Trial date set for Roberts in highly publicized case

A trial date for Bobby Roberts on charges of theft has been set for Wednesday, June 10 in Floyd District Court.

Floyd County District Judge Danny Caudill scheduled the trial date during a pretrial hearing on Thursday. Roberts was represented by John Barton. Janice Porter had previously been appointed as public defender for Roberts, but due to a conflict between clients, was unable to represent him.

Roberts was arrested on March 14 when Prestonsburg Police officers found merchandise in his car that had allegedly been stolen during a shoplifting trip through Prestonsburg for wedding apparel. Roberts was charged with two counts of theft by unlawful taking, one count of disorderly conduct and one count of terroristic threatening.

Barton said he will probably file motions in the case in about two

Charges of first degree sexual abuse lodged against Wheelwright principal Lewis "Spike" Berkhimer were dismissed Thursday by Floyd County District Judge Danny Caud-

Judge Caudill ruled that not enough evidence was presented at Thursday's preliminary hearing to meet the statutory requirements to substantiate the charges. The hearing was held to determine if sufficient evidence existed to waive the case to a grand jury.

Berkhimer, 45, was charged in March after a 15-year-old female student at the school alleged Berkhimer improperly "touched" her on two different occasions during

At the hearing, assistant county witness, Kentucky State Police detective Lynn Cross.

Cross testified that the investigation was initiated by an anonymous phone call to the Department of Social Services. Judge Caudill later directed Cross to name the caller, who turned out to be the manager of the family resource center, Sheila Harlow.

Cross said Harlow said the female the office, told him he saw Berkhimer

Landrum, Velasco convicted

Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky, disclosed recently the conviction in federal court at Pikeville of Charles J. Landrum and Terry Velasco, on drug charges involving marijuana. Landrum, 39, of Breathitt County, and Velasco, 24, of Perry County, entered pleas of guilty yesterday before Judge Joseph M. Hood to charges that last January they possessed 23 pounds of marijuana with the intent to distribute. Officers of the Kentucky State Police and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms had arrested the two men in Perry County on January 14th.

Landrum and Velasco had attempted to sell the marijuana to undercover officers in the Rose's parking lot in Hazard. At the time of the arrest, Velasco fled the scene and led officers on a 15 mile long high speed chase through Perry County, during which speeds reached over 100 miles an hour on snow covered roads. The chase ended when Velasco wrecked his vehicle and fled the scene on foot, but he was captured later that eve-

Editorial:

Consider Frazier

by Scott Perry

Forget the bingo games, the loss of interest on checking accounts and the filing of false financial reports.

If you want to know the true definition of willful neglect, ask Gary Frazier, the new principal at Martin Elementary.

After two days on the job, Frazier said numerous fire code violations had been found at the school; a bathroom was deemed "unusable;" and a telephone line was discovered to have been tapped.

Frazier's request this week for extra help to correct problems at the elementary school apparently was denied by assistant superintendent Tommy Thompson who is apparently running the central office in the absence of superintendent Ronald Hager, who faces a state hearing today, Friday, on charges of willful neglect, etc.

Hager apparently has spent little time managing the school system since the state charges were filed last

The Floyd County Board of Education has been as noticeable as the invisible man during the whole episode, providing neither the leadership nor the confidence needed during these trying times.

Meanwhile, a superintendent search committee has indicated that over 100 candidates have applied for the job of running the Floyd County system after Hager is gone. The committee has indicated that they will not consider any Floyd County applicants for that job.

Gary Frazier's week-long stint at Martin and his openness on the problems encountered there suggest he merits at least some consideration for the system's top administrative post.

Rejecting his application simply because he is a "home boy" would be a case of willful neglect in itself.

The decision by the city council to rescind the pay raises that were appropriated for the fire department is nothing but a retaliation against firefighters for the federal lawsuit that was filed. One issue has nothing to do with the other, but yet the council gets mad and develops the attitude like; I'll take my ball and go home. They are also studying the possibility of disbanding the paid force and going to an all volunteer force. It was also brought up of taking away family plan insurance from city employees and even talk of giving those not involved the lawsuit their pay raises.

Now tell us this was not a retaliation effort. The council is simply trying anything they can to stifle the Prestonsburg professional firefighters union to gain recognition by the

It has been said many times that the city's fire department has the best trained people and the best equipment of any department east of Lexington. To obtain this station it has taken many years, a great deal of taxpayers money, and much effort on behalf of personnel of the fire department over the decades.

To even contemplate downgrading to a full volunteer department shows that the council is not concerned about life, safety, and property of the citizens of Prestonsburg. This action would only be done because of overgrown egos and perhaps the fear of change. By downgrading we are referring, for instance, to soaring insurance costs, response times of an engine responding to your residence or business could go from approximately three minutes to whenever an engine got these.

All the minor fires in the business section of the city that the department has been given credit for stopping so quickly may not be stopped so quickly in the future and the fear of a major downtown fire could become very real, very quickly if manpower and equipment were delayed simply by waiting for someone to pick up an Emergency Medical Serviceswell, I suppose you would have to wait on an ambulancé to arrive too.

Paramedic Services, which had been a dream for many years in the fire department would probably never be seen in the city, except, as provided by an ambulance service in the future. The future advancement of the city's fire and rescue services in the city of Prestonsburg seems bleak at this point unless we (the union) and the city fathers can pull our heads together and work out our differences. Recognition being priority one. The savings and benefits you're heard on the radio remains to be seen. Are these actions in the interest of protection of life and property of the citizens of Prestonsburg or tactics against a labor union? You, figure it out.

Unique sailboat

What does a student usually do with an empty "Nerd" box after eating all the candy in it? Bryon Marsillett, a sixth grade student in Mrs. Linda Hall's class at Auxier, discovered that his imagination and creativity could soon transform the box into a "Nerd" sailboat.

UK senior from Prestonsburg seeks challenging career in education

University of Kentucky senior Julie Newberry of Prestonsburg is planning to become a teacher because she finds it as a way of helping Newberry, 22, describes herself as a mathematically oriented person. She planned to major in accounting when she graduated from Prestonsburg High School, but soon discovered that the major "just wasn't for me."

She decided to major in middle school education. "I wanted to do something where I worked with kids more one-on-one," she said.

"It's very rewarding. I have always wanted to work with kids and I especially like teenagers. Everyday they do something different to amaze you," she said. "It makes me mad to hear all the negative things about teaching, when you see all the good things coming out of it."

