Privatization of garbage services underway

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Beginning Friday, Floyd County's solid waste department will be operated by Rumpke of Kentucky, which will implement several changes for garbage pick-up.

One area where there are apparently no changes but monetary ones, is in personnel. Rumpke operations manager Ron Henke said Wednesday that all of the solid waste collectors and mechanics have been retained by the company.

"We've kept the same employees and gave them a twenty-five cent across the board raise," Henke said. "Plus, in 90 days, they will have full medical and dental benefits. Morale is up and I think we should be able to run this thing without a hitch."

"We basically want to restore the service before all the problems started," Henke added.

One change customers will see is in their garbage bill. Instead of receiving an $8 monthly bill, Rumpke will send out quarterly invoices which will be $30.

Under Rumpke's agreement, monthly household rates will raise by two dollars to $10 per month. Non-household rates will be $6 per cubic yard per week.

Henke also explained that Rumpke will move all operations including billing to the Garth site. The temporary phone number to contact the company is 285-5133.

Other changes are:

- Garbage must be placed at the curb-line of your main road, within three feet of the edge of the road or as close as feasible.

- Rumpke trucks will travel on private property.

- Satellite trucks will travel to areas that the larger trucks cannot get to.

- All residential garbage must be drained and wrapped in plastic bags.

- Three, thirty-two gallon cans limit or six thirty-gallon bag limit per household per week.

- Rumpke employees will not lift anything over 75 pounds.

- Rumpke employees will not dump 55-gallon plastic or metal drums. They will pull bags out of the drums. Please place the drums on a wood base off of the ground and punch holes in the bottom of them so that if any water gets in, it will drain out. Please cut out an oversized removable wooden lid to fit on top to keep the rain out.

- Furniture, white goods or other large items will be picked up for a $5 pre-paid charge.

- Rumpke will not accept burned garbage except normal ashes from fireplace usage during winter months. Ashes must be completely cool, and completely wrapped and enclosed in plastic bags.

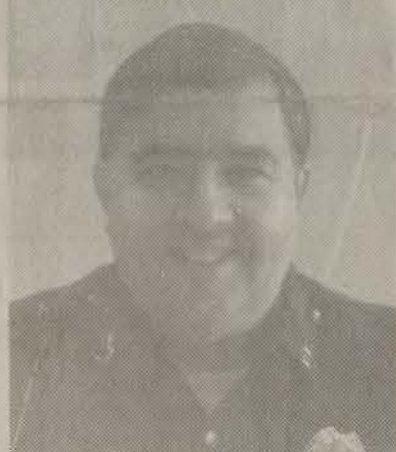

- Businesses will be billed initially 30 days in arrears.

Conley takes over as city police chief

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Prestonsburg Police captain Darrell Conley has been named acting police chief by Mayor Jerry Fannin while former chief Greg Hall is on an indefinite medical leave of absence.

Hall said Thursday that he has taken the indefinite leave, but declined to discuss the nature of his illness. Hall has been on the police force since 1980 and took over as chief in 1990.

Conley, who has been on the force for 22 years, began his tenure as chief Thursday. Conley said he is looking forward to the challenge.

"It's going to be a very challenging and exciting job," Conley said. "I've been here since my early 20s and I guess you could say I've grown with the town. I've been with the city with the good times and the hard times. I hope I have a pleasant longevity here."

Although the new chief is just getting settled in, he is looking forward to making some changes in the department.

"We want to give more service back to the citizens of Prestonsburg," Conley said. "We want to patrol more in the residential areas, the city streets and businesses. We welcome everybody to the city and we hope they have a safe trip. We want the citizens to feel safe walking the city streets. The people are still number one."

Conley said Roy Roberts will stay in his position as assistant police chief.

Conley, who has worked in the police department under six different mayors and various police chiefs, is a native of Lake Charles, Louisiana, but his parents live in Garrett. He came back to Floyd County after serving a tour in Viet Nam and, after a brief stint as a park ranger, he joined the city police force.

"I think I'm the only officer left on the force who served under Mayor (George) Archer," Conley said. "When a new person comes in, things are a little different."

Conley said he intends to stay active as a participant in the Mountain Area Drug Task Force, where former chief Hall served as chairman of the board of directors. The Prestonsburg Police Department is one of two city police departments and six county sheriffs that serve on the board of the drug task force.

Conley, 50, lives in Prestonsburg. Mayor Fannin said Thursday that he received a letter from Hall's physician Wednesday. He said Hall had asked to step down from his position as chief, but he did not expect it this soon.

The mayor said he chose Conley because of his experience and the length of time with the department.

Mining inspectors to plead guilty to extortion; Crum will stand trial

Two federal mine inspectors, including a Floyd man, are expected to plead guilty to charges that they tried to solicit bribes from coal operators for favorable inspection reports.

Edward L. Kendrick, 57, of Melvin and John W. Banks, 49, of Pike County, will be arraigned on charges of extorting bribes from coal operators. Judge Joseph Hood entered orders Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Pikeville for the arraignments. At their initial arraignment on the charges, the men pleaded not guilty.

Clifford Crum, 58, of Allen, who is also a federal mine inspector charged with taking a bribe, is set to be tried on an extortion charge July 11.

Crum allegedly accepted a $200 bribe from a coal operator on May 9. Crum has denied the charge.

Also charged in the scheme is a former state reclamation inspector from Letcher County. James W. Morgan, 49, of Ermine, is also expected to plead guilty to charges against him. Morgan and Kendrick were set to be tried on July 12 and 13, but the two will be arraigned on extortion charges on July 12.

The inspectors were indicted by a federal grand jury in May on the charges. The men are accused of extorting money from coal operators in return for overlooking safety violations.

Kendrick allegedly extorted $1,300; Banks $2,000, plus additional items; and Morgan received $1,000.

U.S. Attorney Tom Self said no deal had been made to give the men a reduced prison sentence in exchange for their guilty pleas. He added that the extortion investigation is continuing, but declined to say if any other indictments are expected.

Funds awarded for fencing at regional airport

Pilots flying into the Big Sandy Regional Airport this fall won't have to worry about hitting deer that have wandered onto the runways. New fencing, funded by a $151,000 grant approved this week, to protect the pilots and the deer will be installed around the airport by fall, said John Crum, airport board chairman.

The deer have posed a problem to pilots, and runways have to be checked to see if they're clear before pilots can land, Crum said. A year or so ago, Rep. Greg Stumbo hit a deer on the runway with his plane, Crum said.

A ramp expansion project is also planned at the airport, and a grant for $425,000 is in the process of being approved, Crum said.

Funding for the fencing project will come from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Airport Improvement Program. Eleven airports in the state were selected to receive over $19 million in funding.

The Eastern Kentucky Regional Airport at Hazard will receive $764,136 for runway construction and paving.

Memorial scholarships are awarded to two grads of Prestonsburg High Frances Brackett, chairman of the February 28th Living Memorial Fund, Floyd County Inc., established March 17, 1993, recently announced the selection of scholarship recipients, Brandie Lynn Ousley and Tonia M. Vance, Prestonsburg High seniors, who won the first $1,000 scholarships awarded in memory of the 26 children and school bus driver who drowned in the Big Sandy River at Knotley Hollow on Friday, February 28, 1958.

Ousley, daughter of Linda and Gerald Ousley of Blue River, plans to attend Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes.

Vance, daughter of Larry and Patricia Vance, West Mountain Parkway, will attend Morehead State University.

Scholarship chairman, Zella Faye

Wells, Paintsville, presented the scholarships June 3 at the Prestonsburg High School commencement exercises. Other committee members were James and Virginia Goble, Bill Jack and Debbie Borders Darby, Ray Brackett, Tina McFarland, Mike Vance, and Bill Darby.

City gives final okay to revised policies

by Matt McCarty
Staff Writer

There will be no tax on bank shares in Prestonsburg, at least not this fiscal year, as the city council decided to hold off a final vote on the ordinance and have further discussion in the revenue and finance committee.

The council, which met in a special meeting at noon on Wednesday, decided to wait on a final vote after listening to opposition from Burl Spurlock, President of First Commonwealth Bank, who noted that the tax would not apply to branch offices of banks, such as Pikeville National and First Guaranty.

Spurlock told the council that the tax does not give banks whose main offices are located in Prestonsburg "a level playing field."

"I think it's unfair to position this tax on First Commonwealth," Spurlock said, "because it's not going to apply equally to First Guaranty Bank and it will not apply equally to Pikeville National."

The council, however, noted that Pikeville does impose this tax, which pertains to Pikeville National Bank, but said they were not sure if Martin imposed this tax as well.

Spurlock added that the tax also does not apply to credit unions or small loan companies, companies First Commonwealth and The Bank Josephine compete with every day.

If the tax was imposed, Spurlock said, the money to pay it would have to come from some source, adding that First Commonwealth "has been very actively involved in civic affairs."

"Your bank has been here for many years, as long as I can remember, and has been very community-minded," councilman Hansell Cooley told Spurlock, "and I for one would not be for imposing something that would cause a hardship on First Commonwealth without doing a little more research on it."

In other action during the special meeting, the council:

- decided to advertise for bids for six new police cars;

- approved the new employee policies and procedures handbook; and

- approved the second reading of the fire subscription ordinance, which makes the new rates for fire subscriptions 35 cents for every $100 valuation as assessed by the county property valuation administrator.

Councilman Danny Hamilton was absent.

MSU to build new Big Sandy campus

Students at Morehead State University's Big Sandy Extended Campus could soon be attending classes in a brand new facility.

The university's board of regents last week authorized the university to enter into a lease/purchase agreement with the Prestonsburg/Floyd County Public Properties Corporation for the construction of an approximately 30,000 square foot classroom and student services building for the Big Sandy Extended Campus.

The new campus will be located on a site near the intersection of U.S. 23 and KY 114 adjacent to the soon-to-be developed Mountain Arts Center.

Kentucky May comes to Prestonsburg

May is a month when students everywhere look forward to summer vacation and a chance to unwind. For students in U.K.'s College of Allied Health, May is the time of year for a course called Allied Health Practicum (AHP-841)...or, as it's more affectionately called, "Kentucky May."

When a student signs up for Kentucky May, the student is signing up for something quite unusual. Instead of sitting in a classroom on the Lexington campus, Kentucky May students are sent all over the state to learn about how health care is delivered.

They are grouped in teams that consist of students who are studying in different health professions programs. A physical therapy student could easily find herself rooming with a health administration student, a clinical lab science major and a speech therapy student! The idea is to have students learn early what the other professionals do and how they can work together to help patients.

Prestonsburg was recently the host site for a Kentucky May team. From May 11 to June 3, there were eight undergraduate health care students from U.K. who lived and studied here. They visited several of the agencies and facilities that provide health care in this region.

Because the students were earning a grade for the course, they did research, gathered data and interviewed local health care providers. They wrote term papers and delivered oral presentations about what they learned. They were based at Highlands Regional Medical Center and were allowed to use many of the facilities there.

The U.K. faculty facilitator for the Prestonsburg team was Jim Stewart, who is the executive director of Big Sandy Health Care Inc. Big Sandy operates primary care rural health clinics at Salyersville, Magoffin County and at Mud Creek in Floyd County.

The Kentucky May students gave Stewart high marks on his ability to organize the course and to make a great deal of information available to them.

Stewart has worked with Kentucky May students before and is an enthusiastic supporter of inter-disciplinary education for health care professions.

Special lighting effect bringing Tinker Bell to life

by Tim Mollette

With the respected Flying by Foy company bringing the gift of flight to Peter Pan in this summer's musical productions at Jenny Wiley Theatre, another special effect will bring Peter's sidekick Tinker Bell to life.

