Coroner's nephew drowns after jump from bridge

by Susan Allen Staff Writer

The nephew of Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson apparently drowned Monday at Carr Fork Lake in Knott County after he and a friend dived off a hundred-foot bridge.

The body of 23-year-old Dennis Ray Fletcher was recovered Tuesday morning in approximately 60 feet of water by the Knott County Rescue Squad, Knott County Coroner Ken Gayheart said Tuesday.

Fletcher, of Wyandotte, Michigan, and Jim Pierce of Lincoln, Michigan, jumped off the Arshman Creek Bridge at the marina at approximately 5:30 p.m. Monday. Pierce surfaced just after jumping and attempted to find Fletcher after he failed to surface. Gayheart said Fletcher apparently drowned after the "hard fall" from the bridge.

Gayheart said the search was called off Monday night because of a severe storm that had moved into the area. The search resumed at 8 a.m. Tues-

Auxier home is destroyed in Friday blaze

by Geoff Belcher Staff Writer

Firefighters from both the Auxier and Prestonsburg fire departments combatted a fire at the home of Cecil Jarrell Friday morning and quickly extinguished the blaze.

Mike Wells of the Prestonsburg Fire Department said Friday that an anonymous caller informed the Auxier Volunteer Fire Department that Jarrell's home was engulfed in flames at around 11:27 a.m.

Auxier units quickly responded, but called the Prestonsburg department for further assistance.

Members of the Floyd County Sheriff's office also responded, but were unnecessarily delayed by motorists who refused to yield to emergency vehicles.

Preliminary investigations reveal that the fire started in one of the bedrooms, and was presumably caused by electrical malfunction. Officers of the Pikeville post of the Kentucky State Police are currently (See Death, page two) investigating the incident.

Hunt named chairman for Ford campaign

Attorney John Earl Hunt of Allen has been named county chairman for the Floyd County re-election bid of Senator for Wendell Ford.

Ford said his county chairman will play a critical role in getting people involved with the campaign. "The best organization is built from the grassroots up," Ford said. "A county chairman's job is to be an expert on county needs and to get people involved."

Hunt said he welcomed the opportunity to work on Ford's bid for a fourth term. Ford, who has served 17 years in the U.S. Senate, is Assistant Majority Leader and Chairman of the Rules Committee.

Thomas said that Scott has assisted other boards of education in superintendent searches and it was not unusual for a board to hire Scott for his services.

Towler was one of the 104 applicants who originally applied for the Floyd County position.

When asked why no other Scott was hired by the board to applicant's names from the 104 persons who applied for the job had been submitted to the board with Towler's, Thomas replied that perhaps there were no other qualified candidates and it was not unusual that Towler was the only candidate recommended to the board.

Thomas said he was not aware of against Towler as a result of the any questions raised pertaining to Towler's performance as superintendent of the Hardin County system.

The News-Enterprise in Elizabethtown, reported last year that Towler's firing of a soccer coach and hiring of a football coach raised eyebrows in that system and prompted an investigation by the state's Office of Education Accountability (OEA).

Reports said that Towler had hired Joe Jaggers, a football coach at Fort Knox, two months before he was hired as a teacher in that district, a violation under Kentucky's Education Reform Act. OEA found that Towler did not follow proper procedures when he hired the coach when no teaching positions were open at that time, the newspaper reported. Towler responded that he may have violated the "literal interpretation of the law" but that it was no deliberate attempt to circumvent the law.

Freedom Friday declared

by Geoff Belcher Staff Writer

In order to cohvince more Kentuckians to participate in elections, Governor Brereton Jones has proclaimed that Friday, July 3 will be designated "Freedom Friday."

The Freedom Friday project is the brainchild of the newly-formed Democracy Incorporated of Kentucky, a nonpartisan, nonprofit foundation that was created to promote voter education and registration and to improve voter participation. The program theme is "Freedom Makes It Possible, Voting Makes It Happen."

Although nearly two million Kentuckians are registered to vote, less than one million participate in elections on a regular basis. Another 800,000 Kentuckians are eligible to vote, but are unregistered.

According to Secretary of State Bob Babbage, "The day before the Fourth of July seems the most appropriate time of the year to focus on the rights and responsibilities of voting.... On July Fourth, our nation focuses its attention on independence and freedom more than any other time of the year."

Freedom Friday will include an MCI-sponsored toll-free voter registration line. Kentuckians can call 1-800-92K-VOTE and request that voter registration forms be mailed to their homes.

The State Board of Elections has also approved a voter registration mail-in form.

Democracy Incorporated is implementing these programs because many people have said they are not registered to vote because the current system for registration is often inconvenient.

Democracy Incorporated has asked organizations in each of Kentucky's 120 counties to work with the county clerk to conduct a special event to celebrate the day, and to request that area churches and public facilities ring their bells and sirens at noon on Freedom Friday.

Floyd Countians interested in participating in Freedom Friday events may contact Floyd County Clerk Carla Boyd at 886-3816, or Susan Racque of the Secretary of State's office at (502)-564-3490.

KET will also furnish Freedom Friday information via their toll-free number, 1-800-766-3221.

State income tax checks should be in mailboxes in early July ing up to get long-awaited state income tax refund checks out early next month.

The Kentucky State Treasury Department is making emergency preparations to expedite refund checks once the State Finance and Administration Cabinet issues its authorization, expected to be July 1. Treasury employees will work overtime after normal working hours and during the 4th of July holiday weekend to process the checks so they can be forwarded to the Revenue Cabinet

"We in the Treasury are concerned about the thousands of taxpayers who have been waiting weeks to get their refund checks," said Frances Jones ery to the Revenue Cabinet for up to Mills, State Treasurer. "Every effort will be made and every needed employee will work around the clock up to and during the 4th of July weekend to get those checks out!"

Earlier this month the State Fi-

State Treasury officials are gear- nance Cabinet announced that all remaining refund checks would be held for up to a month so the General Fund could be balanced on June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

The Treasury cannot write refund checks until an authorization is made from the Finance Cabinet. Once that approval is given checks are normally processed in 24 hours time. But because of the multitude of refunds checks due this time, it would take over 80 hours to process them.

With the extra effort from the Treasury Department, the the Revenue Cabinet will be able to get the checks for mailing purposes much earlier. Working only normal scheduled hours would have delayed delivtwo weeks for the final checks.

Olympic basketball has always been one of our favorite events, but it's going to be hard to get worked up over the '92 team. Since NBA players are now permitted to compete, the USA's trip to the gold medal platform ought to be a cakewalk. To make things a bit more interesting along the way, why not let Michael Jordan play the lower level teams by himself?

The fashion world has bottomed out.

Plumber's butt is in.

The latest clothing fad, it seems, is baggy britches worn well below the waistline, exposing the drawers of the discreet and the "moons" of the less discriminant.

Some of the photos we've seen of the style could be used as evidence supporting the return of polyester double-knit leisure suits.

Not!

The U.S. Supreme Court has ruled that Americans are too stupid to recognize the dangers of cigarette smoking and that their ignorance ought to be rewarded with large sums of money.

The high court's decision last week opens the doors for civil suits against cigarette manufacturers whom the justices said can be held liable for the ill effects of their products.

There is no question that cigarettes are killers. That fact has been common knowledge since 1953, when the link between smoking and lung cancer was established.

People who smoke know they do so at their own risk.

Holding anyone else accountable is absurd.

There is something deeply, deeply disturbing about proabortion arguments which suggest a woman has a "fundamental right" to terminate her pregnancy without restriction and that any effort to regulate at-will abortion is an infringement on "personal freedom."

Sorry, but we just don't get the why and how of that stance. Rights and freedoms are the devices of mankind, rewards for personal sacrifice. Abortion, excepting cases of extreme necessity, is a convenience.

One more question on the question of abortion and we'll keep quiet...

If a woman has a fundamental right not to have a child, does a man have a fundamental right to have one?

ROSS PEROT: THE BOOB-TUBE CANDIDATE

By Rheta Grimsley Johnson Scripps Howard News Service

It was a brief mention in the news, and then I heard no more about it.

The City of Dallas canceled its glorious and traditional New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Parade because, for the first time, it wouldn't be on television.

Nocamera, no parade. Never mind the Texans who love the ritual of standing curbside and cheering. They do not count, or they count only a little, as part of a colorful set for television.

It's that faceless number on the other side of the cathode tube that make up the real audience.

Maybe undeclared presidential candidate Ross Perot is right about at least one thing. Maybe in this day and age, big trees falling in the forest of current events don't make a sound unless recorded on television.

He is the candidate most responsible for making this the Presidential Campaign of Television Talk Shows or Trial by Arsenio. "Larry King

Watching him on "The Today Show" recently, I could see that Perot is most comfortable with an invisible television audience. In fact, in Perot's mind, it would be un-businesslike and inefficient to campaign any other

For decades, we have convinced ourselves-with a little help from ubiquitous media "experts"—that all successful modern political candidates must be handsome, articulate, red-necktied masters of the sound

And yethere's a hopelessly wormy little fellow with Alfred E. Newman ears and funeral parlor hair holding a nation spellbound while using "sound bite" as a verb.

We once figured Sen. Paul Simon didn't have a chance because he wore bow ties: yet watch out for Perot, who is a bow tie-unstylish, short, but somehow kinda cute.

"You want me to sound bite it, and I can't do that. You want a 'yes' or a 'no' and nothing's that simple." Nothing?

As each "Today Show" caller gave

McConnell's Comments

by Sen, Mitch McConnell

GETTING AN ELECTORAL COLLEGE EDUCATION

The recent phenomenon of Ross Perot has once again bought forth an age-old debate on one of the most crucial components of our political process: the Electoral College. There are no classes or degrees given by this "college." Rather, it is a collection of "electors" selected by the voters of every state in each presidential election, who then cast their ballots for the presidential candidate who receives a majority of the popular vote in the states these electors

Each state receives a share of electors based on the number of Senators and Congressman it has. The beauty of this system is that it requires winning candidates to have a broad base of support; and, it gives added weight to voters in smaller states like Kentucky. So far, so good. But, once every decade or so, a third party candidate throws his hat into the presidential election ring and prompts a flurry of dire predictions, fanciful scenarios, and proposals to abolish the Electoral College.

In the past we have seen George Wallace, John Anderson, and now, Ross Perot emerge as rising stars on the political horizon. The first two flared brightly, then fizzled; the latest is still sizzling at the moment. All of these candidates sparked proposals to do away with the Electoral College. These periodic reviews of the presidential electoral process have been fascinating exercises in secondguessing the Founding Fathers and speculating as to the outcome of socalled solutions, were they to be enacted.

I have come away from these discussion and debates with renewed appreciation for the work our Foundbe allowed but promoted, and I'll do ing Fathers did in drafting the my best to see that this court ruling Constitution. They devised a system which, more than 200 years later, ensures that a quarter of a billion people living in fifty states and several time zones can still thrive as one cohesive nation.

Still, there is one element of the Twelfth Amendment which should be modified. Currently, in the event no candidate attains a majority of Electoral College votes, the House of Representatives becomes responsible for electing a president. Each state delegation is given one vote. That means California has the same vote as Vermont; Texas has no greater voice than Rhode Island. This provision is not democratic, nor is it representative of the citizens of our fifty states.

I have introduced a constitutional amendment to rectify this shortcoming of the Twelfth Amendment, while preserving the Electoral College. If an electoral deadlock occurs, my resolution would require a runoff election between the top two recipients of Electoral College votes. In the extremely unlikely circumstances that the runoff election produces a tie vote in the Electoral College-a scenario that defies mathematical probability—the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court would cast the tiebreaking vote for the candidate with the largest share of the popular vote.

The 1992 presidential election has raised the bizarre possibility of a threeway race, ending in an Electoral College deadlock and the decision being thrown to the House of Representatives. However, this unusual circumstance does not justify the abolition of such a crucial part of our electoral system. With some modification, the Electoral College will continue to be a successful and necessary component of the presidential electoral process for the next two centuries and beyond.

Congressman Harold Rogers The Supreme Court and school prayer

WASHINGTON

As we celebrate our 216th birthday as a nation, this would be a fitting time to bow our heads and give thanks to God for our freedom and independence.

But the Supreme Court says not to try that on school grounds, that prayer in public schools is illegal.

In a recent 5-4 decision, the court said schools are not allowed to have prayers at ceremonies or celebrations - not even at graduation!

This decision deeply disappoints and angers me. The Supreme Court has taken us another step further away from the values upon which our nation was founded.

Justice Antonin Scalia, writing for the four members of the court who disagreed with the decision, said it "lays waste to a tradition that is as old as public-school graduation ceremonies themselves.'

I agree completely with Scalia, Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Byron White and Clarence Thomas.

Editor:

To all politicians and lawmakers.

As a small business owner I would like to know why, we, the working class, (the tax payers) are forced to pay for health care services for governmental employees, military, medicaid, medicare, etc, which accounts for well over half the population, when we cannot afford the high cost of health care for ourselves and our employee's?

A national health care system, controlled properly, would cost far less than we are already paying for something we cannot have.

