Child found unharmed :

Police investigating abduction at Minnie

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A 21-year-old Floyd County man is charged with abducting an eight-year-old child Tuesday night from the McDowell area.

Timmy Martin of McDowell is facing felony charges of first degree unlawful imprisonment and first degree wanton endangerment for allegedly driving away from the residence of Mike Mosley at McDowell with the child.

The child was found unharmed in the vehicle with Martin across from Floyd County Technical High School at approximately 2:45 a.m. Wednesday morning by Martin City policeman Jeff Powell.

Sheriff's deputy lieutenant Ricky Thornsberry said Thursday that Martin drove the child from the McDowell area to Dewey Lake and headed back up Rt. 122 before being stopped in the Garth area.

The child was apparently in the car with his mother's sister and Martin when the aunt stopped at the Mosley residence to talk with her boyfriend, Thornsberry said. The child's mother, Patricia Moore, was in another vehicle with her sister's children, he added.

While the child's aunt was having a verbal argument with her boyfriend, Martin jumped into the driver's seat and drove away, Thornsberry said. The aunt shouted at Martin to stop and bring the child back, but he would not, Thornsberry said. The deputy added that the child also asked to be let out of the car.

The eight-year-old was taken to McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital for an examination.

The two women were on their way home when they stopped at Mosley's house, Thornsberry said.

Martin was also charged with driving while intoxicated and having no insurance. Martin failed several field sobriety tests when he was stopped by Powell, Thornsberry said. Officers were unable to administer a breathalyzer test at the jail because the memory was full in the machine.

Tuesday was not the first time Martin has been accused of trying to pick up children, Thornsberry said. A criminal trespass charge had been taken out against Martin several weeks ago for an alleged incident near the housing project near Minnie. Martin was accused of shouting obscenities at people in the complex and "trying to get near young kids," Thornsberry said.

That charge was dismissed on the condition that Martin stay away from the housing project, Thornsberry said.

"He's been on probation and he broke it," Thornsberry said. "What are we going to do now? He took this child without permission and he was intoxicated."

Martin lives about a mile from the housing complex and several residents have chased him from the grounds, the deputy said.

Martin is lodged in the Floyd County Jail on a $34,000 or 10 percent cash bond. A preliminary hearing has been set for Wednesday, July 13 in Floyd District Court.

Also participating in the search for the child were deputies Danny McCoy and Stevie Little and the Prestonsburg Police Department.

Federal grand jury brings indictments against David firm

The owner and employees of a mine consulting business at David have been indicted by a federal grand jury in Lexington on charges of submitting fraudulent coal dust samples, concealing facts from U.S. mine officials and mail fraud.

Connie Prater McKinney, owner of Pra-Macs Enterprises, and employees Tammy Blackburn Stone, Kenneth Prater and Susan Reffett, were indicted Thursday, July 7. They face charges of conspiracy to commit one offense of concealing material facts from the United States Department of Labor Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA), ten offenses of submitting false respirable coal dust samples to MSHA, and one offense of mail fraud.

The indictment charges that between October of 1989 and November of 1991, the defendants submitted fraudulent respirable coal dust samples to MSHA on behalf of three Floyd County mines: Todco No. 1 Mine at Auxier; V & M Mining No. 6 Mine at Dana, and White Cloud Mining No. 1 Mine at Emma.

The indictment also charges the group with submitting fraudulent samples on behalf of Pike, Johnson and Magoffin County mines: Miller

Mining company No. 1 Mine and No. 2 Mine at Gunlock in Magoffin County; Lucretius Coal Corporation No. 1 Mine at Goody, Wildfire Coals No. 2 Mine at Sidney, Dukane Energy No. 1 Mine at Sidney, B C B Coal No. 1 Mine at Meta in Pike County; and the Lynx coal Company No. 3 Mine at Van Lear in Johnson County.

According to assistant U.S. attorney, Davis Sledd, the prosecutor in the case, Pra-Mac Enterprises faces a maximum, if convicted, of five years probation and a fine of up to $500,000 on each of the 13 charges against the company. If convicted, Connie McKinney and Tammy Blackburn Stone face a maximum of five years in prison and a fine of up to $250,000, or both, on each of 13 charges; Kenneth Prater faces the same maximum sentence on each of five charges; and Susan Reffett faces the same maximum sentence on each of three charges.

Prater became the first woman to sit on the board of directors of the Big Sandy Mining Institute when she was named 4th Vice President of the organization in 1991.

The indictment results from an

Adams, Harold schools get funding for resource centers

Floyd County will have two more school-linked resource centers for families and youth this fall.

According to a press release from the state Cabinet for Human Resources, a $45,000 state grant will fund a family resource center that will serve both Harold and Prater elementaries. A $39,200 state grant will establish a Youth Service Center for Adams Middle School.

The two sites in Floyd County are among 75 new centers to be created in the state for the 1994-95 school year. Grants totaling $4,660,800 were finalized by the state Interagency Task Force on Family Resource and Youth Service Centers following the passage of the state budget. The task force approved an additional $25,970,800 for 380 existing centers; thus 752 schools representing 349,300 students will have access to resource centers this fall.

School and community planning teams develop the centers and operate them under the guidance of the Cabinet for Human Resources. Family resource centers primarily serve the families of elementary school students and preschoolers. Youth services centers add job counseling and placement and substance abuse assistance to the other services for middle and high school students. Some centers combine both programs or serve several schools.

Go west young adults

New sewer eyed for Floyd, Johnson

by Matt McCarty
Staff Writer

In an effort to establish a new sewer system in the area that would benefit both Floyd and Johnson counties, area leaders visited Frankfort Tuesday to meet with state officials.

Both the mayor of Prestonsburg, Jerry Fannin, and the mayor of Paintsville, Robin Cooper, along with officials from American Standard and several other area leaders met with Lt. Governor Paul Patton and Economic Development Cabinet Secretary Gene Strong to try to get a new sewer system in the area.

The sewer system, which could benefit American Standard, the communities of Auxier and Van Lear and others, is a long range goal for the area, according to Bill Harvey Howard of Prestonsburg City Utilities who was also at the meeting in Frankfort.

The short term plan, Howard said, is to put in a force main to a sewage system in Paintsville, which is currently operating at half capacity.

Another possibility would be a gravity system, but because of the terrain in the area, a gravity system would not be feasible, Howard said, because the cost would be five times as much as a force main system.

A force main will cost around $1.5 million to put in place, according to American Standard Plant Supervisor Ron Belhasen.

One way of funding the force main would be through the state, but the only way the state would foot the bill is if Floyd and Johnson counties could guarantee new jobs for the area.

While American Standard cannot guarantee enough new jobs to prompt state funding, they made available 21 acres of land on their property for industrial development nearly two years ago, according to Belhasen.

According to Darrell Gilliam, executive director of the Floyd County Development Authority, the 21 acres of land made available by American Standard is not listed as a site ready to build on by the state, but Strong indicated that steps would be taken to have the land listed.

The sewer system, however, is long overdue, according to Belhasen, who said that a sewer system was promised to American Standard when it decided to locate here in 1969.

Currently, American Standard, which employs approximately 350 people, maintains its own sewage system and has a water treatment plant, but Belhasen said that the lack of a better sewage system is "a hindrance to any talk of expansion."

Belhasen said he was glad to see that "these two cities are working together, trying to find some way (to get a better sewer system)."

State adds penalty to mining violations

The state Department of Natural Resources has slapped an additional $5,000 fine on the president of a Floyd County mine.

The state Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet filed a complaint in Franklin Circuit Court recently seeking the $5,000 penalty from Freda Samons, president of Mitch Coal Company at Minnie, for failure to pay a fine levied

Dewey Lake on Congress' wish list

Dewey Lake is among the many waterways in the state set to receive funding if Congress authorizes the Energy and Water Appropriations Bill.

The Senate passed the FY 1995 Energy and Water Appropriations Bill last Thursday, which included over $100 million for projects in Kentucky, according to U.S. Senator Wendell Ford.

If authorized, Dewey Lake would be one of 25 Corps of Engineers waterway projects in Kentucky that would receive funds.

The $1 million set aside for Dewey Lake would be used for dam stabilization work.

Steve Wright of the Army Corps of Engineers in Huntington said that the stabilization work is necessary because "we've had additional experience with flood programs" since Dewey Dam was placed in operation in July, 1949.

He added that this project would allow Dewey Dam "to give the protection it was built for."

Floyd woman nabbed in Pike drug sting

A Floyd County woman was arrested Friday in a Pike County drug sting.

