Board ignores concerns, gives Towler four-year job

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen's pick for Floyd County's school chief was hired by the board of education Thursday despite an unfavorable report from the co-chairman of the Interim Joint Committee on Education.

Boysen also appears to be headed for battle with Floyd County board member Eddie Billips who said Thursday that Boysen and his chief of staff, Dave Thomas, had "some serious questions to answer."

Billips, who was unable to attend Thursday's meeting, said in a phone interview that Boysen had "stepped way over his bounds by even implying" that he had veto power over the board's choice as superintendent.

The board voted 4-0 Thursday to hire Steve Towler, former Hardin County superintendent, for a partial four-year contract beginning July 15.

Billips said that Boysen and Thomas have some explaining to do because of comments made to him by Thomas.

"Dave Thomas' thinly veiled threat of retaliatory action against the board is obnoxious and disgusting," Billips said. "Boysen just overwhelmed the board and took control of the situation. He did not have and legally cannot have veto power over this board. I have never talked to Boysen about that because he hasn't seen fit to call me. They have some very serious questions to answer next week."

Billips declined to elaborate on his statement about Thomas' alleged threat.

Local option vote set for Allen/Dwale

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

There will be a special local option election next Saturday, July 11, to determine whether or not the sale of alcoholic beverages will continue to be allowed in Floyd County's Allen-Dwale #44 voting precinct.

Reverend Kenneth Lemaster, who was instrumental in the petitioning for the election, said that a group of concerned citizens in the Allen area sought for the vote following a local businessman's unsuccessful bid to operate a nightclub at New Allen. Lemaster said that the group was advised that the only sure measure to prevent such businesses from operating in the area was to call for an election to have alcohol sales banned in the precinct.

More than 100 of the precinct's 561 registered voters signed the petition, which was delivered February 21 to Floyd County Clerk Carla "Robinson" Boyd.

The election will be held at the Allen Volunteer Fire Department from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. Eileen Banks, Sereda Brown, Grace Damron and Delores Bradley will be serving as election officers.

The voting machine will be inspected on Monday, July 6 at 4 p.m. at the storage building on old Middle Creek Road.

Persons wishing further information may contact Carla Boyd at 886-3816.

Politics can be healthy, candidate for system's top job says in forum

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Over 50 teachers and citizens, including a member of the state school board, gathered at a public forum Tuesday evening at Allen Elementary to meet and question Education Commissioner Thomas Boysen's choice for superintendent of schools.

Steve Towler, former Hardin County superintendent, answered questions from the audience for about two hours. Towler's answers apparently did not impress some of those who attended the meeting.

Commissioner Boysen suggested in a June 23 letter to board chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell that the board interview Towler for the superintendency. In that same letter, Boysen said he felt the board's choice, Nebraska educator William Zitterkopf, did not have the experience necessary to take over the Floyd County system.

State board member Tom Gish of Whitesburg also sat in on Tuesday's forum, but declined to give his assessment of the session or Towler.

The three and a half hour meeting was divided into two parts. The first round consisted of a two-hour question and answer session with Towler. The second part involved a discussion with interim superintendent Eldon Smith about how Towler became a candidate for superintendent.

In his opening statements, Towler told the group that he had strong Eastern Kentucky roots and that he wanted to come back to the area because of the "good, solid" people.

"I don't think Floyd County will be Utopia, but I think you ought to enjoy what you're doing," Towler said. "I promise to give it my very best effort. You're a big county with a complex school system to deal with. I'm willing to work with you if the Floyd County Board chooses me."

Towler offered no specific answers to questions from the audience and declined to say in how many other districts he had applied for superintendent positions.

Citizens asked Towler for his views on politics, site-based decision making, community participation in the system and corporal punishment.

In response to a question from teacher Bud Reynolds about the "good ole boy network" of politics in schools and school board elections, Towler acknowledged that such a network existed and that politics in a school system could be "healthy."

"Me or no one else can remove politics from the school system," Towler said.

In reference to school board races, Towler said he would be willing to

City police awarded grant to battle drunken driving

The Prestonsburg City Police Department has received a grant from the Commonwealth of Kentucky Justice Cabinet to aid in the effort to combat drunken driving.

According to a press release issued Wednesday by Billy G. Wellman, secretary for the Justice Cabinet, Prestonsburg's police department is among eleven Kentucky law enforcement agencies to receive such a grant.

The grant funds total $215,234.25. Of that money, $12,200 has been appropriated for Prestonsburg to pay officer's overtime wages. Several of the other law enforcement agencies receiving the grants have also received additional funding to purchase video cameras for police vehicles, portable breath analysis devices and accident reconstruction equipment.

The funds have been allocated under the Law Enforcement Service Fee Program, and are derived from the Justice Cabinet's portion of fines and court costs paid by persons convicted of driving under the influence of intoxicating substances.

The grants are intended to provide funding from July 1, 1992 through June 30, 1993.

First crop of the season

The Floyd County Sheriff's Department confiscated 22 marijuana plants Thursday afternoon behind a residence at Porter Hollow near Allen. Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, deputy sergeant Lloyd Powers and deputy Shawn Roop participated in the seizure. Sheriff Thompson said the owner of the residence will be charged with cultivating marijuana, more than five plants, a class D felony. (photo by Susan Allen)

Final funding for new Route 23 okayed by congressional panel

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The United States House of Representatives Appropriations Committee has approved the allocation of $1,680,000 to complete the proposed four-lane section of U.S. 23 between Prestonsburg and Paintsville.

The effort to find federal funds to construct the Johnson County segment of the 13-mile project began in 1987.

The Floyd County segment is under construction now and financed with state funds.

The Appropriations Committee also reaffirmed support for the proposed southern route of Interstate 66, officially known as East-West Trans-America, that would be constructed near Pikeville, Jenkins, Hazard, London, Somerset, Columbia and Bowling Green.

The House Committee on Public Works and Transportation and its Subcommittee on Surface Transportation made East-West Trans-America a legal part of the National Highway System in 1991.

Although the route west of Bowling Green has not yet been established, the Appropriations Committee has commissioned a $1,300,000 feasibility study on a route that would link Virginia with California.

Rosenberg named to MSU board

Floyd County attorney John Rosenberg was named to a six-year term on Morehead State University's board of regents.

Governor Brereton Jones announced Rosenberg's appointment Tuesday along with appointments to eight other university boards.

Other new appointments to the MSU board were Joseph A. Finch of Mason County; Buckner Hinkle Jr., of Fayette County; and Charles M. Rhodes of Greenup County.

Governor Jones reappointed to the MSU board Louis M. Jones of Franklin County; William R. Seaton of Greenup County; Helen Pennington of Morgan County; and Lois Baker of Letcher County.

In all, Jones appointed 96 people to eight university boards and the Council on Higher Education.

"I am very proud of these selections," Jones said. "We have chosen extremely well qualified people from a list of top notch individuals who represented a cross-section of our state."

"White collar" job-search service now available at regional office

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Unemployed Floyd Countians now have access to a new computerized job placement network to help them find employment in any field anywhere in the state.

The Kentucky Professional Placement Network, implemented at the Prestonsburg Field Office of the Kentucky Department for Employment Services July 1, will add qualified applicants to a computer network that contains a brief list of the applicant's qualifications that will be given to prospective employers. The list will be updated bi-monthly and distributed to employers.

The service is primarily for those seeking professional, "white collar" employment.

"This network helps us screen applicants more effectively and meets both the applicant's needs and the employer's skill requirements better," Deborah Allen, manager of Prestonsburg Employment Services, said last week. "This is a great tool for applicants and employers and there's no fee for the service. But it will be successful only if we have a large pool of qualified applicants and job orders."

Trash pick-up schedule changed

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta announced Thursday that the city will now be providing residential garbage pick-up one day per week until further notice.

Latta apologized for the inconvenience, but said that the new schedule was necessary due to the critical condition at the landfill.

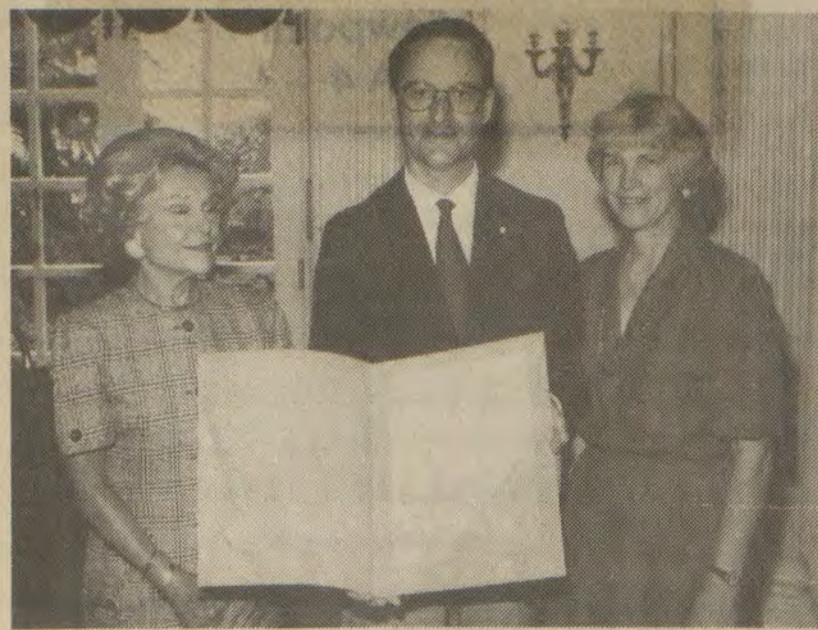

Persons that normally have their garbage picked up on Monday and Thursday will now have it picked up on Thursday only. Persons that have their garbage picked up on Tuesday and Friday will have it picked up on Tuesday only.

There will be no change in the commercial pick-up schedule.

Sgt. Prater laid to rest

Hundreds of mourners and fellow law officers attended the funeral of Sgt. Larry Prater of the Pikeville post of the Kentucky State Police on Wednesday. Prater was killed Sunday morning while he was off duty. Services were held at the Davidson Memorial Gardens at Ivel. (photo by Geoff Belcher)

"encourage good people to run in school board races" and would offer to "educate" them about their duties. Teacher Carol Stumbo told Towler that Floyd teachers had heard disturbing reports from Hardin County teachers about how Towler promotes employees. Stumbo added that she had been told teachers "were glad to see him go" and the central office staff in that county had "grown considerably" since he has been superintendent.

The candidate responded that the central office staff was now smaller than when he was hired and that promotions were based on an individual's ability. Towler said that teachers in a district would be considered for promotions, but he was not opposed to bringing in employees from outside the district.

Towler also noted that he was "not against unions" but that he chooses to deal with organizations informally "without written contracts and agreements."

"I don't mislead employees," Towler said. "I do my best to try to listen as long as I can and develop a plan (to deal with concerns). I can't come in and wave a wand. I don't like negative thoughts. I would try to follow (any problems) with a solution and if I can't, I'll be glad to tell you why."

Towler was asked if he would accept a two-year contract in Floyd County.

"No. I would not accept a two-year contract," Towler said.

Board chairman Campbell has said that he was in favor of offering the next school chief a two-year contract.

During the second half of the session, superintendent Smith read a second letter from Commissioner Boysen which said that the decision would be up to the people of Floyd County as to who would be the next superintendent.

Smith also explained that Towler did not become a candidate at "the last minute" and he had been one of the 104 applicants for the job.

Towler was recommended to the board by Kentucky School Boards Association consultant Ken Scott.