Sell-out performances expected:

Big River back at Jenny Wiley Theatre

The 1991 season at Jenny Wiley Theatre ended on a very high note with the tremendously popular show, Big River

This show set box office records for the theatre and is one of the most critically acclaimed shows in the history of Jenny Wiley Theatre.

And there's more good news! Because this show was so popular and so enjoyed by our patrons, we've decided to bring it back for another season! Making its return to our stage in late June, this Roger Miller, Tony award-winning musical will once again amaze, delight, and enlighten audiences.

The story, based on the classic Mark Twain novel, Huckleberry Finn, takes you on a raft ride down the muddy waters of the mighty Mississippi during the 19th century when bigotry loomed and slavery was commonplace.

Returning to direct the show is Jenny Wiley Theatre's Artistic Director Mike King. King said the show will basically remain the same, yet be different enough to be worth seeing again.

"We have a new set design which will work even better than last year's and it will allow the action to flow more smoothly," said King. "We have an extremely talented cast with new actors bringing new things to the roles. It's all very exciting. It was so popular last year that we wanted to recapture that energy and fun."

The new lead actors are Darren Bagert from New Orleans as Huck and Ervy Whitaker from Detroit as Jim.

Returning to the cast are Robert Smith (Hazard) as The Duke; Joe Bolton (Prestonsburg) as The Sheriff; Misty Daniels (Pikeville) as Mary Jane; and Richard Browder (Tennessee) as Young Slave. Browder and Daniels you may recognize as The Scarecrow and Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz. Browder is also one of two choreographers at Jenny Wiley Theatre this season.

King invites everyone to come and see Big River this summer, especially those who saw it last year.

"If you enjoyed it last year, you'll enjoy itagain," he said "If you haven't seen it yet, you don't know what you're missing."

Big River runs throughout the summer, but several performances are already sold out.

So call for your reservations todayl That's (606) 886-9274 for a night of good country music, great acting and a story that will warm your heart, tickle your ribs, and stimulate your mind

Big River casts off soon—see you at the theatre

Floyd County residents awarded MSU Alumni Awards

Morehead State University recently announced that five Floyd County residents are among MSU students receiving Alumni Awards for the fall semester.

Melanie G. Akers of Banner, Mika L. Gayheart of Martin, Martin Thomas Hall of McDowell, Rebecca Lynn Allen of Wheelwright and Danny Lee Collins, of Wheelwright received the prestigious award. Gayheart also received a Leadership Award.

Akers, a graduate of Betsy Layne High School, is the daughter of Benjamin and Genevieve Banner. She is a member of the Beta Club, Quill and Scroll Honor Society. She received a superior rating in the Kentucky State Piano Compeition.

Gayheart, daughter of Jackie and April Gayheart, is a graduate of Allen Central High School. Listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," she ranked in the top ten percent of the senior class and was a member of the Beta Club.

Hall, son of Tommy and Libbi Hall, is a graduate of McDowell High School. An honor student, he was a member of the Beta Club, All-county artists and the FBLA food drive.

Allen is the daughter of Richard and Yvonne Allen of Wheelwright. She was president of the student council and vice president of the Beta Club. Captain of the varsity basketball team, she received an academic letter her junior year.

Danny Lee Collins, son of Dan and Charlotte Collins of Weeksbury. President of the FHA and parliamentarian for FBLA and Beta Club, he is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students." He received the National Science and U.S. Merit Awards and placed first in the county in Young Authors and Mountain Magic competitions.

Allen and Collins are graduates of Wheelwright High School.

To be eligible for an Alumni Award, at least one of the applicant's parents must be an MSU alumnus and an active member of the MSU Alumni Association. The student must be admitted as an entering freshman or transfer student; have an Admissions Index of at least 500; transfer students must have 3.00 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) for the equivalent of at least one full term, and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $600 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 2.75 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.00 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter.

To be eligible for the Leadership Award, applicants must be admittted to MSU as an entering freshman; have exhibited strong leadership and

Allen receives MSU hoonors

Greater Tuna hits stage at Jenny Wiley Theatre

by Kathleen Carroll Contributing Writer

In its 28th season the Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre is introducing nonmusical threater to the Big Sandy Valley. Judging by Widnesday's opening night performances of Greater Tuna, comedy without music at JWST should be a smashing Folks, there are quite a few misconceptions about Greater Tuna. It is not, as some have reported, a science fiction play; nor is it a rewrite of the story about that old guy in the ocean. No, it's not, it's not, it's not, it's not, it's not!

Greater Tuna is an outrageous comedy about the quirky resident of Tuna, "the third smallest town in Texas." In this enlightened community the winning entry in a high school essay contest is entitled, "Human Rights: Why Bother?" and rock 'n roll records are burned, except Elvis and Buddy Holly "because they're good Southern boys and they'll be forgiven." Truth be told, this play transports the audience form Eastern Kentucky to "deep in the heart of Texas;" and it's a delightful journey! It is, it is, it is, it is!

As director Mike King explains, "It's a light-hearted look at life in a small town in Tuna, Texas, but you don't have to be from Texas or even a small town to recognize these characters." All the action takes place one late summer day, opening and closing with news broadcasts from the local radio station, which has the significant call letters OKKK.

The play's real magic is the cast. Two actors, Jim Ligon and Scott McGee, portray TWENTY of Greater Tuna's finer citizens, male and female. Ligon and McGee exhibit true comedic talent and marvelous stamina, as they sort out the population of

"It's very easy to do these characters," said McGee, "because I'm from Mississippi and I know all of these people." Ligon added, "That's true. Bertha is partly my mother and a few other ladies I grew up knowing in Alabama and Pearl is a composite of everybody's grandmother."

director, but director Mike King expressed his admiration for the actors, "I had it easy because [Ligon and McGee] are two great actors who came into rehearsal with great ideas, great comic timing and a great understanding of the material.

King continued, "The real challenge is the costuming. The costume designer and the dressers have a tremendous responsibility in planning to make sure everything is done right and to make sure the right costumes are under other costumes.

"In addition," King explained, "the costumes are cleverly rigged so they come off and go on quickly during costume changes. Our costume designer, Sherry Harper, and the four dressers - Nikki Ratliff, Hope Mullins, Karen Spears, and Krista McIntyre — are absolutely crucial to making this production work."

Actors Jim Ligon and Scott McGee agree, "the dressers are always on top of everything." McGee added, "You get backstage and you're asking 'who am I now?'- and they put your clothes on you and say 'you're Petey' and push you onstage. They are literally putting you into your character and they are absolutely vital to this production."

Not to be overlooked is the set design by James W. Hunter who turned the convention center into a real theater. Using unique lighting and a variety of artifacts, Hunter transforms the convention center into a dusty Texas town. The result 19 remarkable and quite professional.

Greater Tuna actor Jim Ligon also returns to JWST to direct The Jenny Wiley Story, which has further evolved under the musical direction of Richard Oberacker. Other productions at JWST include everybody's favorite family show The Wizard of Oz, Huck Finn's adventures set to Roger Miller's music in Big River and Cole Porter's marvelous musical Anything Goes. The Kentucky Opry will perform at the theater every Monday night. All performances begin at 8 p.m. A special dinner theater will be presented with Greater Tuna. Telephone the theater box office at 886-9274 for ticket prices and availability.

Editor's Note: Greater Tuna will This play would challenge any play July 1, 7, 8, 15, and 16 and dinner theatre performances will be July 2, 9, and 17. Call (606) 886-9274 for reservations.

The Cancer Information Service is part of the Kentucky Cancer Program and is supported by the National Cancer Institute.

Q: My husband and I are trying to cut the fat in our diets. We stay away from fried foods and are eating more salads. Don't we still need to be careful about what we put on our salads?

A: You do need to be careful when choosing salad items. Be "picky" when adding high-fat foods such as regular salad dressings, olives, cheese, egg, fried noodles, nuts, bacon bits, and deli salads made with regular mayonnaise.

You can limit the fat by topping your salad greens with raw or cooked vegetables, diced turkey or chicken, fruit and berries. Choose low-fat or nonfat dressings or make your own using nonfat yogurt, a little reducedcalorie mayonnaise, vinegar or lemon juice and herbs. Just one ladle of regular dressing (2-3 tablespoons) can add more than 20 grams of fat and 180 calories to a salad.

The National Cancer Institute recommends that only 30 percent of your daily calories be from fat in the foods you eat. If you eat 1,600 calories a day (average amount for women), try to limit fat to 53 grams a day. That one ladle of regular dressing has almost half this amount of fat. For a free copy of the new pamphlet "Eat More Salads for Better Health" call 1-800-4-CANCER, the Cancer Information Service.

CEREBROVASCULAR DISEASE & STROKES

Cerebrovascular disease refers to disease of the arteries which carry blood through the neck to your brain, eyes, and face. In normal circulation, blood travels up the carotid arteries on each side of the neck to the brain. The carotid artery divides into two branches, the internal and the exterers blood to the brain and the external artery supplies blood to the face. As we age, a disease called atherosclerosis can affect the normal circulation of blood through the carotid arteries.

Atherosclerosis, also called "hardening of the arteries," can contribute directly to a stroke. It is a slow, progressive disease that may have its beginnings in early life. In atherosclerosis, much like rust in a pipe, the inner walls of the arteries are made thick and irregular by deposits of fatty substances such as cholesterol. The internal channel of the arteries become narrowed and the blood supply to the brain, eyes, and face is reduced. When this happens, a clot is likely to form depriving the brain and other organs of blood. The results could be a stroke.

Stroke afflicts an estimated 1.8 million Americans. Each year over 250,000 people die from stroke. During a stroke many of the nerve cells in the brain die. Because nerve cells control movements, a part of the body may become paralyzed If the right side of the brain is affected, the left side of the body is likely to be paralyzed. A person who has suffered a stroke may also have trouble speaking or understanding speech, reading, writing or remembering. Personality changes may also occur.

The effects of a stroke may be slight or severe, temporary or permanent. A person can suffer a stroke and completely recover within a few days. The severity of the problem depends

Two major conditions can keep the blood supply from reaching the brain, causing a stroke. The first occurs when the blood flowing through an artery to an area of the brain is blocked by a clot. Most often nal. The internal carotid artery deliv- a clot forms in the artery at the site of the blockage. But, sometimes a clot breaks off from an artery somewhere else in the body and travels through the larger blood vessels until it becomes wedged in a smaller artery in

The other condition that interferes with the flow of blood to the brain is bleeding or hemorrhage, also know as cerebral hemorrhage. It occurs when a diseased blood vessel bursts

Card of Thanks

The family of Sybil Stratton Keeton would like to express their appreciation for the thoughtful expressions of sympathy and for the many offers of assistance during our time of grief. The outpouring of love was evident and has left us with fond memories of our mother and of the many friends that we have. We again thank each and every one that visited, expressed their love and sympathy, brought food and helped in the various ways. A special thanks to clergyman Kenneth Castania for his comforting words, the sheriff's department for their assistance in traffic control, and the Hall Funeral Home for their kind and professional

Want to know about a Packard: ask the man who drives one.

Several Packards, including two 1937 classics, rolled down the "blue road" of U.S. 23 into the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn Friday. The men and women who drove them, members of the regional Blue Ridge Packards, were en route to a national car show in Columbus, Ohio, and stopped overnight in Prestonsburg to enjoy the "pretty scenery and the friendly folks," said Emerson Duke of Chesnee, South Carolina, and president of the national chapter.

The club members said they prefer the "blue roads," roads marked in blue on older maps as those less traveled. They prefer the leisurely pace and the country views of the blue roads instead of the hectic pace of the four-lane highways.

The 1937 Packard was a real turning point in cars, said Darvin Kuehl. The car featured better brakes, hydraulic system, and better steering.

The Packard Company's simple motto: "Ask the man who owns one," became a byword. The slogan came about, according to Duke, after someone wrote to the company asking for a brochure about Packards.

The company didn't have any brochures, so the boss told his secretary to tell him to "ask the man who owns one."

That was Packard's motto in 1937 and that's the Packard motto today, said Duke.

Many things came from Packard engineering. Packard Motor Company invented asphalt. "After the war, Packard used to test tanks," said Duke. "The tanks tore up the concrete roadways and the company had to invent something else."That something else was asphalt highways.

Packard Motor Company was also the licensee for Merlin Aircraft engines, and they produced P.T. boat engines, Duke explained.

The Packard automobile touched the hearts of collectors even during its years of production. A club formed in 1953, three years before the production of Packards ended. Because the club is a marque club (it focuses on a single make of car - Packard), the club encompasses all Packards, valued from $4,000 to $300,000 or more. The national club has 3,400 families enrolled, and the regional lists 110 families.

"That would be like having nine Packard owners take pride in the luxury cars," said Becca, wife of re-restoration of their automobiles and go to great lengths to trace the ancestry of their car, occasionally hiring Packards were rare even in those private detectives. One thing that days, Mrs. Kuehl said. Only a million makes the search so difficult, said Packards were produced during the Duke, is they didn't have titles back Packard Motor Company's years of then.

