Fannin disputes lawsuit charges

by Scott Perry
Times Editor

A police officer who claimed in a lawsuit filed last week that he was fired in retribution for filing a worker's compensation claim against the city, hasn't been fired at all, Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin said Friday.

In a civil suit filed October 6, the day after he was relieved of duty as a patrolman, Herman Morris contended he had been fired "in a manner inconsistent" with laws concerning the dismissal of police officers.

Morris also alleged in his suit that he had been fired because he refused to dismiss criminal complaints at the request of the mayor and because he had filed a worker's compensation claim against the city.

On Friday, Mayor Jerry Fannin disputed those allegations, saying Morris had not been fired but had been "laid off" for financial reasons.

Fannin added that the layoff was determined solely on the basis of seniority and that Morris was "the last one hired and the first one laid off."

Fannin said the city is attempting to economize through workforce reductions and every city department will likely feel the cuts. Six jobs have been lost through attrition in the city's street department, Fannin added, and other vacancies will not be immediately filled. Morris is the first layoff in the police department.

The mayor also denied allegations he had dismissed Morris because the officer refused to drop criminal complaints at Fannin's request, calling those charges "totally false."

"I have never asked the guy to drop anything for me," Fannin said Friday. "I've only talked to him once or twice since I've been here."

Garbage bill dispute lands in circuit court

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Pike County officials have followed through on a threat to file a lawsuit seeking payment from Floyd officials for garbage disposal.

In Pike Circuit Court Friday, Pike assistant county attorney Reed Anderson filed suit against the Floyd County Solid Waste Department seeking over $200,000 they claim is owed for garbage dumped in that county's landfill.

On Tuesday, Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond said that Floyd officials will challenge the venue of the lawsuit and will also ask that circuit judges in both counties recuse themselves from the case. Floyd County Solid Waste Commission chairman Mike Vance said Tuesday that the amount Pike County claims is owed is much different from what Floyd officials estimate.

"Their figures and ours are pretty far apart," Vance said. "We are back to ground zero now."

Vance has been trying to resolve the issue and has met with Pike Judge-Executive Donna Damron. Vance added that Floyd Solid Waste Commissioners "didn't feel like we owed them" that much for garbage disposal.

Damron declined to comment on the lawsuit Tuesday.

The lawsuit claims that from February 1993 until December 1993, Floyd officials dumped their garbage in Pike County's landfill. From May 1993 until December 1993, the suit claims, Floyd County did not pay for dumping garbage in its landfill at a rate of $22.50 per ton.

The issue of the debt to Pike County has been discussed by the Floyd County Fiscal Court for months. Floyd's fiscal court maintains that they had an agreement with former Pike Judge-Executive Paul Patton to dump trash at $7 per ton.

The Floyd fiscal court has conceded that there is no written agreement between Patton and the court.

The lawsuit seeks $280,539.19 plus interest and court costs.

Council approves ethics code

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

After delaying the issue for two months, Prestonsburg's city council took just over five minutes Monday to put a final stamp of approval on a city-wide code of ethics.

Council had given first reading in August to the code, a model ordinance drafted by the Kentucky League of Cities, but tabled approval at three successive meetings to review alternatives.

The ordinance adopted Monday was unchanged from the original version, and it will take full effect upon publication.

The plan will focus largely on nepotism, standards of conduct among board members, regular financial disclosure statements and will help establish a board to enforce the ethics policy.

The ethics policy plan closely resembles Paintsville's. Paintsville was the first city in Kentucky to adopt and enact a code of ethics ordinance.

Council had second reading of an ordinance which granted CableVision of Prestonsburg a 15-year franchise

Quadruplets born to Floyd couple

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

"The first one came out at 9:01, the second at 9:02, then another and another. By 9:04, they were all out," said Steve Sanders about the birth of his quadruplets on Tuesday morning. Steve and Sue Sanders of Blue River became the parents of quadruplets — three girls and one boy — when the babies were delivered by Cesarean section at the University of Kentucky Hospital.

Allison Marie was the first of the quads to be born. Allison weighed 3 lbs. 13.5 oz. Next was Kathryn Rose, who weighed 3 lbs. 14.5 oz. James Arthur was born at 9:03:55. He weighed 4 lbs 6 oz. Mary Elaina was the last of the four to be born. She weighed 2 lbs 13 oz.

Sanders said he was in the delivery room with his wife when the babies were born. Although he could not actually see the operation, he heard the babies' cries and saw them after they were born and it was "just wonderful," he said in a telephone interview from the hospital.

All the babies and their mom seem to be doing fine, Sanders said. The babies are in UK's neonatal intensive care unit and are being closely

State wants underground parking plan scaled back

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

The proposed six-level Floyd County Courthouse could lose a floor if the Floyd County Fiscal Court agrees to a request by state officials to remove a level that was being provided for patrons' parking.

The Administrative Office of the Courts (AOC), which oversees the operation of the district and circuit courts, asked the county to remove the parking level because it is concerned with terrorism, said Harry Hoffman, director of facilities at AOC.

"Security is the problem," Hoffman said. He explained that if the parking level for patrons is left in the building that the fiscal court must provide tight security measures to protect those using the courthouse.

The parking level for staff will remain in the plans, Hoffman said.

Although county officials aren't sure yet if the patrons' parking level will be removed from the plans — or even if the courthouse will be built — they have had property near the proposed courthouse site on the municipal parking lot in Prestonsburg appraised.

Areas being appraised for parking include the property on both sides of Third Street, from the courthouse to Westminister and from the municipal parking lot to the alley beside Ray Howard's parking lot; on South Lake Drive, from the Ford Building to the Fitzpatrick property; on North Lake Drive, from the old State Motel owned by Commonwealth Holding to Whitten's Taxi and parking lot; and Prestonsburg Elementary School property, Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond said.

He said the county is looking at the school site in case a new Prestonsburg High School is built and the elementary school moves into the old high school building.

Hammond said if property acquisition proves to be too expensive, the county will leave in the second level and add the extra security.

Floyd County Judge-Executive John M. Stumbo said Tuesday that it's too early to know what the county will do, and that the appraisals have given the wrong impression to some property owners. Stumbo said several members of the Third Avenue Freewill Baptist Church thought the county planned to buy their property,

Red, White and Blue Saturday

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The town of Martin has been spending the past week in preparation of the 25th annual Red, White and Blue Day festivities that officially gets underway tonight.

A gospel sing will kickoff the events tonight at the Martin Methodist Church with various groups performing.

Thursday will feature a '50s dance in the town's parking lot and, at 7 p.m. the Senior Citizens King and Queen winners will be crowned.

Live entertainment will be provided in the parking lot on Friday with fireworks to follow later in the evening.

Allen Central and South Floyd will battle in the second annual Red, White and Blue Bowl at Wheelwright Friday night. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

The highlight of the event will take place Saturday beginning at noon with the flag raising and recognition of all veterans.

Rape suspect surrenders after six days on the run

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man suspected of rape turned himself in Monday, after six days on the run.

Jamie Pennington, of Bull Creek, was arraigned Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. on a bail jumping charge. Floyd County District Judge Danny Caudill entered a not guilty plea for Pennington and set his preliminary hearing date for October 19 at 2:30 p.m. Bond was set at $100,000.

Pennington, 29, who fled from the Floyd County Courthouse on October 4, was charged with first degree rape following an incident at a party last November.

Tera Conn, 21, of Prestonsburg, was charged last Tuesday with criminal facilitation after allegedly driving Pennington out of Prestonsburg.

Shortly before Pennington fled, his attorney, Keith Bartley, was in a plea bargaining session with the prosecution to have the rape charge reduced to sexual misconduct, a misdemeanor punishable by up to 12 months in prison.

Floyd Jailer Roger Webb reported that Pennington called him around midnight Sunday and came to the jail and that they had already planned where they were going to build their new church.

Stumbo said he doesn't foresee that happening, and that he sent a letter to the church explaining the appraisals and the county's land-purchase options.

The county has three phases of the judicial system construction. Phase I is the building of the Adult Detention Center now under construction. Phase II is the building of the courthouse, and Phase III is renovating the courthouse annex to become a juvenile detention center.

To build the judicial complex, the county has four options, Hammond explained in an interview. Option A, which will cost the county $193,356 per year over a 30-year period, is the six-story plan that includes the parking level.

The plan includes an unfurnished floor that will house the various state offices that are scattered throughout Prestonsburg now, the county attorney said. That rent will help pay for the courthouse building, he explained.

Option B has four levels, a parking level, two levels for the court system and one level for the county. That plan will cost the county $234,612 per year, he said, plus the county will have to pay $1 million up front to build the courthouse.

Option C limits the structure to three levels. One level will be available for staff parking, and the other two levels will be available to the AOC. Under that plan, the county must also come up with the $1 million for the courthouse, Hammond said.

Another option is to let AOC build its own office complex, Stumbo said. "If we can't work things out, they'll have to build one themselves," he explained.

Stumbo said he prefers that the parking level remain part of the six-story structure and that the county add the extra security, but that if the fiscal court decides to build a separate parking lot, it could be more than a year before any property is purchased.

"There are so many things we haven't decided yet," Stumbo said. "There are too many 'ifs.'"

He explained that AOC wants to move its offices into the new courthouse by 1996, and that county officials will meet with state officials during the Facilities Standard Committee of AOC on November 9 to review the proposals.

County officials met with the Department of Local Government last Tuesday for that department to review the proposals, Stumbo said. That meeting was continued to allow Local Government officials time to verify revenue sources and expenses, Hammond said.

monitored, Mary Margaret Colliver, a spokesperson for UK said Tuesday. They are listed in stable condition.

Doctors had not planned to deliver the babies on October 11, but they have been monitoring Sue Sanders in the hospital during the last two weeks.

"(Monday) night, the doctors thought (the contractions) were getting stronger and more frequent," Sanders said.

Sue Sanders was also 32 weeks into pregnancy, and doctors thought the time was right, Steve said.

The obstetrical team was led by Dr. John Read, chief of maternal/fetal medicine. Also on the delivery team were two other obstetricians, two anesthesiologists, and three obstetrical nurses.

The neonatal team was led by Dr. Thomas Pauly, chief of neonatology. That team consisted of four neonatologists and four neonatal nurses (one doctor and one nurse for each baby), and an additional neonatologist and nurse.

The set of quadruplets are creating a media stir, according to Colliver. The hospital has been contacted by numerous television stations and newspapers about the birth of the quadruplets.

The birth of quadruplets is a rare event, the hospital spokesperson said. Before the advent of assisted reproduction techniques, quads were born once in every 500,000 births, she explained.

The last set of quadruplets born at UK was about four years ago. The Floyd County Health Department has no record of quadruplets birth in Floyd County in the last 20 years, said Jane Bond, a spokesperson for the health department.

When asked how he and his wife would diaper and feed four infants, Sanders said, "We'll do the best we can."

And what about the future — the proms, the weddings, and the need for extra bathrooms?

"We'll worry about that when the time comes," he said with a chuckle.

October will be a month for birthdays at the Sanders' home. Their other daughter, Rachael, will celebrate her second birthday on October 30.

Saturday

"That is the main theme of the Red, White and Blue Day," said Thomasine Robinson, director. "We will also have the biggest parade that we have ever had."

The parade will begin at 3 p.m. on Saturday.

High school, junior high and the Shiner's band will be taking part in the parade that will thrill both young and old.

Floats, beauty queens and twirlers will also be part of the long parade.

A car show at the Trans-Financial Bank parking lot in Martin will start at 8 a.m. The 5K race, which returns this year, will begin at 8 a.m. starting at the Martin Dairy Queen. Saturday afternoon, Marlow Tackett will provide entertainment at the parking lot.

Food booths, and other forms of entertainment will be offered through the four-day event.

Memorial

The memorial will be located at Jenny Wiley State Park. A bronze plaque listing the names of all those who perished, plus a history of the event, will be mounted on a stone base approximately 4 feet high. The plaque, designed by Prestonsburg art teacher Johnny Stumbo, will have 27 crosses to honor each victim.

The committee plans to have the memorial completed by winter, and will continue to accept donations for the Living Memorial.

PCC's McAninch explores China connection

Robert D. McAninch Jr.
Political Science Professor Robert D. McAninch Jr. of Prestonsburg Community College will travel to Washington, D.C. October 28 to attend a seminar organized by The Trust For Overseas Educational Development.

The Trust has been authorized by the People's Republic of China to design, plan and manage distance learning in specific areas of China.

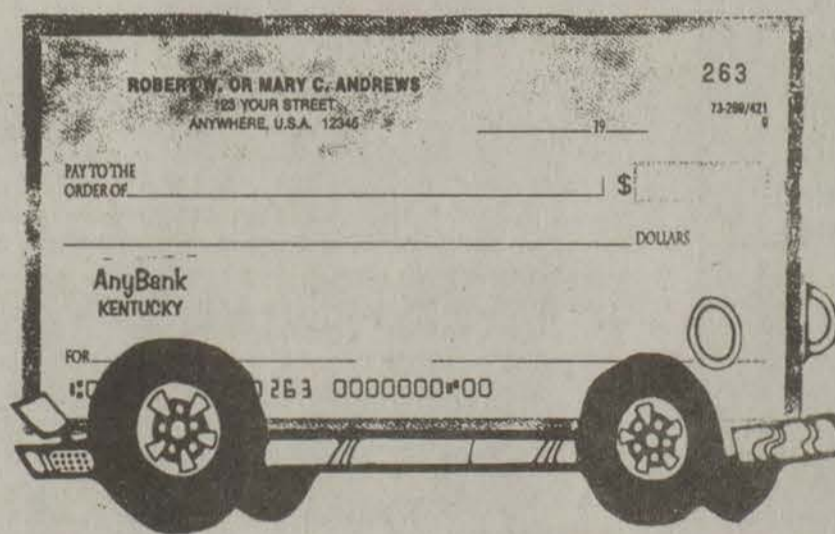

According to a release issued by the organization, "The Trust will only work with a limited number of institutions as it relates to conducting distance learning in China. Colleges and universities attending the seminars will be given first priority to join the Trust in implementing distance learning in China."

McAninch is attending the seminar on behalf of PCC, a two-year institution, and Alice Lloyd College, a four-year institution. He hopes to involve both colleges in future student exchanges and distance learning programs.

George Washington is the only President of the United States who did not live in the White House. He was, however, instrumental in selecting the building site where, on October 13, 1792, the cornerstone was laid. The John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, believes it is appropriate to call to memory those men who answered the nation's call and served as President.

Liberty of thought is the life of the soul—Voltaire

Thanks, to you

by Scott Perry

Since we've been somewhat indisposed for the past few weeks, our usual course of commentary on local issues would most certainly be inadequate this week.

Instead, if you don't mind, we'll defer to an issue with which we have some tenure.

It's National Newspaper Week.

We won't blow any whistles or bang any drums to celebrate, but we'll try to explain why we think newspapers are important (other than the obvious fact that they put food on our tables and clothes on our backs).

Newspapers are different from other media.

You can see them, feel them, carry them around under your arm or line your bird cage with them.

Sometimes we even rub off on you, just to remind you of our tangibility.

Most importantly...at least to those of us who put them together, you can read us.

Folks have been reading The Floyd County Times for nearly 70 years now.

Our news and views are often discussed, frequently cussed and occasionally mused.

Nobody's perfect.

But, for the better part of seven decades we've been the consistent choice of Floyd Countians for their news of home.

We are humbled by that fact.

And thankful.

We owe a great deal to our predecessors, who built this newspaper from the ground up to a publication that has gained recognition inside and well beyond the boundaries of Floyd County.

We owe everything, though, to you, our readers, whose loyalty, trust and allegiance have made our longevity possible.

Perhaps we shouldn't be celebrating National Newspaper Week this week at all.

We ought to be celebrating newspaper readers, instead.

We're nothing without them.

Floyd fiscal court acted knowingly to protect citizens

Editor:
In light of recent comments made by representatives of Medisin, the operator of two medical waste incinerators in Floyd County, I feel a response is in order. I am a member of Floyd Countians In Action and Kentuckians For The Commonwealth, two citizens organizations that have opposed the incinerators for many years.

According to Medisin's attorneys, the Floyd County Fiscal Court mistakenly voted for an amendment to the local solid waste plan. On July 16, 1993 our magistrates voted unanimously that the "total waste Medisin will accept for 10 years is 100 tons." In the first six months of 1994, Medisin has burned more than twice its ten-year limit. Medisin's representatives now claim that a "clerical error" is to blame. They argue that magistrates thought they were voting to limit the amount of ash produced, not the amount of waste accepted by the facility.

It appears to me that Medisin's arguments are a clear misrepresentation of the facts. FCIA wrote and proposed the amendment which our magistrates adopted in July of 1993. We briefed the court fully on the meaning of the language and the impact of their vote. State solid waste management officials were present for the vote and answered numerous questions. Our magistrates have worked with FCIA for nearly four years to resolve our concerns about the incinerators. They are very knowledgeable about this problem. To imply the vote was a "clerical error" seems an insult to both the citizens and Fiscal Court of Floyd County.

In addition, the language of the amendment is nearly identical to the original language proposed by Medisin's board member Robert McAnich. The only difference is the tonnage itself was reduced from a proposed 391.5 to 100 tons of waste.

I would therefore like to describe some of the reasons why citizens have opposed Medisin and the reasons our county officials took the action they did.

Since 1990 Medisin has operated two incinerators on the property of Highlands Regional Hospital in Auxier, Kentucky. The incinerators currently burn two eight-hour shifts per day, seven days a week.

In recent years Medisin has been cited for numerous violations of state environmental laws. In January 1994 they violated the conditions of their air permit by exceeding the amount of waste burned per hour. On other occasions air quality inspectors have cited the operators of the facility for failing to install required carbon monoxide monitors and for exceeding smoke opacity limits.

The Medisin incinerators operate in a densely populated narrow valley. Air inversions occur frequently, trapping emissions near to the ground. People in our area have experienced serious health effects we believe are a result of the incinerators' emissions including severe headaches, skin rashes and facial burns, eye infections, cancer and brain tumors, and respiratory illness. The EPA has recently released a study which states that dioxin, a by-product of medical waste incineration, is much more toxic than previously believed. Dioxin is now thought to cause cancer, reproductive disorders, liver problems and immune deficiencies.

FCIA has worked for nearly four years to oppose incineration and promote safer disposal methods. We endorse on-site autoclaving, a steaming process that should occur at each generating facility. According to state regulations, infectious waste can be treated by autoclaving and then be safely landfilled. FCIA also believes that waste minimization efforts can greatly reduce the amount of waste that needs to be treated in the first place.

In summary, the Floyd County Fiscal Court amended its solid waste plan to protect the lives and property of our citizens. They acted knowingly and honorably and continue to cooperate with our citizens' organization to resolve this problem.

Adams football coach explains position regarding program

Editor:
I feel that it is time for a reply to those people that have so boldly spoken up about the Adams Middle School football program. These people, including the illustrious sports director of your news publication, speak so low of the coaching staff as if we are directing these kids to commit felonious assaults on the citizens of Prestonsburg and Floyd County.

I am an assistant coach on this football team and I feel that these people should know what a football program is about. I will let you know this because it is obvious that neither of these two people that had the written articles have neither been a part of a "real" football program nor part of a team.

First, the boys that are on our team are part of a team and will win and lose as part of a team. We teach that individualism is not acceptable for team sports. We teach that each member has a hand in the victories and losses of this program. This is derived through the hard work of practice that each member participates in. Sure, not every kid will play every down, but they will play in about every game. The reason for this is that the eighth graders will never play another down in grade school football. The seventh graders today will be able to play the same the next season. I only hope that the coach that has them next season will treat them the same as we have the eighth graders this season.