She credits UK's education department for her finding her niche. "UK has helped me learn new alternatives to teach," she said. "I've had a very positive experience here."

Newberry is gaining classroom experience as a student teacher in social studies at Jessamine County Middle School near Nicholasville. This semester, she will also teach mathematics at Tates Creek Middle School in Lexington.

She also worked on her "practicum" twice a week during the fall semester. The required practicum is similar to student teaching.

Newberry's schedule is filled with responsibilities, as a teacher and as a college student. She arrives at the middle school by 7:30 a.m. each day and takes classes at night.

She maintains a 3.2 GPA, and will take summer courses to graduate in Although she keeps busy, Newcampus organizations and returns tivities," she said.

home about twice a month to visit her parents, Paula and Claude Newberry in Prestonsburg.

She is former vice president scholarship for Panhellenic, the sorority governing council, and is a member of the Greek Activities Steering Committee where she helps organize different activities.

She also is president of the UK Middle School Education Association, which helps UK students in the middle school program and benefits area schools.

Arbor Day celebrated at Stumbo Park, Allen

The Floyd County 4-H Council in sion of Forestry and the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission recently held a celebration in honor of the 1992 Bicentennial Arbor Day at Stumbo Park on April 3.

The ceremony consisted of a welcome by 4-H extension agent Chuck Stamper; an invocation by extension secretary Betty Gayheart; a poem recited by Frances Brackett, co-chairperson of the Floyd County Bicentennial Committee; the tree planting ceremony by John M. Stumbo, Floyd County Judge Executive, Donald Hicks, district board member and Kathy Williamson, 4-H council member. Also present and assisting in the program were members of the Floyd County 4-H Youth Council: Jamie Hylton, son of Morris and Marcia Hylton of Ivel; Nicky Adkins, son of Judy Adkins of Ivel; and Sean Conn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linzie

The ceremony was concluded with the placing of a commemorative plaque provided by the Kentucky Department of Forestry.

Understanding the steps in a process can be fun. Mrs. Moore and Ms. Marshall's resource room demonstrated this concept by making "sock" puppets and "paper bag' puppets as a reading activity.

PCC Professor presents paper

Dr. Nnamdi Anosike of PCC's sociology department presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Agricultural Scientists held at the Lexington Radisson February 2-4. The paper was entitled "The Political Economy of Poverty in Appalachia: The Case of the Big Sandy Area of Eastern Kentucky."

The paper examines the nature of poverty (absolute, permanent, temporary, or working) and looks at what is being done through state and rural community development efforts to eradicate it.

MSU students taking graduate courses may register in advance

Morehead State University students taking graduate courses through the Appalachian Graduate Consortium may register in advance for the fall semester as well as the Summer I session from Monday until Thursday, April 13-16, in the AGC offices at Pikeville College.

Advance registration, by computers linked to MSU's main campus in Morehead, will be conducted from 4:30 to 7 p.m. each day. Students who register at this time will be billed later for fall tuition and fees. However, Summer I tuition and fees must be paid by June 8.

Summer I classes begin June 9, and fall semester classes begin Aug.

Students who have not been admitted to MSU should initiate that process prior to advance registration.

Information on advance registration and course offerings may be obtained by calling the consortium office locally at (606) 432-9320 or MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs toll-free at 1-800-262-7474.

The eradication of poverty in the area would require a long-term and sustained program including alterations in the social structure, increased infrastructure development, creation of employment opportunities within the region, and, most importantly, cooperative efforts among the area counties in the single purpose of community economic development.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL GROWING

Congratulations to the Betsy Layne Lady Cats and coaches Karen Trivette and Robert Mayton for winning their first game of a new season with a new team in a new sport at Betsy Layne High

I talked to Karen during the district tournament at Betsy Layne and she said that Betsy Layne would have a girls' softball team this year and they have. The new team gives Floyd County four girl high school softball teams now when we just had one - McDowell. We wish all the girl teams the

....AND BASEBALL ATTENDANCE IS GOOD EARLY

Several have been turning out for the boys' baseball games at Allen Park since the weather has warmed somewhat. We have seen some good attendance at the first three games. High school baseball is growing.

Fans are asking and being asked if any of the games are going to be on the radio. WQHY-FM indicated earlier in the year that they were planning on doing 10 high school games this year. As far as a schedule being put out, we know nothing of one for radio. There certainly is the fan interest for such games, especially for those who cannot make it.

> THANKS JUDGE STUMBO....

For the new fencing around the Allen Park baseball field. The higher fence will allow fewer foul balls to cross over to the Little League field. Also, the new batting cage has been repaired and a fence placed around the playground equipment in the center of the park. It looks great.

HILLBILLY SOFTBALL

TOURNAMENT.... The tournament will have to be played on Saturday and Sunday if the lights at Archer Park are not repaired in time. According to Kenny Conley, hopefully, the lights will be fixed and the tournament will go on as scheduled. But Conley said that the tentative plans are to play the tournament in two days - Saturday and Sunday using two fields.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASE-BALL SEASON CLOSE....

It won't be long before the sound of "play ball" will be heard all over our Little League fields. The Harold-Allen-Prater Little League usually gets underway the latter part of April with the others starting in May. Last year, counting Little League, Babe Ruth, Senior, Farm, T-ball and Pee Wee leagues, Floyd County had 66 teams playing the game of baseball. Do you know how many baseball fields we have in the county for the young leagues?

We also would like to remind all coaches and league directors that we have summary forms that can be filled out to report your games for the paper. If you wish to have them stop by the paper or give me a call and we will get them to you some way. Remember, if you want it in the paper then report it. We will be around to cover as many games as we can personally, but we cannot be at all of them. So, help us out and report your games.

Each league should appoint a PR person to handle all of the league games.

Clark not only performed well on the mound, but at the plate as well. The hard throwing right-hander collected two hits, driving in four runs. Clark hammered a three-run home run in the bottom of the sixth inning and doubled in two runs in the Bobcat's half of the fourth frame. Clark struck out five batters, while walking only two.

the fourth inning to add to an already 6-2 lead. Second baseman Bud Kidd hit his second home run in as many games and picked up his third RBI of the season. Clark had his two-run double in the bottom of the fourth, also. Kidd's home run scored Derrick Newsome who had led the inning off with a base hit. Newsome had three hits in the contest, plus a Clark's two-bagger brought in Chuck Laferty and Barry Hall. Laferty reached on an error and Hall by a base hit.

