received a $381,565 grant Thursday afternoon in the Job Opportunity Basic Skills (JOBS) and through the AmeriCorps/Welfare to Self-Sufficiency Initiative from Governor Brereton C. Jones.

AmeriCorps/Appalachian Self-Sufficiency Initiative is a pilot program designed to reduce the number of people on welfare.

"This is a creative new initiative that we are proud to sponsor," Jones said. "The AmeriCorps program is uniquely qualified to reach out to existing community agencies, civic groups, churches and others in order to engage them in one of the most important challenges of our time

- moving able-bodied welfare recipients into jobs and self-sufficiency."

The program is designed to employ 20 The Big Sandy Area Development District AmeriCorps members to assist 400 participants the Food Stamp Employment and Training (ET) programs by moving them into the workforce and addressing the major obstacles of child care, transportation and job training.

Participants in these programs are from Johnson, Martin, Floyd, Magoffin and Pike counties, the area served by the Big Sandy ADD.

AmeriCorps members will work as mentors for JOBS and ET participants and be teamed with state Department of Social Insurance case managers/workers and volunteers.

Task force director Frank Fryman explained the task force's creation and mission to officials and pointed out an area of drug abuse that has been somewhat overlooked in the past.

"We have found that the second most abused drugs are pharmaceutical drugs," Fryman said. "We have found that pharmaceutical drugs by and of itself is as large a drug problem as the entire (list of) other contraband.

Fryman announced that an effort will be made in the future to enlist the assistance of medical doctors and medical associations in an attempt to impede the prescription drug abuse

Schuitema agreed with Fryman's comment regarding the abuse of prescription medications and that DEA officials are looking to work with medical and pharmaceutical boards to address that problem. He added that drug abuse problems are not limited to big cities.

"The problem here mimics problems with to third degree arson in connection with starting drugs across the United States today," Schuitema told the crowd. "The statistics show that we are making progress, but a survey of graduate students showed the (drug) trend going down and in the last two years we've seen the trend go up again. U.S. Representative Harold "Hal" Rogers made a number of stops in Floyd County this week while he traveled through Eastern Kentucky.

In his annual town meetings, Rogers met Wednesday afternoon with Floyd County citizens at the courthouse. Rogers addressed the group, speaking on topics from welfare reform to tourism.

Rogers said he worries about his district and works hard to keep the programs that will benefit

"I and my staff are dedicated to helping those in need," Rogers said. "At the same time, those who don't deserve the help need to be cut."

The prison would create jobs in the Floyd, Martin and Johnson county areas.

"This is a lucrative business," Rogers said. "I will help the area get it, if the group wants me to." When it comes to tourism, Rogers said this area is unique because more country music talent came from this region than anywhere else. "U.S. 23 will become a hub for country music tourist attractions," he added. Before the town meeting, Rogers surveyed the construction work on the Mountain Arts Center with local officials. Rogers has been a key player in obtaining funding for the center's construction.

Thursday morning, Rogers lent his support for GOP candidate for County Judge-Executive Ron Frasure during Frasure's campaign-fund raiser kick off at the Prestonsburg Holiday Inn.

Afterwards, he attended the Mountain Area Task Force open house in Martin.

Fryman related to the group that in Floyd County there has been an increase in drug abuse in the schools, including among elementary students.

"It is absolutely uncontrollable, the use and drug abuse," Fryman said. "We took a history of the graduating class of the spring of '95," the director said. "When they started school four years ago, there were a handful of students that were routine drug users. Four years later, there are a handful that are not routine drug users and many supply drugs to their fellow students. It is a very unfortunate and heart rendering situation.

Seminars to be held on new environmental cleanup regulation

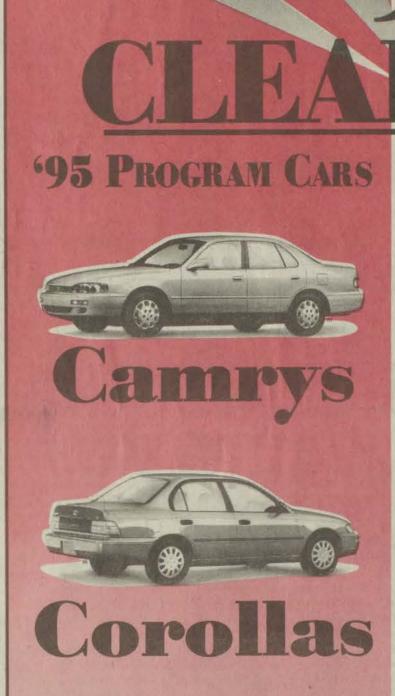

Two seminars will be held by the Natural Resources and Environmental Protection Cabinet to discuss the risk assessment process and implementation of the new environmental cleanup regulation. The first seminar will be held Tuesday, September 19, 1 p.m. at Owensboro Community College, Humanities Bldg., 4800 New Hartford Rd., Owensboro. The second seminar will be held Wednesday, September 20, 1 p.m. at Morehead State University, Adron Doran University Center, Crager Room, Second St., Morehead.

The regulation, 401 KAR 100:050, was developed to implement the cleanup provisions of the 1992 release reporting and cleanup law, KRS 224.01-400. The law, previously referred to as House Bill 540, establishes four options for cleaning up contamination from a release of a hazardous substance, pollutant or contaminant. The options range from demonstrating that no action is necessary to taking protective actions to removing the contamination or using any combination of the three options.

Concerns for students safety prompt spill plan update

by Alisa Goodwill Staff Writer

Concern over the safety of students at Adams Middle School was the main reason steps were taken Thursday to begin updating the Emergency Response Plan for Floyd County.

Thursday morning, representatives from the Prestonsburg City Utilities Commission, Prestonsburg Fire Department, and the local Disaster and Emergency Services (DES) discussed the best way to handle a worstcase scenario of a chlorine spill at the utility company.

Chlorine is used in one of the steps to purify city water. If chlorine spills in either its liquid or gas form, a fivemile radius needs to be evacuated, Prestonsburg Fire Chief Tom Blackburn said.

If a chlorine spill occurred, the area within a 1,500 foot circumference would require immediate evacuation. The middle school and a nursging home are within that distance of the utility company's storage tanks. The utility company has the most modern type of equipment to protect the public, Prestonsburg City Utility

Superintendent Bill Harvey said. "We have scrubbers that eliminate the chlorine," Harvey said. "We the people."

Although the local DES has an existing evacuation plan, the group worked on developing alternative evacuation routes and a better means of communicating a possible problem to the school.

Some of the suggestions included leaving at least two school buses on the school grounds at all times; to have evacuation drills; to have three different staging areas the students can move to depending upon the wind direction; and to have a special alarm to let the school know of a problem.

Seldon Home, with the utility company, said very few people have died from chlorine, because the smell usuhave gone above the law to protect ally warns people to stay away.

School enrollment to reach record level: Riley warns against education budget cuts

the country are beginning to think about where to put the extra seats and find the quality teachers that will be needed for the coming wave of stu-

According to Education Department projections, the children and grandchildren of baby boomers will help drive enrollment in the nation's schools and colleges to record levels by the end of the century. And, not only are more students going to school, more are staying in school. The influx of students will create a pressing need for extra help in the basics and core academics, funds to keep schools safe and drug-free, and greater financial aid for college-at a time when Congress is proposing to cut federal support for education by $36 billion over the next seven years.

As soon as this coming school year (1995-96), the number of students in elementary and secondary schools may equal or surpass the baby-boom generation's 1971 peak of 51 million students. The forecast is for 53 million students in 1997, 55 million by 2002. And college enrollment is projected to jump more than 1.3 million students over the next seven years.

At a recent White House briefing with President Clinton, members of Congress, and representatives of education groups, U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley said he fears the nation will be ill-prepared for this enrollment growth, especially if Congress is successful in cutting support for elementary and secondary education by 19 percent and reducing financial assistance for deserving students to attend college.

"Slashing education is bad for America's children and our nation's future," Riley said. "I have to question the members of Congress who would put less important priorities ahead of arming our children against ignorance and mediocrity by giving them a good start in life."

Riley said education budget cuts are "a threat to the internal security of the nation" at a time when schools are faced with serving significantly more students. "The gap between the unparalleled increase in students and the unprecedented cut in educational investment is the education gap that our nation faces.

"The children of the famous postwar baby boom are now parents sending their own children to school," he said. "But, in these increasingly tough times, Congress is placing the burden on states and communities to find the resources to improve the quality of American education.'

These cuts will produce "a tidal wave of teenagers who won't get the basic skills they need, the high standards and disciplined learning environment they deserve, and the opportunity they need to go to college."

The U.S. House of Representatives has passed a spending bill for the coming fiscal year that cuts federal education spending by nearly $4 billion. The U.S. Senate is expected to consider education appropriations next month, following an August recess. President Clinton has said he will veto the bill if it reaches his desk in its present form. The President's balanced-budget plan would erase the

A scrubber neutralizes chlorine gas to inert gas. It is capable of neutralizing two cylinders of chlorine at

Some concerns about chlorine spills include wind direction and the outside temperature. The gas will normally go through the valley and down the river, Blackburn said. On a warm day the gas will rise and on a cold day the gas will stay low to the ground, he added.

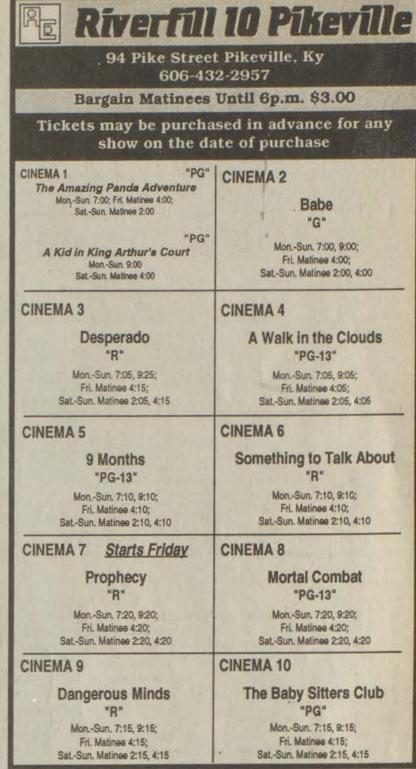

Exposure to large amounts of chlorine can result in skin irritation, although respiratory problems and death can occur in extreme cases.

Principals in high schools across budget deficit while increasing education investments by $40 billion.

Riley said that his department estimates that from 1994 to 2002, public school (K-12) enrollments will increase from 44 to 49 million. High school enrollments (grades 9-12) will increase nationally by 15 percent.

While the city of Prestonsburg and a local ambulance company certainly have legitimate grievances to work out between them, there is a more critical issue to discuss.

An attorney for the ambulance service has alleged that the feud has resulted in delayed treatment for some injured or ailing individuals because the company he represents has not been allowed to take those people to . the hospital.

Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin, meanwhile, has assured us that no patient will be denied proper treatment because of the disagreements between the two.

Obviously, there are some differences of opinion here.

If the allegations of delayed service are true, and they should be fully investigated by a disinterested party, then those responsible must be held accountable.

We can imagine no circumstances, be they political or economical, which would justify the delay or withholding of emergency medical attention to an injured or ill individual.

It makes no difference to an accident victim that the ambulance company transporting him to treatment hasn't paid taxes.

Likewise, it should make no difference to those providing accident scene assistance.

