Forty-one true bills returned by panel

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County Grand Jury returned 41 true bills Thursday, including a charge that a man threatened Floyd County District Judge Danny Caudill.

Bruce Hall, no age or address available, was charged with intimidating a judicial officer for allegedly making threats of physical harm against Judge Caudill on July 28 with the intent to influence his decision in a custody case.

Other indictments returned Thursday, no ages or addresses available, were:

Rodney Gerald Hall, first degree wanton endangerment, for allegedly pointing a gun at Robert Hood on September 3.

Wade Martin, second degree assault, for allegedly cutting the throat of Timothy Gibson on July 21.

Sam P. Little, first degree stalking, for allegedly stalking Janice Little in May by repeatedly following her for no legitimate purpose which placed her in reasonable fear of serious injury or death.

Raymond Lee Carroll, first degree assault, for allegedly shooting John Mark McKenzie with a shotgun on July 31.

Paul T. Albert, two counts of first degree assault, for allegedly running a red light on July 28 while intoxicated and striking a vehicle occupied by Debra Tackett and Eva Vance and two counts of first degree wanton endangerment because Terra Gray and Keturah Tackett also occupied the vehicle.

Chillis Meade, first degree wanton endangerment, for allegedly ramming a vehicle occupied by Lavita D. Meade on August 20 and, theft by unlawful taking, for allegedly taking 35 tie plates and nine switch plates belonging to CSX Railroad on June 26. Meade was also charged with first degree criminal mischief for allegedly doing damage to an automobile and trailer belonging to Levita Meade and, second degree burglary for allegedly entering the home of Levita Meade with the intent to commit a crime.

Donnie Bentley, first degree burglary, for allegedly unlawfully entering the home of Carl Sellards while armed with a deadly weapon.

Charles Demarco, two counts of possession of handgun by a convicted felon, for allegedly having a handgun in his possession on July 30 and September 10.

James Milford Fitzpatrick and Wade Watkins, second degree burglary, for allegedly unlawfully entering the home of Judy Fitzpatrick on September 14 with the intent to commit a crime, and second degree arson for allegedly starting a fire in the Paula Minix, 36, of Salyersville was killed Wednesday night when her 1991 Chevy Camero, traveling south on Route 23 in front of the Holiday Inn, left the road and struck a culvert causing the vehicle to overturn.

According to a state police report Minix was ejected from the vehicle on impact and was pronounced dead at the scene by Floyd County Coroner Roger Nelson around 12:26 a.m.

Tammy Derosssett Slone, 35, of Prestonsburg and Linda Scott, 27, of Salyersville were extricated from the vehicle by the Floyd County Rescue Squad.

Slone was transported to Combs Airport by Med-Tech ambulance service then taken by HealthNet heli-

Judge Stumbo defers decision in Lovely case

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd Circuit Judge is holding a decision in abeyance on whether to dismiss four of five counts of first degree wanton endangerment pending against a member of the Floyd County Housing Authority.

In a hearing Thursday in Floyd Circuit Court, a CSX Railroad worker testified that Hamlet Lovely, 54, of Garrett, fired a shot at him and four other CSX workers last December.

Lovely's attorney, James Allen, filed a motion to dismiss all charges against his client, which was the cause for Thursday's hearing.

Allen asked Circuit Judge Harold Stumbo to continue the hearing until Commonwealth Attorney Jerry Patton could preside over the case instead of Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Paul Burchett. Allen told the judge that Patton had made the statement to him, his client and the court that the commonwealth "had no case" against Lovely and that "he couldn't prosecute him if he wanted to."

Burchett objected to a continuance saying, "our witnesses are here and we're ready for a hearing."

Allen also argued that only one shot was fired toward the railroad workers and asked that four of the five counts of first degree wanton endangerment against Lovely be dismissed.

Judge Stumbo asked the attorneys to submit legal memorandums on case law concerning the issue and he would hold his decision in abeyance until he reviewed their written arguments.

At Thursday's hearing, Johnny Sword, 35, of Caney Creek, testified that he and four other workers were repairing a section of railway near Lovely's home last December when Lovely came out of his home carry-

School board meets Saturday

The Floyd County Board of Education will hold a special meeting Saturday at 9 a.m. at Allen Central High School. Although no special meeting agenda has been issued, the board is expected to discuss the district's four-year facility building plan.

The board will also meet with the district's Local Planning Committee at 8 a.m. prior to the special meeting.

Dueling attorneys prompt judge to set date for election trial

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

The failure Wednesday of opposing attorneys to reach an accord in a Floyd County election fraud case prompted a Pike County Circuit Judge to set the case for trial next week.

Testimony will begin Monday night in Floyd Circuit Court in an election fraud lawsuit filed in June against Floyd County's judge-executive by the losing Democrat challenger in the May primary election.

In a hearing Wednesday in Pike County Circuit Court, Special Judge Charles Lowe ordered that the case of Dale McKinney versus John M. Stumbo and the Floyd County Board of Elections begin at 7 p.m. Monday and continue each evening thereafter until testimony has concluded.

Wednesday's hearing was held to argue a point of whether persons who could testify that they have broken election laws should be granted immunity from prosecution.

C. K. Belhasen, McKinney's attorney, argued that in a status conference on the case several weeks ago both sides agreed that the case would be tried by deposition and that no one at the hearing objected to the issue of granting witnesses immunity.

Belhasen also told the court that the case is being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) because of some allegedly fraudulent absentee ballots that were allegedly sent through the mail.

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond, who was representing the county's board of elections and who did not attend the status conference, told Judge Lowe that the issue of blanket immunity was unheard of and that the issue of immunity should be decided on a case by case basis. Hammond added that only a prosecutor could grant immunity and, if the FBI was investigating the case, he doubted if state authorities could grant immunity in a federal case.

Hammond's argument prompted Judge Lowe to ask the county attorney if he felt he had a conflict of interest because he appeared "to be wearing two hats at the same time," as a defense lawyer and a prosecutor.

Hammond answered that he didn't see any conflict because the board of elections hasn't been accused of any wrongdoing and officers were only named in the lawsuit because they had certified the election.

In his remarks ordering that the case begin Monday evening, Judge Lowe said the issue of granting witnesses immunity would be handled on a case by case basis and that "Mr. Hammond can don one of the two hats he apparently wears" at that time.

Eric Hall, the attorney representing Stumbo at Wednesday's hearing, asked that Belhasen be ordered to turn over his witness list to the defense.

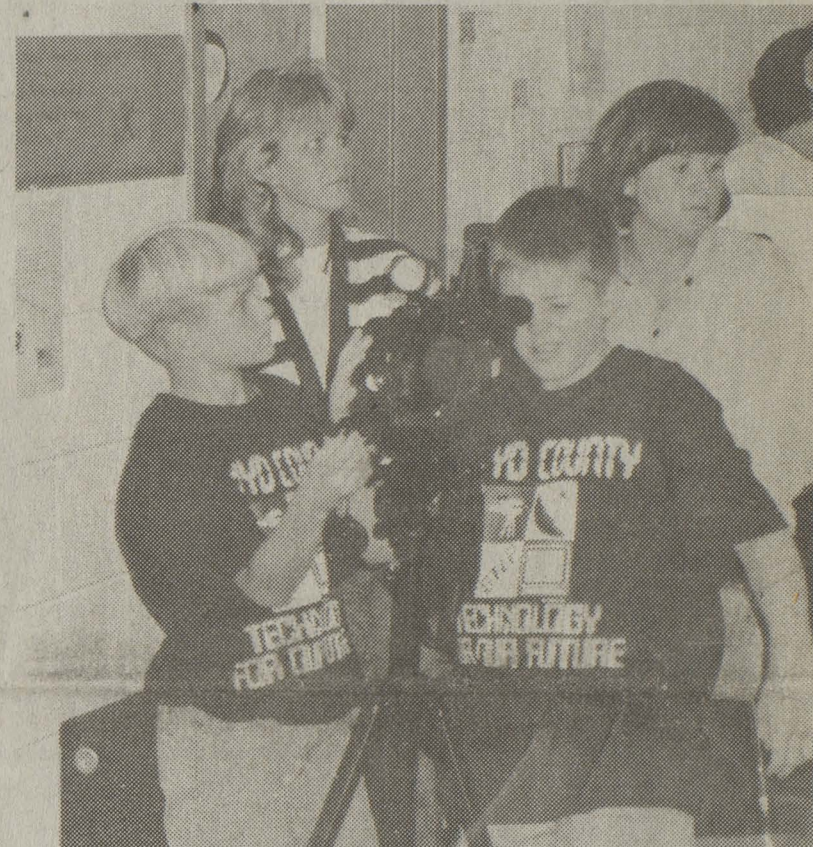

Belhasen said he was reluctant to turn over the witness list prior to Wednesday's hearing because it would subject the witnesses to harassment and intimidation prior to the trial.

Witnesses will testify that when they went to the polls in the May primary, they found that their names had already been signed on the voter registration book, Belhasen said. He also said witnesses would testify that driveways were built and that gravel was placed on roads in an effort to gain votes for Stumbo.

Hammond argued that witnesses who testify their names were written in the book before they voted committed no crime "except failing to report a crime." Hammond said he would not prosecute those witnesses.

Hammond added that if Belhasen and his client had evidence that a crime had been committed, they should take that evidence to either the state's attorney general, the Kentucky State Police or bring it to him.

Judge Lowe ordered Belhasen to turn over the witness list by 4 p.m. Thursday.

Fired city park worker sues city over dismissal

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A former city park employee, who was fired in July, has filed a civil action in Floyd Circuit Court alleging that his dismissal was improper.

In a suit filed September 2 against the city of Prestonsburg, Charles Guy Berger claims he was fired from his job as a park employee because he had filed a Worker's Compensation claim against his employers. Berger also contends he was not given the right to a hearing on his dismissal, which he said was required under city personnel codes.

Berger seeks an unspecified amount of damages, reinstatement to his job and back pay.

Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta said Thursday that the city should not be a party to the complaint because Berger was an employee of the city park commission, not the city. The commission, she said, operates independently.

Park commission chairman Randy Polk declined comment Thursday on Berger's complaint, suggesting it would be "premature" to respond before the commission's legal counsel had an opportunity to investigate the employee's allegations.

Baby birthing business is being phased out at Martin

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

After 45 years of child delivery and 370 deliveries last year alone, Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin will close its obstetrics unit on January 1.

After several months of analysis of current services and critical review of President Clinton's health care reform issues, the Board of Directors voted to discontinue obstetric services at the Martin hospital.

Sister Mary Fanning, Chief Executive officer for the hospital, said emergency deliveries will still be performed for patients who don't have time to be transferred to other hospitals.

The decision to phase out the department was due to a number of factors, Fanning said.

In order to continue providing obstetrical care for the community, the unit needed to be updated and expanded, which would be an expensive move for the hospital.

Recruiting doctors is another problem. Recruiting is costly, and a difficult task for small rural hospitals, according to Fanning.

In the anticipation of networks of hospitals in the future, and establishing "centers of excellence" for specific services, OLWH will discontinue its OB program and support such centers at the larger local facilities.

This move will reportedly cost 15-20 jobs at the hospital.

OLWH is actively pursuing job relocation for these employees at various hospitals in the area with the emphasis on Highlands Regional Medical Center's new birthing center, known as the Birth Place.

OLWH's only two practicing OB/

GYN's will also be making some changes.

Dr. Varia Chandra OB/GYN will be semi-retiring and will no longer be delivering babies but will continue to provide gynecological procedures and exams at her office in Martin.

Dr. Krishnarao Potnis OB/GYN will be relocating his practice to either Prestonsburg or Pikeville but will maintain an office in Martin for his patients to visit two or three days out of the week.

OLWH currently provides parenting and childbirth classes but there is a waiting list for them.

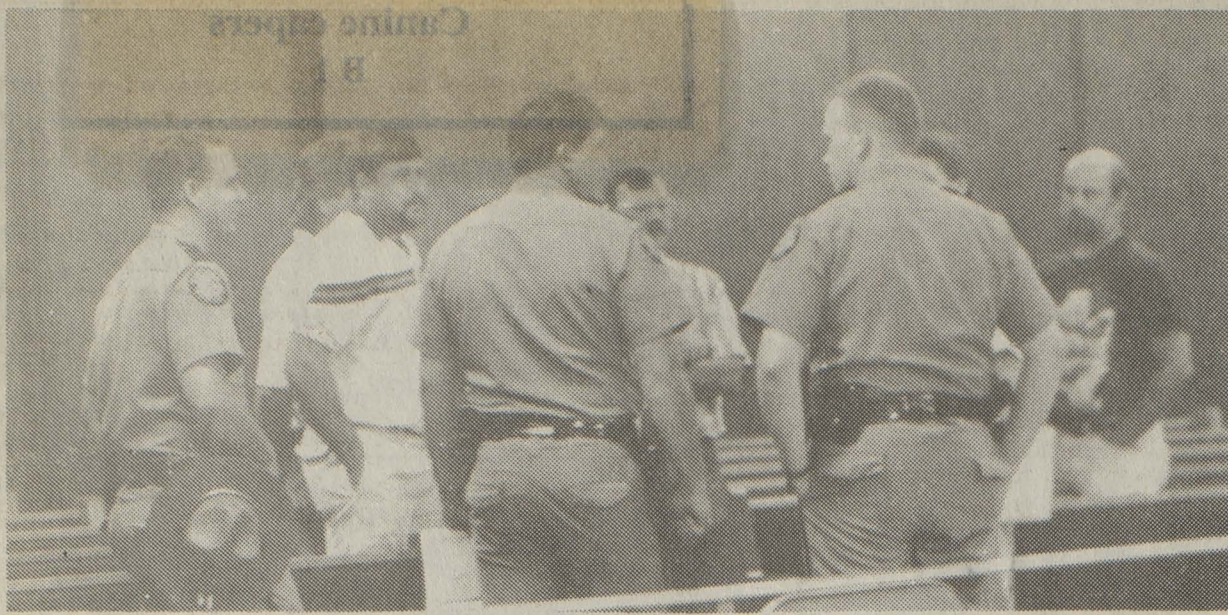

These classes will continue after the closure of the obstetrics unit in January.

