Downtown project on city's drawing board :

New civic center to be home for Opry

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Billie Jean Osborne had a dream and the reality was the Kentucky Opry.

Prestonsburg city councilman Jerry Fannin had a dream, and the reality will be a permanent home for the Opry.

Fannin's idea resulted from an on-going effort to find a base of operations for the Kentucky Opry, a music education and tourism development project spearheaded by Osborne.

Fannin's proposal, which he said came to him in a dream, is a reincarnation of a shelved revitalization project—a proposal to build a multi-level parking garage downtown—that, with a few alterations, will eventually become a Prestonsburg Civic Center and home to the Kentucky Opry.

As outlined in a Tuesday press conference, the city civic center will be developed on what is now the Prestonsburg municipal parking lot in the heart of the downtown area. Preliminary plans call for the construction of a four-story facility which will house an auditorium, music studios and offices for use by the Opry, an Appalachian museum, and a gift shop that will help finance Opry programs. The civic center will also devote lower areas to parking.

Prestonsburg city council members unanimously endorsed the civic center project in a special meeting Monday, and preliminary plans were discussed Tuesday in a press conference that was highlighted by a telephone call from country music star Dwight Yoakam, a Floyd County native.

Yoakam, a member of the Kentucky Opry board of directors, has lent his name to the project for promotion, and his first platinum album with the hit song "Guitars and Cadillac" was donated to Billie Jean Osborne. The album will be one of the first items placed in the new civic center's museum.

Yoakam also said Tuesday that he will perform in a benefit concert in Lexington's Rupp Arena, with proceeds from the show to go to help develop the Kentucky Opry. No date was announced for that show.

The Betsy Layne native said Tuesday he was "compelled to become involved (in the Opry's development) because of (Osborne's) enthusiasm and a sense of obligation that comes from having been from (Floyd County)."

"I'm completely committed to the project," Yoakam added. "I think it's something we can call on other entertainers from the area to support."

The civic center project will move from the discussion stage to the drawing board Friday when city officials and promoters gather to "actually start discussing the physical aspects of the building," Mayor Ann Latta said. She added that Prestonsburg architect Randy Burchett had been employed to help develop plans. Burchett estimated the project would cost between $2.7 million and $4 million to complete, depending on its scope.

Roger Recktenwald, director of the Big Sandy Area Development District, explained Tuesday that financing for the project would be developed in a package that included application for a state Community Development Block Grant (CDBG).

March 25 hearing set :

State asks Allen to fix system

by Tim B. Preston
Staff Writer

A March 25 hearing date has been set in Franklin Circuit Court to determine the future of the Allen wastewater system. The hearing comes after a motion for injunctive relief filed by the Commonwealth of Kentucky Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet which alleges that the city's wastewater treatment facility has been releasing raw and inadequately treated sewage into Beaver Creek and the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River.

Allen city officials said Tuesday that an engineering firm had been hired to deal with problems with the sewage system, but that the firm had not been in contact with the city for over one year. Members of the Allen City Council voted Monday night to draft a letter informing Parrot, Ely and Hurt Engineering of Lexington that services by that firm are no longer desired by the city.

"We're going to start again," said Allen City Clerk Bill Parsons. "As far as the court hearing goes, we don't know what is going to happen with that."

Parsons said that Allen Mayor Vern "Buck" Porter has been subpoenaed for the March 25 hearing.

Mayor Porter, however, said that he was unable to make a trip to Frankfort on the appointed date and added, "That (problems with the city's sewer system) isn't my fault. That was other people and I don't hardly know anything about it."

The Allen sewage collection system was originally installed during the 1930s under the Water Pollution Abatement Act. A wastewater treatment (See Allen, page two)

Kentucky Opry founder Billie Jean Osborne (center, on telephone) spoke to country music star Dwight Yoakam during a Tuesday press conference at the Prestonsburg Municipal Building. City officials announced that a four story building containing an auditorium and recording studios would be built at the current location of the Prestonsburg Municipal parking lot. Opry officials also used the press conference to officially announce the endorsement of Dwight Yoakam in future Kentucky Opry literature and promotional material. (photo by Tim Preston)

Triple B wants school contract cancelled :

Left Beaver contractor sues for non-payment

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A contractor on the Left Beaver High School project claims in a lawsuit filed Friday that he has not been paid for work his company has performed, while alleging a second company has been paid for work it didn't do.

Triple B Corporation, contracted to conduct site preparation at Left Beaver, names the Floyd County Board of Education and D.F.M., Inc., doing business as B&J Construction, in the complaint, which seeks $342,334 in damages.

The suit contends that the board of education has "ignored" Triple B's requests for payment for fulfilling its contractual obligation; paid B&J Construction for work Triple B performed; provided "erroneous and inaccurate" engineering documents; that B&J failed to provide security at the site; and the board failed to obtain the necessary permits to dispose of fill material taken from the site.

The lawsuit claims the board of education owes the company $82,367.50 for site preparation work and that the board has denied claims for payment. The suit also lists $33,776.32 in additional costs for fuel and explosives, claiming they were incurred due to project delays caused by the board.

Triple B alleges that B&J Construction was paid for distribution of gravel delivered to the site, but that Triple B actually spread the gravel. A $4,310.18 claim for gravel distribution was listed by Triple B in the School construction manager says :

Projects are 'by the book'

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A spokeswoman for Martin Engineering and Construction said Friday that her company welcomed a state review of school construction projects and she criticized media accounts of the probe as "unjust."

Elizabeth Rowe, whose company serves as construction manager for several Eastern Kentucky school building projects, including four in Floyd County, said Friday that she thought a review of those projects by a team of state auditors "will benefit all."

"After we see the review from the state auditors, we may all be enlightened," Mrs. Rowe said. "Maybe we'll have some answers, maybe we'll have some conclusions. I don't know what to expect. In my opinion, I think the review has gone very well."

Nine auditors from the office of State Auditor Bob Babbage visited Floyd and Pike counties last week to review school construction projects financed through the state School Facilities Construction Commission. Mrs. Rowe said the team visited Martin Engineering offices and that her company had been happy to cooperate.

Mrs. Rowe criticized newspaper accounts of the probe, suggesting those accounts amounted to "negativism" and offered inaccurate information. She mentioned specifically an article in the Floyd County Times, which indicated that bid documents on file in school administration offices relating to the Duff Elementary project were incomplete.

That article noted that MVP Enterprises had received a painting contract at Duff, but school files showed Reynolds Painting as low bidder.

Alan Stumbo, a Martin Engineering employee, explained Friday that the painting contract at Duff had been rebid in 1990 after Reynolds Painting did not respond to requests seeking his interest in the job. Stumbo said more than a year had passed since the initial bid was accepted, and those bids expired after 60 days.

Four companies entered offers on the painting contract when it was rebid, Stumbo said, and MVP Enterprises was the low bidder. Mrs. Rowe said documentation of the rebidding was on file at Martin Engineering offices and copies were sent to the school administration offices. She said her company had "no control" over what the school board does with

Nursing home seeks expansion approval

Operators of Prestonsburg's Riverview Manor Nursing Home won't know until May if their effort to add 60 beds at the local facility will be successful.

Riverview Manor's request to expand was reviewed Tuesday in Frankfort at a hearing before the state Certificate of Need Authority. A decision on the proposal won't likely come before May 17, company president H.D. "Buddy" Fitzpatrick said Monday.

If approved, the expansion proposal will add 60 certified nursing facility beds to Riverview Manor's existing 121-bed facility.

A separate hearing will be held next week on the company's proposal to build an 80-bed nursing facility in Paintsville.

Wayland council lays down the law :

No city sticker, no car

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

When March 6 rolls around and you work or live in Wayland, you could find yourself without a car and paying $5 extra to get a car sticker.

Wayland City Council members voted Monday night to begin impounding cars or writing citations to automobile owners who do not buy and display their car stickers.

Wayland has an ordinance on its books which requires all residents and persons working in Wayland to purchase a $10 automobile sticker for each car they own. That sticker has to be displayed on the windshield of each vehicle or owners could be cited by the city police or have their vehicle impounded.

"What can we do to them (residents) if they don't buy one?" asked councilman Tommy Robinson.

"Put the pressure on them," said councilman Robert Stewart.

"That's right," said Mayor Hobert Webb. "If they don't buy a sticker we'll have to start impounding their cars. And, if they don't buy a sticker by March 6, it's going to cost them $15 instead of $10."

"And that includes all their cars," the mayor continued. "Even the old junkers they have. Either it'll be towed in or they'll pay for it. It's time we put our foot down."

City policeman Danny Francis said

Icy aftermath

A two-car collision Tuesday morning sent three people to the hospital and caused long traffic delays on Rt. 23 near Prestonsburg. An icy section of the roadway is the apparent cause for the accident which is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police. (photo by Susan Allen)

The Time Has Come !

This is it. The night of nights. The week of weeks. The time of times.

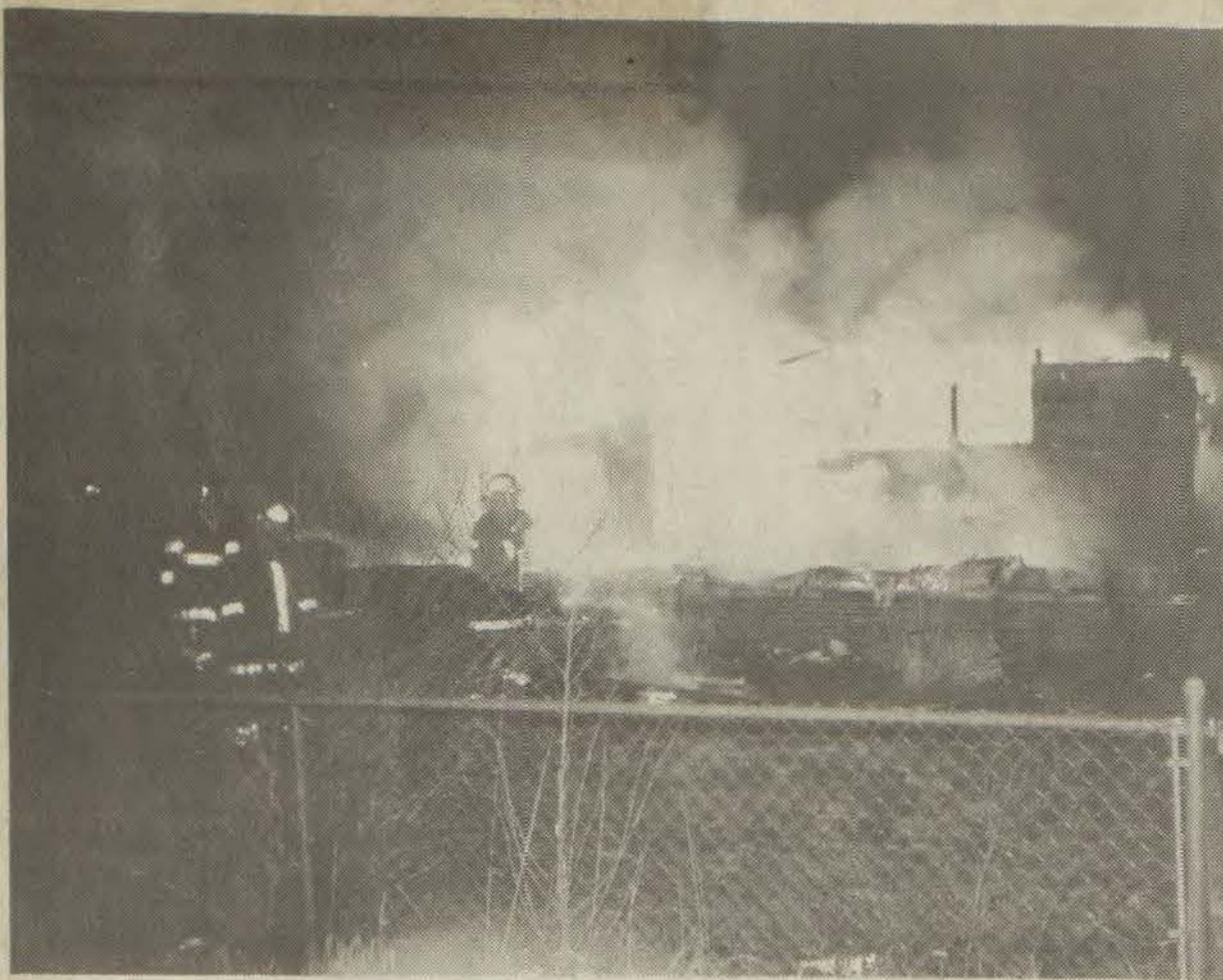

The moment you've all been waiting for.

The last five clues in the Times' Scavenger Hunt appear in today's, Wednesday's edition, and the final five answers are coming Friday. After that, game players will have until 4 p.m. Monday, March 18, to get their completed entry forms to our office. Send them by mail, by plane, by boat or by camel, but get them here by 4 p.m. Monday, March 18 to be eligible for the $500 cash prize.

Enter as many times as you like. In case of a tie, a drawing will be held to determine the winner. The decision of the judge is final.

The Eastern home of Jackie Crum was destroyed by fire late Sunday evening in spite of efforts by Maytown and Garrett volunteer firefighters. Maytown fire chief Darrell Bradley said Tuesday that the cause of the fire is unknown at this time and is currently under investigation by members of the Kentucky State Police. Kentucky School Board elects officers

Barth Pemberton, chairman of the Fayette County Board of Education, was elected president of the Kentucky School Boards Association at the KSBA Annual Conference February 17 in Louisville. Margie Bradford, a member of the Bardstown Board of Education and chairman of the KSBA Legislative Committee, was elected vice-president. They will each serve a one-year term. Pemberton has served as vice-president for two years and is chairman of the Large District Forum Steering Committee of the National School Boards Association. He has served on the Fayette school board for 13 years and as chairman for 10 years. In February, he spoke on Kentucky's education reform at the NSBA Leadership Conference in Washington, attended by officers from state school boards associations from across the country.

His two daughters are graduates of Fayette County Schools and his son is a sixth grader in the system. Mrs. Bradford has been a member of the Bardstown Board of Education since 1979. She has six children who are all graduates of Bardstown schools. She has served as chairman of the KSBA Standing Legislative Committee since 1987 and on the KSBA Board of Directors since 1985. She has been a member of the KSBA Legislative Network and Federal Relations Network. Ms. Bradford serves on the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission planning Kentucky's 200th year in 1992. She is on the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Democratic Women's Club. She serves on the board of the Nelson County Court Appointed Special Advocates (CASA) which serves children involved in court cases.

She has served on several state-wide task forces developing curriculum for kindergarten and early childhood education. From 1977-78, she served on the Governor's Task Force on Education. She is currently serving on the Byrd Scholarship Committee for Kentucky which provides federal funds for academic merit scholarships. During its annual conference, the association also appointed five local school board members to serve as directors-at-large on the 27-member Board of Directors. These are Regald Smith, Pikeville Board of Education; Anna Dean Hammond, Caldwell County; John Smith, Henry County; Robert Bennett, Lyon County and James Carroll, Paintsville.

suit. The suit said the gravel distribution was necessary for work to proceed at the site. The suit also alleges Triple B lost almost $1,000 worth of equipment due to theft and because B&J Construction failed to provide security at the site. The suit also alleges Triple B incurred an additional $15,000 in engineering costs because the board furnished "erroneous and inaccurate" engineering drawings of the site. The suit claimed additional engineering work was required in order to develop accurate site plans from which to work. Triple B also seeks payment of one dollar per yard for 205,914 yards of material removed during site excavation. The suit asks that the contract between Triple B Corporation and the board of education be declared canceled and held for naught, due to the alleged breaches and violations by the board of education. The suit was filed by Prestonsburg attorney Phillip Damron on behalf of Triple B. William Francis, attorney to the board of education, said Tuesday he had not seen the lawsuit and offered no comment. Francis said that lawsuits are normally sent to the Kentucky School Board Association which makes a determination what legal firm would represent the board of education. Francis said if the case is assigned to another firm, he would act as co-counsel in the suit. D.F.M. representative Lois May said Monday her company would not be involved in the lawsuit because D.F.M.'s only association with B&J Construction is that the company agreed to co-sign a performance bond. Bond documents show that D.F.M. Inc. signed a joint venture agreement with B&J Construction on December 1, 1989. Calls to B&J president Tom Ed Music were not returned. Calls to Floyd County schools superintendent Ron Hager were not returned.

ment facility has never been installed or added to the collection system. The city of Allen entered into an agreed order to install a wastewater treatment facility with the state's division of water in 1986, but could not secure grants to fund the project. City clerk Bill Parsons said that Allen residents would see little or no changes if the court rules against the city. "There really won't be much to change," said Parsons. "We passed an ordinance years ago that keeps anybody new from hooking into the system. Really, we don't have any room for any new business or anything so it wouldn't affect anybody on that. They (the court) would probably enact a fine for each day that we are found in violation, but it wouldn't shut down the system we have now."

he would start checking vehicles in the city to see if stickers are being displayed. Francis stressed that the sticker must be displayed at all times in the left corner of the windshield. After discussing the issue, the council agreed church-owned vehicles and the senior citizens' van would be exempt from the ordinance. City clerk Carol Stapleton informed the council that 42 stickers have been sold so far this year compared to 104 last year. Stapleton said the ordinance also applied to anyone who worked and parked their vehicle inside the city limits. The town hall office will be open Wednesday from 9-11 a.m. for residents to purchase their vehicle stickers.