Pauline E. Alley, 27, of Harold was arrested Friday and charged with cultivating marijuana.

Alley was one of 21 individuals arrested in Pike County during the drug sting operation.

The arrests resulted from indictments handed down by the Pike County Grand Jury.

Kentucky State Police, in conjunction with the Pike County Sheriff's department have been conducting an ongoing investigation into illegal drug distribution in Pike County.

A special birthday gift

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

On the afternoon of his 100th birthday, Willie Johnson, Floyd County's oldest living World War I veteran, sat on his front porch enjoying the scenery and talking to one of his favorite visitors, Eddie Akers.

Twice a year, on June 20—Johnson's birthday—and at Christmastime, Akers drives from his home at Harold to Willie's farm located on Skull Fork at Weeksbury near the Knott and Letcher County lines. Once there, Akers gives Willie a gift from the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 5839 of Prestonsburg, and then the two spend the afternoon chatting.

This visit was a bit different from the others. Akers had brought along his wife, Christa, who wanted to meet Willie, and another visitor who wanted to hear the centenarian's life story.

Willie graciously welcomed his guests and, after a time of talk, to cap off the visit he pulled on his his 76-year-old World War I woolen jacket and cap he had preserved in a closet and had his picture snapped with Akers.

Over the last few years, the two have become close. Willie had invited Akers to his big 100th birthday bash held the day before, but Akers, a World War II veteran, and former state VFW commander, was at the state VFW convention and he missed his friend's centennial celebration. But there was no way Akers was going to miss his annual birthday visit with a person as remarkable as Willie.

Not only can the elder veteran remember the past clearly, down to specific dates, he still has a large garden that he works in almost every day. He also tends bee hives on his farm that have kept him and his neighbors rich in honey.

On one of the walls in the front room of Willie's modest white frame house are several framed certificates, cards and autographed pictures he received from notables in honor of his 100th birthday: a birthday card from Bill and Hillary Clinton, a letter and picture from Governor Brereton Jones, an autographed picture of Rick Pitino, and a certificate that names Willie a Kentucky Colonel. On June 21, he was also given a plaque from officials of the C&O Railroad who came from Chicago to make the presentation.

Willie's birthday party was held at the Weeksbury home of Mary Ann Johnson, his daughter-in-law, wife of his late son Bill. Willie's six living children, and other descendants, relatives and friends, totaling about 130 people from Weeksbury to Illinois, attended the gathering. He has 32 grandchildren, numerous great-grandchildren, 73 great-great-grandchildren and 19 great-great-great-grandchildren.

"He had two large birthday cakes and lots of cards and well-wishers," said his daughter Joanne Osborne, who came from her home in Miamitown, Ohio, for the big bash. Willie's other children are Estelle Mosley and Bobby Johnson of Weeksbury, Jackie Dye of Flatwoods, Juanita Johnson of Virgie and Carol Hall of Steator, Illinois.

"There were 14 cameras going at one time," Willie marveled, his blue eyes twinkling. "A hundred people were there."

In his lifetime, Willie has been a student, teacher, soldier, coal miner, railroad worker, farmer and beekeeper. Asked to recall some of the events in his life, he paused and then shook his head. "There is so much, I wouldn't know where to begin," he said. So he started with snapshots of experiences that, once pieced together, formed his life story.

Willie was born and raised at Weeksbury, and except for a tour of duty in France during WW I, it is here he has remained. He was born in 1894 to David Dock and Lourena Hall Johnson in a one-room log cabin built by his father, one of 13 children born to the couple. His brother Albert was born a year later.

Johnson worked on the family farm until he and Albert began normal school at Paintsville in 1913.

Willie was 19 years old. "I stayed from January to May," he said. "That's how long school lasted."

After three years, at age 22, Willie received his teaching certificate and taught at a one-room school in Weeksbury. "I was paid only $50 a month for one year," he recalled. "The superintendent promised me a helper. The next year I went down there and there was no helper. I had 30 in primary. I quit and went to work for Elkhorn-Piney at Weeksbury."

The quiet countryside changed when the coal mines set up shop. "When the coal company came in here in 1912 or 13, there was a bunch of roughhousers," Willie said. "Every Saturday, there was a bunch of drunks (in town). Workers were paid only 15 cents an hour for ten hours. Carpenters came in and were paid only three dollars a day. The carpenters built the town. The mines had 100 men working down there. They were all strangers, mostly from Wisconsin. There were not too many people living here then. Whoever wanted to work, the mines put them to work."

In 1914, World War I began, and in 1918, both Willie and Albert were drafted. Albert became a drill instructor in Louisville, but Willie soon found himself a member of the 22nd Engineers aboard a ship sailing to France. He was involved in the last assault of World War I in the Argonne Forest in northeastern France in the fall of 1918. "I was in the front line in the supply line," he said. "We handled supplies to the front line. It was trench warfare. You could holler over and talk to the Germans."

At 11 a.m. on November 11, 1918, a cease-fire was called. The war was over. "That day there were arms stacked on both sides of the trenches," he said. "I got (to the front line) at 11:20 and soldiers were giving out cigarettes."

When Willie returned home, he worked for a year in the main office at a coal mine where he did drafting. Soon, he became tippel foreman. Then he met Gracie Jane Wells of Van Lear and, in 1921, they married and moved to their homestead at Skull. That same year he began his 39-year career with B&O (later C&O) Railroad at Weeksbury. His brother Albert also worked for the railroad. Willie worked as a clerk checking train cars in and out of the station. He made a good living for Mary and their nine children.

Willie retired in 1960 and for a while he was at a loss as what to do with himself. "I just knocked around on the farm," he said. "It was rough for about two months."

He had farmed throughout his life, and now he became a farmer in earnest, selling his honey and garden produce as a truck farmer.

Mary died in 1966, and Willie continues to live in the white frame house they made their home in 1921.

Keeping active and staying out of the hot sun are two reasons he thinks he has lived to be 100.

"I worked with Dad on the farm until 1915," he said. "After retirement, I always had a garden. I never worked in the heat of the day. I went out in the morning at 7 until 9, and from 5 to 7 in the evening."

The last few years he has quit growing a lot of crops on his rolling one and a half acre farm, not because he didn't have the "get up and go," but simply because, "I didn't need it," he said. He still grows corn and beans in a large plot in front of his house, and he has apple, cherry and pawpaw trees. And he still sells honey. He said that he just recently put the racks in his bee hives and showed his grandson how to put the combs in.

Other factors that help account for his longevity, he thinks, are that he never smoked or drank. His first taste of liquor — a swig of moonshine that he swallowed on Christmas Eve in 1922 — poisoned him and cost him four days of work. He never touched alcohol again.

Although Willie has hired help around the house, he cooks for himself and remains independent. He wears a hearing aid, but reads the newspaper without glasses. He takes no medication except his own prescription of daily exercise.

"I take three rounds of walking — at morning, noon and night. I make eight rounds around the porch," he said. "The rest of the time I spend reading and walking around the farm."

Earlier this year, Willie faced the loss of two brothers and a sister. His brother Earl, 79, of Weeksbury, died February 26. His brother Albert died at age 98, on March 16, the same day that his sister Virgie Johnson, 92, of Bypro, died.

Willie has three siblings still living: a brother, Ernest, 70; and two sisters, Della Cole, 82, and Bertha Tackett, 88, all of Weeksbury.

Just last year, Willie and Albert, as veterans of WWI, and Earl and Ernest, as veterans of World War II, were considered the oldest living veterans from one family in the United States.

Among the improvements to the dam will be an additional three foot concrete wall onto the current dam and a vertical restriction wall onto the spillway. The corps of engineers would also add a 688 foot high auxiliary spillway to ensure the dam could control any possible flooding situations.

The existing spillway is 686 feet in elevation.

Wright added that the current situation of the dam is not dangerous and the stabilization of the dam is only a precaution.

Some of the projects that will be funded include $20 million to continue construction of the Harlan floodwall; $5 million for construction of the Pike County floodwall; and $1 million for Big Sandy Harbor.

The legislation now moves to a House-Senate conference committee and the final legislation is expected to be approved in the coming weeks.

"We are operating under very tight budget restraints this year, and I'm pleased the Senate recognized the merit in these projects and voted for their funding," Ford said. "These public works projects are needed and represent wise investments that will benefit our citizens far into the future."

This measure still must be authorized by Congress before the funds can be released.

KET documentary explores the culture and history of what it means to be fit

Fit: Episodes in the History of the Body airs on KET at 10 Tuesday, July 12. The program is a vivid chronicle of America's attitude toward fitness from the physical culture boom of the 1890s to the Kennedy fitness programs of the 1960s.

