Elderly woman is killed in accident

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A mid-afternoon collision at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ky. 1428 claimed the life of an elderly Prestonsburg woman Wednesday and hospitalized an Oil Springs native.

According to a report issued Thursday by the Prestonsburg Police Department, the accident occurred Wednesday when Ruth Wright, 70, of Prestonsburg, attempted to turn onto U.S. 23 from Ky. 1428 directly in the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Sherletta M. Doderer, 29, of Oil Springs. Wright was apparently thrown from her vehicle.

The accident occurred at around 2:17 p.m.

The two women were transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center, where Wright was pronounced dead by Floyd County Coroner Roger E. Nelson.

Doderer was treated for injuries and released on Thursday.

Responding to the scene were members of the Prestonsburg Police Department, the Prestonsburg Fire Department, the Respond and P & B Ambulance services and Prestonsburg Fire Marshal Larry Adams.

The accident is still under investigation by patrolman Mike Conn of the Prestonsburg Police Department.

Leeway okayed on one issue; tight reins vowed on another

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

In an effort to reward schools that have voted to form school-based decision making councils, Floyd County School Board Members Wednesday authorized those schools to determine pay scales for teachers for extracurricular activities.

Schools that do not have site-based councils will have to abide by the board's adopted pay scale and must have board approval for any deviations.

"I don't think we should give non-site-based schools the same flexibility as site-based schools," acting board chairman Eddie Patton said. "I think we should reward site-based schools and this board should go on record wanting every school in the county to be site-based."

Superintendent Steve Towler expressed concern that it may not be acceptable for the board to impose different procedures for schools that are not governed by school-based decision making councils.

Patton appeared to be unmoved by Towler's comments, saying, "I don't see any reason not to do it until a lawyer tells us not to."

Under the board's plan, site-based schools will have the authority to determine how a budget allocation for supplemental pay will be spent.

Elementary schools, K-5, will receive $2,800 for supplemental pay; elementary schools K-8 will receive $10,000; middle schools will receive $17,000; and high schools will be allotted $55,000.

Board member Eddie Billips cautioned that school councils should attempt to follow the board approved

Ivel woman abducted, beaten, raped; Tram suspect is jailed

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man was arrested early Saturday by officers of the Kentucky State Police after allegedly abducting, beating and raping an elderly Ivel woman.

According to Floyd County Jail records, Eddie Dean Hall, 20, of Tram, was arrested at the Tram residence of his uncle, Junior Hall, by Kentucky State Police Detective Lynn Cross and lodged in the jail at around 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Deputy Floyd County Jailer Duran Jarrell said Thursday that the arrest occurred after an incident Friday evening in which Hall allegedly entered the residence of a 70-year old Ivel woman, tied her up, raped her, then burglarized and vandalized her home.

Jarrell said Thursday that Hall had formerly served a probationary sentence on charges of first degree attempted rape and fourth degree assault stemming from a December, 1991 incident in which he allegedly beat and tried to rape his own mother.

Hall was charged Saturday with one count each of first degree rape; first degree burglary; first degree robbery; criminal trespass; terroristic threatening; and criminal mischief. He remains lodged in the Floyd County Jail pending a $50,000 cash bond.

The incident is still under investigation by Detective Lynn Cross of the Pikeville Post of the Kentucky State Police.

Local sales rep is big winner in HBO promo

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

One day last November, Peggy Thompson was working at her desk as a customer sales representative (CSR) for Cablevision, on South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, when the phone rang.

"I could tell when he called — by the ring of the phone — that it was the HBO Mystery Caller. I just had a feeling," she said Wednesday at the Cablevision office. Little did Thompson know that the phone call would lead to her winning a grand prize in the HBO Mystery Caller Contest.

The HBO national contest was held last fall for employees of cable systems that carry Home Box Office. Grand prizes included eight new cars, eight trips, and big cash.

Other HBO Mystery Callers had already called Thompson and fellow CSR Mary Woods about five times each that month, pretending to be prospective Cablevision customers. Each time the callers asked Thompson or Woods questions concerning premium channels that Cablevision offers, such as HBO and Cinemax and, each time the sales representa-

State is riled over bypass of local board

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

State school officials have chastised Floyd County school superintendent Steve Towler for failing to provide local board members with vital information relating to the district's improvement plans.

Local board members apparently have also been bypassed in the distribution of revised state guidelines — some of which require their attention — concerning school construction projects.

In an April 22 letter to Towler from Sandy Gubser, director of the state's management assistance program, the state's ire was evident concerning the communication gap and that Towler had apparently told state officials that he kept board members informed on those issues.

"Both the management assistance staff and the Commissioner (Thomas Boysen) have expressed dismay and grave concern that you have not shared with the Floyd County Board (local and state monthly progress reports)," Gubser's letter said. "These omissions are especially serious given the local board's responsibility and authority for completion of the short-term plan, and the fact you had indicated to us on numerous occasions that this information is being shared with the board."

"The purpose of this letter is to direct you to ensure that all monthly progress reports must be submitted to and approved by the board... prior to their submittal to the Kentucky Department of Education," Gubser's letter said. "Likewise, all Kentucky Department of Education monitoring reports must be submitted to the local board for their review and action... We consider compliance with these directives of the utmost importance and a critical step in the overall improvement process."

Board members have also been left out in receiving information concerning revisions in state school construction guidelines which in some areas require local board approval.

At Wednesday's special board meeting, board member Eddie Billips asked Towler if he had received a copy of the state memorandum sent to architects and construction managers.

"Are you aware that Mike Luscher, (director of facilities management for the state education department), sent out a letter or document in March... that requires architects to provide drawings to the board prior to the time they are submitted to Luscher?" Billips asked Towler.

"We get quite a bit of correspondence from him and I'm not sure I have seen that," Towler answered.

Pot 'harvest' gets off to an early start

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Marijuana eradication efforts have begun early in Floyd County with state and local law officers confiscating over 150 plants Thursday in two different strikes.

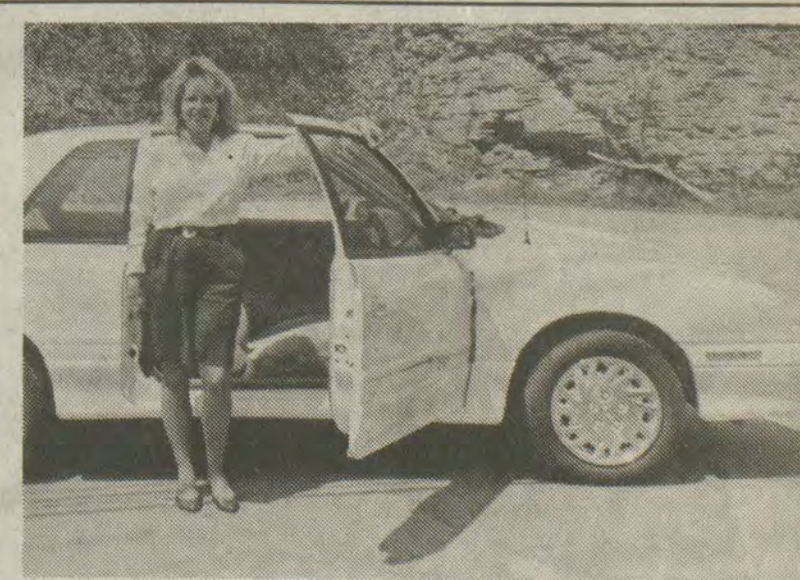

Officers executed a search warrant at the home of Theresa Gibson, 20, at Middle Creek Monday afternoon and came away with approximately 30 pot plants.

Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and deputies Homer Neeley and Ricky Thornsberry joined forces with Kentucky State Police officers Bobby Day, David Watkins and Tim Mullins in a search of Gibson's trailer where officers found the pot plants on a window sill in Gibson's bedroom. Officers also found a small quantity of prescription drugs not in proper containers.

Gibson was arrested and charged with cultivating marijuana, over five plants, prescription drugs not in proper container and possession of drug paraphernalia.

In the second hit Thursday, officers found just over 130 marijuana plants on a hillside at Shop Fork on Mare Creek.

After a short hike up a hillside, officers found several plots of marijuana plants growing in prepared growing beds.

Governor's plan is highlighted

The Kentucky Commission on Health Care Reform on Monday approved Governor Brereton Jones' controversial new health care package, voting to send the plan to the Kentucky General Assembly, where it will be reviewed extensively by the legislature's interim Health and Welfare Committee. The following outline offers a brief overview of Jones' plan.

Controlling Costs

• A Health Care Authority, appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate, would set rates for all health care providers by January 1, 1994. Rates could not go up more than the Consumer Price Index, or cost of living. That means that Kentuckians' health care cost increases would be limited to the same percentage as food, clothing or other necessities of life.

• The Authority also would set rates for health insurance policies, and insurance companies could not charge their customers more without the Authority's approval.

• To improve consumers' bargaining power, a health care purchasing cooperative, or mega-pool, would allow millions of Kentuckians to come together as a group to buy insurance or health care. The Authority would negotiate with health care and insurance providers on behalf of Kentuckians in the pool.

• To help Kentuckians plan for the future, a state tax credit would be awarded against premiums paid for long-term care insurance. This credit would amount to 25 percent of the premium payments.

• Health care reform within the workers' compensation system would mean rate reductions for companies and enhanced workplace safety for employees.

Coverage for All Kentuckians
• No Kentuckian could be denied insurance coverage because of a pre-existing condition of any type, including cancer, heart disease, and diabetes.

• Every health insurance company in Kentucky would be required to offer a minimum benefit plan that the Authority would develop.

This plan would provide compre-

Development conference discusses Martiki Coal's mining reclamation site

How can states and communities address the seemingly conflicting issues of environmental protection and economic development? To answer that question a conference in Louisville will take a look at MAPCO Coal Company's Martiki mining site in Martin County.

Martiki's reclamation project will be included in a session on redevelopment during "From Rio to the Capitols: State Strategies for Sustainable Development," May 25-28. The redevelopment session will also include a discussion by Kenneth Dobson, executive vice-president of the Detroit Downtown Development Authority, on the reuse of surplus industrial space in his city.

Featuring speakers from throughout the United States, the conference marks the first national follow-up to last year's international Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro. It will focus on a key issue discussed in Rio—the concept of sustainable economic development—a long-term strategy on meeting the concurrent needs of creating jobs while protecting and preserving natural resources and the environment for future generations.

"The most pressing issues, and the most impressive solutions, will be discussed by environmental and economic development experts from across the country," Jones said. "Other conferences have focused on the questions about the environment or development. Our conference will showcase some of the innovative programs that have provided answers for state and local governments which deal with these pressing community concerns on a daily basis."

The list of speakers includes Dr. Thomas Lovejoy of the Smithsonian Institution and Chief Oren Lyons, spokesman for the Onondaga Nation and an advocate for environmental causes. Business leaders addressing the conference include David Buzzelli of Dow Chemical Company; Cynthia Georgeson of S. C. Johnson Eax; and Jon Plant of Allied-Signal, who also chairs the U.S. Council for International Business Environmental Committee.

In addition, there will be speakers who will address the particular concerns of small businesses, including Karen Brown, Small Business Ombudsman from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Scott Bernstein, president of the Chicago-based Center for Neighborhood Technology.

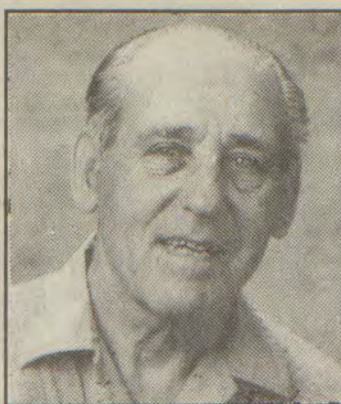

"We have speakers from Sacramento, California to Augusta, Maine; from Walt Disney Corporation to United Parcel Service," Jones said. "This conference marks an unprecedented effort to bring together state and local leaders, citizens, businesses, environmental groups, social issues groups and professional associations. It is essential to our future and our children's future."

A session on financial services—a rapidly changing sector that is ultimately important for entrepreneurs and community-based development organizations—will feature Mary Houghton, president of the Southshore Bank Corporation in Chicago and Joan Bavaria, president of the Boston-based Franklin Research and Development Corporation. Both Houghton and Bavaria have been active in promoting sound development and easing access to credit for community-based ventures.

These sessions will be included among 30 to be offered on topics ranging from "Economic and Environmental Equity" to "Water Quality and Availability." The conference will also feature regional forums to give participants an opportunity to exchange ideas and express differing views on environmental and development issues.

Registration for the conference is open to the public. For further information or registration materials, please contact Ann James or Rebecca Stutsman by phone at 502/564-2611 or by FAX at 502/564-2517.

pay scales and not to make "radical changes."

Billips also suggested that if a non-site-based school wanted to make a change in the supplemental pay scale the issue must be brought before the board with an explanation why a change was needed.

Billips added that such a request would "not likely" get board approval because it would be giving those schools the same options as site-based schools.

Also Wednesday, the board tightened the reins on bidding procedures by voting to review bid specifications on all items put out for bids.

Buildings and Grounds director Frankie Francis had asked the board to approve advertising for bids on various maintenance items so that bids could be awarded for the next fiscal year.

"I think we should approve the specs," Patton commented.

"In my opinion with as much scrutiny as we've been under, I think the board should approve the specs and then approve that those items go out for bid," Billips added.

Francis indicated that advertising for the maintenance materials should not be prolonged and that if the board wanted to review specifications on all items it would "be a lot of material."

"That's good," Patton replied curtly.

In other action Wednesday:

- the board declined to enter into a contract with National Facility Consultants Inc. to oversee the replacement of rooftop heating and cooling until the document is reviewed by the board attorney. Floyd County's maintenance department has been recognized statewide and nationally for their energy management program.

- the board heard from Alan Little with Bowser-Morner Engineering about settlement at the Betsy Layne 21-classroom addition site. At the inception of the site preparation, Little said that architect Paul Hoffman was told that it would take at least eight months to settle and that it is expected to settle by July or August.

- the board was informed that the district has received a grant to fund family resource centers at Duff Elementary and Melvin and Osborne schools; and

- the board approved the summer feeding program.

Board members called a special meeting for Monday, May 10 at 6 p.m. at Auxier Elementary. The agenda items for that special meeting were not identified at Wednesday's meeting.

"From that document sent out, it's obvious that the guidelines are not being followed. . . (Paul) Hoffman's been taking plans to Frankfort we've never seen."

Billips was referring to the board's frustration about Hoffman's delay in presenting construction plans to the board for the South Floyd High School gym project.

On Saturday, the board gave Hoffman a May 10 deadline to submit final plans on the project.

The March 25 seven-page memorandum from Luscheer included revisions in the submission of BG-1 forms; design professional contracts; schematic plans; design development plans; completed plans; change orders and contract documents.

Local board approval is needed in several of the areas set forth in memorandum before documents can be submitted to the state for approval.

For those who don't know me, let me introduce myself and tell you what I stand for. I've been serving my community for the past 16 years, without pay, through non-elected positions in Floyd County. I have served on these different community/civic groups for only one reason, and that is for the BETTERMENT OF FLOYD COUNTY. Why? Because I LIVE HERE, WORK HERE, and I CARE.

After serving two tours in Vietnam and being honorably discharged from the U.S. Marines in 1968 as a DISABLED AMERICAN VETERAN, I attended college and graduate school and graduated in 1976.

Besides being a successful businessman, I have held senior management positions in our local banks since 1976, where I developed my BUSINESS and FINANCE BACKGROUND. This education and business background will be very helpful to me as your representative for Magistrate of District Number One.

I'm filing for the office of Magistrate of District One in order for the public to have a REAL CHOICE. I'm one who puts Floyd County first, and politics second.

I believe everyone is entitled to CITY WATER, SEWER, GRAVEL and BLACKTOPPED HIGHWAYS. But above all, we need good paying jobs. I will work toward these goals.

