Inmates are on the loose at Wheelwright

And they're lending a hand in an effort to revitalize Floyd coal town

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

After getting off to a rocky start, Otter Creek Correctional Center representatives and Wheelwright city officials are working together on several community development projects, saving the city thousands of dollars.

Earlier this year, three separate instances of inmates walking away from the minimum security prison left some people wondering if locating the prison in their community was such a good idea.

The eight inmates who escaped on the different occasions were all recaptured and transferred from the facility.

The installation of a 19-foot fence around the facility appears to have halted the walk away problem for now and inmates have been working in the Wheelwright community on a variety of projects.

At present, prisoners are working to complete a walking track and park behind the old clubhouse. County officials provided the blacktop for the track and the lumber to build two small bridges over a drainage ditch.

The walking track isn't the only project inmates have worked on. Crews from Otter Creek have also worked at the Family Resource Center park; sand blasted the city swimming pool; helped with the construction of the new city hall building and the fire department building; and worked on a park in Hall Hollow.

Wheelwright Mayor David Marlee Sammons said the work done by the prisoners has been a godsend to the city.

"The prison is the best thing that's happened to this town," Sammons said Wednesday. "The work they (the prisoners) have done has saved this city thousands of dollars. I can't say enough good things about the prison and the people that run it."

Michael Cooper, the new deputy director of Otter Creek, said Wednesday that the "good and the bad" are part of the whole picture when a prison locates in a community.

"We had some walk offs, it happens," Cooper said. "But now we are the only minimum security prison in the state with a fence around it. The good things—like working on projects for the community—are also part of what we do. We want to be a part of the town and do community service projects."

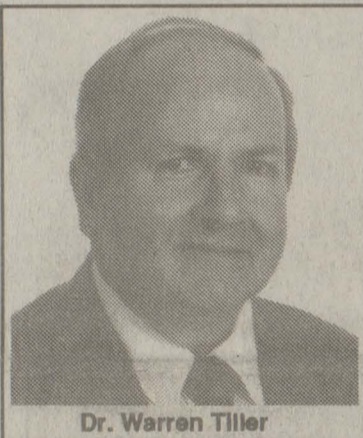

Although inmates at Otter Creek are serving time for crimes they committed, the prison offers them a chance to better their lives through education. Three Prestonsburg Community College instructors—Mazola Sammons, Carolotta Shannon and Floyd Davis—are teaching courses in introduction to business.

Dr. Warren Tiller

New dean will wear many hats

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

Dr. Warren Parker Tiller's thirty years experience as an educator, mostly in Eastern Kentucky, has ranged from being a teacher in a one-room school to college professor to superintendent of an independent school system.

Last week Dr. Tiller began a new phase in his career when he assumed the role as dean of Mountain Christian Academy (MCA) in Martin. He replaces Sister Monica, who recently left the head position at the 11-year-old private, inter-denominational school to further her education.

The 52-year-old native of Wise County, Virginia has the credentials the academy's board of directors were looking for. As dean, Tiller functions as both principal and superintendent (See Dean, page two)

Water woes continue to drain Martin finances

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Money woes in the water department continue to plague Martin city officials and they are scrambling to find a way to make the system financially solvent.

A large debt to the city of Prestonsburg for water and mounting delinquent accounts are putting the system in dire financial straits and city officials are trying to get a handle on the situation.

At Wednesday's city council meeting, council cut short discussions on a rate increase for water service suggested by Mayor Raymond Griffith. Instead, council wants to get a detailed financial account of the water department's finances and proposed changing the billing cycle.

Councilman Everett Akers was upset that officials are unable to get detailed information from the city water department.

"We need to get somebody in there to tell us what's going on. We need to hire somebody to do it, even if it means cutting the clerk's hours back. We have to if we're going to make it."

Akers reported that the city owes over $11,000 to Prestonsburg for water.

Council has been trying to get the past due account to Prestonsburg paid for several months. They voted to pay the debt in May, but there was not enough money in the water department's account to pay the bill.

Councilwoman Hazel Robinson asked Mayor Griffith what was happening to the water department's finances.

"How does it get this way?" Robinson asked. "What is happening to the money? It's not right. It's getting worse all the time. I'd hate to raise people's water (bill)."

Mayor Griffith replied that he did not know what was happening in the water department, but added that something needed to be done.

"It ain't going to get no better if something ain't done," Griffith said. "There has got to be some changes made if we're going to make it."

Some issues unsettled in suit against county board

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Apparently all the claims made in a federal lawsuit filed against the Floyd County Board of Education by three employees last June were not dismissed Monday.

U.S. District Judge Joseph Hood dismissed claims of alleged due process violations against three board members and superintendent Steve Towler, but did not dismiss the claims of alleged First Amendment violations against the entire board and Towler.

Pete Grigsby Jr., Tommy Thompson and Wayne Ratliff sued the board last year after their jobs were eliminated under a district-wide reorganization plan. The three claimed that their due process rights were violated

When construction is finished on a new sewage treatment plant, city officials will be faced with repaying a loan of over $1 million. In order to do that, the city's water and sewer departments will have to be on solid financial ground.

Thousands of dollars in outstanding water bills are owed to the city and the mayor held out very little hope that those monies can be collected.

"People are not paying their bill and that they were being retaliated against because of their political affiliations.

Judge Hood dismissed constitutional due process claims against former board members Hattie Owens and Robert Isaac and current member Brent Clark. The due process claims are pending against board member Eddie Patton and former board member Eddie Billips.

State claims of alleged due process violations remain pending against the board members and Towler. Also pending against the board and Towler are the alleged claims of First Amendment violations.

During a preliminary hearing Wednesday in Pikeville, Judge Hood indicated he would set a trial date soon on the pending issues.

Runaway boat runs circles around rescuers

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

In nonstop action that would rival any wild west rodeo — on water — area emergency agencies gave chase to a runaway boat Monday night on Dewey Lake.

The action began almost with tragedy when Willis Thomas, 43, of Prestonsburg, fell out of his boat and into Dewey Lake somewhere between the boat dock and the dam between 6:30 and 7 p.m. Thomas told Floyd County Sheriff deputies that a wave from a passing boat had thrown him off balance. Thomas was holding onto the boat seat and, when he fell overboard, the seat went with him.

Thomas managed to avoid being run over by the boat and headed for shore. He swam "halfway across the lake," Lt. Lloyd Powers, with the Sheriff's Department, said. Thomas told deputies that he went underwater three times, and each time he thought he was finished.

Thomas made it to shore, and passersby summoned help.

The Floyd County Sheriff's Department was called to the scene.

Although Thomas was shaken by the incident and told deputies that his life "had been changed," he said he did not need first aid treatment.

His boat, however, posed a potential hazard to numerous fishermen on the lake. The boat was running in a wide circle at about 35-40 miles per hour. Lt. Powers went out on the lake in the Floyd County Rescue Squad's boat piloted by John Hunt, a dispatcher with the Kentucky State Police Pikeville post, to try to stop the craft.

