Loan between utilities, city prompts request :

Officials want state probe of themselves

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Wheelwright City Commissioners voted Monday to ask the state's attorney general to conduct a probe to determine if proper administrative procedures are being followed.

The vote to ask for the state investigation came after discussions concerning a $15,000 "loan" to the city from the Wheelwright Utility Commission.

Utility Commissioner Jimmy Little asked the city to approve a plan which would outline how the city intends to repay the loan. Little said that an audit of the utility commission is coming up and utility commissioners needed something in writing to make sure the money would be repaid.

"We are accountable for that money," Little said. "We are not in a (money) loaning program. We didn't agree to loan it and I don't care how we get it back."

City Commissioner Lowell Parker argued that there "is no paperwork" in relation to the $15,000 loan and he was unsure if the city was legally obligated to repay the debt. He called for a state investigation into the issue.

"I'm asking for an internal probe from the state into the city and the utility commission to see if (the loan) was done proper," Parker said. "Is the city operating properly? Let's ask the attorney general to do an internal probe to see if the proper legislative proceedings are being followed. It's time to unleash the state agencies to come in and audit us."

Mayor Kenneth Johnson explained that the $15,000 "loan" was used to purchase a house near the road to the new prison being built in that community. Johnson said that a committee was chosen to negotiate a contract so that the prison would repay the city for buying the house.

The house and the property was purchased by the city because the property was needed to allow access to the prison.

"(Naming the committee) wasn't legal in the first place," Mayor Johnson said. "Once we bought the house, it was not in the contract with the prison (to pay back the $15,000)."

Utility Commissioner Little said he was not asking for an investigation, only that the city "put it in writing" that the money would be repaid to the utility commission.

City commissioners unanimously agreed to ask for an investigation to

Lancer home leveled by Monday morning blaze

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

An early morning fire Monday destroyed the home of Prestonsburg Main Street Manager Henry Lewis Mayo.

The home, located on South Lake Drive near Prestonsburg Fire Station No. 2 at Lancer, was completely engulfed in flames when firefighters arrived, said Mike Wells, assistant fire chief. When firefighters at Station 2 opened their fire station door, they could see flames shooting out of the house, Wells said. The call had been dispatched to the Lancer station from Prestonsburg Station 1.

The fire was reported around 4:52 a.m. Monday by an employee of Riverview Manor Nursing Home. Mayo was not at home at the time of the blaze, but was staying nearby at the home of his sister, Ruth Goebel, Wells said.

The cause of the blaze had not been determined Tuesday evening, Wells said. Major Larry Adams is investigating the incident.

State panel hears pros of local track; cons of racing commission oversight

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

The sponsors of a bill which would pull the reins on off-track betting in Kentucky suggested Friday in Prestonsburg they were open to compromise on the issue, but they held their ground on a proposal to revamp the state's controversial racing commission.

State Representatives Greg Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, and Russell Bentley, D-Hindman, have pre-filed legislation for deliberation during the 1994 session of Kentucky's General Assembly that would abolish off-track betting in the state and dissolve the current racing commission, replacing that oversight panel with a committee of appointees from each of the state's congressional districts who have no business interests associated with the racing industry.

That legislation was the topic Friday of a special meeting of the General Assembly's Interim Joint Committee on Business Organizations and Professions—the BOP in the now infamous BOPTROT probe of influence peddling in state government.

Friday's meeting, held at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn, was part pep rally and part prognosis as mem-

Moonshine still is destroyed at Drift

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

In a prohibition-style raid, Floyd County sheriff's deputies arrested three men Sunday after finding a moonshine still and five marijuana plants near their home at Drift.

Edward Wright Jr., 27, and James

A. Wright, 24, were charged with possession of an apparatus for the unlawful manufacture of alcoholic beverages and cultivating marijuana after Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and deputies executed a search warrant Sunday.

Kenneth Ray Wright, 23, was charged with possession of less than eight ounces of marijuana after officers executed a second search warrant for his home.

The moonshine still was found in a shack located high on a hill adjacent to Edward Wright Jr.'s home at Drift Hollow. When officer's arrived at the scene, they found James A. Wright walking toward the still with parts of the apparatus in his hand, court records said.

Edward Wright Jr. was carrying a milk crate and a feed bag which smelled of "distilled operations," the citation said.

In the hillside shack, officers found two large vats of what appeared to be

Lighting firm to locate at Martin; up to 300 new jobs are possible

Following approval Tuesday of final financing arrangements by the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority, a Chula Vista, California company has announced the location of its new manufacturing and distribution facilities in Floyd County. RND, Inc. will locate its low voltage landscape lighting operation in the former United Central Supply building near Martin. With an initial investment of nearly $1.7 million, RND projects up to 300 new jobs over the next 2 to 3 years.

Darrell Gilliam, executive director of the Floyd County Development Authority, who has spent the last several months negotiating this project, expressed optimism for this new business. "This is the first new industry to be announced from efforts begun over a year ago, and we're very excited. I really appreciate all the assistance the state and the Floyd Fiscal Court has provided to make this project a reality," Gilliam added.

For RND, it was a matter of location and local cooperation that made the project a reality. "Kentucky's positive business financing programs and the assistance we received from everyone in Floyd County are the real reasons we are able to make this move," said Ralph Bowen, president of RND. "We're delighted with the cooperation we've gotten from Darrell Gilliam of the Development Authority, Judge Stumbo and the Fiscal Court, Jim Griffey, vice president of First Commonwealth Bank, and everyone at the state level; and we look forward to our move to Eastern Kentucky," he added.

Floyd County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo hailed the RND announcement and praised the efforts of the Development Authority in attracting this new industry to Floyd County. "I'm very pleased to see our efforts to attract new jobs begin to pay off. The Development Authority has done a good job and we must continue this important effort to diversify our economy and provide more job opportunities throughout the county," he said.

RND will begin its move in the near future and plans to begin operations in September. From the Martin facility, it plans to produce and distribute a line of energy efficient landscape lighting products, including a concrete "Step-Lite." The "Step-Lite" is a concrete stepping stone illuminated by a ring of low voltage lights.

Cuts will affect center opening

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

Hopes that a new facility at McDowell could be shared by young and old by early 1994 apparently have been put on hold by state budget troubles and deficit-reducing steps announced last week by Governor Breton Jones.

Initial reports that Jones' budget-balancing proposals would affect only the long-range operating budget and not the construction of a combined senior citizen-childcare center at McDowell have been revised, a Big Sandy Area Development District official said this week. Jones' proposal called for $150,000, appropriated for the project for 1994, to be cut from the state budget. That cut, Big Sandy ADD spokeswoman Bonnie Hale said Monday, will directly affect funds available for the construction of the $400,000 facility.

"We were hoping to be in the facility by January," Hale said, "but we may have to fall back and restructure our plans. We're discussing the issue now with our contractor."

"...we may have to fall back and restructure our plans..."

-- Bonnie Hale

As planned, the McDowell center would offer services and activities for area senior citizens and childcare services for parents. Funding cuts, Hale said, could mean fewer services will be available.

"We're looking to still have both (the senior and childcare services)," Hale said Monday, "but we don't know for certain yet how the cuts will affect the project or when it will be available for use."

Road hazard

A truck driven by Richard Brad Reynolds of Mt. Sterling went over an embankment Saturday near Riverview Manor Nursing Home and into the mobile home of Norman and Norma Hamilton of Prestonsburg. This is the third time that a vehicle has smashed into the Hamilton's mobile home. They have begged the state to install guardrails, said investigating Prestonsburg Police officer Mike Conn, but none have been installed. The accident was also investigated by Prestonsburg Police officer Mack Stewart. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

Assault charge is reduced for official at Wheelwright

A felony assault charge filed against a Wheelwright City Commissioner was amended to a misdemeanor at an August 11 hearing in Floyd District Court.

Commissioner Luther Johnson Jr., 39, was charged with second degree assault on a police officer July 24 for allegedly assaulting Wheelwright police chief David Duncan. Duncan injured his left knee in the incident and has been unable to return to work.

Court records offered no explanation why the charge was reduced and a preliminary hearing has been set for Thursday, August 26 at 3:15 p.m. in district court.

Martin council to hold special meeting

A special meeting of the Martin City Council has been called for Wednesday, August 18 at 7 p.m. at city hall.

The only item on the special meeting agenda to be discussed is a dispute between the city and Mountain Christian Academy over a sewage treatment plant and a sewer line.

Bill and Coo

State Representatives Greg Stumbo, left, and Russell Bentley outlined provisions of legislation they have proposed that would dramatically alter the current oversight of horse racing and off-track wagering during a special meeting in Prestonsburg Friday of the General Assembly's Joint Committee for Business Organizations and Professions. The legislators divided their time between discussions on the proposed bill and expressions of support for a Floyd County harness racing facility. (photo by Scott Perry)

Racing

bers of the joint BOP heard testimony from witnesses endorsing the development of a Floyd County harness racing facility and from harness racing officials concerned about the future of their industry.

Bill sponsors Bentley and Stumbo advised the committee that their proposed legislation was directed at a newly-formed state racing commission dominated by thoroughbred interests that was perceived to have "stifled" standardbred racing and particularly the Floyd County harness project.

The legislators, both of whom represent parts of Floyd County in Frankfort, noted that East Kentucky Racing's plan to bring live racing to Eastern Kentucky was an economic "necessity" that was "good for all of Eastern Kentucky."

Stumbo relaxed his criticism of the state's current racing commission and his proposal to bring a halt to off-track betting in the state, saying Friday that he expected live racing to be held in Floyd County next year. East Kentucky Racing, which will lease a new facility being constructed on Route 3, has applied for 42 racing days in 1994 and hopes to conduct live racing from early July through Labor Day.

Opening the door for compromise on his recommendation to restrict off-track wagering, Stumbo said he believed "there is a place for off-track betting in Kentucky, but our first priority should be the support of live racing."

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta and former Governor Julian Carroll, who serves as legal counsel for East Kentucky Racing, called the project an economic windfall that would create an estimated 273 jobs and provide more than $11 million yearly to the local economy.

Carroll said proposals to develop a harness racing "circuit" in Eastern Kentucky, with another track in Ashland and a third in southeastern Kentucky, would buoy the struggling harness industry.

Senator Fred Bradley, a member of the BOP, speculated that that plan was feasible in Eastern Kentucky because the "competition for entertainment dollars is not that great here."

Norm Smith, executive director of the Kentucky Harness Horsemen's Association, told the panel that his industry had suffered financially since the advent of off-track and intertrack wagering, adding that a restructuring of the state racing commission in 1992 had left the harness industry with little representation.

"The commissions were merged in the spring of '92," Kentucky Standardbred Breeder's Association president Tom Stewart said, "and from that point on we have had to claw and scratch for everything we got."

Both the Breeder's Association and the Horsemen's Association support provisions of the Stumbo-Bentley bill which provide for separate governance of the thoroughbred and standardbred industries.

"There is no economic burden to the state by allowing the harness industry to have its own commission," Horsemen's Association president Brooks Wells added.

Others testifying before the BOP panel Friday included East Kentucky Racing architect Randy Burchett; Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond; and County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo.

The BOP, lacking a quorum, took no official action on any of the racing issues discussed.

corn mash; several glass jars containing small amounts of clear liquid; several empty bags of sugar; and the still.

Officers dismantled the still and turned over the huge vats of corn mash. Other materials used in the operation that couldn't be transported down the hillside were destroyed by Sheriff Thompson.

At Edward Wright Jr.'s home, officers found several jars of what appeared to be corn mash.

Edward Wright Jr. and James Wright remained lodged in the Floyd County Jail Tuesday. Kenneth Wright was released on bonds Sunday night.

Sheriff Thompson and deputy Ricky Thornsberry said the department received a tip about the moonshining operation.

Deputies William Howell, Bill Callihan, Mike Mays and Lloyd Powers participated in Sunday's raid. A state Alcohol Beverage Control agent was also called to the scene.

Regional tourism group to pave road with fame

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

A proposal to rename a stretch of U.S. 23 as the Country Music Heritage Highway needs a few changes, Nell Terry of Lawrence County told fellow members of the Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region Friday at its monthly meeting at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Terry reported that members of the General Assembly suggested the name of the highway should be changed to include adjoining highways and counties in the tourism bid. The group discussed changing the name to The Country Music Heritage Highways.

The proposal is meeting with approval in Frankfort, Terry said. The regional group plans to officially present the proposition when the General Assembly meets in January.

Also at the meeting, volunteer members of the group made plans to participate in three national tourism showcases next year in Cincinnati and Columbus, Ohio and in Indianapolis, Indiana. Among those manning the Eastern Kentucky tourism booth will be Fred James, director of Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and a member of the Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region.