"Lookin' good" messages come at us fast and furious: "Dress for success." "Stay fit, stay thin." "Clothes make the man (or woman)." In response to these messages, Americans today spend $20 billion a year on cosmetics, $33 billion on dieting, $300 million on cosmetic surgery and $7 billion on pornography. By the fourth grade, 80 percent of all American girls have been on their first diet and the rise of anorexia and other eating disorders is endemic.

Today's younger generation cannot remember a time when jogging and health clubs were not a part of our normal landscape. Our bodies are a realm that most consider to be absolutely personal and shaped by our own experiences; not something to be treated historically. A sharp and entertaining documentary, Fit turns that assumption inside out, demonstrating that our ideals of physical perfection are determined by political and cultural considerations rather than by more objective standards.

Through its historical contexts, Fit exposes the cultural attitudes toward our most intimate possession—our body. The program challenges attitudes toward nature, fashion, expression, sexism, conformity, commercialism, religion, sex, racism, and, ultimately, health.

On January 11, the secretary of the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet filed a final order requiring Mitch Coal Company Inc. to pay a civil penalty of $19,500 within 30 days, according to the complaint.

The legal action states that Samons is also individually liable for the penalties because Kentucky's secretary of state dissolved the corporation's charter on August 1, 1988 and Samons has done business "in her individual capacity as Mitch Coal Co., Inc."

Woodworkers, jewelers, photographers, potters, and weavers will be among those artists who will travel from all across the nation to Berea for the 13th year of this major craft showcase.

There will be 25 new exhibitors with displays of cornshuck doll creations, fiber photo images, pottery, carved walking sticks, Carogi bags, "Ocarina" antique musical instruments organic and porcelain potteries and jewelry designs.

Special demonstrations will be going on throughout the three-day event. There will be papermaking, woodcarving and beeswax candle demonstrations. A new and exciting exhibition that children will enjoy will be a demonstration of sand art bottles.

"Mandala" will return to entertain the crowd. Other entertainment includes the sounds of folk, blues, Cajun and pop music.

Festival hours are 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., Friday through Sunday. Parking is plentiful and free. Admission for adults is $4; children under 12, are admitted free.

For more information, contact Berea Tourism, 606-986-2540/2550.

Julie Johnson, manager of David Appalachian Crafts, will exhibit work from area craftsmen during the 13th annual Berea Craft Festival July 15-17.

David Appalachian Crafts exhibit annually during the festival at Berea, an area which has become internationally acclaimed as a major center for American crafts.

Approximately 120 craftspersons from 20 states will exhibit and demonstrate their work at Indian Fort Theater, a scenic, wooded arena and outdoor amphitheater nestled at the foot of the Pinnacle Mountains which were once a natural Indian fortification.

All craftspersons at the festival have been juried and invited to participate in the festival on the basis of the quality and originality of their work. Only a select few are chosen from the hundreds of applications received each Spring.

Judge named woman of the year

Prestonsburg Community College Bookstore named Gold Customer

The Prestonsburg Community College Bookstore, under the direction of Linda S. Little, was recently named a 1994 Wadsworth Gold Customer, a status earned by fewer than 10 percent of the nation's college stores.

Wadsworth Inc. is one of the largest college educational publishers in the country and its Gold Customer Program awards stores for doing a good job.

"It is clear to us at Wadsworth that your campus store's textbook department is run in an extremely efficient manner and that they have a very good handle on the patterns and cycles of their ever-changing market," said Stephen Hochheiser, Wadsworth's campus marketing director. "You have ample reason to be proud of their achievement," he added.

In order to qualify as a Gold Customer, a store must meet certain criteria, including a return level below 15 percent and payment of bills within 45 days on average from the date of invoice.

In return, Gold Customer Program winners will receive priority handling of all orders and inquiries, a 50 percent truck freight credit for fall orders and discounts on supplements.

This is the second time that the Prestonsburg Community College Bookstore has earned the Gold Customer status.

Commodities to be distributed

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Program Inc., will begin distributing USDA commodities on Thursday, July 14, from 8:00 a.m. until 4:00 p.m., or until commodities are gone. Distribution will continue on Friday, July 15, during the same hours at the Community Action Office or until the supply is gone.

The distribution locations are Mud Creek Clinic, Grethel and the Swimming Pool Building, Convention Center, at Allen Park.

Commodities to be issued are apple juice, applesauce, Beans, cornmeal, peanut butter.

Persons will be limited to picking up commodities for themselves and two other households. All persons picking up commodities for another household must have the following information before commodities will be released to them.

There will be no exceptions. The Social Security Card for the person the commodities are being picked up for, also acceptable is a Medicare Card or Driver's License.

A signed dated statement from the person giving permission for you to pick up their commodities. This statement must also include the number in the household, total household income for the previous month (June) and complete address.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Editorial:

KERA and the basics

The notion being spread by KERA critics that Kentucky students aren't expected to learn correct spelling, punctuation and grammar is for the b-i-r-d-s.

Just look, for example, at the scoring guide used by people who evaluate student writing tests. It says that correctness counts—graders are to evaluate the degree to which students demonstrate correct spelling, punctuation and capitalization. What possibly could be plainer than that?

Look, too, at the guide given to fourth graders to help them assess their writing strengths and needs. Under the heading "The Big Picture," it says correct spelling, punctuation and capitalization matter. Then it directs students to examine "mistakes in spelling," "mistakes in punctuation," and "mistakes in capitalization." Far from being pushed aside under KERA, emphasis on correct use of language starts in the primary years.

Still more evidence of the state's expectation that students will learn all the basic language skills can be found in a guide being prepared by the Department of Education for parents who want to help their children sharpen their writing skills. It leaves no doubt about the importance of producing correct prose.

So, the age-old expectation that polished written work must be grammatically correct still holds. What's new is the approach. Spelling, punctuation and grammar are no longer taught as stand-alone skills but as tools needed for effective communication. Simply knowing how to spell and punctuate won't make someone an effective communicator any more than knowing how to speak will make someone a good public speaker. Put another way: Technically correct writing might equip a person to order merchandise but not to generate an impressive job application.

In light of all the evidence that mastering the basics of writing remains a priority under KERA, it's tempting to dismiss as malcontents those who allege that it isn't. But they do have a potent message. They're telling us that state officials have failed to do with KERA what they expect of fourth graders — communicate effectively.

Roadblock sent area students westward

Editor:
The Floyd County Sheriff's Department would like to thank everyone who assisted with or donated to the July 4th weekend roadblock for the trip for students out west and the D.A.R.E. program. This year's roadblock was the most successful so far. Anyone who did not get the opportunity to make a donation, and who wishes to do so, may send it to, or stop by, the sheriff's department.

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

Whose rights?

Auger mining.

If you're a landowner who owns the surface rights but not the mineral rights to your property, those two words probably strike fear in your heart now.

Last month, the deputy director of the Office of Surface Mining issued an opinion which permits auger mining, defined under Kentucky law as a method of surface mining, without surface owners' permission. The opinion reversed the agency's decision from a year ago.

Kentucky companies appear to be turning to auger mining more and more. With this form of mining, coal companies can cut as far as 1,200 feet into a seam before setting up its large drills to bore horizontal holes into the seam.

Landowners, like Robert and Shelby Dworak of McCombs, say they are afraid that the bore holes left behind will cause subsidence. While state and federal laws require coal companies causing such problems to compensate landowners and restore any damaged land or groundwater supplies, we know how quickly that process works and how burdensome it can be to the landowners.

Tuesday, members of Kentuckians For The Commonwealth demonstrated at OSM's Lexington Field Office asking the agency to reverse its decision from last month.

KFTC, you may remember, led a successful campaign in 1988 to pass a constitutional amendment — supported by 82 percent of Kentucky's voters — to end the coal companies' use of broad-form deeds.

We wish them the same luck this go-round.

OSM's latest decision will create more hard feelings between landowners and mining companies, and we need that like the plague. It also gives the impression that the agency could flip-flop on many important issues, leaving everyone to wonder how long one ruling will stand before a reversal takes its place.

We implore the OSM to reconsider its statement of June 6, look at the reality of auger mining and make a decision based on the facts — and stick with it. — Appalachian News-Express

Seat belt law draws mixed emotions

Kentucky's mandatory safety belt law will go into effect on July 15, and this new requirement raises some mixed feelings.

After all, seat belts do save lives. Studies have indicated that someone wearing a safety belt is almost 50 percent more likely to survive an accident.

On the other hand, there comes the ethical question of how far can the government go to make people do what is right for themselves.

