General Assembly opens special session :

Early death predicted for coal tax measure

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A two-week special session of Kentucky's General Assembly got off to a slow start Monday, but legislative leaders wasted little time in preparing an obituary for one of the 14 items on the session's crowded agenda.

A proposal to increase the return of coal severance taxes to coal counties was pronounced all but dead Monday by Representative Joe Clark, D-Danville, chairman of the House Appropriations and Revenue Committee. Clark said he doubted the measure would have enough votes to get out of his committee.

The coal tax bill, one of the more divisive issues of the special session agenda, would increase from 12 percent to 25 percent the return of tax revenues to coal producing and coal transportation counties. The return would gradually increase to 50 percent.

Despite support of the plan from coal region legislators, including House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, other members of the General Assembly have denounced its inclusion on the special session agenda by Governor Wallace Wilkinson as an effort to promote the gubernatorial candidacy of Wilkinson's wife Martha.

Opponents of the coal tax plan have made no mention of the fact that a similar proposal has been endorsed by Lt. Governor Brereton Jones, another Democrat seeking his party's gubernatorial nomination.

Critics have suggested that any changes in the formula for returning severance tax revenues to coal counties should be proposed for the General Assembly's regular session in 1992 and not during the current special session.

Leaders from both houses have expressed dismay over the number of items on the session's agenda, which initially was proposed to deal only with legislation concerning solid waste disposal and tougher drunken driving laws.

Those two items have been joined on the platform by:
-Proposed economic development

incentives for Delta Airlines in Northern Kentucky and Scott Paper Company in Daviess County in Western Kentucky;

-The impeachment of state Agriculture Commissioner Ward "Butch" Burnette, who was convicted last year of theft;

Burnette, who was convicted last year of theft;

-Correction of problems with a vote fraud law that led the state Supreme Court to declare it unconstitutional;

Stumbo to chair impeachment panel

State Representative Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, has been appointed chairman of a House committee charged with reviewing charges against state Agriculture Commissioner War "Butch" Burnette.

Stumbo's committee will determine if charges against Burnette should be brought before the Senate for an impeachment vote.

Burnette has been convicted of theft for putting a secretary on the state payroll before she started work.

Theater may find new life

by Tim B. Preston
Staff writer

Prestonsburg's Abigail Theater, closed since 1965, could regain some of its entertaining quality in the future if a proposal to develop a community center downtown progresses.

Prestonsburg city council members approved a resolution at Monday night's regular meeting to lease the former movie theater at a rate of $9,000 per year. Mayor Ann Latta explained that the facility could be used for a variety of purposes including extension classes from the PCC campus and several youth activities. Although a salary has not yet been established, a community center director will be employed to oversee the daily activities and scheduling for the facility. The resolution also includes a provision to dedicate specified times and activities for the young people of Prestonsburg (ages 12 to 19).

In other business, the council approved a motion to establish the city's 1990 property tax rate at 25 cents per $100 valuation, the same property rate maintained by the city in 1989.

Council members also agreed to have the city fund Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) training, certification and recertification for city employees. Mayor Latta said that EMT trained employees benefited the city and added that costs of training and certification should be funded by the city.

Unanimous approval was also given to the second reading of an ordinance which establishes minimum safety requirements for the storage of potentially hazardous materials in the city. The ordinance authorizes the city fire marshal, under supervision of the city fire chief, to inspect facilities and enforce any regulations implied by the ordinance.

Before opening the meeting for new business, Mayor Latta read a letter from U.S. Congressman Chris Perkins which confirmed the establishment of a Veteran's Administration outreach clinic in Floyd County. Councilman Billy Ray Collins com-

Boysen, Stumbo to talk

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Intense discussion is expected at a meeting later this week between two of the state's top officials about the controversy surrounding the Prestonsburg High School project. The project is also currently under review by the state Department of Education.

Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen will review the project with State Representative Greg Stumbo at a meeting in Frankfort.

The pair will meet near the end of week to discuss questions raised about the site purchase, bidding procedures and contracts, said Donna Pace, spokesperson for Boysen.

After the project is reviewed by the state it could be turned over to the state's Office of Educational Accountability for further investigation.

"My understanding is the matter is under review by the Department of Education," said Dr. Penney Sanders, who heads the office. "We will wait until all aspects of the review are exhausted and determine if this is the appropriate office to take any action. We have to wait and see."

Sanders said she would not attend the meeting with Boysen and Stumbo.

On the local front, Floyd County School Superintendent Ron Hager issued a press release Tuesday saying he would cooperate with any state agency in an investigation and said news reports about the questions surrounding the project were misleading.

"I will certainly welcome and cooperate fully with Commissioner Boysen, Attorney General Fred Cowan, Dr. Penney Sanders of the Office of (Educational) Accountability, and any other agency wishing to investigate the recent purchase of the school site for the new Prestonsburg High School or any previous purchases," Hager's statement said.

Hager said in the statement he felt media accounts of the situation "have

Betsy Layne student dies in mishap, services held

Classes at Betsy Layne High School were cancelled yesterday in order for students to attend the funeral of Cynthia Mullins, a Betsy Layne High School student killed in a car crash Saturday in Pike County.

According to state police, Cynthia Mullins, 16, of Pikeville was pronounced dead at the scene by Pike County Coroner Charles Morris after her car collided with another vehicle in the northern lane of Rt. 119 at Zebulon. Police said Mullins lost control of her vehicle while traveling south, crossing into the northbound lane and striking a vehicle driven by Tiara Reynolds, 50, of Phyllis.

Two passengers in the Mullins vehicle, Michelle Hunter, 17, of Printer and Ricky Cole, 28, of Shelbyana were transported to Pikeville Methodist Hospital for treatment. Hunter was treated and released, while Cole was transferred to the U.K. Medical Center, where he is listed in stable condition.

Tiara Reynolds and two passengers, Andrea Reynolds, 13, and Tara Coleman (both of Phyllis), were also transported to Pikeville Methodist nearly two decades.

When that word will come from Washington, remains the world's most closely guarded secret and the world's most often asked question. President Bush has indicated that the midnight, January 15 deadline for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait is not necessarily the deadline for the start of hostilities.

Throughout the United States this week, citizens gathered to pray that "when" might still be an "if." Some held onto slim hopes that a peaceful resolution of the Gulf crisis was still possible.

In Floyd County on Sunday, 150 people gathered at Prestonsburg's First Presbyterian Church in a vigil for peace. At Martin a new chapter of the American Red Cross, organized last fall, began planning this week to assist troops, and praying the assistance would not be necessary.

Despite those well-placed hopes, the mechanisms of war grow more and more apparent.

In Louisville, the Veterans Administration Medical Center has been designated as a Primary Receiving Center (one of 80 hospitals in the country) designated to treat war casualties. Special equipment has been purchased to handle the types of wounds that could be suffered by troops in the Middle East.

Also at Louisville, the state office of the American Red Cross has seen

Hefty hike on tax bills

by Tim B. Preston
Staff Writer

Property tax bills for 1990 are in the mail, and Floyd County property owners will be paying more this year, according to Floyd County Property Valuation Administrator Lovel Hall.

"Even if their assessment didn't change, they will be paying more," said Hall. "On the average, each person will see an increase of 40 percent on their property tax bills."

Hall said the increase was due to an increase in the Floyd County School Board's property tax rate. The board raised the rate from 28.5 cents per $100 valuation, to 58.6 cents per 100 dollars earlier this year after a four percent increase limit was lifted for one year by the 1990 Education Reform Act. "This tax rate will increase the amount of revenue to be collected for the school system from $1,700,000 in 1989 to $3,800,000 for this year," Hall said. "It is a more than 100 percent increase for the school."

In other tax news, Hall said that workers from the state department of revenue would be contacting property owners this week to gather information for reassessment of property values.

Hall said the workers, who will be carrying identification badges, will not actually be responsible for the property reassessments. "They are out there to gather property information like square footage, the number of bedrooms and bathrooms and so on."

Property owners will see the results of the reassessment on 1991 property tax bills.

Hall said Floyd countians who have not yet received property tax bills should get the bills sometime this week. "I'm sure that people aren't going to be happy to see their bills," Hall said. "But, not much can be done about it."

System error blamed for check mix-up

An apparent computer error has left many Prestonsburg Community College students in a major financial bind.

Financial aid and grant checks for students' tuition and books arrived at the college Tuesday but students' college hours were miscalculated and incorrect amounts were placed on the checks, according to reports from teachers.

Some money from those grants is used to pay housing and utility costs for students and the error left many with no way to pay this month's bills. One student, who asked not to be named, said she will lose phone service because of the foul-up.

Spring semester classes began on Wednesday, January 9. Students were allowed to charge their tuition but book credit was "scarce," according to a source at the college.

Students received no word when the matter would be resolved.

The Hunt Is On!

Threat of war grows as hopes for peace fade

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

The battle zone is half a world away, but if war breaks out in the deserts of the Middle East, Kentucky and Floyd County will be touched.

At midnight Tuesday a United Nations deadline for Iraq's withdrawal from Kuwait passed, setting the stage for the use of force by an American-led, multi-national contingent. Authorization for the use of U.S. troops came over the weekend when both houses of Congress gave President George Bush the green light for war. The deployment of American soldiers in Saudi Arabia is the largest since Vietnam.

No fewer than two dozen Floyd Countians are among those serving with Operation Desert Shield. Their exact number could not be determined this week, but local soldiers from every branch of the U.S. Armed Services await the signal that will ignite the most extensive armed conflict involving American soldiers in Dependents and families of servicemen and women stationed in Saudi Arabia may use this toll-free number to obtain information or receive help with problems that have arisen from the Persian Gulf conflict.

Special Session

- Extension of the state income tax filing deadline for Kentuckians serving in the Persian Gulf;
- Confirmation of appointments to the state Board of Education and the Council of Education Technology;
- Extension of the Vietnam veteran's bonus to those vets who also served in the Korean War; and
- Appropriation of funds to pay for items approved during the special session.

Governor Wilkinson, who may add items to the session agenda until the legislature adjourns, has indicated other topics could be included. Among those are a proposal to limit damages in nuisance suits and approval for Simpson County to change some regulations so it could share in federal funding of water projects with neighboring Tennessee.

Proposed legislation concerning solid waste disposal is the most complex on the special session agenda. Wilkinson's plan calls for giving local control over waste disposal, allowing regional or county landfills to decide how much waste they will accept from outside the area.

Legislation concerning drunken driving would make it illegal to drive with a blood-alcohol level of 0.10. Currently, a driver is only presumed drunk at the level, and prosecutor must offer evidence of impairment to obtain convictions.

mended the mayor for her efforts in obtaining the clinic.

In new business, Mayor Latta presented a letter from U.S. Senator Wendell H. Ford which encouraged the city to participate in a program called, "America Supporting Americans." The program, which was conceived in San Mateo, California during the Vietnam War, is a nationwide support network for American soldiers in the Middle East. Cities and communities are encouraged to "adopt" a deployed military unit and show support for the group with letters, magazines and goodies from home. Mayor Latta suggested that the city adopt the Army National Guard Company B 206 Combat Engineers based at the Prestonsburg National Guard Armory, if the group is activated for combat. Council members unanimously passed a motion to adopt the group.

Before adjourning to executive session, the council meeting was called to recess and a special meeting of the Prestonsburg Municipal Holding Corporation was called to order. The holding corporation adopted a motion to purchase equipment for the city's public works department and the acquisition of a double-wide mobile home. The mobile home will be used by the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens as an adult day care facility.

The holding corporation meeting was then adjourned and the council motioned into executive session to discuss litigation and personnel. Following the executive session, council members approved a motion to direct the city attorney to draft a proposal to change the city's liquor by the drink laws. The proposal, when submitted to the council, will mandate midnight as "last call". Prestonsburg nightclubs are currently allowed to serve alcoholic beverages until 2 a.m.

All council members were present for the meeting with the exception of Councilman Charles Hale. The next regular meeting of the Prestonsburg City Council will be 7 p.m., Monday, January 28, at the Prestonsburg Municipal Building.

Chrysler buys Job Corps Parent Company

Big changes are underway at the Job Corps Center in Prestonsburg after an announcement Friday of a corporate buyout and the addition of female residents.

Career Systems Development Corporation, which operates the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center and 10 others in the United States, was acquired in December by Chrysler Capital, part of the Chrysler Corporation.

The move was announced Friday by Herbert W. Watkins, chairman of the board and chief executive officer for Career Systems, headquartered in Rochester, New York. A major advantage of the acquisition are the resources of a larger corporation to operate Job Corps and other training programs Career Systems operates, Watkins said.

"We enjoyed the same kind of instant name recognition and had many employment opportunities develop for our graduates with the Singer Company which owned Career Systems for a number of years," Watkins said.

In the divestiture of most divisions of Singer following its takeover by a corporate raider in 1987, Career Systems was sold to Integrated Resources, which sold to Chrysler. Neil Eskildson, director of the Prestonsburg center, endorsed the new parent company as a favorable move for the contractor, Career Systems.

"Chrysler President Lee Iacocca is a good role model for quality, job training and the work ethic," Eskildson said. "Perhaps someday we'll be fortunate to have him visit this center."

Another major change at the Prestonsburg Job Corps Center is the arrival of the first 22 female students who enrolled January 8. The center plans to have 80 female residents by the end of February, which would give it a capacity of 245 students.

One of the first female arrivals, Pamela Peters from Somerset, was accompanied by women from Alabama, Florida, Georgia and North and South Carolina. Additional arrivals from Tennessee, Mississippi, Hazard, Lexington and other local areas are expected in the next few weeks, Eskildson added.

The center has added clerical and health occupations and retail sales to its curriculum in order to train the female residents. The center also offers culinary arts, electricity, carpentry, masonry, building and apartment maintenance and a GED oriented academic program.

Job Corps is a government sponsored program that trains disadvantaged youths between 16 and 21 in vocational occupations. Students come from all over the country and live in dormitories at the center.

attempted to taint, or create the perception" the board of education did not follow state statutes and proper procedures in the purchase of the site. Hager said all procedures followed were legal.

"I believe, when all the facts are presented, the record will show that the Floyd County Board of Education acted in a legal manner and followed the procedures established by the state Board of Elementary and Secondary Education in the designation and purchase of the property..."

Hager added politics in the school system hindered educational progress in Floyd County.

"All too often, politics and special interests interfere with and cloud the issues," the statement said. "We must get back to the basic issue of how this school district can best provide the most modern school facilities and proper educational opportunities for our students."

Controversy surrounding the Prestonsburg High School property concerns:

- A clause in the deed for the Middle Creek site which exempts all coal uncovered during excavation of the site and returns it to former owner David May. State education attorneys have said the deed does not appear to be fee simple, a state requirement for purchasing property for a school site.

- The procedures followed after opening bids for site excavation of the property. Board member Eddie Billips contends the bid accepted, the only one submitted, was negotiated and/or changed before being presented to the board. Billips said the procedure was in violation of the regulations regarding public bidding procedures.

The board of education's approval of minutes of a special meeting at the conclusion of that meeting. The board approved the minutes of the December 28 special meeting, called to award the contract for site preparation and to sell bonds for the project, at the conclusion of the meeting. State Department of Education attorney Steven Yater called the move "highly unusual" and said, "At face value, it raises a question in my mind if proper procedure was followed. It's not a good way to operate."

its blood supply quota upped to 525 pints per day. Those supplies are being shipped to the Persian Gulf.

At Ft. Knox, a toll-free "support line" has been created for dependants of servicemen and women stationed in the Middle East. The line is available to families seeking information or seeking help with personal problems arising from the Gulf conflict.

The threat of war has also affected the lines of communications to soldiers stationed in Saudi Arabia, and local people attempting to contact troops may be met with certain restrictions.

"As of tonight (Monday) we can no longer send announcements (to Saudi Arabia) unless they are birth announcements, death notices or word that a family member is critically ill," said Martin Red Cross director Thomasina Robinson. "And we can accept announcements from immediate family members only."

The Red Cross has asked area residents and businesses to display yellow ribbons and the American Flag in support of U.S. troops in the Gulf.

While the eyes of the world focus on the Middle East and the prayers for an eleventh-hour settlement mount, the wait continues for those who may find the deserts of the Persian Gulf their next stop.

"Nobody here is saying anything," said Sgt Dennis Fair, a member of Company B of the 206th Engineer Battalion of the Kentucky National Guard stationed in Prestonsburg.

"We're just sitting here, hanging tight," he added. "Just waiting."

Middle school repairs slated for summer

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Additional construction work is expected this summer to stop settling damage at the James D. Adams Middle School in Prestonsburg.

Project architect Randall Burchett told board of education members at last Wednesday's meeting, that contractors will work this summer to replace and repair cracking walls at the middle school. Burchett added that no structural damage had occurred and the building was safe.

Problems surfaced at the school last fall when cracks were reported in the sixth grade wing of the facility. In addition to the cracking, bricks on the outside right-hand of the building have fallen.

"We will continue to monitor the situation throughout the winter and update it," Burchett said. "The cracking has slowed down and caulk and grout has been used to fill in the cracks. When we have better weather, the damage will be repaired."

Board attorney William Francis asked Burchett to get letters from all contractors involved stating their intent to repair the damage.

