Judge will not void vote at Wheelwright

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Circuit Judge John David Caudill ruled Thursday that there was not enough evidence of fraud to void the November 1993 election for the mayor of Wheelwright.

Lowell Parker, an unsuccessful mayoral candidate who lost by four votes, filed suit last year against David Marlee Sammons, who was the victor in the mayor's race, alleging election irregularities and election fraud. Parker also claimed that a qualified voter in the city race was not allowed to cast his vote in the election.

At Thursday's hearing, Wheelwright resident Robert Hood testified that he was unable to vote in city races last November because of a problem with the electronic voting machine.

When he went into the voting booth, the previous voter's selections

Facility's name to be unveiled June 3

A press conference will be held by Appalachian Racing on Friday, June 3, at noon, to announce the name and unveil the logo of their new facility near Prestonsburg.

Tours of the facility and a construction update will also be discussed at the event.

The conference will kick-off a "30-day countdown, to the beginning of the race meet, which opens on Sunday, July 3.

Appalachian Racing's new facility is located on Ky. Route 3, off Old US 23, between Prestonsburg and Paintsville. Lunch will be served at the event.

Smith not in conflict on development authority

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A judge has ruled that a member of the Floyd County Development Authority has not violated the board's conflict of interest policy.

Special Circuit Judge C. David Hagerman ruled Tuesday that board member Dolores Smith, who is co-owner of R & S Body Company, acted properly by disclosing her interest in the company and by abstaining from all votes, hearings or discussions by the development authority relating to her company.

Smith filed suit and asked for a declaration of rights on the issue after Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond accused Smith of having a conflict of interest. Hammond wanted Smith removed from the development authority.

In his ruling, Judge Hagerman said that Smith can remain on the board.

"(Smith's) continuing membership on the authority, provided that she continues to abstain from all de-were on the screen, Hood testified. Precinct officers were notified of the problem, but they could not clear the machine so that he could vote in the city race, Hood said.

"(The precinct officers) said I missed being able to vote," Hood said.

Parker testified that he was "distracted" after losing the election and asked County Court Clerk Carla Boyd for the election roster to try to determine "what went wrong."

"I found a difference in the total on the register and the machine," Parker said. "I saw people that voted that didn't live in the city."

Parker testified that he notified Boyd of the discrepancies and the clerk told him that he could ask for a canvass. Parker said that Boyd told him that in a canvass she would only check the machine total to see if it was accurate.

Parker's attorney, Kim Wright, and attorney Tim Parker, representing Sammons, agreed that six of the votes cast in the mayor's race were illegal because there were no corroborating signatures on the election roster.

In his ruling, Judge Caudill said that there was not enough evidence presented to conclude that Hood did not get to vote because of fraud or intimidation. Judge Caudill said Hood was not allowed to vote because of a mistake by precinct workers.

As for the six illegal votes, Judge Caudill said that he could not get into speculating whether Parker or Sammons received the most votes in the election.

Parker said he was disappointed by Judge Caudill's ruling and added he would appeal the decision to the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

bate, deliberations and decisions on matters involving R & S Truck Body, does not create a disabling conflict or interest which violates Kentucky law," the judge said.

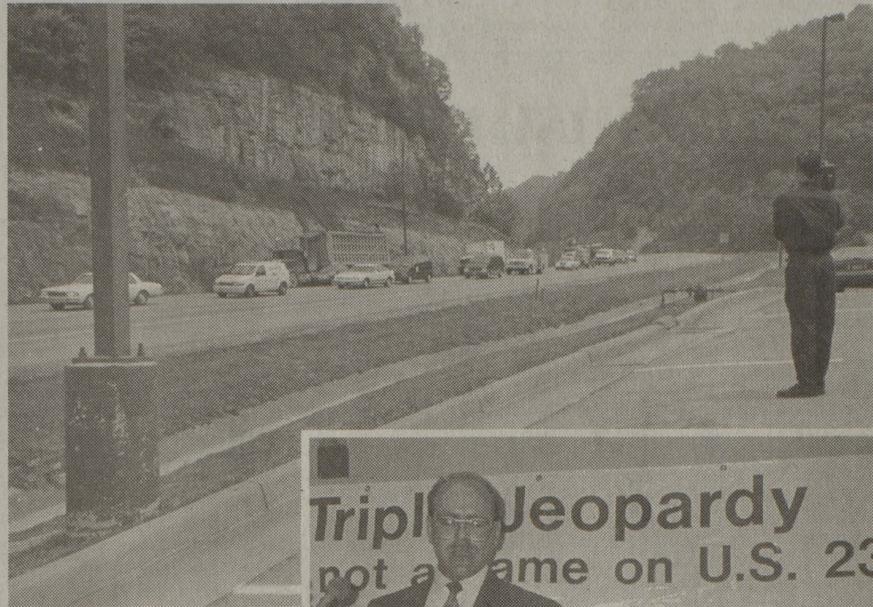

Smith has maintained that she does not have a conflict because she does not participate in discussions concerning R & S.

The development authority works with industrial prospects to relocate in the county. R & S officials have announced that they are looking for a larger site to relocate their company.

Dedication is set for Sunday at lake

A memorial dedication ceremony will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 29, at Jenny Wiley State Park.

A flagpole and plaque will be erected in honor of all veterans of the United States Military Forces. The ceremony will be held on the parking lot at the Wilkinson/Stumbo Conference Center.

A drive for safety

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

Citizens of Floyd, Pike, and Johnson counties took the message of highway safety on the road Wednesday afternoon, driving home the importance of accident prevention on U.S. 23 with a police-escorted caravan.

Two separate caravans, which included ambulances, school buses, coal trucks, rescue squad and law enforcement vehicles, began their journeys at opposite ends of U.S. 23. One traveled the route from Dorton in Pike County and the other from the Lawrence-Johnson County. Right on schedule, the caravans met at 2:30 at the Holiday Inn at Prestonsburg where a press conference was scheduled.

The caravan officially launched the US-23 Corridor/Community Safety Improvement Program, introduced by the state Transportation Cabinet and the Highway Safety Branch of the Kentucky State Police. The program is an effort by local citizens in the areas of engineering, enforcement and emergency medical services to reduce fatalities and accidents along U.S. 23, a major corridor through the three counties.

State Secretary of Transportation Don C. Kelly, a guest at the press conference, which was standing room only, was pleased with the large number of people who turned out for the event. Kelly said, "If there was ever a true partnership, this is a true partnership, to make the corridor a safer place...and to encourage people to drive more safely."

Keith Damron of the Pikeville district highway office, who coordinated the event, told participants that transportation officials chose to focus on U.S. 23 because "crashes on U.S. 23 surpass other routes in District 12. Also, it has the highest traffic volume."

According to statistics presented at the conference, crashes on U.S. 23 triple those of other routes in District 12. Fatal and injury crashes are double.

Damron said the safety campaigns will focus on educating the public about the three leading causes of injury — DUI, speeding and not using seat belts — in an effort to prevent highway accidents. The theme of the safety campaigns is "It's not a game...on U.S. 23. It's triple jeopardy," referring to the three leading causes of highway crashes.

Other speakers at the press conference were Denton Biliher, highway engineer at the Pikeville District office; Penny Stratton, director of development and community affairs at Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Floyd County groups represented at Wednesday's kick off were: Prestonsburg Community College's Pikeville Campus, Sandy Valley Transportation, Big Sandy Area Development District, Prestonsburg Fire Department, Floyd County Health Department, Floyd County Schools, Prestonsburg Police Department, and the Floyd County Sheriff's office.

High profile murder case to be tried in Floyd County

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A high-profile Knott County murder case and the accused murderer have been moved to Floyd County after the Knott circuit judge removed himself from the case.

Floyd County Circuit Court Judge John David Caudill has been chosen to hear the murder trial of Clawvern Jacobs, who is accused of killing Alice Lloyd College student Judy

Ann Howard on September 16, 1986.

On Tuesday, Knott Judge John Robert Morgan agreed to step down from the retrial of Jacobs, who was convicted of killing Howard in 1987 and sentenced to death.

The Kentucky Supreme Court threw out Jacobs' conviction earlier this year, saying the case should not have been tried in Knott County.

On Thursday, Judge Caudill said it was his understanding that he would preside at the Jacobs trial, but he had

Juror is fined for courtroom outburst

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County juror, cited for contempt of court last month when he made inappropriate comments which caused a mistrial in a murder case, was fined $500 Thursday, by Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill.

During jury selection last month in the murder trial of Jerry Michael Martin, who is accused of firing the shot that killed Shawn Prater, 19, of Auxier, juror Tommy Wright, 43, of Melvin, said in open court that he had a "run in" with Jerry Martin, but added almost under his breath that it was not the defendant.

Wright was ordered removed from the courtroom by Judge Caudill and lodged in the Floyd County Jail.

Testimony in a hearing in the judge's chambers after the mistrial revealed that Wright had been talking about the defendant.

During jury selection, Judge Caudill asked jurors repeatedly if they knew the defendant. Wright did not acknowledge during questioning that he knew Martin.

At Thursday's hearing, Judge Caudill told Wright that he hoped he had learned a lesson and asked Wright to put himself in the defendant's place.

"What if it had been you sitting at (the defendant's) table?" Judge Caudill asked. "Do you think you would've received a fair trial?"

Wright, who sat before the judge with his head bowed during most of the hearing, replied, "I guess not. I'm sorry."

Seventy-six jurors were called in for the murder trial, Judge Caudill said, and spent most of the morning sitting through the proceedings. To help defray the jury costs, Judge Caudill imposed the $500 fine on Wright.

Wright's attorney, Gary Johnson, once a prominent defense attorney who is now retired, told the judge that Wright would not contest any judgment imposed by the court.

"My client is prepared to devote $500 to a fine to defray any inconvenience to the court and jurors," Johnson said. "He does feel remorse."

Battle imminent

A re-enactment of the Battle of Middle Creek will be held Sunday, June 5, on the battlefield site. Re-enactors will begin registering for the event on Friday. (photo by Janice Shepherd)

Re-enactment is June 5:

Blue, Gray ready for fray

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Confederate and Union re-enactment troops will begin their encampment Friday, June 3, for the annual re-enactment of the Civil War Battle of Middle Creek. Re-enactment of the battle will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 5.

Spectators at this year's re-enactment should see more troops on the field, according to Owen Wright, captain of the 5th Kentucky Confederate Unit which is co-hosting the event with the Prestonsburg Tourism Commission.

Wright expects around 100 re-enactors, including civilian and military, some coming from as far away as California. Some of those troops will portray cavalry and artillery units, the re-enactment officer said.

The event holds a special meaning for several of the re-enactors, Wright said.

"We're reliving history and doing it here in our own back yard," said

Wright. "We're re-enacting in an actual battle our own ancestors fought in."

Some of the re-enactors will be portraying their ancestors who fought in the actual Battle of Middle Creek on January 10, 1862, said Wright.

whose ancestors also fought on the battlefield.

Wright has discovered that nine of his ancestors were Confederate soldiers: seven of them fought at Middle Creek. The Confederate names of Wright, Brewer, Belcher and Bates are on his genealogical charts. Wright said there are no Union soldiers on his family tree because his kin comes from Letcher County.

Wright said re-enactors strive to portray historical events as they actually occurred. Re-enactors research battlefield reports and diaries to accurately create their portrayals.

Re-enactment camps will be open to visitors Saturday and Sunday. Visitors to the camp should feel free to ask questions about the Civil War era, Wright said. The best time to visit the Middle Creek site is Sunday, according to Wright, if visitors have only one day to tour the campsites.

"People who can't come both days, should come Sunday, June 5, at 1 p.m.," Wright said. "They can tour the camps and then stay for the battle."

Activities are planned for both days, but most spectator events are planned Sunday, Wright said.

An addition to this year's festivities will be a pig roast. The dinner will be open to the public and will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. Those planning to partake of the meal may bring quilts or tablecloths to sit on, or may sit on the wooden benches or hay bales which will be available, Wright said. Tickets may be purchased for $8 before dinner is served, or purchased from any re-enactor.

Donations of $1 will also be taken to help offset the cost of a replica of a Navy Colt pistol, which the group will give away Sunday. For information about donations or tickets to the dinner, call Owen Wright at 886-0344; Cleve Shepherd at 886-8506; or the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce at 886-1341.

Entertainment is also planned after the meal. Plans are being finalized for the entertainment portion, Wright said, and will be announced later.

Richard Reid, author of "They Met At Middle Creek" will be at the site Sunday to autograph copies of his book. Local author, David Deskins, Pike County Circuit Court Clerk who is also a member of the 5th Kentucky re-enactment group, will also be autographing his book about Pike County's role in the Civil War.

Deskins, a member of the Middle Creek Battlefield Preservation Society which is organizing the event, said a photographer who produces tin-type photos will also participate in the event.

As part of the living history exhibition, a blacksmith will play his trade on the site. Several sutlers, traveling merchants who followed battles and supplied the soldiers with necessities such as ammunition and uniforms, will also be part of the exhibition. Civil War era replicas and souvenirs may be purchased from them.

Wright said there will also be more activities for re-enactors this year, including a reception hosted by Friends of the May House. The reception, which is closed to the public, will include a lecture and a tour of the May House, thought by historians to be the oldest brick house in the Big Sandy Valley.

The May House was home to Confederate officer Andrew Jackson May, a Civil War cavalry leader. The house was the center of social life in Floyd County in the Civil War years, according to Robert Perry's book "The Oldest House in the Valley." The house was recruiting headquarters for the 10th Kentucky Cavalry.

Another activity for re-enactors will be a memorial service conducted by the 5th Kentucky and hosted by the Sons of Confederate Veterans at the Confederate Memorial in Paintsville Friday, which is Jefferson Davis' birthday.

Martin switches insurance

by Matt McCarty
Staff Writer

The city of Martin voted unanimously Wednesday evening to switch their insurance coverage to the River City Insurance Agency, Inc., after a proposal was made by River City President Tommy Lafferty.

