Proposal to privatize collection service is tabled :

"Done deal" on garbage undone by court

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

An apparent done deal was undone Tuesday when the Floyd County's Fiscal Court tabled a decision on a proposal that would privatize the county's garbage collection program, indicating they wanted time to compare the plan to other offers.

Floyd Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo, however, said after Tuesday's meeting that the magistrates were fully aware of a proposal offered by Rumpke of Kentucky to handle the disposal of solid waste in Floyd County.

The proposal, submitted by County Attorney Jim Hammond, would turn over garbage collection and disposal to Rumpke of Kentucky, a Cincinnati, Ohio, company with similar contracts in other parts of the state.

Hammond indicated Tuesday that he had negotiated the deal with Rumpke prior to the opening Monday of proposals from companies interested in providing solid waste services in Floyd and eight other Eastern Kentucky counties.

As noted by Hammond, Rumpke's proposal would include household collection—at a price of $10 per month. Other companies apparently had not been given the opportunity to bid collection services under specifications advertised in a request for proposals.

Rumpke, in fact, did not include a bid for household collections in the company's proposal opened Monday, indicating that those services had apparently been negotiated outside the bid specifications.

Judge-Executive Stumbo said Tuesday that he and Hammond had negotiated the proposal with Rumpke and that magistrates were informed during the entire process.

Stumbo added that the $10 per month fee could be in jeopardy because the court did not approve the proposal Tuesday. He explained that Rumpke officials had ordered approximately a half million dollars worth of equipment prior to Tuesday's meeting and that the equipment order was canceled Tuesday afternoon. The company was supposed to have started collections in Floyd County, under the proposal, on June 1.

That point drew the attention of Magistrate Jackie Owens who noted that "everyone should bid on the same specs. Shouldn't other companies have the same chance to offer the same benefits?"

The proposal pushed by Hammond Tuesday suggested Rumpke would not increase the $10 rate for household collections for the five-year term of the agreement. After that period any rate increase would be tied to the Consumer Price Index.

During Tuesday's discussions, Hammond chided court-appointed solid waste custodian Bob Meyer for not agreeing that Rumpke offered the best proposal for garbage disposal for the county.

Meyer explained that he could not say that Rumpke offered the best proposal, only that all the proposals opened Monday afternoon have not been analyzed.

Hammond remarked that "it doesn't take an Einstein to look at it

At least one hurt when car, bus crash

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County student and three men were injured Friday afternoon when an auto collided with a school bus at Spurlock on Left Beaver.

A car driven by Ronnie G. Stumbo, 32, of Eastern, apparently hit the school bus driven by David B. Salyers, 44, of Eastern, at approximately 5 p.m. Friday, Kentucky State Police trooper Les Stapleton said Monday.

Stumbo's vehicle was traveling west on KY 2030 and apparently crossed the center of the roadway and struck the bus head-on which was heading east.

Witnesses told Earl Ousley, transportation director for the school system, that the bus had come to a complete stop when Stumbo's vehicle collided with it.

Twenty-one students were on the school bus at the time of the accident, Stapleton said.

One female student was taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin.

James B. Dingus, 27, and Bill Jones, 29, both of Eastern, were passengers in Stumbo's vehicle and all three men were also taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital. The extent of their injuries were not known Monday.

The accident is under investigation by trooper Stapleton.

Man acquitted of attempted murder by jury

A Floyd County man was acquitted of attempted murder and convicted of one count of first degree wanton endangerment Friday for pointing a gun at a Wheelwright policeman during a city commission meeting last January.

A jury deliberated for over four hours Friday afternoon after the two-day trial and found Rodney Thornsberry, 39, of Wheelwright, guilty of the one charge. Thornsberry pointed a gun at then Wheelwright Police Chief Bob Moore during an altercation in the meeting hall.

The jury recommended a one-year jail term for Thornsberry and that his sentence be probated on the condition that he continue psychiatric treatment for one year.

Harwell Smith, a psychologist, testified Thursday afternoon that Thornsberry suffered from several mental disabilities, including depression and schizophrenia.

Thornsberry had been indicted on 13 counts of first degree wanton endangerment because of the citizens present during the January 23, 1993, city commission meeting.

All but two of the 13 wanton endangerment counts were dismissed after witnesses testified that they did not see the gun pointed directly at them during the altercation between Thornsberry and Moore. The jury did not return a guilty verdict on the two remaining counts of first degree wanton endangerment.

Council issues warning to parking violators :

Pay us now or pay us later

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Beginning next month, Prestonsburg city officials will be cracking down on parking violators who ignore paying their tickets.

At Monday's city council meeting, council voted to have vehicles towed whose owners have received a fourth parking ticket without paying the first three.

Traffic committee chairman Danny Hamilton told council that city policemen can now keep up with the number of tickets issued to an individual by computer and, once the fourth ticket has been issued without settlement of the previous three, it will be flagged.

Hamilton also said that the committee recommended that violators be given until June 1 to dispose of prior tickets before vehicles will be towed.

Councilman Billy Ray Collins asked what the tow charge would be and asked that the city's new policy be advertised so that "people will know what's going to happen."

Councilman Estill Carter estimated that towing fees could be between $30 and $35 depending on where the vehicle is located.

Council voted unanimously to approve the new policy.

In a related issue, Hamilton recommended that the city hold traffic court on Mondays from 10 a.m. until noon for citizens to come in and try to dispose of their tickets.

Council took no action on the issue.

Also Monday:
• council held second reading of a tree ordinance;
• Councilman Carter gave an update on the downtown beautification project; and
• council authorized the fire department to hold a fireworks display after Prestonsburg High School's graduation ceremonies.

All members were present.

Two inspectors from Floyd are named by feds

U.S. Labor Secretary Robert Reich has endorsed a federal probe that resulted this week in indictments against four mine inspectors, including two from Floyd County.

Three federal mine inspectors and a former state official were named Monday in indictments returned Thursday by a federal grand jury sitting in Lexington.

Those charged included John Banks, 44, of Myra in Pike County, an inspector with the federal Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) for 17 years.

Banks was charged with taking $2,000, a shotgun, an outboard motor and a CB radio from operators of several coal mines in Pike County.

Also charged was Edward Kendrick, 56, of Melvin, a 25-year employee of MSHA.

Kendrick is charged with four counts of extortion that allege he took $800 from Old South Mining in Pike County in 1993 and another $500 from an unnamed company earlier this year.

Clifford Crum, 58, of Allen, a 17-year employee of MSHA, was indicted on a single count of extortion for allegedly accepting $200 in return for agreeing not to properly inspect Ace Collieries in Pike County.

The former state official, James Morgan, 49, of Ermine in Letcher County, was charged with extortion for allegedly promising not to cite a Pike County mine if he was paid $500 every two weeks.

The defendants were arraigned Monday in U.S. District Court in Pikeville.

Labor Secretary Reich, in a news release issued Monday, said he supported the federal probe which resulted in the indictments, adding that "Any situation that appears to compromise the integrity of the federal service must be vigorously and impartially investigated. Appropriate action must be taken based on the facts at hand. That was done in this case."

An indictment is not an indication of guilt, but a determination by a grand jury that criminal charges warrant further review.

'Caravan Kickoff' to promote safety

by Allen Blair
Appalachian News-Express

Local emergency service and transportation officials met last week, renewing plans for improved safety along U.S. 23.

The end result of discussion among the 22 attendees was a Caravan Kickoff this month and a commitment to form a traffic safety group.

The group will be called the U.S. 23 Corridor/Community Traffic Safety Program — which brings together engineering, law enforcement, education and emergency medical leaders in an effort to slow down the roadway's growing accident statistics.

Indictment against superintendent is called "a sick joke"

by Tony Fyffe
The Paintsville Herald

Hours after being charged with theft by the local grand jury last Friday, Johnson County Schools Superintendent Frank Hamilton held a press conference to deny the charges and ask for an attorney general's investigation into the process that led to the 22-count indictment.

"This is a sick joke," said C.K. Belhasen, Hamilton's attorney.

Hamilton, who announced in April that he would step down as superintendent May 31 to take another job, was not the only school official charged by the grand jury. Former Johnson Central High School Principal Steve Butcher was named in a separate theft indictment in connection with the missing sporting goods equipment.

The owners of a Pikeville sporting goods store—David and Sherry Collier—were also charged with theft in the Butcher case.

The Hamilton and Butcher indictments involve different investigations. Hamilton is accused of theft by unlawful taking for using $8,189.90 in school funds to help pay college expenses for eight Johnson County teachers. He has admitted paying for tuition and books for teachers to obtain certification in specialty fields, particularly special education.

A policy allowing such an arrangement was authorized by the local school board when he became superintendent in 1985, Hamilton said. Under the policy, teachers would have to repay the money if they didn't receive certification or teach in the local school district for a certain period of time.

"Right now, every teacher in our school system is certified," Hamilton said during his press conference Friday. "And I attribute that to the fact that we were able to get people to sacrifice going back to school ... to do that."

"So, this amazes us that this is worthy of a grand jury consideration."

Morehead State University was

Johnson counties — where accidents and safety problems are highest — will make up the group.

A preliminary meeting was held about a month ago, but no decisions were made about a formal group.

Local statistics were presented then that were alarming, to say the least.

Among Highway District 12's seven counties, two percent of all crashes from 1990 through June 1993 were fatal. Forty-three percent were injury accidents and 55 percent were only property damage.

Among all crashes in District 12, 87 percent of the fatal and injury accidents occurred on U.S. 23.

Pike County had the majority of the crashes on that route with 39 percent, while Floyd had 35 percent and Johnson had 13 percent.

The group's effort is aimed at making people more aware of those statistics and coming up with solutions.

Keith Damron, of the local highway district office, is serving as overall coordinator of that effort.

"The group is already on the go," he said. "We've got twice as many interested as there was before. And, we have many commitments to participate."

Damron and others have been busy letting agencies, interested people and schools know what the planning committee is tentatively planning.

On Wednesday, May 25, a caravan of law enforcement, traffic safety engineers, educators and any other interested people will start two caravans along U.S. 23.

One will begin at the end of the four-lane section at Dorton and move toward Prestonsburg. The other will begin at the Johnson/Lawrence County line.

"People who want to show support (for traffic safety along the accident-high roadway) can join in anywhere," Damron said.

"The sole purpose for it is to get attention and get people to ask what's going on," he said.

"Then we can get things going with generating interest about safety, seat belts, speeding, drunk driving and other factors."

The caravan groups plan to meet at Prestonsburg at the Holiday Inn and start long-range work on the committee.

Other activities will also be planned after that — activities that promote traffic safety along the local corridor of U.S. 23.

After things get going, there's no end in sight for the committee program, Damron said.

And, the solutions to safety problems the group could eventually put in place are many. But, they all involve the four agency groups: engineering, enforcement, education and EMS.

For example, traffic engineers could identify problem areas of the road and suggest non-construction means of fixing them.

Law enforcement personnel could volunteer to set up drunk-driving check-points and friendly radar checks.

Local teachers or parents, as well as police and other agencies, could hold specific seminars at schools to educate children about driving safety.

paid a total of $2,974.23 between 1989 and 1992 as reimbursement for teacher Homer Lafferty's tuition and books, the indictment claims.

The other seven teachers were reimbursed directly, according to the indictment. Those teachers and the amount they received were:

- Charles Wetzel, $1,627.50.
- Scott Rowland, $1,145.50.
- Kenneth Collinsworth, $1,026.92.
- Morris Hall, $707.50.
- Marigrace Cole, $319.00.
- Danny Blevins, $204.25.
- Johnene Newsome, $185.00.

Belhasen questioned the legality of the indictment, saying that it stemmed from an investigation by the grand jury into the Butcher case.

"My client has been wrongfully indicted," Belhasen said, "and I believe this indictment will not stand."

Hamilton said he was called to testify before the grand jury in the Butcher case and suddenly found himself a target of the investigation.

"I walked in that morning and felt a full frontal assault on the part of the prosecuting attorney on myself personally regarding this," Hamilton said. "I just sat there and shook my head. I could not believe that this is a consideration."

Breathitt County Commonwealth's Attorney Mike Stidham was appointed special prosecutor in the Butcher case after local prosecutor Anna Melvin withdrew because of a conflict. He said the allegations against Hamilton surfaced during the grand jury probe into Butcher and the Colliers.

"It became apparent that there are other criminal violations at the Johnson County Board of Education," Stidham said.

Belhasen, meanwhile, said he wants Attorney General Chris Gorman to investigate the grand jury proceedings.

"We are asking that the attorney general to come here with the best lawyers that they have and investigate this whole stinking mess," Belhasen said. "We're not afraid of investigation; we encourage it."

Belhasen, the brother of Johnson County school board chairman Franklen K. Belhasen, said Hamilton was denied due process. He said a subpoena requesting documents in Hamilton's case was issued after Hamilton was indicted.

"All I want someone to answer for me is, why this subpoena was served on Mr. Hamilton today, after he was indicted, rather than a week ago so he would have had an opportunity to present much of the information to the grand jury," Belhasen said, adding that he will ask the attorney general to remove Stidham from the case and appoint a new prosecutor.

Stidham said he has contacted the state Department of Education and the General Assembly's Office of Education Accountability, both of which will conduct investigations into the matter.

Hamilton said he will not step down as superintendent before May 31. He added, however, that the indictment could affect his job prospects.

Hamilton, a close friend of Gov. Brereton Jones, has been mentioned as a successor to state Justice Secretary Billy Wellman.

The superintendent has declined to say what his new position will be.

In 1960, Social Security approved 982,000 claims for retirement benefits. By 1992, the number of approved retirement claims jumped to 1.7 million.

and see that Rumpke was the low bidder."

Meyer disagreed saying that Rumpke was not the company that submitted the low bid. Meyer said that he needed to "look at the raw numbers" as they related to the nine counties which sought the proposals.

"The numbers don't tell the whole picture," Meyer said.

Magistrate Owens asked Meyer how much time he needed to review the proposals.

"I need a little bit of time to analyze the situation," Meyer said. "I'm trying to put this on a fast-track and deliver it to (fiscal) courts in time for their meetings this month."

Magistrate Tommy Neil Adams' decision to wait for a review by Meyer of other proposals was the deciding factor in tabling the issue.

Magistrate Gerald DeRossett was absent and with Owens wanting to wait until next Friday's regular court meeting to discuss the proposal further, that left the court in a 2-2 deadlock.

Magistrate Eral Tackett said he saw nothing wrong with Rumpke's contract and Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo appeared to be lobbying for approval of the proposal.

Magistrate Adams said the court was about to make a major decision that would affect thousands of people and that "a week and a half" would not be too far out of sight for Meyer to review all the proposals.

Adams also suggested that the newly-appointed members to the Floyd County Solid Waste Commission—if the nominees accept the position—be involved in the review process.

A list of potential appointees to the solid waste commission was made available to the media before the court met for over an hour behind closed doors to announce their choices.

Named to the solid waste commission: former Prestonsburg City Councilman Mike Vance; teacher David Layne; attorney Sheridan Martin; Prestonsburg Utility superintendent Bill Harvey Howard; and insurance salesman Darrell Patton.

One prospective commissioner, economic development director Darrell Gilliam, said Tuesday that he was not aware his name was up for consideration to the solid waste board.

The fiscal court declined to appoint Bob Meyer, solid waste custodian, whose name was also submitted.

Magistrate Owens voted against the appointees saying he felt Meyer should be appointed to the commission.

BEWARE

If a deal sounds too good to be true... it probably is!

Toyota Motor Company sells new Toyotas to every one of its dealers for exactly the same price, regardless of how many vehicles a dealer sells. That's in the legal agreement between Toyota Motor Company and all its dealers.

Carter Hughes Toyota, your hometown dealer, can give you the same or better prices than those high-volume dealers for these reasons:

- All Toyota dealers pay the same price to the manufacturer.
- Carter Hughes Toyota has lower overhead to pay for than many other dealers which means we can sell our new cars for less.
- As your local dealer, we at Carter Hughes Toyota are committed to our area and our people.

Carter Hughes Toyota will be here for you after the sale to provide you with any service you may need.

I've got a secret

by Scott Perry

The best laid plans of mice and men...

It would appear from Tuesday's meeting of the Floyd County Fiscal Court and from conversations with Judge John M. Stumbo afterwards that somebody got their wires crossed.

The court took no action Tuesday on a proposal to privatize the county's solid waste program, and that came as a surprise to the judge, who noted Tuesday afternoon that the plan was "a done deal."

Stumbo said magistrates had been privy to the negotiation process and had, in fact, participated in it most of the way to Tuesday, when they were expected to give it their stamp of approval.

Instead, the court decided to remain undecided, suggesting more time was necessary to review and compare other offers.

That wasn't according to the script, it seems.

We don't know what happened to undermine the court's alleged harmony on this issue because, as you may have noticed, the one element missing from all the negotiations and reviews is the public.

Maybe county officials felt it wasn't in the public's interest to know what was going on with their solid waste program.

Maybe they thought we'd just screw up the deal if we knew too much.

Hard to understand the need for so much secrecy, though. They weren't negotiating national defense.

The garbage industry is rapidly becoming one of the most competitive industries of our day.

Playing that competition for all it's worth would no doubt help cut a better deal for the consumer.

How do we know if we're getting our money's worth when the "done deals" are done in secret?

Letters To The Editor

Letters to the Editor are welcomed by the Floyd County Times. In accordance with our editorial page policy, all letters must include the signature, address and telephone number of the author. Letters must be received no later than 10 a.m. Tuesday for publication in Wednesday's issue and 10 a.m. Thursday for Friday's issue. Letters may be sent to Editor, The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, KY 41653. Letters may be edited for clarity and length.

School Nurse of the Year receives praise

Editor:

We, at the Floyd County Schools, would like to extend our most heartfelt congratulations to Jennifer C. Martin, health coordinator/school nurse, for her recent selection as Kentucky School Nurse of the Year by the Kentucky Association of School Health.

As a member of my staff, Mrs. Martin has consistently shown incredible dedication and devotion both to her duties and to the health and well-being of Floyd County's children.

Her diligent efforts have brought honor and acclamation not only upon herself, but also upon the Floyd County Schools System.

A pox on your house!

