Keep the faith, Jimmy Parsons says :

Allen soldier among front line troops

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The news of war didn't really surprise Cindy Parsons of Allen, in fact, she knew it was about to happen.

Her son, Jimmy Parsons, who is serving with the 101st Airborne Division from Fort Campbell Kentucky, called his mother twice Wednesday afternoon and in his own way, let her know what was about to happen.

"He sounded different this time," a nervous Cindy Parsons said. "He knew what was coming down and he told me, 'I love you, don't worry. I'll be home this fall.' I knew the situation was getting worse. I felt like he would call yesterday (Wednesday). He called back the second time because he had heard my crying in the background after I realized what was going to happen. He's stationed 10 miles from the Kuwait border."

In a conversation with his brother, Keith Parsons, who is in the Army Reserve, his brother let him know when the drama would unfold.

"He kept saying 'Yeah! Yeah!' At the time, I couldn't figure it out,"

Keith Parsons said. "Then it hit me, what he was trying to say. So I asked him, 'When? He wouldn't answer. But he later said, 'You know, I have to get up at 2 in the morning.' Then I knew."

But, the news war had began against Iraq left Cindy Parsons breathless and scared.

"I had been to the grocery store and when I got back my son, Keith and my sister, Betty, rushed out to tell me," she said. "I went wild. I couldn't breathe and I was scared to death. But, Jimmy told me earlier not to get excited if I heard anything. He said 'when you hear the 101st mentioned, don't worry because there's about 18,000 of us over here. But, when you hear about the 187th, then you can worry.' He's been over there since August, since it first started."

The Parsons' home was a flurry of activity Wednesday night with family and friends gathered to watch and listen to television reports after news of the war spread.

"I bet there were 50 people here last night," Cindy Parsons said. "And the phone rang off the hook. People I didn't even know, who know Jimmy, called to send their support."

Jimmy always wanted to be a soldier, his mother said. Before graduating high school he told his mother he wanted to join the Army.

"Well, I cried and begged him not to," Cindy Parsons said. "I asked him to go to school for two years and then decide."

"Well, he attended school for three years and then made the decision to join the Army," she said. "They turned

Yellow ribbons, flags show support for troops :

Area unites as war opens

by Tim B. Preston
Staff writer

As the war in the Persian Gulf escalates, the efforts of Floyd countians to show support for American troops have also gotten underway.

Several area residents gathered in Prestonsburg Wednesday afternoon to make yellow bows for display by area businesses. Jan Chafin, Jody Collins and Eva Collins made approximately 65 of the ribbons and distributed them to area businesses. The ribbon used for the bows was donated by three area floral shops: House of Flowers, Christina's Flowers and Jenny Wiley Florist.

Jan Chafin said Thursday that more support efforts have been planned by the group. "We are trying to have a sign donated to put all of the names of our local heroes on and put it in the lot next to the city municipal building," said Chafin.

The sign project, which is being called "Our Heroes", is likely to succeed. Members of the Prestonsburg City Council have given tentative approval to the project and volunteers and contributors are being organized with the help of Charlotte McFall of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce.

The city of Prestonsburg has also "adopted" the soldiers of the local National Guard unit should the unit

County students watch war on TV

Floyd County students are getting a first-hand look at the history in the making by watching news coverage of the war in the Middle East.

All schools in the county are utilizing the television sets in classrooms to let students keep up with the events of the U.S. attack on Iraq, said Assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier.

"Social studies and current events classes are watching the news events during class," Frazier said. "Students are getting to watch history in the making."

Restaurant employees to display info on soldiers

Local reaction Thursday to military action in Iraq and Kuwait was quick and basically united as yellow ribbons and American flags proliferated through Floyd County.

Support lines listed for families of U.S. troops

Relatives and dependents of local servicemen and women serving in the ongoing Persian Gulf conflict can obtain available information through various "support group" telephone lines.

The lines are reserved for immediate family members only, and include:

- For Navy personnel- 1-800-255-3800.
- For Air Force personnel-1-800-253-9276.
- For the Coast Guard-1-800-283-8724.
- For the Marines-1-800-523-2694.
- For the Army-1-713-614-0739.

Jim Sparks, an owner and supervisor at Lee's Famous Recipe in Prestonsburg, noted that his employees had developed a show of support for troops stationed in the Middle East, and he asked that friends and relatives of service men and women bring photographs and address of those local military personnel to the store.

Yellow and Green ribbons have been posted at the restaurant to display the pictures, names and addresses of all local service men and women, and a special orange ribbon will display the photos of those serving directly in Operation Desert Storm.

"This is a good way to show our community's support for our service people," Sparks said Thursday.

Two employees at the restaurant, Margie Sparks and Dorinda Watkins, have sons serving with troops in Operation Desert Storm.

Floyd countians for America

Leaflets urge troops to surrender :

U.S. bombs rain on Iraq

With the war less than 24 hours old, allied bombers in Iraq had reportedly begun dropping leaflets on Iraqi defense positions Thursday, urging soldiers to surrender. Meanwhile, Libyan dictator Moammar Khaddafi, an ally of Iraq's Saddam Hussein, suggested that the start of hostilities in the Middle East could possibly lead to the beginning of a third world war.

Compelling first-hand news accounts of the massive bombing raids on Iraq by Cable News Network also ended abruptly Thursday when Iraqi officials apparently pulled the plug on the network.

The CNN reporting team of Bernard Shaw, Peter Arnett and John Holliman had kept Americans riveted to their seats throughout the night Wednesday and into Thursday with live audio reports from the 14th floor of the Al-Rashid Hotel in Baghdad before the link was disconnected Thursday morning.

Accounts of the initial air raid by American-led United Nations' forces by the CNN team were often emotional as the reporting crew detailed airstrikes near their place of refuge. The team was among 45 foreign journalists caught by surprise in the attack, dubbed Operation Desert Storm by military officials.

With the loss of the CNN link Thursday, details of the ongoing operation in Iraq and Kuwait became scarce and secondhand.

Operation Desert Storm began at

Lawmakers won't call off session

Kentucky lawmakers met early Thursday morning to decide if the special session of the General Assembly should continue because of war in the Middle East, said State Representative Greg Stumbo.

"We spent about three hours contemplating whether or not to cancel the special session," Stumbo said. "Even though it has captured the attention of the world, life goes on and we still have work to do. We continue to hope and pray for an expedient end to the hostilities."

Candlelight rally planned as show of patriotism

The flames of patriotism will flare at a candlelight rally to support American soldiers stationed in the Middle East on Monday, Jan. 21. The rally will be held at 7 p.m. in the municipal parking lot, located in front of the courthouse in Prestonsburg.

The county-wide event was conceived by Prestonsburg merchant David Hereford after he witnessed a rally in Winchester. Hereford said he talked to organizer of that event and became "all fired up to do something for our troops."

The event, which will recognize each Floyd County soldier stationed in Saudi Arabia, is being organized to encourage Floyd County citizens to show their feelings of patriotism. "I don't think we're showing our patriotism enough," Hereford said.

Hereford said the rally will include group singing, particularly the song, "God Bless America." Also tentatively scheduled are singing by the Prestonsburg Honor Choir and prayers led by area pastors. The VFW and the American Legion have been also been contacted to participate.

Hereford asks each individual who attends to bring two candles, "one for himself and one for a friend."

Times staffer checks in prior to initial attack

Times reporter Lieutenant Tess Whitmer, who is part of Operation Desert Storm, called her grandparents, Jim and Anna Lamoreaux in Ohio, shortly after the attack on Iraq Wednesday.

Tess reported she is "O.K. for now" but plans on moving to a different location soon. "She sounded scared," said her brother, Aaron. "I was scared to death. I'd been sitting and waiting (for war to be declared). I didn't get much sleep Wednesday and all I can do is wait."

Area unites

be called into action. City Administrator Sam Campbell said that other units were being considered for "adoption" and appropriate measures were being taken to find a group which is already stationed in the Middle East. Units "adopted" by the city would receive letters, gifts and other items from the city.

Prestonsburg radio station WQHY has also been active in the support of American troops involved with the Persian Gulf Crisis. Station manager Gorman Collins Jr. said Thursday that the station had distributed "between 65 and 75" yellow bows, with plans to make "four or five hundred more." Collins said that local stores have run out of the yellow ribbon, adding that the station had ordered a bulk supply of the ribbon from a store in Lexington.

"I'm really proud of those people over there," said Collins. "If there is anything I can do to help, I'm going to do it. Maybe if everyone in America did their own little part to help they (American soldiers) would know we are behind them."

The radio station was also responsible for one of the first efforts to send bottled water and salted snack foods to Americans stationed in Saudi Arabia with operation Desert Shield. More than 800 gallons of water and 350 pounds of salted foods were collected by the station and delivered to the military by Overnite Transportation Incorporated.

Any person interested in donating items or volunteering time for support efforts is encouraged to contact Charlotte McFall with the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce at 886-2335.

Two Floyd men injured in separate shootings

by Tim B. Preston
Staff Writer

Two Floyd County men were injured when relatives shot them with shotguns in separate incidents this week.

Michael Ray Kidd, 20, of Harold Branch was hospitalized Tuesday afternoon after he was allegedly shot by his brother Robert Kidd, 18, also of Harold Branch. According to state police reports, the brothers were fighting in their residence when the younger brother went to a neighbor's house and borrowed a shotgun. Police say Robert Kidd then shot his brother once in the stomach with the weapon.

Michael Ray Kidd was transported to Pikeville Methodist Hospital where he was listed in fair condition Thursday afternoon.

Robert Kidd was lodged in the Floyd County Jail and charged with first degree assault and first degree burglary in connection with the shooting. The shooting remains under investigation by Kentucky State Police detective Les Stapleton.

In a separate incident, a McDowell man was shot once with a shotgun after an argument with his grandson Wednesday night.

Police records show that Gary Evans, 25, of Bill Hall Branch was arrested Wednesday after he allegedly shot his grandfather Bill Evans, 65, also of Bill Hall Branch with a shotgun following an argument at the Evans residence.

Bill Evans was transported to McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital where he was treated and released. Police said Evans was hit with 11 pellets from the shotgun in several areas of his body.

Gary Evans was transported to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin where he was treated for head injuries he allegedly received by hitting himself in the head with a telephone. Evans was treated and released before being lodged in the Floyd County Jail on charges of first degree assault. The shooting remains under investigation by Kentucky State Police trooper Lynn Cross and detective Joel Newsome.

him down the first time because he had a rash on the back of his leg. But, he kept trying to join and he even wrote a letter to the President asking why he could not join the Army. He was accepted August 1989.

"But, I don't think he was prepared for war," she continued. "Jimmy is not a war person. If there was a child in this room, he would be playing with it. If there was an old person here, he would be over there talking to them. He always had a smile on his face."

News of anti-war protests in the United States angered soldiers in Middle East, Jimmy Parsons told his mother. "He said the troops over there 'didn't appreciate the protesters' and he asked us to support the soldiers and the president."

Keith Parsons could be called to serve in the Middle East at any moment if his Army Reserve Unit is activated. He had mixed emotions about the prospect.

"Yeah, I'm nervous," he said. "But, after talking to Jimmy I feel like I should be over there with him, helping him."

