Feeding the hungry is this bank's interest

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

Gene DeCoursey went shopping Monday morning, but he didn't go to the local grocery store and he didn't have the choice between "paper or plastic."

DeCoursey, director of the Wayland United Methodist Church Food Pantry, was buying food for those in his community who might be hungry. He made the purchases at the God's Pantry-East on Resource Drive.

He just happened to be at the food bank when Christine Vladimiroff, president and CEO of Second Harvest, the National Food Bank Network, and Mary Jo Votruba, executive director of God's Pantry Food Bank, came by to visit the Prestonsburg center Monday.

DeCoursey's agency is just one of about 90 in a 10-county area that uses the food bank, according to Debbie Amburgey, director. She said about 27,000 pounds of food leaves the food bank each week at a cost of 14 cents per pound to the non-profit agencies.

The food bank does not serve clients directly, but provides its product to agencies like soup kitchens, abuse centers, emergency pantries, children's homes, day care centers, and senior programs. Amburgey has been the director at God's Pantry-East since it opened 10 years ago.

"This is just something I love," Amburgey said. "We never look in our backyard to see who's hungry."

The Prestonsburg food bank and the Lexington God's Pantry are the only God's Pantry Food Banks in the state, Amburgey said.

"I was shocked at how many hungry people there are in Eastern Kentucky," she said.

Federal Grand Jury is expected to issue report

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A federal grand jury in Ashland is expected to issue a report (today) Wednesday from its probe into the personal finances and child support enforcement activities of Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond.

The grand jury has been hearing evidence related to the investigation from federal authorities since June. Several witnesses have also appeared before the panel in Ashland.

In May, FBI agents delivered approximately 30 subpoenas in Floyd County, most of which were reportedly for documents relating to Hammond's personal finances and the child support enforcement division of his office.

Investigators won't say if probe into financial dealings of county attorney will produce indictments.

Pikeville attorney Bernard Pafunda, who is representing Hammond, confirmed in May that his client is under investigation by federal authorities.

Officials have remained tight-lipped about the investigation and are offering no details on the case.

Grand jurors met in Ashland on June 21 and August 16 to hear from former and current workers in Hammond's private law firm and in the child support enforcement division. The grand jury did not meet in July because of scheduling conflicts between jurors.

In June, FBI agent Steve Stacy delivered to the grand jury boxes of what appeared to be documents concerning the investigation. Stacy would not comment on the case.

Fire tax zones expanded by executive order

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

With a target date of March 1, 1996, to have an E-911 system operational, Floyd County's Fiscal Court took action Friday to establish and expand fire taxing districts in the county.

Judge-Executive Bob Meyer presented the court with an executive order which mandates the creation of fire taxing districts in Auxier; the North Floyd fire district; and the Martin area fire district. The order also calls for the expansions of the Allen, Cow Creek and Left Beaver fire districts.

Magistrate Jackie Owens opposed Meyer's recommendation, saying he could not vote to create the new taxing districts because it is unknown who will serve on the board of trustees for the new districts; who would be in charge of the revenues generated by the taxing districts; or which fire department would be chosen to provide service to the new areas.

Meyer explained that it would be up to the boards of trustees to decide those issues and that some board members would be appointed by the judge-executive.

Also, each fire department is required to submit an annual budget to the state fire commission and Meyer recommended that the departments also give a copy to the fiscal court.

Under state law, a board of trustees consists of seven members, two of which are citizens elected at-large from the area; two fire-fighters who live in the area; and three citizens residing in the area and who are appointed by the judge-executive.

Final payment issued to court by Hammond

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond paid $59,890 to the county Friday to settle a debt related to child support enforcement services.

Judge-Executive Bob Meyer announced at Friday's fiscal court meeting that an audit of the child support division of the county attorney's office had revealed that $59,890 was owed to the county in reimbursements for child support enforcement employees.

The audit also showed that a $31,124 credit was due to Ham-

Injured youth pays city rescuers a visit

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff Writer

With sirens blaring and horns honking, a Prestonsburg youth showed his appreciation Monday afternoon to the men who helped save his life.

Ricky Hayes, 8, while visiting the Prestonsburg Fire Department Monday, got to experience first hand how to use some of the city's rescue equipment and thanked the firefighters and a police officer who came to his aid earlier this year.

On June 13, Hayes was hit by a pickup truck when he apparently ran in front of the vehicle as he attempted to cross University Drive near Hardees.

Hayes' mother, Sheila Goble, said she appreciates everything that was done for her son.

"He is my miracle child," Goble said. "He is doing real good and has pulled through this without any permanent injuries."

Goble said Hayes was a patient at Cabell Huntington Hospital from June 13 to July 6 and a patient in Columbus, Ohio for rehabilitation from July 6 to August 16.

Hayes, now at home, is attending Clark Elementary School. He is in the third grade.

Prestonsburg fire sergeant Mike Mays, one of the first rescue workers on the scene, said he was pleased to see Hayes pull through.

Others who assisted at the accident are Prestonsburg firefighter Tim Blackburn, captain Kenny Crisp, Fire Marshall Larry Adams, Assistant Chief Mike Wells, Joe Kendrick and Prestonsburg patrolman Anthony Castle.

Respond Ambulance Service transported Hayes to Highlands Regional Medical Center.

Hayes didn't have much to say about the accident, but when it was time to leave he gave everybody a hug and promised to visit again soon.

Complaint against city chief to be investigated

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Kentucky State Police investigators will be asked to conduct a probe into harassment allegations involving the Wheelwright City police chief.

At Monday's Wheelwright City Commission meeting, Tonya Farmer told commissioners that she wanted to make a complaint against chief Tommy Engle and said that it involved being harassed by the chief.

When Farmer began to explain her allegations, commissioners voted to hear the complaints in closed session.

After about an hour behind closed doors, commissioners voted in open session to ask state police to investigate the woman's charges.

City attorney Tim Parker announced the decision and said he would contact officials himself and ask for an investigation. Parker urged "witnesses and officers" involved in the alleged acts to cooperate in the investigation.

Parker added that no action would be taken against Engle at this time.

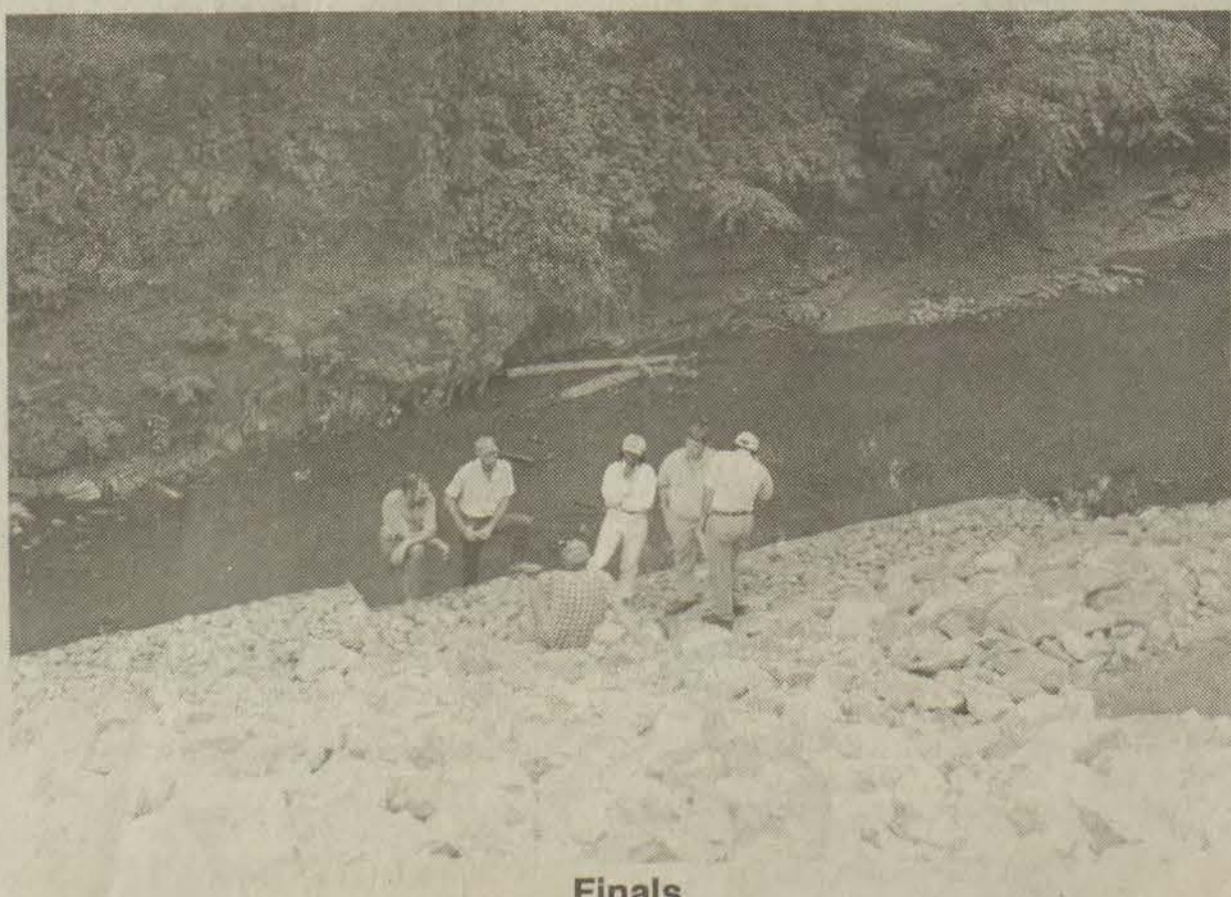

"Other than internal directives to the police officers, no formal action will be taken at this time," Parker said. "We will wait until the outcome of the investigation."

After the closed session discussion, Farmer reported to commissioners that Engle's wife was outside the meeting hall and Farmer informed them that she had a restraining order against the woman. Farmer appeared upset and complained that no city officers would ask the chief's wife to leave the premises.

Commissioner Andy Akers telephoned the Floyd County Sheriff's Department and asked that a deputy be sent to city hall to ask the chief's wife to leave.

Finals

Prestonsburg's emergency watershed protection projects at Archer Park and in West Prestonsburg got a final inspection Thursday, September 14. The projects stabilized the creek bank at Archer Park to protect the road and stabilized the creek bank in West Prestonsburg to protect three homes, one church and a city utilities' lift station. Funding for the projects was through the USDA natural resource conservation service and in cooperation with U.S. Representative Hal Roger's office. The cost was shared with the city of Prestonsburg, which provided 25 percent of the funding. (photo by Alisa Goodwill)

The only way to entertain some folks is to listen to them.

—Kim Hubbard

Vladimiroff, who is responsible for coordinating with national food manufacturers to get overruns and wastes to the food banks, was in town to learn of the needs of local agencies.

"She is responsible for the food that comes through this warehouse," Votruba said. "I want you to give her a picture of the needs of this area. There is a tendency for the largest cities to make the biggest impression. We want to let her know that we have needs here as well."

Vladimiroff said she is trying to obtain "as much food as you need. The purpose of my trip is to listen to you."

She said 25 million people, ten percent of the population, are fed in food banks each year.

"In a land of abundance, even one hungry child is a scandal," Vladimiroff said. "I want to hear your stories. I hope to take them to a place where they matter."

Janet Trafelet has stories to tell. She and her father, Ray Sword, and her brother, Darrin Sword run the United Helping Hand food bank and homeless shelter in Pikeville.

Trafelet and her brother were at the food bank Monday getting a load of food.

"This will do us about a month," she said. "We try to hand out food once a month on the last Thursday. It's usually gone in that one day."

The two paid more than $200 for the load of food and supplies, like shampoo and laundry detergent, they picked up. They said money donations help them round out the meals by allowing them to purchase additional items at the grocery store.

"Some of this will be used in the homeless shelter — mainly the shampoo, toothpaste, and frozen food — and some — mainly the juices and baby food — will be given out in food baskets," Trafelet said.

She said she mainly looks for salvage paper items when she comes to the food bank. The two said they were disappointed there were no diapers available. "We are on our last case of diapers and we're out of bar soap as well," Trafelet said. "And we look for things that will last, things that won't spoil," Darrin Sword added.

According to Votruba, the money Trafelet paid for her supplies is used to cover the transportation and warehousing costs of the food.

"If a company in Minneapolis donates the food, we still have to get it from Minneapolis," she said. "The food goes out of here at about 20 percent of retail cost."

She said the food bank can't supply all the foods to provide a balanced diet to those in need, but it is a start.

"This way, the food becomes useful, rather than wasted," she said.

The United Helping Hand has an application process for those it helps. After they've been helped, they must wait three months before coming to the center again, Trafelet said.

Amburgey, director of the local food bank, said she is looking for non-profit agencies that can use her services. "We know there are a lot of families out there who might not be starving, but who are close," she said. "We know there are children whose only meal is the school lunch they get."

Complaint

In other action Monday, Glenn Thornsberry complained to commissioners about Mayor David Marlee Sammons using the utility commission's backhoe Saturday to do work for an elderly woman in Garbage Hollow, which is outside the city limits. Thornsberry claimed that he had contracted the job with the woman for $250, but that Sammons had dug a hole for a septic tank for free.

Mayor Sammons defended the work, saying the woman did not have the money to pay for the job and he would "help an old lady out, again."

Ricky Little, utility commission worker, told the mayor that the work he performed was illegal and that contracts with the utility commission had to be signed before the equipment could be used to do work for private citizens.

Sammons was unfazed. "I'd do it again," the mayor said. "If you have a problem with that, go to court. I had the okay of the board."

Commissioners Andy Akers and David Boyd said that they had approved the mayor's use of the backhoe, but they apologized for not following proper procedure.

"Blame me," Akers said. "He said the old woman had no money and I told him to go ahead. I made a mistake."

Boyd also apologized and said he was unaware of the process used by the utility commission to use its equipment.

Thornsberry said he was not opposed to helping the woman, but that he was upset because he had contracted with her to do the work.

"I don't see no problem with helping an old woman out," Thornsberry said. "But, knocking me out of $250, I got a problem with that."

Utility commissioner Bruce Johnson told the mayor that he was concerned about the incident because the commission's liability insurance would not cover anyone operating the equipment without authorization and outside the city limits.

In other business Monday:
 • Commissioners held first reading of an ordinance setting the tax rate at 35 cents per $100 valuation, which is the same rate as last year.
 • Commissioners voted to donate $100 toward the city's annual Halloween party for children in the city.

• Commissioners voted to hire Mike Tackett as an auxiliary policeman. Earlier this month, the commission hired Tony Conn as a city patrolman.

• Commissioner Akers announced that someone had made an offer to buy the old bath house building. Akers said that the person intended to locate a business in the building, but Akers did not specify who made the offer or what type of business would be located in the facility. Akers said that the price offered for the property was above the fair market value. The city attorney advised commissioners to have the property appraised before proceeding with the sale. Commissioners approved an appraisal of the property.

Commissioner David Hall was absent from Monday's meeting.

Kentucky Afield moves to Saturday

Beginning September 23, KET's long-running outdoors program Kentucky Afield will move to Saturday nights at 8:00 p.m., forming a regular weekly "Kentucky hour" with KET's new Kentucky Life series. Austin City Limits, which returns to KET's schedule September 16 at 8, will air one hour later starting September 23.

In another change, Mystery! moves to Thursday nights—which will bring KET's Thursday schedule into line with the national PBS schedule. Beginning September 21, the new regular day and time for Mystery! will be Thursdays at 9 p.m. (it is preempted on September 28 for Rock & Roll).

But there is good news for viewers who have made Mystery! a Saturday-night habit, though they will have to tune in a little later. In October, KET will begin repeating the whodunit series on Saturdays at 10 p.m.

The Tower Saxophone Quartet

Tower saxophone quartet will herald concert season

The Tower Saxophone Quartet is beginning a nine-month residency in Eastern Kentucky as part of the National Endowment for the Arts Chamber Music Rural Residencies Program. This is the quartet's second year participating in the program, having spent the previous year in Moultrie, Georgia, performing in schools, churches, and for various civic clubs and organizations.

Currently, the quartet is living in Paintsville but will be performing throughout Johnson, Floyd, and Magoffin counties as part of their nine-month residency.

The quartet will be spending the bulk of its residency time in Kentucky teaching and performing in the schools, for churches, civic clubs and organizations. Individuals members of the quartet will be available for private lessons on the saxophone, clarinet, flute and voice.

The quartet's first public concert will be in Paintsville on September 23 at the Mayo Memorial United Methodist Church. This concert marks the season opener of the Eastern Kentucky Concert Series. Subscriptions to the series are on sale now and may be purchased by contacting Jim Ratcliff at 886-3863, or Mary Preston at 789-5625.

Partial funding for this program is provided by the National Endowment for the Arts and Helen F. Whittaker fund, with continued local funding from school districts, private individuals and businesses of Johnson, Floyd and Magoffin counties.

For more information about this residency, contact Steven Wogaman at New Performing Arts at 800-451-0032. For scheduling or private lessons information, contact Richard Wyman at (606) 789-7959. For additional information about the Tower Saxophone Quartet, contact Michael Zsoldos at (606) 789-7953.

Our own worst enemy

by Scott Perry

Kentucky Roll Call has characterized Kentucky's 5th Congressional District as "a hell hole for present and future employers," and this is one of those rare occasions when we have no defense for the assault on our homeland.

The publication's reference to Eastern Kentucky's employment woes hit a rusty nail right on the head because it specifically addressed the high costs associated with Workers' Compensation in this area.

Those costs, whether they are reflected in enormous fees collected by lawyers or the sheer volume of claims filed by injured or ailing workers, also add up in ways that can't easily be measured in dollars and cents.

How do you market a region where one out of every 12 people is drawing a government disability benefit because of a physical or mental disability?

What do you tell a prospective employer when he asks why the fees paid attorneys in this district are approximately five times the average paid in other areas of the state?

Well, we could tell them that the coal business, a dangerous occupation to be sure, is to blame and we wouldn't be lying.

But we wouldn't be telling the whole truth, either.

There can be no doubt that our dilemma with Workers' Compensation is fueled by those who benefit from it.

Rarely does a day go by that we don't see or hear a law firm urging workers to get what is due them.

And the truly injured deserve compensation.

But there are people who take advantage of the system.

Those people must be made to understand that the disability check they get today may guarantee nothing more than a welfare check for their children tomorrow.

What kind of future is that?

Unfair coaches

Editor:

I attended a B-team football game at Allen Elementary School on Thursday, September 14. I was told the game started at 6 p.m., but it didn't start until 7 p.m.

I went to the game to watch my grandson play. Instead, eight or ten other parents, one who traveled from Morgan County, and I never saw our children put in the game, but we got the pleasure of watching some play the whole game.

The boys who have to sit on the bench practice the same as the rest of the team. A coach who talks down to children only discourages them. I thought the coach was supposed to encourage, teach sportsmanship and make the game a team effort.

The coach only wants to win the game. Well, winning is just fine, but not at sacrificing the kids' self-esteem. Not all of the boys have dads who can coach. Most dads have to work long hours or they would be at the game themselves.

When the kids see the coaches' kids playing the whole game, they wish their dads were the coaches. Not all kids can be good at every sport, but you would think some coaches' kids were the cream of the crop.

I heard one parent, who hasn't always lived around here, say, "Where I come from, kids are assigned one spot on the team. They don't get to play every position."

I've never seen football played this way. All we want is for our kids to be treated with respect and to see a little playing time. I don't think this is asking too much. If you are a coach, try your best to treat kids with respect and try your best to show them winning is not everything.

All kids deserve to get to play. No matter how good they are, all kids deserve a fair chance to play. So, come on coaches, let's be Christian-like here and we can all sleep tonight with a clear conscience.

Nelson votes for an honest change

Editor:

As a citizen of Floyd County, I'm writing to ask all my friends and neighbors—Democrats and Republicans—to vote for Ron Frasure for Floyd County Judge. Ron has the maturity, honesty, and common sense to lead Floyd County out of its current troubles.

Ron Frasure is uniting all Floyd Countians behind his candidacy to restore respect to our county government. He has the knowledge and leadership necessary to rebuild our county.

At his headquarters opening two weeks ago, he detailed his vision for Floyd County. His plan is straightforward and is based on common sense, not promises. Hundreds of people from all across Floyd County attended and many spoke about the need for honest change at the courthouse. With Ron Frasure we will get honest change.

On November 7, go to the polls like I'm doing and elect Ron Frasure our next judge-executive. We will be glad we did!

Morris tells his side of the story

Editor:

Due to the fact my son, Zachary and I have been residing at Nippa, with my sister and her husband since March of this year, it has just come to my attention that some ugly rumors have been spread around Prestonsburg about me.

I want to set the record straight. It is a true fact, I did have a drinking problem at one time; however, I do not drink alcoholic beverages now, and have not for approximately 18 months. I rededicated my life to the Lord in March. My son, Zach, and I attend Victory Christian Church regularly with my sister and her husband, both of whom were baptized the Sunday before Easter. Praise the Lord!

I have also heard the rumor that donations have been and still are being taken up for my sons. If that is the case, I do not understand why, since I provide financial support for my family. My oldest son is away, attending college, and my middle son is living where he chose to live. I have also provided my two older boys with a car, for which I pay to maintain.

As the Holy Bible says in Luke 12:2 "For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; nothing hid that shall not be known," and Proverbs 11:9 "An hypocrite with his mouth destroyeth his neighbor; but through knowledge shall the just be delivered."

I don't have to justify myself, for the Lord knows all things. I think people need to know the truth, and that there are two sides to every story. Remember, you can't believe everything you hear. I hope to see you in church.

Resource centers bring dollars into the county

Editor:

Family Resource and Youth Service Centers play an important part in the lives of our children in Floyd County. The FRYSC program will bring nearly one million dollars ($997,600) into Floyd County Schools this year. Centers are also very successful in getting donations, in-kind contributions and other outside grants to bolster their programs. Each Family Resource and Youth Service Center grant pays for all operating expenses, including staffing related to the use and operation of the center. FRYSC grants are separate from school tax collections. This is money that the Floyd County School Board would not have otherwise. This money is from Frankfort linked to a grant; based on need, the number of students in the school served, and the percentage of free lunch eligible students. The centers were created by Section 18 of the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990 (KERA). This is the only strand of KERA being implemented by the Cabinet For Human Resources.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Boy, the times sure are changing.

The "unisex" movement that began in the 1980s as an attempt to bring fashion into a one-style-fits-all era apparently has gone above and beyond its intended point.

Now, guys are wearing earrings and girls are wearing combat boots.

We're not too worried, though, that this role-reversal fad will stick because style is, after all, just a fleeting fancy.

Good thing, too.

There was a time in our trend-setting days, we remember, when the fashion was to wear nothing at all.

Luckily, that was a short-lived, um, streak.

then came bootleg music, now, it seems, we have a new plum for the pirates.

Bootleg fruit.

In France they even have special private detectives to root out the thieves of specially-grown varieties of fruits, like plums, because they're growing their own without a license and without paying royalties to the developer.

Shouldn't be surprised, though. People have been putting their registered trademarks on just about everything under the sun these days, including certain words and phrases from the English language.

Won't be long, we imagine, before we'll be paying royalties to breathe.

Say, plants must have carbon dioxide to survive and since that's what we exhale every breath those plum tree growers are getting to use our special product free of charge.

