Betsy Layne school saga ends at last

Board authorizes bidding for elementary addition; site selected for new school

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

The Floyd County Board of Education put an end to months of debate and dissension Monday evening, authorizing the advertisement for bids for a school renovation project at Betsy Layne Elementary.

That action effectively closed the books on a series of misadventures that have plagued the project from its

Rape suspect is caught after escape effort

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Two men, one from Floyd County, escaped from the Kentucky Correctional Psychiatric Center at LaGrange Monday night and were recaptured hours later by state police in Henry County.

Kentucky State Police trooper Taylor Bright said Tuesday that Eddie Hall, 21, of Tram, and Chester Whitley, 21, of Lee County, were arrested by trooper Bob Goss Tuesday morning near Smithville.

The two men made their way approximately five miles from the psychiatric center and allegedly stole a pickup truck from Glen Razor's residence in Westport, Bright said. Trooper Goss spotted the two men and pursued the vehicle until the two wrecked in a pond at approximately 2:40 a.m. Hall and Whitley left the vehicle and eluded Goss.

Police launched a search of the area where the two men wrecked, but they could not locate the escapees.

At approximately 7:30 a.m., the two men allegedly entered the home of Brenda Jones in Henry County, tied up Jones and her 12-year-old son and stole a second pickup truck, Bright said.

Trooper Goss again spotted the escapees and began a pursuit of the vehicle at speeds in excess of 100 miles per hour, Bright explained. The two men wrecked the pickup truck and were ejected from the vehicle.

inception. During the past several months, the Betsy Layne renovation plan has been scrapped, reinstated, scaled-down, redesigned and sliced up. It has been pressed forward over the objections of board member Dr. Brent Clark, who represents the district in which it is located; and contracts for the renovation project where key elements in ouster proceedings state education officials pressed against Clark's predecessor, the late board chairman Ray "Shag" Campbell.

Monday's board action, though, put the project on the fast track, and architects even suggested that some major cost-cutting plans—particularly the elimination of kitchen equipment from the renovation budget—may not be necessary.

Revised cost estimates for the 21-classroom addition at Betsy Layne Elementary have been set at $2.8 million. Superintendent Steve Towler told the board Monday that construction bids could come in low enough to reinstate the kitchen equipment, which will be bid as an alternate to the project.

The bid advertising process should begin immediately, and chief of operations Jim Osborne speculated Monday that construction proposals could be ready for review by May 18.

Plans for the renovation project, architect Paul Hoffman told the board Monday, have been approved by state officials and blueprints will be prepared immediately. Design of the elementary addition has been a major factor in delaying construction because initial plans were based on erroneous flood plain statistics.

Redesign by Hoffman to accommodate accurate site measurements and to incorporate cost-cutting needs pushed up development costs while reducing construction estimates, and the board agreed Monday to approve architectural expenses that will set Hoffman's fees at five percent of the total project cost. The board also agreed to pay Hoffman approximately $81,000 on top of the percentage-based fees for his work on redesign of the facility.

There was no discussion Monday evening on when the classroom addition would be ready for use.

In one of the first and biggest hits of the season, Floyd County Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson and Lieutenant Lloyd Powers confiscated over 300 marijuana plants Tuesday. The young plants were found in hillside plots near Melvin. Anyone with information about pot patches is asked to contact the sheriff's department at 886-6711. (photo by Susan Allen)

Court tells non-smokers to wait outside meeting

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Although the meeting room was packed above the maximum occupancy level, standing room only was not the most heated issue discussed at Friday's Floyd County Fiscal Court meeting.

For the last two months, several citizens attending the monthly fiscal court meetings have complained that they have difficulty breathing in the small meeting room because of cigarette smoke.

In response to those complaints, a sign was taped to the fiscal court meeting room door which says: "This is a smoking room. If you have a breathing problem and want to address the court, please sit here in the hallway and tell the bailiff. The Floyd County Fiscal Court."

The "smoking room" sign angered several citizens Friday, who asked why the smokers don't have to wait in the hallway.

"I'm not connected with the media and I'm a Democrat," Hubert Puckett told the court. "We need a bigger meeting room. It's a shame people have to stand in the hall."

"The sign on the door says not to go in and sit in the hall because the smoke bothers me," Puckett continued. "You got it backward. Why don't the ones who smoke go out in the hall?"

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond took exception with Puckett's comments and asked him if any citizens who were waiting in the hallway did not get to address the court.

Puckett told Hammond that was not the issue.

"The law don't say that," Puckett said. "It says you have to have a meeting room big enough to transact business."

Puckett added that he knew how to go about lodging a complaint and

Longer days not just a sign of spring

Board adds an hour-plus to make up for lost time

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

It's spring, and the days are getting longer.

For Floyd County students, that scientific fact comes with some added emphasis.

The Floyd County Board of Education, in a split vote Monday, authorized a plan to make up for days lost during last winter's spate of severe weather that will add one hour and twelve minutes to each school day for the next five weeks.

That plan will serve to make up a total of five of the 23 days students have missed this year. Those five days, plus four "calamity days" authorized by a recently enacted state law, will cut the total requirement for make-up days by nine and pull the close of most schools back to mid-June.

The extended-day proposal did not win enthusiastic support from the board, which authorized the schedule on a 3-2 vote.

Board member Brent Clark, noting he had a child in kindergarten, said the extra time would be difficult on younger students.

Superintendent Steve Towler noted that inaction on the extended-day plan could cause some teachers to miss summer classes they need for continuing education credits, adding that the proposal had been endorsed by a majority vote of the system's teaching staff.

"I don't think it's a reasonable plan for the kids," Clark responded. "It may be reasonable to the teachers, but not the kids."

Clarks was joined in his opposition by board member Phyllis Honshell, who said she had "serious reservations" about extending school days.

"I don't know how much learning takes place," she said.

A vote on the issue produced a 2-2 tie before chairman Ray Brackett "reluctantly" voted to authorize extended days. Members Ed Patton and Dolores Smith had also voted in favor of the plan.

The extra one hour and twelve minutes will be added to the end of each school day for five weeks. School starting times will remain unchanged.

Floyd man is shot during Staffordsville break-in try from The Paintsville Herald

A Floyd County man got more than he bargained for when he allegedly broke into a Johnson County residence Monday night.

Jack E. Farley, 39, of Wayland, was shot once in the leg after he broke into the Staffordsville home of Mildred King, 50, at 11:55 p.m., state police in Pikeville said.

Police said Farley broke out a window and was shot by King as he entered the residence.

Farley was taken to Paul B. Hall Regional Medical Center in Paintsville and then flown to St. Mary's Hospital in Huntington, West Virginia, where he was listed in stable condition Tuesday.

State police said no charges will be filed against King, but charges are pending against Farley.

The incident is being investigated by Kentucky State Police Detective Paul Estep, Sergeant Terry Keelin and Trooper Dwayne Price.

Resigned council

Council members Tommy Robinson, left, and Bill Henegar resigned from the Wayland City Council. Robinson will officially resign in three weeks. Henegar's resignation will become effective today, Wednesday.

Say county won't help with city problems:

Two Wayland officials call it quits

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

City government almost came to a halt in Wayland Monday night during a city council meeting after two city councilmen and an auxiliary policeman resigned.

Councilmen Tommy Robinson and Bill Henegar and auxiliary policeman Douglas A. Harvey cited their frustration with elected county official among their reasons for resigning.

Robinson and Henegar told Mayor Gene Mullins that they were worn down by lack of county support. Harvey said there were "extenuating circumstances" which caused his resignation and would not elaborate on them at the meeting.

In an interview with the Times before the meeting, Harvey said he was fed up with the court system.

"The bottom line is that the justice system is set up to protect the criminal. Criminals beating police up have more rights than I have," Harvey said. "I arrest them; they're turned loose; and they beat me back home." Harvey said he and his family are being harassed by people he's arrested, and that the harassment was starting to affect his health.

Harvey referred to an incident in April 1993 when Wayland Police Chief Danny Francis was assaulted. Francis received a broken nose and required stitches in his face and head. Harvey said he was the first to arrive on the scene to aid Francis.

Three people were arrested for the beating. Marion Wade Martin, Carl Rady Martin and a 17-year-old juvenile were charged with assault. Both Martins were later acquitted of the

Jailer, fiscal court feud over budget

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

It appears that a rift opened between Jailer Roger Webb and Floyd County Fiscal Court members when the court voted Friday not to accept Webb's version of his 1994-95 budget.

Webb's budget, which was not submitted by the April 1 deadline, included a $4,000 raise for him, plus modest raises for jail employees. Webb complained that he had no input into the jail budget.

County treasurer David Allen told Webb at Friday's meeting that Webb knew the budget was due on April 1. Allen said that the only discussion he had with Webb about the budget was an increase in the jailer's salary.

Allen said that under Webb's budget the jail account would raise by $23,000. The treasurer asked Webb where the additional funds would come from.

"I could tell you, but you don't want to hear it," Webb answered.

Webb said that he has reduced spending for medical care; food preparation; and eliminated overtime pay. The jailer said that he also wanted raises for deputy jailers, cooks and matrons.

Magistrate Jackie Owens asked if the court would have to give all county employees a pay raise if they approved one for the jail personnel.

"I'm not asking that the whole county be judged by a jailer's budget," Webb said.

Allen told the court that a standard 2.9 percent cost of living raise was included in the jail budget.

Magistrate Tommy Neil Adams asked if Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, Allen and Webb could get together and work out the budget problems.

Owens recommended that the court follow the treasurer's recommendation and adopt the budget Allen prepared.

After much debate, the court approved Allen's budget for jail and Owens said the court would offer financial assistance to the jailer if it was necessary.

Also Friday, Floyd County Solid Waste custodian Bob Meyer reported that the department cleared $11,000 last month, but that overall the program is at least $200,000 in debt.

Meyer reported that a concentrated effort is being made to collect delinquent accounts and that has upped monthly collections from $90,000 to $120,000.

The condition of the vehicles owned by solid waste is a problem because of the daily trips to Pritchard, West Virginia, Meyer explained. He said the court needs to explore options to handling its solid waste, such as contracting with garbage haulers or installing a transfer station.

Also Friday, the court:

- awarded a construction bid for the new jail facility to D.W. Wilburn of Lexington for $3.2 million;
 - agreed to discuss next month a request by Brent Allen to close a roadway at Gooslin Branch;
 - agreed to exchange maintenance responsibilities with the state highway department on two roadways at Auxier;
 - reappointed Larry Tussey to the David Water Commission and appointed Janet Tackett as the court's agent to handle disaster funds;
 - approved moving jail employees Teddy Tackett, Joey Griffith and Roy Thornsby to full-time status and raising their pay to $6.81 per hour; and
 - hired John Hall as county bridge builder at $10 per hour and his crew members will be paid $8 per hour.
- All members were present at Friday's meeting and the next scheduled meeting of the court is Friday, May 20 at 10 a.m. at the courthouse annex.

Complaints prompt threat from mayor

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A citizen's complaints Monday about city government didn't sit too well with the mayor of Wheelwright and a city police officer, who threatened to arrest the complainer at the city commission meeting.

Former Wheelwright Commissioner Lowell Parker addressed the city commission at Monday's meeting, saying he was speaking on behalf of a newly-formed citizens' group.

Parker outlined problems discussed by the group, which included an objection to Commissioner Charles Harmon, who oversees the police department, driving a police department cruiser. Parker added that residents didn't feel the commissioners were working on their behalf.

But, when Parker objected to commissioners going into closed session to discuss hiring auxiliary police officer Rodney Newsome as a part-time officer, it infuriated Mayor David Marlee Sammons.

"I'm tired of your mouth, Lowell Dean," Mayor Sammons yelled, pointing his finger at Parker. "I'm going to tell you something, you better get out of here."

Officer Newsome chimed in that Parker should, "sit down and shut up."

Parker countered that he was in a public building and he wanted to see who would "violate his rights" to free speech.

"The commission is not in session," Parker said. "They are in executive session."

"Don't start on me," Newsome told Parker.

"I've already started on you," Parker answered.

"I can arrest you for disorderly conduct," Newsome said.

"This is the kind of thing I've been talking about," Parker said. "We (citizens) put money in this building. Utility money built this building. I have a right to talk."

The confrontation cooled down and the two men quit arguing.

During the meeting when Parker was asking about the legality of some of the commission's actions, Commissioner David Hall asked Parker if it was against the law to ride a motorcycle without a helmet.

"Yes," Parker said.

"Do you ride a motorcycle without a helmet?" Hall asked.

"Yes," Parker said.

"Do you have a motorcycle license?" Hall asked.

"No," Parker said. "Technically, we break the law everyday. If we drive 56 miles an hour, we break the law. If I get a ticket, I'll pay mine."

Commissioner Harmon called a halt to the discussion, saying it had turned into a personal argument.

Elkins-Campbell

Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Elkins of Harold, announce the forth-coming marriage of their daughter, Susan Renae and Christopher Thomas Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Campbell of Prestonsburg.

The wedding will be Saturday, April 30, 1994 at 2 p.m. at the Katy Friend Freewill Baptist Church, Abbott Creek, Prestonsburg, Ky. The gracious custom of open church will be observed. Susan and Chris invite their friends and relatives to attend.

In response to Parker's earlier complaints about driving a police cruiser, Harmon said that he usually took the police cars to be washed and cleaned and that he had put in many hours repairing the vehicles without pay.

After the closed session, Harmon said that he had talked with the attorney general's office and a representative from the Kentucky League of Cities about the legality of driving a cruiser. He said that he was told it was legal, but he added that he had asked city attorney Tim Parker to submit a written opinion on the issue.

Also Monday:

- commissioners voted to move ahead on plans to get the community swimming pool repaired;
- commissioners voted to send a letter of appreciation to Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo for work done on a little league baseball park;
- commissioners hired Rodney Newsome and Mark May as part-time police officers and named Tommy Engle and David Little as auxiliary officers;
- commissioners set a public hearing for road aid and LGEA funds for May 16 at 6:30 p.m.;
- commissioners agreed to pay $90 toward Shirley Thornsby's water bill because water was used to construct the new fire station;
- utility chairman Kenneth Johnson requested that the utility ordinance be amended so that procedures taken by utility personnel be approved by the utility chairman and the board; and
- commissioners voted to move the fire department pop machine inside the fire department.

All members were present at Monday's meeting.

Track workers' cars vandalized over weekend

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Four vehicles parked at the site of a harness racing track in Floyd County were burglarized about 1 a.m. Sunday and thousands of dollars worth of tools were stolen.

Employees for Husco Incorporated of Butler, Pennsylvania, reported the theft to the Floyd County Sheriff's Department Sunday. Vehicles belonging to Cory H. Roenigk and Bruce L. Watson of Cabot, Pennsylvania; and Dean Huselton and Nat Jeffreys of Butler, Pennsylvania, were broken into and a variety of tools were stolen, sheriff's lieutenant Lloyd Powers said Monday.

Powers estimated that approximately $3,000 worth of tools were taken. The men left the job site at approximately 7 p.m. Saturday and when they returned Sunday, they found that the windows to the vehicles had been pried open.

Anyone with information about the theft is asked to contact deputy Danny McCoy or Powers at 886-6711.

Paintsville Lake annual clean-up contest a success

As part of the national "Keep America Beautiful" program, this year the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at Paintsville Lake sponsored its 8th Annual Clean-up Contest. On Saturday, April 2, 54 people volunteered their time and services to participate in Paintsville Lake's "Keep America Beautiful" program.

This year's clean-up contest was as successful as the seven preceding it. Volunteers picked up and removed approximately 6.06 tons of trash and debris. This brings the total to 42.7 tons of trash and litter that volunteers have picked up and removed from park lands since the program's inception in 1987.

Five groups consisting of the Paintsville Kiwanis Club of Paintsville; Whitaker Freewill Baptist Church; Boy Scout Troop No. 862 of Magoffin County; Young Men and Young Women of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints of Wittenville; and the National Career Association of Johnson Central High School participated in this year's event.

First place was won by the Paintsville Kiwanis Club whose members picked up approximately 2.3 tons of trash. Their prize was a one-day free use of a double-decker pontoon boat donated by Paintsville Lake Marina. Their name will be engraved on a plaque displayed in the Visitor's Center at Paintsville Lake.

Second place was captured by Boy Scout Troop No. 862 of Magoffin County whose members picked up approximately 1.0 ton of trash. Their prize was a one-day free use of a single-deck pontoon boat. The rental fee was provided by Dallas Prater of Prestonsburg.

A cookout for the participants was held after the contest, courtesy of the Delta Sigma Sorority of Paintsville.

WOMAN'S HEALTH

LAPAROSCOPICALLY ASSISTED VAGINAL HYSTERECTOMY

By Richard S. Hollis, MD President, The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists

Laparoscopically Assisted Vaginal Hysterectomy (LAVH) is a procedure using laparoscopic surgical techniques and instruments to remove the uterus (womb) and/or tubes and ovaries through the vagina (birth canal).

Its greatest benefit is the potential to convert what would have been an abdominal hysterectomy into a vaginal hysterectomy. An abdominal hysterectomy requires both a vaginal incision and a four to six inch long incision in the abdomen, which is associated with greater post-operative discomfort and a longer recovery period than for a vaginal procedure. Another advantage of the LAVH may be the removal of the tubes and ovaries which on occasion may not be easily removed with a vaginal hysterectomy.

This does not mean that all hysterectomies could or should be done by LAVH. There are certain conditions that will necessitate abdominal or vaginal hysterectomy. In fact a vaginal hysterectomy by itself, if indicated, is less time consuming, less expensive, and can be less dangerous. When LAVH is performed, several small abdominal incisions are made. Through these small incisions slender metal tubes known as "trocars" are inserted. They provide passage for a laparoscope (which is like a tiny telescope) and other microsurgical tools.

