Despite Republican sloganeering, GOP spin doctoring and improved oratory skills in Monday evening's televised presidential debates, incumbent candidate George Bush has lost the election by a nearly 3-1 margin... at least as far as some Floyd County students are concerned.

Allen Central High School students on Tuesday participated in a mock election organized by teacher Patricia Murphy and her political science class in order to get students interested in the democratic process.

Ballots were cast on an actual polling machine on loan from the county, and students functioned as polling officers and judges.

Murphy said Tuesday that she was very pleased with student participation in the project, and added that she was especially surprised at the interest students had taken in the entire process.

"You should've seen the debates we had," Murphy said. "The students got up there and talked just like real politicians... even when they didn't know what they were talking about they just kept on talking."

More than 230 of the school's students registered to vote in the election, and 137 actually voted.

Of the 137 students that voted in the mock election, 90 cast their ballots for the Bill Clinton/Al Gore Democratic ticket; 15 for Ross Perot/James Stockdale; and 32 for George Bush/Dan Quayle.

Poll officer Jessica Dawn Slone, an ACHS sophomore, said Tuesday that the vast majority of the students registered to vote had

Input may be sought for plan on solid waste management

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Fiscal Court members received a resolution Friday which proposed that the county participate in a community-based solid waste management planning process to prepare for the disposal of Floyd County's solid waste after June 30, 1995.

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond and Big Sandy Area Development District director Roger Recktenwald told the court Friday that community input into the plan is essential to develop a long-term waste disposal plan for the county.

"This is inviting folks like Kentuckians for the Commonwealth and any other citizen groups in to plan for a community-wide meeting," Recktenwald said. "We are going to ask (citizens) to come to meet and participate in the plan. We want to try to have as much public input as possible."

Developing a long-term waste disposal plan and submitting it to the Division of Waste Management for approval is a state mandate under the state's revised solid waste legislation.

Under the new legislation, it will take 33 months for the state to approve a permit for counties to operate a solid waste landfill.

Hammond advised the court to study the resolution and to hold a special meeting within the next two weeks to discuss solid waste issues.

Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens agreed that public involvement was

If state does not act soon on plans :

Landfill could be in hibernation for winter

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Floyd County's landfill woes may continue until next spring, solid waste program director David Cooley said Tuesday, unless the state Cabinet for Natural Resources approves plans for the facility's reopening soon.

The landfill temporarily closed in August in order to comply with new rigid environmental standards, forcing city, county and regional governments to transport all waste to West Virginia and incur much greater waste removal costs.

Despite earlier estimates that the landfill may be reopened as soon as the first week in November, Cooley said Tuesday, plans for that reopening are now "in a holding pattern."

Cooley said that although construction on most of the new facility has been done, costly items necessary for completion of the project cannot be purchased until the Cabinet for Natural Resources Division of Waste Management approves their installation.

If the approval process takes too long, Cooley said, the project may be delayed until 1993 because the rapidly approaching cold weather will inhibit welding of the facility's liner. Welding on the liner cannot be completed if the temperature drops below 45 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Well, the best case scenario is that they'll approve (the resubmitted plans) today and we can order everything tomorrow and get to work," Cooley said. "The worst case... we can't get approval until cold weather hits and we'll have to hold off until spring."

George Gilbert, director for the Division of Waste Management, said Tuesday that he did not anticipate that the approval process would cause any undue delay of the project. However, Gilbert said, division inspectors had found problems with the county's specifications of the liner.

A letter of deficiency will be sent to the county's solid waste commission outlining changes that need to be made in the plans before the state will approve them, Gilbert said.

Floyd County Solid Waste director Bob McAninch said Tuesday that Floyd County engineers met with Division of Waste Management engineers on several occasions to work out any potential problems prior to the resubmission of the landfill plans.

Petitioners want city commissioners to quit

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

More budget cuts for the city of Wheelwright could be in store soon following an announcement at Monday's city commission meeting that the general fund balance is $298.

At Monday's meeting, three city commissioners defended their decision last week to lay off the city's part-time and auxiliary policemen, a city worker and to employ the city clerk only three days a week.

Wheelwright police Chief Charles Harmon is the sole police officer in the city.

A Wheelwright citizen presented commissioners with a petition that called for the police force to be reinstated and asked for the resignations of commissioners Andy Akers, Luther Johnson Jr. and Lowell Parker.

Akers defended the cutbacks and told Harmon, "with only $298, we can't afford gas to keep the police cars running and we're gonna be lucky to keep you going."

Harmon responded that after reviewing the police department budget, he had just over $7 per day, excluding salaries, left to operate the department.

Several citizens at the crowded meeting said that they did not know the petition called for the resignation of the three commissioners.

Mayor Kenneth Johnson, whose name appeared on the petition, told Akers after the meeting that he "didn't read" the petition before he signed it.

Akers said that some of people whose names were on the petition did not live in the city and said that he did not intend to resign.

Sharon Parker, who signed the petition, said Tuesday that she wanted her name removed because it was presented to her under false pretenses.

Safe Trick or Treat night is this Sunday at Holiday Inn

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Parents who want their little ghosts, ghouls and goblins to come home with their pumpkins intact this Halloween can take them to the Holiday Inn this Sunday for a Safe Trick or Treat.

The event is sponsored annually by the Prestonsburg Rotary Club, the Holiday Inn and dozens of area individuals and businesses.

Children up to 12 years old can participate in the Safe Trick or Treat for the small entry fee of one can of food per child. The food will be donated to the local chapter of God's Pantry at Lancer.

The kids can also travel through the all-new Fantasy Land, which is wheelchair accessible. Signing guides will also be available to aid hearing impaired children.

Safe Trick or Treat will be held this Sunday, October 25 from 5 p.m. until 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg.

Tommy Boyd

Boyd is hospitalized after stroke

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County School Board member Tommy Boyd remained in serious condition in a Lexington hospital Tuesday after suffering a stroke Sunday.

Boyd, 66, was at Kentucky Downs in Prestonsburg Sunday with school board chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell when he became ill.

"We had lunch at the lodge and decided to go to (Kentucky Downs)," Campbell said Monday. "I turned around to speak to somebody there and when I turned back around, he was holding his right side. I said 'Tommy what's wrong?' and he never did answer me. That's when I started trying to get an ambulance or something."

Boyd was taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center and was later flown to Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington where he underwent surgery Sunday evening, Campbell said.

Joe Back, a close friend of Boyd, said Tuesday that Boyd had regained consciousness Monday night but remained

A Hueysville couple were arrested Saturday night when Floyd County sheriff's deputies found three pounds of marijuana at their home while responding to a domestic violence complaint.

Larry D. Collins, 31, and his wife, Rebecca Collins, 26, were arrested and charged with trafficking in marijuana, more than eight ounces, less than five pounds; possession of drug paraphernalia and unlawful use of a police radio.

Lieutenant Ricky Thornsberry and deputies Shawn Roop and J.S. Little were dispatched to the Collins residence at Salt Lick Saturday evening after the depart-

Second officer to help expand drug program

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

With children beginning to experiment with drugs at a younger age, a push is on by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department to educate more elementary students with the addition of another D.A.R.E. instructor.

Floyd deputy Dewayne Jarrell joined lone D.A.R.E. officer Ricky Thornsberry this school year in teaching the nationally used D.A.R.E. curriculum in the Floyd County School System.

D.A.R.E., which stands for drug abuse resistance education, is a 16-week course which teaches school children about the effects of drug use, how to handle peer pressure to use drugs; how to build their self esteem; and basic safety rules to follow.

With the addition of a second D.A.R.E. instructor, the sheriff's department will implement the program in kindergarten through third grades this school year.

Jarrell, 24, attended a two-week training class in Lexington this past summer to be certified to teach the course.

"I love teaching the class and being with the kids," Jarrell said. "I'm just a big kid myself. It seems like the kids have learned a lot already. I hope this class will help keep kids off drugs paralyzed on the right side of his body.

Back added that the hospital had been flooded with calls from across the state about Boyd's condition.

"We answered the phone in the (intensive care) waiting room around the clock," Back said Tuesday. "King Kelly Coleman called and so did the commissioner of high school athletics. One of his ball players from his state tournament team at Wayland, Marvin Moore, came to the hospital. There's just a swell of support for Tommy."

Boyd is running unopposed for the district three school board seat in the November 3 election.

Petitioners

Parker said she did not know it called for three commissioners to resign.

In other business Monday, Mayor Johnson read aloud a letter from the utility commission which asked that Commissioner Lowell Parker retract statements he made about the utility commission when he was trying to pass an ordinance to reduce gas rates at the September meeting.

At the September meeting, Parker said the utility commission had "$50,000 in a bank account people don't know about" and "they've got a savings account people don't know about."

"Those statements are blatantly false," the letter said. "We want a retraction of those statements... and we demand a public apology... That was an attempt to lead the citizenry to believe a lie."

Although Commissioner Akers requested to move to the next item on the agenda, Mayor Johnson asked for any discussion on the letter.

After a short pause, Commissioner Parker defended his statements and he did not accuse anyone of falsifying any reports and reasserted that those accounts did exist.

Prior to the reading of the letter, Audrey Yates, who served as clerk at Monday's meeting, read the utility report and explained that a $66,000 escrow account existed as part of a loan agreement to upgrade the city's gas system.

Yates said that the agreement called for the account to maintain a balance of $50,000 and that the excess revenue came about because the funds were drawing interest in certificates of deposits and money market accounts. Yates said she didn't think that interest could be withdrawn from the account.

Parker said that many citizens were unaware of that account and a $7,000 building account. Parker said the accounts were, in reality, savings accounts and the public is not aware that they exist because they do not attend the utility commission meetings.

Utility Commission Chairman Randall Johnson told Parker that the commission wanted an apology and retraction.

"If I can't satisfy you with my explanation, it's not my problem," Parker said.

"An attorney will be contacting you," Johnson told Parker.

"Fine," Parker replied.

The commission tabled Monday a proposal for commissioners to be reassigned to different departments in city government. Each commissioner is responsible for overseeing the operation of specific city departments.

Although not discussed, the reassignment proposal prompted Commissioner Alan Taylor to say, "any commissioner that don't like his job or if he can't do it should resign."

Taylor added "we're not trading nobody."

In other business conducted at Monday's meeting, commissioners granted two weeks leave to city clerk Mary Ann Johnson because of a family illness.

All commissioners were at Monday's meeting and the next regular meeting of the commission will be Monday, November 16 at 7 p.m. at city hall. The meetings are open to the public.

needed in developing a long-range plan for the county.

"If people know what's coming they're not likely to get up in arms about it," Owens said.

The court voted to table the issue until a special meeting is called to take on the proposed resolution.

In other business Friday, the court heard from Terry Triplett who represented a majority of volunteer fire departments in the county. Triplett asked the court about the county's E 911 system and requested that a meeting be held with all the fire departments to discuss what type of equipment will be needed to connect the departments with the system.

Triplett said he had been told that Dan Cooley, who oversees the project for Big Sandy ADD, would be at Friday's meeting to recommend the purchase of equipment for the system.

"The fire departments would like to have a meeting with everyone so we know what's needed and to see if (the equipment) will work," Triplett said.

Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo told Triplett that Cooley wanted an inventory of equipment that county fire departments use to determine how to integrate the departments into the system. Stumbo said no equipment has been ordered and a meeting with all the parties involved could be arranged.

Other action Friday included:

- approval to advertise taking a road at Allen into the county road system;
- approval of a resolution to enter into a lease agreement with Big Sandy

ADD for the construction of a new office building for Big Sandy ADD at Cliff;

- approval of the second reading of an ordinance on refinancing mortgage bonds;
- approval of a resolution to keep the same county property tax rate of 16.2 cents per $100 assessment;
- approval to hire Peggy Compton as a jail matron; Tommy Keathley as a county road worker; and Marty Howard as a deputy jailer; and
- approval to raise the pay of assistant janitor Tim Yates to $6 per hour.

The court went into closed session to hear a report concerning industrial prospects from Darrell Gilliam, director of the county's industrial development authority. No action was taken in open session concerning the report.

All court members were at Friday's meeting and the next regular meeting of the fiscal court will be Friday, November 20 at 10 a.m. at the Floyd County Courthouse Annex. The meetings are open to the public.

ment received a complaint that Larry Collins was going to kill his wife.

When deputies arrived, they found that Collins was not armed and noticed the smell of smoked marijuana in the residence, Thornsberry said Monday.

"Acting on the smell, we went into the house and told them we knew there was marijuana in the home and asked them where it was," Thornsberry said. "They gave us a bank bag with some marijuana in it. I could tell by it being in a bank bag that there was more marijuana in the home. I told them they could either give us permission to search the home or we could get a warrant."

Thornsberry said the couple gave permission to search the house and Roop found a garbage bag beside the couch in the living room containing approximately two and three-fourths pounds of marijuana. Deputies also recovered a 10 milligram Valium tablet; a set of scales; several roach clips; a police scanner and rolling papers.

and in my opinion it will, but we have to have the parents involved, too."

Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson said that with the addition of Jarrell to the D.A.R.E. program, approximately 2,500 students in K-3 will be participating in the program.

"The addition of a second D.A.R.E. officer gives us an additional impact in the schools by implementing the class in the primary grades," Thompson said. "We'll be able to reach students earlier. The program is not only designed to warn them of the dangers of drugs, it also teaches them basic safety rules."

"By being able to reach students at an earlier age, this is one more step by the sheriff's department to try to eliminate drugs in the Floyd County School System by teaching children about the effects drugs will have on their lives," Thompson added. "We are already teaching the D.A.R.E. program to 900 fifth grade students in the schools."

Officer Thornsberry gave Jarrell high marks for his first few months of teaching.

"I'm pleased to have him on board and he's doing a good job," Thornsberry said. "We've added three more schools to the program this year and we can add the primary curriculum that we haven't been able to do before. We're hoping to make a real difference in the future of the kids in the county."

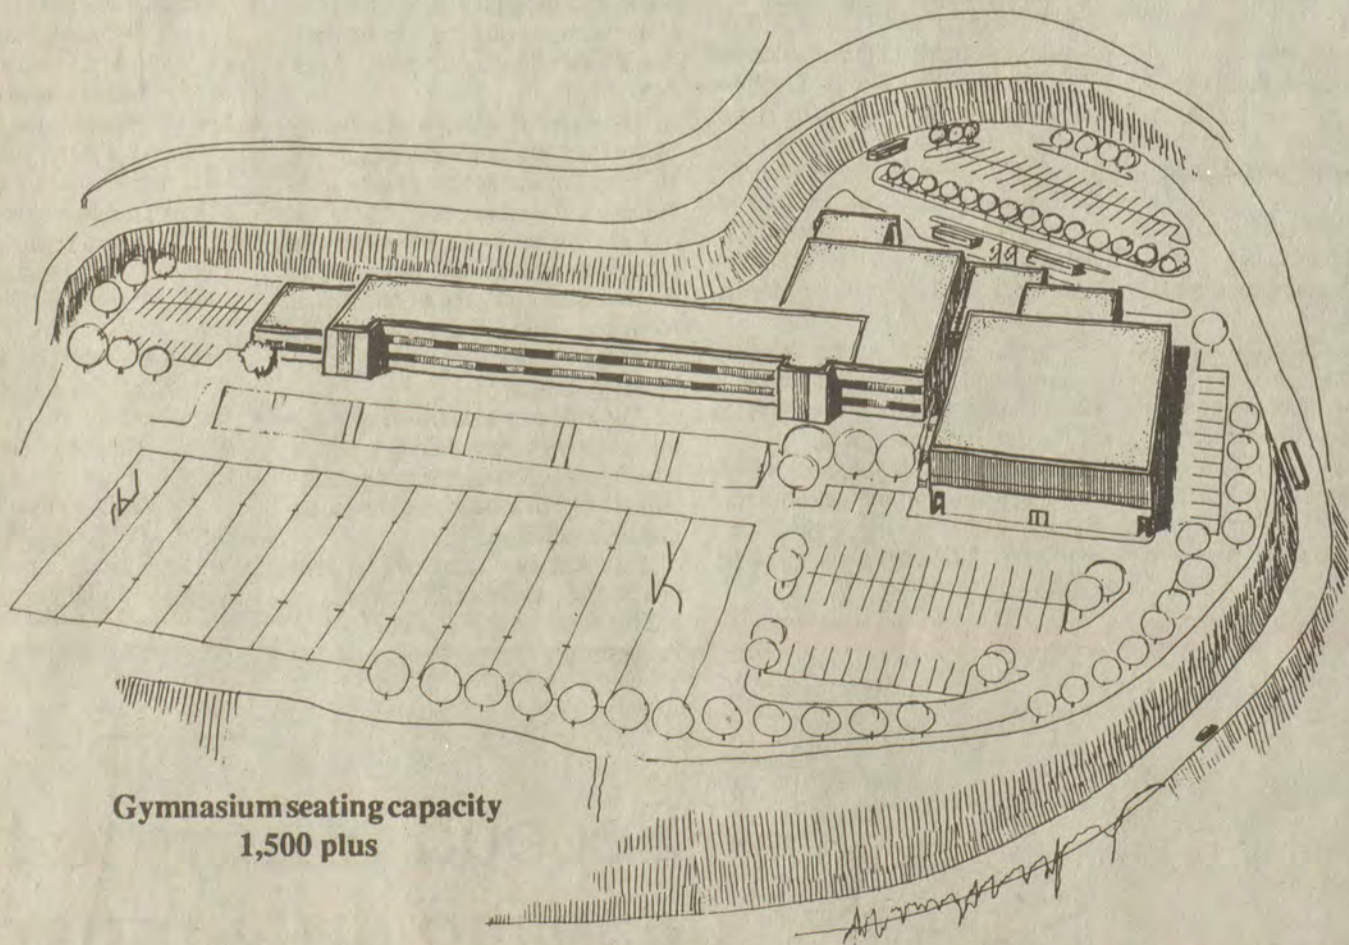

With the second instructor on board, Thornsberry said the department will also be able work more with parents.

"This will allow me time to work with younger kids and more parent groups," Thornsberry said. "We can teach a broader age group because we are both qualified to teach grades K-6."

Thornsberry said the department is getting requests from parent groups to speak at their meetings about the D.A.R.E. program and to inform parents about the various drugs that children can come in contact with.

Any group or organization wanting the department to present its demonstration can call the sheriff's department at 886-6711 or 1-800-834-5430 to schedule the program.

"Trust for Life" aided by drivers

Kentucky drivers are the first in the nation to have an opportunity to help those in need when they obtain or renew their license.

Drivers will be advised that they have the option of donating one dollar to the "Trust for Life."

To insure everyone in Kentucky is made aware of this new option, the Circuit Clerks joined together with donor families, recipients and others at Lexington's University of Kentucky Medical Center to announce their new statewide program.

The Trust for Life was founded by the Kentucky Circuit Clerks Association, under the direction of President John Kearns, after state law was passed by the General Assembly. This law grants applicants the opportunity to make voluntary charitable contributions to increase public awareness and education for organ/tissue donation.

The Trust, which is a non-profit corporation, was formed to accomplish these goals. The nine member Board of Directors will consist of five current Circuit Court Clerks, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Kentucky, a surgeon from either the University of Louisville or the University of Kentucky Medical Center, a member from Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates and an organ recipient.

Dr. Bruce Lucas, M.D., a transplant surgeon at the University of Kentucky Medical Center, said that nationally, over 28,000 people await organ transplants. In Kentucky, over 200 are currently on the waiting list. Unfortunately, 5-7 die daily while waiting for these life saving transplants. "This program will allow us to help save some of those lives", Lucas said.

The concept of this program was initiated two years ago in Jefferson County by Circuit Court Clerk Tony Miller. Miller said that his office teamed up with Kentucky Organ Donor Affiliates (K.O.D.A.) in 1990 to emphasize the importance of having drivers sign the back of their licenses and informing their families of their wishes. According to K.O.D.A., in 1991 awareness increased by 42% in Kentucky.

Jack Wellman, a heart recipient, said that "these efforts show that Kentucky is a leader in helping those in need and that by drivers pledging their anatomical gifts, others may live."

McDowell family resource center offers community many services

by Lisa Hobson
Contributing Writer

One result of the Kentucky Education Reform Act has been the establishment of family resource centers in each school district. The McDowell Family Resource/Youth Services Center, one of these such centers, had opened this school year to much success. The goal of the center is to make available to students enrolled in McDowell High School and McDowell Grade School and their families a variety of services, activities, and programs that may enrich their lives.

The center, which is located on the McDowell campus, has offered many services to the community in the past month. Among these was an Arts and Crafts Night on September 29. Twenty-eight people were present and took part in such activities as decorating shirts and making masks. The center plans to make this a monthly event.

The month of October will hold many events to which the community is invited. There will be a meeting on October 8, at 9 a.m. at the center to start G.E.D. classes one day a week. If you are interested in the class, please attend the meeting. On October 12, at 1 p.m., a drug awareness program will be held by Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson for the students of McDowell Grade School and high school. A G.E.D. night class was taught on October 13 from 6-9 p.m. This class will be held every Tuesday and Thursday.

Dr. Margaret Lewis of PCC will teach a beginner's computer class free of charge starting October 14. The four-week class will meet every Wednesday night from 6-8 p.m. On October 15, a free skin care program will be held from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the school. At 6:30 p.m. on October 19, Sheriff Thompson will repeat his drug awareness program for everyone. A 12-week parenting class will also begin October 19. It will be held every Monday, from 5-6:30 p.m.

All of the programs mentioned are sponsored by the McDowell Family Resource/Youth Services Center. If anyone has questions, please contact the center director, Clara Johnson, at 377-2678.