Whether or not to wear a seat belt is a decision that affects only the lives of the individual, unlike smoking or drinking and driving, which cannot only harm the individual, but others around them as well.

What if the government said that you can eat only good, healthy foods, so you can live longer. Sure the average life span would increase, and several lives would be saved from heart attacks, but wouldn't it put a huge dent in freedom to not be able to eat the foods you wanted to.

Isn't this a step toward regulating the freedom that people in this country have fought so hard to keep.

On the other hand, however, when someone wrecks and kills themselves, the question arises of why they were so stupid to not simply take a few seconds to buckle up.

Ashland had adopted a safety belt law for people under 18, which is a good idea, because younger people are often not do what is best, and why should their children have to do certain things when their parents don't even do them?

Personally, I won't mind the safety belt law because I always wear one anyhow.

Others out there will not agree however. They will say it is an infringement on their freedom.

Who is right on this issue? There is really no one to say. — The Big Sandy News

PCC gets okay to assess student health fee

The University of Kentucky Board of Trustees on June 13 unanimously approved the assessment of a mandatory $82.50 student health fee to establish a Student Health Clinic for Prestonsburg Community College students. The clinic will serve full-time students but part-time students will have the option of paying the fee and using the clinic's services.

Prestonsburg Community College President Dr. Deborah L. Floyd recommended the fee to Community College System Chancellor Ben W. Carr Jr. who, in turn, spoke on the college's behalf in recommending the fee to the UK Board of Trustees.

"We are impressed with the support from Prestonsburg Community College, the University of Kentucky Medical Center and from local physicians in Prestonsburg," said Dr. Carr. "Everyone has been excited about this new venture."

Dr. Peter Bosomworth, Chancellor of the University of Kentucky Medical Center, also spoke to the UK Board of Trustees in support of the clinic.

The fee was recommended to Dr. Floyd by the college's Student Health Advisory Committee, the Student Government Association President, and Prestonsburg Community College's Advisory Board.

Dr. Floyd was appreciative of the unanimous support the proposed fee received from the UK Board of Trustees. "At Prestonsburg Community College we are encouraged by the faith the Board of Trustees and University of Kentucky leadership have placed in our plan for health education and wellness," she said. "We are confident that by working together we will be able to reach our goal of enhancing health programs for the region."

A Student Health Clinic Advisory Committee, chaired by PCC's Associate Professor of Nursing Lynn Weddle, has spent several months planning the health clinic. "We are encouraged by the strong support the proposed health clinic has received from the faculty, staff, community and area doctors," Weddle said.

Prestonsburg Community College students have also supported the proposed clinic. Students attended informational sessions regarding the clinic during the 1994 Spring Semester.

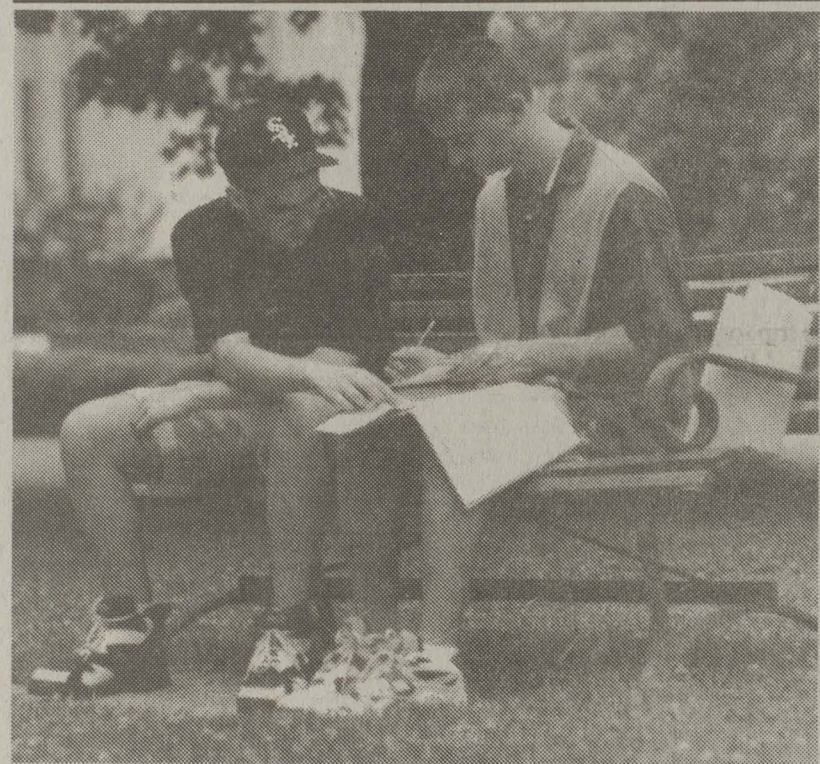

The revolutionary concept of providing student health care at the community college level was the brainchild of Dr. Floyd and Dr. Emery Wilson, the Dean of the College of Medicine at the University of Kentucky, working in conjunction with Dr. Spence Turner, director of the University of Kentucky's Student Health Clinic in the College of Medicine.

"The Student Health Clinic at a community college level will be the first of its kind in the state and could serve as a national model for other community colleges," said Dr. Turner.

The clinic could be operational as early as the 1995 Spring Semester although details are still being finalized. The fee will not be assessed until the clinic services are operational.

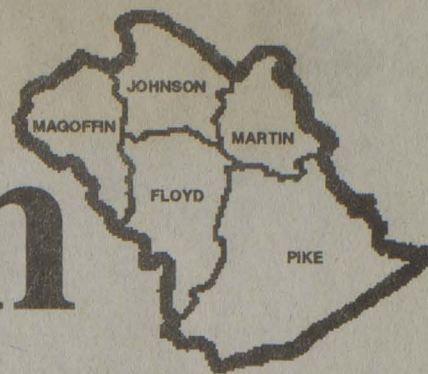

For more information about the Student Health Clinic, contact Sandra Osborne at Prestonsburg Community College at 886-3863 Extension 205.

Mayor named as judge halts city shutdown

Van Lear has a new mayor, but whether he'll have a city to manage will be decided by a judge.

For now, Larry Walker, appointed last Friday by the city commission, can be mayor of a temporary city, thanks to an order issued by Johnson Circuit Judge Stephen N. Frazier.

But the order should be dissolved, claimed a motion filed Friday by three Van Lear residents. "Officers of the city of Van Lear are wasting its meager assets and converting them to their own use and will entirely dissipate them," said a motion filed on behalf of Paul David Butcher, Greg Howard and Virgil Hall.

Butcher, an official with Big Sandy TV Cable, presented the petition requesting the May 24 election that dissolved the government.

Acting on a request by City Attorney Tom Hardin, Frazier on last Thursday prohibited County Clerk Betty Jo Conley from "taking steps" to dissolve the city.

Although the local board of elections certified the referendum June 3, Conley said last Thursday that she had not submitted the necessary papers formally dissolving the city. State statutes require a city to dissolve within 30 days after the election is certified. — The Paintsville Herald.

EDB gets okay to acquire site

The saga that has surrounded the Martin County Economic Development Board's (EDB) "purchase" of the Otto Brown farm for industrial development took a positive turn last week as the state has released $170,000 for site acquisition and preliminary preparation costs, Martin County Judge-Executive Kelly Callahan said last Wednesday.

The site located on old Route 3, has been the center of controversy since the county EDB targeted it for purchase over six months ago. The site was to have been the location for Technical Mining Ventures, a coal equipment repair shop that would have brought about 75 high wage jobs into the county economy.

At first, the state balked at approving the site for industrial development funds (taken from Martin County's share of coal severance tax money—over $650,000 so far) because TMV was a coal-related industry.

Judge-Executive Callahan and EDB chairman John Crum began a campaign with local coal companies, securing a commitment from Pontiki Coal Corporation to complete most of the work on the site. — The Mountain Citizen

Ky. ranks second in coal-producing states

Domestic coal production totaled 19.5 million tons during the week ending June 25, up two percent from the 19.2 million tons produced the previous week, the U.S. Department of Energy reported Monday.

The U.S. coal industry produced 18.4 million tons in the same week last year, according to the department's Energy Information Administration.

Wyoming ranked first among the 27 coal-producing states with 4.1 million tons produced. Kentucky was second with three million tons and West Virginia was third with 2.8 million tons, the agency said.

Domestic coal production so far this year is 505 million tons, seven percent ahead of last year's production at this time.

The week's production accounts for bituminous and lignite coal. — Appalachian News-Express

Clark chosen as resident advisor for 1994 program

Stephen Clark

Stephen Clark, 19-year-old son of Carolyn Clark of Honaker, has been chosen as a resident advisor for the 1994 Governor's Scholars Program.

