Trash rates hiked; police to charge fees :

City reacts to money pinch

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The Prestonsburg City Council announced in a special meeting Tuesday evening that the city would raise commercial trash-removal rates; would begin charging citizens for some police services and would consider creating a police impound lot in order to curtail revenue shortfalls for the 1992-93 fiscal year.

Accused man wants release

by Mike Rosenberg
Contributing Writer

The stationery reads "Wayne County Jail."

In a handwritten petition to Floyd Circuit Court, Roger Adkins filed a request that he be released from the Wayne County, Ohio facility.

Adkins was arrested in Wooster, Ohio and charged with sexual abuse. The charge stems from an incident in Kentucky. Adkins has been indicted by the Floyd County Grand Jury.

Adkins claims he was "unlawfully detained of my liberty in that a 60-day delay after arrest and no preliminary hearing before indictment is an unreasonable delay and it is unreasonable to (omit) the preliminary hearing after arrest."

Adkins asked that a writ of habeas corpus be directed to Loran D. Alexander, the sheriff of Wayne County, and that all charges be dropped.

A civil suit represents only the claims of the party filing the action.

Mayor Ann Latta said Tuesday that the rate the city currently pays the Floyd County Landfill for storing municipal waste, $15 per ton, may triple when the landfill's temporary storage site closes in order to comply with new Environmental Protection Agency regulations.

Once the Floyd County Landfill closes, the city will be forced to dispose of waste in landfills in either Morehead or West Virginia.

If raising commercial trash pick-up rates does not help the city meet the higher costs, council members said, they would consider raising residential rates.

Councilman Mike Vance, chairman of the council's Finance and Revenue Committee, said that he had also discussed with Prestonsburg City Police Chief Greg Hall the possibility of charging for certain services which the police department has in the past performed free of charge.

Hall said that police departments in other cities charge for such services as providing copies of accident reports; the execution of warrants, subpoenas and eviction notices; and providing photographs of auto accidents to insurance companies.

The council voted unanimously to begin charging for those services.

Hall also said that Kentucky state law gives city police departments the same rights it gives to county law enforcement agencies in impounding vehicles.

The city police department has impounded 92 vehicles since January 1 of this year, Hall said, and keeps vehicles an average three to five days.

Wrong-way car causes mishap; two are injured

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A low blood sugar level apparently contributed to a three-car accident in Floyd County Thursday morning that injured two men and blocked traffic on Route 23 for nearly an hour.

Deputy Sergeant Lloyd Powers of the Floyd County Sheriff's department said Thursday that Francis Phillip Lindberg, of Cary, North Carolina, suffered from a low blood sugar level which caused him to become disoriented.

Lindberg's vehicle crossed the median from the south-bound to the north-bound lane of Route 23 near Dwale, colliding with a car driven by Thomas Bertrand, of Pikeville.

Powers said Bertrand tried to swerve to avoid Lindberg, but was blocked by a car driven by Carol Thacker, of Napier, and all three cars struck a guard rail.

The Floyd County Rescue Squad was called to extricate the drivers of the three vehicles, assisted by the Allen Volunteer Fire Department.

Lindberg and Bertrand were taken to the Highlands Regional Medical Center, where Lindberg was treated and released. Bertrand was transported to the University of Kentucky Medical Center, where he is currently listed in stable condition.

Thacker was uninjured.

The Floyd County Sheriff's department and the Pikeville post of the Kentucky State Police are currently investigating the accident.

Miner is killed in slate fall

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man was killed Thursday morning in the second fatal mine accident in Kentucky this year.

Edgar Ray Newman, 41, of McDowell was struck in the chest by a 40 inch long, 30 inch wide section of falling slate as he rode in a scoop through an underground section of the Surefire Mining Company's Number One mine at the head of Tackett Fork at Left Beaver.

Richard Watts, director of the Martin district of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, said Thursday that the accident was not officially declared a roof fall because only a small section of slate between roof bolts dislodged from the mine ceiling, striking Newman.

The accident occurred at approximately 6:40 a.m. Newman was transported to the McDowell Regional Medical Center, where he was pronounced dead by Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson at 8:30 a.m.

No other injuries were reported.

Watts said the incident is currently under investigation by the Department of Mines and Minerals and the Mine Safety and Health Administration.

Three hurt in drive-by shooting at nightclub

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Three Magoffin County men were victims of a drive-by shooting this week at a nightclub near the Floyd County line.

At approximately 3 a.m. Tuesday, an unidentified motorist fired shots into the Two Keys Lounge, located at Ivyton, four miles east of Salyersville on Route 114.

Struck by the shots were Chris Sublett and Larry Minix, both of Salyersville, and Jimmy Howes, of Marshallville.

Sublett was shot once in the back, Minix was struck one time in the left shoulder and Howes received one bullet in the left hip.

The three men were initially rushed to the Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center in Paintsville. From there Minix, 27, and Sublett, 21, were transported to the University of Kentucky Medical Center in Lexington, where they were treated and discharged Wednesday morning. Howes, 24, was later taken to Cabell-Huntington Hospital in West Virginia, where he was treated and released.

There are currently no suspects in the incident, which is still under investigation by Detective Paul Estep of the Pikeville Post of the Kentucky State Police.

For retired coal miners :

Healthcare compromise eyed

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

United States Senators Wendell Ford, D-Kentucky, and Jay Rockefeller, D-West Virginia have devised a plan to save health benefits for over 15,000 retired Kentucky coal miners without levying additional taxes on coal production.

The compromise is part of a new energy bill which was vocally approved Wednesday by the U.S. Senate, although the full bill has not yet been considered. If the Senate passes the bill, it will then be sent to a joint House-Senate conference committee and then to President Bush.

Ford said Wednesday that the compromise will ensure retired miners will receive benefits without adding the 75 cent-per-man-hour tax that Rockefeller recommended be levied on coal companies.

Rockefeller had recommended the tax to pay for the $100 million deficit in federal health funds, which would have cut benefits for over 120,000 retired miners nationwide.

Several parties opposed the tax hike, fearing it would reduce the already dwindling coal market's competitiveness.

If the compromise is accepted, up to $70 million per year would be channeled from the Abandoned Mine Lands trust fund to guarantee health funds and retired miners' benefits, beginning in 1996.

The AML fund was formed by the Surface Mine Control and Reclamation Act of 1977. Its purpose is to reclaim abandoned strip mines. All coal operators currently pay 35 cents per ton of surface-mined coal and 15 cents per ton of coal produced from deep mines to finance the fund.

The compromise would also require the federal government to research documents from as far back as 1950 to locate parent companies of coal corporations that have closed, stranding retirees without promised benefits.

Not a deputy

The Floyd County Sheriff's department announced Tuesday that a Floyd County man has been making unauthorized stops of motorists in the Mud Creek area and pretending to be a sheriff's deputy.

Levi Hamilton, of Teaberry, is not a deputy and is not associated with the Floyd County Sheriff's department in any way, Omery C. Hall of the department said Tuesday.

Greene re-elected vice-chair :

Standards board meets

by Mike Rosenberg
Contributing Writer

The new Floyd County School Superintendent made his first public appearance Wednesday in welcoming a state panel on education to the area.

Steven Towler, recently hired as the school system's top official, gave a brief salutation to the Kentucky Professional Education Standards Board at the Jenny Wiley Lodge.

In his brief welcome, Towler said that he thought it was good for the board to get out to Kentucky and that the board was extremely important to the educational process.

"You are plowing new ground as you do your work on accreditation. What you're about is very, very good," Towler said.

Danny Greene, director of the David School and vice-chair of the board, presented Towler with a copy of the board's Code of Ethics.

"You might hang it in the main office," Greene said whimsically. Greene said that Towler was a "refreshing change" for the county's system and that the board and the local systems need to "build bridges since we're all working towards the same goal."

The Standards Board is a creation of the Kentucky Educational Reform Act (KERA). Greene says the board wants to "redesign teacher preparation in the state" by examining standards for teacher certification. The board also has the power to revoke teaching licenses in cases of discharge, felony or dereliction of duty. There are more than 83 such cases pending statewide.

Jan Weaver, chair of the board, said the board was "very pleased to be (in Floyd County)" and that we "want this group to be visible—that's why we're moving our meetings around the state."

Weaver serves as a Dean at Murray State University. Thomas Boyesen, Kentucky's Commissioner of Education, is also on the board and was present for the Floyd County session.

The board voted at the meeting to accredit four state colleges' teacher certification programs: Murray State, Lindsey Wilson, Cumberland College, and Union College. The latter three were accredited with stipulations that they must correct certain weaknesses in their programs.

The board also held elections. Greene was reelected as vice-chair.

Mining institute makes donation

Burl Scott, president of the Big Sandy Coal Mining Institute, and commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, with Joseph G. Jacobs, past president of the Big Sandy Elkhorn Mining Institute, recently presented Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, president of Prestonsburg Community College, with a check for $1000. Scott and Jacobs represent the latest example of the generosity of the coal mining industry in our area. Many other mining concerns have financially assisted the college in its endeavors such as the development of a Big Sandy Natural Science Center.

Hall said that the city currently pays other individuals to tow and store impounded vehicles.

Cost estimates show that cars kept in a municipal impound lot could generate city revenues of up to $54,000 for the first year, Hall said. He suggested the city use property it already owns at Cliff to construct the lot.

The city council voted unanimously to follow Hall's suggestion if a feasibility study proved the site suitable.

Among other topics discussed at Tuesday's meeting:

- the finance committee entered an agreement with all city department heads to reduce overtime and operating expenses, possibly into the next fiscal year;
- plans for the new permanent home of the Kentucky Opry forge ahead as the city and Floyd County receive funds from a number of sources;

• the finance committee has been reviewing potential city employee insurance packages and has discovered that Prestonsburg volunteer firefighters may be eligible for full coverage under the city's current policy if they change the group's name to the Prestonsburg Auxiliary Fire Department;

• the council considered different plans to make the municipal parking lot, which currently brings in $10,000 per year but spends $25,000 per year, financially stable—council members voted unanimously to allow the lot to be used as the site of a farmer's market every Saturday by a newly-revived Floyd County Fair Board;

• Main Street Manager Henry Mayo told the council that the Main Street Program had received all grant monies from the Kentucky Heritage Council as program plans forge ahead and added that he hoped to receive another grant from the Appalachian Resource Commission;

• Mayo said that he had been negotiating with businesses to locate in Prestonsburg's downtown area and may have secured a project in the old Korner Drug building;

• Mayo said that Prestonsburg's tourism industry has vastly improved and that participants in bus tours to the downtown area had been impressed with the city;

• cast members from the Jenny Wiley Theatre's production of The Wizard of Oz will have breakfast with children at Billy Ray's Playhouse and Rose's Drugstore in downtown Prestonsburg next Saturday at 10 a.m.;

• Mayo said that the city had received a donation of an antique continuous miner, shuttle car and two roof bolters that will be distributed at different points in the city as part of a new Living Museum—Mayo said that the museum and the possibility of the construction of a bed and breakfast inn in the downtown area will hopefully further stimulate tourism;

• the council wished Ann McGuire a heartfelt thank you for her work in landscaping Garfield Gardens and other city facilities;

• the council discussed the possibility of installing a sound system in the council room to record meetings and agreed to return to its regular two meetings per month schedule; and

• councilmen Danny Hamilton and Jerry Fannin requested that Mayor Latta and all city council members draft letters to the Floyd County Board of Education requesting that the new Prestonsburg High School and board headquarters remain within city limits.

All city council members were present for Tuesday's meeting.

The Prestonsburg City Council normally meets on the second and fourth Monday of each month. The public is welcome to attend.

V.A. clinic may receive $375,000

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

United States Representative Harold Rogers, R-Kentucky, 5th District, announced Thursday that the House of Representatives has approved a bill that will provide $375,000 for the expansion of the Veteran's Administration outpatient clinic at Prestonsburg.

The funds for the clinic are included in a bill that will appropriate nearly $86 billion in the 1993 fiscal year for the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and several other independent governmental agencies.

Rogers said that the money had been allocated to expand the Prestonsburg facility because the original plan had underestimated the needs of area veterans, therefore causing the clinic to be overcrowded and understaffed.

"The demand for services in the clinic's first year of operation was almost double what we expected... and far greater than the clinic can now handle," Rogers said in a press release Thursday. "We've got to expand."

Rogers added that the Veterans Administration will use the allocated funds to hire an additional doctor, nurse and pharmacist at the clinic, as well as for constructing an additional examination room and extra waiting room space.

The House of Representatives passed the appropriations bill by a 314-92 vote Wednesday evening. The bill will now be sent to the Senate for ratification.