All magistrates should tell you why you should elect them over other individuals who are running for this office. Let me tell you why I'm the best candidate for Magistrate of District One.

(1) I believe county expenses can be reduced, beginning with a reduction in magistrates' salaries.

(2) I believe in TERM LIMITATION—no one should serve more than two terms.

(3) I will hold QUARTERLY MEETINGS, open to the public, to discuss the problems of District One and what should be done about those problems. This way, you have a direct voice as to what happens in District One.

(4) GRAVEL will be DELIVERED YEAR 'ROUND—not just during election time.

(5) I will RETURN ALL PHONE CALLS and be available daily to discuss problems.

(6) I will bring a BUSINESS BACKGROUND with business ideals to local government.

(7) I will treat all citizens the same—NO FAVORITISM.

Good news is no news

by Scott Perry

The good news is really no news at all.

A survey conducted by the Big Sandy Labor-Management Association suggests something we knew all along...this area is a pretty good place to work.

Trouble is, folks outside Eastern Kentucky tend to think otherwise. They get the impression that mountain folks are a shiftless, shoeless bunch who would rather go on the draw than draw a paycheck.

Truth is, though, we aren't all extras for a segment of the Beverly Hillbillies.

We're just like everybody else...better than some...and we take pride in our work.

When we can find any to take pride in.

That's were the Labor-Management survey comes in.

By dispelling the myths about our labor force, the survey can help convince industrialists to give our region serious consideration when their plans involve relocation or expansion.

That's really all we ask...that we are allowed to compete for new jobs on an equal footing and without battling the stereotypes common to our area.

When we compare apples to apples, the Big Sandy has more than what it takes to compete with any area across the country.

Anyone who would like to give us a try will be pleasantly surprised.

But it's no surprise to us, at all.

Reader says "Fix it back"

Editor:
It was brought up at last week's fiscal court meeting that the county had been blacktopping private driveways. John M. Stumbo said that they didn't blacktop private driveways and gravel them. But they graded Hyden's Trailer Park and then came back and graveled it.

Concerning the advertisement about Gerald Derossett being a good magistrate, do you call a good magistrate someone who dug a ditch up to a graveyard to put a drain in back in February of last year and hasn't even bothered to fix it? My mother is 84 years old and she can't even travel the road to the cemetery to decorate her husband's grave after Gerald dug that big ditch and didn't bother to fix it back.

Best deals for the money

The continuing discussion over the best way to accomplish economic development in these hills has prompted us to get out the old calculator and do some basic ciphering, as the old folks used to say.

Much of the controversy centers around how much of our money the state is willing to use as bait to lure industry to our scarce river and creek bottomland. We hear a variety of figures bandied around and they include local perks, such as buildings and utility services, as well as state tax incentives and other industrial welfare programs.

Say the total package comes to $36 million. It sounds astronomical to most of us, but in the world of big business baiting, the figure us not unreasonable.

Cut out the tension of flying across the country to woo a company into moving here. Cut out the high-priced development specialist, staff and fancy quarters. Cut out the fear that a wild-eyed union organizer will wrest control of the work force.

Cut straight to the heart of the matter. Have the employment office select 120 out-of-work men and women and give them $15,000 each for the next twenty years. (That's not a princely sum, but it puts a family of four $3,000 or so above the poverty level.)

You have no worries about worker unrest. You don't have to keep raising the ante to keep a company from pulling up stakes and moving to Mexico. You needn't bother with benefits packages, absenteeism, vacations, and pregnancies, day care, walkouts, work-related injuries or any of those other nagging problems so worrisome in the workplace. There's no need to worry about remodeling facilities, road repair from overloaded trucks, or loss from floods or power outages or depreciation.

If the non-workers choose, with their "salaries" they can further their education or volunteer in the schools or perhaps even get a part-time job at a fast-food restaurant — something to fill up the idle hours and supplement their wages for not working at the nonexistent company.

When the psuedo-industry is on-line, the state can cough up another $36 million for another non-factory and put another 120 people on the payroll, and so on.

Some would call it welfare, but, as one of our favorite childhood books says, it all depends upon how you look at things. — Appalachian News-Express

Do as I say, not as I do

If you don't think legislators write laws for other people and not for themselves, consider the DUI trial last week of state senator Joe Meyer.

When Meyer, of Covington, was arrested February 5 of this year in Lexington, he refused to submit to a Breathalyzer test. He told police officers that he wanted to talk to his attorney before taking the test.

"I am worried that I don't know what I'm getting into," Meyer, an attorney himself, told the officers, accusing them of violating his right to call counsel. But the officers told the senator that if he talked to his attorney first, he could not take the Breathalyzer. You see, state law says that DUI suspects who refuse to take the test will automatically lose their license for six months.

Meyer then grabbed for another defense: He argued with police that since that provision was not in effect at the time he received his driver's license, it didn't apply to him.

Good Grief. Jurors didn't buy Meyer's defense; they convicted him of driving under the influence and recommended a $500 fine and three days in jail.

The irony of this spectacle is that Meyer was a member of the General Assembly when the DUI laws were passed. Was he not paying attention when the legislature approved a law it expects regular citizens to abide by?

Kentucky's motto is, "United we stand, divided we fall." The General Assembly's unofficial motto apparently is, "Do as I say, not as I do." — The Paintsville Herald

Sheriff for hire

During local campaign seasons, I like to read newspapers in surrounding counties to see how their campaigns are going. Being unfamiliar with most candidates, I can usually learn something about them through their campaign ads.

One of the most honest, down-to-earth ads I've seen so far is by a candidate for Martin County sheriff. He is not asking people to elect him to the office; he's asking them to hire him for the next four years.

The candidate makes no bones about it: He wants to be employed by Martin Countians as their sheriff. In fact, his ad is titled "Application for Employment." At the bottom, instead of asking voters to "elect" him, he requests that they "hire" him.

There's little question that many, if not most, candidates who run for local office do so because they want the money. Finally, at least one of them has the guts to admit it. — The Paintsville Herald

Muggings in the kitchen

A popular singer's husband was arrested for allegedly kicking and smashing her with a chair. The story made headlines because she's famous — but it is hardly news. Every 15 seconds, an American woman is beaten.

The Family Violence Prevention Fund released a study revealing that while only 19 percent of those surveyed had witnessed a robbery or mugging, 34 percent had witnessed a battering.

Americans seem finally aware that a woman socked in the kitchen by her husband is as much a victim as a woman mugged in the street by a stranger. — Condensed editorial from the New York Times reprinted in The Lexington Herald-Leader.

The longer they look at it, analyze it and think about it, the less cost cutters in either party like the 1994 budget Bill Clinton sent to Congress early this month.

Despite all his lofty rhetoric about shared sacrifice, the new president's first federal budget does surprisingly little to slow down spending and bring deficits under control.

Two things we know: Clinton is trading water on cost control, accepting deficits in the $200 billion to $300 billion range for the foreseeable future. Over the next six years, at least $1.5 trillion will have been added to the $4 trillion national debt under the Clinton proposals.

If he is serious about deficit reduction, Clinton will have to put forth a new and tighter set of spending priorities over the next four years that inflict pain on the recipients of federal grants, allowances and subsidies as well as on the taxpayers.

"There are no spending cuts in this budget," says Allen Schick, a professor of public policy at the University of Maryland. "He's going to have to come up with another deficit-reduction plan."

Schick concedes that Clinton is proposing deep cuts in military spending, but he contends that deep cuts would have been made anyway as a natural consequence of the winding down of the Cold War.

His basic argument is that rather than "A Vision of Change for America" that Clinton proclaimed in his Feb. 17 State of the Union speech the president is defending the budgetary status quo.

To be fair about it, Clinton is talking about eliminating 100,000 federal jobs (mostly by attrition) over the next four years. He has asked Vice President Al Gore to take a long look at federal agencies, with an eye to cost-cutting. And he wants to freeze federal pay in 1994, although that proposal—like others—seems open to modification.

The dark side is that Clinton has missed a chance to make dramatic proposals—to attack farm subsidies, most of which go to wealthy agribusinesses; to scale down veterans' benefits; to stop pouring billions into expensive-but-expendable projects such as the space station and the Texas supercollider.

It's true that Congress, not the president, has the final say on spending measures. Clinton can only propose or veto bills as a last resort. But a new president who represents the entire nation, not any particular state or interest group, has more leverage and much more clout than the typical lawmaker on Capitol Hill.

Clinton would be well-advised to stop negotiating, compromising and retreating from proposals to reduce the federal deficit. He'll be amazed at the support he'll get for performing a thankless task.

Another gas station robbed at gunpoint

The second armed robbery this month in the Pond Creek area occurred early Monday, with the assailant fleeing with $253 in cash.

Pike County deputy sheriff James E. Williams of the Pikeville office of the sheriff's department received a call at 2:45 a.m. saying that Snappy Stop 1, located across from the Southside Mall entrance at Goody, had been robbed.

Store attendant, James R. Stafford of Canada, told officials he came out of the stockroom and saw the robber at the front of the store, standing in the first aisle.

Stafford said the robber had what looked to be a .25-caliber automatic pistol. The robber took the cash register's drawer and till, then forced Stafford outside and made him (Stafford) lock himself in the bathroom.

Stafford told officials he did not see the robber's car, but heard tires squealing away from the scene, heading north on U.S. 119 toward Williamson, W.Va.

Williams said evidence shows the robbery took about five minutes to complete. Williams said no connection has been made between this armed robbery and the one that occurred earlier this month at the Belfry SuperAmerica Store.—Appalachian News-Express

Tackett petitions appeals court for rehearing

Johnson County jailer Thurman Tackett has officially petitioned the Kentucky Court of Appeals for a rehearing in a March decision returning control of the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville to a four-county jail authority.

The hearing request, filed on Tackett's behalf by Covington attorney Jeffrey C. Mando, says the appellate court's March 26 decision which concluded that an earlier state Supreme Court ruling barred Tackett from seeking further legal action in the jail controversy, was "erroneous."

The Court of Appeals decision overturned a January 21, 1992 Johnson Circuit Court ruling that put the operation of the detention center into Tackett's hand. The appellate court said the operation and management issue had been settled in 1989 when the Supreme Court allowed the Big Sandy Regional Jail Authority, comprised of Johnson, Lawrence, Magoffin and Martin Counties, to run the facility.

That ruling, in turn, had reversed a Court of Appeals decision giving Tackett control of the jail.

In response to the petition, Paintsville attorney J.K. Wells, representing the Jail Authority, claims the validity of the jail authority was an issue in the first litigation, filed in 1986.—The Paintsville Herald

Principal reprimanded for missing school

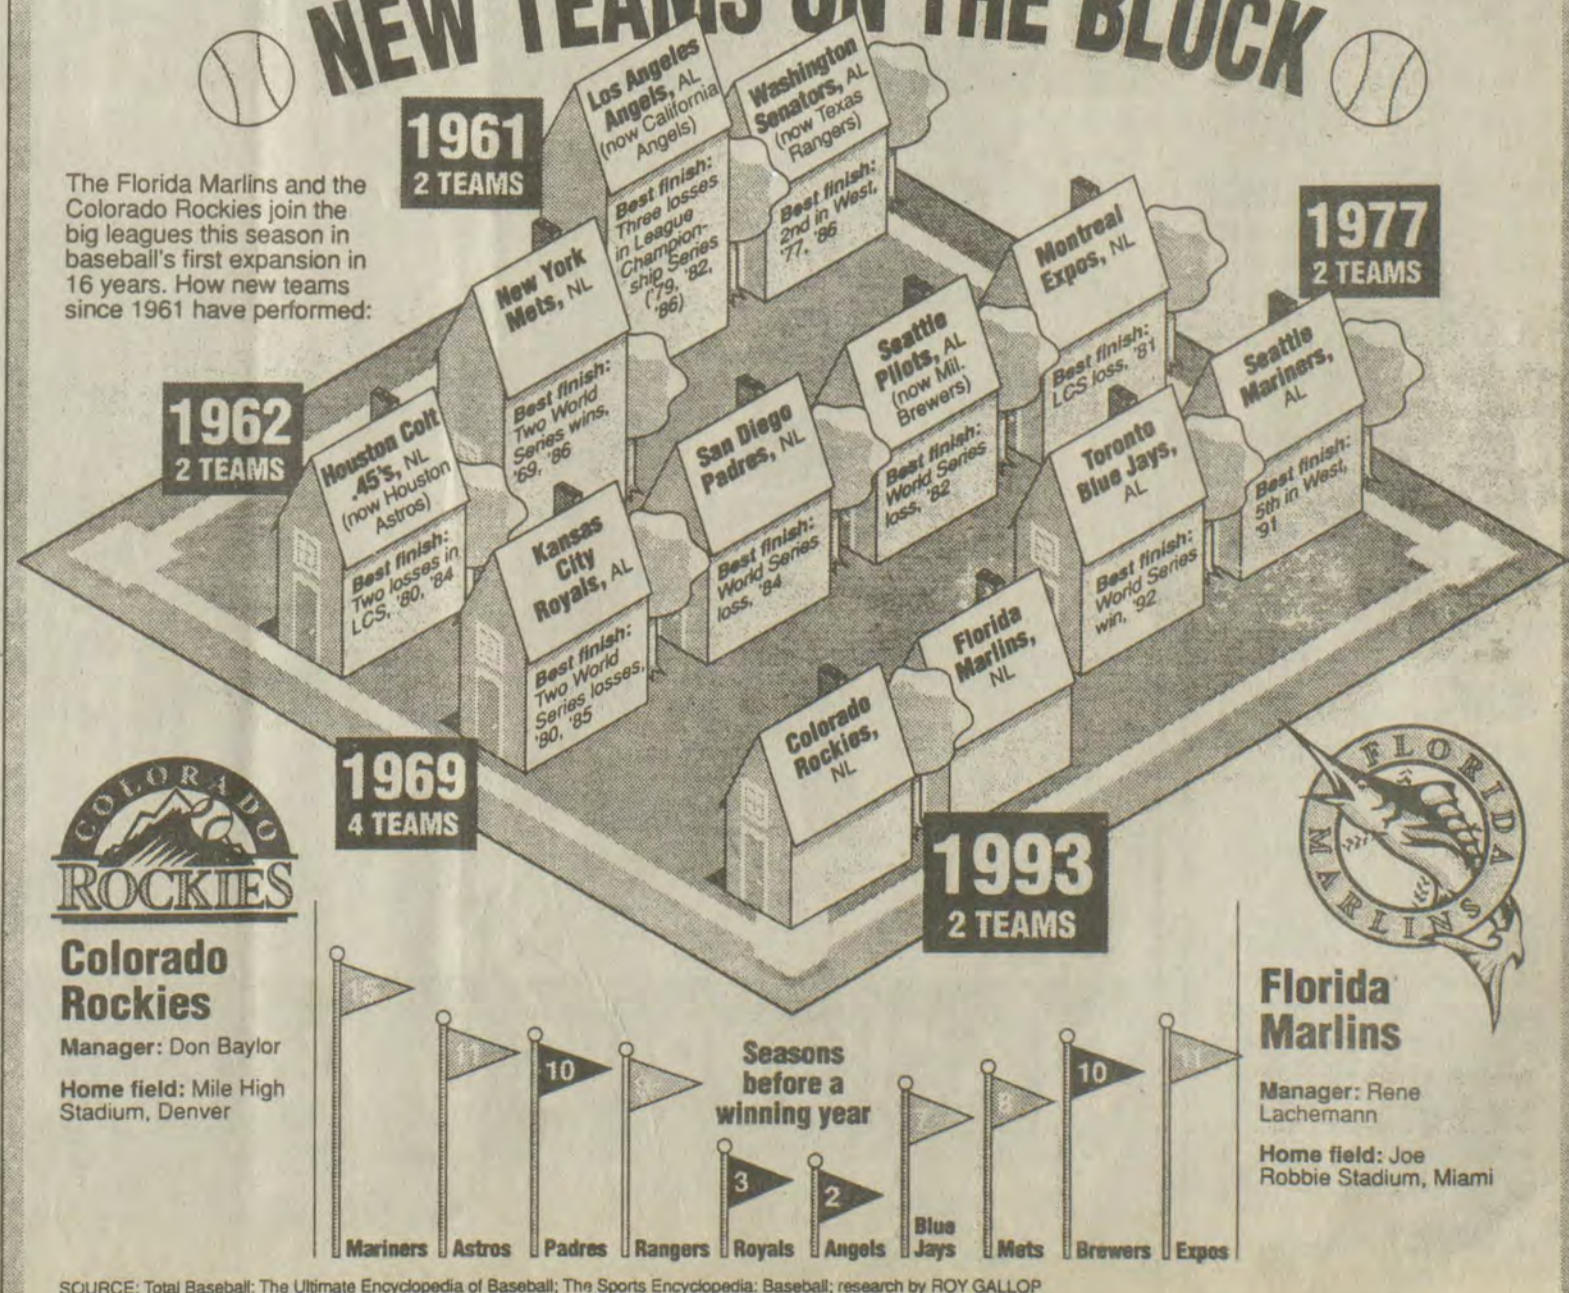

Magoffin County High School's principal has been officially reprimanded by the superintendent of schools for attending fiscal court meetings during school time.

