Manslaughter :

Martin jury says "guilty"

A Martin County jury deliberated for three and a half hours Wednesday before finding a Johnson County man guilty in the 1990 shooting death of a Prestonsburg teen-ager.

The jury found Jim Jack Penix Jr., 31, of Van Lear guilty of second degree manslaughter, recommending a 10-year sentence.

Penix was charged with shooting 19-year-old Barrett Heath Endicott, of Prestonsburg, during an altercation at a mobile home park near the Paintsville-Prestonsburg airport on May 13, 1990.

Eleven witnesses testified during the two-day trial at Inez. According to testimony, Penix and Endicott had scuffled at the home of James Williams before Penix announced he was going home to get a gun. Penix returned to the scene with a rifle and shot Endicott.

Testifying in his own defense, Penix alleged that the shooting was accidental. Another witness claimed, however, that he had seen Penix load the rifle before the shooting.

New officers are elected

An hour and a half meeting produced only the election of new officers for the coming year and a commitment to pursue hiring an executive director for the Floyd County Development Authority.

Harold businessman Paul Gearheart was named chairman of the board Wednesday at the regular meeting of the authority and Julius Martin was named to fill the vice chairman slot. Burl Wells Spurlock retained his seat as secretary.

The authority voted to go into closed session to discuss applicants for the position of executive director. The hour-long session produced no action on the issue, but a commitment was made by the authority and Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo to diligently pursue the matter.

The group will meet October 20 at the courthouse annex to set a budget for the authority and will decide the course of action for hiring an executive director.

Housing Authority sets special meet

A special meeting of the Floyd County Housing Authority has been called for Monday, October 21 at 3:30 p.m. at Green Acres housing office in Prestonsburg.

The purpose of the meeting is to select a maintenance man for the Warco Housing Project. The meeting is open to the public.

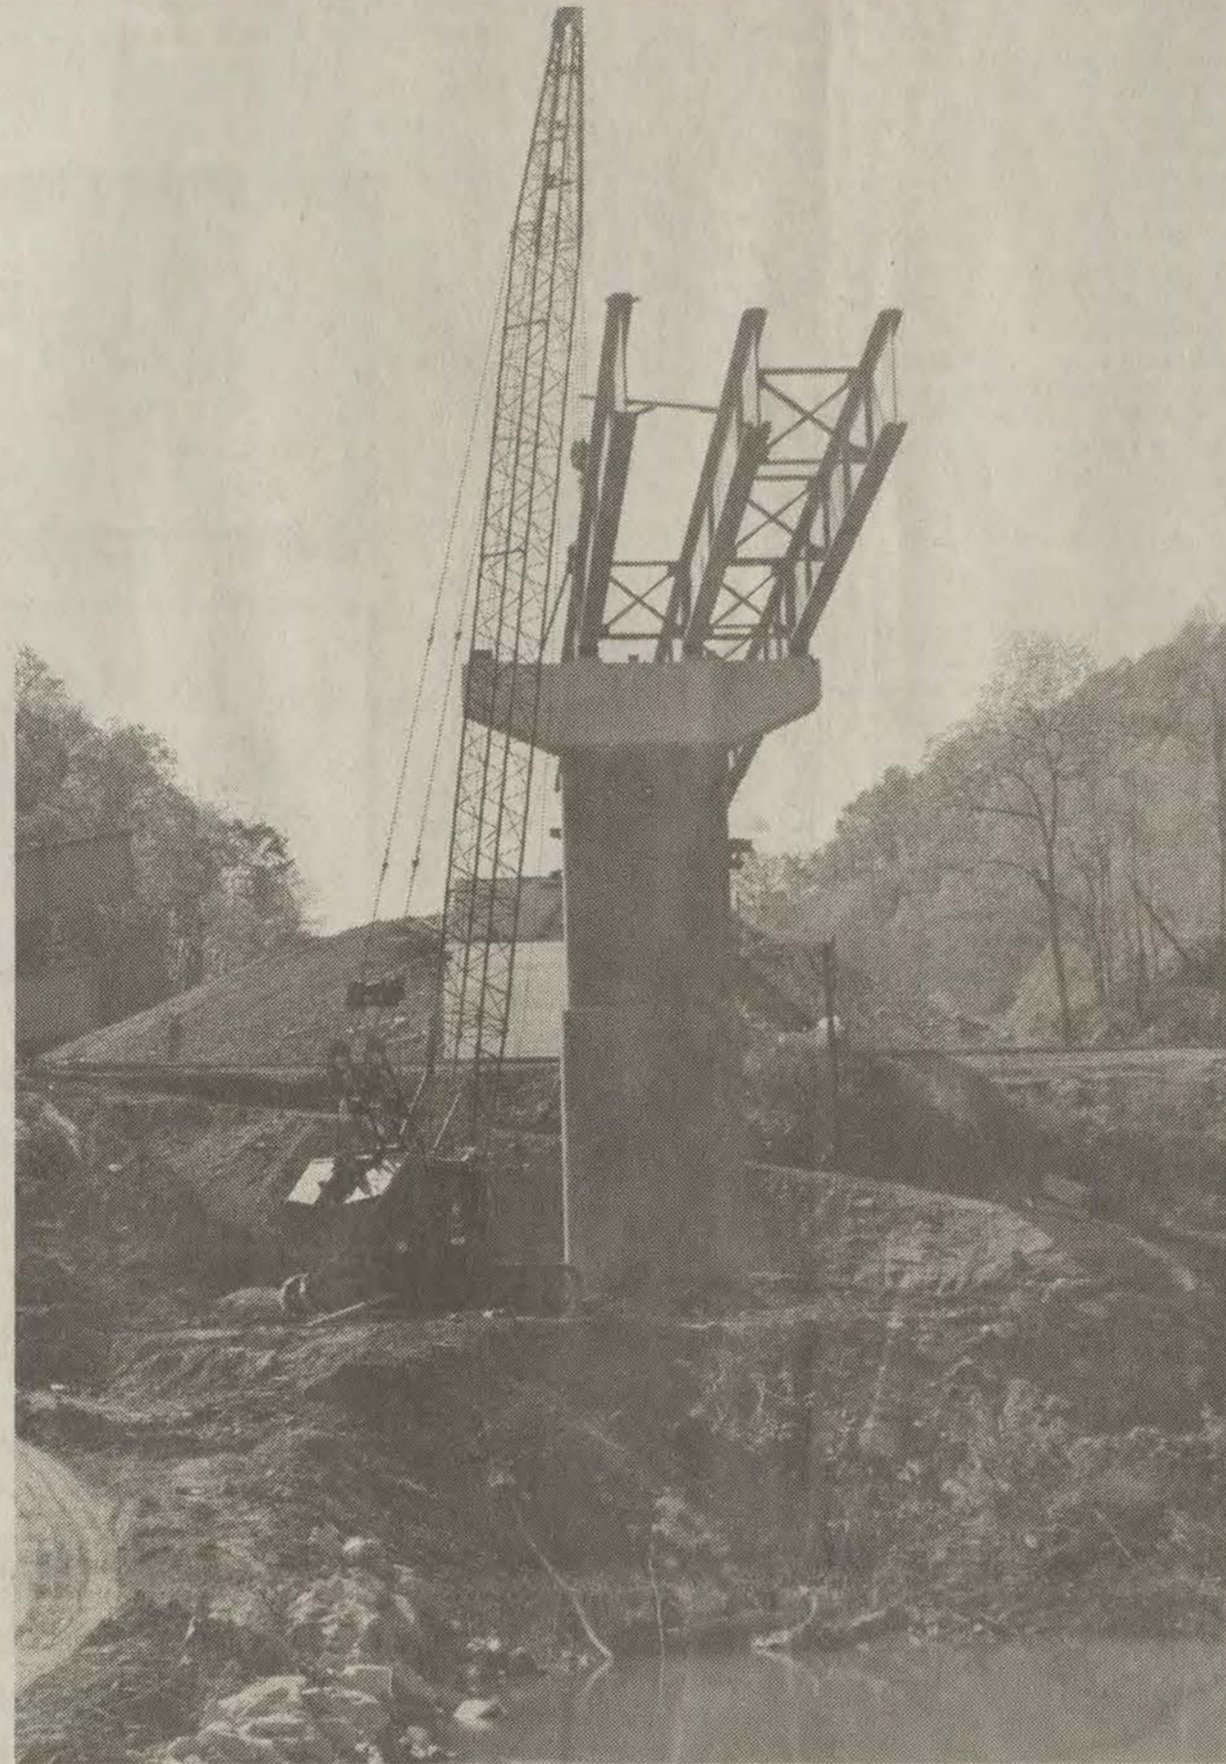

Venue change is denied

A charge against a Floyd County principal for allegedly threatening to harm a teacher while at school will be tried Tuesday, October 22 in Floyd District Court.