A camera attached to the laparoscope provides a continuous image that is magnified and projected onto a television screen. It provides the view by which the surgeon operates. The uterus is detached from the ligaments that attach it to other pelvic structures using laparoscopic tools, electrocoagulation or a laser. Adhesions may have to be freed and, if the tubes and ovaries are to be removed, they are detached from their ligaments and blood supply. They then can be removed with the uterus through an incision made in the vagina. Since the incisions are small, the scarring and pain from LAVH is often less than that associated with abdominal hysterectomy.

Hysterectomy is the second most frequently performed surgery in the United States. As with any surgical procedure, the decision to undergo a hysterectomy should not be taken lightly. You should discuss this thoroughly with your doctor.

The most common medical reasons for performing hysterectomies include uterine fibroids (30 percent of cases), abnormal uterine bleeding (20 percent), endometriosis (20 percent), genital prolapse (15 percent), and chronic pelvic pain (about 10 percent). For most of these conditions, other treatments should first be considered, and hysterectomy should be reserved as a last resort.

Single, free copies of "Understanding Hysterectomy" (AP008) are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope along with the name of the booklet to: The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, Resource Center, 409 12th Street, SW, Washington, DC 20024.

Smoke it if you got it

by Scott Perry

Floyd County's Fiscal Court turned the tables on a national trend last Friday.

A sign on the door to the court's meeting room told non-smokers attending a fiscal court meeting to take a seat in the hall if they didn't want to breathe the smoke clouding the tiny fiscal court meeting room. One magistrate even asserted that he had fought for his country and he had a right to smoke wherever he chooses.

Wonder if any of those folks out in the hallway fought for their right to not breathe fouled air?

Interesting, isn't it, how the court can so adamantly defend a bad habit while they so indifferently ignore not just the rights of others, but the law?

We're not talking about smoking...that's just a sideshow to the real issue.

If we want to debate rights, suppose we start off with the peoples' right to participate in their government.

The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution gives us the right to petition our government for the redress of grievances.

Where does it say that you have to take a number or wait in the hall until you're called upon for an audience?

Kentucky law gives us the right to observe the workings of government at times and in places that are convenient to the public.

It says nothing about inconveniencing public officials.

Kentucky's Constitution provides for an oath to be taken by all those elected officials who are supposed to serve us which requires them to swear they will execute their offices according to law.

It gives them no right to pick and choose which laws they will or will not obey.

We would encourage our elected leaders to fulfill their obligations to their public, their oaths and their constitutions before they start blowing smoke over rights which are really no rights at all.

Does the word principle, mean anything to them?

They should put a little of that in their pipes and smoke it.

High praise is given Floyd County schools

Editor:
The Kentucky School Boards Association would like to offer its congratulations to the students, teachers, administrators and support staff at Duff, Harold and Prater elementary schools for their success as reflected in the education assessment scores for the 1992-1993 school year.

While these measurements of reading, writing, math, social studies and science remain the subject of study, there can be no doubt that achievement of scores reaching or exceeding a school's education reform goal takes a deep-felt effort by willing students, a dedicated teaching corps and a progressive administration.

We also wish to salute the members of the Floyd County Board of Education for their commitment to enhanced educational opportunities for students in all schools in this district. School boards are vital members in Kentucky's education team as the community's elected education leaders. Their support for teachers, administrators, and most importantly, for students is part of the educational improvement success story developing in classrooms all across Kentucky.

Dog lover castigates Allen City Council

Editor:
After reading last week's article about the city of Allen's problem with animals, I felt like they were stepping on my toes a little bit.

My daddy taught me all my life to stand up for what I thought was right, so here goes.

I have family and friends I love dearly in city management, but I don't agree with them.

I don't know what problems might exist in other parts of our community pertaining to chickens, but my neighbor has roosters and I love to hear them crow (on the two mornings a week that I'm home).

I have lived in Allen most of my life and know for a fact that the only two times a dog has attacked and hurt anyone, the dogs came from behind fences. They were dogs that were under "control," not dogs running loose in the community.

As always, at least 90 percent of the dogs in town are strays so who's going to put them on a leash? To control the dog situation the city would have to hire someone to transport them to the dog pound and pay to leave them there. If the city can't afford to take complete care of their police needs, how can they afford to take care of a bunch of stray dogs. I heard the remark was made to "shoot them." Let it be known, if I hear of one dog being shot, I will personally contact the Humane Society in Washington, D.C.

A "tag" law would be a good thing to enforce. I would rather have a healthy "free" dog than a "controlled" angry dog.

If someone would keep their eyes alert, they might catch and "fine" some of these good people setting their loving pets out as strays. Seems like Allen gets whatever anybody else in the county don't want, be it dogs, cats or garbage.

Everybody who knows me knows I have dogs, always have and always will. I have two I keep in a lot in my backyard. They have always been in the lot because I'm not sure of how they would react to the public. They have all their shots and are happy dogs. My Cocker Spaniel, Gippy, is probably my best friend in the world and she lives within our home.

And then, there's Max. Everyone around knows Max. Although he has been around for over six years and has a lot of friends, I'm sure he also has an enemy or two. Some people are afraid of him because he's big, black and ugly. The only person Max has hurt was my niece, Amber, and he didn't hurt her physically (just broke her heart). But that's a family matter.

Also, Max had a run-in with the local police the other night and I'm sorry that happened. But, it happened because my four-year-old niece, Samantha, was riding her bike around the block, Max was running with her and he thinks he's supposed to protect her. When Virgil's dogs barked at Max, he became a little upset and barked back.

My big black dog is so mean that my grandbaby learned to walk by holding on to his tail. Max's heart is as big as he is.

I think before the city council starts banning this animal or that animal, they should consider all options. Their decisions should be for the good of all the people, not just one or two who want things done their way.

I have always loved living in our little town of Allen. I always felt like it was "home town U.S.A." instead of "down town Russia" which I get the feeling it is now.

City council persons are people elected to make laws and manage a city or town (they're not dictators or God), they're supposed to be involved in solving a city's problems. I'm sure the city of Allen has more problems than crowing roosters and roaming dogs.

NRA defends position regarding gun control

Editor:
I have been deeply disturbed by the lack of honest, forthright coverage of us by the national news media. The NRA's unbending adherence to the principle of private ownership of firearms has been often mischaracterized.

The National Rifle Association directly represents the interests of over 3 million citizens who share a passion—private, peaceable ownership of firearms. Indirectly, we represent the rights and views of tens of millions more peaceful citizens. These are people who live quietly in your communities, and no doubt get much of their news from your news-

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

For the next two weeks, Kentucky students will be immersed in what could be the most important academic events of their young lives.

It's KIRIS time.

KIRIS is a high-tech acronym for performance testing, and this year's round of tests represents a critical point in education reform's evaluation process.

Scores achieved this year will decide whether individual schools will meet their individual two-year goals and, most importantly, whether they will be judged successes or less than that.

If they fall short of their scoring requirements, they are subject to state intervention. If they exceed their goals, they stand to be rewarded.

So, as you can see, there's a lot riding on what the next two weeks will bring.

Unfortunately, those schools which have a lot of ground to cover to reach their goals didn't have a lot of time to devise game plans for making that happen.

Last year's test results just came out a few weeks ago, and that served to limit any efforts to address problems the scores may have identified.

If there's a weakness in the school/student evaluation processes that are so fundamental to education reform, that's it.

Too little time to fix what's broken.

Because last year's test scores were so late in coming, schools lost almost an entire year of time they could have used to adjust.

If education reform is to remain on the fast track, those responsible for assessing it will have to pick up the pace.

A University of Arizona archaeologist who has made a study of garbage has used his findings to develop a theory of sorts on our eating habits.

One area of his research, though, appears to be fatally flawed.

For instance, the garbage study suggested fast food may be less an influence on our lives than we suspected because less than half of one percent of the trash found in city landfills consisted of fast-food packaging.

That count is a bit deceiving, because the garbage researchers were obviously looking in the wrong places.

If they really wanted to assess the impact of fast food on our lives, they shouldn't have checked the landfills, they should have studied the roadsides.

Best we can tell, that's where most of the wrappers end up.

The only good weed is a dead weed.

That's the law in Minnesota, where property owners are regularly advised to comply or face the wrath of, get this, municipal weed inspectors.

Yep, in Minnesota, the government employs weed inspectors.

Those who resist the weed eradication statute are subject to have liens filed on their property to cover the expense of government intervention into weed control.

Of course, as anyone who has ever tried to slay a dandelion knows, weeds don't take kindly to herbicidal tendencies.

That's why when you pluck one, the whole family is likely to show up in its place the next day.

Like the saying goes, the road to Hell is paved with good intentions. Bet there's a weed in every crack, too.

Well, there's eight billion bucks down the toilet.

The federal government has decided to scrap its "Doomsday Project," an eleven-year effort to ensure that the government chain of command remained intact in the event of a nuclear holocaust.

Now, we don't just have to worry about being fried to a crackly crunch should the Big One occur, but we have to fret over who'll be left to govern our ashes.

How will we ever be able to sleep at night?

Projects

sues, the board emerged from a 90-minute executive session Monday to announce final selection of a site for a new Martin/Maytown elementary that will serve to consolidate those two schools.

The board voted to purchase between 80 and 130 acres on Stephens Branch from Earl Bentley at an announced price of $300,000.

The board's site selection on the Martin/Maytown project followed months of searching by the system's Local Planning Committee (LPC) and was based on a recommendation from that group. Paul Phillip Hughes, chairman of the LPC, told the board Monday that the Stephens Branch site was the committee's choice and the panel "did not wish to look at any more" proposals.

The board voted unanimously to accept the site recommendation.

There was less cohesion among the board on a review of proposed renovation at Prestonsburg High School, when a split, 3-2 vote denied a request for a fee increase by architects Johnson and Romanowitz. The architects had asked that a five percent fee schedule be increased to 5.9 percent to account for the difference in design costs arising from the project's call for major renovation.

Board members Ray Brackett and Ed Patton supported the rate increase, but the request was opposed by Dolores Smith, Phyllis Honsbell and Dr. Brent Clark, who supported a contention from LPC chairman Paul Hughes that architects were aware of the project's renovation scope when they signed a contract to design the facility.

While board members split over the fee issue, they were unanimous in their support of schematic designs for the PHS project, which will eventually be bid with five alternates.

State officials set the stage for phased-in construction on the high school's renovation by capping construction costs at approximately $5.2 million. Architect Russ McFarland estimated the total project could cost about $7 million, adding that alternatives could be built if additional monies were found.

With board approval Monday of schematic designs, architects can begin work on final plans for the facility.

Also Monday, the board:

- approved a proposal for the completion of a soil analysis for the site of an addition at Adams Middle School, which could be under construction soon;
- announced that work on the construction of a gymnasium at South Floyd High School was progressing ahead of schedule and the facility could be ready for use by next school year; and
- agreed to declare an old administration building at Wheelwright as surplus property and to accept bids on the sale of the property.

Before adjourning, the board declined on a suggestion made by board member Ed Patton to discuss the future of Auxier Elementary School.

"I'm against closing Auxier School," Patton said, "and that's why I want to discuss it."

Patton got no response from other board members.

The system's Local Planning Committee has recommended that Auxier Elementary be closed and students be consolidated into Clark Elementary, Prestonsburg Elementary and Adams Middle School.

All members were present for Monday's session, held at Clark Elementary.

School days

The debate over this year's school calendar led directly into a discussion about next year, where a previously adopted board order set strict timelines for the opening and closing of school.

That directive, which would have required the 1994-95 school year to begin no sooner than two weeks before Labor Day and end no later than Memorial Day, was rescinded Monday on a 4-1 vote.

Superintendent Towler advised board members that the policy would lead to "dramatic" changes in school routines, adding that the system missed an average of 16 days each year and those days would have to be "built into the calendar."

Towler said the board's directive "would be very difficult to live with," and he speculated that if it remained in force, students would be required to attend classes from the start of school "until Thanksgiving" before any time off could be granted.

"We haven't gotten out by Memorial Day in Floyd County in modern times," the superintendent added.

Based on those remarks, board member Brent Clark moved to rescind the board order, and he was supported in that move by all board members but Ed Patton.

The board then agreed to form a committee to formulate a proposal for the 1994-95 school calendar.

In other business Monday, the board:

- approved a proposal made last month by Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson to place a "floating" security officer in the county's high schools;
- approved a variety of school field trips;
- adopted a resolution honoring students Lorrie Patton and Brandis Bradley for academic excellence and recognized Maytown, Betsy Layne and Melvin Elementary and Betsy Layne High for their selection into a state Effective Schools Network;
- heard an update from school instruction supervisor Gary Frazier;
- declined by a 3-2 vote a recommendation by Towler for a salary adjustment for an unnamed employee; and
- denied a request from another employee, who was not identified, for sick leave pay.

Before adjourning, the board met in executive session and returned with a proposal to settle out of court a legal dispute between the board and Triple B Corporation, site contractor for the South Floyd High School project.

The board had previously lost a case in circuit court arising from a dispute with Triple B and that case is currently on appeal before the state Court of Appeals.

The board voted Monday to seek settlement of the issues. No details were discussed.

Smokers

he would do so.

George Vaughn agreed with Puckett and said it was difficult for him to attend the meetings because of the smoke.

"There is not enough room and you all sit down and try to smoke us to death," Vaughn said. "The hall is full of people trying to get in. Some see the sign on the door and probably didn't smoke and didn't want to stand in the hall."

Magistrate Gerald DeRossett said the problem could be resolved if the court moved their meeting to the circuit courtroom.

Magistrate Tommy Neil Adams motioned to move the meetings, but the issue was dropped when finance officer Deloris Dingus told him that the circuit judge has motion hour on Friday mornings.

Adams defended his right to smoke during the meetings and said he was a veteran who had fought for his right to smoke.

"I'm going to smoke and if you don't want to smell smoke, go outside," Adams said.

Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo commented that the fiscal court meeting room had only been filled to capacity "a few times."

Hammond told the citizens that when a new courthouse facility is built, a 120-seat meeting room will be included for court meetings.

That project is in the planning stage.

Vaughn and Puckett left Friday's meeting about mid-way through because they said they could not tolerate breathing the smoke.

About 40 people attended Friday's meeting and the occupancy level established by Prestonsburg Fire Marshall Larry Adams is 35.

paper. They own firearms.

As an organization, we staunchly support the rights of peaceable Americans to own any small arms they wish; for whatever peaceable personal reasons they wish.

The word "peaceable" is a critical definition of what we are. I can also tell you what we are not. We are not criminals. We do not commit violent crime. And we have never opposed enactment and enforcement of laws that would stem the violence that we all see nightly portrayed on the evening news.

We do oppose, with every effort possible, laws that would make innocent, ordinary, peaceable people pay the price for criminal misuse of firearms. And that's what is at stake in any of the so-called gun control legislation now pending before the Congress. To take away an individual's right to own private property as the price innocent people would pay for criminal misuse of similar property is unacceptable in America.

We support vigorous enforcement of existing Federal laws which apply felony penalties to convicted felons possessing or using firearms or to those associated with the illegal drug trade who possess firearms.

So that you will better understand our position on what the national media is calling an "assault weapons ban," I am sharing with you a letter which I have sent to NRA members on the issue. I would ask only that you read it, in hopes that you will better understand our position in opposing any such legislation.

Thank you.

Help!

Editor:
I am writing to you again at this time in hope that someone out there can help me with my current family research problem.

I am really having problems locating some of our family that I know are from down in Floyd County.

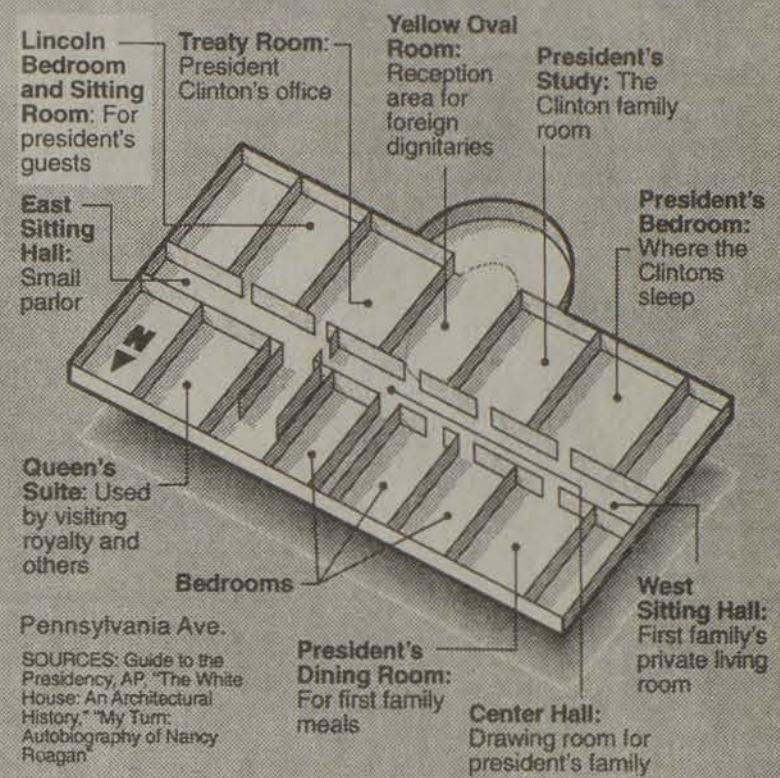

The names I am seeking help with, of course, are the Salisburys, any and all, Carroll family and Daniel family. I have names of Priscilla Carroll who was married to Morgan Salisbury, but I do not know anything about her family. I have the name of Ben Daniel and his wife Lilly, but I do not know anything else about them or their families.

I hope someone out there can help me or put me in touch with someone who can. Any help will be greatly appreciated.

ADA MOSLEY PASTOR

In Memory Of Dean Conn

Son, you have been gone four years today, when Jesus came and took you to that beautiful home to stay. It is so hard for me to stay. You are in my heart and on my mind 24 hours a day. There is a pain that never goes away. But it will all be over, someday, when Jesus comes and takes me to that beautiful home where you are to stay. I love you, son. Love, Mom.