"He sounded scared when he called. I think the majority of people are scared."

Life in Saudi Arabia's desert has been rough for her son, Cindy Parsons said. Each week the family sends a care package to Jimmy, loaded with candy and every day necessities. But, now she must wait until she receives word from her son to continue sending them.

"He told me not to send any more boxes until I hear from him," she said. "Jimmy said they were told yesterday to eat up all their supplies and not to pack anymore than they could carry. He said if I don't hear from him, not to get excited. He said to tell everyone that. The last time he called he said the maintenance people were there to cut phone service."

Frequent phone calls from her son have helped Mrs. Parsons through this long ordeal. "He had to walk a mile to a telephone to call home Wednesday," she said. "I guarantee if there's a phone around, Jimmy will find it. He loves to call home. I'm so thankful to God for AT & T. It makes me feel more connected to my son."

Parsons told his mother it had been raining in the desert for the last four days and everything he had had gotten wet. Parsons also said General H. Norman Schwarzkopf, who is commander of the U.S. gulf forces, briefed the soldiers Wednesday and told them they would be the "thunder and lightning" of operation Desert Storm, code name of the attack on Iraq.

The terrors of war concern Cindy Parsons and she dreads what her son may have to endure.

"I told him he will probably see and do things he is not used to doing. I told him to do what he has to do and to not think about it," she said. "I hate for him to have to endure some of things he may have to and that hurts."

After spending 30 days straight on the front line eating Army provisions, Jimmy Parsons told his mom he has a craving for a good hot meal. "He told me he'd give is soul for a bowl of beans and some pork chops," she said. "And there won't be any pork chops in this house until Jimmy gets home."

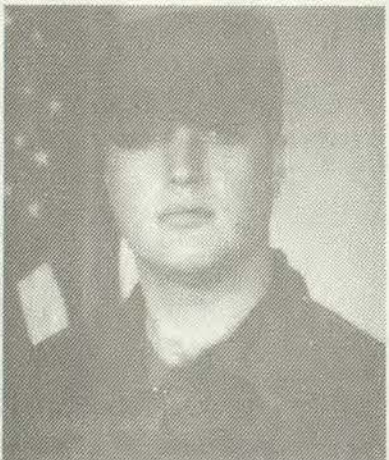

Cindy Parsons and her family are now just waiting for word from their son and watching television to follow the events, that are now very close to home. Mrs. Parsons places her son's safety in her faith in God.

"A couple of months back Jimmy called and I was very upset about the whole situation. He asked me, 'Mom, where's your faith? You raised me that the Lord will take care of me.' So, I know the Lord's watching over him."

Desert Storm

Capt. Paul C. Ackerman, son of Margaret Ackerman of Prestonsburg and the late Bill Ackerman, was assigned to Operation Desert Shield on January 2. He is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy and received his advanced training for the F-111 fighter jet at Camron Air Force Base in New Mexico last year. He is a 1978 graduate of Prestonsburg High School.

Stationed in Middle East

Joe David Weddington, Jr. is stationed in the Middle East with Operation Desert Shield. He is the son of Joe D. and Joyce Weddington of Prestonsburg. He is a graduate of Prestonsburg High School, PCC and the University of Kentucky. He entered the Army in December, 1989. He was going to be married in March to Stacy Rowland of Paintsville, but after his deployment to Saudia Arabia, his wedding was postponed.

Bombs

about 7 p.m. Eastern Time Wednesday, or just before dawn Thursday in the Middle East. The first strike, carried out solely by allied air forces, came about one day after a January 15th deadline for Iraq's Saddam Hussein to withdraw his forces from Kuwait. Iraqi forces invaded the tiny neighboring country on August 2.

The American public was advised of the start of hostilities Wednesday evening in a statement from President George Bush, read by White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater:

"The liberation of Kuwait has begun," Fitzwater reported. "In conjunction with the forces of our coalition partners, the United States has moved under the code name Operation Desert Storm to enforce the mandates of the United Nations Security Council."

"As (of) 7 o'clock p.m. Operation Desert Storm forces were engaging targets in Iraq and Kuwait."

In a televised news conference just after 9 p.m. Wednesday, President Bush gave additional details of the operation, noting that the attacks had been carried out successfully by the multi-national U.N. contingent which had the support and endorsement of 28 nations.

Most accounts of the early attacks registered military surprise at the lack of defensive response from Iraqi forces, said to be among the largest in the world.

By 2 p.m. Thursday, reports from the war front indicated that allied air attacks had successfully destroyed nearly 500 of Iraq's 720 warplanes. One U.S. plane and one British plane had been reported lost.

The White House on Thursday called for Iraq's Saddam Hussein to "lay down his arms, surrender and comply with United Nations resolutions" calling for his withdrawal from Kuwait.

Meanwhile, U.S. financial markets responded favorably to news from the Persian Gulf. The New York Stock Exchange was up more than 100 points Thursday afternoon and oil prices had plummeted by approximately $10 per barrel.

Freedom from fear . . .

by Scott Perry

Like many Americans, we have struggled with mixed emotions arising from our country's involvement in the Persian Gulf conflict.

For months we've taken a personal roller-coaster ride as we attempted, quite unsuccessfully, to arrive at a definitive conclusion, pro or con, on the use of American troops in the Middle East.

While we have leaned from day one to the side our government has taken in the crisis, our resolve has been diluted by doubts and concerns of our purpose for being there.

Oureyes were opened Wednesday night, two hours after war began in Iraq, as we stood in the middle of our living room staring unconsciously at a reproduction of a fifty-year-old painting.

The print, hanging in the same place on our living room wall for fifteen years, was one of several we had collected through our admiration of the works of American illustrator Norman Rockwell. We found Rockwell's ability to capture life's nuances fascinating, but our appetite for his works rarely strayed from their asthetic qualities and into interpretation of their meanings.

But Wednesday night this one particular Rockwell print gave rise to an indescribable sense of personal understanding and an odd sense of inner peace.

For want of a better description, we'll call it a revelation.

Having just tucked our two children into bed for the night, we headed back to our post in front of the television, a vigil we're sure we shared with millions of Americans Wednesday night.

As we passed through the living room the Rockwell print grabbed our attention.

Titled "Freedom from Fear," the painting showed a 1940s mother and father tucking their two small children into bed. In the father's hand was a newspaper with headlines detailing the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

In fifteen years we had passed that portrait a thousand times without so much as a sideways glance, but on this night it demanded our attention. We were overwhelmed by its implication and by the similarities of our own actions on this night to those of parents nearly a half century before.

This was the answer we had been searching for.

Upstairs, two small children lay safely asleep in their beds, free of the fears posed by a violent and unpredictable world.

Halfway across the globe the children of those two children Norman Rockwell so masterfully illustrated in 1941 marched into battle, not for oil, not for political superiority, not for any of the narrow observations bandied about by governments for the last five months.

The reason, to us, became abundantly clear.

Americans are fighting to ensure freedom from fear, not just for our children, but for the innocent children around this inhumane world.

Our hearts and prayers are with them.

Rockwell's masterpiece "Freedom from Fear."

Letters

Editor:

Abraham asked God if he would destroy Sodom and Gomorrah if 50 righteous could be found there. The answer from the Lord was no.

America has always been looked upon as the land of the free and the home of the brave. One nation under God is our motto.

In the last few years, we have seen the very fiber of the strength of this nation being pulled apart.

The Scripture tells us we should strive for the old paths and walk therein. America needs to come back to God. Repentance is in order in many areas of our society.

Time is running out, and this nation cannot afford to wait any longer because destruction from the Lord is looming in the near future. The written word tells us that a nation that forgets God shall be turned into hell and whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.

My name is Brad Hall. I'm in the eighth grade at John M. Stumbo school. I am writing to you now about the crisis in the Middle East.

This is a very serious matter. If we go to war in the Gulf, a lot of lives will be lost, and a lot of money and equipment, too.

I don't agree with the president at all. He should have forgotten about sanctions and forced them out of Kuwait. Now, Saddam Hussein could have nuclear weapons and we don't know it. It is a possibility.

Saddam thinks this is an honorable thing to do according to the Moslem religion. But he's wrong!

Before I close, I just want to say to all relatives in the Gulf to not give up; keep praying and hoping for the best.

My name is Maryann Hamilton. I'm in the eighth grade at John M. Stumbo. I am concerned about the coal truck system in our community.

Almost everyday a coal truck wrecks and kills someone. When they wreck, they spill coal and pollute the area.

The pieces of coal from the truck bounces off and hits the windshields of cars and trucks and cracks the windshield to where you can't see. They cause traffic jams and make people late for special events, especially in the morning when people go to work and to buses and take children to school.

The 18-wheelers are the worst to take the road. Some of them drive so fast they get in the middle of the road and run people off of it. They make holes in the road, which make it hard to drive. I know its a lot of people's jobs, but still they should haul coal on trains instead of on the roads.

I am writing in support of Eddie Caudill. There is no judge or jury in this country who could ever make me believe Eddie, knowingly, did anything dishonest while serving his community.

It is true that I am a friend of the family. Some people may think that I am being biased, but I know of the countless hours Eddie and Betty have contributed to the people of Left Beaver. There is no one who can dispute the fact that Eddie cares for this area and its people. This fact is proven by the many elections he has won.

I urge everyone who has supported the Caudill family in the past to show your support now.

To whose benefit is it for Eddie to go to jail? That's a question we may never know. Who is it going to hurt? Eddie, his family, friends and the Left Beaver area.

Eddie, I support you and know that justice will prevail.

(Editors note: The following letter addresses Barbara Martin of Eastern who has been writing a series about the High Rocks at Eastern).

Barbara, thank you!

I'll disregard any mention of time—Did someone wave and call to you from beyond the high rocks?

To many of us living at Estill in the late 20's and early 30's those high rocks were the Third Rocks. We approached them from the side opposite to those climbing from Eastern.

When violets, johnny-jump-ups, jack-in-the-pulpit and fresh fern fronds began to appear (this coincided with warm sunny days after weeks of snow and rain) many of us got itchy feet to climb and eat out. A group of young people living in Estill enjoyed many picnics and cook-outs 'at the rocks.'

We usually rested at the First Rocks (top of the hill close to my home on Estill hill), walked along the ridge to Second Rocks. We had our lunch at Second Rocks because there we had built a fireplace using a wire shelf from an old ice box and some nice large stones. We usually took potatoes (already cooked in their jackets) or apples to fry. For these a big fire was not necessary. After lunch the most energetic walked on the Third Rocks (Eastern Rocks) while the others broke camp and put out the fire with water we carried up the hill for that purpose. The return trip was always much shorter—we were going down hill!

To a group of young people, some not yet in their teens this was a long trip. However a few years ago I made a trip Down Memory Lane or Up Mommy Hill and the hill had shrunk! I only visited the homes on Estill hill. I did not attempt to climb to First Rocks.

One memorable trip to our picnic place we took sugar-cured ham. It tasted so good with fried apples—but the thirst it caused. We ran out of water and one of the group said she knew a short cut home. She led us down a valley and around a hill—many times—before we got home.