Best we should just nip that in the bud.

We Eastern Kentuckians like to consider ourselves to be a proud and impassioned lot, but darned if we don't pick the strangest things to be mule-headed about.

For instance, many of us are apparently so proud of our garbage that we will defy all efforts to have it disposed of properly. Particularly if there is some sort of fee attached.

In many counties where mandatory garbage programs have been enacted, there are still large groups of people who refuse to participate. Some, we suspect, would rather go to jail than have their trash hauled off.

Sure is an odd issue to wage war over.

Speaking of oddities, a jury has awarded a car buyer $2 million in punitive damages because the car he bought had been retouched or repainted sometime between its trip from the factory to the showroom.

The actual cost of the damage to the car was $4,000, but the jury apparently felt compelled to punish the carmaker more stringently by awarding damages that exceeded the car's $40,000 value by $1,960,000.

Geez. We thought juries only gave that kind of money to people who spilled hot coffee in their laps.

It's ironic how a civil case jury will award $2 million in damages for a little scratch or dent while violent criminal offenders often get away with murder, literally.

It's more than ironic. It's scary.

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank those of you who sent cards, made calls or offered comments in commemoration of our arrival at another birthday...even you smart alecks who wonder what body parts we'll have surgically removed as an encore to last year's event.

It just may interest you to know that we've committed ourselves this year to a healthier lifestyle, or at least one that will require a minimal number of stitches.

Anyway, thanks for your interest.

Especially you folks from the emergency room who sent the "wish you were here" card.

With friends like these.....

has a Family Resource/Youth Service Center. This is the result of hard work and dedication by FRYSC Advisory Councils at each school writing grants to get funded from Frankfort.

Centers focus on providing services that enhance students' abilities to succeed in school. This is achieved by providing identification, coordination, and referral services for students at the school and then to their families when relevant. A centers valued success comes from the coordinator attending to and meeting needs of teachers, students, parents and the communities they serve. Our continuing support is essential for the Family Resource and Youth Service Centers to accomplish their goals.

Pharmacists conduct national protest

Editor:

In survey after survey, consumers have repeatedly stated that they want to have the right to patronize the neighborhood pharmacy of their choice.

However, for several years now, and with increasing regularity, many health insurance companies have been taking that choice away from millions and millions of consumers. The companies often force consumers to abandon the local pharmacy that has served them well for years. Patients are told either to patronize another pharmacy or to obtain drugs from unregulated mail order companies located hundreds of miles away.

Even when patients are allowed to continue with their local pharmacy, many insurers are dictating which drugs the pharmacy may use to fill a prescription—influenced primarily by which supplier gave the insurer the best deal, rather than by what is best for the patient.

The upshot of these and other ill-advised practices of many insurance companies is many consumers suffer the ultimate elimination of choice: their local pharmacy goes out of business. Independent pharmacies are every bit as competitive as mail order companies or the pharmacies being designated by the insurers. (A 1995 study by Drug Store News, for example, showed the average price of a prescription is lower at independent pharmacies than at chain drugstores.) Yet we are not being allowed to compete.

In just the past year, approximately four million people have lost their independent pharmacy because it was forced to close its doors permanently. Each week, about 80,000 more consumers are losing their pharmacy.

A day of national protest—"High Noon for Your Local Pharmacy"—is being staged on September 20 to illustrate to consumers how the ill-conceived policies of health insurers are adversely affecting them. Quality pharmacist care is now being lost by millions of consumers in neighborhoods large and small across America.

If insurers are allowed to continue such unfair policies, the number of independent pharmacies closing their doors is sure to increase—with the ultimate losers being those whom we have served for so many years.

The time has come for consumers to stand up and say no. No longer can we allow the health and welfare of millions of Americans to be jeopardized by the unfair practices of many in the health insurance industry.

'Sharpen your axes'

Editor:

After attending the Floyd County Board of Education meeting of September 12, I am left with a sense of anger and frustration. Mr. Patton and the board took action to establish an advisory committee that would hear from tax-paying citizens in Floyd County. To quote Mr. Patton, "I'd like for us to listen to taxpayers. We are only exposed to the people who come here with an ax to grind."

While the establishment of a new committee in our district sounds good, we must look at the reasons why the committee system in our county, has not worked in the past. The concept of listening is good, one that this board should engage in more often, but will the formation of this committee change the way we have done things in the past? I think not.

I would like to remind Mr. Patton of some of the people who have come before the board, and take a quick look at the people with axes to grind! Could he be referring to the parents and citizens of Prestonsburg, (who should be licensed), whose children are in a building in ill repair and next to a major highway and whose sounds are not conducive to learning. How was the money for the construction or renovation of their school building used?

Could he be talking about the parents of children with special needs who come repeatedly before the board to ask for basic services for their children? Services that are mandated by law, but whose needs are still not being met. Are these the people with axes?

What about the citizens and parents of Betsy Layne who bring concerns about a newly constructed building that is not fully equipped to meet the needs of their students? Shouldn't they be happy that a structure is in place? So what if it has no lunchroom or science equipment or updated material for the library. Are those the dreaded axes?

Could it be those people who come with concerns about the learning environment of the students in Floyd County classrooms? Are rooms warm enough, cool enough, well-ventilated enough that these parents need to come and talk to you? Could it be teachers who are concerned that the monies available to them for instructional supplies have dropped from $100 to $90 dollars over the last three years? Of this $90, ten percent is to be spent on school operation and 20 percent is to be held in reserve, that leaves us with around $65. Have instructional needs lessened? Is this a grind that you do not want to hear about?

As this committee is formed, may I remind Mr. Patton and the board about how well our committee system has worked in Floyd County. One example is the District Budget Committee, established to allow citizens input in how monies were to be spent in our district. Individuals on this committee have quit in disgust because they feel they are only token representatives and have no real impact on budgetary decisions that affect our system. Some of these members were just taxpayers with no children in the system. Did you listen to them, Mr. Patton? Will this committee be any different?

And speaking of budgets, another point of interest might be...when the FCEA president has some questions about budget concerns, our interim Superintendent Mr. Allen and chairman Brackett scolded him that an open board meeting was not the place to discuss such matters. Where are they to be discussed? Behind closed doors? In closed offices? Over the phone? Chairman Brackett and Mr. Allen, teachers of Floyd County have worked long and hard to be able to come before this board and discuss matters that concern them. We will not give that right up.

Rumors are circulating all over Floyd County that the system is in serious financial straits. Some of these rumors are supposedly originating from board members and they imply that there is a connection between our financial trouble and the employees who have either just left the district or have been hired on a part-time basis. If individuals are guilty of mispending, action needs to be taken to hold those individuals accountable. If there has been wrong-doing then there should be consequences for these actions.

I'd like to call for the local board of education to openly addresses and inform the public of any problems that may exist with finances in Floyd County and provide an explanation of how this could happen when the board approves expenditures monthly.

The board needs to listen to teachers, parents, and all citizens and taxpayers of Floyd County. They should listen to the people closest to education and the people who have the most invested in the school system. They should not reflect only the concerns of people from their individual districts or other special interests. This board needs to take a bigger view of our district and represent and make their primary concern the children of Floyd County.

Citizens of Floyd County,
"sharpen" your axes!

TO THE PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY:

My name is Ben Hale, and I am asking for your vote for election to the office of Floyd County Judge Executive. I grew up in a family where public service was part of our lives. Until now, I have been happy living my life dedicated simply to my family, my church, and my work, but I have always been attracted to public service.

In the last two years, our county has become increasingly divided. Justified or not, accusations, charges, and rumors have become the norm, rather than the exception. My ambition is to raise this office to a new level of accountability. My first priority as County Judge Executive will be to take immediate steps to restore the public's confidence in the integrity of our county government.

THEREFORE, WITHIN THE FIRST THIRTY DAYS IN OFFICE, I PROMISE YOU THE FOLLOWING REFORMS:

1. OPEN MEETINGS OF THE FISCAL COURT

Meetings will be held at a location that gives room and access to all interested citizens. At least one out of every three monthly meetings will be held in alternating magisterial districts. Every citizen will have an opportunity to be fully heard.

2. OPEN FINANCIAL RECORDS

At each monthly Fiscal Court meeting, a printed summary of the county's finances, including current receipts and disbursements, will be distributed to those in attendance, including the public and the press, with ample opportunity for any questions and discussion.

3. OPEN ROAD WORK RECORDS

A 30-day work plan for all county road work will be prepared and publicly submitted at each monthly Fiscal Court meeting. Further, a written report of the county road work done in the preceding month will be distributed to the public and the press, with ample opportunity for any questions and discussion.

4. OPEN DOOR TO THE COUNTY JUDGE EXECUTIVE'S OFFICE

Every citizen will have access to me, the staff, and records of the County Judge Executive's Office during daily business hours. I will do all within my power to respond to every citizen's needs, complaints, or questions, in a direct and honest manner.

Before this campaign is over, I hope to have the opportunity to talk of things normally discussed in a County Judge Executive's campaign, such as my plans for clean public water, public sewage systems, improvement of our county road and bridge system, development of recreational facilities and employment opportunities for our people. But I believe the first priority is to bring to an end any doubts about the integrity and honesty of your county government. I have come to realize that anyone can throw rocks, but it takes courage to step out and lead. I am determined to be that person who leads us in a direction for the common good of us all.

The order also set the taxing rate at ten cents per $100 property valuation.

The order was approved by a 4-1 vote, with Owens voting no.

In a related action, the court accepted recommendations from the county's E-911 board, which included the hiring of a 911 coordinator.

Bill Dotson of Prestonsburg, was the 911 board's choice for the position after interviewing six other applicants. The salary for the position was set at $18,000 per year.

The board also recommended that the county's Public Service Answering Point (PSAP) be located in the third floor of the county courthouse.

Owens again opposed the hiring move, saying that he wanted to know if the applicant was qualified for the position and how many persons had applied for the job. He also was in favor of locating the PSAP in Prestonsburg City Hall because he said that officials plan to lease the third floor of the courthouse and that putting the PSAP there would cut into rental revenues.

Meyer asked Owens if he favored "going out and paying rent to someone else."

Owens said that the county board of education was looking for new office space and that the entire third floor would accommodate the central office.

Jailer Roger Webb asked if any money from the jail construction account was used to renovate the third floor and, if so, that those funds be reimbursed to the construction account.

Meyer explained that any additional funds in the jail construction account could not be used to renovate the third floor of the courthouse, but some of the money could be used to remove the old bars. Floyd County's new jail facility is expected to be complete by mid-November, Meyer said last week.

The court approved the 911 board's recommendations with Owens voting no.

Also Friday, the court agreed to pay for training for new jail employees, but stopped short of putting them on the county payroll prior to the opening of the new jail.

Webb asked the court to employ seven part-time persons so that they may be trained by the Department of Corrections prior to the opening of the new detention facility.

The jailer threatened "not to open the jail with untrained people," but he could not provide the court with the date or length of the training. It will take 22 employees to operate the new facility, Webb said, and that correction's officials "didn't count the jailer as working."

Meyer said that he was concerned about the overspending in the jail budget.

"My concern is hiring them part-time and they work on a full-time basis," Meyer said. "It's going to blow the budget out of the water if we hire them now and pay them a salary."

County attorney Jim Hammond recommended that the court pay only for the time involved in training the employees.

Owens commented that not one of the employees "was out of my district."

Magistrate Gerald DeRossett commented that he thought governing by districts was "against the law."

The court agreed to pay the employees $5.50 per hour for training.

Those employees are: Darrell Shepherd; Shamron Curtis McKenzie; Shirley Lynn Calhoun; Willard Kidd; Ruby J. Johnson; William R. Callihan; and Linda Sue Caudill.

In other business:

Owens asked Meyer if he would draft a letter to Thunder Ridge managers concerning the lack of facilities inside the race-track for handicapped individuals to watch races. Owens said that Johnny Salyers had to carry his wife up into the grandstand so that she could see the races. During races, Owens said, people stand in front of persons in wheelchairs, blocking their view. Meyer said he would draft the letter and that track officials had met the requirements under the Americans With Disabilities Act.

Residents from Conley Fork, David, Abbott and Johnson Fork asked the court for road repairs. Meyer said that the roads would be reviewed and prioritized, but he could not promise when any work could be done.

Dorothy Osborne thanked Meyer for the job he is doing as judge-executive and said that he had brought integrity and honesty to county government. She also asked that minutes of previous court meetings be made available at the fiscal court meetings. Meyer explained that he would be glad to provide copies of minutes to individuals that requested them, but that it would not be feasible to make a set number of copies. Osborne also complained that a handicapped space in front of the courthouse was occupied by a sheriff's department vehicle.

The court approved resolutions relating to reimbursements from the detention facility construction account; the purchase of a tractor; and emergency transfers.

The court held the first reading of ordinances to close portions of roads at Johnson Fork; Conley Fork; Ivy Creek and Jennies Creek; and to amend the 1995-96 budget.

Solid Waste director Mike Vance reported that the transfer station at Garth should be open by this week and that a countywide cleanup has been tentatively scheduled to begin September 25. Persons having items to be picked up during the clean up should call the solid waste office. The court also approved a contract with Otter Creek Correctional Facility which authorizes the county and the solid waste commission to pay $8,000 each for a six-man crew to be used to pick up litter year 'round.

The court approved the appointments of Bill Harvey Howard to the Cow Creek Fire Department Board of Trustees; Doug Rice to the Solid Waste Commission; and Gary Newman to the Mud Creek Water District Commission.

All members were present at Friday's meeting.

At last month's fiscal court meeting, Hammond made a $20,490 payment toward a reported $111,504 debt to the county for child support employee salary reimbursements.

Meyer said after the August fiscal court meeting that the debt to the county had come about because the county attorney had not made any salary reimbursements to the county in over a year.

In January 1990, the fiscal court adopted a resolution which allowed child support enforcement employees to be paid as county employees and Hammond would reimburse the court 65 percent of their salaries, plus FICA and retirement match.

The court also voted to allow Hammond to keep any and all reimbursements received from the state Division of Child Support Enforcement to be used for discretionary office expense funds and/or compensation.

Since that time, officials with Cabinet for Human Resources, the agency that oversees child support collections, no longer allows county attorneys to receive a percentage of child support monies collected. Last year, the cabinet began reimbursing county attorneys 100 percent of expenses approved by state officials for child support collection services, Gerald Gilpin, assistant director for the state's Division of Child Support Enforcement, said last month.

On Friday, Hammond said that he "agreed with the finality" of the issue.

County treasurer David Allen acknowledged that Hammond had submitted a check to him Friday morning prior to the court meeting.

I Was On Schindler's List airs Saturday

An extraordinary moving story of survival against all odds, I Was on Schindler's List, airs on KET at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, September 23. Yev Kedom shares his harrowing experiences during World War II with veteran newsmen Bill Schechner.

The documentary traces the wartime horrors experienced by Kedom, a young Jewish boy who was placed in the ghetto. In a desperate move, his mother smuggled him into a slave labor camp to increase his odds of survival, and the boy finally found relative sanctuary in the now-famous factory run by Oscar Schindler.

I Was on Schindler's List is remarkable not only because it tells another aspect of the Oscar Schindler story, but also because it discusses unique psychological skills which enabled a mere child to survive the Holocaust.

I Was on Schindler's List is a production of KCSM/San Mateo.

Forest fires still a possibility despite recent heavy rainfall

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

Despite what seemed like an immense amount of rain Saturday and Sunday, Eastern Kentucky is still not out of danger from the possibilities of forest fires, according to the Kentucky Forestry Department.

"We're safe right now," Joe Ferguson, district fire ranger, said. "But all it would take would be a day or two of high winds and sunshine and the danger could be quite high again."

Doug McLaren, extension forestry specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, said the rain gives residents a false sense of security.

"Fall fire season is here again," McLaren said. "These rains might make many people not realize that the need for extra caution in the forests is still necessary."

Ferguson said the rains wet down much of the foliage, but it wasn't a "soaking rain."

"We need more rain, we need a good soaking rain," he said.

"Because of lack of rain throughout the state for so long, conditions have been created for early fires," McLaren said.

Although the normal fall forest fire season usually begins in October, lack of rain has led to numerous reports of fires already, McLaren said. "Before it rained, we were averaging about a fire a day," Ferguson said. "There's been nothing humongous, but we are asking that people not burn until after 4:30 p.m."

"We normally average some 2,000 forest fires annually in Kentucky," McLaren said. "Forest fires have a huge effect on the state's economy in more ways than just the trees that burn."

Trees that don't actually burn are usually damaged enough so that the quality is lower when the tree is eventually sold, he said. That results in fewer dollars for the owner of trees that don't die in the fire.

One-half of Kentucky is covered with timberlands, McLaren said. The state ranks among the top five states annually in hardwood-lumber production, and more than 25,000 people work in the wood industry in the state. Timber shipments from the state reach nearly $1 billion every year.

"That value could rise annually if we did not have the continued burning of timberland — one of the state's most valuable natural resources," he said.

What causes most fires? McLaren said arson is one of the biggest factors. The other is carelessness. "People who start fires don't pay enough attention to putting them out properly and the fires get out of control," McLaren said.

McLaren and Ferguson agree that controlling fires can be simple.

"Don't burn if you don't have to," McLaren said.

"Wait until after 4:30 p.m. if you do," Ferguson added.

Ferguson said the state law prohibiting burning before 4:30 p.m. does not go into effect until October 1. That law states burning is permitted only between 4:30 p.m. and midnight and that only wood byproducts can be burned.

"We're asking people not to burn until after 4:30 p.m.," Ferguson said. "They don't have to do that, but most of them are waiting."

Still, Ferguson is expecting a lot of damage during the fall fire season.

"We had some major fires in the spring fire season and the bad thing about the fall season is that there can be fires in the same place as in the spring because of the new foliage," he said. "We are expecting a pretty rough fire season, but then, we always try to expect the worst."

Development Authority to buy property at Ivel

by Alisa Goodwill
Staff writer

Floyd County's share of coal severance taxes, available through the Local Government Economic Development fund (LGED) controlled by the Kentucky Economic Development Cabinet, will be used to purchase industrial development property near Ivel.

The Floyd County Development Authority currently has an option to buy 35 acres of land on U.S. 23 from Marshall Davidson. More than 20 of those acres will then be sold to R&S Trucking for $600,000.

The authority Monday evening ratified a grant agreement signed by Bill Smith, owner of R&S Trucking, Floyd County Judge-Executive Bob Meyer, Floyd County Development Authority Chairman Burl Spurlock and the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority for the use of coal severance taxes to purchase the property and cover some development costs.

The authority also ratified a purchase option agreement between R&S Trucking and the authority, which confirms that R&S Trucking will purchase the 20 acres.

Spurlock said in the meantime, funds will be needed to pay for preliminary engineering work done by Summit Engineering.

"I don't want to use development authority money to pay bills, if that precludes us from using coal severance tax," Spurlock said.

Meyer said the authority can reimburse itself.

The authority passed a motion to pay all crew bills.

Because of timing between purchasing the Davidson property and selling part of it to R&S Trucking, a small loan will be needed to pay for work done on the property.

Spurlock said the authority would start talking with local banks about the possibility of securing a small loan.

The authority also has funds available from a Community Development Block Grant.

In other business:

Summit Engineering representatives, Jack Sykes and Kevin Howard, submitted three sets of plans and contracts to be approved by the development authority.

The contracts are for earth work at the site, the extension of utilities, and the development of access lanes to the property from U.S. 23.

The authority agreed to begin advertising for bids for site development work on October 4. The development authority will act on the bids at the next regular meeting on October 18.

Authority member Sam Blankenship resigned.

All board members were present. Board member Dolores Smith, an official with R&S Trucking, excused herself from all business involving the Davidson property.

In Loving Memory of our Sister

Lynn Campbell Tussey

On her 35th birthday, September 20, 1995

TO MY SISTER

Don't think I've forgotten nights we'd lie in bed
Things you'd say to scare me, How I'd hide my head
The arguments were your fault
(I'm sure you know it's true)
I took care of your things
Like I was supposed to do
So why when you are far away
Am I lonely and blue
Or have a special secret
Just have to share with you
It's simply because I need you
Our kind of love won't end
You're that rare and special part of me
My sister and my friend
Sadly missed by your family and friends.

Floyd students named merit semifinalists

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

Two Floyd County students have been named National Merit Semifinalists by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Michael P. Slone, a student at Prestonsburg High School, and Neil F. Moore, a student at South Floyd High School, were honored last week.

Slone is the son of Charles and Trish Slone of Prestonsburg. He plans to major in mathematics and become a mathematician.

Moore is the son of Neil and Sharon Moore of McDowell. He plans to major in computer science and become a computer programmer.

The two are among more than 15,000 high school seniors who were chosen as semifinalists in the 41st annual National Merit Scholarship Program.

They will compete for 6,900 Merit Scholarship awards, worth about $26 million, to be awarded next spring.

Slone and Moore entered the competition as juniors when they, along with students at 19,000 other high schools took the Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which served as an initial screen of more than one million applicants. The highest scorers in each state were designated semifinalists in numbers representing about one-half of one percent of the state's high school graduating class.

Before being considered for the awards, semifinalists must advance to the finalist level by fulfilling additional requirements that include having an outstanding academic record, being endorsed and recommended by the high school principal, and submitting SAT scores that confirm the earlier performance. Community involvement and leadership activities will also be considered.

Three types of scholarships will be awarded. Every finalist will be considered for one of 2,000 National Merit $2,000 scholarships to be offered on a state representational basis.

About 1,100 more will receive awards sponsored by corporations, company foundations, and other business organizations. About 200 colleges and universities are expected to sponsor more than 3,800 additional awards.

Internet access now available through PCC

Prestonsburg Community College is one of the sites of a new service from the University of Kentucky and the UK Alumni Association, which are offering access to the information superhighway in conjunction with MCI Communications Corp.

John Jacquay, MCI vice president for State Government and University Systems, and UK President Charles T. Wethington Jr. helped officially launch the new service during ceremonies held recently at the UK Student Center.

UK ONLINE is a major step toward UK's commitment to provide access to information in every corner of the state. This is important in helping to ensure the state's progress toward making technological advancements, Wethington said. "UK ONLINE will help UK students, faculty, staff and members of the UK Alumni Association keep pace with the latest information around the world, and that's what this is all about," Wethington said.

For $12 a month, UK faculty, staff, students and dues-paying members of the UK Alumni Association can gain access to UK ONLINE, allowing them to cruise the Internet. Other friends of UK can gain access for $17 per month. Libraries from Frankfort, to Frankfurt, Germany, are open to users.

The monthly fee includes 15 hours of on-line time if the subscriber is within local telephone reach of the UK in Lexington, a community college such as PCC, or is located in the Northern Kentucky area.

UK officials estimated that 90 percent of all Kentuckians can gain access by dialing a local number. If a local site cannot be accessed, the cost of using the service through a nationwide 800 number is 10 cents a minute.

"What the University of Kentucky is providing to the students, faculty and constituency, not just in Lexington, but in the state of Kentucky, is second to none," Jacquay said.

The UK Alumni Association is offering a homepage on the World Wide Web. "From the alumni perspective, we can now ensure alumni and friends of the university that they can return to the campus any time and any day of the year," said Bob Whitaker, director of the UK Alumni Association.