Kuehl, who owns a 1939 Packard was pure quality from top to bottom 12 convertible sedan, is currently and featured technological advances, searching for the original owner of Duke said. The 1940 Packard was the his sedan convertible. His search has The club members also expressed first car to have an air conditioning come to a dead end with the 1956 purchase of the car because that owner cannot remember who he purchased it from. Kuehl refused to give up, though.

"Only 20 were made," Kuehl said. "And they were only afforded by the extremely wealthy. They sold for over $5,000 in 1939, which could be comparable today to several hundred thousand dollars.

"They were either owned by someone very famous or very wealthy," he

"My mother was making $70 a week teaching school," Duke said, who explained that he had traced the ownership of his 1937, 115C Packard to a Cornell University professor, who was born in Mercer County, Pennsylvania.

"He bought it in his 25th year of his being at Cornell and never sold the car. He was 93 when he died," said Duke.

through Prestonsburg were a 1937 120C, a 1941 120 Touring Sedan that was named 1989 National Show Winner, and a 1953 Clipper Deluxe.

"Cars are the glue that holds us together, but its the people who make the club," said Kuehl. Approximately 14 individuals were part of the Packard touring group. Most of them travel together to various shows and on tours.

Owners of the Packards said they get some unusual looks when they drive down the roadways. "We've had people hanging out their cars taking pictures," said Mrs. Kuehl.

"People in a new Mercedes stopped, then asked us 'what is it?"" said Duke.

Most people, though, want to know how much it costs and what's the mileage...or "where do you get the Other Packards making the trip tires," Kuehl said. The teens always want to know how fast it will go, said Kuehl.

> Duke said he gets pretty good mileage, about nine miles to the gallon with his 1937 model. Parts, including tires, are available to keep the cars on the road, both explained.

As far as speed, though, Duke would only say that the cars will drive at modern speeds.

One thing weighs heavily in the minds of hearts of Packard collectors - the conversion of Packards into street rods. "When cars are modernized, then they are lost forever," said Duke. "It's really discouraging."

Some of Kentucky's best-known potteries

by Kathryn A. Bratcher

Pottery is one of the staples of life in civilization. Its products are necessary for daily living and also have many ornamental uses. When settlers first came into Kentucky, they brought their own dishes and utensils, most of which had been manufactured in the colonies. The first known pottery in Louisville was in operation as early as 1815.

The Ohio Valley has been known as a ceramics region with many potteries in Kentucky, Indiana and Ohio. The Kentucky Geological Survey Bulletin No. 6, published in 1906, details clays which are conducive to pottery-making in several parts of Kentucky, and lists potteries that were established in a number of counties at the time. Some of Kentucky's fine ceramicists have turned their work into prospering long-term businesses. At least four of the state's potteries have enjoyed widespread recognition and trade.

Bybee Pottery in Madison County is said to be the oldest pottery west of the Alleghenies that is still in operation. James Eli Cornelison founded the pottery about 1845, and the family still use the same methods of operation to make tableware that is sold in state and national parks throughout the southeast. The Cornelisons use china clay dug from a pit near the pottery and every piece is handmade, thus keeping production limited and designs always in demand.

One of the largest potteries in Kentucky at the turn of the century was in Paducah. Owner J. Andrew Bauer was born in Indiana around 1857 of parents who had emigrated from Bavaria. About 1879, he began working in his brother's large pottery in Louisville. In 1886, Bauer moved to Paducah where he purchased a small company already in operation and opened the Paducah Pottery Company. The company grew to boast at least two warehouses, with an L-shaped factory in the middle, and several kilns. It was described as the finest pottery in western Kentucky and had about 75 employees, as well as several travelling salesmen. Products of the pottery included milk jars, dishes, crockery, flower pots, coolers, churns, and vases.

John Bauer, who was born about 1852, was J. Andrew's brother. John Bauer founded the Preston Street Pottery in Louisville about 1879. It was here that J. Andrew Bauer served his apprenticeship before moving to Paducah. The Preston Street Pottery plant included three large kilns, storage yards and a switch of the L&N

John Bauer's company had a long history which led eventually to ties dent of the company in the early with the modern company known as Louisville Stoneware. When John Bauer died in Louisville in 1901, his wife Susan became the proprietor. By 1903 the business had been renamed Bauer Pottery Works. In 1906, the Bauer Pottery Works and Louisville Pottery Company are listed in the city directory at the same address; in 1907, Bauer Pottery Works closed and Louisville Pottery opened in a new location.

Louisville Pottery Company was run by S.O. Snyder, as President, and Keith P. Snyder as Secretary. In the early 1930's, Keith Snyder became law, John B. Taylor, was named presi-sold in shops aroung the country.

1940's. The company was famous for its Cherokee brand of hand-turned pottery and used more than 150 shapes and designs. It had a large business among gift shops and other retailers.

When John B. Taylor retired in 1970, John and Vivian Robertson purchased all the molds, patterns, and equipment of the Louisville Pottery Company and reopened the plant at a new location on Brent Street under the name Louisville Stoneware Company. Louisville Stoneware Company has flourished for over twenty years. It is famous for dinnerware, crockpresident of the company; his son-in- ery, and accessories. Its wares are

Mary Alice (Hale) Hadley, born in Terre Haute, Indiana, was the daughter of a pottery owner. She majored in art at Indiana State Teachers College and studied at DePauw University. In 1930 she married

George E. Hadley and the couple later settled in Louisville. Mrs. Hadley began making her own stoneware dishes about 1940 because none of the available patterns suited her tastes. Her hobby grew to become the Hadley Pottery Works, which opened in 1944. George Hadley, and engineer, designed and built much of the equipment used in producing his wife's depictions of animals, people, and nature were so sought after that her work became known internationally. One of her more famous designs for dinnerware, "Brown Fleck", featured tan coin dots on a background of brown; other designs were inspired by the works of Picasso and Chagall. Mrs. Hadley died in 1965 at the age of 54; Mr. Hadley died in 1991. Hadley Pottery Company is still in business under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Moore.

The Ohio: Whose river is it anyway?

The Ohio River, named Ohiyo by the Iroquois Indians (meaning "grand river"), extends for 981 miles, and it may seem that at one time or another the boundary of almost every mile along it has been questioned. The Ohio River forms parts of the boundaries of Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, West Virginia, and Illinois. The disputes center on the issue of the actual boundary of each state on the river, and the jurisdiction which each state may exercise on the river.

In 1603 King James I of England granted to the Virginia Company of London "... all those lands, countries and territories (sic) scituat, lieinge and being ein that place of America called Virginia ..." including "... all that space and circuit of lande lieing from the sea coaste of the precinct aforesaid upp unto the land, throughoute, from sea to sea, west to northwest ..." James could not possibly have known how much land he had granted and what kind of conflicts would arise. The land in this charter included the Ohio River and what is now Kentucky.

The present-day dispute over ownership of the river originates in Virginia's 1784 deed of cession of the Old Northwest to the national government. The enabling act of 1789 granted to Kentucky "all right, title, and claims as well as soil as jurisdiction, which the said commonwealth hath to the territory within the limits of the Virginia charter, situated, lying, and being to the northwest of the Ohio River." The vagueness of this statement proved to be the chief stumbling block in the interpretation of boundary rights.

The first legal debate concerning boundary rights occurred over a piece of land that extended from the Indiana shore near Evansville. During low water it resembled a peninsula and during high water it was an island. The conflict developed when both Kentucky and the Federal Government issued patents for this land. In 1820 the dispute was presented before the United States Supreme Court in Handley's Lessee vs. Anthony. Chief Justice John Marshall denied Kentucky's claim:

Kentucky extends only to the low watermark on the western or northwestern side of the river Ohio; and does not include a peninsula, or island, on the western or northwestern bank, separated from the main land by a channel or bayou, which is filled with water only when the river rises above its banks, and is, at other times dry. When a river is the boundary between two nations or states, if the original property is in neither, and there be no convention respecting it, each holds to the middle of the stream. But when, as in this case, one State (Virginia) is the original proprietor, and grants the territory on one side only, it retains the river within its own domain, and the newly erected State extends to the river only, and the low water mark is its boundary.

In 1898 the Supreme Court upheld Marshall's decision in the case of the Henderson Bridge Co. vs. Henderson. The Supreme Court set the boundary at the low-water mark. The questions that keep arising involve the location of the low-water mark, particularly in 1792 when Kentucky became a state.

Almost 100 years after the Henderson Bridge case the same haunting question of the location of the border is still in debate. In 1990, in settling a Kentucky-Illinois boundary dispute, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled once again that the state line is at "the low-water mark on the northerly side of the Ohio River as it existed in the year 1792.'

Kentucky's main concern regarding the boundary dispute involves revenue. At present Kentucky collects fishing and boating license fees, taxes from goods sold from floating barges, and property taxes from bargeloading facilities that extend into the

Because of the financial implications the question of "who owns the river" may never be resolved. For over 150 years the Supreme Court has not deviated from its original ruling, and most of the bordering states have unwillingly conceded Kentucky's right of ownership, at least temporarily.

Prevention of tick bites helps avoid diseases

Warm weather in Kentucky always brings more outdoor activityand possible exposure to tick bites, which can transmit Rocky Mountain spotted fever and Lyme disease.

In 1991, 31 cases of Rocky Mountain spotted fever were identified along with 44 Lyme disease cases. In 1990, Kentucky had 11 Rocky Mountain spotted fever cases and 18 cases of Lyme disease.

State health officials are urging Kentuckians to take measures that can prevent tick bites.

Clarkson Palmer, M.D., communicable disease branch manager in the state Department for Health Services, says that precautions are especially important in the summer months when ticks-and peopleare most active.

"Both Rocky Mountain spotted fever and Lyme disease are quite serious illnesses," he said. "While some people might view the precautions as bothersome, they're well worth the time and effort involved if they can prevent either of these diseases.'

Palmer recommends the following precautions to prevent tick expo-

*Wear a long-sleeved shirt tucked into long pants; tuck pant legs into socks or boots; tape area where pants and socks meet to keep ticks out;

*Spray insect repellent listing "permethrin" as the active ingredient on pants, socks and shoes but not on the skin. Repellents listing "DEET" as the active ingredient may be sprayed on the skin.

*Avoid walking in the brush and

*Keep pets away from infested areas, and check for ticks on pets and remove them.

*Do not try to crush the tick. Instead, flush it down a toilet or save it in a tightly closed vial for later identification.

The severity of Rocky Mountain spotted fever ranges from mild to fatal. The disease can be treated effectively with antibiotics, but early diagnosis and treatment are critical.

Palmer says the symptoms of Rocky Mountain spotted fever are a fever and possibly chills, headache and muscle aches occurring three to 10 days after a tick bite. One to three

Local photographer displays at international exposition

Prints created by Steven G. Porter of Porter Studio, in Prestonsburg, were recently accepted into the General Collection of the 101st International Exposition of Professional Photography, May 30-June 3, at Winona International School of Professional Photography, Mount Prospect, Illinois. The images will be on display July 19-21 at the Orange County Convention Center, Orlando, Florida, in conjunction with the Professional Photographers of America, Inc. (PPA) annual international convention, "Talent Meets Technology."

Titled "Leaving Home" and "Country Cousin," the entries and more than 2,500 other photographic works constitute the world's largest annual exhibit of professional photography gathered simultaneously

In recognition of the achievement, PPA members receive a merit certificate for each entry accepted into the collection, which can be applied toward the Master of Photography Degree granted by the association.

Founded in 1880, PPA is the world's oldest and largest association for professional photographers. The organization provides educational services and establishes standards of professional performance for its more than 17,000 individual members and 214 affiliated organizations worldwide.

The truth about child sexual abuse

In only its second meeting, a task force led by Attorney General Chris that child sexual abuse is a threat in Gorman is dispelling myths about the sexual abuse of children.

During two days of riveting testimony from both victims and offenders, the Attorney General's Task Force on Child Sexual Abuse learned that abuse occurs regardless of race, gender, family income or geographic location. Instead, the only common denominator appears to be that the victims are vulnerable, especially to a person in position of authority or trust. Task Force members also learned that there is no such thing as a stereotypical offender, and that women also commit acts of child sexual abuse.

"There can no longer be any doubt every level of our society," Mr. Gorman said. "Now more than ever, our guiding principle must be accountability. We must make the offenders more accountable for their actions, and we must make the system more accountable to these young victims."

The Task Force meets on a monthly basis in Frankfort, and includes among its members judges, prosecutors, legislators, health care workers and representatives of many other disciplines. It's goal is to bring about changes in both public policy and state law, all aimed at the protection of Kentucky's children.

Opry begins second season on a high note

by: Beth Jones

Monday, June 22, the Kentucky Opry opened their second season at the Jenny Wiley Summer Music Theatre. Despite the unseasonably cool weather, the show sold-out.

The night's festivities began with the musical "Rock On," which was performed by Floyd County Students in Training. All the schools in the county had staged this play. From these performances, an All-Star cast was chosen. The musical, which features tunes—from the 50's through the 80's, was a huge success. The Students in Training will be performing "Rock On" every other Monday night for the duration of the summer.