Special judge Miller Kent Carter of Pike County denied a motion Thursday to dismiss charges against Adams Middle School principal Thomas Tackett for allegedly threatening Gwendolyn Hammonds on May 14. An additional charge of harassment was placed against Tackett Thursday by Hammonds.

At a pre-trial hearing held in Pike County Thursday, Carter also denied a change of venue in the case and set it for trial on Tuesday.

Beware loan scams

The Better Business Bureau of Central Kentucky has warned Eastern Kentuckians to be on guard against a national epidemic of "bogus guaranteed loan programs."

In a news release issued October 17, the organization called the issue "one of the fastest-growing frauds" Eastern Kentucky residents are being exposed to.

The Better Business Bureau said advertisements offering loans to persons with bad or no credit often require applicants to pay "processing fees" up front without guarantees that loans will be approved. The processing fees are apparently not refundable.

An advertisement offering such loans was published last month in The Floyd County Times but cancelled after a reporter called the telephone number listed and learned an advance fee of $250 was required before a loan application would be processed.

"We should have checked out the ad a little more closely before it ran," Times editor Scott Perry said this week. "We got scammed, too. We didn't get paid for running it."

Similar offers have been advertised on television and radio stations around Kentucky.

"This has been our number one topic of inquiry since June 1991," said Tracey McLamey, president of the Better Business Bureau of Central and Eastern Kentucky, Inc. "Advance-fee loan schemes are par-

Red Ribbon Week proclaimed

Red Ribbon Week, an annual campaign against drug and alcohol abuse, will be commemorated in Kentucky from October 19 through October 26, including a "gigantic" celebration October 23 in Frankfort. The Red Ribbon campaign resulted from the murder of federal Drug Enforcement Agency agent Enrique Camerena by drug dealers in 1985.

Kentuckians are asked to show their support for the anti-abuse campaign by wearing or displaying red ribbons throughout the week.

Tackett's attorney, Bill McCann, asked the judge for a change of venue at Thursday's hearing because he said Tackett could not receive a fair trial in Floyd County due to media coverage of the case.

Carter advised McCann to have the case tried in Floyd County, saying that it "should be easy to get an impartial jury" in Floyd County. Carter said a change of venue could only be granted on the grounds that an impartial jury could not be seated.

McCann asked Carter about trying the case without a jury. Carter urged McCann to "stay with the jury system" and advised McCann that a jury trial would not be waived unless both sides in the case requested it.

Tackett faces charges of abuse of a teacher, harassment, and terroristic threatening for an alleged incident at the Middle School on May 14. Hammonds accused Tackett of threatening to kill members of the Floyd County Education Association at a meeting of the May meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education because of a FCEA cartoon reportedly placed on his desk.

A complaint was made to the Floyd County Sheriff's office about Tackett's threat and a deputy was assigned to attend the May school board meeting. There were no disturbances at the meeting.

The additional harassment charge alleges Tackett screamed in Hammonds' face; shook his finger at her and told her he hated her; and threatened to physically remove her from his office if she ever went back into it on May 14.

Hammonds was transferred to Martin Elementary for the 1991-92 school year and filed a federal lawsuit against Tackett, superintendent Ron Hager and the board September 11.

Local issue is focus for two magazines

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Representatives from two national magazines will be in Prestonsburg Monday to report on issues surrounding a medical waste incinerator at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

National Audubon and National Geographic will meet with members of Floyd Countians in Action (FCIA) Monday to discuss their concerns about Medisin's incinerator located at the hospital, said Phyllis Walker, a leader of FCIA.

The citizens group will also stage a demonstration at the incinerator at 3 p.m. Monday.

FCIA has been trying for over a year to close the incinerator, claiming that it poses a health hazards to residents in that area. The operation burns medical wastes from several surrounding counties and residents claim that it has affected their health and poses a threat to their environment.

A series of soil samples taken by the state's Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet show no significant elevation in metal content in the soil.

A risk assessment performed by the state in September reported that results from two backyard/garden samples taken from the properties of Barney Walker and Paul Horn "show little significant difference from the background soil samples."

The assessment also reported that the results "make it difficult to determine if 'contamination' really exists. Comparing the values of these samples with other background levels from this area and around the state does not show any of the substances (with the possible exception of cadmium) to be elevated above that expected in a 'clean soil' area."

Tests were conducted on levels of arsenic, cadmium, chromium VI, chromium III, mercury, barium and nickel in the soil. The report said that amounts of these chemicals found the soil were below safe levels established by the government's Environmental Protection Agency.

"Therefore, to determine with certainty that the levels of chemicals in the backyard/garden soil samples are below any level of concern may be impossible, but those tested are below a toxic level," the report concluded.

Mrs. Walker said Wednesday that tests are scheduled to be conducted to determine if other chemical compounds are present in the soil.

Future of Paintsville marina is uncertain

From the Paintsville Herald

In what commissioners said is a way to encourage future development at Paintsville Lake, the Johnson County Fiscal Court voted Friday to pay for an appraisal of the lake's marina.

The court said the action was not an indication that the county plans to purchase Paintsville Lake Marina, which is in jeopardy of closing.

"The county does not need to be in business, and that is not our goal," Commissioner William Barker said. "Our goal is economic development."

An official with RKM, Inc. which owns the marina, acknowledged in August that the future of the marina is unclear. He declined further comment because negotiations are underway for a possible purchase. Judge-Executive Gail Gillem said the county was involved in the negotiations.

Gillem said Friday that the county could not purchase the facility because of fund regulations. He noted, however, that the court could make a loan available for private enterprise to buy it. He said the $2,000 appraisal would determine how much the marina is worth.

The court will likely be asked to finance a second appraisal of the property in the next few months, he said.

Gillem said future development of Paintsville Lake would be difficult without the marina.

Negligence is alleged in suit over accident

The husband of a Betsy Layne woman who was killed in August while trying to cross Route 23 has filed suit in Floyd Circuit Court, alleging negligence on the part of the driver of the car which struck his wife.

Larry Hall, whose wife Alva J. Hall, 40, was killed August 15 while walking across Route 23 at Betsy Layne, alleged in his complaint filed October 7 that Edna B. Baril, of Prestonsburg, "carelessly, recklessly and negligently" operated her car when Mrs. Hall was struck. Hall also names Edie Brown, of Prestonsburg, as a defendant. Brown is alleged to be the owner of the car which hit Mrs. Hall.

The suit seeks an unspecified amount of damages.

A civil suit complaint lists only the plaintiff's cause of action.

Tall tomatoes

One of the largest tomato vines in the county was grown by Miss Freeda Case at the home of Robert and Bryan Johnson. It started out a little under three inches tall and blossomed to more than 14 feet. Freeda was quoted as saying she was ready to throw the little guy out. The little guy grew into one of the biggest in the county.

Medicaid assessment program expanded to more Kentucky health care providers

A new Kentucky law is allowing expansion of the state's hospital assessment program to five more groups of health care providers and should boost the state Medicaid budget by about $12.7 million. Effective this month, the Department for Medicaid Services is extending the program to dentists, optometrists, pharmacies, physicians and community mental health centers under House Bill 21, a bill approved by Gov. Wallace G. Wilkinson and the General Assembly in the 1991 special legislative session. In 1990, the Medicaid assessments of participating Kentucky hospitals began, using the tax to gain matching federal funds and returning an additional $98 million to the hospitals for indigent health care costs.

Under the expanded program, fees to individual Medicaid-participating providers will rise equal to 200 percent of their assessments.

At the same time, community mental health centers, whose payments for inpatient and outpatient services have an upper limit, will receive a 18 percent raise in the upper limit.

"The increased payments are necessary to ensure that doctors, dentists, pharmacies and optometrists continue to treat and do not curtail access to Medicaid-covered patients," said Medicaid Services Commissioner Roy Butler.

"But the law does more than just allow specific increases in reimbursements," he said. "We'll also raise a significant amount of state and federal funds for general budgetary needs, which is critical if Kentucky is to meet the cost of federally mandated expansions of services and avoid alternatives like a deficit, a reduction in fees or a tightening of eligibility requirements."

Providers will be paid the increased fees up front, then Medicaid will track the additional money each provider receives because of the program. Each quarter, providers will be assessed one half of the additional money derived through the program, not to exceed 15 percent of the provider's total revenue in that specific three month period. The assessments are then used to draw extra federal-to-state matching funds a ratio of 72-to-28 cents.

The first bills will be mailed to providers about Oct. 15.