According to a hospital spokesman, OLWH will pursue maintaining a pre-natal clinic in Martin and plans to improve and enhance the community education programs.

Bye! Bye! Baby

ing a shotgun. "He came out with a shotgun and stood there looking at us with a weird look on his face," Sword said. "We kept working to his fence line. He said to shut off the . . . machine. We shut it off and he (cocked) the gun and went inside.

"Out of natural instinct, we moved our machine down (the railway) for protection," Sword continued. "He came back out with a pistol in his hand at his side. He stepped off the porch and brought his hand up. When he did that, I dropped down face first and heard the shot."

Sword said that he and the others were in the "direct line of fire" and later found out the bullet had struck a tree.

Allen asked Sword if he was behind the piece of equipment when the shot was fired and where the other workers were standing. "I was at the side to keep an eye on him," Sword said. "I don't know where the others were. I was mostly watching him. If it hadn't hit the tree, it would've hit us."

Allen asked the witness if he saw Lovely fire the gun.

"I saw the gun pointed at me and I wasn't going to stand there and see someone shoot me."

Kentucky State Police trooper David Watkins testified that Lovely was belligerent and intoxicated when he arrived at the scene. Watkins also said Lovely did not cooperate with him when he asked him to turn over his weapon.

"I went to the residence and walked around the house," Watkins testified. "I went through the front yard and noticed the tree had been shot. I could hear Lovely cussing. . . I told Lovely to get his hands up and he told me to get off his property.

"I identified myself and he still told me to get off his property," Watkins continued. "I asked Lovely if he had a weapon and he said 'yes.' He said it was his property and he would carry a gun if he wanted to. He put his hand in his pocket and came toward me. He pulled the gun out of his pocket and I had to take it away from him. He was extremely under the influence of alcohol."

Allen asked that any statements Lovely made before he was read his rights not be admissible at trial.

Judge Stumbo ruled that statements Lovely made before he was told his rights could not be used in court.

Watkins testified that Lovely told him he had fired his gun after he was read his rights.

Community sale

Hundreds of people from Floyd, Pike, and Letcher counties lined up to make their purchases at the Pikeville College yard sale last week. Community volunteers, staff, and faculty members worked together on the project. All proceeds from the yard sale will go to the college scholarship fund.

Scott was taken to the Highlands Regional Medical Center where she was treated and released.

According to state police reports alcohol was involved and was a factor in the accident.

No seatbelts were in use by the occupants of the vehicle at the time of the accident.

It has not been determined at this time who was driving the vehicle registered to Slone.

The accident is still under investigation by Trooper Scott Hazlette and detective Lynn Cross of the Kentucky State Police and charges are pending, awaiting the outcome of the investigation.

Clarification

In Wednesday's edition of The Times, a story concerning the Wheelwright City Commission meeting should have said Commissioner Lowell Parker was opposed to leasing the swimming pool building to the Floyd County Board of Education as a family resource center for $1 per year until a lease could be negotiated with the board of education.

Parker said at Monday's meeting that city officials should look for a way to generate revenue from leasing the building to the school board. Commissioner Parker also made a motion to allow the family resource center to move into the swimming pool building for 30 days until a lease could be negotiated. The motion died for lack of a second.

Babbage announces registration deadline

Floyd Countians have until the county clerk's office closes on Monday, October 4, to register to vote, Secretary of State Bob Babbage said.

"Many important offices will be filled by election on November 2," Babbage said. "The majority of eligible citizens should register and vote to truly represent the wishes of the majority," he added.

Voter registration in Kentucky has increased with each election since Babbage took office in 1992.

Between the 1991 and the 1992 general elections, registration increased by 184,301. Registration usually declines after a presidential election, but between the 1992 general election and this spring's primary election, registration in Kentucky increased by 83,929.

Defending the status quo

by Scott Perry

Special Judge Charles Lowe asked an interesting question of Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond Wednesday during a pre-trial hearing on a case alleging election fraud in the May primary.

Lowe wondered aloud during that hearing if Hammond's impassioned protest against offering immunity to witnesses of potential vote fraud might represent a conflict of interest for the County Attorney.

Sounds like a sensible question to ask an elected official whose responsibility is to protect the citizens of Floyd County from those who would infringe upon their rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of honest government.

The County Attorney is, after all, a prosecutor for the interests of the people, not a defense attorney for politicians.

But, instead of encouraging those who may have knowledge of election improprieties to come forward, the peoples' advocate slammed the door in their faces by arguing against immunity for witnesses, who aren't likely to come forward without its promise.

Even more peculiar is the fact that Hammond presented his arguments against immunity despite the fact that he represents none of the actual defendants in the civil suit.

Hammond appeared in court on behalf of the county election board, which was named only as a matter of procedure.

While Hammond's arguments may have been accurate, given the fact that statutes allowing witness immunity appear to apply to criminal cases while this is a civil matter, they were certainly of no particular benefit to all the regular folks who would like to see their rights to free and open elections defended.

All that has been defended here, we suppose, is the status quo.

OLW should keep obstetrics unit

Editor:

Shock and disbelief were the emotions I experienced upon hearing the news that the hospital administration of Our Lady of the Way Hospital was considering closing the obstetrics unit. I feel compelled to write this letter to explain so many reasons why I believe this is a decision that must be reconsidered.

As a former OB patient, I chose OLW Hospital because I perceived it as a pioneer in obstetrical care in the Big Sandy area. At a time when other local hospitals were continuing to use medieval birthing practices, I found that at OLW, giving birth was a family-centered affair providing a staff supportive of natural childbirth and breastfeeding, access to the baby after the birth, family visitation (even young siblings!), warmly-decorated rooms, a very friendly and supportive nursing staff, and excellent doctors.

Because of the wonderful experience we had, my husband and I have recommended OLW to several other couples who have also had positive birthing experiences with less fear, less medication and less trauma.

As a result of my confidence in the OB department, I chose to use OLW pediatric care for my children and over the years other OLW doctors have treated their colds and stitched up their cuts! My extended family and my husband's family have also used OLW services.

It is my understanding that the decision to close the OB unit was largely a financial one. At a time when many major corporations are "down-sizing" their workforces and eliminating many management positions, has OLW made a real effort to cut costs without removing the very heart of their business operation?

I have always perceived the OB department to be the most thriving part of the medical activity at the hospital. Was I wrong? Isn't this also a community perception?

As a high-risk OB patient, I was relieved to have such high-quality care within an easy driving distance. I am concerned that the closing of the OB unit at Martin will render quality prenatal care inaccessible to patients who will be forced to travel great distances to find alternative care. It is a real possibility that patients in outlying rural areas will find it impossible to travel across 2 or 3 counties to find comparable OB care. Could this not lead to increased infant morbidity and mortality?

Furthermore, what about current patients who have already made the decision to deliver their babies at OLW? Isn't it a hospital obligation to see these patients through until they have successfully delivered?

Finally, does OLW Hospital have a responsibility to provide health care to the Eastern Kentucky area? Currently, OLW delivers more babies than any other facility in Floyd County and perhaps the Big Sandy area. Does this not indicate a medical need?

These people come to the hospital for office visits; their prescriptions are filled at the local pharmacies; they shop for groceries and clothing; they buy gasoline and do their banking; they pick up their mail at the local post office.

As fewer people come to the hospital for OB care, ancillary hospital services will suffer as well as the business community merchants.

Also, jobs associated with the OB unit will be lost after years of dedicated, quality service. This could lead to economic depression in such a small town as Martin where the hospital is such a vital part of the economy.

Surely there must be an alternative solution... one that would allow OLW to continue such a vital service to a rural area-quality prenatal care—and prevent such an economic backlash? Your reconsideration to this matter would be appreciated. Is this service really a dispensable one?

Supports Dr. Clark

Editor:

I have sat back and listened to the same people complain about their so-called appointed board member. Where were they when they had their chance to run against him in the November election? Could it be the majority of the voters side with building the middle school?

There have been several public meetings about this before the filing deadline.

I was under the impression that the state stopped the 21-room addition. Personally, I don't think Dr. Clark is saying totally forget about the 21-room addition. I think he just wants to get something worthwhile for everybody.

Let's go on and build the middle school now, then further study the 21-room addition and/or another school.

In regard to the people arguing for the 21 rooms at Betsy Layne, there are plenty of people putting their faith in Dr. Clark and I am one of them.

"Give us our school now!"

Editor:

Dr. Towler and board members make such a grandstand of running our school system in a manner in which all kids can grow and learn, but when you look closely you see its just an act.

A few days before school started, teachers at our school didn't even know what grade they were going to teach. How can they prepare properly when they can't even get their teaching assignments? How can our kids learn when their rooms are 95-100 degrees?

How can they concentrate when they are soaking wet from a walk in the rain to get to a restroom? Can they learn when they are black and blue from slipping in water from leaky water fountains? I don't think so. There isn't another school in Floyd County with as many mobile units as Betsy Layne and, Dr. Clark, we can count, a middle school will not eliminate enough trailers to make a difference. Your argument doesn't hold water. Give us our school now. Our need is the greatest.

Sandi Brooks
Betsy Layne

Urgent need for new board

Editor:

Our school board in its infinite wisdom is on a mission to convince the parents and students of Betsy Layne Elementary that there is not an urgent need for a new facility. One of my children is presently attending this facility.

In the past years he has had to venture from one building to another regardless of the weather. The many trailers are crowded and are actually not pleasant to look at.

How many of us like to work in crowded, dreary surroundings and still be able to give 100 percent to our job? We don't just want the best for our 6th, 7th, and 8th graders, we want it for our kindergartners, also.

Many people, "regular people" not politicians, invested many hours in deciding the priority of this school. Not only did the members of the LPC endorse this priority status, our local school board passed the plan to erect an addition to Betsy Layne Elementary unanimously! This change of plans seems to be motivated purely by political vengeance. I wonder, can

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

It's not the end yet...

Sometimes it just doesn't pay to do anything. At least, as many say, it doesn't pay in an election year.

If even another group, maybe one of its citizens, commission or group of leaders we're talking about, nobody want to do business until that magical date with the polls on November 2.

If a group wants money for a worthwhile project to promote tourism, don't ask the county until after election day.

If another group wants the arts promoted in the city, don't ask until after election day.

If even another group, maybe one of its citizens, asks for consideration of its problems, it's put off until after election day.

It seems the perception is the same no matter where we go. And, that perception needs to change.

Yes, the county judge executive is a lame duck with an administration that will probably be turned out at the end of the year. And, the Pikeville mayor's race is anybody's guess.

But the operations of government shouldn't change according to politics.

Stand up leaders! Do your job. You still have three or four months to go and we're waiting. — Appalachian News-Express

Dumb in the first degree

Anyone with a byte of sense would know better than to give prisoners the goods on private citizens, but, once again, the folks in Frankfort have shown that in Kentucky anything is possible.

It seems that Vital Statistics officials have been sending confidential data to the Corrections Department for keyboarding by inmates. The practice screeched to a halt Wednesday following publication of a report by Courier-Journal staff writer Deborah Yetter, but it wasn't soon enough. A rapist already had used data he obtained while keyboarding medical records to mentally torture his victim, according to claims made in a lawsuit filed last year. State officials had plenty of time before Wednesday to wise up; they blew it by not doing so.

Corrections officials aren't wholly responsible for this outlandishness. Using inmates to keyboard information on public records makes sense. It lets inmates learn skills that are more marketable than, say, broom making, and it saves state agencies money — inmates are paid only 25 cents to 75 cents per hour. Having job training programs in our prisons is important, because inmates are less likely to become repeat offenders when they can get, and maintain, jobs upon release.

What's dumb is for bureaucrats to send confidential data to prisons. State universities and the agriculture department also use inmates to do key punch work. Like the human resources agency, their leaders have a duty to ensure that private information doesn't wind up in the hands of prisoners. After all, people who consistently use good judgment don't become felons. — Louisville Courier-Journal

A third force

While Ross Perot has been off rabble-raising and Republicans have been off filibustering, former Senator Paul Tsongas and Warren Rudman have been doing some serious work. They've put together an alternative federal budget that would eliminate deficits by the year 2000, and they've set up a group, the Concord Coalition, to push it. Mr. Tsongas, you'll recall, paved the way for Mr. Perot last year by talking fiscal sense in the Democratic primaries, and Mr. Rudman is the New Hampshire Republican who quit Congress in frustration over its fiscal follies.

Their budget is stiff medicine, calling for entitlement cuts, including reducing Social Security for people with annual incomes over $40,000, and more taxes. But it is a credible effort, and its existence will be a constructive force. These men are using their stature to further their principles instead of their popularity. May their tribe increase. — Louisville Courier-Journal

Says Clark has children at heart

Editor:
I have known Dr. Brent Clark for the last 10 years. In my dealing and talking with him:

- He has the children at heart.
- He wants to see them have the best education possible.
- He doesn't want to see the taxpayers of Floyd County given the shaft.
- He is a man that will stand up for the people of Floyd County.
- His goal is to see the children have the best education possible.

About the pile of dirt at the old Betsy Layne High where some want the new 21-room school to be built. Why was the fill made there? You've got no parking space at the Betsy Layne gym. If you build there you would have to buy land for parking space.

You are in the flood plain. If you had a disaster and had to use the new school for a shelter in a flood, you would have to have a boat to get to it. Then, if the water got too big you would have another disaster, so if the old board made a costly mistake, I don't think the new Floyd County School Board of Education should make another mistake by building on this dirt pile.

I know the new Floyd County Board of Education members know the Big Sandy River gets out of control (think about the mighty Mississippi River a few months back).

