Witness saw man leave murder scene

by Chris McDavid
Staff Writer

One of three people who discovered Billy Jo Mitchell's body says he saw a man, whom he believes was Andy Mitchell, leave Ms. Mitchell's home uninjured within seconds after hearing five gunshots ring out from the residence.

Ernest Lafferty, of West Prestonsburg, said Tuesday that he was in the parking lot of an Ivel auction house when he heard the gunshots, which apparently killed Ms.

Mitchell, and the man he saw leave her residence drove to the auction house and told him "somebody ought to go to her."

"I heard two shots fired at first..." Lafferty said. "Then I heard a window bust out and I heard three more shots."

Lafferty said, from his best recollection, he heard Ms. Mitchell "holler 'oh! oh!' about three times."

"Within seconds, I (saw) him come out of the trailer and get in his car," Lafferty said, describing the car as a grayish-tan colored vehicle.

"He pulled up to the front of the pickup where I was standing. He said there was a woman shot at this trailer and somebody ought to go to her."

Lafferty said the man did not appear to be wounded himself.

But from his hospital bed two days after the murder, Mitchell denied killing his wife and said he was shot himself while standing on Ms. Mitchell's front porch. He also said he did not know who shot him or which direction the shot came from.

Ms. Mitchell was shot to death at her Ivel home on Sunday, November 2. Lafferty and two other men discovered her body lying on the kitchen floor within minutes of her death.

James Trimble, Ms. Mitchell's landlord, said he had rented the trailer to Ms. Mitchell about two weeks before her death, and she told him that "she was scared" when he checked on her earlier the same day she was killed.

One minute after authorities received the call about Ms. Mitchell's death, a second caller advised that Andy Mitchell was in the Tram area and he suffered a single gunshot wound to the chest.

Four days after his wife's slaying and on the day of her funeral, Andy Mitchell was indicted on November 6 in a special meeting of the Floyd County Grand Jury for capital murder; three counts of stalking; rape; and burglary.

Mitchell was guarded by KSP officers for six days while recovering from the gunshot wound at Pikeville Methodist Hospital. He was lodged in the Floyd County Adult Detention Center last Monday.

Although authorities noted in a press release that Ms. Mitchell's murder and Andy Mitchell's wound were related, they have refused to offer any additional details on the matter.

Police have not said if Andy Mitchell and Billie Jo Mitchell were shot with the same gun. A weapon was reportedly found at the murder scene.

Senator aims to get bridge on fast track

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A draft of the state's six-year road plan proposes numerous projects in Floyd County, including the replacement of Town Branch Bridge and the relocation of Meade Hill in Left Beaver.

State Senator Benny Ray Bailey said last week he will ask the legislature to move up the Town Branch Bridge project, the relocation of Meade Hill and a connector from Minnie to Harold on the priority list for completion.

If Bailey's request is approved, design work on a new bridge could begin in July 1998 and construction could be complete in 2001. The project is estimated to cost $2.8 million.

The Meade Hill relocation is expected to cover eight-tenths of a mile and, under the state's draft plan, the design phase is set to begin in 2001. Construction is slated to begin in 2004, at an estimated cost of $3 million. Bailey said he will ask that the project begin sooner.

A 2.4-mile connector road is being proposed for KY 979 near Parsons Branch to Harold. Design work is scheduled to begin in 1998 and the project is expected to cost $10.7 million. There is no proposed construction date mentioned in the six-year plan.

Other Floyd County projects in the road plan include:

- the widening of the Mountain Parkway from Salyersville to Prestonsburg, with construction set to begin in 2004, at a cost of $18.5 million;
- construction of an acceleration lane for northbound U.S. 23 and KY 80 at the Watergap interchange, with design work scheduled for 2004;
- lighting at the intersection of KY 1428 near the entrance to Pre-

It's a grand new flag

"Respect, Honor and Pride"

Lance Daniels, 1st Lt. JAG officer with the 9th LSO (legal support organization) of the U.S. Army Reserves, prompted the donation of an all-weather flag at the courthouse. Daniels said he procured the flag after noticing the "torn and faded" flag that was flying. In honor of the county's veterans, Daniels conducted a flag raising ceremony Friday at the monument. Plea bargain expected in Winn-Dixie robbery case

by Chris McDavid
Staff Writer

An Auxier man accused of at least three robberies, kidnapping and numerous other felonies is expected to plea bargain his case today (Wednesday) or stand trial on the charges later this week.

Ervin Printice Ginther, 35, was arrested by Prestonsburg patrolman Patrick Conley in January during an intense standoff after Ginther allegedly kidnapped a Floyd County man; robbed him at gunpoint; stole his vehicle; and then robbed Prestonsburg's Winn-Dixie grocery store in the Prestonsburg Village Shopping Center.

According to a plea agreement arranged by assistant commonwealth attorney Brett Davis, Ginther will be sentenced to a total of 130 years in prison, however, each of the sentences will run concurrently.

The commonwealth's offer consists of 20 years for each charge of two counts of robbery, first degree; kidnapping; possession of a handgun by a convicted felon; and being a persistent felony offender (PFO).

The plea agreement also includes five years for each of Ginther's other felony charges — four counts of first degree wanton endangerment; theft by unlawful taking; and carrying a concealed deadly weapon.

After patrolman Conley apprehended Ginther within minutes of the Winn-Dixie robbery, Ginther was also linked to the January 14 robbery of the Lakeview Mart, in Lancer. He was also charged with a second offense of being a PFO for that robbery.

Ginther's plea agreement, which he is expected to enter into today (Wednesday), includes a concurrent sentence for that robbery as well.

If Ginther refuses the plea agreement, a jury trial is set to be conducted Thursday for both cases.

Two of Ginther's alleged accomplices, who were indicted with him in March, have pleaded guilty to lesser charges in an unrelated case for their testimony in Ginther's trial.

Early arrival may be problem for state board

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

With Floyd County's Board of Education lacking enough members to constitute a quorum, the Kentucky Board of Education is now responsible for conducting the district's business.

The board's regular monthly meeting was set for Tuesday, but interim superintendent Martin Carr sent notices out Monday that the meeting has been canceled.

The only remaining members of the board, Jody Mullins and B.J. Newsome, are facing ouster by Education Commissioner Wilmer Cody who has charged them with misconduct, nonfeasance and neglect of duty. Newsome and Mullins have vowed to fight the charges.

The three other board members, Ray Brackett, Ursal Ray Wilcox and Eddie Patton, have resigned.

The district is also facing a three-year state takeover after a management audit noted scores of management and fiscal problems.

A December 15 hearing date has been set for the state board to hear evidence from state education officials regarding the charges against Mullins and Newsome, and to determine if a takeover of the school system is warranted.

The December hearings may have to be postponed if Cody does not fill one of the three vacant seats on the board before December 15.

State Board Chairman Joe Kelly said Monday that he has received no official notification from Cody that the Floyd board is now being run by the state board. Kelly added that there could be some conflict if the state board were to hear evidence against the Floyd board while the state board is controlling the district.

Kevin Noland, who heads the education department's legal department, said any potential conflict could be avoided by either an appointment being made to fill one of the three vacant board seats or by rescheduling the December hearing.

Kelly said that under similar circumstances when the state board assumed control of the Harlan, Russell County and Magoffin County school districts, the state board would conduct the district's business during the regular state

Pillersdorf drops bid for District 1 seat

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

One applicant for the vacancy on Floyd County's Board of Education in District One has removed his name from consideration.

Prestonsburg attorney Ned Pillersdorf informed Education Commissioner Wilmer Cody in a letter dated November 12 that he no longer was seeking the position.

"Last week I wrote to you and requested that my name be considered for appointment of the Floyd County School Board (District 1)," Pillersdorf's letter said. "At the time I applied I was concerned about the lack of interest in the position. Given that there are now several qualified individuals seeking the position, please remove my name from consideration."

Ten people applied for the District 1 seat, which became vacant

Spellabration to benefit adult literacy in Floyd

Adults in Floyd County are dusting off their old school books to sharpen their spelling skills in preparation for the Spellabration to be held Sunday at Prestonsburg Community College.

Twenty teams from local businesses and organizations will pit their spelling skills against each other in an adult spelling bee to raise funds for the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council.

Teams will consist of three members. Funds will be raised through a $100 donation for the team's entry fee, according to Jenny Howard, a VISTA volunteer with the literacy council.

Businesses and organizations sending teams to the Spellabration are Appalachian Paging, Inc.; the Bank Josephine, which will sponsor South Floyd High School; Big Sandy Health Care, Inc.; the City of Prestonsburg, which will sponsor a team from the mayor's office; First Commonwealth Bank; the Floyd County Judge-Executive's office; The Floyd County Times; Friends of Appalred; Gearheart Communications, sponsoring Betsy Layne High School; Giovanni's, sponsoring Prestonsburg High School; Inacom Computer Center, sponsoring Betsy Layne High School; Jenny Wiley State Park; Kazee, Kinner & Chaffin; Mountain Arts Center; Pillersdorf, DeRossett, and Barrett, sponsoring the David School;

Mayor, council members get head start on '98 race

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Prestonsburg Mayor Jerry Fannin and seven of eight incumbent city council members got a 10-month head start on their 1998 campaigns, filing Friday for reelection.

On Friday, Fannin and councilmen Estill Lee Carter, Ralph Davis, Trent Naim, Hansel Cooley, Gormon Collins Jr., Billy Ray Collins and Danny Hamilton filed with the county court clerk to run for reelection in November 1998.

Fannin said the reasons for filing so early were to dispel rumors that officials would seek other offices and to show support among the council.

"We've been asked several times

if we're running for different positions," Fannin said. "We've talked here and there at different times and decided to let it out so people will know that we are running again. We have so many different projects going on and we want to try to finish what we've got started. We have supported each other in the past and we're going to keep supporting each other to get something done."

Fannin said the line-up shouldn't be considered as "a slate" of candidates for the November election.

"It's not really a slate. We essentially wanted to let people know we are going to run again. We've all worked together now and will throughout the future," Fannin said.

Candidates for those non-partisan races have until August 1998 to file to run for those offices.

when Ursal Ray Wilcox resigned last month.

Board seats in Districts 2 and 3 are also vacant, with the resignations of Ray Brackett in September and Eddie Patton last week.

Only two people applied for Brackett's seat: former school principal Lorena "Sis" Hall and Barry Spurlock of Martin. State officials said they are considering whether to reopen the application period for the District Two seat.

The applicants for the District One board seat are:

- Deborah Karen Hall M.D., 30, of Prestonsburg. She is a physician at Highlands Regional Medical Center.

- Gary Keith Frazier, 52, of Prestonsburg. Frazier, a former assistant superintendent in the Floyd County School System, is co-owner of Country At Heart.

- Rose Marie Johnson, 45, of Prestonsburg. Johnson is employed as a legal secretary for her husband, attorney Clyde Johnson.

- Johnny Edward Ross, 40, of Prestonsburg. Ross is employed by the state's Division of Environmental Protection and is also a priest at the St. James Episcopal Church.

- Rocky B. Rowe, 31, of Corn Fork. Rowe is employed by Security Pacific Financial Services, Bank of America.

- Dallas B. Sammons, 71, of Prestonsburg. Sammons is a retired postal worker and has been an outspoken community advocate for years.

- Turner Edsel Campbell, 42, of Prestonsburg. Campbell is employed as a finance officer for the Floyd Fiscal Court. Under state law, if Campbell is appointed as board member, he would have to quit his job with county government because it is an incompatible office.

- William Frederick Walker, 60, of Mays Branch. He is a retired warehouse worker for True Temper Corporation in Ohio.

- Bryan Keith Grizzell, 28, of Prestonsburg. Grizzell is a plumber and is currently working at the county's new justice center in Prestonsburg.

Commissioner Cody has 90 days from the date of the vacancies to fill the seats.

Brackett resigned September 26; Wilcox resigned October 21; and Patton resigned November 13.

- construction of a one-mile access road from KY 302 to the development site near Jenny Wiley Golf Course, with construction to begin in 2003, at a cost of $5.2 million;

- construction of a 2.5 mile connector road on U.S. 23 and KY 3 from Auxier Heights to new U.S. 23, with construction to begin in 2004, at a cost of $4.3 million; and

- various bridge replacements, including reconstruction of the bridge on Rt. 1428 near Prestonsburg High School; the Midas bridge at Garrett/Bosco; the Glo Bridge near Wayland; the Twin Bridges in Martin; the Rough and Tough Road Bridge at Middle Creek; the Granny Fitz Bridge at Middle Creek; and a bridge off of KY 7 at the Right Fork of Beaver Creek.

The six-year plan also includes proposals to correct rock-fall hazards on KY 80 and KY 321.

The plan will be presented and discussed during the General Assembly's 1998 session in Frankfort.

that he was not surprised that Ginther has tentatively agreed to the plea bargain because of the alleged accomplices' testimony and that Ginther had in his possession a $10 bill taken from John Garrett, whom Ginther allegedly kidnapped and robbed before robbing the Winn-Dixie store.

The officer said he was in the general vicinity when the dispatcher's office received the call about the robbery of the store.

"I got there within two minutes," he said, adding that the manager of the store had followed Ginther and saw him go to the Super 8 Motel.

"When (Ginther) saw me, he ran," Conley said. "I searched the laundry room and then saw him exit a room."

Conley said Ginther started walking toward him and when the suspect was directed to place his hands on the wall, Ginther told the officer he was making a "big mistake."

"He told me I was making a mistake and 'when a jury finds me not guilty I'm going to get up and shake your hand before I walk out of the courtroom,'" Conley said.

The officer said Ginther had a fully-loaded .25 caliber handgun in his back pocket and approximately $360 from the Winn-Dixie store and the kidnapping victim, John Garrett.

Ginther apparently approached Garrett as he came out of an ATM facility in the Village Shopping Center and forced him at gunpoint to move to the passenger side of his vehicle.

Conley said Ginther originally took Garrett to the West Prestonsburg area and made several threats to him before they were interrupted by the ringing of Garrett's car phone.

"(Ginther) told him not to pick it up or he'd kill him," Conley said, adding that Ginther then drove Garrett to the Wildcat Car Wash, near Winn-Dixie, and dropped him off before robbing the store.

Ginther's ski-mask, used in the robbery of the store, was found in his motel room, which was registered to Sherry Baker, one of the alleged accomplices who agreed to testify against Ginther.

Baker and her daughter, Michelle Mullins, were apparently involved with Ginther in the robbery of the Lakeview Mart. They did not face any charges related to the robbery in exchange for guilty pleas to unrelated drug charges and their testimonies against Ginther.

Board

school board meetings, which are usually held in Frankfort.

The state board is scheduled to meet December 2 and 3 in Frankfort.

Tom Willis, associate education commissioner who has worked extensively in the Floyd County district, said Monday there were some matters on Floyd County's meeting agenda that may need immediate attention. Willis said it may be necessary for the state board to call a special meeting to address paying the district's bills and claims; conduct student expulsion hearings; and act on a union contract for the district's bus drivers.

Floyd interim superintendent Martin Carr said Tuesday that the expulsion issues have been resolved and those students placed in the district's alternative school.

As for managing a district without a board, Carr is no stranger to that situation.

"I worked under the same conditions in Harlan County," Carr said. "I didn't have board for a year. It just takes a littler longer and it still works fine."

Carr said there have been no discussions regarding the bus drivers' contract and he hopes the district can pay its bills on Wednesday.

"Everybody has approved them (with the state) and I hope we can get them out tomorrow," Carr said.

Willis said it could be difficult for the state board to call a special meeting before December 2 because its members are "scattered throughout the state" and because of the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday.

"We are concerned about the state board not meeting until December 2," Willis said.

Also, Willis was asked about the state board's Frankfort meeting place and if that would violate the state's Open Meetings Law, which requires public agencies to meet "at specified times and places which are convenient to the public..."

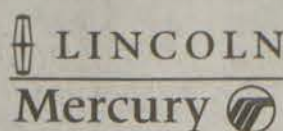

Willis declined to address the issue.

Noland said it was his opinion that the state board could add Floyd County's issues to its agenda for the December 2 & 3 meeting in Frankfort.

"I'm not aware of any direct violation of the Open Meetings Act," Noland said. "It will take four weeks before (Floyd County has) a quorum and if the state board has one meeting, I'm sure if it was possible they would prefer to meet in Floyd County. But state board members are from all over the state and they all have full-time jobs."

Noland added that state board members are "interested in letting the people of Floyd County" know what decisions are being made which will affect the district.

Kuezi-Nke named director at PCC

Marjorie C. Kuezi-Nke, a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Kentucky Martin School of Public Policy and Public Administration, has been selected as the new Director of Planning and Research at Prestonsburg Community College. The announcement was made November 11, by President Deborah L. Floyd, who emphasized that the appointment is subject to confirmation by the University of Kentucky, which is expected soon.

The appointment is scheduled to become effective, December 8.

Kuezi-Nke was selected after a nationwide search. She was one of three finalists who were recommended by an advisory committee and who interviewed in early November with faculty, staff, students and administrators. The interview process included individual and group sessions, and all employees were encouraged to participate in the process. A search advisory committee, and input from all employees who participated, assisted and advised the president on her final selection.