"This partnership with MCI makes UK a strategic leader in a statewide information network," said Gene Williams, UK vice president for information systems. "Access to information is becoming the cornerstone for advancing education."

Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, PCC President, said, "We at PCC are happy to be able to offer this service to residents of our service area in cooperation with UK and MCI, as part of our policy of opening our campus to the public and offering innovative new services to the community."

This service will be available to anyone with Windows or McIntosh computer software. MCI is responsible for marketing and billing services, all technical support associated with dialing into the system and the e-mail software, Williams said.

Interested persons can get connected by calling UK ONLINE Customer Service at 1-800-808-UOFK (8635). Alumni may join the UK Alumni Association, and be eligible for the discounted rate, by dialing 1-800-269-ALUM (2586).

KET receives U.S. Department of education grant for professional development programming

The U.S. Department of Education's Office of Educational Research and Improvement recently awarded KET a Fund for Improvement in Education grant. The multi-year grant, worth more than $600,000 will be used for professional development programming over KET Star Channels, a satellite delivery system with downlinks in every public school in Kentucky.

The competition for the grants was intense, according to KET's Director of Professional Development Nancy Carpenter. The department reviewed more than 400 other applicants before awarding KET one of only 27 grants. KET will use the grant funding to enhance professional development opportunities for Kentucky educators via satellite as well as to conduct ongoing research and evaluation.

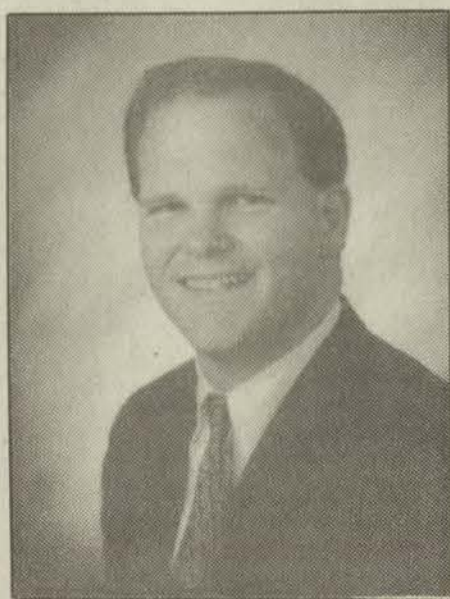

This is the second grant KET has received from the U.S. Department of Education for satellite-delivered professionals development programming. Since its inception in 1989, the KET Professional Development Division has received nearly $1.4 million from private and federal sources for Star Channels Seminars.

These seminars are designed to offer educators practical and relevant information in a wide variety of subject areas and to feature outstanding Kentucky teachers sharing their successes and challenges in implementing new strategies and practices. In six years, KET has produced 377 professional development programs, including 98 programs during the 1994/95 school year. Last year, schools in 118 counties representing 97 percent of all school districts registered for KET Star Channels Seminars. All KET programs are approved by the Kentucky Department of Education for inclusion in a school's or district's overall professional development plan.

Local photographer brings home the gold

Steven G. Porter, M. Photog., CPP of Porter Studio and Associates in Prestonsburg, recently received his Master of Photography Degree and his International Certification of Professional Photography. He also received: two blue ribbons, two red ribbons, and four gold corners of excellence. The finishing touch was to have one of his works accepted into the Walt Disney World's EPCOT Center in Orlando, Florida. These honors were awarded him at the Rosemont Convention Center, Chicago, Illinois.

The Master of Photography Degree is the highest honor a professional image-maker can receive. It is earned for superior photographic competence. Porter began his pursuit of this degree in 1988. He traveled all over the United States in order to receive the education required for this degree. He also entered local, state, mid-east state, national, and international levels of competition in order to satisfy the requirements of the highly esteemed degree.

The International Certification of Professional Photographers is an elite group of 1,600 professional photographers worldwide. It is earned only after meeting rigorous requirements designed to qualify (his or her) artistic, technical, ethical, and business competence. Porter began and accomplished his pursuit of this degree in 1995.

Two of Porter's works were accepted for display at the Professional Photographers of America's international convention 1995. The two which hung internationally were an illustrative "Where Is He!!?" This portrait featured Debra Salyer sitting on a step of a deserted building in Magoffin County holding a flower and looking intently for her detained sweetheart. This work received a blue ribbon of superior excellence and the coveted gold corner of significance. The second, which hung internationally, was also an illustrative, "Lost Dreams." Gabrielle Victoria Porter was shown smeared with dry mud and in a tattered petticoat and clutching a ragged doll. She was gazing hopelessly out of a window of an old abandoned cabin in Tennessee. "Lost Dreams" not only earned a blue ribbon of superior excellence and a gold corner of significant achievement, but was selected by a panel of seventy eminent judges to be chosen for the Loan Collection. The Loan Collection is composed of the top one percent of all print competition entries which totaled 6,000. Porter will receive as additional merit for his Loan Collection print "Lost Dreams." He will apply this merit to the Master Craftsman Degree, which he is currently pursuing. In addition, his Loan Collection print was selected for a special display at Walt Disney World's EPCOT Center in Orlando, Florida.

Porter was also accepted into the American Society of Professional Photographers. This is a distinguished honor for a select group of Master Photographers. Porter has also been a member of Kentucky Professional Photographers since 1988. He was accepted into membership of the Ohio Valley Professional Photographers in 1993. He has been a member of the Professional Photographers of America since 1988.

Prestonsburg Community College has bestowed the honor of having the Porters hang many of their works in The Gallery located in the Magoffin Building. These works, entitled, "The Master's Collection" are on display now through October. A reception will be given on Thursday, September 21, from 5p.m.-8 p.m. in honor of the artist.

Saga continues but end is here now; basketball

We certainly opened a can of worms, didn't we?

Here's part three. Phone conversation with Susan Gibson, who's husband, Dwayne, coached the Allen Central Little Rebs last year.

"The grade school football equipment was collected from last season and turned in," she says.

Susan wanted to set the record straight about last season.

After a conversation with Coach Glenn Reeves, there is no doubt he and the rest support grade school football. Reeves said he even gave the grade school program some shoulder pads this year.

It is very interesting how you can take something that is nothing and make that nothing into something when all the time it is really nothing.

FOOTBALL....

Can you believe that after Friday night's games the season will be half over?

What a first half it has been.

Three programs that have been door mats for the rest of the football world, have suddenly blossomed into solid programs. That can be attributed to the programs starting to reap from their grade school system.

• Allen Central. Coach Reeves has done a super job in turning this program around. The Rebels, mostly juniors, have some very talented sophomores as well and they will have to be reckoned with the rest of the way and next year.

• Betsy Layne. What can you say about the Bobcats that hasn't already been said. Just a super season for Coach Derossett's ballclub. This team loves to hit hard and is indicative of their coach. A solid front line and back field, Betsy Layne could be playoff bound.

• South Floyd. A very young team. Lots of talent here that will make Coach Daniels forget the bad facilities his team has to play on. I like the young players who are taking a leadership role. This program is ready to come out of it.

Let's go ahead and talk about Prestonsburg. Tradition. Prestonsburg has that going for them where the other teams don't. The Blackcats are young, but after Friday night's win, they could be on their way to a good season.

Mark this name down in your book of names to remember. John Ortega. Just a freshman. Destined to be an outstanding football player. He doesn't play like a freshman.

Another one. Nick Compton. A sophomore at South Floyd. Getting more confidence with each game. He is going to be a very good

Pikeville Panthers blitz South Floyd 87-14

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Pikeville Panthers had possession of the football on 11 occasions, and scored on every possession as they rolled to a 87-14 win over visiting South Floyd this past Friday night.

Pikeville, the state's second ranked 1A team, had little difficulty moving the football either on the ground or in the air.

On the other hand, the Pikeville defensive line was too much for the Raiders as there was no running room to be found.

Ketran Mays, feature back for the Raiders, finished with 49 yards rushing on 18 carries. He had 70 yards on the ground, but had a negative 21 yards.

With the Pikeville defense keying on Mays, Chet McCarty, Shane McCray and Heath Hall got some tries against the Pikeville defense. Hall rushed for 28 yards on six tries and McCarty finished with ten yards on 11 attempts. McCray ran for 17 yards.

"I'm glad to have this one over with," South Floyd Coach Donnie

Daniels said. "We didn't have any serious injuries, except being bruised up some."

Aaron Hall came home with a bruised bicep, but that was the extent of the injuries. Hall had six receptions for 98 yards as the Raiders found passing the ball the way past the Panthers.

Sophomore quarterback Nick Compton passed for 138 yards on 11 of 23 passes. Terrance Mullins had one reception for 17 yards and Mays caught four passes for 21 yards.

"Nick had a good game for us," Daniels said. "He is getting better and better each game. He's learned when to turn the ball loose and he knows when to go down with it."

Panther quarterback Doug Powers felt the rush of the Raiders on defense as he was sacked twice, once by Scotty Johnson and again by Aaron Caudill.

Daniels said he felt that with the one-sided score, neither team came away a winner.

"There was no winner in this game," he said. "Hillard's (Howard) team outscored us on the score board, but neither of us accomplished anything. We didn't learn anything from a game like this."

South Floyd came out throwing the football as they took first possession on their own 20-yard line. The Raiders marched 80 yards for the touchdown when Mays ran into the end zone with 8:35 left in the first quarter to give South Floyd a 6-0 lead.

But it only took six plays for Pikeville to erase that advantage. In a drive that started on the Panthers' 25, Powers, on a keeper, scampered in untouched from one yard out and

Bobcats hand Powell County 24th straight loss

In front of a large home crowd that gathered to watch the Betsy Layne Bobcats (4-0) entertain the Powell County Pirates (0-4), Coach John Derossett's ballclub helped Powell County extend the state's longest losing streak to 24 straight games.

Ray Lyons and Billy Mitchell lead the Bobcat offense to a 49-6 rout of the visiting Powell County team on a night when Lloyd Hamilton and family were inducted into Betsy Layne High School Hall of Fame. The Hamilton family was presented with a plaque before the game.

But the Bobcats didn't seem to need any extra incentives to keep playing good football. The school is off to its best start in school history and has ran off victories in its first four games.

Both Lyons and Mitchell scored two touchdowns each and Lyons rushed for 107 yards while Chris Hicks gained 78 yards on the ground. Lyons rushed for more than 100 yards in each of the four games.

Missing from the game was wide-out Timmy Nunnemaker who suffered a broken collar bone while warming up for last week's Morgan County game.

"Timmy was our fastest player," Derossett said. "We really miss his big-play potential on offense and his defense at left corner."

Derossett said Nunnemaker would be out from three to four weeks.

Betsy Layne rushed for 305 yards while quarterback Craig Hamilton completed three of five passes for 57 yards giving the Bobcats 362 offensive yards.

Defensively, Jarrod Newsome continues to lead the on-rushing Bobcats. He has become the talk of the region on the football level. Newsome had eight tackles in the game. Bobo Hall and Wes Collins each had seven. Chris Hamilton, all 140 pounds of him, came up with six first hits while Nick Newsome and Rod Hamilton had five tackles each.

Betsy Layne set the early rout with two touchdowns in the first quarter. Lyons gave the early lead of 6-0 on a six-yard run in the first period. Later, Willie Meade took a 25-yard pass from Hamilton into the end zone to give the Bobcats a 12-0 advantage after the first period.

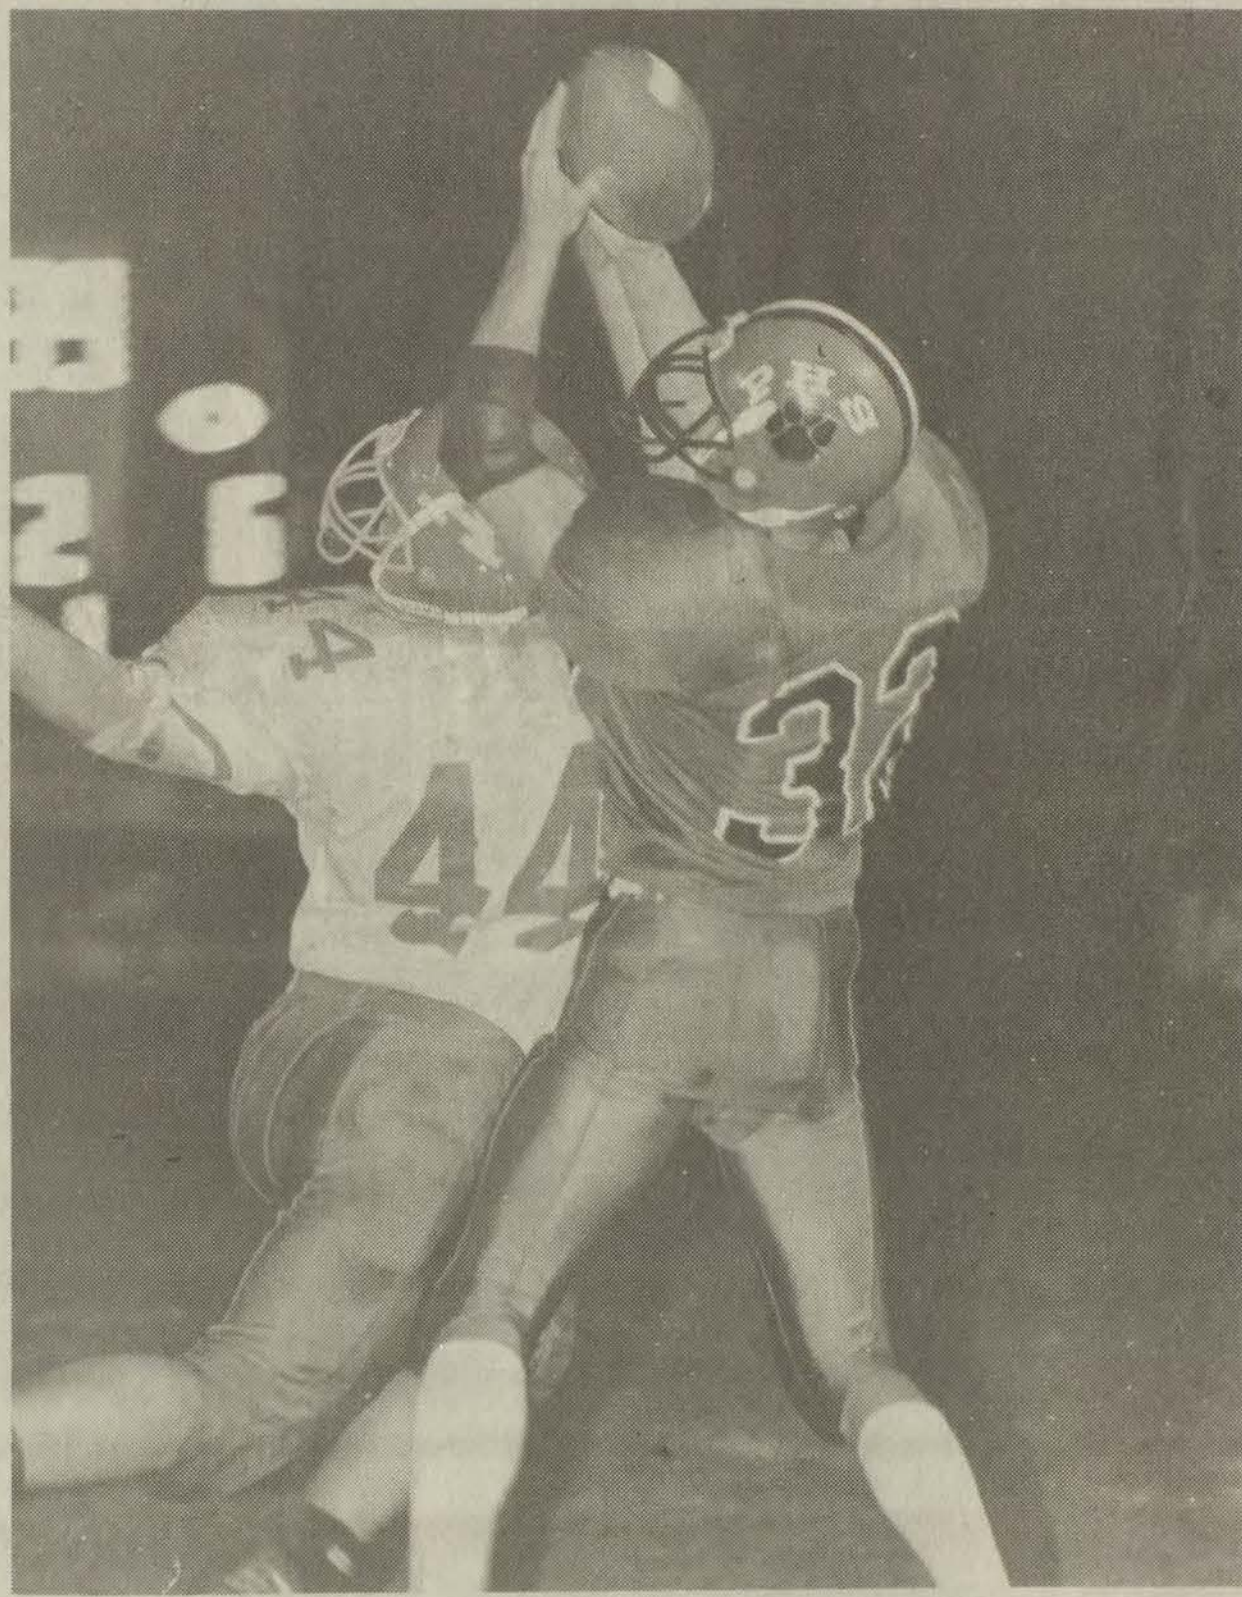

The Bobcats roared in the second period by scoring four times as the rout was on.

Lyons scored again on a nine-yard spurt and Hamilton ran the two point conversion for a 20-0 game. Powell County was forced to punt the ball after a four-and-out situation. Billy

Mitchell took the punt and scampered 46 yards for the touchdown and Lyons' conversion run made it

Prestonsburg's John Ortega (32) went high over the back of Allen Central's Matt Varney (44) and hauled in this pass from quarterback Mike Castle for a 26-yard pick up. ## Paintsville wins both divisions in cross-country

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Nine men's and five women's cross-country teams competed Thursday night at Paintsville Lake with Paintsville High School taking first place in each division.

Overall first place for individuals went to Allen Central's Jesse Robertson with a time of 20:05. Allen Central placed second with 74 points while Paintsville had 55.

Raceland, Feds Creek and Prestonsburg rounded out the top five schools. Lawrence County was sixth, South Floyd seventh, Sheldon Clark eighth and Phelps ninth.

Ryan Hardee, first-place finisher two weeks ago, finished second in the men's division with a time of 20:33. Prestonsburg's Kyle Conley was clocked at 21:30 for fifth place and Allen Central's Jay Harvey ran in seventh place with a time of 21:44.

Travis Bell and Shad Walters of Paintsville finished fourth and eighth respectively. Bell was timed at 21:27, while Harvey came in at 22:00.

"Our kids ran very well," Allen Central Coach Dewey Jamerson said. "Paintsville had a new kid out (Bell) who is tough. Time-wise, we were about the same as we ran a week ago."

"There were a lot of runners out with nine teams taking part. Jesse ran real well for us," Jamerson said.

Jamerson's team took part in the Boyd County Invitational this past weekend and he said the Paintsville meet was a good warmup for the Boyd County meet.

"I wasn't really that concerned over our times at Paintsville," he said. "We had some runners who took some time off the previous meet. We're looking at going to Boyd County this weekend (last Saturday)."

Castle passes Prestonsburg past Allen Central 28-14

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Crucial turnovers early added up to a 28-14 setback for the Allen Central Rebels (1-3) as they faced the Prestonsburg Blackcats (1-3) Friday night at the Prestonsburg stadium before a packed audience.

The game marked the first time the two schools met on the gridiron.

The win snapped a three-game losing streak for Prestonsburg and gave the team its first district win. Both teams are 1-1 in district play.

It was a game of reverses as fans saw Allen Central do something they hadn't done in the previous three games — run the football. Where Allen Central had been successful before, Prestonsburg was the one who went to the air.

Allen Central, known for its passing attack, kept the ball on the ground and in the hands of halfback Beau Tackett. On the other side, Prestonsburg, known for its running attack, went with one quarterback and found success in the air. Coach Bill Letton had been alternating Mike Castle and Keith Marsillett at the quarterback slot.

Junior quarterback Castle was outstanding and freshman John Ortega equal as Castle completed five passes for 157 yards passing. Ortega was on the receiving end of three catches for 107 yards. Jon Estep had a 26-yard catch and Keith Marsillett pulled down a pass for 24 yards.

"We threw the ball a lot more tonight," said Castle. "We felt that we had to open it up a little bit. Our run was there all night. We finally sucked it up and we played a little bit. We played a lot better on defense."

"John (Ortega) can catch the ball. He has a good set of hands. He's a real nice freshman. I love having him out there," he said.

Castle said he feels going with one quarterback will be the format for the remainder of the Blackcats' season. "I guess so," he said. "I hope. It's a little bit more consistent."

Marsillett's catch was an option play that went from Castle to Jon Morris who hit Marsillett with the touchdown pass.

Allen Central had control of the football and was moving up field when Jason Blackburn picked off a pass that bounced off the hands of wideout Thomas Jenkins. Blackburn cut across field and headed down the sidelines untouched for a 57-yard touchdown return. Morris ran the two-point conversion for an 8-0 game with 8:39 left in the opening period.

After an exchange of possessions, Allen Central got on the score board with 11 seconds left in the first period. Estill Stumbo returned a punt to the Prestonsburg 46 to give the Rebels good field position. Coleman mixed up his running game as the Blackcats were keying off Tackett.

Mike Goble picked up a first down with a ten-yard gainer while Matt Varney and Gordon Reeves carried for a first down. Tackett picked up 13 yards and a third first-down in the series for Allen Central with Reeves moving the ball to the Prestonsburg two-yard line where Tackett took it in for the score to make it an 8-6 game after the conversion attempt failed.

Estep gave the Blackcats excellent field position for Prestonsburg, returning the football to the Allen Central 40-yard line before being driven out of bounds.

After a holding penalty set the Blackcats back ten yards, Castle found Estep on the left side for a 26-yard completion and a first down on the Rebels' 20-yard line.

On a third-and-six play, Castle was intercepted at the five and Allen Central took over.

But the possession was short-lived as Gordon Reeves picked up 11 yards, but the ball popped free after the hit and Waylon Bevin found the ball in his hands and the Blackcats took over. The turnover proved crucial as Prestonsburg took six plays to score when Morris hit Marsillett with a 24-yard touchdown pass and Morris ran the conversion for a 16-6 game. The score remained 16-6 at the half even though the Rebels did move the ball to the Prestonsburg 35 only to have the Cats take over on downs.

Penalties hurt Prestonsburg at the start of the third period as the Rebels got some help from three consecutive penalties, four in the series, to push the Blackcats to their own two-yard line.

Prestonsburg punted out of the end zone to give Allen Central excellent field position at the Blackcats' 34.

Tackett carried the ball 31 of the 34 yards to pay dirt and then ran the two-point conversion to pull his team to within two, 16-14 with the approval of the large Allen Central following.

But that would be all the Rebels could manage the rest of the way as Castle dominated the fourth quarter

BRYAN STATION DUO

Station's Wendell Childs, a 6-1, 197-pound senior, had two touchdowns (5 & 19 yards) in a 21-20 loss to crosstown rival Bates Creek. Also for Station, Habb Burnam (6-0, 174, JR) picked off two Commodore passes.