The Eastern Highlands North Tourism Region was formed by the state Travel Development about five years ago and consists of representatives from the 15 counties within the region that extends from Pike and Floyd counties on the southern end through Greenup on the northern end. The Region's goal is to develop regional promotional programs.

The regional commission has an annual budget of approximately $40,000. About $35,000 of that amount is received from the state and $5,000 comes from local contributions. Local funds are derived through sponsorship of advertising in the region's promotional brochure, James said.

Promotional activities also include advertising in various newspapers, magazines and special travel publications in a multi-state area, he explained. The regional group also distributes grants to various tourism-related agencies.

The group meets monthly at various locations within the 15-county region. Among those attending were Ruth Thompson, administrative assistant, Kentucky Department of Travel, and Robin Finney, with the matching funds program through the Kentucky Department of Travel.

Probe

determine how the money should be repaid to the utility commission and to also ask for a probe into all proceedings of the utility commission and the city commission.

After commissioners agreed to the probe, audience member Russell Johnson commented, "If we get a state investigation, they'll have to make 100 more beds at the prison."

Also Monday, a majority of the commissioners agreed to hire a part-time police officer and to temporarily fill the vacancy of chief of police.

Wheelwright police chief David Duncan remains medically unable to return to work after an altercation last month with City Commissioner Luther Johnson Jr.

Duncan was injured when he and Wheelwright policeman Brent Huff arrested Johnson for alcohol intoxication at the Cardinal Mart in Wheelwright.

Officers charge that Johnson struggled with them during the arrest and Duncan was injured. The incident was captured on videotape by a video camera installed in the police cruiser.

Mayor Johnson said that Duncan has a doctor's appointment for August 26 to determine if surgery is needed for an injury to his left knee.

Commissioners voted 3-1 to hire Bobby Meade as a part-time officer. Parker abstained from voting. Also in a 3-1 vote, commissioners authorized Mayor Johnson to contact Randy Johnson or Tommy Engle to see if one of the two men would fill-in until it is determined if Duncan can return to his job. Parker abstained.

Also, Commissioner Johnson asked if Roman Caudill, who was hired last month as a police dispatcher, could move into the city-owned apartment that Caudill has been "working on."

Mayor Johnson said that he was "abstaining from the deal." The mayor said he had "promised to help" Caudill and he was not "backing down."

Commissioner Parker questioned whether Caudill was hired legally because the city did not advertise the newly-created job.

"I'll abstain as I did the first time," Parker said. "When the (state) comes in here the hair will fly."

Citizen Russell Johnson repeatedly asked throughout Monday's meeting if the city intended to hire police officers because "we ought to have a police, we have a dispatcher waiting."

Earlier in the meeting, Commissioner Andy Akers asked that his vote to hire Caudill last month be changed to a no vote. City Clerk Mary Johnson said that Akers had abstained from voting on the hiring.

Commissioners took no action on the issue because Caudill was hired last month.

Caudill commented that he was going "to move in tomorrow."

The city does not have the equipment to provide police dispatch services, Parker said after Monday's meeting.

In other action Monday:

- Utility commissioners and candidates for mayor Marlee Sammons and David Boyd were removed from that body because of an ordinance which says commissioners shall automatically vacate their seats if they become candidates for public office.

- In a 4-1 vote, commissioners agreed to reimburse auxiliary policeman David Gray $30 for a physical. Parker voted against reimbursing Gray because he said the legality of the move needed to be investigated.

- Commissioners set the property tax rate at 35 cents per $100 of assessment of tangible and intangible property.

- Commissioners awarded contracts to Frederick May and Weldman Corporation for the city's water and sewage systems.

- C & N Home Improvements was paid $1,500 for work on the fire department's new fire station. Commissioners also voted to move telephone and electrical services to the new fire station.

The next regular meeting of the commission is Monday, September 20 at 7 p.m. at city hall.

Prestonsburg Community College has received a $65,000 grant to continue its Single Parent Homemaker and Preparatory Services Program.

The funding from the state Cabinet for Workforce Development allows $50,000 for operation of the program and $15,000 for scholarship assistance to program participants.

Now in its seventh year, the program aims to help single parents, homemakers, displaced homemakers and pregnant single women move toward self-sufficiency.

Persons in the program—most of them women—receive assistance with basic education, career counseling, and support in enrolling in career training programs, not only at the college, but also in vocational schools.

The scholarship funds help with tuition, child care and transportation costs.

PCC's Preparatory Services Center, headed by Jean Rosenberg, offers a range of support services, including monthly group meetings, one-on-one counseling, weekly lunch presentations and a convenient meeting place for participants.

Risky business

by Scott Perry

We get cold chills every time we see a pickup truck loaded down with people, especially small people, who have no means of protection should an accident occur.

It is not an unusual sight. Folks have been hauling their families around for years in the backs of trucks...to the store, to church, to here and there.

But traveling our highways and byways is riskier business these days.

There are more vehicles on the road, moving faster, and more people in a hurry to get wherever it is they're going.

Caution, as we see by the increasing frequency of auto accidents, is often thrown to the wind.

Those passengers in the backs of trucks have little, if any protection, against the dangers of the road.

That point was made, loud and clear, this week in an accident in Western Kentucky where five of seven truckbed passengers were killed when the vehicle in which they were riding wrecked at high speed.

What an unnecessary loss of life.

We urge pickup owners everywhere to consider the hazards their passengers face before loading up with human cargo.

Tragedy needs no easy prey.

Timber thieves at work in area

Editor:

I would like to alert property owners in Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Knott and surrounding counties that a gang of timber thieves is operating in this area. They will contract with one property owner to cut his trees—but will steal trees from adjoining properties up to a mile from the contracted property. They use chain saws with mufflers, and specially equipped bulldozers and logging machines which you cannot hear beyond a 50 yard distance.

They bulldozed a haul road across my mother's land, destroyed hundreds of trees up to 15 inches in diameter, stole prime white oak trees with a value of approximately $20,000. We never knew they were there until the last day of operation—although they were within 700 feet of her home.

If you see timber coming out of the hills near your property, the chances are all too good that it is coming from your place. You had better walk your property and check to see.

Defend the right to bear arms

Editor:

It is no wonder that members of our so-called government want to pass a bill that would ban (assault) weapons and make it hard for a citizen to own any other type weapon. The government has screwed up this country so bad that they are afraid someone may realize why the second amendment was placed in our constitution in the first place, to allow the people the right to defend against an oppressive government. Government taking weapons away from the people is like the criminal taking away the weapon of the police officer. Think about this as you sit in front of the TV and watch your second amendment right go straight to hell.

If you do not contact your representative and tell them in no uncertain terms that you do not want your weapons taken away by our beloved Janet Reno and friends, then you have no right to complain when it is too late. As a matter of fact, without the second amendment hanging over their heads, you might not be allowed to complain.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Human Resources cabinet spokesman Brad Hughes got the axe last week, about thirty minutes after we talked to him on the phone about the effects of the Guv's budget-balancing act.

No matter what speculation you read in the papers, Hughes has only himself to blame for losing his job.

After all, he was one of the very few agency spokespersons who actually returned phone calls from the press for details on various and sundry issues.

We just can't have people in state public relations positions who relate to the public. Especially if those guys are inclined to tell it like it is regardless of the party line.

And the Guv wonders why he gets no positive ink...

you'll pay 900 bucks in state sales taxes.

If you pay $15 million for a racehorse, you'll pay nothing in state sales taxes.

Last year, the sales of yearlings brought in 47 million bucks and not a penny in sales taxes. Had there been a six-percent levy over the past three years, horse sales would have brought in some $10 million.

State revenue shortfalls will require a $9 million cut next year in education funding.

Seems in Kentucky, we not only put the horse before the cart, we put it before everything.

Hi Yo Silver...and away!

Stumbo, Stumbo, bo bumbo, bananafannafumbo...

It's the name game!

This time Stumbo (Grady) is for Stumbo (Janet), a turnaround from the time he said "This Stumbo (Grady) is for Sturgill (Barkley)" because the other Stumbo (Janet) was really a Pillersdorf (Mrs. Ned).

Stumbo (Janet) earned Stumbo (Grady) support in the race for Supreme Court where the opponent Combs (Sara) stands accused of capitalizing on the name she took after marrying Combs (Bert) which may or may not have had bearing on Combs' (Sara) appointment as an interim Justice by Jones (Brereton) who also named Stumbo (Grady) as state Democratic Party Chairman.

Meanwhile, the forgotten third candidate in the race, Welch (David), is reportedly researching his family tree for a readily recognizable relative to latch onto.

Only in Kentucky politics would a rose by any other name smell...rotten.

The legal profession claims it is the victim of undeserved or overdone criticism, but Toronto Star columnist Peter MacDonald counters the complaint with these examples, courtesy of National Lampoon's True Facts section, of questions asked by lawyers during courtroom proceedings:

- "Now isn't it true that when a person dies in his sleep in most cases he just passes quietly away and doesn't know anything about it until the next morning?"

- "Was it you or your brother that was killed in the war?"

- "How many times have you committed suicide?"

- "And the youngest son, the 20-year-old, how old is he?"

- "Were you alone or by yourself?"

- "And you are how old a woman, sir?"

Coming soon...Why journalists don't rate much better.

Stay tuned.

Here's one to ponder...

Historical report issued on Kentucky mine accident

A report of the federal investigation into the 1976 Scotia Mine accident in Letcher County is now available, the Mine Safety and Health Administration announced. Due to court orders issued in the course of civil litigation resulting from the accident, the report's publication had been delayed.

The Scotia Mine accident spurred Congress to strengthen federal mine safety and health enforcement by enacting the Federal Mine Safety and Health Amendments Act of 1977.

Two explosions occurred on March 9 and 11, 1976, at Scotia Mining Company's Scotia Mine near Oven Fork, claiming the lives of 26 men.

"While this accident took place many years ago and was investigated by MSHA's predecessor agency, the report is of historical interest. Accordingly, we are making it available to the mining community now that it is possible to do so," said Ed Hugler, acting assistant secretary of labor for mine safety and health. — Staff Report

Kentucky doctor faces more woes

The West Virginia Board of Medicine has set a hearing September 10 to consider disciplining a Kentucky physician convicted of bribing an investigator.

Dr. Diane Shafer, an orthopedic surgeon with offices in Paintsville and South Williamson has lost her Kentucky medical license but still has her West Virginia license.

She was convicted in April of bribing an assistant attorney general in Kentucky to recommend that the Kentucky Board of Medicine Licensure drop charges that she over-prescribed drugs and failed to care for her patients properly.

The West Virginia's board's discipline for her felony conviction could range from a public reprimand to revoking her license, Ronald Walton, the board's executive director, said.

Since losing her Kentucky license, Shafer reportedly has treated patients in West Virginia at a motel room, a parking lot and an airport tarmac. She recently opened an office in Williamson. — The Courier-Journal

Babbage won't challenge ruling

Secretary of State Bob Babbage said Monday he will not fight a court decision allowing an Eastern Kentucky sheriff's candidate to change his mind about withdrawing from the election.

Babbage had said it was illegal for Republican nominee Don McFaddin to re-enter the Johnson County sheriff's race after dropping out July 6. But Johnson Circuit Judge James Knight ruled Friday that the law does not address the issue, so McFaddin could drop back in.

Babbage said it "would not be appropriate" for him to appeal because he was not the filing official for the local election. Babbage said the local Republican Party could still challenge McFaddin's candidacy if it wishes.

McFaddin first said he withdrew for health reasons. When the local party tried to field another candidate, Babbage said state law permitted such substitutions only when the vacancy was created by death, disability or disqualification. — The Courier-Journal

Pontiki workers vote union

Sam Bradley has a simple reason for helping his co-workers at Pontiki Coal Corp. vote in the United Mine Workers union.

"I voted yes for my family," Bradley said following Friday's election at the Martin County coal company, where the union vote won by a vote of 101-78.

"The way it is now, we've got nothing in writing," he said. "With a union contract, my wife and my children will have something."

But Pontiki spokesman Paul Mackey noted that the union had challenged the validity of 23 ballots, a number that could make the vote a tie. He said the company would await investigation of the challenges before conceding the election.

UMA spokesman Jim Grossfeld said from Washington, however, that the union is confident the National Labor Relations Board will ultimately certify the victory. — Appalachian News-Express

Suit expected in alleged police beating

State police are investigating charges that three police officers kicked, punched and struck a handcuffed man with the butt of a pistol Saturday night in Johnson County.

The officers include a state police trooper, a Johnson County official and a member of the Johnson sheriff's office.

Pikeville attorney Terry Keesee said he expects to file a lawsuit in U.S. District Court against the officers, who allegedly beat the man after a police chase ended on a rural road near the Johnson/Martin County line.