Details of each provider groups'

reimbursement changes follow:

* Physicians -- Fee adjustments will vary with the type of service, but in general physicians will receive about a 50 percent increase in fee levels. For about 6,600 physicians, including obstetricians, the increase will total 26 percent or approximately $38.1 million more in payments in FY 1992.

* Dentists -- Fixed fees will be raised about 25 percent. Overall, about 1,225 dentists will be paid about $2.8 million more in reimbursements during fiscal year 1992, which is a total increase of 13.5 percent.

* Optometrists -- Fixed fees will increase roughly 18 percent. The 407 participating optometrists and vision care providers will be reimbursed about $600,000 more in FY 1992, or an increase of about 10.7 percent.

* Pharmacies -- Dispensing fees will be raised roughly 46 percent. Overall, 1,200 pharmacists will be reimbursed about $9.1 million more in fiscal year 1992, which is about a 7.3 percent increase in the total payment.

* Community mental health centers -- the total paid to the 14 centers will increase approximately $3.5 million.

Butler said officials are aware of questions raised about the assessment program, adding, however, "It's explicitly provided for under federal law as a proper method of raising state funds to meet federal mandates."

"As long as it's bona fide state money, the cost to the federal government is no greater than if the money were raised in a different manner, because the matching rate is the same," he said.

Butler said the department is not trying to lead the market in medical fees, but rather make adequate payments to providers. "Actually this should indirectly help lower health care costs for the general public, because when an inadequate payment is made to health care providers, it's the general public that subsidizes care for the impoverished through higher private fees and higher insurance premiums," Butler said.

A child's growth: one measure of overall health

All good little children who eat their carrots and peas do not necessarily grow up to be big and tall.

Ask Mary Andrews. Her son, Deno, reached his adult height of 5'6 1/2" only after he underwent a series of injections to counteract a hormone deficiency. Without treatment, Deno, an otherwise healthy youngster, would not have reached four feet tall, full adult height.

One study estimates that at least two million children in this country are affected by short stature. "Unfortunately," says Andrews, "the wide variety of syndromes, disorders and diseases that affect children's growth may not be obvious or well-known." Too often I hear parents say, "If I had only known what to look for in my child's growth."

In fact, other parents who have encountered the problem have said to Andrews:

"Whenever I questioned my child's short stature, my physician always said, 'Give him time, he'll grow.' If I had known the specific signs to look for, his disorder could have been diagnosed several years earlier."

"We were told our child was healthy. My motherly instincts told me something was wrong. And it was."

"I took my child to seven doctors before finding a specialist who diagnosed the problem. Actually, she has several conditions that affect her growth."

That's why Andrews, her husband and four other families with similar problems banded together to establish The MAGIC (Major Aspects of Growth In Children) Foundation. MAGIC is a national nonprofit organization dedicated to helping children whose growth is stunted by a medical problem. MAGIC's prime directive is to provide a system of educational, informational and support services so complete that no child has to suffer from short stature because of a preventable or treatable problem.

"Every child develops at a slightly different rate of speed," says Andrews, MAGIC's Executive Director. "But there are signs that point to abnormal growth."

"If your child seems small for his or her age, don't dismiss it by saying 'He'll eventually catch up.' Small stature can be caused by any of a wide variety of congenital, endocrine or systemic disorders," she said. Children have a short time to grow and a lifetime to live with those results. Creating parent education through public awareness can change the quality of a child's life. MAGIC needs your help. The children are depending on you.

The MAGIC Foundation offers these guidelines for parents:

+ A normal growth pattern is one of nature's lab tests for good health. A child who is among the smallest in their class, has not outgrown last year's clothes or not growing at least two inches per year may have a hidden problem affecting their growth.

+ Schedule regular physical exams for your children with your pediatrician or family physician. Ask your doctor to record height and weight measurements on a growth chart. If a child is not in the appropriate range for his or her age and sex, your doctor may order other tests and refer you to a specialist.

+ If you want to keep growth records at home, measure youngsters while they stand, barefoot, on a hard floor with heels, backside and head against the wall and looking straight ahead.

For growth related coverage provide your readers/audience the following toll free number: 1-800-3MAGIC 3 (use the MAGIC 708 area code number above for Chicago and Chicago suburban areas.)

In reference to the October 2 article, Poison Oak. The writer seemed to imply that it was not important who we vote for in the November election. His opinion was that we could just flip a coin and decide, based on heads or tails, or just pull a name from a hat.

This is the impression that too many people in Floyd County have now. We just stay home and let someone else decide who is going to make our decisions for us.

Just look around your community now at the coal industries that are idle. Remember how many of your family and friends that have lost their jobs in the mining business. Also, notice how many of your own relatives that have been forced to leave Eastern Kentucky to find employment. Where have the good paying jobs gone? How many of you are now working for minimum wages and some holding two jobs to survive?

We know that the Republicans support the use of oil, while the Democrats support the use of coal.

It is important how we decide to vote. Don't let your vote be decided by the flip of a coin. And above all, don't sit home and think your vote will not make a difference. GET OUT AND VOTE. It will make a difference.

I am writing to say how touched I was by Willie Elliot's article in the October 11 Times about the little boy and his special friend, Big Jack. You see, the little boy he wrote about was my son, Warren, and his special friend was my father.

I am sure that most parents feels their children are special, but many do not have the pleasure of reading an article about their children in the newspaper. It was a pleasant surprise to say the least.

I would like to thank Mr. Elliot for giving my family something to save and treasure for the rest of our lives.

Now is the time to let those Senators and Representatives running for the office know what we the voters who are being taxed on our private pensions, also those who are about to retire, think about this issue. First, let us make it quite clear that we do not begrudge the state or federal retirees being tax exempt. However, we demand the same treatment.

The Kentucky Revenue Department complains of millions of tax dollars lost by making all Kentucky citizens equal. However, they forget to mention the millions of dollars lost by Kentucky retirees who leave the state to enjoy tax exemption in other state and who look after their senior citizens. We, here in eastern Kentucky, have gone out of our way to make it very clear to our Senators and Representatives how we feel and they know that they had better support us, or lose office.

We urge all citizens in Kentucky to use their vote to change this unfair and discriminatory law.

Airport Improvement Efforts Taking Off In Kentucky

I have long viewed the development of safe and efficient airports as one of our most promising tools for economic growth in large and small communities across Kentucky and the nation.

This is particularly true in a time of economic recession, which makes this the right time, in my opinion, for a report on the very encouraging progress we have been making with regard to our Kentucky airports.

As chairman of our Aviation Subcommittee, I have been working for some years now to encourage the use of our federal Aviation Trust Fund for much needed airport improvements in every part of our nation. This fund has a surplus of more than $7 billion. It is supported by those who use our aviation system—and it should be used for their benefit.

We are achieving increased use of our Trust Fund for a variety of far-sighted purposes, including the alleviation of airport noise problems. These problems must be solved in connection with airport projects to meet the tremendous growth of air-passenger traffic in recent years.

I have also been very pleased with our success in building federal support for vital improvements and essential-air-service programs for many of our smaller airports, such as those in Owensboro and Paducah.

These and other efforts have produced some impressive results in recent years. But I don't think we have ever seen more encouraging results than we are seeing in Kentucky today. Some of our most recent results include:

* A federal commitment of $149 million for Standiford Field expansion, which could create as many as 16,000 jobs in the Louisville area over the next few years. We have also obtained $585,000 for a security system and Senate approval of $3 million for a new control tower at Standiford Field.

* Funding of $4 million for noise abatement, $805,251 for a taxiway and $500,000 for a master-plan update at the Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky International Airport. We are also looking at the possible release of $100 million to resolve noise problems in connection with the expansion of this airport, which will contribute some $3.3 billion to the regional economy in 1992.

* Ninety percent federal funding of a $6 million reliever airport in Scott County.

* A $1.3 million security-system grant for Lexington's Blue Grass Airport.

* Funding of $500,000 for runway overlay and $648,000 for an instrument-landing-system (ILS) site at the Bowling Green Airport, which has already received ILS equipment funding.

* Other projects, including funding for a new runway at Hatcher Field in Pikeville, a new airport for Russell County, priority consideration of runway extension for McCreary County and airport improvements at Georgetown, Murray, Mount Sterling, Mayfield and Sturgis.

I look forward to working with state and local leaders across Kentucky as we continue to strengthen our economy through an improved aviation system in the months and years ahead.

Editorial :

Let's Make A Deal

by Scott Perry

Dope pushers from around the Commonwealth no doubt are champing at the bit to set up shop in Floyd County where the state's latest motto—"Open For Business"—is court-tested and government approved.

Take the case of James Dale Mosley, arrested last year in what city police described as the biggest cocaine bust in Prestonsburg history.