BIG "D"

Central Hardin's defense has put the hurt on its first two opponents. The Bruins recorded the schools' first back-to-back shutouts with a 31-0 blanking of Fort Knox.

OFFENSIVE COLONEL COUPLE

In two games, Christian County's Joey Rogers has thrown the ball 54 times, completing 28 times for 435 yards and three touchdowns. Teammate Torry Ware (5-8, 200, SR) has tallied 306 yards and two touchdowns.

TIGER TIDE

Clay County rode the wave of Travis Smith (6-2, 215, JR) who rushed for 159 yards on 17 carries in the Tiger's 34-0 win over Perry County Central.

DIXON DOES IT ALL

Cumberland's Tim Dixon (5-9, 160, JR) scored three touchdowns on runs of 63, 26, and six yards in helping the Panthers with a come-from-behind 26-18 win over Cawood. He also blocked a punt and returned it for a score.

Teammate Jason Mullins (5-9, 200, JR) led the defense with 21 sacks, including a quarterback sack and an interception.

BIG FOOT

Daviess County's Matt Arnold (5-10, 180, SR) booted three field goals for the Panthers against Christian County. Arnold was good from 37, 13 and 31 yards and has tallied 23 points on the season.

BIG HANDS

Louisville Doss' Lavell Boyd (6-3, 175, SR) snarled five catches totaling 141 yards in helping Doss improve its record to 2-0 with a 27-18 win over Holy Cross. Of the five receptions, one included a 82-yard reception for a Dragon score.

GO WES YOUNG MAN

Edmonson County's Wes Vincent (5-9, 150, JR) broke his own school record in a 39-30 win over Grayson. Vincent rushed for 343 yards on 40 carries scoring six touchdowns. For the season, he has 653 yards on 66 attempts with 11 touchdowns.

HOLD THAT LINE

Fulton City's Daniel Lusk garnered seven tackles and an interception in a 19-6 Bulldog win over Greenfield (Tn.). He also had four pass deflections and one fumble recovery in helping Fulton raise its mark to 1-1.

GOOD GRANT

Grant's Mitch Howard (5-11, 185, SO) carried the ball for 185 yards on 18 tries with one touchdown in a 20-10 win over Owen County. Teammate Jim Mayberry (6-1, 185, SO) had a 45-yard touchdown reception and returned an interception for 21 yards.

SMASHING RECORDS

Graves County's Ishmail Farris set a second school record in as many weeks with three interceptions in the Eagles' 7-0 win over Paducah Tilghman. Farris was on the receiving end of a record-breaking 81-yard touchdown pass the prior week from quarterback Brian Ramsey.

MVP

Harlan's senior linebacker Thomas Goss earned "MVP" honors in the Alumni Reunion Classic when Harlan posted a 20-0 win over Evarts. Goss had 10 tackles (three for losses) and a pass deflection in the win.

BE-DEVIL-ED

Henry Clay's Kurt Cohan earned game MVP honors after setting a school record with three interceptions in a 37-6 win over Knox Central.

MAD MATT

McLean County's Matt Melloy (5-9, 170, JR) rushed for 250 yards and two touchdowns in a 27-14 Cougar win over Muhlenberg south.

WORKING OVERTIME

The Morgan-Allen Central game lasted four overtimes. Allen Central prevailed in the marathon contest with a 40-34 win. With the score tied 34-34 in the third overtime, Morgan County had a chance to pick up the win, but failed to convert on a point-after-touchdown attempt.

FAST START

North Bullitt's Kevin Crisp (6-0, 175, JR) rushed for 172 yards on 30 carries with one touchdown in a 9-7 win over 1994 Class AA runner-up Bullitt East. Crisp also had two interceptions and seven tackles in helping North Bullitt (2-0) off to its best start since 1986 when the Eagles went 10-0 in the regular season.

Fred Dean set a new school rushing record with 281 yards on just 10 carries in Lawrence County's 41-21 win over Boyd County. Another Bulldog mark was set with 524 yard rushing in the contest.

DOUBLE DUTY

Lincoln County's Dave Francis (5-7, 165, SR) did it on both sides of the line for the Patriots last week. He ran for 141 yards and a touchdown with one reception. On the other side, he had four solo tackles and two sacks for 23 yards.

NO RUSH

Madison Central allowed only four yards rushing on 24 carries in a 48-14 win over Scott High. Leading the

Rain fails to dampen spirits in golf scramble

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

For days — no make that months — Eastern Kentucky has experienced a long dry spell. Rain has been needed for the lawns, water systems and other items.

This Saturday the area got that needed rain, but for the folks hosting the Christ United Methodist Church annual golf outing, the rain could have stayed away one more day.

But the rains fell on the Beaver Valley Golf Course at Allen and the golf outing went on as scheduled.

"We got to the course and around 9 a.m. it wasn't raining and I told them it looked like we were going to play golf," Frankie Francis said. "They said, 'Let's play.'"

After those encouraging words, the heavens opened and the water descended on the course.

But while the rains fell, the spirits were high and the tournament was completed.

Darkness caught up with the group as golfers were trying to settle third-place. After ten holes of a sudden-death play off, the tournament was called because of darkness and the $200 prize money for third place was split between the two teams.

First place went to the foursome of Charles Adkins, David Vanhoose, Danny Blankenship and R. Hale. The foursome shot a 19-under-par for a new tournament record. They also took home the $1,000 prize money.

Second place went to last year's defending champions, the team of Kevin Alton, Stevie Halbert, Wess Halbert and Marty Gibson. The four split the $300 prize money.

Several other prizes were awarded during the day. Alton won a golf bag for his longest drive on hole eight. The drive was 307 yards.

Darren Conn and Todd Lucas each took home a putter for the closest to the hole prize. Conn came the closest to the hole on hole one and Lucas did the same on hole three.

The winner of the four-day vacation went to Whittensville's Clarence David Adams. Adams had his choice of vacationing in Myrtle Beach, Branson, Missouri, Hilton Head, Nashville, Tennessee, Orlando, Florida or Washington, D.C.

"We had a great turnout for a wet, rainy day," said Kenneth LeMaster, pastor of the Christ United Methodist Church. "We want to extend thank you's to everyone who helped with the tournament and to those who gave us prizes and donations."

First place prize money came from Willard Kinzer of Kinzer Drilling. Delno May of May Metal sponsored the second-place prize while Bill Slone was responsible for the third place prize.

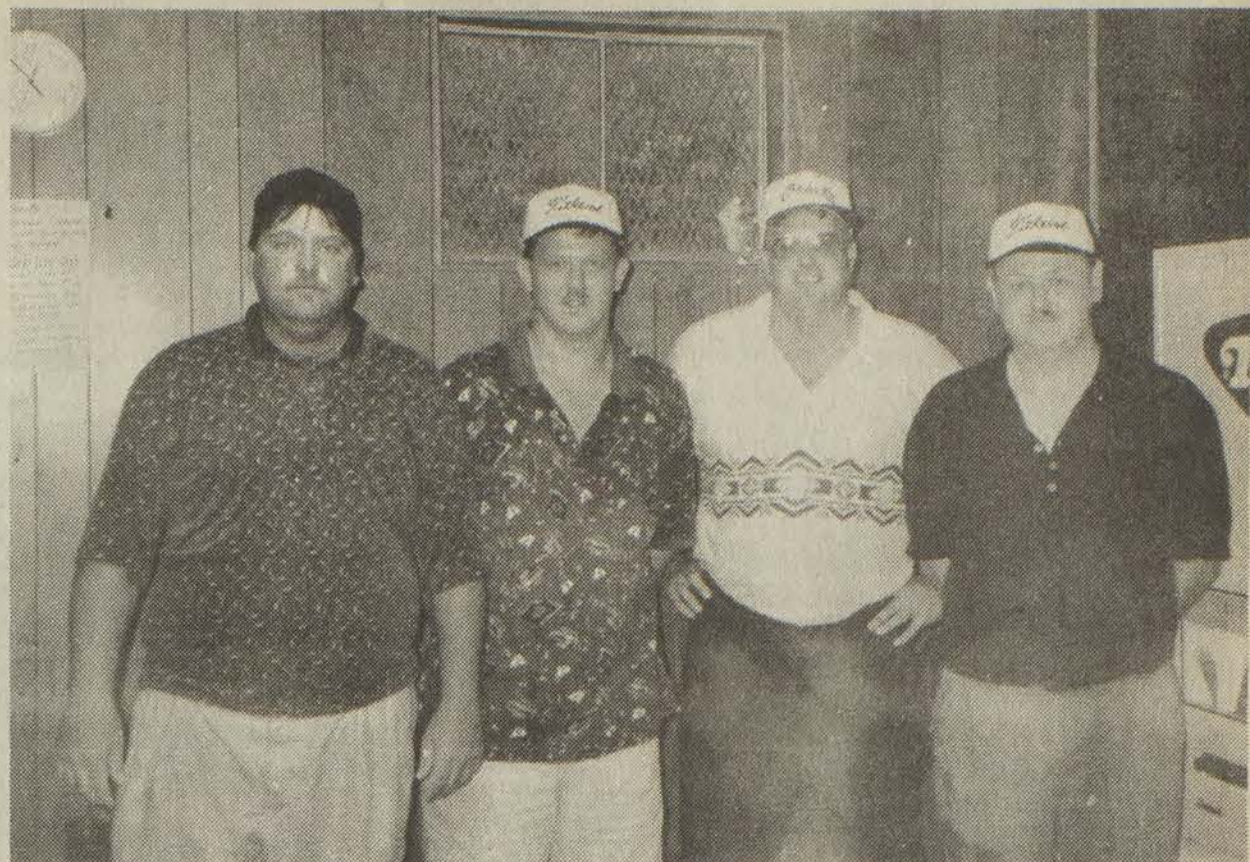

Drinks and the four-day vacation were courtesy of Barry Roser and Wilburn Sammons of Pepsi Cola.

Christ United Methodist Church golf results

2nd place: Kevin Alton, Stevie Halbert, Wess Halbert, Marty Gibson.

3rd place: Two teams tied for third place: Darren Conn, Coon Straton, Brian Whitaker, Evritt Patton; Larry Woods, Stevie Newsome, Johnny Ray Turner, Doug Hall.

Kevin Alton, Stevie Halbert, Wess Halbert and Marty Gibson placed second in the Christ United Methodist Church Golf Scramble this past Saturday at the Beaver Valley Golf Course. The foursome took home $300 in prize money. Rain failed to cancel the tournament.

'Let it rain, let it rain...'

Just like the mail man, rain could not slow down or stop an avid golfer from getting in his playing time as demonstrated by Johnny Ray Turner, who played in the Christ United Methodist Church golf scramble Saturday at the Beaver Valley Golf Course. Despite the rain, the tournament was a success.

Victorious foursome

The foursome of Danny Blankenship, R. Hale, David Vanhoose and Charlie Adkins had plenty to smile about after winning the second annual Christ United Methodist Church golf scramble this past Saturday. The golfers took home the $1,000 prize money.

Bassin' with the Pros

BUZZ BAITS OFTEN WORK WELL THIS TIME OF YEAR

If you open a bass pro's tacklebox this time of year, you'll find the usual assortment of jigs, spinnerbaits, and crankbaits, but chances are, right on top you'll also find a selection of topwater blade lures known as buzz baits.

"During the fall and early winter months when water temperatures are cooling and bass are moving shallow to feed, a buzz bait can produce excellent catches," explains former fisheries biologist Ken Cook, now a full-time tournament competitor and a member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff.

"Buzz baits are lures that seem to attract big bass, too, and at times the lures will bring strikes when all other lures fail."

Cook has several suggestions for fall buzz bait fishing, the first of which is to always try to work the lure as slowly as possible.

"There seems to be something in the noise and vibration a slow, clattering buzz bait produces that just tantalizes bass into striking," he says. "I've seen bass follow a buzz bait for several seconds before hitting, as if they're actually thinking about how good it's going to taste."

One trick Cook has used in the autumn that sometimes makes buzz baits even more appealing to bass is to replace the lure's skirt with a plastic grub or imitation shad.

"I know that in the fall bass are feeding heavily on shad so by adding one to the buzz bait we are probably helping to make the lure more visually appealing," he says. "The slow turning blade creates commotion on top of the water that captures the attention of the bass, and then it sees what appears to be an injured shad thrashing on the surface, so it strikes."

The Evinrude pro also notes that at times a colored blade on the buzz bait seems to draw more strikes than a normal silver one does.

"I'm not really sure why," Cook explains, "except that perhaps the blade is more visually important than we have previously thought in attracting bass. I have talked to a number of anglers who found that chartreuse blades, matched with a blue/chartreuse skirt, brought more strikes than a more traditional white/silver skirt with a silver blade."

Cook believes the best places to use buzz baits are around shallow cover, such as shoreline stumps, weedbeds, boat houses, and the rock riprap around dams and bridges.

"Bring the lure as close to objects as possible, even bumping them," he advises, "and don't hesitate to make several casts to the same target if you feel it may hold a bass."

"If a bass is there, sooner or later it's going to strike."

The service experts at OMC recommend bass boaters and other high performance enthusiasts install a water pressure gauge on their boat. Outboards can lose water pressure if the motor is trimmed or raised too high, or if the water intake is covered with weeds or mud. Loss of water pressure can lead to overheating. A water pressure gauge gives earlier warning of trouble than an engine temperature gauge.

USE DIFFERENT LINES TO CHANGE LURE ACTION

Sometimes when he wants to do something different to fool a bass into hitting, tournament pro David Wharton changes lines instead of lures.

"Line weight, or diameter, and how it effects lure action is probably one of the most over-looked aspects of bass fishing," explains the Texas pro. "Most anglers think only in terms of line strength, or pound test ratings, but you have to consider lure action, too."

Wharton, a member of the Johnson Outboards Pro Staff and a former guide on Sam Rayburn Reservoir, has even won national tournaments because his choice of line made his lures work differently.

"Several years ago during a tournament on Sam Rayburn I used thick, heavy 17 pound test line on a crankbait instead of my normal 10 or 12 pound test," Wharton remembers. "The heavier line kept the lure from diving as deep."

"The fish were located about five feet down, right over the top of submerged hydrilla, and that's where I was able to keep my crankbait. If I had used lighter line, the lure would have kept diving down into the grass and I wouldn't have caught the fish."

The basic rule of thumb, says Wharton, is to use the lightest, thinnest line possible for the conditions, because all lures perform better and more easily with lighter line. Casting is also easier because lighter lines are more flexible.

"Two factors that have to be considered when you choose line weight are the amount of cover present, and the size of fish you're likely to catch," continues the Johnson pro.

"For example, you normally use heavier lines with spinnerbaits and jigs because these are lures you fish around heavy cover. They have more abrasion resistance and won't fray as easily."

"Also, a spinnerbait is a lure you normally fish fairly shallow and bring straight back to you without stopping. It's a reaction-strike lure bass hit without ever seeing your line, so heavier line can be used."

Wharton also uses heavy line when fishing large topwater lures like chuggers and buzz baits. The reason here is because these particular lures often attract big bass.

When he wants his crankbaits to reach maximum depth, or when he's fishing clear water and line visibility is a factor, Wharton changes to a lighter, thinner diameter line.

"You can add one to two feet of depth to a crankbait by changing from 17 pound test line to 10 pound test," he explains, "and with the lighter line the lure will wobble and rattle like it's supposed to."

"In clear water, a slow, finesse-type lure presentation is normally best, but this gives bass time to see both the lure and the line. You want them to see the lure, of course, but you change to a lighter, thinner diameter line that becomes nearly invisible under the surface."

Allen Central places sixth at Boyd County meet

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Allen Central men and women's cross-country team headed to Ashland Saturday despite heavy rain and took part in the Boyd County Invitational Cross-Country Meet at Wildwood Park in Ashland.

The steadily falling rain resulted in a slick course and caused problems with runners.

Allen Central placed sixth in the meet (both boys and girls) as 56 runners took part.

For the women, Dayton High School took first place with 30 points followed by Green County (52) Holy Cross (65), Frankfort (72), Lexington Catholic (134) and Allen Central (163). Fairview and Villa Madonna competed, but did not score.

For the men, Frankfort placed first overall with 41 points followed by Green County (58), Bishop Brosart (70), Lexington Catholic (75), Holy Cross (102) and Allen Central (172).

"It was a terrible day for running," Allen Central Coach Dewey Jamerson said. "It was raining and the course was slick. It just wasn't a good day to run."

While the course was not in favorable condition, Jamerson said his teams did well.

"We really didn't run that badly," he said. "We ranged from 30 seconds to two minutes slower than our normal times. It wasn't bad for that course. We came down here last year and it rained then."

"The competition here is very good. Competition like at this meet is good for your teams. It shows them the things they have to do to get better and get ready for the regionals."

Jamerson said the experience his teams gathered from the invitational was great.

"We're trying to do with cross-country what we did with track and field when we were starting. We go when don't even score a point. It's the experience that we're going for.

"In cross-country, when you run against top competition and lose, it doesn't crush your confidence like in basketball or football. You feel you ran your best and the competition was tough.

"Annie (Harvey) didn't run again for us. She is still sick. The weather was cool and I may have more that get sick on me," he said.

Jesse Robertson posted a time of 20:55 for 21st place in the invitational. Jay Harvey had a time of 23:02 for 32nd place. James Seward posted a 24:00 for 36th place.

Freshman Brian Jones held off a Dayton runner down the stretch to help Allen Central to its sixth-place finish.

"If Brian doesn't win down the stretch, we finish lower than sixth," Jamerson said.

Jones finished 42nd with a time of 26:28. Chris Damron, an eighth grader, placed 44th at 26:29 and Wade Damron was 45th at 28:52.

For the women, Dreama Isaac placed 21st overall and Pam Goble ran in at 35th. Crystal Martin placed 39th and Amanda Samons 40th. Mary Baldrige and Heather Conley ran at 44th and 45th.

"Placement in the meet was tough, but time-wise, not bad," the Allen Central coach said.

Allen Central has still two invitational meets remaining on its schedule and Jamerson said one could "be a monster."

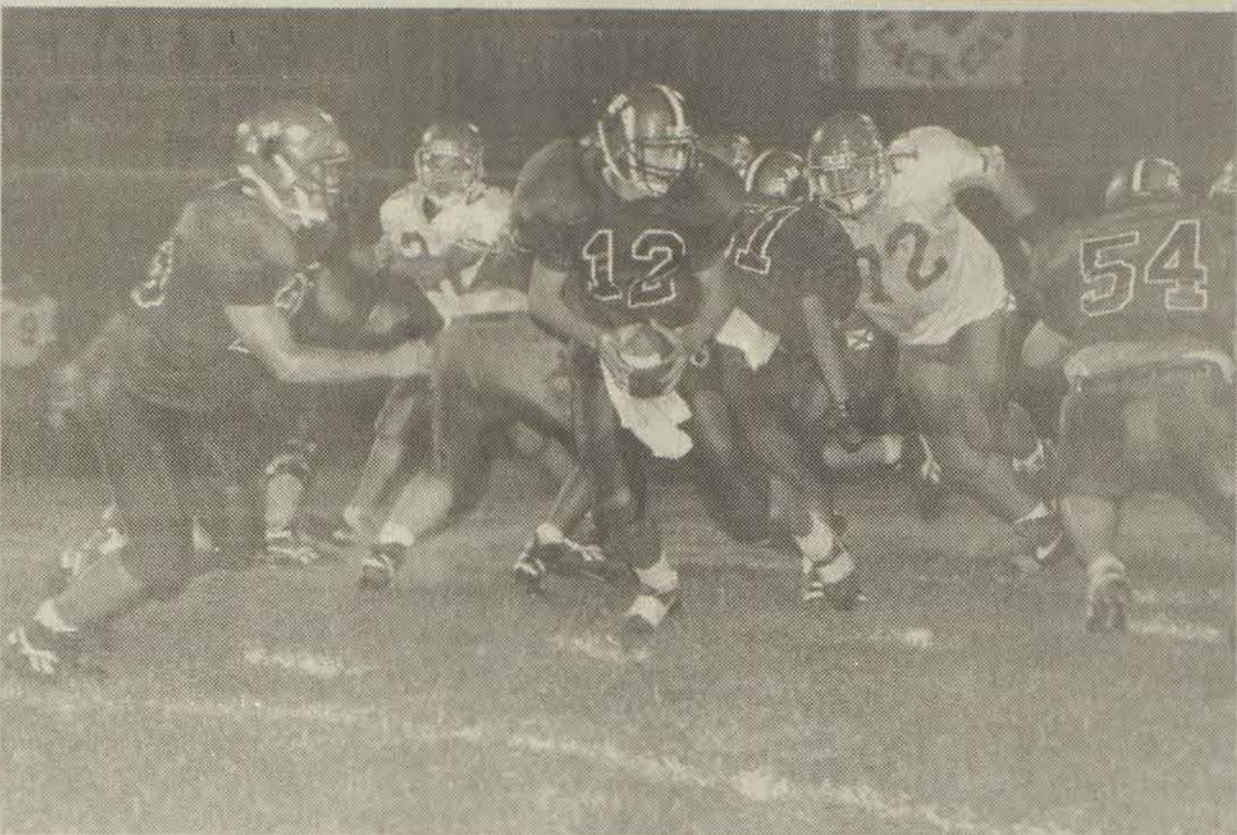

"We go to Berea on October 7 and then to Pulaski County October 14," he said. "I'm afraid the one at Pulaski County will be a monster of a meet. But that will only help us get ready for the regionals later in October. It will give us a chance to look at some teams we don't know much about."

Allen Central will run this Thursday evening at the Paintsville Lake.

Big game

Prestonsburg quarterback Mike Castle (12) prepared to hand off to Chad Spurlock (29), left, as the Blackcats battled county foe Allen Central Friday night. Castle completed five passes for 157 yards and a 28-14 win over the Rebels. It was the first win of the season for Prestonsburg. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Try this one: Ketrin May. Another one of those talented sophomores that Coach Daniels has at South Floyd. Needs to beef up some, but in front of a blocking line could rack up some numbers before he leaves.

Pencil this one in. Billy Mitchell, Betsy Layne. Has all the tools to be a good one for the Bobcats. Runs the ball well.

CROWDS....

What a big crowd at the Allen Central/Prestonsburg game. It just shows what the county games can do to the gate receipts. Hey, let's have our own Floyd County Bowl featuring our four teams. Can you imagine the crowd it would draw? We could alternate the teams each year. It would be a shot in the arm for county football.

RECOGNITION....

Before we get too deep into football history at schools like Allen Central, Betsy Layne and South Floyd, each school should start having their own Hall of Fame. Each year, one player or maybe two should be inducted into the Hall in recognition of what they contributed to the football program. This could cover past players, coaches, supporters and others. It would add a little extra to following the teams.

Past Wheelwright teams could be included in South Floyd's. They had some outstanding football players. Just an idea.

BASKETBALL....

Did you know that girls' grade school basketball is underway at Adams Middle School? The Lady Blackcats have played one game already in the Mountain Middle School Conference.

Adams has a game scheduled for this Thursday, September 21 on the road at Johnson County Middle School. The next home game is set for next Monday, September 25 against Inez.