Other problems discussed by the Wayland Council Monday included a hole in an underground pipe on the city's back street and getting Steele's Creek cleaned out by the Army Corp of Engineers. Councilman Robinson said if the town purchased a 20-foot section of 24-inch corrugated pipe to replace the damaged one on the back street, Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens would install the pipe at no cost to the city. The council voted to purchase the pipe this week and have Owens install it as soon as possible. Concerning Steele's Creek, Mayor Webb told the council that U.S. Congressman Chris Perkins' office had called him regarding cleaning out the creek. Webb said Perkins told him it should be no problem to clean the stream. Webb also said he had talked with Paul Roffman with the state's Division of Abandoned Mine Lands (AML) about installing gabion baskets along the creek bank to keep the banks from sliding into the creek. Webb said Perkins and Roffman are currently working together on the project. The AML department is currently performing a major reclamation project at 28 Hollow in Wayland to put out old abandoned mine fires that have plagued the city for years. The council also:
• Approved the purchase of liability insurance for the town at a cost of $13,375 per year.
• Discussed the police chief answering calls outside the city limits.

The council recommended Francis not do that unless asked by the Kentucky State Police or the Floyd County Sheriff's department.
• Agreed to gather estimates for the purchase of a new police cruiser.
• Agreed to determine if a street light could be turned around at the upper end of Wayland to provide better lighting for that section of town.
• Agreed to enforce the town's ordinance pertaining to residents keeping their property cleaned. Councilman Gene Mullins, who broke a leg in an accident last week, did not attend the meeting, Mayor Webb said. The council's next scheduled meeting will be Monday, April 1 at 7 p.m.

their files. Stumbo and Mrs. Rowe also addressed a newspaper account dealing with one-bid contracts on the Left Beaver High School project, explaining that contract amounts listed in that article included bids for separate phases of construction. Mrs. Rowe said that it was not unusual to have a number of one-bid contracts on a construction project, adding that it would be up to the local board to determine if costs were competitive. She added that her company had done a cost analysis of building projects, noting that the school system had realized a "cost savings" by utilizing a construction management approach to building. "We're here to do a job and I feel if we haven't done our job, surely the (school) board or the state would have told us," Mrs. Rowe said Friday. "We have received not one complaint on our work. We work by the book."

10 TIPS FOR READING WITH YOUR CHILDREN

The joy of sharing time with your child is just one of the benefits that come from regular reading sessions. For instance, children who read with their parents usually do better in school. The tips that follow will help make reading together more rewarding for you and your child.

- Try to read a book or story to your child every day.
- Sit close together when you read to really "share" the book.
- Point out the words as you read them, and have your child point too.
- Have your child turn the pages for you.
- Discuss the story as you go along and answer any questions.
- If your child gets restless, choose another story, or postpone the reading until later.
- Take your child to the library or a bookstore and together pick out books to read.

When your child brings you a book, read it to-gether as soon as possible.

- Let your child play with books, and always have them around.
- Set a good example by letting your child see you read often.

If you find your own reading skills need help, don't let it stop you. Literacy Volunteers of America provides free and confidential personal tutoring to make it easy for you—and your child—to learn to read together.

Central Kentucky Home and Garden show begins today at Rupp Arena

Today, Wednesday, March 6, the Central Kentucky Home & Garden Show will open in Lexington for its sixteenth year. What began as a small trade show in 1975, has blossomed into an entertainment extravaganza with over 300 exhibitors showcasing products and services to enliven not only the home and garden, but also lifestyles.

When asked how he continues to make the show bigger and better each year, organizer Mike Claypool remarked, "Each year we try to offer more variety and greater attractions. This year it was difficult to put together an attraction to top the log home built inside Rupp Arena for last year's show."

What will the Home & Garden Show do for an encore?

Once again, a Jim Barna Log Home will be entirely built, detailed and decorated inside Rupp Arena. Then, this Log Home will be given away!

It's true! Thanks to the promotional efforts of Jim Barna Log Homes, Carrsun Management Group, MAC Productions, Pepsi-Cola, and K-93 Radio, one lucky winner will actually become the owner of this brand new Log Home. After the show, the Log Home will be razed and reconstructed in Woodlawn Estates on Herrington Lake, ready for the final giveaway on April 27.

In addition to the Log Home Give-away, Columbia Gas will award more than $3500 in home appliances and Northside RV will send someone on a 5-day RV excursion; with proceeds benefiting Kentucky Special Olympics.

At the Central Kentucky Home & Garden Show, everyone is a winner with the expert advice, demonstrations, and displays — including the 5000 square foot fragrant, floral landscaping garden.

Set aside some time while you're at the show to see William Verdult's artist rendering of the fabulous King Tut Collection. You'll be amazed at the brilliance and detail in every gem of the 60 million dollar exhibit. The King Tut Collection is just another example of the educational opportunities available at the Home & Garden Show.

Plan to attend the event Wednesday through Friday, March 6-8 from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m. or Saturday, March 9, noon until 11 p.m. and Sunday, March 10, noon until 7 p.m. Admission is $4 at the ticket window, free for children ages 14 and under. Senior Citizens may attend the show at the special rate of $2 available on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Visit the show — you'll see what your home could be!

For additional information about the 16th Annual Central Kentucky Home & Garden Show, contact Sally Schmaedecke at (606) 231-0496, ext.125.

Early morning collision injures three

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Icy roads early Tuesday morning were blamed for a head-on collision Tuesday on U.S. 23 near the Prestonsburg National Guard Armory that sent three people to the hospital with serious injuries. In a separate incident at the same location another man's vehicle slid over an embankment.

Patrick Gallivan, 51, a pharmacist at Highlands Regional Medical Center was transported to U.K. Medical Center in "very serious condition," said Kathy Rubado, public relations director for Highlands hospital. Janie Bentley, 21, of Auxier was transported to Cabell Huntington Hospital and Forrest Bentley, 23, also of Auxier, was admitted at Highlands in stable condition, Rubado said.

A U.K. spokesman did not know Gallivan's condition Tuesday evening and a Cabell Huntington spokesman did not know Bentley's condition.

The accident happened at approximately 7 a.m. after the two cars apparently hit a patch of ice on the roadway and collided. Further details of the accident were not available. The mishap is under investigation by Kentucky State Police trooper Danny Jarrell.

In a separate accident at virtually the same location and same time, a truck driven by Ken Gullett of Paintsville spun over an embankment and came to rest in a pile of brush and used truck tires near the banks of the Big Sandy River.

Gullett said he lost control of his vehicle after it slid on the icy highway and skidded over the embankment. Gullett was not injured in the mishap.

State road crews arrived at the scene after the two-car accident and put road salt on the road to deter further accidents.

Thanks for the memories

by Scott Perry

Pass the salt, please. Time for a plate of crow.

Four years ago we were among the skeptics, the Doubting Thomases who were convinced that Paintsville's John Pelphrey made the wrong choice when he signed to play basketball for the University of Kentucky.

Oh, we knew John could play college basketball, but we believed he would become just another token Eastern Kentuckian on a Wildcat squad brimming with high school All Americans.

We got the first hint of how wrong we were during Pelphrey's first year at U.K.

As a redshirt freshman, Pelphrey didn't don the blue and white uniform for a single game, he didn't score a single point, didn't dish off a single assist and he didn't pull down a single rebound. Yet rarely was there a newspaper account of a U.K. game that didn't include a quote from him.

The next season he played sparingly—at point guard of all places—and he witnessed the worst season ever for U.K., not necessarily from the won-loss perspective, but from the NCAA investigation that blackened college basketball's winningest program.

The All-Americans deserted like rats from a sinking ship. John Pelphrey stayed at the helm.

Saturday evening, from our vantage point high above Rupp Arena's hallowed floor, we watched the Wildcats annihilate Auburn to claim the best record in the SEC and clinch a regular season championship that the SEC has the gall to say they can't have.

Afterward, during an awards ceremony conducted before 23,000 adoring fans, we had more than a little trouble choking back tears of pride as John Pelphrey stepped forward to claim his honor as co-Most Valuable Player for the 1990-91 Wildcat season.

Pelphrey and departing U.K. senior Reggie Hanson were named All-SEC team members Monday, no small accomplishment when you consider that team selection comes from the votes of league coaches.

This Wildcat team won't be national champions, they won't even be SEC champions in the record books. But for U.K. fans, Pitino's Bombinos may well be the most precious jewels in a vault of rich basketball traditions.

Much of the credit for keeping the tradition alive in the face of so much adversity goes to a red-headed kid from Eastern Kentucky who beat the odds and humbled the critics, ourselves included. Pelphrey is nothing less than an inspiration, proof that it doesn't take Michael Jordan skills to succeed, to excel on the top level of college athletics. No doubt Pelphrey's success on the court and in the classroom will serve as a model and encouragement for many a mountain youngster who dreams of someday making college basketball's big show.

Dreams come true, you know. Ask John Pelphrey.

Next year the Cats and John Pelphrey get to go for the brass ring for real. We hope they make it all the way. Whether they do or they don't, nothing can dilute what John Pelphrey and company accomplished during the 1990-91 basketball season. Not even an asterisk in league record books.

At senior night next year, there'll be few dry eyes among Wildcat fans when U.K. bids farewell to John Pelphrey, Deron Feldhaus, Ritchie Farmer and Sean Woods—the core of the team that preserved the house that Rupp built and assured Pitino's remodeling project a solid foundation.

Thanks for the memories.

And thanks for proving us wrong.

Letters

Editor:

For several months now we have been barraged by letters and statements regarding the building of the new Prestonsburg High School. We have heard from both sides, each accusing the other of wrong and some folks getting down right nasty with each other.

What we need is some common sense and taking a look at the bottom line. First, let me say that I don't live in district one. I don't know Doc Adams or Eddie Billips and have no political ties to anyone in the school board. What I do have is good knowledge of schools having been a substitute teacher in Florida. I have two kids of school age in Floyd County now and, being a taxpayer and concerned parent, it bothers me to see so much infighting when these parents should be out fighting for the best schools and education possible for their children!

I don't think anyone would say that Prestonsburg is not due a newer, better facility but honest questions remain about priorities and the extreme cost. Aren't Betsy Layne and Auxier elementary older and more dilapidated than Prestonsburg High? It would seem that they deserve new facilities first. But of course, these two areas don't have the high degree of fatcats and politico's Prestonsburg does so they must wait until later.

Also, if the land purchased for the new high school was appraised at $55,000 not long ago, how did it become worth $400,000 in a falling real estate market? I bought my home three years ago for $58,000 and would love to get the $49,000 I owe to the bank for it right now. I've seen the land and it's not a prime industrial site, worth about $100,000 in my opinion. So that makes $300,000 the school board spent that could have gone to and fine arts programs, computers, math and science labs and other things that schools across the county so desperately need.

I don't begrudge anyone a new school and the finest facilities available for I, as much as anyone, believe that kids everywhere in East Kentucky deserve and must be afforded a quality education second to none so they can compete for jobs in the next century. The best way for East Ky. to progress and grow is with a well-schooled and well-trained work force.

It's time that honesty, and common sense, rather than politics and bickering, take charge so the children won't continue to be cheated. Our teachers are good, dedicated and do wonders with nothing. Let's give them something to work with instead of wasting money and time. A little sensibility and efficiency go a long way.

I would like to know why little school kids have to sit in the floor and eat. When they have a party they sit out in the halls on the floor, eating like little dogs. Our kids don't eat on the floor at home, so why should they have to at school. Just think of the germs that they are getting by eating off the floor.

At Valentine's Day, students had a pizza party, but they had it out in the hallways of the school — and on the floors. Here we are paying double taxes and our kids are made to eat on the floors! If the rooms are too good for our kids, I know there is a lunchroom for them — or is it too good to eat in also.

Kids take money to school for their snacks and are made to eat it out in the hallways on the floor.

I had seven kids to go to Prestonsburg Elementary School and never had one to eat off the floor. Now, I have four grandchildren in Prestonsburg Elementary School and all four are made to eat on the floors. I think it's time to stop this kind of garbage that is going on at Prestonsburg Elementary School.

The kids are not dogs! The rooms are carpeted, but the taxpayers are paying for it. At home the kids know what to do. They are not dogs and they shouldn't be treated like one at school.

I would like to take this opportunity to share information with parents of mentally handicapped children. If you have a child that attends the Auxier Greenhouse program and your child has joined the Adult Rehabilitation Program, you should be aware of the hazards involved. Your child could be influenced and persuaded to go somewhere else to live with other families that receive several hundred dollars a month to care for your child. The point being that you will have little or no say in the matter.

Our daughter is 34 years old but has the capabilities of an 11 or 12-year-old. In our opinion she is not capable of making adult decisions.

This is what happened to us. On Monday, January 25, our daughter was to return from the greenhouse at 3:30 p.m.; but instead, one of the high ranking officials in the ADH program brought our daughter home early. Being that we had business in Prestonsburg, we did not return home until 3:45 p.m. Since we were away from home, this lady proceeded to remove our daughter's personal belongings from our home without our knowledge. She was gone when we returned, but our daughter was home.

Our daughter did not mention that she was brought home by one of the workers instead of the usual transportation. We did not realize that anything was different, and so our daughter returned to the Greenhouse Tuesday, January 26.

On this day around 10 a.m., we received a phone call from the ADH program informing us that they were taking our daughter and keeping her and that there wasn't anything we could do about it. We have tried to file papers against this woman, but because she is an ADH worker through the state, we can not seem to be able to do anything.

It seems that this ADH program has more control over our daughter's life than her parents. We love our daughter very much and want everyone to know that she has a good home and is treated very well with no kind of abuse — mentally, physically or sexually. Why these people want to destroy a family of three — mother, father, and child — we do not understand. It was our understanding that we were legal guardians over our daughter, but it seems if you do not file papers for guardianship, then you are not a legal guardian, even if you're the child's parents.

If anyone has children in any of these programs, please beware. There is a possibility that you could lose your child.

I am seeking information on a former member of Company "A", 327th Eng. (C) Bn, 102nd Infantry Division during World War II. His name is Ben Saunders.

His last known address was Prestonsburg and his previous address, listed in Division records, was Lackey, but mail sent to Lackey has been returned.

After the war, he may have been with the F.F.A., Future Farmers of America, in some capacity.

Because I am in touch with many former members of our outfit, many have asked if I have located him. I hope someone in Floyd County can help me locate Ben Saunders.

I would like to comment on the game played by Fedcsreek High School, and Belfry High School. Bad calls ruined the showdown of these great teams. We will never know for sure, who really is the best team.

Top seed for the 60th district was ruined by horrible officiating. To make matters worse our own KHSAA Assigning Secretary, was present. I have many questions to ask, such as, why there was no radio coverage?

Had there been coverage, the people of Pike county would have known why the fans had been angered. They could have called this game. You really had to be there to see for yourself. News Express sports writer, Mr. Bentley was there he went to the scorers' table several times to ask questions. But what was written in the paper was not what really happened at this game.

To my own way of thinking, you write what is true as you see it. I called Rick Bentley on Monday to ask why he did not write the truth about what really happened. He told me he would rather write about the players than the officials of the game. Is this fair to the kids who play these games and are cheated by referees that don't call games the way they should. I am sure there are other people out there who know how this works. Come on, Mr. Bentley. Start telling it like it really is. The game that was played on February 12 was so poorly called, it was obvious to all that was there.

I have a few questions that I would like some answers to:

Why do the officials that are already scheduled for games get switched to other locations? The officials that were scheduled for the February 18 game were changed.

Why would fans have a problem with referees if there was no reason?

Why would some of Belfry's own people state that the referees did not know what they were doing?

Why did Mr. Dotson have to tell the officials to file a report on the incident?

Why did the officials go to Belfry's coach when they could not get out of the gym?

If you have been to Fedcsreek gym, you know how congested it is to get out directly after a game.

Mr. Dotson also stated that there needs to be protection for our people. If the games are called fairly, there would be no need for protection. We are talking about children who play for competition, not for money and a living.

I would really like to know the answers to these questions. I am sure that other teams and coaches in the county have some questions, also. How can the outcome of a game be pre-ordained before it is played? That happens all over the county in crucial games.

There are a lot of good teams in the county, some better than others, but they all would be more competitive in a properly officiated game.

These kids work so hard to get to the top, and give 110 percent of themselves to be cheated by two adults. Coaches, parents and fans you can change this situation by writing letters to the Kentucky High School Athlete Assn. at 560 East Cooper Dr., Lexington, Ky. 40544. Mark your letters: Attn. Mr. Tom Mills or Mr. Bill Wise. Do it today. Give all our kids a fair and honest game of competition.

We have some fine officials in Pike County but we also have some of the best money can buy.

I am writing in response to the Prestonsburg High School Honor Roll published in the Floyd County Times March 1. The honor roll is divided into two categories, "All A's" and "All B's." This is very misleading.

