Successful holiday season would be good news for local economy :

Retailers expect no repeat of Christmas past

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

The weekend after Thanksgiving is traditionally one of the highest-grossing periods for retailers across the country as patrons every year begin the great Christmas shopping showdown... everywhere, it seems, except for the city of Prestonsburg. Although assistant manager Larry Trotter said Tuesday that Wal-Mart in the Prestonsburg Village expects to see a dramatic sales increase over the Thanksgiving weekend, other businesses in town seem to experience their greatest sales periods after that weekend.

Pete Jarvis, owner of The Coachman men's clothing store on Court Street in downtown Prestonsburg, said Tuesday that Christmas sales at his store usually do not show any dramatic increase until around two or three weeks before the holiday.

Other Prestonsburg merchants tell similar tales.

Linda Ritchie, owner of Ritchie's Hallmark, said that business in her store had been steadily increasing, but that she does not normally experience a big Thanksgiving weekend. Business for her store, Ritchie said,

"will probably peak sometime between the 15th and 20th of December."

Brenda Crouch, executive director of Mountain Heritage Arts & Crafts in downtown Prestonsburg said that she didn't recall any particular day of sales last year being tremendously better than another.

Still, she said, sales in the last month before Christmas were fantastic, and the extended shopping hours this year were bringing more and more customers into the store.

Sandy Blair, manager of Martin's Department Store in the Glyn View Plaza said that she hoped sales would increase dramatically over the weekend, both due to the holiday and the discount sale the store will conduct, but added that business had just been picking up steadily rather than on any particular day.

Carolyn Traum, owner of the Bookworm bookstore, said that in the past, sales on the Saturday before Thanksgiving were generally greater than the Saturday after.

Traum attributes the difference to the fact that many rural Eastern Kentuckians travel to areas with a higher

Architect employed to design new jail

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Fiscal Court members voted Wednesday to hire the architectural firms of Chrisman, Miller and Woodford and Randall Burchett and Associates to design a new Floyd County Jail.

Magistrate Jackie Edford Owens voted no on the hiring, saying he felt the architectural services should have been bid.

"It's good practice to bid things over $10,000 and with a $200,000 contract, I think it would be wise to bid it," Owens told the court. "It would have been nice to have done that."

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond said the $200,000 fee was an estimate because no cost for the project has been determined. Hammond said the architects would receive seven percent of the cost to build a new jail and the preliminary fee was based on a $2.5 million estimate.

Although no site has been selected for the new facility, the architects will review a prior feasibility study which called for a new facility to be built on the existing site, at the Floyd County Courthouse.

"We will review the feasibility study done a year and a half ago to determine if the same numbers apply," Chenault Woodford said Wednesday. "That study was conducted only on one site, the courthouse."

Woodford said the first study was based on a 95-bed facility. He added that at this point, the study would be reviewed to determine if more beds would be needed. A site for a facility would be determined by the fiscal court at a later date.

Woodford added that he could have a report for the fiscal court at the December 18 meeting.

The fiscal court has been cited by the state Corrections Cabinet for the past three years for physical deficiencies at the county jail. State officials have threatened repeatedly to close the jail and turn it into a 96-hour holding facility.

Accident on Mt. Parkway

A coal truck and pick-up truck collided on Ky. 114 near the Mountain Parkway connection in Floyd County Wednesday afternoon, sending two people to the hospital. Both were transported to the Highlands Regional Medical Center, where one was treated and released and the other held for treatment. The accident is under investigation by the Kentucky State Police. ## Court okays site proposal

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Plans to bring live horse racing to Eastern Kentucky entered the home stretch Wednesday when the Floyd County Development Authority and the Floyd Fiscal Court began plans to ensure financing of the track.

Currently, the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Properties Corporation plans to initially purchase the Route 3 property jointly-owned by Jack Absher and Hobart Potter for $1.7 million, which includes the price of the property and site-preparation. This will expedite construction on the site, enabling the project to be completed by the July, 1993 opening day deadline.

If the completed feasibility study on the site shows that the project is payable by taxable and tax-free bonds, then the Properties Corporation then plans to issue multiple series mortgage lease revenue bonds to purchase the site.

The Properties Corporation would then lease the facility to Eastern Kentucky Racing for short-term temporary use from year to year in exchange for rental or lease payments in amounts sufficient to pay the principal and interest on the bonds until bond financing is paid in full.

If the feasibility shows that the Properties Corporation is unable to finance the project with the bonds, then Eastern Kentucky Racing has the option to privately finance the project.

According to negotiations between the Development Authority and the Floyd Fiscal Court, the county would purchase the property for use as an industrial development site if neither the Public Properties Corporation nor Eastern Kentucky Racing are able to arrange financing within the first 120 days.

Floyd County Development Authority Executive Director Darrell Gilliam said Wednesday that this measure would help to ensure the issuance of the bonds.

However, if a proposed repurchase agreement first read at a Fiscal Court meeting Wednesday is passed as is, if

Eastern Kentucky Racing should not receive racing dates in any subsequent year or in the event that previously-awarded racing dates are rescinded, or if for any other reason Eastern Kentucky Racing determines that it will not continue the operation of the track and related facilities, the county would be obligated to purchase the site at a purchase price

City's Christmas celebration will begin December 3

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

As yesterday's Thanksgiving dinners become tomorrow's leftovers, the city of Prestonsburg is gearing up and dressing up for the Christmas holiday.

The city's official Christmas celebration kicks off at 5 p.m. on Thursday, December 3 when Mayor Ann Latta lights the city Christmas tree.

The annual Christmas parade, featuring 30-35 floats and participating vehicles; the Prestonsburg High School band; Boots Adams' majorettes; vehicles from the Prestonsburg Fire Department and the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad begins at 5:15 p.m. and will last until around 5:45.

At around 6 p.m., the downtown merchants will host "Christmas on Court Street."

All the merchants will participate in the event, offering refreshments, entertainment and Christmas sales.

Meredith Slone will provide musical entertainment at Hall of Frames and Munroe Birdshot will clown around at Rose's Restaurant.

Mountain Heritage Arts and Crafts will feature a free children's craft workshop on Thursday, and on Saturday, December 5, Santa Claus will drop by the store between 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

First Make A Difference Day makes a difference, indeed

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Volunteers in five counties were determined to do their part in observance of "Make A Difference Day" and thanks to their efforts the Meals on Wheels program will be able to provide 1,333 additional meals to elderly residents.

A team effort between area senior citizens centers, Pikeville College, Prestonsburg Community College's Single Parent Homemaker program and area high school students raised $4,000 for the meals program. The money was raised November 14, nationally recognized as "Make A Difference Day."

Volunteer organizations in Floyd,

Pike, Johnson, Martin, and Magoffin counties held various fund raising activities coordinated through Sandy Williamson with the Big Sandy Area Development District.

One unique event, a type-a-thon and a movie showing by students at Kentucky Tech Martin County Center, raised over $500. Student B.J. Collins raised $90 in the type-a-thon.

Two events in Floyd County, a bowl-a-thon and a talent show, received rave reviews from Williamson.

"We had people from ages six to seventy-six participate in the bowl-a-thon," Williamson said. "There were children sponsoring each other for 50 cents because that's all the money they had. Some of the senior citizens who participated had never bowled before and they loved it."

"Seniors from the Johnson County and Prestonsburg senior citizens are going to form their own bowling league because they enjoyed it so much," Williamson added. "The tal-

Police get tip, pedestrian is arrested on marijuana charge

An Ohio man was arrested Wednesday morning walking along the road at Stone Coal near Garrett while allegedly carrying a duffel bag filled with marijuana.

James E. Rice, 40, was arrested by Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson, deputy Gary Blankenship and Constable Bob Hackworth and charged with possession of marijuana, over five pounds, a class C felony.

An anonymous tip was called into the sheriff's department Wednesday morning and officers found Rice walking on the road at 8:57 a.m. Police said they found over five pounds of marijuana in a duffel bag he was carrying.

Rice was lodged in the Floyd County Jail and awaiting arraignment Wednesday.

Guatemalan group visits to study area development efforts

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Aliens descended on Floyd County last week on a fact-finding mission... fortunately, however, the aliens were from South America rather than outer space and had green cards instead of green skin.

In all, 26 Guatemalan citizens from all walks of life, including teachers, accountants, government officials and physicians, toured Floyd County as part of the University of Louisville's Center of Latin American Education program and the Brushy Fork Institute at Berea College.

The group traveled throughout Eastern Kentucky in an effort to learn about the economic development of underdeveloped rural regions.

Among its stops in Floyd County, the group visited the Prestonsburg branch of the Cabinet for Human Resources Division of Employment Services.

Dislocated-worker specialist Sharon Burchett and Employment and Training Program Supervisor Jim Reed discussed the division's dislocated worker program, which spends up to $15,000 per individual on job re-training.

The group also toured the Big

Sandy Area Development District offices in Prestonsburg; Jenny Wiley State Park; the Mud Creek Clinic at Grethel; the Hindman Settlement School; Frontier Nursing Services at Hazard; Workers of Rural Kentucky at Booneville; the Jackson County Health Department; the Jackson County Cooperative Extension office; and the Human and Appalachian Development Corporation in Berea.

Closed Friday

The Floyd County Times office will be closed today, November 27, for an extended holiday weekend. Normal office hours will resume Monday, November 30.

ent show, sponsored by the single parent homemakers class, was a real professional event. Everyone worked really hard.