We love you and miss you.

charge. Records on juveniles are sealed.

Harvey said the same people who are harassing him had filled out a warrant against him for harassment.

"This town is getting dangerous," Harvey said. "This town is on the tip end of the county. [W]e're forgotten here. Until the (county) administration changes, this town has no hope."

When he resigned near the end of the meeting, councilman Robinson said he and the other council members had been trying to get help from the county for Wayland, but couldn't. "I'd rather take a beating than quit, but I don't see us having anything," Robinson said.

Robinson said he had approached the fiscal court about getting help with clearing out Beaver Creek at Wayland, and Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo told him the county couldn't help them.

Mayor Mullins said he had been promised, three times, by Stumbo that the county would help clear out the creek. Mullins explained that the city streets are lower than the creek, and the city was having trouble with sewage from the creek flowing into the city.

In an interview with the Times Tuesday, Stumbo said Wayland officials had not requested help with clearing the creek, and that the county didn't clear creeks, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers did.

Stumbo also said the county is not required to help cities, but that small "cities generally need help and sometimes we (the county) go in and help them."

County government is not obligated to aid city government, according to Gene Stinchcomb, a former city manager who is now an advisor for the Department of Local Government in Frankfort.

"In a lot of things, county government is prohibited from spending county money on city improvements," Stinchcomb said. He explained that a city and county government can enter into an agreement for services, but that the city usually pays a fee for the service.

At Monday night's meeting, Mayor Mullins pleaded with Robinson and Henegar to reconsider their decisions. "If we all quit, we will lose the corporation. It will be Dodge City here," Mullins said.

Wayland, a sixth-class city, must have at least three council members to operate as a council form of government, Mullins explained. Robinson agreed to remain on the council for three weeks to give Mullins time to appoint someone to replace him. Henegar said his resignation would become effective Wednesday.

In other business at the meeting, Judy Stewart Ramey complained to the council about "the filth and debris that nobody's doing nothing about." Ramey referred to a ditch that had been made deeper by a neighbor. Ramey said there was green slime in the ditch and she also expressed concern about children falling into the ditch and drowning.

Mayor Mullins told Ramey the slime was "raw sewage," and he couldn't get anyone to clean the ditch lines because "nobody wants to handle sewage." He also said the city would have a problem with disposing of the sewage.

Community residents attending the meeting also voiced a complaint about the sewage, which some said was running under their houses from the streets.

Council members agreed to ask Ramey's neighbor to put lime on the drainage.

Mullins asked Ramey to get a citizens group together and "go to Prestonsburg and make people listen."

Doug Harvey's wife said people in the town were afraid. "They get a threat, and they have to back off," Rita Harvey said.

"Some people you can push, and there's others you sure as hell can't push. That's just the way it is," Mullins said.

"We've got a bad problem here—a real bad problem, all the way down Beaver Creek. I don't know it can be fixed. Eight CPAs couldn't find where the (county) money went," Mullins said.

Cities do not receive funding from county government, according to Stinchcomb. City governments derive their funding from a tax base, from service charges, grants and mineral severance tax. County government receives 90 percent of the tax, and city governments split up the remaining 10 percent based on their populations, Stinchcomb said.

Wildlife habitat management is focus of contest

More than 604-H and other young people will compete for prizes and a chance to participate in national competition when they complete the First Kentucky Wildlife Habitat Evaluation Contest.

The day-long contest will be April 28 at the Kentucky Leadership Center near Jabez, said Tom Barnes, Extension wildlife specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and coordinator of the contest.

The winning team, made up of the top four individuals, will compete in the national tournament August 7-10 at Brianhead, Utah.

"Brianhead is located within two hours of some of the most beautiful national parks in the country," Barnes said. "They include Zion, Bryce Canyon, Arches and Canyonlands. These winners have a real treat in store."

The major purpose is for 4-H and other youth to learn the basics of wildlife management, Barnes said. But this has been further expanded into a leadership development program.

Contestants will not only learn the principles of wildlife biology and management, but they will write an appropriate plan, articulate reasons for their decisions and work as a team for a stated goal.

"They will be introduced to a tract of land and asked to determine which wildlife management practices they would use to provide for a selected set of wildlife species," Barnes said. "To do this, they must be able to recognize wildlife food items and match them with appropriate species."

Participants also will be given a set of four aerial photographs and asked to rank them according to which is best for a selected set of wildlife species, Barnes said.

While this is the first year for Kentucky to conduct the contest, Barnes said the national program has been in existence for several years and has "touched about 10,000 young people nationwide." It is projected to involve 100,000 youth before 2000.

The Kentucky contest is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, UK's department of forestry, Quail Unlimited, Westvaco, and Knight & Hale Game Calls.

Laser surgery helps silence snorers

University of Louisville surgeons are using laser technology to silence snoring in many adults.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISHES...

A belated happy birthday wish to a fine basketball player, Todd Howard of the Maytown Wildcats. Todd turned 14 years old this past Sunday and we want to wish him a happy birthday.

IT'S A JOKE...

The Kentucky All-Star committee completely ignored a 15th Region senior basketball player who has to be the best in the 15th and it has upset me.

Allen Central's Marsha Brown was not even invited to the try-outs for the all-star team that will face Indiana in a two-game series this summer.

Brown is no doubt the top senior player in the region and that was proved many times over when she drew the double and, many times, triple teaming of the opposition.

The lefthanded shooter averaged 28 points a game, five assists and despite her lack of height, six rebounds per contest.

Twice this past season she scored 47 points and established a new school record for the most three-point baskets in one game, nine.

She has made four trips to the regional tournament and played in two Class A state tournaments. She was named to the Class A All-State tournament team this year where she tossed in 34 points in her team's loss.

Usually, if a player doesn't make it past the first game, he or she is not even considered for the all-tournament team. But Brown gained enough respect that she was named to the prestigious team.

The senior forward/guard/center recently was voted to play for the Kentucky All-Stars. The All-Stars played in Portsmouth, Ohio last week where Brown drew the attention of several college coaches.

Brown scored 10 points, had seven assists and eight rebounds in limited playing time in the all-star game.

The crowning moment came when she was named Honorable Mention, All-State this year.

She has been looked at by Marquette University, which wants Brown to come and play in Wisconsin. Cheney State, Alice Lloyd College and Pikeville College as well as Midway College would very much love to have Brown.

Now, someone tell me with credentials such as these, why wouldn't she be invited, at least, to try out for the all-star team. It wasn't fair to her.

I have followed Marsha Brown's basketball career since her grade school days and she was marked for stardom then.

But here is a kid who is very modest and just doesn't get up-tight about things like these, or does she? I have never known her to, but if she did over this, she has every right to.

She is a person who cares more about the players that she is playing with than her own goals. But, and it was a fact, that as Marsha, went so did the Lady Rebels.

An injustice was done and Marsha did not get the attention that she deserved.

She should have been there!

CHANGE IT BACK...

I sure hope that next basketball season that the powers that be will once again see the importance of picking their all-conference team and recognize them during the district tournament.

This year's fiasco was a total failure. Many of the kids who made the squad were playing baseball or softball and could not make the banquet.

The breaking of the long tradition was a wrong decision of the coaches in Floyd County. At least some of them have admitted they did not give it as much thought as

Hunter's three-run blast powers Betsy Layne past Prestonsburg

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats exploded for seven runs in the third inning off Jason Hackworth and Bennett Allen, highlighted by catcher Greg Hunter's three-run home run, and went on to post a 11-1 mercy rule win over the Prestonsburg Blackcats in conference action at Stumbo Park Monday.

The seven-run third broke open what was a close encounter through the first two innings.

Barry Clark (3-0) picked up the win for Betsy Layne, but he continues to struggle with control. He hit two batters during the game. Surprisingly, Clark did not walk a batter.

The big right-hander is usually in control of his pitches, but he struggled in the Hillbilly Classic. In the classic, he hit two batters, but won 11-7 over Williamson, W.Va.

This time Prestonsburg starter Jason Hackworth (0-1) could not get the job done and he suffered the setback.

Hackworth was a thorn in the side of Betsy Layne last season when he beat them three times as a freshman. His off-speed "junk pitches" kept the Bobcats off stride last year, but they were waiting for him Monday evening.

Hackworth, who will throw eight curve balls out of 10 pitches, got into trouble quickly in the third when he gave up a lead-off single to Chris Potter. There was a throwing error at second off the bat of Derrick Newsome, allowing Potter to reach third base.

Stumbo takes pole vault, four other events in Pikeville meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Allen Central's Kevin Stumbo was just awesome at Thursday's track and field events at Pikeville's Bob Amos Park. The versatile junior not only stood out in the field events, but in track events as well.

Under a beautiful blue sky, Allen Central's boys track and field team finished first ahead of a very strong Morgan County team to win their third meet of the season, something that has surprised Coach Dewey Jamerson.

"We knew that we were going to have a strong girls team this year," he said. "But the boys (team), no. They have been a very pleasant surprise to me so far this year.

"We thought that it was a wait-and-see situation with the boys. We lost so much from last year's team that we thought we would just have to wait and see how things turned out.

"This group of kids has worked very hard this season and that is why they are where they are today," he said.

Stumbo, who thought he would get to compete only in the pole vault event -- and this just being his second attempt at the event -- surprised everyone by taking first place. He tied his previous school record when he cleared the bar at 9 feet. Estill Stumbo finished fourth in the event with a clearance of 8 feet.

"Kevin is competing in five events," said Coach Jamerson. "We will need to take a later look and see how clearing 9 feet will place him in the regionals. He also runs the two-mile relays."

Stumbo went from the pole vault event to the long jump pits, where he took second place with a jump of 17 feet and 8 inches. His measurement was only two inches ahead of teammate Chris Halbert, who finished third with a jump of 17 feet and 6 inches.

The difficult triple jump was not so difficult for Stumbo. He won first place at 37 feet and 10 inches. But Stumbo's goal is the school record in total number of points.

"That's why he is working so hard," said Coach Jamerson. "He wants the school record for boys in total points. Jessica Wade holds the overall record and Kevin isn't that far from that. We're still trying to get him in shape."

After the field events, Stumbo joined Mike Elzokari, Todd Howard and Josh Patton for the grueling 3200-meter run. The foursome posted a time of 9:36.03 to take first place.

He then entered the men's 800-meter run and took second place at 2:16.95. Josh Patton was third in the 800 at 2:17.95. Jason Gayheart, Jay Harvey and Curtis Webb ran in the event.

In other field events, Shawn Robinson continued to dominate the discus with a throw of 117 feet and 11 inches for first place. Chris Bailey threw the discus 90 feet, but did not place.

In the high jump, Chris Halbert placed second, clearing the bar at 5 feet and 8 inches. Gary Wells cleared at 5 feet, but did not place.

Fourth place in the men's shot put went to Levi Wells with a toss of 37 feet and 5 inches. Ronnie Samons finished with a measurement of 36 feet and 1 inch.

Nick Halbert placed third overall in the men's 110 hurdles. Halbert had a time of 18:75 with Estill Stumbo finishing fifth at 19:63. Both times were their personal best.

In the men's 300 hurdles, Stumbo finished first at 45:00 while Halbert was clocked at 59:66 for fourth place.

Jason Samons set a new school record in the men's 100-meter dash. Samons posted a time of 11:80 for second place. Trevor Fitch finished sixth, being timed at 12:10.

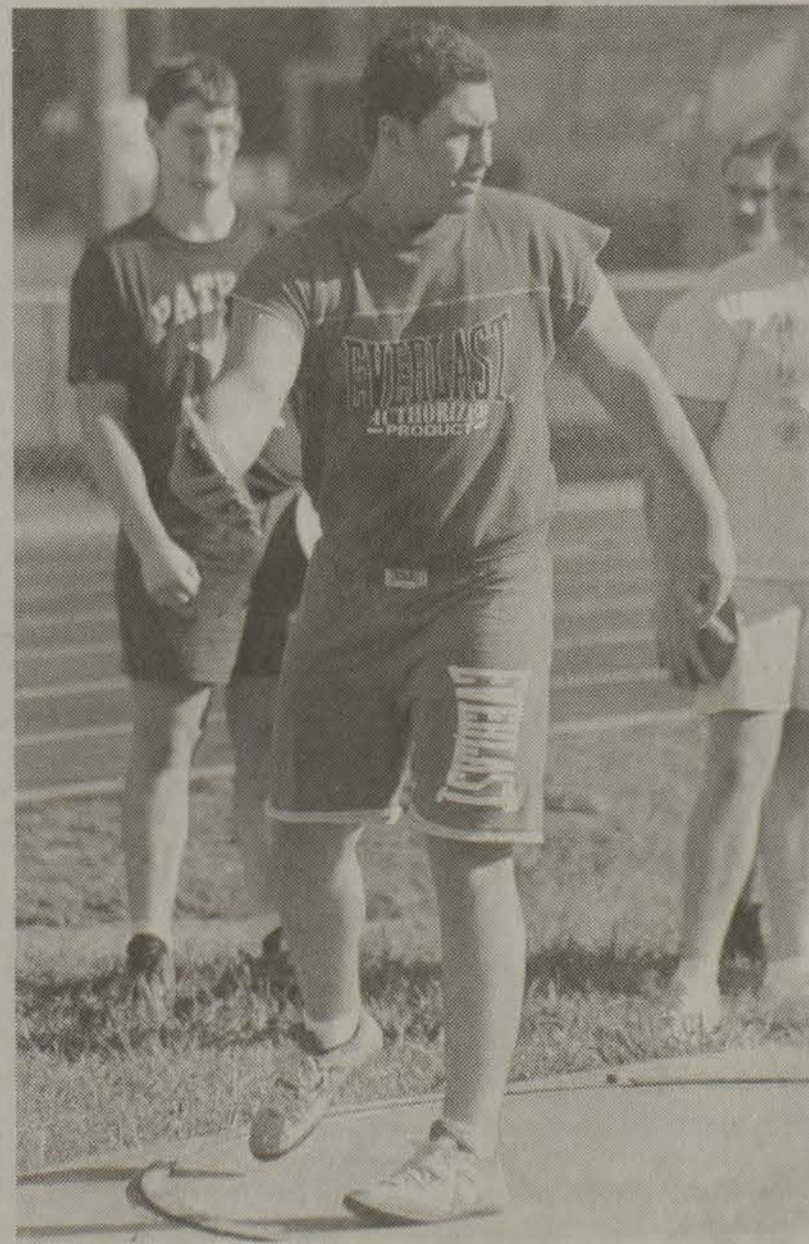

The men's 400-meter relay team finished the highest they have ever finished when they were clocked at 49:00 for second place. The foursome consisted of Trevor Fitch, Nick Halbert, Chris Halbert and Jason Samons.

Josh Patton took third place in the men's 1600-meter run. Patton posted a time of 5:14.00 for third place. Shawn Amburgey finished sixth. Wade Damron, Chris Damron, Jay Harvey and Todd Howard also ran in the event.

It was a fourth and fifth place finish for Allen Central in the men's 400-meter dash. Chris Halbert took Trades spikes!

Prestonsburg football standout Seth Hyden traded his football spikes for baseball ones when his team faced Betsy Layne Monday evening at Stumbo Park. Conn is perfect as Allen Central Lady Rebels win over South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The South Floyd Lady Raiders must have wondered what they were going have to do to get Cathy Conn out at the plate.

Conn was a perfect four-for-four for the Allen Central Lady Rebels in their 16-10 win over South Floyd in conference softball action Monday evening.

Conn had three doubles in the game and drove in two runs to lead coach Anthony Moore's Lady Rebs. Melissa Mullins, Misty Scott and Veronica McKinney collected two hits each.

Susan Stephens had two hits and batted in three runs for South Floyd. Janet Frazier and Reynolds picked up two hits for the Lady Raiders as well.

South Floyd led 1-0 after a half inning when Misty Shannon scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Lori Tackett. Allen Central came back with four in their half of the first when McKinney and Conn collected back-to-back doubles.

Mullins opened the game with a single and scored on McKinney's base hit. McKinney came around on Conn's first two-bagger.

Nikki Queen had an RBI single to send home Conn and Jennifer Mullins, who had walked.

The Lady Raiders added three in the second to tie the game at 4-4. An error and two runs, coupled with Stephens two-run single, accounted for the runs.

South Floyd was guilty of some shaky fielding in the bottom of the second. Three runners crossed homeplate for Allen Central in the second to give them a 7-4 lead. Conn doubled home two runs in the inning.

Kathy Stumbo doubled home Tackett in the top of the third inning for a 7-5 game. Tackett had walked with one out.

Queen started the Lady Rebels' third with a long triple and scored on Misty Scott's two-run base hit. Wallen also scored for the Lady Rebs on the hit to give Allen Central a 9-5 lead.

South Floyd came back with as Reynolds scored on a base hit by Stephens. Allen Central led 9-6.

Consecutive singles by Cooley and Jennifer Mullins set the stage for Wallen's two-run single that gave the Lady Rebels a 11-6 lead. The hit came with two out.

The Lady Raiders made it a one-run game, 11-10, with four in their half of the fifth. A walk to Frazier, Tackett's single, and consecutive walks to Stumbo and Christy Tackett forced in one run. Reynolds singled home two runs and the fourth came on a bases-loaded walk to Hamilton.

That would be all the Lady Raiders could score. They were held in check over the last two innings. Allen Central pushed home one run in the fifth and four in the sixth for the win. Misty Scott tripled with the bases loaded in the sixth inning. McKinney and Conn had singles in the final frame.

Lisa Yates was the winning pitcher with Tackett taking the loss.

Lady Rebels collect 29 hits in 20-18 win over Magoffin

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

They almost had to call the fire department to put out the smoke the Allen Central Lady Rebels were creating with their bats against Magoffin County in softball action.