Doug Collins of Offutt is charged with driving under the influence, attempting to elude police, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct, Keesee said. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Why we need a national plan for children

by David S. Liederman
Child Welfare League of America

We hear so often about children who have been abused or neglected, abandoned or killed. Or children who have run away or been thrown away. Or children who are battling drugs or alcohol, or living with adults who have chemical dependencies.

Life is hard for far too many of our nation's children and teens. But there is reason to hope. We have a president and a first lady who have strong advocacy records in behalf of children and families. All around the country, there are hundreds of exemplary programs being run by dedicated people. We have corporate leadership, political leadership in both parties, and millions of volunteers and professionals who work hard every day to make a difference in the lives of children and families.

What we don't have is a national strategy that will enable us to make a real and visible difference. If the president is to succeed with his initiatives for children—and who could wish for less—a national plan is essential.

Within the government, there are numerous programs directed at children and families—health care programs, Head Start and child care programs, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, housing programs, child welfare services, substance abuse programs, education and juvenile justice programs and more.

Where is the glue to hold all these programs together, to ensure that they are organized so states and cities can effectively implement them locally? With a plan, all the pieces of the national children's agenda can be brought together in a single framework, so that children and families receive quality services in an efficient manner.

The responsibility for developing and implementing such a plan could lie with a new National Council on Children and Their Families located in The White House. This council would include Cabinet-level officials now responsible for programs and services affecting children and families—the secretaries of Health and Human Services, Education, Housing and Urban Development, Labor, and Agriculture, and the Attorney General—along with the head of the Domestic Policy Council and the director of the Office of Management and Budget.

The task of integrating and coordinating services is challenging and tough, but it must be done to achieve the maximum efficiency and impact. Fortunately, we have an excellent opportunity today to change the way we meet our responsibility to children and families in America.

David S. Liederman is executive director of the Child Welfare League of America.

Tourists aboard Freedom Tours attended the luncheon matinee performance of "I DO! I DO!" at Jenny Wiley Theatre.

Tourists enjoy Jenny Wiley Theatre matinee

Tourists came literally by the busload to Jenny Wiley Theatre's matinee production of I DO! I DO! on July 27. For many of them it was their first opportunity to enjoy the mountain scenery and the facilities of the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. For at least one tour group, Freedom Tours out of South Point, Ohio, it was the continuation of a twenty-year tradition of visiting Jenny Wiley Theatre productions, but this time there was a difference—the play was served up at midday and included lunch! For Jenny Wiley Theatre, which celebrated its 100th production earlier this season with the opening of I DO! I DO!, the performance was the first-ever luncheon matinee. By all accounts it was a popular new offering with 263 people on hand to watch the play.

The majority of them were members of touring groups (like the 99 who came with Josette Gibson of Freedom Tours). According to Melissa McShane, group sales coordinator for the theatre, 47 buses and more than 20 tour group vans will have brought over 2,000 people to see the plays at Jenny Wiley this season. Many of those who attended this first matinee were members of Sunday School or church groups from the Ashland area, a large number of them, senior citizens. The daytime performance means an easier trip for all concerned, and makes it possible for some seniors to attend who were never able to come before.

The tour groups shared the convention center with a large contingent of local theatre patrons, eager to try this new offering. Despite a few kinks in the sit-down luncheon service, the audience enjoyed another polished performance by Jon-Daniel Durbin and Linda Zoblotzky as Michael and Agnes. The couple continues to inspire audiences as they sing their way through the peaks and valleys of a fifty-year marriage. For the convenience of theatre-goers, the park will be providing buffet service at future matinees.

Seating for the remaining luncheon matinees is extremely limited, but tickets for indoor performances of I DO! I DO! at 8:00 p.m., and the rest of the season's outdoor musicals are available. For tickets or information, call 606-886-9274.

Accompanied by the sounds of Dixieland jazz and blues, Goodman and Hardy lead a lighthearted search for things unique, outstanding, and indigenous to New Orleans. They traverse the French Quarter as well as other alluring neighborhoods. And they visit British-born actress Helen Mirren, a part-time New Orleanian; actor John Larroquette and musician Pete Fountain, both native sons; and New Orleans' own "Queen of Soul" (and ribs), Irma Thomas.

In Memoriam John P. Foley

Born December 19, 1945

Died August 22nd, in a car wreck.

A heart of gold stopped beating,
Two shining eyes at rest.
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He takes the very best.
Little did we know that morning
The sorrows the day would bring,
The end was sudden, the shock severe,
We never knew death was so near.
When day's are sad and lonely,
And evening shadow's fall,
We hear your voice, we see your face,
Your memory is with us all.

You are sadly missed by your children, your mother who loves you so much,
Brothers and Sisters,
All your friends
We all love you so much.
Gone, but not forgotten

Documentary examines medicine and politics of breast cancer

Last year, breast cancer killed approximately 44,000 women in the United States—one every three minutes. And every three minutes another woman is newly diagnosed with the disease.

Breast Cancer: Speaking Out, airing on KET at 10:30 p.m. Monday, August 23, addresses questions of why the causes and treatment of breast cancer are so little known and why some victims of the disease feel excluded from important decisions about their treatment.

The program allows women who are fighting the disease to speak frankly about their fears, angers, hopes, and efforts to force a reluctant political system to acknowledge what some have called an epidemic. These women are challenging what they see as complacency toward breast cancer among the general public, health care practitioners, insurance companies, and the federal government.

Breast Cancer: Speaking Out was produced by KCTS/Seattle and won a "Best of the West" award in the 1993 Pacific Mountain Network Program Awards.

About Your Social Security

The differences between Medicare and Medicaid

From: Jim Kelly
Social Security District Director
For the Big Sandy Area
You've heard of Medicare. And you've probably heard the term, Medicaid. Is there a difference?

The answer is yes...and although there also are similarities between the two programs, many people use the two words interchangeably and this can lead to problems.

Both Medicare and Medicaid are government-sponsored health care programs and both help pay medical bills. But there aren't many other similarities after that and the eligibility rules for each are very different.

Medicare is the health insurance program that's tied into the Social Security program (although it is possible to get Medicare without being on Social Security). Most people know it by the terms Part A and Part B, which refer to what are commonly called the hospital (A) and doctor's (B) parts of Medicare. Part A is paid for by a portion of the Social Security taxes you pay while working. Part B is paid for by the monthly premiums of those who enroll. You can get Medicare if you're 65 or older or if you've been getting Social Security disability benefits for two years. Some people with permanent kidney disease also qualify for Medicare. People getting Social Security are automatically enrolled in Medicare when they turn 65 or 24 months after they started getting disability benefits. Those not already getting Social Security benefits need to contact the Social Security office before their 65th birthday to sign up for Medicare.

Medicaid is a health care program that's tied into a person's economic circumstances. Generally, you qualify for Medicaid if you have a low income and few assets. For example, most people who get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) usually qualify for Medicaid. Medicaid is financed through general tax revenues—not through Social Security taxes. To apply for Medicaid, you should contact the State Department of Social Insurance Office in your county.

Some people qualify for both Medicare and Medicaid. But sometimes, people who have only Medicare confuse Part B of their program with Medicaid coverage. For example, a woman visiting our office recently told me she had "Medicare Part A and Medicaid Part B." I knew she really meant she had both Parts A and B of Medicare, but if she were to tell the same thing to a doctor's billing clerk, it could lead to problems.

One way to tell which program you have is by the identification card you were issued. The Medicare card is white with a red and blue stripe running across the top. Here in Kentucky, the Medicaid card is buff color and is sent by the state each month.

Two area students receive awards, scholarships at MSU

Morehead State University has announced that two Floyd County students are among those receiving a Regional Honors I Scholarship and a Kentucky Governor's Scholar Award for the fall semester.

The students, both graduates of Betsy Layne High School, are: Hattie Elizabeth Hall, daughter of Norma J. Boyd of Harold. A member of Beta Club, she graduated with high distinction and participated in the Lieutenant Governor's Student Exchange Program.

Timothy Ray Yates, son of Jimmy and Virgie Yates of Grethel. He was salutatorian of the BLHS senior class and received the Math Award.

To be eligible for the Regional Honors I Scholarship, applicants must be admitted to MSU as an entering freshman or transfer student; be a high school graduate within MSU's service region or have completed at least 60 hours at a community college in the service region; be recommended by high school or community college; be the highest ranking academic achiever coming to MSU from that high school or community college; have at least a 3.50 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) based on seven semesters of work; transfer students must have a cumulative 3.50 g.p.a., and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $2,500 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 3.00 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.25 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter. Transfer students must maintain a cumulative 3.25 g.p.a.

Students who successfully complete the Kentucky Governor's Scholars Program are automatically eligible for the Governor's Scholar Award. The scholarship, which pays the tuition costs of entering freshman, is renewable for three years if the student maintains a minimum cumulative 3.00 grade point average during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.25 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter.

Applications and information on scholarships and grant programs at MSU are available from the Office of Admissions, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. The toll free number is 800-262-7474 (in Kentucky) and 800-354-2090 (from adjoining states).

Weight management program recommends group support

Have you experienced so much difficulty trying to lose weight that you've just given up? Are you having health problems due to being overweight but can't seem to stick with any diet or program? A new element of Our Lady of the Way's WEIGHTBUSTERS program encourages groups of three or more to attend the 12-week series together in order to reach a more successful outcome. The program encourages members of families, office staffs, school faculties, businesses or organizations to take advantage of peer support which one needs when facing lifestyle changes. Experience has shown that those who have participated in WEIGHTBUSTERS as a group, tended to be more successful in attendance and in weight loss due to the mutual encouragement of group members. There is also a lower group fee for those attending together.

WEIGHTBUSTERS meets on Thursdays from 7:00-8:00 p.m. The next series will begin in September. The WEIGHTBUSTERS program fees are lower than any other weight management program available in the area. Interested parties are encouraged to call 285-5181, EXT. 388, to receive a brochure or other information on the program, or to make an appointment for the pre-program consultation with a dietitian.

Remember When...

PRESIDENT'S NEWBORN SON DIES

Patrick Bouvier Kennedy was born five weeks premature and lived just 39 hours. He succumbed to respiratory distress on August 8. The loss seemed to pull President Kennedy and the First Lady closer together. One who observed them as they left the hospital holding hands said they looked like a young couple on a date, very much in love. In just over three months this family would be hit by tragedy again.

NEWSMAKER OF THE MONTH

August 28, 1963. Over 200,000 people filled the streets of Washington, D.C., in a peaceful demonstration demanding the passage of Civil Rights legislation. Many spoke and many sang, but the speech by the leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference would be the best remembered. "I have a dream," said the Reverend Martin Luther King Jr. A dream of equality. A dream of brotherhood. A dream of freedom and justice for all. A dream that his people would "be free at last, free at last, thank God Almighty, free at last."

TALK ABOUT SECOND-HAND SMOKE

Ever since the end of the Second World War, the world's major powers tested their nuclear weapons by exploding them in remote areas. Military scientists measured the effects as mushroom clouds rose into the atmosphere, spreading radioactive fallout around the planet. An important step towards ending this practice took place on August 5, 1963. On that date in Moscow, representatives of the United States, the United Kingdom, and the U.S.S.R. signed a test ban treaty outlawing nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere, in space and underwater. France and China refused to sign on. In the U.S., concerned legislators had one question: Can the Russians be trusted?

AUGUST '63 SPORTS: A BEGINNING AND AN END

The U.S. Davis Cup Committee announced that in 1963, for the first time ever, the United States tennis squad would include a black member. The newcomer: Arthur Ashe, age 20, of Richmond, Virginia. As one career began, another ended. Stan the Man called it quits. After 22 seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, popular power-hitter Stan Musial, 42, announced that 1963 would be his last season.

AUGUST '63 ENTERTAINMENT NEWS: HIT THE BEACH!

The surfing craze hit the movies. Summertime moviegoers had their choice of two films featuring fun-loving surfer types. "Beach Party" starred Annette Funicello and Frankie Avalon as hip youngsters living it up with the gang on the beach. Professor Bob Cummings was on hand with a telescope and notepad. Seems the professor was investigating the kids for his new book on the habits of modern teenagers. Meanwhile, James (Moondoggie) Darren was back for the third Gidget movie. This time it was "Gidget Goes to Rome." Say, where does one surf in Rome?

FUN WITH ELEPHANTS

How do you make an elephant float? Simple, to one elephant add two scoops of ice cream and some root beer. Remember elephant jokes? They were the joke craze in August of 1963. How do you get down off an elephant? You don't. You get down off a duck. Oh, well. They seemed funny at the time.

ANSWER TO THE AUGUST 1953 TRIVIA QUESTION

Newcomer Audrey Hepburn starred as the pampered and protected princess in the hit movie, "Roman Holiday," also starring Gregory Peck.