"We accomplished what we set out to do," Williamson said. "We distributed flyers about the need for meals for elderly persons and we received good response from the community. It think it was important that we were able to work together as a district and work together. It turned out better than I imagined."

A committee of three volunteers will decide where the money raised for the Meals on Wheels program will be spent. The money could be stretched further if volunteer drivers could be found to distribute the meals to the elderly.

Other groups participating in the event were:

- Betsy Layne Senior Citizens, bowl-a-thon;
- Wayland Senior Citizens, walk-a-thon with Allen Central High School physical education students participating;
- Wheelwright Senior Citizens, bake sale;
- Rebel Lanes, use of the facility for the Bowl-a-thon;

Williamson said the organizations hope to hold a second event soon, possibly a district-wide card tournament, to continue to bring attention and raise money for the Meals on Wheels program.

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond stressed that this was merely the first reading of the pro-

Both Hammond and Gilliam said that the repurchase agreement as it reads now is not what either the Development Authority nor the Fiscal Court had agreed upon, and would be revised and re-worded.

The reason for the season

by Scott Perry

Today, the day after Thanksgiving, is traditionally the first official day of the Christmas shopping season.

Most of us are making our lists, checking them twice, preparing to head out to the stores with reckless abandon in hopes of finding that special something for that person who has everything.

As your spirit of giving is lifted, we urge you to consider those less fortunate.

Hundreds of families, people you know, are struggling to make ends meet these days. For them, the holidays can be a painful time.

Those of us who can, should help.

There are dozens of ways to make someone's Christmas merry and bright, including the Floyd County Head Start Adopt-A-Child-For-Christmas project, which puts presents under the tree for a lot of children who might otherwise have gone another day without.

Charity, they say, begins at home.

Lending a hand to others isn't charity, though, it's the reason for the season.

We should make it last all year.

Let there be lights

Mark us down as a supporter of the effort to eliminate the hazards of driving near the intersection of Route 80 and Stephens Branch, where traffic mishaps are becoming more routine than accidental.

The intersection, often obscured by fog, serves as the entrance to two Floyd County schools and it has been the site of many accidents, including last week's collision of a coal truck and a commercial vehicle.

Thankfully, no injuries were recorded in that wreck. Other drivers have not been so fortunate.

The next mishap is not a matter of "if," but "when."

A traffic signal at the intersection would cost little and save a lot.

Without some safety measures, the next "when" could be tragic.

Homemakers deserve admiration, praise

Editor:

We would live in a better world if the career of homemaking received the appreciation and respect that it deserves. More women would resist the lures of pride and materialism and they would choose to stay in their homes.

Revolutionaries realized the importance of the traditional roles of women. They coveted their influence, brain-washed them into thinking their work was petty and labored to get them out of their homes.

For example, V.I. Lenin, the Russian communist revolutionary said, "Notwithstanding all the liberating laws that have been passed, woman continues to be a domestic slave, because petty housework crushes, strangles, stultifies and degrades her, chains her to the kitchen and to the nursery, and wastes her labor on barbarously unproductive, petty, nerve-racking, stultifying and crushing drudgery. The real emancipation of women, real communism, will begin only when a mass struggle is started against this petty domestic economy, or rather when it is transformed on a mass scale into large-scale socialist economy."—Women and Society ("A Great Beginning," June 28, 1919).

John Quincy Adams, second president of the United State said that from all he read of history and government of life and manners, he drew the conclusion that the manners of women were the most infallible barometer to ascertain the degree of morality and virtue of a nation. He said that the Jews, Greeks, Romans, Swiss, Dutch, all lost their public spirit and their republican forms of government when they lost the modesty and domestic virtues of their women.

The subversion and enslavement of a nation cannot take place without the cooperation of the women.

Takes stand for "friend's friend"

Editor:

I have professionally trained dogs for over fifteen years. Over the years I have accumulated a most treasured wealth of knowledge and experience in the art and profession of K-9 training, associated with Military, Police, and civilian dog training and instruction.

As an instructor and handler, I have gotten acquainted with many law enforcement officials over the past decade and a half. Personally, I have always enjoyed the respect and professional courtesies from such outstanding individuals.

I respect and honor their profession.

We live in a very demanding world that is constantly changing to meet the needs of a growing population.

My concern causes me to publish my innermost thoughts as to whether we are winning the battle to take a bite out of crime, or are we losing and taking a bite out of our freedom?

Can you imagine the State of Kentucky's Alcohol Beverage Control acting like an old form of Russian government! It failed!

Are they so unsure of their identity that they get confused as to who they will arrest? Maybe they will come after me, or you, thinking just maybe, you are the one that they are after!

I am going to quote our former great leader and president, Calvin Coolidge. "Our Congress represents the people and the States...There is no more effective legislative body in the world."

Our freedom was founded on a philosophy so powerful that it is best quoted by our founding father, President George Washington. "The foundations of our national policy will be laid in the pure and immutable prin-

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

Parental apathy

Much has been written about the low percentage of eligible Americans who vote, but the percentage of registered voters casting ballots in even the most routine of recent elections looks huge compared to the percentage of parents voting for most school councils established by the 1990 Kentucky Education Reform Act.

The low percentage of parents voting for their representatives undermines a major intent of the councils: To encourage more parental involvement in the education of their children. For the councils to be truly representative, more parents clearly must be involved in the selection process.

In a survey of 316 schools with councils, the Kentucky School Board Journal found that an average of only 3.9 percent of the parents participated in the election of parental representatives.

At a third of the schools, the percentage was less than two percent.

Parents must become convinced that what school councils do has a direct impact on the education of their children ... and become more involved in the selection process. The minuscule number of parents participating in many school council elections is nothing short of shameful.—The Daily Independent, Ashland

Hitler's shadow

Forty-seven years after his death, Adolf Hitler still lives in the hearts of some Germans.

It is Adolf Hitler's brand of ethnic hatred, so-called "racial purity," that resulted in the deaths Monday of a Turkish woman and two young girls who were in a house near Hamburg that was fire-bombed by ethnic terrorists.

"Heil Hitler!" said the caller who alerted German police to the firebombing.

Many in Germany, and with good reason, fear that escalating ethnic violence there will plunge the newly united nation into chaos akin to that which gave rise to Hitler in the 1930s.

Louder than ever, Germans of goodwill must condemn the violence and louder than ever, we who live elsewhere in the world must condemn it too, and in the strongest of terms.

Why?

Because history teaches that hate, particularly in hard economic times, is easily exported. History teaches us that hate must have scapegoats, and scapegoats more often than not are those within society who happen to be different from the majority.—The Courier-Journal

Cheering? Not exactly

Is it just us, or is high school cheerleading teetering on the edge of a dangerous lunacy?

First, Bennie Lee Doan of Cynthiana can't afford the $250 to send his cheerleading daughter, Jennie, to some competition; so he writes threatening notes to his family and her school.

Then, a Scott County High School cheerleader, Tonya Schulte, performs a tough gymnastic stunt to make the squad but later injures herself doing the same stunt. Understandably, given well-publicized injuries to cheerleaders here and elsewhere around the country, she decides not to attempt it again.

Then, she gets cut from the team "to show fairness to everyone," her coach says.

Whatever happened to the standard, "Give me a C"? High school cheerleading seems to be more a heavy-duty, cutthroat and dauntingly expensive avocation than a healthy way for teenagers to expend their energy. That's too bad.

The bottom line in all extra-curricular activities ought to be fun for everyone involved. For cheerleading, that ideal has strangely taken a back seat to a wild thirst for flair, one-upmanship and outright bizarre behavior.

Schools and parents in Kentucky ought to get control of that before someone else gets hurt—physically or otherwise. Lexington Herald-Leader principles of private morality," unquote.

Our governing law enforcement officials serve the citizens of the United States with great pride and dignity. But, if they can raid or interfere with each individuals privacy, and violate our constitutional rights blatantly, then we lose our dignity and pride as an American citizen!

We, the private individuals that are licensed and bonded with our rights of citizenship, need to bond together to guarantee our rights to keep and bear arms, secure our freedom of speech, and the right to choose our own destiny as individuals freely!

When the enforcement agents are able to physically detain and remand your body to a detention facility on a mere rumor, then we, you, me, lose the very freedoms and privacies that we are entitled to as a citizen of Kentucky in the great and wonderful United States of America!

The author of these words takes great pleasure, and is very proud to be a friend of Marlow Tackett!

Mr. Tackett is truly a "friends friend!"

At the time of this publishing, I urge all of "Marlow's" friends, business associates, and family to support him morally and ethically! Stand up against the great travesties that he has been subjected to!

Marlow has generously given of himself to thousands of people unselfishly to better their quality of lifestyle. Let's unite and let him know that he does not stand alone!

83-year-old woman raped; two arrested

An 83-year-old woman was raped, assaulted and burglarized early Friday morning at her Hager Hill home, state police said.

Two convicted felons have been arrested in the incident, which is believed to be the first rape case in recent years in Johnson County involving an elderly victim.

Kentucky State Police Detective Paul Estep said the woman was alone when a two men entered her residence at 6 a.m. Friday and demanded money. The woman was later beaten, bound and gagged, and then raped, he said. The suspects stole a handgun from the victim and then fled the scene.