We were all so thirsty we swore off sugar-cured ham—temporarily. I am happy that although my legs are no longer strong enough to take me to the Eastern High Rocks or Third Rocks (depending on your starting point) that there are people still enjoying the beauty and serenity that can be found among the Floyd County hills.

I enjoy the Floyd County Times and thank all of you who work to bring us news and memories. I was a former teacher in Floyd County.

I think that it isn't fair that all of the schools in Floyd County aren't treated equal. There is a lot of unfair business in the Floyd County school system.

There's a lot of new schools being built this year. This is unfair; they already have good schools. These schools such as Adams Middle School and Duff isn't just getting new schools, they are getting everything from new computers to new software. The other schools such as Stumbo, Harold, Prater and Betsy Layne are getting nothing new. And while the other schools are getting new and modern technology, this lets them get ahead in school.

Marcus Hamilton

Editor:

I would like to express my opinion on the lack of concern in Section III or District 4.

It seems that money is being spent in other sections rather than being equally divided with our section. We need our schools and gyms repaired just as much as they need new schools anywhere else.

Derrick Newsome
student

Editor:

I wish to know why some schools have better treatment than others.

Other schools get better and newer books, more computers and better heating systems. I also wonder why other schools have separate auditoriums, lunchrooms, and gyms, while other schools have only one room. Other schools also have larger gyms too.

I think we should build a middle school for Stumbo, Betsy Layne and Harold Elementary schools.

Darrell Newsome

Editor:

Betsy Layne High School is a nice school, but maybe they need stricter rules about smoking and about the dress code at Betsy Layne High School on their hair and clothing. And the ones starting the fights should be suspended for a whole semester. They should try to get rid of all the drugs and people who take them and sell them.

Mark Brown

Editor:

I think if we go to war in the Middle East that we are prepared. The chemicals are not even a concern any more since they found an antidote which is valuable. I was wondering, "Wouldn't it make them reticant to danger."

Shannon Hall
student

Editor:

I think our schools are going downhill and we need to do something about it. More money should be directed toward our schools. People should help get the drugs out of there because that is the main problem.

Also I would like to know why big schools like Adams Middle get so many things and schools like Prater, Stumbo and Harold get so little.

Plus the little schools should be combined to form one big middle school.

New Congress will face many challenges

On January 3, I along with 33 other Senators elected last November raised our right hands and repeated the oath of office. As I was sworn in I remember feeling overwhelmed by the responsibility the people of Kentucky have placed in me to represent them in the greatest legislative body in the world.

Congress is scheduled to officially reconvene on January 23. This date represents the first day of the 102

Congress. As legislators look to this date and forward to the coming year, events in the Persian Gulf and the January 15 deadline for an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait loom large.

It has been five months since our troops received their orders to deploy in the Saudi desert. Since that time close to 400,000 men and women in the U.S. military have joined thousands of other troops from the international coalition in stopping Saddam Hussein's brutal aggression. The price Kentucky has paid to meet this threat has been high. Once again our troops from Forts Campbell and Knox were first to be deployed in this emergency and many of our guard and reserve units have already joined them. Hopefully, Iraq will pull out of Kuwait and our sons and daughters can safely return to the United States.

Here at home, many solutions will have to be developed to the problems that confronts us. For example, stimulating business growth to reduce the effects of an economic recession will be a top domestic priority. Ensuring that the U.S. banking system remains in solid shape and prosecuting those people responsible for the savings and loan fiasco will also be a priority for Congress. Another area that will receive considerable attention is making government more responsive to the people. We were all disappointed by the performance of Congress during the last budget battle and everything possible will be tried to make the legislative process run smoother.

This new year brings us face to face with many problems. However, each problem represents an opportunity for a creative solution. Our challenge this Congress will be to work hard and develop those solutions and strive to bring peace and prosperity back to our country.

City of Wheelwright
Wheelwright, Kentucky

We have examined the component unit financial statements of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, oversight unit as of and for the year ended June 30, 1990, as listed in the table of contents. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The financial statements referred to above include only the financial activities of the oversight unit. Financial activities of other component units that form the reporting entity are not included.

The City has not maintained an adequate record of its general fixed assets and, accordingly, the general purpose financial statements referred to above do not include financial statements of the General Fixed Assets Group of Accounts, which should be included to conform to generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, except that the omission of the financial statements described above results in an incomplete presentation, the component unit financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky, at June 30, 1990 and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles which have been applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

Our examination was made for the purpose of forming an opinion on the component unit financial statements taken as a whole. The combining, individual fund and individual account group financial statements and schedules listed in the table of contents are presented for purposes of additional analysis and are not a required part of the component unit financial statements of the City of Wheelwright, Kentucky. Such information has been subjected to the auditing procedures applied in the examination of the general purpose financial statements and, in our opinion, is fairly stated in all material respects in relation to the component unit financial statements taken as a whole.

Tax break:*Lowering the expense of raising children

The expense associated with raising children can be lowered if you do your homework first. The Kentucky Society of CPAs has some basic lessons on tax breaks for parents.

DEFRAYING THE COST OF CHILD CARE

If you pay someone to care for your child under 13 while you work, you may be able to take a child-care tax credit of up to 20 percent of the amount you pay for employment-related expenses, or even a higher percentage at lower income levels. The kinds of expenses that qualify for computing the credit include babysitting and day-care costs, nursery and kindergarten tuition, and payments to a housekeeper whose duties include care of the child.

In general, to be eligible for the tax credit, you must earn income from a job or be self-employed. In addition, you must maintain a home for a child under 13. (Prior to 1989, children under 15 could qualify for the tax credit.) If you are married, you and your spouse must both work at least part-time — unless one of you is disabled or a full-time student. If you pay for the care of one child, the maximum amount for computing the credit is $2,400; if you're paying for two or more, that amount doubles to $4,800.

The size of your tax credit depends on your adjusted gross income. If your adjusted gross income is $10,000 or less, your credit is 30 percent of your expenses (up to the cap). If your adjusted gross income is more than $28,000, you're entitled to a 20-percent credit. So if your adjusted gross income is $30,000 and your child-care expenses for two dependents are $6,000, you are entitled to a tax credit equal to 20 percent of $4,800, or $960. The tax benefit for incomes between $10,000 and $28,000 is calculated on a sliding scale.

Two recent changes pertaining to the child-care credit should be noted. The first involves employer-sponsored dependent-care assistance programs, a fringe benefit which allows parents to set aside as much as $5,000 in pre-tax salary dollars to pay for child-care services. In the past, if you set aside $5,000 through such a program and your actual expenses were more, the excess amount qualified for the child-care credit. Unfortunately, the dual benefit has been eliminated. Each reimbursement dollar you receive through an employer's dependent-care program now reduces the maximum amount allowed for the child-care credit, dollar for dollar. So if you previously claimed both the credit and the exclusion, you will now have to decide in advance which break saves more tax dollars.

The second change requires you to report the name, address and social security number of your care provider. Parents who pay care providers in cash and skip the Social Security tax on those wages will not be able to take the child-care credit and are also in violation of various laws.

INCOME SHIFTING

Unfortunately, the long-time tax strategy of shifting income from high-bracket family members to lower bracket children makes less sense now. There are now two distinct sets of rules for taxing children who receive investment income such as dividends, interest, royalties and capital gains. For children 14 and older, investment income is taxed at their own rate. But children under 14 can now be taxed at their parent's rate. For these pint-sized taxpayers, the first $500 in investment income can be offset by a special $500 standard deduction; the next $500 is taxed at the child's rate. But any unearned income over $1,000 is taxed at the parent's rate.

But there are still ways you can lower taxes on the investment earnings of children under age 14. First of all, keep in mind that the first $1,000 in unearned income is still taxed at your child's lower rate. In other words, your child could hold a $12,000 investment earning 8 percent in interest, and still come in under the $1,000 threshold.

Second, consider investing in assets that are tax-free or tax-deferred until the child reaches 14 and is taxed at his or her own rate. Savings bonds are one option. Or you could give your child stock in growth-oriented companies which generally pay little or no dividends but are expected to appreciate in value. Your child owes no tax on the potential gain until the stock is sold. If you wait until your child reaches 14 before you sell the shares, the profit is taxed at the child's rate.

Series EE U.S. Savings Bonds are a less risky alternative for tax-deferred earnings. The interest that accumulates on Series EE bonds does not have to be reported until the bonds mature or are redeemed, so you can hold off cashing in the bonds until your child reaches 14. In this post-tax reform world, the key is to plan each investment carefully for each child according to his or her age.

Take note that these rules apply only to unearned or investment income. If your child has earnings from a job, such income will be taxed at the child's tax rate regardless of the child's age.

Another recent tax law change attempts to make filing easier. Now instead of preparing a separate return for your child, you can elect on IRS form 8814 to include your child's gross income on your own return, if his or her earnings are between $500 and $5,000. You pay the child's rate on the child's investment earnings between $500 and $1,000 and your own rate on earnings between $1,000 and $5,000. Parents can qualify for this time-saving alternative only if no estimated tax payments or backup withholding payments have been made on behalf of the child. Keep in mind, however, that including your child's income with your own increases your adjusted gross income and may have an adverse impact on your ability to deduct medical and miscellaneous itemized expenses, identifying equipment and getting a location."

Many are unaware of Social Security benefits

There is more to Social Security than benefits for persons over 62. Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group has been researching the Social Security System and the benefits it provides since 1972. One finding is that, of the 50 million persons now collecting benefits, more than 15 million are under 62 and, surprisingly, the average age is about 30.

Robert L. Berko, consumer writer and executive director of the center, says the organization has been publishing and updating a complete list of available benefits (and how to qualify for them) for the past 16 years. The guide offers consumers of all ages an awareness of the benefits they are entitled to under the latest laws. The 12th update, a complete revision, is now available.

The book contains a form to get a copy of your Social Security account showing all credits to your account and an estimate to the amount you will get upon retirement or disability. Workers must check their Social Security accounts frequently since any errors more than three years old will not be corrected. Often, the study found, workers have had too much deducted from their wages and were due a refund. In other cases, employers had not sent the correct amount to be credited to accounts. If you have records of the amount of earnings and deductions, you will be credited with that money and the employer's share whether or not he ever sent the money to the government.

The Consumers Guide to Social Security Benefits, including Medicare, is available for $9, plus $2 postage and handling, from CERC, 350 Scotland Rd., Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121, with credit card.

"Billions of dollars go unclaimed," said Berko, "because many workers do not realize they are eligible for benefits." Among the findings of the study group and included in the guide are:

- In some cases parents of a deceased worker are eligible for benefits even if they never paid into the system.

- Many children are eligible for benefits even though their parents never paid into the system.

- Minor children and surviving spouse of a person who has worked under the SS system for as little as one day in each of six annual quarters can collect benefits.

- Income from investments, interest, annuities, rentals and royalties are not considered in determining eligibility—nor is income from a business in which the person was owner or partner if payments are made as a retirement benefits, purchase of equity or any of the above. Only income listed as payment for actual work will affect retirement benefits. And after age 70, even that restriction is lifted.

- A divorcee (either sex), 62 or older, who was married 10 years or more is eligible for benefits when the ex-spouse starts collecting retirement or disability payments. If the divorcee was later married and that marriage ended in death or divorce, this will not affect eligibility.