AUGUST 1963 TRIVIA QUESTION

What newly released hit movie told the story of hundreds of men digging tunnels in Nazi Germany? Answer next time.

Rebecca is two

Rebecca Jean Jones will celebrate her second birthday on August 17. She is the daughter of Johnny and Christine Jones of Melvin. She will have a Barney cake and ice cream provided by her great-aunt Ruth Rainey of Bevinville. Two brothers, Donnie and Brian will help her celebrate.

Ken's Sport Shop places third in state tournament

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ken's Sports Shop has been one of the premier softball teams in the state of Kentucky. They continued to play good softball by placing third in the recent ASA State Class B tournament held in Lexington over the past weekend.

The local team was one of the hottest hitting teams in the first round games both Friday evening and Saturday. But some slow bats were their downfall in the closing rounds of the tournament. They fell to Berardi's 8-4 for their second loss in the double elimination tournament.

"We just couldn't hit the ball," said Kenny Conley, manager of the team.

A three-run third and fifth for Berardi's was enough to hold off a late sixth inning charge by Ken's.

Ken's took a 1-0 lead in the first, only to have Berardi's tie the game in the bottom of the inning. Jimmy Blankenship, who started the tournament with 10 consecutive hits, singled home the first run of the game.

Both teams pushed across a run in the second inning to remain tied at 2-2. Three runs came home for Berardi's on a walk, single and two-run double.

Ken's went out in order in the third, fourth and fifth inning while Berardi's scored three times in the third and fifth.

Two runs crossed the plate for Ken's in the sixth as Kane Hale and Blankenship scored to make it a 8-4 game.

Conley, making a rare appearance in the game, collected two of his team's seven hits.

Blankenship leads in game one...
Blankenship began his streak of 10 straight hits in the first game against Thomas Sports Printing Friday night. Blankenship collected four hits in the game as Ken's posted a 16-8 victory.

Herbie Strawn Berger hit a three-run first inning home run as four runs scored in the first inning. Scott Cornette led off the game with a drive over the right centerfield fence.

Blankenship homered in the second inning with a runner on base as Ken's scored five times for a 9-0 lead. Thomas got on the scoreboard in the second on a lead off triple by Worthington and a sacrifice fly.

Ken sent six runners home in the sixth inning to widen their lead to 16-6 before Thomas Sports scored twice in the bottom of the seventh.

Cornette and Berger each had three hits in the game. Greg Shepherd finished with two as did Bud Newsome and Randy Kidd.

Russell County next...

The Russell County Merchants furnished the opposition in game three and it wasn't a game that Conley was looking forward to.

"They are a good team," he said before the game. "They will be tough team to beat."

But Ken's arose to the challenge and posted a 16-1 mercy win, collecting 20 hits on their way to their third win of the tournament.

Blankenship again was perfect. He had four hits in four plate appearances for eight consecutive hits. He homered and had two doubles.

Mike McQuate, who displayed some defensive gems, had a perfect game with three hits. Cornette, Hale, Shepherd, Berger and Jerry Fultz had two hits each.

Russell County scored their lone run in the second for a 3-1 score. Ken's scored six times in the third and four in the fourth to burst the game open.

Tim Rice was on the mound for Ken's and retired the last eight batters he faced and gave up only one hit over the last three innings.

Berger blasted two home runs in picking up three RBIs. His second shot was by accident.

"I just wanted to hit the ball hard down the line," he said, "but it went sailing out of the park."

Berger wanted to save his second for when someone was on base. McQuate had a two-run triple in the fourth.

Grinders posed a problem...

The Grinders were one of the favorites to take the state title and no one was really looking forward to playing them.

But all the fears were for naught as Ken's destroyed the power team 21-1 behind the hitting of Shepherd. Shepherd drilled two home runs, both two-run shots, and had a double for six runs batted in.

Blankenship had his consecutive hit streak snapped at ten when he popped to shortstop.

"That was a base hit when I hit," he said coming back to the dugout.

Youthful Betsy Layne Bobcats play Elkhorn City to 0-0 tie

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Grid-o-rama games are no more than a glorified scrimmage game; but you will not convince the Betsy Layne Bobcats football team that the game is not important.

Grid-o-ramas afford teams an opportunity to play under game conditions and help a coach to further evaluate his team.

The Bobcats, young and green in key positions, looked impressive in places as they battled the Elkhorn City Cougars to a 0-0 standstill.

While neither team was able to score, Betsy Layne did put together a good drive that stalled out on the Cougars 10-yard line.

The march began when Betsy Layne took control of the football to open the second 18-minute half. They marched from the Cougars' 30-yard line to the ten for a 60 yard drive.

The Bobcats faced a fourth-and-three situation but quarterback Marty Hamilton, on a keeper, could only manage a yard as the Cougar defense held.

Betsy Layne picked up seven first downs in the drive. Freshman Craig Hamilton looked as if he came to play in rushing for 33 yards on nine carries.

Coach John Derossett likes the desire of this year's team.

"We're still building here at Betsy Layne," he said after the game. "We're still looking for some dedication from our players. We lost to Elkhorn City 36-12 last year, but I feel that we are

Betsy Layne to hold four man scramble

So, get your foursome together for the scramble and mark your calendar.

The outing will be held at the John M. Stumbo Golf Course with the shotgun start scheduled to tee off at 8 a.m. Four-man team scramble format will be used.

Cash prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place and the longest drive, closest to the pin, longest putt, closest to line and lowest score.

Entry fee for the tournament is $20 per person which includes green fee, lunch and refreshments.

getting better every day."

The Bobcats were without the services of running back Rocky Hamilton in the scrimmage game.

It was the defense that was a shining star for Betsy Layne as they came up with two interceptions and recovered two Elkhorn City fumbles.

Jamie Robinette, unofficially, had seven hits and one sack.

"Jamie played a very strong game for us," said Derossett. "We put together a nice drive to start the second half. I believe we had control of the ball for the first nine minutes. Adam Roberts also had a good defensive game for us."

For Elkhorn City, a team hit hard by graduation plus getting a coach only four weeks ago, it was a matter of learning in the trenches as new head coach B.J. Elswick found out.

"I sort of got drafted into this position," said the former Lady Cougar basketball coach. "They didn't have anyone to take the job and were thinking of dropping the program all together. I didn't want to do that so I took it."

Elswick said that his team has been working together for about two weeks and now may find it difficult to "play with everyone else early."

"Betsy Layne looked nice out there on the field," said Elswick. "They

Floyd leads AC running game against South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Brackett Field football stadium was packed Saturday night as the South Floyd Raiders hosted their first annual grid-o-rama in Wheelwright. Three county schools, plus Elkhorn City, fielded teams.

The large crowd was credited to the novelty of playing at the new school and the desire for some grid-iron action after a long baseball season.

Allen Central and new head coach Glenn Reeves gave the Rebel fans something to cheer about. They pulled out a 18-6 win over the Raiders in each team's first scrimmage game of the year.

The large following, for both schools, saw two young teams battle each other in two 18-minute halves.

Senior fullback Glenn Floyd led the ground game for the Rebels by rushing for an unofficial 104 yards on nine carries. Floyd broke tackle in the first half and raced 62 yards for the game's first touchdown that gave Allen Central a 6-0 lead.

Penalties racked the Rebels as they were flagged for three consecutive off-side penalties. They totaled 65 yards in infractions on eight flags.

As expected, South Floyd's Arnold

Adams is geared for a banner season as he galloped for 120 yards on eight carries. Adams scored his team's only score on an eight-yard run into the end zone in the first half.

Allen Central, who went winless last season, is looking to start their season right. Coach Reeves was ner-

Registration will be conducted at Archer Park beginning at 1 p.m. The league is open to players in Floyd County who are in kindergarten through the sixth grade. That includes those 10, 11 and 12-year-old sixth graders.

An alternative date has been set for registration which will be held on Tuesday, August 31 at 7 p.m. at Archer Park.

All players who have played or will be playing for the first time are urged to come out and register on one of the two dates.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

ROSE GETS NOD OVER PACK...

While the Floyd County Board of Education had to wrestle with the decision as to who was going to be the first head boys' basketball coach at South Floyd High School, the decision came down to two -- Jackie Pack and Jim Rose.

The official (?) announcement came Tuesday morning when the job was handed to Rose over Pack who had coached at Wheelwright the past two seasons and did a remarkable job.

Pack was respected by the Trojan fans as well as the players and he was their choice to coach at the new Left Beaver school.

However, Rose got the nod over Pack and will take over the helm of the Raiders basketball program.

While at the grid-o-rama in Wheelwright this past Saturday night, I didn't find too many happy campers since the rumors persisted that Rose had been unofficially hired for the job back in July. If that is true, then why were applications taken for the position to start with?

The powers that be will tell you that state law requires it. But if a coach is hired before the 30 day period of taking applications expires, then a lot of paperwork and time were wasted.

Nevertheless, Coach Rose will become the first head boys' coach at the new school and will bring some pretty impressive credentials with him.

The returning players from McDowell and Wheelwright will have to adjust to another coaching philosophy, but Coach Rose has proven he can coach.

Word is, also, that the Raiders basketball team will have a new member this season and he stands at 6' 10". He is a transfer from Texas and has been active on the basketball floor. Stay tuned!

POP WARNER FOOTBALL...

The Pop Warner Football League will conduct registration at Archer Park Saturday, August 28 beginning at 1 p.m.

Be sure to get registered for the upcoming season.

JAMAL SAY IT AIN'T SO...

Former Kentucky great Jamal Mashburn is catching on fast as a pro. When some little kid who has admired you and respected you for your contributions to the Kentucky program comes to you and wants your autograph at a card show, charge him three bucks. That's right. Jump in there with the rest and make a mint off those who don't have $3.

Mashburn, since turning pro, has hit the card shows and his agent is helping him make a bundle by charging three dollars per autograph.

Mashburn has already signed a $7 million-plus contract with a shoe company and became an instant millionaire by signing with the Dallas Mavericks. Now he needs three dollars ($20 for signing a basketball or t-shirt) to see him through.

It stinks!

KEN'S SPORTS SHOP LOOKED GOOD..

I enjoyed covering the state softball tournament in Lexington last weekend. Got to see some good softball games. I love watching them chase down the long fly balls or watching the ball sail over the fence.

Ken's Sport Shop's team really looked good in the tournament even though they placed third. This team deserves the label as one of Kentucky's best softball teams. They will be off to the Midwest Nationals next month.

WHO WILL BE MISSING...

• Bip Roberts will not be a Cincinnati Red next season. Look for the fleet-footed, often-hurt second baseman to find his way into the American League as a free agent next season.

• Chris Sabo. It would be a shame for the Reds not to try and re-sign Sabo who also will be a free agent after this season. If he goes, he will be an Atlanta Brave next year, replacing an aging Terry Pendleton.

• Tom Browning. Only if they can find someone to tolerate his inconsistency. If not, then the Reds deserve to be stuck with him next season.

• Rob Dibble. A troublemaker. Needs to join Eric Davis at Los Angeles.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports.

Hand off to Roberts!

Betsy Layne fans may purchase season tickets

Betsy Layne High School is trying to make it easier for their fans to attend their football and basketball games this year.

The school is offering season tickets to fans that will include all football games, as well as reserved seating at all boys' and girls' basketball games this coming season.

The tickets are sure to be a bargain at $50 per adult and $25 per student. All tickets are on sale now at Betsy Layne High School.

For more information contact athletic director William Newsome, Jr. at 478-9138. Or you may call 478-1985 or 478-9322.

Prestonsburg cross-country team to meet tonight

It's time for fall sports and the Prestonsburg cross-country team is getting ready for the upcoming season.

Coach Harold Tackett has issued a call to those interested in taking part in this year's cross-country meets to be at the Prestonsburg High School gymnasium tonight at 7 p.m.

The meeting is for students in grades six through 12.

vous over the play of South Floyd.

"The South Floyd coaching staff did read good job," he said after the game. "They were aggressive in coming back on us. Actually, they had me scared for a time."

South Floyd Coach Donnie Daniels was pleased with the effort of his very young and inexperienced team.

"I was pleased with the effort they put forth tonight," said Daniels. "We looked much better than we have the past week. We're just a young team and we need to get some of them some experience."

Daniels vowed that at this weekend's grid-o-rama at Jenkins that the younger players would see action.

"They will get some playing time at Jenkins Saturday night," he said. "They are not getting to play much, but we will have to change that."

Allen Central got on the scoreboard in the first half early when they scored on their first possession. The running game of Floyd brought his team out of a deep hole they put themselves in because of the penalty situation.

On a first down play, after picking up a first down, the Rebels were flagged for being off-sides three straight times, moving the football from the 31 back to the 16. Halfback James Osborne picked up some good yardage to move the football to the Rebels 38-yard line. Floyd then took the hand off from Blackburn and seemed to be held by the Raiders' defense. But the fullback broke two tackles and raced the 62 yards for the touchdown.