Board member Eddie Billips asked that an emergency clause be put in the letter in case an emergency situation arose concerning the stability of the school.

In another construction project, final payment was denied for site preparation work at the new Allen Elementary because of litigation involving the project.

Architect Randall Burchett approved final payment for the site work at Allen despite a lawsuit pending against DFM, the company that did the work, and the school board. Burchett asked for the contractors to receive the remaining 10 percent of their fee.

Attorney Francis said the payment should not be made until the lawsuit had been settled. Burchett's letter for the release had state Department of Education approval, but Burchett said the state apparently "didn't know about the litigation."

A progress report was made Wednesday on the new Left Beaver High School project by Architect James Ellis. Ellis said excavation of the site was substantially complete and footers could be poured as soon as the site dries after "all the rain we've had."

Board member Mary Hall asked Ellis an approximate date for when construction will be complete.

"It seems awfully long in coming," Ellis replied. "I'm not overly optimistic about the 14 months the construction manager said it would take to complete the project. In my own opinion, I'd say it will take about 20-22 months. The two phases of the project will be constructed simultaneously."

An enrollment report by Superintendent Ron Hager noted the Floyd County school system had lost 466 students to surrounding school districts within the past two years. Since the school year began, Betsy Layne High School lost the most students, 32; Allen Central High School lost 15 and Prater Creek Elementary lost eight. Allen Elementary and Prestonsburg Elementary gained the most students, nine each; with James D. Adams Middle School gaining six.

In personnel matters, those hired were:

Certified personnel- Roberta Fugate, part-time Chapter 1 Parent Involvement Coordinator; Lola Brashear, alcohol and drug prevention specialist; Linda C. Hicks, Wendy Conley, Kimberly Potter, Tammy Raliff and Sandra Travis, substitute teachers.

Also, Serena Thornsby, Arlene Bentley, Bonnie Coleman, Gregory

Blankenship, Brenda Camp, Todd Stricklin, Bishop J. Newsome, Melissa Mac Willis, Francis Owens and Mary Crum, emergency substitute teachers.

Non-certified personnel- Barry Cates Jr. and Paul Williams, substitute custodians; Christine Hamilton, substitute teacher aide; Basel Moore, contract driver; Willie Akers Jr, Betsy Layne High School, custodian.

Resignations- Roger Johnson, football coach at Wheelwright High School; John Campbell, maintenance worker; and Genna Goble, cook/janitor at Drift Headstart.

Retirement- Daniel Lee, custodian at Duff Elementary; and Betty Phillips, secretary at the central office.

The next scheduled meeting of the board of education is Tuesday, February 12 at 7 p.m. at Betsy Layne High School.

Steven Hall of Hi Hat, son of Margie Hall of Hi Hat and the late Marlin Hall has become a member of Norah R. Friend chapter of the Order of DeMolay at Pikeville.

Hall is a sophomore at McDowell High School. His maternal grandparents are Mindy and Jarvey Davis of Albion, Michigan.

DeMolay, an International Fraternity for young men 13 to 21, utilizes local chapters as a "laboratory" setting for members to learn leadership skills, public speaking, time management and financial management.

DeMolay chapters also work to become community assets through programs of community service. Each year, thousands of community service projects are undertaken by DeMolay chapters throughout the world.

Over 30,000 young men actively participate in DeMolay chapters today and well over 2 million men have benefited from DeMolay experience since it was founded in 1919. Famous Senior DeMolays include Walt Disney, Gary Collins, John Wayne, Walter Cronkite, Fran Tarkenton, astronauts, U.S. senators, governors, business leaders and successful community minded citizens.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

The last best chance for peace in the Persian Gulf appears to have faded, and the sabre-rattling of the last six months could very well be backed up with bombs before this week is out.

It is painfully ironic that we stand on the brink of war in a region known to history as the Cradle of Civilization. Irony becomes bewildering when you consider that the Middle East is also the cradle of most of the world religions, which seem to advocate faith and humanity at the point of a sword. Mankind, we are convinced, will never resolve the differences that have plagued the Middle East since humans discovered that rocks and clubs were effective tools for deciding conflict.

Today, the rocks and clubs are much more sophisticated and killing in the name of God is so much more efficient.

The crisis in the gulf will not end with the outcome of the Iraqi conflict. It may never end.

The rest of the so-called civilized world can stifle the flames, however, by resolving to end its dependence on Middle Eastern oil. Every gallon of gas we pump into our cars puts another dollar in the hands of fanatics.

Cut off the money, and maybe they'll go back to killing one another with rocks and clubs instead of with missiles and tanks.

Primitive weapons are no less barbaric than modern killing machines, but at least the body count will subside.

Kentucky's Republican Party is gearing up for a battle royal now that two, yes two, viable candidates have announced bids for governor.

The May GOP ballot will include Lexington lawyer Larry Forgy, who pulled out of the 1987 gubernatorial race citing his distaste for fundraising, and Congressman Larry Hopkins, who is pulling out of Congress because his seat is likely to be pulled out from under him.

Some feel the entrance of two strong candidates in the GOP race will undermine the party's ability to win in the fall, but state Republicans should find it refreshing to have something other than the take-what-you-get candidacies the party has offered in the past. Democracy is, after all, based on choice.

Regardless of who comes out on top in the primary, the GOP race is certain to affect its Democratic counterpart, where a divisive primary is all but guaranteed.

Having legitimate contenders from each party on the fall ballot may not elate the politicians, but for the voters it's a breath of fresh air.

Comedy, said Steve Martin, isn't pretty.

That's why folks here at the Times seem to get the most fun out of someone else's misfortune.

It's not that we're a malicious sort...we confine our victimizing to co-workers...it's just that newspaper people are, by some genetic deformation, strange.

Times advertising manager Kim Frasure was the latest to suffer this abnormality when a sprained knee left her cast-bound and easy prey.

We must admit, Kim took as much as we could dish out with only a few expletives not deleted. And, we'll add, even those minor indiscretions were delivered like a trouper.

So we've given Kim a pretty rough ride over her limp and immobility (yes, she does move a bit like Grandpa McCoy on the Real McCoys), but it's all because we really, really, really do care.

Oh, by the way Chester, you don't really want to file that worker's comp claim, do you?

True facts.

Times reporter Susan Allen put a call into Kentucky's Department of Education Friday, seeking an interview with a department official.

(It's important to remember, now, that this was THE DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.)

The official sought was busy, Susan was told, but he would return the call.

When?

When he gets "unbusy," the secretary responded.

Un-doubtedly.

Property tax bills are coming out and, as we expected, most are steeper than a horse's face.

Rates are up, assessments are up, and market values are down.

In a few short months, more of the costs of tax and educational reform will come due in the form of state income taxes.

Meanwhile, in Frankfort, flat land legislators prepare to wage war on a proposal to send more coal severance taxes back to coal counties.

No money for that, they say. Looks like we've got the other end of the horse involved here, too.

In the May 29 issue of the Times, you published an article entitled "Floyd Getting Tough on Back Child Support." In the article, Governor Wilkinson was quoted as saying, "When parents refuse to meet their financial obligations, the joint efforts of state enforcement administrators and local prosecutors are vital if we are to make the delinquent adults adhere to their legal and moral responsibilities."

Being a divorced and single parent, I was thrilled to think that, finally, some action would be taken in the never-ending battle for child support payments. Because, you see, at the end of May 1990, my ex-husband owed a total of $5,700 in delinquent child support and maintenance to me and my 12 year-old son. So, there was hope yet! Alas, January 1991 has arrived, court dates come and go, and now the total delinquent amount has grown to a staggering $8,800!

"What's the problem?," you ask. I foolishly believed in the joint effort between prosecutors and judges. But now, I believe the Floyd County Court system is practicing the worst form of child abuse — allowing men the right to withhold their money from children on a regular basis with little or no threat of punishment. If a mother withheld food, clothes, housing or anything else from one of her children, the Dept. of Child Welfare would be pounding on her door to have the child removed from that home. Well, what about the fathers that don't support that child? Are they not guilty of the same thing — child abuse?

It has been stated to me that court orders in Floyd County were no better than the paper on which they were printed. The Floyd Court System has and is doing everything within its power to prove it to me in regards to child support.

In later issues, the Times printed articles stating the amount of delinquent child support collected in Kentucky. I ask, what amount was collected in Floyd County? Very little in ratio to other counties, I suspect. Very little, paid by men who, surely not feeling threatened by our court system, simply paid their support.

I am not alone in this frustration of days and days in court, accomplishing little or nothing, seeing hands slapped and support paid only during the months gone to court. Many women feel the same helplessness and frustration after years of this needless waste of taxpayers money.

At one time in this county, an organization for the enforcement of child support was formed. In the last years, as the children aged and the people no longer needed the service, it fell by the wayside. Many now need support and, once again, the organization needs to be revived. If any mother has or is having problems with child support collection in Floyd County, taking the correct legal actions, feeling the frustration of getting nowhere and tired of warming a seat in the courthouse, there may be hope in the revival of this organization.

I have read with great interest the articles written concerning the building or not building of a new high school in the Prestonsburg area.

As a retired teacher from the Floyd County School System, I feel it is time to say something for the present grade school students, the pre-school students, and even for the unborn children of district one. These are the children and their parents who will be attending the new or old high school. The present students at Prestonsburg High will not be there in four or five years. Even some of those teachers will not be there.

We must think of the future. Are we going into the 21st Century with that old outdated building as an excuse for a high school to prepare our children to compete with students in college and a work world who have had the technology of the 1990's? I don't think that is good enough for the children of Floyd County.

I agree that the present building site has cost a tremendous amount of money, but having lived for 58 years on Middle Creek, I can assure you that flood water has never covered this ground since Noah's Flood, which was before my time. This property will be on a major highway, only two miles from the intersection of new U.S. 23 which will be bringing students from Auxier, Abbott Creek and Bull Creek.

This site is, I agree, a few miles from Hardee's where our present students eat and gather, but it is also in a quiet area surrounded by hills where the atmosphere will be conducive to the learning process. It seems to me we have bought this property and let's live with it.

I can understand the city not wanting the school moved out of town, but is Prestonsburg better than Maytown, Garrett, Wayland, Wheelwright and all the other towns in Floyd County who had their school moved out of town?

This issue appears to me to be mostly political. I was shocked to read that State Representative Greg Stumbo, House Majority Leader for the Kentucky General Assembly, is presently in Frankfort and making a last effort to stop this project. Is this the same Greg Stumbo who stood in the assembly last spring with tears running down his cheeks while addressing the general assembly concerning the new Education Bill? It makes me think they may have been crocodile tears for surely a representative who is for education would not rob our children of the best education possible by hindering educational progress.

The same goes for our Floyd County board members who oppose this project. Every other district in Floyd County will have a new high school, why not district one? How can you sit on that board and vote against these children when you know a new roof on top of that building will be merely putting a band-aid on the problem? Are you to say you are willing to send the millions of dollars back because you could not see into the future?

To the parents and future parents of district one—where are you? As one of your former teachers I ask that you let it be known to your board member, legislative representatives and the public that you want the best for your children and that in 2011 you do not want your children entering a high school building that was outdated 15 years ago when some of these same people who are opposing this issue were yelling to build a new building.

Second best is not good enough for the children of Floyd County.

There are several important events of the American War for Independence (Revolutionary War) to remember in January. These are submitted to keep the public conscious of the American heritage. Join with the Ashland Chapter of the Ky. Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in toasting these historic events which made January a special month.

January 19, 1770: The Battle of Golden Hill in New York City followed several days of excitement after cutting down of Liberty Pole by British troops and was an outgrowth of long conflict over British attempts to enforce quartering provisions of Mutiny Act of May 5, 1765. In this scuffle British troops attacking Sons of Liberty party with bayonets wounded several seriously.

January 1, 1776: American forces besieging Boston reorganized in accordance with congressional resolve of preceding November, making this portion of patriot Army "continental in every respect"; but only about 5500 were present and fit for duty.

January 1, 1776: First patriot flag bearing seven red and six white stripes raised at Cambridge, MA, in recognition of reorganization of continental forces before Boston.

January 10, 1776: Thomas Paine's pamphlet, Common Sense, published in Philadelphia urges American declaration of independence.

January 3, 1777: American victories at Trenton and Princeton. From south of Trenton, General Washington side-slipped British force under Cornwallis during the night of January 2-3, and next morning attacked and defeated British rear guard at Princeton, N.J., with the British losing about 275 and patriots 40 in action. This did much to revive patriot cause from its lowest ebb.

January 27, 1778: Marines and seamen from U.S. Navy sloop Providence raided New Providence (Nassau), Bahamas, and seized forts, marking first time Stars and Stripes appeared over foreign stronghold.

January 17, 1981: Battle of Cowpens. About 1025 Continentals and militia under General Daniel Morgan, left wing of Greene's force, overwhelmingly defeated 1100 British troops under Tarleton at Cowpens, SC. In classic double envelopment engagement patriots, at cost of 12 killed and 60 wounded, inflicted 320 combat casualties on enemy and captured 600 more of them un-wounded.

January 14, 1784: Congress ratified definitive treaty of peace of September 3 1783 between United States and Great Britain, thereby formally ending War for American Independence.

Here's to our brave forefathers who fought and those who supported them, and won, forced our liberties in the crucible of severe hardships, sufferings and with much self-sacrifice...Our respect and our eternal gratitude.

Other Voices

by Timothy Jessen

In addressing a group of state educators before coming to Kentucky, new Education Commissioner Boyesen compared the state's educational reform act to the falling of the Berlin wall. In addressing his peers across the nation, Boyesen can proudly say, "If people want to see educational reform, let them come to Kentucky." In Floyd County, a good section of that wall has fallen, and its residents can proudly say, "If people in Kentucky want to see what the reform is all about, let them come to Floyd County."

In the course of the January School Board meeting, held on the same day the State Board of Education welcomed Dr. Boyesen, revolutionary changes took place that so startled long-time watchers of the school scene, that few could believe it was all real and happening before their eyes. Like the falling of the wall, however, the final climax was the result of years of chipping away at the wall done by countless numbers of citizens, during which many were injured (some permanently), some escaped, and others acquiesced to the system because it gave them jobs and security.

What was the nature of the wall in Floyd County? Primarily it was a wall between the citizens—to whom the school system rightfully belongs—and those who controlled and ran that system. But there were many other walls which had been erected over the years, separating teachers from administrators, parents from school board, the Prestonsburg area from the county, and so on.

There were many barriers to overcome, if any change was to be successful. And the wall preventing educational reform and accountability to citizens was most successful when it could pit these forces against each other, lest they work together and thereby fashion a school system of excellence.

In one night, these Floyd County barriers came down!

—For years ministers and church groups had asked that board meetings not be held on Wednesday — "Church night" in the county. The request, always before denied, was quickly granted.

—For years the Floyd County Education Forum had asked the board to rotate its meetings around the county to insure more citizen participation. Though sometimes done, most meetings were still held in Prestonsburg, though it is not the geographical center of the county. Upon invitation, the meeting was moved out in the county and will be in the future.

—A new board member asked that all information and papers to be discussed be distributed in advance to the board and made available to the public as well. This, too, was granted, after some hesitation.

But there were other signs of change as well. Discussion of important items—including the hotly-contested site of the new Prestonsburg High School were held openly so that it was obvious that no decision had been made in advance, with the public meeting only for the purpose of rubber-stamping it. The public was heard, and its concerns were listened to before votes were taken.

At one point in a discussion, a board member asked for the opinion of the teachers' group, because she heard rumblings in the audience. Before the falling of the wall, this would have been unthinkable! Now, it was to be expected.

This new scene, welcoming instead of stifling public input, is not without its own anxieties. As in the falling of walls in Eastern Europe, neither side is now secure. Those who had the power are hastily foregoing new coalitions to remain secure, but no one is sure where anyone else stands—or will stand tomorrow.

The citizens now being asked for input are not as sure they want all that power, and are disturbed because the meetings are likely to be long and difficult, and the new decision-making process may not produce any better decisions than did the old.

Like those involved in site-based school decision-making, Floyd County citizens are a bit unsure if they like having all this new heavy weight of responsibility thrust upon them. Like a new taste of democracy, they like the benefits but are frightened by possible outcomes. Yet, like their Eastern European counterparts, they know the anxious years ahead have to be better than the past, because now their voices will be heard, and the long-awaited changes can be for the better, if everyone works and is vigilant together. Then the system can become what it should be—responsive and accountable to the citizens which empower it.

Commissioner Boyesen, if you want to see reform from the grass roots up, come to Floyd County!

Correction:

The name of Palmer Patton, who served as a pallbearer at the funeral of Wanda Setser, was omitted from the obituary of Mrs. Setser, which was published in a recent edition of the Times. An apology is extended to Mr. Patton and to the family of Mrs. Setser.

In Memory of Anna Rose Collins

You'll be sadly missed day by day, It won't be the same without you being near. Hearing your laughter throughout the place, All the pain and grief is over, every restless tossing passed. You're at peace forever, safely home in Heaven, With Jesus, and our daddy, and your son. So we'll smile each morning light and say a little prayer, Our gift of love each day can reach you up there. You shall rest in Jesus' land.

Severely emotionally disturbed children's program is created

This past year the Kentucky legislature, through House Bill 838, created and funded a program to provide services for youth with severe emotional problems.