Smith said Boysen's office had recommended that the board employ Scott to present names of other candidates after four of the five finalists received unfavorable media coverage.

Teacher Patty Murphy told Smith that people were still not satisfied with the reasons why the selection committee's other candidates had been dropped for consideration.

Smith said that after Scott made his reports on the remaining candidates, the board felt they should not be considered. Smith said he could not go into specifics about what Scott had reported to the board.

One member of the audience said that because of the relationship between Scott and Towler "there is not a lot of trust" in the process concerning Boysen's candidate.

On his resume, Towler listed 18 years experience as a consultant and member of various committees for the state school boards association.

Education forum member Jean Rosenberg asked Smith to relay their feelings to the board about Towler and the selection process.

Smith told them that he didn't feel such a "such a small group" should choose who would be the next superintendent.

Board

co-chairman of the education committee, sent a letter dated July 1 to Floyd County Education Association president Carol Stumbo that said he could not give Towler a "positive recommendation."

Noe's letter said that testimony given before the subcommittee on school improvement from a school council in Hardin County included reports of a lack of information from the central office and a lack of funding for instructional programs in that county. The letter said that the school at one time had to use instructional monies to pay the telephone bill.

"I believe that it is imperative for Floyd County to have a superintendent dedicated to the Education Reform Act and committed to providing school councils the flexibility to improve instructional programs," Noe said in that letter.

Board Chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell said after Thursday's meeting he "didn't take (Noe's letter) much into consideration" because he had spoken with the Hardin County board chairman about Towler's record on site based management.

Chairman Campbell also said that Thursday's hiring of Towler was final. "The board has spoken," Campbell said. "Boysen said it was up to this board and the action tonight was final."

Campbell said interim superintendent Eldon Smith's report on Tuesday's public forum was that there was "quite a bit of negative feeling" and that he had taken all the positives and negatives into consideration before the decision was made.

The chairman and board member James Duff said that they had not felt pressure from Boysen to hire Towler.

"We hired him because we felt he was the best man for the job," Campbell said. "I found out today (Thursday) that Mr. Towler would not accept a two-year contract and that's why we agreed on a four-year one."

Campbell said Towler had accepted the job Thursday afternoon before the board meeting.

Past FCEA president Bud Reynolds said Thursday that teachers are concerned because Towler has said he likes to deal "informally" with organized groups.

"We've had a written agreement with this board for the past two years," Reynolds said. "If we have any problems with that we'll contact Dr. Boysen because he gave such a recommendation to Towler, I'm sure he has Towler's ear."

Reynolds said he hopes teachers and the community can sit down with the new superintendent and move the district forward.

As for Noe's comments about Towler, Reynolds said "that's pretty damning" coming from a representative of Noe's stature.

"I don't understand why that was not conveyed to someone at the state Department of Education," Reynolds said. "I hope Dr. Boysen realizes he has a lot at stake in this county—more so than any other in the state."

Reynolds added that teachers felt the selection process as set forth in KERA had been subverted but that teachers expect great things from Towler and will hold him and the board members who voted to hire him accountable for their actions.

Scholarships available for training conference

The Kentucky Youth Association-State YMCA is currently offering a limited number of scholarship funds for its 1992 Leadership Training Conference (LTC) to be held August 9-13 at Camp Kysoc in Carrollton.

LTC is a week-long conference which will give students the opportunity to improve relationships with friends, parents and teachers while discussing future dreams and goals.

Scholarships will be awarded to students in grades 9-12 based on need and interest. Funds will come from a special grant program of the Appalachian Regional Commission, Students Training Adolescent Youth (S.T.A.Y.).

the service must be interviewed at the Prestonsburg office in order to determine their eligibility for the program. Once it has been determined that an applicant qualifies for the program, he or she must then provide a current one-page resume, a "mini-resume" and the completed profile form.

In addition to gaining access to the computerized professional placement service, Floyd County is also among 11 Kentucky areas specifically targeted for a $7.7 million grant from the Cabinet for Human Resources that will provide summer jobs for unemployed youths.

Funding for the grants was provided by the $1 billion emergency urban aid bill recently enacted by congress.

Human Resources officials estimate that the grants may help put as many as 6,300 Kentuckians between the ages of 16 and 21 to work at summer jobs. Kentuckians that are 14 and 15 years old may also be considered for the program.

For further information about either the computerized professional placement program or the summer jobs program, contact the Prestonsburg Field Office of the Kentucky Department for Employment Services at 886-2396.

The Appalachian Regional Commission has awarded a $30,000 grant to a local organization dedicated to improving the quality of education and increase opportunities for students in Eastern Kentucky's Fifth Congressional District.

Forward in the Fifth, a non-profit organization which United States Representative Harold Rogers helped establish, recently expanded to include the 12 Eastern Kentucky counties added to the Fifth District.

According to a press release issued by Rogers Thursday, the ARC awarded Forward in the Fifth the grant to aid the organization in further expanding its Math and Science project to 39 counties in Eastern and Southern Kentucky.

Forward in the Fifth is expected to use the funding to conduct workshops for elementary school teachers and parent volunteers.

The grant was provided by the Appalachian Regional Commission's Co-Chairmen's Committee Fund.

It is good to see that things get better with age. Have you visited Archer Park lately? It has never looked better!

For approximately twenty-five years I have frequented these entertainment acres. From the playgrounds to the ballfields to the swimming pools, I have played and worked at Archer Park and some of my most favorable memories come from these times.

Now I am married, living in Pike County, and the mother of two small children. The thirty-mile distance does not keep us away. During the summer months we visit Archer Park quite often and it is well worth the drive. The swimming pools are "brand spanking new" and the playground areas are always exceptionally clean and well tended. My children truly enjoy their "Archer Park Days."

Congratulations to park director, Ralph Little, and his crew for a continual job well done; keep up the good work! I'm glad that the constant floods and limited budgets have not eliminated this facility which is enjoyed by many. Archer Park is a landmark in Eastern Kentucky which we can be proud of. Many happy memories to all who visit, it is a place "very dear to my heart."

McConnell's Comments

by Sen. Mitch McConnell

KIDS IN NEED

Almost two million children are reported missing each year. About 90 percent are runaways. However, more than 200,000 are abducted, and are never seen or heard from again. The sad and surprising truth behind this statistic is that the majority of those children — over 70 percent — are kidnapped by parents embroiled in bitter custody battles. In cases where a child is taken by a parent, the child is returned to his or her court-ordered home only ten percent of the time. In an effort to improve this disturbing statistic, I recently introduced my Kids In Need (KIN) Act, which would make it easier to locate parental kidnapers.

The Federal Parent Locator Service (FPLS) is currently used by the Family Support Administration to locate parents who are delinquent in child support payments by utilizing information provided by the Internal Revenue Service and the Department of Labor. My bill would give the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention access to this information. Such access would dramatically improve the chances of finding a parent who has illegally taken a child from the custodial parent.

FPLS can provide critical information necessary for locating an abducting parent. However, law enforcement officers investigating cases of parental kidnapping have reported difficulty in obtaining information from state FPLS offices. It can also take months to process requests in cases where time is a crucial factor in tracking down abductors. With authorized access to the FPLS computer, the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention could expedite requests from law enforcement agencies regarding parental kidnapers.

I have long been an advocate of legislation to locate missing children. As Jefferson County Judge/Executive, I combined the child search efforts of the Jefferson County Police Department and the Office of Social Services to develop a model program to locate missing and exploited children. As a U.S. Senator, I have sponsored the Missing Children's Assistance Act, the National Child Search Assistance Act, the National Child Abusers Registration Act and now, Kids In Need. My KIN Act is another step towards locating missing children, and prosecuting their abductors.

In 1990, authorities found more missing cars than missing kids. Obviously, something has to be done to improve efforts to locate missing children. I believe my legislation will significantly impact the number of children who are the unfortunate, innocent victims of parental kidnapers.

STOPPING A FEDERAL POWER GRAB WITH REGARD TO S & LS

I am very pleased to report that the Senate has agreed to my proposal to block an Administration move to blatantly override state laws governing savings-and-loan associations.

This move by the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS) would allow S & Ls to open branches across state lines with absolutely no regard for state laws.

Our laws in Kentucky do not allow out-of-state S & Ls to open branches within our borders, although they may purchase Kentucky thrift institutions under certain circumstances.

Kentucky is among a majority of states now enforcing such laws. But this apparently means nothing to the OTS, which has come up with its own regulations to allow unrestricted interstate branching by federally chartered S & Ls.

My response has been to join with Sen. Dale Bumpers (D-AR), Senate Minority Leader Robert Dole and others in a bipartisan proposal to block this sneak attack on states' rights.

This proposal, in the form of an amendment to housing legislation, has been accepted by the Senate by an overwhelming vote of 82 to 15. I intend to keep fighting as hard as I can to see that it becomes law.

Our amendment places a 15-month moratorium on the new OTS regulations. It holds off a bureaucratic power grab while interstate-branching is considered by those who should be dealing with this highly sensitive issue — the states and their elected representatives in the Congress.

It is quite possible that interstate branching for banks and thrifts will be debated in connection with major banking legislation in the next session of Congress. I will continue to protect the interests of Kentucky in any such debate.

As governor in 1972, I worked with the Kentucky General Assembly in regular and special session to deal with the S & L issues of that period. The result was a model state law requiring all Kentucky thrifts to have federal insurance and outlawing questionable insider dealings in our thrift industry.

We have had a sound thrift industry ever since. We have not been part of the well known S & L scandal involving thrifts in so many other states, and I intend to keep it that way.

I believe we should look very closely at any new interstate activities with regard to banks or S & Ls. We could be looking at large institutions creating financial instability, diverting savings from small communities and imposing lending practices ill suited to small businesses in our state.

Heard it through the grapevine

by Scott Perry

The rumor mill appears to be working overtime this week as those who would attempt to discredit this newspaper's integrity give us a good example of their own lack of it.

The rumors reached our attention this week in the form of an anonymous letter which suggested that two employees of the Times had received special treatment from the courts after their arrests on alcohol-related charges.

Here's an excerpt from that letter, signed by "A Mad Mother:"

"The pair were taken to jail and charged but had their tickets 'fixed' by Courthouse politicians before they came to trial. It is a fine example your paper is setting when it uses the same methods which your publication has so roundly condemned in the past. After all, favor begets (sic) favor. Remember, don't throw stones if you live in a glass house. Thank God for the grapevine. The truth still lives."

Our advice to the letter writer is to leave the grapevines to Tarzan.

The truth of this matter is that two employees of the Times were, in fact, arrested. Both pleaded guilty to their charges and both received the same punishment as any other person who faced similar charges. They neither asked for nor received special treatment from anyone.

As to favors begetting favors, we agree with the letter writer on that account. And, since we are reasonably sure who is responsible for attacking our credibility, we intend to return the favor at the appropriate time.

Deja vu...all over again

by Scott Perry

When Dr. Stephen Towler all but embraced the good-old-boy system as an effective tool in managing education in a public forum this week, a vision of his quotableness, Yogi Berra, flashed onto our mental screen. "It's Deja Vu all over again."

While we can't fault Towler for his candor, we do wonder how that bit of interesting trivia about Towler's doctrine escaped the noses of Department of Education bloodhounds.

You'll remember that education department officials made a special trip to Nebraska to disqualify the board's unanimous choice, William Zitterkopf, but they apparently made no effort to check out Towler, accepting without question the recommendation of Kentucky School Board Association consultant Ken Scott that Towler was the man for the job in Floyd County.