After a short intermission, the dynamic Kentucky Opry troupe took the stage. Their delightful blend of country, pop, gospel, and oldies provided the attentive audience with an assortment of musical treats.

Some highlights of the show were the unexpected appearance of "the King" and the homespun humor of Munroe Birdshet, portrayed by Freddie Goble. A beautiful rendition of "Deep River Woman" by Tony 9274. Whited, Jody Conley, and James Whited brought tears to the eyes of several in the crowd. The footstomping "Uncle Pen" and classic

"Orange Blossom Special" by David Morris were crowd favorites, as well. A current hit, "The Time Has Come." performed by Donna Cox was thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the next excitement-filled, entertainment-packed performance of the Kentucky Opry.

Kentucky and MCI provide voter registration by phone

Secretary of State Bob Babbage said that beginning July 3 registering to vote in Floyd County will be as easy as calling 1-800-93K-VOTE on the telephone.

Babbage explained that citizens can enter their zip code on a touchtone phone and be automatically connected by MCI to the county clerk in their county of residence.

The clerk can obtain the caller's registration information and enter it into a computer. That information will be processed by the Department of Information Services (DIS), a voter registration card will be completed and mailed directly to the caller, Babbage explained.

Callers using a rotary dial phone the State Board of Elections for registration information.

The MCI system will directly link callers to their county clerk during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. device and have their calls returned the following day by State Board of Elections staff.

Once the voter registration card is signed by the registrant and returned to the county clerk, the individual is registered to vote.

"Many people say they are not registered to vote because it is inconvenient," Babbage said. "Now with MCI's innovative program, registering to vote is as simple as making a phone call."

Babbage said that over 800,000 Kentuckians are eligible to vote but are not registered. Currently the state has 1.9 million registered voters.

Babbage, who by virtue of his office is the chief election official of Kentucky, said several other secretaries of state are interested in developing similar programs in their states.

"This election year will be a watershed year in American politics and each vote cast in every local, state and national race will carry greater importance than in any election year in recent memory," Robert L. Goldwill be automatically connected to smith, vice president of national accounts for MCI, said.

> the main goals of his office is to work to increase voter education, registration and election day turnout.

> Babbage, whose duties include serving as chairman of the Kentucky Board of Elections, noted that the state board approved mail-in voter registration forms at its April meet-

New laws to help victims of domestic violence

There are these numbers: over 13,000 reports of women experiencing violent assaults or threats by a spouse, partner or former mate; 64 domestic homicides by a spouse or partner; over 5,000 women and children sheltered at spouse abuse centers plus 800 on a waiting list. That was last year in Kentucky alone.

Now there are these numbers: HB 115, HB 445, HB 256, SB 80, SB 103, SB 160. They mean greater protection and support for Kentucky women and children and perhaps fewer injuries and death added to the numbers above.

The bill numbers represent the landmark package of new and strengthened legal "tools" for combating domestic violence. The new laws go into effect July 14.

One of the most impressive new laws, according to Carol Lewandowski, outreach coordinator for the Big Sandy Abuse Center, is House Bill 115. Previously, domestic violence laws applied to married couples. House Bill 115 extends the laws that provide for protection and prosecution to unmarried couples (defined as two people living together who receive their mail at the same residence). National studies show that boyfriends and ex-boyfriends commit 32 percent of domestic violence.

"Another great thing" about the new laws is that Emergency Protection Orders (EPO) must be accepted by court clerks. Before, said Lewandowski, clerks could let the EPOs "sit "In the past there have been breakdowns and the orders haven't gone all the way through," she explained. Another important change is HB

445 which makes stalking a crime in "Most of the time, they (the abuser) will follow you (their victim) in their cars, or find where you're staying," said Lewandowski. "Until now, you couldn't do anything about it."

HB 445 is prevention, said Kathy Frederich, adult protection specialist in the Department for Social Serv-

"When the intent to harm someone and the threats seem real because of a person's conduct, the stalking law is a tool to stop serious injury or death before it happens — and you can't overstate its importance,"

Only three other states have a stalking law — but some 40 states are considering one, she said.

Stalking is defined as "an intentional course of conduct directed at a specific person which seriously alarms, annoys, intimidates or harasses; which serves no legitimate purpose; and which would cause a reasonable person to suffer substantial mental distress." A "course of conduct" is two or more acts showing a consistent purpose.

offender has a deadly weapon, has been convicted or pled guilty within five years to a felony or a class A misdemeanor, or if the stalker has been served notice of a protective order or criminal complaint concerning the same victim.

Other key changes in Kentucky's courtroom. domestic violence laws include:

•By July 30, emergency protectihe center, call 886-6025. tive orders (good for 14 days) are to be made available around the clock from district courts at no charge to the person seeking protection and without a residency requirement.

•Emergency protective orders have been expanded to include sexual abuse, to award emergency temporary custody of minor children, and to ban "any contact or communication with the petitioner except as directed by the court." Orders have already prohibited abusive actions, destruction of property, and being on the shared premises.

·An emergency protective order may be replaced by the court after a full hearing with a domestic violence order effective for up to a year that may be reissued annually.

•The courts must immediately notify all law enforcement agencies throughout Kentucky of an order issued or any changes made, through the computerized Law Information Network of Kentucky (LINK).

"This (law) will clarify a lot of things," said Lewandowski, who explained that previously if and individual filed an Emergency Protective Order in one county and then moved to another county and the abuser violated the order, then, in most incidents, the individual would be told to refile the order in his or her present place of residence.

·Law enforcement officers must make an arrest when they have probable cause to believe a protective order has been violated; the violation is a criminal offense.

·Circuit courts must consider domestic violence as a factor in determining child custody and visitation issues.

·In self-defense cases where a victim of abuse kills the abuser, a past pattern of repeated serious abuse shall figure in the new definition of "imminent danger," and be admissible evidence.

GED, college degrees keep inmates from returning to jail

Education is the key to recycling the disposable human resources of society was the message delivered Friday night (May 15) by one of those resources.

The speaker, Philip W. Rasmussen, was one of four inmates of the Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex who became the first graduates of a Morehead State University program offered at EKCC through the University's Licking Valley Extended Campus Center.

MSU President C. Nelson Grote, along with other MSU administrators and faculty members garbed in traditional academic regalia, joined with corrections officials to conduct a special commencement program at EKCC for the graduating inmates and their families.

Rasmussen of Crystal Lake, Ill., Randall W. Isaacs of Lima, Ohio, Freddie E. Blackburn of Pikeville and Donald G. Sargent of Dry Ridge received the Associate of Arts degree from MSU.

Comparing the college education program to the battle to save the environment, Rasmussen said that

Raymond Mason

Mason elected vice chairman at 97th convention

At the 97th annual convention of the Kentucky League of Savings Institutions, the members of the trade association for Kentucky's S & L's and Savings Banks representing over 7 and 1/2 billion in assets, elected Darrell Raymond Mason of Paintsville as their vice chairman.

Mason is the chief executive officer of Family Federal Savings Bank. He is a director of the United Way of Eastern Kentucky, a member of the Mayo Foundation Board, and past president of the Central Kentucky League of Savings Institutions. Mason presently serves as president of the Kentucky League's insurance subsidiary, Financial Institution Services of Kentucky, Inc. and, following his year as vice chairman of the league, will serve as its chairman.

Mason's wife, Shirley, is a teacher in the Paintsville Independent Schools and they have two children, Ashley and Alicia.

MSU's and other comparable programs were "taking the old, discarded, nonproductive, self-doubting, destructive elements of society and reintroducing or recycling them into humans with pride and self-esteem, self-worth and hope."

The 32-year-old inmate, who has been in custody in Kentucky for eight years, called for a constitutional amendment guaranteeing a college education for all and not just for the privileged.

Rasmussen told the commencement guests who included families of the graduates that the diploma symbolized an apology to "those people who tried to tell us we didn't know it all when we thought we did." Noting that President Harry S. Truman had said, "Ultimately it is what we learn after we know it all that is important," Rasmussen added that the diploma shows that "we are ready to listen and learn, ready to accept social standards and willing to be recycled into society-if given the opportunity."

The diploma, he added, "means that we care about ourselves, about restored pride and self-esteem and the possibilities for the future." He told the audience that he had watched thousands of inmates leave who had not wanted to return, but that countless had because they left with the same addictions, lacking necessary job skills and usually were just "going out on vacation. I can tell you because I was one of them."

He said that clear skies, sparkling fresh water and green grassy meadows represent the environmental dream, while upward mobility, prosperity and liberty were the American dream.

"To be somebody and to make something of yourself through education is our dream. We are part of the race to save the planet. We are all in this war together and tonight, there are four new victories in the battle," he concluded.

In his remarks, Dr. Grote, who conferred the degrees, said that his father has always told him that education is something that no one can take from you. "Education is truly an asset to everyone. You young men have earned your degree; you worked hard and you achieved academically. You deserve to be recognized and respected for your academic accomplishments," he told the graduates.

EKCC Warden Michael O'Dea, who welcomed the guests to the program, praised Dr. Grote for his efforts in getting the program launched at the complex.

MSU began offering college courses at EKCC in 1990 and currently approximately 50 inmates are is state licensed in Kentucky, North taking MSU classes. University officials are exploring the possibility of adding upper division courses to the program, according to Dr. Marc Glasser, MSU dean of graduate and extended campus programs.

TOURNAMENT..

Look Sports by Ed Taylor

Sports Editor PRESTONSBURG TO HOST

But now it is getting ready time. One of the things to be done is to secure a scoreboard for the Archer Park diamond. The question has always been asked about the Archer Park field and others around the county - why no scoreboard? That is a good question. Just because we are going to host a Little League All-Star tournament the folks at Archer Park will have to take down the one at the softball field and use it during the two week tournament. Then return it after the classic over.

Why hasn't there always been a scoreboard at Archer Park. I have numerous fans asking what is the score? What inning is it? Who's ahead? And if they are going to keep up with the game's progress they have to ask those questions.

As most fans in the county know, not one of our Little League, senior league or Babe Ruth fields have a scoreboard. None of them! The only scoreboard I have ever known at a high school game is the one that Tom Clark would whittle out of cedar and keep score on. I'm being honest with you. If you wanted to know the score of a Prestonsburg game, you asked Tom. He had the only scoreboard in his hand.

Now, our district is finally going to get to host the tournament. Why don't our park directors start making preparations for scoreboards at all of our ball fields? Then, when we host a tournament, we won't have to take down Kenny Conley's at the softball

BUT ON THE OTHER HAND...

Floyd County being host to the 14 and 15 year old Babe Ruth All-Stars had to be sent somewhere else because of no lights at Stumbo Park. Floyd County Babe Ruth president Harold Case told me that he notified state officials to send the tournament somewhere else because of inadequate facilities in the county. That's too bad! SPORTSMANSHIP AWARD...

What's better than being named Most Valuable Player in a league? Being winner of the Sportsmanship Award for your league. Kevin Johnson, Wheelwright, was the recent recipient of the award this week as Case presented Johnson with anice plaque from Babe Ruth headquarters. Congratulations to Kevin for the prestigious award.

GOINS STILL GOING Beaver Creek Little League president Jimmy Goins has had a very busy week. The new league president laid out a 20 game schedule for his league this season and now it has caused the Little League teams to push to get their current tournament over with this week because of the start of the All-Star tournament next week in Prestonsburg. Goins is using two diamonds to play the double elimination tournament and one is not fit to play Little League baseball on. The Minnie Park is unsafe because of the very rough infield and outfield.

This past Monday night I was at the tournament games at the Minnie Park and noticed how many kids, especially around the second base area, that almost got hit in the face with the ball because of a bad hop on the rough infield. The same held true in the outfield.

The softball teams, and that is the only place they have to play, has made the Minnie field an unsafe place to play.

However, maybe next year the solution will be solved when the new Drift ball diamond is fixed for Little League play. Little League diamonds need fences around the outfield. The Drift diamond does not have one but I understand one is going to go up. That will be fine. The Minnie Park has a fence but for softball purposes only.

Others in the county are in need (See A Look At Sports, BB 2)

Second win of season big one for Martin Braves

The Martin Braves Little League team won for only the second time all season and it could not have come at a more opportune time than this past Saturday at the Martin Park.

The Braves posted a 10-9 victory over the Duff Orioles in the first round of the Beaver Creek Little League tournament. The win was of a come-from-behind variety.

Martin scored five times in the bottom of the fifth inning to take a 9-7 lead only to see the Orioles score two in their half of the sixth to tie the game at 9-9.

In the bottom of the sixth inning, Chris Damron reached on an error when first baseman Shawn Ousley failed to handle a throw from third base. Damron moved to third base on two passed balls. Timbo Hagans, who started on the mound for the Orioles, struck out Chris Prater. However, Desmond Spencer ended the game when he singled home Damron with the winning run.