Mosley was accused of selling the dope from his service station near Prestonsburg High School and police said they had been watching the drug operation for several months before moving in.

Last May, Mosley pleaded guilty to drug trafficking charges, which carried a potential prison term of 5-10 years.

On October 8, Mosley's turn came to pay the piper for dancing to his drug dealing tune.

The bill came to a grand total of five years...probation. For making the Prestonsburg "record" book, Mosley will not have to spend one second behind bars...as long as he keeps his nose clean.

The probated sentence came on the recommendation of Mosley's prosecutors and was apparently based on a presentence report on Mosley's character and criminal history.

Ironically, next week is Red Ribbon Week in Kentucky, an annual anti-drug campaign established to honor the memory of a federal Drug Enforcement Agency officer murdered by drug dealers in 1985.

Lots of folks will be wearing red ribbons next week to show their support for the campaign against illegal drugs. Some may even be serious.

Small loans are important at First Guaranty National Bank

At First Guaranty National Bank, we welcome the opportunity to make even the smallest loan. We know the American Dream often begins with a small investment.

When we first opened back in 1946, many young men were returning from service overseas. It was an exciting time when wedding bells sounded throughout the county and young families were just starting out. New businesses sprang up all around and First Guaranty National Bank granted the first small loans to young entrepreneurs.

Money was needed for tools, equipment, inventory, delivery trucks -- an array of start-up expenses. Then, as now, no amount was too small to be important at First Guaranty National Bank.

Those first small loans were seed money for businesses that have grown and prospered. Through the years, we financed their expansion as they became an integral part of our communities and of our region's economy.

Always locally owned, we grew right along with our customers into a strong and sound financial institution. So sound, in fact, that we are one of only three banks in Kentucky recognized in the Top 100 Best Midsized Banks in America.*

Yes, small loans are important at First Guaranty National Bank. They give us the opportunity to meet needs and to establish lasting relationships with new customers.

If you need a loan, from $50 to $1 million, we welcome your business at First Guaranty National Bank.

AIDS care coordinators combine compassion, advocacy, education

The term "AIDS care coordinator" technically describes the job of coordinating available medical, social and mental health services for people with HIV-infection or AIDS.

Actually, care is the key element of the job.

"We do what we have to do to increase the quality of life for the people we serve," said Alan Ostaseski, an AIDS care coordinator for 63 central and eastern Kentucky counties.

"This might mean tracking down money for medicine or giving somebody a ride to a support group meeting or picking up a prescription," he said. "If they need it or we think it will improve their morale or give them a little laugh, we'll try to provide it."

"We are advocates for people with HIV, and we hope to educate some people along the way."

Ostaseski is one of eight Kentucky AIDS care coordinators in five regions of the state. The Department for Health Services set up the network in the fall of 1990 to provide assistance for HIV-infected Kentuckians and those with AIDS.

Anna Mayne, state coordinator for the network, says that two issues led to the creation of the care coordinator program.

"For the most part, people with HIV and AIDS are young, self-sufficient and have been earning a decent living," she said. "They're not accustomed to dealing with social service agencies or finding help for medical bills."

"In addition, they are going through tremendous emotional and physical turmoil, so they need some extra help cutting through the red tape and finding all of the services they need."

Mayne says that the stigma of having AIDS is another problem.

"Even with all of the education and increasing understanding among the general public, many people with HIV and AIDS still are not willing to tell others about their disease because of the stigma that remains," she said.

"So it's extremely helpful for them to have a care coordinator at the forefront making contacts for them and searching out the services that can help them. This provides the person with a certain level of anonymity."

Melinda Overstreet, AIDS care coordinator for 25 western Kentucky counties, says that it is important for HIV-infected people to have a strong support system, "still I see many who are very, very scared to let people know what they (have tested) positive for the HIV virus."

Overstreet says that only continued education will bring compassion.

"I have the opportunity to educate people about AIDS, and I try to make them understand that it doesn't matter how people got AIDS," she said. "The point is they have it, and they need help regardless of how they got it."

"I think Kentuckians should know that even if you live in a small county, you need to take precautions to prevent yourself from becoming infected. On the other hand, don't become hysterical when you hear that someone in your community is HIV-infected or has AIDS because you can't get it from casual contact."

"If the community has been educated about AIDS, they are more likely to provide the support and compassion that people need."

Martin County Coal Corp. emphasizes safety

Officials at Martin County Coal Corp. (MCCC) have released safety statistics for the 3rd quarter of 1991. During the period, there were no lost-time accidents reported at the company, and only one accident with minor injuries. No safety citations were issued to MCCC by the Mine Safety and Health Administration concerning that incident.

"This report reflects the emphasis on working safely at MCCC," said Larry Jones, president. "We are committed to the prevention of accidents on the job, and our safety record speaks for itself."

Safety at MCCC during 1991 so far is at a 2.23 NFDL incident rate according to Jones. This figure reflects mining operations that are significantly below the national average for lost time due to accidents. MCCC employs 32 emergency medical technicians and two EMT instructors who undergo 12 hours of continuous training each year. The employees are very instrumental in establishing mining plans and safety procedures at Martin County Coal.

"The commitment to safety does not end at MCCC's property lines," said Jones. "The company trains several teachers in the Martin County School District in CPR each year. We also have made classes available to our employees who wish to become EMTs." These classes also are attended by other community members who work for various ambulance services.

Jones went on to say that MCCC has experienced only one fatality in 21 years of producing more than 47.5 million tons of coal and that there are few companies that can boast such a record.

Eastern Ky. council of teachers of mathematics fall workshop develop the thinking skills necessary to perform well on authentic assessment. The workshop should be exceptionally worthwhile for mathematics teachers at all grade levels through higher education and should be of special interest to instructional supervisors. The meeting will adjourn no later than 8:30 p.m. and there will be no advance registration. Students are welcome to attend.

An aid to locating vital records

Vital records are just that...vital. We need access to them.

In this age of bureaucratic documentation, everyone has need of copies of records of birth, death, marriage or divorce. An application for benefits from the Veterans Administration or Social Security, a passport or marriage license requires not only the information in the records but usually copies of the records themselves.

All these records are stored permanently by municipalities, counties, states and the Federal government. We all know this, but where each document is kept is frequently unknown.

The Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, found there was little uniformity on where the records were available and the costs. In some states, birth records are kept by the city and in others by the county or state. To further complicate matters, often older records are held in different places than current ones. In addition, the addresses where the records are kept are changed quite often.

The consumer group found many people had difficulty in locating the records they needed, often, it was necessary to make expensive long distance calls just to find out where to write, what information was required and how much money to send. For that reason CERC has been publishing a book entitled WHERE TO WRITE FOR VITAL RECORDS which contains a state-by-state listing of the addresses and telephone numbers of the archive where each record can be found, the cost of a copy of the document and sample form letters containing all the information needed to get these and other vital documents.

CERC has just released the 1990 update. For those needing information from foreign countries, the book contains a list of government offices where you can get help in locating vital records kept in almost every country. Even U.S. citizens born overseas, on a ship or aircraft can locate the place where their records are kept.

The organization found that many people have used previous additions to locate their family trees or roots. For those, the book includes information on the Family History library of the Mormon Church. This library contains over 200,000 volumes of family history records and a list of almost a quarter-million people who are willing to share information to help you find your family roots.

To get a copy of this useful book, send $8.50 to CERC Documents, 350 Scotland Rd., Orange, N.J. 07050.

Robert L. Berko, executive director of CRC says that originally the book was published to satisfy the needs of persons applying for various benefits but many others have found it useful. He has received letters from libraries, coroners, law enforcement, social agencies, credit grantors, collection agencies, stock ownership tracers, lawyers, persons searching for missing heirs and even those interested in searching their family roots. All these and others have found use for a book that helps them locate and prove the status of individuals.

Many times documents can be used to prove things other than what they record. For instance, one woman wrote to the group telling them that a birth certificate for her child proved her residence at that time in the United States and helped her become eligible for legal residence and citizenship.

Governor supports extension of mortgage revenue bond program

Governor Wallace G. Wilkinson is pushing for national legislation to extend the tax-exempt Mortgage Revenue Bond program (MRBs). The MRB Program, administered by the Kentucky Housing Corporation, is a primary source of first-time home financing for low- to moderate-income Kentuckians. The Mortgage Revenue Bond program began in the early 1970s and has since been continually threatened with expiration. The MRB program is slated to expire December 31, 1991.

Wilkinson has been a strong advocate for affordable housing. Under his direction, the Kentucky Housing Corporation has developed new Programs such as EPIC (Equity Partners Investing in the Commonwealth) which provides qualifying families with the capital for down payment and closing costs when buying a first home. "Without the Mortgage Revenue Bond program and Programs such as EPIC, it would be impossible for deserving Kentucky families to realize the goal of homeownership," Wilkinson stated.

