Hammond, wife indicted for fraud

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond was indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Ashland. The indictment serves to bar Hammond from prosecuting criminal cases in district court.

District Judge James Allen what he was doing in court, Hammond answered, "I'm here as county attorney and in my role as prosecutor."

Allen told Hammond that he was disqualified from participating in the prosecution of district court cases because he has been indicted.

Under Kentucky law, if a county attorney or commonwealth attorney is indicted by a state or federal grand jury, they are immediately disqualified from acting as a prosecuting attorney while a charge against them is pending.

"In the event the disqualification relates to a commonwealth's attorney or county attorney, upon certification of such disqualification to the attorney general by the circuit

Judge appoints John Mann prosecutor

Prestonsburg attorney John Mann was appointed county attorney pro tem Thursday afternoon and will take over the prosecutorial duties of indicted Floyd County Attorney Jim Hammond.

Floyd District Judge James Allen appointed Mann to preside over the criminal division of district court matters because Hammond is disqualified from serving in that role due to being indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday.

Hammond and his wife, Janie, are accused of swindling thousands of dollars from the Division of

Forgy camp pulls plug on candidates' debate

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

There will be no face-to-face debate between gubernatorial candidates Larry Forgy and Paul Patton in Prestonsburg Monday night.

"The Forgy campaign was dissatisfied with the open-door policy of the debate," Scott Perry, Floyd County Chamber of Commerce president, said. "The Forgy campaigned made some unreasonable demands concerning crowd control."

The chamber of commerce was to sponsor the debate that would have brought the candidates face-to-face at the Wilkinson/Stumbo Convention Center Monday. WYMT-TV in Hazard was to have broadcast the debate. Both candidates had confirmed that they would participate.

Ted Jackson, Forgy's campaign chairman stated, in a letter to the chamber of commerce, he was concerned about the size of the audience.

"Under the original agreement, the audience size was to be small, with a live broadcast by WYMT for the benefit of the viewing audience to hear the ideas set forth by our candidates for governor," Jackson stated in the letter. "Now, however, the rules appear to have been changed and do not resemble the original discussion and agreement. What was once an organized forum to provide for the exchange of ideas with an audience of 60, now has the potential to be a rehash of Fancy Farm."

He suggested the debate be moved to the Hazard television station's studio and each candidate receive tickets for 10 seats.

Perry said the chamber board of directors thought the debate should be open to anyone and not limited to a certain number of supporters for either candidate.

"We could not come to terms on the issue of crowd size limits, therefore we had to withdraw our sponsorship of the event and apparently it will not take place," he said. "We were not willing to compromise on the open-door policy."

Perry said negotiations between the chamber and the Forgy cam-

Local pharmacies join protest of policy curbs

by Janice Shepherd
Managing Editor

Floyd County's seven independent pharmacies were draped in black Wednesday, September 20, joining a national protest of health insurance policies that they claim impair patient care.

At noon Wednesday, area independent pharmacies draped their prescription areas in black, papered over part of their windows, and lowered the lights in their pharmacies as part of a protest by NARD, the national association representing independent retail pharmacies.

NARD coordinated the national protest, "High Noon For Your Local Pharmacy — They Can't Stop Us From Caring For You." Officials at NARD say that insurers are placing patients at risk with a wide array of practices that undermine quality pharmacy care.

Specific insurance practices that affect pharmacists include restricting insurance enrollees' abilities to obtain their medication through health provider networks or mail order; reimbursing for drugs that are below the pharmacists' wholesale cost; and limiting drugs prescribed to those on the insurance company's list.

When that happens, the patient suffers, Harold Cooley, a Prestonsburg pharmacist participating in the protest, said Tuesday.

Woman may benefit from pilot project

The dream of owning a business could soon become reality for some Floyd County women. The Appalachian Regional Commission Wednesday approved $50,000 for the establishment of an entrepreneurial program for women in Eastern Kentucky.

The program, operated by the Women's Initiative Networking Groups (WINGS) in Berea, will be centered in seven counties in Southern and Eastern Kentucky.

The program will be piloted in Floyd, Harlan, Knott, Letcher, Leslie, Perry and Pike counties. Additional counties will be added if the program succeeds in the pilot counties.

The project will address the area's persistently high poverty levels, lack of job opportunities, low income, chronic unemploy-

New interstate could give south Floyd a close 'call'

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

If preliminary plans are approved, the Interstate 66 corridor linking the east coast with the midwest could come really close to Floyd County.

The plan, released by Congressman Hal Rogers Wednesday, shows the corridor touching the southernmost tip of Floyd, near Wheelwright.

"The plan shows the road coming through Eastern Kentucky in a general area within a 25-mile radius centered around areas like Hazard and Hindman," Frank Maisano, an aide in Hal Rogers' office, said. "It will be along a corridor that comes from Jenkins. It looks like it will go through Pikeville and it may touch the southern portion of Floyd County.

Even if the road does not physically find a home in Floyd County, it will still open up the region for economic development.

"This will open up the whole area to more than you can ever imagine, even if it doesn't touch Floyd County," Maisano said.

The plan was released after Rogers garnered enough support that the highway could be included as a part of major highway legislation.

"Today, the House approved a bill to designate the National Highway System Roads on the NHS list as priorities in future years for Federal construction, modernization, and improvement funds," Rogers stated in a press release.

Other area corridors on the list include U.S. 23, the Mountain Parkway, Ky. 114, and Ky. 80.

The corridor projects, such as the four-laning of the Mountain Parkway from Campton to Prestonsburg, will also receive emphasis.

"These are priority corridors for future improvements, modernization and all kinds of opportunities," Maisano said. "If these need improvements in the future, they will be one of the priorities."

Counseling service offers a 'cornerstone' for change

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

The building sits on the corner of a residential street. If it wasn't for the sign out front, no one would realize the home houses a counseling service, an adoption service, and a foster-parent service.

"We're well received in the community," Renita Tackett says. Tackett is the foster-care coordinator and the adoption-services coordinator for Cornerstone Counseling. "We've haven't been here long, but we're pleased with the reception we've received."

Cornerstone Counseling is a partnership project between the Enterprise and Pike Associations of the Southern Baptists, and the Kentucky Baptist Homes for Children. The facility is in Harold and offices are in a small home that was recently constructed there.

"We've been here since the end of February and we pay rent of $1 a year," Tackett says. "The idea is that when we outgrow this place, they can sell it as a house someday."

It is the setting that is sure to

"We want to let them know there is an alternative...We don't do abortions and we don't counsel for abortions..."

make clients of Tackett and Arlene West, the family/marriage counselor and First Step coordinator, comfortable.

"We're designed so that a pregnant girl can pull onto the carport, come in the back door, walk through the back of the house and directly into the counselor's office," Tackett says. "That protects her confidentiality. She doesn't have to wait in the waiting room."

"We work with women who aren't sure if they want to keep their babies or parent them," West says. "And we work with adoptive couples who want to adopt babies as well. We see a variety of people with a variety of problems."

She says pregnancy counseling was pretty "non-existent" before Cornerstone opened its doors. "We've been getting referrals from the guidance counselors at the schools," she says.

"We want to let them know there is an alternative," West says. "We don't do abortions and we don't counsel for abortions."

Protest

"Patient care is being sacrificed on the altar of make-believe cost-cutting," Cooley said, and he explained that substituting a prescribed drug for another medication that is approved by the insurance company can cause health problems for the patient.

For instance, if a doctor prescribes a Theophyllin product, a bronchial dilator used in treating lung diseases, and it is not on the patient's insurance company's approved drug list because it is too expensive, the pharmacy will be asked to substitute, Cooley said. The pharmacist must then call the doctor and ask him to prescribe medication that is on the insurance company's approved list. If a patient is suddenly changed to another drug, several things could happen, Cooley said, including his blood levels of Theodore go up or down, depending on the substituted medication. The patient must be monitored more frequently, he explained.

Substituting some medications, such as Theophyllin, is also against Kentucky's laws, Cooley said.

"The insurance companies are placing limitations on the doctors and the patients," he said. "They're comprising the patients more than us."

Lawrence Ford, a spokesperson for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Kentucky, said Wednesday that the state requires pharmacies to dispense cheaper, generic drugs to replace the more costly name brand medications.

NARD is also claiming that the independent pharmacies are suffering because insurance companies include only chain pharmacies in provider networks. "They're locking certain companies out ...

with their closed shop dispensing," Cooley said.

By stipulating that their insurance enrollees can only obtain medications from a certain place, the consumer will suffer, Cooley said.

"Consumers should have the freedom of choice," he said. Individuals can contact their companies' insurance plan administrators and protest limitations placed on them by their insurance companies, he added.

Ford said that independent pharmacists can be included in insurance plans because Kentucky's "Any Willing Provider" law prohibits insurance companies from excluding any pharmacy that is willing to accept the companies' policies.

Cooley said that some of those requirements often result in reimbursements to the pharmacies at cost or less than cost for the medication.

He is concerned that independent pharmacies will soon be a thing of the past. NARD estimates that in the past year independent pharmacies have gone out of business at a rate of almost 40 per week.

"Assuming an average of 2,000 patients per pharmacy," Cooley said, "that means about four million patients lost their local pharmacy in the past year."

"The neighborhood pharmacy, where the pharmacists know the names of the patients' families and keep their medical history — it isn't going to exist anymore."

Under state law, if a county attorney is indicted on a felony charge by a state or federal grand jury, the county attorney is immediately disqualified from acting as a prosecuting attorney.

On Thursday morning, Hammond appeared in district court and told Judge Allen that he was there as county attorney and in his role as a prosecutor.

Judge Allen told Hammond that he was disqualified from acting as a prosecutor due to the indictment and that he would not allow Hammond to participate in criminal proceedings.

In the order signed Thursday, Mann's appointment is effective Monday, September 25.

"Whereas, the regular elected county attorney for Floyd County has been disqualified. . . and whereas the responsibility for appointment of a county attorney pro tem to prosecute criminal cases in the absence of the regular elected county attorney falls to this court. . . and to provide for a continuation of the prosecution of criminal cases in the District Court in Floyd County; it is hereby ordered that Hon. John W. Mann. . . is hereby appointed county attorney pro tem to act as prosecuting attorney for Floyd County until such time as the disqualification of the regularly-elected county attorney is resolved by law," Judge Allen's order said.

Mann is a former assistant commonwealth attorney.

R/S Truck Body Company Inc., of Allen, was identified incorrectly as R&S Trucking in the Wednesday, September 20, issue in an article about the Floyd County Development Authority's project at Davidson property on U.S. 23 near I-64. R/S Truck Body Company Inc., will purchase a section of the property for development.

Also, in a story regarding Monday's Wheelwright City Commission meeting in Wednesday's edition of The Times, it was erroneously reported that Ricky Little had addressed the commission concerning the use of a backhoe. It was utility worker Mike Tackett who addressed the commission. Little has not worked for the city since May 1994.

paign had taken place and the chamber had agreed to a set number of seats for each candidate with an additional 100 seats for the general public. The Forgy campaign did not accept the negotiations, Perry said.

"That (a set number of seats for each candidate) was proposed by the Forgy campaign and we agreed to that," Perry said. "It still wasn't satisfactory to them. To hell with it."

The chamber said it would not sponsor a debate held in Hazard.