That logic suggests, then, that we accept Fannin's assurances that no one will be denied timely and adequate medical services.

Surely no person or persons sworn to provide and protect would actually permit a squabble such as this to interfere.

The court is the proper place to settle these differences.

Accident scenes are not.

Football: It's not just a guy thing!

Editor:

Over the years, football has been thought of by most people as being a guy's sport. People would laugh at the idea of another female just considering trying out for the team.

Though this is the '90s, times are changing and just because I'm a girl shouldn't limit what I can do on a certain sport, even if it is football.

I was really hurt by the response I got from the Allen Central Rebels football team. I was always asked my reasons for trying out. I mean, I'm sure guys don't get asked why. Maybe I just love the sport and like the game.

I understand football is a very physical sport, but so is life. You know I'm not saying the coach at A.C.H.S. wasn't going to give me a chance to try out for the team, because he was. Though I can say he didn't want us on the team, for obvi-

Both my parents and the coach were afraid of me getting badly hurt, for one thing. They figured that the guys would be rough to play with. All I'm saying is that there was a lot of fuss and negative attitudes when I and another one of my friends wanted to try out for the team.

So, I'djust like to know one thing? Why not get a girl's football team started? I mean, if they're going to make such a big deal out of it, then why not get a girls' team.

We have a girls' basketball and softball team, so why not? Just bedefinitely not giving us equal oppor-

I talked to plenty of girls at Allen Central who said they would play if we have a girls' team. So the problem isn't getting enough girls to form a team, it's getting a non-profit organization to sponsor us, finding a coach, and getting enough people to support and back the idea.

It would be good for the school, the students, and the surrounding community. Maybe other schools in Floyd and surrounding counties could get a girls' football team started also.

Women have come a long way in society, but where sports are concerned, we need a lot more recognition. For example, how would the guys feel if we had teams, strictly for us, and they had to fight for one? Try putting the shoe on the other foot for a change. What are the guys so afraid of anyway, getting showed up by us

Is it really fair to us that just because we're of the female gender that we'll never be able to know what it feels like to score the winning touchdown in a game or feel that rage, rush and excitement when you get a hit that really rocks your world!

As a mature young lady growing up in society, I feel that I'm being deprived or held back from my dream just because I wasn't born of the male population. I'm sure that a lot of you reading this right now believe that my idea is stupid and that my goal will never be accomplished, but think about it, if people like Christa McAuliffe, Harriet Tubman, Annie Dallas Dudley, and Susan B. Anthony never reached out for what they believed in or were afraid to speak up because they were afraid of what people would think of them, then who knows, we still may not have had the right to vote and certain sports may have been still just played by men. And if I sit back and said nothing about something I feel is cause we're girls doesn't mean we very important to me, then I just can't be interested in playing foot- couldn't live with myself. Because ball, too! It's not fair to us and it's even if I never reach my dream I'll always know in my heart that I at least gave it a shot. Because if it was up to society, women would still be taking care of the kids, while their husbands were at work. That still seems to be a man's scenario, but no longer reality.

A lot of people today are as racist to women in society as they are to blacks in America. Guys need to stop being afraid of getting showed up by a person of the opposite sex. And it's really a shame that I have to write to the Floyd County Times about and issue that shouldn't even be an issue. Because the girls at A.C.H.S. shouldn't have to fight for a football team, because we should've had one to begin with. We deserve a football team and that's not just my opinion, it's a fact. And, I'm not giving up until I get one. We've only begun to

Two residents continue to feed the dog and take care of it. I have exhausted all resources including the animal shelter, the state police, and sheriff's office. All agree it is my problem because Floyd County has no dog catcher.

One official suggested I start a petition, but I figure my son would be old enough to apply for the dog catcher position by the time such a document worked its way through all the red tape. I wonder about a society that places the life of a stray dog over the safety of the community.

These results come in Perkins Job Corps Center, Ashley training and education programs for such a population in the last decade. Eighty-five percent of the respondents to the survey conducted by Covenant House, an independent research organization, cited job training, education and job placement at the top of the list of services needed to help young people succeed in education and training program for today's workplace.

According to Edna Higginbotham, center director of the Carl D. Perkins Job Corps Center, today's young at-risk youth need comprehensive services to bolster overall employability. "We focus on three building blocks that if attained, will serve our graduates well for a lifetime," said Higginbotham. "Specifically we help our young people to focus on education, training, and social skills. If they can master those areas and con-

Apollo 13: To the Edge and Back recounts the harrowing story of the near-tragic Apollo mission to the moon over 25 years ago. The program, airing on KET at 9:00 p.m. Tuesday, September 5, documents the story of the spacecraft's sudden emergency and the desperate efforts-in space and on the groundto bring the astronauts home alive.

Using archival footage, computer animation and interviews with the people who made history, Apollo 13: To the Edge and Back helps document a time when the entire world became focused on the space race between the United States and Rus-

Upon leaving the Carl D. the wake of the largest cut in job was accepted into Berea College where she has now completed her first semester and is presently attending her second semester. Ashley's dream is to achieve a Bachelor of Arts degree in Child and Family Studies, then go on to graduate school or to a seminary for religious training.

As the only national residential disadvantaged youths, Job Corps' comprehensive services offer most of the support services perceived essential by the public as necessary for young, at-risk youth. Job Corps provide six of the nine areas listed, including: job training, job placement, education and scholarship opportunities, access to living quarters, high school equivalency courses and free meals. Job Corps provides additional services not listed as well, such as basic medical and dental care, social skills, goal setting and leadership

The combination seems to work. Nationally Job Corps places 73 percent of all students into jobs or further education. This is an impressive result when considering that 80 percent of incoming Job Corps student are high school dropouts; 71 percent have never held a full-time job and 43 percent come from families on public assistance. On average, Job Corps students enter reading at the junior high school level.

As everyone contemplates Labor Day by celebrating a day off, many Job Corps students remain on campus, one of the benefits of a yearround residential facility. "For several, it's their home while they are in training", said Higginbotham. "The main goal for all of them, is to leave with a set of skills that will serve them throughout their working life." Job Corps students can remain in the program up to a maximum of two years to complete their education and training.

Paul and Jona Dorsey to return for Wayland Homecoming

Pastor and Mrs. Dorsey

Pastor Dorsey, along with his wife, Jona, will be returning to the Wayland Methodist Church for their homecoming on Sunday, September 3.

The Dorseys served as pastors of the Wayland Church from 1954 to 1958 while he was a student at Asbury Seminary. Since leaving Wayland in 1958, they have ministered in Evansville, Indiana; Dayton, Ohio; Alma, Georgia; Ironton, Ohio; Portsmouth, Ohio; Chillicothe, Ohio and Coshocton, Ohio.

Although Pastor Dorsey has officially retired he is presently serving as interium pastor at Newark, Ohio.

On Saturday evening, in the basement of the church, Brother Dorsey will be sharing "A Walk Down Memory Lane" with friends who attended the church in the 1950's along with their children and grandchildren. This will include some eight millimeter movie footage that was taken 40 years ago. These movies will include Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fraley and Beth, George Craeger, Bill and Earl Castle, Edith Howard, the Turner sisters, Mervil and Ginny Dixon. Cecil and Mable Johnson, Christine Haywood, Florence Morrison, Hazel Vincent and others. It will also be a time of socializing and recalling events from out of the past. All of the church family along with their children and grandchildren are urged to share in this time together.

At 11 a.m. on Sunday morning, plans are being made for a girls' trio (40 years ago) to sing. Recognition will be given to those present who were a part of the church family when the Dorseys were here and the church will honor the memory of those who have died.

Russell May art awards presented to church youth

First United Methodist Church celebrated the work and memory of Russell May on Sunday, August 27, by awarding prizes to four young artists in its congregation.

This year's theme for the annual project was "The History of Prestonsburg." Winners were:

· Savannah Campbell, first place,

blue ribbon; · Patrick Davis, second place, red ribbon; and

· Katherine Adams, third place, white ribbon.

Rachel Davis was named artistin-residence for the year 1995-1996 and was awarded a blue ribbon for her drawing of the 1916 church build-

Eve May, widow of Russell May, awarded Russell May prints to all four artists and presented checks for $15 to the first place winner and to the artist-in-residence.

Based on their years of work with and support of the Russell May Art Project, the Children's Ministries Committee of the church awarded art medallions to Eve May and to Nancy Webb and named them "special friends" of the Children's Church before the congregation Sunday.

Ms. May has allowed the church to operate the Russell May Art Project in her husband's name for the past five years and has provided prizes and encouragement to them.

Nancy Webb has assisted in the coordination of the project and has assisted with the difficult job of judging entries.

ahead of the same date last year. After a five-year record low in fatalities last year, Kentucky State Police trend is not continuing this year. "In 1994 we had the fifth lowest fatality toll-free KSP hotline, 1-800-222rate in the last 20 years. We aren't headed toward breaking last year's record. These aren't just numbers we're talking about. These are human beings dying needless deaths everyday on Kentucky highways."

Isaacs advised motorists to be particularly careful during the Labor Day weekend, as traffic will be heavier than normal. He added that many people take good driving conditions for granted, but that's when most accidents occur. "The 'typical' traffic crash occurs during the day on a dry, straight, level stretch of highway. Driver inattention or failure to yield most likely contributed to the accident-but if it's a fatal accident, excessive speed or alcohol involvement tops the list of causes."

As usual the State Police will be watching for speeders and intoxicated drivers, but they are also strictly enforcing the state's safety belt and child safety seat laws. Last Labor Day weekend 11 of the 12 people who died on Kentucky highways were not wearing safety belts. Eight of them were ejected from their vehicles.

In July, which marked the first anniversary of Kentucky's safety belt

Charlie Sizemore at the Sipp

The Sipp Theatre's "Bluegrass at Unlimited National Survey's Top ten. the Sipp" concert series continues Saturday, September 9, at 8 p.m., with Charlie Sizemore and the Charlie Sizemore Band and Jerry Williamson and Redwing.

Charlie Sizemore has spent more than half of his life as a professional bluegrass musician. After several years of performing with local and regional bands, he at age 16, replaced Keith Whitley as lead singer in the legendary bluegrass pioneer Ralph Stanley's band. Ralph called Charlie "the best I've had," Bluegrass Unlimited magazine dubbed him "one of the best lead singers in bluegrass music.'

Ten years and 15 Stanley albums later, Charlie organized his own highly successful Charlie Sizemore Band. A top draw on the bluegrass circuit, the band has also appeared with top country entertainers including Vern Gosdin and George Jones, and has received rave reviews in magazines from Billboard to Bluegrass Unlimited. Along the way, he fulfilled another dream by completing a degree in political science (with high honors) and continuing his post graduate work in history.

Charlie's most recent recording, "Back Home," was nominated for Album of the Year by the Society for the Preservation of Bluegrass Music, and spent 8 months in Bluegrass

ARC grant funding topic of public forum Thursday

The Kentucky Department of Local Government will accept preliminary grant applications for Appalachian Regional Commission funds through Monday, October 2.

Big Sandy Area Development District staff will provide technical assistance, project development and grantsmanship to agencies wishing to apply for funds, according to Roger Recktenwald, executive director.