AAFP Halloween Safety Checklist

1. Costumes
  - wear flame-retardant materials
  - avoid billowy costumes
  - wear white or light-colored costumes (use reflective materials in the evening)
  - avoid wigs (they can burst into flames)
  - makeup is safer than masks
  - for children wearing masks, take them off between trick-or-treat stops
  - avoid oversized shoes
  - props such as magic wands and swords should be cardboard, not metal or wood
  - carry a flashlight
  - avoid jack-o'-lanterns illuminated by candles
  - avoid dogs (even your own dog may be frightened by a costume)
2. Walkers
  - walk on the sidewalk or grass
  - if you must walk on the street, walk on the left side facing traffic
  - cross the street only from corners or at crosswalks
  - never dart between parked vehicles
  - observe all traffic signals
  - look both ways before crossing the street
  - watch for cars turning at intersections or into driveways
3. Trick-or-treat Do's and Don'ts
  - parents should set rules such as boundaries and curfews and enforce them
  - young children should be accompanied by a parent or responsible adult
  - older children not accompanied by parents or adults should travel with friends
  - stay in your own neighborhood and go only to homes of family or friends
  - go only to those homes which are well-lit
  - do not go inside a home or building to accept treats
  - have parents check treats before eating (do not eat any treats before they are examined)
  - some hospitals will X-ray treats (call local hospitals to see if they offer this service)
  - have a parent or other adult cut all fruit and candy into sections before eating 4. Drivers/Homeowners
  - clean your windshield and headlights before driving
  - be alert for children darting into the street (be prepared to give trick-or-treaters the right-of-way)
  - park your car in the driveway or in the garage to prevent vandalism
  - keep pets indoors
  - keep your home illuminated
  - be sure walkways and stairs are free of obstructions
  - don't leave lighted pumpkins where a child's costume could be ignited
  - greet trick-or-treaters at the door (do not encourage them to come inside)
  - wrap treats that are loose or homemade
  - put your name and phone number on treats so parents will know where they came from
  - Halloween comes once a year (discourage trick-or-treaters who come before or after the actual date) registered as Democrats, so Clinton had the advantage going into the election anyway.

Byron Ring, one of the few students who registered Republican, said he didn't mind being in the minority, but added that he voted for Bush mainly because he was the Republican candidate, not because of his stand on the issues.

Rebecca Martin, a strong Clinton supporter, said that she and a friend had voted Democratic because they were "smart women."

"I just believe what (Clinton) says more than I believe Bush," Rebecca said. "And... I think it's time for a change...."

Although the presidential election was of primary interest to most of the students, a few also cast their ballots for the District 5 schoolboard election. Of the schoolboard candidates, Hattie Cooley Owens led the pack with 26 votes; Jeffrey Prater received eight votes; Phyllis Honshell, eight; Charles Ousley, eight; and Rabon Flannery, 1.

Just say "yes"

by Scott Perry

Kentuckians will have the opportunity in just under three weeks to shove their 1800s-vintage constitution into the 20th century.

Considering that there is just a handful of years left in the century, the chance comes --as singer Bonnie Rait might suggest-- just in the nick of time.

Fundamental changes to the state's constitution are offered in three proposed amendments that will appear on the November 3 ballot. Two of those amendments will restructure our state government.

Amendment Number Two will allow the governor, beginning with the person elected in 1995, to serve two consecutive terms. Amendments two and three also propose that:

- The governor and lieutenant governor be elected as a slate, rather than separately;
- The lieutenant governor does not automatically become governor as soon as the elected governor leaves the state;
- A line of succession is established to replace the governor should the office become vacant;
- The offices of superintendent of public instruction, register of land office and railroad commission be eliminated;
- The offices of agriculture commissioner, secretary of state and state treasurer become appointed positions instead of elected offices; and
- The number of elections (we now have one every six months) will be reduced.

Amendment Number One proposes that charitable gaming, like bingo, be legalized under state scrutiny and regulation and only as a means of fund raising for charities.

All of the proposed amendments are worthy of your support on November 3.

We'll vote "yes" on each.

Letters To The Editor

Letters to the Editor are welcomed by the Floyd County Times.

In accordance with our editorial page policy, all letters must include the signature, address and telephone number of the author.

Letters must be received no later than 10 a.m. Tuesday for publication in Wednesday's issue and 10 a.m. Thursday for Friday's issue.

Letters may be sent to Editor, The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

Letters may be edited for clarity and length.

Safe driving

Editor:

When will the motorists quit running stop signs and when will the city stop installing them?

Sometime past we talked to the city police chief. He informed us that the police had stopped giving citations for this violation since there was one hundred lying idle in the district court that the judge had not attempted to prosecute.

When will the motorists start using their turn signals?

It is downright disgusting to be driving behind someone and their brake lights light up and maybe they come to a stop, depending on the movement of traffic. Leisurely they will turn one direction or the other, right or left—at leisure.

We have in our possession a letter that KRS 189-380 requires that no person shall turn a vehicle or move right or left on a highway until such can be done safely after giving appropriate signal indicating the intention to turn continuously, not less than one hundred feet before the turn. Violation of this statute is a fine between twenty and one hundred dollars.

No help from police department

Editor:

I am writing this letter in regards to something that happened to me yesterday. It started off as a bad day. I thought I was off work, and my boss called and said, "You're late."

When I finally got to work 1 1/2 hours later, I got out of my car and locked the keys up in it.

So later on that evening I called the Prestonsburg Police Department and when I asked them for help they said, "It will be $5."

I said, "Well, you used to do it for free." Then I hung up the phone and got some boys that I work with to help me. But you know what makes me mad? It's that I live in Eastern and I drive to Winn-Dixie everyday and I go to P.C.C. I buy my clothes, I buy my food, and I pay my city taxes in Prestonsburg.

All I wanted was some help from one of the men at the police station. About 15 minutes of their time. I can't count the number of times when I worked for a nice man named Billy Ray Collins and served you guys your food.

Whatever happened to helping someone out, without a charge?

Rumor squelched

Editor:

There has been a malicious rumor circulating in which my identity has been mistaken and I have been falsely accused. I would like to set the record straight!

My name is Sabrina Little. I live at Goble-Roberts, Prestonsburg. I am 31 years of age. I have been a resident of Floyd County nearly all my life. I am a licensed respiratory therapist and a registered nurse. I am employed by the U.K. Medical Center and I work in the open heart intensive care unit. I am the mother of a 12 year old son. I recently purchased a new home and a car in which I coincidentally purchased additional health and life insurance. With all due respect, I am single, happy, completely healthy and I am most definitely HIV negative.

From this point on, any further rumor that is spread with malicious intent will be presumed as a slanderous act and therefore will be treated as such.

by Scott Perry

Barring some miracle or debacle, depending on which side you're on, the GOP's reign in the White House is about to come to an end.

We suspect that no matter which side you're on, that possibility stirs a mixture of feelings, including some healthy doses of both anticipation and trepidation.

This is our sixth presidential election since we became eligible to vote, and we can't think of a prior campaign where the matter of choice was so agonizingly difficult.

A Clinton presidency offers the promise of change intermingled with recollections of the disastrous Carter years, when a Democratic Congress and Democratic White House conspired to lead this country to the brink of doom.

A Bush presidency can promise little more than more of the same from an economic angle, but it does guarantee that our system of checks and balances will prevent a slipshod Congress from running roughshod over the electorate.

Oh well, nobody said democracy would be easy, or painless.
Ain't it the truth?

Those who suggested that Billy Ray Cyrus was a one-hit wonder who could neither sing nor dance got their comeuppance Saturday evening when Cyrus did a masterful job with the National Anthem prior to the opening game of the World Series.

We're no fan of country music, but truth is truth.

That boy can sing.

The frost is on the pumpkin.

The weather is changing, the leaves are changing, the times are changing.
Or is that the time is changing?

The most depressing day of the year arrives Sunday, October 25 when Daylight Savings Time goes into hibernation. Set your clocks back an hour, prepare for early evening darkness and huddle up for winter.
Yuck.

While we have often blamed many of our country's woes on the erosion of family values, we are not among those who would impose their beliefs, religious or otherwise, on our nation.

Louisiana minister Billy McCormack, a member of the Christian Coalition's national board of directors, provides a perfect example of the narrow-mindedness that threatens our country's future.

"We're just plain, ordinary citizens," McCormack said of his organization. "We love God, our community. We want people to prosper. We are a tolerate people, but we won't tolerate those who want to destroy this nation."

Sounds like a line right out of Hitler's Mein Kampf.

What will McCormack and company do with those they "won't tolerate," ship them off to the gas chambers?

Never again.

Action speaks louder than words

Editor:
In November, the people of Floyd County will have an opportunity to vote for three individuals who will occupy seats on the Floyd County Board of Education. This election will determine the kind of Board of Education that we will have for the next four years. This election will speak stronger than any words can about what we want for Floyd County and our children.

In District 5, voters have a chance to make a decision that will affect the rest of us in Floyd County. Voters in District 5 have the opportunity to choose a different kind of board member and in doing so, they can send a message around the state that the people in Floyd County care more about our schools and our children than we do about politics or personal gain. They can vote for a candidate that has devoted more than thirty years to education, one that is not being "run" by any politician in the county or controlled by any group but whose main qualification is that she cares about good education.

An associate professor at Prestonsburg Community College, Phyllis Honshell is a professional. She is well-educated and knowledgeable about the reform act and the issues that concern parents. For two years, she was the chairperson of the long-range planning committee that made recommendations about the future of Floyd County schools. She knows education and the issues that are involved. She cares about students and she will put them above everything else, and that is what we need in this county.

I'm sorry I can't cast a vote in this election. If I could, I would vote for Phyllis Honshell. She will be a board member that all of the people in Floyd County can be proud of. It is encouraging to know that someone with her qualifications is running for the seat and it speaks well of the people in District 5.

Parent concerned about bus route

Editor:
Out of concern for the safety of the children who ride bus No. 2692, driven by Denver Ousley, I am writing this.

This bus is traveling the old Abbott Mountain instead of the new four lane when no children get on or off the bus. The Abbott Mountain Road has always been dangerous. There are no guard rails in some places and there are old decayed ones in some.

The only reason this route is taken is because of an Auxier School employee rides the bus home. It is to my understanding that adult school employees are not to ride the bus. Besides that this lady could get off at the new road and walk up to her driveway.

I have spoken to Earl Ousley transportation director, with no avail because the bus is still taking this route.

We who have children who have had to travel this road before the new one was built know the danger of Abbott Mountain.

I, for one, feel that this is all uncalculated for and I have spoken with other parents and they feel the same. An accident is waiting to happen.

Kay Smith
East Point

Editor's Note: Denver Ousley does drive his school bus across the old Abbott Mountain Road, according to Earl D. Ousley, transportation director, because three young children now live in that area. Two of the children have to walk approximately 0.9 of a mile if the bus driver lets the children off at the new road, Ousley said. The other child would walk ap- proximately 1,000 feet to get home. Ousley said the old road had been worked on and now looks "to be safer" now than before construction. These families with children moved into this area recently, and the bus began traveling the old road to provide transportation for these students, Ousley said.

Reader says: Hunters, know your candidate

Editor:
I wish the Hunters of Kentucky would think about who they will vote for before November 3. Bill Clinton is the only candidate running for President who supports the "Gun Control Law."

I think they should put criminals in prison instead of taking our guns. This would disarm Americans and this is a dangerous thing to do.

Support is appreciated

Editor:
The faculty and students of Clark Elementary School would like to thank the people of our community for giving their time and talent to the children at our school during Young Authors Kick-Off Week.

In sharing their interest in reading and writing they helped the children gain a deeper awareness and appreciation of the role reading and writing can play in their lives. The visits to the classrooms were enjoyed very much by students and their educational experiences have been enriched.

Magoffin official dies

Magoffin Judge-Executive Charles Allen lost a year-long battle with cancer Monday, leaving his county to struggle with a deepening financial and political crisis.

Mr. Allen, 63, who was at the center of a fight over a proposed mega-landfill, died about 3:30 a.m. at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Mr. Allen had been in the hospital since August.

Mr. Allen still had one year remaining in his term, and Gov. Brereton Jones is expected to appoint a successor within the next two weeks, said Michael Hammons, state director of boards and commissions.

As preparations for Mr. Allen's burial were being made, an advisor from the state Department for Local Government was in Salyersville trying to help the Eastern Kentucky county through a financial mine field.

Local Government adviser Lonnie Campbell warned the county in late August that it was already over its budget in one area and in danger of spending everything it had allocated for the year in others.

Citing state law, Campbell yesterday told Judge-Executive Pro-Tem Henry Clay Sizemore - who has been in charge since Mr. Allen's illness - that his job was automatically terminated with Mr. Allen's death.

Mr. Allen was county Democratic Party chairman for 12 years and operated a coal-trucking business in Salyersville before being elected judge-executive in 1989.

Mr. Allen is survived by his wife, Hester Minix Allen; his mother, Loretta Allen of Salyersville; two stepsons, Michael Patrick and Larry Caldwell, both of Salyersville; a brother, former state Rep. Darvin Allen of Salyersville; two sisters, Berta Grace Boatright of West Palm Beach, Fla., and Freda B. Risner of Wheatfield, Ind.; six step-grandchildren; and a step-great-grandchild.

Services will be 1 p.m. Wednesday at the Magoffin County High School gymnasium. - The Lexington Herald-Leader

Return to Appalachia

By Jeffrey D. Damron
The writer, a native of Eastern Kentucky, now lives and works in Lexington.

I spent the first 20 years of my life in Appalachia. Although I moved away from Eastern Kentucky 10 years ago, my two brothers still live there, and I try to return at least four times a year.

Now I live in Lexington, where I am an associate in a prestigious law firm. But I still have a deep affection for the area I call home.

Somewhat the beauty and charm of the area never seem to reach people beyond the mountains, and television images manage to make it all look so grim and depressing.

A couple of years ago, CBS's "48 Hours" broadcast a feature on the region, and a great part of it was filmed in a hollow called Muddy Gut, Ky., near my childhood home.

The program contained all the stereotypes associated with Appalachia—poorly educated welfare recipients, tiny cabins in desolate landscapes (these things are always filmed in the dead of winter), unpaved roads, poor health care, etc.

Given such images, it's no wonder that Appalachia is viewed with disdain by much of the nation. My own impressions are brighter.

The Appalachia I know is beautiful. Its treeladen hills and serene valleys are perfectly matched to a slower pace of life.

My fondest memories are of wandering in the hilly woods around my home, where cool breezes always blow on even the hottest days, and where trees blaze with spectacular hues of red and gold every autumn.

Appalachia's beauty never seems to make it out of the mountains and into the national media. Indeed, it is the mountains that have for so long secluded this area from the rest of the world.

In an industrial age, it made little sense to industrialize here—the valleys are too narrow for large cities. And transporting manufactured goods around and over the many mountains is much too difficult and expensive.

On the south side of the hill that adjoins Muddy Gut is the cemetery where my parents, grandparents and great-grandparents lie. From that cemetery you can see my former home in Weeksbury—a hamlet of a few hundred souls.

Like many Appalachian communities, Weeksbury was established as a coal town. Advancing technology and many other factors have steadily reduced, and continue to reduce, the number of coal miners needed in

Appalachia

The result has been decades of unemployment, poverty, welfare and emigration. And this has caused an erosion of the remaining population's spirit and ambition.

My family owned a store, and our home would have been considered typically middle class by most of America. We were considered rich, and the house—a brick ranch—was thought a mansion by many of my classmates.

Lowered expectations and living standards are the norm for Appalachia; mediocrity is the best you can hope for.

Coasting through school, doing as little as I could to get my grades and showing no signs of being a genius, I was still made valedictorian. When I was a high-school junior, I attended my first "career day."

People from various professions visited the school, including a pharmacist, several military representatives, an attorney and a nurse.

For a large number in the class, this was their first contact with someone in any profession other than coal mining.

Making a choice at an eleventh-hour career day is no choice. By then, it is too late to get inspiration to study and learn disciplines necessary for college.

My senior class graduated some 65 students. Only three of us went on to college and earned degrees. I, like my grandfather, great-uncle and a brother, became an attorney.

The other two college graduates became teachers. Each of them had a parent who was a teacher. We three were privileged because we had role models long before attending a career day.

To have positive working examples in a child's early life is an important growing tool, and, sadly, they're missing for a great many. Especially in this part of the world.

There could be a great opportunity to enhance the region's economy while preserving its physical seclusion and improving the quality of life. Power and wealth these days are derived increasingly from technology and the transfer of knowledge.

Immediate access to ever-changing information becomes ever more valuable. This leaves the poor of Appalachia even farther behind. That same technology, however, can hold the key to helping revitalize the area.

A person living in Muddy Gut could receive and send information—with fax machines and computers, for instance—to and from the rest of the world as quickly as someone in New York City.

Change on a major scale can't happen until Appalachians themselves embrace it. What's needed is a renewed spirit of hope and purpose to believe that good things can happen, the incentive and inclination to make that difference, to see opportunities, particularly for the children.

The education offered in much of Appalachia is dismal, and some make no effort to take advantage of even that. Lots of kids have no idea of the value and objective of basic learning as to means to a working life, so there's no ambition to acquire more than rudimentary skills.

Returning Appalachians who have ventured out and come back to live could share their discoveries with the young.

Regular school visits from emigrant mountaineers as successful role models in a child's early years can only encourage learning and give promise for the future. "If I can do it, you can do it" should be the message.

Through emigration, Appalachia has spread its seeds far and wide. Those lucky enough to have seen the world beyond the mountains should make a cultural pilgrimage to Appalachia and look around.

Of course, providing examples alone will not cure the ills of poverty and inured apathy.

But wars are won from cumulative effects—to instill in just a few an increased measure of confidence, a desire to succeed, is to keep alive the hope that, one day, the war on poverty will be won.

Man sentenced in coal-mine fraud

Three men were sentenced last week for their involvement in defrauding the U.S. Office of Surface Mining by not paying correct abandoned mine land fees on an underground mine in Letcher County.

James Polly, 40, pleaded guilty to defrauding the OSM and to using the U.S. mails to defraud the agency by underreporting the coal tonnage production at the Black Diamond Coal Company No. 1 Mine between July 1989 and July 1990, according to a statement issued by the U.S. Attorney for Eastern Kentucky, and he will serve all weekends in the Pike County jail for six months.

His brother, Herman Polly, 38, pleaded guilty to one misdemeanor charge of making a false statement in a fee report filed with the OSM. He was sentenced to three years probation and will serve all weekends in the Pike jail for one month.

David Jones, 39, of Thornhill, Tenn., pleaded

Driving costs up slightly in third quarter, AAA says

The cost of owning and operating a new car increased slightly during the third quarter of 1992, up .1 cent to 39.1 cents per mile, AAA Blue Grass/Kentucky reports.

The slight increase in costs brings the average annual driving expenditure to $5,865 based on 15,000 miles of driving, up $15 from the previous quarter.

The average per-mile cost is determined by combining operating and ownership costs. During the third quarter, motorists paid an average 9.1 cents per mile in operating costs (gas, oil, maintenance and tires). Ownership costs (insurance, license, registration, taxes, depreciation and finance charges) averaged $12.33 per day.

AAA's driving costs are based on a composite national average for operating three domestically built cars - a subcompact Ford Escort LX, a mid-size Ford Taurus L and a full-size Chevrolet Caprice, each driven 15,000 miles per year.

New England, at 40.9 cents per mile, was the most expensive region in which to own and operate a car, while the Midwest was least expensive at 37.8 cents. The Southeast, including Kentucky, averaged 38.2 cents per mile.

Copies of "Your Driving Costs" a pamphlet for computing driving expenses is available at no charge from AAA by calling 233-1111 (toll-free 1-800-568-5222) or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to AAA Public Relations, P.O. Box 1581, Lexington, KY 40592

After School

When children are home alone after school, parents can make the home safer and more comfortable. Children should have their own key to the house. It is unwise to hide a key outside, all crooks know the likely hiding places. Once inside, children should be instructed to lock all doors. Make sure children know how to use the phone. Practice using it with them and give instruction to never tell callers that Mom and Dad aren't home. Children can say that parents are in the shower, asleep or simply unable to come to the phone. Post all emergency numbers, insurance information, where parents can be reached, and numbers of neighbors by the phone. Teach your child his exact address so he can direct emergency personnel to the correct address. Install smoke alarms so he will be able to evacuate the house if he hears it. In most areas, 911 is still the best number to know in case of an emergency! Simple, safe precautions make life easier for everyone. Knowing how to keep safe can make School Time—Fun Time!

You can beat breast cancer. Jackie Newton is living proof.

"My breast cancer was found from my routine mammogram. It was very small, .6 centimeters. And I was very lucky that the mammogram picked it up. A few years ago, because my cancer was so deep, it would have been too late. I would have been dead."

Jackie Newton, of Paintsville, learned she was at risk because of a family history of cancer. She learned to do breast self exams (BSE) and followed a schedule of mammograms at the Breast Center. There, the tiny lump was found.

The Breast Center staff was there for Jackie. "Somehow, I just knew it was cancer. Denice (the Nurse Educator) held me and cried with me...she and Connie and the other girls at the Breast Center...they're just a great bunch of people.

Early detection paid off for Jackie "I got rid of it and I'm doing great."

Her advice? "BSE's are important. When I came to the Breast Center, Denice did a lot to help me do the right kind of breast exam." And—"there is a little discomfort with the mammogram, but it's well worth the few minutes to save your life."

EKU schedules open house in Prestonsburg

Prospective college students and their parents will have a chance to learn more about college life at Eastern Kentucky University on Thursday, Nov. 5, during EKU's Open House in Prestonsburg.

The open house, 6:30-9:30 p.m. at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn, will give students and their parents an opportunity to talk to academic representatives and persons from EKU's financial aid office and the graduate school.