Prestonsburg jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning against Clark. Sean Damron drew a one out walk from Clark. John Clark, with a heavy wrapped ankle, laced a single to left center. Damron scored the first run of Blackcat hits in giving up two runs in Newsome singled to lead off first base for Betsy Layne and promptly Bobcats to a 14-5 victory over last stole second. Chris Potter walked on year's defending district tournament a 3-2 pitch and Kidd fanned for the first out. Laferty worked Blackcat starter, Mark Bentley, for a walk to load the bases for Barry Hall. Hall singled home Newsome and Potter, but Laferty was nailed at second base after over running the base.

After Prestonsburg went out quietly in the second, Junior Newsome's ball club plated four more runs in the bottom of the second to go on top 6-2. Betsy Layne collected four hits in Betsy Layne scored four times in the inning with Laferty coming up with a big two-run single. Bentley allowed one run to cross home plate with a wild pitch. He was consistently pitching behind the batters.

Prestonsburg pushed home three runs in the top of the fifth inning, off Kidd, who came in to replace Clark after four innings. Kidd experienced some control problems issuing two walks after getting the first batter to out to center field. Lowe and Damron drew the one out walks. Lowe stole second base and scored on a base hit by Clark. Tucker then delivered his two run double with Clark, who is suppose to have a bad ankle, scoring all the way from first base. The threerun fifth for Prestonsburg made it a 10-5 game.

Prestonsburg sweeps McDowell in doubleheader, 12-7 and 11-3

The Prestonsburg Blackcats ran their record to 2-1 on the early season with a twin win over the McDowell Daredevils at Stumbo Park in Allen Wednesday evening.

Prestonsburg won the opener 12-7 and captured the night cap 11-3.

The Blackcats scored five runs in the top of the fifth inning added to their 7-6 lead. Sean Damron opened the Blackcats' fifth with a base hit and then stole second base. John Clark walked and Aaron Tucker singled home Damron. Thomas Ratliff drew a walk off McDowell starter Dale Hinkle to load the bases for the Blackcats. Hinkle struck out Jody Wallen but Scott Stephens' grounder scored Clark as Ratliff was forced out at second base. Jason Crisp reached on an error off the glove of shortstop Kain Caudill. Ronnie Goodman had the big hit of the inning when he drilled his second double of the game, clearing the bases. Goodman drove in a run with a two-bagger in the third inning, also.

McDowell had taken a 3-0 first inning lead on Earl Cooks' long threerun homerun in the bottom of the frame. Cook's homer scored Caudill and Ousley who drew walks off starter Anthony Howell. After the homerun, Howell was lifted with C.D. Poston relieving him after a third of an inning. Poston struck out Chad Frasure and got Hinkle to ground to second for the final out.

Prestonsburg threatened in the first inning but failed to dent the plate after loading the bases against Hinkle on three walks.

The Blackcats did tie the score at 3-3 with a three-run second. Stephens singled to start the inning, Crisp collected a base hit but was tagged out at first base after making a turn toward second. Goodman drew a one-out walk and designated hitter Brandon Lowe walked to load the bases. Hinkle then walked Damron to force home Stephens with the Blackcats' first run. Hinkle got Clark to bounce to short, forcing Damron, but then gave up back-to-back walks to Aaron Tucker and Thomas Ratliff scoring Prestonsburg made it a 7-3 game with four more runs in the top of the third after Poston struck out the side in the McDowell half of the second inning. A lead-off walk to Stephens and Goodman's first double of the game accounted for one run. Lowe struck out, but the ball got away from McDowell catcher Doug Hopkins and Lowe was safe at first base. Damron then doubled home Goodman and Lowe scored on a sacrifice fly by McDowell pushed across three in their half of the third to make it a 7-6 errors to help open the gate for McDowell. Caudill reached on a oneout error at shortstop and Ousley followed with a base hit. Cook walked to load the bases. Frasure was safe on an error by Wallen at first base, scoring two runs.

McDowell put three runners on in the bottom of the fifth in scoring once. Ousley, Frasure and Howell each collected singles in the inning with Howell picking up the RBI.

McDowell collected only five hits in the game with the loss going to Hinkle. Poston was the winning pitcher striking out eight batters. Poston walked only two batters.

In the second game, he gave up

Conn invited to All-Star tryouts

An invitation to try out for the Kentucky All-Star team in Frankfort game. Prestonsburg committed two this weekend has been extended to Cora Conn of North Bullitt High School. Conn is the daughter of Troy and Joan Fraley Conn of Louisville and the granddaughter of the late Wilburn and Tennessee Conn and George and Cora Fraley, former Floyd County residents.

Conn hopes to be one of the 12 girls who will compete against the Indiana All-Stars in the Kentucky-Indiana All-Stars series later this

Conn has broken 15 of her school records in four years of varsity play at the Shepherdsville school. Conn was named to the All-Tournament team in the eighth region this past basketball season. She has already signed a letter-of-intent to play basketball next

Lady Bobcats win first ever girl's softball game

A little bit of history was made at Betsy Layne High School when the Betsy Layne Lady Bobcats played their first girl's softball game ever and came away a winner.

The Lady Cats posted an 11-8 come-from-behind win over host school Pikeville as several firsts were recorded. Kristy Osborne had the Lady Bobcats first ever base hit. Misty Clark scored their first ever run and Shanda Clark had the first ever game winning RBI. Needless to say it was the first ever game for a Betsy Layne girl's team.

Betsy Layne had to come from behind in this one though after trailing 8-5 going into the bottom of the sixth inning. In the sixth, the Lady Cats pushed across six runs to take the 11-8 advantage.

"The girls were really a happy bunch," said coach Robert Mayton after the win.

Kristi Osborne got the Lady Cats sixth underway with a lead off single and Dee Dee Martin followed with a base hit but was forced at second on Boyd's grounder to short. Amy Tackett reached on an error by the pitcher, Lisa Lowe scoring Osborne and Bartley's base hit scored both Tackett and Martin. Misty Clark's base hit scored Bartley tying the game and Shana Clark brought in the game winning run with a base hit.

Pikeville took a 4-0 lead in the first inning when the first three batters walked to load the bases. Dana

HAP to hold sign-ups and try outs Saturday

The Harold-Allen-Prater Little League will hold a sign-up day this Saturday at the Stumbo Park Little League field between the hours of 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. The sign-up day will be for players between the ages of 9 and 12 years of age.

Also at 3 p.m. the league will hold their try outs. All players wishing to play in the HAP Little League must sign up on this date.