Editor:

A breath of fresh air blew over Floyd County on Wednesday, May 4. Thanks to the eloquent writing of Mr. James Bond of Prestonsburg, the true story of Richard Nixon was unfolded before our very eyes. I here and now, on behalf of myself and Mr. James Bond, do hereby both openly and publicly, declare a pox upon your house. Thanks to Mr. James Bond, we will not allow you to lay your hero, Richard Nixon, to rest in peace. For you must know by now, Mr. Scott Perry, that enlightened people, such as James Bond and myself, see through your attempts to find some good in ole Nixon. We know you well, Mr. Scott Perry, if you are not refuted on every front, you will cover us all with an ocean of ink. Mr. Scott Perry, you know very well that James Bond and myself are just insignificant little people, outside of our immediate household, few people will even listen to us, in fact few will even speak to us. Though we may pale in comparison to other people, I call upon Mr. James Bond to enter into a sacred and solemn oath that neither of us will eat or sleep as long as you continue to cast even the smallest of praise on ole Nixon. You must know by now, Mr. Scott Perry, that if we allow your ranting to go uncontested you could begin a journey that would rewrite history. The simple truth is that you, Mr. Perry, think too much, and such men are dangerous. Given time, an ocean of ink and using the heavens for a scroll, you would soon have us believing that there was a real communist threat in 1952 as ole Nixon claimed. As the communist banner marched into Hungary, Poland, Germany, Korea, Cuba, and Asia you would claim Nixon was right.

You, Mr. Scott Perry, would probably have Mr. James Bond and myself believe that the Vietnam War was started under J.F.K. and continued under Johnson for what seemed an eternity. Shucks, Mr. Perry, you will soon claim that the Korean War started under Truman and was stopped by Ike.

Mr. Perry, you may even be so bold as to make claim that your ole Nixon was so popular that he carried every state but Massachusetts. Stand warned, Mr. Perry, your rantings are no match for the intellectual wit of Mr. James Bond and myself.

Personally speaking, Mr. Scott Perry, I would just as soon let you rant on—that men may know you mad. However, Mr. James Bond, probably knows that the next stage in your evolution would be to attack the record of our beloved Jimmy Carter. In the small recesses of your mind, would spring tales of woe that would make both Mr. James Bond and myself to take flight to our beds. You, Mr. Scott Perry, would have James Bond and myself believe that gasoline was $2.00 a gallon, when you could find it, under Little Jimmy. You would have us believe that the military might of this nation was reduced to such a level that the army couldn't put out a brush fire. You would have us believe that mortgage rates ballooned to 23 percent under our Jimmy. Perhaps we couldn't get hostages out of Iran, like Reagan did, but we had good Billy Beer for everyone.

Stand warned, Mr. Scott Perry, that if you attempt to spread the rumor that ole Reagan and Bush set this nation on a path that led to the complete and total collapse of both Russia and communism, we (Mr. James Bond and myself) will march straight to the courthouse and post a bounty on your worthless hide.

Mr. Scott Perry, there has this day been drawn a line in the sand. Mr. James Bond and myself will not budge. You, Mr. Scott Perry, your heroes are outdated, they lived far too long. Set your sights on more enlightened people. Seek out our beloved Democrat from Massachusetts, homosexual congressman Barney

Frank. Someday, even you, Scott Perry, will swell with pride, when you come to understand that the ten million bucks raised by the homosexual community of California and donated to the election of Bill Clinton was money well spent.

Mr. Perry, let's be truthful just one time. If you are willing to reform, make amends, sign the necessary waivers, make the proper restitutions, and be a friend to mankind, all will be forgiven. The Presidential election will be here before you can turn around. Now is the time to unite. Join Mr. James Bond and myself in this solemn pledge. "I, Scott Perry, promise to vote for, work for, and endorse this pot smoking, gay loving, draft dodging, womanizing President."

Student vents anger

Editor:

I am a freshman from Prestonsburg High School, who is angry at the judgment of the school board. I heard that kids were outside, unsupervised, running around and were out of control.

That's not true at all. Those kids were supervised and they were not out of control. The woman who said these things was wrong. If you ask me, I would have to say she just doesn't know what she's saying. The reason I am writing is, why get angry with us. Allen Central has an eighth period class, in which they do nothing but sit around, and we play games.

They are getting a new track and field and we get nothing. I'm just mad at one person, and that's Dolores Smith. She claims she did some checking around to see what was going on. The only checking she did was listening to people in the community. She didn't even come to our school to see what a good thing we had going.

She just conned the school board into playing her little scheme, so all I can say is, I want our eighth period class back.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Word on the street has Michael Fay in line for megabucks from the "entertainment" industry if the recipient of four lashes from a Singapore cane will tell his story for one and all.

There's one other stipulation.

Fay must agree to show his butt in public.

Say, isn't that what got him into this predicament to begin with?

There's a certain irony to the public outcry against the caning of Fay...a confessed vandal... when you compare it to what has happened to Graydon Snyder, a professor of New Testament theology at the Chicago Theological Seminary.

Snyder was accused of creating an "intimidating, hostile or offensive... working environment" for discussing with his students a story from the Talmud, the book of Jewish laws.

The story itself concerned a purely hypothetical situation involving accidental sexual encounter and a discussion of whether that situation amounted to sexual harassment.

For relating the story to his class, Snyder himself was accused of sexual harassment by a woman student who complained about the sexual content of the story.

The professor was forced to apologize, advised to seek therapy, warned not be alone with any student, demoted and, finally, removed as the instructor of the class he had taught for 34 years.

So, a theologian sees his career destroyed for telling a religious story and a vandal becomes a celebrity for getting his butt blistered.

We live in a strange world.

And it's getting stranger.

It appears that the latest idol of tee-shirt fans is one Charles Manson, the leader of a 1960's band of whackos who murdered and mutilated nine innocent people.

For some reason, a company has decided to glamorize the mass-murderer by putting Manson's likeness on a shirt and impressionable youths are paying good money to promote one of the most despicable villains of our lifetime.

Do shirt buyers get a color brochure with photos of Manson's victims with each purchase, too?

Who put out the lights?

In case you missed it, there was an annular eclipse of the sun Tuesday. Annular means that the moon blocks all of the sun but a small ring.

Partial eclipses of the sun aren't unusual...two to five occur somewhere in the world every year.

Total eclipses are infrequent. The next will occur in 2017.

one who made Teacher Appreciation Week (May 2-6), a very special week at our school.

We offer special thanks to all the parents who provided fruit and vegetable trays, desserts, and various other treats throughout the week for our staff. The continuing support of our parents is vital to our success, and we appreciate all they do.

Also, a special thank you to Mrs. Gwen Harmon, principal, and Mrs. Linda Gearheart, assistant principal, for the lapel pins and bumper stickers Mrs. Rebial Reynolds, director of the Prestonsburg Elementary Family Resource Center, for the lovely corsages, coffee mugs, and certificates of appreciation, and to the Floyd County Education Association for the nice coffee mugs.

Again, thank you for the time, effort, and support that helps keep our school a great place to learn and to work.

when I say I can't tie equipment up pumping out your pool. You say I don't know my job but when you smell smoke at night and call me, suddenly I'm an expert!

You complain because my boss lets me leave work for a fire call and doesn't let you leave your social club meeting, but you forget that night the plant caught fire and I saved your job.

You say I'm only in it for the fun, but you fail to see my sickness and exhaustion following a fire. You say I like seeing injuries and that death doesn't bother me, but how could you understand my sleepless night because of the life I couldn't save?

I pray that you and others in the community never need my services, and all I ask in return is that you pray for me while I do my job. I'm not a perfect person and I'll never say I am; but, yes, Mr. Citizen, I'm a redneck volunteer fireman and pretty proud of it.

Let's stand together

Editor:
To the poor people in Floyd County. If we would all stand together, we could vote some of these fat cats out and get a different name; at least it would sound better if they didn't do anything, they call it the system.

Our poor people will say you can't beat the system. Our system is these fat cats that have been so crooked (as you can read in the Floyd County Times) and the state has to take over. Why does the state take over? Now you know they have to be paid, and who pays them? Think about it!

I think it's a shame that our county can't furnish its own garbage hole, as many hollows and creeks that we have, and we have to pay to have our garbage hauled to Virginia or Pike County. It is a disgrace to any county.

When election time comes again, all you people that don't vote, go out and vote. We will get rid of this system (the fat cats). If you have no way of getting to the polls, just call me and I will come and get you or have someone to. We need a change and we need it bad.

The poor people don't have anyone to listen to them, but the Good Lord above, he said the poor you would have with you always.

These fat cats would take every dime a poor person had and wouldn't care if they had a piece of bread on their table. Most of the poor don't have any insurance if they had to see a doctor and they are paying for these fat cats.

I wonder if these boys who pick up the garbage has as much insurance as these fat cats that sit on their butts and do nothing. If not, they ought to do something about it.

I hope our next congressman will try to make it mandatory that all these restaurant workers have paid insurance by the owners. They deserve it because they really work hard to serve the public.

Our state workers have insurance and we know what they do. Just look at the roads; they blame it on the coal trucks. Where is the tax money the truckers pay? I wonder what they do with that money? I guess it takes a lot to pay their salary, the fat cats, that is.

I would like for our poor people to go see what a building they have for the fat cats to sit in and collect your money. I guess some of them would cry, knowing they have such a hard time, can't pay the gas bill or hardly the light bill.

The building looks more like a clinic. I saw it once and I could hardly believe my eyes. It made me think about the poor people, they are the ones that are dear to me.

So, don't forget the next election. If you have no way to go vote, you can call me and I will see that you get there. We can make a change.

Thanks to the good people at The Floyd County Times. We need more like them.

Rogers will be keynote speaker at convention

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers (KY-5) will be the keynote speaker at Kentucky's 5th Congressional District Republican Convention in Hazard Saturday. The event, which will be held at the Hazard Pavilion, will feature delegates from all 27 counties of Southern and Eastern Kentucky's Congressional District.

The event will begin at 11 a.m. with committee meetings, while the Convention begins at 1 p.m. Registration begins at noon.

Fifth District Chairman Charlie Buchanan said items on the schedule include nominating a 5th District Chairman, Co-Chairman, two at-large members to the State Central Executive Committee and seven members to the state convention. Buchanan also said rules, resolutions and county delegates must also be approved and certified.

Rogers, re-elected in 1992 to a seventh term to the U.S. House of Representatives, is a member of the House Appropriations Committee where he serves on the Energy and Water Subcommittee and Commerce, Justice and State Subcommittee.

Jenny Wiley has too few lodges to be profitable

Jenny Wiley State Resort Park is among Kentucky's state resort parks that have too few lodge rooms and cabins to be profitable, according to a report that a legislative panel discussed Monday.

It prompted the committee to question whether Gov. Brereton Jones should have included lodge expansions in his $100 million list of proposed park projects.

There are 71 projects on the list, and the first 54 are for repairs and renovations. Tourism Secretary Crit Luallen said the administration wanted to spur private development of hotels and motels around the resort parks.

Luallen said after the meeting that discussions of the parks system usually return to an ancient debate: Should the parks pay their way? Or should they draw people to an area promoting economic development?

In the hotel industry, it takes an average of 100 rooms to be profitable, according to the report prepared by the committee's staff.

Only Lake Barkley, Lake Cumberland and Kentucky Dam Village state resort parks have that many. The rest range from 32 to 82 rooms. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Supports school and son

Editor:
I'm very upset at the board and Smith's decision on how our students use their 8th period, since their days have been extended an hour and twelve minutes on the day.

Why, Smith, did you single out Prestonsburg High School out of all the other schools in Floyd County? You didn't even go to the school and evaluate these kids to see just how educational these classes were. My son, Mark, was in the U.K. Highlights Video classes in which he was learning very educational things. From what I was told, you got your information off the street, like the walking track which a teacher was with and she is very "strict."

It, too, was educational and it helped keep the kids in shape to play ball so they may take Floyd County back to the state. The cheerleaders, too, it helped keep them in shape for school activities. I could go on and on, but what's the use, because Smith thinks she's right.

I'm sure if these classes weren't educational, Mrs. Trivette would not have allowed it, because she's a very careful planning and educational person. She's out for the best.

Why, Smith, didn't you go check out each school in Floyd County and screen them and see just how each used their last hour.

I've talked to students from four other schools in this county. One watches movies and has line dancing classes. Another plays games or does whatever they want to. Another plays ball, goes out and sits on campus or does whatever, as long as they don't leave school campus. Another says they never do anything but run up and down the halls. And some don't even stay the full time. The kids are allowed to leave at 3:45.

But "no," Prestonsburg High School don't have that choice and they don't dismiss until 4:12 exactly. They are put on the front page of The Floyd County Times and on T.V. It's disgusting that you, Smith, don't have the nerve to go face to face and check it out before throwing stones. I guess since you've done this you need to apologize to this school.

Prestonsburg's principal and staff are very concerned about the students and their education. So, why would they just drop everything the 8th period on say, "ha, we'll blow this last hour." No, they didn't. So, I speak for the school and all the staff and students which I support. Check out every school before you pick on us, and don't say you didn't pick, because you did.

No student in Floyd County or any other place couldn't control how Mother Nature controlled the weather. So, why Smith, do you pick on some and let others go so free.

Seems to me you'd like to punish these kids as if they had committed a crime. No, we parents need to think about things like this when election time comes. I feel as if we are discriminated against. I guess, Smith, it was more convenient to pick on us!

A very concerned and supportive mother

Former principal charged with theft

by Tony Fyffe
The Paintsville Herald

During a three-day administrative hearing in March, former Johnson Central High School Principal Steve Butcher questioned the way school officials conducted an inventory of sporting goods equipment. The inventory—which showed that thousands of dollars of sporting goods were missing—was partly responsible for his termination last June.

Testimony involving the missing sporting goods had just begun when Butcher's hearing came to an abrupt halt. Administrative charges against Butcher were dropped, Butcher regained his teacher tenure and received a $45,000 settlement.

Last Friday the missing athletic equipment resurfaced in an 18-count criminal indictment accusing Butcher of the theft by unlawful taking and filing a false financial statement. The indictment claims Butcher paid for $49,000 worth of sporting goods with JCHS funds even though he knew only $21,466 of the equipment was delivered.

David and Sherry Collier, the owners of the TD Sporting Goods of Pikeville, the store from which the equipment was purchased, were also indicted on 17 counts of theft by unlawful taking. The grand jury claims the Colliers failed to deliver some of the sporting good with the "intent to benefit themselves with monetary gain."

Although Butcher and the Colliers were named in separate indictments, the charges are related. Among the allegations:

- A $1,064.55 check was issued by Butcher on January 28, 1993, for physical education equipment ordered but never delivered by the store.
- TD Sporting Goods was paid $6,450.25 on November 4, 1992. The bill included $2,520.20 in items that were not delivered.
- Butcher issued a $4,019.44 check on October 7, 1992, for football equipment ordered from the store. Only $541 of the order was filled by the store.

• The store was paid $4,677.85 on March 20, 1992, for an order that was to include $1,377.74 worth of shoes for the boys' basketball program. The shoes were never received.

The indictment contends that Butcher issued a false financial statement to the county school board to cover up the missing sporting goods.

Attorneys for both Butcher and the Colliers say their clients are innocent. They apparently will plead not guilty at their arraignment.

Neither Butcher nor the Colliers were among the 19 people who testified before the grand jury.

Local nursing homes become a recognized link in the continuum of health care

Nursing homes across the state are celebrating Kentucky Nursing Home Week, May 8-14. The celebration includes a wide variety of activities for patients and families at nursing home facilities throughout the Commonwealth. It also includes an invitation to community residents to visit their local nursing home and take a tour or participate in Nursing Home Week events.

The celebration comes at a time when Kentucky nursing homes are in the midst of the most important debate about their future.

"Kentucky Nursing Home Week is a perfect time to talk about the dramatic, exciting changes that will soon affect every nursing home in the Commonwealth, and in turn, may affect every elderly Kentuckian," said Gary Marsh, chairman of the board of the Kentucky Association of Health Care Facilities, the trade association which represents 288 nursing homes in Kentucky.

The dramatic changes in nursing homes include:

- a move towards new levels of care.
- Nursing homes will continue to care for patients who are sicker, requiring more nursing care, and who are more dependent, requiring more help with their activities of daily living (ADLs—toileting, bathing, eating, dressing, etc.).

• an extension into community-based services

Nursing homes can extend into the community to provide a wide variety of services such as Meals on Wheels, hospice, adult day care, illness prevention, occupational health, and physical and speech therapy.

According to Marsh, "The focus is on identifying community health care needs, and then meeting them."

Diabetes classes

Diabetes classes will be held at the Mud Creek Clinic, Grethel, on May 10, 17 and 24, from 2-3:30 p.m. and at the Johnson County Health Department, Paintsville, on May 10, 17 and 24, from 6-7:30 p.m.

The classes are free-of-charge and offered to anyone with diabetes, their families, and others interested in learning more about diabetes.

Once again, it is time for the people of the 92nd District to stay the course or change the direction that our district is heading. Do the people want to hear more promises of better days to come or do they want to hear the true hard facts? Most of our district does not have decent water to drink due to the poor quality of water that comes into each household. We hear promises of more jobs but we really do not see them, and we hear of improving the quality of life for everyone but we see no progress coming to life. In the 4-30-94 issue of the Lexington Herald-Leader the outlook for Eastern Kentucky was bleak and the paper supplied charts to back up their charges of poor leadership that has some of our counties in Eastern Kentucky the poorest in the entire state, and one of the counties was Knott. It stated that we were fighting to rise above the poverty stage. Our young people continue to leave the state for employment and our population continues to drop. We were promised more coal severance tax monies back to our counties but now it has been pushed back to maybe sometime in this decade. Now, finally everyone has realized that more taxes take away from the needs of your family. If you, the people, think that great progress has been made then I ask you to look at our bleak economy of despair and look at your neighbors and friends and see if all will agree with you. We cannot continue to send people to Frankfort just for the trip. We need hard work. We need results for our hard-working families. I ask you, do you want to bounce along on the same old highway or try cruising on a smooth road of hope and opportunity?

RE-ELECT RUSSELL BENTLEY

State Representative 92nd District

It is very important for voters to have pride, trust and confidence in their elected representatives. The public deserves a representative that will listen to them, will be honest to them and will work hard for their interest.

State Representative Russell Bentley has worked hard for the past six years and in doing so has earned your respect as well as the respect of other state legislatures and state officials. We believe he has earned your trust as well.

It is very disappointing that a candidate for Bentley's office used the newspaper last week to blatantly distort Representative Bentley's record. Either this candidate is ignorant on how government works or he deliberately made false statements about Representative Bentley's record. In either case, such distortion of the truth should disqualify that candidate in the minds of the voters.