My daughter received six A's, but one was an A-, and therefore she was placed on the "All B's" honor roll. How can this be? An A- is not a B. Why are students placed on the "All B's" honor roll if they did not have any B's? I was told by the school that this was the policy of the Board of Education. Apparently, if you have one A-, you are placed on the "All B's" Honor Roll, and therefore considered to have "All B's." Students that have a "C" can be placed on the "All B's" honor roll if they have an "A" to bring the "C" up to a "B" average. This entitles them to be on the "All B's" Honor Roll, even though they did not have "All B's." I feel this is unfair and discriminatory. These students work hard to earn good grades and achieve their goals, despite numerous extracurricular activities they are involved in, and it is very discouraging for an all "A" student to find their name published in the newspaper for making "All B's" when they actually had "All A's." These students deserve the correct recognition for the grades they receive. This policy needs to be reviewed by the Board of Education and changed immediately. A corrected Honor Roll should be prepared and published. I have discussed this with other parents whose children are in this situation. I am requesting parents whose children are in this situation to please contact the school, the Board of Education and the Board members.

Editor,

I would like to address this to all of the people who have shown their support for the local troops over here in Saudi Arabia.

Today, I received articles cut from the Floyd County Times showing the rally held in support of the troops over here. Every Marine I work with read each article carefully.

I want all of you to know your rally not only reached the troops from the Floyd County area but also troops from across the United States.

As far as the one lone protester at your rally, we here with the 1st Battalion, 6th Marines S-3 have a message we would like to send to him. It is not a message of hate, but a quote that we feel is appropriate for the situation:

"We may not believe in what you say, but we would fight to the death for your right to say it."

To the woman that confronted the protester, we would like to say thank you for standing up for us.

To all of the people involved in the rally, we say thank you and God bless each and every one of you.

Taxing situation

Tax preparation for Job Corps students

Getting started as a tax paying citizen is never easy, but thanks to the teamwork of a corporation and a non-profit organization, that process will be less taxing for up to 40,000 Job Corps students across the country, including those who attend the Job Corps Center here.

H & R Block, the Kansas City-based tax preparation giant, and Joint Action in Community Service (JACS), a nationwide volunteer program, have joined forces to see that certificates for free tax preparation are distributed to completers of the Department of Labor's Job Corps program. The certificates allow the former students to have their tax return prepared free of charge the first year after they leave Job Corps.

Peter Rell, national director of Job Corps, Harvey Wise, executive vice president of JACS, and Thomas Bloch, president and chief executive officer of H & R Block, met in Kansas City recently to formally kick off the expansion. Joining the officials were two students from the Excelsior Springs Job Corps Center who represented all Job Corps students who will benefit the program.

The program was begun in 1988 with a pilot project involving the three Job Corps centers in Missouri. Block officials agreed to expand the program in 1991 to cover virtually the entire United States and provided 40,000 certificates, letters and envelopes to JACS for distribution to former students. "We have appreciated very much Block's support of these young people," said John Wight, director of JACS in the region where the program was piloted. "The certificates have been very well received. We have had former students calling to ask if they can get a replacement for a lost certificate and, if there is any delay in getting the certificates out, Job Corps center personnel call our office to see if they will be receiving them again. We think this is a great way to assist the young people in starting out in the world of work after their Job Corps training experience."

JACS has been assisting former Job Corps students for nearly 25 years. The organization was begun in 1967 to provide localized, volunteer support for the students when they return from Job Corps. JACS currently has nearly 5,000 volunteers throughout all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

"Our volunteers are always looking for ways to help the former students find success as self-supporting, tax-paying citizens," said Harvey Wise, executive vice president of JACS. "Corporate support such as that received from H & R Block is an extremely helpful part of that process."

Job Corps is a program of the Department of Labor designed to provide academic and vocational training to the thousands of students who drop out of high school annually. The program can accommodate approximately 41,000 students at 107 centers nationwide. Job Corps is available to disadvantaged youth between 16 and 22 years of age. Students who complete the program leave with a GED or high school diploma as well as training in a vocation. Training opportunities include a wide variety of subjects such as automotive repair, health occupations, heavy equipment operation, clerical, and many more.

The certificates for tax preparation are being sent to Job Corps students who completed their programs during 1990. Block officials have indicated that they anticipate continuing the program on an annual basis.

Floyd County gets KSBIT safety award

The Floyd County School district received a safety award from the Kentucky School Boards Insurance Trust (KSBIT). Awards were presented at the Annual Conference of the Kentucky School Boards Association in Louisville, February 17. Floyd County received the award for showing an improvement in its safety program, recording a 75.72 percent reduction in the severity of injuries last year.

Seventeen other local school districts also received safety awards from KSBIT for showing the most improvement in their programs in recent years. The awards were developed under the Workers' Compensation Program to recognize those districts doing an outstanding job in safety and to promote a safer environment for students and employees.

The Daviess County Schools received the Outstanding School District Safety Program Award for its development of a districtwide emergency preparedness plan. Employees were trained in CPR and first aid.

Awards were presented in three categories, including the greatest percentage of dollar savings in workers' compensation in the past five years, the greatest percent reduction in the frequency of injuries during the 1989-90 and the greatest percent reduction in the severity of injuries during 1989-90. One winner was selected in each category based on the size of the school district.

KSBIT offers self-insurance programs and risk management services to local school boards and is organized through the Kentucky School Boards Association. It is governed by a Board of Trustees. Of Kentucky's 176 school districts, 171 are members of the KSBIT Workers' Compensation Program.

Seminars help commercial drivers prepare for exams

Under a new state law and federal regulations, all drivers will be required to obtain a Commercial Driver's License (CDL) in their home state.

As a service to its members, and the trucking public, the Kentucky Motor Transport Association, Inc. is providing seminars throughout the state for persons required to take the CDL tests.

These seminars will be provided at a reasonable cost for commercial drivers in Kentucky. The seminar is designed to help both new and experienced truck drivers prepare for the licensing exam as well as develop and enhance their professional skills.

KMTA is the Kentucky association of trucking companies and their allied businesses. The organization recognizes the need to take the lead in assisting all current and prospective truck drivers in successfully passing this required examination.

The required written tests are being administered by the Driver Testing Division of the Kentucky State Police beginning January 1, 1991. The skills tests may not be required if the applicant shows he/she has the actual experience requirements for driving the particular type of vehicle for which the applicant applies.

Commercial Drivers Licenses will be issued after July 1, 1991 for those successfully completing all requirements.

A special program is available for those drivers who need to test orally or need reading improvement to pass the test in written form.

Further seminar information will be made public. However, the Kentucky Motor Transport Association will be reached at (502) 695-4055, 1-800-456-6930 or write to KMTA, 134 Walnut Street, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Mind and Body

By Linda Gies, Program Manager, Psychiatric Service, Methodist Hospital of Kentucky

Recognizing depression

Most of us at one time or another in our lives have experienced depression. Usually the feeling of being low or blue lasts only a brief amount of time and, most often, these feelings are in response to events we clearly recognize as having caused them.

These events are generally related to a loss or disappointments of one kind or another — the death of someone we cared about, the loss of a job, or the breakup of a relationship. Its normal to feel depressed or discouraged about these kinds of things. But, while most of us, after a time, pick ourselves up, dust ourselves off and go on with our lives, for some, the feelings of depression just don't lift and feelings of helplessness and hopelessness set in.

When should we become concerned that we or someone we care about is seriously depressed and in need of help? Mental Health professionals diagnose clinical depression when a person has experienced a depressed mood or a loss of interest or pleasure in things for at least two weeks or longer. We also look for disturbances in a person's usual sleep pattern and for disturbances in appetite especially when a significant amount of weight is lost unintentionally.

Other symptoms of serious depression include the loss of ability to concentrate, feeling tired nearly every day, crying spells and feeling worthless or guilty unnecessarily. Persistent thoughts about committing suicide are an especially important symptom which should never be ignored.

Depression is an illness which can be successfully treated on an outpatient basis. For more information or referral, contact the Psychiatric Services at Methodist Hospital.

Help for the panic stricken

Going to the market can be a truly terrifying experience for some women. For those afflicted with agoraphobia, leaving one's home is cause for fear. And the further away from home you are, the more afraid you are. A woman may notice the onset of initial agoraphobia by a sudden panic attack in a public place. Agoraphobic panic attacks may then increase in frequency gradually leaving you stuck at home, unable to go to the market, to shop, to literally do anything outside your home without fear.

Agoraphobia is defined as an abnormal fear of being in open or public places. A phobic (fear based) behavior, agoraphobia is most often suffered by women. However, it can strike males who then suffer from the same general panic reactions.

The American Agoraphobia Association publishes a monthly newsletter which contains valuable information on treatment methods as well as a review of the agoraphobic literature. Send inquiries to American Agoraphobia Association, 7377 Juniper Lane, P.O. Box 980, Joshua Tree, CA 92252.

EKG interpretation :

Medicare controls affect cardiac program

As Congress wrangled through the final days of its budget debate last fall, it made a decision that could have harmful implications for the elderly and disabled who depend on Medicare for their health care needs: it decided that, beginning in 1992, Medicare no longer will pay for physicians to interpret routine electrocardiograms (EKGs).

Accurate interpretation of an EKG, which is used to detect abnormalities in your heart, literally can mean the difference between life and death if you have a heart problem.

An EKG measures your heart's electrical activity, which controls its beating. By interpreting the results of an EKG, trained physicians are able to detect potentially life-threatening conditions and promptly start treatment.

"Physicians who manage your care often perform and interpret EKGs, or may send the results to a specialist for interpretation," says Milford C. Maloney, MD, president of the American Society of Internal Medicine. "Those patients with heart problems may need EKGs done frequently to monitor those problems."

Millions of patients have had their cardiac abnormalities detected and treated because their physicians were trained to interpret electrocardiogram results carefully and quickly, says Dr. Maloney, an internist who specializes in cardiology in Buffalo, N.Y.

About 59 percent of men and 48 percent of women with heart disease have abnormal EKGs. Furthermore, 35 percent of all people over age 65 exhibit a major EKG abnormality, with or without a history of cardiovascular disease.

But as valuable as EKGs can be for patients, the test itself can't tell you whether you have a heart problem. To know that, physicians must carefully interpret the "tracings" from the test and diagnose the problem based on their own skill and experience.

"The health of these patients literally depends on accurate interpretation of the EKG by a skilled physician," Dr. Maloney says.

Despite the proven medical value of interpreting EKGs, Congress apparently has decided that EKG interpretation has little or no value for patients and therefore, Medicare won't pay for it.

But research done by Harvard University — and sponsored by the federal government — concluded that EKG interpretation indeed does have a value, and the millions of patients whose heart problems were detected because their physicians carefully interpreted their EKGs certainly would agree.

According to ASIM, physicians don't object to receiving less for the service if Medicare currently is paying too much for it, but it's not fair to pay nothing for it and expect doctors to provide it anyway. It's one thing to say that Medicare currently is paying too much for EKG interpretation; it's another to say physicians should do it for free, the society contends.

If this ban on payment for EKG interpretation is allowed to take effect, physicians still will continue to do everything they can to make sure their patients have access to EKG interpretation. But many primary care physicians may conclude they just can't afford to provide the service in their office for free, Dr. Maloney says.

In that case, some physicians who used to provide the service will have to refer their patients to another doctor to get it done — if they can find a doctor who is qualified and will do the interpretation. This will, of course, inconvenience patients, many of whom are elderly and have difficulty traveling to another doctor's office.

In addition, some patients might have to wait a few days or even weeks to consult with a specialist instead of having a problem diagnosed by their regular physician at the same time as their regular office visit. This is not only inconvenient for patients, it's potentially dangerous to their health.

The problem could be particularly severe in rural areas, where there already are too few physicians qualified to interpret EKGs. If this provision forces those who are left to do the interpretation for free, people in some rural regions might have a hard time finding any doctor who can afford to interpret their heart test.

If you're concerned about this issue, write to congressional representatives in Washington and let them know how you feel.

Norris advances to nominee status

James Norris

James C. Norris, Chief Financial Officer of the Methodist Hospital of Kentucky in Pikeville, was admitted to nominee status in the American College of Healthcare Executives in December.

The college is the International Professional Society representing more than 23,000 Healthcare Executives in the world.

Nomineeship is the first level of professional achievement in the college. Now that Norris is a nominee, he must demonstrate his educational preparation and commitment to the Healthcare field through an extensive application process. Then, after a period of continued professional development, Norris will apply to advance to membership status. Membership to the college can be achieved after meeting the application requirements and passing an extensive written and oral examination. The highest level of professional achievement within the college, fellowship, can be obtained after a specific number of years of service, continued professional development, demonstration of leadership and completion of an original detailed project by the candidate.

Norris has been the chief financial officer for the Methodist Hospital since December 1989. He and his wife, Joan, have one son, Joey.

Doctors continue learning process with conferences

Physicians at the Methodist Hospital of Pikeville are continuing their education by helping each other through monthly clinico-pathological conference (CPC).

The program began on January 26; the second conference was conducted on February 23.

"The physicians at Methodist showed a strong academic interest," Dr. Jerry King, chief of state, said. "Having CPC's is a way we can share our knowledge and continue our learning. Having CPC's once a month utilizes the vast knowledge base that our staff has."

King continued, "each month a different member of the medical staff presents cases to the entire medical staff by using a multi-disciplinary approach."

The continuing education conferences are scheduled for the last Saturday of every month.

Dr. King presented the first session and Dr. S.R. Malempati lectured in February.

Floyd County Chamber of Commerce

The Floyd County Chamber of Commerce and the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission held a successful open house Friday, March 1. Approximately 46 people stopped to visit the new offices and to partake of some tasty snacks provided by merchants throughout Floyd County.

The Chamber expressed their appreciation to the following businesses for their contribution to the Open House: Add A Touch Florist, Allen Food Market, Food City, House of Flowers, Ray Howard Furniture, River City Insurance, Sav-More, State Wide Press, Winn-Dixie and Woods Grocery.

Also the Chamber would like to thank Ms. Iris Caudill and Ms. Brenda Crouch for contributions of their art work. Chamber representatives said they are proud of Floyd County artists and craftsmen, and they encourage other artist and craftsmen to put their work on display in the Chamber Office.

A warm welcome to the newest members of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce is extended to Coleman Oil/Happy Mart, Martin's Shopwise, Brake Supply, Guyan Machinery, Commercial Supply, Big Sandy Health, Floyd County health Dept., River City Ins., East Ky. Monument, and Joe Bolton, Kentuckiana Election Services.

Schedule of Upcoming Chamber Events

—The Programming and Welcome Committee will be meeting Wednesday, March 6, at noon at the Jenny Wiley Lodge.

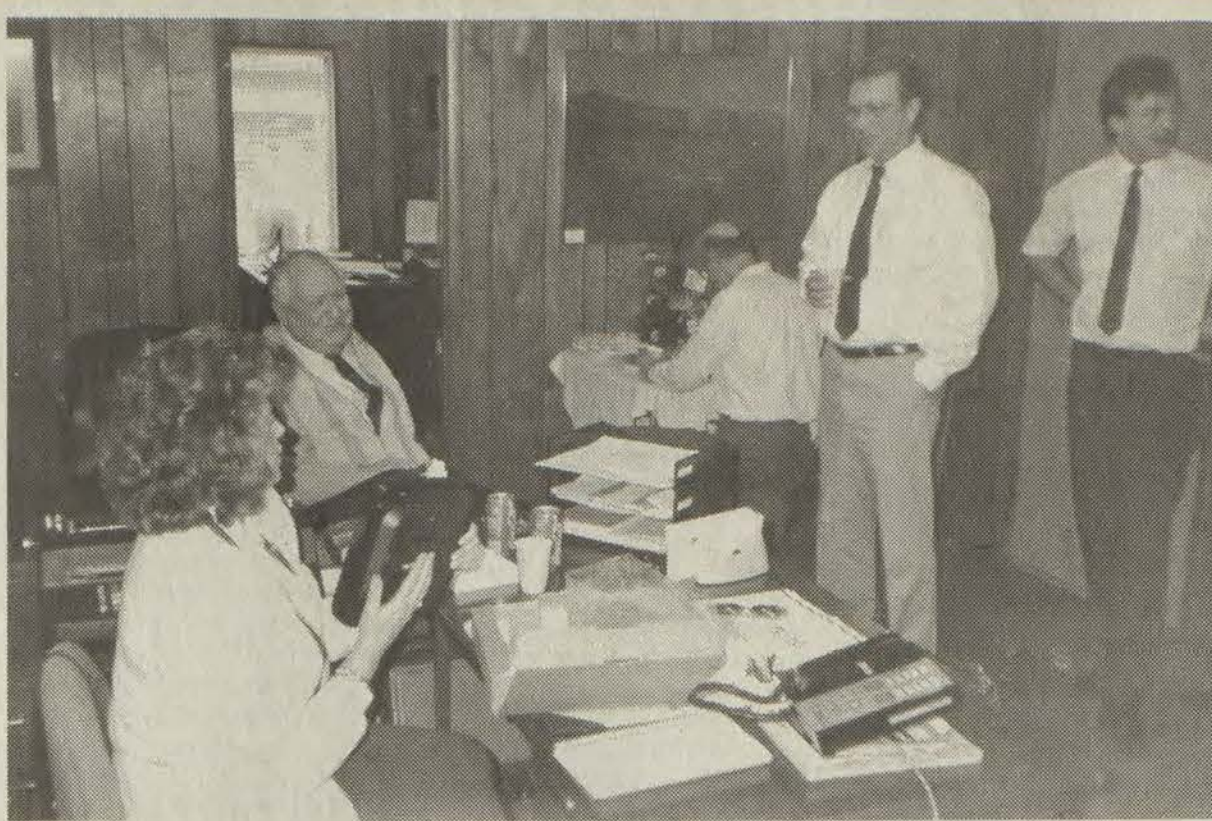

—General Membership Meeting will be held Tuesday, April 2, from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

—Business After Hours will be held Tuesday, May 7, from 5-7 p.m. at R/S Body Company.