Martin trailed 7-4 entering the bottom of the fifth inning. Mistakes in the field for the Orioles opened the door for the Braves to scored five times and take their 9-7 lead. Damron reached on an error at shortstop by Shawn Henson, Prater struck out, but Spencer's ground ball was misplayed by third baseman John Mullins, Brian Akers then lined a double to left scored to make it a 2-1 game. centerfield scoring Damron and Spencer.

Gordon Maynard, starting pitcher for the Braves, was safe when he bounded back to the mound but the throw to first was errant. Akers scored on the error. Josh Hall singled and scored along with with Maynard to give the Braves the lead.

Duff tied the game in the top of the sixth. Maynard walked Hagans with one out in the sixth. Hagans stole second, moved to third on a will pitch and scored on a passed ball. Some poor base running by the Orioles cost them two runs. Mullins singled after Hagans had scored. Byron Hall then roped a base hit with Mullins heading toward second base. Mullins did not stop at second and Spencer had the ball waiting for him at third base for the out. Hall went all the way to third on two wild pitches by Maynard and scored on Shawn Henson's RBI single. Henson stole second and third and some bad base running cost the Orioles yet another run. Henson broke for home on a passed ball, hesitated as if to go back to third, but journeyed on to home plate where he was tagged out for the third out.

Martin took a 2-1 lead after the first inning. Prater walked and Spencer singled with Prater coming all the way around after the ball was booted in centerfield. After Akers fanned, Maynard bounced to the mound with Spencer at third and he Duff scored first in the top of the first on a two-out base hit by Hall who went to third on two wild pitches. Hall scored when Henson's ground ball got through the third baseman's legs for an error.

The Orioles went up 3-2 with two runs in the second inning. Chris Ratliff walked, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. On the move to third base, the ball was overthrown at third, allowing Ratliff to pick himself up and score. J.J. Hall drew a one-out walk and three wild pitches later he crossed home plate to give the Orioles the lead.

Hagans struck out the side in the bottom of the second inning and the Orioles went to work in the third against Maynard. Mullins was safe on an error at second base but was erased when Hall bounced to third forcing Mullins at second. Hall scored on three consecutive wild pitches by Maynard as he was missing the plate, and catcher as well, by a wide margin. Shawn Ousley then tripled deep to right centerfield and scored on an overthrow at third base. Duff led 5-2 after the third inning.

Martin cut the margin to one run when they scored twice in the fourth inning. An error with one out by Henson at short allowed Josh Hall to reach first. Daniel Cox was nailed by a pitch and Hall stole third. He scored on a bouncer back to the mound by

The Cubs committed 18 errors in the game as they saw the front running Martin Cardinals post an 11-3 win and advance on in the winner's bracket of the double elimination

Kaleb Yates picked up the win for the Cardinals in going the distance. Yates recorded 13 strike outs while walking seven. Combs fanned 10 batters and only issued two base on balls. But it was the fielding behind Combs that led to the downfall of the

Where the Cubs were committing 18 errors, the Cardinals were collecting 18 hits. Yates limited Garrett to only three hits in the game in giving up only three runs.

Yates also led the Cardinals offensively with three hits including a double. Brad Dasner had three singles while Jason Osborne and John Patton collected two hits each.

Martin scored three times in the first inning for a 3-0 lead after the Cubs went out in order in the first. Nick Samons doubled to open the inning and Toby Yates followed with a scratch single. Both runners scored on Kaleb Yates two-run single. Dasner sent Kaleb Yates home with a on the base paths to triple in the RBI single.

His team committed costly errors in the frame. Ryan Owens had the only RBI in the inning as the other two runs were unearned.

Drift then plated their 10 runs in the fifth inning for a 17-3 score and it looked like mercy was going to be extended. But the Pirates scored five times in the bottom of the fifth to avoid the shortened game. The big blow for the Pirates in the fifth was a three-run home run by Rodney Bentley. Williams doubled to lead off the Astros sixth and he scored when Tackett's ground ball got underneath the glove of the Pirates second baseman. Graden Allen then walked with J.J. Hall coming into the game as a pinch runner. Williams scored the innings only run on the error at second base.

Murriell gave up 12 runs on seven hits, struck out seven and walked three. Bentley walked the only three he faced and was credited with two runs scoring. Manns fanned one batter, walked no one, allowed three runs on three hits.

Thirty years service

30 years given to youth baseball!

If they ever have an appreciation day in the county for those that have given so much to youth baseball, Dave Conley will certainly be one that will need to be honored. He has given 30 years to help kids in the area to play the game of baseball. Conley does not just do it for his team but for all teams that has needed help. All of Floyd County salutes Dave Conloy for his unselfish contribution to the youth programs in the area. (photo

Now, Goins wanted to get the tournament in so he used the Minnie Park, I can understand that. I think that Jimmy Goins has done a great job with the Little League program and I would venture to say that next year will be better. SPEAKING OF LITTLE LEAGUERS...

There are some tremendous talent out there in our five leagues. Some of the upcoming 10 year olds give our leagues and high school something to look forward Clabe Hall of the Drift Astros is a 12 year old who any ball team would love to have. He is very quick and has a good glove at third base. His bat is quick and makes excellent contact.

For 10 year olds how about Byron Hall of the Astros? When this one is 12, watch out. There are many other good young players. Craig Johnson of the Mud Creek Cubs. What an arm that kid has. A very intelligent pitcher. Wesley Samons of the Allen Astros. Knows how to play the game along with team mate John Ortega.

The Prestonsburg LL is loaded with good young talent in Andy Jarvis, Gavin Hale and a host of others.

TRACK AND FIELD FACILITIES...

Not much to report except that the item is going to be on the docket for the upcoming school board meeting. I certainly hope that our board members will do something to see that such a facility is built somewhere in the county.

There is no reason why Floyd County cannot have a place to hold track and field meets.

"If they cannot find one, Kenny Conley (softball director at Archer Park) said that we could move the new one from the softball field over to the Little League diamond for the two-week period. Ralph Little (Archer Park director) said that he would fix us a new pitcher's mound."

As far as umpires for the tournament, a decision hasn't come yet. "We have to furnish the head office with some names of people for final approval," said Jarvis.

Prestonsburg, who will be coached by Mike Castle, will play the Wheelwright All-Stars in the first game of the tournament that begins Monday night at Archer Park. Beaver Creek North will face counterpart Beaver Creek South in the second game with Martin County taking on defending champion HAP in the third game of the tournament.

In the lower bracket, Morgan County will wait in the wings to face the winner of the Prestonsburg/ Wheelwright game. Paintsville will take on Morgan County.

The tournament is a double elimination format.

participants for Allen Central next spring. Robinson also captured first place in the shot put for his division with a throw of 34 feet, 10 inches. Robinson placed second in javelin with a throw of 68 feet.

Jason Samons was impressive in his performance in the Olympics. While he did not have a first place finish, Samons did place second twice and third in a third event. Samons always ran the 100 meters in high school this past season but tried something new - and it may continue for him in the spring. For the first time Samons ran in a hurdle event and placed second in the 400 hurdles with a time of 1:10.68. A time that impressed Coach Jamer-

"We had planned to move Jason to the 400 meters next year anyway," said the Allen Central mentor. "Now we may just move him to race in the 300 hurdles next season. Jason had posted a good time in the hurdles in Frankfort and with next year being Shane's (Stumbo) senior year, it will give him some experience for later."

Samons placed second in the 100meter run with a time of 12:05. His 58:21 was good for third place in the 400 meters. He also placed third in the 200 meters with a 25:73.

Nicholas Jamerson, six-year-old son of Coach Jamerson, represent the school in the Bantam Division. The smaller Jamerson placed first in the 800 meters with a time of 3:48 and then ran the 400 meters for first place

"It was a super nice day weather wise for the meet," said Jamerson as he sounded like a coach who wished the track and field season was just getting started again.

All participants for the Allen Central track and field squad will now advance on to regional competition in the Junior Olympics. The regional meet will be held July 11-12 at Central State University in Wilbur Forest, Ohio.

REBEL NOTES:

The track and field facility that everyone has hoped would finally come to Floyd County has been an on again, off again situation. Coach Jamerson stated that he did not know just what the board of education was going to do.

'We do know that we want to get it back on the board's agenda for next month (July) and keep the item before them," said Jamerson. "We also understand that an added tract of land will be donated at the Wayland site in "We have lobbied for a long time order for the county to provide a

The Cubs scored again in the fifth inning on a one-out base hit by Combs and a fielder's choice play off the bat of Johnny Case. Their final run came in the sixth inning when Jackie Owens scored after leading off the inning with a walk. Owens scored on an error by the Cardinals.

In the sixth, a two-out single by Patton started the rally for the Cards as they scored twice. Patton came in to score on Samons' runproducing double. Damron, Slone lead Martin Reds past Yankees, 9-6

The Beaver Creek Little League tournament continued through the past weekend with eight games played. The Martin Reds got some timely hits from Bret Slone and Chris Damron and slipped past the Drift Yankees 9-6 to advance in the winner's bracket. The Yankees on the other hand fell into the lower bracket of play.

Martin spotted Drift a 4-0 lead in the first inning and then held the Yankees at bay as they scored three in the first and posted four more runs in the third for the win.

Sam Bentley went the distance for Martin in picking up the win. Bentley fanned six batters while walking just one. He also hit one batter. Zack Layne was the losing pitcher working the first 4 1/3 innings for the Yankees. Daniel Lafferty came on in relief going the final 1 2/3 innings. Layne struck out three and walked two while hitting one batter. Lafferty had five strike outs in his short stint. Lafferty walked two batters.

Damron and Slone were a perfect three-for-three in the game. Slone had a double and two singles. Todd Howard collected two hits in two plate appearances. Misty Scott, one of the few girls playing Little League baseball this year, continues to be one of the top Reds hitter with a fifth inning triple. B.J.. Caudill had a double in the third Drift jumped out to a 4-0 first inning lead on a lead-off hit by Ryan Shannon. With two out, Nick Rackey walked and Shannon scored on a single by Pat Martin. Kyle Tackett drove in Rackey and Martin with a two-run single. Tackett scored on a base hit by Layne.

Martin pulled to within one run with three of their own in the first inning. Howard's one out single scored Damron and Slone, who had singled earlier in the frame. Howard stole home for the third run.

Both teams went out in the second without any noise but the Reds started rattling their bats again in the third when four runs crossed home plate for a 7-4 Martin lead.

Damron and Slone collected oneout singles and Damron scored on a base hit by Bentley. Howard singled for his second hit of the game scoring Slone. After Misty Scott walked, Caudill then doubled home two runs with Bentley and Howard scoring.

The Reds plated a single run in the a run in the fifth inning. Todd Howard was hit by a pitch in the fifth inning and later scored when Misty Scott tripled.

The Yankees threatened to score in the third inning with a hit batter and a base hit by Chad Tuttle. But both runners were stranded. After going out in order in the fourth, Drift got a lead-off double from John Stumbo only to leave him on base, Drift scored twice in the top of the sixth to make it a 9-6 game. Daniel Lafferty reached on a base hit and Tuttle laid down a sacrifice bunt that he actually beat out. After Rackey went out, Pat Martin singled home Lafferty and Tuttle scored on Kyle Tackett's RBI single. But the rally fell short as the Reds won 9-6.

Castle steals home as Twins steal game from Rangers score in baseball other than the base hits. It's called stealing. Taking advantage of the other team's defense. Or the lack of it.

That's what the Betsy Layne Twins did when they entered the bottom of the seventh inning against a good Garrett Rangers Babe Ruth team Monday evening at Stumbo Park. Down 7-6 entering the inning, the Twins went to work - on the Rangers defense that it.

Rocky Newsome led off the Betsy Layne seventh with a base hit. He then stole second and in his steal attempt of third base, the ball was overthrown with Newsome scoring the tying run. Toby Newsome struck out for the first out in the inning. Brandon Castle then drew a one-out walk from Ranger reliever Aaron Caudill. Castle walked, moved to second when Marcus Hamilton walked. Castle then stole third and came home with the winning run when he stole home against the Rangers in the bottom of the seventh.

Toby Newsome picked up the win in relief of Rocky Newsome, who started on the mound for the Twins. Rocky Newsome worked the first five innings allowing six runs on three hits. He walked four batters and hit two. His team committed five errors behind him. Newsome struck out seven batters.

Toby Newsome worked the final two innings with two walks and two strike outs. He gave up one run on two hits. Newsome was the pitcher of record when the winning run scored.

Betsy Layne took a 5-0 lead with five runs in the bottom of the first inning. Toby Newsome had an RBI double that scored J.P. Skeens, who had opened the inning with a walk. Castle walked and Hamilton singled home Newsome. With two out, Willie Meade tripled home two runs for a 4-0 game.

The Rangers scored three times in the top of the second on back-to-back walks to Risner and Aaron Jackson.

There's more than one way to Potter walked to load the bases and Jy Shepherd was hit by a pitch forcing home Risner. Caudill bounced to short with the throw coming home to force Potter. Shepherd scored on Hicks' fielder's choice play. The Twins then pulled off a 6-6-3 double play to end the Rangers second.