Since August 1993, Kuezi-Nke has been a research assistant/computer consultant for the Martin School at UK. She has also served as a tutor for political science and theater courses at the UK Center for Academic and Tutorial Services. While studying at UK, she also has served as an instructor for courses in political science and public policy. Before entering UK, she was a research assistant for two separate surveys at the University of Zambia in Lusaka. In addition, she worked for nearly nine years as a development planner at the National Commission for Development Planning in Lusaka, the Zambian capital.

A native of Zambia, she holds a bachelor's degree in public administration from the University of Zambia, and a master's degree in political science/public administration from Oklahoma State University in Stillwater. She is married to Dr. Raymond Kuezi-Nke, an assistant professor of mathematics and economics at Hazard Community College.

She is a member of the American Society for Public Administration and the Conference of Minority Public Administrators. She also has attended several seminars and conferences dealing with various aspects of public administration and institutional development.

Upon accepting her new position at PCC, Kuezi-Nke said, "Based on my educational background and work experience, I feel that I am well qualified to assume the position of director of planning and research at Prestonsburg Community College. I look forward to helping the college plan its future direction and develop the full potential of its resources."

President Floyd said, "I think the Advisory Committee did an excellent job of presenting the three best candidates for this position and I am pleased to welcome Marjorie Kuezi-Nke to this pivotal position in the PCC administration. The job of institutional planning and research at PCC will assume critical importance as we seek to develop new programs and facilities, many of them in partnership with other postsecondary institutions, to meet the needs of our students and prospective employers in the Big Sandy Valley."

The other two finalists for this position were:

- Roy M. Tapp, educational director, detention services, Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government, and

- Karen S. Shelton, assistant director of hospital facilities planning, University of Kentucky Hospital.

Other businesses contributing to the spelling bee are Coca-Cola Bottling; Comfort Suites; Evergreen Bowling Lanes; John's Clubhouse; McDonald's of Prestonsburg; Nationwide Insurance; Prestonsburg Community College; and Quaker Coal Company Inc..

Scene

When contacted Tuesday by a reporter seeking a comment about Lafferty's comments, KSP detective LeRoy Weddington apparently hung up the phone.

A second attempt was made to contact Det. Weddington within minutes of the first call, however, a dispatcher said the detective was not in his office.

Mitchell's indictment was accompanied by a recommendation from the grand jury to have "every office and person involved with this case" investigated by federal authorities.

The handling of the Mitchells' domestic violence matters, particularly the non-service of a forthwith order of arrest, apparently initiated the grand jury's recommendation.

The warrant, issued four days preceding Ms. Mitchell's death, identified Mitchell as "armed and dangerous" and was never served.

"We feel this case has been handled recklessly and with bias," the grand jury's recommendation states.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officials apparently have not determined if they have any jurisdiction to conduct an investigation into the handling of the Mitchell's domestic matters.

Attention All Floyd County Schools Personnel

Met-Life will be offering to all eligible employees, their spouse and dependents a payroll deductible whole life insurance. Don't let this benefit pass you by! This is a one time enrollment made possible by a very liberal underwriting.

Below are some of the many benefits:

- * No physical exams for employees that qualify medically!! Only two health questions to qualify medically.
 1. In the last three months have you missed work for five consecutive days due to illness.
 2. In the last three months have you been disabled, received treatment or care in a hospital or hospice or in a custodial, intermed-ate, skilled nursing care or long-term care facility; received chemotherapy, radiation therapy or dialysis treatment; received treatment at a hospital or rehabilitation center for drug or alcohol abuse.
 Answer "no" to these questions and you qualify medically.

- * Whole life insurance; policy price never increases in your lifetime even after retiring from your current employer. The life insurance policies currently offered by the Kentucky Teachers Retirement are not transferable after your employment ends.
- * The policy accumulates cash value on a tax deferred basis. The term insurance policies currently offered do not accumulate a cash value.
- * No checks have to be written. Premiums deducted from your paycheck. No payroll deductions until after January 1, 1998 but coverage begins the minute the application is signed.
- * You can get insurance for your dependents even if you don't sign up yourself.

Floyd County needs you!

by Scott Perry

The county-wide elections are still a ways off, but we're interested in hearing what issues you think our candidates ought to address.

The officials we elect next year will lead Floyd County and its many communities into the 21st Century.

Which way will we go?

Which way should we go?

Write us with your top ten priorities for Floyd County. Put them in David Letterman style if you like.

We'll sort them, analyze them, and publish them.

Take note that we are not interested in discussing individuals, particular candidates, or what has gone wrong in the past.

We want to hear your ideas on what can be done to improve Floyd County's outlook for the future.

Likewise, we aren't interested in hearing the party lines or the doctrines of one particular organization or another.

Don't send us any form letters.

We want to know what you think, as an individual, as a Floyd Countian.

You don't have to identify yourself, but you can if you choose.

Try to be as concise as possible.

Again, we're not looking for criticisms or promotions of anyone's candidacy.

We want ideas.

We want issues that are important to you.

We want them on or before December 5.

You can send your top ten lists to us in any one of three ways (no phone calls please):

- Mail them to: Top Ten, The Floyd County Times, P.O. Box 391, Prestonsburg, Ky. 41653.

- Fax them to 606-886-3603.

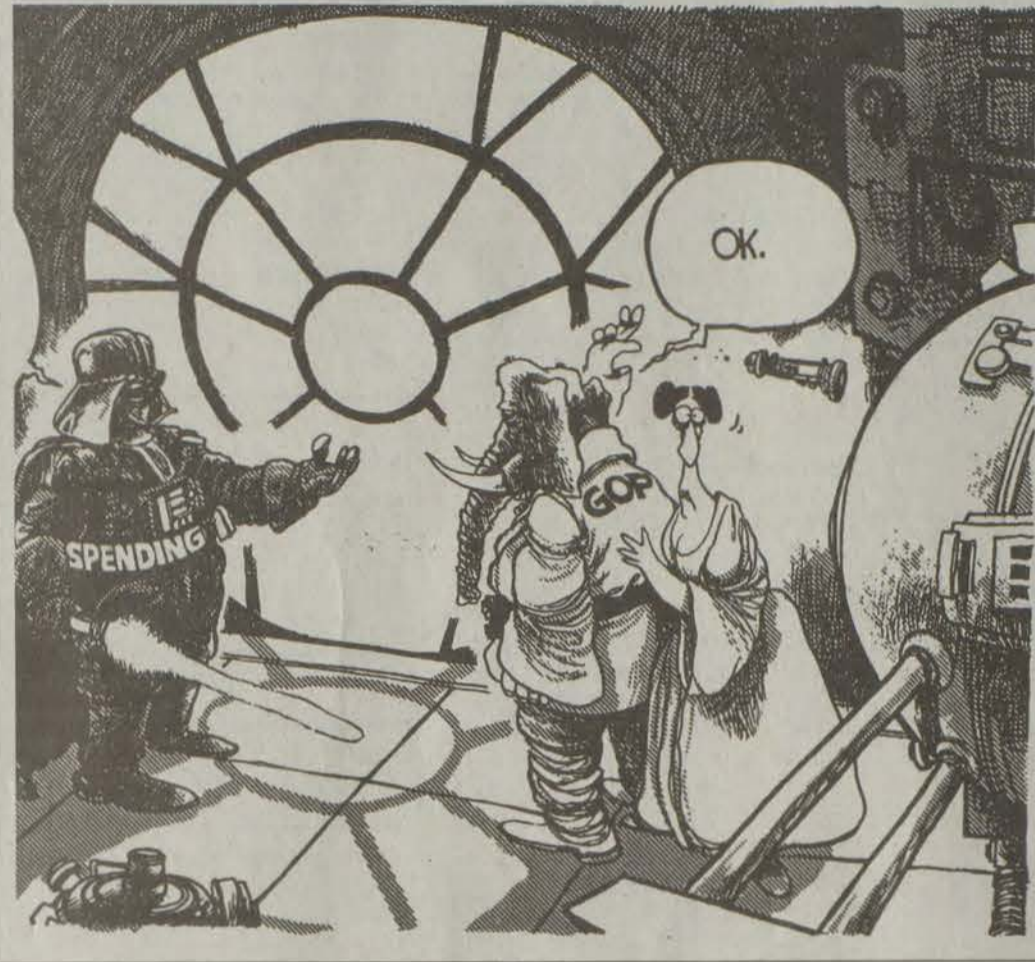

- E-mail them to: fctimes@eastky.net

Put some thought into your lists because they may make a difference in the direction this next election takes.

Who knows, your idea may be the one that could put Floyd County on the road to progress.

It would be a shame to keep it to yourself.

Get those cards and letters coming. Floyd County needs you!

Letters to the Editor

Thief destroys church van

Editor:

We would like to express our appreciation to the Floyd County Sheriff's Department and Prestonsburg City Police for the recovery of a vehicle that was stolen from the parking lot of the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church. This vehicle was used to transport some of our elderly members to church and also used to take them to the doctor when it was necessary. The loss of this vehicle will cause some hardships to these precious people who depended on it.

On behalf of the church we express our deepest regret for this loss. Thursday evening on the Buffalo side of Cow Mountain, this vehicle was recovered. However it was wrecked by an unknown individual. This person broke into the church and found the key and drove off. Any person whose heart is so hardened to break into a church that belongs to God and steal its vehicle and wreck it without any regrets needs our prayers.

Due to our present indebtedness we will be unable to replace this vehicle. The damages were too severe for repairs to make this a safe public transport vehicle. So may God bless whoever took this vehicle from the Highland Avenue Free Will Baptist Church. You may not have been hurt this time but the next time you may not be so lucky.

Voter registration process will scuttle E911 system

Editor:

The book of Corinthians tells us that at first we see through the glass darkly. And we, the people of Floyd County, have been seeing things through a very dark glass. It finally dawned on me why we don't have an E-911 system after 104 months—and most likely will never have one. Why? It is of course the computerized data base necessary to run or operate an enhanced E-911 system. Every road, street, hollow, and county lane will be mapped; along with every house, apartment and mobile home and the occupants of these dwellings.

Such a data base would be a deadly threat to the bloated voter registration books maintained in the courthouse. I reported in the past that these books indicate that 95% of the Floyd County adult population is registered to vote. And in some precincts, registered voters outnumber citizens counted by the United States census by several hundred souls. I think our people understand why the voter registration books contain such listings of people. It is absolutely necessary to have a bloated voter registration list, with hundreds of phantom voters, for a political machine to control elections.

Based on my own experience, there is no practical way to challenge the suspected thousands of phantom voters on the voter registration books. But this could be done with absolute ease and dead certainty using an E-911 enhanced data base. You could define a precinct and tell to the man or woman how many people lived there, and if they were registered to vote or the voters names on the voters registration books for that precinct that did not live there—on live anyplace else for that matter. This could easily be done once a month with an E-911 data base.

It takes an average 6 months to install an E-911 system; perhaps 8 months to activate an enhanced system. But it has been 104 months since the Floyd County Fiscal Court first started this project. Are we foolish enough to believe they will ever build or establish an E-911 enhanced mapping data base and put it into operation. And put themselves out of business?

El Beano to rescue county

Editor:

There is one amongst us, who is called El Beano. El Beano is like the wind whistling through the trees. He will come down the mountains, through the creeks and hollows of Floyd County to the valley of Prestonsburg.

He will come like a hail storm in the middle of a dark night. El Beano will cleanse our government of the corrupt backroom politics. Only then will the dark clouds that are hanging over the Floyd County court house be lifted.

El Beano will bring the spirit of democracy to all of Floyd County. El Beano's name will be shouted from Tram to Wayland, and from Weeksbury to Auxier.

People don't know who he is. We have heard his name and seen his face a thousand times. On the 27th day of January in the year of our Lord, 1998 at 3:59 p.m., El Beano will be at the Floyd County courthouse in Ms. Carla Boyd's Office for the whole world to see.

Paintsville Lake is, according to Senator Benny Ray Bailey, the oldest state park in the state that has had no major improvements. In other words, it is a state park in name only.

Nearly twenty years after the lake was impounded it remains the stepchild of the state park system.

Former Governor John Y. Brown Jr. initiated the neglect when he canceled state funding for recreational development at the lake back in the 80's, when the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers was prepared to match whatever the state contributed toward development.

Another $300,000 was lost in the late 80's when federal funds secured by former Congressman Chris Perkins found no match on the state and local levels.

Coffee Break

by Scott Perry

Senator Bailey thinks its time to have something more than a sign to associate Paintsville Lake with Kentucky's state park system and, as a ranking member of the legislative committee that oversees that system, he's the man who can make it happen.

'Bout time.

Two decades of tourism potential have been wasted and a lot of money has been lost to all of Eastern Kentucky out of pure neglect.

Time to make up for lost time.

Kentucky lost about $12 million...nearly a million bucks a day...during the 12-day Breeding Stock Sale at Keeneland.

That's because the state's sales tax does not apply to horse sales.

Gross revenues from the thoroughbred auctions this month reached nearly $198 million, a new record, and they complemented $150 million in sales from the September Yearling Sale, where another $9 million in potential sales taxes were lost.

Ironic, isn't it, that you have to pay taxes on the book value of your car, but sheiks and other bazillionaires can plunk down millions for a four-legged beast and the state gets nada?

What the heck, who needs an extra 21 million bucks a year anyhow?

Think of the trouble it would cause trying to find ways to spend it.

Everybody and their brothers are freaking out over the prospects of global warming but, after piling on the blankets, doubling up on socks, scraping the windshield and generally freezing our seat warmers off, we are not among them.

Say, don't these doomsayers realize that prior to the last ice age, which was caused by accident, our area was actually close to being tropical?

So it's taken a few hundred million years and some manmade greenhouse gases to warm things up. Big deal.

If the polar ice caps do melt and ocean levels rise, we won't have to drive so far to get to the beach, and we won't have to worry about "snow days" interrupting school, either.

Warm is not bad, warm is good.

Hey, we enjoy the changing seasons as much as anyone, but it wouldn't bother us a bit if we dropped winter out of the rotation.

Here are two words rarely spoken out loud in Kentucky. Tax cut. Even more unusual is the fact that those two words have actually been bandied about among state legislators, who are currently facing the dilemma of deciding what to do with somewhere between $100 million and $150 million of surplus state revenues.

Now there's a problem we'd all like to have.

A tax cut would be nice, but before our state leaders start making new promises, they ought to live up to their old ones.

Remember that 50 percent return of coal severance tax revenues to coal counties?

Couldn't be done in the past because the money wasn't there.

It's there now.

Hand it over.

Ralph Leslie, serviceman for Big Sandy RECC, demonstrated the safe use of equipment on the job.

Big Sandy RECC goes to school

Year after year, Big Sandy RECC stresses the importance of being careful around electricity. People of all ages are shocked or electrocuted each year by not playing it safe when dealing with electricity.

Big Sandy RECC targets the fifth and sixth grades, by doing this students learn to be careful around electricity as they get older. Each school year, Big Sandy RECC conducts at least eight safety programs for over 650 fifth and sixth grade students at local elementary schools in Johnson and Floyd counties.

Recently, Big Sandy RECC conducted safety programs at Allen and Prestonsburg for over 150 students.

The programs last about two hours, and covers safety tips as well as a hands-on session where the students participate by gearing up with the lineman's safety equipment.

Everyone gets involved, from the students to the teachers.

Ralph Leslie, serviceman for Big Sandy RECC is just one of RECC employees involved in the program.

Leslie says that safety is not only an important issue for him but, if this program keeps just one person from getting hurt, then it's worth it.

An elementary student learned safety tips about electricity. She also learned about the safety equipment linemen with the Big Sandy RECC use on the job.

$50,000 project awarded to senior employers!!!

The Big Sandy Area has received a demonstration project grant that will subsidize the employment of thirty-eight older employees for six weeks.

This is a big benefit to employers who are hiring new employees. This project, known as Title V, can pay the employee for the first six weeks of their employment enabling the employer to offer a sound training program.

The program is open for-profit employers and any potential employees over the age of 55 that are not currently employed and are within certain income guidelines.

This is one of eight programs in the United States and is only available through June 30, 1998.

THIS AND THAT

DON' BELIEVE WHAT YOU SEE

by Bill R. Francis
Contributing Writer

I must be a nut about noticing packaging of food items. I know there must be plenty of others out there that notice the same things I do. We walk the food aisles in grocery stores and look at all the beautiful pictures of the food that is supposed to be inside the cans or packages that are sitting on the shelves.

Appearances are deceptive, though. So are the sizes of the products.

Foods are sold by weight, I think. You reach for what you have always thought of as a 1 lb. can of coffee and it turns out to be 13 oz. I picked up from the shelves what appeared to be, and I am sure they were, the same size cans of food. One was a can of pinto beans, net weight 15.5 oz.; the other was a can of pork & beans, net weight 16 oz. Both of the cans were of identical size. I then selected from the shelf a can of green beans, net. Wt 14.5 oz. and another brand of pork & beans net wt. 15 oz.

I continued on my walk until I came to the bread and bun section. Among the hamburger buns were an eight-bun package, net wt 11 oz., and a 12-bun package, net wt. 20 oz. That figures for 16 buns, net wt. 22 oz, and for 24 buns, net wt. 40 oz. The buns were distributed by the same company. They were priced as follows: eight buns 79 cents, or 9.875 per bun. The 12 buns were 1.29 cents or 10.75 cents per bun; in other words, for 3.5 cents I could get four more buns. But they would be different size buns, with the larger one having 120 calories and the smaller one with 100 calories.