Second, the coaching staff does not choose to win these ball games. I hate to tell you, Mr. Taylor, but that decision is made by the kids that are on the field and not the coaches. But, of course, if you ever came to see these kids play you would be able to realize that these kids have the will to win and the coaches have this will "for" these kids. These kids come first and you, sir, should realize that your feelings on this situation have been taken with a grain of salt due to the fact that this team hails from Prestonsburg and not the Beaver Creeks that you seem to only follow. Maybe one day you will realize that there are more teams in Floyd County and follow them all with the same fervor.

Sir, you stated that we have treated our kids unfairly by issue of amount of playing time. As I have already addressed that situation, I wish you would treat our children more fairly by allowing them to see themselves in ink. The lame excuse that it is the school's responsibility to give you the pictures, stats, etc., will not cut it sir. I would love a job like yours in that case, as it seems that I would have to do exactly nothing except rely on other people for my "sports reporting" (Ha! Ha!).

I wish to also speak about our coaching staff. We are all volunteers and only one has a child on this team, Coach Jerry Fannin, Coach Tony Whited, Coach John Goble, Coach Joe Weddington, Coach Mike Castle and myself volunteer our time to these kids, for these kids. I am sure that you could not comprehend this and you do not wish to service this commu-

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

We're baaaack.

Sort of.

Won't bore you with the gory details of our recent adventures in, um, health care because, well, we slept through most of it.

Do want to extend our sincere appreciation, though, to those folks who expressed concern for our well-being. Nice to know we've got some friends out there.

It was real.

It was fun.

But it wasn't real fun.

Looks like we got some "fan" mail while we were away from a reader who criticized our "feeble" attempts at humor and who accused us of being a hypocrite for poking fun at Eastern Kentuckians while criticizing others for doing the same thing.

Guess we'll have to plead guilty to all charges.

We could explain that there is a difference between biased news reporting and editorializing on an opinion page, but that would probably be a waste of time.

Just as it would be to suggest that even a "feeble" sense of humor is better than none at all.

We can take criticism, constructive or otherwise, because we're old enough to understand its value and experienced enough to shrug it off when it's unwarranted.

Young people have a more difficult time coping, though, and it's safe to assume...even if you aren't a sociologist...that a low sense of self-worth is a major contributing factor to many of the problems youth of the day encounter.

Whether you're measuring the frequency of juvenile crime or the high rates of teen pregnancies, your sure to find a common bond among the affected.

Low self-esteem.

The Courier-Journal profiled a program Saturday that might help counter that growing concern.

Called MegaSkills, the program focuses on instilling values that will lead to success.

Those values, which are taught first at the elementary school level, include motivation, effort, responsibility, initiative, perseverance, confidence, caring, teamwork, common sense and problem-solving.

Pretty impressive agenda, huh?

Perhaps it is time to adopt a new member into the traditional education family.

Readin', 'Ritin', 'Rithmetic and Respect.

Every time an election rolls around...in Kentucky that's every six months...the pre-vote hype centers on how fed up the voters are with incumbents.

Then on election day, all the incumbents are re-elected.

Looks like somebody's got their wires crossed.

In reality, voters are, in fact, fed up with incumbents. But, they're fed up with somebody else's incumbents.

That's why the FBI has been more successful than the voters in ousting Kentucky's in-crowd.

Now, if we had one election where our voters got to cast ballots for candidates in another state and their voters got to vote for our candidates, we might really see if this anti-incumbent theory has any merit.

That's not going to happen because this is a representative democracy and our votes are perfectly representative of the type of government we prefer.

nity in any form or fashion.

We are a part of this community and wish to develop these children to become a part of this community also. Our services are not based on our egos as I am sure that any of us could have found anything to boost those. We are doing this voluntarily for the sake of the kids.

Finally, we are developing a football program that will lead to the high school level and on into the future of each kid. We try to develop character in these children, winning attitudes, pride in themselves, pride in each other, friendships that will last a lifetime, and individuals that will represent their school and community with the class that we demand.

Nothing but praise for Eddie Taylor

Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Times sports editor Ed Taylor.

I have two reasons for writing to you. The first is to congratulate you on what a fine job you are doing as a sports writer. You get to know the kids personally. You also seem to know all their parents. Thanks for making all those long trips.

I remember once McDowell girls were playing in the district tournament in Ashland and we had to stop at a red light in Ashland, and who pulled up beside us, Eddie Taylor.

My daughter, Nikki, said, "Look mom, there is Eddie, honk your horn." I guess she could not believe you were going that far to follow a girls' softball team. I guess that proves that you are not a male chauvinist.

I have seen you in Richmond, Knoxville, Tennessee, and Bowling Green. I know you have been more places, but these were some of the places that my children were involved in sports. Thank you.

The second reason for writing this letter is to challenge both the Rebels and the Raiders to take an extra effort Friday night to be good sports.

I'm sure there will be tickets sold hoping to see a fight.

Over the years my family has developed very good friends with kids and parents from Allen Central. My son has fond memories of being on the same team as Beau Tackett, Adam Coleman, and Thomas Jenkins.

My family roots for these kids all year. It gives me great pleasure during a game to see my son smiling and speaking to one of these players when he has a chance.

Rivalry is fun and okay as long as it doesn't get nasty. Also, let's try to control ourselves as parents, from the vulgarity and nasty remarks that I so often have heard. Let's just cheer for our team and our sons.

I have heard people from both sides dreading this game. Remember folks, it is just a game. I'll be the first to admit that sports is very important to my family, but it still gives me great pleasure when my son is just as proud to show me a good grade that he has made as he is to tell me about a good play he has made or a hit he has gotten.

So, let's all go to the ballpark Friday night and have some good clean fun. Let's make the Red, White and Blue Bowl something to look forward to, not dread. May the best team win. See you Friday night, Eddie.

Cannabis medicine use "making of history"

Editor:

On September 6, 1988 Francis L. Young, DEA Administrative Law Judge formally urged the DEA to allow doctors to prescribe marijuana as a medicine. He ruled: The evidence in this record clearly shows that marijuana has been accepted as capable of relieving the distress of great numbers of very ill people, and doing so with safety under medical supervision... It would be unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious for DEA to continue to stand between those sufferers and the benefits of the evidence in this record.

In strict medical terms, marijuana is far safer than many foods we commonly consume. Marijuana in its natural form is one of the safest therapeutically active substances known to man. But the DEA is still stalling on this recommendation. This is making millions of sufferers who could benefit from cannabis medicine, medical criminals, going to the streets to get (according to the DEA) a toxic drug.

Gubernatorial Candidate

Gatewood Galbraith foresees cannabis as a medicine. For years he's urged it's de-criminalization. He's maintained this stance when others have walked. If Governor Jones would allocate time to talk with patients in need of cannabis as a medicine he would leave a mark that could contribute to the making of history.

Veterans Day, '94 to be observed

Editor:

The Memorial Day dedication of Veterans Island at Jenny Wiley State Resort Park will forever remain embedded in the memories of all those who were fortunate enough to attend this event. The overwhelming spirit of patriotism emanated by participants and spectators alike was truly inspiring. It was a day we were all very proud to be Americans.

As a proud American, I am sure you will agree that the youth of our great country are the leadership wave of the future. Consistent with this belief, the administration of Jenny Wiley State Resort Park is presently coordinating a Veterans Day 1994 celebration with particular emphasis on Junior Reserved Officer Training Corps (R.O.T.C.) units involving local area high school students in Pike, Lawrence, and Floyd counties. At this writing, there are already six area schools committed to the ceremonies, and this involves almost 1,000 high school R.O.T.C. students.

Most important of all, please accept this invitation for you and your family and friends to attend the ceremony on Friday, November 11, 1994, at 11:00 a.m., at Veterans Island on Jenny Wiley State Resort Park. Your attendance will be greatly appreciated. Thank you!

ELECT DOLORES SMITH

FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD

District 1

Pol. adv. paid for by the candidate.

Experience makes a good Judge! It is not something that is taught in law school, although a good legal education is the first step. I graduated from the University of Louisville Law School in 1974 in the top 15% of my class. I was on the Dean's List three times and was elected Student Bar Association Vice-President. When I graduated, I began my practice of Law with my brother, Albert Burchett, in Martin. In 1975 we began practicing with our cousin, Woodrow Burchett. In these early years I had two good teachers.

In November of 1974 the late Harold Stumbo asked me to serve as his Assistant Commonwealth Attorney. I served the people of this county in that job in 1974, 1975, and 1976. I was trying cases and prosecuting criminals, protecting the rights of the good people in this county before my opponent started Law School. I served again as Assistant Commonwealth Attorney in 1993.

I have handled cases in 11 different counties of Eastern Kentucky. I have handled cases in the United States Federal Court and in the Kentucky State Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court of Kentucky. Every Judge in every court taught me something that helps me every day in being your Circuit Judge. Only by being a trial Lawyer for 20 years do you gain the experience necessary to be a fair and honest Judge.

Since I have been your Circuit Judge, I have done the best I can to provide a court that serves the needs of the people and not the politicians. I promise to continue to be your Judge and treat all people alike.

Let's Keep Paul Burchett

ADD forming focus groups for families

Families in crisis in the Big Sandy area will soon have help close at hand.

The Big Sandy Area Development District (ADD) will hold a community meeting on October 18 to seek input on developing a five-year plan to provide services to families at risk or in a crisis.

Big Sandy ADD will form five groups — consumers, service providers, interested families, community leaders — to focus on the needs of families, said Bonnie Hale, with Big Sandy ADD.

The effort is one of the initial steps by the Kentucky Department for Social Services (DSS) in implementing the Federal Family Preservation and Family Support Services Act in Kentucky.

Hale said the program will utilize services that already exist to build a better system.

The comprehensive planning process will include representatives from each of the following areas: consumers, mental health, primary health, education, legislators, judges, juvenile justice, existing programs that provide family support and family preservation services, housing, and other programs that serve families and children in Kentucky.

One of the goals of the program, according to DSS commissioner Peggy Wallace, is to help families alleviate crises that might lead to a child being removed from the home.

license that may allow for up to 60 additional channels for the area CableVision serves.

Council also approved setting October 31 as the date for "Trick-or-Treat," between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m.

No one age 12 and older will be permitted to wear a mask in public.

Fannin also said that the Prestonsburg Fire Department would have personnel stationed at various intersections again this year to help children cross busy streets. He urges young people to cross at these manned intersections.

Assault charge amended

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

A Floyd County man was re-arrested Monday in Floyd County Circuit Court for an assault on another Floyd County man during a basketball game.

Wade Martin, 23, of Wayland pleaded guilty to a charge of fourth degree assault, a misdemeanor, on Timothy Gibson. The commonwealth recommended that Martin be sentenced to one year in jail, which was probated by Floyd Circuit Judge John David Caudill.

The fight took place last August when the men were playing basketball at a Wayland basketball court. Martin assaulted Gibson, who was refereeing the game. Gibson was later taken to Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin.

Due to a plea bargain between both parties the charge was amended to fourth degree assault from second degree.

Radio show features Jones

Kentucky Governor Brereton Jones will be the subject of an interview broadcast today (Wednesday) on WDOC AM radio program "In the News."

Jones will discuss issues relating to state government.

Also on Wednesday's program, Jenny Wiley State Park administrator Jim Kennedy will be discussing the upcoming radio-thon to raise funds for a memorial to the victims of the 1958 bus crash.

"In the News" is a monthly public affairs radio show featured on WDOC radio.

Perry pushes for medical school

by Michael Lynn Huff
Staff Writer

Paintsville may soon take a giant step forward in health education.

Chad Perry III, a prominent Paintsville attorney, visited Prestonsburg Community College on Monday, October 10, to address instructor Craig Muling's modern social problems class. Perry, a key representative of a project to establish an osteopathic medical school in Paintsville, brought the class up to speed on current developments and finances that the school project has received so far.

To date, the project has received over $1.25 million in donations from area businesses, one of those gifts from Paintsville businessman, Homer Short. Short, who has donated office space between the Paintsville Food City and K-Mart, has given $200,000 to the project. The project has also reached the negotiations tables of Appalachian Regional Commission, a federal government agency that gives financial assistance to projects appropriated by congress.

"We have applications everywhere," Perry said, citing other Big Sandy area businesses such as Ashland Oil.

"The Appalachian Regional Commission should be more willing to help if we meet them halfway," Perry said.

Perry also said that tuition, which will be about $20,000 per year per student, would still leave the school with just over $1 million in operating expenses. Those funds, Perry said, would probably come from area business and private contributions.

Perry commented on the technological advancements that medicine has gone through in the past few years, including new computer programs that allow medical students to explore the human body without having to use cadavers. Although this new technology is expensive, Perry thinks that the quality of the education will be of utmost importance.

"I can tell you that we aren't going to waste any money," Perry said, "but, I can tell you we aren't going to cut any corners, either."

One of the primary purposes of pursuing this project, now four years old, is to attract area doctors back to Eastern Kentucky. Perry said that this area is suffering from a shortage of doctors. Furthermore, he thinks that larger medical schools, such as those at the University of Kentucky and University of Louisville, have failed to successfully place an adequate number of doctors in Eastern Kentucky.

Perry had scheduled another appearance Wednesday, October 12, at Prestonsburg Community College, for a panel discussion on the project. The panel included such members as Senator Benny Ray Bailey, Lynn Weddle, program coordinator and associate professor of nursing at Prestonsburg Community College, and other distinguished guests.

Monday around 2 a.m. Pennington told Webb that he feared for his safety inside the facility. Webb reassured him that no harm would come to him.

"Some of the tales were that he was armed and dangerous," Webb said. "He'd been out in the elements for a few days and was tired of running." Webb also said that Pennington was not armed at the time of his incarceration.

"He was apprehensive," Webb said. "He was just glad that the whole ordeal was over with."

Webb said that he hadn't seen a case quite like this.

"This is the first time that anyone has run from court that I can remember," Webb said.

Pennington will be held in the jail pending his preliminary hearing.

Speech and Language Pathology available at Pikeville Methodist

Speech and Language Pathology is Pikeville Methodist Hospital's newest service which makes the hospital a more complete rehabilitation facility.

Speech Language Pathologist Tracy Kincer-Howard is now working in the Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy Department. Kincer-Howard will be implementing a phase of rehabilitation that is new to Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

"Many patients come to the hospital needing physical therapy, occupational therapy and speech and/or language therapy and we have never been able to offer all the needed services on site," director Debbie Puckett said.

Puckett pointed out that she is especially anxious for the speech services to begin for hospitalized stroke patients and for Kincer-Howard to become involved in swallowing evaluations and the screening of 0-3-year-olds in the developmental clinic.

Kincer-Howard will work with a variety of patients of all ages including those with developmental delays or disorders in areas of speech and/or language, those with communication disorders resulting from stroke or head injury, cerebral palsy, cleft palate, hearing impairments, neurological diseases and those with feeding and/or swallowing problems.

Speech language pathologists assess and treat speech, voice, language (spoken and written), fluency, feeding and swallowing. Speech encompasses the entire sound system while voice entails the characteristic of sounds that are made when the vocal cords vibrate. Language refers to the processes involved in understanding and using grammar, word retrieval, word knowledge, social communication skills and aspects of nonverbal communication. Fluency is the rhythm and flow of speech. Feeding is the process that gets food to your mouth to the point of swallowing.

Some of the patient needs that may be addressed by the speech-language pathologist include increasing effective communication skills by cueing, guided practice and feedback;

providing assistance in determining if and when augmentative devices (communication boards, electrolarynges used by laryngectomy patients, etc.) are appropriate and providing training in their use and counseling patients and families. When appropriate, Kincer-Howard will consult with other professionals regarding communication or swallowing, positioning, posture control, general movement and respiratory coordination and appropriate cueing.

The speech therapist utilizes many testing and treatment materials, computer and other technology which is modified to meet the individual's treatment goals.

Kincer-Howard comes to Pikeville Methodist Hospital from the Letcher County School System where she worked for two and a half years. She obtained her bachelor's degree and master's degree in Communication Disorders from the University of Kentucky.

She and her husband, Chris, live at Jenkins.

Bonnie Terry Snyder, 84, of Betsy Layne, formerly of Knott County, died Monday, October 10, at the Paul B. Hall Medical Center, Paintsville, following a long illness.

Born September 14, 1910 in Knott County, she was the daughter of the late Sam and Susie Amburgey Terry. She was a retired nurse, formerly employed by the Beaver Valley Hospital at Martin and the Lackey Hospital. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church at Ashland. She was preceded in death by her husband, Al Snyder.

Survivors include one son, Al Snyder Jr. of Lexington; one daughter, Alice Baird of Knoxville, Tennessee; and five grandchildren.

A memorial service will be held at a later date. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Garden at Ivel under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Millard Hall

Millard Hall, 88, of Topmost, died Friday, October 7, at Martin County Health Care Center at Inez, following an extended illness.

Born August 8, 1906 in Knott County, he was the son of the late Austin and Florence Bates Hall. He was a disabled coal miner.

Survivors include his wife, Rutha Mae Tackett Hall of Topmost; three half-brothers, C. M. Isaac of Prestonsburg, Audrey Collins of Mt. Sterling, and Morgan Hall of Salyersville; six half-sisters, Elsie Hall and Dallie Hall, both of Topmost, Othadell Downing of Cincinnati, Ohio, Elma Pence of Zenia, Ohio, Edith Preston of Owensville, and Lou Eva Isaac of Morristown, Tennessee.

Funeral services were Monday, October 10, at 10 a.m., at the Providence Old Regular Baptist Church at Dry Creek with Curtie Hall, Cluett Hall and other Regular Baptist Church ministers officiating.

Burial was in the Joe Hall Cemetery at Topmost under the direction of Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

Forest Hall

Forest Hall, 84, of Kite, died Saturday, October 8, at his residence following an extended illness.

Born April 4, 1910 in Knott County, he was the son of the late Alex and Sally Bates Hall. He was a disabled miner and logger.

Survivors include his wife, Sylvia Johnson Hall; five sons, Bill Hall of South Amherst, Ohio, Jack Hall of Elyria, Ohio, J.D. Hall and Joe Hall, both of Kite, and Alex Hall of Berlin Heights, Ohio; four daughters, Mabel Carson and Opal Blanton, both of Broadhead, Geraldine Burchell of Sheffield Lake, Ohio, and Inez Gabbard of Wyandott, Michigan; four brothers, Town Hall, Roy Hall, Estill Hall and John Hall, all of Kite; one sister, Majie Hall of Cumberland, Tennessee; 23 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral services were Tuesday, October 11, at the Rebecca Old Regular Baptist Church at Kite with the ministers of the Regular Baptist Church officiating.

Burial was in the Forest Hall Cemetery at Kite under the direction of Nelson-Frazier Funeral Home.

Scholarship application forms for nursing program available

On January 1, 1995, the Nursing Incentive Scholarship Fund (NISF) of the Kentucky Board of Nursing will begin accepting applications for the 1995-1996 school year. The NISF was created to increase the number of licensed nurses in medically underserved areas of the state, to decrease the number of vacant licensed nurse positions in all service sectors, and to increase the pool of master's prepared registered nurses for faculty positions. The NISF provides scholarships to Kentucky residents who will be attending in state approved prelicensure registered or licensed practical nurse education programs or graduate nursing programs.

Funding preference is given to applicants with financial need, to licensed practical nurses who wish to attend registered nurse programs, and to applicants who have agreed to work in a sponsoring health facility in a rural area of the state. Effective July 15, Kentucky Revised Statute 314.025 was amended to include registered nurses pursuing graduate nursing education as a preference category.