Rocky Newsome scored for the Twins in the bottom of the second after he walked and stole second. He came in to score on Toby Newsome's RBI single for a 5-3 Twins' lead.

The Rangers tied the game in the top of the third on a two-run home run by Jackson. Risner opened the inning with a walk and then Jackson clubbed his home run to tie the game at 5-5.

Betsy Layne reclaimed the lead with a single run in the bottom of the third to go ahead 6-5. Hamilton walked stole second, third and socred on Meade's bouncer to short.

In the fifth, Garrett tied the game at 6-6 on a lead-off walk to Jackson and Caudill's one out run producing single. The Rangers took their first lead of the game, 7-6, with a run in the top of the sixth inning when Risner collected a two-out single and later scored on a wild pitch. Garrett left the bases loaded in the seventh as they failed to pick up any insurance runs.

Hunter whiffs 17 batters in Pirates' shutout of Sox 5-0

LP - Martin

It was Gary Hunter on the mound five hits. He struck out six and walked for the Garrett Pirates Little League team as they faced the McDowell Sox in the Beaver Creek Little League 17 strike outs. Hunter faced seven tournament at Martin this week.

Hunter was almost untouchable win improved the Pirates record to as he tossed a one-hitter for the Pirates in their 5-0 shutout.

But for Sox starter Darrin Newsome, he was very impressive himself until he tired in the fifth inning when the Pirates scored all five of their runs. Newsome held the hard hitting Pirates scoreless until then.

Garrett put two runners on base against Newsome in the first inning only to have him strike out the side. Newsome fanned Ryan Owens and Wesley Howard to end the threat. He got Ryan Manns on strikes to start the inning before walking Nick King and giving up a one out base hit to Hunter.

Hunter got the Sox in order in the first inning and struck out nine of the first 10 batters he faced in the three innings. He gave up a two out hit to Red Turner in the second before striking out the next four.

Hunter walked Josh Ward leading off the fourth for the Sox. Brandon Elswick lifted a pop up to second base and Hunter got Newsome and Landon Frazier on strikes.

The Sox loaded the base against Hunter, who was still throwing hard, in the fifth on a walk to Frazier, an error on Hunter and a walk to Steven Newsome. But Hunter bowed his neck and got the next three on strikes. In the Pirates' fifth, the Pirates got to Newsome. Rodney Bentley fanned to start the fifth but Newsome walked Mike Morgan just before Nick Martin ended the run drought for both teams with a run scoring triple. Newsome struck out Tim Moore but Ryan Manns singled home Martin for a 2-0 Pirate lead. Newsome walked King and Hunter to load the bases and then issued a walk to Owens forcing home Manns. Wesley Howard made it a 5-0 game with his two-

McDowell collected their second hit of the game on a one out single by Brandon Elswick. Hunter struck out Ward to start the inning and then fanned Newsome and Jonathan Lawson to end the game.

Bartrum, Cole claim feature victories at 201 Speedway

by Billie Trimble

This past Saturday evening was a big night for Street Class driver Ronnie Cole and Super Street driver Bat Bartrum of Martin. Both drivers claimed victories in the feature races in their respective divisions.

Cole gained his victory when he claimed the checkered flag in the Street Class Division, Danny Patrick wasn't far behind to take home second place. Third place went to Buck Lemaster with Michael Butcher finishing fourth. Fifth and sixth place went to Randall Wright and Anthony Ratliff, respectively.

Bartrum, the ever-popular driver in the Super Street Division, captured the Super Street Division title after running second to Scott McCloud last Saturday night at 201 Speedway. McCloud placed third this week running behind Mike Osborne who placed second. Lenzie Butcher went home with fourth place while fifth and sixth was won by Warnie Allen and Cornealus Hall.

Ted Blevins took the checkered flag for first place in the Super Bomber race. Blevins was being pushed by Kevin Hazelett but hung on to take the top spot. Second place went to Hazelett with Gary Cunagin running third. Don Jarrell was fourth with Ronald Cunagin a close fifth. George Meade finished sixth.

The Claim Feature was taken by Jim Ison of West Liberty and Calvin Pack crossed the finish line for second place. Terry Muncy ran third. However, Muncy was claimed in the race and had to sell or forfeit his wins and move up to Super Bomber. Muncy chose to move up and keep his car. This gave third place to Gary Combs and fourth place went to Thurman Napier. David Bailey and Roger Brown finished the race with a fifth and sixth place.

Three Claim Consolations were run at 201 Speedway. In Consolation One were: Jerry Ramey, Roy Jenkins, Frank Blackburn, Kenny Martin and Rodrick Mollett.

In Consolation Two were: James Carroll, Phillip Butcher, Danny Keaton, Eddie Blair, Matthew Jude, James Griffith.

In Consolation Three were: Rodney Webb, Charlie Williams, Phillip King, Billy Ramey, Chris Fitzpatrick, only four batters and he gave up 10

Garland Mills.

The top point holders are as follows: Ted Blevins, Super Bomber; Ronnie Cole, Street Division; Bat Bartrum, Super Street Division.

The Martin Reds Little League bounced to third baseman John Hall, team had their own way against the Wayland Dodgers as the two teams met in the first round of the Beaver Creek Little League tournament at Martin Saturday afternoon.

Dodgers as he did not allow a hit scored on the play. Misty Scott drew leading the Reds to a 14-2 win in a short four inning mercy win. Martin got all the runs he needed in the first inning when the Reds scored nine times on just four base hits off Dodger starter Travis Banks.

The first hit for the Reds did not come until Kevin Goodman, the ninth place hitter, doubled in two runs off Banks. Up until then it was control problems for Banks plus some shaky fielding for the Dodgers that permitted the runs to score.

Banks walked the first three batters he faced in the opening inning loading the bases. Sam Bently

Did You Know?

FIRST NIGHT BASEBALL GAME

Was played on June 2, 1883 a game between M.E. College and a 3-ft-7-inch pinch hitter for the old St. professional team from Quincy, Ill. The major leagues considered the change to radical and were very slow in picking up on it.

Finally, on May 24, 1935, the Cincinnati Redlegs hosted the Philadelphia Phillies for the first ever major league night baseball game at old Crosley Field. President Franklin D. Roosevelt pressed a button at the White House to flick the switch at ballpark for the first night game.

A REAL DINGER.....

Mickey Mantle's home run in Detroit on September 10, 1960, which ascended over the right field roof and is said to have landed in a lumbervard, was measured trigonometrically in 1985 to have traveled 643 feet.

SMALLEST MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYER

Was Eddie Gaedel, a 26 year old, Louis Browns. Gaedel walked on four pitches in an August 19, 1951 official game against the Detroit Tigers.

RULE CHANGE CAUSES B.A. TO SOAR...

In 1893, there was an important rules change that must be considered when looking at batting records. In the early days of the game, pitching was viewed merely as a matter of Crosley Field that illuminated the trying to get the ball over the plate. Any outfielder might be called upon to pitch. But as managers discovered that there was a decisive advantage to having a pitcher who knew how to throw a knuckleball or a spitball, batting averages declined drastically.

In 1893 the distance between home plate and the pitcher's mound was changed from 50 feet to the current 60 feet and 6 inches. Batting aver-

Martin Blue Jays cause Orioles to "sing the blues" in 13-0 loss

It wasn't a good weekend for Dennis Henson's Duff Orioles this past weekend at Martin.

Henson's ballclub fell to the Martin Blue Jays 13-0, eliminating them from further competition in the Beaver Creek Little League tournament being played this week.

The Blue Jays scored seven runs in the second inning to add to a 4-0 lead and mercied the Orioles in a four-inning game. The Blue Jays scored their final two runs in the bottom of the third.

Jessie Robinson picked up the win for the Blue Jays and Shawn Henson suffered the loss. Robinson struck out four batters while giving up two walks. Henson went the distance for the Orioles with six walks and he walked seven. Henson also hit two Robinson tossed a two-hitter as he gave up a double to Henson and a base hit to Ratliff.

Martin had a big seven runs second as 13 batters paraded to the plate. Brandon Gearheart led off the inning for the Blue Jays and drew a walk. He stole second and third before scoring on Robinson's two-run triple. Dustin Crisp had walked before Robinson three-bagger.

One of Henson's fast balls hit Bret Patton in the face area but he was not hurt because of the protective part of the mask that guards the face area.

"Bret has been hit more this year that all the other players in the league combined," said Blue Jays coach Ricky Thornsbury. "It was a good thing that the helmet had a guard over

Richard Jervis singled home Robinson and Patton came on to score on Ray Griffith's RBI single. With two out, Jason Reynolds got a base hit that scored Jervis. Shannon McNeir, who walked, scored the seventh run in the inning.

After the Orioles went out in order in the first against Robinson, four runs crossed the plate for the Blue Jays. A walk to Crisp, a hit batsman (Robinson) set up the two run double by Jervis scoring Crisp and Robinson. Griffith's base hit sent Jervis in to score. Griffith scored on McNeir's base hit.

Griffith had a two-run single in the third inning when the Blue Jays scored their final two runs.

"We finally woke up," said Thornsbury of his team. "I told them that we could just play the way we have been playing and the season is over, but we can play like we are capable of playing and win. We played good baseball against the Orioles. Jessie pitched a real strong game for us."

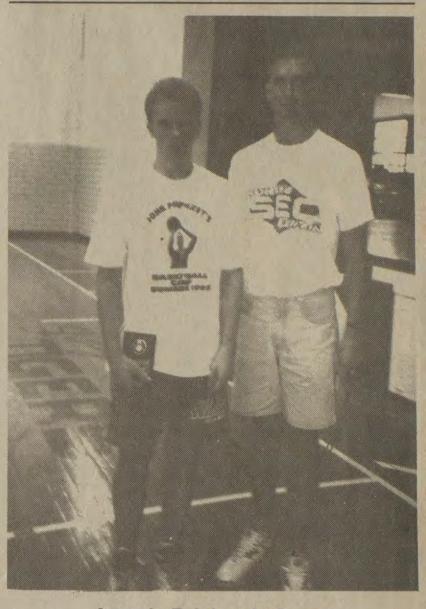

For the Orioles, a new team in the league this year, the season ended. But it was a successful season for the Orioles in that 12 players that never played the game won twice.

"I took 12 players that was playing for the first time," said Coach Henson, "and tried to teach them what I could about the game."

The Orioles collected the two hits while the Blue Jays collected eight. Robinson had a triple in the game and Jervis doubled.

Press release from the Floyd County Education Association

We are asking the Floyd County Board of Education to continue the process that has begun in this county by re-examining the three candidates that have been submitted to them by the search committee. This local board, in fact, has not gone with the recommendations of the search committee. They failed to recommend the committee's top choice — Dr. Jerry Austin — and its second choice Dr. William Jutras. Three of the five candidates that the screening committee recommended to the board are still available and interested in the Floyd County position. Chairman Campbell and our local board of education has been told by the commissioner and his staff that they do not have to choose Dr. Steve Towler and have, in fact, recommended that the search committee be reactivated. Our local board has refused to to that, just as they refused to consider the two top candidates recommended by the committee-including the one approved by the state department.

We have been given no valid reason as why we shouldn't be looking further at the candidates submitted by the search committee. Dr. Jutras and Dr. Cummings apparently have been dismissed from consideration by our board because at one point in their careers, they were not rehired by their board. In Dr. Towler's case, that has happened twice to our knowledge-once in Ashland and now in Hardin County. Dr. Jerry Austin was not considered because of a personal incident with his wife. We have heard equally disturbing rumors about Dr. Towler's personal life. If this board is considering Dr. Towler in spite of a these factors, we see no reason why Dr. William Jutras, Dr. Frank Cummings, and Dr. Edward Caputo should not be considered as well.

Members of the Floyd County Education Association have spent the last week investigating Dr. Towler's performance in Jenkins, Ashland, and Hardin County. That investigation has raised serious concerns that we are outlining in a report to the local board of education. They center around Dr. Towler's ability to lead our district and we believe that these findings deserve further investigation and study. We expect the Floyd County Board of Education to look in greater depth at any candidate that they may consider for this position. Interviews conducted by our local board with Dr. Jutras, Cummings, and Caputo were very shortsometimes lasting only thirty minutes.

The role of the Kentucky School Board Association and their consultant Ken Scott in this entire process is questionable. We would hope that if this board feels the need for an outside consultant, that they would acquire the services of an organization whose sole purpose is something other than to support and promote Kentucky administrators.

We believe that the State Department of Education acted inappropriately when it submitted the name of Dr. Towler as a "prequalified" candidate. Combined with the veto power given to the commissioner earlier by the board of education, the submission of this name gives the appearance that the selection has already been made by the commissioner and his staff. If this is not the case and if the department wants to assure that we have a real choice, we believe it needs to take further action. We don't agree the submission of Dr. Towler or any other candidate's name was appropriate, but the only way to correct this action as this point might be for the commissioner and his staff to submit the names of other candidates that they would consider acceptable so there is truly a choice and not the appearance that the choice of a superintendent is being dictated to us.