Clark has been based at Centre College in Danville, where he will be working with high school juniors.

Clark's selection as a resident advisor is a tremendous honor, as candidates are chosen from a highly competitive field of college students.

Clark is a 1992 graduate of Betsy Layne High School, where he was valedictorian and the recipient of numerous awards and honors. Also, he was a member of the 1991 Governor's Scholars Program.

Currently, Clark is a junior at Transylvania University, where he is an honor student majoring in political science. He is also a Student Orientation Leader and a member of the Kappa Alpha Order.

Jenny Wiley's Gin Game holds something for everyone

by Tim Mollette

Growing old, maintaining friendship, the dangers of being vindictive. All of these essential life lessons come shining through in the Pulitzer Prize winning play The Gin Game, now showing at the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center.

This tragicomedy details the conversation between Fonzia and Weller, two people confined to a retirement home in their old age, in which they reflect on their lives while playing cards, and in the process, learn a lot about themselves.

Featured in the role of Fonzia is Lee Prov da. Prov da has nearly 25 years of acting experience, including roles in numerous off Broadway and off-off Broadway shows, as well as touring with Estelle Getty in a pair of plays, Arsenic and Old Lace. She also played Annie Nation in Foxfire here at Jenny Wiley last summer.

Playing opposite Prov da as Weller is John Cates. Cates left his psychiatry practice last summer to take up professional theatre. So far in his relatively young career, Cates has portrayed Hector in Foxfire at Jenny Wiley last summer and was featured in the 1940's Radio Hour at the Mill Mountain Theatre in Roanoke, Virginia over the winter months.

One of the presentation's most stirring themes lies within its messages concerning the changes associated with growing old.

"This play really brings out the fact that people don't usually plan well for their old age," said Prov da. "Both of these people were somewhat unsuccessful in life with their families and their old age wasn't planned for, and so they find themselves unhappy in an old folks home."

After meeting one another in their retirement home, the couple are given a second chance at having a strong friendship, but the bitterness that has grown during their lives once again steps in the way.

"Maintaining friendships is some-

U.S. 23 is named "Country Music Highway" in honor of singers

U.S. 23 has been designated the "Country Music Highway" in honor of the many great singers who grew up along its borders and moved on to stardom in other places.

Some future stars, who may grow up to take their place on the U.S. 23 roster, might be spotted on stage at the Jenny Wiley State Park Amphitheater Monday night (July 11), in this week's opening act for the Kentucky Opry.

"I Like The Sound of America," is the name of the production which will be performed by a group of 5th grade students from Prestonsburg Elementary School. Rebecca Haywood is music instructor for the school, and David Leslie is the piano accompanist.

The musical salutes America's traditions of liberty and freedom, and provides good fun for both the audience and the student performers.

Kentucky Opry is on-stage after the student number, and there are some changes in both cast and show this year.

Chris Lafferty, a veteran of the Opry Junior Pros has joined the senior troupe on keyboards and vocals. A graduate of Betsy Layne High School, where he was an All-State Chorus selection, Chris just completed his first year at Prestonsburg Community College. He takes over for Jody Conley, an original Opry member who recently moved to Somerset.

Another new addition is Johnathan Estep. A junior at Prestonsburg High School, Johnathan brings fresh excitement to the stage with his song and dance routines, especially his Michael Jackson look-alike number.

Show time at the Amphitheater is 8:15 p.m. Ticket prices are $10 adult; $8 senior citizens, and $5 students. For tickets and additional information, contact the Jenny Wiley Box Office at 886-9274.

thing that is essential, especially when growing into old age, but for these two, the idea that being vindictive and holding grudges can lead to self-destructive behavior comes out," said John Cates.

In addition to the timeless themes contained within the card games between the two characters, there is another issue that arises which fits in perfectly with one of the major aspects of today's society.

"I think this play is very timely in that it deals with the costs and other problems involved with our health care system," Cates said. "Both characters had a substantial savings to grow old on, but medical bills wiped them out, so in that sense I think it is a truly current play."

The universal themes of friendship, old age and holding grudges are now on showcase for all ages as The Gin Game will be running now throughout the remainder of the summer season.

JOBS participant has a GPA of 4.0

Cassie M. Bowling, JOBS participant, had a grade point average of 4.0 at Prestonsburg Community College.

She is interested in getting a job at this time; but if this does not work out, she might return to college classes. Bowling received a certificate of achievement from her case manager, Barbara Crider.

In Loving Memory of Lawrence Newsome

Who passed away July 9, 1991

It has only been three years, it seems a lifetime. We all miss you more as each day passes. Lawrence, since you left us we lost your daddy, Darling Newsome on February 7, 1994 and then tragedy struck again, we lost your brother Michael on June 9, 1994. The memories of each of you will always hold very special places in our hearts. Your life was so short, only 30 years. And now you're packing up the dreams that God planted, in the fertile soil of you. I can't believe the hopes He's granted means a chapter in your life is through. But we'll keep you close as always. It won't even seem you're gone. Because our hearts, in big and small ways, will keep the love that keeps us strong. Though it's hard to let you go, into our Father's hands you've gone. Our faith will keep us strong, until God calls us home.

Sadly missed by your loving family and friends

Protect yourself and your children from violence. Call someone who can help. 886-6025 (Floyd County) 1-800-649-6605 (Outside Floyd Co.)

COFFEE ON THE GROUNDS
AND GAMES IN THE SKIES

There is a group of men in Riverside, California, who enjoy a daily ritual of discussing topics over coffee. They are no different than millions of other people throughout the world who gather each morning under similar circumstances. But what makes this group particularly interesting to me is that they read my column. (Somehow I feel as if I know what the main topic of discussion is right now. Particularly in California.)

From what I understand, they are a faithful bunch. And I don't mind saying that it makes me feel special to know that this group of distinguished men find anything in my column worthy of one of their intellectual discussions. Especially when I take the liberty of bashing males, lamenting over my son, grandchildren and dog, Butch, who took another bullet, and survived once again to howl about it.

Riverside, California, is not foreign to me. It is the home of Cleveland Indians relief pitcher, Eric and Billie Plunk (Billie is a Paintsville native). It's also the home of Indiana Pacer Reggie Miller, who as far as I know did not marry anybody from Eastern Kentucky. It's a small world, isn't it?

And before you think my column is being printed in the Riverside paper, I am friends with a person in the group, who shall remain nameless at his request, and who subscribes to one of the Eastern Kentucky papers.

The man is a transplanted Eastern Kentuckian, but he has managed to combine his sensible mountain upbringing with a smattering of west coast new age. Add this to his worldly knowledge and wisdom, and you've got a man who can find humor in almost anything, even an earthquake. And because of my friend's vivid description of each member of the group, I feel as if I know each one of them personally. Which brings me to my real question: "Since we're so close, could I borrow a couple of hundred till payday? I want to start a 'Soccer' team."

Just kidding, guys. Thanks for the support.

My sister, Melinda, recently flew on one of those new econoline airlines. All the ads touted it as being one of the best and cheapest lines to fly, but like everything else there was a catch.

"It was a nightmare," my sister remarked bluntly. "We hadn't been in the air ten minutes when I had to go to the bathroom."

"What's so bad about that?" I asked my 6 feet tall sibling.

"I couldn't fit inside the bathroom. I could wash my hands if I didn't mind leaving the door open."

"A little cramped, heh?" "Let's put it this way. There were two seats on each side of the aisle; the seats on my side were both Seat 5. I would have considered it only a minor inconvenience if it hadn't been for the turbulence."

"Scary flight?" "We were hitting some air pockets. After one nearly threw me out of my seat, the stewardess said, 'Let's all play a game.' Now, I don't know if you've ever experienced turbulence, but that's not my favorite time to start playing Jeopardy."

"You're not serious?" "I think a more reputable airline would have found a better way to amuse its passengers other than engaging the frightened group in a panicky game of 'Guess the Stewardess' Name."

Needless to say, nobody guessed her name, but one

THE TIMES' WEEKEND Extra

Kiya Heartwood

Kentucky's own Kiya Heartwood, who leads Stealin Horses, has a voice and style all her own.

Come home to the hills

The spotlight will shine on Southern Culture on the Skids at this year's 4TH ANNUAL HILLBILLY NATION CELEBRATION.

This star-studded concert will feature five big bands with roots digging deep into mountain traditions. The gates open at 4 pm, with music beginning at 5 pm, Saturday, July 16, at the Wise County Fair Grounds, Wise, Virginia.