"It was the chamber's intention to not only present the issues to WYMT's viewing audience, but also to a broader Floyd County audience," Ann Latta, executive director of the chamber of commerce, wrote in response to a letter from Jackson. "For that reason, we would not be interested in hosting a closed debate in Perry County at the station's studios."

Teachers get $10,000 mini-grant

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

In about six weeks, several Floyd County teachers will find themselves in the classroom on a Saturday morning.

But, instead of standing before the class, they will be part of it.

Four teachers have received a grant for $10,000. The money will be used for professional development in the area of mathematics.

"We're going to have six three-hour workshops," Brian Handshoe, one of the four teachers who put the grant together, said. Handshoe is a teacher at Martin Elementary. Also in on the project are Janet Shepherd from Allen Elementary School, and Katherine Bailey and Bonnie Ward from Harold Elementary School.

The Kentucky Middle Grades Mathematics Network awarded the grant, and 62 others to teachers in 58 school districts and private schools in Kentucky. The total grant money awarded was $374,373 and the grants ranged from $1,100 to $10,000.

Shepherd, who actually authored the grant, said she wasn't surprised to learn the group received the money.

"I knew it was a good program," she said.

The workshops have been scheduled for November 7, December 9, and April 6.

"We were planning to have three days of different activities, but then UK (which sponsored the grant) advised us to do three workshops with the same teachers," Shepherd said. "We're going to invite two teachers from each school, then they can go back home and train others. We hope to get more people involved that way."

The grant was written to accommodate 30 middle-grades teachers and classroom visitations after the workshops.

The workshops are designed to help teachers add hands-on math projects to their classrooms. Some of the activities teachers will work on include:

- Probability and statistics using DNA samples. "Kids should really be into this because of O.J.," Handshoe said.

- Building a model city and drawing it in 3-D. "Kids catch on fast, but this one is hard for adults," Shepherd added.

- Determining the most cost-effective floor plan for a building. "They have to submit costs for this one," Shepherd said.

- Alternative measuring methods. "Students learn to predict the height of the tree by comparing its height in a mirror," Shepherd said.

"There are hundreds and hundreds of activities we'll be looking at," Handshoe added.

Shepherd said the activities are geared for students in grades five through eight.

"We're trying to address decision-making skills and are looking for items to add to the math portfolio," she said. "People have been looking for stuff to put into them. And here they are."

The school system is adding $8,850 as a match to the grant.

The Kentucky Middle Grades Mathematics Network was launched three years ago when the National Science Foundation awarded Kentucky's eight state universities a $2.8 million grant to establish a network of middle grades mathematics teacher leaders.

The group offered a similar workshop last year. "This is the first year they offered the grants," Shepherd said. "The National Science Foundation expected about 200 teachers to apply. There were a lot less than that so they told us to write grants."

And it's a good thing. She said teachers were asking for more workshops. "Some said they felt the stuff was over their student's heads. Others said they were pleased. Most were asking when we would do it again."

He said no dates have been set to start work on the four-laning of the Mountain Parkway, but said that could happen in the near future.

"As part of the National Highway System, these roads are key transportation links for the region and the nation," Rogers said. "That means they are priorities for Federal road funds, which is critical for bringing investments and jobs to our area."

The legislation also locks in the Southern and Eastern Kentucky route for the proposed interstate.

"I-66 is a vital long-term project for Southern and Eastern Kentucky," Rogers said. "Nothing we do would bring more jobs and income to our region than this major new transportation corridor."

Last year, Kentucky received almost $1 million in federal funding from the U.S. Department of Transportation to begin the preliminary planning for I-66 in Kentucky.

Maisano stressed that the plan is still preliminary.

"It's still very, very early, still very preliminary," he said. "But we're looking at opening up that whole area of Eastern Kentucky."

But, he said the project has progressed faster than it has in Missouri.

"We are a little further along than a lot of people realize," he said. "We've already been granted about $900,000 to do some impact studies and to see about getting the ball rolling."

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY
PIKEVILLE
INDICTMENT NO. 95-22

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
VS.
JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND
CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND

INTRODUCTION

1. At all times relevant to this indictment, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, a defendant herein, was the duly elected County Attorney for Floyd County, Kentucky. In that position, he administered a staff of attorneys and support personnel known as the Floyd County Attorney's Office, and he was responsible for performing the duties of that office as required by law, including, among others, criminal prosecutions and child support collection and enforcement. Additionally, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND was engaged in the general practice of law in the firm of Hammond Law Offices, P.S.C., located in Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky.

2. At all times relevant to this indictment, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, a defendant herein and wife of JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND, was an employee of the Floyd County Attorney's Office. In that position, she performed administrative duties for the Floyd County Attorney's Office, including preparation of monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports for personnel and employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Hammond Law Office. Additionally, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND was the office manager of the Hammond Law Offices, P.S.C., located at Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky.

3. At all times relevant to this indictment, the Cabinet for Human Resources, Department of Social Insurance, Division of Child Support Enforcement (hereinafter the "Division of Child Support Enforcement") located in Frankfort, Franklin County, Kentucky was a public office affiliated with the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and was an agency of state government, as that term is defined in Title 18, United States Code, Section 666(d)(2).

4. At all times relevant to this indictment, there was in existence a national program for child support collection and enforcement, as set forth at Title 42, United States Code, Chapter 7, Part D (Title, 42, United States Code, Section 651 et. seq.). The Commonwealth of Kentucky participated in the program under a "state plan" formulated pursuant to Title 42, United States Code, Section 654. The state agency responsible for administering the above program was the Division of Child Support Enforcement. The Floyd County Attorney's Office entered into Agreements with the Division of Child Support Enforcement, in compliance with Title 42, United States Code, Section 654(7), pursuant to which the Floyd County Attorney's Office performed child support enforcement duties within Floyd County, Kentucky.

5. Pursuant to Title 42, United States Code, Section 655 and 658, the United States government made payments to the Division of Child Support Enforcement as a result of the state's participation in the federal child support and collection program. Thereafter, the Division of Child Support Enforcement, pursuant to its cooperation agreement with the Floyd County Attorney's Office, remitted a portion of the funds to the Floyd County Attorney's Office as reimbursement for expenses and salaries incurred by the Floyd County Attorney's Office in its participation in the federal child support and collection program.

6. During each of the one year periods of July, 1990 through June, 1991; July, 1991 through June, 1992; July, 1992 through June, 1993; July, 1993 through June, 1994; and July, 1994 through June, 1995; the Division of Child Support Enforcement received well in excess of $10,000 of federal funds under the federal child support and collection program described in paragraphs four (4) and five (5) above.

7. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreements between the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Division of Child Support Enforcement, the Floyd County Attorney's Office was authorized to use the employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and of the Hammond Law Office to perform services in the area of child support enforcement, and to obtain reimbursement from the Division of Child Support Enforcement for the time so spent, at the same hourly rate of pay that said employees were paid by the County Attorney's Office or Hammond Law Office.

8. Pursuant to the terms of the Agreements between the Floyd County Attorney's Office and the Division of Child Support Enforcement, the Floyd County Attorney's Office was required by the Division of Child Support Enforcement to submit, for purposes of determining the amount of reimbursement due, monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports stating the name of the employee and the number of hours he/she worked on child support matters.

[T. 18 U.S.C. § 371]

THE GRAND JURY CHARGES:

10. The allegations contained in paragraphs one (1) through nine (9) of the Introduction are restated and incorporated herein by reference.

11. Beginning on or about January 1, 1990, and continuing until the date of this indictment, in Floyd County, Franklin County, and other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky, defendants herein, and divers other persons known and unknown to the Grand Jury, did conspire and agree together and with each other, to commit offenses against the United States, to wit: as the County Attorney of Floyd County, Kentucky and as agents thereof, they did obtain by fraud property, that is money, valued in excess of $5,000, from the Division of Child Support Enforcement, an agency of Kentucky state government, which received, in any one year period, benefits in excess of $10,000 under the Federal assistance program for child support collection and enforcement, as set forth at Title 42, United States Code, Chapter 7, Part D (Title, 42, United States Code, Section 651 et. seq.); all in violation of 18 United States Code, Section 666.

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND
AND
CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND,

MANNER AND MEANS OF THE CONSPIRACY

12. The object and purpose of the conspiracy was that from on or about January of 1990 and continuing to the date of this indictment, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND engaged in a scheme to obtain by fraud money in excess of $5,000 from the Division of Child Support Enforcement by knowingly submitting false and fraudulent monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports for reimbursement, in that said monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports contained inflated time figures for a number of employees, including, among others:

- (1) JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND,
- (2) CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND,
- (3) Christopher Waugh,
- (4) Lorie Dawn Foley, and
- (5) Pamela Lynn Wiley

13. It was a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND instructed individual employees of the Floyd County Attorney's Office and individual employees of the Hammond Law Office to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND knew were false and inflated, thereby giving the appearance that the employee had worked substantially more time than he/she had actually worked in performing child support enforcement duties.

14. It was further a part of the conspiracy that CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND insisted employees to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports while CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND concealed all but the signature line thereby preventing the employee from knowing the amount of time billed on his/her behalf.

15. It was further a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND from January of 1990 through June of 1995 regularly billed numerous hours per month to the Division of Child Support Enforcement falsely claiming he had provided substantial legal advice and performed substantial in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office, when in truth and in fact, as he well knew, he seldom provided either legal advice or performed in-court legal services toward child support collections and enforcement on behalf of the Floyd County Attorney's Office.

16. It was further a part of the conspiracy that JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, acting through the Floyd County Attorney's Office, obtained by fraud money well in excess of $5,000, money to which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND, defendants herein, were not rightfully entitled.

OVERT ACTS

17. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to obtain the objects thereof, the following overt acts were committed by members of the conspiracy, in Floyd County, Franklin County and in other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky:

(1) At various times between January of 1990 and January of 1994, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND directed Lorie Dawn Foley to sign monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports without permitting Lorie Dawn Foley to know how many hours she was reporting. CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND would obscure all of the monthly employee time sheet/payroll billing report form except for the signature line.

(2) In or about May or June of 1990, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Pamela Lynn Wiley regarding which employees monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports should be submitted, how many hours should be billed to each employee, and how many hours should be billed to JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND as hours spent in child support enforcement.

(3) From on or about January of 1990 through April of 1991, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Pamela Lynn Wiley to bill a large number of child support enforcement hours even though Pamela Lynn Wiley actually spent only a very few hours in child support enforcement activities.

(4) In or about January of 1990, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND gave Christopher Waugh a $6,000.00 a year raise which was paid by the Commonwealth of Kentucky, Division of Child Support Enforcement.

(5) Subsequent to the event described in Overt Act (4), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND invented the hours allegedly worked by Christopher Waugh, and completed Christopher Waugh's employee time sheet/payroll billing report forms accordingly. CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND then instructed Christopher Waugh to sign his monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which falsely reflected hours worked by Christopher Waugh in child support enforcement.

(6) From on or about July of 1994 to March or April of 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND stopped sending monthly employee time sheets/ payroll billing reports to the Division of Child Support Enforcement so as not to cause an audit.

(7) In March of 1995, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND instructed Christopher Waugh to bill the Division of Child Support Enforcement 38 to 40 hours per month for merely walking through the Floyd County Child Support Office daily and speaking to someone for a few minutes.