In the Big Sandy area, the program consists of development of a Regional Interagency Council for Emotionally Disturbed Children (RIAC), Resource and Services Coordination through two full-time positions and the availability of Intensive Family-Based Services.

The council is composed of representatives from the Department for Social Services, comprehensive care centers, administrative office of the courts, and education. Nominated cases are reviewed for entry into the program. Those accepted are provided an interagency planning team (including parents) that formulates and provides coordinated interagency services for the family.

Though a small percentage of the seriously emotionally disturbed children of the Big Sandy area will be served the first year of the program, it is a significant beginning toward improving the quality and delivery of services from public agencies and reducing the number of out-of-home placements and psychiatric hospitalizations of children.

A cross of comfort

Red Cross members Linda Spurlock, Ann Griffith, Liz Allen, Janet Frazier, Arlene Patton, Johnnie B. Stephens, Ruby C. Stumbo, Thomasine Robinson, Cindy Parsons and Jeff Sammons gathered around the flag to pray for the safety of U.S. soldiers in the Middle East.

Red Cross chapter is light of hope to families of Saudi-based soldiers

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

Through the efforts of the American Red Cross Chapter at Martin, Floyd Countian Clark R. Meade, stationed with the 101st Airborne Division, discovered he was the father of a new baby girl Friday, Jan. 11. The baby, Ashley Raean, was born Jan. 9.

The newly formed Red Cross Chapter has mailed packages to soldiers stationed in the Middle East; encouraged county school children to write letters; found out the whereabouts of a soldier for a mother; and offered support to those families of soldiers preparing for war.

The chapter, formed from a support group who set up a booth at the Red, White, and Blue festival at Martin, has slowly been increasing its membership. No membership fee is charged and volunteers are needed, said Thomasine Robinson, director of the chapter. Robinson also encouraged a county-wide participation by area ministers. "Manpower is needed," Robinson said.

During the meeting, which is held on the second Monday of each month, members read letters the Red Cross had received from soldiers who had received the Christmas packages the chapter had sent.

Tears flowed down the pages as each member heard the comments: "You would not believe how great it was to eat actual soup out of a can," wrote Cpl. Ronnie Parsons. "Things that people take for granted in everyday life become luxuries when you don't have it."

"The support from back home has been wonderful and has really helped me through this," wrote AIC David M. Boyd. "When one of us gets a package in our tent, everyone is happy because we all just dig in like Christmas time."

"It is always good to know that all of you back home are thankful for what we are doing out here," said John D. Spears, who is stationed aboard the USS Midway. "We all hope to serve as role models for those kids."

Red Cross members who have sons or daughters stationed in the Middle East shared stories and comments they had received from letters and calls home.

Cindy Parsons, whose son Jimmie is stationed near the Kuwait border, told a story about a Christmas tree she had mailed to her son in November. The small tree was complete with decorations and battery powered lights.

When Parsons received the tree, he packed it 10 miles from Kuwait. During these maneuvers, branches and decorations became lost in the sand.

At Christmas, Parsons and the three men in his unit, assembled their tree. To replace the lost ornaments, they hung small pieces of Army items. "No other boy in the company had a Christmas tree," Parsons said to his mother in a telephone conversation recently. The other young men gathered around the tree while Parsons told them tales of his Christmases at home in Eastern Kentucky.

Other mothers in the group told of requests they had received to send thermal underwear to the soldiers.

Tharon Murphy told her mother of night temperatures below 30 degrees and the wind that comes from the north that "chills them to death."

In an effort to encourage the parents and the soldiers, the Red Cross will soon be mailing cards of comfort, but first fundraising projects are needed to replenish the coffers of this heart-warming organization. Donations or requests for help may be made to the organization by calling Cindy Parsons at 874-9859 or Jan's Flower Shop at 185-3956. Both numbers offer 24-hour service.

However, with war looming, Robinson has been told by the state chapter at Louisville that "as of Tuesday, the Red Cross cannot send any messages for the next two weeks, unless it is a birth message or death notice."

The Red Cross is urging area citizens and businesses to show their concern for the soldiers by flying the American flag or displaying yellow bows on doors or windows. Yellow bows are free to the parents of a soldier stationed in Saudi Arabia and are available by contacting Jan's Flower Shop.

Praying for peace..

Area unites with prayers for peace

by Kathleen Carroll
Contributing Writer

More than 150 people from Floyd County's communities joined together in an ecumenical prayer vigil Sunday afternoon for a peaceful solution to the Persian Gulf Crisis.

Unlike many rural services concerning the Gulf Crisis that have captured media attention, there were no flags unfurled, no patriotic songs, no thundering speeches declaring God's blessing and approval of American military action. Instead, those attending this simple, patient vigil for peace turned their attention toward the hope that the crisis in the Middle East would be resolved peacefully, and "all peoples of the world would learn to walk in ways of justice, love and peace." Rather than glorify war, the vigil offered prayers and psalms seeking salvation from the "weak resignation to violence"

The service, held at the Prestonsburg First Presbyterian Church, was organized by Kathleen DiSalvo, Mary Ellen Kocnn and Steve Sanders. Area clergymen who participated included Rev. Wayne Burch, Rev. Timothy Jessen, and Fr. Joseph N. Muench.

Organizer Kathleen DiSalvo explained that the service was needed to alleviate a growing sense of helplessness following Saturday's Congressional vote supporting President Bush. "We all feel the tension as we draw nearer the deadline," said DiSalvo. "I think we all feel sort of lost."

Many of those in attendance had relatives serving in American forces responding to the Gulf Crisis. Still others knew men and women who had been called to duty there. As one woman explained, "I have a nephew over there, but I don't know of anybody who doesn't know someone now serving in Saudi Arabia. This crisis has touched every home, every life in the county."

As the service drew to a close, John Rosenberg, who formerly served as a captain in the U.S. Air Force, read the final prayer. "Send forth your spirit into our troubled world," said Rosenberg. "Let there be peace through the power of negotiations and the process of sanctions. Save our world from war and renew the faith of the earth."

Finally, as the quiet, solemn prayer vigil ended, those in attendance shook hands and exchanged embraces, greeting each other with the same prayer they offered for the world — "Gc I's peace be with you."

Methodist Women hold Jan. meeting

Christ United Methodist Women held their first monthly meeting for the new year in the Fellowship Hall of the church at Allen on January 8.

New President Marena Hale presided and opened the meeting with prayer. The meetings were read and approved. The treasurer gave the report.

Names for new Secret Sisters for the year 1991 were drawn. Those wishing to do a program or serve as hostess should chose a month when they want to participate.

After the business meeting was concluded, those present enjoyed a Pot Luck Salad Supper. Attending were Jeri Mullins, Debbie Adkins, Linda Rice, Cathy Campbell, Kay Lemaster, Marena Hale, Pat Derossett, Connie McKinney, Joan Wells, Kiki Bentley, Bertha Ratliff, Myrtle Ratliff, Delores Bradley and Jean Watson.

In February, Pat Derossett will give the program. Hostesses will be Emma Nelson and Linda Rice.

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

QUESTION: IS ROSE WORTHY OF HALL?

Now that the all-time hits leader has been freed from incarceration, the question surrounding the baseball world is whether he is worthy to be voted into baseball's Hall of Fame.

What does the Hall of Fame stand for? It is a place where the greats are enshrined for their contribution to the game of baseball. The candidates must be men (sorry ladies) who have displayed the highest form of moral and ethical practices.

Now the Hall of Fame committee has adopted the resolution that if you have been banned from baseball you can't appear on the ballot for election to the Hall of Fame.

Many members of the Baseball Writers Association, I believe, would elect Pete Rose on the first ballot. However, if the new resolution is passed, they won't have the chance to, because Rose's name will not appear on the ballot.

Now the question is, is that fair? I say not. I don't uphold what Rose has done by cheating on his income tax. That was a mistake for him. But Rose accomplished so much on the baseball diamond. How can you be the all-time hits leader and never make the Hall of Fame? There has never been anyone who would hustle like Charlie Hustle. He had a natural swing and could pick up the ball quicker than anyone.

Pete Rose, baseball's all-time hits leader deserves to be voted into the Hall of Fame. It will be an injustice to the game of baseball if he is never given the opportunity to be voted in. If they don't vote him in, they should remove all the articles that identify with him from the Hall of Fame.

ANOTHER SORE SPOT

Kentucky, as we all know by now, can not be considered for the SEC league championship. If the Cats go 18-0 in the conference they will be the number 10 team in the league. As of this writing, the Wildcats are 4-0 in the conference but are in tenth place. The SEC says they can not be recognized even in the regular season league standings.

Last year the Cats were in the standings and on probation. They finished fourth in the SEC. Now all of a sudden they can't get any higher than tenth place.

Well, why do the Associated Press and United Press International and other polls have them ranked? I personally think it is just another attempt to distract the Wildcats during season play. It is an injustice to a group of young men who have played and fought so hard to overcome adversity and establish themselves as a solid league contender, and have to face this snub. I would hate to think what the SEC would be if the Cats were not in it. Now Alabama and LSU are the co-leaders in the SEC.

CONGRATULATION TO COACH OSBORNE

The other night when Shelby Valley played Johnson Central, the Wildcats' coach Bobby Osborne recorded his 400th career win. The Wildcat fans have a fine coach in Osborne. Not only is he one of the region's best, but one of the state's premier coaches. Congratulations coach Osborne.

BELATED BIRTHDAY WISHES

A belated Happy Birthday wish to referee Teddy Hall (no age revealed). Teddy was "X" number years old this Thursday. Happy Birthday Teddy!

Speaking of birthdays, I appreciate all the well wishes I have received as I have been around for half of a century now. The "big 5-0" was not too bad. Thanks to all the players who have gone out of their way to express their wishes; to my co-workers here at the paper for the birthday cake, they are just great. A special thanks to some very special people — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Justice, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hager and my wife Nancy for all the years. Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports.

Compiled 17-52 record :

Roger Johnson Resigns As Trojans' Head Football Coach

Saying he wants to go back to school, Wheelwright High School head football coach Roger Johnson resigned his position at the Left Beaver School. The resignation was accepted by the Floyd County School Board at last Wednesday's board meeting.

"I want to go back to school and get my elementary principalship," said the popular Trojan coach. "I also want to be able to spend some time with my boy."

Johnson coached at the Wheelwright school for the past six years. He compiled an overall record of 17 victories against 52 defeats. His team was runner-up in the EKMC conference one year.

Johnson said he did not know what will happen with the football program at Wheelwright or who will hire to take his place. "I really don't know what will happen to it," he said. "I would like to see it go forward. As to who will take it, I really don't know."

Donnie Daniels, who coached the Allen Central Rebels football team two years ago, has been at the Wheelwright school serving as the girls' basketball coach. Daniels also helped with the football team last season.

"I would like to see Donnie take the team," related Johnson. "I know that he has said he is not interested in doing it, but if no one else comes forward I believe Donnie will do it to keep the program going."

The Trojans have not had a winning season since the 1985 season, when they posted a 6-5 record. In 1984 the Trojans went 6-4 under Johnson.

"There should be around 20 players returning next year," the former coach stated. "We lost about nine seniors this year. With 20 coming back and some new players coming in, they will have enough to continue the program."

Johnson took time to express his concern over the lack of feeder schools, not just for Wheelwright, but countywide. "There is an urgent need in the county to get the grade school football programs straightened up," Johnson explained. "If they don't, all the high school teams in the county are going to suffer. We did not have a team at Osborne or Melvin last year. Next year there will be about nine juniors from this year's team coming back and after next year, I don't know if there will be enough to field a team.

"They are going to have to stop bouncing the basketball when it is football time here in Floyd County," Johnson continued to explain. "Basketball doesn't need to be played in August or September. They should wait until October to start practicing. If they don't, it is going to hurt all the teams, including Prestonsburg, in the future."

"Allen Central had a good season this year with their first winning season. But unless they get a feeder system out of their grade schools it is going to be rough on them also."

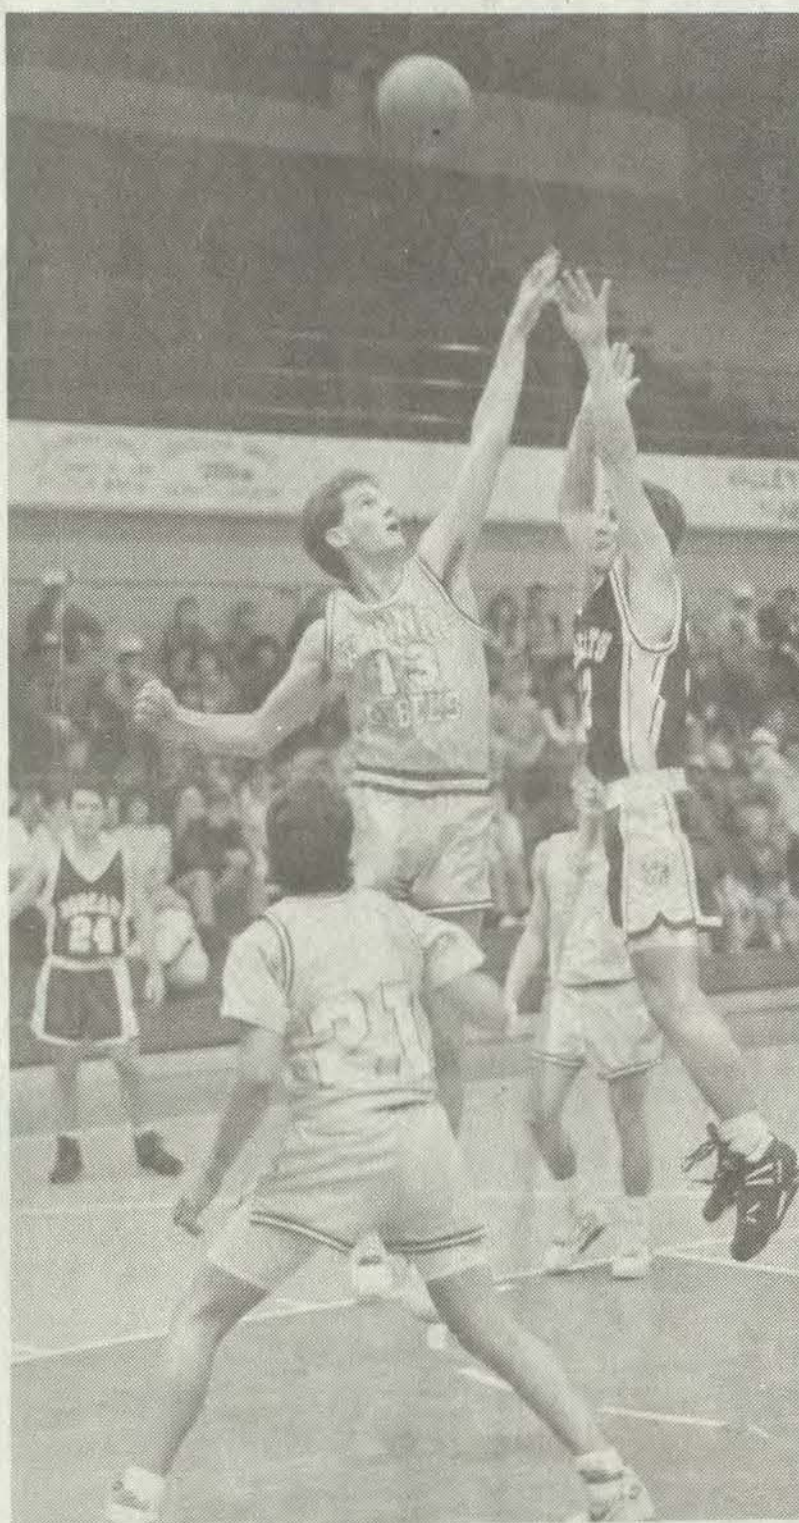

Johnson recalled the former days when the Floyd County Grade School season was at its peak.

"When 'Hoss' Halbert was county Athletic Director, we had an All-Star game at the end of the season. Everyone played each other in the county and looked forward to and work hard to get in the All-Star game. The coaches were recognized at the All-Star game as Coach of the Year. It was big thing here in the county."

"Now, we don't have that kind of competition in the grade schools," he continued to explain. "I would like to see a return of the All-Star game in October and practice basketball afterwards."

With the planned consolidation of the Wheelwright and McDowell High Schools on the agenda, Johnson hopes the merger will help the football program up Left Beaver. "I hope that

Allen Goes For Block

Betsy Layne Turns Up Heat In Fourth, Hands Rebels Third Conference Loss

When the Allen Central Rebels and Betsy Layne Bobcats get together you can expect one thing — a good hard played basketball game. The match up last Friday night at Allen Central was no different. The two teams know the importance of winning conference games, especially at home or on the road.

For Betsy Layne it was a big road game as the Bobcats were trying to stay as close to the conference leading McDowell Daredevils as they could. McDowell is perfect, 3-0, in conference play and Betsy Layne was at 2-1 going into Friday night's game.

On the other hand, the Rebels knew to have any chance of winning the conference title, a team has to win at home. Well, when the smoke had cleared Friday night, coach Junior Newsome's Bobcats came out with a 61-51 win over Johnny Martin's improved Allen Central Rebels.