Hunt adjusted the speed of his boat to match the speed of the runaway boat, Powers said. Hunt approached the boat from the outside circle and tried to bring his boat alongside so that Lt. Powers could hit the throttle. Each time he came close to grasping the boat's throttle, Hunt backed off, Powers said. The two continued chasing the boat for about two minutes and gave up. Powers said he would have used a rope to lasso the throttle but he didn't have one.

In the meantime, the Army Corps of Engineers advised the Sheriff's

Sister to donate bone marrow; concert to help fund operation

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

A concert to raise funds for leukemia patient Sheila Jackson of Garrett will be held Tuesday, August 2, at Allen Central High School.

Jackson, who is currently on a mild, oral chemotherapy treatment, is scheduled to undergo bone marrow transplant in Columbia, South Carolina on August 18. Her sister, Lucy Samons, also of Garrett, will donate the bone marrow. Samons is an identical bone marrow match, Jackson said.

She will begin taking massive doses of chemotherapy at the Richland Memorial Hospital, a center for cancer treatment, in Columbia on August 10.

The 37 year-old mother of two, said she has a "40-50 percent chance of being cured."

"That doesn't sound like much," she said, "but it is. I have no chance without it."

Jackson, a nurse, was first diagnosed with Chronic Myelogenous Leukemia (CML) when the doctor she worked for at an Our Lady of the Way clinic recognized her complaints of weakness, tiredness and dizziness as being systems of leukemia. She was also anemic, and her employer, Dr. Abhyankar, a pediatrician who specializes in hematology and oncology, referred his nurse to a hematologist.

Jackson said because her employer recognized her symptoms, she was diagnosed as being in the early stages of CML. "Normally in an adult, 35 and over, by the time CML is found, it is in a much later stage," she said.

But her cancer has been progressing more rapidly than doctors predicted. Because the hospital "plays a big role in the recovery (of the patient)," Jackson said she wanted to decide where her transplant would be done. She researched cancer programs at various cancer treatment centers, and determined that Richland

Memorial Hospital's cancer center in Columbia had the "best up-to-date equipment there is."

She will be in Columbia for 100 days after the transplant, unless there are complications. She will spend two months in the hospital, and then must live near the hospital until the end of November or the first of December.

Because the treatment and the stay in Columbia will place a heavy financial burden on Jackson's family, and because she is no longer able to work, members of her family and her neighbors have organized a benefit concert. The concert begins at 6 p.m. and features Marlow and the Music Company Band and the Cross Country band. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students.

Lucy Samons, left, will donate bone marrow to her sister, Sheila Jackson, who has leukemia. Samons' nine-year-old daughter has been in remission from acute lymphoblastic leukemia for seven years. Jackson is the fourth person in Hoover Hollow to develop leukemia. (photo by Matt McCarty) and these are roles he has performed before, but in a public school setting.

During an interview at the academy this week, Tiller talked about how being dean of a private Christian school brings his experiences as an educator full circle. "I have 30 years experience in education up to this point," he said. "I always wanted to work in a private Christian school setting."

Although born in a coal camp in Buchanan County, Virginia, and later educated in nearby Wise County, Tiller was destined to spend most of his career in Eastern Kentucky. He received his undergraduate degree in history, English, and political science at Pikeville College. He remembers well his first teaching job thirty years ago.

"I began teaching in Pike County at Belcher Hill, a one-room school near Elkhorn City," he reminisced. "Every day I rode across the river in a boat to get to school. I had 17 children...It was a joyful experience teaching children in a one-room school...we had recess together and lunch together."

Tiller taught there for a half a year, and then was transferred to Elkhorn City High School to replace a teacher who was killed in a car accident. The Belcher Hill school was closed and his former students were transferred to Elkhorn Elementary School.

The next few years Tiller held teaching positions at Hellier High School (now Millard High School), and Pikeville High School, then he took time out to obtain a master's in history from Union College in Barbourville. He became an instructor at South Williamson Community College in West Virginia. Three years later he stepped into his first job as an administrator when he became principal at Pikeville High School.

Next, Tiller took on the job of instructional supervisor and federal program director for the Pikeville Independent School District. For 13 years he was in charge of the district's special education program, the Chapter One math and reading programs, and summer programs, as well as other federal programs. During this time, he also earned an education specialist degree in Administration/Supervision from Morehead State University. After a year's leave of absence to study at East Tennessee State University, Tiller earned his Doctorate of Education, a goal he had set for himself when he was a student at Pikeville College. With doctorate in hand, he was hired as superintendent of Jenkins Independent School District, a position he held for four years until his retirement.

Tiller and his wife Ann, live in Pike County and are active members of Pikeville First Baptist Church. The couple has two children, a son who is 26, and a daughter who is 13.

Tiller called his move to Mountain Christian Academy "a career shift." And his administrative style "might be considered in the mold of a coach, rather than one who gives orders," he said. "A coach works with the strength of a team and the

and they move out of the city owing us a big water bill and some of the people that owe us are dead," the mayor said. "I don't know how we can collect them."

Councilmen Alan Whicker and Steve Jenkins suggested that water bills be mailed out before the first of each month. Jenkins said that if people received their bills during that time, the city was more likely to receive payment. Council also wanted to start doing their own billing rather than having it done by the Big Sandy Area Development District.

Council asked ADD representative Bob Lewandowski to find out how much it would cost to purchase a computer program which would allow them to do the monthly billing.

Council also mulled over the idea of having a management audit of the city's water and sewer offices. They made no decision on the audit.

Council will address the issue again at their July 27 meeting.

In other business Wednesday:

- council asked policeman Jim Stone to get quotes for a new police radio system;

- council agreed to advertise for a temporary class two operator for the city sewer system to replace Bill Hackworth, who is on a medical leave of absence; and Barry Risner who he is on a one-week vacation;

- council voted to hire James Douglas Adams II as city attorney; and
- council voted to send a letter to the Kentucky State Police post at Pikeville asking why the state police are regularly conducting roadblocks at the twin bridges;

Councilman Denzil Halbert was absent from Wednesday's meeting.

Adams council to meet

The Adams Middle School Council will meet in regular session on July 18, at 7 p.m., in the school library. The public is invited to attend.

cause of the overall program and helps individuals with weaknesses and helps them improve.

"I'd also like to be like a cheerleader, and tell good things about the institution and spread the word about the success of the teachers and the students."

One "good thing" that Tiller is already spreading the word about is the academy's 1993-94 Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) test results. Based on average test scores, the academy's students ranked in the top one-third of elementary students in the United States in basic subjects — language arts, spelling, math, reading, social studies and science.

The new dean said the major appeal of the school is "that it provides a solid education for students in a Christian atmosphere. Everything I've heard about the academy is positive and the achievements of the students are exceptional."

One of the goals of the board of directors and Tiller is to increase the academy's enrollment, which was 185 in kindergarten through eighth grade this past spring term; and to convert additional space on the school's two building campus, into classrooms. "We still have openings (for new students) left," he added.

At the board's request, Tiller made a commitment to remain dean of the academy for five years. To reassure the board of his commitment, he said he told them the story about his father's own career shift. "My father taught 28 years and was also a store clerk," he related. "When I got out of high school, he went to law school and was a practicing attorney until he was in his eighties."

If he follows the example of his father, Tiller may be the guiding hand at MCA for years to come.

Department to let the boat run out of gas.