(8) On or about March 8, 1995, on a Saturday morning, JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND called a meeting in the Jimmy Hammond Law Office of the employees involved in the Floyd County Child Support Enforcement Program. The purpose of the meeting was to construct the monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which had not been submitted on behalf of the employees to the Division of Child Support Enforcement since July of 1994.

(9) At or about the time of the meeting described in Overt Act (8), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND told CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND and Mary Carol Sturgill to bill an hour for all three routine staff meetings on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays despite the fact that five minutes or less was devoted to child support activities at each of the meetings.

(10) At the meeting described in Overt Act (8), JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND told Mary Carol Sturgill to bill around 32 hours on each of her time sheets/payroll sheets dating back to July 1, 1994.

(11) At various times between March of 1992 and June of 1994, CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND presented monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports to Sandra Belcher, Robert Bishop, Marsha Hackworth, Christopher Waugh, Mary Carol Sturgill, Geneva Skeens, Lorie Foley, and others in which JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND had created inflated hours and activities, and CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND instructed each to sign his/her respective monthly employee time sheet/payroll billing report form without accurately determining the amount of time he/she actually worked and without permitting the employee to know the amount of time reported on his/her behalf; all in violation of Title 18 United States Code, Section 371.

THE GRAND JURY FURTHER CHARGES:

18. The allegations contained in paragraphs one (1) through nine (9) of the Introduction are restated and incorporated herein by reference.

19. From on or about July 1, 1994 through and including June 30, 1995, in Floyd County, Franklin County and other places in the Eastern District of Kentucky, defendants herein, aided and abetted by one another, as the County Attorney of Floyd County, Kentucky and as agents thereof, did obtain by fraud property, that is money, valued in excess of $5,000 from the Division of Child Support Enforcement, an agency of Kentucky state government which received benefits in excess of $10,000 under the Federal assistance program for child support collection and enforcement as set forth at Title 42, United States Code, Chapter 7, Part D (Title, 42, United States Code, Section 651 et. seq.); all in violation of 18 United States Code, Section 666, and Title 18, United States Code, Section 2.

JIMMY MARTIN HAMMOND
AND

CLAUDINA "JANIE" HAMMOND,

Indictments

judge or district judge of the jurisdiction in which said prosecuting attorney has been duly elected, the attorney general shall name an attorney to serve as special prosecutor. . . according to Kentucky Revised Statute 15.734.

Pamela Murphy, deputy attorney general, said Thursday that under the law, Hammond's disqualification was effective once the indictment was handed down. She added that the certification noted in the statute related to the district judge notifying the attorney general's office that a special prosecutor would be needed.

As for the appointment of a special prosecutor, Murphy said that appointment could come from the attorney general's office or the district judge has the option of naming a pro tem prosecutor.

In regard to Hammond's duties as advisor to the fiscal court, Murphy said that if the fiscal court made a determination that there was a conflict of interest, the court could hire outside counsel.

Hammond told the judge that the indictment was "mere allegations. . . I firmly deny," and that he has not been found guilty of committing any crime. He told the judge that he was entitled to due process in regard to being removed as the county's prosecutor.

Hammond also said that the attorney general's office would have to determine if he was disqualified and he asked that criminal cases in district court be continued.

Judge Allen said "the court will not allow you to prosecute cases here unless I'm (directed) by a higher court or the attorney general's office." The judge announced that all criminal cases would be continued until a prosecutor is named and apologized to those who showed up for court Thursday.

"I apologize, but the court has no control over what has happened," the judge announced. "Cases will be continued until we have another prosecutor."

Hammond breezed through the courtroom Thursday morning prior to the start of court and took his usual place, standing before the judge's bench. Hammond and Kentucky State Police captain Robert Forsythe met briefly in the jury room prior to the start of court. Hammond's appearance in the courtroom took most by surprise.

Attorney Ned Pillersdorf, who was not in the courtroom, but arrived at the courthouse shortly after the incident, said Hammond should resign his post as county attorney.

"If the indictment was unrelated to his job duties as county attorney, he shouldn't have to resign," Pillersdorf said. "But, because the charges are related to his job as county attorney, he ought to resign. His continued presence in the courtroom is an offense to Floyd County. He doesn't care about the people of Floyd County; all he cares about is himself. I find his conduct outrageous and obstructive to the county."

Hammond declined to comment to reporters when he left the courthouse Thursday morning.

Hammond and his wife are accused of bilking thousands of dollars from his office of Child Support Enforcement by submitting "grossly inflated" payroll records to the state Division of Child Support. Federal authorities contend that Hammond and his wife began defrauding the government on January 1, 1990, the day Jim Hammond took office as county attorney and it continued until the day the indictment was issued.

The indictment alleges that in January 1990, Hammond gave former caseworker Chris Waugh a $6,000 a year raise for his work in child support enforcement, but that Hammond and his wife invented the hours worked by Waugh. Waugh, who is the county's deputy-judge executive, was then directed by Hammond and his wife to sign false time sheets and payroll billing reports, according to the indictment.

"In March of 1995, Jimmy Martin Hammond instructed Christopher Waugh to bill the Division of Child Support Enforcement 38 to 40 hours per month for merely walking through the Floyd County Child Support Office daily and speaking to someone for a few minutes," the indictment alleges.

The indictment also charges that:

- From January 1990 through April of 1991, Hammond instructed Pamela Lynn Wiley to bill a large number of child support enforcement hours even though Wiley actually spent very few hours in that office.

- On or about March 8, 1995, a Saturday morning, Jim Hammond called a meeting in his private law office to construct monthly employee time sheets/payroll billing reports which had not been submitted on behalf of his employees. Also at that meeting, Janie Hammond instructed Mary Carol Sturgill to bill an hour for all three routine staff meetings on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays despite the fact that five minutes or less was devoted to child support activities.

- During various times between January 1990 and January 1994, Janie Hammond directed Lorie Foley to sign monthly time sheets/payroll billing without permitting Foley to know how many hours Janie Hammond was reporting. Janie Hammond would allegedly obscure all of the monthly employee time sheet/payroll billing report except for the signature line.

Federal officials would not say how much money was involved in the alleged fraud, but that "as a result of their scheme, Jimmy Martin Hammond and Janie Hammond collected much more money from the Division of Child Support Enforcement than they were entitled to receive."

The Hammonds will be arraigned on the charges October 2 at 1 p.m. in U.S. District Court at Pikeville.

The full text of the federal indictments appears in this issue of The Times.

Note: An indictment is not an indication of guilt, but a determination by a grand jury that the charges merit further judicial review.

Local resident in O.T. program

An emphasis on professional development, wide variety of course options and convenient scheduling have made Eastern Kentucky University's graduate program in occupational therapy an attractive choice for practicing therapists looking to advance their skills and careers.

Susan Goble, Prestonsburg, is among those enrolled in the program. The commonwealth's only master's degree program in occupational therapy attracts students from Kentucky and several surrounding states. Many remain in Kentucky, which is sorely lacking in occupational therapists.

"Originally, when the program was begun in 1990, we thought that about half of our students would be full-time, but it didn't happen that way," noted Joy Anderson, chair of the Department of Occupational Therapy, which also offers a baccalaureate degree in the field. "People who are already practicing don't want to give up their well-paying jobs."

Because most students in the program are enrolled part-time while holding down full-time jobs in the field, their progress toward a degree is slowed somewhat. However, according to one of the program's most successful graduates, the degree is worth the wait.

Greg Pitts, an early graduate of the program in 1993, was 1994 Clinician of the Year for Rehabilitation Inc., one of the nation's largest occupational therapy service providers. Now he's director of Rehabilitation for Work Recovery, an on-site rehabilitation contract service for Toyota.

The program offers four areas of emphasis: pediatrics, rehabilitation, administration/leadership and rural health.

Classes are offered in the late afternoon and evening and on weekends, and students also have a choice of sites. Besides its on-campus classes, the Department has offered graduate O.T. classes in Lexington and Louisville.

For more information about the graduate program in occupational therapy, call 606-622-3300.

Hicks: Successful CPA exam candidate

Melissa Elaine Hicks, former Floyd County resident, has received notification from the Kentucky Board of Accountancy that she has passed all parts of the May CPA exam on her first attempt.

The CPA exam is one of the most difficult professional examinations given, with a first attempt passing rate of only 5-7 percent.

Hicks is a 1992 Magna Cum Laude graduate of Morehead State University, where she received her Bachelor of Business Administration with an accounting option. Upon graduation, she was honored by MSU's Accounting faculty when she was selected as the 1992 outstanding accounting graduate.

Hicks is a resident of Flemingsburg. She is the daughter of Doyle and Glenda Hicks. Her grandparents are Thelma Osborne of Hunter and Gladys Hicks of Langley.

Experience becomes prescience.

The general fund tax levied in fiscal year 1994-95 was 56.4 cents and 62.8 cents and produced combined revenues of $4,605,933. The proposed General Fund tax rate of 59.3 cents for real property is expected to produce $3,747,010 and the rate of 63.5 cents for personal property is expected to produce $1,158,091 based on available information concerning collection rates.

The general areas to which revenue in excess of 1994-95 revenue is to be allocated are as follows: Approximately $11,500 for cost of collections; approximately $11,800 for the building fund; approximately $200,000 for the instructional program; approximately $76,000 for operation and maintenance of facilities.

The compensating tax rate for 1995-96 is 56.4 cents for real property and should produce $3,563,766 and 62.8 cents for personal property which should produce $1,145,325.

Floodplains and Wetlands Notice of Explanation

The Floyd County Fiscal Court intends to undertake improvements to a 35.7-acre tract of land located on U.S. 23 near the City of Allen in Floyd County, Ky., generally known as the Davidson property. The acreage will be owned by the Floyd County Development Authority, which intends to construct improvements on the site necessary to develop and utilize the site as an industrial park. Site improvements include earth moving, raising the majority of the site above the 100-year floodplain, installation of water mains on site, construction of an access road and/or turn lanes, a package treatment plant, and raising an existing gas well.

Upon completion of these improvements, the site will contain a total of 27.3 net usable acres, 20.4 on the west side of U.S. 23 and 6.9 acres on the east side. The larger tract will be sold to a manufacturing company which will construct a new 200,000 SF facility and expand its number of permanent FTE employees to a total of 250. The 6.9 acre tract will be marketed by the Development Authority to prospective new companies. The proposed project will provide 77 new FTE jobs, and will create additional acreage to be marketed to companies wishing to locate in the County.

Due to the nature of the site, the lack of similar acreage in the area and/or the high cost of development for other acreage, the proposed project cannot be undertaken in any other location. There is, therefore, no practicable alternative to the proposed project.

The proposed activities will not result in a permanent or long-term negative impact to the 100-year floodplain. Conversely, the floodplain will not pose negative impacts to the proposed construction. Short-term minimization procedures during construction will include siltation barriers, vegetative cover and erosion control measures.

Failure to provide these improvements could result in the loss of more than 100 existing FTE jobs and failure to create 77 new FTE positions. It is the Floyd County Fiscal Court's judgment that the improvements proposed in the Floyd County Industrial Site 1994 Community Development Block Grant project outweighs consideration of Executive Orders 11988 and 11990.

Agencies, in addition to Community Development Block Grant, involved in this project are Local Government Economic Development funds (coal severance), conventional bank financing, a loan by the Floyd County Development Authority, and equity to be provided by the manufacturing firm.

Comments on the proposed project will be accepted until 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 9, 1995. Please send comments to Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, Floyd County Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

A more detailed description of the project and the FIA flood maps are available for citizen review at Big Sandy Area Development District, 100 Resource Drive, Prestonsburg, KY 41653.