Murder cited in auto accident

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A Pike County man has been charged with murder in connection with the death of a passenger thrown from his vehicle in an alleged drunken driving accident.

A 1990 Ford Fiesta driven by Rodney Allen Prater, 28, of Majestic, overturned when Prater lost control of the vehicle, which left and returned to Route 194 at approximately 8 a.m. Tuesday.

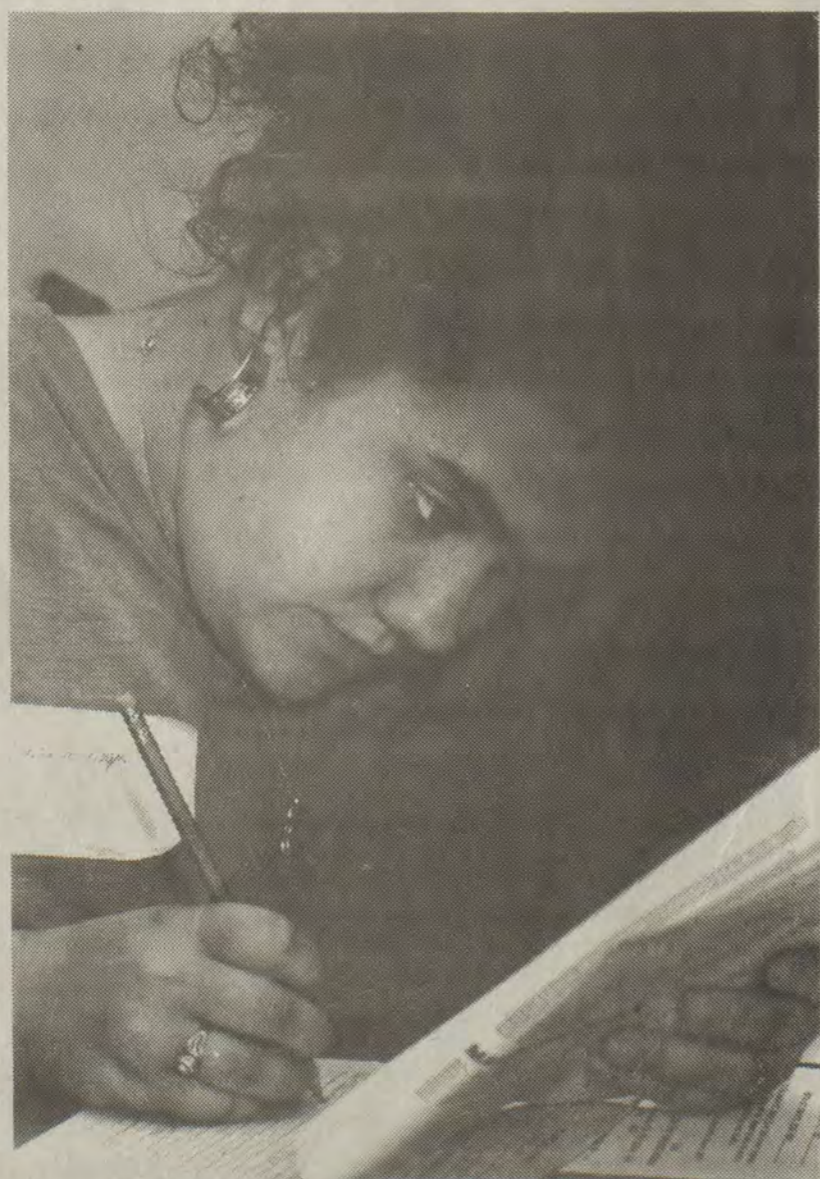

Woodrow Chapman Jr., 30, also of Majestic, was ejected from the vehicle and pronounced dead at the scene by Pike County Coroner Charles Morris.

Prater pleaded not guilty to the murder charge Wednesday in Pike District Court.

On Thursday, Kentucky State Police were still waiting for the results from the blood-alcohol test administered to Prater following the accident.

During Prater's arraignment, it was revealed that he had received three prior DUI convictions in the last five years. Pike District Judge Keith Hall denied a request to reduce Prater's $1 million bond. Prater's preliminary hearing is scheduled for August 7.

Prater is currently being detained in the Pike County Detention Center. The incident is still under investigation by Detective Donald Jack Phipps, Trooper Barry Blair and Trooper Ghomer Prater of the Pikeville Post of the Kentucky State Police.

Second Career

Betty Popp has been attending PCC through the college's Donovan Scholars Program. Under the program, senior citizens attend college tuition-free.

PCC Donovan scholar finds hidden talent

Betty Popp never dreamed that taking a few college classes would lead her to a successful cottage industry.

Popp, a 73-year-old resident of Prestonsburg, began taking courses at Prestonsburg Community College three years ago through the college's Donovan Scholars Program.

Popp says after she retired as a nurse anesthetist at Highlands Regional Medical Center, she became interested in taking classes at PCC because her son, William, was enrolled there.

A graduate of Ohio State University, Popp said, "All of my education has been in the area of health care and the sciences, and all my life I had an inferiority complex about that."

To broaden her education, she has taken classes in public speaking and interpersonal communication, and several art classes taught by Tom Whitaker, an acclaimed eastern Kentucky artist.

"He really pushed me in art," Popp said, interesting her in the art of making figurines from fabric mache. "It's opened up a whole new world for me."

That craft has turned into a thriving side business for Popp. "I tell people there are body parts all over my house," she says, laughing. She sells her figurines of angels, brides and young girls through local crafts shops.

The craft is time-consuming—it takes Popp about three or four days to make eight figurines—but she enjoys being able to go at her own pace and set her own schedule.

She appreciates PCC's students as well as its instructors. "The young folks at the college have been so kind and welcoming," Popp said. "I thought maybe they wouldn't have time in their lives for someone like me, but they did."

Her life experiences have made her better equipped to bring insight to the lessons in the classroom. For example, in a course on personal finances, Popp says she was able to relate her personal experiences. "I was able to give some perspective, like I wish I had done this or that," she said.

Although she has not enrolled in any classes this fall, she would like to take more courses eventually.

The University of Kentucky program pioneered free education for senior citizens. Under the Herman L.

Donovan Fellowship for Senior Citizens, persons 65 and older may enroll in regular academic classes tuition-free.

Classes may be taken at the graduate or undergraduate level on the Lexington campus or at any of the state's 14 community colleges. Donovan Scholars may audit classes or earn credit toward a degree or non-degree program.

She says she can't praise the Donovan Scholars Program enough. "This is just a small piece of what could save the world — if everyone knew the pleasure of learning new things."

For more information on the Donovan Scholars Program at PCC, contact Dr. Carolyn Turner at 606-886-3863.

Our Lady of the Way Hospital will offer a Basic CPR course at Seton Complex classroom, Martin, on Monday, August 19. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m., class will begin at 9:00 a.m.

This course is for anyone wishing to be certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation. Certification by OLW is thru the American Heart Association and the cost of the course is $15.00. Preregistration is required.

For more information please contact Carol Prater at 285-5181, Ext. 388. Class limited to 8 people.

CAP supports education and outreach

The Christian Appalachian Project (CAP) recently awarded grants to four Floyd County organizations.

The Visually Impaired Preschool Services was awarded $500 for general support. The Floyd County Citizens Association was awarded $300 for program support. The Middle Creek Community Development Club was awarded $1,750 for program support. The Dove House Inc. was awarded $1,500 for general support.

The Visually Impaired Preschool Services, based in Martin, offers a variety of services which address the individual needs of the visually impaired child. The primary service is intervention where a trained teacher provides specialized educational intervention through in-home visits.

The Floyd County Citizens Association is a non-profit organization that meets the material needs of students and their families in order to keep them in school.

The Middlecreek Community Development Club wants to establish a continuing food pantry to serve the needy in their service area.

The Dove House Inc. is a not-for-profit, non-denominational religious corporation, established in Floyd County, in 1978 to provide spiritual and material assistance for prisoners, parolees, and their families, whose needs are not being met through any other means.

Each year the Christian Appalachian Project dedicates a portion of its budget to help non-profit organizations in eastern Kentucky that are performing similar work.

Its Human Development Grants Program assists organizations that help low-income people better their lives through educational opportunities, health care, improved housing, emergency assistance, counseling services, and youth enrichment programs. The people being served range in age from pre-school children to the elderly.

For any organization interested in applying for a grant, please call Sheila Helton, program manager, at the CAP Lancaster office, 606-792-3051, extension 240.

Demonstration set for ways to store food

There will be a demonstration on food storage August 9, from 6:00-8:00 p.m. at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints on Rt. 80 at Martin.

The demonstration will include how to store food, what kinds of foods to store, where to find storage containers, and why food storage is important in these days.

This demonstration is free of charge and the public is invited to attend.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Elder Walter and Minnie Akers of Honaker, Kentucky, will celebrate their Golden Wedding Anniversary, August 8, 1992, 2-5 p.m., at the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens Center. There will be a reception and they will exchange their wedding vows at 3 p.m.

The gracious custom of open house will be observed.

To perform at the Kentucky State Fair

Larry Miller of Ligon is one of 15 Berea College Country Dancers who will perform at the Kentucky State Fair August 20-30. The troupe will give two to four performances daily in the new Bicentennial Center at the fairgrounds in Louisville.

The dancers, under the direction of Dr. John Ramsay, perform Anglo-American folk dances, singing games and storytelling songs. Their material is drawn largely from the Appalachian South, New England, and the colonial period. Several types of English ceremonial dances also are included in the troupe's repertoire to help acquaint modern audiences with the ancient idea of self-expression through dance.

During the summer months, the troupe also is performing twice daily in Berea. Performances are scheduled Tuesday-Saturday, at the Berea Tourism Welcome Center at 10 a.m. and at the Berea College Log House Craft Gallery at 11 a.m.

Miller, a junior at Berea, is a graduate of McDowell High School. He is the son of Gary and Marie Miller, of Ligon.

Local students participate in cooperative program

Six Floyd County residents were among approximately 900 Eastern Kentucky University students participating in ECU's Cooperative Education Program this spring and/or summer.

Floyd residents participating were Bill J. Dotson of Prestonsburg; Tara Suzanne Slone of Richmond; Diane Melissa Dye of Richmond; Michael D. Prater of Richmond; Tommy Ray Craft of Garrett and Amy Jo Payne of Bypro.

Letters

Editor:

The article about Tourism in Floyd County (July 24th edition) demonstrates a commitment on the part of many people to work together and make tourism a reality from which the entire community will benefit. We applaud everyone involved for their efforts to make our visitors feel welcome here.

There is some additional information your readers may be interested in knowing. Both tour bus groups were interested in our community because of Jenny Wiley Theatre. The Miami Valley Auto Club, Dayton, Ohio, contacted our new Marketing/Group Sales Coordinator, Melissa McShane, in early December 1991 to schedule a performance of The Jenny Wiley Story for their group. They have been coming annually to Jenny Wiley Theatre for five years. We referred the group to the Holiday Inn and Margaret Spano for accommodations. She did a wonderful job to coordinate the events of their stay here.

The All America Tours group from Roanoke, Virginia contacted us in early February to schedule two performances at Jenny Wiley Theatre for her senior group. This was the first time they have visited our area. We mailed packets of information about both the theatre and other area attractions, referring them once again for accommodations.
Jenny Wiley Theatre has always been very interested in promoting tourism in our area and until recently, has been the only tourist attraction. To assist in the promotion of new attractions in the region we included in our promotional mailings to several thousand AAA's, group travel leaders and travel agencies this past spring the following brochures: Kentucky Opry, the City of Prestonsburg, Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts, Paintsville Tourism, Discover Pike County, Jenny Wiley State Resort Park, the Holiday Inn and the Battle of Middle Creek.

We are convinced working together will benefit the entire community economically while enhancing the image of Eastern Kentucky as a tourist area. While we are delighted that the addition of more attractions in our area will no doubt attract more tourists than we have had in the past, Jenny Wiley Theatre has been here for twenty eight years; without our leadership, where would tourism development be?

Editorial:

For whom the bell tolls

by Scott Perry

Conservative political columnist George Will has spoken the unspeakable. But his words echo the thoughts of many.

George Bush should step aside.

While many political pundits focus their attentions on convincing Vice President Dan Quayle to take a hike for the good of the party, Will strikes the most pertinent nerve.

It is Bush, not Quayle, for whom the bell will toll in November.

Consider the fact that the sitting president is 25 points behind his opponent in current polls with just two and a half months to go before election day.