Boy, the weather has turned beau- thought of the golf course is beckoning many golfers. But, you don't play golf?

How about a fishing trip, sitting on the old bank or shoving off in a boat? Cast your line into the water and just wait for the big one to strike. What? You don't fish either?

Well, here is a way to add some adventure to the warm weather we are having. How about just telling the family to "take a hike?" That's right, Take a hike and add the thrill of discovery by spending a day hiking in the woods.

A short hike can take you to places like a favorite fishing spot (oh, I forgot you don't fish), fields of wild flowers and wildlife that few others have ever experienced.

Go and set your campsite up and you won't need to carry your home on your back. However, if you plan to be away from camp for most of the day, you will want to take along a few supplies in order to be prepared for the unexpected such as weather changes and you will want to provide for other needs while out hiking.

Here are a few suggestions to help you as you plan a day-long trail hike.

· Think light. Even though you're only going for a day, a pack loaded down with much more than about 10 to 15 pounds of supplies will seem like three times that much by the middle of the afternoon.

worth the extra weight in protection in case of an unforeseen weather change. Additional day-hike essentials to carry along include: waterproof matches, a small candle, a good compass, a compact first aid kit, small flashlight and sun screen.

• It is suggested that you use backpacks to pack your camping gear. Then repack them with only what is needed for the hike. Leave the rest at

· Bring plenty of drinking water along for each hiker. Take along foods that can be munched on the trail like apples, dried fruit and vegetables. You can stay on the trail longer if you · A hat that will shade, and rain plan a break of an hour or so midway

· Sandwiches work well for lunch or take along a lightweight stove to heat up a can of soup or other items. · Consider fixing a meal on the trail that will be light but tasty.

· Bring paper plates and easy to clean cooking utensils. Wipe them out with paper towels immediately after use. Take a plastic garbage bag to dispose of garbage and bring it all back to camp with you.

· Take a camera along. One of the new "point-and-shoot" 35mm cameras with auto focus and zoom lens options will take great pictures. Yet. it will tuck neatly into a shirt pocket.

The newly formed Betsy Layne Lady Cats softball team dropped a doubleheader to the Mullins Lady Tigers at Stumbo Park yesterday afternoon dropping their record to 1-2 on the season.

Betsy Layne fell in the opening game 18-8 and lost the second contest 9-8.

Mullins scored 10 times in the fourth inning to take the lead from Betsy Layne and went on to win for the first time this season. It was the hot bat of senior Misty Haynes that led the Lady Tigers. Haynes came away with three hits in three at bats and scored three runs. But just as important, Haynes played a very good game on the field at the shortstop

Dee Dee Martin collected two hits for Betsy Layne and picked up two runs batted in. Second baseman Kamba Maynard had two hits in the lead-off spot for Betsy Layne.

"I couldn't be more proud of them," said Lady Cat coach Karen Trivette. "I think they play awfully well for a first year team."

"We don't have any experienced players like the other teams," explained coach Robby Mayton. "I am proud of them also and we will do alright this season."

Betsy Layne took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as the result of two Lady Tiger errors. Maynard led the game off with an infield hit and scored on an error at short for Mullins, Misty Clark, who reached on the error, scored on Dee Dee Martin's base hit.

Mullins claimed a 4-2 lead in the bottom of the second inning with four runs and two out. Sabrina Justice drove in two runs with a single and Claudette Gillispie singled home a Prestonsburg put the first two batters on, against Kidd, in the top of the seventh inning but two good defensive plays by Potter kept the Blackcats from scoring. Potter pulled off a 6-3 double play when he fielded Tucker's ground ball, stepped on second to force Clark and then on to first to nail Tucker. James Derossett struck out to end the inning.

Kidd, in relief, threw 61 pitches and yielded three runs on two hits while walking four and striking out to-back walks to Serena Norman and Beth Norman. Clark then walked Christine Stump to force home the third run of the inning. Norman scored an unearned run when Reeler's grounder to short was misplayed.

Pikeville made it an 8-3 ballgame by pushing four runs across the plate in the top of the fifth inning. Betsy Layne scored a pair of runs in both the third and fifth.

Clark received credit for the win while Lowe suffered the setback. Clark walked six batters and Lowe only one. Clark fanned two batters and Lowe had one strike out.

Osborne led Betsy Layne hitting with three singles. Misty Clark and Shana Clark each collected two hits with Shana Clark picking up two runs batted in. Bentley had the only extra base hit for Betsy Layne when she tripled in the third inning, and scored on Clark's base hit.

Betsy Layne will travel to Phelps Monday for a 5 p.m. game and then will play Prestonsburg at Archer Park on Tuesday.

Along with other hospitals throughout the nation, Pikeville Methodist Hospital is celebrating National Medical Laboratory Week, April 12 - 18.

The highly skilled pathologists, technologists, and technicians working at Pikeville Methodist have devoted years of study and hard work toward developing their skills and knowledge. College-educated, these health care professionals play a key role in detecting, diagnosing, and treating illness.

"Many health problems begin slowly, without visible symptoms," said Don Williamson, clinical laboratory director, "but laboratory tests can locate problems in time to take preventive action. For example, a blood cholesterol level over 250 indicates that changes in diet and physical activity may be needed to prevent heart problems."

When a condition is more advanced, tests will aid the doctor in the diagnosis and the selection of proper treatment. The laboratory at Pikeville Methodist performed more than 700,000 laboratory procedures in 1991, making it one of the busiest departments at the hospital.

Deloris Hampton, hematology co-ordinator, added, "The professionals in our lab are concerned with the health of the individual patient as well as the overall well-being of our community. Most people have had laboratory tests done, but very few are aware of the trained professionals who perform them. We want to increase public awareness of our commitment to patient care and medical research."

As part of the week's activities, Dr. James A. Dennis, M.D., pathologist and director of the medical lab, will be discussing "Autologous and Designated Donors" on Wednesday at noon. Dr. Dennis will examine the possibilities and explain the procedures for having your own blood or that of a designated donor collected for use in elective surgery. The public is invited to attend the dutch treat luncheon in the eighth floor classroom.

For information concerning careers in laboratory medicine, call the Pikeville Methodist Hospital Laboratory at 437-3514.

The Hospital sincerely thanks the medical laboratory staff. You may not see them, but they play a critical role in providing you with the best in health care.