Intellabeam, a type of lighting originally developed for special needs of large outdoor music concerts, will enable Tinker Bell to dance through the air. This innovative new light uses a mirror with small motors attached to it to dance a starburst of light across the stage as Tinker Bell flies along with Peter himself.

Using this supplementary effect to personify a character is something that will hopefully add to the play's overall viewing pleasure, according to associate artistic director Jim Hunter.

"We worked directly with a company called Baltimore Stage Lighting to design an original lighting, so we owe that company some thanks," said Hunter.

Conley

Robert Allen said Thursday that Conley's appointment was not a recommendation from the committee, but that committee members were aware that Conley was being considered for the job. Allen added that the committee made no recommendation for the position.

Scholarships

The scholarship, to be awarded annually, is based primarily on academic performance, involvement in the school and community, and financial need. Nominations are made by two teachers, one guidance counselor, and the principal, with final selection made by the February 28th Living Memorial Scholarship committee.

While only one scholarship will usually be awarded, thanks to anonymous donors, two scholarships of $1,000 each were awarded this year.

"A FAMILY DOCTOR IS THE MOST IMPORTANT THING"

"My whole family went to him. He's been our family doctor for about 20 years. He listens to what you have to say. When I went to him with the thyroidism I explained to him that I had three things that were bothering me: I couldn't concentrate, I was so tired that I couldn't stay awake and I was freezing to death. He said 'Okay, let's run some tests.' And I knew by that afternoon. . . I was on my way to recovery. It's been a year and I feel great. I have known him long enough to know he doesn't just treat me this way. . . He does this with all his patients. He listens, he's compassionate, he cares about you as a person. That's the kind of family doctor you want."

In a changing world, we're working to preserve one thing that must never change - your freedom of access to a system of quality healthcare. If you need a family physician, call Call-A-Nurse, 1-800-844-NURSE.

Scenes from Southern Highlands make up exhibit

An exhibit of the black-and-white photographs of Paul N. Allen is scheduled at Prestonsburg Community College, PCC art instructor Tom Whitaker announced this week.

Included among the photographs are scenes from a wide area of the southern mountains—from the North Carolina Blue Ridge to the Ozark Plateau of northwest Arkansas. Most, however, originate from Eastern Kentucky with Floyd and surrounding counties most frequently represented.

Many of the images were taken from the early 1970s to the mid 1980s when Allen worked at The Floyd County Times.

"I'd always appreciated the rugged beauty of this place so when I'd be out taking news pictures, you know, of a 'swearin' in' at the courthouse or a train derailment or something like that, I would almost always see something that struck me as interesting or impressive from a scenic standpoint or just plain 'purty,'" Allen said. Many of the photographs appeared on the pages of The Floyd County Times.

Having accumulated hundreds of negatives from his years at the paper, Allen only began to print some of them again relatively recently in a basement darkroom at the home of a brother-in-law in the mountains of North Carolina.

"It was fun to see these scenes again, particularly since several of the sites have been altered or destroyed outright over the years," Allen commented. "So, with my brother-in-law John Heinze willing to cut matting material and mount this stuff, I thought some other people might enjoy them as well."

More recently photographed scenes from other parts of the highland South are included in the exhibit, not only for variety, according to Allen, but also as a means of underscoring the fundamental similarity which links widespread sections of the southern highlands.

The exhibit can be seen at the Prestonsburg Community College Art Gallery in the Magoffin Building from July 5 through August 30. Gallery hours are from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Friday.

For more information, contact Tom Whitaker at Prestonsburg Community College by calling 886-3863.

All-Stars salute America with Fabric of Freedom

The Kentucky Junior All-Stars will conclude the Fourth of July celebration in Floyd County with their "Fabric of Freedom" performance Monday night.

The performance will be the opening act for the Kentucky Opry at the Jenny Wiley Amphitheatre.

Fabric of Freedom is a music drama which reviews the history of the United States by looking not at national heroes, but rather at the common man and woman. Each vignette is woven from the fabric that is America.

The Fabric of Freedom production is a call for each individual to become a weaver who begins to repair the fabric, who begins to weave into the fabric the principles of honor, integrity, decency and faith.

The Kentucky Opry Junior All-Stars are students from Floyd County Elementary Schools. The All-Stars also put on productions on Friday nights at the Little Theatre in Prestonsburg.

Mann, Collins to wed Sunday

The wedding of Maribeth Mann to Ishmael Collins will be held Sunday, July 3, at 2 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Owens, located one block from the Freewill Baptist Church in Goble-Roberts Addition.

Friends and family are welcome to attend. A reception will follow the ceremony.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

There is no alternative

by Scott Perry

America will be celebrating her 218th birthday Monday. That's a lot of candles.

Most of us have long since given up on reveling in another birthday celebration, figuring, like the song says, we're just another year older and deeper in debt.

When you think about it, though, marking another birthday sure as heck beats the alternative.

In America, the arrival of another anniversary of our independence is looked upon with great satisfaction.

Few countries can boast of the freedoms we have preserved through thick and thin.

Our country was founded as the Great Experiment in 1776, and more than two centuries later we're still testing the system.

We should use the occasion of Independence Day to reflect on those trials and tribulations, the sacrifices and successes that have knitted our 50 states and our melting pot of individuals into the greatest country on earth.

America isn't the Garden of Eden and it isn't Utopia.

But it is a place where we can say what we think, think what we wish, and wish for the unthinkable.

What a great country.

And Monday, we celebrate another birthday.

Sure as heck beats the alternative, doesn't it?

Government...of, by and for the people?

Editor:
I was channel surfing and stopped on C-SPAN because the topic interested me.

The subject was more important than whether O.J. is guilty or not. Today our elected officials are discussing whether we, as American citizens, should be allowed to buy cigarettes.

I think the most pressing issue is not whether nicotine is addictive, if it's a drug, if companies manipulate the levels of nicotine.

But, the issue is whether I and all other smokers have the right to go and buy cigarettes without our government or anyone else telling us what we can or cannot buy, without their permission.

I'm not one to complain about a whole lot of things, but as long as we sit on our behinds and don't let people know just what rights we have as smokers or non-smokers, we might as well say who cares what the Constitution says, it's obsolete and outdated. This is the '90's.

Yes, it's the '90's, but we are slowly but surely rewriting our Constitution and I, for one, am pleased with the way our forefathers wrote it.

When I think of the way the Clinton administration wants to tax the tobacco industries to fund the new health care reform, I can't keep from thinking that if anyone was really concerned about the health of us, as Americans, they would not concentrate their time on what I think is probably the minority, which is smokers.

But, maybe they should think about taxing the eaters, but that would get everyone upset because no one chooses to eat, it's instinctive and life sustaining.

So let's make the smokers or tobacco using population pay for AIDS research or all the other diseases that have never been connected to tobacco use.

I'm a white, single, heterosexual who votes and chooses to smoke and if no one likes it, let them smoke that in their pipes.

James L. Williams
Prestonsburg

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

Sign, sign everywhere a sign... except in Eastern Kentucky

The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet has come up with a new program to help motorists find tourist attractions in the state.

The cabinet will start using blue signs that lead to exits on "some" interstates and parkways pointing out attractions to visitors. The program for now is limited to two years and four roads. Not surprisingly, none of the roads are in Eastern Kentucky.

How many times in the last few years have you heard state officials saying that, with Eastern Kentucky's coal industry in a slump, tourism will likely be the region's next big industry? Yet, how many times do these same officials back up their words with action?

This new sign program is a perfect example. You'd think that Eastern Kentucky would be one of those blue signs. What other parts of Kentucky can claim the homeplace of a country music legend, several lakes, a summer music theatre and other attractions — all within driving distance of each other?

The lack of the "blue sign" is also another example that if tourism is the region's next industry, it is our responsibility to build it and promote it. The state has shown how it stands on the issue. — The Paintsville Herald

Notes on gambling

Consider studies on lottery, casinos

Poor people spend more on the lottery than those who are rich. And African-Americans spend more on scratch off tickets and lotto numbers than whites.

Those were the primary findings of the Kentucky lottery players, conducted by the University of Louisville's Center for Urban and Economic Research. They were no surprise.

Various analyses of those who frequent lottery outlets have come to the same conclusions. The lottery siphons money more heavily from poor and black neighborhoods. In Kentucky, those who play the lottery and earn under $15,000 a year spend 25 percent more each week than those who play and make more than $35,000 a year ($9.23 a week compared to $7.36). African-Americans who buy tickets spend 65 percent more a week than gambling whites ($12.35 compared with $7.48).

People will be able to come to all kinds of moral conclusions and pop psychological musings about these findings. Those who oppose gambling will cite it as proof that gaming is a burden on the poor. Lottery supporters will say it's impossible to regulate human behavior. After all, cigarettes and booze are also a waste of a poor person's money; should only the rich be allowed to smoke or take a sip?

Both are right. And so the best that can come from the U of L study is a promise from the Kentucky Lottery Corp. that its advertising will not be designed specifically to increase sales among black or poor players. There is a tendency among all businesses to sell to the most willing buyers. In this case, the lottery corporation should restrain a natural instinct to exploit those who are least able to afford the luxury of gambling.

At the same time, Kentuckians should remind themselves that gambling is not the industry that can lead this state to a prosperous future. As casinos spread across this country like dandelions, economists have been making closer examinations of gambling and its effects on local economies.

What they've found should come as no big surprise. Gambling has certain external costs. Traffic increases. Money is shifted from other businesses to the casinos. Crime can blossom. And the productivity of workers can drop.

If every state legalizes gambling, and slots become as easy to find as Dr Pepper machines, the costs of this new industry could outweigh its benefits. Compulsive gamblers will become commonplace and money will be drained from department stores and automobile showrooms into the unproductive coffers of the casinos. Universal gambling, according to one economist, would cost the nation about $200 per person per year — or about the same as the price tag for the cleanup from the Hurricane Andrew each year.

The added tax revenues that come from casinos may look attractive. And Kentucky may yet decide to legalize casinos for that reason. But as states consider such a choice, they should bear in mind that no benefit comes without costs. Gambling is no exception. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Declaration of Independence established a contract between Americans and their new government

by Bruce Thiesen

In July 1776, John Adams wrote a letter to his wife Abigail in Massachusetts. He wanted her to know about an important vote that he'd just cast in Philadelphia as a member of the Continental Congress.

The subject of his letter was the passage that day of something that would be called the Declaration of Independence.

Adams wrote his wife that a single day in July 1776 would be honored—in his words—"as the most memorable in the history of America."

That's a remarkable prediction to make about a nation that didn't even exist.

Other predictions that Adams wrote to his wife about that special day in July 1776 were right on target, too:

"It will be celebrated by succeeding generations as a great anniversary festival. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations... from one end of the continent to the other... from this time forward... forever more."

John Adams got only one major detail wrong in his amazing prediction—he had the wrong date.

He wrote his wife that he could foresee those parades and fireworks happening every year on July 2. That's because it was on July 2, 1776, that the Continental Congress, meeting in a secret session, actually voted on the Declaration of Independence.

However, we celebrate the Fourth of July as opposed to July 2 for two reasons. Most legal documents take effect when they are signed, which in this instance was July Fourth. More importantly, that was the day the delegates came out of their secret session and shared that incredible document with the entire world.

The Declaration of Independence established a social contract that specified the proper relationship between government and the people.

In this country, the people count. What's important is the involvement of the people in managing their own affairs, not governmental bodies making decisions in secret. But, even the best elected representatives can forget that government is the servant of the people.

