Park pact is a no-no, city attorney says

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Martin City Council nixed a pitch from the mayor Wednesday to lease the city property which is used for a park.

Mayor Raymond Griffith, who recently purchased the property, asked council at Wednesday's meeting about renewing the park lease.

Councilman Alan Whicker told Griffith that the city could not contract to lease property from the mayor.

"I've got a wife you can go into contract with," the mayor said.

"No, she can't," city attorney Tim Parker told the mayor.

"I've got a daughter you can go into contract with," the mayor said.

"No one related to you (can enter into a contract with the city)," Parker explained.

The mayor asked council when the lease for the park expired.

Councilman Eugene Hutchinson told Griffith that the lease was "already up."

Councilman Everett Akers Jr. said that the old lease was for one dollar a year and suggested that Griffith donate the property for a park.

"You said a bad word," the mayor told Akers. "Donate."

Parker suggested that the item be put on the September 28 agenda for discussion.

In other business Wednesday, Hutchinson asked council when they were going to work on an ethics code, which the city must enact by January 1.

Bob Lewandowski, with the Big Sandy Area Development, told council that a model code is being developed by the ADD for use by area city and county governments. He explained that a regional ethics board would be appointed to oversee the implementation of the code.

Hutchinson said that he saw no problems with the model code developed in Frankfort and urged council to address the issue quickly.

Parker suggested that the issue be placed on the agenda for the next meeting for discussion.

Also Wednesday:

- council agreed to contract with David Fitch for the removal of large trash items at $100 per truckload;

- council passed a resolution accepting an $80,000 grant from the Farmer's Home Administration for the city sewer project; and

- council directed all department heads to submit inventory lists of equipment by the next council meeting.

All members were present.

Rape, pot cases are kicked upstairs

A Floyd County grand jury will hear the case of a Floyd County man charged with drugging and raping a female relative last month.

In a preliminary hearing Wednesday, state police detective Leslie Gannon testified that a juvenile relative of Ronnie Jethro Thacker of McDowell, told her that Thacker forcibly had sex with her on August 7.

Gannon testified that her investigation revealed allegations that Thacker had given the female some orange juice shortly before the alleged rape which "paralyzed" the alleged victim.

"She said she became paralyzed and Thacker came in the room where she was and forcibly had sex with her," Gannon testified.

Attorney Steve Owens, who represents Thacker, asked Gannon if her investigation was finished and if she intended to interview any other persons for the case.

Gannon said that the investigation was ongoing and she planned to interview one other person.

Trial commissioner Jack Hyden ruled that probable cause existed and waived the case to a grand jury.

In other court action Wednesday, the case of a Prestonsburg man accused of setting fire to a gas can at the Dixie housing project was also waived to a grand jury.

Aaron Tackett, 48, of Goble Roberts, did not appear in court for a preliminary hearing on nine charges of first degree wanton endangerment.

Tackett is accused of putting a wick in a gas can, placing it on the door step of Frankie Newsome's Dixie apartment and lighting it. The fire was extinguished before any structural damage occurred. The wanton endangerment charges stem from the number of people who were in the block of apartments at the time of the fire.

Also Wednesday:
• A grand jury will hear evidence in the case of Scotty Williams of Emma, who is charged with cultivating marijuana. State police detective Lee Weddington testified that five marijuana plants were spotted growing about 40 yards from Williams' home at Emma. Weddington said he was flying over the area with the state's Marijuana Strike Task Force when he saw the pot.

• A first degree wanton endangerment charge against Steven Howell was dismissed without prejudice. Howell's wife, Belinda, testified that Howell held her arm while she was leaning inside his truck and that his girlfriend tried to drive off while she was partially inside the truck. Belinda Howell also testified that her husband had pushed her down a flight of seven steps just before the incident in the truck. Hyden ruled that not enough evidence of physical injury was proven to bind the case over to a grand jury. Belinda Howell testified that she only received bruises on her arm during the incident.

Progress sends Chamber looking for a lease on life

by Scott Perry

Once the county's leading proponent for progress, the Floyd County Chamber of Commerce is struggling today to keep from becoming a victim of it.

The Chamber, which has membership totalling more than 300 businesses and professionals, has fallen on hard times, both financially and philosophically, during the past three years and it struggles today to find a new niche and, ultimately, a means for survival.

"The Chamber's role has changed significantly over the past few years," current president Ann Latta said. "Once we did it all...promoted economic development, tourism, retail and commercial expansion. Now we're becoming a victim of specialization."

For three years now, the Chamber's assumed role of economic development promotion has been taken over by the Floyd County Development Authority, which has devoted both time and money to job creation activities. Similarly, tourism development has moved to the fast-track with the creation of a tax-funded Prestonsburg Tourism Commission and special panels to develop the Kentucky Opry and Mountain Arts Center.

"These aren't bad developments," Chamber President Latta stressed. "They were all necessary. The Chamber, meanwhile, has seen its role in actual development diminished."

The organization's financial standing has dwindled, as well.

The Chamber's full-time salaried executive director left this summer amid a financial crisis resulting from lower than expected revenues from membership dues and the Chamber board has no immediate plans to fill the slot. Most administrative duties are being handled by Latta.

Deputy clerk faces charges after she scuffles with police

by Susan Allen

Floyd County's District Court Clerk is facing a first degree wanton endangerment charge after allegedly firing a revolver three times while being taken into custody by two state police officers Tuesday.

State police sergeant Lynn Cross said Wednesday that Linda Sue DeRossett was arrested at her home Tuesday afternoon. Cross said that officers were answering a call for assistance at DeRossett's home. The sergeant explained that he and trooper Les Stapleton responded to the call. Cross said that the charge would be presented to a grand jury.

Cross declined to offer further details of the incident.

DeRossett was taken to the Floyd County Jail and later transferred to Hazard.

has been advised by his doctor that absolute voice rest is necessary.

The changes in the Autumn Jam lineup were announced during a press conference Wednesday. Autumn Jam, sponsored by Happy Mart and Pepsi Cola, will be held at the Pikeville High School Athletic Field this Saturday. Gates will open at noon and the first act will take the stage at 2 p.m. A variety of concessions and soft drinks will be available throughout the concert. No alcoholic beverages will be sold or allowed to be brought in.

Beginning at 11:30 a.m., clearly marked "Autumn Jam" shuttle buses will run from riverfill parking areas, down Hambley Boulevard, to the concert site and back. Anyone needing a ride can wave for the bus to pull over. Shuttle service will continue throughout and after the concert to accommodate those returning to their cars.

Tickets are still available at area Happy Marts and any remaining tickets will be sold at the gate beginning at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

The Kentucky HeadHunters have won the hearts of millions of music fans, and have received "Group of the Year" citations.

Hal Ketchum established himself as one of country music's fastest rising stars in 1991. His debut single, "Small Town Saturday Night" was a No. 1 Single of the Year.

Local election boards to get training assistance from state

The State Board of Elections will hold a workshop to provide training for county boards of election at the Wilkinson/Stumbo Conference Center at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park in Prestonsburg on September 28, according to Secretary of State Bob Babbage, chairman of the state board.

The program will cover changes made by the 1994 General Assembly in election laws and voting procedures.

New laws authorize the state board of elections to declare a county a preclearance county and to approve all actions by the local board when concerns about the fairness of elections arise.

The state board can also declare an election crisis and take over the conduct of an election in certain circumstances.

Voting by paper absentee ballot is now limited under the new laws and public schools are required to be closed on the days of any primary, runoff primary or regular election.

The new law also mandates training for all members of the county board of election. Previously, training was only required for the county clerk and the county sheriff.

The September 28 workshop is being held for election officials in Lewis, Greenup, Fleming, Carter, Boyd, Rowan, Elliott, Lawrence, Bath, Menifee, Morgan, Johnson, Powell, Wolfe, Magoffin, Martin, Lee, Breathitt, Floyd, Pike, Owsley, Perry, Knott, Letcher, Leslie and Harlan counties.

Wayland narrows list of engineers

In a five-hour session Tuesday, Wayland City Council members reviewed qualification summaries from engineering firms that are vying to build the city a new sewage treatment plant and collection line system.

The council reviewed 11 qualification statements and asked six of those engineering firms to present more details at the next council meeting Monday, September 19, at the Senior Citizens Building in Wayland. The meeting begins at 5 p.m.

Engineering firms selected were Kenney Engineering, Kenvirons, Nesbitt Engineering, Parrott Ely and Hurt, Quest Engineering, and Woolpert Consultants. Each company will have 10 minutes to give their presentations, which will be followed by a five-minute question and answer session.

Taking her medicine

Cruelty charge on the table following potshot at pet pig

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Floyd County woman is facing an animal cruelty charge for allegedly shooting a neighbor's family pet Sunday.

Teresa Baysten, who lives on Conley Fork at Spurlock near Prestonsburg, was served with the charge Tuesday which claims she shot Eddie Posten's female pet pig, Arnold.

Baysten said Thursday that she did not mean to shoot Arnold, who was allegedly destroying her garden. "I just meant to scare it," Baysten said. "I told them that."

Arnold, who was shot once in the right hind quarter with a .22 caliber rifle, is a family pet, Posten claims, and did not deserve to be shot.

"I can't understand anybody wanting to shoot Arnold," Posten said.

Posten and his wife, Mary, took their pig to a local veterinarian for treatment, but the bullet could not be removed.

"The doctor said it would do more harm to take it out," Posten explained. "Now, we just hope she don't set up lead poisoning. The only thing she's good for now is a pet."

Baysten claims that Arnold has been in her garden and in her yard several times and she has warned the Posten's to keep the pig in its pen.

"I'll grow food for my family, but not for their animals," Baysten said.

The Posten's claim that their pig, who eats high-protein puppy chow and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, doesn't bother anyone. Eddie Posten said that the only time Arnold is out in the bottom from their home is when "the kids are riding" the pig.

The case is set for trial in Floyd District Court on November 23; the day before Thanksgiving.

Campaign underway to vaccinate

With the approach of autumn, it's time for older Americans to take precautions against the pneumonia and flu epidemics that are on the horizon. The cost of both pneumonia vaccinations and flu shots is covered by Medicare Part B (Medical Insurance) for those age 65 or older.

The National Institute on Aging (NIA), American Lung Association, and the Department of Veterans Affairs have launched a coordinated campaign to encourage elderly people to be vaccinated this fall.

Statistics show they are twice as likely as younger persons to get pneumonia. Only about 20 percent of those over age 65 have taken advantage of the availability of the pneumonia vaccine in the past, according to the NIA.

The Public Health Service recommends an annual flu shot for people over age 65, even if they are generally healthy. Typically, shots are given in the fall or winter. Medicare beneficiaries do not need a doctor's prescription or supervision to have this vaccination covered by Medicare Part B. And, beneficiaries do not pay a deductible or coinsurance amount. Medicare Part B pays the reasonable approved amount for either shot. If the cost exceeds the approved amount, the beneficiary is responsible for the difference.