- The Supplementary Security Income (SSI) program provides benefits to aged, blind, physically disabled and even those with language handicaps. Even if these recipients own cars, homes or other assets, no lien is taken against these assets and a person cannot be disqualified because relatives are financially able to support the recipient.

- Some benefits, such as SSI, do not require any work record by the recipient or his or her family.

Recognizing the problem of millions who were missing out on agency-administered programs, Social Security Commissioner Gwendolyn S. King, said in a recent interview, "I believe very strongly that we need to do more by way of outreach."

Commissioner King's statement was applauded by Ron Pollack, executive director of the Families USA Foundation because, he says, "a good number of people do not know about the program." Many people, he found, "try to make inquiries, but do not get through or receive erroneous information. And here are many who go to an office to apply but don't get the assistance necessary to fill out their applications."

Berko tells us that, "Even if you are eligible, you will not receive checks unless you apply." For that reason "Consumers Guide to Social Security Benefits" tells you how to apply and what to say.

Sears sponsors faculty award at Pikeville College

Pikeville College has been selected to participate in the Sears-Roebuck Foundation's national Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Awards Program, according to Pikeville President William H. Owens.

"This is the second year that the Sears-Roebuck Foundation has recognized excellent teaching at American colleges," Owens said.

The foundation presents $1,000 awards to top educators at almost 700 leading independent liberal arts colleges and universities. Winners are selected by independent committees on each campus. In addition, each participating school will receive a grant of between $500 and $1,500, depending on student enrollment. These institutional grants are to be used to encourage campus leadership, faculty enrichment and improved teaching, Owens said.

Last year's Sears award winner at Pikeville College was Dr. Nancy Cade, an associate professor of history and political science and coach of the college's academic team.

The awards program is administered nationally by the Stamford, Connecticut-based Foundation for Independent Higher Education (FIHE) and locally by the Kentucky Independent College Fund.

Mountain Voices — by Willie Elliott

This is not how I had planned it!

Several weeks ago Mrs. Janet Bowling, home economics teacher at McDowell High School, asked me if I would be a chaperone for her SADD group at the Teen Leadership Conference? I told her I would go if she could not get anybody. (Never use this tactic because the person doesn't even try to get anybody with a commitment such as that).

The conference was going to be at the Holiday Inn at Prestonsburg. I had it all planned: I would go to the meals, go back to my room, watch television, grade some papers, and look out the door during long commercials to see that the students were behaving. In other words I was going to be a bed potato (for lack of a couch).

So this past Friday I had visions of being nothing less than a bum for three days. When we got there, the group was putting names on the back of participants and each person was to guess his/her identity. I said to myself, "All right, I'll do this. This is fun." One activity led to another and I began to snap some shots of the kids in action. Then Lola Brashear came beaming over to me with a deal I couldn't refuse. I was to take photos for the whole conference. She was to make two sets of prints. She would give me a set with the negatives, and she would keep a set. Then it hit me I had been had.

I didn't have much time to moan about my lack of planning when I began to see familiar faces. There was Marty Greene from the David School. Marty and I had gone to Foxfire together, and we talked about what was happening in our teaching situations. Danny O'Quinn and Rita Osborne showed up from Allen Central. Sharon Sammons and Jerry Lafferty were there from Prestonsburg. I met Mrs. Lawson from Betsy Layne. Randy Ward, a former tennis opponent, was there. I met these wonderful people from the other counties. This was beginning to be pleasant. OK, so I didn't get to be a bum much Friday and Friday night as I got to my room well after 11 o'clock.

By this time, I had changed my strategy: I would go to all the fun and game things because they were neat, but I was ducking out for the workshops. I said, "I'll stay just long enough to see how really boring they are." So Karen Petry began her session, and the gist of her talk was "lighten up." So I thought I might use that. Then she gave a great philosophy in three steps: (1) Don't sweat the small stuff, (2) Everything is small stuff, and (3) If you can't flee, flow.

By this time, I was giving the students and speakers standing ovations and even asking for them myself.

There was an activity in which we wrote notes to secret pals. At first I thought, "I'll do this, but I won't like it." I began to compose encouraging notes to my secret pal and looked forward to receiving my own. It was too late to rescue my weekend so I went with the flow.

I finished the conference with much satisfaction and a sense of being part of something wonderful. The closing ceremony was really heart warming, but I still insist I had onions in my eyes, you people. Grown men don't cry in public.

Strange Enough

by Tim Preston

We begin bombing in five minutes

Before you read this, I am once again obligated to print that the following column is my opinion only and does not reflect the views of the Floyd County Times.

I wrote the words below on Monday. On Thursday I went back into old issues of the Times and found that Floyd Countians were hanging yellow ribbons on trees ten years ago. Forty years ago they were reading lists of Floyd County men who were missing in action in Korea. Fifty years ago they were volunteering for military service while reading the lists of those missing in action.

For whatever reason that seemed relevant on Thursday morning, the first day of combat in the Persian Gulf.

I don't want people to die. I don't want strangers to die. I don't want my friends to die. I don't even want the Iraqi people to die.

Death is inevitable, why do we have to push it?

Statement: Saddam Hussein is a madman! He must be stopped.

Tim's interpretation: We disagree with the actions of a foreign political leader and we are willing to let a few thousand of our people die to stop him.

One of the main reasons people object to our involvement in this situation is the rationale of blood for oil. No, I don't want to pay higher prices for gasoline either, but as of yet there is no war and I don't see the National Guard storming the executive offices of Exxon, Ashland Oil and others to stop the blatant consumer rape being conducted by those guys.

If you read this newspaper you know that we have a lot of our folks in Saudi Arabia. Our teenagers in the infantry are carrying weapons and hiding behind sand dunes.

Unless something happens soon, many of those kids may soon be dead.

If you knew that someone was going to die wouldn't you do everything you could to stop it?

I was talking to some guy on the street last Friday and I made the statement that I didn't believe in our reasons for going to war. This guy lost any friendliness he had and asked me, very seriously, if I was saying that I wasn't behind our boys.

Hell yes, I'm behind them. I want them to come home and kiss their moms and dads.

My co-worker, Tess Whitmer, is in the desert. My friend David Ward is in the desert. Old friends like Anthony Ratliff and Ronnie Vanhose are in the desert.

Which one will be the first subject of a letter to next of kin?

These are your children, your neighbors children and your fellow Americans. I don't want them to die.

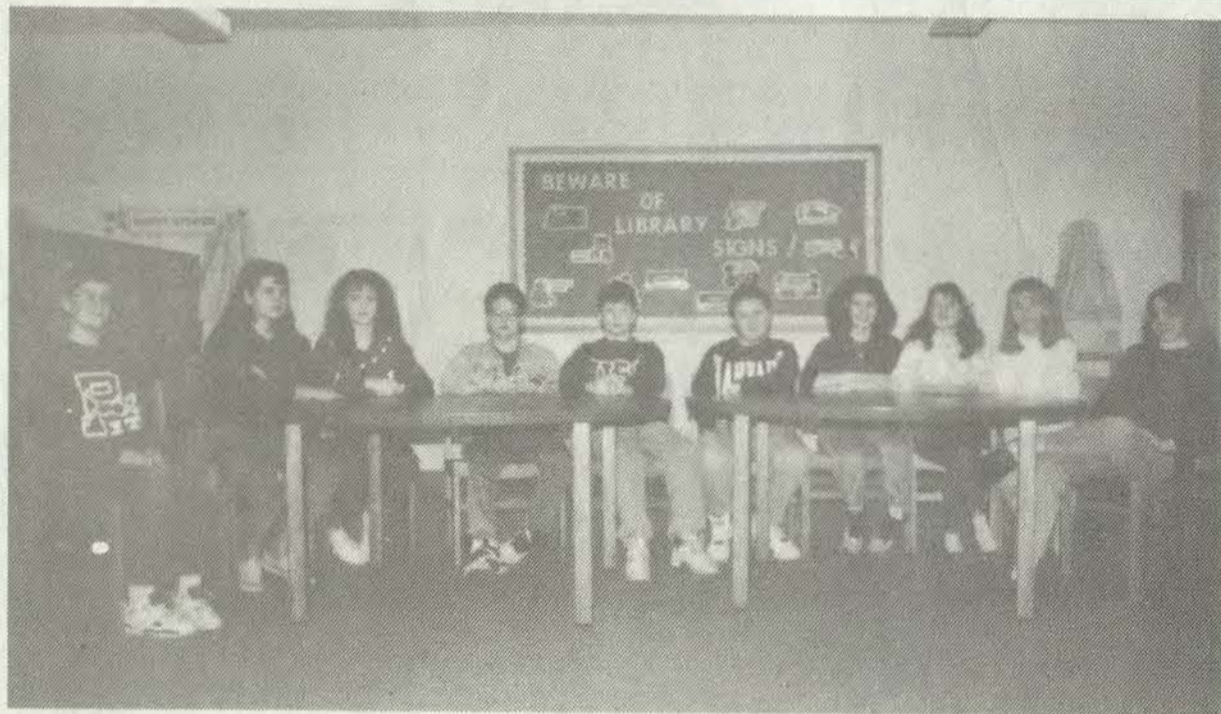

The Iraqi people are convinced that God is on their side in this confrontation. We are convinced that we are right, and of course God is always on our side.

I think if God is watching this situation he isn't on either side. After all, is God really going to favor the mass slaying of one nationality over another?

I doubt it. I realize that it is too late now, but, why not use the starvation tactics of naval blockades and economic sanctions? No doubt Saddam would not go hungry, but his people would.

Anybody remember what the people of Romania did to their leaders when they had enough starvation?

They stormed the castle and shot them in the head.

Students qualify for Duke Talent Identification program

Ten students from J.D. Adams Middle School have qualified for participation in this year's Talent Search for mathematically and verbally advanced students sponsored by Duke University's Talented Identification Program (TIP). The program identifies highly able seventh-graders from a 16-state region in the south, southwest and Midwest.

Adams Middle School students include Michael Slone, Joan Banner, Leigh Billips, Chris Caudill, Michael Halfhill, Danny Hall, Amanda Spradlin, Jeanette Allison, Julie Slone, Ruth Jessen, Carolyn Jones and Angela Collins.

To be eligible, students must have scored at the 97th percentile or better on an in-school achievement or ability measure. They will sit for the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or ACT Assessment (ACT), normally taken only by college-bound seniors on these measures. All participants receive Certificates of Merit and some become eligible for state-wide recognition ceremonies, or a variety of educational programs.

TIP, established in 1980, has provided thousands of students with information about their abilities and educational options. The purposes of the program are to help academically bright students develop their special abilities, to assist schools in working with their brightest students, and to understand the nature of exceptional mathematical and verbal ability.

Former Floyd resident implements new UK science hotline number

Dr. Donald T. Frazier, chairman and professor of physiology at the University of Kentucky's medical school, recently launched a new project to encourage Kentucky's youth to become interested in science.

Homework help is now available to a struggling young science student. Students can now call a UK hotline number and talk to a UK professor or scientist and ask for advice on such things as classroom science projects and or career possibilities in the field of science.