We cannot in this space correct all the misinformation but by showing some of the falsehoods, we believe the voters can determine the truth!

Representative Russell Bentley did not vote to raise taxes on gasoline as stated in the ad. In fact, Representative Bentley voted against the measure. A copy of the voting record on this measure is included.

Representative Bentley did not vote to raise the cost of hunting and fishing licenses as stated in the ad. The amount charged for these fees is set by the Kentucky Commission on Fish and Wildlife.

The candidate, through the ad and other comments, has suggested that Representative Bentley voted to raise taxes on your homes. The truth is the House Bill 44 passed in the mid 1970's limits the State Legislature's ability to raise property taxes. Tax rates are set by the local taxing districts, not by the state legislature. The recent reassessment of property in Floyd County was made by the Kentucky Revenue Cabinet., not by the state legislature.

We hope that this clarifies some of the misstatements made about Representative Bentley's record. We realize more now than ever that we need to re-elect Representative Bentley. Here are just a few of his accomplishments as a state representative in the last six years.

* As a result of 1990 legislation, the Floyd County School District funding has increased over $10 million annually. Floyd County children are now given the same amount of financial resources to be educated with as are students from large cities in Kentucky.

* As a result of Representative Bentley's HB 365 in the 1992 session, every volunteer fire department here will receive $5,000 annually. Representative Bentley has served as a fire department and rescue squad member volunteer for years. Through his legislation fire departments are given a helping hand which can help lower your fire insurance premiums.

Floyd Countians deserve these improvements. Russell Bentley deserves re-election.

Leadership you can be proud of.

Card of Thanks

The family of Earl Johnson wishes to thank all friends, neighbors, and family who were so kind and considerate during the illness and loss of our loved one. We want to thank those who came to visit Dad while he was sick, cleaned and prepared the cemetery, sent flowers and cards, brought food, and offered words of comfort. We would like to thank the Joppa Church and the Old Regular Baptist ministers for their comforting words, the sheriff's department for their assistance, and the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home for their kind and professional service.

In Memory of Willie H. Hamilton

Daddy, the Bible would say was the salt of the earth,
To give you up, only Jesus knew how much it hurt.

I will remember you, Daddy, forever and a day,
Jesus took a piece of my heart when He called you away.

To call you Daddy, I was so proud,
But I know you're at rest with Jesus, now.

Your suffering and sorrows are over here,
I feel you're at home, where you will shed no more tears.

You never were one to say I love you,
You proved how much you cared by the things you would do.

You didn't get much praise while here on earth,
Jesus, in all His wisdom, knew how much you were worth.

We know that Jesus only takes the best,
That's what He got when you went to rest.

So, sleep on Daddy, and rest from your labor,
I'll meet you later in God's big heaven.

Written by your brokenhearted daughter,
Geraldine Newsome

Card of Thanks

The family of Willie H. Hamilton would like to say thanks to all who helped in any way during the time of our sorrow, at the passing of our beloved husband and daddy. A special thanks to the Ministers, Jerry, Harvey and Bill Estep, Rubin Baker and Green Howell for their kind words and wonderful messages.

Also to all our friends and neighbors who sent flowers and food, to the ones that came or called to offer their sympathy. We would like to take the time to thank each one personally, but that's impossible since you are so many. Thanks to the Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home for their kind and efficient service, for making all of us fill like part of their family.

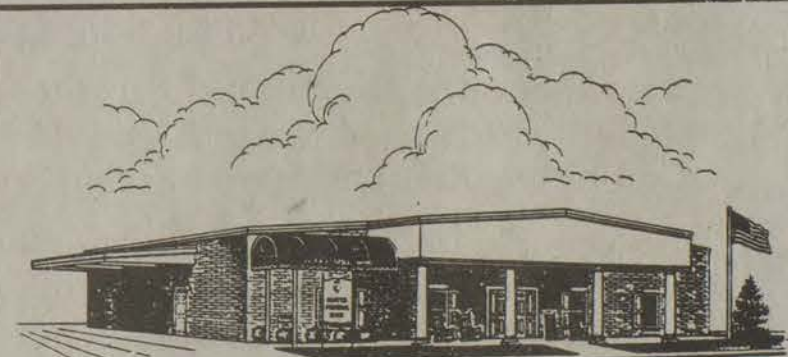

May God bless each and every one of you. Please pray for us.

LEARNING TO READ

I was born in Floyd County. I had four brothers and four sisters. We lived on the farm and had to work hard. My daddy always kept us working. It seemed back then, education wasn't important. They weren't educated, so they didn't make it important for their children.

We only had a little one room school. We had to walk about 3/4 a mile to get there. There wasn't a road back then, only a creek bed. The teacher lived right by the school. She didn't try to teach the children. I went for months without having a lesson. She always had me going to the store, post office or getting firewood. But, she always gave me straight A's. When I was in 6th grade, I couldn't read nothing. I would tell my daddy there was no use going—that all I would do is paint. He told me to go back because I might learn something. No one ever came to check on the teacher—they would have had to come on horseback. I quit school when I was 16.

I moved to Michigan when I was 18 years old and worked in a steel mill. Back then you didn't need an education to work there. After four years I came back to Floyd County and took care of my sick dad and to take care of the farm. After my dad died, I stayed on the farm and also got married. I took other jobs, too. They were jobs that I had to work hard at. I couldn't read to get any other kind of job.

Now I'm back in school. I figured I went so long without reading I wanted to come back and learn to read. I've been coming to school since December. I can understand people better cause I know when words mean. I can read the newspaper better.

Come back—you can learn. If you put your mind to it, you can learn. You have to be willing and able!

Think about it

by Sheldon Lee Compton

Let's go hunting

I have never in my life been hunting. Much of the reason for my never doing so was because I thought that too much skill was involved. I have done my share of shooting cans occasionally and had very little luck other than ripping up a chunk of hillside or blowing two thirds of a tree trunk in half which I don't think would qualify me for a front page hunting magazine story. But now I see that hunting is simple enough for an infant to take part in.

I arrived at this conclusion while thumbing through a hunting catalog (yes, I was bored out of my skull) when I turned the page to see a photograph of two hunters standing erect like prehistoric heroes along a volcanic landscape. They held their guns with acute readiness that showed they were concentrating deeply on their game. Above them the sky was filled with geese, I don't mean ten or twelve, when I say filled that's exactly what I mean. Where there should have at least been hint of blue and a cloud or two floating restlessly, there was nothing but wings spreading out taking flight. It was worse than a Hitchcock film; geese were everywhere. There must have been thousands of them, if not more.

The point I'm trying to make is that most hunters will tell you that they don't eat the animals they kill, but, of course, there are those who do also. But the bone I have to pick is with these who say they do it just for sport. What sport can they possibly find in raising a 12-gauge shotgun that can scatter buckshot from here to Wyoming and point it into a sky full of geese and aim and fire? (No, forget the aiming. If you have to aim to hit one goose when a million are flying around, then God must hate you, pal). I'm sure that all hunting days are not like the one in the photo that I saw but so what, I think I still have a case here.

If they don't at least make the animal's death productive and eat the poor creature and they say they are doing it for sport when I've seen more challenging bingo games, then what are they doing it for? Are they trying to get back at the animal kingdom because we give more attention to whales now than we do them? The hunters I saw in the photo didn't look like they were bent on revenge. Actually, they looked like they were saying, "Hey, look, I'm shooting geese!"

Believe it or not, I've got nothing really against hunting as long as it is kept clean and moral. Though I can honestly say that the idea of hunting for sport gives me a sick feeling in the pit of my gut. But, I didn't really set out to talk this much about hunting. I think the issue has been ran into the ground. Besides, I've already stood up for the trees. I can take a week off from being the good guy. It was just that photograph that made me start thinking. I must admit I wouldn't care to take a shot at that sky full of geese, but I assure you I wouldn't lie about why I did it, and I'd probably even invite you over for dinner.

Newborns videotaped at Pikeville hospital

The birth of a child is an extraordinary event and the obstetrics unit at Pikeville Methodist Hospital plans to make the event more memorable by providing families with a video tape of their new bundle of joy.

Women's Services Director Patty Akers said that, beginning May 2nd, each baby that is delivered at Pikeville Methodist Hospital will be video taped by a labor and delivery nurse. The actual birth process will not be filmed, but the nurses plan to begin taping the baby immediately after the birth to capture those first precious moments of life.

This free video tape of each new life will be about 10 minutes in length and will be given to each new mother prior to release from the hospital.

Layne and Phillips to wed

Jill Selena Layne and Dr. Brian Jay Phillips

Albert B. and Pat Layne of Betsy Layne announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Jill Selena, to Dr. Brian Jay Phillips, formerly of Longview, Washington.

The bride to be is a graduate of Eastern Kentucky University with a degree in dietetics. She is presently head of the nutritional department for the Sports and Performance Rehabilitation Facility in Louisville.

The groom is a graduate of Puget Sound University in Tacoma, Washington and Life Chiropractic College in Atlanta, Georgia. He has his own practice in Louisville.

The ceremony will be held at Jenny Wiley State Park Lodge, Prestonsburg, Saturday, June 4, at 6:30 p.m. The couple will spend a two-week honeymoon in Hawaii. They will reside in Louisville.

National Nursing Home Week

Mountain Manor celebrates National Nursing Home Week

Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin with Mary Hughes, activity director at Mountain Manor Nursing Home, on Monday to present the nursing home with a proclamation from Governor Brereton Jones' office declaring May 8 through May 14 National Nursing Home Week.

A week is set aside every year nationwide to invite the public into nursing home facilities where they can participate in week-long festivities. The purpose of the observance is to acquaint the public with the benefits and services offered to nursing home residents.

There are about 20,000 health care professionals who provide care for 30,000 patients throughout Kentucky and 360 nursing homes located in 115 counties.

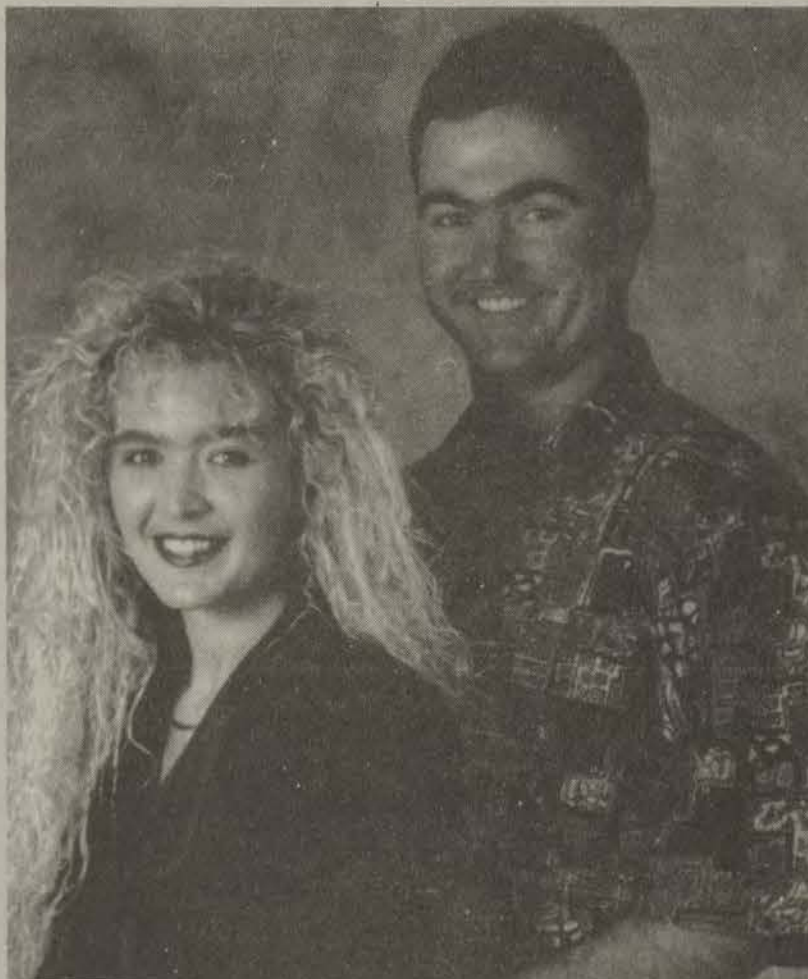

On Monday, Mountain Manor started the week-long observance with "Western Day." Tuesday was "Tacky Day." Each of these days, the nursing home had special activities, such as a cookout and guest singers.

Wednesday is "Old-Fashion Day." Special guests include the Prestonsburg Senior Citizens and Woody Crum and Company. Thursday is "Employees Day" which will include a balloon lift-off at 10:30 and pinning of employees at 2 p.m.

Friday is "Family Day" and will include a quilt show at 10:30 a.m., a luncheon for residents and their families, and a visit by Beverly Carroll.

The public is invited to each of these activities in celebration of National Nursing Home Week.

Crider and Wright to wed

Sherrie Crider and Terry Wright

Ottway and Thelma Crider of Paintsville, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Sherrie, to Terry Wright, son of Jerry and Linda Wright of Jackson County.

Sherrie is the granddaughter of Avonelle Crider of Prestonsburg, and the Reverend Raymond Wright of McDowell.

Terry is the grandson of Helen Wright and Mary Coffey of Tyner.

Sherrie is a senior at Eastern Kentucky University and will graduate with a degree in education after the completion of her student teaching.

Terry is a lineman employed by Kentucky Utilities in Richmond.

The marriage will take place May 21, at 1:30 p.m. at the Southside Freewill Baptist Church in Paintsville. The gracious custom of an open wedding will be observed.

Baptist youth evangelism conference to be held

Where can 7,000 Kentucky teenagers, pastors and youth leaders gather to see magical illusions, contemporary music and "dummies" while taking part in an exciting, motivating, life-changing youth rally? YouthFest '94 will offer this and so much more during the annual State Youth Evangelism Conference, June 24-25, Farnham Dudgeon Civic Center, Frankfort.

According to Bill Jagers, Kentucky Baptist Convention Office for Evangelism director, the theme, "Here's Hope for Youth," was developed to prepare youth for the state and national 1995 simultaneous evangelism emphasis by training them to share their faith.

Registration begins at 5:30 p.m., Friday, June 24, and the rally will begin promptly at 7:00 p.m. Friday evening will feature Kevin Landgrave, praise music, David Garrard, Christian illusionist, both of Louisville, Rodney Gage, youth evangelist/communicator from Ft. Worth, Texas, and 4 HIM, contemporary Christian music group, with the theme "Christ—Our Hope."

Saturday, June 25, sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Saturday morning, "Growing in Christ—Our Hope," features Landgrave, 4 HIM, Gage, Mark McClintock & Friends, ventriloquist, and summer missions Son Teams; Saturday afternoon, "Sharing Christ—Our Hope," features Landgrave, 4 HIM and Gage.

Preregistration before June 10 is preferred. Contact Office for Evangelism, (502) 245-4101, for further information and registration.

The Evangelism office of the Kentucky Baptist Convention works in fellowship with local congregations to plan and organize revivals and rallies. The goal of this office is to assist the local church in its efforts to evangelize and teach within the surrounding community.

Community Calendar

Editor's Note: As a service to the many clubs and committees that meet in our community, the Floyd County Times' Community Calendar will post meeting and public service announcements. Articles for the Community Calendar must be submitted in writing to the Times no later than 5 p.m. Monday for Wednesday's publication or 5 p.m. Wednesday for Friday's publication. These cannot be taken over the telephone.

Pikeville College announces plans for 100th commencement

The weekend of May 19-21 promises to be a busy one for the Pikeville College community. Beginning with a nursing division ceremony on Thursday evening and ending with the college's 100th Commencement on Saturday afternoon, beaming parents and friends, proud facility members, reminiscing alumni, and fellow students will mix with well-wishers from the community in a swirl of ceremonies and activities designed to recognize, honor, and congratulate members of the 1994 graduating class.

The activities begin on Thursday, May 19, at 7 p.m. with the Nursing Division Pinning Ceremony. This annual event is planned entirely by nursing division students. This year the largest graduating class in the history of the nursing program will be honored. The ceremony will take place in the Chrisman Auditorium, with a reception scheduled immediately afterwards in the lobby of the Armington Science-Learning Center.

On Friday evening, May 20, at 6:30 p.m., the weekend continues with the Alumni/Senior Banquet, an event sponsored in part by the Pikeville College Alumni Association. The dinner will be held at the Pikeville College Gym, and Director of Food Services Terry Marrs promises that those attending will be served "a meal to remember."

After the dinner, representatives of the 50th reunion classes of Pikeville Academy (Class of 1944), Pikeville Junior College (Class of 1944), and Pikeville College (Class of 1994) will address the audience. Reunion classes of 1914, 1924, 1934, 1954, 1964, 1974, and 1984 also will be recognized and honored.

Tickets prices for the banquet are $8, if purchased in advance, and $10

if purchased at the door on the evening of the event. Advance tickets may be obtained by calling the Office of External Affairs (606) 432-9326.

After grabbing a few hours of sleep, it will be time to roll out of bed for a memorial service and brunch, which will take place Saturday, May 21, at 11 a.m. at the Allara Library Courtyard.

Students, parents, alumni, faculty and staff, administrators, members of the Pikeville College Board of Trustees, and friends from the community will gather to eat, talk, and congratulate the graduates and their families. Also scheduled is a brief campus tour to view recent landscaping work and renovations to Record Memorial Building.

Just a few short hours later, at 2 p.m., the highlight of the weekend, the 100th Pikeville College Commencement, will take place at the gymnasium. This year an estimated 190 students, one of the largest graduating classes in the history of the college, will step out into the world as Pikeville College graduates.

Michael F. Adams, president of Centre College in Danville, Kentucky, will speak to those in attendance. Dr. Adams is a nationally recognized speaker and consultant who has been at the helm of Centre since 1988. During his tenure, the college has dramatically strengthened its commitment to excellence in the liberal arts.

Rep. Stumbo establishes a scholarship in name of father

State Rep. Gregory D. Stumbo has established an endowment at the University of Louisville School of Law in honor of his late father, U of L alumnus and Circuit Court Judge Harold J. Stumbo.

His gift of $25,000 goes to create The Judge Harold J. Stumbo Scholarship. Its funds will be used primarily to help students from these eastern Kentucky counties: Boyd, Breathitt, Carter, Elliott, Floyd, Greenup, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Powell, Rowan and Wolfe.

Representative Stumbo, also a U of L alumnus, is a native of Martin, and has law offices in Middlesboro, Hazard and Lexington.