Generally, the cost will be paid if the vaccine is provided at a doctor's office or by a hospital, skilled nursing facility, home health agency, rural health clinic, federally qualified health center, outpatient physical therapy provider, a comprehensive outpatient rehabilitation facility, or health maintenance organization (HMO).

Medicare Part B pays for pneumonia and hepatitis B vaccinations when the beneficiary is in the hospital, even though the hospital stay is covered under part A (hospital insurance). Flu shots now are paid for in the same way.

Rogers' vote helps Veterans

U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers voted Monday to provide $37.6 billion for the veterans of America.

The funding was part of the Veterans Administration/Housing and Urban Development Appropriations bill, which passed overwhelmingly, 313-61. The bill is expected to pass the Senate and then go to President Clinton's desk for his signature.

Rogers, a member of the Appropriations Committee, said the bill includes a three-percent cost-of-living increase for veterans benefits. It also includes increased spending for veterans health care, life insurance benefits and VA facilities.

Overall, the legislation provides $16.6 billion for the Veterans Health Administration, $355 million for construction of VA facilities and more than $17.6 billion for compensation and pensions.

EKU alumni from Floyd County invited to Homecoming '94

The approximately 350 Eastern Kentucky University graduates residing in Floyd County are invited to join in a dream Saturday, October 15.

"A Time to Dream" is the theme for Homecoming '94 at EKV, where graduates can turn their dreams into realities by strolling the campus, meeting their former classmates and professors, enjoying all the day's activities, and rekindling memories of their college days.

"All events are open to the general public. It's very much a community celebration," said Larry Bailey, director of alumni affairs.

Homecoming events, including a 3:30 p.m. football game against OVC rival Murray State, will get underway a little later than usual this year. The homecoming parade will begin at 11 a.m., proceeding down Lancaster Avenue to Main Street. The parade will feature floats, marching bands, motorized units, queen candidates, and probably a few surprises.

The 17th annual 5,000-meter Homecoming Run, with categories for all ages, will lead the parade. The entry fee is $10 through Thursday, October 13, $12 afterward. Trophies will be awarded to the top finishers. For more information, call (606) 622-1244.

The deadline for registering a parade entry is 4:30 p.m. Friday, October 7. Among on-campus entries, a cash prize will be awarded for the first-place float, and second- and third-place entries will earn recognition plaques. Construction and assembly of on-campus floats must take place at the Blue Grass Army Depot. For more information about the parade, call (606) 622-3855.

Immediately after the parade the largest tailgate party on campus will be held from noon to 3 p.m. in the Alumni Coliseum Parking Lot. The annual Colonel Country Fair will feature fun for the entire family with abundant food, entertainment, carnival booths, departmental gatherings and more. Also, all the Greek organizations will be gathered under one tent.

The 1994 Homecoming Queen coronation ceremony will be held at half-time of the Colonels-Racers game. Game tickets are $10 and may be reserved by calling the EKV athletic ticket office at (606) 622-2212.

In addition, the Mary Frances Richards Alumni House will be the site for an open house/reception from 9-11 a.m., and the Arlington Mule Barn will host a post-game reception from 6:30-9 p.m.

In addition, various receptions, brunches and other events are planned by various EKV colleges and departments. For more information about these or other Homecoming events, contact the alumni affairs office at (606) 622-1260 or, toll-free in Kentucky, 1-800-262-7493, ext. 1260.

Chamber

have been cancelled this year as the Chamber attempts to cope with fewer resources in people and money.

Despite the hardships, though, the Chamber isn't ready for the death-knell.

"We aren't going to just roll over and die," Latta said. "We're still a viable, important element in the community. We just need to find our place and move forward. We need to redefine our goals and purpose."

To do that, the Chamber may find it necessary to become part of the cycle of progress and specialize, itself.

"Once we determine where our help is needed most," Latta said, "we'll address that need like we always have before...by jumping in with both feet."

The organization is wasting no time finding its new role.

Plans are being developed now to conduct a "Small Business Smorgasbord," Latta said, which will offer a wide range of information and assistance to new and existing businesses.

While others devote their efforts to attracting new businesses and jobs to Floyd County, the Chamber will concentrate on serving those already here.

"That's where we get our members," Latta said, "and that's where we can be most effective."

Reform Medicaid? Cure poverty

by Scott Perry

No discussion of Medicaid reform would be complete without some reflection and inspection of those who use the system.

Perhaps we should say those who abuse the system.

As the state considers cuts in Medicaid reimbursements to health care providers as a means of reducing overall costs, some examination is in order of those who receive the treatment.

First, we should realize that it is basic human nature to take advantage of anything that is free.

Everybody does it...rich or poor.

Health care is no exception to the rule.

If it's there and it's free, why not use it?

But where do you draw the line between need and greed?

Maybe that's not the way to put it.

Perhaps the real question should be: how do you decide when a trip to the doctor or emergency room is really necessary?

When the trip is free, the deciding is easy. You just go.

If it wasn't free, how many illnesses would be neglected by those who need treatment but can't afford to pay for it?

We can't let people get sick and die just because they can't pay the doctor and we can't afford to finance health care with tax dollars for people who don't really need it.

Who makes the call?

Doctors?

They're making most of those decisions now, but what do you imagine they'll do if the penalty for making the wrong choice is a zillion-dollar malpractice suit?

Say take two aspirin and call me in the morning?

Not likely.

The only solution we see to reforming Medicaid is to eliminate the need for it.

To accomplish that, we must win the war on poverty once and for all.

Preserve our heritage, support folk festival

Editor:

I, for one, am very pleased to find folks who are quite helpful in preserving the good ole, what I call "Appalachian String Music!" If we, who are a part of this heritage, don't support it, who will? I, for one, feel it is in our best interest to help promote and preserve it for now and always!

Of course, I'm speaking on behalf of the Highlands Folk Festival, none any better! Not only do I feel this way because of some of my kinfolk taking part in it, but because it is! Not only the Hamiltons, Branhams and Martins (on my dad's side of the family) but the Tacketts and maybe others, on my husband's side of the family.

Once thought the folks who could play good Appalachian type music were on dad's side of the family but after reading a family history book on my mom's side of the family, I read where many of the ancestors used to make their own dulcimers. Lavern Williamson (Molly O'Day) was also related. My great-great-grandma's father was Ben Williamson. I also have kinfolk in Oklahoma who play and sing the Appalachian music (gospel), so I was very pleased to learn of these things.

The fact is, we have always enjoyed the Highlands Folk Festival and hope it will continue forever! And we are the ones who can do it.

So, keep up the splendid work, always!

The ABCs of site selection

Editor:

When looking at the three sites the county BOE considered for a 3rd district middle school, I had trouble figuring out the economics involved.

Most businesses would look at the total costs involved when selecting a site to build on. To obtain the total cost you would add the property purchase price, the property site preparation costs, the estimated building construction costs, and any other expenses together. You would do this for each of the three alternative sites to see which of the three sites is the least expensive site to build on. That is the least cost alternative.

This is an economic analysis which would compare the three alternative sites in dollar and cent terms.

For the middle school site, the BOE has been pushed to accept what is apparently the most expensive site. It doesn't appear that an economic analysis of the three potential school sites has been completed.

Before buying a car, you want to shop around to find the best vehicle at the best price. The school board needs to do the same thing when considering school sites.

Would you please pass the groundhog?

Editor:

The Slone Mountain Squirrel Festival this year, for its first time in 15 years, did not serve any wild meats, much to the dismay of those attending from far and near. Therefore, the Slone Family tradition was changed somewhat.

Many families had arranged their vacations around the Squirrel Festival, because they had always enjoyed the old-fashioned outdoor mountain-style cooking with dinner on the ground. Previously, to this year, if one chose not to have wild meats there was a variety of other meats, pork, beef, chicken, mutton, meatloaf, etc.

I feel the Slone Family tradition of serving wild meats to their guests is something unique, and should be able to do so if they choose.

An elderly couple drove from Springfield, Illinois, for the occasion of enjoying wild meats, but learned there was none to be served. People came from other states to enjoy the day of entertainment.

There were gospel, bluegrass, country, and rock bands to be enjoyed. Fresh clean air, trails along the mountain top, the splendor of it all was something to behold! There were games for the youngsters, arts and crafts to enjoy, along with the mountain-style foods.

I feel an amendment should be made concerning the inspection of wildlife for human consumption. There's no way it can be inspected alive. Therefore, I feel it should be able to be inspected through the slaughter houses. It's impossible for an inspector to traipse through the woods, inspect a deer or squirrel, so the hunter can shoot it. Get real! Don't you agree?

Garbage dump issue affects Floyd County

Editor:

For the past three years, Magoffin Countians have fought successfully to protect our county from a 10,000-ton-per-day landfill designed to take garbage and "special" wastes from out-of-state. While protecting our homes is a very personal struggle for us, we've always felt that we were also struggling for all of Kentucky.

Now that is even more so the case.

Last month, the Lexington-based law firm of Frost & Jacobs filed suit in U.S. District Court challenging portions of Kentucky's solid waste laws. Representing Virginia and Florida investors, their claim is that the authority and responsibility local governments have to manage solid waste interferes with interstate commerce.

Frost & Jacobs argue that their client should be allowed to build its 10,000-ton-per-day landfill in Magoffin County (or anywhere in Kentucky) even if it accepts no Magoffin County waste! Even if it accepts no Kentucky waste! They want to take control of solid waste disposal away from local and state governments.

We believe this is outrageous. And, obviously, this issue now affects Floyd and every Kentucky county.

The U.S. Congress is considering legislation that would help. The Interstate Waste Act would give state governments authority to limit the importation of solid waste. The House Bill (HR 4779) also gives some authority to local governments and allows landfill permits to be denied if

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers

Court orders go unserved, women unprotected

Anyone who needed proof that Kentucky is failing to protect beaten women discovered it anew last Friday.

That's when a legislative task force on domestic violence learned some astonishing facts. More than 27.8 percent of emergency protective orders issued in Kentucky last year were not served.

That means that thousands of beaten women who sought and got judges' orders to restrain violent men never got the real protection of the law. The judges issued the orders, but protection for many women ended there. More than a quarter of the 22,221 orders granted by the state's judges were never served.

We don't know why yet, but Marsha Roth, executive director of the Jefferson County Office for Women, has a theory. She thinks the orders are not priorities in some counties. "It depends on attitudes," she said. "Someone needs to be accountable for not serving them. It should not be an option."

Roth, a member of the task force, is right about that. It's true that law officers are sometimes unable to find the abusers to serve them with court orders. But those failed attempts at service should be rare. When it comes to court orders, serving protective orders should be the highest priority for law enforcement—much higher, for instance, than serving an order that applies to a cold check.

Judges, police, clerks and prosecutors must be there for victims of domestic violence every time they ask for help. They must do all they can to provide the full protection Kentucky law requires. Women's lives depend on such a forceful response.

The legislative task force promises to work immediately on solutions to Kentucky's failure to protect beaten women. And another panel created with the blessings of Gov. Brereton Jones, Attorney General Chris Gorman and Chief Justice Robert F. Stephens showed Tuesday that it was intent on finding solutions too, with Stephens setting in motion an effort to tighten bail procedures for abusive men.