"It's good to win on the road," said Newsome of his team's victory. "Allen Central is a good team and it is tough to win on the road in this conference." This was the Bobcats' second conference road win. The Bobcats fell to McDowell at home for their only conference loss.

Allen Central, after taking a 10-8 lead late in the first quarter held the lead until halftime. The Rebels led 43-39 going into the final quarter.

Phillip King hit a short inside jumper to start the period to cut the lead to two, 43-41, and tied the game when he slipped underneath for a basket at the 7:18 mark. A basket by Adam Gearheart off of a Rebel turnover gave Betsy Layne the lead at 45-43 with 6:55 remaining.

Allen Central scored just one point in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter, and that was a free throw by Tony Soler. In fact, Betsy Layne outscored the Rebels 18-1 in the span in building a 13 point lead, 57-44.

Stewart Hall's three-pointer at the 2:01 mark cut the lead to 10 points, 57-47. The Rebels struggled at the free throw line as they shot "bricks" for free throws.

Allen Central was able to cut the lead back to seven, 57-50, on a free throw by Hall and a basket by Larry Patton. Patton made a good move on an offensive rebound and stuck the ball back in, being fouled on the shot. Patton, however, could not convert the free throw. After a turnover by Betsy Layne, Hall hit a shot to make it a 57-50 game.

Adam Gearheart hit three of four free throws to extend the lead to 10, 60-50, with just 29 seconds to go.

Allen Central overcame a 7-2 Betsy Layne lead and raced out to a 12-8 lead and led 12-9 at the end of the first quarter. King scored first for Betsy Layne, hitting one of two free throws, and Chris Newsome's jumper made it 3-0 Bobcats. After a nice jumper by Ronnie Sammons, Newsome and King scored to give the Bobcats the 7-2 lead.

But the Rebels came right back, taking an 8-7 lead with six unanswered points. Sammons hit two free throws, Soler took an offensive rebound and stuck it back in and Chuck Laferty hit a baseline jumper.

Jonathan Tackett's free throw tied the game at 8-all. Laferty's turnaround and a bucket by Mike Allen gave the Rebels a 12-8 lead. Newsome hit a free throw just before the end of the quarter for Betsy Layne.

Allen's jumper in the second quarter gave Allen Central a five point lead at 16-11 and Sammons' jumper kept the lead at five, 18-13. Betsy Layne then went on a 13-3 run to take a 27-23 lead at the half. Gearheart had two treys and King scored a three-point play the hard way. The Rebels' three points came on a three-pointer by Todd Lucas, his only shot of the game.

Trailing 37-32 with less than three minutes remaining in the third period, Allen Central went on a 11-0 run to forge ahead of the Bobcats 43-37. Soler's two free throws got the Rebels started and Patton's three-point play tied the game at 37-37. Two baskets by Laferty gave Allen Central a four point lead, 41-37. Soler took an offensive rebound for a score and it was 43-37. Jody Coleman scored for Betsy Layne just before the third period ended.

The loss was the seventh of the year for the Rebels to go with nine wins. The loss dropped the Rebels to 0-3 in the conference standings. Betsy Layne is 10-6 overall and 3-1 in conference play.

McDowell Loses Tough One 73-72 To Cards In OT

Fishermen like to tell about the "big" one that got away. The McDowell Daredevils would just as soon forget about the big ones that got away. For the second straight game, the Daredevils had the "big" one on the hook, only to watch it get away. The big one being a tough Sheldon Clark Cardinal team of coach Roger Harless. The ones fishing, the McDowell Daredevils. The Daredevils had the Cards on the line but lost 73-72 in overtime. Earlier in the week McDowell had Shelby Valley, the region's number two team, on the hook and let them get away 74-70.

Clayton Wells hit a free throw with four seconds left in overtime to win the game for Sheldon Clark.

McDowell looked good in their last two games against regional power teams. Especially against Sheldon Clark. However, foul problems plagued the Daredevils as four starters fouled out, including leading scorer Stacy Hall. Others gone via the foul route were Dale Hinkle, Matt Johnson and Doug Hopkins, whose three point shooting had the Daredevils out in front of the Cards. Hopkins had four three-pointers in the third quarter that helped the Daredevils build a 10 point lead at the end of the period.

In the fourth period, McDowell looked as if they were ready to put the game away as they built a 12 point lead and led 55-44 with 7:15 remaining in the game. However, the Cardinals, playing without leading scorer Brian Pinson, were not ready to concede the game. After a tip in by Hinkle gave McDowell a 11 point lead, Shawn Hale hit two free throws and John Slone followed with a basket to cut the lead to 55-48.

Matt Johnson hit a basket underneath to make it 57-48. J. R. Hammonds hit a short jumper and Wells' layup cut the lead to 57-52. Wells was fouled by Hopkins, his fourth, but Wells failed to convert the three point play.

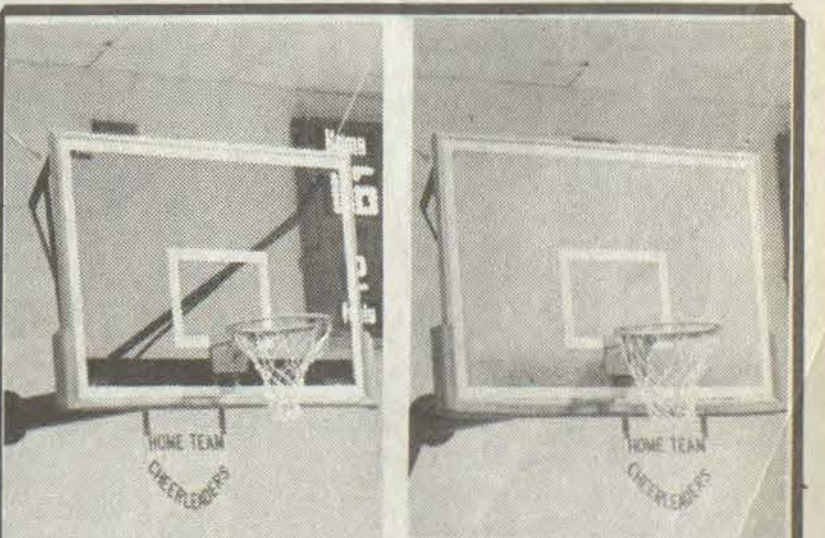

Johnson put McDowell up by seven with a basket underneath off of an offensive rebound with 4:32 to go.

After each team turned the ball over, Earl Cook gave McDowell a 61-52 lead with less than four minutes remaining. Turnovers began to take a toll on the Daredevils, as they committed three consecutive mistakes. Trailing by five, 61-56, Slone stole the basketball and went the length of the court for a layup. Seconds later, Stacy Hall dropped a pass and Shawn Hale picked it up. Out of frustration, Hall fouled Hale, his fifth, and was retired to the pines. Hale hit one of the two free throws to close the lead to 61-59.

Barry Hall's free throw made it 62-59. Max Hale hit a charity toss for Sheldon Clark for a 62-60 score. Hall gave the Daredevils a little breathing room with a shot from the corner to make it 64-60 with only 1:44 remaining. Two seconds later, Wells was fouled at the other end after hitting a layup. Wells converted the free throw and it was a 64-63 game.

The Cardinal press kept the Daredevils from beating the 10 second

"Before.....After"

A "Shattering" Experience For Adams Blackcats

This little story has nothing to do with the Adams Middle School victory over the Mullins Tigers in the Rax/Pikeville Bears Junior High Invitational basketball tournament at Pikeville College Saturday morning.

With 1:20 to go in the first half of the game, the backboard on the west end of the gym just took a notion to shatter. And shatter it did. With no one dunking the ball or even close to it, the backboard just shattered into pieces. The good thing about the incident was that it was safety glass and held in the frame.

The Adams Middle School cheerleaders were directly under the goal when it took place. The loud popping count in getting the ball across mid-court and the Cards took over, only to turn the ball over themselves as Hinkle came up with a big steal.

With 1:04 to go, Hinkle was fouled and connected on both shots for a 66-63 Daredevil lead. With 53 seconds to go, Matt Johnson picked up his fifth foul when he got Shawn Hale. Hale canned both free throws for a 66-65 score. Barry Hall put the Daredevils back in front by three, 68-65, with a basket with 42 seconds to go. Nine seconds later Kevin Fields hit a 10 foot jumper and was fouled by Hinkle, his fifth. Fields hit the charity toss and tied the game at 68-68 with but 33 seconds to go.

After a Sheldon Clark timeout, McDowell held the ball for the final shot. Hopkins took the ball and drove the lane but was whistled for an offensive foul with five seconds to go. The ball went over to Sheldon Clark who passed the ball up to Max Hale who put the ball in. The officials ruled that time had expired before the shot and the game went to overtime.

Even with depleted troops, McDowell struck first on a good play by Britt Stumbo. Stumbo hit a jumper and was fouled. He converted the free throw to give McDowell a 71-68 lead. With 2:03 to go, Wells hit the front end of a two shot foul to make it 71-69. McDowell had three shots at the basket but could not hit and Kevin Fields hit a jumper to tie the game at 71-71 with 1:29 to go. McDowell, with junior varsity players in the game, sent Cain Caudill to the line for two shots. The sophomore missed both attempts and, with 53 seconds remaining, the Cardinals called time out. When play resumed, Barry Hall fouled Shawn Hale who hit the back end of the two shot foul to give Sheldon Clark their first lead since the first quarter at 72-71.

With 14 seconds to go, J. R. Hammond fouled sophomore Martin Hall, a 25 percent free throw shooter. Hall missed the first one but hit the second to tie the game at 72-72.

The lack of defensive rebounding cost the Daredevils as the Cards had three shots at the basket and Wells was fouled on the third attempt. Wells missed the first toss but hit the bottom of the net on the second try to give the Cards a 73-72 lead with four seconds to go. After a McDowell time out, Martin Hall missed a desperation shot from midcourt and the Daredevils suffered defeat.

Hopkins led the Daredevils in scoring with 17 points. Stacy Hall, who was averaging 20 points per game, finished with 11 points before fouling out. Johnson, Hinkle and Barry Hall scored nine points each.

Four players scored in double figures for Sheldon Clark led by Max Hale's 20 points. Kevin Fields finished with 16 while Wells scored 12. Slone had 11 in a starting role in place of Pinson.

McDowell falls to 6-7 on the year. The Daredevils will be back on the court Friday evening when they host the Millard Mustangs.

King led Betsy Layne in scoring with 23 points and pulled down nine rebounds. Gearheart netted 16 and Chris Newsome finished with 11 with both players picking up three assists. Betsy Layne shot 25 free throws hitting 19. The Bobcats turned the ball over 13 times.

For Allen Central, Laferty and Stewart Hall had 11 each. Sammons finished with 10 and Soler tossed in nine. Allen Central hit eight of 19 free throws in the game. The Rebels turned the ball over 15 times.

Allen Central will continue in conference play when they face the Prestonsburg Blackcats Friday night at home. The Blackcats defeated the Rebels earlier in the year at Prestonsburg. Betsy Layne will travel to Mullins for a non-conference game.

something is done next year," he said, "because it looks slim after next year."

Johnson says that he went so far as to look into the possibility of some of the students at McDowell playing football for Wheelwright (McDowell has no football program). "I looked into it, but the kids have to attend Wheelwright," he stated.

"If we are going to have a successful program at the new school then McDowell, Osborne and Melvin are going to have to have separate football teams to provide a feeder system for the Left Beaver High School. You take the speed here at Wheelwright and the big boys they have at McDowell and you could have a good program."

Johnson says the football programs in the county have gone down hill since the county abandoned the All-Star Classic. Johnson also said that it would not be hard to find good football coaches and that with working together with the high school teams, the county programs could be built back.

"I used to help Shorty Jamerson at Wheelwright when I coached in the grade schools," he said. "I taught the same thing that Shorty taught at Wheelwright. When they got to the high school level they knew the plays."

Johnson said, although he has resigned, he would "be around to help out and to see the program continue."

Johnson suffered his two worst years with last year's team and this year. The Trojans were 0-10 last season and went 1-10 this past season.

sound made the cheerleaders scatter before they could get splattered. No one was injured in the incident. The game was delayed for an hour and 15 minutes while workers replaced the old goal with a new one. The crew was very careful not to allow the glass to spread over the court for safety of the players.

Played resumed with the Blackcats coming out the winners. No reason was given as to why the backboard shattered like it did. In the preceding game nothing seemed to be unusual concerning the backboard. Byron Gearheart gave the goal the only real lick when he hit a shot from center court that bounced off the backboard into the goal.

The officials at Pikeville College are to be commended for their handling of the situation.

Rax/Pikeville Invitational :

Johnson's Free Throw In OT Nips Adams Middle School, 37-36

The Second Annual Rax/Pikeville Bears Junior High Basketball tournament proved to be a tremendous success as the 16 team invitational came to a close Saturday afternoon at the Pikeville College gym. The grade school tournament had all the excitement of high school basketball and even rivaled some of those games.

The Virgie Eagles, the tournament's favorite, did not disappoint anyone even though they had a scare, as they nipped a very good Adams Middle School 37-36 in overtime to claim the second tournament title.

The Shelby Valley High School band along with their dance team, came along to lend a little support for the Eagles of Virgie. Actually, the band was there to participate for the Pikeville Bears and Alice Lloyd Eagles game. Their timing was such as to be able to support the elementary Eagles as well.

Virgie took a 36-33 lead on a free throw by Matthew Baker with 18 seconds to go. Robbie Risner kept the Blackcats in it with a three-pointer off the right side with just five seconds to go, to send the game into overtime. Eric Blackburn had a chance to score for the Eagles but missed on two charity tosses in the early part of the overtime. Risner, again could have been the hero for the Blackcats as he stepped to the foul line with 33 seconds to go in the overtime. Risner missed the two charity tosses. Virgie turned the ball over and with just 13 seconds to go, Ryan Ortega was fouled at midcourt and stepped to the line. Ortega, normally a good free throw shooter, missed on both attempts.

Virgie, holding the ball, forced Adams to foul. Brandt Johnson, who was 0-2 from the line and scoreless in the game, stepped to the line with two shots. The first shot hung on the rim and then fell off.

Adams elected to call time out and let Johnson think about it more. Johnson stepped to the foul line after play resumed and hit the bottom of the net with just four seconds showing. The free throw was the only point for the Eagles point guard but it was a big one. Adams had four seconds to get a shot off, but Thomas Ratliff's desperation shot was way short.

Virgie had a comfortable seven point lead, 35-28, with less than two minutes remaining. Risner scored for Adams to cut the lead to three, 35-30, at the 1:47 mark. Johnson then missed two free throws and Larry Morris took an offensive rebound to cut the lead to three, 35-32. Ortega stole the ball from the Eagles and was fouled by Osborne. Ortega missed the front of the two shot foul, but buried the second on for a 35-33 score. With 18 seconds to go in regulation play, Baker connected on the back end of a two shot foul to give the Eagles a three point cushion bringing up Risner's heroics.

Virgie was clinging to a one point lead, 27-26 at the end of the third period. Virgie scored the first five points of the frame to go up by six, 32-26, as Adams experienced some coldness. Morris' basket cut the lead to four, 32-28.

The first half was evenly played between the two schools. Virgie held a 9-7 first quarter lead, scoring the last four points of the quarter and erasing a 7-5 Adams lead.

In the second period, Ortega hit a basket off of an offensive rebound just ahead of the horn to tie the game at 17-17 as both teams headed to the locker room.

The lead exchanged hands eight times, and the game was tied five times, the last time at 36-36.

Baker led Virgie with 11 points and Blackburn finished with eight. David Bowling had seven.

For Adams, Risner had 11 points to lead the Blackcats. Morris tossed in 10 points and Ortega finished with seven. The big difference in the game was the inability of Thomas Ratliff to score. Ratliff finished with just three points in the game, those points coming in the second and third quarters. Ratliff was held scoreless in the final frame and overtime. Ratliff had scored 29 points in the semifinal game against Mullins.

"Up, up and away"

Thomas Ratliff (32) went high for this layup against Mullins in the semifinals of the Rax/Pikeville Bears Jr. High basketball tournament Saturday morning. Ratliff scored 29 points in the game to lead the Adams Blackcats to victory. (Photo by Ed Taylor)

“Where Does My Health Insurance Premium Dollar Go?”

86¢
Customer Claims Payments

9.7¢
Day-To-Day Operations

4.3¢
Future Claims

That question pops up frequently at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky. And frankly, we're happy to answer it. We care about our customers. We want you to understand your benefits and where your dollars go.

Two questions you need to ask your health insurance company.

1. "How much of my premium dollar is used to pay customer claims?"

For every dollar you send us, 86¢* goes to paying claims for you, your family and other Blue Cross and Blue Shield policyholders.

2. "How much of my premium dollar goes to running the company?"

At Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, 9.7¢* of your dollar pays for the day-to-day operations of our company. In fact, the money we spend on running our company ranks among the lowest for health insurers nationally. At some health insurance companies, 20¢ to 30¢ of premium dollars go for this purpose.

After paying expenses and claims, any money left over is set aside for customers' future claims, much like you save for a rainy day. This insures that Blue Cross and Blue Shield maintains the same level of financial security and stability we've enjoyed for over 50 years.