Martin had been insured by Big Sandy Insurance Agency, but its carrier was Assicurazioni Generali S.P.A. The carrier was not licensed in Kentucky which meant Martin was not protected by the Kentucky Insurance Guaranty Association.

The Farmer's Home Administration contacted both Big Sandy Insurance and Martin to inform them that the carrier was not licensed to operate in Kentucky.

That prompted the council to take immediate action without advertising for a bid.

"I don't want to get in a position where the city gets sued for a lot of money because we were hurried up," councilman Alan Whicker said.

"I just want to be in compliance with the laws," he added.

Whicker's concern stemmed from the fact that anytime a city spends over $10,000 for services, advertisement for bid is required.

The insurance plan the council voted to accept will cost Martin $14,178.63, however, the city will receive a refund from Big Sandy of approximately $8,900, according to Lafferty, which means the city will only pay approximately $5,200.

"Technically, it's under $10,000," Lafferty said.

Just before the vote took place, councilman Steve Jenkins said, "I don't think we got any other choice, but to entertain Tommy's proposal."

River City's carrier is Titan Indemnity Corporation and they are licensed to do business in the state.

The council also voted unanimously to include volunteer fireman in the coverage.

In other action, the council:

- Passed a motion by a 5-1 vote, with Denzil Halbert dissenting, that requires all police officers to park their squad cars inside the police building after their shift is over for "economical reasons."

- Passed an ordinance, unanimously, that would allow the city to condemn buildings that were blighted or deteriorated.

- Decided to update the city's business license ordinance. They voted 6-0 in favor of Bob Lewindowski writing the new ordinance.

- Asked Lewindowski to look at the city's budget for 1994-95 and to break it down for the council.

- Approved a request by Glenda Frye to give her $500 to purchase flowers and barrels. The flowers will be planted along Main Street.

- Decided to have Raleigh Street blacktopped while also having potholes in the city fixed.

All members were present.

Memorial weekend gas prices down from a year ago

As the Memorial Day holiday approaches, the national average price of self-serve regular unleaded gasoline is 2.7 cents lower than a year ago, AAA Blue Grass/Kentucky reported recently.

AAA's most recent survey of 43 Lexington area service stations showed the average price of the most popular grade of fuel to be $1.038, down 4.8 cents from this week last year. The price is 6.4 cents higher than at Easter, when the Club last surveyed gas prices. Prices in the Lexington market ranged from 91 cents to $1.07 a gallon.

Statewide, AAA reports the average for self-serve regular unleaded is $1.043 and nationally, it's $1.105.

Over Memorial Day weekend, 66 percent of stations will be open, while 33 percent plan 24-hour operation.

Judge Caudill agreed.

"I have no personal hard feelings against you," Judge Caudill told Wright. "I hope you learned a valuable lesson. I can't let you go without something."

After Thursday's hearing, Johnson said, "it's a pleasant end to an otherwise unpleasant event."

Wright had posted a $1,000 cash bond after he was charged and Johnson asked that $500 be allowed to be taken out of the bond so the issue could be resolved Thursday afternoon.

Degrees conferred at Alice Lloyd

M. Fred Mullinax, president of Alice Lloyd College, conferred bachelor degrees to fifty-nine graduates, including 11 Floyd County students, in the campus Estelle Campbell Center for the Arts Friday, May 13. More than 1,000 relatives, friends and faculty/staff witnessed the ceremony as each graduate crossed the stage to receive his/her diploma.

Students completed requirements in eight majors. By far, the largest number of graduates to receive diplomas represent education. Twenty-nine recipients have prepared to enter the classroom next year, depending on availability and positions. Other degrees conferred were Social Studies/English (1), Accounting (4), Biology (Pre-medicine) (4), Business Administration (4), English (5), History (8), Math/Physical Science (1), Pre-pharmacy (1), and Social Studies (2).

Diploma recipients represented 22 counties in Kentucky (18), Virginia (1), and West Virginia (3).

Preceding the conferring of degrees, Dr. Emmanuel McCall, minister of the Christian Fellowship Baptist Church, in Atlanta, Georgia, presented the baccalaureate address. James Bergman, assistant to the president at the College, was the commencement speaker.

Floyd countians receiving degrees were Kevin Spurlock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Spurlock of Printer; Teresa Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burke of Wheelwright; Laurie Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Conley of Garrett; Billy Ray Grimm, son of Mr. Tom Grimm of Prestonsburg; Thomas James Shepherd, son of Mr. James Shepherd of Prestonsburg; Stephen David Damron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Atha Damron of Weeksbury; Carla Coburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Coburn of Wayland; Kimberly Ann Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Robinson of Martin; Clyde Dwayne Salyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery C. Salyer of Hi Hat; Marlin Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Lawson of Garrett; and Emily Derossett Campbell.

Social Security cards needed when you apply for a job

School is over and Big Sandy Area students are getting ready to start hunting for summer jobs—some for the first time. One thing to remember is that job applicants will need to show an employer-to-be their Social Security card.

"Most young people whose parents claim them as dependents for income tax purposes already have a Social Security number—as the law requires," said Jim Kelly, Big Sandy Area District Director for the Big Sandy Area. "But, if you have never had a Social Security number, you'll need to apply for one. If you are 18 or over, you'll need to apply in person at your local Social Security office." Bring your birth certificate and a school record or some other type of identification.

If your card has been lost or stolen, you can get an application for a free replacement card by calling the toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, any time of the day. Or you can visit your Social Security office. Bring proof of identification such as a driver's license.

"Providing the correct name and Social Security number to your employer ensures that you will get credit for your earnings and that your Social Security earnings record will be correct," said Kelly. "Your future benefits will be based on this record, so it's important that it accurately reflects all of your earnings."

Day homemakers met May 10

Tuesday, May 10, the Day Homemakers met at the Extension office.

Beverly Hackworth opened the meeting and Eleanor Horn gave the devotionals.

Roll call was by Hope Whitten, secretary, and minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

A report on the squash dinner was given and also a report of good attendance.

Francis Pitts announced that Dr. Barnes, U.K. wildlife specialist, would meet with the interested group at the Extension office May 19 at 6 p.m.

A program was presented by Mary Sue Moore on colors and prints and color combination, with walls, chairs, pillows, etc.

Hostess for the meeting was Mary Sue Moore.

Those present were Mary Sue Moore, Beverly Hackworth, Gypsie Jones, Phyllis Herrick, Sarah Laven, Rose Glenn, Ann Alley, Fannie Runnels, Julia Curtis, Eleanor Horn, Jane Wallace, Lisa Roe, Allene Fitch, and Hope Whitten.

KET programs to highlight the Bluegrass roots

Bill Monroe, "the Father of Bluegrass Music," popularized the Kentucky-born art from he learned from the townsfolk of Rosine, Ky. and from his uncle, old-time fiddler Pendleton "Uncle Pen" Vandivere.

Rosine: The Legacy of Uncle Pen, airing on KET at 10 p.m. Thursday, June 2, takes a look at the origins of bluegrass music and its impact on the culture of Western Kentucky. The program was supported by the KET Fund for Independent Production.

Monroe drew his inspiration from his Western Kentucky hometown of Rosine, where for generations people have gathered every weekend to play the fiddle, gossip, sing, and make candy and popcorn after a hard week's work.

"Uncle Pen has been immortalized through the words and music of his now-famous nephew," says Producer Dan Hays. "This old-time fiddler unknowingly influenced an entire musical culture through the early impact he had upon the music in Western Kentucky and the youth of young Monroe."

Rosine has remained relatively unchanged since the introduction and popularization of bluegrass and country music, according to Hays. The town is at the center of the documentary, which features interviews with its citizens—including relatives of Monroe and Uncle Pen—and performances by the townspeople.

The history of Rosine continues at 10:30/9:30 p.m. CT with Hometown Music: The Story of Rosine, produced by WKPC/Louisville.

ALA launches new toll-free number

To make it easier for people to reach its offices from anywhere in the state, the American Lung Association of Kentucky has begun using a new toll-free number: 1-800-LUNG-USA.

The Lung Association here in Kentucky has joined with other Lung Associations across the country in using this new nationwide toll-free phone number. When callers dial the number from within any state, their calls are automatically routed to that state's local Lung Association office.

According to the Lung Association the public has a real need for this type of ready access to information since lung disease is now the third leading cause of death and its death rate is rising.

The Kentucky office estimates it will receive nearly 2,000 calls on the number during its new fiscal year beginning July 1.

Menisa Marshall, communications director for the ALA of Kentucky, said, "We want people to know that we're just a phone call away if they need statistics, information on new medical developments and research, tips on quitting smoking, materials for health fairs, or anything else to do with lung disease."

A lot of people think that Social Security is just for old age. But the fact is that about 42 percent of men and 28 percent of women will die or become seriously disabled before reaching retirement age. If that happens, it's good to know that Social Security covers more than just retirement. Families get benefits too, when a worker dies or becomes disabled and can't work for a year or more.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

What's love (lust?) got to do with it?

by Scott Perry

Presidential antagonist Genifer Flowers is offering the general public an opportunity—at $19.95 a pop—to hear her taped telephone conversations with Bill Clinton.

Flowers, who you'll recall accused Clinton of infidelity as the campaign for the White House raged on, is encouraging tape buyers to "listen carefully to his phrasing. Not just what he says, but how he says it."

Yeah, right. While she listens to the cash registers ring, no doubt.

We're no particular fan of Bill Clinton or his philosophies, but this obsession with his sex life is getting a bit old.

The voting public didn't put much credence in Flowers' allegations before the election, so what's the point of whipping this dead horse?

Well, that's obvious, isn't it? Money.

If Flowers was, in fact, Clinton's sweetheart as she claims, how come we're not just as aghast at her willing participation as we are at the president's?

The criticism is a bit one-sided, wouldn't you say?

The self-righteous, of course, claim that the president ought to be of high moral character, above reproach on matters of such sordidness.

What a crock. Have we learned nothing in the near 2,000 years since the carpenter's son from Nazareth proposed that he who is without sin should cast the first stone?

Bill Clinton may very well be a liar, a cheater and a skirt-chaser, but he's also the man this country elected as its president.

If he's no good at the job, we can get rid of him the same way we got him to start with.

What he did years ago, unless it involves some considerable violation of the law, is of no particular concern in relation to what he is doing now.

There's plenty to be concerned about there without all the sexy sideshows.

Low road of politics

Editor:
Regardless of political ideology or personal philosophy, the credibility and honesty of those in politics have been tarnished in recent years. Perhaps no place has been more fertile for criticism than the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. In recent years, some legislators and political figures have been linked with scandalous acts that reflect a basic lack of integrity and moral judgment. The necessity to restore integrity was a basis for electing P. Joseph Clarke to the position of Speaker of the House. Mr. Clarke quietly but very effectively led the Appropriations and Revenue Committee for nearly two decades. He was elected to the position because, among all else, he is recognized for his integrity and commitment to ethical standards. In what was a very tumultuous and emotional session of the General Assembly, it is most unfortunate those in opposition to the Speaker, whether it be for personal gratification or for the opportunity to promote bad press, chose the "low road" of criticizing an individual in an attempt to discredit, rather than to have their ideas stand on the individual merits. Beware of those who have engaged in this popular political game. This is a reflection of the person's method of operation and an indication of a basic weakness.

The fact that government in general has perpetuated the process of spending more than it can afford is not the fault of one person. Speaker Clarke has been consistent in his advice over the years of not spending more than is available. While many worthwhile projects have been identified, it is time to recognize that spending must be limited to available revenue. To do otherwise is simply irresponsible. Similarly, to continue raising taxes when waste in government is openly admitted, is equally irresponsible. Unfortunately, the basic principle of spending no more than is available has been overlooked too often.

The time has come to recognize fiscal responsibility and eliminate the waste in government. Waste exists; it just requires the commitment to take the action. The continued philosophy of increasing taxes or holding worthwhile projects in hostage is simply unacceptable. Government, just as any successful business, must make an all out effort to eliminate waste and improve efficiency.

Those who have criticized the leadership of Speaker Clarke have quickly forgotten the principle for which he stands - integrity. Even though it may not be politically expedient, it is the foundation of leadership. Regardless of political philosophy or personal preferences, Speaker Clarke has met the responsibilities of the position for which he was elected.

As the General Assembly convenes on June 6th, we trust it will focus more on the total picture of what is best for the Commonwealth rather than promoting the agenda of a particular individual. In any event, we encourage all concerned parties, including the press, to resist compromising ethical behavior for the success of a specific interest.

BLHS co-op students appreciate businesses

Editor:
We, the students of Betsy Layne High School Cooperative Work Experience Program would like to express our appreciation to the many local business participants for making this program possible in our school.

We feel that combination of the school and business partnership of this program has given us much more than a basic education.

The Coop Work Program allowed us to learn on the job training in several areas, responsibility, work experience, earn money that helped our families pay the everyday bills, and much, much more.

Many of us have the opportunity to move into full-time work with advancements within our companies after we graduate in June. We want to leave a foundation for future coop students as to become productive citizens in our community once they enter the work of work.

We wish to thank these local businesses for giving us an opportunity to work part-time and also each school credit.

Brandeis Machinery, Four Seasons Video and Tanning, Unisign, Hall Mart BP, Blackburn's Greenhouse, Hamilton's Grocery, Gas 'N Go, Hazel's Gift Shop, Adkins Grocery, Taco Tico, McDonald's in Prestonsburg, Watson's Department Store, Family Video, Food City, Shoney's, Magic Mart, Dawahare's, Wholesale Tobacco Shop, Mobile Home Parts Center, McDonald's at the plaza, Burger King, Western Sizzlin', Maurice's Clothing and Rax Restaurant.

We would also like to thank everyone at Betsy Layne High School for making the Cooperative Work Program possible, and special thanks to Gregory Hall, coordinator of the co-op program.

We would like to encourage the Floyd County Board of Education to implement this program and other partnership programs into all the high schools in the county.