It is interesting to note, too, that Scott is the reported source of unfavorable information dug up on at least one of the Floyd board's five finalists for the superintendent's job, but Scott did not find it necessary to reveal similar info on Towler's background until questioned about rumors.

What have we learned from all this?

We've learned that next to the Kentucky Department of Education, even Yogi Berra (or Yogi Bear for that matter) looks like a genius.

Petry receives award for work on damaged ship in Persian Gulf

Electrical engineer Chester Petry recently received an AEGIS Excellence Award from the Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA) for Outstanding Performance.

Petry was honored for his role in evaluating damage, inspecting repairs and preparing an official report on the USS Princeton's (CG 59) electric system equipment which was damaged by a mine detonation while operating in the Persian Gulf during Operation Desert Storm. He was cited for his high level of dedication and unusually long hours of work in support of a task that made a significant contribution to the AEGIS Program.

Petry's work was a prerequisite to the return of the Princeton to the active Fleet. His responsibility was particularly challenging because the ship was being repaired at a foreign shipyard in the war zone with stringent schedule requirements.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Petry of East Point and is married to the former Bridget Salyers of Allen.

Langley League to celebrate July 4th

Langley League held its June meeting in the basement of the May Memorial Methodist Church.

Business undertaken included plans to go ahead with the flag ceremony on July 4 at 10 a.m. The flag pole of the Maytown First Baptist Church has been readied for it; permission to run up the new flag donated by the Woodmen of the World was given to the league members.

Mr. Earit Hayes and a small contingent of uniformed veterans will oversee the ceremony. Mrs. Charlene Nelson, present postmistress, will have the honors of raising the flag and Miss Darnella Bradley will play the Bugle Call. All local U.S. military, former and present, are invited to come in uniform for the ceremony.

Maytown Elementary School principal Lorena Hall Chaffins will ask a group of students to represent the school. The ceremony is in honor of all persons, military and non-military who work diligently to keep our country free.

Other business resulted in printing and distributing flyers reminding Maytown residents about the county-wide trash-off. Mrs. George Patton, Mrs. T.A. Combs, Mrs. Tommy Flanery, and Mrs. Jake Halbert Jr. distributed the flyers.

The group also voted to look into the removal of fire debris left over when the Stewart Dry Goods building burned.

Looking to the future, a Used Book Fair is scheduled to be held in the Greens Quad during the first week of school. In October, it is hoped that more residents will take part in a Fall Foliage Afternoon, whereby Maytown is the destination of an afternoon drive to look at fall foliage.

Avoid fireworks injuries on July 4 holiday

Every year, hundreds of children are needlessly burned by fireworks. Many of these children are going to the corner store and buying fireworks themselves without parental knowledge. Sharon Rengers, R.N., burn prevention educator at Kosair Children's Hospital, says parents need to prevent children from purchasing fireworks without their knowledge. "Fireworks are explosives and are unpredictable," says Rengers. Children who buy fireworks without parental knowledge account for 28 to 40 percent of all injuries, and 21 percent of these injuries are from fireworks that are illegal in Kentucky but that can be bought in adjoining states.

According to Rengers, Louisville area hospitals treated 19 children and 4 adults for injuries during the 1991 holiday. Listed below is the profile of a typical patient treated at Kosair Children's Hospital for a fireworks injury:

Typical Victim: Male Age: 8 years old
 Location: Home Time of Year: May 24-July 7
 Firework: Jumping Jack
 Setting: Group of friends
 Victims: 55 percent igniter
 Injury: 75 percent burned 45 percent bystander
 20 percent eye injury
 Treatment: Emergency Room visit
 Average Cost: $1,579

These injuries are preventable. "Fireworks are not safe and we need much stronger legislation in place to protect the children of Kentucky and Southern Indiana," says Rengers. "If you feel you must use fireworks to celebrate the July 4 holiday, please remember these guidelines:"

- Instruct children on the dangers of fireworks (small children should never handle fireworks)
- Only buy legal fireworks—those sold in adjoining states may not be
- Wear goggles
- Always have constant adult supervision

IN MEMORIAM

JAMES BRADLEY PRUITT

Sept. 10, 1972-July 4, 1991

"A CHILD OF MINE"
 "I'll lend to you for a little while a child of mine," God said.

Brad's days were numbered a mere 18 years

Yet he left to us a lifetime of precious memories so dear.

Along the way we watched a happy child become a handsome man.

We shared and loved more than most will ever understand.

Brad's laughter and his kindness touched the lives of those he met.

Too soon, family and friends said goodbye with sorrowful regret.

My son will never die as long as those who loved him live.

For in our heart he survives and brings us comfort still.

Someday, if it be God's plan,

Perhaps then we'll understand why you chose to take him much sooner than we planned.

Sadly missed by,

A Friend
Every person in the world
Should have 4-H
To share all dreams
And tell secrets to

I've looked for 4-H so many time
To see a happy smile
I've enjoyed 4-H company
For only a little while

A word from 4-H
Can give a heart a lift,
To me that's why 4-H friendship
Is life's dearest gift

So I'm sending 4-H this message
To my greatest 4-H friend
To share all 4-H HAPPINESS
In a special way.

Kentucky
Dr. Thomas Walker was the first
To try to settle the land
The French and Indian War sent him home
But he was followed by another man

They called him Daniel Boone
He said he was here to stay
He built a fort on the Kentucky
River

A forest has his name today

Zachary Taylor was a war hero
And the twelfth President, too
He grew up in Kentucky
Just like me and you

With Jefferson Davis as their leader
The Confederates must of felt real lucky

But they overlooked Honest Abe
Who was also from Kentucky
After all the wars
Kentuckians still stand tall
Because United We Stand
And Divided We Fall.

Floyd County
Floyd County History
Is what I'd like to know
Who were the first settlers
Who watched the county grow

Who built the first home
Who drove the first car
Did they run out of gas
Or did they drive very far

I checked my encyclopedia
But Floyd County wasn't in there
So I checked all the community names
And still came up bare

Floyd County should be in there
It's name as thick as grass
I guess I'll have to make it famous
Me and my class.

School Days
I go to school every day
To learn everything I can
I want to know more
But sometimes I just don't under-stand

Maybe when I get older
Schooling won't be so tough
But now on us little kids
Learning sure is mighty rough.

The Lonely Walk in the Sunset
Breeze
Once I walked with someone someone special to me
Then one day I was walking alone
in the sunset breeze
I did not know where she was
She was gone without me
I was very sad
But someday I will be with her
In the sunset breeze
I will be happy again
Now as life goes on
I will walk alone
In the sunset breeze.

Enrollment up at MSU

Enrollment for Morehead State University's Summer I term shows an increase over the same period last year, according to preliminary figures released today by the Office of the Registrar.

A total of 2,644 students are taking classes this term, an increase of 24 students or about 1 percent over Summer I 1991.

Gains of more than 13 and 17 percent respectively were seen at the freshman and sophomore levels as well as a 7 percent increase at the senior level.

For MSU President C. Nelson Grote, the increase means a personal record in his professional career remains unbroken. During his five years as president, MSU has reported enrollment growth in every summer term and regular semester.

"These constant enrollment increases that MSU has experienced is doubly meaningful for me," said Dr. Grote, who retires as the University's 11th president on June 30. "The MSU record means that in 21 years as head of institutions of higher education, I have never faced a declining enrollment," said Dr. Grote.

LA PETITE JEUNE FILLE?
It's amazing how people perceive themselves.

Take me for instance. I'm one of those people who still considers herself to be petite when I'm 20 pounds past that analogy.

While being short still puts me in the petite category, a woman's size 12 is a proportionately closer fit after 22 inches of hem are scissored off the bottom of skirts and pants.

This realization came to me when I ran into some women at a small person's shop. Browsing through rack after rack of petite sizes, it became increasingly clear that I had lost track of my size.

"Oh, look! Jeans that don't have to be hemmed," I heard one woman exclaim.

I turned to see a woman who, like me, hadn't missed a single meal in at least 40 years.

"My husband won't believe it," she said. "I can still wear a petite."

"That's wonderful," I said. "What size are those?"

"Oh, let's see," she said, as she searched for the tag. "It looks like a size 22. That's it. A 22 petite."

"Terrific," I lied. As she walked into the dressing room to try on the jeans, I couldn't believe that the woman was actually pleased about buying a petite size that ran into double figures. When I think of petite. I think of size 4 through 8. As far as I was concerned, any other size simply doesn't qualify.

"See," she said perkily as she bounced out of the dressing and sa-shayed through the store with a smile on her face. "I'm still in petites, and I thought I was too large for them."

In all honesty, I was happy for the woman. I understood about obesity, and the problems associated with wanting to consume a pound bag of potato chips while drinking a diet drink. It's a known fact that if you're tiny and you gain five pounds people can tell it; and if you lose five pounds people can tell it.

"You look great in those," I said as convincingly, as I would want her to say if I was on the receiving end. "I might try on a pair of those myself."

"Great! What size do you think you'll need, a 20?"

"Er, well...I don't know," I stammered. "I think I'll start with an 8."

Several minutes after the woman had stopped laughing, I jerked a size 8 jacket and jeans off the rack and ran to the dressing room to try them on in privacy, but it was not to be.

"Do they fit?" I heard the woman ask from the other side of the curtain.

"What? Who is that?"

"It's the size 22 petite. How does that jacket look?"

"It's fine," I lied. What I really wanted to ask was if she was aware that excess skin accumulated under

Kentucky's great seal:

Who are these two people anyway?

by Jay R. Ferguson

The answer to the above question is, "Two friends embracing." For the past 200 years, the men on Kentucky's great seal have been shown as pioneer long hunters, statesmen in 18th and 19th century clothes, and soldiers in uniform. Sometimes they have been depicted wearing hats, but usually they have been bareheaded. Sometimes they have had beards, but usually they have been clean shaven. One variation shows a gentleman in an 1890s tuxedo. The only thing that has been consistent about these two friends is that they have always been white men.

By an act of the Kentucky Legislature on December 20, 1792, a seal for Kentucky was mandated "to be engraved with this device: Two friends embracing, with the name of the state over their heads, and round about them the following motto, 'United we stand, Divided we fall'." In 1793 David Humphreys of Lexington produced the first seal to emboss official state documents. Prior to that, Isaac Shelby, Kentucky's first governor, used his own private seal on official documents. The first state seal was cast with two statesmen in eighteenth-century knee breeches and tailcoats, arms around each other, heads resting on each other's shoulders. In 1814, fire destroyed the state house and Humphrey's seal.

By 1815 a new seal was in use. This seal showed the comrades as nineteenth-century statesmen, also in tailcoats. However, their embrace is less intimate: they are facing forward, each with one arm around the other's waist, hands clasped in front of them. This symbol was displayed on two more variations of the seal until the 1850s. An old joke about this embrace is that the men have had too much Kentucky bourbon to drink and are trying to walk while holding onto each other.

According to an article by Carl Bernhardt that appeared in Kentucky Progress Magazine, February 1931, the original intent of the state seal was to show two pioneer friends wearing hunting frocks. Kentucky's motto "United We Stand, Divided We Fall" takes on more significance with two pioneers. A variation of the motto can be found in a pre-Revolutionary war song by John Dickinson, titled "The Liberty Song," which was published July 18, 1768 in the Boston Gazette. A line from the song reads, "Then join hand, brave Americans all! By uniting we stand, by dividing we fall." The thirteen American colonies had united in their fight against Great Britain. In Kentucky, the pioneers united to defend themselves against Indian raids. This motto had personal meaning to the early political leaders of Kentucky. In this instance the two friends on the seal were meant to symbolize all the Kentucky pioneers who helped each other during those dramatic years.