I say no to the school being built on the dirt pile. God holds all power over Heaven and Earth. He gives man and woman a mind to do what's right and I'm sure the new board members can see my point of view. So you need a new site for the new middle school, somewhere out of the flood plain.

About the (rental) trailers for classrooms at Stumbo, Harold, Betsy Layne and all over Floyd County, I think they should be eliminated. (Rental property is costly to the taxpayers in Floyd County).

Think if a child needs to use the bathroom. He or she gets teacher's permission, walks through the snow or rain, goes to the bathroom in the next door building. Do you think this is modern and up-to-date facilities?

Taxpayers, wake up and call your board members. You have been given the shaft long enough. Children in an emergency that had to go to the bathroom, what would happen? Shame, shame, shame.

Mrs. Hattie Owens, Mr. Eddie Patton, Mr. Robert (Bob) Isaac and Dr. Brent Clark, I have had lengthy talks with you all. I never met a more intelligent bunch of people and I know you will do the taxpayers of Floyd County right, to the best of your ability.

So, to the new board members, I want you to look to the future and be the leaders of tomorrow.

James McKinney

New concerned board members

Editor:
I could not believe my first board meeting. I am new at this school thing, getting involved since my first child just started kindergarten.

When I first got there I saw board members stalling. I saw one board member rubbing his head, hair every few minutes as though he had a hair out of place and squirming in his chair as if he was ashamed of something and worried.

I guess voting down a new school has him thinking second thoughts. I saw one board member watching his watch for time as if he wasn't really interested in anything we had to say.

The other members did act as if they were somewhat concerned and did try to help. I guess two bad members aren't too bad. What was worse, it lasted until around 12 a.m. What happened to the time?

Then some of us had to drive almost an hour to get home, then work the next day. Do they expect us to attend their meetings at hours like these.

No wonder no one shows up. Board members, please cut it off short somewhere next time and cut the bull!

Scott said the campaign will focus on issues such as jobs, roads, bridges, and cable television rates, which he believes are too high. —Appalachian News-Express

Pike man killed when pickup overturns

A Pike County man died early Wednesday morning when his pickup ran off U.S. 421 and overturned, state police said.

The wreck happened a mile south of Frankfort as David F. Williamson was driving north in his 1991 Dodge pickup.

State police said Williamson lost control of his truck which dropped off the right shoulder of the road and hit an earthen embankment and a utility pole.

The pickup then flipped on its top, throwing Williamson from the cab.

Williamson, 35, was not wearing a seat belt. Police have not determined what caused him to lose control of the pickup. —Lexington Herald-Leader

Rape defendant ruled competent

A 19-year-old man accused of raping an 83-year-old Hager Hill woman in 1992 is competent to stand trial, a judge has ruled.

In an order entered Friday, Johnson Circuit Judge Stephen N. Frazier concluded that Larry Dwayne Hulsey, also of Hager Hill, was mentally competent to face rape and other charges connected to the November 19, 1992, incident.

Police claim Hulsey, who was 18 at the time, and co-defendant, Tony Lee Jones, entered the victim's home and Hulsey raped her. The victim's home was then burglarized, police said.

Jones, who was also 18 when the woman was allegedly raped, is charged with conspiracy in the case.

No trial date has been set. —The Paintsville Herald

State briefly seizes Hazard hotel's assets

La Citadelle, a mountain-top hotel which was once a magnet for dignitaries and coal barons visiting Eastern Kentucky, was briefly seized Wednesday by state officials for collection of back taxes.

The Kentucky Revenue Cabinet seized the assets of Perry Motels Inc. and Hazard Motels Inc., which share ownership of the hostelry overlooking the Perry County seat of Hazard.

Don Guier, attorney-manager for the agency's Department of Tax Compliance, said the action was halted after about an hour when hotel co-owner Jim Hall reached a monetary settlement.

Action was taken to collect $70,000 for corporation license, income, withholding, sales and use taxes for certain periods beginning last November. Guier said that amount was later adjusted after Hall filed some additional documents.

Neither Guier nor Hall would divulge the sum paid. —Lexington Herald-Leader

Williams dies following accident on US 23

Thomas C. Williams, 23, of Raccoon, was driving an '85 Nissan 4x4 north on US 23 when he apparently lost control and slid across a median, according to a police report.

The truck overturned several times on the south-bound side of US 23, left the roadway, crossed the ditch and came to rest on its top off the roadway, the report said.

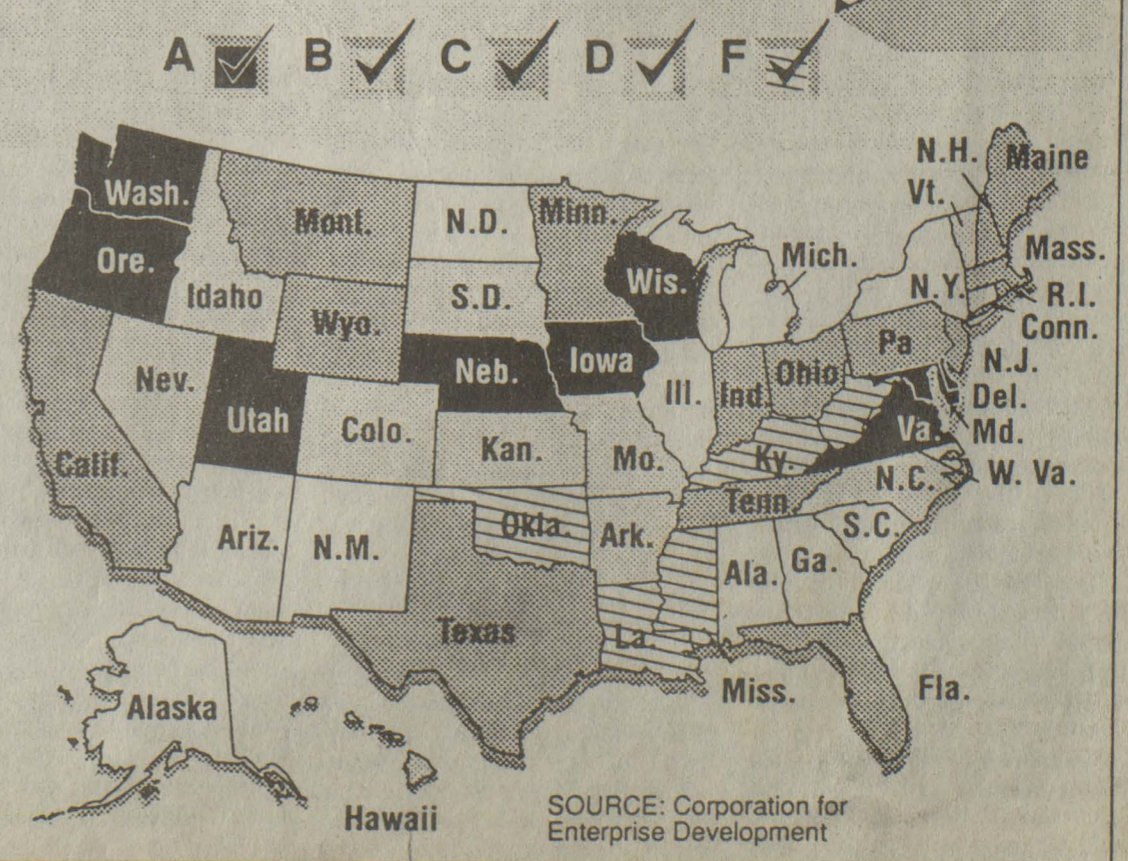

The victim was thrown from the vehicle. According to the police report, Williams was taken to Pikeville Methodist Hospital then transferred to UK Medical Center where he was pronounced dead by Fayette County Coroner Johnny Leach.

The accident was investigated by Trooper Larry Woods with assistance from Trooper Greg Roberts.

No seat belts were worn. —staff report

Healthcare in rural Kentucky

Training of health care professionals needs to be done in the state's more rural areas and not just in its metropolitan centers, State Sen. Benny Ray Bailey told an approving group of community college leaders recently.

"There's no reason anymore why we have to train everybody downtown in the big city," said Bailey, speaking September 22 at Prestonsburg Community College to a meeting of officials from the University of Kentucky Community College System.

With teleconferencing technology, "there's no reason to think everything in education has to happen away from here," said the legislature's primary health care expert and advocate.

Bailey described a scenario where students at PCC, for instance, could hook up via television and telephone equipment with classes at UK's College of Medicine, receiving training in physician's assistant programs, radiology and other related fields.

"We import physical therapists from the Philippines and medical technologists from Holland," he said. "We ought to be training our own."

He added he sees no reason why young physicians cannot complete medical residency programs at area hospitals, rather than at metropolitan centers.

Bailey, who holds a PhD in public health, was one of four panelists discussing the topic "Health Care Issues in Rural Kentucky" during a retreat for community college presidents and faculty who are in the system's Leadership Academy. Officials from UK and the UK College of Medicine also attended.

The other panelists invited to address health care and health education issues were Eula Hall, founder of the Mud Creek Clinic at Grethel; Dr. Rodney Handshoe, a cardiologist in private practice and affiliated with Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg; and Tom Ellis, Gov. Brereton Jones' consultant on health care reform. PCC President Dr. Deborah Floyd moderated the panel.

Dr. Handshoe indicated that one reason for a lack of primary care physicians in rural areas is that "they end up working harder for less money," echoing a statement from Bailey that family practice needs to be made more attractive to medical students who increasingly are choosing to specialize.

The physician added that the public needs to be "re-educated" to accept group medical practices because they are more cost effective than practices by individual physicians.

He also said prevention of disease should be stressed before treatment.

Hall, who started her clinic in 1973 to serve poor people in rural Floyd County, pointed out that social problems often affect an individual's health.

The Mud Creek Clinic, she said, offers an outreach program and social services, as well. For instance, it operates a food pantry and oversees the local water district.

"There are a lot of problems you can handle in a community health center that can't be handled in a physician's office," she said.

"I'm not a doctor or nurse—I don't have a degree in anything—but I can educate people in what it takes for health care."

Ellis, who spent 17 years with Blue Cross/Blue Shield before entering the public service arena, said health care reform should include a decrease in insurance red tape.

He said he knows a physician who in computerizing his office had to enter more than 180 different claim forms onto the computer. He said a uniform claim form would free doctors from some of the bureaucracy and allow them more time to deal with patients.

The governor's adviser also said that the community colleges can contribute to health care reform by "creating an atmosphere of positive change." He added that there's "an urgency for education" in regard to prevention of illnesses.

Hall concurred, saying that "health education is one of the main things we have to do."

During their time in the area, the UKCCS officials also toured the Mud Creek Clinic, The David School and Martin County Coal, as well as PCC's River Walk, Alternative Learning Lab, Wellness Center and other facilities.

While here, they stayed at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park and participated in sessions on other Eastern Kentucky issues.

KET tapes 25th anniversary spot in Floyd County

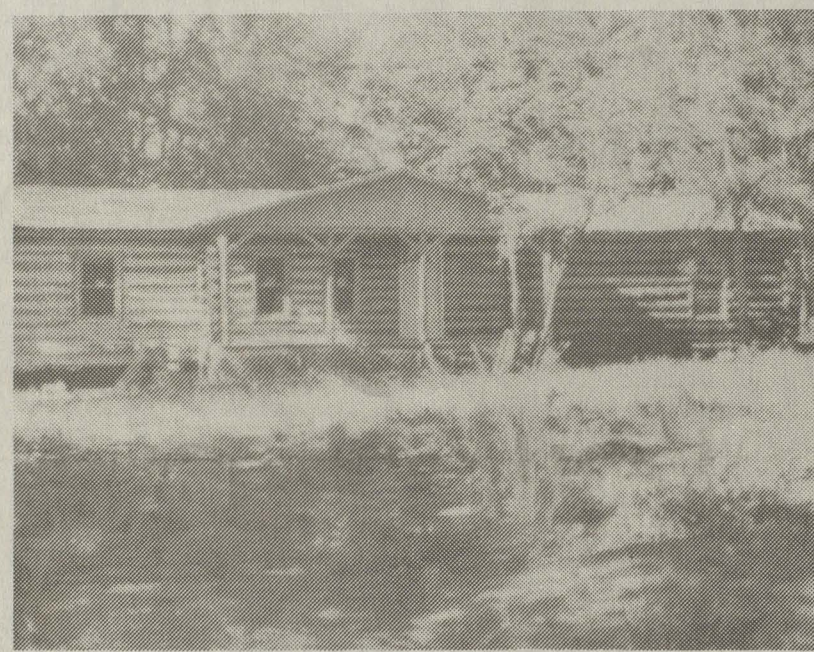

Floyd County residents turning in to KET this fall will see some familiar faces. A television crew visited the county recently to tape KET 25th Anniversary spots with area residents. Participating in the taping were the Jenny Wiley Summer Theatre Players.

The spot will air statewide on KET as part of the network's celebration of 25 years of broadcast programs and educational services to Kentucky, said KET Associate Producer Megan Moloney. More than 40 segments will be produced in all, Moloney said, with the resulting promos airing between programs on a rotating basis from September through March.

(KET begins its anniversary year on September 23, 1993.)

"One of KET's goals has always been to show the rich diversity of people and places that make Kentucky unique in order to bring together different areas of the state," noted KET Executive Director and CEO Virginia G. Fox.

"The anniversary spots capture the flavor that is Kentucky—from its country groceries to its parks to its historic towns," Fox said. "They tell the Kentucky story through the sights and sounds of everyday citizens as they help mark KET's silver anniversary, making it a true Kentucky milestone."

Building log house a family affair

Since late October, Army Sergeant Jack Howell, formerly of McDowell, has been building his own 64' by 30' log house. The 1,860 square foot home is located on 8 1/2 acres of land Howell owns at Cedar Point, South Carolina. The house wasn't built from a kit. Rather, Howell made the logs from trees on his property. Howell's father Troy, his brother Bill and Staff Sergeant Gerald Pickle helped with the construction. Also, Howell's sons Chris, 11, and Shawn, 13, helped by mixing the mortar for the logs. The house, valued at $125,000, will be finished in October.