ALL MY CHILDREN: Galen, rebuffed in her attempt to spend the night with Trevor, insisted she'd wait for him despite his professed love for Natalie. Erica tried to relate the gun she found in Adam's safe to Will's murder. Adam, however, noted that Will was killed with a crowbar. Palmer suggested that Erica warm up to Dimitri to fight Adam. Dixie missed seeing the Craig/Gloria videotape in Will's belongings. Hayley and Brian confirmed they still loved each other. Mimi and Derek were pressed to arrest Brian for Will's murder. Wait To See: Adam takes a risk in trying to exonerate Brian.

ANOTHER WORLD: The secret video camera was discovered after Jamie broke in on Paulina's romantic evening with Jake, claiming Jake planned to rape her. A distraught Paulina accused Jake of trying to tape their time together. Jenna's xrated video was shown on Felicia's program, leading Dean to vow vengeance against Rick. Marley was stunned when Olivia admitted she's not carrying Sam's baby, but wouldn't name the father. Jake warned Jamie he'll find his weakness and bring him down. Dennis crashed during the car race. Wait To See: Donna's plan to play Cupid takes an unexpected turn.

ASTHE WORLD TURNS: John walked out on Iva when she told him Aaron's parents were Julie and Holden. Linc was stunned to learn Marcy told Hannah about his brief encounter with Jade. Emile's "suicide note" claimed he couldn't go on living after killing three people for Kruger when they got too close to the truth about Carolyn's death. Andy discovered that Lucinda already knew that Holden is Aaron's father. Dr. Michaels advised Barbara to defuse Gavin's hold on her by telling Frannie and Darryl the truth about Jennifer. Lisa told Barbara that John Eldridge seems to have stabilized. Wait To See: Marcy fears Gregory can cause trouble for her.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTI-FUL: Bill turned up with archives of "Eye on Fashion" but missed seeing Faith in the apartment. Faith was stunned to hear Taylor is Blake's exwife, and Ridge was Caroline's husband. Burk told Ridge, Macy should plea bargain. Thorne told Felicia he remembered what happened the night he and Jake fought; the same night he left the keys in the cabinet. Jake followed Macy to the restaurant where an excited Thorne told an unbelieving Macy he had proof Jake was the real culprit. Jake, however, realizing he could never have Macy completely for himself, confessed to Burke that he's the guilty one. Wait To See: Macy is in for another shock.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: John was set up and was arrested as Romulus. Isabelle learned Danielle's mother was fired from the Von Lauschner estate for stealing. Jack, too sick to go on the TV show with Jennifer, feared his distress was caused by more than stage fright. Bo confronted Vivian Alamain to learn why Carly left the convent in France. Ginger finally told Brian she'd been a Las Vegas show girl and hooker, and had been shunned by her own father. Marcus reached out to Jesse in

Voices of Appalachia to appear in concert

The VOICES OF APPALACHIA, the college choir of Alice Lloyd College in Pippa Passes, will present a concert at First United Methodist Church, in Prestonsburg, Sunday, April 12, at 5 p.m.

The VOICES OF APPALACHIA is made up of students from Alice Lloyd College. Alice Lloyd is a pri-lege serving the Appalachian Mountain region of Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and Tennessee.

The choir specializes in the hymns and ballads of the Southern Appalachian highlands. The VOICES sing with and without accompaniment, and through their singing, they manage to

The magic of low-tech living

I was reminded not so long ago of how much come to know it. today's society depends on high technology.

The power went off and the coffee pot wouldn't work.

If you think about it long enough (thinking is one of those things you do when the power goes off), it's kind of scary imagining what we all would do if suddenly there was no more electricity.

The scariest thing I've imagined so far is my daughter heating up her curling iron over hot coals.

Every year or so I try to educate the family on the pitfalls of taking life for granted and to prepare them for the time when Halley's Comet crashes into the earth and ends life as we have

We go camping.

My daughter considers camping in the same light as she would, say, stepping on a slug with her bare feet.

My son views our camping trips as opportunities to find the slugs for locating in strategic spots to be stepped on by his barefooted sis-

Camping can be a true lowtech adventure, if you have the proper equipment, like a battery powered microwave oven.

Here are a few tips for happy camping: •The first thing you'll need, particularly if you have a daughter, is a snake-free camping for granted, like dirt-free food and separate environment. You can get one of these for anywhere from $24 to $124 a night, depending on whether you want the Motel 6 or deluxe Radisson snake-free zones.

· Always arrive at your campsite well before dark. Setting up a tent after dark can cause considerable pain and suffering, especially if there is not enough room for everyone to sleep

•Food supplies should be selected carefully. The smaller the packages, the more room you'll have for the indispensible items...like

•If you have small children, always take something along to keep them occupied. Some campgrounds offer these amenities for you. At Cave Run, for example, there are enough skunks to keep a busload busy.

Camping is a sure-fire way to learn to appreciate modern conveniences that we often take rooms for the children.

Camping is a way to get in touch with basic human instinct and to live the way nature intended before we became civilized and ruined the planet.

There's something about lying in the great out-of-doors, gazing up at a star-filled night sky and knowing you couldn't get a better picture even with a remote control.

There's something about teaching your children what it's like to rough it every once in a while and how they'll get to rough it again real soon if they don't clean up their rooms.

Best of all, you don't have to be an outdoorsman or even go outdoors to experience the magic of low-tech living.

Just flip the main circuit breaker and watch how quickly things change.

I DON'T BELIEVE I'D TOLD THAT

Recently, an interviewer friend of mine had the opportunity to speak with Governor Bill Clinton and found out some things that the American public may or may not want to know about the man who is running for president.

After my friend told the governor that he had the results of some polls telling "What Americans want in a president", the governor agreed to talk with him.

"Well," the interviewer began, "one poll says they want an honest, strong, president who will work with Congress and put the American economy first. A man who says what he thinks and does what he says."

"Humph! Sounds like they expect a lot from a human," Clinton replied. "Another poll shows that most Americans just want a person they "What do you mean?" Clinton

"You know. Someone who tells the truth." "About what?"

"I can't be certain, Governor. But I'm sure they want someone who will tell the truth about everything."

"You're kidding! Son, if I told the truth about everything I've everdone, I wouldn't be governor. I did admit to smoking marijuana."

"Yes, but you said you didn't inhale," the interviewer laughed.

"I didn't have to. There was so much smoke in the room, I breathed it anyway."

"And you were unclear about that little affair you supposedly had with Gennifer Flowers.'

"Okay. So what if I slept with her. You can sleep with someone without having sex. If you're married, you know that not only is that possible, it's probable.