—Board Meeting will be held Monday, May 6, at noon at Jenny Wiley State Park.

—Annual Banquet will be held in June. Location, date and time will be announced later.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to give a special thank you to the news media in this area. The newspaper and radio stations have all been very generous in helping us with keeping the public informed of Chamber activities.

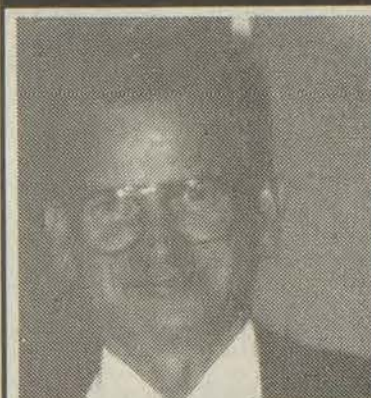

Open house

The Floyd County Chamber of Commerce and the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission enjoyed a very successful open house this week with visits by several local business and political leaders. More than forty people toured the offices and spoke to tourism and commerce officials during the day-long event.

Americans love a winner and our Constitution and form of government over the years have proven overwhelmingly successful. As a people we enjoy applauding our victories — celebrations unite us and inspire interest and pride in our nation. We have a reason to celebrate the American way of life. ## Ky. unemployment rates reach highest point in eleven months

January typically means fewer jobs in Kentucky, but this January the national recession was an added factor as the state's unemployment rate rose to its highest level in almost a year.

The end of seasonal construction and sales jobs combined with short- and long-term layoffs affected by the national economy to force Kentucky's rate to 7.2 percent. That was above both December's revised 5.5 percent and last January's 6.5 percent, and matched the 1990 high recorded last February, according to the Cabinet for Human Resources monthly labor trends report.

The U.S. rate also leapt from December's 5.9 percent to 7.0 percent in January. Comparable state and national rates are not seasonally adjusted.

Ed Blackwell, the cabinet's chief labor market analyst, said the national recession, slow to affect Kentucky, hit the state at the worst possible time.

"That's because in January Christmas jobs are ending and weather-related work is at a lull," Blackwell said. "Historically, those two factors cause our unemployment rates to rise from December to January and February.

"This January also was marked by some temporary and permanent layoffs which, added to the seasonal losses, caused employment to fall 61,100."

Trade dropped 10,400 jobs. "Department and apparel stores, automobile dealers and restaurants cut back after the holidays," Blackwell said.

Manufacturing (-3,600) felt the brunt of national recession, especially in industrial and electrical machinery and transportation equipment.

"Half the losses in manufacturing were caused by a one-week shutdown at Ford Motor Co. in Louisville," Blackwell said. "Overall, factories were slow going back to work following seasonal closings."

"During recessions people tighten the reins on spending. Trade and manufacturing usually feel spending cutbacks before services, because people buy fewer 'luxury' items, such as clothes and cars and eat out less." Construction fell 3,900 mainly in highway and street construction and in special trade contractors because of normal reductions during the winter.

A 2,300 drop in education caused the government category to fall. "Staff who don't work during semester breaks, such as college students and hourly workers, aren't considered employed during that time," Blackwell said.

Services also posted a slump with 1,600 fewer jobs in hotels and lodging places, amusement and recreation, and business and educational services.

Manufacturing and trade cuts hurt the transportation, communications and utilities sector, which sunk 1,700.

Contrary to other sectors, agriculture rose 400 jobs, probably because farmers were taking advantage of the unusually mild January temperatures to get the ground and equipment ready for spring planting, Blackwell said.

The category that includes self-employed people, domestic employees and people working in family businesses fell by 7,500 workers.

The U.S. Department of Labor's estimate of Kentuckians working, based on census surveys, showed 1,601,900 people with jobs in January, down 61,100 from December's 1,663,000, and 19,700 below January 1990's, 1,621,600.

The federal estimate of unemployed Kentuckians was 124,300 in January, up 27,900 from December (96,400) and 12,400 more than in January 1990 (111,900).

Kentucky's civilian labor force estimate for January was 1,726,200, a loss of 33,200 from December's 1,759,400 and 7,300 less than the January 1990 figure of 1,733,500. The civilian labor force includes non-military workers and unemployed Kentuckians who actively are seeking work. It does not include the unemployed who have not looked for a job in four weeks.

Unemployment statistics are based on estimates and are compiled to measure employment trends rather than to actually count people working.

Lady Rebels and Bobcats are district champs

Allen Central Repeats Behind Gibson's 21 Points

"It feels great," said Allen Central Lady Rebel coach Bonita Compton describing how she felt after her Lady Rebels defended their 58th District title with a 66-50 win over the McDowell Lady Daredevils Saturday night at the J.H. Campbell Arena on the campus of Allen Central High School.

The surprise defense — a box-and-one — on McDowell's leading scorer Lori Bryant worked to perfection. Stopping the high scoring Bryant was the "main objective" going into this battle. Bryant, who was voted the Women's Co-Player of the Year with Kathy Slone of Prestonsburg, was held to only 13 points, 10 points below her average.

Several of the Lady Rebels drew the assignment of stopping the hot shooting forward. One of those players, Jenny Yates, said that you don't really stop a player like Bryant.

"I wasn't trying to stop her," said Yates, "but I was just trying to slow her down. I didn't want to foul her and put her on the line. She had a good game anyway."

McDowell was set to prove they were for real in this tournament after knocking off Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg in earlier rounds. After Allen Central's Stacy Moore scored the first point for a 1-0 lead, McDowell ran off seven unanswered points to assume a 7-1 lead and looked as if they were on the way to an upset.

Moore connected on a short jumper inside the paint and Jenny Slone followed with a free throw to make it 8-3, McDowell.

And then it happened. With 4:48 remaining in the first period, Teresa Gibson hit a three-pointer. The clock showed 4:03 remaining, Gibson, three pointer. Only 3:37 to go, Gibson, three-pointer. A minute thirty-eight remained, Gibson, three-pointer. When McDowell finally realized they were being bombed, Allen Central held a 17-8 lead.

McDowell didn't get rattled and scored the final six points of the period to close to within one 17-16. Slone hit two baskets back-to-back and Bryant hit a jumper at the buzzer.

Allen Central looked unstoppable the rest of the way. Their defense was unlike any other previous game. With hands in the air, the Lady Rebels picked

Jinx is over; Bobcats defeat McDowell 76-61 In Finals

For Coach Junior Newsome and his Betsy Layne Bobcats, the jinx is over. The past two years the Bobcats, normally in the thick of things this time of year, lost in the opening game of the 58th District tournament. But it was different this time around as the Bobcats came out smoking and handed the McDowell hopefuls a 76-61 loss in the championship game. Four players scored in double figures for the victorious Bobcats with Chris Newsome leading the way with 21 points. Phillip King added 16 while Keith Hall tossed in 12. Gearheart finished with 10.

"It's good to back on top," said coach Newsome. "We have been gone for two years and it's good to be back. It was a complete team effort, this win was, and the team played some great basketball."

Great basketball is right as they opened up with a very quick 7-0 lead on a three-pointer by Adam Gearheart and a three point play by Phillip "Quick Step" King.

Stacy Hall got the Daredevils on the scoreboard with a jumper and then the Bobcats ran off 13 unanswered points for a 20-2 lead. Hall scored the last four points of the quarter to make it 20-6. The Daredevils seemed to be glued to the floor on defense as Betsy Layne moved to the basket at will.

"Our defense has been good all year," said Newsome. The Bobcat defense forced McDowell into seven first quarter turnovers.

The Betsy Layne squad seemed to be in tuned with each other as they made some pinpoint passes — results of playing together so many years.

"Our five seniors played together in grade school and have been playing together ever since," explained the Bobcat mentor, "and it is very fitting they have won the 58th District tournament as seniors."

Newsome said that his seniors had made up their minds they were going to win it this year. "They were determined not to let anyone take it away from them," he said.

The second period of play proved very costly for the Daredevils when

Players, Teams Receives Many Awards As Tournament Ends

The 58th District tournament, which ended Saturday night at Allen Central High School, saw many awards given at the conclusion of the tournament.

One of the highlights of the event is the naming of the "Player of the Year" for the basketball season. The event is sponsored by WMDJ radio and Ken's Sports Shop. The recipient is selected by coaches in the county and they cannot vote for a player on their own team.

Nominated for the girls Player of the Year were; Briana Boyd of Betsy Layne; Becky Allen of Wheelwright; and Teresa Gibson of Allen Central. This year's award ended in a tie between Kathy Slone of Prestonsburg and McDowell's Lori Bryant.

For the boys: Betsy Layne's Phillip King; Wheelwright's Harold Johnson; Allen Central's Tony Soler; and Worthie McGuire of Prestonsburg were the nominees with McDowell's Stacy Hall winning the honor.

The award is given in memory of Barry K. Howell who was killed in an automobile accident several years ago.

The Floyd County Times presented the Judy Eversole Heart and Soul Award during the conclusion of the tournament. Former assistant basketball coach under Coach Eversole, Danny O'Quinn, presented the awards to the winners. Brianna Boyd of Betsy Layne received the award for the girls division and Wheelwright's Jimmy Helton won the boys award. The award was presented to those that displayed a never quit attitude and worked hard in order to help their team.

The cheerleaders were honored during the closing ceremonies. The boys first place cheerleader trophy went to the Allen Central Rebels boys varsity squad. Second place was won by Prestonsburg. In the girls division, it was the reverse. Prestonsburg was the winner and Allen Central runner-up.

Allen Central won the girl's team free throw trophy and Stacy Moore captured the individual free throw award. For the boys, McDowell won the team free throw hardware with Doug Hopkins getting the individual award.

The All-District girls team was named based on tournament play. Named to the team were: Becky Allen and Stephanie Little of Wheelwright; Stacy Moore, Teresa Gibson, Jenny Wiley and Jenny Yates of Allen Central; Kristi Pack, Jenny Slone and Lori Bryant of McDowell; Melissa Bailey and Amy Reed of Prestonsburg; Nancy Shepherd and Susan Conn of Betsy Layne.

The following were named to the girls All-Conference team: Pam Webb, Darnella Bradley, Stacy Moore, Stacy "Mini" Moore of Allen Central; Vicky Johnson, Wheelwright; Briana Boyd, Shelia Hall of Betsy Layne; Kathy Slone, Amy Reed and Melissa Bailey of Prestonsburg; Lori Bryant, Jenny Slone, Kristi Pack of McDowell.

Named to the boys All-Conference team were: Ronnie Sammons and Tony Soler of Allen Central; Doug Hopkins, Stacy Hall and Matt Johnson of McDowell; Phillip King, Adam Gearheart, Keith Hall and Chris Newsome of Betsy Layne; Harold Johnson of Wheelwright; Worthie McGuire, Chris Burke and Jason Crisp of Prestonsburg.

All-District honors went to the following: Phillip King, Adam Gearheart, Chris Newsome and Berne Eplin of Betsy Layne; Stewart Hall and Todd Lucas of Allen Central; Dale Hinkle, Stacy Hall and Doug Hopkins of McDowell; Worthie McGuire and Jason Crisp of Prestonsburg; and Harold Johnson of Wheelwright.

Junior Newsome received the boys Coach of the Year award and Allen Central's Bonita Compton was the girls Coach of the Year.

Murphy Recalls First Girls' District Champion Team

Trivia question. What girls' basketball team won the first 58th District Basketball Tournament? If you said the Allen Central Lady Rebels you are right.

In 1974 the girls' basketball program began in Floyd County and the rest of the country under newly passed Title Nine that required schools to provide equal sports for girls.

The Allen Central program began under the watchful eye of Patricia Murphy, a teacher at Allen Central who had never coached before.

"We had no problems in getting the program started back then," she said in a recent interview. We had a lot of girls come out and try out for the first team. I just made the announcement and there was a lot of interest."

Murphy said that about 20 girls came out for the team and she kept them all. "I couldn't cut any of them," she said. "We had a junior varsity team and some played on it."

While the former Lady Rebel coach could not remember the team's record the first year, she said that they just "played them one at a time."

Allen Central defeated McDowell in the final of the first girls' district tournament. McDowell was then coached by Bobby Moore, who still is a big booster of the McDowell program.

"We went on and played Sheldon Clark (familiar name) in the regional tournament and we got beat by five points," said Murphy. "I can still remember that game. We were down by five points and 'Cat Bird' (that's Kathy Isaac for those of you who are not familiar with the name) drove down the floor and made a basket. However, the referee called her for walking and took the basket away.

That was with about two minutes to go in the game. If the basket had stood I believe we would have won the game."

Isaac was a senior the first year she played high school basketball. What kind of player would Isaac have been with more time to play?

"She was as tough as they came," Murphy said of Isaac. "She was a strong player and shot outside real well. She could drive on you and was a real good rebounder. She was the type of player that, if you needed a basket, would get it for you."

The former Allen Central coach recalls her first technical foul.

"We were in the finals of the district against McDowell when Geri Grigsby played," recalled Murphy. "Bobby Crager was one of the officials calling the game. We were playing a diamond and two defense. Grigsby was driving through and charging and Crager wasn't calling anything.

"Now, I didn't say a word to the official. I just stomped on the floor and looked at him. He walked over and stopped and looked at me. I just shook my head and he called a technical foul on me."

Murphy says the crowds back then were as "meager" as they are today until tournament time. "I remember the regional tournament against Sheldon Clark," recalls Murphy. "They put the whole Sheldon Clark fan section behind our bench. They were loud."

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

NOW WAIT A MINUTE!

The University of Kentucky basketball program is out of the NCAA tournament this year, but others that were part of the scam that placed them on probation are being allowed to participate in the yearly classic.

I am speaking of Eddie Sutton, who I think is not as innocent as he professes to be in the Kentucky mess.

Chris Mills, whom the problem was all about anyway, will be playing for Arizona in the NCAA. Leron Ellis, who thought he was leaving a sinking ship only to find himself in trouble again at Syracuse, will be playing in the NCAA. And of course no one's favorite, Sean Sutton will be playing for the Cowboys at the NCAA classic.

IT'S OVER, IT'S OVER!

Well, the good news is that Kentucky is no longer on probation and can now gear up for a full season next year. No more sanctions. No more probation. No more recruiting restrictions. It's over! In fact the Wildcats will get a taste of tournament play early next season when they play in the NIT Preseason Invitational.

It sure was an exciting season this year. I picked them to win 18 games and they surpassed that. I am like a lot of UK fans, as far as I am concerned, they are the best in the SEC, even if it is in my mind — and that's a fact.

Next season will be a tough one not only for Kentucky but for the rest of the SEC. The Arkansas Razorbacks move into SEC competition and are favored in the latest coaches' picks to win the SEC next year. Kentucky is picked to finish second. Arkansas certainly has a great team. South Carolina will also make its appearance in the newly reconstructed two division conference.

TROUBLE IN CAMP

Bobby Bonds, Pittsburgh Pirates, was told if he didn't like the way things were being done at Pirate City to leave.

Rob Dibble, after threatening to leave camp, signed a contract and said he had nothing to apologize to fans about.

Tony Gwynn, San Diego, is upset over remarks made by Jack Clark (Boston) over the confrontation the two had at San Diego.

And so it goes! Adults acting like spoiled children! What an image they must be setting for the younger generation! They are cry babies, whiners and just plain spoiled baseball players.

I say let them go out and get a job and work for a living. Maybe they will change their minds about some things. Dibble is a joke. He had a good season last year, but the attitude he carries right now could disrupt a team. I say trade the motor mouth.

HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL NEXT

The Times would appreciate all high school baseball coaches sending a copy of their baseball schedule for the coming season to us. We have some schedules but still need others.

We are looking forward to the upcoming season and will be doing a spread on the county teams, as well as season coverage. Games are scheduled to begin on March 26. That doesn't give this writer much time to grab a little rest between seasons, but I certainly am anxious for baseball to get underway.

I understand several more of the high schools are going to field a girl's softball team this year. I need those schedules also.

Until Friday, be good sports and you will not be sorry.

Allen Central Media Class

Six Teams Enter The 15th Regional Tournament With 20 Plus Wins

Shelby Valley has the best overall record at 24-3. Are they the team to beat in this week's 15th Regional tournament at Belfry beginning tonight?

Defending regional champion Belfry sports a 23-8 record and the tournament is on their home floor. Can they win it all again?

The tallest team in the tournament, Johnson Central, has no slouch record at 21-7. Many suspect they could be a tournament favorite.