Bush says he needs just two and a half months of campaigning to succeed.

Two and a half months aren't going to make up for nearly four years of wasted opportunity and ineffective leadership. Americans aren't that naive.

There is time, however, for Bush to salvage the White House for his party.

A permanent vacation should be scheduled before August 20, when the GOP convention adjourns.

McConnell's Comments

by Sen. Mitch McConnell

IMPROVING HEALTH CARE IN KENTUCKY

One of the most pressing and challenging issues our country faces is health care reform. Although we spend over $2 billion a day on medical care, some 34 million Americans are without health insurance. The Department of Health and Human Services estimates that by the year 2000, health care spending in our country could rise to over 16 percent of our Gross National Product.

With 700,000 people who are uninsured or under-insured, Kentucky is not immune to the crisis. By some estimates, 40 counties have shortages in primary-care physicians and many areas lack adequate prenatal care services. It seems everyone I talk to — from Paintsville to Bowling Green — ranks health care among our top national priorities.

I recently participated in a Health Care Forum in eastern Kentucky. I met with educators, doctors, hospital administrators and concerned citizens to hear their thoughts on reform. Let me highlight some important points we discussed.

First, I think everyone agreed that health care reforms need to be implemented as quickly as possible. Many suggestions were offered, including: bring more doctors to rural and underserved areas; implement small business insurance reforms; centralize and standardize administrative procedures to cut down on paperwork; and institute medical malpractice reforms.

Second, we agreed that rural America cannot be left out of the health care debate. Simply put, the medical needs of Kentucky's farmers and their families are no less important than those of people living in inner cities. They should be given the same opportunities for accessible, quality care.

Finally, greater emphasis needs to be placed on health promotion, wellness and education. According to one study, a large part of our health care costs are from lifestyle-related illnesses. By encouraging and promoting healthy lifestyles, we can reduce the likelihood of serious illness and injury.

Because I understand the urgent need for reform, I introduced the Comprehensive American Health Care Act in February, 1991. My bill contains many of the proposals discussed in the forum, such as giving doctors incentives to serve in rural areas. It also goes further to provide tax credits and vouchers to low and moderate-income families for the purchase of health insurance — including long-term care.

As the Senate once again gears up for a legislative session, I will keep pushing for action on health care reform.

CABLE TV: IMPROVING PRICES AND SERVICE

In town meetings throughout the Fifth Congressional District, in letters, phone calls and personal visits, one of the things people tell me most often is that they pay too much for cable TV.

After hearing all their complaints about cable prices and service, I was finally able to help this past week. I voted for the Cable TV Consumer Protection and Competition Act.

This legislation requires the Federal Communications Commission, along with local governments, to regulate cable television rates and service.

That includes setting a cap on the amount cable companies can charge for basic service. It means demanding that cable operators meet minimum standards for service. And it means ensuring that cable operators carry local broadcasters' programs.

Probably the most important of these is the need to check cable rate increases.

Television is a window to the world. It should not be a window that is open only to the rich. Average folks should be able to look through it just as easily.

Cable brings valuable, quality programs to our people, and it is often their only source of television reception.

In some cases, however, greedy cable operators have charged outrageous prices for few channels—and offered poor service as well. Unanswered phones, repairmen who fail to show up and poor picture quality are just a few of the complaints I've heard.

Our people deserve better. And our Kentucky cable companies generally do better. But in cases where they don't, things have got to change.

The Cable TV Consumer Protection and Competition Act will help solve those problems. It will make sure, first, that our people pay fair rates—and, then that they get their money's worth.

Kentucky Opry gets rave reviews at coal conference

More than 500 people were recently entertained by the Kentucky Opry at the North Carolina Coal Institute's (NCCI) Twenty First Annual Summer Trade Seminar, in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

NCCI's membership consists of some 200 coal-related companies, comprised of executives from electric utilities, manufacturing companies, railroad, barge and truck lines, along with coal producers and sellers, technical support companies and others.

The membership comes from 118 cities and towns in 27 states and the District of Columbia, stretching from San Francisco to New York City and points in between.

This year's seminar began on Sunday, June 28, with the registration of participants and a pool social being conducted at the Radisson Resort. The entertainment for the pool social was provided by an ensemble of the Kentucky Opry. The day's activities were capped off with a reception held at the Myrtle Beach Hilton.

The Monday morning session included presentations by Oliver Kingsley, Jr., president of the Tennessee Valley Authority's Generating Group, followed by Michael Broome, nationally-acclaimed motivational speaker. Afternoon activities included a golf and tennis tournament and fun on the beach.

The evening activities began with a reception, followed by a semi-formal dinner, concluding with a dance and performance by the Kentucky Opry of Prestonsburg.

The seminar concluded on Tuesday morning with presentations by Gerald McClosky, editor of the International Coal Report, London England, followed by James B. Crawford, chairman and CEO of James River Coal Company, Richmond, Virginia. Bobby R. Brown, chairman of the board and president-CEO of Consolidation Coal, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, wrapped up the day's events.

Each speaker from both days was presented a ceramic coal miner mug by John F. Justice, co-chairman and organizer of this year's seminar. Justice, of Pikeville, stated that the mugs presented to the speakers were crafted by Bill Ramey of Elkhorn City, who has done similar work in the past for the NCCI.

When asked how the Kentucky Opry was chosen to perform at this national coal conference, Justice said, "In the spring of 1991, NCCI member Eddie Billips of Prestonsburg, and Earl Roop of Quaker Coal approached me about booking the Opry to provide the entertainment for the up-coming seminar. We had already booked another band, but I agreed to go to The Jenny Wiley Amphitheater and watch them to see if I thought they might be suitable to use at our '92 seminar."

"I could not believe what I was seeing. They were truly one of the most talented and entertaining groups I have ever seen", said Justice, adding that, "I met with Billie Jean Osborne, the Opry's founder and director, to find out if her group could provide the music and entertainment that would cater to our group of people. Osborne assured me that her group could do it better than any other."

As for the Opry's performance at the conference, Justice said, "What happened the night of the dance was one of my best memories of all of my thirteen years as a member of the NCCI. We had around 550 people, including approximately 75 to 100 children." "There were numerous people involved in helping the Opry performance become a reality."

There were several other Eastern Kentuckians in attendance at the seminar, including Kevin Myers of Coal Operators & Associates, Inc. of Pikeville, who said, "After the performance, people were talking about how great they (the Opry) are. I was proud to see our local folks do such a great job in front of people who traditionally had no idea of what musical talent we really have here in the mountains."

Prestonsburg F.F.A. attends leadership camp

Recently, members of the Prestonsburg Chapter of Future Farmers of America attended the Kentucky F.F.A. Leadership Training Camp in Hardinsburg. While there, members received valuable training in leadership, citizenship and operation of F.F.A. chapters. Members also received training in extracurricular activities such as boating and hunting safety, photography, tractor driving, forestry and traffic safety. Campers also participated in many recreational activities such as fishing, volleyball, softball, swimming, tennis, boating and basketball. Kentuckians use MCI toll-free voter registration line

"A total of 1,241 Kentuckians have registered to vote by calling 1-800-92K-VOTE during the first week the toll-free line was in operation," according to Bob Babbage, Secretary of State.

Babbage quoted Steve Stricker, MCI Senior National Account Executive, as saying the communication company had doubled the capacity of the line due to the large number of calls.

"The MCI sponsored program makes voter registration as easy and convenient as making a phone call," Babbage said.

Floyd Countians can call the number at their convenience to register through September. The voter registration books will close on October 5 and will reopen November 10, Babbage said.

Babbage explained that citizens can enter the zip code on a touch-tone phone and be automatically connected by MCI to the county clerk in their county of residence.

The clerk can obtain the caller's registration information and enter it into a computer. That information will be processed by the Department of Information Services (DIS), a voter registration card will be completed and mailed directly to the caller, Babbage explained.

Callers using a rotary dial phone will be automatically connected to the State Board of Elections for registration information.

The MCI system will directly link callers to their county clerk during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. (EDT), Babbage said. After hours callers may leave their request on a voice recording device and have their calls returned the following day by State Board of Elections, staff.

Once the voter registration card is signed by the registrant and returned to the county clerk, the individual is registered to vote, Babbage explained.

"Democracy should be convenient," Babbage said. "If we want more people to participate in the democracy, we need to offer programs such as this," he added.

"MCI Communications has made a significant contribution to improving voter registration in Kentucky," Babbage said. "MCI developed the program, the first of its type in the nation, with the cooperation of the Secretary of State and the State Board of Elections," he added.

Information about voter registration programs can be obtained by contacting Democracy Incorporated of Kentucky, 269 West Main Street, Lexington, Kentucky 40507 or by calling 606-255-0605.

It's about Jobs—Ours and Yours.

A letter from Costain Coal, Inc.

Dear Citizens of Floyd and Pike counties:

Can Floyd and Pike counties afford to lose good jobs without good cause? That's the question to consider as you listen to those opposing our planned coal ash handling operation. We have gained a 20-year contract as the only supplier of coal to a Florida electric utility. This is good news because it means stable jobs for a long, long time. The contract is a package deal--we ship coal and return with the coal ash.

But some of our neighbors are against this opportunity for Eastern Kentucky. They don't want us to place the ash in the most modern, well-engineered landfill of its type ever built in Kentucky. Unfortunately, a small group has been led to believe that the ash is harmful. We can assure them in full confidence that it is not. It is not hazardous; it is not toxic. It is simply the ash from coal we mine here in Floyd and Pike counties.

Not only will this contract mean security for 250 families, we also expect to add more jobs. Mining one million tons a year for the next 20 years will mean up to $1 billion for the economy of this area. It means the purchase of local supplies and services. It means income for the merchants who benefit from the purchases of our employees. It means we pay more local taxes. It means other benefits to the region.

But, if we can't receive the ash, we can't sell the coal.

We understand the concerns of our neighbors regarding the safety of the landfill on Stratton Branch near Ivel. We have been open and straightforward in answering questions and will continue to do so. We have secured the most qualified engineering firm available to design a safe, environmentally sound landfill for common coal ash. There are many trouble-free coal ash disposal sites throughout Kentucky and the nation in facilities designed far less rigidly than ours. Please make sure you have all the facts about this solid economic opportunity for Eastern Kentucky.

Costain Coal, Inc. has been a responsible corporate citizen since it began operations in Eastern Kentucky. Our employees deserve a chance to perform honest work and support their families. These people are your neighbors and your customers. Don't sacrifice their security and yours without good cause.

Sincerely,

Jack B. McNicol

Fun in the sun

The Emma United Methodist Youth spent the day at Kings Island in Cincinnati, Ohio, on June 27. The group stayed overnight at Ft. Wright. Sunday, June 28, Pastor Jack Howard held a devotional service at the motel before enjoying the day at the Cincinnati Zoo.

Truth in action

Members of the Truth in Action drama team include Scott Anderson of Ball Ground, Georgia; Bill Dennis of Gallipolis, Ohio; Larry Carrier of Greenville, South Carolina; Kevin Priest of Allen Park, Michigan; and Jeff Stegall of Greenville, South Carolina. For more information concerning this presentation, call Grethel Baptist at 587-2043.

Drama team to appear at Grethel Baptist Church

The Truth in Action drama team from Bob Jones University in Greenville, South Carolina, is scheduled to be at Grethel Baptist Church on Wednesday, August 5 at 7:00 p.m.

The six-member team is touring the mid-western United States this summer presenting a program based on the theme, "The Brevity of Life." The first part is an adaptation of a memorable sermon preached by Dr.

Bob Jones Sr. entitled "The Two Roads of Life." This sermon is presented in readers' theater style with the entire team participating.

The second portion of the program, a true story dramatizing the untimely death of a recently converted teenager. The story is told through the main character, Ray Vincent, a Christian emergency medical technician (EMT).

Baptists put LIFE in churches

James G. Clontz, associate director, Discipleship Training Department, Kentucky Baptist Convention, has announced a conference to inform pastors and other church staff in the use of LIFE (Lay Institute for Equipping) and LIFE SUPPORT in the local church. "How to Have LIFE/LIFE Support in Your Church" will be presented August 6, 9:00 a.m.-

noon, First Baptist Church, Prestonsburg, Donald A. Atkinson, adult age specialist, Southern Baptist Convention Discipleship Training Department, will lead the conference. Atkinson is a former pastor at Fern Creek Baptist Church, Louisville, and also held pastorates in Swainsboro and Macon, Georgia.