Many of the 3.1 million members of The American Legion believe our own government needs to be reminded—right now—about how that relationship is supposed to work. The issue is the protection of the American flag.

Just five years ago, the Supreme Court ruled that burning the American flag is a form of political expression protected under the First Amendment's free speech clause.

That decision outraged millions of Americans who see the flag as a sacred symbol of our country, our values, and of the brave sacrifices made by our men and women in wartime.

Ever since, we've been working throughout The American Legion at what we call the "quiet revolution."

And so far, 44 state legislatures—representing more than 90 percent of the American population—have formally passed resolutions asking Congress to amend the Constitution to allow the states and the federal government to enact laws to protect the flag from physical desecration.

Our "quiet revolution" is becoming louder. In the months ahead, we will ask for your support and your voice. You will be asked to join the Citizen's Flag Alliance, a broad-based coalition of Americans from every part of the country who want to see the flag protected.

"Old Glory" is precious to me. So is the idea that government should be answerable to the people.

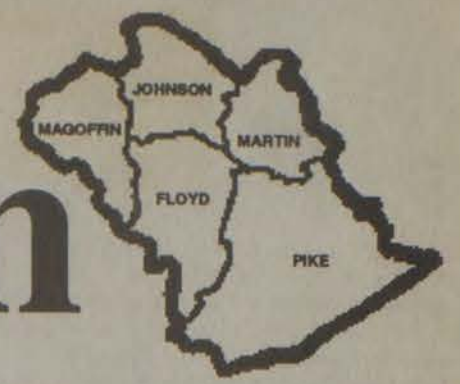

We're hearing more these days about the search for values in America. If we need to find values, we can start with the values laid down 218 years ago in the Declaration of Independence:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted..."

That's still the best statement of who we are as a people, what we hold dear, and what we will fight to preserve.

Thiesen is the national commander of the 3.1 million-member American Legion, the nation's largest veterans organization.

Pike man killed in head-on collision

A Pike County man was killed and his mother injured Thursday morning when a coal truck collided with their 1987 Mazda pickup truck.

Jeffery A. Hurley, 20, and his mother, Betty Lee, 39, both of Stopover, were traveling West on Ky. 632 at Phelps when a 1989 Mack coal truck driven by Bennie Sullivan Jr., 34, of Feds Creek, crossed over the center line, striking the pickup head on.

Hurley, driver of the pickup, was pronounced dead at the scene by Pike County Deputy Coroner Alice Mullins. Betty Lee and Sullivan were transported to Pikeville Methodist Hospital and admitted.

The accident is still under investigation by the Kentucky State Police. — staff report

Money restored for reclaiming strip-mined land

U.S. Senator Robert Byrd succeeded Wednesday in restoring money for a program to help coalfield landowners reclaim abandoned strip-mine sites.

President Clinton's budget proposal had cut the Rural Abandoned Mine Program, or RAMP. U.S. Representatives Harold Rogers, R-Ky., and Nick Rahall, D-W.Va., failed to get the money restored in the House last week.

But Byrd, D-W.Va., used his position as chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday to insert $13.2 million into the Interior Department funding bill. That is the same amount as last year.

Since 1977, more than $108 million has been spent nationwide reshaping lands marked by past mining ventures, according to RAMP's 1993 annual report. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Skaggs, Feed The Children in Phelps

Country music singer and Lawrence County native Ricky Skaggs accompanied Feed The Children on its mission to Phelps Monday. The international relief organization delivered 38,000 pounds of food.

The group feeds about 1,000 families a month in Kentucky's largest county. Sanders said his organization has run out of food twice in the last six months as charities have responded to emergency situations elsewhere. He said that the food delivered Monday should last HOPE two to three months. — Pikeville Appalachian News-Express

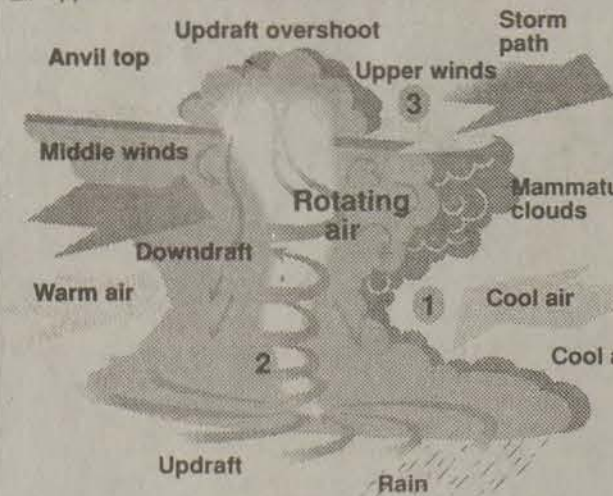

SCIENCE MATTERS

TORNADOES

Few sights in nature are more terrifying than a funnel cloud. In its brief life, a tornado has an enormous potential for destruction.

How a tornado forms

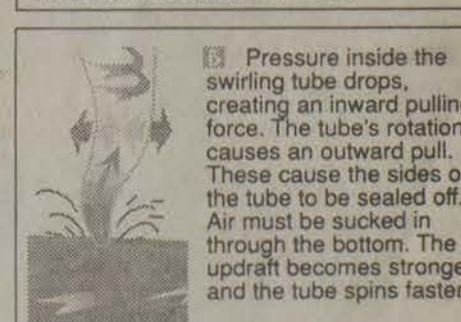

- 1 Tornadoes are extremely violent storms of rapidly rotating winds. They form when cool, dry air clashes with warm, humid air, creating powerful thunderstorms.
- 2 A thunderstorm creates updrafts of warm humid air. More warm air rushes in to replace it.
- 3 Upper level winds create suction above the storm.

1 In a powerful thunderstorm, the combination of updrafts and the Earth's rotation begins the spinning motion. Rotating air extends, forming a tornado.

2 The funnel is usually white when it descends. Updrafts cause water vapor inside to condense, making it darker. Ground debris darkens it more.

3 Pressure inside the swirling tube drops, creating an inward pulling force. The tube's rotation causes an outward pull. These cause the sides of the tube to be sealed off. Air must be sucked in through the bottom. The updraft becomes stronger, and the tube spins faster.

Fujita-Pearson Tornado Intensity Scale:

Class	Wind speed	Damage
F0	72 mph	Light
F1	73 to 112 mph	Moderate
F2	113 to 157 mph	Considerable
F3	158 to 206 mph	Severe
F4	207 to 260 mph	Devastating
F5	260-plus mph	Unbelievable

● Tornado watch: Means tornadoes are possible. People should be vigilant.

● Tornado warning: A tornado has been sighted. Take cover.

● If outdoors: Move away from approaching tornado at a right angle. If no shelter is available, lie down in a ditch or depression. If an overpass is available, take shelter behind concrete pilings, putting piling between you and advancing tornado.

● In homes: Take shelter under heavily stuffed furniture in the center of the home or in a bathroom or interior closet. Avoid bathrooms with an outside wall on the south or west side of the home.

● In high-rise buildings: Go to lower floors. Take shelter in interior rooms, away from windows.

● In schools: Move students to interior hallways. Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums and other large rooms.

Tornadoes occur all over the world, but the Plains of North America are most favorable. Warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico and cold, dry air moving east from the Rocky Mountains help generate the storms.

Recording contracts signed

Neon Records, Inc. recently announced the signing of two local artists, Dwight Whitley and George Molton, to recording contracts.

Whitley is a native of Sandy Hook, and his roots, like many of today's well known national recording artists, lie in traditional bluegrass music. The first project slated for Whitley, however, is a tribute to his brother, the late Keith Whitley. The album will be comprised of Keith Whitley hits along with songs he had written but were never recorded or released. The album will be titled "Brotherly Love" after the hit single previously recorded by Keith Whitley and Earl Thomas Conley. Neon Records, Inc. will be working with the entire Whitley family on this project.

Molton, of Olive Hill, is a hot attraction at clubs and events throughout the region. A talented songwriter as well as an outstanding performer, Molton has written or co-written with Rodney Ingles (lead guitarist for Molton's Hard Luck Band) all the songs to be included on his first album, titled "Back to Being Me." Molton, only 22 years old, writes with the maturity of a well-seasoned songwriter.

Perfect attendance pays off

Two Clark Elementary students, Desiree Calhoun and Jacob Shepherd, were rewarded for perfect attendance during the 1993-94 school year on June 6. Desiree is a primary student and Jacob is a 4th grade student. They were among 44 students from Clark Elementary who had perfect attendance during the school year. Each year Clark students who have missed no days during the current school year have their names entered in a drawing on the last day of school for a girl's bike and a boy's bike. Each winning student gets to select the bicycle of his or her choice and have it purchased for them. Pictured with the students is Wayne Combs, principal of Clark Elementary.

Clark students win in county conservation contest

Two Clark students were recently announced as county winners in the poster contest for the Floyd County Conservation Contest. Jessica Mahan, a student in Mrs. Hunsucker's 4th grade class, and Samantha Allen, a student in Mrs. Barrows' primary class, were awarded this honor for their posters on water conservation. Each year students at Clark Elementary participate in the Floyd County Conservation Contest. Students learn through this emphasis the value of their environment and how to better preserve our natural resources.

Writers and artists

Floyd County primary students, Megan Tackett and James Sexton were county winners in the Young Authors' Contest for the 1994-95 school year. Megan's book, A Book of Holiday Stories was selected as winner in the non-illustrated book category for second year primary students. James' book, How the Rabbit Got His Belly Full, was chosen for the winner in the non-illustrated book category for first year primary students (kindergarten). Both children are students in Tonya Horne's primary class at Clark Elementary. All students at Clark Elementary participate in the Young Author's Program. A program which stresses creativity and writing skills as students write their own books.

This year's Clark Elementary D.A.R.E. graduation proved to be a time of fun and learning for the entire school as students from 5th grade classrooms provided entertainment with a message. Skits, songs, and raps were performed by the students encouraging students to say no to drugs and alcohol.

Students wore D.A.R.E. shirts and were given trophies for their participation in the D.A.R.E. program this year. D.A.R.E. is a program aimed toward educating children about choices they will have to make concerning drugs and alcohol.

The D.A.R.E. program is a cooperative effort between schools and police departments aimed at educating students about the dangers of substance abuse.

4-H project time at Clark

Fourth- and fifth-grade students who participated in 4-H club this year brought projects to school as a culmination to their year in the 4-H program at Clark Elementary. Projects were created by students and reflected learning and developing of skills in cooking, woodwork, and other areas of interest. Ribbons were awarded to the students for their projects. Students displayed their projects during the day in the school library.

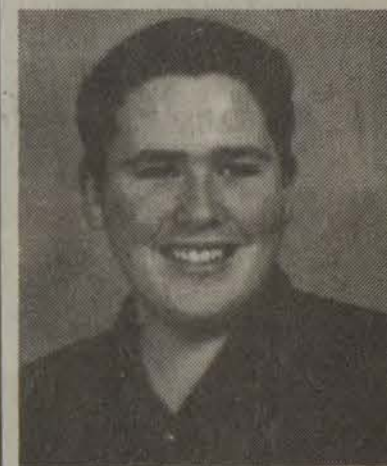

Electrical training

Lexington Electronic Institute (L.E.I.) recently announced that Jonathan Russo of Drift will begin training in October. Upon graduation, Russo will be awarded an Associate of Applied Science Degree in Electronic Engineering Technology. He is the son of Herbert and Maria Preston of Prestonsburg. He is a graduate of South Floyd High School. L.E.I. is a two-year electronic training institute located in Lexington.

Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Israel Shepherd has been named a United States National Award winner in honor roll. Shepherd, who attends Duff Elementary, was nominated for this award by Kitty Frazier, a counselor at the school.

Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Joseph Ryan Owens has been named a United States National Award winner in honor roll. Owens, who attends Duff Elementary, was nominated for this award by Kitty Frazier, a counselor at the school.

Award winner

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Stephanie Elaine Crisp has been named a United States National Award winner in history and government. She attends Madison Middle School and was nominated for this award by Deborah Hale, a Social Studies teacher. She is the daughter of Elda and Dennis Crisp. Her grandparents are Tava Terry of Langley, and Bill J. and Katherine Crisp of Martin.

Clark school spelling bee winner

Jessica Hale, fifth grade student in Mrs. Leslie's homeroom, is the Clark Elementary School Spelling Bee winner for the 1993-94 school year. She went on to the Floyd County Spelling Bee contest as a representative of Clark Elementary.

*A million times we've needed you.
A million times we've cried for you.*

*Daddy, in our hearts you hold a special place,
That no one else could ever replace.*

*It's been five long grieving years since you've been gone.
But one thing's for sure, Daddy, you're not alone.*

A part of us is with you,

Daddy, it's been one year since you left us, and it was so hard to give you up. But I think of hearing you pray to God, to take you out of your suffering. I know He answered your prayers and now you won't suffer anymore.

The memory of you will always be in each of our hearts.

There are a lot of married people my age whose households no longer contain many items that they had when they first tied the knot.

A friend brought this to my attention several weeks ago when we bumped into one another in a local card shop. My friend was purchasing a shower card and commented on how there should be shower cards for women who are entering their "middle" years.

"Think about it, Sara," my friend said loudly enough to annoy her teen-age daughter who was in the back of the store. "Don't you think that NOW is the time to have a household shower? Be honest. Do you have pretty towels? I mean, towels that have terry fiber still attached to them."

"A few," I lied. "I don't have any!" she said as she began fanning herself with one of the cards. "Some of mine were used to bandage stray dogs that had been hit by cars. Several were taken to camps where, the ones that did reappear, were so mildewed we had to burn them."

"What about the kids using them to take to the pool?"

"Are you kidding!" she laughed hysterically. "All my daughter's friends have one of our towels. Instead of us having towels with hotel names on them, there are kids in this county who have our monogrammed towels." "It is awful," I lamented.

"And we don't have any eating utensils either. One set of flatware is down to three spoons, four knives, and two forks. My husband and I fight over the fork that still has tines."

My friend had a point. She made a valid argument for household showers for the "older" mother. Over the years, our towel supply had also dwindled. And the few pieces of flatware that hadn't been carried off by the grandchildren had been chewed by the disposal.

"It's getting worse, too," she added. "I'm at the point in life when I thought I wouldn't have to worry about acne, but now I'm getting pimples in my wrinkles. Instead of me buying a shower gift for a new wrinkleless bride, who is going to be getting loads of pretty towels and fancy color coordinated flatware, someone should be buying me something. Young girls don't need new flatware because they can't even cook! And to make matters worse, we're getting ready to send our daughter off to college. What few household items we have left we'll be giving to her. It will be at least six years before I can afford to buy a towel that will absorb water."

With that said, my friend threw down the card she had been holding in her hand and yelled for her daughter that it was time for them to leave.

"Aren't you going to buy the card?" I asked.

"I've decided not to go to the shower. I'll send a handwritten note with a set of towels. The message will read, 'Don't open until you reach middle age.' That way they'll have one good set of towels."

THE TIMES' WEEKEND Extra

Poperri

by Scott Perry

There are many profound questions that complicate our existence on this planet.

Like this...

If the plural of hoof is hooves; why isn't the plural of roof, rooves?

Or this...

If the 'p' is silent in words like pneumonia and pterodactyl, why not just leave them off all together?

A lot of people devote their entire lives to discovering The Meaning Of Life, never realizing that for them, the search for the answer to that age-old question is the meaning of life.

Other people devote their entire lives to finding a matching pair of socks.

Different strokes for different folks. (Why isn't that fokes?).

And, if there is no 'I' in 'We,' as proponents of teamwork suggest, what does 'oui' spell?

These are but a few of life's great mysteries.

Here are a few more to ponder.

Why do we drive on a parkway and park on a driveway?

Why does your nose run and your feet smell?

How much wood could a woodchuck chuck, if a woodchuck could chuck wood?

Where is Waldo?

Who is Waldo?

Does anybody really care about Waldo?

Hey, where's Jimmy Hoffa?

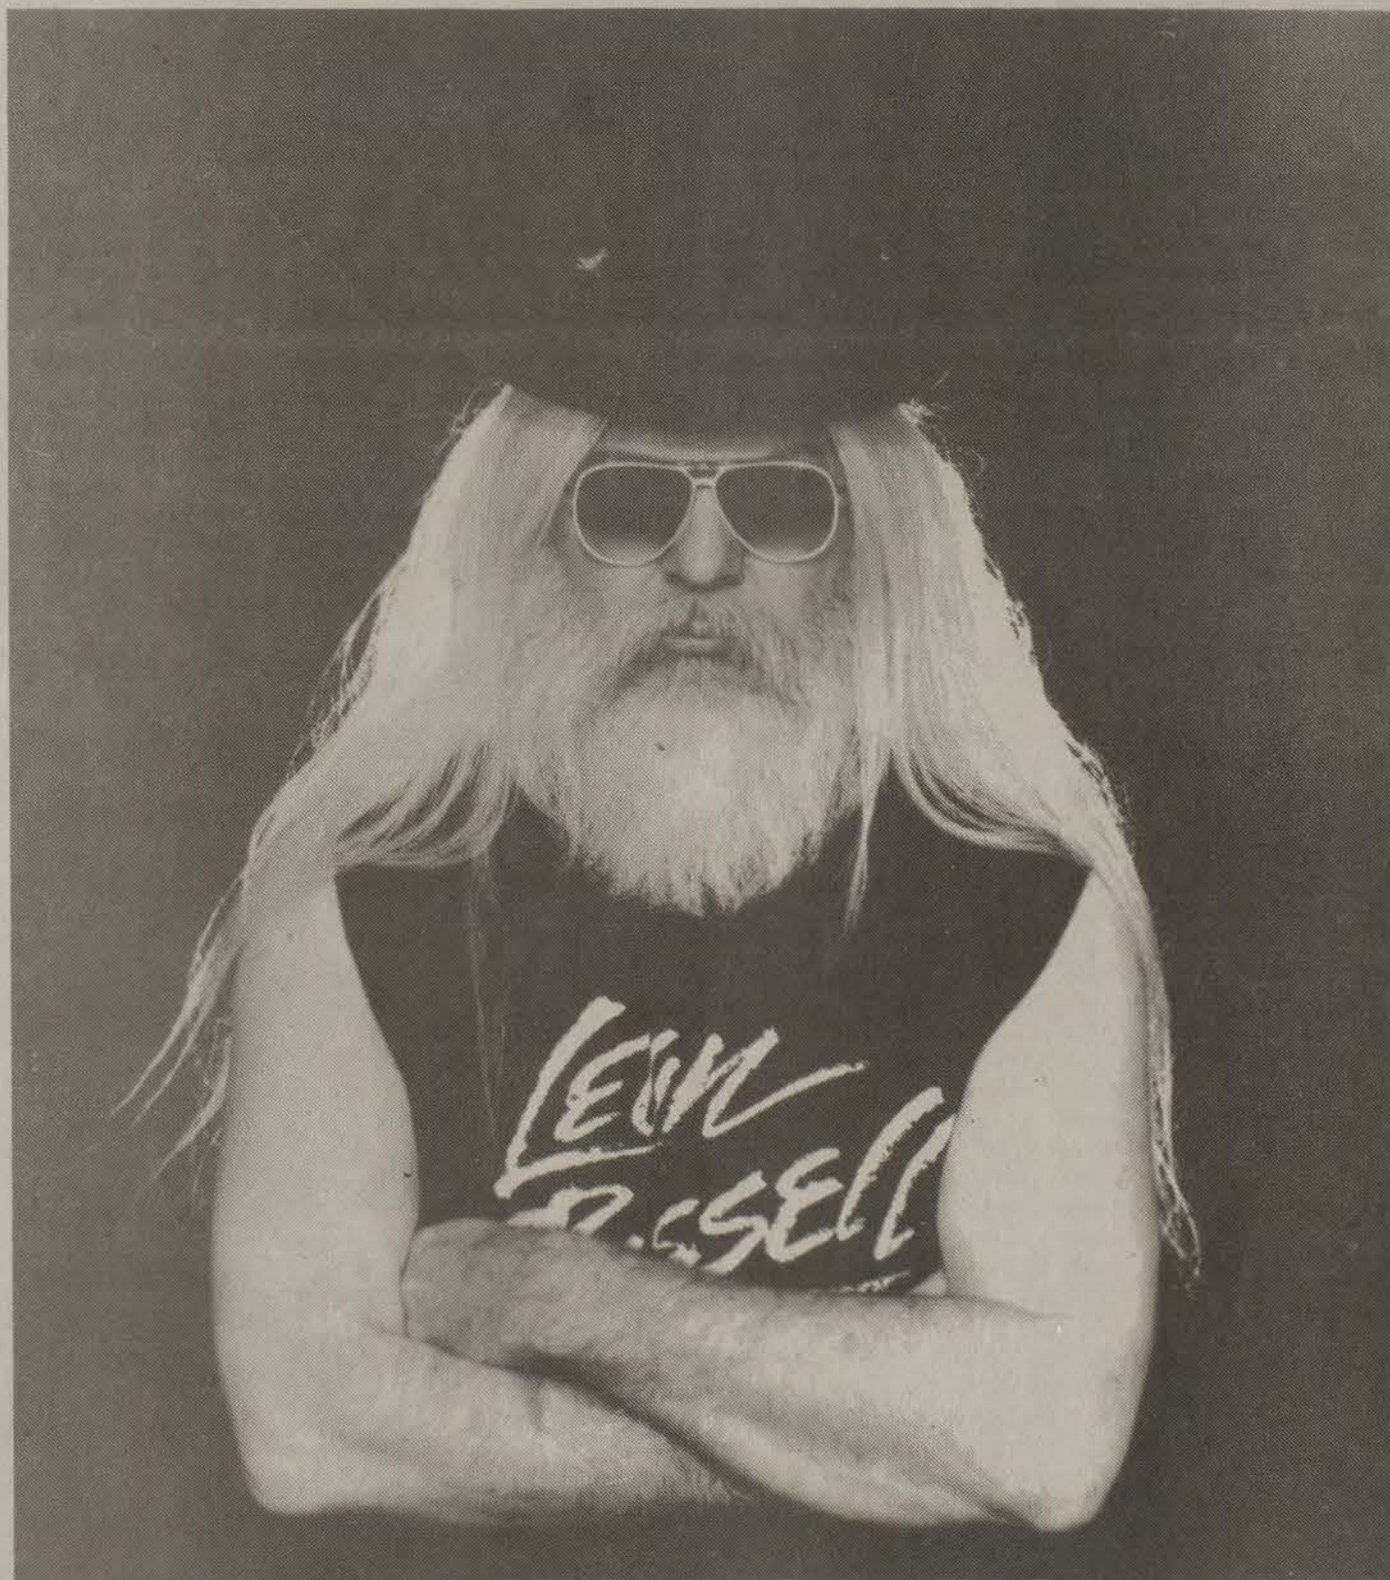

Who ever heard of a civil war?