Superintendent Carter Whitaker said Principal Owen Barnett, an interim magistrate, was unlawfully paid for time spent at the meetings which occurred during the school day in the 1992 calendar year.

"Your failure to treat absences during the school day...amounts to either a falsification of schools records or, at the least, misrepresentation of your entitlement to be paid by this school district for services rendered." —Salyersville Independent tives answered the questions perfectly, with a little sales pitch thrown in. The caller then identified himself as the Mystery Caller and awarded the sales representatives five dollars, and put the sales reps names into a hat from which names of winners of the grand prizes were drawn.

This time, however, Thompson was used to the routine. She answered the phone and, after she had answered the caller's questions and he had identified himself as The HBO Mystery Caller, Thompson jokingly said, "I bet I won the car."

He replied, "Yes! How did you know?"

"You're lying!" she responded in disbelief.

When the Mystery Caller finally convinced her that she had won a car, she recalled, "I went running to Dan screaming."

Upon hearing the news, Dan Perry, manager of Cablevision, said, "I was excited for her. I was tickled. After it sunk in, I was glad I did enter them in the contest."

He almost didn't. When HBO sent him promotional information about the contest, he admits he didn't give it a second thought. "When I read that one of the prizes was a car I said, 'Oh sure.'"

After all, with thousands of CSRs in the country, what were the chances of one of his employees winning anything?

"Then my supervisor from Pikeville called and asked me if I had entered my CSRs in the contest," Perry recalled. "I said, 'No.' And he told me to enter them because they might win something."

And the rest is history. Soon after, Thompson, 40, of Prestonsburg, ordered her sporty new white 1993 Dodge Shadow, valued at $12,700, from a car dealership in Hazard. The car package included a radio, cassette player, air conditioning, sport wheels, and automatic transmission.

She didn't get her Dodge Shadow until five months later, on April 6.

"People were wondering when I was going to get the car," Thompson smiled. "The girls at the bank said, 'Got that car yet?'"

"I'm glad it's come," Perry grinned. "She bugged me every day to call and see when the car would be in."

Her only cost was paying the tax and license on the new vehicle. She has parked her 1988 Dodge Colt in favor of driving her new vehicle, but the fact that she owns a new car hasn't yet sunk in. "It's like I'm driving someone else's car," she admitted. Her first extensive driving trip will be to Myrtle Beach, South Carolina where she plans to vacation the first of June.

"This just goes to show that you can win contests," Perry said. "We're all proud of her. It's a shame both couldn't win."

Plan

hensive coverage, including health services, preventive dental screenings, periodic physicals, and other benefits.

There would be no deductibles or co-payments for preventive services, and deductibles for other services would be capped at $400 per person and $800 per family per year. Maximum co-payments would be 20 percent of a bill from a health care provider who participate in the state program, 50 percent if the provider does not participate.

All Kentuckians would be required to have insurance as of January 1, 1994. They could obtain this coverage in a number of ways, such as through their employer or their spouse's employer, a government assistance program, private purchase, or the state mega-pool.

Low-income Kentuckians (those with household incomes of less than 200 percent of the federal poverty level, or about $28,000 for a family of four) would receive assistance from the state in buying a low-cost insurance plan that the state will make available to them. All children under 200 percent of poverty would be covered for free. The coverage of this plan would be the same as that offered in the minimum benefit plan.

To help finance universal coverage, a payroll tax of 3.75 percent would be imposed on all Kentucky employers. They would receive a credit against that tax for the money they spend on behalf of health care for their employees.

Improving the Quality and Availability of Care

Consumers would have access to information, developed by the Health Care Authority, on providers' charges and the quality of health care they provide.

Medical education would be restructured in Kentucky to train more primary care/family practice physicians and to locate more physicians in medically underserved areas. There also would be a focus on training more physicians assistants, advanced registered nurse practitioners and nurse midwives. Incentives would be offered to encourage primary care/family physicians to locate in Kentucky.

To make sure all Kentuckians have access to quality care, the state Authority would work with local communities and providers to create networks for delivering health care services.

Additional Provisions

The use of seat belts would be mandatory.

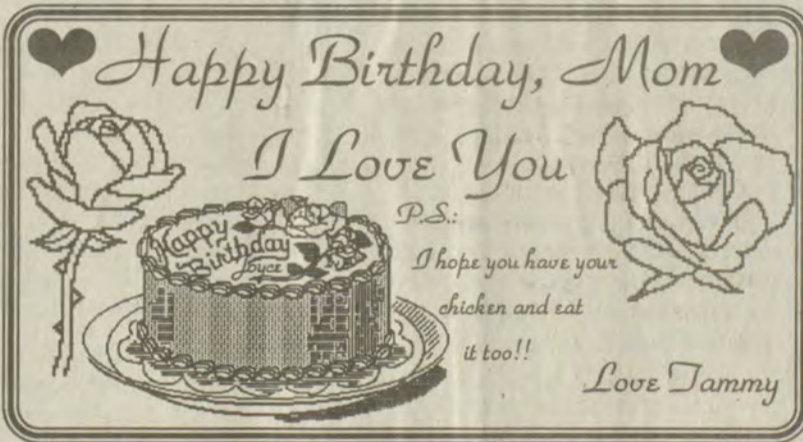

Taxes of up to a certain rate would be imposed on health care providers, ranging from 2 percent on physicians, dentists and others to 4 percent on hospitals and 5.5 percent on nursing facilities.

A person taken into custody on suspicion of being mentally ill and a danger to himself or others could no longer be put in jail. Rather, he would be taken to a hospital or psychiatric facility for evaluation.

Two injured

Traffic was halted Wednesday evening on U.S. 23/Route 460 after a two-car collision that injured two Johnson County men. Eddie Hazelette, of Hager Hill; and Dr. Ray DeGuzman, co-owner of the DeGuzman Clinic, were both transported to Highlands Regional Medical Center. Hazelette was treated and released. DeGuzman was admitted and is currently listed in good condition. (photo by Geoff Belcher)

Loans and grants available for waste tire projects

The Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet is now accepting applications for grants and low-interest loans for waste tire projects through the Waste Tire Trust Fund. A limited amount of funding is available for tire removal or control projects.

Businesses and individuals can apply for low-interest loans if they currently have recycling projects underway or have committed to purchase supplies and equipment or to hire personnel for recycling projects. Grants are available to cities, counties and urban-county governments.

Applications will be accepted from May 1 through June 30, 1993. Applicants must meet eligibility and application requirements.

Application packets are available from the Resource Conservation Section, Division of Waste Management, 14 Reilly Road, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

Police investigate death of man found at Pikeville motel

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Police are still investigating the mysterious circumstances surrounding the death of a Pike County man found outside a Pikeville motel room early Thursday morning.

According to a Pikeville Police Department spokesman, Pikeville Detective Ray Akers was dispatched to Pikeville's Landmark Inn at around 8:42 a.m. Thursday after a body was found lying between the motel and the Citizens Bank of Pikeville.

Akers arrived to find the body of Carl R. Roberts, 43, of Virgie, lying at the bottom of a stairway leading to one of the Landmark Inn's guest rooms, the spokesman said.

Roberts was pronounced dead at the scene by Pike County Coroner Charles M. Morris.

No further details are currently available, the spokesman said, pending further investigation.

Candidates set to "Meet the People" in Chamber forum

by Geoff Belcher
Staff Writer

Floyd County candidates for public office are busily shining their soapboxes in preparation for Tuesday's "Meet the People" candidates' forum at Jenny Wiley State Park as the days rapidly dwindle before the May primary election.

The forum, sponsored by the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce, has been designed to allow candidates for the offices of Floyd County magistrate and judge/executive to introduce themselves and their platforms to the voting public. Each candidate will be asked to state their respective positions on the issues of solid waste disposal, job creation and responsive government.

The event, to be moderated by Prestonsburg Community College professor Robert Looney, will be televised on Cablevision and WPRG.

The candidate's forum will be held Tuesday, May 4 at 6 p.m. at Jenny Wiley State Park's May Lodge. For information on how to participate in the event, please contact the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce office at 886-1341.

The forum is free and open to the public.

The Floyd County Times

Friday, April 30, 1993 A 8

Dear Joe & Shelley,
That's practically a childhood legend. Everyone has heard that you'd kill a butterfly (or a moth) if you rubbed the powder from its wings. But hardly anyone knows why it's actually true.

That powder is really tiny little shingles all over the wings - like scales. Without them, the moth or butterfly cannot control its flying. It dies because we've accidentally taken away its ability to find food and shelter.

This is a terrific thing to do a report on at school. You Can even make a model of a moth or butterfly wing out of just paper and tape.

More than they seem

WHAT YOU NEED:
Paper - scissors - tape - crayons

WHAT TO DO:
Cut lots of circles. Make them the size of a big coin, like a half-dollar. Then cut them in half. Color them any color you like.

MORE STUFF TO DO:

Tape a row of the half-circles across the bottom of another piece of paper. Start a new row above the first, moved over just a bit, like in this drawing. Keep going until the paper is filled. If you like, use the colors to make a pattern.

SO WHAT: Take your project to school and see if anyone can figure out what it's supposed to be. Tell them it's a butterfly wing. When they say you must be really dumb, pull out an encyclopedia and show them a picture to prove it. Blow air over the wing. What happens?

Butterflies - up close & personal

Some schools have microscopes. Some do not. If your school has one, take a moth or a butterfly to class to inspect under the lens. You'll think you're looking at a rooftop covered with shingles. The scales are only on the wing tops.

The scales help the moth or butterfly control the way air flows over its wings. Airplanes use flaps called ailerons (AY-leh-ronz) to do the same thing. If moths or butterflies can't fly right, they can't live - so they die.

P.S. from Beakman: All butterflies and moths have a fancy hair name - Lepidoptera (lep-eh-DOP-tur-ah). It's from 2 Greek words. It means scaly wings!

Touring Toyota

Betsy Layne High School students in Jennifer Little's applied communications classes recently had the opportunity to visit Toyota Motor Manufacturing in Georgetown. Sixteen students made the trip, which was funded by a grant from the University of Kentucky's Appalachian Center. Front row, from left: Travis Newman, Emmitt Hamilton, Ricky Gillespie, Jimmy Boyd, Ronald Mullins, Rita Hall, Michelle Lovett, Simon Boyd, Joey Mullins, Tim Hall, and Eileen Lewandowski of Prestonsburg Community College. Top row, from left: Jamie Robinette, Steve Mitchell, Michael Carroll, Tony Hamilton, Randy Justice and Craig Hall. Making the trip but not pictured: Doug Hammond.

Technology: The hub that binds KERA strands

The first Floyd County Schools Technology Showcase attracted approximately 500 people to the Wilkinson/Stumbo Convention Center on Monday, April 26.

"It was a huge success," said Harold Burchell, technology coordinator for the Floyd County Schools. "I would like to thank the principals, teachers, students, and citizens who made this showcase such a wonderful event."

Students from each of Floyd County's schools participated in the showcase, displaying computers, video equipment, and many other components of their technology programs.

Floyd County is "thought of very highly in technology circles," said Superintendent Dr. Stephen Fowler. The school board made a strong financial commitment to technology even before the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990 required schools to invest in technology.

"Technology is just another way to help people learn," said Dr. Fowler. "Floyd County has made a commitment to technology."

Burchell said technology is "the hub that ties all the other strands of KERA together."

The state has mandated a state-wide technology network, whereby classrooms will be connected with other classrooms in the same school, other schools, the central office, the state, and various libraries.

"We already have a network in every school," said Burchell. "All primary programs have access to technology. The labs at the newer schools are state of the art. We have several automated libraries now."

The technology program is designed to "train our young people for careers that don't even exist today," said Burchell.

Kids compute

by William T. "Bill Tom" Moore
Parents, this first column is for you. In my travels, I have run across many kids who love to use their parent's computers; mine are no exception. I have found a program that no computer owner should be without. The product is called At Ease.

At Ease is currently available only for the Macintosh operating system, but a version for Microsoft Windows is in the works. It is produced by Apple Computers and is available through retailers or by mail order.

This program allows children and adults, not familiar with computers to easily navigate through the computer's interface. All it takes to open a program or a file is the click of your mouse. At Ease is so easy to use that it took my 4 year old nephew only 10 minutes to learn to turn the computer on, open a drawing program, draw his mother a picture, and print it out. This program comes with "Mouse Practice," a program that teaches you to use the mouse effectively.

The beauty of this program is that your computer's desktop can not be disturbed and it uses less memory than the FINDER. The Trash Can is gone and your file folders will never be agitated again. To access the Finder, just go to the menu bar, click on FINDER and enter your password. It is that easy. With this program, you will never worry about the kids using the computer again.

Kids, parents, and teachers, if you have any computer-related questions, please call me at 886-3623 and I will try to answer them in this column.

Henry David Hicks was "star of the week" in his first grade class at the June Buchanan School. Terry Sizemore of the First Guaranty National Bank was David's special guest. David is the son of Jan and Cindy Hicks of Langley.

Harold Young Authors exhibit student work

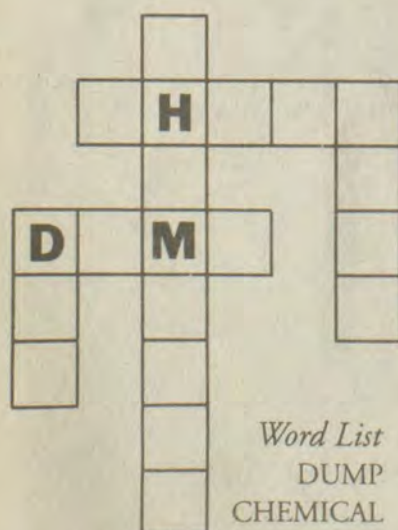

An exhibition of the books produced by the Harold Elementary School Young Authors was held at the school Tuesday, April 20. Parents and members of the community were invited to visit the exhibit between the hours of 5 and 6 p.m.

The theme of this year's exhibit was "Hats Off To Young Authors." Each student in school exhibited a book from the categories of illustrated, non-illustrated, poetry, skills, or graphics. More than three hundred books were written by students for the program.

Following the exhibit, the books will be judged to select the school winners. The school winners will compete in the countywide Young Authors Program. The Young Authors Program at Harold is under the direction of Kathy Dingus.