Elkhorn City, who hijacked the ship of the Pirates on the seas of the 60th District, comes into the classic with a 20-9 mark. Can they do it again? Betsy Layne could be the sleeper in this one with a good 20-8 win and lose record. The Bobcats are on a roll. Can they use the element of surprise and win?

Paintsville has won eight in a row and brings a shining 20-10 record into the week's tournament.

Only Millard and McDowell have won less than 20 games. Millard has a winning record at 17-10, where the Daredevils have a deceiving 11-19 mark.

Who can and who will win it all? Is there really a Cinderella team here at Belfry this season? Or are all the rest of the teams only playing to see who will play Belfry in the finals? Is it all over already?

The home court advantage is clearly Belfry's. The Pirate team has been through the wars before and knows how to win. But this year's team seems to lack that chemistry that made them a come-of-late champion last year. Many fans around the 15th Region will tell you they are an overconfident team that will not survive the competition of Shelby Valley or Johnson Central. They have become a little cocky in their disposition and figures no one can touch them, so they say. Maybe that is why Elkhorn City did them in at the finals of the 60th District — overconfidence?

Nevertheless, the Pirates are carrying the tournament favorite flag anyway. J. J. Hylton and Shawn Hager make them the likely choice to repeat.

Several teams have a legitimate chance to dethrone the Pirates. Shelby Valley is definitely a tournament favorite to catch the Pirates, although they couldn't do it in regular season play. You have to like Chad Bowling, a heady type of player who begs for the ball when the going gets rough (which hasn't been too often for the Wildcats this year). But the Wildcats are a very balanced team. Kevin Hall, Jeremy Johnson, Mitch Harris and Bobby Keys round out a starting five any coach would love to have. Bobby Osborne has them — and he knows how to coach them. The Wildcats could do it.

Johnson Central, with 6' 10" Jody Salisbury and everybody's favorite player Avery Fairchild, could make a strong argument in determining the regional champion this year. The Golden Eagles have been very impressive this season but at the same time have played mediocre basketball. It will depend on which of these two sides of Johnson Central will show for the regional. The Eagles are very capable.

Elkhorn City, who did what other teams in the region only dreamed about, does enter the tournament as the only team that has beaten the Pirates this year. Feds Creek did it earlier, but Feds Creek is not here. Tyler Bailiff, Todd Conley and company can jump and shoot but do not play a good defense, something it will take to stop the outside shooting of Belfry. Coach Randy McCoy has done a great job in guiding this year's Cougar team. There is no reason that they couldn't repeat the results of the 60th District upset.

Of all the teams that are in the regional this year, only Betsy Layne can boast of winning a tournament this year at Belfry. The Bobcats won the Mountain Schoolboy Classic earlier in the year at Belfry and seem to play good basketball at the Pike County school. A healthy Phillip King and the sharp outside shooting of Adam Gearheart and Chris Newsome could propel the Bobcats to Rupp Arena this spring. However, a strong inside defensive game is a must for Junior Newsome's team.

The "dynamic duo" of Todd Porter and Chris Lyons make them a long shot at winning the region this year. Both players compliment each other so well they are a pair of high scorers. The Tigers have been on a roll of late and they have no reason to think about stopping now. They are well coached and have good team chemistry — and that's important.

Millard and McDowell are a very long shot. The Mustangs haven't been the team they were a year ago. However, they are a good ball club but lack that intensity which it takes to win a tournament of this magnitude.

McDowell could be in trouble if Stacy Hall is not able to play. The sharpshooting Hall injured his ankle in championship game against Betsy Layne Saturday night. His status at this writing is doubtful for tournament play even though he vows he will play.

Tonight, Elkhorn City takes on Johnson Central in a 7 p.m. start. Can this giant killer kill off other giants? Can the Cougars draw from the well once again for that special magic to win this one? I think not. Johnson Central by eight.

In the second game of the evening, Betsy Layne will face a good Millard team. The Bobcats have been playing good basketball lately and should take the Mustangs to the stables by six points.

Thursday night, Bill Mike Runyon's Paintsville Tigers will get the honor of facing a very tough Belfry team. While Paintsville is a good defensive club, I don't think they can take the Pirates on their home court. Pirates by eight.

Shelby Valley and McDowell square off in game two Thursday night. The Wildcats took both regular season games but had to fight to win at McDowell. McDowell, playing well, could bring in the first upset of the tournament if taken lightly. However, Bobby Osborne will have his troops alert and ready. Could be a better game than expected.

Friday night, the semifinals will get underway with a new twist. The semifinals will be played in a split session. That simply means after the first semifinal game is complete, the gym will be emptied and in order to see the second game of the evening, fans will be required to purchase another ticket.

"We have had such large crowds at other semifinal games," tournament manager Paul Dotson told the Times, "that we just about have to have a split session in order to get everyone into the gym to see their team play. It's for the convenience of the fans." The split session will be for Friday night games only, Dotson said.

Dotson said that fans arriving early for the second game will be able to sit in the cafeteria and watch the first game on closed circuit television and enjoy the concessions as they await the second game. Dotson also said that they will be able to purchase tickets for the second game in the cafeteria.

Ticket prices for the tournament will be $4 adult and $3 student if purchased in advance. All tickets will be $4 at the gate the night of the game.

Dotson says that there will be plenty of parking for all the fans arriving at the tournament. "We will be able to use the southbound traffic lane next to the campus to park. It will be about a three-quarter mile walk and there will be sidewalks on which to walk. It won't be bad."

Games times are scheduled for 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Allen Central Media Class Gets Taste of TV Coverage

During the 58th District tournament at Allen Central last week, the Allen Central High School Media Class carried out a request made by each of the county basketball coaches in the tournament—to tape one of their games.

Behind closed doors, the Media Class went to work. Two cameras, three monitors and a switcher, made it all possible. But an extra touch was added to the tapes. Play-by-play reports also handled by the class. The class also televised the game on closed-circuit television to those in the hospitality room.

The event was a joint effort that leading scorer Stacy Hall went down hard after trying for a block on a shot by King. Hall came down on the floor very hard and his pain showed. Hall was carried off the floor and then later taken to the hospital for X-rays. Hall was said to have suffered a severe ankle injury and the Floyd County Player of the Year is doubtful for the 15th Regional tournament. Hall left the game with 3:41 remaining in the second quarter scoring 15 points. Hall had just hit four consecutive free throws, pulling the Daredevils to within nine points of the Bobcats, 28-19.

Principal Jody Sword assigned to the class under the guidance of Pat Murphy.

Those involved were: Delbert Goins, play-by-play; Sam Baca, commentary; John Bowling, Hank Slone, play-by-play; Connie Marshall and Karrie Duncan, commentary; Trish Davis, camera and scoring; Tracy Gibson, Matt Elliott, camera and technician; Scotty Hall, producer; Paul Akers, William Hughes and Debbie Howard, camera; David Bolen, executive producer; Curt Lee, sound engineer.

They all received an "A" for their efforts.

Betsy Layne held a 12 point advantage, 35-23, when they went to the lockerroom at the half.

It was a somber McDowell team that returned to the court to start the second half. The look on the players' and coaching staff's faces were looks of concern for Hall. However, the Daredevil team pulled together and matched the Bobcats the second half. It was the devastating first quarter that did them in.

Betsy Layne, though, was charged up for this one as they pushed out to a 17 point lead behind the inspired play of Jody Coleman. Coleman's play brought the praise of his coach.

"Jody is the best sixth man in the county," said Newsome. "He could start for a lot of other teams. But he has done an excellent job for us this season."

The closest the Daredevils could come to the Bobcats was 11 points, 56-45, in the fourth period with 6:15 remaining. A basket by King and a three-pointer by Newsome extended the lead to 16 points.

For Betsy Layne, Berne Eplin scored seven points but had two blocked shots in a good defensive outing for the departing senior. Eplin pulled down eight rebounds.

"Our team came together this year," said the jubilant coach. "We had good chemistry all season and they realized what it took to win."

Lady Rebs—

off several of McDowell's passes in racing out to a 31-23 first half lead.

"I would have never thought we would play anywhere near how we did," said Compton. "Our defense did a great job on Bryant. I didn't use the box-and-one defense during the regular season, saving it for the tournament. Lori's a great player but our defense was good also."

McDowell's last lead came early in the second quarter. After both teams exchanged turnovers, Debbie Fannin pleased her fans with a 15 foot jumper to give McDowell a short lived 18-17 lead. Led by Stacy Moore, Allen Central went on a 6-0 run and went ahead 23-18. Moore hit two close-in jumpers and Stacy "Mini" Moore connected from the outside for the other two. A second 6-0 run made it 29-20 with 2:53 to go in the half.

Allen Central assumed a commanding 39-24 lead early in the third quarter and led 47-34 at the end of the third quarter.

To the chants of the Lady Rebel faithful, "we're number one," Allen Central could sense a victory and a second trip to the 15th Regional tournament. The closer to the end of the game the harder Compton's squad played. McDowell began to look tired having played three games.

"We remembered they beat us the last game we played them at Allen Central," said Moore, the game's Most Valuable Player. Was there a revenge factor here? "Yes, there was. We have all worked hard the last few days in practice and I believe we wanted it more than they did."

Both teams advance to this week's 15th Regional tournament at Sheldon Clark.

Gibson's 21 points led the 14-13 Allen Central squad. Moore finished with 16 points and 12 rebounds. "Mini" Moore tossed in 13.

Jenny Slone led the Lady Daredevils with 18 points. Bryant had 13. Kristi Pack and Debbie Fannin scored eight each.

Newsome said winning the district gives his team some needed momentum going into the regional tournament tonight.

"Yes, it gives us the momentum we need. You go in as a winner you play a runner-up in the first round. However," he added, "there are no easy runner-ups in the regional this year."

"We had been telling our players all week that they can win it," he said, "and they went out and wouldn't be denied."

The win improved the Bobcats record to 20-8, something Coach Newsome wanted to have going into the regional. McDowell falls to 11-19.

Betsy Layne plays Millard in the first round of the 15th Regional Tournament tonight at 9 p.m. at Belfry High School. McDowell faces Shelby Valley Thursday night in a 9 p.m. start.

Stacy Hall led the Daredevils in scoring with 15 points and Matt Johnson tossed in 13. Doug Hopkins finished with eight points and Dale Hinkle had seven.

Allen Central Dismantles W' Wright 72-33 In District Tournament

It certainly was a mismatch between Allen Central (number one seed) and the Wheelwright Lady Trojans (number five seed) in the first round of the 58th Girls District Tournament Thursday night at Allen Central. The Lady Rebels handed the young Lady Trojans a one-sided 72-33 loss and ended the season for the Left Beaver school.

Allen Central scored the first 11 points of the game and never looked back as they got game one under their belts in defense of their county title.

Stacy Moore tossed in 21 points to lead the Lady Rebs in scoring. Darnella Bradley added 15. Bradley was being scouted by Lees College during the game. Sophomore Jenny Wiley and freshman Marsha Brown contributed seven points in the win.

The Lady Rebels were up 17-1 at the end of the first quarter and were well in control at the half, 31-10.

Coach Bonita Compton was not too pleased with the way her team performed, despite the rout.

"We didn't play well at all," said the mentor of the Lady Rebels. "If we play like this against McDowell or Prestonsburg in the finals we will get beat."

Allen Central kept adding to the lead and held a 44-15 advantage after three quarters. The Lady Rebs scored the final 10 points of the game to set the final margin.

Becky Allen led the Lady Trojans with 10 points. Shena Collins tossed in nine and Stephanie Little had five.

Allen Central improves to 13-13 on the season and Wheelwright finishes at 6-17.

Allen Central standout player Teresa Gibson saw limited playing time and only scored six points, hitting two three-pointers. Gibson had been suffering from a leg injury.

Coach Compton marched her bench into the contest to give them some tournament playing time. The younger Lady Reb players struggled some as they turned the ball over on four consecutive possessions.

Murphy

Murphy said that in the first year of girls' basketball most people looked upon it as a novelty that would not last. Fans felt that the only reason for girls' basketball was because the law required it. "It never did reach the level of boys' basketball. The only ones who came out were the parents of the girls that played."

Murphy tells about the biggest changes in the sport since it began. "They now pay the girls' coaches," she said.

Allen Central had no gym when the new school opened in 1973. When the basketball program started, finding a place to practice was a problem. "We would practice at Garrett and play our games at Maytown," Murphy explained.

The former Lady Reb mentor sees a good future for girls' basketball, especially since television has started covering some games. "With the coverage of the girls' college game and now the formation of the new women's professional league, I think it will help the image of women's basketball. In the pro league they have lowered the baskets to where the girls that play can dunk the ball. "I think in the next few years the women's programs will gain in popularity," said Murphy. "I believe the coverage that is given now will filter down to the high school level."

Murphy pushes aside the reasoning that girls' basketball isn't played on the same level as men. "Good basketball is good basketball and it doesn't matter who plays it."

Murphy seemed to have mixed emotions about the men and women's programs being scheduled at different times. "With the girls playing the same time the men play, it allows more people to see them play," she remarked. Murphy favors keeping the scheduling format they presently have in the county.

Some of the changes she would like to see incorporated into the girls' game is the lowering of baskets. "Right now the girls can't dunk the ball or score a layup off a finger roll."

Murphy says that the newspaper coverage of girls' games in the county has helped the program a lot. She feels that radio stations should give more coverage during the regular season.

Some of the players Murphy recalls are Kim Hall, who she said really knew the game; Kim Shepherd, who was an All-Stater at the school; and Belinda Click and Tammy Martin were on the former coach's list. "There were so many," she said. "They all worked hard and got little recognition."

Why did she take the job? "They asked me to. There wasn't anyone else on the staff willing to do it. I did not hesitate. I played basketball and I grew up following the Kentucky Wildcats. I had two brothers who played basketball and I played some intramural basketball in college."

Murphy said there were no discipline problems on her earlier teams. "The only thing was the players were not used to responding to instructions. This was something new to points for McDowell. The McDowell standout hit a three-pointer and on the next possession completed a three point play.

Jason Crisp led Prestonsburg back into the lead with a short jumper and then a three-point basket. Chris Burke scored underneath and Worth McGuire completed the run with a three-point play to give Prestonsburg a 10-6 lead.

Dale Hinkle's basket broke the McDowell dry spell with 2:36 remaining. Prestonsburg scored the last five points of the frame to take a 14-8 first quarter lead.

With 1:56 to go in the second period, Prestonsburg was on top by five points, 26-21. Some sloppy ball handling by the Blackcats (four turnovers) in the final 1:32 allowed McDowell to score the final six points and take a 27-26 lead to the locker room at halftime.

Prestonsburg came back and grabbed a one point lead 33-32 in the third period with 5:46 remaining only to see the Daredevils score the next 10 points and take a 42-33 lead. Prestonsburg came back and cut the lead to two, 48-46 at the third stop.

Stacy Hall tossed in 30 points to lead McDowell in scoring. Doug Hopkins added 15 and Barry Hall scored 10.

Worth McGuire's 20 points led the Blackcats. Jason Crisp netted 24 and both Burke and Reitz finished with eight each.

Hot Free Throw Shooting Sends McDowell Past Blackcats, 74-61

Hitting free throws is very important in winning a basketball game. Ask any coach. A free throw is just that - a free attempt at the basket with no defense.

The McDowell Daredevils found out important free throws are when they went to the charity line 11 times, attempted 22 free throws and connected on 19 of them in the final 3:28 to hand the Prestonsburg Blackcats a 74-61 loss in the second round of the 58th District tournament over the past weekend at Allen Central High School.

While the Daredevils were spending so much time on the free throw line, Prestonsburg was experiencing problems in finding the basket. The Blackcats trailed 55-53 when the parade to the charity stripe began for McDowell. In the last 3:28, McDowell outscored the Blackcats 19-8 with all 19 points coming on free throws. Stacy Hall connected on nine free throws and Doug Hopkins made seven.

A three-point basket by Reitz cut the lead to eight points, 67-59. McDowell then hit seven of eight free throws to seal the win.

Prestonsburg was in the game until the final three plus minutes. The Blackcats trailed by just two, 48-46, going into the final period. A three point play by Robert Hammond gave the Blackcats the lead at 49-48. The lead was short lived when Scotty Stanley scored underneath for McDowell. However, it seemed whatever McDowell tried to do, Prestonsburg reacted another way.

"Coach Parido did a great job of coaching," said McDowell coach Johnny Ray Turner. "He had a good game plan and took us out of ours. He has a young team and they played hard. It was good coaching on his part."

Prestonsburg spotted McDowell a 6-0 lead with Hall scoring all six them.

"They were tickled to death to get to play basketball," she said of the girls' reaction to starting a team. "To them it was a thrill to play. They enjoyed it and took a lot of pride in it."

"They saw the boys getting all the breaks. The band didn't want to play at their home games and there was not fan support. Girls' basketball was just the same as the boys. They could score, block out, play defense. We didn't have the utility players the boys would have, the role players, but the girls gave a lot."

Murphy said that she didn't hesitate to seek advice from some of the men coaches in the county. "I would go to 'Dog' Campbell (former coach at Garrett High School) and get a good response from him. He would encourage me. 'Hoss' Halbert would talk to me and he helped me a lot."

Girls' basketball has come a long way since Allen Central won the first 58th District Tournament title back in 1975.