For more information about scholarships in the School of Law, call Donald Olson, U of L assistant dean for administrative law, (502) 852-6092.

ment program, a reception for the graduates and their families will be held in the gym.

The weekend promises to be exciting, and perhaps a little hectic, but it will be one the graduates will remember for the rest of their lives. Members of the Pike County community are encouraged to attend the activities and help honor these students for their years of commitment, determination, and hard work.

Ready to go

Big Sandy area planning committee members show off a banner that will be used as part of decorations for Kentucky Baptist Homes for Children's 125th birthday celebration for the area Saturday, May 14. The celebration, one of nine "thank yous" to the people of Kentucky for their support of the child care ministry, will be held from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. on the grounds of the First Baptist Church of Pikeville at Fourth Street and Scott Avenue. The public is invited. From left to right are: Rev. French Harmon, pastor of Allen First Baptist Church; Rev. Rick Shannon, pastor of Pikeville First Baptist Church; Rev. Drew Martin, pastor of Paintsville First Baptist Church; Tina McFarland, member of Allen First Baptist Church; Rev. Carl Boyd, director of mission for Pike Association; Rev. Bob Norman, Sr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, Pikeville; and Rev. Jim Smith, director of missions for Enterprise Association.

Castle tosses three-hitter in 12-0 shutout of South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Betsy Layne freshman Brandon Castle was sensational on the mound against South Floyd Monday evening at Stumbo Park as the two teams hooked up in a conference game as teams jockey for positions in the conference standings. Betsy Layne posted a 12-0 win over the Raiders behind the pitching of Castle.

Castle went the distance for the Bobcats in picking up the win. He allowed no runs while scattering just three hits. He fanned eight batters and walked one.

Terrance Mullins, who started for South Floyd, suffered the setback. Chris Moore relieved Mullins in the fourth.

Mullins worked three and a third innings allowing seven runs on five hits. He struck out one and walked six. He failed to get the support needed in the field as the Raiders committed five errors behind him.

Moore allowed six runs on five hits. He walked one and did not strike out a batter.

The two teams played a scoreless first two innings, but Betsy Layne pushed across three runs in the third. Two of the three runs were unearned.

Chris Potter singled and moved to second on a wild pitch. Castle walked while Barry Clark was safe on a fielders choice when Potter was nailed at the plate. Greg Hunter's ground ball was coughed up at short scoring two runs. Hunter later came home on Scott Ousley's sacrifice fly.

Betsy Layne exploded for nine runs in the drastic fourth for South Floyd to bring in the mercy rule. The Bobcats collected six hits in the inning. Derrick Newsome had a two-run single as did Ousley. Doug Keathley doubled home a run in the inning.

Mullins, despite a shaky start on the mound, collected two of the Raiders three hits. He singled to leadoff the game and had a third inning double. T.T. Pack had the other hit for South Floyd and that came in the first inning.

The combination of Derrick Newsome at second and Potter at short turned in a super double play in the first inning. With Mullins on first, Moore hit a low liner that Newsome knocked down and tossed to Potter. Potter barehanded the baseball and threw a strike to Clark at first for the double play.

The Raiders were not without their good play as first baseman Aaron Hall made a super stop of Newsome's shot that was heading to right field. Hall made the diving stop, righted himself and tagged the bag to retire Newsome.

Newsome collected two hits for the Bobcats and Ousley finished the game with three runs batted in.

Betsy Layne improved to 14-10 on the season. The Bobcats will host Allen Central tonight at Stumbo Park.

Estill Stumbo takes first in hurdles at FCA meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Dewey Jamerson and his Allen Central track and field team took a break from the local meets and traveled to Shelby County this past weekend in the midst of a storm.

The Ridge Runners were making their fourth appearance in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) meet.

Estill Stumbo brought home first place finishes in both the men's 110 hurdles as well as the 300 hurdles. Stumbo posted a time of 17:36 to win the 110 while running a 44:56 for first place in the 300 hurdles. It was a personal best for Stumbo in the 110 hurdles.

It was the stiffest competition of the season for Coach Jamerson's squad. Stumbo had the only first place finishes for the Ridge Runners but several school records fell and many ran their personal best. Coach Jamerson feels the type of competition brought out the best in his team.

"The competition was great," he said. "It was very good. When we go to this meet, we always post our best times. It is the competition that brings out the best in these kids."

"When you are throwing a discus, you look around and you see 26 others lined up to throw. When you're running the mile, you have to get out quick because there are so many running. It looks more like a cross-country meet."

In the field events, Kevin Stumbo set a new school record in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at 9 feet 6 inches for third place. Stumbo also placed third overall in the men's 800-meter run. He had a time of 2:13.59.

Jackie Owens ran the event and finished in 2:40.91.

Shawn Robinson's toss of 127 feet in discus earned him third place in the highly competitive event. Levi Wells failed to place with his throw of 91 feet. Wells did place sixth overall in the men's shot put. His toss was measured at 37 feet 11 inches. Ronnie Samons failed to place at 34 feet 11 inches.

Chris Halbert took fourth place in the high jump by clearing the bar at 5 feet 6 inches. Gary Webb also took part in the event. Webb had a jump of 34 feet in the triple jump.

Halbert finished with a leap of 17 feet 11 inches in the men's long jump.

In track, the men's 3200-meter relay team established a new school record with a time of 9:06.83. The

Hard work pays off for South Floyd girls

by Ed Taylor

South Floyd's girls' track and field coach Keith Smallwood watched as his team won its fifth meet to go 5-0 on the season. The Lady Raiders won the Pikeville meet this past Thursday with 143 points. Fleming-Neon took second place with 93.

South Floyd had eight girls missing from the meet and still placed first. Tiffany Compton, who usually places first in the shot put, was one that was missing in action because of a prior commitment.

"Some of our regulars were gone and our grade school team stepped in and picked us up," said Smallwood.

Crystal Isaac and Lori Tackett took home first place finishes in their individual event. Tackett continued to be the top female thrower in the discus by taking first place with a toss of 92 feet.

"She did well, but she's done better," said Smallwood. "Lori can throw farther than that." Tackett's top throw this season is 96 feet.

Isaac ran first in the women's 800-meter run. She finished with a time of 2:45.80. Tonda Floyd placed fourth in the event at 3:05.41. Heather Little also competed, but did not place.

Floyd took third place in the women's long jump. Floyd landed at 12 feet 4 inches for the runner-up slot. Fourth place went to Carrie Miller at 11 feet 5 inches. Jennifer Holbrook placed fifth at 10 feet 4 inches.

Isaac took second place in the women's high jump. Isaac cleared the bar at 4 feet 7 inches.

In the track events, the South Floyd 3200-meter relay team took second place with a time of 15:34. The foursome included Kelly Miller, Olivia Stewart, Jessica Reed and Sarah Boyd. Jeanene Fields placed second in the women's 100-meter hurdles. Fields had a time of 19:09. Sixth place went to Jane Hall with a time of 22.11. "That was the first time that Jane ever ran the hurdles," said her coach.

South Floyd finished four, five and six in the women's 100-meter dash. It was a close finish between the three runners. Susan Stephens finished fourth at 14.58 and Jane Hall was only a second behind her for fifth. Two seconds back was Jada Hall for sixth place at 14:60.

Tackett, Little, Holbrook and Jada Hall combined for a foursome in the women's 800-meter relays. The four finished second at 2:05.38.

Isaac ran across the finish line second in the women's 1600-meter run. She had a time of 6:18 while newcomer Barbara Butler took third at 8:48.

Fields, Jada Hall, Jane Hall and Tackett raced to a second place finish in the women's 400-meter relay. The four had a time of 57:25.

Jane Hall and Susan Stephens finished second and third in the 400-meter dash. Hall was second with her time of 1:13.26 and Stephens ran in at 1:14.26.

Third place in the women's 300 hurdles went to South Floyd's Fields with a time of 58:16.

The three "H's" did it in style in the 200-meter run. Jada Hall took third place, Jane Hall finished fourth and Jennifer Holbrook placed fifth in the event.

If she hadn't had to stop and tie her shoes twice, sixth grader Margret

Morgan may very well have won the women's two mile (3200-meters) run. But, despite having difficulty with show laces, Morgan finished a strong second at 16:51. She goes to school at Osborne.

Slone takes first in triple jump for South Floyd

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The South Floyd track team ran three relays for the first time this season and Kevin Slone placed first in the triple jump to highlight the team's efforts at Pikeville last Thursday evening.

It was a rarity that Bo Rogers did not place in either discus or shot put. Rogers had a throw of 41 feet 1 inch in the shot, but still had to settle for fourth place, something that is uncommon for him.

He had a toss of 91 feet 3 inches in the discus but did not place. Shannon Hall took part in the discus and finished with a toss of 65 feet. Billy Little competed in the shot with a throw of 26 feet 8 inches.

In the triple jump, Slone had a leap of 35 feet 9 inches for first place. He took second place in the high jump, clearing the bar at 5 feet 6 inches.

South Floyd's 800-meter relay team finished second as it became the third relay team to run in the meet for South Floyd, marking a first time this season. The foursome of Jonathan Russo, Justin Holbrook, Chris Isaac and Brian Triplett finished in 4:15.51.

Charity stripe kind to three Betsy Layne cagers

They call them free throws because that is what they are -- free tosses from the foul line.

Three Betsy Layne junior pro basketball players took advantage of the charity tosses and walked away with some awards during the just completed season.

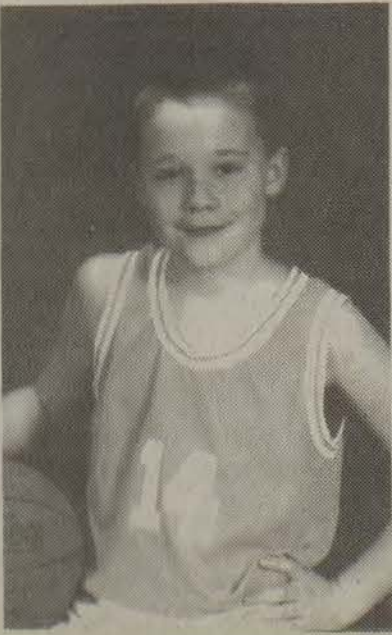

Brandt Brooks, son of Mike and Sandi Brooks of Betsy Layne, took first place in the free throw competition during the Maytown All-Star tournament when he hit eight of 10.

Justin Martin, son of Danny and Debbie Martin of Craynor, placed second in the Scott County Invitational Tournament when he also hit eight of 10 free throws.

Daniel Knausz, son of John and Deloris Knausz of Harold, was the first place finisher at the Scott County Invitational. Knausz was perfect from the stripe hitting 10 of 10.

Knausz also placed first at the Prestonsburg All-Star Tournament and during the Betsy Layne All-Star competition. He finished second in the Mountain Christian Academy All-Star Tournament.

foursome included Mike Elzokari, Todd Howard, Josh Patton and Kevin Stumbo.

Nick Green and Curtis Webb ran the men's 100-meter dash with Webb setting a personal best.

Josh Patton finished sixth in the 1600-meter run with a time of 5:00.71 and a new school record. Shawn Amburgey finished at 5:41.33.

Green, Halbert, Estill Stumbo and Webb formed the Ridge Runners 400-meter relay team. The four finished in 51.10, but did not place.

Elzokari had a personal best in the 400-meter dash. He had a time of 58.36. Webb ran a 1:05.59.

Owens ran the men's 800-meter run and finished with a time of 2:40.91.

Patton set a new school record in the men's 3200-meter run. He was clocked at 11:25.77. Amburgey finished the event at 13:02.75.

Elzokari, Halbert, Howard and Estill Stumbo ran the men's 1600-meter relays with a time of 4:04.05.

"It was a good day time wise for us," said Jamerson. "It rained more than it didn't. We were in the middle of a lot of lighting going there."

Allen Central placed fourth overall out of the 12 schools there. The Ridge Runners had a total of 28 points.

"When we get in the regionals next week, time is not going to be that important," explained Jamerson.

"Placement will be. We want to place high in each event. We're shooting for a regional title and the kids know that."

Jamerson said that his squad would be working on placement in the final two meets it has scheduled before the regional at Breathitt County.

"We'll not worry about our times," he said.

"We were the smallest of the 2A schools there," he said. "And the only one without a track to run on."

The Allen Central coach is confident that his team will place well in the upcoming regional after posting the times it did at Shelby County.

"Now, we know what they can do," he said. "We know they can run faster. If they posted these times in the weather they had to run in, think what they can do when it is dry."

The Allen Central mentor said that he believes that the travel to Shelby County would be a key in helping to do well in next weeks regional meet.

"We had to travel a long way. We will only be an hour and a half from Breathitt County. That should be a piece of cake for them." Jamerson stressed that traveling is why his team goes to invitationals.

Allen Central will compete in the Johnson Central Invitational this Friday in their final meet before the regional.

Allen Central competed yesterday at Pikeville, but results were not available at press time.

South Floyd girls—(Continued from B 1)

Carlitha Tramble, Misty McCray, Nee Mee Oden and Sarah Slone made up the first team that ran the women's 1600-meter relay, which failed to place.

The second 1600-meter relay team fared much better as they ran in with a second place finish. Tackett, Isaac, Floyd and Stephens posted a time of 4:59.72 for second place.

The success of the South Floyd's girls track and field program has been very pleasant thus far this season, but Coach Smallwood is going to be facing a decision making time that could hurt.

"I have a lot of decisions to make before the regionals," said the South Floyd coach. "During the regular season, you're just trying to win meets. But it is different when it comes to the regionals."

"Some of my kids are not ready for the regionals. I have to make a decision that is best for the team. Some will not be able to compete in the regionals but they will be able to go to the regionals."

"It's going to be a tough decision but I have to go with the best that I have. When it gets to be crunch time, you go with your best."

Coach Smallwood said that this years group is special.

"I couldn't have a better group of kids than I have right now," he said. "They are a very dedicated bunch. I know that we will lose some top runners after this year but we have some good young runners coming in and we're going to be right there."

Smallwood explained that a runner may run the 400-meters as well as the 200-meters and the 400 be their strongest event.

"Then I have to take them out of the 200 and run them in the 400," he said. "It's good for a coach to be in a situation like that, but it's bad for the kids."

The South Floyd coach stated that he would like to see Floyd County support the track and field programs at the four high schools more.

"It's an exciting sport," he said. "I know that once they come out and watch one meet, they will be hooked on it."

"All four high schools (Allen Central, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg and South Floyd) deserve all the recognition they can get."

Coach Smallwood had some praise for those behind the scenes.

"I, as the South Floyd girls track and field coach, want to thank all the bus drivers and the board of education for all the help they have given us. They have helped get us buses in the clutch. Earl Ousley has been a big help to us. Also, Pikeville has did right by us. When we arrived at the meet late Thursday, the field events had already started. They still allowed us our three throws. The kids had to stretch on the bus and be ready to go when we got there."

South Floyd will be at Pikeville Thursday for their final regular season meet. They will travel to Russell for the regional meet that includes Raceland, Ashland Fairview, Pikeville and Paintsville.

Regional preliminaries begin Friday, May 20 with the finals scheduled for Saturday.

Combined Final Notification and Finding of No Significant Environmental Impact

The U.S. Department of Agriculture, Rural Development Administration (RDA) has received an application for financial assistance from the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Public Properties Corporation, SAI# KY920918-1287. The specific element of this proposed action is the construction of a 1,000 seat performing arts center in Prestonsburg near the intersection of KY Hwy. 114 and US 23.

RDA has assessed the potential environmental impacts of this proposed action and determined that the location of the proposed performing arts center would impact the 100-year floodplain. It has been determined that there is no practicable alternative to avoid this impact. The basis of this determination is as follows:

- The floodplain will be impacted by construction of the proposed building.
- The proposed building must be located within the floodplain because adequate alternate sites are not available.
- All practicable mitigation measures have been agreed to by the applicant.
- The proposed action conforms to applicable state and local floodplain protection standards.

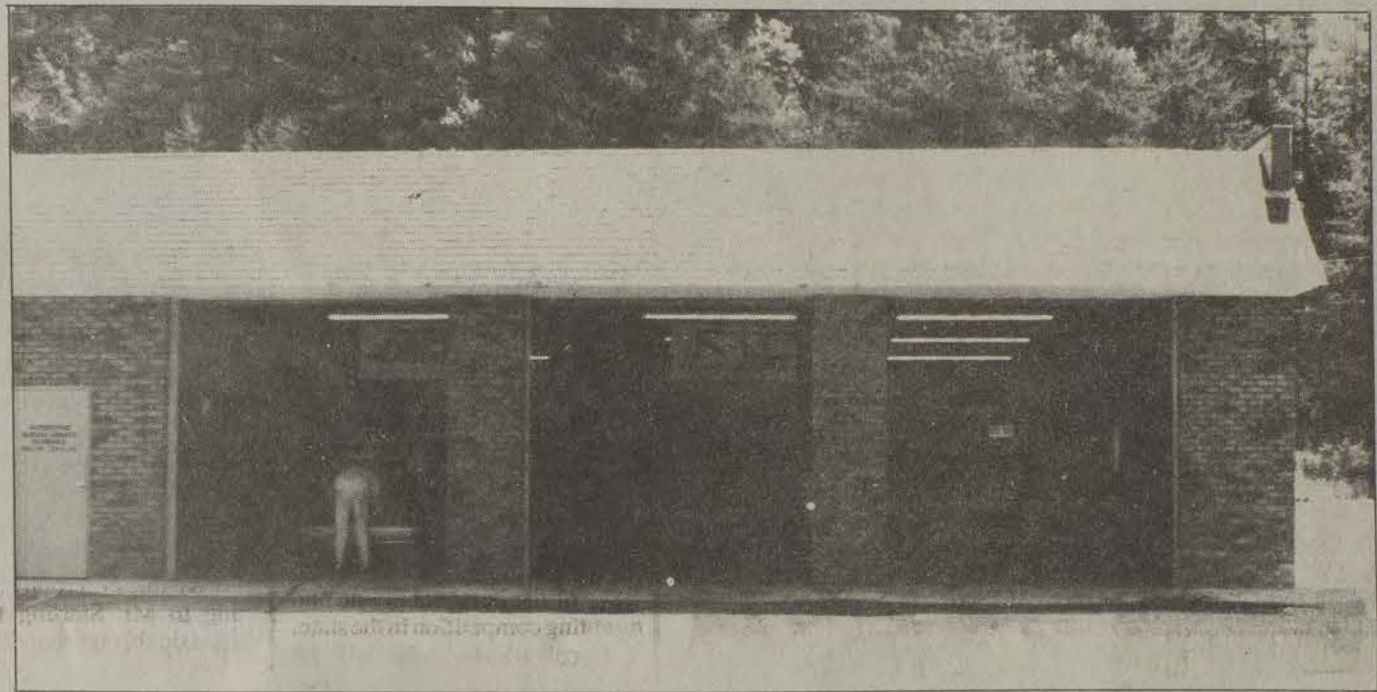

—The Economic Development Administration, Appalachian Regional Commission and the Department of Housing and Urban Development through its Community Development Block Grant Program are also participating in this project.