Remaining schedule looks like this:

- September 28 vs. Herald Whitaker, home.
- October 2 vs. Warfield, away.
- October 9 vs. Paintsville, away.
- October 12 vs. Johnson County Middle, home.
- October 16 vs. Inez, away.
- October 18 vs. Herald Whitaker, away.
- October 23, 24, 25 Middle School Tournament.

Adams will schedule county teams at the upcoming meeting on September 28 when all the county grade schools get together to do their scheduling.

But go out and support the young ladies.

Until Friday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Seven to be inducted into Belfry's Football Hall of Fame

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

It has always been a battle on the gridiron when the best two teams in Pike County meet on the 100-yard field.

Friday night, the Pikeville Panthers and Belfry Pirates will hook in their annual rivalry, this time in Belfry.

While fans may turn out to take in the battle on the gridiron, they also will be part of the ceremonies to induct seven former players into the Belfry High School Hall of Fame.

From the 1956-1960 era, George D. Scott will be honored by becoming part of the Hall of Fame. Scott participated four years in athletics while attending Belfry High School which included baseball, basketball, football and track. He received several awards and honors, such as First Team in baseball from the Williamson Daily News All-Area Team. He was also the Williamson Daily News Amateur Baseball Player of the Year runner-up in 1959.

He was named to the Courier-Journal All-State Honorable Mention in 1959 and was the All-Around Athlete of the Year in 1959. He resides at Hardy.

Walter Brooks Catron Jr. was part of the basketball, baseball and football teams as well as track during the 1958-62 era. He earned 12 letters in athletics at Belfry in his four years at the Pike County school. He was first team All-Area in football and basketball.

Catron attended Boise College, Virginia State University and Marshall University.

Richie Phillips was in the class of 1972 and was a three-year letterman in football at Belfry where he served as team captain. He played the offensive guard slot as well as a defensive linebacker. He was named to the EKMC team and was a member of the Pike County All-Area team.

Michael Bradley Binder was a four-year member of the Pirates' football and baseball teams, where he excelled in hard ball. He won 20 games pitching for the Pirates and during his junior year, he allowed only one earned run. He had a career batting average of .425 while hitting 15 home runs and collecting 60 extra base hits.

After graduation, he enrolled at Marshall University and graduated in 1984.

The Hall of Fame committee did not forget the women who made athletics at Belfry successful. Tammy Tussey (1981-85) will be inducted for her four years of service to the basketball program at Belfry.

She was the starting point guard her junior year with the Lady Pirates when Belfry was runner-up in the state tournament in 1984. Her team was Olympic Champs in 1983-84 when she played point guard.

At Belfry she averaged 21 points, six assists, six rebounds and had a field goal percentage of 55 percent while hitting 87 percent of her free throws.

One of the area's top women's basketball coaches also spent her high school days at Belfry and is the school's head coach, Cynthia Paige Stuart attended Belfry from 1980 to 1984.

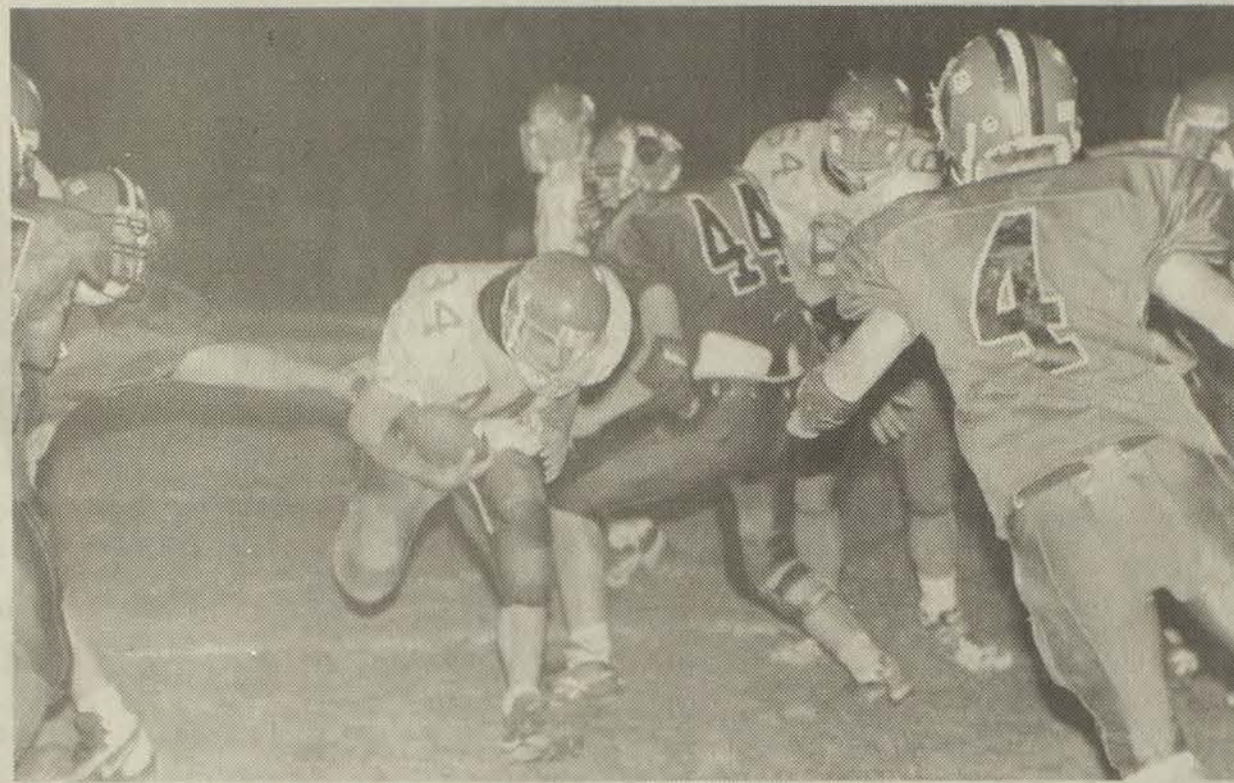

Stuart was a three-year starter at Belfry, serving as co-captain on the '84 team. Stuart was on the team that won the first regional tournament by a Belfry team. She also helped lead her team to state tournament runner-up in the same year.

Stuart was selected to several all-tournament teams, but her accomplishments were not limited to athletics. She was a recipient of the Al Viperman Award, a distinction reserved for the senior athlete with the highest GPA. She was named valedictorian of the Class of 1984 and was the first ever Valedictorian of Valedictorians.

Stuart resides in Martin. Michael David Scott participated in football and basketball while at Belfry. He received several honors and awards including second team All-State in football in 1988. He was named to the Pike County All-County team in '87, '88, '89.

He attended Morehead State University and resides at Hardy.

Surrounded

Allen Central's Beau Tackett did not find any running room on this carry against Prestonsburg as Gavin Hale (44) went for the block and Brook Stumbo (4) moved in. Tackett rushed for 111 yards and scored two touchdowns in a 28-14 setback to the Blackcats. (photo by Ed Taylor)

Be careful, though, some may be tricky!

The Rules:

Find the correct answers to the clues we provide. At the end of the game, bring or mail your completed answer card to us. The entry with the most correct answers will win the $500 cash prize. In case of a tie, a drawing will be held to determine the winner. Floyd County Times employees and relatives are ineligible.

Each Wednesday, for eight weeks, five clues will be offered on the SCAVENGER HUNT page. A total of 40 clues will be presented.

The Clues:

Final Week

- 36. Oasis tree
- 37. Lent ender
- 38. Portly plus
- 39. Mender's target
- 40. Quiz choice

The Answers:

Each Friday, for eight weeks, the answers to Wednesday's clues will be hidden in contest sponsors' advertisements. But be careful, some of the answers will be incorrect. You'll have to pick the right answers for the right clue.

Not a typical game

Allen Central quarterback Adam Coleman (11) handed off to Beau Tackett on the first play of the game against Prestonsburg Friday night. Coleman did not have a typical passing game for the Rebels as his team fell 28-14 to the Blackcats in district play. (photo by Ed Taylor)

There were 131 men runners at the Paintsville meet.

The Paintsville girls scored 25 points for first place with South Floyd second with 97. Prestonsburg (98), Allen Central (99) and Phelps (105) rounded out the top five teams.

While the Lady Rebels placed seventh, they had to run without their top runner, Annie Harvey. Harvey had been sick and chose not to run. But the Allen Central coach said his team did well.

"I'm proud of them," he said. "So proud of them. We had Annie missing. Mary Beth (Baldrige) and Heather (Conley) were both sick. We did fine. Not bad at all.

"With Annie missing, it effected Dreama's running. Annie pulls Dreama. The weather was warm and that had an effect and caused us to be down a little bit."

Paintsville's Kim Osborne took first place overall with a time of 19:59. Shelly Greathouse, a freshman at Prestonsburg, placed second overall with a time of 20:27. Greathouse ran last season as an eighth grader and should shatter some records before she is through.

Cassie Cooper and Ashley Roe finished third and fourth respectively with times of 20:33 and 20:47. Ginger Charles of Phelps had a time of 21:13 for fifth place.

Martha Kelly, Paintsville, Isaac, Allen Central, Mary Beth Beeler, Pikeville, Jenny Meade, South Floyd and Chrissy Tackett of South Floyd rounded out the top ten runners.

Meade had a time of 22:11 for the Lady Raiders. Tackett finished with a time of 22:41.

"Overall it was a good day for us," said Coach Jamerson. "We had hoped to place higher and run faster times, but it was a good meet. It was our second meet of the season and we still have a long ways to go. There is always good competition at Paintsville. It helps get you ready for the regionals."

Cross-country will continue this Thursday at the Paintsville Lake beginning at 5:30 p.m.

Picking the proper rod

Picking the proper rod to fish with may sound simple and uncomplex and a lot of anglers give it little thought, but it is one of the biggest decisions you may make during your

A whopper!

Crystal Crider of Paintsville may have thought she caught a whale when she hooked this seven and a half pound walleye at the Paintsville Lake. The fish measured 27-inches long. She was fishing with her parents.

search for your day's catch.

Once we get the fish on, you certainly don't want to lose him and using the wrong rod is the reason we lose a lot of our fish.

Although there are thousands of rods on the market today, I'm going to give you some of my thoughts on selecting the proper rod to get the job done most effectively as you can.

First let's talk about graphite rods. To me, graphite serves a lot of purposes, but usually when I choose graphite I need sensitivity. Graphite rods are very sensitive and are very quick in reflex. What I mean by reflex is that they have a quicker return than glass rods and it is this quick return or reflex that can cause you to lose fish while using certain baits. Graphite is great for flipping, worm fishing, pitching, and sometimes on spinnerbaits. It is also a must for Slugs or Top Guns. Here we need great power, sensitivity, and a quick return to get advantage over the fish.

On other baits such as topwaters, crankbaits, and jerkbaits such as the Rogue and Long A or rattlin baits like the Milo, I choose glass rods. Here we have baits that fish will usually explode on aggressively. I also use glass rods on buzzbaits. With glass we can't set the hook as quickly as we can with graphite. We also won't lose as many fish with glass rods because its reflex is so much slower. While the fish may be trying to shake the hooks out of its mouth swinging side to side with furious power on the movement back and forth, a fish can create a slack line with a graphite rod because the rod and fish will be moving at different speeds. This slack line in the battle can give an opportunity to throw the hooks and regain his freedom. With glass rods the fish and rod move together at closer speeds. This will keep the fish hooked so you can land him. The fish will also be able to inhale the bait deeper into its mouth because of lack of pressure on the rod.

As a simple rule, I use glass rods with baits that contain treble hooks and graphite rods with single hook baits. However, there are exceptions.

Keep a positive attitude, Keep casting, and Keep FISHING!!!

Scott Patton is a full-time pro on the BassMasters Circuit.

with his passing.

"At the start of the second half, we drove the ball down field well," Tackett said. "Everything was going good for us. Then we had a mental break down on defense and that broke our back. We tried to come back, but you have to give a lot of credit to Prestonsburg."

Tackett agreed the early turnovers made a difference in the game.

"Yeah they did," he said. "But our defense did pick it up and I'm proud of the way our defense played. We had a couple of good drives that just stalled out on us."

Allen Central Coach Glenn Reeves said he felt the difference in the game was that his team was not able to pass the ball.

"I thought our running game was good. We could run," he said. "But I felt we just couldn't pass the ball. The turnovers early hurt us as well. The interception and then missing the runner on the return."

Coach Reeves said even though they were down 28-14, his team was still playing hard.

"We figure if we could go in and score, then get an on-side kick we still could get back in it," he said.

The Allen Central coach said his team is capable of playing at the 2A level.

"We're a Class A program right now when you look at our population," he explained. "We're playing with juniors and next year I think we will be stronger."

Morris, who was having trouble finding running room against the front line of Allen Central, showed his running ability when he broke two tackles and went to the right side and down the sidelines for a 67-yard touchdown run for a 22-14 game.

The final score came with 2:32 left in the game when Castle hit Ortega with a 43-yard touchdown pass and earned a 28-14 lead.

Allen Central put together a strong drive in the final two and half minutes. Coleman directed his team to the Blackcats' 13-yard line with the Rebels working out of their "polecat" offense. But the drive ended when Estep intercepted a Coleman pass. Prestonsburg ran the clock out to end the game.

Prestonsburg managed 106 yards on the ground with Morris carrying 14 times for 95 yards. Sophomore Dennis Laferty had 14 yards on four carries.

Tackett finished with 111 yards on 26 carries. He had two receptions for 38 yards. Goble finished with 65 yards rushing and Coleman had 18 yards on the ground.

Coleman completed only four of 20 pass attempts for 56 yards. Thomas Jenkins had two catches for 18 yards.

Allen Central turned the ball over three times, twice on interceptions and once on a fumble. The Rebs were flagged for seven penalties for 55 yards.

Prestonsburg picked up 13 penalties for 125 yards and had one turnover, an interception.

Prestonsburg travels to Betsy Layne (4-0) this Friday night and Castle said the Bobcats are expecting them.

"They are looking forward to playing us," he said. "We beat them last year here. Hopefully we can play better the rest of the way."

While the two turnovers by Allen Central set the tone for the game, Castle gave credit to the Rebels for coming back.

"They did come back on us after those two mistakes and made it 16-14," Castle said. "I threw a real bad pass. I didn't set my feet good. I didn't play as good as I should have."

"John had that big run for us and he played a great game for us. John Lyons is playing real good on defense," he said.

Lyons led the defensive effort for Prestonsburg with 11 first hits, five assists and three quarterback sacks. Waylon Bevins, after coming back from an earlier injury that slowed him defensively, had 12 first hits, three assists and one fumble recovery. Chad Spurlock finished with seven solos and five assists. Rusty Young played an excellent game at nose and came up with seven first hits and three assists. Jason Blackburn was all over the field with ten first hits, four assists and one interception.

Ernest Campbell, who finished with eight tackles and three assists, said the Cats were more aggressive the second half.

"We let them stay close to us at 16-14 in the first half," he explained, "but we came out more aggressive on defense in the second half. The offense has been aggressive, but the defense hasn't been. That's been our problem. But in the second half we were much more aggressive."

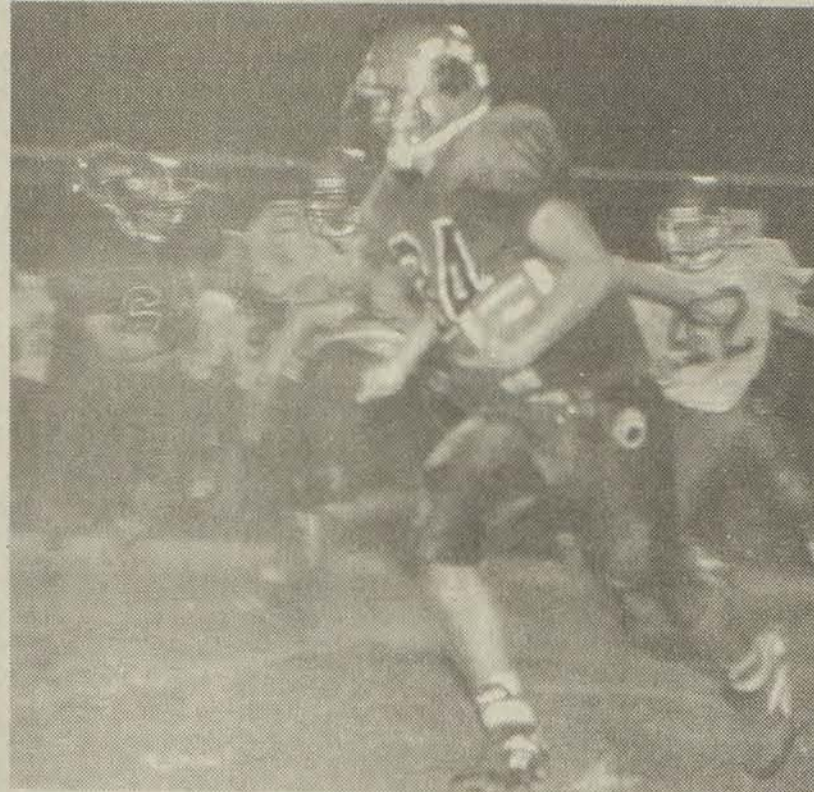

Marsillett likes the role of being a receiver and looks for Coach Letton to stay with the one quarterback concept.

"More than likely we'll see just the one quarterback," Marsillett said. "Coach wanted to go with just one and he picked Mike. He wants more consistency. He's got a stronger arm. I can catch the ball good so he just decided to go with Mike at quarterback."

Marsillett said the win would certainly pick Prestonsburg up. "We were down because we were 0-3. And all the years we have been here (current players) we haven't had a bad season. We're sort of worried, but I think we are going to come through now."

Prestonsburg will face yet another county team when they go to Betsy Layne this Friday night.

Off to the races

UK's Mark Pope offers a moment of faith and good humor

There's something refreshing about seeing Mark Pope wearing a pair of long pants and oversized shirt with no number on it, pacing to and fro, nervous and fidgety.

It's reassuring to see UK's strapping 6-10 center who is able to string together a morning's worth of sentences without once saying "Rick Pitino" or "You know..." or "We're number one."

There is hope in noting, even as he is adored by Big Blue maniacs, besieged for autographs, and pursued for media interviews, Pope reads poetry and wonders why, instead of an athlete's autograph scrawled on a bit of paper and enscribed on a young man's bedroom wall, why not a page from the Holy Bible.

A senior with Rhodes Scholar possibilities, Pope majors in English instead of physical education, general studies or communications.

Last Sunday, the amble giant from Bellevue, Washington, strolled back and forth behind a church podium in Cecilia in Hardin County and called himself "a stumbling, bumbling Christian," and told a congregation, including a gathering of big-eyed middle school and high school athletes that, "Being here is a greater opportunity for me. Being in a position to speak to you is awesome because the fact is we (idolized athletes) need it more than anyone."

Pope's humility and boyish good humor make for a serene moment in the clutter and clutter of jock-speak and prime time. It was an hour in church well spent in part because quiet testimony, face to face, has a special energy.

"One of the great struggles in my life is pride," he said. "It's a predominant shortcoming with most athletes because we're taught it's how we're supposed to be."

For those who have watched him play, Pope's action defines how pride and sportsmanship can blend.

But Pope struggles on. "My (Christian) walk uh, my crawl, is continuing," he said and smiled as if he recognized the perplexity of being a teenager of Godly faith in an environment of secular cool.

In a time when heroes are too often imposters, Mark Pope is straight-laced, sincere, and laughs easily, as if this basketball was a game or something. He is given to good humor and is not too much impressed with his status.

In a nicely-made pivot man post-up move designed to linger on well after his going, Pope smiled into the faces of his audience and bumped his hand against his chest a few times.

"Just remember, the Lord is never going to give up on us. Never. No matter what, He will never give up on us," he told them. "Even when you let a pass bounce off your leg."

His primary inspiration in sports? Enjoy your youth. When you get to be as old as I am, you can't do the things you used to."

Pope turned 23, September 11.

GOOD NEWS FOR UK

Decisions...decisions. Billy Jack Haskins made all the good ones. Last week's UK quarterback controversy — a conclusion reached by some and parroted by others — is this week's master stroke. Haskins earned his shot against Florida and put an exclamation point on his claim to the job at Indiana.

It was not only Haskins' sterling decision making, but his poise that was impressive.

Haskins' performance brought to mind a high school coach's remark in 1992. "Billy Jack is one of those kids who finds a way to beat you. He might not always look great doing it, but he just beats you." Allan Cox, Haskins' coach at Paducah Tilghman, said

Defensively, UK was startlingly good. Of course, IU was remarkably bad. The Hoosiers' last 10 possessions resulted in seven punts, three fumbles and a shower of boos.

"This defense is light years ahead of last year. Tremendous improvement." Ex-UK star and radio commentator Jeff VanNote said.

Kentucky's next home foe, Auburn might be impenetrable on the Plain, but the War Eagles proved they can be held to a touchdown and beaten on the road, losing at LSU 12-6 Saturday. Auburn plays at Commonwealth Stadium September 30.

KHSAA 'PATROL'

Fleming County recruiting flap. Me thinks Fleming County Coach Lake Kelly underestimated the zeal and attention to history Rick Greene, Maysville Ledger-Independent sports editor, would bring to bear. It was during Kelly's watch that Austin Peay and later Oral Roberts U. were spanked by the NCAA for cheating.

The broader lesson here is the KHSAA's old see-no-evil means there is-no-evil policy no longer applies. No legitimate change of residence means no eligibility. As it should be.

Legitimate change of address? Try Tom Goins, a 5-9 guard at Louisville Trinity last year. He will play his senior season for his dad's good friend Kirk Chiles at Marshall County in Benton. Four hours and a time zone away. That's an address change.

CLEM HASKINS...

Minnesota's outspoken basketball coach Clem Haskins was in his hometown Campbellsville speaking to a group at an alternative learning center.

Following are excerpts from Haskins remarks in a story by Bobby Brockman, local sports editor.

"(Being an Olympics assistant coach) This is the highest honor I've ever received. It says USA across my chest. When I see that flag, I get tears in my eyes."

"I walked three miles to play (basketball). Guys today won't walk across the street to play in air-conditioned gyms."

"Real men don't wear earrings. My son can't wear one. My daughters wear earrings. My players can't. You can't wear the maroon and gold (at Minnesota) and wear earrings."

Finally, of himself, Haskins offered a rhetorical question. "Here's a guy from Kentucky who's been all over the world and received the highest honor in the world. If he can make it, why can't (you) make it?"

The sports media in Kentucky lost someone special when Haskins left. The man, who will begin the third year of a ten-year contract with Minnesota, hopes to retire back to his Kentucky roots in Taylor County. He aspires to become a general manager with an NBA team.

CREDENTIALS...

Picture this: College basketball recruiter looking for shooting guard sees...6-5, 190-pound backcourt player, GPA is 4.0, ACT score is 32, rates first academically in his senior class, son of a coach who averages double figures in scoring and assists.

And a talent scout writes: "High major college prospect in right situation."

Glowing prose for Bart Miller, Meade County High senior guard and Mr. Basketball candidate.

DIS 'N DATA...