Non-credit courses offered at PCC

Want to step up your line dancing? Write your own life story for your kids and grandkids? Sharpen your office skills? Find out how to finance a college education?

You can, by enrolling in a non-credit, continuing education class at Prestonsburg Community College.

The fall semester schedule of community classes is now available from PCC's Continuing Education and Community Services office. It lists classes at both the Prestonsburg and Pikeville campuses, along with registration forms for enrolling in classes.

Included are basic skills classes, such as GED preparation, high school correspondence, and employability skills (how to get a job and how to keep it).

Under the heading of "Lifeskills Training" are courses in driver education, test preparation, self-awareness, assertiveness, computer skills, library skills, college financial aid information, and the speaking of English for people who have another primary language.

Occupational classes include office and secretarial upgrade training, CPR training and retraining, and EMT certification.

For business owners or those who want to be, courses are offered in starting a business and, in particular, operating a child care center, as well as in management skills.

In the area of health, classes are slated in stress management, personal safety, AIDS, aerobics, conditioning and weight training, swing dancing, line dancing, ballroom dancing, walking, hiking and volleyball and basketball.

Then, there are voice lessons, piano lessons, and classes in cake decorating, painting, crafts, creative writing, and autobiography.

Historic and personal issues are tackled in courses such as the Korean War, the Civil War, the Kennedy assassination, family relationships and parenting.

In addition, the college will offer a variety of teleconferencing courses from the Public Broadcasting System.

For a copy of the schedule or for more information on the classes, call 886-3863 in Prestonsburg or 432-4800 in Pikeville.

Floyd County blood drive

On Tuesday, September 28th, Wednesday, September 29th, and Thursday, September 30th, Central Kentucky Blood Center will be sponsoring the monthly Prestonsburg/Floyd County community blood drive.

The drive will be held from 11:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. on Tuesday and from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday at the Prestonsburg Donor Center located on the second floor of the municipal building on North Lake Drive. Donors will receive a free T-shirt.

Central Kentucky Blood Center is the only provider of blood and blood components to Floyd County hospitals which include Highlands Regional, Our Lady of the Way, and McDowell Appalachian Regional.

The need for blood donors is increasing. In fact, over 200 donors are needed daily to meet the needs of area residents and patients in the Central Kentucky Blood Center service area, including Floyd County. Sixty percent of the population will need blood sometime during their lives, yet only five percent of the population has donated blood. Also, blood only lasts 30 days, so monthly blood drives are essential for maintaining an adequate blood supply.

Take time to support the ongoing blood needs of Floyd County by becoming a regular blood donor. Your participation in the monthly community blood drive does make a difference.

For more information or to make an appointment, call Central Kentucky Blood Center at 1-800-775-2522 or call Georgia Sanders at 886-1557.

Chamber News

Auction to benefit chamber

The Floyd County Chamber of Commerce held its monthly meeting for September at Hall Funeral Home in Martin. Hall Funeral Home is to be commended on the fine hospitality that was received by all who attended.

On October 7, starting at 5 p.m. make plans to attend the new-member reception from 5-7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. Immediately following the reception, the Chamber will hold its second annual auction. Come and join in the fun! You can come by and observe articles that will be auctioned beginning at 4 p.m. that day.

Truly, this auction will be bigger and better than last year. The public is invited. Cash, checks and major credit cards will be accepted.

The Chamber welcomes newest members Marco Industrial Tire Sales, RND Design, United Central Industrial Supply, May Commercial Group, and Clayton Mobile Homes. To become a member of Floyd County Chamber, call 886-1341.

Celebrates 88th birthday

Joe P. Tackett of Melvin celebrated his birthday Saturday, August 7, at the Weeksbury Community Center. His family and relatives were there to help him celebrate. He has three sons: Charles E. Tackett and David Tackett of Melvin and Raymond Tackett of Andrews, Indiana; seven daughters: Betty Meadows and Loretta McCray of Jackson Ohio, Rose Marie Caudill and Christine Clark, both of Andrews, Indiana, Mary Gillespie of Price, Wanita Stone of Melvin and Fannie Johnson of Banner. He also has a grandchild who lives with him that he raised since she was 13 months old, Beatrice Crittendon. There were 157 family members and friends attended his dinner. This was a very happy occasion but also a sad one for him and his family because he had just lost his wife Lula Tackett, age 82. They had been married 67 years. He also just lost his son, Carl F. Tackett, who was 64.

Now there's a special place for a special time in your lives

The joy and excitement of childbirth. It fulfills the promise of family, of new generations. It's a big responsibility. There's so much for you to learn. So many choices. So much trust to place in others—family and neighbors, the professionals you need to help assure a safe childbirth, a healthy baby.

For this special time in your life, there's now a special place—the Birth Place. Designed to make the experience everything you've hoped for. Homey comfort. Cheerful, new LDR's—labor, delivery and recovery—all in one room. Your family can now be closer than ever. You're surrounded by caring, highly trained OB professionals. The latest technologies at their fingertips. OB surgery. Care Connection. Ready to meet your every need.

And helping you plan and prepare from the very beginning with new classes. How to have a healthy pregnancy. Birthing. Infant care and much more.

THE NAKED PUEBLO

In Arizona, no one wears clothes. Well, I guess I should probably clarify that before a male stampede starts towards the wild, wild West. I guess I should say that in Arizona, no one needs to wear clothes, at least this time of year—hence the above nickname.

For those of you who weren't keeping track of my column as it wound towards a close, I gave up my job as part-time help at the Times, packed up the ol' Biffmobile and headed west to Tucson, land of no humidity, saguaro cacti, and the University of Arizona—those other Wildcats, you know, the ones that lost to East Tennessee State and Santa Clara.

My role has changed to that of graduate student. I'm one of those folks who spends their time scuttling from bookshelf to bookshelf in the library, looking kind of scuzzy, doing research on really rare topics and pretending that all the work they're doing will actually help them find a job. The classwork's more strenuous than I've dealt with before, but I guess that's to be expected.

In two years, I'll have (if I pass everything) a Master's in Higher Education, enabling me to bend small colleges to my will, if they'll hire me.

Enough of that. Let's talk about Tucson.

Tucson was once one of the major watering holes in the days of the Wild West. The famous ghost town of Tombstone is not too awful far away from here. For those of you into real South of the Border, Mexico's only 75 miles away. For those of you who want really fantastic Mexican food, go to Rosa's just up the road from my apartment.

As I'm writing this, it's the first day of fall, and we had a high today of 103. Yes, triple digits in late September. Fortunately, all people say about "it's a dry heat" is true. I laugh at a lot of Tucsonans (that's what we call ourselves here) when they say that a day is "muggy" when there's fifty percent humidity. One of our 95 degree-90 percent humidity days would have 'em screaming for shelter.

The most useless occupation in Tucson is weatherman. I could get on the air and say, "Sunny today, high 90—clear tonight, low 65" just as easily as the next guy. We get 300 days of sunshine here in Tucson.

Celebration

Amy Lenora Bevins celebrated her sixth birthday on August 31 with her brother, Joseph Brandon Michael Caldwell, who was born on June 15. They are the children of Donald Joe and Connie Bevins Caldwell of Prestonsburg.

Haven't seen a single ad for a tanning bed since I got here. Jealous?

When I was driving into town, my first impression of the place was—brown.

When you're from good old Eastern Kentucky, raised among the rolling hills of green, you're not really prepared when you end up in a desert—which is where I am—the Sonora, to be exact. I really miss plants with real leaves. Out in the middle of the Sonora is Tucson, the smallest 450,000 person city in the world. Lexington is twice as metropolitan feeling as this place. It's really spread out, but I guess there's plenty of room in the desert.

What the Sonora lacks in trees, they make up for with cacti. I'd seen pictures of the saguaros, you know, the tall ones with the arms, but I only thought there'd be a few and they'd be way out in the desert. Wrong. The buggers are everywhere, some of them better than 20 feet tall. They line the streets of Tucson and can be found almost everywhere. Get out of the city to the south and west and you'll find stands of thousands.

There's a law in southern Arizona about the cactus. Since the saguaros are rare, it's illegal to cut them down or move them. However, some of the shady element of Tucson (and we have one—this is the first stop on the Mexican drug line) has taken to coming to people's yards in the middle of the night and stealing surgeons—whether for sport or sale is unclear. I can see it now...

"Cactus poachers and the women who love them—on the next Gerald."

So here I am with 36,000 of my closest friends at the U of A. It's a very nice campus with lots of open space. One of the midday recreations is sitting out on "The Mall" and listening to the half-cocked preachers on their soapboxes. One of them, "Brother Dave" by name, can be heard on the other side of the campus. This is a big campus and those are some pipes he's got.

It's been quite an adjustment getting used to this new place. After stressing for awhile over finding a place to live (which I did, without nearly as much strain as I thought I'd have) I have to try to build up the old social network all over again. I don't know, but I'm not really into heading to bars with quaint old names like Dirtbag's and Long Wrong's. Long Wrong's claim to fame is its Wednesday night "penny beer 'til you pee" special. Lovely. It's a big hit with underage undergrads though.

Everything hasn't been all roses since I've been in Tucson. Last week, when I was heading for school, a seventeen-year-old high school student driving a '73 Malibu decided that stop signs were optional. She came screaming through an intersection and punted the driver's side of my well-traveled and much-loved little Honda. I got out with a sprained back and neck, but the Biffmobile is no more. My trusty chariot from my laps around the country has been laid to rest.

Of course, she didn't even crack a headlight.

Other than that, I'm a little swamped with paperwork, but I'm enjoying myself. If there's anything interesting to tell from three time zones away, I'll send it along. If you want to talk to me, send stuff to the paper—it'll get to me.

Wish me luck, everybody. I'm gonna need it.
Bear down.
Later days.

Importance of excellent school attendance

Maurice Allen
Director of Pupil Personnel

Why is excellent school attendance so important? I believe that it is important for several reasons. A student who has excellent school attendance will be more likely to master the essential skills for each grade level and thus be prepared for the succeeding grade. As a result of very good attendance, a student will realize his potential and score higher on tests given to compare his or her achievement with those students of the state and nation. Excellent school attenders will have a more favorable attitude toward school work and school activities. Their responsibilities as a citizen of this country will be realized thus preparing them to live happily and productively in our society. High attendance in school will pave the way for future responsible employees on the job who are not a liability because of absenteeism. In short, students who have excellent attendance will experience success which in turn will shape individuals with high self-esteem.

Each school system in our state receives funding through the Minimum Foundation Program, based on the average daily attendance of pupils. Higher pupil attendance means more funds for school systems to spend on providing a better education for our students.

The goal of high student attendance must be espoused by parents as well as school personnel. Parents teach values to their children. If parents say they value a good education for their children then they will see that their children are excellent school attenders. Parents should plan vacations at a time when school is not in session. They should also realize that tardiness or leaving before school dismisses results in a loss of valuable learning time and also conveys to the child that school is not that important. Doctor and dental appointments should be scheduled after school hours whenever possible.

Parents are urged to cooperate with teachers and other school personnel in giving their children and our students the best possible education by first making sure their children are excellent school attenders! Working together will produce the desired results!

Young Authors

Ann Hall

The Floyd County Times and the Department of Instruction of Floyd County Schools jointly feature the student work of Ann Hall, a seventh grade Young Authors' winner from Mrs. Joyce Daniel's class at Adams Middle School. She is a daughter of Cainer and Gwendolyn Hall of Prestonsburg. Her book, The Basketball Dream, printed with permission, was the winner in the seventh grade poetry competition.

She chose to write and to illustrate a narrative poem about a topic she knew and enjoyed: basketball. She says: "I didn't know what to write about, so I chose something that I liked."

She was a room winner, a school winner, and a county-wide winner for the 1992-93 school year for her book. She received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond at a spring awards ceremony. Approximately 5,000 elementary and middle school students participated in competition throughout the county.

The Basketball Dream

There once was a girl, who had a dream
Which was to be good on the basketball team.
Which was to be good on the basketball team,
but Maria wasn't coordinated enough.

She couldn't shoot, dribble, or any of that stuff.
Made fun of and teased is what she got,
For trying so hard, but not reaching the spot.

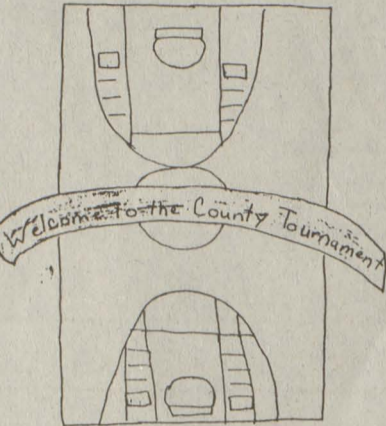

So, she decided to practice very hard,
On the basketball goal in her backyard.
Harder each day she tried and fought
Just to play in one game is what she sought.

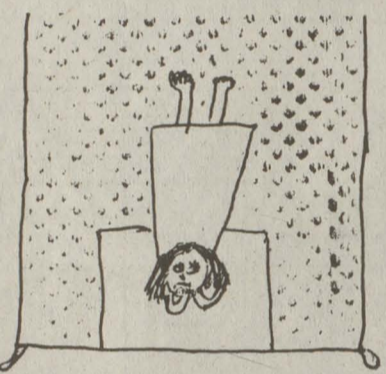

She had always looked forward to the day she would play, but she warmed the bench every day.

The county tournament was held February 1, 1993.

She knew she had to be all she could be.

In basketball she wished she wasn't so bad,
For she was very, very sad.
She wanted to play with all the rest,
But that was impossible,
Because she wasn't the best.

"Keep up your confidence," her mom would always say,
"If you don't, you'll never make it through the day."

When the championship game came,
she figured it would just be the same.