Students and parents from Prestonsburg, Pikeville, Paintsville, Salyersville, and surrounding counties are especially urged to attend. More than 400 current EKU students are from Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, and Pike counties, while more than 1,000 EKU graduates live in those counties, EKU officials said.

"The decision on which college or university to attend is serious business," said Les Grigsby, EKU director of admissions. He said the open house will allow students to talk first-

Blood Center hosts monthly community blood drive

On Tuesday, October 27, and Thursday, October 29, Central Kentucky Blood Center will sponsor the monthly Prestonsburg/Floyd County community blood drive. The drive will be held from 11 a.m. - 1 p.m. on Tuesday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday at the Prestonsburg Donor Center located on the second floor of the municipal building on North Lake Drive.

Central Kentucky Blood Center is the only provider of blood and blood components to Floyd County hospitals which include Highlands Regional, Our Lady of the Way, and McDowell Appalachian Regional.

The need for blood donors is increasing. In fact, over 200 donors are needed daily to meet the needs of area residents and patients in the Central Kentucky Blood Center service area including Floyd County. Sixty percent of the population will need blood sometime during their lives, yet only five percent of the population has donated blood. Also, blood only lasts 30 days so monthly blood drives are essential for maintaining an adequate blood supply.

Please take time to support the ongoing blood needs of Floyd County by becoming a regular blood donor. Your participation in the monthly community blood drive does make a difference.

For more information or to make an appointment call Central Kentucky Blood Center at 1-800-775-2522 or Georgia Sanders at 886-1557.

CAP conducts weekend camp for VIPS kids

Visually Impaired Preschool Services (VIPS) of Martin recently held a weekend camp for families with children having visual impairments. Four families and several volunteers gathered together for a weekend of family fun. Although the families did not know each other before the camp, they soon found encouragement, laughter, support, and friendship as they shared stories and expressed common concerns for their children.

Activities included riding paddle boats on Dewey Lake, playing horse shoes, a cookout and a marshmallow roast. Melinda Atkins, an interventionist from VIPS-Louisville, gave a presentation to parents as volunteers lead the children on a nature hike and a scavenger hunt. Pastor Arliss Beavers led worship services Sunday morning and the children participated in children's church.

In addition to a five hundred dollar grant and use of camp facilities from the Christian Appalachian Project (CAP), other donors included Hardee's of Prestonsburg and McDonald's of Salyersville.

VIPS-Martin is a joint effort between VIPS-Louisville and CAP known as the Appalachian Training Outreach Project (ATOP). ATOP is supported by the American Foundation for the Blind and the Hilton/Perkins National Program of Perkins School for the Blind, Watertown, Massachusetts. The Hilton/Perkins National Program is funded by a grant from the Conrad N. Hilton Foundation of Los Angeles, California.

Vote for JEFFREY PRATER School Board Member District 5

THE FOLLOWING ARE SOME OF THE AREAS I WOULD LIKE TO SEE IMPROVED:

- (1) More parent-teacher involvement
- (2) Increased student motivation
- (3) Increased funding for classroom supplies
- (4) More communication between administrators and school employees

I would always welcome the suggestions of all those interested in improving Floyd County schools.

I NEED THE SUPPORT OF ALL INTERESTED PERSONS IN DISTRICT 5.

Together We Can Make A Difference!

TO THE VOTERS OF DISTRICT 5:

We have known Jeff Prater since he was a boy. We recommend him to you without reservations. In all the years we have known Jeff we have yet to hear a word of criticism of him.

Jeff is intelligent, honest and carefully weighs his decisions. He is unusual in the fact that he has the judgement of a much older person. He cannot be swayed against his better judgement. We have had occasion to observe him in many different situations.

Jeff has two little reasons for running for school board member. One is named Daniel, age 4 and the other is named Daryl, age 2. Jeff wants to see Floyd County schools improved so that all the children in Floyd County will receive the best education possible.

We realize that Jeff is not well-known. If you would like to find out more about him, ask anyone from the Hueysville area or the men who work with him at REA.

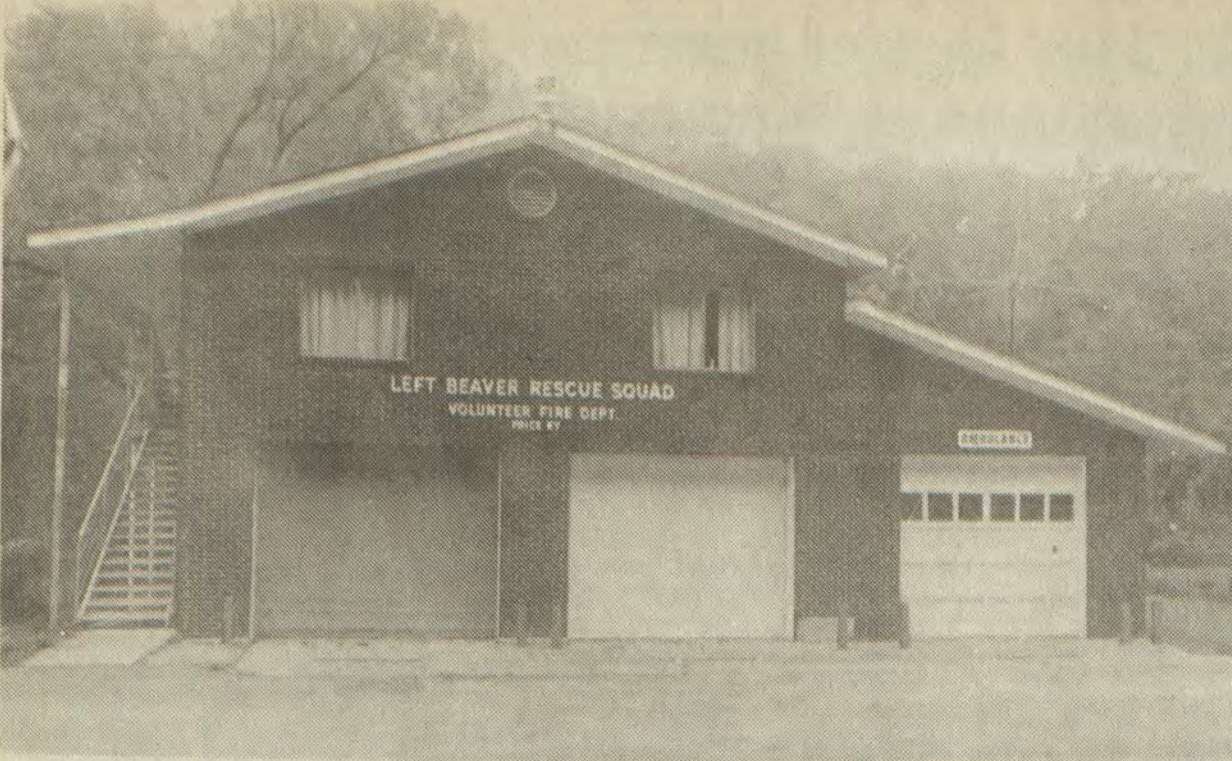

The most important people to children, after their parents, are their teachers. We have some wonderful teachers in Floyd County. The headlines could someday read "FLOYD COUNTY—MOST IMPROVED SCHOOLS." Give Jeff a chance to help bring about changes in the school system that will make this possible.

WE URGE EVERY PARENT INTERESTED IN IMPROVING FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOLS TO HELP JEFF IN EVERY WAY POSSIBLE. He works full time and does not have much time to campaign. If you cannot actively campaign for him, call as many people as possible. Especially see that they go out to vote.

YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED IN JEFF.

Community Concert Series will educate as well as entertain

Classic and country will combine to create one of the most outstanding seasons of musical pleasure hosted by the Community Concert Series.

Local organizers of the event have put together a program that will educate as well as entertain, and music students are urged to attend these performances.

The concert series begins November 9 at 7:30 p.m. at Jenny Wiley State Park with the flute and guitar duo of Ware-Patterson. Those interested in the haunting melody of flutes shouldn't miss this performance. Bettini Ware will perform on the base flute, a rarity in concert performances, and will also explain various flutes.

Her partner in the duo is Richard Patterson, who trained with Segovia, the grand old man of guitar. Patterson's performance will be of particular interest to band students, said Katherine Clemens, New York representative for Community Concerts, because Patterson will pepper his performance with lessons on the guitar.

The next portion of the concert series will be a bonus concert and will be held January 29. The concert will feature Andrew Brown, a Kentucky pianist. A retired college teacher, Brown will also take time to explain details about the piano. He will perform in the auditorium at Prestonsburg Community College.

Eastern Kentuckians will especially enjoy the third concert in the series. The fun-loving group Helicon will perform Appalachian and folk music on the hammered dulcimer, fiddle, guitar and flutes. The internationally-known group got its start in Whitesburg. Members of the group include Chris Norman on the wooden flutes and penny whistle; Ken Kololner, hammered dulcimer and fiddle; Robin Bullock, guitar and cittern (an instrument from India), and fiddle.

The concert series will move to the Presbyterian Church in Prestonsburg where the Berea Choir will perform.

The last performance of the season, April 23, will be an Acappella group, the Swingle Singers, whose voices will create the sound of instruments. The group of eight singers will perform classic, Broadway, and pop. Most of the members of the group hail from England.

Kevin Yeager, president of the local group of volunteers who bring the concert series to Floyd County each year, urges families to attend these enlightening concerts.

To become members of the concert series, which provides admittance to all five performances, adults pay $25; students, $15 and families, $60.

Membership alone, though, is not always enough to bring the concert series to the area. Often, an invitation is extended to students to attend the concerts free of charge. Extra support is needed through patrons ($100 memberships), sponsors ($250 memberships) and benefactors ($1000 memberships).

Members need to sign up by October 23 because the local Community Concert Series must have enough members before the parent company will allow them to contract the entertainment. To become part of the excitement and bring a new realm of music into Floyd County, call Kevin Yeager at 886-9558, days, or 886-1388, evenings.

The Left Beaver Volunteer Rescue Squad and fire department began in the Price area in 1966. At first, it was called the Left Beaver Rescue Squad and Civil Defense. This is due to the fact that the civil defense gave money to buy vehicles.

The first fire truck the rescue squad had was an old Studebaker. It was housed at the gas station across from the McDowell Hospital until the first squad building was purchased at Price.

At this time, the squad was geared more toward rescue. The members were trained in boat and rope rescue. However, there was no ambulance service in the Left Beaver area. The rescue squad then began ambulance service to the residents of Left Beaver Creek.

The first captain of the Left Beaver Rescue Squad was Glen Frazier. He was followed by Jason Moore, Doug Rice, John Frazier, Derrick Thacker and Chuck Hall. The present captain is Donnie Shannon. The captain oversees the entire squad.

Derrick Thacker is the present fire chief for the squad. He has been a volunteer since 1978 and has seen the rescue squad through many ups and downs. "We went through a rough time a few years back," he said. "We hardly had any help."

Now, however, the number of volunteer firefighters is about 30. The Left Beaver Volunteer Rescue Squad is still looking for new members, especially some in the Price area. To become a member, one had to simply fill out an application and one month later, the members vote. Squad meetings are held on the second and fourth Thursday of each month.

In the last year, the squad has been able to purchase two, much needed, pieces of equipment. About three months ago, they purchased a new fire truck, which cost well over $100,000. They also bought the Jaws of Life. Both purchases are kept at the No. 2 fire station, which opened in McDowell in the early 80s.

In the beginning, the Left Beaver Volunteer Rescue Squad did not charge for ambulance runs. They operated strictly on donations. "Now," Thacker said, "we have to charge the insurance company a fee. All the other stations are as well. We have to charge just to stay in operation. Right now, we're looking to hire two people for ambulance service. Volunteer time is not as much as it used to be."

Due to the work of the rescue squad, they have attained a six and nine fire rating. That means people living within 1,000 feet of a fire hydrant are class 6 and get much lower fire insurance. People who don't have a hydrant but live within five miles of a fire station are class nine. They also receive a discount.

The rescue squad does many things for the community. They help with traffic control at events such as the Stone Mountain Squirrel Festival and the New Salem Association of the Old Regular Baptist Church. They've also started a junior fire fighting department for people ages 12-18.

The members of the junior department receive training and can go to fires, but they are restricted to helping outside.

The Left Beaver Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad is very helpful to the residents of the area. Any and all donations are greatly appreciated. They can be sent in care of the rescue squad to either Price (zip 41636) or McDowell (41647). To receive help from the rescue squad, call 377-6773, 24 hours a day.

IRS offers free help filing overdue tax returns

It's not even April 15 and the Internal Revenue Service wants you to file now. IRS is appealing to people who haven't filed their tax returns for the past year or more.

A special assistance week began Monday, October 19, and was set up in most IRS offices in Kentucky.

"We know from our experience working with non-filers that the failure to file is often caused by fear," IRS Commissioner Shirley Peterson said. "Sometimes the problem is that the taxpayer does not have the money to pay."

William E. Palzkill, Kentucky's director, said that IRS realizes some people don't file because of confusion over the complex tax rules. Others missed filing for a year or more, and are now afraid of what might happen if they start filing again.

"It's never too late to come back into the tax system with a clean slate," Palzkill said. IRS will work with those people to help them with their overdue returns and explain the different payment options.

"Taxpayers must understand that failing to file is not the solution," IRS Commissioner Shirley Peterson said.

Palzkill added that "not filing is costing people more than they think." They may be due a refund, and the law states that a refund will be lost if people don't file within three years. And if they owe tax, interest and penalties are still adding up. "But some penalties may be waived if a person can show a valid reason for not filing," Palzkill said.

Additional assistors will be available in most Kentucky IRS offices during the October 19-23 special assistance week. They can answer questions about tax laws, help with completing overdue returns, and help arrange a payment plan or pursue an offer to settle an account. The local office in Paintsville will be open Monday-Friday, October 19-23, from 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. The office is located in the Coleman building, 2nd floor 11th and Stafford Avenue.

BREAST CANCER SURGERY

Eight out of ten breast lumps are non cancerous (benign). They may develop in response to dietary, hormonal, or other normal changes in our body. A normal breast contains soft and firm areas, but hard lumps in the breast are not normal and must be checked by your physician.

Often your physician will recommend a needle biopsy to help determine whether the lump is benign or malignant (cancerous). If the cells are benign your physician may recommend surgical removal of the lump to make sure there is no cancer in areas not sampled by the needle biopsy. If a malignancy is found you have several treatment options.

Cells in a malignant breast lump grow uncontrollably and may spread (metastasize) to lymph nodes and eventually to other areas. The stage of the breast cancer (size of the lump and how far it has spread) directly influences both the type of treatment and the chance of achieving a cure.

A lumpectomy removes the lump and some surrounding tissue without removing the breast. This type of treatment is recommended for women with a small lump.

There are two types of mastectomy (breast removal) used for more widespread cancers. A modified radical mastectomy removes the breast and axillary lymph nodes. Chest muscles are left intact, and as a result, chest wall contour and arm strength are not affected. The radical mastectomy removes the breast as well as chest wall muscles, and is rarely required.

When a mastectomy is necessary, most patients can have breast reconstruction either at the time of surgery or at a later date.

Following surgery, your doctor may want to prescribe medications to help prevent recurrence. Recent studies demonstrate improved survival when groups of patients with breast tumors large enough to feel (not just detected with mammography) are treated with chemotherapy and hormonal therapy, even when the cancer has not yet spread to the lymph nodes.

You can recover fully from breast cancer, and after treatment, it may be helpful to know that there is little to prevent you from returning to a normal, active life.

Training for victim advocate program

There will be a training session for anyone interested in becoming a regional volunteer rape victim advocate beginning on Saturday, October 24, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday evening from 5-9 p.m. in the conference center at the mountain Comprehensive Care Center on Front Street, in Prestonsburg.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer must attend all four days of the training; however, participation in the training does not obligate you to become a volunteer.

The Rape Victim Services Program provides 24-hour crisis support and advocacy to victims of rape, sexual assault and spouse abuse. Please call Eileen Recktenwald, program director at 886-8572 to register or for more information.

Elk Horn Coal Co. announces UK Scholarship winners

The Elk Horn Coal Company of Prestonsburg has announced this year's recipients of scholarships for eastern Kentucky students who plan to study engineering, land surveying, mathematics or computer science at the University of Kentucky.

The recipients are: James Bottom, a sophomore electrical engineering major from Phyllis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry R. Bottom and is a 1991 graduate of Feds Creek High School.

Gabriel Knowles, a junior mechanical engineering major from Van Lear. He is the son of Jeannette Knowles and is a 1990 graduate of Johnson Central High School.

Bradley Stone, a freshman mining engineering major from Shelbiana. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Stone and is a 1992 graduate of Millard High School.

The scholarships pay for tuition and books, and are for students in Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Letcher, Magoffin and Pike counties. Interested students should contact their school guidance counselors.

To be eligible, students must have a minimum high school grade point average of 3.5 on the 4.0 system, and score at least 27 on their ACT entrance exams or the SAT equivalent.

While at UK, scholarship winners must maintain at least a 2.75 grade point average.

Army training

PVT. E-2 Rodney E. Woods entered the army in February and has been assigned to Korea for one year. He completed his basic training at Fort Jackson, South Carolina and AIT in Fort Gordon, Georgia. He is trained to be a multi-channel Systems Communication Operator with additional training in Tactical Satellites. His parents are Darwin Jr. and Gwendolyn Woods of Halo.

Club officers elected in Floyd Technical High School groups

Floyd County Technical High School is providing training in eight different program areas this year. The programs, as in previous years, are competency based with the integration of courses in applied academics. The programs also initiate the involvement of students in the club organizations that reinforce areas in which they are receiving training. The club organizations offer the students exposure to different aspects and developments within their area of interest. Moreover, the organizations can give them the opportunity to compete in that area of interest (or skill) at a local, state and national level.

The vocational clubs that have elected officers for this year are as follows: FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America)—president, Brandy Everheart; vice president, Jamie Anderson; treasurer, Christina Wright; historian, Tiffany Ellis; reporter, Stephanie Chaffins; parliamentarian, Mary Wellman; secretary, Mary Allen; HOSA (Health Occupational Services of America), president, Clara Jarrell; vice president, Christy Osborne; treasurer, Linnie Jarrell; historian, Karrie Duncan; parliamentarian, Parthena Gayheart and secretary, Robin Hall.

Kiwanis Club installs officers

Bob Lewandowski of Hager Hill was installed as president of the Kiwanis Club of Prestonsburg during the club's meeting on October 8, at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Also installed were vice president Stanual Mullins, and secretary treasurer Leonard Grant. In addition, the following members will serve on the club's board of directors: Frank Bennett, Clyde George, Stallard Martin, Roy Ramey, Tom O. McGuire and Robert Wallace. The Immediate Past President is Lane Dutton.

Lewandowski will serve as club president on the worldwide Kiwanis team with newly-elected Kiwanis International President William L. Lieber of Gary, Indiana. The 1992-3 Kiwanis Major Emphasis Program focuses the organization's resources on community service activities that assist children, prenatal to age 5, with the theme, "Young Children: Priority One."

Kiwanis has 8,700 clubs in 82 nations with 339,415 members. Last year, Kiwanis clubs donated $65 million and more than 22 million volunteer hours for community service.

Jim Clayton named to Forbes 400 Clayton Homes has local ties

Daughter of Floyd couple receives Harvard promotion

Karen Hopper Wruck, an authority on the effects of corporate ownership and capital structure and the daughter of Paul and Marie Hopper of Prestonsburg, has been promoted to associate professor at the Harvard Business School (HBS).

She joined the HBS faculty in 1987, teaching first-year control in the MBA program. For the past two years Wruck has taught in the second year of the program as a member of the Coordination, Control, and Management of Organizations teaching group. Her research focuses on understanding how organizations can respond effectively to pressures exerted by product, factor, and capital markets. She has also done work in the areas of management compensation and incentives, as well as management turnover.

Most recently, Wruck has studied the effects of radical changes in financial structure on firm performance and management behavior, addressing transition problems in corporations taken private through leveraged buyouts, organizations in the process of downsizing, and companies in financial distress. She has published a number of articles and cases in her field, including "Organizational Changes and Value Creation in Leveraged Buyouts: The Case of the O.M. Scott & Sons Company" (with HBS associate professor George Baker), "Equity Ownership Concentration and Firm Value: Evidence From Private Equity Financings," and "Stock Prices and Top Management Changes" (with Jerry Warner and Ross Watts of the University of Rochester), all in the Journal of Financial Economics.

Wruck's other publications include: "What Really Went Wrong at Revco?" and "Financial Distress Reorganization and Organizational Efficiency," first published in the Journal of Financial Economics and reprinted as a chapter in the book Corporate Bankruptcy and Distressed Restructurings, (edited by Edward Altman of New York University's Stern School). Wruck serves as an associate editor of the Journal of Financial Economics and the Journal of Accounting and Economics and is a member of the American Economics and American Finance Associations.

Wruck earned a Ph.D. in finance and accounting (1988) and an MS in applied economics (1985) from the University of Rochester's Simon School of Business. She received her AB in economics, cum laude, from Davidson College in 1982. She is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma and Phi Beta Kappa.

Wruck lives in Wellesley, Massachusetts, with her husband Eric, the son of Eric and Ester Wruck of Davidson, North Carolina.

Tennessee man wins Kentucky lottery just in nick of time

Imagine being unemployed with a three-week-old baby...and then winning three million dollars! That's the situation facing Richard Tucker of suburban Memphis, TN. Tucker and his wife Deborah are the latest millionaires created by the game Lotto Kentucky. They won $3 million in the Saturday, October 10th drawing.

The winning numbers were 11-13-29-32-41-42. The Tuckers did not choose their own numbers, they let the computer pick them instead. The winning ticket was purchased at the Corner Mart #2 on Old Shepherdsville Road in Louisville. The Tuckers were in Louisville visiting relatives.