Betsy Layne Survives W-wright Scare; Newsome Scores 21 in 70-62 Win

Going to the 15th Regional tournament was priority number one for the Betsy Layne Bobcats as the senior oriented ball club set their sights on breaking a first game "curse" that seems to have been on the ball club the past two years. The Bobcats faced a team that was just as determined to advance in district tournament play, also — Wheelwright. It was the first place Bobcats against the conference's fifth place team. The result was a hard fought 70-62 win for Betsy Layne over the Trojans.

"Our seniors just didn't want to lose the first game," said Bobcat coach Junior Newsome. "They came out with a lot of determination and kept talking on the bench how they wanted to win this one."

That determination paid off for Betsy Layne but the victory did not come easily.

The two teams were deadlocked in the third period at 48-all with 1:10 remaining. Phillip King, playing for the first time since injuring his left hand against McDowell, slipped under the basket for a field goal to give the Bobcats the lead at 50-48. Keith Hall added a free throw and, after a turnover on an inbounds play against Wheelwright, Chris Newsome hit a three-pointer at the buzzer to put the Bobcats up by six, 54-48.

If the left hand of the southpaw (King) was bothering him, you could never tell it by the performance he put on. King ripped the nets for 20 points and hauled down 18 rebounds, a game high.

King started the fourth period off with a short jumper to make it 56-48. The lead went to 10 points, 67-57 with just 27 seconds left on the clock. In the 6-0 run for Betsy Layne, Adam Gearheart shoveled in three free throws and Newsome hit a basket to account for the spurt. Wheelwright seemed to become frustrated as the clock continued to run while Betsy Layne spread the court on them.

The Trojans were sharp in the opening quarter once they righted themselves after a shaky start.

Wheelwright turned the ball over on their first three possessions, but Betsy Layne also had three turnovers. The only difference was that Gearheart managed to hit a jumper between miscues for Betsy Layne to give the Bobcats a 2-0 lead.

Harold Johnson's basket tied the game at 2-2. King hit the back end of a two shot foul to give Betsy Layne a 3-2 lead. It was then that Wheelwright took charge and ran off 7 unanswered points to assume a 9-3 lead.

On a good reverse layup, King made it 9-5 and later grabbed an offensive rebound and stuck it back in for two points and a 9-8 game.

Wheelwright outscored the Bobcats 9-2, rolling out to a 18-10 lead much to the approval of the Trojan fans. Hall's free throw and a basket by King cut the margin to five at the first stop, 18-13.

Newsome took over for Betsy Layne in the second stanza, scoring 11 points in the period to lead the Bobcats to a 36-32 halftime lead. Steven Johnson had eight points in the period for Wheelwright. His three-pointer with 6:23 remaining gave Wheelwright the lead at 23-18. Betsy Layne then outscored Wheelwright 10-3 over the next two minutes and went up by four, 32-28. An offensive put-back by King just before the horn gave the Bobcats their 36-32 halftime lead.

A good second effort by Paul Hall cut the margin to two, 36-34. Wheelwright caught up at the 6:23 mark of the final period when Hall's basket tied the game at 38-38. The scored was tied at 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 before the Bobcats took the lead for good.

Although Newsome wasn't pleased with the way his ball club rebounded in the first half, he said that he saw a big improvement in the second half. Betsy Layne out rebounded the Trojans 37-21. "We did a good job on the boards the second half," he said. "We were guilty of forcing some shots but it is a little late to harp on that."

Wheelwright shot 55 percent for the game. They shot over 60 percent the first half. Betsy Layne was 24 or 46 for the game for 53 percent.

Keith Hall had eight assists for the Bobcats and scored seven points.

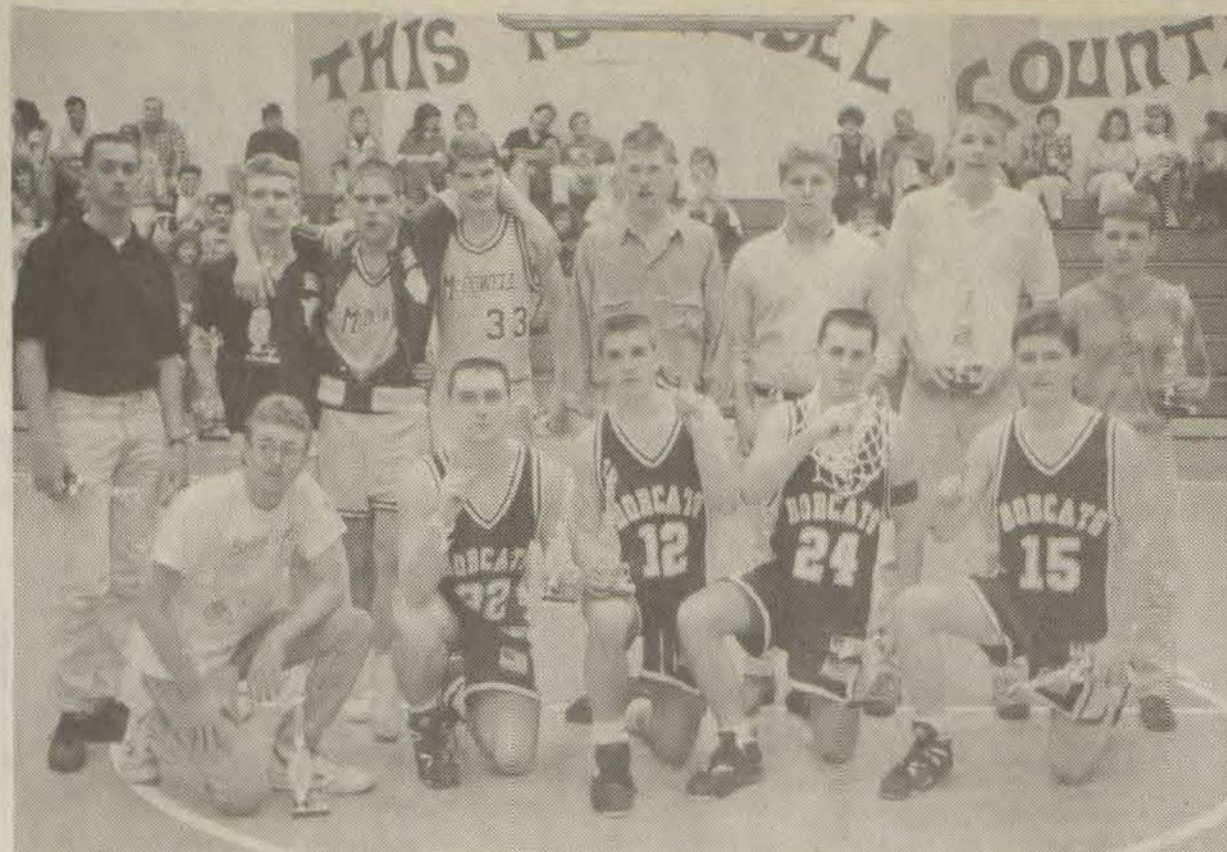

Newsome led the Betsy Layne club in scoring with 21 points. Gearheart finished with 16.

The game's leading scorer was Harold Johnson with 22 points. Paul Hall tossed in 16 and Steven Johnson added 13.

Wheelwright had four three-pointers in the contest — two by Steven Johnson, one by Harold Johnson and one by Hall. Betsy Layne connected on two treys — both by Newsome.

Betsy Layne was 20 of 36 from the free throw line while Wheelwright went to the line for only 11 attempts, connecting on six.

Wheelwright finishes their season at 7-18 while the Bobcats improved to 19-8.

We want you to be very satisfied!

When you pick up your phone, how often do you worry if you'll hear a dial tone? Dean Blair and his Floyd County team are on the job every day making sure that dial tone is there for you.

Dean has nineteen years of service with South Central Bell. These years have been spent in Paintsville, Pikeville and Prestonsburg. He is married and has two children in the Paintsville schools. He is an active telephone pioneer and is currently president of the big Sandy Chapter.

Our process of continuously trying to improve service in Floyd County flows from these principles:

- *Each of us takes personal responsibility for delivering excellent service and showing customers we care.
- *We succeed only when the customer says so.
- *Quality in all we do is the foundation of customer satisfaction and helps keep service affordable.
- *We can serve customers best by living the BellSouth Corporate Values: Customer First, Respect for the Individual, Pursuit of Excellence, Positive Response to Change and Community Mindedness.

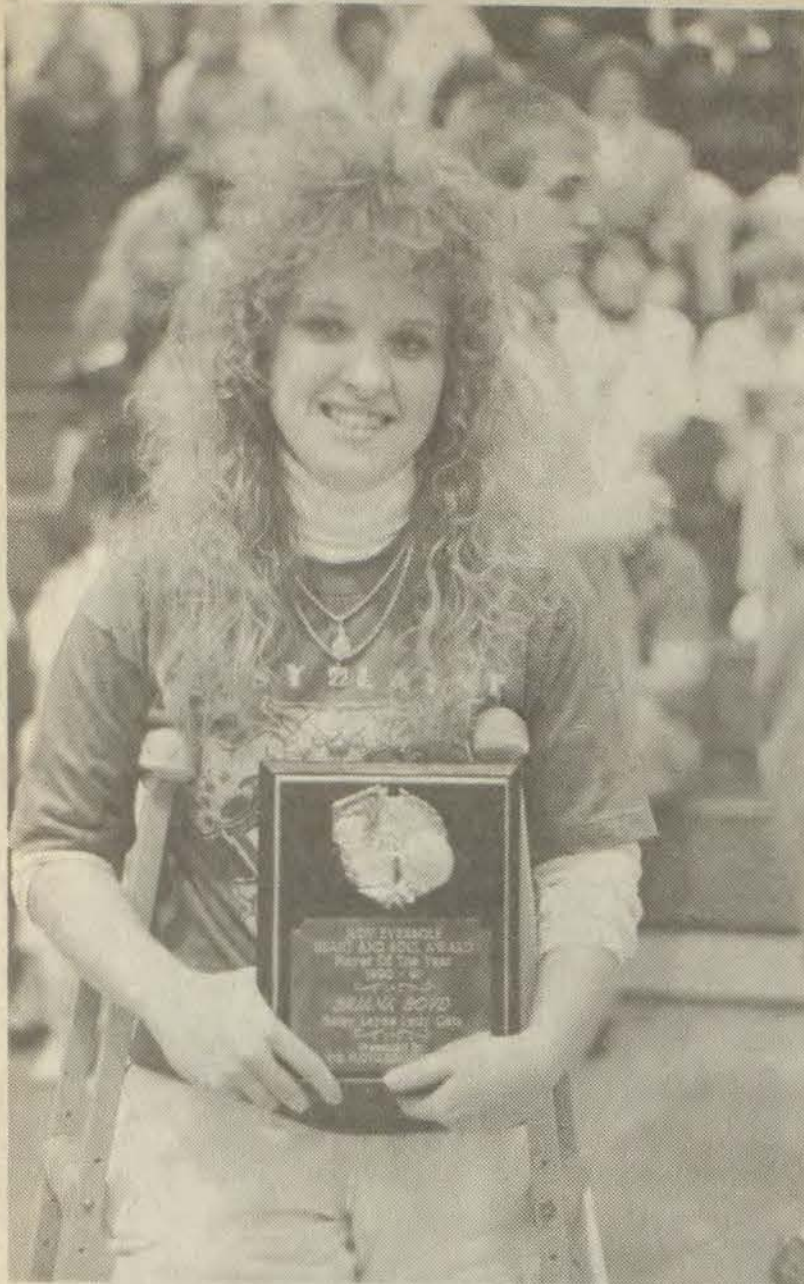

SCB employees' dedication to service doesn't stop with the telephone. Many of our employees are dedicated community volunteers, working with the Telephone Pioneers of America and other groups to make Kentucky a better place. You'll find SCB employees involved in adult education/literacy efforts, community fund-raisers, drug abuse education programs and a wide variety of other endeavors. We're not just concerned about the quality of your telephone service. As your neighbors, our employees are just as concerned about the quality of life in Floyd County.

We're frequently surveying customers for their opinions of their telephone service. If you are contacted, tell us what we're doing right... and what we're doing wrong. We want to know what it takes to make you a VERY SATISFIED customer.

The bottom line is—we're not satisfied until our Floyd County customers are VERY SATISFIED!

Lady Blackcats See Dream Season End With 62-56 Loss To McDowell

The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats had dreamed of a winning season. They had that—16-8. They had dreamed of a district championship. That eluded them in a 62-56 loss to the McDowell Lady Daredevils.

Trying to find comfort in saying that it was a good season is not the comfort the Lady Blackcats need. A very young and talented team, the dream has ended for this year. But, look for a strong return next season for a team that returns all but three players.

Co-Player of the Year, Lori Bryant of McDowell, tossed in 27 points as the college scouts looked on and the Lady Devil standout pulled down 14 rebounds, unofficially, to lead her team into the championship of the 58th District tournament at Allen Central.

McDowell kept mixing their defense to keep the Prestonsburg girls off stride.

"We started with a 2-3 then went to a 1-2-2 and played some 1-3-1," said Lady Daredevil coach Cassandra Keathley. "Their press didn't hurt us any tonight. What hurt was adjusting to our 1-3-1 in the second quarter."

The McDowell mentor had praise for the way her team responded on defense against Prestonsburg.

"We played a good defensive game," she remarked, "and particularly against Kathy (Slone)." The play of Melissa Bailey down low was an unexpected move by Prestonsburg.

"We didn't think that she would play down low," explained Keathley. "At least she didn't against us earlier. It caused us some concern early in the game, but we played smart ball and we didn't get many calls our way." Keathley says that the play of Bailey was offset because of the inside play of the McDowell team.

The game was a basketball fans delight. It was close and both teams played hard. McDowell held a slim 41-38 lead in the third period as they had a hard time shaking the Lady Blackcats. At one point, each team turned the ball over on two straight possessions.

A basket by Bryant gave McDowell a 43-38 lead and after Slone connected on a baseline drive, Kristi Pack hit underneath to keep the lead at five, 45-40 going into the final period.

With 2:32 remaining in the game, Bryant's two free throws gave McDowell their biggest lead at 54-44.

Cold shooting by Prestonsburg in the early going created a problem for Bridget Clay's club as they relied heavily on the three-point shot. Prestonsburg had four treys in the game.

McDowell also had their problems in the first period missing six wide open layups as both teams experienced some jitters in the first quarter. McDowell took a 2-0 lead on a basket by Jenny Slone and Amy Reed's three-pointer made it 3-2. Bailey took a pass underneath and scored for a 5-2 game as McDowell had their problems holding on to the basketball. After righting themselves, McDowell went on an 8-2 run for a 10-7 first quarter lead.

McDowell went to the dressing room nursing a slim 28-26 lead at halftime. A three-point basket by Stephanie Music gave Prestonsburg their only lead in the second period, 14-13, with 6:04 showing.

Bryant scored three straight baskets for a 19-14 McDowell lead.

Prestonsburg was not ready to submit, as they pulled to within one point, 32-31, on a three-point basket by Reed, her second. Then Bryant again took charge with five points—a field goal and a trey—to make it 37-31. The lead stayed at five and seven points the rest of the way.

Prestonsburg turned the ball over 11 times in the game while McDowell had 12. McDowell went to the foul line for 29 attempts and connected on 18. Prestonsburg attempted only seven making six.

"It would make our season if we could win the regional tournament," said Keathley, "and it's not something we can't do."

Jenny Slone added 16 points for McDowell and Kristy Pack finished with 10.

Melissa Bailey led the Lady Blackcats with 16 points and Kathy Slone, Co-Player of the Year, had 14. Stephanie Music tossed in nine points in a good effort off the bench. Amy Reed scored seven.

Meeting place

Two nice ladies became acquainted last week when they found themselves in side-by-side beds at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Ova Music of Prestonsburg was there for tests, and Mrs. Delsie Layne of Betsy Layne had taken a fall that broke her hip and wrist, sending her to surgery.

Between medications and temperature checks by those nice nurses, they had plenty of time to visit and to learn they were friends who just hadn't met — which proves that something good can come from being sick and injured.

Picture of fear

Barbi Bow of Betsy Layne teaches a pre-school Sunday School class at her church. Her students, ages 4 and 5, have some imagination that they're always happy to express.

They had a lesson recently about some of the real obstacles in our lives and how we might deal with fear.

"How about describing some of these problems?" Barbi asked. "Would you like to draw some pictures of things you're afraid of that we might share with each other?" They all agreed and she gave them crayons and paper.

But Shawn Wallen helped himself to construction paper, small scissors and glue. She insisted that he work like the others, but he didn't want to use the crayons.

Barbi walked around the room looking over their shoulders and seeing their art take form. When they'd finished, she asked them to discuss what they'd created.

Katie Trimble had drawn a child sprawled on the road and a car that she said had run over it. Traffic could be a threat. Wesley Smith had also drawn a car, but it was by a lake and he thought it might roll in and drown the occupants.

Christy Hall and Lee-Lee Thompson had drawn some fierce looking animals, but Shawn Wallen just had some big brown blobs on his paper. Barbi had to ask what they were.

"They're rocks," he answered. "Oh," she wondered, "so you're afraid of rocks?"

"No, no," he said, "I'm not afraid of rocks — but I'm afraid of what's under them."