Is the Pope Catholic?

Does a bear s..., er, sorry. Got a little carried away.

If you've often found yourself banging your head against the wall out of pure frustration over these and other confounding queries, let us offer some advice that might ease your discombobulation. Why ask why?

In June, the Phoenix, Ariz., New Times published an unidentified man's detailed list of pros and cons about his two girlfriends, Brenda and Dominique, that had been accidentally discarded in a magazine pocket on an Air Reno flight and which the newspaper obtained. Despite Brenda's "Wealthy" and "Nice cars" vs. Dominique's "Chipping teeth" and "Cuts me down," Dominique appeared to have the upper hand on the list, which was scrawled out on bookkeeping ledger sheets. Dominique had 18 pros and 11 cons, vs. Brenda's 15 and 22, respectively, and "I love her" appeared No. 3 under Dominique but only No. 15 under Brenda. Besides, Brenda's No. 9 con is "She's married." ("Brenda" and "Dominique" are pseudonyms supplied by New Times.)

THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS

— In Eddyville, Ky., in May, the sample ballot required by law to be printed in the daily newspapers before the election showed one line already filled in—an "X" next to the name of J.R. Gray, one of five candidates for a state House seat. J.R. Gray is the cousin of David Gray, the county clerk, who told a reporter, "How it happened would be just pure speculation." David Gray agreed to pay for a second printing without the "X."

— Among recent voter decisions: Friendsville, Md., mayor Spencer

Schlosnagle was returned to office in February though he had been convicted a week before of indecent exposure and had four other such charges pending. Hialeah, Fla., voters elected Raul Martinez in November, though he was awaiting sentencing on federal extortion charges. In 1971, Hialeah also voted in as mayor a recently convicted felon. And Baldwin, Ga., voters returned ex-mayor Tommy Lee Barrett to office in November; in a 1991 plea bargain to theft and forgery charges, he was forced to resign and to promise never to run for mayor again.

— Recent candidates for office included: Leslie Elaine Perez, 56, the leading vote-getter in the March primary to head the Texas Democratic Party organization in Houston, is a convicted murderer whose death penalty was stayed at the last minute in 1963 and who ultimately was paroled in 1971. (Perez is the former Leslie Douglas Ashley, having switched genders shortly after being released.) And ex-state Sen. George Hohman, 61, who still owes $9,000 of the $20,000 fine he was assessed on a 1981 bribery conviction, said he was running again for the Alaska Senate because it was the only way he knew to get enough money to pay off the fine.

— Among the losing candidates in November in the Raleigh, N.C., (See Weird, B 2)

SOAP UPDATES

ALL MY CHILDREN: Hayley was furious that Charlie refused to accept Alec as Adam's kidnapper. Alec was upset that Hayley refused to believe Adam had framed him. Anton assured Del, who needed a kidney transplant, that he would keep their doctor/patient relationship confidential. Edmund was started to learn Maria knew Del in the past. Laurel was devastated when Jack resisted her amorous instincts. Later, Trevor confessed his feelings for her. Harold, the dog, escaped from the van with the bottle containing the prescribed drug Janet used on him. Wait To See:

Anton makes a disturbing discovery.

ANOTHER WORLD: Jake faced his worst nightmare as he and Paulina struggled for survival. Despite attempts to jog Carl's memory with his favorite foods and poetry, he insisted on flirting with Iris—who later told Barry, Carl was no longer a threat, because he'd lost his memory. Angela reacted to seeing Tomas and Luisa together. Felicia and Marshall became closer, but still sparred over her book. Vicky contacted Ryan. Cass made a decision about his illness. Wait To See: Kate tries to act on what she knows about Angela.

AS THE WORLD TURNS:

Holden interrupted a romantic moment between Damian and Lily. A surprised Janet caught Gregory in Damian's office. Despite his reaction to his chemotherapy, John had dinner with Bethany at the Falcon Club. Lisa and Shannon went to Mexico to search for Scott. Duncan told Pete his identity would be safe if he stayed at the Earl Mitchell Center. Later, Rosanna saw him when she went to get workers for Emma. Wait To See: Barbara decides to act on Gregory's suspicions.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL:

Brooke and Ridge rushed to the hospital to learn Bridget had been shot during gunplay in the park. Ivana accused Jessica of telling Eric she'd seen Dylan out with Ivana because she was jealous. Later, when Ivana learned Jessica refused to trash her to Dylan for her verbal attack, Ivana apologized. After telling Stephanie Sheila was not at Forrester's at the time Jay Garvin died, James decided to get hold of Garvin's file on Sheila. Eric comforted Sheila when she tearfully said he should divorce her if it would make him happy. Wait To See: Sly is determined to win over Jessica.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES:

After persuading Jennifer that he was in John's loft because he had followed her there, Peter was upset when she took the laptop computer back upstairs. Bo was unable to match Gina's fingerprints with Hope's because the police department had dumped them, along with her personnel file. Because of Tony's medical condition, John agreed with Kristen it was best not to tell him of their affair. Jennifer was stunned to see the unsigned card on a bouquet for Alice was in Jack's handwriting. A horrified Victor, Kate, and Ivan watched as Vivian tumbled down a flight of stairs. Wait To See: Bill makes another discovery about Laura.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

Sean questioned Mary Mae about any people in Port Charles with whom Bradley may have been associated. Luke and Justus had places to search for clues on their own. Katherine had a romantic dalliance with Damian before heading for the altar with Ned. Tony refused Bobbie's request that he leave the brownstone. Miguel was unable to persuade Mac to keep an open mind about Robin's crush on Stone. Keesha, Mary Mae's granddaughter, was uncertain about her feelings concerning the Quartermaine boys. Wait To See: Sonny learns Miguel's secret.

GUIDING LIGHT:

Jenna hoped the letter from Frank that Alan-Michael kept from Eleni would be leverage to keep him from throwing her out of their company. Dylan was upset when Bridget didn't tell him about the telegram. Nick had words with Alan-Michael after A-M asked his cousin why Alexandra offered him the presidency. Holly placed a call to Hong Kong for Roger, believing he was working on a story. David, Kat, and Lucy learned Julie was behind the telegram to Bridget and planned on getting even with her. Wait To See: Will Julie's luck turn?

LOVING:

While unveiling a portrait of herself and Clay, Deborah openly admitted her love for him. When Jeff learned Trucker planned a new life with Dinah Lee, he decided not to reveal that Trisha was alive. Dinah Lee told Trucker that Curtis planted the signs that made Trucker think Trisha still lived. Later, Dinah Lee said yes to Trucker's proposal. After telling Steffi and Cooper that she could reveal Clay and Deborah's secret for a price, Janie delayed giving the information. Frankie asked for a job at the ad agency to help him earn money to pay for the damage to Gwyn's car. Wait To See: Trisha's

"ghost" just won't go away.

ONELIFE TO LIVE: Realizing she was dying, Beth gave custody of her baby son to Cassie and Andrew. With Irene's letters and diary authenticated, David got Viki to agree to bring them to Hank to show that Irene, not Dorian, killed Victor. When Hank refused to reopen Dorian's case, they decided to show the material to Nora. Tina returned to Llanview, started to learn that David claimed to be her brother. While Max and Blair intensified their love affair at the Holden ranch, Luna traveled to Sweetwater to save her marriage. Jimmy managed to find a way to meet with Sheila. Wait To See: Sloan's health problems prove more worrisome than Larry first suspected.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS:

Hope and Victor enjoyed a tropical honeymoon while Nikki told Jed she'd made a fool of herself at the reception. After rebuffing Victoria's overtures, Nikki let her daughter comfort her as she cried that Victor was the only man for her. Jack doodled the name Mai Yun on a notepad. Luan was shot by a burglar, and before undergoing surgery, begged Chris to find her son in Vietnam. Blade and Dru persuaded Olivia to do another photo shoot. Chris insisted to Paul that she was over Danny for good. Wait To See: Jack is about to relive his past.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Unexpected business developments may upset your schedule but the week favors making important domestic and financial decisions. Travel will soon be on your agenda. You may be disappointed in a friend. Try not to overspend when having good times.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) The early part of the week brings mixed signals. However, you have the valued support of a partner or other close tie this week. Financial prospects will improve in the coming months. However, keep budgets in mind.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Care is needed in monetary transactions. In business, you're efficient and astute. A cycle that favors your romantic interests begins this week. You may resent someone's advice and then you'll realize it makes a lot of sense.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Upcoming job developments will be to your liking. Others may be unclear or evasive as the week begins but clarifications are reached later. Your personality is a factor in the week's business successes.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's hard to get in gear early in the week but concentration improves later. You'll have success with a mental project. Your love life will pick up dramatically in the coming months. Avoid overdoing it while socializing this weekend.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Family life and home entertaining are highlighted in the coming months. A romantic question may puzzle you. Talks with friends are illuminating and meaningful. A work project proves time-consuming and difficult but if you persevere, you'll be successful.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Odds and ends at home need handling this week. It's a good time for career discussions and business interests. An upcoming trip will be a lot of fun. Extra expenses may arise in connection with children but you'll be up to the challenge.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A mix-up in communications is likely early in the week. Later talks with advisers go well. The coming months will bring new moneymaking opportunities. A family member doesn't see eye to eye with you this weekend but be patient.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A cycle of increased popularity begins this week. Further investigation will give you the answers you need about a financial proposition or investment. A tendency to worry too much needs watching.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Increased privacy in the coming months abets romance and artistic achievement. Try not to be abrupt early in the week. A money concern could cause tension between you and a friend. Pleasure comes through quiet times this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Early disorganization this week will be followed by clear thinking, especially where business interests are concerned. An active social period begins for you. Don't be overly cautious when it comes to trusting people.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) A friend is hard to pin down. Talks with agents and advisers bring happy results. Business and pleasure combine to your advantage in the coming months. A social connection will prove very helpful to you in this regard.

News of the Weird (Continued from B 1)

mayor's race was an African-American, the former Cecil McGirt, 45, who changed his name in 1981 to Doctor O.B. Aal-Anubiaimhote-pokorohanz. That is a shortened form of the much longer name he chose after extensively researching his family history, a project he undertook after he realized he was foolish to believe he was Irish. His wife and each of their six children also have the first name Doctor, as a message of support for educational achievement.

In May, a surveillance camera revealed Florida state Rep. Carlos Valdes as the man scribbling on the walls of a condominium complex in Miami with a black marker, and who is suspected of being the one responsible for several other episodes of graffiti vandalism. Said Valdes, "I can only characterize my actions as embarrassing and unacceptable."

Brazil endured a scandal in February over the appearance of a topless model (who had donned a short minidress for the occasion) in the president's box along a parade route during the country's annual Carnival. President Itamar Franco, 63, held hands with Lilian Ramos, 27, occasionally kissed her, and, according to a surreptitious audiotape made in the box, asked her out on a date. Photos of the couple showed clearly that Ramos, frequently raising her arms to wave to the parade, was not wearing underpants. Responding to the subsequent criticism, Franco told reporters, "How am I supposed to know if people are wearing underwear?"

CLICHÉS COME TO LIFE

On May 23 shortly after 2 p.m. in Pomona, Calif., Tamika Johnson, 19, was issued a jaywalking ticket for making a dangerous street crossing in front of a county building. Minutes later, after the officer left, Johnson tried the crossing again, was hit by a car, and suffered a broken leg.

Alfred, Maine, police chief Richard Griffin agreed in May to pay a $250 fine and restitution to settle charges that he punched Louis DeAngelis over who was next in line at a doughnut shop.