Counseling

She says adoptions are not often considered in Eastern Kentucky. "This is an area where people say 'We take care of our own.' But these girls should not be forced into these decisions," West says.

"Often they aren't thinking beyond the needs of their own families," Tackett adds, speaking of both the decision for a teenage girl to keep her child and the need for foster parents.

In addition to the pregnancy counseling and the adoption services, Tackett provides a training service for foster parents.

"There just aren't enough homes and we were seeing referrals going far away from here," she says. "We're working on getting new foster parents and training them."

Tackett said Floyd County has only a couple of foster homes available and some children were being sent to Morehead and Mt. Sterling.

Since she started, she has two families — one in Floyd County — licensed, two in training and another ready to start training.

"There are only three foster families in Pike County and Floyd is not in any better shape," Tackett says. "One foster home has 10 children in it."

Tackett says she wants to place foster children in a "well-rounded home with two or three children. And we want the parents to try to specifically deal with what has been happening to that child."

She emphasizes that foster homes don't have to be "show-places. The ideal home is one that is receptive to children, that has the flexibility to deal with their needs," she says. "We're looking for homes that are clean, adequate and well-maintained."

Intensive background checks — including police and credit checks — are completed before a family is admitted into the training program. If children are part of the family, they are included in the training process. If the parents are married, Tackett says she asks that they be married at least two years before applying.

"We want that relationship to be stable before we add the stress of a child who is not theirs," she says.

Families must complete 30 hours of training with specific emphasis on communication skills and behavior management. Two-income parents are not eliminated from the process just because they work. Day care costs are reimbursed.

Tackett says it is most important for foster parents to provide spiritual opportunities.

"That doesn't mean they have to be church-going people. They just have to provide spiritual opportunities," she says. "This is a ministry and it takes a strong commitment. It's a whole lifestyle changing thing."

West also does family and marriage counseling and arranges her hours so families who work and go to school can still utilize her services.

She says some of her referrals come from divorce lawyers. "They send them here for one last effort," West says. "But I would never counsel them to stay in an abusive home."

She said children deserve "one good parent in the home," rather than being subjected to an abusive situation.

Counseling services are billed at $60 per hour, but West says scholarships are available.

"There's no charge for pregnancy counseling and no one will be turned away if they can't pay," she says. "And most insurance companies will cover mental health counseling."

The services offered were those the Southern Baptist associations thought were lacking in the area, West says.

"These were three services that the two associations felt were needed, but not provided, in the area," Tackett says.

"And they wanted those services to be provided with a Christian perspective," West adds.

The clientele is quickly growing. "I've got about 40 people on my caseload," West says. "Since May, I've had 60 referrals from the pastors of the churches in the area."

And work will continue in the foster parent program. "We'd like to have one family in every school district in the area," Tackett says. "And that means we've got a lot of work to do."

A Look At Sports
by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Could it really happen? Could the Reds fold?

Naaaah!
All they have to do is win one more game and the Central Division title is theirs.
But again, they have a nine-game lead with nine games to play. All nine games are on the road, away from the not so friendly confines of Riverfront Stadium. But even Houston would have to win its remaining nine games to create a tie for the title.

The Reds are upset because playoff tickets are not selling. After all, the Cleveland Indians sold theirs within hours of them going on sale. But the Reds are not the ballclub the Indians are.

Look at the past two weeks, maybe go back three weeks. Cincinnati just hasn't been the same team they were during the month of August. They resemble the team that opened the season with an 1-8 record, losing the first six.

Much of the problems the Reds have experienced lately are the result of the quiet bats of Ron Gant, Hal Morris and Reggie Sanders. Pitching is suspect with the playoffs around the corner. I see no solid starter for the Reds who can go in and pitch a quality game outside of Pete Schorek. Smiley was at one time 12-0 and now he is 12-4. David Wells looked good for a while, but he has won only one of his last four games. No consistency.

Marty said over the radio Wednesday that most of the Reds would rather play Denver in the playoffs. Well, the series would open at Denver — should the Reds play them — where the Reds have found it hard to win.

In fact, of the two teams, Los Angeles and Denver, the Reds have had little success against either. So, could just a five-game set be all for the Reds in the playoffs? They will return home October 6 in what could very well be their final game of the '95 season.

Baseball needs to make some kind of move this winter. Selecting a strong commissioner would be a good place to start. Then baseball must come to an agreement with the players' union and get that monkey behind them. It will take several years to mend feelings between baseball and their fans.

In a season where attendance has been devastating, the owners are crying for bigger stadiums when they cannot fill the present ones.

Tickets prices have gotten so expensive that only the elite will be able to afford the price of a ticket, a hot dog and a Coke™. The average family will not be able to support the game if things continue as they are.

And ballplayers' salaries have become astronomical as well. It has reached the point of being ridiculous.

How many Cal Ripken Jr.'s left to help keep the game interesting is unknown. There seems to be more Deion Sanders, Bobby

Red, White and Blue Car Show to offer many prizes

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The eighth annual Trans Financial Bank Red, White and Blue Car Show is scheduled for October 21 at the bank's Martin parking lot and excitement is already in the air.

The car show has become one of Eastern Kentucky's best and this year is to be no different. A large turnout is expected for this year's show, according to car show director Tina Mills. Last year, more than 130 cars took part in the show.

The show is part of the Red, White and Blue Days celebrated in Martin in honor of veterans. The show, to which cars arrive at in the early morning hours, draws much of the celebration's crowd.

Trophies will be presented to first, second and third place finishers in the show. This year there will be a different class for cars made since 1980 and up. The top five finishers in that category will be entered in the Top 50 cars that will be recognized.

Special categories for the top 50 cars include: Best of Show, Best GM, Best Mopar, Best Chevy, Best Ford, Best Paint, Best Interior, Best Engine and Longest Distance.

The 1980 and up categories include: Best Late Model, Best Mini-truck, Best Ford, Best Chevy, Best Mopar, Best GM and Best Chrysler. The Best of Show will receive a $1,000 savings bond.

Other prizes awarded will be a $100 savings bond, cases of oil, T-shirts, sweatshirts, dash plaques (first 100) and other door prizes.

Registration fee is $10 per car. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. and will run until 11:30 a.m. with judging set to begin at noon. However, Mills said if car owners begin early to get the cars ready judging can begin earlier.

Entertainment will be provided by the Kentucky Junior Opry from 10

Sandy Valley fullback Chase Gibson was off for pay dirt as he scored on this 55-yard run against Johnson County last Monday night at Betsy Layne. Sandy Valley Bobcats turn back Johnson Co. 36-30

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Sandy Valley Bobcats elementary football team posted its first win of the season by defeating a stubborn Johnson County team 36-30 last Monday night at the Lloyd Hamilton Athletic Complex at Betsy Layne.

Chase Gibson ran for three touchdowns and quarterback Aaron Swiger passed for one to lead the Bobcats.

But Johnson County made a move in the fourth quarter and turned a 36-12 Sandy Valley lead into an adventure.

In the third period, trailing by 18, Derrick Sublett scored on a 2-yard run with 4:16 left to make it a 36-18 game.

In the fourth period, Johnson County stopped a Sandy Valley drive that took the ball to the Eagles 15-yard line when the Bobcats were threatening to score.

Taking over the ball on downs, Mike Ferguson broke tackle and galloped 85 yards for pay dirt with 6:50 left in the game for a 36-24 score.

Sandy Valley looked to just run the clock, but in four downs and out for the Bobcats, Johnson County took over with excellent field position. It took only one play for Brandon Pack to hit Ferguson with a 24-yard half-back pass to pull the Eagles to within six, 36-30, with 2:38 left in the contest.

Sandy Valley picked up a crucial first down and was able to run the clock out for the win.

Sandy Valley took the open kick off and drove the ball to the Johnson County 1-yard line where the Eagles put up a goal-line stand. The Eagles moved the ball up to the 5-yard line when Ferguson took the handoff around left end and went 95 yards for the touchdown and a 6-0 Johnson County lead.

The Bobcats didn't let the lead stand long as Gibson scampered 51 yards for a touchdown with 57 seconds left in the first period, and Shannon Williams kicked the two-point PAT for an 8-6 Sandy Valley lead.

Allen Central hopes to extend Powell County losing streak

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Coach Glenn Reeves and the Allen Central Rebels had to have built some confidence despite losing to Prestonsburg last Friday night in a district game.

The Rebels played the Blackcats close and one has to wonder what would have been the outcome if not for the three crucial mistakes early in the game.

But that was last week and the Rebels take to the road as they hope to extend Powell County's 24-game losing streak (longest in the state) to 25.

Powell County dropped a 49-0 decision to host Betsy Layne last week.

Allen Central surprised a lot of fans against Prestonsburg when they

Prestonsburg visits unbeaten Betsy Layne in district game

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

High school football will reach the half-way point tonight when several key games are played around the area.

Betsy Layne is undefeated after the first four weeks and has the area talking about the play of the Bobcats. But the Prestonsburg Blackcats are hoping to inflict the first loss of the season on the team.

Betsy Layne will have a two-way connection with the Blackcats. Coach John Derossett and fullback Chris Hicks previously have been in the Blackcats' camp.

As a former Prestonsburg assistant, Derossett and his Bobcats will host Bill Letton and the Prestonsburg Blackcats tonight in a top county game. Derossett came to Betsy Layne in '91 after serving four seasons as Letton's assistant.

While the two are the best of friends, when the ball is tied up for the opening kickoff, both coaches will have one thing on their mind — a victory.

Betsy Layne has played in the shadow of the rest of the county teams for a long time, but this year it is different. The Bobcats are off to a strong 4-0 start. The fast start has allowed the Bobcats to pick up two votes in the polls for the top 10 teams in the state in 2A.

After reentering district competition, Betsy Layne has beaten Morgan County and Powell County to go 2-0. Prestonsburg, another district foe, offers the Bobcats another step toward the playoffs with a win.

Two years ago, Prestonsburg ruled district play, winning 13 consecutive games until falling in the state championship at Louisville. Now the Blackcats are looking for positive things in the final six games of the season. Letton's ballclub is 1-3 overall and 1-1 in district play. They won over Allen Central last week to even their district record.

"I think three wins in the district would be enough for a playoff berth," Derossett said.

But the Bobcats are not just looking to make the playoffs with the fourth berth. They think they can go higher than fourth place.

A victory against Prestonsburg would go a long way toward helping the Bobcats regain the confidence they need for the final drive.

Losses to always-tough Rockcastle County, Sheldon Clark and Whitesburg sent the Blackcats to a 0-3 start, shades of the 1992 season when the team dropped its first four games and came back to win the district.

Prestonsburg found success in the passing game against Allen Central last week as Letton went with only one quarterback, Mike Castle. Castle completed five passes for 157 yards and some of the completions came at critical times when the Cats found themselves facing long yardage.

Sure-handed John Ortega seems to be the favorite target of Castle as does Keith Marsillett, Gavin Hale and Jon Estep. Castle has completed 28 percent of his passes, hitting his receivers on 11 of 38 passes for 236 yards. He has tossed for one touchdown and has been intercepted once.