NISF applicants are required to obtain sponsorship from a health care facility or an educational institution. The sponsor matches the amount of the scholarship award granted to recipients by the Board of Nursing. In exchange, the recipient agrees to work as a nurse at the facility one year for each school year funded (or teach in the school of nursing of the sponsoring educational institution).

Application forms and a list of potential sponsors will be available in November. NISF applications must be completed and returned to the Kentucky Board of Nursing by June 1, 1995. For application forms or additional information, write to the Nursing Incentive Scholarship Fund, Kentucky Board of Nursing, 312 Whittington Parkway, Suite 300, Louisville, Ky. 40222-5172.

Taking the calls

Jerry Herrmann took notes from an answering machine message he received recently at the Dove House office. The caller expressed her appreciation for the billboard signs Dove House is sponsoring. (photo by Polly Ward)

Unusual billboard message captures attention of public

by Polly Ward
Times Feature Writer

A different type of advertisement has been appearing on billboards around Floyd County. Instead of the usual ads hawked consumer products, these billboards have a simple message printed in large bold red letters: Try Jesus First.

The billboard message is sponsored by Dove House, a nonprofit, nondenominational Christian ministry based in Floyd County. The billboard idea was conceived by Jerry Herrmann, director of Dove House. The Michigan native, who has worked as a missionary in Floyd County since 1966, ministers to prisoners at the county jail and to youth at the Floyd County Detention Center through Bible studies and visitation. He also has an outreach program for students at the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center. A few months ago the missionary began a Bible study program at Otter Creek Correctional Center at Wheelwright.

Herrmann's recent foray into the world of billboard advertising is a new venture for Dove House, and for himself, as well.

Herrmann thought up the unusual concept about a year ago. After the Dove House board of directors approved the idea, Herrmann contacted a local sign company which agreed to put the signs on its non-rented billboards at a reduced rate and leave them there until the billboards were rented. A sign company in Lexington designed the billboard message.

"Dove House put forth money for the signs from its regular donations," Herrmann said. "We had 20 signs made."

The purpose of the high profile message is "to glorify God in any possible way we can and to get people thinking more about Jesus," he said.

The effect of the signs upon the public has been positive, he said. When the first billboards went up in July along roadways at Prestonsburg and Harold, Herrmann started receiving messages of appreciation on his answering machine at the Dove House office located on North Lake Drive in Prestonsburg. "People saw the signs, it stirred up interest and some were interested in (financially contributing to) putting up signs on the billboards," Herrmann said.

He said he isn't sure about the location of all the Dove House billboards, but noted that they are "scattered" in Pike and Floyd counties. They pop up "wherever they (the sign company) has a billboard they want to fill," he said.

One of the latest is located along a major highway in Johnson County. Herrmann doesn't want to stop there. "There will be (Try Jesus First) billboards all the way to Lexington and to Frankfort, if we can (financially) do it."

Incidentally, Herrmann will be speaking on the topic "Try Jesus First," on Sunday night, October 16 at Community Methodist Church in Prestonsburg. The service starts at 6 p.m.

PCC serves as host site for public forum on higher education

Prestonsburg Community College will be the host site of a public forum on higher education sponsored by the Council on Higher Education.

The forum will be held in the Pike Technology Building on the Prestonsburg Campus on Wednesday, October 19 at 6 p.m.

The forum is one in a series of forums being held throughout the state. The Council on Higher Education (CHE) is holding the extensive series of forums to receive advice and comments from all the people on the two most important topics now facing higher education in the state: the system-wide strategic plan update for 1996-2000 and a new way of requesting state financial support for the state's eight public universities and 14 community colleges based on demonstrated performance.

Members of the CHE expect to receive testimony from representatives of the local institution—executives, faculty and students—from local civic and school officials, from business leaders, and from the general public.

"It is important that we hear from higher education constituents early in the strategic planning update process and the development of the performance funding model," said James M. Miller, chairman of the CHE. "These forums offer the higher education community and the general public opportunities to provide this valuable input."

Subjects expected to be raised include: access to higher education, equal opportunities for all citizens, preparing a modern workforce, quality teaching and services, support for education reform in the schools, and rewarding institutions financially for their achievements.

The last time Council members visited all eight public universities and representative campuses of the community colleges was in August and September 1985, when it was developing the first strategic plan for higher education in Kentucky.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISH...

A special happy birthday (belated) to Keith Marsillett. Keith turned 17 this past Monday. He is currently sitting out the remainder of the football season with a separated shoulder.

According to his mom, the shoulder was hurt worse than first thought, but he is doing fine otherwise.

It has to be hard to watch from the sidelines when you want to play so badly. But hang in there Keith, you'll be back next season.

Happy birthday, Keith!
SCORING RACE
TIGHTENS UP...

The race for the top spot in scoring in football got a little closer this past week. What appeared to be a very safe lead for South Floyd's Chad Slone, now has turned into a battle.

The Raider fullback hasn't been able to score any TDs in the past four weeks after getting the season off to a blazing start.

Now, Betsy Layne running back Rocky Hamilton has narrowed the difference to two-points, 56-54.

Before the season ever started, Hamilton said, "I want to lead the county in scoring." That goal could be realized.

But wait a minute. On the horizon is Jon Morris of Prestonsburg who has been on a tear in the last three weeks.

Morris is third in the county race with 40 points after three TDs against Magoffin County Friday night.

Three weeks remain in the regular season and anything can happen.
ANYWAY YOU SLICE IT...

Bill Mike Runyon's Paintsville Tigers should be the cream of the crop in 15th Region high school basketball this season.

Bill Mike returns a young, but very strong and talented ballclub this year. You have to like his chances of not only a regional championship but a strong showing in this year's Sweet Sixteen as well.

Brian Lyons, a senior, has been one of my favorite players in the region. He just had an outstanding season last year. Add Craig Ratliff, a junior, and heralded freshman J.R. Vanhoose.

Do you want a preview of a possible Class A regional final, a 15th Regional final matchup? December 2, the Allen Central Rebels travel to Paintsville. The little Paintsville gym will not hold the fans. Wow!

Pikeville's Kevin Garris is excited about his ballclub this season. Dangerous Doug Powers returns and the Coach has got him a really nice foreign student transfer.

"In a pick up game in the gym, he took the ball to the basket, made a strong move to the side and dunked the ball with both hands," said Garris. I understand the transfer played on a national team before coming to America.

On the girls' side of basketball, the Betsy Layne Lady Cats should be loaded for bear this year. Coach

Overtime play extended one minute

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The 1994-95 high school basketball season is only 48 days away from starting and the fans are chomping at the bits.

But when the fans flood the gymnasiums this year they will notice some rule changes that will be initiated this season.

Although the new rules will not be that drastic, there will be an extra minute added to the overtime periods. Last year, if two teams played to a standstill in regulation play, the overtime called for three minutes. This year it will be four.

At a time when they have made other rules to shorten the game, why go and add another minute to overtime periods?

Remember the time when someone drilled a free throw and the teammates would crowd around at the free throw stripe and slap hands?

No more!

A technical foul will be assessed to the team that does such huddling and makes physical contact.

The coaches will get a break of sorts this year (bless their hearts, they need one). The past season saw the head coach assessed a technical foul if anyone on the bench upset the officials.

This year will see the arrival of the 5-7-3 The overtime period has been extended to four minutes. Each extra period is four minutes in length until one team leads at the end of an extra period. Officials must also remind the scorer to provide one additional time-out per team for each extra period.

Betsy Layne
Bobcats hold off Berea 20-14

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Betsy Layne head football coach John Derossett has but one wish, an easy win out of the last two his Bobcats have left to play.

Derossett compared himself, in some ways, to Abraham Lincoln.

"Three years here at Betsy Layne has aged me more than the civil war did Abe Lincoln," said Coach Derossett. "We have won eight games. Not one of those wins have been easy. I told my players that all I wanted was a win where I won't have to age 10 years.

While the Betsy Layne mentor was concerned, the homecoming game against the Berea Pirates was a fan's delight. The Bobcats sent the fans home satisfied after they pulled out a 20-14 win over Berea.

The win improved the Bobcats to 3-5 on the season. Victories in Betsy Layne's next two games would equal last seasons' 5-5 mark.

It was "The Rocky Hamilton Show" at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex as the senior running back scored three touchdowns and rushed for 161 yards to lead the Bobcats to their third victory of the season on homecoming day this past Saturday.

Ashley Bartley was crowned the fall Homecoming Queen at halftime.

The big play of the day belonged to Timmy Nunnemaker, and it came in the fourth quarter after the Bobcats had just picked up a first down on a 5-yard penalty against Berea. On a second-and-seven play at the Betsy Layne 47, quarterback Craig Hamilton connected up with Nunnemaker for a 37-yard completion spotting the ball on the Pirates 16.

"Timmy's play summed up the whole football and team concept we have here at Betsy Layne," said Coach Derossett. "The play was called to go to Willie (Meade) but they got switched up some way. Timmy ended up on the left hand side. At the snap of the football, he's knocked down on his knees.

"Now, he could have stayed down there and let the play go, but instead, he got up and ran the route and caught the ball and it was the play of the game. It was just a super play by Timmy," he said.

The super play resulted in a super score that snapped a 14-14 tie late in the game. With the football on the Pirates 16, Hamilton ran for an 11-yard pick-up to the Pirates five. A facemasking call put the ball at the three where Hamilton scored the winning touchdown.

"That just typifies what we believe about football here at Betsy Layne," said the Bobcat mentor. "We believe anybody on the field can make the play and Timmy did a super job making one."

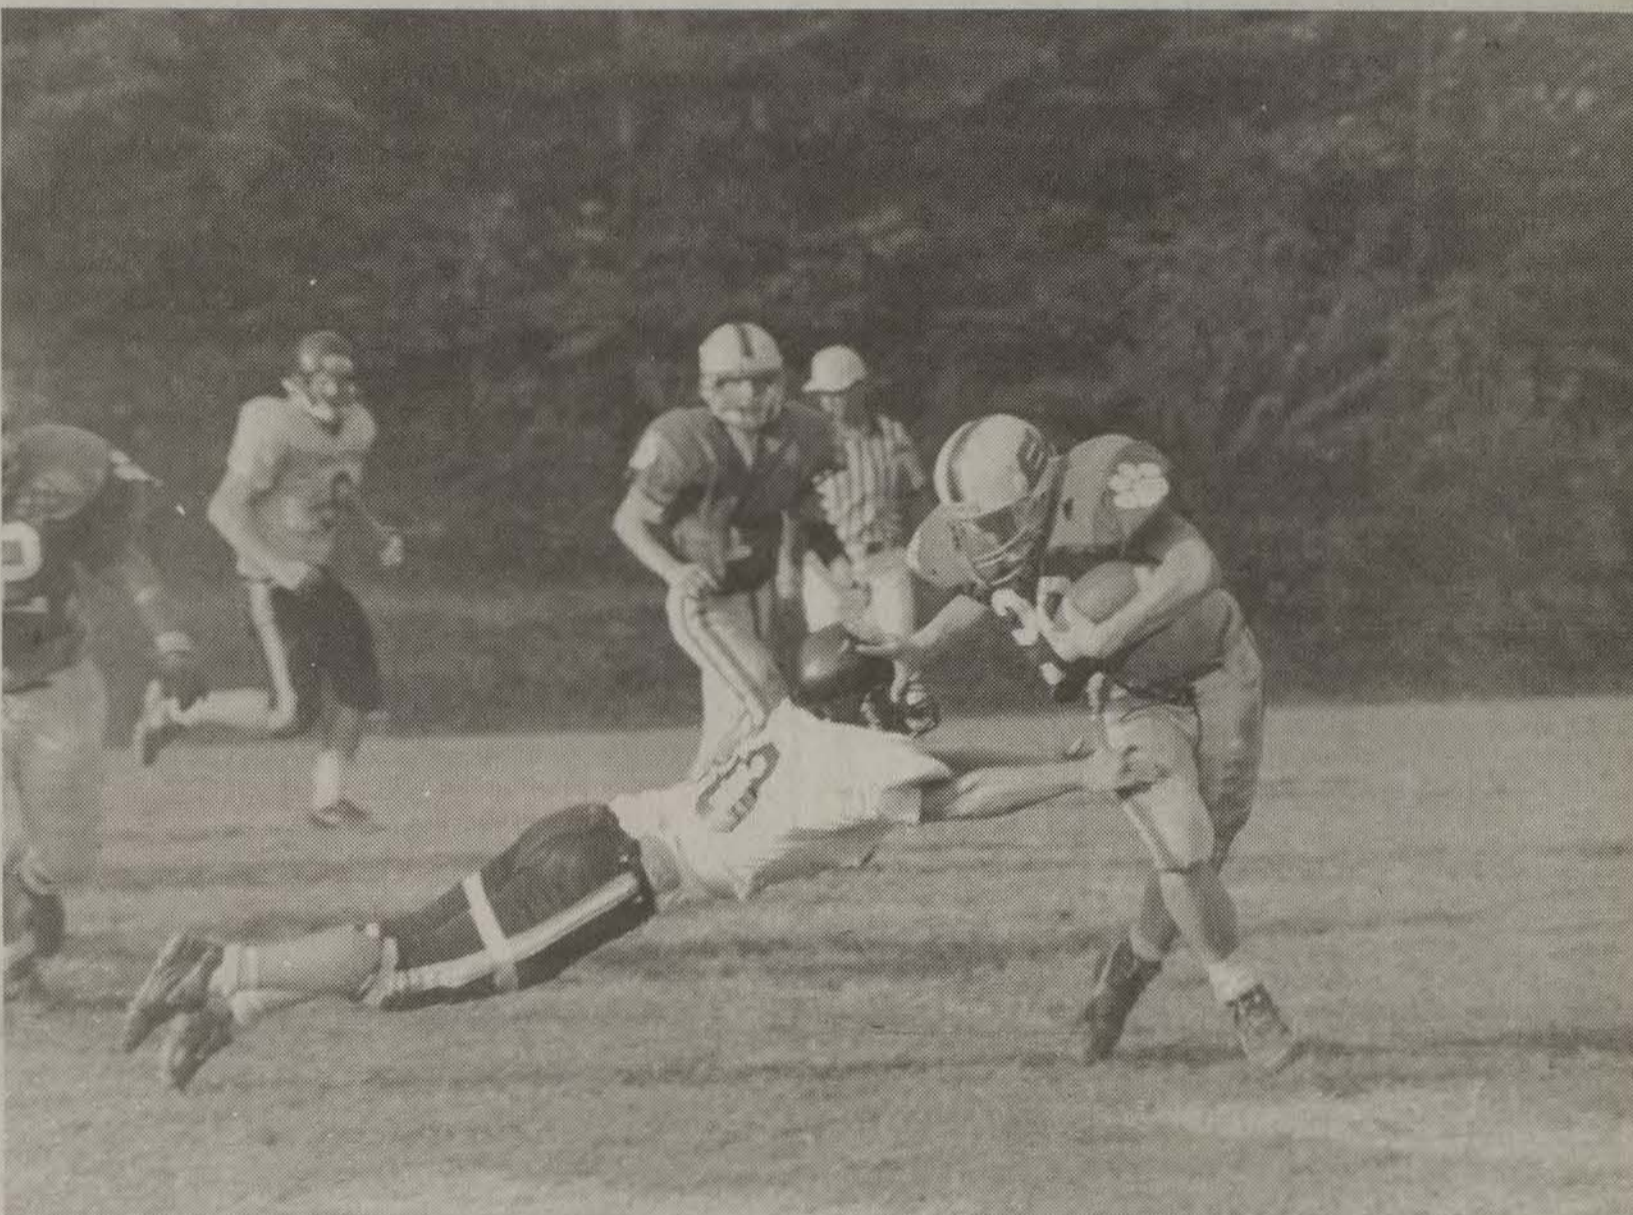

Rocky Hamilton, who did just about everything offensively and defensively for Betsy Layne, made one mistake and that came in the fourth period.

Hamilton had just picked up good yardage moving the ball to the Berea 30 when he fumbled the football moving toward the sideline.

Bruce Chasteen picked up the football and hurried down the sideline for a 70-yard touchdown run and a two-point conversion pass from Scott Kaylor to Anthony Chasteen tied the game at 14.

With almost four minutes left in the game, Berea still had time on their Betsy Layne running back Brent Akers (20) fended off a Berea Pirate defender in the fourth quarter of Saturday's game with the Pirates. Akers and the Bobcats won in a dramatic way, 20-14, to improve to 3-5 on the season. Akers carried 16 times for 58-yards rushing. Blackcats hold off Magoffin County

Morris scores 3 touchdowns in 28-20 victory

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Blackcats spotted the Magoffin County Hornets a 12-0 lead and, in a dramatic comeback, posted a 28-20 win over a strong Hornet team.

It was a big district game for both ballclubs that met on the Hornets' home field. Magoffin County fell to 4-3 overall and 1-3 in district play. The Blackcats went over .500 for the first time this season, improving to 4-3 overall and 2-1 in district play.

The victory over the Hornets makes Prestonsburg's upcoming game with Sheldon Clark loom even bigger.

"They're all big games for us the rest of the way," said Prestonsburg coach Bill Letton. "But we just have to take them one at a time. We can only think about Sheldon Clark now."

The two teams will meet this Friday night at the Prestonsburg stadium.

Sophomore Jon Morris turned in a stellar performance out of the backfield for the Blackcats and senior quarterback Thomas Ratliff showed leadership when it was needed.

"Tom played a super game for us," said Coach Letton. "We were faced with third-and-long a couple of times, and when we had to have some big plays, he gave them to us."

Normally, according to Coach Letton, the Blackcats would have thrown the football more, but that wasn't their game plan.

Prestonsburg kept the ball on the ground the third and fourth quarter in order to keep the football out of Magoffin County's hands.

"Any time we play a team that's capable of throwing the football like Magoffin County," said Letton, "then we're going to try to slow the game down. We want to grind it out and keep the ball away from them."

Letton said that he thought their game plan had succeeded and his team was "able to chew up a lot of the clock."

"That was the big difference," he said.

Prestonsburg had the football four minutes longer than Magoffin in the second half. The Cats ran 30 plays to Magoffin County's 23.

The Hornets grabbed the early lead and it didn't take long to do. Mike Caba took the opening kickoff and ran it back, covering 77 yards for the first touchdown, which gave the Hornets a 6-0 lead.

Magoffin struck again, and quickly, as they came up with a fumbled on-side kick that seemed to have caught the Blackcats by surprise. The Hornets completed a drive that started on the Prestonsburg 48. They scored when Caba hit Jason Robinette with a 10-yard pass for a 12-0 lead as the Magoffin County fans celebrated.

Coach Letton said that the quick start was due to the excitement of the Magoffin County team.

"We got off to a real shaky start," he said. "I told our kids after the game, it wasn't the fact we weren't ready to play, but it was the fact they were excited about playing us."

"Caba made a good run on the opening kickoff, then they had a big play on the on-side kick.

"We knew he was dangerous in throwing the football. Fortunately, we got back in the thing and it did take us most of the first half to regroup. But we did and that's a credit to us," he said.

Regroup the Cats did. They scored the next 15 points to grab a 15-12 halftime lead.

Jon Morris scored his first touchdown in the second period and Ratliff kicked the PAT to narrow the margin to 12-7.

Rebels snap six-game losing streak

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It took seven weeks to get it done, but the Allen Central Rebels football team snapped a seven game losing streak (dating back to last year) as they edged past McCreary Central on the road, 20-13 Friday night in high school football.

Sophomore Beau Tackett rushed for 143 yards and scored a touchdown in the Rebels initial win of the season. James Osborne rushed for 52 yards on 10 carries and Josh Reeves had 37 yards on eight attempts.