Because the incident happened before dark, no lights were used on the boat, and as nightfall approached, the 2,000 lb. aluminum vessel became a potential "torpedo," said Harry Adams, a member of the Floyd County Rescue Squad. Adams said a heavy fog had also fallen and the boat could not be seen.

Adams and rescue squad captain Dwight Crider decided it was "no good just to sit there and warn other boats away," Adams said.

The two maneuvered their boat toward the circling craft as close as they dared in the fog and the dark. They had to kill the engine of their boat and be within 50 feet of the unmanned boat before they could locate it by the sound of its motor.

They maneuvered the unmanned boat toward a tree branch laying near the top of the water by using the force of the waves created by their boat and other boats in the area. The back end of the boat lodged on the branch, and the vessel was temporarily stopped.

Adams hopped aboard the boat and shut it down. Rumor later spread that Crider had brought the rescue squad boat alongside the circling, out of control boat and Adams had leaped the distance.

Crider and Adams towed the boat to shore around 1 a.m.

Also working the incident were deputies Melvin Rice and Greg Clark, a ranger with the Army Corps of Engineer, and 11 volunteers with the Rescue Squad.

Some Kentuckians may receive higher unemployment benefits

Some Kentuckians who applied for unemployment benefits beginning July 5 may find a little more money in their checks due to a healthy balance in the state Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund.

A sufficient trust fund balance is also welcome news for Kentucky's employers who will be spared higher unemployment insurance taxes as well.

For eligible Kentuckians who filed new claims beginning July 5, the maximum weekly amount increased from $229 to $232 for up to 26 weeks of unemployment compensation. Benefits vary for each eligible applicant.

"The trust fund is healthy and that reflects a growing economy," said Department for Employment Services Commissioner Treva Wright-Donnell. "Steady employment increases build the trust fund and enable the state to pass the benefits along to employers and laid-off Kentuckians."

Kentucky employers also benefit because they will remain in the lowest tax schedule. Unemployment tax rates are set each year based on the trust fund's balance at the end of the previous year.

Since the year-end balance of $390,399,642 did not fall below the designated level of $350 million and the average weekly wage of insured workers increased from $416 in 1992 to $421 in 1993, the state remained in the lowest tax schedule and maximum weekly benefits rose.

Paying lower unemployment insurance taxes can be a large financial benefit for Kentucky's 75,000 employers. Employers pay Unemployment Insurance taxes on the first $8,000 each worker earns per year.

"This is the eighth straight year Kentucky has raised the maximum benefit amount while keeping a low employer tax rate," Wright-Donnell said. "Our projections show Kentucky will continue to stay in the lowest tax rate bracket for at least the next five years, unless we suffer a severe recession."

In 1993 Kentucky averaged 27,288 weekly beneficiaries as compared to a weekly average of 31,582 in 1992. The number of people drawing checks during 1994 has averaged 39,143 for the first five months. The average number of weekly beneficiaries for May of this year was 23,842, compared to an average of 24,304 in May 1993.

"The snow week in February that kept many Kentuckians from working added 80,000 people to the unemployment insurance rolls temporarily to make up that one-week loss in wages," Wright-Donnell said. "But that increase in the average number of beneficiaries during the first five months of 1994 is expected to be absorbed by the end of the year. The average duration of claims is going down, which indicates that people are finding jobs quicker.

"The trust fund balance is continuing to grow. Since May, the trust fund balance has climbed to $398,437,656," she said. "Our projections show that our trust fund balance should reach beyond $500,000,000 in 1998."

"These figures paint a positive picture economically. Our trust fund is healthy, some laid-off workers will get higher benefits and employers will not have higher taxes. That should be good news to everyone."

Collision in space: Live coverage of a comet crash

The Great Comet Crash, airing at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 20, features live coverage, relayed from the Hubble Space Telescope and other satellites, of the collision of Comet Shoemaker-Levy 9 with the planet Jupiter.

The comet has broken up into a 30-kilometer-long string of fragments, but it still packs a wallop: The explosive force to be generated is estimated to be equivalent to 100 million megatons of TNT. This event marks the first time in history that such a collision has been predicted more than a few seconds in advance. No one can predict the ultimate effect on Jupiter.

The Great Comet Crash is produced by WHYY Philadelphia. It will be real time closed-captioned for the hearing-impaired.

PCC offers student health insurance

Consistent with the college's plan to expand health and wellness programs, Prestonsburg Community College is taking a leading role in providing health services to its student body.

Beginning in the 1994 Fall Semester, the college will be offering its students an optional Student Group Health Insurance Plan. While student health insurance plans have been available to students at the University of Kentucky, Prestonsburg Community College will be the first in the state to offer such a plan at the community college level.

PCC's Associate Professor of Nursing Lynn Weddle investigated the possibility of offering an insurance plan to the community college students and, with the invaluable assistance of Dr. Spence Turner and Dr. Jan Hurley, worked hard to put together a plan whereby the community college students would be offered the same coverage as that made available to the students at the University of Kentucky campus.

"At Prestonsburg Community College we are very excited about this new health service that will be offered to our students," Weddle said. "In the past, many of our students have had no form of health insurance. This comprehensive policy is an attempt to address our students' needs and concerns."

Prestonsburg Community College President Deborah L. Floyd supported a local student health insurance plan. "I am delighted that Prestonsburg Community College students will be offered the same access to health insurance that the students on the Lexington campus have," Dr. Floyd said.

The student health policy will be provided by the MegaLife and Health Insurance Company at a cost of $482 per year for single student coverage. Spouse and child coverage can also be obtained at an additional cost. The health insurance policy will be made available to all undergraduate students taking six or more credit hours. To help with student expenses, the student will have the option of paying for the selected plan on an annual, semi-annual or quarterly basis.

Students already have free, unlimited access to an on-campus exercise facility and walking track at Prestonsburg Community College. In addition to providing a student health insurance policy, students may also have access to a new Student Health Clinic as early as the 1995 Spring Semester.

Informational brochures regarding the optional insurance plan are available. For more information or to receive a brochure, call Sandra Osborne at (606) 886-3863 Extension 205.

The horse before the cart

by Scott Perry

Thunder Ridge made a thunderous debut into Eastern Kentucky's tourism economy last week, signalling the start of a new era for our area.

Because it was first to come on line, the track will likely serve as the cornerstone for a diverse future for tourism in this neck of the woods.

This fall, construction will begin on the Mountain Arts Center in Prestonsburg. That facility will complement the race track; Jenny Wiley State Park; and the Jenny Wiley Theatre, giving any visitor to our area a wide variety of entertaining things to do.

Later, we expect a new championship golf course to fill in another piece of the puzzle, making Floyd County and the entire Big Sandy Region a tourist Mecca.

In the past, we tended to put the cart before the horse when it came to promoting our area to tourists.

We'd print brochures inviting those visitors, but then give them very little reason to come.

Our priorities seem to be in order now.

Develop first. Promote later. The best news about all this is that the projects we have in progress now aren't all inclusive.

They'll lead to bigger and better things.