Caused quite a stir, Bob Wojnowski's commentary in the Detroit News last spring after North Carolina beat Kentucky in the NCAA's. A copy arrived here last week complete with yellowed passages. After reading it, I could find nothing to disagree with, particularly: "In sense (Dean) Smith roped some Big Blue dopes."

And this Rick Pitino's postgame refrain: "I'm dumbfounded by what we did. Individual's showing up instead of a team."

Ron Cooper. Will this honeymoon last long enough to produce a few "Denny Who(s)?"

Two questions. If 360 of 421 eligibles voted to keep the NBA Players Union intact, what were those other 61 guys doing? And who are they?

Deion Sanders. It isn't about money. It's about attention and because of goo-gah media, he gets multiplicity.

A disgruntled UK football fan in Mt. Sterling after another little used running back Donnell Gordon transferred (to U of L): "Bill Curry ought to give some of those scholarships to Rick Pitino. He'll use 'em."

PARTING SHOT...

Birthday thought. Monday, September 18 was UK Coach Rick Pitino's birthday. He is 43.

Betsy Layne—

the Bobcats headed to the locker area with a 36-0 halftime lead.

Neither team could generate any offense in the third period. Betsy Layne scored twice quickly in the fourth on an 18-yard-pass reception by Wes Collins from Hamilton. Later, Chris Hicks scored on a one-yard plunge and kicked the extra point to build a 49-0 lead.

Powell County avoided the shut-out when the team scored on a Larkin Townsend six-yard pass to Shane Napier.

The victory will bring up an interesting matchup this coming Friday when Betsy Layne faces not only county foe Prestonsburg, but a district foe as well.

Prestonsburg will be coming off its first win of the season and the Bobcats will be looking to keep their streak alive.

The victory over Powell County gives the Bobcats a 2-0 district record, good for first place along with Whitesburg and Breathitt County.

NASCAR Connection

by Ben Trout

career race and more importantly, see a smiling Richard Petty in victory lane for the first time since 1984. Man, what a day it would have been! However, Hamilton had to settle for a strong second-place showing.

For several years now, fans have been longing to see the 43 car back on top of its game. In all reality, the Petty Enterprises entry hasn't been competitive since 1983 when King Richard won three races. But the '95 season has been witness to a revival and Petty followers are excited, and rightly so I might add.

With Bobby Hamilton behind the wheel, the STP Pontiac has cracked the top-five on three occasions. Hamilton finds himself 12th in the point standings. Finally, credibility to the Petty team has been restored.

Most Winston Cuppers run well at the tracks they like best. But not Bobby Hamilton. He seems to run well at the circuits he likes least. Why?

"Darned if I know," he said. "I don't much care for Dover, Bristol, Richmond, or Rockingham but for some reason I seem to do pretty well at all of them." (Hamilton finished fifth last week in Richmond).

"I really can't explain it. Maybe, without realizing it, I try harder," he said.

Hamilton's efforts on Sunday definitely reflected a hard-trying driver. He led several laps and did all that was in his power to catch a track-blistering Jeff Gordon.

Simply put, Gordon had the fastest car on this given day. But Hamilton's day seems to be soon coming.

Prior to the 1995 Winston Cup season, Hamilton's best finish was sixth in the 1991 AC-Delco 500 at Rockingham. That same year, he won the Winston Cup Rookie of the Year honors. Between then and now, Hamilton's successes have been few and far between. He ran the full series schedule in 1991 and 1992. Then, Hamilton went without a full-time ride in '93 driving in only 15 events for three different car owners.

In 1994 he got back on track driving for Felix Sabates collecting one top-ten finish. This is Hamilton's first season driving for Richard Petty. And the union of Hamilton and Petty seems to have a compatible chemistry, perhaps with a win or two looming on the horizon.

The team is looking forward to the '96 season with much anticipation. The new Pontiac Grand Prix is promising to be every bit as competitive as this year's Chevy Monte Carlo. Plus the team has had the '95 season to work all the kinks out and get their communication down pat. If it doesn't happen this year, look for the Petty team to break through the gates of victory lane in '96.

Meanwhile, we fans will be patiently waiting.

South Floyd

Cade Cinnamond kicked the PAT for the 7-6 lead.

It was four downs and out for South Floyd and on the punt return Brent Coleman went around left end and all the way to the goal line on a 55-yard punt return and a touchdown. Cinnamond added the extra point for a 14-6 game.

After the Raiders were forced to punt the football, on a first play from scrimmage, Powers hit Lorenzo McGill with a 22-yard touchdown pass and the PAT by Cinnamond made it a 21-6 game.

The Panthers continued to score each time they had the ball and held a 57-6 lead at the half.

"Pikeville keyed on Ketrin and Terrance from the start," Daniels, who's ballclub managed 106 yards on the ground, said. "We thought we could pass the ball against Pikeville and we wanted to start the game that way. We were fresh then and we wanted to get the ball up in the air. We knew their pass defense wasn't that good and Hazard exploited it when they played them."

Compton found success against the Panthers' pass rushing in tossing for the 138 yards.

"I have a lot of confidence in Nick," Daniels said, "but I didn't want to take a chance of his getting hurt."

Daniels kept the ball on the ground in the second half. "We just wanted to keep the ball between the lines and the clock running after the first half," he said. "We didn't want to take a chance of getting someone hurt."

Pikeville ran 14 different runners at the Raiders. Eddie Deramus led the offense with 79 yards in limited playing time. Speedster Brent Coleman, who was doubtful as a starter, finished with 61 yards and had the 55-yard punt return for a touchdown. Coleman was sick and wasn't sure of his playing time.

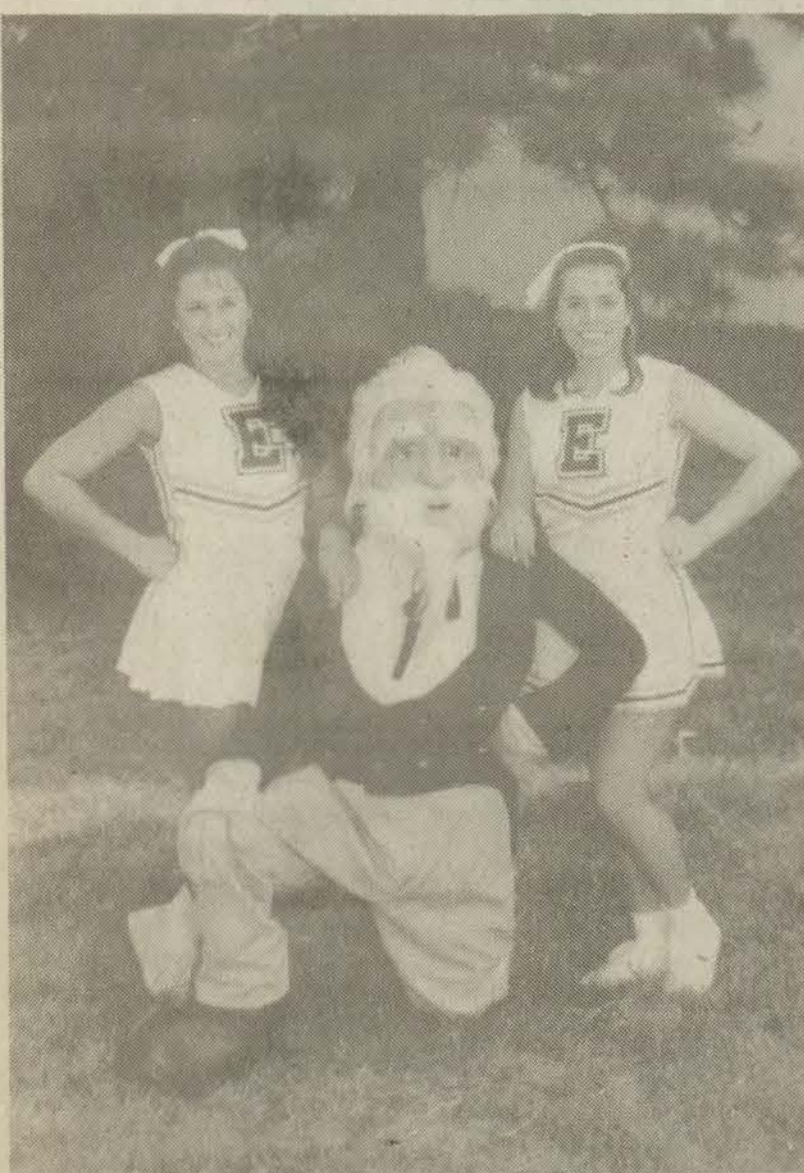

Ben Howard, second string quarterback, replaced Powers in the third period and was impressive with 49-yards rushing and a touchdown.

Cinnamond split the uprights eight times and only a bad snap from center foiled a ninth attempt. However, he turned the busted play into a two-point conversion.

South Floyd has Fleming-Neon coming to town this Friday night for a very important district game. Daniels said he thinks his team has a shot at a playoff berth and the games in front of them are crucial.

"I think the fourth spot can be won with three district wins," he said. "The teams we have to face are pretty much even with us with the exception of Hazard. They are not a Pikeville-type team, but they are good. We need to win our two remaining home games (Neon and Elkhorn City, the last game of the season) and pick up a win somewhere on the road."

The other district games will be road games at Hazard and Jenkins. South Floyd has non-district games against McCreary Central and Allen Central.

Local residents lead cheers for EKV

Melissa Turner and Allison Hall, both of Floyd County, are on the cheerleading squad at Eastern Kentucky University, which is also represented by the Colonel mascot, John Tester, Frankfort. The local residents cheer at all Colonel football games and will be busy during the upcoming basketball season.

Two double features and a seven-cent Root Beer

Recently, I've been doing a little research concerning how folks in Eastern Kentucky spent their leisure time back in the fifties.

Guess what? People back then went to the movies...a lot.

I should have figured that out even without research because when I was growing up in Muddy Branch, especially in the summertime, going into town to the movies on Saturdays and Sundays is what I lived for.

When I was nine or ten years old, admission was only nine cents for kids. So, for a quarter I could go to both shows on the same day (the Sipp first and then the Royal) and still have enough for a seven-cent root beer from the Royal Theatre fountain.

On Saturdays I'd see four features, two sets of previews, two cartoons, two cliff-hanging serials, and two versions of the news of the day, Sunday movies were usually longer features and seldom did either theatre screen a double feature.

Actually, if you counted the Cain Drive-In, what with double (and sometimes triple) features, coupled with the fact that a film seldom ran for more than two days, between the three theaters, adults at that time had access to 25 to 30 movies a week.

Anyway, as I browsed through the yellowed pages

Poison Oak

of 45-year-old copies of the Paintsville Herald, I ran across some interesting tidbits.

• When "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," starring John Wayne ran at the Sipp on April 2 and 3, 1950, the following announcement accompanied the ad.

"The first 25 women in line wearing a yellow ribbon in their hair will be admitted free."

• In January 1951, the ad from the Herald for the Royal Theatre featured "Desperadoes" starring Randolph Scott, "The Fuller Brush Girl" starring Lucille Ball and the following announcement.

"Lost and Found Department—We have 1 boy's raincoat, 1 boy's corduroy coat, 1 boy's poplin sport jacket, 1 long black jersey glove, lady's—Found Sunday night—1 pair wool gloves, girl's. We have a lot of other articles such as boys' and men's pocketbooks, girls' pocketbooks, scarfs. If you lost anything, check with us. We have your lost article.

• In December 1950, the Royal Theatre also ran this statement.

"We regret the time has come when we are compelled to make a change in our admission prices. We are proud that we have been able to maintain minimum admission prices, increasing our prices only four cents during the past ten years.

Every item of operation, such as wages, supplies, advertising, state and city license, taxes, changing to first run policy, etc., have increased to such proportions that we can no longer absorb this increase. Therefore, we are compelled to make the following changes in our admission price. Matinee: Children 12¢, plus 3¢ tax—Total 15¢; Adults 23¢, plus 7¢ tax—Total 30¢. Night: Children 15¢; Adults 31¢, plus 9¢ tax—Total 40¢.

Please note that 30 per cent of the admission price is paid to the State and Federal government as amusement taxes."

The little announcement probably did little to curtail my movie going since it would take only another nickel to get me into both shows. I don't know how I managed to swing the other seven cents for the root beer.

A canine immune system disease is deflated

by Mike Capuzzo

Among the steady flow of mail Wild Things receives about toilet problems in cats and dogs, the letter from the Consulate of Sweden stood out. It was signed by Anders Wiberg, Generalkonsul, Nassau, Bahamas. The good diplomat, who reads Wild Things in the Miami Herald, wrote to pass on the news that Swedish authorities are "very likely soon" to ban the breeding of over 60 kinds of dogs, including the basset, bulldog and cocker spaniel, that are "considered to have too many unhealthy traits."

"The Minister of Agriculture... feels there is nothing wrong in prohibiting the breeding of dogs that are obviously suffering," the consul noted.

The Humane Society of the United States advocates a breeding ban in this country, as one in four expensive purebreds suffers from some kind of ailment because of overbreeding. (Hybrid vigor, as faithful Wild Things readers know, often makes a mutt from the pound a healthier, bargain choice.)

Meanwhile, white-frosted heroes, many of them in the City of Brotherly Love, are out there as you read this, battling genetic diseases in dog breeds. And there's miraculous news this summer from veterinary scientists: The "Boy in the Bubble" disease has been eradicated in corgis! We're not inventing this.

Remember the boy in the bubble? The poor lad with no immune system defenses who was forced to live in a germ-free "bubble"? He was featured in a 1970s TV movie.

Last year, a Cardigan Welsh corgi—a small, low-to-the-ground pasture patroller developed by ancient Celtic Welsh hillmen—showed up at the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine with a disease that is the same as the rare human ailment that afflicted the boy in the bubble. It's called X-linked severe combined immunodeficiency (XSCID), and it's a deadly immune system disease in dogs as well.

Using advances in genetics and molecular biology, Penn veterinary researchers identified, traced through generations and eradicated the disease-causing gene defect in the Cardigan Welsh corgi breed, reported Paula S. Henthorn at Penn.

"This is the first time scientists have completely wiped out a disease-producing gene in a breed," said Penn veterinary researcher Donald F. Patterson.

Although the disease is rare, the technology used to eradicate it has wide implications, according to a spokesman for the American Veterinary Medical Association. "The same methods may be applied to eliminate or reduce... a variety of genetic diseases in dogs that affect the brain, eyes, heart, bones and other body systems," said Sharon Curtis Granscog of the AVMA.

Just six weeks after the corgi's first visit, researchers found he had a different mutation in the same gene as human XSCID patients and a family of afflicted basset hounds Penn had studied in the early 1980s. They developed a test to identify carriers of the mutated gene. After tracing the mutation's origin back three generations to a female corgi, four litters descended from the corgi were tested for XSCID, and the carriers were prevented from breeding further.

"Combating genetic diseases is the next frontier in veterinary medicine, as it is in human medicine," Patterson told an AVMA convention in Pittsburgh this summer.

With the support of the American Kennel Club, Patterson and colleagues developed a computer catalog of all known genetic diseases in dog breeds. The first edition of the system, with information on over 350 genetic disorders in over 200 breeds, will be available in about a year to assist vets and breeders in diagnosing and eliminating genetic diseases.

More than 5,000 human genetic diseases have been identified. About 10 new genetic disorders are identified in dogs each year.

FROM THE MOUNTAINS by Jadon Gibson

A personal vendetta

David Colson was born on the family farm along Yellow Creek in 1861 in the part of Knox County that later became Bell County, Kentucky. He studied law in what was then called Kentucky University in Lexington.

He was appointed to a political office in Washington at age 21 and to the Office of Pensions in Knoxville two years later. Two years after that Colson returned to Bell County where he was encouraged to run for the state legislature. He was elected to the post in 1887 at age 26.

Two years later young Colson was nominated to run for Treasurer of Kentucky. He lost that race and returned to Middlesborough where the homefolks immediately elected him to the mayor's office of that city. He served with distinction and, in 1894, he was appointed to the U.S. Congress. When the unexpired term ended two years later he threw his hat into the ring and won the congressional seat on his own merits.

Colson resigned his seat when the Spanish-American War began and was appointed colonel of the Fourth Kentucky Infantry. The hot summer days of 1898 found the Fourth Kentucky Infantry in Anniston, Alabama, awaiting their call to Cuba and the war.

"A gentleman to see you at headquarters, Colonel Colson," a rain-soaked orderly said after saluting the commanding officer.

Colson donned his wide-brimmed service hat and started off through the sticky mud. When he arrived at his office he found a young man, in uniform, reading a newspaper.

"Are you Colonel Colson?" Ethelbert Scott asked without rising to his feet. "I have a letter for you."

Colson was astounded by the lack of military respect from the young man. He opened the letter which was an introduction to the seated Scott who was a few years his junior in age. Colson looked down at the young man and became enraged at what he felt was an unparadonable insult. He was called out in harsh conditions on an insignificant matter that could have easily waited until later. And here Ethelbert Scott sits, reading a newspaper, without the slightest iota of military decorum.

The commanding officer, who had immersed his whole being into the preparation of his men for the pending war, became red-faced as his blood began to boil.

"Soldier, I've never seen such a lack of respect," Colson said as he abruptly turned and exited the room.

Scott, who was originally from Somerset, was the son of a doctor and a nephew of then Governor William O. Bradley. He was practicing law in Lexington before his uncle, Governor Bradley, appointed him to the infantry where he would meet David Colson.

Although Scott was assigned to quarters for his impudence he learned nothing from the incident, joking to others about calling Colonel Colson out into the heavy rain.

Meanwhile the military action in Cuba was continuing and Colson expected his charges to be called into the fray at any time.

Scott disliked military life and made sport of going absent without leave and frequenting the drinking places which had sprung up around the camp. In the ensuing weeks he was called before Colson repeatedly.

After several months there were charges of insubordination, incompetency and incapacity filed against Ethelbert Scott.

"Colson's a tin-soldier," Scott said of his commanding officer. "You tell that cheap politician that I'll stand trial and I'll make a monkey out of him and his charges."

"And you tell him this too. If he drags my honor or character through the mud, God help him, 'cause I won't have any mercy on him."

General Joseph Wheeler heard of the threats and appointed a board to meet and hear the charges. Colson and Scott were summoned before the members and glared at each other while the charges were read.

Scott's right hand reached for something under his cape prompting Colson to quickly grab the handle of his service revolver.

Editor's note: The feud between commander and soldier continues next week in Jadon's From The Mountains in the Floyd County Times.

Observe anniversary

James E. and Marie Goble, Prestonsburg, observed their 54th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, September 19. They were married September 19, 1941 by the Rev. A.C. Harlowe.

Assistant wellness director is speaker at AARP meeting

Jessica Sturgill, assistant wellness director at Highlands Regional Medical Center, was the guest speaker at the September dinner meeting of Jenny Wiley Chapter No. 3528, American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), on Friday, September 15.

Following the dinner, which was held in the cafeteria of Highlands Regional, Orville Cooley presented the devotionals and Burieta Gearhart, president, conducted the business of the chapter.

Mary DeRossett, secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, and James E. Goble presented the treasurer's report. All present joined in the Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag.

Gladys S. Allen introduced Sturgill, who informed the group of the Wellness Program which is being conducted at Highlands Regional. A variety of programs is being offered, including exercise, nutrition, diet classes, and Body Recall. She urged the members of AARP to participate in this program.

The group discussed providing flower seed for roadside beautification. More information as to where the planting will be done is needed.

It was reported that chapter member Doug Fitzpatrick has died and that Flem Blanton was in the hospital at the time of the meeting.

Margaret Ackerman reported that the recent class for the 55 Alive/Mature Driving course had 25 members who completed the course. Another class may be held in October. Ted and Marlene Stumbo were instructors for the class.

The president reported that National Depression Screening Day will be observed at Kings Daughters Hospital in Ashland on Thursday, October 5.

The president also appointed Gladys S. Allen, Orville Cooley, and Sina Blanton to serve as a nominating committee for chapter officers for the coming year.

Those members having birthdays and first-time attendees were recognized and those on the sick list were remembered.

The next meeting will be Friday, October 20.

Those in attendance were Delmas Saunders, Myrtle Allen, Ruby Akers, Celia Ward Little, Russell and Sarah Laven, Roberta Stone, Wayne Johnson, Wilma Wright, L.J. and Sylvia Allen, Elizabeth B. Castle, Gladys S. Allen, Jessica Sturgill, Gina Gullo, Jo Vaughan, Fanny Rannels, Margaret Ackerman, Burieta Gearhart, James E. and Marie Goble, and Mary DeRossett.

If a typical delivery room was the first thing you saw, you'd react the same way.

While we don't have any scientific proof that babies born in our maternity suites won't scream their heads off, we do believe that when they start looking around for the very first time, they'll think, "Wow, this place is pretty nice. Comfortable. And quite tastefully decorated."

As a matter of fact, that's exactly the kind of responses we've been getting from expectant moms and dads who come to King's Daughters' to deliver.

They're impressed by the level of privacy (our suites are just for you and your family), the comfort, and the personal care you receive from our attentive staff of physicians and nurses. And, most important, the fact that the entire birthing process takes place in one room. You remain in the same room for labor, delivery and recovery.

If this sounds like the way you want to welcome your baby into the world, call us at (606) 327-4546 for further information about our maternity suites at King's Daughters' Medical Center. The RIGHT CARE. RIGHT HERE.

BOURBON STREET CATFISH

1-1/2 lb. fresh catfish fillets
1/4 cup flour
1 Tbsp. Mrs. Dash Extra Spicy
1 tsp. ground thyme
1/2 tsp. garlic powder
1 large lime, quartered
Coat both sides of catfish fillets with a mixture of flour, Mrs. Dash Extra Spicy, thyme and garlic powder. Spray larger nonstick skillet well with nonstick cooking spray (or 1 Tbsp. margarine, melted.) Pan-fry fillets over medium-high heat for 3 minutes. Turn; continue frying 3 to 5 minutes, or until fillets are golden brown and flake easily with a fork. Serve with lime quarters.

OLD-FASHIONED CREAM PIE

1/2 cup gran. sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 Tbs. flour
1 1/2 cups light cream
1/8 tsp. salt
1 Tbs. butter
Nutmeg
1 unbaked pie shell
Combine ingredients, all except for butter. Pour into pie shell. Dot surface with butter and sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake for 10 minutes in 425°F. oven. Reduce heat to 350°F. and bake 30 minutes longer.

SWEET 'N SPICY

BARBECUED CHICKEN

Sweet 'n Spicy Sauce
1/2 cup ketchup
1/4 cup apricot preserves
2 to 3 tsp. Mrs. Dash Extra Spicy
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1-1/2 lb. boneless, skinless chicken breast halves

Combine sauce ingredients. Brush both sides of chicken with sauce. Grill or broil on a rack about 4 to 6 inches from heat for 6 to 8 minutes. Turn; brush with sauce. Continue cooking, brushing and turning for an additional 10 to 12 minutes, or until chicken is done.

MOLASSES PIE

1 unbaked pie shell
1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup flour, sifted
1 Tbs. butter
1/4 cup boiling water
1/4 cup dark molasses
1/4 tsp. baking soda
1/8 tsp. salt

Combine sugar and flour. Cut in butter with pastry blender. In separate bowl mix together water, molasses, soda and salt. Beat mixture until foamy. Gradually stir in flour mixture. Beat vigorously until thoroughly mixed. Pour into pie shell and bake in 350°F. oven 30-35 minutes.