RDA has also determined that the proposed action will not significantly affect the quality of the human environment and will not prepare an environmental impact statement.

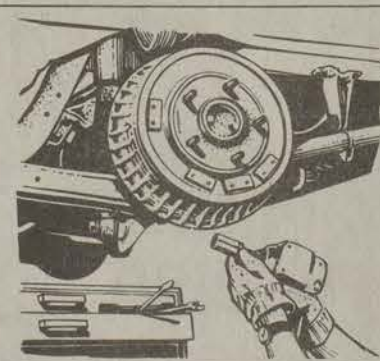

Any written comments regarding these determinations should be provided within 15 days of this publication to Mr. Thomas G. Farn, State Director, Farmers Home Administration, 771 Corporate Drive, Suite 200, Lexington, Kentucky 40503-5477. FmHA will make no further decisions regarding this proposed action during this fifteen-day period. Requests to review the FmHA environmental assessment upon which this determination is based or to receive a copy of it should be directed to the FmHA District Office, 207 London Shopping Center, London, KY 40741.

Federal law prohibits discrimination on the grounds of race, color, national origin, religion, age, handicap, and sex in this program.

Allen Central girls tune up for next week's regionals

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central girls track and field team will be in their final tune-up before next week's regional meet takes place at Breathitt County.

The women's team will be part of the Johnson Central Invitational this Friday as their last meet of the regular season.

This past weekend Allen Central tracked their way under some rather cloudy skies and monsoon rains to Shelby County where they competed in the always tough Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) meet.

The Lady Rebels placed eighth out of 12 teams with a total of 31 points. It was a good outing for Allen Central, as far as their coach Dewey Jamerson was concerned.

"Our girls did well, although some of them didn't place," he said. "Some of them feel good about it, but, then again, they don't."

Nikki Queen placed third in two events for the Allen Central girls. She had a third place finish in the women's long jump with a leap of 14 feet. Nicole Clark was measured at 11 feet 6 inches in the event.

Queen also placed third in the women's triple jump being measured at 25 feet. Pam Goble placed sixth overall at 21 feet.

Melissa Mullins took third place in the women's discus. Mullins had a toss of 76 feet 6 inches. Jennifer Patton did not place with her toss of 49 feet 5 inches.

Jenny Wells took sixth place in the shot put with a throw of 25 feet 6 inches. Mullins finished at 24 feet 1 inch.

Heather Conley competed in the women's high jump but did not place.

In the 3200-meter relays, Kristel Floyd, Annie Harvey, Dreama Isaac and Crystal Martin finished fifth out of the field of 12. The foursome posted a time of 11:26.

Pam Goble had a time of 20:88 in the women's 100-meter hurdles. Nicole Clark posted a personal best in the women's 100-meter dash at 14:52 and Queen ran a 13:95. Neither runner placed.

A new school record was set in the women's 800-meter relay. Clark, Floyd, Isaac and Elisha Ousley had a time of 2:04.4 for a fifth place finish.

Annie Harvey broke her own school record in the 1600-meter run. Harvey, who broke Jessica Wades record earlier this year, set a new record with her time of 5:59.26 for sixth place.

"It is the first time ever we have had someone run the event under six minutes," said Coach Jamerson.

Crystal Martin, in the same race, had her personal best with a time of 6:28.96.

Allen Central placed sixth overall in the women's 1600-meter relays. Floyd, Harvey, Isaac and Ousley made up the foursome that finished in 5:01.

The Allen Central 400-meter relay team failed to place with a time of 1:00.53. The foursome included Clark, Goble, Isaac and Queen.

Floyd took fifth place overall in the women's 400-meter dash. Floyd had a time of 1:08.25 while teammate Ousley was running her personal best at 1:11.72.

Ousley also had her personal best in the 300-meter hurdles. Ousley ran a 1:02.43. Goble ran a personal best also with a time of 1:05.81.

Harvey placed sixth overall in the 800-meter run. Harvey ran a 2:47.53, a personal best. Crystal Martin had a time of 2:58.45.

In the 200-meter dash, Floyd ran a 30.79, but did not place. Mary Baldrige had her fastest time of the year in the women's grueling 3200-meter run. Baldrige finished in 16:08.05.

Jamerson said that when his girls run the regionals next week, it will be a matter of just staying close.

"We're confident that we can win at Breathitt County," he said. "The thing will be staying close."

Allen Central will join Belfry, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg, Breathitt County, Dilce Combs, Knott County Central, Leslie County, Shelby Valley and Whitesburg in next week's regional. The Lady Rebs have beaten all but Leslie County this year.

"These next two weeks we are going hard," said Jamerson. "We have two week's left before the regionals and we will be working hard."

"We will be going to Johnson Central Friday evening and we want to let the kids win some events. We will be running on a six lane track at Breathitt County, so we'll have to push to qualify."

The preliminaries of the regional meet will be held on Thursday at 4:30 p.m. at the Sebastian Middle School in Jackson. The finals will take place Saturday beginning at 9:30 a.m. The top six finishers advance on to the finals on Saturday with the top three in each event going to the state.

Smart
SAVING MONEY AND RESOURCES TOGETHER

Q: How can I be sure I choose the right heating and cooling contractor? Is there anything special I should ask or look for?

A: Whoever installs your heating and cooling equipment will greatly influence your home, your environment. You want to be sure that the choice you make is an informed choice. And, be sure not to base your decision solely on price.

Find a contractor that is highly recommended and committed to providing you with the best system to meet your needs. Be sure to check customer and business references, licenses and financial stability.

The only way to determine technical qualifications is to invite the dealer to your home to evaluate the job you have in mind. Take notice of how thoroughly he evaluates your needs. Does he perform load calculations to make sure the equipment he is recommending is sized properly for your home? Does he clearly explain what he is doing and how he arrives at his conclusions. If not, you might want to reconsider doing business with this individual.

Like any profession or trade, product knowledge and education are critical to doing the job right. And, a truly professional dealer views training as an on-going, integral part of his business. On-going training is an indication that the dealer you are considering is up to date and knowledgeable about the latest technological developments in the industry.

Fannin, Clay lead Lady Cats to sweep of Johnson Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Jeanna Fannin had three hits in the first game and Jamie Clay tripled and homered in the second to lead the Prestonsburg Blackcats to a double-header sweep of the Lady Eagles from Johnson Central.

Prestonsburg edged the Lady Eagles in game one 7-5 and recorded a 15-5 mercy win in game two.

Fannin had two singles and a double in the first game as Prestonsburg scored three times in the second inning to take a 7-4 lead. Johnson Central held the lead at 4-0 with four in the first inning.

Prestonsburg tied the game at 4-4 while collecting five hits in the initial inning. Clay reached on an error at third, Jamie Ratcliff walked and Jennifer Miller collected a one out single to score Clay. Camillie Robinson lined a base hit to center and Fannin delivered a run scoring single. Fannin came home on Tara Fitzer's base hit.

Fannin laced a RBI double down the left field line that scored Clay and Ratcliff to make it a 7-4 game in the second. Carolyn Jones had led off the inning with a base hit and scored on Clay's double.

Johnson Central added its final run in the third on two hits and a walk.

Ratcliff, Fitzer and Robinson had two hits each for Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg scored eight runs in the third inning of game two en route to its 15-5 mercy win. Clay had a two-run single and four of the runs scored were unearned.

Clay tripled in the second inning scoring three runs. Jennifer Greathouse walked and Clark, Hall and Jones singled to load the bases while scoring Greathouse. Clay then cleared the bases.

Prestonsburg held a 14-5 lead going into its half of the fifth inning when Clay belted a lead off home run that gave the Lady Blackcats a 10 run lead and the game was called.

Donna Hall collected two hits for Prestonsburg while Clay finished with three.

Prestonsburg finished its regular season this past Monday night and now await the start of next week's district tournament at Besty Layne.

Allen Central Lady Rebels defeat South Floyd, fall to Magoffin County

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central Lady Rebels won one and lost one last week in high school softball action as the regular season winds down. Allen Central posted a 13-9 win over South Floyd and fell to a good Magoffin County team 16-6.

The Lady Rebels, a team without a home, had to face the Lady Hornets on the baseball diamond at Stumbo Park last Thursday. Allen Central had been playing their games on the Little League diamond but the start of the Little League season put them moving.

Misty Scott pounded out two doubles and Melissa Mullins collected two hits to lead the Lady Rebs past South Floyd. Kathy Conn and Natalie Cooley each had doubles.

Allen Central scored first in the second inning as they pushed home two runs for a 2-0 lead. The Lady Rebels went out in order in the first but got a two out base hit from Nikki Queen and Jennifer Mullins' triple to score one run. Mullins scored on an error at second base.

South Floyd took a 4-2 lead in the second inning as they collected four consecutive hits. Crystal Newsome started the Lady Raiders second with a leadoff single. Rachael Howell tripled her home and scored on Christy Tackett's double. Misty Shannon scored Tackett with an RBI single to make it 4-2.

Neither team could score in the third, but South Floyd did leave the bases loaded.

Reynolds two out single in the fourth inning gave South Floyd a 5-2 lead. The run was unearned.

Allen Central went on top 9-5 as they batted around in the fifth while scoring seven times. Mullins doubled home two runs and Scott drove in two with a two-bagger for Allen Central. Scott scored on Veronica McKinney's RBI single. Cooley doubled home McKinney to make it 9-5.

In the South Floyd fifth, two runs scored with the help of some shaky fielding by Allen Central. Tackett reached on an error and with one out, Frazier doubled home Tackett. Newsome then lined a base hit scoring Frazier. For the second time in the game, South Floyd left the bases loaded.

Allen Central experienced a four run sixth with Scott and Conn coming up with key hits. Scott picked up her third and fourth RBIs as she doubled in two runs. Conn then collected two RBIs with a double.

South Floyd scored single runs in the sixth and seventh without collecting a base hit in either frame.

Latisha Yates was the winning pitcher while Tackett suffered the setback.

Magoffin County mercied the Lady Rebels 16-6 in last Thursday's game. Conn and Jennifer Mullins had doubles for the Lady Rebs in the losing cause. Melissa Mullins, Queen and Scott collected two hits a piece.

Yates experienced some problems from the mound as she issued 12 walks in the game. The defense didn't help the cause by committing eight errors.

Allen Central scored two runs in each of the second, third and fifth innings. Magoffin County plated five runs in the second on a three-run triple off the bat of Jeanna Caba.

Allen Central will host Sheldon Clark tonight to close out its regular season.

Robertson captures FCA 3200-meter 2A run

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Stewart Robertson was the lone participant for the Prestonsburg track and field team at the Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) Meet at Shelby County this past Saturday.

But the dedicated runner was a standout in the men's 3200-meter run as he posted his second best time ever to capture the event to win the Class 2A title.

"It was a good opportunity for me," he said. "It gave me a chance to see some of the runners from the western part of the state. It was a good race for me."

Robertson is under the tutelage of Forrest Hughes, who has been instrumental in training several key athletes in the county. Robertson feels the competition he faced this past weekend will better prepare him for next week's regional meet at Breathitt County.

"We're (Coach Hughes) hoping for a first place finish next week," he said. "I'll be running in two events at Breathitt County."

Robertson will compete in the men's 1600 and 3200-meter runs, although he concentrated only on the two mile run at Shelby County.

"Coach Hughes said that he thought I should just compete in the two-mile run instead of running both. We wanted to just see how I would do," he said. "I've seen a lot of runners from Ashland and Morgan County. I've ran against them. But this gave me a chance to see the other part of the state."

Robertson finished first out of the 12 double-A schools that competed in the FCA meet. While everyone (3A and 2A) ran at the same time, the groups were separated with their times.

"They divided us into classes," explained Robertson.

Robertson narrowly missed bettering his best time of 10:15, a time he registered three weeks ago in a Pikeville meet.

"It was my second best time this year," he said. "The weather at Shelby County was cold and rainy, but I don't think it affected my time that much. I'm used to running in the rain because I have trained in the rain," he said.

Robertson stated that it was a warm, sunny day at Pikeville when he posted his best ever in the two-mile.

"It was about 65 degrees and in the evening. It was the last race of the day," he said. "Coach Hughes and I were pleased with my time."

Robertson competes with the Prestonsburg track and field team, and runs the 3200-meter relays as well.

"Our two-mile relay team has an excellent chance of going to the state meet this year. Us, along with Allen Central," said Robertson.

Six-run sixth gives Blackcats revenge over Allen Central

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats avenged an earlier loss to the Allen Central Rebels by posting a 9-6 come-from-behind win this past Monday evening at Archer Park.

Allen Central scored two runs in their half of the sixth inning to move in front 6-3. The Blackcats, however, came back strong with six runs in the bottom of the inning to go ahead 9-5 as they made the lead hold up over the final inning.

Kevin Robinson picked up the win in relief of Jake Poston, who started on the hill for the Blackcats. Robinson worked the sixth and seventh innings, allowing two runs on three hits. He walked two and struck out three.

Poston went the first five innings, allowing three runs on eight hits. He walked no one and fanned three. He also hit one batter.

Austin Shelton took the loss for Allen Central, going the first three and two-thirds innings. He allowed the Blackcats to score three runs on four hits. He struck out four and walked two. Glenn Floyd relieved Shelton in the fourth with two out.

Prestonsburg rallied in the sixth as designated hitter Ricky Lemaster lined a single to open the inning. Robbie Risner reached on an error at shortstop off the glove of Kevin Allen.

After Cory Reitz went out to center field, Jason Spencer lined a base hit to greet Floyd and score Lemaster. Jason Burke walked.

Seth Hyden then doubled home two runs for a 7-6 game. Thomas Ratliff had an RBI single as did John Stout to give Prestonsburg a 9-6 lead.

Allen Central scored two runs in the fourth to take a 4-3 lead after trailing 3-2. Todd Bingham singled with one out and scored on Kevin Allen's two out single. Allen came in to score on Floyd's RBI base hit.

Allen Central made it a 6-3 game with two more in the top of the sixth. Consecutive base hits by Shelton, Allen and Jeremy Hall plated both runs.

Prestonsburg led 1-0 after the first inning as they scored an unearned run against Shelton. Hyden reached on an error and scored on Ratliff's first hit.

Allen Central tied the game 1-1 when Jason Martin, who had singled, scored on Shelton's RBI single.

It was a 3-1 game with Prestonsburg scoring twice in the third, on a single by Hyden, a walk to Chris Hamilton and Stout's RBI single.

The Rebels scored a single run in the third to make it 3-2. Floyd opened the inning with a double and scored on Jason Martin's base hit.

Hyden, Ratliff, Stout and Lemaster collected two hits each for Prestonsburg. Stout finished with three runs batted in and Hyden had two RBIs.

Jason Martin had three base hits and two RBIs for Allen Central. Allen, Hall and Floyd had two hits each for the Rebels.

Fishing with... Scott Patton

One thing I've learned is that if you go back to the lake expecting to catch fish the same way you caught them the last time you were there, you're probably not going to be very satisfied with that day on the water. That is especially true during a tournament situation.

I will go out and try to pattern fish so I can catch them on the same lure at the same time of day. Practice is a critical element in a tournament. Let's say, for example, you find fish on a Thursday and you go back to those fish on a Sunday and try to fish the area the same way you fished it Thursday and you end up with negative results. You say to your partner, "I don't know what happened. There were fish everywhere the other day."

What happened is something has changed the environment of the fish. It may have been falling water. The water where you found these fish has dropped 6 inches which created a moving pattern. Another example could be rising water. The changes that affect the environment, and especially the environment of the fish, are what should be paid attention to. But how the bass react to these changes should be your biggest concern. You have to fish the fish.

When you are pre-fishing for a tournament and you locate an area that has fish in it, you may not want to release any of the fish back in that area. Keep them temporarily in the livewell and transport them to another area of the lake. This way a fish that isn't wise to you will not be on that stump or other cover. Another fish will move in a take that spot. If an area is holding fish and conditions change, the area may be replenished by a new fish.

Sometimes you find a nice looking area that is holding fish and you can catch them, on say a spinnerbait, by throwing it into the bushes and buzzing it back. You only catch a few and then leave it thinking that you didn't hurt the area. But what you may not realize is that here may have been 15 or 20 more fisherman fishing that area as well. So when you come back a few days later the fish will have gotten gun shy and you may have to flip a jig to these fish since they will probably be a lot less active.

There are a lot of possibilities to consider and a lot of changes that may occur, but with some detailed attention you can see into what's happening in the environment of the fish.

Keep a positive attitude. Keep casting, and KEEP FISHING!!!

Keep a positive attitude. Keep casting, and KEEP FISHING!!!

The Betsy Layne (17-6) Lady Cats got some strong support from Jessica Johnson and Shanna Clark in game two as they split a doubleheader with the Lady Pirates of Belfry this past Thursday night "on the hill" at Betsy Layne.

Belfry posted a 7-3 win in the first game with the Lady Cats coming back to win the nightcap 8-2.

Clark's and Johnson's bats came alive in the second game to help Betsy Layne avoid a sweep at the hands of Belfry. Johnson drilled a two-run home run in the fourth inning of the five inning game and had a first-inning triple. Clark had a triple, single and three runs batted in. Misty Clark and Christy Osborne also collected two hits.

Betsy Layne scored four times in the second and got two on Johnson's home run in the fourth to put the game on the winning side of the ledger.

Betsy Layne took a 2-0 lead in the first inning after Heather Keathley retired Belfry in order in the first. Johnson tripled and scored on Shanna Clark's triple. Misty Clark drove in Clark with a base hit.

Belfry managed to tie the score at 2-2 in the top of the second as both runs were unearned. Fish reached on a base hit, but the ball was mishandled in center field allowing her to advance. She scored when Taylor grounded a base hit to right field. Taylor scored on a fielder's choice.

Betsy Layne took the lead for good in the second, scoring four runs. All the scoring came after Belfry had completed a double play. Boyd had a two-out single and Keathley followed with a single.