"Thank goodness for the Kentucky Lottery," said Richard Tucker when he showed up Monday to claim his winnings. "I lost my job when Sears closed a regional warehouse in Memphis last June. I had worked for them for 23 years. Times have been tough...especially with a new baby to support!"

The Tuckers will receive twenty annual payments of $114,000 after taxes. The store that sold the winning ticket will also receive a bonus of 1% of the grand prize amount, in this case $30,000.

The Tuckers intend to use the money to pay bills and supplement their lifestyle, at least until Tucker can find employment. They also say they plan to create a college fund for the baby. Richard Tucker is the 95th millionaire created by Lotto Kentucky and the 8th Tennessean to win at least a million dollars playing the Kentucky Lottery.

The Kentucky Lottery is the nation's fastest growing of the 35 state lotteries.

School-Time Safety
School-time can be enjoyable for everyone if children and parents join together to encourage health and safety. Your State Association of Trial Attorneys has assembled a few guidelines that will guard students health and safety so that school time can be fun-time! Hungry children cannot learn as much as well fed children. If a child doesn't like breakfast food, wake him up with a breakfast pizza! Any nutritional food will do. Many schools now offer breakfast programs to ensure their students have the proper nutrition to start their day. If your child brings bags lunch, be sure it is energy packed. On warm days, avoid packing dairy products, meats, eggs, or mayonnaise which may spoil.

Late TD gives Prestonsburg 48-43 win over Sheldon Clark

The Prestonsburg football field was no place for the faint-hearted as the two top teams in Region 4, District 2 squared off in what could have been a title game.

While both teams have district games remaining on their regular season schedules, it would be safe to say that both squads will be in the upcoming playoffs that get started in three weeks.

The Blackcats scored a touchdown with 3:20 left in the game to move to a 48-43 lead and held the Cardinals at bay to make the lead hold up for the district win.

It was a packed Prestonsburg stadium that witnessed one of the best football games of the season between two powerhouses in the region.

The game had everything. It was one thrill after another as the district rivals went at it from the opening kickoff.

The real star of the game for this one was the entire Prestonsburg offensive line who played perhaps their best overall game of the season. The line, consisting of Ryan Elliott, Dickie Johnson, Kyle Fitzpatrick, Brian Horn, Bill Bottoms, Glenn May and Jay McIntire, opened up some holes in the Cardinals defense, allowing the backfield to pick up five to eight yards at a time.

"We won because of the way the offensive line played," said quarterback Aaron Tucker.

"All the credit for this win goes to our offensive line," remarked running back Seth Hyden.

Trailing 43-42, Prestonsburg took over the football on their own 47 yard line with just over eight minutes left in the game. Tucker showed a lot of maturity as he led his club up the field that took 10 plays that covered 53 yards before Hyden ran the ball into the end zone from 6 yards out to give the Blackcats the lead.

Tucker kept Hyden and Dwayne Garza busy carrying the ball as he elected to keep the ball on the ground, not risking any interceptions. Garza was almost unstoppable for the Cats as he and Hyden kept picking up short yardage on every carry with 7 yards being the longest gainer on the drive.

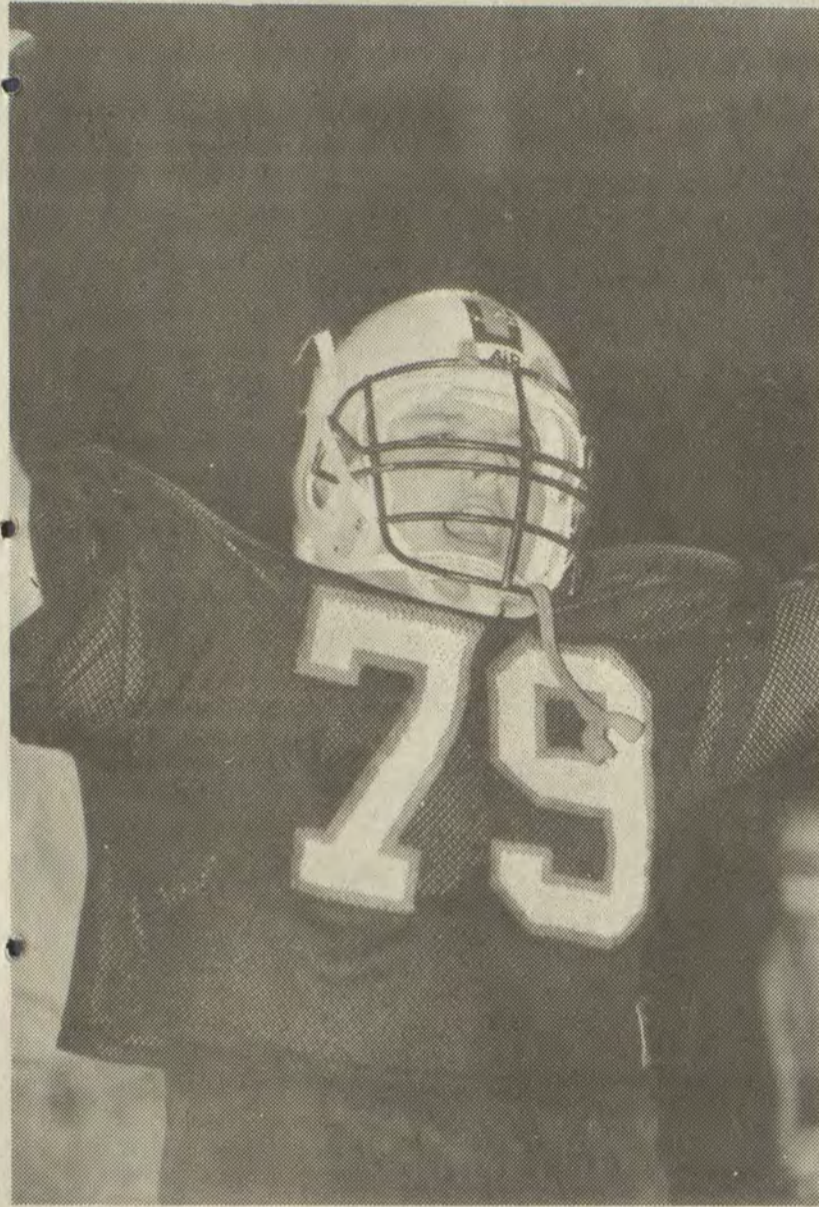

"I thought that Aaron showed a lot of maturity in the game," said assistant coach Bill Hoppman.

"You never quit," said head coach

Adams' 114 yards, 3 TDs lead Trojans past Allen Central

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

As the rain misted down and the wind blew, the Wheelwright Trojans played their last home game due to the new high school which will open next fall. The Trojans hosted the Allen Central Rebels on senior night and at halftime there was an awards ceremony for the entire team.

Both teams came into Friday night's game on a winning note as the Trojans beat KSD on their homecoming night and the Rebels beat Betsy Layne, picking up their first win of the season. The Rebels had been able to get ready for the Trojans, coming off almost two weeks of practice.

"I think if we can contain the middle it will be a good ball game," coach Dewey Jamerson of Allen Central said. "The weather may be an effect in our favor because of our power."

"This is a big game for us, not only because it is the last game as Wheelwright but it is a county game and district game," said coach Donnie Daniels of Wheelwright. "We need to control the ball."

It did not take the Trojans long to put points on the scoreboard when on their second play from scrimmage, Arnold Adams ran the ball 45 yards for a touchdown with 11:03 left in the first quarter. Steven (Teter) Shelton's kick was no good to make the score 6-0.

The Rebel offense could not get rolling. They lost three yards on three plays bringing up a fourth down and 13. The Rebels' fake punt pass from Brad Blackburn to Shane Stumbo was incomplete and the Trojans took over on the Rebel 48-yard line.

The Trojans picked up two first downs on runs of 10 yards and 13 yards by Adams and Muntu Oden. On the third-down and one from the Rebels 11-yard line, Shelton hit Adams on an 11 yard touchdown pass with 6:35 left in the first quarter. Shelton's kick was good to make the score after the first quarter 13-0.

Allen Central set up their first scoring drive early in the second quarter, taking the ball over on downs on their own 46-yard line. The Rebel offense drove 21 yards on nine running plays which set up the first score of the game for the Rebels. On fourth-down and-11 from the Trojan 33-yard line, Kevin Patton had his eyes on the end zone and found his way for a touchdown with 8:14 left in the second quarter. Patton's run for the two-point conversion was no good to make the score 13-6.

It took the Trojans only four plays to go 41 yards as Adams ran a first-down and-10 play 22 yards for a touchdown with 6:20 left in the first half. Oden's run for the two-point conversion was successful to make the score 21-6.

After the ball changed hands on a punt by the Rebels, defensive stand on fourth-and-13 by the Rebels, and another punt by the Rebels, the Trojans took over on their own 27-yard line. The Rebel defense held the Trojans to a punting situation late in the second quarter on a fourth-and-16. On the punt reception, the catch was mishandled and picked up by the Trojan's Ronnie Newsome and Newsome did not stop until he found

Adams posts shutout of Little Rebels, 18-0

It has been an exciting season thus far for the Floyd County grade school football conference. One of the top games was played at the Prestonsburg field this past Thursday evening when the Little Rebels of Allen Central traveled to Prestonsburg to face the Adams Middle School Blackcats.

Adams handed Allen Central their second loss of the season when Adams posted a 18-0 victory.

Adams went on top 8-0 as they scored on their series of plays when Jon Morris ran 9 yards for the touchdown and also added the two-point conversion. Morris had 36 yards rushing in the first series of plays for Adams. Morris, who was injured the week before in the Coleman Classic at Pikeville, played with his elbow padded. He had a 17-yard gainer as Adams picked up three first downs on their first possession. Jason Luster had runs of 3 and 13 yards for the Blackcats on their first drive. Matt Lafferty carried for 14 yards.

Allen Central's Thomas Jenkins took the kickoff after Adams scored and he returned the football 36 yards before being brought down. But the Little Rebels were unable put together a drive when they failed to convert on a fourth-and-seven situation deep into the Blackcats territory. Adams took over the ball on downs with 1:09 remaining in the first period.

The Blackcats held the ball as the quarter ended. They took control of the ball into the second period where Morris scored his second touchdown of the game. Morris scored on a 1-yard run to make it a 12-0 game at halftime.

With under four minutes remaining in the first half, Allen Central recovered an Adams fumble and tried to use their timeouts in the first half to their advantage. Quarterback Eric Moore hit Jenkins with three completions for 3, 12 and 9 yards but the horn sounded to end the half.

Neither team could gather any offense in the third period and Adams completed the scoring with a touchdown in the fourth quarter. On a fullback play, Morris took the ball from quarterback Mike Castle and hit Matt Lafferty with a pass for an 18-0 game.

Big third quarter hands Sandy Valley 30-12 win over Allen

Something that has become a tradition at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex at Betsy Layne continued Monday night when the Sandy Valley Bobcats hosted the Allen Eagles in grade school football at Betsy Layne. The stadium lights flickered on and off as the two teams met for the first time this year and the Bobcats used a big third quarter to race to a 30-12 win over the Eagles for their second victory of the season.

With the score tied at 12-12 in the third period, Sandy Valley took the kickoff and marched 78 yards for the touchdown. The Bobcats started on their own 22. But a 15 yard penalty on Allen moved the ball to the Bobcats' 37-yard line. After Jarred Newsome was thrown for a 2-yard loss by the Eagles defense, Craig Hamilton picked up 2 yards and a 2-yard gainer by Hamilton moved the ball into Eagle territory.

Hamilton then took a hand-off and romped 46 yards before being dragged down on the Eagles 2-yard line. Hamilton then scored from 2 yards out to give the Bobcats the lead for good. Newsome added the two point conversion.

Hamilton later added his third touchdown of the game with 2:35 left in the third period. Hamilton intercepted a pass on Allen's next possession, and jaunted 30 yards for the

Rick Pitino to be speaker at YMCA's annual dinner

University of Kentucky head basketball coach Rick Pitino has been confirmed as the keynote speaker for the YMCA's annual dinner. The annual sustaining fund dinner is scheduled for November 16 at the Mark II Convention Center, according to board member Darrell Maynard.

"Coach Pitino considers the YMCA programs to be vital to any community," Maynard said. "He is pleased at the support in our area for the program and agreed to help us in our efforts to strengthen and expand the program."

The annual dinner marks the sustaining fund raising drive. Area volunteers work hard to make the YMCA successful and the dinner gives the board members and program members a chance to reinforce their efforts to expand the programs. They are very excited about Coach Pitino's support.

Pitino has agreed to stay for questions and autographs after the dinner.

Although YMCA members will have the first opportunity to purchase tickets, the dinner is open to the public. Tickets will be available at a date to be announced next week after they arrive from the printer's. Adult tickets will be $30 and children's tickets will sell for $15. YMCA members must RSVP by October 23, by telephone or mail, for reservations, after which the remaining tickets will be available to the general public on a first come, first served basis.

CAR SHOW AT MARTIN FIRST CLASS...

Did you get to Martin for the First Guaranty National Bank Car Show this past Saturday? The show just keeps getting bigger and bigger. If it gets any bigger then they will have to start using the adjoining parking lot.

I enjoyed looking at all the old cars from the past. There were some nice looking motorcycles on hand as well as boats.

Judging of the show had to be difficult to do with so many entrants. George Barnett of Martin had four of his cars on display. His 1950 Hudson was on hand and it looked as good as any new car. George and his wife, Mary Lou, were heading to the Smokies this week in the old Hudson. Barnett said that in previous trips the car was a conversation piece in his travels.

Another favorite at the show was the 1950 Kentucky State Police Cruiser that was brought in for show. I ask the officer-in-charge if the cruiser ever caught anyone and he said "Not this one".

Tina Mills and her helpers did an excellent job of putting the show on. I know that a lot of hard work in just preparing for the event was needed, not counting all the early hours and late hours that was put in Saturday. This is one of the finest car shows in this area and I look for it to be even bigger next year.

TONY PEREZ: LET'S GIVE THE BALL TO HIM...

The Cincinnati Reds have begun their search for a new manager to replace the departed Lou Piniella who choose not to return to the Reds for a fourth year. For that decision I say, "Thank you, Lou!"

Now the question is: Who will fill the void? My vote goes to Tony Perez who definitely deserves a shot at the head job. Perez has paid his dues and was a big motivator on the Reds team back in the '70s. It was when Perez was traded to the Montreal Expos that the Big Red machine started to dismantle. Perez still has that gift of encouraging and at the same time of handling young ball players. He has been kept around these past six years because of his ability to relate to players as a coach.

I say let him have the ball and call the shots in 1993.

IN THE CAMPS...

I had a chance to visit the Allen Central Lady Rebels basketball practice Monday evening and the Lady Rebs are going to be a solid contender for their fourth district championship.

Conditioning was the order for the evening as they were sent through some conditioning exercises such as jumping rope, running, etc. Coach Bonita Compton will be returning a veteran ball club, but still lacks that big center.

B.J. Elswick of Elkhorn City fame says that if the Rebels had one big girl they would be hard to beat.

Look for the Lady Rebs to run, run and run some more this season. They may be small, but they can shoot the eyes out of the basket.

Coach Gordon Parido, Prestonsburg, related that he had about 29 players out this year and the Blackcats are not practicing in the afternoons or the evenings. Coach Parido has them reporting for practice in the a.m., like 6 a.m. Have a heart coach!

"They want to practice at 6 o'clock," said the Blackcat mentor. "That way they can have their afternoon and evenings free."

The Blackcats will have to be considered one of the top region teams this season as a veteran ball club returns.

The Allen Central Rebels began their practice time two days later than the open day allowed. Coach Johnny Martin's club looked good for the first day of practice. But the Allen Central mentor is concerned about the opening three games of the season when they travel to Rowan County to open on December 1 and then travel to Elkhorn City and Knott County Central before playing at home.

"We could be 0-3 at the start of the season," said the Allen Central coach. "But the Rebels are to be a strong team this year and will be a contender for the region title."

(See A Look At Sports, B 2)

A Look At Sports

McDowell has been at it for two weeks because they have no football program. The Daredevils lost a lot of talent from last year, but Coach Turner has some good-looking young players and the Daredevils could be a surprise this year.

"We're looking pretty good right now," said Coach Turner of his young club. Johnny Ray always had a competitive basketball team.

Last year's conference champions, the Wheelwright Trojans, has high hopes for the coming year. Coach Jackie Pack is not lamenting over the loss of an array of talent as he has a boatload coming back. In fact, Pack expects nothing but good things this season from the Trojans.

"We'll have a better team this year than we did last season," stated Pack. The Trojan mentor took the Wheelwright program to the top last year and he expects a repeat this time around.

The Lady Daredevils of McDowell will have coach Jimmy Hopkins back for a full year, and a very able assistant in sister Melinda Hopkins. The Lady Devils, runners-up to Allen Central last season in the district tournament, will have a group back that has been playing together for the past four years. In what could be and probably will be the final season of a Lady Devil team, Hopkins could have the talent that will take his team to the top in the county this year.

Wheelwright Lady Trojan coach Tommy Pack will be assisted by Dale Hamilton this season. Hamilton is no stranger to Floyd County basketball as he has worked in the Clark Elementary program and most recently worked with Coach Parido at Prestonsburg last season.

Says Pack, "We're going to be a young team".

The Lady Bobcats of Betsy Layne will have a lot to say this year about who carries the district title into regional play this season. Coach Bill Newsome's ball club will have its entire cast returning from a successful campaign last year.

I like the makeup of this ball club and they play hard from the time they hit the floor till the final horn sounds. Betsy Layne will give Floyd County yet another strong regional team.

The Lady Blackcats of Prestonsburg have talent, talent and more talent. The only problem the Lady Cats will have is trying to find someone to fill the middle this season. Some very good basketball players return and coach Bridget Clay could win a conference and district title this season.

This will be a good shooting ball club, but I think their strength will lie in their ability to play hard-nose defense. Should be a good rebounding ball club, also.

Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome has all the region talking about what he has returning for the Bobcats. A strong and balanced Bobcat team will push some teams this season in the region and will have a good shot at defending their district title from last season. The Cats came on strong at season's end last year and I look for them to get off to a good early start this season.

We still have a lot of high school football left as the playoffs draw near. Prestonsburg is a definite and Wheelwright is right in the middle of the picture.

What a game last Friday night at Prestonsburg. It was one of the best high school football games I have witnessed. While it was no defensive gem for either club, the action on the gridiron was great.

It was a game for the fans. I was surprised at the calmness of coach Bill Letton. He does a marvelous job preparing his team for a game. He has a very efficient coaching staff that prepares well.

If the Cats finish in first place (and they should) then Prestonsburg will have the home field advantage in their first playoff game and a victory in game one would also give them home field in the following two games.

Coach Donnie Daniel's ball club can win a berth with a victory over Elkhorn City on October 31. Also, the win would tie the two clubs for third place with the Cougars. However, if the Trojans falter they would be tied for fourth (the last playoff position) with Phelps and the nod would go the Trojans' way in light of their victory over the Hornets earlier in the season.

It will be an interesting final two weeks! Stay tuned.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Car show draws record number as Barnett gathers hardware

JUST ONE OF MANY that showed up for the First Guaranty National Bank Car Show at Martin this past Saturday. This 1917 Model T Ford belongs to George Barnett of Martin. Barnett had four old timers entered in the car show. A big crowd was on hand to view the automobiles from the past. (photo by Ed Taylor)

The fifth annual First Guaranty National Bank Red, White and Blue Car Show is now history but will be recorded as the biggest show car show of the previous four.

A record 113 cars entered the show held last Saturday at the banks parking lot in Martin.

"We're real happy the way the show went," said show director Tina Mills. "It was a show that we're all proud of."

Numerous prizes were given away every 30 minutes of the show and the Kentucky Junior Opry did an excellent job of entertaining the large crowd that gathered for the event. Also on hand were the Kentucky Run About Cloggers that thrilled the onlookers also. Adults as well as youngsters took part.

The show had to use 12 judges for the show because of the number of cars that were entered.

"The judges were worked to death," said Mills. "It's hard to judge all those cars but they did a great job and we appreciated all those that helped us out."

Mark Jarvis of Maytown was one of those 12 judges and it wasn't an easy task he said.

"It's very difficult to judge," he said. "All the cars are so nice it's hard to make a decision." Jarvis was in his first year of judging car shows.

"We look for things like the exterior, chrome and also the interior," he explained. "We look to see if everything is original or not."

Jarvis said that a owner could score a possible 220 points.

On had for viewing was a 1950 Kentucky State Police Cruiser that caught the eye of the many car buffs. The restored vehicle was one of two that the Kentucky State Police has to send to car shows.

"They don't compete for awards," said Mills. "They just go around and show the car at different car shows. I had to book them last year to be here for our show."

The bank sold tickets on a rebuilt 350 Chevy engine or a $1,000 cash. John Pennington of Prestonsburg held the winning ticket and took the money. What about the motor? "We're just going to sell it," stated Mills.

David Smith of Manchester won the best of show with his popular 1934 Chevy Sedan. The car also carried a price tag of just over $39,000 for anyone wishing to purchase the vehicle. Smith's car also won the Best Paint award.

The Best Engine was won by Larry Jones for his boat motor. Jones also won the Best Boat trophy. Travis Miller's 1965 Ford Mustang took home the award for the Best Interior.

Traveling the longest distance was Randall Hardy who traveled 210 miles to attend the show. Johnny Allen's 1988 Mustang won the Best Graphics.

George Barnett of Martin won two first place awards. He won a first place with his 1931 Ford Coupe. The pride of the Barnett collection, a 1952 Hudson Hornet, took first place in the 1950-52 class.