Their initial meetings suggest that both panels are on course to provide abused women with the full protection of the law.—Lexington Herald-Leader

Dogged determination

We'd like to speak on the subject of dogged determination. And against those who say, "Oh, you'll never be able to accomplish that!" Two cases in point will make my point that keeping the goal in view and always believing it can happen is about the only way something major can come about. Kentucky Opry and Thunder Ridge.

Before I belabor these points further, have you ever noticed how success breeds success? It brings the naysayers to their knees, although most often they'll cop out by saying something like, "I told you it could be done and I was backing you all the way!"

Billie Jean Osborne, the Betsy Layne music teacher whose relentless dream of Kentucky Opry has now blossomed, probably has heard that kind of comment a lot when she was on the lean side of her plans. Back when people listened to her excited vision of what could be with polite uneasiness.

The backers of Thunder Ridge fought setback after setback and many times it looked like they were down for the count. But now, they're here providing entertainment that simply wasn't there before and creating jobs in the process.

And the day is coming when many visitors will grace the stages and hallways of the Mountain Arts Center, the $7 million dream of Billie Jean Osborne.

Our hope is, with these two clear examples of how it can be done, more clever visionary entrepreneurs will get into the action. That's the best way Eastern Kentucky can grow and diversify...from dreams that refuse to be denied.—The Mountain Citizen

STORMING ANOTHER MALE CITADEL

by Kim Franke
Scripps Howard News Service

"Justice is better than chivalry if we cannot have both."—Alice Stone Blackwell

When I was just a little girl, Santa brought me a cowboy costume—or, rather, a "cowgirl" costume. It came with a red fringed miniskirt and a matching bolero, a gun belt with two pearl-handed cap guns, and—packed away neatly at the very bottom of the box—a handlebar mustache.

It took me a little while to unscramble the mixed signal that mustache sent, but what I eventually came up with was this: If you really want to sleep in the bunkhouse, baby, you've got to look like one of the boys.

Well, I suppose I knew even then that I shouldn't look a gift horse in the mouth—even if it had kicked me in the teeth. So I poked the mustache up my nose, smiled down at my red fringed miniskirt and promptly gunned down my Barbie dolls.

That was 30 years ago, but apparently things haven't changed all that much. It seems women are still receiving mixed messages when their dreams don't fit the norm.

In January, 19-year-old Shannon Faulkner traded in her glass slippers for a pair of combat boots and became the first woman to attend classes at The Citadel, the famed military college in Charleston, S.C. This wasn't an easy feat. The school was less than anxious to change its males-only admissions policy and refused to let her in—that is, until U.S. District Judge C. Weston Houck ruled that the policy was unconstitutional because the school receives state and federal funding.

Now, the college wants to shave Faulkner's head, military style, in keeping with what it says is a devotion to uniformity and "a symbolic relinquishing of individuality." Judge Houck has agreed that this is OK, ruling that the law acknowledges no difference between men and women and how they wear their hair—or lack of it.

And that is as it should be. Fair is fair, and if the other members of The Citadel's corps of cadets have to walk around with nubby noggins, Faulkner should, too, I suppose.

Anyway, whether it's a handlebar mustache or a bad haircut, it seems a small price to pay for a dream. And so far it seems the rules still state that if you want to sleep in the barracks, you've got to look the part.

The thing is, the judge also ruled that—haircut or no—The Citadel doesn't have to let Faulkner sleep in the barracks. She will reside, instead, in a private room in the infirmary—far from any clear and present danger presented by either spiteful or lustful cadets.

Apparently, the school and Judge Houck feel that it's up to Faulkner to exercise all the self-control in this situation, not the men. The lady must buck up and accept the haircut, but the gentlemen cannot be asked to accept the lady. So much for the chivalry of the South. The next move is Faulkner's.

If she's smart, Faulkner will brave the haircut and show the folks at The Citadel for the petty pouters that they are. The amount of support she would receive from other women—and men, too, I think—would be overwhelming. Perhaps shaved heads will even become the vogue—a sensational sign of solidarity.

Meanwhile, let The Citadel believe it's won this battle—the war has just begun. Shannon Faulkner has made the first assault on the ivory tower, but she will not be the last.

they met no local or regional need.

We ask your readers to contact their U.S. Representative and ask for support of the Interstate Waste Act. In addition, Senators Mitch McConnell and Wendell Ford need to be asked to take the lead in strengthening the Senate version of the bill, which would not help Kentucky all that much the way it is now written. It needs to include authority for local governments and the right to deny permits for unneeded landfills.

The controversy of Kentucky becoming the nation's dumping ground has gone on long enough. It's time that our federal legislators gave local communities some power to control our own destinies.

False alarm: no cocaine found in boy, 6, after all

The report that a 6-year-old Eastern Kentucky boy who collapsed at school last week had cocaine in his system was mistaken, the result of a false positive reading on a urine sample, authorities now say.

Lt. Paul Maynard of the Kentucky State Police said officials from Cabell-Huntington Hospital in West Virginia told him about the mistaken report on Raymond Dindal of Martin County.

"We can confirm that there has been a negative blood result for cocaine," hospital spokeswoman Dayna Massie said. She could not explain how the error occurred.

UK score raising interest in Salyersville bank CDs

Some UK fans were cheering for two reasons Saturday when Isaac Curtis scored Kentucky's only touchdown against Florida.

UK had points on the board and Salyersville National Bank had added .01 percent to the interest rate on their Wildcat TD CD.

The bank's president, Tim W. Weddington, was happy for a third reason—the $460,000 invested in Wildcat Touch Down Certificates of Deposit since the program began two weeks ago.

About 40 percent of the money came from new customers, Weddington said yesterday. The remainder came from savings accounts or expiring CDs, money that might have been invested elsewhere without the Wildcat TD CD.

Weddington got the idea for the Wildcat TD CD from Central Bank & Trust Co. in Lexington.

Paintsville first for ethics

Paintsville became the first Kentucky city to approve an ethics code for its officials, one day after Franklin County became the first county to adopt such a measure, said Tom Armstrong, local finance officer for the state Department of Local Government.

The General Assembly passed a law earlier this year that for the first time requires local governments to establish standards of conduct for elected officials by January 1.

The Paintsville ordinance is similar to a model code developed by the League of Kentucky Cities, said City Attorney Frank Heaberlin. The Johnson County seat will prohibit the hiring of most officials' relatives, but Mayor Robin Cooper said the code can be amended if problems crop up.

Willis Tackett of Ligon climbed the greasy pole to win the prize.

Some of the Squirrel Festival helpers wore badges showing their support for a local judge.

This pole climber failed to reach the top, but she gave it a good try.

This little tyke sported a bandana hanging out of his back pocket, and he looked as if he was part of the mountain festivities.

Dustin Brown of McDowell tried to bite into the apple during the apple bobbing contest.

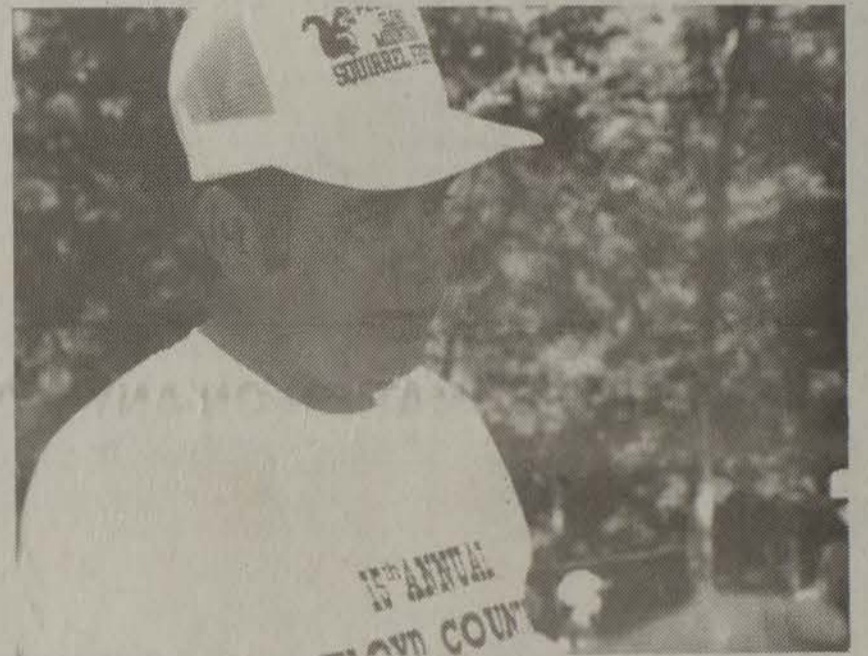

Keisha Slone, daughter of Ray Slone, was all smiles as she displayed the ribbon she won.

The cooks at the Squirrel Festival spent the morning preparing a feast for those visiting the festival. The food and drinks were free.

Carter Smith is just one of the many folks who lend a hand at the festival.

Mike Tuttle of Wheelwright won a trophy in the rope jumping contest.

Nick Hoover of Eastern was the sack race winner.

The festival just wouldn't be the same without the food prepared by Mary Annis Hamilton.

Ray Slone and Odie Hicks took time to chat during the festival.

The day was hot and the food was hotter, but the food servers kept a smile on their faces as they handed out the grub.

Misty Halbert of McDowell won the girls' sack race and the rope skipping contest. She also won first place with Jennifer Spriggs in the running relay competition.

Bank Josephine names Wise as new president

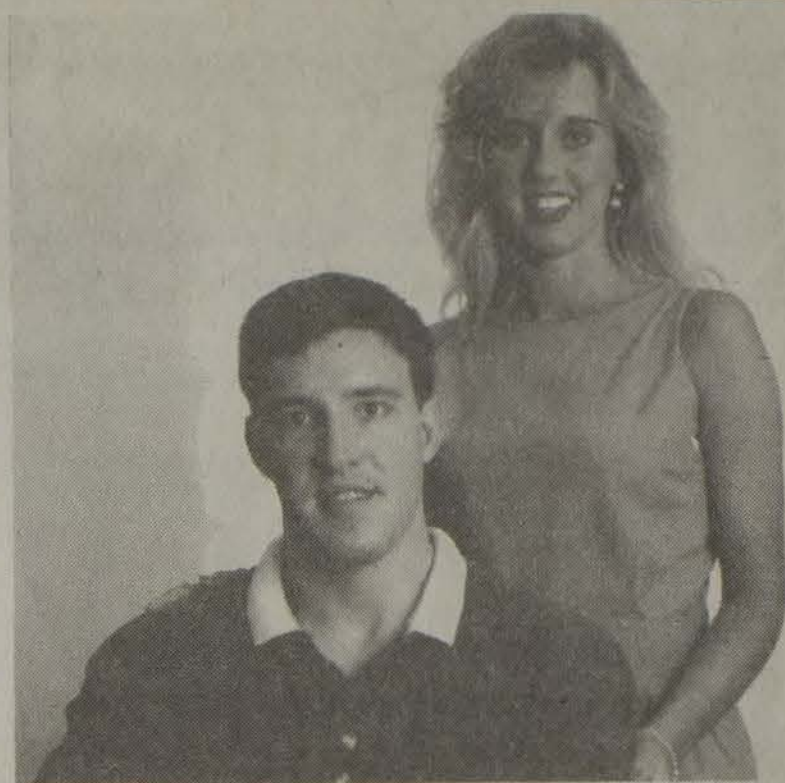

The Board of Directors of The Bank Josephine unanimously approved the election of Don Wise as the bank's new president and chief executive officer during their July meeting of the board.