Times sportswriter is lauded by WMDJ

Editor's Note: The following letter was written to Times sports editor Ed Taylor thanking him for his coverage of WMDJ's Kids' Day in the Park.

Mr. Taylor:
There is no money to pay for, or words to express our gratitude for your Wednesday's edition of the Floyd County Times. We were so grateful for your first article you printed a couple months ago and simply felt honored to have you as a guest last Saturday. I've gone through the dictionary and the thesaurus to look for the right words to thank you. And regardless of all your efforts and the great issue on Wednesday allow me to simply tell you thank you and that we love you!! And this area is definitely blessed to have people as yourself here with us. Thank you so much!

Van Lear residents vote to dissolve city

Van Lear residents voted to dissolve their city government Tuesday, but the results will likely end up in court.

Anti-city forces — who asked citizens to vote "yes" to dissolution — unofficially won the referendum by 72 votes. Unofficial returns showed 275 residents voting yes and 203 voting no.

In the Van Lear precinct, where 63 percent of the voters live, the dissolution question passed 12 votes — 176 in favor and 163 against.

Powell Addition, the other precinct in the incorporated area, went overwhelmingly for dissolution, 93-34.

A city official said Tuesday night that the election does not necessarily mean an end to city government. Mayor Pro Tem Rick Roberts indicated the city would challenge the election in court. City officials have said Tuesday's election was illegal because the city has a long-term debt. State Statutes prohibit a dissolution referendum if city has such a debt. — Paintsville Herald

Child's grave's glow is mysterious, intriguing

By last Friday night, Sue Waller had enough. That's when she took a blanket and covered the tombstone of her nine-year-old granddaughter, Jolene Hyde, who was killed in a traffic accident at Wittenville on Marcy 7, 1991.

For nearly a month, crowds of people have gathered on a road at Boons Camp to witness what appears to be a green light shining from the granite tombstone. On Friday night — after a report on the mysterious light was broadcast on WSAZ-TV in Huntington, W. Va. — the crowd had grown to about 200.

But what those people saw was not a shining light; it was a blanket covering the headstone. Mrs. Waller placed it there to discourage sightseers.

The Wallers don't know the source of the glow, but Mrs. Waller said she recently heard knocking noises on the walls of her home. The noises have stopped since a minister visited the residence.

The Wallers hope the light — not to mention the crowds — soon disappear. — Paintsville Herald

Blevins wins 5th despite surge for indicted Maynard

In the mountains of Eastern and Southern Kentucky, state Sen. Walter "Doc" Blevins won the Democratic nomination in the 5th District despite a surprising showing by opponent Steve Maynard, who is under indictment. Blevins will face Rep. Hal Rogers in November.

Blevins, a West Liberty dentist, said he was surprised.

"It's a weird time in politics any time the turnout is this low," he said. "Anything can happen, apparently."

Businessman Steve Maynard of Inez was dogged by legal problems, but the race was closer than anyone expected. Maynard, 33, who finished last in an eight-person Democratic primary in 1992, has been indicted on charges of complicity to theft and assault and did not campaign.

But Maynard carried some precincts, including at least one in Johnson County where Republican leaders interpreted the vote as support for Hal Rogers, the Republican incumbent who was unopposed yesterday. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Newsome has run afoul of mining laws

The only challenger to defeat an incumbent in Tuesday's legislative race has had repeated problems complying with state and federal mining laws.

Former coal operator Donnie Newsome of Knott County, who beat Rep. Russell Bentley in the Democratic primary, pleaded guilty a year ago to a misdemeanor that involved falsifying coal-dust samples at a Knott County mine. He paid a $2,000 fine and was ordered to spend time under house arrest.

Newsome said Thursday that he didn't do anything wrong.

Two of the primary yardsticks used to measure economic performance, rate of unemployment and increase in per capita income show Kentucky's economy to be doing very well. Our unemployment rate in March was 5.2 percent compared to the U.S. rate of 6.8 percent.

In the area of per capita income, Kentucky is among the top ten states nationally in the percent increase in per capita income during 1992-93. Kentucky ranked eighth, with a gain of 10.9 percent compared to the U.S. gain of 8.6 percent. Our rate of increase was better than 42 other states.

Unemployment is, of course, lowered by people having jobs, and personal and per capita incomes increase when people have better jobs. This past year, eight of Kentucky's top 10 job sectors gained in employment, with manufacturing, services and trade showing strong gains. From 1991 through the first quarter of 1994, nonagricultural employment in Kentucky increased by 5.7 percent, compared to a national average of 2.5 percent.

During this same period, our manufacturing employment grew while the nation was seeing a decrease in manufacturing jobs. Not only did Kentucky do well in gaining more manufacturing jobs, but we also outperformed the nation in the number of new services jobs. Our service sector jobs increased by nearly 12 percent, compared to the national gain of 9.3 percent.

Over the past 28 months, we have announced 33,000 net new manufacturing and supportive industry jobs in Kentucky. Some 4,200 of these new jobs have been announced in 1994.

Kentucky's investment through the Kentucky Educational Reform Act (KERA) in the intellectual capital of our young people is paying off. This past year nearly four of five schools showed improvements against one of the most rigorous testing programs in the nation. Not only is KERA helping our children in the areas of traditional knowledge, but also in writing and "thinking" skills that lead to better jobs for our young people in the future.

This investment in intellectual capital is a selling point we use to market Kentucky to industrial prospects. Kentucky must continue to invest in those things that can bring, or help bring, new dollars to our state. New dollars are the fuel that power a vibrant business community to which people look for goods and services.

In March, the Kentucky Economic Development Partnership Board adopted the Strategic Plan for Economic Development. This comprehensive document, with 5 key goals, 22 strategies and some 76 tactics to implement the various strategies, is Kentucky's very first statewide blueprint for economic growth and development.

The positive gains shown by the figures on per capita income, job growth, lower unemployment, and education reform should be a source of optimism among Kentuckians. Moreover, they represent a good foundation from which to move forward, with the strategic plan as our road map, to a better future for the people of Kentucky.

That, after all, is why we invest in education, economic development, capital projects and public services. It is also why we are proud to spotlight the returns Kentucky is realizing from its investments.

Dr. Mazen Jaafar

Pediatrician to join Highlands

Mazen Jaafar, M.D., a specialist in pediatrics, will join the medical staff of Highlands Regional Medical Center in mid July. Dr. Jaafar will be affiliated with Children's Care, a new pediatrics practice, which will be located on the main campus of Highlands.

Dr. Jaafar medical school at the University of Aleppo, School of Medicine in Aleppo, Syria. Following medical school, he was in private practice as a Family Physician from 1979 to 1981. From 1982 to 1988, he served as a Family Physician at the Al Haye Health Center in Quniza Saudia Arabia for the Saudi Ministry of Health. In 1989, Dr. Jaafar decided at that time to further his education and specialize in pediatrics. He joined the Kaplan Education Center in Louisville, and was there through 1990 before beginning his pediatric residency at the University of Kentucky. Currently, Dr. Jaafar is the Senior Resident in Pediatrics at the University of Kentucky and will complete his residency in June.

Children's Care, with Dr. Jaafar as medical director, is scheduled to open on July 18. Patients will be accepted from birth (newborn) through age 15, with a concentration on ages 0-5. Prevention, immunization, education, and nutrition will receive major focus in the Children's Care practice. When asked about his practice, Dr. Jaafar stated, "I believe it is very important that young children receive good healthcare because it is instrumental in determining and forming the basis of their health status in their future lives."

Dr. Jaafar, his wife Nada, and two children will reside in Paintsville.

For more information concerning Dr. Jaafar and Children's Care call Highlands Call - a - Nurse at 1-800-844-6877. Watch for an ad in the newspaper concerning the date on which office appointments will be taken.

Breaks Interstate Park starts summer season

The Breaks Interstate Park invites everyone to the park this summer. The official summer season begins May 27th at the Park.

On May 28th the swimming pool and pedal boats will be open each day from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday thru Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Also available daily is Horseback Riding from 10 a.m. to Dusk.

The interpretive programming will begin on May 27th, at the park amphitheater at 8 p.m. continuing on through the season each Friday evening. Programming also includes Bluegrass Music on Saturday evenings at 7 p.m. at the park amphitheater. On May 28th the Virginia Bluegrass and the Mule Band will be performing. As always these shows are family oriented.

The park will again be hosting the Memorial Day Gospel Singing on May 29th at the amphitheater. The singing will begin at 10 a.m. and last throughout the day. Groups featured this year are the Brighten Aims, the Principles, the Gateway Quartet, Inheritance and the Southern Statesmen. Bring your lawn chairs and enjoy some good "old time gospel music".

Additional information on these or any upcoming events on the park facilities may be obtained by calling the Park Headquarters at (703) 865-4413 or 800-982-5122.

1994 Walk for Winners

On Saturday, April 9, The Bank Josephine and First Commonwealth Bank joined other banks throughout the state in the 1994 Walk for Winners. Volunteers collected approximately $1,350 in contributions, which will benefit Kentucky Special Olympics.

Kentucky Special Olympics is a program of physical fitness, sports training, recreation and athletic competition for children and adults who are mentally handicapped. Special Olympics is unique in that it provides for competitors at all ability levels by assigning them to competitive divisions based on both age and actual performance. Even participants in the lowest divisions may advance all the way to the International Games. In Kentucky alone, over 12,000 participants train regularly to be Special Olympians. Approximately 2,000 of these will be competing at the state game which will be held in Bowling Green at the Western Kentucky University on June 3-5.

The Kentucky Bankers Association is the premier sponsor of the state games. Donations received from their member banks help cover the costs of the event. The Young Bankers Division of the Kentucky Bankers Association is committed to support the Summer Games by providing volunteers to staff the various awards areas of the games. Local bankers who will be assisting at this year's games include Donna Roope of The Bank Josephine and Peggy Martin and Brian Ousley of the First Commonwealth Bank. Mr. Ousley is presently serving as chairperson of the Young Bankers Division's Special Olympics Committee.

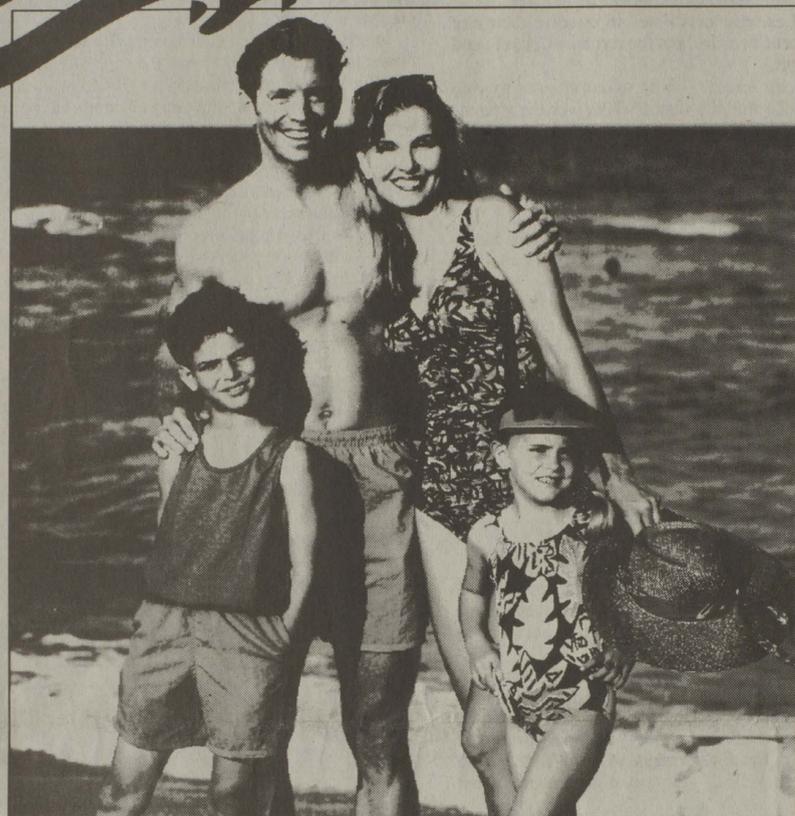

Local bankers and students walked the trail at Prestonsburg Community College to benefit Kentucky Special Olympics.

In Loving Memory Cindy Beth Floyd Blackburn 1958-1992

A million times we've needed you,
a million times we've cried,
if love alone could have saved you,
in life we loved you dearly,
in death we love you still,
in our hearts you hold a place
no one could ever fill.
God saw you getting tired and a cure was not to be,
so he put His arms around you and he whispered come with me.
A golden heart stopped beating,
hard working hands to rest,
God broke our hearts to prove to us,
He only takes the best.
It broke our hearts to lose you,
but you didn't go alone,
a large part of us went with you,
the day God took you home.
To your resting place we visit,
and we place the flowers with care,
but no-one knows the heartache,
when we turn and leave you there.

With all our love,
Your family

Planting hope

Students at Prestonsburg Elementary celebrated Earth Day by planting a tree donated by Wal-Mart. Mrs. Marcella Slones' and Mrs. Donna Collins class participated in the project with the help of parent volunteers Liz Chaffin and Ann McGuire.

In Memory of

Delmer Hackworth

who went away
with a friend on May 27, 1993.

A year having passed
since our goodbye; a year filled with a void that one cannot imagine, nor ever be prepared for. It seems like yesterday, yet another lifetime, as days seem like years.
You left many friends behind and a family who mourn daily and try with all our being to deal with the emptiness left in our lives.

But there is a day coming when we'll meet again and what a family reunion that will be!

We love and miss you.

PARDON ME, MRS. JONES JUST BARE WITH ME

Being president of the United States is the most visible job in the world. The president can't motor around McDonald's by himself and order up fries and a diet cola, nor can he stop by the grocery and run in for a package of Oreo cookies without being stopped at least two or three times by shoppers wanting to know if buying Mexican rice will hurt NAFTA's chance of success.