Although only six persons attended a Project 2001 meeting held recently at Jenny Wiley State Park Wilkinson/Stumbo Convention Center, participants readily discussed goals and objectives for future regional economic development. Those attending the meeting were Colleen Prater of Big Sandy ADD, Ted Stumbo, John Rosenberg, director of Appalachian Research and Defense Project, Dorothy Osborne, Jean Rosenberg, director of Single Parent and Homemaker Career Development Program at PCC and Chuck Stamper, 4-H extension agent. The next Project 2001 meeting will be 6 p.m., May 6, at the extension office on South Lake Drive. (Photo by Polly Ward)

Monroe and Nancy Adams

Adams celebrate 50th wedding anniversary

Monroe and Nancy Adams observed their 50th wedding anniversary at their home on the Mountain Parkway February 27. They were married March 3, 1943. The surprise occasion was given by their children. The cake was baked by their daughter-in-law, Charlotte Adams. Their daughter Charlene Baldrige and daughters-in-law Connie and Mary Adams assisted with the food preparation.

Many family members and friends enjoyed this happy occasion with Mr. and Mrs. Adams. Among the gifts received was a family plaque bearing their name and year they were married and the names of their six children: Charlene Baldrige, Terry Adams, Larry Adams, Donny Adams, Danny Adams and Paul Adams, along with each spouse's name and the names of all their grandchildren.

Quit-smoking with the patch

Our Lady of the Way Hospital will offer a three-session program called "Quit Smoking with the Patch".

The sessions will be held at the Betsy Layne Elementary School on May 20, 27 and June 1, from 6-7 p.m. The sessions will be held in the Family Resource Building adjacent to the gymnasium.

This program offers participants strategies for conquering smoking addiction using the nicotine replacement patch. It also teaches behavior modification and stress management, thereby enabling smokers to handle the problems they cite most often as obstacles to smoking cessation.

Rhonda Crisp RN, smoking cessation instructor, will offer information on the types of patches available and tips for successful cessation. A kit will be given to each participant which includes a free cassette on relaxation techniques.

The program cost is $20. Partial and full scholarships are available according to individual financial circumstances. A reduced cost of $15 is offered to students and senior citizens. Participants are asked to register by calling the Community Health Education Department at Our Lady of the Way Hospital at 285-5181, Ext. 388, between 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Local board announces food and shelter help

The Floyd County Emergency Food and Shelter Board announced at its April meeting allocations awarded for 1993.

The purpose of the announcement is to familiarize Floyd Countians with how federal funds from the Emergency Food and Shelter Program will be used to meet the needs of hungry and homeless people in Floyd County during 1993.

Floyd County's total Phase XI Grant was $23,142, of which only $463 may be used for administration. United Way of Eastern Kentucky is administering the funds and also acting as the fiscal agent for the county's food pantries.

The local board voted to spend $19,679 on food distributed through the county's food pantries. People in need of food should go to the pantry nearest to where they are living. The names of the pantries, their allotments and information on their services follow.

St. Vincent Mission, David, received $2,501. The pantry is open on Tuesdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Clients must call Sister Ida Marie Deville at 886-2513 before coming.

Mud Creek Clinic received $5,082. The Mud Creek Clinic pantry is open Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Clients may contact Eula Hall at 587-2200 or 587-2209.

Christian Service Ministries of Drift Presbyterian Church received $4,032. Clients should call Doreen Martin at 886-2342 between 10 a.m. and noon any weekday or Wednesday afternoon before coming to the pantry at the Drift Presbyterian Church.

The Wayland Food Pantry received $4,032. Its pantry, which is located in the Wayland Methodist Church, is open on Mondays from 6-8 p.m. Clients should call Genia Hall at 358-9328 before coming.

The Martin Branch Food Pantry, located in the former Bell Telephone Exchange Office at Estill, received $4,032. The pantry is open on Wednesdays from 1-3 p.m. Clients may contact Rebecca Patton at 358-4494.

The Floyd County Ministerial Association was awarded $3,000 to meet shelter needs; $2,000 to meet lodging needs of transients that could not be housed at the Prestonsburg shelter and $1,000 to provide rent assistance.

The board decided not to allot any money for utility assistance. Federal emergency food and shelter monies are intended to supplement existing services provided by established agencies and none of the agencies which applied for funds had the staff, time and financial set-up necessary to distribute the funds according to guideline.

The objectives of the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program is to allocate funds to the neediest areas, to ensure fast response, to foster public-private-sector cooperation, to ensure local decision-making and to maintain minimal, but accountable, reporting.

Floyd County's local board meets regularly to monitor the expenditures of funds. The next meeting is scheduled for 10 a.m. on Thursday, June 3 at St. Martha Catholic Church, Prestonsburg.

Board meetings are open to the public and interested individuals are encouraged to attend, especially those who are, or who have been homeless. Public law 102-550, the Housing and Community Development Act of 1992, will require local board to have a homeless or formerly homeless person among their membership in order to have their input and insight on decisions that affect their lives within the community in future phases of the program.

For more information about the local emergency food and shelter board, please contact Tina McFarland at 886-8985 or Gwen Hall at 874-9170.

Immunizations underway at health department

The Floyd County Health Department is stepping up efforts to immunize area children against childhood diseases.

The week of April 24-30 has been declared National Preschool Immunization Week, and health officials hope to raise parental awareness about the importance of shots for their babies and toddlers.

To achieve that goal, health department personnel are doing in-health screening of programs such as the well-child program and WIC, said Carrie Branham, with the health department. Branham said that she's finding the common age of Floyd County children not immunized is between two and five years old.

Before entering kindergarten, students must be immunized. Last year's figures indicate around 95.1 percent of children entering kindergarten were fully immunized — the highest immunization rate recorded for the state.

State law requires that all children receive a series of eight vaccines, which are confirmed upon school entry. To be fully immunized, a child must receive the full series of shots.

"School entry is the first opportunity for a formal, statewide check of children's immunization status," said Dr. Rice Leach, Health Services Commissioner. "So many parents seem to be under the misconception that shots can wait until closer to first grade entry. They couldn't be more wrong."

Branham said that the Floyd County staff is trying to clear up that misconception by explaining the importance of early childhood immunization.

Health officials insist that children should actually receive the required four DTP (diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis) vaccines, three polio shots and one MMR (measles, mumps, rubella) immunization by age two years. Health officials also recommend a series of Hib (Haemophilus influenzae type b) vaccines, not required by state law, by age 15 months.

"Many times, children will start out on the proper schedule," Leach said. "But something will happen along the way and they don't finish all of the necessary vaccines, so they do not have a lasting protection against the disease."

Leach estimated that only 65 percent of Kentucky two-year-olds have received the full series of immunizations on schedule.

"That percentage of adequately immunized two-year-olds lags far behind the goal of 90 percent immunized by the year 2,000," Leach said.

Lawyer's advice puts crimp in Governor's health care plan

by Becky L. Meadows
KPA News Bureau Director
The Kentucky General Assembly can mandate employers provide health care coverage for their employees, but it cannot specify what minimum health care benefits employers must provide, according to a lawyer who specializes in labor law.

Charles Miller, from the law firm Covington and Burling, testified before the Governor's Commission on Health Care Reform last week. His statements blew a hole in Gov. Brereton Jones' plan to impose a 16 percent payroll tax on businesses that do not provide health insurance coverage for their employees.

"So if an employer has a First Aid box and a bottle of aspirin, he can say, 'I provide a benefit so I'm exempt from the payroll tax,'" Rep. Marshall Long, D-Shelbyville, said.

Miller replied yes. "The state has no right to tell an employer he must offer a certain minimum benefit plan," Miller said.

Miller added the state can request employers provide a certain minimum benefit plan or their employees,

Arizona Moore

Arizona Moore, 77, died Wednesday, April 21, at Life Care Center in LaGrange, Indiana. She was the daughter of the late Ida and Booten Hamilton. She was preceded in death by her husband, Simon Moore in 1985. She was a member of the Little Flossie Regular Baptist Church in Kendallville, Indiana.

Survivors include two daughters, Brenda Messer of Hudson, Indiana, and Charlene Malone of Coldwater, Michigan; three sons, Nathional Moore of Stroh, Indiana, Earmal "Worm" Moore and DeMorris Moore, both of Bronson, Michigan; four sisters, Inias Keene of Plymouth, Ohio, Clara Mae Hobbs of Shelby, Ohio, Imogene Stumbo of Ironton, Ohio, and Edith Elliott of St. Petersburg, Florida; three brothers, Delmar Hamilton of Ironton, Ohio, Willie Hamilton of St. Petersburg, Florida, and Eldron Hamilton of Kopperston, West Virginia; 16 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were Friday, April 23, at 2 p.m., with the Pastor Birtchel Mosley officiating.

Burial was in the Trayer Cemetery in Bronson, Michigan.

Hester Prater Page

Hester Prater Page, 81, of Martin, died Wednesday, April 28, at the residence of her daughter, Pauline Vineyard of Burnswick, Ohio.

Born September 9, 1911 in Morgan County, she was the daughter of the late Pierce and Olga Salyers Prater. She was a nurses' aid and a member of the Martin Branch Freewill Baptist Church.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by one son, Billy Tom Joseph of Cleveland, Ohio; three brothers, Frank Prater of Prestonsburg, Paul Prater of Dickson, Tennessee, and Ralph Prater of Wayland; two sisters, Geraldine Thorpe and Wanda Lee Allen, both of Wayland; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Saturday, May 1, at 1 p.m., at the Hall Funeral Home chapel with the Clergyman Buddy Jones and others officiating.

Burial will be in the Richmond Cemetery in Prestonsburg under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

and the state can tell insurance providers the minimum insurance benefit plan they must provide.

Miller recommended the state set a minimum wage, then count what employers pay toward health care as part of that minimum wage.

"If the employer doesn't provide health care, then he has to pay the minimum wage," Miller said.

Late last week Gov. Jones said he is unsure when he will call a special session of the state General Assembly to amend or vote on his proposed health care plan. The governor's plan calls for universal coverage for all Kentuckians regardless of pre-existing conditions, and lower health care costs.

Similar names cause confusion

The Gary Wolfe Jr. of Emma Road, Prestonsburg, who was listed in the SuitsFiled section of the Floyd County Times, is not the Gary Wolfe of West Prestonsburg who is a candidate for the office of constable.

PRECIOUS MEMORIES

Last Saturday, my mother and I spent an enjoyable day at a luncheon in Richmond, Kentucky. The luncheon was in honor of the forthcoming marriage of our kinfolks daughter, Kelly Doyle, given by the groom's family. Driving down the Mountain Parkway enroute to the luncheon, my mother and I marveled at the beauty of the mountains; the mixture of colors from the red buds and wild crab apple trees in bloom added to the day.

In hopes of cutting our driving time, we took a shortcut and ended up in the middle of Irvine. This wouldn't have presented much of a problem except that the last weekend in April for Irvinians is the Mountain Mushroom Festival.

"Holy Toadstools, Mother," I lamented. "We're going to be late."

"I got up at 6 a.m."

"You've told me that three times already."

"If you'd gotten up at 6, we wouldn't have had to rush."

"Mom," I cried, "forget I mentioned it. We've got plenty of time. I still have time to brush my hair and polish my nails before we get there."

"Sara," mother announced brusquely, "when are you going to do that, when we're eating?"

I dismissed my mother's pessimism as our car continued inching its way through the traffic allowing us to arrive in Richmond just minutes before noon.

"Looks like I won't have time to do my nails," I said, as I hurriedly ran a brush through my hair.

"I got up at 6 a.m. so I would have time to fix my hair," Mom said, as she jumped out of the car.

While I ran a lift through my tangled hair, I thought about how my mother must think she raised a complete idiot. This thought was confirmed when I misted my eyes with hair spray and blinded myself.

Once Mother guided me inside the beautiful old Arlington Country Club where the luncheon was being held, I was genuinely glad I had subjected myself to my mom's ridicule.

"Well, if it isn't the late Sara Hopson," my friend Jean said.

"Like I always say, Jean," I added, "I'd much rather people say I'm late rather than, 'Boy, doesn't she look natural!'"

"Whatever. Come on and meet Kelly's in-law's."

As we rounded the corner in the hallway, we were greeted by a woman who was wearing a black hat and a huge smile.

"Hi! I'm Jeff's mother, Margaret, and I'm glad you came."

"We would have been here earlier," my mom said, as she shook Margaret's hand. "I got up at 6 a.m., but Sara..."

"Mom, drop it," I said, as I tried to hide my unpolished nails.

After the luncheon, we gathered in a room and watched as Kelly opened her gifts. At this point, "precious" became the definitive word of the day.

"Oh, a teapot!" Kelly cried as she

THE TIMES' WEEKEND

From the Mountains...

Doc Randall, The Medicine Man

by Jadon Gibson

Doc Randall, outfitted in antique clothing and top hat, is a page from the past. An old-fashioned medicine man, Doc Randall of Persia, Tennessee, isn't the first medicine man to hawk his wares in the tri-state area, only the most recent.

A hundred or more years ago it wasn't unusual for an occasional medicine man to ride into mountain towns in the region and hawk their elixirs, copper bracelets, warming bricks, backscratchers and other latest discoveries.

Doc Randall and his band of bluegrass musicians rides into town on a horse-drawn wagon. The music lures a crowd and, when the time is right, Doc begins his snake-oil salesmanship.

After a suitable location is found, a portable stage is quickly readied and Doc's wife, Mildred, and their band begin a musical performance on the guitar, banjo, mandolin, dulcimer, mouth harp, jug and tin washboard.

The musical renditions of Wildwood Flower, Under the Double Eagle, Down Yonder and other familiar standards adds to the crowd that gathers as the musical nomads ride into town.

Doc Randall mounts the stage amid much fanfare and begins extolling the benefits of his famous elixir which can be taken internally or externally and is guaranteed to cure every known ailment of man or beast.

"Come one, come all! Step right up folks and get a bottle of Doc Randall's Rootin' Tootin' Tonic. We've found the cure and we're now looking for ailments. It'll cure the blues, ingrown toenails, feeling single and seeing double."

"It's good for onions, bunions, corns and nubbins. It will make you three bottles of our tonic, they met on the steps and have been there ever since."

The actual ingredients of the famous Rootin' Tootin' Tonic are as much a secret as the secret herbs and spices of chicken fame, but Doc admits it contains no alcohol or preservatives.

Doc and Mildred make it in their kitchen from extract of sassafras roots and honey. Doc states that it is a well accepted fact that sassafras extract purifies the blood and regulates the body.

Rootin' Tootin' Tonic sells for one dollar per bottle and Doc and Mildred find it difficult to meet the demand. Doc's name, concoction and literature are protected by U.S. trademarks and copyrights.

Doc tells the crowd that he has a regular customer who has a wooden leg. "He has to carry a hatchet to keep the sprouts down," Doc grins as he pulls out a written testimonial.

"Here's one from a tobacco chewer who became so debilitated that he couldn't spit over this chin. He now walk, talk and crawl on your belly like a reptile. It will heal aches and pains and chills and is the best liver medicine on the market."

"We have here a testimonial from the family of a lady who took our tonic for her liver problem. She died at 97 but her liver lived on and stayed healthy for another ten years."

Doc Randall continues, "We have a testimonial here from a quarreling couple that had just about given up on living under the same roof. The husband lived in the cellar and the wife had moved to the attic. After just out with vim and vigor.

Doc Randall performs at numerous east Tennessee festivals and has appeared on Hee Haw and other TV programs. He is popular at legal and medical conventions.

If you see a performance by Doc you will be witnessing a performance of a bygone era. A sampling of Doc's Rootin' Tootin' Tonic may have you dancing a little jig to the sound of music.

Poperri

by Geoff Perry

Since the beautiful and lovely Kentucky towns of Beauty and Lovely crashed the national scene this week in People magazine as a sidebar to the publication's report on the world's 50 most beautiful people, we thought it only fair to give ugly equal time.

Abraham Lincoln, who was not only a Kentucky native but a former winner as well of the little known Face That Could Stop A Clock Award, once noted that homeliness was a trait that did not discriminate by race, creed or national origin.

"God," Lincoln wrote, "must have preferred common-looking people. That's why he made so many of them."