Floyd students participate in piano auditions

On Saturday, October 25, at the Ivan Wilson Fine Arts Center on the campus of Western Kentucky State University in Bowling Green, Floyd County students participated in a program of piano auditions and recitals sponsored by the Kentucky Music Teachers Association.

Governor Paul Patton was in attendance for one of the Saturday afternoon recitals.

The students were selected to attend this state-wide event because of their outstanding performances in their regional KMTA Student Workshop programs.

Participating were Brenton Akers, son of Brian and DiAnne Akers; Brittany Mitchell, daughter of Paula Mitchell; and Tricia Newsom, daughter of George and Cheryl Newsom.

They are students of Dena Gibson.

Why can't we buy a package of wieners or hot dogs and a package of hot dog buns with the same number of each? Wieners come packaged in tens and the buns come packaged in either eight or twelve. You need two more buns or two more wieners

I would like to see companies using the same size cans have the same amount of weight of food in the cans, instead of 14.5, 15, 15.5 and 16 oz of net weight in the same size can. It would be much easier to figure the cost per ounce of foods.

I think the wiener and hot dog packaging companies should get together and put the same number of wieners in a package as they put in a package of hot dog buns.

Well, I'll get off this soap box before I fall. It's a 5 and 3/4lb box and a little uneven. Why didn't they just make it a six pound box of soap?

Editor's Note: Bill R. Francis, formerly of Garrett, is retired from the University of Kentucky and lives at Mousie.

We can help you find answers to all of them.

Did you know diabetes is the number four killer in the United States? While no one knows the exact cause of diabetes, we do know that the disease is more likely to occur in people who are over the age of 40, are more than 20% over their ideal body weight, have a family history of diabetes, have high blood pressure, have the stress of an illness or injury, have had diabetes during pregnancy or have given birth to a baby weighing more than nine pounds.

Floyd County Environmental Awareness Day

Floyd County Environmental Awareness Day at the Interpretive Nature Trail at PCC was attended by 850 fourth and seventh grade students from ten Floyd County schools.

The October 2 event was sponsored by Prestonsburg Community College and the Floyd County Conservation District. The Bank Josephine provided the tents for the day. Environmental information from a variety of public and private sources was provided to the students and general public.

The 15 participants included American Electric Power, Appalachian Clean Water Partners, Big Sandy Natural Science Center, Corps of Engineers, and the East Kentucky Center for Conservation, Forestry, Fish and Wildlife, and Waste Management presented information, along with the Floyd County Conservation District and Floyd County Health Department. McDonald's, Southern Appalachian Recycling, Inc., and Wal-Mart informed the students about their recycled products and recycling facts.

Students learned about keeping their world a safe place to live during Environmental Awareness Day at Prestonsburg Community College.

WORDS OF LIFE

by A Wayne Burch
Pastor
Little Paint Church of God

Have you ever given much thought about the crucial role "rivers" play in God's creation? Beyond question, "rivers" play a large purpose in the life of our planet. One has only to review in one's mind the name of earth's great rivers to summon up visions of past history and present reality. The Ganges of India, the Nile of Egypt, the Congo of Africa, and the Volga in Russia. The Thames, Seine, Tiber, Rhine, and of course the mighty Amazon!

The history of our own nation and characteristics of its geography and topography are brought to mind by such names as the Hudson, the Ohio, the Mississippi, the Shenandoah, and the Potomac. The West has the Platte, the Pecos, the Colorado, and the Columbia. In the northeast, hundreds of years of con-

New book by John Ed Pearce

The Sulgrave Press recently announced the publication of Memoirs, a new book by the well-known columnist and writer who spent 50 years with the Courier-Journal.

He has many stories and comments about the Bingham paper and relates fascinating insights into the operation of this famous newspaper.

In addition, there are witty and humorous tales of his own life, and those of politicians, writers, sailors, society wanderers, and well-known scoundrels, told in the engaging style that made his column so entertaining, provocative, and interesting.

As always his writing is thoughtful, whether he is describing the view from his Chicago hotel room during the Democratic convention of 1968, or the view from atop a mountain in Eastern Kentucky, this is John Ed Pearce at his best.

Memoirs is available in local bookstores throughout Kentucky.

lict for the control of our continent are reflected in the history connected with the St. Lawrence River. It appeared in the National Geographic that the famous "Suwanee" river is fed by seventy springs, nine of which has a flow of 65 million gallons of water a day!

Visions of gold rush fever and bitter, biting Alaskan winters are ever associated with the Yukon. I have had the privilege of a lifetime to float the Kenai River in Southeast Alaska and catch 8-10 pound rainbow trout and silver salmon.

I have personally experienced the utopia experience of most fishermen when just last week I again waded and fished the wild and beautiful New River as it flows through Western Virginia, near Blacksburg. This same river is responsible for a multi-million dollar industry of "white-water-rafting" as it roars down the "New River Gorge" through West Virginia.

However, rivers have not only historical and geographical significance! The most significant rivers in Biblical history are the Tigris and the Euphrates, the Nile and the Jordan. We have the baby Moses at the Nile, and the same river turned blood red during the plagues of Egypt. The Jordan was miraculously crossed by the Hebrews as they entered Palestine. Into its silt dipped Naaman to lose his leprosy, John the Baptist immersed his converts, and Jesus Himself came for baptism! Frequently they are symbolic of refreshment in God and a constant reviving freshness which God's Spirit brings to our lives. In Psalms 36: 8-9, God's provision for His people is expressed in these words: "You give them drink from your river of delights. For with you is the fountain of life." Of course, the familiar first Psalm tells us the godly man is "like a tree planted by the rivers of water."

One of the most beautiful pictures of the revelator's vision of future life with God beyond "the tides of time," is that of a beautiful river. "Then the angel showed me the river of the water of life, as clear as crystal, flowing from the throne of God and of the Lamb."

There is a moving invitation a bit further on in this chapter, and it is about the "river of the water of life." "The Spirit and the bride say, Come! And let him who hears say, Come. Whosoever is thirsty, let him come and whoever wishes, let him take the free gift of the water of life."

This is the final river where all earth's desperate thirsts are forever quenched in the lavish liquid of God's provision.

"I'll sing of a river divine, Its waters from trouble release;

More precious than "honey and wine," That river, sweet river is peace.

'Tis flowing from heaven to earth, It issues from under the throne;

Great peace! O thy infinite worth! Sweet peace in my Jesus alone.

O, this river of peace, makes me perfect and whole;

And its blessings increase, flowing deep in my soul."

Construction in Progress

Construction is underway for the new Pikeville Methodist Hospital! The actual construction of the new hospital is beginning and there will be very few parking spaces in the parking lot in front of the hospital. We apologize for the inconvenience, but soon you will be able to watch us grow!

Please use the free valet parking or the Riverfill shuttle bus service to make your visit to the Hospital more convenient. To valet park, simply drive your vehicle up to the front of the hospital and one of our friendly valet parking attendants will park your car. Or, park in the Riverfill parking lot and ride the shuttle bus.

This Memorial Garden was recently dedicated at the First United Methodist Church in memory of Thomas Hereford Jr. and Inez Hereford. They had both attended this church from early childhood. Inez Hereford's grandfather, Isaac Richmond, was a generous contributor to the construction of the church. The gift was made by Thomas Hereford III, who is a fourth generation member of the church. University of Kentucky College of Dentistry Seal Kentucky program visits Floyd County

Children at McDowell Elementary School in Floyd county will be the next to benefit from the Seal Kentucky Program, which provides free dental screenings, health education and protective dental sealants for elementary school-age children. The Seal Kentucky Program, a Public Service Program of the UK College of Dentistry, serves 29 Eastern Kentucky counties. At McDowell Elementary School, the program will be a cooperative effort with local dentists and their staff who are volunteering time and services, and the Dental Hygiene students from Prestonsburg Community College who will also help provide dental sealants. These plastic sealants, which are painted on the molars, help prevent cavities by reducing the occurrence of dental decay, which usually begins in the grooves of these teeth. The funding for Seal Kentucky has been provided by the E.O. Robinson Trust to the UK College of Dentistry, which administers the program.

In Loving Memory of Emma Moore

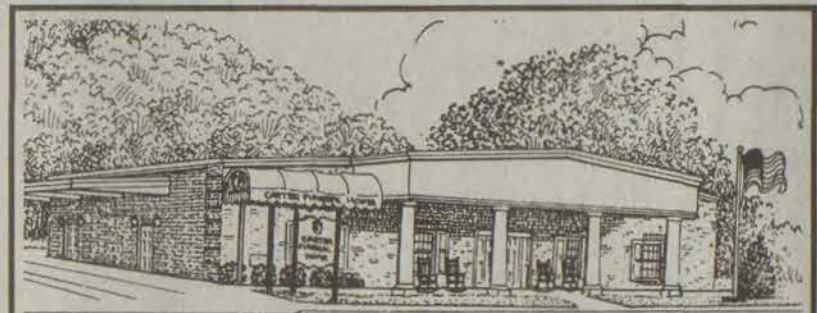

2-26-13 to 10-11-96

A tender heart stopped beating, a smile replaced the pain. I'm sure that God knew what He was doing when He took you to rest with him, but the tears still fall like rain. It's been a year, now, since you went away. Everyone said that time would ease this heartache. But how wrong they were, because my heart still feels like it's going to break. You told me so many times that you had a better home to go to, and I know that it was true. But, Mother, sweet Mother, how desperately I miss you; I think sometimes I miss you most of the mornings, I can hear your sweet voice calling me. But then it gets late at night and I go to bed crying, wishing for what was not meant to be. Mother, if love could have kept you here on earth, you would not be gone. But God saw that you were hurting and knew you were in pain. So, He called you up to heaven, so that you would never hurt again. Please rest quietly on that mountain, and someday I will meet you there.

Hope Scholarship tax breaks cut cost of attending PCC

The new HOPE Scholarship and other provisions of the federal Tax Relief Act of 1997 promise to make an education at Prestonsburg Community College an even better bargain next spring than it has been in the past.

Officials at PCC say the new incentives could also help boost enrollment among both younger and returning students. Sandra Kai-kumba, dean of student affairs, said, "We hope everyone who qualifies for the new financial incentives will take advantage of them to either begin or continue their college education at PCC." Technically not a "scholarship" but a tax credit, the HOPE Scholarship allows eligible students pursuing the first two years of post-secondary education to receive a tax credit for 100 percent of the first $1,000 in tuition and fees, and 50 percent of the second $1,000 on their federal income tax. Students must be enrolled at least half-time (6 credit hours) in a degree, certificate or other program leading to a recognized education credential. The measure takes effect January 1, 1998, and applies to qualifying coursework attempted during the 1998 Spring Semester and subsequent semesters. Dr. Deborah Floyd, PCC's president, serves in a national role on the Federal Relations Commission and the Board of Directors of the American Association of Community Colleges. In addition to increases in the Pell grant, work study, and other forms of financial aid, Floyd and other community college presidents have been strong advocates for tax incentives for community college students.

A workshop on the HOPE scholarship and the other provisions of the Tax Relief Act of 1997 will be held during Financial Aid Awareness Day at PCC next February. Additional details will be announced as soon as they are available.

The HOPE Scholarship is the centerpiece of the Clinton Administration's 1997 education/tax cut package, which is designed to make the first two years of college the new standard for U.S. students. The tax credit is one of a series of measures aimed at making a college education affordable to the majority of low and middle-income citizens.

There are some strings attached to the HOPE Scholarship. Individual filers who earn more than $50,000, and joint filers with adjusted gross income exceeding $100,000 do not qualify. In addition, students who have been convicted of a felony for the possession or distribution of a controlled substance are ineligible. In addition, students who receive other forms of financial aid, such as a Pell Grant, will have the amount of their eligibility for HOPE reduced by the amount of aid they receive. The Tax Relief Act also contains a number of other features that make college the best buy it has been in years. They include:

Tax credit beyond the first two years

College juniors, seniors, graduate students, adults returning to college and students attending less than half-time are eligible for a new lifetime learning credit. The credit is worth 20 percent of the first $5,000 of tuition, and fees through 2002 and 20 percent of the first $10,000 after that. The same income restrictions that apply to HOPE are in effect for this benefit. The credit is available for expenses paid after June 30, 1998.

Exemption of employer-provided assistance

Section 127 of the IRS Code allows working adults to exclude annually from taxable income up to $5,250 in employer-provided educational assistance. The law is retroactive to May 31, 1997, and applies only to undergraduate programs.

Deduction of student loan interest

The new law allows a deduction of up to $2,500 per year of interest on education loans for expenses of students enrolled in a postsecondary institution. The maximum deduction is $1,000 in 1998, increasing in $500 increments until it reaches $2,500. The deduction is allowed only for the first 60 months of interest payments and has income-level restrictions similar to the HOPE tax credit.

Savings incentives

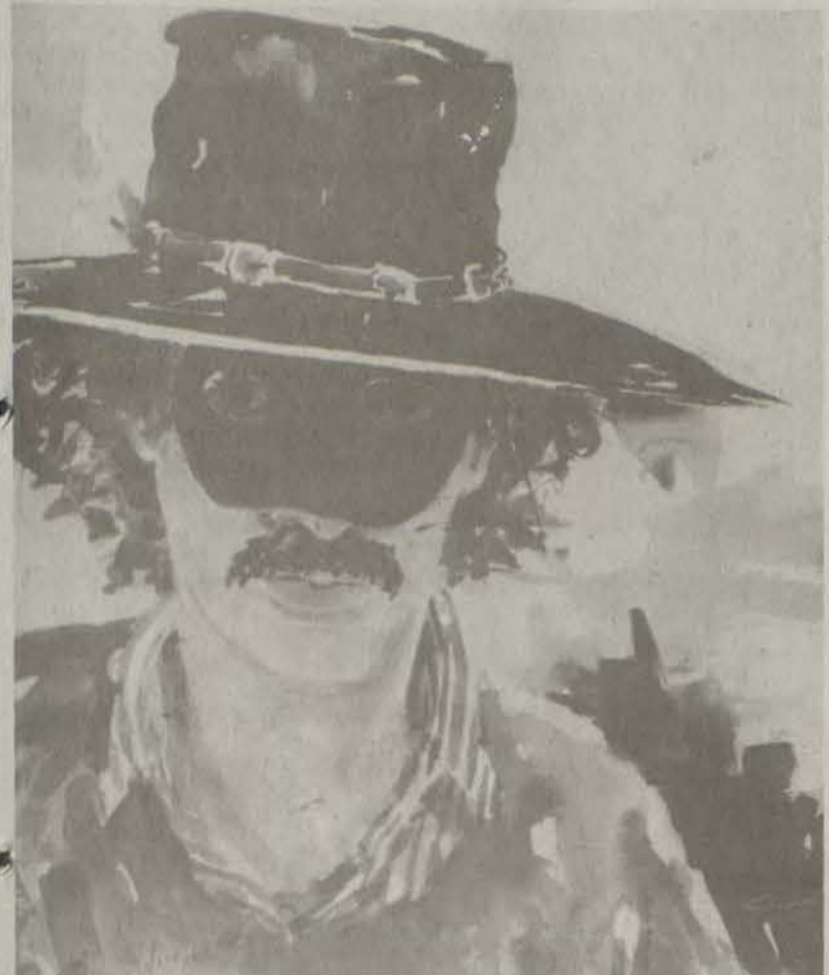

Now individuals may make penalty-free withdrawals from an IRA to pay for higher education.

The measure also creates education IRAs for children under age 18. Annual contribution to these accounts is limited to $500 per beneficiary.

Exemption of scholarships and tuition remissions

Section 117 of the IRS Code excludes from taxable income amounts received as a qualified scholarship, as well as tuition remission support for relatives of employees of colleges and universities.

"Whitaker as the Lone Ranger" is a watercolor on display at the PCC Gallery through November 26.

Whitaker art exhibit scheduled at Prestonsburg Community College

"Now" is the title of art displayed at the Prestonsburg Community College Art Gallery by Appalachian Artist Thomas J. Whitaker, a PCC art professor. The exhibit will run through November 26 with a reception from 5:30-8:00 p.m., Wednesday, November 19.

When asked why the title "Now," Whitaker replied, "Is there any other time?" If you want to experience the soul and heart of Appalachia, "Now" is the time. For further information phone Brenda Miller at 886-3863, (ext. 417).

UK Community College campaigns top $40 million

The University of Kentucky Community College System Partners in Progress Campaign has topped the $40 million mark.

At a special reception honoring the volunteer leaders of the campaign, Chancellor Ben W. Carr, Jr. announced that the gifts and pledges totaling $40,493,078 from 6,154 donors will support student scholarships, endowments and professorships, equipment and technology, faculty/staff development, academic programs, and capital projects.

Eleven of the 14 community colleges have raised in excess of $1 million, with Paducah Community College leading the list at more than $13 million for the construction of a new science faculty.

"All the funds raised are for local college projects that meet important community needs," said Tim Burcham, director of development for the UK Community College System and statewide campaign manager.

"This accounts for the strong community support the colleges are receiving in this campaign."

The Partners In Progress began in Fall 1993, and is the largest and most successful private fund-raising campaign ever attempted by a statewide system of two-year colleges in America.

"The success of the Partners In Progress Campaign is unprecedented and is tangible evidence of the excellent educational and cultural contributions the UK community colleges make to the Commonwealth of Kentucky," Dr. Carr said to guests attending the reception conducted at Lexington Community College on Sunday, October 18.

Community colleges in Hazard, Louisville, Lexington, Maysville, Prestonsburg, Somerset, and Southeast are still actively involved in the campaign which is expected to end sometime in 1998.