In a letter to Kentucky's Senators and Representatives, Governor Wilkinson urged them to support Senate Bill 167 and House Bill 1067 that would preserve MRBs.

"I'm, greatly concerned that the Mortgage Revenue Bond program may end permanently this December. During my administration we have devoted much time to improving the quality of life for all Kentuckians. If the Mortgage Revenue Bond program ends, the quality of life for these Kentuckians will be severely affected," Governor Wilkinson said.

Smile Awhile by Sarah Hopson

HOOSIER SISTER?

Our family traveled nearly 800 miles this past weekend as we visited folks in Indianapolis, the home state of that "brunt of every joke" Vice President Dan Quayle.

For some reason, it didn't take us long to realize that maybe people in the in the Hoosier state just think differently than their neighbors in Kentucky. Personally, I think he has to be somewhat intelligent, or he wouldn't ever have had the opportunity to run for vice president, much less be elected.

Nevertheless, after walking through malls, browsing in stores, and shopping at the grocery stores, we discovered that because of Quayle, the media has been giving Hoosier's a bum rap. After all, David Letterman is from Indianapolis and you certainly wouldn't accuse him of being unintelligent. You could, but he'd probably laugh all the way to the bank.

Despite this observation, the people we visited might have proven the media right. The lady of the house threw out the welcome mat and even gave up her bed just so we would be comfortable. Although there were no sheets on the bed until we made it, it looked appealing when we first arrived because it was covered by a bedspread. As for Friday night supper, it was just like home - pizza.

On Saturday morning, we arose later than usual (because they're one hour behind us) and enjoyed a delightful meal of homemade breakfast fajita's then started out in the cool, crisp autumn weather to attend a soccer game. Since the man of the house was a soccer coach, we thought we could learn something if we went, we did. Irate parents scream out profanities at the umpires when they're angry in Indiana, too.

Later that night, when everybody else was asleep, the lady of the house and I stayed up and talked. That's when I discovered that the media was onto something about Hoosier's being a few bricks short. When I casually mentioned something about a tailgate party, our hostess said, "I didn't them and honked or something. I was really surprised when I found out."

"I can understand that," I replied with a snicker.

"Well, laugh if you want, but tailgate parties are realitively new. I don't recall you ever talking about them."

"Oh, I'm not being catty, I just thought you'd know."

"Why would I know that? Why the other day at work, I overheard some co-workers talking about their sump pumps. I wasn't sure what they were, so I listened for a while before I asked them if a sump pump was a new kind of Reebok tennis shoe."

As tears streamed down my face, I tried hard to contain my laughter but failed when I lost my breath and burst into uncontrollable guffawing. As I rolled around on the couch, my hostess narrowed her eyes and announced she wanted to go to bed.

"Excuse my behavior. I don't know exactly what a sump pump is myself, but I think I could have figured out it wasn't a tennis shoe."

"Good for you, Einstein. I'm going to bed."

"Please don't be mad."

"Why should I be mad? I enjoy guests arriving unexpectedly so I can give up my bed to them. And I really get a hoot out of not having time to prepare something for them to eat, or plan something for them to do. That's how I get my kicks."

"Don't get defensive. You could have opened up a can of viennies or something."

"That's another thing that has caused me deep embarrassment."

"Viennies?"

"Yes, Vienna Sausages! Why didn't anyone ever tell me that's what they really were? Can you imagine asking your boss if he wanted to share some viennies with you?"

"Ah, geez! The bank president? What a downer. I'd never have guessed a man of his wisdom didn't know what a viennie was."

Though she didn't appreciate my humor, the visit opened up our eyes about Hoosiers. They're really smart. Just ask my Kentucky sister, Amanda, she's lived there for 10 years.

Resource Center Guide

Mountain Voices — by Willie Elliott —

Sheila Curry Harlow

Sheila Curry Harlow, a graduate of Wheelwright High School, wife of Roy Alan Harlow and mother of two is our newest addition to the school. Wheelwright High is the recipient of a grant for an Upper Left Beaver Resource Center. This will be a resource center and youth program.

In talking with Mrs. Harlow, we found her to be very optimistic for the new program. She sees a world of changes in the school since she was a student here. Other schools will benefit from the pilot program started here according to Mrs. Harlow.

In her spare time Mrs. Harlow enjoys crafts. She is a member of the United Methodist Church of Wheelwright where her husband serves as minister.

SECRETARIES DO IT ALL

In any school who would a person see before he/she fills out any form, orders any supplies, withdraws or enters a student, or completes any of the hundred tasks that are involved in the daily run of the school? If your school is anything like McDowell High School, your answers to the above questions and several others would be the school secretary.

The job description for a school secretary will read something like this: "Do general clerical work which will include some typing, filing, and general office work." A more accurate description would be this: "Do whatever is needed on a given day to make the school run smoothly and keep the principal, teachers, and students as happy as possible."

As far fetched as the latter job description listed above may be, that is what we have come to expect of Brenda Tackett, our secretary at McDowell for the last 14 years. Some of her duties are mandated by board and school policy, but many come from Brenda's desire to make the school a better place to work and learn.

Any school secretary must have a high degree of patience because there are times when 15 people are asking for different things all at the same time. Brenda has acquired the skill of looking for one thing at a time and tactfully telling the other 14 to wait their turn. She has a knack of asking people to wait with a smile. Ninety percent of the time that will work and people will understand. She works on the philosophy that it is what one says rather than what one doesn't say that tends to irritate people.

Brenda had much practice in dealing with children before she became the school secretary. Her husband, Perry, and she are the parents of Sherry and Aleshia Tackett, two wonderful young ladies who graduated from McDowell. Sherry is now a teacher at Osborne Elementary, and Aleshia is a beautician who has just finished her internship. She goes this month for her state boards test. She plans to open her own shop.

Brenda is a big supporter of the school in its extra-curricular activities. She attends nearly all home basketball games and usually works in some capacity such as selling tickets or working for one of the school organizations.

I asked Brenda how she handled the pressures of doing so many things with constant deadlines, and this is what she had to say: "I take one day at a time and do as many things as I can get done and worry about everything that I don't get done. Most people are very understanding and realize that I am only one person with a thousand things to do. Most deadlines are met on time."

There is a good chance that McDowell and Wheelwright will consolidate next year. I asked Brenda if she intended to go with us when we went to the new school. This is what she had to say about the closing of McDowell High School and the opening of a new school: "I will be very sad to see the school gone. I think it will be very different for the grade school. It is always sad when a community loses its school, but the grade school will still be here. I'm sure a lot of good things will come from the new high school. Brenda, like the most of us, will have to wait and see whether she will be working at the new high school.

Most of the time we take Brenda for granted and continue to ask her to do 15 things at once. However, we truly appreciate how she makes our job easier and our experience at McDowell more pleasant and rewarding.

Red, White and Blue Representative

Miss Tina Renee Johnson, a senior at Wheelwright High School, was chosen to represent W.H.S. in the Red, White and Blue Pageant. Tina is the 17-year-old daughter of Nora Johnson of Stanville.

Tina was surprised and proud upon winning, "I was proud to be chosen by the students here at Wheelwright to represent our school."

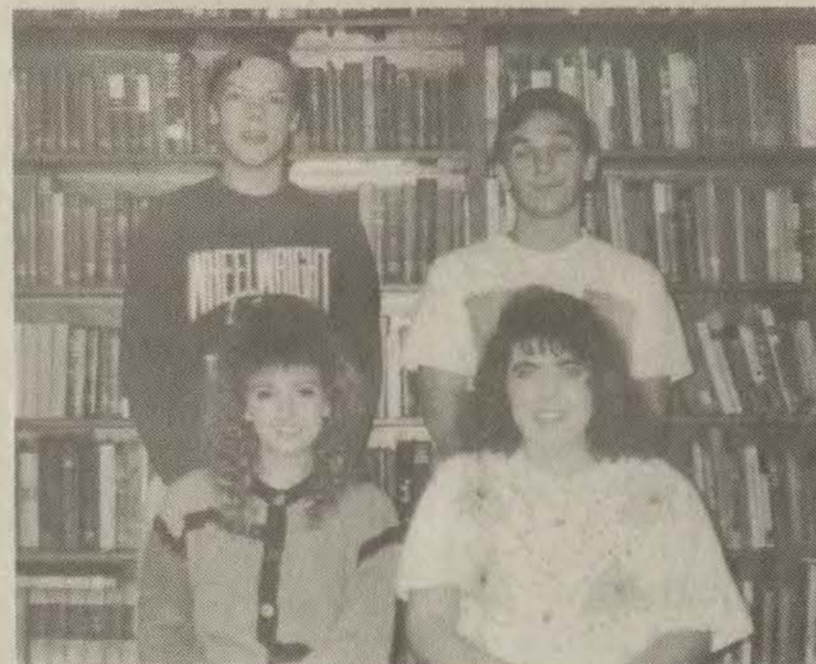

Tina will be escorted by Chad Stone, the 15-year-old son of Vernon and Debbie Stone of Beville.