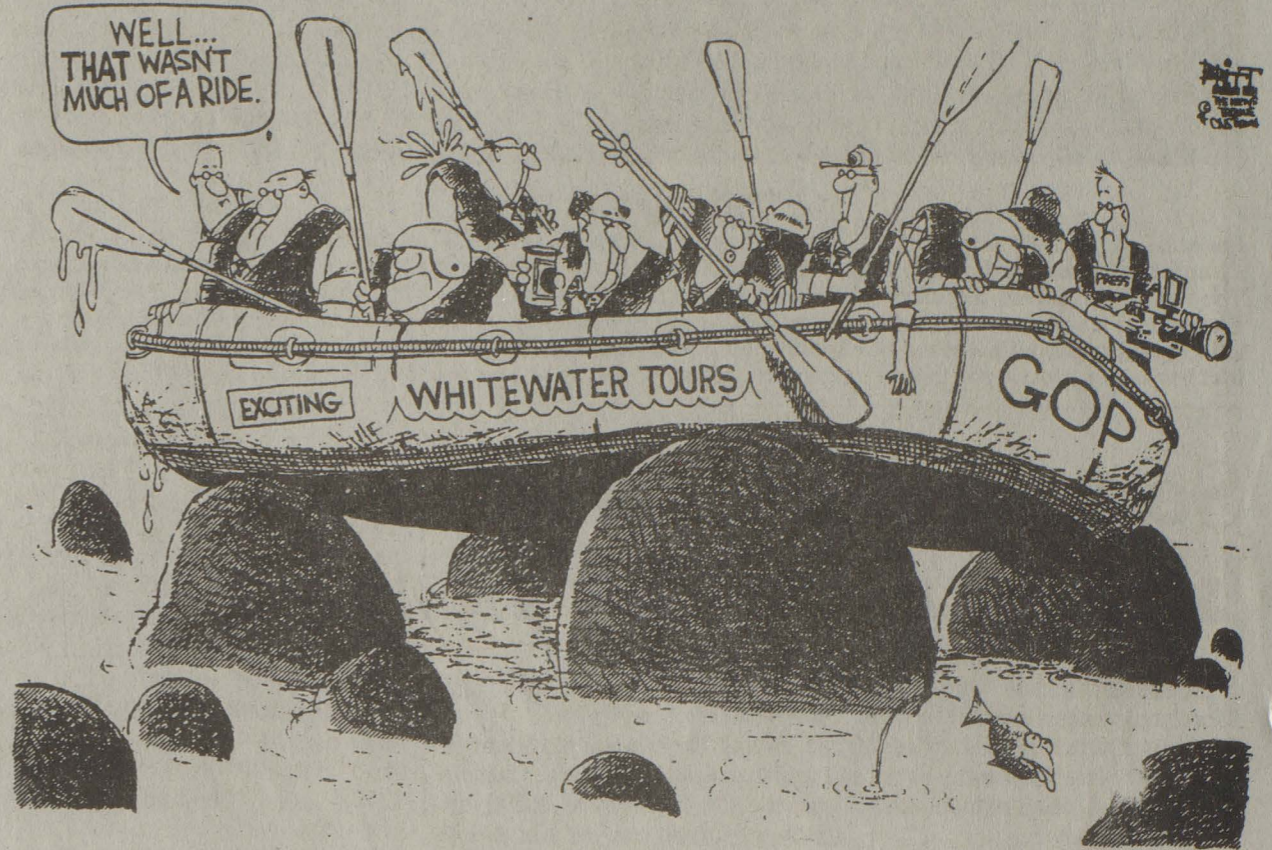

While our tourism economy expands, so too will our commercial base and our potential for industrial development.

To answer the critics who say tourism won't be our salvation, we have two words...

Wanna bet?

This is just the beginning. We have the horse before the cart, and we're racing in the right direction.

Just watch us grow.

A test of greatness —Noah foolin'!

Editor:
Do you know what a big wheel is? A big shot, a man that the world can't do without? I'm sure that you have seen these figures throughout the years: a banker, a judge, a county attorney, a financier, a preacher, a doctor, and, lo and behold, they passed on. And a new figure came along and took their place.

A few weeks later, no one but the immediate family even thought about their passing. Every now and then someone would say, "What happened to old so and so?"

My old pappy at one time gave me the information and the test for greatness, and how important a man can become. My pappy said, "When you get to feeling your oats, you feel that you are really important, take this test for greatness: Draw a bucket of water, then stick your thumb into the water. Pull it out very slowly. If your thumb left a hole, you have become a wheel. You are really important, and everybody will marvel at your passing.

For centuries to come only one man has passed this test for greatness. He passed that test centuries ago. That was Jesus Christ. He is remembered to this day by millions and millions and his name is just as fresh in the minds of believers, as it was in the days of Noah. If you get to feeling your oats, walk down the street and you say to yourself, "Everyone's looking at me," it's time for you to take the test!

Official orders mining decision reviewed

The nation's top mining official has asked Kentucky to review a decision that allowed auger mining under an Eastern Kentucky couple's property without their consent.

Robert Uram, director of the U.S. Office of Surface Mining, announced the review Tuesday in a letter to Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, a statewide citizens group. The group had criticized a decision made June 6 by OSM Deputy Director Ed Kay to allow mining under the Pike County property of Robert and Shelby Dworak.

KFTC members argued that the Dworaks' permission was required before the mining could start. But the state granted Marpike Coal Co. a permit without consent because it wasn't entering the seam on the Dworaks' property.

The state said the portion of the mining under the Dworaks' land was deep mining. In ruling on the couple's complaint, Kay found that federal law was unclear on auger mining and upheld the state's decision.

Uram said he had asked state Natural Resources Secretary Phillip Shepherd and Dave Rosenbaum, commissioner of the state Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement, to "take a second look at how Kentucky is administering the provision of Kentucky law regarding auger mining."

Uram wrote the letter about a week after KFTC members demonstrated at the agency's Lexington office and demanded Kay's decision be overturned.

"Once I have had the benefit of this review, I will decide what further action, if any, OSM will take to respond to your petition," Uram said. "We do not intend to undermine in any way the protections granted in 1988... OSM views the citizens of the coal fields as our primary customers." — The Courier-Journal

Two more coal-mine inspectors plead guilty to extorting bribes

Two mine inspectors pleaded guilty Tuesday to extorting bribes from coal operators, and the attorney for one indicated that his client had spread some of his money around.

Former federal inspector John W. Banks, 44, of Myra in Pike County, and former state inspector James M. Morgan Jr., 49, of Ermine in Letcher County, had originally pleaded innocent in early May.

They are the second and third mine inspectors to plead guilty so far in a case unveiled in early May. MSHA inspector Edward Kendrick, 57, of Melvin, pleaded guilty Monday to taking $800 in bribes. His sentencing is set for November 1.

MSHA inspector Clifford Crum, 58, of Allen, is fighting a charge that he took a $200 bribe. His trial is set for September 19 in Frankfort.

U.S. District Judge Joseph Hood ruled Tuesday that during the trial prosecutors can play a ten-minute taped conversation from August 5, 1993, between Kendrick and Crum. Assistant U.S. Attorney Tom Self would not describe the tape's contents, and a transcript was not in the record. — The Courier-Journal

Coal operators face sentencing

Two Eastern Kentucky coal operators are scheduled to be sentenced September 13 after pleading guilty to not submitting valid coal-dust samples.