PCC Board of Directors re-elects officers

The Prestonsburg Community College Board of Directors reelected its top three officers during a meeting held October 29, at 6:30 p.m., in room 112 of the Johnson Administration Building. Officers re-elected include: Paul Gearheart, chairman; O. T. Dorton, vice chairman, and Jean Hale, secretary. This election followed adoption of new bylaws for the board, which contained the process for electing officers, as well as new provisions reflecting changes resulting from the Kentucky Postsecondary Education Improvement Act of 1997, passed by the General Assembly last May.

Also at this meeting, the board heard five reports from Dr. Deborah L. Floyd, PCC president. Floyd presented reports on the following topics:

- PCC's plan for the Vision 2002/2020 project, sponsored by the Ford Foundation's Rural Community College Initiative. PCC has been working with a team of local leaders to study economic development and increased access to higher education. Floyd said the team working on the RCCI project has developed a short-term vision and a long-term plan. She asked for input from the board and members agreed that various groups within the community "need to work more together and that the college should function as a convener—a safe place to talk about issues and mentor youth leadership."
- An update on the Health Education/Classroom Building that is to be built on the PCC campus. The new building, a joint venture of PCC and Morehead State University, has received $5.5 million from the state for design work, which is currently in progress, and partial construction. Floyd reported that the MSU Big Sandy Board of Advisors recently adopted a resolution commending the PCC administration "for its continuing efforts to improve educational programs for the citizens of the Big Sandy Region," and endorsing PCC's "current efforts to further expand its facilities following the completion of Phase I of the construction of the Morehead State University-Prestonsburg Community College joint building."

- The Christopher G. Fleming Scholarship Fund, an endowment established in memory of Fleming, who was an instructor of Kinesiology and Health Promotion and director of Project Health at PCC at the time of his death last June 21, at the age of 31. During this portion of the meeting, Floyd introduced Kelly Adam, assistant professor of kinesiology and health promotion and director of wellness at PCC, who is serving as co-chair of the College Division of the Blue Ribbon Campaign for the scholarship fund. Adam reported that gifts totaling $7,795 had been received to date from 100 donors. Board member Bob Hutchison, the other co-chair of the College Division of the campaign, reported that, "from discussions with a couple of other people," approximately $2,500 will be added to the endowment, bringing the total to date to approximately $10,200.

- A budget report, during which Floyd introduced John Herald, dean of business affairs, who reported on college expenditures since the beginning of the current fiscal year and explained the relationship between enrollment and income.

- An enrollment report, during which Floyd introduced Sandra Kaikumba, dean of student affairs. Kaikumba announced that headcount enrollment for the 1997 Fall Semester is 2,573, up seven percent from the 1997 Spring Semester enrollment of 2,387, and down five percent from the 1996 Fall Semester enrollment of 2,698.

In addition, the board adopted a resolution in honor of four retired PCC faculty members—Hailu Bogale, Phyllis Honshell, Jim Ratcliff and Carolyn Turner.

The board went into executive session to discuss Floyd's evaluation. After reconvening in open session, the board set its next meeting for December 14, then adjourned.

Members of the board of directors, in addition to Gearheart, Dorton, and Hale, include Sammy P. Chaney; Dr. Rodney Handshoe; Bob Hutchison; John R. Triplett; Dr. Douglas E. Herman, faculty representative; Anita L. Williams, student representative; and Robert M. Conley, emeritus member.

Social Security News

Baby's first number—a Social Security number

Babies bring with them a lot of responsibilities—that is, new responsibilities for their parents. And getting your child a Social Security number should be near the top of the list. Getting a Social Security number is just the beginning of the valuable protection and benefits your child may be eligible for in the future.

The first occasion the child will have to use the Social Security number is when you must use it on your federal income tax return to identify your baby as a dependent. You'll also need a number for your child if you plan to open a bank account, buy savings bonds, obtain medical coverage, or apply for some kinds of government services for the child.

If you don't want to apply for a number at birth, you can wait and get one from Social Security later. The choice is yours.

To get your child a Social Security card and number while the baby is still in the hospital, ask your state's vital statistics office to share the information with the Social Security Administration.

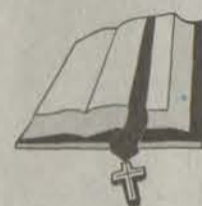

If you do, your child's Social Security card will be mailed to you. It's that easy.

If you choose to wait, you'll need to visit a Social Security office.

When you do, you'll need to bring evidence showing you are the child's parents or legal guardians and your Social Security numbers. You'll also need evidence of your child's age, identity and citizenship. There is no charge for getting a Social Security card and number.

When you receive your child's Social Security card, keep it in a safe place. If you should lose the child's card, you may apply for a duplicate by completing an application and submitting proof of identity. The child will keep the same number, of course.

Choppers is winner in OLM terrapin race

Dr. Lee Boyd, of Pediatric Dentistry at the "Y" in Allen, sponsored "Choppers," the winning terrapin in Our Lady of the Mountains School's first annual Red, White and Blue Turtle Trots on October 11. "Choppers" won $100, a trophy and ribbon.

Dr. Boyd graciously donated the cash back to the school, but accepted the other awards stating, "The trophy is mine! Sabrina, my wife, gets the ribbon!"

Thirty turtles raced in the Red, White and Blue Turtle Trots. "Choppers," #559, set a record of 1 minute and 50 seconds.

"Little Beaver," #536, sponsored by Beaver Truck Parts, placed second with a time of 3:05.

Perry Distributing's "Gus," #545, came in third with a time of 7:05. Obviously, this race was not close!

Heat winners, which completed in the final race but did not place, were "Button," #555, sponsored by the Martin City Clerk and "Posty," #547, sponsored by the American Legion.

Storing harvest for better prices

Six weeks ago, the common story for farmers was that grain prices would be weak during harvest, as they usually are, and then rebound sometime after harvest. That wisdom led many to decide to store their harvest until better prices.

But the decision to store this year's harvest while waiting for better prices may need to be rethought, according to Steve Riggins, extension grain marketing specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

"A few weeks ago, a variety of factors, including continued threats of El Nino, USDA's revision of harvest expectations and high, high export numbers for both corn and soybeans, sent prices upward. Corn climbed about 50 cents a bushel in a few days' time, and soybeans $1 a bushel," Riggins said.

Family literacy stressed in Floyd County

Family Literacy Week was November 1-7 in Floyd County, and the celebration will become a Spellingation later this month.

The Floyd County Adult Literacy Council and Carter-Hughes-Toyota are sponsoring a Spellingation, an adult spelling bee, on Sunday, November 23, in Prestonsburg Community College's Pike Auditorium.

"Families are Floyd County's most important resource," Carter-Hughes-Toyota's owner, Paul Phillip Hughes said recently, "...the family is the basic learning unit and the foundation for a life-long love of education."

Proceeds from the Spellingation will benefit literacy efforts in Floyd County.

Funds will be raised through sponsors. Companies, organizations, associations, or individuals sponsor three-member spelling teams to represent them in the 20-team spelling bee.

A sponsor will donate $100 for the team entry fee.

Team members will receive a list of the rules and practice spelling lists one week prior to the event. During the spelling bee, team members may confer on words their team is asked to spell.

The Spellingation was just one of many events promoting literacy. The Floyd County Public Library in Prestonsburg held a Family Story Hour from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, November 6.

Call Homer Hall at 886-2981 for more information about upcoming events at the library.

The Mountain Arts Center dedicated the U.S. 23 Talent Showcase on Tuesday, November 4, to family literacy within Floyd County.

Students at the Mountaintop Preschool at David invited their parents to read and learn a nursery rhyme with them. The families then performed a skit of their nursery rhyme on Thursday, November 6.

Literacy programs are available through the Auxier/Prestonsburg and John M. Stumbo Family Resource Youth Service centers, and the David Family Learning Center.

Contact Sharon Collins at Auxier/Prestonsburg resource center at 889-0135; Darren Newsome of John M. Stumbo, at 452-2233; and Vivian Whitehead at David, 886-7323.

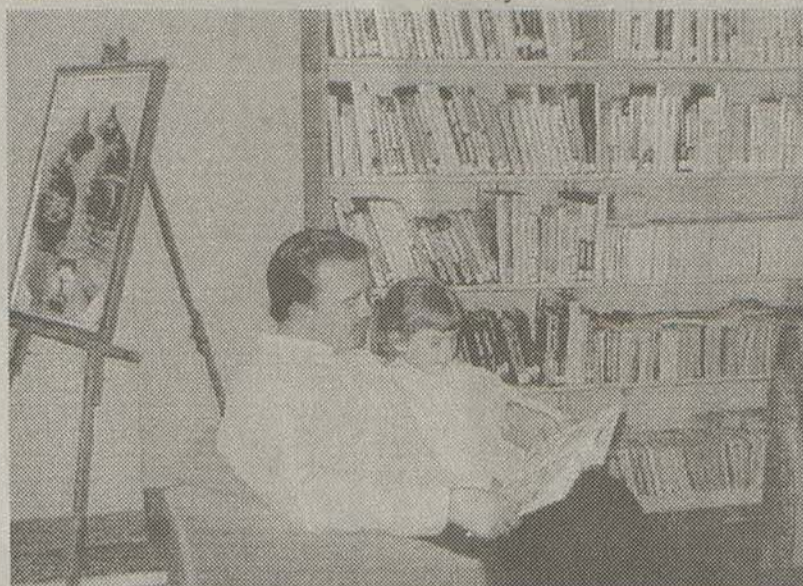

These centers are year-round family learning programs, VISTA volunteer Jenny Howard said in announcing the month of literacy events.

Programs include adult education — parents set goals to better their education and receive instruction; parent time — moms and dads meet in a supportive and relaxing atmosphere to share their experiences in parenting; and PACT (Parent And Child Together) time — quality time shared by parent and child involving fun and educational activities.

The programs are a cooperative effort with the Floyd County Adult Literacy Council and the David School Adult Education. Also involved are the Title I and Head Start programs.

Although the nation focused on adult literacy during that week, Floyd County did not stop with a week-long celebration, according to Floyd County Judge-Executive Ben Hale, but will continue to bring attention to the struggle for a more literate Floyd County. After signing a proclamation declaring National Family Literacy Week in Floyd County, Hale took time out to put his words into action by reading to his daughter, Charlotte.

Hughes, Parker giving back to their communities

HAPPY BIRTHDAY WISH..

Goes to Betsy Layne's Neil Newsome, who plays for the Betsy Layne basketball Bobcats. The caller failed to give us the date of his birthday, or how old he will be, but happy birthday, Neil.

It is always good to see those who are wanting to give a little back to their community in which they grew up in. I have encountered two such people this week, and I appreciate both of them.

Rick Hughes has been a fervent worker with the youth in the Prestonsburg area. Rick is in his 10th year working with the Prestonsburg Junior Basketball League, and he puts a lot of time and effort into it.

Rick also assists with the Adams Middle School basketball team, helping Neil Turner. During the summer months he is coaching at first base, or third base, as manager of a Little League team.

You probably have heard him as the voice of the Prestonsburg football Blackcats this past football season, and he did a great job.

"I don't know how much longer I can keep it up," said Hughes. "This may be my last year with the junior pro."

The Prestonsburg community is fortunate to have someone like Rick who takes time from his own personal schedule for the kids in the area. I appreciate all he has done over the years, and consider him to be a very good friend. I have enjoyed working with him in the athletic arena and when you see Rick, tell him how much you appreciate his dedication to the Prestonsburg youth.

Then there is a long time friend of mine, Lowell Parker. I ran into Lowell at the Osborne/McDowell game this past Monday night. Lowell was officiating the basketball game. Lowell has carried a heavy schedule, calling high school games as well as grade school contests. He works at the Job Corps here in Prestonsburg.

Lowell and I talked a while between games Monday evening, and he shared with me what he is

by Ed Taylor

Ramanda Music scored a game-high 25 points, and teammate Rachel Mitchell tossed in 19 points to help lead the Allen Lady Eagles to a 55-49 win over a strong Adams Middle School, and the championship of the Shag Campbell Invitational Tournament last Friday night at Allen Elementary.

Erin MaJakey tried to lead a fourth quarter comeback for Adams, scoring 12 of her points in the final stanza. MaJakey buried two three point baskets in the period. She finished with 22 points for the game to lead Adams.

MaJakey scores 22 in 55-49 setback

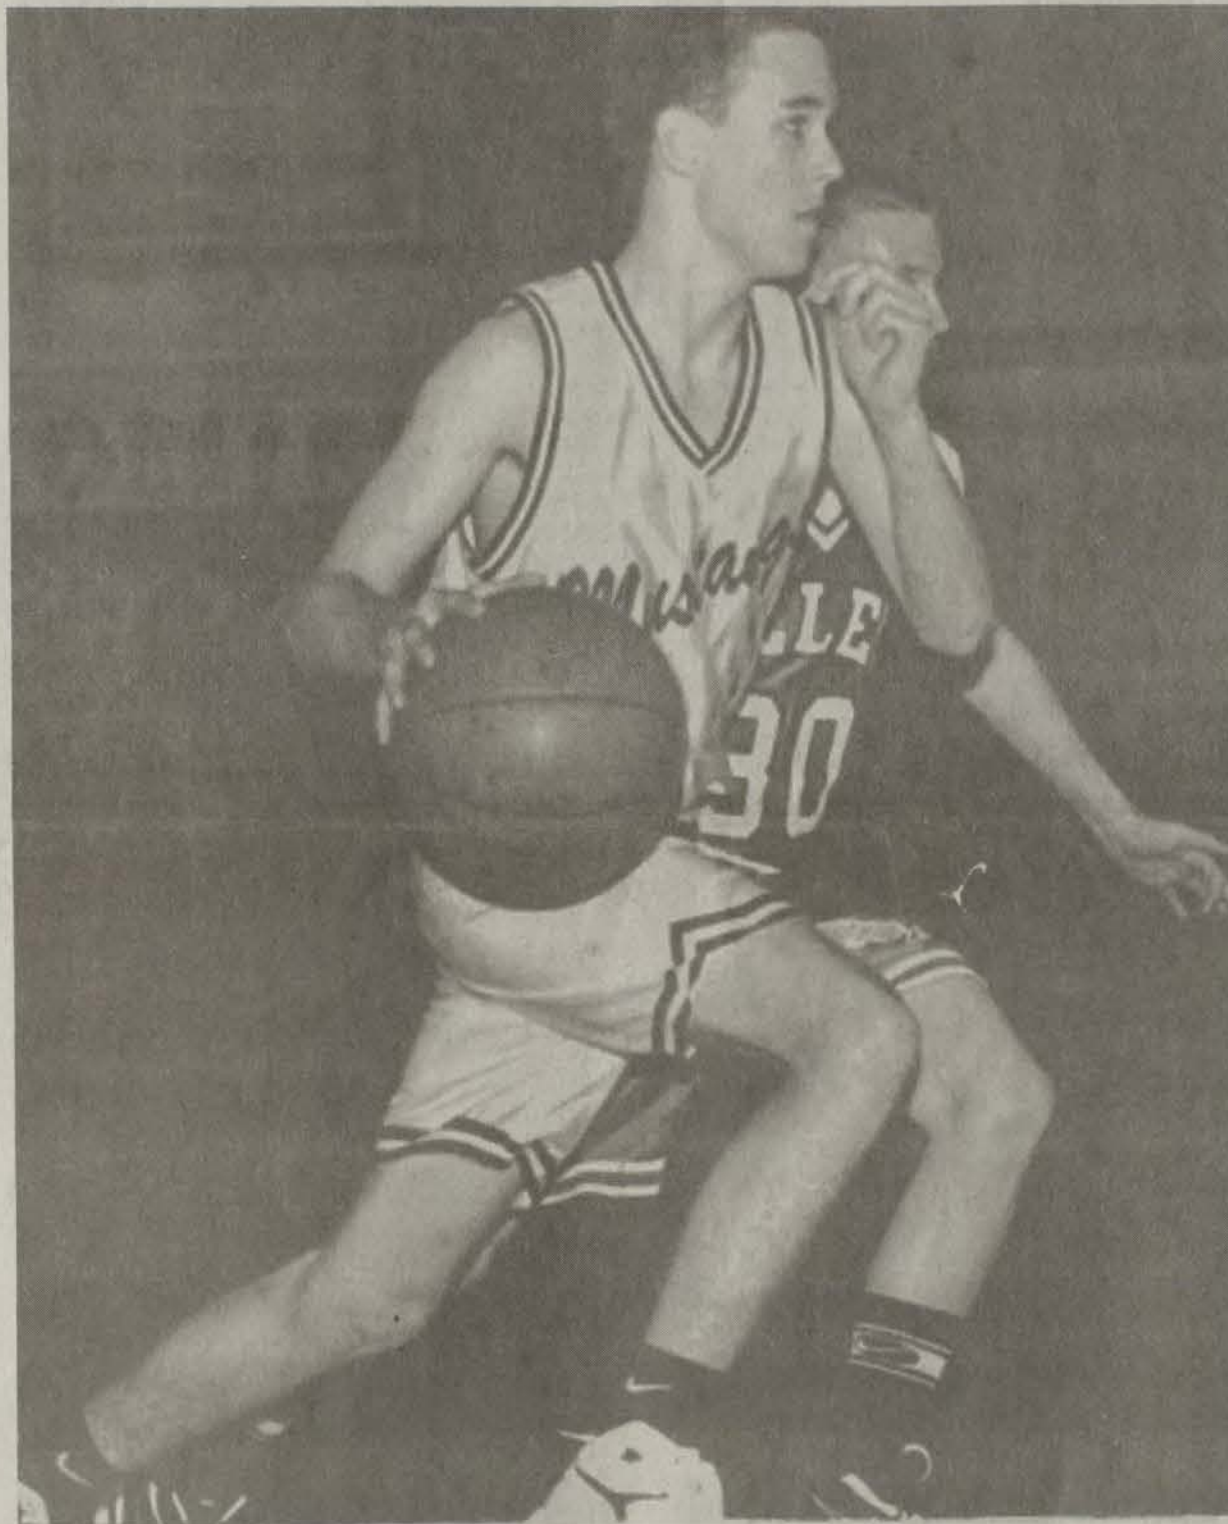

It was a game of spurts for both clubs as they would take turns in making runs at one another. In the fourth quarter, Allen owned a 47-33 advantage, with less than five minutes to play in the game. But Adams did not quit and came back, led by MaJakey. She completed an old-fashioned three-point play, and then drilled a long three-pointer to pull her team to within eight points, 47-39 of the Lady Eagles.