'Governor, did you really avoid the draft because you didn't want to go to Vietnam?"

"You want honesty? I'll give you honesty. I avoided the draft because I hate the thought of death. Particularly mine."

"What about all those young men who did? They didn't want to die either, but it was their patriotic duty, and they served."

"I know that, and I've spent a lot of sleepless nights thinking about them and their families. I wish I'd gone," Clinton said tearfully.

"Governor, before I leave, would you like to admit anything else you've done that you feel the American public should know before they cast their

"Well, it's as good a time as any to admit that I once threw a piece of ice out my car window."

"A litter-bug, eh? Well, sir, ice does melt, so I don't think anyone is going to hold that against you."

"Really? Even if it was a big piece of ice, and it accidentally hit someone?"

"How big?"

"Oh, about the size of a small television set."

"Are you saying you threw a block of ice out of a car window and it hit someone? Who did it hit?"

"I'm not sure. It happened when I was in college, and a group of us were returning from a party. We had to get rid of the ice before we got back to campus, so we threw it out. Someone yelled, but we didn't look back."

'Sounds like someone got hurt? Have you ever killed anybody?"

"Lord, no! But if I had, I wouldn't have done it on purpose."

YOUR STARS THIS WEEK

The coming week is likely to differ radically from the last - and, very likely, from any which has passed so far this year! Whereas the previous week was no doubt difficult for some and certainly serious in tone, this week will very well be frivolous in nature and quite playful, even whimsical. There is much to be enjoyed this week, and many surprises opened at this time, and attitudes changed; the world will surely seem a better place!

All may capitalize this week without putting others at risk for any reason; the likelihood of scoring remarkable gains without forcing others into any kind of hardship should be embraced and enjoyed this week. This is an excellent time, too, to cement those quickly developing relationships.

ARIES (March 21-April 4) week. Indulge in a dream-pursuit; reverse all ills. take others along on a flight of fancy. (April 5-April 19) — A first-time visitor to your home is sure to change your life in some respect. Be ready!

TAURUS (April 20-May 5) -You'll have more to think about this week than the few obstacles looming ahead of you. Don't burden yourself with fear. (May 6-May 20) - Your generosity is on the rise at this time. 7)—You may be feeling "lighter than You're willing to do almost anything for a friend.

WHY ARE THERE DIFFERENT TYPES OF HAIR?

The general structure of the hair varies very little among human beings. But its form, its color, its general consistency and the way a section of it looks under a microscope vary quite a bit. And because these differences occur in certain patterns, the hair is one of the best ways known to determine the race of a person. In other words, the hair you have inherited bears the stamp of

There are three main classifications of hair by the way it's constructed. The first is short and crisp, the kind we call "woolly." The color is almost always jet black, and it is the hair of all the black races with two exceptions.

The second type of hair is straight, lank, long and coarse. The color is almost without exception black. This is the hair of the Chinese, the Mongols and the Indians of the Americas.

The third type of hair is wavy and curly, or smooth and silky. This is the hair of Europeans. It is mainly fair, with black, brown, red or towy varieties. There is also a fourth type, known as "frizzy," which is the hair of the Australian natives.

When it comes to color, some types have a range of colors, some do not. Wavy types of hair vary most in color. That's why, among Europeans, you can find the deepest black hair side by side with flaxen hair. But fair hair is more common in northern Europe and much rarer in the South. Among the races with straight hair, fair hair color is very rare. And red hair is related to the individual only - there are no races with red hair

"Holy cow! What's gotten into our La-Z-Boy?"

Twice-bounced wedding gift pops up again this year

DEAR ABBY: Last year, my daughter and son-in-law received a $100 check as a wedding gift from friends of ours who live in the suburbs. (I'll call them the Smiths.)

The Smiths' check bounced; the newlyweds made two attempts to deposit it. I advised our daughter to do nothing about it, and just wait and see what happens. Well, nothing happened.

Yesterday, I bumped into Mrs. Smith at the mall; we chatted a while, and she hinted that our daughter had been remiss for not acknowledging their "gift."

Now, a year later, what do you think my daughter should do? Leave things as they are, or write to the Smiths at this late date and thank them for their check that bounced twice?

MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: You gave your daughter poor counsel when you advised her to "do nothing" about the twicebounced check and to just "wait and see what happens." She should have advised the Smiths that something must have been seriously amiss at the bank when their check did not

Perhaps your daughter should call Mrs. Smith and explain that she didn't acknowledge their gift sooner because she was unable to cash their

P.S. Mr. Smith was not in Congress, was he?

DEAR ABBY: I married Al two years ago, without living with him first. Now I'm sorry. We are both well-educated, stable employees, and reasonably well-adjusted.

Al makes more money and has fewer bills than I, yet he contributes only one-third of our household expenses. He travels in his business, and he is often away for weeks at a time. When he's home, he sleeps in

After five months of marriage, he announced that sex was "too much trouble." On weekends he rarely bathes, and he spends most of his waking hours reading in bed. He buys ratty clothes at resale shops, and always needs a haircut and a shoe shine. His room and car are both disaster areas. He refuses to get his teeth cleaned. He's useless around

When we go out, either I pay or we go Dutch. He is always crying poormouth, yet he buys computer toys for himself. His gifts to me are a disgrace (books from a resale shop that I neither want nor need).

He's an embarrassing slob. If I had known what living with Al would be like, I'd still be single. We are both in therapy—but he's not listening. Is there hope?

FORT WORTH

DEAR FORT WORTH: Hope? For you or for Al? He clearly needs therapy—and if, as you say, he is already in therapy but "isn't listening" and you put up with him, you need the therapy more than Al.

DEAR ABBY: I just about swallowed my teeth when I read the letter in your column written by "Desperate" concerning her sister "Arlene" and Arlene's husband, "Bud," growing marijuana in their back yard!

My name is Arlene and my husband's name is Bud, and we've had quite a few telephone calls about the letter you printed—they were mostly teasing us about it.

A Land of Old Mountains to reach the Kentucky frontier faced the necessity of finding a way through the Cumberland and Pine Mountain ranges. Near the southeastern border of the state, there are western outposts of the Southern Appalachian chain. Formed when the continents of North America and Africa collided millions of years ago, these mountains have eroded substantially. It is reasonable to suppose that the Southern Appalachians were once the size of the Swiss Alps and the Himalayas, both of which are much newer Virginia settlers using a land route mountain ranges, but were also formed by the collision of continents.