Brothers Dean and Dallas Francis of Hatfield entered their pleas Monday in U.S. District Court at Pikeville.

Dean Francis pleaded guilty to one count of failing to file the required five valid samples for the A&A Francis Energy No. 1 Mine at Turkey Creek. He also admitted the same offense at the Big Hill Coal Co. No. 6-A Mine at Dana.

Dallas Francis pleaded guilty to one count of failing to submit proper samples from the Big Hill No. 9 Mine at Sidney. — The Courier-Journal

Mines, quarry recognized for safety

Two Kentucky coal mines and a limestone quarry won national recognition Tuesday from the U.S. Department of Labor for their 1993 safety records.

The Benco Mining Inc. No. 2 Mine at Hazard and the Martin County Coal Co. 1-C Mine at Inez won special mention during the Sentinels of Safety awards program. Vulcan Materials' Reed Quarry at Gilbertsville also got a special mention.

The Benco mine went 110,431 consecutive hours last year without an injury resulting in a lost workday. The Martin Coal mine went 83,336 hours, and the Reed Quarry had 134,577 hours. — The Courier-Journal

Accident closes road for 14 hours

U.S. 119 was closed for nearly 14 hours Tuesday after a traffic accident at Johns Creek between a car and a freightliner tanker, the Kentucky State Police said.

Gerald S. Anderson, 18, of Pikeville, was travelling south on U.S. 119 in a 1986 Chevy Nova when he lost control and went into the northbound lane where he was struck by Ralph Steele, 54, of Grayson. Steele was driving a 1987 freightliner tanker truck containing sulfuric acid.

Both Anderson and Steele were taken to Pikeville Methodist Hospital. Anderson was transported to U.K. Medical Center. Steele was treated and released.

There was no leakage or chemical spill from the truck. The accident, which occurred at 7:15 a.m. was investigated by trooper Dewey Murphy and assisted by the Johns Creek Fire Department. U.S. 119 was closed until approximately 9 p.m. — staff report

The fire, which occurred at 12:58 a.m. Wednesday at Dye's residence in Mossy Bottom in Pike County, burnt the victim beyond recognition and positive identification could not be made, the state police reported.

An autopsy is pending and the cause of the fire has not yet been determined.

Universal health care coverage still possible

Now come Sens. Daniel Moynihan and Robert Packwood to tell President Clinton the Senate Finance Committee won't require employers to provide health care coverage for workers. Given that pragmatic appraisal, Clinton properly urged Moynihan and Packwood to explore possible compromises. But Clinton also was right to repeat his insistence that health care reform be built around universal coverage.

Coverage for all Americans is fundamental to health care reform for moral, economic and social reasons. Morally, most Americans have come to believe strongly that everyone should have access to high-quality basic health care. Economically, universal coverage is essential to bringing health care cost increases under control; so long as millions of Americans remain underinsured and uninsured, cost shifting will continue, leaving a mechanism for unwarranted price inflation in health care.

Socially, universal coverage is essential to achieve Clinton's goal of ending "welfare as we know it." Concern about losing health care benefits is the single most important influence that entices people to remain on public assistance longer than they should.

On welfare, they and their families get Medicaid coverage; off welfare and in low-paying jobs, most don't get any health benefits at all. For many people, that makes the choice simple. Without universal health care coverage, Clinton can kiss effective welfare reform goodbye.

Employer mandates and universal coverage are not synonymous. But unless the nation moves to a tax-financed, single-payer system like Canada's—or finds a way to require all Americans to ensure they are covered individually—mandates are the surest and quickest method to get to universal coverage.

They're also a proven method, since most American workers already enjoy tax-free health-care benefits principally financed by their employers.

Opponents of mandated benefits—mostly Republicans—thus oppose the idea of extending to unprotected workers—mostly lower-paid people in small businesses—benefits that better-off Americans have enjoyed for decades. It brings to mind efforts early in this century to end child labor, to regulate hours and wages, and to ensure worker safety. Those efforts also sparked powerful opposition from people with a vested interest in the unreasonable exploitation of their fellow human beings.

Perhaps Moynihan and Packwood can avoid employer mandates and still achieve universal coverage within a reasonable period of time. But if the senators fail, Clinton should stand with House Democrats and their strong support for employer mandates. Clinton has indicated a remarkable willingness to compromise. But he cannot yield on universal coverage, without which there can be no health care reform deserving of the name.

Weddle named coordinator of PCC nursing program

Prestonsburg Community College has selected Associate Professor of Nursing Lynn Weddle to serve as the new coordinator of the Associate Degree of Nursing Program at the college effective August 1.

Weddle looks forward to the responsibilities and challenges this new appointment brings. "I look forward to serving as the coordinator of the Associate Degree of Nursing Program at PCC," she said. "The nursing faculty look forward to continuing the program's tradition of excellence and hope to further improve the program in addressing our students' needs and concerns."

The new appointment was made to allow Jenny Bottoms, the former program coordinator and biological sciences division chair, more time to focus on nursing curriculum development, the coordination of new health programs planned for the college, and division management.

Prestonsburg Community College President Deborah L. Floyd thanked Professor Bottoms for the work she has done as the nursing program coordinator and welcomed Weddle's enthusiasm for her new appointment.

"It is the college's responsibility to anticipate its students' future needs and to change to address those needs," Dr. Floyd said. "This change within the nursing program will enable the college to best utilize the strengths and contributions of both Professor Bottoms and Associate Professor Weddle in meeting future challenges within the health care programs available at Prestonsburg Community College."

The college also expects to have a coordinator for the new dental hygiene program as early as January 1995 and will implement a new health clinic by 1995.

For more information about the Associate Degree of Nursing or Dental Hygiene programs, call Prestonsburg Community College at 886-3863, Extension 229.

Grant funds to aid in lowering utility bills

The Big Sandy Area has received $585,748 in grant money to help low-income families get help weather-proofing their home to lower utility bills.

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Agency in Paintsville was one of 24 state agencies to receive a grant. The state and federal governments awarded a total of $9,936,045 in grant money to Kentuckians.

"The program targets families that have to pay a major portion of their limited income for heating and cooling," said Social Insurance Commissioner John Clayton, whose department oversees weatherization.

In general, families with total income under 125 percent of the federal poverty guideline are eligible.

For example, the current poverty level for a family of four is $14,800, so 125 percent would be $18,500.

Anyone who thinks they might be eligible should check with the local agency, said Pat Bishop, energy assistance branch manager.

Weatherization funds come from three sources: $4,465,590 from the U.S. Department of Energy; $3,573,455 from the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program; and $1,897,000 from the Energy Assistance Trust Fund created when the state received court-ordered rebates from the petroleum industry.

The Big Sandy Area Community Action Agency serves Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin, and Pike counties.

Outreach organization extends a helping hand

The "Helping Hand" (United Helping Hands of Pikeville, Inc.) is an outreach ministry of twelve local Pikeville churches: Assembly of God, First Baptist Church, First Christian Church, St. David's Episcopal, St. Francis Catholic, United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, Wesleyan Church, Burning Fork Methodist, Meta Baptist, Shelbiana United Methodist and Island Creek Baptist Mission.