The Lady Rebels pounded out 29 hits en route to a 20-18 win over the Lady Hornets. Allen Central scored four runs in the top of the seventh inning and then held off the Lady Hornets in the bottom of the inning for the win. Magoffin loaded the bases in their half of the seventh, but failed to score and Shepherd fouled out.

Several swung big bats for Allen Central. Nattie Cooley, Veronica McKinney and Cathy Conn collected four hits each while Jennifer Mullins, Misty Scott, Lisa Stumbo and Nikkie Queen had three hits apiece.

Both McKinney and Conn had two doubles each while Cooley laced out four singles.

Jennifer Mullins had a seventh-inning triple to lead off when the Lady Rebels scored four times. Scott walked, putting runners at first and third. McKinney then doubled in both runners to give her seven RBIs for the game. One out later, Conn doubled home McKinney and she scored on Queen's base hit.

Magoffin scored six times in the fifth inning to make it a 16-15 game in favor of Allen Central.

McKinney had a two-run double in the eighth run second. The inning started with five consecutive base hits and a walk before Jennifer Mullins singled home two runs.

Holbrook collected two hits for Allen Central. She also had two runs batted in. Yates singled in the first and fifth for the Lady Rebels with one run batted in.

Scott singled in the first third and then doubled in the fifth, driving in three runs.

Allen Central will host Betsy Layne in a district game tonight at the Allen Park.

Paintsville scores two in sixth to defeat Allen Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Misty Scott and Veronica McKinney collected three hits apiece, but it didn't keep the Paintsville Lady Tigers from posting an 11-10 win over Allen Central in women's softball play.

Paintsville scored two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to take an 11-9 lead.

Allen Central scored once in the top of the seventh and left the tying run stranded. Cathy Conn opened the seventh with a double and scored on a two-bagger by Natalie Cooley. But Lisa Yates fouled out and Holbrook followed suit to end the game.

Allen Central had taken a 9-8 lead in the sixth inning when McKinney hit a two-run home run, her second of the game, scoring Misty Scott, who had singled.

Paintsville, in the home half of the sixth, got a walk to Osborne and back-to-back singles from Kelly and Sparks to score twice.

Paintsville scored six times in the first inning to take a 6-4 lead after Allen Central scored four times in the same inning.

Scott and McKinney got one-out base hits and a fielder's choice to load the bases. An error off the bat of Conn sent in McKinney before Queen singled home two runs. Holbrook had an RBI single.

Four walks and an error with one hit opened the door for the Lady Tigers to score six times, four unearned, in the first inning. Kelly had a double in the inning.

"I can't believe it!"

Betsy Layne's Brandon Castle walked away in disgust after he was called out on a third strike against Pikeville last Thursday. Castle has been swinging a hot bat for the Bobcats and he is just a freshman. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Betsy Layne defeats Phelps on Castle's seventh-inning single

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats snapped a three-game losing streak when freshman Brandon Castle singled home Shawn Rose, who was pinch running for pitcher Shannon Newsome, with what proved to be the winning run in the top of the seventh inning.

The RBI base hit gave the Bobcats a 2-1 victory over the Phelps Hornets in the Hillbilly Days Classic at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex in Pikeville.

Derrick Newsome started the inning for Betsy Layne by drawing a walk on a 3-1 pitch. Newsome was cut down at second base on a steal attempt.

Shannon Newsome then doubled and moved to third on a passed ball, but not until Barry Clark skied out to left for the second out. Castle then lined his game-winning base hit to left field scoring Rose, who entered as the pinch runner.

Kyle Compton, who started for Phelps, walked designated hitter Keith Hamilton and eighth batter Doug Keathley to load the bases. But he got Greg Hunter to fly to right field for the final out.

Both teams threatened in their half of the first inning. Betsy Layne put two runners on base with one out but failed to score. Chris Potter and Derrick Newsome had back-to-back singles but Compton got Shannon Newsome to bounce to short, forcing Derrick Newsome at second. Clark popped to short to end the threat.

Bud Sansom tripled with two out in the home half of the first inning, but Daniel Lester popped to first to end the Hornets' first.

Betsy Layne put runners on base in the second third and fourth, but failed to score until the fifth inning when they took a 1-0 lead. A lead-off walk to Scott Ousley started the fifth for the Bobcats. Ousley stole second and moved to third on a catcher's error. He scored on Potter's RBI single.

Phelps got consecutive base hits from Steve Layne and Compton to start their half of the fifth. Layne, who stole second base, scored on Compton's base hit off Newsome.

Phelps got their half of the sixth off to a good start with Steve Smith drawing a lead-off walk. But he was cut down at second base by catcher Greg Hunter in a steal attempt.

Jamie Hager then promptly singled after Smith was tossed out at second.

Hager, too, attempted to steal second and Hunter cut him down as well. Newsome then fanned Andy Dotson to end the inning.

Betsy Layne put the go-ahead run at third base in the person of Hamilton, who walked, stole second and then third. But Keathley and Ousley struck out with Potter grounding to short for the final out.

In the bottom of the seventh, the Hornets had one more swing at Newsome, putting the tying run on base with one out. Newsome walked the lead-off batter, who stole second but was left stranded when Layne forced the runner at second and Compton ground to short, forcing Layne at second for the final out.

Shannon Newsome picked up his third win of the season in going the distance for Betsy Layne. He had eight strikeouts and he walked two.

Compton was the losing pitcher in going all the way for Phelps. He picked up six strike outs while walking seven. Compton hit one batter.

Castle and Potter collected two hits apiece for Betsy Layne.

Phelps left six runners on base while Betsy Layne stranded 13. The Bobcats played errorless baseball while the Hornets committed one error.

Betsy Layne will travel to Johnson Central tonight, entertain Knott County Central tomorrow night before taking part in the Paintsville Invitational Friday evening.

Potter came into score to make it a 3-1 game when base umpire Dale Conn called Hackworth for a balk. Newsome moved to second on the call and then stole third.

Hackworth walked Shannon Newsome, who then stole second. Clark hit a bounce to third baseman Seth Hyden, but his throw to the plate to get Newsome was late. Freshman Brandon Castle then roped a double down the left field line, scoring Newsome and Clark.

Prestonsburg coach Russell Shepherd saw enough and summoned Bennett Allen into the game in relief of Hackworth. Allen immediately walked designated hitter Keith Hamilton and Hunter then lit up the Betsy Layne crowd with a towering home run over the left center field fence to make it a 9-1 ballgame.

The Bobcats added a run in the fourth on a lead-off double by Derrick Newsome and Clark's RBI single.

Prestonsburg, trying to avoid the mercy rule, put a runner on base in the top of the fifth inning on a one-out double by Thomas Ratliff, his second of the game. Robbie Risner then lofted a fly ball to left. Derrick Newsome made the catch and fired the ball into second base to double off Ratliff for the final out.

Betsy Layne scored a run in the bottom of the fifth that gave them a 10-run lead. Allen looked as if he was going to have an easy fifth when he struck out Russell Kidd, pinching for Hunter, and got Doug Keathley looking for the first two outs.

But he walked lead-off batter Scott Ousley, who stole second and moved to third when the throw from the catcher sailed into the outfield. Chris Potter then lined a base hit to right field, sending Ousley home with the final run.

Betsy Layne took a 2-0 lead in the first inning on a base hit by Ousley, two walks and Clark's RBI single.

Prestonsburg got one run back in the second when Seth Hyden beat out an infield hit and scored on Cory Reitz's double to left center. Ratliff then drilled a Clark fastball to the deepest part of the ballpark, center field, for a double. The ball hit the top of the fence to stay in the ballpark. Reitz had to hold up, thinking the long drive might be caught. He could only advance to third base where he was left stranded.

Ratliff was a perfect three-for-three in the game with two doubles.

Potter, who continues to sting the baseball, collected two hits, as did Clark. Clark and Castle had two runs batted in and Hunter picked up three RBIs.

Risner felt the sting of Clark when he was hit twice by the baseball in his first two trips to the plate.

Clark, in picking up the win, allowed the one run while scattering seven hits. Prestonsburg stranded six base runners.

Hackworth allowed seven runs on four hits in the two innings that he worked. He failed to retire a batter in the third inning. He walked four and fanned three.

Allen went the final three for the Blackcats, giving up four runs on four hits. He walked just one and struck out two.

Betsy Layne improved to 2-0 in conference play while Prestonsburg dropped to 1-1.

Game notes:
• Prestonsburg has played two games this season and has yet to have a place to practice on. The first time they took the field this season was under game conditions against South Floyd.

• This is the youngest team that Coach Shepherd had fielded since coaching at Prestonsburg.

• Hunter's home run was his second of the season.

Q. I want to buy a heat pump (OR air conditioner) but what do all those ratings mean?

A. Consumers are often overwhelmed by the array of efficiency ratings, abbreviations and acronyms used to describe heat pumps (OR air conditioners). Maybe the following terms will take the mystery out of purchasing a new system.

kilowatt (kW)—Equals 1000 Watts (W—a unit of electricity).
kilowatt hour (kWh)—Amount of kilowatts of electricity used in one hour of operation.

Btu—British thermal unit is the amount of heat that will raise or lower the temperature of one pound of water by one degree Fahrenheit (Btuh-Btu's per hour).

Ton—Btuh/12,000. Heat pumps and air conditioners are generally sized in tons. Typical sizes for single family units are between 2 and 5 tons.

SEER—Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio describes the relationship between the Btu, or capacity of a unit, and the amount of electricity, or Watt-hours, required to run the unit based on normal usage. Units with higher SEER ratings require less electricity to cool a home, which translates into lower electric bills.

SR—Sound Rating measured in bels (10 decibels). Average sound levels range from 6.50 to 8.50 and directly affect comfort. Lower numbers indicate quieter units.

(HEAT PUMPS ONLY)
HSPF—Heating Seasonal Performance Factor ratio compares the heating output (capacity) during the heat pump's normal annual usage period to the electric power required to generate that capacity. The Department of Energy (DOE) requires a minimum HSPF of 6.80.

COP—Coefficient of Performance is a ratio that compares the heating capacity of a heat pump to the amount of electricity required to operate the heat pump. Colder temperatures require the system to use more energy to maintain a level of heating capacity, so COPs are lower.

Collects three hits!

Prestonsburg drops two to Pikeville

It wasn't a good day! No, it certainly wasn't a good day for the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats as they dropped a softball doubleheader to the Lady Panthers of Pikeville in a regular scheduled game. The Lady Cats got nothing but goose-eggs in their first game and had to scratch for four runs in the nightcap. In the first game, a game they lost 10-0, Prestonsburg was only able to collect one base hit -- a second-inning double by Jennifer Miller. The Lady Panthers made it a 3-0 game with a three-run first. Pikeville added two in the second, one in the third and scored four times in the fourth to mercy the Lady Blackcats. Allara had a triple in the first inning, driving in Boyd, who tripled leading off, and Norman. Two runs came in for Pikeville in the second with the help of two Prestonsburg errors. The single run in the third was unearned and Stump doubled home two runs in the four-run fourth. In the second game, Prestonsburg broke on top 2-0 only to see Pikeville tie the game with two in their half of the first. With two out, Donna Lafferty reached on a fielder's choice and Camille Robinson doubled her home.

Miller's fly ball to center was dropped, scoring Lafferty and Robinson. With two out, three straight errors allowed the Lady Panthers to tie the game at 2. Stump singled home the two runs, scoring Combs and Phillips. Pikeville took a 7-2 lead with five in the second. Prestonsburg came back and pushed home two in their half of the third. Lafferty singled and Robinson was ruled safe on an interference call. Misty Price singled home both runs to make it a 7-4 game. Pikeville failed to score in the third, fourth and fifth innings, but did score five times in the sixth for the 12-4 win. Prestonsburg did not collect a hit over the final four innings. "We're a young team," said Prestonsburg coach Bridget Clay. "I lost a lot of good talent from last year. But, we're learning and we're going to be a good team." Prestonsburg wins two in Classic The Lady Blackcats were one of eight teams that played in the Hillbilly Classic at Pikeville this past weekend. Prestonsburg split the four games in which they played. They were the tournament's defending champions. Prestonsburg scored four runs in the top of the seventh inning to defeat Fleming-Neon 6-5 in a strong game. Trailing 4-2 entering the seventh, Jamie Clay reached first on an error at third base and Jamie Ratcliff followed with a base hit. Donna Lafferty lined a single to center, scoring Clay, and Camille Robinson cleared the bases with a triple. She scored the go ahead run on a grounder to shortstop off the bat of Jennifer Miller. Fleming-Neon scored a single run in the bottom of the seventh and left the tying run and winning run on base when Clay got the unassisted force play at second base. Prestonsburg took a 2-0 lead in the third on a lead-off single by Clay, an error and Lafferty's first hit of the game, scoring both runners. In the bottom of the fourth, Neon took the 4-2 lead on a walk to Napier and Stewart's two-bagger. Two errors at third base were costly as two unearned runs scored. Prestonsburg had six runs on six hits. Robinson had two of the six. Fleming-Neon scored five runs on three hits. Prestonsburg handed a very good Whitesburg team an 8-7 setback in the tournament. A strong fielding play by Clay at shortstop turned a 6-3 double play that ended a late Whitesburg rally. The Lady Blackcats held the one-run lead when Whitesburg, batting in the top of the seventh, put a runner on base after an error by Robinson. Beth Morton grounded to Clay at short as the momentum carried toward the second base bag. Clay stepped on second and fired to Miller at first to complete the double play and end the game. Miller was the heavy hitter for the Lady Blackcats with three hits, a double and two singles. Ratcliff collected two hits and Robinson finished with two. Prestonsburg led 2-0 after the first inning and added four more in the third to lead 6-0 as Whitesburg was getting nothing but zeros in the first four innings against winning pitcher Carolyn Jones. But in the fifth, Whitesburg struck and struck hard as they sent 11 batters to the plate in scoring six runs to tie the game at 6. Prestonsburg got the lead back in the bottom of the fifth when they scored twice on a double by Ratcliff, a sacrifice fly by Robinson and Miller's third hit of the game to lead 8-6. Whitesburg added their final run in the top of the sixth on a walk to Bates and Sexton's base hit. The Lady Yellowjackets left the bases loaded in the sixth. Prestonsburg lost to Shelby Valley 18-5 and fell to Pikeville 11-2. Clay had three hits against Pikeville with Ratcliff and Lafferty collecting three each against Shelby Valley.

A close win!

Betsy Layne's Nikki Ratliff took first place in the women's 100-meter dash at Pikeville last Thursday. Ratliff has a good shot at a state berth this year. No time was turned in of her finish. (photo by Ed Taylor)

A Look at Sports

(Continued from B1) they should have and, hopefully, they will vote for a change back to the former way of doing it. The players did not get the recognition they deserved after playing a hard conference schedule. It's very sad that it had to happen that way. This is their game and not the coaches or the parents. For over 30 years it has worked very well. Why change it? Those who established the conference and awards for it back in 1963 are wondering the same thing. What was wrong with the former way of doing it? Parents, you are the ones who can change things back. Get on the phone to the personnel who are in charge and let them know how you feel. If you don't, they will continue to ruin it for the kids.

HERE'S A THOUGHT...

If we had baseball parks where we had comfortable seats, a covered pavilion, rest rooms and concession stands more people would come out to watch high school, Babe Ruth and Little League baseball. Look at all of our fields. None are really comfortable to go to and take in a baseball game. The bleachers that are in place are very uncomfortable. Most people have to bring their lawn chairs and that doesn't protect them from the sun.

Take the baseball facility at Stumbo Park, for instance. A grandstand directly behind the backstop, covered and chairback seats would make a great facility. Sod the infield and put crushed red brick in the basepaths to soak up the rain water.

It could be a showcase that any judge and magistrate court would be proud of.

Ernest Burchett did an excellent job of grading the infield on the Little League side at Stumbo Park. The infield looks the best that I have ever seen it. I have heard several people say how much safer it was for the kids to play on.

Even the bigger diamond is in good shape. Used to be when it rained it was unusable for several days until it dried out. Now, this season they have gone in the next day after a rain and been able to play.

Wouldn't it be great if they went ahead and built the grandstand, rest rooms and concessions to accommodate all the people?

Well, it's going to be a busy weekend ahead and here's hoping the weather stays as super as it has been.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports.

3. SUBSTITUTION — 3-1-1

A. Definitions have been revised.

B. Unreported substitute is a player who, by rule, can be in the game, but has entered without reporting.

C. An illegal substitute is a player who enters or re-enters the game without eligibility to do so, or re-enters the game in the wrong position in the batting order.

D. An unreported substitute who takes a position as a runner, pitcher on the pitcher's plate, fielder or batter is officially in the game as soon as the ball is declared live.

E. An illegal substitute on offense or defense may be discovered by the umpire or opposing team.

F. Upon discovery, the illegal player is ejected.

G. An illegal player on offense (whether a batter or runner) besides being ejected, shall also be called out.

K. If an illegal player on defense is involved in a play of a batted ball and the infraction is discovered by an umpire or the opposing team prior to the first pitch to the next batter of either team, the team on offense has the option of taking the play, or nullifying the play (and allowing the batter to bat again with the same count).

L. If an illegal defensive player handles / touches a non-batted ball following a pitch which leads to a runner being put out, should the penalty be enforced, the out is nullified, and the runner (s) returns to the base occupied at the time of the pitch.

1. The pitch is cancelled if it was a strike.

2. If the pitch was a ball, the pitch stands.

4. BLEEDING AND OPEN WOUNDS—3-1-6:

A. This rule has been adopted as a precautionary measure to prevent the spread of HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis B.

B. Player or coach who is bleeding or who has an open wound shall be prohibited from participating further in the game until appropriate treatment has been administered.

C. Individual does not have to leave game if medical care or treatment can be administered in a reasonable amount of time.

D. Length of time that is considered reasonable is umpire judgement.

E. Re-entry rule applies to the player who must leave the game to receive treatment.

F. Any uniform item must be changed if there is an excessive amount of blood on it, before player may continue playing.

G. Umpires who are bleeding or who have blood on their uniform shall not proceed until appropriate treatment has been administered.