CONCURRENT NOTICE

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS Sept. 22, 1995

The Floyd County Fiscal Court, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653, (606) 886-9193, applicant.
 TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS:

On or about Tuesday, Oct. 10, 1995, the above-named county will request the Kentucky Department of Local Government to release federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project

Floyd County Industrial Site Project. Improvements to a 35.7-acre tract of land located adjacent to U.S. 23 near the City of Allen in Floyd County, Ky., generally known as the Davidson property. The acreage will be owned by the Floyd County Development Authority, which intends to construct improvements on the site necessary to develop and utilize the site as an industrial park. Site improvements include earth moving, raising the majority of the site above the 100-year floodplain, installation of water mains on site, construction of an access road and/or turn lanes, a package treatment plant, and raising an existing gas well.

These improvements will result in a developed industrial site upon which companies may locate and retain/create employment in the area.

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the above-named county has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91 -190).

The reasons for the decision, pursuant to Part 58.16(a)(3), are: 1) No public agency or individual has presented any data which indicates there are any negative environmental impacts to result from this project; 2) All environmental impact issues raised during environmental assessment have been resolved or will be addressed during project implementation; and 3) All NEPA requirements can be met without preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the within project has been made by the above-named county which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, in the Office of the Floyd County Judge-Executive, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, Ky., during normal office hours.

No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of federal funds.

All interested agencies, groups, and persons who disagree with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the County to the Office of the County Judge-Executive. Such written comments should be received at the Office of the Judge-Executive, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, Ky., on or before the close of business Monday, Oct. 9, 1995. Any comments received will be considered and the county will not request the release of federal funds or take any administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

The Floyd County Fiscal Court will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the Kentucky Department of Local Government (KDLG) under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The County is also certifying to the State that the County and Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, as chief executive officer, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision making, and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the County may use the Block Grant funds and the State and HUD will have satisfied their responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. The State will accept an obligation to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases:

(a) The certification was not in fact executed by the county's Certifying Officer.

(b) The County has failed to make one of the two findings pursuant to S58.41 or to make the written determination decision required by S578.47, 58.53 or 58.64 for the project, as applicable.

(c) The County has omitted one or more of the steps set forth at Subparts F and G for the preparation and completion of an EA.

(d) No opportunity was given to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation or its Executive Director to review the effect of the project on a property listed on the National Register of Historic Places, or found to be eligible for such listing by the Secretary of the Interior, in accordance with 36 CFR Part 800.

(e) Objections have been made by a federal agency.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58) and may be addressed to the Kentucky Department of Local Government, Division of Community Programs, 1024 Capital Center Drive, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objection received after Wednesday, Oct. 25, 1995 will be considered by the State.

Signed: Judge-Executive Robert Meyer, Floyd County Fiscal Court, Courthouse Annex, Prestonsburg, KY 41653; certifying officer.

Upsets, upsets, upsets has Ed upset. Tim takes over first place with Scott pushing at a close third place. Mike moved from sixth place to fourth and vows that number one will be his. The consensus has Kentucky falling at South Carolina ending the celebration that started last Saturday at Indiana. Locally, Betsy Layne gets the nod over Prestonsburg in search for their fifth straight victory. Powell County (can you believe this) gets the pick over Allen Central in hopes of snapping a 24 game losing streak. Cleveland wins over Kansas City.

Bonds, Tom Glavine's and Bobby Bonilla's to hurt the game than help it.

Major league sports has really hurt itself and a drop at the gate is no one's fault but their own. The NBA is fastly getting in the shape of baseball, turning the fans off. What major league baseball, the NBA and NFL need to realize, without the fans, they can close up shop, go home and then look for work.

MONROE JONES...
I had a chance to talk with Powell County Basketball Coach Monroe Jones (Wheelwright era) the other day. He was telling of the death of his point guard who would have returned this season.

Jones' ballclub found a lot of success last season and here he is hoping he continues to put a strong team on the floor.

If I remember correctly, Jones will bring his ballclub to South Floyd this season. The Raiders played there last season.

He will get to visit Raider Arena, the place he patiently waited to have built while at Wheelwright.

Basketball. You have to love it!
P.D. Geaheart, Tel-Com Inc., of Harold is wanting to put together a girls' basketball tournament equal to the WYMT Classic at Knott County Central.

Allen Central was approached about hosting such a tournament, but, according to athletic director David Bowens, getting quality teams to come in is difficult.

Gearheart says he hasn't given up on the idea and will pursue it another way. Stay tuned. I would love to see Floyd County have a tournament of that quality.

Regular season tournament play will return to the county when Allen Central hosts its own invitational (boys').

Until Wednesday, good sports everyone. Take the kids to Sunday School and church this Sunday.

Allen Central

came out running the football instead of passing, much of what they did in their first three games.

Beau Tackett drew the praises of lot a of people with his performance against the Blackcats. He rushed for 115 yards and scored two touchdowns in his effort. Prestonsburg Coach Bill Letton put him in a pretty elite class when he said, "he's the second-best back we've played against this year."

Josh Reeves is another hard runner for the Rebels along with Matt Varney. Reeves hasn't carried that much for the Rebels this season, but has the talent to be a strong ball carrier. Varney has been used as a blocking back and is capable of carrying the football.

The Rebels may try to keep the ball on the ground against Powell County. Betsy Layne had little trouble running against the Pirates and the

Unlike Castle's counterpart, Bobcats' quarterback Craig Hamilton has attempted only 20 passes and completed seven for 125 yards.

Betsy Layne moves the football by the ground game and they have two good players to do so. Ray Lyon is the top gainer in the county with 477 yards on 58 carries. Lyon scored five touchdowns in the first five games.

But fullback Chris Hicks, a former Prestonsburg player, is the second leading rusher on the Bobcats' team and third in the county. Hicks has carried for 372 yards on 49 carries. Like Lyon, Hicks has scored five touchdowns.

As a team, Betsy Layne has rushed for 1,149 yards for an average of 287 per game. Including the passing of Hamilton, Betsy Layne is averaging 318 yards per contest.

Just the opposite of Betsy Layne, Prestonsburg has struggled to move the ball on the ground. Although Jon Morris leads the club in rushing and is fourth in the county with 315 yards, the Blackcats have no one consistently grinding the ball out.

The Cats are averaging 92 yards a game (3.9 per carry), but their defense has allowed the opposition 1,069 yards in four games. The Blackcats have been outscored through four, 134-44.

After Morris, the drop in individual rushing is drastic. Jason Pack and Dennis Laferty are second and third in rushing for the Cats. Pack has 34 yards while Laferty has rushed for 32.

Willie Meade is the top receiver for Betsy Layne with five catches for 104 yards.

Timmy Nunnemaker was a top receiver in the first two games before suffering a broken collar bone during pre-game warm ups just before the Morgan County game. Nunnemaker had two catches for 117 yards in the first two games.

"We'll miss Timmy," Derossett said. "He has big play potential."

Tonight's game is very important for both ballclubs. Prestonsburg would love to win that second district game with Breathitt County next week. On the other hand, Betsy Layne would love to keep its streak alive and a win over the Blackcats could give Betsy Layne a real shot at going 8-0 before facing district favorites Whitesburg and Breathitt County.

Sandy Valley

Rebels may just turn Tackett loose. But junior quarterback Adam Coleman has the ability to throw some strikes of his own. Coleman found little time to throw the football against Prestonsburg last week completing four of 20 passes for 56 yards.

The Rebel signal caller averaged close to 200 yards per game passing in the first three contests.

Of course, when Coleman is not throwing the football, wideout Thomas Jenkins is not getting the football. But Jenkins is averaging more than 11 yards per reception with 22 catches for 256 yards.

Gordon Reeves continues to lead the Rebels' defensive efforts, along with Levi Wells, C.L. Bailey and Phillip Robinson.

Robinson, a late participant in football, has been the surprise for the Rebels on defense. A hard hitter, averaging close to seven tackles per outing, Wells is "Mr. Hurt" and hard hits from him are to be expected.

A win at Powell County would give the Rebels their second win in district play, making next week's showdown with Betsy Layne at home even bigger.

But the Bobcats were not finished in the period when Gibson picked up a Johnson County fumble and raced into the end zone with just two seconds left. Williams added the extra points and Sandy Valley led 16-6.

Johnson County put together a strong drive to start the second period, but a face-mask call set the Eagles back and they were forced to punt the ball away. One play from scrimmage was all the Bobcats needed as Gibson scored his third touchdown of the game on a 44-yard touchdown run at the 5:44 mark. Williams' extra kick made it a 24-6 contest.

While it appeared the Eagles were having trouble controlling the football, Ferguson, on a reverse, went untouched 52 yards for a Johnson County score to make it a 24-12 game.

On a fourth-and-long play, Aaron Swiger completed a 55-yard touchdown pass to Jonathan Howell to give the Bobcats the 30-12 lead.

After it was four downs and out for Johnson County, Sandy Valley scored again on a 70-yard run by Swiger for the 36-12 cushion.

The Bobcats improved to 1-3 on the season.

Judge declares rape trial a mistrial

by Jerry Pennington
The Big Sandy News editor

A false statement made by a prosecution witness resulted in a mistrial Thursday for two men accused of raping a 15-year-old mentally retarded girl more than four years ago.

One of the men, Joe Edward Gillum, 30, formerly of Flat Gap but now living in Beaver Creek, Ohio, was charged with two counts of third-degree rape, one count of third-degree sodomy and being a persistent felony offender. The other man, Johnny Dale Skaggs, 27, of Mazie, faced one charge of third-degree rape.

Prosecutors said the two men picked up the girl alongside the road near her home in Carter County on May 8, 1991, gave her beer, and then took her to Lawrence County.

While on the way, Skaggs had sex with the girl in the truck and once they were in Lawrence County, Gillum had sex with the girl twice in the Mill Creek area, prosecutors said.

The driver of the truck, Michael Lowell Lewis of Blaine, was originally charged with kidnapping, but pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of unlawful imprisonment and accepted a 12-month prison sentence in return for his testimony against the other two men.

However, when on the witness stand Thursday, Lewis, 27, said "No" when Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Cheryl Neff asked him if he was offered anything in return for his testimony.

Ed Spencer, a Paintsville attorney representing Skaggs, reminded Lawrence Circuit Judge Stephen "Nick" Frazier of the plea bargain agreement and asked for a mistrial.

"The testimony solicited was incorrect and highly prejudicial," Frazier said. "The witness testified to something that was not true. The court feels compelled to sustain the motion of mistrial."

Frazier said he didn't believe Lewis' false testimony came as part of any intentional misconduct, but said according to law in this state, a mistrial had to be granted.

"I don't believe that there is any way in the world you would put a witness on the stand and try to do anything improper," Frazier told Neff.

The defense attorneys in the case said they will file a motion to dismiss the case on the basis of lack of a speedy trial.

"This case has been pending since 1991," Spencer said. "We're looking at more than four years and the case never been tried to a disposition."

Gillum, Skaggs and Lewis were indicted the first time after the alleged incident. Gillum was charged with two counts of first-degree rape, Skaggs with one count of first-degree rape and Lewis with kidnapping. Lewis later made the plea bargain agreement.

The indictments against Gillum and Skaggs were dismissed by former Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney Geoffrey Marsh last year after the girl was ruled incompetent to testify. New indictments were later issued in which the rape charges were reduced to third-degree.

Under third-degree rape, prosecutors only had to prove that the men had sex with a person unable to consent because of mental retardation. Court records show the girl's IQ in the 40s.

Both men admitted to police they had sex with the girl, but said they didn't know she was retarded or underage and said she consented.