Another famous saying, which we'll attribute to famous ugly person Phyllis Diller whether she said it or not, suggests that while beauty is only skin deep, "ugly goes to the bone." In Phyllis's case, ugly probably goes all the way to her DNA.

But that's neither here nor there. What we want to do is give credit where credit is due so, here goes our list of the world's five most ugly people:

- Teddy Kennedy. The red-schnozzed senator from Massachusetts wasn't bad looking until his liver applied for unemployment.
- Pete Rose. Hey Petey, even the Beatles don't wear their hair like that anymore.
- Michelle Pfeiffer. Ha, ha. Just seeing if you were paying attention.
- Grandpa Munster. Be careful, you wanna put somebody's eye out with that nose?
- Hillary Clinton. Sorry First Ms. Those eyebrows gotta go.

Now, to round out our presentation, we have to feature a small town which has a name to complement our theme.

Where else could we go but to Big Ugly, West Virginia, a small town made famous by newscaster Bob Smith, who is second only to Mr. Cartoon in regional TV name recognition?

Smith likes to tell of the time when he was a rookie reporter, assigned to cover a story in that oddly named town.

His lead for the story? "Big Ugly woman charged with burglary."

Bet he got some calls on that one.

Y'all may not have noticed it, what with it being given very little media attention and all, but last week a bunch of heavily-armed psychotics claiming to be the children of God—"Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition, say amen"—iced themselves.

Now, before you get excited, I'm not gonna make all the usual, tasteless remarks that regular readers (if, in fact, there are any) have come to expect from me. The words "barbecue," "charcoal briquets," and/or "Waco fire sale" will escape neither my lips nor my computer keyboard.

However, this whole episode has had some very disturbing repercussions that have affected me so deeply that I feel I would be remiss in my duties to you, the reading public, if I failed to comment upon them.

What I'm referring to, of course, is that now THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IS ON TRIAL BECAUSE A WHOLE HERD OF DERANGED, UZI-BEARING LUNATICS WENT BALLISTIC!!!

They've brought in all these "experts" and "psychologists" and "congressmen" who keep saying

Truth, Justice, and the American Way

witty, clever things like "Oh, the FBI should have waited a little longer," or "Oh, that Janet Reno and Bill Clinton are ultimately responsible for this whole sorry mess," or "Oh, those poor, poor little barbecued charcoal briquets at the Waco fire sale!"

Yes, people died. Yes, some of those people were children who had no control over what was being done to them. Yes, it is very sad. If it were up to me, people would never die, but they do. Death is the number one fact of life. Get over it.

But honestly, does anyone really think David Koresh would have let it end any other way? He didn't call the place "Apocalypse Ranch" for nothin', ya know.

The man organized an ambush that killed four federal agents. What were the feds supposed to do, say "Gosh, Dave. That was a good'n. Ya really got us that time. Well, we gotta go now. Just promise ya'll stay in there an' not kill nobody else like a good little psycho, okay?"

What kind of example would that have set? Every nut bar in the country would've said "Cool, now all we gotta do is put up a fence an' call ourselves a religion an' we're in bidness. Now where's them forty-sebbun wives?"

No, the biggest mistake the government made was waiting so long. The minute those agents were shot, they should've had a hundred guns on David Koresh ready to drop him like a bad habit.

But "oh, the humanity. Oh, the tragedy."

The only real tragedy here is that people with small children were weak, foolish and/or desperate enough to believe that a blasphemy-spouting, gun-toting egomaniac with a bad perm was the new messiah.

I mean, what was going on in these people's heads? Where exactly in the Bible does it say "Thou shalt goeth forth and, using thy fully-automatic weapons, snuffeth thy government flunkies?"

Now correct me if I'm wrong, but I'm reasonably sure that the Good Book is pretty explicit when it tells us to be fruitful and multiply. I don't think there's a single verse in there that says anything about wanting us to subtract.

Where exactly in the Bible does it say "But it's all the government's fault. It's Janet Reno's fault. Bill Clinton's the president, so he's ultimately responsible."

Sure things could've been handled differently. Sure Bill Clinton's "ultimately responsible." He's also, technically, ultimately responsible for the lives and livelihoods of every man, woman, child, dog, cat and pet sea monkey in the country. You don't blame the president every time a goldfish dies.

The same logic that leads you to believe it was all Clinton's fault should lead you to realize that ultimately, the president is only an employee of the American people, so as his immediate supervisors, we bear the ultimate responsibility. It's society's fault.

Sounds pretty goofy, huh? Personally, I prefer to blame it all on Barney, the purple dinosaur.

That stupid song could drive anybody nuts.

ALL MY CHILDREN: Mimi told a delighted Derek she's pregnant and intended to keep her baby. Asked if he would marry her, Derek said yes. While Terrence and An Li were expressing their love for each other, someone threw a garbage can through his window. Tom and Livia believed it was just a teenage prank until Terrence confessed he had spray painted over a racial epithet scrawled on their wall. Opal told Tad, Palmer was using Brian to keep him and Dixie apart. When Tad confronted Brian, Dixie intervened and ordered Tad out of her life. After learning of the Palmer/Brian alliance, she then tried to find Tad. Maria told Trevor a simple operation will restore full use of his arm. Natalie was upset by the news, because it meant an early return to the police force. Wait To See: Tom realizes his family is in terrible danger.

ANOTHER WORLD: Rachel introduced Ian Rain to Amanda, Paulina, and Iris as the new Cory groundskeeper. Jake suggested Spencer invest in a charitable trust to cover his takeover of Cory Enterprises. Felicia tried to stay sober during her first session with Victor. Cass realized her testimony would hurt Frankie. Ryan insisted to Brett that he really wanted to continue their relationship. Vicky was shaken when Grant suggested they have a child. Dennis worried about Iris' future with Hank. Vicky had a nightmare about being alone in a cave with a stranger whose face she couldn't see. Jenna and Dean mourned the loss of their child together. Wait To See: Christy realizes she must do something quickly to counter the information Cass and Frankie now have about her.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Before proposing to Neal, Scott wondered if she thought he might be involved in Michael's death. Debbie told Hutch she was carjacked. Margo overheard Joe tell Tom the identity of the secret witness in the Harper case. Mac and Nancy resisted making changes in their lifestyle when Bob and Kim Hughes offered helpful suggestions. Iva decided not to spend time with John while he was seeing Lucinda. Cal told Kim, Jeffrey was embezzling from WQAK. Hilary visited Holden and told him he needed to resolve his feelings for Lily one way or another. Emily saw Lily in Rome. Wait To See: Neal realizes Lucinda may be getting too close to the secret she shares with Royce.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Eric was stunned when Steve Crown told him that because Brooke was not a Forrester employee, nor did she take payment for her work, it was she—not Forrester—who owned the process for Belief. Ridge was stunned to learn Stephanie knew about the time he and Brooke made love on the lab floor. Sheila panicked when Ridge told her Eric was stopping in Genoa City while on a business trip to Chicago. Sally told Macy she had arranged for her and a lawyer to meet with Thorne and his lawyer. Later, Macy received a flower box containing one rose and an unsigned poem. Sly realized that Keith was the sender, and he warned Keith he'll fire him if he doesn't stay away from Macy. Wait To See: Macy's drinking takes her to the edge of catastrophe.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Marlena persuaded Carrie (who had found the home pregnancy test kit) not to tell Roman until a doctor confirmed the results. When her resolve was shaken by seeing the growing closeness between John and Rebecca, she found herself in front of an abortion clinic. Lawrence ordered Taylor to get rid of Mitch for good. Sami remembered where she'd seen Lucas—at the rock star's concert. Realizing Kate would be furious if she found out, Lucas swore Sami to secrecy. Kate was unable to make Jack a potential ally in a power struggle with Victor when Jack declined to stay on as editor of Spectator. With investments from Alice and Maggie, Billie began to turn Charlie's cold cream formulas into a gold mine. Wait To See: Lawrence issues another potentially devastating order.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Jessica astounded Ryan as she attempted to nail him for murder, while Sean, Mac, and Felicia worked hard to support her ruse. Bobbie warned Tiffany not to take her new pills with alcohol. After Jenny told all about her affair with Senator Kensington on Tiffany's show, she and Paul relaxed, while Tracy plotted with Marco to cut their respite time. Despite her illness, Dominique persuaded Tony to let her spend an evening at home with Scott and Lucy. Karen wasn't sure about accepting a college offer far away from Jagger. After Alan failed (again) to make love to Monica, she felt something was very wrong between them! Wait To See: Monica begins to investigate Alan's "problem."

GUIDING LIGHT: Billy and Dylan were sure they knew who was behind the attempt to publicly smear H.B. Nadine felt remorseful over Buzz's role, ditto Buzz, who was shocked at the way his information was used. Blake tried to persuade Hart to accept being Roger's son, but he refused his half-sister's plea. Mallet saw Buzz's tattoo on Harley's old videotape, and found him at Lewis Oil just as he prepared to leave town. Eve's reaction to Nick's statement that he was breaking up with her turned into a chilling scene. Wait To See: Nadine faces a crisis when Billy comes close to learning about Peter.

LOVING: Clay promised Dinah Lee he'll stay out of her life with Curtis. Ava suspected Shana was pregnant, but assumed the father was a sperm donor until Shana let slip that Leo fathered her child. Leo admitted all, but Ava decided she would hold on to him at all costs. Curtis and Buck realized they knew each other from before. Ally had insurance problems, but Isabelle wouldn't allow Cooper to cover her expenses unless he married Ally. Kate and Louie resolved to put their own lives first. Wait To See: It becomes more evident that Buck may know something that Curtis would rather keep hidden.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Afraid to have the lump in her breast biopsied, Dorian got drunk and spent the night with Jason. Mort was kidnapped from jail by the Mulligan gang and brought to Moose's widow, Gert, who planned to kill him. Cord was tormented by memories from Jaba. Renee brought Wilma to Hank, who agreed to drop charges against her in exchange for Mori's whereabouts. Hank, Renee, Wilma and Alex saved Mortimer just in time. Wilma then revealed that Mort and Carlo were identical twins. Max and Luna fought over the oil on their land. Mary was upset by a call from her Aunt Kiki. Wait To See: Cord's emotional outburst grows more intense.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Paul rushed Brad to the courthouse where he asked Traci for more time before she signs the divorce papers. When she agreed, the judge granted a 30-day postponement. Cricket told Danny it was time to start a family. Rex unsuccessfully tried to get Kay to cancel her passage on the same ship Jill and John were planing to take. When Mamie told John, Jill didn't look well, John canceled the trip (to Jill's delight). Meanwhile, unaware that the Abbotts weren't on board, Kay happily sailed off. Lauren was puzzled by Eric Forrester's decision to meet with her. Wait To See: A bombshell is about to go off for John.

COP AND A HALF

After a long stint as a sex object, Burt Reynolds faded into relative obscurity due to health problems. He found his career revitalized with the hit TV show, "Evening Shade." Now, he's back on the big screen, and he couldn't have found a better vehicle.

Reynolds portrays Nick McKenna, a cynical, seen-it-all Tampa, Fla., policeman. His career is his life, and it's obvious there's no one particularly special in it. Maybe it's because he doesn't really like kids all that much.

So, how does McKenna wind up with an 8-year-old "partner?" Devon Butler (Norman D. Golden II) is the little boy. He's positively obsessed with anything related to cops. He intends to be one someday, and he figures a little practice right now couldn't hurt. Thus, he spends his time in school jumping out at people from behind trees, etc., making "arrests" with his squirt gun, and generally being a pest. At home, he's the despair of his grandmother (Ruby Dee) who just can't get him to stop watching cop shows and courtroom dramas. The kid even carries a notebook around to jot down "clues."

It's because of that notebook, his path collides with McKenna. The boy witnesses a crime and manages to write down the license plate number of the getaway car. When he's questioned at the police station, he won't cooperate unless the cops allow him to become one of them. McKenna balks, but to no avail. He soon finds himself in a squad car saddled with an 8-year-old partner.

The chemistry between Reynolds and Golden is wonderful. They are a great team, funny and poignant all at once. Watching them, it's hard to believe Golden is so young. He comes off like a real pro, and it looks as if he'll have a promising future in show business.

Henry Winkler did a wonderful job directing this film. He has a touch for this type of light-hearted family fare, and that's good for us. We could use more movies to which we can take our children without fear of gratuitous sex or violence.

Dear Abby

Welcome mat wears thin for frequent houseguests

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have friends who moved away from our neighborhood a year and a half ago. They have children who are exactly the same ages as ours, 3 and 5 years old.

The problem is this: In the last year and a half, these neighbors have returned "home" 18 times, and they have stayed with us. Their visits last anywhere from two days to a week.

I am tired of running a motel. I think two visits a year is sufficient hospitality on my part, and I do not want them staying any more than that.

My wife thinks I am being unreasonable—that other husbands would not object to having houseguests that often.

This is coming between my wife and me, and we are arguing about it constantly. Sign me ...

WANTS OUT OF THE BED AND BREAKFAST BUSINESS

DEAR WANTS OUT: I agree with you—18 visits in a year and a half are about 14 or 15 visits too many—depending on how long the visits are. It's your home, too. Three three-day visits a year would be very generous on your part. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: As a police officer I am constantly surprised by what some people say and do.

Just last week, while en route to a call, I stopped at a traffic light in rush-hour traffic, when the driver of the car next to me signaled to get my attention. As I turned to see what he wanted, the first thought that crossed my mind was that he wanted to complain about the traffic, tell me that someone had cut him off, or make some negative comment.

Instead, he told me that he had seen a Memphis, Tenn., officer on the TV show "COPS" who said it would be nice to get an occasional "thank-you"—and all he wanted to say was, "Thank you!"

Catching me completely off guard, the only response I could come up with was—"Thank you."

He and his family continued on in the rush-hour traffic journey, and I went to my call.

We both left with smiles on our faces and feeling good inside. Police stories like this will never make "COPS," but it certainly made my day a better one.

A PHOENIX COP

DEAR PHOENIX COP: I hope this letter will put many more smiles on the faces of cops—and their families. They deserve it.

DEAR ABBY: I do not feel that "Vaccillating in California," who cared for her alcoholic husband alone, should leave her two daughters out of her will because they could not find it in their hearts to forgive their father. ("He did it to himself," is the way they put it.)

"Vaccillating" was an adult who made the choice to stay with a substance abuser, thereby assuring that her children grew up with an alcoholic parent. They had no say in the matter of how their childhood was spent. They may have suffered even more anguish, disappointment and embarrassment than their mother did. It seems almost as if she is unforgiving (of them) as well.

There is $400,000 involved and if she cannot bring herself to leave an inheritance to her daughters, why not form an endowment for their children? Surely, some of the estate should stay in the family.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't twiddle your thumbs this week. Let that creativity surge and cultivate what is passionate in your life. The end of the work week could feel like a party, and if you play your cards right, it could be just that.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be willing to ask for what you want. Being shy just doesn't cut it right now. In fact, the more explicit you are, the more interesting your week will be. Keep your cool once you put in your request.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful with spending this week. You will be a very happy camper if you do. Examine what you have put out to others. Friends, associates and loved ones give you powerful feedback. Do make time to catch up on all the gossip this weekend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Let your personality glow, and the world glows with you. You can have what you want, though be ready to negotiate when it comes to money. Again, use the power of optimism. You need to let off steam this weekend.

LEO (July 23-August 22) Be more in touch with your needs, desires and bottom-lines. This week you discover all you have to do is ask and you shall receive. This weekend, indulge yourself and, perhaps, one of those you've given your "terms" to.