We are also asking that our local board of education live up to the responsibilities that have been given to it by the people of Floyd County. Already, we have lost the power to make the final selection of a superintendent because of the cloud of wrong doing and investigation that hangs over this local board. To give up this final right of submitting the names of candidates to the commissioner for his approval would mean that the board is completely relinquishing its responsibilities to the people of Floyd County. On the other hand if this is part of some plan of the local board, to wait until the anger in Floyd County toward the state department has reached a fever pitch and then return to the selection of a local candidate when the people of Floyd County have grown tired of the whole mess, we want to assure the local board that we will oppose that with every means available to us.

We are not willing to be placed in a situation where a decision of this magnitude has to be made in a "crisis mentality." The local board had Dr. Jerry Austin's name in plenty of time to consider him and hire him. They chose not to do so. Now we are being told that there is no more time left—that all the potential candidates have been hired and out of a field of one hundred candidates. Dr. Towler is all that is left. We don't believe that.

We have said consistently that this is one battle that we will fight to the end. It is for the children and they deserve more. People have told us on several occasions that we may have to settle for less than the best in a superintendent because of the reputation that Floyd County has. We are not willing to accept the fact that the children of Floyd County must continue to pay for the lack of good leadership. We think that there were five good candidates that came to Floyd County in May-some better than others, but they were individuals that not only could have helped us move forward with reform and instruction but could have helped us hold our heads high statewide and be proud of the leadership that we have. For what has turned out to be purely personal and selfish motives, people have attempted to "smear" them and dismiss them. We want our board and elected politicians to start putting our children before politics. Along with us, the people of Floyd County need to be asking why certain people are fighting so hard to prevent someone from the outside from coming into Floyd County or why this local board is willing to give up its responsibility to independently select a candidate that it will submit for approval to the commissioner. We need the help and support of people in this county. The children of Floyd County deserve the best leadership that we can find-no less and that is worth taking the time to do right.

THE ADVENTURE OF COAL DUST MAN

Several days ago, I went to see the much-publicized new movie, "Batman Returns." I really loved the last one; Jack Nicholson was great. Naturally, I had high expectations for the sequel.

I admit Michelle Pfeiffer was a wonderful Catwoman and DeVito was excellent as the Penguin. As usual, the special effects were out of this world and Michael Keaton was awesome.

However, the movie was a dud. The storyline was pretty lame; it just lacked the luster of "Batman." I was very disappointed.

All this set-up for nothing got me thinking, "Boy, I could do better than that. I could make a great movie, a realistic movie. A picture that would express my creativity and use the hills of Eastern Kentucky as a breathtaking backdrop. Yes, I can construct a screenplay for a movie."

Let's see now, my flick will be about....a superhero who lives deep in a mine. His name shall be Coal Dust Man. Ah, yes, I can see it now. He won't have all those fancy gadgets like Batman and the Joker; he'll be armed with a pick-ax, mining lights, and some other lethal weapons (I can't tell you all of them. It'll ruin the plot). Dust Man (for short) will travel to his rescues on a green roof

His first daring adventure will be finding out who is responsible for the stolen muskmelons in Old Woman Kersey's garden. Coal Dust Man will be in the patch with a watermelon hull on his head (for disguise, of course). The bad guys will approach at 4:23 a.m. Dust Man can see them in the glow of the dusk-to-dawn light. Quick as a flash, he'll whap them on their heads with his mining belt. Then he'll tie 'em up with the plastic wrap his darling wife Marshalene wrapped his scrambled egg sandwich in (she always uses too much, anyway). After having Old Woman Kersey call Floyd County's finest, he'll sit down to enjoy his egg sandwich and some bar-b-que pork rinds.

As you can see, Coal Dust Man will be virtually invincible. Deeper into the movie, however, he will meet his two worst enemies, Yaller Dog and the Scab.

As for a sequel, well, I haven't though about it yet. Guess we'll have to see what the first one draws at the box office. I guess I'll have the premier at the Strand since Almar Drive-In has closed down.

Hmmm, I wonder if Ernest P. Worrell (of "Hey, Vern" fame) is busy. He might just make a fine Coal Dust Man. Do ya think Dan Quayle'd take up acting to play "the Scab?" How 'bout Bush? I guess you're right, they'd be too convincing.

CLASSROOM TALES

David Hinchman, principal of Harold Elementary School once shared another Delmon Howard remembrance with me. "Did you ever hear the story A.D. Carpenter tells about Mrs. Howard's English class?"

He explained that their English text book had a chapter on mariners

"You should always be careful," explained Mrs. Howard, "to be courteous to parents, teachers and people in special positions."

"That's why," she continued, "I call our principal 'Mr. Howard' at school and he call me 'Mrs. Howard." Of course we use first names at home but you'll never hear either of us doing it here for we want to set the right example for you students."

Just as she finished that sentence, the door flew open and Mr. Howard came bustling in. "Myrtle!" he exclaimed, "I've lost my keys! Do you have any idea where they might be?"

The class broke up and thus ended a nice lecture on setting examples.

Kim's Korner

I wanted so badly to write a funny column this week, but

of this never ending superin-

Myself, I find it ridiculous that it's taking so long to find someone to fit the bill (so to speak). You think maybe looking beyond our own back door might have something to do with it? Of course, noone would admit that.

We've got school beginning August 30, it's July now, how much longer is it going to take?

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

There have been a few times I've written columns that, for one reason or another, they have not made it into print.

The main reason being I've stated some things that would step on a few peoples' toes. Or I should say, stomp on a few peoples toes.

Maybe they were edited and deleted because it was out of character for this column. And maybe there would have been a few of my children who would have had to pay the price if it had been printed.

Freedom of speech does give us the freedom to speak out on topics and individuals we feel the need to acknowledge in one way or the other.

However, we need to choose our words carefully.

Sure there are more than a few topics I'd like to jump on in my soapbox and scream to the roof tops about. What I've yet to learn is to do so in words that are considered appropriate for all to read.

I think some of the main topics I'd like to learn some appropriate words to write about are—why some are treated so differently, simply because of their last name. How certain folks take attitudes toward others that are so repulsive words can't describe them. How loyalty only exists in your presence and once you're out the door it's out the window. And mainly why is there no Floyd countain qualified for the position of Floyd County Superintendent?

Till next week choose your words wisely, be they in print or not!

The 4th of July will be here before we know it and with the fireworks, hot dogs and family get-togethers we have a couple of birthdays to celebrate, also.

My dads birthday approaches—July 3rd—and how I've gotten older than he, remains a puzzle. Since the year I turned 25 dad has never gotten older. He doesn't like to acknowledge birthdays but we will here. Happy birthday

The other birthday we wish the best to is my brother-inlaw, Allan.

Allan came into this world on July 4 and gets one heck of a celebration every year.

Happy birthday Allan and to all have a safe and enjoyable 4th of July.

How much minable coal is left in Kentucky?

Fact #1: Kentucky is the second leading producer of coal in the United States. Fact#2: Kentucky is the leading producer of coal east of the Mississippi River. Fact #3: Coal is a

The availability of coal resources for economic development is of vital concern for Kentucky and the nation. And since the 1950s, various studies by U.S. and state geological survey teams have been conducted in order to determine how much coal remains in the state. Now in its fifth year, an ongoing coal availability study is being conducted by the Kentucky Geological Survey (KGS) at the University of Kentucky to revise estimates on the amount of coal that remains and that is possible to mine using current technology.

measured is underground-sometimes far beneath the surface. "There are two standard approaches to figuring out how much coal exists," says KGS coal geologist Gerry Weisfinite resource—it simply won't last enfluh. "Some coal seams lie in hills above the valley bottoms, more or less in a horizontal plane. In both natural outcrops and roadcuts you can see some of the coal. We measure the thickness of coal in these places and the area of the seams underlying the hills. We then make estimates of the change in coal thickness over the area and use this information to determine the original amount of coal for each seam."

The measurements get a bit trickier when the coal is below the valleys and can't be seen at all. In this case, Weisenfluh says, "exploration core holes" can be drilled into a seam at An obvious problem in making several points, and core samplessuch calculations is that what is being actual cylinders of the coal—can be pulled up. The core samples are then measured and a thickness is determined for each seam in the core hole. Researchers can infer from this data the total thickness below ground. Determining the amount of coal in Kentucky is an important initial step in the project, says KGS geologist Warren Anderson, but "the real issue is how much of this coal is potentially minable, and how does that translate in terms of years of productivity for the coal industry. " Anderson explains that the simple presence of coal does not mean that it is available for mining.

"There are, for example, environmental considerations, land-use and technological restrictions to mining the coal-a number of things that have to be taken into account if we want a realistic picture of potential

This 10-year project, now approximately half-completed, has some midterm results. To date, six quadrangles (each an area of about 54 square miles) in Eastern Kentucky have been measured by the researchers, who estimate the original existence for these areas of about 3.4 billion short tons of coal (a short ton = 2000 pounds). Of this amount, 14 percent has already been mined out or has been lost in the mining process. Three percent of the coal is unavailable because of landuse restrictions (cemeteries, power lines, major rivers and streams, municipal areas), and 32 percent is unavailable because of technological restrictionsprimarily seams that are too thin for underground mining. In addition, of the available coal resources in Eastern Kentucky, only half is believed to meet acceptable EPA emissions standards. According to assistant state geologist James Cobb, "In order to comply with EPA standards, coal for power generation now has to meet certain criteria, dealing primarily with sulfur content. The nature of the restrictions is an important policy question for coalproducing states like Kentucky."

Cobb says that the "biggest surprise" to come from the study so far is that not nearly as much coal is available for mining in Kentucky as was previously thought. "We can say now that earlier estimates of coal were exaggerated because restrictions to mining were not taken into account," Cobb says. "The amount of coal that is minable under current economic and technological conditions is considerably less than previously thought." He explains that earlier estimates made by the U.S. Department of Energy are far more optimistic than those made by the current study.

Cobb adds that this more scientific look at coal availability in Kentucky should be particularly relevant to policy-makers in the state.

"People are very concerned, for example, about how coal severance tax monies are allocated. Policy-

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN

Since Wilma and I have been married for nearly 30 years, I realize that all kinds of weird accidents can occur around the house. Few things surprise me any more.

Therefore, when Bill Hensley passed along a story the other day about a married couple who are friends of some friends of his who live in Florida, I had no reason to doubt him. It was about how this fellow broke his arm. After you've heard it, if you have any doubts, please direct them to Bill, not to me.

Anyway, he said that this couple lived in a condo located next door to a golf course. One day recently, the husband had come in after playing 18 holes, or so, and was taking a shower.

Just as he got soaped up real good, he heard a bloodcurdling scream from his wife in another part of the house.

Having no earthly idea what was going on, and undoubtedly thinking that something horrible had happened to her, he ran naked as a jay bird from the middle of the living room...pale as a ghost and pointing at the couch.

All she could say was, "Snake!" He finally got enough information from her to figure out that a snake was in the living room and had circled back and bitten his backside, crawled under the couch.

Florida are poisonous, he grabbed up the coffee table. It knocked him out a nine-iron, got down on his knees as cold as a cucumber. and started raking back and forth beneath the couch...trying to dislodge unconscious, called 911. the snake from its hiding place.

Now there he was, on his nands and knees, wearing nothing but a few remaining patches of Irish Spring and a few drops of water, flailing back and forth under the couch as fast as he could with a golf club.

Well, it seems that this couple the shower and found her standing in owned a poodle. All the screaming and unusual activities that were taking place had gotten him all excited. So, all at once he lunged forward and nipped the man on the bottom.

Thinking the snake had somehow the man yelled and jumped up so Realizing that some snakes in violently that he struck his head on

John Graham Chapter DAR holds recent meeting

John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met Friday, June 12, at noon, at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, with the regent, Eleanor Horn, presiding.

Norma S. Stepp, chaplain, led the DAR rituals; the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the USA was led by Margaret Collins, and the American's Creed by Opal S. May. The regent presented John Graham Chapter with the second highest National Society award, the Silver Certificate for the year, 1991-92.

NEW ARRIVAL

Collins reported that she had led the American's Creed for the combined 200th Kentucky Celebration on June 1, at the Floyd County Courthouse, when the Kentucky Society, Sons of the American Revolution, Big Sandy SAR, and the Floyd County 4-H presented Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo with a 15-star 1792 US Flag for Floyd County.

Charles Stamper, and Floyd County Bicentennial Executive Board, Orville Cooley; vice-chairman, Frances Brackett; and member, Frances Pitts.

Brackett announced that the Sixth District KSDAR meeting would be held at Ashland Plaza Hotel, Thursday, August 13, at 9:30 a.m. Luncheon reservations of $10 are to be mailed to Mrs. Anna Mayo Grossl, 2165 Lynwood Avenue, Ashland,

In other announcements, Mrs. Stephen R. Brackett; 4-H director, be held on June 30, beginning at 9:30 treasurer, was welcomed back from a Lexington.