Bread enough

After writing some time ago about my husband's grocery shopping — of how he buys in bulk quantities to get a good deal — I have learned that several other men do the same thing.

Harlie Sturgill of Auxier went to the store once and saw there was a special mark-down on canned biscuits. The price was right so he took 24 cans.

His wife, Wilma, says the date was about to expire and, after a couple of days, the cans started exploding. They couldn't eat enough to use them all.

That was a while back, but she says he's never bought another biscuit.

Kim's Korner

A question of controversy

Sometimes when you have opinions, you would like to voice them, right? It's been said I have an advantage to do so through this column.

by Kim Frasure

More times than a dozen, I can tell you readers, friends, and relatives have called to give me subjects to conquer. And more times than a dozen, my husband has said, "You're not going to print that are you?"

Often in this corner of mine, I write about my children. I haven't, however, written anything controversial, nor have I intentionally written anything to hurt anyone.

Recently, I did write a column that may or may not cause problems. What I'm having trouble with is whether to keep my opinion out of this space because it might create a backlash that might affect my children.

Being the "Cause No Problems" person that I am, I called a friend, read it to her and asked her opinion whether to turn it in or not. She encouraged me to do so because readers know that this column is my words, thoughts and opinions — not those of this paper, its publisher/editor, or its staff. Just mine!

By not printing it, I feel I have buckled under. I have let a doubt of fear for my children keep my opinion out of print. Gosh, how I hate that!

I have never taken to backing down. For our children, we do things as parents we might not otherwise do.

Then you have the flip side. By not printing my opinion, I'm causing no interference with, or problems for, a few people who are working so very hard to solve school problems.

I suppose it boils down to this: just how strongly do I feel about this situation? And, if I did print the column, could anybody really do anything to keep these people from doing their jobs?

My boss tells me, no, they can't! They have no control over these individuals and can't tell them what they can and cannot do.

So, what do I do? Print it or trash it? I think I'll save it and add my opinions accordingly further down the line. Eventually they will appear.

Till next week....

Treasure on wheels

Patsy Evans, director of the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens, said she is very happy to accept this 1981 St. Regent from the Christian Appalachian Project on behalf of the Senior Citizens program and the Home Delivery Meals program. Evans said she has been searching for a vehicle for a long time and is relieved that the home delivery driver won't have to use her own vehicle for transportation of the food. Also pictured on the left of the auto are Donna Turner, manager of CAP's elderly program, and Mike Saunders, senior director of operations. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

CAP donates vehicle to Senior Citizen's home delivery program

by Janice Shepherd
Staff Writer

For the past two years, Zetta Collins has driven her personal vehicle to deliver approximately 40 meals each day to the elderly and shut-in within a 55 mile radius, but thanks to the generosity of the Christian Appalachian Project, this wear and tear on Ms. Collins' car will soon end.

Christian Appalachian Project donated a 1981 Dodge St. Regent to the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens Center, which oversees operation of the Home Delivery program.

"The vehicle will also be used to transport individuals to the doctor or whatever agency they need to go to in case the bus is down," said Evans. "However, the car can not be used for personal use," Evans said, so the center will keep it garaged when it's not in use.

Evans said that Collins is a dedicated individual and would have continued using her car. "Delivering meals is a hard job. She only has a two hour time limit, but she tries to do something with each individual — opening mail or reading to them. Sometimes, she finds people who are very ill and will call the center, requesting help for them."

So Evans began searching for a car to help Ms. Collins on her rounds. She contacted several politicians, car dealers, and local agencies. They all turned her down.

"I even tried to find one we could afford to be used for the home delivered meals program," said Evans, who explained it was impossible to find a decent car on the little amount of money the center has.

"If it wasn't for the generosity of donors, we couldn't operate," she explained.

When Donna Turner, manager of the elderly program at Christian Appalachian Project, heard of the dilemma, she went to work and with the help of Mike Saunders, senior director of operations, located a car that the Senior Citizens program could use.

"The CAP program has helped us a lot," Evans said. She explained that there was plenty of room in the car's trunk and the back seat, which has been specially prepared to provide protection from spillage, to stack it full of the necessary containers needed for the home delivery program.

"The meals must be stored in large containers which will keep the food at the proper temperature," she emphasized. Food temperatures are taken before meals are delivered and at the last delivery to see if the containers are keeping the food at the right temperatures.

Meals are catered from Highlands Regional Medical Center to the Senior Citizens program. Volunteers at the center, then package the food and prepare it for transportation.

Snowbound...

by Marie Harmon

Being forced to stay home because a winter snow storm has made all our county roads impassable, I pour my second cup of steaming hot coffee and sit by the large picture window.

As I sip on my cup of brew, I make a mental list of all the things I can and should do on a snowy and very cold day. Wrapped cozily in a hand crocheted afghan, I look out at all the familiar sights around the old homeplace and scan the nearby fields, once ripe with food crops but now wrapped in a rumpled white blanket.

Over in the northwest corner of the yard stands a seven-foot snowman who seems to be watching and standing guard over his snowy domain. To the right of him stands the ghostly, plump overseer — a leafless bare limbed maple tree with its finger-like branches quivering in the breeze.

My black and white kitten, "Baden" pokes his head out of the hole in the side of the tool shed, only to withdraw it quickly when he feels an unexpected blast of icy air and a face full of blowing snow. Wanting to come into the house where it is warm, he decides to stay put. It is his first snow and he isn't too happy with it.

By now my snowy-day work list has been forgotten. I turn my full attention to my own private winter wonderland. I don't want, nor intend, to miss any part of the scene before me.

A quick movement to the left catches my eye, and to my delight the red birds flock to their feeders in search of food. A few blue jays can be heard, nearby, but they are a little slow coming to the feeders because the red birds have staked their claim. It takes a brave — or a very hungry bird — to dare to enter a staked-out area.

Suddenly our two dogs come flying around the house, and in a hurried flutter of wings the birds scatter in all directions. The dogs are in no way after the birds, as they pounce — rolling, thrashing, and biting the air — on each and every miniature mountain of snow.

By now I can't stand being left out, so I bundle up and run outside to join the dogs. We three are having one great time when my snow hating husband goes by muttering something to the effect of "Why don't you act your age?" Not to be out done I yell back as he enters the house, "can I help it if I'm in my second childhood?"

To date I have to admit I am day dreaming, because we have not been snowbound here for four or five years, maybe longer. We have a few more weeks, possibly, that we can be snowbound. If we are, then my daydreams will turn into nightmares.

Grethel News

by Eileen Martin
Grethel Baptist Church Clerk

A surprise anniversary celebration was held for Avery and Hannah Newsome at the Grethel Baptist Church Annex at 6:30 p.m. on February 25. Mr. and Mrs. Newsome were celebrating their 41st wedding anniversary.

The party was hosted by their children: Glenna Newsome Evans, Euleta Newsome Cox, Annette Newsome Martin, and Burchell Newsome, and their families. Approximately 43 people attended the event, including several of their fellow church members and friends.

The color scheme in peach and green was carried out throughout the decorations, including the table covers, plates, napkins, candles and flowers. An anniversary banner, made by Euleta Newsome was displayed from the ceiling.

Pastor David Givens welcomed everyone to the event and asked the blessing at the buffet. After dinner, gifts and cards were presented to the Newsome couple and pictures were taken. Mrs. and Mrs. Newsome said the gathering was a very pleasant surprise. They expressed their appreciation to everyone present for making the event so memorable.

And speaking of curiosities

Each week we publish a cartoon based on an old-time cure or superstition sent to us by one of our readers. From time to time, some of these drawings pertain to the idea that the familiar milkweed plant has medical properties.

For example, one reader suggested that the juice (the milk) from the plant is good for athlete's foot.

Now, as has been stated many times before in this column, we do not present these old cures and superstitions as fact. Instead, we merely approach them as curiosities — as interesting ways that people once cured various and sundry afflictions in the days before good roads and hospitals. In no way do we recommend their use.

Not so, however, of Jefferson County native Irvin Dickerson. In a lengthy story that ran a while back in the Courier-Journal, this 66-year-old custodian on disability leave from the University of Louisville, maintains that a tonic that his mother came up with via a vision, with milkweed (also known as prickly lettuce) as the primary ingredient, can cure cancer.

Dickerson's interest in this tonic is apparently not just a passing fancy, either. He's serious about it. According to the article, he's been distributing his home-made cure since 1958.

"He has given his tonic free to anyone who was ailing and willing to accept it, sent samples to hospitals in 48 states, and written doctors, cancer centers and former President Richard Nixon asking that the tonic be studied," the story stated.

Even a $300 fine after a Jefferson Criminal Court convicted him of practicing medicine without a license has not swayed him from his convictions.

"Each year," the article states, "from about April through July, he picks prickly lettuce wherever he finds it growing—in rural areas, in sidewalk cracks, in vacant lots."

So, who knows? Maybe someday when a cure for cancer is finally discovered (as it surely will be) that cure will contain some of the same properties found in the milkweed plant.

In the meantime, even though I'll have to admit I admire Dickerson for his tenacity, I guess I'll continue to view his cure as I do all the others — as a curiosity.

And speaking of curiosities, back last October, I wrote in this column about Boston Red Sox pitcher Roger Clemens. If you'll recall, Clemens had been ejected from an American League play-off game because he'd shouted obscenities at umpire Terry Cooney.

Remember, too, there was a big stink about the whole thing, with many people accusing Cooney of being too quick on the thumb. Clemens' supporters maintained that Clemens was just wrapped up in the game, and just because he said what he did in front of millions of TV viewers was no reason to kick him out.

Anyway, in the column in October, I defended the umpire.

Well, Clemens has made the news again. This time it seems that he and the Red Sox organization have agreed on a contract extension that will pay him $21,521,000 over the next four years, making him the first player in the history of the game to be paid over $5 million a year.

Only $5 million? I guess that'll teach him to cuss.

Life gets curiouiser and curiouiser, doesn't it?

Midterm break

Mid-term in Floyd County

Several Asbury College students, most of whom are seniors, spent their mid-term break at the home of Arnold and Alma Lowe at Eastern. This was the third visit for most of them. Others who had visited before could not make the trip due to prior commitments.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe's grandson, Glenn Russell Hamilton of Virgie, was among the student guests. Also visiting were Michelle Little of Leesburg, Fla., Larry Jarrard of Marietta, Ga., Ariana Beckley of Wilmore, Ky., Dawn Charles of Titusville, Fla., Mark Kozler of Toledo, Ohio, Chris Fry of Houston, Texas, Charis Lawrence of Altamont, Ill. and Larry Boss of Wilmore.

Also visiting Mr. and Mrs. Lowe over the weekend were Glenn Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, and his sister, Sindy from Virgie.

Holy Week services will begin soon

The annual community Holy Week services will be held from Monday, March 25 through Good Friday, March 29 with the First United Methodist of Prestonsburg serving as the host church.

These services, which begin each day at noon, are sponsored by the Prestonsburg Ministerial Association. The Local Church Women will provide food which will be served at 12:30 following the service.

The schedule, which lists dates, sermon topics, pastors, and the churches they represent are as follows:

Monday, March 25, "I am the Messiah," Rev. French Harmon, Allen Baptist Church; Tuesday, March 26, "I am the Light," Rev. Joe Muench, St. Martha's Catholic; Wednesday, March 27, "I am the Vine," Rev. Wayne Burch, Little Paint church of God; Thursday, March 28, "I am the Bread," Rev. Al Savage, Wayland Methodist, and on Good Friday, March 29, "I am the Good Shepherd," Rev. Tim Jessen First Presbyterian, Prestonsburg.

The annual community Easter Sunrise services will be held on Easter morning at 7 a.m. at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center with Rev. Frank Rowe, pastor of the Fitzpatrick Baptist Church bringing the message, and Elizabeth Frasure and members of the Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir presenting the musical program.

A Holy Week Blood Drive is also being sponsored with this program. Everyone is encouraged to participate.

To ski, or not to ski

Friday, February 15 found 46 young and adults from the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) trying to decide whether to stay home to snow ski or to travel, as planned, to Gatlinburg, Tennessee for their second annual Tennessee ski trip.

The group finally left Prestonsburg at 1:30 p.m. Friday. While they were in Tennessee, they enjoyed a wide assortment of activities including Bible study and shopping in downtown Gatlinburg. The highlight of the trip was snow skiing in Ober-Gatlinburg.

On Sunday, February 17, everyone attended Sunday School and worship services at the First Baptist Church of Gatlinburg before returning home.

"This trip would not have been possible without the support of our church, a dedicated group of youth leaders and parents, and the great cooperation of each of the youth who attended," said Thomas Foy, youth director of this church.

Those who attended were the following: Andy, Myra and Myranda Elliott; Bill, Jenny and Billie Bottoms; Tommy, Regena, Thomas and Todd Lafferty; Roy, Ruth and Kyle Roberts; Alan, Betty, Josh, Seth and Kate Hyden; Thomas, Susan and Robbie Foy; Sue Wells, Rhonda Burchett, Todd Clark, Matt Goble, Glen Davis May, Joey Nunn, John Rollins, John Ryan Sparr, Shad Vickers, Kyle Bellamy, Michael Halfhill, Brett James, Zach Wells, Jennifer Burchett, Cara Meece, Tina Miller, Misty Price, Stephanie Wells, Staci Hurt, Christina Carlson, Jessica Gadberry, Clara Newsome, Katrina Thomas, Moriah Hyden and Jessi Burke.

Plans for next year's trip are already underway.

Mrs. Beatrice Collins

Collins honored on birthday

Mrs. Beatrice (Biddie) Collins was honored on Wednesday, February 27 at her home in Highland Terrace, when her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Rose Collins, entertained several of her relatives and close friends in commemoration of her 97th birthday.

Decorated birthday cake, ice cream and soft drinks were served.

Enjoying this event were: the guest of honor, Mrs. Beatrice Collins; two of her nieces, Mesdames Eva Collins and Ann Ford; two friends, Mesdames Goldie Dobson and Gypsy Elkins; and the hostess, Mrs. Rose Collins.

Friends and relatives here and throughout Floyd County extend their very best wishes to the honoree who throughout her life has done so much for so many and has been an inspiration for all.

Outstanding women leaders of Prestonsburg club

Mrs. Linda McGuire, president of the GFWC/KFWC Prestonsburg Woman's Club, reminds members of the regular meeting to be held Thursday evening, March 6 at 7:30 at the club's Arts and Crafts House at Archer Park.

She also asks that members of the executive board meet there at 7 p.m. on that date.

With the present emphasis on local history, such as work by the Floyd County Bicentennial Book Committee toward the publication of a Floyd County History Book and the placing of time capsules in cornerstones of buildings being erected in our county, it seems appropriate, at this time, to mention the names of outstanding women of this community, who have served as presidents of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club, and the time of these services, which were:

Mrs. Zula Spradlin, 1919; Mrs. Irene Burke, 1920; Mrs. J.C. Midyett, 1921; Mrs. N.M. White, 1922; (1923 was not listed); Mrs. W.S. Wells, 1924; Mrs. W.R. Callihan, 1925; Mrs. L.L. Moles, 1926; Mrs. S.C. Ferguson, 1927;

Mrs. A.C. Harlowe, 1928; Mrs. W.S. Wells, 1929; Mrs. M.J. Leete, 1930; Mrs. Reba Mayo, 1931; Mrs. J.D. Mayo, 1932-33; Mrs. E.P. Hill, 1934-35; Miss Ella Noel White, 1936; Mrs. E.P. Arnold, 1937-38; Mrs. J.D. Thomas, 1939-40; Mrs.

C.H. Frazier, 1941-42; Mrs. Palmer L. Hall, 1943-44; Mrs. Cecil Kendrick, 1945; Miss Alice Harris, 1946-47; Mrs. Wayne Bradley, 1948; Mrs. F.S. Collins, 1949; Miss Alice Harris, 1950;

Mrs. W.W. Cooley, 1951-52; Mrs. J.H. Kennon, 1953-54; Mrs. Lon C. Hill, 1955; Mrs. Harold W. Dorsey, 1956-57; Mrs. R.V. May, 1958-59; Mrs. Walter S. Harkins, 1960; Mrs. Burl Spurlock, 1961; Mrs. Virgil Goble, 1962-63;

Mrs. Clyde Burchett, 1964; Mrs. Joe Buchanan, 1965; Mrs. Helen Wells, 1966; Mrs. L.B. Fairchild, 1967; Mrs. Stanley Combs, 1968; Mrs. Bryon Nunnery, 1969; Mrs. L.B. Fairchild, 1970; Mrs. James D. Adams, 1972; Mrs. W.W. Wallen, 1973;

Mrs. Douglas L. Brown, 1974; Mrs. John F. Brown (acting), 1975; Mrs. W.W. Wallen, 1976; Mrs. Rex W. Ankrom, 1977-78; Mrs. E.L. Bierman, 1979; Mrs. Leonard Grant, 1980; Mrs. Clarence Traum, 1981-82; Mrs. Elizabeth Ramey, 1983-84; Mrs. John W. Sparr, 1985-86; Mrs. Thomas A. Poe, 1987; Mrs. James D. Adams, 1988-89; Mrs. Calvin Herrick, 1990; and Mrs. Linda McGuire, 1991 (who is the present president).