Making their first appearance in this area, Southern Culture on the Skids features a unique blend of roots, psychobilly, blues, and rock. This North Carolina band got thumbs up in a recent Rolling Stone review of their latest CD, Ditch Diggin. "Pass the 'shine and hide the livestock,'" says College Music Journal which places SCOTS latest CD in its Radio Top 150. They have been called a crossbreed of the B-52's and the Beverly Hillbillies.

The stellar line-up continues with the country/urban Blues Masters, The Metro Blues All-Stars. A long-time favorite in these parts, these boys play a rich mixture of songs by Carl Perkins, Muddy Waters, and their own impressive original tunes. Just try to sit still while these hard driving and individually outstanding musicians are on the stage. The smokey bump 'n grind groove is laced "with silver threads of integrity as they sew traditional country lyrical cadence into a quilt of contemporary blues."

Riding in with the country flavor will be Kentucky's own Kiya Heartwood and Stealin Horses. Kiya is a country girl with a rock and roll attitude, all original songs, and a hot new lineup in her band. Her voice and style is all her own, ranging from new folk to high energy country rock, with an edge that crosses the border. On lead guitar is Donny Roberts, better known as the "twangler" from his eight years on the road with Webb Wilder. This band defies categorization, but satisfies all kinds of tastes. Sharing the bill with the Flying Burrito Brothers and Chris LeDoux is Kiya and her band who break all the rules.

Rounding out this year's festivities are two well known and much in demand bands from opposite sides of Pine Mountain. Bad Branch is a trio of versatile musicians who play country, folk, blue grass, honky-tonk and rockabilly. Much of their show is original tunes that reflect the stories and rhythms of their lives in the hills of Eastern Kentucky.

The Possum Hollers are veteran performers from the Virginia side of the border. They declare, "Anybody can be a Possum," and their repertoire consists of a mixed bag of obscure classics and tongue-in-cheek originals. They just may convince you to be a possum too.

Tickets for the event may be purchased for $16 at Long John silvers in Martin and at all locations of Sam 'n Tonios.

The Metro Blues All-Stars

The Metro Blues All-Stars is one of the best blues bands in the country. Former Pike Countian Rodney Hatfield, who has been called the best harmonica player in the country by the Tallahassee Democrat, is a member of the band.

PEOPLE WITH TOO MUCH TIME ON THEIR HANDS

— The Cuban fashion designer Manolo debuted a collection with a metal motif at an April show in New York City, inspired by and largely made from scraps gathered at the Brooklyn Bridge. One outfit featured a steel wool jumper worn underneath a metallic vest and a spiked-metal cummerbund-type "muff." Shoes featured metal suspension wires connecting heel and toe.

— According to a Baltimore Sun feature in April, Japan's newest museum is the $34 million structure in Yokohama dedicated to ramen, the Japanese spaghetti-like noodle. The building draws 7,000 people a day who wait up to two hours in line.

— Farm Show magazine reported recently on an archaeological group that specializes in digging at the sites of old outhouses. The National Privy Diggers Association, of Mechanicsville, Va., prefers urban outhouses to farm-based ones because city folk often threw their discards — such as buttons, wine bottles and other glassware, false teeth, watches and dolls — into outhouse pits.

— In June, the first official World Toe-Wrestling Championship was held in Derbyshire, England. Contestants place one foot on the floor, lock big toes, and try to force the top of the other person's foot down, similar to arm wrestling.

— The Associated Press reported in April on a middle-aged man who anonymously runs the Apology Line telephone service in New York City. Callers can express regrets for anything bothering them, or can listen to tape recordings of others' apologies and comment on them. A "Greatest Hits" tape is for sale to help finance the service.

— In April, shortly after the Texas Tech University student newspaper featured freshman Kirk DeVore's body containing 25 Mickey Mouse tattoos, Jim Jones, 41, of Spring Hill, Fla., showed a reporter his 340-pound body that sported 117 Disney-oriented tattoos, the largest of which is Cinderella's castle, on his back. Jones estimates he has spent 72 hours under the needle for his collection.

GREAT ART

— Reviewing a body of art by minimalist Richard Serra in November (of which "Well Wrought," a large drawing consisting only of a black rectangle within a white square, was typical), the Los Angeles Times critic described the work as known for its "inflexible austerity, unyielding impenetrability and stubborn bombast." Also, the work was described as "sensuous, exquisite and delicate" and "extremely weighty, grave, authoritative" and "of fugitive beauty."

Real role models are close to home

My, my, we're in a blue funk. Shocked. Dismayed. Disappointed. Unbelieving. Another "role model" has fallen.

This one was so valuable, too—a successful, articulate, up-by-the-bootstraps, personable, rich, handsome black man who ran through airports with the same grace and ease with which he negotiated the football field.

This one has fallen farther than most. On a list of transgressions, a capital murder charge is considerably more serious than spouse abuse, sexual deviancy, adultery, drunk driving, sexual harassment, drug abuse, rape, fraud, unwed parenthood, telling racist jokes, breaking up the furniture or anything else you can name.

So we've fallen into a general lamentation: What's happening to our heroes? How are our children going to find role models in a world like this?

The problem with these questions is that they are based on an entirely misguided premise. The real answers are: (1) Something awful has happened to us that we choose the wrong heroes, and (2) Our children can find plenty of good role models if they look in the right place.

Today's "role models" are a product of the times, and this is the television age. There is nothing inherently wrong with television, but it requires more of us than we have been willing to do.

The camera itself does as well as it can—it focuses but gives no perspective. What it shows is what you get, and that can be a distortion.

So much depends on the receiver—and that's you, me and the millions who tune in. We just have to be smart enough to realize we aren't getting the whole picture, and we must help our children understand.

Because we've gotten lazy—just taking in the messages without much thought of our own—we've come to confuse celebrity with something important. Yet it's all image. Smoke and mirrors. Unsubstantial. Unreal.

Sometimes the image is deliberately crafted by shrewd public-relations experts or slick advertising and promotional campaigns. Sometimes it takes on a life of its own, raising unreasonable expectations of perfectly imperfect human beings. It is rarely real or deep.

Then, too, society doesn't put value on what it says its values are. Is it any wonder children are puzzled? Movie stars are rich and glamorous. People who play games with balls pull in megabucks and live high. All of them become eligible for an exclusive club—making commercials or endorsements—so they can sell us more of a lot of things we don't need.

And the rest of us? We fall in step. We'll fill the stadium for the pro game, while the teacher who works on her own to put on the school science fair can't draw a respectable crowd—and is struggling to make the mortgage.

Charles Barkley was right. He isn't a role model. He doesn't want anything to do with being a role model and it shouldn't be forced upon him. He's a basketball player, and apparently a pretty good one, and all the public—and his teammates and the team's owners—have a right to expect that he play every game as well as he can.

For sure, Charles Barkley isn't a role model.

A wise friend says we—as a nation—are just spoiled rotten. We have generations who've never known real hardship or real work. He's right, and there's more. We mistake the trappings of success for the real thing.

Riches, fame, glamour, beauty, big houses, fancy cars,

WISHES...

Happy birthday wishes go to Ed Howell (formerly of Martin now in Michigan), an avid fisherman. Ed turned 77 this past Tuesday. Happy birthday, Ed.

A belated happy birthday greeting to Robert Tussey of Martin. The old boy turned the big 5-0 this past Tuesday. Happy birthday, Robert.

A happy birthday wish to my good buddy Seth Crisp. Seth will celebrate his special day this coming Sunday. Happy birthday, Seth.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER...

Where has time gone?

It seems that we just started summer and now we are about to face the fall season and that means football.

High school football practice begins on August 1 and the first grid-o-rama will be played August 13.

The regular season kicks off August 26 when South Floyd travels to Magoffin County. Betsy Layne and Prestonsburg open in bowl games on Saturday, August 27.

It should be a good year in high school football. The grade school season will open in early August with the elementary conference that was such a big success last season.

Pop Warner Football will begin its third season in Prestonsburg. The folks at Allen Central are looking to start their own Pop Warner League.

Allen Central and Betsy Layne are coming off banner seasons. South Floyd will be looking for its first win at the new school. Prestonsburg, well what can you say that hasn't already been said. The Blackcats will be a very strong team this season despite losing so much talent from last year's state team.

The coming fall season promises to be a full one. I'm excited about the new football season.

ALL-STAR TOURNAMENTS...

There is still plenty of good baseball left during the month of July. All-Star tournaments are being played now in Paintsville. The Senior League, Little League and 9-10-year-olds started last Tuesday.