Wise brings over 36 years of banking experience to The Bank Josephine. Most recently, he has been working with the Kentucky Bankers Association, traveling throughout the state working in the organizations membership relations program. Prior to the state organization position, Wise was employed as an Officer of Farmers Bank & Trust, a $115 M organization in Georgetown, from 1974 through 1992 with the last eight years as its president and chief executive officer.

Wise attended the University of Oklahoma, is a graduate of the National Commercial Lending School, and a graduate of the Louisiana State University School of Banking of the South.

He has been active in civic and community affairs which have included being a director of the Georgetown-Scott County Chamber of Commerce, county chairman of the Scott County United Way Campaign, vice chairman, Board of Commissioners of the Georgetown Water and Service, as well as serving as president of the Georgetown Rotary Club, Bluegrass Chapter of the American Institute of Banking and the Scott County Little League.

He and his wife, Jean, are currently making plans to move to the Floyd County area and are looking forward to being a part of the Prestonsburg, Floyd County community.

PCC offers seminar on buying a home

Thinking about buying a home? Wait! Before searching for your dream home, be sure to take advantage of a special seminar being offered at Prestonsburg Community College.

The seminar entitled "Buying a Home: Problems to Avoid" will be conducted by attorney George Keith Wells. The presentation will focus on questions to ask the current homeowners, title searches, real property versus personal property, appraisals, and other information a future homeowner needs to know.

The cost to attend is $5, nothing compared to the amount you may save after listening to Mr. Wells' advice. The seminar will be held on Tuesday, September 20, from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Pike Auditorium on the Prestonsburg Campus.

For more information, contact Mazola Salmons at PCC at (606) 886-3863, Ext. 437.

SEE YOU AT THE POLE!

September 21, 1994
Joel 2

A DAY OF PRAYER FOR AMERICA'S YOUTH IN CRISIS

See You At The Pole (SYATP) is a teen-led national prayer movement. It is a united effort to allow the biblically prescribed solution for crisis in a nation. It focuses attention on the crisis faced by American teens. It summons the community to get involved in the crisis. Also, it is a declaration of our dependence on God as the solution to the crisis through the reconciliation of lost people to Him. SYATP is not a demonstration protest, an equal rights rally, a publicity stunt, a patriotic rally, or an alternative to prayer in schools. SYATP is allowed by the U.S. Constitution as a First Amendment right. In 1993, more than 1 million people participated in SYATP prayer rallies all across America.

HOW CAN YOU BE INVOLVED?

Plan to join a SYATP prayer rally on the morning of September 21, 1994 at 7:30 a.m. Teenagers are encouraged to gather at their school flagpoles. Adults are encouraged to meet at the courthouse flagpole in Prestonsburg.

A STAR IS BORN

Lights! Action! Cameras! This past Sunday our family increased in size when our niece and nephew became the parents of a son, Burr Burr. No. That's not his real name. I've just been calling him that from the womb. Now that he's here, his mother and father are calling him J.D. and have politely suggested that everyone else do the same.

J.D. arrived amid throes of family, friends, flash bulbs and video cameras. In the future, if it is determined that video cameras contain any type of contaminating material, Burr Burr might end up sterile because every second of his arrival (and every inch of his posterior) has been recorded for posterity.

Besides the grandparents, there were aunts, uncles, nieces, sisters-in-law, cousins, and friends who were on hand to witness the event even though the mother refused to have the actual birth videoed for future reference.

"Nobody better come into that delivery room with a video camera," Paula announced firmly.

"Be a sport, Paula," her husband said in a joking manner. "I thought you might be able to hold the camera during delivery."

"That's not funny," she said.

"Let's get a picture around the bed," someone suggested.

We all gathered around the bed and had our picture taken with the tired mother-to-be who was lying in the bed with a blood pressure cuff attached to one arm and an I.V. on the other. After looking at the picture, all we know for sure is that it's a woman in a hospital bed with a fat arm and a lot of glassy-eyed people sitting around her.

"Who's going to video Paula going into the delivery room?" her frantic mother asked.

"I'll do it," I offered nicely.

My family eyed me suspiciously because I can't take pictures of intact bodies. Pictures I take either have heads or legs, just not in the same photo.

"I can do it," I assured them. "All you have to do is tell me how to use it and when." As Paula was wheeled into the delivery room I got the back of her head, but I got her entire body. The one time she would have preferred that I had gotten her from the neck up, I got every extra inch. When I turned away from Paula, I noticed that the paternal grandmother was videoing her. Behind her were two people taking camera shots.

Then we waited. At approximately 4:02 p.m., the proud father strutted out of the delivery room. We all screamed for him to tell us the sex, but from the "I'm a stud" look on his face and the way he beat his chest with his fists as he gave out a Tarzan whoop, we correctly surmised "it" was a boy.

"Is Paula all right?" we asked.

Our question was ignored as the puffed up father walked back into the delivery room to video the rest of the event.

The movie will be out in the spring.

THE TIMES' WEEKEND

Lettermen bring songs of love to Pikeville

The Lettermen open the Pikeville Concert Association Inc.'s season of entertainment Thursday, September 22.

Twenty million records and seven thousand concert shows ago, three young men in letter sweaters hit the music charts with their first single, "The Way You Look Tonight."

The soft, melodic tune was a departure from the hard-driving music of that day, but listener requests made it a must for disc jockey play lists all over the country.

In almost every poll, THE LETTERMEN became "Best Vocal Group" or "Best New Group."

Hit after hit followed: "When I Fall in Love," "Theme From A Summer Place," "Going Out Of My Head/Can't Take My Eyes Off You," "Put Your Head On My Shoulder," "Hurt So Bad," and "Shangri-La" as well as over 50 albums filled with special romantic Lettermen harmony.

One deejay said The Lettermen sound was "the best thing that happened to romance since moonlight." Over the years, however, The Lettermen have

Although they have had more than their share of recording successes, The Lettermen pride themselves on their live performances. Each show is a valentine to every audience as they maintain a whirlwind touring scheduling throughout the United States.

The Lettermen concert will begin at 7:30 p.m., September 22 in Faith Chapel at Pikeville College.

Other entertainers during the 1994-95 concert season are Roberta Guthrie, October 18; Lexington Philharmonic Orchestra, October 20; Carl Hurley, November 15; and Mac Frampton, March 30.

All performances will be given at Faith Chapel of Pikeville College. No recording devices, motion picture, video or regular cameras are allowed inside the theatre unless approved by the artist. Food or drink is also not allowed inside the theatre.

Memberships for the season are $60 for families; $25 for individuals; and $10 for students. Season tickets may be purchased at the door, or by calling 432-3847 or 437-7878.

been aware of the ever-changing music scene.

Therefore, the group has constantly updated their shows through the trends of folk sound, amplified guitars, and synthesized keyboards to always keep the act 'today.' Through all these trends, The Lettermen theme still remains the love song.

News of the Weird

By Chuck Shepherd

In June, the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C., featured a show on "minimalism," in which sometimes quite ordinary objects are offered as art. Included, for example, was a wrapped package, in brown paper and string, entitled "Package," by Christo. According to The Washington Post, when gallery technician Glenn Perry was installing some of the exhibits with the aid of his tool cart, "several patrons and critics" gathered around the cart and studied it, as if it were an exhibit, before Perry finished his work and rolled the cart away.

COULDN'T POSSIBLY BE TRUE

In Baton Rouge, La., in June, minutes after funeral services for a 25-year-old man ended, his body caught fire inside the closed coffin, causing smoke to come shooting out of the cracks. Investigators said embalming fluids spontaneously combusted.

In Kissimmee, Fla., in May, William Nelson was shot twice at point-blank range by a man with a .38-caliber snubnose revolver. One shot went through his shoulder and exited his back; the other bullet hit Nelson "square in the forehead and just stopped," said police officer Jim Lakey, leaving as Nelson's major problem only that his "ears were ringing."

The Consumer Product Safety Commission's May report on sports injuries said 1,455 people were sent to emergency rooms in 1992 with injuries from playing ping-pong.

Daniel Czubko, 32, went on the lam in late July when police in Bakersfield, Calif., sought him on charges that he had stalked his estranged wife. According to police, Czubko secretly moved into a 2 1/2-foot-high crawl space underneath the floor of Mrs. Czubko's new home on about July 23 and stayed for a week, listening to her activities, then leaving briefly to harass her on the phone by eerily describing what she was wearing and what she had been doing.

In a story on Elvis Week '94 in August in Memphis, The Commercial Appeal newspaper reported its selections as the two most bizarre Elvis collectors' memorabilia, both of which belong to Joni Mabe of Athens, Ga. One is a toenail she claims was Elvis', picked out of a carpet in the Jungle Room during her 1983 visit to Graceland; the other is a wart that was removed from Elvis' right wrist in 1957. She said she purchased the wart, encased in formaldehyde, from the operating surgeon's estate in 1990.

William Powell, 35, was convicted of assault in Detroit in June after a court found that he intentionally pulled his pregnant, 33-year-old girlfriend part way through the window of his van as he sped through the neighborhood, rammed her body against a telephone pole, and kicked her after he stopped the van. The woman, who lost the baby as well as an arm and a leg in the incident, testified in support of Powell, saying that the incident was her fault.

Police in Mendota Heights, Minn., filed armed robbery charges against John P. Wuchko, 28, in July. According to police, Wuchko left no fingerprints at the scene because he wore surgical gloves, but they recovered one of the gloves nearby and found Wuchko's fingerprint on the inside of one of the fingers.

PEOPLE IN THE WRONG PLACE AT THE WRONG TIME

In Las Vegas, Nev., four undocumented aliens were deported to Mexico in July after being turned in by the customer for whom they were installing carpet. The customer was Arthur Strapp, head of the local office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS). Said Strapp, "Out of 900,000 people in Las Vegas, they picked my house." And in March, a Haitian woman who had just landed illegally in St. Croix, the Virgin Islands, was arrested when she hailed what she thought was a taxicab but which turned out to be an official INS car.

In January and February, respectively, inmates escaping from prisons in Lancaster, Calif., and Immokalee, Fla., by hiding in garbage trucks, failed to get out of the trucks before they were compacted into bales of trash. The California man survived, but the Florida man, who was serving a life sentence for kidnapping, was found dead, badly mangled, in a landfill, where the truck had deposited him.