Arrested were Larry Dwayne Hulsey, 18, of Hager Hill, and Tony Lee Jones, also 18, of Sitka. They were charged with first-degree assault and first-degree burglary, and lodged in the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville. — Paintsville Herald

Route may include I-66, high-speed rail

The proposed coast-to-coast federal highway popularly known as I-66 would be just one small part of a huge transportation corridor including high-speed rail and other transportation systems, Kentucky's secretary of transportation says.

Speaking before the board of directors of the Kentucky River Area Development District, Kelly said the proposed highway alone would cost a minimum of $30 billion, and the study includes much more than that.

"It's going to look at the possibility of railroads, maybe even high-speed rail in some parts of the corridor. It's going to look at the possibility of pipelines and the possibility of highways," he said.

Congress authorized consultants to study the feasibility of building the highway along a 50-mile-wide corridor centered on the cities of Pikeville, Jenkins, Hazard, London, Somerset, Bowling Green and Paducah. — The Mountain Eagle, Whitesburg

PCC professor participates

Monnette Sturgill

A local educator took part in a program during the 82nd Annual Convention of the National Council of Teachers of English in Louisville, November 18-23.

Monnette Sturgill, Associate Professor of English at Prestonsburg Community College, served as Recorder/Reactor for a panel discussion on the topic of Reflection and Renewal: Reading and Writing in Response to Literature.

Some 5000 teachers and supervisors of elementary and secondary school English, college faculty in English and rhetoric, and teacher educators from all parts of the United States and Canada attended this year's NCTE convention. On the agenda for the meeting were nearly 400 concurrent sessions and workshops focusing on all aspects of the teaching of English, talks by well-known educators and authors, exhibits of new teaching materials, sessions of working committees, and business meetings.

Thanksgiving service

The annual community Thanksgiving services, sponsored by the Floyd County Ministerial Association will be held at 7 p.m. on Wednesday, November 26, at the First Presbyterian Church, Prestonsburg.

The speaker will be the Rev. Russ Holland, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Prestonsburg and the Prestonsburg High School Honor Choir will sing.

On November 23, 1992, America lost one of its national treasures. Roy Acuff, the grandest member of the Grand Ole Opry, died in Baptist Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee, of heart problems.

Mr. Acuff had been a fixture at the Grand Ole Opry since February 19, 1938. That was just thirteen years after the show came on the air. At that time, Acuff was a singer and fiddler with the Smokey Mountain Boys. The members of that band were Velma Williams, Pete Kirby, Lonnie Wilson and Jimmy Riddle.

Acuff never changed his style in his career of fifty-plus years. His singing style was pure and traditional; he favored acoustic music over newer, electrified tunes. His three most famous songs are probably "Wabash Cannonball," "Great Speckled Bird," and "Precious Jewel."

He was one of country's first true celebrities. He has been ever-popular since his debut; Acuff was a multi-millionaire. He was known worldwide and will be greatly missed.

When I was younger, I didn't appreciate Roy Acuff's style. I often mocked the words of the Wabash Cannonball. However, as I grew older, I began to enjoy country music and respect the work of the great Mr. Acuff.

In the summer of 1990, my family and I went on vacation to Nashville, Tennessee. On the first day of our trip, we went to the Grand Ole Opry. We sat on the fourth row of the auditorium, enjoyed the entire show, but I noticed the wonderful reception the crowd gave Acuff when he appeared.

As I sat and watched him talk with the audience, I realized that he was the king of country music and the brightest star in the show. When he sang the "Wabash Cannonball," I couldn't help it; I cried. When mom asked me what was the matter, I replied, "I'm afraid he'll be dead before I get to come and see him again."

Fortunately, I did get to see Roy Acuff one more time. I took several pictures of him; I guess I was trying to preserve the moment.

Acuff is now dead; he lived to be 89 years old. In those years, he made thousands, perhaps even millions of people's days a little brighter and a little happier. There will never be a replacement for him; Roy Acuff will always be the King of Country Music.

The name "geometry" comes from the Greek words for "earth" and "to measure."

The stage was set to be a recycling center with the three R's, Recycle, Reduce, and Re-use, as the theme. The program included students and teachers from the school participating along with Ronald McDonald to create human recycling machines. One teacher, Diana Turner was recycled into a "planet protector". Scrambled spelling words pertaining to ecology as well as songs added to the excitement. The students and teachers praised the show and expressed their gratitude to Ronald McDonald.

Two make Talent Search

Two students from Auxier Elementary School, Jessica Branham and Lesley Wells, have qualified for participation in this year's Talent Search for mathematically and verbally advanced students sponsored by Duke University's Talent Identification Program (TIP). The program identifies highly able seventh-graders from a 16-state region in the south, southwest, and midwest.

To be eligible, students must have scored at the 97th percentile, or better on the national norms of a standardized achievement, aptitude, or mental ability test battery. They will sit for the Scholastic Aptitude Test

(SAT) or ACT Assessment (ACT), normally taken only by college-bound seniors on these measures. All participants receive Certificates of Merit and some become eligible for state-wide recognition ceremonies, or a variety of educational programs.

TIP, established in 1980, has provided thousands of students with information about their abilities and educational options. The purposes of the program are to help academically bright students develop their special abilities, to assist schools in working with their brightest students, and to understand the nature of exceptional mathematical and verbal ability.

Birthday celebration

Prestonsburg Elementary's third grade classes began their unit on Kentucky by celebrating with a birthday party for the bicentennial. Students were encouraged to dress as their ancestors may have as they participated in several games which were popular long ago. The big event of the day was the "sack race." Parents ended the games by serving birthday cake and drinks to the students and teachers.

Ocean

In October, the primary thematic unit, OCEANS, included a study of fish. Ed Carroll of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife set up a display board and display aquarium. All levels of students were able to see color photos of Kentucky fish and live fish that are found in local lakes, rivers, and streams.

WE CAN ALL FIND GOOD REASONS TO GIVE OUR THANKS

Though fortune seems to pass you by,
There's something that you can't deny:
At times we all have things go wrong,
But manage still to get along,
If you can somehow pay each bill,
And no one at your house is ill,
And if your children get good grades
And don't indulge in escapades,
And if you have just one good friend,
In case misfortune should descend,
Then you have blessings by the score,
Of things you should be thankful for.
Your House of Worship will convey
This message for Thanksgiving Day,
So let us all, with one accord,
Extend our thanks unto the Lord.
— Gloria Nowak

Young Authors

Kristi Barrowman

The Floyd County Times and the Department of Instruction of Floyd County Schools jointly wish to feature the student work of Kristi Branham, a first grade young Authors' winner from Mrs. Charlene Nunn's class at Clark Elementary. She is the daughter of Willie and Joanie Barrowman of Blue River. Her book of poetry, Cat Rhymes, was designed in the shape of a cat. Her work is printed with permission.

She was a room winner, a school winner, and a county-wide winner for the 1991-92 school year for her book. She received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond at a spring awards ceremony. Over 5,000 elementary and middle school students participated in competition throughout the county.

Cat Rhymes

by Kristi Barrowman

I always loved cats.
They are special to me.
They're my favorite animal,
That I can see.

Cats can be colored,
Gray, black or white.
Whatever their color,
To you, it's just right.

Cats are pretty.
They have fur.
If I pet one,
It will purr.

I looked outside,
And I saw a cat.
He was always eating,
So he was fat.

If a cat lives
in a house,
It will always, always
Chase a mouse.

Simon, Simon!
That's my cat's name.
Simon is not wild.
My cat is tame.

My cat loves me to pet him.
He loves playing with strings.
He loves playing with me,
And all my things.

A B Cs OF EDUCATION

by Jennifer Little

This column is to share information with others about how to be successful in preparing children for school experiences. Sometimes parents are the ones who know their child the best. Sometimes, though, the teacher will know the child better than the parents. This is not often the case, but it does happen.

Sometimes children will expose their innermost secrets to a stranger (like a teacher) sooner or more easily than they do to their parents. That is because it is easier to risk rejection by a stranger than to risk rejection by one's parent(s).

When parents reject their children, the children feel as if they are not worthy, that they are unwanted, that they cannot even attempt to be loveable because they are unloved by those closest and who know them the best. Parents don't mean to reject their children, but we do so in very subtle ways.

One way we reject our children is to say they cannot do something - not that they do not have our permission but that they are unable to do something. An example is a child wanting to ride a bicycle when (s)he has not yet mastered a tricycle. By saying, "No, you can't do that," without explaining that the child is not big enough to reach the pedals or maintain his/her balance, we are saying that we do not trust the child. When we do not trust the child, we reject the child because we reject all that we have taught and the child's ability to perform what we have taught.

Another way we reject a child is to say that (s)he is "stupid," "dumb," "slow," "silly," or other such comments. Children are very fragile beings, regardless of how much they endure, and what we say they believe as "TRUTH" even if it is not. An example is a parent telling a child that (s)he will always be there, no matter what. This is not true, and the child (or adult) can be left with feelings of disappointment or rejection when the parent dies, moves away, divorces, etc.

These are simple ways to reject a child. Other more complex ways are depriving a child of his or her goals in life by saying, "You will never amount to anything," or "You never could do anything right." Parents say these things without thinking about what the child understands or remembers. The child does not know what the adult perspective is, and perhaps it is best that the child doesn't ever learn the "adult" perspective.