Charter members of this club include Mrs. Beatrice Collins, Mrs. Lucille Davis, Mrs. Mabel Donahoe, Mrs. Vivian Hale, Miss Alice Harris, Mrs. Dolly Pretrey, Mrs. Lucy Regan and Mrs. Fannie Runnels.

Ladies' Circle plans egg hunt

The Ladies' Circle of the First Christian Church of North Arnold Avenue is planning an Easter Egg hunt and is asking the members there to please donate plastic eggs and individually wrapped candy and gum for this event.

This group is also making plans to host the Big Sandy Area Family Fellowship scheduled for April 8.

Rev. Hondel Adams serves as the church's pastor.

Kiwaniannes submit history for time capsule

The Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes held their regular luncheon meeting Thursday, February 18, at 12:30 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park.

Mrs. Hope Whitten, president, conducted the meeting which opened with the Kiwanianne Grace, said in unison. Mrs. Garnett Fairchild presented the devotional by reading from Psalms 23 and 100. Mrs. Dorothy Osborne gave the secretary's report, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Garnett Fairchild, who also reported that she had submitted the history of the Prestonsburg Kiwanianne to be placed in the time capsule at Jenny Wiley State Park Convention Center. The capsule will be opened in the year 2001. She added that the history of this club would also be published in the 1992 Bicentennial Floyd County History Book.

Mrs. Fairchild volunteered to serve as chairman of the club's Founder's Day Program, which will be held at May Lodge on Thursday, March 18, at 12:30.

Mrs. Jane Wallace, program chairman, introduced Mr. Keith Akers, director of the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, who spoke on the purpose of that organization. He emphasized the necessity of bringing the entire county together and of the five Floyd County towns — Wayland, Garrett, Allen, Wheelwright and Prestonsburg — working together for the betterment of the county by promoting industry, education and tourism.

He added that persons having questions should call the local Chamber of Commerce at 886-1341. Mr. Akers also extended an invitation to the group to attend Open House at the Commerce office on Saturday, March 2.

Mrs. Jane Wallace introduced as her guest, Mrs. Goldia Williams of Allen, who became a member.

Those in attendance included the following guests: Keith Akers and Mrs. Goldia Williams; and members: Mesdames Hope Whitten, Mabel Jean Lemaster, Dorothy Osborne, Garnett Fairchild, Annabell Maggard, Mildred Salisbury, Jane Wallace, Myrtle Allen, Ada Maggard, Maman Leslie, Minerva Cooley and Lucy Regan.

Lamplighters sing along with Israel

The Lamplighters of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) held their weekly meeting Tuesday, February 16, at 4 p.m. at the church with Patsy Evans, president, in charge and welcoming those in attendance.

Mr. Thomas Foy, director of music there, was accompanied by Mrs. Lisa Carter, pianist, in leading the group in singing of "He Keeps Me Singing as I Go," and "On Jordan's Stormy Banks I Stand."

Foy said the Lamplighters would sing at the morning and evening services at the church on Sunday, May 5.

Wade Moore presented an interesting film, entitled, "Sing Along with Israel," and both he and Mrs. Evans made comments concerning the film since both of them had visited Israel with a tourist group a few years ago.

Mrs. Evans thanked Mr. Moore for his presentation of slides during the group's last three meetings and invited him to continue doing so in the near future.

Spaghetti, soft drinks and desert were served. Those in attendance included Ada Meade, Lucy C. Regan, Burieta Gearhart, Maman G.

Sounds of Jazz

Eastern Kentucky Community Concerts will present the Sounds of New Orleans on Friday, March 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Jenny Wiley State Park Convention Center. Members will be admitted upon presentation of their membership card. The Sounds of New Orleans is the Crescent City's premiere jazz band, and has performed across the United States, in Europe, and in South America. Rene Netto, featured performer, is a most versatile musician. He plays flute, clarinet, alto, tenor and baritone saxophone, and trombone. Known as "The Saxman," Rene Netto is the biggest musical name going these days in New Orleans. Everyone should turn out for the concert series headline event of the season.

Cabbage Patch

By Marie Harmon

Among the most widely used and often abused materials in a garden are the soil conditioners. These organic materials are always available and often at no cost.

If properly used, they can change your soil from unproductive concrete—like dirt to rich productive garden soil. Unfortunately, many long-time gardeners, and most new gardeners, burn or give to the trash collectors large amounts of wonderful soil conditioners. We should remember that all nature operates on a cycle and realize that all waste, grass clippings, vegetable wastes, corn cobs, etc., should be returned to the soil to help put back some of the nutrients removed by growing plants. Before you throw anything out that once grew, stop and think a moment. There just may be a better place for it than the over-filled city dump.

I know I have written many articles on mulches and the benefits of such, but I wonder if I have left out the most important one. The rewards of mulch are bigger and better plants and less work for you. Mulch does a multi-pronged job around the garden.

First on the list of jobs that mulch accomplishes is it stabilizes the soil temperature. With mulch on the ground around your plants, the soil temperature remains relatively stable, thus encouraging root growth and healthier plants. In the summer, mulch keeps the soil cool and moist, allowing maximum growth. In the winter months, it will maintain a cold temperature throughout, preventing alternate freezing and thawing which results in damaging or killing them.

Mulches, properly applied, play an important role in conserving the moisture level of the soil. Water, evaporated by the hot sun and temperatures, is considerably slower to stay on mulched areas. Water that is added by rainfall soaks in better because the soil has been kept in good condition, making it extremely receptive to irrigation. Be careful that the mulch is not packed. Grass clippings and peat moss tend to form a barrier to water if it is dry or packed to tightly.

Mulching, as everyone knows, can almost eliminate weeding the garden or flower beds. Just about all weeds are defeated before they start because they cannot push through the thickness of the mulch. These killed weed sprouts add humus to your soil, therefore enriching your ground. An occasional weed will come through, but it is quickly and easily pulled up and added to the mulch.

With mulching you will find your soil is better, your plants grow, bloom, and bear better, and fewer roots are damaged by cultivation. You have less work. Your garden area will look better. What excess wastes you have above and beyond your mulch, can be composted. At the end of your gardening season, the mulch can and should be worked into the soil—adding more organic material to the soil, and improving its condition. If plants are in anyway diseased, it is better to destroy the old mulch.

Patriots Day in the works

Plans for Kentucky's participation in "National Patriots Day: Flags Across America" on March 21 were announced at a news conference last week at Frankfort.

Termed a nationwide "grass roots" movement to demonstrate support for American troops overseas, the event is being coordinated locally by Al Osborne of Versailles and Mike Haynes of Frankfort.

Groups and individuals across Kentucky are being asked to show their patriotism in several ways on that day.

* Drivers are requested to drive with their vehicle headlights on between 1-3 p.m.

* Radio stations are to play the national anthem at 2 p.m.

* In any major activity, such as athletic contests, schools, conferences, etc., participants are asked to have a moment of silence at 2 p.m., followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and singing of the national anthem.

* Individuals are asked to be "visible" by assembling along streets or in public squares, displaying the American flag and listening to patriotic music from 1:55-2:05 p.m.

Other suggested activities for the time period 1:45-2:15 p.m. include broadcasting of patriotic tunes, ringing of church bells and the opening of churches and community centers for "personal reflections" by individuals.

Groups wishing to sponsor planned events for the day may contact Mike Haynes, executive director of the state YMCA, Box 577, Frankfort 40601; 502/227-7028.

Cosponsors for the Kentucky observance are Franklin County chapter of the American Red Cross, Kentucky Association of Counties, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Leadership Kentucky and the State YMCA.

Society News
Deadline is Friday at 4:00 p.m. for the Wednesday Edition of the Times.

Leslie, Ruby Lamping, Dolly Petrey, Wade Moore, Annabelle Maggard, Rebecca Rasnick, Thomas Foy, Lisa Carter, Vivian Fraley, Lillia Mae Price, John Evans, Patsy Evans, Roberta Sloan and Myrtle Allen.

The next meeting was scheduled for Tuesday night, March 5, at 4 p.m. at the church.

Correction:

An item in last week's edition should have read:

A donation was recently made to Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 by Mrs. Carlos Haywood and Mrs. Phyllis Ranier in memory of their uncle, J.L. Oppenheimer. Members said they appreciated the gift.

FCRT will meet

Miss Ruby Akers, president of the Floyd County Retired Teacher's Association, reminds this group of the luncheon-meeting to be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Thursday, March 7. Registration will begin at 10 a.m. and the meeting will start at 10:30.

Russell Boyd of Johnson County, who is president of the Kentucky Retired Teacher's Association, will be the speaker. Billy Jean Osborne, a retired teacher from Betsy Layne and also director of the Kentucky Opera, will present a musical program.

The FCRT president asks that all retired teachers try to attend this event and also asks that each of them please bring one or more favorite recipes. Delegates and alternates for the state convention will be selected.

Health department employees attend retirement party

Members of the Floyd County Health Department who attended a retirement party for Judy S. Cumbo, R.N. from the Martin County Health Department at Inez, at the Carriage House in Paintsville were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Compton, Mrs. Jane Bond, Mrs. Jane Wallace, Ms. Brenda Hunter, Mrs. Pauline Sparks, Mrs. Peggy Gibson, Mr. Carl Baldrige, Mr. James B. Goble, Mrs. Myrtle Jo Potter and Mrs. Clara Martin.

The event was held Thursday, February 18, from 6-8 p.m. Following a period of reminiscing and fellowship, gifts were presented to the honoree and refreshments were served.

Day homemakers to discuss clothing

The Prestonsburg Day Homemakers will meet Tuesday afternoon, March 12 at 1 at the First United Methodist Church.

The lesson topic will be "Clothing and Everything in its Place." The hostesses will be Alice Harris, Fannie Runnels and Rose Glenn. Dorothy Stover, president, extends a cordial welcome to all to attend this meeting.

AARP plan dinner meeting

Members of the Jenny Wiley AARP will hold a dinner meeting on Friday evening, March 15 at 6 at the Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Mrs. Sina Blanton, the group's new president, has announced that following the dinner in the cafeteria, the group will have as speaker, Mrs. Sue Wilkerson, dietitian at the hospital.

The president urges all retired people of the area to attend this first dinner meeting of the club year.

Local group tours

Masonic Homes

On Sunday, March 3, eleven members of Prestonsburg's Zebulon

Masonic Lodge No. 273, went on a pilgrimage to The Masonic Widows and Orphans Home and The Old Mason's Home in the Louisville area.

They were given a tour by Mrs. June Horn, one of the residents of the Home, and enjoyed lunch with the ladies in their dining room.

En route home after visiting The Old Mason's Home, the group stopped in Lexington for a tour of the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital.

Those making the tour were Thomas A. Hyden, William R. Adams, Manis E. Gray, James E. Goble, Donald A. Willis, Bill Allen, Curtis G. Risner, David A. Peters, Paul D. Stanley, Johnnie C. Adams, and Bill H. Howard.

I received a letter recently from Thelma Spencer with a very unusual cake recipe in it. She tells me it won first place in a cook-off with five other varieties of the same name, different flavors. She is looking for a cookbook on diabetic cooking. Hold on Thelma I have an address coming up.

BETTER THAN SEX CAKE

by Thelma Spencer

1 pkg. yellow cake mix (18 1/4 oz.)
 1 can (20 oz.) crushed pineapple in it's own juice
 3/4 c. sugar
 2 pkg. instant vanilla pudding mix (3 1/2 oz. each)
 3 c. milk
 1 to 1 1/2 c. heavy whipping cream
 1/4 c. confectioners sugar
 1 tsp. vanilla
 3/4 c. flaked coconut

In a 13 x 9 inch pan bake cake according to directions on the box. While cake bakes, combine pineapple, with juice and sugar in a saucepan. Cook over med. heat, stirring often until thick and syrupy (about 20 minutes). When cake is done remove from the oven and pierce top with a fork. Punch lots of holes; pour on pineapple mixture; spread over top of cake. Cool completely. In a medium bowl combine pudding mix with milk; blend until thick; spread over cake. In medium bowl beat cream until soft peaks form. Add powdered sugar and vanilla; beat well until stiff. Spread over cake. Sprinkle with coconut. Refrigerate 24 hours. Keeps well.

APRICOT-GLAZED CORNISH HENS

3/4 c. apricot preserves
 2 tsp. grated orange rind
 3 tsp. orange juice
 4 (1 to 1 1/2 lb.) cornish hens
 1/4 tsp. paprika
 1/2 c. cashews
 2 tbsp. melted butter
 1/2 c. sliced green onions
 1 (6 oz.) pkg. long grain and wild rice mix
 2 1/3 c. chicken broth

Combine apricot preserves, orange rind and orange juice, set aside. Remove giblets from hens; reserve for other uses. Rinse hens with cold water and pat dry. Close cavities, and secure with wooden pins; truss. Sprinkle with paprika. Place hens breast side up in a lightly greased roasting pan. Bake at 350° for 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 hours, basting frequently with about 1/2 cup apricot mixture during the last 1/2 hour.

Saute cashews in butter in a large skillet until cashews are golden. Drain and set aside; reserving butter in a skillet. Saute onions in same skillet until tender. Add rice and prepare according to package directions, substituting chicken broth for water and omitting salt.

Arrange Cornish hens on serving platter; brush with the remaining apricot mixture, serve with rice. Makes 4 servings.

HOT MOLASSES PUNCH

2 tbsp. molasses
 2 tbsp. sugar

2 tbsp. water
 1/2 tsp. ground ginger
 4 c. milk
 1/2 c. dark rum
 freshly grated nutmeg

Combine first 4 ingredients in a 2 quart saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring until sugar dissolves. Gradually add milk. Cook over low heat until thoroughly heated, stirring occasionally (do not boil). Remove from heat, stir in rum. Serve hot. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Serves 5.

BEEF TENDERLOIN WITH MUSHROOM SAUCE

1 lb. sliced mushrooms
 3 tbsp. melted butter
 1 (5 to 6 lb.) beef tenderloin
 2 tsp. lemon-pepper seasoning
 1 c. dry sherry

Saute mushrooms in butter until tender; set aside. Trim excess fat from tenderloin. Remove 3 to 4 inches of small end; reserve for other uses. Place tenderloin in a roasting pan; Sprinkle with lemon-pepper seasoning. Insert meat thermometer. Bake at 400° for 30 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 375° and bake for 10 minutes more. Spoon mushrooms around tenderloin and pour sherry over top. Bake an additional 10 minutes or until meat thermometer registers 140° (rare) or 160° (med.) basting frequently with sherry mixture. Transfer tenderloin to serving platter; arrange mushrooms around tenderloin. Serve with pan drippings. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

Pears, fresh or canned are a dependable salad choice. For a spruced up variety that's not camouflaged with dressing try:

PEAR-AND-CELERY SALAD

1 1/2 c. chopped celery
 1/2 c. golden raisins
 1/3 c. mayonnaise
 1 tbs. honey
 1 tsp. lemon juice
 lettuce leaves
 2 large pears, unpeeled and cored
 lemon juice
 1/4 c. crumbled blue cheese

Combine first 5 ingredients, mix well. Cover and chill. Arrange lettuce on individual salad plates. Slice each pear into 10 slices; brush with lemon juice. Arrange 5 pear slices on each plate. Spoon about 1/2 c. celery mixture on each salad. Sprinkle with cheese. Yield 4 servings.

Leslie Anne

Kane and Lisa Hale of Harold announce the birth of their daughter, Leslie Anne, born Tuesday, January 29, at the Pikeville Methodist Hospital. Grandparents are Lizzie Hale of Harold and Kenneth and Patricia Layne of Betsy Layne.

CHOCOLATE NUT LOG CANDY

1 1/3 c. sugar

1/4 tsp. salt

2 tbsp. cocoa

3/4 c. milk

1 tsp. light corn syrup

2 tsp. butter

1 tsp. vanilla

1/2 c. finely chopped pecans

Combine sugar, salt and cocoa in a heavy saucepan, mix well. Gradually stir in milk and syrup. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until soft ball stage (236°). Remove from heat; stir in butter and vanilla. Pour onto a buttered 15 x 10 x 1 in. jellyroll pan; let cool 10 minutes.

With buttered hands knead candy occasionally for 10 to 15 minutes or until cool enough to hold form. Shape into a 12 x 1 1/4 in. rope; roll in pecans. Wrap in buttered plastic wrap. Let candy stand at room temperature for 1 hour or until completely cooled. Cut into 1/2 inch slices. Yield 2 dozen.

CHERRY SWIRL COFFEE CAKE

4 c. Bisquick baking mix

1/2 c. sugar

1/4 c. butter, melted

1/2 c. milk

1 tsp. vanilla
 1 tsp. almond extract
 3 eggs

1 can (21 oz.) cherry, apricot or blueberry pie filling

Grease Jelly pan 15 1/2 x 10 1/2. Heat oven to 350°. Mix all ingredients except pie filling, beat vigorously 30 seconds. Spread 2/3 of the batter in jelly roll pan spread pie filling over the batter. Drop remaining batter by tablespoons onto filling. Bake until light brown 20 to 25 minutes. Drizzle with glaze while warm.

GLAZE: Beat 1 cup powdered sugar and 1 to 2 tbsp. milk until smooth and of desired consistency. Yield 18 servings.