Allen Central coach Glenn Reeves went back to the ground game in Friday's night's matchup.

"You couldn't stand up on the field," he said. "They had that short turf and the dew fell on it at night and made it slick. Adam (Coleman) went back to pass and fell once."

Reeves said that his ballclub had to return to the dressing room and change shoes.

Coleman attempted only 13 passes against McCreary Central completing a pass to Kevin Stumbo and Josh Reeves. He totaled 23 yards passing and threw for one touchdown, a 30 yard pass reception to Stumbo.

Allen Central spotted McCreary Central a 13-0 half time lead and made some adjustments at the half to shore up the defense. The moves worked as the Rebels held off the home team in the second half while they came from behind to post the win.

The Rebels overloaded one side of the offensive line and on a counter move, Tackett found all kinds of running room.

His 50-yard gallop in the third quarter and James Osborne's conversion run, made it a 13-8 ball game. Allen Central took the lead 14-13 when Osborne crossed the goal line from 12-yards out. A 30-yard pass reception by Stumbo late in the game gave the Rebels a 20-13 cushion.

Coach Reeves was pleased with one factor of the game, few penalties. "We had minimum penalties," he said. "We had only 25 yards in penalties and that came on a face masking and taunting. But we picked up 5-yards of that back on an off side call against McCreary Central."

Penalties had been a problem for the Rebels all season.

Eric "Scooter" Moore led the Rebels at the defensive line. He had four solo, two first hits and four assists. He also recovered on fumble.

Freshman Johnny Case made an impression on his coach with a strong defensive outing. Case recovered two fumbles, had two solo hits, two first hits and one assist.

Josh Reeves, from his linebacker slot, made it miserable for the quarterback with his pass rush. Reeves had two pass deflections and two assists.

"James (Osborne) had a sack for us for a loss and that really turned things around for us," said Coach Reeves. "That sealed the game for us."

Lot at stake for Kentucky, LSU, coaches

When the UK Wildcats and the LSU Bayou Bengals square off in Tiger Stadium this Saturday night, it will be a crucial game for both squads.

Both teams enter the contest with disappointing 1-4 records, and each team's chances of ending the season with at least a respectable win-loss tally may well depend upon the outcome of this game.

Each club will face one or more opponent they are not likely to beat.

Kentucky must play Georgia, Mississippi State and Vanderbilt after they take on the Tigers. Northeast Louisiana will face the Wildcats just before the Cats end the season on the road at Tennessee.

LSU will have to face the likes of Mississippi, Alabama, Tulane and Arkansas.

This adds to the importance of this contest for both LSU and Kentucky.

But not only is it crucial for the teams but coaches as well. Tiger coach Curley Hallman could very well be on his way out if the Tigers drop this one.

However, a loss for UK will not affect the status of coach Bill Curry, but it could have a long lasting effect on the program as far as recruiting goes.

His earlier performances against Florida and Auburn have done damage to his image and his rebuilding effort at UK.

Though not enough, UK's defense has shown some improvement against both South Carolina and Auburn. It gave up 650 yards to Indiana, 475 yards to South Carolina and only 374 yards to ninth ranked Auburn.

Offensively against Auburn, UK rushed for more yardage than any team Auburn had played and matched Auburn in first downs, 16-16. Auburn scored 21 of their 41 points on offensive turnovers -- an interception, a fumble by Moe Williams into the end zone, and a fumble by Damon Hood at the one-foot line, all of which led to touchdowns by Auburn.

Kentucky should have no excuses. They have had two weeks to heal and to work on improvements for the LSU game. As opposed to LSU who is coming off its game last Saturday against Florida.

There are some big questions.

Will Bill Verdonk and Mike Schlegel see more action on the defensive line and Roger Sullivan and Robert Stinson less, or will they continue to alternate in an effort to wear down the opponents offensive line?

Will there be changes at linebacker, and if not, will we see improved performance from those who have played these positions? Will LSU run to its left thru the right side of Kentucky's defense as easily as other teams have done?

Will Kentucky be able to take advantage of its excellent receivers - Isaac Curtis, Leon Smith and speedsters like Clyde Rudolph, Randy Wyatt, Donnie Redd, Jaysuma Simms, and Kio Sanford?

Will UK's swift defensive backfield make some interceptions or will it have to spend another evening helping the linebackers do their job against the run?

side as they mounted a strong drive moving into Betsy Layne territory. But the Bobcat defense rose to the occasion and stopped the Pirates, led by Rodney Hamilton.

"Our defense did a great job the last two minutes," said Derossett. "The two Chasteen boys are great players and could play for anyone in the state."

"Anthony Chasteen is a super athlete. But our defense just lined up with them and played hard."

"I told my players at halftime if somebody is going to run over us it will either be Berea or ourselves because of the hot weather we had."

In an unusual Saturday game played under blue skies, a large crowd cheered on the Bobcats.

The visitors grabbed the early lead 6-0 on a 74-yard touchdown pass from Kaylor to Bruce Chasteen, with 3:42 left to play in the first period.

With 3:34 left in the first quarter Betsy Layne began a march from their own 28 as Craig Hamilton kept putting the football in Rocky Hamilton's hands. The big fullback busted through the Berea line for 39 yards rushing on a drive that covered 72 yards. Hamilton plunged over from the 1-yard line to tie the game at 6 on the 10:03 mark of the second quarter.

The two teams played even football until Betsy Layne took a 14-6 lead mid-way thru the third quarter. Betsy Layne took the football with 7:25 left to play and scored 12 seconds later on a 47-yard touchdown run by Rocky Hamilton. Brent Akers ran in the two-point conversion for the lead.

Hamilton carried the football 23 times for 161 yards rushing. He had one interception in the game. Akers finished with 58 yards on 16 carries. Chris Hicks picked up 16 yards on three carries.

Craig Hamilton completed two passes in eight attempts for 60-yards passing. Nunncemaker had one reception for 37 yards and Meade pulled in one catch for 23 yards.

Betsy Layne had three flags for 20 yards in penalties. They turned the football over twice, both times on fumbles.

Bruce Chasteen had 10 carries for 125 yards for the Pirates. Anthony Chasteen was stopped with 21 yards on 15 attempts.

Kaylor completed 12 of 24 passes for 118 yards to give Berea 266 yards of total offense.

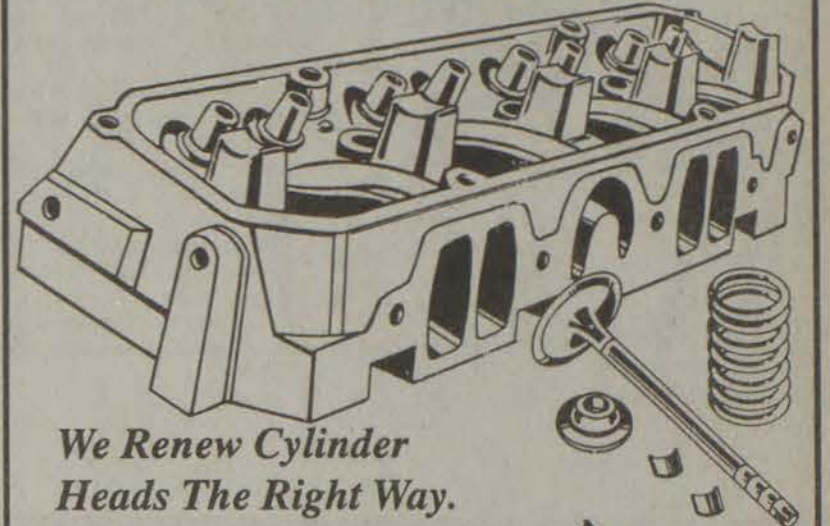

Betsy Layne's secondary stopped the pass in the second half as Kaylor had 92 yards passing at the end of the first half. But the Pirates, who managed only 17 yards on the ground in the first half, rushed for 131 in the second.

Blackcats

stopped the Hornets on three downs, Caba delivered a horrible punt that gave Prestonsburg excellent field position. 1:39 left to play in the half, Morris struck again on a 3-yard run and he added the two-point conversion to give the Blackcats the lead. Morris carried all six times in the drive that started on the Magoffin County 23.

With the help of a Prestonsburg penalty, the Hornets reclaimed the lead at 20-15.

Prestonsburg forced the Hornets to punt after they had put together a strong drive to the Blackcats' 35-yard line. On the punt, a holding flag was thrown against the Blackcats allowing the Hornets to kick the football again.

A second penalty on the second kick, roughing the kicker, gave the Hornets an automatic first down. Caba hit Brian Risner with a 20-yard pass completion to spot the football on the Prestonsburg 23-yard line as the third quarter ended.

On the first play from scrimmage to start the final quarter, Risner pulled down a Caba pass over his right shoulder and ran into the end zone for a 18-15 lead with 11:55 remaining in the game. Caba found Grayson Smith for the two-point conversion and the Hornets were celebrating again with a 20-15 advantage.

"At that point, I thought we were going to be able to hang on and win," said Magoffin County coach Mitch Caba. "But they came back and got us."

It didn't take Prestonsburg long to reclaim the lead for good -- three plays in fact. Ratliff broke two tackles and raced 50 yards for a touchdown with 10:16 left in the game to give the Blackcats the 21-20 lead.

After Waylon Bevins sacked Caba for a huge loss of 10 yards, the Hornets were forced to punt the football.

Facing a crucial fourth-and-two, Prestonsburg left the football in Ratliff's hands as he went for the first down. He came away with not only a first down, but a good 16-yard pickup that spotted the football on the Hornets' 13-yard line.

On a great second and third effort, Ratliff moved to the Hornets' 2-yard line where Morris scored his third TD on a 2-yard run. Ratliff added the PAT to make it a 28-20 game.

With 5:59 left to play, Magoffin had the football. But the Prestonsburg defense rose to the challenge and stopped the Hornets on three downs after Paul Collins threw Caba for a 6-yard loss.

Prestonsburg then kept the football on the ground, holding the football the final 4:23 of the game.

"We thought we could win this game tonight," said Coach Caba. "We wanted to beat them. Prestonsburg is an outstanding program and they know how to win and came back on us and made a ball game of it. It was just a good high school football game."

Morris ran for 143 yards to lead the rushing game for Prestonsburg. Ratliff finished with 100 yards on 10 carries.

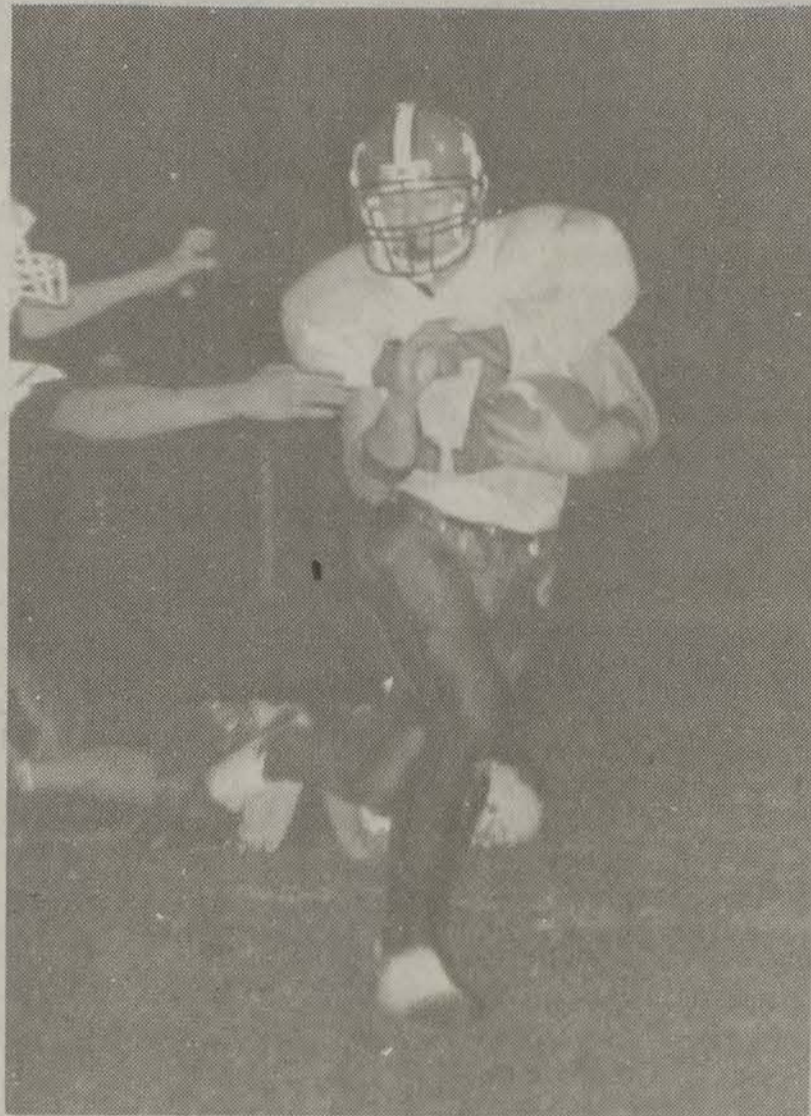

Ratliff completed one of six pass attempts for only 3 yards. The Blackcats finished with 313 yards total offense.

Larry Morris led the Prestonsburg defense with seven solo hits and three assists. Mike Shepherd had six first hits, one assist and one sack.

John Lyons played a strong game on the defensive side of the football with five first hits and two assists. Collins had two sacks in the game with four solo's and two assists.

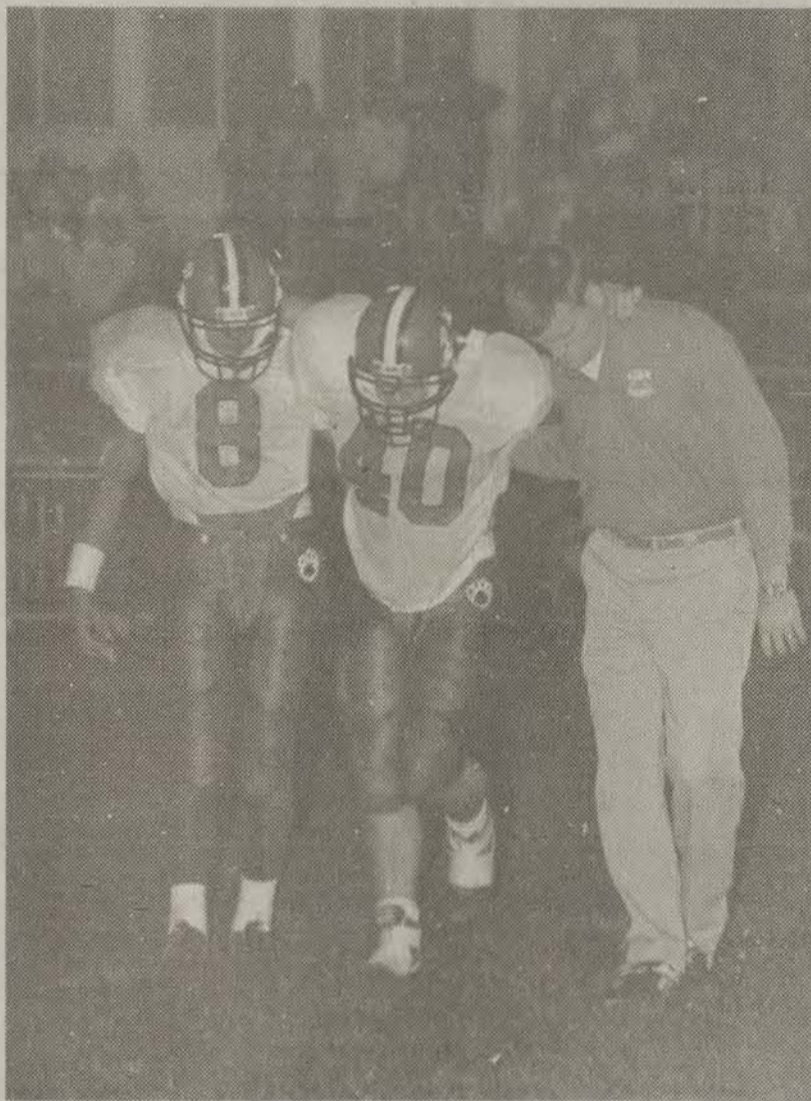

Bevins, who just keeps getting better, had a sack, four first hits and four assists. Ortega and Clint Shutts each had one interception.

The Hornets could only grind out 50 yards on the ground. Caba completed 14 of 21 pass attempts for 158 yards passing. The Hornets had 208 yards total offense.

Eludes defender!

Ryan Ortega, of Prestonsburg, doesn't carry the football that much, but here he picked up 7-yards on this carry against the Magoffin County Hornets in Friday night's district game at Salyersville. The Blackcats went 2-1 in district play with a 28-20 win. (photo by Ed Taylor)

More hard luck!

Rules

"indirect technical" and the "direct technical." No longer will a head coach be tossed because someone on the bench collected a technical. That will be termed an "indirect technical."

Under the old rule, a coach that receives two technicals (regardless of the nature), was tossed and suspended for one game.

Now, two "direct technicals" have to be called on him before he is tossed.

In order to save the walls, lockers and benches in the locker area from an ejected player, the ejected player will be seated on the team bench until the game is over. If he returns to the locker area, he or she must be accompanied by an adult. Wow!

The restriction on breaking the plane of the free throw line only applies to opponents of the free thrower. That seems to give the advantage to the enemy.

When lady basketball players take the court this season, they had better check those fingernails, if they don't, the officials will.

Anyone's nails, that are deemed to be too long and unsafe, will be trimmed before a player will be permitted to participate. No biting of nails.

Other rule changes.

- Tinted glass backboards are prohibited beginning with those manufactured after January 1, 1995.

- The numbers on the front and back of the shirt shall be similar in color and style beginning with the 1997-98 season.

- Length of compression shorts restricted to above the knee.

- Points of emphasis this season: taunting and baiting; rough play and use of official mechanics.

Have a good season!

Nicholas County dominates South Floyd, 46-22

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Nicholas County hosted the South Floyd Raiders this past Thursday night and did not treat the visitors too kindly on the football field.

The Bluejackets rolled up 46 points in their 46-22 win over the Raiders, who dropped their seventh game of the season.

"We had our opportunities to score," said Raiders' coach Donnie Daniels. "We moved the ball well. We didn't run as many plays as I had wanted us to, but we played well."

"I like to run around 50 plays or more a game, but we only had 42 Thursday night. Nicholas County created plays by keeping the ball on the ground against us," he said.

The Bluejackets rushed for 340 yards on the ground while passing for 17. Timmy Hopkins led Nicholas County with 125 yards on 18 carries. Mike French picked up 89 yards on four carries and Duane Kenney had 36 yards on seven carries.

Quarterback Stan Kenney hit French with a 17-yard pass reception for the only completion for the Bluejackets.

South Floyd took the initial lead in the first quarter when freshman quarterback Nick Compton got the nod over Justin Ray at quarterback. It was the first start for the freshman, who connected with wide out Kevin Johnson for a 36-yard touchdown pass. Chad Slone ran in the conversion for a 8-0 South Floyd lead.

Nicholas County struck back quickly as Hopkins highlighted a Bluejacket drive with a 10-yard run into the end zone and tied the game. He carried the two-point conversion for an 8-8 game.

The South Floyd defense had problems with the running game of the Bluejackets as they scored twice more in the first quarter to lead 22-8. Duane Kenney scored on a 2-yard run and French found an opening for 24 yards and a touchdown before the quarter ended. Hopkins ran in the two-point conversion.