VIRGO (August 23-September 22) You can wish upon a star, but be prepared for a certain amount of flak midweek. It looks as if you set yourself up for the problems that are now popping. Be ready to do some soul-searching and "clearing out." The more centered you are, the better the end results.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22) Take the lead here and now, and you can get whatever you want. Be ready for an onslaught of popularity. Make plenty of time for celebration, joy and parties. "Veg" all weekend and replay all the recent events.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21) Reach out for another at a distance and get the expert information you need. You could be on a pedestal by the weekend. Congratulate yourself on a job well done. Flak occurs when another gets jealous. Expect to party and whoop it up all weekend long.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21) Aren't you the romantic? However, you may be playing it a little too wildly. Partnership matters are up for grabs. You can believe one thing you need to zero in on what you want. Money only causes intensified debates this week.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 19) Let others call the shots this week. Let them get intense and needy if they have to. Now's the time to explore different offers, different alternatives. You take off for a week-

"Wait, until you see what goes with that," one of Kelly's in-law aunts stated, "it's precious, too."

"You should have seen Kelly and Jeff when they were talking about this shower," the groom's mother added. "They were just precious."

"Oh, look," Kelly's grandmother said as another present was opened. "It's a bird cage. Isn't that precious?" "Yes, it is precious we all agreed." "It's a precious little birdhouse," Kelly added.

Needless to say, everything was precious except for me, and I would have been precious had I gotten up earlier.

The best part of all was that everyone at the luncheon was accompanied by their mothers. Kelly had her mother, and Kelly's mother's mother was there. Kelly's father's mother was also there, and she brought her daughter. Kelly's mother-in-law to be was there with her three precious sisters, and their mother. Since it's so close to Mother's Day, it was a perfect time to think about how precious moments with our mother's are.

It was a precious day indeed.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

POLICE BLOTTER

-- In December in Troy, N.Y., Todd W. Bariteau Sr., 32 pleaded guilty to robbing, for the second time, a store called Deja Vu. In the second robbery, he broke through the same window, and stole some of the same kinds of merchandise that he had stolen in the earlier theft.

-- David Bridges, 24, was arrested in Grapevine, Texas, in January and charged with stealing a television set from a home. That getaway had been successful, but he was caught and arrested after he went back to the home because he had neglected to take the remote control.

-- In separate incidents on the same evening in December in Springfield, Ill., two pedestrians (one in a wheelchair) were hit by cars, sent to local hospitals, and then ticketed by police for "being in a roadway."

-- Church employee Rene Cantu, 26, was sentenced to eight years in prison in Dallas in January after he confessed to having stolen $240,000 from collection plates over a three-year period.

SMOOTH REACTIONS

-- Upset with the recent proposal of Connecticut Gov. Lowell Weicker to reduce state assistance to parochial schools, the principal of one of them, in Derby, Conn., Sister Linda Joseph, said in February, "I would pray that he burns forever in the fires of hell."

-- A 36-year-old man in Chesterfield Township, Mich., was charged in January with assault and battery after brandishing a rifle and barricading himself in his home with his wife and son and a family friend. Police said the incident started when the son, age 10, became flutulent while watching TV in the home. The father got angry at the boy, and then at the wife and friend, respectively, when they defended the boy.

-- In October, Kurt Allensworth, 29, led L.A. police on a 100-mph chase on the San Diego Freeway before they stopped him. Police began the chase when they saw him make an illegal U-turn in Van Nuys; when the chase ended, according to the tape of a radio reporter who happened to be at the scene, Allensworth immediately blurted out that it was he who had committed a recent drug-related murder.

-- Darren Katryen, 18, was sentenced to probation in Toronto in October for arming himself with five butcher knives and a baseball bat and stalking his 16-year-old sister at her school, after threatening to kill her. She had made the mistake of wearing his socks without his permission.

-- In response to a complaint from students, a 37-year-old substitute teacher in St. Louis admitted to authorities in November that he had indeed held an 11-year-old boy out of a fourth-floor window to punish him for having spilled the teacher's coffee, but said the whole thing was a joke. The teacher was later dismissed.

-- In March, wealthy Italian art school director Rupert Hodson, ending a hotel stay in Lille, France, but finding himself momentarily short of cash to pay the bill, left the key to his Bentley as collateral while he took a taxi to a bank to get money. When the bank couldn't get his money quickly, the taxi driver forced Hodson into the car and took him to the police station. Furious, Hodson later returned to the hotel and attempted to buy it so he could fire the manager who had forced him to produce the cash in the first place. After that was unsuccessful, Hodson drove the Bentley through the front door of the hotel's restaurant, causing $7,500 in damage.

THE WEIRDO-AMERICAN COMMUNITY

Police in Chandler, Ariz., said that Wilputte Alanson Sherwood, a priest who was recently arrested and charged with sex crimes against teenage boys, kept videotapes and meticulous logs of his adventures that reveal that since 1984, he had picked up exactly 3,908 men and boys along local freeways (a rate of at least 1.18 per day) and taken 1,840 of them to his home.

LEAST COMPETENT PERSON

Jackie T. Stipes was arrested in Johnson City, Tenn., in January and charged with burglary. His plans were thwarted when, attempting to enter the house, he got stuck in the dog door and was discovered by the homeowner.

INEXPLICABLE

Psychology professor Russell Carney of Southwest Missouri State University told the Associated Press in August that he had developed a method for improving memory and told the reporter how he could recall, say, that a particular painting was done by Degas in 1865. First, think of an object that sounds like "Degas" (day-GAH), for example, "dagger," and then memorize the last two digits of the year by learning the sentence "Twin new moons rose low, just clearing four pine saplings," in which the first word begins with a T and stands for "1," the second, N, stands for "2," and so on. Thus, 1865 becomes "65," which becomes "just" "low," which could translate to J-L, which could be "jelly," which would produce a "jelly dagger," to which the subject tries to find a resemblance, somewhere, in the Degas painting. Simple as that.

Hackworth tosses four-hitter, Tucker homers in 3-2 Prestonsburg win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

What happens when two of the top district teams meet on the diamond for a good old fashioned game of high school baseball? Excitement! Jason Hackworth of Prestonsburg and Betsy Layne's Derrick Newsome hooked up in a good hardball pitchers' duel with Hackworth coming out on the long end of the stick. Hackworth went the distance for Coach Russell Shepherd's squad and came away with a 3-2 victory over the Bobcats. Betsy Layne had problems solving the young righthander as he made his first appearance on the hill for the Blackcats. Hackworth, a freshman, allowed the Bobcats only three hits while striking out four. He did experience some control problems -- walking six batters and hitting one. However, he managed to get off the hook just when Betsy Layne seemed set to reel him in off the mound.

Coach Shepherd was patient with Hackworth and his patience paid off. Prestonsburg needs the long ball to determine the outcome of this game. Derrick Newsome, who suffered the setback, certainly pitched well enough to win, was the victim of Tucker's long drive over the left field fence in the fifth inning with two-out. Newsome had retired Ryan Ortega on a fly ball to Barry Collins in center and got Sean Damron on strikes. He worked Tucker for a 2-1 count and came back with a fastball inside that

Tucker turned on and drove out of the park to give Prestonsburg the 3-2 lead. Betsy Layne was its own worst enemy. They left 10 runners stranded as the middle of the order failed to execute on offense. Early errors opened the way for Prestonsburg to score two runs in the first two innings for a 2-0 lead. Seth Hyden, who left the game, singled to start the game and went to second on an throwing error by second baseman Brandon Castle. Hyden scored the unearned run on a fielder's choice off the bat of Tucker. In the second inning, a one-out base hit by Jason Crisp and an error on third baseman Barry Clark led to the second unearned run. Betsy Layne loaded the bases on Hackworth in the fifth and looked like they were ready to break the game open after tying it in the fourth. Clark drew a one-out walk and touched second and third on two wild pitches from Hackworth. On a good

Ratliff, Poston stifle Wheelwright Trojans on four hits in 9-3 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Wheelwright Trojans are still looking for their first win of the high school baseball season after dropping an 8-3 contest to the Prestonsburg Blackcats Tuesday evening at Brackett Field in Wheelwright. Prestonsburg starter Thomas Ratliff and reliever C.D. Poston combined for a four-hitter as the Blackcats posted their sixth victory of the season.

Poston entered the game in the top of the fourth inning with the score tied at 3-3. He hurled the final four innings to earn the victory.

Poston did not allow a hit through the four innings he worked but control problems and errors got him into trouble in the fourth when Wheelwright loaded the bases.

Ratliff allowed the three runs in three innings of work and he gave up all four hits.

The Blackcats got some excellent defensive play from third baseman Seth Hyden. Hyden also had a very active bat, collecting two hits and driving in a run.

Prestonsburg snapped the 3-3 tie in the fourth inning when they pushed home two runs on four consecutive singles off Wheelwright starter Chad Allen.

Jason Crisp bunted for a one-out bunt hit to start the fourth. Crisp moved to second on a catcher's overthrow. Designated hitter Robbie Risner followed with a single to score Crisp and Jason Burke collected his second hit of the game by grounding into center field, scoring Risner who was running with the pitch.

Prestonsburg scored twice in the fifth inning and plated two in the sixth.

Aaron Tucker and Anthony Howell each collected three hits in the game. Tucker tripled in the third, driving in Sean Damron who had reached on an error. Tucker later scored on Howell's RBI single.

Tucker three-bagger was a gapper to left center that rolled to the fence that separates the football field from a residential area. Tucker could only make it to third base as the Trojan outfield retrieved the ball quickly.

Howell had three runs batted in while Tucker picked up two RBIs. Tucker scored three times in the game, getting basehits in the fifth and sixth innings.

After Howell's third inning base hit scored Tucker, Ratliff roped a base hit to center with Howell getting the green light from third base coach Craig Tucker. Charles Johnson had the ball at the plate waiting for Howell. "We'll just call that an error on Craig," said coach Russell Shepherd. Howell doubled in the fifth inning and singled in the sixth driving in runs with both hits.

Poston overcame his fourth inning wildness after becoming disgusted with himself for loading the bases. He settled down and mixed his pitches well, keeping Wheelwright off stride.

Poston got the first two batters he faced in the top of the inning but an error at shortstop off the bat of Charles Johnson put a runner at first.

Poston then hit Kevin Johnson on a 3-2 pitch and walked Allen to fill the bases. He came back and got Muntu Oden on strikes to end the threat.

Poston got the Trojans in order in the fifth with a good throw by catcher Aaron Tucker to nail Clyde Johnson at second on a steal attempt.

Two excellent stops at third base by Hyden kept the Trojans off the bases in the sixth and Poston retired the side in order in the seventh.

Allen did not pitch as badly as the 9-5 score would indicate. Allen mixed his pitches well, making his fast ball look more lively.

The lefthander fanned nine Blackcats and got the first five men he faced until Hyden singled with two out in the second.

Prestonsburg started timing his fast ball from the third frame on. Since he could not get his offspeed pitches over, he was ripped for 14 hits. Allen only walked one batter and that came in the sixth inning.

Kevin Johnson had two hits for Wheelwright. Two of the Wheelwright's three runs scored on wild pitches by Ratliff.

Risner and Burke finished with two base hits for the Blackcats. Each had one RBI. Risner had a seventh inning double.

Ratliff had five strikeouts and he walked five in giving up three earned runs. He faced 18 men, allowing four hits.

Allen faced 36 batters with nine strikeouts and one walk in going the distance.

Prestonsburg will host McDowell tonight with the game being played at the Allen field.

Tackett places first in women's discus for Wheelwright

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Wheelwright track and field coach Keith Smallwood is pleased with the way his girls' track and field team had progressed in only their first year of competition.

"I am extremely pleased with the output of these girls," said Smallwood. "This was only their second track meet and they scored 47 points, compared to 20 points in their first one."

Wheelwright took part in last Thursday's meet at Pikeville where Lori Tackett for the second straight week won first place in the women's discus throw. Tackett had a toss of 78' 8" to capture the top spot.

"I am extremely pleased with the output of these girls. This was only their second track meet and they scored 47 points, compared to 20 points in their first one."

-- Coach Keith Smallwood

Teammate Tiffany Compton took fourth place in discus with a throw of 71' 9". Compton finished second in the women's shot put by a half an inch. Compton's throw of 28' 1 1/2" just missed being the top throw.

"Tiffany has come a long way for us," said Smallwood. "She is looking real good in the shot put."

Crystal Isaac continues to show improvement as she placed second in the women's high jump. Isaac had a leap of 4' 2" for second place. Melissa Tackett placed fifth at 4 feet even.

Jennene Fields took fifth place in the women's long jump and placed

Stumbo clears hurdles for first place in Pikeville meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central girls' track and field team seemed to be their old selves in last Tuesday's track and field meet at Pikeville's Bob Amos Park.

Coaches Dewey Jamerson and Forrest Hughes saw a different team and a familiar finish in the meet.

Lisa Stumbo is beginning to build a reputation as an excellent hurdles runner as she took first place in the women's 100 hurdles. Stumbo posted a 21:42 for first place and finished third in the 300 hurdles. She had a time of 1:00.40 in the 300.

Pam Goble placed fourth in the 100 hurdles with her time of 21:95.

Perhaps the most exciting race came in the women's 1600 relays when Jenny Wiley's kick on the final turn to help her team complete the relays at 4:54.05.

Allen Central trailed by as much as 35 to 40 yards until the third leg when they closed to about 20 yards. Wiley, the fourth stick carrier, passed a Fleming-Neon runner about halfway through the fourth turn and brought the race home.

"It was the best run of the night," said an elated Jamerson. "Neon's coach thought if they could get out by 30 yards they couldn't be caught."

The relay team consisted of Wiley, Crystal Floyd, Anne Harvey and Dreama Isaac.

The 3200 meter relay team did well. The team finished second with a time of 12:16.05. The foursome included Jessica Wade, Missy Goble, Anne Harvey and Dreama Isaac.

Sixth place went to Allen Central's 800 meter relay team. The four runners finished in 2:16.07 for the sixth spot. Evelyn Howard, Lisa Stumbo, Greta Halbert and Dreama Isaac formed the foursome.

The 400 meter relay team did not place but had a time of 1:05.04. The team consisted of Evelyn Howard, Greta Halbert, Dreama Isaac and Janet Miller.

"You should have seen the look she gave me after the 100-meter run."

-- Dewey Jamerson

The real Jessica Wade stood out in the women's 3200 meter run. Wade coasted into first place with her time of 13:46.09.

While Wade ran the race effortlessly, Mary Baldrige was impressive in her 3200 meters, when she placed fourth overall, a finish that pleased Jamerson.

"She knocked off 15 to 20 seconds on her time," he said. "If she can get it down to about 15:30 she can go to the state meet. It was her fastest time."

Missy Goble placed sixth in the run with a time of 17:53.22.

Wade placed first in the 800 meter run at 2:52.64. Missy Goble ran in at 3:06.06 for fourth place and Anne Harvey was sixth at 3:10.30.

Wiley ran out of familiar surroundings when she was asked to do the 100 meter dash -- an event she had never competed in before.

Wiley posted a time of 14.23 in

Wells takes first in discus as Allen Central boys win meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

For the first time in a long time the Allen Central boys' track and field team is starting to show some of what they promised last year.

Allen Central captured the Pikeville meet last Tuesday with 101 points.

Levi Wells, an eighth grader at Maytown Elementary, was one of the promising athletes from last year that Coach Dewey Jamerson was looking for to compete in discus, along with Shawn Robinson.

Wells had his longest toss of his career when he threw for 112' 8" to take first place. Teammate Robinson placed second with a throw of just over 110 feet.

Jamerson sees this event as a confidence booster for the young Wells. "It has to help him," said the Allen Central coach. "It will be a big boost to his confidence. His first throw was his longest. He was really excited."

Chris Bailey was the third Rebel discus thrower and he finished with a toss of 76' 9". Bailey is also a student at Maytown.

Kevin Patton didn't have a repeat performance from last week in the long jump but he did place second with a leap of 18' 7". Last week, Patton went over 19 feet on all three attempts.

"It has to help him," said the Allen Central coach. "It will be a big boost to his confidence. His first throw was his longest. He was really excited."

-- Coach Dewey Jamerson

"It was a warm day," Coach Jamerson said of Patton's performance. "When it is cool, he jumps better but doesn't run well. On warm days it's just the opposite, he runs better but doesn't jump well."