According to Southern Baptist Convention Discipleship Training Department, Lay Institute for Equipping is an advanced approach to equipping the laity for discipleship, leadership and ministry. LIFE is an educational system that enables persons to grow at their own pace and to develop competencies in ministry according to their spiritual gifts and life goals. It has been designed to provide the local church with training of a high quality.

Discipleship Training helps church members become better disciples of Christ. It orients new church members; equips members for ministry; provides studies in Christian theology, Baptist doctrine, Christian ethics, Christian history and church polity and organization; and is involved with training church leaders for ministry.

Award winner

Sabrina Jean Collins

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Sabrina Jean Collins has been named a United States National award winner in English and Science.

Collins, who attended Adams Middle School was nominated by Janie Lyons and Kara Huffman.

Her biography and picture will appear in the Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

She is the daughter of Arthur and Lois Collins. Her grandparents are Freddie and Mary Collins of Prestonsburg and the late Taylor and Flossie Slone.

She was also chosen by the USAA as an All-American Scholar student and was in the top ten of her graduating class. She will attend Prestonsburg High School this fall.

Vacation Bible School

The Rev. Dr. Timothy Jessen and the members of the Prestonsburg First Presbyterian Church, announce their Vacation Bible School on August 3-7, from 6-8:30 p.m. This year's program will be under the direction of the church's minister for youth and their families, Johnnie E. Ross.

This year's theme, "Together in Jesus," will feature music, refreshments, graded classes, and a "learning center" with crafts and recreation. A kindergarten and preschool class will be part of the week's program, so if you'd like to attend with your younger brother or sister, come and bring them with you.

Transportation will be available for the area of Cliffside, Green Acres and Indian Hills. For those who need to arrive thirty minutes early, a small dinner will be available to relieve the burden of coming home from work, cooking and rushing out to "another meeting."

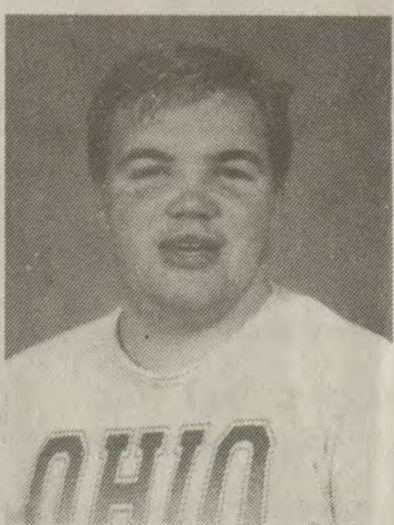

This year's program will also feature "Puff" the puppet dragon and perhaps more magic from the castle. If you'd like to attend, but find transportation a problem and do not live in one of the aforementioned areas, please feel free to contact the church at 886-1407 or 886-2214.

Art awards presented in memory of local artist Russell May

On Sunday, July 27, First United Methodist Church Sunday School presented the first in a series of four art awards in memory of Russell May, a noted Prestonsburg artist and member of the church.

This week's award was won by the 1-2 grade Sunday school class for a model of Solomon's Temple prepared under the supervision of Julie Praxton. A plaque was presented to the class by the church in recognition of their accomplishment.

Next week's award will go to an individual, recognizing the best model of the church's recently constructed family life center.

Perfect attendance

Derek (Spider) Little just completed his junior year at Wheelwright High School with a perfect attendance record for nine years. He is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Little of Weeksbury.

Card Of Thanks

The family of Mary (Ellis) Branham wishes to gratefully acknowledge the kindness and thoughtfulness of friends, relatives and neighbors for the flowers, prayers, food and the many visits to the home. Special thanks to Rev. Timothy Jessen, and the ladies from the Presbyterian Church for being so gracious to all of us after the service. Thanks to the Floyd Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service. Thanks also to the pallbearers.

Prestonsburg scores 3 unearned runs to defeat Winchester 5-4 in tourney play

The march toward a state championship continued for the Prestonsburg 13-year old Senior League All-Stars in Louisville Wednesday morning as they battled a good Winchester team. Prestonsburg escaped with a 5-4 victory with three unearned runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Jake Poston went the distance for Prestonsburg, picking up the victory. Poston fanned four batters while walking three. He allowed four runs on seven hits.

Prestonsburg collected only three hits in the game but they took advantage of some costly mental errors on the part of Winchester in the sixth inning to erase a 4-2 deficit.

Brad Bailey and Poston drew back-to-back walks to open the bottom of the sixth inning for Prestonsburg. Jeremy Shepherd, running for Bailey, stole second and moved to third on a balk before Poston walked. Poston stole second to put runners at second and third with no one out.

John Morris laid down a bunt as Prestonsburg tried to cross up the Winchester defense. The play worked as Shepherd scored from third when the ball was mishandled on the throw to the plate by Kyle Raney. After Jeremy Osborne popped out to second, Raney hit Jason Hackworth, who wanted to go to the mound, with a pitch to load the bases. Jason Osborne was safe at first on a bounce to the infield as the play came to the plate too late to get Poston, who tied the game at 4-4. James Taylor drove in what proved to be the winning run when his ground ball back to the mound was knocked down and again the play at the plate was too late.

Prestonsburg took a 2-0 lead in the first inning as they scored without the benefit of the ball being hit anywhere. Morris started the inning by drawing a walk. He stole second and third before he was balked home by Raney. Raney and the Prestonsburg bench were at odds during the game. The Winchester pitcher seemed to be frustrated by the balk calls and the taunting of the bench did not help his game.

With one out in the first, Jason Hackworth singled and stole second as Rodney Osborne had his ball club running. Hackworth scored on Taylor's two out single. Prestonsburg left the bases loaded in the first when Jason Blackburn fanned to end the inning.

Winchester scored a single run in the third inning for a 2-1 game. A walk to Robbie Burgess, who moved to second on Nick Byrd's base hit. In an attempt to move up on a passed ball, Prestonsburg catcher Mike Castle threw to third to try to get Burgess but his throw was errant and Burgess scored.

Winchester threatened in the fourth inning but Prestonsburg's defense held. Kevin Noble and Benji Redman collected back-to-back singles with two outs in the inning. Noble attempted to steal third but Castle cut him down at the bag to end the inning.

The inability to come with a big hit in the bottom of the third kept Prestonsburg from breaking the game open. Prestonsburg loaded the bases with no outs on a walk to Jason Osborne, a single by Taylor in the infield when the shortstop and third baseman collided on his grounder, and a walk to Castle. Raney got Sammy Nelson and Blackburn on strikes and Poston grounded to third to force Taylor for the final out.

Winchester took their 3-2 lead in

Clark throws smoke as Paintsville edges Louisville Valley

First it was Caudill, then Clark, then Caudill, then Elam and then Clark. Sound confusing. You should have been the official score keeper in the Paintsville/Louisville Valley Big League semifinal game Tuesday night.

In some great coaching maneuvering by Paul David Hall of Paintsville, the local Big League club was able to post a 5-4 win over Louisville Valley and move into the championship series against Laurel County. Paintsville was out to defend the state title they won last year.

Louisville was not about to go away. After taking a 3-0 lead in the first inning, Louisville saw Paintsville come back and score a single run in the second and push home three in the third for a 4-3 lead. But Louisville began to mount threat after threat and Hall had to do some pitch maneuvering.

Scotty Caudill started on the hill for Paintsville and was tagged for three in the first on, including Toby Mathes' two-run homerun. After Paintsville took the 4-3 lead, Louisville threatened to tie the score in the fifth inning when Chuck Whitehead, who had four hits in the game, singled, stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. Caudill walked Mathes before getting Bran Aldridge on a bounce back to the mound in which he looked Whitehead back to third and Mathes moved to second.

Coach Hall, in need of a strike out, elected to put Caudill at shortstop and bring in John Thomas Clark to get the needed out. Clark responded by getting both Andy McClinton and Paul Durbin on strikes to end the inning and the threat.

Clark pitched the sixth for Paintsville before Caudill returned to the mound to start the seventh. Caudill's first pitch to Whitehead went sailing over the left center field fence for a home run and a 5-4 game. Enter Billy Elam, who walked Mathes on four pitches. Mathes was erased when he tried to steal second and Ray Collins' throw to Clark at second caught the would-be thief. Elam hit Aldridge with a pitch and yielded a base hit to McClinton. Exit Elam, and re-enter Clark with the tying run on third and the winning run on first. Clark threw nothing but smoke as he fanned Durbin on three pitches and got Hodge looking at a called third strike to end the game.

Sean Williams scored for Paintsville in the second inning for a 3-1 score. Williams, who had two hits in the game, singled to lead off the inning and Brad Scott singled behind him. Barry Collins laid down a sacrifice bunt with Williams scoring on Stewart Hall's base hit.

In the three-run third for Paintsville, Bud Kidd and Joe Collins collected back-to-back singles to start the inning and Chuck Laferty walked to load the bases. Williams drilled his second hit of the game to score Kidd and Collins. Laferty, in some alert base running, caught home plate unguarded as the Louisville catcher went up the first baseline, and he came in to score for a 4-3 lead.

In the top of the seventh, Clark scored what proved to be the winning run as Paintsville took a 5-3 lead. Clark walked, stole second and scored on Kidd's RBI single.

Caudill received credit for the win as he was the pitcher of record when Paintsville took the lead. Caudill worked four full innings, striking out one and walking two. He allowed three runs on six hits. Clark went 2 1/3 innings with four strike outs. Clark didn't walk anyone and didn't allow a run or a hit.

McClinton, in relief of Danny Lawless, suffered the setback. Lawless went the first two innings but had to leave in the third in favor of McClinton without getting anyone out.

Kidd had two hits for Paintsville as did Williams.

Bobcat football camp scheduled

Betsy Layne's new head football coach John Derossett will conduct his first football camp for grade school football players. The camp is scheduled to run two days, July 31 and August 1.

The camp will be conducted at the Betsy Layne football field and will run from 8 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. both days.

The cost for the camp is $10 per camper and each camper will receive a camp T-shirt.

Offensive and defensive drills will be taught as well as working out on weights. A flag game will be played each day.

Paintsville Big League fails to defend state title in 12-5 loss

The hopes of a second straight state Big League title escaped the Paintsville Big League team as they fell to a good Laurel County team 12-5 Wednesday evening at Louisville Valley High School. Paintsville finished 3-2 in the tournament.

A trip to Tennessee awaited the winner of the championship game for regional competition but Paintsville will have to miss this one. They were runners-up in the southeast regional last year.

It was a combination of things that haunted the Paintsville team that had looked sharp in a doubleheader sweep Tuesday night over Louisville Valley and Laurel County.

The shortage of pitchers in the final game plus the fact that Paintsville failed to come up with some very timely hits when they had the bases loaded twice.

Laurel County used the long ball to capture the crown from Paintsville as pitcher Robert Muncy not only hurled his club to victory but also starred at the plate as well. It was Muncy who drove the final nail in the "coffin" as he drilled a bases-loaded grand slam home run in the sixth inning that seemed to dash any hopes the Paintsville club had.

Paintsville led 5-4 entering the sixth inning when starting pitcher Billy Elam seemingly had things going his way. With one out and two strikes on pinch hitter Mike Harris, Elam hit Harris in the head with a pitch. Tommy Johnston then grounded to shortstop John Clark for 9-5 game.

Laurel County pushed home three more runs in the seventh inning for a 12-5 lead with two runs scoring on Johnston's two-run double.

After Laurel County had taken a 2-0 first inning lead on a two-run home run by Williams, Prestonsburg scored three times in the third inning to lead 3-2. With the lights turned on, centerfielder Tommy Johnston found the position an adventure as he misplayed a fly ball off the bat of Joe Collins that scored Barry Hall and Chuck Laferty with Collins moving to third base. Scotty Caudill singled home Collins to give Paintsville the 3-2 lead.

Paintsville missed a chance to add to the lead with the bases loaded in the fourth but Hall grounded into a 6-2-3 double play to squelch the rally.

Laurel County sent eight batters to the plate in the fifth inning to go ahead 4-3 on Muncy's long drive that hit the top of the fence in left field for a double and two RBIs.

But Paintsville fans got new hope in the bottom of the inning when Laferty led off the inning with a long home run, that quickly left the ballpark, to tie the game and Joe Collins followed with a drive over the right center field fence for a 5-4 Paintsville lead.

Billy Elam took the loss for Paintsville in working the first 5 1/3 innings. Elam was relieved by Joe Collins in the sixth with one out.

Collins gave way to Hatler Riddle in the seventh.

Elam fanned just two batters and he issued seven walks. He allowed nine runs on eight hits. Collins gave up three runs on two hits and Riddle kept Laurel County scoreless in his inning of work.