CRIES FOR HELP

Last fall, the California Bar Association finally disciplined Berkeley, Calif. Attorney Morgan Doyle for a string of incidents dating back eight years. Among them, according to the bar association: In 1985, he fired a shotgun from the roof of his apartment building to celebrate what he called the exploration of the West and the arrival of a battleship in the San Francisco harbor; and in 1991, after the owner of a restaurant refused to yield to Doyle's repeated, inexplicable requests for free croissants, Doyle threw food around the room and threatened the man and his wife. The bar association, noting that none of the incidents involved "moral turpitude," suspended Doyle for 30 days.

LEAST COMPETENT CRIMINAL

Danny Kelley, 17, was charged again in August for burglarizing a home near San Antonio, Texas. Last year, the 400-pound Kelley was arrested for another home burglary, during which he had also raided the refrigerator, after police traced a trail of discarded ice cream wrappers from that house to Kelley's in the same neighborhood.

Popperri

by Scott Perry

The story of a New York gardener accused of animal cruelty for 'offing' a tomato stealing rat brings to mind my first homicide investigation as a young cub reporter nearly thirty years ago.

The story you are about to read is true. The names haven't been changed to protect the innocent because, well, everybody was guilty.

It was a gray and dreary day.

Early December, 1966. Wednesday afternoon.

There was a light dusting of snow on the ground and the skies promised more.

We had just put the paper "to bed." My mother was in the washroom cleaning the ink from her hands when she was, um, startled by a large rodent of the sewer rat variety that emerged from the toilet beside her.

It's shifty eyes and nervous behavior betrayed the fact that this critter was running from something, or someone.

My mother made the first mistake, and the rat made the second.

She opened the bathroom door, shrieking.

The rat fled.

We tried to corner the beast...just for questioning, you know...but it masterfully avoided the dragnet.

It was a fugitive, all right. No doubt about it.

Just then, a customer opened the front door to the office and the rat made its second, and fatal miscalculation.

Out onto the street it scurried, rat-like.

Down the sidewalk it sped where, a few doors down, an unsuspecting hardware store customer was emerging with a newly purchased snow shovel in hand.

"STOP THAT RAT!" our expanding posse yelled in unison.

He did, bringing the snow shovel down in an involuntary reaction.

Splat.

No more rat.

We gathered around the body...somebody poked it with a stick.

The excitement of the chase had evaporated quickly, leaving us wondering if we had done the right thing.

Perhaps this rat wasn't so bad. Maybe it had just made a wrong turn somewhere in its life and ended up in the wrong toilet at the wrong time.

Had we let mob rule take over our senses?

Had this rat been an innocent victim of circumstance?

Did we have the blood of a poor, misunderstood creature of nature on our hands?

Would our consciences be forever haunted by this dastardly act of violence?

Nah.

The only good rat is a dead rat.

Case closed.

No charges were filed.

While Eduardo scurried to keep Holden and Lily from the crucial file, she managed to escape unnoticed after being trapped in the file room by Cesare. Damian arrived in Rome and found Lily and Holden at Cafe Rigoletto. Larry let Emily see a photograph of baby Alison. Wait To See: Eduardo realizes time is short!

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Omar told Laila (Taylor) she had captured his heart. Later, he warned Moustafa not to reveal to her, or anyone, that she's really Dr. Taylor Hayes Forrester. Stephanie found Jessica in Dylan's dorm room and had him arrested for statutory rape. James and Connor tried to figure out why Taylor's conference notes had been found in Morocco. The Spectra gang prepared for their big fashion show while Macy announced she and Thorne had signed the record deal.

Dylan was sent to jail for the night when he couldn't raise $25,000 for bail. Wait To See: Dylan finds an unexpected friend.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Billie was devastated when Bo said he had chosen to stay with Gina. Father Francis showed John a picture of Father John Black in clerical garb with John's inscription on the back. Peter arranged to have a statue in Laura's office "speak" to her as part of his gaslighting plot. After her newest ploy didn't split Kate and Victor as she hoped, Vivian used Lucas' discontent with Billie and Austin to further her plans. Kristen broke up with John and reconciled with Tony. Furious with God for taking away the woman he loves, John decided to prove he's no priest in the most graphic way. Wait To See: Alan plans his revenge on the Brady sisters.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: After learning Ned's true identity, Lois staged her own "coming out" event at Katherine's birthday party. Realizing Jason and Keesha were growing closer, Mary Mae told her and Justus she'd once had an affair with a white naval officer. Damian said he would sue Tony if surgery didn't reverse his paralysis. Kylie provided Luke and Justus with information about Bradley Ward's murder. Lucy was delighted with Ned's plans for her at Deception. Wait To See: Monica faces a crisis in her recovery.

GUIDING LIGHT: A lonely Alexandra reached out to Alan, who rebuffed her. Alan then arranged to get to Vanessa by using Jenna. Dylan broke up with Bridget in front of the Lewises. Lucy thought Matt had fled, but after developing her photos, she realized he had rescued Marina from danger. Tangie found her rescuer in an abandoned ship and was stunned to see he's Alan-Michael. She contacted Alan for medical assistance. Unaware it was his son who needed help, Alan agreed to provide it in exchange for information on Blake and Spaulding Enterprises. In Chicago, Gabriella helped David get a lead on the scrimshaw keychain. Alan watched as Blake approached Tangie, hoping to learn the identity of her mystery friend. Wait To See: Alan gets disturbing information.

LOVING: Stacey and Buck argued about his relationship with Tess. Alex was upset to find out about Ava's acquisition of Burrell's. Jeremy managed to escape from Gilbert during a bitter struggle, only to be recaptured by him. Dinah Lee began her attempts to adjust to life outside the hospital. Overworked and fatigued, Casey snapped at Ally. Wait To See: Cabot's changes create a new dilemma for several people.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Tony realized he was suspected of being Alice's attacker. Anxious to show his maturity, Joey allowed himself to be drawn toward Dorian. Andrew tried to discuss their mutual attraction with Marty. Max helped Luna take her first step. Rebecca had a confrontation with Powell. Wait To See: Cassie makes an important decision.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: After Danny confessed he'd had an affair with a woman who bore his son, Chris ordered him out of the apartment. While Dru wondered how she could have become pregnant (she and Neil used birth control), Olivia recalled Dru's "sexual dream" under the influence of flu medication and Malcolm's visit to check up on her. Victor and Cole flew to New York where Cole decked Glen when he showed off Victoria's nude centerfold. Victor, who bought the magazine, then fired Glen and Alec. Jed chose not to show Nikki Victoria's centerfold after she told him of Jack's engagement and her dispute with her son. Wait To See: Keemo makes a fateful choice.

HOME TIPS

SLICE AND SERVE—Because my family likes double-cheese pizzas, I bake my own at home. The pizza pans I purchased had deep lines cut into them by the pizza-cutter wheel. Cutting the pizzas was an awful project—until I remembered my trusty kitchen scissors.

Now I cut through the pizzas and toppings with ease. The scissors come apart for cleaning and disinfecting. The pans no longer bear the marks. My pizza slices aren't pulled or pushed off the pan while cutting and I don't burn my fingers! Kate G., Phoenix, Ariz.

KEEP IT CLEAN—I use only one rack in my oven and keep the other under the sink. This way, if there is any dripping or spattering, I don't have two racks to clean, yet the other one is at hand when needed. My oven is self-cleaning, but the racks are cleaned manually to keep them shiny, so anything that helps is a blessing and a timesaver. Jeanine W., College Park, Md.

JOT IT DOWN—I correspond with several relatives and friends. Sometimes it is a month or so before I am able to answer their letters. As events happen that I plan to tell them about, I jot them down on the back of their unanswered letter. Then, when I am ready to write to that person, I can easily remember the things I want to share. Julia C., Washington, D.C.

COUPON CLIP—Before I go to the supermarket, I get out all the coupons I know I'm going to use. I take a letter-sized envelope and on the outside I list the name of the coupon and amount beside the name. Then I put the coupons in the order of the store aisles and insert them in the envelope. As I purchase an item, I just mark it off on the envelope.

When I get to the checkout, all I do is take the coupons out of the envelope and give them to the cashier. Brittany K., Louisville, Ky.

What may well be the country's most eagerly awaited baby just celebrated his first month of life with his doting parents, Genie Francis and Jonathan Frakes. The couple's first child made his debut on Saturday, August 20, weighing eight pounds, six ounces. He was named Benjamin Ivor (for his maternal grandfather, the late actor and acting teacher, Ivor Francis) Frakes.

Genie is expected to return to her role of Laura Spencer on "General Hospital" later this month. Jonathan, whose series, "Star Trek: The Next Generation" wound up its long, successful stint on TV, and the first of many movies to come, has some directing projects he hopes to get under way soon. But, for now, the two happy parents can hardly be blamed for telling everyone that so far as they're concerned, they've just premiered the best production of their lives.

Congratulations to Susan Lucci who was given an Achievement Award by Women in Film on September 10. Susan, who plays Erica on "All My Children," was recognized for her contributions to the television medium.

Kathleen Noone, who went from

"AMC" to "Dallas" "sister series, "Knots Landing," stars in "The Crimson Thread." The play about three Irish sisters just opened at the Pasadena Playhouse. Co-starring with Kathleen is Stephanie Zimbalist and Shanna Reed (ex "Texas" and "Major Dad"). Dan Lauria of "The Wonder Years," does a wonderful job as director of the piece. The production will run from September 18 through October 23.

ROLE CALLS: Maeve McGuire, who has lent her bright, talented self to such soaps as "Search for Tomorrow," "The Edge of Night," and "Another World," has a limited run role on "One Life to Live" as Beverly Crane, Sloan's (Roy Thinnes) high school sweetheart.

Sean Marquette is all of five years old and already a veteran of a major emotional story line in his newly assumed role of Jamie Martin on "AMC." Sean replaces the twins, Jamal and Jamil Azizi as the son of Brooke English (Julia Barr) and Tad Martin (Michael E. Knight). Sean's tear-jerker took place last Monday, September 12, when he bravely went off to school for the first time, leaving mom, Brooke, awash in tears.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Some you deal with in business may be evasive or unpredictable. You're enthusiastic this week but you may be tempted to overspend. Group interests are favored. The weekend is ideal for work of a creative nature.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You could overplay your hand in business. It would be better to play your cards close to the vest. Information you wanted to keep secret may be inadvertently disclosed by someone you trusted. Be careful.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Think before you act. You may underestimate the difficulty of an assignment or take on more than you can handle. News comes from friends at a distance. The latter part of the week is good for job interviews.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're in an adventurous mood but it's best to avoid financial risk-taking and overspending on pleasure interests. Business interests are favored. Artistic sensibilities are heightened. The weekend favors cultural interests.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Extra self-discipline will be needed to override distractions at work this week. You'll finalize an agreement. You may clash with a relative who keeps harping on the past. Talks with financial advisers are favored.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A tendency to be overly enthusiastic could cause you to lose objectivity. Work gains are likely, however. You may call it quits with a certain project that's at a standstill but this will be the right decision. Reaching agreements is favored.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You could push your luck too far. Seek a more moderate course. Refrain from gambling and financial risk-taking. A hobby that once fascinated you may no longer appeal to you. Business luncheons are favored.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) There could be a few false starts at work before you get on the right track. Couples certainly won't run out of things to say to each other this week. It's a time for sharing ideas and enjoying romantic outings.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Be careful that you don't put your foot in your mouth and say something embarrassing. An off-beat item for sale is bizarre; perhaps you should save your money. An understanding is reached with a relative.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You may decide to end your participation in a group activity this week. Creative types will enjoy a time of remarkable productivity. Romance is fun and carefree. When socializing with friends, you could spend too much mopey this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Your communicative abilities are excellent this week but the signals you receive from others may be unclear. A practical and conservative course is best in business. A confrontation could erupt. Stand your ground.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Place the emphasis on saving rather than spending money this week. Make important phone calls, as you are especially charismatic and charming. Local travel may have romantic overtones. Someone close to you is opinionated.