Placing second with her 1931 Ford

Barnett, is not only a show car but a traveling car also.

"We plan to go to the Smokies in it next week," said the avid car collector show had over 20 such cars.

Barnett took second place with his 1971 Lincoln Mark 3. "I bought that car in Nebraska," he explained. "I went out there and got and drove it home. I haven't done anything to it."

Floyd County Assistant Superintendent Gary Frazier won first and second place with his 1957 Modified Chevy (first place) and his 1957 Chevy (second place).

"I just brought that one (pointing to the black chevy) and probably won't win anything with it," said Frazier before the show ended. The two sharp '57 Chevy's were just two of the many of the popular car that were entered in the show.

Pam Justice of Maytown took first place with her 1990 Ford Mustang. (See Car Show, B 5) the end zone with :08 left in the first half. Shelton's kick was good to make the halftime score 28-6.

The Rebels set up a scoring drive that saw over eight minutes tick off the clock starting on their own 29-yard line and driving to the Trojan 32-yard line on 10 plays. On fourth-and-10 from the Trojan 32-yard line, Brad Blackburn hit Stumbo for the touchdown pass, covering 32 yards with 6:52 left in the third quarter. Blackburn's two-point conversion try failed, leaving the score 28-12.

The Trojan offense struck quickly once again, needing only one play as Oden sprinted 53 yards for a touchdown with 6:15 left in the third quarter. Shelton's kick was no good and the score after the third quarter was 34-12.

The Rebels kept up the game early in the fourth quarter as they drove from their own 10-yard line to their own 43-yard line. On the next play, Blackburn hit Stumbo for a 57-yard touchdown pass with 11:14 left in the game.

The Trojans' offense put a drive together going 58 yards on nine plays, driving straight down to the Rebel seven-yard line. On the next play, first-and-goal, Shelton was hit and fumbled the ball as the Rebels recovered the ball on their own seven-yard line. The Rebel offense went only one yard on three plays, bringing up a punting situation.

The Trojans' offense took over on the Rebel 34-yard line, setting up their final scoring drive of the game. The Trojans took the ball down to the 10-yard line on four plays bringing up a fourth-down-and-three from the Rebels' seven-yard line. The Trojans added six more points to their final score as Oden took the ball into the end zone with 4:30 left in the game. Matt Johnson's kick was no good and the score was 40-20

The Rebels set up their final scoring drive from their own 27-yard line and it took them only four plays to score. On first-down-and-10, from their own 48-yard line, Kevin Patton took it the distance, running 52 yards for the touchdown with 2:59 left in the game. Glenn Floyd's run for the two-point conversion was good and the final score was 40-28.

James Osborne, who was hit hard on a kickoff and taken off the field by an ambulance, is fine and is at school. In fact, when I called Allen Central to talk to coach Jamerson, Osborne answered the phone. Osborne suffered a second-degree concussion, swelling of the neck, and separation of vertebrae. Coach Jamerson told me Osborne has to lay off from lifting weights and any contact for at least four weeks. I'm glad to hear that you are alright, James.

The leading rusher of the game was Allen Central's Kevin Patton as he rushed 17 times for 150 yards and two touchdowns. David Giliam rushed for 38 yards on 11 carries.

The leading rusher for Wheelwright was Muntu Oden as he rushed for 123 yards on 13 carries and two touchdowns. Arnold Adams tossed in 114 yards on 12 carries and three touchdowns.

TO THE VOTERS OF SCHOOL BOARD—DIST. 5

As you all probably read in last week's Floyd County Times, the School Board has just voted to INCREASE OUR TAXES again to 61.6. People, it's only been a couple of years ago that THEY INCREASED OUR TAXES from 28.5 to 58.6 which DOUBLED our school taxes on our property. I was under the impression that THIS MONEY would be spent on SUPPLIES FOR OUR KIDS and UPGRADING OUR SCHOOLS. The first thing I saw was my boys walking through the door with a "sell paper" to help raise money to buy items for their school.

People, THEY CAN TAX US TO DEATH, but IF THE MONEY IS NOT HANDLED PROPERLY, our kids are not going to benefit one bit from the increases. The ONLY THING it's going to do is to make it TOUGHER on the people who pay taxes in this county. YOU KNOW AS WELL AS I DO that once that tax rate is passed, it will NEVER COME DOWN and YOU'LL PAY IT for the rest of your life and the rest of your kid's life.

THE LAST TIME THEY INCREASED it from 28.5 to 58.6. THIS TIME it went from 58.6 to 61.6. This has only been in a period of approximately 2 years and it has MORE THAN DOUBLED.

WHEN I'm elected your Board Member, I'LL BE SOMEONE YOU CAN TALK TO about problems that you are having with your school and the school system. I WILL ALSO BE THAT SOMEONE who WILL go to the BOARD MEETING and STAND UP for the people of my District.

1992-93 Basketball Rule Changes

Part I: 1992-93 Rule Changes
Part II: Comments on Editorial Revisions
Part III: Points of Emphasis
Part IV: National Federation Part II Text
PART I: 1992-93 RULE CHANGES

1. RULE 1-7: NO LOGOS, MARKINGS, ETC., ON BACKBOARD PADDING OR BASKET

Last year an addition to the rules provided that no logos, marking, etc., could be put on the backboard if visible from the court. The intent was to prohibit such logos, etc., on the backboard padding and basket as well. The addition clearly provides language which prohibits any logos or marking on the backboard, the backboard padding and on the basket. The intent is to keep this equipment clear of any such markings.

2. RULE 1-13: GAME MANAGEMENT DESIGNATES TEAM BENCHES:

For many years, the rules have recommended the team benches be placed on the side of the court on which the scorers' and timers' table is located. Through previous interpretation, the benches should be adjacent to the table and equal distance from it. The assumption has obviously been that home management or game management dictates where the benches for each team are located.

The addition to the rules specifically gives game (home) management the responsibility for designating the location of each team's bench.

3. RULE 2-10: ONE INEQUITY REMOVED IN CORRECTABLE ERROR:

The correctable error rule is discussed to some extent at almost every meeting of the rules committee. Even though the general rule has been unchanged for a number of years, some additions were made a few years ago regarding the scoring of a 3 or 2 point goal and changing the recognition limits to accommodate the error in scoring made with the clock running.

While the application of the rule provides a procedure for correction, it does not eliminate the inequity which can result once an error is made. The only way it could be completely equitable would be to cancel all intervening play and time ... something the committee believes would create an even bigger problem than the original error.

One obvious inequity under the previous coverage was returning the ball to Team A at the point of interruption after awarding a merited free throw(s) which was not awarded originally. When this happens, the rule is criticized for allowing Team A to actually profit from the error. The addition to the rules is an attempt to eliminate this one specific inequity of Team A being awarded the merited free throw(s) and then also getting the ball back. The new rule provides an exception in coverage which directs play shall continue from the free throw(s) [made or missed] if Team A has not lost possession of the ball from the time of the error until it is determined an error has occurred.

If A should be awarded a bonus, but erroneously the ball is awarded Team A for a throw-in and this error is discovered, while A has the ball before or after the throw-in, the new coverage goes into effect. A is awarded the bonus and play continues after the free throw(s) as normal. Team A is not awarded the ball to resume play.

If after A inbounds the ball, B gains possession by virtue of an intercepted pass or violation, the correction is to resume from the point of interruption as normal. The rule change does not attempt to address any other part of the correctable error rule ... it only applies when it involves a merited free throw to Team A and Team A has not lost possession since the error was made. If Team A has not lost the ball or is entitled to the ball by virtue of what caused the ball to become dead when the error is discovered, then the correction of awarding A a merited free throw(s) dictates the game continues as normal from the free throw(s).

4. RULE 3-2: 10-1: MAXIMUM OF TWO TECHNICALS FOR ADMINISTRATIVE INFRACTIONS:

The basic provisions of the rules relative to submission of rosters designating starters and additions and changes thereto were implemented in 1956, 1962, 1967, and 1969. Generally, the rules became more specific and the penalties were increased from a maximum of one, to one for each individual infraction.

The submission of an accurate list of squad members, numbers, starters, etc., was very important years ago and still is today. Confusion and delay can certainly result when these administrative requirements are not taken care of in an orderly and accurate manner.

The committee has often discussed the merits of having a lesser penalty when a team fails to properly comply with the various administrative requirements relative to names, numbers, starters, etc. The action taken accomplishes this desire while at the same time retaining a penalty if any of the provisions are not met completely.

The rule change is very significant as it reduces to a maximum of two the number of technical fouls a team may be charged for a variety of these administrative duties. The change dictates that one technical will be charged if a team fails to submit its roster of squad members and designate starters at least 10 minutes before the scheduled game starting time. In addition, a maximum of one technical foul will be charged to each team after the 10-minute mark for any and all subsequent infractions regarding squad list, numbers, identical numbers, etc.

If a team fails to submit the roster and designate starters by the 10-minute mark, only one technical foul is charged. The previous rule called for a penalty of two technicals if both requirements were not met. After the 10-minute mark, a maximum of one technical foul per team ... even if it involves having to change the numbers in the scorebook for the players, as well as the other squad members on the bench. This is the particular situation which prompted the committee to act. If a team had wrong numbers in the book and when it was discovered after the game started, it seemed particularly inappropriate to charge five technical fouls. With the change, only one technical can be charged. The change also means more than one name can be added to the squad list and designated starters can be changed with a maximum of one technical foul resulting.

Previously, if a squad member's number had to be changed, but the change was reported to the scorer and an official, there was no penalty. The new coverage dictates that any change results in a technical foul and the provision of avoiding the technical has been deleted. If three players/squad members have identical numbers, only one technical will be charged. There is no change in this situation that all but one must change the identical member(s) for a number not already in use. The foul is now charged to the team rather than the individual(s) involved.

The infraction of changing designated starter(s) unless injury, illness, etc., cannot be penalized after the ball has become alive to start the game. Infractions regarding adding a name to the squad list, changing a player or squad member's number and wearing identical numbers shall be penalized when discovered.

Even though the new coverage is much less restrictive, it certainly does not imply that taking care of these administrative responsibilities is any less important now than it was in years past. However, there seems to be fewer reported instances and by making the rule very simple to administer, as well as reducing the impact on the game for violations. It should have a positive impact on the game.

5. RULE 3-3-4: 5-9 (EXP): INJURED PLAYER MUST LEAVE GAME:

Since 1975, no time-out has been charged if the injured player was replaced. At one time, the injured player had to be replaced within a certain time frame while recent rules allowed replacement, regardless of the time consumed. However, if the injured player was not ready to resume play immediately, a time-out was charged for every minute or fraction, thereof, consumed if he/she stayed in the game.

The change mandates the injured player must be replaced once the official beckons and/or the coach or other bench personnel enters the court to attend the injured player. Such player may not return until the next opportunity to substitute after the clock has been properly started. The time-out provision is no longer a part of the coverage. Whether or not a charged time-out is taken during or following the injury situation, the injured player must leave the game.

In some situations, a coach or other bench person may rush onto the court before the official can beckon. In this case, it must be assumed a beckoning signal was given and the player must leave the game. Conversely, when it is obvious that the player needs attention, but no one responds, the beckoning signal triggers the rule, whether or not there is a response.

In most instances, the official can question or observe the player regarding whether he/she will be able to continue to play. If the player is ready in a few seconds without assistance, he/she may remain and continue to play. However, once the official determines assistance is needed or it takes more than a few seconds for the player to be ready to continue, the beckoning signal is given and this puts the replacing provision into effect. In some instances it is immediately apparent the injury is such that assistance is needed and the beckoning signal should be given without attempting to question the player.

6. RULE 3-5-2 (EXD 1): STATE ASSOCIATION MAY APPROVE HEADWEAR:

Even though the basic rule has remained unchanged, relief has been provided in some instances to accommodate headwear because of medical or cosmetic reasons. Headwear in such instances had to be approved by the referee as to being no danger to other players, etc. In some specific cases, the legal system has given relief to individuals who for religious reasons could not play unless the head was covered.

In an effort to provide uniformity when an exception is justified, the committee approved a procedure. Headwear may be worn for medical, cosmetic or religious reasons if the state association receives documented evidence of need and approves the request. The state association will evaluate each request on an individual basis. The rule exception can only be provided by the state association.

If the request for headwear is for medical or cosmetic reasons, a licensed medical physician must provide a statement as to why the individual must wear the item in order to play. The headwear cannot be dangerous to other players and it must be attached in a way that it will not fall off during play. If it is for religious reasons, documented evidence must also be given showing the headwear is necessary for participation. In this situation, it also may not be a safety hazard to other players.

If the state association approved the headwear, this statement should be given to the team and taken to each game and shown to the referee. The referee cannot approve unless the statement is provided.

7. RULE 4-5-3: BENCH LOCATION DICTATES FIRST HALF BASKET:

The visitors have traditionally (since 1961) had the choice of basket for pregame practice and the first half of play. Recently, it has become apparent that a majority of coaches want to have their team at the end of the court nearest to their bench during the second half. The fact that the visitors had first choice often meant there really wasn't a choice because their bench was designated by home management. If the visiting coach wanted his/her team's frontcourt to be near their bench for the second half, it really took away the choice of first half basket. Also, the home team often took the court early and almost forced the visitors to the other basket unless they requested the officials to have the home team change ends.

The rule change takes away the visitor's choice and makes the entire basket designation an automatic process. Home management designates the location of each team's bench. This means each team will have the basket closest to its bench for the second half of play.

8. RULE 9-2-8: VIOLATION IF THROW-IN PASS LODGES:

This change in rules was precipitated by a casebook play last season which clarified it was not a violation on a throw-in if the pass lodged between the backboard and the ring.

9. RULE 10-1-10: THROW-IN PLANE TECHNICAL CHARGED TO TEAM:

Two years ago the revision of the throw-in plane rule went into effect.

Wheelwright, McDowell, Allen Central Car Show to play in Kentucky All "A" region

The Kentucky All "A" basketball coaches met at the Prestonsburg High School last week and came up with the tournament drawings for this year's Kentucky All "A" Regional tournament to be played at Pikeville in February next year.

Three county teams will once again be taking part. The three include McDowell, Wheelwright and Allen Central.

In the boys' drawings, Allen Central will face Johns Creek in a first round game and for the third straight year, Johnny Ray Turner's McDowell Daredevils will square off against Randy McCoy's Elkhorn City Cougars. Wheelwright will take on the Phelps Hornets in a late night game at Pikeville.

For the girls, Allen Central, McDowell and Wheelwright ended up in the bottom bracket together. Allen Central will face Mullins in their first game on Monday, January 18, at 7 p.m. McDowell will face Johns Creek on the same day at 8:30 p.m. Wheelwright received a first round bye and will face the winner of the McDowell/Johns Creek game in their first game on Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

Millard and Feds Creek kick off the girls tournament at 5:30 p.m. on Monday, January 18. Pikeville will face Elkhorn City at 7 p.m.

All the girls' games will be played at Elkhorn City.

Tom Williams of Martin 1978 Chevy Pace Car was a first place winner with Johnny Allen placing second.

Angela Stumbo, daughter of Danny and Ann Stumbo of Martin, won first place with her 1931 Ford Coupe in class 11. Donald White was second.

James McCoy of Prestonsburg took first place in the unfinished class with his 1950 Ford. Oscar Hall's 1948 Chevy was second.

"I want to thank Mike Conley who helped us give away the trophies," stated Mills. "Also we are thankful for the volunteer help of Rick Caudill over the P.A. system. Also for the SuperAmerica clowns that passed out balloons we want to thank them. For Tom Williams, Danny Stumbo and all the committee members that work so hard we are thankful to them."

Other class winners and runners-up include: Kenneth Addington, 1948 Plymouth Sedan, first place; H. Adam Adkins, 1939 Plymouth, second place class two.

George Barnett, 1952 Hudson Hornet, first place; Jimmy Anderson, 1956 Ford Custom Line, second place, class three;

Rules

Among other things, it provided a warning to the opponents of the throw-in team if they reached through the throw-in boundary plane. Following the warning, it became a technical foul on the offending player if he/she violated this rule.

The change in the rule simply charges the technical foul to the offending team rather than to the individual player. It was felt that since the warning was issued to the team, the infraction should be too. Also, since a technical foul on a player counts toward disqualification, the impact of the act on the game did not justify charging it to the player. No other part of the throw-in lane rule is changed.

HUNTER EDUCATION CLASS...

The Middlecreek Volunteer Fire Department will be the site of the Hunter's Education Class to be held October 29, 30 and 31. The class is open to anyone who wishes to attend and is sponsored by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

For more information, contact Lloyd M. Daniels at 886-2212.

ROBERTS NEARS 500...

Van Lears Rick Roberts continues his quest of 500 career races as he competed in three this past week. The last event was a third place finish in the Riverside Alumni 5K run at Jackson this past weekend. Roberts posted a time of 17:46 to finish third. Keith Combs placed first at 16:14 with Tim Bailey running in at second with a time of 16:42.

Two weeks ago, Roberts won the St. Jude's 3000 meter run at Paintsville Lake with a time of 11:28. In the Rail Splitter five-mile run in Hodgenville, Roberts ran eighth with a 29:04 under some windy conditions. He placed first in his 35-39 age group.

Last Saturday, Roberts ran his 487 career race when he placed first in the revived Alumni 5K run with a time of 18:29. "I won the race five years ago before they dropped it," said Roberts. "When I won five years ago I ran it in 16:54. I was faster and younger then." The race was Robert's sixth in 11 days.

PEE WEE BASKETBALL SIGNUPS...

The Pikeville area YMCA is now taking registration for Pee Wee basketball and Pee Wee cheerleading for kids ages three to seven.

Sandy Valley

touchdown. Newsome again added the extra two points.

Allen took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter on an excellent run by Branham Castle with 4:49 left in the period. Castle galloped 58 yards for the TD giving the Eagles the lead.

Sandy Valley tied the game at 6-6 on Hamilton's first touchdown — a 5-yard run with 54 seconds left in the first period.

The Bobcats took the lead at 12-6 on a 5-yard run by Doug Keathley with 39 seconds left in the first half. The Bobcats took the 12-6 lead at half time.

Allen knotted the score when Castle raced 78 yards for a score as time was running out in the first half. In fact, there was not time on the clock as Castle headed for pay dirt.

Sandy Valley's final score came in the fourth quarter when Keathley scored a safety by tackling the quarterback in the end zone.

Sandy Valley ran 42 plays to Allen's 21. The Bobcats had 13 first downs and Allen collected but two. Sandy Valley accumulated 206 yards total offense all coming on the ground. Hamilton led the Bobcats ground game with 102 yards on 12 carries. Allen massed 154 yards grinding out 148 on the ground. Castle had 153 yards on nine carries. The Eagles were one-for -three in passing with one interception and a total of 6 yards in the air.

Sandy Valley fumbled once but recovered the ball. Allen lost the ball both times they fumbled.

The Bobcats were called for three penalties for 25 yards and Allen was assessed 60 yards on seven flags.

Registration is underway now and will continue until November 2. The Pikeville YMCA is located at the Daniel Boone Inn with office hours from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m.

The YMCA is currently organizing a Racquetball League for men and women.

For more information on any of the activities at the Pikeville YMCA, call 432-8963.

RAQUETBALL COURTS, WEIGHT ROOMS, KARATE AVAILABLE....

The YMCA has three racquetball courts available to all racquet enthusiasts in the area. The public is invited to come and enjoy this fast paced sport.

Also available at the YMCA is an exercise weight room center that combines universal machines and free weights which allows participants the freedom to design and structure their own exercise program to fit their individual needs. This facility is free to members and to the general public the cost is $3 per visit.

A karate club is now being organized at the YMCA for boys and girls six-years old and above. An adult class is also being planned.

All Smiles!

Charles Collins, left, Adams Middle School principal Janice Allen, center, and Gay Hatfield had plenty to smile about as they displayed the check they received for over $2,500 as one of the winners in an essay contest. # Officials, coaches gather for rules clinic at Prestonsburg High School

Kentucky High School Athletic Association assistant commissioner, Larry Boucher, along with assigning secretary for the 15th Region, Paul Dotson, were on hand last Thursday at the Prestonsburg High School for the annual rules clinic for all high school basketball officials and coaches.

A good turn-out was on hand as Boucher went over some rule changes for the upcoming season, as well as some points of emphasis. No new rules were introduced at the meeting.

Dotson urged all basketball coaches in attendance to forward their schedules for the year to his office for the assigning of referees.

"All officials are to register with the local association if they are to call any games this year," Dotson told the referees.

Boucher opened his part of the meeting stressing the importance of the clinics.

"None of the coaches or officials who do not participate in any of the state sponsored clinics will be permitted to officiate or coach in postseason play," said Boucher. Simply put, coaches that do not attend one of the clinics will not be permitted to coach in postseason play.

"We intend to hold their feet to the ruling, too," stated the KHSAA official.

Boucher urged the coaches to be sure to send their rating cards into the association.

"Coaches, we urge you to take time to rate the officials that work your games," stressed Boucher. "Your ratings go along way in determining who works the postseason games."

One rule change for the upcoming season stressed that no logos or markings may be part of the backboard, the backboard padding or on the basket.

"Although this was one of last year's rule changes," said Boucher, "this is more a clarification of that rule. There will be no logos, flags or any other designs permitted on the backboards."

Last year's rule stated that "no logos, marking, etc., could be put on the backboard if visible from the court."

This addition to the rule is clearly strong language which prohibits any logos or markings on the backboard, padding or basket area.

"We want you officials to try your best in seeing that this rule is carried out," said Boucher. "But we don't want you to stop the game because of it."

Designation of each teams' bench will fall to the home team. In past years, the rules have placed the benches on the side of the court where the scorers and timers sit. The benches were to be adjacent to the table and at equal distance.