After hitting a free throw, MaJakey buried her second trey, with 1:36 to play for a 53-47 lead as things began to get interesting. With 22 seconds remaining, she hit a 10-foot jumper for a five-point margin. Mitchell and Music hit four of six free throws down the stretch to seal the win.

The game was tied at 4 before Allen went on a 6-2 run and led 10-8 after the first quarter. Music scored seven points in the opening quarter for the Lady Eagles.

Allen scored the first eight points of the second quarter, and built a 18-8 lead. Taran Harris hit a short

Stumbo takes home Shag Campbell title in 50-39 win over Allen Eagles

Josh Allen and Marcus Allen combined for 36 points to lead the John M. Stumbo Mustangs to a 50-39 win over the Allen Eagles in the finals of the Shag Campbell Invitational basketball tournament last Friday night at Allen.

Marcus Allen led the Mustangs with 16 points, while Josh Allen contributed 10.

Allen's Nick Clay led all scorers with 23 points, while Daniel Knausz finished with seven.

The game for the Mustangs, according to coach Hays Hamilton, was being able to contain the high-scoring Knausz. He often found himself facing two defenders when he touched the basketball.

Allen had only three field goals in the fourth quarter, and one of those was a three-point basket by Knausz. It was in the fourth period that Stumbo started to put some breathing room between them and Allen.

The Mustangs held a 33-28 lead after three quarters, and used their half court trapping defense to cause problems for the Eagles. Marcus Allen buried a three-point basket at the 5:30 mark of the fourth and then, following an Allen turnover, scored on a layup to give the Mustangs a 10-point lead, 38-28.

Allen pulled to within five points of the Mustangs on a layup by Clay and Knausz's three-point basket. Two free throws by Austin Clark made it a 40-35 game.

Allen had some crucial turnovers late in the fourth quarter, and Stumbo connected on four of five free throws in the closing minute to seal the win and the tournament title.

"We feel we are going to get better as a team," said Coach Hamilton. "We had to double up on Knausz and that sort of left Clay open down low."

Allen held a 8-7 lead after the first quarter on a rebound basket by Clay. The game was tied at 2, 4, and 6 before the Eagles took an 8-6 lead. Allen hit one of two free throws just ahead of the horn to make 8-7.

The lead changed hands five times in the first two minutes of the second quarter. Both teams were guilty of some shaky ball handling, with Allen turning the ball over on three straight possessions, but Stumbo could not capitalize on the mistakes.

A rebound basket by Marcus Allen, and a three-point bucket at the 1:13 mark of the second stanza, gave the Mustangs an 18-14 lead. Clay had a put back to make it a two-point game but Brian Parsons, ahead of the horn, threw the ball and it sailed through the hoop for a three-pointer and a 21-16 Stumbo half-time lead.

Layups by Michael Stephens and Knausz to start the third period pulled the Eagles to within one point, 21-20. The two county teams exchanged baskets and kept the margin at one point, until Stumbo got a layup from Adam Hamilton and Josh Allen's put-back to give Stumbo a 33-28 lead after three quarters.

Roberts finished with eight points for the Mustangs, as did Josh Howell. Jeremy Daniels had two points.

Stephens finished with six points for Allen, while Austin Clark tossed in three points.

Jarvis expects Blackcats to be more competitive

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

When they tossed the ball up to begin the 58th District Tournament last February Prestonsburg's 6'6" center, Andy Jarvis, took on a new look and seemed to be inspired by the challenge to take his game up another notch.

The 1997 high school basketball season is just weeks away from beginning and for Jarvis, the '97 season is expected to be a fun year.

"We have a lot of players coming back from last season," he said. "Players with a lot of experience and who played a lot of varsity minutes. With the experience coming back, we should have a good December and it should be a fun year."

Jarvis was a terror on the court during the 15th Regional Tournament at Pikeville last season, leading Prestonsburg to the finals against the Paintsville Tigers, who upended the Blackcats. But Jarvis, like the rest of the Prestonsburg team, like their chances of winning it all this season.

"I think we will be able to compete better against Paintsville this year," said Jarvis. "Paintsville has a great ballclub, and they have to great players in J.R. (Vanhoose) and Todd (Tackett). But when you take away (Josh) McKenzie from that ballclub, you take away an awful lot."

McKenzie graduated last year, and was instrumental in helping the Tigers to win some big games. He will be playing for the Pikeville College Bears this winter.

Jarvis feels several teams will be able to match up with Paintsville this year, and Prestonsburg is one of them.

Several small colleges are looking at Jarvis, but he is still undecided as to where he will attend school next year.

"Right now a lot of in-state schools have contacted me," he said. "Centre, Transylvania, Alice Lloyd,

Campbellsville and Cumberland." Jarvis said he doesn't see the Blackcats having any really desperate needs to fill this season. "As far as any weaknesses, I don't see any on this team," said Jarvis. "We have the guard strength, and we have the inside strength. We have shooters on the inside, as well as outside. We have guards who can come down and rebound really well." Jarvis feels he is playing on the same court with two of the premiere guards in the region in John Ortega, and Wes Samons. "It helps a lot to know they are out there," said the Blackcat center, and leading scorer last year. "They are two guards who look first and shoot second. When you have two players like that, who are unselfish, it can only help yourself. They set up a lot of scoring opportunities for us." Jarvis says a lot will depend on the play of forward Joe Campbell. "He is going to be a factor for us," said Jarvis. "By being able to hit the outside shot, it will make a lot of defenses respect him. Other teams will not be able to double down like they want to." Prestonsburg will play one of the toughest schedules this year than those they have faced in previous seasons. But Jarvis said he thrives on the rough games. "I like to play tough teams like Fleming County. That will be a good test for us. We play them early in the schedule (second game of the season, December 6) and that will tell where we really are at the time." Jarvis said the early tough games will show the areas of improvement the Blackcats need to make before district and regional tournament time. Prestonsburg will showcase Jarvis and several other players in the prestigious King of the Bluegrass Tournament in Louisville this season (December 18-23). Jarvis likes the idea. "We should get a lot of exposure down there," he said. "There will be a lot of good competition for us, and I think playing good competition only makes a team better."

One of the state teams the Blackcats could face in a second round match up will be Metcalfe County, home of UK signee J.P. Blevins. Blevins plays guard, and Jarvis said Ortega and Samons should be excited about facing him. "I don't know if I am all that excited about facing him, but John and Wes are. That would be a good match up," said Jarvis. Like all the other Blackcats, the tournament atmosphere of Rupp Arena is what the Cats are focused on this season. They know this could very well be their year, and with opportunity looking them in the eye, staying focused is important. "That is our goal as a team — Rupp Arena," said Jarvis.

jumper, Music scored after stealing the ball, Beth Joseph scored in the paint area, and Music hit a 10-footer in the spurt. But Adams still had life in them, as it was their turn to make a run. The Lady Blackcats ran off six unanswered points, and outscored Allen 10-2 to trail 20-18. MaJaquey scored six of the 10 points on long jumpers and a lay up at the 2:27 mark. A 14-foot jumper and free throw by Ashley Ousley kept Adams within three points of Allen. FUEL GAMBLE UNLUCKY FOR CARELLI, RUTTMAN WINNER

Joe Ruttman and Rick Carelli rolled the dice Sunday in the Car Quest 420 at Las Vegas. When the checkered flag dropped, Ruttman had come home the winner, while the previous race-leader, Rick Carelli, ran out of fuel with only one and one-half laps remaining in the 175-lap event, which signaled the end of the NASCAR Craftsman Truck series for 1997. It was Ruttman's second consecutive truck win for team owner, Jack Roush.

NEMECEK OUTLASTS LAJOIE TO WIN AT HOMESTEAD

Joe Nemecek held off Busch Series Champion Randy LaJoie to win the Busch Jiffy-Lube Miami 300 at Homestead, Fla., Sunday.

While Joe was taking a reverse victory lap around the 1.51-mile facility, LaJoie was sending up smoke on the finish line, as he cut several donuts in the Bace Motorsports Monte Carlo in celebration of his second consecutive Busch Championship.

"I just can't say enough," said an emotional Nemecek. "Everyone did a heck-of-a-job. This one is for John. It's a lot of emotions here today. To lose my brother and best friend at this track just six months ago in a tragedy, and then come back and win there today is unbelievable."

TOP 20 FINISHERS: 1) Joe Nemecek, 2) Randy LaJoie, 3) Mark Martin, 4) Glenn Allen, 5) Jimmy Spencer, 6) Matt Kenseth, 7) Todd Bodine, 8) Kevin Schwantz, 9) Joe Bessey, 10) Tim Fedewa, 11) Dennis Setzer, 12) Steve Park, 13) Dale Earnhardt, Jr., 14) Jeff Fuller, 15) Elliott Sadler, 16) Dale Jarrett, 17) Kevin LePage, 18) Mark Green, 19) Michael Waltrip, 20) Tracy Leslie.

1997 WINSTON CUP CHAMPIONSHIP

After 31 weeks of racing, the Winston Cup driver's championship is too close to call. It will go down to the last race of the season, and maybe even the last lap.

Jeff Gordon seemingly had a comfortable lead going into the Dura-Lube 500 at Phoenix, November 2. But after a tire problem, he wound up finishing 17th. There is now a three-way battle going into the NAPA 500, the series finale at the redesigned Atlanta Motor Speedway, November 16 between Gordon, Dale Jarrett and Mark Martin.

Gordon sits atop the points standing with 4,598. He leads Jarrett by 77 points and Martin by 87 points. All he has to do to win the championship is finish 18th or better, or lead one lap and finish 20th. If he does either of these things, the 1997 Winston Cup Championship will be his.

After the Dura-Lube 500, Gordon said, "Hey, I've been saying all year that this championship battle is going to come right down to Atlanta. But I feel very confident that if we don't have a problem at Atlanta, we can win it."

The crew of Dale Jarrett's number 88 Ford Quality-Care Thunderbird have been working over time in their shop, checking and triple checking everything on the cars the Robert Yates team will take to Atlanta.

"I've said all along, that all we want is a chance," said Jarrett. "This is our chance, and I'm confident. Their newly-designed track is going to be fast, and we've always done well on fast tracks."

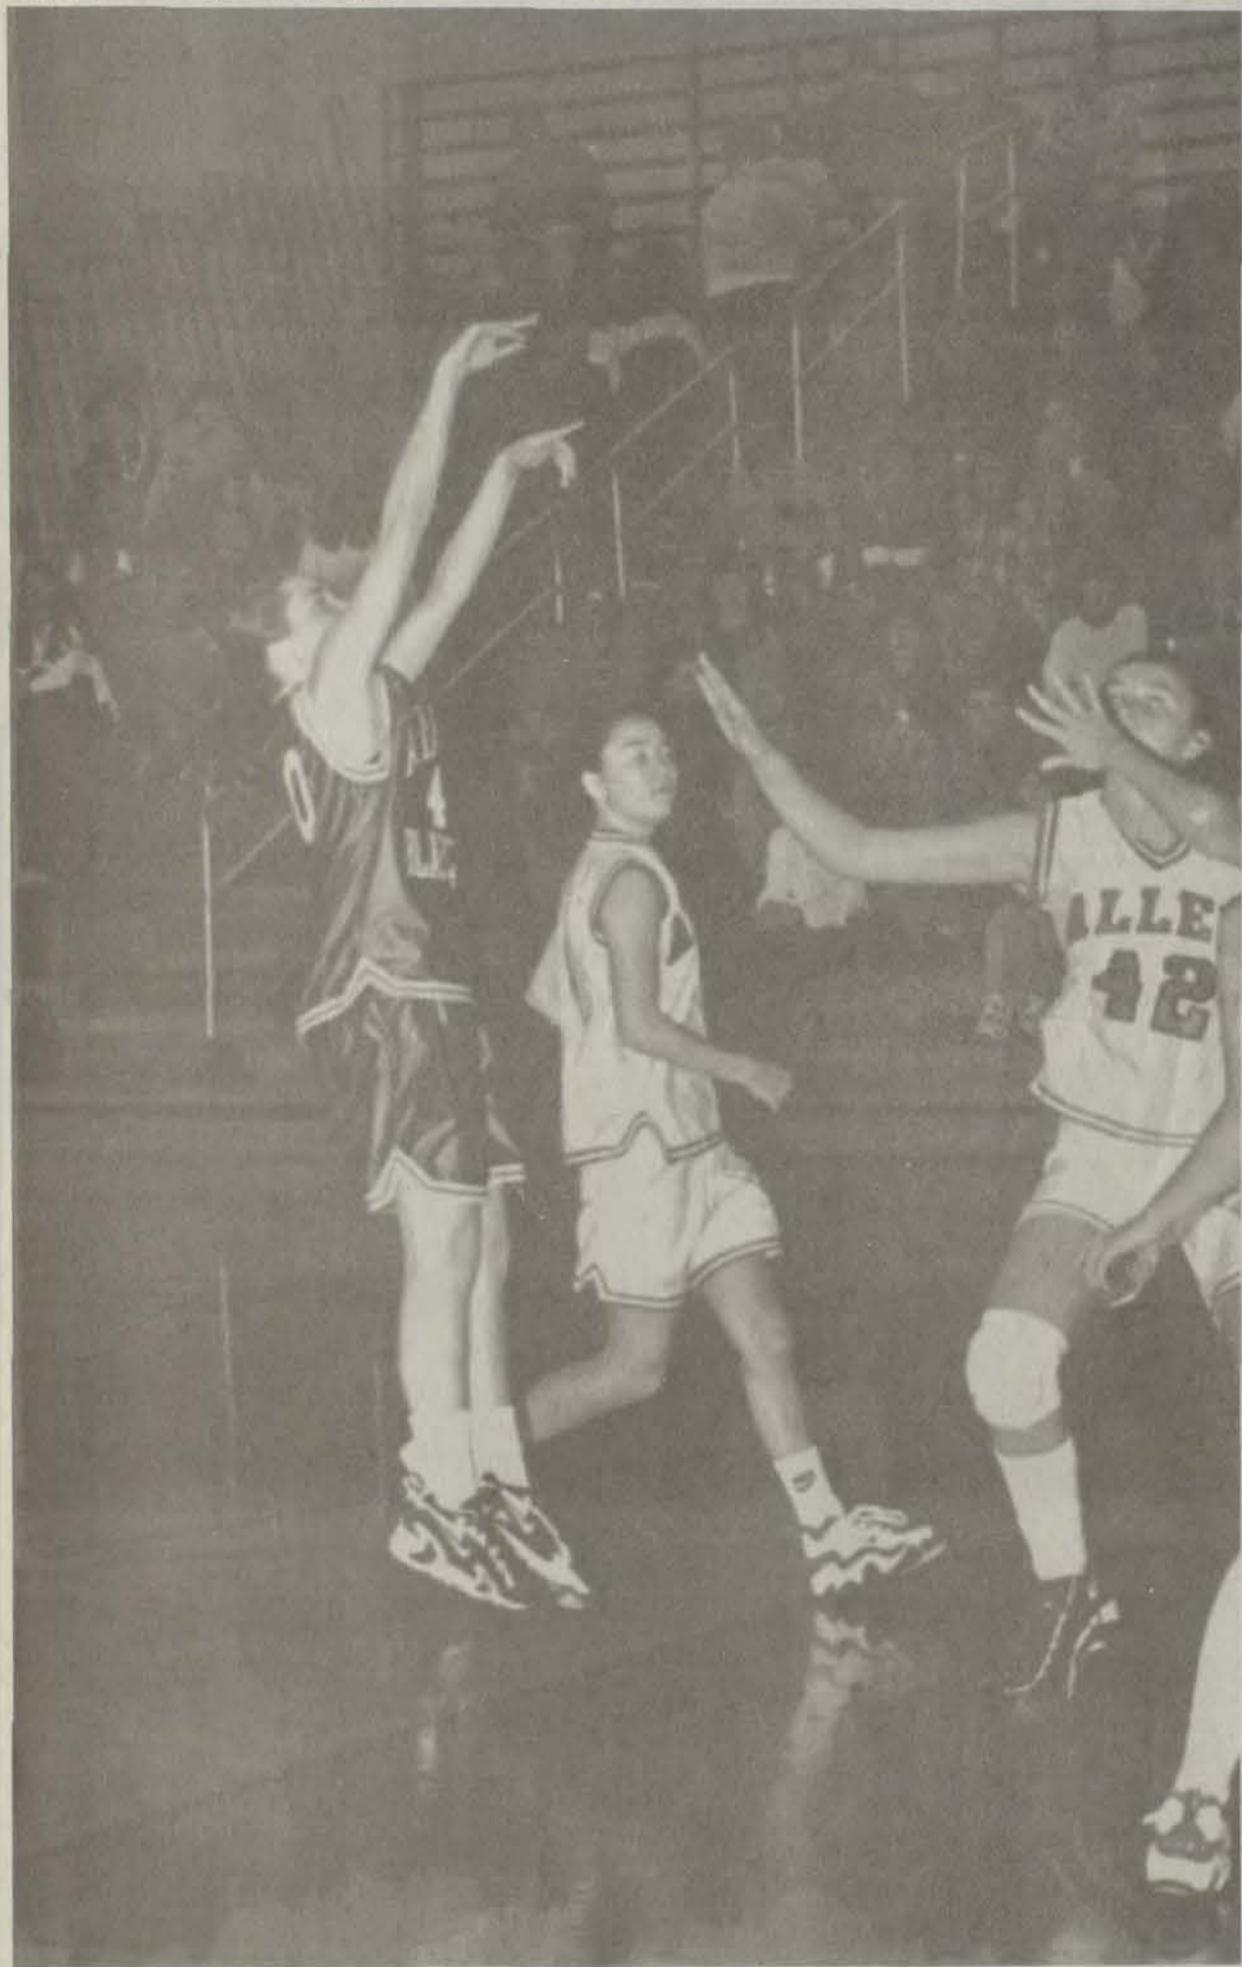

Martin, who is 10 points behind Jarrett believes his team still has a chance to take home the championship.