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Strike 3, y'er out!

I heard the news. I couldn't believe it!

No more baseball. No more Marty and Joe. No more listening to games in my many travels around the area. Or listening to the best two announcers in the business when I'm coming home late from games.

I just couldn't believe it. Why? Because I knew that the threat to cancel the rest of the season was there. I knew the owners were going to have to do something. I knew all this in advance.

Why am I shocked? All the time I was saying 'I just don't care if they don't play anymore.' And I really meant it -- then.

But the thought of baseball's future being very bleak concerns me now.

Forget the new league they are talking about. It's not the same. Baseball has been the American pastime and still is, even with the growth of popularity of the NFL.

I thought, just like many others did, football season is here and who needs baseball. I do! You do! We all do!

The fact that baseball isn't going to be played anymore this season is well and good, because we do have football and the basketball season is around the corner. But what happens in the spring and next summer? Listen, I'm concerned that they are going to destroy my game -- baseball.

I don't like the crybaby players who are soaking in their millions and who have failed miserably to be role models for the younger kids. But I care about the integrity of the game.

No one is worth the millions they get for playing the game. No one! But the owners are the ones who started the mess anyway when they started a bidding war for the services of players who were told by our court system that they could now become free agents.

I blame the players for being greedy, and I blame the owners for getting it all started anyway.

I don't want to see a new league started. That wouldn't be very interesting to watch, even if they use major league players. Bringing up minor league players would be all right for a while, but then it would grow old.

We want to watch Frank Thomas, Ken Griffey and Matt Williams.

I sure hope they get the mess straightened out before this year ends; because if they don't, chances are we will not be able to look forward to a major league season next year.

I, like others, have said that it didn't matter to me if they ever played again. But all of a sudden, when I think they may not, it does matter.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Parents take those kids to church Sunday. You'll be glad you did.

Prestonsburg gets final test at Belfry before district play

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The high school football season enters its fourth week and county teams are still looking for some answers as they near the half-way point of the season.

While some local fans may be wondering what is happening with the Blackcats, coach Bill Letton is looking for this team to jell. What better time to jell than tonight at Belfry.

fry.

The Blackcats are coming off a disappointing 10-7 loss to rival Whitesburg that occurred last Friday night at home. Though the game against the Pirates is not a district matchup, the Cats are looking to play well since some of their suspended players are returning to the squad.

Quarterback Thomas Ratliff needs a receiver to play beside tightend Ryan Ortega. It's not that Ortega hasn't done the job -- he has and very admirably. But another capable receiver would make Ratliff more active in passing the football.

Clint Shutts, returning for tonight's game, should give Ratliff another target to throw to. Last year Shutts was very active in the flats and seemed to have the knack of finding the flight of the football.

Turnovers certainly have been a problem for this Blackcat team. Ten fumbles at Lafayette two weeks ago and five this past Friday night are very uncharacteristic of a Blackcat football team.

The Class 3A Pirates have been having problems of their own lately and are currently 1-2 on the season after dropping a 20-15 decision to Breathitt County last Friday night.

Coach Phillip Haywood's Belfry teams have consistently been some of the state's top 3A teams. This year the Pirates seem to have similar problems Prestonsburg is having in taking care of the football.

Belfry is not one of the Belfry teams of the past and does not have, according to Coach Letton, that feature running back.

Coach Letton's Scouting Report...
"Belfry is a typical Belfry team," he said. "There may be a lot of new faces, but they are still the same. "Defensively, they may have

Paintsville grade edges elementary junior Blackcats

It was an exciting night of grade school football at the Prestonsburg stadium this past Tuesday night. Fans came out to see the Blackcat grade schoolers entertain the Paintsville Tigers in a triple-header.

The crowd was excited as the "midgets" of grade school football took to the gridiron for game one. The youngsters looked like "mighty men" after they donned their shoulder pads and helmets for their moment of glory.

Paintsville posted a 14-6 win over the Blackcats in the game. Shane Simpkins took charge early and scored the game's first touchdown on a 67-yard run. The conversion run gave the Tigers a 7-0 lead (in grade school football, a conversion run is good for only one point. A PAT is worth two points).

Slone leads Adams past Paintsville

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Floyd County Elementary Football Conference has entered its second week. The Adams' fifth and sixth grade team enjoyed a big night against the Paintsville Tigers this past Tuesday evening at the Prestonsburg football field.

The gridiron was filled with determined youngsters who gave it all they had in trying to bring home a win for their respective teams.

But it was the running of Josh Slone that propelled the Blackcats to a 6-2 win over the visiting Tigers.

Slone rushed for 96 yards and

The Blackcats had their standout players. Joey Willis showed what a future Blackcat can do. Willis had some long runs, with the longest being a 36-yard jaunt. Justin Isom also was impressive carrying the football.

Simpkins broke loose in the fourth quarter and headed down the sidelines with no one close to him and dropped the football while running. The ball went out of bounds at the Prestonsburg 9-yard line to save a score. The run covered 64 yards.

With 2:49 left in the fourth quarter, Simpkins took the spot behind center and on a sweep, ran the 9 yards for the touchdown. Scott Buchanan

Ortega rushes for 217 yards in 42-10 win over Paintsville Tigers

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Eighth-grader John Ortega rushed for 217 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead the Adams Middle School Blackcats past a good Paintsville Tiger team this past Tuesday night at the Prestonsburg football field.

But it could have been better, or worse, depending on how you look at it. Ortega had another possible 87 yards called back.

The Blackcats' defense scored on the first play of the game with Paintsville backed up to their own 7-yard line. Brandon Hicks shot the gap and sacked David Peters in the end zone for a safety to give the Cats a 2-0 lead at the 7:31 mark.

After the free kick, the Blackcats wasted no time getting eight more points on the scoreboard. Ortega took the handoff from quarterback Adam Hall and went 35 yards for the touchdown. Robert Spradlin kicked the PAT, the first of five, to make it a 10-0 game.

The Prestonsburg defense, led by outside linebacker Jeremy Caudill, shut down the outside running game of Paintsville. The Tigers gave up the ball with 3:36 left in the first period.

The Cats got excellent field position off the punt when they took the ball at the Paintsville 26-yard line. Kalen Harris had a pickup of 8 yards and Grant Castle ran for four before he took the ball in from the 2-yard line for the touchdown. Spradlin was good with the PAT and Prestonsburg led 18-0.

Paintsville continued to have trouble moving the football against the strong Prestonsburg defense, looking for running room on the outside after the middle was plugged.

On a first down-and-five play early in the second period, the Tigers fumbled the football with Jon T. May falling on the loose ball. Prestonsburg took over on the Paintsville 24. Two plays later, Hall connected with Lee Spriggs for a 11-yard touchdown pass. Spradlin added the PAT to make it a 26-0 contest.

Paintsville, not ready to quit, finally got their offense in gear and marched 63 yards for their first score. The combined running of Eric Slush and David Peters carried the football to the Blackcats' 3-yard line where they were flagged for an illegal procedure call. The ball was set back on the Prestonsburg 8-yard line where Peters took it into the end zone on second down play. The PAT was good and it was a 26-8 game.

After a good return of 18 yards by Ortega, spotting the ball at the Prestonsburg 42-yard line, Ortega took a pitch out from Hall. He raced 58 yards for a touchdown with 44 seconds left, and after Spradlin kicked the extra points, the Cats were on their way with a 34-8 advantage.

Paintsville got a break to start the third period when Adams fumbled the opening kickoff. The Tigers took over on the Blackcats' 46 only to see the drive stall out at the 13-yard line where Adams took over on downs.

On a bizarre play, the Cats were forced to punt out of their own end zone as Ortega stood to boot the football. On the ensuing kick, the Blackcats were flagged for an illegal procedure call, moving the football even farther back.

Once again Ortega took his position and waited for the ball. Instead of punting, the fleet-footed runner took off down the sideline for what appeared to be a 87-yard touchdown run. But the TD was called back when once again an illegal procedure flag was thrown.

On a third try of punting the foot-

Prestonsburg JVs fall at Shelby Valley

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Had their big play had succeeded, the Prestonsburg Junior Varsity Blackcats would have pulled off a big win over the Shelby Valley Wildcats JVs this past Monday night at Shelby Valley.

Blackcat coach Jack Goodman set up an on-side kick after his team had scored to make it a 15-12 game.

"We had never practiced it before," said the Prestonsburg coach.

The on-side kick worked as if it had been drawn up that way. Prestonsburg recovered the football at the Wildcats' 46-yard line with only 12 seconds left to play.

On a halfback pass, quarterback Mike Castle tossed to halfback Jon Morris, who passed deep to Wesley McGuire in the end zone. The pass was picked off by the Wildcats, voiding the comeback attempt.

Prestonsburg trailed 15-0 in the fourth quarter until Matt Laferty returned a kickoff 51 yards to the Shelby Valley 39 to set up the first Blackcat score.

Morris rushed for a 23-yard gainer and went outside for 16 yards and a touchdown to make it a 15-6 game.

Laferty was in on the second touchdown for the Blackcats when he took a punt return 29 yards to the Shelby Valley 48.

On a bootleg play, Castle lateraled to Morris who connected with McGuire in the end zone for the 48-yard TD pass.

Shelby Valley scored on their first possession in the first period when they moved the football 64 yards on six plays that ended when Chad ball, the kick was blocked and Ortega was tackled in the end zone for the safety and a 34-10 game.

Newsome scored from 5-yards out. Sterling Isaac added the PAT for a 7-

If at first you don't succeed, try again. With three minutes remaining in the game, the Cats were forced to punt again with Ortega standing three feet inside his end zone. Instead of punting, Ortega spotted an opening and galloped 103 yards for the TD, as everyone looked for yellow flags. Spradlin kicked the PAT and the Blackcats coasted to a 42-10 win.

Paintsville totaled 104 yards on offense. The Tigers rushed for 33 yards and passed for 71 on five of eleven throwing.

Peters totaled 28 yards on the ground with Slush rushing for 21.

Peters had one reception for 21 yards and Seth Lauffer caught one pass for 32 yards.