During the first 14 years of its existence (1980-1994), the Helping Hand has assisted over 1,000 area families per year with food, clothing, shelter, etc.

Medicine, glasses, shoes, transportation for medical reasons and other reasons, over-night lodging, help in housing and utilities (where disconnect notices and eviction notices have been received) are being requested daily along with clothing food in record numbers by people in the community.

Food and clothing, at no cost, are available to those in the Pikeville area who have an emergency need. "Emergency need" means that there are no other available sources of food or clothing for the requesting party. Those in emergency need, who do not receive government or other forms of assistance, such as food stamps, may, in instances of emergency, be eligible for free food and clothing. Clothing is also available at low cost for those who can afford to pay prices ranging from .25 up to $.55.

An application for assistance must be completed before assistance can be given. The application is reviewed and may be verified through home visitation, contact with applicable government agencies or other appropriate means. Assistance for food and clothing is only available to an individual or particular family on a once-every-ninety-days basis.

In addition, the Helping Hand, for the last seven years, has sponsored a back-to-school program helping provide low income children with new underwear, socks, clothes, shoes and school supplies.

LOVE AND MARRIAGE

My husband does not share my enthusiasm for weddings. Through he is pro-marriage, he does not believe in the sanctity of the wedding ceremony. This is not without just cause.

It all began with our wedding. The organ was being repaired and parts were strewn around the altar. We had no music—save for the rhythm of our heart beats—and I almost forgot to carry my bouquet down the aisle. Yet, compared to future weddings we would attend, ours was decidedly uneventful.

When two people are joined in Holy Matrimony, families are also united whether they like it or not. In my opinion, my husband's family got a bargain on this deal, and I fared pretty well myself. But because of our union, we would be attending many weddings involving both sides of our families.

The first one we attended was for my side of the family; a Jewish ceremony held in Indianapolis. It was different. Jimmie had to wear a beanie during the entire ceremony which lasted a little over an hour. My cousin, the bride and her intended, had to smash a champagne glass inside a tent with both sets of parents standing beside them at the altar.

A sit-down reception with a twist followed. They passed a basket that you were supposed to drop envelopes of money into for the newlyweds. I thought a gift was appropriate, but I couldn't fit the toaster/oven into the basket.

The next wedding was for his nephew. And as long as you weren't afraid of heights, it was a beautiful ceremony indeed. The location of the wedding was atop Natural Bridge near Campton via the skylift. The attire for the wedding party was tuxedos and jeans for the men, and fancy gowns for the women folk.

As we ascended the mountaintop, we noticed that many of the guests were wearing parachutes. And those who weren't afraid of heights were fitted for oxygen masks due to the altitude. The reception which was beautiful, was held on the ground below sea level. When the reception was over, the lovely couple rode off on a hog (motorcycle). And at this moment they are somewhere in Alaska on a motorcycle.

As the years progressed, we attended many more weddings. One for his niece which took place at Christmas, another for a friend's grandson which took place in one of the oldest chapels in Tennessee, and another for my cousin.

This past January, we attended my niece's wedding in Indianapolis when the wind chill factor made the temperature 60 degrees below existence. In fact, my niece wrote us a thank-you note saying, "I always said it would be a cold day in Hell when I got married, and I was true to my word."

As unforgettable as the weddings have been, this past weekend topped any wedding we had ever attended. It was held in the Wyandotte Woods near Corydon, Indiana. My sister's sister-in-law. The location was a Karate Camp. We should have known what type of day it was going to be when we had to pay (non-refundable) to gain entrance into the park. The next unexpected turn-of-events occurred when the bride decided to change the time of the wedding from 5 o'clock until 7:30. The only people she forgot to tell were the guests.

In recent memory, July 3 was probably the hottest day on record. At least that's the way it seemed to my husband, and my mother and me. I'm not sure who determined that there was no air conditioning at the camp. Luckily the camp did have two walk-in food lockers because that's where

THE TIMES' WEEKEND

Celebrant singers to appear in concert at Piarist School

Jon Stemkoski's Celebrant Singers, an internationally-known Christian music ministry will present a community-wide concert on Thursday, July 21, at 7:30 p.m., at the Piarist School/MCA gym in Martin. The concert is free of charge and a free-will offering will be taken.

Music celebration

Jon Stemkoski's Celebrant Singers and Orchestra, an internationally-known Christian singing group, will present a community-wide service of contemporary music on Thursday, July 21, at 7:30 p.m. at the Piarist School Gym, Route 80, Martin, next to MCA. All seats are free.

Concert attendees will be treated to contemporary Christian music, praise and worship, and personal witness and ministry. Featuring ten singers and a 12-piece orchestra, Celebrant Singers will inspire and bless as they share the gospel of Jesus Christ through a musical celebration.

"Celebrant Singers is not 'just another music group.' Our objective is to share the love of Christ," said Celebrant Singers founder Jon Stemkoski. "It's a powerful ministry! It will touch your heart. Bring your family and friends—it's an experience you won't soon forget!"

Celebrant Singers have traveled throughout all 50 states and 56 foreign countries and have sung to more than 4 million people in live concerts and countless others via broadcast media. Nations of ministry include India, Iran, Egypt, East and West Africa, Latin America, all parts of Europe (including the former Eastern Bloc), Hong Kong, the Philippines, and, most recently, Cuba.

During 1994, seven teams of Celebrant Singers will present over 1,400 concerts in 30 nations, nine Canadian provinces and all 50 states.

Celebrant Singers is ecumenical in nature. Multiple teams of committed, dedicated and talented young adults represent 38 states, nine Canadian provinces and several foreign nations.

In November of 1992, Celebrant Singers took their music and message into Cuba and Haiti. In November '93, they returned to Cuba with "official visas" from the Cuban government.

"While similar groups traditionally have had an exclusively Protestant audience, Celebrant Singers is the first full-time contemporary Christian singing group to have a widespread ministry among America's 60 million Roman Catholics," Stemkoski added. "Since 1977, we've sung in over 3,000 parishes throughout North America."

In 1984, Celebrant Singers ministered in St. Peter's Square before an Easter-week crowd of over 120,000 people. Stemkoski and Celebrants were also honored by a private audience with Pope John Paul II. Most recently, Celebrants participated in World Youth Day in Denver, before the arrival of the Pope.

Celebrant Singers founder and director, Jon Stemkoski, is the driving force behind this vital, exciting ministry. Stemkoski has over 20 years experience in music ministry and is a highly respected minister of the Gospel.

In addition to live appearances, Celebrant Singers have released seven recordings to date.

Jon Stemkoski's Celebrant Singers is an outreach of Stone Ministries Inc., a non-profit Christian corporation ministering to the needs of people through music and the arts.

The concert is being sponsored by St. Martha Catholic Church in Prestonsburg, which this year is celebrating its tenth anniversary, and St. Luke Church in Salyersville. For more information, call 874-9526.

THE CONTINUING CRISIS

— Bobby Johnson, an Indianapolis loading-dock worker, was arrested in May for criminal recklessness after he fired six bullets into his $900 Zenith television set because his 41-channel cable TV service provided him "nothing to watch." Johnson told the Indianapolis Star, "I don't see why a man can't shoot his own TV if he wants to."