Children have marvelous imaginations, creative powers and positive attitudes. Do we as adults? Usually not, unless we are stimulated by playing with a child. What happened to our dreams and optimism? It died when someone said we "couldn't" or "shouldn't" or "wouldn't be able to." When have you said, "Let's try and see what happens," to a child instead of the comments meant to give the child a "realistic view" of his or her abilities? Isn't it "realistic" to try to overcome limitations rather than accept them? What if Abraham Lincoln had not overcome his poverty and rural upbringing? Who would be on the copper penny today? Who would be on the five dollar bill? Was he "realistic" about trying to become a resident.

Obviously yes, but how many "Lincolns" do we lose every lifetime with children rejected out of love by their parents. What can we do to stop this cycle? Love the children. Show them they are appreciated. Try some of their ideas. Even if they don't work, the child will have learned that (s)he can try things unknown and it doesn't matter what really happens. After all, it is the effort and the learning that is the important part of growing up.

What are you teaching your children? How can we help them grow if they won't risk the "stretch" to make them grow. Help us teach your children. We can't do it without you.

Sweet 16 entry recalls Lotts Creek School

Heather Watson, a senior at Allen Central High School, has chosen to write about a subject of personal interest which is also of value to her readers. As an assignment in Special Art, she was to interview and photograph a living Kentuckian who has made a difference in the lives of people in our area. She decided to do her project on Alice Slone, founder of the Cordia School at Lotts Creek. Since Ms. Slone is also Heather's great-great-aunt, she was able to do interviews and get information not available to the general public.

This student's completed work will be sent as the Journalism entry to the Sweet Sixteen Academic Showcase in Lexington.

A Pioneer in education

by Heather C. Watson
Allen Central student

The rugged two-story log cabin perched on a mountain overlooking Cordia High School almost seems to blend into the beautiful Appalachian scenery. Its remarkable presence assures visitors that it is the home of a great Kentuckian. This solid cabin has obviously been the home of a person whose pioneer spirit led her to achieve many seemingly impossible feats. This pioneer is Cordia High School/Lotts Creek Community Center founder Alice Slone.

Alice H. Slone was born in the small Knott County, Kentucky community called Caney Creek in 1904. She attended the local schools until 1919, when she traveled to Columbus, Ohio to continue her education. This trip was suggested by local educator Alice Geddes Lloyd, who recognized great potential in this bright, witty student and helped Alice secure work while attending school.

In Columbus, Alice was employed as a maid in the household of a wealthy Ohio lady named Anne Anthony Bacon. Mrs. Bacon, a niece of renowned suffragette Susan B. Anthony, appreciated Alice's independence and soon developed a close friendship with the girl. Mrs. Bacon soon arranged for Alice to attend summer camp in Canada. To this day, she regards her experiences during camp, along with Mrs. Bacon's strong feminist beliefs as two of the strongest influences on her life.

Alice continued to work in Ohio after completing high school. She first attended Boyd Business College, where she studied typing and shorthand, then transferred to Ohio State University. Alice changed her major at Ohio State twenty times (many majors she pursued would not allow women) and graduated in 1932.

After graduation, Alice returned to Kentucky and secured a job teaching at Caney Creek Junior College (now Alice Lloyd College). After living in Columbus' more liberal environment, she disagreed with many of the strict practices at Caney Creek. When she saw a school employee discouraging conversation between a male student and a female student even when the two were standing several feet apart, Alice launched a small protest against the school's strict policies. She laughingly recalls, "I think Mrs. Lloyd would have been glad to get me out of her hair by that time."

Golden Memories

Alice Slone talked to Heather Watson about her experiences as a teacher during the early 1900s.

Alice taught one year at Caney Creek. Then, at the urging of her sister Bertha, a teacher at Cordia's elementary school, she set out to build a high school in Cordia. She traveled to the community with only ten dollars and dreams of educating people in the area. She bargained with the county school superintendent until she was given permission to begin the school. One teacher's salary would be given to Alice under the condition that she provide a five hundred volume library and a five hundred dollar science lab. She contacted many acquaintances from camp, and received the materials much sooner than a campus could be built.

Even before buildings for the Cordia High School could be completed, Alice began classes. She taught the students outside, using nature's resources as learning materials. "The earth was our textbook!" she recalls.

The school seems to have had a charmed existence, but it exists due to Alice Slone's hard work and persistence. From the beginning, the Cordia High School was challenged by the lack of school buildings, slight funding, and political feuds dating back to the Civil War. Alice Slone, however, was dedicated to making the school succeed. She divided the one teaching salary provided for the school among three educators, utilized WPA help in building the school, and implemented such fundraising activities as selling gift boxes of shelled walnuts. She was met with some setbacks, for example, after selling orders for these gift boxes, no walnuts could be found in the area, but her resourceful nature made the school succeed.

Alice's resourcefulness also earned much respect from the stu-

School days

The original school building at Lotts Creek brings back memories of children leaning over their books. Before the school was built, Alice Slone used the earth as her "textbook."

Open House at Clark School is well attended

On November 12, Clark Elementary School held an Open House with parent orientation for the non-graded primary unit. The event was well attended by many concerned parents. Parents visited individual students' classrooms in K-5 and saw examples of students' work. They were able to talk to the teacher about the progress of their child. During the primary orientation meeting Mr. Combs, principal, explained teaching with thematic units, teaching using whole language, and the new reporting system for primary children.

Clark students hold debate

The mixed fourth and fifth grades at Clark Elementary studied the presidential candidates in order to better imitate each candidates platform, style and voice. A few days before the actual election they held a mock debate. Students dressed and portrayed reporters, candidates and their wives.

Favorite character

The kick-off to the 1992-93 Young Authors Program was held at Prestonsburg Elementary School in October. Dressing up as a favorite book character was an exciting part of the week-long festivities. Crystal Wright, Stacy Sammons, Stephanie Dye and Aaron Neeley, third grade students in Mrs. Derossert's class, were just a few of the participants. The Young Authors Program will continue throughout the school year.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE THANKFUL

Sometimes we think high school students are selfish and never give a thought to the many wonderful things that are bestowed upon them. Maybe we think this because we never ask them if they are thankful and aware of the many blessings that have come their way. I decided to find out what students would say if asked to discuss the things they are thankful for. Below are some responses to an essay "What I Am Thankful For."

Chanda Hall wrote, "There is so much to be thankful for, but what I cherish the most are my family, my house, and the food on my table every night."

"Thousands and thousands of kids are either homeless, abandoned, or don't have food to eat when they are hungry."

"I want to thank God for giving me my home, my parents, and the food on the table because I hold these close to my heart."

"I think people should be thankful for what they have and not complain about what they don't have."

Jonathan Russo replied, "One thing that I am thankful for is that the Lord saved my soul. He will always be there for me just like my mother. I am thankful that He made me what I am."

Lisa Walters wrote about being thankful for the usual things, but she went on to say, "I'm really thankful for Jeff (her boyfriend) because I love him. He is real nice to me."

Pete Dawson realized the importance of family when he wrote, "I'm just thankful that I have what I have today—a good family with a lot of love between us."

And what would this world be without papaws? Wesley Tuttle knows this and wrote: "I am also thankful for my papaw. He has helped me out of a lot of tough situations. If I was low on cash and needed some really bad, he would be there. One time I was in big trouble with the police. He went to every person he knew at the courthouse to try to get me out of trouble."

I asked each person in class to indicate whether or not I could use quotes from his/her writing. I have been encouraging Mike Slone to use complete sentences in his writing so this is how he answered the question about whether or not I could use material from his paper: "Yes, you can use anything that I said if you can get a complete sentence out of it." Well, Mike, I did, and here it is: "I am thankful that I have a group of friends that like me for me and not try to be anything else. Most of all, I am thankful just to be alive."

So you can see that these young people are not as shallow as they sometimes seem. In fact, they can sometimes be almost human.

ROAD KILL THE BREAKFAST OF CHAMPIONS

For a person who believes that you are cruel to animals if you wouldn't allow your dog his own place mat at the dinner table, I find that I have a lot of friends who hunt animals for a hobby. Admittedly, few of them actually kill anything, but there are those rare occasions when some of them do.

Although I wouldn't kill a cricket if I found one in the house and only snuff out spiders if I'm PMS, some of my closest associates (and relatives) would trade me in for a tree stand in a heart beat if they thought they had the slightest chance of bagging a deer.

Hunting is a totally foreign concept to me. That's why I'm always so amazed when I learn how much work goes into hunting one tiny deer. One of my friend's husbands, Clyde O., put more effort into preparing for deer hunting season than he put into their entire courtship.

"It's amazing, Sara," Suzanne told me one day last week as we were eating lunch. "We're sure to get a deer this time. Clyde has left no stone unturned. First, we have found a chemical that when sprayed on clothing blocks out the UV rays so the deer can't see him."

"Really?" I asked. I couldn't help but wonder if a spray that strong was carcinogenic. "Tell me more."

"Well, before he can use the UV spray, he washes his hunting attire in baking soda."

"What's that for?"

"It takes away the human odor."

"Clyde smells? I never noticed anything offensive."

"No. Deer can smell humans, so the soda takes away normal human odor. You know, like dog odor. Then after we wash the outfits we have to hang it up to dry."

"Can't you put it in the dryer?"

"Merciful Heavens, No!" she laughed. "The residue from the softening sheets would get on them. After they've air-dried, we put them in a special plastic bag and throw in some dirt pellets."

"You mean you throw dirt on them after you've washed them?"