In April in New Orleans, a fleeing bank robber fired several shots at a police officer but hit a nearby 38-year-old nun from the Sisters Servants of Mary Convent. The nun's wound was slight because the bullet first passed through the prayer book she was carrying.

Christopher Swihart, 20, was arrested in Berkeley, Calif., in August, after breaking into a house and taking a suitcase. Swihart told police he didn't know where he was, that he thought the suitcase was his, and that the last thing he remembered doing was attending a Grateful Dead concert the night before.

Raleigh, N.C., bankruptcy lawyer Mark Kirby was indicted on federal fraud charges in December. According to a prosecutor, while Kirby was working for the Brown, Kirby & Bunch law firm in 1990 and 1991, he billed clients an average of nearly 1,200 hours a month—from a low of 851 hours to a high of 1,547. (A 31-day month has only 744 hours.)

MOST DYSFUNCTIONAL FAMILY

In December, in Oxnard, Calif., Dale Chester, 22, was sentenced to three years in prison for raping the pregnant girlfriend of his brother Ruben. Dale's brothers Leonard, 32, and Samuel, 29, are serving long prison terms for the violent rapes of five women in separate incidents, and Ruben, 24, is serving time for robbery and assault. Their father is a local pastor and their mother a Christian missionary, and police and prosecutors say there is no evidence of the childhood abuse that typically portends such adult violence.

Allen Sox mercy Betsy Layne Braves 11-1

Castle collects three doubles as Keathley gets first start

Brandon Castle had a triple and three doubles, and Doug Keathley tossed a two-hitter to lead the Allen White Sox to an 11-1 mercy win over the Betsy Layne Braves at the Allen Park Tuesday night.

The White Sox, who lead the Floyd County Babe Ruth League, improved to 11-2 on the season.

Keathley (1-0) got his first start ever as he took the mound for Allen. Keathley's only other two appearances from the hill were in a relief role. Kaleb Yates pitched the fifth inning, striking out two.

Craig Johnson suffered the loss for the Braves, giving up 8 runs on 8 hits over the four innings he worked. Ronnie Kidd hurled the fifth for the Braves. He allowed three runs on four hits.

Castle returned to the Sox lineup after missing several games because of an injury and a week's vacation. The healed and rested Castle took charge early as he tripled in the first inning, scoring Chris Moore with the game's first run.

Castle then doubled in the third, fourth and fifth innings. All four of his hits went to the deepest part of the ballpark, centerfield.

Allen took a 2-0 lead in the first on Castle's triple and a RBI single by Keathley. Chris Holbrook also had a base hit in the initial inning.

Betsy Layne plated a run in the bottom of the first on a rare error by Castle at short. Kidd hit a pop fly that was dropped by the shortstop and he scored on Brent Tackett's gapper to right-center for a double. Keathley got Tom Taulbee and Shannon Stone on strikes to end the inning.

The White Sox increased their lead to 3-1 with a run in the third. Castle doubled leading off and scored on an error by Kidd at short. The ball took a wicked bounce and bounced to short left field, allowing Castle to score all the way from second base.

Allen extended its lead to 8-1 with a five run fourth inning, collecting five hits in the frame. Darrin Newsome walked, Wesley Collins singled and Chris Morre drove in Newsome with a bouncer up the middle.

Castle got his third hit and second double scoring Collins. Keathley walked and Moore scored on Holbrook's ground ball to short. The play went to second for a force, but was late.

Steven Hamilton drilled a RBI single with Castle scoring. He later came in with the fifth run of the inning.

The Braves collected their second hit in the third inning when Johnson singled with two out. He was left stranded as Tackett rolled out to third.

Three runs scored in the White Sox half of the fifth. Newsome singled with one out and moved to second on an error in right field. Collins popped to second but Moore ripped a base hit to center scoring Newsome.

Castle drove the ball to deep center field for his third double of the game and the ball bounced over the fence making it a ground rule double, causing Castle to miss his second triple.

Keathley picked up his second and third RBIs with a base hit scoring Moore and Castle.

Kaleb Yates pitched the bottom of the fifth for the Sox and he issued the only walk for the Sox but fanned two without any damage.

The Floyd County Babe Ruth League will conclude its regular season tomorrow (Saturday). The league's all-star team will be picked following the conclusion of the regular season schedule.

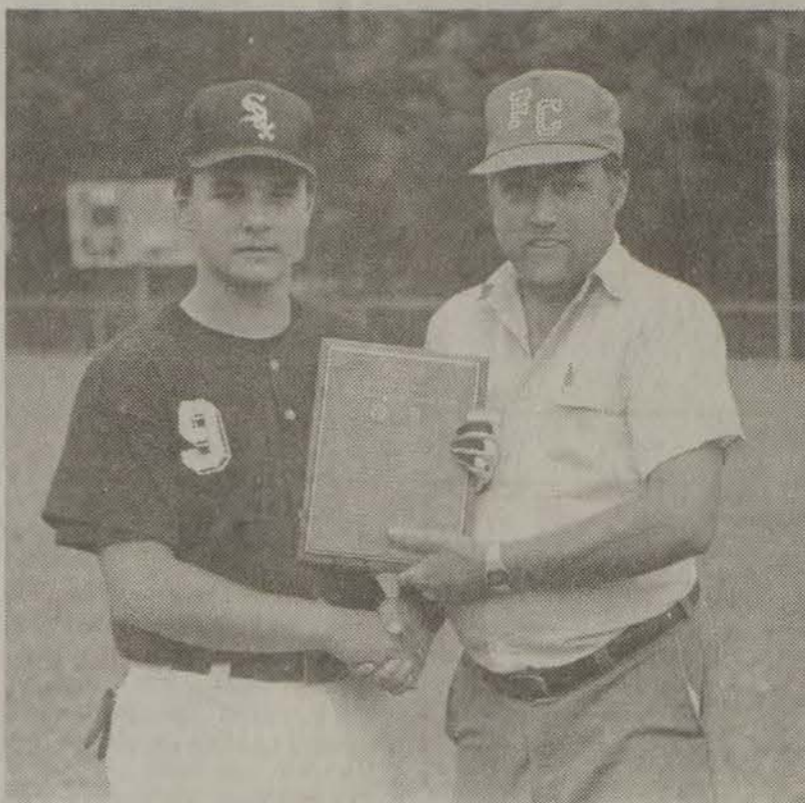

The White Sox will have their hands full when they take on second place HAP in a 1 p.m. game tomorrow. Wayland-Lackey-Garrett will face Betsy Layne in another top outing at 3:30 p.m. Wheelwright and Garrett will close the regular season with a 6 p.m. game.

LEAGUE NOTES:

- League Director Harold Case presented the annual sportsmanship awards at Tuesday night's game. For the 14-15-year-olds, Brandon Castle received a plaque for his display of good sportsmanship during the season.
- Daniel Laferty was awarded the same award for the 13-year-olds. Both players played for the White Sox.
- Will the wooden bats make a comeback? The White Sox had four in their arsenal at Tuesday night's game. Some key hits were found in the wood.

SLONE SNUBBED ON ALL-STAR LIST...

When the Beaver Creek Little League came together this year they decided that in order for them to compete on the all-star level of Paintsville this year, they had to put together a strong all-star team. The decision was a good one. One that needed to be made. They are the only league that has two squads in the elite tournament. But in year's past, they have tried to make both teams even and therefore not able to compete.

So, it was to be different this season. However, and this is just my opinion, they left one player off the Red team (which is supposed to be the strongest of the two) who is not only one of the best players in the Beaver Creek Little League, but one of the best in the whole county.

Now, I have seen all the leagues. Brent Slone is no doubt one of the finest players in the county. He deserves to be on the All-Star Red team.

This kid has been sensational all year. He can pitch, field and is a tremendous, tremendous hitter.

"I just can't understand why he didn't make the best team," said his coach Clinis Hall. "It's not fair to him. He deserves to be there."

Slone, while not being picked for the top team, was placed on the Blue team.

According to Coach Hall, Slone has decided not to play on either of the all-stars at all and that is an injustice. I do not know how the selection process was in choosing the players, but the process left off (and I'm just going to say it) the best player they have in the league.

The league director needs to take a look at this problem and right it if he can. When they go in to play the Paintsville team or the Harold-Allen-Prater squad, they had better have the best they've got.

DENT'S IN, FORD NOT CONSIDERED...

For Rodney Dent, the long wait is over and he is now (for the time being) a part of the Orlando Magic professional basketball team.

The popular Dent was taken early in the second round of the NBA draft held Wednesday night.

I watched the draft, well most of it, and I was wondering if any team was willing to take a chance on the former UK player. But a medical report says the 6'10" center should recover 100 percent.

For former UK point guard Travis Ford the NBA draft had to be a disappointment. Ford was not taken in the draft and, therefore, he will have to pursue a coaching career.

I never really expected Ford to hook up with any team. He needed to have a banner senior season and did not.

Glenn Robinson went as expected and Jason Kidd will definitely be a help to the troubled Dallas Mavericks.

After the top four, the rest were just mediocre players and many will never make it in the NBA. They may hang around for two seasons or three, but will never become an impact player that will spend enough time to retire.

That's how I see it! Later.

Concerned parents urged to attend rally at Allen Park

A committee, headed up by Margaret Holbrook, has planned a rally at the Allen Park (Stumbo) for Saturday, July 9 regarding the conditions of the baseball facilities, playground and port-a-toilets as well as the lighting of the field.

Each parent, grandparent, player, coach and all concerned people are strongly urged to be in attendance at the rally.

All four of the county magistrates as well as Judge John M. Stumbo have been invited to attend the rally to answer questions about the conditions.

"If anyone has a child or young adult playing or will be playing baseball, we want them to be there," said Holbrook. "We want them to bring a friend also. We must come together if we want our children to have a place to play ball."

"We need to come together and support our children. It's our park and our responsibility to see that something is done. We urge all parents to be there and bring the children. They count also," she said.

Part of the lighting in the right field area of the high school field has only one light burning. The biggest protest that citizens have is the deplorable restroom facilities and the lack of a concession area as well as lack of upkeep of the fields.

For the past five years, fans have been hollering about the way the ballpark area has been neglected and the golf area kept trimmed. Fans have been wondering out loud of late why that is happening.

The group would like to sell billboards and display them around the outfield fence to raise money for the facility.

"If they don't have the money (Fiscal Court) then they should allow us the privilege of selling signs to raise money to fix the place up ourselves," said Holbrook.

The committee has several petitions going around the county and

Slone tosses one-hitter as Astros defeat Renegades

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Drift Astros got a strong pitching performance from left hander Brent Slone and went on to post a 5-1 win over their rival in the Beaver Creek Little League Tournament.

The two teams have battled each other all season with the two teams splitting their two regular season games.

Slone was stingy on the mound as he gave up what was a controversial hit in the fifth inning. He could very well have had a no-hitter.

"He is no doubt the best player in our league," said coach Clinis Hall of Slone's performance. "He has batted around .800 all year for me."

Slone had a RBI double in the game and Byron Hall had a run batted in with a single. Hall's run batted in came in the first inning when he scored Joe Skeans, who started the game with a base hit.

Hard throwing Zack Layne suffered the loss for the Renegades.

Tournament note:

The two teams are to meet after the conclusion of the All-Star games to decide the championship of the Beaver Creek tournament. A date will be set later. All-Star games begin Tuesday.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

NEEDED: SQUEAKY CLEAN HEROES...

I caught a segment on the news Tuesday night where they were interviewing kids for their comments on the continued trouble of New York Met pitcher Dwight Gooden.

The comments ranged from "disappointed" to "it's a shame" to "I don't want him to be my hero."