— An Aeroflot jet carrying 55 passengers landed safely in Arkhangelsk, Russia, in May despite a loss of hydraulic fluid that prevented full use of its landing gear. The crew managed to make part of the landing gear operational by pouring all the lemonade on board into the hydraulic system. And near Lake Tahoe, Calif., in May, pilots Steve and Kathy Swigard, facing a similar problem with their Cessna, urinated into the hydraulic system, which created enough pressure to bring the landing gear down.

— The German press agency, Deutsche Presse Agentur, reported in June that a businessman in Cairo committed suicide because he was too heavily in debt from support payments to his 26 children, 35 ex-wives and four current wives.

— In November, Dr. Avi Ben-Abraham, president of the American Cryogenics Society, told an audience in Washington, D.C., that several high-ranking Roman Catholic Church leaders support human embryo cloning, despite the church's public stance against such research. According to Ben-Abraham, those church leaders hope to reproduce Jesus Christ from DNA fibers found on the Shroud of Turin.

— In April, Henry Anderson, 79, died of cancer at the Kentucky State Reformatory. He had been convicted in a 1958 murder and given the death penalty in 1960, and although the state death-

If you've had your fill of the Juice, turn your eyes to the skies this Saturday for a sight never before witnessed by humankind.

No, Larry King isn't going to interview God for his legal opinion on the Simpson case.

CNN is still working out the technical bugs on that one.

What is going to happen is a cosmic collision of unparalleled proportions. Unless you happened to have been a dinosaur back in the mesozoic era, that is.

Anyway, a string of comets will begin plowing into Jupiter on Saturday, and we earthlings get to watch the show.

All you need, the scientists say, is a telescope and a map of the universe.

If you have trouble finding it, here's help.

Jupiter is the largest planet in our solar system. It's the fifth planet from the sun.

To locate it, first look directly at the sun then count five planets back.

First Mercury, then Venus, the Earth, Mars and, there it is... Jupiter.

Now, if your corneas haven't completely melted down from looking directly into the sun, you'll be able to witness a spectacular collision that astromers speculate will rival the Big Bang on earth about 140 million years ago.

That's when, the scientists theorize, a comet crashed into our planet, wiping out the dinosaurs and paving the way for the evolution of man.

Evolution is also a theory which suggests humans began as little balls of slime then, over the course of a few million years, grew into bigger balls of slime.

Nobody really knows what will happen when the comets crash into Jupiter or what effect the collision might have on the O.J. Simpson case.

There's got to be a connection, though. Watch for details.

Every man loves what he is good at.

the wedding party got dressed, and the harpist cooled her fingers.

"Don't open that door!" my mother yelled as I pulled the handle of the food locker. But it was too late. I was already staring into the startled face of my sister's mother-in-law who was pulling up her pantyhose.

"Give me one of those baklava," I said in English with a Spanish accent. The baklava and the rest of the food was also in the food locker to keep it from spoiling.

At last, the couple arrived, but we had to wait until they meditated with an official mediator. My mother had wilted, the harpist's fingers were bloody stubs, and I knew by the look on my husband's flushed face that this was definitely the last wedding we would attend on either side of the family—until the next one.

Prestonsburg pounds out 16 hits in 15-8 win over Paintsville

Ortega collects three hits to lead Prestonsburg to Area 2 title

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Just 24 hours after falling to the Paintsville 14-15-year-old Senior League All-Stars, the Prestonsburg All-Stars returned to the Paintsville Park Field Tuesday night and pounded the Paintsville pitching for 16 hits and recorded a 15-8 win over the host team to capture the Area 2 Senior League title.

Paintsville took advantage of some fielding mistakes by Prestonsburg the night before in handing the local team its first defeat in the tournament.

Coaches Wilburn Samons and Rodney Osborne watched as their team raked Paintsville starter Brock Taylor for eight runs on six hits in the first inning.

Prestonsburg starter Jeremy Osborne picked up the win in going the first three innings. Osborne lost the shutout when two fielding mistakes, one by the pitcher himself, led to three runs in the fourth for Paintsville.

But, by the time Paintsville got on the scoreboard, Prestonsburg had already built a commanding 14-0 lead.

John Ortega went to the mound with no one out in the fourth inning and got Eric Sluss on strikes, coaxed Mike Burchett to ground to first and fanned Danny Scott with two runners left on base.

Ortega started the eight run rally in the first with a lead off double. He came in to score on James Taylor's RBI double. Jason Blackburn, Jason Hackworth and Jon Morris had RBI singles in the inning. Ortega, batting for the second time in the inning, singled home the final run.

Jason Osborne had a two-run single in the second inning and he scored later. Prestonsburg added three more runs in the third on RBI singles by Wesley Samons and Blackburn.

An error at third started the three run rally for Paintsville in the fourth. Josh Griener bounced a slow roller back to Osborne on the mound and the ball found its way through the pitcher's leg for an error. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch and came in to score on Mark Grim's two-run single.

Ortega entered and Osborne exited. Ortega got Sluss on strikes and Ratloff on a grounder to first. Taylor hit a bouncer back to Ortega but the pitcher was confused as to how many outs there were (2) and tried for a play on Grim at third. The play misfired and Grim scored to make it a 14-3 game.

Mike Clark singled and scored in the Prestonsburg fourth. He came home on Samons' RBI single.

Prestonsburg scored its final two runs in the sixth. Andy Jarvis reached on a fielder's choice and catcher Sammy Nelson singled, a rocket liner, his second hit of the game, to score Jarvis. Nelson scored on Jeremy Osborne's double.

Paintsville completed its scoring in the seventh off Jake Poston, the third pitcher used by Prestonsburg.

Taylor was the losing pitcher working two-thirds of an inning. He allowed six runs on six hits while walking two and hitting one batter.

Sluss pitched the final six and two-thirds innings, giving up nine runs on 12 hits. He fanned eight and walked two.

Ortega, in following Osborne to the mound, allowed one run on two hits. He struck out three and walked two. Poston allowed one earned run on three hits.

Prestonsburg awaits the winner of the Area 1 section (Pikeville). They will face the winner either Saturday or Monday.

First round games

Prestonsburg won over Martin County in the first game of the tournament with a 15-5 victory. Samons picked up the win for Prestonsburg with Poston pitching the seventh inning.

Sammy Nelson collected three hits in the game, including a seventh-inning double. Jeremy Osborne had a three-hit effort with three singles.

Prestonsburg faced Paintsville and came away with a 10-5 win with Jason Hackworth picking up the win. Hackworth worked the first five innings before giving way to Poston, who hurled the sixth and seventh innings. Ortega, Morris and Nelson doubled in the second inning when Prestonsburg scored five times to take a 5-1 lead. Morris had two hits in the game.

A single run in the third and four in the fourth extended the Prestonsburg lead to 10-1. Paintsville mounted a comeback against Poston in the seventh with four runs, but the rally fell short.