That type of visibility is probably what got him in all this trouble with Paula Jones. Jones has accused the president of exposing himself to her while he was still governor of Arkansas. Jones said that Clinton asked her to join him in a hotel room then proceeded to drop his trousers. Jones also stated that she has proof of his indiscretion because she can identify some distinguishing marks. (Rumor has it that he has a razorback tattoo situated close to his soooey.)

In his defense, Jennifer Flowers has said that it is very unlike Clinton to drop his trousers. (When he was running for president, Clinton was accused of having an affair with Flowers so she should know him well enough to substantiate the claim). Flowers stated that, "They may have made eye contact, he may have flirted with her, he might have asked her up to this hotel room, but it isn't like him to drop his trousers." It's great that the president has such a credible person testifying to his innocence.

My contention is, if President Clinton actually asked Jones up to his hotel room, what did she think he had in mind - mumbly peg? In my estimation, it would have been less dangerous. All he might have lost was an eye instead of jeopardizing his political career.

To date, the only woman Clinton hasn't been romantically linked to has been Hillary. Maybe if Clinton didn't jog, stayed away from Barbara Streisand concerts, and gave up the sax (that is short for saxophone), he might avoid unnecessary gossip.

Unfortunately, being president requires that one "mingle." Heads of state run in and out of the White House at will, and the president does extensive globe trotting himself. This hectic, stressful schedule puts one in precarious situations to say the least. In fact, it is probably an occupational hazard trying to remember what city one is visiting let alone what woman one has dropped his drawers in front of and why.

In all probability, President Clinton doesn't remember Paula Jones. His press secretary says he doesn't, and who am I to dispute someone's secondhand word? But if Jones is telling the truth, why did she wait so long to bring it to the nation's attention? Particularly when Americans are more interested in learning how their healthcare needs are going to be met instead of how the president's sexual needs were being met years after anyone cared whether he had or had not inhaled.

My suggestion is that the president keep a low profile. If that doesn't work, he can always hope that nobody mistakes him for himself again, or that Tom Bodett doesn't mention that he'll keep a light on for him at Motel 6.

THE TIMES' WEEKEND Extra

Wild West action coming to Pikeville

Looking for something different this Memorial Day Weekend? Something exciting you can bring the whole family to?

Would you like a unique sporting event with a truly American feel? Then pull on your best cowboy boots and hat, load up the little cowpokes and come out to the Pikeville College Championship Rodeo at Bob Amos Park, May 27-28 at 8 p.m.

Top national and local rodeo cowboys will vie for large prize purses in this two-day competition featuring bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, saddle bronc riding, team roping, bull riding, and cowgirls' barrel racing. Advance tickets are available at all Happy Mart locations $8 for adults and $3 for children. Prices are $10 and $5 at the gate. The event is sponsored by Commonwealth Equipment and Pepsi All-Sport.

Rodeo is the only major sport with completely American roots. It dates back to the mid 1800s as a contest of skills between top hands and top stock from rival cattle ranches. Locations were usually open pasture, but soon enterprising merchants realized they could make a buck on the competitions. They convinced the cowboys to hold their contests in town on a specific date by offering prize money. Then they advertised the dates, drawing people from miles around.

The first such organized competitions were in Cheyenne, Pecos and Prescott in the old West. Today, rodeos are held from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and in Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Australia. The largest rodeo in the world is the annual Calgary Stampede in Canada.

The original events were saddle bronc riding and steer wrestling. Saddle bronc riding requires cowboys to stay on a bucking horse with one hand on the reins and his boot in the stirrups. He gets points for style and quality of horse.

Steer wrestling, probably the most exciting event, requires the cowboy to jump from a galloping horse onto a fleeing steer, throw it to the ground, and hold it down. The fastest competitor wins.

The other featured events have been added over time. Bull riding is the most popular, and most dangerous, of all rodeo events. The requirements are simple. Holding on with only one hand, the cowboy must stay on the bull for eight seconds. Those who succeed are then awarded points for style and how hard the bull bucked.

Calf roping is another race against time. The cowboy must rope the fleeing calf from his horse, dismount running and throw the calf, then tie three legs together with a light rope called a "pigging string." The cowboy signals completion by raising both hands.

Team roping brings together two cowboys with highly trained horses to rope and down a steer, without leaving their horses.

Finally, cowgirl barrel racing has quickly become a crowd favorite. The cowgirl races her horse in a pattern around three barrels, the fastest time winning. These races are often decided by a mere thousandth of a second and require exceptionally skilled riders and horses.

A full house is expected each night, so get your tickets early and come on out for action-packed family entertainment at its finest.

News of the Weird

by Chuck Shepherd

In Indiana over a six-week period in March and April, four men were involved in public incidents while naked. A nude man set a fire in a Michigan City, Ind., outlet store; a man pumped gasoline while nude at a Lebanon, Ind., station; a nude man claiming to be a pizza deliverer roamed an Indianapolis apartment complex (injuring his groin while fleeing as he unsuccessfully attempted to leap a fence); and a man left nude photos of himself in a Sullivan, Ind., state park men's room. All but the gasoline pumper were apprehended.

NEW RIGHTS

A recent semi-official student pamphlet of George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., explained that freedom from discrimination includes gays' and lesbians' right not to be stood too far away from during conversations with straights, and minority students' right not to have white students act surprised when a minority student performs a task well.

The Toronto Transit Commission voted in February to reinstate a 33-year-old man who had been fired because he took time off from a rail-repairing job in the middle of the day to go have sex with a prostitute in a nearby alley.

The Los Angeles Daily News reported in April that the city's Department of Building and Safety had ordered an adult nightclub to remove its stage, which was built as a large shower, where nude dancers would cavort for customers' enjoyment. Authorities said the shower was not wheelchair-accessible for disabled nude dancers, although no such dancers have come forward.

The Wall Street Journal reported in April on a potential legal defense being considered by some well-to-do professionals who fail to file income tax returns. Such nonfilers should be excused because they suffer from an anxiety syndrome characterized by "an overall inability to act in (their) own interest," according to a recent New York Law Journal article. Victims are "highly ambitious, hypercritical, detail-oriented people," according to a psychiatry professor, and thus cannot relax, don't know how to delegate, and tend to procrastinate and become secretive.

The Washington Post reported in March that several employees of the Office of Thrift Supervision, which regulates the savings and loan industry, have threatened to sue the agency if they are disciplined for playing "fantasy sports" leagues (such as rotisserie baseball) during working hours. Said one, if every such player at OTS were disciplined, it would "clean out the agency."

JUST CAN'T STOP MYSELF

In September, St. Paul, Minn., police stopped Jimmy Monk, 39, and confiscated from his car's roof a 20-foot ladder, which had been reported missing. At the time, he was awaiting sentencing on two other ladder thefts and was a suspect in a rash of about two dozen others. Said a police sergeant, "He just can't seem to walk past (a ladder) without taking it."

In July, Susumu Suzuki, 45, was arrested in Takasaki, Japan, and charged with having made approximately 8,500 phone calls to city hall — as many as several hundred a day — and then hanging up without speaking. He cited as his motive a 20-year-old snub by city hall when he applied for a job after graduating from college. And in September, Mikiko Miyamoto, 43, was charged with having made as many as 100 similar phone calls a day for 12 years to a female acquaintance in Tokyo.

In Cincinnati in January, Thomas David West was back in court on charges that he violated his probation by resuming his practice of impersonating doctors and lawyers. He was released from prison in June, where he had served time for impersonating a doctor, among other identities, and was charged this time with posing as a lawyer for a Cincinnati firm. When he took the witness stand at the probation hearing, he said his current employment was as chief fund-raiser of a Kentucky state-funded project, but officials said there was no such person.

In April in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Erin Prendergast, 20, pleaded guilty to 174 more parking violations, with total fines reaching nearly $5,000. In January, she had pleaded guilty to 248 parking tickets totaling more than $7,000. Officials said still more violations against her were awaiting processing. When the judge asked how she could accumulate so many violations, Prendergast, who was described as "affable" by a Cedar Rapids Gazette reporter, said, "I don't know."

In February Vincent Corda, 64, was taken into custody at the

Now that the election is over, everybody and their brothers are busy analyzing what the results mean and who they can blame for what went wrong.

We don't have any brothers, so we have to do all our analyzing by ourselves.

The Democrats have the most analyzing to do, because they apparently blew a couple of big, important races in the primary.

That's what the analysts say, anyway.

The Republicans, meanwhile, can't rest on their laurels because they'll have to be ready to analyze the analyses of the opposing analysts who, analytically speaking, are likely to accuse their analysts of being in need of psychoanalysis.

Shew. Ain't politics complicated?

Well, not that complicated.

Here's our analysis of the recent elections...

The candidates who got the most votes won.

They got the most votes because more people voted for them than they did for their opponents.

There, that's it.

The same thing will happen in the next election, and the next, and the next.

There's a pattern to election outcomes that dates all the way back to the very first election ever held.

The person who gets the most votes wins.

Analyzing the who, what, when, where and how is sort of like reading a sportswriter's breakdown of a baseball game.

All sorts of things combined to produce the result, but the real reason one team beat another is because they scored more runs.

Just the same, political analysts put a lot of emphasis on analyzing outcomes. And, for a very good reason.

They get paid to do it.

So, they analyze everything to death then come to a conclusion about why everything happened as it did.

Most times they get it all wrong.

But, not to worry.

They'll offer an analysis explaining why.

"See what you can do. He insists on using his own desk."

ALL MY CHILDREN: Kendall turned off Anton's amorous advances, causing Anton to storm off in anger. Del, who had been hiding in the hunting lodge, warned Kendall she could lose everything. Maria blasted Del, insisting he say away from Julia. Determined to transform herself into a model, Erica took Veronique's dress, locked her in a broom closet, and then took the runway. Edmund considered telling Erica that Anton is Dimitri's son. Disguised as Stuart, Adam suggested Gloria ask Alec for help in raising Adam's ransom money. Laurel was upset when Trevor said Janet was his new baby-sitter. Wait To See: Kendall sees a new opportunity to get back at Erica.

ANOTHER WORLD: Frankie refused to sign Cass' commitment paper. A manic Cass later destroyed his mother's letter. Rachel assured Carl the threats against him won't change her decision to marry him. Carl later called Ito to say the New York wedding would make things easier to control. After Tomas and Kate were arrested, another personality, Sharly, emerged from Kate. Felicia was furious when Marshall challenged her to write a book that wasn't a romance novel. Grant told Amanda they had to put off their wedding until he found Vicky and the baby. Wait To See: John faces a new challenge from Kate.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Susan and Larry were alarmed at an irregularity in the sonogram. Eliot, Samantha's father, arrived and after seeing her attraction to Craig, promised he wouldn't reveal her secret past. Lily told Damian about seeing Holden in Rome. Later, Damian was relieved to learn Hans was in jail. Shannon told John the name, "Devare," which she called out in her sleep, was connected to her time in Africa. Eliot asked Craig to help him choose a gift for Samantha, then conned Craig into paying for it. Wait To See: Holden's "stalker" gets closer.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Eric canceled his dinner date with Sheila when she brushed off Dylan who arrived for his interview for a summer internship at Forester. Meanwhile, Brooke accepted both James' proposal and the engagement ring he bought for her. Sheila, who was sure James was conspiring against her with Stephanie, ordered Mike to find damaging information on Dr. Warwick. Later, Sheila's ire was raised higher when Brooke showed her the ring. James told Stephanie he was sure Sheila's secrets, when revealed, could land her in jail. After telling Jack she planned to propose to Anthony, Sally was devastated when she overheard Macy and Anthony speak of their love. Wait To See: Sheila and James each think they've got something on the other.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Celeste told Billie the dark-haired woman ("Hope") she saw was a homeless neighbor who often visits Maison Blanche. Stefano told John and Marlena he would fake their deaths: John would be brainwashed again, and Marlena would be his mistress. Billie thought she recognized Hope when a flash of lightning illuminated the woman's face in the garden. Vivian was determined to delay removal of the embryo before it attaches itself to her uterus. Sami was shocked when Alan began to rape her. Wait To See: Stefano begins to plan the "deaths" of John and Marlena.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: An angry Lucy learned she lost the bet with Damian. Mac and Felicia faced the painful truth about their relationship. Frisco left for his WSB assignment when Maxie was able to come out of the intensive care unit. Bobbie learned from Lucy that Damian's wooing had been a game. Luke and Laura made a grisly discovery as they spring-cleaned the attic in their new home. Wait To See: A new mystery engulfs the Spencer family.

GUIDING LIGHT: Ross' bachelor party came to a stunning and unusual end. Although sympathetic to his daughter, Blake's, feelings, Roger couldn't help but gloat at Ross' situation. Buzz and Jenna each lied about not really planning to elope, bringing their relationship to an end. Eleni learned Alan-Michael and Jenna's lotion was based on her recipe. Blake snuck into Ross' jail cell hoping for some romantic time with him. Mindy found Ross' trial plan and gave it to Vanessa. Dylan offered to show Vanessa the attic in which Bridget spent her pregnancy. Wait To See: Buzz takes a risk in moving in on Pauly to save Nadine and free Ross.