"Sara, he's trying to throw the deer off. He wants to smell like the great outdoors. The dirt pellets just give him that odor. It really works. This morning, after he had dressed and we sprayed him with the UV spray I told him, 'Okay, Clyde O. We can't see and we can't smell you, but can he see you?' If he doesn't bag a deer today, he's going to be real upset."

It was easy to see why. That's a lot of work for nothing. In fact, it would make me mad enough to kill if I didn't catch anything, particularly if

THE TIMES' WEEKEND Extra

PCC players to present comedy

Prestonsburg Community College's drama club, The Theatrical Experience, will present Neil Simon's "Come Blow Your Horn" on Friday and Saturday nights, December 4 and 5. The comedy, to be performed in the Pike Auditorium, is free to the public and begins at 7:30 p.m.

This play, first staged in 1961, is about two brothers, Alan and Buddy Baker, and their move toward adulthood and independence. Alan has a bachelor pad in New York, where he has established a swinging life style. This is interrupted when Buddy, age 21, unexpectedly joins him in a move to leave Mom and Dad and cut the apron strings. Alan decides to fix up Buddy with one of his girlfriends, and the fun begins when Buddy starts to become more like his older brother. An irate Dad and overprotective Mom add to the comedy when neither parent approves of what Buddy is learning from Alan.

"The play is really about families, brothers who love each other and parents' battles with older children," claims Dr. Alice Adams, faculty sponsor for TTE. "It's a comedy suitable for all ages with plenty of tun and romance in it. We hope everyone will come and bring the kids."

The play is directed by Kathleen Carroll, who previously directed the TTE plays in "Who Am I This Time?" a Kurt Vonnegut comedy performed last spring.

The Baker brothers are played by Mark Vanderpool of Prestonsburg as Alan and Jimmy Blanton of Hager Hill as Buddy. Alan's girlfriends are Krista McIntire of Prestonsburg as Connie and Mary Treadgill of Garrett as Peggy. Hooboooooooooowee!!!

I don't know about you fellers, but I... AM... STUFFED!!!

Turkey and dressing and baked ham and cranberry sauce and sweet taters and green beans and cornbread and seven-layer salad and macaroni & cheese and baked beans and punkin' pie and carrot cake and homemade fudge and lions and tigers and bears, oh my!!!

Shoot, I'm full as a tick. They had to get a wheelbarrow just to roll me over here to the computer.

You'd never guess I was writin' this on Sunday, would ya? You just oughta see what I'm havin' for Thanksgiving.

I'll probably bust open like one of those guys in the Aliens movies when the little critters pop out (and in case you didn't see 'em, trust me, it ain't pretty).

At any rate, I've finally figured out why they really call it "Thanksgiving"—when you've finally finished eating, you're thankful you can still move without medical assistance. And just think, there are now only 30 more dieting days 'til Christmas.

Christmas. Boy howdy, I can't wait. To tell the absolute truth, previous Scrooge-like columns aside, I love the holidays. Really.

I mean, sure, I really do hate the over-commercialization and the part where people do their level-best to put the "X" back in Xmas.

But hey, this is Amurka and everybody's entitled to my opinion. Anyways, you know what I really love about the holidays? Tradition.

Yeah, I know. You never figured me for the traditional sort, what with me serving swan for Thanksgiving this year instead of turkey (that way everybody gets a piece of neck—last year we had ostrich—you may laugh, but we got 230 pounds of stuffing, and maaan, you should've just seen the drumsticks), but for me, the old ways are the best ways.

Like when you get up extra early on Thanksgiving morning so you can smell all the great stuff mom's making for dinner and you sit there and watch her sweat and suffer over the stove for hours until she's juuust about to put the icing on the carrot cake and then you offer to help just so you get to lick the bowl.

Then, of course, you flop down in front of the television set, with your icing bowl, and flip on the Macy's Thanksgiving Parade so you can watch how stupid all the announcer's act as they read their lame jokes off of cue cards and you secretly hope, deep in your heart of hearts, that when the Bullwinkle float comes around the corner the cord will wrap around Willard Scott's ankle and just whisk him away, leaving behind only memories and a bad toupee.

Then it's time for dinner and all your grandparents and aunts and uncles and nephews and nieces and cousins come over and even though you helped your mom with that nasty icing bowl you still get stuck at the kiddie table.

Then, right after Thanksgiving dinner, when you're flopping around like a beached whale, gasping for air and promising all the angels in heaven that you will never ever never not in a million years eat another bite so long as you live and your favorite uncle walks up behind you and grabs the back of your shorts and just yanks as hard as he can.

Oh, those golden memories.

And then there's Christmas and that December 24 rush to get all the shopping done that you didn't do over the last 11 and two-thirds months of the year and you're dodging shopping carts and running over little kids and old ladies to get to whatever scraps are left and then you end up getting everybody things they don't want and could never use because everybody else in the free world had their shopping done on December 23 and they got all the good stuff (one year, I actually bought my dad an epilady—our cat, Baldy, just hasn't been the same since).

Then on Christmas Eve there's the marathon wait on Santy Claus—if you're a kid, you can't sleep 'cause you can't wait to get all your goodies and if you're an adult you can't sleep 'cause your kids are makin' too dang much noise.

At last, Christmas day and you're actually opening your presents and there's always that one relative who this year thought it might be nicer to hand-make everybody's presents (or in other words, he was too cheap to lay out some cash) and you have to pretend that you actually like yours and all the kids are cranky 'cause they didn't get any sleep the night before and your Great-Uncle Fred gets really trashed on egg nog and tells Grandma and Grandpa just exactly what he thinks of 'em and scares all the kids and tells 'em there AIN'T NO SANTY CLAUS!!! (There is a Santy Claus of course, but the yard apes get real spastic at the time and bawl and blubber for hours.)

Finally, you go home and the little 'uns drift off to sleep, visions of Ninja Turtles dancing in their heads.

And you stay up late playing with their toys.

To this day, I still get hours of enjoyment out of those Play-Doh factories—and the Barbie dolls!! Oh my goodness, don't even get me started.

And then, December 26, the day of the most-time-honored holiday tradition of them all: the day you take back all the Christmas stuff your granny bought you in July 'CAUSE YOU'VE GOT TOO DURN FAT TO WEAR IT!!!

There just ain't nothin' in the world like the mall the day after Christmas.

And with chiiildren crryying' And moothers buyying To keep themmm From screaming "Let's go hooomee!"

Sorry. Just had to burst into song for a minute there.

I'm just so sentimental.

Anyways, hope you had a happy Thanksgiving.

I'm sure I did. Or will. Or whatever.

Anyhow, try to keep Uncle Fred away from the egg nog this year.

And I'll leave the Barbie dolls alone.

Oh, one last thing.

If you want Santy Claus coming to your house this year, remember to put out the fire.

Don't want the old feller slidin' down the chimney and becomin' a crispy critter.

Barbecue's for summer.

Merry Christmas, Happy Hannukah, Happy New Year and all that junk.

Daredevils Fall; Lady Devils Triumph

Scrappy Mullins spoils McDowell's season opener

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The 1992 high school basketball season officially got underway this week and the McDowell Daredevils opened their season on the road against the Mullins Tigers who, like McDowell, will go the way of consolidation next season with Johns Creek.

The Tigers looked as if they intend to make their last season a banner one as they posted a close 78-75 win over coach Johnny Ray Turner's squad. Mullins placed four players in double figures with David Edmunds leading the Tigers with 19 points. Bud Burnette and Brad Gibson tossed in 14 point each with Matt Carter adding 10.

McDowell was led by senior Scotty Stanley with 17 points. Chris Hamilton netted 15 points with Matt Rose tallying 11.

The Tigers were quicker than the Daredevils and battled the taller Daredevils on the boards as both teams pulled down 21 rebounds each. The difference was in the defense, something Coach Turner felt his team did not play.

"We didn't play any defense," he said of his team's effort. "Their press was effective against us. We broke it several times, but then couldn't do anything with it."

Mullins held a 75-70 lead with just over a minute left in the game. Stanley hit a leaper in the lane, drilled a short jumper, and sank one of two free throws for five unanswered points to tie the game at 75-75 with 45 seconds left in the game.

Hamilton picked up his fifth personal foul and sent Shane West to the charity stripe with 15 seconds on the clock, where he hit the front-end of a

Howell, Hall lead McDowell Lady Devils

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

You could tell that McDowell Lady Daredevil coach Jimmy Hopkins was nervous. His basketball team opened their 1992 high school basketball season Monday night against a good June Buchanan ballclub that put a scare into the Lady Daredevils.

Shelby Howell scored 12 points and Michelle Hall added 10 as the Lady Daredevils edged Buchanan 49-46 to start the season at 1-0. It was the first loss for Buchanan.

McDowell led by 15 points, 43-28, entering the fourth quarter, but the lead did not last long. Buchanan roared back at the onset of the fourth period and scored the first 10 points to narrow the margin to five points, 43-38. Vickie Campbell got the Lady Crusaders back in the game with a jumper and a three-point basket before Amy Johnson hit the front-end of a two-shot foul. Campbell followed with a lay up and Jessica Stumbo drilled a jumper with 6:15 left in the game.

Howell broke the drought for McDowell with a basket underneath and Susan Stephens grabbed an offensive rebound for two points as the Lady Crusaders had back-to-back turnovers.

Campbell came down court and hit her third three-pointer and Jessica Hamilton (Betsy Layne) hit the back-end of a two-shot foul as Stumbo's basket made it a 47-44 game.