Muncy had seven runs batted in for the champions with a home run and double. Laferty picked up two hits for Paintsville as did John Clark.

Paintsville stranded eight runners and committed five uncharacteristic errors. Laurel County left eight men on base and was guilty of two miscues.

Hamilton closes door on Laurel Co., 4-0

The way Brent Hamilton performed from the mound for Paintsville Tuesday night in the second game of the doubleheader, you would have never have known that it was a rare start for the hard-throwing righthander. Hamilton was impressive in going the distance in shutting down the hard hitting Laurel County team 4-0.

Hamilton fanned just four batters while walking the same number but got some good defensive support from his team mates to make the lead hold up. Hamilton got double play help in the infield in the sixth and seventh innings when Laurel County put the first batter on in each of the innings.

Hamilton was in complete control hurling no-hit baseball through the first five innings. Robert Muncy collected the first hit for the opposition leading off the sixth inning but he was erased on an inning-ending double play. In the seventh inning, Chris Berry singled to start the frame but he also was wiped out with a double play grounder.

Chris Edwards, who homered in the first game between the two teams, was walked intentionally all three times he batted. Laurel County left the bases loaded in the first inning and stranded six base runners for the game.

Paintsville led 1-0 after the fourth inning when Barry Hall reached on an error at third base and moved to second on a passed ball. He scored on Joe Collins' RBI double.

It was 4-0 after Paintsville batted in the sixth inning as they picked up some insurance runs. Nine batters went to the plate led by Laferty's lead-off walk. Joe Collins was hit by a pitch and Scotty Caudill reached on an infield hit to load the bases. Sean Williams pinch hit for Barry Collins in the inning and swung at a pitch over his head but the umpire ruled that he did not go all the way around, causing a protest from the Laurel County coaching staff. With new life, Williams singled home a run with Laferty scoring and Collins came in to score when the shortstop mishandled the relay throw. Caudill scored on John Holbrook's RBI single.

Kevin Muncy was the losing pitcher working five innings for Laurel County. Brent Swafford relieved Muncy in the sixth with no one out.

Holbrook collected two hits for Paintsville as did Joe Collins.

Paintsville stranded 10 base runners leaving the bases loaded in the sixth inning. Paintsville played errorless baseball.

Paintsville catcher Ray Collins injured his ankle in a collision at first base in the first inning and had to miss the rest of the tournament.

Louisa Bass Club to host Fishing Tourney Sept 12

The Louisa Bass Club will host its first annual Septemberfest Open Bass Tournament at Yatesville Lake on Saturday, September 12. The tournament will be a buddy type tournament and will be sponsored by Westside, Kentucky Fried Chicken, Pappa Pizza and Ron Perry Century Auto Mall.

The tournament will start at 7 a.m. and will conclude at 3 p.m. Weigh-in ceremonies will take place at the main ramp area.

A $2000 guaranteed first place prize will be awarded to the winning team along with team jackets courtesy of Sword Manufacturing. Prize money will also be awarded to second through fifth places with the amounts based on at least a 75 boat field. A guaranteed prize of $500 will be awarded to the angler who catches the largest bass during the tournament. Numerous tackle and fishing products will also be awarded to the participants.

The tournament field is limited to 100 boats with a $75 entry fee per boat. To obtain the tournament rules and an application form, call Raymond Dale Jr., president of the Louisa Bass Club, at 673-3508.

the fifth inning, taking advantage of Prestonsburg's inability to hit. Andrew Embry singled with one out in the fifth, stole second and third before Raney walked. Embry scored the tying run on Brian Hurst RBI single with Raney moving to third. Raney gave Winchester the lead at 3-2 when he scored on Steve Epperson's base hit.

Prestonsburg went out in order in the bottom of the fifth, and Winchester came back with a run in the top of the sixth for a 4-2 lead. Noble popped to third baseman Rusty Young, who came in for Nelson, and Young dropped the pop foul for an error. However, Noble was erased when Redman bounced to second to force Noble. Burgess walked and with two out, Embry's ground ball to second baseman Jason Osborne was fumbled and Redman scored.

Prestonsburg then scored three times in the sixth to go ahead for good.

Raney started on the mound for Winchester. He worked five innings before being relieved by Noble. Raney had nine strikeouts, mostly on offspeed pitches that had Prestonsburg batters swinging early. Raney walked four and allowed four runs on three hits.

Noble was the losing pitcher in relief. He allowed the winning run in the sixth although two of the three runs were charged to Raney.

Prestonsburg collected only three hits in the game and two were by Taylor. Prestonsburg committed three errors while Winchester was guilty of six. Winchester stranded seven base runners and Prestonsburg left 11 runners on base.

Prestonsburg is 2-0 in tournament play after winning their opening game 2-0 in eight innings. Prestonsburg was scheduled to play for the championship Thursday at 3 p.m.

Squirrel Season opens August 15

Opening day of squirrel season is Saturday, August 15 in the western two-thirds of Kentucky. In the Eastern Zone including 29 counties in the southeast, squirrel season opens Saturday, September 5.

Hunters should remember that hunter education is now a mandatory requirement for persons born after January 1, 1975 and that you are required to purchase a hunting license. Hunters required to take the free hunter education course, sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR), must carry a course completion card while hunting.

Information on hunter education class schedules is available by contacting the KDFWR Information and Education Division at (502) 564-4762. Courses last 10 hours spread over three days, with the last day consisting of live-firing range work and a written test.

All hunters should obtain a copy of the 1992-93 Kentucky Hunting and Trapping Guide for complete information on all small game season laws. Contact the number above, or pick up a copy of the guide where licenses are sold.

The statewide dove season also opens on Tuesday, September 1. Shooting hours for doves open at 11 a.m. local time. The daily bag limit of six squirrels and 15 doves remains unchanged for this season. Hunters are reminded to act responsibly and safely while in the field and that alcohol and gunpowder don't mix.

Avoid any hitches with proper trailering, AAA says

Just hook up the boat, pack a picnic basket and head for the nearest dock. It sounds simple until you consider what you need to arrive safely, says the Blue Grass Auto Club Safety Foundation.

Safe towing of a boat requires good equipment and driving skill. Make sure you have the right size equipment. Permanently bolt or weld the trailer hitch to your vehicle. Before leaving, double check signal and brake lights, chains and the hitch.

Most drivers are used to the feel of their own car and know its limits on slick roads, stopping, and turning corners. The moment a boat is hooked to the rear that changes. When towing a boat, consider the following:

- With the heavier load, it will take more time for your car to accelerate, pass, and brake. You should slow down and allow extra following distance between your vehicle and the one ahead.

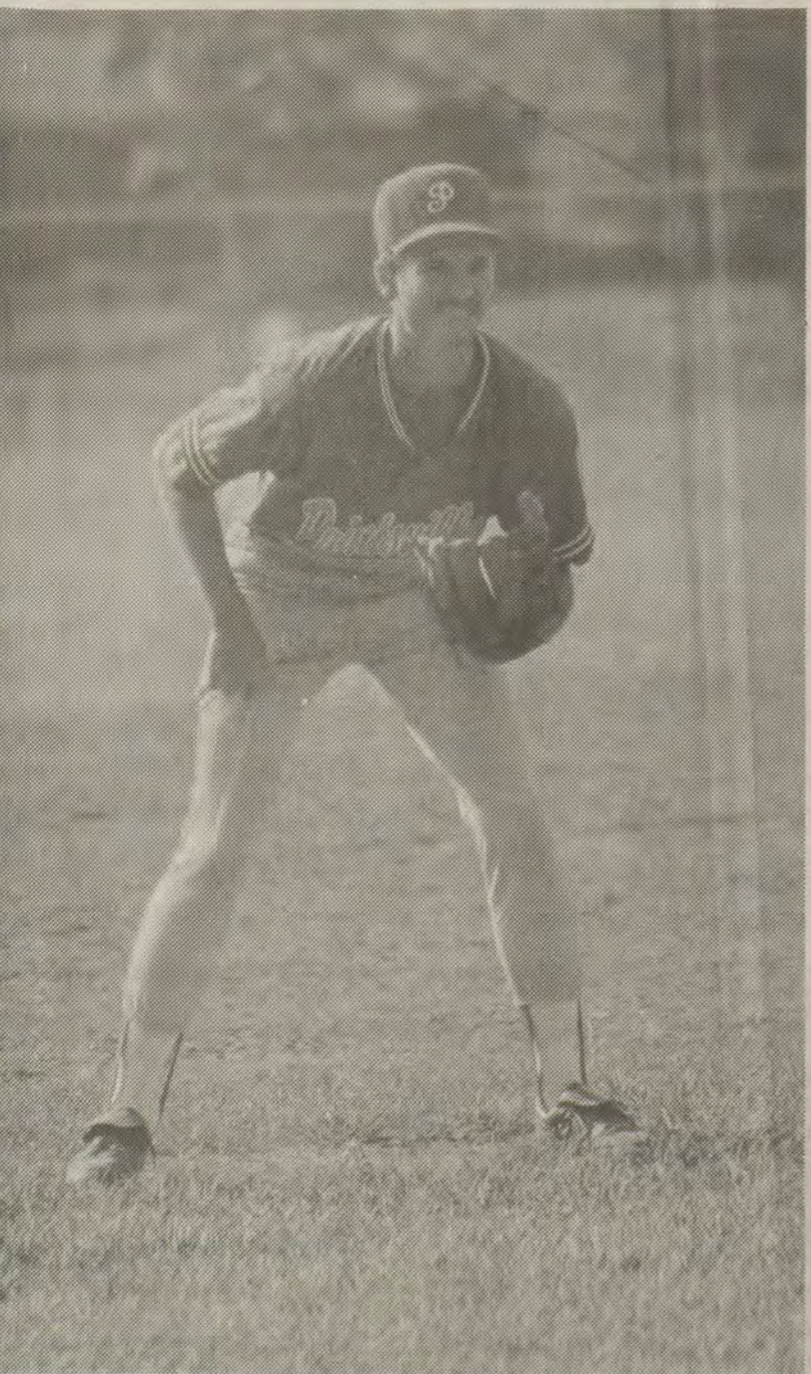

- Fishtailing may be a problem, especially when being passed by a larger vehicle. It will help to stay below or at the speed limit.

- Trailers have small tires and, as a result, hydroplane on wet roads more easily than cars. Again, adjust your speed for the weather conditions, keeping in mind that you should drive at or below the speed limit even on dry roads.

- The boat will tend to hug corners and force you to make wider turns. Allow extra room.

- If possible, practice backing up with the boat hitched to your vehicle. The trailer will tend to turn opposite the direction you steer. Have someone outside the vehicle to help guide you, regardless of how confident you feel about backing up.

For more information about defensive driving, contact the Blue Grass Auto Club Safety Foundation by calling 1(800)432-0996 (in Lexington call 233-1111).

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

IT HAS BEEN A BUSY WEEK

It seems since the Bluegrass State Games started last Friday night that I just haven't had time to take a breather and get control of things. I made the trip to Louisville on Saturday and returned back to Lexington the same night. After returning home on Sunday evening, I was at my desk Monday and up until 2 p.m. on Tuesday. It was back to Louisville again to where I spent Tuesday and Wednesday. I arrived back in my office around 9 a.m. on Thursday (day of this writing) and do I feel all the pressure.

It seems that I no sooner sat down than the phone started ringing or messages were left of things that were happening this weekend in the county.

I thought, when will there be time for me to sit down and catch my breath. I can honestly say that I am very tired and would love to get a break. But I find it hard to refuse anyone whose request is reasonable. It is just good to be back in Floyd County.

The folks in Louisville who were hosting all the tournaments were very gracious to me. "Whatever I needed" was the word. Even a place was supplied for me in the press box, if I needed it. I never did use it. I just enjoyed sitting with the fans and taking pictures on the field.

The Prestonsburg 13-year-old Senior League team was playing for the championship today (Thursday) and a trip to Mississippi for regional play. I wanted to stay for the game but had to return to get the rest of the sports ready.

The Paintsville Big League gave it all they had in finishing second in the state. The team wanted so very much to repeat as state champions. I appreciate all the good baseball they provided during the past season. Coaches Paul David Hall and Johnny Lemaster did an outstanding job of putting together this team.

PRESTONSBURG HEADED FOR CAMP

The Blackcats football team will make their way to Georgetown College for football camp on August 5. Prestonsburg has been in pre-season conditioning each day working three to four hours a day for the past four weeks.

This year's edition of Blackcat football has the billing of a regional champion. It should be a banner season for Coach Bill Letton's squad and we hope that the injuries stay away and the Blackcats can open the season on a healthy note.