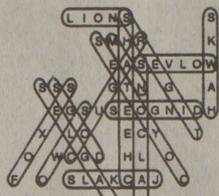

LOVING: Steffi and Cooper were stunned when they learned her mother, Deborah, blackmailed Clay into marrying her. Meanwhile, Ally and Casey were surrounded by family and friends as they exchanged wedding vows. Angie shrugged off Charles' and Frankie's advice to see a doctor. Ava was haunted by Harry's prediction that someone she knows will die. Wait To See: Dinah Lee and Trucker face a new "challenge" from Curtis.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Cord noticed a warm moment between C.J. and Todd. Jimmy G. arrived on Luna's doorstep, while Max and Blair tried frantically to repay what they owe him. Alex vacationed in Bermuda to await Asa and Buck's arrivals with marriage proposals. Luna consulted a counselor about Max's gambling addiction. After a visit from his father, Todd made out a will leaving everything to Rebecca. Viki and Sloan set a November wedding date. Wait To See: Nora finds a new puzzle in Dorian's case.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Dru helped Malcolm get a job with Blade. Heather told the court she believed her mother's story of being abused by Robert. Mary testified she saw marks and bruises on April when she came to Genoa City. Despite Victoria's warning that marrying Nina could be a big mistake, Ryan went through with the marriage. Jill seduced Jed to prove she wasn't the cause of John's impotency. John later stormed out angrily when Jill mistakenly assumed his potency had returned, and made sexual overtures to him. Later, Victoria saw Jed and Nikki kissing, and told Nikki she was appalled her mother was involved with a construction worker. Wait To See: Paul and Chris face a new problem involving April.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You may be asked now to help a friend out with a problem. Overall, it's not the best time for social interests, as others may be too self-absorbed. A business matter as it stands remains unclear. It's a good time to attend to bookkeeping and to answer correspondence.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A business responsibility may require your immediate attention. The demands of close ties, however, may keep you from accomplishing as much as you would like. The weekend is good for visiting with friends and family.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) The need to catch up with a backlog of work may cause you to put a travel plan on hold. Know how to pace yourself this week as you could easily overtire yourself. A new opportunity that comes now can be very lucrative in the long run for you.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Some past-due bills may require your immediate attention or, instead, you may be faced with unexpected expenditures. Problems related to intimacy may be a concern now but this soon passes.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) By the time everyone gets through with what he or she has to say, you may feel worn out. Family members may have trouble agreeing on how best to handle a problem. Take the lead in this as your instincts are right on the money. Relax at home this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) After encountering a few difficulties in connection with work, you may feel like throwing in the towel and calling it quits. Extra persistence will be needed now to overcome this. This weekend, a domestic matter concerns you.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You may find someone's behavior a bit manipulative this week. Guard against those who would take advantage in financial matters. You will make great progress with work that you have taken home from the office this weekend.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Try not to be bossy in your dealings with others now. Extra responsibilities in connection with home and family take up much of your time this week. A slight mix-up in plans could occur now, but overall, it's a great weekend for recreational interests.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Concentration powers are good this week but you may have a heavy workload of a mental nature to deal with now. Pay extra attention to traffic rules when driving. Be patient with a family member.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You may feel that a gift or business proposition has strings attached. A friend who has problems may not be much fun to be with. It's a good time to sign up for a class or seminar which can help in your career.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You are in a serious frame of mind early in the week and may not be in the mood for idle chit-chat. It's not the best time to push your interests where business is concerned. This weekend, a friend proves especially difficult to deal with.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Though you are willing to help someone out now, you may feel that your efforts are not appreciated. Remember that people under duress aren't always thoughtful. Focus your energies this weekend on cultural interests.

Betsy Layne rolls past Sheldon Clark 8-2 in regionals

Clark overcomes wild start to whiff 11 batters

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Bobcats rolled into the finals of the 15th Region boys' baseball tournament with an 8-2 win over the Sheldon Clark Cardinals Wednesday night in front of a large following.

Barry Clark, who had been struggling the past two outings, picked up the win for Betsy Layne in going the distance.

Clark struggled early in the game, falling behind on most of the batters. But, being the competitor he is, he righted himself and got stronger as the game went on.

"Barry has been a big part of the Betsy Layne team down through the years," said Betsy Layne coach Junior Newsome. "He has helped make Betsy Layne baseball what it is today."

"I knew that he would eventually settle down. He was missing with his fastball early but came back and pitched a good game," he said.

Betsy Layne struck for three runs in the second inning after going out in order in the first. A Brad Tiller error at short and consecutive base hits by Clark and Greg Hunter plated the first run.

After the runners were moved up on Scott Ousley's sacrifice, Keith Hamilton legged out an infield hit scoring both Clark and Shawn Rose, who pinch ran for Hunter.

Sheldon Clark made it a 3-2 game as Clark fell behind on every batter in the inning. He was missing low with his curve and his fastball was going wide to the outside.

Jason Jennings reached on an error by Chris Potter at short and Clark walked Steve Alley. After designated hitter Robert Stepp struck out, Joe Maynard hit a soft liner to center scoring Jennings. Back-to-back walks to Richie Masica and Tiller forced home the second run.

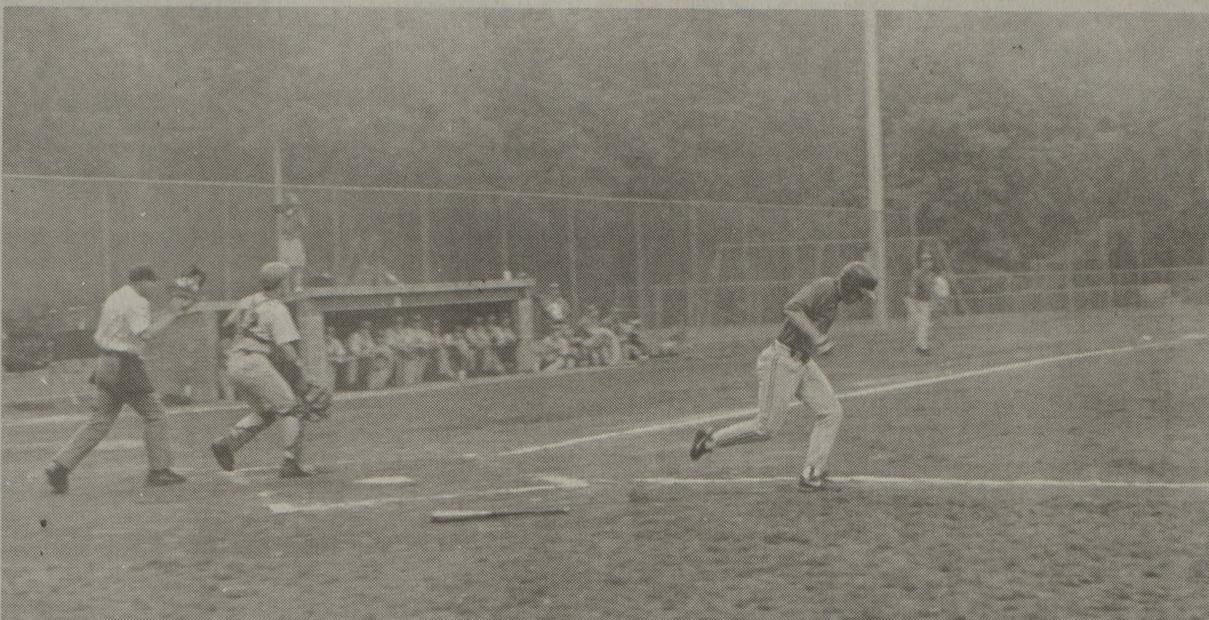

Two runs came home for Betsy Layne as they took a 5-2 lead and never looked back. Brandon Castle reached on an error at second and (See Betsy Layne, B 3)

Game winning RBI!

Allen Central's designated hitter Roy John Martin lined a base hit to left field scoring Brian Reed from second base with what proved to be the game winning run in Allen Central's 5-4 upset win over the Paintsville Tigers. The two teams met in the semifinals of the boys 15th Regional baseball tournament at Pikeville Wednesday night. Paintsville owned a 30-4 record entering the game and ranked 20th in the state. Martin's seventh inning single gives Allen Central 5-4 win

Austin Shelton was in control, Jackie Pack was upset and Paintsville did a disappearing act that upset fans.

The final result was simply a thrilling 5-4 Allen Central (13-14) win over the powerful Paintsville Tigers (30-5) in the semifinals of the boys' 15th Regional baseball tournament at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex in Pikeville.

Shelton was the master on the mound as he scattered seven Paintsville hits and held the Tigers scoreless over the final four innings in picking up the win.

Some close calls at first base by first base umpire Roy Bogar had the Allen Central coaches visibly upset. First base coach Don Hansford protested two calls and received a warning from Bogar.

While the Rebels were upsetting the Tigers, Paintsville was upsetting the fans that turned out to view the game.

After the game ended with Byron Dixon striking out, the Tigers disappeared into their dugout and refused to come out and go through the traditional hand shake line between the two teams.

"They won't come out," said Coach Pack, when he was set to send his players over to shake hands.

The incident had not only Allen Central fans upset, but others who were non partisan.

The moment belonged to a left-handed batter, Roy John Martin, who has been a consistent hitter all season.

Martin waited at the on deck circle as Paintsville coach Charlie Adkins was forced to bring in his ace, Don Montgomery, in the top of the seventh with the go ahead run on second base in the person of Brian Reed, who was hit by a pitch and stole second.

Martin stepped to the plate and greeted the hard throwing right-hander with a solid line drive down the left field line scoring Reed with the game winning run.

But Shelton still had to face the Tigers in the bottom of the inning with the top of the order due up. Shelton appeared nervous when he faced Jon Holbrook who had two hits in the game. Shelton had a 3-2 count on Holbrook when he hit him with a pitch.

"I just got wild with Holbrook," said Shelton. "He's a very good hitter and I just hit him."

Second baseman Todd Tackett accidentally got his bat out over the plate and the ball hit the bat rolling back to Shelton who threw him out. Holbrook moved to second.

Shelton was brilliant in pitching to the hard hitting Montgomery with the tying run at second base.

A sweeping curve ball for the first strike. A ball inside. A swinging strike at a fast ball. A fast ball that missed just outside. Then a curve that broke down and out that had Montgomery reaching.

Clean-up hitter Dixon went the same route and missed a Shelton curve ball for the final out.

"It's the greatest game that I have ever pitched," said Shelton. "I just can't find words to describe how I feel right now."

"Coach Pack told me to just go out there and be a bulldog. That if I kept us close that we would win the game," he said.

Keeping his team close is exactly what Shelton did. He saw a break down in defense in the third inning when the Tigers scored three times with the help of three Rebel errors.

Shelton himself made one him self when he was unable to pick up a slow roller back to him. Paintsville took advantage of the Allen Central mistakes and took a 3-0 lead. Two runs were unearned.

The Tigers made it 4-0 after Craig Ratliff hit a towering drive for a triple with one out in the fourth. He scored on Holbrook's RBI single.

Allen Central got on the scoreboard in the fifth inning when Jeremy Hall scored on Josh Hansford's ground ball to Holbrook at short.

Shelton set the Tigers down in order thanks to some great defense by Kevin Allen at short. The Rebels then proceeded to turn things around as they caught the Tigers at four.

Ratliff worked himself into a jam in the fourth by giving up back-to-back walks to Roy Martin and Allen. Glen Floyd then roped a base hit to center but Martin was held up at third, loading the bases.

Ratliff plunked Kevin Martin with a pitch forcing in the second Allen Central run and Jeremy Hall lined a single up the middle scoring Allen and Floyd to tie the game at four.

A very confident Shelton took the mound in the sixth and struck out the side, mixing his pitches well.

Jimmy Frazier, who came on for Ratliff in the sixth, suffered the loss. He worked one inning allowing the one run and he gave up two hits.

Ratliff went the first five and a third innings giving up four runs on four hits. He struck out three and walked two.

Shelton not only pitched a strong game, but he had two hits in the contest as well.

"Roy John had a big hit for us," said Coach Pack. "Everybody contributed. These kids, the last two weeks, have played great baseball."

The game was not without its defensive gems. Center fielder Jeremy Hall made a spectacular catch in the outfield. Kevin Allen was sharp at short as was Paintsville's Holbrook.

Game notes:

- Coach Pack, after his team watched Paintsville take infield practice just before the two teams met, said, "The shows over, let's play ball."

- The Allen Central win, coupled with Betsy Layne's win over Sheldon Clark, set up a rematch of the two Floyd County teams. The two teams last met in the district finals with Shelton getting the win there.

- Kevin Martin hit a drive that went to the wall and ended up at second base. But Martin did get credited with a hit. He missed first base and was called out.

Hand shaking should be disallowed?

What do you think? Should hand shaking after an athletic contest be discontinued?

Do opposing players really enjoy the humility of having to shake the hands of a team that just beat them?

Are their hearts really in this thing? All this comes about after the Paintsville Tigers failed to emerge from their dugout to congratulate Allen Central for beating them.

It has been traditional that the two teams would cross the infield in line and shake hands. The Tigers failed to do so and brought some harsh words from fans.

One told me that he used to have all kinds of respect for Charlie Adkins and the Paintsville program until that happened. "I have no more respect for him or their program," he said.

Yet another lady said, "Be sure to write how they wouldn't shake the players hand after getting beat. They're not a class program."

In some parts of California, it is unlawful for two athletic teams to exchange hand shakes. The law could become a national law before long.

But all season long the teams have been encouraged to show good sportsmanship by going through the rite. I wish the Paintsville Tigers and their coach would have shown that sportsmanship. They are a fine baseball team with loads of talent. And it was a great game that the fans really got into only to be marred by such behavior.

Our hats goes off to Andrew Joyce and his Big Sandy Umpire Association that assigned the crew to call the 15th Region tournament at Pikeville.

This is an outstanding crew that did an excellent job. I like to watch the umpires. I like to notice their positioning, their mechanics and I find this crew to be top notch in all phases of the game.

Todd Thacker, Tim Rice and Dale Conn (who called the regional) are from Floyd County. David Maynard, Jerome Greathouse and Keith Henry are also Floyd Countians who are part of the association.

Joyce is to be praised for putting this organization together three years ago. What a difference it has made in the calling of games.

Allen Central and Betsy Layne are the first two Floyd County teams to meet in a regional final since Prestonsburg beat Allen Central in the 1984 classic.

Since the realignment in 1976, Prestonsburg is the only Floyd County team to win a regional and advance on to sectional play.

Pikeville has had its streak of three consecutive regional titles snapped. The Panthers failed to get out of their district. Pikeville won the tournament in '91, '92, and again in '93.

Paintsville dominated the region, (See Sports View, B 2)

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

A BELATED HAPPY BIRTHDAY
Birthday wishes, and belated they are, go to James Eddie Hall. Age (?)