5. COMMUNICABLE DISEASE PROCEDURE: RULE BOOK: PAGE 4

There has been much attention given in the past year regarding blood borne pathogens and communicable diseases. HIV/AIDS and Hepatitis B are specific examples of this major concern. The risk of one athlete infecting another with HIV/AIDS during competition is almost nonexistent, but there is a risk that other blood borne infectious diseases can be transmitted, therefore, the procedures outlined on this transparency will offer some guidelines if bleeding occurs.

1. The bleeding must be stopped and the open wound covered and, if there is an excessive amount of blood on the uniform, it must be changed before the athlete can continue competition.

2. Routine use of gloves or other precautions should be used to prevent skin and mucous-membrane exposure when contact with blood or other body fluids is anticipated.

3. Wash hands immediately and other skin surfaces if they are contaminated or come in contact with blood or body fluids. Wash hands immediately after removing gloves.

4. Clean all blood contaminated surfaces and equipment with a solution made from proper dilution of household bleach (CDC recommends 1-100) or other disinfectants before competition resumes.

5. Practice proper disposal procedures to prevent injuries caused by needles, scalpels and other sharp instruments or devices.

6. Although saliva has not been implicated in HIV transmission, to minimize the need for emergency mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, mouth pieces, resuscitation bags or other ventilation devices should be available for use.

7. Athletic trainers/ coaches with bleeding or oozing skin conditions should refrain from all direct athlete care until the condition is resolved.

8. Contaminated towels should be properly disposed of/disinfected.

9. Follow acceptable guidelines in the immediate control of bleeding and when handling bloody dressings, mouth guards and other articles containing body fluids.

Because of the concern for bleeding and the potential for transmission of communicable diseases, the above has been placed in all National Federation rules books. Precautions must be taken in this area to ensure athletic competition at the high school level.

6. TEAM PERSONNEL SHALL BE IN DUGOUT/BENCH AREA—3-3-11

A. Previously, the rule allowed team personnel to be in the vicinity of the dugout/bench area.

B. "Vicinity" has now been deleted from the rule, which means that team personnel shall be in the dugout/bench area to reduce the risk of injury and to avoid interference.

C. To help determine a designated bench area, it is recommended that the bench area be chalked.

D. Team personnel who do not comply with the rule are subject to a team warning, resulting in a subsequent offender on that team being ejected.

7. PLAYING WITH EIGHT PLAYERS—4-4-1F

A. Previously, if a team had no eligible substitute remaining and a player had to leave the game due only to injury, illness or ejection, that team could continue playing with eight players.

B. Now, if a player leaves the game for any reason (i.e., band practice, doctor appointment, etc.), that team may continue playing with eight players.

8. BAT CONTACTS BALL SECOND TIME—8-4-1D:

A. Previously, if the bat accidentally came into contact with the ball a second time in fair territory, the batter was declared out.

B. Now, there is no penalty if the bat and ball come into contact with each other, unless the batter intentionally causes the bat to contact the ball.

C. Intentional contact in fair or foul territory (if there is a chance the ball may return to fair territory) shall result in the ball being declared dead immediately, the batter declared out and base runners returned to the bases occupied at the time of pitch.

9. DIVING AND HURDLING—8-4-2k:

A. Previously, diving over a fielder was not illegal.

B. Rules committee believes that in certain instances, diving could be dangerous and, therefore, is always illegal.

C. There is no penalty should a runner hurdle a fielder who is lying on the ground, or who enters the runner's base path and the runner cannot otherwise avoid colliding with the fielder. In all other instances, hurdling is still illegal.

D. For diving or illegal hurdling, the runner shall be declared out immediately.

E. The ball remains alive, unless the act causes interference.

10. DESIGNATED MEDIA AREA—POINT OF EMPHASIS, 1-2-3:

A. The designated media area rule went into effect last year.

B. The intent of the rule is to reduce the risk of injury to players and the media, and to prevent interference.

C. Home team has responsibility to provide an area, if a suitable location in dead ball area is not already available outside the playing field.

D. The rules committee recommends that designated media areas be located beyond first and third base in foul territory, next to the field fence.

E. In some cases, news media and in particular photographers have not been accommodated.

F. Teams should work with the media in establishing conditions that are satisfactory.

11. "TRASH TALK"—POINTS OF EMPHASIS, 3-3-1D, J, K:

A. National Federation is making a major effort to promote good sportsmanship.

B. Problem in many high school sports including baseball, is "trash talk," which is a form of baiting an opponent.

C. Coaches should take firm stand against this practice.

D. During the game, umpires are expected to strictly enforce the rule.

E. The following rules may be applied:

(1) 3-3-1d-Make remarks which reflect upon opposing player, umpire or spectator.

(2) 3-3-1i Verbalize in any way with the opposing team for the purpose of intimidation.

(3) 3-3-1k-Exhibit behavior that is not in accordance with the spirit of fair play.

PENALTY: For all of the above rules, if the umpire judges the offense to be of a minor nature, the umpire may warn the offender and then eject him for a subsequent violation.

F. Coaches who violate the rules may be:

- (1) restricted to the bench/dugout for the remainder of the game, or
- (2) ejected.

12. ALCOHOL AND TOBACCO—POINTS OF EMPHASIS:

A. Coaches should take the time to explain to their players the dangers of using alcohol and tobacco.

B. Smokeless tobacco, which is now illegal in the minor leagues, should not be condoned at the high school level.

C. Coaches and umpires should be familiar with their state's rules that apply to alcohol and tobacco.

D. There is no national rule pertaining to alcohol and tobacco.

13. CONDUCT OF BENCH PERSONNEL—POINTS OF EMPHASIS:

A. The rules committee is concerned about who may be in the designated bench / dugout area.

B. Presently, rules do not limit or restrict individuals.

C. Ideally, only those individuals who have a legitimate purpose or role with the team should be in the dugout/bench area (i.e., players, trainers, scorekeeper, bat/ball shaggers, coaches, ect.)

D. The head coach is responsible for the behavior of anyone he allows to be in the designated area.

E. Bench personnel are subject to being ejected for unruly behavior, use of profanity or making remarks that are degrading to opposing players or umpires.

14. MALICIOUS CONTACT—POINTS OF EMPHASIS, 3-3-1G, S-1-ID, 8-4-2K

A. In some cases, determining

Betsy Layne wins over Williamson 11-7 in "bean ball"

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The object of the game of baseball is for the pitcher to throw the baseball and for the batter to attempt to hit it.

But Saturday at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex, you wondered if they had it all backwards. It was the pitchers doing the hitting -- hitting the batters that is.

It was "bean ball" time as Williamson, W.Va. and Betsy Layne hooked up in old-fashioned baseball when they met in the Hillbilly Days Classic at Pikeville. Six batters were hit by the opposing pitchers in a game that went only five innings.

Betsy Layne came away with their ninth victory of the season and second in the tournament as they posted a 11-7 win behind the bat of freshman Brandon Castle. Castle collected two hits and drove in two runs to help the Bobcats to the win.

Barry Clark started on the hill for Betsy Layne and worked the first two-and-a-third innings before giving way to Greg Hunter. Clark hit two batters and Hunter managed to pluck one.

On the other side of the diamond, the control of Collins for Williamson wasn't anything to cheer about since Collins hit three batters himself.

Errors played a big part in the game as both teams had problems fielding the baseball. Betsy Layne committed four errors and Williamson had five miscues.

Betsy Layne sent 10 batters to the plate in the fourth inning when they scored four times to take a 10-5 lead. Collins started the inning off well enough. Chris Potter reached base on an error and was sacrificed to second by Derrick Newsome. Collins got Shannon Newsome to roll out to second, moving Potter to third.

Collins then walked Clark, gave up an RBI single to Castle, walked Keith Hamilton, and consecutively hit Doug Keathley and Greg Hunter before walking Scott Ousley. Beverly came on to get Potter to fly out to center to end the inning.

Betsy Layne scored three times in the first inning to take a 3-0 lead. Scott Ousley singled and stole second and third to score on Derrick Newsome's RBI single with one out.

An error at short, a stolen base by Chad Case, who was pinch running for Barry Clark, and an run-producing single by Castle made it 3-0.

Clark got Williamson without any trouble in the first two innings as Betsy Layne plated a run in the top of the second for a 4-0 game. Ousley scored on Potter's RBI double.

Williamson got on the scoreboard in the third when they struck for three runs. Clark experienced some wildness in the third. He hit Dewey Dingus and walked Collins. He then proceeded to hit Estep to load the bases. Clark, still struggling, walked a run home when he issued a base-on-balls to Eric Rash, forcing Dingus home.

Brian Rowe lined a base hit to center, scoring Collins, but Estep was called out at home and ejected from the game because he failed to slide at homeplate. Rash scored the final run in the inning.

Betsy Layne made it 6-3 in the third with two unearned runs with the help of three Williamson errors. Shannon Newsome reached on an error and Clark singled and moved all the way around to third base on an error in right field. Newsome scored on the play. Clark came home when Castle's grounder went through shortstop.

Betsy Layne scored their final run in the fifth inning after Newsome singled, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. He eventually scored on a passed ball.

Williamson pushed home two runs in their half of the fifth, but it wasn't enough as the Bobcats improved to 9-4 on the season.

Clark picked up his third win of the season against no defeats. He allowed three runs on two hits, but he walked two batters and hit two. He had only three strikeouts.

Hunter, in relief, went two-and-two-thirds innings, allowing four runs on two hits. He fanned two and walked one while hitting one.

Collins suffered the setback, working the first three-and-two-thirds of the game. He allowed 10 runs on six hits while striking out five. He walked four and hit three.

Betsy Layne plays in the Paintsville Invitational Friday and Saturday.

Rule Changes

whether or not the contact between a runner and a fielder was malicious is difficult.

B. The rules committee considers the following contact to be malicious if: (1) the contact is the result of intentional excessive force, and/or (2) there is an intent to injure.

C. It should not be misconstrued that the absence of these two conditions would automatically preclude the contact from being malicious.

D. Malicious contact is unsportsmanlike behavior and is penalized whether committed by an offensive or defensive player.

E. Malicious contact always results in ejection.

F. If the runner is the perpetrator, he shall also be called out, unless he was already out or scored before the malicious contact. The ball is dead immediately.

G. A defensive player who initiates malicious contact with a runner shall be called for obstruction. The ball is dead at the end of playing action.

15. PITCHING—6-1-1, 2:
A. The pitching regulations begin when the pitcher intentionally contacts the pitching plate.

B. When the pitcher is in contact with the pitcher's plate in the windup position and he separates or brings his hands together, the pitcher is considered to have started his pitching motion, and must continue without interruption.

C. A violation shall result in an illegal pitch or balk being called, depending on whether runners were on base.

16. BASE RUNNING INFRACTION — 8-2 PENALTY:
A. A runner who does not touch a base or who leaves a base too soon on a caught fly ball, and who is touching the next base or who has advanced beyond it when the ball becomes dead, shall be declared out.

B. Runner who is not touching succeeding base is allowed to return to the base that was missed or that was left too soon on caught fly ball after the ball becomes dead. (Runner must be between bases when ball becomes dead.)

17. GROUND RULES—4-1-2:
A. The rules committee is concerned about rules being formulated that are not in compliance with the rules.

B. It is important to note that ground rules cannot supersede a rule book rule.

C. For example, if a tree forces an outfield fence to be located unusually close to home, the award for a fair batted ball going over the fence in flight shall be a home run, not a ground rule double.

D. Likewise, even if a ground ball goes under the fence 500' from home, the award shall be two bases, not a home run.

COMMENT: Had the umpire checked the field before the game and noticed the hole under the fence, it could possibly have been repaired, which would have eliminated the problem.

18. UNIFORMS SHOULD BE THE SAME—1-1-5:
A. Uniforms of all team members should be of the same color and style.

B. If players do not have the same style and color uniform (including undershirt sleeves), there is no penalty. EXCEPTION: Pitcher may not wear white or gray undershirt sleeves.

C. In certain instances, a team may not have enough uniforms for all of its players and may have to fill in with junior varsity uniforms; or

D. A player who had to replace his uniform because of excessive blood may not have access to another uniform and have to wear something else.

E. Ideally, a team needs to be dressed the same. Coaches should attempt to meet the intent of the rule when buying uniforms.

F. A player should not be prevented from playing simply because he is not dressed identical to his team.

G. The umpire has final say as to what is acceptable (i.e., if a player does not have a jersey, a numbered tee shirt promoting a rock band, tractor pull contest, political cause, etc., would not be appropriate).

19. UNSAFE FIELDS— 4-1-1, 2:

A. In an effort to help prevent injuries, groundskeepers should regularly inspect their athletic fields.

B. Coaches should also make frequent inspections.

C. Problems should be reported and corrected immediately.

D. Common safety concerns include:

- (1) hole in front of pitcher's plate
- (2) rocks and broken glass
- (3) improperly installed bases or home plate
- (4) unlevel playing surfaces
- (5) holes on the field
- (6) sprinkler heads that are not recessed
- (7) obstructions on the field of play
- (8) aging or faulty lighting
- (9) holes in the fence and improper fence wiring—wrapped ends toward playing area

20. COACH PHYSICALLY ASSISTS RUNNER—3-2-2:

A. Ball is dead at end of playing action.

B. involved batter/runner is out.

C. Additional outs on play stand.

D. Runners not put out return to bases occupied at time of the infraction.

EXCEPTION: Home run out of the park or when batter is awarded first which forces another runner to advance.

Harvey places first in four events

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

When the track and field season began, it wasn't clear how much of a role Annie Harvey would play on this year's squad. Harvey missed the first meet at Johnson Central because of illness.

However, the distance runner has come on strong this year and was very impressive at Pikeville Thursday afternoon at the Bob Amos Park.

She was so impressive that she captured three individual first place finishes and was on the 3200-meter relay team that took home first place.

Coach Forrest Hughes, who assists Dewey Jamerson with the track and field squad, said after the first meet, "Without Annie, we're hurting in the distance run."

So, when Annie gets her (the) gun she is off to the races. The fleet-footed distance runner took first place in the 800-meters race, first place in the mile and two-mile run.

Harvey posted a time of 2:50.59 in the half-mile run for 10 points that gave her first place. Crystal Martin, an eighth-grader, finished second by running her personal best with a 2:54.20.

Summer Bailey posted her best time with a 4:28.66 and Marsha Brown finished fourth overall with a 3:04.74.

Harvey continued her assault on the track with a time of 6:20.20 to finish first in the mile race. Harvey outdistanced the rest of the runners to bring home the top spot.

Teammate Mary Baldrige finished fifth overall with a time of 7:12.02.

In the 3200-meter run, four Allen Central runners finished in the top six positions. Harvey took first place with her time of 14:44.02. Fourth place went to Pam Goble and Baldrige finished fifth. Jessica Martin ran in the sixth spot.

The Allen Central women's relay teams continued to be the dominant team at the Pikeville meets, winning the 3200-meter relays as well as the 1600-meter relay. The 800-meter relay team finished second.

The foursome of Harvey, Marsha Brown, Dreama Isaac and Crystal Martin finished first with a time of 12:35.89 in the two-mile relays, gathering in 10 points.

In the 1600-meter relays, the quar-

Clark leads Lady Cats to win two doubleheaders

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Shanna Clark did a little bit of everything in helping the Lady Cats of Betsy Layne to stay undefeated after playing a pair of doubleheaders last week.

Betsy Layne defeated Johnson Central in two games and won both ends of a twin bill over Sheldon Clark.

Coach Cassandra Akers' Lady Cats posted 11-5 and 7-2 wins over Johnson Central and mercied Sheldon Clark in game one, 15-5, before shutting out the Lady Cardinals in game two, 7-0.

Against Johnson Central, as well as Sheldon Clark, it was the bat of Shanna Clark that ruled. Ashley Tackett gave Clark some help in the second game against the Lady Eagles.

Betsy Layne won 11-5 over the Lady Eagles in the initial game. Clark had a triple, double and three RBIs to lead a heavy-hitting attack. Misty Clark also triple and Ashley Bartley had a fifth-inning triple.

Betsy Layne scored three times in the third and fourth innings before pushing home five runs in the fifth. Jessica Johnson had a two-run single in the fifth.

Betsy Layne won game two, 7-2, as Tackett belted a fifth inning two-run home run. Clark had a first-inning double for Betsy Layne.

After Johnson Central had taken a 2-0 lead in the first, Betsy Layne plated four in the second to take the lead for good.

Against Sheldon Clark in the first game, Shanna Clark homered and had a double while driving in three runs in her team's 15-5 mercy win over the Lady Cards.

Jessica Johnson hit two home runs for the Lady cats while picking up four runs batted in. Melissa Hamilton tripled in the game.

Misty Clark doubled and Dawn Watson had three runs batted in with a double. Christy Osborne had three RBIs in the first game.

It was all Betsy Layne in game two. The Lady Cats scored twice in the first and fourth innings after scoring three in the second inning for the 7-0 whitewash.

Johnson and Osborne had the only extra base hits with a double each. Hamilton had a two-run single.

tet of Kristel Floyd, Dreama Isaac, Elisha Ousley and Nikki Queen finished strong in what was a close race.

"It was a very good race," said Allen Central coach Dewey Jamerson. "It was close all the way. It was getting close to dark and you really couldn't see the runners."

"On the number three turn, someone just shot out of there after the hand off and it was Elisha (Ousley). She just broke the race wide open."

Ousley is new to the Allen Central program this year, having moved to the area from Michigan where she competed in track there.

"She has been a big help to us and is going to be an even bigger help," said Jamerson. Ousley is a sophomore at Allen Central.

It has been over two years since the Allen Central women's 1600-meter relay team has lost in the Pikeville meet.

The 400-meter relay team came in a distant sixth in the Pikeville meet. The foursome of Brown, Nicole Clark, Greta Halvert and Isaac posted a time of 1:01.09.