IMPOSSIBLE

QUESADILLA PIE

1 can (4 1/2 ounces) chopped green chilies, well drained
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon chopped cilantro
3/4 cup Bisquick Original baking mix

1 1/2 cups milk
3 eggs

HEAT oven to 400°. Grease pie plate, 9x1 1/4-inches. Sprinkle chilies, cheese and cilantro in pie plate.

STIR remaining ingredients with fork until blended. Pour into pie plate.

BAKE 25 to 30 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve with salsa if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

CARAMEL APPLE

CHEESECAKE

(Makes one 9-inch cheesecake)
1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
1/4 cup sugar
1/3 cup margarine or butter, melted

1 (14-ounce) can Eagle® Brand Original, Low Fat or Fat Free Sweetened Condensed Milk (NOT evaporated milk), caramelized

3 (8-ounce) packages cream cheese, softened
3/4 cup sugar

2 tablespoons flour
3 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 medium all-purpose apples, cored and sliced
1 tablespoon margarine or butter

Preheat oven to 300°. Combine crumbs, sugar and melted margarine; press firmly on bottom and 1-inch up side of 9-inch springform pan. Reserve 2 tablespoons caramelized Eagle® Brand; spread remainder over prepared crust. Bake 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in large mixer bowl, beat cheese, sugar and flour. Add eggs, 2 tablespoons milk and vanilla; mix well. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 1 hour or until set. Cool. In large skillet, cook apples in 1 tablespoon margarine until tender-crisp. Spread reserved caramelized Eagle® Brand on top of cheesecake. Chill. Refrigerate leftovers.

ZAP AN APPLE™ Caramel Apples

Prep time: 20 minutes plus refrigerating
Microwave cooking time: 3 1/2 minutes or Top of stove cooking time: 15 minutes

4 or 5 medium apples wooden sticks
1 pkg. (14 oz.) KRAFT Caramels (48)

2 Tbsp. creamy peanut butter (optional)
2 Tbsp. water chopped peanuts

• Thoroughly wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple.

• Microwave caramels, peanut butter and water in small deep microwavable bowl on HIGH 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 minutes or until smooth, stirring every minute. (If caramel sauce is too thin, let stand about 2 minutes before dipping apples.)

• Dip apples into hot caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape excess sauce from bottom of apples. Dip caramel-coated apples in chopped peanuts. Place on greased wax paper. Decorate with candy, if desired.

• Store in refrigerator. Let stand at room temperature 15 minutes before serving to allow caramel to soften. Makes 4 to 5.

TOP OF STOVE

• Wash and dry apples; insert stick into stem end of each apple.

• Melt caramels with peanut butter and water in heavy 1 1/2-quart saucepan on low heat, stirring frequently until smooth.

• Continue as directed.

Here's a great kitchen trick for cooks on the go (and who isn't these days?)—cook up one mixture that is so delicious and versatile, it can be used in many ways, when you need it. The following recipe for Mushroom Bacon Sauté is just such a mixture.

Start with earthy, fresh white mushrooms which require only a quick wipe or rinse to clean. They're sautéed with smoky bacon, onion, garlic and oregano. This mixture can be used immediately (in any of the following recipes or in your own creations), refrigerated for several days or portioned out, stashing some in the freezer. For Mushroom Bacon Pizza, spread Mushroom Bacon Sauté over a pre-baked pizza shell, along with sliced tomatoes and mozzarella cheese—a meal in minutes! Another night, heat this same mixture and turn it into an elegant wilted salad. A few more ideas? Ladle it over pasta or rice, serve it under grilled chicken, fish or steak, stir-fry it with precut fresh vegetables—you get the idea. Mushrooms are endlessly versatile, at home in every cuisine.

Preheat oven to 300°. Combine crumbs, sugar and melted margarine; press firmly on bottom and 1-inch up side of 9-inch springform pan. Reserve 2 tablespoons caramelized Eagle® Brand; spread remainder over prepared crust. Bake 15 minutes. Meanwhile, in large mixer bowl, beat cheese, sugar and flour. Add eggs, 2 tablespoons milk and vanilla; mix well. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 1 hour or until set. Cool. In large skillet, cook apples in 1 tablespoon margarine until tender-crisp. 1 cup chopped onions
1 1/2 tablespoons minced garlic
2 teaspoons oregano leaves, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper

In a large skillet over medium heat cook bacon until crisp, about 5 minutes. Transfer to a paper towel; crumble, set aside. Pour off all but 4 tablespoons bacon fat. Add mushrooms, onions and garlic; cook, stirring occasionally, until most of the liquid evaporates, 7 to 8 minutes. Stir in crumbled bacon, oregano, salt and black pepper. Use half of the mixture in one of the following recipe ideas and refrigerate or freeze the remainder for another use. Yield: about 3 1/2 cups

MUSHROOM BACON PIZZA

Preheat oven to 450°F. Place 1 large (10 ounces) Italian bread shell on pizza pan or baking tray. Sprinkle with 1 cup (4 ounces) shredded mozzarella cheese. Spoon 1 3/4 cups well drained Mushroom Bacon Sauté over cheese. Top with 1/2 cup sliced plum tomatoes. Bake until hot and cheese is melted, about 10 minutes. Yield: 4 portions

WILTED GREENS WITH MUSHROOM BACON SAUTÉ

Toss 1 3/4 cups warm Mushroom Bacon Sauté with 4 cups mixed salad greens, 1/2 cup sliced tomatoes and a squeeze of lemon juice. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Yield: 4 portions

Delois Annette Johnson and Jerry Tackett

Johnson and Tackett to wed September 30

Lester and Lillie Johnson of Bevinville announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Delois Annette Johnson, to Jerry Tackett of Melvin.

Miss Johnson is a 1988 graduate of Wheelwright High School. She attended Prestonsburg Community College.

She is the granddaughter of Velva Johnson and the late Noah Hall, the step-granddaughter of Luther Johnson of Bevinville. She is also the granddaughter of the late Liza Jane and Henry Johnson.

Mr. Tackett is the son of Danny and Priscilla Tackett. He is a 1987 graduate of Wheelwright High School and a graduate of Morehead State University. He is a member of management for the Raintree Group.

He is the grandson of Alma Tackett of Melvin and the late Arnold Tackett. He is also the grandson of Junior Hamilton of Ligon and the late Magdalene Hamilton, and the step-grandson of Melodyn Hamilton of Columbus, Ohio.

The open ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. September 30 at the Wheelwright Freewill Baptist Church. A reception will follow the ceremony.

Self-examinations can prevent skin cancer epidemic

Examining your skin from head to toe just might save your life.

That's why the American Academy of Dermatology (AAD) and U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) are recommending regular self-screening to help ensure the early detection of skin cancer, a disease expected to strike one million people this year.

The number of cases of melanoma—the most deadly form of skin cancer—is expected to reach 34,100 this year. Since the 1930s, the incidence of melanoma has increased 13-fold, and an estimated 7,200 people will die of the disease this year.

"There's no reason people should die of something that's preventable," said AAD President Rex Amonette, M.D. "Unfortunately, most people rarely, if ever, monitor their skin for the early warning signs of cancer."

A recent survey of 1,000 adults by the academy found:

- Only about a third know what melanoma is.
- Fewer than one-third examine their own skins for signs of melanoma.

"Detection of melanoma and other skin cancers is fairly easy because the signs are usually visible on the surface of the skin," Amonette said.

Self-examination includes periodically looking over the skin for any changes in the size, color, shape or texture of a mole; the development of a new mole or any other unusual changes in the skin. Any of these signs should be reported immediately to a dermatologist or personal physician.

The dermatologists' organization and the federal agency have joined forces to teach adults how to check their bodies to detect skin cancer.

"People's fear of cancer is enormous and millions of dollars are spent each year to find cures, yet so much more can be done to promote prevention and early detection," Stephen W.

Wyatt, director of the CDC Division of Cancer Prevention and Control, said.

"When treated and detected early, skin cancer can be cured and that's our goal — to save lives," Wyatt added.

Over the next few years, the AAD and CDC will continue to identify and develop strategies to inform the public and health care professionals about skin cancer prevention and early detection.

What to look for:
Danger signs in moles or pigmented lesions of the skin

- Asymmetry—one half unlike the other half.
- Border irregularity—scalloped, jagged, or poorly circumscribed borders.
- Color variations— from one area of the mole to another. Shades of tan and brown, black and sometimes white, red or blue.
- Diameter— larger than 6 mm, about the diameter of a pencil eraser.

U.S. cattle numbers continue to increase

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's total cattle inventory places national cattle and calf inventory at 114.3 million head, up 2.2 percent from year-earlier levels and five percent above 1993 levels.

This suggests that the bottom of the current cattle cycle is still yet to come for prices of calves, yearlings, fed cattle, cull cows and breeder stock, said Lee Meyer, extension agricultural economist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

What does this mean to Kentucky's cattle producers?

"Larger supplies mean more red ink in the cow-calf sector," Meyer said. "The feeder cattle supply (calves and yearlings outside feedlots but not including replacement heifers) was 1.2 million head larger than last year.

Comfortable spaces fill compact design

By Associated Designs

Custom brick work and arched openings on the porch and front windows give curb appeal to the Hillsboro, a three-bedroom home with 1,700 square feet of living space and a huge garage. This no-frills home packs everything needed for comfortable living into a compact design.

It's unusual to find such a large garage in a home this size, but it's not all that unusual to need so much space. The garage can shelter three cars, or two cars and a boat or RV. And you still have space left over for a workbench and storage.

Wide multipaned windows fill most of the front-facing living room wall, creating a naturally bright space. At the rear of the room, a wide arched opening leads into the dining room.

The kitchen is conveniently located between the dining room and family room. Counters on three sides provide space for two or three cooks to combine culinary efforts. Utilities and a pantry are but steps away.

A long eating bar, with space enough for five or six stools, marks the boundary between family room and kitchen. When the weather turns warm, it's easy to move meals out to the patio through the sliding glass doors. During the chilly months, a fireplace at the far end of the room serves as a focal point.

Bedrooms cluster together on the right. Master suite amenities include twin basins, an oversized shower and a large walk-in closet, but bedroom three has a boxed-out bay that could be built as a cozy window seat.

Fall provides a second spring to plant woody ornamentals

With the summer harvest over, Kentucky homeowners might have extra time to add woody ornamentals to the landscape. Fall is a good time to set out these plantings.

Fall planting has some advantages over spring because some conditions are more favorable to plant establishment, according to Mary Witt, extension home horticulture specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"The soil stays warm in the fall, so woody ornamentals can start to establish their root systems quickly," she said. "Much of a plant's energy from food production goes to root development in the fall. Plants have the capacity for root growth as long as they are planted six to seven weeks before soil temperatures drop to 40 degrees F. In Kentucky, we can plant until early December because plants have time to become established before soil temperatures drop below 40 degrees F. in mid-January."

Another advantage of fall planting is that the days are getting cooler, so plants don't have to deal with heat stress combined with transplant shock.

Most woody ornamentals require less moisture late in the growing season. Fall-planted trees are not so subject to moisture stress.

Shorter days, abundant moisture and cooler temperatures result in less plant water loss and mean plants need less watering than those set out in the spring.

Witt said the advantages of fall planting won't overcome the need to pay attention to fall-planted trees and shrubs.

"All newly planted ornamentals need water during dry weather to survive," she said. "If Mother Nature doesn't supply an inch of water per week until mid-January, you need to do so by irrigating."

Mulch newly planted ornamentals to a depth of at least two inches to minimize soil heaving that can push roots up out of the ground during periods of alternate freezing and thawing. Mulch choices include bark, compost, aged wood chips, straw, ground corncobs, or other organic materials. Avoid piling mulch against trunks or stems as it will provide cover for mice that can damage or kill plants by gnawing on the bark.

Evergreens, particularly the broadleaf species, are quite susceptible to damage from drying winds and sun. So plant evergreens earlier than deciduous plants. If fall rains are meager, water them thoroughly until the ground freezes in January and February.

Use a tree wrap to keep thin-barked trees such as maples and crabapples from developing cracks in the trunk bark. A paper or burlap tree wrap protects the bark from direct sun rays, prevents excessive water loss and keeps bark from expanding and contracting as it warms in the sun and cools at night. Remove the tree wrap in the spring.

"If properly planted, trees do not need to be staked 99 percent of the time to keep them from blowing over," Witt said. "In fact, the natural movement of trees with wind encourages rapid trunk development which is highly desirable."

Although many woody ornamentals can be planted in the landscape during the fall, some do better when planted in the spring because they are quite susceptible to cold damage or unusually difficult to transplant. Homeowners should wait until spring to plant beech, birches, black gum, black walnut, flowering dogwood, golden rain tree, hickory, hophornbeam, Japanese snowbell, oaks and persimmon. Others recommended for spring planting are Prunus, Pyrus, redbud, red maples, sassafras, southern magnolia, sweetgum, sycamore, tulip poplar, weeping willow, yellow wood and Zelkova.

LOSE 15-40 POUNDS WITHIN 3 MONTHS

LOSE WEIGHT WITH HYPNOSIS

Others just like you, with the same doubts, have already gone before you to LOSE 15-40 POUNDS WITHIN 3 MONTHS with our program - without dieting, without starvation, and without anxiety or feeling deprived.

Attend our seminar and learn the SECRET OF WILLPOWER and how you can use it to achieve your goal weight and other goals in your life as well. Yes, YOU HAVE THE POWER - I will show you how to use it from now on.

By using cooperative and willing volunteers at first, we reveal how natural and easy it is for ANYONE to be hypnotized. This is followed by hypnosis for the entire class at once. There is no sleep or loss of control.

Hypnosis is a safe, quick and easy way to lose weight. The hypnosis conditions your subconscious mind so you can 1) eat less, yet feel full and comfortable; 2) overcome your desire for sweets and fatty foods; 3) eliminate cravings, compulsive/impulsive eating; 4) be more active, more energetic.

That's right: don't feel guilty, don't blame yourself! ATTEND OUR SEMINAR AND DO THE BEST THING YOU'VE EVER DONE FOR YOURSELF. Hypnosis has worked for others. Try it. It will work for you too!

STOP SMOKING WITH HYPNOSIS

If you want to leave this seminar as a permanent NON-SMOKER, register with the Weight Loss class. GUARANTEED - If you ever start smoking again, free admittance to any future Sowder Seminar. Your fee is the same. (EITHER OR BOTH SESSIONS FOR JUST ONE LOW FEE!) The Weight Loss class lasts approximately 1 1/2 hours; the full session, with Stop Smoking, 2 hours.

KET takes viewers behind the scenes with Inside the Republican Revolution

KET offers a unique look at the behind-the-scenes working of the history-making 104th Congress on Inside the Republican Revolution, airing at 9:00 p.m. Wednesday, September 20.

The Republicans' surprise victory in the 1994 Congressional elections marked the beginning of a new era—for the first time in more than a century Congress is trying to set the agenda for the United States. Using their Contract with America as a blueprint, the Republicans have set out to dramatically shrink the size of government.

The one-hour documentary takes viewers into closed sessions to witness the political strategy and tactics of House Speaker Newt Gingrich, Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, Minority Whip David Bonior and others. Viewers see how these private sessions shape the outcome of public hearings, floor debates and rallies. Author, chief political correspondent for the Washington Times and nationally syndicated columnist Don Lambro hosts.

Congressional leaders Gingrich, Dole and Bonior; House Majority Leader Dick Arney; and Minority Leader Dick Gephardt discuss the progress of the revolution and the consequences if Congress returns to business as usual. Interviews with former Secretary of Education Bill Bennett, Christian Coalition executive director Ralph Reed, President Clinton's 1992 presidential campaign manager James Carville and consumer advocate Ralph Nader place the current legislative battles in a larger historical context.

Discover state's covered bridges

KET can't promise you Clint Eastwood and Meryl Streep—but you will visit "The Bridges of Kentucky's Counties" when KET's new magazine program Kentucky Life premieres Saturday, September 23. A profile of the remaining covered bridges around the state is just one of the interesting features which make up the half-hour program airing at 8:30 p.m.

Dental Health Today

by Michael K. McKinney, D.M.D.

Detecting gum problems "periodontal disease"

Red, bleeding, puffy, or swollen gums may alert the individual to a problem, but the diagnosis of periodontitis requires professional evaluation to determine if true periodontal pocketing and bone loss is present.

Long-standing periodontal disease or rapid destruction of bone may be recorded without necessarily indicating that any teeth will be lost. When the pocket approaches the entire length of the root, which may be 8 to 10 millimeters, or extends between the roots of a molar crown, risk of tooth loss is much greater. Treatment has so improved that many of these previously "hopeless" teeth can now be saved. Some teeth, however, are beyond the help of dentistry's best efforts.

Loss of a few teeth from advanced disease does not mean that all the teeth will be lost. Some people insist that all their teeth be removed even though only a few require extraction. It is their mistaken belief that periodontitis will inevitably destroy the remaining teeth anyway. Not true! Get the facts from your dentist.

Dental decay is a microbial plaque disease. Bacteria require a special protected environment — dental plaque — to do their dirty work.

Plaque is a sticky gelatinous substance which is nearly invisible until it has picked up stain. It is deposited on the teeth by bacteria and their products in combination with dietary and salivary components.

Plaque takes only about a day to reach a sufficient thickness for bacteria to colonize. There is a wide variety of bacteria present as the plaque builds, and some of them are especially effective in using dietary sugars to form acids.

The plaque concentrates these acids against the tooth surface, resulting in a demineralization of enamel. This is the beginning of a cavity. Until recently, it was believed that demineralization was irreversible. It is now known that teeth can remineralize under certain conditions and that many very early cavities can heal spontaneously—a process aided by the presence of fluoride and the absence of plaque.

Prepared as public service to promote better dental health, from the office of Michael K. McKinney, D.M.D. at Minnie.

Health Matters

by Christopher Fleming

Myth Exercise should hurt

There is a myth that exercise should hurt, and injury is not reason to stop, or even slow down. This myth can be dangerous and may lead to injuries and even permanent disability.

Pain is a message from the body that something is wrong. Ignoring pain messages often results in more pain and even further injury. Pain can present a dilemma for those who exercise regularly, because minor injuries are all but inevitable, and those who exercise for fitness or who are training for a sporting event do not wish to lose fitness through inactivity. Thus, there is the temptation to act on the myth and ignore the pain. The wise thing to do is seek professional advice about pain that occurs only during exercise.

Rest, Ice, Compression, and Elevation (RICE) along with seeing a health care provider can help prevent a mild injury from becoming one that may stop you from exercising for an extended period of time. Often a day or two of rest is all that is needed initially to prevent a minor injury from becoming a major setback to training. Ice can reduce the swelling and pain often associated with many injuries. Freeze a paper or styrofoam cup full of water and massage the painful area by moving the ice block over the affected area for approximately ten minutes. Compression and elevation also will help reduce swelling and pain associated with many exercise related injuries.

Pain is a warning sign to you from your body. You have choices to make. You can treat the problem and then continue enjoying your exercise or you can ignore the pain until it gets so bad that you have to stop exercising. It is your choice, I hope you make the wise choice the next time pain strikes.

Tip of the Week: Heat should not be used on an injury until at least 48 hours after the injury occurs. A medical professional should always be consulted before applying heat because if heat is applied too soon after an injury, it can increase the swelling.

Christopher G. Fleming is the Project Health Coordinator at Prestonsburg Community College. He has a bachelor's degree in Health and Physical Education, a master's degree in Education, and a Master's plus Thirty with emphasis in Exercise Science. Fleming is also a certified American College of Sports Medicine Health Fitness Instructor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE OF PROPOSED SETTLEMENT OF CLASS ACTION AND FAIRNESS HEARING

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF ALABAMA SOUTHERN DIVISION

Jack H. Woodward, et al. vs. NOR-AM Chemical Company
No. 94-0780-CB-C

U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO FUNDAL® and Their Spouses, Children, Other Relatives and Legal Representatives and PRICE v. CIBA-GEIGY, Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995), SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS

FUNDAL® WAS A COMMERCIAL AGRICULTURAL PESTICIDE WHICH WAS MARKETED IN THE U.S. BY NOR-AM CHEMICAL COMPANY. FUNDAL® WAS NOT MARKETED FOR RESIDENTIAL OR HOME GARDENING USE.

U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO FUNDAL® MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR FREE MEDICAL MONITORING AND/OR CASH PAYMENTS UNDER THIS PROPOSED LEGAL SETTLEMENT.

PRICE SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS ARE ALL U.S. WORKERS WITH ON-THE-JOB EXPOSURE TO GALECRON® (INCLUDING GALECRON® AND FUNDAL®) WHO DID NOT EXCLUDE THEMSELVES FROM THE PRICE SETTLEMENT. PRICE SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS MAY BE ELIGIBLE FOR CASH SUPPLEMENTS UNDER THIS PROPOSED LEGAL SETTLEMENT.

PLEASE READ THIS NOTICE CAREFULLY. YOU MAY BELONG TO A CLASS OF PEOPLE COVERED BY A PROPOSED SETTLEMENT OF A LEGAL ACTION ("WOODWARD SETTLEMENT"). THE WOODWARD SETTLEMENT MAY AFFECT YOUR LEGAL RIGHTS. FOR MORE INFORMATION CALL 1-800-211-6913

By Order of the Court, a class action has been conditionally certified for settlement purposes. On January 9, 1996, a fairness hearing will be held at the Courthouse, United States District Court, Southern District of Alabama, 113 St. Joseph Street, Mobile, Alabama, 36602, at 9 a.m. Central Time, so the Court can determine if the class action should be finally certified and if the Woodward Settlement, as summarized in this Notice, should be approved as fair, reasonable and adequate. Although participation in this settlement is voluntary, all Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not timely exclude themselves from the lawsuit will be bound by the Woodward Settlement if it is approved.

I. DEFINITION OF CLASS

Under the Woodward Settlement, Fundal® is defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform-containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of NOR-AM Chemical Company ("NOR-AM") or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product; or any metabolite of Fundal®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT. Galecron® has the same meaning as it did in the Price v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995), Settlement ("Price Settlement"), and is thus defined as chlordimeform or any chlordimeform-containing product, either manufactured, formulated, packaged, distributed or sold by or on behalf of Ciba-Geigy Corporation or related parties, regardless of the trade name of the product; or any metabolite of Galecron®, including the substances known as 4-COT or 5-CAT.

The Woodward Settlement Class is defined as:

- (1) All persons who fall into one of the following categories, and who reside in the United States as of the date of filing of the Class Action Complaint, who have been exposed in the United States to Fundal® only, but not to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only ("NOR-AM Exposed Persons"):
  - a. Formulators: An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment was exposed to Fundal® while at a plant or site which was involved in mixing, blending, packaging, handling or otherwise formulating pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®.
  - b. Applicators: An individual (whether or not employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company) who in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal® while involved in the application of pesticides which contained, in whole or in part, Fundal®, including, without limitation, aerial and land applicators, flagmen, mixers, blenders, loaders and other individuals who handled such pesticide prior to or during the application process; or
  - c. Other Covered Workers: (i) An individual employed by NOR-AM Chemical Company who, in the course of his or her employment, was exposed to Fundal®; (ii) an individual who worked at Empak, Inc. in Deer Park, Texas and/or Micro Chemical in Louisiana and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment; (iii) or an individual who worked in a testing or research laboratory and who was exposed to Fundal® in the course of his or her employment; or
- (2) The spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the NOR-AM Exposed Persons described above.
- (3) All members of the Price Settlement Class. The Price Settlement Class means all members of the settlement class certified by the court in Price v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., Civ. No. 94-0647-CB-S (S.D. Ala. 1995), excluding persons determined by the court to be opt-outs of that class. That settlement class thus includes persons residing in the United States who in the course of their employment were exposed to Galecron® or to Galecron® and Fundal® ("Ciba Exposed Persons"); and the spouses, parents, children, other relatives, or legal representatives of the Ciba Exposed Persons described above.