Blue Cross and Blue Shield is a non-profit mutual company, which means we have no stockholders to pay.

We offer you access to the best choice of doctors and hospitals. And we give you the security and peace-of-mind that comes with Kentucky's most recognized health care card.

Be a smart consumer; ask your insurance company what it spends to operate its business, how much it pays its stockholders and how much it pays in claims.

Technical, Ejections Highlight Blackcat's Loss To Knott County

It wasn't your usual high school basketball game at Knott County Central last Saturday night. The show wasn't on the floor — or was it? Six technical fouls were whistled in the game, a coach was ejected for doing nothing and a Blackcat fan sent home early from the stands. And so it went. Oh, the Patriots won the game, 94-64.

"I can honestly say that I got two technicals called on me for saying nothing," said Prestonsburg coach

Gordon Parido, who was ejected from the game in the third quarter by the referee. "I know I have been loud before, but I was as calm as I could be and sitting on the bench when the officials called the technicals."

Parido asked the officials to watch the Knott County players about coming over the back. One technical foul was called then. Parido then asked the official what he did to earn the technical and the referee called the second one.

"The calls cost us eight points in the first quarter," he explained. "We were down 5-3 and the next thing it was 11-3."

In the third quarter a Blackcat fan was heckling the referee and was removed from the gym. Coach Parido asked the official how could he eject his team's fan. The question turned into a third technical foul and the coach's ejection. Jackie Day Crisp took control of the team. Parido walked over and shook the hand of Knott County coach Jim Rose and left the court. Because of the ejection Coach Parido was automatically suspended for one game, that was the Johnson Central game played last night (Tuesday).

As far as the game went, the Blackcats had trouble running their offense and seemed to be in a state of confusion. Knott County held a 22-14 first quarter lead. Robert Hammond and Jason Crisp carried the Blackcats in the first period. Hammond had five points. He hit two free throws and took an offensive rebound and stuck it back in. He was fouled on the play and converted the charity toss. Crisp hit two three-pointers in the period. Worthie McGuire was hit with two quick fouls in the first minute and a half and was relegated to the bench.

Knott County blew out to a 30-15 lead in the second quarter on two baskets by Brian Adams and a bucket by Kitchen. Chris Burke scored on two free throws and Byron Amburgy scored on a three point play to give the Patriots a 33-17 lead. Prestonsburg trailed by 20 at the half, 45-25.

Burke hit a basket at the start of the third quarter and McGuire grabbed a missed basket for two points to make it a 45-29 game. Brad Arrington hit a short jumper for Knott County and Adams completed a three-point play and then canned two free throws for a 52-29 lead. Knott County ran it to 56-29 after the third technical on Coach Parido.

A few seconds later a Knott County player was called for a technical foul after disputing a call on a foul. Robert Hammond hit the two personals and canned the two technical's. John Clark hit a jumper for six unanswered points for the Blackcats. After Adams and Huff scored for Knott County, Clark hit a three pointer. Clark was then whistled for a foul. Out of frustration

Clark slapped the floor and — you guessed it — a technical foul ensued. "I wasn't upset they called the foul," explained Clark, "but that I committed the foul."

Knott County was in control with a 67-43 lead after three periods.

The Patriots scored the first 10 points of the fourth quarter to take a 34 point advantage, 77-43, before Hammond completed a three point play, his second, to end the Blackcat drought.

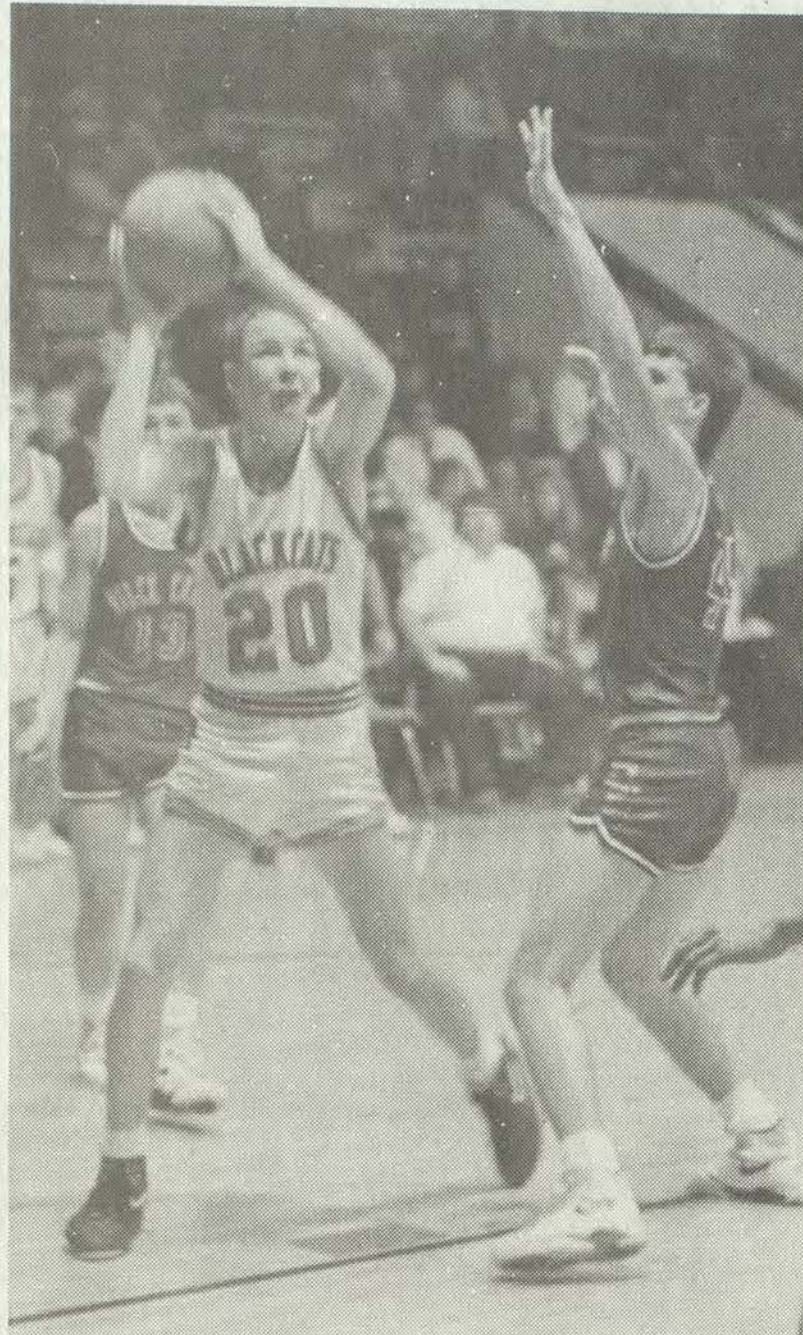

Hammond led Prestonsburg in scoring with 14 points Jason Crisp finished with 10 points. McGuire and Clark had seven and six respectively.

Adams led Knott County with 19 points. Huff added 15 and Kitchen tossed in 12.

Prestonsburg falls to 2-8 on the season and will travel to Allen Central Friday night for a conference game.

Leads conference at 2-0:

Lady Rebels Shake "Doldrums". Defeats Betsy Layne

The Allen Central Rebels looked like anything but a basketball team in the first half of their game with the Betsy Layne Lady Cats Friday night at the Allen Central gym. The two teams met in an important conference match up. The Lady Rebels shook whatever it was that caused their unpredictable play and posted a 10 point 58-48 win over the visiting Lady Cats. The victory keeps the Lady Rebs record perfect at 2-0 in the conference race.

Allen Central scored the first nine points of the third quarter to erase a 23-17 Betsy Layne lead and to go up 24-23. Stacy Moore got the Lady Rebs started with a bucket underneath and Teresa Gibson, who led Allen Central with 19 points, hit one of her three three-pointers and Jenny Yates converted two free throws to complete the 7-0 run. Nikki Webb ended the Lady Cats drought with a bucket to give Betsy Layne a one point, 25-24 lead. Central went back on top by one point on a score by "Mini" Moore. After a Betsy Layne turnover, Moore hit a three pointer to give Allen Central a four point lead. Three points by Darnella Bradley — a free throw and a basket — put the Lady Rebs out front 32-25. Gibson hit another three pointer just before the buzzer to end the third period.

Betsy Layne opened just as cold in the fourth as they did in the third and Allen Central took advantage of their inability to score by outscoring them 7-2 to take a 42-33 lead.

Trailing by 11 points, 46-35, Briana Boyd hit a trey to make it 46-38. With less than three minutes to go, Allen Central began to milk the clock. Gibson was fouled and hit both free throws to give Central a 50-39 lead. Shelia Hall scored for Betsy Layne to cut it to nine and Boyd's jumper made it a seven point game. Jenny Wiley hit a free throw and took a nice pass from Bradley for a layup to give Allen Central a 10 point cushion.

Gibson hit four consecutive free throws as the Lady Rebels went on top 57-43.

Dee Dee Martin completed a three point play to cut the lead back to 11, 57-46. Eighth grader Veronica McKinney hit a free throw and Misty Johnson scored for Betsy Layne to cap off the scoring.

Betsy Layne looked like a different ball club than the one that faced Wheelwright two nights before. The Lady Cats struggled against the Lady Trojans but looked sharp in the opening quarter of the game with Allen Central. The Lady Cats held a 14-8 first quarter lead on the strength of Susan Conn's scoring. Conn had five points in the first period. Webb had four points, including a three-pointer the old fashioned way. The Lady Cats held a six point lead at the half, 23-17, as their pressure defense gave Allen Central problems. Coach Compton kept running her players in and out looking for that right combination. In the opening minutes of the second quarter the Lady Rebs turned the ball over four of their first five possessions. Stacy Moore took over the scoring for Allen Central by hitting eight straight points.

Allen Central returned to the floor in the second half and employed a full court pressure defense that caused the Betsy Layne some problems.

"It was a good ballgame for us," said Betsy Layne coach Bill Newsome. "We played smart basketball the first half but were lacking on the boards. We didn't shoot well from the free throw line (9-23) after working hard on that in practices."

"I thought Nikki (Webb) played a good game," he said. "She wanted to play good against them for personal reasons. The first three to four minutes of the third quarter killed us. Our defense let down. At the half I told our girls to do the same thing they did in the first half. Evidently they didn't."

"Our pressure defense in the third quarter got us back into the game," said Bonita Compton, head coach at Allen Central. "We had a problem with Darnella (Bradley) wanting to shoot with three men on her. But she played an overall good game. Stacy (Moore) had a good game tonight as did Jenny Wiley."

Besides Gibson 19 points, Stacy Moore added 11 and Jenny Wiley tossed in 10. Mini Moore netted seven.

Nikki Webb led Betsy Layne with 12 points. Boyd added 11 while Hall finished with seven. Conn and Martin had five each.

The Lady Rebels, the region's fifth ranked team, improve to 7-5 overall with wins over Lawrence County and Betsy Layne over the weekend. Betsy Layne falls 5-6 and goes to 2-2 in the conference.

A big battle awaits this Friday night as Allen Central will host the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats in a battle for first place. Prestonsburg is 2-1 in the conference and 6-3 overall.

BUD LIGHT DAREDEVILS TO PERFORM AT MOREHEAD STATE UNIVERSITY

Morehead State University will present the "high flying dunks" of the Bud Light Daredevils Monday, January 21 at the Academic-Athletic Center.

During the event, sponsored by the Old South Distributing of Winchester, the Daredevils will appear briefly during the first half of the Morehead State and Middle Tennessee men's basketball game and will then perform an eight minute dunking routine at halftime.

Performing since the 1984-85 season as the Bud Light Daredevils, the group developed the idea of dunking a basketball with the aid of a mini trampoline which originated in 1979 with two members of the cheerleading squad at the University of Mississippi.

Over the past several years, the Daredevils have performed throughout the United States and in Europe, Japan and Australia.

Both reserve and general admission tickets for the evening's entertainment are available at the door. The MSU Lady Eagles will face Middle Tennessee's Lady Raider's at 5:15 p.m. while the men's game begins at 7:30 p.m.

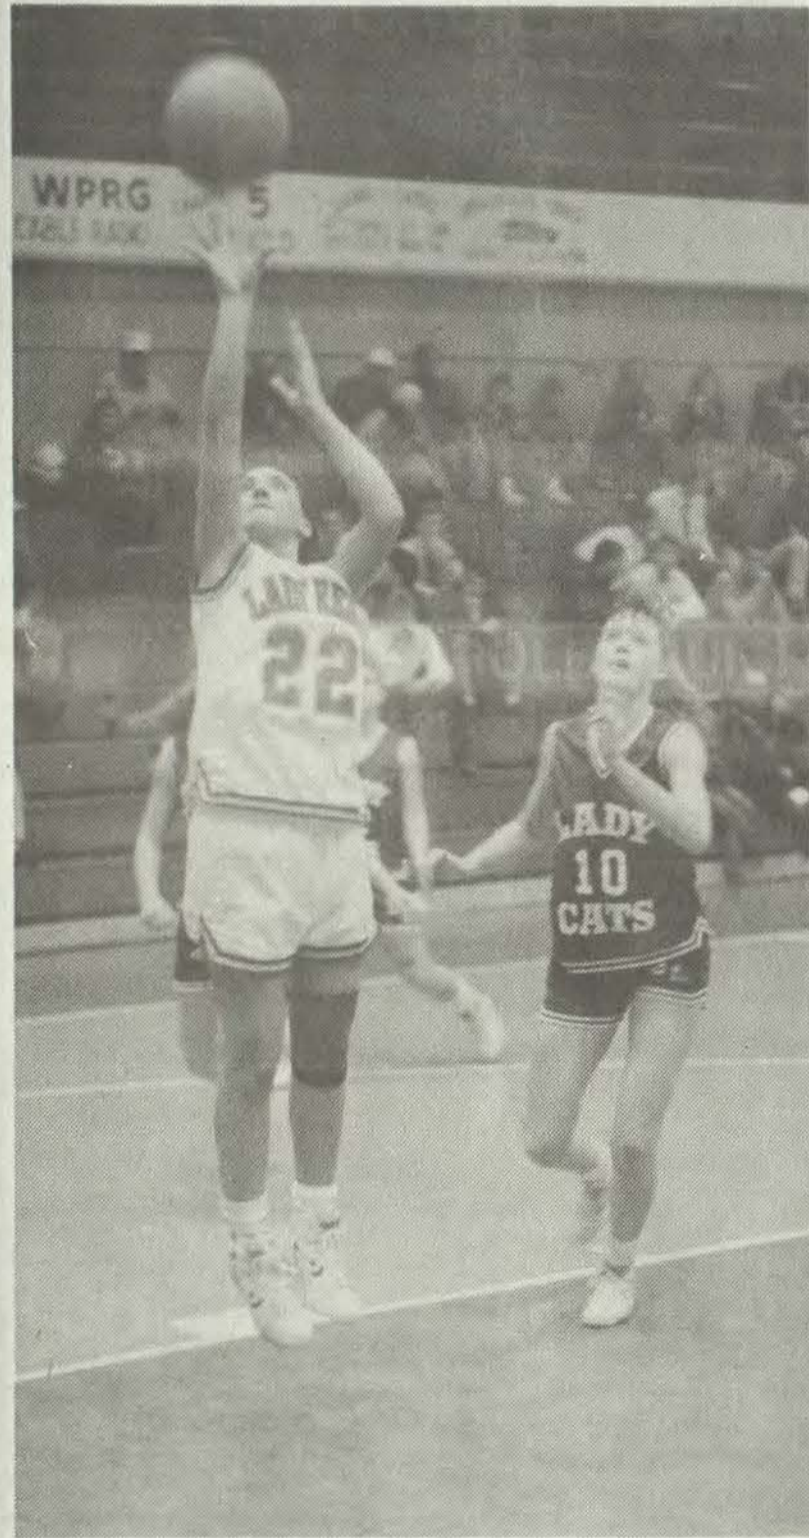

INDEPENDENT BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT BEING ORGANIZED; TEAMS NEEDED

Any independent basketball team that is interested in playing in an upcoming tournament either at Wayland or Martin (place and date uncertain) may call 377-2397 or 358-

Virgie, Mullins, Martin, Adams Advance

The Second Annual Rax/Pikeville Bears Invitational junior high basketball tournament continued through the weekend with Virgie, Mullins, Martin and Adams posting impressive victories and advancing to the semifinals of the tournament.

Virgie bested Betsy Layne; Martin subdued Millard; Mullins slipped past Stumbo and Adams overwhelmed Allen.

The tournament concluded at halftime of the Pikeville Bears and Alice Lloyd Eagles college game when the All-Tournament team and Most Valuable Player were named.

There was "shattering" moment in the tournament during the semifinals on Saturday afternoon when one of the backboards shattered and had to be replaced. No reason was given as to why the backboard cracked. The crew at the Pikeville College replaced the damaged one with a new one in a matter of an hour and play was resumed. No one was injured.

Results of games played Thursday night through Saturday's semifinals are as follows:

JOHNS CREEK VS JOHN M. STUMBO

In the opening game Thursday night the Mustangs of Stumbo had to rally from a 7-0 deficit to defeat coach Barry Thompson's Johns Creek Bearcats, 49-40.