But the problems that continue to plague the superstar pitcher (drugs) has resurfaced again and now he must sit and watch for the next 60 days.

But sports heroes are constantly in the news today and most of it isn't good.

- Vernon Maxwell was served with a warrant for his arrest for a nightclub fight.
- Darryl Strawberry hopes to find new life with the San Francisco Giants after all the drug related problems he has gone through.
- Gooden's situation isn't anything anyone can be proud of as a "kid's hero."

Many sports personalities have been in and out of the court room for so many reasons. Gambling, rape, drugs and now the big one, murder.

What has happened? Why all of the sudden all we hear about those who hit home runs, strike out batters, shoot the treys or run the football is negative?

Television!

Back in the days when I followed the sports heroes, we got three (count them, three) channels. We never heard of such goings on back in the good old days. But that doesn't mean they didn't happen.

We had to await the advent of cable to find that Mickey Mantle (one of my favorites) was an alcoholic. I was disappointed to learn that and that he is still struggling with it. Back then we knew very little about our heroes personal lives.

Charles Barkley has announced that he will not retire after all from the NBA, but will return for another season. That's too bad. Barkley is not a hero model.

Kids need someone they can look up to. Someone that wants to be a positive influence on their young lives. They need someone that they can take pride in saying, "he's my favorite ball player."

A player is not just seen on the court, diamond or field, but in public as well. The media is on the constant watch for stories that will be steamy ones. The kinds that get viewers or sells papers. Today, they are not interested that much in batting averages, points per game, or how many TDs he has thrown or yards rushed for. What about his private life?

The money market has spoiled the child that once loved to play the game because he loved it. Now, a rookie like Chris Webber, plays one year, and then is a restricted free agent.

That's a joke! Webber, like most, are in the sport because of the big bucks and nothing more. The kids read all this. Someone along the way had to be an influence to Webber, and not for the good.

Owners in professional sports have no one to blame but themselves for the selfishness of the players. That is why baseball is going to face a serious stoppage in August, because years back the owners tried to buy a World Series.

Basketball continues to be somewhat sane, but is fastly approaching the point to where they are going to have to hold back the salaries.

Big time agents haven't helped matters as well. Greed, deceitfulness and other matters have ruined the game of baseball and is going to take its toll on basketball.

Football seems healthy enough, but how long will that last in this day and time.

We definitely need to run an advertisement: Needed: Squeaky clean heroes, for the kid's sake.

BLUEGRASS STATE GAMES REMINDER...

If you are going to take part in the games this year, let me know what event. I want to try to cover as many events as I possibly can, but I need to know what you are in.

LITTLE LEAGUE TOURNAMENT, SENIOR LEAGUE...

Paintsville will be the host city for the Little League Area 2 baseball tournament as well as the 9-10-year-old tourney. The Senior League Tournament will be played at the Paintsville Park.

I've been to these tournaments for the past six years and they draw a lot of fans. It's good for the economy. The folks that run restaurants, sell gas or run motels love it. And why not? The Paintsville officials sure put on a good event. They have fine facilities in which to host the events.

FLOYD COUNTY BABE RUTH...

The three Floyd County Babe Ruth All-Star teams (13, 14, 15-year-olds) should be loaded this season.

We have some very good baseball players in the league and it looks good for all four county high schools in the future.

The 15-year-old tournament will be held at the Allen Park this year. League Director Harold Case is hopeful that the lights in right field can be fixed before then.

Several of the fans said they are ashamed to have folks from out of the county to come here and play in a tournament. There's no pride in the facilities.

But we will have to do the best we can in hosting the tournament. Nothing will ever change in good old Floyd County. It will always be the same old facilities. And they are getting worse instead of better.

I suppose that we should be thankful that we have a wide spot somewhere to play.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Have a safe Fourth of July and take the kids to church Sunday. You'll be glad you did!

Paintsville looks to repeat as All-Star week begins

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Back in late April and early May, the Little League baseball season kicked off and it was all in preparation for what takes place next week — All-Star week.

Four all-star tournaments will get started Tuesday and all four will be played in Paintsville.

Paintsville is the defending Area 2 Little League Champions, defeating a good Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) team last year 11-8.

Paintsville is traditionally a strong team and is considered the favorite to repeat again this season.

Five Floyd County teams will be part of the nine team field. HAP will face one of the two Beaver Creek All-Star teams when they face the Red team in a 7:30 p.m. start Tuesday. Wheelwright will take on Magoffin County in the tournament opener at 5:30 p.m.

Little League tournament play continues on Wednesday night when Morgan County faces Martin County at 5:30 p.m. In the nightcap, the Beaver Creek Blue team will take on defending champion Paintsville at 7:30 p.m.

Prestonsburg's all-stars drew a first round bye and will await the winner of the Wheelwright/Magoffin County game on Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

Two winner's bracket games will be played Saturday and two games in the loser's bracket will be held on Sunday.

The championship game is set for Wednesday, July 13 at 7:30 p.m.

A new division sanctioned...