The football season isn't all that far off in getting underway. The practice season officially opens Saturday, August 1. Wheelwright head football coach Donnie Daniels has scheduled his annual grid-o-rama for August 15 at Wheelwright. Coach Daniels hopes to have six teams in the event.

Wheelwright will be away more than playing at home this season. The Trojans will have but four home games while playing the other six on the road. Ironton St. Joe found a spot on the Trojans' schedule this season. It will be a Saturday game that starts at 3 p.m. at St. Joe, October 24.

CUMMINGS WINS TWO GOLD.....

Come to find out that Steve Cummings (Highland Regional Medical Center) actually won two gold medals in the swimming competition during the recently completed Bluegrass State Games.

Cummings, an avid swimmer, collected two golds and a bronze for his efforts. Steve is very active in working with young swimmers and is the founder of the Big Sandy Swim League. Way to go Steve, and keep those water wings flapping.

IF ANDRE DOESN'T FIGURE IN....

The news out of Chicago is that Andre Dawson can become a free agent after this season because the Cubs are not selling enough chewing gum to afford to pay him and keep him. Andre says it is just their way of saying that he doesn't fit into their future plans.

How about Cincinnati trying to make a deal for the hard hitting outfielder? It's no secret that they need someone to swing the bats for them. What they have now has gotten too full and rich and doesn't seem able to do anything. The Reds will finish a distant third this year. But that's not so bad, they finished fifth last year.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

ALL MY CHILDREN: Vivienne put Lucas on the spot at the Wildwind Ball after identifying herself as his wife, and making a big contribution to the shelter in both their names. Tom, unaware that Livia had just learned Lucas had been responsible for her law school scholarship, saw her kiss him, and walked out, saying he'll return when she makes up her mind. Opal told Erica that Angelique confirmed that she (Angelique) and Dimitri wanted a child. Later, Charlie let Erica use him to make Dimitri jealous. Helga overheard Dimitri's proposal to Erica, and recalled Hugo's pact to make Edmund sole heir to the Wildwind estate when the time was right. Wait To See: Dimitri runs into another difficult-to-explain situation.

ANOTHER WORLD: Grant risked his life to save Amanda during an explosion at the new education building, and then collapsed. Jamie performed emergency surgery on Grant and saved his life. To Felicia's delight, Lucas agreed to accept Lorna. Vicky panicked when Carl sent her a gift for Steven, with a note reading, "I would not like to lose my son (Ryan) anymore than you'd like to lose yours. After Dennis asked Vicky how he could get Marley back, she answered: the same way she'll get Ryan back — by earning the reconciliation. Cass and Frankie were shocked at what they saw when they opened the farmhouse door. Wait To See: Lorna confronts another emotional obstacle.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: An injured Holden was taken to the hospital where a neurosurgeon removed damaged tissue from his brain. Lucinda hired a private detective to find Holden. An agitated Darryl, unable to find Frannie, confided his fears to Barbara. Frannie, who told Kim she was becoming afraid of Darryl, decided to go to the ski lodge in Switzerland to check out the allegations in Gavin's letter—which she entrusted to Kim with instructions to give it to Tom and Margo if anything happened to her. Frannie was puzzled when Sean didn't meet her, as promised, on her arrival in Switzerland. Wait To See: Gavin has more "fuel" to add to Frannie's already raging suspicions.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: After a disastrous date in which Darla tried to be someone she wasn't, she let her hair down, and Bill was entranced. Brooke told Eric she agreed to Ridge's suggestion that she move back in with Eric until the baby's birth, when paternity could be determined. Sheila sent Judy home (claiming Judy had a strep throat) so that she could replace her as the child's nanny. Taylor confided her problems about Ridge to Blake, who vowed to "take care" of something he should have tended to a long time ago. Jack warned Sally the company was in

Prestonsburg to become Land of Oz

The Yellow Brick Road leads into downtown Prestonsburg Saturday, August 8, when the troupe from Jenny Wiley Theatre's production of The Wizard of Oz set down in the city for a magical day of fun.

Area children — or anyone else who has been captured by the magical enchantment of the tale — are invited to attend breakfast from 10 a.m. until 11 a.m. with the characters at Rose's Fountain or the Playhouse Restaurant. Rose's Fountain will take reservations for the event, but no reservations are required at the Playhouse.

Parents are urged to bring their cameras for pictures of their toddlers with the Yellow Brick Road characters: Dorothy, the Tin Man, the Cowardly Lion, Glenda The Good Witch, Auntie Em, and many others.

A Dorothy Look-A-Like Contest will be held with judging to begin at noon in the Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts building. Judging will be based on the closeness of the child's appearance to the Dorothy character as portrayed by Judy Garland. Jenny Wiley Theatre staff will serve as the judges.

Winners will be selected in two categories: 5 to 8 year olds and 9 to 12 year olds. Winners of each age group will receive a basket of prizes provided by sponsoring merchants and will be announced at a performance of the Wizard of Oz at Jenny Wiley Theatre.

I SAY POTATO YOU SAY POTATOE

Chalk it up to being a resident of Indianapolis, but my sister Amanda claims that Vice President Quayle isn't as dumb as the press portrays him.

"Sara," Amanda said Sunday during a telephone conversation. "I don't think Quayle's being unable to spell potato means he's unintelligent." "I agree," I said quickly. "After all, it took Daddy years before he could spell chocolate, and he wasn't dumb."

"That's right," Amanda laughed. "But I wouldn't have wanted Daddy to be president."

"Oh, I would have," I said sincerely. "It would have been great. I could see it now. Eddie could have been Secretary of Interior and Chick could have been Secretary of the Treasury. I would have loved it."

"Sure, Sara," Manda giggled. "I can see it now. Daddy would have said, 'Let's parlay that deficit and put all of it across the board on number 7.'"

As Amanda answered a call on her call waiting, I told Jimmie what had been said. He said, "That's what's been happening for the past 12 years Sara. They've been gambling with our lives, and you all just can't get that through your thick skulls."

"Oh, yeah," I said angrily. "Well, I.."

"Who are you talking to?" Amanda asked, as she cut back to mine and Jimmie's conversation.

"Jimmie says Washington has been parlaying our lives for the past 12 years."

"Then I suppose he's voting for Clinton."

"Good guess, Amanda."

"That's his prerogative, but I still believe that Quayle is more intelligent than he lets on to be."

"That's the problem, Amanda," I said. "If Quayle is smart, it's about time he let the American public in on it. It might help. Lots of people are afraid of voting for Bush when they think second in command might have a lower I.Q. than Wile E. Coyote."

"So he spelled potato wrong," Amanda said defensively. "As far as I'm concerned, being able to spell potato is a little bit like taking Algebra. I mean, after all, how many times in a person's life do you really have to know how to spell potato, huh?"

There was a long pause before Amanda said, "Sara. Are you still there?"

"Uh, huh," I grunted.

"What's wrong?"

"Nuthin'," I replied numbly.

"Sara, don't you agree with me?"

"Amanda, I agree that the word potato isn't used in a lot of cabinet meetings or in matters of foreign affairs, but I would like to think that

Truth, Justice and the American Way

by Geoff Belcher, staff writer

You cannot adopt politics as a profession and remain honest.

-Louis McHenry Howe, Address, Jan. 17, 1933

If you wish the sympathy of broad masses, then you must tell them the crudest and most stupid things.

-Adolph Hitler, Mein Kampf

I generally begin this column with a couple of quotes, one funny and one serious, both as a matter of style and because it fills up space.

This time, however, both quotes are deadly serious and particularly truthful.

That's especially scary considering that one of them was by Adolf Hitler. You remember him. You know, that little Napoleon-Ross Perot-Wallace Wilkinson-with-an-Oliver Hardy-mustache-lookin' egomaniacal dictator from a few years back.

It seems every day that our esteemed (and I use that term very liberally) public officials say or do something else that makes them and the American people as a whole look like complete idiots.

Hitler said "... the crudest and stupidest things." These days you can pretty much break that down by parties. The Democrats say the crude things and the Republicans the stupid.

For instance, Democratic presidential and vice presidential candidates Bill Clinton and Al Gore (and admittedly, the press) have dragged all the skeletons out of their respective dirty little closets to parade in front of the American people, just to prove they're regular guys. And of course the Kennedys alone are good for at least three scandals a year.

The Republicans have Dan Quayle. That's all that needs to be said about the stupid part.

Now, like many gullible Americans, I was sort of counting on good ol' Ross Perot to get in there and shake things up a little bit.

I knew that he wasn't the new messiah that his most hardcore supporters were building him up to be, but at least for the first time since I've been alive, we actually had a presidential candidate that both made sense and displayed leadership abilities.

But Ross couldn't take the heat, so he got out of the kitchen, leaving Tweedledum and Tweedledummer manning the oven.

So in order to fill the vacuum left by Perot's bailing out on us, I have decided that, if the American people want me, I will graciously announce my candidacy for the office of President of the United States. It'll be a great sacrifice, but hey, I live to serve.

Now, some of you more negative thinking beings out there may say "But Geoff! You're a good deal shy of the legal presidential age of 35."

That may be so, but if elected, my first act as president will be to lower the legal age for holding office (and for qualifying for reduced auto insurance rates) to 21.

Unlike my opponents, I already have some concrete plans for correcting the problems that plague our country worse than the aftereffects of the McDonald's breakfast burrito.

First of all, it is my theory, and I feel it's a pretty good one, that the number one problem facing our country in general and Eastern Kentucky in particular these days is the fact that there are too @#$@ many people with too @#$@ many theories about what the number one problem facing our country in general and Eastern Kentucky in particular is.

I hate to agree with Dan Quayle on anything, but he raised an extremely important point in his one semi-intelligent speech since taking office when he said that most of the country's problems can be traced to the nation's collective decline in family values.

The difference, however, is that I don't, as Quayle did, blame the situation on a fictional character. I blame it on the fact that, in many places, you have to have a license to own a dog or ride a bicycle, but any dang fool can have children.

Now, I had great parents. My wife had great parents. These days, unfortunately, it seems like way too many people leave the job of raising their children up to the school system and MTV, neither of which are equipped to handle the responsibility.

As a result, we now have an ever-rising number of violent crimes; unwanted pregnancies; child abuse and neglect; drug abusers; sexually transmitted diseases; and persons that think it's perfectly acceptable to drive three inches from your rear bumper or pull out right in front of you and drive 30 miles per hour below the posted speed limit.

To address these problems, I have made it the major plank in my campaign platform to have all people from now on sterilized at birth.

Now, to all you reading this who just crossed your legs and let out an audible gasp, I am not talking about spaying or neutering, but a much less radical surgical process that can later be reversed.

Under my plan, persons wishing to have children must first pass a rigorous parental training course and receive a license to have children.

"Too radical!" you may cry. Or perhaps "That boy's done flipped his lid!"

But think about it for a minute. No more overcrowding. No more need for abortion. No more children seduced into a life of crime because their parents don't care about them or subject them to daily abuse.

The only people who would have children would be people that genuinely want them and have been certified in the proper care and training of them. No more waste of the taxpayers money because congress is spending all it's time debating over needless legislation on abortion, school prayer and expensive social programs.

All of that stuff would be taken care of in the home. Where it's supposed to be.

No more holler babies to fatten welfare checks. No more welfare checks because there would be no more unemployment.

No more unemployment because 1) fewer people mean more job opportunities and 2) persons entering the job market would work hard and take pride in their jobs, thus ensuring that they remain employed and consequently increasing American productivity, strengthening business and creating more jobs.

That's my domestic policy. Simple and effective.

Turning to world affairs, I'd first suggest to all the countries of the United Nations that they adopt the same program.

No more dictators and idjits with access to heavy artillery and nuclear weaponry. No more greedy international tycoons trying to run every other company and every other country out of business. Just happy, well adjusted leaders from happy homes whose only interest is the welfare of their fellow human beings.

All the world's problems would be solved, so that we could concentrate on the really important stuff, like sporting events and cartoons.

It'll be a new era of peace and prosperity, all courtesy of lil' ol' me. Don't bother to thank me now.

Just remember to cast your ballots for me in November.

To any political action committees interested in financing my campaign, I really, really, really want a Corvette and maybe a nice house near the lake with a jacuzzi. You can reach me care of the Floyd County Times.

Thank you.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

In a recent poll reported in Le Point magazine in France, 20 percent of females (analyzing hypothetical employment situations) said they would not consider it sexual harassment if they were asked to undress during a job interview.