Junior, Seniors Elect Officers

Shortly after school began the topic of conversation seemed to be the Prom! Can you imagine? It was September- the prom is in May but money must be raised.

After a short meeting of the junior class, the following officers were elected: (left to right) Steven Shelton; president, Lora Smallwood; vice-president, Deidra Framar; secretary, and Ryan Johnson; treasurer. A prom committee will be selected from the Junior homerooms shortly. The senior class also elected officers and they are: seated: Faye Owens; vice-president, Samatha Osborne; secretary, standing: Greg Little; treasurer, Eddie Shelton; president.

Writing Program Underway

Teachers met at Wheelwright High on October 2 to begin their instruction and make plans for writing in the coming year.

Eighteen teachers will be involved and will come from Osborne Elementary, Melvin Elementary, and Wheelwright High.

Under the superb leadership of Carol Stumbo, teachers were told of portfolio assessments, journal writings, and Holistic scoring.

Wheelwright High has received a $25,000 grant to become a model school for the Writing Across the Curriculum program. Each teacher will not only be paid a stipend for their efforts but will receive $500 for instructional supplies.

We're expecting some good things from the writing program this year. We will keep the county informed of the progress.

New faces grace the old halls of Wheelwright High School

A new school year: renewing old friendships, checking out the freshmen-hosing them if necessary-it's all a part of the pattern.

However, this year brought several changes at Wheelwright High. Along with 60 plus freshmen, there are three new teachers, a new coach, and a new principal. Not only do the students need to adjust, but the faculty must adjust also.

Lisa Tackett looks more like a student than a new faculty member. At age 22, she has two children: Tabitha, four, and Brandon, nine months. Her husband is James Tackett. Mrs. Tackett graduated from McDowell High and attended Pikeville College. Prior to W.H.S., Mrs. Tackett taught at John M. Stumbo Elementary. She says she is delighted to be on the high school level because she relates well to older students. She says she is very impressed with the cooperation of both faculty and students.

Irene Goble is no new-comer to the education scene. Ms. Goble taught at Betsy Layne High School for seventeen years before becoming principal at Clark Elementary. Ms. Goble lives at Ivel which makes for a long drive. "I really enjoy teaching here and working with my students. I think W.H.S. has an excellent staff."

Very kind of you, Ms. Goble.

Jerry Swiney from Salyersville, graduated from Morehead with majors in math, business and accounting. Mr. Swiney is married but has no children. His wife's name is Debbie. When asked his impression of W.H.S., he replied, "Rather small school but the people are great. The staff has been good to me and the students seems eager to learn."

Jerry's hobbies are hunting, chess, football, basketball and baseball.

Jackie Pack is the new basketball coach and is delighted to be back in Floyd County. Mr. Pack hails from Wayland where he attended high school and played for the Wayland Wasps.

Mr. Pack resides in Prestonsburg and enjoys tennis and swimming as well as basketball. He has two daughters and one son, all in school at the present time. Mr. Pack has coached both high school and college basketball. He's completely satisfied with his new team and has remarked that "Our kids are no different from those in other schools." Thanks Mr. Pack, we needed that.

Kalawese Oden, a graduate of Wheelwright High School, works with the drop out prevention program this year. Mrs. Oden was born and raised in Wheelwright. She is married to Duane Oden and has a son at W.H.S. and a daughter at Osborne Elementary.

Mrs. Oden is a member of the Lighthouse Temple Church where she is secretary and a Sunday school teacher. She enjoys arts and crafts, baseball, and says being a part of the school really makes a person appreciate it more. We need you as an education cheerleader, Mrs. Oden.

Lewis G. Berkheimer, former Vocational Education teacher at Johnson Central High School will be at the helm for W.H.S. this year.

Mr. Berkheimer is a native of W. Va., but resides in Paintsville at the present time. This is his 24th year in education and 17 of these were also spent as a football coach. His wife, Virginia, teachers at Johnson Central High School.

The new principal seems most impressed with the attitude of our students. They seem to have accepted the few rules he has installed. He's very impressed with the academic programs and with the efforts put forth by the staff to achieve these programs. Another feature of our school that pleases him is the pride we have in our school, community, and heritage. The principal is an avid golfer but enjoys all sports. Reading novels provides some measure of relaxation.

Wheelwright student council begins new year

At the first meeting of the student council, there was a great deal of enthusiasm and ideas to start off a good year. Elections for secretary gave us Quindeana Cook. The other officers are: Becky Allen, President, Amy Newsome, vice-president, and Amy Wilson, treasurer.

Our treasury consists of $30.00. The student council will collect receipts from Food City and Foodland which will be used to earn computers for the school. Each member has been asked to collect receipts from their neighbors. Painting the youth center will be a second project. This will be used as a resource center for the youth of the area.

Student council members will volunteer to be teenage counselors. We will encourage teenagers to stay in school and let them know someone does care.

Fund raising is a current topic. Several ideas were proposed. The student council will ask for a Spirit Week in the fall. It was quite successful last year. The proposed date will be October 14-18. Mrs. Osborne asked the student council to help encourage parents to attend the Academic Boosters Club meetings.

The first meeting will be the second Monday in October which will be October 14. Heart-to-Heart was an activity we did last year for Valentine's Day. This was proposed as a possible fund raiser. We'd like to have our own bulletin board this year to keep everyone advised of our progress.

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

MARTIN JUNIOR PRO ALIVE AND WELL...

Contrary to rumors about the Martin Junior Pro basketball league fading away, those rumors were laid to rest when Renea Thomsbury phoned to let me know that the league will go on as usual. Renea was elected president of the Martin league and she is presently passing out sign-up forms for the training and junior varsity leagues. Others involved in the Martin Junior Pro League is Anna Risner, Christy Frye and Cindy Mullins. Anyone in the county who wishes to play in the Martin league is welcome to sign up. Renea also said that the league is in need of coaches and will have to start from scratch financially.

Some of the businesses in Martin ought to get behind the league and support it because junior pro basketball is big stuff!

MAYTOWN GYM HAS ITS MEMORIES ALSO...

The administration at Maytown Grade School has hung "signs of the past" accomplishments of the former Maytown High School basketball team. At the Right Beaver Classic grade school tournament that is going on right now, several have commented to me of the many exciting basketball games that was played in the old gym. The rivalries between Maytown and Martin was excelled by no one. Many outstanding basketball players performed on the old gym floor.

The folks at the Maytown Grade School spent a lot of hours fixing the gym up by putting in new bleachers, concession stand and painting the inside. It certainly looks good and the school got a new scoreboard also.

TARPLEY ANOTHER CASUALTY...

What possesses a professional basketball player who has a $3 million contract to chuck it all for the habit of drugs? Why doesn't he get some professional help with the problem? Tarpley was banned from the NBA and the Dallas Mavericks.

But Tarpley is just one of several casualties who has had their career either ended or interrupted for substance abuse. Why?

SCHEDULES COME IN, BUT....

I recently had an article in the sports section asking for grade schools to send me their schedules for the coming basketball season. I appreciate those that did and about all have responded. But the disturbing thing about the schedules that I have received has been the easy scheduling some of the teams have made up. Some of your long-time county rivalries are nonexistent this year and that's wrong. Our top grade school teams should play one another.

I also realize that some teams won't play another because they have hard feelings about games of the past. That's childish! I think each team should play the toughest teams they can schedule.

Furthermore, I think it is time our county athletic director takes the reins and makes out the county basketball schedule of all teams, appoint a committee to work with him in this and see that each team in the same section plays a home and home series as well as games with some of the top teams from other sections. In Section 1, each team would play each other twice as well as have games scheduled with teams like Stumbo, Adams, McDowell, Betsy Layne, Allen, Duff and etc. The thing that I hear is that coaches in the county can't get local games because "no one will play us." Our county AD and committee could ensure the fact that those big games will be played by making out the schedule themselves. It will work. No county team should have to go out of the county to get ball games. It is time to put hurt feelings aside and the fear of playing a bigger school. You can play a make-shift schedule, but when it comes tournament time and you have to face the big boys, there could be some red faces.