South Floyd wasted little time in tying the game at 6-6 and penalties against the Rebels help the Raiders "cause."

A 12-yard run by Adams, plus a 15-yard face mask flag against the Rebels gave the Raiders excellent field position. Adams then galloped 58 yards before being brought down on the Allen Central 10-yard line.

A 2-yard run and then a 8-yard burst by Adams tied the game at 6-all.

The game remained tied while the two teams broke for halftime.

Early in the second half, both teams exchanged turnovers as each quarterback was intercepted.

South Floyd later moved to the Allen Central 48 only to fumble the ball over to the Rebels.

Allen Central took advantage of the turnover and Floyd scored from 4 yards out to give Allen Central a 12-6 lead.

Late in the game, Allen Central intercepted a Aaron Hall pass that set up the final touchdown for the Rebels. Osborne scored on a 3 yard plunge to make it 18-6 as a final.

While coach Reeves felt that his team was a little slow against South Floyd, still he saw "some good play on defense."

"We tried to run the 50 on defense," said the Rebel coach, "but right now we just haven't gotten the technique down. South Floyd—they try to overshift you and they did a good job against us tonight."

"Offensively, we were slow but our defense came up with some good plays and that turned the game around."

Blackburn was good at running the option, something that surprised the Allen Central coach.

"I was surprise at him running the option the way he did," Reeves confessed. "That's not our thing. But Brad held onto the ball."

Blackburn rushed for 43 yards on seven carries and had a 21-yard gainer off the option play. Osborne finished with 58 yards on eight carries.

Outside of Adams, only Cruse Caudill has any yardage. He compiled just 12 yards on eight carries.

The Raiders turned the ball over five times, losing it twice on interceptions, and three times they fumbled the ball away. The Raiders were hit with only 5 yards in penalties.

Coach Daniels is not ready to panic with this year's team.

"My kids will be alright by the middle of the season or earlier," said the Raiders coach. "We just need to be more consistent and hold onto the football and not have the turnovers we had."

"It will take us a few weeks to get some consistency and we need to learn not to break down on defense." Coach Daniels likes the play of Caudill.

"Cruse ran the ball hard for us tonight," said Daniels. "He had no problem out there. He just needs to get some rest and not go both ways. I think by the second game, you'll see Cruse is getting better."

Daniels said that his team needs to play smart and "not beat ourselves." "We'll get there," he said. "We're not giving up. It's early."

Wheelwright and Allen Central will face each for the second time when they meet in Saturday's EKMC grid-o-rama at Jenkins.

Untested!

Aaron Hall (2) of South Floyd has been untested thus far at the quarterback slot for the Raiders, but he is expected to develop as the season goes on. Hall is a sophomore at South Floyd. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Investors Frustrated And Disgusted With 3% CD's. Say They Are Victims Of Bank's Greed.

Lexington, KY—Today's retirees, and others who are counting on their nest eggs to provide for them are frustrated and angry. They feel that the banks are taking advantage of the economy to create obscene profits.

A local retiree was quoted as saying, "The bank is still charging over 17% on credit card balances, and paying me a lousy 3.1% on my CD! This is unfair. I have worked my whole life, and always taken care of myself. Now, in the last three years, I have seen all my expenses go up, and my CD income drop to less than half of what it was! The banks should be ashamed of themselves. How am I going to make it?"

The feelings of this woman seem to be universal, when people are asked about this touchy topic.

Although CD's are insured by an agency of the US Government, and alternatives may not be, people can do much better with their savings.

As with anything else, knowledge is the key. The banks are making more money than ever, and hope the average person will not bother to learn about their alternatives. The bankers want people to keep their money tied up at these disgusting low rates and know a lot of us will not move because of the fear of the unknown.

A FREE REPORT called The Little Known Secret To Beating CD's, has been made available for the first time. The report explains, in simple language, the almost unheard of method to take care of yourself, and tells you how to stop being at the mercy of the banks. You can call 1-800-817-1117, 24 hours, for a FREE, recorded message, to get your copy of the report.

Call now, and find out what the bank doesn't want you to know!

"HILL" PRIDE

"Vision in Motion"

Ken's

Blankenship decided to start a second streak and singled home a run in the fourth of the mercy game.

Berger hit a third-inning solo home run and collected three hits for the game. Jeff Kline, Larry Burke and Dave Conley had pinch hit singles in the game.

Mesa Verde third game Saturday..

In a 6 p.m. start Saturday night, the third game of the day for Ken's, the local team posted a 14-2 victory for their fourth consecutive victory in the tournament.

A two-run home run in the first staked Mesa Verde to a 2-0 lead. Ken's tied the game at 2-2 on Blankenship's two-run home run in the bottom of the inning.

Hale blasted a two-run shot in the sixth, his third hit of the game. Berger had a three-hit night and Randy Kidd tripled in the second and scored. Fultz finished with two hits.

Sunday dawning different..

It was the dawning of a new day Sunday morning as the team headed from their motels to Shillito Park for more softball action. It wasn't to be a good beginning for Ken's. They fell to a good Bowling Green Merchants team (who were the state champions) 24-18 in a hit-a-thon game.

Bowling Green jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first on two doubles and a single. Ken's came back to push across four in the bottom of the inning as the first three batters reached and Shepherd hit a three-run home run. Cornett had tripled and scored on a double by Hale. Blankenship singled and Shepherd hit his four bagger.

Bowling Green sent nine batters to the plate in the second inning and after two were out, all the damage was then done. Six runs scored for the Merchants as they took a 8-4 advantage.

But the lead was short-lived when Ken's plated five runs in the bottom of the frame for a 9-8 game. Bud Newsome, Kidd and Fultz reached and Hale singled home one run. Blankenship then drilled a three-run shot that gave Ken's the lead.

A lead off solo home run for Bowling Green tied the game as the two teams battled all the way.

Ken's went on top 11-9 with two in the third, but Bowling Green pushed home three in the fourth for a 12-11 game.

After Ken's went out in the fourth leaving two runners on base, Bowling Green exploded for six in the fifth for a 18-11 score. Ken's got a single run in the fifth and five in the sixth to stay close at 19-15. Shepherd had a three-run home run in the sixth.

Five runs in the seventh for Bowling Green gave them the win and Ken's first loss.

Ken rebounds...

Ken's came back and edged the Stalkers in the losers' bracket 18-13 behind the hitting of Shepherd who had three hits. McQuate collected four hits and Comette had a fifth-inning home run.

Randy Kidd hit his first long ball of the tournament with a fifth-inning shot with two on board. Ronnie Little had three hits and Blankenship finished with two.

Eliminates Parrish Lumber...

Parrish Lumber has always been known to carry big sticks and it looked in the first inning as if they were never going to be gotten out. Parrish plated six runs in the first inning for a 6-0 lead as the first six batters reached.

But Ken's came back and scored three in the first and three in the second to tie the game at 6-6. Parrish led 9-8 after three; but Ken's pushed home five in the fifth and five in the sixth to close out the 18-10 win and they moved on to the semifinals.

Little, Hale and Comette homered for Ken's.

The dream ended when Ken's fell to Berardi's to finish third.

Berardi's defeated Bowling Green in the first meeting of the two teams, but Bowling Green posted a 14-13 win in game two to capture the state title.

Ken's will advance on to the Mid-western National's in Cincinnati September 3-6.

have improved by leaps and bounds. But I feel that we will play hard and we are going to get better."

Hamilton attempted only one pass and connected with a 36-yard pass-completion.

Elkhorn took first possession of the football with Betsy Layne stopping them on four downs. The Bobcats keyed on the running game of the Cougars and took away the middle as Brandon "Bubba" Combs closed down any openings.

Betsy Layne forced Elkhorn to go to the outside more where the Cougars found little territory to run.

"Craig (Hamilton) is just a freshman but he stepped up and had a good game for us," said Derossett. "Roberts, at fullback, is coming along and he will be alright."

Derossett credits the hard work in the weight room and the positive effect it has had on his team's defense.

"We just need to get back to the basic play book and run our power and pass plays," said the Betsy Layne mentor.

Betsy Layne had a total of 139 yards offensively, unofficially. They rushed for 103 yards and had a 36-yard pass completion.

Adam Roberts rushed for 40 yards on 10 carries while Hamilton ran for 29 yards on seven carries.

Hamilton was intercepted once and Betsy Layne picked up 40 yards in penalties on five flags. The offense did not fumble the football.

Elkhorn City had 102 yards total offense as they rushed for 72 yards on 14 carries. The Cougars were two-of-four passing for 30 yards. They received one flag for five yards in penalties. Elkhorn lost the ball twice -- once on a fumble and again on an interception.

Betsy Layne will play their second scrimmage game of the preseason when they travel to Jenkins for the EKMC Grid-o-rama.

J&K capture state Class A softball title

It was good news coming out of Somerset for the J & K softball team from West Liberty. They went undefeated in the state Class A state tournament in Somerset this past weekend.

The area softball team defeated Denny Lumber, who mostly plays in the open rather than class play, 26-16, in a slugfest.

The title championship allows J & K to travel to Gainesville, Florida for the nationals on September 24.

"We played great defense in the tournament," said team manager Lawrence Smith, who teams with Kenny Whitt in running the team. "We hit the ball well and when you average 20 runs a game, you have to be hitting well."

Bobby Sparks was the tournament's Most Valuable Player after his consistent hitting during the four games. Sparks collected 14 hits in 16 at bats and blasted eight home runs while collecting 16 runs batted in.

J & K rolled past Mason Shell in game one by posting a 17-8 victory. In game two, the area team recorded a 13-5 win over Joose and then had a 10 runs, 27-17, win over Little Caesars.

Kenny Belcher swung a hot bat for J & K with 13 hits in 16 plate appearances. He collected eight RBIs in the tourney. Lex Gallion banged out five home runs with 11 RBIs while going 11 for 16. Neil West was a hot 11 for 17 with a home run and four RBIs.

"We were 101 for 170 in the tournament," said Smith. "That comes up to a .594 batting average as a team. We had 20 home runs, 67 RBIs and scored 67 runs. Our opposition scored 56 runs."

The four game sweep in the state tournament ran J & K's record to 53-22 on the season and earned them the trip to the nationals.

"Whoa, Adam..."

Adam Roberts (11) of Betsy Layne finds the going rough as an Elkhorn City defender hangs on. Betsy Layne and Elkhorn met in the first game of the Raiders' Grid-o-rama last Saturday night. (photo by Ed Taylor)

TURN THE CORNER TIME FOR UK FOOTBALL?; JEERS TO JAMAL

I confess to being among those UK football watchers who comes to this time of year with optimism and high hopes. An affliction that dates back to Hardy-to-Schnellenberger days. The mid-1980s.

Bryant to Claiborne, and Curry too, coaches have sallied forth, spewed sunny propaganda, then gone someplace else—as far from the SEC as possible—scratching their heads. This preseason, Bill Curry has defined us.

Group 1. Fellowship of the Miserables. "You got to love em, pray for 'em, and stay away from 'em," he says.

Group 2. "Kentucky has more of them than I've seen any place I've been," he says. "Man, they just love this program and come here each week expecting a good time and to win every game."

Group 3. "My gosh, look at all those coaches, all the facilities. Dare I get my hopes up one more time?"

Answer: yes, of course, Curry says unblinkingly. Otherwise, Kentucky fans might as well give in, join Fellowship of the Miserables. What sort of option is that?

So, this UK season is going to be different. A winning one. Much the way Bill Clinton handlers searched out enough votes to pass the budget by one, I believe Kentucky is going to go slip over the top, 6-5.

Hunch: Might even be 7-4 if the Florida game is the track-meet surprise I have a feeling it's going to be.

A summary rundown.

• Players to watch: Pookie Jones (of course), defensive tackles Robert Stinson and Jim Brown and defensive end Zane Beehn. Could be worth ticket price watching them chasing QBs.

If the line troops have a banner season, and Marty Moore stays healthy and gets 15-16 key tackles each game, as Beehn guarantees he will, then we're talking winning season.

• Running back corps emerges. Names to watch; Redshirt freshman Ray McLaurin and rookie Mo Williams.

• Tight end corps. Terry Samuels is a proven receiver. Corey Reeves likewise. Both have potential to be All-SEC. If that happens, well...

Keys to a season: Pass rush, offensive line play and kicking game. Each is a relative mystery.

"The offensive line is mostly all new, but boy are they aggressive," croons Pookie Jones.

We must believe he is not whistle past the grave yard.

Historical footnote: After three straight so-so seasons, the last 5-5 in 1957, LSU's Fellowship of the Miserable was at the gates, ready to revolt, and lynch their coach. But, in 1958 Paul Dietzel's Tigers suddenly grew up together, became three platoons including the Chinese Bandits and went 11-0, including the Sugar Bowl.

