after a tough day's work, fighting traffic, or figuring out how to pay the growing family bills. We need a calm mealtime as much as they do - perhaps more!

Young children often go through stages of wanting to decide what, where and when they will eat. That's normal. Maybe eating alone or earlier will help solve the problem. No member of the family really has the right to spoil it for everyone else.

Now, for a last, kind of touchy point - our children learn a great deal from us. If we are the type who eats chocolate, chews gum, eats popcorn and rich ice cream, why should we expect them to be different? If we steadily nibble sweets and have an irregular mealtime, why should we be surprised if they do too? If we enjoy foods that are fried or heavy in fats, perhaps we should cut down a bit. It will help our heart as well as our children's health.

After all, we are the most important teacher they will ever have. We must set a good example for them every day.

Your youngster's health and ability to learn are directly related to what he or she eats. It's never too early to get the right habits started.