While mentioning James, let me add a note about him and his wife, Lynn. Both are tireless workers when it comes to our county youth leagues. They have been very much involved in the Mud Creek Pee Wee League as well as the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League.

Lynn has been very faithful in sending all the scores of the Mud Creek Pee Wee League. James and Lynn's son, Ryan, has been out of the Pee Wee League for three years now and still both help with the league. WHY?

"Because we still love being there and we enjoy the little ones so much," said Lynn.

James and Lynn will be in their seventh year coaching the Pee Wee Reds in the Mud Creek league.

Said Lynn, "We're already looking forward to Babe Ruth next year."

This is Ryan's final year with the Cubs in Little League.

James and Lynn Hall deserves a big SPORT SALUTE for their contribution to many of our young folks in Floyd County. I appreciate both of them.

MELTING ARMS!

I hate to be one of those "I told you so" people and so I won't.

The sun has come out and the weather is warming up and the arms in Cincinnati are melting.

That is the same routine they face each year. The pitchers arms are fine when the weather is cool, but the Reds will finish a distant fourth in their Central Division.

Greg Swindell, Dave Drabek and company will lead the Houston Astros to the division crown ahead of St. Louis and Pittsburgh. The Chicago Cubs will hold up the Reds in fifth place.

Seriously, the Reds need to really address their starting rotation problems. They will not be in the race long if they do not make some trades for front line pitching.

The farm system has no prospects and the present corp just will not get the job done.

Manager Davey Johnson is working the bullpen to death and they can not hold up much longer.

John Smiley, Jose Rijo and Tom Browning are finished as major league pitchers. Tim Lincecum will be better suited if he suits up in a mailman's job. He can't deliver a pitch!

Eric Hanson might be ready on the last day of the regular season when they have fan appreciation day. Fans would appreciate it if they traded him.

Did we trade Paul O'Neil for Bobby or Roberto (or both) Kelly. Who knows? Didn't we at one time have a shot at signing Drabek?

Kevin Mitchell is having a great year, but right back to old ways of not wanting to play. Tony Fernandez is not happy. Barry Larkin is really struggling and does not look to come out of the season long (thus far) slump. HEY, CHRIS, WILL YOU COME BACK?

Reggie Sanders will never be a major league player. I wonder if Seattle will take Reggie and Riverfront Stadium for Ken Griffey, Jr.

• A thought! One way to punish American Olympic baseball players is to allow Tommy Lasorda to coach them. Come on!

• Eric Davis is batting a robust .198 with three home runs and 13 RBIs. He made the list again. The disabled list. A familiar spot for him.

STATE TRACK AND FIELD..

I wish the Allen Central, Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg and South Floyd track and field teams the best as they travel to Lexington today for the state meet.

All these kids have worked very hard all season to get where they are today. They deserve all of our support as they endeavor to win a state title.

They have accomplished all this without a track and field facility in the county. Think of what they could have done or could do if they had one.

The facility at Allen Central has run into all kinds of walls (restraining one of them). The facility has been put on hold I understand.

I enjoyed being at the Russell regional won by the South Floyd girls. That was on Friday and then Saturday morning I was up early and made my way over to Breathitt County to take in the Class 2A regional won by the Allen Central girls. The Rebels boys finished second in the meet.

Betsy Layne's Nikki Reid (not Reed) is a fast runner. She will never make it down the aisle. She is so fast no man can catch her.

Nikki is an excellent athlete. She should do well at state. We wish you the best.

Stewart Robertson from Prestonsburg is another that will be competitive in Lexington.

Be watching for the announcement of the winners of the Brandon Holbrook Award. The award that will be presented to the top male and female (both field and track events) participants this year. Coach Donnie Daniels of South Floyd talked about this last year.

The award was so named in honor of Brandon.

What a piece Justin Ray wrote on Brandon in our Memorial Day sport segment. This was a young man that touched the lives of many schoolmates and competitors. Everyone liked Brandon. He was just special!

He had to be special to have someone from another county school to dedicate a race in track to him.

Well, until the next time, good sports everyone and be good sports. Take your kids to church Sunday!

Waves to hold signups; Twins will conduct camp

The Jenny Wiley Waves Summer Swim Team will be holding signups for the upcoming swim season.

Registration and tryouts will be held Tuesday, May 31 at the Jenny Wiley pool beginning at 6 p.m., rain or shine. Each participant should come prepared to swim.

The summer swim league is for swimmers 18 and under.

For more information contact Rhonda Clark at 874-9060.

COOKOUT AND CAR WASH

The Paintsville Big League baseball team will be holding its annual cook out and car wash at the Paintsville Wal-Mart on Saturday, June 4.

Money from the fund raiser goes to pay team expenses such as uniforms, travel, balls and umpires.

The Paintsville team is the defending state champions. All support will be greatly appreciated.

TWINS CAMP

The Minnesota Twins will be conducting a try-out camp on Monday, June 13 at the Alice Lloyd College in Pippa Passes. The camp will begin at 10 a.m.

Players from the age of 16-21 who feel they have the ability to pursue a career in professional baseball are invited to attend. All players should bring their necessary equipment to the workout such as a glove, spikes, etc.

All American Legion players are required to have written permission from their American Legion coach or post commander in order to participate.

LITTLE LEAGUE CAMP, DOLE CAMP

Two baseball camps will be held at Morehead State University during the month of June.

The Morehead State University Little League camp will be conducted June 6-10 beginning at 9 a.m. until noon for ages 6-12. Registration fee is $60 per camper.

The Doyle Baseball School will come to MSU on June 12-17 for players 13 and over.

For more information on these two camps contact MSU baseball at 606 784-2882.

RUN BY THE RIVER, JUNE 11

The 17th Rail City Run-By-The-River will be held on the morning of June 11. The East Greenup County Kiwanis Club is the sponsor of the aces.

A 5,000 meter and a 10,000 meter race will simultaneously start at 8:30 a.m. at the Russell Central Elementary School. Trophies will go to each of the top three finishers in 11 age groups.

Registration will start at 7 a.m. Entry fee for race-day will be $10. Preregistration is $8.

For more information and entry forms call Don Golightly at 606 329-5591.

Rangers defeat A's for first win; fall to Yankees

The Prestonsburg Rangers snapped a modest two game losing streak and posted a 16-8 win over the Prestonsburg A's in Little League play this week.

Ricky Powers hit an inside-the-park home run leading off the fourth inning. The round tripper sparked a two run fourth for the Rangers. Matt Setser reached on an error and later scored on Josh Shepherd's ground ball.

The A's scored three times in the firstinning. The A's played double or nothing with two two-baggers by Holbrook and Issac and an RBI single by Elliott. Robert Spradlin, who started for the Rangers, then fanned the next three batters to end the inning.

Spradlin struck out the first two he faced in the second for five straight K's.

The A's struck for two more runs in the third off of Spradlin. Aaron Bingham came on to start the fourth inning in relief of Spradlin. He found the A's tough also as he allowed three of the first four batters he faced to score.

The Rangers scored four times in the first inning with two runs scoring on Josh Slone's double. The Rangers scored quickly in the second as five runners crossed the plate.

Powers doubled home two runs in the fifth inning for the winning Rangers.

Powers had two hits with a double and home run. Slone collected three hits with a double and a RBI. Shepherd was two-for-four and had two runs batted in.

The Rangers dropped a 9-1 decision to the undefeated Yankees in an earlier outing.

Kyle Shepherd was just too much for the Rangers as he allowed them one run on two hits. Shepherd faced five over the minimum 18 in a six inning game. He struck out 14 batters and walked three.

Robert Spradlin started for the Rangers, allowing four runs on two hits. He struck out eight and walked four before being relieved by Ricky Powers.

Moore two-hits WLG in 10-4 win

by Ed Taylor

Brandon Castle tripled twice and Chris Moore held Wayland-Lackey-Garrett (WLG) to two hits en route to a 10-4 Allen win this past Saturday at the Allen Park. The two teams met in a Floyd County Babe Ruth game.

Allen scored five times in the first inning and never trailed as Moore struck out nine batters in securing the win. He fanned two batters in four of the five innings that he worked.

Castle pitched the sixth and seventh for Allen. He struck out five, allowed one run on no hits.

Castle tripled home a run in the first inning and tripled and scored in the sixth. Teammate Eric Cook had two hits, including a fifth inning triple.

Kaleb Yates tripled home a run in the third. Yates had two hits in the game.

Kyle Turner and Branon Hicks had the only hits for WLG. Hicks suffered the loss for WLG.

Moore got a one out base hit in the first inning and Castle tripled him home. Castle scored on an error and Cook's base hit scored Wesley Collins.

Timmy Bellamy scored for WLG in the second inning and Hicks came home in the third for a 5-2 game. Allen added single runs in the third and fourth innings to take a 7-2 lead.

Cook's tripled and Steven Hamilton's two-run single made it a 9-3 game after five innings.

Allen goes to 1-0 on the season while WLG falls to 0-1.

Hiram "Buddy" Couch
February 11, 1987

"This sports tribute is to my father-in-law, Hiram "Buddy" Couch. He coached W.D. Osborne Elementary from 1967 until 1977 in which he had an outstanding record and won several county championships. Most people judge coaches as to how they perform on the court, but Mr. Couch not only won on the court — but off the court as well.

"He instilled in us players respect, morals and he had that way of making everyone around him feel better about themselves. No matter if I had a good game or a bad game, he praised me. I can still hear him say 'good job son!' He exemplified sportsmanship, dedication, concern and a love for his players.

"He went on to assist with the Wheelwright Trojans and I do believe he was the biggest UK fan in Kentucky. The sports world lost one of its greatest on February 11, 1987. I, along with the rest of his family, miss him very much. I know he will never be forgotten. Somewhere there are hundreds of other boys like me who are thankful for the opportunity to have played for him. We are all better people just by knowing him. He loved the game, but most of all the game loved him."

— Tony Bee Hall

Jeff Slone
March 1987

Jeff Slone is the son of Mary (Slone) Howell (formerly of Floyd County) who now resides in Elgin, South Carolina and the late Clarence Slone.

Jeff was taken in an automobile accident in 1987, leaving behind a son, P.J. Slone, who writes:

"My name is P.J. and I am the son of the late Jeff Slone of Langley and Kathy Brubaker.

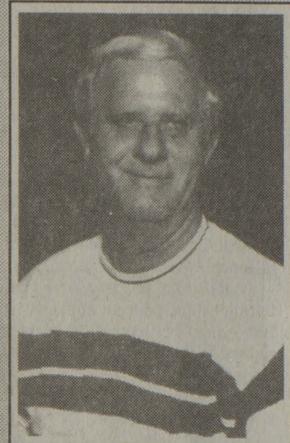

"I now live in Indiana and I am a ballplayer and play baseball and basketball. I got Player of the Year in 1992 and '93.

"My uncle Junior Slone is a coach and my cousins are the Slones of Martin and Maytown. Timbo (Hagans), Edmond (Slone) and Buddy (Slone).

"I am the grandson of the late Clarence Slone and Mary Howell of Elgin, South Carolina and Mike and Lois Schultz of Indiana.

"I don't have a picture of my dad but here is one of me."

— P. J. Slone, Indiana

Gordon Clark
March 17, 1993

"Gordon Clark. Father, family man, baseball fan!

"You never saw him without a smile. To see Gordon not smiling you would think you were looking at someone else.

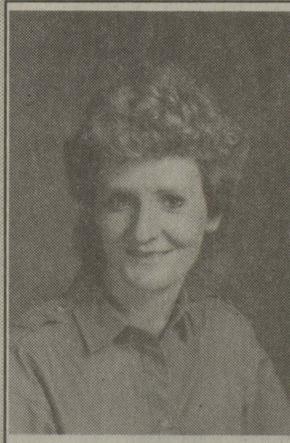

"I got to know Gordon very well and remember the first time that I met him and that was at the ballpark where his son Barry played baseball.

"Gordon loved his family and he loved to be around the Betsy Layne Bobcats, whether it was football, baseball or basketball. He was such an encouragement with his kind words and just being around him made you feel better.

"He was determined that I have a Betsy Layne baseball cap and I did get one. I still have the hat with the many that I have collected down through the years. I have it where I can see it everyday and it reminds me of a man that was just filled with happiness and love for his fellow-man.

"I miss Gordon. I know that his family and friends do also. Someday, we'll meet again in a place where there will be no more good-byes."

Judy Ann Mason Eversole
November 7, 1990

"This is a tribute to a great coach and a dear friend of mine, Judy Eversole. Judy first came to Allen Central High School in 1977. In her eight years of coaching the girls' basketball program, she won four district tournaments and one regional title. She took Allen Central to the state tournament for the first time in the school's history.

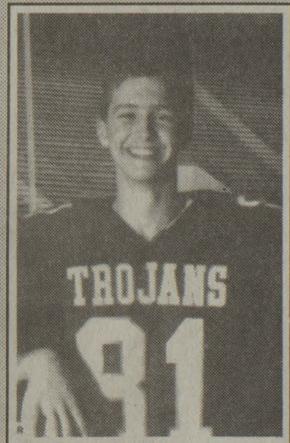

"Judy coached at Betsy Layne for two years as an assistant. From Betsy Layne, she became head coach at Wheelwright and both programs saw much improvement under her guidance and she won another district with Wheelwright.

"Judy's record is not the most important thing about her but the way Judy left behind great memories to a lot of ball players and other people who knew her.

"Judy was an excellent role model to all her players. She wanted them to love the sport and give 110 percent. In fact, she pushed her ball players to do well in school, keep up their grades and to conduct themselves with good sportsmanship. She never believed in giving up and that was demonstrated in her battle with cancer. She fought the battle until November 7, 1990 when she passed away. Her memories remain behind and always will. She is in heaven now coaching basketball, the game she loved so much. She is sadly missed."

Brandon Holbrook
June 17, 1993

"A true athlete must have heart, a certain style and a will to win. Brandon Holbrook was a true athlete. He gave all he had whether he was running track, playing football or shooting basketball. He did it with the 'Brandon' touch, a dimpled smile which often hid the tremendous effort he gave in every event.