Adams rushed for 238 yards and Hall had one completion for 11 yards to give the Cats 249 total yardage.

Adams will face a strong Allen Eagle team next Tuesday at the Prestonsburg field.

Slone

scored the game's lone touchdown in the second period with 2:18 left in the first half.

The Tigers threatened to tie the game and take the lead when they moved all the way upfield to the Prestonsburg 6-yard line.

A loss of yardage spotted the ball at the Prestonsburg eight on a third-down play. The Blackcats' defense held strong on a fourth-down play and they took over the football on downs.

But giving up the football resulted in the Tigers getting on the scoreboard. Prestonsburg took over on their own 6-yard line, but an off-side penalty placed the ball half the distance, at the three. The Cats quarterback was hit in the end zone by the Tigers' defense for a safety making, it a 6-2 game.

Prestonsburg had to kickoff to the Tigers, giving the Tigers another shot at winning the game. However, the Blackcats held the Tigers on four plays and held on for the win.

Tony Dixon and Matt Slone also ran the football for the Blackcats. Prestonsburg had 108 yards rushing and did not have a pass completion in one attempt.

Paintsville totaled 128 yards rushing and did not attempt a pass.

Adams will play Allen Elementary Tuesday night, September 20, at the Prestonsburg field.

0 game.

The Blackcats put together a strong drive that ended when the ball was fumbled over to the Wildcats at the Shelby Valley 33. Three off-side penalties against the Wildcats helped Prestonsburg move the ball. Morris carried three times in the drive for 12 yards. Brian Jones carried three times for 13.

With 1:55 left in the first half, Prestonsburg fumbled the football back to Shelby Valley who marched to the Prestonsburg 8-yard line. With time running out, the Wildcats went for the field goal only to have McGuire make a block of the attempt.

The Blackcats took first possession in the second half and moved the football from their own 26 to the Shelby Valley five. Mike Castle looked sharp spotting his receivers and threw for 46 yards in the drive. He hit Neil Hamilton for a pick up of 15 yards. McGuire had two receptions for 31 yards.

However, the Cats couldn't stand prosperity and Laferty fumbled the ball away on a first-and-goal at the five.

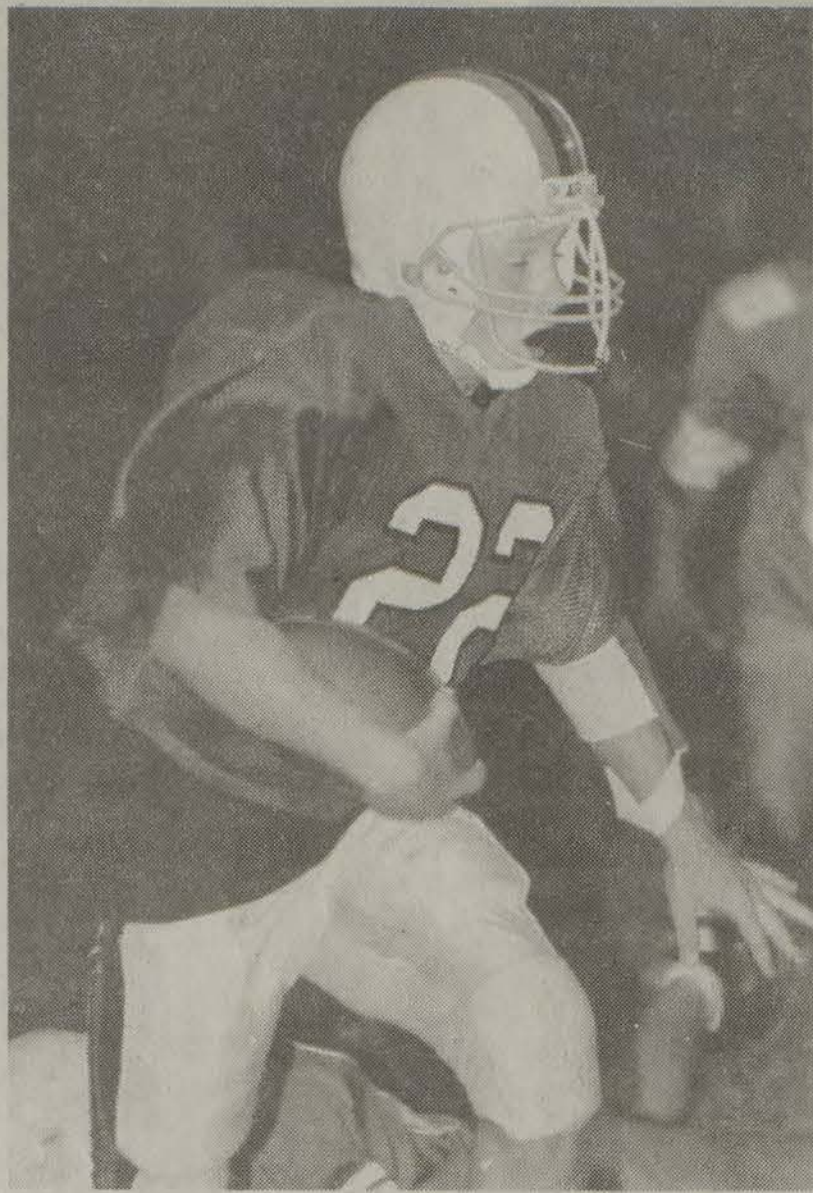

Prestonsburg totaled 166 yards on offense. They rushed for 101 yards while Castle threw for 65 on four of seven passing.

Morris carried the football 13 times for 82 yards. Laferty had 80 all-purpose yards. He had two returns for 75 yards. Jones carried six times for 14 yards.

Prestonsburg was penalized seven times for 55 yards. They fumbled and lost the football three times.

Isaac rushed for 170 yards for the Wildcats, who totaled 200 yards on the ground. Quarterback Lonnie Scott passed for 30 yards on two-of-four passing.

The Wildcats were flagged for 60 yards in penalties on eight flags. They fumbled the football three times, losing it twice.

Long gainer!

Adams Middle School back John Ortega carried for 58 yards and a touchdown on this play against Paintsville Tuesday night. Ortega scored two TDs in rushing for 217 yards. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Betsy Layne faces veteran East Carter team tonight

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

A lot of speed.

That's the best way to describe the East Carter football team that will entertain the Betsy Layne Bobcats in week four of the high school season.

East Carter (3-0) is coming off a win over Mason County (47-36) that was anything but a defensive battle. Betsy Layne lost to Morgan County last week 21-6, but played better than the final score would indicate.

Betsy Layne will send a huge line up against the Raiders led by Bubba Combs (6'4", 290) whom Raider coach Gary McPeck thinks is quicker than his size would indicate.

"He's a big tackle and a very good one at that," he said. "Combs is a hard hitter and has a nose for defense."

"Big" John Hall (6'3", 305) will join Combs and form what Coach McPeck terms a "huge front line."

Coach McPeck's Scouting Report...

"This will be the biggest front line that we will play against this year," he said. "They are extremely big. They will dwarf a little team like ours."

"They have a nice offensive line and that (Rocky) Hamilton kid is one of the better backs around the state. He runs hard and is a very strong kid."

"Betsy Layne is a physical team that is well coached. They have those big backs and they moved (Brent) Akers to the backfield. He has nice speed."

"Their quarterback (Craig Hamilton) follows well behind the other backs. Betsy Layne is a good football team. I saw them against Paintsville and I was very impressed with them. Any time you can play Paintsville as close as Betsy Layne did, you have to have a good team."

Coach McPeck said that his team is healthy and in good shape except for the normal bruises that comes with playing the game.

The Raiders' offense is geared around tailback Darren Fife, who is fifth in the state in rushing. Fife totaled 1,980 yards last season and has totaled 623 yards in three games this year.

While Fife would be enough, he isn't all of the Raiders' attack. Throw in Curtis Mackley and you have a duo that will run, run, and run some more. Mackley rushed for 187 yards last week against Mason County. Last year at Betsy Layne, Mackley had over 250 yards rushing, so his name should be familiar to Bobcat players.

A sophomore, Dave Marshall, will be at the quarterback slot. And what a sophomore he has been in three games. Marshall has tossed for seven touchdowns in the first three games and ripped the Mason County defense for three TD tosses last week.

Marshall has completed 10 of 18 pass attempts this season.

"He doesn't throw that much," said Coach McPeck. "But when he does throw, he is pretty much on the money."

At the other end of the passes has been junior Donald Bender (6'3", 230). He had three touchdown receptions last week against Mason County.

Gaines Womack, a junior, has pulled down three touchdown passes in three games.

"We just don't throw the football that much," said McPeck. "We run a lot of play action stuff at times."

Coach McPeck isn't surprised at his team's 3-0 start.

"We finished 8-4 last year and had a lot of players returning from that team," he said. "I knew we were going to be a competitive team. I expected a lot out of our players when they came back this season."

Although it is a non-district game, Coach McPeck says the game still has a significant meaning to the Raiders.

"We need to build some momentum," he said. "We start district play next week and we need to play well in this one."

Keys to a Raider win...

"We need to find a way to slow down their running game," he said. "They have those big backs and it will be difficult for us to contain their running, but we have to if we are to win."

"We have to guard against the big play. Last year, they came right out and threw the touchdown pass against us. We have to be ready for that," he said.

Coach McPeck said that he is glad he isn't playing the game on the road. "It's going to be a tough game for us," he said. "We just have to buckle down and get after them. I'm glad that we are playing this one at home."

Final test

added a couple new things, but basically they're still the same

"They execute well on offense and will run the option attack that they have run for years over there."

Coach Letton said that the Pirates will stack the front line with "the big guys they have there."

"They are a well-coached ballclub," he added. "They play smart and execute very well."

Matt McCoy (6'2", 178, senior) will lead the Pirates' offense.

"Their offense seems to start with him," said Letton. "He has several intangible qualities."

Irv Dotson (6'5", 290) will anchor the Pirates' defensive line. "He's a good one," said Letton.

"Their backs are solid. They will run north and south on you. While they do not have a feature back as in the past, they are solid there."

Injured list...

Blackcats Tim Layne and Gavin Hale are on the injured list.

"Thomas (Ratliff) and Larry (Morris) are still tender right now, but they will be ready to play."

Coach Letton said that his team is ready and they had "a very good week of practice."

Radio stations WKKZ and WQHY will air the Prestonsburg/Belfry game tonight beginning at 8 p.m.

Paintsville

ran the conversion for a 14-0 game.

Brandon Hurt had a 19-yard run for the Blackcats and Josh Bingham ran for a 13-yard gainer. Nick Chaffins, who was at quarterback, had a pickup of 23 yards in the third period.

The Blackcats avoided a shutout when Dustin Hammonds ran 44 yards down the sideline for a touchdown. The final score was 14-6.

Paintsville's Kyle Arms played a strong defensive game for the Tigers.

Clarity is the supreme politeness of him who wields a pen.