Turn-around seasons. They are timeless and are definition for Curry's Groups 2 and 3.

JEERS TO JAMAL

What man signs an endorsement contract for $8 mill with Fila, and two months later agrees to a three-bucks-a-pop autograph session at a card show in Cincinnati?

Jamal Mashburn.

The ex-UK star appeared at the Midwest Regional Sports Card & Comic Convention last week selling his autograph for $3, $20 for his name scrawled on a basketball or game jersey.

Jeers! Anybody else smell a rotten, greedy agent here?

I asked UK director of athletics C.M. Newton the 'Jamal question' last week.

"I really don't know about it, but to me, you handle autographs one of two ways. Either you do like Larry Bird and refuse to sign anything. Or, you're just grateful somebody cares enough to ask for one and sign for everybody free," he said.

If Mashburn is giving his card show proceeds to charity or some other worthy cause he should make it clear before hand.

GREG SMITH VIEWS

I am asked occasionally why I abhor NBA basketball. Inflated salaries aside, former Western Ky. Hilltopper star and NBA veteran Greg Smith explains it very well.

During a visit to his hometown Princeton from Beaverton, Ore. recently, the ex-Hilltopper and Milwaukee Bucks star shared several notable views with sports writer Joey Randolph.

• On NBA players today: "I think we (in the 60s-70s) had a deeper passion for the game. We showed up every night to play. These players (today) want to be pampered."

Today's NBA game is faster, more full court, Smith points out, "but fundamentally, players are weaker now than they've ever been in the NBA. Everybody wants to fly through the air and dunk the ball. They want to be on halftime highlights.

"I see kids playing now, quick kids who can do lots of things, but they're fundamentally weak. They see the guys in the NBA and want to do those things but don't realize these guys have (big) hands that can wrap around their heads."

Smith adds "kids are trying to pick up these things they see on TV, but they haven't learned fundamentals yet."

• Good athletes. "From the time an athlete becomes a good athlete he gets in a shell because people constantly tell you how good you are. Some players don't (ever) have a sense of reality because of that."

• NBA players are puppets. "Their agents tell them this stuff, they listen and their heads get big."

Best for last...

• On girls hoops. "I do basketball clinics and I see girls coming up and learning. They're more fundamentally sound than boys. As a matter of fact, I have greater fun watching girls' NCAA basketball than I do some of the boys. They're so much fun to watch because they're fundamentally sound." Greg Smith.

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE

Brian Fryman of Louisville, and an unsigned card from Lexington arrived on the same day in reply to "Whatever happened to ex-Major League pitcher Woody Fryman."

Brian writes: "Woodrow Thompson Fryman resides in Ewing, Ky. and has another home in S. Daytona Beach. Woody enjoys farming and fishing now that he has retired from The Show. I'm sure Woody Fryman is already in the Ky. Athletic Hall of Fame, but if he isn't I'm sure you would agree there is no better candidate."

COMMENT: Yes indeed. And Fryman has not been inducted.

COMMENT II: I still receive many inquiries about the athletic Halls of Fame (Kentucky's and KHSAA's). Thank you for writing.

Ashley Willyard of Sacramento, Ky. writes to ask how to get a letter to Kentucky's Travis Ford.

COMMENT: UK's senior point guard, who had knee surgery last week, could use a get-well card or two. Write him c/o UK Basketball, Memorial Coliseum, Lexington, Ky. 40506.

PARTING SHOT

UK quarterback Pookie Jones began scrambling early. When WVLR-Radio's Tom Leach asked Jones if he likes Daryl Dickey's coaching style better than departed Rick Rhoades, the Kentucky QB hesitated.

"It's okay," Leach reassured.

"Coach Rhoades isn't here to make you run anymore."

"Ooohhh, that's a tough question. Let me just say coach Dickey is a great play caller from the sidelines."

Leach: "That's very politically correct. Thank you."

NEXT WEEK: A visit with UK director of athletics C.M. Newton.

Have a comment or point of view you would like to share? Write to Bob Watkins, Sports In Ky. P.O. Box 124, Glendale, Ky. 42740.

All smiles!

Dickerson still has the swing in Coon Pickers Golf Outing

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Twenty golfers displayed their Coon Picker's golf hat and trotted out to the Beaver Valley Golf Course for the annual Coon Picker's Golf Tournament, a tournament for the 60 and over only.

It was a lively group that wanted to show the world that they had not lost a step, let alone a swing, with the old golf club.

In the age group of 80 and over, Aubrey Dickerson (a preacher) showed that the years had not deteriorated his game by winning a trophy, a putter and a dozen assorted golf balls. Dickerson was ready for another round, but the others were too tired.

Burford Coleman won a trophy for the lowest score of the outing. Frank Heinz and Brad Worrix were winners of the team match.

The longest drive (no yardage given) was hit by Coleman and Heinz came the closest-to-the-hole. Clyde McGuire had the most birdies and the special trophy -- Uh'O! Ouch! Shucks! Trophy -- was awarded to Dickerson.

The Coon Pickers Golf Association was founded by Walter Frasure, who should know better, and everyone really enjoys the annual outing.

The fun of fishing By Scott Patton and made possible by these sponsors:

Scott Patton fishes the BASS-MASTERS Tournament Trail. He won the 1989 B.A.S.S. Federation State Championship. He was named 1987 Hydra Sports Points Champion.

Scott is sponsored by TRACKER Marine, Burnett Brothers Boat Mart and Triple Fish.

Use your map to determine good fishing situations for all seasons of the year. I'll look at the flats for spawning, deep water for summer and winter, and hopefully a good creek channel for spring and fall fishing. If I can find all of these areas in one location, I know that I can catch fish in that general area. I will locate two or three areas like that and fish them different ways at different times of the day. Sometimes fish are inactive and you have to revisit that area another time of day and sometimes with a new technique. I will usually hit them with several different baits each time

I fish that particular spot. Once you get on the water, fish the areas you have already located on your map. One major mistake anglers make is that if they don't get quick results, they'll vacate the area. I've found that the more you fish the more likely you are to get serious about your game plan.

Since I fish tournaments on lakes all around the country, I always try to get my hands on the best topographical map I can find. These are lake maps showing detailed contour lines of the lake bottom. You can usually find these maps in your marinas and local tackle shops. They will be worth every penny invested in them.

I never go out on a body of water, whether it's a lake or river system, without a map. A map is your key to getting familiar with the layout of the lake. Once I get a map for a lake, I'll study for general information such as size, form of the lake, and creeks and channels. The main thing I'll look for is an area that has all the key ingredients for spawning, summer and winter hideouts, and a good creek channel for fall fish as well. Once I get to the lake I'll take these confidence areas and fish them with several baits and at different times of the day. I will more or less fish my way into a pattern, depth, or specific area. Once I've found these things and the fish begin to cooperate, then I'll go back to the map and get serious about studying it.

Eight NCAA participants on 93-94 Cards hoop slate

Louisville -- Eight teams that competed in the NCAA tournament last season, appearances in the Rainbow Classic and 7-up Shootout, and 17 home games in Freedom Hall highlight the 1993-94 University of Louisville men's basketball schedule as released by U of L Director of Athletics Bill Olsen.

U of L's opponents won over 55 percent of their games a year ago (excluding the Rainbow Classic field), posting a collective 327-266 record last season. Ten opponents on the Cardinals' schedule participated in post-season tournament play last season, including eight in the NCAA Tournament and two in the NIT. "Once again, I'm very pleased with the blend of quality regional and national opponents we have maintained on our schedule," said Olsen. "It's another typically tough, challenging schedule that our fans have come to expect. From top to bottom, the quality of our non-conference schedule is among the finest in the country."

With three starters returning from last season's successful 22-9 team that reached the NCAA Tournament Sweet Sixteen, the Cardinals will open the 1993-94 slate with an exhibition game against Athletes in Action on November 20, the first of 17 home games in Freedom Hall. U of L will also play an exhibition contest against the Mexican National Team on December 16.

The Cards will open the regular season against intrastate rival Kentucky on December 1 in Lexington, the 19th time in head coach Denny Crum's 22 seasons that U of L has opened its season on the road. Four of the Cardinals' first six games are against in-state schools, facing Morehead State on December 8, Eastern Kentucky on December 11 and Western Kentucky on December 22.

U of L will face UC Santa Barbara in the first round of the Rainbow Classic on December 28 in Honolulu, Hawaii. Other first-round matchups in the eight team field include Clemson vs Evansville, Army vs Hawaii, and Florida vs Oklahoma State. The complete field posted a combined 132-99 record a year ago (including U of L), with five of the teams reaching post-season tournament competition (three NCAA, two NIT).

The Cardinals will meet Temple in the 7-up Shootout on February 20 in Orlando, Florida. The double-header will also feature Cincinnati against California.

U of L opens the new year with a five-game homestand in Freedom Hall, including its Metro Conference opener against South Florida on January 6. The Cardinals will play five of their last seven games on the road, playing its last home game February 28 against Howard. The post-season Metro Conference Tournament will be staged March 11-13 in Gulfport, Mississippi.

Complete television appearances and game times have not been finalized. WDRB-TV (Channel 41), a FOX affiliate in Louisville, will televise approximately 20 U of L games through local origination and network participation. All U of L games will be broadcast on 50,000-watt clear channel WHAS Radio (840AM) in Louisville and other affiliates throughout the region.

KDFWR EXTENDS DEER HUNT APPLICATION DEADLINE

Due to delivery delays, Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' (KDFWR) Commissioner Don R. McCormick has extended the deadline for applications to all KDFWR managed quota deer hunts to September 13.

Applications are now available for persons interested in entering the random computer drawing for any one of 16 different adult or youth quota hunts. Quota youth hunts are open to persons between the ages of 10 and 15, and who have completed a hunter education course by the day of the hunt. All hunts are held on KDFWR owned or controlled wildlife management areas.

There is a $3 nonrefundable processing fee required for each application. Hunters 16 and over may apply to only one conventional quota hunt. Persons eligible for youth hunts may apply to the Ballard WMA youth hunt, one other youth hunt and one conventional quota hunt.

To receive more information on hunt dates, locations, special requirements and applications, contact the KDFWR, Information Division, #1 Game Farm Road, Frankfort, KY 40601; phone (502) 564 4336. Office hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

DOVE, EARLY DUCK AND CROW SEASONS SET

Kentucky's dove season and early duck hunting dates were recently set by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources (KDFWR) Commission.

Dove season will be September 1-30, October 9 — November 1 and December 4-9. The daily limit remains the same at 15 and shooting hours Sept. through Nov. are 11 a.m. to sunset. For the December portion of the dove season shooting hours are sunrise to sunset.

Early wood duck and teal season will be September 15-19. The daily bag limit is four birds with no more than two wood ducks included. Shooting hours for wood duck and teal are one half hour before sunrise to sunset. Waterfowl hunters are reminded that non-toxic steel shot is required for all waterfowl hunting, and steel shot is required for dove hunting on some wildlife management areas.

In compliance with federal guidelines, there is now an established hunting season for crows from September 1 through November 12, and then January 9 through February 28. There is no bag limit on crows and shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

If you think you have to go to a big city hospital for the right care, just come to King's Daughters' and tape this to your window.

There's a common misconception that when it comes to health care, bigger is better. The bigger the city, the better the care.

Not so. In fact, there's a hospital right here in Ashland that soundly disproves that theory. King's Daughters' Medical Center.

We've gone all over the country to find and recruit top doctors and nurses. And to help them do their jobs better, we've made quite an investment in the latest diagnostic tools.

A state-of-the-art cardiac catheterization laboratory. On-site

magnetic resonance imaging (MRI). A new CT scanner. And a triple-head nuclear medicine camera for diagnosing heart problems.

Now, while you might not know what all this equipment does, we can assure you that having it puts us on par with the leading medical centers in the country. And helps us give you the best care we can.

King's Daughters' Medical Center

So, don't get us wrong. We understand there are some things you can only find in big cities. However, the right health care isn't one of them.

AN OSPREY TAUGHT THIS PRO A FISHING LESSON

Ron Shuffield won't soon forget the day he was out-fished by an osprey.

Shuffield, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff and the winner of several national bass tournaments, laughs at the experience, but says it also re-taught him a valuable fishing lesson.

"Just because you work an area and don't get a strike doesn't mean bass aren't there," says the Arkansas pro. "If bass are inactive and not chasing lures, you should fish an area, even a particular piece of cover, more thoroughly than usual."

Shuffield received the osprey lesson during a recent national bass tournament on Lake Eufaula in Alabama. A sudden cold front dropped water temperatures drastically and made the fish extremely lethargic.