Discovery of the Cumberland Gap, a natural entry to the new lands made settlement somewhat easier. Today, Cumberland Gap National Historic Park celebrates those early pioneers.

Elevations in the state range from its highest point at Big Black Mountain in Harlan County (4,150 feet above sea level) to its lowest point near Hickman in Fulton County (257 feet above sea level).

MY COUSIN VINNY

If you're looking for some real belly laughs, this is the movie for you. It's a courtroom comedy starring Joe Pesci and Marisa Tomei. Pesci plays the title character, Vinny, who has just (barely) passed the bar exam after six tries. Even he's not so sure he's ready to practice law. However, he's forced to do so when a family crisis arises. Vinny's cousin, Bill, and a friend, Sam, are arrested while driving through Alabama. It seems they made a stop at a convenience store in Wahzoo City. Bill pocketed a can of tuna, and he's ready to confess to shoplifting, duds get a big smile of approval, so but the cops inform him the store clerk was murdered. Innocently, Bill says, "I shot the clerk?". This is perceived to be a confession. Determined to nail these two Yankees, the detectives arrest them for the mur-

So, it's Vinny and his sidekick, Lisa (Tomei) to the rescue. Straight out of Brooklyn, complete with accents, these two make quite a scene in the courthouse. The judge (Fred Gwynne) cites Vinny for contempt of court because of his outrageous clothing. However, Lisa's skintight

she's allowed to help with the defense

While I think Southerners may be offended by some parts of the movie, the confedy rests with the huge cultural differences between the Brooklynites and their Southern "hosts."

Since I grew up in New York City, I can attest to the validity of the Brooklyn and Bronx accents — and to the characterizations so vividly enacted by Pesci and Tomei. They are a delight, and I hope to see them teamed up for another offering soon.

aster, as currently celebrated in most households, is a curious blend of religious observance, ethnic tradition, and pagan customs. Since earliest times this most holy day in the Christian calendar has included ancient traditions. Eggs, an early symbol of seasonal regeneration and fer-spring equinox. But Ostara gave us more than her name. Her escort was another fertility symbol, the rabbit, thereby providing one more tradition for modern times, the Easter Bunny.

A pleasant Easter Sunday means a bountiful harvest.

neducing the amount of waste that comes into our homes and diligently recycling is only half a solution. It's like trying to use half a pair of scissors - nothing is accomplished without the other half. The other half of recycling is using recycled products. If you recycle all your newspapers, but buy only virgin, bleached notebook paper for your kids it's one step forward and two steps back for the environment. As more and more people buy "recycled," the demand increases, the cost comes down, and everybody benefits, including Mother Earth.

GOLF COURSE OFFERS COMMON GROUND FOR BOY, GRANDFATHER

Q: We have an 11-year-old grandson, healthy and with some athletic ability. But he prefers watching TV sitcoms and staying indoors. What can we do? My husband, 65, used to play golf and still likes to take walks. - Grandma, Danville, Ill.

A: You have an easy, built-in solution already in hand. Blow a fuse, put an ax to that TV set, and get that youngster outside. Spring should soon be coming to eastcentral Illinois. Your husband is only 65. Wouldn't he like a new golfing partner, or maybe a caddy at first? He can simply transfer his walking to the fairways.

Sarazen, one of golf's immortals and still spry at 90, now retired to Marco Island, Fla.

12 is the ideal time to take up golf. Her husband should first teach the boy how to grip a club, and go on from there, slowly. A grandson and I play nine holes together. He tees up my ball, because of my poor eyes, and then looks for it when it goes into the rough," he told us with a chuckle.

Sarazen can still score his age, or better, if two nine-hole rounds are added back-to-back. Your husband should be an ideal instructor.

Sarazen got his start at 12 in Bridgeport, Conn., sweeping out the local country club's pro shop at $3 a week. By the age of 20 he had already won the U.S. Open and went on to win a total of seven major tournaments. He is still affectionately known as "The Squire" in the United States and "Dr. Sarazen" in Japan. He can proudly claim eight grandchildren. Early this year he won the 1992 Bob Jones Award from the U.S. Golf Association.

If your grandson takes up golf, he doesn't have to go overboard. As Sarazen says, "Though I loved golf, I still wanted to live a 'normal' existence. I diversified my life, and operated a farm for 35 years, most of the time working a tractor.'

This active, outdoor life certainly paid off for him: In February he signed a new five-year contract with Wilson Sporting Goods Co. that included a five-year option to renew again in

We're certain he'll renew.

Dear Dee and Tom: You may have and will cost $1 for one play. overlooked an important point in your We spoke only last week to Gene recent answer to the 18-year-old grandson who complained about his 72-year-old grandfather who twice asked neighboring diners in a restau-"Tell that grandmother that 10 to rant to quiet down. The grandfather may have trouble hearing, and he simply wanted to converse with his grandchild and the latter's parents.

> Maybe he should have his hearing checked by a specialist. It could be simply the result of ear wax. Also, maybe the grandson and his parents should invite him to dinner when and where the dining area is quieter. I appreciate the embarrassment of the grandchild because both my father and son were deaf in one ear. -Susan B. Kent, Yardley, Pa.

Our Grand Remark of the Week: "I am a gray-haired 77year-old grandma who baby-sits for my grandsons, 10 and 8. When my 8-year-old was only 3 he looked at me one day and asked, 'Grandma, what did you look like when you were new?" -Mrs. Romona Due, Sherman Oaks, Calif.

LOTTERY COLUMN

Lotto*America switches to Powerball

Lotto*America and have been playing the Lotto game twice a week for it, but I haven't seen or heard anya couple of years. I've even won a couple of small prizes. I just read, however, that this lotto game is being canceled and a new game called "Powerball" is going to replace it. What is "Powerball"?— R.O.

switch from Lotto*America to the new Powerball game will happen on April 19.

Lotto*America officials say that the lotto game switch will give players a better chance to win than they had before. In fact, it will be 21 times easier. Powerball will give players nine ways to win prizes as compared to the current three ways, and will offer higher prize amounts. It is estimated that because of projected rollovers, the average Powerball jackpot will be somewhere around $32 million each time it is won.

lotto. Powerball players will pick 5 numbers between 1 and 45, and then select one more number, called the Powerball, from a second set of numbers between 1 and 45, and then select one more number between 1 and 45. During the televised drawing, two drawing drums will be used, each with 45 balls in it. The first five numbers picked in the game will be designated by white balls selected from one drum, and the single "Powerball" number is selected from the second drum containing red balls. What you are really doing is selecting 6 numbers from a total of 90 numbers, five out of 45 first, and then the sixth number from another 45

How do you win? The odds of winning something in Powerball are in 35, significantly better than Lotto*America's 1 in 750 odds. There are nine ways to win. For instance, every time you match the red Powerball number, you win. You can also win if you match three or more of the white ball numbers. Match all five white ball numbers drawn and win $100,000—even if you don't match the Powerball. Match all five white ball numbers and the Powerball and win the multimillion dollar grand

Q: Has anyone won a lotto jackpot recently using a new number picking How do you play? It is similar to system that you haven't run into before?-P.L.