Nicholas County tacked on two more scores in the second quarter to lead at the half 38-8.

Duane Kenney picked up a South Floyd fumble in the second period and raced 52 yards for the touchdown as Aaron Willis made the conversion run. Hopkins scored his second TD of the game on a 7-yard run. Darrin Hunter ran the football in from the 3-yard line just before the half.

The Bluejackets got their final TD in the third quarter on Derek Anderson's 37-yard break away with Colin Boderick running in the conversion.

Adam Wright got involved in the Raiders' offense in the final quarter as he scored twice to make the final more respectable. Wright scored on runs of 20-yards and 6-yards. Kevin Johnson took a pass from Compton for a conversion.

Senior running back Chad Slone saw limited playing time because his knee swelled.

"We didn't want to take any chances with it," said Coach Daniels, "so we just let him sit out the second half. It was just a cautionary measure."

With Compton starting at quarterback, Coach Daniels moved Ray to a safety position and he liked the move.

"Justin did a great job for us back there," said Daniels. "He got hit hard toward the end of the game and it sort of shook him up."

Daniels said that Terrance Mullins is nearing 100 percent after an earlier injury.

"Terrance played a heck of a game for me," said the Raiders' coach. "He made two heck of a catches. He went over top of one defender and caught the football."

Wright led the ground game for South Floyd as he rushed for 159 yards on 13 carries. He scored two touchdowns.

Compton, who was impressive in his first start, completed seven of 15 passes for 103 yards.

"He made some mistakes," said Coach Daniels. "But I wanted to get him some time back there."

Kevin Johnson had three receptions for 47 yards. Mullins caught two passes for 47 yards. Ketrin Mays had one catch that went for a 5-yard pick up.

On the defensive side of the football, Jarrod Compton and Johnson stood out for the Raiders.

Coach Daniels saw quality playing time from two freshmen.

"Matt Taylor and Dustin Hall played a real good game for us on defense," he said. "Looks like they may be getting a little more playing time. They made some key tackles for us out there."

Nicholas County improved to 3-4 on the season while the Raiders are 0-7.

It will be the Red, White and Blue Bowl this Friday night at the Brackett Field in Wheelwright. The Raiders will host county foe Allen Central in the bowl game.

Prestonsburg site of state basketball clinic on October 19

A mandatory officials and coaches basketball clinic, according to signing secretary Ancie Casey, will be held at the Prestonsburg High School cafeteria on Wednesday, October 19, beginning at 7 P.M.

Larry Belcher, assistant KHSAA Commissioner, will be the speaker.

Casey urges all who are interested in getting into officiating, to be at the meeting and to sign up.

FISHIN' TIPS

The logical place to look for post-spawn walleyes is near the spawning grounds.

On deep, clear lakes, there is relatively little cover on shallow flats and few locations for walleyes, to hide. Your post-spawn hot spots are going to be deeper weed zones if they are developed. In lakes with underdeveloped weed zones or none at all, walleyes, will resort to deeper water, dropping down the side of a dropoff or suspending. To find out for sure, check the possible areas.

Walleyes love to hang around in the shade but if your lake doesn't have much shade, don't give up. Your search is narrowed and you might find big fish in a small area.

Remember that these areas will only be productive during post-spawn if they adjoin a spawning area.

In general, a walleye will have to reach 20 inches in length to weight three pounds.

The Liberty Bell Pavilion in Independence National Historical Park is a shrine for Americans. The bell's biblical inscription, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof," stirs our patriotic spirit. Americans remember that the bell called Philadelphians together to hear proclaimed the Declaration of Independence. The John Graham Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, suggests that the Declaration be read by all.

Paintsville girls' place five golfers in state golf meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The 1994 girls' and boys' state golf meet got underway this week at two courses in Hardin County.

The girls' teed it up yesterday, October 11, at the Elizabethtown Country Club, after a practice round on Monday. The boys' will tee off Thursday and Friday at Lincoln Trail Country Club in Vine Grove, just North of Elizabethtown. The boys' will hold their practice round today. The Lady Tigers of Paintsville, recent winners of the 15th Region girls' regional, placed fifth in the state meet.

Amber LeMaster, medalist in last week's girls' regional, was the first to tee off yesterday morning. Carrie LeMaster was to start play from hole 10 at 9:15 a.m.

Others in the girls' meet include: April Blankenship, senior; Andrea Williams, sophomore; Heather Castle, freshman.

Allison Allara, junior, represented Pikeville High School in the girls' meet.

Sharon Park of Henry Clay and Ashley Smith of Greenwood, both seniors, lead a host of top girls' talent. Park, runner-up in '93, shot a 75 to edge out Lexington Christian's Kelly Beth Simmons by two strokes in a playoff for the regional title this past week.

There will be 132 girls and 154 boys competing in their respective divisions this year, the largest field ever. A new rule change that permits schools to field a five-person squad and count the four best scores contribute to the increase in the state field this year.

The youngest player to ever participate in a state meet is Whitney Wade, a 9-year-old fourth grader at Happy Valley Elementary and a member of the Glasgow qualifying team.

Rebels

Brad Blackburn continues to hit hard in the defensive backfield. He had two solo's, two first hits, one assist, one interception and a sack. Gordon Reeves had two solo's, one first hit and a sack.

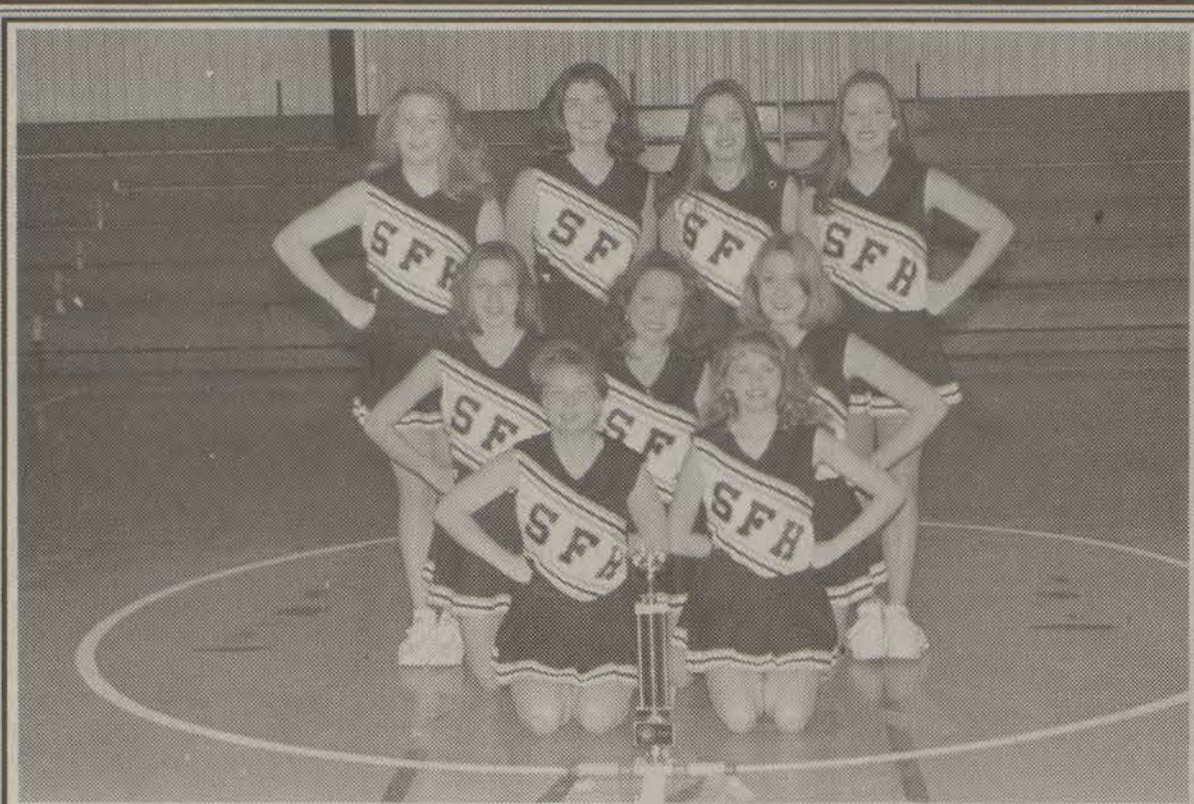

"It was a fun game for us," said the Allen Central mentor. "Fun on defense. Not in the first half but in the second, it was fun."

Allen Central went to their seven-and-diamond defense in the second half and slowed McCreary Central down.

"It worked against Betsy Layne in the second half," Coach Reeves said. "We just went with the second half to give it a chance."

"We were fired up for the game. When you get that first win it makes your practices go a lot better."

Allen Central will face South Floyd this Friday night in the second annual Red, White and Blue Bowl at Brackett Field.

South Floyd JV Cheerleaders

South Floyd JV squad receives high rating; Reynolds named to UCA All-Stars

Carrie Reynolds, right, was named to the University Cheerleaders Association All-Star Junior Varsity squad recently in a camp held at Morehead State University.

Reynolds will represent South Floyd in the Philadelphia Thanksgiving Day Parade. She is a member of the girls' varsity cheerleading squad.

The South Floyd girls' squad, above, received a superior rating for their efforts at the camp. The team is awaiting the start of the basketball season where they will cheer on the Lady Raiders basketball team.

While waiting for the roundball season to start, the JV squad is working hard toward the start of the season by cheering for the Raiders football team.

Basketball practice officially begins this coming Saturday, but the season has never ended for these cheerleaders, who puts in a lot of hours and hard work.

Everyday hard work has been rewarded by the squad receiving a superior rating.

The team is sponsored by Lucy Reynolds.

13th Annual JENNY WILEY FESTIVAL

Francis takes checkered flag in Autumn 50 win

by Chris Blair
Thunder Ridge Promoter

Steve Francis took the lead from race leader Randle Chupp on lap ten and blew away the rest of the field on his way to victory in the 50 lap Late Model season finale at Thunder Ridge Racing and Entertainment Complex.

The victory was worth $6,000 to the Ashland driver of the Don Sallee Oil/C.J. Rayburn race car.

Fast qualifier Chupp used the outside groove to take the lead on the start ahead of Francis, Paul Harris and Henry Hornsby to set up a battle that saw the top five running nose-to-tail for most of the early laps. On several occasions in the opening laps, Francis pushed the nose of his car under Chupp at the same time Harris tried working around Francis.

The nose-to-tail action lasted until Francis dove under Chupp to take over the top spot in turn one on the tenth lap. Once Francis took over the top spot, the race turned into a battle for second as he immediately blew out to a 10-car length lead.

"Once I got into the lead I didn't even open up the four barrel on this new Russell Baker motor," said a jubilant Francis from victory row.

While Francis took it smooth and easy at the front, 10 car lengths behind him Chupp had his hands full holding onto the second position. Harris challenged Chupp for several laps before his tires began to fade and Hornsby took over third. The battle from there saw Hornsby continuously try both the high and low side while trying to hold off Jerry Rice who had moved into fourth.

The only changing of position late in the race came after Hornsby lost a tire and Rice and Doug Dodd moved up into the race long battle for second. At the checkered flag, Francis had pulled out to nearly a straight-away lead over Chupp, Rice, Dodd and Joe Meadows. David Dixon, Hornsby, Harris, Paul Davis and Jeff Wood rounded out the top 10.

Chupp, who is the only repeat winner in nine races at the Ridge, captured the series points championship over Harris, Dixon and Randy Boggs.

Chassis builder Stanley Haddix won in the Thunder Ridge Open Wheel Modified division as he took the victory ahead of Eddie Carrier Jr. and Shannon Thornsberry. The win was worth $800 to the Bulan driver.

Haddix, who also won the fast dash, took the lead on the start and led all 20 laps on his way to victory. Behind him, Thornsberry and Carrier put on one of the best shows of the evening as the two ran nose-to-tail for most of the early laps before Carrier took over second on lap nine.

At the finish, it was Haddix, Carrier, Thornsberry, Rusy Bryant and Greg Lucas, who charged from twelfth to fifth in the last six laps to maintain a mathematical hope of catching Thornsberry in the points championship.

Allen Turner of Martin, clinched the Bomber division points championship with two races remaining by taking his second feature victory and Carey Cline of Gilbert, West Virginia took both the Thunder N' Lightin' feature and points championship.

Thunder Ridge Race notes:
• Although the Late Model season has come to a close, two unique events still remain at Thunder Ridge.

On Saturday night, October 22 the Pepsi Modified World 50 will take the green flag after more than a month delay due to rain on the original September 17 date. In addition to the 50 lap feature, the Bomber and Thunder N' Lightin' will also be in action on the 3/8 dirt oval.

The 1994 racing season will then be wrapped up on Saturday night, October 29 with the running of the Cool Ghoul 150 presented by Coors. The Cool Ghoul event will feature a special event of bombers as well as a 150 lap enduro race paying $2,500 to win.

The enduro will see 100 street cars, with the only modifications being for safety, running a 150 lap race that will only see cautions thrown in the event that the track is completely blocked, a car is on fire or if a car has rolled over. The enduro race pays $2,500 to win, winner-take-all.

For rules and entry information, contact motorsports promoter Chris Blair at (606) 886-7223, ext. 601.

Randle Chupp's second place finish in Saturday's Late Model feature clinched the first ever Thunder Ridge Late Model track championship for the Leburn driver of the Bob Miller/GRT race car. The title earned the Muscle Shoals, Alabama driver $4,000 plus contingency awards.

Despite the fact that the event was awarding double points, Chupp's fast time, second place finish in the dash and second place finish in the feature would have earned him the title even if single points had been awarded. Chupp, who was the only repeat winner at the Ridge, took the championship ahead of Paul Harris, David Dixon, Randy Boggs and Joe Meadows.

It was Chupp's second track title in less than a week. He edged Scott Bloomquist to earn the Outlaw Championship last week at Volunteer Speedway in Bulls Gap, Tennessee.

Martin driver Shannon Thornsberry has only to finish 11th or better in the Open Wheel Modified feature on October 22 to earn that division's title. Going into the race, Thornsberry has a 30-point lead over Whitesburg driver Greg Lucas. Junior Banks, Stanley Haddix and Anthony Adams round out the top five.

To capture the title, Lucas would have to win his heat race, take the victory and hope that Thornsberry earns no more than feature starting points.

Allen Turner of Martin completely wrapped up the Bomber division title by virtue of his win Saturday night. Turner's lead is now so large that he doesn't even have to show up for the final two events.

The same is true for Thunder N' Lightin' driver Carey Cline of Gilbert, W. Va., who can skip that division's finale on October 22 and still win the title.

The Liberty Bell, which hung in the Pennsylvania State House, was in use for almost 95 years: 1753-1846. It drew Philadelphia citizens to the public reading of the Declaration of Independence. It tolled solemnly during funeral services for John Marshall, Chief Justice of the United States. It was used annually to celebrate the anniversary of George Washington's Birth. Unfortunately in 1846, a wide crack made the bell unusable.

A Look at Sports

Bill Newsome will have two Jessica Hamilton's on the floor this season.

Jessica Hamilton number two is a transfer student from June Buchanan where she led her team in rebounding. She was ranked high in the state as a top rebounder and I watched her play a couple of games. She can score as well.

Jessica Hamilton number one is a seasoned veteran returning from last year's regional championship team. Never a starter, but one of the hardest workers that you will find in the game. I like to call her "instant offense."

A Pike Central player from last season has enrolled at Betsy Layne and everyone knows about Ashley Tackett returning to Betsy Layne from Shelby Valley. Then you add Penny Tackett and Jessica Johnson, and you have a nucleus that can't miss.

"We will have five Jessica's on the team this year, and two will be Hamilton's," said head coach Bill Newsome.

I suggested to him at some point of the season that he put all five on the floor at the same time.

"It could happen," he admitted.

McDowell Elementary will have a new coach this year as Henry Webb moves in to the county.

Henry got his basketball career off to a great start when he played on my junior pro basketball team at Martin several years ago. If we needed a basket, we went to Henry.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE BOWL...

The second annual Red, White and Blue Bowl will be played this Friday night at Brackett Field in Wheelwright as Allen Central travels up the pike.

Last year's match up got ugly at times and both coaches hope it will be different this year.

Fans have a way of making things happen on the field that shouldn't. So, all the Allen Central and South Floyd fans, please be on your best behavior and just enjoy the game.

SAGA OF GLENN ROBINSON...

A $100 million contract! To play the game of basketball?

That's what former Purdue great Glenn Robinson is wanting to get him to play in the NBA.

Ridiculous! Now, he is trying to stop some clothing store, Fortune Dogs, from using the nickname "Big Dog" because he considers himself "the only Big Dog."

Let him get a job. Don't give into such foolish demands. Next he will want to be President!

SALUTE TO DOUG FLYNN...

Doug left his radio job with WLAP radio after the station began to air a program that was not in good taste.

The duo of Ron Bennington and Ron Diaz were using "foul language and making sexual suggestive remarks," according to Flynn. He just didn't want to be identified with that and I salute him for it.

When someone on the radio begins to make fun of people with disabilities, they are sick.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

No bird soars too high if he soars with his own wings.

Reactions to Curry threats? A numb acceptance fed by media Shocked by what happened last week to University of Kentucky football coach Bill Curry and his family? No.

Neither was USA Today. The national newspaper reported the death threat on Curry's wife in paragraph 12, page 9 of its Thursday C section, under Colleges.

Surprised? Not me. These are times in America when we are prisoners to cynicism. The outrageous is not so much commonplace as centerpiece. Many of us are numb by the fusillade of media one-upsmanship and public cynicism.

If television producers could find Curry's caller, the idiot/thug/coward might be hustling his 'side of the story' for a buck or two on Current Affair. Or, guesting on Oprah or Geraldo, tearfully explaining to a studio audience how "my gambling obsession" is responsible for the phone call, not me.

What happened last week is another example of the world we live in today and also our numb acceptance of alleged news stories dressed in sequins.

- A tawdry book about adultery with a princess.
- Privilege, power and greed in state and national politics.
- TV networks bombarding us with a murder trial in California billed as news story of the century

In sports we accept:
• Team owners raising ticket prices to ball parks and arenas ... players demanding millions ... and companies charging $150 for a pair of sneakers for your kid.

- Angry and calculating professional and college, even high school athletes, engaging in hateful meanness euphemistically called trash talk.
- A seven-time loser to drugs, Steve Howe as a legitimate negotiator in a baseball strike; or a three-time loser to drugs Roy Tarpley being let back into the NBA.

If you and I were convicted three times for drug crimes, it would be the slammer.

Bill Curry? Now critics want him fired not only because his football team is miserable, but because he is too stoic on the sidelines. Some of us are old enough to remember when Jerry Claiborne was too bland, Charlie Bradsaw too mean, Blanton Collier too nice; Fran Curci too crooked; and John Ray too incompetent.

Some in the media mimic others in the business because it is fashionable, popular, affirms good standing in the club. If a columnist in Birmingham says, "Curry can't coach," a cute list is launched here to support that supposition, instead of detailing specifics on why a team is bad, and offer ideas to fix it.

It's all in the spin. Did a threat on Curry and his wife shock you? Not me? But a marvelous surprise would be if UK players (and fans) consolidated their energies to turn this sick episode into something with a happy ending. That is why fans buy tickets isn't it? To witness happy endings?

Think about it ... after you stop laughing.

SIGN OF TIMES II?

Texas A&M basketball coach Tony Barone grumbling about abusive fans and those who incite them, said last week, "All you have to do is watch (college) football right now. Someone ought to shoot (ESPN analyst) Lee Corso. I mean, he's ridiculous in terms of his discussions about coaches. He kills the coaches." Shoot Lee Corso because he's a critic! Ouch!