Stumbo scored the final nine points of the game to take the victory. Lance Bowman had hit two free throws with 3:23 remaining to tie the game at 40-40. Stevie Johnson put Stumbo on top for good with a short jumper at the 3:06 mark. Johnson followed with two free throws to extend the lead to four points.

After Johns Creek missed two free throws, Derrick Newsome added two for Stumbo and Johnson hit one with 45 seconds remaining. Zadius Tackett ended the game with a layup.

Johns Creek jumped out to a 7-0 first quarter lead as Jerry Thacker had two baskets and Doug Lyons scored on a layup with 3:13 to go. Johns Creek held the lead until Newsome's three-pointer with 42 seconds left in the half gave Stumbo their first lead at 20-18.

No club could get more than a four point lead until Stumbo's nine point rally at the end.

Derrick Newsome led the Mustangs with 32 points, including three three-pointers. Johnson finished with eight for Stumbo.

Jerry Thacker had 19 points to lead the Bearcats. Thacker hit three three-pointers in the game. Lance Bowman had 17 points for Johns Creek.

PRATER CREEK VS MULLINS

In the second game, Mullins had an easy time with Prater Creek as they rolled to a 55-33 win over the Cougars.

Brandon Combs started the first quarter with a short jumper with 5:48 remaining. Ronnie Hamilton a hit two free throws for a 3-0 Prater lead. The Tigers tied the score on a three-pointer by Jamie Hamilton. Prater went back on top, 5-3 on a basket by Hamilton. Nathan Hinkle's free throw sliced the lead to one, 5-4.

Brent Akers' jumper offset Justin Harris' rebound basket. Hamilton scored again to push the lead to 9-6 for the Cougars. Mullins then scored eight straight points to take a 12-9 lead. Harris and Hinkle scored for Mullins and Chad Coleman followed with a layup and rebound bucket to make the score 14-9 with just 18 seconds left in the quarter.

Mullins led 14-10 after one quarter and 28-16 at the half. The Tigers never looked back as they posted their 55-33 win.

Ronnie Hamilton had 22 points to lead Prater Creek in scoring. Akers added eight points.

Mullins was led in scoring by Jamie Hamilton's 22 points. Hamilton hit four three-pointers in the game. Harris tossed in 12 points. Nathan Hinkle scored 11 points.

ADAMS VS PIKEVILLE

Robbie Risner scored 11 points to lead a balanced scoring attack for Adams Middle School in his team's 55-46 win over the Pikeville Elementary Panthers in the third game of the tournament.

Adams led all the way in the win. The Blackcats held a 14-7 lead after one quarter of play. Adams moved out to a 17 point lead, 30-13 at the half. Adams built the lead to 22 points by the end of the third quarter.

Thomas Ratliff and Jason Spurlock each added nine points to the Adams win. Larry Morris scored eight points.

Kevin Stepp had 14 points for Pikeville, including two three-pointers. Rory Hall added 12 points and hit two treys.

ALLEN VS KIMPER

The Allen Eagles held off a determined Kimper team, 30-29, behind the 12 point performance of Matt Goble. Allen took the lead for good late in the third quarter although they had to constantly hold off the Kimper team.

After Charles Sparks two free throws with 44 seconds to go in the quarter tied the score, Goble's layup put the Eagles ahead for good. Jason Williams hit a free throw with 15 seconds to go to put the Eagles up 22-19.

Sparks' layup with Bobby Slone's short jumper closed the gap to one, 26-25. Goble hit a basket at the 1:05 mark and Williams lay one in, what proved to be the winning basket, at the 1:22 mark.

Kimper scored a free throw and a late basket to set the final margin.

QUARTERFINALS BETSY LAYNE VS VIRGIE

The Virgie Eagles jumped out to a 16-8 first quarter lead and held on to defeat the Betsy Layne Bobcats 48-38 behind the 14 point performances of Danny Osborne and Eric Blackburn. Virgie held a 27-22 lead at the half but the Bobcats closed to within two points, 34-32, by outscoring the Eagles 10-7 in the third quarter. Virgie pulled away late in the fourth quarter to post the win.

Ryan Newsome led the Bobcats in scoring with 15 points. Randy Wallen added 12. Jeremy Rogers finished with seven points.

MARTIN VS MILLARD

Martin outscored Millard in the second game 12-9 in the first quarter and went on to post a 53-36 win over the Mustangs. Tony Robinson scored eight of the 12 first quarter points as he finished with 14 points. The Purple Flash were led in scoring by Byron Gearheart with 27 points. Chad Adkins led Millard with 13 points. Kevin Stumbo added five points including a three-pointer.

STUMBO VS MULLINS

Mullins played hard and fast as they handled the Stumbo Mustangs in overtime, 74-69. Millard shot seven three-pointers in the game, hitting five. Hamilton tossed in 19 points in the game. Justin Harris led the Tigers with 24 points and Nathan Hinkle tossed in 14.

Derrick Newsome captured game scoring honors with 33 points for Stumbo. Newsome had two three-pointers in the contest. Steven Johnson netted 13 points for Stumbo. Joe Bryant finished with eight and Toby Newsome had four.

ADAMS VS ALLEN

Adams had no trouble with Allen in quarterfinal play. The Blackcats posted a 48-18 win over the Floyd County team. The Blackcats were led in scoring by Byron Allen with 10 points. Nine Blackcats got in the scoring column for Adams.

Matt Goble led Allen with five points.

SEMIFINALS MARTIN VS VIRGIE

Virgie scored seven straight points in the final minute of the second quarter to take a 27-24 halftime lead and never looked back as the Eagles held off the charging Purple Flash to post a 59-46 victory. Martin held a 23-20 lead at the time. The Purple Flash kept the game close. After falling behind by six points, 34-28, a basket by Kevin Robinson and two free throws by Beau Tackett cut the lead to two, 34-32. A 5-0 run by the Eagles extended the lead to 39-32 and Virgie led 41-37 at the end of the third quarter.

Virgie outscored Martin 9-2 at the start of the fourth quarter to lead 50-39. Martin could get no closer than eight, 52-44, in losing to Virgie.

Matt Baker led the winners with 19 points. Danny Osborne tossed in 16. Eric Blackburn finished with 11.

Byron Gearheart had 16 points to lead Martin. Toby Robinson tossed in seven.

ADAMS VS MULLINS

Adams Middle School scored the last nine points of the game to hand a very good Mullins team a 52-45 loss in the other semifinal game.

Mullins took a 45-43 lead on a basket by Chad Coleman with 2:55 remaining. Robbie Risner's basket tied the score with 1:55 to go. Ryan Ortega's bucket at the 1:42 mark put the Cats ahead for good. Jason Spencer hit a free throw with 45 seconds left and Thomas Ratliff's layup at 20 seconds put the Blackcats up 50-45. T. Tom Slone hit two free throws to cap off the scoring for Adams.

The lead exchanged hands six times. Adams biggest lead was 24-13 with 2:07 left in the first half. Mullins then scored the next 11 points to tie the game.

Mullins biggest lead was 43-34 with 5:20 left in the game. At that point Adams scored the next nine points to tie the game.

Thomas Ratliff scored 29 points to lead Adams in scoring. Robbie Risner added seven points. Jamie Hamilton's 15 points led Virgie. Chad Coleman added 12 points for the Eagles.

Bryant Scores 31, Joins 1000 Club :

Lady Devils Fall To Pikeville Panthers, 63-54

It was Lori Bryant's night at McDowell Thursday night as the senior forward was honored for becoming the newest member of the 1,000 club at the Left Beaver School. Bryant scored the first two points of the game at the 7:16 mark and the game was stopped by Teddy Hall and Lowell Parker, officials of the game, to allow coach Cassandra Keathley time to present the game ball to Bryant.

It may have been Bryant's night, as she poured in 31 points, but it wasn't a good night for the Lady Daredevil basketball team as they fell to a much improved Pikeville Lady Panther team, 63-54.

The Lady Panthers used their running game to win over the host McDowell team. Sandy Ford hit for 27 points, working her way underneath for some easy baskets. Ford had 10 field goals, including one trey, and hit four of nine from the free throw line. Bryant had 11 field goals and hit two three-pointers and three of five charity tosses.

After Bryant opened the game with a put back, a rebound of her missed shot, Teresa Lockhart hit a three pointer for the Lady Panthers to make it 3-2. Bryant scored again off of a steal and the 4-3 lead was the Lady Devils' last. Baskets by Lisa Lockhart and Latonya Anderson gave Pikeville a 7-4 lead. Bryant scored her sixth point for a 7-6 game and, after Teresa Lockhart scored, Bryant picked off an offensive rebound for a score to make it 9-8. Ford's basket made it 12-8 and Bryant's tenth point in the first quarter made it 12-10. Pikeville held a 16-12 lead at the end of the first quarter.

The score was tied three times at 17, 19, 21 before Pikeville took the lead for good with six straight and went to the lockerroom with a 25-21 lead. Pikeville built a 10 point lead, 31-21 early in the fourth quarter. Keathley was called for a technical foul and Teresa Lockhart converted both tosses. Anderson hit a free throw and a Ford three-point play gave the Lady Panthers the lead.

Bryant scored the first six points for McDowell in the period, but that didn't come until the 4:28 mark. In fact, out of the 13 points McDowell scored in the period, Bryant had 12 of them as the Lady Devils trailed 43-34 going into the final period.

The closest McDowell could come in the fourth stanza was five points. Nikki Mullins, who had a good game coming off the bench, hit a bucket at the start of the fourth quarter to make it 43-36. McDowell missed four straight free throws but got baskets from Bryant and Mullins to cut the lead to five, 45-40. Pikeville, behind the scoring of Ford and Lockhart, extended their lead back to nine, 56-45.

Lack of defensive boards for McDowell was big factor in the loss as the Lady Panthers got second and third efforts at the basket.

Mullins' three-point play got McDowell to within eight, 56-48, with 1:55 remaining.

Lockhart finished with 18 points for Pikeville and Anderson tossed in 11 points.

For McDowell, Nikki Mullins, added 11 points to go with Bryant's 31 points.

McDowell falls to 4-7 on the season and will return to action in the All A Classic on Wednesday, Jan. 23 against the same Pikeville team. The game is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. The All A regional will be held at Jenkins.

Kentucky Class "A" State Girl's Regional Tournament Jan. 22-26 Elkhorn City High School

Bassin' with the Pros

SOME TOURNAMENT WINS COME ON THE LAST CAST

Don't ever give up, because victory can literally come on the last cast.

That's the advice of well know lady bass tournament pro Burma Thomas, and she should know. In two of her 14 national tournament victories, she caught the winning bass during the last 15 minutes of competition; one of those bass actually came on her very last cast of the tournament.

"When I go to a bass tournament, I go to win," says Thomas, a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff and three time angler of the year on the women's fishing circuits. "I think if you get discouraged just because you don't catch fish in the first two or three hours that you're giving up."

"Once you give up, you don't have a chance."

?During a 1987 bass tournament on Lake Bob Sandlin in Texas, Thomas caught her winning bass during the final 15 minutes of the tournament. She won by less than a pound.

A year earlier, she won a tournament on Florida's huge Lake Okeechobee with even less time to spare.

"The fishing had really been tough," the Evinrude pro remembers, "because it was extremely hot. Then a short afternoon rain shower cooled things, and suddenly you could catch a bass on every cast."

"I caught my last fish with one minute left to check in. My partner took it off the hook as I drove the boat, and I won by only a few ounces."

Early tournament fishing experiences helped her develop the tough mental attitude needed to keep a positive attitude when bass aren't biting.

"When I began fishing tournaments I had to fish with men because there weren't any women's circuits then," says Thomas, "and when they caught fish and I didn't, it just made me try harder."

Early tournament success against men also helped develop a strong sense of confidence, she adds. In her very first professional tournament in 1975, she finished sixth. She was the only woman entered and she caught one of the largest bass.

"You get the confidence you can catch a bass on any cast," Thomas explains. "Of course, you're not going to catch a fish on every cast, but as long as you know you have the ability to catch a bass at any given moment you can continue to stay alert and fish hard."

Thomas believes lack of confidence is the greatest problem bass fishermen have, and it has a strong effect on their fishing, whether they compete in tournaments or not.

"Nothing breeds confidence like success," she says, "so put yourself in situations where you'll have success and can start building confidence. This can be something as simple as fishing a farm pond where you can catch a lot of fish in a short time."

"Just keep telling yourself on every single cast that you can catch a bass. That's the way I fish, even on my very last cast."

Kentucky Girls All "A" Classic Gets Underway Jan. 22 At EC

The Second Annual All "A" Classic basketball tournament will be held February 6-9, at UK's Memorial Coliseum. The 1991 edition of the All "A" Classic has been expanded to include competition among girls teams.

The tournament will feature 16 boys teams representing each region of the state and four girls teams advancing from sectional competitions.

The girls 15th Region tournament gets underway this coming Tuesday night, January 22, at Elkhorn City.

Two Floyd County teams will be taking part in the first girls All "A" regional. Wheelwright, coached by Donnie Daniels, and the McDowell Lady Devils coached by Cassandra Keathley will compete.

Wheelwright will face Johns Creek on Tuesday night in the second game scheduled for 8 p.m. In the tournament's opening game, Paintsville will face the Lady Hornets of Phelps.

McDowell swings into tournament action when they face the much improved Pikeville Lady Panthers. The two teams met last Thursday night at McDowell with Pikeville coming away with a 61-51 victory. The winner of the Wheelwright/Johns Creek game will face Feds Creek, with high scoring guard Claire Fuller, on Thursday at 8 p.m. The McDowell/Pikeville winner will then face the winner of the Feds Creek/Wheelwright/Johns Creek game on Friday, January 25.

In the upper bracket, defending 15th Regional champion Elkhorn City will take on the young Millard Lady Mustangs in the first game Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. Mullins will face the winner of the Paintsville/Phelps game on Thursday at 6:30 p.m.

The semifinals will be played on Friday night with the championships scheduled for Saturday night.

According to McDowell's Keathley, she likes the draw her team received. "We are in a good bracket," she said. "If we play some good basketball we can advance in the tournament."

McDowell, one of the top teams in the 15th Region, has had problems handling the basketball, especially against Pikeville. The Lady Devils turned the ball over 31 times against the Lady Panthers last week.

"I think we will be alright when we face them again," Keathley said.

The winners out of each region will advance on to sectional play at four different sectional sites. The Region 15 winner will play in Section Four which will be held at Jenkins High School on Saturday, February 2. Other regions include the 13th, 14th and 16th. The four sectional winners will go on to Memorial Coliseum for the state tournament on February 8-9.

Karate Champ Holbrook Visits Hungary

With the Iron Curtain rapidly deteriorating, Eastern Europe is opening its borders in sports as well as in trade and travel.

Grove City's Karina Holbrook experienced this new openness firsthand earlier in December when she traveled to Hungary for an international karate competition.

Holbrook, 15, is a sophomore at Grove City High School and the daughter of Larry and Mary Holbrook. She is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Holbrook of Auxier. A black belt and a student in the Grove City Karate Club under sensei Dave Holloway, Holbrook qualified for this tournament by finishing second in synchronized kata and third in kata at the 1990 U. S.

Karate Federation championships in Akron, Ohio. She also finished fourth in kumite, or fighting, and fourth in team fighting. It was Holbrook's fourth trip to the national championships. As a member of the Junior U. S. Karate team, she has been recognized as one of the outstanding young karate athletes in the United States.

Kata is a form of karate exercise in which the stances and motions of karate are put together. Holbrook called it "like fighting invisible opponents." In synchronized kata, these movements are performed alongside others, and contestants are judged on the ability to keep their movements in sync.

Holbrook stayed in the Hungarian capital of Budapest and Miskolc, a town in northeast Hungary where the tournament was held. She finished fifth in kata and kumite, and also competed in the team sparring. Twenty-three 15 and 16-year-olds competed in her division, coming from the Soviet Union and several European nations, in addition to the United States and Hungary. The United States' team was the overall winner and brought back the Miskolc Cup for the fourth year in a row.

Holbrook managed to meet many new people in spite of the language barrier. While only a few of the Hungarians spoke English, the United States' team was helped by their coach, John Nanay. A native Hungarian who now lives in Chicago, Nanay was a medical student when he fled Hungary during the 1956 revolt that was put down by the Soviets.

Holbrook's travels indicate that conditions have changed drastically since 1956. There was little of the travel restriction that Soviet-bloc countries have been known for in the past. "It was pretty free travel, within reason," she said. "We were not restricted within one given area."

She managed to do some shopping in Budapest, and paid a visit to that international institution, McDonald's. The food "tasted a little bit different" and was more expensive. Packets of ketchup were sold separately for the equivalent of one United States' dollar. "Things were not that cheap there," she said. She also visited Heroes Square, which includes such Budapest landmarks as the Hungarian Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. In Miskolc, she visited castles and a Catholic church that were built in the fourth and fifth centuries.

Clark Scores 18:

Blackcats Snap Five-Game Skid

It has been a long time coming, but it came. The Prestonsburg Blackcats broke their five game losing streak with a 66-52 come-from-behind victory over Dilce Combs Friday night. The Blackcats outscored the visitors 21-7 in the final quarter in winning going away. The score was tied at 45-45 at the end of the third period. Worthie McGuire went on a roll and scored three consecutive buckets to spark a Blackcat comeback.