"Phoenix was a great example of good things and bad things happening at the same time," said Martin. "We were hoping to cut as many points off Gordon's lead at Phoenix as possible, and we did pretty well at that. But so did Dale Jarrett and his guys. The problem is now we're third, and we have to catch Dale Jarrett as well."

"Honestly, it doesn't change a lot in the way we'll approach Atlanta. First race of the season, or last race of the season, we're taking this the exact same way we did the Daytona 500 — go out there and win the thing. Let's face it. That's all we can do. If we win Atlanta and lead the most laps, we might still finish the season in third place. If that happens, then we'll know we did everything we could do, and it just didn't happen to be enough this time."

KENTUCKY AFIELD

TOLL-FREE NUMBER AVAILABLE TO LANDOWNERS

Landowners, don't forget — checking the deer you harvest on your own land is as simple as picking up the phone.

New this hunting season is a toll-free number for landowners, tenants and their dependents to use for checking in any deer they harvest on their land. Just call 1-888-892-3280 and follow the directions.

Although landowners and tenants are not required to check deer they harvest on their lands, they are strongly encouraged to do so. Harvest check numbers help wildlife biologists obtain a more accurate harvest count. This count is very important in managing Kentucky's deer herd.

KENTUCKY ANGLER WINS RED MAN QUALIFIER

A Kentucky angler took first place in a Red Man fishing tournament held in Kentucky earlier this month.

Ronnie Claiborne of Somerset, landed a limit of five bass weighing 13 pounds, nine ounces, and won first place and over $1,900 in the Red Man Mountain Division qualifier held on Dale Hollow Lake. He fished the stumps in the Wolf River area using a Zoom blue-flake colored lure. Claiborne topped a field of 105 anglers.

Rusty Smith of Somerset, took second place by catching five bass weighing 12 pounds, 10 ounces. Smith also fished the stumps and breaks in the Wolf River area using a Carolina rig centipede.

All Red Man tournaments are catch-and-release events.

WATCH OUT FOR DEER

Deer rut, deer mating season, is now peaking in Kentucky. During this season, which runs from late October through November, the drive to mate, rather than common sense, dictates deer behavior. This means deer won't be looking both ways before they cross the street. So, it's a good idea to exercise extreme caution while driving.

Here are some tips to help reduce your chances of having a deer-vehicle accident on the road.

- Slow down and watch for deer when driving through a wooded area or where deer signs are posted.

- Drive cautiously during evening and early morning hours when deer are actively seeking food and shelter.

- When you spot a deer, slow down immediately, if you can do so without causing an accident. The deer could run out in front of you. Plus, deer rarely travel alone, so it's very likely that more deer are nearby.

- Flash your lights or sound your horn to prod a deer to move out of the middle of the road or to discourage it from stepping into the road.

Even taking these precautions, it is sometimes impossible to avoid an accident. Deer-vehicle accidents usually happen when a deer runs into the side of a moving vehicle or jumps out in front of a vehicle, and more than your vehicle could end up damaged.

If you are involved in a deer-vehicle accident, contact a local law enforcement official or local conservation officer, or call the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources at (502) 564-3176. Your report will help the state's deer program coordinator keep track of such mortalities and better plan deer management. The number of deer-related accidents is a factor used in deciding whether the deer hunting season should be liberalized to reduce the possibility of deer-vehicle collisions.

Jeramie DeWayne Rogers of Toler's Creek, Harold, bagged his first deer at Beaver Creek in Menifee County.

Volunteer Novembers have been crushed hopes for UK, is this one different?

Volunteer Novembers for Kentucky's football team are less about a beer barrel tradition and more about the visage of a junkyard stack of crushed automobiles on a frost-bite morning.

Cars, once handsome with possibility and chrome-shine hopeful, become rusted hulks called "nice try, guys." They symbolize an acrimonious chapter in the 104-year history of Tennessee-UK football. From Tommy Adkins, Johnny 'Drum' Majors and Tom Tracy to Peyton Manning, the dreaded Vols have not only won 60 out of 92 (nine ties), but have bashed their northern brethren with particular merriment and basketball numbers. 56-10 last year. In Novembers '93 and '94 the Blue team was left at the roadside totalled, 48-0 and 52-0. And, if memory serves, the Orange was trying to squeeze the Wildcats for more points as the clock ran out.

"Well, it's Tennessee week," belatedly a Blanton Collier era Wildcat last week.

And? Silence. In the end, the conversation escalated to that familiar mountain. The one called hope with a snowcap called If Only.

As in: "Sure hope Tim Couch has a good day," and "If only we can stop Tennessee's running game just a little bit."

Tennessee "will probably win big," the man said. "But..."

But what? This Tennessee Week in November is the same for UK, and it is different also. The Vols are 8-1, and favored by 15 and have an SEC title game appearance on the line. But Kentucky arrives at .500 — a 5-5 mark coming into a finale for only the second time this decade.

UK has a chance Saturday. A bona-fide shot at winning in its own yard. Yes, the Wildcats probably have to score 50 to give their defense a chance to 'contain' Tennessee. But the series history tells us — between seasons of Majors and Manning, the underdog has had a joyous Saturday or two, and the underdog has always been the same.

At the very least Saturday's grapple with Tennessee—another television affair (JeffPilot, ESPN2) in which UK is zero for its last seven—has Garth Brooks concert possibility. Manning versus Couch. Mr. Heisman now vs. Mr. Heisman later.

The winner keeps the beer barrel, the loser becomes another crushed automobile.

UK'S MONEY TRAIL

In a 'show me the money' finale, JoAnne Hauser went away last week.

The former trainer for the

Robertson places second in JFK Memorial Run

Jesse Robertson, The Piarist School, placed second in the John F. Kennedy Memorial 3K Run at Paintsville Lake last Saturday, despite the uncomfortable weather conditions for the day.

As the rain, sleet, and snow fell, and the temperatures dipped into the 20s, Robertson finished behind Huntington, West Virginia's Brent Jarrell who had a winning time of 10:06, a new course record. Robertson finished at 10:22, also breaking the old course record.

The old course record was set in 1996 by Virginia runner Paul Bishop at 10:38.

Auxier's Rick Roberts finished a strong third at 12:34. Harold Deaton and Les Ramsey, both of Jackson, completed the top five finishers.

University of Kentucky men's basketball program, agreed to a settlement from UK representatives (what a surprise) in her suit for sexual discrimination against the school.

When a Lexington judge agreed to allow Hauser a jury trial in the case scheduled to begin in December, UK decided to cut its losses. The reported amount was $220,000, $100,000 of which went to Hauser's lawyers. For pain and mental anguish, a tidy $120,000 rests in Hauser's account.

In exchange, UK (lawyers) got to say the school is blameless. And to put a pink ribbon around this package, C.M. Newton trotted out a politically correct statement that, translated, said, "Ms. Hauser will be quiet now and we are relieved this is going away. And by the way, Ms. Hauser, don't come here looking for work again."

A closer look at this case brings up a number of intriguing elements that ought to be of interest to Kentucky tax payers, it seems to me.

First, isn't it interesting how metro media, so fond of patting itself on the back for nobly using sunshine laws to force institutions like UK to 'show us your laundry,' did not offer a sentence or clue on where the $220,000 payoff will come?

Curious, how the same metro media decision-makers who trumpet with gusto the salaries for professional athletes and even college coaches, in the history of greed, have no enthusiasm to send in a single blockbuster investigative team to report to tax payers on Hauser's settlement. Why? Generally, Kentucky tax payers say "what's the use? We can't do anything about it."

So, $220,000 grand must be chump change.

And, since no spokesperson for tax-supported University of Kentucky has stepped to the plate to say the independently well-heeled athletic department is paying the Hauser bill, we can reasonably assume the Nike bought-and-paid-for UK athletics department is not paying for Rick Pitino's faux pas on Hauser's demotion and Newton's hands-off policy.

So who did pay off Hauser and her attorneys? Must be us. You and me. And I rather suspect—since nobody said anything above a whisper about it—we are paying the remaining portion of Bill Curry's contract.

Meanwhile, last week my annual giving envelope from UK arrived. You know the one, asking for a pledge, a donation to support your university? Mailed yours in yet?

On another front, but one of no less irony, UK officials, principally C.M. Newton, have been deafeningly quiet the last two weeks as the school's athletics plantation boss, Nike Corp. took a pummeling in the national media. Nike has been condemned (again) by a national magazine for its sweat shop labor practices. Seems an internal memo surfaced to reveal Nike pays its Vietnamese laborers 15 cents an hour to put together products there that UK athletes hustle in front of television cameras here.

Business as usual.

KENTUCKY HOOPS RECRUITING

Say, didn't you used to be George Felton, talent scout and recruiter extraordinaire?

Jules Camara aside, UK's much-touted coach in charge of recruiting is wearing a donut so far this recruiting season.

On the one hand however, wouldn't it be a treat to see UK sign a fistful of prospects of whom Bob Gibbons has never heard/rated, and Tubby Smith turned it into a title team? On the other hand, one would not be unreasonable to believe Final Four finalist UK ought to land one blue chipper on Gibbons' hit parade.

Lemme get this straight ... Harold Swanagan (University Heights) and Shawn Fields (Lexington Catholic) to Notre Dame; Shawn Fields (Lex. Catholic) to Georgia, J.R. VanHoose (Paintsville) to Marshall; and Jaron Brown (Bryan Station) to Cincinnati, maybe.

DIS 'N DATA

✓ Patrick Wells, a 6-3, 240-pound linebacker from Frankfort Western Hills committed last week to play college football at Kentucky. UK fans hope he will grow to fill the shoes of the last UK linebacker named Wells. A four-year letterman and MVP of the '92 Wildcats, Dean Wells went on to the NFL.

Correction, UK wide receiver Craig Yeast is a junior and not a senior as I wrote in this space. He will be back next season, and could be a candidate for All-American.

✓ Will be interesting to see what sort of senior season UK signee J.P. Blevins (Metcalfe County) will have. Let the Kentucky Mr. Basketball conjecture begin.

✓ All those who believed Rick Pitino was such a keen evaluator of talent and so VanHoose was not up to playing at UK, permit me to run a few A-B-Cs ('saved his bacon')

SUNSHINE LINES

by Beverly Carroll

As I sit here writing this week's column, I can see from my window that winter is almost here. Snow flurries have already been witnessed by some of my coworkers.

On a trip to and from Frankfort yesterday, I noticed trees high up on the mountains, covered with a light dusting of snow. It seemed to me that Magoffin County received the worst of this first real snowfall of the season. While driving up Mountain Parkway, it was in this county that I noticed snow on the ground. I was reminded of the fact that many of our beloved senior citizens will soon be "shut-in" for a long while, and I wondered if you've decided on a hobby or two you might like to do this winter to keep your mind alert and your body active? Remember, from our discussion last week, how important it is to stay busy as well as warm during the next four to five months. But keeping active and warm are not the only concerns facing many of our senior citizens.

Unfortunately, abuse is a painful way of life many in Eastern Kentucky feel forced to tolerate. Many of you have put up with it for years in one form or another. People are hurt, physically and emotionally, by those they love and who love them. However, one motto I've seen on numerous bulletin boards reads, "Love doesn't have to hurt." It doesn't!

If you are in an abusive environment, or you are the victim of abuse, there is only one way to stop it and that is for YOU to decide to do something about it and then do it. Don't tell yourself, "I'm not taking this anymore" and then rationalize with yourself until you do nothing about it. What happens? A little time passes and you're the victim again. And again! And again!

People who are abused have a tendency to blame themselves. Have you ever considered that you might not be the one with the problem? You are merely the "punching bag" or the "sounding board for sarcasm" on which you continually allow a loved one to repeatedly vent his/her frustrations in an attempt to ineffectively deal with their personal dissatisfactions, failures, and irritabilities.

If you're a "punching bag" where you're beaten and bruised; or a "sarcasm board" where you're screamed at, called derogatory, demeaning names; or are accused of an inappropriate behavior that exists only in the mind of the accuser, don't think for another minute that you have to put up with it.

Likewise, do not think that physical abuse and verbal attacks are the only kinds of abuse many of our senior citizens face today. What about those who are neglected by their loved ones? What about those who never see the food stamps that are provided by the government to help put food on your table? What about those of you who had a little "nest egg," only to learn that it no longer exists; or those of you who had possessions of value only to wake up one morning to learn to your dismay that they were gone? What about the medicine your doctor prescribes for your health? Does it mysteriously disappear without your permission? Could it be that it is being sold or exchanged for a "bottle" or a "brick?" These kinds of abuses happen on a larger scale to our senior citizens right here in the mountains.

And what about the cripples, the homebound and the bedfast who must depend on others to help provide safety and the routine activities of daily living? Some in this condition barely survive. Some are left alone and defenseless in the event of an intruder, or a fire. Yet, who changed your children's diapers? Who did without while they were growing up to see that they got the best you could provide for them? Who gave them round-the-clock attention, the love and the mental stimulation, so they could grow? And, what happens when one's life has gone full circle and now the parent needs his/her bed or diaper changed? Need love and mental stimulation? Where are the kids?

Now don't get me wrong. There are situations when we might not be able to care for our parents. One reason for this is that since our population is living longer, many of our children are senior citizens themselves. When we can no longer physically care for our parents because of our own infirmities, we should not feel guilty if we must make the decision to put them in a nursing home. If we have careers, most parents would not want their children, who now might be nearing retirement, to give up their jobs to care for them. Because of our mobile society and the cost of living today, it is not always possible to fly home and check on mom/dad every weekend. Or, even call every day for that matter. But without assistance, would it be impossible to persuade him/her to come live with you?

I have highlighted the major forms of abuse our senior citizens have to deal with today. I can only wonder what will happen when we have come full circle, and must depend on our loved ones to be there for us. What example have we set?

Next week in Sunshine Lines, we will further discuss abuse of the elderly. It's a major problem in our society. But, remember it is usually only the one being abused that can stop it. Many have tolerated it for so long that it has become a painful way of life. Some older Americans, lying in a vegetative state, are still being abused yet they can't do anything about it. But you can!

For help call your local abuse center; a crisis hotline; your local police, 911, or your Eldercare Locator at 1-800-677-1116. The latter is a toll-free number, with specialists available to help you from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Eastern Time. A professional will talk with you and can direct you to an organization in your locality that deals with elderly victims of abuse.

This information is brought to you through the outreach efforts of the Kentucky Benefits Counseling Program for Senior Citizens in the Big Sandy area. Your Benefits Coordinator for Floyd, Johnson, Magoffin, Martin and Pike counties is Charles Stone. Call him at 886-3876, or toll-free at 1-800-556-9876.

Writings from the heart

In this month's issue of the AARP Bulletin is a story regarding the seemingly recent popularity in writing one's memoirs. It stresses that no longer is recording personal history done only by famous people, like presidents and movie stars;

Poison Oak

that folks from all ages and walks of life are starting to put their recollections on paper. That pleases me because as one who has had the opportunity over the past few years to interview and write the thoughts of dozens of Eastern Kentucky's older citizens, I think I've gained a degree of personal insight as to just how important such memoirs are. I've found that whether I'm talking to a 90-year-old former Van Lear coal miner; a great-great-grandmother who has never been more than 50 miles from her birthplace and never worked a day in her life outside her home; or listening to talks of a life-long Johnson County fox hunter, what I'm hearing is genuinely honest slices of life.