But right before the game, the coach yelled Maria's name.

She couldn't possibly think what trouble she was in
Was sitting on the bench a sin?

Well, the coach told Maria that the starters got sick,
And told her to get a jersey on real quick.

Maria was ready to play with the other four.
She was no longer sad anymore.

As they tipped off the ball,
Maria stood up straight and tall.
She sprang up into the air,
and snatched the ball with care.

She dribbled to the wrong side of the court,
But when she shot, it looked like her sport.

The ball went soaring into the net,
But the game was not over,
Not yet.

In the fourth quarter, it was 47-43,
Mria thought to herself, "We're losing, thanks to me!"

She stole the ball,
And the fans bounced off the wall.

Maria popped a three,
And got fouled on the knee.
She lined herself up with the goal,
And bending her knees, she swished a free throw!

With 10 seconds left and the game tied,
She drew a foul, and the other team cried.

Just like the first, Maria made her second shot,
Both balls arced and hit the spot.

The game was won 47-49,

and Maria had played mighty fine.
Maria had a lot of pride,
And she felt very good inside.
It was fun winning, but what made her beam,
Was that at last she was living her dream.

Changes underway at Adams

by Janice Allen
AMS Principal

Sweeping changes are currently underway for students, staff, and for parents of Adams Middle School (AMS) students. These changes are especially being reflected in the area of curriculum.

The staff of AMS worked closely this past summer with Dr. Jack Foster in an effort to totally align our school's curriculum to the KERA Learner Outcomes. Tasks were determined for each outcome and we feel students must be able to perform these tasks in order to ensure the mastery of the Learner Outcomes. Assessment criteria have also been devised which will provide teachers a basis for making a qualitative assessment of each student's ability to use a particular concept or process. Further, statements have been determined which will best describe the student's performance of a specific task. With this type of program in place, the tracking of performance data is/will be very different from methods used previously. Also, the method of reporting to parents will take on a different look as well.

Additional curricular changes in our school are reflected in Chapter I and in Special Education Programs as teachers in these programs are now working in collaborative roles with the regular classroom teacher. This collaborative effort is in place across all levels 6-8.

The PRISM project is also new in our school. This project involves ten teachers working together to bring new and interesting perspectives to the Math and Science programs.

Not only are sweeping changes currently underway in the curriculum arena, but changes are also reflected in areas of attendance and discipline, communications, buildings and grounds, co-curricular and extra-curricular activities.

Stumbo's Young Authors are county winners

Four students of John M. Stumbo Elementary were county winners in this year's Young Author's program. The winners were the following:

7th grade, "Family Ties," NI, Kelly Newsome; 4th grade, "Living Alphabets," NI, Jonathan Tackett; P-4 (grade 3), "The Ozone Layer," Skills, Marcus Allen; and P-3 (grade 2), "How the Bunnies Got Tails," NI, Amanda Osborne.

New reporting system for Floyd County's primary students

by Connie M. Tackett
Director of Elementary Education

One goal of primary school is to form a partnership among the family, the child, and the teacher. A child in primary school should:

- * enjoy learning
- * master basic skills and concepts in reading, writing, and mathematics
- * be involved in individual and group projects based on integrated curriculum
- * learn to cooperate as a member of a group
- * be able to solve problems and think critically
- * use manipulatives to understand mathematical functions
- * progress continuously in each area of development
- * enthusiastically communicate with classmates and teachers on academic topics and projects

Each primary program shall include the seven critical attributes of primary school: developmentally appropriate educational practices, multi-age/multi-ability classrooms, continuous progress, authentic assessment, qualitative reporting methods, professional teamwork and positive parent involvement.

Beginning with the 1993-94 school year, Floyd County's Primary Schools will be reporting progress at nine-week intervals. In addition to the classroom teacher, Physical Education, Art, and Music teachers will also complete a separate report. The reporting system will also have a 4 1/2-week narrative which will be sent home by the classroom teacher only at the midpoint of each nine weeks.

The reporting system reflects changes in curriculum to meet the six goals and 75 learner outcomes of KERA. Letter grades are not assigned for the primary program. Instead, teachers use descriptive statements as well as narrative comments to evaluate how consistently the child is performing in each area. In addition, teachers will use portfolios, observations, projects and performance assessment to continuously determine

Adams Middle School welcomes new teachers

New teachers this year at Adams Middle School include Carole Bentley, Jennifer West, Allison Brooks, Johnene Newsome, Mack Martin and Marty Hicks.

Bentley is a 1992 graduate of Morehead State University. She obtained a BA degree in Middle School Education with an area of concentration in science.

West is a 1993 graduate of Morehead State University. She obtained a BA degree in Middle School Education with an area of concentration in math and science.

Brooks is a 1993 graduate of the University of Kentucky. She obtained a BS degree in home economics and family studies.

Newsome is a 1987 graduate of MSU. She has taught in Johnson County the past four years as a special education teacher.

Martin has a BS degree from Cumberland College. He is a professional artist and is well known for his prints of local buildings, scenes and his many murals in this area. He previously taught at Allen Central High School.

Hicks is a retired social services supervisor. She has a BA degree from Transylvania University and a masters from Morehead State University.

AMS has new check out, attendance, and tardy policies

Check out policy
If student needs to check out during the day, they should notify Mr. Dingus between 7:30-8:00 a.m.

Person picking students up must be on personal data sheet.

In case of emergency check out, persons checking students out must have pre-arranged family code word.

ATTENDANCE POLICY
Students missing more than 9 days per semester will not receive credit for this semester.

Students missing more than 18 days will not be promoted for lack of performance.

If student misses more than 18 days, they have option of making days up or by appealing to school appeals committee.

Tardy policy
A tardy is defined as arriving at school after roll has been called. First tardy, 30 minutes after school detention; second and third tardy, one hour after school detention; fourth and fifth tardy, one day in-school suspension; and sixth tardy, one day out-of-school suspension.

Any questions concerning check-out policy, attendance, or tardy policy, refer to student code of conduct book.

SAY CHEESE

In the past five years, one of the most popular fads to go around has been "Glamour Shots." Fabulous pictures of yourself taken in a glitzy, razzmatazz wardrobe that makes you look like you came right off the pages of Frederick's of Hollywood, or some other glamour magazine.

Actually glamour shots - fabulous fakes as I like to refer to them - are fun. There are few places to go where you can dress up like a cowgirl, a sailor, a motorcycle rider, a movie starlet or a safari hunter. Some people may have these outfits in their homes, but they'd never admit to it publicly.

Ten years ago I might have been game for these pictures, but a lot of terrible things can happen to your body in a decade. Ten years ago, a bejeweled red cowboy hat with ostrich feathers might have made me look like Annie Oakley at a rodeo. Now, the ostrich would be more photogenic; however, it wouldn't matter because I'm not photogenic anyway.

Back before the "bears ate the soup", I had a wonderful snapshot of myself taken while attending a wedding. The picture was so good, I had ten copies made, framed and sent to my closest relatives so they wouldn't have an excuse not to display it. It was a once in a lifetime experience for me because I had never had a good picture taken of myself. Once I thought a good picture had been taken of me, but after careful examination it was someone I only wanted to be me.

Nevertheless, there was a time when I would have sprung for an 8 x 10 glossy that made me look tantalizing, or at least tantal, but regardless of all the hype these supposedly glamorous pics tout, you can't make a hippo seductive.

The most amazing things about these photo sessions is that even younger children are having them taken at an alarming rate. By younger children, I mean children ranging in age from 4 to 12: Babies.

You ask how I know? Would you get the hint if I told you I've got a granddaughter? I thought so. I accompanied her and one of our cousin's children to have their pictures taken. My little sugar dumplin' posed as a biker, a starlet and a couple of other career women. When we get the proofs, I only hope she doesn't decide to choose one of them as her life's work.

It's amazing how these things work. If you're young, they make you look younger and sooooo much better than you actually are. Thankfully technology has caused this to happen. New photographic lenses now mask age spots, wrinkles, cellulite, moles with stiff hairs and facial menopausal lip hair. All those unsightly "uglies" that Mother Nature bestows upon unsuspecting women just when they think nothing else can go wrong. Obviously, it wasn't enough that women had to endure childbirth, child-rearing and dusting itty, bitty Levelors. Mother Nature reared her nasty creviced brow and said, "After you spend your best years trying to live, I'm gonna make you ugly for your old age. Zap! There's you a great, big liver spot for the side of your face: The side you like to show in a picture."

Maybe sometime soon I'll get up the nerve to have these glamour photos taken before people start saying, "She doesn't look tooooo bad for her age." When I mentioned to my husband that I might have them made he astutely said, "Go ahead, but it won't fool me. I know what you really look like." I think he's right.

Canine capers

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Shake the powder off Bowser this weekend. Then head on out to the Eastern Kentucky Kennel Club's dog show in Johnson Central's gymnasium to see the best of the breeds on Sunday, September 26, beginning at 10 a.m.

The American Kennel Club sanctioned A/OA match will mark the end of an era in the club's history, and the first in Eastern Kentucky fully-licensed matches.

Representative American Kennel Club will closely observe the match, which is in conjunction with Apple Festival. If the Eastern Kentucky club by the rules and the national club match, Eastern Kentucky Kennel Club Inc. will be granted permission to conduct fully-licensed shows, a first for any kennel club east of Lexington, said Bonnie Faulkner, a member of the Eastern Kentucky club.

To achieve the fully-licensed status, clubs must conduct two American Kennel Club supervised A/OA matches within the year. Earlier this year, the local club hosted a sanctioned match and received a nod of approval from the national group.

A fully-licensed show will allow the Eastern Kentucky Kennel Club to award points toward championship titles, which could mean thousands of dollars to breeders of championship dogs. To achieve championship status, dogs earn points at shows. The dogs must meet AKC requirements for their particular breed and accumulate a total of 15 points.

The club will also award points toward obedience titles. To earn an obedience title, dogs must have undergone special training, must perform on the first command and receive three scores of 170 or better.

Because organizers of this year's show can't award points, they will be generous with the prizes, said Faulkner. Over $800 in prizes will be awarded, said Nathan Frisby, vice president and a founding member of the club.

Over 100 dogs have been entered in the competition, Frisby said. Registration for the contest closed at noon Wednesday.

The Eastern Kentucky Kennel Club began in 1987 with a match at Prestonsburg Community College. Frisby and a couple of other dog breeders had attended shows in Louisville and in Ohio. The shows were so well attended, that Frisby and his friends realized Eastern Kentucky would benefit from the tourism aspect of a local show.

The show has continued to attract breeders from outside the area due to hospitality here in the mountains, Frisby said. The show's organizers have also added a few extras to the show, such as a covered dish dinner for exhibitors which gives the breeders and dog owners a chance to exchange ideas.

The local kennel club also hopes to educate the public about purchasing purebred animals from reliable breeders.

"When you're dealing with a pet shop, you don't know what you're dealing with. When you deal with a breeder, you meet the breeder, the sire or the dam of the puppy. You see what you're buying," Frisby said.

Certain characteristics and temperaments have been bred into animals, Frisby explained. Docility has been bred into certain animals to become family pets, or guard dogs have been bred to attack, he said.

The club has recently started a breeder referral program. The club is in contact with other clubs and can refer a potential dog owner to a reputable breeder, Frisby said.

me doing best me can. Me lurn frum "Hooked on Fonics." Besides, you no pay too good and got no benefits, so cut me slack. Me only one stoopid enuff to take this job. Anyways, me do better now: Me watch President Clinton's husband (Skippy not remember his name—me think it be "Chubby") make big speech on picture box last night. Him talk about "healthcare reform."

"Healthcare reeform" be big word that mean "Doctor bill be making us sicker than we wuz befor we seen him."

Anyhow, Chubby do good Kennedy impression, but him talk for many, many hours before he really say anything. Make Skippy think me missing "Unsolved Mysteries" for no good reason.

But then after big long time, Chubby start to say stuff bout how us shouldn't have to pay doctor so much but should still get good service.

Chubby say things like "ciggorette tax pay doctor for us." Skippy wonder how Chubby would like it if tax Big Macs, but that another topic.

Otherwise, me think Chubby have sum purty good ideas. Him make lot of sense and maybe him just picked on too much by the comedians like David Letterman and Bob Dole.

Maybe Chubby finally starting to get hand of it and people should start to lay off him for ...

Okay, that's it. Lose the ape. Listen folks, we're really, really REALLY sorry about this.

On the drawing board, this little experiment of ours looked like a pretty good idea. Skippy had a heck of a resumé, and you know, that Belcher kid was really getting on our nerves, but this has really gone too far.

We guess we should've known, though.

Leave it to a chimp to endorse Bill Clinton.

Anyways, Geoff's brain may actually be back by next week, so tune in for the next exciting episode of "Truth, Justice and the American Way."

And don't forget to stock up on those Big Macs.

Poperri

The Clinton administration, in it's effort to reform health care, is putting a lot of emphasis on "sin" taxes to pay for it.

At the top of their sin list are taxes proposed for tobacco and alcohol products.

We did some research on those products and have concluded beyond a shadow of a doubt that neither fit the theological definition of "sin."

Smoking and drinking are certainly "dumb," but neither are included on a list developed during the Middle Ages which provided seven avenues for going straight to Hell.

Those were known as the Seven Deadly Sins and, since we know of no recent amendments, those classifications alone should be used for tax purposes. Here's how:

PRIDE: Anytime anyone hollers "We're Number One," they will be required to pay 50¢ in "Pride" taxes. Estimated annual receipts from televised college football games alone should exceed one billion bucks.

GREED: Any candidate who spent more to get elected than he or she could possibly earn in salary over the course of their terms would be required to pay the difference between campaign donations received and actual salary. This tax could likely erase our $4 trillion national debt in about six months and leave a little extra to buy, oh, say, Mexico.

LUST: Since Freud hypothesized that our every move was determined by sexual desire, pay 10¢ every time you make a move.