The only previous win for Coach Gordon's Parido's Blackcats was over Allen Central in early December. The Blackcats had lost games to Betsy Layne, Pikeville, Feds Creek, Belfry and Shelby Valley — some pretty solid competition. The only game the Blackcats were never in was against Belfry.

Three players hit double figures for Prestonsburg, led by John Clark's 18 points. Clark had three-pointers in the game. Prestonsburg hit seven treys for the game. McGuire had 16 points while Aaron Tucker tossed in 10.

Prestonsburg opened the game cold as Dilce Combs found the Prestonsburg fieldhouse to their liking as they pulled out to a 20-12 first quarter lead. Prestonsburg went to the locker room at halftime trailing by six, 35-29. In the fourth quarter, Prestonsburg outscored the visiting team 16-10 to tie at 45-all.

Dilce Combs could not handle the pressure of the Blackcats and experienced some cold shooting in the final period.

Heston Beverly scored 22 points to lead Combs in scoring. Brian Pratt added 12 points and Todd McIntyre tossed in 10.

Prestonsburg goes to 2-7 on the season and will travel to Allen Central Friday night to face the Runnin' Rebels. Prestonsburg is 1-2 in the conference.

DILCE COMBS 20 15 10 7 (52); ALEXANDER, 8; MCINTYRE, 10; PRATT, 12; BEVERLY, 22. at PRESTONSBURG 12/17/16/21 (66): CRISP, 7; TUCKER, 10; CLARK, 18; MCGUIRE, 16; HAMMOND, 8; REITZ, 3

Times Player Spotlight

Doug Hopkins, McDowell, scored 17 points, hit four three-pointers in his team's 73-72 overtime loss to Sheldon Clark.

Lori Bryant, McDowell Lady Dareddevils, hit for 31 points against the Pikeville Lady Panthers and scored her 1,000 career point.

Phillip King of Betsy Layne had 23 points as the Bobcats won a big road conference game over the Allen Central Rebels.

Teresa Gibson, Allen Central, scored 19 points, three three-pointers to lead the Allen Central Lady Rebs past the Betsy Layne Lady Cats.

John Clark, Prestonsburg, tossed in 18 points to help the Blackcats record their second win of the season with a 66-52 victory over Dilce Combs.

Nikki Webb, Betsy Layne Lady Cats, had 12 points against Allen Central in conference play.

Robert Hammond, Prestonsburg, scored 14 points for the Blackcats in their road loss to Knott County Central.

Dale Hinkle of McDowell tossed in 16 points for the Dareddevils in their 83-56 loss to Belfry.

Reason to write

We had a response to our very first column back in October from Mary Ford, a transplanted Floyd Countian now living at Burnside in Pulaski County.

Mary is a former teacher at both Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne high schools. She has lived in Burnside for the past 25 years but still considers Floyd County "home."

It's for people such as her that we write, hoping they might read about others they remember — and maybe see some human interest story they can relate to.

My thanks, Mary, for your letter, and may the Floyd County Times continue to be "the next best thing to being there."

Another bargain

Two people we've heard from related to our story about economy size packages and the husband who learned that for a few cents more you can get twice as much.

They are Bernice Miller of Prestonsburg and Kay Gray of Allen. Both these ladies said something like, "That sounds like the man who lives at our house."

Since I know I'm not alone in dealing with this trait, I'll relate one other experience.

My husband went to the store again a few days ago to get some food for our little dog, Zip Code. When he came back he said, "Would you believe that five pounds of dog food costs $5, and for twice the price you could get five times as much?"

"How did you ever pass it up?" I asked.

"It wasn't easy," he answered. "I just didn't want to hear you carry on about it."

And likely I would have something. Twenty-five pounds of dog food would seem like a lot — especially since the dog himself weighs only 12.

Bad News

Elfreda Bowen of Bonnyman tells about an old fellow she knew in Perry County who couldn't read but was a regular subscriber to the Hazard Herald.

He would scan the paper from front to back, looking at the pictures and sometimes using his imagination to determine what the stories might be.

One day he inadvertently turned the paper wrong and was giving it his usual going over. One of his neighbors dropped in and saw he was looking a bit perplexed.

"What's the matter, Uncle Joe? Is there bad news in the paper?"

"Oh my, yes," he answered. "There's been a terrible train wreck. Just look at this engine turned upside down!"

Reminder

Kim's Korner

It's happened!
I've started falling apart!

The only thing I can attribute my torn ligament to is age — 30.

First, last Monday night, I was sitting quietly watching my favorite sitcom, Designing Women. All of a sudden my third finger in my left hand had an excruciating pain run through it from the joint to the fingertip.

My finger began to draw and turn blue.

"Oh no," I thought to myself, "is this arthritis." It was extremely agonizing. Isn't it amazing how a finger can cause a body so much pain.

The next morning, still swollen and blue, I couldn't figure out what the problem could be. Tuesday came. The finger was fine, no trace of swelling or blue anywhere.

Shawn, Jeff and I were entering the office on our return from lunch, when "ouch" I squealed as the two of them turned to see what was wrong. There I stood holding my right knee.

"What happened," they asked.

"I don't know," I replied. "I just stepped up on this step and my knee went out."

As the day continued, I hobbled around the office just like Ol' Chester used to on Gunsmoke. When evening approached, I went to sit at my desk to do the usual paperwork and that's when I saw my knee.

My eyes grew as large as 50 cent pieces because my right knee was twice the size of my left one.

"Oh no, I've really done it now," I thought.

So as most daughters do, I called my mother.

"What should I do, Mom," I asked, "ice pack or heating pad?"

"X-ray," she said. "Get to the hospital and get X-rays of your knee. You don't want to keep walking on it if you've done damage to it."

So, off I went to get an X-ray, but since my right knee was injured, I could not drive. Jeff offered to take me there and off we went to the hospital.

Once we got there and registered, I was called by the nurse after only a few short minutes. The usual procedures of blood pressure checks and a temperature check were completed.

Then came the X-rays.

Confident there was nothing major wrong with my knee, I was rattling my mouth like Minnie Pearl — going a mile a minute.

My mother showed up to make sure her one and only daughter was okay. Yes, you read correctly. I am 30 and my mother sat by my side in the emergency room. Anyway, we caught up on each others' activity that week while we waited for the results.

The doctor came in with the X-rays and said, "No, no, no. I don't like the looks of this X-ray."

Well, I swallowed the biggest toad I've ever had too, I can tell you.

He proceeded to hold the film toward the lights so that mom and I could see the damage that had been wrought.

Then the shocker came — he prescribed a week off my feet with this weird velcro cast-like-thing wrapped around my leg and crutches under my arms.

Well, Minnie was speechless folks.

I've always heard it's downhill after 30. Well, the ol' wives' tale has made a believer out of me.

Learn to love loafing—again

What could be more tantalizing than the aroma of fresh bread baking in the oven, an art that has almost become extinct.

In how many homes does this happy event now take place? Even I have gotten into the habit of buying bread and brown and serve rolls. Homemade hot rolls really do make a meal more special.

I know of one housewife who always made up a few loaves of fresh bread when she became angry with some member of her family, generally it was with her husband. As she beat and pounded the dough, she would be giving the offender down the road (silently of course). The madder she was, the more the dough was pounded, therefore, the better the bread.

When I first came here several years ago, I would hear people talking about sour dough bread. I did not know what they were talking about. Being nosy, I started asking questions and found out most of the ones talking really didn't know much more than I did.

When I finally did run across a sour dough starter, I was amazed to find how simple it was. If you do make up some sour starter you can add it to your homemade biscuits (or is this a lost art too?); add about one cup and cut down on your other liquid, using your own recipe.

SOUR DOUGH STARTER:

Sour starter may be bought in health food stores and mixed with water, but it can be made at home and stored in the refrigerator for continued use.

Put 2 cups of milk (water can be used but milk gives a better flavor), in a quart jar. Cover with two thicknesses of cheese cloth and secure with a rubber band. Let stand at room temperature for 24 hours.

Blend in 2 cups of plain or whole wheat flour, mix well. Replace the cheese cloth and let it stand outside for 12 hours. Bring indoors and keep in a warm place until the mixture is very bubbly.

Put the mixture in a larger jar that allows for expansion. Keep covered in the refrigerator. When the starter is used, it should be replenished with equal amounts of milk and flour. This mixture should be used and replenished each week.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

3 cups lukewarm water
2 packages active dry yeast
4 tablespoons barely malt whole wheat flour
4 tablespoons of vegetable oil
Put the lukewarm water in a large bowl. Stir in the yeast until it dissolves. Add the barley malt.

Add 3 cups of whole wheat flour and beat 100 times by hand, or 2 1/2 minutes with an electric beater. Cover with a towel and let stand for 20 minutes. Add the oil and 3 to 4 more cups of flour. The mixture should come away from the sides of the bowl when stirred.

Turn all the mixture out on a floured surface and knead vigorously for 5 to 10 minutes, adding more flour as needed until the dough is smooth, shiny, and elastic.

Wash out the mixing bowl. Dry well and grease the bowl lightly with oil. Put in the ball of dough and turn it around so the surface is covered with oil. Cover the bowl and let rise for 1 hour or until double in size. Oil three loaf pans. Punch down the dough and divide into 3 equal parts. Shape into loaves and place in pans. Cover and let rise 30 minutes. Preheat oven to 350° F. Bake 50 minutes. Turn out the loaves immediately and cool on a wire rack.

DINNER ROLLS

3/4 cup lukewarm water
2 pkg. dry yeast
1 cup boiling water
1 cup Crisco
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. salt
6 cups plain flour
1/4 cup sour starter
Place 3/4 cup lukewarm water and 2 pkg. of dry yeast. Let set. Mix 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup crisco and 1/2 cup sugar in a large bowl. Cool. When the boiling water, sugar and crisco are lukewarm add 1/4 cup sour starter, eggs, salt and 4 cups of flour. Beat with mixer, add 2 cups more flour. Cover and store in the refrigerator over night. Grease muffin pans. Fill 1/2 full with dough. Cover with light cloth and let rise 3 to 4 hours. Bake at 400° f for about 10 minutes. Yields two dozen rolls.

FRIED CORNBREAD

3 cups self rising corn meal
1 cup self rising flour
1/2 cup sour starter

Mix meal and flour. Add sour starter and enough water to make a medium, smooth mixture. Pour or spoon out into a hot greased pan and fry over medium heat. When bottom is brown turn and brown other side. Great with a glass of buttermilk, soup beans or as a snack.

CINNAMON BREAD

1/2 cup margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 cup sour cream
1/4 cup milk
2 cups all purpose flour
1 1/2 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. soda
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
Topping:
1 tsp. brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 tbsp. melted margarine

Cream margarine and sugar until fluffy. Add eggs, vanilla, sour cream and milk, mixing well. Add dry ingredients to cream mixture. Turn into greased loaf pans and top with mixture of brown sugar, cinnamon and margarine. Bake at 350° f for one hour. Makes two loaves.

Tips on bread.

All homemade breads freeze well. Wrap in foil and freeze for up to three months.

Always add fruit pieces to the dry mixture, so they are coated with flour. This will prevent them sinking to the bottom of the pan. To freshen dry bread, place in a covered casserole in a pan of hot water and heat thoroughly in the oven.

Bake yeast breads before freezing. If frozen before baking, it will shrink and be tough.

Enriched white flour has seven times more thiamine as unenriched white flour and five times more riboflavin, and three times more iron.

Soured milk can be used to make pancakes. It makes them lighter.

BAKED HOT DOG DINNER

12 hot dogs cut in thirds
4 cups of hot mashed potatoes

(instant)
2 tbsp. minced green onions
1/4 cup pimento stuffed green olives
2 tbsp. parsley finely chopped
1/8 tsp. black pepper
1/4 tsp. Paprika
Place cut up buttered hot dogs in a shallow baking dish. Mix olives, onions, mashed potatoes, parsley and black pepper. Spoon over the hot dog pieces. Do not smooth down but leave the decorative peeks. Sprinkle paprika over the top. Bake in a 350° f oven for about 30 minutes or until top is golden brown. Serves 6.

SURPRISED SANDWICH

4 hard boiled eggs
coarsely chopped
1 cup American cheese diced 1/4" cubes
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 tbsp. green peppers finely chopped
2 tbsp. onions finely chopped
2 tbsp. sweet pickles finely chopped or well drained sweet pickle relish.

8 hot dogs finely chopped
8 hamburger buns
Mix all ingredients well except buns. Spoon the mixture in center of buns and wrap in foil. Place on a cookie sheet and bake in a 350° F oven for 30 minutes. Serve at once. Serves 8.

HIGH WATERS BRING FLOOD OF MEMORIES

My reading about all the flooding that has occurred across the country recently has brought back many memories. It's funny, though, how one's perspective changes with age.

Forty years ago, floods — like everything else that happened out of the ordinary — were adventurous. I mean, when you're ten years old and living in an Eastern Kentucky coal camp, there's no way on earth one can feel a sense of tragedy or loss when he sees his school building surrounded by backwater from the Big Sandy River. If he felt anything at all, it was probably exhilaration.

It was great fun — and common practice — for the boys of Muddy Branch to put smooth white railroad gravels into the pouches of our home-made slingshots and shoot at the brown Clorox bottles that bobbed up and down among all the other flotsam and jetsam that the rising water brought forth. Some of the older boys would shoot at rats with their .22's, but I never did.

Since I can't remember ever shooting at much else — except maybe once and a while, each other — I suppose it was just for such occasions that we made these ever-present slingshots in the first place. We'd use the tongue of an old shoe for the pouch and tie it with heavy string we'd get from feed sacks, to strips of an old red innertube. We'd cut the forks from any small bush we could find. I guess every boy I knew at that time had one, and was generally one he'd made himself. Anyway, some of us were pretty good shots and could really pop those Clorox bottles. Of course, some of the older boys would try to kill birds with them, but I never did.

Maybe it says something about our ignorance, or maybe it speaks of our innocence, but we honestly never thought of floods as anything other than something to be enjoyed.

As a matter of fact, as the little sticks we'd stuck in the ground to measure the rapidity of the rising water would appear to grow taller and taller as it went down again, we'd experience a kind of low ourselves — perhaps a sense that another exciting time in our lives was about to end.

We never gave a thought, either, of the pollution factor involved with flooding. Why, if the flooding occurred in the spring when the weather was warm, some of the older boys would wade (or even swim) in it. Of course, I never did.

I can remember one of our teachers telling us that we'd all take typhoid fever and die if we played in the backwater, and that the health nurses were coming to vaccinate us as a preventative measure, whether we had or not. One boy told her that he wasn't taking any old shot because he hadn't drunk enough of it to hurt him anyway. I can't remember if he took the shot or not, but drinking it apparently didn't hurt him. I saw him back in the summer and he looked fine — except all his hair had fallen out.

Of course, with age comes wisdom, and now we know better. Our heart goes out to those who've lost personal property and suffered damage to their homes.

When I was a kid, though, flooding was something we viewed with the same excitement as when our moms and dads would let us go to a pie supper, or when the man with the loud-speakers on his car would come to Society Row and give us free Jesus funny books.

John Graham Chapter names Good Citizen

John Graham Chapter, KSDAR, met January 8 at noon at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, for their annual business and luncheon meeting.

The meeting was opened by Regent Eleanor Horn. The devotional was led by Chaplain Norma S. Stepp. Opal S. May led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag.

Virginia S. Goble, Good Citizen Committee chairman, gave a report on the selection of the good citizen from the senior class. She stated that Norma J. Neeley was the faculty member in charge of the Good Citizen award selection, and that Robert Hammonds, son of Frank and Phyllis Hammonds of Banner, has been selected to receive this honor.

The National defense program was presented by Fannie Runnels, whose topic was "Taxes are a Freedom Issue."

Each chapter chairman helped to complete forms to be sent to the state committee.

The members were happy to know that their treasurer, Olga A. Preston, is recovering nicely at her home from a recent illness.

Those in attendance at this meeting were Eleanor Horn, Norma S. Stepp, Opal S. May, Alice Harris, Fannie Runnels, Pauline Burchett, Vivian Hale, Dorothy Osborne and Virginia S. Goble.

The 95th annual state conference will be held March 19, 20, and 21 at the Marriott Resort Hotel in Lexington. Representing John Graham Chapter as delegates at this conference will be Eleanor Horn and Virginia S. Goble. Alternates will be Norma S. Stepp, Opal S. May, Dorothy Osborne and Vivian Hale.

Methodist Women walk down memory lane

The Community United Methodist Women met on Monday, Jan. 7, in Fellowship Hall with Sharon May, president, presiding.

Debra Burke opened the meeting with prayer. Due to the absence of Debbie Patton, secretary, no minutes were read. Debra Burke gave the treasurer's report. A short business meeting followed.

The program, presented by Leslie Burke and Jean Burke, was entitled "A Walk Down Memory Lane." The program began with a short history of the church from ground breaking in 1953 until the present time. Many interesting stories were told of ways the ladies of the church did "Labor of Love" fund raising: bake sales, dinners, cookbook sales, handiwork, and yard sales. Christmas stockings, embroidered pillowcases, Christmas tree skirts and table linens, most of which were made in the 1950s, were displayed.