Dr. Frazier, a native of Floyd County, implemented the UK Science Hotline, 1-800-955-9500, because he feels that many of today's brightest youngsters avoid science classes. If that situation does not change, Frazier said, the nation one day could find itself running out of scientists and researchers.

"It's going to affect the biology teachers of the future, the pharmacists, the people going into medicine or dentistry, all the health-science related fields. This isn't just about people working in some laboratory.

"Unfortunately, after third or fourth grade, most students today tend to bypass anything having to do with science. Perhaps they feel the science curriculum is too hard or just too boring. But about 80 percent of our students are scientifically illiterate. Science and math scores are pitiful. That's alarming when you think of the future."

Frazier said he hopes the program will help make students less afraid of the complex world of science and more open to its fascinations.

"We can't wait for kids to get out of the fourth, fifth, sixth grade and expect them to ever be stimulated. We have to catch them then, before they get turned off to science."

Frazier is also encouraging teachers to pick up the phone and dial the toll free number.

"Perhaps a teacher has been reluctant to try some project at his school because he lacked the resources. Now he can call us and think of the whole university science community as being a consultant.

Teachers can ask for advice on projects and demonstrations, as well as arranging to bring their students to UK for a firsthand look at scientific research in progress.

One group from Lincoln County has already taken advantage of the service and students toured UK's Chandler Medical Center.

Currently, Frazier takes all the calls himself. Those he cannot answer, he refers to other UK faculty members. Frazier hopes that soon there will be so many calls that he will have to turn the whole project over to the university.

Frazier said he has received about 30 calls so far, but he notes that he is still trying to make sure science teachers and students around Kentucky are aware of the toll-free number.

The toll-free number reaches Frazier's office, where he usually is from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. weekdays. Calls that come in after hours are picked up on an answering machine and Frazier returns the call.

Frazier is the brother of June Allen of Allen.

Smile Awhile — by Sarah Hopson

If the shirt fits, wear it!

The following story is true. Only the names have been changed to protect the not-so-innocent:

Several weeks ago, a person who has been a friend of ours for many years, told us that he and another friend of his had decided they would go out on the town.

After several rounds of drinks, they got the courage to visit a night spot where scantily clad females dance. Once inside the place, our friend said that his friend really got into the swing of things and kept giving the girls gratuities for their entertaining wiles. That's when the trouble began.

Thinking she knew a good thing when she saw it, one of the dancers jumped onto the man's lap and started unbuttoning his shirt. When she discovered he was wearing a T-shirt, she ripped the shirt all the way down the front.

"Good Lord, Cleve!" the man screamed at our friend. "What am I going to do? Lizzie knows I always wear a T-shirt. If I come home without one on, she'll leave me for sure."

"Don't worry," our friend said calmly. "We'll find you another T-shirt."

Thirty minutes later the duo was still searching for a man with a T-shirt.

"Doesn't anybody wear T-shirts anymore?"

"It doesn't seem like it," our friend replied. "Wait! There's a guy with a T-shirt on under his sweatshirt."

"Say, Buddy," our friend's friend asked. "I'll buy that T-shirt you're wearing for 20 bucks."

"You're kidding," the guy said. "No, I'm not. I'm desperate. Will you sell it?"

"Are you kidding?" the guy answered. "It's yours. Let me go to the restroom and take it off. Do you need the sweatshirt, too?"

"No, the T-shirt is fine."

A few minutes later the guy returned and handed my friend the T-shirt. When he went to put it on, he screamed.

"I can't wear this home," he announced. "I don't wear T-shirts that say, 'Can't Touch This.'"

Don't worry," our friend assured the fellow, "we'll find you a T-shirt."

The twosome drove all over town looking for a place that sold T-shirts, but at 1:30 in the morning the only places that were open were grocery stores and filling stations.

In a last ditch effort to save his marriage, the friend told our friend to pull into the grocery store parking lot.

"Let's go in here. Surely someone is wearing a T-shirt."

As they scanned the shelves, they finally spotted a man with a T-shirt showing above his shirt. He was mopping the floor when they approached.

"Sir, excuse me, but I'll give you $10 for your T-shirt."

The man stopped mopping, grinned and said, "Where's the Camry?"

"What?" our friend's friend asked. "I'm on television, ain't I?"

"Oh, no," he replied. "I just need a T-shirt and all the clothing stores are closed. All right, I'll give you $20."

"That's it!" the man yelled. "I know there's a Camry around here now. Where are you hiding it? Is it behind the cereal?"

"No, you don't understand," our friend stated. "We just need your T-shirt."

"Which way should I look? Tell me where that Camry is?"

"Your T.V. people have more money than that. I'll take $35. When can I watch this on television?"

Although it was a bit thin, and didn't smell like the aftershave he always wore, the man put the shirt on and went home. The next morning, he stashed the T-shirt in his briefcase, went to work, and threw it in the dumpster outside his office.

Our friend told us that what upset his friend most was the fact that he had to pay almost $60 for a worn-out T-shirt that he couldn't even keep.

It's good to know that some men still hold marriage sacred.

Girl Scout cookie sale helps girls learn life skills

From making change to acquiring self-confidence, Girl Scouts participating in the annual cookie sale learn skills and discover abilities they will use in later life.

Each troop sets its own goal, and the girls play a training game called "Gong Places" before they go out to sell cookies. The game teaches them safety procedures and sales techniques. This year, Girl Scout cookies cost $2 per package. Proceeds help both individual troops and the Wilderness Road Council, which provides program services, facilities and adult volunteer training.

As in past years, seven different varieties of cookies will be offered: Golden Yangles cheddar snack crackers; Lemon Pastry Cremes; Peanut Butter Sandwiches; Thin Mints; Caramel DeLites; Peanut butter Patties; Shortbread.

Girls will begin taking orders after school hours on January 18 and will continue through February 1. The cookies will be delivered the first week of March.

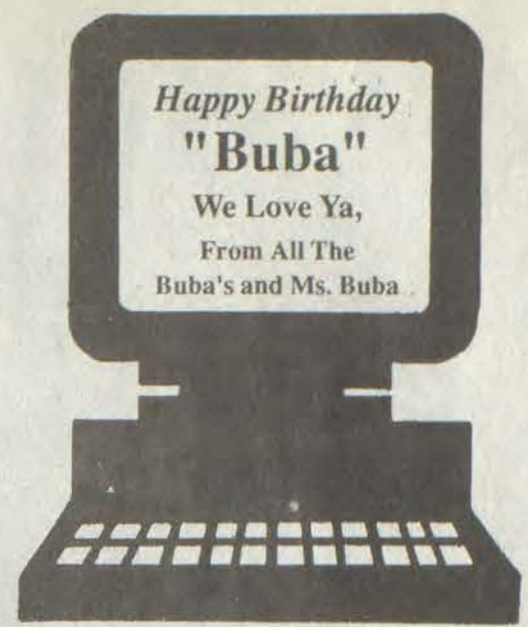

The Wilderness Road Council serves more than 23,000 girls, ranging in age from 5 to 17. Since Girl Scouts have been selling cookies to support their programs for over 50 years, the cookie sale has become an American tradition.

HOROSCOPE

January 20 through January 26

By C.C. Clark

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Insulting others will only bring you great grief, especially when dealing with those close to you. Don't try to flatter them either; just accept them as they are.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
If you are not sure about doing something this week, don't do it. Try to talk to loved ones concerning financial problems and let them know they have your support.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
You lose your temper where a specific authority figure is concerned. Frustration about this person will have you in a bad mood. Just try to realize what is happening.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Don't let others push you too hard this week. Stand up for yourself and help them realize the pressure you are under. They will listen if you are sincere.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Small details on the domestic front need to be attended to immediately. Once these troublesome projects are out of the way, you will have some time for fun things.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
It is important for you to remember that taking out your frustrations on others offers temporary relief, but it in no way solves the problems you must deal with.

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
Now is the time to pull in the reins where frivolous spending is concerned. Build up your savings because you will soon want to make a major purchase.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
Someone who never thought much about you will suddenly take notice. This could bring you good luck in either your love or career sector, possibly both.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
Be honest in all affairs concerning the heart, and things will turn out for the best. Financial responsibilities should be re-evaluated this week.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
Trust your instincts concerning loved ones and your work environment. Don't let others tell you what to do. Although you may listen to advice, don't be quick to accept it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
Try as you might, this is a week in which people will misinterpret almost anything you say. Keep cool and try to be rational when explaining your actions.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
This is not a good week to ask for more money in the workplace. Don't fret; things will change soon, and it will be clear sailing for many weeks.

VIDEO BIJOU

Original 'Dark Shadows' shows available on video tape

By Steven Alan McGaw

I lived with my grandmother a large part of my childhood, and I'm amazed (and a little embarrassed) sometimes when I think back on some of the things I asked of her, like my tearful demand, at age 8, that she call ABC and demand a replay of Batman because I'd missed it. (No dice.)

One outrageous demand, which she actually met, was to render a daily synopsis of my favorite TV show, Dark Shadows, which aired before I got out of school. The other kids in our carpool had to maintain a reverent silence each day as that little woman updated me on the latest ghoulish goings-on in spooky Collinsport, Maine. But you know what? I think she liked it. And with good reason;

Dark Shadows was a genuinely terrific show — thoughtful and atmospheric — made all the better because everyone involved took it absolutely seriously.

Dan Curtis' skillful direction, that incredibly evocative music by Robert Cobert and the acting by performers like Joan Bennett and Shakespearean actor Jonathan Frid all combined to make Dark Shadows a true TV milestone.

Now, many episodes of the series are available on cassette, courtesy of MPI Video. Look for Dark Shadows Vol. 1-14, at your local video vendor. (And check out the new Dark Shadows on NBC. It could be good, since Curtis is overseeing the production.)

TV PIPELINE

Dionne Warwick made impact on cousin Whitney's career

By Polly Vonetes

Q: What is the relationship between Whitney Houston and Dionne Warwick?
—Toni Gary, Coachella, Calif.

A: They are cousins, and very close ones at that. Dionne Warwick began her career singing at recording sessions in New York with sister Dee Dee and cousin Cissy Houston, Whitney's mother. Dionne has been a big influence on Whitney's career.

Q: Was Christopher Plummer knighted by the Queen of England? I say he was, others think I am wrong.
—Lillian Belcher, Shawano, Wis.

A: Sorry, Lillian, I'll have to join those "others." Arthur Christopher Orme Plummer, born Dec. 13, 1927 in Toronto, has not been knighted by the Queen. He is, however, officially known as Christopher Plummer, C.C. — Companion of the Order of Canada. The title is designed to honor special achievements, humanitarian contributions and distinguished service to Canada and is bestowed by the governor general. Plummer was honored with the title in 1968.

Q: I would like to know if Anything But Love will be coming back. The show is so great and stopped without explanation.
—Connie Goren, Ft. Pierce, Fla.

A: I wouldn't hold my breath, considering the way the networks schedule their programs, but I have been told it will be coming back in January.

Q: Please set my husband straight about this. I say that Rex Harrison starred in The Ghost and Mrs. Muir; he says "no." Who is correct?
—Donna and Bill in Milburn, N.J.