ANGER: Don't get mad, get even. Otherwise, pay 50¢.

GLUTTONY: You are what you eat. If you could "eat a horse" and look like you have, pay 10¢. If you get fries with that, add a nickel.

ENVY: If you've ever wished you could play basketball like Michael Jordan, pay 25¢. If you've ever sprained an ankle trying to prove to your kid that you can play as well as Mike, pay $150 to the physician of your choice.

SLOTH: Ever watch the Home Shopping Network because you couldn't reach the remote control? Pay $5.

The alternative to these taxes would be to eliminate the Seven Deadly Sins, themselves.

Do that, and there could be no great need for health care.

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

In an August meeting at a Tampa, Fla., church, representatives of the Union of Independent (Ku Klux) Klansmen and the all-black Pan-African Inter-National Movement vowed to work together to create an independent African nation for African-Americans. The groups agree that integration in the U.S. is impractical and that relocation payments should be made to African-Americans as restitution for historical oppression.

FETISHES ON PARADE

— Mark Wiegel, 33, was arrested in Salem, N.H., in May after mall security guards confiscated a video camera hidden in a shoe box in his bag. Wiegel allegedly would set the bag down at a woman's feet with the lens pointed upward so that he could videotape up the woman's dress.

— Marketing executive Leonard Schwartz, 34, was arrested in New York City in July and charged with impersonating a medical doctor in his swanky Manhattan apartment building. Allegedly, Schwartz took a female neighbor's temperature rectally, tried to administer an enema to her, and offered to examine the 11-year-old daughter of another resident.

— A well-dressed man in his 40s fled after an incident in February at a western wear store in Omaha, Neb. According to a clerk, the man asked for a horse harness for a costume party and went into a dressing room to put it on. He emerged a short time later, flung the door open and ran around the store wearing only his undershorts and the harness. After a few minutes, he quietly changed back into his business suit, told the clerk he would be back with his wife to buy the harness, and left.

— Federico Fernandez, 35, was charged in Plainfield, N.J., in April as the man who has fondled at least 10 women in supermarket incidents in which, allegedly, he would "accidentally" squirt them with liquid detergent and then apologetically wipe their clothes off while fondling them in the process.

— State police in East St. Louis, Ill., arrested Eddie Givens, 36, during a routine traffic stop and charged him with impersonating a police officer after he tried to avoid charges by presenting a badge. They also announced that Givens was a suspect in several area incidents in which a man claiming to be a police officer stopped female motorists and asked to suck their toes.

— Three weeks apart in March, a High Point, N.C., couple and a Clyde, Ohio, couple reported that someone had stolen approximately 50 recently used cloth diapers from their front porch and garage, respectively, before the diaper service showed up. No other items were taken.

OOPS!

— On Good Friday this year on his way from Hillsdale, Mich., to Clinton, Mich., Christopher Ray Tirb drove off the road into a signpost, then a while later swerved across the center line and sideswiped another car, then a while later rear-ended a truck, which necessitated a call for an ambulance for him. En route to the hospital, the ambulance carrying Tirb was hit by another car.

— Robert Lord, 42, was rescued after eight hours afloat without a life jacket in the chilly and turbulent Strait of Georgia, between Vancouver Island and the Canada mainland in July. He had fallen off a ferry boat when he leaned too far out a window while vomiting.

The javelin is about 1 inch in diameter at its widest point; about 1 foot of the spear protruded through the other side of Campbell's neck.

THE WEIRDO-AMERICAN COMMUNITY

Two California physicians, co-authoring a piece in the March 1993 issue of the Journal of Forensic Sciences, reported on the deaths of two men who suffered mishaps while suspended naked on construction vehicles' hydraulic shovels. The doctors reported both men were attempting to heighten sexual gratification, but that one went a little too far and asphyxiated, and the other was accidentally fatally pinned to the ground by the shovel while dressed in women's clothes.

LEAST COMPETENT PERSON

Milton Byrd, 32, was arrested in August for the robbery of a Purity Supreme supermarket in Boston when, one month and a day after the robbery, he walked back into the store to apply for a job and was recognized by one of the employees.

I DON'T THINK SO

David Richardson, 19, arrested in a Gadsden, Ala., convenience store in August and charged with robbery, told police that he had made no holdup demand and in fact was only there to buy a few things. Police entered the store to find Richardson standing in the back, having just put a pair of pantyhose over his face and socks over his hands and carrying a butcher knife in his pocket. At the first sign of the police, Richardson, still in pantyhose, grabbed an item off the shelf and acted as if he were shopping.

SOAP SCRAPS

BIG WAIT is over. Marj Dusay said yes to "Guiding Light's" bid to return to the soap as Alexandra Spaulding, the role created and played by Beverlee McKinsey until she left the series last year. "GL" executive producer, Jill Farren Phelps, said, "We're fortunate in having this wonderfully strong, talented actress to work with us. Our audience has missed Alexandra, and now we can all look forward to seeing newer sides to this complicated, fascinating woman."

When we first see Alex on Sept. 24, she'll be in an Indonesian jungle. Her return to Springfield promises to be what can only be described as an "unusual" event.

Dusay is familiar to fans of both nighttime and daytime television. She starred in several miniseries, including "Fire in the Sky," "Wheels," and "Daughters of Privilege." On the big screen, she starred in "Made in Heaven," "MacArthur," and other flicks. Her television roles include primetime's "Heat of the Night," "Mancuso, FBI," "Dallas," "Star Trek," "Fresh Prince of Bel Air," etc. Daytime fans know her as "Santa Barbara's" Pamela Capwell, and as Myrna Clegg in "Capitol," assuming the role created by Carolyn Jones after Carolyn died of cancer.

Dusay has a son who is in the design business, and a daughter, Deborah Dusay Blocker, who is about to make her grandmother. On "GL," she's reunited with Justin Deas (Buzz) with whom she worked in the series, "Studio 5B."

Asked why she chose to take the role—which meant relocating from Los Angeles to New York, Dusay called it one of the better roles for women, and "I knew I would be comfortable with it."

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL casting news: After unbuckling his role as erstwhile heel, Lawrence Alamain on "Days of Our Lives," Michael Sabatino, whose last name means "little shoe" in Italian, laced up a new one on "The Bold and the Beautiful." However, as this goes to press, the "B&B" folks have yet to give us a clue as to who this character is, except to say he'll have a major impact on Macy Spectra Forrester and her mother, Sally Spectra (Bobbie Eakes and Darlene Conley). AND, NO, he won't be playing the role of Clarke Garrison, Sally's former husband.

Jan Buchanan, the Scottish-born actor who became a bona fide member of the David Lynch unofficial repertory company (he starred in "Twin Peaks" and other Lynch productions) after leaving his role as Duke Lavery on "General Hospital," is joining "B&B" as Dr. James Warwick, a psychiatrist.

BREAST CANCER RUNS IN THIS FAMILY.

BUT MAYBE NOT FOR LONG.

Evelyn Blevins and her sister, Barbara Spriggs, know that they are at high risk for developing breast cancer. Their mother was diagnosed at age 44 and a sister at age 40. Evelyn and Barbara each have a daughter, and one has a granddaughter, who likely will inherit their increased risk for the disease.

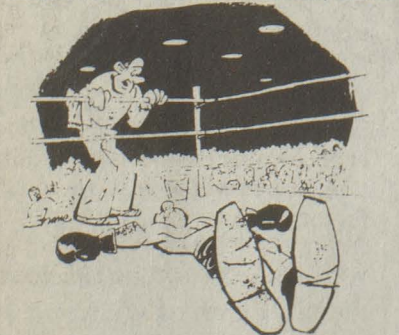

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer in American women; one in nine will be affected in her lifetime. At King's Daughters' Medical Center, we are working to change that statistic by offering a leading-edge option for prevention of breast cancer.

KDMC is among an affiliate network of 118 clinical centers in the United States and Canada participating in a nationwide study called the Breast Cancer Prevention Trial. The five-year research program studies whether the medication tamoxifen, effective in the treatment of breast cancer, may prevent its development in women at increased risk.

Factors strongly associated with developing breast cancer include age; family history of breast cancer; never having borne a child; bearing a first child past age 30; and menstruation at an early age. If you would like to know more about breast cancer risk factors, or are interested in participating in the Breast Cancer Prevention Trial, call us at (606) 327-4535.

Digging deep in trenches priority for Southern versus Bobcats

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Betsy Layne head football coach John Derossett will not be on the sidelines tonight as his Bobcats face a young, but respected team, Madison Southern.

The game kicks off at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic complex at 7:30 p.m.

Derossett has been suspended for one game because of his ejection in last week's game against East Carter. However, Derossett will be watching from the stands.

"I'll be there in the stands cheering my players on," he said.

Madison Southern comes into tonight's contest with a respectable 3-1 record and with some recognition in the Associated Press polls. While not making the top ten, they did receive votes in the polls.

Madison Southern coach Mike Elkins is in his first year at the Richmond school and has brought a whole new philosophy to the team that they still haven't adjusted to.

However, Southern has a strong runner in Jonas Hill, who has rushed for over a 1,000 yards the past two seasons.

Coach Elkins' scouting report...
While Betsy Layne does not have the number of players that Madison Southern dresses, still the Bobcats' offense is a concern for Coach Elkins. His team does not defend the passing game that well.

"We feel that their fullback (Rocky Hamilton) is a very hard runner," said Coach Elkins. "They throw the football very well and complete a lot of passes. We have to stop the passing attack as well as their ground game. They can get some deep passes on you if you're not careful."

"Also we must stop their off tackle power plays as well. We can't give them any cheap touchdowns. Our defense must shut them off."

Coach Elkins concedes that each team can only put 11 players on the field at one time and the low numbers that Betsy Layne possesses haven't gotten him thinking otherwise.

"We will have to dig into the trenches and hold their fullback down," said Elkins. "They are a good football team, even though they don't have the numbers."

Madison Southern dresses 32 players.

About the Eagles...
The Eagles will run a wide-open-I-type offense that has been geared toward quarterback David Lamb.

Not only is the Eagles' offense more geared to Lamb's talents, but Coach Elkins said that it benefits his running back, as well.

"He runs the 440 in 4.6 and bench presses 300 pounds," said Elkins. "He is a hard runner and if he had better skills and more foot speed, he definitely would be Division I material."

"He's just a big strong kid and has done a real good job for us the last three games. He has strong legs and a great attitude."

Robertson runs personal best; places first in Paintsville meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Prestonsburg's Stewart Robertson continues to be one of the area's top runners in cross-country meets. He placed first for the second consecutive week in the Paintsville meet at Paintsville Lake.

Robertson ran his personal best in winning the event with a time of 18:41.00. Robertson ran way ahead of the pack in finishing strong.

Another Prestonsburg runner who is beginning to make others take notice is Nathan Hardee. Hardee placed second in the meet behind Robertson last week. He repeated the performance this past Tuesday and he also ran his personal best by posting a time of 19:58.00.

Prestonsburg came in second to Allen Central in the meet after edging the Rebels last week.

Ryan Ortega placed 13th overall in a field that included 130 runners. Grant Combs took the 14th spot and Jeremy Caudill finished 15th.

The Prestonsburg girls placed sixth overall in the women's division. Jamie Ratcliff, who came in second last week, had to settle for a sixth place finish this week.

The Prestonsburg cross-country team is coached by Harold Tackett.

Allen Central takes first in Paintsville cross-country

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

What a difference a week makes.

Last week the Allen Central Rebels cross-country team finished second behind Prestonsburg. But this past Tuesday in the Paintsville meet, the Rebels ran first. Coach Dewey Jamerson said the team has been working hard the past week.

"Everyone improved their time from last week," he said. "The key was the way Shawn Amburgey, an eighth-grader at Maytown, moved up in positions."

Amburgey, who finished 22nd last week, moved up to the 11th position and cut two minutes off his time.

The Rebels had 37 points, with Prestonsburg totaling 45 for second place. Johnson Central ran a distant third with 86 points and Sheldon Clark placed fourth with 132 points. Then came Lawrence County, 145; Paintsville, 151. Over 125 runners took part in the meet.

Josh Patton, who finished third last week, placed fourth this time, but had improved his time by one minute. Patton finished with a 20:19.00.

"Josh just went out too fast," said his coach. "He had a better time than in the first meet, but he started too quick."

Kevin Stumbo held the fifth spot where he finished last week. Stumbo ran a 20:54.83, one minute better than he had run previously.

Mike Elzokari knocked off 30 seconds from the first week and finished seventh overall with a time of 21:47.59. Eighth-grader Todd Howard also finished 30 seconds better than last Tuesday with a time of 22:03.36.

Amburgey took 11th and Kenny Bradley moved up 10 spots, finishing 16th overall with a time of 22:59.79. Bradley improved his time by three full minutes.

The most improved, time-wise, was Jay Harvey, who knocked five minutes off his last week's time. Harvey ran in at number 30 with a time of 24:05.33.

Jason Gayheart placed 47th at 25:10.78, an improvement of over two minutes. Tommy Brown posted a time of 26:07.05, which placed him 54th overall.

Another runner that took off five minutes off his time was Jonathan Scarberry, who came in at the 65th position with a time of 26:49.92. Wade Damron ran in at 27:28.81 for 77th place. Brother Chris Damron, a sixth-grader, placed 94th with his time of 30:49.18.

"All our team is working out more," said Jamerson when asked the reason for the difference in times. "They are running more miles here, plus they are working out on their own."

"They are putting in more time as well as miles and their attitude is very good. They realize they can compete with the other teams."

Allen Central girls finish second..

The running Lady Rebels took second place in their meet behind Johnson Central and Paintsville, who tied for first with 59 points each. Central scored 68 points for second place.

Lawrence County's 81 points, Sheldon Clark's 93 points and Prestonsburg's 96 points rounded out the other three finishers.

Sixty-seven runners took part in the girls' meet with Annie Harvey and Marsha Brown placing ninth with identical times of 21:32.47.