"He loved to win, but he would make personal sacrifices for his teammates. I remember one particular track meet in which Brandon was overtaking his teammate Ricky Little. With a smile of encouragement he yelled, 'Kick it, Ricky, kick it!' Ricky placed first and Brandon placed second.

"Like I said, Brandon was a true athlete. His spirit of winning will always be with us, urging us to 'kick it,' to do our best.

"Asa Wheelwright Trojan, Brandon played basketball two years, football one and ran track for two years. He will never be forgotten by his teammates and friends."

To watch Jason Martin take the mound against the Phelps Hornets in the first round of the 15th Region baseball tournament Tuesday night, you would never have thought that he was pitching with an injured left arm.

Martin evidently injured the arm against Prestonsburg in the district tournament. Swelling took place and he approached his coach with the problem.

"His left arm around the elbow got a knot on it," said Rebel coach Jackie Pack. "He's done for the season except for pitching. He cannot swing a bat."

Roy John Martin was inserted into the batting order as the designated hitter for Martin.

But the big right-hander handled things from the mound as he scattered three Phelps hits en route to a 5-1 win over the Hornets.

Martin, in working the full seven, allowed only the one run on three hits. He struck out nine and walked seven. He hit one batter, Daniel Lester, in the first inning.

Glenn Floyd provided the excitement in the Rebels fifth inning when he drilled a pitch that found the gap in right field and rolled to the wall for an inside-the-park home run.

The fleet-footed right fielder didn't even slow down around third and beat the throw to the plate as he slid safely under the glove of catcher Steve Smith. Brian Reed, who had walked and stole second, scored ahead of Floyd. Floyd had three runs batted in for the game.

Kyle Compton started for the Hornets and lasted the first two and a third innings. He was relieved by Steve Layne in the third when Allen Central loaded the bases with one run in to tie the game at one.

Compton walked three batters and did not strike anyone out. He gave up just one hit, but walked two.

Lester followed Layne to the mound to pitch the bottom of the seventh.

Phelps led 1-0 with a run in the top of the third. Martin walked the bases loaded and then lost Jamey Hager on a 3-2 pitch forcing home Bud Sanson with the first run.

Allen Central made it a 1-1 game in the bottom of the inning on walks to Josh Hansford and Todd Bingham. Both runners were moved up when Reed laid down a sacrifice bunt. Kevin Allen walked to load the sacks and Floyd drew a walk from Compton on four pitches sending Hansford home with the tying run.

Layne relieved Compton with one out and the bases loaded. First baseman Kevin Martin tried to lay down a squeeze bunt, but popped the ball in the air to Layne on a horrible pitch. Bingham was already at homeplate, but was doubled off at third on the catch.

Allen Central led for good with two in the bottom of the fourth. Roy John Martin walked and went to third when Layne tried to pick him off. He scored on Austin Shelton's base hit up the middle. Shelton stole second and later scored on a passed ball.

The final two Rebel runs came in the fifth on Floyd's home run.

Phelps left the bases loaded twice against Martin. In the third, when the Hornets scored their lone run, Martin got Andy Dotson to ground to short to end the threat with the bases loaded. He struck out Patrick Jones on a high pitch to leave the sacks loaded again in the fifth.

Lester had two of the three Phelps' hits. He had the only extra base hit when he doubled with one out in the fifth.

Betsy Layne

Shannon Newsome roped a drive to left field for a double scoring Castle from first base. Newsome scored on an error at third base off the bat of Hunter.

Sheldon Clark stranded eight base runners in the first three innings. Clark uncharacteristically walked five batters in the first three innings, but came back to get the side out.

The Cardinals left them loaded in the second and third innings and stranded two in the first. They left a total of 11 runners on base for the game.

Betsy Layne added its final three runs in the seventh when Castle tripled to deep left center. He scored on Clark's sacrifice fly to left. Hunter singled and Ousley hit one off the wall in center field for a double scoring Hunter. Willie Meade scored Ousley with a line drive to center.

The Cardinals went out in order in the bottom of the seventh.

"I was nervous going into the game," said Clark of his control problems earlier. "I was thinking too much out there and wasn't throwing the ball. I just had to make some adjustments."

Steve Alley, who started for Sheldon Clark suffered the setback. He worked the first five innings before giving way to John May in the sixth.

Alley allowed five runs on just three hits. He walked three batters and did not strike anyone out.

May gave up three runs on five hits in the two innings that he worked. He fanned three and did not walk a batter.

Clark struck out 11 batters for the win. He walked only one batter over the final four innings and allowed only two hits.

Game notes:

Center fielder Jason Pinson had to leave the game in the fifth inning after pulling up limping. Pinson beat out an infield hit and limped back to first base. He later left, being replaced by Chad Mills.

Alley walked the bases loaded in the fifth inning after he had retired the first two batters on routine ground balls. He got Ousley to sky to left for the final out.

Betsy Layne improved to 23-11 on the season and advanced to the regional finals for the second straight year. The Bobcats faced rival Allen Central in the championship game last night.

Sheldon Clark had the worst record of the eight teams in the tournament at 9-16.

The game marked the third meeting between the two schools this year. Betsy Layne won two of the three.

Watkins ties for seventh in Red Man Trail qualifier

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

East Point's Tee Watkins tied for seventh place in the Red Man Trail Mountain Division qualifier on Cherokee Lake at Hamlin County Dock on May 15.

Watkins, who has already qualified for this year's Red Man All-American Tournament in Oklahoma (May 30 through June 3), is attempting to make a return trip next year.

Watkins boated five bass that weighed in at 9 pounds, 14 ounces to take home $343 in prize money. Watkins tied with Mike Watson of Blountville, Tennessee.

Bill Taylor of Danville took first place in the tournament which included 163 anglers. Taylor boated five bass weighing in at 12 pounds, 13 ounces. He collected $2,644 out of a cash purse totaling $9,435.

Lancaster's Rodney Harrison placed second with a total weight of 11 pounds, 11 ounces. Second place paid $1,350.

Third place in the qualifier went to Tony Wilson of Barboursville with 11 pounds, 8 ounces.

Watkins will leave for Oklahoma this weekend with all anglers scheduled to be in camp by Monday, May 30.

"I want to go a day earlier," Watkins said. "We went down three weeks ago to look over the place. To look around and see how the lakes are."

A surprise send-off was held for Watkins and his family at the Playhouse Restaurant this past Thursday night as well-wishers gathered for the send-off.

Area seniors enjoy Olympic atmosphere at annual games

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

"Let the games begin!"

A similar cry has always been the starting comments as Olympic games across the globe are held each year.

The cry was heard this past weekend, but at the Jenny Wiley State Park. The 1994 Senior Games took place at the Spillway area of the park under blue skies and comfortable temperatures.

Scores of volunteers and different agencies took part as over 300 senior citizens (329) registered for the games.

The total of participation was down from previous years, but it was a competitive morning for those who did sign up.

Senior citizens centers from a five county area gathered at the Jenny Wiley State Park for the games.

The games are held in Olympic type surroundings, but offer different sports to participate in.

While there are no hurdles to leap, discus to throw or distance running, the seniors are offered some very competitive sporting events.

Basketball, always a favorite with the seniors, was well attended. Each participant is given the chance to score as many hoops as possible from a previous marked area on the outdoor court. While "slam dunking" was not allowed, the seniors did enjoy trying the old fashioned underhand free throw shot in the free throw part.

Horseshoes. Everyone loves horseshoes. Especially those in the senior ranks that grew up throwing the shoes at stakes placed at different distances. Different distances because the senior women like to play also and they did quite well.

Each senior that registered for the softball toss was given three chances to see how far they could toss the oversize ball. It was surprising at the energy level some of the seniors had. Softball toss is another favorite of the seniors.

A round circle cut out of a large board made the football toss interesting. While there wasn't any pro scouts looking for a few good quarterbacks at the games, the seniors found the event challenging.

The circle in the board remained stationary, but the seniors are asked to toss the football at different distances. Some, surprisingly, had a good spiral toss.

Did you ever go bowling? Lawn bowling that is. It looked to be a lot of fun. While the rules are not all that clear the object is to bowl as close as possible to a previous set ball on the lawn court. It looked to be a very challenging game.

There were no 3200-meter runs or half-mile or even a 50-yard dash. But the seniors just enjoyed a walk around the road that circled the park area. Several took part in the walk and umbrellas were in order to keep off the sun.

CME Corporation furnished hats for all the seniors and they were put to use. The corporation also wanted to keep the young feeling young and fresh fruit was also provided.

You could see there were very experienced fishermen in the crowd as you walked by the spin casting event. A circle on the ground represented a part of "the lake" the fishermen were asked to hit with his or her cast. You could tell that fish had no chance with some of these fine fishermen.

When the seniors were not participating in the games, they were being entertained by Kelter Stiltner and his dancers. Why, even the seniors were invited to get on the platform and show their stuff. There are those who can still cut a rug.

Line dancing, which is growing in popularity, along with square dancing was a favorite with the seniors. There was even some good "down home" clogging.

McDonald's got involved as they furnished the seniors with juice, coffee, muffins and cookies.

Chad Fletcher provided the seniors with musical treats. He played his instruments as well as singing some favorites.

The Highlands Medical Center did blood pressure and blood sugar tests for the seniors.

All the seniors had a place to put their valuables as the Citizens National Bank of Paintsville furnished purses that hook to the belt.

T-shirts were in style as the Pikeville National Bank and WYMT provided the shirts. The Pepsi Wagon, courtesy of East Kentucky Beverage, served some refreshing drinks.

As always, Kentucky Crystal provided that cool spring water with cups. The tables and chairs for the day's events were furnished by the Jenny Wiley State Park staff. Also the staff helped in running the games. "Volunteers were there from different agencies and businesses from the five counties without which the games could not have happened," said Betsy Carroll, information referral coordinator from the Big Sandy ADD office.

Sue Nichols, WYMT-TV, emceed the games and did an excellent job. The DAV color guard was on hand for the opening ceremonies. The opening invocation was given by the Reverend Russell Holland.

The Pike County Department of Social Services had 14 volunteers on hand and among them was Gloria Hall, who was on the committee for the ninth year.

The numbers may have been down this year, but the enthusiasm wasn't as over 300 senior citizens just had a good time enjoying the games, fellowshiping together and loving life.

Granddad and his tablets

by Dr. Robert Ketrick

Prescribing for the elderly is a very complex problem. What do I mean by the elderly? Even that is difficult to define. There are men and women in their mid-80s who are in much better shape than some people in their 60s.

In general, however, the body system of a 75-year-old man or woman cannot process any prescribed drugs as efficiently as can a young person's. A simple example: a man of 75 can't cope with alcohol as easily as his son or grandson.

Numerous factors contribute to the older man's reaction to drugs. His blood chemistry is different. His body is more shrunken and lacking in body water to dilute the drug, be it alcohol or prescribed medicines.

Many drugs are broken down and processed in the liver, but granddad's liver has gotten smaller and the blood flow to it is reduced, accounting for a slower breakdown of drugs in his body.

Filtering and drainage by his kidneys may be reduced as part of aging.

Although he may appear to be as sharp as a razor in conversation, his brain may be affected by drugs. An older man's brain is more sensitive to Valium and the other benzodiazepines, causing a tendency to sway and an increase in reaction time. Some drugs reduce the blood pressure and tend to make him lightheaded.

Adverse drug reactions are not uncommon, particularly with preparations to reduce blood pressure, tablets or capsules for depression or anxiety, and sleeping pills and drugs given to control the heart rate, particularly Digitalis.

On top of all these risks, the patient may misunderstand the dosage he is to take.

SIDE EFFECTS

Some prescribed drugs even combine in the body to produce unwanted and dangerous side effects. Diabetes medication and pills to thin his blood may combine to put him at increased risk of internal bleeding and losing his balance from low blood sugar.

The doctor needs to monitor such prescriptions very closely. In fact, he or she should prescribe only if absolutely necessary, and withdraw any drugs that are not improving the patient's condition. Repeat prescribing month after month, without seeing the patient, is becoming less and less frequent.

Ideally, the elderly patient should be asked to bring all his tablets with him to his doctor's appointment and tell the doctor how and when he takes them. Drug directions should be kept as simple as possible and reviewed regularly.

By suspicious that any new symptom may be due to a drug reaction. As drugs become more powerful, they may become more dangerous for the elderly.

Lessen impact of arthritis pain by taking control

(NU)—The Arthritis Foundation is encouraging people to take advantage of the many services that can help maintain or even improve their quality of life, despite the pain and limited movement arthritis may bring.

Two million Americans say they have arthritis but have not seen a doctor for care—even though a number of medical treatments and other helpful services are available to make life with arthritis easier and less painful, according to the Arthritis Foundation.

"Many people mistakenly view arthritis as a part of aging for which nothing can really help," said Arthur Grayzel, Arthritis Foundation senior vice president of medical affairs. "The reality is that arthritis can bring pain, limit movement and make ordinary tasks very difficult. But there are ways to help you limit its impact and continue to enjoy life."

In addition to prescribed medical treatment, there are other options that can be very helpful. These include Arthritis Foundation services such as warm-water exercise classes, self-help courses, support groups and a wide variety of information.

"The keys to coping with arthritis are to recognize that arthritis is serious, see a doctor for proper diagnosis, learn all you can about the disease and take action to control its impact on your life by contacting the Arthritis Foundation," Grayzel said.

Eating for a better future

As our bodies age and change, so do our eating requirements. Next to early childhood, the "senior" years are one of the most important times of your life to eat right.

One important part of your diet is fiber. Fiber causes our bowels to work properly, thereby helping you to avoid colon cancer and constipation. Fresh fruits and vegetables are wonderful sources of fiber along with whole-grain cereals and bread. Your body also needs at least four to eight glasses of liquid and some exercise each day in order to keep your digestive and elimination processes running smoothly.