READERS (RIGHT) WRITE

Carl Bible, Milford, Oh. praises Rick Pitino for landing Antoine Walker and Derek Anderson: "But it still mystifies me why he passed on Chris Herren for Allen Edwards. I would love to see him land Randall Jackson (6-11, Winchedon Prep, Mass.) who is an Andre Riddick with heart. I think it a foregone conclusion that Ródrick Rhodes will be NBA-bound after this season."

Don Darnell, Paducah, would like to see the NCAA implement changes: "Take all Div. I teams into the tournament that win 50 per cent of their games. Count only victories against Div. I foes (to keep them honest in scheduling)."

"Do you think the (college basketball) scholarship limits will go from 13 to 14 any time soon?"

"Also, I think Kentucky may be a Final Eight team or better. Your opinion?"

COMMENT I: Excellent idea, inviting all Div. I teams, but not likely to happen since the powers-that-be will be reluctant to slice up profits pie more than it is now. Scholarship limits? I expect it to settle at 13 much as the 3-point line has settled at 19.9 despite much talk about changing it.

COMMENT II: UK is a legitimate preseason Top 5 team. A review of the roster indicates Pitino could have two starting 5s. With that sort of depth, only the Wildcats can keep Kentucky from a trip to the Fmal Four next spring.

Hazel Porter, Frankfort: "Had another birthday recently. 78, which brings to mind one of the greatest of all 78s—1978. Right!?"

COMMENT: For the short of memory, UK's last NCAA championship was in 1978.

COMMENT: Thank you for writing.

S. CAROLINA GAME MOVED

For schedule watchers moving the Kentucky-South Carolina game from Freedom Hall in Louisville to Rupp Arena Feb. 1 looks like a good tactical decision ... on its face.

Except that traditionally the Wildcats play better in Freedom Hall.

Never mind, the Carolina game will be a nice 'welcome back home' after UK loses to Arkansas in Fayetteville, Jan. 29 in what, by that time, could be a battle between two of America's Top 5 teams.

But the South Carolina game will be a good opportunity to retool after Arkansas in time for a Feb. 5, Sunday, national TV date against Syracuse. Then comes a road trip the following week to Tennessee and Notre Dame.

ANOTHER SCHEDULE COUP

Marking another step toward broadening its schedule, play games in metro areas that can attract television networks and aid recruiting (and dump little brothers Eastern Ky. and Morehead), UK officials announced last week that the Wildcats will play Maryland in the Tip-Off Classic Nov. 24 or 25 in Springfield, Mass.

History on this one is a bitter pill. Last time Kentucky played the Terps and beat them 90-81 in the 1988 NCAAAs, the victory was wiped from the books because of NCAA sanctions.

Last time UK played in the Tip-Off Classic was the following spring, 1989. On probation and shamed on the cover of Sports Illustrated, the Wildcats suffered humiliation to Duke, 80-55.

UK HOOPS RECRUITING

With Oliver Simmons set to sign during the early window, Nov. 9-16, Kentucky has three scholarships to offer (probably all next spring).

High on Pitino's growing shorter list are four of the top six prospects nationally, according to Bob Gibbons ratings.

No. 2 is 6-7 Ron Mercer (Madison, Tenn.), No. 3 6-8 Luther Clay (Pittsfield, Maine), No. 4 6-5 Vincent Carter (Daytona Beach, Fla) and No. 6 6-7 Robert Traylor (Detroit).

Foonote: Gibbons rates Simmons No. 22.

PREP TEAM TO WATCH IN '95?

The boys high school basketball team to watch this season and beyond—Paintsville.

Coach Bill Mike Runyon might be putting together his finest team since he guided the Tigers to the Sweet 16 in the late 1980s and sent John Pelfrey and Joey Couch to distinguished careers at UK.

Brian Lyon is a 6-5 senior, Chris Radloff a 6-8 junior, J.R. VanHoose a 6-7 freshman, and Todd Tackett is a 6-2 freshman. Stay tuned.

PARTING SHOT

Lance Ito, presiding judge in the O.J. Simpson trial, instructing prospective jurors: "If you see it on TV, switch to The Simpsons ... the TV show, I mean."

And so it goes. Have a point of view you would like to share? Write to Bob Watkins, Sports in Ky., P.O. Box 124, Glendale, Ky. 42740.

WE STILL PREFER PAT BOONE

Among the 15 members of the Meade Memorial High School class of 1957 (more than from any other class) that showed up at our high school reunion on Apple Day weekend, were a couple of classmates that I hadn't seen since we graduated. While 37 years is a long time, strangely enough, after just a few minutes of conversation with them, I felt comfortable—and they seemed to, also. As would be expected, we noted all the physical changes that the years had wrought on our respective countenances, and, as much as I hate to admit it, theirs had been spared the ravages of the dreaded wrinkle fairy far more than mine. We shared pictures of our families, and partook in all the expected small talk. Of course, there were also a dozen others from my class that I see a bit more often (like the one I married and see every day) and it felt good—almost therapeutic—to just sit and chat with them.

I think I've figured out why; it's not that we really have so much in common now, as it is that we still share so much of what we had in common then. This is, no doubt, true regardless of to whatever age group you belong, or from whatever school you may have graduated. Like music, for instance. Although the subject didn't come up.

I'm certain that members of the class of 1957 would prefer a Pat Boone ballad about Bernadine to some profanity-laden lyric by Prince. I think the group would agree that back in those days profanity was truly a crutch for conversational cripples, and, simply stated, was unacceptable. Naturally, we knew plenty of people who cursed, but they certainly weren't heroes to anyone we knew.

Without talking about it, I also know this group still has similar tastes in humor and doesn't feel that the dirtier the words, the funnier the joke.

As far as sharing similar moral values, even though we've all had to make a pretense of accepting certain changes in order to survive in our day-to-day world, in our hearts we still know that the things we were taught were correct.

For example, I think that, deep down, we all resent the modern trend of referring to our spouse as our significant other instead of our husband or our wife. I think we resent the built-in implication that the person with whom we share our life, just may not be someone to whom we're legally married. I think we all resent the fact that if that were actually the case, no one would really care and we'd be just as accepted as if we were. I think we resent the reason the term is used in the first place: so as not to offend those who are not married by suggesting they are.

Class reunions, at least to me, serve as more than a chance to see one another. I think they also reinforce the beliefs that our common backgrounds provided us...even though we, being typical teens headed straight for purgatory because we all liked Elvis, didn't even know we were being taught anything.

Personally, I need reunions such as this, and hope that next year, twice as many members from the class of 1957 show up.

Volunteers from Newman Center Catholic Church help David School

Working together

Left, Lexington students and staff at David School putskirting on the bottom of a cabin. Pictured right, a Lexington student worked to build a deck as part of her community service for her confirmation in December.

On October 1, a group from the Newman Center Catholic Church in Lexington, came as volunteers to help at the David School in Floyd County.

There were nine young adults and seven adults: Ellen Bailey, Larisa Kasarskis, Katie Garrity, Katie Mier, Karen Pfeifle, Jason Bailey, Beth Garrity, Robert Kuster, Bridget Franey, Terry Franey, Joe Wilson, Barbra Pfeifle, Mary Lynn Vickers, Mary Lou Bailey, Ann Garrity, and Tom Garrity.

The Newman Center's young adults are from grades seven to ten and will be confirmed in December. To be confirmed, they must complete twenty hours of community service. The group decided to organize a trip to the David School.

Their tasks were not easy. Some of the jobs that they were asked to do were building a deck, yard work, skirting the bottom of cabins, and many more complicated jobs.

Unfortunately, not all of the Lexington Newman Center's young adults could make it, but the ones who did come, worked proficiently.

The teens did not do all the work by themselves, though. The parents and staff members played a strong role in helping out the school.

The staff members who helped the teens with their work are David, Mike and Janet.

People who were working were interviewed to see what they thought about the David School.

The people in general think that the David School is a good idea. They also think that the new school is going well and looks good.

The school has a noble mission and is placed in a beautiful area.

At the end of the day, the people working here completed many things. Some of these things were picking up trash, cleaning the preschool area, almost completing a deck, and working on the cabins near the new school. It was hard work, but at least it got done and it was a good feeling when they finished.

A visit into the past of early Johns Creek

by Eugene Cline

Editor's note: This article was originally written by the author for Elsie Pinion of Tram. The article is printed with permission of the author, who grew up at Johns Creek in Floyd County during the 1920s and 30s.

Sometime in August of 1990, I visited the home of Oliver Pinion and Elsie Music Pinion of Tram at mid-week and, on no special occasion, a meal was prepared for the family and guest.

Normally, I am not hungry at this time of day, but on this day I had only a bowl of oats for breakfast and the smell of delicious food was whetting my appetite. It had been six years since I had visited their home and we wondered where the six years had gone.

When Elsie extended her hand in greeting, there was no grip and she explained to me that she had had a stroke. She had difficulty pronouncing her husband's name properly; yet this remarkable person was able to carry on the early tradition of Johns Creek and prepare a delicious noon day meal with pride and enjoyment.

My thoughts reflected back to the mid 1930s when Roger Steele and I visited his great uncle, Tom Nunnery, on the Middle Fork of Rockcastle Creek in Martin County. Tom's wife, Mary, was an aunt of Elsie Music Pinion. Roger had been there once before and knew the way. We left Johns Creek about 8 a.m. on a Sunday morning in October and, with energy to burn, we traveled up and down hollows, out ridges and over hills until about 2 p.m. when we sighted the first signs of life. Uncle Tom had been getting his winter's supply of fuel from a vein of shiny, black coal that the stream bed had uncovered. All that was needed for the operation was a heavy pick and pry bar, which was lying nearby.

We pulled off our shoes, sat on the bank and let this sparkling clear water cool our feet. Normally we didn't wear shoes from April 'til October, depending on the season. As I sat there relaxing in a cool October breeze, my stomach began sending me signals. I thought that surely people who lived in a wilderness like this would not have food to share with strangers.

As we traveled on down Middle Fork, we came upon a barn where several burros, which Uncle Tom used as farm animals, stood in the barnyard. Apple trees loaded with fruit covered the area and all available spots of ground were planted in corn, beans and other vegetables. When we approached their home and I was introduced, Tom's wife explained that they had already had dinner but that she had plenty left and asked us to come in and eat. A white linen cloth covered the food left on the table from their earlier meal. What a pleasant surprise when Aunt Mary removed the cover. The table was loaded with pork, beef and mutton cooked several different ways. There was an assortment of cakes and pies, fresh garden vegetables and luscious desserts.

I found out through conversation that it was the weekend for the Goble family reunion at the mouth of Beech Fork only a few miles downstream. This was a grand occasion in those days and maybe it still is — as far as I know. Roger and I stretched our stomachs to the limit with Aunt Mary encouraging us on, and after the meal, we went outside to visit with Uncle Tom and get rested for the long journey back home. It had been a long, hot summer, suitable for cotton and Uncle Tom had grown some plants in the backyard. On some of the plants the cotton hung down like a lamb's tail, while on others, a ball of cotton was contained in a bowl at the top and looked like a rabbit's tail.

The days were getting shorter and we left soon in order to reach home on Johns Creek before dark. As we traveled up the narrow valley, an occasional breeze would dislodge leaves that would float gently to the ground as if they had done their summer work and were settling in for their winter's nap. The steep and flats lay on both sides and extended high up to form the ridges which established the boundaries between Johnson, Martin and Floyd counties.

Pine knots were in abundance in places along these ridges where the fallen trees had rotted, leaving the durable resin-rich knots which had been accumulating for centuries. The early settlers used these pine knots to start a quick fire on cold mornings. When I was a boy, we used them for light to gig fish by schooling time for suckers in Johns Creek and Buffalo. A wire basket fastened to the end of a pole was filled with pine knots. These burning knots gave off the best light available at the time. I can still hear the sizzling, frying sound of the melted resin as it dripped like shooting stars into the water.

Although it was too late in the season to encounter snakes, on this occasion these rocky ridges offered a perfect habitat for the ever-dangerous diamond-backed rattler. Once, a few years earlier, my brother Mont and myself hoed a field of corn for Charlie Sturgill... Instead of carrying water with us, some four or five miles and across a mountain, we dug a spring in the branch below. In hot, dry weather these snakes would crawl down from the ridges in search of water.

On one occasion we found a large rattler coiled at the edge of the water hole. Naturally, we disposed of him immediately and searched the surroundings for others before we felt it safe to get a drink.

As we traveled up Middle Fork, we knew that any hollow to the left would lead us up to Johns Creek, Floyd County, and home, and we finally wound up in the head of Copparas Creek. Even where large trees stood, evidence could be seen of farming in the area. The ground was corrugated in spots caused by the early customs of piling large mounds of soil around each hill of corn. Also, rocks had been piled in a checkerboard fashion to clear the ground for agriculture and to prevent erosion.

Years later, as the ship I was aboard during WWII sailed up the channel just after the second American atomic bomb had devastated the city of Nagasaki, Japan, I could see rock piled on either side of the channel similar to the way that they had been piled on Copparas Creek. Being a signal man on the U.S.S. Menifee, named after Menifee County, Kentucky, I had access to binoculars and long glasses. I was probably one of the first Americans to see the destruction that had been rendered to Nagasaki, Japan. As we sailed a few days later out the seaway, I wondered if there had ever been a love and respect among these

WHY THEY CALL IT THE AUTUMN OF DISCONTENT
There's nothing like the fall in Eastern Kentucky hills to make you appreciate the beauty of what the Good Lord has made.

It has been five years since I've seen the hills of home on Hog Town Ridge ablaze with color. That's a streak that pains me. A weekend trip back home this month was just the fix for homesickness I needed.

I would fly the friendly skies to a friend's retirement party with nearly all expenses paid. There would be old friends to shake hands with, parents and an 88-year-old granny to hug, pictures to take of everybody—and loads of pretty leaves to see.

Then the party got canceled. With Christmas just around the corner and two youngsters to buy for, my wife and I decided staying in Florida would be best for the family pocketbook.

So much for the family reunions and the sweater weather and the maple trees turning color.

It took a few days, but I finally convinced myself that it was OK to miss all this and everybody.

I'm 32. I can take it.

But somebody else isn't taking it so well: My mother.

She had already started collecting the groceries for what was sure to be a homecoming feast. And I got the feeling she would climb every hill in Kentucky backwards to have her baby boy home for a few days as she had planned.

"You're not going to make it?" she asked when I called with the bad news. "Oh, Joe, we were looking so forward to having you home."

I knew she would be disappointed. She wasn't alone. But life goes on. I figured that would be the end of it.

But never underestimate the will of your mother. At the end of her latest letter, after the news of family and the questions about our kids, she just happened to mention the ill-fated trip again in a single paragraph.

Here's a line-by-line account with a few thoughts on each one:

"Joe, if you had gotten to come home, you would have been here in about two weeks."

Glad you reminded me!

After all, I've only been counting the hours to this visit for months now, although I had only thought about the trip maybe once an hour during that time.

But how soon we forget.

"Dad was hoping to get a deer so he could have you some jerky made."

Thanks for the warning. My father's deer jerky—a seasoned blend of pepper, liquid hickory and soy sauce—nearly made me sick the last time I ate two pounds of it. Who wants to go through that torture again?

Of course, I probably would have sampled at least a couple of handfuls of the stuff, but only so I wouldn't hurt his feelings.

"And I was gonna fix you a turkey..."

You should know that just because I used to eat dozens of slices of the bird and practically wipe out the family dinner table when I was growing up, doesn't mean I would act that way now. My manners are better and I've put those kinds of binges behind me.

I can assure you I wouldn't have touched more than 10 steamy slices of that tender white meat you bake so well along with that tasty dressing of yours and that pumpkin pie you always have around.

"And your cake, and popcorn balls."

As you can probably gather by my muscular frame spread across 230 pounds, I don't indulge in chocolate cake with white icing like I once did. No one I know around here makes those kind of cakes anyway. And as for those gooey, syrupy popcorn balls you used to make, those could wreck my teeth, maybe even pull a crown or filling right out of my mouth.

But I might have tasted just one of them to make sure they were suitable for company.

"Now I'll make you hungry to come home."

Nice try, mother dear, but you didn't faze me.

Your boy is grown up now. His habits have changed. All those things you were going to fix me would have probably gone to waste. I'm into a healthier lifestyle these days; I'm eating better, working out and eating less of the fattening stuff.

But just out of curiosity, how big were you planning to make those popcorn balls?

"Sure wish you could have come. I was looking forward to you so much."

For an instant, she almost had me pulling out the credit card and calling the airlines. But I'm calm now. I remembered it'll only be next summer and the whole family will be visiting. Then, there will be time for deer jerky, turkey, cake and popcorn balls.

The rest of my family really gets into that kind of thing, you know.

Yep. She almost had me. Mothers think they really know how to get to you.

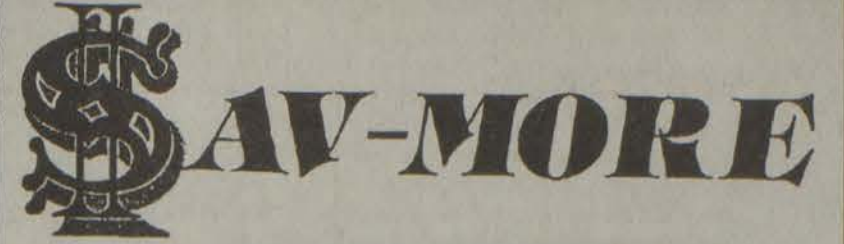

I think so, too.

Sportsmanship

Sportsmanship—the ability to win or lose graciously; fair play.

Fair—equal, justice, even-handedness, honesty, and reasonable.

The above definitions are not of my composition, yet they are defined in Webster's Dictionary.

And spreading the meaning of sportsmanship, especially after last Saturday's Coleman Oil Classic, definitely can't hurt.

It was a middle school tournament. The undefeated Adams Middle School faced the undefeated Pikeville Panthers.

What a game it started out to be! One of those that keeps the fans on the edges of their seats.

Pikeville, leading on the scoreboard and Adams had the pigskin. The play just set in motion and BAM, what started out as one exceptional game, two talented teams competing for the tournament title, turned ugly, real ugly!

Disgusting, repulsive, revolting and yes, sickening! And even unbelievable!

The field equipped with five or six referees all with whistles around their necks stood silent.

Why? I'll tell you! One player on the Pikeville Panther team took it upon himself to make sure that No. 34, Grant Castle, got nowhere with the pigskin.

That ill-mannered, unsportsmanlike team member got himself two handfuls of dirt and threw the dirt in Grant's eyes.

Pikeville must have been penalized, you say.

Well, I thought so, too, but I was there and they weren't penalized.

No retribution whatsoever! Shocked? Me, too!

But the Pikeville coach must have taken this player out of the game after such behavior, you say! I kept waiting for that, too, but it never happened!

No punishment was given whatsoever during this game.

Not by the referees or by the Pikeville coaching staff.

Coleman Oil has sponsored many wonderful events in Pike County, however, Saturday's tournament was not one of them.

Bad sportsmanship I have witnessed over my years of attending ball games.

Blatantly filling a child's eyes with dirt during a game really puts things overboard.

Condoning this behavior is even worse.

What does this say about Pikeville's coaches, leaving this player in to continue to play?

What does this say about the referees who failed to issue a penalty?

Not much! I tell you, not much! To make matters look bad yet again, one of "our" coaches escorted the Pikeville player across the field, over to our sidelines to shake hands with Grant Castle.

No, this player who chose to act in such unacceptable behavior was not brought to the opposing side to apologize by his own coach.