Big Sandy ADD held a public forum to discuss potential projects with applicants from 6 to 8 p.m., Thursday, August 31, at its offices in Prestonsburg. For more about the meeting or additional information, contact Anne Chaney, projects developer, 886-2374, extension 307. Local governments, public utilities and some non-profit organizations may apply for funds. Eligible areas of strategic economic development include physical infrastructure, job training, health care, education, leadership development and telecommunication. Under ARC criteria, 38 of the state's 49 Appalachian counties are designated as distressed, including Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin. The distressed counties, program was begun to provide basic water, sewer and solid waste treatment facilities for underdeveloped counties. The program has since been expanded to include education and other human resources programs, housing and transportation under the general area development objective. Funds allocated for the distressed counties program can only be expended in the designated counties.

Thanks, Ryan, for the fine soccer season

To start with, Ryan Hagans will be leaving us in December when he heads to the northern part of the United States (it's too hot here). Ryan will certainly be missed.

Here's hoping that the new eight-member committee will continue the soccer league Ryan began in Floyd County this season.

When I first talked to Ryan, he called me about putting a notice in the paper about the organization of a youth soccer league.

Well, we never had soccer before and I really didn't know how it would go here.

But anxious to be of assistance to him, I ran a story of the proposed new league. All of us know now what a great idea it was and the success of the league.

Bigger and better things are expected next season when the scheduled games are played in the spring and fall months. After the heat wave we had this year, that is understandable.

But I just want to say that I appreciate all the hard work and the constant effort that Ryan made in getting the new league off the ground.

At the first annual awards banquet held this past Sunday at the Family Life Center in Prestonsburg, a huge crowd was on hand.

Ryan took time to recognize those who had worked so hard to make the dream of a league a reality.

Folks, we need more people like Ryan who are willing to step to the side and let the kids enjoy the

We need people like him in our youth baseball leagues, our youth basketball leagues, our youth football leagues.

I did not get to attend all the Saturday games they played, but the kids were certainly enjoying them-selves at the ones I did attend. It was all well organized and I never heard (but, maybe he did) one out-ofthe-way complaint.

Dr. Deborah Floyd, president of Prestonsburg Community College and all the good people there, are to be praised for allowing Ryan and the soccer teams to use the college grounds for a soccer field. Thanks, Dr. Floyd.

I look forward to this spring (after the winter months, we all will be) and the start of a fresh soccer season.

Ryan, I wish you the best in whatever adventure you are pursuing elsewhere. I think I can speak for all of those involved in the soccer league—thanks, Ryan!

PACK IS BACK?

We hope to have more on the coaching situation at Prestonsburg High School on Wednesday (see article this section).

Jack Pack has been recommended for the job and only needs to be officially hired by the school board. The recommendation needs the OK of the site base council.

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports. Take the kids to Sunday School on Sunday.

Jack Pack is basketball committee's choice

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The search of the committee formed to find a new head basketball coach at Prestonsburg High School came to an end this past Tuesday night when the committee selected former Wheelwright coach Jack Pack as their choice to be the new basketball mentor.

The committee's choice of Pack as coach will be sent in the form of a recommendation to school principal Thomas Tackett. According to athletic director Ron Hampton, Tackett will take the committee's recommendation and present it to the site base do what he wanted with it. Before the Wheelwright High School before (Thursday night).

Upon approval of Pack by the site base council, Tackett then will recommend the hiring of Pack to the board of education. The hiring could become official this Friday. Tackett has the final approval regardless of the site base council's decision.

Four applicants were interviewed by the committee this past Tuesday night -- Gary Hopkins, Jackie Day Crisp, Jack Goodman and Pack.

"It was only a recommendation by the committee," said Hampton. "The committee gave it to Mr. Tackett to brought the Wheelwright progam to prominence when he guided them to a conference championship during his second season.

He became an instant hit with the fans at Wheelwright and created a lot "I can work with whomever they of excitement at home games by in-

of a spotlight.

His team became known as "Jack's although I can't tell how it went, was Pack" and the slogan caught on to the extent that it was put on T-shirts.

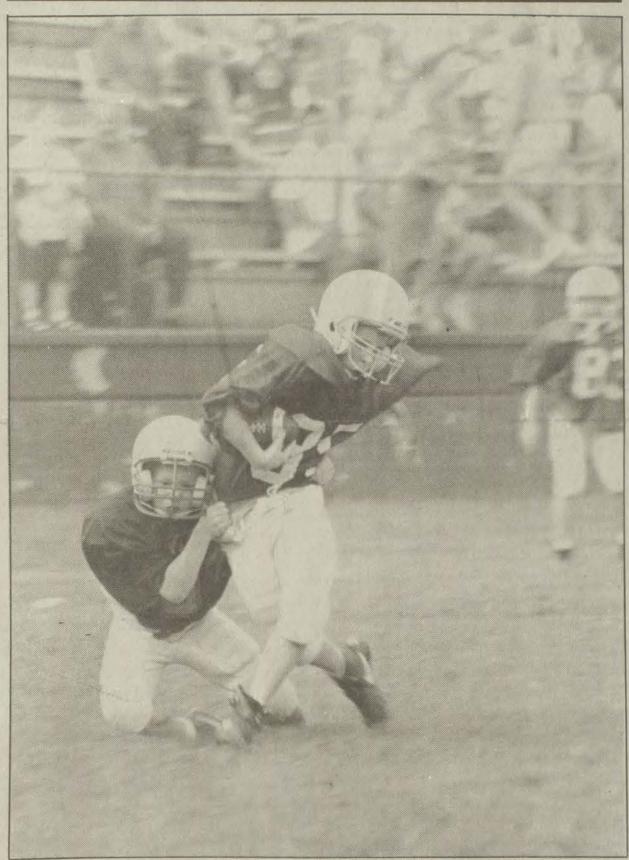

Pack was passed over for the South Pack coached two seasons at Floyd coaching job when Johnny Ray Turner was handed the position. But before Turner could make it to South Floyd, he took a similar position at Johnson Central High School where he is the head coach of the Eagles.

Jim Rose's name surfaced again (first time was for the Wheelwright job before Pack was hired) and eventually he was hired to be the first coach of the Raiders.

Pack coached at Todd Central (Elkton) as an assistant before moving on to Olmstead High School (Logan County). At Olmstead, Pack's team played in three regional tourna-

Matney: "It's a typical Prestonsburg team"

The Sheldon Clark Cardinals have moved up to Class 3A football, but that will not lessen the rivalry that has developed between the Cards and the Prestonsburg Blackcats over the past

The Cardinals, although no longer a part of the district Prestonsburg competes in, will visit the Blackcat den tonight as week two of the high school season gets underway tonight

Betsy Layne backfield poses problems for South Floyd Raiders

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

How long has it been since the Betsy Layne Bobcats have had the tandem in the backfield that they have this season?

The Dynamic Duo of Ray Lyon and Chris Hicks makes the running game of the Bobcats an arsenal, especially when you add the likes of junior quarterback Craig Hamilton. However, Hamilton was injured in the second quarter of last week's 28-14 win over Pike Central and his status could be limited since he has recovered about 75 percent, according to his coach John Derossett.

"He'll play," said Derosett. "He's three-quarters back and he will be starting.'

South Floyd coach Donnie Daniels was afraid Hamilton might heal too

"They will probably lay hands on him and he'll be ready to play," said Daniels, "the way my luck runs. Betsy Layne is a strong bunch of kids. John has done a great job at Betsy Layne in building the program."

COACH DANIELS'

SCOUTING REPORT... "Their backs run hard," said Coach Daniels. "(Chris) Hicks and (Ray) Lyon are two good backs and they have good continuity. Both run the same and they can give each other a break. John doesn't lose anything when one goes out.

"Hamilton is a very good quarterback. While they have (Matt) Rose, Hamilton throws the ball better of the KEYS FOR A RAIDER WIN...

"The key for us is basically not to shoot ourselves in the foot," said Daniels. "We have to hang onto the football. We want to make them take the 70-yard drives. We've got to force them to make the first down. We can't give them long yardage.

"Betsy Layne is a good ground team and we have to contain their running game. We will have to do something up front to slow them," he

Allen Central needs to control football against Morgan Co.

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Allen Central head football coach Glenn Reeves likes the way his offense ran last Friday night against Elkhorn City, but he took a different view of his defense in his team's 38-

25 setback. "They just ran through us at Elkhorn City," he said.

With the performance comes a change and the Rebel coach believes tonight's game will be different.

But he also concedes that for his team to come home a winner this Friday night, ball control will be the

COACH REEVES' SCOUTING REPORT

"We have to control the football Friday night," he said. "We have to contain their speed. We will have to get out and go after their quarterback."

Coach Terry Chinn has been a big believer in the passing game at Morgan County and Coach Reeves thinks this game will be no different.

"They have a very good quarterback who likes to throw the football," he said. "That's why our defense must go after him and not give him time to throw it. If we get the good rush and he throws, maybe we can pick off a pass or two.

"Morgan County will run multiple pro sets," he said. "They run the ball well. They like to throw the ball also. So, it will be tough for us."

A LOOK AT THE REBELS

Coach Reeves believes his team is up for the game and this one is very important with the new alignment.

"It's pivotal to our season," he said. "It's a district game for us. So that makes it important to us."

The Rebels are hoping they can run the football as well as they did against Elkhorn City last Friday night. The Rebs totaled 445 yards on offense with 250 coming on the ground.

Junior Beau Tackett had a combined 159 yards against the Cougars. Tackett had six receptions for 102 yards and rushed eight times for 57 yards.

Senior quarterback Adam Coleman was the team's leading rusher with 102 yards. But his accurate arm picked up 195 yards through Magoffin County last week. His receivers will be Terrance Mullins and Aaron Hall.

Ketran Mays will run at the tailback spot for South Floyd and the Betsy Layne defense no doubt will key there. Mays rushed for 101 yards last week against Magoffin County.

Travis Johnson has moved from back tightend to an offensive guard slot to shore up the front line for the Raiders.

"We thought the move would help us some on the line," said Daniels.

COACH DEROSSETT'S SCOUTING REPORT...

"South Floyd has a lot of good skilled players," said Coach Derossett. "They have good speed in Mays. They have two good ends in Aaron Hall and Terrance Mullins as the wide out.

"They are an explosive ballclub and they are able to score. They have other key players that can play as well," he said.

KEYS FOR A BOBCAT WIN...

"Our offensive line will have to protect Craig," explained Derossett. "They will have to protect him as if their lives depended on it, and it does." Stopping Mays's running and the passing of Compton will be a key, according to Mays.

Derossett said that his team is ready to play and are injury free.

"Except for Craig, who just sprained his knee last week," said the Betsy Layne coach.

Rodney Hamilton, who had seven tackles in last week's victory, will lead the defensive side of the football game for Betsy Layne.

"Stewart Hall played good for us last week," said Coach Derossett. "Chris Hamilton, the basketball player, did a real good job for us."

Hamilton is in his first year of high school football.

"He's just a big raw-boned football player," said Derossett.

"Just how effective are we going to be." said Coach Daniels, "I don't know. We'll just have to wait and see. We've had a good week of practice and the kids did good. We wouldn't let them get (emotionally) down. We have stressed that week after week that you go on after the last game."

It will be homecoming for the Bobcats tonight. The homecoming festivities will get underway at 6:45 and the new queen will be crowned at ments in the four year's he coached there. His teams posted a 57-43 record.

He made his way to Calloway County after his four years at Olmstead. At Calloway County, Pack's teams posted a 94-52 overall record and also made three appearances in the regional tournament.