Chris Halbert posted a jump of 17' 5" in the long jump for sixth place. Dave Gilliam and Ronnie Samons competed in the shot put but did not place.

Patton set a new school record in the triple jump but it still wasn't good enough to place. Patton had a jump of 38' 6". Gary Webb recorded a jump

Tigers score five in eighth to hand Bobcats 10-5 loss

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Betsy Layne Bobcats (9-5) entertained the Paintsville Tigers Tuesday night in a rematch of the Hillbilly Classic. Betsy Layne defeated Paintsville 2-0 in the Pikeville showdown.

Betsy Layne rallied from five runs down to send the game into extra innings. Paintsville scored five runs in the top of the eighth to defeat the Bobcats 10-5.

Barry Clark recorded a no-decision for Betsy Layne, working seven innings. Clark allowed five runs on four hits, striking out four, walking five and hitting one batsman.

Scott Ousley took the loss for the Bobcats in one inning of work. Ousley allowed five runs on two hits and four walks.

Morgan Cyrus picked up the win for the Tigers in going the distance. Cyrus gave up five runs on 10 hits, struck out 12 and walked two.

Paintsville took an early lead, scoring four runs in their half of the first. Paintsville's first four batters scored as the Bobcats booted four balls in the first inning.

Betsy Layne posted two base runners in the bottom of the first inning but left them stranded.

Paintsville scored one run with one out in the top of the second inning, taking a 5-0 lead.

Betsy Layne opened the second inning with back-to-back singles by Shannon Newsome and Shawn Newsome. A single by Derrick Newsome drove in Shannon Newsome for the Bobcats first run of the game. A one-out single by Barry Collins drove in Shawn Newsome as the Bobcats cut the lead to 5-2.

A single by Ousley leading off the bottom of the fifth inning sparked a rally for the Bobcats as they tied the game at five. An error on the second baseman allowed Collins to reach first base. Shannon Newsome reached base on a one-out fielder's choice that scored a run and put runners on second and third. Derrick Newsome's two-out single scored both runners, tying the game.

With the game tied at five in the top of the eighth inning, Paintsville's first three batters reached on a pair of walks and a single that scored one run and broke the tie. A long fly to left field scored the runner from third. A single by Hamilton scored two runs. Following a one-out walk that loaded the bases, Montgomery hit a sacrifice fly, scoring another run. The Tigers led 10-5. Betsy Layne went down in order in the bottom of the eighth inning to end the game.

The Bobcats dropped to 9-6 on the season.

Sports in Kentucky

The Kentucky all-stars were announced last week. Twelve boys and girls each picked to try and "sweep" Indiana in the summer series.

On paper both teams look solid and should acquit themselves well.

Predictably, there were a few eyebrow raisers regarding those left off the teams. I will mention two in particular because of reactions to their not being chosen.

Matt Simons of Shelby County. One wonders how selectors, bent on beating the Hoosiers, could pass on a 6-11 All-State center who has signed with a top Div. I program.

The other is Lori Kluck of Cumberland. The USA Today Kentucky player of the year and three-time All-Stater who led her team to a pair of Class A titles, was sent packing too.

Reactions?
Sports In Ky. has learned that Shelby County Coach Gary Kidwell penned a letter to one member of the selection committee, expressing praise for the group's diligence and said he understood how difficult the selections must have been to make.

Kluck?
"I was hurt at first, but I'm more embarrassed than disappointed," she said last week.

Coach Bond was not as easily mollified as Kidwell. And one can understand his feelings too.

Cumberland's coach brought to the fore questions about the integrity of the Kentucky all-star selection process.

"I definitely think it's a political thing," he said. "There were (team selection) evaluators on the court who had kids from their teams trying out. That's not right."

Sports In Ky. contacted an official from the Kentucky Lions Club Eye Foundation directly involved with the selection process, Joe Bartley.

"We want players based on what they've done in prior seasons. But once they get to the tryouts all those things are erased," Bartley explained. "They don't mean a thing. It's what they do in those two days at the tryouts that count."

The other major criterion, Bartley pointed out, is the coaches pick players they believe they must have to beat Indiana.

"The girls all-stars Coach Leslie Scully puts a premium on speed and quickness," Bartley said, adding that Kim Cunningham (Shelby Co.) and Tootie Shaw (Butler) were chosen ahead of Kluck for those reasons.

About Bond's point that Kluck has to be among the best 12 players in Kentucky?

"We choose by position," Bartley said. "If we took the 12 best players available we could easily wind up with 11 guards and one forward."

And Bond's allegation that coaches of some players were on court during evaluations?

Coach Hatton from Nicholas County (mother of Christie Hatton) had been chosen to take part in the evaluation process long before tryout selections were made, Bartley explained. Likewise, veteran John High of Whitesburg (coach of Amanda Baker and Hillary Swisher).

Bond is right however. If a coach or relative of a player trying out were automatically excluded from the process, allegations of politics would be a no factor.

WELLS, SIMPSON QUIT KENTUCKY

Emerson Wells and James

"Stinkrat" Simpson quit the UK football team last week. It's a mistake!

Linebackers last year, both were bent out of shape because they were moved to defensive end, left and right, then became doubly unhappy when they discovered No. 3 in front of their names on the depth chart.

"Instead of finding himself fighting for a chance to play at linebacker, Emerson had been moved to another position and it frustrated him," his high school coach Allan Cox of Tilghman said "He felt like he was better than the guy ahead of him, but wasn't getting a chance."

Scholarship... opportunity to play in the SEC... on ESPN... chance to establish some after-football reputation in home state, kaput. Zap. Outta here.

These defections are especially noteworthy because UK football is in desperate need of a string of good news items. Ted Presley's incredible choice of games to play last week underlines the urgency here.

"Emerson's a great kid, A wonderfully talented athlete, but sometimes he's put playing football a little higher than his education."

Wells arrived late for a team meeting during spring drills, got himself in Curry's doghouse.

But Wells' decision might not be final. According to Cox, "If Emerson humbles himself and asks for another chance I think this thing can be worked out."

"Emerson's a good kid, a tremendous talent, but sometimes he brings trouble on himself," Cox said.

"But I don't think coach Curry has closed the door. Emerson is still there to finish the semester. If he will just humble himself, go see the coach, I think things would be all right."

"I really would like to see him stay," Cox added.

"Emerson is the kind of athlete Kentucky needs to get out of the cellar in the SEC. They can't afford to lose a kid like this. I'm hoping some minds are changed and Emerson stays there."

Emerson Wells' options?

Cox says "my phone is ringing again just like Emerson is being recruited all over again."

Stay tuned.

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE

CPK of New Orleans, Louisiana writes: "As a Kentucky grad and lifelong New Orleans resident, I was extremely unhappy when Randy Livingston chose LSU (over UK)."

"Having watched Randy play over the last four years I knew what a special talent he was. But only after viewing the Magic Roundball Classic did I come to appreciate how much it hurts to be 'maid of honor' (especially when the bride is LSU). As I looked at Rick Pitino in attendance at the Classic, watching Charles O'Bannon, I could only wonder if this will end up similarly to the Livingston situation... player stays close to home, Kentucky finishes second. Let's hope not."

COMMENT: Thank you for writing.

Gene Elkins of Sullivan, Kentucky writes: "Some time ago my wife Sue and I were watching a UK game. She asked if I knew how Pitino got to the games. I said I had no idea, but she had an idea—'He Rhode in a Brown Ford and watched UK's foes get Mashed and Dented.'"

Wiley, Wade place third for Allen Central boys

Allen Central at Boyd County

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The rains came down and down and down until around 3 p.m. at the Boyd County High School track and field facility as the Allen Central Rebels track and field team traveled to Ashland for the Boyd County Invitational Meet.

While the rains fell and the temperatures were on the cool side, Jenny Wiley and Jessica Wade showed that a 1-A school can compete against 3-A and 4-A competition.

Wade took third place in the highly competitive 1600 meter run with a time of 6:19.00.

Wiley placed third in the women's 400 meter race and had a time of 1:05.96.

"Even though she finished third it was the fastest time that she has posted this year," said Rebel coach Dewey Jamerson. "Jenny always worries about her time. I told her not to worry about it but just go out and run. She did very well going against the competition that she had."

Crystal Floyd ran a 1:09.77 in the women's 400 meter.

Wade, in placing third, had to overcome an injury that she suffered in the Pikeville meet last Thursday that took her out of the grueling two-mile run at Pikeville.

In the 1600 meter run, Wade also posted her best time of the season as she tries to get on track while preparing for the regional meet next month.

"That's what we are trying to do right now," said Jamerson, "to get ready for the regional meet. We're not too concerned about our times right now. We're going to get better. I think that Jenny and Jessica both did well at Boyd County."

Wade took fifth place in the 3200 meter race. She had a recorded time of 13:34.60. Mary Baldrige ran a 16:16.57, her fastest time this year.

Missy Goble ran a 7:07.28 in the women's 1600 meter run.

"We actually did better than we expected to do at Boyd County," said Jamerson. "When you finish in the top ten at Boyd County you have done something." Allen Central placed eighth in the events last Saturday.

The Rebels relay team of Wiley, Floyd, Nikki Queen and Dreama Isaac placed fourth in the women's 1600 meter relays. The new foursome posted a time of 4:57.09 which was a pleasant surprise for Jamerson.

"This was the biggest surprise of the meet. A first in that it was the first time that this combination has run together in this event," Jamerson explained. "They did very well and are going to get better."

The Allen Central 3200 meter relay team placed sixth overall with a time of 11:28.05. The Rebel four were Missy Goble, Jessica Wade, Jenny Wiley and Crystal Floyd.

Nikki Queen ran a 14.55 in the women's 100 meter run. Teammate Evelyn Howard posted a time of 16.77.

In the 400 meter relays Howard, Greta Halbert, Isaac and Renee Burke finished with a time of 1:05.03.

In the 100 hurdles, Lisa Stumbo finished with a time of 21.44 and Pam Goble came in at 21.13. Stumbo ran a 1:01.11 in the women's 300 hurdles and Goble had a time of 1:09.35.

Floyd finished the 800 meter run with a time of 2:50.96.

In the field events, Melissa Mullins had a toss of 64' 6 1/2" in the discus event. Dreama Kilgore threw for 52' 8".

Mullins and Kilgore each took part in the shot put but no distance recorded.

In the long jump event, Megan Manns had a jump of 11' 2" while Queen leaped 12' 6". Manns participated in the high jump but failed to place.

"It was good competition for our girls in the field events," said Jamerson.

Russell took first place with Hart County placing second. Greenup County came in third and West Carter fourth.

Fifth place went to Ashland. South Point, Ohio was sixth. Then came Boyd County, Allen Central, Montgomery County and Mason County to round out the top ten.

For the first time in a long time, the Allen Central boys failed to place in any events at the Boyd County meet. While the girls' team is experienced, Allen Central lost a lot from last year's boys team but has some very promising kids.

"Our boys ran about what we expected," said Jamerson. "We even ran faster in some events and at times better than other meets.

"It wasn't a bad meet for us," he continued. "I wish the weather had been better than it was. It's hard to compete in the rain."

Jason Samons ran a 12.62 in the men's 100 meter relays. Trevor Fitch had a time of 13.07.

Kevin Allen and Kevin Patton took part in the men's 200 meter run. Allen posted a 26.37 and Allen ran in at 26.51.

Chirs Halbert finished with a 1:03.07 in the men's 400 meter run. Estill Stumbo came in two-tenths of a second faster at 1:03.05.

Kenny Bradley and Kevin Stumbo were runners in the 800 meters race. Stumbo finished with a time of 2:27.56 and Bradley was 22 seconds slower at 2:49.32.

Josh Patton came in at 5:28:06 in the 1600 meter run. Bradley finished at 6:07.52.

Patton ran the 3200 meters and had a time of 13:00.79. Todd Howard was a little quicker at 12:21.80.

The relay team of Dan Stumbo, Trevor Fitch, Kevin Allen and Jason Samons completed the 400 meter relays at 49.07. Kenny Scarberry, Dan Stumbo, Chris Halbert and Estill Stumbo ran the 1600 meter relays in 4:12.06.

Scarberry, Dan Stumbo, Josh Patton and Kevin Stumbo finished the 3200 meter relay in 9:50.

Gary Webb topped the 110 hurdles in 21.45 and Adam Coleman was five-tenths of a second behind at 21.50. Nick Halbert went over the 300 hurdles in 51.56 and Estill Stumbo closed out in 52.28.

In the discus throw, Shawn Robinson's best was 104' 6". Levi Wells threw for 91' 5".

Kevin Patton leaped 17' 2" in the long jump while Chris Halbert had a jump of 16' 11".

Dave Gilliam had a throw of 36' 5" in the shot put. Ronnie Samons went 35' 5".

Kevin Patton had a jump of 35' 9" in the triple jump and Gary Webb leaped 31' 8".

Race of FACES down Rt. 1428, Saturday, May 15

The fifth annual Race of F.A.C.E.S. 5K run will be held on Saturday, May 15 with starting time set for 8 a.m.

According to Rick Roberts, race sponsor, the race will begin at the Big Sandy ADD with runners proceeding down Rt. 1428 to the Somerset station and then back to the Big Sandy ADD.

Top trophies will be awarded to overall male and female finishers.

Registration for the race will be held beside the Big Sandy ADD and Tourism Building. Registration fee is $10 per runner. Entry fees and registration may be mailed to Rick Roberts, Race Director, Box 1179, Paintsville, KY 41240.

of 32' 3".

Allen Central's 1600 relay team was impressive and ran a race that Coach Jamerson labeled a "good race" for the Rebels.

The foursome of Kenny Scarberry, Dan Stumbo, Chris Halbert and Estill Stumbo took first place with a time of 4:07.07.

The Rebels captured two third place finishes in relay competition. The 400 relay team of Dan Stumbo, Trevor Fitch, Kevin Allen and Jason Samons finished third with a time of 49.02.

Scarberry, Stumbo, Todd Howard and Kevin Stumbo placed third in the men's 3200 relays at 9:41:02.

"Our 400 relay team looked real good," said Jamerson. "The handoff was good and clean. It was a good run for them."

Nick Halbert took home third place in the men's 300 hurdles when he ran his best time of 50.45. Adam Coleman ran a 52.63 and Estill Stumbo had a time of 53.08.

In the 110 hurdles Gary Webb posted a 21.79, Steve Akers, 20.23 and Coleman a 22.26.

Josh Patton continued to be impressive as a distance runner as he took first place in the mile (1600 meter) run. Patton ran a 5:27.34 for first place and Todd Howard, an eighth grader at Maytown, finished second at 5:33.86.

Others in the 1600 meters were Kenny Bradley, 5:50.14; Jay Harvey, 6:09.89; Curtis Webb, 6:04.60; Rondel Stewart, 6:44.98; Chris Damron, 7:20.96 and Kevin Stumbo, 7:39.10.

fourth in the 100 hurdles. Fields had a distance of 13' 6" in the long jump event and ran a 22.03 for fourth place in the hurdles.

Second place in the 100 hurdles went to Wheelwright's Nikki Morgan whose time of 21.51 gave her the runner-up spot.

Morgan came back and took second place in the women's 300 hurdles with a time of 1:00.01. Isaac placed sixth overall in the 300 hurdles with a 1:04.23.

Isaac competed in the women's 100 meter run but did not place with her time of 15.33.

Wheelwright had only one relay team -- that was in the 400 relays. The foursome of Jenny Meade, Crystal Isaac, Teri Newman and Nikki Morgan finished with a time of 1:01.36 in the quarter mile run.

Smallwood said that while his team is improving he is still trying to find some distance runners among his group. The Trojans do not compete in the half-mile, mile and two-mile races and they are losing points. Smallwood would like to change that.

Patton took third place in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12:18.29. Howard had a fourth place finish with his time of 12:33.45 despite pulling a groin muscle in an earlier race.

Curtis Webb placed sixth overall in the 3200 meter run with a time of 6:44.98.