Two free throws by Hall gave McDowell a five point cushion at 49-44, but Hamilton's offensive rebound basket cut the lead back to three, 49-46 — the final margin. Stumbo launched a three-point attempt that missed the mark as the clock expired.

Adams Captures Right Beaver Classic with 51-29 win over Maytown

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Adams Middle School Blackcats and the Maytown Wildcats tipped off the final game of the Right Beaver Classic Monday night. The Blackcats' Turner turned in a big night by making 11 field goals and hitting four out of five free throws, leading Adams to a 51-29 victory.

The Wildcats took an early 5-2 lead on a basket by Todd Howard and on a three-point basket by Jason Shannon. The Blackcats tied the game on a free throw and a two-point basket by Wesley Samons before a three-pointer by Maytown's Tommy Brown gave the lead back to the Wildcats. The Blackcats took their first lead since leading 2-0 on a basket by Turner, two free throws by Samons, and two free throws by Turner to lead 11-8 at the end of the first quarter.

Adams started to pull away in the second quarter as they went on a 12-0 run until the :57 mark of the first half. Turner scored six of the 12 points in the scoring run and the Blackcats took a 15 point lead, 23-8. Maytown trimmed the Blackcat lead to 12 at the half on shots by Shannon and Howard. The halftime score was 25-13.

Adams' Turner and Samons combined for all 12 points their team scored in the third quarter with Turner scoring eight and Samons scoring four. Maytown equaled Adams' scoring in the third by having three players, Shannon, Levi Wells and Howard score four points each. That kept the Adams' lead at 12 points, 37-25, go-

Stumbo Lady Mustangs rolls past Maytown, 46-29, in RBC

Chuck Rowe
Sports writer

The John M. Stumbo Lady Mustangs faced the Maytown Lady Wildcats Monday night as the finals of the Right Beaver Classic got underway.

The Lady Mustangs won first place in the tournament behind the play of Ashley Tackett, who scored 18 of her teams 46 points, to lead Stumbo to 46-29 victory.

The Lady Mustangs came out taking an early 10-2 lead. Maytown's Stephanie Hamilton hit a basket to bring them to within eight before Ashley Tackett hit on back-to-back field goals taking her team out to a 14-4 lead. An exchange of baskets kept Stumbo's lead at 10, 16-6, at the end of the first quarter.

Stumbo outscored the Lady Wildcats 17-12 in the second quarter. It was the Penny and Ashley Tackett show as they combined and scored 13 of the 17 points the Lady Mustangs scored. Maytown cut the lead inside double digits early in the second quarter on a three-point basket by Chrystal Martin. A six point Stumbo scoring run, led by Ashley Tackett and Mandy Hall, gave the Lady Mustangs the 13 point lead at the 4:40 mark of the first half. The two teams exchanged baskets until the Lady Mustangs managed to hold Maytown and they recorded back-to-back baskets by the Tacketts that gave Stumbo a 15 point lead at the half.

The Lady Mustangs recorded only seven points in the third quarter on a three-pointer by Gina Hall and two baskets by Ashley Tackett. The Lady Buchanan led 3-2 and 5-4 before McDowell moved to a 10-5 advantage in the first quarter. Consecutive three-pointers by Stumbo and Campbell gave Buchanan the lead back at 11-10. Stacy Shepherd scored off the baseline for a 12-11 McDowell lead. Vickie Pack hit a free throw and a Johnson field goal put the Lady Crusaders on top 14-12, but Howell scored underneath to tie the game 14-14 at the first stop.

McDowell went out to a five point lead, 24-19, with 3:26 left in the half, but Stumbo took things in her own hands and scored five consecutive points to tie the game at 24-24. Lisa Brown drilled a three-pointer to give the Lady Devils a 27-24 halftime lead.

"Lisa came into the game and gave us a lift," said Coach Hopkins.

McDowell returned to the court in the second half and applied their 2-3 trapping defense that saw the Lady Crusaders lose their composure. McDowell outscored Buchanan 16-4 in the third period to build their 15 point lead.

Leading 29-26, McDowell scored 10 consecutive points for a 39-26 game. After Hamilton scored for Buchanan, Howell scored off the right side and Hall scored on the inside for a 43-28 game.

Stumbo led all scorers for Buchanan with 19 points. Campbell, with three treys, added 16 and Hamilton finished with five. Pack scored one point.

Stephens scored nine for McDowell with Christy Mullins, Shepherd and Brown tossing in six each.

"It wasn't very pretty, but it was a win," explained Hopkins. "I saw some good things out there. We handled their press well. We ran the break and the secondary break better.

"Our defense wasn't good," said the McDowell mentor. "I was disappointed with the way we played defense. This was first game jitters. We're capable of playing better than this."

Stevens led the Lady Devils in rebounding with eight. Howell pulled down six and Mullins five. Hall and Shepherd each had three assists.

McDowell goes to 1-0 to start the season and will return to the hardwood when they travel to Belfry this Monday night.

Wheelwright and Betsy Layne fall in Johnson Central Panorama

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Johnson Central Panorama Saturday night saw five teams from Eastern Kentucky (Ashland-Paul Blazer, Betsy Layne, Wheelwright, Sheldon Clark, Johnson Central) and one team from Central Kentucky (Louisville Fairdale) compete in high school basketball.

Two Floyd County teams were in action as the Wheelwright Trojans faced the Ashland-Paul Blazer Tomcats in the first game, and the Betsy Layne Bobcats encountered the Sheldon Clark Cardinals in the second game.

The Wheelwright Trojans and the Ashland-Paul Blazer Tomcats tipped off the opening game of the panorama. The Trojans fell to the Tomcats 75-72 behind a spectacular performance by Austin Young who recorded 38 points to become the leading scorer of the game.

After a Trojan basket by John Hall with 14:35 left in the first half, Paul Blazer's Austin Young hit a three-pointer and a two-pointer to give his team the 5-2 lead. The Trojans answered with a 10-point run led by Brian Johnson who scored eight of the 10 to give the Trojans a 12-5 lead. The Tomcats pulled to within four, 18-4, when Young was fouled on a three-point attempt, making two of three free throws. Wheelwright scored six straight points that gave them the 24-14 lead.

The Tomcats dropped the Trojan lead to six on Omar Henry who hit both of his bonus free throws. The Tomcats kept the Trojan lead under 10 points on shots by Young and Chris Lewis with 3:30 left in the first half. The Trojans took an 11-point lead, 40-29, by Chad Slone's basket with 1:09 left in the half. The Tomcats finished out the scoring of the first half with John Adams hitting one of one of his free throws and two free throws by Michael Lynch to go into halftime down by eight points, 40-32.

At the start of the second half, Paul Blazer's Young scored the first 10 points and Trey Jackson hit a free throw that brought the Tomcats to within three, 46-43. The Trojans pulled away to another 10 point lead on two baskets by Greg Johnson, a three-point and a two-point basket, and a basket by Slone. Paul Blazer slashed the lead once again to three on a basket by Lewis, two baskets by Lynch, and a basket by Young. The score was 53-50.

The Trojans scored 10 straight points on a three-pointer by Slone, a basket by Brian Johnson, and two baskets, one three-pointer and one two-pointer by Greg Johnson that gave the Trojans their biggest lead of the night, 68-55. After a three-pointer by Paul Blazer's Young and two free throws by Young, the Tomcats cut the lead to within double digits with 4:51 left in the game. In the last 3:10, the Tomcats outscored the Trojans 15-2 behind Young's nine points. The Tomcats took their first lead of the game at 72-70 with 1:19 left in the game. Paul Blazer scored on three free throws to end the game while the Trojans could only manage one field goal to make the final score 75-72.

The Betsy Layne Bobcats and the Sheldon Clark Cardinals tipped off the second game of the night. The Cardinals took the lead early and never looked back. The Cardinals recorded four players in double figures and beat the Bobcats 87-44.

The Cardinals scored eight straight points on back-to-back baskets by Clayton Wells, a basket by John Slone, and a basket by Brock Ward to take the early 8-0 lead. At the 8:07 mark of the first half, the Cardinals had a 10-7 lead, but a Slone basket sparked the Cardinals as they went on a 10-point run. Back-to-back field goals by the Bobcats' Barney Clark and Jason Akers brought the Bobcats to within nine, 20-11. The Cardinals' Slone scored nine of the last 15 points Sheldon Clark recorded as the Cardinals equaled their biggest lead at 35-

22 at halftime.

At the start of the second half, the Cardinals' Ward scored a two-point basket followed by the Bobcats' Brian Hunter hitting a basket that kept the lead at 13 points. But once again the Cardinals got a spark from Slone when, on a fast break, he had a nice one-handed dunk and the team got fired up with 13:49 left in the game. The Cardinals went on a 15 point scoring run that covered over 3:00 and again it was led by Slone who hit a two-point basket and a three-point basket that helped his team to a 54-24 lead. The Bobcats' made a shot and were fouled, making the free throw, and ended the scoring run of Sheldon Clark. Sheldon Clark scored six straight points on two baskets by Wells and a basket by Slone to take a 60-27 lead. Back-to-back field goals by the Bobcats' Akers cut the lead to 60-31 before another Cardinal scoring run. Slone started the 12 point scoring run by hitting a three-pointer and a two-pointer followed by two three-pointers by Shawn Hale which gave Sheldon Clark a comfortable 75-31 lead. Sheldon Clark's Jason Pinson scored nine of the last 12 points for his team as the Cardinals won the ballgame 87-44.