As the years passed, the immediate need for unity that marked the years of settlement was lost. During the Civil War years, when Kentucky and the nation were not united, the men on the seals were first depicted as being from two different eras. On an Executive Department letterhead dated 1862, the seal shows and 18th-century statesman, complete with breeches, tailcoat, and powdered wig, along with a 19th-century statesman wearing contemporary clothing. The Kentucky Military History Museum has a regimental flag from the Civil War that depicts the same two figures. However, other regimental flags from the Civil War show a George Washington-like figure holding hands with a person who looks like Daniel Boone, complete with buckskins and coonskin cap. Sometimes the pio-

ALL MY CHILDREN: After telling Brooke that his recurrent nightmares stem from his father's dislike of him as a child, Edmund then told her that he loved her. Jack rescued Angelique who had fallen from her horse when she went searching for Dimitri. Meanwhile, Erica and Dimitri were stranded in the lodge, and after admitting their feelings for each other, made love. Afterward, Dimitri assured her he'll end his marriage to Angelique. An Li worried that her fake pregnancy scheme will backfire. In the meantime, Brian refused to listen to Terrence who said he suspected An Li wasn't pregnant. Wait To See: Dimitri's plans take a sudden turn.

ANOTHER WORLD: An angry Marley told Dennis she was through with him because of his bet with Jake. Carl took Ryan's letter from Vicky's apartment and reacted angrily when he read it. Sally told Lucas she was sure Rick's murderer was someone close to him. Spencer helped Ryan escape notice by a policeman at the Tuxedo Club. Lorna was injured when a huge stage light fell on her. Ryan agreed to meet with Carl alone the night of the concert. Hannah admitted to Paulina that she's the Rita for whom Kevin is searching. Wait To See: Ryan's meeting with Carl produces an unexpected result.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Gavin told an unbelieving Darryl that he (Darryl) is Jennifer's father. Darryl realized he had to tell Frannie the truth, even if it meant he might lose her. Lucinda told Scott she hired him for his legal and business expertise. Agnes, Larry's mother, told Susan she's troubled by their age difference. Rosanna took Angel's advice and agreed to talk to someone about her problems. Seth and Caleb didn't approve of Emma's relationship with Ned. Wait To See: Julie's presence sets off a chain of disturbances.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: After seeing little Eric alone in Margo's old office (where he was perfectly safe in his playpen) Sheila commented that Brooke was not a good mother, and took the baby with her. Eric was grateful for possibly saving his son from injury. Later, Brooke stunned Ridge with the news that he's the father of her unborn baby. Clarke, feeling certain he'll become a full partner in Spectra/Clarke, and can then dump Sally, began ordering expensive gifts for Kristen (who thought he was just Making believe). Wait To See: Eric begins to relate more closely with Sheila.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Shawn, Caroline, and Jack were held at gunpoint in the Brady fish market by robbers posing as cops. Shawn was shot as the gunmen made their escape. John, aware that Lawrence is

by Geoff Belcher, staff writer

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect for the opinion of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

Jefferson, Declaration of Independence

Freedom's just another word
For nothin' left to lose,
And freedom ain't nothin' if it ain't free.

-Janis

Joplin, Me and Bobby McGee

July 4 is almost upon us, and I would be remiss in my duties as the official herald of truth, justice and the American way if I let it slip by without a paragraph or two of patriotic ramblings.

Also, deadline time is almost upon me, and I really couldn't think of anything else to write about. Well, I could, but the boss wouldn't let me. This is a family newspaper.

Anyways, it's almost Independence Day, that time of year vigorously celebrated by all true Americans except maybe for prisoners and the people who have to work at fast food places and grocery and department stores while all of their friends who have the day off and are laughing at them.

Independence Day has always, definitely, beyond even a reasonable shadow of a doubt, been my favorite holiday.

Well, I did used to like Christmas better because of all the swell toys, but now that I'm older the toys don't seem nearly so swell and I have to buy toys for other people and since now I supposedly make my own living, it just doesn't seem right to bum money from my parents to buy their own presents.

I also sort of like Halloween because you get to dress up and scare the bejeezus out of little kids (but that's another story, and probably requires a great deal of psychoanalysis and possibly a strict regimen of shock therapy and mind-altering medication).

Just think of July 4 and everything it means to the American people.

It's the one day of the year when we celebrate the true meaning of the American way of life: eating and drinking until you explode; listening to fat boring politicians saying the same thing over and over telling you what great guys they are and they'd get you that new road, doggone it if you could just find it in your heart to write them a big fat check, and maybe if you're one of the country's three registered voters maybe cast your ballot for them; getting stuck in traffic and yelling and swearing at the guy in front of you because the exhaust from his muffler-less car is choking you to death; standing in long lines to pay way too much money for cheap, Japanese-made products packaged in environmentally unsound materials.

Unfortunately, the main, time-honored method of celebrating the holiday, i.e. the careless handling of dangerous explosive devices, is mostly illegal these days.

About the only fireworks you can use today without facing some serious time in the slammer are the baby kind: sparklers, which just sort of, well, spark for a minute; and "snakes," which you have to SET ON THE GROUND, light, and then watch them fizzle around in an underwhelming display of smoke and ash. Whatever happened to the good old days when you could use stuff that could do some serious damage?

Some of my fondest childhood memories come from the days when my friends from down the street, Stumpy and Lefty, would come over to my house with M-80s, bottle rockets, Roman candles and cherry bombs and terrorize the neighborhood and many tiny woodland creatures.

I can just see them now, Stumpy and Lefty, each with a whole lit package of Uncle Sam firecrackers in his good hand, waiting to see which one would "chicken out" first and drop the package.

Unfortunately, the boys were none too bright. Hence their names. Admittedly, people like Stumpy and Lefty are probably also the ones who messed up the good fireworks for the rest of us too.

They'd play really keen games like "Let's see who can aim a bottle rocket into the open window of moving car," and "Drop the M-80 down the toilet."

I don't know where the guys are these days or what they're doing, but I'm reasonably certain they're working somewhere in the political arena.

Another thing that tends to create a dark cloud around the Fourth for all us good Amurkins is the current trend of flag burning. We don't see it much around here, but our good friends at CNN make a special point every year of playing it over and over and over every five minutes so we can all get good and disgusted.

I kind of subscribe to the philosophy that I'll support your right to burn the flag if you'll support my right to bear arms against you.

If you really want a symbolic gesture, don't have a public flag burning. Have a public flag washing. So many of our fine, upstanding public servants have wrapped themselves in it that it's bound to be a little dirty.

Just remember what July 4 really stands for.

Freedom.
The freedom of speech.
The freedom of religion.
The freedom to make speeches against someone else's religion.

The freedom to live your life the way you decide, regardless of race, creed, color, national origin, sex or sexual orientation.

Freedom is what made America great, although my wife still tries to convince me that it was really the credit card system.

Freedom is what brings millions of immigrants to America every year, although these days we seem to be sending them back.

The freedom to wear black socks with shorts and sandals if you really want too.

Support your freedom. Guard it. Love it. Protect it. Vote. Or at least pay someone to vote for you. And if you sell your vote, make sure you get good money for it.

That's the American way.
Well, I have to go now. The costume shop called and told me my Uncle Sam costume was ready, and I bought some really keen bottle rockets to chase the kids with.

Just keep in mind what I said.
If you can figure it out.

Dear Abby

Single Man Should Open Mouth To Avoid Paying Through Nose

DEAR ABBY: I am a reasonably attractive man who, after many years of marriage, is back in the singles scene. After dating for two years, I have some questions to ask. I've heard so much about the women's movement, I get mixed messages.

When a woman calls to invite me out, I am complimented, but I'm confused when I end up paying for the evening—or even half, as a few ladies have suggested at the end of the evening. Some of these women own their own businesses, or have a profession and can well afford to pick up the tab.

One woman invited me to dinner at a very nice restaurant, and when the check came, she said she didn't have any money. Another time, a woman invited me out for dinner, and when the check came, I excused myself and went to the men's room. When I returned, the bill was still on the table.

On another occasion, the woman said that since she had invited me out, we should split the bill. (This was said after the bill had been presented.)

Abby, when I telephone a lady and invite her out, I pay, and when a lady calls a gentleman and invites him out, she should pay. What do you think?

CONFUSED IN KANSAS

DEAR CONFUSED: First, you should both have a very clear understanding at the time the date is made. If the lady calls you, ask her if she is inviting you to escort her at her expense, or is she suggesting that you should treat her to an evening out.

When a lady calls a gentleman and says, "Let's go to a movie (or out to dinner, or whatever)," she should say, "It's my treat," or, "Let's go dutch."

When a gentleman calls a lady, it is assumed that she will be his guest, even though in today's social climate, some women are better able to pick up the tab than men—in which case, they should.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were married 14 months ago. We had an enormous wedding and received many fine wedding gifts. Most are still in their original boxes.

Would it be in poor taste to send some of these gifts as "gifts" to send to others? We have several duplicates.

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Poor taste? Not at all; it's been done for years by some of our most respected socialites.

Adlai Stevenson tells this story: "When I served in the Agricultural Administration, every Christmas I'd receive an enormous gunnysack filled with individually gift-wrapped packages of walnuts. It solved our Christmas shopping problem because we sent them to all our friends for Christmas. Then, I discovered to my chagrin, that in each package was a little card saying, 'Merry Christmas from the Walnut Industry to Adlai Stevenson.'"

DEAR ABBY: After reading your article about the uninformed woman who couldn't locate the Pacific Ocean and didn't know the difference between history and geography, I was reminded of the dear little boy in my first-grade class who had just moved to California.

He was telling the class about the wonders he had seen here in California, and one of the wonders was the ocean.

"What is the name of that ocean?" I asked.

"I don't know," he said, "it didn't have a sign."

A.J. found Nikki in Washington trying to come to terms over her lawsuit against General Hospital, and he promised to care for her.

GUIDING LIGHT: Roger told Alexandra the truth about Nick in exchange for the Jessup farm file which he left in Alexandra's open safe. Jenna dropped the file just as Roger arrived in time to see Mallet pick it up.

After finding the file on Ross' desk, Hart confronted his father (Roger) who admitted he stole the farm, but tried to assure Hart it was to safeguard the future of the Thorpes. Sawyer and Aurora hid in a motel where she offered to sleep with him. Lisa told Rafe she's pregnant, and he insisted he'll stand by her. Believing that Warren had spent the night with B.J., Angela returned to Ted's bed only to have Katrina (who also planned to make love to Ted) knock at his door. YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Ashley hid out, feeling like an outsider, when she saw Nikki and the children in Victor's hospital room. Back at the Newman ranch, Nicholas found Victor's tape in Jack's jacket, and played it. A shocked Nikki overheard Jack plotting to take control of the company. Calvin told Michael Cricket had no intention of giving up on her sexual harassment charge. Victoria, sensing that she was losing Ryan (and unaware that he also had Nina on his string) showed up at his apartment, and put a condom in his hand. After telling Lauren he was starting proceedings to have her legally declared as Scotty's mother, Paul was stunned to learn she was moving back in with Scott—but only under certain ground rules which included no sex.