"They both legged it out at the finish line," said Jamerson. Harvey finished three minutes faster than last week and it was the first meet for Brown.

Dreama Isaac ran in 14th overall with her time of 22:45.80. The 15th position went to Mary Baldrige at 23:27.61. Jennifer Baker placed 20th at 24:54.59. Martha Stephens finished 51st at 32:50.97 and Heather Conley came in at 34:26.43 for 61st place.

"Annie did a great job for us," said Jamerson. "In fact, all of them did well because they, like the boys, increased their time from last week."

"Annie and Marsha ran a smart race and a good race," said the Rebels' mentor. "They all are working harder and getting in shape."

The weather was cooler than a week ago and Jamerson said that also helped establish better times.

Allen Central will run again at Paintsville next Tuesday, September 28.

Blackcats face Hawks minus Garza, Hyden

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

For the past two years, they have been billed as two of the top running backs in the fourth region. They helped lead the Prestonsburg Blackcats to a final four appearance in the state last year. The goal was a trip to Louisville in November. Who are we talking about? Running backs Dwayne Garza and Seth Hyden.

Both runners have definitely been scratched for the Pike Central game tonight at the Prestonsburg stadium.

Hyden is still recovering from an injury he sustained at Whitesburg two weeks ago. Garza re-aggravated an earlier injury in practice two weeks ago which limited his playing time against Belfry last Friday.

Hyden, who was at first going to need surgery to correct his knee, has been at practice in pads, but with the stipulation of no contact hitting. He seems to be improving with each day and Coach Letton hopes to have him and Garza back for the Shelby Valley game next week.

"They are out and out," said Letton, when asked of the two backs' status.

"I'm not playing at all against Pike Central," said Garza Thursday evening.

While Letton says that both players are getting better physically, the Prestonsburg coach doesn't want to chance any further damage to Garza

Pike Central invades second-ranked Blackcats

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

If the Pike County Central Hawks football team resembles the Belfry Pirates, you only have to look at the head coach of the Hawks to get an explanation.

Paul May took over the new Pike County school in its initial year of football after spending time under Belfry coach Phillip Haywood. May coached 12 years while at Belfry.

May's coaching habits are a clone of Haywoods and why not? The coaching style has worked so well in the past for the Pirates, and with it, May hopes it brings quick success to the Pike Central school.

"I was at Belfry when Coach Haywood came there," said Coach May. "I worked with him for the nine years that he has been there and I have picked up some things along the way."

"I believed in them then and I still believe in them today. Belfry has had very good success and we hope to, also."

Not only will the players have a new coach at a new school, but some new teammates also since Johns Creek and Mullins consolidated to form the new school. Coach May said that he has around eight to 12 players from the former Mullins school.

Coach May has already put into action programs that he hopes will contribute to the Hawks' success in years to come.

"We have a freshmen team that is 3-0 on the season. We also have sophomore squad that is 3-1."

Pike Central will dress 60 players whom Coach May says, "I am very glad to have."

Deciding to come to the Pike County school, said May, was the hardest decision he had to make.

"I played there as a player. I've coached there for 12 years. I live there and my wife still teaches there," he said. "It was the toughest decision that I had to make."

But Coach May is pleased with the decision that he made and he thinks that the future is bright at the new school.

"I saw it as a good opportunity for me," he said. "I hated to leave the area, but I thought it was time to make a change. It's great here."

Coach May's scouting report..

"I guess that I am like everyone else," he said, "in that I am very impressed with Prestonsburg this season. They have a very fine group of young men there and their defense is outstanding."

"They are so aggressive and they just seem to come at you and bunch around the ball."

Out for the Pike Central game will be tailback Seth Hyden, who will be missing his second consecutive game with a knee injury. But the absence of Hyden doesn't lessen the respect that May has for the Prestonsburg offense.

"They have so many backs to run at you," he said. "I know that the Hyden kid is a very good tailback, but they have others that can come right at you."

"Their linebackers get off the ball so well and do things that can hurt a team. The other kids that came in against Belfry did a great job."

May said that it is the Prestonsburg defense that is of most concern to him and his coaching staff.

Prestonsburg has lined up well through four games, still not allowing a touchdown to be scored against them. The three points from the Belfry game has been the extent in scoring through four games.

About the Hawks..

Hamilton Harris (6-0, 186 senior) will quarterback the Hawks. Harris is not new to the game, having called the signals at Johns Creek last year.

The wishbone offense seems to be made for a quarterback like Harris or, Harris was born to run the wishbone.

"He's the kind of a kid that you want to run the wishbone offense," said May. "He likes to take it and run with it. He does a good job at it, too."

After Harris at quarterback, the backfield begins to get younger, not only in grades, but in experience as well.

Freshman Chris Howard (5-7, 142) will have to run through one of the toughest lines in the state when he takes his fullback spot. Junior Phillip Harris (5-9, 153), brother to Hamilton Harris, will run at one halfback slot while senior David Edmonds (6-1, 156) fills the other position.

"This is the first year of football for Edmonds who came from Mullins last year," said May. "But he is a tremendous athlete. It is like having all freshmen in the backfield."

Bo Ward (6-3, 254, junior), Trinity Anderson (6-2, 197, senior), Chris Anderson (6-6, 242, senior) and Chris Coleman (6-4, 201, junior) will anchor down the Hawks' defensive line.

Coleman will be at a tight end slot for the Hawks with Jason Muncy (6-0, 218, senior) at center. Ward and Anderson will play the guard slots on the offensive side.

Game notes

• Pike Central is 1-2 overall in the season and 1-1 in district play.

• Prestonsburg is currently ranked second in state 2A football by the Associated Press.

• A former Prestonsburg assistant, Royce Mayo, is presently an assistant at Pike Central, having given up the head coaching job at Elkhorn City.

• Pike Central will finish their game with M.C. Napier this Monday night, October 11. The Hawks will have the ball on the Napier 49-yard line on a third-and-two situation trailing the Navajo's 8-6 in the fourth.

KHSAA Sports Information

Ashland Tops 500, Highlands Nears 600

Paul Blazer Ashland won its 500th game in grand fashion last Friday as the Tomcats cruised by Greenup County 45-12. Ashland, which has been playing football since 1919, has accumulated a 500-258-33 record. Ashland coach Vic Marsh, the winningest coach in school history, now stands at 97-56 in his 13th season. (As a sideline note, Dick Martin Jr., who's been calling the Ashland games on WCMI Radio since 1975, can claim he and his father have seen most of the Tomcats' victories. His father, Dick Sr., did play-by-play for Ashland from 1946 until Junior took over in '75.)

Highlands started the year needing three victories to hit the 600 win plateau. The Bluebirds dropped their first two games to Bell County and Cincinnati Moeller but have since beaten Holmes and Newport Central Catholic. Highlands will go for the illustrious mark Friday against Covington Scott.

Louisville Male is the state's all-time winningest program with a record of 621-257-48.

Big Wins

Two big victories dotted headlines across the state this past weekend. Graves County, which defeated Mayfield for the first time last week, upended powerful Paducah Tilghman for the first time, 20-0. John Barber ran one yard for one TD and hit Richie Floyd for an 8-yard TD to pace the Eagles.

In Louisville, Male may have established itself as the team to beat in Class 4A. The Bulldogs destroyed St. Xavier 44-24 in front of 10,000 fans at Manual Stadium. The Dogs improved their record to 4-0 as St. Xavier fell to an uncharacteristic 2-2. Male will face Ballard this week, while St. Xavier and Trinity will lock horns at the Fairgrounds in that annual grudge match.

Game Schedules

Still no official word if or when the Beechwood-Hazard and Pike County Central-M.C. Napier games will be completed. Both games were postponed in the fourth quarter on Sept. 10, due to lightning.

The Pikeville vs. South Floyd game was scheduled for this past Friday, but South Floyd asked the Panthers to reschedule after a South Floyd student died last week. The two teams have rescheduled for next Tuesday, Sept. 28. Pikeville will also play Phelps that Friday, Oct. 1, while South Floyd doubles-up with Jenkins.

Back On Track

Scott High School got back on the winning track for the first time since the 1990 season. After losing 26 straight games, Scott blanked Dayton last Friday 10-0.

Bold Move

Highlands may be credited with the call of the year. With the last few seconds ticking off the clock, Highlands lined up in field goal formation trailing Newport Central Catholic 15-12. However, coach Tom Duffy called for a fake and had his son Dufler, a sophomore starting quarterback who holds on field goal attempts, rifle a 5-yard TD pass to junior Steve Burns as time expired for the victory.

Tough Defense

Prestonsburg's defense is drawing rave reviews throughout Eastern Kentucky. The Blackcats have only allowed three points all season. Prestonsburg had shut out three straight opponents before defeating Belfry 12-3 last Friday. For the season, Prestonsburg has beaten Clay County 43-0, South Floyd 47-0 and Whitesburg 16-0 for a scoring margin of 118-3.

Fairview's Record

Tiny Fairview, a school with an enrollment of 175 in Ashland, set a school record two weeks ago by starting the season 3-0. Fairview defeated Huntington Vinson, Lewis County and Nicholas County before dropping a tough loss to rival Boyd County 35-7 on Friday.

Mr. Football Hype

Owensboro Senior running back Drew Hall is drawing rave reviews in the land of barbecue. Hall, who has seen action mainly in the first half of each game due to lopsided scores, has built up terrific statistics. Last week in the Red Devils' win over Apollo, Hall carried the ball 12 games for 177 yards and three TDs. He touched it only once in the second half - on the first play from scrimmage - and scored a TD on a 78-yard run. For the season, Hall, a 5-10, 175-pounder who ranked eighth in the state in rushing last week, has rushed 43 games for 619 yards and 11 TDs. He's also had some help. Backfield mate Joe Tutt had 22 carries for 275 yards and five TDs through the first three games.

Owensboro has outscored opponents this season 175-37 but may have its toughest test this Friday when it plays host to district rival and unbeaten Warren Central. The Dragons haven't done bad in the scoring column either, tallying 140 points through four games.

Automatic TDs

Owensboro Catholic senior Matt Carrico rushed just four times last week against Butler County but scored three TDs. The senior finished with 128 yards, an astounding 32 yards per carry, as Catholic won 35-8.

Warren East nearly had a player with similar stats. Senior Chris Alford was switched from split end to full-back last week and rushed five games for 109 yards and three scores as East beat Logan County 36-7. The first three games he touched the ball, Alford had TD runs of 21, 20 and 31 yards.

40-Point Highlight

Allen Central defeated Berea 43-8 Friday night, marking the first time the Rebels have ever scored 40 or more points in a game. Allen Central, located in Floyd County, is now 2-2.

Brugh Ties Record

Paintsville coach Walter Brugh now shares the most wins in a coaching career as his Tigers edged Nicholas County 14-12 in Carlisle last Friday. Brugh has a record of 271-126-5, tying Bardstown's former head man, Garnis Martin, who ended his career at 271-114-7.

The Tigers are now 3-1 on the season and will play host to Paris (3-1) this Friday. The Paris-Pointsville rivalry started in 1980 with a Pointsville victory 18-14. In 1981, Pointsville led 31-14 with 6:28 left before James Clark scored three TDs to steal a 34-31 victory. Since then, it has been all Paris. The Greyhounds lead the series 7-1 including last year's 35-0 victory.

Rebecca grabs sole possession of first place but is closely challenged by Tim. It was another rough week for most but they are not discouraged. Several have vowed to not pick UK again. Kentucky should fall to South Carolina. Louisville looks to be a good choice. Locally, Prestonsburg gets the nod over Pike Central. The San Francisco and New Orleans game is a hard one, The Browns should go 4-0 for the first time in a long time. Paris will spoil Burgh's record breaker.

South Floyd keeps head up as Fleming-Neon visits

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The South Floyd Raiders have already experienced some difficulty in the short time of their existence.

Last week the Raiders' top running back, Arnold Adams, was suspended indefinitely until he can show proof of his age and eligibility to the Kentucky High School Athletic Association. That effects the Raiders' running game.

Along with Adams, Patrick Tackett, a safety on defense for the Raiders, was declared ineligible until he can prove otherwise.

The loss of Adams is a big loss, but the loss of Tackett may be a bigger one for coach Donny Daniels' team because of the type of offense that the Fleming-Neon Pirates run -- a passing offense.

Tackett, in his last game, had four interceptions. Defense like that is going to be hard to replace against a team that likes to throw the football. Chad Slone will play the free-safety spot.

Coach Daniels will probably move Curtis Newman or Harold Hall into the vacant spot. Adams also played defensive end for the Raiders and his departure will cause more shuffling.

However, the Raiders are blessed with numbers this season. Finding a body to replace the two ineligible players will not be hard; but to equal the talent loss is another matter.

It will be homecoming tonight at South Floyd and the Pirates will be tough competition.

Currently 2-2 overall, the Pirates have a good 2-0 district record and tonight's game is a district matchup.

The Pirates have abandoned the side-saddle offense since coach Jack Hall's departure. Steven Holbrook has taken over the reigns for the Pirates.

The loss of Adams and Patrick takes away the two halfbacks who graced the Raiders' backfield. Look for Coach Daniels to move Adam Wright into the backfield and possibly John Caudill as a blocking back.

The Raiders will go with Aaron Hall at the quarterback spot with Cruse Caudill still running at fullback. The load of carrying the football will fall squarely on the shoulders of Caudill.

South Floyd hasn't thrown the football much this season, but that could change tonight. Hall will have Charles Johnson to throw to and the two have hooked up on other occasions. Kevin Johnson is another one who will be used at the other end slot.

The Raiders' front defensive line will be anchored by Kelly Lackey, who has one game in since being hurt in a gridorama game. Also, Mike Tackett, Jason Martin and Charles Johnson will be on the line.

Finding a replacement for Adams, who was also the team's punter-kicker, will also be a task before Coach Daniels.

Last game out...