Pack coached at St. Catherine's College for two seasons where he posted a 16-13 record the first year and 13-15 the second season.

But his heart was still in Floyd County where he starred at Wayland High School, and he yearned to return to his roots.

After arriving back in Floyd County, he was hired to be the coach at Mountain Christian Academy, but he never got to coach there. He took the job of coach at Wheelwright instead.

Pack has been a coach that stresses discipline and a right kind of attitude from his players. His knowledge of the game is excellent and he is a motivator.

Once the recommendation is approved, Pack will inherit a coach's dream team that has some very good young talent. Prestonsburg had been tabbed to be one of the region's best this season. While the team lost Toby Robinson, Thomas Ratliff and Ryan Ortega from last year's squad, they still will return some pretty promising sophomores and will have one of the strongest freshmen groups in recent years. While the consensus is that the Blackcats will be a strong unit this season, a regional title may await them in the next two seasons.

On defense, the Cardinals will play amultitude of formations. Jason Robinson, Joe Robinson and Ryan Smith will be at the linebacker for Sheldon Clark, as well as J.D. Damron.

The loss of Aaron Marcum (due to a broken leg) was a blow to the Cardinals' game.

Matney cited the fact that the Sheldon Clark program is still young and has no second-generation players as do other older programs.

"We don't have players whose fathers were players here," explained Matney. "We have a nice feeder program started and we're headed in the right direction.

No raises yet, teachers could walk

by Linda H. Breed Editor, News Express

The president of the Pike County Education Association says he cannot rule out a work stoppage after the board of education failed to take action Tuesday on raises for its employees.

Darrell Maynard said it has been five years since the teachers received a raise. And, while Pike County teachers' salaries rank eighth highest in the state, Maynard said he would not rule out a walkout after Tuesday's special board meet-

However, board members seemed in agreement that they were not against granting teachers a three percent salary increase.

The stumbling block came in giving raises to the district's classified workers, which includes janitors, cooks, bus drivers and maintenance staff.

Had Tuesday's agenda remained as it was originally prepared, both the classified and certified workers would most assuredly have their raises today.

In its initial draft, the agenda included the item, "Consider pay increase for all school system employees." However in an amended agenda, the item was changed to read, "Approve a three percent minimum pay increase for all employees of the Pike County School System, retroactive to July 1,

At a work session earlier this month, board members discussed the possibility of giving the teachers, or certified staff, a three percent increase, and the classified workers an across-the-board raise of $750.

Blackburn said a three percent pay hike for all workers added up to about $1.6 million, while a $1,000 across-the-board increase totaled $2.5 million.

Lawrence pastor goes on trial

by Jerry Pennington The Big Sandy News

A pool of 50 jurors will be used to seat a jury for the trial of Lawrence County pastor and former county clerk Gallie Isaac, Lawrence Circuit Judge Stephen "Nick" Frazier ruled Friday.

Frazier said he chose to have 50 randomly selected jurors taken from a panel of 102 instead of the normal 32. This way, the court will have a larger pool to choose from and is less likely to get biased jurors, Frazier said.

If there are problems in seating a jury with the 50 jurors called, then Frazier said the door is still open for a venue change.

Attorneys from both sides agreed on the jury selection procedure. The trial for Isaac, who faces 17 counts of sex-related charges, is scheduled to begin Tuesday. Isaac, 78, will be tried on two counts of first-degree sodomy, seven counts of second degree sodomy, one count of criminal attempt to commit sodomy, one count of first degree sexual abuse and six counts of second-degree sexual abuse.

The charges to be tried cover four alleged victims - all of which

Hamilton charges reinstated

From the Paintsville Herald

The attorney for former Johnson County Schools Superintendent Frank Hamilton predicted that theft charges reinstated against Hamilton will never get to a jury.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals last Friday reinstated 19 counts of theft by unlawful taking against Hamilton, ordering that the charges be remanded to Johnson Circuit Court, where they were dismissed in May 1994 by Judge James A.

But Hamilton's attorney, C.K. Belhasen of Paintsville, said he doesn't think the prosecution will be able to prove Hamilton guilty when the case goes to trial.

"I don't expect to put on any evidence because they can't prove him guilty," Belhasen said Monday. "Believe me, they cannot get this case to the jury - unless there's something I'm missing."

A Johnson County grand jury indicted Hamilton, now appointments director for Governor Brereton Jones, for theft for using school district money to reimburse teachers for college expenses.

A few weeks later, however, Knight dismissed the charges on a motion by Belhasen, who claimed Hamilton did not exercise control over the funds in question.

Special prosecutor Stidham appealed, saying Knight did not have the authority to dismiss the charges and that the matter should have gone to trial.

The appellate court agreed with Stidham. "Though the evidence seems to be overwhelming in favor of (Hamilton)," Court of Appeals Judge Anthony Wilhoit wrote, "the court had no authority to weigh that evidence in the manner it did."

"... Apparently, the prosecutor believes that there is evidence to support a conviction. We assume that the prosecutor is well aware of his status as a representative, not merely of an ordinary party to a controversy, but of all of the people of this commonwealth... As in any criminal prosecution, the interest of the people of this commonwealth is that justice be done and certainly not that any citizen be unjustly brought to trial, let alone convict-

Johnson Co. cited for noncompliance

Johnson County is not enforcing its own trash laws, nor is it encouraging residents to sign up for mandatory garbage collection.

Those are some of the findings of an "implementation review" of the county's solid waste management plan conducted by the state Division of Waste Management. Several noncompliancse were found during the review, which was completed July 6.

The noncompliances are not serious, a state official said Monday, but the county could be fined if the problems aren't correct-

The noncompliances were noted in a July 24 letter to Judge-Executive Hobert Meade from Joy Morgan, supervisor of the Division of waste Management's local planning and assistance section. She said that while the county has "made good progress" in implementing its long-term garbage plan, it is not in compliance because several areas have not been completed.

Division official Cathy Guess, who conducted the review, said Monday that only two of the 28 counties she oversees have waste plans that are in full compliance. Counties that are out of compliance were sent "form letters" advising them to correct the deficiencies, Morgan's letter said that "Johnson County made a commitment in the original plan and the revised plan implementation scheduled to accomplish the items listed above by the dates shown." By October 1994, for example, the county was to have implemented procedures to enforce its garbage ordinance and was to have begun tracking enforcement actions by January of this year.

Most of the open dumps cited in the letter were to have been cleaned up by April.

The county must submit a written response to the findings by September 24 or the Division of Waste Management will issue a notice of violation.

Meade said Tuesday that solid waste coordinator Willard Burton is preparing a proposal to present to the fiscal court at its next meeting.

UDAG funds favorable for hospital developer

As the saga of UDAG continues for the city of Pikeville, the fate of $4.1 million in economic development funds is closer to being deter-

The Pikeville City Commission appeared ready to vote on the issue during Monday's regular meeting, as members offered both a motion and a second on the issue; however, Commissioner Sharon Clark requested that the meeting be recessed and reconvene Tuesday at noon for a vote.

On Tuesday, the commission approved Pikeville Methodist Hospital's application for construction of a new patient tower. The $3.6 million application will no be sent to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for

The commission also reinstated its support of a project to build Keyser Heights II, a 40-unit private subdivision proposed by developer Stuart Adams; however, the approval was reinstated with reser-

Citing a lack of cooperation, and alleged violations of the city's subdivision regulations, commissioners voted in May to rescind its UDAG agreement with Adams' company.

The company, Adams, Adams & Adams Limited Partnership, had preliminary approval to receive a $450,000 portion of the city's UDAG funds, money company officials said will only be used to build streets and sewer facilities for their housing units.

Angered by the city's decision, Adams vowed then to build a new subdivision with or without the city's help.

Since that time, however, Adams has agreed to take steps necessary to remedy problems, which included water damage and flooding at Keyser Heights.

Foothills receives $13.7 million loan

Foothills Rural Telephone Co-op in Staffordsville has received a $13.7 million loan from the Rural Development Administration, officials said.

The loan will be used to connect 2,357 new subscribers and place 661 miles of fiber optic cable.

Funds will also be provided to connect rural schools for distance learning applications and install digital witching equipment, which will allow the use of advanced telecommunications services.

The RDA funds were awarded through the Rural

Utilities Service, a lender to rural telecommunications systems and Rural Telephone Bank, a supplemental source of financing for the RUS.

Foothills serves Johnson, Magoffin, Lawrence and Breathitt counties.

The company will receive a direct loan of $8,677,000 from the RUS and $5,063,100 from the RTB. — Paintsville Herald

Thealka man cited for threatening patrolman

A Thealka man was arrested last week for indecent exposure after he was observed urinating in the parking lot of a local hotel, authorities said.

Robert L. Rowland, 54, was also charged with alcohol intoxication, disorderly conduct and terroristic threatening, said Paintsville Police Officer P.D. Witten.

Witten said he received a call from Paul B. Hall hospital security early last Thursday that Rowland was causing problems. Rowland left PBH and Witten said he saw him across the street at The Carriage House, where he was urinating on the parking lot.

Witten said Rowland had a strong smell of alcohol, and also threatened to kill the patrolman and Gary Young, a hospital security officer. - Paintsville

after being struck by truck Jimmy Gipson, 33, died Friday, August 18, when he was struck by a semitrailer truck as he repaired his car along Interstate 75 in Fayette County.

Lexington police Sgt. Paul H. Simmons said Gipson was having mechanical problems with his car and was attempting to fix them when he was hit by the truck.

Two of Gipson's nephews, Kevin and Tony of Lima, Thio, were with Gipson when the accident occurred and were also injured, but the extent of their injuries were not listed. The driver of the truck, Carroll Clark of Shelbyville, was uninjured.

Jimmy Gipson was pronounced dead at the scene. -

Founder's Day underway
The 17th annual Magoffin County Founder's Day celebration officially got started Wednesday, August 30. Opening ceremonies were conducted by the Magoffin County muzzleloaders.

During the ceremony, the Williams Family marker was unveiled. The family is being honored this week during the Founders' Day celebration.

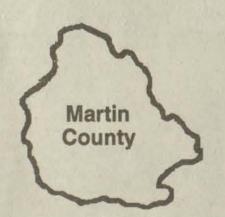

Events Saturday include the dedication of the marker, the parade in downtown Salyersville, look-a-like contests, an old-fashioned street dance, and the Williams Drama.

Signing ceremony starts mountain removal process

Governor Brereton Jones, Congressman Hal Rogers and Senator Mitch McConnell were expected to head the list of special guests attending a signing ceremony Thursday that marked the beginning of construction of a cut-through project at Salyersville.

The project involves the removal of a mountain to divert the Licking River away from downtown Salyersville.

The signing was held Thursday, August 31, at the Magoffin County High School football stadium. -Salyersville Independent

ALC elects fourth presid

Dr. Timothy T. Siebert

The Board of Trustees of Alice Lloyd College has unanimously approved the nomination of Dr. Timothy T. Siebert as the fourth president of Alice Lloyd College. The Presidential Search Committee recommended the election of Dr. Siebert at the August 26, 1995, meeting of the Board.

Dr. Siebert comes to Alice Lloyd College from Mars Hill College, in Mars Hill, North Carolina, where he served as vice president for development since 1993. Siebert has extensive experience in the field of institutional advancement. He holds a doctorate in higher education administration from the University of Arkansas. A native of Pilot Knob, Missouri, Dr. Siebert is married to the former Jane Sells of Bolivar, Missouri. The Sieberts have an eightmonth-old son, Seth.