These two men of different eras have remained the most common variation of the seal for the rest of the nineteenth century until the present day. The current seal, with a pioneer in buckskins and a statesman in nineteenth-century clothing, was not developed until 1885. The seal that is now on the state flag was adopted by the state legislature in 1962. Many believe that the two figures represent Daniel Boone and Henry Clay. In 1793, the two friends represented all Kentuckians, and that is true of the two figures on the current seal. The buckskinned pioneer represents the pioneering spirit of Daniel Boone, Simon Kenton, Christopher Gist, and others. The nineteenth-century statesman can be seen as symbolizing Henry Clay, John Cabell Breckinridge, and other great Kentucky statesmen of the nineteenth century. This unique combination of pioneering and leadership spirit is what shaped Kentucky from its settlement and will guide Kentucky into its future.

Abe Lincoln preserves union

by J. Holly McCall

The 16th president of the United States, Abraham Lincoln, was born February 12, 1809, in Larue County. Lincoln's family moved to Kentucky early in the state's history, his grandfather settling in Washington County around 1782.

Lincoln's only formal schooling took place in a primitive log cabin in Larue County; however, he later studied and practiced law, encouraged by his 1827 success defending himself against the Commonwealth's charge of operating a ferry without a license.

Lincoln's family moved to Illinois when he was seven, and though he spent much time in Kentucky, he was elected to the Illinois General Assembly in 1834, serving four terms. He served in Congress from 1847-49, during which time he opposed slavery's extension. He lost his 1858 Senate bid to pro-slavery candidate Stephen A. Douglas, but defeated

Douglas to become president in 1860, running on an antislavery platform.

Lincoln guided the Union through the Civil War, and issued the Emancipation Proclamation, freeing all slaves in the rebellious territories, on January 1, 1863. His speeches, including the Gettysburg address, are remembered for their eloquence.

On April 14, 1865, Lincoln was shot by actor John Wilkes Booth in Washington's Ford Theatre. He died the next day.

The one-room log cabin where Lincoln was born has been preserved just south of Hodgenville, and is enclosed in an impressive memorial building on the 116-acre Abraham Lincoln Birthplace National Historic Site. Visitors can also see an audio-visual presentation about Lincoln's years in Kentucky, a reproduction of his boyhood home on the original site, and the Lincoln Museum in downtown Hodgenville that features wax figures representing various scenes from Lincoln's life.

one's armpits. This was a new revelation to me so I asked, "Do you have excess skin under your armpits?"

"Too tight in the sleeves, eh?"

"Well..." I hesitated.

"Feel a little snug around the back?"

"Not exactly. But what strange phenomena would cause me not to be unable to button the jacket?"

"Fat," she said bluntly. Not considering my delicate feelings.

"I don't feel as if it's fat. I do realize I have some excess skin, but I thought..."

"Call it what you want, but if it doesn't fit you might as well call a spade a spade, Honey. Do you want me to tell the salesperson to bring you a size 12?"

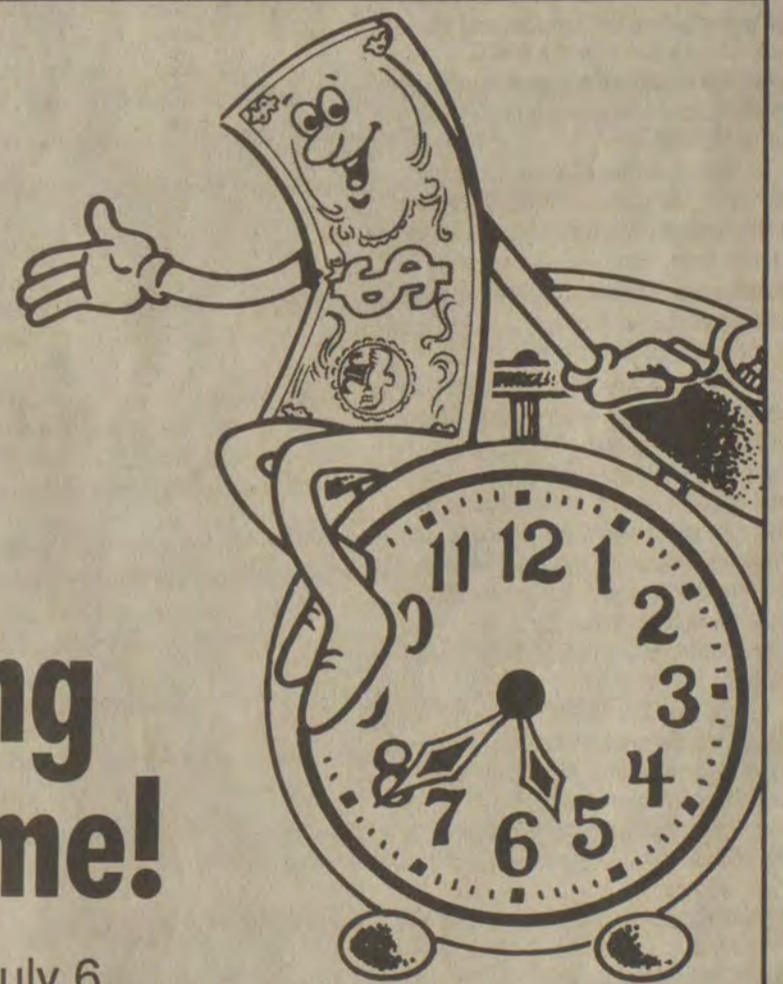

The perky, pint-sized petite sumo-wrestler was starting to wear my nerves (unfortunately not my body) thin. I didn't even know the woman, and she was delighting in my pain.

"Honey, don't be discouraged. I used to feel the same way you did, but I got over it."

"What did you do? Go on a diet?"

"No, but I did the next best thing. I found this shop."

Excess skin or not, I think the woman is on to something.

JUNE FULLER

THE COUPON CLIPPER

Expired offer disappoints tea lover
Dear June — Early this year I came across a large display of Lipton tea bags in my local supermarket. A sign above the display announced a mail-in offer for a free bottle of Wishbone salad dressing with the purchase of two 48-count boxes of tea.

I started drinking tea some time ago, since it is less expensive than coffee. Lipton is my favorite tea, so this was an excellent offer. I picked up two boxes and tore the mail-in form off the display.

When I got home I called my daughter to tell her. She bought the tea the next day.

There is only one problem. When I looked at the form a few days later, I realized the offer had expired in December 1991.

Yes, I should have read the date on the mail-in form. But it never occurred to me that the store would put up a display for an expired offer.

Please remind your readers to check the date on any mail-in form that is offered by a supermarket even if it is offered by a large chain. My daughter never fails to remind me of this. —Dorothy Bane, South Bend, Ind.

Dear Dorothy—That is good advice, especially because this is not a rare occurrence. At some supermarkets and drug chains it happens frequently.

The clerk in your store obviously did not read the terms of the mail-in form. Every manufacturer's offer that is passed along to consumers by retailers should be carefully checked. The store has an obligation to do the checking, because most often the retailer is using the offer to motivate a customer to buy a product. If the store helps to promote an offer, it had better be a valid one.

Does your supermarket owe you and your daughter a bottle of Wishbone salad dressing? It most certainly does.

Whenever you are in a store and find an interesting mail-in form, either on the back of a package or on a "take one" tear-off pad, take a few moments to glance at the requirements.

Check the expiration date and the number of proofs of purchase that are required. If an item is on sale at the same time you find the refund form that may be the best time to buy all the required items. Coming back another day so you can buy the box with the last needed proof of purchase is discouraging if the product is no longer on sale.

While you are in the store, check to see if the mail-in offer requires a certain size or variety of the product. If the forms are on the shelf or a display, do not assume that the store clerk put the refund form under the right product!

Be sure to check the mail-in form for a register-tape requirement. Many offers require register tapes. If it happens you are purchasing two items that require the register tape you will want to place them far apart on the checkout counter. By doing this, you can cut the tape and have two pieces several inches long, each with the purchase price circled for the refunded item.

This week's smart shopper is Raymond Raboin of West Melbourne, Fla. He made a smart shopping "home run" (that is when you buy a product and with combined savings actually get it free or make a profit): "Our local Walgreen's recently advertised Dynatrim on sale for $2.99. I had a $1 Dynatrim coupon, so I paid only $1.99. Not longer after, I found a Dynatrim $3 rebate offer! I wound up with a free container of Dynatrim and, after my cost of postage, made a profit of 72 cents. How do you like that?"

I like it! Trimming your figure as well as your bill is a great shopping experience. Readers who have been creative in trimming their grocery bills are urged to write and tell me about it.

Here's a refund form to write for: a "Country Roads Forever" Pocket Atlas. LAND O'LAKES Pocket Atlas Offer, Dept. A, P.O. Box 5541, Stacy MN 55079. Requests for the mail-in certificates must be post-marked by July 31, 1992.

"We're about due for some action."

Here is this week's list of refund offers. Start looking for the required refund forms, which you can obtain at the supermarket, in newspaper and magazine advertisements and from trading with friends. Meanwhile, start collecting the needed proofs of purchase as detailed below. Remember, some offers are not available in all areas of the country.

Today's refund offers have a value of $17.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) First, absolutely know what it is you want and need to exist. Once your "wish" list is complete, get out there and go for it. You are a winner, whether your focus is on work or on play. You'll find yourself bouncing and busy the whole holiday weekend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Explore all your options before even attempting to make a decision, which could still be put off for another week or so. You fall into the wild and crazy pace of the holiday weekend. There could be fireworks and passion mixed through next week. Expect a hot Fourth of July!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Money matters dominate this week. You think, live with, and talk about them until you decide it isn't worth the hassle. Nevertheless, you opt for a quiet, stay-at-home Fourth of July with just a friend or two. You're ready to handle things next week after this rest.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Know when the "force is with you," which is right now. A solar eclipse in your sign heralds new changes and new possibilities. Recognize just how much you are worth. By the way, be careful what you wish for—you may get it. Snap, crackle and pop all weekend long!!!

LEO (July 23-August 22) Kick back at the beginning of the week and reassess your situation. You pop out of the doldrums by the weekend to be a force on the scene. You want to go here and there, want to be with that special person, and just want, want, want. Proceed with care; this could be costly.

"Satisfied?! Now give me back Grandma's teeth!"

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) Your emotions seesaw all week long. Hold on tight as you flip from "just wonderful" to investing in issue stock. You're back to yourself again by the weekend, without a care in the world. This one could be wild, very wild. You are the fireworks at all the holiday parties.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) You are definitely a force to be noticed this week. You go for what it is you want, and (surprise!), you are likely to lasso in just that. By the way, even if you don't, you don't care, because something new, fun and wild occurs.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Creativity is stimulated to the "max" this week. You're able to put in one of your best work or play weeks—perhaps, both at the same time. This could be one of your all-time memorable Fourth of July weekends. Start smiling right now, because you get just what you want.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Renegotiate a contract as you find the solution that has eluded you up to now. Take some time out by the weekend to handle a very important phone call. Consider planning a special vacation for two very soon. You are the major focal point as far as the weekend celebrations go.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Be more direct dealing with a partner who may be putting out difficult and ornery vibes. Listen to your inner voice concerning how to handle a money matter. It could make a big difference. You take the "magical, mystery tour" this weekend and learn what true contentment is.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) Get your work done quickly this week and express your freedom-loving side. Between business meetings and fun engagements, you get on the social calendar a bit early. What a close encounter the weekend brings—phew!

PISCES (February 19-March 20) You have a hard time getting into work this week. Once you start, however, you may have an equally hard time getting out of it. Firecrackers, rockets and cartwheels are all in the works, all weekend long, and possibly way past then, too. The heat is on—the kind you like.

YOUR HEALTH

Q. Whenever my six-year-old daughter gets sick, the glands in her neck blow up like a balloon. Later, they return to normal. Could this be troublesome when she gets older?