In the women's 100 hurdles, Lisa Stumbo was flawless coming over the hurdles as she finished a strong second with a time of 19:69. Pam Goble finished sixth at 21:11.

Stumbo had to settle for third place in the women's 300 hurdles. Stumbo ran at 56:37 while Goble finished at 1:08.08.

Nikki Queen ran a school record in the women's 100-meter dash. Queen finished fourth with a time of 14:00. Clark finished with a 15:05.

"Elisha took about 10 seconds off her previous time," said a happy Jamerson.

"We're just now getting there with the sprint runners," said Jamerson. "It has always been one of our weaker events but we are starting to catch up and are getting stronger. I think that is because we have older people running in it now when two or three years ago, we were very young in the events."

In the women's 400-meter dash, Floyd took second place with a time of 1:09.79 and Ousley, running a personal best, finished third behind Floyd with a time of 1:12.94.

Floyd took fifth place overall in the women's 200-meter dash. Floyd had a time of 30:81.

In the women's field events, Melissa Mullins established a new women's school record in the discus throw. Mullins had a toss of 79 feet and 8 inches. Jenny Wells' discus throw traveled 55 feet and 4 inches.

Nikki Queen took second place in the long jump with a leap of 13 feet and 3 inches. Nicole Clark, who improving with each event, finished sixth at 11 feet and 7 inches.

Marsha Brown, in only her second meet, tied a school record in women's high jump with a leap of 4 feet and 2 inches. Heather Conley had a personal best with a jump of 4 feet.

Desiree Wallen and Jenny Wells took part in the women's discus, but they did not place.

The Allen Central girls placed second in the meet to Morgan County, a team that is favored to win their regional this season.

"When we left to go to Pikeville, I told them that whoever wins their meet (girls and boys) wouldn't have to practice Friday," said Jamerson. "The girls were down 30 points with five events to go. They closed the margin to nine points, but Morgan County won anyway."

"They made a heck of a run at them, wanting to get out of practice Friday. Friday at school, I told them they did so well anyway that they didn't have to practice."

Jamerson thinks that his team, which was hit hard by graduation last season, is coming along.

"We're coming along more as a team," he said. "I think they are realizing that they are a good team. We felt that we had a chance of being a good team but they have surprised me."

The Allen Central track and field team has competed in four meets this season, winning three of them.

Coach Jamerson is hoping that his team doesn't peak too early.

"They just need to stay focused. They want to win real bad," he said.

Jamerson said the team that started this season is still intact with the exception of Amy Howard, who went out with an injury.

"I told Amy that when she felt like she could compete she could come back. She is still part of the team," he said.

Allen Central will return to Pikeville for another meet tomorrow evening.

PAY-PER-VIEW FOR KENTUCKY GAMES? NO WAY, C.M. NEWTON SAYS
 Pay-per-view for UK games? No way, C.M. Newton says. UK director of athletics dropped a letter to Sports In Ky. this week to clarify.

"I wish our fans would understand that we only have our games on pay-per-view whenever we are not on (live or delayed) TV at all and can only offer pay-per-view.

"The Southeastern Conference makes the determination as to which games will be on live TV. All our games are on TV before the SEC season games begin during the first part of our season.

"We have no intention to go to pay-per-view. We only did it to give those fans who wish to see the games the option to do so. Otherwise, the game would not be on at all—live or delayed. In this business, you simply cannot please everyone."

'GRUMPY' CURRY?
 Good sign, Bill Curry grumbling through the first week of spring football practice. Normally a spin doctor for positives, Curry even closed a practice to the media two weeks ago.

I think a grumpy Curry is a good indication that UK may have something special by September.

UK returns 49 lettermen and 11 starters from its 6-6 season. Just as important, the entire coaching staff is back, including defensive coordinator Mike Archer.

Kentucky had a 13th best recruiting class nationally, according to Max Emfinger. But the critical element may be four of the 26 newcomers are immediate-impact JUCOs, including three All-America-types—running back Daymon Carter, quarterback Eric Gray and defensive back Reggie Rusk.

Biggest hole to fill in '94? There are several, but none larger than one left by All-American linebacker Marty Moore. Remember this name: Donte Key.

Leadership-wise? "I see Randy Wyatt assuming that role," Curry says. "He's terrific."

UK FAN? NO-O-O-O
 "You write so much about University of Kentucky basketball and football it's obvious you're a UK fan."

The remark is one I hear frequently and since it's a day or so before basketball season in the Bluegrass starts again an explanation is in order.

Sports in Ky.'s primary focus is on UK because 24 years experience has taught me more readers border-to-border are more interested in athletics at the Lexington school than any other venue.

However, of more immediate importance than UK athletics is fan interests. Thus, Readers (Right) Write as a (popular) forum for you; Cheers 'n Jeers, Ideas Dept., Issues & Answers, News 'n Views, They Said It, and Parting Shot(s) are to entertain, inform, and yes, poke a little fun.

Efforts to broaden and vary the Sports in Ky. menu has been fruitful too as evidenced recently by the enormous popularity of features on all-time high school basketball scoring leaders—Boys 2,000 Points Club went over 100 this week; the Girls 1,000 Points Club is nearing that figure. And the telephone continues to ring.

The bonus comes with the shower of bits and pieces of Ky. sports lore that accompany a new name to the lists.

See next item.

SCORE LEADER NOTES
 ✓ A 2,000-points scorer who made all-state in three sports? Mike '2,268' Deaton at Green County in 1975-76, football, basketball and track.

✓ Lori Erpenbeck, 2,998 points at Villa Madonna ('81) is the only player at the school to have her jersey retired, No. 33.

✓ Ten All-State Tournament picks played in the NCAA Tournament last month. DeJuan Wheat (Ballard, '92) and Jason Osborne (Male '93) went the farthest with UoL, three games.

✓ Members of Nebo High School's basketball team, 1933-34 (Hopkins Co.) gather at the old school this summer to celebrate 50 years since the team finished 16-9. Two seasons later Coach Bailey Winstead's Nebo team reached the summit, the Sweet 16 finals, losing to Corbin, 24-18.

✓ King Kelly. Imagine, averaging 25.2 points in 172 games over four seasons. King Kelly Coleman did it at Wayland High School 1952-56, 4,337 points.

✓ All time leading scorer at tradition-rich Louisville Male High: Darrell Griffith? Winston Bennett? Neither. Jason Osborne had 2,873. Second? Kenny Phelps, 2,189.

In its illustrious history, Male has produced only five 2,000 point scorers. The fifth is Bobby Turner, 2,030.

✓ Clem Haskins. In two varsity seasons at Taylor County High, Haskins scored 1,761 points. Wonder how The Gem did during his first two seasons at Campbellsville Durham?

Whatever happened to Walter Gee, Hopkinsville Attucks (All State-Tournament team, 1960)?

✓ No, I am not the Bobby Watkins from Central City who made the Sweet 16's All-Tournament team in the 1945.

Footnote: Thanks this week to Donna Moir, Sacred Heart High School, Bobby Brockman, News-Journal, Campbellsville, Larry Kihnley, PRP High School, and Richard Deavers, Times-Argus, Central City.

KY. BASEBALL NOTES
 Questions (for you) on baseball in Kentucky.

• Are PeeWee Reese (Ekron) and Earle Combs (Pebworth) the only native Kentuckians in the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown?

• Your favorite native Kentuckian who plays (played) in the Major Leagues?

• Will Kentucky's next Big Leaguer be ... Pookie Jones?

• Most successful high school program (area) in Kentucky? Owensboro High, six state titles in the last 30 years. And, Owensboro Catholic ('85) and Daviess Co. ('71) have one each.

AARON, MANTLE 'CELEBRATIONS'

✓ Henry Aaron was honored last week on the 25th anniversary of breaking Babe Ruth's 714 home runs' record. And it reminded me of a time I had a chance to meet and speak briefly with Aaron during a visit to Louisville in 1990.

Then and now I've wondered how anyone could object to a man of Aaron's character and humanity resetting a record held by a man of Babe Ruth's reputation.

TV program note: A documentary of Aaron's life and home run No. 715 will air on TBS in the fall. Chasing the Dream is co-produced by actor Denzel Washington.

Also coming up at World Series time, Baseball, a 7-hour documentary by Ken Burns on PBS.

Burns's next project is a movie on the life of Jackie Robinson.

✓ Hall of Famer Mickey Mantle (Sports Illustrated, Apr. 18): "For all those years I lived the life of somebody I didn't know. A cartoon character."

You listening, Darr-ryl?
 COMMENT: Get a copy of SI, Apr. 18 and read Mantle's 'I Was Killing Myself'.

ABOUT RODNEY ...
 The NCAA has rejected UK's request to allow Rodney Dent another year of eligibility. One must credit Rick Pitino for straightforwardness. UK's coach said Dent will pursue other opportunities, perhaps professional basketball in Europe. He made no pretense about Dent staying on to work toward a college degree.

On the night Dent was injured, Jan. 4, the coach was adamant that he and UK would do everything possible to see to it Dent got his degree. By Mar. 2 however, UK reported that Dent was a year away from completing degree requirements.

PARTING SHOT
 After Jim Everett wrestled ESPN2 host Jim Rome to the floor for calling him Chris, the real Chris Evert responded, "I'm seven months pregnant and I've got more important things to be concerned about."

Associated Designs-Eugene, Oregon

Running your eyes over the Greenville's all-brick facade, it feels like you're gazing at a colonial manor house. Corner quoins and flat lintels with masonry keystones give authenticity to the historic styling.

On the interior, traditional and contemporary living spaces blend to meet the complex needs of a modern family. The grand entry is two stories high, illuminated by sidelights, a ribbon of windows over the door, and a graceful arched window on the second level. To the right, French pocket doors access the formal dining room. A living room with an elegant coffered ceiling is to the left.

On the opposite side of the room, a French door opens into a formal library that can also be entered through French doors from the sumptuous master suite. Luxuries in the owners' suite include a huge walk-in closet and a private bathroom with two linen closets, two basins, and a two-person shower as well as a two-person spa.

The fireplace in the window-rich family room adds warmth and coziness in winter while French doors open onto a covered porch for easy access in summer. The kitchen has abundant counter and cupboard space allowing a whole family of chefs to work at once. Laundry facilities, including a pull-down ironing board, a deep sink, and a folding counter, are convenient to both kitchen and garage.

On the Greenville's second floor, you find a large balcony overlooking the entry, three bedrooms, a roomy dual-compartment bathroom, a laundry chute and a huge undeveloped bonus space that could become a recreation room or be left as is for storage.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $10 to Associated Designs, 1260 Charnelton St., Suite 2, Eugene, Ore. 97401. LOOK FOR A MIDDLE GROUND
I'm not sure how I really feel about the situation in Singapore regarding the American teenager who's facing flogging (with a bamboo cane) as a punishment for vandalism. I've read comments from several columnists, and opinions seem to run from "that's good enough for him" to "such punishment is plain torture and is nothing short of blatant cruelty."

Last weekend, I read where former president George Bush had even commented on it, so it's something that seems to be getting a lot of attention.

Personally, I feel that the punishment is much too severe, even brutal, and I'm glad we don't go to that extreme in this country. On the other hand, though, since the young man was in their country and broke their laws and is being punished the same way as any of their own citizens who committed the same offense, I'm not sure it'd be proper for our government to interfere.

While we point to such acts and scream excessive brutality, Singaporean officials seem to be pointing back and saying, "Oh yeah? Who are you to criticize? Just look at what a mess your country's in." Of course, they've got a point. We're all aware that we do indeed have convicted criminals walking around free as birds simply because some police officer forgot to read them their "rights."

Singaporeans proudly claim their country to be nearly crime free and boast of the fact that, unlike in America, any of their citizens—old, young or middle-aged—can go anywhere they want, at any time they want—day or night—without fear of being victimized by rapists, muggers and murderers.

You know, kind of like it used to be here, back 40 or 50 years ago when I was growing up in Muddy Branch; back in the days when Dad used a razor strop and teacher used a paddle. It's kind of like back when you didn't have to lock your doors at night. It's like back before someone invented child abuse for when daddies took keen willow switches to bare bony legs of little boys who were caught smoking cigarettes in the toilet. It's like back before kids could go to court and divorce their parents.

Somewhere there's got to be a middle ground when it comes to doling our punishment, especially for young people. While it's absolutely essential that youngsters, whether it's vandalism, theft or any other sort of mayhem, take responsibility for their actions, somewhere between Singapore's caning and our, "Hey man, you can't do nothin' to me. I'm a juvenile," there's got to be something we can do to deter crime. We've got to be coming up with something to make those who did...wish they hadn't.

While it remains to be seen as to the fate of the American teenager, all the controversy that has surrounded his sentence may in a way, have been good for us. It may have forced some of us into some serious thought and the realization that everybody may have been better off when our parents and teachers did not spare the rod.

Rhinestone Cowboy... Gala to benefit cancer society

All dressed up and nowhere to go? The Floyd County unit of the American Cancer Society has the place for you.

If you prefer, you can wear blue jeans and cowboy boots to the Cancer Society's event. That's why it's called the "Rhinestone Cowboy Gala."

"We decided to have a gala where people can wear blue jeans and cowboy boots or their best clothes," said Leslie Fannin, Gala chairman. "We don't want to leave anyone out."

"Rhinestone Cowboy" will be held Saturday, April 30, at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center from 8 p.m. - 1 a.m. Tickets are $30 each and can be paid by personal check, MasterCard, Visa or American Express.

Entertainment for the event — which is the Floyd County unit's major fund-raiser of the year — includes a performance by Judie Compton Durbin, a country singing star who is scheduled to perform with the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, a buffet, line dancing, and audible and silent auctions.

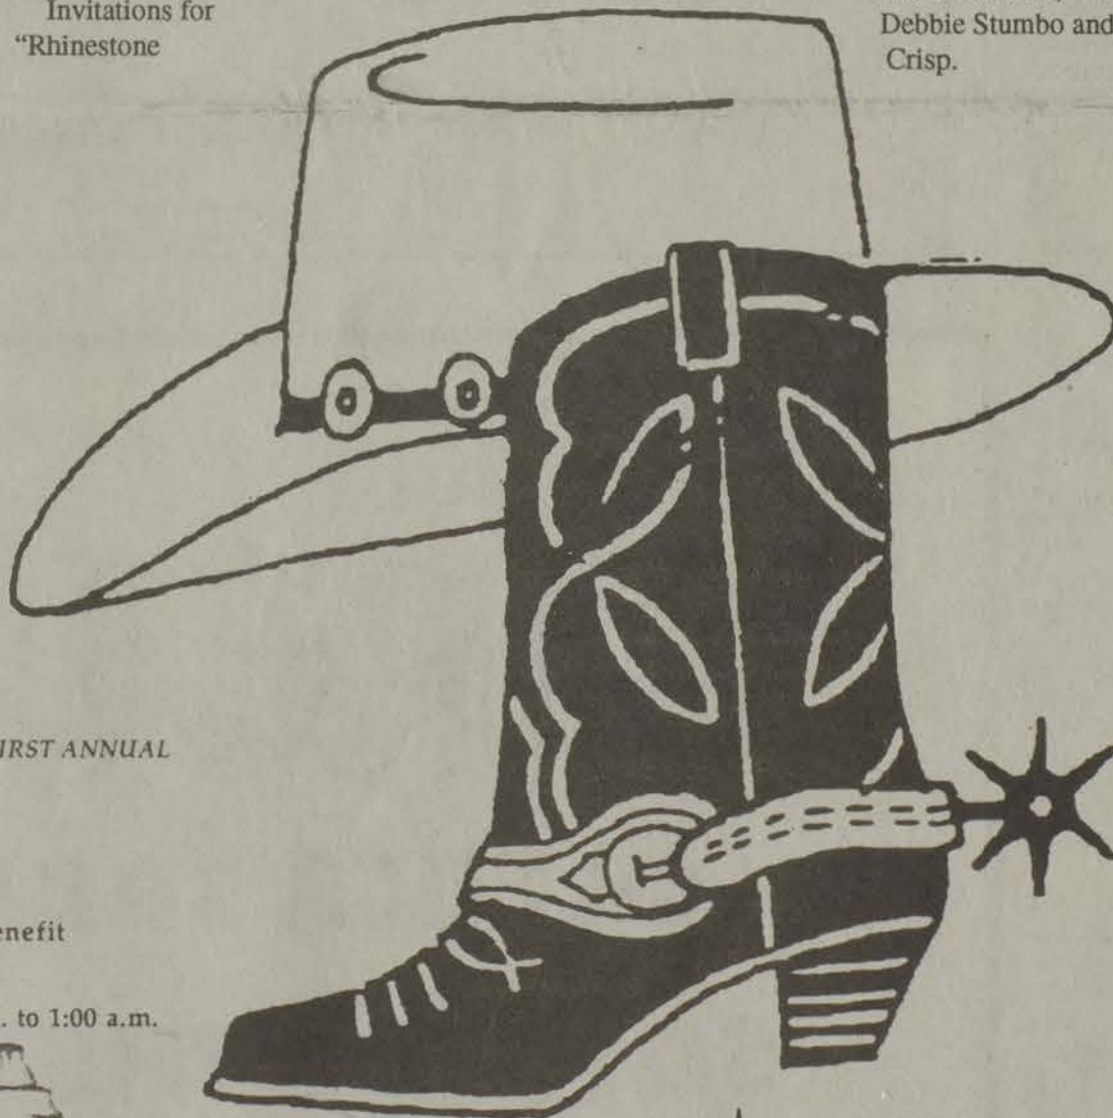

Items for the audible auction, which will be conducted by Bill Gibson, are impressive. They include:

- A trip for four to Mountain Chalet at Gatlinburg.
 - A getaway weekend for two and one night's lodging in Chicago.
 - A two-bedroom condo or villa in Orlando, Florida, for five nights.
- Smaller items will be included in the silent auction.
- Invitations for "Rhinestone

Cowboy" are in the mail this week, Fannin said. Persons interested in attending should make reservations by April 22, she said. Reservations can be made by calling 886-7977.