South Floyd had last week off due to the death of a student at the school. The previous week the Raiders posted a 26-12 win over the Phelps Hornets.

Adams rushed for over 200 yards in the game and Tackett had the four interceptions.

But it will be back to the drawing board for the Raiders as Fleming-Neon comes to town.

Pikeville-South Floyd game rescheduled for Sept. 28

The Pikeville-South Floyd football game that was scheduled to be played September 17 will be played this Tuesday night beginning at 7 p.m. The game is a district game for both ballclubs.

It's Homecoming tonight at South Floyd

The Fleming-Neon Pirates will visit the South Floyd Raiders tonight in the school's first homecoming. The Pirates bring in a new system that area teams are not too familiar with.

New coach Steven Holbrook has replaced Jack Hall at the helm of the Pirates. Also gone is the side-saddle offense the Pirates are so accustomed to running.

The Pirates like to throw the football and that could be a concern for Raiders coach Donny Daniels' secondary.

Chris Holbrook (6-1, 175) will quarterback the Pirates and he has a very accurate arm. He also has two receivers who are better than average in catching the football. Roger Elswick (6-1, 215, senior) has been around and possesses soft hands.

The second receiver for Holbrook is Roger Collier (5-8, 150, junior), who runs out of the backfield for Fleming-Neon.

Holbrook is also one of the team's leading rushers. He teams with Alan Mullins and Jamie Hall, as well as Collier, in the backfield.

Last Week...

Fleming-Neon struggled against a team that is struggling themselves -- Elkhorn City -- and had to wait until the late hour just to get the game started. The Pirates pulled out a 14-6 come-from-behind victory over the Cougars with Holbrook only able to complete one pass. Holbrook led the rushing game for Neon against Elkhorn by gaining 74 yards.

In an earlier game played against Allen Central, Holbrook had a feast day against the Rebels' secondary.

On the defensive side for the Pirates will be Jamie Hall at one linebacker position, as well as senior Roger Elswick.

Fleming-Neon will be looking to go 3-0 in the district with a victory over the Raiders.

Coach Daniels' scouting report.

"They lost 17 seniors from last year's ballclub," said the South Floyd coach. "They don't have the strength they had a year ago.

"They will run the wishbone and line up in the 5-0 or 4-3 defense. They have a lot of young kids."

While Holbrook wasn't that effective in passing the football against Elkhorn City, Daniels sees the Pirates as more of a running team.

"He didn't throw the ball that much against Elkhorn," said Daniels. "He passed maybe three or four times."

Daniels said his team is ready physically for the game since he hasn't had any injuries to key players.

"Just the normal bruises," he said. "We've had some good practices these past two weeks."

Raiders' changes...

Coach Daniels said that while he has suffered the loss of two players, some of the new players will get a look-see against Fleming-Neon.

"We'll move Chad Slone and Adam Wright into the backfield," he said. "Cruse (Caudill) will be at the full-back position.

"We'll take a look at Chet (McCarty), and T.T. Pack will get a look at fullback."

South Floyd is 1-2 on the season.

Game time is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. with homecoming activities at halftime of the game.

Castle leads Paintsville past Adams Red

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Floyd County Grade School Football Conference finished its second week of the yet-young season with Magoffin County and Paintsville heading the standings.

Paintsville at Adams Red

The Adams Red team had problems getting their offense on track as they fumbled the football four times — three times in the first quarter — and saw the Paintsville team run their way to a 35-12 victory. It was the first game in conference play for Paintsville who is currently 1-0.

Paintsville's big fullback Mike Burchett had things his way. He bowled through the Adams front line in scoring three touchdowns. Burchett scored TDs in the first period and added a third in the third quarter. He kicked on an extra point that was good for two-points.

Burchett scored on a TD from 5 yards out and then added a second on in the first on a 14-yard carry. His third TD was a 24-yard run in the third.

Quarterback David Castle had one completion for 23 yards on a pass play to end Kevin Harris.

Bryan Johnson of Adams was the game's leading rusher with 104 yards on four carries. Johnson scored his first touchdown in the second quarter on a 46-yard run. His second came in the third with 3:43 left.

Paintsville had 133 yards total offense to Adams' 181.

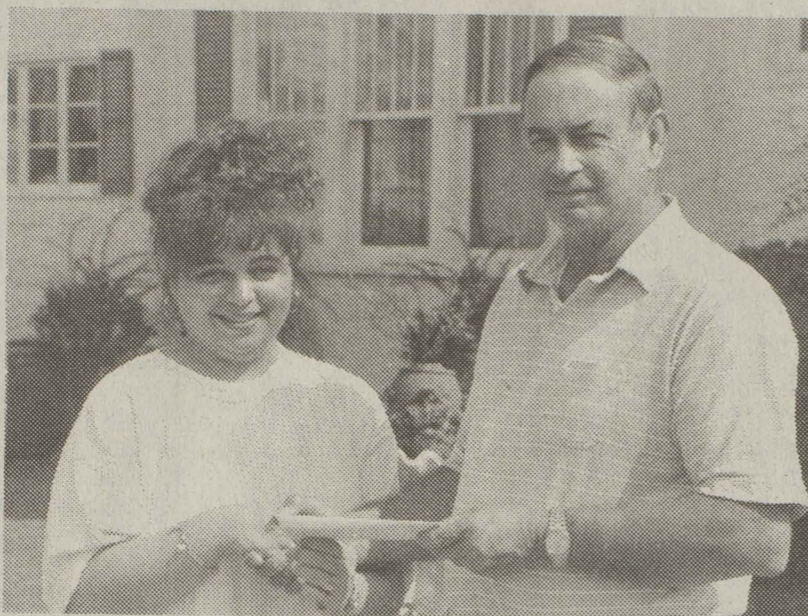

Burchett had 43 yards on three carries for Paintsville. Scott added 27 yards on five attempts.

B-team results

Paintsville quarterback Travis Preston hit end Jeremy Hall with a 17-yard pass for a first quarter touchdown. Matt Brown added two extra points as Paintsville went on to a 16-0 win over the Adams' B-team.

Paintsville scored their second touchdown in the fourth period on a 1-yard plunge by Brown. Quarterback Parrar Diebo hit Dustin Ratliff with a pass for the two-point conversion.

Anthony Dixon had a 32-yard pass interception for Adams in the second period, but the Cats were unable to convert the return into a score.

Week three winner!

Blackcats

and Hyden is definitely out.

The "gutsy players award" has to go to Jody Cornette who just takes it all on his shoulders and runs the football.

Cornette, who seems to be less known than the other two, has been on a tear this season. The fleet-footed runner has been moved to the tailback spot in the absence of Hyden and has responded with impressive numbers.

He rushed for 105 yards against Belfry, but before that he proved he could carry the football. He finished with 97 yards versus Clay County; 89 versus South Floyd with limited playing time; and 95 against Whitesburg. He has scored six touchdowns this season.

Coach Letton's scouting report..

The Pike Central Hawks will look to be the first team to score a touchdown against the Blackcats this season. Three points to Belfry has been the extent of the scoring against the Prestonsburg defense.

"Pike Central executes well on offense," said Letton. "They do a lot of the things that Belfry did against us last week.

"Hamilton Harris, their quarterback, will make more things happen on offense. Their fullback (Chris Howard) and halfback (David Edmonds) run the ball well."

The Blackcats...

Prestonsburg holds the second-place ranking in the Associated Press polls this week.

The past two weeks, due to injuries, the Blackcats offense hasn't been hitting on all cylinders but Letton is hoping that changes soon.

"We need to just get healthy again," he said after the Belfry game. "We need to get our offense back up."

The Blackcats had little trouble in the first two outings, blitzing Clay County 43-0 and then rolling past South Floyd 47-0.

Hyden went down and out in the second quarter of the game against Whitesburg that saw Prestonsburg post their third consecutive shutout, 16-0.

Against Whitesburg and Belfry, it has been the defense that has made the difference in being 4-0 or 2-2. The line has been lauded across the region and labeled 'top of the crop.'

Led by Kyle Fitzpatrick, Brad Wells, Tim Lewis, Paul Collins and Ryan Elliott, the Cats have not only prevented the points, but yardage as well.

Clay County had minus yardage in game one and Whitesburg was held to just 64 on the ground and 20 in the air for 84 total yards. Belfry managed 151 last Friday and that is down for a Belfry team.

Larry Morris and Robbie Risner have been the leading tackles for Prestonsburg. Matt Porter and Jody Cornette play the safety positions.

Six games remain and all are district games. The Cats need to stay focused and not lose sight of the goal ahead -- a district championship.

Bobcats

The Eagles won for only the second time over Whitley County last Friday night in a 31-0 shutout. They ran their record to 3-1 on the season.

Elkins said that as a first-year coach at Madison Southern, he has brought a different technique to the school for the kids to learn.

"It is new to the kids," he said. "But they have done an excellent job in picking it up."

Elkins describes Lamb as just a "big-hearted boy in a small body."

"He is a tough kid both mentally and physically," said Elkins. "He also plays outside linebacker for us and has had 22 tackles in the four games."

In the backfield alongside of Hill is Brian Davis, who rushed for 86 yards last Friday against Whitley County.

"He's a joy to coach," said Elkins. "His yardage came by running the ball up the middle. He just keeps getting better and better."

Coach Elkins said that his team does pass the football, but they are not a deep throwing team.

"We run a lot of screen passing plays. Our backfield takes the football most of the time. I'm proud of the kids I have back there."

Madison Southern will use players both ways and, according to their coach, his line has a tendency to show a good first half and slack off in the second.

"Defensively we have three on the defensive line that are our leaders," he said. "Chris Causley, Scottie Pennington and Toby Coyle are our top down three." Pennington moved to tackle from the backfield where he played last year.

"We have played better of late, although I don't feel that we have played up to our potential. We play a good first half and then we get down in the second."

Elkins said that his team is free of serious injuries, but some have minor injuries.

"We always have someone hurt," he said. "I wouldn't feel right if we didn't have someone hurt. Half the team is hobbling around."

Cecil to guide Bobcats...

With Derossett on the sidelines, assistant Jody Cecil will guide the Bobcats in his absence.

Betsy Layne came out early and did what Coach Elkin says that his team will have to guard against: a deep pass from quarterback Keith Hamilton to Jamie Robinette to set up the first and only score for the Bobcats.

Rocky Hamilton, Brent Akers and Adam Roberts will run the football behind Hamilton. Freshman Craig Hamilton also will see playing time in the backfield.

Hamilton led the Bobcats' defense in last week's 35-6 loss to East Carter. Despite his small frame, Hamilton made 10 first hits and had three assists.

Brandon "Bubba" Combs anchors the Bobcats' defensive line that includes the likes of Shannon Hall, Jackie Bush, Tim Hunt and Shawn Keathley.

Betsy Layne will be looking to snap a two-game skid when they host the Eagles.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number

836-5178, Renewal

In accordance with the provisions of KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that B & H Elkhorn Coal Company, Inc., Box 775, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, has applied for renewal of a permit for an underground coal mining operation located 2.0 miles North of Emma in Floyd County. The proposed operation will disturb 3.94 surface acres and will underlie 165.80 acres, and the total area within the permit boundary will be 169.74 acres.

The proposed operation is approximately 1.0 miles East from SR 1428 junction with Sugarloaf Branch Road and located 0.40 miles Northeast of Dial Branch. The latitude is 37° 39' 47". The longitude is 82° 41' 41".

The proposed operation is located on the Lancer U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by Cillia Dillon Heirs, Bradis Goble, and Ed & Beartha Cline.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 2705 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director of the Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow Complex, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, KY 40601.

This is the final advertisement of this application; all comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be received within thirty (30) days of today's date. 11.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-5264, Renewal

In accordance with KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Buck Coal, Inc., 415 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, has applied for renewal of a permit for an existing surface and underground coal mining and reclamation operation located 1.4 miles southeast of Printer in Floyd County. The proposed operation will disturb 2.44 surface acres and will underlie 182.50 acres, and the total area within the permit boundary will be 184.94 acres.

The proposed operation is approximately 1.4 miles southeast from KY 2030's junction with KY 122 and located 0.1 mile northeast of Spurlock Creek. The latitude is 37° 31' 32". The longitude is 82° 43' 40".

The proposed operation is located on the Harold U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The surface area to be disturbed is owned by The Elk Horn Coal Corporation and the Keathley Heirs. The operation will underlie land owned by The Elk Horn Coal Corporation and George Newsome. The operation will use the contour strip and underground methods of mining.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 2705 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653. Written comments, objections, or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director, Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. ## PUBLIC NOTICE

Pursuant to KRS 177.020, the Kentucky Cabinet of Transportation notified the Floyd County Fiscal that the Department of Highways has made a determination to eliminate two sections of roads located in Floyd County from the State Primary Road System. The roads to be eliminated are sections of old KY 1428 (Prestonsburg-Pointsville Road) and said roads are located as follows: Section one—from new KY 1428 to new US 23 a distance of 2.400 miles. Section two—from new US 23 to 0.215 miles southeast of beginning. This includes the portions of old KY 1428, which have not been accepted by Floyd County. The Floyd County Fiscal Court has rejected title to the aforesaid sections of road and did on the 1st day of September, 1993 inform the Department of Highways of this decision. The Department of Highways does hereby give notice to all private persons entitled to a necessary access over the aforesaid roads of their rights under KRS 177.020. In the absence of a petition, of any private party entitled to necessary access over the aforesaid roads, made prior to October 25, 1993, said roads shall be deemed as discontinued State Roads shall be closed to public use, but remain open in accordance with its condition and use for the access of any private parties involved. In the absence of such petition, title may be transferred to the owner of owners of the tract or tracts of land to which said sections of roads originally belonged.

If further information is required, you may contact: Jesse Sagraves, Department of Highways, P.O. Box 2468, Pikeville, Kentucky 41502. Telephone No. (606) 437-9691, Ext. 211. W-9/22, 9/29, F-9/24, 10/1