"My partner and I had just thoroughly saturated an area with both a jig and a spinnerbait," says Shuffield. "The water was so shallow my trolling motor was kicking up mud, but there was some scattered cover and I thought a fish might be present."

"When we didn't get a strike, I turned the boat to leave, and just then I heard a loud splash in the water behind me. It was an osprey that had made a dive and was struggling to get airborne again."

"Finally, after several tries, the osprey made it up and it was easy to see why it had trouble. The bird was holding a four to five pound bass in its talons, a fish that came right from the area we had just been through."

The Johnson pro says watching the osprey made him fish that much more thoroughly the remainder of the tournament. The extra effort paid off with a fifth place finish.

"I started dissecting each individual piece of cover, trying to determine exactly where a bass would most likely be hiding," says Shuffield, "and then I'd drop a jig down and start shaking it for five to 10 seconds before I'd ever lift it out again."

Even that didn't always bring a strike, however. Shuffield fished one particular bush from several different angles without getting a strike, then spooked a four pound bass out of the bush when he turned on his trolling motor to leave. That fish actually ran straight into the trolling motor in its haste to escape.

"All in all, it was a strange tournament," laughs Shuffield, "but seeing that osprey catch a bass right behind me is something I won't soon forget. I probably owe fifth place to that bird, because when I saw it holding that fish I knew for certain I was working the right type of water. I just had to be more thorough."

FISHING IN THE WIND CAN BE PRODUCTIVE

Few fishermen enjoy bass fishing in the wind, but at least with the equipment available today it's a lot easier.

It can also be extremely productive.

That's the opinion of veteran tournament professional Denny Brauer, who has used the wind to his advantage several times to win national fishing events.

"We're just fortunate now to have the type of equipment we do, such as better designed boats, stronger trolling motors, and reels that cast easier," says the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff angler, "because we're entering that time of year now when the wind often becomes a factor in our fishing."

"Today's bass boats are designed to maneuver better in wind and waves, and the trolling motors are stronger than ever so they can actually hold a boat in place against a strong wind."

"Casting is much easier, too, because of the improvements in reel design. Today's baitcasting reels handle extremely light lures in the wind; we're not limited to heavy lures anymore."

Brauer's feelings are echoed by many in professional tournament fishing today, especially those, who like Brauer, realize how productive fishing in the wind can be.

"In years past, a high wind really forced us to seek protected water that wasn't necessarily the best fishing area," explains the Evinrude pro, "but windy conditions generally change bass and move them closer to the surface and make them more active."

"Now we can fish those wind-blown points and shorelines where the bass are because our equipment can handle the wind."

Brauer's favorite lures for windy conditions in the spring are spinnerbaits and crankbaits. Such fast-moving lures, he says, better imitate the baitfish that bass are chasing.

"Wind creates a long chain of events in the water," the Missouri pro explains, "and the longer the wind blows, the better the fishing usually becomes."

"First, wind blows plankton across the surface until it gets blocked by a point, bluff, or other shoreline. The tiny minnows and other baitfish follow, because they're feeding on that plankton."

"I don't believe baitfish actually get blown or washed across a lake by high wind the way many people say they do. They're just following their food source."

When the baitfish move, continues Brauer, bass also move, because the baitfish are their food source. The longer the wind blows steadily from one direction, the more bass will tend to concentrate in an area because that's where the most baitfish will be.

"If conditions are not so rough as to be dangerous," says Brauer, "you can often make some excellent catches by throwing a crankbait or spinnerbait around places like this."

"Some of the very best spots are along isolated bluffs or islands, the first place plankton would get stopped. Other windy shorelines are also worth checking, and if you catch one fish, stay there and keep fishing because other bass are probably in the same spot."

Brauer cautions that if water conditions are too hazardous to try such fishing safely, anglers should fish less exposed shorelines that may still collect plankton.

Evinrude and Johnson outboard dealers offer the Pro-Team Bass Vest, a personal flotation device (PFD) designed for bass fishermen. The vest features four pockets, adjustable sides, and a D-ring for attaching an emergency ignition cut-off tether.

Ask Dr. Bubba

Editor's Note: Dr. Bubba is not a licensed, practicing therapist, but has received doctorates in analytical psychology and hotel restaurant management and so far has managed to escape serious litigation and/or prosecution, unless of course you count that one little misunderstanding with that den mother back in Cleveland.

Dr. Bubba: I'm having this terrible problem and I hope you can help. You see, I suffer from SASD, otherwise known as Short Attention Span Disorder, and I frequently lose track of what I'm doing. Dear Dr. Bubba: I'm having this terrible problem and I hope you can help. You see, I suffer from Dear Dr. Bubba: I'm having this... (Name and address withheld because he forgot to put them on the letter.)

Dear Whoever: I know this thing must really be buggin' ya, but I'd advise ya ta just ferget about it.

Dear Dr. Bubba: You just don't know how long I have waited for the chance to discuss my problem with a well-trained, highly-skilled, respected mental health professional. Unfortunately, none of them will accept foodstamps, so I am stuck with the likes of you. Unlike your family, Dr. Bubba, only one member of my family acts weird. My 16-year-old son, Susie Ray Bob Jr., just plum refuses to wear those matching dresses that his mother made for me and him to wear to the father-son picnic.

Those things were bad enough, but the government cheese box that broke the camel's back was when Junior told his mother that when he grew up, he wanted to GET A JOB — OH, THE SHAME OF IT ALL!!! You have got to help us, Dr. Bubba. I just know that any day now, that boy of ours is going to sneak off and disgrace all of us by becoming employed!!! What can we do? Sorrowful Susie Sr., Salyersville

Dear Sorrowful: A JOB!!! My GOODNESS, son, you gotta do sumpin' quick!!! Drastic times call fer drastic measures. I advise ya ta break his foot. That way, not only will he be laid up an' unable ta work, he'll also prob'ly qualify fer some kinda disability check. Either that or make 'im shack up with some little gal an' have lots o' young'uns but never marry her so's he can cheat the state child support system. Yeah, right. Look here, you moron, it's SLIMEBALLS like you who're ruinin' this country!!! Not only do ya make decent, hard-workin' people have ta pay even MORE taxes, ya keep the people who really NEED govummint assistance from gittin' it and ya make 'em look bad in the process. My advice is, if ya wanna cheat on, lie to an' steal from the American taxpayer, ya oughtta run fer Congress.

That's about all the space we got fer this week folks. Remember ta keep them cards an' letters pourin' in ta "Ask Dr. Bubba," c/o The Big Sandy News, P.O. Box 766, Louisa, Ky. 41230. I'll see y'uns next week. In the meantime, keep yer nose clean, yer powder dry, and the same goes fer yer Depends.

At Mountain Christian Academy :

Quality education = high test scores

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

The members of the board of directors of Mountain Christian Academy are enthusiastic believers in this small non-denominational Christian school located on Route 80 near Martin. In fact, they can't keep quiet about the quality education the school offers.

Terry Dotson, president and chief executive officer of Worldwide Equipment, has been a Mountain Christian Academy (MCA) board member for 18 months. But he has appreciated the educational program at the school much longer. His two youngest children attended kindergarten at MCA four years ago and they have remained at MCA. His two older children attended public schools, but he chose a different educational route for his two youngest.

"I feel like they are in a safe Christian environment where they can be properly educated with children from all walks of life..." he explained. "Parents can be involved in fact and not in advertisement only. My mother taught in Eastern Kentucky school systems for 28 years and I firmly believe the Eastern Kentucky educational problems will not be solved unless politics — with the school system as the largest employer and largest budget in one place — are out of the schools."

"I'm not saying county schools aren't doing a good job. But I feel a positive environment here."

Arnold Turner is in his second year as board member. He was on the board in the 1980s, but commitment to his law practice, to his work as an evangelist and to his family left time for little else. Plus, he noted, "The board members are very active here."

His son has been at MCA since the first grade. He attended kindergarten at a public school, and although he progressed well in all subjects, his reading scores indicated he needed remedial classes. The move to MCA has proven fruitful. Now in the sixth grade, he is performing well academically and even scored in the upper percentile in science. "My son is doing great," Turner smiled. "In science, he hit the 89 percentile."

Not only has Turner's son progressed academically, but according to overall MCA test scores for the 1992-93 school year, the 190 students at the school ranked well above the national average of 50 percentile in three core subjects — reading, language and math.

"The scores make me feel good," said Turner. "Our academics have improved... This school demonstrates that Eastern Kentucky children are capable," he said. "We offer children a place where learning is valued... and where they are put in a disciplined atmosphere."

According to Turner, an added plus is

A timely donation
Sister Monica, dean of MCA, accepted a $2,000 check donation from Dr. Mahendra R. Varia during the August board of directors meeting. The money will be used to purchase new science books. (photo by Polly Ward)

Dr. Mahendra R. Varia, a veterinarian at Martin, joined the board of directors three months ago. At the August board of directors meeting, he gave Sister Monica, dean of the school, a $2,000 check to purchase new science books for grades four through eight. He said he became involved with MCA because, "I believe in education and if I can help with education, I will try."

One of his nephews, a native of India, graduated from MCA. "This school was very much helpful in helping him with English," Varia said.

The upcoming school year promises additions to the school's educational program. The school has classes for kindergarten through eighth grade. In addition to continuing the student government program, Sr. Monica said the school will be renewing its academic teams with the goal of entering competition with other county schools; and will start work on developing a forensic program.

Also this year, students will keep a writing portfolio and will participate in the Floyd County School system's Young Authors program.

The partitions in the school's large kindergarten classroom have been removed to allow the children more room for activities and to create a more open, pleasant atmosphere. "It allows more visibility," Carolyn Lambert, director of preschool said. "It's a much pleasanter place. It's bright. The sun is able to get through."

The larger space can also accommodate nine more children. Sr. Monica said there are openings in preschool and other classes, as well.

School starts August 26 for students in first through eighth grade and August 30 for preschoolers.

For more information, call MCA at 285-5141.

Newly-elected MCA officers

MCA Test Score Rankings

In CTBS test scores for the 1992-93 school year, MCA student's overall test scores rated well above the national average of 50 percentile in three core subjects: reading, language and math.

LUCKY ME

The older I get the more I appreciate the way I was brought up. I also feel fortunate to have grown up when (and where) I did.

Now, that's not to suggest that I turned out perfectly nor that my parents didn't make mistakes.

Neither am I suggesting that the 1940s was the best time in history to be a kid nor that living in an Eastern Kentucky coal camp was exactly a utopian existence.

It's just that reading today's newspapers and watching TV makes me realize how lucky I was to have been a kid living in a normal society and having normal parents.

Dad worked in the mines and mom stayed home. I had six brothers and sisters, and even though we were poor — which wasn't really all that big a deal since we didn't know it until we were grown and LBJ declared war on our poverty — I never in my life ever went to bed hungry.

It just seems that a day can't go by anymore without my being reminded of how fortunate I was back then.

Regarding parenthood (or lack of same) a recent newspaper article by Elizabeth Schuett of the Cox News Service stated the following:

- Toledo, Ohio: Five children were burned to death when their house caught fire while their mother was at a bar with some friends.

- Thermal, California: A baby was left in a field to be eaten by dogs. The body was in such shape that the pathologist couldn't even tell if it were a boy or a girl.

- Brooklyn, NY: The body of a five-year-old boy was found in a trash compactor.

- Euleus, Texas: A newborn baby, umbilical cord still attached, was found in a trash dumpster.

- Brazil: Seven million unclaimed children roam the streets, begging, stealing and sniffing glue to ward-off their hunger.

It sure makes you appreciate the times your parents loved you enough to wrap a keen willow switch around you legs in an effort to teach you right from wrong, doesn't it?

Of course, even coal camps of the forties had alcoholics, drug users and people of low morals. But they were the exception, not the rule. Their behavior was frowned upon, not accepted. People didn't say, "This is modern times. Leave them alone."

It's not my intention to turn this into a sermon. It's just that the contrast is so stark between then and now, that it makes it sound like one.

I mean, we're talking about a time when it was considered against the law for two unmarried people of the opposite sex to "live together"; when one was considered a juvenile delinquent if he got carried away on Halloween night and turned over someone's outhouse; when surrogate motherhood and test-tube babies were so far in the future they weren't even acceptable as fiction. These days of "co-habitation," drive-by shootings and abortion on demand make times back then look as innocent as an all-day singing with dinner on the ground.

Like I said, even at the expense of many wrinkles, a few gray hairs and more than a few aches and pains, I'm glad I'm a product of then instead of now.

Kim's Korner

The story you are about to read is true. The names have been changed to protect me, and save the parties concerned from total embarrassment. However, the incident was so hilarious I can't help but share it.

by Kim Frasure

A few months ago in the wee hours of the morn, JoAnn was awakened by the urge to use the john.