PEOPLE UNCLEAR ON THE CONCEPT

—Criminal justice professor Michael Petrik, 30, who taught the "alternatives to prison" course at Nassau County (N.Y.) Community College, was arrested in May for helping two inmates escape from a correctional facility in Warwick, N.Y. Said a former student, "He made class interesting. I guess everybody has their own little secrets."

—Robby Doyle Calhoun, 30, was arrested for stabbing letter carrier Raymond Bell, 35, in Dallas in April. Apparently, Calhoun was upset about receiving bills. A police detective said that Calhoun had told a maintenance man the day before that he was "going to get the mailman."

—In May, the Capital Security Command in Bangkok established a "coup d'etat hotline." People wanting to check out rumors can call 240-2111 to see whether there has been a revolution.

—In February, Roman Catholic parishioners in Sluis, The Netherlands, disturbed by loud noises that interrupted their worshiping, opened the curtains of a confessional to find a man and woman having sex inside. (The parish priest was out of town at the time and thus could not grant the couple absolution for the incident.)

—Thedford Browning, 20, filling out identification papers in a Springfield, Mass., courtroom in October in an attempt to be released from jail without a money bond after his arrest on a crack cocaine charge, listed his occupation as "drug dealer." The judge denied the request and imposed a $20,000 bond.

CULTURAL DIVERSITY

—A Washington, D.C., organization, Africa Watch, estimates that as many as 100,000 people, mostly children, still live in slavery in the Islamic country of Mauritania. The slaves are paid no salary, have no rights, and can be tortured or killed by their owners without penalty.

—In April, former Springfield, Ore., Human Rights Commissioner Katherine Maris (a white woman who is married to a black man) was convicted under the state's racial intimidation law for making repeated racial insults against police officer John Patterson, who is black. Patterson had stopped her for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

—The German town of Marl announced recently that it would replace half the bicycle signs on the town's bicycle paths by the end of 1992. All of the signs now illustrate the frame of a "man's" bicycle; half will be replaced by illustrations of a "woman's" bicycle.

—In May, the Maui County (Hawaii) Council tabled an ordinance that would ban the backyard killing of dogs because of opposition by some groups that such a ban would be discriminatory based on their religious tradition of eating dogs.

—Spartanburg, S.C., mayor Bob Rowell changed his mind in April about publicizing a proclamation dedicated to Holocaust survivors. He admitted that the reason was his fear of offending the German BMW car company, which was then deciding between Spartanburg and Omaha as the site for a new U.S. plant. In July, BMW selected Spartanburg.

THE WEIRDO-AMERICAN COMMUNITY

—Sheriff Bill Wiester announced in Moses Lake, Wash., in March that he had arrested a man sitting in a car bobbing his head and who thus looked like he was doing drugs. On closer inspection, however, no drugs were found; the man had a straw in his mouth and was blowing bubbles into a fish bowl he was holding in his lap, aerating the water for his pet piranha.

LEAST COMPETENT PERSON

Sam F. Stewart, 17, was arrested for burglary in Waskom, Texas, in April, after he had broken into a van housed in a residential garage and then inadvertently activated the electric locks while trying to start the car. As he hit various controls in an attempt to get out of the car, he awoke the owners. Stewart was still trapped inside the car when police arrived.

THE DIMINISHING VALUE OF LIFE

Dietrick Mitchell, 16, was charged with the vehicular murder of pedestrian Daniel Goetsch, 16, near Aurora, Colo., last October. According to a passenger in Mitchell's car, Mitchell had aimed for Goetsch, whom he did not know, on the street and announced "three points" for hitting him.

trouble unless they get a head designer. Wait To See: Eric finds himself drawn more tightly to Sheila.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Kimberly was badly injured in the car accident and rushed to the hospital where she slipped into a coma. Unaware (because Bo didn't tell him) of Kimberly's engagement, Shane refused to leave her side. Later, Shane was able to stand up for the first time since he was paralyzed. Roger was arrested for drunk driving and attempted manslaughter. Lawrence and Lisanne secretly put up the high bail and got him out so they could watch him if he decided to confess he'd been paid to rile up the dock workers against John. Molly told Marlena she couldn't put Gavin's assault behind her. Wait To See: John and Isabella find a surprise waiting for them in Salem.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Holly's priority was to save a badly wounded Bill who had been injured on the freighter. Tom hypnotized Felicia to get her to reveal information that will help Mac find the key to unlocking her memory. As Karen, Jagger, and Jason (unaware they were not alone on the island) awaited their rescue, they tried to forge some sort of peaceful coexistence. Monica, fearful for Jason, and worried about her threatened family, warned Nikki to stay away from her other son, A.J. Wait To See: Mac makes an unbelievable discovery.

GUIDING LIGHT: Blake was upset when Holly, who had car trouble, couldn't get to the beach in time to see her with Ross. Alexandra was alarmed when Alan-Michael raged at Nick having been brought into Spaulding. Hamp warned Roger not to use Gilly in his business machinations. Holly assigned Nick to investigate why Alexandra sold land to Roger. Eric fought with reporters who wanted information on Nick, who went to his aid and took him home. Ed, thinking it was Maureen in the shower, was surprised to find Lillian instead. Jenna's mystery benefactor struck again. Wait To See: Blake creates a new problem for Holly.

LOVING: Clay wanted to tell Isabelle the truth about his marriage to Gwyn. Jack and Stacey repeated their wedding vows in a family ceremony. On the yacht (where they planned to spend their honeymoon) Jack disappeared while he was on deck to set the sail. Giff and Trisha agreed they wanted to go on seeing each other. Cooper and Hannah found Selena, and Cooper confronted her about the incident on his 12th birthday. Clay and Dinah Lee made love. Wait To See: Stacey may have to accept "proof" of Jack's death despite her belief that he was still alive.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Mortimer accepted Alex's bid to dinner. Lee Ann told Max that he's not Duke's father. Andrew refused to tell Sloan whether or not he was gay. The audience learned that Swade (Luna's mysterious caller on her love line) was in prison. Tina and Cain worked out their robbery/Alex plan. Reba McEntire, Luna's friend, came for a visit. Wait To See: A new shocker awaits Dorian.

SANTA BARBARA: Warren asked B.J. to do more articles on R.A., the abused girl. Cruz saw a tattoo of a rag doll on Frank's shoulder, with the name, Rachel Ann. He told her he knew she'd been molested, and she told him everything about Frank. Meanwhile, Jodie insisted to Reese that B.J. is his daughter. Connie called asking to see Jodie and Cruz. When they arrived, only Frank was there, holding a gun. Rich brought a minister to marry Lisa and Rafe who were unaware that the minister was an actor hired by Rich. Wait To See: Reese makes a desperate decision about his marriage.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: To help them get proof that Michael was guilty of sexual harassment, Cricket and Danny staged a public marital breakup. Lauren left the apartment with the baby, and called Paul. Scott turned up and demanded she return the child. Neil gave Dru a diamond engagement ring, but insisted it was only a friendship ring, nothing more. Later, against his better judgment, Blade agreed to Dru's request that he take a few nude shots of her for her portfolio. Backstage at Danny's concert, Nina approached Victoria (who was with Brandon) to introduce Ryan to her. Wait To See: Despite continuing wariness, Michael begins to make the move Cricket and Danny were hoping for.

"So you're voting for Clinton, too," she said brusquely.

In order for you to know how difficult it is to even allude that you might disagree with Amanda, try to imagine telling your husband and/or wife that you'll be home when you're dum good and ready because that's what it's like when you challenge Amanda. Once she thinks you're not on her side, she evolves into a one-woman crusade against everybody. And she hates to lose.

"Amanda, I'm still deciding. I like Bush, but the economy's so bad. I don't like Clinton, but I like Hillary. And I really like Gore, but Tipper. I mean, who would give their child a name like that?"

"Yeah, right, PoPo," Amanda said sarcastically.

"But that's my nickname. My friends and coworkers don't call me that; at least not to my face."

"Okay, Sara. Do what you want but just remember that I don't think being able to spell potato should be the main criteria for running for vice president. Anyway, I just called to tell you that I'm faxing you some information."

The next day, I picked up her fax information and that's when I realized that she liked Quayle because they had more in common than being from Indiana. The message was addressed: Sara Hopson, Paintsville, Kentucky.

Dynamic Kentucky Opry, halfway through season

Monday, July 20th, marked the fourth consecutive week the Kentucky Opry has performed in front of sell-out crowds at the Jenny Wiley Theatre. These nights of dynamic family entertainment have left the audiences in awe and promising to return for more.

Two shows have featured the K.O. Junior Pros. This talented group of young students from the mountains have dazzled the packed amphitheatre crowds. One show featured the Floyd County All Star Cast performing the musical "Rock-On". The members of the All Stars were chosen from the 13 Floyd County elementary schools. Rock-On has been a rollicking, rockin' musical delight.

This season, the second for the Opry troupe at the amphitheatre, has been a wonderful opportunity for the group to play right here at home. This year's "Into the Spotlight Tour" has taken the group to such places as Myrtle Beach, Louisville, Lexington, Beattyville, and to Ashland where they opened for Billie Ray Cyrus at the Tri-State Fair and Regatta.

The two seasons the Opry has performed at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre have been huge successes in this educational and performance showcase experiment for Eastern Kentucky. It's now proven that local talent can be developed to attract tourists. With a variety of attendees, some local and many representing several states, performances include selections of 50's and 60's pop, blends of country sounds, gospel melodies, and recognizing the celebration of Kentucky's Bicentennial year, a beautiful patriotic finale.

Delightful humor is interjected into the show with visits of L.A. resident and presidential candidate Munroe Birdshot. And surprise visits have been made by Elvis and Johnny Trash.

If you haven't seen this year's dynamic Kentucky Opry under the stars there are 5 more shows remaining. The Opry invites you to come out and clap hands, stomp feet and cheer on your "home grown" Opry show. For tickets call 886-9274.

GRANDPARENTING

BUDDING MUSICIAN NEEDS ENCOURAGEMENT WITHOUT PRESSURE

Q: Our 3 1/2-year-old grandson Peter Raphael is very interested in music, classical music. He often picks up a pencil (his baton) and conducts while his mother plays the piano or when watching classical musicians on TV.

About a year ago, at only 2 1/2, he started watching and re-watching a video of Zubin Mehta, Placido Domingo, Jose Carreras and Luciano Pavarotti in concert. He quickly picked up the gestures, not of the tenors, but of the conductor, Mehta!

On a recent walk around the block, he climbed to the top of a flight of stairs and sang and conducted an entire orchestral piece memorized from the tape. His father, Joao, a school teacher originally from the Azores, and his mother, Jenny, both enjoy choral singing, and Jenny plays the piano, but neither is experienced in the music world.

What should we do to encourage Peter Raphael's interest in music? — Virginia, Valley Forge, Pa.

A: Although you may have a musical prodigy on your hands, you think you shouldn't push him. The experts agree.

We had a long talk with Kate Tamarkin, music director of the Vermont Symphony Orchestra and associate conductor of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. She has enjoyed five years of teaching in public and parochial schools in California and Illinois.

She said: "Don't pressure him. Simply allow him to enjoy what he is doing now. You risk burn-out when he reaches 18 or 20.

"Provide many varieties of music. Take him to real concerts, if he has a desire. Let him learn how to behave. Sit near the aisle, and if he gets jumpy, you can take him home. If you can, also take him backstage."

We were so fascinated by Virginia's story that we contacted Peter Raphael's maternal grandfather, for whom he is named. He confirmed the story, and roared with laughter (and pride), boasting modestly, "When I take him in my car, and happen to have the radio tuned to the Phillies' baseball game, Peter complains loudly, insisting on 'good music.' Of course I comply, quickly."

We hope we can follow young Peter Raphael's development. You might have a true genius on your hands. After all, Mozart started composing at the age of 6, and wrote his first symphony at 8.

Dear Dee and Tom: Here is something I picked up from my local support group for grandparents. Thought you might be interested:

GRANDPARENTS

"A grandmother is a lady who has no children of her own, so she likes other people's little kids. Grandfathers are men grandmothers. Grandmothers don't have to do anything except just be there and have lots of dinner. Grandmothers take us for walks and show us pretty leaves and caterpillars. Grandmothers are usually fat but not too fat to tie kids' shoes. They wear glasses and funny underwear."

"Everybody should try to have a grandmother, especially if they don't have television, because grandmothers are only grown-ups who have time."

This was written by a third-grader. — Ethel Secrist, Owings Mills, Md.

HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Take a ride on Jenny Wiley Theatre's "Love Boat"

For a hilarious night of singing, dancing, romance and intrigue come on aboard what many are calling Jenny Wiley Theatre's "Love Boat," the Broadway classic—Anything Goes.