Various members made complimentary remarks about the 1992 Floyd County History Book unveiled May 15. Most John Graham memthis book, and several of the memserve on the Floyd Floyd County Bicentennial Committee.

Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes hold luncheon-meeting

Members of the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes held their last luncheon-meeting of the club year on Thursday, June 25, at 12:30 at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park. Mabel Jean LeMaster, president, presided. Lucy C. Regan presented the devotions, entitled "Smelling the Roses." She read passages from Psalms and led the group in prayer.

Jane Wallace, program chairman, presented Anne Chaney, who is presently working with the ADD Program here. Chaney, a member of the Prestonsburg Kiwaniannes, expressed her pleasure at being asked to talk with members again, and told of her work with Big Sandy Area Development in the effort to "increase the quality of life for those people of Floyd, Magoffin, Martin, Johnson and Pike counties, who constitute the ADD Program."

The speaker answered many questions from members of the group, all of whom displayed genuine concern regarding the program discussed. Following the program and lunch, the president, Mrs. LeMaster, conducted the business meeting. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Dorothy Osborne, secretary, and the financial report was given by Garnett Fairchild, treasurer.

It was reported that Lucy C. Regan and Myrtle Allen worked with the Floyd County Health Department recently, in the program sponsored jointly by the Prestonsburg Kiwaninnes and Kiwanis Club, furnishing and serving snacks during the Heart Clinic there.

The president appointed on the nominating committee, Hope Whitten, Maman Leslie, and Jane Wallace, to select officers for the club year, 1992-93. A report on these selections is to be made during the next luncheon-meeting, which is scheduled for Thursday. September 24, at 12:30 at this same location. Mrs. LeMaster presented as guests, her daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Waltman, of Millville, New Jersey, and Miss Marla Shelton, of Hendersonville, Tennessee, granddaughter of Mrs. Maman Leslie, a member of this organization.

Charles and Cassie Justice

Celebrate anniversary

Monday, June 29th, was the 36th wedding anniversary of Charles and Cassle Justice. Married at Prestonsburg in 1956, they moved to Warsaw, Indiana, where they had two children, Chuckle and Tracy. The couple moved to Evansville, Indiana in 1968, where they lived until 1981. Then the hills of Kentucky began calling them home. They have lived on Spurlock, Fork of Middle Creek, ever since.

July is "National Hot Dog Month" and this is also the year of the Olympics, and so, why not become adventurous and combine the flavors and foods of other countries with a traditional American favorite—the hot

Take for example, the peanut which originated in Africa and then traveled to the U.S. to become one of our most popular foods. Combine the two in a curry sauce for a truly international food presentation created in the kitchens of The National Hot Dog & Sausage Council.

The spices and flavors of Asia are combined in Frank Oriental Stir-Fry, a dish that is rapidly becoming an American standby.

FRANKS WITH PEANUT CURRY SAUCE

(Yield: 4 servings)

- 1 pound hot dogs 2 tablespoons butter or marga-
- 1 celery rib, finely chopped
- I small onion, finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon curry powder nal slices
- 2 cups chicken broth 1/2 cup natural peanut butter
- 1/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons half and grated

1/2 cup chopped roasted peanuts, drained to garnish

Crisp celery leaves, to garnish TO PREPARE SAUCE: Melt butter in saucepan, saute' onion and celery until tender. Remove from heat; lon add flour and curry powder to form a smooth paste. Gradually add chicken heat to low, add peanut butter and stand for 1 hour. half and half, stir until peanut butter melts-do not boil. Keep warm.

TO PREPARE FRANKS: Cut each frank diagonally 3/4 the way through in 4 to 5 places. Drop in pan of boiling water and heat until curled in spiral fashion.

TO SERVE: Spoon 1/4 cup peanut curry sauce onto serving plate; place 2 spiral franks on top. Garnish with a sprinkle of chopped peanuts and leaves of celery.

The gracious custom of an open wedding will be observed on Saturday, July 4, at 4 p.m., at the First Baptist Church at McDowell.

Stir chili mix into uncooked ground beef. Add two small cans whole peeled tomatoes including the juice and mix into ground beef mixture. (HINT: If possible, use a blender to puree tomatoes.)

Next stir chili beans or red kidney beans into mixture. (Blending beans in blender also makes cooking quicker and easier.) Mix well.

Last add tomato paste and again mix well.

Cook on slow temperature, stirring often. (This recipe is excellent for crockpot cooking: stir as needed).

If a blender was not used, then when beans are soft, use a potato masher and mash beans and tomatoes into mixture during cooking process. (Careful, first remove the pan from burner and mash gently. Hot liquid can accidently be splashed out of the

BALANCED BUDGET

Senior Service Line

AMENDMENT—BOON OR BAD FOR SENIORS? There's a lot of talk during this election year about an amendment to the Constitution that combat Alzheimer's disease or other would require the federal government to do what state governments cline by using certain so-called have to do: provide a balanced budget every year. (Of course, states don't have the responsibility of defense, border patrols, domestic and international emergencies, and other factors that can make the comparison between the two entities—the federal government and state governmentsunrealistic.)

We've already seen how the states-in order to balance their budgets—have had to raise taxes as well as cut back drastically on providing services to their local communities because of cutbacks in funding from Washington. What will Washington cut back when they have to meet their constitutional mandate?

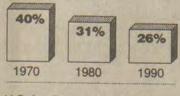

According to critics of the balanced budget amendment, we can expect drastic cuts in education, health care, and many of the Social Security programs now in effect, including Medicare.

In the next several weeks, you will be hearing much more about this subject. The White House plans a campaign to raise support for the legislation. The amendment's opponents also plan an educational blitz. I recommend that you contact your Congressperson—who may or may not be in favor of the amendmentand ask what the status of entitlement programs would be in this situation.

The idea of the balanced budget, of course, is to get a handle on the deficit. But as I've said before in this column, it would be breaking faith with Americans if this contract we've had with our government over 50 years would be scapegoated to try to solve a financial mess that exploded

Lawn and garden care:

Denture Day

The "in" activity of the '90's

You gave up jogging when your knees blew out and your shoes started costing more than your car. Tennis left you with a sore elbow and an inferiority complex every time your opponent aced you on a serve. The health club membership began gathering dust right after you wrenched your back doing full body curls, and besides, your were already spending so much time away from home that you forgot your kids' names.

In the '90s, more and more Americans are finding exercise, relaxation, a respite from stress, and a sense of personal accomplishment literally right in their own back yards.

Lawn and garden care, the beautification of one's immediate environment, is showing a resurgence of interest among people of all age groups, who have come to recognize that the lawn spreader, the garden hoe and the rake have become the '90s arsenal in the quest for physical fitness and personal fulfillment.

"We're seeing a virtually unprecedented growth of interest in all aspects of do-it-yourself lawn and garden care," says Tadd Seitz, Scotts chairman and CEO. "People are recognizing that working on a lawn or garden is an inexpensive and rewarding way for the whole family to get out in the fresh air, get some exercise and feel a real sense of accomplish-

Economic factors may be providing some of the impetus for the "backto-the-back yard" movement. Consumers looking for value for their recreational dollars are finding that lawn and garden care provides an excellent return on a relatively small investment. Realtors note that wellkept lawns, gardens and landscaping add significantly to the resale value of a home.

"It's truly one of the most cost-effective activities a consumer can has seen an increase in sales of its last May - an increase of 26 percent get involved in," says Seitz. "Good quality tools, equipment and supplies are affordable, and the only other investment, your time and labor, can be as much or as little as you want it to be. You're limited, really, only by your imagination."

Environmental concerns may also be behind the rekindled interest in lawn and garden care. Consumers seem to be heeding the message that well-maintained lawns and landscaping have benefits far beyond the cosmetic, providing protection against soil erosion, pollution, noise and other problems of an urbanized environment.

plants are oxygen providers," says Seitz. "But now we're all becoming more aware of the dozens of other environmental benefits that come with healthy, growing plants."

For many, the simple recreational benefits of lawn and garden care are enough to get them into the yard with sleeves rolled up. Many consumers mention that working in the yard simply makes them "feel better," a reaction supported by psychologists who have looked into the effects of pastoral settings on human personal-

"It's a great way to relieve stress and clear the mind of the problems of the work place. The back yard can provide a retreat of sorts; a kind of health spa-at-home for the mind and body," said Seitz.

Whatever the motivations, industry sales figures certainly reflect the resurgence of home lawn and garden activity. O.M. Scott & Sons, the nation's leading producer and distributor of lawn and garden products, products despite inclement weather this spring.

"The interesting point about the sales increases is that much of it seems to be coming from people who haven't done much in the way of lawn and garden work before now," says Scharade Radtke, director of Lawn and Garden Marketing.

Response to the Scotts consumer hotline (1-800-543-TURF) is another indication that lawn and garden work is gaining widespread popularity. Last year, Scotts experts handled 180,000 calls from consumers who asked for advice on every conceivable lawn and garden topic. This year, calls to "From grade school science the consumer line numbered 32,300 classes, most of us learned that green in May alone (compared to 25,600

Where the daffodils grow

by Beth Jones Contributing Writer

Anne McGuire is a resident of Abbott Creek, where construction of the new Route 23 is chopping up the McGuire has watched the construction get closer and closer to her house; all the trees and flowers in the way were chopped down. There was a beautiful bunch of daffodils growing on Jane Howard's property, and Mrs. McGuire volunteered to save the flowers. She thought it would be a pretty easy task; there only appeared to be about 50 flowers. When the time came to remove and replant the daffodils, it turned out there were around a thousand of them.

After completing the task, Mrs.

McGuire remarked to Howard that it was a shame something wasn't being done toward beautify the town. However, a call to Howard's mother, Mertie Hill Davis, and another to Mayor Latta, McGuire found herself

Since last year, Anne McGuire and several volunteers have planted gardens in various spots in the city. The flower beds in front of City Hall and the Tourism Office in Prestonsburg are simply beautiful. McGuire planted these places with perennial flowers that will come back year after year. She has also decorated places such as May Lodge.

Currently, McGuire and a few volunteers are working on a garden at the gazebo in front of the new First Commonwealth Bank. This garden, Garfield Garden, named in memory of the Garfield Place, which used to stand where the gazebo now stands.

Although, McGuire has been paid for her expertise, the bulk of her work has been done free of charge. She simply loves gardening. One of her goals is to build a wildflower garden at the Lieutenant Governor's Mansion where Paul Patton currently resides. If he is elected governor, she would like to plant gardens all around

Mrs. Mcguire gives much credit to Mayor Latta and Delores Smith for their assistance. She also credits David Crisp from Laurel Farms for all his help. McGuire really appreciates all the support, time, and help her husband has given her.

She would really like to start a garden club. Volunteers are needed to help with the city gardens. As well, a club would mean all involved can swap flowers, plants, and gardening tips. If anyone is interested in volunteering and/or becoming a member of a garden club, call Anne McGuire at 886-0008.

On The House

Managing Your Biggest Investment

FINDING THE KIND OF HELP YOU REALLY NEED by Dorothy Harris

Whether you're planning to sell your house, sell your house and buy another, or become a homeowner for the first time, the support of a good agent backed by a strong system can make all the difference.

How do you go about finding a good broker? You can hardly do better than by starting with what your eyes and ears tell you in your own neighborhood or home town. If you see a brokerage that's well established and apparently involved in a good many listings and sales, that's a good preliminary sign.

If you ask around and hear good things about a broker or agent, that too is a good sign. If your inquiries turn up evidence pointing to a history of good business performance and high integrity, you're probably on the trail of someone worth talking with.

And that's the logical next step: to visit and talk with the people who seem most impressive on the basis of what you've seen and heard.

Conduct your appointments with agents and brokers as interviews, remembering that you're the prospective employer and the broker or agent is the applicant. You're in charge or should be.

Don't be shy about asking question that really dig in. Ask the people you talk with about their experiencehow many listings they've had in the past two or three years, how many houses they've sold in the same period, how much of the local market they handle. Ask for references, and

If you have some knowledge of contract, financing, closing procedures and the like, put that knowledge into questions that will help you see who really is knowledgeable and who isn't. Ask something that will require getting back to you laterand see who's responsive and who

Ask if the office you're visiting is connected in some way with a national relocation service. Such a connection can send lots of highly motivated buyers in your direction. And don't fail to ask about your project. If you're looking for someone to sell your house, ask for recommended prices. Then ask for facts that justify any recommendation you don't understand.

Ask for ideas on how to market your house. Ask whether that marketing will include open housesand, if so, how soon and how often. Watch for evidence of enthusiasm, creativity, and the kind of optimism that's firmly rooted in the realities of the situation. You want an optimist, but not a cockeyed optimist.

Finally, ask for a guarantee that everything promised will be delivered. And ask for that guarantee to be put in writing, with a written assurance that non-performance will free you from any and all contractual obligations.

Does this sound complicated and more time-consuming than just handing the job over to somebody your sister-in-law's manicurist recommended last year? Well, it is more complicated. And it does take more time—in the beginning. But it can pay off a hundredfold over the long