"We were pleased with the high caliber of applicants reviewed during the selection process," commented James L. Reed, Chair- educating mountain people for posiman of the Presidential Search Committee. "We are confident that Dr. Siebert will provide outstanding leadership for the College." Trustees with Reed were Oliver Caudill, Hilda G. Legg, Townsell G. Marshall, and Dollie C. Martin.

Robert M. Duncan, Chairman of the Board, added, "The College has been blessed with the talents and dedication of many people over the years. I am pleased with the nomination presented to the Board by the Search Committee and enthusiastically support their recommen-

Pam Robinette, attorney for the hospital, asked the commission to amend Tuesday's action to allow the hospital to apply for all the funds should Adams' company be found in noncompliance with city regulations in the future.

As extension of the hospital's existing facilities, the new patient tower is estimated to cost more than $30 million and will be built in four

by Chuck Shepherd

In June in Van Nuys, Calif., Raphael Dale Rodriguez, 24, was charged with beating his girlfriend (maximum fine in California, $1,000) and strangling her pet rabbit (maximum fine, $20,000). In December, two Oklahoma police officers faced charges - one of beating his girlfriend so badly she suffered a ruptured eardrum (maximum jail time in Oklahoma, 90 days), and the other of kicking a cat at the Oklahoma City airport (maximum prison time, five years).

POLICE BLOTTER

In May, state police in Tennessee arrested Jack bor boy who was well known around the apartment

Allan Iles and charged him with telephone harassment after he called in a bomb threat to the office of the state attorney general in Nashville. According to the employee who received the call, Iles threatened to deliver an Oklahoma City-style bomb but then asked for the address of the office.

- A man escaped after robbing a First National Bank branch in Farmington, N.M., in March and brandishing a road flare that he called a bomb, Police later discovered that his getaway car was a white Dodge Caravan that he had just taken out for a test drive from a local dealer and which he returned immediately after pulling off the robbery.

- In March, in Bristol, Ind., someone burglarized an apartment and stole a Sega video game. The only lead police had was that the burglar used the toilet during the crime but did not flush. The victim's daughter solved the crime by pointing out a 13-year-old neighcomplex for not flushing. - In July, Jeffrey F. Mull, 32, reported to the police in Mifflinburg, Pa., that somcone had broken into his trailer home while he was sleeping and stolen the dentures out of his mouth. Said police Sgt. George Fausnaught, when questioned by reporters, "It could be any number of things."

In Boston in July, veteran criminal Nick George Montos, 78, who was the first person ever to make the FBI's Ten Most Wanted list twice, was arrested in an unsuccessful antique store robbery. Owner Sonia Paine, 73, grabbed an aluminum bat and smacked Montos three times, knocking him to his knees. When police arrived a short time later, Paine slugged him again to knock a gun out of his hand.

Ricky Rose, 34, was charged with armed robbery in Raleigh, N.C., in May after taking a man's wal-

. Gingerbread Festival with The Primitive

The gospel group The Primitives will be in Knott County September 10.

The fourth annual Knott County Gingerbread Festival Gospel Sing will be held Sunday, September 10, on the Hindman Settlement School campus from 4-7 p.m. This year's Gospel Sing will feature everyone's favorite group, the "Singing Cookes," "The Cooke Brothers" and the "Primitive Quartet." The "Singing Cookes" have been praising the Lord in song for over thirty years. Their downhome gospel sound has touched the souls of thousands. "The Cooke Brothers" represent the second generation of this legendary family. Their upbeat style has added a new dimension to this very talented family. They have traveled throughout the United

The "Primitive Quartet" will be making their first appearance at the Knott County Gingerbread Gospel Sing. Based in Candler, North Carolina, this Bluegrass and old-time mountain-style gospel group has been nominated for band-of-the-year and gospelgroup-of-the-year. They play between 150 to 180 engagements each year. Some of their best known songs are "Fallen Leaves," "Gloryland," "Because He Loved Me" and "My Hope Is In The Blood."

The 1995 Knott County Gingerbread Festival Gospel Sing will be held outdoors so please bring your own seating. In case of rain, the program will be moved indoors but the seating will be limited to approximately 300. There is no admission charge. If it doesn't rain, parking will take place in the ball field below the Knott Public Library. The sponsors of this years Gospel Sing are; Hindman Settlement School, Holly Hills Shopping Center, Jones Insurance, Casey's IGA, Hindman Funeral Services and the Kentucky Arts Council.

Don't forget your chairs or blankets. Bring the entire family for a time of praising the Lord in song. For further information you can contact Mike Mullins, executive director, Hindman Settlement or I'll drive back myself."

"What are you talking about?"

"I left my clothes in the car."

It was twenty minutes till ten when I turned the car around and we headed back to get her clothes.

"Turn here. It's a shortcut," Melinda said. Since Melinda is the oldest and biggest sister, we all acquiesce to her wishes. And anyway, we're afraid "Because I don't care of her because she doesn't like to be wrong, so I turned immediately. In fact, I'd have driven the car up a bear's hind end, if Melinda said do it. After ten minutes of driving nowhere familiar, I knew we were lost.

"Melinda, are you sure this is the way?"

"Yes, I'm sure," she said defiantly. "I've just been coming here for years. Why would you question me?"

"We didn't mean to offend you, Melinda. It just seems as if we're not getting to where we want to go."

About twenty minutes later we ended up in Salyersville via the Lewis and Clark route even though we were lost. After retrieving her bags, we drove back home on a marked road and didn't get lost again. At least not that night.

I our senifity progresses, just hope we don't forget to keep our clothes on.

Poperri

by Scott Perry

This marks the thirteenth and probably last year for our ritual escort of at least one of our kids to school each day and we're feeling depressed.

Not so much because we're getting older by the minute and so are the kids, but because it's so hard to kick an old habit.

Guess we've been pretty fortunate to have lasted so long.

By the time our daughter outgrew our morning walks, her brother was just getting to the age to begin them.

Now he's closing in on the big nineyears-old and his tagalong old man is becoming something of an embarassment.

Won't be long, we imagine, before we'll be dragging our old bleached bones to the elephant's graveyard, where all dads and moms go when they become too uncool to be seen in public with their children.

It gets worse, too. Our eldest will turn sixteen in a few months, an event that will eventually knock us out of the loop completely.

See, we're still needed now for transportation to those places and events too distant to reach on foot and we don't really mind serving as a taxi even though we gripe about it and had to tint the car windows so no associates of the kids could identify us.

When the daughter turns legal, though, we imagine we'll be handing in our chauffeur's license.

Thankfully, though, there is one child remaining who won't outgrow us or abandon us, regardless of how dorky we may become through the years.

She goes where we go, happily, and cares not the least to be seen with us in public places.

Loves to ride in the car, too, even if it is with her head hanging out the window and her tongue flapping in the wind.

She may not offer the conversational opportunities we've enjoyed through the years with the other kids, but she sure listens well... or acts like it, anyhow.

Nice to be needed by someone, even if that someone is a dog.

Something to Talk About

After a brilliant beginning to what seemed to be a promising career, Julia Roberts stumbled and fell and eventually disappeared from the movie scene. After several failed romances, she finally up and married country singer Lyle Lovett, only to have that union ultimately crumble as well. Fortunately for us and for Julia, this flick was just the jumpstart she needed to get her career back on track. I'm sure it also helped her over her personal crisis.

Roberts portrays Grace King Bichon, a Southern aristocrat whose family is into the show horse business. Grace works with her father, Wyly King (Robert Duvall), who is the patriarch of the family and the owner of the horse business. Grace is happily married to her college sweetheart, Eddie, (Dennis Quaid) and has a wonderful 10-year-old daughter. Grace's sister, Emma, (Kyra Sedgwick) is a hoot. She tweaks and teases her sister about her stodgy existence, but it's clear the two women love each other. In fact, the chemistry between the two actresses is marvelous, as is the very close physical resemblance each has to the other. You could almost believe they're sisters in real life. When Grace discovers her husband has been cheating on her, the facade of a happy marriage crumbles and she is left with many questions and feelings to be explored. The audience agonizes with her as she grows and changes. Similarly, Grace's mother (Gena Rowlands) breaks free of her traditional role as the Southern matriarch, seemingly delicate and dependent on her man for everything. The men can only go along for the ride and see where everyone will end up on the other

This flick is at times poignant and at times comedic. It is an artistic exploration of relationships, both romantic and familial. I loved it and I highly recommend it.

LEST WE FORGET

Regardless of any propaganda you might have heard to the contrary, senility doesn't necessarily have anything to do with old age, it's inherited.

Several weeks ago my husband and I, along with our son and one of his friends, took an overnight trip to Cincinnati. As soon as we left the driveway I began wondering about the items I probably forgot at home. After about 30 minutes, I convinced myself that it was "all in my head" and tried to enjoy myself. Two miles this side of Winchester I turned to my husband and asked, "Do you like this outfit.' "It's okay. Why?"

"Because I'll be wearing it until we get home. I left my clothes hanging in your bathroom."

J. R. and his friend, Bradley, found it amusing. Their laughter annoyed me, but not near as much as my ignorance annoyed me.

"Those long pants will be hot at the ball game," my husband announced.

"I don't care about the pants," my son quickly said, "but did you bring any deodorant?"

"I brought the cosmetic bag. I just didn't bring the garment bag. I've got most of the essentials. Didn't you see my clothes hanging in your bathroom, Hop?" I asked. "I saw some clothes, but they didn't look like yours," he replied innocently. "They weren't mine. They were Jean's. I just borrowed them for the trip because I don't wear shorts and she has shorts."

- Jay Stanton Liebenow, 37, was arrested in Bethesda, Md., in July and charged with robbing a CVS pharmacy. According to police, Liebenow successfully robbed the store of drugs, but was caught when he returned a few minutes later because he had forgotten to steal syringes.

PEOPLE UNCLEAR ON THE CONCEPT

-Grocery store owner John A. Tavlian was placed under citizen's arrest in March after a confrontation with a Frito Lay delivery man, who had removed non-Frito Lay products that Tavlian had displayed on a Frito Lay rack. Allegedly, Tavlian threatened to kill the man by pummeling him, over and over, with packages of potato chips.

- In May, a New Jersey judge sentenced Karen Dobrzelecki, 20, to 13 years in prison for strangling her newborn baby. According to the judge, the woman had earlier refused to abort the fetus because of her Catholic beliefs.

In May, a woman telephoned police in Durham, N.C., to file a missing persons report on her son, Darryl Wayne Byrd, 38. The woman described him as 6 feet tall and 180 pounds, last residing in the 500 block of Holloway Street. She said she last heard from him in May forced to take an AIDS test (to let victims know if they are at risk), Brooklyn Assemblyman Joseph Lentol was critical. He accused Pataki of trying to "demean" sex criminals.

- Eleven days after the Oklahoma City bombing, promoters of the Suncoast Gun Show in Tampa, Fla., told dealers not to display military manuals and books that contain recipes for napalm and Molotov cocktails. Said one dealer, to the St. Petersburg Times: "We're totally surrounded by guns, but they don't want me to sell a book?"