Kari takes over first place from publisher Scott Perry, but Jimmy Goble remains on the top row despite Marie making his picks. Ed continues to struggle because he is picking with his heart. He will do better. Allen Central will win their homecoming game against Berea. Kentucky and Indiana tie because the prognosticators couldn't decide what to do with the Wildcats this week. Florida gets the nod over Tennessee while Kansas and Auburn will win on the college level. In the pros, the Cleveland Browns should win over Arizona while Denver will handle the Raiders. Philly wins over Green Bay.

Rebels confident despite last week's blowout...

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Scouting Report...

The Allen Central Rebels haven't gotten off to the good start that Coach Glenn Reeves had hoped for in 1994. The Rebels have dropped their first three games. The Rebels could have very well been 2-1 instead of the 0-3 mark they now hold.

An early lead, which lasted until just over three minutes remaining in the game against Elkhorn City, disappeared as the Cougars came back to post the win.

A fourth quarter flurry by Fleming-Neon gave the Pirates a win over the Rebels.

The Rebels will now turn their attention to the Berea Pirates when they invade the Don Daniels Athletic Complex tonight for Homecoming 1994.

Coach Reeves likes the makeup of "Berea lost to Magoffin County 42-0 and we run the same type offense that Magoffin County runs," said Coach Reeves. "Berea has the Chasteen brothers. They are both good backs.

"Their quarterback has good skills. He's one of those of type players who can break loose on us.

"They have 24 players and come from a soccer area. That hurts their numbers. They like to throw the football a lot. They will run a 40 defense or a 43 with a strong safety," he explained.

Coach Reeves thinks that his ballclub has more confidence entering the Berea game, despite losing big to Pikeville.

"It really was a confidence builder for us," he said. "We figure if we can score on Pikeville, which we consider the best team in our district, then we also figure we can score on anyone.

"The kids are confident, not down.

It was a big confidence builder for us because we scored three times in the first half against their first team.

"They had to play their starters the whole game because we would have scored more if they hadn't.

"They did blow us off the line, that's true, but we got some good performances from our players," said Reeves.

Coach Reeves said that although the passing game against Pikeville accounted for their yardage, he would probably mix it up against Berea.

"Our offensive line did a great job of giving Adam (Coleman) time to throw the football. We will not look to pass all the time against Berea."

Coleman completed 15 of 40 passes for 295 yards of offense.

"We'll take that every game," said Coach Reeves.

Jenkins had three receptions for 125 yards. Kevin Stumbo, in his first game, caught two passes for 35 yards and Beau Tackett had 103 yards on five catches. One catch was a 73-yard TD catch.

Josh Reeves rushed for 30 yards against Pikeville and will be the leader out of the backfield tonight.

Keys to a Rebel win...

"Concentration," said the Rebels' coach. "Execution on defense. Our corners and ends will have to do a good job."

The Allen Central coach said that his team has put in some good practices and said they are ready to go. The Rebels have no injuries as they look for their first win.

Last year, Allen Central posted a 42-7 win over the Pirates in Richmond.

The homecoming festivities will get underway at 6 p.m.

Berea needs to stop Rebel passing game...

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It will be homecoming for the Allen Central Rebels when they play only their second game at the Don Daniels Athletic Complex.

The new scoreboard is in place and working and the stands are up in preparation for the large turnout expected on this special night.

Allen Central (0-3) will face Berea (0-3), and one of the two teams will finally get into the win column when the final horn is sounded tonight.

Berea coach Anthony Barsch is concerned about the size of this Allen Central team and he has other concerns as well.

Coach Barsch's Scouting Report...

The passing of Allen Central is the biggest concern that Berea coach Anthony Barsch has as his team faces the Rebels.

"I haven't seen them on film," said the Berea coach, "but I have been told they like to throw the football a lot. They have a good quarterback (Coleman) and a good receiver in (Thomas) Jenkins.

"We understand they are a big, strong team that likes to play power football, as well as put the ball up in the air," he said.

Barsch added that the big line the Rebels put up front could be a problem for his team.

"They are a very physical team and big on both lines," he said. "That could be a problem for us moving the football."

The Pirates will run the 4-4 on defense, something that help them toward the end of last season.

"We were successful with it last year toward the end of the season," said Barsch. "This year we are spending a lot more time with it and we have been able to do more with it."

Berea has only six seniors on the team, and Coach Barsch is looking to them for leadership this season.

Senior Scott Kaylor (6'2", 220) will quarterback the Pirates when they come into Allen Central. It hasn't been a good year thus far for the signal caller.

"He tries to throw the football as much as he can," said Coach Barsch. "But he has had six interceptions already this season. He has a good arm, but he just hasn't been able to make good decisions as of yet."

Senior Phillip Williams (5'11", 192) runs at the fullback slot and is a fixture there. Bruce Chasteen will run at the wingback position with his brother Anthony Chasteen at the tailback spot.

Keys for a Pirate win...

"We will have to play well defensively," said the Berea coach. "We will have to stop Jenkins. I've heard that he is a good athlete.

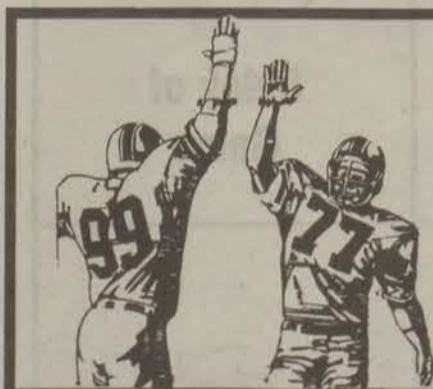

"And like I said, their quarterback has a good arm and we need to shut him down and stop their passing game. We will have to play hard against their run."

The Pirates will see limited playing time out of their top back Eric Hasty (5'9", 150). Hasty was injured in the first game of the season against McCreary Central.

"He may see some playing time, but he won't start," said Coach Barsch. "Just how much playing time, I don't know right now."

Freshmen Robert Bahrs (6'2", 165), a tightend, has been a pleasant surprise for Coach Barsch this season.

Cage showdown to headline second annual Apple Brawl

Smoky Mountain Wrestling returns to Paintsville on September 30, as a part of the Kentucky Apple Festival, with the second annual Apple Brawl.

This year's main event will feature "Rage in the Cage." The Rock and Roll Express, Tracy Smothers and The Dirty White Boy will go up against Bruiser Bedlem, Chris Candido and the Ganstas. This match will have a special twist to it as the Ganstas, who are very upset about having to be in a cage with the Rock and Roll, are also having to team with Candido and Bedlem as well.

In a Smoky Mountain tag team title match, the Rock and Roll Express will put their titles on the line against the former Georgia tag team champions, the Ganstas.

The Ganstas will be making their debut in Paintsville, but area fans have seen the destruction this awesome team can create on the SMW television show on WYMT, 57. This could be the first time the champs enter the ring as underdogs. Don't be surprised if we see new SMW tag champions by the end of the evening.

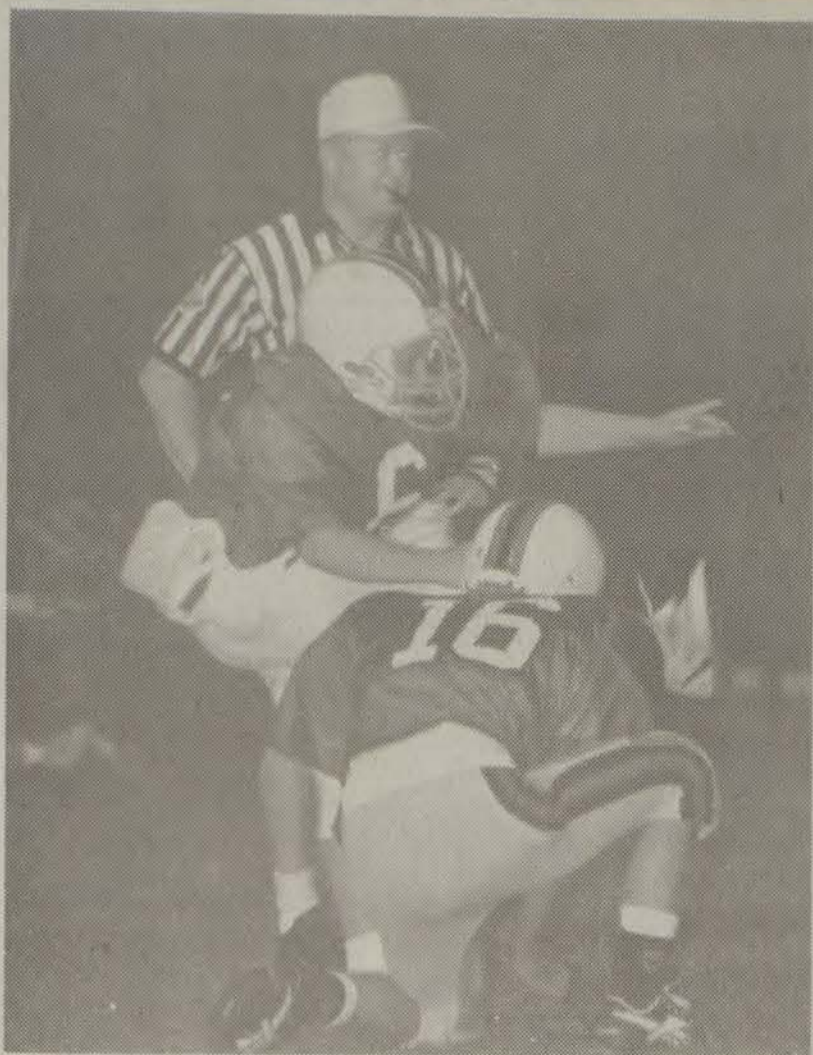

The Dirty White Boy returns to Paintsville to defend his SMW heavy-weight title against Jim Cornette's top man, Bruiser Bedlem. The Dirty White Boy has climbed a lot of tall mountains in recent months to keep his title, but now he has the Mount Everest of SMW in his path in Bruiser Bedlem.

In a special grudge match, Lance Storm makes his singles debut in Paintsville, taking on the Suicide Blond, Chris Candido with Tammy Fytch. Storm and Candido have been going at it hot and heavy for the past couple of weeks, and this one could get out of hand.

In the opening match, Killer Kyle returns to the area to go against the Wild Eyed Southern Boy, Tracy Smothers. This match is very important to the main event this evening, because, if Kyle injures Smothers, his Boss' team will have the upper hand in the cage.

Tickets for Apple Brawl '94 are available at the Paintsville Fire Department Station One. Ringside seats are $8, general admission, $6 and kids under 12 pay $5. Doors open at 6:30 and belltime is 8 p.m.

Lady Rebels to sponsor gospel sing at Duff school

If you are a gospel music fan, then you will want to make plans to be at the Duff Elementary gym on Saturday, September 17 for some good gospel singing.

The Allen Central Lady Rebels basketball team is sponsoring the singing convention which includes groups such as the Bluegrass Gospel Boys, Maytown Methodist Quintet, Wings of Praise, Singing Johnsons and many more.

The singing will get started at 7 p.m. and admission is $2.