A. Swelling of the glands of the neck is common — especially in children following infections of the tonsils and adenoids.

Besides the glands in the neck, there are perhaps a thousand glands, or lymph nodes in the entire body. These vary in size from tiny, barely perceptible ones, to those the size of a large plum. Although it is not commonly known, the lifesaving lymph drainage systems that circulate in the body is an important one that in a measure resembles the circulatory system which carries blood in the arteries and veins. The lymph circulating system carries lymph to and from the lymph glands which act as filters. They collect bacteria and even foreign particles that may have entered into the lymph stream.

Glands are the protective agents located in strategic points of the body to guard against the spread of infection. There are indeed some important implications of chronic enlarged glands. In your daughter's case, however, the problem does not appear to be a serious one. The likelihood is great that the glands in her neck reflect drainage from diseased tonsils and adenoids. Such repeated enlargements are often indications that they should be removed.

It is highly destructive to live in fear about a problem that realistically is not dangerous. It is simple for your doctor with blood studies to determine the nature of the swellings. Only then can your fears be controlled before you transmit your anxiety to your child.

The origin of enlarged glands sometimes presented problems. Today, there are so many techniques that pinpoint the causes of enlarged glands that anxiety about them is totally unnecessary. As soon as the exact nature of the enlarged glands is determined, a battery of drugs are available to control the basic cause and thus eliminate any of the complications that once occurred.

EDELL HEALTH NOTES

WHEN BEAUTY SEES A BEAST ... In our appearance-conscious society, almost everyone feels insecure about his or her looks at times. But for a few thousand adults, imagined cosmetic "defects" create a disabling obsession. American psychiatrists are just now addressing this problem, which they call body dysmorphic disorder, and the best treatment thus far is drug therapy.

People with the disorder agonize over features that most others consider normal. In their minds, large noses, thinning hair or big mouths become grotesque eyesores. These people feel so unbearably ugly that their work and relationships suffer. They may seek cosmetic surgery, hole up at home or become suicidal.

Katharine A. Phillips, an instructor in psychiatry at Harvard Medical School, said the most promising treatments so far are psychiatric drugs. Anyone who believes he or she has this disorder should consult a mental health professional.

BRAN NEWS FOR BREAST

CANCER ... Women who consistently pass up desserts like chocolate cake for high-fiber treats like an apple may be lowering their risk of breast cancer. Researchers have long known that eating a fatty diet appears to increase the risk of cancer by cranking up blood estrogen levels. For years the search has been on for something that could keep estrogen levels under control. That something, according to an American Health Foundation study, supported in part by the Kellogg Co., may be wheat fiber.

Sixty-two post-menopausal women ate enough wheat, oat or corn bran to double their daily dose of fiber — to about 30 grams per day (the rough equivalent of 1 cup of wheat bran, 4.5 cups of corn bran, or 2.3 cups of oat bran) — while they continued to eat the same amount of fat as before. After two months on this diet, the women eating corn and oat bran showed no change in blood estrogen. But those on wheat fiber had lowered their blood estrogen levels significantly, and presumably improved their odds against breast cancer.

Wheat fiber is insoluble and can't be digested, while corn and oat bran are made up mostly of soluble fiber, which can dissolve in water to form a gel. Whether this explains the difference in outcome the researchers failed to say. But they do advise adding more fiber to your meals. You might want to use the National Research Council recommendations as a guideline. They suggest that adults eat five or more servings of fruits and vegetables, and six or more of breads, cereals and legumes, every day. That translates into 20 to 30 grams of both kinds of fiber a day, or about the amount consumed by the women in this study.

STAYING OUT OF HOT WATER ... When tap water comes out scalding hot, most people simply adjust the spigot. But young children, the elderly and people with disabilities can't always manage this. Tap water causes up to 17 percent of all severe childhood scald burns.

A while ago I reported on a safety valve that prevents scalding by automatically shutting off the water before it gets too hot. The state of Washington has found that another approach works, too. In 1983, the state passed legislation capping the maximum setting for new water heaters at 120 degrees, which is up to 20 degrees lower than settings allowed elsewhere. This tactic appears to be working: In a recent study, doctors at the University of Washington School of Medicine and various Seattle hospitals have shown that Washington residents have had fewer and milder burns as a result.

You don't need legislation to make your own taps safer. Simply turn down the setting on your water heater. It could save a life; at the very least, it will save you a little in energy costs.

IN FOCUS — KATE McNEIL: Currently costarring with Lee Horsley in Lorimar's summer series for CBS, "Bodies of Evidence," Kate has had a very busy television career since she originated the role of Karen Dixon on the CBS soap, "As the World Turns" in 1981. She went on to do TV films, mini-series, ("Kane and Abel," "North and South, Book II," among others) and has guested on numerous prime time shows. She had a recurring role as Richard Lewis' girlfriend in "Anything But Love," and was one of the stars of the too-short-lived series, "WIOU."

There was a recent gap in that long progression of on-screen constancy before she emerged as the strong-willed Detective Nora Houghton on "Bodies..." But the time away was well spent on another very important production, the birth of her second daughter. "Rebecca is five," Kate said, "and Emma, the baby, is four and a half months old. And they're just wonderful."
Kate is married to screenwriter, Bob Friedland. Asked how she's managed to combine a very busy career with the demands of motherhood, first, she laughed. Then she answered, "With difficulty. You know as much as I love to work, it's not easy leaving the children every day. Rebecca was used to having me home with her when I was pregnant. And she's not quite used to having me go out again during the day."

The recent riots in Los Angeles have left emotional as well as physical scars on the city, as well as the nation. However, because the series consults with the Los Angeles Police Department to assure the scripts are accurate in depicting police procedure, I asked Kate if she had learned anything about the situation that most of us would not have been privy to.

"One of the detectives who works as a consultant," she said, "told me that in one area alone, there are 50 shootings a month. There are so many problems that have to be dealt with, most of which go back long before the riots began. Also, because I could spend some time with members of the LAPD, I was able to learn a lot more about the pressures they work under. It was very enlightening." She added: "I wish we could all communicate better with each other and learn about each other's problems and begin to come together."

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor

ARCHER PARK LL NOW HAS SCOREBOARD AND ALWAYS DID, TILL THIS YEAR

I got a phone call from Ralph Little, Archer Park director, who informed me that he had just installed a scoreboard at the Little League diamond for the upcoming Area 2 Little League tournament scheduled to begin Monday, July 6.

Also, Little related that there has always been a scoreboard at the Little League complex but was never used by the league.

"We removed it this year because it was rusty and you couldn't put the letters in it," said Little. "They never would use it during the season. I'll bet after the Little League tournament they won't use it next year." We'll see.

Little and his crew have done a great job of keeping the park area in top shape. I was at the park to do some softball pictures and just couldn't help but notice how nice the place looked.

I ran into Neil Turner Wednesday night while shopping and he is all excited about the tournament.

"We're working hard to get things ready for the tournament," said Turner, "and it takes a lot of work." Turner also related that the Prestonsburg Minor League will be sending a 9 and 10-year-old team to the Paintsville Invitational later this month.

If anyone from here in the county hasn't attended one of these all-star tournaments now is your chance while it is close to home. You will see young men who can play the game of baseball. It is very entertaining and always a lot of excitement. Don't worry about eating, a concession (Pepsi wagon) will be in place for those ballpark hot dogs and whatever. Maybe Dickie Jarvis (tournament manager) will have someone grilling hamburgers on the open grill.

Five teams from Floyd County will be part of the tournament — two from the Beaver Creek league, one from Wheelwright, one from Harold-Allen-Prater and one from Prestonsburg. Believe me, we have some outstanding ball players here in the county.

On July 10, Friday edition, we plan to have a special section on all the all-star teams (Little League, Senior and Babe Ruth leagues). The main attraction will be individual photos, something each player (and parent) will want to keep.

We don't want to overlook the Senior League All-Stars who will play over in Martin County this coming week also. Coach Bobby Spencer will head up the 13 year old all-stars and Cecil Lester will take charge of the 14 and 15 all-star team. Spencer's squad will play Paintsville Monday at 5 p.m. and Lester's team will play on Tuesday night at 7 p.m. when they face Fleming-Neon.

You talk about talent, both of these teams will be loaded. We certainly wish them and all the all-star teams the best.

LONG FLIGHT TO PITTSBURGH...

Certainly it must have been a long flight for the Cincinnati Reds as they wing their way to the steel city, Pittsburgh, to open a four series against the east leading Pirates.

The Reds are coming off a three game losing streak to the fifth place Houston Astros. The Reds lost a game and a half lead to second place Atlanta who now

District 7, Area 2 LL All-Star Tourney begins Monday

Monday, beginning at 5 p.m. the Prestonsburg All-Stars will take on the All-Stars of Wheelwright as they square off in the opening game of the District 7, Area 2 Little League All-Star classic.

Five local all-star teams will vie for the championship that is scheduled to conclude on Thursday, July 16. Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) are the defending champions.

Beaver Creek's two entrants in the tournament has the misfortune of being paired against each in the late game Monday night scheduled to start at 7 p.m.

HAP will take the diamond in defense of their title when they face Martin County on Tuesday night at 5 p.m. Several players from last year's squad will be returning for HAP and they carry a favorite's title into the tournament.

Paintsville will face Magoffin County in Tuesday's second game scheduled to start at 7 p.m. Morgan County waits in the wings to take on the winner of the Prestonsburg/Wheelwright game in a 7 p.m. game on Wednesday evening.

The first game Wednesday will pit the losers of the Beaver Creek North and South game against the loser of Prestonsburg and Wheelwright. The game time is 5 p.m.

Tournament play will continue through the week with no games scheduled for Sunday, July 12. After a day's break, the tournament will resume on Monday, July 13.

This is the first time the tournament has been back in Floyd County since the early '80s. According to Prestonsburg Little League, who will act as the host league, this won't be the last.

"We want to do a class job on this tournament," he said, "and we want to get into a rotation with the other leagues in hosting the tournament. It is going to involve a lot of people.

"We will have Wilburn Samons and Kenny Conley acting as official scorers. Pepsi will be furnishing us a concession stand and I hope to be able to get some of the parents to help run it each night."

"We've installed a scoreboard on the first base side of field and angled it so it can be seen by all the fans," explained Ralph Little, Archer Park director. "We're going to have a P.A. system hooked up."

Plenty of parking will be available for the tournament at Archer Park. Word is not out yet on whether any radio stations will be airing the games. WSIP out of Paintsville carried last year's tournament from Paintsville but it is unknown if they will this year. Sports director Jason Blanton was on vacation and could not be reached.

Martin Cards mercy Drift Astros 13-3 behind Yates

When the Drift Astros and the Martin Cards were scheduled to meet Tuesday evening in the Beaver Creek Little League tournament, a lot of runs were expected to be scored as the two best hitting teams in the league and winners of their respective divisions were to battle it out on the diamond.

But what many of the fans who have been following the two teams did not expect was for one team to mercy the other. And that is exactly what the Martin Cardinals did as they posted a 13-3 five inning win over Clinis Hall's fine ballclub.

"We would be a good ballclub if we could stop the ball and not make so many errors," said Hall about the game. His team committed six errors in the game with several coming in the outfield.

Kaleb Yates picked up the win for the Cardinals while Todd Walters, who pitched well, suffered the loss. Yates allowed three runs while scattering five Astro hits. He struck out 10 batters and walked two.

Walters went the distance for the Astros and gave up 13 runs, only six were earned, on nine hits. He fanned five batters and walked three.