Ironically, while many times the views of the older citizenry are in direct contradiction to what so-called scholars have recorded in history books, I find myself knowing, without doubt, that I'm listening to the true story of how it really was. The cold pages of some thick anthology can't possibly explain the humanity involved in trying to feed and clothe a large family during the Depression, or make you feel the heartbreak of shipping sons and daughters off to war. As the voices of those who've lived the events of which they speak sometimes break and become almost a whisper, history itself becomes a living, breathing entity; a face with eyes that sometimes smile, sometimes cry; a history with a soul.

The AARP article indicates that as far as actually seeing the printed page, most such memoirs go no further than the immediate family circle. But what an invaluable richness they provide within the group. I've wished dozens of times that I'd had sense enough to encourage my parents to talk about their pasts. Even though I doubt I could ever have gotten them to actually write down their thoughts, as I look back I can now see how simple it would have been for me to tape them.

I know absolutely nothing of how they felt about anything when they were young. I know nothing of their courtship; how they coped during the early years of their marriage; even how they arrived at their religious and political preferences.

Admittedly, knowing all this may not have made an iota of difference as to how I—or any of my brothers and sisters—turned out. But as I get older, I find myself wondering about Dad's and Mom's philosophies; about family lore that's exclusively ours; about any little quirks that sets the Pack clan apart from all the other families that inhabited Muddy Branch during the 1940s.

Since memoirs, unlike the common autobiography, are personal impressions written from the heart, I sorely regret not encouraging my folks to write theirs.

Santa train makes 55th trek through Appalachia

Every November Santa Claus and his helpers leave Kingsport by rail taking Christmas to thousands of people in Eastern Kentucky, Southwest Virginia and Northeast Tennessee.

The Santa Claus Special has run the rails since 1943 carrying 12 tons or more of candy and toys to people lining the tracks from Pikeville to Kingsport. Santa will have several special helpers this year with Kentucky Governor Paul Patton and country singer David Kersh joining the trek. The train departs Kingsport, November 22, which will mark the 55th trip to Appalachia.

Sponsored by the Kingsport Area Chamber of Commerce and CSX Transportation, Inc., the Santa Claus Special was started by the Kingsport Merchants Bureau as a way of saying "thanks" to their customers from Southeast Virginia and Eastern Kentucky. Since then, the train has brought Christmas joy to more than 30,000 Appalachian people every year.

The Santa Claus Special leaves Kingsport on Friday, heading for Pikeville to be in position for the southbound run the following day. Leaving Pikeville early Saturday morning around 7:30, the Santa Train makes seven scheduled stops and travels through 29 towns in Kentucky and Southwest Virginia distributing gifts and goodwill along the 110-mile south. The train brings Santa to Kingsport just in time to kick off the city's annual Christmas parade and start the holiday shopping spree. The Santa Claus Special is the world's largest Santa Parade.

On the first trip, money from the Merchants Bureau Fund provided the hard wrapped candy that was thrown from the train. In subsequent years, gifts were solicited by Food City businessmen.

At different times, candy; specially-made notebook pads; hand-made dolls; clothes; pretzels; stuffed animals; small toys; three-ringed binders and pencils; and basketballs were distributed along the route.

After the late Charles Kuralt's CBS "On the Road" coverage and a New York Times front page article, the money and gifts started pouring in from all over the country. As a result, $10,000 in contributions was received and most contributors still give each year. Since that time, the train has received more than $100,000 in donations. After these stories were made public, gifts and candy never had to be purchased again with Chamber funds.

One gift that lasts a lifetime for students who live in the vicinity of the tracks is the Santa Train Scholarship Fund. Established in 1991, the scholarship fund grew out of cash contributions placed in the Chamber Foundation Funds. Based on financial need, citizenship, academic achievement and recommendations by teachers and guidance counselors, this four-year, $1,250 scholarship is awarded to at least one graduating senior from a Kentucky or Virginia high school each year.

The Santa Train is a time-honored tradition for many people in the region, including the volunteers who travel the route and help keep the operation on track. CSX donates personnel, equipment and track time to support this tradition of gift-giving. The company also provides the buses that transport volunteers to and from the motel in Pikeville during the trip.

Wednesday evening before the train leaves Kingsport, more than 50 volunteers will meet at Food City on Eastman Road in Kingsport to mix candy and toys in preparation for distribution from the train. The cardboard from the boxes of goodies is recycled through a cooperative effort of Clean Kingsport, BFI, Waste Management and Food City.

The Santa Claus Special will leave the Kentucky freight yard in Shelby, Pike County, at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, November 22, and will travel through Levisa Junction, Marrowbone, Dunleary and Elkhorn City in Kentucky. In southwest Virginia, the train will make stops in the towns of Freemont, Dante, St. Paul, Dungannon, Speers Ferry and Waycross. Santa will return to Kingsport at 3 p.m. for the finale of the annual Christmas Parade.

CAP founder, pastor renews acquaintance with Colin Powell

Father Ralph Beiting, founder of the Christian Appalachian Project and pastor of the Catholic churches in Lawrence and Martin counties was a special guest of Peter Lowe, founder of Success, an organization that promotes positive thinking as an essential ingredient to success in any field, at a motivational seminar in Louisville, on November 4.

Speakers for the seminar included Lowe, actor/director Christopher Reeve and General Colin Powell.

Father Beiting, representing eastern Kentuckians, as well as clergy, was one of ten Kentuckians invited by Lowe to have dinner with Colin Powell. The two renewed the acquaintance they had made in Philadelphia when they attended the President's Summit for America's Future in April.

As each dinner guest shared information about him or herself, Father Beiting told of his 47 years in Appalachia, and the work of the church and of CAP.

"The evening ended and each left a little better than when dinner began," Father Beiting said. "There was a pride in being part of America and a determination to make the best of the time remaining in this century."

Mended Hearts met November 11

Mended Hearts Chapter 220 met Tuesday, November 11, at 6 p.m. in a conference room of Highlands Medical Offices Building. The meeting was called to order by the president, William Hughes, and Dean Adams led the Mended Hearts Prayer.

Program Chairman Ray Prater introduced Dr. James Dumas, a psychiatrist with the Mountain Comprehensive Care Center who spoke on depression. Dr. Dumas' remarks were well received by the group as one out of five heart

Dr. Dumas said that depression is not a disease; it is not an embarrassment and there are numerous ways to treat the disorder if medical advice is obtained.

"If it becomes a problem, do something about it," he emphasized.

The informative address was followed by a question and answer session.

President Hughes then introduced Ann and Merlon DeRossett and welcomed them to the meeting. Merlon DeRossett had recently undergone heart surgery.

spent helping us prepare for the event. Several items of interest are in store for the month of December. John Frasure will donate a Community Christmas Tree, and the lighting will be on December 7th, on the property of G. C. Grocery. The lighting will be around 4 or 5 p.m. Notices will be posted. This is not just for the community, all are welcome to come and enjoy. The annual dinner will be on December 13th, at 4 p.m. Santa will be at the Pilgrim Rest Church on Sunday, December 14th. Come out and talk to Santa.

It was decided to draw for "secret sisters" at the meeting. Refreshments were served. Birthdays, and anniversaries were observed. Hot chili! What a good idea for an otherwise cold, rainy afternoon!

The dinner in December will replace our regular monthly meeting.

regular session on November 4, with Noble Grand Lorena Wallen presiding.

Communications and bills were presented and taken care of. The sick list was reviewed and it was noted that two members had improved and were in attendance at the meeting.

The vice grand-elect, Hope Whitten, and her right supporter, Virginia Goble, were present and were installed into their respective chairs.

Initiations were discussed and were held later on November 18, at 7 p.m.

The altar was draped in memory of Elizabeth Oakley, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of Madisonville, who passed away this year on October 6.

Birthday greetings were extended to Hope Whitten.

Members present were Lorena Wallen, Paulena Owens, Sue Moore, Claudine Johns, Violetta Wright, Hope Whitten, Virginia Goble and Mabel Jean LeMaster.

Some changes slated for Floyd County Retired Teachers

Retired teachers failing to attend the special-called meeting of the Floyd County Retired Teachers Association on November 13 at May Lodge missed a lively business session; one that took up several concerns on membership, retirement benefits, and modifications of the organization's Constitution.

The meeting was called to order at 10:30 a.m. by Roberta Fugate, president of FCRTA. Mrs. Fugate asked Elmer Martin to give the invocation. Alice Martin led the Pledge to the American Flag and the group singing of "America, the Beautiful."

Imogene Caldwell gave the secretary's report on the November 4 meeting of FCRTA and the October 13 observation of the Big Sandy Retired Teachers' Appreciation Day. Both sets of minutes were approved as read.

Due to the absence of Doris Osborne, Mrs. Fugate gave the trea-sure's report.

Reports by various committee chairpersons were then given.

Jimmy Reynolds noted a gain in membership from 137 paid members in 1996 to 189 paid members in 1997. While Reynolds applauded this increase, he lamented the fact that 189 paid members is not good enough when the potential is there for more than 400 members.

Elmer Martin noted that there was nothing new on health insurance except what came to everyone through the mail.

Danese Amburgey was absent, but Roberta Fugate reported on the pre-retirement meeting. She praised the speaker and said there were many teachers from Boyd and Pike counties who planned to retire.

Alice Martin remarked that all the local media had been notified about the November meeting and that the telephone contact persons had agreed to make their calls.

In new business, it was decided to send a thank you letter to the Floyd County Education Association for their $300 contribution on reception expenses for the Big Sandy District Retired Teachers' Appreciation Day.

The president appointed a nominating committee to come up with a slate of officers for the next biennium. Those selected were Louise Howard, Ruby Akers, Sarah Laven, Elmer Martin and Alice Martin. This committee will report at the FCRTA meeting in March.

Jenny Howard, representing the Floyd County Literacy Council, said she is still seeking volunteers to help at least three hours a week with the program.

Howard has also invited FCRTA to participate in a Spellathon to be held November 23 in the PCC auditorium from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. It was decided to enter the program and make a contribution of $100. The donation is to benefit the literacy program.

Suggested changes and/or additions to the FCRTA Constitution were presented by Frank McGuire Jr. These proposals were accepted as read or as amended by agreement among those present. One significant change is that FCRTA meetings will now be held monthly instead of quarterly.

A motion was made by Jimmy Reynolds and seconded by Frank McGuire Jr. that the monthly FCRTA meetings be held the first Thursday of every month unless that Thursday is a holiday; in which case, the meeting would be on the second Thursday of the month. Not part of the motion, but agreed upon by the group was to set the time and place as 10 a.m. at the May Lodge of Jenny Wiley State Resort Park.

Looking ahead to the next session of the General Assembly, Louise Howard suggested that the six counties comprising the Big Sandy District Association form a motorcade and drive to Frankfort at an opportune time to let state legislators know that retired teachers have some legitimate concerns.

A benediction was given by Elmer Martin after which the meeting adjourned.

Registering at this session of the FCRTA were the following: Doris A. Robinson, Alma Lowe, Arnold Lowe, W. Louise Howard, Lloyd Wells, Betty Smith, Frank Smith, Carmel L. Akers, Elmer G. Martin, Adrian Bentley, Etta C. Scott, June Stephens, Lula R. Bradley, Patty C. Jones, Viola A. May, Bessie Conley, and Ruby Akers.

Also present were Jim Reynolds, Johnny Stumbo, Betty H. Porter, Ann Stumbo, Roberta Fugate, Alice O. Martin, Georgia L. Blackburn, Imogene Caldwell, Jo Ann Johnson, Sarah Laven, Kaye McGuire, Frank McGuire Jr., Miles Whitaker and Mildred Whitaker.

The next meeting of FCRTA will be December 4 and will feature a Christmas program by the Prestonsburg Honor Choir under the direction of Elizabeth Frazier.

This meeting is open to the public and especially to the parents of the choir members.

Woman's club holds monthly meet

The Prestonsburg Woman's Club held its monthly meeting Thursday, November 6, with 13 members in attendance. The group traveled to the historic Samuel May

House for a tour and slide show given by Dr. Robert Perry. Dr. Perry is a local historian, past president of the Friends of the May House, and a Prestonsburg Community College professor of English.

After the tour, the group, including Dr. Perry, went to Jerry's Restaurant for dessert and a short business meeting. In attendance were the following woman's club members: Boots Adams, Lillian Baldrige, Mabel Brown, Sandy Burchett, Barbara Dawson, Garnett Fairchild, Lida Howard, Sabra Jacobs, Drema Miller, Cherie Mulling, Elizabeth Rennick, Sandra Robertson and Pam Weiner Skeen.

Recycling committee learns about making furniture from plastic

The Floyd County recycling Committee met at noon Wednesday, October 29, at the Chamber of Commerce Office.

The meeting was called to order by Rebecca Derossett, who announced that the agenda had been scrapped to give ample time to guest speaker, Bart Patton, president of Appalachian Environmental Products, located in Lerosé, Owsley County.

Patton explained that his company was created as a result of a house-repair program conducted annually by the Christian Appalachian Project. Twenty businessmen from New York came to Owsley County in 1992 to assist in repairing homes for the needy. They left with a desire to do something to stimulate employment in the area. After much study, a year later, the group formed a plan to create Appalachian Environmental Products, Inc. At the company's initial stock offering, $70,000 was raised.

In November 1993, a board of directors was formed, consisting almost entirely of citizens of Owsley County.

Patton was hired in 1994 as president of the newly-formed company. He began the endeavor with just the bare essentials; however, he had a $10,000 order in place, secured by the Christian Appalachian Project at a market in Atlanta. With four employees, he ended the first year's operations with sales of over $100,000.

Appalachian Environmental Products, Inc., presently manufactures outdoor furniture from recycled plastic milk jugs. Patton purchases his building materials from a source in Chicago, as he has been unable to find a supplier in Kentucky who can supply enough plastic waste materials to meet his needs. Mickey Mills, Bluegrass Recycling, Lexington, said his company will probably enter into an agreement with Appalachian Environmental Products soon to supply the plastics. He pointed out the irony of the situation, in that Bluegrass Recycling has been shipping plastic wastes to the same plant in Chicago from which Mr. Patton buys his materials.

Patton said that he is presently waiting for local government to prepare an industrial site for his operation. When that is done, he will move into a new facility, upgrade his equipment, and provide more jobs for the area.

Following a question-and-answer session, the committee adjourned. The next meeting was scheduled to be held Wednesday, November 19 at the Chamber of Commerce Office, Prestonsburg. Jean Dorton and Kathy Friend planned to present a program on composting.

Present at the October meeting were Rebecca Derossett, committee chair; Kevin Webb, ecology; Reid Cordle, business; Janet Conley, education; Bob Lewandowski, ADD; Connie Cooley, business; Judge Ben Hale, government; Bart Patton, Appalachian Env. Products; Jean Dorton, conservation; Hubert Puckett, citizen representative; Norm Marcum, media; Carla Coburn, business; Lon May, DES; Jimmy J. Derossett, guest; Kathy Friend, citizen representative; Mickey Mills, Bluegrass Recycling.

Big Sandy Mended Hearts, Chapter #220, cordially invites you to honor the achievements of those you admire, or remember those you love, by sponsoring a light on its LIGHTS OF LIFE TREE this holiday season.

This lovely holiday display of light and beauty is located at Highlands Regional Medical Center on a handsome live tree. It illuminates the night from December 1 until after New Years, showing all of the Big Sandy area your remembrance and your care for others.

This year, proceeds from the LIGHTS OF LIFE TREE will go to Mended Hearts, Chapter #220. Your gift will do double duty; it will represent your care for someone you admire or love, and it will help support our local heart patients.

Each gift of $5.00 for A LIGHTS OF LIFE TREE light will be acknowledged by a thoughtful card to the person you honor or the family of the person you remember. You will also receive a letter of thanks, serving as your tax-deductible receipt.

When you make a gift to the LIGHTS OF LIFE TREE, you are automatically invited to be our guest at the tree lighting ceremony, Monday, December 1, 1997, 7:00 p.m., at the entrance of Highlands Regional Medical Center.

AG NEWS

Many people prefer live Christmas trees to those artificial ones found in department stores, but after just a few weeks that dried up, cut tree is dead and must be disposed of.

There is an alternative. Some people might like to try a balled and burlapped (B&B) tree this year. With care it can be decorated, and used inside the house as a Christmas tree and then after Christmas, it can be moved outside and planted.

There are some things to consider to increase the odds that the B&B tree will survive. For example, the buyer should ask the vendor where the trees came from, and how long ago they were dug. Local sources are probably better for freshness.

Check both the size of the root ball, and whether it is damp to the touch. If the root ball is dry, the tree probably suffers from drought conditions.

Often B&B trees are displayed in old tires. The root ball of any tree over three feet tall should completely fill the tire. When transporting the tree home, put it under cover, either in the covered back of a pickup truck or with a tarp or burlap over the foliage. A living tree should not be twined up and cannot be netted, because the root ball won't fit through the netting equipment.

When you get a living tree home, it should be placed in a basement, garage, or an enclosed place that is not heated, to allow the tree to acclimate to a warmer climate than the outdoors, but not in a heated environment. Needles and the root ball should be misted with water just enough to get damp, not wet.

It is a good idea to dig a hole in the yard, where the tree will be planted later. The hole should be at least two times the width of the root ball, but the same depth. Cover the soil that was removed, so that it doesn't freeze while the tree is in the house.

Once inside, the tree should be placed away from any heat source. Limit the number of hours electric lights are lit. Any living tree should be removed from the house after one week. Remove the tree to a sheltered but unheated location again. With all decorations removed, mist the needles down again and make sure the root ball is still damp.