Committee members, in addition to Fannin, for the Floyd County American Cancer Society's "Rhinestone Cowboy Gala" are Cindy Meade and Mary Neeley, co-chairwomen and Susan Martin, Shelia Osborne, Wilma Smith, Debbie Stumbo and Rhonda Crisp.

Durbin to headline Rhinestone Gala

Country western singer Judie Durbin will headline the American Cancer Society's "Rhinestone Cowboy Gala" Saturday, April 30, at the Jenny Wiley Convention Center.

Durbin, a resident of Owensboro, will perform with the Grand Ole Opry this August. She performed during the Hillbilly Days celebration last week in Pike County.

A native of Virgie in Pike County, Durbin was a volunteer for the American Cancer Society. She was a member of the Junior Woman's Club and the 4-H Council.

Durbin moved to Owensboro in March of 1992 and became a teller by day and a country music singer by night. She began singing at the Goldies Opryhouse. Then she sang every weekend at two popular Owensboro country western bars, the End Zone and Off-Second Street.

Durbin bought a Karaoke machine and now she sings just about any country song a Karaoke machine will play.

She says, though, that she does have her favorite songs. Her favorite performer is Reba McEntire.

"Take It Back' is my favorite song that I do of hers, but I just like them all," she said.

She also performs a few songs she wrote herself.

Durbin said she can't remember a time when she didn't sing.

"I sang in church, at school, 4-H and any place I got the chance."

These days, she's still performing anywhere she gets the chance, including company picnics, the Moose Lodge, Kiwanis clubs, and even her own wedding.

When Durbin married her husband, Ron, the couple dressed in true country western style. The bride was dressed in fringe and cowboy boots.

Her groom was decked out in a vest and Stetson.

The couple were married at an altar in the yard of their new home.

Their guests sat on bales of hay. During the wedding the bride and groom shared their talent by singing their vows to each other.

Husband Ron sings back-up for Durbin. He also operates the Karaoke machine and serves as Durbin's manager.

DOG MAKES NIGHTS AT HOME AN ADVENTURE

Our son's sighting in the living room sent our hearts pounding with panic.

"She's got something in her mouth! She's got something in her mouth!" he yelled.

Few things can send you scrambling like a toddler about to swallow a dangerous object. And, given how our 1-year-old daughter is a master at putting us through the drill, huge warning flags went up in our heads.

My wife got there first. With her right index finger curled like a hook, she went fishing in our baby girl's mouth for the item that threatened to choke her.

She came up empty. We feared the worst. "No!" our son Joshua yelled again, "not her. Taffy's got something in her mouth!"

We put our hearts back in our chests and realized he meant the Lhasa Apso of the house.

Our caramel-colored mutt had sneaked off with another of our daughter's toys she isn't supposed to have. Our 4-year-old son wanted to make sure the dog didn't get away with it.

But Taffy has been getting away with turning our evenings into stress fests for months now.

"I think that dog really gets to you," my wife says to me.

I always deny it, but I never convince her. Maybe it has to do with that tense, harried look that comes with my reply.

Or maybe it's that I realize having a dog doesn't always leave us in as much control as we might like.

LEARNING TO ADJUST

I started learning that lesson right after we brought the pup home.

We kept her barricaded in the kitchen then for housebreaking. But she never seemed to do what we wanted her to do.

She would stay outside for an hour only to come in and go to the bathroom five minutes later on the floor. I couldn't come home and speak to her without her wetting the floor from excitement.

She got to be such a hassle and so much work that we tried to give her away or sell her. We even put a classified advertisement in this newspaper but canceled it the first day it appeared.

We realized we would have a bigger problem on our hands if we broke a little boy's heart. But my wife still insists I had another motive.

"You're really the one who loves that dog," she said.

Just because the flea bag always seemed to wind up in my lap and just because I stopped to scratch her belly each time she flopped over didn't mean a thing.

"I was just thinking of the boy," I said.

And no matter how much our son likes her I can't help but yearn for the pre-dog days of peace and quiet.

HARD TO RELAX

The commotion at night usually starts when Taffy grabs toys or clothes and our son runs after her. The giggling and the growling fill the house. Eventually, they both get mad.

Then we have to intervene.

"Taffy, put that down."

"Joshua, quit chasing her."

Just when we think we can relax, the rough stuff starts. Our son falls on the dog and she responds with a bark and bite.

"Joshua, stop kicking Taffy."

"Taffy, stop biting Joshua."

I'm intrigued at how he can pound her yet be first to her defense when she gets in trouble.

"Don't you be mean to my dog," he says.

Go figure.

Once that fire is out, we usually have another one to hose when Taffy licks our daughter in the face.

"Taffy, get away from her face!"

"Jordan, don't chew on Taffy's toys."

Excuse me, but this nightly nerves exercise isn't exactly my idea of a relaxing evening at home.

But I've got to give Taffy her due. She uses the bathroom where she's supposed to now, though she still waits to the last minute before heading outside. Our kids adore her.

Despite the thumpings she takes from them, Taffy is always their friend.

And she does know to rest when bedtime comes.

"Now," my son said to me after one evening of frazzle, "now we have peace and quiet."

Now if I can just learn how to keep enough wits to enjoy it.

THE RED FOX OF THE MOUNTAINS, 7
Dr. M. B. Taylor, The Red Fox of the Mountains, was tried for the murder of moonshiner-bootlegger Ira Mullins and four others who were killed at Pound Gap, Virginia, on May 14, 1892.

Jane Mullins, widow of Wilson Mullins, was the chief witness against The Red Fox. She told of the hatred between him and Old Ira Mullins and swore that she heard The Fox's voice during the ambush.

She thought the other two men were Cal and Heenan Fleming of Pound, Virginia, although their faces were partially covered during the ambush. The Flemings were still at large.

It was noted during the trial that the Fox was absent from his post of duty on the night prior to the murders and every day afterwards. It was pointed out that, following the ambush, the former doctor made every effort to evade the law.

The physical evidence was also damaging to the Fox. Numerous spent shell casings were found near the murder scene which has since become known as Killing Rock. Some of the cartridges were from a 50x75 Winchester. Only three guns of the kind were known to be in the area and the Fox had one of them.

The Fox claimed that his Winchester was center-fire, with the hammering mechanism striking the center of the bullet, whereas the shells found at the ambush scene were rim-fired, that is, struck on the rim of the cartridge. His defense was damaged during examination when it was determined that his Winchester had been tinkered with.

The Fox was found guilty of murder in the first degree and taken to Lynchburg, Virginia, for safekeeping.

Dr. M. B. Taylor, the Fox, wore a white suit made from a damask tablecloth to a hearing on his sanity and sentencing. He requested that his wife make the suit for him.

"Have you anything to say for yourself," an uneasy Judge Morrison, hearing his first capital case, asked the famed Red Fox of the Mountains. "Is there any reason why the sentence of death should not be pronounced on you?"

The crowded courtroom hushed as the defendant rose unsteadily and grasped a bannister for support. One side of the Fox's face was a picture of kindness while an evil grimace appeared on the other as his dual character appeared as he spoke.

"No, but I have a friend here who will speak for me," he finally responded.

"Of course, who will it be?" the judge asked, expecting it to be the Fox's wife, sitting nearby.

"Jesus Christ," the defendant answered sharply as the judge reverently bowed his head for an instant. "Will you hear him?"

"Yes," the judge answered, not knowing what to expect.

A chill had fallen over the courtroom. The Fox took his Bible from his pocket and began reading several passages having to do with false witnesses. He interpreted several passages to indicate his innocence and explained other passages, saying hellfire and damnation awaited his enemies.

"That's enough Mr. Taylor," Judge Morrison finally interrupted after determining that no further light was being shed on the case. "I'll not allow you to use the sacred name of Christ for your selfish purposes."

Judge Morrison then announced the sentence of hanging to be carried out in Wise, Virginia, on October 27, 1893.

Dr. M. B. Taylor, the Red Fox of the Mountains, was doomed.

Local ag program will help to open the watering holes

With summer (hopefully) approaching, local livestock owners might be interested to know the U.S. Department of Agriculture offers assistance on developing watering sources for their livestock as part of the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

Through ACP, the farmers may receive cost sharing assistance for the drilling of wells, developing springs or seeps, or livestock ponds if practice meets certain Program criteria.

Cost-sharing is established at 50 percent of necessary eligible materials and services as approved by the local ASCS Committee. Low income applicants may receive up to 80% of the cost if approved as low income.

Cost sharing is also available on sod waterways, diversion ditches, water impoundment reservoirs, permanent vegetative cover on critical areas (including logging roads), tree planting and timberstand improvement.

For further information, contact your local ASCS Office by calling 886-8738 (Wednesdays) or 785-5402.

All ASCS programs are administered without regard to race, color, sex, religion, national origin, handicap, age or marital status.

Mission: Unmowable?

By Bob Tracinski

John Deere Consumer Information Manager

Good morning, Mr. Phelps. Your mission this spring—should you choose to accept it—is to mow your yard properly and safely to enjoy the other pleasures of the season. Remember: An attractive lawn is vital to the environment and the security of your property values.

Sometimes, even the spy business can seem easier than the obstacles and rugged terrain many of us face every time we mow our lawn. But with a few simple safety tips in mind, you can complete your assignment without a nick or scratch—to you or your mower blade.

First, do a little reconnaissance. Patrol your yard for branches, twigs, stones, pine cones...any object that could cause damage when hurled by a whirling mower blade. Discard or recycle these objects.

Rake up any leftover fall leaves that could conceal potential U.F.O.s, or "unwanted flying objects." And make it a habit to check your yard before each mowing. The few extra minutes you spend surveying your lawn could save an expensive trip to a dealership or repair shop or, worse yet, a visit to the doctor.

If twigs, leaves or other debris clog your mower's discharge chute, turn off your mower immediately. With a walk-behind mower, be sure to disconnect the spark plug wire to keep the engine from restarting if you accidentally turn the blade while examining the mowing chamber. With a riding mower, turn the ignition key to "off." In either case, don't touch hot engine or exhaust surfaces and carefully use a stick or tool to dislodge the debris. Never use your hands or feet to clear a clog!

These same tips should be followed if you accidentally run over an object. If you've hit a glass bottle or plastic toy, for example, cautiously remove all shards blown into the lawn. These pieces can be extremely dangerous if hurled outward from the mowing chamber. Inspect your mower, too, before you restart it. If the blade or any safety devices or mechanisms are damaged, have a qualified technician repair the mower before you use it again.

Some mowing obstacles are more permanent, like slopes, embankments and drop-offs. These, too, can be navigated safely by remembering some simple rules.

Mow across slopes in your yard if you're using a walk-behind mower. If you were to slip and fall, your mower would be less likely to roll on top of you. Do the opposite with a riding mower: Mow up and down slopes for greater stability.

Hills too steep to mow safely shouldn't be mowed at all. Add a decorative ground cover or plant the area in native wildflowers. Steer clear, too, of embankments and drop-offs. Fill, level and cover any low spots or depressions that could turn an ankle.

Regardless of your terrain, always keep family members, especially children, far away from the area you're mowing to protect them from flying debris. Never take passengers on a riding mower. And be particularly careful when backing up with riding or walk-behind mowers.

Luckily, mowing safety tips aren't closely guarded secrets. So share these hints with your family, friends and neighbors, and you can all enjoy weekly reruns of Mission: Mowable this spring!

Here are a couple of questions about mowing safety I'm often asked: What's the best technique for mowing in tight areas?

Mow in a forward direction as much as possible, since it's easier to see where you're mowing and to keep your balance. If you have to mow a tight area in back-and-forth fashion, remember to always move slowly and look behind you when backing up. Consider using a weed trimmer or combination trimmer-edger for these areas. Add ground cover to areas that can't be mowed safely.

What about trimming around trees?

First, landscape with mowing in mind. Remember that small saplings can grow into large trees, so be sure to leave ample mowing room for full-grown trees when planting. Prune low-hanging branches that could interfere with your vision while mowing or knock you off balance. Remove a one- to three-foot circle of grass around the base of your trees and fill the circle with pine straw or a soft mulch, like shredded tree bark. This makes trimming faster and easier. It also helps protect your trees from potential bumps, nicks and scratches.

Plant tomatoes in sunny spot

Gardeners will gain nothing by planting seedling tomatoes out before night temperatures remain above 50°F. If spring stays chilly, transplanting them into larger pots is a good idea if you have room to keep them well-lighted and warm.

Plant out only the stockiest plants with healthy, well-developed root systems. Pick a sunny spot with well-drained soil that has been amended with ample organic matter.

"Harden off" your seedlings over 4 to 6 days to get them used to outdoor conditions. Do this by putting them out in a protected shady spot for first a half day, then a full day, and then move them gradually into full sun. Try to transplant seedlings on an overcast day or in the late afternoon to minimize stress. Set tomato plants 3 feet apart and several inches deeper in the soil than they were in the container. Plants will form roots along the buried stem. Firm soil around the plants and water thoroughly but gently.

Tall growing "indeterminate" varieties of tomatoes (meaning plants that will keep growing, blooming, and setting tomatoes throughout the season until frost kills them) need strong supports. Use sturdy stakes or make or buy wire tomato cages at least 5 feet tall and tie plants loosely with soft string or torn rags as they grow up. "Determinate" or bush tomatoes need only 2 to 3 foot supports.

Keep plants evenly moist but not soggy. Mulching with compost, dried manure, or other organic material is a good way to maintain an even moisture balance. Alternating wet and dry causes cracking and blossom end rot in ripe fruit.

Women's History Month celebrated

Justice Janet Stumbo

State Supreme Court Justice Janet Stumbo was the guest speaker for the celebration of Women's History Month at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center on Thursday, March 31.

Stumbo, speaking before the student body and staff, discussed five women — Sophencia Breckinridge, Emma Cramwell, Thelma Stovall, Laura Clay and Martha Layne Collins — who have made a difference.

Sophencia Breckinridge became the first woman lawyer in 1897 and the first woman to receive a Ph.D. in Physical Science in the time Breckinridge applied to the Kentucky Supreme Court to be tested for her law license, most states did not have to grant them to women.

After being questioned intensely for three hours, the Justices granted Breckinridge a law license. She opened her law practice in her hometown, but the practice later failed because she was a woman, Stumbo said.

Breckinridge returned to school to receive her degree in physical science. She later established the first home for wayward women.

Emma Cramwell was elected to public office before women had the right to vote. She served as state law librarian and in 1923 became secretary of state. She is credited with finding and restoring the original Kentucky constitution. She also served as interim governor several times during the absence of the governor.

Thelma Stovall used her authority as acting governor to veto the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. She began her career in 1949, and she served for 29 years as state representative. She was secretary of state for three years and state treasurer for two. She also served as lieutenant governor.

Laura Clay, daughter of Cassius Clay, is known for her role in the Women's Rights Movement. Clay spent her life fighting for the cause of women, Stumbo told the group.

Clay was the first president of the Equal Rights Association in 1857. Her father was vehemently opposed and he said that the Women's Rights Movement would be the road to atheism.

The last woman Justice Stumbo cited as an example of Women Who Have Made A Difference was former governor Martha Layne Collins. When Collins was elected governor, she was one of only 13 women in the nation who had obtained the highest office in their respective states.

Stumbo explained that these women did not accomplish what they set out to do the first time. She explained that they accomplished their goals through perseverance, hard work and self-knowledge.

Stumbo also used her own career as an example of the obstacles women find in their paths. Women can overcome these obstacles, Stumbo said. She encourage the center's students to believe in themselves and told them success was within their grasps.

Stumbo told the students to not settle for second best, but to set their sights high.

"Don't think you can't do it even though it's never been done before," Stumbo said.

Battling lung cancer in Kentucky

First the depressing statistics. Lung cancer is the leading cause of cancer-related mortality in Kentucky, accounting for 35 percent of cancer-related deaths in 1991. The rate has steadily increased from 1975 to 1989. U.S. Department of Health and Human Services figures for 1984-88 show Kentucky slightly trailing only Nevada nationwide in its death rate from lung cancer. Kentucky's rate per 100,000 people was 60.3 deaths while Nevada's was 60.4.

Despite these numbers, and the human suffering behind them, there has never been a coordinated effort in Kentucky to deal with lung cancer, according to UK oncologist Phillip DeSimone. "One reason might be," says DeSimone, who began his medical career at UK in 1967 as an intern, "that lung-cancer is very difficult to treat; people get discouraged because unlike some other cancers, lung cancer doesn't often respond well to radiation or chemotherapy."

Because of what DeSimone calls a "great need for developing more effective treatment," he has begun work with a team of UK medical experts to try to reverse the statistics. With several new pieces of equipment now in place—high-dose-rate radiation equipment, a bronchoscope with video monitor, and a new X-ray system with a fluoroscope (which can examine deep bodily structures)—the project will soon be underway.

Screening for lung cancer is the first step, says DeSimone. "Though in the past screening for lung cancer hasn't proven to be that beneficial, some recent studies show that if you screen heavy smokers over the age of 50, screening can be effective." Those who come in for screening will have to pay a fee for X-rays and other lab work, but the cost will be minimal, says DeSimone.

"One advantage to participants is that a whole team of doctors will be located right on site at the Markey Cancer Center," says DeSimone. "Oncologists, radiation therapists, pulmonary specialists and a surgeon are all involved in the program."

A major component of the project is treatment. DeSimone says that through screening some cancers might be detected in an earlier stage and that the group's interdisciplinary approach will allow the researchers to combine several strategies to treat lung-cancer patients. One method of treatment involves Vitamin A, which, according to DeSimone, has been shown to be effective in patients with "initial abnormal cancer-like appearance" in the lungs. "The Vitamin A we'll be using is called Accutane," says DeSimone. "The patients in this study—people who have had lung cancer that has been cured by surgery—will be taking it daily for three years.