The Cardinals' big inning came in the third when they scored five times to take an 8-1 lead. Toby Yates was safe at first on a second baseman's error and Kaleb Yates singled behind him. John Wayne Marshall's ground ball to second was misplayed for an error with Toby Yates scoring the unearned run.

Brad Dasner was awarded first base by umpire Robbie Sexton on a catcher's interference call loading the bases. Walters got Ethan Blackburn on strikes before John Patton roped a base hit to centerfield. The ball rolled over the glove of the centerfielder and the bases cleared as Yates, Marshall and Dasner scored. Only Yates' run was earned. Patton, who went all the way to third, scored when Todd Samons grounded to shortstop. Patton's run also was unearned.

Martin took a 2-0 lead with two runs in the first inning on a lead-off bunt single by Nick Samons. Walters fanned Toby Yates before Kaleb Yates tripled scoring Samons. Yates then stole home. Blackburn had a two-out base hit in the inning.

Drift added a run in the second inning to make it a 2-1 ballgame. The run came on Clabe Hall's second home run in the tournament and his second in the last two games. Hall is a perfect nine-for-nine in the tournament, thus far, after collecting two hits against the Cardinals.

Drift put the first two runners on base against Yates in the third inning only to see their offense stall out. Joe Tackett, who has been playing a good tournament, singled to lead off the third and John Mullins walked. Jimmy Stumbo popped to second base and after the catch, Tackett tagged up at second and moved to third. But Yates got lead-off batter Billy Hall and Byron Hall on strikes to end the inning. Martin then had the big five run third.

The Astros had a rally going in the fourth on a lead-off single by John Hall and a two-base hit by Clabe Hall. Walters struck out, but two runs scored on Clayton Williams' two-run double.

John Cole walked and Tackett was safe at first on an error when the first baseman dropped the ball. Yates fanned Mullins and Josh Hall, pinch hitting for Stumbo, lined out hard to short stop.

Samon led off the Cardinals' fourth inning with his second hit of the game, a line shot to left field. The ball went through the legs of the leftfielder with Samons advancing on to second. Toby Yates delivered a run scoring single with Samons scoring. Yates scored on Marshall's one-out base hit. Marshall was tagged out as he attempted to score while the ball he hit was kicked around in the outfield. A throw from leftfield to Walters to the catcher nailed Marshall.

Three runs scored in the bottom of the fifth as the mercy rule took affect the moment Todd Samons crossed home plate. An error on Clabe Hall at short off the bat of Blackburn opened the gate for three runs. Patton then grounded over the glove of the first baseman for an error as the ball rolled down the right field line and Blackburn scored all the way from first base. Todd Samons walked to load the bases before Jason Osborne delivered a two-run single scoring Blackburn and Patton. Samons also scored on the hit but an error made his run unearned.

"Here's the pitch!"

Todd Walters, Drift Astros, gave a high kick as he prepares to deliver a pitch to the plate in Little League baseball action at the Minnie Park. The Astros faced the league leading Martin Cardinals in the winner's bracket of the Beaver Creek tournament. Walters and the Astros fell to the Cards 13-3. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Derossett to conduct FB camp

Betsy Layne's new head football coach John Derossett is wasting no time to rebuild a feeder system for the Bobcats' football program. Derossett announced that he will conduct a grade school football camp July 31 and August 1 at the Betsy Layne football field.

Cost per camper is $10 and the camp will cover the fundamentals of the game. Each camper will receive a camp T-shirt.

The camp will begin at 8 a.m. with offensive drills until 9 a.m. From 9 a.m. until 10 a.m. defensive drills will be taught. Lunch and snacks for the campers will be between 10 a.m. and 11 a.m.

For more information on the grade school camp contact Coach Derossett at 886-6639.

Blugrass Games deadline nears

If you are planning on taking part in this year's Bluegrass State Games, then you have until July 10 to register for the sport you are planning to enter.

Registrations for the 1992 Bluegrass State Games are flowing in with about 10,000 persons already signed up for the various sports.

The annual Games, featuring 22 sports, will be held July 24-26 in Lexington. The largest team registration to date is softball with 294 teams, or 5,880 players, which translates into approximately 575 softball games being played in a three-day period using 30 fields.

Here in Floyd County five softball teams have entered the Games.

WLG Yankees collect 16 hits in 19-0 whitewash of Maytown Mets

It didn't take long for the Wayland-Lackey-Garrett (WLG) Yankees to make some noise with their bats as they faced the Maytown Mets and came home with a 19-0 mercy win for another step towards a league championship in the Floyd County Babe Ruth League.

Josh Handsford and Kevin Allen, who have been consistent this season, carried the heavy bats for the Yankees each collecting three hits in the game. Handsford had two doubles and a triple in the game. Allen doubled in the second with Handsford collecting his two-baggers in the second and fourth innings.

The baseball was streaming off the Yankees bats as early as the first inning when they pushed home seven runs for a 7-0 lead.

Allen opened the inning with a base hit and then stole second. Todd Bingham, who had two hits, picked up an RBI when he singled sharply between short and third scoring Allen.

Handsford drew a one-out walk with Donovan Hall singling behind him. Handsford broke for third and in the attempt to catch him the ball sailed over the third baseman's head and Handsford came in to score with Hall moving to third on the play.

Donnie Combs, whose bat has come to life of late, singled home Hall. Tim Bellamy caught the Mets defense napping and laid down a bunt single. Ethan O'Quinn, another Yankee with a hot bat, singled home Combs as Bellemy took third on the hit. O'Quinn stole second and Mike Baldridge walked to load the bases against Mets' starter James Ratliff. Bellemy was caught in no man's land and picked off third base but the Yankees used a run down play on Baldridge to score O'Quinn. The ball was thrown toward home in an attempt to get O'Quinn and Baldridge moved to second when he scored the seventh run of the inning on a base hit by Allen, his second of the inning. Bingham grounded to short to end the inning.

The Mets stirred around in the bottom of the first as they loaded the bases on back-to-back walks to Duff and Shepherd. Both runners moved up on a passed ball and Brandon Hicks, who was on the mound for the Yankees, walked Charles Twiss to load the bases. Cecil Maggard grounded to third with the play coming home from Handsford to force Duff at the plate. Ratliff struck out and Cory Heintzelman grounded to second to end the inning.

WLG scored five times in the second with Handsford and Hall collecting back-to-back doubles. Hall ended up not only stealing third but home as well. Kevin Allen collected his third hit of the game when he doubled home two runs. Bellemy and Bingham each had RBI singles in the inning. (See Yankees, B 10)

Beaver Creek LL tourney put on hold

Beaver Creek Little League president Jimmy Goins announced that the league's tournament that has been going on the past week has been called off until after the Little League All-Star tournament which gets underway this coming Monday at Archer Park in Prestonsburg.

The tournament was scheduled to be concluded this past Thursday (yesterday) leaving three days for the all-star team to practice. However, with the rains Tuesday night and all day Wednesday the tournament was going to be moved back a day — maybe two.

The tournament normally is finished around the final week in June leaving plenty of time for the all-stars to practice. But this season the league voted to play a 20 game schedule thus extending the regular season, something Goins said will not happen next year.

"We're not going to play 20 games next year," he stated Tuesday night. "We'll go back to how we used to do it."

The Beaver Creek Little League fields two all-star teams — north and south. Each team has 14 players. Joe Owens and Donnie Combs will head up the North squad with Clinis Hall coaching the South team. The teams that won their respective divisions were permitted to place four players on the all-star team with three going to the second place team and two for the other teams.

Named to the Beaver Creek South team were: Jason Ousley and Eric Combs of the Wayland Dodgers; John Stumbo, Daniel Lafferty, Chad Tuttle and Nick Rackey of the Drift Yankees; Landon Frazier, Brandon Elswick of the McDowell Sox; Clabe Hall, Jonathan Hall, Joshua Hall, Todd Walters of the Drift Astros;

Paintsville falls to Laurel Co., 7-5, in own invitational

The Paintsville Big League team placed second in their own invitational baseball tournament over the past weekend when they fell 7-5 to Laurel County in the championship game.

Hatler Riddle pitched a complete game for Paintsville absorbing the loss. Riddle allowed all seven runs in giving up seven hits. He struck out eight batters while walking two.

Barry Hall (Betsy Layne) had a big day at the plate for Paintsville with a two-for-four performance including two home runs. Stewart Hall (Allen Central) collected two hits in three plate appearances as did John Clark (Prestonsburg).

Each team ended up with 3-1 records in the tournament.

Paintsville posted a 7-1 win over Laurel County in their first tournament game. Billy Elam went the distance for Paintsville in securing the win. Elam allowed just one run while scattering seven hits. Elam was in control giving up only one base on balls and striking out nine batters.

John Clark, Chuck Laferty (Betsy Layne), Joe Collins and Stewart Hall collected hits for Paintsville.

Laurel County faced Pound, Va. in their second game and came away with a 6-2 win. Paintsville faced a good Pikeville team with Scott Caudill taking the mound for Paintsville. Caudill went all the way on the hill for his team in their 5-2 win over Pikeville. Caudill allowed two runs on just one hit while he walked two hitters. Caudill struck out Pikeville batters.

Robert Conley, Todd Akers (Betsy Layne), Brent Adams, Barry Collins (Betsy Layne), Sean Williams and Brad Scott (Allen Central) collected hits for Paintsville.

Paintsville "pounded" Pound, Va. 9-3 in their third game of the tournament with Brad Scott hammering a home run. Jesse McCarty went the first five innings for Paintsville before giving way to Brent Hamilton. Hamilton worked the final two innings. McCarty was the winning pitcher giving up two runs on three hits. McCarty walked three while fanning eight.

Hamilton had one strike out and no walks in his two inning stint. He allowed just one run on one hit.

Sean Williams collected two hits in the game with Todd Akers, Brent Adams and Robert Conley getting one hit each.

Pound, Va. lost all three games they played to go 0-3 in the playoffs. Pikeville was 1-2. Paintsville and Laurel County both finished with 3-1 records. Overall, Paintsville is 8-7-1 on the season.

The Big League District tournament will get underway this coming Wednesday, July 8, at the Paintsville Park and Playground. Paintsville will go against Pikeville in round one.

John Clark currently leads the Paintsville team in hitting with a .565 batting average. Barry Hall is hitting at a .522 clip. Stewart Hall is third with a .389 average and Sean Williams is fifth batting .385. Shawn Newsome (Betsy Layne) is hitting .333.

Yankees over Cubs 8-5

The Drift Yankees ended the Garrett Cubs hopes of a tournament championship with an 8-5, come-from-behind win over the North Division team.

The Yankees pushed across three runs in the top of the seventh inning to post the win. Chad Tuttle tripled to lead off the extra inning for the Yankees and Patrick Martin hit a fly ball to the outfield that scored Tuttle to give Drift a 6-5 lead. Zack Layne then singled before Jamie Mullins struck out. Another base hit and a walk to Ryan Shannon loaded the bases for the Yankees. Daniel Laferty then singled home two runs with two out for an 8-5 lead for the Yankees.

The Cubs put a runner on base in the bottom of the seventh. Matt Moore doubled to start the Cubs half of the inning with one out. After Moore reached, Jonathan Goble and Barry Conley grounded out to end the game and the season for the Cubs.

Drift led 2-0 after their half of the first. Johnny Stumbo singled with two out and Nick Rackey followed suit. Kyle Tackett then delivered a two-run single, scoring Stumbo and Tackett.

The Cubs got one run back in the bottom of the inning. Johnny Case collected a base hit, stole second and third and scored on Jackie Owens RBI single.