- An April Gannett News Service story described how some TV stations have assured the Communications Commission in official documents that they have met their legal obligation to serve "children's educational and informational needs." Among the controversial assurances was the one of WLWT in Cincinnati, which listed two "Donahue" shows, "Teen-age Strippers and Their Moms" and "Parents Who Allow Teen-agers to Have Sex at Home.'

In Waukesha, Wis., in May, James Oswald, 50, was convicted of murdering a police officer and kidnapping hostages during an escape from a bank robbery and sentenced to two life terms in prison plus 625 years. ## '95 Rebels to be Reeves' best club

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The Allen Central Rebels football team will be looking to better last year's dismal 2-8 record and coach Glenn Reeves may just have the team to accomplish the feat.

out of Class 1A into the hot bed of arm strength. Class 2A and the likes of Prestonsburg, Whitesburg and Breathitt County. The move away from Pikeville in 1A is still a welcome position as a sophomore. He put up sight for Coach Reeves.

"We're going tohave a good football team here at Allen Central," said the Rebels' mentor. "In Class 2A we ball and is an excellent option quarwill be one of the teams that will battle for that fourth playoff spot.

"It's going to be tough, I know that. You look at Prestonsburg, which has tradition, and then you have Whitesburg. On down your schedule you have Breathitt County, who came down from 3A last year to 2A.

"Betsy Layne always hits us hard. Morgan County is always tough. They like to throw the football, and as long as that coach (Terry Chinn) is up there, he likes to throw the ball."

Allen Central has the numbers out this season, which will make the Rebels deeper at key positions. Last life." year's talented sophomore class will be a year wiser, and will have a better understanding of the scheme of things.

Returning at the quarterback slot, after taking the helm midway in the '93 season, will be senior Adam Coleman (6-0, 170). Coleman likes However, the Rebels will move to throw the football and has great

"This will be his third year for us," said Coach Reeves. "He did a real good job for us when he took the some good stats last season, throwing for 1,078 yards.

"He's capable of running the footterback. He has a good arm and is accurate. He's had some eye surgery, but that doesn't seem to bother him."

Filling out the backfield will be the coach's son, Josh Reeves, (5-9, 185), at the fullback spot, a position that he has held the past two seasons.

"He's the most consistent player we have and he understands the game," said Coach Reeves, "Of course, he goes home with the coach and that helps. He's been playing football for a long time. He started out in Texas when he was in the first grade. He's loved the game his whole

Reeves will be the power runner on this team and he likes to run at the opposition and up the middle. He has good speed and is a very strong ball

Matt Varney (5-9, 175) will also see some time at the fullback slot, as well as Mike Goble. "We are two deep at every position," said Reeves. "Matt will see some time at fullback.

"He's a real hard-nosed kid that like to hit. He muscled up in the weightroom, gotreal strong and could possibly be, late in the game, one of our faster people when you talk about endurance and wearing people down. Seems like Matt has an extra go.

"Mike is tough. He lowers the head, hits low and keeps on turning. He's exciting to watch. You're not going to be able just to wrap one hand on old Mike," said Reeves.

Gordon Reeves (5-0, 170) will run at one halfback position. He will actually be at the two back (wing back) for the Rebels.

"He has worked hard in the weight room," said Coach Reeves. "Probably pad to pad, he's the strongest kid on the team. He claims 235 pounds, he squats 405 and he only weighs 155. He is a very hard worker. Not a slashing type of runner, but he is also hard to bring down."

When you mention speed on this team, Beau Tackett (5-8, 175) comes to mind. Tackett is dangerous once he gets on the outside. His quickness and speed makes him a threat for the offs.

"He's probably the fastest kid we have on the team," said Reeves. "He can out run people. We definitely want to get the ball to him. He's very talented, versatile, and he's smart."

Athletic ability is a blessing and junior Thomas Jenkins (6-3, 185) has been blessed with great athletic ability. Jenkins will be the wide out for the Rebels this season, a spot he played since his freshman year.

"He's an athlete," said his coach. "He's definitely an all-around player. He's always in shape. He'll run our wide out spot. He had a lot of good catches last year."

While Jenkins is the favorite target of Coleman, teams will be looking to double down on him this sea-

"They had better stop him," said Coach Reeves. "If they don't, he is going to catch the ball and run with it. He has excellent speed."

Size and quickness will be present at the tight end spot for Allen Central. Chris Bailey (6-3, 240) will anchor the slot.

"We've got Chris in there mainly for the duties of blocking to the tight end side. But also he has a good set of hands. Mostly, other teams are going to be concentrating on two people, Beau and Thomas, but they had better watch out for Chris Bailey."

Centering the offensive line will be Mark Varney (5-9, 175). Coach Reeves said that he was impressive there last season. "He has really worked hard in the weight room," said Coach Reeves. "We needed somebody who was quick and would go get linebackers and really take care of that nose for us. We felt that Mark was the guy to do that job."

Still up for grabs is the right guard position, although several players are seeing practice time there.

"We tried a lot of people in there. Looks like Brady Scott (6-0, 160), a newcomer, who joined us last year as a sophomore, has the nod. He possesses some of the best skills I've seen from a person who hadn't played football," Reeves said.

Others that will could be there is B.J. Caudill. "He's a hard worker," said Reeves. "He didn't miss a day in the weight room. He's a great kid with a great attitude. Coachable. As he gets older, his speed is going to increase. We may move him to tackle later on."

At the offensive tackle spots will be Kevin Thacker (6-3, 285) and Chris Lawler. Thacker will be at the right tackle with Lawler playing right

"Kevin's the biggest kid on the team," said Reeves, "as far as weight goes. He's another kid who has worked hard in the weight room. He has been to every practice. He doesn't miss. He's faithful.

"Chris is a big kid who possesses some of the best skills I've seen. Possibly could go and play some division one football. He's smart and he blocks out well. He can block three people on one play. He's always looking for you.' Mark Varney will play the nose guard position on the defensive side of the football. "He has good speed to get around the centers," Reeves said.

Phillip Robinson (6-1, 238) will play one of the defensive guard positions. "He came out last year and he has a natural football body," said the Allen Central coach. "He's the first kid to practice in the afternoons. He play football."

At the linebacker slots Josh Reeves will be at one spot with Levi Wells at another. But Coach Reeves said that Wells could possibly move down to the defensive line once he sheds some pounds. Mike Goble will be at the other linebacker position. Paul Varney will see some time at line-

Gordon Reeves will be a defensive end because of his quickness and agility. "He's going to be a top notch football player," said Coach Reeves. "I feel secure with him out there manning that wing."

Jenkins will play the free safety slot. "He has the ability. We want him to go up and take the ball away from the offense," said Reeves. "We know he can hit."

Craig Crace and Matt Varney will be at the corner. "I'm really high on Craig," said Coach Reeves. "He really did a good job for us in our scrimmage. He's the most coachable corner we've got. He's a hard hitter.

"Matt played the corner for us last year. We may play him at strong safety when we go into our 52. We're not going to play the same old game. We're going to play with whatever wins for us that week."

Gordon Reeves will be punting the ball for Allen Central. Mark Varney will kick the extra points. On the extra long field goals, Jenkins will be called on, as well as on kick-

Beau Tackett and Craig Crace will be returning for Allen Central.

"This is the best football team that I have had since coming to Allen Central," said Reeves. "I think we have 18 football players who can play the game. That is people who can play football. We're still young. We'll be playing with juniors mostly. But they've been in the game. We possess good speed. That's going to be our strength. I think we can run away from people. This is the strongest team we have put on the field as Josh Reeves, fullback, likes this year's team. "We have a better schedule this year," he said. "We don't have to worry about playing Pikeville and Jenkins. Overall, our schedule is better rounded. We have to worry about Breathitt County and Whitesburg, as well as Prestonsburg.

"They are talking like this year has shown great interest and desire to will be our best year. We only really have two seniors," he said.

Reeves has set some goals for his junior season.

"I'd like to run harder this year," he said. "I would like to make a lot more tackles and be more committed to the team and to myself."

Jenkins would like to see his team get out to a quick start and have a winning season.

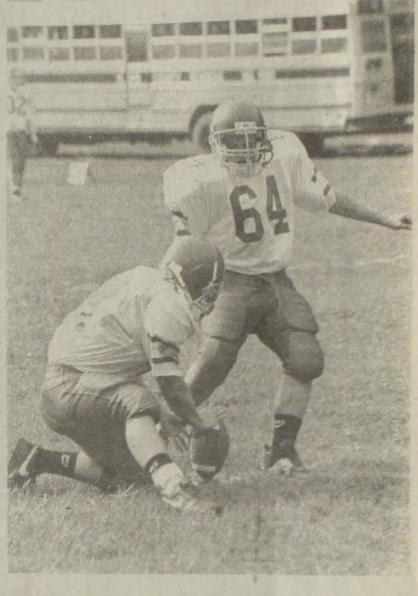

"We've struggled for the past two years," he said. "Coach Reeves has really built us up. He's got our confidence going and we have been working hard in the weight room. Our line has gotten a lot quicker. I hope by the first game we've got everything go-

"We've been here since we were all freshmen and we have worked real hard. We've got the offense down now and I think we'll be all right."

However, Jenkins sees some improvement needed.

"Our lines have got to get our blocking schemes down," he said. "Right now we're struggling with our line work. Our secondary is going have to build up. Mostly we're going have to work on fundamentals.

"I love playing the wide out. I like going out on the long ball. I feel comfortable there and hope I can do better than last year. At free safety, I want to get some interceptions."

Bobcats must replace Combs, Hamilton

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

While playing football for Coach John Derossett and the Betsy Layne Bobcats, players get more than just instruction about how to play the game. They are encouraged to realize there is life after football and they need to do something with their lives. Brandon "Bubba" Combs, a Kentucky All-Star and Morehead State signee, is proof of that. Combs and standout running back Rocky Hamilton graduated after outstanding high school careers, and their lives will be enriched by having played for Coach Derossett.

"We lost a few kids from last year," said the Betsy Layne coach. "We lost Rocky. We lost Bubba. He's at Morehead right now and doing

"One of the things we do here at Betsy Layne is try and encourage the kids after football to go on and do something with their lives."

Betsy Layne will be hard pressed after losing Combs from the defensive and offensive lines, as well as losing Hamilton out of the backfield. However, the talent is there to replace the two, but it will mean that someone will have to step up.

"The whole junior class is going have to step it up," said Coach Derossett. "There's not too many of them. Every one of them is playing the offensive line, quarterback, fullback and other integral parts.

"Up front we have Brad Kimbler, Stewart Hall, Shawn Keathley, Brad Reynolds. They're all going have to step up and play. Jarrod Newsome is going to play fullback and play linebacker. Of course, Craig Hamilton is going to be our quarterback and one of the best defensive backs in the

The number of returning seniors will be at an all-time high for the Bobcats and leadership must come from that direction.

"We're fortunate this year to have eight or nine seniors coming back," Derossett said. "That's the most we ad. We lost a real good senior in preseason in Tim Hunter."

Hunter was the Bobcats' starting center and had played for the Bobcats the past three seasons. He experienced some problems with his shoulders and, according to Derossett, will be a big loss for Betsy Layne.

With nine returning seniors, the talent is there for the Bobcats to have a successful season.

"We have a lot of good athletes in our senior group," said the Betsy Layne coach. "I just hate it they are all in the senior class. You got Timmy Nunnemaker, who will play defensive back and split end. There is Willie Meade, an excellent athlete. He plays all sports here at Betsy Layne.