Another component of the study, which will run until the year 2000, is educational. Participants will be given information on the effects of smoking and passive smoke. If you would like information about the possibility of becoming a participant in this study, call Dr. Phillip DeSimone at (606) 281-4919 or (606) 257-4491.

We Do Chicken Right.

Sunshine Lines

by Beverly Carroll

Senior Citizens, I'm suffering from a wonderful case of Spring fever. The sunshine does something for me, especially after trudging, slipping and sliding through the hard winter we all experienced.

Last evening my husband and I hunted land fish. No luck. This weekend I am looking forward to taking my rod and reel, tackle box, folding chair, a good book, some worms and chicken livers, and do some serious fishing.

Last year I caught a rug and several tree limbs. I didn't know I had hooked them until I woke up. A lot of big ones got away. All summer I tugged and pulled, only to reel in one broken line after the other. This year though, I'll do better. I'll dig worms from the other end of our property and use livers from different chickens.

Fishing relaxes me and it gives me a break from "Honey do..." "Honey, do you know where my hammer is?" "Honey, do you know what I did with those deck screws?" "Honey, do you know where the electric drill is? Bring the drill bits, too, will you please? And while you are at it, Honey, do you mind bringing me a glass of water?"

Other than his having to find things for himself, my husband doesn't mind it when I go fishing. He knows I love being near the water and he knows I'll bring back an empty stringer. The day is coming, though, when I will say, "Honey, do you mind cleaning these fish?"

Well, I may not be a serious fisherwoman, but I am serious when it comes to our senior citizens and their needs. Legal Services in Prestonsburg, who sponsors the Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties, is serious about your needs, too. Without the concern and cooperation of this newspaper, we would not be able to reach senior citizens who have needs.

Oftentimes those needs are very serious. The Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens is here to help you get those benefits that are legally and rightfully yours. We're here for you, without charge. If you have a need we want to know about it. If there is any way our program can assist in helping you to meet that need, we want to do that, too. That's not a fish story. That's fact! Call me at 1-800-556-3876 if you have a need or want information about our services.

Now, do you want to hear another one?

This is a story you senior citizens can really sink your teeth into. And, more than that, you can become involved in this catch—hook, line and sinker.

I suppose I was at the right place at the right time. But this week I was offered a fantastic opportunity on your behalf. WPRG, Channel 5 in Harold, offered me the opportunity to host a monthly variety show exclusively for senior citizens. You, my friends, will be in the spotlight. Beginning Thursday evening, May 5, at 7 p.m., and the first Thursday evening of each month thereafter, one of you will be the star attraction.

Each show will consist of two segments. One part of it will deal with a different aspect of the Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens. The other part will highlight a senior citizen from one of the five counties served from my office—his/her special talent, ability, hobby, interest, achievement, attribute, or humanitarian endeavor. On occasion we might even have a senior citizen panel or an Oprah-Geraldo-Sally format. There are a whole slew of ideas swimming around just waiting to capture your interest.

For more information on how you, or an interesting senior citizen you know, can be a television star, call today, toll-free at 1-800-556-3876, and ask for a Senior Citizen Star 5 application.

Free tickets for audience participation are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Seating capacity is limited. Senior Citizens, this one's for you! You can thank Dr. Don Bevins, the Diamond Lady, and WPRG management for hooking this one for you.

All I did was reel it in. Maybe it's not so bad to catch something besides fish after all. Well, senior citizens, if we don't meet down by the river, we'll meet on the air real soon.

No one can be original by trying.

Golden Ages

Safety tips for older drivers

By the year 2020, the number of licensed drivers over age 75 will more than double to 17.5 million, according to Lowell Beck, president of the National Association of Independent Insurers.

The growing population of older drivers, and the number of auto accidents involving them, raises concerns about highway safety and questions about what can be done to help senior citizens remain drivers for as long as possible.

Men over the age of 80 have the highest auto accident death rate of all drivers, and women between the ages of 80 and 84 have motor vehicle death rates equal to teenaged girls aged 16 through 19—even though fewer elderly people have licenses compared with younger groups, and they drive fewer miles.

The rate of fatal auto accidents for both males and females begins to increase at age 65.

"As we get older, we process information, make decisions and react more slowly, while our hearing and vision decline," said Beck. Night vision also is affected and it gets harder to see in poor light. "Reflexes aren't as quick and many elderly people take prescription and non-prescription drugs that impair vision, equilibrium, judgment and reaction time," he added.

When older drivers do get into accidents, they may be more vulnerable to injury. Federal car safety regulations are geared to protect 5 foot-10 inch, 170 pound men involved in 30 miles-an-hour head-on crashes. But the elderly typically aren't that big and they often get hit on the side. Their short stature may force them to sit close to the steering wheel, which increases the chance of injury from airbag deployments.

Almost half of the accidents involving the elderly occur at intersections, and elderly drivers are more likely than younger ones to be ticketed for failure to yield, improper turns and running stop signs.

Beck advises senior citizens to be safe drivers by:

- keeping a safe distance from the car in front of them;

- avoiding driving during rush hours;
- avoiding driving if they are on medication that may affect their skills;
- limiting their driving in congested areas, or on limited access roads with high speed traffic and complex interchanges;
- pacing themselves while driving by planning shorter trips and taking frequent breaks;
- limiting night driving and driving during inclement weather;
- using extra caution when approaching intersections.

Beck also advises older drivers to take a defensive driving course that is specifically designed to help them be aware of the physiological changes that may affect their reaction time, reflexes, and other driving-related skills. Information regarding courses and schools can be found through state driver licensing offices, the American Association of Retired Persons or state chapter of the National Safety Council.

For example, the AARP 55 ALIVE/Mature Driving course increases the awareness of aging as it affects driving, offers compensating techniques, provides a thorough review of the rules of the road and emphasizes defensive driving techniques.

"Taking extra precautions not only protects you from unexpected accidents but also from higher insurance rates," said Beck. Some insurance companies offer discounts on their automobile policies for people over 50 who have good driving records. It is best to check with your own company to find out whether they offer the safe driving incentive, what courses qualify and the amount of the discount.

Long term care residents have a voice

Ombudsman is a Swedish word meaning citizen representative. The Kentucky Long Term Care Ombudsman Program serves as a professional advocate for those persons who may experience difficulty speaking or acting for themselves. The LTC Ombudsman Programs have four specific responsibilities: to investigate and seek resolution to concerns of residents of the LTC facilities; to act as advocates for residents of LTC facilities; to review and comment on legislation affecting the elderly; and to publicize the existence of the Ombudsman Program.

The structure of the Kentucky Long Term Care Ombudsman Program is as follows: In 1979 the federal government mandated that every state appoint a full-time State LTC Ombudsman.

In Kentucky that individual is Gary Hammonds. He operates out of the Division of Aging in the Cabinet for Human Resources, located in Frankfort. His responsibilities include responsibility for the general program procedures and protocols; maintaining a toll-free line for reporting of complaints and concerns; monitoring contract compliance; and providing training and technical assistance to sub-state Ombudsman Programs.

The state ombudsman is assisted by three regional ombudsmen who serve as a go-between to the sub-state Ombudsman Programs.

Mrs. Quinn Van Nostran, the Eastern Regional Ombudsman, located in Ashland, has the responsibility for the eastern counties, which include the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Currently there are 15 local Ombudsman Programs which have the responsibility for their respective Area Development Districts. Also, there are approximately 250 volunteer ombudsmen within the local programs.

The Big Sandy Area Development District Ombudsman is Mary Anne Hall, Big Sandy Area Development District, 100 Resource Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653, 606/886-2374 or 1-800-737-2723.

Dedication

Former McDowell ARH administrator Edward Collins received a plaque from Ruby Akers, auxiliary representative, during a dedication ceremony at McDowell ARH's new hospital chapel.

McDowell ARH Hospital holds dedication of hospital chapel

McDowell ARH Hospital held the dedication ceremony for its newly constructed chapel on March 20, at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Charles N. Wilcox officiating. The invocation was delivered by Rev. James Smith and special music was provided by Rev. Don Fraley Jr., and his wife, Priscilla. Rev. Troy Poff provided scripture readings from Psalms, Romans and II Corinthians.

Janet Faubert, McDowell ARH pharmacist, presented a picture for use in the chapel in memory of John B. Adams, a former member of the chaplaincy program at McDowell ARH Hospital.

Ruby Akers, McDowell ARH Auxiliary representative, presented a former administrator, Edward V. Collins with a plaque in honor of his years of dedicated service to McDowell ARH Hospital. Jerry Haynes, administrator-McDowell ARH Hospital, received the plaque from Mr. Collins, and it will be placed in the chapel also.

Mr. Haynes expressed his appreciation to the hospital auxiliaries for the chapel furniture and flower arrangement; Janet Faubert for her donation of the picture; The Bottom Drawer Flower Shop for a donation of a flower arrangement; children of Annette Turner for the brass candlesticks and candles; McDowell First Baptist Church and Fred McGinnis for the donation of Bibles and Berton Collins for an oak Bible holder.

He further thanked the members of the Hospital Chaplaincy program for being available when needed and the hospital maintenance employees for their preparation.

Following Mr. Haynes' expressions of appreciation, the Litany of Dedication was read followed by a prayer of dedication by Rev. Terry Hamilton and benediction by Fred McGinnis.

Refreshments were served following the ceremony which were provided by the Hospital Dietary Department.

Federal grants to fund projects in coal communities

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers announced Friday that $2 million in federal grant funds will be made available to help Kentucky communities recover from the loss of coal industry-related jobs.

The funding is a result of a provision written by Rogers and included with the 1994 funding bill for the Economic Development Administration (EDA), an agency within the U.S. Department of Commerce. Rogers, ranking member of the House appropriations subcommittee for EDA, helped write the bill.

Rogers' provision directed the agency to place a priority on funding economic development projects in communities suffering from job losses in the coal industry.

In response to the provision, the EDA plans to provide an additional $2 million for economic development projects in coal communities that have suffered severe job loss. Rogers said the action is intended to benefit the State of Kentucky, which has lost nearly 6,400 mining-related jobs over the past five years, the vast majority of those located in Eastern Kentucky counties. According to Rogers, EDA will begin working with area development districts and eligible local communities to identify projects for funding.

"This is good news for communities hard-hit by job losses in our Eastern Kentucky coal counties," said Rogers. "These funds will help support local efforts to create projects that provide new job opportunities for people in our region."

Rogers said he has been in touch with EDA officials both in Washington and Kentucky to ensure that the funding is quickly put to good use. "I have spoken with Assistant Commerce Secretary William Ginsburg, the head of EDA, to review his plans for identifying projects, and have been assured that Kentucky EDA officials will begin working with these funds immediately."

Sears seeks entrepreneurs to open retail dealer store in Prestonsburg

Sears Merchandise Group announced it is seeking entrepreneurs to open a retail store in Prestonsburg. The store will offer customers appliances, electronics and lawn and garden equipment. There are more than 220 of these stores in operation nationwide, including seven in Kentucky.

"This new retail format offers customers the merchandise they want, such as our popular Kenmore and Craftsman products and other national brands, while providing a profitable business opportunity for an independent owner and Sears," said Steve Titus, divisional vice president of Sears dealer store program.

On average, the retail dealer stores have 4,000 to 6,000 square feet of selling space, and are owned by independent dealers who operate on a commission for merchandise sold.

Under the agreement between Sears and the authorized retail dealer, Sears stocks the store and provides the signage and cash register. The dealer provides the facility and hires the employees. There is no up-front payment required by Sears to enter into the agreement.

The dealer stores receive support from the Sears retail network, which includes systems and distribution support and Sears national marketing and advertising campaigns. The stores accept SearsCharge, Discover Card, VISA, MasterCard and American Express, as well as personal checks and cash for payment.

Like the Brand Central departments at larger Sears stores, the stores offer major home appliances from nationally recognized brands such as Kenmore, Whirlpool, Tappan, General Electric and Kitchen Aid. Clothes washers and dryers, refrigerators, chest freezers ranges, dishwashers, microwave ovens, and range hoods are all available. The stores also offer vacuum cleaners from Kenmore, Eureka and Hoover.

In consumer electronics, customers can shop for TVs, VCRs, camcorders, and stereo systems from leading manufacturers such as Sony, RCA, Pioneer, Magnavox and Zenith.

Craftsman brand equipment is available, including lawn mowers, tractors and tractor accessories, chippers, edgers, blowers, hedge trimmers, weed trimmers, chain saws, and tillers. Kenmore water heaters and water softeners also are available.

Interested parties are encouraged to call Sears at 1-800-827-1350.

Fear of misfortune is worse than the misfortune.

COUNTRY LEMON TART
 Crust
 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 1 egg yolk
 1/3 cup finely chopped pecans
 3 tbsp. confectioners' sugar
 1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine, softened
 1/4 tsp. salt
 Filling

 1 cup sugar
 1 tsp. flour
 3 tbsp. lemon juice
 1 1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
 Confectioners' sugar

Preheat oven to 350°. Lightly grease a 9-inch pie plate. To prepare crust, combine flour, egg yolk, pecans, sugar, butter and salt in mixing bowl. Blend with a fork. Fork dough into ball. Dust fingertips with flour. Press evenly into bottom and up sides of prepared pie plate. Bake 10 minutes.

To prepare filling, combine eggs, sugar, flour, lemon juice and peel in mixing bowl; stir until smooth. Pour into baked crust. Bake 20 to 25 minutes or until filling is set. Cool completely on wire rack. Dust lightly with confectioners' sugar. Store covered in refrigerator. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

LEMON MARMALADE
 10 large lemons
 4 cups water
 4 cups sugar
 Fabric circles and ribbon (optional)

Using vegetable peeler, remove yellow part of peel in strips from lemons. Cut strips from lemons. Cut strips into 1-by 1/8-inch strips. With knife, cut off all white membrane, or pith, from peeled lemons. Cut peeled lemons crosswise into 1/4-inch thick slices. In heavy non-aluminum 5-quart kettle or Dutch oven, combine lemon peel, sliced fruit, and water. Cover and refrigerate 3 to 4 hours. Heat lemon mixture to boiling over high heat, stirring frequently. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer, stirring occasionally, until lemon mixture is very soft—about 1 hour. Add sugar to lemon mixture and increase heat to medium-high; stir until sugar dissolves. Heat to boiling and reduce heat just so mixture boils gently. Boil uncovered, stirring frequently, until candy thermometer registers 220°—45 to 60 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare three 1-pint canning jars with their lids and bands for processing following manufacturer's directions. Spoon marmalade into hot jars, leaving 1/4-inch space on top of jars. Wipe jar rims clean. Seal with lids and bands. Process jars in boiling water bath 15 minutes. Cool jars on wire rack. Label jars; store in cool, dry place. Makes about 6 cups.

REDDI-WIP WARM LEMON PUDDING WITH BISCUITS
 Sauce
 1 tbsp. white rum
 1 cup granulated sugar
 1 cup lemon juice
 15 egg yolks
 1 can Reddi-wip

Mix rum, sugar, lemon juice and egg yolks in medium saucepan. Whisk constantly, cooking on moderate heat until mixture thickens. Transfer to a bowl and set in ice bath to cool. When cool, fold in one can of Reddi-wip blending until smooth.

Biscuits
 2 1/4 cups flour
 1/2 cup granulated sugar
 1 tsp. baking powder
 3/4 tsp. salt
 1 cup plus 2 tbsp. unsalted butter
 1/2 cup heavy cream
 1/4 cup buttermilk

Heat oven to 350°. Combine flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in large bowl. Cut in butter until mixture is coarse and mealy. Add cream and buttermilk; knead until dough forms a ball. Place dough on floured surface and roll to 1-inch thickness. Using a 2 3/4-inch biscuit cutter, cut out 8 biscuits (it will be necessary to re-roll dough). Place on cookie sheet and bake for 25 to 30 minutes, or until biscuits have risen and are golden. To serve, split biscuits in half. Place one half on serving dish. Spoon some of the lemon pudding on biscuit. Top with remaining biscuit. Garnish with Reddi-wip and a lemon slice.

Pecan-Cheese Squares
 1/2 cup pecans, finely chopped
 6 tbsp. butter or margarine (3/4 stick)

Sugar
 1 cup finely crushed vanilla wafers (about 25 cookies)
 Salt
 2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
 2 eggs
 1 tsp. vanilla extract
 1/2 cup heavy or whipping cream
 9 strawberries

In small bowl, place pecans. Cook at high (100 percent power) 3 1/2 minutes, stirring after 1 1/2 minutes and 30 seconds thereafter, until pecans are lightly toasted; set aside. In 8" by 8" baking dish, place butter or margarine and 2 tbsp. sugar. Cover with waxed paper. Cook at high 1 1/2 minutes or until butter or margarine melts. Stir in vanilla wafer crumbs, 1/8 tsp. salt, and toasted pecans until crumbs are evenly moistened. Press crumbs mixture onto bottom. Place baking dish on inverted saucer in microwave oven. Cook, uncovered, at medium (50 percent power) 6 minutes, rotating dish a quarter turn every 2 minutes. Cook completely on rack. In small bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat cream cheese, 1/2 cup sugar, and 1/8 tsp. salt until smooth. Then beat in eggs until mixture is light and fluffy, about 3 minutes, occasionally scraping bowl with rubber spatula. Reduce speed to low; beat in vanilla extract. Spoon cream-cheese mixture into 2-quart bowl. Cook, uncovered, at medium 8 to 10 minutes, stirring mixture briskly every 2 minutes, until mixture thickens slightly. Spoon mixture onto cooled crust; refrigerate 3 hours or until mixture is set. To serve, dip baking dish into about 1-inch hot water to loosen crust from dish. Cut into squares and place on individual dessert dishes. In small bowl, with mixer at medium speed, beat heavy or whipping cream until soft peaks form. Spoon a dollop of whipped cream onto each serving. Top with a strawberry.