A: I am not a very good

diplomat, but in this instance you both could be right. It depends on whether you're talking about the movie in 1947 or the TV series in 1968. Rex Harrison and Gene Tierney starred in the movie. Edward Mulhare and Hope Lange were the television stars.

Q: I am a great fan of the series Quantum Leap, which airs on NBC, and I would like to have an address where I could write to its two stars. Scott Bakula is a very versatile and talented performer, and I have been a devoted Dean Stockwell fan for many years. Could you also tell me of any Quantum Leap fan clubs?
—Debra La Valley, Claremont, N.H.

A: Write to: Scott Bakula and Dean Stockwell, c/o Quantum Leap, Universal Television, 70 Universal Plaza, Universal City, CA 91608. To inquire about fan clubs, you can write to the National Association of Fan Clubs, 2730 Baltimore Ave., Pueblo, CO 81003.

Please send your questions about television past and present to: Polly Vonetes, TV Pipeline, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest will be answered.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

SPORTS A WAY OF RELIEF

FROM PERSIAN GULF

While people are praying for peace in the Middle East, some are questioning whether sporting events should go on as scheduled. College basketball conferences have considered canceling the schedules while hostilities prevail in the Persian Gulf.

I think that would be a mistake. Sporting events have a way of taking your mind off of what is happening around the world. Not that we should try and forget, and I am sure many are still praying for peace overseas, but sometimes you need relief from having to concentrate on the troubles in the world.

SEC Commissioner Roy Kramer has announced that as of now, the SEC schedule will go on as planned as long as the Persian Gulf war does not escalate. I personally hope they keep the games going. It does serve as a "relief valve."

No decision has been made by the NFL to cancel the championship series this weekend. Some college basketball games were canceled as a result of the bombing of Iraq Wednesday night.

BOYD REMEMBERS

"One year, when Frankie (Francis, former coach for Wheelwright) was 20-4 on the season, I beat him all four games," recalled popular former basketball coach Tommy Boyd. Boyd and I got together for a chat while waiting for the start of the Wheelwright/McDowell game Tuesday night. Anytime you get into a conversation with Boyd it is always colorful. His favorite subject is long time friend "Hoss" Halbert, former Martin Purple Flash coach.

"During the preseason tournament at Wheelwright Hoss had a three point lead," explained Boyd. "During a time out, he was upset and the basketball was laying in front of him. He reached back and kicked the basketball to the other side of the gym and into the rafters. Referee Sid Meade, Hoss' best player, said you may be like Lou Groza (former kicker for the Cleveland Browns) but that is going to cost you a technical foul."

"Hoss lost the game by one point," said Boyd.

Boyd said players today are nothing like they were when he coached at Wayland and Betsy Layne. "They don't care anymore," he said. "They don't work hard like they did when I coached."

Boyd has joined Joe Back and the WPRG-TV staff as color commentator on the delayed telecast of high school basketball games on Channel 5 out of Harold.

Speaking of the delay telecasts, I have heard a lot of people say they have been enjoying the telecasts.

IS IT TOO EARLY TO TALK BASEBALL?

It is around the corner. Major League players will be heading south in about 30 days for the start of spring training. The Cincinnati Reds will report to camp around the 13th of February with the pitchers and catchers. Others will follow the following week. Grapefruit League games start around March 1.

The Reds will have a challenge this year for the Western Division title. Not only from the Los Angeles Dodgers but from a good young Atlanta Braves team as well as the San Francisco Giants.

Reds owner Marge Schott will have to open the vault (forget about the pocketbook) as eight Reds players will have their salaries determined by arbitration. Heading the list will be shortstop Barry Larkin and third baseman Chris Sabo. Larkin is making a mere $850,000. Sabo, God bless him, an embarrassing $320,000. I don't know how Sabo survived on such meager earnings. Others going to arbitration are Mariano Duncan, who wants to be traded. Duncan is at $450,000 now. Todd Benzinger, who the Reds have tried to trade, gets $325,000. Norm Charlton, $175,000. Shame on you Marge! Randy Myers, $875,000, Jose Rijo, $770,000 and Billy Hatcher, $690,000 also have filed. Sell Schottize Marge, it is going to cost you.

Until Wednesday, good sports and be good sports. Don't forget our troops in the Persian Gulf. Pray for them.

GOOD LUCK LADY TROJANS, TUESDAY NIGHT

Rebels Ride Hall's 27 Point Performance To 61-55 Win

Coach Johnny Martin's Allen Central Rebels continue their dominance of 14th Region teams as they posted a 61-55 victory over the Fleming-Neon Pirates Tuesday night at Fleming-Neon.

Junior Stewart Hall scored a career high 27 points to lead the Rebels to their tenth win of the season. Allen Central has lost seven times.

Coach Martin's Rebels own wins over five teams out of the 14th Region. The Rebs defeated Cordia twice, once at Allen Central and once in the Cardinal Classic at Sheldon Clark. The Rebels defeated M. C. Napier two weeks ago and the victory over Neon was the team's second over the Pirates. Allen Central has lost to one team out of the 14th and that was to Jenkins. Cordia and Napier have been ranked one and two off and on in the 14th Region all season.

Both teams struggled in the first period as the quarter ended in an 8-8 tie. Allen Central then outscored the host school 15-12 in the second period to take a three point lead to the lockerroom at halftime.

Beside Hall's 27 points, Ronnie Sammons and Chuck Laferty had

Salisbury, Fairchild Lead Eagles Past Prestonsburg, 72-56

The Johnson Central Golden Eagles placed four players in double figures enroute to a 72-56 win over host school Prestonsburg Tuesday night in high school basketball. Jody Salisbury, 6-11 senior center, tossed in 19 points to the lead the foursome. Shane Moore added 17 points while Avery Fairchild netted 16. John Ratliff had 11 points in the Eagles' win.

Prestonsburg was led by Worthie McGuire's 14 points. Aaron Tucker and John Clark scored 10 each. Freshman Cory Reitz and Robert Hammonds had six points.

Prestonsburg looked sharp in the opening quarter as they vaulted out to a six point first quarter lead, 19-13. The game was closer than the final score would indicate. Prestonsburg went into the final quarter trailing by only five points, 48-43. It was in the fourth period that the Eagles took control and opened up an insurmountable margin. Johnson Central outscored the Blackcats 24-13 in the final period. Johnson Central led at the half 34-30.

This was not the first time the two teams had met this year as they faced each other in the Sheldon Clark panorama at the start of the season. The Eagles won that game also.

Prestonsburg falls to 2-9 on the season and will face an Allen Central Rebel basketball team tonight in a

Bailey Scores 24 To Lead Lady Blackcats Past JC

After what seemed like a long lay off, the Prestonsburg Lady Cats returned to the hardwood Thursday night to face cross county rival Johnson Central for the second time this season. The Lady Blackcats came away with an impressive 78-71 comeback win.

Melissa Bailey, 6' 1" senior center, tossed in 24 points, blocked four shots and hauled down 14 rebounds to lead the Prestonsburg squad of coach Bridget Clay to their seventh victory of the season against only two losses. The Lady Blackcats were playing without point guard Edwina Hale who was out because of sickness. Hale was missed at the position as Prestonsburg turned the ball over 26 times in the contest.

"We sure missed Edwina," said Coach Clay, "but it also allowed us to be able to get some other players to play under game situations at point guard."

"This is a very unselfish group of girls," continued Clay. "They are looking for each other on the floor and they respond to each other very well."

Things didn't look too good for the region's fifth ranked team at the start. Johnson Central jumped out to an early 7-2 lead on a three-point play by Belinda Wells following baskets by Janet Blair and Amy Williams.

Prestonsburg then ran off 15 straight points to assume a 17-7 advantage. The Lady Blackcats looked almost unstoppable. Kathy Slone had six points in the run and Stephanie Allen, who played a good game, tossed in four.

The Lady Blackcats committed 11 first quarter turnovers but things didn't get any better in the second. In fact they got worse. Leading 27-20, Prestonsburg could not hold on to the basketball, committing nine more turnovers, and allowing Johnson Central to take a 34-27 halftime lead by scoring the last 14 points of the period. Prestonsburg was held scoreless the last 4:26 of the quarter, committing six turnovers in the time frame.

An 8-4 run by the Lady Eagles cut into the Prestonsburg lead at 21-17. Stephanie Music hit a three-pointer to make it 24-17. Prestonsburg turned the ball over on their next three possessions and Johnson Central scored off two of them.

"We just didn't play well the first half," explained Clay. "This team is playing with a lot of confidence now but we struggle in the first half."

Prestonsburg made some adjustments at halftime and handled the ball much better in the second half.

"Yes, we made some adjustments," stated Clay. "When we did, we started coming back."

Coming back is what they did. Williams hit a short jumper for the Lady Eagles for a 36-27 game. Slone then banged home a bank shot and after Blair hit a shot in the paint, Prestonsburg went on a 9-2 run to close to within one, 40-39.

Blair's jumper followed by two free throws by Susan Roberts gave Johnson Central a five point cushion, 44-39. Bailey grabbed an offensive rebound and scored to make it 44-41.

However, the Lady Eagles ran off six unanswered points for a 50-44 game. Prestonsburg closed to two, 54-52 on Music's second three-pointer of the game just before the quarter ended.

With 7:02 to go in the game, Amy Reed hit a basket that tied the game at 54-54. With 6:39 remaining, Reed hit a three-pointer to give Prestonsburg the lead at 57-54. Wells missed a chance to tie the game for Johnson Central when she was fouled on a basket underneath. Wells failed to convert the free throw.

Each team turned the ball over on their next two possessions. Slone grabbed an errant Lady Eagle pass and drove the court for a layup and she was fouled on the play. The basket gave Prestonsburg a 59-56 lead.

Prestonsburg built a five point lead at 65-60 on a basket by Slone and two free throws by Bailey. Blair's two charity tosses and an offensive put back by Tonya Lewis cut it to one. On a good assist from Music, Bailey stuffed one home for a 67-64 game.

Johnson Central cut the lead to one, 67-66, on a basket by Blair. Prestonsburg missed a chance to extend their lead by missing four consecutive free throws. Bailey took a missed free throw and hit underneath to make it 69-66.

Slone went to the basket hard on a steal and was fouled. Slone hit the floor hard and had to be carry off, causing some anxious moments for Coach Clay. However, Slone returned to the line up. Bailey scored on a good move underneath for a 76-70 lead as the Lady Blackcats held on to win over the Lady Eagles.

Coach Clay stated that with this year's Lady Blackcat team, who starts doesn't matter. "I have confidence in all of the players," she said. "Last year's team would have lost a game like this one, but this year we are winning them. That shows experience. Our sophomores are really playing great."

Bailey's 24 points led Prestonsburg and Slone tossed in 21. Allen and Raquel Cain finished with eight each.

Blair's 20 points topped Johnson Central and both Lewis and Roberts added 13 points.

Prestonsburg had 15 steals as a team. Slone had seven in the game. Slone handed out four assists and Stephanie Allen had three. As a team, Prestonsburg had a team high 10 assists. The Lady Cats pulled down 30 rebounds. Free throw shooting was a problem area, with Prestonsburg hitting only 10 of 33 attempts.