"There's Chris Hicks and Wes Collins. Both of them have good speed. Rodney Hamilton has had a real good camp for us this summer. He's dropped some weight. So, we have some good seniors and we're looking to them for leadership."

Craig Hamilton will start at quarterback for the Bobcats and he will lead the Bobcats' offense. "He's the one who makes our team go," said Derossett. "We've got Matt Rose who's going to come on and be a fine quarterback some day. So is freshman Tyler Puckett, But Craig is the one that is going to move this offense. He's a leader. As Craig goes, the offense goes. I put a lot of pressure on Craig, but I think he's a young man that can handle it."

Betsy Layne will be able to go very deep in the backfield as six can carry the ball with consistency.

We have a lot of good athletes to play back there," said Derossett, but added, "The bad thing is they are all in the same grade."

The trio of Chris Hicks, Jarrod

Ray Lyon

Newsome and Eric Cecil will share us," said Derossett. playing time at fullback. But the Bobcats can add the likes of Ray Lyons, Billy Mitchell and Wes Collins.

"All those guys are running backs," said Derossett.

Nunnemaker will be at one end position, with Nick Newsome finding some playing time, as well.

"Nick never played football before," said Derossett. "He came out last year and didn't have much of a chance of doing anything. He went through the conditioning program and, more than anyone, showed a lot of leadership during the football

At split end will be Solly Tackett, a senior. One-year wonder Shawn Rose will also see time there.

"Shawn has done a great job," said Coach Derossett. "He's come out in his first year. He's been a baseball player, basketball player and now he is a football player. He's come out and worked hard hoping to get on one of the speciality teams. He's a real hustler.'

Across the offensive line you have Kimbler, Keathley, Stewart Hall and Rodney Hamilton.

"We've got some sophomores in there who have done a good job for

When the offense switches to defense, most will just flip-flop from the offensive line to defense.

Collins, Hicks, Newsome, Boyd and Cecil will be sharing playing time at the linebacker slots.

Hicks and Meade will be at the defensive ends with Nunnemaker, Hamilton and Rose in the backfield.

"Another player I am high on and who we have in our camp this year is Billy Mitchell. I think you are going to hear about him down the road and, hopefully, this year," said the Betsy Layne mentor. "He's just a sophomore and already he has reeled in a couple good runs in scrimmages. He's been hampered a little bit by a hip injury. We're looking for big things

Craig Hamilton, against the better wishes of his coach, will be back deep in the free safety spot.

"We hate to use him back there," said Derossett, "but he is an excellent return man. You hate to stick your quarterback out there all the time."

Meade will also be deep for the Bobcats, along with Nunnemaker and

Blackcats could throw more this season

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The year was 1993.

Without a doubt it was the year of the biggest high school football season for the Prestonsburg Blackcats.

A trip to the state 2A championship against Mayfield is the only thing that overshadowed the dramatic win over state powerhouse Danville in a 16-15 victory.

After the '93 season, the Blackcats were everyone's choice to repeat, and perhaps this time claim the state championship that eluded them in

But that was not to be as the powerful Cats fell to Russell in last year's state playoffs.

Departing the Prestonsburg campus was all-stater Larry Morris who left for the land of the Kentucky Wildcats. Morris was an All-American linebacker who created havoc for opposing quarterbacks.

Now it is 1995 and the season is underway. While it appears to be a rebuilding season, the Blackcats have a lot of young talent just waiting their turn to take the program back to Lou-

Depth, depth and more depth is the strength of this team. But they will find themselves in a new alignment this time and with the new kid on the block, Breathitt County.

But Prestonsburg coach Bill Letton said that while the team is young and inexperienced overall, hard work has made Prestonsburg a serious regional contender. "Overall, we are pretty young and inexperienced," said the Blackcat coach. "But we've been able to get some things done. We've worked

The Blackcat mentor said that his team has gone back to rethink "some things we've been doing."

'We're doing some things a little bit differently," he said. "But at the same time, we're not doing some things too much differently.

"It's basically the same Prestonsburg team. We'll be more in the twoback set than we have been in the past three or four years."

Strong running backs is the trademark of the Blackcats, starting with the '89 season until the present.

Dwayne Garza, Seth Hyden and Jody Cornette, and others who left their mark as running backs at the Prestonsburg school.

The quarterback situation seems to be the question mark, but Letton feels the job is secure in two very good signal callers.

We may throw the ball a little more than we have in the past years," said Letton. "Defensively, we're still doing what we've been doing the past three years.

"But we are trying to add a little bit to it. People are starting to catch, so we're changing a couple of things,"

A lack of depth was, at first, a concern for the Prestonsburg coach and his staff. But that problem has been addressed.

"We have several guys coming in who can play several different positions," said Letton. "It's been nice. An injury doesn't kill us. We feel like we have somebody who we can go to, or we can move somebody, shift the lineup a little bit. It's been a pretty nice situation."

While the Blackcats are looking to rebuild, the Prestonsburg coach still believes that his team's expectations are the same as they have always been and his team could be a

"Our expectations of these kids are as high as they ever were," he said. "You're going to lose some to graduation every year. You've got to replace them.

"This year is no exception. We talked about this last year. It doesn't matter who we put out on that field, we expect great things from them."

Coach Letton said that his team was aware of the goal in front of them and, hopefully, they will accomplish

"I think these guys understand that," he said. "Their expectations and goals are just as high as anyone who has ever been here and, hopefully, that will be a big plus for us.'

Getting his team on the field for some varsity playing time is what Coach Letton believes his team needs

"We need to get these guys into some varsity games," he said. "Let them get in there and mix it up. The more we can do that, the more we can evaluate them on film and I can correct mistakes. The more I can correct the mistakes, the better off we are going to be. I think the whole key right now is getting the experience.'

Last year's quarterback Thomas Ratliff is gone and it appears as if Mike Castle and Keith Marsillett will share the quarterback duties, at least right now. "We're using Keith and Mike at quarterback and that probably will be the way we'll do it for right now," said Coach Letton. "I'm pretty satisfied that we're able to do that. I think both of them are going to play some defense and give us the opportunity to rest one of them.

We'll play one on defense and switch out and keep a fresh player in there all the time. They're both doing some things we like and I think we will just take advantage of both of

"We'll used Dennis Laferty there some," he said. "We'll also play Lowell Scott there. Josh Setser will play some at tailback. Matt Laferty will be at the tailback some. Brian Johnson played a couple of positions for us in the backfield. We have some depth back there."

Morris, however, will be the feature back for the Blackcats and he is counted on to play a strong season.

"Jon is our leading rusher back from last year," said Letton. "He had

"He showed some real good speed in the open field. He's the guy who has the most experience in the backfield. He's the leader and he's got to show us the way because he does have the most experience. Hopefully, he will pick up where he left off last year."

Though still young, Gavin Hale will be at the tight end slot for Coach

"He's doing a great job there for us," he said. "He's still young and inexperienced. He's going to get better. We hoped to have Neil Hamilton there also. He was really coming along and doing some good things. He had that unfortunate situation on that heart abnormality."

Several players will be waiting in the wing to play at the wideout slot.

"We've got six to eight players playing there. I'd say we will use quite a few in the game. We have a lot of depth there."

Rusty Young will anchor the center position for Prestonsburg. He will be flanked by John Lyons and Bill Willis at the guard slots. Ricky Johnson and Ernest Campbell will be at the tackle positions.

Chris Lawson will see some playing time at the center slot, as well as "Having all that depth is a good thing," said Coach Letton. "If one goes down, we have a lot of confidence in the players who can come in and fill in for us."

Some will just flip-flop on the defensive line for Prestonsburg. Young will move to the nose guard slot with Bill Willis playing there also. Johnson and Campbell will just move across the line to play defensive tackle. Porter, Bailey, Lawson and Thompson will see some time at the guard positions.

Gavin Hale and Dennis Laferty will guard the middle line at line-

"It depends on who's playing where," said the Prestonsburg coach. "Bevins may be playing the strong side and Morris playing the weak side. We can put Spurlock at the weak side. We have different combinations we can play there. It's just sort of a merry-go-round there."

Six players will be playing three positions in the secondary, according they can help us out."

On the speciality team, Morris will handle the punting. Ricky Johnson will handle the kick off and the extra points. Long snaps will fall to Blackburn, with Morris handling the long snaps on the extra points.

Morris and Blackburn will be back on punt returns with freshman John Ortega getting a shot at it.

"We can move people around and everybody on defense knows two positions just about, with the exception of the ends," explained Letton. "We can shuffle around and not be destroyed by an injury."

Coach Letton said it had been a long fall and he and the players are excited about the season. "We've had camp down here for two weeks," he said. "Normally, we bit. I think everybody is ready to get it going now. "The scrimmages were nice, but it is good to get some experience against another team. I think everybody is ready to go now. We'll find out what we're going be able to do."

Realignment will spoil some special rivalries and the Prestonsburg and Sheldon Clark rivalry may well

"I hate that Sheldon Clark got out," he said. "That had turned into a nice rivalry with big crowds and close football games. I wish they could have stayed down in 2A.

"They were close and it had turned into a real nice situation. We're still going to play them, but you take the district out of the midst and it changes things a little bit. Shelby Valley was also a competitive district game.

"Of course, the big talk in this district is Breathitt County coming in. They've got a lot of experience coming back. They are going to make some noise right off the bat.

"We have Allen Central and Betsy go away and that breaks it up a little Layne. It has to be great for Floyd County football. In the past we've had two or three districts represented in the county.

"You have three different races going that don't involve county teams and when you get us all in there and you add that district championship, district standings as well as the county standings, it is going to do great things for county football. Interest will rise.'

Raiders looking to forget past two seasons

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The South Floyd Raiders and their head football coach Donnie Daniels would rather forget the past two seasons and look toward the '95 season and make it a successful one.

The Raiders are 2-18 in their first two seasons as a new school. But this year could be the pivotal point for the program at the Left Beaver school.

This will be a talented team with some good, young players coming in from a strong elementary program. The long wait for a solid feeder program is finally over, and in the next two seasons that talent should start being recognized.

"We have real good talent," said Daniels about his present team. "This team is best talent I've had since the playoff team at Wheelwright, That is as far as a team goes. I've had a little more talent individually in the past at certain positions; but overall, this probably is the best talent we've had as a team."

What makes this team so special is the depth they have -- something that was missing in seasons past.

"We can go one to twenty and not drop off a whole lot on this team," said Coach Daniels. "I still believe that. That's why we are getting a whole lot of quality snaps, as well as quality scouting reports on offense and defense."

The numbers overall have increased at South Floyd for the '95 season. The Raiders had been averaging around 28-30 players a season, but the numbers have slightly increased this year.

"We're hanging around 35 players," said Daniels, "but it seems the kids we have coming up are better athletes than what we've had in the Explanation? "They understand the game better," he said. "I give my grade school program credit for that. They've done a very good job in establishing a strong program and getting those kids to understand what our program is all about and what we want up here. That's a big part of it."

Coach Daniels agrees that the '95 season will be a pivotal one as the Raiders look to turn the corner in an opposite direction, and move up a level in their playing ability.

"This will be a big season for us to turn that corner," he said. "We've got a lot of kids coming back next year and that's good. I think this would be a good stepping stone to take this season and move up to the level we want to be."