With the bathroom only a few steps away from the bed, and not wanting to disturb Albert, she decided not to turn on the light.

JoAnn prepared herself for relief and just as she was about to be seated, she felt a pinch in the derriere.

You see, Albert not wanting to disturb JoAnn, had already been seated in the pitch black bathroom.

JoAnn's scream not only scared the entire household, but Albert couldn't have been in a better place either.

The two eventually could laugh and spent the rest of the night laughing also.

When they shared their story with me, they couldn't get through it without laughing.

And, ever since a certain mention of "the throne" has made this paper, I'm hearing all kinds of bathroom humor. Only thing is, they're making this column!

Part II

The other night while Ashleigh and I sat watching T.V., a commercial came on about one of those big fancy weight machines.

I'm sure you've seen it. It's the one where the man is standing tan with a hairy chest which they say is "before" Nordic Track. Then they show this brute, beefcake, hunk with no hair on his chest and it's "after" Nordic Track.

Ashleigh, totally serious, looks over at me and says, "Mommie, why do those weight machines take men's hair off their chest?"

Out the mouths of babes!

W.H.S. reunion update
The replies coming in on the reunion are fantastic! Seating, however, may be a problem.

Mrs. Osborne asked me to mention to those of you reading and planning on attending, to please bring a lawn chair.

We will have some chairs, but the amount just may not be enough for everyone. Don't forget the dates are September 4-6.

The Wheelwright High School prints are going fast. They're $30 and if you'd like one contact Mrs. Osborne.

The T-shirts are wonderful. Lois Curry has "The Maroons." Sabrina Hall has Once A Trojan, Always A Trojan with the school on the front.

Time is growing closer. I can't wait to see all of you!

Part IV

Tomorrow will be Tiffany's 10th birthday. My how time flies.
Happy birthday "Baby Girl." We love you!

GOING FOR MY GOAL

My name is Willie. I grew up in Martin. I graduated from Martin Elementary and went to Allen Central for one year and a half. I just thought, "Who needs school?"

I never heard you had to have a high school diploma to get a job till I dropped out of school. I went to a job training program. When I was there and started working, there were some boys in there with their G.E.D. Someone came up to me and said, "You know, you can't get a job without a G.E.D. or a high school diploma."

That's when I decided to go back to school. To me it hurts when you have your eight-year-old son come up to you and you can't read. I don't know how other people feel, but sometimes it hurts knowing you can't read.

People, listen to someone who can't read. Go back and get your G.E.D. This is something I want to do and I will learn.

My first goal is to be able to read and write to my three boys. I don't want my boys growing up not able to read and write. My little 2-year-old son has asthma and breathing problems where he turns blue. There are lots of nights I have had to jump up and go to the hospital. That is the reason that I want to become an E.M.T. If I knew what to do, I could help my own kid.

I know there are people out there who are afraid to admit they can't read and write, but I am not afraid to admit it. I want to get my G.E.D. and make something of my life.

Willie is a new adult reader through the Unemployed Fathers Program. He is enrolled in the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council. If you know of anyone interested in learning how to read better or would like to help someone learn to read, please call 886-READ.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND
Many residents of the mountain states such as Kentucky, have formed close attachments to their canine friends.

Even Dr. Thomas Walker and his party brought along their faithful hounds when he explored and documented the discovery of Cumberland Gap, in 1750, before venturing deeper into the vast wilderness beyond and building the first log cabin in what would become the state of Kentucky.

Corey is one
Corey Blake Bailey, son of Larry Jr. and Amy Bailey, celebrated his first birthday with a Barney party at his home on August 7. He is the grandson of Clyde and Linda Hamilton of McDowell and Larry and Lola Bailey of Willard, Ohio.

Births

HIGHLANDS REGIONAL MEDICAL CENTER

August 4: A daughter, Holly Lanell, to Tammy and Nebert Horn Jr. of Lovely.
August 5: A son, Gregory Michael, to Crystal and Gregory Skeens of Prestonsburg.
August 7: A daughter, Elsie Faye, to Sharon Risner of Salyersville.
August 9: A son, Brandon Tyler, to Bonnie and James Radliff of Inez.

The following is a true story and could have occurred in any of the mountainous states as early as in Missouri which adjoins Kentucky and Tennessee on their western border.

A farmhand, following orders of his employer, killed a dog that was bothering the farmer's livestock. The owner of old Drum, the dead hound, hired an attorney and sued his neighbor for the wrongful death of his constant companion of many years.

In summation the lawyer addressed the jury:
"Gentlemen of the jury, the best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith.

"The money that a man has, he may lose; it flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees and do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stones of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads.

"The one absolutely unselfish friend a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side.

"He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer. He will lick the wounds that he encounters with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.
"When all other friends desert him, his dog remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

"If fortune drives the master forth an outcast into the world, friendless and homeless, a faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard him against danger and to fight against his enemies.

"...and when the last scene of all comes and death takes his master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open and alert, faithful and true, even in death."

The jury deliberated a very short time before returning with a judgment in favor of old Drum's owner.

NATIONAL AVIATION WEEK

THREE MEN IN A BALLOON
When Max Anderson, Ben Abruzzo, and Larry Newman landed at Miserey, France, on August 17, 1978, they were the first men to cross the Atlantic Ocean in a balloon. The 3,200-mile trip started at Presque Isle, Maine, and lasted 137 hours and 18 minutes. Although the Double Eagle II was the first to successfully complete the trip, it was not the first to try. Captain Washington Harrison Donaldson, piloting the Daily Graphic with a two-man crew, had attempted to cross the Atlantic 105 years earlier. Donaldson left Brooklyn, New York, at 9:19 AM on October 6, 1873 but ran into a storm and the men baled out at 1:15 PM near New Canaan, Connecticut.

Ask your school officials to check for lead in drinking water. The solder in most plumbing systems can be up to 50% lead. (Although newer solder is required to be only 0.2% lead, this does not assure lead-free water.) Some drinking fountains also contain lead-lined cooling tanks and pipes as well. For EPA recommendations, see Lead in School Drinking Water, available from the Government Printing Office, Dept. 36ES, Superintendent of Documents, Washington, DC, 20402-9325; $3.25; stock No. 055-000-00281-9.

Muffins are a great break from cold cereal and the traditional bacon, egg and toast breakfast.

Pear-Nut Muffins and Blueberry Muffins are two of my favorite muffin recipes. These are really good. Make them the night before and zap them in the microwave in the morning. The Cheddar Muffins and Carrot Zucchini Muffins sound like they would go well with a barbecue meal.

If you have a muffin recipe you would like to share with our readers, please send to:

Charlotte McFall, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

BBB warns of modeling scams

How to prepare for a job interview

Graduations, summer vacation, and promotion possibilities sent many Kentuckians looking for new jobs this summer.

Taking time to prepare for job interviews can lead to a successful place in the work force.

To have a successful initial response, dress up-to-date and, if possible, according to job expectations. For example, if applying for a bank or business position, dress conservatively and neatly.

Ladies should wear simple makeup and accessories and both they and gentlemen should be properly groomed.

Always offer a firm, dry handshake and a smile. Eye contact throughout the interview is also helpful.

Do you have "the look?" Is your child destined for a life on stage? The glamorous world of modeling and acting is appealing to many; unfortunately, few are actually successful in these fields. The Better Business Bureau of Central & Eastern Kentucky, Inc. warns consumers to watch for promoters offering easy success and a large income as a model or actor, when in fact they are simply looking for a quick profit.

Such promoters often place classified ads that claim to be searching for models, no experience necessary, no fee required. Upon responding to such ads, consumers are usually invited to an interview or screening, where they'll probably be told that he or she is "just what we are looking for." One company recently visiting Kentucky claimed no fee was required, but did charge $350 for photographs if the individual passed the initial screening process held at local hotels.

Some warning signs of non-reputable promoters or firms are:

- An advance or "registration" fee, or required purchase of photographs or videos;
- Non-specific ads in "help wanted" columns in daily and Sunday newspapers;
- Names which imply an association with cities, companies or individuals well known in the modeling or acting industries, when in fact there is no such association;
- Avoidance in answering questions concerning specific types of assignments for which you might be used.

If you are interested in an acting or modeling career for you or your child, it is best to investigate the field thoroughly. The two most common options are:

- Modeling school, where you receive the training that is often necessary to "get in the door." Many schools are also agencies and work toward placing their students with employers. It is important to make certain the school you are interested in is properly licensed and bonded.
- Agencies or managers, who will represent you and assist you in your career, usually for a percentage of your income.

With either option, make certain that you are dealing with a reputable firm. Find out who their contacts are. Who actually uses the firm's models or actors? If possible, obtain a client list and check for satisfaction. Don't be misled by photos of famous individuals displayed by the firm; that does not mean they actually represent those individuals. Be wary of offers that sound "too easy," or "too good to be true." Shop around to gauge your chances in the field, and always call the Better Business Bureau to check out your choices.

The Better Business Bureau offers reports on specific modeling and acting agencies and schools, as well as more general information about these fields. This information may be obtained by calling 259-1008 in the Lexington area, or 1-800-866-6668.

Mile-high convention : A success for local auctioneer

Bill Gibson

Bill Gibson, CAI, of Action-Auction & Realty, was one of over 1,100 members of the National Auctioneers Association (NAA) who was in Denver from July 20-24 for the annual NAA convention.

Gibson, a graduate of the Kansas City Auction School and this year's president of the Kentucky Auctioneers Association, was elected to the national Real Estate Auction Council on Thursday. He also had the honor of being the Kentucky flag bearer in the Parade of Flags Ceremony at the annual President's Banquet, Saturday evening. Gibson is also serving as chairman of the Real Estate Auction Committee of the Kentucky Association of Realtors (KAR) this year.

Tracy Sullivan of Prague, Oklahoma, was winner of the International Auctioneer Championship. The bid-calling contest is one of the highlights of the convention.

In recent years, the Auction Method of Marketing has emerged as the first choice of many people when they need to sell anything from an antique doll to a metropolitan skyscraper.

Workshop subjects at this year's convention included presentations on conducting real estate, personal property, commercial, heavy equipment and agribusiness auctions. There were also workshops for auction support personnel, a bid-calling workshop, a "Great Ideas" workshop and the Certified Auctioneers Institute's seminar on Wednesday, July 21. More than 30 educational programs were offered.

Wil Hahn, CAI, was installed 1993-94 president of the 5,600 member organization, which is based in Overland Park, Kansas, a suburb of Kansas City, Missouri.

Protect Yourself

(NAPS)—To protect yourself against calling card fraud—someone illegally gaining access to your telephone calling card code and charging long distance calls to your bill—there are some simple do's and don'ts you can use.

Do be aware of people loitering around pay phones. Stand directly in front of the phone when dialing the authorization code.

- DO memorize your calling card number. This way you run less risk of misplacing your card.
- DON'T use your calling card as identification. Anyone who comes into possession of your code will be able to use it, so keep it confidential.
- DON'T let anyone eavesdrop on your conversation with telephone operators.
- DON'T give your calling card number to people posing as telephone personnel or others. For example, legitimate MCI representatives will already know your calling card authorization code and will not need to ask you for it.
- DO report the loss of all credit cards, including your telephone calling card, as soon as you become aware of it.

MCI offers additional information on using telephone calling cards. For this information, or to report lost or stolen cards, call MCI toll-free at 800-444-3333.

Career Opportunities

Marilu Serrano—A True Cinderella Story

(NAPS)—Marilu Serrano was selling fruit, two limes for five pesos, on the streets in a small town in Mexico before she was five years old. Now, at age 28, she owns and operates her own successful business in Chicago. She drives a brand new car and has traveled to Europe, Canada, and Hawaii over the last three years.

friends. Sometimes she also cleaned a laundromat. By age 16, she had gained both experience and confidence. She was earning enough to rent her own apartment. Before her 20th birthday Marilu was able to bring her grandmother from Mexico to live with her.

Marilu eventually accepted a job offer from the bank where she had been saving her money. There she met a customer who introduced her to Shaklee products and the income opportunity available if she were interested in starting her own direct selling business with the company. In a very short time, Marilu's business grew large enough for her to qualify for a new car provided by Shaklee and an all-expense paid trip to San Francisco. The youngster who had been inspired to sell fruit in order to survive, now found herself living a true fairy tale. Marilu was an entrepreneur with a car, elegant clothing and international travel on her calendar. In 1993 the Great Barrier Reef of Australia is on her schedule.

Today Marilu says, "I think I will never forget the smell of those freshly cut limes I sold, but now the only thing I want to grow is my own business."

For more information on how you can start building a more secure financial future, write for the free brochure, "Your Own Business, Is Now The Time?" Send your inquiry to Shaklee Corporation, Public Relations, Department C, 444 Market Street, San Francisco, CA 94111.