Delicious refreshments were served to Ernestine Collins, Sharon Burchett, Bonnie Hale, Sharon May, Rita Mounts, Pam Leslie, Sherry Tucker, Sandy Howell, Debra Burke, Golda Collins, Leslie Burke, Josephine Herald and Jean Burke.

Prestonsburg Senior Citizens update

Prestonsburg Senior Citizens had a great Christmas and New Years celebration.
In December, a covered dish was enjoyed at the same time as the birthday celebration for those who had birthdays in December. This event was sponsored by St. Martha's Church, along with the Rotary Club.
Fruit baskets were given to the seniors and birthday cake and gifts were given to the honored guests.
Christmas music was furnished and Santa was there to add to the excitement.

One of the seniors presented a tape cassette to the center as a gift.
Later that month, the seniors enjoyed a Christmas party with all kinds of goodies in keeping with the Christmas season. Seniors shared what Christmas meant to them.

Goodie bags were given to each senior. Instead of exchanging gifts, seniors brought kitchen supplies. Also 10 children were adopted through the Head Start program for Christmas and each child was given a nice gift.
Open House at the center was also a great success. A large number of people attended. Everyone enjoyed Christmas carol singing and door prizes were given away. Santa presented toys and candy to those children who attended. The Open House was a joint project by the center, Archer Park, and the Prestonsburg Woman's Club.

The New Year's party was a great success. Fifty-one seniors, on a snowy day, met at the Holiday Inn where the staff had decorated the large rooms with a beautiful New Year's Eve setting.

The tables were decorated with silver and black balloons on each chair. The tables were set with white linens and black napkins. In the center of the tables were hats and horns for everyone to enjoy.

A disc jockey regaled the seniors with music from the Big Band era and a dance floor was available to step to the beautiful music.
A delicious dinner was then served by well-groomed young men in black ties and white shirts. The afternoon ended with the group singing "Old Lang Syne."

January birthdays will be celebrated on January 25. The party will be sponsored by Highlands Regional Hospital. The next party will be the Valentine's Party which will be held February 6, from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The new Adult Day Care center will be opening soon.
Seniors are always welcome at the Prestonsburg Center. Come join us — you'll be glad you did.

United Methodist Church.

Others enjoying this event were Dr. Beecher L. Scutchfield of Martin and William James May of Prestonsburg.

Following the lunch, Mrs. Carlos Wells, formerly of Prestonsburg, now of Paintsville, treated them to dessert at the restaurant.

Sisters return home from California

Mrs. Virginia Jeffries and her sister, Mrs. Victoria Spradlin, have returned home from San Jose, Calif., where they spent the past 2 1/2 months. While there, they visited with their sister-in-law, Mrs. Beulah Murrill, and Mrs. Jeffries' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Atherton and their daughter, Jennifer. During the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, they were visited by another of Mrs. Jeffries' daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Urbanski and family, Laura and Peter of Whittier, California.

Shortly after Mrs. Jeffries and Mrs. Spradlin arrived home, Mrs. Spradlin was admitted as a patient at the Mountain Manor Nursing Home, here.

Mrs. Jeffries' daughter, Mrs. Margaret McGrew of Greenville, Texas, whose husband, Dan McGrew, died recently, will come here January 25 to reside at the home of her mother and aunt.

Annie Allen Circle to visit nursing home

The Annie Allen Circle W.M.U. of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) met January 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Camden Garrett.

Patsy Evans, president opened the meeting with prayer. Due to the absence of Docia Woods, secretary, the minutes were read by Eva Collins and Faye Patton acted as treasurer in the absence of Rebecca Rasnick.

Lucy Regan announced that the W.M.U. quarterly meeting would be held at the First Baptist Church at Paintsville on January 15.

During the short business session, the group decided to take Kleenexes and cookies to a local nursing home before Valentine's Day.

Mrs. Evans, suggested that this group meet at the church on February 4 at 6 p.m., and following a visit to the nursing home, go to a restaurant for refreshments. She also said that the Home Mission goal would be discussed during the next meeting.

One-year-old

Elena Shae Fouts, daughter of Wanda Sue Fouts of Melvin, celebrated her first birthday January 6. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Fouts and Lewis and Oma Hall, all of Melvin. Cake and ice cream were served.

Society Events

In the absence of Maman Leslie, Vivian Fraley read the prayer list for Baptist Missionaries observing birthdays in foreign fields. Julia Curtis let the prayer for them.

Faye Patton, Mission Study chairman, with the assistance of Vivian Fraley, Roberta Sloan and Patsy Evans, presented interesting accounts of missionaries in Mexico, Arizona and Africa. The president asked that prayer be offered for them.

Julia Curtis read a poem entitled, "The After Glow," and Ruby Lamping read a poem entitled, "The Time is Now."

Faye Patton asked that Joan Johnson, whose mother, Mrs. Setser of Allen, recently died, be remembered with prayer.

The hostess, Mrs. Garrett, served a variety of refreshments to the following members: Patsy Evans, Faye Patton, Peggy Carter, Roberta Sloan, Vivian Fraley, Myrtle Allen, Ruby Lamping, Lucy Regan, Eva Collins, Annabelle Maggard, Ada Meade, Ora Bussey and Julia Curtis; and to the following guests: Camden Garrett and Chester Patton.

Communion preparation schedule announced

The Communion Preparation Committee for January through August at the First Christian Church has announced the schedule as follows:

January, Hondel and Evelyn Adams; February, Ann McGuire; March, Dolla Music; April, Sharon McGuire; May, Clyde and Lois George; and August, Margie Slone. July was not listed. The Rev. Hondel Adams is the pastor.

Special baton performance

Mrs. Boots Adams of Prestonsburg joined members of the Eastern Kentucky University alumni band and the school's marching Colonels for a special halftime performance during homecoming festivities there, recently.

Mrs. Adams, a former Eastern majorette, is now president-elect of the E.K.U. Alumni Association.

F.C.R.T. correction

Members of the Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association have made contributions during the past few years to the following organizations: Alice Lloyd College; the American Cancer fund; Carl D. Perkins Memorial; Floyd County Library; Kentucky Heritage Foundation; Meals on Wheels; Prestonsburg Community College Scholarship fund; American Red Cross; Prestonsburg Honor Choir; and the N.O. Kimler Scholarship fund.

Baptist Men's Day at First Baptist

Tom Foy, director of Music and youth at the First Baptist Church has announced that Sunday, Feb. 3, has been designated as Baptist Men's Day there.

The day is to begin with an old-fashioned breakfast, followed by Sunday School and worship services. During the morning and evening services, there will be an all-men's choir (younger men and boys are invited to participate).

Rev. Jesse Buell is the interim pastor there.

Mrs. Dorsey spends holiday at home

Irene Dorsey, wife of the Rev. Harold Dorsey, former pastor of the First United Methodist Church here, was able to spend the Christmas holidays at her home in Lexington with her husband. Mrs. Dorsey has been a patient at a Lexington Nursing home.

The Dorseys have many friends in Prestonsburg and throughout this area.

Harold homemakers

Harold homemakers met on December 19 at the home of Ruby Staton. A traditional Christmas dinner was enjoyed by the members and guests: Ruby Conn, Elizabeth Tackett, Elizabeth Little, Stella Stumbo, Sylvia Allen, Lillian Sturgill, Eva Roberts, Rou Anne Akers, Emily Akers, Carma Sturgill, Elizabeth Wolford, Frances Pitts, Susan Farler, Cora Cantrell and Johnny Staton.

Cabbage Patch

By Marie Harmon

Plan now to make an everlasting herb Christmas wreath for next Christmas or a beautiful summer wreath. In one afternoon you can create a fragrant wreath that will last for years.

This project will take only four or five hours of your time — after you have grown the herbs this summer. First purchase a 12 inch plastic foam wreath base with beveled edges.

Begin by looping a chenille pipe cleaner through the center of the base. At the top of the large loose circle make a small loop to hang from a nail or hook.

The foam base will be covered with the herb, hardy lavender. Cut at least three baskets full of the lavender branches at least four inches long. Strip the foliage from the bottom inch. Insert the lavender about one fourth inch deep at right angles to the plastic foam, beginning along the inside of the circle.

Continue adding the lavender stems until the wreath is completely covered. The wreath can then be completed with a colorful bow, other herbs, dried everlasting flowers, cinnamon sticks, whole nutmegs, whole chili peppers and straw flowers now and in years to come.

Most of all remember there are no rules to the way you trim it. It is your original creation. You are making the wreath. If you like you can also use straw ornaments, small wooden toys, Lotus pods, cattails, wheat, pine cones, thistle blooms, iris pods, artichoke buds plus many more that you may think of—but use them.

The nicest thing about this wreath is it will last for years, if stored carefully. Pack the wreath in a large box, surround it loosely with tissue and tie on the lid.

Several people have informed me they would like the names and addresses of some seed catalogs. I get so many I had the idea everyone did. The herbs and everlasting plants and seed can be ordered come spring and you will have a beautiful flower garden and the materials for your wreath. These catalogs are free for the asking.

Entries sought for Miss Ky. teen U.S.A.

Applications are now being accepted from all over the state of Kentucky for the Ninth Annual Miss Kentucky Teen U.S.A. Pageant. The pageant is to be staged in Louisville at the McCauley Theatre on April 20 at 7:30 p.m.

The Miss Kentucky Teen U.S.A. pageant is an official preliminary to the Miss Teen U.S.A. national televised pageant, which is sponsored by Miss Universe, Inc. The winner will represent the state of Kentucky at the national finals.

All judging is on the basis of swimsuit, evening gown, and personal interview. Applicants must be at least 15 years of age by July 1 and must be under 19 as of July 1. There is no talent involved in state or national level.

All girls interested, should apply to Miss Kentucky Teen U.S.A. Pageant, Kentucky Office - Betty Clark, 308 W. 13th St., Benton, KY 42025 or telephone, (502) 527-1912.

The winner will be awarded prizes, including a round trip flight and a fun-filled experience at the Miss Teen U.S.A. Pageant. The winner of the Miss Kentucky Teen U.S.A. Pageant will receive over $7,000 in prizes and cash.

Doorway to memories

Tommye Stone, 88, stands at the door of memory, looking back on the "Good Old Days," outside the Prestonsburg Utility building from where he retired in 1988. Stone began working for the utility company under Dick Davis October 16, 1943 when things were done with picks, shovels and hand tools. Stone said times were hard, often he worked late nights in freezing temperatures, but he and his wife, Alice, raised 14 children on a beginning salary of $18 a week. Stone, along with Henry Music, was once hospitalized after a chlorine explosion at the company. He will celebrate his 89th birthday with his grandson, Shawn Stone, on February 14.

Santa's proposal

Richards appointed as chief of soil conservation service

William J. Richards, a commercial farmer from southern Ohio, has been appointed Chief of Soil Conservation Service. Richards received a bachelor of science degree and did graduate work in agriculture economics at Ohio State University. He has participated in numerous courses at Ohio State, Purdue, and Harvard Business School's agriculture business executive education programs. Richards has served as a visiting instructor in agriculture economics classes at Ohio State University. He has been an active member of numerous local and national agriculture boards and committees.

ing experiences Richards said, "I can't think of a mission more vital to the strength and viability of a nation than to protect its soil and water. Continuing SCS's proud tradition of service is top priority to me."

Richards and his wife, Grace, have three sons, Steve, Bruce, and Elmon. All three have degrees in agriculture and are running the family farm in southern Ohio.

For more information about the Soil Conservation Service, call Jeff Brown at 886-3128.

In some parts of Russia, people used to roll around in the fields in the hope that this would encourage the crops to grow.

As a farmer near Circleville, Ohio, Richards was one of the first to practice conservation tillage. His use of reduced tillage and crop residues decreased soil loss and improved water quality. Reflecting on his farm-

Raising a healthy child :

Children are not miniature adults

Children are not miniature adults, especially when it comes to overall health. This was the common message delivered by health professionals at a recent National Dairy Council symposium entitled "Healthy Children: Beyond Nutrition Recommendations."

Phyllis Steinberg, editorial director of the "Healthy Kids" division of Cahners Publishing Company, presented "Ten Elements for Raising a Healthy, Happy Child," which she described as a consensus among pediatricians and parents on the vital elements of child development.

"Those elements include nutrition, fitness, a loving family, good self-esteem, safety, proper education, role models, preventive health care, awareness of the body and mind, and a global view of the world," she said.

"Raising healthy, happy kids is exhausting and exhilarating," Steinberg pointed out, "and it's something that every one of us in the health care profession must be involved in. The reason is simple — while kids account for only one-third of our nation's population today, they represent 100 percent of our future."

"Many parents are trying to do their part," Steinberg said, "but with a lack of knowledge, it is difficult. Parents today are very concerned about nutrition for instance, but they are also very confused. For example, should young children be tested for cholesterol? How much fat should children really get in their diets? Do snacks ruin a child's appetite? It is vital for parents, and in some cases, pediatricians to be educated."

George Sterne, a pediatrician with a private practice in New Orleans and clinical professor of Pediatrics at the Tulane Medical Center, agreed that having a special understanding of children's needs is vital to helping them grow.

Sterne's presentation, "Children Are Not Little Adults," pointed out that common sense child feeding practices are not widespread because parents may overlook or not understand the special needs of children.

According to Sterne, recent trends in American society, including a decrease in full-time, home-based parents, have distorted our perceptions of the nature and needs of children.

Childhood is supposed to be fun, active time, according to Stephen Rice, founder and clinic director of the Harborview Medical Sports Medicine Clinic in Seattle.

"A lot is happening in adult physical activity now. We're the ones who have the guilt about not exercising enough and as a result get caught up in all these crazes. Adults are learning. But can the same be said about our children? Health and wellness is something you have to strive for and achieve, it is not endowed," Rice said.

"Too many adults think visiting their doctors once a year fulfills all health obligations. They take no responsibility for maintaining their own well-being," Rice said. And that attitude is being passed down to their children.

Rice offered statistics showing that about "40 percent of our children ages five to eight either have increased blood pressure or elevated blood cholesterol. A similar percentage within that age group gets virtually no exercise." His goals are to get children interested in their flexibility, muscle strength, muscle endurance and aerobic capacity, all while having fun.

Not only should exercise be a natural aspect of childhood, but eating right should be, too. This message came from Margaret Bogel, director of Clinical Nutrition at Arkansas Children's Hospital in her presentation, "Nutrition: Beyond Balance, Variety and Moderation."

"Balance" is used in terms of nutrients — avoiding excesses or deficiencies and letting components work together. "Variety" means no single food supplies all of the nutrients needed and in adequate amounts for all individuals. When checking for variety, it is important to monitor a child's total diet over a few days instead of looking at a single food as good or bad. "Moderation" (and consistency) prevents problems that occur with excesses of nutrients. Children can learn to overeat if we overfeed them," Bogle said.

Families are considered significant nutrition authorities and must learn to take that authority seriously, Bogle noted.

About 4,000 dietitians and other health professionals attended the symposium on healthy children which provided an excellent opportunity for the Dairy and Nutrition Council to stress their message of letting kids be kids. Dairy and Nutrition Council

Mid East is a non-profit, nutrition education organization dedicated to improving the nutritional status of the community through nutrition workshops and resources. As an integral part of the Mid East United Dairy Industry Association, Dairy and Nutrition Council is supported by the dairy industry.

NOTICE

The David Area Fire Protection District has petitioned the Floyd County Fiscal Court to annex routes 404 from the present boundary to Route 114 intersection. Route 1210 from the present boundary to the top of the hill at Stephens Branch. Route 850 from the present boundary to the top of the hill at Brush Creek.

This annexation will include all roads and hollows extending off these routes. The David Area Fire Protection District has constructed a new fire station centrally located in the district which makes it possible to offer fire protection to all properties on Routes 404, 850, and 1210. This will also make it possible for home owners to be able to obtain fire insurance at a considerable reduced rate.

A description of the territory to be annexed has been posted at the Floyd County Clerk's Office, at the Blue River Post Office, and at Bud Ousley's Store on Rt. 1210. A hearing will be held during the Floyd County Fiscal Court meeting on 1-18-91.

FLOYD DISTRICT COURT

90-CI-182

Kentucky Finance Company, Inc. Plaintiff

VS: NOTICE OF SALE

Kathy Kidd, and Floyd County, Kentucky. Defendants

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the December 3 term, 1990, in the above styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 1 day of February, 1991, at 10:00 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of three (3), the following described property, to-wit:

That certain tract or parcel of land, lying and being on the waters of the Left Fork of Big Branch on Little Mud Creek, Floyd County, Kentucky, and being the same property conveyed Kathy Kidd by deed from Larry and Brenda Howell, dated April 18, 1984, recorded in Deed Book 283, page 630, Floyd County Clerk's Office, being more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a planted stone at Jerry Collins and Debbie S. Collins line just above way. Running with Jerry Collins line to corner of line of same; thence around hill up branch direction to planted stone near poplar and locus tree then down hill straight line to planted stone at back of driveway; thence straight line to beginning; the above property contains about one-half (1/2) acre.

This property is sold subject to property taxes due Floyd County, KY.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $3,767.49, with interest thereon at 24% annually from the 5 day of May, 1990, until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 14 day of January, 1991.