Pretty amazing, don't you think?

What kind of message are you getting here?

Possibly the same I got after witnessing it.

Pikeville condones barbaric behavior from at least one team member!

Pikeville doesn't believe in reprimanding a negative!

Pikeville is the richest county in Eastern Kentucky and Pike Counties can do no wrong?

Coleman Oil Classic referees may throw a yellow flag, but penalizing they never do?

What are we to think? That Pikeville folks actually do believe such behavior is acceptable!

No, I didn't think so! And, this Floyd Countian sure doesn't believe it either.

Adams Middle School has received its share—and more—of tongue lashing over a basketball team that's been undefeated back-to-back, cheerleaders that work long and hard to be darn good, and a football team that stood undefeated, until Saturday.

One thing Adams Middle School has never done is behave in a manner they were on the receiving end of Saturday.

I can only hope Adams does not accept another invitation to participate in another Coleman Oil

Rebekahs meet

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Miriam Rebekah Lodge #31 was held October 4, with the Noble Grand, Hope Whitten, presiding.

Our sick members were reported on and cards were signed to mail to them. Bills and communications were presented and disposed of. Members discussed and allowed a monetary gift to be taken to the State meeting to go toward the State President's Love Offering.

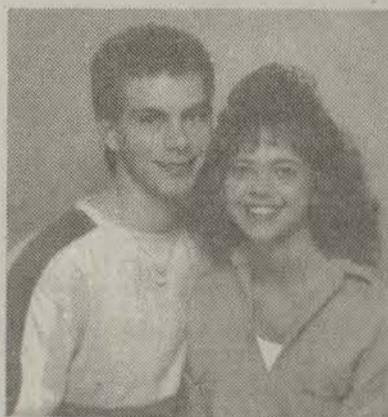

The Noble Grand stated we needed new dish towels for the kitchen. She asked each member to come to the "Kitchen tea towel shower" at the next meeting, October 18th. That will also be the night for installation of officers. All members are invited to attend.

On October 22nd members will be having a Bake Sale at Wal-Mart.

Penny Drill was taken and birthday greetings were extended to Violetta Wright.

Those present for this meeting were Hope Whitten, Wanda Elste, Susie Clifton, Jean Hickman, Maman Leslie, Violetta Wright, Virginia Goble, Lorena Wallen, and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

The next regular meeting will be October 18th in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Meade is a graduate of Morehead State University and is currently employed at Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

The open church wedding will be held November 12, at 2 p.m., at the Coal Run Church of Christ.

Johns Creek

Japanese people such as I knew on Johns Creek in my teen-age years.

As I approached home on Johns Creek, I was concerned whether the cows had been milked and the work done. After a warm hug from my mother, in a tender voice she suggested that all I needed to do was go to the creek and take a bath. Just below the old German bridge was a school with rocks exposed where we kept cakes of homemade lye soap.

Every evening just after dark, we would go to the creek and take a bath. Our only problem was getting back to the house and in bed without sand on our feet.

When You Feel Like There's Nothing Else Left, Call.

Depression. Abuse. Loneliness. Addiction. Alcoholism. Despair.

If you suffer from any one of them, you know just how hard it is to feel better again. You might not even know that you can feel better again. You can.

The first step is easy. Call Clear View. The call is completely confidential. You don't have to talk long or even say your name. But, at least you can find out what your options are.

The person on the other end of the phone is someone who sees these problems every day, and knows how to help. In fact, our entire staff, from doctors to social workers, receives ongoing education in the latest theories and practices.

Clear View is the department at King's Daughters' Medical Center devoted entirely to emotional problems of all kinds. Please call us. We listen. We help. We're here.

A fall garden

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club chose for its October "Garden of the Month" a yard that typifies the fall season. The yard, located on Graham Street, was landscaped by owner Paula Goble. The judges liked the overall look of the landscape. "The shrubbery was suitable, the lawn free of disease, and the floral design was really nice," the judges wrote. Floral plantings included chrysanthemums and green coleus, as well as begonias in pots. Goble, who posed with her son Dalton beside the fodder shock and pumpkin display she created, said, "I love flowers. I was inspired by my neighbors." (photo by Polly Ward)

Organization to promote proper use of forests formed

Got an acre of trees? How about a few hundred?

Whether it's one or a thousand, Kentucky timber owners may be interested in the Kentucky Woodland Owners Association (KWOA) to help them maximize the potential value.

"The association is open to anyone interested in improving privately-owned Kentucky forest land," said Doug McLaren, extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"The goal of the organization is to help Kentucky forest landowners attain the best long-range dollar return from their forestry operation while at the same time maintaining a healthy, beautiful forest," he said. "They work to achieve that goal by lobbying, networking, negotiating new markets and building solidarity for the industry."

Although UK's Department of Forestry helped organize and coordinate the organization's early activities, it is a non-profit membership organization controlled exclusively by independent Kentucky woodland owners.

How many owners would that include?

"More than 50 percent of Kentucky is forested," McLaren said.

"Ninety three percent of that forest land is owned by 450,000 non-industrial private woodland owners. That translates into a lot of voting power. It also translates into an ability to help each other get the most out of their land."

The organization benefits more than just economic interests of those who own the land though, he added. Improvements for the environment and ensuring the continuation of this constantly renewable natural resource for Kentucky benefits all those who enjoy the beauty and tranquility that can be found in the state's forests.

KHC loans available

Effective immediately, Kentucky Housing Corporation is making available $2,000,000 statewide for low-income, single-parent families who wish to purchase a home. The 30-year loans will carry an interest rate of 1 to 7 percent, depending on the ability to pay and will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis through participating lenders.

Kentucky Housing Corporation's Director of Homeownership Programs, Cheryl Harp, suggests that interested single-parent families should call their local lender for more information about qualifying.

For more information about this program or the name of a local participating lender, call Kentucky Housing Corporation's Homeownership Department at (502) 564-7630, followed by 4 from a touch tone phone, or dial (800) 633-8896 or (800) 247-2510 (for the hearing-impaired only).

"Betsy Layne Senior Citizens" monthly news letter/September by Jo Branham

Curt Blackburn had a birthday on September 30. A special cake was provided by Pikeville National Bank, which makes a monthly donation to the center.

Ransom and Christine recently returned from a vacation. They visited their daughter Lorain for two weeks.

Dora Spencer is senior of the month.

Jeanette took a group of senior citizens to Apple Day at Paintsville on Friday, September 30.

Please pray for the sick seniors who are ill—Bert Allen, Clara Allen, Avery Akers, Polly Ann Akers, and Fed Clark.

Norma has returned to the center. God blessed her with a wonderful garden, lots and lots of vegetables. Welcome back, Norma.

Christine Meade almost had a Garden of Eden. In her garden beans grew up in trees and hung in pods. She took pictures for people to see. One hill of beans grew 24 feet high and yielded one half bushel of beans. A kushaw vine had seven large ones on it. One fell off, others are hanging in vines and trees. Christine thinks it may be the rabbit fertilizer. Many vegetables have been donated to the center such as tomatoes, cucumbers, peppers (sweet and hot) and now lots of greens are ready and pumpkins.

Ted and Marlene Stumbo held a 55-Alive driving class at the center. It is a two-day class and helps senior citizens get a discount on your car insurance. Class number two will be held in November at the center.

The fund-raiser on September 2, was a big success.

Senior citizen Rhoda F. Blankenship has died.

The new director at the center will be here soon.

Irene Beck has returned from vacation.

Martha Clark, age 80, mother of two, will be packing her suitcase for another trip. Martha has traveled most of the summer. Her first airplane trip was to Temee, Arizona, where she visited her daughter Betty and family. A return trip is planned in the near future.

Seniors, protect your plants from the wintery frost, move them inside or cover with leaves and plastic.

A cleaning day is planned for October. Please help.

Lillian Sturgill has her new book at the publishers.

Seniors, let's plan a show-and-tell day for November.

Traveling

The Wayland Area Senior Citizens are going to be busy in the month of October. They traveled to the Fall Fair at Berea on October 7, to view their crafts. McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital will be coming to the center several times throughout the month to discuss various topics such as depression among senior citizens. On October 28, the center will be having a Halloween costume party and a potluck dinner. On October 25, a free clothing giveaway will be held at the center. For more information, call 358-4161.

Classic.

If they do, I hope goggles are a part of these boys' uniforms for sure.

Grant, I'm very proud of you for being able to hold your head high and leave Pikeville's field Saturday. I'm so proud of the AMS Blackcats, for they are one FINE football team.

Till next week, as Ed would say, "Good sports everyone" and most importantly, "be good sports!"

PECAN-OATMEAL COOKIE GETS HIGH MARKS FOR BACK-TO-SCHOOL SEASON

The Back-to-school season challenges busy parents to re-evaluate lunch-box treats and after-school snacks. Yet, with a little advance planning and healthful ingredients, it's possible to make good-for-you and good-tasting sweets that appeal to both kids and adults. Select recipes for baked goods and snacks featuring healthy foods such as the wholesome pecan.

Pecans add texture and nutty flavor to baked items, and they provide plentiful amounts of calcium, iron and potassium. They're also high in protein and have no cholesterol. In addition, pecans contain healthy monounsaturated fatty acids and are lower in saturated fats than most other popular nuts.

The following recipe for Lowfat Pecan-Oatmeal Cookies receives high marks for its delicious taste and lowfat attributes (each cookie contains less than 30 percent calories from fat). Time-saving tip: Make a double batch, place half of the baked cookies in an airtight storage bag and freeze for future use.

LOWFAT PECAN-OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup margarine
- 2 egg whites
- 3/4 cup nonfat milk
- 3/4 cup applesauce, unsweetened
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3 cups flour
- 1 cup quick-cooking oats
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup pecans, chopped

In large bowl, cream sugars and margarine with mixer until light and fluffy. Add egg whites, one at a time, mixing well. Add milk, applesauce and vanilla. In a separate bowl, mix together flour, oats, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add flour mixture. Blend well. Fold in raisins and pecans. Spoon dough with a tablespoon onto a cookie sheet coated with vegetable cooking spray. Bake at 375 degrees F for 9 to 10 minutes or until light brown.

Makes 4 dozen cookies.

Spooky Halloween treats

Something spooky is happening in grocery stores across the country. The plastic wrap section is about to be invaded by bats, ghosts and pumpkins. Introducing Reynolds® Spooky Prints™ printed plastic wrap. The pumpkin orange plastic wrap is printed with black bats, ghosts and pumpkins.

Spooky Prints plastic wrap is great for wrapping Halloween party treats. Try wrapping Spooky Popcorn Balls with it. Not only are they an inexpensive treat, popcorn balls are also fun for the whole family to make.

To decorate for Halloween, tie the plastic wrap on wreaths or use it for crafts such as Jack-O-Lantern Window Decals. Here are the easy to follow instructions from the Reynolds Wrap Kitchens:

SPOOKY POPCORN BALLS

- 2 pkgs. (3.5 oz.) plain microwave popcorn, popped (20 cups)
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 1 pkg. (16 oz.) regular marshmallows

Chewy fruit roll-ups
Candy corn
Reynolds Spooky Prints printed plastic wrap

1. Place popcorn in extra large bowl; set aside.

2. In 3-quart microwave-safe bowl, microwave margarine and marshmallows on HIGH 1 to 2 minutes. Stir. Microwave on HIGH 30 seconds to 1 minute longer. Stir until smooth.

3. Pour marshmallow mixture over popcorn; stir until well coated.

4. With greased hands, shape popcorn mixture into balls. Cut face shapes from fruit roll-ups. Press shapes on warm popcorn balls. Use candy corn for teeth. Wrap in Spooky Prints printed plastic wrap.

Makes about 20 popcorn balls.

MINIS TO MONSTERS—FROM THE SAME DOUGH

Cookies come in lots of different sizes these days, from itty bitty to as big as a pizza. And, they all can be baked from the same dough.

The Minis to Monsters Oatmeal Cookie is the perfect oatmeal cookie for the job. Big or little, it's soft and chewy in the middle, crisp around the edges and chock-full of chocolate. It uses ingredients you're likely to have on hand, and you can even customize the flavor by substituting dried fruit or bite size candies for some of the chocolate chips.

The following tips from the Quaker Oatmeal Kitchens will help ensure that large, small or in between, every batch will be perfect.

- Preheat oven according to the cookie size you've selected, and test cookies after the minimum baking time. For chewy cookies, your finger should leave a small impression in the center.

- When making the minis, use the miniature chocolate chips.

- To prevent dough from sticking to fingers when shaping the monster, dip them in granulated sugar.

- Let megas and monsters cool a few minutes on the cookie sheets before transferring to a cooling rack. When transferring the monster, use two pancake turners.

MINIS TO MONSTERS OATMEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup (2 sticks) margarine or butter, softened
- 1-1/4 cups firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 teaspoons vanilla
- 1-3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt (optional)
- 2-1/2 cups Quaker oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

1 package (12 oz.) semisweet chocolate pieces
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts (optional)

Determine desired cookie size; heat oven to temperature directed.

Beat margarine and sugars until creamy. Add eggs, milk and vanilla; beat well. Add combined flour, baking soda and salt. Stir in oats, chocolate pieces and nuts; mix well. Portion dough and bake as directed. Cool 1 minute on cookie sheet; remove to wire rack. Cool completely.

Minis: Heat oven to 375°F. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake 9 to 10 minutes. About 8 Dozen

In-The-Middles: Heat oven to 375°F. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake 9 to 10 minutes for chewy cookies or 12 to 13 minutes for crisp cookies. About 5 Dozen

Megas: Heat oven to 350°F. Drop by 1/4 cup measuring cupfuls about 4 inches apart onto ungreased cookie sheets. Bake 17 to 19 minutes for chewy cookies or 20 to 22 minutes for crisp cookies. About 2 Dozen

Monsters: Heat oven to 350°F. Lightly grease two large cookie sheets. Divide dough in half. Spread each half to 11-inch diameter on prepared cookie sheet. Bake 25 to 30 minutes for chewy cookies or 30 to 35 minutes for crisp cookies. Cut each cookie into 12 wedges while still warm. 24 Servings

Variations:
Signature Oatmeal Cookies: Prepare cookies as recipe directs except substitute 1 cup (any combination of) raisins, diced dried mixed fruit, crushed toffee pieces or candy-coated chocolate pieces for 1 cup semisweet chocolate pieces.

Ice Cream Sandwich Cookies: Spread softened ice cream or frozen yogurt on bottom side of one cookie; top with second cookie. Wrap airtight and freeze. For Cookie Pops, insert flat wooden stick into filled sandwich before freezing.

GOOD FUDGE

- 2 c. sugar
 - 2/3 c. evaporated milk
 - 2 Tbsp. corn syrup
 - 1/3 to 1/2 c. cocoa
 - 1/4 tsp. salt
 - 2 Tbsp. margarine
 - 1 tsp. vanilla
 - 2 c. miniature marshmallows
 - 1/2 to 1 c. chopped nuts
- Combine sugar, milk, cocoa, corn syrup and salt in a heavy saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add butter and marshmallows. Stir until melted. Pour in buttered pan and cool before cutting in squares.

PEANUT-BUTTER KISSES

Prep: 20 min. Bake: 14 min. per batch

- Makes: 48.
- There is no flour in this dough.
- 2 cups creamy peanut butter
- 1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
- 2 large eggs
- 48 milk-chocolate Kisses (from a 9-ounce package)

Heat oven to 350°F. Have cookie sheet(s) ready.

Stir peanut butter, sugar and eggs in a bowl until blended. (It will be sticky.)

With floured hands, roll level measuring tablespoonfuls into 1 1/4-inch balls. Place 1 1/2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets.

Bake 12 to 14 minutes until cookies look dry and tops are crackled. Remove from oven and immediately press a chocolate Kiss in center of each. Cool on cookie sheet 1 to 2 minutes, then remove to wire racks to cool. Store airtight in one layer up to 3 weeks.

Adult Learning Center

When M. Allen, of Salyersville, made the decision to improve her communication and writing skills, she began classes at the Adult Learning Center in Prestonsburg.

Ms. Allen was labeled as a slow learner in the sixth and seventh grades, and it wasn't an easy task for her to go to school. During her high school years, she found it difficult to read, but she completed her high school education and graduated.

After graduation, she attended Mayo Nursing School, but she discovered the nursing program was difficult and changed her major to accounting. Ms. Allen met that challenge head on and, through her academic discipline, received an award for the highest grade point average in the class.

After completing accounting, she re-enrolled in nursing. This time, she graduated with a B average.

Ms. Allen speaks very highly of her teacher at Mayo, Mrs. Geneva Browning, and she credits Mrs. Browning with helping her to gain the confidence and self-esteem she needed to achieve her life's goal of becoming a nurse.

Ms. Allen is very confident that she will be able to further her education and become a registered nurse. With her faith in God and the help of her instructor at the Adult Learning Center, Ms. Allen said she feels that she has the determination and the willpower now to achieve her goal.

NFIB President Jack Faris awards Congressman Hal Rogers the "Guardian of Small Business Award" for his strong support for the nation's small businesses.

Rogers honored by NFIB

Kentucky U.S. Rep. Harold Rogers has been named "Guardian of Small Business" by the nation's largest small-business advocacy organization, the National Federation of Independent Business.

NFIB, which represents more than 600,000 small and independent firms in all 50 states including more than 7,000 in Kentucky, honors U.S. lawmakers who provide consistent support for free enterprise by voting favorably on key small-business issues a majority of the time during a two-year session of Congress.

Rep. Rogers' small-business voting record during the 103rd Congress, based on 10 recorded votes, was 80 percent.

Among crucial issues for entrepreneurs this session were legislative proposals dealing with balancing the federal budget, reducing government regulation, protecting small businesses from unfair bankruptcy laws, limiting taxes and restricting government intervention in small-business operations.

NFIB, is a non-profit, non-partisan organization which represents federal and state legislatures on behalf of small business. Small businesses make up about 99 percent of all American employers, hire nearly 60 percent of the workforce and create some two-thirds of all new jobs.

Chain installing satellite system

Winn-Dixie is in the midst of an aggressive automation project which will offer many convenient benefits to its customers and associates. The company is installing a comprehensive satellite communications system to provide advanced data network services to its 1,140 retail locations in 13 Sunbelt states. When completed, it will be the largest super-market Very Small Aperture Terminal (VSAT) satellite network in the country, and will be capable of providing support for Winn-Dixie's current and future applications. The announcement was made by James Kufeldt, president, Winn-Dixie Stores Inc.

The company recently installed the main satellite ground station at its corporate headquarters in Jacksonville, Florida, and satellite dishes will be at every retail location by the first quarter of 1995.

One of the first applications of the VSAT system will be the establishment of Winn-Dixie's own network of automatic teller machines (ATMs). With plans for over 900 ATMs to be installed by the first quarter of 1995, Winn-Dixie will operate one of the largest ATM networks in the country. Cardholders will be able to handle withdrawals, funds transfers, and balance inquiries with the security of being inside a Winn-Dixie store.

Once installed, the new VSAT system will be capable of providing expanded services such as automated check approval and electronic funds processing, including electronic benefits transfers (EBT), debit card transactions and on-line pharmacy services.

Winn-Dixie will also upgrade its current checkout controller systems to state-of-the-art IBM 4690 operating system and its RS6000 mini computers for significantly greater capacity and speed.

Performance Coal continues discussions with Peabody Coal

Performance Coal Company is continuing discussions with Peabody Coal Company on acquiring the operating assets of Peabody's Montcoal and Sundial operations.

Under the proposed sales agreement, Performance Coal will assume Peabody's obligations under the 1993 National Bituminous Coal Wage Agreement. Performance Coal plans to offer jobs in accordance with that agreement.