Prestonsburg will be at Allen Central tonight in a big conference basketball game. The Lady Rebels currently lead the conference race with a 2-0 record. Prestonsburg is 1-1.

Behind The Sports Scene

Dingus Enjoys Keeping Shot Chart For Lady Rebs

Most of the time the players on the floor get all the ink. Behind the scenes, the ones who do the important things go unnoticed. Whether it be a manager, stat keeper or just the "water boy," the job is of high importance.

Kokie Lynn Dingus, 14, and a freshman at Allen Central, is such a person. Kokie keeps the shot charts for the Allen Central Rebels at all the home and away games.

"She has only missed one game," said Belinda Dingus, Kokie's mother. "She missed a game when C. K. (Kokie's brother) played in the county tournament."

According to her mother, Kokie has always wanted to play basketball. But because of her size, she was never able to. "Not everyone can play basketball," she said.

Coach Bonita Compton, Lady

Rebel mentor, asked her if she was interested in keeping the shot chart for the Lady Rebs.

"She was so excited about it," her mother explained. "She has known Bonita for a long time and she really enjoys doing it. It makes her feel like part of the team."

"I chart each time a player shoots the basketball, where they shoot from and if they make it," Dingus explained. "I enjoy doing it and I just like being with the team."

Kokie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kokie Dingus of Martin. She is an avid Los Angeles Dodgers fan and had the opportunity to travel to Los Angeles to watch her favorite Dodger, Oral Hershiser play. Kokie even has his autograph. She has been collecting baseball cards for the past six

KY All "A" Classic Opens As W'wright Faces Johns Creek

Tuesday night at Elkhorn City the Wheelwright Lady Trojans will face young and inexperienced Johns Creek Lady Bearcats basketball team in the second game of the opening round of the Kentucky All "A" Classic Regional tournament. This is the first year for girls' competition in the revived Class Single A state tournament.

The Lady Bearcats are a very young and inexperienced team that plays several eighth, seventh and sixth grade players. In fact there is not one senior on this year's Lady Bearcats team. The nucleus of the Lady Bears comes from their juniors.

The Lady Bearcats will be led by Heather Helvey a 5-11 junior center. Helvey is strong scorer inside and rebounds with the best of them. Amber Bowman, a 5-8 junior will man one forward spot. Rebound strength will also come from 5-9 sophomore Stephanie McCray. An eighth grader, Pam Pinson, will fill the point guard position for the Lady Bearcats.

Lady Bearcat coach Jennifer Syck looks to Bowman and Helvey for the leadership this very young team needs. Junior Robin Pinson and freshman Jessica Collins are the first to come off the Lady Bearcats' bench. Wheelwright, perhaps a little more experienced, will have to contain Helvey in the paint and keep her and McCray off the boards. Defensive rebounding will be a must for the Lady Trojans to assure a victory over Johns Creek.

Becky Allen and Vicky Johnson will lead the Lady Trojans. Both are prolific scorers from three point range. Allen had six treys in her last game with McDowell. Inside play will be handled by Stephanie Little. Little likes to mix it up under the basket. She plays well with her back to the basket and possesses some good moves to break free.

The bench could be a problem for the Lady Trojans. After the starting five, the Trojans are very young, also having eight freshmen and one seventh grader. Sophomore Barbara Perkins leads the bench in seeing playing time. Kandi Holbrook also will see some playing time.

Coach Donnie Daniels will take his team into Elkhorn City in hopes of pulling off a first round win. If the Lady Trojans can have a strong game on the boards and hit some three-pointers it could be a night of celebration for the Lady Trojans.

What it all boils down to is which team takes advantage of the other's mistakes and there are going to be many because both teams are so young. The Lady Trojans also must stay out of foul trouble.

Scouting Report

Rebels Set To Avenge Earlier Loss As Blackcats Come Calling Tonight

Back on December 7, Allen Central traveled to Prestonsburg for an early conference game with the county rival Blackcats. The Blackcats defeated coach Johnny Martin's team 79-71 behind the balanced scoring of Jason Crisp, John Clark and Worthie McGuire. Crisp led the Blackcats with 16 points.

The Rebels will try and avenge that loss as the Blackcats make a return trip to Allen Central in game two tonight.

Both teams are in a rebuilding year. Prestonsburg has had its ups and downs this season—more downs than up. Coach Gordon Parido is still looking for the leadership this team needs. No one has really stepped forward to show they want to be that leader. While some players shine one night they fail to "show" up the next. While the Blackcats (2-9, 1-2) have been struggling, that doesn't mean the talent is not there. This is a talented team. It seems that attitudes of key players are not on the positive side. The Blackcats have been hampered with suspensions and, as Coach Parido put it earlier in the year, "we haven't had our first seven players together for a conference game as of yet," referring of course to suspended players.

Senior Worthie McGuire, who was looked to to show the leadership this team needs, has been somewhat reluctant to do so. McGuire has the capabilities to show that leadership. He is a fine basketball player with a good range from all spots on the floor.

Point guard John Clark, who did not start the Johnson Central game, needs to assert himself and he, along with McGuire, could be the leader this team needs before tournament time.

Aaron Tucker is playing good basketball right now. But Tucker also has been surrounded with adversity this year. Tucker is a key player on this year's Blackcat team. Perhaps the team's best leaper, Tucker can hit from three-point range and likes to drive the baselines.

The most steady performer to date for Prestonsburg has been Jason Crisp. Crisp scored 16 points against the Rebels in game one. Crisp is a smart basketball player, but sometimes, because of size, gets lost in the taller timber.

If this team ever comes together as they are capable of doing, they could be a very big factor in the district tournament come February.

Allen Central, a team that wasn't supposed to do a whole lot this year because of inexperience, has surprised a lot of people. Coach Johnny Martin has taken a team without a real big scorer and gone 10-7 so far on the year.

Perhaps the big reason for a successful season so far has been the addition of Chuck Laferty, a transfer student from Betsy Layne. Laferty is the team's leading scorer but he has some very good help in Ronnie Sammons and Brian Hall (who has missed several games because of illness). Hall just returned to the Rebels' lineup against Fleming-Neon and played sparingly, scoring four points. Hall had 15 points in the first meeting with Prestonsburg.

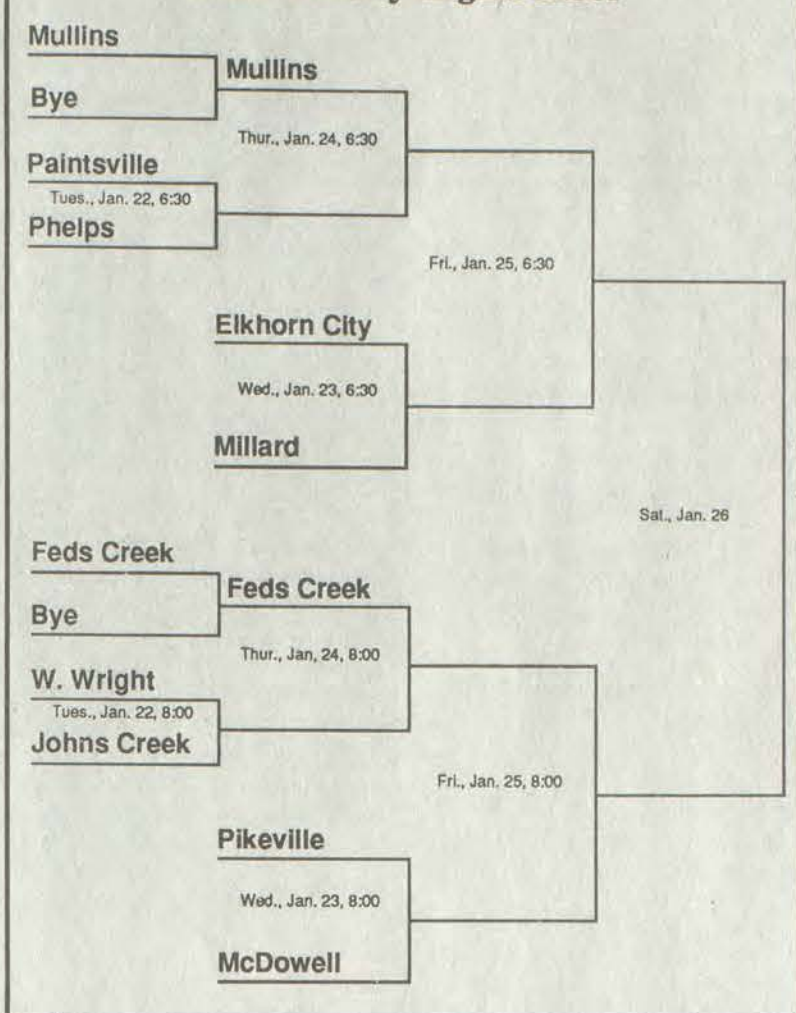

The emergence of junior Stewart Hall has been a big lift to this year's Rebel team. Hall has performed steadily for Allen Central and tossed in 27 points in the Rebels win over Neon. Mike Allen has steadily improved at the center spot, but hasn't played with a lot of consistency. Sammons has played his usual good game. Sammons plays hard and runs the team at the point guard position. He is averaging around 12 points per game.

Both teams like to run the ball, although Prestonsburg more so than Allen Central. Both teams like to shoot the treys and pressure the basketball on defense. Bench depth and strength has to go to Prestonsburg with James Derossett, Joe Whitt and Cory Reitz providing rest time for the starters. However, that doesn't mean the Rebels are without their troops on the pines. Larry Patton has come off the Rebels' bench to give Coach Martin some quality playing time. Tony Soler, who has been stating in the absence of Brian Hall, is a strong rebounder. He gets a lot of "garbage" baskets with his hustle.

Game time is scheduled for 8 p.m. with coverage over radio stations WXXZ, WMDJ and WQHY.

BUD LIGHT DAREDEVILS TO PERFORM AT MOREHEAD STATE UNIVERSITY

Morehead State University will present the "high flying dunks" of the Bud Light Daredevils Monday, January 21 at the Academic-Athletic Center.

During the event, sponsored by the Old South Distributing of Winchester, the Daredevils will appear briefly during the first half of the Morehead State and Middle Tennessee men's basketball game and will then perform an eight minute dunking routine at halftime.

Performing since the 1984-85 season as the Bud Light Daredevils, the group developed the idea of dunking a basketball with the aid of a mini trampoline which originated in 1979 with two members of the cheerleading squad at the University of Mississippi.

Over the past several years, the Daredevils have performed throughout the United States and in Europe, Japan and Australia.

Both reserve and general admission tickets for the evening's entertainment are available at the door. The MSU Lady Eagles will face Middle Tennessee's Lady Raiders at 5:15 p.m. while the men's game begins at 7:30 p.m.

Trojans Lose Composure Then Game 59-54 To McDowell

The games the McDowell Daredevils have been in lately, it is only fitting for them to finally win a close one. The Daredevils have been battling the hardwood with three games last week against three of the region's best teams. McDowell's last overtime game was against Sheldon Clark last Friday night which resulted in a 73-72 loss. Against Wheelwright Tuesday night, the Daredevils had to go to overtime again only the result was different, a 59-54 win over a rattled Wheelwright team.