Now the rule has been clarified and specifically places the responsibility on the home team in determining the location of the benches.

No longer can a team be assessed a technical foul for each administrative infraction (regarding squad list, numbers, and starting line-up). In years past a team could be assessed a technical foul for every violation the officials detected on the scorers book 10 minutes prior to game time. If a team had five incorrectly listed numbers, they would be assessed five technical fouls before the game ever started.

Now a change has been made to the rule. A team may only receive two technical fouls in a game because of administrative infractions.

"The maximum number of technical fouls an official may call is two," stressed Boucher.

Another rule change this season mandates that an injured player must leave the game once the official beckons and/or the coach or other bench personnel enters the court to attend to the injured player.

Before the change, a coach or any other bench personnel could not enter the court area unless signaled to do so by an official. This year the coach or any other bench personnel may enter the court without being beckoned by an official to attend to an injured player.

An official, however, may question or observe an injured player to determine whether he/she is able to continue playing. If the player is ready in a few seconds then play will be resumed without the player having to leave the game.

"Safety and welfare of the players is the first and foremost thing," said Boucher. "We don't want any of the players to be seriously hurt."

While the basic rule concerning headwear has remained unchanged, some leeway has been provided in certain instances to allow headwear for medical, cosmetic or religious reasons.

"If a player has had cancer and their hair has come out, then they would be allowed to wear some form of headwear," explained Boucher. "If a player has been in an auto accident and had to have a gash in his head attended to, then appropriate headwear would be permissible."

However, all headwear must be state approved and a statement from a licensed medical physician must be provided. The headwear must not be dangerous to other players.

Points of emphasis that Boucher stressed to officials and coaches included controlling handchecking and rough play in the low post.

"The game is getting out of hand and we must do something to control it under the basket," he said. "It has become a battle zone in some games under the basket. It can be attributed to the rough play in the college game and it has spread down to the high school level."

Each official was reminded not to be so quick to leave the court as his administration duties have not ended until he leaves the court.

"When an official leaves the court at the conclusion of the game, his duties have ended," explained

Boucher. "Now, if the scorer has detected a scoring error and decided that the home team did not win by two points but lost by one, then the officials, once they left the floor, can do nothing about it. Their duties ended when they left the court."

"Most officials are like 'speeding bullets' when the game is over," he continued. "If there is a problem in the scoring, then the official, by leaving the court, has done nothing to solve the problem."

Taunting and baiting in high school basketball is becoming a major problem and it causes hard feelings as well as fights. Boucher said that all officials will have to start stressing the rule that prohibits such action.

"It needs stopping," Boucher told the officials. "You coaches can help with the problem, also. Sportsmanship is an important aspect of a high school basketball game."

Boucher went on to warn the coaches not to use an official's name when talking with the press about an officiated game.

"The referees do not use your names and if they do it will not be tolerated in this association," warned Boucher.

For those that missed the clinic at Prestonsburg, make-up clinics have been scheduled with the next one being held at Pikeville, Sunday, October 25, at 2 p.m. The third clinic will take place at Belfry on November 12. Two basketball games are scheduled to be played and each official will be rated during the clinic. Another clinic has been scheduled for December 6 in Pikeville, and at the Landmark Inn in Pikeville on February 28 at 2 p.m.

Cheerleading clinic to be held at Morehead State

Registrations are being accepted now for all age groups to attend a cheerleading clinic sponsored by Morehead State University's varsity cheerleading squad on Saturday, Dec. 12, on the campus.

The program will run from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. in Wetherby Gymnasium.

The clinic is designed to help cheerleaders improve their skill, and enhance their abilities in the activity, according to Myron Doan, assistant dean of students and squad adviser.

"The instruction will be suitable for elementary, junior high and high school cheerleaders," Doan said. "Enrollment is available for members of a squad or individuals who want to sharpen their abilities."

Gymnastics, partner stunts, pyramids, sidelines, cheers and dance routines are to be covered during the seven-hour session.

The cost is $20 per person which includes private instruction, lunch and tickets to the MSU-Union College basketball game where the clinic participants will be included in the halftime show.

MSU's varsity cheerleading squad has received three national titles in Division I at the College Cheerleading Championships. They were named Number 1 in 1988, 1991 and 1992.

Additional information and registration is available from Doan at (606) 783-2014, weekdays, or 784-8014, evenings and weekends.

Prestonsburg

Bill Letton to his team after the game. "I'm proud of you and the way you played. They are a good football team and don't take anything away from that. We believed in ourselves."

Letton reminded his ball club that they hadn't won the district title yet, making reference to the two remaining games the Blackcats have left in district play.

Letton said that his team was to reach the top of the ladder they are climbing and that the bottom rung wasn't there to rest on but to step to a higher level on.

"We're off to bigger and better things," he said.

"These guys did it all," said Hyden of a group of jubilant linemen that surrounded him. "Without this line we could do nothing. They deserve all the credit."

The Blackcats, who warmed up before the game in their traditional red jerseys, showed a different look when they returned to the field just before game time. Prestonsburg donned their black jerseys to the roar of approval from the large crowd.

After Sheldon Clark took the opening kickoff, the Cards failed to move the football. Prestonsburg defensive line was putting a lot of pressure on Cardinal quarterback Jesse Watts. In fact, Watts was sacked on the first play of the game for a loss of 8 yards.

On a fourth-and-fifteen play, Sheldon Clark punted the football over to the Blackcats and seven plays later Tucker, on a keeper, raced into the end zone for the first score of the night and Marcus Araujo added the extra point for a 7-0 Prestonsburg lead.

Sheldon Clark, despite being hit with two penalties in their second series of plays, got some good running from Ray Collins and halfback Brad Tiller as they moved to the Prestonsburg 9-yard line for a first-and-goal situation. A 3- and 2-yard pickup by Collins rested the ball on the Cats 4 yard line for a third-and-four play. Watts, on a keeper, was stopped at the line of scrimmage bringing up a fourth-and-fourth play. Watts threw the ball to the end zone that was incomplete, but Prestonsburg was called for a pass interference penalty, moving the ball half the distance to the 2-yard line and a replay of the down. Collins then plunged into the end zone for the touchdown and the PAT tied the game at 7-7.

To no one's surprise, the Cardinals attempted an onside kick that Prestonsburg coughed up and the Cards took over on the Prestonsburg 43. On a second down play, the ball squirted out of the hands of Collins on a carry and Jody Cornette fell on the football, recovering it for the Blackcats.

Prestonsburg returned the favor very early in the second quarter when the Cards recovered a Blackcat fumble. But the Cardinals were not able to capitalize on the mistake as they fumbled for the second time on a fourth down play that Matt Porter recovered.

Prestonsburg took a 13-7 lead when Tucker spotted sophomore Thomas Ratliff all alone in the end zone and hit the receiver with a 5-yard pass with 5:38 left in the first half.

You could tell that it wasn't going to be much of a defensive game from both sides as the Cardinals wasted no time to take the lead. On a third-and-long play, Watts connected with Tiller on the sidelines and the back did not break stride as he raced to the goal line for a touchdown that covered 67 yards. The PAT gave the Cards their first lead at 14-13 with 4:19 remaining in the second period.

Prestonsburg went to the locker room at half time with a 19-14 lead as Tucker again hit Ratliff with a 27-yard pass for a TD with :57 seconds in the half.

Things were looking good for the Blackcats early in the third quarter. After failing to gain any ground on their first series of plays, Prestonsburg had the Cardinals deep into their own territory. With Watts feeling the rush of the Blackcats defense, Tucker intercepted a Watts' pass and raced into the end zone for a touchdown from 17 yards out and Garza scored on the two-point conversion play that gave the Cats a 27-14 lead.

But this was an excellent Sheldon Clark team that never did quit either. With 7:01 to go in the third, the Prestonsburg defense just completely relaxed and the result was a 8-yard touchdown run by Tiller. The PAT let the Cards get back into the game at 27-21.

Things did not get any better for the Cats as they fumbled their second onside kick and the Cardinals took over on the Prestonsburg 49. On a third-and-ten play, Watts hit Brian Damron with a 45-yard pass where he was haul down on the Cats 4-yard line. On the next play, Collins capped off the drive with a 4-yard run and the PAT regained the lead for Sheldon Clark 28-27.

Prestonsburg, experiencing a horrible third period, saw Sheldon Clark take a 35-27 lead on a touchdown pass from Watts to Donnie Slone and the PAT as the third period ended.

It was a determined Prestonsburg team that took the field in the fourth period. The spirited play saw the Cats come back and tie the game at 35-35 on 3-yard run by Garza. Hyden ran the conversion to knot the game.

The TD was set by a 40-yard pass completion from Tucker to Ratliff. Ratliff caught the ball, fumbled, and recovered before being brought down on the Cardinals seven. A 4-yard run by Garza moved the ball to the three where Garza scored.

It was Prestonsburg taking a 42-35 lead when Tucker intercepted his second pass of the game and returned the football to the Cardinals 4-yard line. A facemasking call against the Cardinals moved the ball to the two where Garza scored and Araujo added the PAT.

But, as the game had gone all evening, the Cardinals were not dead yet. On the ensuing kickoff, Damron took the football and galloped 80 yards untouched for a touchdown. Collins ran the two-point conversion and Sheldon Clark led 43-42 with 8:53 left in the game.

"Our kickoff defense just didn't do their job on the kickoff return by Damron," said center Dickie Johnson.

"This is a great win for us," said lineman Brian Horn, who seemed to be all over the field. "They thought they would come in here and take it to us. They're a tough team and when we got down we never did quit, mainly because of the support of the fans."

"We got some great coaching," Bottoms stated, "and I just love it."

Prestonsburg's leading tackler, Todd Clark, said that it was great win for his ball club.

"It feels great to win a game like this," said Clark, who had five first hits and one assist in the game. "The next two games are still important to us. We shut them down in the fourth quarter especially on their last possession. We had a big offensive night and our offensive line was great.

Bill Bottoms believes that the offensive line has grown up a little this season.

"We played some mature football tonight," said Bottoms. "We took the football down the field and there was no doubt in my mind that we would score. Tucker took the game on his shoulders. We got about 250 pounds on the line and that will take you places."

"I thought overall we played well tonight," continued Bottoms. "I thought our defense played good. We just wanted to run the clock out on our last possession and we didn't try and do anything fancy."

"Our offense stayed together and we played hard tonight," said Johnson. "We opened some holes for the backs and I just had a gut feeling that we were going to do it (score on their last possession)."

"We felt that if we beat Sheldon Clark tonight we would win the district title. We knew that it was a 'have to' situation."

Johnson said that the line for the Blackcats showed a lot of maturity as well as character in that they never did quit. "It was the same earlier in the year at Middlesboro," said the Blackcat center. "The line played hard and we're like family here."

Ryan Elliott echoed the same feelings as Johnson.

"We are like family here," said Elliott. "We all get along and we're close on this team. This is a smart team and we know what it takes to win."

Elliott stressed that last year the Blackcats were a come-back team and he feels that has carried over to this season.

"We always never quit playing," said Elliott. "Last year we didn't quit and it's the same this season."

One of those who seems to never give up or give in is Joey Nunn who has made things miserable for opposing quarterbacks this season.

"This is probably the biggest win for us this season," said Nunn, "but we can't overlook the next two teams we have to play. We have to be ready to play when we come out next Friday. We have to stick together and I believe that we will be up for our next game."

"Tiller is a great football player," stated Nunn. "I knew that it was going to be a great game."

Jay McIntire wishes the defense could have been more active but likes the win.

"I wish we could have held them to a lower score," explained McIntire. "But we played a real good game. I was surprised that they were as good as they were."

"When we go to M.C. Napier we will have to watch ourselves," continued McIntire. "We don't want any surprises up there."

Garza led the Prestonsburg ground game with 112 yards rushing on 23 carries. He scored two touchdowns and added a conversion run. Hyden had 91 yards on 20 carries with Tucker rushing for 42 yards on six carries.

Ratliff had three receptions for 72 yards and two touchdowns as Tucker, who didn't throw as much, was three of four passing.

Hyden came up with seven first hits on defense. Tucker had four first hits as well as three assists. He also had two interceptions. Horn had five solo hits and one assist with Cornette getting three solo's and one assist. Brad Wells and Porter had fumble recoveries.

Cardinal quarterback Jesse Watts had a tremendous game, throwing for 243 yards on seven completions including two touchdowns. Watts was sacked four times for a loss of 18 yards. He carried the football five times for 12 yards rushing.

Tiller had 47 yards rushing on six carries and Collins finished with 39 on eight carries. Slone had three receptions for 103 yards including on touchdown.

Prestonsburg totaled 353 yards on offense to Sheldon Clark's 402. The Blackcats fumbled the football three times with the Cardinals losing the ball twice on fumbles.

Prestonsburg was flagged eight times for 65 yards in penalties and Sheldon Clark had 45 yards in penalties on seven calls.

Prestonsburg (7-1, 4-0) will face Morgan County this Friday night in their homecoming game. Sheldon Clark (7-1, 4-1) travels to Shelby Valley Friday night.

TOUGH COMPETITION

Sarah Barker teaches a mixed primary class at the Harold school. It's a class that incorporates the first three grades and where the older students help the younger, thereby expressing what they have learned and building on their own confidence.

These children are working with computers and other learning programs and are making great strides for a group so young. Also, in their class competitions they treat each other with a degree of respect that we grown-up citizens would do well to emulate.

One illustration of this was their recent election of a prince and princess to represent the class. The winners, in turn, will compete with those of other classes at the school's Halloween carnival.

Several students in Miss Barker's class were in the running, but every candidate would be assured of one vote for each would be expected to vote for himself or herself.

Kelly Blackburn was one of the candidates for princess. She was very careful to brush her hair just right, to choose a special dress and matching socks and to look her best on the day of voting.

When she came home from school that afternoon, her family asked how the election went. "I got some votes," she said, "but I didn't win. Ashley Boyd was named princess in our class."

"Ashley is your good friend, isn't she?" her mother asked. "How did you feel about her beating you? Were you jealous at all?"

"Oh no," Kelly answered. "Mother, she looked so pretty. She wore a pink and white dress with ruffles on the skirt, and her hair was brushed so fluffy it looked like a fur ball. Anyone who looked that pretty ought to be princess."

She was quiet for a minute, and then she added, "Mother, she was so cute—I'll tell you the truth—that I voted for her myself."

BE ALERT

We had a relative in an area hospital recently. Having undergone surgery, she needed a little extra attention and I spent several hours doing special duty.

One afternoon I overheard one of the nurses asking other staff members if they knew where some garment had come from. Over and over she was getting no as an answer.

I went to the door and saw it was a pair of men's pants that had been left on a table in the hallway.

All through the afternoon others inquired about who the pants might belong to, and still nobody knew. Finally, I heard one nurse say, "Well, if we see someone in the hall with no britches on, I guess we'll know where they came from."

It was evening when I left the hospital and I saw the garment in question still lying on the table. So if you should see someone in the lobby, in the parking lot...or maybe out on the main road...

Let's hope he has on a long shirt—and maybe a raincoat.

Kim's Korner

Thanks for the memories!

As I sit here on Saturday evening, I'm watching Channel 5 and the last football game at Wheelwright High.

by Kim Frasure

My memories began to flow like they've never before. My eyes filled with tears, my heart began to ache, and the sadness was overwhelming.

As I watched the maroon and white uniforms charge down the field, I could remember the years I stood on those sidelines and cheered my heart out.

Homecoming my junior year—a night I'll never forget. As far back as I can remember, there hasn't been a homecoming at the "Snake Pit" without rain, and the year I was homecoming queen was no different.

I can see K.J., Jeanice, Monica, Sherry Lynn, Berthie, and oh, how I can see coach. His hands were trembling when he placed the crown on my head, and I was shaking to beat 90.

Gosh, there are so many, I can remember Benita in her gorgeous feature twirler uniform, Judy Snyder and her silver Nova. How we wanted to be just like these two. And before we could blink an eye we were there, on the steps of W.H.S. to make our own memories.

Who can forget Dewey Ray, the best football, basketball, track, and all-around sportsman that he was? It was really weird to sit and watch Wheelwright's last game against a team Dewey Ray was coaching. My how times change. Jeff Riley, before Jeff got his fame as the Lottio-Man, he was a famous basketball star at good ol' W.H.S. Mark Smith, my best friend of the opposite sex, how can I ever thank Mark for listening to all those never-ending broken-hearted conversations. And he never once complained?

K.J., my sister, my mental telepathy connection, if I could only write a book, we've been together since the ripe old age of five. And no matter how far Gene (her husband) takes her, we still keep in close contact. Our memories of W.H.S. have to be almost identical, for we were rarely apart. Jeanice, my maid of honor, my memories are so wonderful of our three musketeer days.

Remember those Steph? You, Jeanice and me hitting the roads and putting away those hot fudge cakes.

Sheila, my wrecking buddy. My very first car wreck, and you were there to share the experience along with so many, many more.

Gosh, my mind is going in a hundred different directions. I can see 1975 and flash clean through to 1978.

My teachers, ("Coach, the principal"), Ricky Thomsberry, Chip, Roy Harlow and our skipping day, we all got caught and reprimanded.

I can still feel that paddle, Don Daniels made sure of that one.

We were so cool, we knew we'd made it back on campus without a soul seeing us.

I'll tell you readers one thing, coach has eyes in every direction.

We lived through some pretty exciting times. "Price Beach," remember that one coach?

Motor cycle rides in the snow, cheering at ballgames that were so cold our knees knocked to the beat of the band.

"Those were the days, my friends." And saying farewell to the place our memories began is so very hard.

As all good things must come to an end, I suppose it's time to move forward and bid farewell. To my wonderful friends I'll cherish these memories forever and I thank you for them, for my life is filled with richness because of them.

Till next week, good-bye Wheelwright High.

Agape Adult Care Center focuses on love

by Polly Ward

To the staff at Agape Day Center, the finest gift they can give their clients is agape love.

"Agape means unconditional love," said center director Dana Caudill, explaining the center's name. "That means giving love without expecting love in return. We give that love unconditionally here. The word 'agape' was taken from the Bible. God had agape love. No matter what we do He loves us. That's the concept here."

During a recent two-hour visit, there was plenty of hand-holding, hugs, and other demonstrations of affection on the part of the staff for the two clients who had arrived that morning. The clients, one with cerebral palsy, the other with a form of Alzheimer's-related dementia, basked in the attention and returned the affection gleefully.

"One reason our clients do so well is the love they receive," said Caudill, an LPN originally from Garrett. "We (the staff) are very touchy. At first some clients didn't want us to hug them. But we did it anyway and they got used to it."

A hand-painted decorative plaque, which hangs on the dining room wall, states "Agape is love" and that love is evident in the comfortable homelike atmosphere of the center. Located behind the Senior Citizens Center at Archer Park, the center is an attractive one-story modular home that is fully handicapped-accessible. Inside, the eight-room building is roomy and spotless with a kitchen and dining area, two living areas, two bathrooms and three offices.

The center opened April 1991, and is funded by federal money as part of the Title III program which provides funds for the Senior Citizens Center, and Meals On Wheels. Agape Center services include supervision of clients, group and individual activities, socialization, exercise, and counseling. "We try to provide something for everyone," said Caudill.

At present, the center has five individuals who partake of the services, although the center can accommodate 15 day care clients. Caudill believes many more individuals in Floyd County are eligible for day care services.

"The elderly population is increasing. People are trying to keep elderly family members at home as long as possible," she said. "The economy requires both husband and wife to work. But a person (caregiver for a family member) doesn't have to be working. We provide respite services, whether the caregiver needs to run an errand for an hour or two, or wants the day to take care of her needs."

At a Health Fair three weeks ago "We received a lot of response (from the public). But I was devastated that people didn't know about the service or were aware we are here," said Caudill.

The center, although sponsored by the Floyd County Senior Citizens Center, is not a part of the Senior Citizens program.

"We are different from the Senior Citizens," clarified Caudill. "We provide services for clients who need supervision."

Another misconception the public holds is that the center is for Alzheimer's patients exclusively. "This is one thing people have misunderstood about the program," said Caudill. "We can accept clients over 60 years old if they are just frail, elderly and need some supervision during the day."

"If a person is under 60, he must have some sort of dementia (Alzheimer's or related disorder)" verified by a doctor, she added.

The staff at the center includes activity director Myrna Williams who started working at the center on the JTPA program. In January she was hired as a permanent worker. She said working at the center "has met a need in my life as well as (allowing me to be) helping others. My mom has a memory problem. I would be very satisfied to leave my mother

(the grounds), eat food that's too hot, and so forth," said Williams, who had retrieved Vonna several times already that morning from the front porch. Clients are always supervised by attendants, and this includes activities here. "She added, "You don't go home and leave it (the job). You do get attached to people."

"They (the clients) fulfill you as much as you fulfill them," said Terry Turner, who smiled as she looked at Paul, 52, a cerebral palsy victim whose hand she was holding. Turner, whose office is located in the center, is a Home Care case manager whose job is to assess clients' need for services. "Without this center a lot of people here would be in a nursing home. There aren't words to describe how wonderful this place is."

Donna Frazier, case manager supervisor of Big Sandy ADD Home Care and Long-Term program, said of the center, "This is a facility that allows the very frail and elderly to remain at home, and gives the caregiver some sense of freedom from that responsibility by leaving her loved one under excellent supervision."

Lisa Vanderpool, of Hueysville, has had her mother, Vonna, 53, coming to the center for a year. Vonna suffers from Pick's disease, a form of dementia. Her daughter said, "The center is a great help. It gives me time to do things I need to do. It's a big responsibility (caring for an ill parent) to get away from and it gives her time away from us (her family). Day care also keeps her out of a nursing home and she loves it here."