In the half mile (800 meters), Bradley placed sixth overall at 2:39.49. Wade Damron had a time of 2:58.67 and Chris Damron came in at 3:26.46. Others included Nick Halbert, 2:44.67; Kenny Scarberry, 2:44.77; Rondel Stewart, 3:02.48; Jeff Hicks at 3:01.67.

Jason Samons made an unusual appearance in the men's 200 meters and placed a surprising fifth in the never before run event. Samons had a time of 25.14. Coach Jamerson had a reason for the move.

"We felt that it was time that he moved up in distance. He did well and we plan on letting him run there."

Kevin Patton placed sixth with his time of 25.45.

Samons ran his usual race in the men's 100 meters. He had a time of 12.16. Allen came in at 12.25.

Chris Halbert placed fifth in the men's 400 meter race with a 1:01.66.

"We looked strong on sprints," said Jamerson. "It is the best meet of the year for our men's team. Out of 17 events we didn't score in only five."

Allen Central placed first, Pikeville was second and Belfry third.

Fourth place went to Fleming-Neon and Elkhorn City finished fifth.

The rest of the finishers were: Jenkins sixth, Paintsville seventh, Whitesburg eighth and Wheelwright ninth.

Allen Central will travel to Shelbyville Saturday for the Fellowship of Christian Athlete's (FCA) meet.

the race, which was good for fifth place. Howard ran the course also and finished in 16.18.

She returned to familiar grounds and won the 400 meter run in 1:06.16. Crystal Floyd finished second at 1:09.57.

"You should have seen the look she gave me after the 100 meter run," said an amused Jamerson.

In the women's field events, Melissa Mullins took second place in discus with a toss of 72' 1". Dreama Kilgore had a toss of 62 feet and Jennifer Patton finished with a throw of 45' 5".

Mullins placed fifth overall in the shot put. Her throw of 24' 3" earned her fifth.

Kilgore finished with a throw of 23' 9" and Patton had a toss of 20' 3". Megan Manns competed in the high jump event and did not place with a jump of 3' 10".

"We need to get Megan up to at least four feet," said the Allen Central coach. "They start at four feet in the regionals."

"I think our girls' team is peaking at the right time. We had some good times recorded at Pikeville and we are trying to get ready for the regionals at Boyd County next month."

Anderson four-hits Rebels in 10-1 victory

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Scott Anderson gave but four hits to the Allen Central Rebels en route to a 10-1 win.

Frank Martin collected half of Allen Central's hits with a double and single. Glen Floyd scored the Rebels only run against Anderson -- an unearned run in the fourth inning.

Pikeville pushed across five runs in the second and added three more in the third to take charge of the game.

Anderson, in picking up the win, struck out four and issued an equal number of walks.

Jason Martin was the losing pitcher. He walked five batters while fanning seven.

Pikeville took a 2-0 lead with two runs in the first inning on a leadoff walk to Brian Coleman and a one-out error off the bat of J.P. Blair. Justin Harris walked to load the bases and Mickey Lawson picked up an RBI with a bases-loaded walk. The second run scored on Tony Newsome's sacrifice fly to center.

Ten batters paraded to the plate for Pikeville in the second when they scored their five runs. Blair had a two-run single in the inning and the big hit was Lawson's two-run double.

Blair also tripled home two runs in the Pikeville's three-run third. Blair finished with four RBIs in the game, while scoring twice. Lawson had three runs batted in.

With one out in the Allen Central fourth, Floyd singled and Jason Martin's grounder to short was misplayed by Blair. An error at third base permitted Floyd to score, ruining Anderson's shutout.

In the fifth and sixth innings, Allen Central put runners on the base paths but both times were taken out of the inning by double plays.

The Rebels left the bases loaded in the top of the seventh inning when Arlin Cathers popped to second to end the game. The Rebels stranded seven runners in the game and committed five errors.

Pikeville had two errors and left nine base runners stranded.

Allen Central will travel to Mullins Monday for a doubleheader.

The wave!

Steven Shelton and Kevin Johnson of Wheelwright looks as if they are trying to get "the wave" started at Brackett Field in Wheelwright. ## Music, Robinson lead Lady Blackcats to sweep Paintsville

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats softball team keeps rolling as they ran their record to 11-5 overall with a doubleheader sweep of the Lady Tigers of Paintsville.

Prestonsburg posted a first game win of 18-5 in five innings and won the nightcap 15-2.

Stephanie Music had a barrage of hits and Camile Robinson collected five hits and four RBIs to help in the sweep.

Jamie Clay was a perfect four-for-four in the first game with two runs batted in. Music drilled a second inning home run, tripled in the first inning and drove home six runs in game one.

Music was a strong two-for-two with two runs batted in in game two.

Amy Reed had a rather quiet doubleheader with only three hits and two runs batted in. Reed is one of the region's top hitters.

Her teammates took over and Kerrie Merion blasted a second game home run while collecting two hits and three RBIs. Raquel Cain sent three runners home in the second game with a long three-run home run in the first inning.

Paintsville never did get Clay out in either game as she had three hits in three plate appearances in the second game. She totaled seven hits in the twin bill with five runs scored and two runs batted in.

Crystal Thornsbury and Crystal Vanover each collected two hits in the first game. Donna Hall also had a single and double.

Prestonsburg collected 20 hits in the first game and had 13 in game two.

Carolyn Reffitt scored five runs in the two games collecting two hits one a double. She had three runs batted in.

Prestonsburg faces Shelby Valley at home on Tuesday.

Bobcats defeat Daredevils

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Betsy Layne Bobcats scored 10 runs in the bottom of the first inning en route to their 16-1 shellacking of the McDowell Daredevils Tuesday night at Allen Park.

Barry Collins picked up the win for the Bobcats, pitching a no-hitter in his team's five-inning victory. Collins allowed one unearned run on no hits, 12 strikeouts, five walks and one hit batsman.

Earl Cook recorded the loss as he gave up 16 runs on 10 hits, four strikeouts and seven walks.

The Bobcats scored 10 runs in the bottom of the first inning after holding McDowell scoreless in their half of the inning. The Bobcats were three batters short of batting around twice. Barry Collins drew two walks and scored both times. Scott Ousley scored twice following a walk and a single. Shannon Newsome recorded two doubles in the first inning.

Eighth grader Brandon Castle scored after his one-out double drove in two runs. Singles by Chris Potter and Bud Kidd drove in runs for the Bobcats. Betsy Layne led 10-0.

Ousley struck out 10 of his first 16 batters as he set down McDowell in order in the second and third inning.

Betsy Layne scored six runs in the bottom of the second inning as they took a 16-0 lead. Betsy Layne's first four batters in the second scored after reaching base on an error, a pair of singles and a double. With one out, Ousley reached on an error and later scored on a Shannon Newsome two-out double. Shannon Newsome scored on an error charged to the third baseman.

A run in the top of the fourth inning ruined Ousley's shutout. Chad Frasure reached base on a walk and stole second. With one out, a passed ball allowed Frasure to go to second base. Frasure came home on a wild pitch that gave McDowell their only run of the game.

Prestonsburg AAU romps Pikeville, 69-38

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

The Prestonsburg Blackcat 12-year-old AAU team had not been beaten going into Thursday night's regional semi-final game against the Pikeville Panthers.

The Blackcats' record stayed unblemished as Prestonsburg defeated Pikeville 69-38 in a game that recorded 35 first half fouls.

Wesley Samons scored 18 points as he led the Blackcats to victory. John Mims led Pikeville with 11 points.

The Blackcats took off early going on an 8-2 run with 4:46 on the clock. Following a basket by Pikeville's Kyle Bow, the Blackcats scored five straight points taking a 13-4 lead with 2:50 on the clock.

An exchange of points kept the Blackcat lead at nine points, 17-8, with 1:40 remaining. Four free throws by Pikeville cut the lead to five points, 17-12, with 1:13 on the clock. Prestonsburg went on a seven-point run, four by Samons and three by Ortega, extending their lead to 24-12 with :29 on the clock. A basket by Pikeville's Tullius Couls ended the first quarter with the Blackcats leading 24-14.

Following a free throw by Pikeville's Aaron Miller, Prestonsburg ran off a 14-point run extending their lead to 38-15 with 3:40 left in the first half. With the score 42-18, Pikeville scored two free throws ending the first half trailing 42-20.

Prestonsburg started off the second half with a 12-2 run, four each to Ortega, Jarvis, and Samons, taking a 54-22 lead, their biggest lead of the game, with 4:25 remaining on the clock. Pikeville cut into the lead with a 7-1 run with 1:30 on the clock. An exchange of points ended the third quarter with the Blackcats leading 57-31.

Pikeville went on a 5-2 run cutting the lead down to 59-36 with 4:55 on the clock. A basket by Nathan Fannin and a free throw by Brooks Stumbo extended the Blackcat lead to 62-36 with 3:38 left in the game. Following a basket by Pikeville's Miller, Prestonsburg went on a seven-point run ending the game and recording the 69-38 victory.

Reed smacks four homeruns as..

Lady Cats sweep McDowell

Chuck Rowe
Sports Writer

Prestonsburg Lady Cat Amy Reed put on a hitting display Wednesday night in a double-header against the McDowell Lady Daredevils. Reed went eight-for-10, drove in 10 runs with four homeruns, three doubles and a triple as the Lady Cats swept McDowell 23-1 and 21-11.

Kerry Merion picked up the win for the Lady Cats as Lisa Hobson suffered the loss for McDowell.

Prestonsburg's Jamie Clay led off the game with a triple. Reed smacked a homerun, bringing both runners in. Following a Carolyn Reffitt double, Stephanie Music scored Reffitt on a single. Camille Robinson reached base on a walk, putting runners on first and second with no outs. A single by Merion scored Music and put runners on the corners. Prestonsburg led 4-0.

A one-out single by Misty Price scored Robinson and left runners on first and second. Jennifer Miller's two-out single drove Merion home. A three-run two-out home run by Clay and a solo home run by Reed emptied the bases and gave Prestonsburg a 10-0 lead.

Susan Stephens recorded a single leading off the bottom of the first inning. A grounder to short by Misty Shannon forced out Stephens at second. A two-out double by Kristy Mullins put runners on second and third. McDowell stranded the runners.

Back-to-back doubles by Robinson and Merion scored a run for the Lady Cats. Raquel Cain drove in Merion with a single. Price's ground ball forced Cain out at second base. A one-out single by Donna Hall put runners on first and second. Miller's single drove in Price. With two-outs and a runner on third, Clay hit her second homer of the game, giving the Lady Cats a 15-0 lead.

Following a scoreless McDowell inning, Prestonsburg scored one run in the bottom of the third inning as Music crossed the play on a Cain single. Prestonsburg led 16-0.

McDowell scored their only run of the game as Christy Tackett reached base on an one-out error in the top of the fourth. A single by Lisa Brown drove in Tackett. The Devils trailed 16-1.

A leadoff walk put Miller on first base. Reed's one-out double drove in Miller. Reffitt's single drove in Reed. Reffitt came around to score on a Music double. Robinson's double scored Music. Back-to-back two-out singles by Cain and Price drove in Robinson and the Lady Cats led 21-1.

With Clay on second and one out, Reed hit her third tater of the game, giving her team a 23-1 lead heading to the bottom of the fifth inning.

McDowell went down in order as the Lady Cats mercied the Devils.

Prestonsburg scored five runs in the first inning of the second game. Three runs crossed the plate on a home run by Robinson.

McDowell cut the lead to 5-2 as Stumbo and Hobson crossed the plate on a single and on a triple.

Following a leadoff double by Clay, the Lady Cats went down in order.

McDowell took the lead on a six run second inning giving them the 8-5 lead. Following back-to-back one-out walks, a Nikki Mullins single drove in one run. A double by Stephens cleared the bases as two scored. Following a walk, a two-out double by Kristy Mullins cleared the bases scoring three runs.

Prestonsburg took the lead back in the top of the third scoring nine runs giving them the 14-8 lead. Merion's single scored Robinson from third. With runners on first and second, Price's single scored Merion from second.

A one-out walk loaded the bases. Clay's double cleared the bases. Reed's double scored Clay. Reed scored on a Reffitt single. Robinson's two-out double scored Reffitt. Merion cleared the bases on a single.

McDowell scored on run in the third as Newsom came around to score on a Shannon single. The Devils trailed 13-9.

A two-out single by Miller started a five-run inning for the Lady Cats. Three consecutive doubles by Clay, Reed and Reffitt scored three runs. Back-to-back singles scored two runs as Prestonsburg took an 19-9 lead.

Following a leadoff walk, the Devils went down in order in the bottom of the fourth.

A two-out single by Clay started off the top of the fifth inning. A Reed homer cleared the bases and gave Prestonsburg a 23-9 lead.

Kristi Mullins scored on a double by Brown as the Devils tried to rally. A one-out single by Hamilton drove Brown in for the Devils last run of the game.

Prestonsburg to host over 300 athletes in AAU Tumbling meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The city of Prestonsburg will be the site for the First Annual Kentucky Association Tumbling and Trampoline meet to be held at the Prestonsburg fieldhouse on May 1.

Over 300 athletes will converge on the city as the USA/Ky Association and Kentucky Power Tumbling Association sponsors the qualifying event for the 1993 AAU Junior Olympics.

The meet is a requirement for all participants in the 1993 Junior Olympic Games to be held in Knoxville, Tennessee in August of this year. Athletes will not be able to attend any other AAU meet to qualify for the Junior Olympics.

Registration for the local meet is due by April 23 with no late entries accepted after that date.

Association officials stated that no entries will be accepted over the phone. Also, AAU cards will be available the day of the meet, but registration must be made in advance.

play at shortstop by Jason Burke. Shannon Newsome rolled out with Clark holding third base.

Hackworth proceeded to walk Shawn Newsome on four pitches and then plucked Derrick Newsome to load the bases.

The hit batsman brought Coach Shepherd to the mound and the Prestonsburg skipper showed confidence in the young pitcher by leaving him in.

Shortstop Chris Potter worked Hackworth for a 2-2 count and then bounced a pitch down the third baseline that appeared to be a fair ball off of the glove of third baseman Cory Reitz. The ball rolled down the left field line. The runners circled the bases but the home plate umpire ruled the ball foul to the vocal displeasure of the Betsy Layne fans. Potter then hit a fly ball to right to end the threat and leave the bases loaded.

Betsy Layne stranded two runners in the first, third and fourth, three in the fifth and one each in the sixth and seventh inning.

The Bobcats tied the game at 2-2 in the fourth on back-to-back walks to Shannon Newsome and Shawn Newsome to start the inning. Derrick Newsome then grounded hard back to Hackworth who made a great stop and forced Shannon Newsome at third.

Potter then hit a Texas leaguer to center that fell for a base hit, scoring Shawn Newsome. Hackworth loaded the bases when he issued a walk to Castle. Then, usually surehanded Sean Damron dropped Collins' pop fly to second and Derrick Newsome scored to knot the game at 2-2.

Prestonsburg went out in order in a strange way in the fourth inning. Reitz led off the inning with a liner to left that Shawn Newsome lost in the lights. The ball rolled to the fence for a three-base error. Reitz rounded third and ran into Coach Shepherd who appeared to be trying to stop Reitz. When Reitz saw the ball fall loose he headed to the plate only to find Bud Kidd waiting there with the baseball.

After Betsy Layne left the bases jammed in the top of the fifth, Tucker strolled to the plate and gave Hackworth and the Blackcats the 3-2 lead that held up.

Evergreens respond quickly to special nutrients and friendly soil.
The key is to provide the nutrition and soil conditions evergreens must have. Fortunately, university scientists have developed a special fertilizer called Miracid® for evergreens. The fertilizer supplies weakened plants with much needed iron in a form that can be absorbed easily. It also creates the friendly acid soil and supplies the special nutrients evergreens must have to thrive and grow strong. Since Miracid is absorbed quickly, you may see the life flowing into your precious evergreens within days.