"At no point and time did I force myself on the girl," Gillum said in a taped statement to police that was played for the jurors. "I did have sex with her, but I did not rape her."

Skaggs told police that the girl was the one who came on to him.

"I was drunk. I didn't know that girl and didn't know she was a minor at the time," Skaggs said on the recorded statement. "Nobody raped that girl."

Lewis testified that he told the other two men the girl was retarded and underage, but said they made him stop the truck to talk to her.

The prosecution will probably file a motion for a new trial, but Neff didn't comment on the case after the mistrial ruling. She said it is policy to direct questions to the commonwealth attorney.

Kimberly Compton, Gillum's attorney, said the defendants have a right to a timely trial so she will file a motion to dismiss.

"The case is still there, but the trial didn't go this time," Compton said. "I didn't think (Neff) knew that he would lie. I don't think she knew what the answer was."

Spencer said he agreed with Frazier's ruling. "Under the law, it was the only ruling the judge could make," Spencer said. "I don't want to infer or imply that the assistant commonwealth attorney did any thing improper, though."

Pike teachers suing board of education

by Linda H. Breed
Appalachian News-Express

Two Pike County teachers are suing Superintendent Reo Johns and the school board, alleging retaliation for exercising the freedom of speech.

In a suit filed last week in U.S. District Court, Lenelle Little and Vanessa Johnson are asking for $500,000 each in punitive damages and $500,000 in compensatory damages.

Little has been a teacher for about 19 years in the Pike County Schools and is the mother of Johnson. During the 1994-95 school year, Little taught at Virgie Middle School, where she had taught for many years. She also received extra service pay and performed extra duties as cheerleading sponsor, resource teacher and extended school services coordinator.

During the 1994-95 school year, Johnson, who has taught for more than 10 years, was assigned to teach at Robinson Creek, where she had taught during the past nine years.

Both Little and Johnson had suffered injuries on their jobs during the 1993-94 school year, which caused them to file claims and successfully obtain worker's compensation benefits and medical benefits against the school district.

In the summer of 1994, just prior to the opening of the 1994-95 school year, Johnson alleges that Johns attempted to terminate her teaching contract, claiming that she was no longer certified to teach in Kentucky.

Johnson's certificate lapsed briefly, she claims, when Johns repeatedly refused to sign her certificate documents, which had to be forwarded to the Department of Education before she could receive her recertification.

After being notified of her termination, Johnson asked for a tribunal hearing and eventually obtained retroactive teaching certification from the state.

During the summer of 1995, both Little and Johnson received notices that they were being transferred from their former schools for the 1995-96 school year.

Johnson was sent from Robinson Creek to Millard Elementary. Little was transferred from Virgie Middle School to Lookout Elementary. Both transfers, according to the lawsuit, involved substantially

Martin miner files suit, seeks job back

The United States Department of Labor has filed a lawsuit on behalf of a Martin County coal miner, alleging that he was unlawfully discharged from his job with BNA Trucking, for refusing to drive a coal truck with defective brakes.

The lawsuit, which was filed September 19, with the federal Mine Safety & Health Review Commission in Washington, D.C., seeks the reinstatement of truck driver William DeLong to his former job, with full backpay and employment benefits.

The department of labor has asked the mine safety commission to order the trucking company to temporarily reinstate DeLong to his former job until a final ruling is made in the case.

According to the lawsuit, DeLong was driving a DM 800 Mack truck on February 23, at a strip mine operated by Martiki Coal Corporation in Martin County, when the truck's last available brake failed. When DeLong removed the truck from service to have the brakes repaired, he was fired by Bruce Young, BNA's owner.

According to the lawsuit, DeLong previously had problems with the brakes on the truck and had complained to Young. Less than two weeks after DeLong was discharged, a federal mine inspector red tagged the truck because of its safety defects.

According to DeLong's attorney, the Federal Mine Safety & Health Act of 1977 gives miners the right to make safety complaints to their employer, as well as the right to refuse to work in unsafe conditions.

Section 105 of the mine act makes it unlawful for anyone to discriminate against a miner because of the miner's right to exercise a federal safety right, including the right to refuse unsafe work.

Any miner who believes he has been discriminated against for asserting his safety rights can contact the nearest MSHA office to file a discrimination complaint. MSHA must fully investigate the miner's complaint within 90 days.

If MSHA determines the miner was discriminated against, the agency will file a lawsuit on the miner's behalf. It can also ask the mine safety commission to order the temporary reinstatement of the miner until his case is fully resolved.

The department of labor is represented in this case by Thomas A. Grooms, an attorney in the agency's Nashville, Tennessee office. DeLong is represented by Tony Oppgaard, the directing attorney of the Mine Safety Project of the Appalachian Research & Defense Fund of Kentucky. Claims made in the filing of a lawsuit give only one side of the case.

Taxpayers will pay bill for settlement between county and former employees

by Christopher Hunt
Appalachian News-Express

County taxpayers will be paying the bill for the settlement between the county and eight former employees made last week.

Judge-Executive Donna Damron confirmed Tuesday that the self-insurance policy held by the county will not pay for the settlement because the violation of law is considered to be "intentional."

Damron acknowledged the negative impression a settlement makes, but defended her decision. "I believe the settlement was in the best interest of the taxpayers," she said.

The amount county residents will be paying has not been released because of a court order by U.S. District Judge Joseph Hood. The order came as a result of a motion made by the plaintiff's attorneys to seal the terms of the settlement, which Hood sustained.

Damron said she objected to the motion as soon as it was made. "It's unfair to the taxpayers," she said. "The taxpayers are paying the bill and they have a right to know."

Jon Fleischaker, attorney for the Kentucky Press Association, indicated that since the settlement involves public funds, the terms cannot be sealed by law. A formal request for the terms of the settlement was filed with the judge-executive's office by the News-Express on Friday, September 15.

The next step in attempting to obtain the terms of the settlement will be to file a motion in Hood's court requesting him to overturn his decision to seal those terms.

Damron also said the court order presents the county with a dilemma. Any checks written or documentation issued concerning the plaintiffs is a matter of public record which the county is required by law to make available.

However, filling such requests by citizens would constitute violation of the judge's order, and result in officials being held in contempt of court.

When asked, Damron stated that none of the eight plaintiffs in the case are presently employed by the county. Damron said there were several reasons which made settling out of court practical. The jury decision must be unanimous. If the jury cannot agree, the case would have to be retried, which would mean more money spent on legal fees.

Damron also argued that the trial adversely affected the running of county government because she and many other employees were required to spend much of their time in court, rather than working. "We have gotten nothing done this week," Damron said after announcing the settlement last Thursday.

Mountain HomePlace video honored by tourism council

The competition was fierce, but that didn't stop the Paintsville Tourism Commission from walking away with a major award at last week's annual Kentucky Tourism Council convention.

The commission's video for the Mountain HomePlace won first-place honors in electronic communications during competition last Wednesday night.

The HomePlace video, starring and narrated by actor Richard Thomas, defeated videos submitted by the Kentucky Derby and the Louisville Arts Center.

Entitled "Eastern Kentucky: The Land of Tomorrow," the 15-minute video was filmed in July by Richard Friley, an Emmy Award-winning producer and director based in Ashland.

Thomas, whose grandmother, Grace Thomas, lives in Paintsville, agreed to appear in the video last May.

Jim Williams, executive director of Paintsville Tourism, said Thomas' involvement was probably one reason the video won top honors last week.

The video is shown several times a day at the Mountain HomePlace visitors center. The HomePlace, an 1850s living-history farm at Paintsville Lake, opened in July.

Williams said he will now enter the video in competition sponsored by the Historical Confederation of Kentucky. (The Paintsville Herald)

Salyersville teens arrested for breaking into car at hotel

Two Salyersville teens were arrested earlier this month after they allegedly broke into a vehicle parked at a city hotel and stole items worth nearly $600.

Benny R. McKenzie, 19, and Richard C. Caldwell, 18, were also charged with doing over $1,000 in damages to the vehicle during the September 2 incident, Paintsville patrolman Bill Conley said.

Conley said the pair broke into a vehicle owned by Barry T. Utzinger, which was parked behind The Carriage House, and stole items worth $582. (The Paintsville Herald)

Second arrest in five weeks

For the second time within little more than a month, a Salyersville man has been arrested on drug charges.

Howard Shepherd, 53, was arrested and taken into custody Saturday evening following a raid on his Coal Branch residence by members of the Mountain Drug Task Force.

Shepherd was transported immediately to the Big Sandy Regional Detention Center in Paintsville, where he was lodged under a $50,000 cash bond.

He was charged with six counts of possessing a controlled substance not in original container; five counts of trafficking a controlled substance; one count of possession of a controlled substance; one count of drug paraphernalia; and one count of trafficking a controlled substance.

He still faces charges that stemmed from a raid on August 4 on his premises by the same task force. (The Salyersville Independent)

Wells was treated and released from the medical center with minor injuries.

Authorities said it is possible that the accident was caused by Robinson suffering a heart attack prior to impact.

The accident is under investigation by Trooper Vic Brown.

Sheldon Clark student dies after bike accident

Vincent Hale, 17, a student at Sheldon Clark high school, died Thursday, September 14, at Cabell Huntington Hospital, due to injuries he received in a bicycle accident which occurred earlier in the week.

Martin County Deputies Clinton Raines, Jr. and Gary McCallister were patrolling the area near Ooten when they happened upon the boy lying in the ditch-line not far from his bicycle, just minutes after the accident occurred.

Raines, who is an EMT, called 911 and administered first-aid to the youth until the Martin County Ambulance Service arrived and assessed the situation.

Hale was then flown to Cabell Huntington Hospital by Health Net Helicopter.

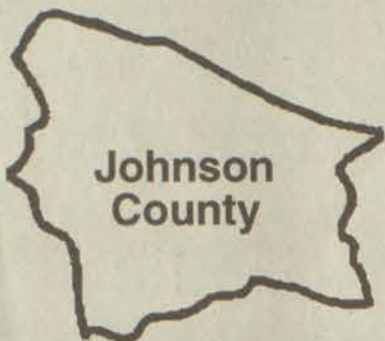

Fiscal court recognizes union

The Pike County Fiscal Court voted Monday to recognize the United Mine Workers of America as the bargaining agent for the county's employees.

UMWA representative Charles "Hawkeye" Dixon said the next step will be to issue a charter and commence the negotiation process on a contract.

Pike County Judge-Executive Donna Damron cast the only dissenting vote, but Magistrate Sid Phillips was not present to vote due to an illness.

Paintsville teen dies in traffic accident

Jamie Fyffe, 17, of Paintsville, died Wednesday night in a one-vehicle accident on Ky. 3388 at Paintsville.

The accident occurred around 9:45 p.m. October 20 when a Paintsville juvenile driver lost control of a 1991 Pontiac Grand Prix, according to state police reports.

The vehicle went over an embankment and struck several steel posts. The posts ripped the passenger's door from the vehicle and Fyffe was thrown from the vehicle. He was pronounced dead at the scene by Johnson County Deputy Coroner Lester Lemaster.

Another passenger, Brad Meade, 19, of Paintsville, was transported to Paul B. Hall Medical Center where he was treated and released.

The driver of the vehicle was also taken to Paul B. Hall Medical Center. The driver was listed in stable condition Thursday.

Family of four left homeless after fire destroys their home

Two mobile homes were destroyed in separate fires in Magoffin County last week.