While the long-running television series probably was never up to the quality of a Cole Porter Broadway production like Anything Goes, many similarities can be found between the two.

One of the stars of Anything Goes, Lisa Dames from Northern Kentucky University who plays Reno Sweeney, says of the show, "it's hilarious and it is sort of like an episode of The Love Boat because there are three stories running at the same time instead of one main plot."

She continued, "It doesn't have a big heavy statement and you really don't have to think to enjoy the show. It's the kind of show that when you leave you'll have a smile on your face and a fond remembrance of one of the corny jokes."

Dames' co-star, Darren Bagert from New Orleans who plays Billy Crocker, agrees.

"The comedy is so much like Abbott and Costello or even the Three Stooges," said Bagert. "The slapstick is so funny and quick. It's almost like every other line is a joke."

Bagert said the slapstick comedy combines nicely with the well-known musical numbers.

Michael Fisher, from Ironton, Ohio, who plays Moonface Martin, says the Jenny Wiley Theatre version holds true to the original Broadway offering.

"What's unique about this show is that it was directed (by David Weiss a recently retired Theatre Department Chairman at the University of Virginia) by a guy who kept it so close to the 30s style which is really great," said Fisher.

Another of the principle players in this ensemble show is Eric Holland, from Detroit who plays Sir Evelyn. Holland said the music is classic Cole Porter from the 30s and that many audience members will recognize the classic tunes.

"There are so many wonderful songs in this show," said Holland. 'I Get A Kick Out of You'; 'Let's Misbehave'; they're all so wonderful. It's like theatre used to be in the 30s. It's a great show."

But what likens this show to the "Love Boat?" The setting is aboard a cruise ship where six young, attractive people find adventure, mayhem, and romance.

Eric Holland said, "I fall in love; lose the girl; and then fall in love with another girl."

"It gets a little confusing," said Lisa Dames. "But my character, Reno, was probably a little controversial when it first came out. She's independent and doesn't need a man—until she meets Evelyn and falls in love."

Anything Goes is a romantic comedy with lots of great music and wonderful tap dancing. It's a show for the entire family.

Make your reservations today so you can set sail on Jenny Wiley Theatre's version of Anything Goes—which might remind you of the Love Boat.

For ticket information and reservations, phone (606) 886-9274.

Anything goes cast sets sail

Dear Abby

Woman warns drunk drivers of fate that could be theirs

DEAR ABBY: On July 13, 1990, my life was changed forever. What was supposed to be the time of my life turned out to be the trial of my life. I had been happily married for nine years, and we were expecting our first child. One moment, my husband and I were returning from a friend's anniversary celebration, and the next moment, I woke up in the hospital; my husband was dead and my prematurely born baby was in the intensive care unit—all because of a drunk driver ... and that driver was me! I took a life, and God gave me a life.

I had read about things like this but never thought it could happen to me. Now here I am in jail a woman with no husband, my in-laws have lost their son, and my beautiful baby boy is fatherless. I changed so many lives that night because I drove drunk.

I will be going home soon to be with my family, but what about his family, who will never again see the son they loved or hear him say, "I love you, Mom and Dad."

I hope this letter leaves an impact. It could have been another of your readers instead of me—and it will be them if they continue to drink and drive.

JACKLYN IN CELL BLOCK 3-L,
MARION COUNTY JAIL

son they haven't seen yet so I try to keep them current on "Eric's" developments. During the course of our conversation, I told my mother-in-law how tall Eric was for his age, and she blurted out, "Well, just be sure he doesn't get too fat—like you; you know how terrible it is to be fat, and I'm sure you wouldn't want Eric to have that problem."

I was terribly hurt, but held my tongue—even though I was tempted to say, "Yeah—it's as hard for me to lose weight as it is for you to quit smoking." (She has emphysema and a two-plus-pack-a-day addiction.)

The reason for my letter: My in-laws are planning to visit us next month and I would like to tell my mother-in-law to back off. My weight is my problem—not hers. I don't want their visit to be a disaster which it surely will be if I hear one more comment about my weight. I've sent cards, letters and baby pictures in an effort to show her that I want a friendly relationship, but nothing seems to work.

If you publish my letter, I will clip it and send it to my mother-in-law.

UP TO HERE IN VIRGINIA

DEAR UP TO HERE: Here's your letter. I hope it helps.

DEAR JACKLYN: It's to your credit that you're writing from a cell block to warn others so they will not have to experience the horror you have. There is a lesson to be learned from your tragedy: Never, never drive if you've had even one drink. And pregnant women shouldn't drink at all.

DEAR ABBY: Out of respect for my elders, and the fact that she is my husband's mother, I recently avoided what could have been a nasty confrontation with my mother-in-law.

Fortunately, we live 2,500 miles from my husband's parents, but we call them every Sunday, although we haven't seen them for two years. My husband and I have a 15-month-old

"J.B. has no peer when it comes to the use of body language."

TELL ME WHY

HOW DOES THE BODY TAN?

Sunlight has many important effects on the skin. The most obvious is to produce redness or sunburn. This is caused by ultraviolet light. It transforms "histidin," a substance contained in the skin, into a substance that opens up (dilates) the blood vessels. And this is what causes the skin to become red.

There is another substance in the skin called "tyrosin." Ultraviolet light transforms this into the brown pigment called "melanin." This melanin is then deposited in the outer layers of the skin to protect it against further action of the light rays and we call this effect tanning.

The sunlight also has a positive health effect. It destroys fungi and bacteria that may have settled on the skin. Sunlight also produces a substance in the skin that contracts the blood vessels. This results in raising the blood pressure.

Certain cells in the body that fight infection are stimulated to greater activity by the action of sunlight. Even the muscles of the body are "toned up" by the action of sunlight. Also, the body obtains vitamin D because ultraviolet light performs a chemical change that produces it in the skin.

But if sunlight acts like a medicine on the body, one should be careful about how much medicine to take. If you are out to get a tan, you should do it gradually, a few minutes the first day, five more minutes the next day, and so on. Too much exposure to the sun may actually injure the skin and the body.

FUN TIME

THE RIDDLE BOX

1. At what time of day was Adam created? 2. What starts with E, ends with E, and has one letter in it? 3.

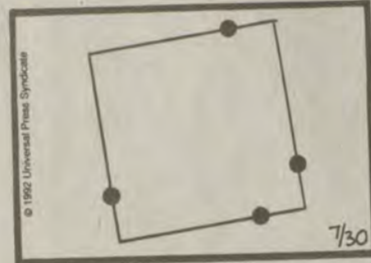

What should you do if you hear a mouse squeaking?

ANSWERS

1. A little before Eve. 2. An envelope. 3. Oil it.

THE TRICK BOX

Draw four dots in the exact positions shown, leaving out the lines. Challenge your friend to draw a square that has one of the four dots in each side. How to do it is shown.

MCA test scores improve

The students at Mountain Christian Academy have proven to be nationally competitive as they have consistently scored above the 50 percentile on the CTBS tests. The reading score was 66.4 percentile for students of kindergarten through grade eight. The math score followed closely with a 61.5 percentile average. Students are to be congratulated on their excellent progress in both reading and math. The science and social studies scores in grades four through eight showed an even greater excellence. The average science score was 72.8 percentile. These scores are well above the national average.

The student body of Mountain Christian Academy is varied in culture, creed and financial status. Forty percent of the students at Mountain Christian Academy receive grants provided by the Christian Appalachian Project. The goal for each student is to bring out his/her best learning potential.

John Paul Dove

Dove is awarded MSU scholarship

John Paul Dove of Martin is among those students receiving a Regional Honors I Scholarship for the fall semester at Morehead State University.

Dove, son of Paul and Lillian Dove, is a graduate of Allen Central High School. Salutatorian of the senior class, he was vice president of the Beta Club and was nominated to the Congressional Youth Leadership Council to serve as a Congressional Scholar. He is included in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

To be eligible for the Regional Honors I Scholarship, applicants must be admitted to MSU as an entering freshman or transfer student; be a high school graduate within MSU's service region; be recommended by high school or community college; be the highest ranking achiever coming to MSU from that high school or community college; have at least a 3.50 high school grade point average (on a 4.0 scale) based on seven semesters of work; transfer students must have a cumulative 3.50 g.p.a., and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $2,500 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 3.00 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.25 for each semester thereafter. Transfer students must maintain a cumulative 3.25 g.p.a.

Applications and information on scholarships and grant programs at MSU are available from the Office of Admissions, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. The toll free number is 800-262-7474 (in Kentucky) and 800-354-2090 (from adjoining states).

FBLA excellence at BLHS

Betsy Layne High School FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America) recently participated in the regional conference at Morehead State University where students entered various competitive events relating to business. Mark Reed received first place in Keyboarding I and Brock Harmon received third place in computer concepts. The club placed second in largest chapter membership in Region 5 (137 members).

Other members who participated in regional conference are: Kim Akers, business communications; Kenneth Boyd, talent show; Joe Jacobs, public speaking; Kristi Maynard, impromptu speaking; Jamey Kidd, advanced typewriting; and Don Riley, economics. Group activities included nametag, bulletin board, and parliamentary procedure.

Regional conference winners, Mark Reed and Brock Harmon, advanced to the state leadership conference in Louisville. At the awards ceremony, Mark Reed received second place in the state in Keyboarding I. Other members attending as voting delegates were Tracy Kidd, Mike Newman, and Patty Williams. Sharon Barker and Sherry Pennington, club advisers, accompanied the students to Morehead and to Louisville.

Learning about the Earth

The third grade classes at Prestonsburg Elementary visited Lexington Children's Museum (pictured in top photo) and Showbiz Pizza (pictured at bottom), Wednesday, June 10. The project was a unique learning experience for the children. They also had a chance to jazz it up with the stars at Showbiz.

PAT SCHUDY AND DAVID WOLFF

TALK TO US

PARENTS SAY 3-YEAR AGE GAP TOO MUCH

FROM LAURA: I am a 15-year-old ... My boyfriend is 18. Is it really wrong to like a guy who is three years older or a girl three years younger? Well, our parents obviously weren't at all pleased cause they all insisted (that we) stop seeing each other for good.

Now this just made Matt and (me) rebel and sneak to see each other, and I'm afraid our parents are messing around with a relationship that could last if they would only understand.

So I hope you could give me some advice to wake my parents up to the '90s. One more thing: I am the last child out of 12 children and they seem to baby me to protect me from the other kids' mistakes. ... I hope you can come up with some good advice that will help.

PAT AND DAVID: Readers, "It's Your Turn" again. If you've been involved in situations like Laura's, let us know how it's worked out.

In the meantime, Laura, we feel a little uneasy about the relationship you're describing. Your boyfriend probably has finished high school, and you probably still have two to three years to go before graduation. How much are you two really going to have in common during the next few years when he's either in college or in the working world?

Also — whether parents in situations like yours come right out and say it or not — they're usually concerned that a 15-year-old girl might have a hard time saying no to a guy who's three years older.

Building a relationship on the basis of sneaking around is risky business. If you two are determined to see each other and want to convince your parents that you're mature enough to handle your relationship, sit down with them and explain what you two have in common besides chemistry. Let them know the kinds of activities you enjoy together and be willing to accept some guidelines.

JAPANESE STUDENTS RESPOND TO 'WHAT'S

YOUR ATTITUDE?:

We recently asked a group of high school students from Japan who were visiting the Shawnee Mission (Kansas) School District's International Studies Center to complete the same national TALK TO US survey that thousands of American teenagers responded to last fall.

Because this was only one group of Japanese teen-agers, it's not fair to make an actual comparison. We've included the American responses (in parentheses) just to refresh your memory.

Some responses were very similar:

	Japanese	American
	Percent	Percent
Being a teen-ager has been a lot of fun	92	(85)
Feeling an important part of at least one parent's life	84	(89)
Worrying about school grades	84	(87)
Peer pressure causing a lot of teens to have sex even if they'd rather wait	82	(76)

However, the Japanese students had some very different responses to the following:

Parents are divorced or unmarried	4	(35)
Know students who've brought weapons to school	16	(65)
Someone in the family has been the victim of physical or emotional abuse	15	(41)
Feel you can influence the government by the way you vote	16	(59)

This group of Japanese students obviously doesn't feel it has the same clout you have with government. But your clout isn't worth much unless you use it. VOTE '92 UPDATE: Only three months until the election. Don't miss your chance to vote. If you haven't registered, do it now.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SHARON IN CHICAGO: Call the Child and Family Services Agency (793-2100) and tell them what you told us. Ask them if they can help you so that you can get back in contact with your children.