The Floyd County Babe Ruth 15-year-olds' tournament will be played at the Allen Park beginning next Tuesday. The 13-year-olds will play at Knott County this weekend and the 14-year-olds will be in Johnson County later next week.

SCRUGGS LEAVES PIKEVILLE...

One of the nicest persons that you would ever want to meet will be pulling up stakes and moving to the land of Davy Crockett — Tennessee.

Pikeville head coach Rick Scruggs will depart the Bears den and head to Milligan College in Tennessee as head basketball coach.

We wish him and his family well.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Don't forget to take the kids to Sunday School this Sunday.

lead All-Stars
at the plate

by Ed Taylor

Grant Castle tossed a nifty two-hitter while Jon May and Jesse Compton starred at the plate in Prestonsburg's 7-0 win over Paintsville Wednesday evening at the Paintsville Park.

The two teams met in the second round of the Senior League 13-year-old All-Star Tournament.

Prestonsburg will await the winner between Morgan County and Paintsville in determining the championship.

Castle, who started with his pitches high, settled down and was almost untouchable the rest of the way. He allowed a fifth inning single to Ryan Fairchild in the fifth inning and gave up a double to Gilkerson in the sixth.

Third baseman Compton collected two doubles for Prestonsburg and May had two hits in the win. Compton drove in two runs with his double in the third inning.

Prestonsburg took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Seth Crisp reached on an error with one out in the inning. He stole second and third before scoring on Dustin Crisp's RBI single. Crisp stole second, but was left stranded when Kalen Harris grounded to first.

Prestonsburg extended its lead to 5-0 with four in the third inning. Castle singled to start the inning and Crisp was safe for the second time on an error at shortstop and moved to second on a catcher's error.

After Adam Hall struck out, May singled Grant and Crisp home for a 3-0 score. May stole second and third. He came home when Harris was safe on an error at shortstop. Compton then doubled Harris home to make it 5-0.

Castle retired Paintsville in order in the second and third innings as he set down eight in a row before walking David Castle with one out in the fourth. He walked Gilkerson with two out, but he got out of the inning, getting Blackburn to ground out to second.

Prestonsburg added its final two runs in the fourth inning on a walk to Castle, a one-out walk to Hall and May's second base hit of the game. Castle, in going the distance, allowed no runs on two hits. He fanned six and walked two.

David Castle suffered the loss for Paintsville in seven innings. Castle yielded seven runs on seven hits. He struck out eight and walked no one.

Prestonsburg defeated Morgan County in a come-from-behind effort in their first game of the tournament.

Morgan County owned a 7-1 lead entering the sixth inning. Hall, who pitched for Prestonsburg, led off the sixth with a double and scored when May doubled him home.

Dustin Crisp singled home May and with two out, Bentley had a RBI single and Nathan Leslie was hit-by-a-pitch. Castle's bouncer to second went for an error allowing the fifth run to score making it a 7-6 game.

Hall retired Morgan County in order in the bottom of the sixth inning and Prestonsburg exploded for six runs in the top of the seventh to put the game in the win column.

Hall walked to open the Prestonsburg seventh and stole second. One out later, Dustin Crisp lined a single to score Hall and tie the game at seven. Harris drew a walk on a 3-2 pitch. Wright then issued a walk to Compton to load the bases.

Crisp was forced home with the

Hall four-hits Beaver Creek
Red in HAP 3-2 All-Star win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

You will have to go a long way and wait a long time to view a Little League game like the one displayed when Harold-Allen-Prater (HAP) faced Beaver Creek Red in Tuesday night's second game at the Paintsville Little League Complex.

HAP scored an unearned run in the top of the fourth inning and held off a late Beaver Creek run to take home a 3-2 win and advance in the Area 2 Little League Tournament.

Kris Hall, with an awkward wind up, kept Beaver off stride at the plate and held them to only four hits in picking up the win. Hall went the distance for HAP and fanned 11 batters while walking two.

Counterpart John Mullins was equally impressive as he went the full six innings. He struck out 10 batters and walked four, allowing six hits.

HAP pushed home what proved to be the winning run in the fourth when Josh Kidd reached on an error at shortstop by Ryan Shannon. Jonathan Howell walked and both runners moved up on a Mullins' wild pitch. Kidd then came in to score when Mullins' throw in the dirt eluded catcher Byron Hall.

Beaver Creek trailed 1-0 after HAP batted in the first. Scott Collins reached first when he was safe on a fielder's choice play. Jonathan Howell, who singled, was forced at second on the play. Tyler Puckett walked and Fred Gray lined a base hit to center to score Collins for the HAP lead.

HAP extended the lead to 2-0 with a single run in the top of the third. The run was unearned as Gray, who was safe on an error at third base, scored on a passed ball. Beaver Creek had three errors in the inning. Howell singled but was left stranded for HAP.

After HAP scored in the fourth to lead 3-0, Beaver Creek got on the scoreboard in the bottom of the fourth on a two-run double off the bat of Patrick Martin. Kyle Tackett singled and Jeremy Hayes walked with two out before Martin's hit. Martin was left on base when Nick King fanned to end the inning.

Mullins retired HAP in order in the fifth and put together a great effort in the sixth when HAP threatened.

Howell was safe on an error at second base in a bad throw that allowed Howell to move to second. Aaron Swiger singled to right center and both runners moved up a base on a wild pitch.

Mullins got Howell on strikes before Kidd bounced to Shannon at short. Shannon came home with the ball and nailed a sliding Howell as Hall blocked the plate. Mullins then struck out Jonathan Howell to end the inning.

At their final at bat Beaver Creek got a two-out single from Kyle Tackett, but Hall got Hayes swinging to end the game.

Kyle Tackett finished with two hits for Beaver Creek and Jonathan Howell collected two hits for HAP.

Martin had the only extra base hit with his fourth inning double.

HAP will face the winner of the Morgan/Martin county game on Saturday at noon.

Brandon Huff collected three hits and Matthew Bailey drilled two three run home runs to back up the three hit pitching of Brandon Shepherd as Magoffin County defeated a good Wheelwright team 11-5.

The two teams met in the first game of the 11-12-year-old Little League All-Star Tournament being played at Paintsville.

Shepherd struck out 14 batters, but he walked an equal number in picking up the win.

James Slone suffered the setback for Wheelwright in going the first three innings. Slone fanned three, but issued five base on balls. He hit one batter.

Shepherd not only hurled Magoffin County past Wheelwright, but also added some power by belting a two-run home run in the third inning that gave Magoffin County the lead for good at 5-3.

Wheelwright had taken a 3-0 lead in the first inning on a two run single by Charlie Williams and three errors.

B J. Bryant and Dusty Tackett scored on Williams' single. He scored the third run when the ball was misplayed in center field and he rounded third on an errant throw to third base.

Magoffin County had threatened to score in the first on two one-out singles by Huff and Nicholas Arnett. Bailey walked to load the bases with just one out. But Chad Basham hit a dribbler in front of the plate and catcher PJ. Cox pounced on the ball, tagged the plate and threw to first to complete the twin killing.

Jason Black doubled over the head of left fielder Brandon Kohler in the second inning to score two runs. He came on to score on Huff's RBI single to tie the game at three.

Bailey added to an already 5-3 Magoffin County lead with a blast over the left field fence scoring Huff and Arnett ahead of him. He gave his team an 11-5 lead with his second three-run round tripper of the game in the fifth.

Wheelwright added two runs in the bottom of the fourth as Bryant and Tackett scored on a sacrifice fly. They left the sacks full in the second and sixth innings, failing to take advantage of Shepherd's wildness.

Wheelwright collected only three hits in the game with Bryant, Williams and Cox getting hits.

Shepherd fanned the side in order in the fifth inning. Wheelwright committed four errors in the game and had one double play. Magoffin County left seven base runners stranded and was guilty of three errors. They had nine hits in the contest.

Williams, in a good outing, pitched the final three innings for Wheelwright. He allowed three runs on just two hits. He struck out seven and walked two.

Johnson no-hits Wright in Floyd County Babe Ruth

Betsy Layne's Craig Johnson fired a no-hit shutout over Wheelwright in Babe Ruth action recently.

Johnson missed a perfect game when he walked a batter in the first and fifth innings. Nick Little drew a base on balls in the first inning and Johnson walked a batter to start the fifth. However, he picked off the base runner.

After the walk to Little, Johnson set down 11 straight in his team's 15-0 mercy win.

Betsy Layne exploded for seven runs in the first inning and plated eight in the second.