Johnny and Grace Humphrey and their two teenage sons were left homeless after a fire destroyed their home on Coal Branch in Salyersville on September 7. The mobile home reportedly belonged to Johnny Humphrey's mother, May Robertson.

The structure was fully engulfed by the time fire fighters with the Salyersville Volunteer Fire Department arrived on the scene. Assistant fire chief Harold Rayburn said the fire probably began in the kitchen through faulty wiring or something igniting on the stove.

In an unrelated blaze, a mobile home on Oakley Creek was also destroyed by fire. The mobile home was not occupied. No electricity or any type of fuel was connected to the trailer, Rayburn said, and the state police are considering the incident as an act of arson.

The Oakley Creek trailer belonged to Elmer Slusher. (The Salyersville Independent)

Inez man dies in accident

Charles Robinson, 52, of Inez, died Monday morning when the car he was driving hit head-on with another vehicle near Inez.

Robinson was operating an '87 Chevy Chevette eastbound on Ky. 40 when he crossed the center-line and struck head-on a '92 Pontiac Grand Am operated by Carolyn Wells, 17, of Tomahawk.

Robinson was pronounced dead on arrival at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

From golden oldies to youthful antics and the silver-tongued Cawood Ledford, this year's Jenny Wiley Festival, scheduled for October 9-14, will offer something for everyone, according to festival founder Maxine Bierman Childers.

Persons 50 years or older can jitterbug, twist, hula hoop or show off their costumes during the Goldie Oldies competition, sponsored by the Prestonsburg Wal-Mart, on Monday, October 9 at Adams Middle School. For the sports fans, the former voice of UK basketball, Cawood Ledford, will be signing autographs Saturday under the big tent on the municipal parking lot. The event is sponsored by the First Commonwealth Bank.

Also, on Saturday, The Friends of the Samuel May House will conduct tours from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. of the historic home, which was built in 1817.

A reception honoring Jenny Wiley descendants will be held at Prestonsburg City Hall from noon until 2 p.m. Other activities honoring the pioneer heroine who escaped from her Indian captors, will include a motorcade to Jenny Wiley's gravesite at River, Kentucky and a stop at Block House Bottom in Johnson County, where Jenny Wiley crossed the Big Sandy to the safety of Harman's Station.

Other activities during the Jenny Wiley festival include a tennis tournament, a chili dinner, antiques and collectibles booths, the Jenny Wiley Bowl, arts and crafts, concessions, a health and wellness fair, and a gospel sing that will feature The Cookes, The Cooke Brothers, The Spencers, The Hemphills, as well as local talent.

Kentucky Repertory Dance Theatre coming to Martin

by Patti M. Clark
Staff Writer

Children in Floyd County will get a special treat September 30.

The Kentucky Repertory Dance Theatre is traveling to Martin and will conduct two workshops.

"This is the first time they've been here," Peggy Nelson, who coordinated the project for Christian Appalachian Project, said. "We're planning on signing up as many children as possible for the workshops."

The dance company, led by Sue Champion of Wilmore, will hold a three-hour workshop from 1 to 4 p.m. September 30 at Mountain Christian Academy School Gym.

The workshop will include training in drama and classical ballet and the workshops, with each workshop being an hour and a half long.

Wilmore Ballet Academy, also known as the Kentucky Repertory Dance Theatre, has been in existence for four and a half years. It has grown from 14 students in the first year to 60 students this year.

Champion has been dancing and teaching dance for 27 years. The academy has functioned as a ballet school that emphasizes excellence in the Russian Ballet tradition.

There are two training facets to the academy. One is to train very young students in the fundamentals of classical ballet technique. The other is to send older more experienced students into the community to teach, demonstrate and perform. Of the 60 students at Wilmore Ballet Academy, 17 perform in the community eight to 12 times a year.

Champion said she has a dream of bringing students into Eastern Kentucky and is working on building a network of towns where the troupe can perform.

The Christian Appalachian Project is helping set up the tour.

To sign up for the program, call Nelson at 285-9668 or pick up a form at the Martin Youth Center.

"This is an opportunity for the community and an opportunity for them," Nelson said. "We'll take as many students as possible for the workshop."

more travel. In addition, both claim they have been placed in a position for which they have not been trained, and Little says she has lost her extra service duties and pay, decreasing her income.

Both women say they and their families have been openly active in local elections in support for a candidate who has not been supported by "Johns and his associates."

"A primary motive on the part of (Johns and the board)... was to punish and penalize (Johnson and Little), those with whom they are affiliated, for their and their family's political support of certain political candidates in the Pike County area," the suit reads adding another motive was to discriminate against both women for filing worker's compensation claims.

Little and Johnson are asking for a jury trial; to be placed in the position each previously held, without loss of pay; compensatory and punitive damages; and their costs, including attorney fees.

No response has been filed by Johns and the school board, and no hearing or trial date has been set.

Morehead radio station recognized for excellence

WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, was recognized by Public Radio News Directors Incorporated (PRNDI) for excellence in the area of news and public affairs.

Honored with first place awards were Tom Lewis, WMKY news and public affairs director, and Dr. John Modaff, WMKY commentator and MSU associate professor of speech communication.

Lewis took first place in the "Soft Feature" category for his report on the "Strange" Music Festival, an international event held at Carter Caves State Park. "This feature was fun to put together," Lewis said.

Dr. Modaff placed first in the "Commentary" for his essay "Nature, Nurture, and the Children of the Undead," from his weekly series "My Turn."

"An honor like this, from a group like PRNDI, could just about change a guy's opinion about cutting CPB," Dr. Modaff said.

"News and public affairs programming is a source of pride at the radio station and a valuable resource for the region," said WMKY general manager, Larry Netherton. "We are honored to receive this recognition at the national level."

The awards were presented at PRNDI's 11th annual conference held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, in early August.

News of the Weird

by Chuck Shepherd

In July, Costa Rica's Supreme Court ruled that the country's hit-and-run driving law was unconstitutional in that it punished the driver who caused the accident if he fled. The court reasoned that, because murderers and other criminals cannot be punished for leaving the scene of a crime—because of their right not to incriminate themselves—hit-and-run drivers can take off, too. A driver involved in an accident but who was not at fault may still be required to stop.

INEXPLICABLE

— In a 1994 survey by the American Association of University Professors, Long Island's Nassau Community College was revealed to have the highest salaries of any two-year college in the country. The New York Times reported in June 1995 that one of the school's arts professors, who taught just two ceramics classes during the spring semester, has a $107,000 salary.

— In February, William J. Stoecker, 37, was named in a 49-count bank-fraud indictment. According to prosecutors, Stoecker—a former welder with only a high school education—somehow talked several bankers into lending him $400 million.

FEUDS

— According to a March Wall Street Journal story, the eyeglass industry in Germany is experiencing a vicious trade war in which smashing competitors' windows and pulling other pranks are becoming common. When optician Siegmund Relss opened up a shop in a new building, he discovered that saboteurs had stashed rotting meat between his walls during construction in order to drive grandopening customers away.

— Woodring Fryer was charged in April with disturbing the peace in Henderson, Ky., after installing a bullhorn adjacent to the common wall he shared with neighbor Charles Kissinger and playing early-morning reveille as part of their ongoing feud about their competing ham-radio signals. And in April in Crystal River, Fla., Ron Ripple, 67, who was denied a county permit to put a mobile home on his property because neighbors said it would lower property values, turned the tract of land into a perfectly legal pig farm.

— At the traditional annual Battle of the Oranges festival in Ivrea, Italy, in February, first-aid officials reported that they treated more than 250 people for bruising after they were pelted too hard; with fruit.

EEEH-UUUH, GROSS!

— Theron Dunaway of Richland, Wash., won the woodclass boat competition at the seventh annual Spittoon Regatta at The Brick tavern in Roslyn, Wash., in March. Entrants drop their miniature vessels (wood, soap, paper, matchbook, "experimental" classes) into the trickling water in the bar's spitting trough and race them. The Regatta is mostly fun, according to the race administrator, but, he said, "a couple of years ago, some guys from Boeing brought in a flashy, self-propelled boat they designed. It sank."

— In May, a toxic spill team from the Washington state Department of Ecology determined that a mysterious mound of greenish goo near the town of Toutle—which had baffled, alarmed and sickened investigators for three months—was merely a rotting pile of disposable diapers.

— In February, according to El Paso, Texas, police, James Patrick Bradley, 47, murdered his artist wife, Susy, dismembered her body, spray-painted several of the parts, and left them at quixotic locations around town and in southern New Mexico. At first, police did not know the identity of the murdered woman, but after releasing a photo of her severed head to local TV stations for telecast, some of the woman's friends called to identify her.

— In July in New York City, John Bryant, 73, conversing with his son while waiting for attention at the Harlem Hospital Center after having been shot in the

The electoral fad of the moment is one General Colin Powell, retired, and a groundswell of support urging him to run for president.

So, what do we know about this guy? Well, we know he was in charge of the Gulf War and that he has written a book.

He is, therefore, more than qualified to be somebody important.

We don't know yet if he is a Democrat or a Republican, but that's not quite as critical as the fact that he kicked Sadaam's butt over there in the desert and put that bum in his place, which is president of Iraq...the same place he was before the war.

Now, it wasn't Powell's fault that he didn't get to permanently remove Sadaam from power, he was just following orders from the politicians, who were afraid of upsetting the balance of power in the Middle East if they kicked him all the way out, so they just allowed the armed forces to level most of Baghdad, instead.

But, alas, we stray.

We were talking about Powell's attraction to American voters, who usually don't get to know anything about their presidential candidates but who they've been sleeping with in addition to their wives.

The general, we suspect, spent most of his early career sleeping in barracks with a bunch of GIs, so we don't have enough info yet on his sex life to make a really informed decision about whether or not he'll make a good president.

Americans are certainly looking for a hero, though, to throw their support toward and Powell fits the bill, even if his Gulf War doesn't rank up there with the Big One and his political expertise is practically non-existent.

Of course, if we were choosing a hero to run as a candidate for president, we'd probably throw our support to Baltimore Oriole's shortstop Cal Ripkin.

At least we know he'd show up for work every day.

The scent of this woman

In the advertising world, visualization is everything. To grab our attention, manufacturers attempt to lure us into buying their products by invading our sense of sight. They bombard us with commercials of elegant automobiles that accelerate from 0 to 60 in six seconds. They challenge our better judgments by making us believe that a gold credit card is the most affordable way to purchase items we can't afford. Now they've gone one step further and violated another of our senses—smell.

From my shampoo to my underarm deodorant, if it can't tout a distinct aroma, chances are I won't be buying it. From the top of my head to the tip of my toes, I have so many different odors emitting from so many directions, my nose doesn't know whether to sneeze or congest.

Actually I can't blame my nose. It's my fault that I'm a subliminal junky and succumb to the pressures of visual stimulation that exploits all my other senses. If a commercial states that a certain product proposes to produce results, I'll try it. I'm a sucker for a good smell; a scratch and sniff freak.

All the products I buy get the opportunity to sell themselves to me in the morning when my nose is least prepared to be bargained by them. In the shower, my soap smells of fresh mangoes. My shampoo reeks of the essence of wild strawberries while my conditioner boasts a fresh lemony scent. My hair gel has the aroma of peach melba, and my apple mist hair spray permeates every root on my head. Admittedly, my hair usually doesn't look that great, but it often smells good enough to eat. I've had people ask me what I've used on my hair so they can purchase the ingredients for punch.