Johnson was safe after her fly ball was dropped in left field and Shanna Clark, who is batting .585, delivered a two-run single. Misty Clark and Osborne had RBI singles in the game.

Keathley had drawn a one out walk and Johnson then hit her home run to make it an 8-2 game.

Belfry got a leadoff single by Dotson, but she was erased on a double play. Lanham lined out to second to end the game.

Belfry scored three times in the seventh inning of the first game to take a 7-3 win over the Lady Cats. Betsy Layne held a 3-1 lead through the first four innings until Belfry made it 3-2 with a single run in the fifth. The Lady Pirates took the lead for good with two in the sixth before adding the three in the seventh.

The Lady Pirates grabbed a 1-0 lead in the second inning on back-to-back singles by Lott and May. Betsy Layne came back with two in the third after two were out. Shanna Clark scored Tish Kidd and Keathley with a double.

A single run in the fourth gave Betsy Layne a 3-1 lead. The run scored on Osborne's RBI double that scored Johnson, who had doubled.

Belfry scored two unearned runs in the sixth for a 4-3 lead.

Betsy Layne will host South Floyd tonight on the hill.

Lady Cat notes:

- Shanna Clark, in leading the team in hitting, has 32 RBIs this season. Ashley Tackett is close behind with 31. Freshman Jessica Johnson has 29.
- Johnson is batting a robust .523 and Misty Clark is hitting at a .500 clip.

'Forks' and Bennett embrace UK future...

Fresh back from vacation, Kentucky basketball coach Rick Pitino did three noteworthy things at a press conference last week.

1. (Re)embraced his job, suggesting it might be (gulp) his last stop. 2. Acknowledged his FORKS (Friends O' Rick in Kentucky), and his players. They insisted he stay at UK. 3. Hired Winston Bennett.

WINSTON BENNETT

Said in this space more than a year ago that Pitino would do himself a (tactical) favor if Bennett were put on the payroll.

The Louisville native's loyalty to UK, his dignity and aura of self-confidence, and charisma make a package to boost UK's anemic recruiting program. And no(!), I don't mean with 'just' black youngsters.

The team captain of the '88 Wildcats and twice-All-SEC forward still commands special attention from fans. Many still flock to get his autograph and a fair share of those are children who could not have seen him play, but recognize the name.

Tactically, Bennett's enduring popularity should produce dividends when one looks over a Kentucky High School Future Talent list compiled by Blue Chips scout Rick Bolus. A third of the state's Top 50 stars-in-the-making are in the Louisville area.

UK RECRUITING PUZZLE

Samaki Walker is the latest to renege on a planned visit to UK, Derby weekend, signing with Louisville last week. What are reasons for UK's suddenly checkered recruiting record?

1. Campus visits. Outside of Tony Delk, Rodrick Rhodes and Mark Pope (signed all three), not since Pitino (or Ralph Willard) persuaded Cherokee Parks (Duke) and Tom Kleinschmidt (DePaul) to visit Lexington for Mid-Night Madness in 1989, has UK had a 'finisher,' an assistant coach who could baby-sit a recruit to keep a promise to visit campus.

List of might-have-signed, but didn't visit: Chris Webber, Charles O'Bannon, Jason Kidd, Eric Montross, Othella Harrington, Khalid Reeves, Corliss Williamson and Walker.

2. Inside-out. Conspicuous, number of front-court prospects who, after showing initial interest, soured on UK at the end. Scuttlebutt is rival recruiters telling (big) prospects: "Gotta shoot the three" and "Kentucky plays a guards-first-option offense."

3. The ethnic card. UK as a blue-blood haven where black players are plantation hands. Curious how that image won't stick at Duke and North Carolina, but remains a tattoo on UK, still employed by the competition.

Traditions die hard. Feeding the distorted images (chronologically): Eddie Sutton's Big Brother-Little Brother characterization, and Adolph Rupp's ambivalence in recruiting blacks. Cards that are still in play in the recruiting game.

A principal part of Bennett's mission then will be retooling UK's image in Jefferson County. He has the product, savvy and contacts.

Pitching UK? Bennett has credentials if not experience. The former includes a stay in the NBA; testimonials for UK's tutorial program; and rehabilitation program that insured recovery from a severe knee injury.

Experience? Pitino will have his new staffers well-schooled before summer camp tour time.

BEST RECRUITING CLASS?

Duke got the nod for best recruiting class '94 from Bob Gibbons. That was before Louisville added Walker to a list of Jerry Sanders, Damon Dantzler, Eric Johnson, Elton Scott and Tyrone Nesby.

Even with Nesby ticketed for junior college, UofL has signed the country's No. 4 and No. 6 best power forwards in Walker and Sanders, according to Van Coleman.

UofL has reloaded and Walker will make Cards' fans glad Cliff Rozier is history.

Johnson is a strong, quick, penetrating 2-guard; Dantzler a swing prospect who plays with a smile; and Scott needs a red shirt year.

Kentucky's recruiting class? So-so. But next cycle is the critical reloader. Meanwhile, transfer Pope will be to UK what Andrew DeClerque is to Florida, with perimeter range. If Antoine Walker qualifies and adjusts his marvelous talent to the system, Da Coach is suddenly presented the option of packaging Rhodes as "best sixth-man in basketball," car platoon him with Jared Prickett, Walter McCarty, Delk and Anthony Epps.

Meanwhile, Allan Edwards and Scott Padgett need a booster dose of 'get aggressive' before either is ready to challenge for playing time.

BITS 'N PEOPLE

If 6-9 Oliver Simmons of Nashville sticks to his commitment, UK has a jump on a 'must reload' year. Simmons is projected to be among the five premier prospects next season.... Dwane Casey was a (willing) candidate to become an assistant coach for Matt Kilcullen at Western Ky. "But I had just signed a new contract in Japan and couldn't get out of it," Casey said last week ... UofL heads for the Great Alaska Shoot-out in November. Also in the field: Arizona, Minnesota, Villanova, BYU, Oklahoma State, Jackson State and Alaska-Anchorage.

GIBSON LIKES TALENT ON KY. GIRLS ALL-STARS

Phil Gibson won't say it, but a sweep of Indiana's girls all-stars next month would be a cherry atop the whipped cream on 1994.

Webster County's head man is coach of the Kentucky All-Stars who will play Indiana June 18 in Freedom Hall and a week later in Indianapolis.

Gibson coached the 1993-94 Lady Trojans to a 21-4 season, improving Webster County's 14-year record to 296-123.

Reward? Selection to coach the Ky. all-stars.

"It's absolutely a big deal for anybody to get a chance to coach the Kentucky All-Stars," Gibson said recently. "And I'm very excited about it. It should be a wonderful experience."

Then Gibson got down to business. "The girls will report for workouts June 11 and we'll practice twice a day."

Because this year's all-stars are so talented and promising, Gibson's most immediate priority will be "to get the kids into a team mind-set. We may have to define some roles right away so we get the best from everybody."

Kentucky's roster features an array of exceptional players, particularly guards, (seven of 12).

"Laurie Townsend (Apollo) is a true point guard," the coach said. "She handles the ball well and gets others involved. That's important for us," the coach said.

"Nicole Hay (Henderson) and Misty Geary (Ohio Co.) are guards too, but they're the type who can play a lot of spots. So, that gives us some different options."

Inside, Gibson and assistant Mina Todd (Ohio Co.) will enjoy the luxury of two prolific scorer-rebounders in 6-3 Kim Denkins (Nicholas Co.) who led the state in scoring last season, and 6-2 Vonda Jackson (Clay Co.).

Both were Miss Basketball candidates and are bound for the University of Kentucky.

More firepower? Kristie Combs (M.C. Napier) and Bobbi Coltharp (Graves Co.) are proven point makers.

Two more frontcourt jewels are 5-11 Sharonda Allen (Southern) and 5-11 Latasha Peterson (Manual), noted for their rebounding and defensive skills. They are headed to Western Ky. and UK, respectively.

"Sharonda is just a tremendous athlete who can do lots of things," Gibson said. "And Peterson plays excellent defense. So, those are two players who can play different roles too."

The Kentucky All-Stars go public on June 14 when they play a team of Kentucky's best juniors at Central Hardin High (in Elizabethtown, 6

Knights of Columbus to sponsor fishing tournament Saturday

The Knights of Columbus Council number 11191 will sponsor a fishing tournament Saturday at St. Martha's Catholic Church on the Lancer Watergap Road. The tournament is open to any fisherman of any age and the registration fee is only $1.

Fishermen must register at the parish on Friday or Saturday and before they begin fishing. A trophy will be given to the fisherman who has the three fish with the largest combined weight.

Additional awards will be given to the fisherman with the heaviest fish of each species.

While the tournament is open to any fisherman, the Council is hoping that parents will use the opportunity to introduce their children to the fun and excitement of fishing in a tournament.

There will be a shuttle bus leaving from the church at 7:30, 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. and again at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. to bring fishermen to two private ponds, although fishermen may fish anywhere in Floyd County they choose, except the local food store. The weigh-in will begin at 4:30 p.m. at the parish, which will be followed by an outdoor potluck picnic that will last until 6:15.

For more information, contact the church at 874-9526. This is the first year for the Knights of Columbus Council at the church and the fishing tournament is the first community event of the season.

p.m. EDT).

PARTING SHOT

Lemme see if I got this straight, Pete Rose charged $25 for an autograph. At one point Mickey Mantle's was $15.

Last week Travis Ford was in Elizabethtown for a mall visit that had a kindly enough pitch. Something like: 'come meet Travis Ford.'

But, if you wanted an autograph, Ford's signature cost $6 on a collector's card and $12 on any non-flat surface.

I don't see how a college player, even an All-American, could look a little kid in the face and say, "that'll be 12 bucks."

But hey, if fans cough up the cash, whatever the market will bear, right Trav?

And so it goes.

TRACKER PRO FISHIN' TIPS

If your favorite lake has some bluff banks, try ripping a spinnerbait parallel to them. Bass will swim a long way to hit lures fished in this manner.

Position your boat so that you can make casts against the bluff, and aim at irregularities in the face of the rock. Then retrieve your spinnerbait as fast as necessary to keep it just a few inches under the surface.

And be sure to fish every cast all the way back to the boat because bass will sometimes follow your lure a long way, only to strike at the last second. Tricks like that make this kind of fishing as exciting as it is productive.

Associated Designs-Eugene, Oregon

A welcoming front porch spans the front of the Altadena and wraps around to the left. The low-slung roofline, central dormer and thick, tapered porch columns are reminiscent of the Craftsman bungalows that were popular early in this century.

Outside dimensions are 44 feet by 40 feet, allowing the home to fit neatly on a city lot. With close to 1,800 square feet of living space, this plan isn't large. But it's not small either. And it's designed for construction over a full basement.

The entry is high-ceilinged and bright. Sunlight streams in through the three windows in the dormer overhead, bathing the stairs and hallway in natural light. The living room, off to the right, has a homey stone or brick fireplace.

None of the rooms run together in this plan. The dining room is well separated from both the kitchen and the living room, but easily accessible from either direction.

Standing at the kitchen sink, you can gaze out at the rear yard and a deck that could be extended to span the entire back of the house, if desired. Utilities hide behind folding doors, as does a small pantry. Lazy susan shelving provides access to corner cupboards.

The master suite is roomy and practical complete with a private bathroom and walk-in closet. French doors open onto the front porch.

Two mirror-image bedrooms are upstairs in the Altadena. Each has plenty of closet space and a private lav. Tub and toilet connect to both rooms.

For a review plan, including scaled floor plans, elevations, section and artist's conception, send $10 to Associated Designs, 1260 Chamelton St., Suite 2, Eugene, Ore. 97401. Please specify the Altadena 41-006 and include a return address when ordering. A catalog featuring over 150 home plans is available for $12. For more information call (800) 634-0123.

Bassin with the Pros

BASS MAY MOVE QUICKLY AS THE WEATHER CHANGES

It's early morning with overcast skies, and the bass are biting actively. An hour later the sky is clear, the sun is bright, and the bass are nowhere to be found.

A few hours later, a calm, bright day changes abruptly with clouds and a slight wind that puts a ripple on the water. The bass suddenly begin biting again.

"If you fish for bass very long, you'll experience sudden changes like this again and again," laughs Johnson Outboards Pro Staff angler Jerry Rhyne. "Bass seem to change their moods as quickly as the weather changes."

There are just two things to remember about bass and weather says Rhyne. When the weather is bright and calm, the fish normally hold tight to cover and shade; and when skies are cloudy or overcast or the water's surface is broken by waves, bass are more active.

"I believe it's as much a survival instinct as anything," says Rhyne, a veteran angler who has been catching bass for more than 40 years. "In calm, clear water, the bass are visible to their enemies, such as birds or even fishermen."

"They're also visible to the prey they're trying to catch, so they move back into the shadows where they can hide. They don't chase lures very far when conditions are like this, so you have to really concentrate on presenting a lure back into the cover with them. That's why flipping and pitching worms and jigs are usually productive under these conditions."

Just the opposite is true when the weather is cloudy or if the water's surface is broken by waves. Bass can't be seen nearly as easily under such conditions, says the Johnson pro, so they tend to move away from the cover and roam more.

"When conditions are like this, you can fish faster-moving lures like spinner baits and crank baits and catch bass much easier because they're more active," he explains. "Bright, sunny days may be nice times to be on the water, but serious fishermen always prefer conditions with clouds or wind."

Now in the autumn months, weather changes not only tend to come quickly, says Rhyne, but also are usually more severe.

"When warm weather is followed by a sudden cold front, bass often head to deeper water," he explains, "but if there is heavy cover in shallow water, bass may also use it. Vegetation is an excellent place to fish for cold front bass."

"If you fish deeper water, simply move from shallow flats or points out toward the first significant depth change, like a ditch or creek channel, and try slow-rolling a spinner bait right over the drop," he continues.

"Normally, the key to catching cold front bass this time of year is working lures more slowly and around heavier cover. You can still catch fish, but you have to understand what they do when the weather changes so quickly."

CARDS AND COLLECTING

Pitchers are generally big, tall fellows now, but back in the 1950s a small pitcher could be successful... BOBBY SHANTZ stood only 5-foot-6 but, according to Ted Williams, had the best curveball in the league... His big season was 1952, when he went 24-7 for the fourth-place Philadelphia A's and took the MVP Award in the days before there was a Cy Young Award... He was later an effective reliever for the New York Yankees and several N.L. teams... When the Gold Glove Awards began in '57, Bobby won the first one, and also the next seven... The card is from the Action Packed All-Star Gallery, a set selling for $30...

NO WINNERS WILL BE ANNOUNCED

Part of the Kentucky Education Reform Act (KERA) is referred to as "Outcome-Based Learning." Unless you've just arrived from the Twilight Zone, you know that, like almost everything about KERA, "Outcome-Based Learning" is nothing, if it's not controversial. Critics rank it right up there with jumbo shrimp and rap music as being one of the world's most obvious oxymorons, while those who support it think it's the only way to go and will surely be the salvation of our children's educational future.

Perhaps it was someone in the latter group who was so sold on the plan that they thought it should be broadened; that it should be applied not only to trivial things like reading and writing and learning basic skills, but also to the most sacred of our social institutions: high school sports. Then again, maybe it wasn't. Maybe it was a critic, tongue planted firmly in cheek, who penned the new proposal.

Regardless of from whence it came, however, I found the following plan, which (as far as I can tell) parallels very closely the one currently being used in Kentucky's classrooms—especially in the lower primary grades—tacked to the bulletin board at work. Unfortunately, it was unsigned and proper credit cannot be given to its author (s). That's really too bad, too. It's kind of like Margaret Mitchell's forgetting to sign GONE WITH THE WIND.

Anyway, here it is. It's titled "Outcome-Based Basketball" and reads as follows: "All high school basketball teams must use Outcome-Based Basketball beginning next season. To ensure that all teams feels successful, we will not keep score. It is more important that the team learn the process and finish the game at the skill level determined by the coach rather than be winners.

"To make sure everyone meets all the outcomes, poor players must be given more practice time and coaching. No scores will be kept and no winners will be announced. During games, anyone who fails to make goals, double dribbles, fouls or displays an uncooperative attitude toward the process, will be remediated during time-outs. The better players must sit on the bench, help coach the others until they demonstrate the right moves, or engage in enrichment activities such as playing tag. These games will last much longer, so be prepared to stay.

"All teams will complete 12 games and will receive the same trophy. No records will be kept, no statistics will be needed, nor will we need any play-offs, all-star teams or recognition banquets. Trophies will be meaningless, but everyone will get one.

Greenes address volunteers of KET

Literacy friends

KET's founder and former executive director O. Leonard Press, right, thanked Danny and Ann Greene for their volunteer efforts on behalf of KET.

KET volunteers were honored at the Friends of KET annual meeting and recognition luncheon held recently at the University of Kentucky Boone Faculty Club in Lexington.

The KET volunteer network is a statewide group of people who give of their time and talents and serve as Friends of KET board members, county coordinators, network center volunteers and interns.

The luncheon speakers, Danny and Ann Greene of The David School, shared the history of the school, their appreciation of volunteers, and ideas for how agencies like KET can work to improve educational opportunities for all Kentuckians. Danny Greene recalled his "moment" when, as a high school student in Brooklyn, he was asked by a teacher to help another student learn to read. This volunteer act served as a catalyst in 1972 when the opportunity arose to found The David School in Floyd County, and, he said, continues to motivate him in his work in education.

Ann Greene, who serves as adult education director of The David School as well as coordinator of the Floyd County Literacy Council, related the value of KET's GED and literacy programs in her work.

Kid's Health Kamp registration begins

Summer is on the way and it's time to begin summer planning. Our Lady of the Way Hospital will collaborate with the Christian Appalachian Project's Camp Shawnee in offering a special summer health camp for kids again this year.

"Kid's Health Kamp" will be held August 1-5 for children ages 7-13 who have asthma, diabetes or are overweight. The camp will once again be an overnighter, hosting lots of indoor/outdoor activities and education sessions for both children and parents on appropriate health topics.

Some of the outdoor activities which will take place are swimming, canoeing, nature walks, paddleboating, our famous land/water olympics, evening campfires and many others. Arts & crafts will also be part of the daily fun.

The camp staff will include a registered nurse, respiratory therapist, registered dietitian, certified diabetes educator, lifeguard, camp counselors, etc. (Volunteers are needed for many of these positions and any assistance would be greatly appreciated. Counselors must be at least 16 years of age).