Johnson had two hits in the game, including a first inning triple. Brent Tackett doubled home Johnson and Tom Taulbee tripled behind Tackett. Shannon Slope and Shawn Deskins collected RBI singles. Jacob Skeens had a two-out run producing single and Ronnie Kidd, batting for the second time in the inning, singled home a run.

go ahead run when Wright failed to find the plate against Bentley. Eddie Gardner then lined a base hit to left scoring Harris and Compton. After Castle walked, Seth Crisp did the damage with a two run double and a 12-7 Prestonsburg lead.

Hall walked the lead off batter to start the bottom of the seventh, but then retired the next three to secure the win.

Morgan County had taken an 1-0 lead in the first and Prestonsburg tied the game at one in the third when Castle walked and scored on Seth Crisp's base hit.

Morgan County dented the plate six times in the fifth to assume a 7-1 advantage.

Seth Crisp had three hits in the game including a double. Dustin Crisp collected two hits and scored two runs.

Hall picked up the win in a route going outing. He struck out seven batters and allowed just four hits.

Prestonsburg will play in the championship game tonight (Friday) at 5:30 p.m. against the winner of the Paintsville/Morgan County game.

Rifles fall hard to Zanesville 13-5; promotion nights set

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Kentucky Rifles suffered perhaps their hardest defeat Tuesday night when they fell to the Zanesville Greys 13-5.

What made the loss so devastating was the manner in which they lost. The Rifles owned a 5-4 lead over the Greys entering the ninth inning. The first two batters were retired and all reliever Mitch Deskins had to do was get one more out.

Instead the Greys reached Deskins for three hits to tie the game at five and send the game into extra innings.

Sean Brown, who suffered the loss, pitched the 10th inning, but was hit hard as Zanesville scored eight times in the inning to take the game 13-5.

Scott Patrick had relieved starter Alex Roth, who was wild through the seven plus innings he pitched. Roth kept his team close despite his wildness. Patrick pitched flawless baseball over two and a third innings, not allowing a hit and fanning two.

The defeat took the edge off a magnificent offensive night for third baseman Billy Brice, who hit two home runs to take over the league leadership with four round trippers. Brice had three RBIs in the game.

The Rifles will conclude their four game series with the Greys tonight at the W.C. Hambley Athletic Complex.

Rifle Shots:

• The Rifles started newly acquired Tom Froning against the Greys Wednesday night. Froning pitched for the University of Kentucky and for the Beloit Braves in the Milwaukee organization.

• For four straight days the Rifles will be giving away fantastic prizes to fans at each Rifles' games that remain on the 10-game homestand.

The "Four Days of Fortune" promotion began Thursday night and runs through the Rifles game against Ohio Valley on Sunday afternoon. Each night some fan will win a valuable prize.

Thursday night was Dizzy Discman Night. Eight contestants were drawn to compete in the dizzy bat race. The winner received a Sony Discman.

Tonight (Friday) is WZLK New Orleans Night. Eight contestants will compete in the Water Balloon toss contest. The winner will receive a three-day two-night stay in New Orleans with airfare.

Class Act remains undefeated with 9-7 win over Top Guns

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

A class act!

That's what the Class Act women's softball team appears to be as it won its 14th regular season game with a 9-7 win over another top team in the Top Guns.

Class Act leads the women's softball league in the Archer Park League with a 14-0 record.

A two-run sixth gave the league leaders a two-run cushion going into the top of the seventh inning. The Top Guns left two runners on base in the top of the seventh. Bridgett Clay singled with one out and Loretta Tackett had a two-out single.

Denise Justice opened the bottom of the sixth for Class Act with a walk and Traci Vicars collected a one-out single, scoring Justice. Vicars came home with an insurance run on Gloria Mullins' fielder's choice.

Class Act took a 3-1 lead after the first inning, pushing home three runs in the bottom of the frame. Cheryl Preston, who had three hits in the game, doubled to start the first. She scored on an error off the bat of Kathy Montgomery. Montgomery came home on a two-out single by D.C. Frazier. Mullins scored her with a base hit.

The Top Guns were blanked over the next three innings and scored twice in the fifth. Jamie Clay had a RBI single in the inning. Tammy Davis also singled for the Top Guns.

Class Act rallied two runs in the fifth to lead 7-3 over the Top Guns. April Stephens scored Mullins and Tackett with a two run single.

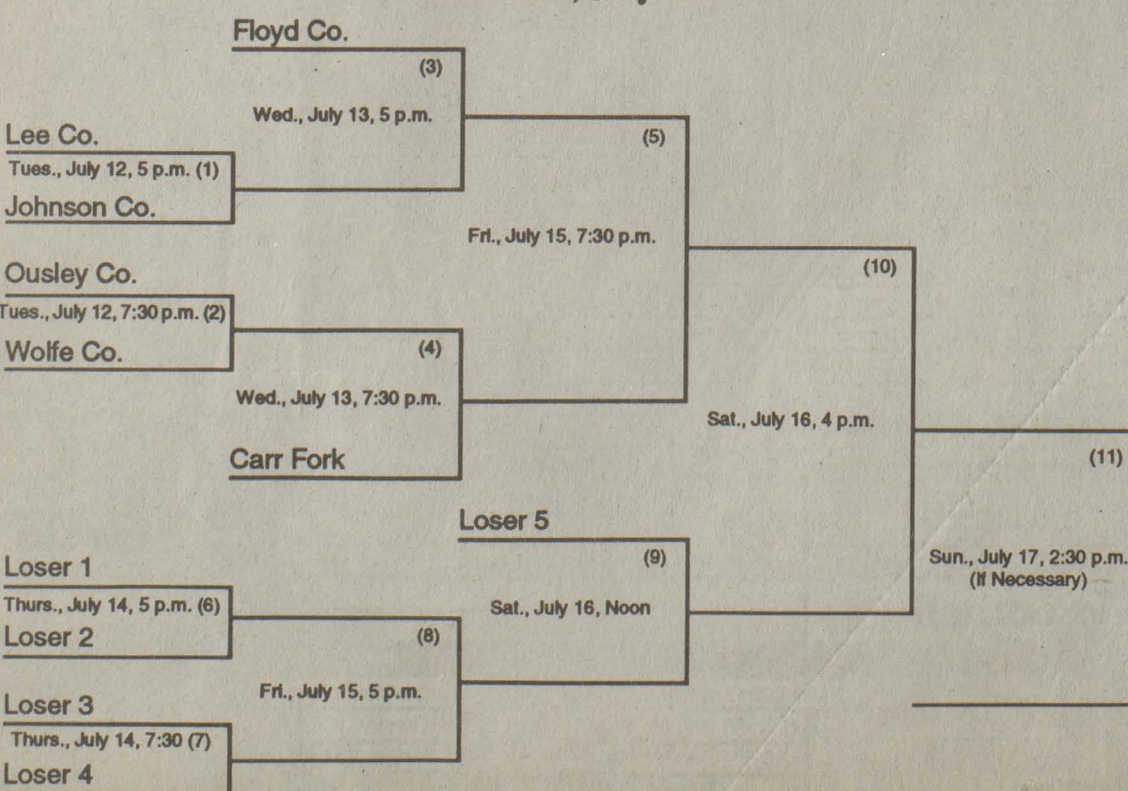

In the four-run sixth for the Top Guns, two Class Act errors opened the door for a 7-7 game. Michelle Tackett and Loretta Tackett reached on errors at third and shortstop. Traci Meade roped a single scoring both runners and she came in on a RBI single by Davis.

Meade and Davis, along with Jamie Clay, had two hits each for the Top Guns.

Mullins, Stephens and Frazier collected two hits each for Class Act. Class Act had 12 hits in the game.

Grill Of My Dreams (NAPS)—Without much effort you can dream hundreds of recipes for your next outdoor barbecue that will stretch your grilling repertoire beyond the familiar burgers, steaks, and occasional chicken breast.

A new cookbook shows you how to cover the grill and uncover a great way of grilling.

According to noted cookbook author, Melanie Barnard, "Covered grills combine range top and oven cooking with fantastic taste, minimum time and fuss, and practically no clean up." Barnard is the author of The Best Covered And Kettle Grills Cookbook Ever (HarperCollins, $16.95).

Barnard is a firm believer that almost anything can be cooked on a covered grill—and will be juicier and more flavorful. She offers a wide range of recipes from Grilled Sesame Chicken Tidbits with Sweet and Sour Dipping Sauce to Grilled Broccoli and Potatoes with Beer Cheese Fondue to Grilled Moroccan Lamb and Couscous Salad.

The book, which is available at bookstores everywhere, is also the perfect resource book to answer all of your questions on grills and smokers.