A: Not long ago, Roy Battersby, 77, of Covina, Calif., used a number picking system that I knew existed, but I hadn't heard of it resulting in a grand prize win before. I guess this "system" doesn't need any explanation.

Q: In a recent column, you said that the Oregon Lottery has a Keno game drawing every five minutes between 6:00 a.m. and 11:00 p.m. That's 200 drawings a day! How is that possible? Are the drawings televised ?-A.R.

A: Actually, it is 204 drawings a day, beginning at 6:05 a.m., and people don't do the drawing as you are probably used to seeing on television. These untelevised "drawings" are done by two personal computers taking turns randomly selecting the winning Keno numbers. These drawing computers are segregated into separate rooms, and no lottery personnel are allowed access to the area.

This drawing method is in sharp contrast to the ping-pong machines that millions of television watchers may see on any given night watching the winning lottery or daily numbers being drawn in 34 states and in 10 Canadian provinces. The Oregon lottery has already received criticism from many players who, because they can't actually see the numbers being drawn, are suspicious that the drawings may be conducted unfairly. First Churchill Downs activity book for kids to benefit crusade for children

The first "Official Churchill Downs Activity Book", Race With Imagination, will debut on Thursday, April 2, 1992. A fund-raiser for the Crusade for Children, Race With Imagination, will benefit special Kentucky Derby and Churchill needs children throughout Kentucky.

Designed for children ages 4-12., the 32-page, 11" X 15" oversized book brings the excitement of the Downs to youngsters in a creative, educational format.

Race With Imagination contains a series of informative coloring pages taking the child from Kentucky's rich horse farms on a journey to the winner's circle. A variety of puzzles, activities and stories offer entertaining and challenging learning exercises while integrating language, math and fine motor skills. The history and tradition of Churchill Downs and the Kentucky Derby are taught in an imaginative way.

Race With Imagination was written by Marna J. Morris and James B. Wade, Jr. of MJ Morris, Inc., in Louisville, Kentucky. Illustration and design were done by Louisville artist Donna Watts. The book is published by MJM Publications.

With a portion of the net proceeds to benefit the WHAS Crusade for Children Race With Imagination: The 1992 Official Churchill Downs Activity Book, is truly a reflection of the history, creativity and caring for the children of Kentucky.

Books will be available at participating Kroger Stores, Ehrler's and Storer Cable beginning April 2, 1992. Organizations interested in using Race With Imagination as a fund raiser, party favor or for corporate gifts should call 502/893-7716.

Race With Imagination was produced with the assistance of Kroger, Storer Cable, Ehrler's, WHAS-TV and Churchill Downs, Inc.

Hey, kids! Enter Kmart's "Speedy" Coloring Sweepstakes for a chance to win a large "Speedy" plush toy and other prizes. Children may pick up their entry forms at the Service Desk or at the "Speedy" merchandise display in their local Kmart store beginning March 29 through April 12.

Each store will give away four prizes: Grand Prize - Large "Speedy" Plush: 1st Prize - Crayola 7740 Crayon Case; 2nd Prize - 65 Count Crayola Crayons; and 3rd Prize - Egg of Silly Putty. Winners of the "Speedy" Coloring Sweepstakes will be chosen on or about April 13.

Picasso "Speedy" Cottontail is a lovable bunny who stars in the animated video "Easter Egg Mornin" produced and narrated by Bobby Goldsboro. The animated feature will be aired during the month of April, 1992, on the Disney Channel.

Kmart introduced "Speedy" to its customers this year. It is the first Kmart licensed product developed from an animated character.

you have said many times what to do when it comes to exchanging currency. But we've never had any reason to pay attention. Would you mind reviewing these points?

We will be traveling at the height of the tourist season during late July and early August .- R.B., St. Cloud.

DEAR R.B.: Unless you intend to spend substantial sums of money, you're just as well off to convert your funds when you arrive. But by all means have $75 or $100 in local currency in your pocket so that you can take a cab, bus or whatever to your hotel. You can either change the money at the airport on the other end, or at this end at your local bank.

Change the majority of your funds at a bank, not a currency exchange office, department store or hotel since you will find these invariably charge a considerably higher rate of commission for exchanging your money.

It has been my experience that it is wise, whenever possible, to use credit cards for which you will be billed at the appropriate rate of exchange. You should understand, however, that you will be billed at the rate of exchange when the bills are submitted, which could be higher or lower than when you actually made the purchase.

Also, when you change your currency, hang onto the receipt. In some countries, unless you have the receipt showing you purchased the currency, they can give you a hard time when it comes to converting your money back into U.S. dollars (the Island of Jamaica, being one such country). Have a super vacation.

DEAR BRUCE: We have been trying to sell our house for over a year. We finally found a buyer but at drastically reduced price. We thought everything was going smoothly. A week or so ago the real estate agent called and said the deal was over because the buyer couldn't get financing.

I called a friend who works in the bank and from what she tells me the bank would have granted financing had the buyer not said she was going

The fact that one has lost or is about to lose a job would be a material change. It may have been a ploy, but I doubt you can use to your advantage. Unhappily, I think you'll have to search for another buyer.

The husband promptly died and was buried in his best suit, into which, of course, he had put the ticket. When the widow agreed to have the body exhumed, the casket wasn't there; authorities then discovered a thriving business in which caskets were being dug up and stripped clean. The prize car, which had been claimed, was traced to a man who had purchased the husband's suit at a thrift shop, and Alexandra finally got it, but then cashed it in and donated the money to the Chernobyl nuclear disaster vic-

Said Stapp, "It's just a job to me that requires a lot of skill that not everybody has." A typical repair job requires Stapp to be submerged for four hours or more, in zero visibility. Stapp describes the job as "very quiet and peaceful" and says that, at the end of a shift, the thing usually on his mind is food: "I'm usually starved when I get through."