Gearheart sparks McDowell JV past Mullins' Tigers, 81-54

Byron Gearheart tossed in 19 points and Tim Hall added 12 as the McDowell Daredevils junior varsity squad pasted Mullins JV's 81-54 Tuesday night at Mullins.

Gearheart got several points off of offensive rebounds as he worked the boards hard. He had an unofficial eight rebounds. Hall, who sat out last season, made a big impression as he hit his first five shots before missing.

McDowell doubled the score on Mullins in the first quarter with a 24-12 lead. McDowell led 46-32 at the half as coach Mark Hall substituted freely throughout the game.

Jeremy Epplin led Mullins with 15 points and Brian Hurley tossed in 10 points.

Jason Bevins and Joe Bryant added 10 points each for McDowell. Ryan Hamilton, who had a good floor game at point guard, tossed in nine points with T.T. Pack scoring seven. Mike Stephens had five points and Terrance Mullins, who had the highlight film play of the day, had four points. Mullins, driving to the basket on the break, turned in mid air and with his back to the basket, tossed the ball in the goal and was fouled on the play. Brandon Stumbo had five points.

Nathan Hinkle scored seven for Mullins. Benji Stamper, Chasey Hall and Kelly Brouchue had five each. Eric Edmunds scored two.

Facing Prestonsburg bothers Danville coach

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Danville Admirals will journey to Prestonsburg tonight in anticipation of their semi-state matchup against coach Bill Letton's Prestonsburg Blackcats in a 7 p.m. kick off time.

While everyone else is hollering "circle the wagons", Danville coach Sam Harp says that he and his squad are taking the Blackcats seriously.

"They're an excellent football team," said Harp of the Blackcats.

"They are a very big team that has good size. I am very impressed with them."

The Admirals own the state's longest winning streak of 27 games and are currently 13-0 on the season. They are the defending 2A state champions and bring a very quick backfield to the Prestonsburg stadium tonight.

The Blackcats will be caught short manwise when Danville makes an appearance. Out for the game will be two key players in Dwayne Garza and Matt Porter. Garza went out of the Lawrence County game in the third period with an injury to his knee that put him out for the rest of the playoffs. He will require surgery later.

Porter was to be Garza's replacement in the backfield, but he suffered a severe foot injury that will sideline him for the contest. Todd Clark could be moved into the backfield for Prestonsburg.

Danville will have junior Colin Rogers calling the signals in the semi-state game. Rogers is a 6-1, 200 to Harp. "We have to stop their power game," he said. "We also have to prevent them from eating the clock on us, something they do very well. It will be necessary for them to keep the football in the offense's hands against us and run the clock. Prestonsburg can make a short game of it by eating the clock."

While the injury to Garza is favorable to them, still the Danville coach didn't want it to be that way.

"I hated to see that happen to him," said the Admirals coach. "He's a fine ence in the outcome of the game. "We both have to play in it," he said. "It doesn't make any difference to us whether it is muddy or not."

Danville is considered by many to be the best football team in the state, taking in all classes.

The Blackcats will hold a community pep rally at 1 p.m. today at the football field and a motorcade through town will take place immediately following that.

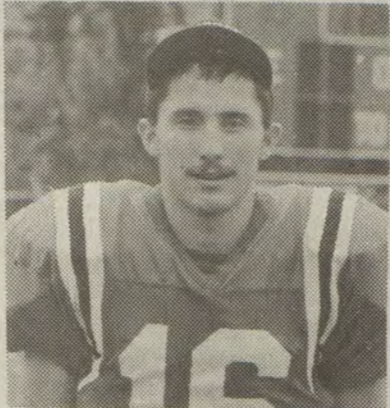

The weather will be on the wet side as rain and scattered snow showers are in the forecast. The weather

Bevins 17 points sends McDowell frosh past Allen Central, 54-50

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Mark Hall made his coaching debut for the McDowell freshmen team this past Monday night when the junior Daredevils edged the Allen Central freshmen 54-50 to begin the season.

Jason Bevins tossed in 17 points to lead McDowell in scoring. Joe Bryant added 11 points.

Allen Central was led by Halbert who finished with 12 points. Matt Crawford scored 11 for the Rebels and Patton tossed in 10.

The Daredevils held a 11-9 lead after the first quarter, but the Rebels reversed the outing in the second to tie the game 20-20 at the half. McDowell was a six point better team in the third period as they held a 38-32 lead going into the fourth period.

T.T. Pack had eight points for the winners. Terrance Mullins added seven and Mike Stephens scored six. Nick Little finished with five.

John Moore tossed in nine for Allen Central.

McDowell will face Magoffin County in a freshman game Monday night at the E.P. Grigsby Fieldhouse.

Betsy Layne, Allen Central, P-burg in Paintsville panorama Saturday

In the opening game, host Paintsville will go against powerhouse Prestonsburg in a 10 a.m. tip-off time. Last year's defending regional champions, Sheldon Clark, will face West Carter at 11:30 a.m. Elkhorn City, a heavy favorite this year, will match up against Morgan County starting at 1 p.m.

Belfry, another regional contender, will take on a very strong Johnson Central team in a 2:30 p.m.

start. Johnson Central was runner-up to Sheldon Clark last year.

Pikeville and Lawrence County will square off at 7 p.m. with Allen Central and Betsy Layne facing each other in the final game at 8:30 p.m.

The panorama will give area fans a good look at some of the top teams in the region as Sheldon Clark is a clear choice to repeat for a fifth straight year.

bonus shot to give the Tigers the lead at 76-75. McDowell pulled down the rebound and had the ball in their front court when Stanley was called for a throwing an elbow under the basket. The turnover sent Edmunds to the free throw line where he calmly sank both tosses for a 78-75 game. McDowell's Earl Cook launched a three pointer that just missed as the horn sounded.

Turnovers proved to be an enemy of the Daredevils as they committed 21 miscues. With the scored tied at 8-8 in the first quarter, McDowell turned the ball over on four consecutive possessions as Mullins moved out to a 12-8 score. Hamilton hit a lay up off of a break as he got behind the Tigers press and Rose drilled a three-pointer at the 3:08 mark to give McDowell a 13-12 lead.

Three straight turnovers by Mullins allowed the Daredevils to extend their lead to 15-12 on a basket by Alan Joe Moore. Carter's trey tied the game before Wally Sexton gave McDowell the lead at 17-15 on a lay up. Gibson tied the game for the fourth time in the first quarter with a short bank shot and Rose hit off the left side to put McDowell back on top 19-17. Edmunds completed a three-point play just before the quarter ended for a 20-19 Mullins lead.

Mullins was consistently getting inside the McDowell defense for easy lay ups and at times they took two and three shots at the basket. The Tigers' 2-3 zone trapping defense kept the Daredevils off stride.

Hamilton led a good McDowell effort in the second quarter as he hit the first shot of the second stanza for a 21-20 game. After Matt Sparks scored for Mullins, McDowell went on a 6-2 run for a 27-24 lead.

West drilled a three-pointer to tie the game at 31-31, but McDowell scored the next seven points to take their biggest lead at 38-31 with just over two minutes left in the half.

Trailing 40-33, Mullins ran off six consecutive points on three McDowell turnovers to trail by one, 40-39.

Hamilton hit a basket with 22 seconds left in the first half and the Daredevils owned a 43-41 halftime lead.

With 2:11 left in the third period, McDowell rolled to a 54-51 lead, but saw the Tigers scrap their way back with eight unanswered points on three more McDowell turnovers. Mullins led 59-54 after three quarters.

In the fourth period, McDowell was up 65-64 as the lead continued to change hands. Mullins ran off six straight points for a 70-65 lead until the Daredevils caught them.

The lead exchanged hands 23 times during the game.

Cook finished with nine points for the Daredevils with Mike Duddleson, Sexton and Moore finishing with eight points each.

Stanley and Sexton each had five rebounds in the contest. Duddleson handed out six assists and Rose collected five.

West scored eight points for Mullins and Ed Stump added six. James Roberts had five with Matt Sparks tossing in two.

McDowell (0-1) will play Tuesday night at Paintsville.

pounder who will occasionally throw the football.

"We're a running team like most Kentucky teams," said Harp. "We might throw the football eight to ten times in a game. We can go deep if we need to."

Coach Harp stated that outside the Rockcastle County game last week, his team has averaged passing for one to two TDs a game.

"Roger's has good distance," said Harp. "He has the ability to throw if needed."

Running at fullback for Danville will be Roger Matthew, a 6-1, 200 pound junior. Actually, according to Harp, the Admirals run two players at the fullback slot, the other being junior Robbie Wilson (5-10, 200).

Jewell Gray (5-8, 150 senior) and Nathan Harris (6-1, 190 senior) fill the halfback positions.

The Admirals' offensive line will go at an average of anywhere between 195 to 200 pounds, something that concerns Coach Harp.

"Across the line they will be about 40 to 50 pounds bigger than us," he said. "That is scary."

The Danville coach said that his squad must stop the power game of Coach Letton's ballclub. Running the clock against Danville is of concern football player and I was very impressed with him on film. He has good feet and runs hard."

What about Hyden?

"Their tailback?" asked Harp. "He is a super runner also. A strong runner with very good speed. When you have two backs that have run for over 1,000 yards, you know they are a team who plays power football."