It was 5-1 Yankees in the top of the third inning when Drift scored three times. A one-out walk to Shannon and Laferty single put two runners on for the Yankees. Stumbo picked up two RBIs with his double. Stumbo scored on Tackett's two-out single.

Garrett pulled to within one run with three in their half of the third. Conley doubled, Leslie Slone walked and Mike Combs walked to load the bases with one out for the Cubs. Johnny Case singled scoring Conley but Slone was out at the plate. Combs caught the Yankees defense napping and stole home to make it a 5-3 game. Case came in to score on Owens fielder's choice bounce that forced Mike Pack, who was hit by a pitch, at second base.

Garrett tied the game at 5-5 in the bottom of the sixth to send the game into extra innings. If fact, some poor base running could have cost the Cubs the game.

Combs walked to start the sixth for Garrett. After Case fled out, Pack doubled with Combs scoring the tying run. Pack missed a stop sign at third base as the ball was loose. When Pack reached home, he found the catcher with the ball waiting for his arrival. Pack was tagged for the second out. Owens then lifted a fly ball to the outfield that could have scored Pack with the winning run.

Shannon was the winning pitcher with Pack suffering the loss. Shannon struck out eight batters and walked four. Pack fanned 12 and issued two base on balls.

Laferty collected three hits for the Yankees with Stumbo and Tackett getting two hits. Johnny Case had two singles for the Cubs.

A Look At Sports

trails by just 2 1/2 games. But worse yet is San Diego is back in the race just trailing by a mere 3 1/2 games.

Four in Pittsburgh and then on to Chicago for three could make this a drastic road trip for the front running Reds. Drastic in that they have been incapable of beating the Pirates regardless how Pittsburgh is playing (and right now they are playing good baseball). Although they have had little trouble with the Cubs earlier in the season, Chicago is playing good baseball right now.

So, the Reds have started the 10 game road trip at 0-3 and seven tough games facing them. After that, it will be the all-star break and we can all remember what happened after the all-star game last season — 10 consecutive losses. Let's hope there is not a repeat.

I hope everyone will have a fun filled but safe Fourth of July this weekend and good sports everyone and be good sports.

Picks up the win!

Patton Sharp as Cards best Martin Reds, 3-1

There has been plenty of action this week in the Beaver Creek Little League tournament that has been played at Martin and Minnie parks.

One of the best games to date involved two Martin teams—Cardinals and Reds—as they hooked up in a good old-fashioned hardball game. It was John Patton outdueling B.J. Caudill as both teams went to the mound for their respective clubs. Patton found nothing but the strike zone totaling 15 K's in the game. He allowed the Reds only four hits and he issued no walks.

Patton retired the first six batters he faced striking out five in a row. He was rudely treated by Misty Scott who led off the Reds' third inning with a home run—the Reds only run. Patton got the next two batters on strikes before Jeremy Hall singled. Patton fanned Chris Damron to end the inning. Bret Slone got to Patton for a base hit in the fourth inning but he was nailed in trying to steal. Patton fanned the other outs.

Two strike outs opening the Reds fifth and Scott got her second hit—a single—but was left stranded. Patton fanned the side in the sixth inning to end the game.

Caudill pitched well enough to win but was just unevenly matched against the hard throwing Patton. Caudill had no trouble with the Cardinals in the first inning getting the side in order.

John Wayne Marshall led off the Cards second with a double and scored on Brad Dasner's RBI single. Caudill struck out Ethan Blackburn and Todd Samons in the inning.

Jason Osborne was hit by a pitch to open the Cardinals thiru but Caudill got the next three in easy fashion, fanning Hayes and Nick Samons.

The Cardinals took a 2-1 lead on a lead-off single by Kaleb Yates who scored on Dasner's grounder to third. After walking Blackburn, Caudill got Patton to ground to second.

The Cardinals took their 3-1 lead in the fifth inning on a one-out base hit by Osborne. Samons walked and Toby Yates doubled home Osborne. Kaleb Yates walked to load the bases but Caudill struck out Marshall to end the inning.

Caudill went the distance for the Reds allowing the three runs on six hits. Caudill struck out nine batters and walked only three. He hit one batter.

Neither team committed any errors in the game. The Reds stranded two base runners while the Cards left five runners on base.

"The home run that Misty hit was hit hard," said Cardinal coach Jeff Samons. "The base hit that she got was hit hard, also."

Yankees

Maytown just missed scoring and avoiding the shutout in the third inning. With Hicks on to pitch for Brad Allen, who started the game for WLK, he fanned Duff but Shepherd doubled to left center. Shepherd, however, was called out at third base trying to stretch the hit into a triple. After Shepherd was called out, Twiss singled and Maggard got a base hit behind him. Ratliff struck out to end the inning.

Handsford led off the Yankees third with a triple and then scored on Hall's ground out. Combs singled and Bellamy got a bunt single, his second of the game.

The Yankees scored four more runs in the fourth with two coming in on Handsford's double. Then they scored the final two runs in the fifth inning.

WLK collected 16 hits in the game while the Mets could only manage three.

Hicks, in relief, picked up the win. He had three strike outs and issued two walks. Brad Allen started and went the first two innings. Allen had to come off the mound having already pitched five previous innings. Allen walked four batters and struck out four.

Ratliff was the losing pitcher with R.C. Duff coming on in relief in the fourth inning. Ratliff fanned one batter and walked four. Duff did not strike out anyone and he also had four base on balls.

Cancer: Basic Facts

What is cancer?

Cancer is a group of diseases characterized by uncontrolled growth and spread of abnormal cells. If the spread is not controlled, it can result in death. Many cancers can be cured if detected and treated promptly. Many others can be prevented by lifestyle changes, especially avoidance of tobacco.

What causes cancer?

Cancer is caused by both external (environment) and internal (host) factors. Environmental causes include chemicals, radiation, and viruses. Host causes include hormones, immune conditions, and inherited mutations. Casual factors may act together or in sequence to initiate or promote carcinogenesis. Ten or more years often pass between exposures or mutations and detectable cancer.

How is cancer prevented?

Avoiding potential oncogenic exposures (tobacco use, sun exposure, excess dietary fat) prevents the initiation or promotion of cancer (primary prevention). Early detection and treatment improve survival rates and reduce mortality (secondary prevention).

Who gets cancer?

Cancer can occur at any age. Since incidence rises with age, most cases affect adults in mid-life or beyond. Among children ages 1-14, cancer causes more deaths in the US than any other disease. In the 1980s there were estimated to be over 4.5 million cancer deaths, almost 9 million new cancer cases and some 12 million people under medical care for cancer.

How many people alive today will get cancer?

About 83 million Americans now living will eventually have cancer; about one in three, according to present rates.

How many new cases will there be this year?

In 1992 about 1,130,000 people will be diagnosed as having cancer. This estimate does not include carcinoma in situ and basal and squamous cell skin cancers. The incidence of these skin cancers is estimated to be over 600,000 cases annually.

How many people will die?

This year about 520,000 will die of cancer—about 1,400 people a day. Of every five deaths in the US, one is from cancer. In 1991 an estimated 514,000 Americans died of cancer.

What is the national cancer death rate?

There has been a steady rise in the cancer mortality rate in the US in the last half-century. The age-adjusted rate in 1930 was 143 per 100,000 population. It rose to 152 by 1940, to 158 in 1950, and has been about 170 since 1984. The major cause of this increase has been lung cancer. Death rates for many major cancer sites have leveled off or declined over the past 50 years.

How many people are surviving cancer?

In the early 1900s few cancer patients had any hope of long-term survival. In the 1930s less than one in five was alive at least five years after treatment. In the 1940s it was one in four, and in the 1960s it was one in three.

Today, about 452,000 Americans, or 4 of 10 patients who get cancer this year, will be alive 5 years after diagnosis. The gain from 1 in 3 to 4 in 10 represents about 79,000 persons this year. This 4 in 10, or about 40% is called the "observed" survival rate. When normal life expectancy is taken into consideration (factors such as dying of heart disease, accidents, and diseases of old age) a "relative" five-year survival rate is commonly used to measure progress in the early detection and treatment of cancer and estimates the proportion of cancer patients potentially curable.

Could more people be saved?

Regular screening and self-exams can detect cancers of the breast, tongue, mouth, colon, rectum, cervix, prostate, testis, and melanoma at an early stage when treatment is more likely to be successful. These sites include nearly half of all new cases. Of these cases, about two-thirds of all patients currently survive five years. With early detection about 89% would survive. This means that of those persons diagnosed with these cancers in 1992, about 100,000 more would survive if their cancers had been detected in a localized stage and treated promptly. In addition, about 90% of the 600,000 skin cancers to be diagnosed in 1992 could have been prevented by protection from the sun's rays. All cancers caused by cigarette smoking and heavy use of alcohol could be prevented completely. The ACS estimates that in 1992, about 158,000 lives will be lost to cancer because of tobacco smoking. About 16,500 cancer deaths will be related to excessive alcohol use, frequently in combination with cigarette smoking.

Central Finance takes doubleheader from Duke Boys; remains undefeated

The Central Finance softball team kept their undefeated record intact with a doubleheader sweep of the Duke Boys in the Minnie Softball League last Sunday. The local softball team also traveled to Taylorville, North Carolina and won the Allen League Invitational last week.

In the first game of the twin bill, Central defeated the Duke Boys 17-5 with Gene Tackett getting the win. Bill Hammonds drove in two runs in the first inning when Central took a 2-0 lead.

Six runs crossed the plate in the third inning for Central Finance after they had plated three in the second for a 5-0 game. The six run third gave them a 11-0 margin.

The Duke Boys got on the scoreboard in the bottom of the fourth when they pushed across three runs. Central scored three in the fourth and three in the sixth before the Duke Boys completed their scoring with two in the bottom of the fifth.

Every player on the Central Finance team picked up an RBI except two players.

In the night cap, Central posted a 16-6 mercy win over the Duke Boys to run their record to 8-0 on the season. The loss dropped the Duke Boys to 4-6 on the season.

Larry Johnson had an inside-the-park home run in the third inning picking up three RBIs. Johnson finished with five runs batted in for the game. Central Finance led 3-2 after the first inning and then scored five times in the third to lead 8-3. Two runs in each of the third and fourth plus four in the sixth gave the win to Central.

In the North Carolina tournament, Central defeated The Judge in game one 15-11 with Tackett getting the win. Hammond had a sixth inning triple with Tackett and Allen doubling in the third. Central scored eight runs in the top of the sixth inning to overcome a 11-7 deficit.

A very good Russell Raiders team faced the Central Finance team in game two. Central came away with a 8-1 win behind the pitching of Tackett. Hammonds had a three-base hit in the fifth inning for Central.

Central fell to Chestnut Grove in the third game of the tournament 6-4. It was revenge time as the two teams meet again in game four for the championship. Central posted a reversed 6-4 score for the win. Tackett had two doubles in the game with Barry Johnson and Hammonds doubling in the third. James Tackett had a fifth inning double.

"We just want to thank everyone who went with us and supported us during the trip to North Carolina," said Bear Johnson. "We traveled over 270 miles in one day making the round trip. We got back home around 10 a.m. Sunday morning in time to play in the league at Minnie."

Members of the championship team include: Chris Caldwell, Gene Tackett, Lonnie Johnson, Bill Hammonds, Larry Johnson, Wayne Allen, Mark Helton, Bear Johnson, D.C. Carr, Joey Robinson, James Tackett, Eugene Tackett and Bill Newsome.