After two or three days the tree should be planted after removing all plastic, twine, wire and burlap from the root ball. Slightly loosen the soil of the root ball, and use the protected reserved soil from the hole to fill in around the tree. If temperatures allow, water the tree thoroughly after planting, and apply two or three inches of mulch around the trunk, but not touching the bark of the tree.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY RESEARCHER SPEAKS ON ROLE OF ANTIOXIDANTS IN THE DIET

Antioxidants have been in the news lately. You may have heard about how foods rich in antioxidants can help prevent some of the "oxidative damage" associated with aging. We all breathe oxygen. It is, of course, essential to life. Just as cars burn gasoline for energy, people "oxidize" foods for energy. And like regular car maintenance, antioxidants help maintain the body and keep it in good running condition.

One of the researchers looking at how antioxidants help promote health and prevent disease is Dr. Linda Chen of the University of Kentucky Department of Nutrition and Food Science. Dr. Chen is associated with the UK Sanders Brown Center on Aging and conducts research about how nutrition affects the aging process. She recently presented the results of her research on antioxidants at the International Association of Biomedical Gerontology in Australia. Dr. Chen studied how antioxidants may affect the development of complications in people with diabetes. She found that older patients with diabetes tend to have less antioxidant protection. This may help explain why people with diabetes have eye, heart and kidney disease more often than people who do not have diabetes.

In the past, advice about diets focused on how to prevent deficiencies of vitamins and minerals. Now that more is known about foods and how they affect health, we know that antioxidants may help reduce risk of diseases such as heart disease, cancer and stroke. They may also slow the progress of Alzheimer's disease and help prevent complications from diabetes. This new information will allow us to go beyond meeting basic nutrition needs. Diet will become a more important part of preventive health care.

Some antioxidants are familiar nutrients, like vitamins C and E. Others, such as lycopene and beta-carotene, have been recently introduced. Lycopene, found in tomato products, may reduce risk of prostate cancer. These are just some of the antioxidants found in fruits and vegetables. Scientists like Dr. Chen will be exploring the role of antioxidants in the diet for many years.

Cruciferous vegetables are being restricted for their cancer-inhibiting phytochemicals and are good choices for their antioxidant properties. The key is eating them. Here are a few suggestions for increasing cruciferous vegetables in the today's diet.

1. Sprinkle raw rutabaga strips lightly with flavored vinegar and your favorite salt-free seasoning.
2. Boil turnips or rutabagas with potatoes and mash with skim milk, garlic powder, and butter granules/margarine.
3. Finish steamed Brussels sprouts by sautéing with olive oil spray and minced garlic.
4. Cabbage is good when combined raw with raspberry jelly, raspberry vinegar, crushed pineapple and nonfat mayo.
5. Place turnips, sweet potatoes, onions and carrots in chicken broth. Roast together in 400 degree oven for 45 minutes. Stir frequently and add more liquid as needed.
6. Make a white sauce with low-fat, reduced-sodium cream of chicken soup and nutmeg; serve it with steamed broccoli, cauliflower, broccoli rabe or kale.
7. Keep a bunch of fresh broccoli or cauliflower in your refrigerator at all times. Throw it into salads or stir fries. Serve raw with dips for snacks.
8. Chop and steam kale; serve over small-shaped pasta such as bowties or small shells. Finish with a light spray of olive oil, black pepper and Parmesan cheese.
9. Chop broccoli fine and use it in your egg white omelet along with mushrooms and tomatoes.
10. Make a broccoli salad with turkey-bacon, onion, raisins, sunflower seeds and fresh mushrooms. Toss with nonfat coleslaw dressing or vanilla yogurt.

With the approaching holiday season, here are a few healthful yet tasty recipes using cruciferous vegetables. Try working these into your family's meals.

Broccoli Cheese Bake
2 stalks broccoli florets
4 T. lowfat ricotta cheese
4 T. nonfat grated mozzarella pinch paprika
Wash broccoli florets and shake excess water off. Place broccoli into microwavable dish with stems down. Spread tops with lowfat ricotta cheese. Sprinkle with grated mozzarella and paprika. Microwave on high for 4-5 minutes or until broccoli is tender and cheese is melted over the tops of the broccoli.

THINK ABOUT IT

by Sheldon Compton

What kind of parents put their child out at the side of the road, in the rain, looks that three-year-old child in the eyes and drives off, telling it that Daddy has a doctor's appointment and that he'll be back later? A sick parent, I would say—and also in need of a doctor...a psychiatrist.

A three-year-old was found walking the road, rain pelting his bare head and arms, and this is the story he told the deputy sheriff who found him. When the boy was checked out it was found that he had given the deputy a false name...already protecting his neglectful parents.

The child was taken into custody and then released to his aunt. He was seen the same day with his mother at a local grocery store.

At one time I thought of going into social work so that I might have a hand in preventing things like this, but I now realize there is not much that can be done. It is a pessimistic stance to take, but a hard fact, a fact that I am reluctant to accept.

I have been told to let it go, that I simply don't understand how these things work, that it is more complicated than I think. I find it strange that an educated person would take this viewpoint and then have the audacity to try to make other educated people accept that viewpoint.

It was not right that this child was put back into a situation that could have it back on the street, starving, or worse. It was not right, and no one with an entire courtroom of technical reasons can convince me otherwise. The people who should know say that we can't invest so much time into such a wide-spread area problem. We could if we made this all too-common neglect priority number one. We could, I think, if we really understood that our children hold our future, and look to us for guidance and more importantly for love, support, and encouragement. There is nothing more important in this world than our children, and we should make an effort to give a reflection of this that our children will see, understand, and take comfort in.

Kentucky employers optimistic about business climate

Kentucky employers' confidence in the business outlook of their company, Kentucky, and the nation continued a steady 18-month climb as the AIK Business Confidence Index reached a high of 64.9 percent in October. The survey has shown a gain of 5.6 points since a fall to 59.3 in May 1996. However, Southeastern Kentucky has not fared so well.

The Green River region jumped 8.1 points to top the regional survey of employee perceptions based on an 11.1 rise in the sales index and a 7.5 rise in the hiring index. The previous leader, Southeastern Kentucky, dropped to eighth of the nine regions due to a 9.9 fall in the sales index, and a 7.9 fall in the hiring index.

The business survey measures overall business confidence by weighing employer perceptions of the performance (sales, hiring and overall) of their companies, and those of the state and nation over a six-month period. A reading of over 50 on the 100-point scale indicates that employers are optimistic about their business climate.

Other than the Green River and Southeastern Kentucky regions, there was little change in employer perceptions of their own Kentucky region. Employers in Southern Kentucky (77.9), and Central Kentucky (77.0) and the Lexington-Bluegrass area (75.9) led their way in confidence in their own company's performance. Green River, Lexington-Bluegrass and Northern Kentucky all topped 68.0 in sales perceptions with only Southeastern Kentucky failing to top 60.0.

Employer comments continue to stress availability and quality of employees as a major problem in Kentucky. "Availability of quality people is our greatest hurdle to our continued growth," said the president of a plumbing company.

"Employment is a very touchy item," said a manufacturing president in the state. "The quality of work an individual gives an employer today is in most cases poor. They want a lot of money and benefits, but the return quality of work is not equal...we have been trying to hire an employee for two months, but the applicants we get have little initiative or desire."

"If we do not have runaway inflation because of not being able to hire people, it will highly surprise us," said a wholesale/retail employer.

Company size was a major factor. Businesses with over 100 employees led the way in confidence. By company type, the finance/insurance field lead the way with a very strong index, followed by transportation, manufacturers, construction, service, other, then wholesale/retail as respectively lower index numbers.

Most other employer comments covered taxes or requests that state government purchase only state-produced products, if available. A wholesale/retail employer in Southern Kentucky said, "As baby boomers like myself grow older, they will look at other areas to retire, because of high state income taxes, intangible property taxes and estate taxes. This is a horrible state for retirement and investing!"

UK fans are bleeding blue this week for the Central Kentucky Blood Center blood drive. The 10th annual University of Kentucky vs. University of Tennessee "Battle for Blood" will be held all this week at the Prestonsburg donor center. This year the event is special because it marks the extended hours for the blood center. For donor convenience, the center will now be open Monday thru Friday from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m., and on Saturday, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. Our county is fortunate to have a local blood donor center, and the life you save could be that of a relative or friend.

One chamber member is already gearing up for good will this holiday season. Evergreen Bowling Center is now collecting toys for their second annual Christmas Toy Drive. Last year's event was deemed a tremendous success when every headstart child in Floyd County received a Christmas gift from Santa at the bowling center Christmas Party. Evergreen attributed the event's success to the generosity of their customers who donated the majority of the gifts. If your business would like to make a contribution to this worthy event, contact Lonnie Frazier at (606) 886-1400.

This week we welcome the following businesses as members of our organization: Brandon Kinzer Motorsports, Blackburn Contracting, The Elliott Company, Pediatric Dentistry-Dr. Lee Boyd, Heilig-Meyers, Parkway Discount Tobacco, and ServiceMaster by Anderson.

Our business organization is growing, and if your business would like to take advantage of our membership services as these members are doing, contact your Chamber of Commerce today at (606) 886-0364. We are "business helping business."

SMALL BUSINESS FOCUS®

UNFINISHED BUSINESS OF THE 105TH CONGRESS

by Jack Faris

As Congress winds down and lawmakers return home for the winter congressional recess, it's not too soon to think about the unfinished business—and the need to act on it.

IRS RESTRUCTURING BILL

The National Federation of Independent Business recently launched "The Campaign to Abolish the IRS Code," a national petition drive calling upon the Congress and the president to sunset the IRS Code by December 31, 2000 and replace it with a fairer, simpler code.

As a first step toward tax reform, NFIB supports bills in Congress that would curb abuse at the IRS and make the agency more taxpayer friendly. At recent hearings before Senate Finance Committee, former IRS agents admitted to using scare tactics during audits.

And many taxpayers testified that the IRS has a guilty—until-proven-innocent mentality. The IRS Restructuring bill, which implements reform recommendations from the National Commission on Restructuring the IRS, would give taxpayers more rights and shift the burden of proof from the taxpayer to the IRS.

The House of Representatives plans to vote on the bill by the end of November. The Senate will consider it early next year.

PRODUCT LIABILITY REFORM

Small-business owners live in fear of frivolous and unfounded product liability lawsuits. The problem is especially critical for small manufacturers that should be investing in research and development, but instead, are spending money on legal fees.

In this legal climate, small-business owners must consider liability as an aspect of every decision. Businesses can be held liable for injuries that are not in any way connected with quality or reliability of their products.

Legislation in Congress would institute a $250,000 small-business cap to help ensure that out-of-control punitive damages do not necessarily bankrupt small businesses.

The reform bill also would establish a fair time limit on litigation involving older products.

SUPERFUND REFORM

Superfund, the law that is supported to clean up the nation's most toxic waste sites, is flawed.

Small-business owners who simply took their trash out to the curb and had it legally hauled away are being dragged into the Superfund liability process.

The solution for this Superfund liability nightmare may be found in "The Superfund Acceleration, Fairness, and Efficiency (SAFE) Act," which would exempt small-business owners who had little or nothing to do with polluting a Superfund site, from liability and exorbitant legal fees.

The bill would exclude the smallest of contributors from Superfund liability; set a small-business threshold of 75 employees and $3 million in gross revenues; exempt recyclables—including used oil; and give relief to small-business owners currently in Superfund liability today, not just a future sites.

HEALTH CARE MANDATES

Health care mandates continue to threaten the small-business community. In the new year, there will be a wave of bills in Congress that would force mandates on private health care plans.

The President's Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Health Care Industry may push for new mandates.

In remarks to the Service Employees International Union, President Clinton said that the advisory commission's recommendations are an important piece of a "step at a time" strategy to achieve comprehensive health care reform. Small-business owners don't like the sound of that.

The tax changes Congress made this year came about because small-business owners made their voices heard in Washington. Lawmakers need to hear from those same voices on Main Street at home over the next few months if the agenda is to be completed.

Jack Faris is President of the National Federation of Independent Business, the nation's largest small business advocacy organization. For information call 1-800-NFIB-NOW.

Mark Baldock named new president of RAM Technologies

Robert A. Moyer, Jr. and the Board of Directors of RAM Technologies, Inc. announced recently the promotion of Mark T. Baldock to president and chief operating officer of RAM Technologies. Moyer will remain chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Moyer formed RAM Technologies in the late 1970s. Under his direction, the company has grown from one employee and one sales office in Ashland, to over 100 employees and five sales offices in Kentucky and West Virginia.

The phenomenal growth of RAM Technologies under Moyer's leadership did not go unnoticed by those in the business sector. In 1990, he led RAM to a ranking of 341 on Inc. Magazine's list of the 500 fastest growing private companies in America. In 1991, RAM improved its Inc. 500 ranking to 252. That same year, Bob Moyer was named Kentucky's Small Businessman of the Year, an award presented to him by President George Bush.

RAM Technologies is a regional wireless communications company offering paging, answering services and Internet access with four Kentucky offices located in Ashland, Lexington, Louisville and Prestonsburg and two West Virginia locations — Huntington and Charleston.

HOW TO WARM

TACO SHELLS

Tacos are made two ways; with corn tortillas and with flour tortillas. Ortega corn tortillas are generally used in crisp tacos; Ortega flour tortillas are generally used in soft tacos. Both kinds of shells taste best when they're warmed before filing.

To warm soft tacos in a microwave oven, wrap a stack of tortillas in waxed paper. To make them even softer, lightly sprinkle each one with water before wrapping. Microwave on HIGH (100%) power for 45 seconds. To heat in a conventional oven, wrap tortillas in aluminum foil. Sprinkle tortillas with water, if desired. Bake in preheated 300°F oven for 15 minutes.

To warm crisp taco shells, place shells on large microwave-safe plate. Microwave on HIGH (100%) power for 1 minute. For crisper shells, rearrange; heat for additional 30 seconds. Or, place taco shells on baking sheet. Bake in preheated 350°F oven for 6 to 8 minutes.

HOLIDAY HINTS

Cut The Fat, Not The Flavor, From Your Holiday Table

The holidays can be the best of times, with family and friends gathering after lengthy separations. But with dinner tables laden with foods rich in fat and calories, the holidays can also be the worst of times if you're trying to watch your weight.

But don't despair—there are ways to shape up your holiday table so that weight gain isn't part of the season's festivities.

Instead of:

TREE APPETIZER TORTE

4 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
8 oz. goat cheese, softened
15 thin slices provolone cheese

(approx. 3/4 lb.), divided
1 1/2 cups prepared pesto, divided

1 cup chopped oil-packed sun-dried tomatoes, well drained

1/2 cup pine nuts, toasted
Thinly sliced French bread, toasted (brush with olive oil before toasting, if desired)

Wet a single layer of cheesecloth and squeeze dry. Line tree-shaped pan with cheesecloth, allowing cloth to extend over sides. Beat cream cheese and goat cheese until very creamy and smooth, about 5 minutes. Layer ingredients in prepared pan as follows:

2 cups cream cheese mixture; 5 slices provolone; 3/4 cup pesto; 5 slices provolone; 1 cup cream cheese mixture; chopped sun-dried tomatoes; pine nuts; 5 slices provolone; 3/4 cup (remaining) pesto; and 2 cups (remaining) cream cheese mixture.

Fold hanging cheesecloth over top. Refrigerate several hours or overnight. Unwrap top of mold. Unmold appetizer onto serving platter; remove cheesecloth. Garnish with roasted red pepper circles and star, fresh basil leaves and additional toasted pine nuts. Serve with toasted French bread slices. Makes 25 appetizer-size servings.

COOKIES

3/4 cup sugar
1 cup Land O Lakes® Butter, softened
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups all-purpose flour

In large mixer bowl combine all cookie ingredients except flour. Beat at medium speed, scraping bowl often, until creamy (3 to 4 minutes). Reduce speed to low; add flour. Continue beating just until mixed (1 to 2 minutes). Divide dough in half. Wrap each half in waxed paper; refrigerate dough at least 2 hours or overnight.

Heat oven to 325°. On lightly floured surface roll 1 portion dough to 15x10-inch rectangle. Cut dough into 20 (3x2 1/2-inch) rectangles (cards) using pastry wheel or sharp knife. Cut out small shapes in corner of each card using tiny cookie cutters, hors d'oeuvre cutters or sharp knife. Save cut-out shapes to decorate remaining dough. Place cards on aluminum foil-lined cookie sheets. Fill cutout centers of cards with enough crushed candy to evenly fill holes. If using more than one color candy, keep candy separated by color. When filling holes, mix colors as little as possible. Bake for 7 to 9 minutes or until edges are very lightly browned and candy is melted. Cool completely before removing from cookie sheets.

Roll second portion of dough into 15x10-inch rectangle. Cut into cards as directed above. Place tiny cut-out shapes of dough on each card. Decorate with colored sugars and candies. Bake for 7 to 9 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheets; cool completely. About 40 cookies.

Tips: To crush candy, separate candy by color. Place candy in plastic food bag. Use a hammer or flat edge of mallet to pound candy.

Use decorator icing to write names or to decorate cookies.

To make hanging cookies, while cookies are still warm, use toothpick to make hole for string to hang ornament. Tie ribbon or string through hole when cookies are cooled.

3 egg yolks
1 piece vanilla bean, about 2 inches long
2 1/2 cups (12 1/2 oz.) all-purpose (plain) flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

1/2 teaspoon salt