While rain has been in the forecast for Friday, Harp doesn't think a muddy field will make any differ-man promises that the weather will be nothing more than off and on snow showers. The temperatures will rise from the mid to high 40's on Friday with game time temperature around 40 degrees with temperatures cooling into the 30's during the game. So bundle up.

Don't forget! Kick off time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The community and all of Floyd County are urged to come and support the Blackcats in this one game before the state finals.

RADIAL KERATOTOMY

Seeing Without Eyeglasses or Contact Lenses

People who are nearsighted are unable to see at a distance without glasses or contact lenses. Driving, watching television and sports activities are dependent upon the use of these corrective devices, which are at times inadequate, inconvenient and costly.

Normal eyes focus light on the retina much like a camera focuses light on film. The eye of a myopic or nearsighted patient is unable to do this because its focusing mechanism, the lens, is inaccurate so that the eye is always out of focus (for distance objects) without an additional corrective lens such as eyeglasses or contact lenses.

Far sighted eyes and astigmatic eyes have different abnormalities in the focusing mechanism, all of which are normalized with corrective lenses such as eyeglasses.

Radial Keratotomy and related procedures reshape the cornea of the eye by means of very small incisions. The cornea is the clear front membrane which covers the front surface of the eye and is the most powerful lens in the focusing mechanism of the eye. By reshaping this lens, Dr. Werblin is able to correct the focusing abnormalities of the eye and allow clear vision without corrective lenses. This minor, generally painless surgical procedure takes about fifteen minutes to perform.

EYE AFTER RK

In the past twenty-five years, safe, effective surgical procedures based on the principles of Radial Keratotomy have evolved which enable many people (nearsighted, farsighted and astigmatic) to function without dependency upon eyeglasses or contact lenses.

You may have thought that dependency on corrective lenses such as eyeglasses or contacts was a necessity of life. NOW THIS MAY NOT BE THE CASE!! For a more detailed discussion of these procedures and whether you may qualify for this form of corrective surgery, call our office to make a reservation for our FREE RK SEMI-NAR.

TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Seven Simple Tips On Securing Your Home

With more than 8,600 break-ins every day, the key to securing your home is to put strong obstacles in a burglar's path so he'll look for another target. It's easier to do than you think. Here are seven simple security steps from Kwikset, the largest manufacturer of residential locks in the U.S.:

1. Make sure all porches, entrance areas and yards are well-lit. Turn on exterior lights when you're home at night, plus interior lights when you are away for the evening.
2. Prune any shrubbery that hides doors or windows. Remove tree limbs that a thief could climb to reach second story windows.
3. Don't hide house keys in mailboxes, planters or under doormats.
4. If you are going to be away for two days or more, suspend deliveries of newspapers, bottled water and other items.
5. If you have just moved into a house or apartment, have the locks rekeyed.

into a threat to Sheila's plans.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: After the DNA test proved Nikki was their son, Lawrence forbade Carly from telling Bo. Later, as Lawrence assisted Carly on a medical emergency, the Medvan was stuck in a snowdrift, forcing the two to take shelter in a nearby cabin. While Marlena remained in the pit, John considered demolishing the warehouse as a safety hazard. As Stella left for the airport to start a new life, she had second thoughts, but while trying to call Abe, a truck slid on the icy road trapping her in the phone booth. Wait To See: Marlena may have only hours left to live.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Mac came into the mountain cabin to find a badly wounded Ryan and a shocked Felicia. Jagger triggered an alarm in the science lab, causing Jason and Karen to set off an explosive reaction. Tracy and Marco got taped information about Jenny's involvement with the Kensingtons. While tracing the missing art pieces, Bill and Holly ran into unexpected interference. Jessica gave Tiffany information that could determine the future custody of little Lucas. Wait To See: Jenny gets information that could give her some much needed support, or could work against her.

GUIDING LIGHT: Harley was overjoyed when Mallet announced he could hear. Lillian misunderstood Ed's offer of friendship. Nick gave Alan-Michael a chance to admit his part in the bombing. Blake was stunned to learn Roger had set her up and put Ross in an untenable position. Alan-Michael was shocked to learn Pierre had taken Harley prisoner. Alan-Michael, Mallet, and Nick tried to save her. As Pierre shot at Harley, A-M jumped in front of her, risking his life for her. Julie was upset with Dylan when she discovered her medical bill in his pocket. Bridget almost let her pregnancy secret slip. Wait To See: Alan-Michael's life hangs in the balance.

LOVING: Clay's thoughts were on Dinah Lee as he watched Trisha and Trucker marry in the glass chapel in the woods. Unaware that Clay was manipulating the situation, Stacey feared she was losing her mind because she continued to see visions of Jack. In New York, Hannah told Cooper she wanted to wait until they were married before they made love. Kate hired Arthur to assist her with her political work at 35 Maple Drive. Louie learned the ultrasound and prostate tests revealed a growth. Wait To See: Even as Clay zeroes in closer on Stacey, a shock awaits him.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Realizing that Max was rapidly giving in to "Death," and was about to "marry" the entity, Luna decided to go over to the other side to save him. Once there, she challenged "Death" to a contest for Max's life—agreeing to forfeit her own, if necessary, to save him. Viki told Andrew she's loves Sloan. Silva advised Cricket to write a formal letter of complaint about Michael to the Disciplinary Commission. Michael told Rebecca, Danny had a terrible marriage, and she should tell him her boyfriend left her with the bill, and ask for $50. To Michael's delight, Danny paid, and she insisted on leaving her watch as collateral. Michael got her phone number, assuring her he'll arrange for her to see Danny again. Wait To See: Cricket has two problems to deal with.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Get more tuned in to what associates are expecting from you in all aspects of your life. You get high on all the options, solutions and dreams. Be realistic and decide on how much you can really do.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unfortunately you're not calling the shots this week—others are. You do know how to please and make the most of a difficult situation. Sharing is a major theme this week, as well as enjoying many fun moments.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You are one of the few signs that are focused on work this week, at best for a few days. You can't help it—you feel the lure of foreign lands, people and pleasures. Truth is, you're bored with the routine and are up for nearly anything.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You seem to be late all week, whether it's beginning a project or taking off for the ultimate romp. You do manage to make the best of it and cram in as much time as possible for socializing. Be careful, trouble could be brewing with the boss.

LEO (July 23-August 22) You are unusually quiet this week, as you sense a change in the winds. Having said and done it all (or so you think), you know something's up. Get plenty of rest whenever you can.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) You can be found nearly anywhere and everywhere this week. Settle down and do some thinking about plans on the home front. Your more playful side is dying to emerge and does. But don't kid yourself, Virgo. You will still have to eventually deal with that financial matter.

LOST WALLET—If you lose your wallet or purse, or if it's stolen, of course, you should report this to your credit card companies. However, there's another important card to remember.

Call your phone company and your long-distance company if you carry one of their credit cards. Charges made to stolen telephone credit cards run into the millions each year. Most people don't even remember they were carrying it until they get the phone bill.

It's wise to memorize your number rather than carry the card. Also, be careful no one hears your account number when you place a call. This happened to my sister, and the thieves made over $500 worth of long-distance calls all over the world. Luckily, she didn't have to pay it, but it was a close call. Sammi P., Westfield, Mass.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Make the most of the peaceful vibrations, because your balance may soon be thrown off. Communications flow all week and you feel contented as the weekend rolls in. When you least expect it the uproar begins.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) You charge into the week in prime form. First you play out being the financial wizard of the zodiac, only to become Ralph Nader by the weekend. Life looks peachy keen when you're with that special someone. Do be careful not to abuse your energy.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Look at taking some quiet time for soul-searching, stress reduction or just plain extra snoozing. You'll need it because a child or a loved one acts up this weekend. If single, check out what pops up your path.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Things fall far too easily into place this week. Don't think that this is an easy ride, because a surprise—and a lot of confusion—pops up on the home front. Take advantage of the good times as the weekend begins.

AQUARIUS (January 20-February 18) You are ready to go all week long, be it accepting an extra project at work or getting into a fun event with a friend. You do command another's respect this week and you get what you want. Consider calling it an early weekend and vanishing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Your resourcefulness has never been so high. You come up with new ideas, get useful information, and solve many a problem. The boss smiles on you, and, by the weekend, Lady Luck gives you the 'go' with an emotional situation.

CHANGING SEASONS

Smile Awhile (Continued from, B 1)

I'd gotten up before daylight in order to do it.

"Does he still use the doe urine?"
"Oh, sure. He just splashes some on a rag and sticks it to the bottom of his shoes."

I had to laugh. It was no wonder I have never been a hunter because whenever I got animal refuse on the soles of my shoes, I always tried to wipe it off on the grass or something. Little did I know that if I left it on, a deer might have followed me home and hung his head on my wall.

"Does your friend still have his fox?" Suzanne asked me.

"No. Someone stole it, or it got away."

"Oh, that's too bad. At least he doesn't have to worry about feeding it anymore."

"That was the worst part of having it. Can you imagine having to go out and scrape a dead animal off the pavement? Boy, that's sick. Oh, excuse me. Were you going to eat the rest of your fish?"

"Er, don't, ah mention ooo food," I answered queasily as I nodded my head negatively.

"Sorry," she said as she forked the fish from my plate on to hers. "But road kill was the cheapest way to go. When you think of it, it's the natural order of things."

Strangely enough, most of the people I love very much hunt. Maybe they can explain this by saying it's their outlet for tolerating me for long periods of time without going nuts.