"We just lost our composure in the fourth quarter and overtime," said Trojan mentor Monroe Jones. "The players just lost sight of the situation on the floor."

Jones was referring to a play in the final quarter when Wheelwright held a two point lead, 51-49, with just 22 seconds and with the ball. Steven Johnson took the ball up court in hurry and on the drive to the basket attempted to pass it off only to throw it into the hands of a Daredevil player. The coaching staff and fans thought Johnson should have backed the ball back out and milked the final 22 seconds off the clock or got to the foul line.

On the turnover, Wheelwright cut off the three-point shot for the Daredevils, who got back into the game on the shooting of Doug Hopkins. With time running out on McDowell, Stacy Hall forced his way in between two Trojan defenders and hit a "slop shot" to tie the game at 51-51 and send the contest into overtime.

Before the beginning of the overtime, someone tripped the fire alarm button, sending the alarms off. The alarms were soon shut off and overtime began with McDowell controlling the tip. The Daredevils turned the ball over without getting a shot off. Layne Bailey fired up a long one for Wheelwright that was long. On the rebound, Hopkins squared himself up and hit a three-pointer to give McDowell a 54-51 lead with 1:48 to go in overtime. Hopkins had three treys in the game.

Wheelwright lost the ball on a turnover and the Daredevils went to a stall nursing a three point lead. With 58 seconds remaining, Paul Hall fouled Stacy Hall who promptly converted both attempts into a 56-51 lead. Hall later returned to the charity stripe where he hit one of two shots to make it 57-51. With 22 seconds to go, Harold Johnson connected on a three-pointer to close to within three, 57-54.

Paul Hall fouled Barry Hall with 12 seconds remaining. Hall missed both free throws and Wheelwright claimed the rebound, needing a trey to tie the game. The McDowell coaching staff had already figured out the situation and instructed Britt Stumbo to foul the man with the ball to take away a three-point try in favor of two free throws. Stumbo fouled Layne Bailey. Bailey missed the first attempt. Figuring the only chance was to intentionally miss the second try hoping for rebound and a three-pointer with only four seconds to go. Bailey's second attempt missed everything and on a run out, Hopkins hit Stacy Hall with a wide out for the final score of 59-54.

"We went at it hard tonight," said Jones of his team's effort. "We gave 100 percent but just lost our composure."

McDowell held a 16-14 first quarter lead after coming out ready to play. The Daredevils went on top 12-4 on three pointers by Barry Hall and Dale Hinkle. Paul Hall hit a trey and followed with a basket to make it 12-

9. Two free throws by Shane McCoy cut the lead to one. Matt Johnson and Stacy Hall closed out the scoring for McDowell in the first.

Wheelwright held McDowell to five second quarter points while they were scoring 11 to take a 25-21 lead into the lockerroom at halftime. Hinkle's two baskets and a free throw by Barry Hall accounted for McDowell's points. Hinkle opened the quarter with a good move inside. Harold Johnson scored on an "old fashioned" three point play and Layne Bailey tossed in two to give Wheelwright their first lead at 19-18 with 4:30 to go.

Hinkle's second basket of the period put McDowell back out in front 20-19. Six unanswered points — two each by Harold Johnson, McCoy and Bailey — gave the Trojans the halftime lead.

Wheelwright led 36-30 with 2:17 left in the third quarter only to see the Daredevils close the gap to 36-34. Paul Hall's basket with one minute to go, made it 38-34. Stacy Hall hit a basket to make it 38-36 Trojans at the third stop.

With 2:46 remaining in the game, Wheelwright was in front 48-43. Hopkins hit two treys in a row to bring the Daredevils out to a 49-48 lead. Bailey hit a free throw to tie the game at 49-49. McCoy scored underneath to give Wheelwright a 51-49 lead with 1:14 to go, setting up Stacy Hall's heroics.

Stacy Hall led all scorers with 25 points. Hopkins finished with nine and Britt Stumbo had seven.

Harold Johnson led Wheelwright with 21 points and Paul Hall had 13. McCoy tossed in eight.

Wheelwright falls to 3-9 on the season and 0-2 in conference play. McDowell continues to lead the Floyd County Conference with a perfect 4-0 record and stands 7-8 overall.

Wheelwright will host Elkhorn City Friday night and McDowell will host the Millard Mustangs.

Battle For First As Lady Blackcats Face Allen Central Tonight

With the war in the Persian Gulf heating up, another battle will take place tonight as the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats (7-2, 1-1) will travel to the J. H. Allen Fieldhouse on the campus of Allen Central High School to face conference leader Allen Central (7-5, 2-0) in an important conference match up.

The two schools did not get to play each other in an earlier meeting scheduled on December 7. However, the boys teams did play. The game between the Lady Blackcats and Lady Rebels has been rescheduled for January 30.

Both teams are similar in several areas. Both are young teams that possess some very talented sophomores. Each team also has experienced senior leadership. Both teams can fire in the treys and each team likes the up tempo style of basketball.

What may well determine the winner of this game will be which team can take care of the basketball the best. Prestonsburg has been prone in turning the ball over a little more than Coach Bridget Clay would like. The Lady Cats had 26 such mistakes in their recent win over Johnson Central. Allen Central on the other hand has been rather cautious in their handling of the ball.

Fans may expect the battle to be underneath in the form of the two best centers in the district in Missy Bailey and Darnella Bradley. Both have been dominating forces underneath the basket. But this game will be more of an outside game than inside. Teresa Gibson's outside shooting could prove a little too much for the Lady Blackcats' defense. On the flip side, Allen Central must find a way to not only stop the three-point shooting of Amy Reed and Carolyn Reffitt, but the quickness of Kathy Slone. Slone, who is averaging over 20 points per game, is very quick on the base line, and can burn the defense if she gets that first step.

Allen Central is a very disciplined team. While Gibson may not possess the speed of Slone, she is a smart, heads up player. Her uncanny accuracy from three point range can be very damaging. Stacy "Mini" Moore is another who has deceiving accuracy from three point range.

At the point guard spot, if Edwinna Hale is unable to play (she missed the Johnson Central game due to an illness) the Lady Rebels press could be a determining factor. Central likes to pressure the basketball and shut down the passing lanes. An inexperienced player at the number one guard position for Prestonsburg could spell trouble.

Jenny Wiley will direct traffic for Allen Central. Wiley sees the court well and is a bona fide scorer from the outside. Wiley is quick and would just as soon pick up the assist as the basket.

If the bench comes into play, the edge will be nullified by the players each team has on the pines. Both benches are talented and do not weaken their team when they come in.

For Prestonsburg (and there are no such thing as starters on this team) no one knows who will be considered a substitute. Clay has always said who starts is not important. She has confidence in all of her players. Slone was on the bench at the start of the Johnson Central game as well as Stephanie Allen. Anyway, the Lady Blackcats have Carrie Merion and Stephanie Music who can come in and get the job done.

For Allen Central, one only has to point at any number of players and you will find a wealth of talent. Pam Webb comes to relieve Bradley at the center spot. Webb possesses a soft jumper and can hit from six to eight feet out. A strong rebounder also. Rhonda Leedy offers some quality minutes for Coach Bonita Compton's ball club. There's probably not a player in the region as fast as Jenny Yates. Yates is not only quick, but a good outside shooter.

Strong outside shooting, inside games, defense and strong benches make this game a toss up. But it is sure to be one of the best girls basketball games this year. Game time is 6:30 p.m. and if you can not make it the game will be carried by radio station WXXZ-FM, 105.5.

years. Kokie also enjoys working puzzles, but mom says that girls basketball is her favorite. While Kokie and dad remain loyal Dodger fans, mom and the rest of the family root for the Reds. "That was an exciting time for her when she got to see the Dodgers play," said her mother.

Kokie got involved in politics in the last county election by campaigning for Jim Hammonds. Kokie was made an honorary assistant County Attorney by Hammonds after his election to the office.

The little things that seem so insignificant to fans, are important to those whose responsibility it is to take care of the stats of a basketball team. Dingus takes her job and responsibility seriously and is good at what she does. Dingus is just another one of those behind the sports scene who goes unnoticed.

Lady Devils Bench Plays Big Part In 61-50 Win Over Wheelwright

Gearing up for the Kentucky Class A Girls Regional tournament next week at Elkhorn City, the McDowell Lady Daredevils got down to business at Wheelwright Tuesday night as they posted a 61-50 victory over Donnie Daniels' Lady Trojans. The Lady Trojans will also be playing in the regional tournament.

McDowell, which had lost previously to Pikeville, saw not only the starters perform well, but the bench came in and gave some quality minutes also. Nine players saw action for Cassandra Keathley's Lady Devils.

Lori Bryant tossed in 20 points in limited playing time. Kristi Pack added 10 points in a good outing. Jenny Slone had eight points. McDowell continued to get some good playing minutes out of sophomore Nikki Mullins, who continues to improve.

"Nikki has her attitude straightened out now," explained Keathley, "and she is wanting to play some basketball now. She will be a big help to us." Mullins had 11 points in the game with Pikeville.

McDowell jumped out to a very quick 13-2 lead, scoring nine straight points. Becky Allen — 27 points, six three-pointers — hit a three-pointer. Stephanie Little followed with a basket underneath and Allen hit a second trey to cut the lead to 13-10. McDowell then went on a 8-0 spurt for the first period lead. Bryant had eight points for McDowell in the period.

The Lady Devils led by 18 at the half, 32-14. The Lady Trojans could only score four points in the quarter and that on two baskets by Shena Collins. McDowell scored the first nine points of the period. Bryant hit a jumper, Christy Mullins had a free throw followed by a bucket by Carrie Newsome. Slone then took an offensive rebound and put it back in. Pack did the same and it was 30-10, McDowell. Collins hit an outside jumper and Newsome scored for McDowell. Collins hit what looked like a three-pointer but she was credited with only two to finish the second quarter scoring.

McDowell extended their lead to 28 points by outscoring the Lady Trojans 12-2 at the start of the third period. Then the "bomb" squad came out for Wheelwright. Shot by Allen — three! Allen again — three! Vicky Johnson from 20 feet — three! Johnson again — three! McDowell recovered from the blasts and was on top 52-30 going into the fourth quarter. Bryant had 10 points in the period.

Trailing 50-33 following a basket by Johnson — right, a three — McDowell got baskets by Jenny Slone off of an offensive rebound and a bucket by Stacy Shepherd, who hit a nice jumper off the left side.

Wheelwright ran off nine unanswered points to climb back to within 14, 56-42. Allen hit a trey, scored on a three-point play and hit a normal basket. Collins' free throw capped off the rally.

However, the Lady Trojans could get no closer than the final margin.

Allen took game scoring honors with her 27 points. She was perfect at the line going three-for-three. Vicky Johnson with her three treys finished with nine points. Johnson was 0-4 from the charity stripe. Both Little and Collins finished with six each.

Shelby Howell made her return to the Lady Devils team and scored four points. Howell has been out with an ankle injury. Debbie Fannin had a three-pointer for McDowell.

McDowell was two for eight at the free throw line. Wheelwright was 10 of 13.

McDowell improves to 5-7 overall and evens their record at 2-2 in the conference. Wheelwright suffered their second conference loss against no conference victories. The Lady Trojans are 2-5 overall.