No coach works as hard as Daniels with their team, and he is determined to make this season as successful as he possibly can, for the sake of the program at the new school.

In order for that goal to become a reality, this season must be as successful as the Raiders can make it, and that will take the contributions of some young players who must step in and make an immediate impact,

Two sophomores must make that move. One of those is sophomore quarterback Nick Compton (6-1, 165).

"Nick is going have to step up this year," said the Raiders' mentor. "He got about three starts last year late in the season and that helped him a lot. It was a little confidence builder for Nick against McCreary Central and Elkhorn City last year. He made a good showing at the end of the season. He also had a real good JV

Sophomore number two will have to be Ketran Mays (5-10, 155), no doubt one of the quickest players in the area. Daniels moved Mays from his fullback position of a year ago to halfback and the move should prove to be a good one.

"I think he has adjusted well to the change," said Daniels. "We've got two new linebackers, Chris Isaac and Dustin Hall, along with John Paige, who will see a majority of the playing time in there. There's several players who are out for the first time, and they could get better and help."

Daniels said that the first-time players are going to need more understanding and patience.

"We have to be patient with them. But we coach them all and we have to just wait and see how it develops."

While the youth corps must step up, Daniels said the veterans will have to shoulder the majority of the load and show that leadership quality this team, especially the young players, will need.

"I look at my two big tackles, juniors Andree Faine (6-3, 260) and Aaron Caudill (6-4, 295), for that leadership," said Daniels. "They must make a big contribution this season. I've put a lot of pressure on both of them with this defense we will be running. I want them to be the main stay of that defense in the middle." Senior Aaron Hall (6-2, 225) is another player who Coach Daniels says must step up. Hall will be moved to a tight end slot this season. The versatile Hall is willing to play wherever it helps the team. He has moved to different spots during his first three seasons and this one is no different.

"He will also play the middle linequarterbacked the ballclub. Coach Daniels likes the excitement that backer slot for us," said Daniels. "The Compton brings to the team. end positions are two positions in which we expect a lot. Terrance

"He throws the ball real well. The thing we're trying to work with him now is to make a quicker read. When he learns to make the quicker read, he can let the ball go a little faster.

"He's got great arm strength and we want him to show that arm strength off. He's indecisive and that is hampering him right now. He likes to throw deep and we're trying to get him to mix it with the short passes.

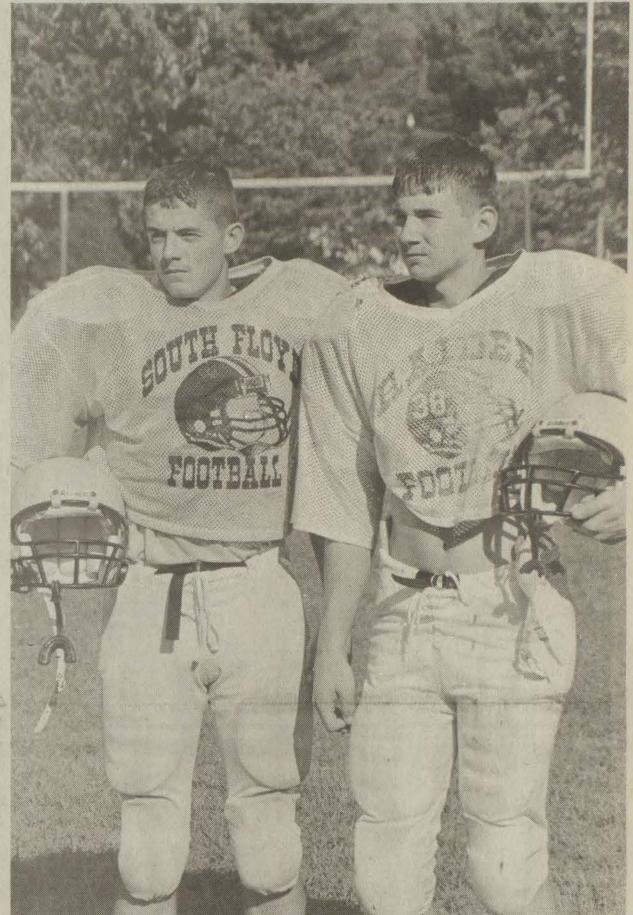

"I still believe he is the best sophomore quarterback in the state and I've yet to see one better than him."

Wheelwright fans remember the bursting speed that former Trojan Muntu Oden possessed as a senior, but Coach Daniels said that Ketran Mays has arrived ahead of Oden.

"Right now he's probably at the same level that Muntu was when he was a senior," Daniels said about Mays. "There will be some great things to come from this kid in the future, if not this year. He's got quick feet. He's hard to hit. I haven't seen the defense get a solid lick on him

Raiders dedicate season in memory of Jamerson

In a move to keep the memory of the popular Wilburn "Shorty" Jamerson alive, coach Donnie Daniels and the South Floyd Raiders have dedicated the 1995 football season to his memory.

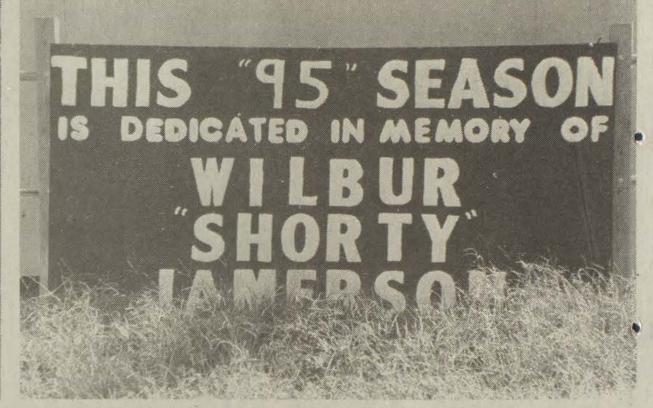

A sign has been erected at Brackett Field, home of the Raiders, in honor of the former Wheelwright coach. Jamerson coach at the old Wheelwright school, where he also served as the school's principal.

He played his college football at the University of Kentucky. Jamerson was very popular with his players, fans and opposing coaches. His no nonsense rules and hard practice habits were at first felt as a rub by former players, who later discovered how valuable those rules were in real life.

Coach Donnie Daniels (left) will enter his fifth season. He has been at South Floyd the past two years.

Sign erected in honor of the late coach "Shorty" Jamerson who coached at Wheelwright for several years.

"They are your top teams in the district. They're a step ahead of the rest. You look at their facilities, the program and the type of athletes they have. I'm not saying we can't play with them. We've got Prestonsburg about the fifth game and Whitesburg down the road to play."

County games should add interest with realignment by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

School football season got a head start on our football pullout, but we are just a week late.

The season should stack up as an interesting one, especially with the new district alignments.

Allen Central appears to have one of their stronger teams that has been unveiled since coach Glenn Reeves made the scene. The Rebel coach had a dominating junior class that looks good for this season as well as the next.

The Rebels will throw the football a lot this year, but their running game will not be lacking. Beau Tackett, Josh Reeves, Gordon Reeves and Matt Varney will give Coach Reeves four solid ball

Thomas Jenkins will be on the receiving end of quarterback Adam Coleman's passes. The surehanded Jenkins will play the safety slot on defense.

Betsy Layne no doubt is a much improved football team from last year's 5-5 team. But the Bobcats Breathitt County and Prestonsburg. It could be a playoff season for coach John Derossett's Bobcats. But they will have to combat

The 1995 Floyd County High Morgan County and Allen Central coach and he could very well be. for the fourth spot. I give the top positions to Whitesburg, Breathitt County and Prestonsburg.

Prestonsburg is definitely in a rebuilding season, but the Blackcats still have the horses to have a win-The interest will stem from ning year. Does a team go unaffected after losing the players that Prestonsburg did?

> Letton is confident that his team can arise to the challenge that is before them, and that it will only take some varsity games to get the experience they need.

> The Cats play a dynamite sched-ule and it will not be easy. But that is the way the Prestonsburg coach likes it. His team always seems ready come playoff time. This year will be no

Jon Morris, Chad Spurlock, Keith Marsillett and Mike Castle will head up the offense and Ricky Johnson, Rusty Young, and Waylon Bevins will lead the defense.

The defensive line of the Blackcats is not what it has been in the past three seasons; but the future is bright with some very talented sophomores and freshmen. This staff knows how to put together a winner and that will happen again at Prestonsburg. Coach Donnie Daniels' South Floyd Raiders will be a much improved ballclub and will put some "W's" in the standings this season. reenter district play this season They are the county's lone 1A school, with the likes of Whitesburg, and a fourth place playoff seed for them is not out of the question.

Sophomore quarterback Nick Compton is considered the best sophomore QB in the state by his

His strong arm and accuracy makes him a threat.

Terrance Mullins and Aaron Hall will be receiving the football when the youngster throws. Aaron Caudill and Andree Faine will anchor both lines and this year the defensive side of the football looks

Travis Johnson will be in a linebacker slot with Scotty Johnson playing at one defensive end posi-

Coach Daniels' ballclub is just in need of a break and someone to step in and show them the leadership they need. The numbers seem to be higher for each team, with the exception of Betsy Layne. That could change next season since the Bobcats' program is on the upswing. A new training complex is in the works and could be ready by next season. It will house the coaches offices, as well as weight room and other needed facilities

The first annual Unsign Bowl was a big success for the Bobcats and the next one already is in the works for next season.

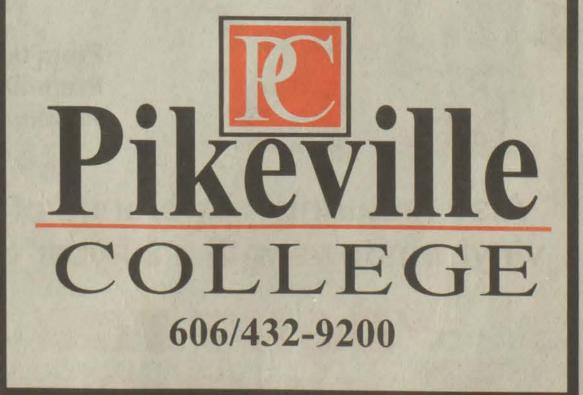

Bowl games, new facilities, new excitement and an enthusiastic coach makes the Bobcats' program one to keep your eye on.

There is a good positive attitude overall in the county, and for the first time all four teams have a shot at making the playoffs. I ask that you go out and support your favorite high school team. Our kids are great and they need that support.

SO THERE I WAS, DRIVING WITH MY DAUGHTER, WHEN OUT OF THE BLUE

She brought up our back to school plans. She was starting high school, and I was returning to Pikeville College to complete my degree in business and get my career on track

It's never too late to make a change in your life.

Good luck to all area teams!

Welcome to week one in the 1995 Pigskin Picks. We welcome aboard some new people this football season. The football season should be an exciting one and the big game this week will be UK and UofL. The consensus has Kentucky winning over the Cardinals for the second year in a row. Georgia and Michigan will win on the college level as well as Colorado. Locally, the high school game will move into week two. Prestonsburg gets the nod over the Sheldon Clark Cardinals. Morgan County will win over Allen Central and South Floyd gets the pick over Betsy Layne. The pro season will be a good one and Cleveland fans will appreciate the fact the prognosticators have picked the Browns to upend New England. Kansas City and Seattle could tie with Houston and Washington picking up victories.