Vonna is in good physical health, said Williams, but she has no concept of danger. "She would just walk off big wool toboggan and our four-buckle arctics were the uniform of the day. Since it would have taken a good half hour to remove them and probably twice that long to put them back on, we just kept them on. This did, however, present somewhat of a problem because we were so bundled up that we couldn't even raise our hand when we had to go to the bathroom.

My mother was a strong believer in vitamins, too. We didn't have the Flintstone chewable, candy-flavored kind, either. We took a regular dose of cod liver oil until someone came out with something called Hadacol (pronounced haddy-call). They both tasted just like they sound like they would.

if we ever complained with a stomach ache, she automatically reached for that big brown bottle of castor oil. Unless we were doubled over in pain, we never complained.

A sneeze or a cough after sundown got me a Vick's salve rub-down, accompanied with a towel being draped over my bare, defenseless chest. During this ritual it was almost as if this sweet, gentle little woman turned into some kind of demon. After putting me to bed and greasing my upper body with this smelly substance, she would hold a large towel in front of the fire until it smoked. All the while, she would be looking at me — grinning.

The instant before it reached kindling temperature and burst into flame, she would dash over and drape it over my chest. Instinctively, I'd take a quick breath and those vapors would penetrate my body, the mattress and the floor beneath my bed. Needless to say, I tried awfully hard not to cough or sneeze.

Another one of her favorite cure-alls was turpentine. I can't clean a paint brush today without still tasting it. She would dab it on my tonsils with her finger to cure a sore throat or use a piece of cotton to dab it on a fever blister on my lip.

Measles, mumps, and chicken pox perhaps added our names to the absentee list at the H.S. Howes Community School, but nothing as minor as a cold or the sniffles kept us at home. Although it sometimes caused our incarceration, Mom nearly always won the war.

In addition, students of the PCC nursing program work at the center. Three students are sent out once a week, four hours at a time as part of

90th birthday

Samuel A. Vaughan celebrated his 90th birthday with a party on Saturday, September 12, at the home of his daughter, Fayette Meade, of Auxier Heights. Those in attendance were his sons, Jack and Bill Vaughan; his daughters, Barbara Crider, Fayette Meade, Doris Price, Brenda Lykins, Linda Pelphrey and Shirley Senters. All of his children were there except for one daughter, Betty Kirsch, of Seattle, Washington. Also attending were his 17 grandchildren, 16 great-grandchildren and his many sons-in-law and daughters-in-law. He still enjoys working in his garden and attends church regularly.

MOM NEARLY ALWAYS WON THE WAR

During the 1940s, from the first frost until the spring thaw, my little brother Joe and I were imprisoned—indoors. Our breath formed frost and icicles on the window pane as we watched the rest of the children of Muddy Branch sleigh ride, snowball fight and build snow men.

You see, my mother waged a personal war against my runny noses, coughs and sneezes. And she felt that if we were not exposed to cold weather, we wouldn't fall victim to these winter-time afflictions.

One of her favorite weapons was breakfast. You couldn't catch a cold if you ate a good hot breakfast. In those days before Eggos, Tang and Pop Tarts, it must have been a real effort to prepare a hot breakfast for two growing boys every morning. But she apparently was of the philosophy that if your innards were warm your outwards were, too.

I could just imagine the conversation between Virgil and Vivian Virus, two nasty ole germs searching for a place to light.

"Who're we gonna infect today, Virgie?"

"I dunno, Viv. but, I'll tell ya one thing. Ya better stay away from those Pack boys. They got hot oatmeal in 'em."

Mom also made sure that when we left for school we were dressed warmly. Besides our long-johns, two pairs of socks and three sweaters, a

Mrs. Donahoe visits with family members

Mabel Donahoe has returned from Flatwoods where she visited with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donahoe; their daughter, Suzanne Donahoe; and their son Michael David. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donahoe accompanied his mother to her home here where they visited with her briefly.

Attend football game in Louisville

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hereford were in Louisville recently where they were joined by their son and daughter-in-law,

Dr. and Mrs. John Hereford, and son John Robert of Kingsport, Tennessee attended the University of Louisville-Wyoming football game. En route to their home, the John Hereford family stopped in Prestonsburg for a brief visit with his parents and other relatives.

Prestonsburg Day Homemakers hold meeting

Members of the Prestonsburg Day Homemakers held their regular meeting on Tuesday, October 13, at 1 p.m., at the First United Methodist Church, with Mary Sue Moore presiding.

The devotional was presented by Dorothy Stover, who read the "Homemakers' Creed," and led the group in prayer. Mrs. Stover, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and gave the roll-call, to which members present answered by listing things they'd collected.

Mrs. Moore, president, presented as a new member Rebecca DeRossett, who was welcomed to the group.

Frances Pitts, Floyd County home economist, gave a report on the recent Area Homemakers meeting, held at Salyersville. She said that pecans, sold by Homemakers each year for the benefit of the Ovarian Cancer Fund, had been ordered.

Mrs. Pitts presented the lesson on "Decorating with Antiques, Collectibles and Junk." She showed many examples of how this might be accomplished.

Mrs. Moore called on members who had brought "collectibles" to share them with members, and many and varied items were shown. A 1934 "Pikeville College Yearbook," which contained pictures of some of the members of this group was also shared.

It was announced that the hostess for November's meeting, which will be Tuesday, November 10 at 1 p.m. at this same location will be Rose Glenn, Ann Alley, and Phyllis Stanley. Mrs. Pitts asked that members bring with them to this meeting a handmade Christmas ornament, and added that one of these would be selected to compete with others made by Homemakers throughout the county.

Committees for the forthcoming year are: Devotional, Lucy Regan and Fannie Runnels; telephone, Mildred Branham, Rose Glenn, and Jane Wallace. Docia B. Woods serves as director of publicity for the group.

Hostesses for this meeting were Alleen Fitch, Dorothy Osborne and Rebecca Rasmick, who served refreshments of sandwiches, cake, soft drinks, coffee, and assorted candy to Frances Pitts, Mary Sue Moore, Dorothy Stover, Jane Wallace, Nancy Webb, Julia Curtis, Docia Woods, Fannie Runnels, Rose Glenn, Myrtle Allen, Phyllis Herrick, Mildred Branham, Ruth Worland, Alice Harris, and Eleanor Horn, and Phyllis Stanley, members, and Becky DeRossett, a guest who became a new member.

Special music at First Baptist

During Sunday morning's services at the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial) the Rev. Michael Taylor, the church's pastor, rendered a solo entitled "Thank You." The Carter family, which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Estill Lee Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Carter, and Mrs. and Mrs. Lee Carter, sang, "Where Could I Go but to the Lord?" and Tera Jones and Marcia Jones sang, "He's Still Working on Me."

Thomas W. Foy is the Music and Youth director there.

Prestonsburg Kiwanians to hold luncheon-meeting

Mabel Jean Lemaster, president of the Prestonsburg Kiwanians, reminds members of the luncheon-meeting to be held at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, Thursday, (tomorrow), at 12:30, and she urges them to attend.

Brunch for relatives hosted by Robert O. Plybon

On Monday, October 12, Robert O. Plybon, of Chesapeake, Ohio, hosted a brunch for a mini family reunion, at Jerry's Restaurant, here.

Members of his family attending were: his wife, Mary; his two sisters, Mrs. Maida Russell and Free Mitchell, and his granddaughter Leslie Plybon and friend Jacob Riscotti, from Virginia. Joining this group from Prestonsburg were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Haywood, Mrs. Phyllis Ranier, and Mrs. Ruth Worland.

Following the brunch, the group toured the First United Methodist Church here. Lucy Oppenheimer Plybon, mother of Robert, Maida, and Free was a charter member of this church, and the family has always felt a close connection with it, because of their mother, and of their grandfather, Charles Oppenheimer, who was a long-time member there.

Following the church tour, the group visited at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Haywood, and Phyllis Ranier, and went sight-seeing at Dewy Lake, Jenny Wiley Park, before returning to their homes.

Visit in Lexington

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wallace of Prestonsburg were accompanied on Thursday of last week by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells Sr. of Flat Gap to Lexington where they went for Mr. Wallace to visit his doctor, who recently performed his heart surgery. Relatives and friends will be glad to know that the diagnosis was good.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor and family have houseguests

The Rev. Michael M. Taylor, pastor of the First Baptist Church (Irene Cole Memorial), Mrs. Taylor, and their two children, had as their houseguests at the parsonage this past weekend, members of their family, including her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Brown, and other relatives, Mrs. Marcia Jones, and Tara Jones, and Melany Sparks, all of Harrogate, Tennessee.

Membership committee of FCRT holds meetings

The membership committee of the FCRT (Floyd County Retired Teachers' Association) met at the Floyd County Library, on Thursday, October 1, and Wednesday, October 7, to analyze the number of current members and to prepare and mail letters, with membership renewal forms to all current Floyd County retired teachers who have not paid 1992-93 dues.

The Floyd County group is in the middle of a campaign to get every retired teacher to become a member of the Floyd County, Big Sandy, and Kentucky Retired Teachers' Associations.

Anyone needing to know about his or her status as a member of any of these groups may call Ruby Akers, chairman, at 377-6234, or Delphia Hicks, president, at 886-3108. Dues may be mailed to Annis Clark, treasurer, P.O. Box 96, Garrett, Ky., 41630.

Members attending the October 1 meeting were Ruby Akers, Alice Martin, Minerva Cooley, Ruth Rainey, Annis Clark, Danese Amburgey, and Delphia Hicks. Attending the October 7 meeting were Ruby Akers, Alice Martin, and Delphia Hicks.

Recent guests

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pettrey and Mrs. Rebecca Rasmick had as their guests on day this past week, their niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hale of Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Hale, a native of this county, is a member of the board of trustees, at Pikeville College.

Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP holds dinner-meeting

The Jenny Wiley Chapter AARP held its monthly dinner-meeting on Friday, October 16, at the Highlands Regional Medical Center, with Mrs. Gladys Allen, president, presiding.

Following dinner in the cafeteria there, the devotions were given by Mrs. Lucy C. Regan, who read a verse of Scripture from Romans 13:12. A message called "Quititin' Time," by an early Methodist minister, Sam Jones, was also read.

The first part of the program was presented by Sister Margaret Jacobs, who works with the Big Sandy Hospice program.

She explained how terminally ill patients and their families are cared for, stating that when cancer patients who receive Hospice care are taken home from the hospital, the needs and those of their families are assessed, and Hospice helpers work with them according to these needs. She added that after the death of the cancer patients, Hospice continues giving needed help to their families.

The last part of the program con-

Rickman, Ferrell wed

Regina Rickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rickman of Allen, and Ricky Shawn Ferrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Ferrell of Martin, were married September 26, at the Stephens Branch Missionary Baptist Church. The pastor Gary Allen officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Pre-nuptial music was performed by soloist Vanessa Burke and pianist Kimberly Scott. The bride given in marriage by her father was dressed in a white formal gown of lace and organza. The maid of honor, Inga Ferrell, sister of the bride, wore a purple tea-length gown with puffed hemline. The flower girl was Rakia Rickman, sister of the bride. Bestman was Hebert M. Ferrell, father of the groom. Serving as ushers were Shannon Michael Ferrell and Donnie Thomas Burke. A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall. The couple will reside in Prestonsburg.

GOAL TO GO ENTERTAINING THAT LETS YOU IN ON THE ACTION

While some football fans maintain that nothing quickens the pulse like a day at the stadium, other equally passionate devotees claim that the best seat in the house is in front of the television.

As essential as the couch to this cozy spectating is the food. No stadium concession stand can compare with our choice of foods. For the combination cook and fan, this make-ahead menu has special appeal. Once guests arrive, you're free to enjoy them and the game.

Here's the plan: During the first half of the game, set out Southwest Popcorn and Zingy Potato Crisps. Serve the seasoned popcorn with panache in brightly colored paper bags available at card shops. The Zingy Potato Crisps are best served hot from the microwave oven. If you'd like some extra Cheddar cheese-capped potato skins for your guests to enjoy throughout the first half, double the recipe (cooking the skins in two batches in your microwave) and plan ahead for keeping them warm. An electric skillet, hot tray, griddle or bun warmer will do the trick.

For serious halftime snacking, serve Ham and Cheese in Rye. As the football clock starts the game, put the foil-wrapped, overstuffed hero in the oven to heat through and melt the Swiss cheese. Keep in mind that this is a knife-and-fork sandwich and supply your guests with the utensils accordingly.

An attractive addition to your halftime spread, as well as a cool, crisp counterpoint to the warm sandwich, is an edible centerpiece. Arrange relishes in vegetable containers in a wicker basket. For example, serve carrot and celery sticks in sweet green or red pepper shells. Other vegetables to consider including in your arrangement: pea pods, asparagus spears, mushrooms, sliced zucchini, radishes, cucumber, and broccoli and cauliflower flowerets.

At the end of the game (to celebrate or console yourselves), serve crumb-topped Pear and Apple Crisp. It's delicious at room temperature or reheated for four minutes in your microwave oven. Dollop vanilla yogurt over the top of each serving.

SOUTHWEST POPCORN makes 2 quarts

2 quarts popped, unbuttered, unsalted popcorn
6 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon chili con carne seasoning
1/4 teaspoon EACH: seasoned salt, oregano
1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon cayene
Place popcorn in a large bowl. Melt butter in microwave oven or on top of stove. Drizzle butter mixture over popcorn; toss to evenly coat.

Serving size: 1/2 cup calories per serving: 50;
protein 4 g; fat 5 g; carbohydrate 2 g;

ZINGY POTATO CRISPS makes 8

2 large Idaho potatoes
Vegetable oil
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons fresh chives
1 tablespoon prepared horseradish
1/4 teaspoon red pepper sauce
1/3 cup chopped red pepper
4 slices bacon, cooked, drained and crumbled
3/4 cup broccoli flowerets
1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
Bake potatoes in oven or microwave. Let cool 20 to 30 minutes. Cut each potato lengthwise into 4 equal wedges. Carefully cut center away from each wedge, leaving 1/4-inch shell. Heat 1/2-inch oil in large heavy skillet over medium-high heat. Fry potato skins until golden brown, about 8 to 10 minutes. Drain well on paper toweling. Combine sour cream, chives, horseradish and red pepper sauce. Spread half of sour cream mixture over potato skins. Top with red pepper, bacon and broccoli. Sprinkle with cheese, top with remaining sour cream mixture. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate up to 4 hours. To serve, place on microwaveable plate. Microwave, uncovered, on half power (50 percent) 6 to 7 minutes, rotating halfway through cooking time. Serve immediately. Serving size: 1 potato crisp

PEAR AND APPLE CRISP 8 servings

TOPPING:
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
6 tablespoons butter
2/3 cup coarsely crushed almond toast
FRUIT
6 medium-sized cooking apples
6 medium-sized pears
3 tablespoons firmly packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
Vanilla yogurt

Preheat oven to 400 F. For topping: Combine flour, sugar and spices. Cut in butter until mixture resembles fine crumbs. Stir in almond toast crumbs; set aside. For fruit: Peel; slice thinly. Toss fruit with sugar and lemon juice. Place in 2 1/2 quart baking dish. Sprinkle topping over fruit. Bake 30 minutes, or until fruit is tender when pierced with a fork. Serve warm or cold, topping each serving with vanilla yogurt. To reheat: Place baking dish in microwave uncovered. Heat on High 4 minutes or until very warm but not bubbling. Serving size: 1/8 of recipe calories per serving: 417 protein 6 g, fat 11 g, carbohydrate 78 g calcium 151 mg, riboflavin (B2) .24 mg

HAM AND CHEESE IN RYE 8 servings

1 1/2 pound loaf rye bread, unsliced
1 egg
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 cups soft rye bread crumbs
1 tablespoon Dijon-style prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon seasoned salt

1/4 teaspoon EACH: garlic powder, pepper
2 cups diced smoked ham
1 can (16 ounces) garbanzo beans, rinsed and drained
1/2 cup EACH: chopped celery, chopped dill pickle
1/3 cup EACH: chopped red pepper, sliced green onion
8 ounces sliced Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Cut a slice from top of bread; reserve for cover. Scoop bread from inside of loaf, using fingers, leaving about 1 inch on sides and bottom. (Use this for soft bread crumbs.) Beat egg in large mixing bowl; fold in sour cream. Stir in crumbs and seasonings. Add ham, garbanzo beans, celery, dill pickle, red pepper and onion; mix well. Fill loaf with ham mixture. Overlap cheese slices, on top of ham mixture. Cover with top of bread. Brush outside of bread with melted butter. Wrap in aluminum foil, sealing edges well. Refrigerate up to 4 hours before heating.

Preheat oven to 425°F. Place foil-wrapped loaf on cookie sheet. Bake 45 to 50 minutes, or until cheese is melted and filling is hot. Slice and serve as a knife and fork sandwich. Serving size: 1/8 of recipe calories per serving: 541 protein 29 g, fat 21 g, carbohydrate 62 g calcium 413 mg, riboflavin (B2) .48 mg

HOW TO GET EXTRA NUTRITION AT NO ADDED COST

No matter how often you shop for groceries, you can get more nutrition without spending more money, according to a food and nutrition specialist at the University of Kentucky.

These tips to get extra nutrition at no added cost are from Fudeko Maruyama, Extension specialist with the UK College of Agriculture.

* Buy the freshest possible produce. Fruits and vegetables are low-fat, high-fiber foods, as well as good sources of many vitamins. However, some nutrients are easily destroyed after harvest. Produce that is wilted or shows other signs of long storage may have lost one-third or more of its vitamin content.

* At the dairy case, select low-fat milk, yogurt and cheese products. Low-fat cheeses include mozzarella made from part-skim milk, neufchatel, ricotta and cottage cheese. If you must have ice cream, choose regular ice cream with 10 to 11 percent fat. The premium brands contain 16 percent, or more, fat.

* Lean meat trimmed of fat is a good choice at the meat counter. The leanest beef and pork are the round and loin.

When selecting ground beef, check the label for the percentage of fat or lean. Although the price is usually higher for a leaner product, it may be a better buy healthwise and costwise—depending upon how you plan to prepare it. If you are going to grill beef patties and allow the fat to cook out, or if you plan to make a sauce where the fat rises to the top and can be removed, the cheaper product will do just as well as an expensive one.

* Whole-grain breads and cereals are good sources of fiber and complex carbohydrates. Try English muffins, bagels, and crackers made from whole-wheat flour. Remember that croissants, muffins and biscuits often are high in fat.

* Some cereals, such as granola, may have hidden fat. Read the label to discover the fat content.

For more nutrition information, contact your county Extension office.

Waiting for order makes cents for Kentucky Tobacco growers

Patience makes cents for tobacco growers, according to an extension specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"It pays to let cured tobacco come into order before taking it down, rather than using water to bring it into order," said Bill Maksymowicz, tobacco specialist at the UK Research and Education Center in Princeton.

"Using water to bring tobacco into order will cost you money in the form of lower prices on sales day."

"Watering dark-fired tobacco washes off the finish, and finish is what sells," he said. "Two pounds of water in 98 pounds of tobacco can be the difference in whether or not you get a W (wet grade), which can cost you 30 to 40 cents a pound."

Maksymowicz said watering tobacco also increases the likelihood of spoilage.

"We've had a lot of houseburn this season as a result of high moisture in tobacco when it went into the barn and poor curing conditions," he said. "Let's not compound the problem by watering tobacco."

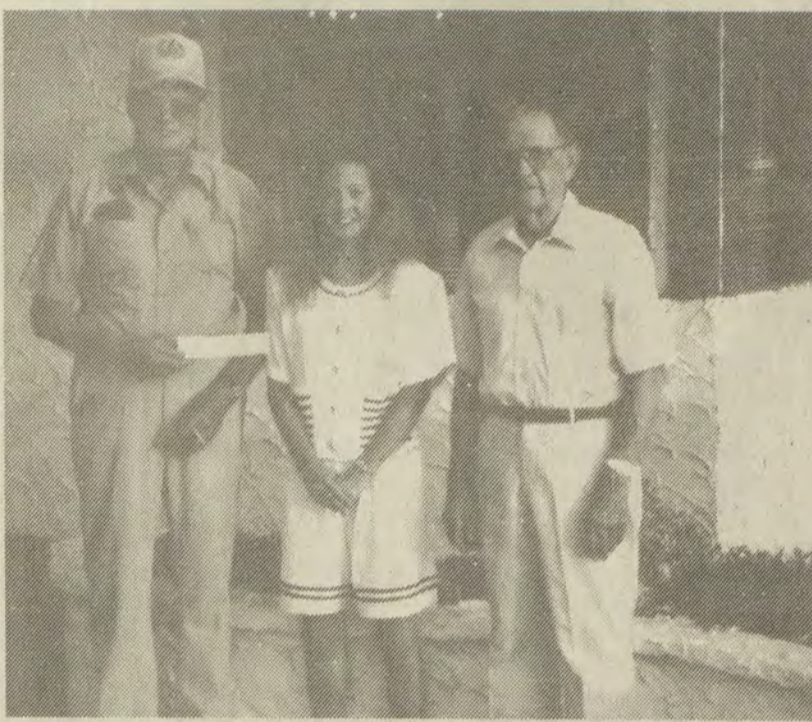

Straight grading is another way to reap higher returns on sale day, according to Maksymowicz.

"Just look at the difference between the support prices for mixed and straight grades," he said. "It might cost a little more to straight grade, but with a 50-cent difference in these support prices, that extra effort will pay."

"Keep leaf that is dirty, sunburned, green, houseburned and sweated in a separate grade. And don't nest. It hurts the trade and can hurt you financially."

He also urged dark-fired tobacco growers not to use molasses and brown sugar to "help" put on a finish to mask poor quality leaf. "Using these tricks produces a sticky leaf that's hard to handle and process, and it has the potential to hurt prices on the warehouse floor. Don't use anything but a wood finish."