Until next Wednesday, for our high school season picks, be good sports. It's always better if you are-

Mullins' 18 Points Lead McDowell Past Betsy Layne 40-37 In Classic

It all came down to who could hit their free throws late in the game. The result: neither team. So was the scenario in Wednesday night's game between the Daredevils of McDowell and the Betsy Layne Elementary Bobcats. Both teams experienced horrible shooting from the charity stripe. Betsy Layne connected on just seven of 21 attempts while McDowell hit 10 or 24. The Daredevils at one point missed the front end of five straight bonus shots with the game tied at 35-35. Betsy Layne missed theirs in the early going as they misfired on the first seven in the first period. In fact, the Bobcats hit only three of 13 in the first half.

It was the play of Terrance Mullins that ignited the Daredevils in the final 54 seconds of the game to help McDowell to post a thrilling 40-37 win over Betsy Layne.

McDowell held a nine point advantage late in the third quarter, leading 27-18. The Bobcats, behind the scoring of Anthony Kizer, cut the lead to three, 31-28 at the end of the first period, by outscoring McDowell 10-4.

Betsy Layne took the lead, 32-31, for the first time since the first quarter when they led 2-0, on a basket by Rodney Hamilton and two free throws by Willie Meade. Meade's two charity tosses were the result of a technical foul called on Combs for unsportsmanlike behavior. Mullins hit one of two free throws to tie the game at 32-all. Meade then stole the basketball and drove the floor for a lay in, but he was also fouled on the play by Mullins. Meade sank the free throw for a 35-32 Betsy Layne lead.

With 3:15 remaining in the game, Betsy Layne took control and began to run the clock as they went to a stall. Mike Stephens made a steal of the ball and rolled under the basket for two points. Betsy Layne turned the ball over again and Mullins headed for the basket where he was "intentionally" fouled and awarded two free throws plus the ball out of bounds. Mullins hit the back of the two shot foul to tie the game at 35-35.

Hamilton fouled for Betsy Layne with 2:22 showing on the clock. Betsy Layne went cold from the field, but McDowell experienced some coldness from the free throw line where they had a chance to put the game away. First: Nick Little missed front end of a bonus. Second: Jason Tackett missed the front of a bonus. Again, it's Little who missed the front end of a bonus. Third time for Little, missed the front end of a bonus. Finally, on the fourth trip to the charity stripe Little hit one of two shots and a 36-35 McDowell lead. Mullins iced the game for the Daredevils as he slipped through the Betsy Layne defense for a basket. Stephens scored on short

Battle of the boards!

Howard's Two Free Throws at :09 Sink Auxier 50-48

It all came down to who was going to make their free throws. Maytown did. Auxier didn't. Todd Howard, sixth grader, stepped to the charity stripe with just nine seconds showing on the scoreboard and the score knotted at 48-48. Howard promptly and calmly sank both tosses to give the Maytown Wildcats a thrilling, come from behind 50-48 win over the Auxier Hornets in the first round of the Right Beaver Classic at Maytown Tuesday night. However, Auxier wasn't without their chance to send the game into overtime. With just four ticks of the clock left, Shane Hall stood at the free throw line with a chance to tie the game. Hall had canned three of four previously and looked like the man to have at the stripe. But the Hornet center missed the front of the bonus shot and the Wildcat crowd celebrated the victory.

It was a tough road back for the Wildcats who trailed most of the game. In fact, the only lead they enjoyed before the game winning free throws was at 1-0 on a free throw by Nick Halbert.

Auxier was in charge of the game leading by 13 points entering the final quarter of play. Maytown coach Rick Hancock went with a smaller and quicker lineup to try and pressure the Hornets more in the fourth period.

"I had to come in with a smaller lineup," he explained, "so we could move the basketball and play quicker on defense."

The Wildcats press confused the Hornets, if not stunned them. Maytown was constantly getting the open shots underneath and shot 14 free throws in the fourth period. Auxier's two big men, Ervin Osborne and Steve Adkins went out via the foul route, Adkins leaving with 1:44 remaining and 32 seconds later, Osborne exiting. "I told both of them during a time out to be careful," commented Auxier coach Ashland Gearheart. "But we gave the game away."

When Osborne fouled out Auxier was nursing a cautious five point lead, 45-40. Howard, who normally is deadly at the free throw line, missed on a two shot foul and then came back and canned one of two to make it a four point margin 45-41. Pressure on the throw resulted in a steal for Maytown, where Howard scored underneath and was fouled. He dropped in the charity toss and it was a one point game with the home crowd going wild.

Hall was hammered bringing the ball down the floor and hit one of two free throws to make it a 46-44 contest. Estill Stumbo threw in a shot from outside to tie the game at 46-46.

With Osborne and Adkins on the bench, Hornet coach Ashland Gearheart put the ball in the hands of Hall to handle. Hall was fouled at mid-court by Howard and stepped to the free throw line where he sank both shots to give Auxier a two point 48-46 lead. Shannon drilled a shot from the corner to tie the game and then Howard was fouled off an Auxier turnover and hit both game winning tosses.

Auxier (0-1) will play Monday night at Betsy Layne. Maytown (1-0) will advance on in tournament play.

Adams Opens Season With 52-41 Victory Over Duff Bulldogs

William Marsillett tossed in 22 points as the Adams Middle School Blackcats posted a 52-41 win over the Duff Bulldogs Wednesday night in the first round of the Right Beaver Classic at Maytown.

It was the Bulldogs chasing the Blackcats as the two Floyd County grade school powers battled in a close one until the final quarter.

Adams scored the first six points of the fourth quarter to build a 13 point advantage, 45-32, after Duff had scratched their way back into the game in the third period. It was the on-charging Marsillett and floor play of Brett James that sent the Blackcats out front. Marsillett scored the first three baskets for Adams and James added a three-point play as the lead went to 48-34. Bennett Allen scored the final four points of the game for Adams.

Duff ran off five straight points late in the final stanza as Jason Osborne and Matt Crawford hit jumpers. Todd Bingham added a free throw.

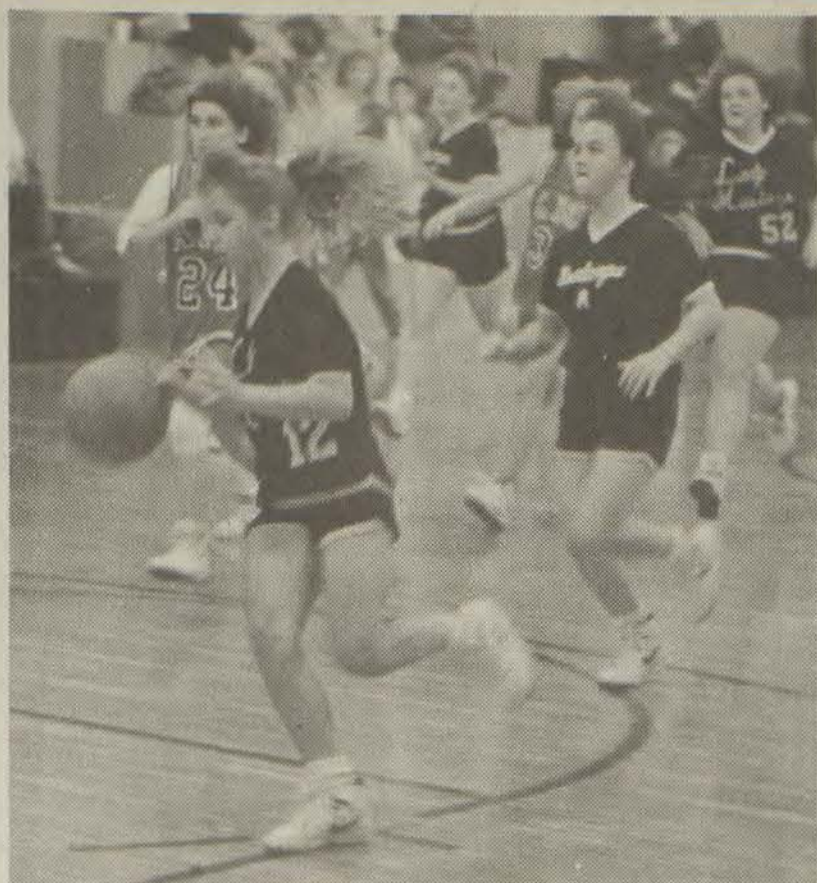

Adams took a quick 2-0 lead on Allen's opening basket. Allen was fouled on the first play of the game but missed the free throw. After Crawford's corner jumper tied the game, Adams scored seven unanswered points for a 9-2 game.

After a Duff time out, Brad Allen hit a jumper for Duff. Marsillett and Chris Hicks answered with back to back scores. Crawford scored on two short base line jumpers before the quarter ended to make it 14-8 Adams.