Calcium is another requirement for health in the later years. Lack of calcium is believed to cause osteoporosis, a thinning of the bones. Since thin bones break easily, heal slowly, and can lead to curvature of the spine, extra calcium intake is essential, especially for women. To protect yourself from a calcium deficiency, you need to eat or drink two servings of calcium-rich food like yogurt, cheese and milk each day. Calcium supplements are also available.

Some people find that chewing becomes a concern in their later years. Naturally soft foods like eggs, mashed potatoes, cottage cheese and applesauce are easy on the teeth and contain important vitamins and minerals. Preparing meat and vegetables in soups, casseroles and stews creates tasty dishes that have texture but aren't difficult to eat.

Even though your dietary needs have changed, there is no reason why you shouldn't enjoy eating. With some extra planning and preparation, your diet can help contribute to your better health and longer life. Bon appétit!

Common sense ways to beat heart attacks

by Ellie Law

Now more than ever, people are concerned about their hearts. It is not surprising, considering that heart attacks and other heart-related diseases have been the country's biggest killer.

According to one expert, there are six main risk factors related to heart disease: age, family history, smoking, raised blood pressure, blood cholesterol level and diabetes.

Dr. Gordon Jackson, a practicing heart specialist and consultant to a number of London hospitals, elaborates.

"People in their 50s and 60s are much more prone to problems. And if one of your parents or siblings has suffered a heart attack, then you have a greater-than-average risk.

"Smoking is a major cause of heart attacks and strokes, and the easiest to deal with. You cannot change your age or your family history, but you can stop smoking.

"Blood pressure is one of the major indicators of risk and is particularly important as a predictor of strokes, but it is a relatively easy condition to treat.

"There is a cholesterol level below which heart problems are least likely to occur, but unfortunately this level is well below the average in Western countries.

"Finally, if you are a diabetic, then you do have an increased risk."

So how can we possibly beat the dreaded heart disease?

Dr. Jackson says that while we can't hope to prevent heart attacks completely, there is good evidence to suggest that it is possible to make a dramatic reduction in personal heart attack risk, merely by making comparatively minor changes in lifestyle.

Here are eight ways he suggests you can do that:

1. Have your blood pressure checked regularly. Keeping slim, exercising, eating fruit and vegetables for their potassium content, and cutting down drastically on your salt intake will help to keep your blood pressure down.

2. Cut out all fried foods (grill them instead), avoid too much cheese and dairy food, and especially avoid very fat meat and meat products such as sausages, burgers, etc. Switch to less fatty fish and poultry instead of red meat wherever possible.

3. Use polyunsaturated vegetable fats and cook in oil instead of butter or animal fats.

4. Increase your intake of fiber in your diet. Increasing carbohydrates will automatically increase fiber. Some people still worry that eating a lot of starchy foods will lead to obesity. Too much of any food can do that, but since carbohydrates contain just under half as much energy as fatty food, the way to lose weight is to avoid fat. Different types of bread contain different amounts of fiber. White bread is richer in fiber than you think, but whole-grain breads may contain up to 150 percent more per slice.

5. Drink less alcohol. People who drink small amounts of alcohol are actually at lower risk of coronaries and stroke than even non-drinkers. But overdo and all kinds of weight and heart problems are activated.

6. Don't smoke. It not only damages the lungs, it makes the pulse beat faster, narrows the arteries, reduces vital oxygen to the blood and strains the heart. Eight percent of the coronary death rate of men under the age of 50 can be blamed on smoking alone. The risk of heart disease for the smoker is much greater than the risk of lung cancer. If you are not prepared to give up the habit then you are obviously not serious about the risk of a heart attack.

7. Do exercise, but nothing highly strenuous, especially if you are over 40 and haven't exercised in years. Do the kind of exercise that trains the lungs and the heart rather than that which increases muscle strength, i.e. walking, running, swimming and cycling. Home exercise machines are fine, but tend to be boring and people give up easily. Join an exercise group—it's an excellent way to work out. Forget the elevator—walk up stairs; do some gardening; get off the bus a stop or two early and walk the rest of the way.

8. Don't let yourself get overweight. You have a better life expectancy if you are slim than significantly overweight. Tests have shown that in men, a waist measurement larger than the hip measurement implies an increased risk of a heart attack.

Unproven arthritis remedies can do more harm than good (NU)—One in 10 people with arthritis has tried an unproven remedy to relieve the chronic pain, only to suffer sometimes harmful side effects, according to a government survey.

The survey conducted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services also found that 58 percent of the respondents first learned of an unproven arthritis remedy from well-meaning family or friends.

"Many unproven remedies are not harmful, such as copper bracelets or acupuncture," said Arthur Grayzel, senior vice president for medical affairs for the Arthritis Foundation.

"But the effects of others are not known such as bee venom, fish oil or certain diets. Still others we know can be harmful and should not be tried, such as snake venom, DMSO, megadoses of vitamins and drugs from other countries that may have hidden ingredients."

According to the Arthritis Foundation, suspect an unproven remedy if it:

— Claims to work for all types of arthritis.

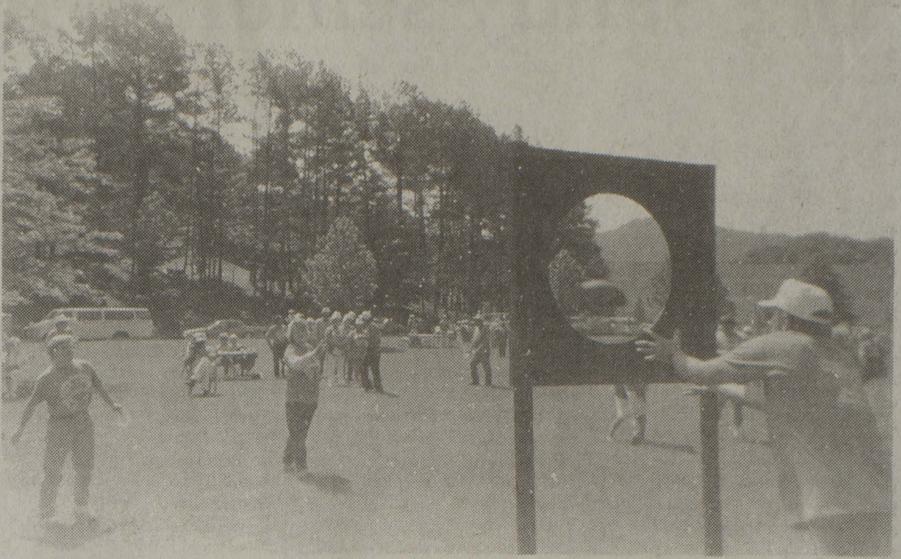

— Uses only case histories or testimonials as proof.

— Cites only one study or a study without a control group.

— Has no warnings about side effects.

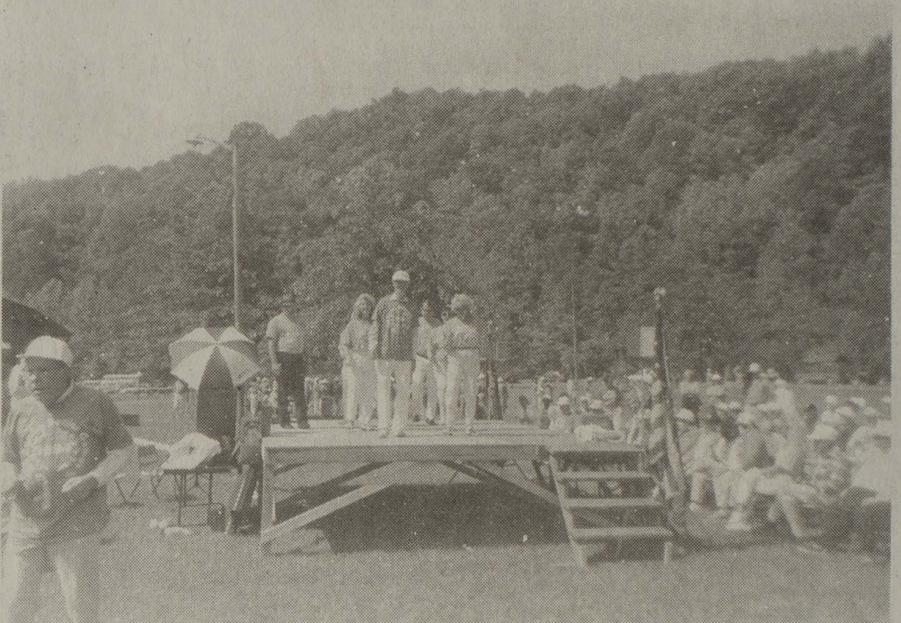

"A major rule of thumb is to learn as much as possible about an arthritic remedy before trying it or even telling others about it," Grayzel said. "If you do decide to try an unproven treatment, talk to your doctor and continue your prescribed medical treatment."

For a free brochure about unproven arthritis remedies, contact your local Arthritis Foundation chapter or call toll-free the Arthritis Foundation Information Line at 1-800-283-7800.

Pets can be the best medicine

Frank Matinley lay in a coma in a hospital, occasionally mumbling the name of his dog, Tipper.

As his lift ebbed away, doctors said it would do no harm if his pet said good-bye to his master through a window.

When Tipper saw him at the Southampton hospital, he barked—and Frank, 68, began to come around on his life-support machine. When nurses wheeled him nearer to see his dog, he began to fight his way back to health.

Medical experts are now looking closely at the possibility that pets may be a better tonic than many forms of treatment. Frank made an amazing recovery.

Remarkable experiments are convincing doctors that when it comes to sickness, animals really are man's best friend. Cats, dogs, parakeets, even goldfish, have produced significant improvement in patients' health—in some cases, faster than drug treatments.

Results have been so encouraging that one specialist has even launched a rent-a-dog scheme to put people back on their feet.

London psychiatrist Dr. Michael McCulloch has about 15 dogs in his "pet pool." They are delivered by assistants before breakfast to patients' homes, and collected in the evening. "Pets can improve health and well being," Dr. McCulloch says. "For someone living alone they can provide new interest in life—someone to talk to and have a laugh with.

"They can also make patients more active. There is good evidence that a heart attack patient makes a better recovery if he has a pet."

Stress is one of the killers of modern life, but scientists at the University of Pennsylvania have discovered a new way of lowering dangerously high blood pressure levels.

No drugs are involved—patients are simply placed in front of an aquarium and left to watch the fish. Some video companies now sell tapes of tropical fish lazily swimming around. As the companies point out, you don't have to feed the fish or clean out the tank.

The idea of using pets to aid recovery was first tried by 18th-century Quakers, but faded out as new medicines were developed.

Shelton Hospital, Shrewsbury, England, turned back the clock and found that 18 cats, three dogs, seven parakeets and a tank of goldfish worked wonders with long-term patients.

"We realized how beneficial pets can be," said Dr. Mary Highcliffe. "They're uncritical, they don't require a lot of care, you can talk to them and they don't get bored. They're a perfect friend."

At Shelton, withdrawn patients become more talkative, and difficult ones socialized more easily. And in one case, a woman, thought for five years to have been deaf, started talking to the goldfish.

Hundreds of patients at the Golden West convalescent hospital in Hawthorne, California, have been helped on the road to recovery by a mongrel dog named Duchess.

Administrator Marion Hames saved the stray from being put to sleep and made a home for her at the hospital. Now Duchess starts her daily rounds at 7 a.m., greeting patients in every sick ward in the 40-room building.

And when a signal light flashes above a patient's door, the black and tan dog races to fetch a nurse.

Duchess called daily on a 64-year-old man, paralyzed and unable to speak, and sat by his bed nuzzling his hand.

"After a couple of days, the patient reached down to pat her," says Hames. "It was the first time he has responded to anything. Now he's actually saying a few words."

Some developments in four-legged therapy have progressed to training animals to care for the sick. For instance, Dr. Mary Willard of Tufts New England Medical Care Hospital has taught capuchin monkeys to nurse patients.

One saucer-eyed monkey has enriched the life of paralysis victim Robert Foster by operating his microwave oven, serving meals, and preparing drinks of milk from his refrigerator.

The incredible capuchin brushes his hair, use a key to open doors and can even take a record from a sleeve and place it on a turntable.

In Kyushu Veterinary Hospital, Japan, a chimpanzee helps out as a medical orderly—looking after other animals. He has been trained to carry patients to surgery and serve meals.

Doctors may soon be asking—are humans really necessary?

Grandmother discovers revolutionary skin care

(NU)—Becoming a grandmother is a shining moment in a woman's life.

It's an event that fills a woman with happiness, hope and endless love, but it's also a reminder of the passing years.

The birth of her granddaughter spurred businesswoman Lynda Rae Resnick to find a way to look younger and healthier. Resnick is co-owner of the Franklin Mint, creator of fine-quality collectibles.

She'd noticed that a friend was looking more radiant and younger. The secret, her friend said, was a new skin care program, offered only through a beauty salon. Resnick made an appointment.

"It was like a miracle," she says. "After only a few weeks on this revolutionary program, my skin was glowing. It looked healthier, felt softer, smoother. My pores appeared smaller and all those little lines around my eyes seems to disappear."

Added to direct-mail line

When she began to receive compliments from her husband, family and friends, she researched the product line and decided to offer it through the direct-mail division of her business.

The 3-Minute Workout is an enzyme skin care system that consists of six products that help the skin maximize the benefits from oxygen, moisture and nutrients. The system was created by a chemist, Robert Heiman, who worked for years to develop ways to revitalize the skin.

"Enzyme skin care was a well-kept secret available at the most exclusive Beverly Hills salons with a very elite clientele, including Hollywood stars," says Resnick.

The skin care system includes a facial scrub, cleaning cream, revitalizing toner, skin supplement, firming gel and moisturizer.

"It's great for women of every age," says Resnick. "My daughter-in-law and I both love it. Of course, we asked women here at the Franklin Mint to try it and the results were terrific overall. Wonderful changes to the look of the skin were reported. Some even had their husbands try it."

For more details about the 3-Minute Workout enzyme skin care system, call 1-800-882-9677.