By the time I've applied sesame powder scented underarm deodorant, lathered myself in banana skin lotion, talced my body with the hint of apricots, and dabbed the fragrance of oranges behind my ears, I'm salivating.

Before I apply my make-up, I spread a pineapple skin cream on my face and use a kiwi toner. I then brush my teeth with cinnamon toothpaste and gargle with mint mouthwash. I end my odiferous repast with a touch of raspberry flavored lipstick, a stick of peppermint gum and a bib. It's hard to imagine how odors can

Metro Blues All-Stars begin Pike County Concert Series Season

The Metro Blues All-Stars

The Metropolitan Blues All-Stars will kick off the 40th season of the Pikeville Concert Association on Tuesday, September 26, in Faith Chapel at Pikeville College.

This national acclaimed Appalachian Blues Band features Pike County native Rodney Hatfield, who, according to the Tallahassee Democrat, "may be the best harmonica player in the country."

Songwriter/vocalist Hatfield, known as Art Snake for his paintings is also an actor. The wail and grind of Hatfield's harp is beautifully mournful in combination with fellow Kentuckians, poet Nick Stump, guitar and vocals; Frank Schaap, guitar and vocals; Rick Baldwin, bass; and David White, drums.

Stump, Hatfield and Schaap formed a trio in 1969 and 11 years later added the rhythm section. The group has three songwriters which helps create its distinct sound of country-rock, folk blues.

Succinct guitar solos, tight vocal harmonies, and swinging beat drenched in the sweet melody of southern blues typifies their last two releases "Devil Gets His Due" and "Hillbilly Nation."

Shenandoah is next on the concert line-up. The Shenandoah performance will be held in Faith Chapel of Pikeville College on Thursday, October 19.

Shenandoah, the Tony Award, long-running New York musical drama, chronicles the moving and poignant saga about a farming family in the lush Shenandoah Valley of western Virginia during the Civil War years.

Kentucky's mountain heritage will be highlighted in November during the concert series presentation of "River of Earth: In Story and Song." James Still and Randy Wilson will combine talents to present a musical journey through Kentucky's past.

The Vienna Choir Boys visits Pike County in February during the concert series to bring Vienna's musical rich traditions to the stage at Faith Chapel.

The concert series concludes in March with the acrobatics and music of China in "The Parade of Dynasties." The show brings together astounding acrobatic feats with unique musical instruments and pageantry to create a spectacle like no other.

All concerts begin at 7:30 p.m. For more information, call 432-5407 or 437-7878.

pects.

ANOTHER WORLD: Grant's attempts to rescue Kirkland from Justine were met with her gimmicks and pranks. Matt was upset to be ignored by Donna as she focused on Michael's illness and Vicky's disappearance. Lorna stopped Morgan from commenting on Ben's death without a lawyer. Later, Cass said he might represent Laurie in her suit against the hospital. Rachel pursued Justine and Kirkland. An armed Grant saw Ryan aim a gun at the two women. A shot rang out. Wait To See: Many people are left stunned by the events at the train trestle.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: Carly was mistaken for Sam and kidnapped by thugs. Scott asked Rosanna for ransom money. Lucinda told Mark Lily still needs him. Sam was shocked when she realized a newly returned Kirk had overheard her conversation with Scott. Lily told Damian to keep Luke away from Orlena. Lisa was hurt when Bob admitted he was wrong to defend her at the trial. Carly confronted Scott about getting a share of the ransom money. Wait To See: Mark makes another disturbing discovery.

BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL: Taylor advised Ridge that for Rick's (Eric, Jr.) sake, he should not remarry Brooke. A devastated Maggie learned Jessica had juvenile diabetes and could not be subjected to stress. After observing Dylan and Maggie together, Stephanie accused her of betraying her daughter and warned her to stop seeing Dylan. Mike Guthrie, who formerly worked with Sheila, applied for a security guard job at Spectra. Rick told Eric he wanted to live with his parents Eric and Brooke, not with his mother and half-brother, Ridge. Taylor turned down a date bid from Jerry. Wait To See: The stalker becomes more dangerous.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES: Bo was assigned to a computer theft case unaware that Hope had been caught by the crooks involved in the crime. Tony's plans to kill someone and have John blamed were thwarted by disturbing news from his doctor. Billie unwittingly put herself and Shawn-Douglas in danger from the computer thieves. Jack offered the people of Areמיד a reward for information about the mystery woman. Witnessing Bo's concern for Hope made Billie aware of how much he still cared for her. Dazed by his medication, a confused Tony left his diary out where Kristen and John might find it. Carrie told Austin to forget about her and concentrate on Sami. Wait To See: Billie deals with a realization about Bo and Hope.

GENERAL HOSPITAL: Tony was upset that Felicia had a date with Tom. Meanwhile, Felicia told Tom how Frisco's absences have affected their children. Luke took Stone bungee-jumping. Kevin encouraged Tony and Bobbie to fantasize about romancing Felicia and Alan, respectively. Edward worked to help Laura and Justus defeat Damian and his DayMart plans. Wait To See: Emily and Lucky take matters into their own hands.

GUIDING LIGHT: A tearful Annie told Josh of her alcoholic past and returned the engagement ring. Dinah warned Vanessa her rigidity will cause her to lose Matt. Later, Vanessa and Ross learned Dinah planned to marry Marcus. Roger arrived during the wedding ceremony. Worried about Nick's growing feelings for Susan, Alexandra rattled her during an encounter in the powder room. Reva was troubled by Alan's claim that he can help her see the world outside Goshen. Wait To See: Marian (Brent) proceeds with his plan to ruin Alan-Michael and Lucy.

LOVING: Ava told Jeremy she planned to leave Alex and move her family to Florida. Neal confronted a panicked Gwyn and claimed he could have stopped her pain long ago. Later, Gwyn believed she saw Trisha and called out to her. Alex and Jocelyn drew closer as they searched for Danny. Buck gave Gwyn news about Trisha. Ally confronted Danny and heard Tyler's piercing cry. Wait To See: Jeremy and Gwyn are in for a shock.

ONE LIFE TO LIVE: Manzo made Bo suspicious of Andy and she was brought in for questioning. Todd told Tina C.J. and Sarah will inherit his money if he doesn't have an heir. After learning Todd took her out of his will, Blair decided not to have the abortion. David told Dorian she'll never get adultery evidence to divorce him. Clint comforted Carlotta who feared for her sons, Cristian and Antonio. Tina told Cord about Todd's new will. Wait To See: Dorian confronts another difficult situation with David.

YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS: Still in shock, Amy was unable to tell the women's Shelter counselors what happened to her. Matt and Drake, meanwhile, plotted to make sure Nick took the fall for shooting Matt. Chris turned down Danny's plea to wait until he was divorced from Phyllis, saying she and Paul were now lovers and planned to marry. Brad proposed to Nikki. Victoria called Steve to arrange for Jeri to return as Cole's book editor. Mari Jo told Blade his twin brother, Rick, was playing with his mind by sending him a post card from New York. Dr. Tamita told Jack they could always hope for a miracle for Luan. Cliff told Victor he came to discuss Hope and the baby. Wait To See: Sharon could unwittingly create more trouble for Nick.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A minor argument ensues early in the week concerning something which happens at home. Guard your words. Something said in anger won't be easily forgotten.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You're tempted this week to try something new on the work front. However, it's not a good time to take such chances. Someone close to you is being unusually secretive about something.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your finances aren't in the best shape right now, so it's not a good idea to go on a shopping spree this week. You'd also be better off leaving those credit cards firmly tucked into your wallet.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You're not at your attentive best this week as your mind has a tendency to wander. If you daydream too much, you could find yourself putting in extra hours over the weekend in order to catch up with unfinished work.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Don't pay too much attention to those well-meaning friends who are bent on giving you advice, especially since what you hear is conflicting. A bigwig is having some difficulty making a decision and you can help.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) You could fall for someone's sob story and be tempted to lend that person money. This isn't a wise idea and you should avoid an unfortunate tendency to be gullible this week. Over the weekend, tend to unfinished domestic chores.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You're put off this week by someone's capricious behavior, especially since that person is taking shameful advantage of your good nature. Speak your mind and set this person straight.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) You know that all good things come to those who wait, so just be patient. Something very good is about to come your way concerning your career or love life. Watch your home appliances since one of them is coming to the end of its days.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You vacillate this week and have a hard time making up your mind about things. Bigwigs are unimpressed with such waffling. If need be, let a friend or co-worker take the lead now and stick to working behind the scenes.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A delay can be expected early in the week on a financial deal you've been considering. This is good since you need more time to consider all the ramifications. A rumor monger is spreading nasty tales, but ignore this.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You could find yourself in a rather sticky situation between two friends. However, it's best to mind your own business since they will make up and you'll wind up the odd man out.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your inconsistent behavior is drawing some negative attention from friends, family and co-workers. This isn't like you. Take some time this week to sit down and get to the bottom of what's bothering you.

About 50 people filed a lawsuit in June against Paradise Memorial Park in Santa Fe Springs, Calif., alleging that bodies of their loved ones had been moved or crowded out without their permission. One man claimed that the double plot he purchased for his mother and brother was also occupied by nine other bodies.

make those glands secrete saliva. And while I've never added it up, it's my firm, or should I say flabby, belief that I gain two pounds every morning just from smelling myself. When I emerge from the bathroom, if I don't smell like a fruit compote it's a cinch I'll "go bad" by lunch.

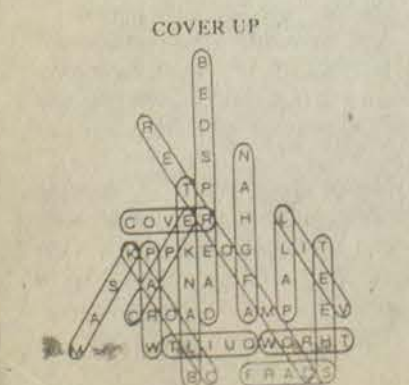

Rumor has it that there is also a good possibility that I've slathered enough vitamin C on various portions of my body to ensure that I have a lifetime immunity against four different strains of flu, the common cold and scurvy.

The "smell trail" doesn't end with my beauty regimen either. When I remove my clothes from my cedar lined closet, retrieve my lingerie from sachet lined drawers, and stuff odor eaters in the soles of my shoes, any smell I might have thought I emitted has been tainted by another odor which cancels each other out.

The worst scenario too many aromas could create—despite sinusitis and allergies—is for couples' scent to clash. If I was allergic to my husband's apple scented hair spray, and he was allergic to my wild strawberries shampoo we both might be forced to rely on our own natural body odors which are called pheromones. And, at my age, I no longer trust my pheromones to mere soap and water because they're not strong enough to cut it.

I just keep hoping that manufacturers will someday market a product that smells expensive, but is cheap to buy instead of the other way around.

JENNY WILEY, 1760-1831

Jenny Wiley was an heroic pioneer mother, captured by Indians on October 1, 1789, at Walker's Creek, Virginia. She witnessed the slaying of her brother and five children by savages and was, herself, held captive for several months on Little Paint Creek in what is now Johnson County. She eventually escaped from the Indians and crossed the Big Sandy River at East Point to Harmon Station at Block House Bottom and was shortly thereafter united in Virginia with her husband, Thomas Wiley.

Mrs. Wiley returned to Johnson County with her husband, and they reared five children. Jenny Wiley died in October of 1831 and her body lies in a cemetery at River, Kentucky.