Performance Coal plans to explore with United Mine Workers of America (UMWA) officials ways to operate the acquired assets that will allow Performance Coal to maximize the number of jobs available while increasing its economic viability. Performance coal looks forward to working with the union to provide job opportunities to UMWA members.

Performance Coal is a wholly-owned subsidiary of A.T. Massey Coal Company Inc. of Richmond, Virginia.

10 tips for tackling tacky walls

Do the walls in your house reek of burnt orange and gold from the '70s? Do you pray that your house guests don't notice the cracks in the wall paint? If your walls need cosmetic surgery, don't fret. Countless solutions for "tackling tacky walls" exist, and most of them can be accomplished in one weekend! Following are 10 tips for enhancing the walls in your home.

1. Moulding. Dating back to Roman times, moulding can work wonders for any room of the house. Simply installing elegant crown mouldings, chair rails, or base moulds can give a room a whole new look for a reasonable price. Learn how to combine moulding profiles to create your own unique designs in *Moulding Makes It More.

2. Wood Paneling. The natural warmth of real wood paneling can illuminate any room of your home. Install rustic Millplank® or Barnplank® paneling from Georgia-Pacific to add a country flair. Or, if you prefer a classic beaded paneling look, choose from the nine woodgrain shades of Bedford Village® paneling. The 21-page *Paneling Guide illustrates these decorative panels among others, and includes paneling installation instructions.

3. Wainscoting. You may not know its formal title, but you love the look: paneling that spans the bottom half of a wall, capped off by a chair rail. This adaptable design is called wainscoting and it can dress up any room. Either cut a 4-by-8 foot piece of paneling in thirds to 32 inches high, or use pre-cut wainscoting panels from Georgia-Pacific.

4. Judges Paneling. The stately elegance of "judges paneling," found in movie classics and aristocratic libraries, will enhance your den or study beautifully. For plans on how to create a captivating design by combining hardwood plywood, matching grain lumber and real wood moulding, read *Build It Better With Hardwood Plywood.

5. Painting. Say goodbye to plain white walls. Create a fashion statement with paint by marbelizing, sponging or texturing a wall. Look for unique items to create your masterpiece: Choose paint brushes of varying sizes, old rags, sponges or even an old toothbrush. Armed with these artistic devices, practice on a piece of cardboard until you find a design you love, then duplicate it throughout the room!

6. Wallpaper. A traditional staple in home decorating, wallpaper is often overlooked because of its complex installation process. If you like the look of wallpaper, but don't want to endure the hassle of hanging it, The Paper Works Collection® from Georgia-Pacific is the solution. Available in 19 different patterns, the attractive "wallpaper" prints are mounted on paneling for easy installation. Simply nail the 4-by-8-foot panels onto the wall, and cover the seams with matching seam tape. No more hassles with messy wallpaper paste, matching-up patterns or smoothing out wrinkles!

7. Borders. With borders and stencils, accenting any room is quick and easy, Georgia-Pacific's The Paper Works Collection® borders come in five designer styles and have a peel-off backing that reveals a self-stick border. If you want to spend a little extra time creating your own border, choose a stencil pattern — available at some home centers and craft stores — and a paint palate. Use a thick, stiff paintbrush to dab the paint onto the stencil pattern.

8. Tile. One of the most adaptive and easy-to-clean building materials, tile suits a variety of rooms throughout your home — from typical bathroom uses to kitchen counters and sunroom floors. The size, color and shape of the tile may vary, but one constant remains: Install a protective layer under the tile. Dens-Shield® Tile Backer is installed underneath tile and helps prevent moisture damage to the subfloor or wall cavity. An option for homeowners is tileboard, which offers the look and feel of ceramic tile with the installation process of paneling.

9. Clutter Cutter™. Now you can find exactly what you're looking for without rummaging through your "junk drawer." Cover one wall—or even the top half of a wall—with a perforated hardboard, like Clutter Cutter™ from Georgia-Pacific. Attach small hooks into the holes in the board and simply hang your household items—from scissors to gardening hand tools and rolls of tape. Now, everything you need is at the tip of your fingers!

10. Combinations. Mix and match any of the ideas above to create an exciting, unique look for every room in the house. Try topping off wainscoting with a decorative border or combination moulding. Or stencil a flower pattern on top of wood paneling. Or apply painted tiles as a chair rail in the kitchen.

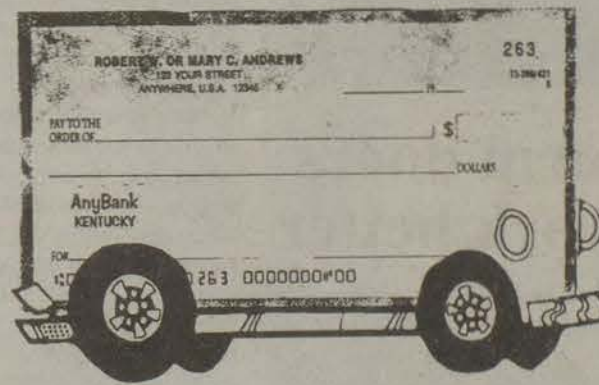

Let your imagination soar, and the opportunities are endless. Tackle one room every weekend, and your "totally tacky" walls will soon become the "tantalizing talk of the town!" For more information on Georgia-Pacific building products, call 1-800-BUILD-GP or write to 10 Tips For Walls, Georgia-Pacific Corporation, P.O. Box 1763, Norcross, GA 30091.

Moulding Makes It More, The Paneling Guide and Build It Better With Hardwood Plywood are booklets from the Great Possibilities do-it-yourself library from Georgia-Pacific. To order, consumers should state the name(s) of the brochure(s) desired and send their written requests, along with $3 per booklet, to: Great Possibilities, Georgia-Pacific Corp., P.O. Today's storm doors look and work better

If you haven't shopped for a storm door in the past few years, you're likely in for a surprise. Where old hollow, aluminum mill-finish doors once reigned—and rattled—today's best models offer a new level of style.

Cole Sewell Corp., a St. Paul, Minnesota-based storm door manufacturer, conducts ongoing research with homeowners to identify key trends in this category. Among the hottest:

- Solid brass hardware and accents. The best models offer solid brass handles, knobs and trim designed to give the storm door an elegant "front door" look. These accents also can be an attractive complement to door-knockers, mailboxes and other front home features.

- Sand and other earth tones. Soft tan, gray and other natural colors are popular color choices today—especially for windows. To help carry this color scheme through to the home's entryway, leading storm door manufacturers now offer sand and tan colors for their doors. The most versatile of these are formulated to complement the widest variety of colors offered by window manufacturers.

- Keyed deadbolts. Consumer research indicates strong demand for storm doors with keyed deadbolts that the homeowner can lock from the outside for an additional layer of security. One popular example is Cole Sewell's new Estate Series Model 4500, which features a distinctive solid brass keyed deadbolt to match the door's lever hardware.

'When push comes to shovel'

A bent shovel handle can mean less bending—and less fatigue—when clearing driveways, porches and sidewalks of snow in the months ahead. The new line of poly snow pushers and shovels from Ames Lawn & Garden Tools features a new ErgoConcept™ contoured handle design that minimizes bending, stooping and muscle stress with a one-piece tubular steel handle. Some models feature the exclusive Ames nylon wear strip to protect the blade. The poly snow tools also have strong, durable poly blades and a waterproof cushion for comfort.

Creating a new look for your home with decorating projects

When you think of fall, it's hard not to think of the outdoors...crisp, cool air and leaves changing colors, yet we also think of the indoors, curling up with a good book, snuggling in a big, baggy sweater. Now you can bring the best of these sensations into your home by giving it a seasonal face lift. Whether it's for the kitchen, bathroom, living room, or bedroom, there are many ways to incorporate items you have sewn into your decorating scheme.

"Sewing is a fun and creative way to express personal style in the home," says the Sewing Fashion Council for the American Home Sewing and Craft Association. "A few simple sewn items can make all the difference by turning an ordinary home into an extraordinary one."

Visit your local fabric store to get a better idea of the wide selection of fabrics, patterns and notions available for home decorating. Color, texture and print should be taken into consideration when choosing fabrics to create an atmosphere. Bright, strong colors such as yellow or orange create a cheerful room, while print fabrics add a cozy effect. Textured fabrics add dimension and interest. Mixing solids, stripes and floral fabrics is very popular this season and leaves a lot of room for creativity. If you are having difficulty deciding on a style, bring a selection of fabric samples home and drape them around the room to get a sense of how the fabrics work together with other items such as carpeting and wall coverings.

BEDROOM BEAUTIFUL

Wake up and open your eyes to all the exciting patterns, fabrics and notions available for redecorating the bedroom. A duvet allows you to recover an old comforter with a refreshing new fabric. Not only is a duvet simple to sew, but at the end of the season it can be removed, leaving the original comforter, thus giving the bedroom two completely different looks. Duvet covers allow you to utilize a variety of fabrics so there's no need to choose just one. Don't forget draperies, valances, dust ruffles and lamp shades, which are also easy decorating projects to sew.

Following are decorating tips from the Sewing Fashion Council for sewing at home:

- If you are new to home sewing, buy a basic "how-to" book and keep it close by for

- When shopping for fabrics, bring samples of your current wall colors and carpet to help you see how the fabrics will coordinate with the colors already in the room.

- Keep in mind that colors can change the mood of a room — traditional dark colors such as hunter green and maroon evoke a cozy feeling, while pastels and neutral colors create a calming atmosphere, and bright colors such as lipstick red and orange, stimulate the senses.

- Consider the amount of sun exposure the room receives when selecting window treatments. A sunny room, for example, may require lined curtains to ensure colorfastness and prevent fading.

- When purchasing fabrics, buy all the yardage from one bolt as dye lots can vary. Check your measurements carefully to make sure that you buy enough fabric to complete the project.

- To change the look of your furniture without having to purchase new pieces, sew new slipcovers and pillow covers in coordinating patterns and colors.

Wood Windows Increase Job Performance

According to the research of Rachel Kaplan, University of Michigan professor, workers with a window and a view of nature reported significantly more enthusiasm for their jobs, less frustration, and fewer physical ailments. For consumers interested in learning more about the long-term benefits of windows and expansive views, Pella Corporation, manufacturer of wood windows and doors, is offering a free color brochure entitled Making Great Window Decisions. Call 1-800-847-3552.

Energy-efficient windows for Fall home improvement

Continued high energy costs have influenced many smart homeowners to invest in products designed to cut fuel bills, according to the gas industry.

It used to be people added some insulation in the attic and caulked around windows and that was about it as far as saving fuel was concerned. No more. Not only do we have better furnaces and use more insulation, but a major cause of air leakage from windows and doors is greatly improved by replacing with new products.

Here is a good check to see if you are wasting too much energy around your windows. On a windy day, hold a lighted candle near the gaps in your windows. If it flickers, or if you can put a dime in the opening between the sashes, you are losing too much heat. If you have a single-pane window or one that develops frost in winter, you are also losing too much heat.

"A home with air leaks around windows, or with window frames that are not insulated, causes discomfort and unnecessarily high fuel bills," says Gary Winkler, vice president of sales and marketing at Great Lakes Window Inc. a leading manufacturer of vinyl replacement windows. "With the new windows available as replacements today, there is no need to put up with windows and patio doors that rob a home's heating energy in the winter and cooling energy in the summer."

Vinyl windows are the newest major type available. These low-maintenance windows, unlike wood windows, do not have to be painted or stained periodically, and do not expand and stick nor contract and leave air gaps.

Here are a few questions to ask when considering new replacement windows or doors.

Are the frames insulated? Vinyl windows with frames insulated with polyurethane foam within the uPVC (unplasticized polyvinylchloride) extrusions can actually be more energy efficient than wood or metal. Check the R-factor of both glass and frames. The greater the R-number, the greater the insulating value.

How are the corners attached? If they are screwed together or mechanically fastened, they may work loose and leak air or water.

Do the windows have Low-E glass, an energy-efficient glass that reduces the transfer of heat or cold? Hard-coat Low-E Glass is better than regular glass, but not as efficient as Soft-coat Low-E Glass filled with Argon gas, a superior insulator.

Replacement windows built by today's standards can pay for themselves in lower fuel costs. They come with many options of glass, colors and styles, and can make a major contribution to the value of your home, should you decide to sell.

Today's vinyl replacement windows are not only functional, they also add beauty to a home. "Consumers often remodel with garden windows in the kitchen and bow or bay windows in the living and dining areas," says Winkler. "Low-quality sliding patio doors are being replaced with energy-efficient sliding and hinged patio doors."

For more information on replacement windows, send for a free copy of Window Shopping from Great Lakes Window, Department C, 30499 Tracy Road, P.O. Box 1896, Toledo, OH 43603.

Great Lakes Window Inc. offers a full line of vinyl replacement windows, and is one of the Ply Gem companies, national producer of building materials and products.

MULLED DOUBLE hung windows by Great Lakes are shown with an elliptical transom with matching Colonial and matching Starburst grids. FH944355

Home inspection: Do you need one?

Q: What is a "home inspection?" A home inspection is an objective, visual examination of the physical structure and systems of a home, from the roof to the foundation. The standard home inspector's report will include an evaluation of the condition of the home's heating system, central air conditioning system (temperature permitting), interior plumbing and electrical systems; the roof, attic and visible insulation; walls, ceilings, floors, windows and doors; the foundation, basement and visible structure.

Q: Why do I need a home inspection? The purchase of a home is probably the largest single investment you will ever make. You should learn as much as you can about the condition of the property and the need for any major repairs before you buy, so that you can minimize the unpleasant surprises and difficulties afterwards. A home inspection will also point out the positive aspects of a home, as well as the maintenance that will be necessary to keep it in good shape. After the inspection, you will have a much clearer understanding of the property you are about to purchase, and will be able to make a confident buying decision.

Q: What will it cost? The inspection fee for a typical one-family house varies geographically, as does the cost of housing. Similarly, within a given area, the inspection fee may vary depending upon the size of the house, particular features of the house, its age and possible additional services, such as septic, well or radon testing. It is a good idea to check local prices on your own.

Q: Can I do it myself? Even the most experienced home owner lacks the knowledge and expertise of a professional home inspector who is familiar with all the elements of home construction, their proper installation and maintenance.

Q: How do I find a home inspector? The best source is recommendations from friends or associates. In addition, the names of local inspectors can be found in the Yellow Pages under "Building Inspection Service."

A home fix-up project fits the bill for fall

The howling winds of fall signal it's time to run for cover—which is, most likely, the roof over your head that you call "home." But can you trust that roof to be a fool-proof sanctuary? When was the last time you inspected it for leaks and holes? And, after basking in the sun all summer long, there's no telling what follies you'll find at home waiting to greet you. Perhaps it's time for a fall fix-up project.

First, begin with the obvious and the necessary. Weather-proofing and insulating your home early can mean a hassle-free winter—and put more money in your pocket come bill-time. Sealing cracks and holes in windowpanes or installing storm doors before it's too late can alleviate an enormous amount of stress and pressure. As most homeowners know, cracks and leaks around the house let cold air in and warm air out, and can send heating bills soaring.

Actually, many homeowners may think they are saving money by neglecting the needs of their home—waiting another year or so won't matter. Try adding up the time and money spent on past emergencies: the boiler blowing, basement flooding, gas leaks, leaking roof causing rotting ceilings and floors, or rusted, leaky water pipes. Whatever the calamity, it probably only reinforced the astuteness of performing preventive inspections and repairs.

Fall home improvement doesn't have to mean just averting disasters. If you have a little time and money to invest, you may want to rework the garage or basement into a clean, handsome workspace, or purchase new power tools. Home improvement can also entail redecorating for a different or fresher interior.

And going a step further, you may want to add on to the family room or remodel the bathrooms. In this case, you will want to enlist the services of a professional remodeler or kitchen and bath designer. Make sure you explain exact specifications and your budget, get references on the contractor and get everything in writing.

The holidays will arrive sooner than you can say "egg-nog," meaning your home will be a revolving door for friends, relatives and out-of-town guests. So whether you choose the simple autumn repairs, the moderate modifications or the expensive, elaborate remodels, embark on beautifying your "sanctuary" inside and out. And don't neglect to inspect that roof!

Don't forget security on fall home improvement list

Want to help your kids avoid an unnecessary severe, possibly fatal accident this fall? KinderGard, a 20-year-old company specializing in child protection, has published a "new" guide for home safety, called Safechild, for new parents and grandparents. It recommends they get down on all fours to actually see what dangers lurk in their little ones' worlds at eye level, the way they see it.

When your baby begins pulling up, crawling or toddling, for peace of mind, parents and grandparents should consider the following to accident-proof their homes:

- Kitchen — Installing cabinet and drawer latches helps prevent unnecessary poisoning.

- Bedroom — To prevent electrical shocks or burns, electrical outlet covers and plugs should be installed where necessary.

- Bathroom — Install a thick, spongy bathtub spout cover to help prevent head injuries and a liquid crystal thermometer is a must to measure water temperature easily.

"KinderGard's child protection products are superior design, premium-quality, USA-made products produced from engineering-grade thermoplastics. They last longer than inferior, flimsy, toy-grade Asian plastics," says KinderGard's marketing manager. "That's why they work better. Then, your home can be a place for your youngsters to play, explore and discover safely."

Energy-efficient homes are in popular demand today, according to the National Association of Home Builders. This contemporary yet elegant new design was created by Acorn Structures, a leading home designer and manufacturer based in Concord, Massachusetts. Acorn incorporates beauty with energy efficiency by using sheltering roofs with deep overhangs that deflect the sun's rays during the hot summer months, while placing expansive windows with low-E insulated glass throughout the home to keep heat from escaping during the cold winters. Tips to increase home security Crime statistics can be starting — even frightening. According to 1992 FBI Uniform Crime Reports, a burglary happens every 11 seconds and the majority of burglaries are residential.

Since October is National Crime Prevention Month, this is a great time to consider improving your home's security.

Making it difficult for thieves to enter your home is an effective way to protect your possessions. Research by the National Crime Prevention Institute shows that burglars generally will work no longer than 60 seconds to obtain entry.

"Strong reliable doorlocks and quality deadbolts are essential to any home security program," says Mark Koehneke, product manager for Master Lock Company, a premium manufacturer of padlocks, door hardware and related security items. Select deadbolt locks with full, one-inch bolts, massive interlocking chassis and reinforced strike plates with extra-long mounting screws for strength and durability," he adds.

Another security device that can make it difficult for thieves to penetrate an entry door is the security bar.

SECURITY BARS

There are two primary types of security bars — one for standard doors and one for sliding patio doors. For a standard door, one end of the bar is braced against the floor and the other end underneath the door knob. A locking lever tightens the bar and helps prevent it from working loose.

"Look for a security bar with a patented locking device that can withstand up to 1,000 pounds of force," says Koehneke.

Patio door security bars should offer the same high level of security. "In addition, the security bar should prevent thieves from lifting the door off the track," Koehneke adds.

OUTDOORS VALUABLES

Property left in a shed, garage or mini-storage warehouse could be vulnerable to theft. Make sure the doors to these storage buildings are protected with quality padlocks. For a high level of security, select padlocks with:

- pin-tumbler locking mechanisms — they are highly resistant to pounding, twisting and prying.
- shackles of high-tech alloy steel to provide pull strength.
- special weather-resistant plastic covers to stand up to the elements.

To encourage home-owners to enhance home security, Master Lock has teamed with the National Crime Prevention Council and McGruff the Crime Dog®. By completing the following security quiz and implementing common-sense security precautions, you can join Master Lock and McGruff in taking a bite out