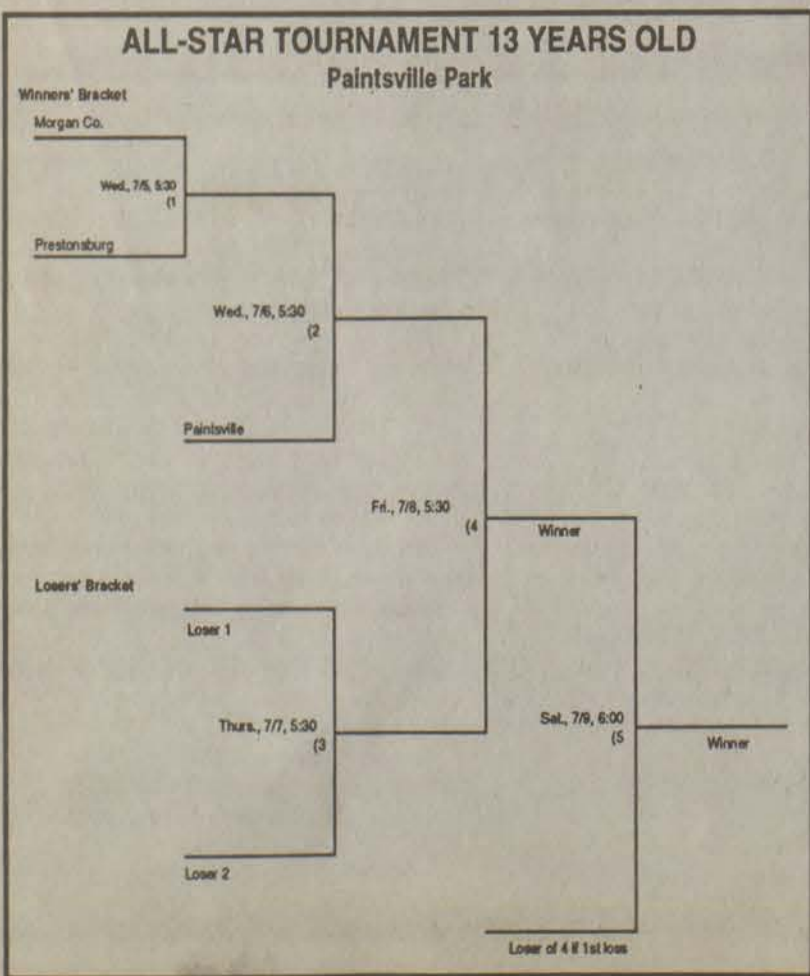

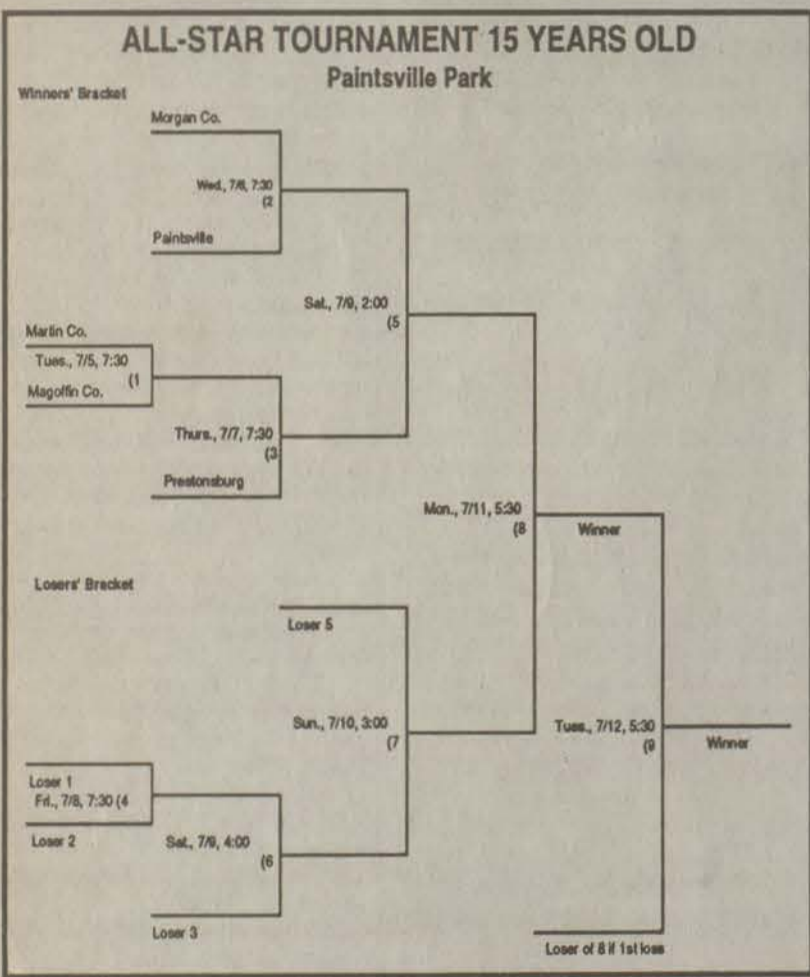

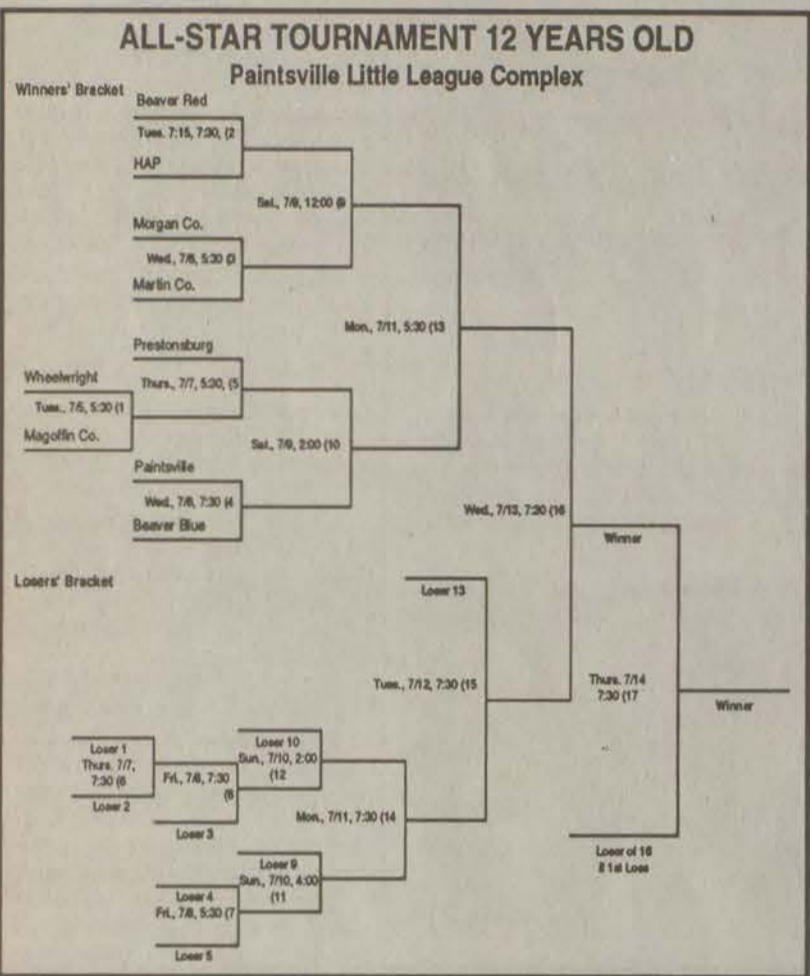

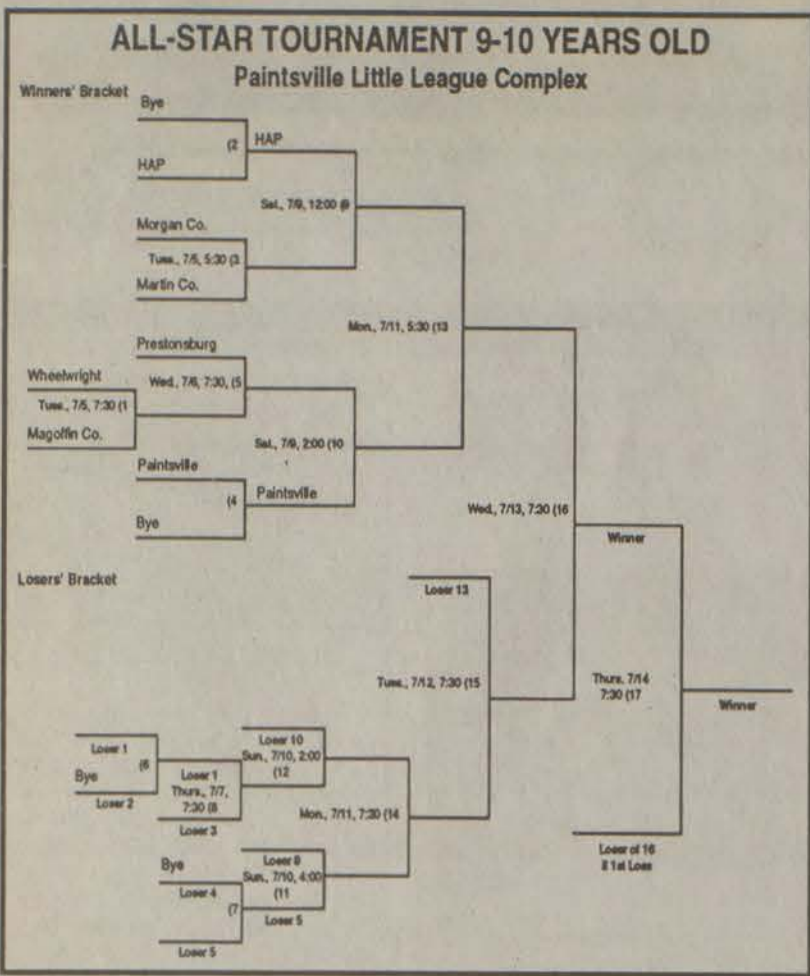

For the first time, a 9-10-year-old division has been sanctioned by the Little League headquarters. The tournament will be held adjacent to the Little League diamond in Paintsville.

Wheelwright will face Magoffin County in game two Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. HAP drew a first round bye and is scheduled to play Saturday at noon against the winner of the Morgan/Martin County winner. Prestonsburg will face the winner of the Wheelwright/Magoffin game on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Beaver Creek did not send a team to the 9-10 tournament.

Only three teams make up the Area 2 Senior League 13-year-old division. Prestonsburg will face Morgan County in the first game Tuesday, July 5 at 5:30 p.m. The game will be played at the Paintsville Park by the swimming pool. The winner will face Paintsville on Wednesday at 5:30 p.m.

The 15-year-old Senior League All-Stars will take to the diamond beginning at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when Magoffin County faces Martin County. Prestonsburg will face the winner of the game on Thursday, July 7 at 7:30 p.m. Paintsville plays Morgan County at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Rifles win series over Portsmouth, 6-4

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Kentucky Rifles took two games in their three game series with the Portsmouth Explorers, winning game three 6-4 Tuesday night.

Jay Hogue started for the Rifles, but Alex Roth picked up the win in relief.

The two teams had split a double-header earlier with the Rifles improving to 6-5 on the season with the win in game three.

The Rifles took a 1-0 lead when Paintsville native Greg Slone scored on Jaime Stash's sacrifice fly in the first inning.

The Explorers tied the game at one on Rich Cordani's lead off home run in the top of the third.

The game remained tied until the Explorers batted in the sixth inning and loaded the bases against Hogue. Roth came on and Earl Wallace scored on a sacrifice fly to give the Explorers a 2-1 lead.

The lead didn't last long as the Rifles shot out and scored four times in the sixth to take a 5-2 lead. Portsmouth added two runs in the top of the seventh, but the rally fell short. The Rifles added their final run in the eighth inning.

After taking Wednesday off, the Rifles traveled to Chillicothe, Ohio where they faced the Paints in two game series.

Kentucky will return home Saturday to begin a nine game homestand facing Lancaster, Zanesville, and arch rival Ohio Valley.

Game time is set for 7:30 p.m. at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex in Pikeville. Sunday's game will begin at 2 p.m. Monday's Fourth of Layne Brothers award!

Malcom Layne, president of Layne Brothers Ford, presents South Floyd girls track and field coach Keith Smallwood with a plaque for the team's outstanding season this year. Smallwood's team won the regional meet at Russell this season.

Middlecreek Sportsman's Club to hold meet

The Middlecreek Sportsman Club will hold its annual Coon Dog Meet this coming Sunday, July 3 at the Conelly Farm Pond in Salyersville.

Events in the show will be a water race, bench show, treeing and drag race.

The meet will get underway at 10 a.m.

July game with Lancaster will start at 5 p.m.

For tickets to all Rifles home games, call (606) 432-HITS.

has already obtained a number of signatures.

The committee is hoping that the county magistrates will attend the rally and speak to the "ones that elected them to office."

"We just want some answers," said Holbrook, who says that working people cannot attend the 10 a.m. fiscal court meeting on Fridays.

KIDS' WORLD

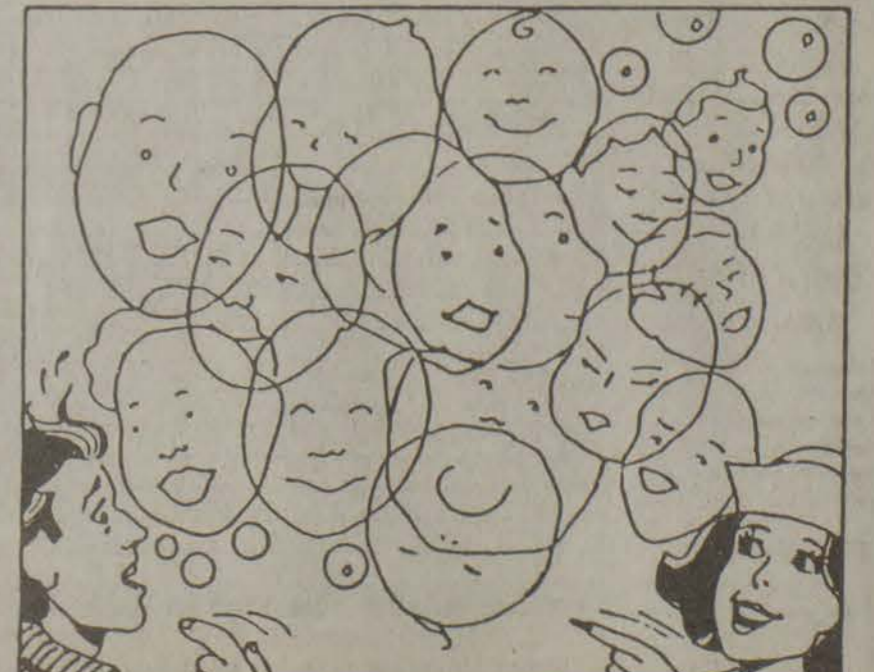

SUM TIMES! You can have some fun with the number 142,857 displayed by the clown at right. Multiply it by two, and the resulting amount is 285,714 — the same six digits in a different order.

Word search grid with letters: I S P R I N G, P, R, I, N, G.

PUT SPRING IN STEPS

AH, SPRING! You are challenged to find five six-letter words to be used in association with the word SPRING in the word square above. That is to say, words are to appear both across and down.

BABY FACES! Our artist claims to have included faces of 15 babies in this drawing. How many can you find?

WHAT HOE? Prospective gardeners may wish to ponder these words by Kin Hubbard: "In order to live off a garden, you have to — — —." Three words are missing. Can you fill them in?

GOVERNMENT FORECLOSURE SALE

Tuesday, July 26, 1994

10:00 a.m.

of House and lot at Highway 404 Blue River, Ky.

"This is a nice frame dwelling home on city water. It is well located in a quiet neighborhood. It consists of a living room, kitchen, three bedrooms, and one bath. This property is considered suitable for the FmHA program. This would be an excellent buy for an investor interested in rental property or for resale after minor repairs.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, July 26, at 10:00 a.m., at the site of the property, Highway 404, Blue River, Kentucky, in order to raise the sum of $41,188.92 principal, together with interest credit subsidy granted in the amount of $13,020.00, plus interest in the amount of $4,797.21 as of April 14, 1994, and interest thereafter on the principal at $10.7204 per day from April 14, 1994, until the date of Judgment, plus interest on the Judgment amount (principal plus interest to the date of Judgment) at the rate of 5.28%, computed daily and compounded annually, until paid in full and for the costs of this action, pursuant to Judgment and Order of Sale, being Civil Action No. 94-30 on the Pikeville Docket of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky entered on June 1, 1994, in the case of United States of America vs. Burley Prater, Ora Prater and Brenda Slone, the following described property will be sold to the highest bidder:

Starting at the corner of Allen Slone's property line and right of way of Rt. 404 and going in an easterly direction 150 feet, then turning right handed and going in a southerly direction of 150 feet. Thence turning right handed and going in a westerly direction 150 feet to Allen Slone's line. Thence with Allen Slone's property line 150 feet back to the point of beginning.

Being the same property conveyed by deed dated July 22, 1988, and recorded in Deed Book 320, at Page 519, Floyd County Court Clerk's Office.

TERMS OF SALE: Ten percent (10%) of the bid price (in the form of a Certified Check made payable to the U.S. Marshall) on the day of sale with good and sufficient bond for the balance, bearing interest at the rate of 5.28% per annum until paid, due and payable in thirty (30) days and said bond having the effect of a Judgment. Upon a default by the Purchaser, the deposit shall be forfeited and retained by the U.S. Marshall as a part of the proceeds of the sale, and the property shall again be offered for sale subject to confirmation by the Court.

This sale shall be in bar and foreclosure of all right, title, interest, estate claim, demand or equity of redemption of the defendants and all persons claiming by, through, under or against them, provided the purchase price is equal to two-thirds of the appraised value. If the purchase price is not equal to two-thirds of the appraised value, the Deed shall contain a lien in favor of the defendants reflecting the right of the defendants to redeem during the period provided by law (KRS 426.530).