Hicks collects two hits, drives in two as Floyd County advances in tournament play

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The field at the Allen Park got a new mowing job in preparation for the District 9 Babe Ruth 15-year-old baseball tournament that got underway Tuesday evening. But Brandon Castle did a different mowing job as he hurled the Floyd County All-Stars to a 9-1 win over Carr Fork.

Castle struck out 17 batters in picking up the win. He had eight consecutive strike outs when he retired the last two in the first, struck out the side in the second and third innings. He had retired 12 of the first 13 batters he faced before hitting Randy Campbell in the fourth inning. He then struck out four of the last six he faced.

Castle allowed only three hits in the game and he walked two while hitting one batter.

Not only was he outstanding on the mound but he also collected two hits and three RBIs as well. Brandon Hicks had two hits and two runs batted in. He doubled in the fifth inning. Brad Kidd had a third-inning double. Castle fanned the side in the first inning but gave up a base hit to second batter Billy Sumner. Floyd County scored twice in the first inning to take a 2-0 lead. Wesley Collins, after his pop foul was dropped by catcher Todd Stumbo, worked Corey Hall for a walk and stole second. Kidd's bouncer got past second baseman Joe Brewer for an error with Collins scoring. Kidd came home on Brandon Hicks' RBI single.

Castle got Carr Fork on strikes in the second and Floyd County extended their lead to 3-0 with a lone run in the third. Kidd doubled with one out and scored on Castle's base hit.

It was three strike outs for Castle in the visitor's half of the third and he fanned two in the fourth.

Floyd County went up 7-0 with four in the fifth inning. Brent Tackett singled and Tim Bellamy followed with a single with Collins walking to load the bases. After Kidd struck out, Castle lined a two-run single. Hicks doubled home Collins and Castle with two out.

Carr Fork avoided the shutout by pushing home a run in the top of the seventh inning. Joe Brewer tripled to start the seventh and scored on Danny Sorrells' RBI double.

The only other recorded outs for Carr Fork was a ground ball to third

Weeksbury Scrappers scrap way to Fourth of July title

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Gene Tackett was named the Most Valuable Player in the Elkhorn City Fourth of July Softball Tournament as the Weeksbury Scrappers captured the holiday championship over the Roadhouse team.

Weeksbury had to go into extra innings to subdue a good Roadhouse team as it pulled out an 11-9 victory in nine innings.

It was an uphill climb for the local softball team as it fell behind 8-0 after the first two innings. Roadhouse plated five runs in the first and extended its lead with three in the second.

Weeksbury got on the scoreboard in the third inning when it pushed home two runs on a base hit by Eugene Little and a RBI two-out double by Gene Tackett. Tackett scored on Darren Little's single.

The Scrappers made it 8-3 with a single run in the fifth inning on back-to-back singles by Eugene Tackett and Gene Tackett.

It was in the sixth inning that Weeksbury finally got its bats out of the bag and exploded for six runs to take a 9-8 lead. Five consecutive base hits scored four runs to narrow the Roadhouse lead to one run, 8-7. A one-out single by Eugene Tackett and Gene Tackett's RBI single gave Weeksbury its first lead at 9-8.

Roadhouse plated a single run in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at nine. Neither team could score in the eighth frame. Weeksbury took the lead for good with a two-run in the ninth. Gene Tackett singled to open the final inning. Darren Little singled behind him and James Tackett walked to lead the bases. Gene Tackett rode home on Bill Hammond's sacrifice fly to right field to give Weeksbury the lead at 10-9. It added an insurance run on a double that scored James Tackett.

Weeksbury held off Roadhouse in the bottom of the ninth inning after it got a lead off single.

Gene Tackett was the winning pitcher for Weeksbury. He also finished with four hits in the game. Eugene Little also collected four hits for the winners.

Receiving the Golden Glove award for his defensive effort was James Tackett.

Weeksbury posted a 12-2 win over the Elkhorn City Spurs in game one in a game called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

The Sidewinders provided the opposition in game two for the Scrappers. Weeksbury pulled out a hard fought 9-6 win to stay unbeaten in the winners bracket.

Weeksbury jumped out to a 7-0 lead, but the Sidewinders did not throw in the towel as they scored six times in the sixth inning for a 7-6 game. Weeksbury added two runs in the seventh to put the game in the win column.

It was Weeksbury and Roadhouse in the finals of the winners bracket with the loser dropping to the losers side of the tournament. Weeksbury edged Roadhouse 8-7 by scoring two runs in the sixth and seventh innings in a come-from-behind victory.

The Scrappers then waited for the winner of the losers bracket and, you guessed it, it was Roadhouse.

Roadhouse handed the Scrappers their only loss in the tournament by taking a 12-2 mercy decision and forced a third game between the two teams with Weeksbury winning the championship game.

Paintsville to host second tournament

Coaches Paul David Brown and Johnnie LeMaster are pleased with the way their Big League team has been playing of late. The coaching duo also is excited about the upcoming tournament at Paintsville that will close out the regular season.

The Paintsville Big League team got the regular schedule out of the way with a split of a doubleheader with the Kentucky Rockers in Versailles.

J.R. Melvin picked up the win in game one with Jimmy Wayne Frazier providing the bat power. Frazier had a triple and single.

Brent Hamilton threw a two-hitter in the second game, but two costly errors caused Paintsville to fall 5-1.

College and pro scouts were on hand for the second game. Seven scouts saw the Paintsville team collect only three hits in the nightcap as Jon Holbrook, Jimmy Money and Josh Hansford singled. Hamilton and Melvin drew the most attention from the scouts.

"After the doubleheader several scouts came and showed interest about information on Brent and J.R.," said Coach Brown. "We try to keep up with how many college and pro scouts we see each year and this year we played in front of approximately 30 different college scouts and 25 pro scouts.

"Each of them had good comments on how hard the team worked and how much they hustle. We have had good comments on this group all year long, which makes both Coach LeMaster and I very happy."

Currently, Paintsville has a record of 18-12 with one tournament left in the regular season. Both coaches termed the season a successful one because of the corp that came in.

"We had several new faces this year," said Coach Brown. "We had kids from Paintsville, Johnson Central, Sheldon Clark, Betsy Layne and Allen Central.

"It took them a couple of weeks to get to know each other and to learn our system, but they have worked extremely hard and both Coach LeMaster and I are very pleased with where we are going into our final tournament."

Paintsville will complete the regular season by hosting its second tournament of the year this weekend.

The tournament starts Saturday morning at the Charlie Adkins Field in Paintsville. The event is scheduled to conclude Sunday afternoon.

Paintsville will also be the host of the Big League District Tournament beginning next week as well as the state tournament the following week.

Coaches Brown and LeMaster urges all fans to come out and enjoy Big League baseball at the Charlie Adkins Field, the site of the district and state tournament.

Four man scramble to be held at Allen course

A four man golf scramble will be held at the Beaver Valley Golf Course, Stumbo Park, on August 12.

Proceeds from the tournament go to provide funds for the Allen Central baseball park.

Registration must be in by July 29. Entry fee is $25 per golfer with four players to a team. A,B,C,D players will be drawn.

The first place team will share 30 percent of jackpot and the second place finishers will share 20 percent of jackpot.

Golfers may sign up at the course's pro shop or they may contact Birchell Duff at 358-4564.