(Collectively "Woodward Settlement Class Members"). Note: If you are a NOR-AM Exposed Person or a Ciba Exposed Person, you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member whether or not you have been diagnosed with an illness. Spouses, parents, children, other relatives, and legal representatives are Woodward Settlement Class Members but the claims they are settling are limited to those arising from a NOR-AM Exposed Person or Ciba Exposed Person's exposure.

II. IMPORTANT MEDICAL NOTICE TO NOR-AM Exposed Persons and Ciba Exposed Persons (as defined above):

You may have an increased risk of developing bladder cancer if you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®. Workers exposed to Fundal® and/or Galecron® should participate in a medical monitoring program because early detection of bladder cancer can result in more effective treatment.

If you had on-the-job exposure to Fundal® and/or Galecron®, it is recommended that you or your doctor call 1-800-211-6913 to learn how you can obtain further medical information or enroll in medical monitoring.

III. PROPOSED SETTLEMENT

The Woodward Settlement provides for the establishment by NOR-AM of two funds to provide medical benefits and compensation to eligible Woodward Settlement Class Members or their legal representatives. This settlement is intended, where applicable, to work as a complement to the Price Settlement.

The total package of benefits potentially available to a NOR-AM Exposed Person is the same as the total package of benefits potentially available to a Ciba Exposed Person. Thus, Woodward Settlement Class Members may be eligible for the same benefits whether they were occupationally exposed to Fundal® only, or to Fundal® and Galecron®, or to Galecron® only.

(1) The NOR-AM Medical Monitoring and Treatment Fund ("The NOR-AMMMT Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will make an initial deposit of $3,500,000 into the NOR-AMMMT Fund, and will thereafter make additional deposits on an as-needed basis. There is no limit to the amount of money NOR-AM can be required to contribute over the life of the NOR-AMMMT Fund, which will last a minimum of 20 years.

NOR-AM Exposed Persons will be entitled to participate in the NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program; Ciba Exposed Persons may receive medical monitoring and treatment benefits only through the Price Settlement. The NOR-AM medical monitoring and treatment program and the medical monitoring and treatment program provided through the Price Settlement are identical. The NOR-AMMMT Fund will pay for a medical monitoring program designed to detect at an early stage the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with exposure to Fundal®, specifically, primary urothelial carcinoma of the urinary collecting system, i.e., renal pelvis, ureter, bladder and urethra. The NOR-AMMMT Fund also will pay for all medically necessary treatment for NOR-AM Exposed Persons.

(2) The NOR-AM Disease Compensation and Administration Fund ("The NOR-AM DCA Fund"). If the Woodward Settlement is approved, NOR-AM will also make an initial deposit of $21,000,000 into the NOR-AM DCA Fund, up to a required maximum of $30,000,000. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash payments of up to $626,500 on behalf of a NOR-AM Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal®, only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal®. In addition, the NOR-AM DCA Fund will make cash supplements amounting to 40% of the amounts scheduled for and paid as compensatory payments pursuant to the Price Settlement, up to $179,000, on behalf of a Ciba Exposed Person who, after exposure to Fundal® and Galecron® or to Galecron® only, has developed or in the future develops the form of bladder cancer alleged to be associated with Fundal® and Galecron®. The NOR-AM DCA Fund will also pay for administrative costs and class counsel's and administrative class counsel's attorney fees, costs and expenses as determined by the Court. The total attorney fee award to be requested will not exceed 20% of the benefit conferred upon the class. The benefits of the NOR-AM DCA Fund will continue as long as the NOR-AMMMT Fund continues, or until the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted. If the NOR-AM DCA Fund is exhausted, NOR-AM may continue paying for compensable claims. If NOR-AM does not continue to pay for these compensable claims, Woodward Settlement Class Members will be able to opt-out of the NOR-AM DCA Fund and pursue any legal claims they may have, except for claims for medical monitoring, medical treatment, fear of illness or cancer, or increased risk of illness or cancer.

(3) Other Conditions. The Stipulation of Settlement presently provides for medical monitoring, treatment and compensation payments for certain medical conditions set forth in this Notice. In the event, however, that a Court-approved Epidemiology Panel determines to a reasonable medical certainty that any other medical condition is caused by Fundal® or Galecron® exposure, that condition will be deemed a compensable claim, and will be eligible for medical monitoring (if feasible), medical treatment, and cash payments.

(4) Release. Woodward Settlement Class Members who do not exclude themselves from the Woodward Settlement Class release all past, present and future claims (i) relating to the covered medical conditions listed above; and (ii) relating to a Woodward Settlement Class Member's exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®, including all claims alleging that any other cancers, personal injuries or risks are caused by exposure to Fundal® or Galecron®.

IV. CLASS REPRESENTATIVES AND CLASS COUNSEL

V. RIGHTS AND OPTIONS OF WOODWARD SETTLEMENT CLASS MEMBERS

If you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member, you have the following options:

- (1) You may do nothing and remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member. If you choose to take no action, your interests as a member of the Woodward Settlement Class will be represented by the Class Representatives and Class Counsel at no cost to you.
- (2) You may remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member and either represent yourself or hire your own attorney to represent you at your own cost.
- (3) You may remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member and object to the settlement.
- (4) If you choose to remain a Woodward Settlement Class Member (under options 1, 2 or 3 above), you may receive the benefits afforded by this settlement within six months of the Court's Order directing this Notice.
- (5) You may request exclusion from this settlement.

DEADLINES FOR ABOVE OPTIONS. The deadline for filing an Entry of Appearance if you choose to represent yourself or retain an attorney; for filing objections to this settlement; for filing a Notice of Intent to Appear at the fairness hearing; or for filing a request to be excluded from the Woodward Settlement Class is DECEMBER 1, 1995. TO LEARN MORE INFORMATION ABOUT HOW TO FILE ANY OF THE ABOVE ITEMS, PLEASE CALL 1-800-211-6913 or WRITE TO: Woodward Class Action, P.O. Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402.

VI. PROOF OF CLAIM PROCEDURE

In order for any Woodward Settlement Class Member to receive any of the benefits of this settlement, he or she must comply with the proof of claim procedure. To learn how you may receive benefits under this settlement or to obtain a Proof of Claim Form for medical monitoring, medical treatment or disease compensation, call 1-800-211-6913 or write to Woodward Class Action, Post Office Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402.

VII. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION

THIS NOTICE IS ONLY A SUMMARY. If you believe you are a Woodward Settlement Class Member you are urged to call 1-800-211-6913 or write to Woodward Class Action, Post Office Box 974, Charleston, SC 29402 to obtain further information regarding this settlement, how to exclude yourself from the class, and how to obtain benefits. DO NOT CALL THE CLERK OF COURT with questions about this Notice or this settlement.

WHAT RELIABLE, OLD FRIEND LIVES IN YOUR BASEMENT, MAKES YOU FEEL COMFORTABLE, AND NEEDS YOUR ATTENTION NOW?

YOUR FURNACE.

You can avoid the Fall rush by having your heating equipment checked now before cold weather hits. It takes just a phone call to your local heating dealer and as little as thirty minutes to make sure your system is operating safely and at peak, money-saving efficiency. And by calling early, you also have the time to shop for a new furnace should your old unit need replacing.

A furnace checkup is just one of many ways to save energy. You can also add insulation to your attic, crawl space and water heater as well as weather-stripping and caulking around doors and windows. Making your home as efficient as possible will keep your family more comfortable while your heating bills stay low. So, please don't wait. Call your heating dealer for a furnace checkup now. You'll be glad you did all winter long.

Kentucky Power announces new positions

New positions have been announced in the marketing and customer information department at Kentucky Power Company, according to Mike Taylor, marketing and customer information director.

Marketing and customer information is a newly organized department at Kentucky Power that includes economic development, key accounts, commercial and small industrial services, residential services and call center operations.

Named to new positions in marketing and customer information are: Kent Flanery, business services manager; Don Thornsby, residential marketing manager; Lois Kellogg, custom information center manager; David Lambert, key accounts manager; and Dou Music, demand-side management supervisor.

Flanery, a native of Maytown, earned an associate's degree in science at Prestonsburg Community College and a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from the University of Kentucky. He is pursuing a master's degree at Morehead State University. He is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers, the Kentucky Society of Professional Engineers, and Tau Beta Pi National Engineering Honorary Society.

As business services manager, Flanery will be responsible for meeting the energy, conservation and technical services needs of Kentucky Power's business and industrial customers. He will also seek profitable business opportunities for Kentucky Power and its customers.

Flanery has been employed by Kentucky Power for 17 years. He and his wife, Teresa, live in Worthington. They have a son and two daughters.

Thornsby, a native of Rush, is a graduate of Boyd County High School and earned a degree in business management at Ashland Community College.

As residential marketing director, he will manage all of Kentucky Power's residential and small commercial marketing activities and programs. Thornsby has been employed by Kentucky Power for 27 years. He and his wife, Linda, live in Catlettsburg. They have one son.

Kellogg, a native of Pikeville, earned a bachelor's degree in business education at Pikeville College.

As customer information center manager, Kellogg will oversee call center organization, operation and development to field customer questions, including new service inquiries, billing questions or other customer requests.

Kellogg has been employed by Kentucky Power for 21 years. She and her husband, John, live in Ashland. They have one son.

Lambert, a native of Ironton, Ohio, earned a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering at The Ohio State University and a master's degree in business administration at Morehead State.

As key accounts manager, Lambert will work to meet the needs of selected large industrial customers.

Lambert has been employed by Kentucky Power for 12 years. He and his wife, Donna, live in Ironton. The have three children.

Music, a native of East Point, earned a degree in business at the University of Kentucky.

As demand-side management supervisor, Music will be working with programs designed to help customers become more energy efficient.

Music has been employed by Kentucky Power for 23 years. He and his wife, Deanna, live in Raceland. They have one child.

Equitable Resources consolidates pipeline operations with local company

Equitable Resources Inc. (ERI) announced recently that James Egler, currently president of Equitrans, will also serve as president of Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company and Nora Transmission Company.

Egler, 44, joined ERI in 1985 as director of rates for Equitable Gas Company. In 1988, he was promoted to director of marketing and rates of Equitrans and after a series of promotions was named president in 1993.

Egler was previously employed at Consolidated Natural Gas Company where he held various positions in the marketing and rate disciplines. He holds an accounting degree from Robert Morris College and a Master's of Business Administration from the University of Pittsburgh.

The consolidation is part of ERI's new business initiative, Enterprise 2000, to achieve sustainable improvements in marketplace performance.

In order to improve overall operational efficiency of the Company's natural gas transmission segment, the well and pipeline assets located in Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia will be operated as one management. Louis Kapfer was named as executive vice president and general manager for the operations.

Mr. Kapfer, 58, served as vice president operations of Equitrans. He has more than 35 years experience in the gas industry and is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers, the West Virginia Society of Professional Engineers, the Society of Petroleum Engineers, and the American Gas Association. He graduated from Marietta College with a Bachelor of Science in Petroleum Engineering. He is a registered professional engineer in the state of West Virginia and in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Egler will be headquartered at 3500 Park Lane, Pittsburgh, and his office will be in Prestonsburg.

Trans Financial moves up in the banking business

Significant corporate events thrust new companies to the top of Kentucky's publicly-held entities.

The annual survey, produced by the Kentucky offices of Shandwick USA, formerly The Wenz-Neely Company, ranks Kentucky-based companies by total revenues and financial institutions by assets.

Columbia/HCA, headquartered in Kentucky at fiscal year-end 1994, was Kentucky's largest growth company. Its 1994 revenues grew by nearly $2 billion, or 15 percent, and net income expanded 27 percent to $814 million.

Ashland and Kentucky's other largest companies also performed well.

Among financial institutions, the growth of Bowling Green's Trans Financial Inc. shared the spotlight with Great Financial Corporation's leap to the top of the rankings.

Trans Financial moved up two notches to second place with its $1.6 billion in assets. Pikeville National ($1.4 billion), Peoples First of Paducah (1.2 billion), and Bank of Louisville's parent, Mid-America Bancorp ($1.1 billion), rounded out the top five.

Officers elected for Kentucky State Association of RC&D councils

State officers of the Kentucky State Association of Resource Conservation and Development Councils were elected at a meeting held recently at Ft. Mitchell. Ken Bean, from Somerset, was elected president; Ron Todd from Sebree, vice president; Gayle Horn from Harrodsburg, secretary; and Pete Dotson from Bowling Green, treasurer. As state officers, they will provide leadership in planning state-wide RC&D projects that have potential benefits to all Kentucky citizens.

The RC&D areas all share the same economic and resource concerns and their goal is to make things happen to resolve those concerns, whether on a state-wide basis or on local projects. The council helps secure funding and technical assistance needed to plan and complete projects that help their local communities.

There are ten RC&D areas located across the state: Big Sandy RC&D Area, Paintsville; Cumberland-Green Lakes RC&D Area, Somerset; Cumberland Valley RC&D Area, London; Green River RC&D Area, Owensboro; Kentucky Heritage RC&D Area, Harrodsburg; River RC&D Area, Quicksand; Licking River Valley RC&D Area, Cynthia; Lincoln RC&D Area, Elizabethtown; Mammoth Cave RC&D Area, Bowling Green; and Pennyrite RC&D Area, Hopkinsville.

State Conservationist, Billy W. Milliken, and the Councils, have made a request that four additional RC&D Areas be established which will include: Thoroughbred RC&D Area to be located in the Bluegrass region; Eagle RC&D Area to be located in northern Kentucky; Gateway RC&D Area to cover the northeast region near Ashland, and the Purchase RC&D Area to be located in far west Kentucky.

Other People's Money

Can you afford the retirement you want?

by Lance E. Schultz

If current trends continue, tens of millions of Americans could be unable to fund their retirement years.

While there is no one-size-fits-all solution to retirement planning, the overriding message for each of us is the same: saving and investing for retirement is no longer a choice, but a necessity—particularly as the swelling ranks of future retirees place greater strains on traditional support systems, such as Social Security and private pensions.

Your financial independence and the quality of your future life will very much depend on your success in building, managing, and preserving your assets.

The Retirement Planning/Funding Process

- Develop an Investment Plan and Review It Annually to Adjust Your Contribution Level

- Consider Tax-Deferred Vehicles and Tax-Advantaged Investments

- Determine Retirement Portfolio Asset Allocation Mix and Select Appropriate Investments

- Periodically Review Portfolio Asset Allocation and Investment Selection

World Peace Starts With Families (NAPS)—How do you achieve world peace? Start with harmonious families. That's the firm belief of the Reverend and Mrs. Sun Myung Moon of Korea, who since 1960 have blessed in marriage over 50,000 couples. These marriages appear to have an impressive record of success. This summer, Blessing '95 will take place around the world through simultaneous satellite hookups to the main ceremony in Seoul, South Korea. During this worldwide ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Moon will bless the marriages of 360,000 couples, including newlyweds and couples renewing their marriage vows. The theme of Blessing '95 is "World Peace Through Ideal Families." The shared experience is intended to foster not only healthy individual families but also a global community promoting the ideals of love and peace. In America, the event will also emphasize the importance of God and intact families for the nation's future. Until 1992, almost all marriages blessed by Rev. and Mrs. Moon were of Unificationists. In August, however, many couples from other religious traditions will participate. After the ceremony, these 360,000 couples will further the ideals of Blessing '95 by becoming members of the Family Federation for Unification and World Peace.

On August 25, a global Blessing ceremony will focus on how world peace starts with loving families.

IT'S A FACT! U.S. Cartoons Popular In Europe (NAPS)—When the Cartoon Network asked its European viewers to vote for their favorite shows, the results, many may say, were rather revealing. Spaniards, it seems, favor The Jetsons. Norwegians choose Yogi Bear. Swedes select Jonny Quest; Finns favor Richie Rich. The Dutch are partial to Captain Planet and in both the U.K. and Romania, The Flintstones reign supreme. The network, which can be seen via cable in the U.S., was launched in September, 1993 in six languages throughout Europe via cable and satellite, broadcasting 14 hours a day of the world's favorite animation.

Those sophisticated Europeans, it appears, really cotton to American cartoons.

NOTICE OF BOND RELEASE

In accordance with KRS 350.093, notice is hereby given that Costain Coal, Inc., 251 Tollage Creek, Pikeville, Kentucky 41501 has applied for a Phase II bond release on permit number 836-0002 which was last issued on February 11, 1993. The application covers an area of approximately 39.55 acres located 5 miles northwest of Ivel in Pike and Floyd Counties.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0256
In accordance with KRS 350.055, notice is hereby given that Miller Bros. Const., Inc., HC 75, Box 220, Leburn, Kentucky 41831, has applied for a permit for a surface coal mining and reclamation operation affecting 159.88 acres located 0.57 miles northwest of Endicott in Floyd County.

The proposed operation is approximately 0.8 miles west from Ky. Route 194's junction with Ky. Route 3385 and located 0.38 miles southeast of Souders Branch. The latitude is 37 degrees, 39 minutes, 54 seconds. The longitude is 82 degrees, 39 minutes, 43 seconds.

The proposed operation is located on the Lancer U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle map. The operation will use the area, contour and auger methods of surface mining. The surface area is owned by Sidney Priselac, John & Sally Goble, Lloyd Maynard, Billy Lou Crider, Charles Porter, Starr Porter and Mary Sue Hunter. The operation will affect an area within 100 feet of the public road (Brushy Fork of Home Branch, county road #1038). The operation will not involve relocation or closure of the public road.

The application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 2705 South Lake Drive, Prestonsburg, Kentucky 41653-1455. Written comments, objections, or requests for a public hearing or informal conference must be filed with the Director of Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. W-9/13, 9/20, 9/27, 10/4

The Hearing will be cancelled if the Department does not receive any public request within the time frame stated above.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO MINE

Pursuant to Application Number 836-0243, Major Revision #8

In accordance with KRS 350.070, notice is given that Addington Mining, Inc., 1500 North Big Run Road, Ashland, KY 41102 has applied for a major revision to an existing underground coal mining and reclamation operation located 1.5 miles east of Ivel in Pike and Floyd Counties. The major revision proposes to modify the incremental bonding plan, to change the proposed post mining land use on 2.79 acres from pastureland to residential land, and to change the configuration of hollowfill #8. The major revision will not add any surface disturbance acreage or underground acreage, making a total area of 833.53 acres within the proposed permit area.

The proposed operation is approximately 2 miles east from the junction of U.S. 23 and Ivy Creek Road and located .25 miles south of Ivy Creek. The latitude is 37 degrees, 35' 12". The longitude is 82 degrees, 37' 30".

The proposed major revision is located on the Harold and Broad Bottom U.S.G.S. 7 1/2 minute quadrangle maps. The surface area to be affected by the major revision is owned by Nancy Watkins, Kevin Goble, Harold Dean Burchett Heirs, Adrian Goble Heirs and Chester Layne Heirs.

The major revision proposes to change part of the originally permitted post-mining land use of forestland to residential. The revision also proposes to revise the incremental bonding plan and the configuration of one hollowfill.

The major revision application has been filed for public inspection at the Department for Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement's Prestonsburg Regional Office, 2705 South Lake Drive. Written comments, objections or requests for a permit conference must be filed with the Director, Division of Permits, #2 Hudson Hollow, U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601. ## Lines

by Beverly Carroll

Senior citizens, this week we're going to discuss grocery shopping. Space will not allow me to share many consumer tips but there are some I want to bring to your attention in an effort to help you eat better for less.

Food is the fuel that keeps us going. It is as important to the proper operation and maintenance of our bodies as gas and oil are to the vehicles in which we ride. Yet, many senior citizens in our region cannot afford to eat properly. Children are not the only ones who go to bed hungry in Appalachia.

It pleases me to see more and more grocery stores becoming cognizant of the needs of our older Americans. On the marquee of one area food market are the words, "Wednesday is Senior Citizen Day." Just this week, while glancing through one of our local newspapers, I learned of another store that offers a 5% discount to senior citizens. It has been my observation that more retail grocers in our five-county area are realizing the struggles older people have today and are offering incentives to attract senior citizen shoppers.

Some say that these are sales tactics. That the retailer's chief concern is to get people to shop in his/her store. I do not deny that sales tactics could play a role in the reason for stores to advertise in this manner.

This kind of advertising may be a drawing card to lure in senior citizens just as offering a "loss leader" is a drawing card to lure in all shoppers. But, in my opinion, there is nothing wrong with this advertising approach so long as you are treated courteously, you get the discount they advertise, and you do save money.

When this happens your shopping experience becomes a win/win situation. The retailer is getting your grocery dollars and you are going home with more groceries for your money.

Are there pitfalls you should watch for when shopping to save money? Yes!

1) Are prices better overall at this store or at other stores where they do not offer senior citizen discounts?

2) Are eye-catching displays really bargains? You might be surprised!

3) Watch for expiration dates. This is especially true of meat products, milk and eggs. It might at first appear to be a real savings but remember if the product is about to expire it is already old. Don't pass it up just yet. Dig further back on the shelf. The fresher meats, milk and eggs are usually behind those that are soon to expire. If you can't find the advertised brand with a date that states it still has a fair amount of shelf life,

4) Make sure you are picking up the sale item. So often sale items are right next to higher priced brands. The sign, unless you read it very carefully, is oftentimes designed to fool the trusting or rushed shopper. You may not discover your mistake until you are at the checkout. Who wants to slow down the line or make a scene? Or, worse, you may not realize you picked up the wrong item until you are home. Who will take the wrong product back to the store? This is a display tactic some department managers use, encouraged, of course, by the store manager or owner.

5) Watch for dented cans. For your health's sake don't buy them!

6) Other than for being polite when you first approach the cashier at the checkout, don't converse with him/her, or the person with you, or the person standing in line behind you. Watch the computer screen that shows the price of the item being scanned, or watch the register as a price is being keyed in. Make sure you are paying only what the product is advertised for—not the higher price it sold for last week or yesterday. Sometimes computers are not updated to reflect the product's reduced price. When this happens bring it to the cashier's attention. He/she will correct the situation.

7) Use coupons but only redeem them for items you know you will use. Don't buy something you don't like or don't need just because you have a coupon. Rover might like you for using it, but feeding the dog is not saving on your grocery bill. Make sure that the value of every coupon you give to the cashier is deducted from your bill. This is another reason you shouldn't talk when your groceries are being tallied. It's too easy to forget.

8) When you find a store you are really pleased with and one that serves senior citizens well, give that store manager a call or write a brief note. Don't fail to mention the kindness of the cashie, and the helpfulness of the carry-out personnel.

There are numerous other consumer tips that helps one to be a wise shopper. The suggestions mentioned today will protect your pocketbook and your health. You will also be carrying home more groceries for less money.