Registrations are now being accepted and interested parents are encouraged to contact the Community Health Education Department at 606-285-5181, Ext. 388 as soon as possible for further information or to register your children.

Last year's camp was a great success and hope to see everyone there again this year.

Floyd native receives "Special Distinction Award" as consultant

Dr. Patricia Terry, a Language Arts Consultant for Hamilton County (Ohio) Office of Education, was the recipient of the "Special Distinction Award" at a recent state education conference.

Dr. Terry received the award from the Ohio Council of Teachers of English Language Arts (OCTELA). OCTELA presents awards each year to four outstanding teachers and one outstanding administrator in language arts. Terry received her award at the OCTELA conference in Worthington, Ohio.

While attending the conference, Terry was also elected vice president of the state group. Accepting this post means that Terry will serve as president-elect in 1995 and as OCTELA president in 1996.

Terry is the daughter of Quentin and Lava Terry, formerly of Prestonsburg. Terry attended Prestonsburg Grade School and High School. She also attended Prestonsburg Community College for two years, and then transferred to the University of Kentucky where she earned her Master's degree in Education. She then earned a Doctor's degree at Ohio State University.

Dr. Terry, along with her twin sister Pam, were known in Prestonsburg as the Terry Twins.

Florida family opens heart and home to Pike College students

Thanks to the kindness of Pikeville College trustee Carl Westman and his family, spring break was made especially memorable this year for four Pikeville College students. The Westmans, of Naples, Florida opened their hearts and home to the students in true Christian hospitality.

The four students—William Hall, a senior from Raccoon majoring in science/mathematics, Mark Blackburn, a junior from Prestonsburg majoring in mathematics education, Brad Hall, a sophomore from Weeksbury majoring in business with a computer science emphasis, and Donnie Akers, a senior from Banner majoring in biology/chemistry—embarked Friday, March 18, on their journey.

"We had a great trip," Akers said. "When we arrived the Westman's helped us identify their house by flying a big orange banner they had made themselves with the Pikeville College seal on it."

For Blackburn, the trip was especially meaningful as it marked his first trip to Florida. "They made us feel at home right away," said Blackburn. "As soon as they introduced themselves they showed us the refrigerator. It was filled with all kinds of food and the only thing they asked was that we eat it up before we left. The first place they took us after we unpacked was to the Gulf of Mexico. I saw it for the first time, right at sunset, it was an amazing experience."

The students were royally entertained during their four day visit. The first day included a voyage on the Gulf aboard Westman's yacht, The Endurance, where the students were allowed to call their parents from a point five miles off shore, and enjoyed a dinner party complete with a beautiful sunset and porpoises playing in the surf.

On day two the Westman family presented the young men a pass to Useppa Island, a private resort known world-wide for its Tarpon fishing. Legend has it that centuries ago pirates buried treasure on the island. Although the students didn't attempt to catch a Tarpon or dig for treasure, they did enjoy the pool, jacuzzi, croquet, and biking trails.

"That evening we returned to a four-course candlelight dinner on the patio," said Akers. "The Westmans had prepared stone crab and giant shrimp for us. They were so generous and courteous, really good Christian people."

Before leaving for home the students also visited the Everglades' Corkscrew Swamp, an area nature preserve, sheltering alligators, various birds, wildlife, and Tampa's Busch Gardens.

When asked for his comments on the students' visit to his home Westman responded with a letter. It is reprinted here in its entirety.

"The implicit message carried to Naples by a special envoy of Pikeville College students was—that if you are favorably impressed with us, you surely will be impressed with our fellow students at the college. What a profound message for a group of students on 'spring break' to bring a thousand miles to a new trustee of their college.

"These students were not the stereotypical students that Florida residents usually anticipate arriving each spring. A college trustee could only be favorably impressed with four mature young men, who while very intelligent, remained humble, and clearly exhibited a depth of character and understanding found only in young people who have accepted the traditional values, apparently instilled in most of the indigenous population of the hills of eastern Kentucky.

"As a college trustee it was a pleasure for me, with my family, to acquaint our special envoy of Pikeville College students with several of the unique natural attractions of southwest Florida. While the young men exhibited considerable enthusiasm and appreciation for what they observed and experienced during their visit with us, I must confess that my family and I were the recipients of a majority of the benefits resulting from the notion that a group of Pikeville College students might enjoy coming to southwest Florida on their spring break to visit a new trustee and his family."

Hospitality plus

MAYBE HE'LL GROW UP TO BE A PSYCHOLOGIST

My 4-year-old son said something big would happen before his bath.

He rushed into the bathroom where his tub of hot water awaited, told me to wait outside and closed the door.

"You're going to be really surprised, dad," he said. "Don't come in."

Seconds later, he cracked open the door. "While you're standing out there, you can put these in the clothes basket," he said before closing the door, handing me the dirty clothes that he's supposed to put in the right spot.

A few seconds later, the bathroom door opened again and he jumped out.

"And you can take these socks, too, dad," he said in a perky voice, before darting back into the bathroom and closing the door.

Lucky me.

"Isn't this supposed to be your job?" I asked through the door.

"But I've got a surprise for you tonight," he said.

His big "surprise" turned out to be the splash noise he wanted me to hear as he jumped into the tub.

Big deal. The bigger revelation was how easily a 4-year-old can manipulate you. For some reason, the kid just hates to put dirty clothes away before a bath.

My guy found the perfect strategy—and the perfect sucker—to get him out of it.

But dad has wised up. I now know the truth about kids: They are masters of psychology.

DOING IT FOR ME

You would think outsmarting a kid who can't read yet wouldn't be that tough.

It's not as easy as it sounds. Our little man devises new ways every day to get his way.

"I want to go somewhere," he told me one recent Sunday afternoon.

"Not today, pal," I told him. "We've got things to do right now."

"We could go to the store and look at the Ninja Turtles," he said. "Would you like to do that? Let's go do that."

"Not today, bud," I said.

"C'mon, dad," he replied. "Do it for you."

Yeah. Right, kid.

If one approach doesn't work, he falls back on others that are sure to get under my skin.

He bugged the life out of me one weekend afternoon to go play on our new home computer.

"Let's go do it, dad," he said.

"Not right now," I said.

We replayed the exchange about five more times before his mother bailed me out.

"Hey, Joshua, would you like to go to the mall with mommy?" she asked.

I could have hugged her. What a sweet thing for her to do—except for one problem.

"I don't want to go," he said.

Our jaws dropped and our eyebrows raised in unison. This kid always wants to go somewhere, especially the mall.

Why not this time?

"I want to stay here with daddy and ask him a hundred times to go play on the computer," he said.

Fortunately, he asked me only about 20 times more before he changed his mind and went with his mother.

ALWAYS A PLAN

Sometimes I think there's a 50-year-old hiding in my son's 38-pound body.

The kid always has a plan—and a response.

After his bath he likes me to hold him up in a horizontal position and walk him through the house. He calls it "flying like Superman."

I was about to help him fly again the other night when he kept combing his hair instead.

"Are you going to comb your hair all night or you want to fly like Superman?" I asked him.

His reply: "You want Superman to look good, don't you?"

Then there are the really dangerous things he wants to do. He likes for me to lie on the living room floor while he jumps over me.

"I want to jump over your face," he said one night after work.

"No, dad," he said. "This is not a trip thing, this is a jump-over-your-face thing."

Moments later, I saw heels gliding over my nose.

"You're really brave," my wife said.

Her comment made me feel brave, but it wasn't really true. It was just dad being taken in by the kid—again.

Hands-off—Who would've ever thought?

I sincerely hope you readers caught last Wednesday's edition of this newspaper. Frankly, I found it very interesting.

by Kim Frasure

For example, in case you missed it, who would've ever thought an author and a child expert would prescribe a "Hands-off approach to parenting?"

My eyes were glued to this feature on Rosemond, psychologists/author. The "Points to ponder" information was definitely something to ponder.

Why? Well just to pick a statement or two, Rosemond says, "Good parenting is a matter of what you don't do and what you do do" and you can bet your sweet bippy that's a fact.

But, he continued, to say one particular thing that made my shoes fit a tad bit tight.

Yes, my fellow readers, parents should not drive their children to a lot of after-school activities.

Now, I'm really in trouble. Just last week, after closing the store at 5 p.m., I had to get Tiff to softball practice at 5 p.m. So, of course, she had to be 10 minutes late. Ashleigh had a softball game at Ashxier at 5 p.m. but thanks to Mother Nature the ground was too wet and that was postponed, only to make it possible for her to go to gymnastics.

Are you exhausted yet? Confused, maybe? Try being their mother.

We've not discussed cheerleading practice and forensics yet. Don't worry, I won't add to the confusion.

It's just when I finally do get home I either find a sink full of dishes, a washer full of clothes I've forgotten to put in the dryer, or worse, I find that darn Pepsi I put in the freezer the night before to get cold, only now it's burst and I've got one more mess to conquer.

Rosemond says, "The best parents are laid-back parents. Don't put in your child's mind that adults exist to do things for them."

What I'd give to "lay back" in a good ol' easy chair, Pepsi in one hand and have no place I had to be, or two places at once.

I can see it now, "Mom, come on I'm gonna be late for practice," says Tiff. "Hurry, mom, I've got to be at practice, too," says Ash.

Yeah, yeah, yeah. Well, girls, that's just tuff turkey. I wasn't put here to be your chauffeur, says me.

I'm gonna sit back, relax. Get your ol' mom a Pepsi and sit down and let's have some quality time.

"What," I would undoubtedly hear till the shrill erupted a volcano in Hawaii. Why, their hair would stand on end, nostril's would flare, bottom lips would pucker, those big brown eyes would turn red, arms would fling, one would hyperventilate, the other would probably pass right out.

Children, it would not be a pretty site to behold.

Why, they'd head to the nearest phone and call 1-800-MY-MOM'S lost her mind.

Now, I'm not sure where or whom to point the finger at, but I was under the impression that in order to be a "good" mother, I was to see that my daughters expand their horizons to the best of my capabilities and theirs.

After all, I thought there are valuable lessons of life to be learned while taking part.

Such as skill, synchronization, sportsmanship, respecting others... The list goes on.

All this time, nearly fourteen years of being a parent and weighing what to do, what not to do. Those darn scales!

Ya know, after hearing almost on a daily basis about people in general and of course, some "stars" too. What takes place in our children's childhood's definitely shows up in their adulthood and send quite a few of them to the "dreaded" couch.

Just for an example, take poor ol' Roseanne. The woman is filthy rich and nutty as a fruitcake passed around for generations.

And who's to blame? Her parents, so she says.

KFWC Drift Woman's Club

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs met for its 99th Annual Convention in Lexington at the Radisson Plaza Hotel on April 27, 28, 29 to celebrate a century of service.

Special Centennial events included a return to the KFWC's birth place, "Ashland," the home of Henry Clay where Lucretia Clay gathered a group of interested ladies, and KFWC was launched.

Mrs. Trulla Poynter, KFWC President, invited Ann Holland, International President, as special guest. She delivered the banquet address on Thursday, April 28th.

"Savoring the Past" was used as the theme for Celebrating the Centennial Year. On Friday evening, the featured speaker was Dr. Patty Rai Smith, extension program specialist, University of Kentucky.

New state officers for 1994-96 were elected and installed. The new Board of Directors met and plans for the new administration were announced.

The following members from the KFWC Drift Woman's Club attended as delegates: Miss Ruby Akers and Ms. Roney Clark.

Awards were won in the following areas: GFWC Clubwoman Magazine 100 percent; "Kind News Certificate of Caring," for adopting three teachers in order to assist children in developing compassion; a service of justice and a respect for all living creatures and the environment; Certificate of Appreciation from Hugh O'Brian youth foundation. In student art, Teddi Leah Pack won 1st place in Acrylics from South Floyd High School, and Beth Cook won 1st place in Quilted Wall Hangings.

The Drift Woman's Club, along with any available graduate or person willing to help, is planning a "giant" homecoming reunion for all alumni of McDowell High School from 1934-1994. The next meeting will be May 23rd at the McDowell Family Resource Center.

Dr. Hall visits family in Prestonsburg

Dr. Debra Karen Hall has returned to her home in Florence, South Carolina, after a week-long visit with her parents, Lloyd and Amanda Hall of Goble Roberts Addition, in Prestonsburg.

During her stay, Dr. Hall was a guest of Tommy Brown of Mt. Sterling, for lunch at May Lodge. She enjoyed dinner at J. R.'s Restaurant with Julie Morrissey of Chesapeake, Ohio, Johnna Kirk of Inez, Ted George of Prestonsburg, and her mother, Amanda Hall. She attended a cook-out hosted by John and Johnna Kirk at their home in Inez. Others attending the cook-out were: John Hill, Lloyd Keith Hall, Ted George and Tommy Brown.

Dr. Hall spent a day of shopping in Lexington with her mother, and afterwards was a guest at a dinner party at the home of Jeff and Lee Ann Cook before returning to South Carolina.

East Point Homemakers hold meeting

The East Point Homemakers met May 3 at the home of Betsy Baldrige.

The meeting was called to order by Armita Snavelly and the devotional was given by Priscilla Hager. Roll call was answered with ideas for homemaker's lessons and projects for the next year. Lorena Home gave the treasurer's report.

The April homemakers meeting was combined with the Home Furnishing Show that was held March 30. The Home Furnishings Show, Quilt/Tote Basket workshop and Landscape meeting was successful.

It was announced that the enrichment camp will be held June 12 and 13. A second Quilt/Tote Basket workshop will be held at the extension building.

Officers for the coming year are Armita Snavelly, president; Mary Nell Bingham, vice president; Betsy Baldrige, secretary; Shirley Callihan, devotional; and Priscilla Hager, telephone chairman.

A show and tell time was held. Members toured Ms. Baldrige's home and buildings.

The lesson colors and prints in Home Furnishings was given by Armita Snavelly.

Those present were Betsy Baldrige, Armita Snavelly, Dorothy Harris, Shirley Callihan, Lorena Home, Priscilla Hager, Frances Pitts and Doris DeHart.

Birthday

Miles Payton Hamilton, son of Charlene Martin of Wayland and Randy N. Hamilton of McDowell, celebrated his birthday with a construction cake on March 11, at his home. He is the grandson of Charles R. Martin of Wayland and the late Linda Moore and Dorothy Derossett of Prestonsburg and the late Pay Hamilton. He is the sister of Leah S. Hamilton of Wheelwright and Misty Heartshul of Willard, Ohio.

Quilt winner

Lorraine Baldrige, Prestonsburg, won the quilt donated by Virginia Goble of Cow Creek. Funds from the raffle will be used to build a monument at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

Event raises funds for dedication of special monument and plaque

Lorraine Baldrige, Prestonsburg, was the lucky winner of a quilt completed by First United Methodist Church women and donated by Virginia Goble of Cow Creek recently. The event raised $1,155.26 to be used toward a monument and plaque at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park in memory of the 26 children and bus driver who drowned in the Big Sandy River at Knotley Hollow on Friday, February 28, 1958. An annual $1,000 scholarship will be given at graduation to a Floyd County senior.

Rebecca Jarrell has donated another quilt which will be displayed at the Floyd County Library to be given away during the Jenny Wiley Festival in October. Chances of $1 will be sold on this quilt. Donations are welcome toward the scholarship or memorial.

"Psycho-behavioral basketball experts feel that this will increase the self-esteem of every player, who will feel great about his/her accomplishments. We discourage playing any games against teams that don't have the same regulations. It would be unfair competition to play against teams that emphasize excellence and winning. The peer pressure of not being part of our group should be sufficient motivation to conform the "traditional" team to the Outcome-Based Basketball Model."

Now, is that scary, or what? I mean, if you don't have winners... what's left?

Senior citizens, your first very personal TV show is history. Senior Citizens Spotlight aired for the first time last week on WPRG out of Harold. The spotlight was focused on Roberta Fugate. She was chosen as the area's Volunteer of the Year for the Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens.

Fugate is a recently retired school teacher who taught many of your children and grandchildren over the past 30 years. She has donated literally hundreds of hours to our senior citizens through this program.

She organized and implemented her own volunteer efforts on your behalf; she "filled-in" on a moments notice when another volunteer could not keep a commitment and she worked in my office as an Administrative Volunteer Benefits Counselor. Because of this woman's intervention, my office has been able to expedite many requests that senior citizens with needs have made to us through the year.

The Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens is sponsored by the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky (Legal Services), and is depended on volunteers, who, like Roberta Fugate, are willing and able to work without pay on your behalf.

My office covers five counties. Without the assistance of our dedicated volunteers we could not accomplish nearly what we do for senior citizens in Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties. Even with our volunteers and the numerous hours they donate, we are not able to reach everybody.

Our volunteers donate their time and their expertise. In addition to our volunteers, the Benefits Counseling Program has other resources made available to it on behalf of our senior citizens. There are others who fill a vital role in our outreach efforts.

The Floyd County Times, like our volunteers, are instrumental in reaching senior citizens. Week after week they publish your Sunshine Lines column—the articles you are reading right now. Because of this newspaper, not a week goes by that we don't receive several calls from senior citizens with special, and sometimes painfully alarming, needs.

The management of WPRG-TV in Harold is another resource we have available in our efforts to reach you. They have allowed us air time for call-in programs and just recently they graciously donated air time, the first Thursday evening of each month, to televise Senior Citizens Spotlight. This, my friends, is your program, just as Sunshine Lines is your newspaper article.

Because of our volunteers, this newspaper's involvement in your welfare, and the television station's willing broadcast, you are learning about the Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens. Each week, because of these combined outreach efforts, senior citizens are learning about us, they are calling us, and we are striving to help them.

Now, let's get back to Roberta. She has also been nominated for the statewide Kentucky Benefits Counselor of the Year award. This, your program, needs more volunteers like Roberta. If you are interested in volunteering on behalf of our senior citizens, give me a call.

If you are a senior citizen in need of help or if you know a senior citizen who needs help, call toll-free 1-800-556-3876. If you want more information regarding the Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens call and ask that we send you a free brochure.

We are here for you. There is no charge for our service.

To every volunteer, this newspaper, and WPRG, thank you for making this a much better year for many of our senior citizens. We hope that through your continued efforts and loyalty, we will be able to assist hundreds more of our area's senior citizens during this program's second year. Thank you, each and everyone, so very much!

Carolina Hicks, daughter of Randall and Judy Shepherd of Hueysville, and Dustin Conn, son of Delano and Delores Conn of Allen, were united in marriage on February 19, in Gatlinburg, Tennessee. A reception was given by the bride's family and friends. The bride is employed by the First Guaranty National Bank of Martin. The groom is employed by Aiding Mining. They now reside in Hueysville with daughter Amanda Lashae.