"The bottom line is to wait for a natural season," Maksymowicz said. "Be patient and wait for leaf to come into order so you don't mess up the crop when you present it on the warehouse floor."

County Harvest

FRUIT HARVEST IS IN: PREPARE FOR WINTER!

Fruit growers can take action now to eliminate or reduce problems their orchards will encounter this winter. Those problems include excess moisture in the soil, rodents, and winter injury, said Gerald Brown, extension horticulturist with University of Kentucky's College of Agriculture.

"Now is an especially good time to take a look at those problems because the harvest is in," said Brown, who works out of UK's research and education center in Princeton.

"Growers should take a look to see if they have an excess water problem in their orchards, and if they do, where the water is coming from," Brown said. "They maybe can divert the water with a ditch or drainage tile."

A "saucer-like" dip in the soil around a tree should be leveled off so water won't collect there and freeze this winter.

Pests are always a problem, but growers can reduce the problem by taking away any diseased matter beneath the trees and removing any "mummies." Mummies, Brown said, are those dried up apples or peaches which remain on the ground after harvest. Leaving them there will attract mice, rabbits and voles, all of which can injure the tree by eating the bark.

"If they girdle the tree, it will die," Brown said. "Where there is a rodent problem, the best solution is hardware cloth. That's a heavy screen mesh 18 to 24 inches high around the tree trunk and buried an inch or two in the ground."

Rodents are reluctant to cross bare areas. Growers may remove mulch or grass from 18 to 24 inches around the tree.

"Winter injury is wood damaged or killed by cold temperatures or fluctuations of temperature which results in the bark splitting causing black heart (dark wood inside the trunk)," Brown said. "You can avoid some of this by not stimulating growth in late fall before frost."

Brown recommended fruit trees not receive any nitrogen or be watered from now till frost.

"In addition, the grower can paint tree trunks with an interior white latex paint," Brown said. "That will reflect the heat that would be absorbed by the tree. Heat from one side combined with cold on the other can contribute to splitting."

Most Kentucky growers usually keep much around their plants to prevent winter injury. They need to be aware that that makes it easy for rodents to get there which means they should inspect the area regularly.

Couple united in marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Conn of Louisville announce the marriage of their daughter Kathy Conn to John Hook on September 19 at Summit Hills Baptist Church in Louisville. The bride is a hair stylist at J.C.Penny's and the groom works at Industrial Enterprise in Louisville. The West Wind Band from Prestonsburg performed at the reception.

Those attending were back row, left: Lucy McGuire, Troy McKenzie, Irma McKenzie, Patsy Evans, director, Beatrice Patton, Myrtle Chaffins; front row: Lloyd Harless, Victoria Lafferty, Billie Harless. A total of 21 medals were won, 15 gold medals, five silver and one bronze. Troy McKenzie was the winner of eight medals—four gold, three silver and one bronze. The McKenzies will participate in the National Games in Baton Rouge, Louisiana in June.

Exercise keeps 103-year-old feeling young

A youthful and energetic Ardella Spencer became 103 years old on August 11, but the years don't faze her.

Ardella, who lives in Louisa, can still touch her toes and works daily in her flowers and in her garden. She attributes her agility to a daily exercise regime and to the hard work that has always been part of her life.

Ardella helped to support her family over the years by wielding an ax to make railroad ties. She searched the hills for the right tree, chopped it down herself, trimmed it and then sold it to the railroad.

When Ardella's husband, Thomas Spencer, died in 1950, she quit making the cross ties and switched to babysitting and taking care of the elderly.

Ardella loves to come to Prestonsburg to visit her niece, Sue Thompson, who takes care of George Brown. Brown is well-known in Floyd County as the owner of Brown's Produce, formerly based in Prestonsburg.

Flu season begins early this year

by Jane Bond
Health Educator

It is time to once again make sure our cars and homes are ready for cold weather, and most of us do this without fail. It is also a time to make sure we, ourselves, are ready for winter in other ways and one of the best ways to prepare for the colder months is to have a flu shot.

Most people do not take flu very seriously, but in previous years there have been several severe flu epidemics in which many persons died. The majority of these deaths was among persons 65 years of age or older.

November is usually the time for flu immunization campaigns, but due to the early start of flu season, mid-October is the recommended starting dates for this year.

The Floyd County Health Department now has flu vaccine and will begin immunizing against flu. There will be a $3 charge for the immunization, however, no one would be denied a flu shot due to inability to pay.

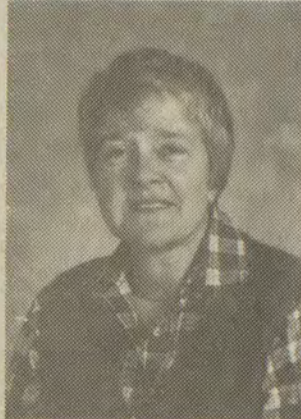

Nurses from the health department will visit all senior citizens centers in Floyd County to administer flu shots at those places, also the health department has set aside Monday, October 26, for an all-day, walk-in clinic at the health department. No appointments will be made on that day. Appointments will be made for other days, please call the health department at 886-2788 to make an appointment.

Persons who are advised to have flu shots are those persons age 65 or older, those persons with chronic diseases and others recommended by a private physician.

On The House

Managing Your Biggest Investment

Conditions are right for buying the higher priced home you've always wanted

High interest rates and home prices in the past have kept home owners from purchasing larger homes. The current real estate market conditions, however, are encouraging for many home owners who want to "buy up" to higher priced homes with more to offer.

If you are considering trading up for a larger and more expensive home, conditions for doing so couldn't get much better. Interest rates are the lowest they've been in two decades, and home prices in many regions are the most affordable they've been in years.

You should consider a few factors before reaching a decision to trade up:

- Can you afford higher mortgage payments and property taxes?
- Is your credit record solid enough to qualify for the probable higher monthly mortgage payments?
- Do you plan to stay in your new home long enough to recoup your investment?

Nesbitt earns National award

Nesbitt Engineering, Inc. received a National Marketing Award at the Society for Marketing Professional Services (SMPS) annual meeting in Orlando, Florida. The award was in recognition of Nesbitt's outstanding publicity display at the National Solid Waste Management Association's (NSWMA) Waste-Expo 92 last May in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Chamber News

The Chamber of Commerce appreciates the following individuals for participating at our recent Chamber Advance. The Advance locked in on three Kentucky areas which were: Education; Cleanup of Floyd County; and Building Leadership in Floyd County. These areas will be added to our program of work which will be unveiled for 1993 in January.

Those participating in the Advance were: Susan Martin, Tina McFarland, Russell Briggs, Terry Dotson, Bill Howard, Steve Pack, Tedi Vaughn, Estill Carter, Dolores Smith, Bruce Kelleck, Henry Mayo, Eileen Lewandowski, Fred James, Darrell Gilliam, Tammy Moore, Joe Bolton, Margaret Lewis, Terry Thornsberry, Margaret Spano, Frank Delzer, Eloise Delzer, Debi Bentley, Conni Akers, Keith Akers and Jeff Eggar, vice president of the Kentucky State Chamber, who served as the facilitator.

It's that time of the year again! The Kentucky Certified Cities Luncheon will be held at 12:15 p.m. on November 12, at the Galt House in Louisville. The cost is $15 per person. If you would like to attend, please contact your chamber at 886-1341.

Hey, Floyd County Businesses! The chamber will be conducting its first ever "Business After House Business Fair" on Tuesday, November 17, from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Wilkinson-Stumbo Conference Center at the Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. If your business is interested, please call 886-1341. Cost of the event is $50 for chamber members and $100 for non-chamber members.

On Tuesday, October 27, at noon, there will be a small business council meeting sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber at the Holiday Inn in Prestonsburg. If you would like to attend this meeting, please contact the State Chamber at 502-695-4700.

The chamber would like to recognize our newest members: Quality Tires, Goble's Variety and Costume, and John Gray Auto Sales.

They would also like to recognize the returning members: Turner Technologies, Republic Diesel, Morehead State University, East Kentucky Tires, Timothy Snoodly, Hayes Inc., Wells Ready Mix, Kanawha Steel, S&H Manufacturing, Darrell Patton, Absher Enterprises, University of Kentucky-Prestonsburg Community College, Super 8 Motel, Eastern Kentucky Pipeline and Ratliff Farm Supply.

Obviously, you'll need to sell your current home before getting serious about trading up to a new one. A healthy real estate market indicates that you'll have little trouble selling your existing home. The National Association of Realtors reported in August that sales of existing single-family homes are rising steadily, especially among first-time buyers. Affordable home prices and low interest rates could make the starter home you purchased several years ago particularly attractive.

You'll still need a significant down payment on a new house. If you can afford the up-front cost, you may want to consider switching the fixed-rate mortgage on your hold house for an adjustable rate on a new one. This could allow you to trade up without increasing your monthly payments.

The type of mortgage you choose also depends on how long you plan to stay in your new home. A good mortgage lender can advise you on whether a fixed-rate is an advantage if you're planning on staying for more than 10 years. A fixed-rate may be better for long term owners who don't want to worry about rising mortgage payments.

Trading up may not be worth the move if you're planning on living in the new home for only a couple of years. You might have to stay three to five years for your house to appreciate enough to recoup the closing costs.

Conditions for a move-up haven't been this good in many years, and you may not want to wait much longer to consider it. An experienced real estate broker can help you decide if buying a new house now is a good investment for you.

Consolidation Coal donation

Daniel E. French, supervisor of Human Resources, and Jonathan C. Hale, preparation plant engineer, representing Consolidation Coal, recently presented Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, president of Prestonsburg Community College, with $1,000 to be used to benefit students at PCC, especially those in pre-engineering. Hale is a graduate of Prestonsburg Community College's pre-engineering program.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant To Application Number 836-5173
Renewal

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Buck Coal, Inc., 300 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, has applied for a renewal of an underground and contour mining operation located 1 mile north of Craynor in Floyd County. The operation will disturb 69.2 surface acres and will underlie 839.0 acres, and the total area within the permit boundary will be 908.2 acres.

The proposed operation is approximately 1 mile west from KY 979's junction with Hamilton Branch Road and located southeast of Hamilton Branch. The latitude is 37° 27' 17". The longitude is 82° 39' 47".

The proposed operation is located on the McDowell U.S.G.S. 7-1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the contour and underground methods of mining. The surface area is owned by Timothy Ray Akers, Homer Hall, Barbara Hall, Shannon and Jennifer Mulkey, Morris Newsome, Richard Hall and Elkhorn Coal Corporation. The operation will underlie land owned by Milford Howell, Larry Compton, Ted Evans, Butler Evans, David Akers, Emit Howell Heirs, Arnold Newsom, Cecil Hamilton, Anna Newsom, Gustavia Howell, Della Jones, Robert Howell, Squire Hamilton, Levi and Mary McKinney, Frank and Iva Lee McKinney, Pauline Tackett, J. Lee Hall, Dorothy Blanton, James K. Hall, Morris Newsom and Danzil R. Hall, Denzil R. Hall, Virgil Hall, Martha Evans, Denver R. Evans, Astor Hall, William Moore, O. C. Hall, Demas Evans, Freeman Evans, Orville Hall, Oscar Akers, Ishmael Akers, Timothy Ryan Akers, Richard Hall, Homer Hall, Barbara Hall, Shannon and Jennifer Mulkey, Morris Newsome, Miles Williams, Otis Hall, Ellis Branham, Elkhorn Coal Corporation, Maxie Howell, and Bill Hall.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 1346 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653-1397. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number (836-0179),
Revision #3

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Branham & Baker Coal Company, Inc., 148 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky, 41653, has filed an application for a major revision to an existing surface coal mining and reclamation operation. This revision proposes to add an additional 0 acres of surface disturbance and 0 acres previously permitted for augering for a total proposed permit acreage of 1200.68 acres located 1.6 miles northeast of Hippo, in Floyd County.

The proposed major revision area is approximately .5 miles northeast from St. Rt. 850's junction with Prater Fork Co. Road and located .3 miles west of Turner's Branch. The latitude is 37 degrees 32' 43". The longitude is 82 degrees 50' 30".

The proposed major revision is located on the Martin U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be affected by this revision owned by James "Doc" Ratliff proposes to change 4.4 acres previously permitted for Forestland postmining use to pastureland postmining land use.

The revision application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 1346 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Save Your Own Skin

Even if it's true that beauty is only skin deep, it's still well worth protecting your skin from the weather if you care about your health. Here are some tips from the cosmetics experts at Beauté Benetton to help make seasonal transitions that are good for the skin you're in:

- Beat the heat: In Summer, hotter air temperature heats skin's surface, resulting in increased perspiration. This increases oil production which can lead to clogged pores. Cleanse more often to help dissolve dirt and try Beauté Benetton's "Fond de Teint Fluide," a light foundation that keeps skin arid with a matte look during the hotter months.

- Chill out: Complexions exposed to cooler temperatures tend to be dry. That's because bitter cold causes capillaries to constrict, which makes your face look pale and flaky. It's important to use a gentle cleanser and tepid water on the face to help replenish moisture. Beauté Benetton Foundation's Cool Weather Formula "Fond de Teint Creme" addresses dry-skin needs with hydrating ingredients such as squalene, rice bran oil and honey extract built right into the foundation.

- Run from the sun: These days, sunscreen's all over the news—and with good reason! Excessive exposure to the sun's damaging UV rays can contribute to premature aging, melanoma and dry, peeling skin. Foundations and moisturizers are now commonly available with SPF's of at least "4" and should be worn all year round, not just in summer. Everyone talks about the weather, but when it comes to achieving healthy, gorgeous skin, you've got to do something about it!

WONDERFUL WORLD OF TOMORROW

Bet You Didn't Know These Come From Israel

A new national survey found less than one percent of Americans realize how often we rely on high tech products from Israel. Yet, Americans benefit from Israel's scientific achievements every time we:

- Turn on a personal computer. (The 386 chip designed in Haifa and manufactured by Intel in Jerusalem is the dominant brain center of most personal computers in use in the world today.)

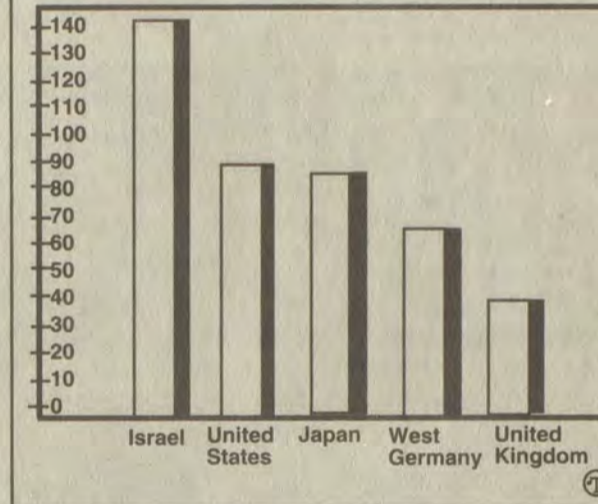

- Undergo an electronic medical diagnostic exam. (Israel's Elscint is a leader in advanced diagnostic imaging equipment, such as magnetic resonance imaging; it even has a new way of "rolling back" data if a patient fidgets while undergoing MRI.)

- Dial long distance. (ECI Telecom near Tel Aviv has a 70 percent market share of the equipment that increases five-fold the capacity of digital satellite and fiber optic cable communications links.)

- Open a news magazine. (Israel's Scitex is the world leader in the development and manufacture of color digital electronic imaging systems for the publishing industry.)

Israel, as it enters its 44th anniversary year, has captured a leading role in the world's high technology markets as the result of having the world's highest per capita ratio of scientists—4,832 per million population (compared to 3,282 in the United States and 1,873 in France).

Israel has achieved its high-tech prowess not on the strength of "smarts" alone but in combination with its open-handed policy toward foreign investors. Attractive financial incentive packages offered to investors combine investment grants, loan guarantees, tax benefits and exemptions, and government funding of up to 66 percent for research and development projects. As the only nation in the world to have free-trade agreements with both the United States and the European Economic Community (EEC), it offers U.S. high tech firms access to duty-free trade with the EEC.

The flood of high-tech innovation coming from Israel is only expected to increase. The reason: a wave of new scientists, engineers, and technicians immigrating there from the nations of the former Soviet Union.

Pointers For Parents

Get Involved

by Pat Henry, President, The National Parent Teachers Association

Here's news about education that many parents may be pleased to learn: at a recent parent involvement summit meeting, the National PTA and other experts agreed that getting parents, family members and others from the community involved in the education of our young-

Henry was of paramount importance.

A key issue at the summit was that schools cannot be left to educate youngsters apart from their families and the larger community. Children do not exist in isolation and schools shouldn't either. Families with children represent a minority of the population in this country. Most households do not have natural ties to the local public schools through their children. Those concerned about children must bring child-free adults into the circle of those caring for and responding to children's needs. All Americans must share in the responsibility of raising all of America's children.

Summit participants also agreed to:

- work toward renewal of the commitment to address family and community involvement within their own organizations;
- ensuring that the needs of families of diverse backgrounds were included in parent/family involvement efforts;
- working for legislation and policies that include family involvement;
- continuing to work and collaborate with other summit participants around these goals.

These ideals represent the foundation of true reform of the nation's schools. For a free report on the summit and its ideas on improving parent involvement, send a business sized self-addressed envelope to: National PTA, Program Division/Summit Proceeding, 700 N. Rush St., Chicago, IL 60611.

America's schools will get better as more parents and other community members become more involved.

Cooking Corner

Tips To Help You

A Well-Matched Meal

Chef Joho of the renowned Everest Restaurant and 12th-generation vintner Hubert Trimbach of Alsace, France.

Roasted Lobster with Ginger and Alsace Gewurztraminer

2 1-1/2 pound live lobster (or buy fresh cooked lobster)
3-1/2 cups water
2 Tbs. sugar
1 2-1/2 x 1-1/4 inch piece peeled fresh ginger, cut into matchstick size strips
1-1/2 cups Trimbach Gewurztraminer
2 Tbs. olive oil
8 Tbs. butter
1 pound fresh spinach
1 Tbs. fresh lime juice
1-1/2 Teasp. minced lime peel (green part only)
Bring large pot of water to boil over high heat. Plunge lobster into water and cover. Boil 5 minutes. Transfer lobster to bowl of cold water.
Bring 3 1/2 cups of water, one Tbs. sugar and ginger to boil in heavy medium saucepan over medium-high heat. Boil until ginger is tender and liquid is almost evaporated, about 45 minutes. Add wine and boil until liquid is reduced to 2 tablespoons, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat. Drain lobsters. (Can be prepared 1 day ahead. Cover ginger reduction and lobsters separately and refrigerate.)

Preheat oven to 425. Remove lobster tail and claw meat from shells. Brush lobsters with olive oil. Place in heavy large ovenproof skillet. Place in oven and roast lobster meat 10 minutes.

Meanwhile melt 3 Tbs. butter in heavy large skillet over medium heat. Add spinach and sprinkle with remaining one Tbs. sugar. Sauté until wilted, about 4 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Divide spinach among plates.
Heat ginger reduction in heavy small saucepan over medium heat. Gradually whisk in remaining 12 Tbs. butter. Whisk in lime juice and peel. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cut lobster tails on diagonal into slices. Fan tails atop spinach and garnish with claw meat. Drizzle sauce over lobster and serve. Serve 4.

Crepes Souffles Alsace Style

crepes:
1 cup flour
1 Tbs. sugar
2 Tbs. clarified butter
2 ea. eggs
1 cup milk (about pinch salt
1 Tbs. Trimbach Alsace Kirsch Brandy
1/2 vanilla bean fresh, cut in half filling: for 3 crepes
1 Tbs. creme fraiche
2 Tbs. whipped cream
3 each strawberries, cut in cubes
2 spoon raspberries
2 spoon wild strawberries
1 Tbs. raspberry liquor from Alsace method:
Make crepes on a hot griddle. Mix ingredients for filling gently in a bowl. Put filling in center of crepe, and fold up sides and turn over so fold side is down. Put on a buttered plate, top with powdered sugar and heat for 10 minutes in preheated oven set at 350°. Serve with a cream almond ice cream.

MAKING LIFE MORE FUN

From kickoff to final gun, many people are combining the excitement of a football stadium with the comfort of their living rooms. Gridiron plays practically come alive with superior picture quality, stereo sound, and a twelve-and-a-half foot screen that draws football fans into the larger-than-life drama of college and professional football.

Nearly sixty percent of sports fans who watch a sporting event more than once a week were found to prefer watching sports on a large projection television. Football season traditionally dominates in big-screen viewing, with such television staples as "Monday Night Football," the college bowl games, and the Super Bowl demanding the attentions of football fans. For those same fans, today's projection television systems have come a long way from the washed-out images once seen in bars.

"SharpVision's 150 inches of live action make it ideal for football," says Sherman Langer, general manager, Consumer LCD Products Division, Sharp Electronics. "Unlike conventional televisions, this system provides an extraordinary picture in a portable unit, allowing you to either entertain family and friends in your own home or bring the action of the Super Bowl to a friend's home, at screen sizes of 20 inches to 100 inches."

SharpVision incorporates advanced liquid crystal display technology, which offers a number of benefits over conventional video projection systems. Unlike CRT-based projection systems, Sharp-Vision projects a flicker-free image without distortion, and because it is convergence-free, friends can sit anywhere in the room and see a high-quality projected image, regardless of their viewing angle. This projection system is portable and requires no special installation, so set-up is quick and easy.

"This system represents a major breakthrough for all sports enthusiasts. It's like being at the game, with front row seats at the 50-yard line," notes Langer. To find the nearest SharpVision dealer, call 1-800-BE-SHARP.