Adams build a 13 point lead middle ways of the second quarter but a late Bulldog charge cut the lead to seven,

Leader of the pack!

Tackett Leads Lady Mustangs Past Adams 42-25 In RB Classic

Penny Tackett tossed in 12 points to help lead the Lady Mustangs of John M. Stumbo Elementary to a 42-25 win over the Lady Blackcats of Adams Middle School. The two teams met in the first round of the Right Beaver Classic at Maytown Tuesday night.

Stumbo scored the first 10 points of the fourth quarter to open up a 16 point lead and open the game up. Adams, who trailed 20-11 at half time, rallied in the third quarter to pull to within six points, 26-20 of the Lady Mustangs before the spurt by Stumbo at the start of the final stanza.

Stumbo moved out to a 10-6 first quarter lead behind the scoring of Taba Tackett and Jamie Hall. Each had four points in the period. The Lady Mustangs extended their lead to 10 by scoring the first eight points of the second period to take a 18-6 lead. Mandy Hall had the first four points of the second quarter.

Adams' defense tightened up some in the third period as the Lady Black-cats began to chip away at the Stumbo lead. Crystal Layne went to work at offense and scored seven points to bring her team to within four points of Stumbo, 24-20. Layne scored all five points for Adams in the final period and finished the game with a game high 20 points.

Stumbo broke the Adams press and got out in front of it for some easy baskets. It was catch for the middle school the rest of the way. Stumbo seemed to tire in the middle quarter when Adams made their run.

For Stumbo, three players scored six points each — Jamie Hall, Taba Tackett and Mandy Hall. Stephanie Hamilton added four.

Ashley Burchett and Heather Collins tossed in two points each for Adams. Anna Hall had one point.

Stumbo (1-0) advanced in the tournament while Adams was eliminated.

Not intimidated!

Stumbo Has Easy Time With Lady Bulldogs In 39-13 Win

The Lady Mustangs of John M. Stumbo showed why they are favorites to win the Right Beaver Classic being played at Maytown. Stumbo posted a 39-13 win over the Lady Bulldogs of Duff Wednesday night to move into the semifinals tonight. The Lady Mustangs will face yet another good team in the Melvin Lady Cougars at 5:30 p.m. tonight.

It was a balanced scoring attack that led the young Lady Mustangs. Ashley Tackett scored eight points and Jamie Hall added seven for Stumbo.

The Lady Mustangs pulled out to a 14-2 first quarter lead and never looked back. The lead was extended to 21-5 at half time.

Stephanie Hamilton scored the first two points of the game for Stumbo and a Duff player, in all the excitement of first game jitters, helped Stumbo out by scoring two points on the wrong end to make it a 4-0 game. After Misty Scott canned a long shot for the Lady Bulldogs, Stumbo ran off 10 unanswered points. Scott scored all 13 points for Duff.

Baskets by Hamilton and Penny Tackett at the start of the second quarter opened the lead to 16 points. Scott scored on a lay up for Duff and Hall hit a jumper to give Stumbo a 20-4 lead.

For the Lady Mustangs, Penny Tackett finished with six points and Hamilton tallied five. Lisa Osborne, Melanie Newman and Tara Tackett had two points each.

Stumbo (2-0) will advance to the semifinals while Duff (0-1) plays next week in a regular season game.

28-21 before the half. Duff's pressured, full-court press caused the Blackcats reserve players some problems and allowed Duff to get back into the game. Jeremy Osborne connected on a free throw and brother Jason canned two charity tosses. Crawford scored off a steal and Allen added a free throw for Duff as the Bulldogs pulled to within seven, 26-19. Robbie Merion's basket gave the Blackcats a 28-19 lead before Jason Osborne hit a lay up.

Marsillett led all scorers with his 22 points. Hicks added 10 points for the Blackcats while Allen tossed in nine. James finished with six.

Crawford's 20 points led Duff with Brad Allen scoring nine. Jason Osborne finished with six points.

Duff shot very well at the free throw line, hitting 11 of 16 for 70 percent. Adams had six of 11 from the charity stripe for 53 percent. Adams committed 7 turnovers while the Bulldogs had 9.

Adams (1-0) will play the winner of the Martin/Stumbo game, tonight in semifinal action. Duff will travel to the Adams Middle School Monday for a rematch between the two teams in a regular season game.

Newsome Burns Nets For Points As Melvin Overcomes MCA

It was a dog fight between the Melvin Cougars and Mountain Christian Academy Falcons with the Cougars pulling out a squeaker 42-37 over a very good MCA team. It took the heroics of Phillip Newsome in the final 12 minutes of the game to help his team catch the Falcons. Newsome poured in 25 points for the game, but it was his 18 second half points that caught MCA.

Melvin caught the Falcons at the 5:14 mark of the fourth period on a basket by Timmy Johnson. Johnson's bucket gave the Cougars a 34-33 lead, their first since early in the first period when they led 5-2.

Marty Johnson two-points gave Melvin a three point advantage at 36-33. MCA began to tire in the final period as the shots that were falling earlier seemed to abandon them. Chris Cornett hit a shot from outside to pull his team to within one point, 36-35. Newsome dropped in two baskets and after a missed free throw scored again to put the Cougars up by seven, 42-35. Brandon Moore's basket made it 42-37.

MCA scored first to take a 2-0 lead and then Melvin ran off five unanswered points to go up by three, 5-2. Moore got hot for the Falcons who scored the next 10 points and assumed a 12-5 advantage. Jeremiah Johnson's two points made it 12-7 at the first stop.

Melvin went cold at the free throw line in the second stanza as Moore connected on a field goal and two free throws to make it 16-7. The Cougars then missed three straight front ends of bonus charity tosses. Cornett got into the act late in the second period and the Falcons moved out to a 12 point lead in their upset bid. Two baskets by Newsome and Jeremiah Johnson's basket cut the lead to six at the half, 22-16.

Melvin scored the first five points of the third period on a basket and free throw by Newsome, and a bucket by Jeremy Mullins to cut the margin to one point, 22-21. Melvin tied the game 23-23 on Newsome's basket off a break. Jeremiah Johnson was whistled for a technical foul for slamming the ball onto the floor over a called foul, and Moore dropped both free throws in to help the Falcons to reclaim the lead.

Newsome slipped through the Falcons' defense and laid the ball in for two points and he was fouled on the shot. He sank the free throw for a 26-25 Melvin lead. The lead was short lived as Eric Moore scored underneath and Cornett followed with a basket for a 29-26 Falcon lead. Newsome's two free throws made it a one point game, but MCA pulled back out by five on back to back buckets by Moore. Jeremiah Johnson grabbed an offensive rebound and stuck it back in before the horn sounded ending the third period.

Melvin's defense in the final quarter took MCA completely out of their game plan and the Falcons appeared to be forcing their shots.

Moore led the Falcons in scoring with 20 points. Cornett finished with 10 and Moore ended up with three. For Melvin, Jeremiah Johnson collected eight points and Marty Johnson added four.

Melvin will face Maytown (last night) in the semifinals.

Nichols (6-7, Sr., G, 12.7 ppg.), Brett Roberts (6-8, Sr., F, 14.5 ppg., 9.0 rpg.) and Pat Tubbs (5-11, Sr., G, 8.5 ppg., 111 assists) and 1989-90 starter Doug Bentz (6-9, Jr., C), who missed last season after suffering a collapsed lung and received a medical red-shirt.

Also back are Dave Derozier (7-0, So., C), Mike Helton (6-0, Fr., G), Mike Mennenga (6-3, Jr., G), Mitch Sowards (6-5, Sr., G), Reese Turner (6-5, So., F), Don Tyndall (5-10, Jr., G) and Greg Wheeler (6-4, Sr., G). Derozier, Turner, Tyndall and Wheeler saw extensive action last season. Helton and Mennenga were red-shirted. Sowards played in only five games after suffering a knee injury.

Scott Yahnke (6-8, Fr., C), a West Virginia All-Stater, and Martez Ballard (6-2, So., G-F), who sat out last season due to NCAA entrance requirements, are the only newcomers.

Three transfers will practice with the squad but will not be eligible until the 1991-92 season. Todd Geyer (6-8, F-C) and Johnnie Williams (6-5, G-F) transferred from Creighton, and Kelly Wells (6-6, G-F) transferred from Tulsa.

Joe Back was a very good 10-2. Keith Garrett joins us this week. Some are finding it hard to believe that Shawn was a perfect 12-0 last week. She's a Wheelwright girl. Mike and Ed are tied for first. Kentucky to lose to LSU while Louisville will win. High school: Wheelwright gets the nod over Allen Central in a district and county game. Bengals didn't even make our survey this week.