Fifth birthday

Christopher Thomas Caudill celebrated his fifth birthday with a party Sunday, April 26. He celebrated with a Barney cake, ice cream, and family and friends. He is the son of Thomas and Karen Caudill of Hueysville.

Sneed, Coon exchange vows

Paula Sue Sneed and Gary David Coon were married April 9, at 2 p.m. at Memorial Baptist Church, Savannah, Georgia. The Rev. Bernie Joy officiated.

The bride's parents are Barbara Sneed and the late Maurice Sneed. Her grandparents are Paul Campbell of Weeksbury and the late Mildred Campbell. The groom's parents are Arthur Coon and Virginia Coon of Vero Beach.

Given in marriage by her brother, Greg Sneed of Atlanta, the bride chose Cindy Miles as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Chris Seymour, the groom's sister, and Suzanne Mitchum. Junior bridesmaid was Mandy Miles. Flower girl was Melissa Niebel, the groom's niece.

The groom's brother, Bill Coon of Orlando, was best man. Groomsmen were Scott Seymour and Nikki Coon, the groom's nephew. Ringbearers were Patrick Miles and Donnie Miles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Mulberry Inn. The couple will live in Savannah, Georgia.

Martin, Caudill wed

Wendell and Jackie Martin of Hunter announce the marriage of their daughter, Wendi, to Sean Caudill, son of Reginald and Mavis Caudill of McLeansboro, Illinois. An outside ceremony was held at 1 p.m. at the home of the groom's grandmother, Olive Johnson, on April 30, at Jacks Creek. The couple resides at Price.

Kim's Korner

At any rate, I certainly don't want to be white-headed with a cup of coffee in one hand, a walking cane in the other, as I sit shawl-over-shoulders in a rocking chair watching the tube and see a decrepit Barbara Walters interviewing "The Frasure Sisters—Life destroyed because of mother."

Lord, help us parents of today's generation!

Do we engage in time-out or spank their little bottoms? Ground them or use a cane?

Set some rules, break the rules, then rewrite 'em.

Oh, and let's not forget Dr. Spock (no not the one on Star Trek, the other one).

Shew-eeee! Bringing up a child in this day and time is hard.

But, like in just about "all" situations there's pros and cons and there's definitely pros and cons in the way folks raise their children.

So, not being an authority on the subject, I'll keep trying my best and calling on their grandmas from time to time and the Good Lord, too.

For right now though, the one thing I am positive about is that my girls do their share of riding in mom's taxi. Right or wrong!

Oh woe is me!
Till next week.

Garden of the Month

The landscape of Tim and Lois Howard on Highland Avenue was named the Prestonsburg Woman's Club "Garden of the Month" for May. (photo by Polly Ward)

May Garden of the Month

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club has begun its annual spring clean up drive, and along with it comes the monthly selection of the Garden of the Month.

In addition to naming a Garden of the Month, the club has added two honorable mentions and a best specimen plant to its categories.

Garden of the Month

The landscape of Lois and Tim Howard at 261 North Highlands Avenue is the Prestonsburg Woman's Club selection as May "Garden of the Month." Although the Howard's cottage house sits on a 50 by 100 foot lot, the couple has managed to make to every inch of the landscape count, but without overdoing it.

The Woman's Club judges liked the "velvety-looking" manicured lawn and the plantings scaled to size. The foundation planting of azaleas accented with pink geraniums are a "very suitable size and color. Not overpowering," one judge wrote.

Profusely blooming pink geraniums take center stage and serve as accents in the two front window boxes and in the shrub border winding around the front of the house. Purple pansies cascading from a pot on the front porch adds an additional splash of color.

Lois Howard has such a knack at growing perfect-looking geraniums that "people call me and ask me where I got my pretty artificial geraniums," she said. Her secrets are quite simple. She said she feeds her flowers "Miracle Grow" once a week, and "I pick off dead blooms as soon as they start to die."

Another key is to plant the flowers in a sunny location.

Honorable mention and best plant

The landscapes of two Prestonsburg law offices received honorable mention.

The courtyard of Latta and Brown Law Offices at 8 North Arnold Avenue caught the judges' attention for the use of plantings in a small space. "It is very creative planning," one judge said.

The landscape surrounding Stone Law Office on Maple Avenue also received honorable mention. One judge noted, "They have used very good taste in planting of flowers and trees in the conversion of a house to an office, but continue to keep a homey effect."

The best specimen plant was a poppy in the yard of Maman Leslie, on North Arnold Avenue.

CAL AND HEENAN FLEMING SHOOT IT OUT WITH THE LAW

Many man-hours went into the search for Cal and Heenan Fleming who were wanted for the ambush-murder of Bad Ira Mullins and four others at Pound Gap, on May 14, 1892.

Word finally came that they were back in Virginia terrorizing their neighbors near the head of Pound River.

The brothers escaped detection until their own dastardly deeds brought the posse to their door. Dr. M. B. Taylor, The Red Fox of the Mountains, had already paid for his part in the ambush—hanged at Wise, Virginia, on October 27, 1893.

A large posse left no stone unturned in searching for Cal and Heenan Fleming following the ambush-murder at Pound Gap, but the brothers had fled to West Virginia.

Cal and Heenan returned to the mountains, near Pound, in the spring of 1894 and took up hiding in a cave. Dressed in women's clothes, the brothers helped the family in the fields without being detected but after awhile they began lounging openly. They sat on the porch of their parents home and whittled on the road nearby.

Soon the Flemings returned to their former ways, harassing and stealing from their neighbors. They mocked the lawmen who guarded the jail and streets during the trial and incarceration of Talt Hall, tying red strips of flannel to their Winchester and parroting the lawmen's drills.

Cal and Heenan had the audacity to show up in Pound to vote in the countywide election for sheriff and county judge. Local authorities chose not to confront them but they took notice.

They notified authorities in Wise and the sheriff gathered a posse to go after the fugitives. The police-guard at Big Stone Gap was also called in. Everyone knew Cal and Heenan wouldn't give up easy.

The Flemings heard about the posse coming after them and took off across Black Mountain and went back into hiding. The captain and first lieutenant of the police-guard followed to find their location. He found them in a bitter confrontation with other outlaws in Kentucky. The lawmen decided to bide their time until things settled down. They surmised that they may be able to catch Cal and Heenan off guard later on, if they survived the predicament they were in.

Two weeks later, operating on a tip, the posse stormed the Fleming cabin at daybreak but found only a house full of screaming women and children. The Flemings heard about the raid and ran off an hour before.

The lawmen stayed and left scouts in the area in hopes of discovering the two brothers whereabouts. After a few days it started to pay off when they saw Ma Fleming carry a bag of provisions into a brushy area. She stood there tossing stones into the bushes, obviously trying to attract Cal and Heenan's attention.

When one of the rocks clinked against the Winchester which was held by one of the members of the posse, the old woman walked directly into their midst thinking it was her sons. The lawmen kept her prisoner throughout the night so she wouldn't warn Cal and Heenan of their presence.

As the posse closed in on the fugitives at dawn she burst from the posse, yelling, "Run down the holler boys! Run down the ...!" The sheriff sprang forward and, with hands firmly around her throat, stifled her warning.

Within minutes the Flemings were spotted in the bushes. Gooseneck Branham, Doc Swindall, Ed Hall and the others opened fire, forcing the two men to take shelter behind trees.

For nearly half an hour Cal and Heenan Fleming waged fierce combat, exchanging gunfire with the 22 members of the posse.

The end of the battle came when Branham shot Heenan in the shoulder. It knocked the gun from his hands and shook the hat from his head. Heenan fled the scene and signaled to Cal who followed close behind. Bullets from the posse whizzed by and one found its mark in Cal's back as the brothers vanished into the brush.

The members of the posse chose to stop and cook breakfast during the lull, instead of pursuing the wounded Flemings. They relished talking about the battle and took time to collect mementos such as Heenan's hat and gun which were found under a nearby tree.

The tree that shielded the brothers during the battle was rifled with bullets. The fugitive's dog, which had lain at Heenan's feet throughout the shooting, was caught and tethered to a tree.

Meanwhile the wounded Flemings paused to inspect their wounds at a nearby cabin.

"What'll we do?" Heenan asked, chomping on a biscuit despite the pain in his shoulder. "Will you be able to run for it? I don't wanna give up. They'll either hand us or shoot us, for shor."

"We ain't given up," Cal groaned. "But I can't make a run for it either. It's a'paining me to death."

"Let's take what we can and go into hiding," Heenan decided. "We'll go to the old hideout we had as kids, Cal. They'll never find us there."

Editor's Note: John Fox Jr., the famous writer, joins in the pursuit of the dreaded Flemings in Jadon's From the Mountains article next time. Gibson, a native of Eastern Kentucky, now lives in Harrogate, Tennessee. His writings, From the Mountains, are both historical and nostalgic in nature. Don't miss a single issue.

While we have no scientific proof that babies born in our new maternity suites won't scream their heads off, we do believe that when they start looking around for the very first time, they'll think, "Wow, this place is pretty nice. Comfortable. And quite tastefully decorated."

As a matter of fact, that's exactly the kind of responses we've been getting from expectant moms and dads who come to King's Daughters' to deliver.

They're impressed by the level of privacy (our suites are just for you and your family), the comfort, and the personal care you receive from our attentive staff of physicians and nurses. And, most important, the fact that the entire birthing process takes place in one room. You remain in the same room for labor, delivery and recovery.

Case dealer representative gets latest training on serving excavators

James S. Hardwick, of Wilson Equipment Company in Prestonsburg, has completed a one-week training session on servicing Case 90 Series excavators.

The session, held at Case headquarters in Racine, Wisconsin, covered one of the 25 different courses of study offered throughout the year for Case and Case IH service personnel. By year end, nearly 3,000 people will have completed one or more of the week-long technical sessions, which combine hands-on and classroom training to make sure personnel are familiar with the latest information and methods for fast, accurate diagnostics and service.

The session Hardwick attended offers a detailed explanation of the features and operating systems of the 90 Series excavators, including Hydraulic Mode Select, the engine deceleration system, attachment cushion control and free swing, as well as complete troubleshooting recommendations.

"The ultimate goal, of course, is improved customer service and product support," said Arnie Oelkers, J1 Case manager, North American service training. He noted that every attendee receives a technician skill-level profile at the start of the session to determine the present level of technical product knowledge. Among other things, the skill-level profile provides an evaluation of the technician's improvement.

"The point is not to intimidate anyone but to make sure people are getting the maximum value out of these classes," said Oelkers. "We are especially concerned with helping our Case dealers provide customers with the best service possible in terms of their technical proficiency and professionalism. The results so far are very positive."

Headquartered in Racine, Wisconsin, Case is a worldwide manufacturer and marketer of Case construction and Case International agricultural equipment. Case is a subsidiary of Houston-based Tenneco Inc., a diversified industrial corporation with major business interests in natural gas pipelines, agricultural and construction equipment, shipbuilding, automotive parts, packaging and chemicals.

American Way Realty gains global perspective at Century 21 international convention

Jim Gambill, of Century 21 American Way Realty recently joined thousands of Century 21 system brokers and sales associates from around the world to learn how to stay a step ahead of the changing real estate marketplace. Convention attendees from Century 21 offices in the U.S., Canada, Japan, the United Kingdom, France, Australia, New Zealand, Mexico, and more gathered in New Orleans for a week of education, motivation, and recognition activities.

Gambill along with Glen Holbrook (Paintsville office), Dorothy Harris and Ellen Holbrook (Prestonsburg office), and Juanita Lowe (Century 21 Classic Realty, Pikeville), attended skill-building sessions on programs designed to ensure quality customer service at every step of every transaction. "Customer satisfaction and a solid commitment to quality service in every aspect of real estate in the 1990s is the driving force behind the Century 21 system," said Gambill. "Each associate is responsible for implementing the necessary programs and procedures to make it happen on the local level."

"What is particularly gratifying is that these programs are working," Gambill added. "Results from our Nationwide Quality Service Survey, which measures customer satisfaction at the end of each transaction, show that 90 percent of buyers and sellers surveyed have been satisfied with the service provided by their Century 21 sales associate and broker."

Headlining the convention as a motivational keynote speaker was noted business author Harvey B. Mackay. Attendees were entertained by actor, comedian, and impressionist Danny Gans, and the pop musical group, the Spinners. The program included a colorful salute to the thousands of Century 21 system members who supported the National Easter Seal Society during 1993 through their volunteer fund-raising efforts. The Century 21 system is the world's largest real estate organization, with more than 6,000 offices in thirteen countries.

First chess tourney a success

by Tonya Griffith

On Saturday, April 30, approximately 50 people gathered from such diverse places as Louisville, Lexington, Hazard, Onedia, Cordia, and Huntington to take part in the first annual PHS Open Chess Tournament hosted by the United States Chess Federation and the Prestonsburg High Chess Club.

According to sponsor, David Leslie, the event was a roaring success. "It's great to know that so many people are becoming so interested in chess," remarked Leslie.

Three Prestonsburg High students, senior Matt Hale and freshmen Marty Hall and Rusty Young won trophies in individual competitions. Also freshman Blake Price received Honorable Mention. In addition to this, PHS placed second overall in the Scholastic Senior and Junior Divisions, topped only by Louisville Anthoner and Oneida Baptist Institute, respectively.

The event embraced not only people from diverse areas, but also diverse ages as well. According to Leslie the youngest player was fifth grader Jesse Sammons from Prestonsburg Elementary. Twelve-year-old Southern Middle School student Mark Wagner, co-winner of the State Scholastic Chess Tournament, was the youngest player in the adult division.

Winners were Wes Halprin from Oneida Baptist Institute in the Scholastic Junior and Roy Fugate from Atherton in the Scholastic Senior divisions. James McAllister won the Open Division.

PHS Chess Club officers are Matt Hale, president; Daniel Adams, vice president; John Mattox, treasurer; Blake Price, secretary; and Marty Hall, parliamentarian.

Floyd students rocket into the future at 2nd Annual Technology Showcase

Floyd County students proved they were ready for the next century and beyond at the 2nd Annual Floyd County Schools Technology Showcase.

Designed and orchestrated by Floyd County Schools' Technology Coordinator, Harold Burchell, the Technology Showcase offered parents and community leaders a hands-on demonstration of the advanced technological resources Floyd County students now use everyday in the classroom.

Among the exhibits set up and demonstrated by the students themselves were a scale model of the space shuttle Challenger, sophisticated movie-making and special effects computer programs, desktop publishing displays, and a working robotic crane that earned Prestonsburg High School/Floyd Technical High School student Tim Johnson statewide recognition.

Kentucky Department of Education officials on hand for the event included Associate Commissioner of Technology Don Coffman and Director of Support Services David Crouch.

"We've shown tremendous progress here," Coffman said. "We see students actually showing projects that have been implemented (in the schools)... I see evidence... here in Floyd County that the students are embracing technology as a learning tool..."

"You look at this as compared to other schools in the state," Couch added, "some other schools are doing it but you can really feel the excitement here..."

Maytown staff attend conferences

Ruth Ann Castle, Language Arts teacher; Doris A. Robinson, Chapter 1 teacher; and Lorena Hall, Principal, recently attended a six-day conference in Louisville on out-come based education sponsored by the High Success Network. They also attended the Effective Schools Academy in Louisville which centered on workshops to provide more effective instruction at the individual level.

Duff Elementary School

Hard work, effort and perfect attendance really paid off for over 100 James A. Duff Elementary students grades 4-8, Thursday, March 31.

These students were given a Pizza Party/Dance with an Easter theme at the school as a reward for making the honor roll or having perfect attendance the entire 1st semester!

Co-sponsoring this event were Judy Handshoe, director of Duff's Family Resource Center and Kitty Frazier, guidance counselor. Pizzas were provided by Little Caesar's in Prestonsburg. Music was provided by Jarrod Slone. Advertisement was provided by Tom Price, Art Teacher. Parent chaperones were Randy and Gloria Martin, Quanita Branham, Teresa Owens and Steve Green.

Also assisting in organizing the event were Elizabeth A. Conley, assistant principal; Lisa Fletcher, secretary and Rucilla Fraley, assistant director, resource center.

Dear Customer: Natural gas... Over 40 million homes throughout the United States utilize this safe, reliable, energy efficient fuel for heating and cooling.

You can help us make it even safer by promptly notifying Mike Little Gas Company of any suspected gas leaks or construction activities on or near any of its facilities.

If you plan to do any work requiring digging near a company pipeline or if you observe any type of construction or excavation, please contact us so that we can send qualified personnel to locate and properly mark our underground piping.

Although natural gas pipelines have the best safety record in the transportation industry—gas leaks do occur. You can help us by reporting any of the following occurrences:

- (1) A strange or unusual odor in the vicinity of a gas pipeline
(2) A hissing or roaring sound (caused by the escaping of natural gas)
(3) Flames originating from an opening in the ground
(4) Dead or discolored vegetation in the vicinity of a gas pipeline

If you encounter a pipeline leak, leave the area immediately. Avoid creating sparks and sources of heat which would cause the gas to ignite or burn. DO NOT light a match, operate an electrical switch or start an engine. Go to a telephone away from the leak area and call the gas company.

If you do not know who the gas line belongs to, call the local fire, police, or sheriff's department or the state police and advise them of the nature and location of the emergency.

Place on wire rack upside down and cool.

GLAZED LEMON POUND CAKE

The secret: Fresh lemon peel and juice are key to this outstanding cake.
The recipe:
Cake
1 package (16 ounces) pound cake mix

2 large eggs
1/3 cup evaporated skimmed milk, undiluted
2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon peel
1/3 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice

Glaze
1 cup confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 tablespoon evaporated skimmed milk, undiluted

Heat oven to 325°F. Butter a 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Put all cake ingredients into a large bowl. Mix with an electric mixer at low speed, then beat 3 minutes at high speed, until batter is thick and smooth. Scrape into prepared pan and smooth top with spatula. Bake 50 to 60 minutes, until lightly browned and a wooden pick inserted into the center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack 20 minutes, then turn cake out onto rack to cool completely. To glaze, stir all glaze ingredients in a small bowl until smooth. Put cake on serving plate and pour the glaze over the top and sides, letting excess run down onto the plate. Let stand at least 1 hour for glaze to firm before slicing. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

A suggestion: Serve with cappuccino or with hot or iced black currant tea.
